Parties.— Where there are several purchasers of different tracts, and a mistake in describing the tracts affecting all, all the purchasers must be parties to an action by one for the purpose of establishing his right to possession of the tract purchased. Gauthier v. Desbony, 5 La. Ann. 139; Sigler v. Gauthier, 5 La. Ann. 138.

38. See, generally, Deeds, 13 Cyc. 505.

Sale of realty under testamentary authority see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (vii).

Sale of personalty under testamentary authority or common-law power see supra, VIII, P, 2, g.

39. See Landford v. Dunklin, 71 Ala. 594; State v. Cunningham, 6 Ida. 113, 53 Pac. 451 (holding that a mandamus will issue to jurisdictions the purchasers do not become invested with title until proper conveyances have been executed,[40] but in other jurisdictions title passes to the purchasers when the sale is confirmed.[41]

2. Authority to Convey and Right to Conveyance — a. In General. When the authority to execute such a conveyance is regulated by statute, as it generally is, compel the execution of a conveyance); Hughes v. McDivitt, 102 Mo. 77, 14 S. W. 660, 15 S. W. 756; El Paso v. Fort Dearborn Nat. Bank, 96 Tex. 496, 74 S. W. 21 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 71 S. W. 799]; Burgess v. Millican, 50 Tex. 397.

In Pennsylvania a deed from the personal representative is contemplated, although not expressly provided for by statute. Shontz v. Brown, 27 Pa. St. 123.

Sale by a referee in aid of power in a will. — Where the decree under which property is sold by a referee is made in aid of a power of sale contained in a will, and to carry out its provisions the referee's deed to the purchaser conveys a marketable title, a deed from the executor is unnecessary. Strauss v. Benheim, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 660, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 1054.

Conveyance of land certificate. — An administrator who has under license from the probate court sold for the payment of the intestate's debts a part-paid land certificate left by him and his interest in the lands therein described may after confirmation of such sale properly assign such certificate to the purchaser thereof, such assignment being necessary to meet the requirements of the land-office. Louden v. Martindale, 109 Mich. 235, 67 N. W. 133. In Texas it has been held that since a land certificate is regarded as personalty and the title of personalty vests in the purchaser upon the making of an order confirming an administrator's sale, a written conveyance of such certificate is not necessary, but that, it being a fixed custom to make a written conveyance thereof, the title, under the circumstances, would vest in the grantee in the administrator's conveyance. McKee v. Simpson, 36 Fed. 248.

40. Gridley v. Phillips, 5 Kan. 349 (holding that it is necessary that a deed should have been executed or some equitable proceeding had in order to vest the title to the land in the purchaser); Strange v. Austin, 134 Pa. St. 96; Overdeer v. Opdergraff, 69 Pa. St. 110; Leshey v. Gardner, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 314, 38 Am. Dec. 764; In re McRee, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 75; In re Hepting, 1 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 45.

In Alabama a sale of land by a personal representative under an order of the probate court does not pass the title to the purchaser as against the heirs and devisees until the sale is reported and confirmed, the purchase-money paid, and a conveyance executed under the order of the court. Comer v. Hart, 79 Ala. 389; Watson v. Martin, 75 Ala. 506; Landford v. Dunklin, 71 Ala. 594; Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Van Hoose v. Bush, 54 Ala. 342; Doe v. Hardy, 52 Ala. 291; Wallace v. Hall, 19 Ala. 367; Perkins v. Winter, 7 Ala. 854; Bonner v. Greenlee, 6 Ala. 411; Cummings v. McCullough, 5 Ala. 324; Lightfoot v. Doe, 1 Ala. 475. The title to land sold on credit under order of the probate court for distribution is not divested out of the heir until a conveyance is executed under order of the court, after ascertaining that the entire purchase-money has been paid. The purchaser at such a sale takes but an inchoate equity which on full payment of the purchase-money ripens into a perfect equity, entitling him to a conveyance under order of the court or a resort to equity to divest the title of the heirs. Ketchum v. Creagh, 53 Ala. 224. See also Bibb v. Bishop Cobbs Orphan Home, 61 Ala. 326.

In Missouri the rule is that "when the sale by an administrator or curator under an order of the court has been regularly approved by the court, this fact of itself passes to the purchaser an equity for the legal title, which equity, notwithstanding an irregular deed or the want of any deed, the court will enforce in his favor by denying recovery in ejectment, by the heirs, or by vesting him with the perfect title; provided, always, that he has on his part complied with the terms of the sale. Henry v. McKerlie, 78 Mo. 416, 428 [distinguishing Wohlien v. Speck, 18 Mo. 561, and quoted with approval in Sherwood v. Baker, 105 Mo. 472, 10 S. W. 938, 24 Am. St. Rep. 399].

In Texas to pass a perfect legal title to land of an estate sold by a personal representative under the order of court, a conveyance by the personal representative executed according to the statute is necessary (Sypert v. McCowen, 28 Tex. 635); but the order of sale, the sale, the confirmation thereof, and the compliance by the purchaser with the terms of sale constitute an equitable title sufficient to protect the purchaser without a deed (McVee v. Johnson, 45 Tex. 634. See also Sypert v. McCowen, 28 Tex. 635; Rock v. Heald, 27 Tex. 523; Bartlett v. Cocke, 15 Tex. 471).

Nothing but an equity vests in the purchaser as to land sold but not included in the deed. Nantahala Marble, etc., Co. v. Thomas, 76 Fed. 59.

41. Sturdy v. Jacoway, 19 Ark. 499; Miami Exporting Co. v. Holly, Wright (Ohio) 227. See also McNew v. Williams, 36 S. W. 687, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 364. And see supra, XII, T, 4, a.

In Louisiana by statute the adjudication made and recorded by the judge of probate or the clerk of court is a complete title to the purchaser and no deed is necessary. Jones v. Read, 1 La. Ann. 200; Rousseau v. Tête, 6 Rob. 471; Faulk v. Pinnell, 6 Rob. 26; Gorton v. Gorton, 12 La. 476; Berthoud v. Uhruh, 9 La. 180; Babin v. Winchester, 7 the personal representative has no right to execute it or the purchaser to demand its execution until the statutory requirements are complied with.[42] Usually such statutes require that the sale shall be confirmed by the court[43] and the purchase-money paid,[44] and an order of court directing the execution of the conveyance is sometimes necessary.[45]

b. Who Has Authority. The personal representative is generally the person authorized to execute the conveyance,[46] but other persons are sometimes authorized to execute it.[47] An administrator de bonis non may execute a conveyance of land sold by his predecessor.[48]

c. Duration of Authority. As a general rule there is no prescribed period within which such a conveyance must be executed, but it may be executed at any time so long as the order authorizing its execution continues in force.[49] So

La. 460; Marigny v. Nivet, 2 La. 498; Hopkins v. Peretz, 3 Mart. 590.

42. Akin v. Horn, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 8. Compare Miller v. Anders, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 72, 51 S. W. 897.

43. See Strange v. Austin, 134 Pa. St. 96, 19 Atl. 492; Leshey v. Gardner, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 314, 38 Am. Dec. 764; Burgess v. Millican, 50 Tex. 397.

A deed executed prior to confirmation of the sale, although unauthorized, will take effect on confirmation. El Paso v. Fort Dearborn Nat. Bank, 96 Tex. 496, 74 S. W. 21 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 71 S. W. 799].

44. Alabama.— Bogart v. Bell, 112 Ala. 412, 20 So. 511; Landford v. Dunklin, 71 Ala. 594; Corbitt v. Chenny, 52 Ala. 480.

Kansas.—Cockins v. McCurdy, 40 Kan. 758, 20 Pac. 470.

Missouri.— Hughes v. McDivitt, 102 Mo. 77, 14 S. W. 660, 15 S. W. 756.

North Carolina.— Hyman v. Jarnigan, 65 N. C. 96.

Pennsylvania.— Strange v. Austin, 134 Pa. St. 96, 19 Atl. 492.

Texas.— Sypert v. McCowen, 28 Tex. 635. See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1596.

Representative's failure to account for proceeds no objection to deed.—Decker v. Decker, 74 Me. 465.

45. Landford v. Dunklin, 71 Ala. 594; Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Doe v. Hardy, 52 Ala. 291; Perkins v. Winter, 7 Ala. 855. But compare Wood v. Montgomery, 60 Ala. 500.

Either personal representative or purchaser may apply for order for conveyance. Anderson v. Bradley, 66 Ala. 263; Dugger v. Tayloe, 60 Ala. 504; Van Hoose v. Bush, 54 Ala. 342.

Notice of application.— If the application for the order of conveyance is made by the purchaser notice must be given to the personal representative (Dugger v. Tayloe, 60 Ala. 504 [overruling Dugger v. Tayloe, 46 Ala. 320], and to the heirs (Anderson v. Bradly, 66 Ala. 263). When the personal representative as such makes the application, notice to the heirs is not necessary (Ligon v. Ligon, 84 Ala. 555, 4 So. 405), but when land is bought by the personal representative himself the application is to be regarded as made by him individually as purchaser and notice to the heirs is necessary (Bogart v. Bell, 112 Ala. 412, 20 So. 511; Bolling v. Smith, 108 Ala. 411, 19 So. 370; Ligon v. Ligon, 84 Ala. 555, 4 So. 405).

46. See Osman v. Traphagen, 23 Mich. 80; Blair v. Marks, 27 Mo. 579; Burgess v. Millican, 50 Tex. 397; Chase v. Ross, 36 Wis. 267.

Agent of personal representative cannot execute deed. Gridley v. Phillips, 5 Kan. 349.

Where the personal representative is a married woman she may convey land in her fiduciary character without her husband joining in the conveyance. Huls v. Bunlin, 47 Ill. 396.

When a sale is made by several personal representatives all must join in the conveyance in order to pass title. Greene v. Holt, 76 Mo. 677. Compare Wortman v. Skinner, 12 N. J. Eq. 358.

47. See Pollard v. Hanrick, 74 Ala. 334; Landford v. Dunklin, 71 Ala. 594; Hutton v. Williams, 35 Ala. 503, 76 Am. Dec. 297.

In case of a purchase by a personal representative, the Missouri statute requires the clerk of the court to execute the necessary deed (Greene v. Holt, 76 Mo. 677), while in Alabama a commissioner is appointed by the court to execute the deed (see Bolling v. Smith, 108 Ala. 411, 19 So. 370).

48. Goodwynne v. Bellerby, 116 Ga. 901, 43 S. E. 275 [distinguishing Oglesby v. Gilmore, 5 Ga. 56; Thomas v. Harwick, 1 Ga. 80]; Peterman v. Watkins, 19 Ga. 153 (special order to administrator de bonis non is unnecessary); Baker v. Bradsby, 23 Ill. 632. See also Greene v. Scarborough, 49 Ala. 137; Gridley v. Phillips, 5 Kan. 349. But see Davis v. Brandon, 1 How. (Miss.) 154.

49. Moody v. Hamilton, 22 Fla. 309; Osman v. Traphagen, 23 Mich. 80; Howard v. Moore, 2 Mich. 226.

The postponement of the delivery of the deed beyond the time specified in the conditions of sale, in consequence of objections being made to the confirmation of the sale, does not release the purchaser. Robb v. Mann, 11 Pa. St. 300, 51 Am. Dec. 551.

Limitation of time.— In Maine a deed made after more than one year has elapsed since the license to sell was granted by the probate court is void. Mason v. Ham, 36 Me. 573; Marr v. Hobson, 22 Me. 321; Marr v. Boothby, 19 Me. 150), but a deed executed and delivered within one year from the date long as a personal representative has not resigned or been discharged or removed he may execute a valid conveyance, even though he has made his final settlement;[50] but after his resignation, removal, or discharge, his authority ceases and he cannot execute a valid conveyance, even though the land was sold before he ceased to act as personal representative.[51] If, however, before the expiration of his office he executes an imperfect deed he may make the proper corrections in it at any time.[52]

d. Extent of Authority. Unless it is otherwise provided in the order of sale the grantor is authorized to convey only an estate in fee.[53] Necessarily, however, only such title as the decedent had can be conveyed,[54] and no title passes to land not described in the order of sale.[55]

e. To Whom Conveyance Made. The conveyance is generally made to the purchaser, and it has been held that when the decree confirming the sale orders a conveyance to be made to the purchaser it must be made to the person who really purchased the land at the sale and to him only.[56] It has, however, been expressly decided in a number of cases that the conveyance may be made to the assignee of the purchaser,[57] or to such person as the purchaser may indicate.[58] Where the property of a decedent is reported as sold to one "as administrator," a subsequent deed vesting him personally with the title is not a pursuance of the master's report of sale, and such purchaser will be held as trustee of the estate.[59]

3. Form, Contents, and Execution[60]— a. In General. The conveyance must be adapted to conveying the estate which is the subject-matter of the power of sale.[61] Authority to sell and convey must appear on the face of the instrument[62] and it of the license to sell, although not acknowledged within the year, passes title (Poor v. Larrabee, 58 Me. 543). In Massachusetts the same rule as to the time for executing such a deed formerly prevailed (Macy v. Raymond, 9 Pick. 285), but this rule has been modified by a statute providing that a sale of realty by a personal representative under a license shall be valid as against any person claiming under the deceased, although the deed is not delivered within a year, if certain conditions are complied with and the price duly accounted for (see Jewett v. Jewett, 10 Gray 31; Cooper v. Robinson, 2 Cush. 184).

50. Wilkerson v. Allen, 67 Mo. 502; Garner v. Tucker, 61 Mo. 427; Rugle v. Webster, 55 Mo. 246; McVey v. McVey, 51 Mo. 406.

51. Owens v. Cowan, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 152; Elstner v. Fife, 32 Ohio St. 358. But compare Bartlett v. Cocke, 15 Tex. 471.

52. Rugle v. Webster, 55 Mo. 246.

53. Iseman v. McMillan, 36 S. C. 27, 15 S. E. 336.

54. Nesbitt v. Richards, 14 Tex. 656.

55. Greene v. Holt, 76 Mo. 677. See also supra, p. 751 note 11.

56. Larason v. Lambert, 13 N. J. L. 182; Thompson v. Rogers, 67 Pa. St. 39.

57. Hobson v. Ewan, 62 Ill. 146; Ewing v. Higby, 7 Ohio 198, 28 Am. Dec. 633. See also White v. Jones, 88 N. C. 166.

In Alabama it is provided by statute (Code (1886), § 2124) that the court shall upon application order a conveyance made to the purchaser or his heirs or any other person holding under him directly or derivatively who has paid the purchase-money. See Webb v. Ballard, 90 Ala. 357, 7 So. 443 (holding that one who holds possession under the vendee by an exchange void under the statute of frauds did not hold under the purchaser within the meaning of this statute and the court could not properly order a conveyance made to him); Anderson v. Bradly, 66 Ala. 263. Under the statute formerly in force a conveyance could be made only to the original purchaser at the sale. Puritt v. Holly, 73 Ala. 369; Anderson v. Bradly, supra.

58. Ward v. Lounds, 96 N. C. 367, 2 S. E. 591. See also Coffin v. Cook, 106 N. C. 376, 11 S. E. 371.

59. Taylor v. Walker, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 734.

60. Sale of realty under testamentary authority see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (VII), (A).

Sale of personalty under testamentary authority or common-law power see supra, VIII, P, 2, g.

61. Griswold v. Bigelow, 6 Conn. 258, holding that a deed of release is not adapted for this purpose. See also Mitchell v. Hazen, 4 Conn. 495, 10 Am. Dec. 169; Wood v. Mistetta, 20 Tex. Civ. App. 236, 49 S. W. 236, 50 S. W. 135.

62. Watson v. Watson, 10 Conn. 77; Lockwood v. Sturdevant, 6 Conn. 373; Coffin v. Cook, 106 N. C. 376, 11 S. E. 371, formal recital not necessary if authority appears. But see Odell v. Kennedy, 26 Tex. Civ. App. 439, 64 S. W. 802.

Order of sale need not be set out at length. Jones v. Tailor, 7 Tex. 240, 56 Am. Dec. 48. See also Brown v. Redwyne, 16 Ga. 67; Langdon v. Strong, 2 Vt. 234. But compare Sheldon v. Wright, 5 N. Y. 497 [affirming 7 Barb. 39]; Atkins v. Kinnan, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 241, 32 Am. Dec. 534.

Amendment.— An administrator will be allowed and compelled in a court of equity to must contain any recitals required by statute.[63] The conveyance need not recite that the sale was by auction,[64] or that the grantee was the highest bidder;[65] neither need it recite confirmation of the sale,[66] or be signed as executor, administrator, or commissioner, if the capacity in which the grantor conveys appears in any other part of the instrument.[67] The fact that the conveyance is to some extent irregular and informal does not necessarily render it void.[68] Thus the conveyance is not invalidated by a mistake in the technical designation of the grantor, as where an administrator is described as executor[69] or vice versa,[70] or because the grantor, who should sign as commissioner, signs as administrator.[71] Neither is the validity of the deed affected by a mistake therein as to the date of the sale,[72] or a misrecital as to the date of the license to sell if it contains a recital of other facts which show that the sale was made under the true license.[73]

b. Description of Property. The property sold must be so described that it may be certainly identified and its boundaries ascertained,[74] as otherwise the conveyance will be void for uncertainty.[75] The description of the property in the amend a deed made by him on a sale made by order of court, by inserting a recital of such order, as required by statute. Thorp v. McCullum, 6 Ill. 614.

63. Hughes v. McDivitt, 102 Mo. 77, 14 S. W. 660, 15 S. W. 756. See also Bray v. Adams, 114 Mo. 486, 21 S. W. 853. Compare Stryker v. Vanderbilt, 27 N. J. L. 68 (holding that provisions prescribing what should be recited in a deed are merely directory); El Paso v. Ft. Dearborn Nat. Bank, 96 Tex. 496, 74 S. W. 21 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 71 S. W. 799].

64. Kingsbury v. Wild, 3 N. H. 30.

65. Kingsbury v. Wild, 3 N. H. 30.

66. Knowlton v. Smith, 36 Mo. 507, 88 Am. Dec. 152.

Even where the statute requires a recital of confirmation, a failure to comply with this requirement does not affect the validity of the deed, but merely controls its effect as evidence. El Paso v. Ft. Dearborn Nat. Bank, 99 Tex. 496, 74 S. W. 21 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 71 S. W. 799].

67. Kingsbury v. Wild, 3 N. H. 30; McLean v. Patterson, 84 N. C. 427; Chase v. Whiting, 30 Wis. 544.

68. Young v. Walker, 26 Kan. 242. See also Brubaker v. Jones, 23 Kan. 411; Connoughton v. Bernard, 84 Md. 577, 36 Atl. 265; Johnson v. Beazley, 65 Mo. 250, 27 Am. Rep. 276; Wortman v. Skinner, 12 N. J. Eq. 358.

Lack of seal or proper acknowledgment.— An administrator's deed which is informal for the want of a seal or because not properly acknowledged is sufficient to vest an equitable title in the grantee, which will constitute a good defense to an action of ejectment brought by the heirs of the deceased against one claiming under it. Snider v. Coleman, 72 Mo. 568.

69. Mobberly v. Johnson, 78 Ky. 273.

70. Copper v. Robinson, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 184.

71. McLean v. Patterson, 84 N. C. 427.

72. Garner v. Tucker, 61 Mo. 427.

73. Thomas v. Le Baron, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 355.

74. Laub v. Buckmiller, 17 N. Y. 620. See also Jameson v. Balmer, 20 Me. 425; El Paso v. Ft. Dearborn Nat. Bank, 96 Tex. 496, 74 S. W. 21 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 71 S. W. 799].

Resorting to the other conveyances or documents for description see Foster v. Bowman, 55 Iowa 237, 7 N. W. 513 (petition for sale); Pitts v. Farnum, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 41 (mortgage expressly referred to for a further description); Kempton v. Swift, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 70 (reference to proceedings for assignment of dower); Orrick v. Bower, 29 Mo. 210 (reference to report of sales made by the administrator to the court and to a plot of lots sold, accompanying it); Kerlicks v. Keystone Land, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1893) 21 S. W. 623 (reference to maps, land certificates, etc.).

Where a deed contains two descriptions, one applicable to land to which the decedent had title and the other to land which he did not own, the former will be taken as the true description and the latter rejected as false. Bray v. Adams, 114 Mo. 486, 21 S. W. 853.

The quantity of land is stated by way of description and is not a matter of covenant. Carter v. Beck, 40 Ala. 599.

Construction of descriptive clause see Wells v. Dillard, 93 Ga. 682, 20 S. E. 263; Bay v. Posner, (Md. 1894) 29 Atl. 11; Starr v. Brewer, 58 Vt. 24, 3 Atl. 479.

The words "more or less" should be construed with reference to the particular circumstances under and in relation to which they are used. Bromberg v. Yukers, 108 Ala. 577, 19 So. 49.

Correction of error in description.— Where a purchaser of land at an administrator's sale pays the purchase-money, and the same is applied in the discharge of the debts of the decedent, but the land is not correctly described in the deed executed by the administrator, an assignee of the purchaser will be entitled to a decree in equity correcting the error and divesting the legal title to the land out of the heirs of the decedent and vesting it in him. Grayson v. Weddle, 80 Mo. 39, 63 Mo. 523.

75. Borders v. Hodges, 154 Ill. 498, 39 conveyance should follow that which appears in the petition by which a sale is asked and the order by which it is authorized or directed.[76]

4. ACKNOWLEDGMENT AND RECORDING. The conveyance must be acknowledged in the manner prescribed by statute in order to pass title.[77] An acknowledgment may be valid notwithstanding a misrecital therein,[78] and defective acknowledgments may be cured by statute.[79] The conveyance should also be recorded.[80]

5. EFFECT OF COVENANTS.[81] The estate is not bound by any covenant contained in such a conveyance,[82] but the executor or administrator will be held to respond personally to the full scope of such a covenant, although he describes himself as executor or administrator.[83]

N. E. 597; Jones v. Carter, 56 Mo. 403; Harris v. Shafer, 86 Tex. 314, 23 S. W. 979, 24 S. W. 263.

76. Blackwell v. Townsend, 91 Ky. 609, 16 S. W. 587, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 291. See also Bromberg v. Yukers, 108 Ala. 577, 19 So. 49.

Description in petition and order controls. — Where an administrator's deed refers to the petition and order of sale and also contains a description of the land, which varies from that contained in the petition and order, the former description will yield to the latter as against the heirs of the decedent. Agan v. Shannon, 103 Mo. 661, 15 S. W. 757.

Variance in descriptions. — In proceedings to sell land of a decedent, the description of the land in the petition and administrator's deed gave the field-notes, but the order of sale did not. The petition described the land as being covered by patent No. 249, which was the proper number, but the order of sale and administrator's deed described it as No. 248. The field-notes showed that the property was the same as that covered by patent No. 249. It was held error, in trespass to try title, to exclude the deed and order because of the variance, it being for the court to determine whether the land in controversy was that intended to be sold. Minor v. Lumpkin, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 29 S. W. 800.

Presumption in case of variance. — It will be presumed that the administrator committed a clerical error in inserting a wrong description of land in his report of sale and deed, where the description differs from that contained in the order of sale. Agan v. Shannon, 103 Mo. 661, 15 S. W. 757.

77. Campbell v. Laclede Gas Light Co., 84 Mo. 352. Compare Harrington v. Gage, 6 Vt. 532.

The acknowledgment must conform to the general law on the subject where the statute making it the duty of the administrator to execute, acknowledge, and deliver the deed does not state what the certificate of acknowledgment shall set forth. Hughes v. McDivitt, 102 Mo. 77, 14 S. W. 660, 15 S. W. 756.

78. Agan v. Shannon, 103 Mo. 661, 15 S. W. 757 [overruling Lincoln v. Thompson, 75 Mo. 613].

79. Cupp v. Welch, 50 Ark. 294, 7 S. W. 139.

80. Harrington v. Gage, 6 Vt. 532, holding that it is necessary to have the proceedings and order of sale as well as the conveyance recorded.

Not necessary to record a deed referred to. — Where one deed makes reference to another the two are to be considered as one and the deed so referred to need not be recorded. Agan v. Shannon, 103 Mo. 661, 15 S. W. 757.

When record becomes effective. — In Louisiana a conveyance of land sold by a personal representative, like other conveyances, becomes effective as against third parties from the time of its filing with the proper officer, and not from the time when it is actually recorded. Davis v. Martin, 113 Fed. 6, 51 C. C. A. 27.

A failure to record the deed does not affect the title as between the purchaser and the succession (Gaiennie v. Gaiennie, 24 La. Ann. 79) or the heirs of the decedent (Harrington v. Gage, 6 Vt. 532); nor does the failure of a purchaser at an administrator's sale to record his deed within twelve months from its date postpone his rights to those of a judgment creditor who obtains judgment before record (Davie v. McDaniel, 47 Ga. 195).

81. Sale of realty under testamentary authority see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (VII), (B).

82. Hale v. Marquette, 69 Iowa 376, 28 N. W. 647. See supra, XII, T, 3, b, (II).

Covenant of quiet enjoyment is not binding. Osborne v. McMillan, 50 N. C. 109. See also Mabie v. Matteson, 17 Wis. 1.

Covenant of warranty is not binding. Belden v. Seymour, 8 Conn. 19; Worthy v. Johnson, 8 Ga. 236, 52 Am. Dec. 399; Dallas County v. Club Land, etc., Co., 95 Tex. 200, 66 S. W. 294 [modifying 26 Tex. Civ. App. 449, 64 S. W. 872]; Nesbitt v. Richardson, 14 Tex. 656; Lynch v. Baxter, 4 Tex. 431, 51 Am. Dec. 735; Prouty v. Mather, 49 Vt. 415.

83. Connecticut. — Belden v. Seymour, 8 Conn. 19; Mitchell v. Hazen, 4 Conn. 495, 10 Am. Dec. 169.

Georgia. — See Worthy v. Johnson, 8 Ga. 236, 52 Am. Dec. 399.

Illinois. — Vincent v. Morrison, 1 Ill. 227.

Massachusetts. — Sumner v. Williams, 8 Mass. 162, 5 Am. Dec. 83.

Mississippi. — Magee v. Mellon, 23 Miss. 585.

Vermont. — Prouty v. Mather, 49 Vt. 415.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1602; supra, XII, T, 3, b, (III); and COVENANTS, 11 Cyc. 1055.

But compare Dallas County v. Club Land, etc., Co., 95 Tex. 200, 66 S. W. 294. And see Hale v. Marquette, 69 Iowa 376, 28 N. W.

6. Conveyance as Evidence. A personal representative's conveyance of his decedent's land made without authority is a nullity and no evidence of title in the grantee.[84] To support his title under a deed from the representative it is necessary for the grantee to show that the grantor had a valid power to sell and that such power was exercised in the manner required by law,[85] and proof of authority other than a recital thereof in the conveyance is necessary.[86] Due authority having, however, been shown, the recitals in the conveyance of the acts required by law to be done in making the sale will be considered as prima facie evidence of their having been done as therein recited.[87] In some states, by statute, recitals in such a conveyance are themselves evidence of the facts recited.[88] A deed of conveyance executed by commissioners under an order of the orphans' court to the purchaser at their sale is admissible as evidence of the conveyance.[89]

7. Mortgage. A mortgage given by the personal representative should in its provisions accord with the order or license under which it is executed,[90] and should not contain unauthorized provisions.[91] Such a mortgage is not void

647; Shontz v. Brown, 27 Pa. St. 123; Nesbitt v. Richardson, 14 Tex. 656; Lynch v. Baxter, 4 Tex. 431, 51 Am. Dec. 735.

84. Dawson v. Parham, 47 Ark. 215, 1 S. W. 72.

85. California.— See White v. Moses, 21 Cal. 43.

Connecticut.— Dorrence v. Raynsford, 67 Conn. 1, 34 Atl. 706, 52 Am. St. Rep. 266.

Georgia.— Dowdy v. McArthur, 94 Ga. 577, 21 S. E. 148.

Iowa.— Thornton v. Mulquinne, 12 Iowa 549, 79 Am. Dec. 548.

Louisiana.— Lanfear v. Harper, 13 La. Ann. 548.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1604.

86. Waller v. Hogan, 114 Ga. 383, 40 S. E. 254; Roberts v. Martin, 70 Ga. 196; Davie v. McDaniel, 47 Ga. 195; Doe v. Henderson, 4 Ga. 148, 48 Am. Dec. 216. See also Taylor v. Lawrence, 148 Ill. 388, 36 N. E. 74.

Recitals a circumstance tending to show order of sale.— The recitals in a deed made by the administrator conveying land by him as such are relevant only as tending to show that in making the sale he did not undertake to act independently of leave from the court of ordinary, but that the court had passed an order granting leave to sell. While the recitals afford no direct evidence of the truth of the facts recited, the making of them is a circumstance which the jury may take into consideration in connection with the other facts as tending to establish this fact. Attaway v. Carswell, 89 Ga. 343, 14 S. E. 472.

87. Roberts v. Martin, 70 Ga. 196; Davie v. McDaniel, 47 Ga. 195; Doe v. Henderson, 4 Ga. 148, 48 Am. Dec. 216.

88. Cupp v. Welch, 50 Ark. 294, 7 S. W. 139; Bray v. Adams, 114 Mo. 486, 21 S. W. 853; Campbell v. Laclede Gas Light Co., 84 Mo. 352; Camden v. Plain, 91 Mo. 117, 4 S. W. 86; Johnson v. Beazley, 65 Mo. 250, 27 Am. Rep. 276 (recital as evidence of appointment of administrator); Knowlton v. Smith, 36 Mo. 507, 88 Am. Dec. 152; Chase v. Ross, 36 Wis. 267 (administrator's deed only presumptive evidence of the regularity of proceedings prior to sale); Chase v. Whiting, 30 Wis. 544 (recital presumptive evidence that grantor was administrator).

In Texas the statute provides that the deed "shall recite the decree of confirmation; and the recitation of the order of confirmation shall be prima facie evidence that there was an order of sale, and that all provisions of the law were complied with in making and executing such order." See El Paso v. Ft. Dearborn Nat. Bank, 96 Tex. 496, 502, 74 S. W. 21 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 71 S. W. 799]. Under an earlier statute the recitals in a deed were not sufficient to show an order of sale, but they were prima facie evidence that all the requisites of the law were complied with in making the sale. See White v. Jones, 67 Tex. 638, 4 S. W. 161; Tucker v. Murphy, 66 Tex. 355, 1 S. W. 76; Terrell v. Martin, 64 Tex. 121; Jones v. Taylor, 7 Tex. 240, 56 Am. Dec. 48.

89. Doe v. Riley, 28 Ala. 164, 65 Am. Dec. 334, holding that the deed is admissible in behalf of a remote purchaser when sued by the intestate's heir, and that, although the description in it does not correspond with the description of the land sued for and described in the petition and order of sale, yet if it embraces any portion of the land sold a general objection to it may be overruled.

90. In re Vedder, 122 Mich. 439, 81 N. W. 356.

91. Stipulation as to attorney's fees.— An order of court authorizing a personal representative to execute a trust deed does not authorize a stipulation therein for the payment of attorney's fees in case of foreclosure. Pershing v. Wolf, 6 Colo. App. 410, 40 Pac. 856. But see Griffin v. Johnson, 37 Mich. 87; and supra, VIII, O, 11, b.

Clause waiving valuation and appraisement laws.— Under the Indiana statute providing that a mortgage executed by the personal representative under the authority of the court shall be as valid as if executed by the deceased in his lifetime, a mortgage executed under order of court and approved by the court has been held valid, although it contained a clause waiving the valuation because of mere irregularities.[92] A reference to the order of the court and a recital of the execution of the mortgage pursuant to such order, with other similar recitals, is sufficient to show that the mortgage was executed by the mortgagor as personal representative in pursuance of law and the court's order, and not in a personal capacity.[93]

V. Disposition of Proceeds[94]— 1. Payment of Debts. The proceeds of land sold for the payment of debts of a decedent are assets for that purpose and are as a general rule to be applied in the same manner as the proceeds of personalty.[95] and appraisement laws. Smith v. Eels, 27 Ind. App. 321, 61 N. E. 200.

92. Griffin v. Johnson, 37 Mich. 87.

93. Thomas v. Parker, 97 Cal. 456, 32 Pac. 562.

94. Sale of realty under testamentary authority see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (IX), (C).

Sale of personalty under testamentary authority or common-law power see supra, VIII, P, 2, i.

95. Alabama.— Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

Illinois.— Cruce v. Cruce, 21 Ill. 46; Vansyckle v. Richardson, 13 Ill. 171.

Indiana.— See McNaughtin v. Lamb, 2 Ind. 642.

Maryland.— Dent v. Maddox, 4 Md. 522. See also Cornish v. Willson, 6 Gill 299.

Mississippi.— Lee v. Gardiner, 26 Miss. 521.

New Jersey.— Haines v. Price, 20 N. J. L. 480; Freehold First Nat. Bank v. Thompson, 61 N. J. Eq. 188, 48 Atl. 333.

New York.— See Bloodgood v. Bruen, 2 Bradf. Surr. 8 [reversed on other grounds in 8 N. Y. 362].

North Carolina.— Thompson v. Cox, 53 N. C. 311.

Pennsylvania.— Ramsay's Appeal, 4 Watts 71; Pennsylvania Agricultural, etc., Bank v. Stambaugh, 13 Serg. & R. 299. See also In re Fisher, 29 Pittsb. L. J. 168.

Texas.— See Peevy v. Hurt, 32 Tex. 146.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1606, 1609.

Proceeds used exclusively for paying debts.— Where the county court has ordered the sale of lands of the deceased to pay debts, it has no power to appropriate the proceeds to make good a deficiency in the widow's allowance, to reimburse the administrator for improvements put upon the land, or for any other purpose than to pay debts. Ritchey v. Withers, 72 Mo. 556.

Charges of administration payable out of proceeds.— Brazer v. Dean, 15 Mass. 183. See also Youenes' Succession, 28 La. Ann. 499. Compare In re Kennedy, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 135; Stell v. Lewis, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 533.

Costs of judgment on debt due by decedent payable out of proceeds.— Long v. Oxford, 108 N. C. 280, 13 S. E. 112.

Payment of unliquidated damages for breach of agreement.— In the distribution of the proceeds arising from the sale of the real estate of a deceased debtor, a specialty creditor, whose claim is for unliquidated damages on articles of agreement, for a breach before the distribution, is entitled to be paid, although the covenants were not broken at the time of the death of decedent. Stultzfoos' Appeal, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 265.

Payment of debt due personal representative see Williams v. Williams, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 95.

Payment of debts of personal representative.— An administrator cannot apply the proceeds of a sale of his intestate's property in payment of his own debts. Chandler v. Schoonover, 14 Ind. 324.

Ratable payment.— The administrator can only pay out the proceeds ratably among all the creditors, and if he pays one creditor more than his share such creditor holds the excess in trust for other creditors. Ewing v. Maury, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 381.

Payment in order of priority.— Where a judicial sale converts land into money for the payment of debts the money belongs to the creditors in the order of their liens. Campbell's Estate, 22 Pa. Super. Ct. 430. Under N. Y. Code, § 2793, directing the order of distribution of the proceeds of a sale of land for the payment of debts, debts established and recited in the first decree have a priority over those established by supplementary decree, when there is not enough to pay all. Kenyon v. Talbot, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 548.

Proceeds of realty fraudulently conveyed by decedent.— The proceeds of a sale by an administrator of real estate conveyed by his intestate with intent to defraud creditors are applicable to the payment of all creditors alike, although such conveyance was void only as against persons who were creditors at the time it was made. Norton v. Norton, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 524.

Proceeds of land subject to a resulting trust.— Where land of a decedent which was subject to a resulting trust in favor of another for a part of the money provided by the latter for its purchase was sold under order of court to a bona fide purchaser ignorant of the trust, the purchaser took a good title to the property as against the cestui que trust, but such cestui que trust as against decedent's creditors was entitled to such a proportionate part of the proceeds as the amount contributed by him bore to the whole purchase-price paid by the decedent. Rupp's Appeal, 100 Pa. St. 531.

Surplus after paying debts for which sale made.— Where land is sold to pay certain debts of a decedent and there is a surplus realized, it may be impounded and applied

Special provision for the disposition of such proceeds is, however, sometimes made by statute.[96] Where land is not sold for the payment of debts but for partition the proceeds thereof are not assets for the payment of debts,[97] without an order making them applicable for that purpose.[98]

2. SATISFACTION OF MORTGAGES AND OTHER LIENS. Where mortgages or other liens on property of a decedent are divested by a sale thereof, the proceeds of such sale should be first applied to the satisfaction of such liens in the order of their priority and the residue to the payment of the other debts of the decedent in due course of administration,[99] but when such liens are not divested by a sale to the payment of the claim of a judgment creditor who was not a party to the proceedings for the sale of the land. Rhinehart v. Murray, 83 Tenn. 469.

Limitation as to time of payment of debts out of proceeds.— In Pennsylvania, for a certain statutory period after a decedent's death, his debts are a lien on his realty, and when such lien is discharged by an order of court for a sale for the payment of debts the rights of creditors are transferred from the land to the proceeds of the sale. McKeown's Estate, 8 Wkly. Notes Cas. 343. See also Kittera's Estate, 17 Pa. St. 416. The debt must be one which is susceptible of enforcement; not a debt barred by the statute of limitations, or it cannot be paid out of the proceeds. Chapman's Appeal, 122 Pa. St. 331, 15 Atl. 460 [reversing 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 534]; In re Yorks, 110 Pa. St. 69, 1 Atl. 162, 2 Atl. 65 [overruling McClintic's Appeal, 1 Pa. Cas. 251, 1 Atl. 573]. If the lien of a debt has expired at the time of the sale it cannot participate in the proceeds. Emerick's Estate, 172 Pa. St. 191, 33 Atl. 550; In re Cake, 157 Pa. St. 457, 27 Atl. 773; Williamson's Estate, (Sup. 1889) 17 Atl. 8. See also In re Shoop, 1 Leg. Gaz. 71. When a debt of a decedent is a lien on his real estate and not barred by the statute of limitations at the confirmation of the sale thereof by order of the court for the payment of debts, the lien of the debt is turned upon the fund, and the creditor's right to participate is not affected by a subsequent delay in distribution. Arndt's Appeal, 117 Pa. St. 120, 11 Atl. 633 [distinguishing Crosson's Estate, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 14, 22 Wkly. Notes Cas. 226]; Sheridan's Estate, 10 Kulp 225.

Where land is sold to pay a fraudulent claim the proceeds belong to the heirs. Whitlock v. McClusky, 91 Ill. 582.

96. See Houston v. Houston, 2 Marv. (Del.) 270, 43 Atl. 95; Shute v. Shute, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 1; Ambrose v. Byrne, 61 Ohio St. 146, 65 N. E. 408; Stone v. Strong, 42 Ohio St. 53; Jones v. Allen, 8 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 338, 6 Ohio N. P. 518.

In New York only debts owing by the decedent at the time of his death, his necessary funeral expenses, and the actual expenses of the proceeding for the sale can be paid from such proceeds. In re Summers, 37 Misc. 575, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 1050; Matter of Woodard, 13 N. Y. St. 161; Wilcox's Estate, 11 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 115; Cook v. Woodard, 5 Dem. Surr. 97; Long v. Olmsted, 3 Dem. Surr. 581; Smith v. Meakin, 2 Dem. Surr. 129. See also Matter of Renwick, 2 Bradf. Surr. 80.

97. Hunter v. Law, 68 Ala. 365; Johnston v. Union Bank, 37 Miss. 526. See also Kerr's Estate, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 182. Compare Dees v. Tildon, 2 La. Ann. 412. But see Dickerson v. Wilcoxon, 99 N. C. 535, 6 S. E. 774, holding that where land has been sold at the instance of devisees and the proceeds turned over to the personal representative they may be subjected to the payment of a judgment debt of the decedent without a special proceeding brought for that purpose. As to the disposition of proceeds of a partition sale see, generally, PARTITION.

98. Johnston v. Union Bank, 37 Miss. 526. See also Langham v. Darby, 13 Mo. 553.

99. California.— In re Murray, 18 Cal. 686.

Georgia.— Stallings v. Ivey, 49 Ga. 274 (vendor's lien); Carhart v. Vann, 46 Ga. 389; Sims v. Ferrill, 45 Ga. 585. See also McClure v. Williams, 58 Ga. 494; Atkinson v. Keith, 50 Ga. 577.

Illinois.— Bayless v. People, 56 Ill. App. 55.

Indiana.— Ryker v. Vawter, 117 Ind. 425, 20 N. E. 294; Perry v. Borton, 25 Ind. 274.

Louisiana.— Rhea's Estate, 33 La. Ann. 369; Robinson's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 17; Tureaud v. Gex, 21 La. Ann. 253; Ynogoso's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 559; Dejean's Succession, 8 La. Ann. 505; Zacharie v. Prieur, 9 La. 197.

Massachusetts.— See Church v. Savage, 7 Cush. 440.

Missouri.— Peters v. Holliday, 40 Mo. 544.

Ohio.— Defrees v. Greenham, 11 Ohio St. 486; Miami Exporting Co. v. Holly, Wright 226.

Pennsylvania.— See In re Ross, 9 Pa. St. 17; Girard v. McDermott, 5 Serg. & R. 128; Marsh v. Haldeman, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 234, 3 Pa. L. J. 512. See also Matter of Hocker, 2 Pearson 493, 14 Phila. 659.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1608.

The holder of an unrecorded mortgage is entitled to payment in preference to general creditors. Kirkpatrick v. Caldwell, 32 Ind. 299.

The costs of foreclosing a mortgage upon the realty of a decedent are payable out of the proceeds of such land when it is sold by the personal representative. Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Hobbs, 14 Ind. App. 681, 43 N. E. 452.

A judgment which has lost its lien when the land is sold cannot participate in the

they are not to be satisfied out of the proceeds.[1] Taxes which are a lien on land of a decedent should be paid out of the proceeds of a sale thereof.[2]

3. Payment of Costs and Expenses of Sale. The costs and expenses of a sale of the realty of a decedent are generally to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale[3] before any other charge or debt of any kind whatever is paid.[4]

4. Disposition of Surplus. The surplus of the proceeds of a sale of real estate of a decedent, remaining after the payment of his debts, is to be considered and disposed of as real estate.[5] distribution of the fund raised by the sale. Williamson's Appeal, (Pa. 1889) 17 Atl. 8. See also Matter of McGee, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 460, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 64.

Proof of satisfaction of judgment.— An auditor appointed to distribute the proceeds of a sale of a decedent's property may receive testimony to show that a judgment against the decedent was paid or satisfied before such sale. McCormick v. McGonigar, 4 Pa. Super. Ct. 408.

Distribution not subject to collateral attack.— Where the proceeds of an orphans' court sale of mortgaged premises were applied to the payment of the mortgage, the distribution cannot be collaterally questioned, and the money paid cannot be recovered back. Jackson v. Dickerson, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 356.

In Kentucky, under the act of 1839, subjecting the land of a decedent as well as his personalty to the payment of his debts, the liens which are to be discharged before the debts of general creditors are to be paid are such liens as existed at the death of the intestate and not such as were afterward acquired by judgment or execution. Slaughter v. Slaughter, 8 B. Mon. 482.

1. Cools v. Higgins, 23 N. J. Eq. 308; Tubb's Estate, 161 Pa. St. 252, 28 Atl. 1109; Penn Square Bldg. Assoc. Appeal, 81* Pa. St. 330. See also Bockover v. Ayres, 22 N. J. Eq. 13; Steger's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 158; Swift v. Kennison, 39 Vt. 473.

2. Trowbridge v. Sypher, 55 Iowa 352, 7 N. W. 567; Brown v. Evans, 15 Kan. 88, by statute. See also Nesbit v. Wood, 56 S. W. 714, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 127. Compare Fessenden's Appeal, 77 Me. 98, holding that taxes assessed upon real estate prior to its sale by an executor of an insolvent estate for the production of assets for the payment of debts are chargeable to the rents of the land accruing after the testator's decease, rather than to the proceeds of sale received by the executor.

3. Connecticut.— Canfield v. Bostwick, 21 Conn. 550.

Kentucky.— See Mason County v. Lee, 1 T. B. Mon. 247.

Louisiana.— Haile's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 1529, 27 So. 967. See also Ruthenberg v. Helberg, 43 La. 410, 9 So. 99.

New York.— Cook v. Woodard, 5 Dem. Surr. 97. See also Wilcox v. Quinby, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 5; Matter of Mathewson, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 660, 1 Connoly Surr. 157, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 290, 1 Connoly Surr. 254.

Pennsylvania.— Kitchenman's Estate, 15 Phila. 519.

South Carolina.— Glenn v. Gerald, 64 S. C. 236, 42 S. E. 155.

Texas.— See Stell v. Lewis, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 533.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1607.

Counsel fees paid out of proceeds.— Dundas' Appeal, 7 Pa. Cas. 629, 12 Atl. 485; Glenn v. Gerald, 64 S. C. 236, 42 S. E. 155. But compare Miller v. Swan, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 1015; Markey's Succession, 22 La. Ann. 265.

Unnecessary expenses not allowed out of proceeds.— Rudolph v. Underwood, 88 Ga. 664, 16 S. E. 55. See also Matter of McGee, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 460, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 64.

A percentage on the proceeds of sale may be allowed to the personal representative as compensation for his services as to the sale. Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326.

4. Negueloua's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 1495, 27 So. 962; Markey's Succession, 22 La. Ann. 265; Stone v. Strong, 42 Ohio St. 53; Greer v. Riley, 92 Tex. 699, 53 S. W. 578.

5. Alabama.— Williamson v. Mason, 23 Ala. 488.

Indiana.— Ball v. Green, 90 Ind. 75, holding that where an heir mortgages the realty inherited by him and it is afterward sold by the administrator to pay debts of his decedent, the mortgagee is entitled to any surplus.

Maryland.— See Dent v. Maddox, 4 Md. 522, right of widow to dower in surplus.

Missouri.— See Warfield v. Hume, 91 Mo. App. 541.

New Jersey.— Oberly v. Lerch, 18 N. J. Eq. 346.

New York.— Sears v. Mack, 2 Bradf. Surr. 394. See also Davis v. Davis, 4 Redf. Surr. 355.

North Carolina.— Denton v. Tyson, 118 N. C. 542, 24 S. E. 116, holding that such surplus cannot be applied to the payment of a judgment against the personal representative in favor of the widow for the balance of her year's allowance. See also Sloan v. Mendenhall, 60 N. C. 553; Latta v. Russ, 53 N. C. 111.

Ohio.— Griswold v. Frink, 22 Ohio St. 79, holding that the widow of the decedent is not entitled to any part of the surplus in her capacity as one of the distributees of his personal estate.

5. By Whom Proceeds Received and Distributed. It is sometimes provided by statute that the proceeds of a sale shall be received by the personal representative and applied like other assets,[6] or again it is provided that they shall be paid into court.[7] Where a trustee appointed to sell real estate on a creditor's bill for a settlement of a decedent's estate died after the sale and before the purchase-money had been paid, it was held that it was proper to direct the purchaser to pay the purchase-money to the creditors entitled to it under the bill.[8] Such proceeds are usually distributed by the court or under its order.[9]

Pennsylvania.— Wale's Estate, 11 Phila. 156. See also Grenawalt's Appeal, 37 Pa. St. 95; Pennell's Appeal, 20 Pa. St. 515.

Tennessee.— Read v. Bostick, 6 Humphr. 321.

Wisconsin.— See Tyron v. Farnsworth, 30 Wis. 577.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1611; and Conversion, 9 Cyc. 844.

Proper procedure to recover surplus from representative.— While money acquired by the personal representative from the sale of lands, for the payment of debts, and remaining in his hands for distribution after paying the debts, will be treated as having the qualities of land for certain purposes of administration and succession, for all other purposes it is only money in the hands of the administrator; and any process or procedure to get it out of his hands must necessarily be that which is adapted to the recovery of money as money. Nelson v. Murfee, 69 Ala. 598.

Surplus of land fraudulently conveyed by decedent.— If an administrator sells land by license of court to pay debts of his intestate, after recovering it from one to whom the intestate conveyed it in fraud of his creditors but for a valuable consideration, a surplus of the proceeds, remaining after paying the debts, belongs to the fraudulent grantee as against the heirs of the intestate. Allen v. Ashley School Fund, 102 Mass. 262.

Payment of lien against portion of heir.— If, at the time of the sale, there are liens by mortgage, judgment, or decree, against the portions of any of the heirs, it is equitable that on a claim filed such liens should be admitted as a valid charge against the shares of the heirs in the surplus. Sears v. Mack, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 394.

In New York Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2798, 2799, especially provide for the disposition and distribution of the surplus of proceeds of realty of a decedent sold to satisfy a mortgage or other liens thereupon, which accrued during the decedent's lifetime. See Powell v. Harrison, 88 N. Y. App. Div. 228, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 452; Washington L. Ins. Co. v. Clark, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 160, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 610; Matter of Callaghan, 69 Hun 161, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 378; Matter of Stilwell, 68 Hun 406, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 65; Di Lorenzo v. Dragone, 25 Misc. 26, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 420, 28 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 102; Matter of Coutant, 24 Misc. 350, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 713; Matter of Solomon, 4 Redf. Surr. 509.

6. See Cruce v. Cruce, 21 Ill. 46; Thompson v. Cox, 53 N. C. 311.

Payment to agent of representative.— In Louisiana, where a succession is not in debt, the tutor of the minor heirs may administer and may receive the proceeds of a probate sale of personalty of the succession or authorize any other person to receive them for him; and a payment made by a purchaser to a person so authorized will release him. Martin v. Dupre, 1 La. Ann. 239.

7. See Matter of McGee, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 460, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 64; Matter of Bradley, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 261, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 555.

An auctioneer is not the person to retain and pay out succession funds under order of court. He is to return his sale and its proceeds to the court, and the representative of the succession is to make a distribution in court according to law and the rights of all creditors settled contradictorily. Minor v. Barker, 26 La. Ann. 160. The creditor of a succession cannot demand that the auctioneer, who has sold property of the succession, shall pay over the proceeds of the property. Only the one charged with the administration of the succession is empowered to make such demand. Dowler's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 437.

8. Coombs v. Jordan, 3 Bland (Md.) 284, 22 Am. Dec. 236.

9. See Dent v. Maddox, 4 Md. 522; Matter of Lesourd, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 414, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 371; Kennedy's Estate, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 135.

Rights of claimants determined by court.— In the distribution of a fund produced by sale of a decedent's property for the payment of debts, the orphans' court has jurisdiction to determine the rights of all claimants thereto. Grove's Appeal, 103 Pa. St. 562.

Appealability of order of court.— A decree of the court of common pleas which does not distribute the whole fund raised upon the sheriff's or coroner's sale of real estate is not final; and in case a creditor is not satisfied with the partial appropriation of the fund, he must wait until a decree is made distributing the entire fund, when he may appeal, and have redress for any error committed in such partial appropriation. Stultzfoos' Appeal, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 265.

Proceeds of a sale under order of court in aid of a will must be distributed under the order of the court. Brandon v. Mason, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 615. See also Beeks v. Rye, 77 Miss. 358, 27 So. 635.

In North Carolina the jurisdiction to direct the application of the proceeds of a sale of realty of a decedent is exclusively in the clerk of the superior court, and an order made by a judge of such court in term-time

6. Duty of Purchaser or Mortgagee as to Application of Proceeds.[10] Where land of a decedent is sold or mortgaged, under an order of court, the purchaser or mortgagee is under no duty to see to the application of the proceeds, and his rights are not affected by a misapplication thereof.[11]

W. Liability of Representative[12] — 1. In General. Any liability of an executor or administrator on account of sales made by him must arise either from receipt of the purchase-money, a failure to execute his duties in the manner required by law, or negligence or misconduct in their performance. There is no liability beyond this, although the representative may have erred in judgment.[13]

2. For Purchase-Money — a. When Collected. The executor or administrator exercising good faith is responsible in general for moneys actually received by him as proceeds of the sale, and for no more.[14] He is not liable for the deficiency as to such proceeds is extrajudicial. Moore v. Ingram, 91 N. C. 376.

10. Sale of realty under testamentary authority see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (IX), (D).

Sale of personalty under testamentary authority or common-law power see supra, VIII, P, 2, i.

11. Iowa.— Lees v. Whetmore, 58 Iowa 170, 12 N. W. 238.

Maryland.— Coombs v. Jordan, 3 Bland 284, 28 Am. Dec. 236.

Missouri.— Howell v. Jump, 140 Mo. 441, 41 S. W. 976.

Ohio.— Defrees v. Greenham, 11 Ohio St. 486. See also Muskingum Bank v. Carpenter, 7 Ohio 21, 28 Am. Dec. 616.

Pennsylvania.— Dixcy v. Laning, 49 Pa. St. 143.

South Carolina.— Spencer v. Godfrey, Bailey Eq. 468.

Texas.— See Blanton v. Mayes, 72 Tex. 417, 10 S. W. 452.

Washington.— See Wallace v. Grant, 27 Wash. 130, 67 Pac. 578, holding that while it is true that a mortgagee of property of a decedent under order of court is under no duty to see that the money is properly expended by the administrator, if he has seen to it that the loan has been made under the provisions of law, it is incumbent upon him, in order to ask that the estate be estopped from pleading the illegality of the mortgage, to show that the estate was actually the recipient of the money by the administrator.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1613; and, generally, Judicial Sales.

12. Sale of realty under testamentary authority see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (XIV).

Sale of personalty under testamentary authority or common-law power see supra, VIII, P, 2, n.

Liability of representative on warranty see supra, XII, T, 3, b, (III).

13. Gale v. O'Connor, 43 La. Ann. 717, 9 So. 557 (holding that a public administrator cannot be proceeded against as a wrong-doer because of his making a sale brought about by a conspiracy in which he did not participate); In re Conser, 40 Oreg. 138, 66 Pac. 607 (holding that an executor acting in good faith is not responsible for selling a note and mortgage at less than its appraised value, the testimony as to its actual value being conflicting); In re Worcester, 60 Vt. 420, 15 Atl. 336.

14. Herron's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 835 (holding the administrator liable only in Confederate money, when he had received such money at a time when it was the only currency of the state); Coussy v. Vivant, 12 La. Ann. 44 (holding that where an agent of the executrix had received the purchase-money and had been appointed to succeed her upon her death, the presumption was the money was still in his possession, and her estate was not liable therefor); In re Vandervoort, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 270 (holding that where by order of court the proceeds had been paid to the heirs the executor was not liable); Dray v. Bloch, 27 Oreg. 549, 41 Pac. 660 (holding that an administrator de bonis non was liable for only what came into his hands); Mason v. Rodgers, 83 Tex. 389, 18 S. W. 811 (holding the administrator not chargeable with proceeds of a sale on credit to a claimant in satisfaction of his claim).

The administrator is bound by his report showing a sale for cash and cannot excuse himself by proving a sale on credit. Davis' Appeal, 14 Pa. St. 371.

Presumption of receipt of payment.—After twelve years it will be conclusively presumed that a trustee selling land received payment and he will be accountable therefor. Maddox v. Dent, 4 Md. Ch. 543.

Receipt by co-executor.— Where one of two executors obtained the order and sold, he was held liable for the proceeds, although his co-executor received part. Johnson v. Johnson, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 277, 29 Am. Dec. 72.

The statute of limitations begins to run against the heirs only from the time the administrator actually receives the money. Boswell v. Underwood, 84 Ga. 79, 10 S. E. 595.

Sale of encumbered land.— Where land was sold subject to a mortgage, but the amount of the mortgage could not be ascertained, and bids were taken without considering the mortgage, with an agreement that the amount due thereon should be deducted from the price, and this was done, the administrator was not chargeable with the amount allowed to the purchaser on account of the mortgage; but he was chargeable with accrued interest and state taxes which he deducted from the bid (Crosson's Estate, 6 Pa. Co. Ct.

or failure of securities taken by him if they were taken in good faith and without negligence.[15] He is liable in his representative capacity only for what he receives in that capacity.[16] He is liable for an improper disbursement of the proceeds.[17]

b. For Not Collecting. The personal representative making the sale is liable for any loss resulting from a failure to realize the purchase-price, if he has disregarded the requirements of law or of the order of sale, as by extending credit without authority,[18] or, where authorized to sell on credit, if he has omitted to take security as required by law or the order of sale.[19] Independent of express directions, it is negligence charging the representative for any resulting loss if he extends credit without requiring security by mortgage or by some means other than the personal obligation of the purchaser.[20] The representative may also render himself liable by negligence in not proceeding to collect the purchase-money.[21] Persons interested in the land or proceeds may be estopped from 14, 22 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 226 [affirmed in 125 Pa. St. 380, 17 Atl. 423].

Until there has been an accounting in the probate court the right of action for the proceeds is in the administrator de bonis non and not in the heirs. Neagle v. Hall, 115 N. C. 415, 20 S. E. 516.

An action by heirs for the proceeds is personal and not in the nature of a revendication. Bennett v. Alexander, 15 La. Ann. 469.

15. Gordon v. Gibbs, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 473; Davis v. Yerby, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 508; Shields v. Jones, 68 N. C. 488; Davis v. Marcum, 57 N. C. 189.

Loss through failure of bank.— A commissioner to sell land who deposited the purchase-money in a solvent bank was held not liable therefor when the bank became insolvent at the close of the Civil war. Thomson v. Brooke, 76 Va. 160.

16. Abby v. Fuller, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 36 (holding that where the land was sold with notice that the proceeds would be first applied to discharge the mortgage, and this was done, only the value of the equity came into the administrator's hands as assets, and he was not answerable to the estate for the amount of the mortgage which he paid); Diehl's Appeal, 33 Pa. St. 406 (holding that the administrator is chargeable only with the proceeds of the equitable interest belonging to the estate). But see In re Moyer, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 407, where the administrator was charged with the whole purchase-price, where by mistake the sale had been made discharged of encumbrances, in violation of the order, and the administrator had paid the mortgage out of the purchase-money.

The proceeds of a void sale do not become assets with which the representative is charged in his representative capacity. Pettit v. Pettit, 32 Ala. 288; Brandon v. Brown, 106 Ill. 519, holding that an executor need not account for proceeds of a sale where the legatees recovered the land in ejectment and the executor returned the money to the purchaser. But the administrator is chargeable with the rents and profits as long as the occupant retains the land. Anderson v. McGowan, 42 Ala. 280.

17. Clark's Appeal, 93 Pa. St. 369 (holding the administrator liable for attorney's fees chargeable upon the fund, where he disbursed the fund without waiting for the approval of his account); Cramp's Appeal, 81 Pa. St. 90 [reversing 8 Phila. 204] (holding an administrator liable for a lien, to meet which he should have withheld sufficient funds).

An accounting may be compelled under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2726, where the administrator does not pay the proceeds into court, as required by Code Civ. Proc. § 2786. Matter of Bradley, 25 Misc. 261, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 555.

18. Kelley v. Helmkamp, 40 Ill. App. 35; Richards v. Adamson, 43 Iowa 248; In re Dillebaugh, 4 Watts (Pa.) 1835.

Administrator chargeable with depreciation of currency received without authority.— Brewer v. Vanarsdale, 6 Dana (Ky.) 204; Williams v. Campbell, 46 Miss. 57.

19. James v. Faulk, 54 Ala. 184; Payne v. Pippey, 49 Ala. 599; Betts v. Blackwell, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 373; Roberts v. Adams, 2 S. C. 337; Lamb v. Lamb, Speers Eq. (S. C.) 289, 40 Am. Dec. 618; Massey v. Cureton, Cheves Eq. (S. C.) 181; Peay v. Fleming, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 97; Stukes v. Collins, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 207.

The representative cannot discharge himself by showing that his disregard was disclosed by his report of sale, and that the sale was confirmed (James v. Faulk, 54 Ala. 184), or that stay-laws and military orders prevented the collection (Roberts v. Adams, 2 S. C. 337).

On an order requiring sureties to be taken, an administrator becomes responsible if he takes sureties who are non-residents of the state. Roberts v. Adams, 2 S. C. 337. But see Shields v. Jones, 68 N. C. 488.

20. Bowen v. Shay, 105 Ill. 132; King v. King, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 552; Roseman v. Pless, 65 N. C. 374.

Waiver of vendor's lien.—The administrator is liable for a resulting loss if he waives the vendor's lien for purchase-money by taking indorsed notes, although the indorsers were in good credit and reputed to be responsible, and although a higher price was obtained than if there had been a sale for cash. In re Palmer, 1 Dougl. (Mich.) 422.

21. Beeman's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 1355, asserting a liability against the administrator where they agreed that the sale should be made in the manner in which the administrator proceeded.[22]

3. For Negligence or Misconduct in Selling. The representative will be chargeable with the loss which results from his failure in any substantial respect to follow the requirements of the law as to the manner of making the sale,[23] and he must also bear the loss occasioned by unreasonably delaying the sale.[24] He may render himself liable by knowingly selling for a grossly inadequate price.[25] An administrator who knowingly and fraudulently obtains an order and sells land when no necessity therefor exists will be charged with the value of the land at the time that suit is brought for an accounting,[26] while if the sale is set aside the administrator will be charged personally with the costs of such proceedings.[27]

17 So. 820; Dent v. Maddox, 4 Md. 522 [affirming as to this point 4 Md. Ch. 543]; Kennedy's Appeal, 4 Pa. St. 149 (holding that where the purchaser refused to take a life-estate sold, without a conveyance from the remainder-man, whom the administrator agreed to compensate out of the purchase-money, the administrator was liable for the whole purchase-price, as he could have compelled the purchaser to perform his bid); Carpenter v. Stowe, 75 Vt. 114, 53 Atl. 360 (holding that where the administrator took a bag represented by the purchaser to contain the full amount, and he counted it one or two days later, found it short, and said nothing to the purchaser, he held liable for the full price).

On a sale free from encumbrances the purchaser refused to comply with his bid because of encumbrances, some of which were not paid until after the time for completing the sale, and it was held that the administrator was not liable for the purchase-price, as it was his duty merely to resell. Wanzer v. Eldridge, 33 N. J. Eq. 511.

Where a master made the sale and there was a loss through the neglect of the master to seek payment the executor is not responsible. Thompson v. Wagner, 3 Desauss. (S. C.) 94.

Slight delay in suing.— An administrator does not render himself liable by allowing one term of court to pass before suing. Gwynn v. Dorsey, 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 453. See also Davis v. Marcum, 57 N. C. 189.

22. Schroeder's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 290.

23. Morton v. Johnston, 124 Mich. 561, 83 N. W. 369 (holding that one who sells without giving the required notice, at less than the appraised value, will be charged with such value); In re Glover, 127 Mo. 153, 29 S. W. 982 (holding that an administrator authorized to sell notes for their face value with accrued interest, who sells them for less, should be charged with the full amount); Schwartz's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 71 (holding an administrator selling without giving notice of a mortgage liable for the expense of reselling).

A failure to take bond to indemnify against liens subject to which the sale was made renders the representative liable (Sparrow v. Kelso, 92 Ind. 514), but not where the purchaser is solvent, because he is liable without a bond and there is no loss (State v. Kelso, 94 Ind. 587).

Failure to resell, where the purchaser fails to comply with the terms, renders the representative liable. Fontenet v. Debaillon, 8 La. Ann. 509.

Sale irrespective of appraisal.— The administrator is liable for the difference between the appraised value of movables and the sum for which they were sold, if the sale was improperly made irrespective of the appraisal (Richmond's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 858), but not where the sale was for their full value (Lee's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 578).

24. Goodbear v. Gary, 1 La. Ann. 240; In re Gorman, 50 Mo. 179; Bland v. Hartsoe, 65 N. C. 204.

Delay in good faith.— The administrators are not chargeable with loss occasioned by refusing an offer and selling later for a less price, where they acted on competent advice and the property depreciated in consequence of a general financial depression which intervened. Sunday's Appeal, 131 Pa. St. 584, 18 Atl. 931.

Injunction as excuse for delaying sale.— A personal representative is not guilty of laches for delay in selling land, where it appears that the delay was caused by injunction proceedings and by frequent disapprovals of attempted sales by the probate court. Rogers v. Johnson, 125 Mo. 202, 28 S. W. 635.

25. Matter of Johnston, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 618, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 966, holding an administrator liable for the value of a half interest which he sold for one hundred and ten dollars, having bought the other half for himself at about the same time for fifteen hundred dollars. See also Succession of Hautau, 32 La. Ann. 54.

26. Bell v. Bell, 20 Ga. 250; Hart v. Ten Eyck, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 62. See also Farys v. Farys, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 261.

An executor who concurs with his co-executor in obtaining a sale without necessity and in obtaining its confirmation is liable for a loss occasioned by the failure of his co-executor to record a mortgage for the purchase-money. Bailey v. Boyce, 5 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 187.

Administrator not charged with value of property unless gross negligence or fraud shown.— Richardson v. Sage, 57 Cal. 212.

27. Loomis' Appeal, 29 Pa. St. 237; Hurt v. Horton, 12 Tex. 285.

4. For Buying at His Own Sale. An executor or administrator who purchases property of the decedent at a sale under order of the court is, unless the heirs or devisees recover the land itself,[28] as they are entitled to do in case they elect to have the sale set aside,[29] chargeable with the full value of the land[30] at the time of the sale,[31] or perhaps at the time of the suit.[32] If he has resold he is chargeable with all the profits realized on the resale.[33] It must, however, be shown in order to so charge the representative that he was interested at the time of the sale.[34] As to such interest the report of the representative showing himself to be the purchaser is conclusive against him,[35] but the record is not conclusive in his favor.[36]

28. Miller v. Binion, 33 Ga. 33; Chapman v. Sims, 53 Miss. 154.

29. See supra, XII, M, 4, a.

30. Lord v. Blount, 25 N. C. 516; Britton v. Browne, 4 N. C. 332; Wallington's Estate, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 307; Gee v. Hicks, Rich. Eq. Cas. (S. C.) 5. But see Armstrong's Appeal, 68 Pa. St. 409, where the purchase was by the administrator's wife and there was no actual fraud.

How value ascertained.— The value must be ascertained, not by conjecture of witnesses, but by reselling the land with a proper upset price. Bailey v. Robinson, 1 Gratt. (Va.) 4, 42 Am. Dec. 540.

A doubt as to value should be resolved in favor of the heirs. Huston v. Cassidy, 14 N. J. Eq. 320.

An administrator purchasing jointly with another is responsible for the entire price, and a distributee may sue for his share. Ward v. Oates, 42 Ala. 225.

Where an agent made the sale and became interested in the purchase, it was held that the administratrix would be chargeable with the full value of the land unless she called the agent to account. Currier v. Green, 2 N. H. 225.

Where two administrators bought, and one received the money as guardian for minor heirs, the fact that he wasted it was no defense in an action against the other for the value. Chandler v. Clarke, 90 Ga. 550, 16 S. E. 645.

Interest.— Where wild lands of the testator were sold by the executor and bought in by himself, and the heirs elected to consider him as the purchaser, but no profit had accrued to him from the lands, and frequent taxes had been paid by him, and the lands were unsalable, and the title to some of the parcels doubtful, it was held that he should be charged with only simple interest. Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 77.

31. Huston v. Cassedy, 13 N. J. Eq. 228; Glass v. Greathouse, 20 Ohio 503.

32. Shine v. Redwine, 30 Ga. 780.

33. Alabama.— Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

Arkansas.— Ambleton v. Dyer, 53 Ark. 224, 13 S. W. 926.

Indiana.— Brackenridge v. Holland, 2 Blackf. 377, 20 Am. Dec. 123.

Kentucky.— Goodridge v. Fitch, 9 B. Mon. 562, purchase by administrator and guardian for heirs.

Massachusetts.— Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. 77.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Hughes, 99 N. C. 375, 6 S. E. 572 [modifying on rehearing 96 N. C. 177, 2 S. E. 339]; Ford v. Blount, 25 N. C. 516.

Pennsylvania.— Hacker's Estate, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 202, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. 318; Deal's Estate, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 383.

Virginia.— See Cross v. Cross, 4 Gratt. 257, holding that an administratrix who sets up slaves of the estate to be hired publicly, then hires them herself at a much reduced price, and then hires them out to other persons at an advanced price, will be held to account for the advanced price, or, if that cannot be ascertained, for reasonable hire.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1590.

Resale for more than actual value.— Where an administrator, through the agency of another, became the purchaser of lands of the decedent sold by himself under a license from the court, for the sum of five hundred dollars, and afterward sold the land upon a long credit for one thousand dollars, which was well secured, it was held that he should be charged with the price for which he resold the land, although it had been found that the actual value of the land was seven hundred and fifty dollars. Grant v. Hughes, 99 N. C. 375, 6 S. E. 572 [modifying on rehearing 96 N. C. 177, 2 S. E. 339].

Uncertainty as to amount of profits.— If owing to the conduct of the executor or administrator who has purchased real property of the decedent at a sale under order of the court, any uncertainty exists as to the amount of the profits made by him on such purchase and a subsequent resale, he will be chargeable with the largest amount which from the circumstances he can be presumed to have realized. Brackenridge v. Holland, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 377, 20 Am. Dec. 123.

Adjustment where several lots purchased.— An administrator cannot be compelled to account for profits on lots resold without allowing him for the remaining lots which were worth less than he paid for them. Hapgood v. Jennison, 2 Vt. 294.

34. Baldwin v. Dalton, 168 Mo. 20, 67 S. W. 599; Smith v. Worthington, 53 Fed. 977, 4 C. C. A. 130.

35. James v. James, 55 Ala. 525.

36. Grant v. Hughes, 96 N. C. 177, 2 S. E. 339.

XIII. INSOLVENT ESTATES.

A. In General. The executor or administrator of an insolvent estate represents the general creditors and holds the property of the estate in trust for them.[1] It is his duty to represent the estate as insolvent and to invoke the action of the probate court accordingly, that the assets may be administered for the general benefit of creditors,[2] and where the estate is actually insolvent, he cannot take it out of the insolvent course by his mere agreement.[3]

B. What Law Governs. The administration of an insolvent estate is governed by the law of the place where the estate is situated.[4]

C. Insolvency Proceedings — 1. Jurisdiction — a. Probate Court. Ordinarily the administration and settlement of an estate declared insolvent should be carried out and concluded in the probate court.[5] The power of that court in such cases is governed wholly by statute,[6] but is usually sufficiently large to enable it to adjudicate on all matters in reference to the insolvency; and therefore proceedings in the probate court by the administrator will not be enjoined unless it is clear that the facts relied on for the injunction cannot be adjudicated in that court.[7] The probate jurisdiction attaches upon receiving the executor's or administrator's report or representation of insolvency, and thenceforward the executor or administrator is considered the actor and is held to notice of subsequent proceedings.[8]

b. Courts of Equity. A court of equity may have jurisdiction where there are conflicting interests, or some question of special equitable cognizance is involved.[9]

2. Grounds For Declaration of Insolvency. It has been held that a declaration of insolvency should be based on the insufficiency of the personal estate to pay the debts,[10] but it has also been asserted that the insolvency should be estimated upon the probable value of the whole estate both real and personal.[11]

1. Hughes v. Menefee, 29 Mo. App. 192.

2. McGehee v. Lomax, 49 Ala. 131; Yandell v. Pugh, 53 Miss. 295; McMahon v. Weart, (N. J. Ch. 1896) 35 Atl. 444.

An administrator de bonis non has the duty of declaring and administering the estate as insolvent upon the failure of the administrator in chief to do so. Lambeth v. Garber, 6 Ala. 870; Yandell v. Pugh, 63 Miss. 295.

3. Janes' Appeal, 89 Pa. St. 54.

4. Moorehead v. Diemer, 2 Baxt. (Tenn.) 153; Gilchrist v. Cannon, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 581. See supra, I, K.

Suit in federal court.— This rule does not deprive a citizen of another state of a right to bring his suit against the administrator in the federal court. Hunt v. Danforth, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,887, 2 Curt. 592.

5. Shackelford v. Bankhead, 72 Ala. 476; Clark v. Eubank, 65 Ala. 245; McBroom v. McBroom, 19 Ala. 173.

6. Weaver v. Weaver, 23 Ala. 789; Steele v. Weaver, 20 Ala. 540; Boggs v. Mobile Branch Bank, 12 Ala. 494; Martin v. Baldwin, 7 Ala. 923; Ives' Appeal, 28 Conn. 416; Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251; Miller v. Pettit, 16 N. J. L. 421; McMahon v. Weart, (N. J. Ch. 1896) 35 Atl. 444; Flemming v. Talliafer, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 352; Smith v. Brady, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 447.

7. McMahon v. Weart, (N. J. Ch. 1896) 35 Atl. 444.

8. Hayes v. Collier, 47 Ala. 726; Watts v. Gayle, 20 Ala. 817; Crothers v. Ross, 17 Ala. 816; Clarke v. West, 5 Ala. 117.

Want of actual notice to creditors is not fatal. Hine v. Hussey, 45 Ala. 496.

9. Clark v. Head, 75 Ala. 373; Shackelford v. Bankhead, 72 Ala. 476; Corr v. Shackelford, 68 Ala. 241 (homestead controversy involving questions of fraud); Gayle v. Singleton, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 566; Jeter v. Barnard, 42 Ga. 43; Williams v. Starkweather, 22 R. I. 501, 48 Atl. 669.

Where the mortgagee of property belonging to an insolvent estate files his bill to foreclose and the lien on the mortgage has been lost by lapse of time, chancery will take jurisdiction to call in all the creditors of the estate and make distribution among them. Gayle v. Singleton, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 566.

Where the creditors are numerous a court of equity may take jurisdiction. Thomson v. Palmer, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 139, bill to enjoin creditors from suing at law.

10. See also Byrne v. McDowell, 23 Ala. 404; Woods v. McCann, 3 Ala. 61; Flemming v. Talliafer, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 352; Blount County Bank v. Smith, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 296.

11. Saunders v. Planters' Bank, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 287, also holding that an order to sell the realty need not be obtained before the estate is declared insolvent.

The assets need not have been reduced to money; it is sufficient that the representa-

The executor or administrator should not represent the estate insolvent unless he has good reason to believe it so; nor ought the probate judge to allow such a representation and proceed with the estate as insolvent unless he also on examination has good reason to believe it to be so.[12] Where an estate solvent in fact is declared and administered as insolvent, the proceedings, if not fraudulent, are nevertheless valid and binding, and there is no remedy against the executor or administrator personally.[13]

3. Representation of Insolvency — a. In General. The representation of insolvency should show to the court that the estate appears to the executor or administrator to be insolvent,[14] should be in the name of all the executors or administrators, where there are more than one,[15] although it may be sufficient when signed and verified by one alone,[16] and should be filed in the office or court prescribed by statute.[17] It is in general immaterial whether the representation be made by the original executor or administrator or by his successor in trust.[18]

b. Time of Making. The estate should be represented insolvent within the time prescribed by statute, if any there be.[19] In the absence of statute there is no particular limitation of time;[20] but the representative is on the one hand entitled to a reasonable time in which to determine whether or not the estate is insolvent,[21] while on the other hand he must make his representation of insolvency within a reasonable time.[22]

4. Hearing. In determining insolvency all valid claims presented against the estate should be considered,[23] and also the assets or resources of the estate,[24] and the representative's prudence or conduct in administering.[25] The court has power tive believes the estate insolvent from a fair estimate. Neibert v. Withers, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 599.

12. Walker v. Hill, 17 Mass. 380.

Who may oppose representation.— Next of kin entitled to the estate, if claims against it are barred, may question the administrator's application to have the estate declared insolvent. McMahon v. Weart, (N. J. Ch. 1896) 35 Atl. 444.

13. Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186; Probate Judge v. Brooks, 5 N. H. 82.

14. Shackleford v. King, 24 Ala. 158; Barker v. Wendell, 17 N. H. 159, holding that a representation that "the estate being greatly involved makes it necessary to represent the same insolvent" and begging "leave so to represent the same" is representing it insolvent.

If the decedent was a member of a partnership the extent of his interest therein and the liabilities of the firm should be shown. Raines v. Raines, 30 Ala. 425.

Filing a full statement of such claims "as come to his knowledge" is sometimes required of the representative. McDowell v. Jones, 58 Ala. 25.

15. Steele v. Weaver, 20 Ala. 540; Hutchinson v. Newbold, 45 N. J. Eq. 698, 17 Atl. 691.

16. Steele v. Weaver, 20 Ala. 540.

17. Holliday v. McKinne, 22 Fla. 153 (stating that under the Florida statute a written suggestion of insolvency must be filed in the office of the judge of the county court in which letters testamentary or administration have been granted); Graves v. Cook, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 122 (holding that it is competent for an administrator to file his petition in the county court, and that he is not required to file in the quarterly court of the presiding justice).

18. Quackenbush v. Campbell, Walk. (Mich.) 525.

19. Parker v. Whiting, 6 How. (Miss.) 352; Williams v. Starkweather, 22 R. I. 501, 38 Atl. 669; McGowan v. Peabody, 20 R. I. 582, 40 Atl. 758; Strong v. Luther, 20 R. I. 317, 38 Atl. 1054.

20. Quackenbush v. Campbell, Walk. (Mich.) 525; Von Arx v. Wemple, 43 N. J. L. 154.

Representative may report insolvency immediately after appointment. Hullett v. Hood, 109 Ala. 345, 19 So. 419.

21. Barber v. Collins, 18 R. I. 760, 30 Atl. 796; Pierce v. Allen, 12 R. I. 510.

22. Daniel v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 361.

23. Saunders v. Planters' Bank, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 287. And see In re McMahon, [1900] 1 Ch. 173, 69 L. J. Ch. 142, 81 L. T. Rep. N. S. 715, 7 Manson 38.

Costs accruing in the ordinary course of administration are proper to be proved. Nicholas v. Sands, 136 Ala. 267, 33 So. 815; Hatchett v. Corbow, 59 Ala. 516.

Claims barred by limitations will not be considered. Haby v. Fuos, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 25 S. W. 1121.

24. Feagan v. Kendall, 43 Ala. 628, holding that the amount chargeable to the executor or administrator for his own failure to use proper diligence to collect debts due the estate is an asset in his hands, and must be reckoned as such in considering the question of the solvency or insolvency of the estate.

25. Furlow v. Tillman, 21 Ga. 150; Williams v. Starkweather, 22 R. I. 501, 38 Atl. 669.

Depreciation due to representative's fault. — Depreciation in the value of the estate, to adjudicate on all questions raised in reference to the insolvency,[26] but it is not proper to finally adjudicate upon the correctness or validity of claims or payments that may be incidentally involved; nor should the same strictness and fulness of proof as to their validity be required as when they are up for final adjudication on their merits in an appropriate proceeding for that purpose.[27]

5. DECREE. A decree of insolvency merely ascertains, as between the personal representative and the creditors, the existing status of the estate, and is binding both on the administrator or executor and the creditors,[28] and not subject to collateral attack,[29] except for fraud[30] or want of jurisdiction;[31] or unless the attaching creditor's right of action did not accrue until after final settlement.[32] In the absence of statute such decree does not affect the rights of heirs, next of kin, legatees, or devisees, nor is it evidence against them of any fact ascertained by it,[33] nor is its validity affected by their not being made parties to the proceedings.[34]

6. REVIEW. An appeal from a decree of a probate judge decreeing or refusing to decree insolvency should be taken in the time prescribed by statute,[35] and upon objections urged in the lower court.[36] The appellate court may order the cause to be remitted with directions for a further hearing.[37] A mere inaccurate instruction constitutes no ground for reversal, when the inaccuracy is not such as would unduly influence the jury.[38]

7. EFFECT OF REPRESENTATION OR DECLARATION OF INSOLVENCY — a. In General. The effect of filing and advertising a report or representation of insolvency is to preclude the bringing of any suit against the executor or administrator upon claims due from the estate, to preclude any creditor from thereafter acquiring or perfecting a lien, and to require all persons to present their claims in the insolvency proceedings.[39] But until the executor or administrator has taken such steps common-law courts have no notice of the insolvency, and executions against the estate cannot be restrained.[40] The institution of insolvent proceedings does not suspend in favor of creditors the special statute of limitations with which is due to the representative's fault, should hinder him in procuring an award of insolvency from the court on his representation. Weakley v. Gurley, 60 Ala. 399; Bramblet v. Webb, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 438.

26. McMahon v. Weart, (N. J. Ch. 1896) 35 Atl. 444. And see Allein v. Sharp, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 96.

A suit by agreement between an administrator and creditor to have the estate settled as insolvent should be rejected at the creditor's cost on his failure to prove his claim. McClure v. Enoch, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 830.

27. Willis v. Rand, 41 Ala. 198; Raines v. Raines, 30 Ala. 425; Greenwood v. McGilvray, 120 Mass. 516.

28. McMillan v. Rushing, 80 Ala. 402; Randle v. Carter, 62 Ala. 95; McGehee v. Lomax, 49 Ala. 131; Moody v. Davis, 67 N. H. 300, 38 Atl. 464.

The omission of creditors to file their claims against an estate duly declared insolvent cannot annul the decree of insolvency. McCuan v. Turrentine, 48 Ala. 68.

An administrator cannot object to the regularity of an order declaring an estate insolvent, made upon his own report. McLaughlin v. Nelms, 9 Ala. 925.

29. Friedman v. Shamblin, 117 Ala. 454, 23 So. 821.

30. Friedman v. Shamblin, 117 Ala. 454, 23 So. 821; Byrne v. McDow, 23 Ala. 404.

31. Friedman v. Shamblin, 117 Ala. 454, 23 So. 821.

A decree rendered upon a compromise between creditors without notice to the executor is absolutely void. Greenlaw v. Pettit, 87 Tenn. 467, 11 S. W. 357.

32. Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251.

33. McMillan v. Rushing, 80 Ala. 402 (holding this to have been the rule prior to Ala. Act, Dec. 4, 1878); Randle v. Carter, 62 Ala. 95.

34. Randle v. Carter, 62 Ala. 95.

35. Banks v. McDougald, 29 Ala. 75; Black v. Black, 20 Ala. 401.

36. Bristow v. McClelland, 122 Ind. 64, 22 N. E. 299.

37. Bucknam v. Phelps, 6 Mass. 448.

38. Nicholas v. Sands, 136 Ala. 267, 33 So. 815.

39. Spencer v. Goodlett, 104 Tenn. 648, 58 S. W. 322; Woods v. Woods, 99 Tenn. 50, 41 S. W. 345; Bates v. Elrod, 13 Lea (Tenn.) 156; Henderson v. McGhee, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 55; Wessell v. Gross, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 57 S. W. 372; Sellars v. Brown, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1897) 46 S. W. 335. And see infra, XIII, H, 2, a.

40. Dibble v. Woodhull, 24 N. J. L. 618; Bonner v. Bonner, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 436.

Execution on a judgment against the administrator may be levied on real estate fraudulently conveyed where the administrator, in defending the action against his intestate, neglects to suggest insolvency on the record. Wyman v. Fox, 55 Me. 523.

reference to actions against executors or administrators nor relieve them from their obligation to commence proceedings either at law or before commissioners within the time limited,[41] nor does it prolong the representative's lien on the real estate of his decedent for the payment of debts.[42] The effect of a decree adjudging a decedent's estate to be insolvent is to transfer to the probate court the jurisdiction of all claims against the estate, so that the administration may proceed in conformity with the insolvent legislation.[43]

b. On Actions Pending. In general the declaration of insolvency abates or discontinues all suits against the executor or administrator for the collection of claims against the estate, the creditors proceeding next to prove their claims before the judge or commissioners in insolvency.[44] In some jurisdictions, however, a pending suit may proceed to judgment so as to ascertain the amount due,[45] or in order to better preserve the litigant's rights in case the estate does not prove eventually insolvent,[46] or the insolvency proceedings become defeated by the fault of the executor or administrator himself,[47] or the claim in question is disallowed by the commissioners;[48] and the same is true where the action is not one merely against the estate.[49]

c. On Judgments and Executions. If before or at the time of entering judgment the personal representative declares the estate to be insolvent, the judgment can only be allowed as a pro rata claim against the estate, and no execution can issue thereon,[50] nor can a suit on the judgment be maintained against the

41. Aiken v. Morse, 104 Mass. 277.

42. Aiken v. Morse, 104 Mass. 277.

43. McEachin v. Reid, 40 Ala. 410; Powe v. Sterrett, 16 Ala. 339; Edwards v. Gibbs, 11 Ala. 292; Hill v. Treat, 67 Me. 501; Brown v. Staples, 28 Me. 497, 48 Am. Dec. 504; Moody v. Davis, 67 N. H. 300, 38 Atl. 464.

The property of the decedent passes into the custody of the law for administration on the basis of insolvency, notwithstanding prior and premature dispositions of the same, unless the proceeds of such transactions may serve fairly as a substitute (Hill v. Treat, 67 Me. 501; Heft's Appeal, 19 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 302), and notwithstanding a prior attachment of the property (Belfast Sav. Bank v. Lancey, 93 Me. 422, 45 Atl. 523, 74 Am. St. Rep. 361).

A decree of insolvency pending appeal to ascertain to whom a note secured by a mortgage on the insolvent estate should be paid does not suspend the action of the court in granting a decree, or the right of the successful litigant to the sale of the mortgaged premises to pay the debt. Cannon v. Kinney, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 555.

Decree as evidence see Byrne v. McDow, 23 Ala. 404.

44. Weaver v. Weaver, 20 Ala. 557; Woods v. McCann, 3 Ala. 61; Fennell v. Patrick, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 244 (unless the suit be to recover the preferred expenses of last illness and funeral); Melone v. Gaines, Minor (Ala.) 317; Colbert v. Chandler, Minor (Ala.) 254; Clindenin v. Allen, 4 N. H. 385; Patterson v. Smith, 66 Vt. 633, 30 Atl. 2; Georgia Probate Ct. v. Vanduzer, 13 Vt. 135. But see Waller v. Nelson, 48 Ala. 531; Ashley v. Harrington, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 348.

Plaintiff must discontinue if he wishes to prove claim before commissioners. Continental L. Ins. Co. v. Smith, 11 R. I. 433.

45. Greenleaf v. Allen, 127 Mass. 248; Greenwood v. McGilvray, 120 Mass. 516; Trezevant v. McQueen, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 575 (also holding that the creditor is bound nevertheless to take due heed of the commissioners' proceedings so as not to come in too late for their report); Campbell v. Hancock, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 75; Sellars v. Brown, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1897) 46 S. W. 335.

A suit begun before the appointment of commissioners may be prosecuted to judgment. Strong v. Luther, 20 R. I. 317, 38 Atl. 1054 (holding that, where the administrator does not procure the appointment of commissioners within the prescribed time, their subsequent appointment by the court does not bar plaintiff's suit already begun); Gardner v. Gardner, 17 R. I. 751, 24 Atl. 785.

46. Hunt v. Whitney, 4 Mass. 620; Smith v. Smith, 18 R. I. 722, 29 Atl. 584, 30 Atl. 602. And see Moore v. Eames, 15 Mass. 312.

47. Sturgis v. Reed, 2 Me. 109; Hunt v. Whitney, 4 Mass. 620.

48. Hunt v. Whitney, 4 Mass. 620.

49. Bacon v. Bacon, 51 Conn. 19. See also Cunningham v. Munroe, 15 Gray (Mass.) 471.

A bill for winding up a partnership of which the deceased was a member, if not an immediate suit for prosecuting a claim against the estate, is not discontinued by a declaration of insolvency. Goldthwait v. Day, 149 Mass. 185, 21 N. E. 359; Smith v. Smith, 18 R. I. 722, 29 Atl. 584, 30 Atl. 602.

50. Alabama.— Gamble v. Dunklin, 48 Ala. 425; Burk v. Jones, 13 Ala. 167.

Indiana.— Joyce v. Hufford, 7 Blackf. 382.

Maine.— Walker v. Newton, 85 Me. 458, 27 Atl. 347; Duly v. Hogan, 60 Me. 351; Ring v. Burton, 5 Me. 45.

Massachusetts.— Greenwood v. McGilvray, 120 Mass. 516; Hunt v. Whitney, 4 Mass. 620.

personal representative.[51] Even where execution has issued a declaration of insolvency will destroy the lien of the judgment and cause the execution to be set aside.[52]

d. On Prior Payment of Claims.[53] An executor or administrator who without authority, although in good faith, distributes or pays out moneys of the estate voluntarily in the belief that it is solvent must generally bear the consequences of his mistake if it afterward proves insolvent,[54] although in his final accounting he may be allowed so much as would have been received under the insolvency proceedings by the person to whom the payment was made.[55] Neither can he recover back any part of the sums so paid,[56] except by virtue of some statutory provision,[57] or under an agreement to refund.[58] The amount previously paid by the executor or administrator to a creditor toward his pro rata dividend upon a debt actually due from the decedent should be allowed upon the final settlement of the accounts, although such creditor neglects to come in and prove his debt and claim a dividend thereon.[59]

D. Appointment and Powers of Commissioners — 1. Appointment. The statutes usually provide, in the case of an insolvent decedent's estate, that upon the petition of the personal representative[60] or creditors,[61] the probate court may appoint suitable and disinterested commissioners or auditors who shall audit and examine the claims of all creditors submitted within a certain period and report for allowance accordingly.[62] Persons having an interest in the proceedings,

New Jersey.— Union Nat. Bank v. Poulson, 40 N. J. L. 284; Taylor v. Volk, 38 N. J. L. 204; Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 1.

New York.— Willis v. Sharp, 124 N. Y. 406, 26 N. E. 974 [affirming 12 N. Y. Suppl. 120].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1622.

A judgment against a garnishee after the estate has been declared insolvent is invalid. Seals v. Holloway, 77 Ala. 344.

If an administrator suffers judgment to be rendered against him before he represents the estate insolvent, he must pay the full amount of such judgment without regard to the assets of the deceased. Newcome v. Goss, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 333.

51. Seals v. Holloway, 77 Ala. 344; Shiver v. Rousseau, 68 Ala. 564; Sharp v. Herrin, 32 Ala. 502; Willis v. Sharp, 124 N. Y. 406, 26 N. E. 974 [affirming 12 N. Y. Suppl. 120]; Barber v. Collins, 18 R. I. 760, 30 Atl. 796.

52. Alabama.— Powe v. Sterrett, 16 Ala. 339.

Indiana.— Joyce v. Hufford, 7 Blackf. 382.

Michigan.— Quackenbush v. Campbell, Walk. 525.

Mississippi.— Parker v. Whiting, 6 How. 352. But see Bass v. Heard, 33 Miss. 131.

New Jersey.— Ryan v. Van Arx, 46 N. J. L. 531; Von Arx v. Wemple, 45 N. J. L. 87.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1622.

Where judgment has been obtained and execution issued before decedent's death a report of insolvency does not cut off the lien of the judgment creditor. Dye v. Bartlett, 7 How. (Miss.) 224.

53. Overpayment of claims after representation of insolvency see XIII, I, 5.

54. Cairn's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 350.

Insolvency caused by depreciation.— It is not a sufficient defense that the estate has become insolvent since the payment by depreciation in the value. Woodward v. Fisher, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 303.

55. Pierce v. Allen, 12 R. I. 510.

56. Parker v. Daughtry, 111 Ala. 529, 20 So. 362; Shelton v. Carpenter, 60 Ala. 201; Brooking v. Farmers' Bank, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 492. But see Shaw v. Gookin, 7 N. H. 16.

57. Brooking v. Farmers' Bank, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 492; Bowking v. Farmers' Bank, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 933; Flint v. Valpey, 130 Mass. 385; Richards v. Nightingale, 9 Allen (Mass.) 149; Heard v. Drake, 4 Gray (Mass.) 514; Bascom v. Butterfield, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 536; Bliss v. Lee, 17 Pick. (Mass.) 83; Walker v. Bradley, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 261; Walker v. Hill, 17 Mass. 380. And see Colegrove v. Robinson, 11 Metc. (Mass.) 238; Austin v. Henshaw, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 46.

Interest on the amount overpaid can be recovered only after demand. Walker v. Bradley, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 261.

58. Hatcher v. Royster, 14 Lea (Tenn.) 222.

59. Johnson v. Corbett, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 265.

60. Hall v. Merrill, 67 Me. 112.

A claimant may acknowledge notice of the petition for the appointment of commissioners, and of the time and place of hearing before the commissioners. Hall v. Merrill, 67 Me. 112.

61. McMillan's Estate, 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 17, holding, however, that the Pennsylvania act of April 13, 1840, providing for the appointment of an auditor to settle with the creditors, does not authorize his appointment over the protest of the executor where the estate is largely solvent and the claim of the creditor asking such appointment is disputed.

62. Ludwig v. Blackinton, 24 Me. 25. See also McGowan v. Peabody, 20 R. I. 582, 40 either direct or indirect, are disqualified thereby and should not be appointed as commissioners.[63]

2. Powers. After appointment and assignment of the estate to the commissioners all claims and causes of action should be presented for allowance to them,[64] and where the commissioners become vested with the legal interest in decedent's choses in action all suits thereon should be brought by them.[65]

E. Collection and Management of Estate — 1. In General. In the collection and management of an insolvent estate the usual rule as to the diligence and good faith required of executors and administrators applies, and their liability is governed accordingly;[66] and where the collection and management of the estate is committed to commissioners or syndics they are governed by the same rule.[67]

2. Actions — a. In General. As the representative of the estate and of creditors generally the executor or administrator may maintain various actions for the protection of the insolvent estate,[68] or, where necessary, may bring a bill in equity,[69] in which he may set up fraud and avoid acts of the decedent.[70] He

Atl. 758; Strong v. Luther, 20 R. I. 317, 38 Atl. 1054.

When appointment unnecessary.— The appointment of commissioners is not necessary where the funds in the hands of an administrator are not "sufficient to extend beyond the payment of the expenses of the funeral and administrators and the allowance to the widow and children." Ludwig v. Blackinton, 24 Me. 25.

Appeal will lie from appointment. Sturges v. Peck, 12 Conn. 139; Pierce v. Allen, 12 R. I. 510. Contra, Putney v. Fletcher, 140 Mass. 596, 5 N. E. 640.

Nomination by creditors.— Under a statute providing that the court may appoint as commissioner the person nominated "by majority of the creditors whose claims have been reported and filed" a nomination by the majority of such creditors present and voting is not sufficient to authorize the appointment unless they are also a majority of all the creditors whose claims are filed. Com. v. Anthony, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 511.

Under some codes commissioners are dispensed with and the procedure is before the probate court. See McNeil v. Macon, 20 Ala. 772.

63. English v. Smith, 13 Conn. 221; Sturges v. Peck, 12 Conn. 139; Stoddard v. Moulthrop, 9 Conn. 502; Fairbank's Appeal, 2 Root (Conn.) 386; Lyon v. Lyon, 2 Root (Conn.) 203; Barker v. Wales, 1 Root (Conn.) 265.

64. Sugar River Bank v. Fairbank, 49 N. H. 131, holding suits in equity to be within the spirit of a statute so providing.

65. Johns v. Johns, 6 Ohio 271.

66. Alabama.— Clark v. Eubank, 80 Ala. 584, 3 So. 49; Eubank v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73.

Louisiana.— Triche's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 289, 2 So. 52; Connolly's Succession, 6 La. Ann. 795.

New Hampshire.— Lane v. Thompson, 43 N. H. 320; Moulton v. Wendell, 37 N. H. 406.

United States.— Peyatte v. English, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,054*a*, Hempst. 24.

Canada.— Higgins v. Ontario Trusts Corp., 27 Ont. App. 432 [affirming 30 Ont. 684].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1625; and supra, VIII, A, 1; VIII, L, 1.

Representative of insolvent estate cannot redeem for benefit of widow. Whitehead v. Cummins, 2 Ind. 58; Gibson v. Crehore, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 146; Rossiter v. Cossit, 15 N. H. 38.

Rights of heirs.— Negligence in the management of an insolvent estate cannot be charged against the administrator at the instance of the heirs of the decedent, where such negligence does not affect their interest. In re Armstrong, 125 Cal. 603, 68 Pac. 183. An heir of an insolvent intestate cannot maintain assumpsit for money had and received against the administrator for his share of the proceeds of land sold by the administrator. Henry v. Arms, Smith (N. H.) 39.

Liability to heir for rents.— The administrator of an insolvent estate is not liable to an heir of the estate of the intestate for rents received for land rented by him at public auction and held as assets. Boynton v. McEwen, 36 Ala. 348.

67. Desorme's Succession, 10 Rob. (La.) 474; Meilleur v. His Creditors, 3 La. 532.

The syndic of an insolvent succession is authorized to issue execution on a twelve-months' bond, in order to preserve the assets under his charge from loss by prescription. Cloutier v. Lemée, 33 La. Ann. 305.

68. Judson v. Connolly, 4 La. Ann. 169; McLean v. Weeks, 61 Me. 277; Hoyt v. Wilkinson, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 31.

69. Sims v. Shelton, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 221.

Parties.— Judgment creditors and those whose claims are undisputed should not be made parties to a bill by the administrator to avoid a multiplicity of suits by compelling the creditors to prove their claims. Green v. Allen, 45 Ga. 205.

70. Sullice v. Gradenigo, 15 La. Ann. 582; Holland v. Cruft, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 321; Matthews v. Hutchins, 68 N. H. 412, 40 Atl. 1063; Bouslough v. Bouslough, 68 Pa. St. 495.

Suit to set aside fraudulent conveyance of decedent see supra, III, H, 7.

Evidence.— In an action by an administrator to set aside a fraudulent conveyance may also interpose or defend in actions by others concerning the estate.[71] A bill in equity may be maintained against an executor or administrator of an insolvent estate for property held in trust by his intestate, which has come into his hands, if the trust property can be identified.[72] In contesting claims the representative should specially plead the insolvency in the manner required by statute.[73]

b. Respecting Realty. In some jurisdictions it is held that a decree or declaration of insolvency entitles the personal representative to possession and control of the realty, and that he may thereafter maintain actions respecting the same;[74] but there is also authority for the view that, notwithstanding the declaration of insolvency, the right to maintain such actions is in the heir, until he is actually divested.[75]

F. Sales and Conveyances Under Order of Court.[76] Where an estate is insolvent, the creditors are entitled to have both the real and personal property of the decedent within the jurisdiction appropriated in satisfaction of their demands;[77] and sales under order or sanction of the court may be procured accordingly.[78] It is usually the duty of the representative to proceed within a made by his intestate the commissioners' report allowing claims is admissible in evidence for the purpose of showing that the property so conveyed is needed to pay debts (Bassett v. McKenna, 52 Conn. 437; Matthews v. Hutchins, 68 N. H. 412, 40 Atl. 1063), and the commissioner may testify as to the items allowed by him where the record of allowance fails to show such items (Matthews v. Hutchins, 68 N. H. 412, 40 Atl. 1063).

71. Lembeck, etc., Brewing Co. v. Kelly, 63 N. J. Eq. 401, 51 Atl. 794.

72. Goodell v. Buck, 67 Me. 514; McLarren v. Brewer, 51 Me. 402; Thompson v. White, 45 Me. 445; Taylor v. Plumer, 3 M. & S. 562, 2 Rose 457, 16 Rev. Rep. 361.

The burden is on plaintiff to identify the property claimed as held by the decedent in trust for him. Goodell v. Buck, 67 Me. 514.

73. Cameron v. Clarke, 11 Ala. 259; Humphreys v. Morrow, 9 Port. (Ala.) 283.

74. Parkman v. Aicardi, 34 Ala. 393, 73 Am. Dec. 457; Norcum v. Lum, 33 Miss. 299; Moulton v. Wendell, 37 N. H. 406; Wessell v. Gross, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 57 S. W. 372; Trafford v. Austin, 3 Tenn. Ch. 496. But see Long v. McDougald, 23 Ala. 413.

Acts done before the estate was decreed insolvent, although after the decedent's death, do not give the personal representative a right to maintain trespass quare clausum fregit. Lane v. Thompson, 43 N. H. 326.

75. Boynton v. Peterborough, etc., R. Co., 4 Cush. (Mass.) 467. See also Nason v. Willard, 2 Mass. 478.

76. See supra, XII.

77. Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472; Trafford v. Austin, 3 Tenn. Ch. 496.

Proof of insolvency.— In case of an application for the sale of real estate to pay debts of a deceased insolvent, primary proof of the insolvency stands in place of full proof until full proof is demanded, but such demand dispenses with the primary proof prescribed by the testamentary system. Kent v. Waters, 18 Md. 53. Under Ala. Sess. Acts (1878–1879), p. 164, the decree of insolvency is substituted for proof of the existence of debts and the insufficiency of the personal assets. Meadows v. Meadows, 78 Ala. 240.

78. Friedman v. Shamblin, 117 Ala. 454, 23 So. 821; White v. Drew, 42 Mo. 561; Ingram v. Ingram, 5 Heisk. (Tenn.) 541. And see Goodwin v. Sheldon, 1 Day (Conn.) 312.

Jurisdiction.— Under the Tennessee statutes when it becomes necessary in the settlement of an insolvent estate to sell real or personal property, the county court has jurisdiction to make such sale whenever the amount of the assets received by the personal representative, exclusive of real estate, does not exceed three thousand dollars. Up to that point the county and chancery courts have concurrent jurisdiction; but above that amount of assets, exclusive of real estate, the jurisdiction of the chancery court is exclusive. Fleming v. Talliafer, 4 Heisk. 352.

Meeting of creditors not a necessary prerequisite.— Lacroix's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 924. But see Tucker v. Beatty, 12 Rob. (La.) 545.

Proceedings.— A decree for a sale of an insolvent estate, under proceedings allowed only in the matter of solvent estates, is erroneous. Maynard v. Cocke, (Miss. 1895) 18 So. 374.

The syndic's consent to the sale of mortgaged property on credit and without appraisement is binding on the heirs unless they show that they were injured by it. Poultney v. Cecil, 8 La. 321.

On a bill by a ward to enforce her claim against the estate of a deceased surety of her guardian, who died insolvent without making a settlement, she is not entitled to a sale of lands until her debt has been established by a decree concluding the heirs, nor to exclusive payment out of the assets over preferred claims or equal creditors. Sharp v. Sharp, 76 Ala. 312.

A former petition for an order to sell lands, filed before the estate was declared insolvent and still pending, cannot be pleaded in abatement of a subsequent application under a statute authorizing a sale without taking tes-reasonable time to procure such sale,[79] but a creditor may also file a bill on behalf of himself and all other creditors for the purpose of having the land sold to pay their claims,[80] provided he does so within the time prescribed by statute in such cases.[81] As in other cases of needful sales of real estate, the heirs or devisees should be made parties before an order or license can properly issue.[82] To establish the insolvency of the estate under proceedings for a sale of the land there need not be a judgment of insolvency in the probate court,[83] but it has been held that it must appear that the estate was duly represented insolvent, that commissioners were duly appointed, and that their report showing the estate to be insolvent was duly made and accepted.[84]

G. Presentation, Proof, and Allowance of Claims — 1. Presentation — a. Necessity of Presentation.[85] It is usually required that claims against the insolvent estate of a decedent must in order that they may be lawfully allowed or paid be presented, duly verified, to the commissioners or the probate court within a specific time limited by statute, failing in which the creditor loses his right,[86] timony when an estate has been declared insolvent. Meadows v. Meadows, 78 Ala. 240.

A reversion of land assigned as the widow's dower cannot be sold under a general license to sell real estate under Mass. St. (1784) c. 2, although it seems to be otherwise since the Revised Statutes. Bancroft v. Andrews, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 493.

79. West Greenwich Probate Ct. v. Carr, 20 R. I. 592, 40 Atl. 844.

80. Slatter v. Carroll, 2 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 573; Jordan v. Moses, 10 S. C. 431, holding that under such a bill the court may direct a sale of land lying in another county.

81. Apperson v. Harris, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 323.

82. Lamar v. Gunter, 39 Ala. 324; French v. Hoyt, 6 N. H. 370, 25 Am. Dec. 464; Parchman v. Charlton, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 381; Frazier v. Pankey, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 75; Reid v. Huff, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 345. But see Benedict v. Bonnot, 39 La. Ann. 972, 3 So. 223.

If there are no heirs or devisees the state should be made a party. Trafford v. Young, 3 Tenn. Ch. 496.

Creditors by filing their claims become quasi-parties, and are bound by the proceedings. Ewing v. Maury, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 381.

83. Friedman v. Shamblin, 117 Ala. 454, 23 So. 821; Hudson v. Stewart, 48 Ala. 204.

84. Griffin v. Pratt, 3 Conn. 513. And see Gilchrist v. Cannon, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 581.

85. See, generally, supra, X, B, 1.

86. Alabama.— Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 348, 32 So. 11; Parker v. Daughtry, 111 Ala. 529, 20 So. 362; Hatchett v. Curlow, 59 Ala. 516; Watson v. Rose, 51 Ala. 292; Gamble v. Dunklin, 48 Ala. 425; Erwin v. McGuire, 44 Ala. 499; Ray v. Thompson, 43 Ala. 434, 94 Am. Dec. 696; Sharp v. Sharp, 35 Ala. 574; Bell v. Andrews, 34 Ala. 538; Murdock v. Rousseau, 32 Ala. 611; Sharp v. Herrin, 32 Ala. 502; Carhart v. Clark, 31 Ala. 396; Steele v. Weaver, 20 Ala. 540; Shortridge v. Easley, 10 Ala. 520; Hollinger v. Holly, 8 Ala. 454.

California.— Visalia Sav. Bank v. Curtis, 135 Cal. 350, 67 Pac. 329.

Connecticut.— Nelson v. Hubbel, 2 Root 421.

Illinois.— Tipton v. Carrigan, 10 Ill. App. 318.

Maine.— Todd v. Darling, 11 Me. 34.

Massachusetts.—Freeman v. Ward, 16 Pick. 201.

Mississippi.— Greener v. Neal, 61 Miss. 204; Herring v. Wellons, 5 Sm. & M. 354.

New Jersey.— In re Fogg, 37 N. J. Eq. 238; Stelle v. Conover, 30 N. J. Eq. 640; Gould v. Tingley, 16 N. J. Eq. 501.

Tennessee.— Hearn v. Roberts, 9 Lea 365; Lunsford v. Jarrett, 2 Lea 579; Martin v. Blakemore, 5 Heisk. 50; Stone v. Sanders, 1 Head 248; Marley v. Cummings, 5 Sneed 479; Smith v. Sprout, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 58 S. W. 376; Grimmett v. Midgett, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 57 S. W. 399; Hurley v. Murrell, 2 Tenn. Ch. 620.

Vermont.— Freeman v. Holt, 51 Vt. 538; McCollum v. Hinckley, 9 Vt. 143.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1632, 1633.

An agreement by the representative of an insolvent estate, allowing a claim against the estate which had not been presented to and allowed by the commissioners, is unwarranted and void. Freeman v. Holt, 51 Vt. 538.

A claim on which an action is pending when insolvency is declared need not be presented. Waller v. Nelson, 48 Ala. 531; Erwin v. McGuire, 44 Ala. 499; McDougald v. Dawson, 30 Ala. 553; Trezevant v. McQueen, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 311. But see Sharp v. Herrin, 32 Ala. 502. See infra, X, B, 1, c.

One against whom the representative has brought suit may file in offset a claim larger than that on which he is sued, although the debt to him is not yet due, and in such case the creditor is entitled to judgment for the balance and need not present his claim to the commissioners of insolvency, but the judgment, when rendered, is to be presented to the judge of probate and by him added to the claims allowed by the commissioners. Bigelow v. Folger, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 255.

A representative's statement of claims which have come to his knowledge, filed with a report of insolvency pursuant to statute, does not indicate that there has been a presentment of claims included therein nor avoid although under some statutes a lien creditor may have a lien declared in his favor without first proving his debt, and certain preferred claims need not be presented.[87] A creditor whose claim has not been filed before the commissioners cannot sue the executor or administrator, although the estate should finally prove to be actually solvent,[88] unless the claim is one which is privileged or preferred by statute and need not be proved or presented to the commissioners.[89] But where the claim is one which could not be presented to the commissioners it may be enforced against any estate remaining after the payment of claims allowed by the commissioners,[90] and a creditor whose claim was not presented in time may sometimes enforce the same against assets subsequently discovered;[91] nor does a failure to present the claim bar its being offset against a claim afterward made upon the creditor by the executor or administrator.[92]

b. Right to Present. Any one having a valid claim against the estate may present and prove the same,[93] and the creditors may pursue their claims and have the bar of the statute of non-claim as to a claim included in such statement but not properly presented. McDowell v. Jones, 58 Ala. 25. But see Pharis v. Leachman, 20 Ala. 662.

When new presentation and allowance dispensed with.— In the practice of some states, where a claim against an estate has been allowed by the executor or administrator in the usual way, and the account is left with him, and the estate is afterward declared probably insolvent, but no commissioners of insolvency are appointed, the claim should be reported to the court as a valid one, without a new presentation and allowance thereof, unless the holder is notified by the executor or administrator that he has rejected the claim. Haley v. Krug, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 44, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 27.

Opening commission.— Under Mass. Rev. St. c. 68, § 20, allowing a commission of insolvency to be opened by the probate court, the claim of the creditor in whose favor the commission is opened is not barred by any of the statutes of limitation in consequence of a lapse of time subsequent to the close of the first commission. Ostrom v. Curtis, 1 Cush. 461.

87. Hood v. Hammond, 128 Ala. 569, 30 So. 540, 86 Am. St. Rep. 159 (vendor's lien); Bulfinch v. Benner, 64 Me. 404; Massachusetts Iron Co. v. Hooper, 7 Cush. (Mass.) 183; Greenough's Appeal, 9 Pa. St. 18. But see In re Mitchell, 2 Watts (Pa.) 87.

The claim of an executor having the right to retain assets sufficient to pay a debt due him is not subject to or barred by Mass. Pub. St. c. 136, § 9, providing that no executor shall be held to answer any suit by a creditor of deceased unless commenced within two years from the giving of the executor's bond, although the estate is insolvent, and the executor has failed to present his claim to the court, or although he has not filed a statement of his claim as required by section 6 in case his claim is disputed. Brown v. Greene, 181 Mass. 109, 63 N. E. 2, 92 Am. St. Rep. 404.

88. Connecticut.— Williams v. Lathrop, 2 Root 364.

Maine.— Dillingham v. Weston, 21 Me. 263.

Massachusetts.— Freeman v. Ward, 16 Pick. 201; Johnson v. Ames, 6 Pick. 330; Paine v. Nichols, 15 Mass. 264.

Tennessee.— Martin v. Blakemore, 5 Heisk. 50.

Vermont.— See Burgess v. Gates, 20 Vt. 326.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1632.

89. Bulfinch v. Benner, 64 Me. 404 (claim for taxes); Dillingham v. Weston, 21 Me. 263; Greenough's Appeal, 9 Pa. St. 18.

90. Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251; Hawley v. Botsford, 27 Conn. 80; Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186; Lowry v. Stevens, 6 Vt. 113. And see In re McMurdo, [1902] 71 L. J. Ch. 691, 2 Ch. 684, 50 Wkly. Rep. 644.

Where property remains unaccounted for by the administrator the provision of the statute in relation to insolvent estates that if a claim is not presented to the commissioners within a year it shall be forever barred does not apply. Allen v. Keith, 26 Miss. 232.

91. Sacket v. Mead, 1 Conn. 13.

92. Berrigan v. Pearsall, 46 Conn. 274. But see Bell v. Andrews, 34 Ala. 538.

93. Henry v. Black, 24 Ala. 417 (indorser); Powe v. Tyson, 15 Ala. 221 (surety); Rollins v. Robinson, 35 N. H. 381; Fenner v. Manchester, 6 R. I. 140 (representative).

A secured creditor may prove his debt before the commissioners of insolvency without first surrendering a mortgage on the separate estate of the debtor's wife which he holds as security. Whitman v. Winchester, 15 Gray (Mass.) 453.

One having merely an equitable title to a demand against an insolvent estate may file it as a claim against the estate. Hogan v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 194. And see Blankenship v. Nimmo, 50 Ala. 506.

A debt created by a declaration in the will to the prejudice of other creditors cannot be presented as where the testator recites that he had repeatedly promised to pay to the legatee the amount of his legacy as compensation for services rendered; the services having been rendered under a contract fixing as compensation therefor a smaller sum which has been paid. Klein's Estate, 6 Pa. Dist. 370.

Under the Tennessee statute an order by them allowed, in every jurisdiction where administration is taken, until they have obtained full payment.[94]

c. Claims Presentable.[95] As a general rule such claims, and only such claims, may be presented to the commissioners for allowance as are present and positive debts or fixed liabilities susceptible of a present valuation,[96] and not claims which depend on such contingencies that they may never become due.[97] A claim which is not provable before the commissioners cannot be ascertained in equity and added by decree to their report.[98]

d. Time For Presentation.[99] The time for presentation is either fixed by statutes varying somewhat in the different jurisdictions, or left to be fixed by the probate court within certain limits,[1] and as a rule the time begins to run from the declaration of insolvency.[2] An extension of the time for presentation, at the the clerk of the county court on the administrator to give notice to file claims is necessary to authorize the filing of claims. Grimmett v. Midgett, (Ch. App. 1899) 57 S. W. 399.

94. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270] (but in such case what the creditor has received in another jurisdiction must be taken into account); Loomis v. Farnum, 14 N. H. 119; Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472.

95. See, generally, supra, X, A.

96. Connecticut.—Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251.

New Hampshire.— Simpson v. Gafney, 66 N. H. 261, 20 Atl. 931.

New York.— Matter of Rooney, 3 Redf. Surr. 15.

Rhode Island.— Moies v. Sprague, 9 R. I. 541.

England.— In re McMahon, [1900] 1 Ch. 173, 69 L. J. Ch. 142, 81 L. T. (N. S.) 715, 7 Manson 38.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1630.

Unmatured claims payable absolutely may be proved. Haverhill Loan, etc., Assoc. v. Cronin, 4 Allen (Mass.) 141; Alexander v. Follet, 5 N. H. 499, statute.

A debt evidenced by a mortgage, unacknowledged and unrecorded, and without the affidavit required by statute, although insufficient to create a lien on the mortgaged premises, may be proved against the estate of the deceased insolvent mortgagor. Nelson v. Hagerstown Bank, 27 Md. 51.

A note given as collateral security for an indorsement on another note may be proved against the insolvent estate of the deceased maker, although the indorsed note was proved by the holder in full against such estate. Emerson v. Paine, 176 Mass. 391, 57 N. E. 667.

A fiduciary bond is not a valid claim against an insolvent decedent's estate without proof of actual damages. Green v. Creighton, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 197.

A claim for family expenses incurred under a will between the death and the distribution is not such a "debt against the estate" as should be filed or allowed in insolvency. Prince v. Prince, 47 Ala. 283.

Rent.— A lessor is entitled to prove against the insolvent estate of his lessee for rent payable under the terms of the lease, before or after the lessee's death, up to the time that the claim is presented to the commissioner, but no claim for rent payable beyond that time is thus presentable. Deane v. Caldwell, 127 Mass. 242.

A claim which cannot be prosecuted at common law cannot be proven, under some statutes, as a "claim" or "debt," where the estate is insolvent. Moies v. Sprague, 9 R. I. 541.

97. Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251; Harding v. Smith, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 478; Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186; Fields v. Wheatley, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 351.

A claim which may be proved at any time is not "contingent" within the meaning of the statute, although the holder of it erroneously believes that he has a valid lien as security therefor, which must first be relinquished. Sears v. Wills, 7 Allen (Mass.) 430.

98. Moies v. Sprague, 9 R. I. 541.

99. See, generally, supra, X, B, 4.

1. See the following cases:

Alabama.— Watson v. Rose, 51 Ala. 292; Waller v. Nelson, 48 Ala. 531; Phelan v. Phelan, 13 Ala. 679; Lattimore v. Williams, 8 Ala. 428.

Connecticut.— Berrigan v. Pearsall, 46 Conn. 274.

Maine.— Todd v. Darling, 11 Me. 34.

Mississippi.—Greener v. Neal, 61 Miss. 204.

New Jersey.— In re Togg, 37 N. J. Eq. 238.

Wisconsin.— Cole v. Lightfoot, 4 Wis. 295.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1633.

A creditor is entitled to the full statutory time for presenting his claim, and this right cannot be defeated by an earlier report or other hindrance on the part of the commissioners. Cole v. Lightfoot, 4 Wis. 295.

A creditor who has recovered judgment against an administrator on a liability of the intestate, before the administrator has suggested the insolvency of the estate, may, under the Tennessee statute, file his claim in an insolvent suit at any time before the funds of the estate are paid out. Hurley v. Murrell, 2 Tenn. Ch. 620.

2. Shelton v. Poulson, 60 Ala. 578; Shortridge v. Easley, 10 Ala. 520; Lattimore v. Williams, 8 Ala. 428; Coppuck v. Wilson, 15 N. J. L. 75.

court's discretion, for a limited period, is allowed under the statutes of some jurisdictions, when a proper case arises.[3]

e. Statement and Verification.[4] In the absence of a specific statutory requirement any statement of a claim against an insolvent estate is sufficient which, when taken in connection with the affidavit accompanying it, if any, fairly discloses an existing liability, and enables the commissioners or court to understand it and to act intelligently.[5] Under some statutes the claim must be verified by the affidavit of the claimant,[6] or his agent[7] or attorney,[8] made before the proper officer.[9] Unless the statute provides otherwise this affidavit may be made at any time before, or at the time of, the final settlement of the estate.[10]

f. Sufficiency of Presentation or Filing.[11] Claims must be presented and filed in the place and manner prescribed by statute therefor.[12] Where properly presented the claim does not lose its status as to presentation, because the judge has allowed it to be taken from the office for a special purpose and it has become mislaid or not returned through inadvertence,[13] or because he fails to docket it,[14]

3. Alabama.— Lapsley v. Goldsby, 14 Ala. 73.

Connecticut.— Deming's Appeal, 34 Conn. 201; Lockwood v. Reynolds, 16 Conn. 303; Webb v. Fitch, 1 Root 177.

Maine.— Griffin v. Parcher, 48 Me. 406; Todd v. Darling, 11 Me. 34.

Massachusetts.— Walker v. Lyman, 6 Pick. 458.

New Hampshire.— In re Peabody, 40 N. H. 342; Bufford v. Johnson, 34 N. H. 489.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1633.

Notice to the administrator is not necessary to render valid an order by the probate court extending the time for exhibiting claims. Parker v. Gregg, 23 N. H. 416.

4. See, generally, supra, X, B, 9, b.

5. Woodruff v. Winston, 68 Ala. 412; Thornton v. Moore, 61 Ala. 347; Hogan v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 194; American Bd. Foreign Missions Com'rs Appeal, 27 Conn. 344.

Copy of evidence of debt or substantial statement will suffice. Erwin v. McGuire, 44 Ala. 499; Rutherford v. Mobile Branch Bank, 14 Ala. 92; Rowdon v. Young, 12 Ala. 234.

Delivering the evidence of indebtedness to the commissioners with a verbal claim for its allowance may suffice. Mills v. Wildman, 18 Conn. 124.

A creditor coming in under a decree to prove a claim not mentioned in the pleadings must present the particulars of his claim to the master, accompanied by his affidavit that the sum claimed is justly due, and that neither he, nor any person by his order or on his account, has received satisfaction or security for any part of the claim. Morris v. Mowatt, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 142.

6. Thornton v. Moore, 61 Ala. 347; Erwin v. McGuire, 44 Ala. 499; Fox v. Lawson, 44 Ala. 319; Trowbridge v. Pinckard, 31 Ala. 424; Lay v. Clark, 31 Ala. 409; Cook v. Davis, 12 Ala. 551; Campbell v. Campbell, 11 Ala. 730; Huffman v. Moore, 101 Ky. 288, 41 S. W. 292, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 461; Morgan v. McCausland, 96 Me. 449, 52 Atl. 931; Smith v. Abbott, 17 N. J. L. 358. See also Gay v. Louisville, 93 Ky. 349, 20 S. W. 266, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 327.

A promissory note, upon which a suit is pending, is not such a claim as is required to be verified by affidavit. Waller v. Nelson, 48 Ala. 531.

7. Planters', etc., Bank v. Smith, 14 Ala. 416.

8. Erwin v. McGuire, 44 Ala. 499.

9. Smith v. Abbott, 17 N. J. L. 358.

Where an affidavit is taken in another state the commissioners' certificate is presumptive evidence that the oath was taken before a lawful officer (Carhart v. Clark, 31 Ala. 396), and the affidavit is a sufficient basis to support an amended affidavit in support of the claim upon settlement of the insolvent estate in the domestic court (Fox v. Lawson, 44 Ala. 319).

10. Norvill v. Williams, 35 Ala. 551 (holding that an affidavit made after the intestate's death is sufficient to verify the claim, although it was made before the estate was declared to be insolvent); Gaffney v. Williamson, 21 Ala. 112; Bloodgood v. Smith, 14 Ala. 423; Rutherford v. Mobile Branch Bank, 14 Ala. 92; Gilbert v. Brashear, 12 Ala. 191; Brown v. Easly, 10 Ala. 564; Shortridge v. Easley, 10 Ala. 520.

11. See, generally, supra, X, B, 9.

12. Woods v. Woods, 99 Tenn. 50, 41 S. W. 345; Prewett v. Goodlett, 98 Tenn. 82, 38 S. W. 434. But see Middleton v. Maull, 16 Ala. 479, holding that claims presented to the administrator within the required time, but not filed with the clerk as required by statute within the time prescribed, are nevertheless entitled to be paid if the estate should ultimately prove solvent.

Filing before the declaration of insolvency has been held sufficient, although the claim was not again filed after such declaration. Henderson v. Henderson, 67 Ala. 519 (also holding that in such case the creditor must show verification and docketing, so as to afford opportunity to file objections); Levert v. Read, 54 Ala. 529.

Where a claim is withdrawn upon the administrator's false representation of solvency this is not an abandonment of the claim, and the claim should be allowed if refiled before the assets are distributed. Stamps v. Bell, 2 Baxt. (Tenn.) 170.

13. Ross v. Ross, 20 Ala. 105.

14. Henderson v. Henderson, 67 Ala. 519.

or the clerk fails to file it, as it would be unjust for the claimant to suffer for the negligence of another person.[15]

2. Proof of Claims.[16] Where the claim is properly filed and its validity is not disputed by the executor or administrator, the affidavit of the claimant, if regular, is sufficient to establish it and no other proof should be called for;[17] but if the claim or affidavit is duly objected to, the creditor must prove his claim by competent evidence.[18]

3. Objections and Proceedings Thereon.[19] In proceedings before the court or commissioners with reference to a claim filed against the insolvent estate, so far as the statutes sanction, objections to the claim may be filed by the executor or administrator,[20] or by the distributees,[21] or creditors.[22] Such objections, however, must be made and filed within the time prescribed by statute therefor,[23] or, in the

15. Rutherford v. Mobile Branch Bank, 14 Ala. 92; Gaffney v. Williamson, 12 Ala. 628.

16. See, generally, supra, X, C.

17. McNeil v. Macon, 20 Ala. 772.

18. Woodruff v. Winston, 68 Ala. 412; Brasher v. Lyle, 13 Ala. 524; Askew v. Weissinger, 6 Ala. 907.

Admissions.— In an action against a deceased attorney's estate, founded upon the attorney's negligence in collecting a note, proof of the attorney's admission that he had collected the money on the note and of his promise to pay it is not competent evidence for the creditor. Stubbs v. Beene, 37 Ala. 627.

Notes and obligations of the deceased insolvent are not conclusive proof of the debts of which they are evidence, but such additional proof by affidavit or otherwise should be furnished as will satisfy the commissioners or other tribunal of the fairness and validity of the claim. Warren's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 451. It is not always deemed necessary to produce the original note or instrument on which the debt is founded, and if a claim be disallowed and then sued at common law plaintiff is not confined to the proof he produced before the commissioners. Cole v. Lightfoot, 4 Wis. 295.

Judgment.— Where a defendant dies pending a suit, and the administrator comes in to defend, the judgment rendered against the decedent's estate is to be laid before the commissioners of insolvency and by them received as conclusive evidence of the debt and reported by them accordingly. Bullard v. Dame, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 239.

Evidence properly excluded.— Where it is shown and not denied that part of plaintiff's bill "as per contract with deceased" was copied from certain other bills, the exclusion of such other bills as further evidence of the fact was not error, since it could not have injured defendants. Huntington's Appeal, 73 Conn. 582, 48 Atl. 766.

Presumption that necessary proof made.— A presumption that the necessary proof of the ownership of the claim was made will arise where the record does not show that plaintiff, to whom a claim against the insolvent estate was decreed, was not the proprietor. Boggs v. Mobile Branch Bank, 12 Ala. 494.

19. See, generally, supra, X, C.

20. Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 348, 32 So. 11; Gaffney v. Williamson, 21 Ala. 112; Trezevant v. McQueen, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 311; Allen v. Rice, 22 Vt. 333.

The defense that a claim was not filed within the statutory period may be raised by exceptions to the report of the master, or by a motion to dismiss the claimant's petition. Smith v. Sprout, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 58 S. W. 376.

21. Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 248, 32 So. 11; Eubank v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73.

22. Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 348, 32 So. 11; Orr v. Thomas, 3 La. Ann. 682; Smith v. Sprout, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 58 S. W. 376.

23. Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 348, 32 So. 11; Eubank v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73; Cunningham v. Lindsay, 77 Ala. 510; Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607, 45 Am. Rep. 93; Thames v. Herbert, 61 Ala. 340.

This rule has been applied to an objection denying the justice, correctness, and validity of the claim (Handy v. Meachem, 33 Ala. 457; Hogan v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 194; Bartol v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 42), and an objection going to the form or sufficiency of the verification or affidavit (Hogan v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 194; Gaffney v. Williamson, 21 Ala. 112; Bartol v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 42).

The time prescribed by statute cannot be enlarged by agreement between the probate judge and the administrator of the estate. Hardy v. Meachem, 33 Ala. 457.

An objection that the claim was not filed within the prescribed time may be made at any time before the hearing or at the hearing (Hogan v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 194; Bartol v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 42), and the same rule has been applied to an objection that the claim was not verified within the time prescribed by statute (Carhart v. Clark, 31 Ala. 396. But see Gaffney v. Williamson, 21 Ala. 112).

Matters occurring after the declaration in insolvency, which are a valid bar to the demand, or which deprive the creditor of all right in equity and good conscience to share in the distribution, may be shown at any time before a final decree declaring the amount of the claim and the ratable proportion of the assets to which the claimant is entitled. Thornton v. Moore, 61 Ala. 347; Thames v. Herbert, 61 Ala. 340.

absence of a statutory provision limiting the time, within a reasonable time.[24] Unless objections are filed the allowance of a claim duly filed is usually a matter of right and no objection thereto can be heard in the proceedings before the court or commissioners,[25] except where defenses have arisen after the time for filing objections has expired.[26] If there is a conflict of evidence upon the facts of the claim, an issue may be submitted to the jury for determination ;[27] but if a jury is not demanded it is the duty of the judge to decide the issue under the rules prevailing in courts of law.[28] Where a claim has been transferred before objection is filed to its allowance, the transferee may intervene and become the actor, where issues are formed against its allowance.[29]

4. ALLOWANCE OR REJECTION.[30] Claims against an insolvent estate are to be decided upon as they existed on the date of the insolvent's death.[31] In some jurisdictions the power of allowing or disallowing claims belongs exclusively to the commissioners, and their action in this respect is binding upon the estate and its creditors unless seasonable objection is made thereto,[32] or there is fraud in the proceedings before the commissioners.[33] The commissioners in such proceedings must give due notice of their meetings to all creditors,[34] and they combine so far the powers of law and equity that they ought to allow a claim which a court of equity would enforce.[35] In other jurisdictions, however, the probate court is invested with power in such matters.[36] The allowance of a claim against an

24. Steele v. Weaver, 20 Ala. 540.

25. Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 348, 32 So. 11; Chandler v. Wynne, 85 Ala. 301, 4 So. 653; Cunningham v. Lindsay, 77 Ala. 510; Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607, 45 Am. Rep. 93; Guard v. Hale, 64 Ala. 479; Thames v. Herbert, 61 Ala. 340; Gaffney v. Williamson, 21 Ala. 112; Crater v. Smith, 42 N. J. Eq. 348, 7 Atl. 575.

26. Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 348, 32 So. 11.

27. Reed v. Wiley, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 394.

The Alabama act of 1843 did not impose upon the judge of the county court the duty of causing an issue to be made, on his own volition, between the creditor and the administrator of an insolvent estate. Cook v. Davis, 12 Ala. 551.

28. Nooe v. Garner, 70 Ala. 443.

29. Thornton v. Moore, 61 Ala. 347.

30. See, generally, supra, X, B, 14.

31. Blackmer v. Blackmer, 5 Vt. 355.

32. Bartram v. Hopkins, 71 Conn. 505, 42 Atl. 645; Shelton v. Hadlock, 62 Conn. 143, 25 Atl. 483; Hotchkiss v. Beach, 10 Conn. 232; Findlay v. Hosmer, 2 Conn. 350; Williams v. Perkins, 2 Root (Conn.) 470; Parsons v. Mills, 2 Mass. 80; Gold v. McMechan, 1 Mass. 23; Allen v. Fletcher, 14 Vt. 274. See also Tuttle v. Robinson, 33 N. H. 104.

Claim allowed to administrator may be disproved in action on probate bond. Sherman v. Talman, 2 Root (Conn.) 140.

Where decedent was a married woman, the allowance by commissioners is conclusive that the claims bound her estate. Shelton v. Hadlock, 62 Conn. 143, 25 Atl. 483.

Where commissioners of insolvency allow part of a claim and reject part, and the executor or administrator brings a suit against the creditor on a demand in favor of the estate which was not laid before the commissioners, the creditor may file in set-off that part of his claim which the commissioners rejected. Wright v. Dunham, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 37.

The rejection of a claim secured by a pledge, mortgage, or other lien only bars the right of such claim to any portion of the general fund in the hands of the administrator for payment, but does not discharge the lien. Tuttle v. Robinson, 33 N. H. 104.

The disallowance of interest on a mortgage note on the ground of usury is not conclusive on the mortgagee on the question of usury in a subsequent action to foreclose the mortgage. Loomis v. Eaton, 32 Conn. 550.

An executor or administrator who has a disputed claim of his own must present it to the probate court to determine its validity, and not to the commissioners in insolvency. Green v. Russell, 132 Mass. 536.

33. See Hall v. Merrill, 67 Me. 112.

34. Davis' Appeal, 39 Conn. 395; Saunders v. Planters' Bank, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 287.

35. Shelton v. Hadlock, 62 Conn. 143, 25 Atl. 483; Collins v. Tillou, 26 Conn. 368, 68 Am. Dec. 398; Brown v. Slater, 16 Conn. 192, 41 Am. Dec. 136.

36. See Steger v. Frizzell, 2 Tenn. Ch. 369.

When a claim against an insolvent estate has been rejected by the probate judge, the claim cannot be investigated by the succeeding judge of probate, if any of the creditors object. Saltmarsh v. Bird, 19 Ala. 665.

Effect of action upon claims.— The action of the orphans' court or probate court in ascertaining the amount of the decedent's indebtedness binds the real estate equally with personalty, and if not conclusive is at least prima facie evidence against all parties interested in the estate and against a fraudulent grantee of the decedent. Heydenfeldt v. Towns, 27 Ala. 423. The ascertainment of the validity and amount of the demand of a creditor in the probate court has the force and effect of a judgment in personam against the representative and may be assailed by the insolvent estate is not a judgment which becomes dormant by lapse of time as against newly discovered assets of such estate.[37] The allowance should be positive and intelligible in expression as to the amount allowed.[38] In general the commissioners should reckon the total allowance of claims upon fair principles which do justice to all the creditors alike,[39] and should offset mutual debts or claims between each creditor and the decedent, and report only the balance which they find due.[40]

5. Report of Commissioners. After receiving and adjudicating claims against the insolvent estate, the commissioners should make their report to the court of probate, within the prescribed time.[41] It need not appear of record that the legatee for fraud, or when the administrator claims credit for it the legatee may show that defenses existed, and that by proper diligence he could have prevented it from being obtained. Randle v. Carter, 62 Ala. 95.

Surrogate may classify claims and allow equitable as well as legal demands. Payne v. Matthews, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 19, 29 Am. Dec. 738.

The county court has power to determine the validity of claims filed against an insolvent estate, under the Tennessee statute, the claimant becoming a party to the proceedings by filing his claim; and a claim so allowed cannot be afterward adjudicated by the clerk on objection by the administrator. Barksdale v. Ward, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 46 S. W. 771.

37. Sharp v. Citizens' Bank, (Nebr. 1904) 98 N. W. 50.

38. Lowry v. Stevens, 6 Vt. 113.

39. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270], holding that where resident creditors who have received part payment of their claims in ancillary administration proceedings in another state ask to participate in the assets in the hands of the principal administrator, they should be required to account for what they have received under the ancillary administration. And see Loomis v. Farnum, 14 N. H. 119.

Judgment and costs of suit against the decedent's estate may be added to the list of claims against the estate (Healy v. Root, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 389), or if the judgment is against the claimant they may be deducted from his claim (Ellis v. Smith, 38 Me. 114).

Interest may be allowed on the claim in a proper case. Hamilton v. Tarlton, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 471; Hagan v. Sompeyrac, 3 La. 154; Bowers v. Hammond, 139 Mass. 360, 31 N. E. 729; Dodge v. Breed, 13 Mass. 537; Mowry v. Peck, 2 R. I. 60. And a mortgagee proceeding under a statute permitting foreclosure, provided all recourse against other property of the estate is expressly waived, is entitled to interest at the rate expressed in the mortgage notes, and not merely that allowed on judgments in the supreme court. Visalia Sav. Bank v. Curtis, 135 Cal. 350, 67 Pac. 329 [distinguishing Ellis v. Polhemus, 27 Cal. 350]. But see Keebler's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 346, holding that interest should not be allowed after decedent's death on a balance due on a mortgage.

Interest on amount allowed.— It has been held in Rhode Island that as a report of commissioners upon the estate of a deceased insolvent is in the nature of a judgment ascertaining the sums due from the deceased at his death, interest will be allowed upon said sums as upon a judgment. Mowry v. Peck, 2 R. I. 60. But in Massachusetts it has been held that the allowance of a claim against an estate represented to be insolvent by the commissioners is not a judgment which merges the debt and starts the running of a new rate of interest, but the claim thus allowed continues to bear interest at the rate specified in the original contract. Bowers v. Hammond, 139 Mass. 360, 31 N. E. 729.

A creditor whose claim is barred by the general statute of non-claim is not entitled to share in the distribution of the estate when it has been declared insolvent. Gordon v. Ballentine, 50 Ala. 99.

The allowance of a claim may be impeached for fraud by one sought to be affected by such allowance, who was not a party or privy to the proceeding. Matthews v. Hutchins, 68 N. H. 412, 40 Atl. 1063.

40. Gregory v. Benedict, 39 Conn. 22; Staniford v. Hide, 1 Root (Conn.) 397; Williams v. Darling, 1 Root (Conn.) 356; Hosmer v. Brattle, 1 Root (Conn.) 347; Helms v. Harclerode, 65 Kan. 736, 70 Pac. 866; Medomak Bank v. Curtis, 24 Me. 36.

What a creditor has received as administrator cannot be offset against his claim upon the estate. Staniford v. Hide, 1 Root (Conn.) 397.

Counter-claim need not be considered if interested parties consent to such course. Bailey v. Bussing, 41 Conn. 73.

An administrator is not bound to set off a judgment in favor of his decedent against a claim upon his estate, but having done so he cannot complain that it makes an unequal distribution. Denny v. Moore, 13 Ind. 418.

Claims for which the intestate was the surety of a third person are not to be considered in determining the amount of the claim by such third person against the estate under the commission. White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

41. Nelson v. Woodbury, 1 Me. 251; Saunders v. Planters' Bank, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 287. But see Providence Steam Carpet Beating Co. v. Hazard, 20 R. I. 131, 37 Atl. 635, holding that the report of a commission to examine claims is not rendered void by failure to make it within the time limited in the order of appointment.

report of the commissioners was made under oath,[42] or that the advertisement of their meeting was made according to the directions of the court.[43] This report is in the nature of a judgment and is conclusive upon all interested therein who fail to properly object thereto,[44] especially where it has been accepted and approved by the probate court,[45] and the court should not thereafter reopen the report unless the former orders were null and void,[46] or except to correct a mistake[47] or supply an omission.[48] It is not conclusive, however, upon one who was not a party to the proceedings, and had no right to appeal therefrom.[49] It is the duty of the representative to give notice of a pending suit against the estate to the commissioners and to insist that a reservation be made to meet the judgment in such suit, and if he does not, and the report of the commissioners is accepted, it seems he will be liable to the creditor for his pro rata share of the assets.[50]

6. Reference of Disputed Claims.[51] A submission of disputed claims to referees is sometimes permitted where the claims submitted to the commissioners have been rejected by them in whole or in part.[52] The referees' report in such cases should include the evidence upon which they found their report;[53] and if erroneous may be set aside by the probate court upon exceptions taken,[54] and may be Sufficiency of report.— The commissioners' report is sufficient if it states simply that they allowed the claimant a sum named, even where he makes several distinct claims. Littlefield v. Clark, 3 R. I. 265.

Report should not embrace preferred claims. Flitner v. Hanley, 19 Me. 261.

Where a claim was filed merely by way of notice and was considered as withdrawn at the time of the report, it was held that such claim had not been adjudicated on. Ostrom v. Curtis, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 461.

Effect of delay.— The fact that the report of commissioners is not returned until long after the time limited in the commission does not change the method of settling the estate. Jones v. Martin, 67 N. H. 334, 39 Atl. 971.

42. Herring v. Wellons, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 354.

43. Herring v. Wellons, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 354.

44. Findlay v. Hosmer, 2 Conn. 350; Bordman v. Smith, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 212; Gold v. McMechan, 1 Mass. 23; Mowry v. Steere, 2 R. I. 420; Mowry v. Peck, 2 R. I. 60.

The report constitutes a lien upon the real estate of the deceased in favor of the creditors proving their claims, which will be paramount to the title acquired by the purchaser under an execution in favor of a creditor. Mowry v. Steere, 2 R. I. 420.

A creditor who failed to present his claim within the statutory period is bound by the report of the commissioners. Canon v. Abbot, 1 Root (Conn.) 251.

Objection to the report must be taken by way of exceptions thereto. Crutcher v. Cavanaugh, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 292; Hemphill v. Fortner, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 344.

45. Bates v. Ward, 49 Me. 87; Hemphill v. Fortner, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 344, report that no claims were presented.

A suggestion that the representative corruptly neglected to oppose illegal claims against the estate will not cause the probate court to reject the report of commissioners, the remedy being against the personal representative by an action on his administration bond or a special action on the case for waste. Parsons v. Mills, 2 Mass. 80.

46. Hemphill v. Fortner, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 344; Dahlgren v. Duncan, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 280; Herring v. Wellons, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 354; Powell v. Carbry, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 86; Addison v. Eldridge, 1 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 510; Smith v. Berry, 1 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 321.

47. Towle v. Bannister, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 255.

48. Hemphill v. Fortner, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 344.

49. Matthews v. Hutchins, 68 N. H. 412, 40 Atl. 1063.

50. Trezevant v. McQueen, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 575.

51. See, generally, supra, X, C, 2, b.

52. Green v. Creighton, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 197; Smith v. Berry, 1 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 321; Bond v. Dunbar, 2 N. H. 216; Woman's College v. Horne, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 60 S. W. 609. And see Robins v. Norcum, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 332.

53. Green v. Creighton, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 197.

54. Green v. Creighton, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 197.

Failure to agree on new referees is no ground for setting aside the report of the old referees, where, after referees had been appointed, it was agreed between parties that two new referees should be agreed upon, but they are unable to agree upon them. Sweet v. Mathewson, 1 R. I. 420.

A variance between the petition for an appointment of referees to hear and report a petition "according to law" and the writ directing the referees to decide as should seem "just and equitable" is not a ground for setting aside the report if the referees have decided according to law and have not followed the words of the writ. Sweet v. Mathewson, 1 R. I. 420.

recommitted to them if it appears to the court that the ends of justice will thus be best subserved.[55]

7. Review or Appeal — a. In General.[56] The personal representative,[57] a creditor,[58] an heir or distributee,[59] or any person interested or aggrieved[60] may appeal from the report of the commissioners allowing or rejecting claims,[61] or from the action of the probate court in accepting or rejecting such report,[62] or allowing or disallowing claims.[63]

b. Proceedings For Transfer of Cause.[64] An appeal must be in the manner prescribed by statute.[65] The appellant should aver in the reasons assigned for

55. Reed v. Wiley, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 394.

56. See, generally, supra, X, B, 14, g.

57. In re McCune, 76 Mo. 200; Clough v. Clark, 63 N. H. 403, 1 Atl. 201.

58. Saunders v. Denison, 20 Conn. 521; Edwards v. Botsford, 1 Root (Conn.) 244; Foster v. Clark, 61 N. H. 29 (holding that a creditor's refusal to testify in support of his claim does not affect his right of appeal); Chapman v. Haley, 43 N. H. 300; Cromwell v. Herron, 11 Ohio Cir. Ct. 448, 5 Ohio Cir. Dec. 196; Hobart v. Herrick, 28 Vt. 627.

Supersedeas as to claims of other creditors. — Under the Alabama statute a creditor of an insolvent estate whose claim has been disallowed cannot on appeal have a supersedeas of decrees in favor of other creditors but the administrator should be allowed to reserve a ratable proportion of the moneys in his hands for the payment of such claim. Clark v. Guard, 73 Ala. 456.

59. Harris v. Angell, 16 R. I. 347, 16 Atl. 142, 17 Atl. 909. Contra, Burrows v. Bourne, 67 Me. 225.

60. Findlay v. Hosmer, 2 Conn. 350; Sawyer v. Copp, 6 N. H. 42; Yeaw v. Searle, 2 R. I. 168.

61. Bennett's Appeal, 33 Conn. 214; Clough v. Clark, 63 N. H. 403, 1 Atl. 201; Foster v. Clark, 61 N. H. 29; Chapman v. Haley, 43 N. H. 300; Harris v. Angell, 16 R. I. 347, 16 Atl. 142, 17 Atl. 909; Barnes v. Mowry, 11 R. I. 420. But see Hooe v. American Fur Co., 1 Wis. 334.

The commissioners' report of a contingent claim cannot be appealed from, but only their allowance of a claim. Hobart v. Herrick, 28 Vt. 627.

The commissioners' decision can be considered only on appeal directly therefrom, not on appeal from the probate court. Bennett's Appeal, 33 Conn. 214; Barnes v. Mowry, 11 R. I. 420.

Excess of jurisdiction. — Commissioners of insolvency having no jurisdiction to determine that a preferred claim is a non-preferred one, an appeal by a creditor from such a judgment by them cannot be sustained. State v. Hichborn, 67 Me. 504.

Venue. — An appeal from the decision of commissioners may be brought in the county where the administrator resides, although administration was granted in another county. Gould v. Carlton, 55 Me. 511.

Where a party has neglected to prosecute his appeal from the judgment of commissioners, a trial may be granted by the supreme court under R. I. Pub. St. c. 221, § 8. Baker v. Hoxie, 20 R. I. 331, 38 Atl. 1000; Harris v. Earle, (R. I. 1889) 39 Atl. 192.

62. Bennett's Appeal, 33 Conn. 214; Saunders v. Denison, 20 Conn. 521; Peck v. Sturges, 11 Conn. 420; Edwards v. Botsford, 1 Root 244; In re McCune, 76 Mo. 200.

Conclusiveness of decision not appealed from. — The decision of the probate judge upon the question whether further assets have come to the hands of an executor or administrator, so as to entitle a creditor to have the commission of insolvency opened for the purpose of letting in his claim, is conclusive upon the parties unless appealed from, and is not open to inquiry upon an appeal from the decision of the commissioners allowing or disallowing the claim. Ostrom v. Curtis, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 461.

A review is not allowed in a county court in a case appealed from a decision of the probate court in accepting a report of commissioners upon an insolvent estate. Foster v. Caldwell, 18 Vt. 176.

A confirmation of the report of referees is final as to the action of the probate court but is subject to reëxamination in the supreme court upon the law and facts. Reed v. Wiley, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 394.

63. McNeil v. Macon, 20 Ala. 772; Sawyer v. Copp, 6 N. H. 42; England v. Pearson, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 443, 1 S. W. 42 (holding that an appeal from an adjudication of claims by the probate clerk lies directly to the circuit court, and the probate judge has no jurisdiction to review the acts of such clerk); Barksdale v. Ward, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 46 S. W. 771.

An order striking out objections to claims against an insolvent estate, on the ground that the objections had not been filed within the prescribed time, is not within a statute providing for an appeal "upon any issue as to the allowance of any claim against insolvent estates." Christopher v. Stewart, 133 Ala. 348, 32 So. 11.

64. See, generally, supra, X, B, 14, g.

65. Morgan v. McCausland, 96 Me. 449, 52 Atl. 931; Bates v. Ward, 49 Me. 87.

Petition where appeal prevented by mistake, etc. — The law allowing a petition for appeal from the decree of a judge of probate, where such appeal has been prevented by mistake, accident, or misfortune, does not extend to the decision of commissioners upon insolvent estates; neither can the supreme court grant or refuse new trials on such decisions. Jones v. Martin, 67 N. H. 334, 39 Atl. 971; appeal the extent of his interest and how it is affected by the decision appealed from,[66] and the grounds of objection must be stated with reasonable certainty, although minuteness and precision are not requisite.[67] The appeal should be taken by the appellant within the time prescribed by statute,[68] and due notice given to parties adversely interested,[69] who should, if claimants, bring their claims before the appellate court in the prescribed time and manner.[70] Even if the appellee is entitled to require a bond he may waive such privilege.[71]

c. Hearing and Determination.[72] On appeal such questions or matters only will be heard and determined as were considered below and are properly brought before the appellate court.[73] In the hearing and determination of a claim upon appeal, issues for a jury trial are sometimes framed.[74] Where the single issue is whether the claim itself ought to be allowed against the estate, formal pleadings are not necessary.[75] Under some statutes the claimant may on appeal from the commissioners amend any defect, mistake, or informality in the statement of his claim which does not change the ground of the action.[76] The statutes sometimes permit the court to require the creditor to submit to examination under oath,[77] but such a statute does not authorize the claimant to testify on his own motion.[78] A statute requiring on an appeal from a commissioner a production of "attested copies of the petition, declaration, and order of notice" does not make his report competent evidence upon the trial in the appellate court.[79] Proceedings on appeal by a creditor of an insolvent estate from the allowance of the claim of another

Hilton v. Wiggin, 46 N. H. 120. And see Swain v. Kemp, 71 N. H. 620, 51 Atl. 905.

Ineffectual appeal.— An appeal from a decree of a judge of probate and not from the decision of the commissioners is ineffectual to confer jurisdiction, where it appears that there is no decree of the judge of probate to appeal from, and no appeal is taken from the decision of the commissioners. Morgan v. McCausland, 96 Me. 449, 52 Atl. 931.

66. Saunders v. Denison, 20 Conn. 521.

67. Barnard v. Barnard, 16 Vt. 223.

68. Connecticut.— Bailey v. Whitman, 49 Conn. 79.

Maine.—Robbins Cordage Co. v. Brewer, 48 Me. 481.

Massachusetts.— Merriam v. Leonard, 6 Cush. 151.

New Jersey.— Young v. Young, 32 N. J. Eq. 275.

Rhode Island.— Barnes v. Mowry, 11 R. I. 420; Burlingame v. Saunders, 4 R. I. 41.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1644.

Leave to appeal after the expiration of the time limited for appeal will be granted, under N. H. Gen. St. c. 188, § 9, only when it appears that the petitioner has not unreasonably neglected to appeal, and that injustice has been done by the decision of the judge; and the petitioner will be required to furnish some evidence that the appeal is taken in good faith and that he actually intends to try the issues presented thereby. In re Moulton, 50 N. H. 532.

69. Donovan's Appeal, 40 Conn. 154; Pattee v. Lowe, 35 Me. 121; Jacobs v. Jacobs, 110 Mass. 229; Shaw v. Newell, 9 R. I. 111; Sheldon v. Johnston Probate Ct., 5 R. I. 436.

The fact that giving notice of appeal will be inconvenient cannot dispense with the positive requirement of the statute with regard thereto. Sheldon v. Johnston Probate Ct., 5 R. I. 436.

Affidavits in explanation or contradiction of the testimony on which the petition is founded, as set forth in the petition itself, must be taken with notice, or filed a sufficient length of time to enable the party to examine them. Wing v. Bates, 16 Vt. 148.

70. Sumner v. Fisk, 45 N. H. 588.

71. Rich v. Eldredge, 42 N. H. 246.

72. See, generally, supra, X, B, 14, g, (VII).

73. Hart's Appeal, 32 Conn. 520; Morgan v. McCausland, 96 Me. 449, 52 Atl. 931; Barksdale v. Ward, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 46 S. W. 771.

An appeal from the disallowance of one of two distinct claims does not carry up for appeal the allowance of the other. Scutt's Appeal, 46 Conn. 38.

Account different from that used below.— Where upon the trial of an appeal plaintiff relied upon and used before the jury, against defendant's objection, an account against the deceased, which varied in amount and items charged, and was different in other respects from the original account filed in the probate court and used before the commissioners and auditor, the proceeding was irregular and the verdict should be set aside. Rich v. Eldredge, 42 N. H. 246.

74. Tolles' Appeal, 54 Conn. 521, 9 Atl. 402.

75. Tolles' Appeal, 54 Conn. 521, 9 Atl. 402.

76. Huntington's Appeal, 73 Conn. 582, 48 Atl. 766; Donahue's Appeal, 62 Conn. 370, 26 Atl. 399; Starkey's Appeal, 61 Conn. 199, 23 Atl. 1081 (stating claim in alternate forms); Bluehill Academy v. Ellis, 32 Me. 260; Abbott v. Keith, 11 Vt. 525.

77. Dyer v. Stanwood, 7 N. H. 261.

78. Morse v. Page, 25 Me. 496.

79. Cook v. Bennett, 51 N. H. 85.

creditor whose demand is much larger than the appellant's will be stayed to await the determination of an appeal taken by the administrator from the allowance of the claim of the appealing creditor.[80]

H. Rights and Remedies of Creditors — 1. In General. Under some statutes the creditors of an insolvent estate have the right to nominate a person as administrator of the property, rights, and credits of such estate unadministered.[81] Each creditor is entitled to a ratable proportion of his claim, with other creditors, and no more,[82] and he also has the right to contest the claims of other creditors or claimants,[83] provided his claims or objections are presented in the prescribed time and manner.[84]

2. Actions[85] — a. In General. After the representation or declaration of insolvency a creditor cannot bring an action on his full claim against the executor or administrator,[86] unless it is a preferred one, not affected by the insol-

80. Farr v. Williams, 47 N. H. 560.

81. Weaver v. Weaver, 23 Ala. 789; Long v. Easly, 13 Ala. 239, holding that it is the duty of the court to appoint an administrator so nominated by the creditors and that if the creditors fail to make such nomination the court may appoint such person as it shall deem fit.

Where a meeting of creditors fails to appoint a syndic to an insolvent succession for whose administration neither the beneficiary, heir, or any other person has applied, the court may appoint the sheriff. Morris v. Williams, 6 La. Ann. 391.

82. Happoldt v. Jones, Harp. (S. C.) 109; Hays v. Cecil, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 160, holding that where a creditor has received from the assets in another state a larger percentage on his claim than the creditors in the state where administration is had, he is entitled to nothing under the administration in the latter state.

Time for examination of claims. — The rights of claimants as to demands which form items of an account which the syndic of an insolvent succession is ordered to render cannot be examined until such account be rendered. Percy v. Percy, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 348.

83. In re Mouillerat, 14 Mont. 245, 36 Pac. 185 [distinguishing Ryan v. Kinney, 2 Mont. 454].

General creditors may require that their debts shall take precedence of voluntary and incomplete transfers of the decedent's property (Stewart v. Newton, 12 La. Ann. 622), or dispute liens claimed upon assets and contest the validity of chattel mortgages or pledges claimed as security (Farnum v. Boutelle, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 159; Currie v. Knight, 34 N. J. Eq. 485).

A creditor may plead the statute of limitations in bar of another creditor's debt (Wordsworth v. Davis, 75 N. C. 159; In re Claghorn, 181 Pa. St. 600, 37 Atl. 918, 59 Am. St. Rep. 680 [distinguishing McWilliam's Appeal, 117 Pa. St. 111, 11 Atl. 383]), even though the representatives have waived or are estopped to plead the statute (In re Claghorn, 181 Pa. St. 600, 37 Atl. 918, 59 Am. St. Rep. 680 [distinguishing McWilliam's Appeal, 117 Pa. St. 111, 11 Atl. 383]).

Upon proceedings for distribution before an auditor creditors may question each other's claims and the auditor may reject such as do not appear to be fair and just. Hahnlin's Appeal, 45 Pa. St. 343. And see In re Kittera, 17 Pa. St. 416 [overruling Matter of Smith, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 352].

Effect of opposition. — An opposition by a creditor to an administrator's tableau of distribution puts in issue the validity as well as the rank of debts. Kerley's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 583.

84. Dahlgren v. Duncan, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 280; Koons v. Koons, 148 Pa. St. 585, 24 Atl. 95.

85. Actions pending at time of declaration of insolvency see supra, XIII, C, 7, b.

Actions generally see infra, XIV.

86. Indiana. — Hardesty v. Kinworthy, 8 Blackf. 304; Remy v. Butler, 7 Blackf. 5.

Maine. — Pattee v. Lowe, 36 Me. 138.

Massachusetts. — Johnson v. Ames, 6 Pick. 330; Paine v. Nichols, 15 Mass. 264; Wildridge v. Patterson, 15 Mass. 148.

New Jersey. — Reeves v. Townsend, 22 N. J. L. 396.

Tennessee. — Spencer v. Goodlett, 104 Tenn. 648, 58 S. W. 322; Sellars v. Brown, (Ch. App. 1897) 46 S. W. 335.

Texas. — Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank v. Bell, 31 Tex. Civ. App. 124, 71 S. W. 570.

Canada. — Wilson v. Marvin, 3 Brit. Col. 327.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1647, 1648; and supra, XIII, C, 7, a.

But compare Blodget v. Brinsmaid, 7 Vt. 9, holding that creditors of an estate represented insolvent have the right to sue the executor or administrator before the appointment of commissioners.

Action in federal courts. — A decree of insolvency by a state court is no bar to the rendition of a judgment in an action at law in the federal courts, but when the estate is actually insolvent such judgment will be enjoined in equity and the creditor compelled to come in and take his place with other creditors of the estate. Byrne v. McDow, 23 Ala. 404.

Appeal lies from decree granting leave to institute suit. Leighton v. Chapman, 30 Me. 538.

vency,[87] or the estate proves solvent,[88] or unless the estate has been wasted and not accounted for by the representative,[89] although under some statutes a suit may be prosecuted for the purpose of establishing the claim, the judgment thereon to be enforced and collected in the manner provided for the collection of other claims against the estate.[90] The creditor may also sue the representative where his claim is rejected[91] and the representative gives him notice to sue.[92] After the proceedings in insolvency a creditor's right is generally to maintain an action against the representative only for the balance allowed him by the commissioners,[93] or for his pro rata share of the dividend decreed by the probate court;[94] his usual remedy in such cases being either by a suit on the representative's administration bond[95] or by debt on the decree of distribution.[96] If the creditor is paid his pro rata share he cannot sue for the balance of his claim,[97] unless it is a preferred one, which has been paid only a pro rata share with general creditors.[98]

b. Suits in Equity. Unless barred by lapse of time or laches,[99] a creditor of an insolvent estate may maintain a bill in equity to wind up such estate and to subject it to the payment of debts generally;[1] or he may maintain a bill to subject certain assets to the payment of his judgment,[2] to set aside a fraudulent conveyance or sale by the intestate,[3] to annul a fraudulent judgment against the decedent,[4] or to restrain proceedings under a judgment at law obtained by another

87. Pattee v. Lowe, 36 Me. 138.

88. Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251; Pattee v. Lowe, 36 Me. 138. But see Johnson v. Ames, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 330; Paine v. Nichols, 15 Mass. 264.

89. McNeill v. Elkins, 10 La. 587; State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347; Burruss v. Fisher, 23 Miss. 228. But see Pattee v. Lowe, 36 Me. 138; Longfellow v. Patrick, 25 Me. 18.

90. Wilson v. Broward, 15 Fla. 587; Crisp v. Dunn, 56 N. J. L. 355, 29 Atl. 166.

91. Eaton v. Whitaker, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 465; Smith v. Crater, 43 N. J. Eq. 636, 12 Atl. 530; James v. James, 14 R. I. 564, holding that such suit may be brought without notice.

Premature suit.— A suit at law on a claim against an insolvent estate which is commenced after the claim has been rejected by the insolvency commissioners, but before they have made their report and procured its acceptance by the judge of probate, is premature. Goff v. Kellogg, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 256.

92. Smith v. Crater, 43 N. J. Eq. 636, 12 Atl. 530.

93. Doolittle v. Hunsden, Brayt. (Vt.) 41.

94. Melone v. Gaines, Minor (Ala.) 317; Nelson v. Woodbury, 1 Me. 251; Mansfield v. Patterson, 15 Mass. 491; State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347; Burruss v. Fisher, 23 Miss. 228.

95. Wass v. Bucknam, 40 Me. 289; Dickinson v. Bean, 11 Me. 50; Nelson v. Woodbury, 1 Me. 251; State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347. And see infra, XVII.

Necessity for decree and demand.— Before a creditor may maintain an action on the administration bond there must be a decree of distribution by the probate judge and a demand made upon the administrator for the amount decreed the creditor. Nelson v. Woodbury, 1 Me. 251.

Where new assets are discovered pending proceedings of an insolvent estate, a creditor who has his claims allowed by the commissioners cannot sustain a suit for the recovery of such new assets, but should sue upon the administration bond for the benefit of all creditors in case the administrator refuse to inventory it. Tyler v. Cook, Kirby (Conn.) 391. And see Mansfield v. Patterson, 15 Mass. 491.

96. Wass v. Bucknam, 40 Me. 289.

97. Siebert v. Zinkand, 26 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 137.

98. Flitner v. Hanley, 19 Me. 261.

99. See Brown v. Morgan, 84 Ill. App. 233; Stone v. Sanders, 1 Head (Tenn.) 248.

1. Lunsford v. Jarrett, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 579; Treece v. Carr, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 58 S. W. 1078; Timmons v. Rainey, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 55 S. W. 21.

2. Bay v. Cook, 31 Ill. 336; Simpson v. Simpson, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 275.

Bill in alternative.— A creditor's bill may be maintained after the death of a judgment debtor to reach equitable assets where the prayer is in the alternative that plaintiff be given a prior lien on the fund, or, if this cannot be granted, that there be a settlement and distribution of the debtor's assets. Riddle v. Motley, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 468.

3. State v. Parsons, 147 Ind. 579, 47 N. E. 17, 62 Am. St. Rep. 430; Morris v. Williams, 6 La. Ann. 391; Spicer v. Ayers, 2 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 626 (holding that where a defendant is both the administrator of the decedent and the party holding the fraudulent title, the estate being insolvent, a creditor at large may maintain his action in equity for relief); Lilienthal v. Drucklieb, 92 Fed. 753, 34 C. C. A. 657. And see supra, III, H, 7.

4. Morris v. Williams, 6 La. Ann. 391, holding that, to enable creditors to annul a judgment obtained by a wife against her husband, they must allege and prove they were creditors at the time the judgment was rendered, and that it was obtained by collusion in order to defraud them of their recourse upon the husband's property.

creditor after the estate was declared insolvent.[5] But he cannot by any such suits acquire a preference over other creditors.[6]

c. Time For Suing.[7] Creditors are usually forbidden to bring suit within a prescribed period after the granting of administration, except as to preferred claims not affected by the decedent's insolvency.[8] It is also generally provided that suits by creditors to enforce their claims are barred unless brought within a certain time prescribed by statute,[9] unless new assets come into the representative's hands;[10] but it has been held that the balance of a claim against the estate of a deceased insolvent person, on which a dividend has been paid, is not within the statute of limitations.[11]

d. Parties.[12] The executor or administrator is generally a necessary party to proceedings against an insolvent estate in equity,[13] as are also the heirs where the bill has for its object the sale of land to pay debts.[14]

e. Pleading.[15] A declaration by a creditor on a claim which has been rejected by the commissioners should set forth the demand truly and state that it was laid before the commissioners and was rejected.[16] It is no objection to a declaration by a creditor that he declares against himself as administrator.[17] In an action by a creditor, suing in behalf of all, against an administratrix and the county judge for an accounting, a petition which alleges collusion between defendants and a fraudulent payment and retention of illegal fees to the prejudice of the creditors is sufficient as against demurrer.[18]

f. Evidence.[19] The insolvency of the estate may be shown in a collateral proceeding by a creditor to enforce his claim,[20] although the proof required to establish insolvency in such proceeding need not be as positive as when the insolvency is directly in issue.[21] The opinion of the commissioners as to the facts

5. Byrne v. McDow, 23 Ala. 404; Scarlett v. Hicks, 13 Fla. 314.

6. Bouchaud v. Dias, 1 N. Y. 201 [reversing 10 Paige 445]; People's Nat. Bank v. Kern, 8 Pa. Dist. 72; Gleaves v. Wilson, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 54.

7. See infra, XIV, F.

8. Smith v. Rhodes, 29 Me. 360; Severance v. Hammatt, 28 Me. 511.

9. Leighton v. Chapman, 30 Me. 538; Gleaves v. Wilson, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 54.

Where a claim has been rejected by the commissioners for want of proof, and such rejection is confirmed by the probate court's allowance of the report of the commissioners, the claimant is concluded thereby, unless his suit is brought with all the diligence required by the statute. Burlingame v. Brown, 5 R. I. 410.

The time elapsing while proceedings are pending in the probate court between the creditor's filing of his claim and the bringing of a suit thereon cannot be deducted to prevent the bar of the statute of limitations. Lea v. Leachman, 22 Ala. 452.

Relief from failure to sue within time limited.— N. H. Pub. St. c. 191, § 27, providing that one who has a claim against the estate of a deceased person which has not been prosecuted in time may apply to the supreme court by petition stating the facts, and, if the court deem that justice and equity require it and that the claimant has not been culpably negligent, they may give him judgment for the amount due him, does not apply to insolvent estates. Parsons v. Parsons, 67 N. H. 419, 29 Atl. 999.

10. Dexter v. Arnold, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,855, 3 Mason 284.

11. Bancroft v. Andrews, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 493.

12. See infra, XIV, G.

13. McDowell v. Cochran, 11 Ill. 31; White v. Follin, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 187.

A creditor's bill to recover assets fraudulently conveyed by the decedent does not depend on the existence of a legal representative of the decedent or on his refusal to act and may be brought independent of such representative. Lilienthal v. Drucklieb, 92 Fed. 753, 24 C. C. A. 657.

14. Timmons v. Rainey, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 55 S. W. 21. See supra, XII, G, 4, a.

15. See, generally, infra, XIV, K.

16. Eaton v. Whitaker, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 465.

17. Ross v. Ross, 20 Ala. 105, holding that, in a contest between creditors, it is the proper practice, where written objections are filed to a creditor's claim, for him to declare upon it as in a suit at common law, against the representative, and that such declaration is not demurrable because the creditor as plaintiff declares against himself as administrator de bonis non as defendant.

18. McGlave v. Fitzgerald, (Nebr. 1903) 93 N. W. 692, holding further that it was not necessary in order to entitle the creditor to bring an action that he should show a technical refusal by the administratrix to sue.

19. See, generally, infra, XIV, L.

20. Byrd v. Jones, 84 Ala. 336, 4 So. 375.

21. Byrd v. Jones, 84 Ala. 336, 4 So. 375.

in reference to a claim, as they appeared before them, is inadmissible to establish such claim in an action against the representative thereon.[22]

g. Defenses.[23] The personal representative of an insolvent estate can defend a suit brought against him for a debt due from his decedent only by showing an account of administration properly settled in the probate court, or by regular proceedings in insolvency under statute.[24] An administrator who distributes the entire fund in his hands pending an appeal by a creditor whose claim is disallowed cannot set up such payment in bar of an action by the creditor against him on a settlement made after a reversal of the disallowance;[25] nor can the representative set up the allowance of a claim by the commissioners to the wrong person as a defense to an action by the proper person on the same claim.[26]

h. Judgment and Relief.[27] Where a creditor's claim has been allowed by the commissioners, judgment may be rendered in an action by the creditor, for the amount of the dividend awarded him by the court;[28] but if notice of dissatisfaction with the commissioners' report is given by the representative as required by statute, and the creditor in consequence brings an action at law, he may have judgment for a larger or smaller sum than that allowed by the commissioners,[29] together with his costs in the action.[30] But the writ, in an action of this kind, should contain no order to attach the goods of the intestate, and if it does it may be abated by plea or motion, though unless so avoided the objection is waived.[31] A general decree may be rendered for the benefit of all creditors, although the bill is on behalf of one of them only, if it appears by the answer that the estate is insolvent, and that there are other creditors to be paid ratably with plaintiff.[32] A surety who brings an action on a note of the deceased insolvent, which he did not pay until after administration had ended, and to which the representative pleads plene administravit, may be entitled to a judgment quando acciderint.[33]

I. Distribution and Settlement — 1. In General. As a general rule all the property of a deceased insolvent debtor not set apart for the widow and minor children becomes assets in the hands of his representative, for the payment pro rata of all his debts according to classification, no matter where the assets may be found or the creditors reside.[34] Claims of a higher class are to be paid before

22. Fitch v. Hyde, Kirby (Conn.) 258.
23. See, generally, infra, XIV, C.
24. Cushing v. Field, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 180.
25. Clark v. Guard, 73 Ala. 456.
26. Salem First Nat. Bank v. Grant, 71 Me. 374, 36 Am. Rep. 334.
27. See, generally, infra, XIV, O.
28. Peirce v. Whittemore, 8 Mass. 282.
29. Blake v. Dennie, 15 Pick. (Mass.) 385; Pierce v. Saxton, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 274; Burns v. Fay, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 8.
30. Blake v. Dennie, 15 Pick. (Mass.) 385; Pierce v. Saxton, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 274. And see Mathewson v. Sheldon, 6 R. I. 223.
31. Thayer v. Comstock, 39 Me. 140.
32. Dias v. Bouchaud, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 445 [reversed on other grounds in 1 N. Y. 201].
33. Rosborough v. Mills, 35 S. C. 578, 15 S. E. 281.
34. Arkansas.— Jamison v. Adler-Goldman Commission Co., 59 Ark. 548, 28 S. W. 35.

Illinois.— Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270].

Massachusetts.— Jennison v. Hapgood, 14 Pick. 345.

Mississippi.— Dahlgren v. Duncan, 7 Sm. & M. 280; Stamps v. Brown, Walk. 526, holding that where a creditor has two claims, a judgment and a note, the dividend allowed him should be credited on each claim pro rata.

Pennsylvania.— Smith's Estate, 17 Lanc. L. Rev. 380.

United States.— Tennessee Union Bank v. Vaiden, 18 How. 503, 15 L. ed. 472; Williams v. Benedict, 8 How. 107, 12 L. ed. 1003.

England.— In re Bentinck, [1897] 1 Ch. 673, 66 L. J. Ch. 359, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 284, 45 Wkly. Rep. 397; In re Jones, 31 Ch. D. 440, 55 L. J. Ch. 350, 53 L. T. Rep. N. S. 855, 34 Wkly. Rep. 249; Wilson v. Coxwell, 23 Ch. D. 764, 52 L. J. Ch. 975.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1652.

A non-resident creditor is entitled to participate with resident creditors in the assets according to the rank and classification of his claim, where it does not appear that he has received payment on such claim in any other state. Tyler v. Thompson, 44 Tex. 497, 23 Am. Rep. 600.

A creditor entitled to a preference as to legal assets, who has been partially paid out of such assets, cannot receive any share of the equitable assets until the payments to all distribution to those of a lower class, taking the whole fund if necessary,[35] and any surplus remaining after paying verified claims goes in the absence of statute to the distributees in preference to creditors whose claims were rejected because not properly filed and verified.[36] No priority or preference of payment can be acquired by one creditor over other creditors of the same class.[37] A claim of the personal representative against the insolvent estate can only be paid pro rata with other creditors of the same class,[38] but where he has paid preferred claims out of his own funds he may become entitled to a preference by subrogation.[39]

2. New or Increased Assets. Newly discovered assets also become a trust fund for ratable distribution among creditors,[40] and the fact that certain creditors have, by their special discovery and exertion, made such assets available to the estate for distribution, gives them no preference in the distribution,[41] although it would seem that their special and reasonable outlay in procuring such assets should be deducted with other costs from the fund thus made available.[42]

3. Preferred Claims.[43] The statutes usually provide what claims shall be entitled to a preference in the distribution of the assets of an insolvent estate[44]

creditors are equalized, when he will be paid ratably out of the residue; and it makes no difference whether he has received payment of one of several distinct claims or a part of one entire claim. Wilder v. Keeler, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 167, 23 Am. Dec. 781.

The rule of distribution in a trust deed for the benefit of creditors will be the rule of distribution of the estate if not repugnant to the laws of the state where it is to be applied. Slatter v. Carroll, 2 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 573.

Delayed creditor.— A creditor whose debt was not due when the first account of the executor was audited, and who did not participate in the distribution then made, is entitled, on a further distribution, to receive an amount sufficient to give him a share of the entire estate proportionate to that received by other creditors of the same class. Cairn's Estate, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 183.

Judgment given for support of wife.— A judgment given by a deceased husband to a trustee to secure his wife's support must be postponed to claims of creditors in the distribution. Jaeger Estate, 1 Del. Co. (Pa.) 525.

Notes executed to a married woman by her husband in consideration of her conveyance of land and slaves cannot be allowed out of his insolvent estate in preference to other creditors. Maraman v. Maraman, 4 Metc. (Ky.) 84.

35. Gish's Appeal, 31 Pa. St. 277; In re Williams, L. R. 15 Eq. 270, 42 L. J. Ch. 158, holding that a simple contract creditor of a deceased insolvent who obtains but does not register a judgment for his debt against a legal personal representative is entitled to priority over the intestate's specialty and simple contract creditors. See infra, XIII, I, 3.

36. Puryear v. Puryear, 34 Ala. 555; Murdock v. Rousseau, 32 Ala. 611. But see Bartol v. Calvert, 21 Ala. 42.

37. Leiper v. Lavis, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 108.

Judgment creditors share ratably in the assets of an insolvent estate notwithstanding the dates of the judgments (Newark Second Nat. Bank v. Blauvelt, 44 N. J. Eq. 173, 14 Atl. 618; Leiper v. Levis, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 118; Williams v. Benedict, 8 How. (U. S.) 107, 12 L. ed. 1007), but if the personal estate is insufficient the judgments should be paid from the realty in the order of their priority (Bassett v. Elliott, 78 Mo. 525).

38. Baker v. Wood, 51 Ala. 345; Shortridge v. Easley, 16 Ala. 520; Sealey v. Thomas, 6 Fla. 25; Tell City Furniture Co. v. Stiles, 60 Miss. 849; Rutenic v. Hamakar, 40 Oreg. 444, 67 Pac. 196.

39. Trumbo v. Tiernan, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 41; Chamberlin v. McDowell, 42 N. J. Eq. 628, 9 Atl. 577. And see In re Torr, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 250.

40. Sharp v. Citizens' Bank, (Nebr. 1904) 98 N. W. 50; Gunter v. Gunter, 2 S. C. 11; Dexter v. Arnold, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,855, 3 Mason 284.

41. Colton v. Field, 131 Ill. 398, 22 N. E. 545; Jenkins v. Edens, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 239; Rains v. Rainey, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 261.

42. In re Weed, 163 Pa. St. 595, 30 Atl. 272.

43. As to priorities generally see supra, X, D, 2.

44. See Smith v. Mallory, 24 Ala. 628; Crutcher v. Cavanaugh, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 292; Field v. Wheatley, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 351; Hartley v. Gains, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 159.

Mortgages.— Under 2 Ind. Rev. St. (1876) p. 534, §§ 108, 109, a mortgage on realty of a deceased insolvent is a preferred debt as to the personalty. Evans v. Pence, 78 Ind. 439. But in Massachusetts it has been held that a mortgagee of a decedent who died insolvent cannot demand that the administrator be required to pay a balance due on the price of the chattels mortgaged as this would give a preference to the mortgagee over the other creditors. Wentworth v. S. A. Woods Mach. Co., 163 Mass. 28, 39 N. E. 414.

A decree in equity ranks with a judgment at law in the distribution of the assets of an insolvent estate. Second Nat. Bank v. Blauvelt, 44 N. J. Eq. 173, 14 Atl. 618.

and for the classification of such claims.[45] Expenses of last illness and funeral,[46] necessary expenses of administration,[47] and debts due the government,[48] are generally recognized as privileged claims. Some of the statutes rank judgment creditors and creditors by specialty or simple contract on an equal footing of pro rata distribution.[49] A claim for a trust fund cannot be treated as a preferred claim[50] unless the fund can be specifically identified.[51]

4. Secured Claims — a. Preference Out of Security. A lien or secured creditor is entitled to a preference of payment out of the specific property on which his lien exists[52] to the extent of such lien,[53] but he cannot apply the excess of the security over the amount of the secured claim to an unsecured claim which he holds and thereby obtain a preference over other creditors.[54]

b. Rights as to General Assets. In some jurisdictions it is held that a secured creditor can prove only for the difference between the amount of his claim and the value of his security unless he surrenders the security to go into the common fund,[55] or unless the security was furnished by a third person not primarily responsible for the debt.[56] But by the weight of authority a secured creditor may prove and collect dividends on his entire claim allowed by the commissioners, without giving up or affecting his security.[57] If he thus obtains payment in full 45. See Smith v. Mallory, 24 Ala. 628.

46. Flitner v. Hanly, 18 Me. 270; Huse v. Brown, 8 Me. 167. And see supra, X, D, 2, c, (II), (B), (1).

47. Friend v. Graham, 10 La. 438; Morel v. Misotiere, 3 Mart. (La.) 363; Fuller v. Connelly, 142 Mass. 227, 7 N. E. 853. And see supra, X, D, 2, c, (II), (B), (1).

Unauthorized compromise.— Where the administrator compromises a claim against a debtor without an order of court, costs paid by him in such case are not a preferred claim against the estate. Patapsco Guano Co. v. Ballard, 107 Ala. 710, 19 So. 777, 54 Am. St. Rep. 131.

48. Huse v. Brown, 8 Me. 167; Fields v. Wheatley, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 351. And see supra, X, D, 2, c, (II), (B), (2).

A debt due a state bank is not a debt due to the government within the meaning of this rule, for the statute refers only to debts and arrearages due to the government or state in its sovereign character, as revenues, fines, forfeitures, penalties, etc. Fields v. Wheatley, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 351.

49. Smith v. Mallory, 24 Ala. 628; Paschall v. Hailman, 9 Ill. 285.

50. Stephens v. Stephens, 89 Ky. 185, 12 S. W. 192, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 496; Crutcher v. Cavanaugh, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 292; Benbury v. Benbury, 22 N. C. 235; Schneider's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 71. And see Cooley v. Vansyckle, 14 N. J. Eq. 496.

51. Schneider's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 71; Vandever v. Freeman, 20 Tex. 333, 70 Am. Dec. 391, holding that where a trust is established against an insolvent estate, in property which has been sold as the property of said estate since the death of the trustee, the cestui que trust will not be remitted to his pro rata with the general creditors, but is entitled to recover the proceeds of the trust property.

52. Jewett v. Hurrle, 121 Ind. 404, 23 N. E. 262; Durand v. Delahoussaye, 28 La. Ann. 622; Brown v. Trottner, 11 Ohio Cir. Ct. 498, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 222. But see Severance v. Hammatt, 28 Me. 511.

Lien must have been perfected see Weed v. Standley, 12 Fla. 166; Rhoton's Succession, 34 La. Ann. 893.

Equitable relief.— Where one had arranged with his debtor, before the latter died, to take certain security on property, and the writing given is inadequate for that purpose, equity will relieve such creditor where the estate is insolvent, and enforce against the decedent's personal representative the original undertaking. Hunt v. Ennis, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,889, 2 Mason 244.

Where lien has expired.— Heirs paying off judgments against their ancestor, the lien of which had expired, are not entitled thereby to any priority over general creditors of the estate. Belcher v. Wickersham, 9 Baxt. (Tenn.) 111.

53. Smith v. Bryant, 60 Ala. 235.

54. Smith v. Bryant, 60 Ala. 235; Masonic Sav. Bank v. Bangs, 84 Ky. 135, 4 Am. St. Rep. 197; Spratt v. Richmond First Nat. Bank, 84 Ky. 85, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 791; Peters v. Nashville Sav. Bank, 86 Tenn. 224, 6 S. W. 133.

55. Bristol County Sav. Bank v. Woodward, 137 Mass. 412; Haverhill Loan, etc., Assoc. v. Cronin, 4 Allen (Mass.) 141; Savage v. Winchester, 15 Gray (Mass.) 453; Farnum v. Boutelle, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 159; Middlesex Bank v. Minot, 4 Metc. (Mass.) 325; Hooker v. Olmstead, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 481; Gibson v. Crehore, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 146; Amory v. Francis, 16 Mass. 308; Johnson v. Corbett, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 265; Moore v. Dunn, 92 N. C. 63; Creecy v. Pearce, 69 N. C. 67. Compare Church v. Savage, 7 Cush. (Mass.) 440. And see Bartholomew v. May, 1 Atk. 487, 26 Eng. Reprint 309.

56. Bristol County Sav. Bank v. Woodward, 137 Mass. 412; Savage v. Winchester, 15 Gray (Mass.) 453.

57. Colorado.— Erle v. Lane, 22 Colo. 273, 24 Pac. 591.

the security inures to the benefit of the unsecured creditors,[58] while if the dividend, although insufficient to pay his claim in full, reduces it to less than the value of the security, the representative must redeem for the benefit of the estate.[59] Where, however, the creditor disposes of the security the sum realized operates as a partial payment to reduce his claim pro tanto, and thereafter he is entitled to dividends only on the balance.[60]

5. Improper Payments and Liability to Refund. If the representative makes overpayments, or pays some creditors in full while others are left unpaid, he will be personally liable to the latter to make up their respective proportions,[61] and where a claim is paid by the representative to the wrong person under a mistake, he may be compelled as administrator to pay it again to the right person.[62] The creditors receiving an overpayment may be compelled to refund in an action by the representative or his successor,[63] but not in an action directly by other Connecticut.— Findlay v. Hosmer, 2 Conn. 350.

Illinois.— Peoria First Nat. Bank v. Commercial Nat. Bank, 151 Ill. 308, 37 N. E. 1019; Furness v. Union Nat. Bank, 147 Ill. 570, 35 N. E. 624; Matter of Bates, 118 Ill. 524, 9 N. E. 257, 59 Am. Rep. 383.

Indiana.— Clarke v. Henshaw, 30 Ind. 144. See also Hight v. Taylor, 97 Ind. 392.

Louisiana.— Day's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 895.

Maryland.— See Watkins v. Worthington, 2 Bland 509.

Missouri.— Day v. Graham, 97 Mo. 398, 11 S. W. 55; In re McCune, 76 Mo. 200; Welton v. Hull, 50 Mo. 296.

New Hampshire.— Moses v. Ranlet, 2 N. H. 488.

Ohio.— Cromwell v. Herron, 11 Ohio Cir. Ct. 448, 5 Ohio Cir. Dec. 196.

Pennsylvania.— Mason's Appeal, 89 Pa. St. 402; In re Kittera, 17 Pa. St. 416; Daus' Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 326.

Texas.— Sutherland v. Elmendorf, 24 Tex. Civ. App. 137, 57 S. W. 890.

Vermont.— Walker v. Baxter, 26 Vt. 710; West v. Rutland Bank, 19 Vt. 403.

United States.— Schuelenburg v. Martin, 2 Fed. 747, 1 McCrary 348.

England.— Mason v. Bogg, 1 Jur. 330, 2 Myl. & C. 443, 14 Eng. Ch. 443 [questioning Greenwood v. Taylor, 1 Russ. & M. 185, 5 Eng. Ch. 185].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1655.

A mortgage creditor is entitled to payment out of the general assets, although a court of equity may compel him to first resort to the land. Tubb's Estate, 161 Pa. St. 252, 28 Atl. 1109; Fish's Estate, 16 Phila. (Pa.) 373.

The purchase of the equity of redemption by a mortgagee does not extinguish his debt so as to preclude him from an average. Findlay v. Hosmer, 2 Conn. 350.

Application of dividend.— Where the claim allowed consisted wholly of principal the dividend should be applied solely to the principal leaving the interest unpaid. Loomis v. Eaton, 32 Conn. 550.

Secured creditor must account for amount received in excess of debt and interest. Daus' Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 326.

58. Erle v. Lane, 22 Colo. 273, 44 Pac. 591.

59. Erle v. Lane, 22 Colo. 273, 24 Pac. 591; Matter of Bates, 118 Ill. 524, 9 N. E. 257, 59 Am. Rep. 383.

60. Arkansas.— Jamison v. Adler-Goldman Commission Co., 59 Ark. 548, 28 S. W. 35.

Colorado.— Erle v. Lane, 22 Colo. 273, 44 Pac. 591; Sullivan v. Erle, 8 Colo. App. 1, 44 Pac. 948.

Illinois.— Peoria First Nat. Bank v. Commercial Nat. Bank, 151 Ill. 308, 37 N. E. 1019; Furness v. Union Nat. Bank, 147 Ill. 570, 35 N. E. 624.

Indiana.— La Plante v. Convery, 98 Ind. 499.

Missouri.— In re McCune, 76 Mo. 200.

South Carolina.— Wheat v. Dingle, 32 S. C. 473, 11 S. E. 394, 8 L. R. A. 375.

Tennessee.— Winton v. Eldridge, 3 Head 361; Fields v. Wheatley, 1 Sneed 351.

Vermont.— West v. Rutland Bank, 19 Vt. 403.

West Virginia.— Van Winkle v. Blackford, 54 W. Va. 621, 46 S. E. 589.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1655.

In Pennsylvania it is held that in case of insolvency a creditor is entitled to have his dividend computed upon his total claim at the death of decedent, irrespective of the amount realized from sale of collateral security, but cannot receive more than the sum actually due. In re Miller, 82 Pa. St. 113, 22 Am. Rep. 754; Carr's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 740, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 354; Morgan's Estate, 1 Pa. Dist. 402, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 536.

61. Harris v. Fisher, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 74; Rice v. Hunt, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 33; Johnson v. Molsbee, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 444; Redding v. Boyd, 64 Tex. 498.

Payment pending appeal.— If the representative pays out the entire funds in his hands pending an appeal by a creditor from a disallowance of his claim, he will be personally liable to such creditor upon a reversal of the disallowance, and cannot require him to proceed against a creditor who has been paid. Clark v. Guard, 73 Ala. 456.

62. Bird v. Bohannon, 25 Ala. 279.

63. Walker v. Mock, 39 Ala. 568; McFarlin v. Ringer, 51 Ga. 363; Tarplee v. Capp, 25 Ind. App. 56, 56 N. E. 270; Coughlin's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 343; Debreuil's Succession, 12 Rob. (La.) 507.

creditors, the remedy of the latter being upon the administration bond of the representative.[64]

6. Proceedings and Decree For Distribution — a. In General. Upon proceedings for distribution after the lapse of the prescribed time from the grant of administration,[65] and upon due notice to the parties interested or entitled to participate,[66] a decree for the distribution of the assets to the creditors in the mode prescribed by statute should be rendered,[67] the effect of which is to render the executor or administrator personally liable to and subject to execution in favor of each creditor,[68] and to release him from liability in his fiduciary capacity unless other assets are discovered.[69] A decree of distribution when properly rendered is generally conclusive upon all of the persons interested,[70] except those who were not made parties to the proceedings,[71] unless it has been appealed from[72]

As between mortgage creditors the burden of contribution is upon the junior mortgagee. Hautau's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 54; Marc's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 412; Rousseau's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 1; O'Laughlin's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 142.

Payment in another jurisdiction.— A curator of an insolvent estate cannot recover from a creditor of the decedent, who has collected his claim from the representative of the estate in another jurisdiction, the amount so collected, for the purpose of enabling equal distribution among all creditors. Schneller v. Vance, 8 La. 506, 28 Am. Dec. 140.

When proof of insolvency at time of payment unnecessary.— It is not necessary to aver or prove, in an action to recover the excess paid an unpreferred creditor long before a final settlement of the estate, that the estate was insolvent when the debt was paid. Tarplee v. Capp, 25 Ind. App. 56, 56 N. E. 270.

Defenses.— It is no defense to an action to recover the excess paid an unpreferred creditor that the claims which reduced the estate to insolvency were not filed until more than fifteen months after the payment of his claim, although before final settlement of the estate; or that there was no finding that the estate had been finally settled as insolvent and that the final dividend had not been ascertained and decreed, where the evidence showed that the estate had been left open for the purpose of prosecuting actions to recover excess payments and the court's findings showed the aggregate indebtedness and assets, and the per cent that could ratably be paid. Tarplee v. Capp, 25 Ind. App. 56, 56 N. E. 270.

64. Johnson v. Molsbee, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 444. But compare Ewing v. Maury, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 381.

65. See Williamson v. Mason, 18 Ala. 87; Browne v. Doolittle, 151 Mass. 595, 25 N. E. 23.

66. See Chaffe v. Farmer, 36 La. Ann. 813; Eakin v. Brick, 16 N. J. L. 98; In re Kittera, 17 Pa. St. 416.

67. Stanwood v. Owen, 5 Allen (Mass.) 439; Jewett v. Phillips, 5 Allen (Mass.) 150.

That the judge of probate is himself a creditor is no valid objection to his decree ordering claims of creditors of an estate which has been administered in insolvent course to be paid in full. Probate Judge v. Tillotson, 6 N. H. 292.

Form of decree.— Sometimes the decree is made in the form of a certain per cent upon the whole claim of a creditor, and sometimes so as to ascertain the aliquot part of a claim and direct its payment (State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347) or in the form of a percentage on the balance due on the claim (Cromwell v. Herron, 11 Ohio Cir. Ct. 448, 5 Ohio Cir. Dec. 196).

Reservation of assets.— A statutory provision that a probate judge in ordering a dividend among creditors shall leave in the hands of the administrator a sum sufficient to pay a creditor who has a contingent claim, which could not be proved as a debt in the commission, in proportion to what has been paid to the other creditors, does not apply to a surety on a promissory note which has been proved by the holder and been allowed to him by the commissioners. Cummings v. Thompson, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 132. And see Lamberton v. Freeman, 16 N. H. 547.

68. Lehman v. Robertson, 84 Ala. 489, 4 So. 728; Boggs v. Mobile Branch Bank, 12 Ala. 494; State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347; Powell v. Cooper, 42 Miss. 221; Anderson v. Tindall, 26 Miss. 332.

An administrator is chargeable as trustee of a creditor under a decree of the probate court ordering him to pay a certain sum to the creditor where the estate is insolvent. Adams v. Barrett, 2 N. H. 374.

When formal insolvency proceedings are waived, and by agreement of all parties a decree is entered directing the administrator to make distribution among creditors, he becomes personally liable for the amounts decreed to them respectively. Allen v. Smith, 72 Miss. 689, 18 So. 579.

69. Anderson v. Tindall, 26 Miss. 332.

70. Coffin v. McCullough, 30 Ala. 107; State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347; Georgia Probate Ct. v. Vanduzer, 13 Vt. 135.

71. Rice v. Cannon, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 172.

72. Lehman v. Robertson, 84 Ala. 489, 4 So. 728.

The absence of creditors is not ground for reversing a decree confirming the auditor's report, for they might have verified their claims when sent to the administrator, but it would have been ground for adjourning a meeting or opened,[73] and, like other judgments or decrees properly rendered, cannot be impeached collaterally.[74]

b. Computation of Dividends. The indebtedness on which the apportionment of assets is reckoned has been held to be the debt at the time of the insolvent's death,[75] although in other jurisdictions it is held to be only on the balance due at the time of apportionment.[76] To ascertain the amount due the creditors, interest is sometimes reckoned on their allowances,[77] but after a dividend is decreed no future interest will accrue on such dividend relative to the estate;[78] and if the representative so uses the proceeds of the estate as to render himself personally liable for interest, an action to charge him therewith must be brought against him in his personal capacity.[79] Under some statutes the judge of probate may correct the list of claims allowed by commissioners conformably to special facts arising after their report, such as a change in the condition of claimants or the assets, and compute dividends on the corrected list.[80]

7. Accounting and Settlement — a. In General.[81] It is the duty of the personal representative of an insolvent estate to settle his accounts of administration after the commissioners' report,[82] within the time prescribed by statute,[83] in the prescribed manner,[84] and upon a proper citation and notice.[85] He should also settle with a successor in the trust if one be appointed.[86] Upon final settlement it is the province of the probate judge to determine the proper charges against[87] and credits in favor of the representative,[88] and to pass upon objections properly of creditors before the auditor. Hahnlin's Appeal, 45 Pa. St. 343.

73. In re Cowan, 184 Pa. St. 339, 39 Atl. 59 [affirming 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 119].

74. Georgia Probate Ct. v. Vanduzer, 13 Vt. 135.

75. Carr's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 740, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 354; Morgan's Estate, 1 Pa. Dist. 402, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 536; Ihmsen's Estate, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 218; Morton v. Caldwell, 3 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 161.

Payments which have been subsequently made by a third person upon any of the demands thus taken into consideration do not release the portion of the decedent's assets originally liable to the creditor, if there still remains due on the demand a balance requiring that proportion to satisfy it. Morton v. Caldwell, 3 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 161.

76. Peck v. Harrison, 23 Conn. 118; In re McCune, 76 Mo. 200; Lowell v. French, 54 Vt. 193.

Payment in another state.— Non-resident creditors who have received part of their claims from the assets under ancillary administration in another state must deduct such amount before sharing in the assets under the domiciliary administration. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270].

77. Williams v. American Bank, 4 Metc. (Mass.) 317; In re McCune, 76 Mo. 200. But compare Camp v. Grant, 21 Conn. 41, 54 Am. Dec. 321; Kier's Estate, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 372.

78. Camp v. Grant, 21 Conn. 41, 54 Am. Dec. 321; Fitch v. Huntington, Kirby (Conn.) 38.

79. Fitch v. Huntington, Kirby (Conn.) 38.

80. Williams v. American Bank, 4 Metc. (Mass.) 317. And see Ames v. Slater, 27 Minn. 70, 6 N. W. 418.

81. Accounting and settlement generally see infra, XV.

82. Shackleford v. King, 24 Ala. 158.

83. Eaton v. Brown, 8 Me. 22, holding that under a statute penalizing an administrator of an insolvent estate for failure to settle his account of administration within six months after the commissioners have reported a list of claims, the administrator is only bound to exhibit his account within that time and present himself to verify or support it; and the penalty does not attach where the administrator files a supplemental account consisting of items coming to his knowledge after the allowance of his former account, or arising from a realization of assets previously deemed worthless.

An account of personal estate only required. — Butler v. Ricker, 6 Me. 268.

84. McKeown v. Fagan, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 320.

A partial settlement is permitted under some statutes. See Boggs v. Mobile Branch Bank, 12 Ala. 494.

85. Tuttle v. Robinson, 33 N. H. 104, holding that the private claim of an administrator cannot be allowed on a settlement of the account of administration unless the citation for such settlement contains a notice of the nature and amount of such private claim.

86. Cobb v. Muzzey, 13 Gray (Mass.) 57, holding that an administrator of an insolvent estate must account to an administrator de bonis non for money prematurely paid to creditors in the belief that the estate was solvent.

87. Whitlock v. Whitlock, 25 Ala. 543; Clarke v. West, 5 Ala. 117.

88. Alabama.— Lehman v. Robertson, 84 Ala. 489, 4 So. 728; Clarke v. West, 5 Ala. 117.

Kentucky.— Clark v. Newman, 1 S. W. 880, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 515.

raised to his administration of the estate.[89] If, after final settlement of the estate as insolvent, there appears a balance, the persons entitled thereto may compel a settlement and distribution in their favor upon due notice to the representative.[90]

b. Proceedings — (i) In General. A bill for the final settlement of an insolvent estate must be brought within the time prescribed by statute,[91] unless a delay beyond that period is justified by peculiar circumstances.[92] The persons made parties to such a bill or coming in by petition must describe and set forth with certainty the origin and amounts of their claims,[93] and prove the same unless they are admitted by the representative to be just and due.[94]

(ii) Parties. The only necessary parties to proceedings for the settlement of an insolvent estate are usually the personal representative, on the one side, and the creditors whose claims have been allowed, or their assignees, on the other;[95] but legatees, distributees, or other persons interested may also appear or be joined as defendants.[96]

(iii) Judgment. The judgment of the probate court upon such settlement is final and conclusive,[97] unless appealed from[98] or opened,[99] and cannot be attacked collaterally.[1]

(iv) Appeal. An appeal from a final judgment or decree rendered in a final settlement of an insolvent estate may be taken[2] by the personal representative,[3] a distributee,[4] or a creditor,[5] but upon appeal the appellate court may not hear

Maine.— Burrows v. Bourne, 67 Me. 225.

New Hampshire.— Rossiter v. Cossit, 15 N. H. 38.

Pennsylvania.— Schroeder's Estate, 2 Woodw. 290.

Rhode Island.— Rafferty v. Potter, 21 R. I. 517, 45 Atl. 152.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1658.

A claim allowed by commissioners and not appealed from must be allowed in the administrator's accounts, even though fictitious. Reynolds v. McGregor, 16 Vt. 101.

Payment of debts other than preferred debts cannot be allowed as a credit in an administration account of an insolvent estate. Shedden v. Sterling, 23 Ala. 518; Overfield's Estate, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 62.

Reasonable attorney's fees are proper allowances in the administrator's favor, and being part of the expenses incident to the administration cannot be abated, although the estate be declared insolvent. Hearrin v. Savage, 16 Ala. 286.

Costs in an action against an estate cannot be allowed an administrator if, pending such action, the estate becomes absolutely insolvent and the whole estate legally appropriated furnishes no dividend to the creditors. Hunt v. Whitney, 4 Mass. 620.

89. Edwards v. Gibbs, 11 Ala. 292.

90. McMillan v. Rushing, 80 Ala. 402; Purdom v. McBroom, 19 Ala. 110.

91. Cash v. Dickens, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 254.

92. Cash v. Dickens, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 254.

93. Reid v. Huff, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 345.

94. Reid v. Huff, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 345.

95. Eubanks v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73; Baker v. Wood, 51 Ala. 345.

Personal representative of fraudulent grantor a proper party.— Handley v. Heflin, 84 Ala. 600, 4 So. 725.

96. Handley v. Heflin, 84 Ala. 600, 4 So. 725 (holding that the fraudulent grantees or donees of a deceased debtor may be joined as defendants, although they claim different parts of the property under separate gifts or conveyances); Eubanks v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73 (holding that distributees, although not necessary parties to subsequent proceedings in insolvency, may appear on final settlement for the purpose of establishing a surplus, and are not precluded by any former proceedings to which they were not parties from surcharging the administrator's accounts); Meadows v. Edwards, 46 Ala. 354.

A legatee who has prematurely received his legacy and participated with the executor in concealing assets is a proper party defendant in a bill by creditors for settlement of the estate. Handley v. Hufflin, 84 Ala. 600, 4 So. 725.

97. McDonald v. McDonald, 50 Ala. 26.

98. Heydenfeldt v. Towns, 27 Ala. 423.

99. Gist v. Cattell, 1 Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 343, holding that where a debt which increases the shares of certain distributees who assume it is subsequently released as being invalid, a court of equity will open the settlement, notwithstanding the creditors had received their shares and executed mutual releases.

1. Heydenfeldt v. Towns, 27 Ala. 423; Clarke v. Eureka County Bank, 116 Fed. 534.

2. Lehman v. Robertson, 84 Ala. 489, 4 So. 728; Watt v. Watt, 37 Ala. 543; Heydenfeldt v. Towns, 27 Ala. 423; Coughlin's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 343.

3. See McCune's Estate, 76 Mo. 200.

4. In re Swan, 54 Mo. App. 17.

5. Nicholls v. Hodge, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,231, 2 Cranch C. C. 582, holding that the creditors of an insolvent estate have a right to appeal from the decision of the orphans' court of Washington county, D. C., on the final settlement of the executor's account, to the circuit court of the District of Columbia.

such objections as have been waived below.[6] The appellate court may on reversal remand the cause for further proceedings.[7] The costs may be taxed against one of the parties[8] or apportioned among both.[9]

XIV. ACTIONS.

A. In What Capacity Suits By or Against Personal Representatives Brought — 1. Actions by Personal Representatives — a. General Rules Applicable to All Classes of Actions. On all causes of action, whether on contract or in tort, accruing during the lifetime of the testator or intestate, the executor or administrator must sue in his representative capacity and not otherwise,[10] except in the case of a note made payable to bearer of which the decedent was payee or transferee, or where a negotiable note of which the decedent was payee or indorsee, was indorsed by him in blank.[11] As regards causes of action arising subsequent to the death of the testator or intestate, it is well settled that the executor or administrator may sue in his individual capacity.[12] Only such causes of action as accrued during the lifetime of the decedent or upon contract made by him are of necessity to be prosecuted by the executors or administrators in their representative capacity.[13] So while there are some decisions (practically all of which have been overruled either expressly or by implication) holding that the representative can sue on such causes of action only in his individual capacity,[14] the rule seems to

A creditor whose claim is rejected at the final settlement of an insolvent estate of a deceased person cannot sue out a writ of error. Stout v. Ward, 10 Ala. 628.

6. Crothers v. Ross, 17 Ala. 816.

7. Weaver v. Weaver, 23 Ala. 789.

8. Timmons v. Rainey, (Tenn. Ch. App.) 55 S. W. 21.

9. Colton v. Field, 131 Ill. 398, 22 N. E. 545 [reversing 28 Ill. App. 354].

10. Arkansas.— Yarborough v. Ward, 34 Ark. 204.

Massachusetts.— Kent v. Bothwell, 152 Mass. 341, 25 N. E. 721, 9 L. R. A. 258.

New Jersey.—Stewart v. Richey, 17 N. J. L. 164.

New York.— Buckland v. Gallup, 105 N. Y. 453, 11 N. E. 843; Patchen v. Wilson, 4 Hill 57.

North Carolina.— Beaty v. Gingles, 53 N. C. 302.

Pennsylvania.— Kline v. Guthart, 2 Penr. & W. 490.

South Carolina.— Forrest v. Trommell, 1 Bailey 77.

Vermont.— Haskell v. Bowen, 44 Vt. 579.

Virginia.— Lawson v. Lawson, 16 Gratt. 230, 80 Am. Dec. 702.

Wisconsin.— Lawrence v. Vilas, 20 Wis. 401.

United States.— Kane v. Paul, 14 Pet. 33, 10 L. ed. 341.

England.—Gallant v. Bouteflower, 4 Dougl. 34, 26 E. C. L. 34; 1 Saunders 112; 3 Williams Ex. 1779.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1666.

In an action brought by an administrator for the wrongful death of his decedent plaintiff must sue in his representative character. Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Woodward, 4 Colo. 1.

11. See infra, XIV, A, 1, b, (I).

12. Arkansas.— Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425.

District of Columbia.—Campbell v. Wilson, 2 Mackey 497.

Georgia.—Wylly v. King, Ga. Dec. Pt. II, 7.

Kentucky.— Pringle v. Samuels, 1 Bibb 167.

Maine.— Carlisle v. Burley, 3 Me. 250.

New York.—Buckland v. Vallup, 105 N. Y. 453, 11 N. E. 843; Murray v. Church, 1 Hun 49 [affirmed in 58 N. Y. 621]; Holdridge v. Scott, 1 Lans. 303; Cheney v. Beale, 47 Barb. 523; Brown v. Motteler, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 439.

Oregon.— Sears v. Dailey, 43 Oreg. 346, 73 Pac. 5; Burrell v. Kern, 34 Oreg. 501, 56 Pac. 809.

Vermont.— Bates v. Sabin, 64 Vt. 511, 24 Atl. 1013.

Virginia.— Lawson v. Lawson, 16 Gratt. 230, 80 Am. Dec. 702.

Wisconsin.— Lawrence v. Vilas, 20 Wis. 380.

England.—Gallant v. Bouteflower, 3 Dougl. 34, 26 E. C. L. 34; Jenkins v. Plombe, 6 Mod. 181.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1668 et seq.

13. Buckland v. Gallant, 105 N. Y. 453, 11 N. E. 843.

The rule is not changed by a statute providing that an action by an executor or administrator upon a cause of action belonging to him in his representative capacity must be brought in his representative capacity. Buckland v. Gallup, 105 N. Y. 453, 11 N. E. 843; Bingham v. Marine Nat. Bank, 41 Hun (N. Y.) 377; Brown v. Motteler, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 439.

14. Helm v. Van Fleet, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 342, 12 Am. Dec. 248; Stewart v. Richey, 17 N. J. L. 164 [overruled in Myers v. Weger, 62 N. J. L. 432, 42 Atl. 280]; Kline v. Guthart, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 490 [criticized in Peries v. Aycinena, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 64]; Hosier v. Arundel, 3 B. & P. 7; Nicolas v. Killigrew, 1 Ld. Raym. 436; Betts v.

be well settled that if the fruits of the recovery will be assets the representative may declare either in his representative capacity or in his own name.[15] This rule applies equally whether the action is on tort[16] or contract[17] and whether the consideration flows from the decedent or the representative.[18] It has been held, however, under a code provision requiring suit to be brought in the name of the real party in interest that the personal representative must declare in his representative capacity, although the cause of action arose subsequent to decedent's death.[19]

b. Application of Rules to Particular Actions — (i) ACTIONS ON NOTES. Where a note is given to an executor or administrator in his representative capacity, he may sue on it in that capacity,[20] or in his individual capacity at his option without naming himself as executor or administrator.[21] For purposes of suits of representatives in their individual character, when a note is made pay-

Mitchell, 10 Mod. 316. And see Burhans v. Blanchard, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 626.

15. Arkansas.— Yarborough v. Ward, 34 Ark. 204.

Georgia.— Wylly v. King, Ga. Dec. Pt. II, 7.

Kentucky.—Brent v. Tivebaugh, 12 B. Mon. 87.

Massachusetts.— Mowry v. Adams, 14 Mass. 327.

New Jersey.— Myers v. Weger, 62 N. J. L. 432, 42 Atl. 280.

Oregon.— Burrell v. Kern, 34 Oreg. 501, 56 Pac. 809.

Vermont.— Hutchinson v. Ford, 62 Vt. 97, 18 Atl. 1044; Haskell v. Bowen, 44 Vt. 579.

Virginia.— Lawson v. Lawson, 16 Gratt. 230, 80 Am. Dec. 702.

United States.— Kane v. Paul, 14 Pet. 33, 10 L. ed. 341.

England.—Gallant v. Bouteflower, 3 Dougl. 34, 26 E. C. L. 34; Cowell v. Watts, 6 East 405.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1608 et seq.

Transfer of interest by surviving partner to executrix.— Where the survivor of two partners, as a part division of the assets of the firm, transferred his interest in an account of the firm to the executrix of the deceased partner, a suit upon the account was properly brought by her as such executrix. Lawrence v. Vilas, 20 Wis. 381; Roys v. Vilas, 18 Wis. 169.

Where money recovered not assets.—Where an executrix elected to take certain negroes as legatee under the will, and thereafter the negroes were hired out, plaintiff could not maintain an action for such hire as executrix, the hire belonging to her in her own right, since her recovery as executrix would prejudice the rights of her creditors. David v. Bell, Peck (Tenn.) 135.

16. Massachusetts.— Kent v. Bothwell, 152 Mass. 341, 25 N. E. 721, 9 L. R. A. 258.

Oregon.— Burrell v. Kern, 34 Oreg. 501, 56 Pac. 809.

Tennessee.— Lashlee v. Wily, 8 Humphr. 659.

Vermont.— Manwell v. Briggs, 17 Vt. 176.

Wisconsin.— Knox v. Bigelow, 15 Wis. 415.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1672.

17. Alabama.— James v. Johnson, 44 Ala. 629; Harbin v. Levi, 6 Ala. 399.

Arkansas.— Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425.

Georgia.— Daniel v. Hollingshead, 16 Ga. 190.

Indiana.— Sheets v. Pabody, 6 Blackf. 120, 38 Am. Dec. 132.

Missouri.— Mosman v. Bender, 80 Mo. 579. And see Holman v. Nance, 84 Mo. 674.

Pennsylvania.— Boggs v. Bard, 2 Rawle 102.

England.— Bull v. Palmer, 2 Lev. 165; Partridge v. Court, 5 Price 412; Powley v. Newton, 6 Taunt. 453, 1 E. C. L. 701; Thompson v. Stent, 1 Taunt. 322; King v. Thom, 1 T. R. 487.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1669.

18. Williams Ex. 763.

19. Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118 (action on judgment recovered by representation); Rogers v. Gooch, 87 N. C. 442 (action on bond given to representative).

20. Alabama.— James v. Johnson, 44 Ala. 629; Goodman v. Walker, 30 Ala. 482, 68 Am. Dec. 134.

Indiana.— Sheets v. Pabody, 6 Blackf. 120, 38 Am. Dec. 132.

Iowa.— Carleton v. Byington, 17 Iowa 579.

Missouri.— Rector v. Langham, 1 Mo. 568.

New York.— Merritt v. Seaman, 6 N. Y. 168.

Texas.— Groce v. Herndon, 2 Tex. 410.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1669.

21. Alabama.— McGehee v. Slater, 50 Ala. 431; James v. Johnson, 44 Ala. 629; Waldrop v. Pearson, 42 Ala. 636; Goodman v. Walker, 30 Ala. 482, 68 Am. Dec. 134.

Georgia.— Oglesby v. Gilmore, 5 Ga. 56.

Indiana.— Ratcliff v. Everman, 87 Ind. 446; Sheets v. Pabody, 6 Blackf. 120, 38 Am. Dec. 132; Barnes v. Modisett, 3 Blackf. 253; Savage v. Merian, 1 Blackf. 176.

Iowa.— Carleton v. Byington, 17 Iowa 579.

Mississippi.— Rucks v. Taylor, 49 Miss. 552; Eckford v. Hogan, 44 Miss. 398; Falls v. Wilson, 24 Miss. 168; Trotter v. White, 10 Sm. & M. 607; Laughman v. Thompson, 6 Sm. & M. 259; Carter v. Saunders, 2 How. 851.

Missouri.— Smith v. Monks, 55 Mo. 106; able to one as executor or administrator, the words "executor or administrator" may be regarded as merely descriptive of the person and may be rejected as surplusage.[22] So where notes or bills are indorsed or assigned to executors or administrators as such they may sue either in their representative[23] or individual capacity.[24] So an administrator or executor may sue in his own name upon a note payable to bearer where the decedent was payee,[25] or the note was transferred to him,[26] and it is immaterial that the time for payment had not arrived at the time of his death.[27] It is also immaterial whether the administrator is domestic or foreign.[28] He may also sue in his representative capacity on such note.[29] An executor or administrator may sue in his own right upon a negotiable note payable to decedent and indorsed by him in blank as if it were indorsed to

Thomas v. Relfe, 9 Mo. 377; Lacompte v. Seargent, 7 Mo. 351.

New York.— Litchfield v. Flint, 104 N. Y. 543, 11 N. E. 58; Merritt v. Seaman, 6 N. Y. 168; Reznor v. Webb, 36 How. Pr. 353.

Oregon.— Burrell v. Kern, 34 Oreg. 501, 56 Pac. 809.

Texas.— Moss v. Whitaker, 35 Tex. 388; Claiborne v. Yoeman, 15 Tex. 44; Butler v. Robertson, 11 Tex. 142; Groce v. Herndon, 2 Tex. 410; Gayle v. Ennis, 1 Tex. 184.

England.— Betts v. Mitchell, 10 Mod. 316.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1669.

But see Perkins v. Crabtree, 5 Ark. 475, holding that if the note or bond be executed to him as administrator or by the use of any other terms, clearly indicating the debt to be due the estate of the testator, then the administrator should sue on it in his representative capacity and the money when collected will be assets; but if the note be executed to him "administrator'" or "being administrator" then the law will hold it to be a note executed to him in his private right, such words operating as mere matter of description; and consequently suit can only be maintained on it in his own name.

Note given for purchase-price of goods.— An executor may sue in his own name without declaring in his representative character on a note given to him for the purchase-price of goods sold by him belonging to the estate of his testator (Evans v. Gordon, 8 Port. (Ala.) 346), so a note given by the resident of one state to the executor of another state for property purchased at a sale of his intestate's estate and accounted for in his final settlement becomes his property, and he may maintain an action thereon whether the sale was or was not made by authority of law (Dunlap v. Newman, 47 Ala. 429).

Where an instrument made payable to the estate of a deceased person and not to any person or persons by name is regarded as a promise to pay the executors of the deceased, there is no necessity for their suing in a representative capacity. Lyon v. Marshall, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 241.

22. James v. Johnson, 44 Ala. 629; Laycock v. Oleson, 60 Ill. 30. And see infra, XIV, K, 1, a, (I), (A), (1), (a), bb.

Unauthorized acceptance of note.— Where an administrator obtained a note of third persons before its maturity, in payment of a note secured by a vendor's lien on land, payable to his intestate, which be surrendered, it was held that, although he may not have been authorized to accept the note in payment, he paid a consideration for it, and it is immaterial whether he sues such third persons on the note in his character as administrator or otherwise. Brainerd v. Butte, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 44 S. W. 575.

23. King v. Thom, 1 T. R. 487.

24. Evans v. Gordon, 8 Port. (Ala.) 142; Rucks v. Taylor, 49 Miss. 552.

Suit prior to appointment of administrator.—Although the action be brought prior to the appointment of an administrator the taking upon himself of that trust by the person bringing the suit legalizes all his acts relative to the goods and credits committed to him from the decease of the intestate and he may proceed with the suit. Gage v. Johnson, 20 Me. 437.

25. Robinson v. Crandall, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 425.

26. Gage v. Johnson, 20 Me. 437; Bright v. Currie, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 433; Packer v. Willson, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 343; Floyd v. Brooks, 2 McCord (S. C.) 264; Sanford v. McCreedy, 28 Wis. 103. And see Patchen v. Wilson, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 57.

27. Patchen v. Wilson, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 57.

Reason for rule.— The property in as well as all the rights incident to a note, payable to bearer, is transferable by delivery, and amongst these, the right to sue is the most indisputable; and whether the natural import of the term itself or its legal consequence is considered the same result follows. It is in direct terms a promise to pay to the bearer and when once it passes out of the hands of the original payee it enters into the circulating medium of the country, becomes identified with it as a representative of coin, and like it is the property of him who has the legal possession and as an incident the right to sue is indispensable. Floyd v. Brooks, 2 McCord (S. C.) 364.

28. Bright v. Currie, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 433; Sanford v. McCreedy, 28 Wis. 103.

29. Floyd v. Brooks, 2 McCord (S. C.) 364.

Note not delivered until after intestate's death.— An administrator in his representative capacity may, it seems, maintain an action as bearer on a note payable to the intestate or bearer, although such note was not him individually.[30] If, however, the note has not been indorsed by the decedent or by the personal representative in his official capacity, he cannot recover upon it in his own name. He can sue on it only in his representative capacity.[31]

(II) Actions on Bonds. An executor or administrator may sue individually or in his representative character on a bond made payable to him individually,[32] and when a bond is executed to him in his representative capacity he may sue on it individually,[33] except in cases where by statute suit is required to be brought by the real party in interest.[34] So on a bond assigned to him in his representative capacity he may sue either in his individual[35] or representative capacity,[36] and he may sue in his representative capacity upon a bond running to the decedent.[37]

(III) Actions on Judgments. Administrators in their representative capacity may have an action on a judgment recovered by the intestate in his lifetime,[38] and where a judgment is recovered by an executor or administrator it is a debt due to him in his personal character and he may sue on it in his own name.[39] The rule is not affected by the fact that the judgment was recovered in a foreign state.[40] It has been held, however, that where a statute requires all actions to be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, an action by an administrator upon a judgment rendered in his favor as such must be brought by him in his representative capacity.[41]

(IV) Actions For Purchase-Price of Property Sold by Personal Representative. An action for the price of personal property belonging to the estate sold by the executor or administrator may be brought either in his individual[42] or representative capacity.[43] delivered until after the death of the intestate. But whether he could declare on such note as one given and payable to the intestate quære. Baxter v. Buck, 10 Vt. 548.

30. Barrett v. Barrett, 8 Me. 353 (holding further that if defendant has any matter of set-off against the estate of the decedent he may avail himself of it in defense of the action); Barlow v. Myers, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 286; Cooper v. Kerr, 3 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 606.

31. Woodbury v. Woodbury, 47 N. H. 11, 90 Am. Dec. 555.

32. Oliver v. Townsend, 16 Iowa 430.

33. Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425; Ayres v. Toland, 7 Harr. & J. (Md.) 3; Waddell v. Moore, 24 N. C. 261.

Suit on an appeal-bond may be brought by executors in their individual capacity, although it was given upon a judgment recovered by them as executors. Morris v. Hunken, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 129, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 712, which is decided on the ground that the undertaking is a contract. It has also been held that the action may be brought in a representative capacity. Sasscer v. Walker, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 102, 25 Am. Dec. 272.

34. Rogers v. Gooch, 87 N. C. 442.

35. Rucks v. Taylor, 49 Miss. 552.

36. McDonald v. Williams, 16 Ark. 36.

37. Webster v. Tibbits, 19 Wis. 438.

38. Wooster v. Bishop, 2 Root (Conn.) 230. And see Ireland v. Litchfield, 8 Bosw. (N. Y.) 634, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 178, holding that on the death of a plaintiff after final judgment in his favor his personal representatives may bring an action on the judgment to obtain the same relief as was obtainable by a writ of scire facias prior to the code.

39. Georgia.— Oglesby v. Gilmore, 5 Ga. 56.

Indiana.— Campbell v. Baldwin, 6 Blatchf. 364.

Massachusetts.— Talmadge v. Chapel, 16 Mass. 71.

Vermont.— Adams v. Campbell, 4 Vt. 447.

United States.— Biddle v. Wilkins, 1 Pet. 686, 7 L. ed. 315.

England.— Crawford v. Whittal, Dougl. (3d ed.) 4 note; Large v. Attwood, 1 D. & R. 551, 16 E. C. L. 55; Bonafous v. Walker, 2 T. R. 126.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1667.

40. Tittman v. Thornton, 107 Mo. 500, 17 S. W. 979, 16 L. R. A. 410; Hall v. Harrison, 21 Mo. 277, 64 Am. Dec. 225; Nichols v. Smith, 7 Hun (N. Y.) 580; Bright v. Currie, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 433; Lawrence v. Lawrence, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 71.

41. Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118.

42. Laycock v. Oleson, 60 Ill. 30; Thompson v. Whitmarsh, 100 N. Y. 35, 2 N. E. 273; Gross v. Gross, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 385, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 219 [affirming 25 Misc. 297, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 572]; Aiken v. Bridgeman, 37 Vt. 249; Brassington v. Ault, 2 Bing. 177, 9 E. C. L. 534, 1 C. & P. 302, 12 E. C. L. 181, 3 L. J. C. P. O. S. 243, 9 Moore C. P. 340, 27 Rev. Rep. 581; Heath v. Chilton, 13 L. J. Exch. 225, 12 M. & W. 632.

43. Eagle v. Fox, 28 Barb. (N. Y.) 473, 8 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 40. But see Kline v. Guthart, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 490.

(v) Actions on Contracts With Respect to Real Estate. A personal representative may sue in his individual capacity on his contract in regard to the real estate of the decedent.[44] Thus, where a person holding lands as administrator has leased them, he can recover the rents in his own name.[45]

(vi) Actions to Recover Money Paid by Mistake. Where a personal representative has paid out money of the estate he may recover it back in a suit brought in his individual capacity,[46] and it has also been held that such action may be properly brought in a representative capacity.[47]

(vii) Actions For Money Paid by Decedent as Surety. Where a personal representative pays a debt for which the decedent was surety, he may recover in an action either in his own name[48] or in his representative capacity.[49]

(viii) Actions to Recover Land or For Injuries Thereto. Whenever an executor or administrator is entitled to possession of land, he may maintain an action in his individual capacity for a trespass committed thereon since the decedent's death;[50] but for a trespass committed during the decedent's lifetime he must sue in his representative capacity.[51] If the complaint shows that he is by inheritance the sole owner of the land, the action must be brought in his individual and not in his representative capacity.[52] To recover possession of the land, he may bring an action of unlawful detainer either in his representative or individual capacity,[53] so to recover possession he may bring in his representative capacity ejectment,[54] trespass to try title,[55] or a writ or entry.[56] For an interference with an incorporeal hereditament (such as a right to use a pew) he may declare in his representative capacity, or it seems in his own name, without setting up his representative character.[57]

(ix) Actions For Injury to or Conversion of Property After Decedent's Death. Where personal property of the testator or intestate is injured or converted after his death, the executor or administrator may sue on the cause of action arising therefrom in his individual capacity.[58] After the death of the testator or intestate, the executor or administrator acquires a special right in the personal property and may declare as any other person upon his own

44. Loew v. Christ, 13 N. Y. App. Div. 624, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 963.

45. Yarborough v. Ward, 34 Ark. 204; Kingsland v. Ryckman, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 13.

Construction of complaint.— Where executors in their representative capacity brought assumpsit for the use and occupation of a farm described as "land and appurtenances of the plaintiffs, held by the defendant at the special instance and request, and by the sufferance and permission, of the plaintiffs" and no count in the declaration disclosed any contract made with the testator in his lifetime, and there was no allegation that the rent was not paid to him in his lifetime, it was held that the action must be deemed to be brought by the executors in their individual capacity. Fesmire v. Brock, 25 Ark. 20.

46. Rogers v. Weaver, Wright (Ohio) 174, in which it was said that he is personally responsible for the money and has a corresponding personal right to recover it back.

47. Phillips v. McConica, 59 Ohio St. 1, 51 N. E. 445, 69 Am. St. Rep. 753, in which it was said that an executor is always a proper party to maintain an action to recover money belonging to the estate.

48. Mowry v. Adams, 14 Mass. 327; Williams v. Moore, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 432; O'Brian v. Coskrey, 4 Yeates (Pa.) 105.

49. Williams v. Moore, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 432; Mowry v. Adams, 14 Mass. 327.

50. Smith v. Smith, 11 N. H. 459.

51. Kennerly v. Wilson, 1 Md. 102.

52. Taylor v. Fickas, 64 Ind. 167, 31 Am. Rep. 114.

53. Spear v. Lomax, 42 Ala. 576.

54. Chauncy v. Brown, 99 Ga. 766, 26 S. E. 763.

55. Thompson v. Duncan, 1 Tex. 485.

56. Pierce v. Strickland, 26 Me. 277.

57. Perrin v. Granger, 33 Vt. 101.

58. New Jersey.— Stewart v. Richey, 17 N. J. L. 164.

New York.— Patchen v. Wilson, 4 Hill 57; Valentine v. Jackson, 9 Wend. 302.

South Carolina.— Carter v. Estes, 11 Rich. 363; Guphill v. Isbell, 8 Rich. 463; Kerby v. Quinn, Rice 264.

Tennessee.— Lashlee v. Wily, 8 Humphr. 659.

Vermont.— Manwell v. Briggs, 17 Vt. 176; Trask v. Donoghue, 1 Aik. 370.

Wisconsin.— Knox v. Bigelow, 15 Wis. 415.

United States.— White v. Pulley, 27 Fed. 436.

England.— Fraser v. Swansea Canal Nav. Co., 1 A. & E. 354, 3 L. J. K. B. 153, 3 N. & M. 391, 28 E. C. L. 177.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1672.

property, when injured or converted by another.[59] It has accordingly been held that he may maintain in his individual capacity, trover,[60] replevin,[61] detinue,[62] and trespass.[63] Nevertheless it does not follow from what has been said that the executor or administrator is bound to sue in his individual capacity; on the contrary, the weight of authority is that he may sue in his representative capacity, it being optional with him in which capacity the action shall be instituted.[64] To entitle a personal representative to maintain an action for injury to or conversion of personal property whether in his individual or representative capacity, it is not necessary that he should have had actual possession thereof at the time the cause of action arose,[65] but such action may be maintained, although the injury or conversion occurred between the time of decedent's death and the granting of letters of administration.[66] The legal effect of granting such letters is to vest in the administrator the legal estate in the personal property and this relates back to the time of the death of the decedent.[67] So an administrator may sue in his own right for the conversion of goods acquired after the death of the intestate.[68]

c. Actions on Contracts Involving Unauthorized Use of Assets by Personal Representative. Where a personal representative by contract makes an unauthor-

59. Anderson v. Wilson, 13 Ark. 409; Valentine v. Jackson, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 302, 303, in which it was further said: "This is an inevitable deduction from the fact of the existence of the right of property and possession consequent upon the executorship. It is the individual possession, actual or constructive, of the executor that is violated by the injury to the property, and the redress may be in the same capacity."

60. California.—Ham v. Henderson, 50 Cal. 367.

Maine.— Carlisle v. Burley, 3 Me. 250.

Massachusetts.— Foster v. Gorton, 5 Pick. 185; Towle v. Lovet, 6 Mass. 394.

New York.— Valentine v. Jackson, 9 Wend. 302; Barker v. Baker, 5 Cow. 267.

North Carolina.—Satterwhite v. Carson, 25 N. C. 549.

South Carolina.— Carter v. Estes, 11 Rich. 363; Guphill v. Isbell, 8 Rich. 463; Kerby v. Quinn, Rice 264.

Tennessee.— Lashlee v. Wily, 8 Humphr. 659.

Vermont.— Manwell v. Briggs, 17 Vt. 176.

England.— Fraser v. Swansea Canal Nav. Co., 1 A. & E. 354, 3 L. J. K. B. 153, 3 N. & M. 391, 28 E. C. L. 177; Hollis v. Smith, 10 East 293.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1672.

61. Branch v. Branch, 6 Fla. 314; Kent v. Bothwell, 152 Mass. 341, 25 N. E. 721, 9 L. R. A. 258; People v. Judges Albany Mayor's Ct., 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 486.

62. Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540.

63. Knox v. Bigelow, 15 Wis. 415.

64. Arkansas.— Anderson v. Wilson, 13 Ark. 409.

Florida.— Branch v. Branch, 6 Fla. 314.

Massachusetts.— Kent v. Bothwell, 152 Mass. 341, 25 N. E. 721, 9 L. R. A. 258.

Michigan.— Gilkey v. Hamilton, 22 Mich. 283.

New York.—Singleton v. Smith, 2 N. Y. St. 173.

North Carolina.— Berry v. Pulliam, 2 N. C. 16.

Tennessee.— Lashlee v. Wily, 8 Humphr. 659.

Vermont.— Manwell v. Briggs, 17 Vt. 176.

Wisconsin.— Knox v. Bigelow, 15 Wis. 415.

England.—Agnes v. Cheverel, Cro. Jac. 113.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1672.

But see Stewart v. Richey, 17 N. J. L. 164, holding that the executor or administrator should not sue in his representative capacity. This decision, however, seems to be overruled in Myers v. Weger, 62 N. J. L. 432, 42 Atl. 280.

65. Kent v. Bothwell, 152 Mass. 341, 25 N. E. 721, 9 L. R. A. 258; Agnes v. Cheverel, Cro. Jac. 113; Hollis v. Smith, 10 East 293; Grimstead v. Shirley, 2 Taunt. 116; Williams Ex. & Adm. 762. Contra, Cockerill v. Kynaston, 4 T. R. 277, holding that if the goods which were the subject of the action were never in the actual possession of the executor or administrator it is absolutely necessary for him to declare in that character.

66. California.—Ham v. Henderson, 50 Cal. 367; Jahns v. Nolting, 29 Cal. 507.

New York.— Valentine v. Jackson, 9 Wend. 302.

North Carolina.—Satterwhite v. Carson, 25 N. C. 549.

South Carolina.— Kerby v. Quinn, Rice 264.

Vermont.— Manwell v. Briggs, 17 Vt. 176.

Wisconsin.— Knox v. Bigelow, 15 Wis. 415.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1672.

67. Valentine v. Jackson, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 302; Satterwhite v. Carson, 25 N. C. 549; Kerby v. Quinn, Rice (S. C.) 264. The action is made to rest on the representative's right of property which draws after it the right of possession. Kent v. Bothwell, 152 Mass. 341, 25 N. E. 721, 9 L. R. A. 258. And see Hollis v. Smith, 10 East 293; Bollard v. Spencer, 7 T. R. 358.

68. White v. Pulley, 27 Fed. 436.

ized use of the money or choses in action of the estate this amounts to a conversion for which he is personally liable, and he may sue on the contract in his own name,[69] and it has been held that the action can only be brought in his individual capacity.[70] If, however, the administrator has settled the estate and has been discharged without having been charged with the proceeds of such a contract then he can maintain no action on such contracts or claims, and the right to sue passes to the succeeding administrator.[71]

d. Where Representative Has Been Charged With or Has Accounted For Proceeds of Contract. Where an administrator has been charged with or has accounted for the proceeds of contracts made with the decedent,[72] or with him in his representative character,[73] he may sue individually thereon.

e. Where Representative Is Sole Beneficiary. Where there are no outstanding debts against the estate and the executrix is the sole devisee and legatee, she may consider herself as holding the property not as executrix but in her own right and may sue for it on that theory.[74]

2. Actions Against Personal Representatives — a. General Rules Applicable to All Classes of Action. The general rule is that no action will lie against an executor or administrator in his representative character except upon some claim or demand which existed against the testator or intestate in his lifetime, and that if a claim or demand wholly accrued in the time of the executor or administrator, he is liable therefor only in his personal character.[75] Nevertheless it has been frequently held that, whatever property or money is lawfully recovered or received by an executor or administrator after the death of the testator or intestate in virtue of his representative character, he holds as assets of the estate and that he is liable therefor in such representative character to the party who has a good title thereto,[76] or may be charged de bonis propriis with the money or property so received.[77] The fact that an action is brought against administrators as indi-

69. Dickson v. McLarney, 97 Ala. 383, 12 So. 398; Collins v. Greene, 67 Ala. 211. And see Bates v. Sabin, 64 Vt. 511, 24 Atl. 1013.

70. Thornton v. Smiley, 1 Ill. 34 (unauthorized loan); Ketchum v. Morrell, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 58 (unauthorized loan). Compare Bond v. Corbett, 2 Minn. 248 (in which it was held (nothing being said as to the right of the administrator to make a loan) that an administrator who loans money belonging to the estate may sue for it either in his representative or private capacity), and Parks v. Mockenhaupt, 133 Cal. 424, 65 Pac. 875 (apparently holding that where an administrator borrowed money in his individual capacity pledging certificates of stock belonging to the estate, he may maintain replevin therefor in his official capacity, although the money was used in part to pay debts of the estate).

Effect of resignation or removal.— A personal representative who has loaned money or choses in action of the estate without authority to do so may sue on the contract in his own name, notwithstanding he has resigned or been removed from the administration, unless it be shown that he has in some way been discharged from the liability thus incurred. Tomkies v. Reynolds, 17 Ala. 109.

71. Collins v. Greene, 67 Ala. 211.

72. Lyons v. Doherty, 50 Mo. 38.

73. Dickson v. McLarney, 97 Ala. 383, 12 So. 398.

74. Ewers v. White, 114 Mich. 266, 72 N. W. 184.

75. Malone v. Davis, 67 Cal. 279, 7 Pac. 703; Myer v. Cole, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 349. "Nothing is better settled than that an executor or administrator, is answerable in his official character, for no cause of action that was not created by the act of the decedent himself. In actions against the personal representative on his own contract and engagements, though made for the benefit of the estate, the judgment is de bonis propriis; and he is, by every principle of legal analogy, to answer it with his personal property." Seip v. Drach, 14 Pa. St. 352, 356. And see infra, XIV, A, 2, b, (II), (B), (C).

76. Thurston v. Doane, 47 Me. 79; De Valengin v. Duffy, 14 Pet. (U. S.) 282, 10 L. ed. 457; Duffy v. Neale, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,119, Taney 271. And see Conger v. Atwood, 28 Ohio St. 134, 22 Am. Rep. 462.

77. Call v. Houdlette, 70 Me. 308; In re Galloway, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 32, 34 Am. Dec. 209; De Valengin v. Duffy, 14 Pet. (U. S.) 282, 10 L. ed. 457; Duffy v. Neale, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,119, Taney 271.

Where a factor sells goods of his principal in his own name upon a credit and dies before the money is received, if it is afterward paid to the administrator in his representative character, the creditor is entitled to consider it as assets in his hands and to charge him in the same character in which he received it. De Valengin v. Duffy, 14 Pet. (U. S.) 282, 10 L. ed. 457.

viduals does not prevent them from claiming to have acted in their representative character.[78]

b. Actions on Contracts — (I) Of Decedent. In actions against administrators and executors founded upon contracts made by the testator or intestate defendant must be sued in his representative character, and the judgment will not be against him personally but de bonis testatoris.[79]

(II) Of Personal Representative — (A) On Consideration Arising During Decedent's Lifetime. Where the consideration for the promise of the personal representative arises during the lifetime of the decedent, he may be sued thereon in his representative capacity.[80]

(B) On New and Independent Consideration. Contracts of executors and administrators, although made in the interest and for the benefit of the estate they represent, if made upon a new and independent consideration moving between their promisee and themselves, are their personal contracts, which do not bind the estate, and they must be sued on these contracts in their individual and not in their representative capacity.[81] The fact that they are described in the

An executor or administrator who enters upon leasehold property held by the testator or intestate in his lifetime, or who receives the rents and profits thereof, is chargeable in the debet and detinet directly on the covenant of the lessee as an assignee, and need not be named executor, etc. In re Galloway, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 32, 34 Am. Dec. 209.

Effect of laches enforcing claim.— An administrator who collects money upon a judgment founded on a suit in the name of his intestate is not individually liable to another for a share thereof belonging to such other person, unless before he appropriates the same to the use of the estate he has notice not to pay it over or unless in paying it over he has acted in bad faith. Call v. Houdlette, 70 Me. 308.

78. Bryant v. Bryant, 2 Rob. (N. Y.) 612.

79. Melone v. Davis, 67 Cal. 279, 7 Pac. 703; Ferrin v. Myrick, 41 N. Y. 315; Compton v. Whitehouse, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 208; Waldsmith v. Waldsmith, 2 Ohio 156; Sedam v. Shaffer, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 529; Masterson v. Masterson, 5 Rawle (Pa.) 137.

In order to bind the estate of a deceased person by judgment, the representative thereof must be sued in his representative capacity. Lewis v. Nichols, 38 Tex. 54.

Taxes due from deceased.— An action cannot be maintained against an executrix in her personal capacity for taxes due from the deceased during his lifetime, and, if the executrix is liable in any event, it is only in her representative capacity. Eno v. Cornish, Kirby (Conn.) 296.

80. Vaughn v. Gardner, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 326; Gillet v. Hutchinson, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 184; Howard v. Powers, 6 Ohio 92; Wilkings v. Murphey, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,663, 3 N. C. 282.

81. Alabama.— Spotswood v. Bently, 132 Ala. 266, 31 So. 445; Daily v. Daily, 66 Ala. 266; Humes v. Farris, 48 Ala. 615; Godbold v. Roberts, 20 Ala. 354; McEldery v. McKenzie, 2 Port. 33, 27 Am. Dec. 643; Greening v. Sheffield, Minor 276.

Arkansas.— Tucker v. Grace, 61 Ark. 410, 33 S. W. 530.

California.— Schlicker v. Hemenway, 110 Cal. 579, 42 Pac. 1063, 52 Am. St. Rep. 116; Melone v. Davis, 67 Cal. 279, 7 Pac. 703; In re Page, 57 Cal. 238; Gurnee v. Maloney, 38 Cal. 85, 99 Am. Dec. 352; Dwinelle v. Henriquez, 1 Cal. 387.

Georgia.— Clarke v. Alexander, 71 Ga. 500.

Kansas.— Getty v. Larkin, 59 Kan. 548, 53 Pac. 755.

Kentucky.— Moody v. Ewing, 8 B. Mon. 521; Heasley v. Dunn, 5 B. Mon. 145.

Maine.— Walker v. Patterson, 36 Me. 273; Davis v. French, 20 Me. 21, 37 Am. Dec. 36.

Massachusetts.— Sumner v. Williams, 8 Mass. 162, 5 Am. Dec. 83.

New Jersey.— Sibbit v. Lloyd, 11 N. J. L. 163.

New York.— O'Brien v. Jackson, 167 N. Y. 31, 60 N. E. 238; Parker v. Day, 155 N. Y. 383, 49 N. E. 1046; Van Slooten v. Dodge, 145 N. Y. 327, 39 N. E. 950; Austin v. Munroe, 47 N. Y. 360; Ferrin v. Myrick, 41 N. Y. 315; Saperstein v. Ullman, 49 N. Y. App. Div. 446, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 626 [affirmed in 168 N. Y. 636, 61 N. E. 553]; Ross v. Harden, 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 26; Ross v. Harden, 42 N. Y. Super Ct. 427; Cary v. Gregory, 38 N. Y. Super. Ct. 127; Reynolds v. Reynolds, 3 Wend. 244; Demont v. Field, 7 Cow. 58; Myer v. Cole, 12 Johns. 349.

North Carolina.— Beaty v. Gingles, 53 N. C. 302.

Ohio.— Waldsmith v. Waldsmith, 2 Ohio 156. And see Connell v. Brumback, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 502, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 149.

Pennsylvania.— Seip v. Drach, 14 Pa. St. 352; Beeson v. McNabb, 2 Pa. St. 422; Fritz v. Thomas, 1 Whart. 66, 29 Am. Dec. 39; Masterson v. Masterson, 5 Rawle 137; Grier v. Huston, 8 Serg. & R. 402, 11 Am. Dec. 627; Geyer v. Smith, 1 Dall. 347, 1 L. ed. 169.

South Carolina.— Pearce v. Smith, 2 Brev. 360, 4 Am. Dec. 588.

Tennessee.— Bedford v. Ingram, 5 Hayw. 155.

England.— Brigden v. Parkes, 2 B. & P. 424; Wheeler v. Collier, Cro. Eliz. 406; Rose v. Bowler, 1 H. Bl. 108; Jennings v. Newman, contract as personal representatives does not affect the rule,[82] and although they are named in the declaration or complaint as personal representatives, this will be considered merely descriptio personæ, which will be treated as surplusage or as intended to show the nature and origin of their liability. It cannot affect the form of the judgment.[83] Accordingly personal representatives must be sued in their individual capacity on notes[84] or bonds[85] executed by them, or on bills of exchange drawn by them,[86] or on drafts accepted by them,[87] or on contracts made by them for the payment for services of an attorney.[88] So a personal representative cannot be sued as such, either for money had and received by him,[89] money lent to him,[90] or on an account stated of money due from him as executor.[91] A personal representative must be sued in his individual capacity for work and labor performed at his request in his representative capacity,[92] and he is liable indi-

4 T. R. 347; Barry v. Rush, 1 T. R. 691, 1 Rev. Rep. 360.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1683, 1684.

Reason for rule.— He has the title to the personal estate. He has no principal behind him for whom he can contract as agent. This is the policy of the law. The estate in the personalty is given, by the law, directly to the administrator. For the purpose of use and sale the title vests in him and he is held responsible as owner. As owner, he must account to the persons ultimately entitled to distribution and as owner he sells, disposes, and contracts as his judgment dictates. These considerations fix the liability for the debt in question upon the administrators personally, and not upon the estate. Ferrin v. Myrick, 41 N. Y. 315.

82. Melone v. Ruffino, 129 Cal. 514, 62 Pac. 93, 79 Am. St. Rep. 127; Winthrop v. Jarvis, 8 La. Ann. 434; Walker v. Patterson, 36 Me. 273; Patterson v. Craig, 1 Baxt. (Tenn.) 291.

83. Melone v. Davis, 67 Cal. 279, 7 Pac. 703; Waldsmith v. Waldsmith, 2 Ohio 156.

84. Christian v. Morris, 50 Ala. 585; Orne v. Ritchie, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 231; Waldsmith v. Waldsmith, 2 Ohio 156; Childs v. Monins, 2 B. & B. 460, 5 Moore C. P. 282, 23 Rev. Rep. 513, 6 E. C. L. 228.

85. Patterson v. Craig, 1 Baxt. (Tenn.) 291; Barry v. Rush, 1 T. R. 691, 1 Rev. Rep. 360.

86. Kirkman v. Benham, 28 Ala. 501.

87. Wisdom v. Becker, 52 Ill. 342.

88. Pike v. Thomas, 62 Ark. 223, 35 S. W. 212, 54 Am. St. Rep. 292; Tucker v. Grace, 61 Ark. 410, 33 S. W. 530; Austin v. Munro, 47 N. Y. 360; Genet v. De Graaf, 27 N. Y. App. Div. 238, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 442; Hurd v. Wheeling, etc., R. Co., 6 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 545, 4 Ohio N. P. 404. But see Williams v. Walker, 31 Ga. 195 (in which it was held that where one of two executors named in a will qualified and employed the services of an attorney in behalf of the estate, and he died, and the other executor subsequently qualified, the attorney should recover his fees in an action at law against the second executor in his representative capacity. It was said that while there was no individual liability attaching to defendant, the estate he represents is responsible, there being no dispute as to the value of the services); Jackson v. Leech, 113 Mich. 391, 71 N. W. 846 (holding that, under a statute providing that an executor shall be allowed all the necessary expenses in the care, management, and settlement of the estate, and for his services such fees as the law provides together with all extra expenses, an executor may bind the estate for the payment of a reasonable compensation for the services of an attorney. Two judges dissenting).

89. Delaware.— Wilson v. Harvey, 3 Harr. 500.

Kentucky.— Moody v. Ewing, 8 B. Mon. 521; Montgomery v. Armstrong, 5 J. J. Marsh. 175.

Massachusetts.— Cronan v. Cotting, 99 Mass. 334; Farrelly v. Ladd, 10 Allen 127.

North Carolina.— Hailey v. Wheeler, 49 N. C. 159.

England.— Ashby v. Ashby, 7 B. & C. 444, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 41, 1 M. & R. 180, 31 Rev. Rep. 242, 14 E. C. L. 202; Rose v. Bowler, 1 H. Bl. 108.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1683.

A person who has paid money on an erroneous judgment may, after it is reversed, bring an action to recover it back against the parties who received it, personally, although they received the money as executors. Scholey v. Halsey, 72 N. Y. 578.

Where money is paid an administrator by mistake, and he gives a receipt in his representative character, the action to recover it back must be brought against him personally. Grier v. Huston, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 402, 11 Am. Dec. 627.

Where an administrator knowingly receives and enacts usury on debts due his intestate he is personally liable to refund in an action of assumpsit, although he may have settled his accounts and accounted for it to those entitled to the estate. Heasley v. Dunn, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 145. But in order to charge him personally it must be shown that he accepted the money with knowledge of the usury. Ossiper v. Gafney, 56 N. H. 352.

90. Ashby v. Ashby, 7 B. & C. 444, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 41, 1 M. & R. 180, 31 Rev. Rep. 242, 14 E. C. L. 202; Rose v. Bowler, 1 H. Bl. 108.

91. Rose v. Bowler, 1 H. Bl. 108.

92. Myer v. Cole, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 349.

vidually for goods furnished at his request.[93] So according to many decisions, notwithstanding it is his duty to pay such expenses from the estate, an administrator or executor should be sued in his individual capacity on contracts made by him for funeral or burial expenses of the decedent,[94] although there are decisions which seem to maintain the contrary view.[95]

(c) On Promise in Consideration of Assets. And where a personal representative promises that in consideration of having assets he will pay a claim against the decedent, he may be sued in his individual capacity and a judgment rendered de bonis propriis,[96] or he may be sued in his representative capacity and a judgment rendered de bonis testatoris.[97] Nevertheless, when sued in his personal capacity, he is not bound to pay the debts of the decedent beyond the assets which he received, nor will his written promise to do so make him liable unless founded on other sufficient consideration.[98]

(d) Where Will Gives Representative Authority to Make Contracts. Where an executor is empowered by will to make contracts in respect to the management and control of the estate he may be sued in his representative capacity thereon.[99]

e. Actions Based on Tort — (i) In General. For torts committed by a personal representative while acting in his representative capacity he must in general be sued in his individual and not in his representative capacity.[1] No action can

93. Daily v. Daily, 66 Ala. 266.

94. Ferrin v. Myrick, 41 N. Y. 315; Murphy v. Naughton, 68 Hun (N. Y.) 424, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 52; Demott v. Field, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 58; Myer v. Cole, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 349; Smith v. Teacle, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 150.

95. Hapgood v. Houghton, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 154; Patterson v. Buchanan, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 493, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 179, 29 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 238; Riley v. Waller, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 63, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 535; Lucy v. Walrond, 3 Bing. N. Cas. 841, 3 Hodges 215, 6 L. J. C. P. 290, 5 Scott 46, 32 E. C. L. 386; Rogers v. Price, 3 Y. & J. 28.

Under special statutory provisions.— Under a statute placing funeral expenses among debts to be first paid out of the estate and providing that an action for them may be brought against an executor, even within the six months which is generally allowed him to examine into the condition of the estate, an action will lie for such expenses against the executor in his representative capacity. Campfield v. Ely, 13 N. J. L. 150.

96. Carter v. Thomas, 3 Ind. 213; Sleighter v. Harrington, 4 N. C. 679, 7 Am. Dec. 715; Malin v. Bull, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 441; Hawkes v. Saunders, 1 Cowp. 289; Atkins v. Hill, 1 Cowp. 284; Trewinian v. Howell, Cro. Eliz. 91.

97. Forbes v. Perrie, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 109; Dixon v. Ramsay, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,932, 1 Cranch C. C. 472; Faxon v. Dyson, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,705, 1 Cranch C. C. 441. See also Pole v. Simmons, 49 Md. 14.

Promise to pay legacy.— An action may be brought against a personal representative individually on his promise and consideration of assets to pay a legacy (Clark v. Herring, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 33; Kayser v. Disher, 9 Leigh (Va.) 357; Hawkes v. Saunders, 1 Cowp. 289), or it may be brought against him in his representative capacity (Foulk v. Brown, 2 Watts (Pa.) 209; Hawkes v. Saunders, supra). Contra, Kayser v. Disher, 9 Leigh (Va.) 357.

Where a promise is merely implied, the action, it has been held, must be brought against the personal representative in his capacity as such. Courtney v. Hunter, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,285, 1 Cranch C. C. 265.

98. Byrd v. Holloway, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 199.

99. Wade v. Pope, 44 Ala. 690 (holding that if the will gives a trustee and executor authority to contract debts for expenses incidental to the management of the estate he represents he is liable at law for such debts in his representative capacity); Ingham v. Ryan, 18 Colo. App. 347, 71 Pac. 899 (holding that where a will gave an executor power to sell land and he entered into a contract authorizing an agent to sell a portion thereof, promising him a commission therefor, and the agent secured a purchaser to whom a conveyance was executed, he might maintain an action against the executor as such for his services). And see Bostwick v. Beach, 103 N. Y. 414, 9 N. E. 41, in which it was held that where a will authorizes a sale of the real estate the executor might be sued in his representative capacity for specific performance. But see O'Brien v. Jackson, 167 N. Y. 31, 60 N. E. 238 [reversing 42 N. Y. App. Div. 171, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 1044], in which it was held that notwithstanding such testamentary powers, an action would not lie against the executor in his representative capacity, but in which it was further said that if the complaint stated a good cause of action in equity, the judgment might be suffered to stand for whatever it was worth in any subsequent proceeding taken to reach the trust estate.

1. Burdine v. Roper, 7 Ala. 466; Warren v. Banning, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 883; Wengert v. Beashore, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 232; Gordon be maintained against a personal representative as such for malfeasance or misfeasance or for a tort.[2]

(II) ACTIONS FOR CONVERSION OR DETENTION OF PROPERTY. If a personal representative takes property not belonging to the estate, he has no right to it in his representative capacity. His refusal to restore it to the rightful owner renders him individually liable, and he cannot be sued in his representative capacity for his individual tort.[3] A personal representative is liable in his individual capacity even though the property has passed from the possession of the decedent into his possession,[4] and according to a number of decisions he may under these circumstances be sued also in his representative capacity.[5]

v. Robinson, 1 Browne (Pa.) 325; Boston Beef Packing Co. v. Stevens, 12 Fed. 279, 20 Blatchf. 443.

Application of rule.— Thus an action must be brought against a personal representative in his individual capacity for injuries caused by his neglect to repair a street (Eustace v. Jahns, 38 Cal. 3), by his failure to keep in repair a building leased by him, as executor (Boston Beef Packing Co. v. Stevens, 12 Fed. 279, 20 Blatchf. 443), or managed and controlled by him as executor (Deschler v. Franklin, 20 Ohio Cir. Ct. 56, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 188), for a trespass committed by him on another's land (Gordon v. Robinson, 1 Browne (Pa.) 325), for injuries resulting to a purchaser of land of an estate from concealment and misrepresentations of a personal representative (Warren v. Banning, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 883), for a malicious prosecution (Wengert v. Beashore, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 232), or for neglect or refusal to pay over as ordered by a decree of distribution a distributive share of the estate (Melone v. Davis, 67 Cal. 279, 7 Pac. 703; Morrow v. Brenizer, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 185; Williams v. Davis, 18 Wis. 115). An executrix, however, in a suit to recover a legacy is only liable to the extent of the property which came into her hands and which had been appropriated wrongfully to her own use. Hawkins v. Forrest, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 167.

2. Eustace v. Jahns, 38 Cal. 3.

3. Alabama.— Hunnicutt v. Higginbotham, 138 Ala. 472, 35 So. 469, 100 Am. St. Rep. 45; Daily v. Daily, 66 Ala. 266; Prater v. Stinson, 26 Ala. 456; Sims v. Canfield, 2 Ala. 555.

Indiana.— Davis v. Schmidt, (App. 1892) 31 N. E. 840.

Maryland.— Smith v. Wood, 31 Md. 293.

New York.— Van Slooten v. Dodge, 145 N. Y. 327, 39 N. E. 950 [reversing 76 Hun 55, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 666]; Anderson v. Thomson, 38 Hun 394.

Tennessee.— Cocke v. Trotter, 10 Yerg. 213.

Virginia.— Royall v. Eppes, 2 Munf. 479.

United States.— De Valengin v. Duffy, 14 Pet. 282, 10 L. ed. 457. And see Harrison v. Perea, 168 U. S. 311, 18 S. Ct. 129, 42 L. ed. 478 [affirming 7 N. M. 666, 41 Pac. 529].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1687.

But see Schmitt v. Jacques, 26 Tex. Civ. App. 125, 62 S. W. 956.

4. Alabama.— Brewer v. Strong, 10 Ala. 961, 44 Am. Dec. 514.

Delaware.— Walter v. Miller, 1 Harr. 7.

Georgia.— Yeldell v. Shinholster, 15 Ga. 189.

Louisiana.— Warren v. Saltenberer, 6 La. Ann. 351.

South Carolina.— Elmore v. Elmore, 58 S. C. 289, 36 S. E. 656, 51 L. R. A. 261.

Tennessee.— Norment v. Smith, 1 Humphr. 46.

Texas.— Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130.

Virginia.— Catlett v. Russell, 6 Leigh 344; Newsum v. Newsum, 1 Leigh 86, 19 Am. Dec. 739.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1687.

And see Pryor v. Morgan, 170 Pa. St. 568, 33 Atl. 98; Michener v. Dale, 23 Pa. St. 59, holding that where property given plaintiff by intestate was surrendered to the administrator by her on demand without her disclaiming or making a gift or sale to the administrator she may waive the tort and bring suit in assumpsit for the value of the property against the administrator either in his individual or representative capacity. But see Scott v. Key, 9 La. Ann. 213, holding that an action to recover property from an administrator on the ground that his intestate never had title thereto should be against the administrator in his official capacity and against the heirs of the intestate.

5. Alabama.— Brewer v. Strong, 10 Ala. 961, 44 Am. Dec. 514; Nations v. Hawkins, 11 Ala. 859, holding that under a statute declaring that the action of trover shall survive for or against an executor or administrator they are subjected to that form of action in their representative capacity where a conversion had taken place in the lifetime of the decedent.

Kentucky.— Gentry v. McKehen, 5 Dana 34.

Minnesota.— Pabst Brewing Co. v. Small, 83 Minn. 445, 86 N. W. 450, holding that where an executor takes possession of real property held by testator, which he is authorized by statute to do, ejectment may be brought against him in his representative capacity.

New York.— Moran v. Morrill, 78 N. Y. App. Div. 440, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 120 [affirmed in 177 N. Y. 563, 69 N. E. 1127].

Pennsylvania.— Schott v. Sage, 4 Phila. 87, under a statute providing that an administrator shall be liable to be sued in any action which might have been maintained against defendant if he had lived.

d. Action For Accounting of Income From Property Held in Trust by Decedent. Where real estate came into the hands of an executor which was not properly assets but which was held by his testatrix as a constructive trustee for the executor as an individual and others and the executor received all the rents and profits after the death of his testatrix he is liable to a personal judgment in a suit for accounting for the rents and profits.[6]

B. Conditions Precedent to Suit — 1. For Debts of Decedent — a. Leave of Probate Court to Sue. Where leave of the probate court to sue the personal representative is made a condition precedent by statute the action cannot be maintained without procuring such permission.[7] It is not essential to the validity of the order granting permission that it should be made on petition and notice to the personal representative.[8] The application is addressed to the sound discretion of the court and will not be granted when it would be inequitable to do so.[9]

b. Presentation of Claim[10] — (i) Necessity For Presentation[11] — (a) The Rule and Reasons on Which It Is Based. Presentation of a claim to the probate court for allowance is not a condition precedent to the commencement of an action on the claim unless such presentation is required by statute.[12] In many jurisdictions, however, presentation of a claim to the personal representative is by statute made a condition precedent to a suit thereon.[13] The object of statutes

Texas.— Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130.

Virginia.— Ferrill v. Brewis, 25 Gratt. 765 (holding that, under a statute providing that trespass or case may be maintained against a personal representative for carrying away goods by decedent, trover may be sustained against a personal representative as such, although the goods never came into his hands); Catlett v. Russell, 6 Leigh 344.

United States.— De Valengin v. Duffy, 14 Pet. 282, 10 L. ed. 457.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1687.

Contra.— Elmore v. Elmore, 58 S. C. 289, 36 S. E. 656, 51 L. R. A. 261 (by divided court); Jones v. Littlefield, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 133; Norment v. Smith, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 46.

6. Anderson v. Northrop, 44 Fla. 472, 33 So. 419.

7. Crane v. Malony, 39 Iowa 39.

8. Sterritt v. Robinson, 17 Iowa 61.

9. In re Collins, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 289; Matter of Fleming, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 336.

10. See, generally, on this subject supra, X, B.

11. For presentation of claim as condition precedent to right to set off claim see infra, XIV, D, 1, n.

12. Jones v. Perot, 19 Colo. 141, 34 Pac. 728; Vance v. Maroney, 3 Colo. 293; Rosenthal v. Magee, 41 Ill. 370. Under statutes providing that a claim allowed by the personal representative and approved by the judge must be filed in the county court within a certain time and that when a claim is rejected suit must be brought within a designated time after rejection, it is not essential to an action on a rejected claim that it should be filed in the county court. Saxton v. Musselman, (S. D. 1903) 95 N. W. 291.

13. California.—Barthe v. Rogers, 127 Cal. 52, 59 Pac. 310; Morrow v. Barker, 119 Cal. 65, 51 Pac. 12; Lichtenberg v. McGlynn, 105 Cal. 45, 38 Pac. 541; Gillespie v. Winn, 65 Cal. 429, 4 Pac. 411; Eustace v. Jahns, 38 Cal. 3.

Connecticut.—Grant v. Grant, 63 Conn. 530 (provided the estate is solvent); Pike v. Thorp, 44 Conn. 450.

Kentucky.— Perry v. Seitz, 2 Duv. 122; Rogers v. Mitchell, 1 Mete. 22; Smith v. Clark, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 746.

Louisiana.— Vavasseur v. Mouton, 34 La. Ann. 1044; Yarborough's Succession, 16 La. Ann. 258; Lobit v. Castille, 14 La. Ann. 779.

Mississippi.— The rule laid down in Rawlins v. Poindexter, 26 Miss. 654, 27 Miss. 61; Campbell v. Young, 3 How. 301; Smith v. Smith, 3 How. 216, that failure to authenticate the claim by affidavit to probate and record did not affect the creditor's right to sue on it, is changed by statute. Code Annot. §§ 1932, 1933, provides that no suit shall be maintained in any court on a claim not registered, probated, and allowed, and that probate, registration, and allowance shall be sufficient presentation to the personal representative.

Missouri.— See Evans v. King, 16 Mo. 525.

New Hampshire.— Amoskeag Mfg. Co. v. Barnes, 48 N. H. 25; Quigg v. Kittredge, 18 N. H. 137.

North Carolina.— Ward v. Jones, 44 N. C. 127.

Ohio.— Pepper v. Sidwell, 36 Ohio St. 454; Yager v. Greiss, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 531, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 296.

Oregon.— Zachary v. Chambers, 1 Oreg. 321.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1679, 1681.

In Arkansas the presentation of a claim to the administrator for allowance is not a prerequisite to a right of action. Saunders requiring presentation of claims to the personal representative is to bring them to his knowledge so that he may be enabled to judge in what manner the estate should be settled,[14] and to afford him additional means for protecting the estate against spurious claims,[15] and an opportunity to allow all valid claims against the estate and thereby avoid the cost of unnecessary litigation.[16] The personal representative is not presumed to know what the claims are, and in a great majority of cases he cannot know until they are presented to him by the creditors.[17]

(B) Extent and Limits of Rule. The rule requiring presentation has been held the same in chancery as at law.[18] So it has been held that knowledge of the existence of a claim on the part of the personal representative, no matter how full, does not dispense with the necessity of complying with the statutes.[19] The statutory requirement has been held to apply to claims evidenced by judgment as well as other demands,[20] and to joint actions against personal representatives and

v. Rudd, 21 Ark. 519; Maddin v. State Bank, 13 Ark. 276. Compare Ryan v. Lemon, 7 Ark. 78.

In Indiana the filing of a claim against the decedent's estate constitutes a sufficient demand against the administrator to authorize suit on it. Armacost v. Lindley, 116 Ind. 295, 19 N. E. 138; Walker v. Heller, 104 Ind. 227, 3 N. E. 114; Wright v. Jordon, 71 Ind. 1; Woods v. Matlock, 19 Ind. App. 364, 48 N. E. 384. To confer jurisdiction over the subject of the action a claim against the estate of a decedent must be filed, placed upon the appearance docket, and, if not allowed, must be transferred to the issue docket; and, upon demurrer for want of jurisdiction, the record must show that such steps have been taken. Stanford v. Stanford, 42 Ind. 485.

In Louisiana failure to make demand may prevent recovery of costs but not the debt itself. Fisk v. Friend, 3 Rob. 264; St. Helena Police Jury v. Fluker, 1 Rob. 389.

In Maine under Rev. St. c. 87, § 12, one who has a claim against a decedent may maintain an action thereon against the administrator or executor, if commenced within two years and six months after notice of the appointment of the administrator is given, without a presentation of the claim in writing to the administrator and demand of payment within two years after such notice. The statute treats the commencement of the action as a presentation of plaintiff's claim and a sufficient demand of payment. Gould v. Whitmore, 79 Me. 383, 10 Atl. 60. Under a previous statute presentment of the claim in writing and demand for payment was necessary. Maine Cent. Institute v. Haskell, 71 Me. 487; Eaton v. Buswell, 69 Me. 552.

Rule in Texas.— Under the statutes of this state presentation of a claim on a money demand properly authenticated is a condition precedent to the right to sue thereon in an ordinary action against the estate, but the statutes apply only to claims for money. Thompson v. Branch, 35 Tex. 21; Walters v. Prestidge, 30 Tex. 66; Wiley v. Pinson, 23 Tex. 486; Fulton v. Black, 21 Tex. 424; Millican v. Millican, 15 Tex. 460; Danzey v. Swiney, 7 Tex. 617; Hall v. McCormick, 7 Tex. 269; National Guarantee Loan, etc., Co. v. Fly, 29 Tex. Civ. App. 533, 69 S. W. 231 (note); Roddy v. Harell, (Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 1064 (rents); Cummings v. Jones, Dall. 531. In replevin against an administrator the assertion of a money demand for failure to deliver the property is secondary and does not constitute a claim for money within the meaning of the statutes (Barlow v. Anglin, (Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 857); and the statute has no application to cases where the demand is for uncertain or unliquidated damages or for land (Bullion v. Campbell, 27 Tex. 653; Evans v. Hardeman, 15 Tex. 480; Robinson v. McDonald, 11 Tex. 385, 62 Am. Dec. 480; Merle v. Andrews, 4 Tex. 200; Curran v. Texas Land, etc., Co., 24 Tex. Civ. App. 499, 60 S. W. 466); so, where the testator as authorized by statute provides by his will that the probate court shall have no control of the estate and the executor administers upon the estate independently of that court, a creditor may institute and maintain a suit on his claim without verifying and presenting it for allowance (Smyth v. Caswell, 65 Tex. 379; Pleasant v. Davidson, 34 Tex. 459), the policy of the probate law requiring verification and presentment of the claim to the personal representative has no application when the probate court is debarred by will from the management of the estate (Smyth v. Caswell, supra). For decisions under a former statute relating to administration independently of the probate court see Shaw v. Ellison, 24 Tex. 197; Hogue v. Sims, 9 Tex. 546.

14. Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342.

15. Marshall v. Perkin, 72 Me. 343.

16. Quigg v. Kittredge, 18 N. H. 137; Pepper v. Sidwell, 36 Ohio St. 454; Wanz v. Park Hotel Co., 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 105, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 63.

17. Grant v. Grant, 63 Conn. 530, 29 Atl. 15, 38 Am. St. Rep. 379; Pike v. Thorp, 44 Conn. 450.

18. Owens v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 92; Jones v. Lightfoot, 10 Ala. 17.

19. Owens v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 92.

20. Ready v. Thompson, 4 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 52; Curry v. Bryant, 7 Bush (Ky.) 301 (in which it was said that as such a claim like any other demand may be unjust or have been paid or be subject to set-offs or discounts, there is no reason for exempting it from the operation of the statute); Lobit v. Castille, devisees on claims due from the estate.[21] The requirements have been held not to apply to demands against a personal representative arising after the grant of administration,[22] nor where the executor sells property in suit which by the terms of the will is reserved to the widow and children and by statute expressly declared not to be assets in the personal representative's hands,[23] nor to proceedings by a judgment creditor to subject to the payment of his judgment property fraudulently conveyed by decedent,[24] nor to actions brought against the debtor in his lifetime and revived against the representative,[25] nor to actions brought to correct errors made in a settlement with decedent,[26] nor to claims in which the amount of the liability could not have been determined by the representative.[27] So failure to make demand does not deprive the claimant of the right to interest where there was no administrator of whom demand could be made,[28] and it is very generally held that these statutes have no application where the claim is in relation to real estate and no presentation or demand is necessary in actions to foreclose mortgages, and the only effect of failure to present the claim for allowance would be to prevent a recovery of any deficiency that might remain after exhaustion of the mortgaged property, out of the testator's other estate.[29]

(II) Sufficiency of Presentation. Claims must be presented, as required by statute,[30] and they should be presented to the executor or administrator personally.[31] The claim presented need not be signed by the party making it and the demand of payment need not be in writing, although the claim must be.[32] Any presentment which gives the personal representative to understand the 14 La. Ann. 779. Compare Eddins v. Graddy, 28 Ark. 500, holding that after revival of a judgment by scire facias no presentation to the administrator is necessary; that the service of the scire facias is a presentation and the judgment of revival an allowance against the estate.

21. Ryan v. Jones, 15 Ill. 1, but devisees can only insist upon the general statutes of limitations.

22. Duggan v. Oglesby, 99 Ill. 405; Ryan v. Spieth, 18 Mont. 45, 44 Pac. 403; Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342.

A suit by a sheriff for money advanced to pay taxes for an estate is not within the requirements of the statute. Brown v. Porter, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 373.

23. Graves v. Graves, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 31. See also Curd v. Curd, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 171.

24. O'Doherty v. Toole, 2 Ariz. 288, 15 Pac. 28.

25. Florida.— Ellison v. Allen, 8 Fla. 206.

Indiana.— Clodfelter v. Hulett, 92 Ind. 426.

Kentucky.— Tipton v. Richardson, 54 S. W. 738, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1194; Cochran v. Whittaker, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 495.

Ohio.— Musser v. Chase, 29 Ohio St. 577.

Washington.— Strong v. Eldridge, 8 Wash. 595, 36 Pac. 696.

26. Linn County v. Day, 16 Iowa 158. And see Fox v. Apperson, 6 Bush (Ky.) 653, holding that affidavit as to claim and demand are not necessary before filing a petition in equity against the executor of the agent of plaintiff for a discovery and settlement of his account as such.

27. Wanz v. Park Hotel Co., 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 105, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 63, a suit to enforce a statutory liability of a deceased stockholder in an insolvent corporation.

Where foreign executors are sued, not for any liability by testator or his estate, but on their own liability, for the misapplication of the trust funds which have come to their hands no previous proceedings before the surrogate are necessary. Montalvan v. Clover, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 190.

28. Tatum v. Gibbs, 41 S. W. 565, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 695

29. California.— Dreyfus v. Giles, 79 Cal. 409, 2 Pac. 840; Security Sav. Bank v. Connell, 65 Cal. 574, 4 Pac. 580.

Iowa.— Allen v. Moer, 16 Iowa 307.

Montana.— Lamme v. Dodson, 4 Mont. 560, 2 Pac. 298.

Nebraska.— National L. Ins. Co. v. Fitzgerald, 61 Nebr. 692, 85 N. W. 948.

Oregon.— Teel v. Winston, 22 Oreg. 489, 29 Pac. 142; Verdier v. Bigne, 16 Oreg. 208, 19 Pac. 64.

Washington.— Scammon v. Ward, 1 Wash. 179, 23 Pac. 439.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1679, 1681. See also supra, X, B, 2, f.

Proceedings to foreclose a vendor's lien against the administrators and heirs is not an action against the personal representative to obtain satisfaction out of the personal assets and in such proceedings it is not necessary to probate the claim before suit. Allen v. Smith, 29 Ark. 74.

30. Marshall v. Perkins, 72 Me. 343.

31. Rawson v. Knight, 71 Me. 99, in which it was said that the reception of the notice and demand required by an agent or attorney of an administrator is not incident to a general appointment or employment to assist in settling an estate; nor will such an appointment relieve claimants from any duty incumbent upon them by force of the statute.

32. Millett v. Millett, 72 Me. 117.

nature and amount of the claim will be sufficient.[33] The demand must be such, however, that the personal representative if he wishes to pay may do so at once and a demand for payment by letter is insufficient.[34] While the claimant can only recover on the claim which was presented to the personal representative,[35] and not on a cause of action not included in the claim,[36] he may sue for an amount less than his rejected claim, if it be shown to be part of the claim presented,[37] and the presentation of a claim for a designated amount will not necessarily prevent a recovery for a greater amount.[38] So an erasure of the names of indorsers on a note after presentment does not make an action thereon one for a different claim than the one presented.[39]

(III) BY WHOM CLAIM PRESENTED. It has been held that the claim may be presented either by plaintiff, his agent or attorney.[40]

(IV) HOW NON-PRESENTATION CURED OR WAIVED. Presentment and allowance of a demand after suit brought does not cure the failure to present before bringing suit.[41] It has been held, however, that presentment may be waived and that it is waived where the administrator joins issue and goes to trial on the validity of the claim without objection,[42] or files a demurrer.[43]

c. Verification of Claim — (I) NECESSITY AND SUFFICIENCY. The statutes in some jurisdictions make it a condition precedent to a suit against an executor or administrator on a claim against the estate that the claim be authenticated by affidavit,[44] or that an affidavit of the justice of the demand be made,[45] and an 33. Ross v. Knox, 71 N. H. 249, 51 Atl. 910; Little v. Little, 36 N. H. 224. And see Tebbetts v. Tilton, 31 N. H. 273.

Presenting a copy of a note or other written instrument will be sufficient unless the representative requires the original to be produced. Marshall v. Perkins, 72 Me. 343; Tebbetts v. Tilton, 31 N. H. 273; Mathes v. Jackson, 7 N. H. 259.

The presentment of an account, including articles furnished for decedent's burial and articles sold and delivered to him in his lifetime, without showing the amount due for the funeral, is not sufficient as a demand for payment of the funeral expenses. Ward v. Jones, 44 N. C. 127.

34. Probate Judge v. Runnells, 66 N. H. 271, 21 Atl. 1020.

35. Brooks v. Lawson, 136 Cal. 10, 68 Pac. 97; Lichtenberg v. McGlynn, 105 Cal. 45, 38 Pac. 541.

36. Barthe v. Rogers, 127 Cal. 52, 59 Pac. 310.

37. Cochran v. Germania Nat. Bank, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 790; Carter v. Beckwith, 104 N. Y. 236, 10 N. E. 350; Wilcox v. Alexander, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 561.

38. Russell v. Pratt, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 662. See also Morgan v. Bartlette, 3 Ohio Cir. Ct. 431, 2 Ohio Cir. Dec. 244; McCormick v. Blum, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 9, 22 S. W. 1054, 1120.

39. Morris v. Cude, 57 Tex. 337.

40. Marshall v. Perkins, 72 Me. 343. But see Zachary v. Chambers, 1 Oreg. 321, 322, in which it was held that the claim must be presented by the claimant himself. In this case it was said: "There are many transactions of life, from want of a wise precaution, or arising from that confidence which, too often perhaps, men repose in each other, of which there are no witnesses but the parties to the transactions; or if there is any evidence of it aliunde, it is known only to them. The decease of one party leaves all such knowledge in the breast of a single individual, and that one the claimant. The law can provide but one avenue to that knowledge,— an appeal to the conscience of the creditor under the solemn injunction of an oath."

41. Thompson v. Branch, 35 Tex. 21; Millican v. Millican, 15 Tex. 460; Danzey v. Swinney, 7 Tex. 617. See also Rogers v. Mitchell, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 22.

42. Lyon v. Logan County Bank, 78 S. W. 454, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 1668; Rigney v. Pelley, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 93; Pepper v. Sidwell, 36 Ohio St. 454; Daykin v. Emery, 10 Ohio Cir. Ct. 652, 5 Ohio Cir. Dec. 121. And see Thomas v. Thomas, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 178.

43. Lyttle v. Davidson, 67 S. W. 34, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2262.

44. Ross v. Hyne, 48 Ark. 304, 3 S. W. 190; Saunders v. Rudd, 21 Ark. 519.

In Mississippi it has been held that a statute requiring a creditor to authenticate his claim by affidavit is designed for the protection of the personal representative in case he shall wrongfully pay a claim but the want of it in no way affects the creditor's right to sue. Campbell v. Young, 3 How. 301.

45. Smith v. Clark, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 747. See also Swift Iron, etc., Works v. Schulte, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 787.

To what claims applicable.— The statute has been held to apply to a complainant who has commenced his action but has not recovered judgment before the death of his debtor (Matthews v. Jones, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 254), or to a claim against an estate pleaded as a set-off or counter-claim (Warfield v. Gardner, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 423); but an affidavit is not necessary in an action against an executor on a compromise made with plaintiff, as where recovery is sought on a demand against the estate (Newton v. Cecil, 43 S. W. 734, affidavit made before an officer not having authority to take affidavits will be inoperative.[46]

(II) Waiver of Verification or Defects in Verification. In one jurisdiction it has been held that the statutory requirement cannot be waived, and if the affidavit made is defective, advantage may be taken of it at any time before final judgment.[47] In another, failure to verify the demand is waived by appearance and answer to the merits.[48] Want of verification can only be taken advantage of before or at the time of filing the answer.[49] It has been held, however, that defendant does not waive his right to object to the sufficiency of the affidavit by answering without objection.[50] Where, in an action brought in the lifetime of the decedent and after his death revived against his administrator, plaintiff, without having verified his demand, recovers a verdict and the court renders a judgment thereon against the administrator, such judgment will be reversed with directions to the court below to set it aside, but to render it again upon the necessary affidavit being made subject to any credits, offsets, or discounts disclosed in the affidavit; and if no such affidavit shall be filed within a reasonable time then to set aside the verdict and dismiss the action.[51]

d. Rejection or Disallowance of Claim. Under some statutes it is essential to the right to bring suit on a claim against the estate that it should have been rejected or disallowed when presented.[52]

19 Ky. L. Rep. 1430). And the statute has no application to claims against an executor or administrator. Therefore, where the only payment of usury sought to be recovered consisted of payments to defendant as administrator, it was no defense that no affidavit had been made before suit brought. Crenshaw v. Duff, 69 S. W. 962, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 718.

What affidavit shall state.—The statute requiring the verification of demands against the estates of decedents does not require that the affidavit shall state either the date or amount of the note or other demand; therefore, where the affidavit describes the demand as bearing a certain date, which does not correspond with the real date, the variance is not fatal. Cochran v. Germania Nat. Bank, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 790.

Affidavit held sufficient.—An affidavit in an action on a count for services rendered which follows substantially the language of the statute, states sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action, shows an employment, rendition of services, their value, and decedent's agreement to pay, is a sufficient verification of the demand. Peak v. Grover, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 189.

Affidavit of a third person to prove an account against the estate of a decedent which states that the account "is just and true as he verily believes" is insufficient. Trabue v. Harris, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 597.

Dismissal without prejudice.— For failure to make affidavit to the justice of a demand against a decedent's estate as required by statute before suing an heir thereon, the petition should not be dismissed absolutely but without prejudice. Teeter v. Anderson, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 108.

46. Winder v. Hendricks, 56 Cal. 464. And see Alter v. Kinsworthy, 30 Ark. 756, holding that making affidavit before a justice of the peace of another state is not a sufficient compliance with the statutory requirement.

47. Alter v. Kinsworth, 30 Ark. 756; Ryan v. Lemon, 7 Ark. 78.

48. Thomas v. Thomas, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 178; Lyons v. Logan County Bank, 78 S. W. 454, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 1668; Rigney v. Pelley, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 93.

The proper practice is for the personal representative to file an affidavit showing that no demand has been made on him before suit brought accompanied by an affidavit required by the statute and thereupon a rule should be awarded against plaintiff to show cause why his petition should not be dismissed. Tichenor v. Wood, 70 S. W. 637, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1109.

49. Gough v. Alvey, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 590.

50. Hansford v. Parrish, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 94.

51. Worthley v. Hammond, 13 Bush (Ky.) 510.

52. Lichtenberg v. McGlynn, 105 Cal. 45, 38 Pac. 541; Eustace v. Jahns, 38 Cal. 3; Yarborough's Succession, 16 La. Ann. 258; Erie County v. Walker, 10 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 558, 22 Cinc. L. Bul. 106; Cummings v. Butler, Dall. (Tex.) 531.

A formal indorsement of rejection on a claim by the administrator is not a prerequisite to the right to bring suit. It is sufficient if the claim has been unequivocally rejected. Erie County v. Walker, 10 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 558, 22 Cinc. L. Bul. 106.

Insolvent estate.— An action cannot be brought at common law on a rejected claim until the commissioners on an estate reported insolvent have reported their report being the proper evidence of the rejection of the claim. Ellsworth v. Thayer, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 122.

The neglect of defendant to make answer to a demand upon her as administratrix to pay a sum due to certain persons as their share of the income of an estate owned jointly

2. To Recover Legacies and Distributive Shares. No action at law can be maintained for the recovery of a legacy unless the will has been regularly admitted to probate,[53] and in some jurisdictions it is essential that the legatee should before bringing action give a refunding bond.[54] It is also a condition to the right of recovery at law that sufficient assets have come into defendant's hands,[55] and that there are no debts for which the legacy could be made liable.[56] So the general rule is that to authorize a recovery of a legacy in an action at law a demand therefor must be made[57] by someone having authority to receive and to discharge the legacy,[58] unless such demand is waived as may be done.[59] No decree of the probate court in favor of the legatee is necessary to enable him to maintain an action for his legacy,[60] nor is it necessary that there should be an order that the legacy be paid to plaintiff or into court.[61] To authorize a bill in equity to recover a legacy it is not necessary that there should have been a settlement of the estate,[62] nor that the claim should have first been established against the executor, at law,[63] nor that there should have been an order in the probate court for its payment;[64] and if the purpose of the bill is merely to establish the validity of the bequest and not to obtain possession of a particular thing bequeathed a demand for the particular legacy is not a condition precedent to the bringing of a suit.[65] To entitle a distributee to maintain an action at law for his share as ordered to be paid by a decree of distribution, demand and refusal to pay are not conditions precedent to the right to sue, the action itself being sufficient demand;[66] but neither an action at law[67] nor a bill in equity[68] can under any circumstances be maintained for the by them and decedent is such a demand and refusal to account as to warrant the bringing of an action on the claim. Cutler v. Currier, 54 Me. 81.

53. Sheperd v. Nabors, 6 Ala. 631; Armstrong v. Lear, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 169, 6 L. ed. 589; Rex v. Netherseal, 4 T. R. 258.

54. Nelson v. Cornwell, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 724.

55. Farwell v. Jacobs, 4 Mass. 634.

56. Magee v. Gregg, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 70.

57. Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 213; Prescott v. Parker, 14 Mass. 429; Tappan v. Tappan, 30 N. H. 50; Payne v. Smith, 12 N. H. 34; Pickering v. Pickering, 6 N. H. 120.

The reason assigned is that it is not the executor's duty to seek the legatee but it is sufficient if he pays when the legatee comes and demands payment. Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 213; Tappan v. Tappan, 30 N. H. 50.

The fact that the legacies are made payable at a fixed time does not obviate the necessity of making a demand. Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 213.

Limitation of rule.— If an express promise is made on a sufficient consideration to pay a legacy, it is not necessary to give a right of action that a demand should have been subsequently made for payment. Gause v. Hughes, 9 Port. (Ala.) 552.

Under special statutory provisions.— Under a statute which provides that an executor shall after the expiration of a year from the grant of letters testamentary pay general legacies, it has been held that no demand is necessary to make complete the right in the legatee to proceed by petition in the surrogate's court to compel payment of the legacy. Matter of Underhill, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 455, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 541; House v. Agate, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 307.

58. Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 213.

59. Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 213.

What amounts to waiver.— While a father as natural guardian is not entitled to demand or receive payment of a legacy to his child, yet if a demand by him is resisted solely on the ground that the child had no claim to the legacy, the executor thereby waives the necessity of the demand, and the action by the legatee by his father as prochein ami will be sustained. Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 213.

Where a demand is made by attorney, the party has the right at the time to require reasonable evidence of the authority of the individual to make it; but if no exception is taken at the time then a subsequent commencement of a suit by the party in whose behalf it was made claiming under such demand is a ratification of the demand and is prima facie evidence that it was made by his authority. Payne v. Smith, 12 N. H. 34.

60. Magee v. Gregg, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 70.

61. Wall v. Bulger, 46 Hun (N. Y.) 346.

62. Frey v. Demarest, 16 N. J. Eq. 236.

63. Taliaferro v. Thornton, 6 Call (Va.) 21.

64. Mahar v. O'Hara, 9 Ill. 424.

65. Haines v. Carpenter, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,905, 1 Woods 262 [affirmed in 91 U. S. 254, 23 L. ed. 345].

66. Melone v. Davis, 67 Cal. 279, 7 Pac. 703. To the same effect see Henry v. State, 9 Mo. 778.

67. Cathaway v. Bowles, 136 Mass. 54.

68. Cummings v. Cummings, 143 Mass. 340, 9 N. E. 730.

recovery of a distributive share of the decedent's estate except after a decree of distribution has been rendered.[69]

C. Defenses — 1. In Actions by Personal Representatives — a. In General. Defendant in an action by an administrator de bonis non may take advantage of fraud in the contract made by the original administrator,[70] and an equity growing out of a debt sought to be enforced by a special administrator may be set up against him.[71] In an action by an administrator to recover a debt due the estate it is no defense that the co-administrator directed defendant not to pay it to plaintiff.[72] In an action to set aside conveyances of deceased in fraud of creditors, it is no defense that the creditor's claims have been assigned to the administrator who brings the action.[73] In an action for the recovery of property belonging to the estate defendant cannot set up as a defense for withholding it that the estate owes him money.[74] In an action on a note due decedent it is not a defense that the note was deposited with a trust company by order of court and was produced therefrom only for the purpose of the action.[75] The fact that an administrator as an attorney at law has received from defendant a note for collection, the proceeds of which are to be applied to the payment of a debt due the intestate's estate, is no defense to a bill filed by the administrator to enforce a vendor's lien reserved as security for such debt.[76] When sued on a note payable to decedent the surety of the maker who was insolvent may insist on the application of a distributive share of the payee's estate, coming to the maker in discharge of the note.[77] An administrator is not estopped from bringing suit for an accounting because of delay occasioned by misapprehension of the validity of the contract between decedent and defendant where such delay was not prejudicial to defendant.[78] A recovery by heirs of a deceased person is a good defense to a suit by an administrator for their benefit where there are no debts due or owing by the decedent.[79] Where an administrator of a tenant sues for an irregularity committed by the landlord in carrying out a lawful distress levied after the tenant's death, the mere insolvency of the tenant's estate where there has been no decree of insolvency is immaterial.[80] If one who assigns property to another for sale subsequently sues for the proceeds as administrator of one deceased, defendant cannot set up that he may be required to pay again to plaintiff personally, since plaintiff is bound by his judicial admissions as to the ownership of the proceeds.[81]

b. Want of Representative Capacity.[82] Want of administrative capacity cannot be pleaded in an action by a person on a contract made with him as administrator

69. The obligation to a distributee assumed by the administrator is to pay to such persons as the court may direct any balance remaining in his hands upon the settlement of his accounts. This contemplates that an administrator is entitled to be protected by a decree of distribution, passed by the probate court, before he can be called upon to divide the balance remaining in his hands among those claiming it as distributees under the statutes. Cathaway v. Bowles, 136 Mass. 54.

70. Rice v. Richardson, 3 Ala. 428.

71. Nashville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Harris, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 158, assigning as the reason for this holding that a special administrator for the collection of a debt does not represent the intestate so as to be liable for an action for non-performance of the intestate's contracts.

72. Strever v. Feltman, 1 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 277, because the co-administrator was acting in violation of his duty.

73. Howd v. Brackenridge, 97 Mich. 65, 56 N. W. 221, in which it was said that while it is ordinarily true that a distinct right of action for fraud is not assignable, yet if the right to enforce a claim which is itself assignable depends on showing fraud incidentally the rule has no application.

74. Roumfort v. McAlarney, 82 Pa. St. 193.

75. Cornwell v. McElrath, (Cal. 1895) 39 Pac. 617.

76. Mulloy v. Putnam, 1 Tenn. Ch. 473.

77. Wright v. Austin, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 13.

78. Stennett v. Red Oak Invest. Co., 112 Iowa 273, 83 N. W. 1069.

79. Hardaway v. Drummond, 27 Ga. 221, 73 Am. Dec. 730.

80. Brown v. Howell, 68 N. J. L. 292, 53 Atl. 459, in which it was said if insolvency without proceedings for a decree thereof would not be sufficient to prevent the collection of a debt it would a fortiori be insufficient to require the return of a debt that had been collected.

81. Whetstone v. Rawlins, 26 La. Ann. 474.

82. Appointment, qualification, and tenure see supra, II.

since he may sue thereon in his individual capacity.[83] And one who has received the benefit of a contract made by him with an executor is estopped to set up that the contract is of such a character that the executor had no authority to make it.[84] It may be pleaded as a defense in an action by an executor that his letters testamentary have been revoked.[85] And it is a good defense to a bill in equity where a person is administrator that he had not taken out letters of administration in the state before filing the bill.[86] The objection that a plaintiff has no right to sue in a representative capacity may be waived by defendant's admissions.[87]

2. In Actions Against Personal Representative — a. Want of Representative Capacity. One who is not a personal representative may set up this fact as a defense to an action against him as such,[88] unless he has done some act which will estop him to deny his representative capacity.[89] He may also plead a revocation of letters of administration in bar of the further maintenance of an action against him in his representative capacity,[90] or that he has been removed from office.[91] It is not, however, a good plea in bar that the representative has resigned his trust, unless it is further alleged either that he has administered the assets that come into his hands or that he delivered them to his successor;[92] and even a discharge on final settlement cannot be pleaded in bar to an action for a debt not barred by the statute of limitations at the time of final settlement.[93] If an administrator is sued by a stranger for the recovery of land, proof of title in decedent is a good defense to the action, although the administration is void.[94]

b. Disability of Decedent. The existence of a disability such as the infancy[95]

83. Claiborne v. Yoeman, 15 Tex. 44.

84. Shawhan v. Long, 26 Iowa 488, 96 Am. Dec. 164; Scott v. Meadow, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 290.

Unauthorized purchase of claim.— Where a defendant in an action by an administrator on a claim sold and assigned to the latter for a valuable consideration has no interest in the estate he cannot set up as a defense that the administrator had no right to purchase the claim. The general rule that the administrator will not be permitted to speculate with the funds of the estate has no application. Brossard v. Williams, 114 Wis. 89, 89 N. W. 832.

85. Leach v. Lewis, 38 Ind. 160. It has been held, however, that where letters of administration granted in another state where the intestate was domiciled are revoked such revocation does not affect ancillary letters which have been in the mean time taken out in this territory by the same person, nor is a suit previously brought by such administrator in this territory on behalf of the estate abated by such revocation. Huntington v. Moore, 1 N. M. 489.

86. Carter v. Treadwell, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,480, 3 Story 25.

87. Martin v. Fowler, 51 S. C. 164, 28 S. E. 312; Reynolds v. Torrance, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 59. And see Barton v. Davidson, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 400.

In a suit to foreclose a mortgage by persons claiming to be administrators, the objection that they were not will not be sustained if they had obtained the grant of administration before the objection was passed on. A grant of letters relates back to decedent's death and legalizes previous acts of an administrator. Martin v. Fowler, 51 S. C. 164, 28 S. E. 312.

88. Wise v. Brocker, 1 Colo. 550; Borden v. Thorpe, 35 N. C. 298.

89. Du Val v. Marshall, 30 Ark. 230, as for instance executing an instrument as administrator of an estate.

90. Morrison v. Cones, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 593.

91. Jewett v. Jewett, 5 Mass. 275, holding further that it is not necessary for him to plead that he has fully administered since he cannot retain any assets for payment of the judgment. And see Parkhill v. Union Bank, 1 Fla. 110, holding that where an administratrix was removed pending a suit against her in that capacity, on being reappointed with others as administrators de bonis non a plea to the action that since the last continuance she had been removed by public authority, and that the assets had been taken out of her hands as administratrix, being in the nature of a plea of ne unques administratrix was properly pleaded in bar, although it might have been pleaded in abatement.

92. Gayle v. Elliott, 10 Ala. 264, in which it was further said that it is not sufficient to show that the property remained during the interval between his resignation and the appointment of his successor where the testator required that it should or that it has been clandestinely removed by some other person unless he shows that he took such care of it as a man of prudence would have taken of his own estate; nor that his successor went into possession of the testator's lands under the provisions of the will, and that they were of value sufficient to pay plaintiff's demand.

93. Pollock v. Buie, 43 Miss. 140.

94. Victory v. Stroud, 15 Tex. 373.

95. Hussey v. Jewett, 9 Mass. 100; Counts v. Bates, Harp. (S. C.) 464; Baker v. Huddleston, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 1.

or coverture of decedent[96] is a good defense by the personal representative in an action against him on contracts made by his testator or intestate, and this is true, although the representative may have sold as part of the estate the property so acquired by decedent,[97] and the rule applies where plaintiff elects to waive a conversion by decedent and sue in contract.[98]

c. Fraudulent Gifts or Conveyances by Decedent. A personal representative cannot set up as a defense to a claim against the estate that the claim arises out of a gift[99] or conveyance by the decedent which is in fraud of creditors.[1] Although such gift or conveyance may be void as to creditors, it is nevertheless good as between the parties, and the personal representative cannot set up a defense which would not have been available to decedent.[2] One cannot complain of a wrong done by himself, or of another's wrong in which he participated.[3] So an administrator sued on a judgment against decedent cannot set up as a defense that the judgment was obtained by collusion between plaintiff and decedent.[4]

d. Insolvency of Estate. While it is a good plea puis darrein continuance that an estate has been represented insolvent pending an action against it,[5] a plea that the estate is insolvent is not good in bar, since the estate may be able to pay a portion of the debts.[6]

e. In Actions For Legacies and Distributive Shares. Where the assets are sufficient, it is no defense to a suit for a legacy that the estate has been partitioned among the heirs or other legatees,[7] or that debts have not been paid.[8] Plene administravit is not a good defense if several judgments are pleaded by the administrator and plaintiff falsifies any of them,[9] nor where a legislative enactment was necessary to enable the legatee to receive a bequest and the legislature was not in session between the time of decedent's death and the time of final settlement.[10] So a plea by an administrator on a judgment recovered against him as such that he had fully administered except as to goods and chattels to a certain amount not sufficient to satisfy such judgment does not bar a recovery.[11] That the estate has been fully settled and the lands apportioned is no defense to an action against the administrator by the decedent's covenantee for a breach of a covenant of warranty against encumbrances.[12] Plene administravit and want of assets is a good defense in an action on a claim brought several years after settlement of the administration account after having had previous notice of the claim.[13] It is not a defense that creditors enjoined an agent to receive legacies from a foreign executor under an appointment by the legatees from paying so much of the money as would be sufficient to satisfy their claims.[14] It is no defense to an action for a distributive share that subsequent to a settlement of his account in the probate court charging himself with assets a portion of the assets were subsequently recovered from the administrator in an adverse suit of which the distributees had notice.[15] The 96. Baker v. Garris, 108 N. C. 218, 13 S. E. 2.

97. Counts v. Bates, Harp. (S. C.) 464.

98. Baker v. Huddleston, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 1.

99. Chappell v. Brown, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 528.

1. Roden v. Murphy, 10 Ala. 804; Drinkwater v. Drinkwater, 4 Mass. 354; Williams v. Williams, 34 Pa. St. 312; Tomlinson v. Tomlinson, 10 Rich. (S. C.) 404.

2. See cases cited in preceding notes.

All the powers of executors and administrators are derivative, and if the donor could not dispute his own voluntary gift, on the ground that it operated a fraud on his creditors, his executor or administrator could not. Chappel v. Brown, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 528.

3. Dow v. Blake, 148 Ill. 76, 35 N. E. 761, 39 Am. St. Rep. 156.

4. Dow v. Blake, 148 Ill. 76, 35 N. E. 761, 39 Am. St. Rep. 156.

5. Fennell v. Patrick, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 244.

6. Peyatte v. English, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 11,054*a*, Hempst. 24.

7. Stephenson v. McFaddin, 42 Tex. 322.

8. Kent v. Dunham, 106 Mass. 586.

9. Bell v. Davidson, 13 N. C. 397.

10. England v. Prince George's Parish, 53 Md. 466.

11. Parker v. Gainer, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 559.

12. Taylor v. Priest, 21 Mo. App. 685.

13. U. S. v. Primrose, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,091, Gilp. 58.

14. Scotts v. Lindsay, 2 Dana (Ky.) 241.

15. Clark v. Callaghan, 2 Watts (Pa.) 259, in which it was said that the adminispersonal representative cannot after final accounting set up as a defense to an action for a distributive share that a mistake had occurred in the course of the settlement.[16] Nor is a judgment for a distributive share, void for want of jurisdiction, a defense to such action.[17] In an action for a distributive share it may be set up as a defense that part of the funds had been lost without the administrator's negligence,[18] or that a part of the estate is claimed by one of defendants as individual property and that another part is subject to a trust,[19] or that it had been paid to a regularly appointed guardian of the claimant.[20]

f. Miscellaneous. An administrator may maintain a plea in abatement seasonably pleaded as well as a plea in bar.[21] The administrator cannot set up an estoppel in his favor in his individual capacity against a claim against the estate,[22] nor is it a defense to a suit against him in his representative capacity that there is an action pending on the same claim against him in his individual capacity.[23] To a suit on a note made by decedent defendant may plead a usurious consideration,[24] or non est factum.[25] A void judgment in favor of a creditor against a personal representative is no defense to a subsequent suit by the creditor to recover the amount of his claim against the estate.[26] If a reason for rejecting the claim is indorsed thereon, the representative cannot plead in abatement of a suit thereon any other reason which goes merely to the sufficiency of the presentation for allowance.[27] The personal representative cannot allege his own illegal acts in bar of the action of creditors against him.[28] A receipt given decedent may be set up in defense of an award on the claim for which the receipt was given.[29] Where decedent representing himself as agent of another sold his property and converted the proceeds the personal representative is estopped to set up title in a third person.[30] The settlement of an executor's account in the probate court is no bar it seems to a suit for malfeasance and waste.[31]

D. Set-Off or Counter-Claim — 1. In Actions by Personal Representatives — a. Necessity For Mutuality of Demands. In order to warrant the allowance of set-off in actions by personal representatives, the debts must be mutual and the principle of mutuality requires that the debts should not only be due to and from the same person but in the same capacity.[32] trator's remedy is by petition to the probate court for a review. See also Thompson v. McGaw, 2 Watts (Pa.) 161, holding that in an action against an executor for a legacy defendant cannot show that the balance of an administration account in his hands, settled by the orphans' court, was composed of bonds not due at the time of the settlement, and which afterward could not be collected because of the insolvency of the obligors.

16. Singleton v. Garrett, 23 Miss. 195, in which it was said that if this could be done there would be no use in a final decree. Compare Cherry v. Belcher, 5 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 133, holding that, where administrators are sued in chancery by a distributee to compel the payment of a distributive share, they are not precluded by the fact that the orphans' court had previously by settlement ascertained the amount to which such distributee was entitled from showing mistakes, payments by them subsequent to the settlement, or any other matter which in equity may be relied on.

17. Basom v. Taylor, 39 Mich. 682.

18. Westervelt v. Ackerson, 35 N. J. Eq. 43.

19. Westervelt v. Ackerson, 35 N. J. Eq. 43.

20. Young v. Suggs, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 393.

21. Guild v. Richardson, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 364, in which it was said that such a plea may be decisive of the action, but if it is not it may involve a question of costs on which the administrator may be appointed to relieve the estate.

22. Lee v. Carter, 52 Ind. 342.

23. Hall v. Richardson, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 444.

24. Fox v. Whitney, 16 Mass. 118.

25. Stanton v. Burge, 34 Ga. 435.

26. Gorman v. Swaggerty, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 560.

27. Hansell v. Gregg, 7 Tex. 223.

28. Collins v. Hollier, 13 La. Ann. 585. Thus, in an action by a creditor of a decedent's estate to compel the administrator to pay his claim which had been duly presented and allowed, the administrator's answer that he had paid over the funds to the distributees and for that reason had no funds in hand with which to pay the claim presents no defense. North v. Priest, 81 Mo. 561.

29. Parsons v. Hall, 3 Me. 60.

30. McNair v. McKay, 33 N. C. 602.

31. Young v. Chaney, 3 La. 462.

32. Alabama.— Mauldin v. Armistead, 14 Ala. 702; Rapier v. Holland, Minor 176.

Arkansas.— Bizzell v. Stone, 12 Ark. 378.

Connecticut.— Nichols v. Dayton, 34 Conn. 65.

b. Debts Due in Decedent's Lifetime Against Causes of Action Accruing After His Death. The rule is well settled that in an action brought upon a cause of action accruing after decedent's death defendant cannot set off a debt due from the intestate in his lifetime.[33] The rule is the same whether brought by the personal representative in his individual or representative character,[34] and it applies with equal force whether the contract sued on was made with the personal representatives,[35] or with the decedent if no cause of action arose thereon

Indiana.— Dayhuff v. Dayhuff, 27 Ind. 158.

Kentucky.— Cummins v. Williams, 5 J. J. Marsh. 384; Bibb v. Saunders, 2 Bibb 87; Hancock v. Hancock, 69 S. W. 757, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 664; Lee v. Russell, 38 S. W. 874, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 951.

Louisiana.— Guibert v. Herpin, 3 Mart. N. S. 395.

Maine.— Adams v. Ware, 33 Me. 228.

New Hampshire.— Woodman v. Barker, 2 N. H. 479.

New York.— Matter of Hill, 17 Abb. N. Cas. 273; Dale v. Cooke, 4 Johns. Ch. 11; Dudley v. Griswold, 2 Bradf. Surr. 24.

Pennsylvania.— Tenant v. Tenant, 110 Pa. St. 478, 1 Atl. 532; Stuart v. Com., 8 Watts 74.

South Carolina.— Porter v. Cheesborough, 1 Strobh. Eq. 275.

Texas.— Gresham v. Harcourt, 93 Tex. 149, 53 S. W. 1010.

Virginia.— James v. Johnston, 22 Gratt. 461.

United States.— McKown v. Manhattan L. Ins. Co., 91 Fed. 352.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1699. And see infra, XIV, D, 1, b, c, f.

33. Alabama.— Tate v. Chandler, 4 Stew. & P. 417; Rapier v. Holland, Minor 176.

Arkansas.— Bishop v. Dillard, 49 Ark. 285, 5 S. W. 341; Bizzell v. Stone, 12 Ark. 378.

Georgia.— Mills v. Lumpkin, 1 Ga. 511, 44 Am. Dec. 677.

Illinois.— Harding v. Shepard, 107 Ill. 264; Newhall v. Turney, 14 Ill. 338.

Indiana.— Dayhuff v. Dayhuff, 27 Ind. 158.

Iowa.— Toerring v. Lamp, 77 Iowa 488, 42 N. W. 378.

Kentucky.— Cummins v. Williams, 5 J. J. Marsh. 384; Crews v. Williams, 2 Bibb 262, 4 Am. Dec. 701; Burton v. Chinn, Hard. 252; Hancock v. Hancock, 69 S. W. 757, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 664; Lee v. Russell, 38 S. W. 874, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 951; Dunn v. Carpenter, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 494.

Louisiana.— Mercer v. Lobit, 10 La. Ann. 47.

Missouri.— Woodward v. McGaugh, 8 Mo. 161.

New Hampshire.— Shaw v. Gookin, 7 N. H. 16, Woodman v. Barker, 2 N. H. 479; Colby v. Colby, 2 N. H. 419.

New York.— Thompson v. Whitmarsh, 100 N. Y. 35, 2 N. E. 273; Jordan v. National Shoe, etc., Bank, 74 N. Y. 467, 30 Am. Rep. 319; Merritt v. Seaman, 6 N. Y. 168; Foley v. Scharmann, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 250, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 771; Wakeman v. Everett, 41 Hun 278; Fry v. Evans, 8 Wend. 530; Root v. Taylor, 20 Johns. 137; Irving v. De Kay, 10 Paige 319; Dale v. Cooke, 4 Johns. Ch. 11.

Ohio.— McDonald v. Black, 20 Ohio 185, 55 Am. Dec. 448.

Texas.— Robb v. Smith, 40 Tex. 89; Atchison v. Smith, 25 Tex. 228.

Wisconsin.— McLaughlin v. Winner, 63 Wis. 120, 23 N. W. 402, 53 Am. Rep. 273; Armstrong v. Pratt, 2 Wis. 299.

England.— Schofield v. Corbett, 11 Q. B. 779, 6 N. & M. 527, 63 E. C. L. 779; Mardall v. Thellusson, 6 E. & B. 976, 3 Jur. N. S. 314, 5 Wkly. Rep. 25, 88 E. C. L. 976 [reversing 21 L. J. Q. B. 410]; Rees v. Watts, 11 Exch. 410, 1 Jur. N. S. 1023, 25 L. J. Exch. 30, 3 Wkly. Rep. 575; Tegetmeyer v. Lumley, Willes 264 note; Shipman v. Thompson, Willes 103.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1698 et seq.

Effect of special agreement by representative.— It is not within the power of an administrator to bind the assets in his hands by an agreement that a debt contracted by his intestate may be set off against one contracted to himself in favor of the estate and an answer setting up such agreement presents no defense available either at law or in equity. Bishop v. Dillard, 49 Ark. 285, 5 S. W. 341.

Limitations of rule.— In Pennsylvania it has been held that, in an action by executors of a solvent testator to recover dividends from defendant's corporations which became due after testator's death, defendant may set off a debt due to it by the testator when the suit was brought. Steinmeyer v. Ewalt St. Bridge Co., 189 Pa. St. 145, 42 Atl. 132.

34. Aiken v. Bridgman, 37 Vt. 249.

35. Alabama.— Rapier v. Holland, Minor 176.

Indiana.— Welborn v. Coon, 57 Ind. 270.

Kentucky.— Burton v. Chinn, Hard. 252; Hancock v. Hancock, 69 S. W. 757, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 664; Dunn v. Carpenter, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 494.

New York.— Thompson v. Whitmarsh, 100 N. Y. 35, 2 N. E. 273; Dale v. Cooke, 4 Johns. Ch. 11.

Texas.— Atchison v. Smith, 25 Tex. 228.

Virginia.— Brown v. Garland, 1 Wash. 221.

United States.— McKown v. Manhattan L. Ins. Co., 91 Fed. 352.

In an action for the price of goods belonging to the estate and sold by the administrator defendant cannot set off a debt due him from decedent in his lifetime. Thompson v. Whitmarsh, 100 N. Y. 35, 2 N. E. 273; Ste-until after his death.[36] In order to authorize such set-off the suit must be upon a cause of action in favor of the estate which had accrued at the time of decedent's death.[37] The reason for the rule is that the allowance of the set-off or counter-claim would necessarily destroy the equal and just distribution of the assets belonging to the estate among creditors in every case where the assets were insufficient to pay all the debts of the deceased.[38] Again, to allow the administrator to bind the estate by the appropriation of the debts due to the estate, not due from defendant to the intestate in his lifetime, to be applied to the satisfaction of a debt due defendant upon a contract made with the intestate would open the door for avoiding statutes which require that all such claims against the estate must be presented to and allowed by commissioners appointed by the proper court, and for the allowance of claims against the estate which had been barred by the statutes of non-claim because not presented and allowed as required by law.[39]

c. Claims Accruing After Decedent's Death Against Causes of Action Arising in His Lifetime. Demands on which causes of action arise subsequent to decedent's death are not proper subjects of set-off against demands on causes of action arising in decedent's lifetime because there is no mutuality of indebtedness between the parties.[40] phens v. Cotterell, 99 Pa. St. 188; Steel v. Steel, 12 Pa. St. 64; Wolfersberger v. Bucher, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 10; Aiken v. Bridgman, 37 Vt. 249; Lambarde v. Older, 17 Beav. 542, 17 Jur. 1110, 23 L. J. Ch. 18, 2 Wkly. Rep. 32, 51 Eng. Reprint 1144.

An obligor on a note executed to a married woman during her coverture cannot in an action by her on the note set off against the same an indebtedness against the estate of her deceased husband of which estate she was administratrix. Hurst v. Hamilton, 44 S. W. 432, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1753.

Limitation of rule.— Although one who is sued by an administrator cannot set up a demand in his favor against plaintiff in his individual capacity, yet, if the administrator is insolvent, and a portion of the recovery will belong to him in his individual capacity, such claim may be set up as a retainer in the nature of a set-off. Carr v. Askew, 94 N. C. 194.

36. Nichols v. Dayton, 34 Conn. 65; Patterson v. Patterson, 1 Hun (N. Y.) 323; Ketchum v. Miln, Seld. Notes (N. Y.) 152; Hallett v. Hallett, 13 Ch. D. 232, 49 L. J. Ch. 61, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 723, 28 Wkly. Rep. 321.

In an action by an executrix to foreclose a mortgage for money which became due after testator's death, defendant cannot offset any debt due from the testator to him, although the offset existed at the time of his death. Patterson v. Patterson, 59 N. Y. 574, 17 Am. Rep. 384 [affirming 1 Hun 323].

In an action by an executrix on a life-insurance policy, defendant cannot offset a claim for money due from decedent to him in his lifetime. Hallet v. Hallet, 13 Ch. D. 232, 49 L. J. Ch. 61, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 723, 28 Wkly. Rep. 321.

37. Patterson v. Patterson, 1 Hun (N. Y.) 323.

38. Illinois.— Newhall v. Turney, 14 Ill. 338.

Massachusetts.— Aldrich v. Campbell, 4 Gray 284.

Missouri.— Woodward v. McGaugh, 8 Mo. 161.

New York.— Patterson v. Patterson, 59 N. Y. 574, 17 Am. Rep. 384; Fry v. Evans, 8 Wend. 530; Root v. Taylor, 20 Johns. 137.

Pennsylvania.— Steel v. Steel, 12 Pa. St. 64; Smith v. Boyer, 2 Watts 173.

Vermont.— Aiken v. Bridgman, 37 Vt. 249.

Wisconsin.— Lawrence v. Vilas, 20 Wis. 381.

England.— Wrout v. Dawes, 25 Beav. 369, 53 Eng. Reprint 678; Lambarde v. Older, 17 Beav. 542, 17 Jur. 1110, 23 L. J. Ch. 18, 2 Wkly. Rep. 32, 51 Eng. Reprint 1144; Shipman v. Thompson, Willes 103.

39. McLaughlin v. Winner, 63 Wis. 120, 23 N. W. 402, 53 Am. Rep. 273.

40. Arkansas.— Lawson v. Fischer, 5 Ark. 52.

Delaware.— Robinson v. Robinson, 4 Harr. 418.

Georgia.— Carter v. Tippins, 113 Ga. 636, 38 S. E. 946.

Illinois.— Wisdom v. Becker, 52 Ill. 342.

Kentucky.— Lee v. Russell, 38 S. W. 874, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 951.

Texas.— Houston v. Evans, (Sup. 1891) 17 S. W. 925; Guthrie v. Guthrie, 17 Tex. 541.

England.— Newell v. National Provincial Bank of England, 1 C. P. D. 496, 45 L. J. C. P. 285, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 533, 24 Wkly. Rep. 458.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1701.

Contra.— Ferris v. Mullan, 56 Ind. 164, holding that in an action by the administrator for money collected for decedent by defendant, an attorney at law, defendant may set off a claim for professional services rendered by him for the administrator in the settlement of the estate. This is a memorandum decision and no reason is given for this holding. And see Turner v. Tapscott, 30 Ark. 312.

d. Debts Due in Decedent's Lifetime Against Causes of Action Accruing in His Lifetime. Where suit is brought on a cause of action accruing before decedent's death, defendant is entitled to set off a debt due him from decedent before his death.[41]

Illustrations of rule.— A note given defendant by decedent which matured after decedent's death cannot be set off in an action for a deposit made by decedent with defendant (Jaeger v. Bowery Bank, 8 Misc. (N. Y.) 150, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 303); nor in an action to recover a balance due from defendant to plaintiff's intestate at the time of his death (Jordan v. National Shoe, etc., Bank, 12 Hun (N. Y.) 512 [affirmed in 74 N. Y. 467, 39 Am. Rep. 319]; and services rendered to an executor after testator's death cannot be set off in an action by the executor for money due the estate (Dodson v. Nevitt, 5 Mont. 518, 6 Pac. 358), so a defendant cannot counter-claim a demand arising out of a tort committed by the executor in a suit on a cause of action belonging to decedent (Wakeman v. Everett, 41 Hun (N. Y.) 278 [affirmed in 110 N. Y. 675, 18 N. E. 481]).

Money paid as surety for decedent since his death cannot according to the weight of authority be set off against a debt due decedent in his lifetime. White v. Henly, 54 Mo. 592; Mercein v. Smith, 2 Hill (N. Y.) 210; Granger v. Granger, 6 Ohio 35 [overruling by implication Bentley v. Hollingsback, Wright (Ohio) 168]; Minor v. Minor, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 1. This rule has been held to apply in Pennsylvania, when the estate is insolvent. Poorman v. Goswiler, 2 Watts (Pa.) 69. And see Dorsheimer v. Bucher, 7 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 8.

The institution of unwarranted litigation or other wrongful conduct of the executors constitutes no ground of set-off or recoupment against a demand due to the testator. Cumberland Island Co. v. Bunkley, 108 Ga. 756, 33 S. E. 183.

Limitations and exceptions to rule.—Where by statute attorney's fees are part of the expenses of administration entitled to priority of payment over all charges except funeral expenses, and the party rendering them has his option to hold the administrator or the estate liable therefor, an attorney who is sued to compel payment of money collected for the estate may set off a claim for services rendered in the settlement of the estate. Gammage v. Rather, 46 Tex. 105. So in some jurisdictions claims for funeral expenses may be set off in a suit brought by the personal representative to collect a debt due decedent. Adams v. Butts, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 343; Barbee v. Greene, 86 N. C. 158. It is necessary, however, that such claim should be pleaded as a set-off. Defendant cannot avail himself thereof as a payment of his debt. Adams v. Butts, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 343. In Pennsylvania a limitation is recognized which does not elsewhere obtain. It is there held that where an administrator sues on a cause of action arising before decedent's death, defendant, if the estate is solvent, may set off a debt due by decedent when the suit was brought but becoming due after his death. Hicks v. Liberties Nat. Bank, 168 Pa. St. 638, 32 Atl. 63. And see Bosher v. Exchange Bank, 4 Pa. St. 32, 45 Am. Dec. 665. The rule is otherwise if the estate is insolvent. Farmers, etc., Bank's Appeal, 48 Pa. St. 57. The rule that a demand against the decedent which accrued after his death cannot be set off in an action by the personal representative does not apply where the action is for the proceeds of decedent's note discounted by defendant, and defendant was induced to discount the note by decedent's fraudulent representations as to his solvency since the fraud relates back and vitiates the entire transaction, although the note matured and the fraud was discovered after decedent's death. Peyman v. Bowery Bank, 14 N. Y. App. Div. 432, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 826. Debts of decedent not due at the time of his death may be set off in an action on a claim due before decedent's death under a statute providing that, in an action by a personal representative, a demand against decedent which at the time of the death belonged to defendant may be set off in the same manner as if the action had been brought by decedent (Boyden v. Massachusetts Mut. L. Ins. Co., 153 Mass. 544, 27 N. E. 669); or under a statute providing that when cross demands have existed between persons under such circumstances that one could be pleaded as a counter-claim or set-off to an action brought upon the other, neither can be deprived of the benefit thereof by the assignment or death of the other and that the demands must be deemed compensated so far as they equal each other (Convery v. Langdon, 66 Ind. 311; Ainsworth v. State Bank, 119 Cal. 470, 51 Pac. 952, 63 Am. St. Rep. 135, 39 L. R. A. 689). And see Sorin v. Olinger, 12 Ind. 29, holding that where the intestate held the note of defendant and agreed that it should be paid by boarding, etc., his children, and afterward the administrator sanctioned the agreement, defendant was allowed to set it up in a suit on the note by the administrator de bonis non as to board both before and after the death of the intestate.

41. Connecticut.— Dickerson v. Whittlesey, 2 Root 121.

Delaware.— State v. Connoway, 2 Houst. 206.

Illinois.— Peacock v. Haven, 22 Ill. 23; Camp v. Elliott, 38 Ill. App. 337.

Indiana.— Schoonover v. Quick, 17 Ind. 196.

Kansas.— Helms v. Harclerode, 65 Kan. 736, 70 Pac. 866.

Kentucky.— Barnes v. Greene, 12 S. W. 277, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 422.

New York.— Conway v. Conway, 3 Sandf. 650; Furman v. Hinz, 4 N. Y. St. 674.

North Carolina.— Austin v. Holmes, 23 N. C. 399.

e. Claims Accruing After Decedent's Death Against Causes of Action Accruing After His Death. A demand against the personal representative may be set off against a demand of the personal representative arising after testator's death;[42] under these circumstances, the demands are mutual and due in the same right.[43]

f. Claims in Favor of One Party Against Another Party and Others Jointly. Debts and demands between parties to a suit are not mutual when that in favor of one party is against the other party jointly with others as parties.[44] Consequently in an action by a personal representative on a demand due by defendant alone defendant cannot set off a demand against decedent due to himself and another jointly,[45] nor can he set off a demand due him from decedent and others jointly.[46]

g. Claims Growing Out of Partnership Dealings Between Defendant and Decedent. In an action by a personal representative to recover on a claim due the decedent, claims growing out of partnership dealings between the decedent and defendant are not a proper subject of set-off or counter-claim where there has been no accounting or final settlement of the partnership affairs.[47]

h. Legacies or Distributive Shares. Where suit is brought by a personal representative against a legatee he cannot in general plead as a set-off the amount of his legacy, at least where it is not shown that the estate is solvent and is in a condition to be distributed,[48] and some decisions seem to deny the right of set-off

Ohio.— Granger v. Granger, 6 Ohio 35.

South Carolina.— Mayhew v. Flake, 2 Nott & M. 398. But see Happoldt v. Jones, Harp. 109, holding that in an action by the administrator against a creditor the latter cannot set off the full amount of a note, made by the intestate and transferred to the creditor after the intestate's death, but is entitled only to a reduction ratably with other creditors.

Tennessee.— Richardson v. Parker, 2 Swan 529. See Gregory v. Hasbrook, 1 Tenn. Ch. 218.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1698.

And see Rix v. Newton, 26 Vt. 384.

Illustrations of rule.— A bank when sued by the administrator of a deceased debtor for the amount of his deposit may set off the amount of the note of the intestate held by it which was due at the time of his death (Traders Nat. Bank v. Cresson, 75 Tex. 298, 12 S. W. 819); and in an action by an administrator a demand for the value of the goods delivered to testator may be pleaded as a set-off where the price thereon had not been agreed on (Smith v. Huie, 14 Ala. 201); so in an action on a note given to plaintiff's testator defendant may set off a claim for legal services rendered the testator in the settlement of an estate of which he was administrator, as the attorney has under the statute an option to demand his compensation either of the administrator individually or of the estate (Andrus v. Pettus, 36 Tex. 108).

A note due from the day of its date is an existing demand in favor of the payee at the time of the maker's death, so as to be a proper counter-claim to a subsequent action by the administrator of the maker to foreclose a mortgage owned by intestate. Thornton v. Moore, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 120, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 1100.

42. Tate v. Chandler, 4 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 417 (in which it was held that in an action by an administrator on a note made to him as such against the maker an order drawn by a stranger upon the administrator and accepted by him as such in favor of the maker may be filed and set off by defendant); Lacompte v. Seargent, 7 Mo. 351; Brooks v. Canon, 9 N. Y. St. 506. But see L'Engle v. L'Engle, 19 Fla. 714, holding that in a suit by administrators in their representative capacity to recover assets of the estate loaned by them, defendant cannot set off the value of his services rendered the estate at the request of the administrators, since the administrators can make no new contract binding the estate, unless specially authorized by law, and defendant's remedy is personal against them.

43. See cases cited supra, note 42.

44. Adams v. Ware, 33 Me. 228.

45. Lee v. Russell, 38 S. W. 874, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 951.

Waiver of objection.— If the objection that a debt due to defendant and another jointly cannot be set off against a demand due by defendant alone is not availed of by demurrer, it is waived where a statute so provides. Lee v. Russell, 38 S. W. 874, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 951.

46. Adams v. Ware, 33 Me. 228.

47. Tomlinson v. Nelson, 49 Wis. 679, 6 N. W. 366 [approving Linderman v. Disbrow, 31 Wis. 465], in which it was said that one partner has no claim against his copartner individually on account of partnership transactions, although a final settlement of the affairs would show a balance in favor of the former; that until such final settlement the general rule is that the firm and not the individual partner is the debtor and that in such case it cannot be said correctly that there is a debt due from one partner to the other.

48. Dobbs v. Prothro, 55 Ga. 73; Brewer v. Brewer, 7 Ga. 584; Woessner v. Wells, altogether on the ground that it would interfere with the regular course of distribution,[49] and enable defendant to obtain his share of the estate before the others would obtain theirs.[50] So in an action by the personal representative, it is generally held that defendant cannot set off the amount of a distributive share.[51]

i. Claims Against Estate Purchased After Decedent's Death. Claims against an estate purchased after decedent's death cannot be set off in an action against the purchaser thereof for a debt due the decedent,[52] nor even on a debt created after the death of decedent.[53] The view is taken that it is contrary to public policy to allow a person indebted to an insolvent estate to purchase a claim against such estate after the death of the intestate and make it available as a set-off in order to escape payment of his own debt.[54]

j. In Actions by Representative For Commissions. In an action by a personal representative for his commissions, the heirs upon showing that the personal representative could have recovered assets belonging to the estate amounting to (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 28 S. W. 247. See also Powell v. Palmer, 45 Mo. App. 236. In this case an executor sought to enforce against the residuary legatee a vendor's lien in favor of the testator. The legatee by way of defense pleaded that all bequests and charges payable out of the estate, other than the residuary bequest to himself, had been satisfied; but it also appeared that the time allowed by the statute for the presentation of claims against the estate had not elapsed. It was held that a demurrer to such defense was properly sustained, notwithstanding the action was in equity, since the allegation that there were no provable demands against the estate was not susceptible of absolute proof, and no refunding bond was tendered.

49. Robinson v. Robinson, 4 Harr. (Del.) 418; Dunn v. Carpenter, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 494.

50. Dunn v. Carpenter, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 494.

One who wrongfully obtains possession of the funds of an estate cannot defend an action brought by the executor to recover them by claiming them in payment of a legacy due to himself. Morel v. Surgi, 21 La. Ann. 184.

51. Brents v. Vittatoe, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 427; Guthrie v. Guthrie, 17 Tex. 541. And see Vreeland v. Westervelt, 45 N. J. Eq. 572, 17 Atl. 695; Morgan v Morgan, (Pa. 1889) 16 Atl. 489. Compare Whedbee v. Reddick, 79 N. C. 521, in which it was held that the legatee who borrows from the executors the money of their testator and gives his note for its repayment may set up as a counterclaim against the note the amount due him from the estate.

Under special statutory provisions.— A statute which provides that a coheir on purchasing property from the succession can retain the price until his share is definitely fixed does not authorize the maker of a note in the hands of the administrator of a succession to resist payment on the ground that his wife was an heir when sued by the administrator. Landry v. Le Blanc, 4 Rob. (La.) 37.

52. Indiana.— Haugh v. Seabold, 15 Ind. 343.

Iowa.— Woodward v. Laverty, 14 Iowa 381; Cook v. Lovell, 11 Iowa 81.

Kentucky.— Thompson v. Thompson, 78 S. W. 418, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 1626.

Louisiana.— Naquin v. Durac, 22 La. Ann. 249.

New York.— Root v. Taylor, 20 Johns. 137.

Rhode Island.— Irons v. Irons, 5 R. I. 264.

South Carolina.— Schmidt v. Crafts, 2 Brev. 266.

Texas.— Mitchell v. Rucker, 22 Tex. 66.

Wisconsin.— Union Nat. Bank v. Hicks, 67 Wis. 189, 30 N. W. 234.

But see McGinnis v. Allen, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 645, in which it was said that the argument against the admissibility of the set-off relied upon in this case deduced from the policy of the statute regulating the administration of insolvent estates, however well founded as applicable to cases conducted under the provisions of those statutes, has no application to the present case. So far as appears from this record no suggestion of the insolvency of the intestate's estate has been or could be made. If the estate be in fact insolvent, it is the business of the administrators to resort to the proper proceedings under the statutes.

An administrator cannot authorize a person to purchase claims against the estate to be used as a set-off against debts due the estate. Johnson v. Brown, 25 Tex. Suppl. 120.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1703.

53. Biscoe v. Moore, 12 Ark. 77; Whitehead v. Cade, 1 How. (Miss.) 95, in which it was said that the fact that the debt was contracted with the administrator does not make the case any better, especially when the estate has been reported insolvent.

54. Union Nat. Bank v. Hicks, 67 Wis. 189, 30 N. W. 234. See also Irons v. Irons, 5 R. I. 264, in which it was said that it would enable them to take out of such an estate by way of set-off the full amount of the claims thus purchased, in general, too, at a large discount, to the lessening of the dividends of the other creditors of the estate, whilst the other debtors of the estate not able or not fortunate enough thus to purchase in claims against the estate to set off against their debts would be obliged to pay them in full.

more than the commissions claimed, but which have been lost to the estate by lapse of time, could plead these facts as a set-off to his claim for commissions.[55]

k. In Actions Between Representatives of Different Estates. Where a suit is brought by the administrator of one intestate against the administrator of another intestate for a debt due from the intestate of one to the intestate of another in their lifetime defendant may set off a debt due from plaintiff's intestate to his intestate.[56]

l. In Actions by Administrator Brought Within the Time He Is Exempt From Suit. Where an administrator commences an action within the time during which he is by statute exempt from suit, defendant may plead a set-off.[57]

m. Effect of Insolvency of Estate on Right to Set-Off.[58] In the absence of some special statutory provision to the contrary,[59] insolvency of an estate does not furnish grounds for denying a set-off in an action brought by the personal representative of the estate.[60] Where an estate is insolvent the right of set-off is not limited to cases provided for by statutes of set-off,[61] but is based on the equitable principles which govern the settlement and distribution of the insolvent and bankrupt estates of living persons.[62] It would be inequitable that the administrator should recover the whole sum against the creditor and the creditor take only the average upon his debt.[63] All mutual demands of every nature and kind are to be set off.[64] Claims may be set off which were not due and payable when the action was brought, providing they became due pending the action.[65] Claims not liquidated as well as those the amounts of which are ascertained may be set off;[66]

55. Burbank v. Duncan, 53 S. W. 19, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 826.

56. Barnard v. Jordan, 25 N. C. 268.

57. Cunningham v. Baker, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 399.

58. For necessity of demand in case of insolvent estates see infra, XIV, D, 1, n, (III).

59. Whitehead v. Cade, 1 How. (Miss.) 95, holding that where a statute forbids any action against an estate after it has been reported insolvent the debtor of an insolvent estate will not be allowed a set-off.

60. Alabama.— Godbold v. Roberts, 7 Ala. 662.

Arkansas.—Higgs v. Warner, 14 Ark. 192.

Connecticut.— Hosmer v. Merriam, 1 Root 427.

Indiana.— Carley v. Lewis, 24 Ind. 23.

Massachusetts.—Bigelow v. Folger, 2 Metc. 255.

Ohio.— Creager v. Minard, Wright 519.

Pennsylvania.— Light v. Leininger, 8 Pa. St. 403; Mohn v. Myers, 16 Lanc. L. Rev. 213, 13 York Leg. Rec. 7.

Tennessee.— Richardson v. Parker, 2 Swan 529.

Vermont.— Olcott v. Morey, 1 Tyler 198.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1707.

And see Ray v. Dennis, 5 Ga. 357.

Extinguishment of claim of estate.— If the intestate was indebted to defendant in his lifetime in an equal or greater amount than the debt due from defendant to the intestate then the intestate's demand as against defendant was paid and extinguished by such indebtedness and the note of defendant in the hands of the intestate's administrator cannot be considered as assets, for the reason it has been paid off and extinguished by the intestate's mutual indebtedness to defendant at the time of his death. The intestate if in life could not have recovered the amount of the note from defendant nor can his legal representative. Ray v. Dennis, 5 Ga. 357. See also Richardson v. Parker, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 529.

Bank deposits.— A bank holds a note against a depositor, the deposit exceeding the amount of the note. The depositor dies insolvent. It is held that in equity the bank has a right to retain the amount of the note out of the deposit; equity regarding the bank as debtor to the depositor's estate only for the excess of the deposit over the note, and the deposit as being general assets of the estate only to the extent of the surplus. Therefore it was held immaterial that these are debts of superior dignity. Ford v. Thornton, 3 Leigh (Va.) 695.

61. Phelps v. Rice, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 128; Troup v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 24 R. I. 377, 53 Atl. 122.

62. Troup v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 24 R. I. 377, 53 Atl. 122.

Statutes relative to the settlement of insolvent estates contemplate a fair adjustment of all demands subsisting between the deceased and his creditors at the time of his death, so that the balance justly due to the estate may be collected and then fairly distributed among the creditors. Lyman v. Estes, 1 Me. 182.

63. Hosmer v. Merriam, 1 Root (Conn.) 427.

64. Bigelow v. Folger, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 255; Knapp v. Lee, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 452; McDonald v. Webster, 2 Mass. 498.

65. Bigelow v. Folger, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 255. And see Boyden v. Massachusetts Mut. L. Ins. Co., 153 Mass. 544, 27 N. E. 669.

66. Phelps v. Rice, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 128.

nor is the claimant estopped from a plea of set-off because he has exhibited his demand before commissioners in insolvency, whether it has been allowed[67] or disallowed.[68]

n. Presentment or Demand as Condition Precedent of Right of Set-Off — (i) In General. There is some diversity of opinion as regards the necessity of making demand for settlement of a claim against an estate as a condition precedent of the right to set it off in an action by the personal representative of the estate against the holder of the claim. It has been held that failure to present a claim to the commissioners and procure its allowance will not bar the right of set-off in an action by the personal representative where his own fraudulent acts prevented its presentation.[69] Some cases in which no special statutory provision is mentioned hold that no presentment of the claim is necessary to entitle the holder to plead it as a set-off.[70] So in construing a statute providing that no "action" shall be brought against a personal representative until after demand is made of him for payment, accompanied by affidavit and proof, it has been held that demand is unnecessary to authorize a set-off in a suit by the administrator against the holder thereof;[71] but that the claim must be verified and proved in the manner required by law in the case of claims sued upon in a direct action.[72] So it has been held that notwithstanding a statute providing that no claimant shall maintain any action on his claim unless it is first presented to the personal representative, such presentation is not essential to the right of set-off where another statute provides that if two parties have cross demands which one may plead as a set-off in an action by the other, neither can be deprived of the benefit thereof by the death of the other and that the two demands must be deemed compensated so far as they equal each other.[73] On the other hand it has been held that demand is necessary under a statute providing that no other claims than those presented within the required time can be enforced against the estate, the view being taken that set-off is the equivalent of an action and if no presentation of the demand has been made is prematurely brought.[74] It has also been held that the bar created by a decree made upon proceedings to limit creditors of deceased persons applies to debts and demands alleged by way of set-off.[75]

67. Olcott v. Morey, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 198.

68. Phelps v. Rice, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 128; Olcott v. Morey, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 198.

69. Rose v. Clark, 1 Root (Conn.) 229.

70. Mitchell v. Rucker, 22 Tex. 66; Smalley v. Trammel, 11 Tex. 10; Mortin v. Gordon, Dall. (Tex.) 396.

The ground on which the set-off is admitted is to the extent of the discount thereof a mutual extinguishment of the demands of the representative parties. See cases cited supra, note 70.

71. Warfield v. Gardner, 79 Ky. 583, 587, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 423 (in which it was said: "The reason for requiring a claimant, before bringing an original action against a personal representative, to make demand of him for payment, is, that if the claim is just and properly proved, it may be paid without subjecting the estate to the costs of litigation. But the reason for requiring the demand to be made ceases when the personal representative begins litigation himself"); Millett v. Watkins, 4 Bush (Ky.) 642; Ward v. Rhorer, 54 S. W. 6, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1086. But see Reed v. Johnson, 127 Cal. 538, 59 Pac. 986, where it was held (under a statute (Code Civ. Proc. § 1500) providing that no holder of any claim shall maintain an action thereon unless the claim was presented to the personal representative) that a set-off cannot be pleaded in an action by a personal representative where the claim was not presented for allowance. Nevertheless under the statutes of this state, relating to the powers and duties of the surviving partner (Code Civ. Proc. § 1585) a surviving partner is entitled to an allowance for sums drawn by the deceased from the partnership during his lifetime in an action against him by the administratrix notwithstanding the claim had not been presented to her for allowance. Manuel v. Escolle, 65 Cal. 110, 3 Pac. 411.

72. Warfield v. Gardner, 79 Ky. 583, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 423.

73. Murphy v. Colton, 4 Okla. 181, 44 Pac. 208, in which it was further held to be immaterial that the set-off exceeds the claim of the estate but that it will only be allowed to an extent not to exceed the claim of the estate.

74. Hall v. Greene, 24 R. I. 286, 52 Atl. 1087.

Waiver of non-presentation. — By joining issue upon the plea in set-off plaintiff waives his right to object that it was not presented for allowance. Hall v. Greene, 24 R. I. 286, 52 Atl. 1087.

75. Emson v. Allen, 62 N. J. L. 491, 41 Atl. 703.

(II) Demands Not Presented Within Time Prescribed by Statute of Non-Claim. No demand which has not been presented within the time prescribed can be pleaded by way of set-off, where the statute of non-claim expressly declares that such claim shall be barred and cannot be pleaded as a set-off;[76] and the same has been held to be the case under a statute to the effect that no demand shall be pleaded by way of set-off which was not justly due and accruing to the party pleading it at the time of the commencement of the suit.[77] There is some conflict of authority as to the effect of statutes merely providing that all demands not presented against the estate within a designated time shall be barred. Some of the decisions under these statutes hold that the defense of non-claim as a bar to an independent demand pleaded as a set-off in an action by the personal representative is as complete as if it were interposed to a separate action brought for the recovery of such demand.[78] On the other hand there are decisions holding that statutes of this character only apply where the creditor in the first instance sues the estate; that it has no application to claims presented by way of set-off, and that claims so presented can only be barred by the general statutes of limitations.[79] So under a statute providing that, if an administrator commences an 76. Lovell v. Nelson, 11 Allen (Mass.) 101, 87 Am. Dec. 706; Parker v. Wells, (Nebr. 1903) 94 N. W. 717; Ewing v. Griswold, 43 Vt. 400; Carpenter v. Murphey, 57 Wis. 541, 15 N. W. 798. See also Quinn v. McGovern, 97 Mich. 114, 56 N. W. 226, construing the following statutes: Howell Annot. St. Mich. § 5901, provides that any person failing to present his claim in the time limited shall be barred from recovering on it, or setting it off in any action. Section 5894 provides that at any time before the estate is closed, further time may be allowed for presenting a claim. Section 5904 provides that nothing in the chapter including those sections shall prevent an executor or administrator from commencing an action against another person, or prosecuting an action commenced by deceased. Section 5905 provides in such case that defendant may set off any claim against deceased without presenting it to the commissioners. It was held that where after the expiration of the time for presenting claims to the commissioners an administrator begins an action defendant cannot set off a claim which he had not presented to them.

Estoppel.— Where a creditor of an insolvent estate, relying on an agreement with the administrator to allow the creditor's claim in offset to demands against him in favor of the estate, has neglected to present his claim to the commissioners, it has been held that he is entitled to have it set off in equity against the claim of the estate. Nims v. Rood, 11 Vt. 96, 34 Am. Dec. 669.

Misleading statement of court.— The fact that the probate judge told a claimant that it was not necessary to file his claim and that it could be used as a set-off against a note given by the claimant to decedent does not alter the rule that a claim must be presented to authorize its allowance by way of set-off. Benjamin v. Early, 123 Mich. 93, 81 N. W. 973.

Effect of failure to appoint commissioners. — The rule stated in the text does not apply where no commissioners to whom the claim might be presented were ever appointed. Boltwood v. Miller, 112 Mich. 657, 71 N. W. 506.

Rule under Vermont statutes.— The Vermont statutes contain some peculiar provisions. Gen. St. p. 401, § 14, provides that if a claimant does not exhibit his claim to the commissioners within the time limited by the court for that purpose he shall be forever barred from pleading it as a set-off in any action whatever. Section 17 of the same chapter provides that in an action by the personal representative on a claim due the estate, defendant may plead in offset any claim he has against deceased instead of presenting it to the commissioners. In construing these provisions, it is held that the latter only gives the right of set-off in cases where the administrator brings his suit before the commissioners have acted, where the institution of the suit prevents the offset before the commissioners. Probate Ct. v. Gale, 47 Vt. 473; Soule v. Benton, 44 Vt. 309; Ewing v. Griswold, 43 Vt. 400.

77. Jones v. Jones, 21 N. H. 219.

78. Patrick v. Petty, 83 Ala. 420, 3 So. 779; Bell v. Andrews, 34 Ala. 538; Murdock v. Rousseau, 32 Ala. 611; Emson v. Allen, 62 N. J. L. 491, 41 Atl. 703. See also Shelton v. St. Clair, 64 Ala. 565; Lyon v. Petty, 65 Cal. 322, 4 Pac. 103.

79. Lay v. Mechanics' Bank, 61 Mo. 72; Stiles v. Smith, 55 Mo. 363, 367, where the court said: "A person may well have a demand against an estate, and knowing that he is also indebted to the estate, neglect to prove up the same, supposing that the amounts are about equal, and that when he is proceeded against, he can plead his demand as a set-off and thus determine the whole matter in one suit. If in such a case the administrator should wait till after two years had expired before instituting such an action, it was certainly never designed or intended that the creditor should be deprived of a just or lawful claim."

action to recover in the interest of the estate, defendant may set off any claim he has against the deceased instead of presenting it to the probate court, such offset is permissible even though the time for filing claims has expired.[80]

(III) WHERE ESTATE IS INSOLVENT. Where an estate is insolvent, to authorize a set-off in a suit brought by the personal representative, no presentation of the demand is necessary. The statutes of non-claim are very generally held not to apply under these circumstances.[81] In the case of mutual claims between an insolvent estate and a creditor or a debtor, set-off takes place by operation of law upon principles of equity and independently of the statutes relating to set-off.[82] Nevertheless if the amount claimed by way of set-off is greater than the amount due the estate, the claimant cannot recover the balance without due presentation of the demand.[83] A set-off can be used as matter of defense only, and not as the foundation of a recovery of any balance.[84]

o. Necessity of Pleading Set-Offs. In a suit by a personal representative defendant is not bound to plead a set-off,[85] unless he wishes to recover thereon.[86]

2. IN ACTIONS AGAINST PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVES. In actions against personal representatives on claims against decedent, they are entitled to set off claims in decedent's favor against plaintiff.[87] They cannot, however, set off claims due

80. Talty v. Torling, 79 Minn. 386, 82 N. W. 632; Gerdtzen v. Cockrell, 52 Minn. 501, 55 N. W. 58.

81. Maine.— Morrison v. Jewell, 34 Me. 146; Lyman v. Estes, 1 Me. 182.

Massachusetts.— McDonald v. Webster, 2 Mass. 498.

New Hampshire.— Mathewson v. Strafford Bank, 45 N. H. 104.

Rhode Island.— Hall v. Greene, 24 R. I. 286, 52 Atl. 1087.

Vermont.— Olcott v. Morey, 1 Tyler 198.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1707, 1708.

Bar only pleaded in actions by creditor.— The general bar in cases where the creditor fails to exhibit his claim to the commissioners in insolvency can only be pleaded in an action instituted by the creditor and cannot be taken advantage of by the administrator under the general issue in offset in exclusion of defendant's defense. Olcott v. Morey, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 198.

Rule under Alabama statute.— Under a statute which provides that every person having any claim on an estate declared insolvent must file it in the office of the judge of probate within nine months after declaration of insolvency or it is forever barred, a claim against an insolvent estate not filed within the time required is not available as a set-off. Shelton v. St. Clair, 64 Ala. 565; Bell v. Andrews, 34 Ala. 538; Murdock v. Rousseau, 32 Ala. 611.

82. Hall v. Greene, 24 R. I. 286, 52 Atl. 1087.

83. McDonald v. Webster, 2 Mass. 498, holding that if the balance be against the estate it must be laid before the commissioners and be by them reported to the judge that the creditor may receive his dividend.

84. Mathewson v. Strafford Bank, 45 N. H. 104; Troup v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 24 R. I. 377, 53 Atl. 122.

85. Gregory v. Hasbrook, 1 Tenn. Ch. 218, holding that he may decline to do so and afterward sue on his demand at law or set it off in equity against the judgment recovered against him, provided that he can make out a sufficient case to give the latter court jurisdiction.

86. Patterson v. Steele, 36 Ill. 272.

87. Percy v. Clary, 32 Md. 245; Bealey v. Smith, 158 Mo. 515, 59 S. W. 984, 81 Am. St. Rep. 317; Shimer v. Kinder, 12 N. Y. St. 728; Johnson v. Corbett, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 265; Nehbe v. Price, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 328; Stuart v. Peyton, 97 Va. 796, 34 S. E. 696. And see Headley v. Jenkins, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 463. But compare Blakely v. Frazier, 11 S. C. 122, 139, in which it was held that in an action against executors on a claim accruing against decedent in his lifetime, the unpaid costs of a suit on the same cause of action against testator brought and discontinued during his lifetime will not be set off. In this case, the court said: "The defendants, as defendants, have no right to demand such costs, but merely as the personal representatives of the deceased former defendant." This, however, seems to be a sufficient reason why a set-off should be permitted in this case.

Illustrations of rule.— In an action on a claim against an estate for services rendered to the deceased there may be set off sums of money and the value of articles furnished to the claimant by the deceased during his lifetime. Shimer v. Kinder, 12 N. Y. St. 728. So in an action on a claim due from decedent the personal representative may set off the claim of decedent against plaintiff on an instrument acknowledging the receipt of a sum of money in trust to be accounted for to decedent which is liquidated and payable on demand and that too whether it is considered as in trust or a mere debt. Gannon v. Ruffin, 151 Mass. 204, 24 N. E. 37.

In an action against an executor in his representative capacity on accounts stated by him as executor, a set-off of debts due from plaintiff to the testator is permissible, because an account stated by an executor as such shows a debt due from testator to plaintiff. Blakesley v. Smallwood, 8 Q. B.

them in their individual capacity.[88] The general rule is that a personal representative when sued in his official capacity may set off only those claims which decedent himself might have pleaded and which are due by his estate.[89] So in actions against personal representatives, in their individual capacity, it is not permissible to set off claims due the estate, as the claims are not between the same parties nor in the same right.[90] He may, however, set off a claim due to himself

538, 10 Jur. 470, 15 L. J. Q. B. 185, 55 E. C. L. 538.

Where a suit is brought by the administrator of one intestate against the administrator of another intestate for a debt due from the intestate of one to the intestate of the other in their lifetime, defendant may set off a debt that was due from plaintiff's intestate to his intestate. Barnard v. Jordan, 25 N. C. 268.

Claims due decedent and executor jointly. — In one jurisdiction it has been held that in an action against the personal representative on a claim due from decedent defendant may set off a claim due to himself and deceased as partner. Burke v. Stillwell, 23 Ark. 294. And see for a similar holding Eyrich v. Capital State Bank, 67 Miss. 60, 6 So. 615, which cites the above decision. See also Hale v. Brown, 11 Ala. 87.

Where estate insolvent.— In a suit on a note given by decedent if the estate is declared insolvent, claims between plaintiff and the estate are subject to be set off, and the balance on it should be allowed to be recovered, although there could have been no set-off if both parties had lived. Medomak Bank v. Curtis, 24 Me. 36.

Invalid claims of decedent.— In an action by a child against his mother's administrator for money received by her as his guardian, the administrator cannot set up a claim for the support and education of her child by the intestate unless it appears that she intended to charge him therefor. Guion v. Guion, 16 Mo. 48, 57 Am. Dec. 223.

Necessity of pleading set-off.— An administrator of an estate is not bound to set off any debt or demand which the estate may have against a suing creditor, and his failure to do so will not bar such debt or demand. Ward v. People, 77 Ill. App. 522.

Time of filing set-off.— Under a statute providing that an executor or administrator shall not be obliged to make a defense for one year after his appointment, he may file an account in set-off on the first day of the term next after the close of the year from the date of his appointment, although the action may have been begun at a previous term. Cooley v. Patterson, 49 Me. 570.

88. Alabama.— Phillips v. Thompson, 9 Port. 664.

Massachusetts.— Stickney v. Clement, 7 Gray 170.

New Hampshire.— Lamberton v. Freeman, 16 N. H. 547.

New York.— Mead v. Merritt, 2 Paige 402.

North Carolina.— Barnard v. Jordan, 25 N. C. 268.

Pennsylvania.—Bradshaw's Appeal, 3 Grant 109; Cotton's Estate, 6 Pa. Dist. 205; Dale v. Medway, Wilcox 155.

Texas.— House v. Collins, 42 Tex. 486.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1712 et seq.

Contra.— Mardall v. Thelluson, 21 L. J. Q. B. 410 [practically overruled in Rees v. Watts, 11 Exch. 410, 1 Jur. N. S. 1023, 25 L. J. Exch. 30, 3 Wkly. Rep. 575].

Claims purchased after decedent's death.— A personal representative cannot either at law or in equity set off a demand purchased by him after the death of the testator or intestate against a debt due by the estate to the person against whom he held the demand so purchased. Weeks v. O'Brien, 25 N. Y. App. Div. 206, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 344, 27 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 86 [reversing 20 Misc. 48, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 740]; Mead v. Peck, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 402; Lamberton v. Freeman, 16 N. H. 547; McClenahan v. Cotten, 83 N. C. 332. Where there is no set-off at law, there must be special circumstances of equity to authorize a set-off in chancery, and it is against the principles of sound policy to permit executors to purchase claims against the creditors of the estate in order to obtain a set-off in equity. Mead v. Peck, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 402.

Price of goods sold by personal representative.— In an action against a personal representative for a debt due from decedent, defendant cannot set off a sum due on a note given by plaintiff to him as administrator for goods of his intestate which he had sold as administrator. Smith v. Edwards, 1 Houst. (Del.) 427; Barnard v. Jordan, 25 N. C. 268. But see Eldredge v. Bell, 64 Iowa 125, 19 N. W. 879, holding that the purchase-money from the sale of the personal property of an estate belongs to the executors, regardless of any claim which the purchaser may have against the estate; but if, in an action by the purchaser against the estate to enforce his claim the executors set up the purchase-money due as a counter-claim against the purchaser, a court is justified in treating the purchase-money claim precisely as the executors pleaded it.

89. Cotton's Estate, 6 Pa. Dist. 205. Where one of the parties must sue or be sued in his representative character, and the other may sue or be sued without naming him executor, then, the debts being due in different rights, cannot be set off against each other. Barnard v. Jordan, 25 N. C. 268.

90. Collins v. Greene, 67 Ala. 211; Prouty v. Hudson, 5 Pa. L. J. Rep. 311; Lanier v. Brunson, 21 S. C. 41. But compare Blood v. Kane, 130 N. Y. 514, 29 N. E. 994, 15 L. R. A. 490 [reversing 52 Hun 225, 6 N. Y. Suppl.

individually,[91] or due to himself and another individually, provided the other consents, but not otherwise.[92] So where an executor voluntarily pays a legacy without a refunding bond and afterward the estate is found to be insolvent, the executor may, in an action against him for a debt due from testator, set off what he has paid upon the legacy beyond the proportion which he should have paid.[93] After the administration is wound up the commissions are due the administrator and ascertainable and may be counter-claimed in any action by the heirs without being reduced to judgment.[94]

E. Jurisdiction and Venue — 1. Jurisdiction — a. Action on Claims in Favor of or Against Estate. Actions on claims in favor of an estate should be brought in courts of ordinary jurisdiction and not in the probate court.[95] Actions on claims against estates are usually brought in courts of law of ordinary jurisdiction,[96] but under the statutes of some jurisdictions actions of this character may be brought in the probate court.[97] Where a creditor has exhausted legal remedies without avail, he may sue in equity to subject to his claim an interest in the estate of an administrator.[98] So a court of equity has jurisdiction of a bill by a creditor to enforce his demand against the executors and legatees, to whom assets have been delivered upon the undertaking to pay all demands.[99] And it has been held that inasmuch as a personal representative is a trustee for creditors and others interested, this court has jurisdiction of an action against the administrator for a debt due from decedent.[1] Its jurisdiction cannot be invoked, however, to enforce such a claim, where by statute the relief sought may be obtained in an ordinary legal proceeding in the probate court, and where no special circumstances requiring the aid of a court of equity are disclosed.[2] Where suit is brought on a claim secured by a mortgage or trust deed, the court may determine the validity of the trust deed,[3] and the mortgage being 353], in which it was held that an executrix and sole devisee and legatee who has paid all the debts of testator may in an action against her individually for services rendered her personally set off a debt due by plaintiff to the estate, although there was never any publication of notice to creditors to present their claims.

In an action for payment of a personal debt, defendant cannot plead by way of set-off or counter-claim, a debt due to him as executor of the decedent's estate. He cannot discharge his own liability by setting off the debt due the estate. Gourley v. Walker, 69 Iowa 80, 28 N. W. 444.

91. Barlow v. Myers, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 286, in which defendant was permitted to set off a note to his testator indorsed in blank and in which it was said that any person in possession of such a note may sue upon it and may in court if necessary fill out the blank and make it payable to himself.

Claim due to decedent and administrator jointly.— When one joint maker of a note is the administrator of his co-maker, he is entitled when sued to set off against the payee any debt which the latter owes the estate. Mitchell v. Burt, 9 Ala. 226.

92. Solliday v. Bissey, 12 Pa. St. 347.

93. Harris v. White, 5 N. J. L. 422, holding that the money refunded would belong to the executors in their representative capacity. The whole doctrine of refunding goes upon the principle that the money refunded is assets in the hands of the executors for the payment of debts. And see Smith v. Smith, 79 N. C. 455, holding that in an action against an executor on a note of testator they may insist on a refund of a legacy paid plaintiff in order to pay the note out of the legacy.

94. Barlow v. Norfleet, 72 N. C. 535.

95. Bernard v. Thayer, 19 La. Ann. 257; Barrett v. Halpin, 19 La. Ann. 166.

96. Sanders v. Douglas, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 454; Vaughn v. Stephenson, 69 N. C. 212.

97. Cole County v. Dallmey, 101 Mo. 57, 13 S. W. 687; Jones' Appeal, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 554.

98. Bennick v. Bennick, 62 N. C. 45.

99. Moore v. Coldwell, 8 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 22, in which it was said that the remedy at law is neither so plain nor adequate as to exclude the creditor from a court of equity.

1. Judal v. Brandon, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 506.

2. Kothman v. Markson, 34 Kan. 542, 9 Pac. 218.

A general creditor cannot sustain a bill in equity on a purely legal demand unless he shows that he has exhausted his legal remedy or that that remedy for some good cause would be inadequate or unavailable. Hale v. White, 47 W. Va. 700, 35 S. E. 884, holding that where the bill shows that the estate is solvent and the assets superabundant, the mere pretext of the want of discovery will not give equitable jurisdiction against a personal representative who is not shown to have neglected any of the statutory requirements relating to his duties as such representative to the injury of plaintiff.

3. Albright v. Allday, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 37 S. W. 646.

an incident of the debt, the court has jurisdiction to settle and determine conflicting claims and interests thereunder.[4] Where a claim against a decedent's estate is transferred from the orphans' court to the chancery court, the latter will take it in the plight and condition it is then in, and proceed with it like other chancery causes, applying the law regulating such estates in the orphans' court.[5]

b. Actions on Joint or Joint and Several Obligations of Deceased and Others. A court of probate has jurisdiction of a claim on which a decedent is jointly and severally liable and may adjudicate upon it as an equitable money claim.[6] Otherwise, however, as to a claim on which decedent is jointly liable with another which must be enforced in a court of ordinary jurisdiction.[7] The living joint obligor is not amenable to the jurisdiction of a probate court.[8]

c. Actions at Law and Suits in Equity For Recovery of Legacies and Distributive Shares — (i) Actions and Suits For Legacies. At first it was held in England that an action might be maintained at law against an executor upon his promise to pay a general legacy in consideration of assets.[9] These cases, however, were subsequently overruled and the doctrine established that an action at law did not lie for the recovery of a legacy,[10] except in case of specific legacies assented to by the executor, and in the latter instance the action was allowed on the ground that the interest in any specific thing bequeathed vests at law in the legatee upon the assent of the executor.[11] In many American states the right to bring actions at law to recover legacies is given by statute,[12] while in others the right is upheld independently of any statutory provision,[13] and that too whether

4. Dyer v. George, 32 Tex. Civ. App. 504, 75 S. W. 48.

5. Taliaferro v. Brown, 11 Ala. 702.

6. Moore v. Rogers, 19 Ill. 347.

7. Noble v. McGinnis, 55 Ind. 528; Gallier v. Walsh, 1 Rob. (La.) 226.

8. Gallier v. Walsh, 1 Rob. (La.) 226.

Effect of special statutory provisions.— Under a statute giving the probate court exclusive jurisdiction over "all suits and other proceedings instituted against executors and administrators upon any demand against the estate of their testator or intestate," the probate court has exclusive jurisdiction of demands arising out of joint obligations of deceased as well as those arising out of his sole obligations. Wernse v. McPike, 76 Mo. 249; Julian v. Wood, 69 Mo. 153.

9. Hawkes v. Saunder, 1 Cowp. 289; Atkins v. Hill, 1 Cowp. 284.

10. Deeks v. Strutt, 5 T. R. 690.

The reason assigned is that if an action will lie for a legacy no terms can be imposed on the party who is entitled to recover; and therefore when the legacy is given to a wife, the husband would recover at law and no provision could be made for the wife or family; whereas a court of equity will take care to make some provision for the wife in such a case. Deeks v. Strutt, 5 T. R. 690.

11. Williams v. Lee, 3 Atk. 223, 26 Eng. Reprint 930; Doe v. Guy, 3 East 120, 4 Esp. 154, 6 Rev. Rep. 563; Young v. Holmes, 1 Str. 70; 3 Williams Ex. 518.

12. Alabama.— Pettigrew v. Pettigrew, 1 Stew. 580; Gause v. Hughes, 9 Port. 556.

Maine.— Holt v. Libby, 80 Me. 329, 14 Atl. 201.

Massachusetts.— Gale v. Nickerson, 151 Mass. 428, 24 N. E. 400, 9 L. R. A. 200; Colwell v. Alger, 5 Gray 67; Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. 213.

Mississippi.— Magee v. Gregg, 11 Sm. & M. 70; Worten v. Howard, 2 Sm. & M. 527, 41 Am. Dec. 607. And see Packwood v. Elliot, 43 Miss. 504.

New Jersey.— Woodruff v. Woodruff, 3 N. J. L. 552.

New York.— Ducasse v. Caze, Anth. N. P. 190.

Pennsylvania.— Solliday v. Bissey, 12 Pa. St. 347; Clark v. Herring, 5 Binn. 33; Holloback v. Van Buskirk, 4 Dall. 147, 1 L. ed. 777.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1678.

Discharge of one joint executor.— If one of several joint executors who have rendered an account showing a balance is discharged and ordered to pay over any funds in his hands to the other executors and he does so the legatee cannot sustain an action against him for a legacy as it would be in direct conflict with the decree. McNeal v. Holbrook, 25 Pa. St. 189.

In North Carolina the probate court has exclusive original jurisdiction of special proceedings for legacies and distributive shares; in such cases, if the construction of a will comes in question or, should exceptions be filed to the account as stated by the probate judge, such questions and exceptions and all other questions of law will be sent up to the judge from whose decision an appeal may be taken. Heilig v. Foard, 64 N. C. 710.

13. Colt v. Colt, 32 Conn. 422; Knapp v. Hanford, 6 Conn. 170; Goodwin v. Chaffee, 4 Conn. 163; Spalding v. Spalding, 2 Root 271; Warren v. Rogers, 2 Root 159; Lamb v. Smith, 1 Root 419; Tappen v. Tappen, 30 N. H. 50; Weeks v. Sowles, 58 Vt. 696, 6

the promise to pay is express or merely implied,[14] the reason assigned being that the basis for the rule in England does not exist here; that the rights of all legatees, whether married women or infants, are as fully protected by legislation as they could be by any administration of the trust in equity.[15] Other decisions have recognized the English rule as to specific legacies and allow actions at law to recover such legacies when they are assented to by the executor,[16] and some decisions hold that an action at law will lie on an express promise to pay a general legacy either in consideration of assets or forbearance;[17] but that an express promise of the executor is necessary to authorize the action.[18] Legacies are recoverable on a bill in equity,[19] and assent by the executor is unnecessary. A court of equity which regards the executor as a trustee will compel him to assent and pay the legacy.[20] Notwithstanding the fact that the action may be maintained at law for recovery of a legacy, this does not take away the jurisdiction of a court of equity.[21]

(II) Actions and Suits For Distributive Shares. An action at law does not lie to recover a distributive share of an intestate's property,[22] without statutory authorization.[23] And this is so, although the personal representative may have expressly promised to pay.[24] A bill in equity is the appropriate remedy for the recovery of a distributive share,[25] an administrator being considered a trustee

Atl. 603. And see Webster v. American Bible Soc., 50 Ohio St. 1, 33 N. E. 297.

14. See Connecticut cases supra, note 13.

15. Knapp v. Hanford, 6 Conn. 170.

16. Lark v. Linstead, 2 Md. Ch. 162; Hodge v. Hodgem, 72 N. C. 616; Miller v. Burnest, 65 N. C. 67. See also Nelson v. Cornwell, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 724, which holds that where an executor has assented to a specific legacy the legatee may sue for his legacy at law, provided the executor has waived a refunding bond. It was held, however, in this case that the intention to waive the refunding bond must be very clear and will not be presumed from mere assent to the legatee. The assent will be presumed to be given on condition that the refunding bond be furnished.

A legacy uncertain in amount is not recoverable by action at law, even where the executor has assented to it, or has made a part payment; but it is enforceable in the court of probate. Hendrick v. Mayfield, 74 N. C. 626.

17. McNeil v. Quince, 3 N. C. 153.

18. Coates v. Mackie, 43 Md. 127; Lark v. Linstead, 2 Md. Ch. 162; Vanlaar v. Haslet, Wright (Ohio) 458. See also Kent v. Summervell, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 265.

19. Connecticut.— Colt v. Colt, 32 Conn. 422.

Maryland.— Lark v. Linstead, 2 Md. Ch. 162.

New Jersey.— Frey v. Demorest, 16 N. J. Eq. 236.

North Carolina.— McNeil v. Quince, 3 N. C. 153.

Vermont.— Bellows v. Sowles, 57 Vt. 411; Sparhawk v. Buell, 9 Vt. 41.

Virginia.— Taliaferro v. Thornton, 6 Call 21.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1678.

Where the executor refuses to pay a legacy claimed by him to be void under the state law, a bill to recover it lies, as the remedy at law is inadequate. Domestic, etc., Missionary Soc. Protestant Episcopal Church v. Gaither, 62 Fed. 422.

20. Lark v. Linstead, 2 Md. Ch. 162.

21. Webster v. American Bible Soc., 50 Ohio St. 1, 33 N. E. 297; Nelson v. Cornwell, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 724; Pettigrew v. Pettigrew, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 580. But see Gale v. Nickerson, 151 Mass. 428, 24 N. E. 400, 9 L. R. A. 200, holding that the action must be brought at law where a statute authorizes this mode of procedure because there is an adequate remedy at law, and further holding that a statute providing that a bill in equity may be maintained to reach and apply in payment of a debt any property of the debtor or which cannot be come at by attachment or execution is not applicable to a suit by heirs of a legatee to recover his share of an estate.

22. Jones v. Tanner, 7 B. & C. 542, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 71, 1 M. & R. 420, 14 E. C. L. 245.

23. Holmes v. Howell, 14 N. C. 98. Statutory authority, however, is found for bringing actions of this character at law in some jurisdictions. See Wheeler v. Bolton, 54 Cal. 302; Schmidt v. Stark, 61 Minn. 91, 63 N. W. 255; Dorsheimer v. Rorback, 23 N. J. Eq. 46; Frey v. Demarest, 16 N. J. Eq. 236.

24. Amos v. Campbell, 9 Fla. 187; Fischer v. Fischer, 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 74; Jones v. Tanner, 7 B. & C. 542, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 71, 1 M. & R. 420, 14 E. C. L. 245. And see Johnson v. Johnson, 3 B. & P. 162, 6 Rev. Rep. 736; Holland v. Clark, 1 Y. & Coll. 151, 20 Eng. Ch. 151; 3 Williams Ex. 519.

A distributive share due a feme covert cannot be recovered in an action at law except on the administrator's bond, the only remedy in chancery where the court will see that a suitable provision is made. At law a husband might obtain possession of a wife's property without being compellable to make a suitable settlement upon her. Howard v. Brown, 11 Vt. 361.

25. Cherry v. Belcher, 5 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 133; Parsons v. Parsons, 9 N. H. 309, 32 for the benefit of those entitled to distributive shares in an estate.[26] Notwithstanding a statutory remedy by action at law is given for the recovery of a distributive share of an estate, this remedy is merely cumulative and does not qualify or limit the jurisdiction of equity over the subject.[27]

d. Actions Based on Malfeasance or Misfeasance of Personal Representative. In some states the jurisdiction of the probate court is adequate to afford a complete remedy against an administrator for failure to return an inventory and for conversion of assets of the estate to his own use.[28] Neither a court of common law of ordinary jurisdiction,[29] nor the chancery court,[30] will assume jurisdiction. Where, however, the estate has been finally settled and the representative discharged the jurisdiction of the probate court is exhausted, and actions based on improper administration cannot be brought therein, but must be brought in another tribunal.[31] The administrator of an executor cannot be sued at law for a devastavit of the latter; resort must be had to a court of equity, where the liabilities of the succeeding representatives and their sureties can be adjusted;[32] and a court of equity is the proper tribunal to investigate and grant relief against the fraudulent combination by the personal representative and others confederating to injure those interested in the faithful administration of the estate. In no other court can appropriate relief be afforded.[33]

e. Suits For Specific Performance. Specific performance is strictly a subject of equity jurisdiction;[34] and suits to enforce specific performance of a contract entered into by a person deceased must be brought in a court of chancery in the absence of special statutes conferring jurisdiction on some other court.[35] To authorize any other court to exercise jurisdiction, it must be clearly conferred and cannot be given by implication merely.[36] Nevertheless the statutes of many states have conferred jurisdiction on probate courts of suits of the character under consideration.[37] The jurisdiction so conferred is held to be concurrent

Am. Dec. 362; Pinkerton v. Walker, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 221.

Where an executor refuses to pay over the money in his hands to a person claiming the same as distributee until the right of such person to receive it is established, equity has jurisdiction to grant relief upon a bill by the distributee against the executor. Garrison v. Hill, 81 Md. 206, 31 Atl. 794.

26. Parsons v. Parsons, 9 N. H. 309, 32 Am. Dec. 362; Pinkerton v. Walker, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 321.

27. Dorsheimer v. Rorback, 23 N. J. Eq. 46; Frey v. Demarest, 16 N. J. Eq. 236.

28. Edmundson v. Roberts, 2 How. (Miss.) 822.

In Montana the probate court can make necessary orders for settlement of estates of deceased persons, but cannot render judgments against administrators for receiving money of estates and failing to account therefor. Deer Lodge County v. Kohrs, 2 Mont. 66.

29. Graffam v. Ray, 91 Me. 234, 39 Atl. 569.

30. Edmundson v. Roberts, 2 How. (Miss.) 822. But see Dobbs v. Cockerham, 2 Port. (Ala.) 328.

31 Davis v. Harwood, 70 Tex. 71, 8 S. W. 58; Long v. Wooters, 18 Tex. Civ. App. 35, 45 S. W. 165.

32. Taliferro v. Bassett, 3 Ala. 670.

33. Crain v. Cram, 17 Tex. 80; Dobbin v. Bryan, 5 Tex. 276.

34. Pomeroy Sp. Pert. § 1.

35. Coil v. Pitman, 46 Mo. 51.

36. Coil v. Pitman, 46 Mo. 51.

37. California.— See Corwin's Estate, 61 Cal. 160.

Indiana.— Boyle v. Moss, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 535.

Maine.— May v. Boyd, 97 Me. 398, 54 Atl. 938, 94 Am. St. Rep. 509.

Massachusetts.— Lyons v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 482.

Mississippi.— Servis v. Beatty, 32 Miss. 52. And see White v. Gilbert, 39 Miss. 802.

Pennsylvania.— Fitzimmons v. Lindsay, 205 Pa. St. 79, 54 Atl. 488; Myers v. Black, 17 Pa. St. 193; McFardon's Appeal, 11 Pa. St. 503; Chess' Appeal, 4 Pa. St. 52, 45 Am. Dec. 668; Logan's Estate, 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 455.

Texas.— Walker v. Myers, 36 Tex. 203; Todd v. Caldwell, 10 Tex. 236; Buchanan v. Park, (Civ. App. 1899) 36 S. W. 807.

Washington.— See Christ Church v. Beach, 7 Wash. 65, 39 Pac. 1053.

United States.— Aspley v. Murphy, 52 Fed. 570, 3 C. C. A. 205.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1721, 1722.

To what suits statutes not applicable.— Statutes vesting in the orphans' court exclusive jurisdiction to specifically enforce a contract where a vendee, under articles of agreement for the sale of land, leaves and the vendor retakes possession and then dies, does not apply when the vendor conveys the legal title to a third person, who subsequently dies, devising it to another. Merrell v. Merrell, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 531. So under the Texas statutes the jurisdiction of a probate with and not exclusive of jurisdiction of courts of equity,[38] where there is nothing in the act conferring jurisdiction which indicates an intention to restrict the bringing of such suits to the probate court.[39]

f. Suits to Enforce Liens. The enforcement of vendor's liens belongs to the jurisdiction of chancery courts.[40] A probate court has no jurisdiction to enforce a vendor's lien against land belonging to a decedent's estate unless conferred by statute, and a statute giving a probate court jurisdiction in "proceedings instituted against executors and administrators upon any demand against the estate of a decedent" does not confer such jurisdiction.[41] Even though such jurisdiction were conferred upon a probate court the jurisdiction of a chancery court would not thereby be ousted unless the intent to vest exclusive jurisdiction in the probate court appears very clearly.[42] Statutes merely conferring on probate courts jurisdiction to foreclose a mortgage given by a decedent do not take away the jurisdiction of a court of equitable jurisdiction over such suits.[43] A court of chancery and not a court of probate has jurisdiction to enforce a lien of an heir against land purchased by an administrator out of funds of the estate.[44]

g. Actions or Suits to Set Aside Fraudulent Conveyances. Where a personal representative in behalf of creditors of the estate seeks to set aside a conveyance of realty by decedent made in fraud of creditors suit must be brought in a court of equity.[45] If, however, the property sought to be reached is personalty, an action may be brought in a court of law for its recovery,[46] and it has been held court to enforce the specific performance by an administrator of a contract of the deceased to convey real estate can be exercised only when there is a bond or written agreement in writing to make title. Peters v. Phillips, 19 Tex. 70, 70 Am. Dec. 319.

38. Lyons v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 482; Mousseau v. Mousseau, 40 Minn. 236, 41 N. W. 977; Christ Church r. Beach, 7 Wash. 65, 39 Pac. 1053.

Rule in Pennsylvania.— In Pennsylvania it is held that the jurisdiction of the probate court of proceedings to enforce specific performance of decedent's contracts is exclusive. Fitzsimmons v. Lindsay, 205 Pa. St. 79, 54 Atl. 488; Wiley's Appeal, 84 Pa. St. 270; Cobbs v. Burns, 61 Pa. St. 278; Porter v. Dougherty, 25 Pa. St. 405; Weller v. Weyand, 2 Grant 102 (in which it was said that where a remedy is provided by statute, it supersedes common-law remedies, especially where the statutory remedy is substituted for the inconvenient practice introduced by the courts of administering equity in common-law forms to prevent a failure of justice); Woopel v. Calder, 8 Lanc. Bar 205.

39. Christ Church r. Beach, 7 Wash. 65, 39 Pac. 1053.

40. Edmonson v. Phillips, 73 Mo. 57. And see Burger v. Potter, 32 Ill. 66.

41. Ross v. Julian, 70 Mo. 209.

42. Edmonson v. Phillips, 73 Mo. 57.

Under the Texas statutes the probate court in a pending administration has exclusive original jurisdiction over vendor's liens against the estate. The remedy upon rejection of a lien by the administrator is in the probate court (Moore v. Glass, 6 Tex. Civ. App. 368, 25 S. W. 128); and the same is the case with respect to a lien which has been approved by the probate court (Cunningham v. Taylor, 20 Tex. 126).

43. Shoemaker v. Brown, 10 Kan. 383.

Under the statutes of Nevada in an action to foreclose a mortgage given by decedent where the mortgagee and the representative of the deceased are the only necessary parties, the probate court and equitable courts have concurrent jurisdiction; but if other persons whose rights could not be adjudicated in a probate court are necessary parties the court of equity must of necessity hear the case. Corbett v. Rice, 2 Nev. 330.

Under Tex. Rev. St. art. 2067, which provide that "any creditor of a deceased person holding a claim secured by a mortgage . . . which claim has been allowed and approved . . . may obtain at a regular term of the court, from the county court . . . an order for the sale of the property upon which he has such mortgage," where an administrator has allowed a claim but rejected in part the lien of the mortgage securing it, he can only enforce his lien in the county court, and no jurisdiction for that purpose is conferred on the district court by a statute providing that "when a claim for money against an estate has been rejected by [an] . . . administrator either in whole or in part, the owner of such claim may, . . . bring a suit against the executor or administrator for the establishment thereof in any court having jurisdiction." Western Mortg., etc., Co. v. Jackman, 77 Tex. 622, 14 S. W. 305.

44. Culver v. Pierson, (N. J. Ch. 1888) 15 Atl. 269.

45. See infra, XIV, G, 3, f; and, generally, FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

46. Doe r. Clark, 42 Iowa 123; Cooley v. Brown, 30 Iowa 490, 35 Iowa 475; Bresnaham v. Nugent, 106 Mich. 459, 64 N. W. 458. But see Benjamin r. Le Baron, 15 Ohio 517, holding that an administrator cannot maintain an action at law to recover goods transferred by decedent to defraud his creditor; that the remedy if any is in chancery.

that such action must be brought in a court of law and a bill in equity cannot be maintained.[47]

h. Actions on Contracts of Personal Representatives. Common-law tribunals and not probate courts have jurisdiction of actions against personal representatives on contracts made by them which bind them and not the estate in the absence of some statute conferring jurisdiction on probate courts.[48] If by statute the contract binds the estate and not the representative personally the probate court has exclusive original jurisdiction to enforce it,[49] and, under a statute giving probate courts jurisdiction in all suits against administrators arising from any duty omitted in the discharge of their trusts, an action may be brought in the probate court to compel specific performance of a contract of sale of land against an administrator who had individually executed a bond to convey to his intestate prior to his death and who in selling his intestate's interest in the land executed a bond to convey in his individual capacity instead of signing as administrator the bond that had been executed in favor of his intestate.[50] The circuit court has jurisdiction of an action by an attorney to establish a claim for services rendered a decedent's estate, under a statute providing that any person having a claim against an estate may establish it by judgment or decree of some court of record.[51]

i. Actions on Claims of Personal Representative Against Estate. Where an administrator has a claim to any portion of the property alleged by the creditors to belong to the estate and his claim is adverse to that of the creditors, they may resort to a court of equity to have the controversy settled.[52] A statute providing that any person having a demand against an estate may establish the same by the judgment of some court of record in the ordinary course of proceedings confers on circuit courts jurisdiction to establish demands against estates of deceased persons, but does not give them jurisdiction to adjust the claims of a personal representative for his services and expenses against the estate in his hands.[53]

j. Actions to Charge Personal Representative Individually. Actions of this character are usually brought in courts of ordinary jurisdiction.[54] But under the statutes of some states the probate court has jurisdiction of proceedings to charge a personal representative individually for a debt of the decedent.[55]

k. Suits Between Personal Representatives. As is shown in another section, courts of law subject to some few exceptions have no jurisdiction of suits by one personal representative against another. Suits of this character are of equitable cognizance.[56]

l. Set-Off or Counter-Claim. The set-off of one judgment against another is a matter of equitable cognizance and the probate court has no power to try the validity of the judgments of other tribunals nor the right of personal representatives to set off one judgment against another.[57] A court of equity has not jurisdiction to set off a claim against the estate not reduced to judgment against a judgment in favor of the estate.[58] Courts in which suit is brought by a personal representative to enforce a demand in favor of the estate are very 47. Bresnaham v. Nugent, 106 Mich. 459, 64 N. W. 458.

48. Flower v. Swift, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 529. And see Holmes v. Foster, 78 N. C. 35.

49. Gurnee v. Maloney, 38 Cal. 85, 99 Am. Dec. 352.

50. Boyle v. Moss, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 535.

51. Nichols v. Reyburn, 55 Mo. App. 1.

52. Morse v. Slason, 13 Vt. 296.

53. Stephens v. Cassity, 104 Mo. App. 210, 77 S. W. 1089.

54. Prater v. Stinson, 26 Ala. 456; Burnett v. Strong, 26 Miss. 116.

55. Jones' Appeal, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 554.

56. See infra, XIV, T.

Claim of administrator against estate.— Equity has jurisdiction of a suit by administrators against their co-administrator to ascertain and settle the amount due on a claim made by the co-administrator against the estate. Petty v. Young, 43 N. J. Eq. 654, 9 Atl. 377, 12 Atl. 392.

57. Stilwell v. Carpenter, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 238.

58. Reno v. Robertson, 41 Ind. 567, in which it was said that it is only after the claims have passed into judgment that one can be used on motion to compel satisfaction of the other.

generally held to have jurisdiction to entertain a claim against the estate and allow it by way of set-off and counter-claim, provided it is of such a character that it will admit of being set off or counter-claimed.[59] The view is taken that statutes vesting the probate court with exclusive jurisdiction of suits or proceedings on demands against an estate only contemplate a voluntary proceeding against an estate and do not deny the right to make any defense on being involuntarily brought into another court.[60] Nevertheless the court in which the set-off is pleaded has jurisdiction only so far as the claims extinguish each other. No judgment can be rendered for a balance in favor of defendant;[61] and its jurisdiction is further restricted by the character of the claims which are sought to be set off against each other.[62]

m. Miscellaneous. If property of a person is inventoried by an administrator as belonging to an estate, the owner may sue at law for its recovery and a bill in equity will not lie, where the remedy at law is adequate.[63] To recover money paid to the distributee in case new debts appear against the intestate the remedy of the administrator is in equity.[64] So it has been held that he may file a bill in chancery against one who intermeddles and embezzles goods of the estate, instead of proceeding at law, where statutes expressly authorize a suit in equity under these circumstances.[65] Statutes giving a court jurisdiction over all suits of executors and administrators on any "demand" against the estate confer on such court jurisdiction of an action of trespass for acts committed by decedent.[66] While a county court in the exercise of its probate jurisdiction may entertain proceedings in the nature of a discovery against persons charged with secreting or refusing to account for property belonging to an estate, yet its power ends with the discovery, so that the right or title of the decedent to property claimed by or from his administrator must if an adjudication becomes necessary be litigated in courts of ordinary jurisdiction.[67] The right to object to the jurisdiction may be lost by estoppel.[68]

2. Venue — a. In Actions Against Personal Representative. Statutes requiring suits for money demands against estates to be brought in the county where the estate is being administered have been held to apply to independent executors as well as to other executors.[69] They also apply to suits against executors, although sued with other defendants not executors.[70] They do not apply to suits for construction of a will,[71] nor to an action against an independent executor for property belonging to minor children which is alleged to have been wasted,[72] nor to a suit for a community debt against the administratrix of community property;[73] nor to suits by distributees against the administrator and the sureties on

59. Thomson v. Mylne, 11 Rob. (La.) 349; Stiles v. Smith, 55 Mo. 363. And see supra, XIV, D.

60. Stiles v. Smith, 55 Mo. 363.

61. Thomson v. Mylne, 11 Rob. (La.) 349.

62. See, generally, on this subject supra, XIV, D.

63. Beekman v. Cottrell, 51 N. J. Eq. 337, 31 Atl. 29.

64. Turner v. Egerton, 1 Gill & J. (Md.) 430, 19 Am. Dec. 235.

65. Thorn v. Tyler, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 504.

66. Mayberry v. McClurg, 51 Mo. 256.

67. Gardner v. Gillihan, 20 Oreg. 598, 27 Pac. 220.

68. Erwin v. Lowry, 7 How. (U. S.) 172, 12 L. ed. 655, holding that where a petition for the seizure and sale of the mortgaged property of a deceased person was filed in the United States courts against the executor, alleging plaintiff to be a citizen of Tennessee and defendant of Louisiana, and the proceedings went on to a sale without any objection to the jurisdiction of the court by the executor on the ground of residence of the parties, it is too late for a curator, appointed in the place of the executor, to raise the objection in the state court against a purchaser at the sale.

69. Bondies v. Buford, 58 Tex. 266; Morton v. Morris, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 559.

70. Wilson v. Kyle, 35 Tex. 559.

71. Crosson v. Dwyer, 9 Tex. Civ. App. 482, 30 S. W. 929, holding that suit may be brought in any county where the executors reside.

72. Morton v. Morris, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 559.

73. Jones v. McRae, 16 Tex. Civ. App. 308, 41 S. W. 403 (Rev. St. (1895) art. 2227), providing that an administratrix of community property may be sued in respect to such property the same as the deceased might have been in his lifetime. It was further his bond;[74] nor to a suit to recover a legacy payable at a specific time.[75] A statute providing that all actions on official bonds "or against" personal representatives in their official capacity shall be instituted in the county where the bond shall have been given, if the principal or any of the sureties is in the county, applies to all actions against personal representatives in their capacity as such, whether sued on the bond or merely as executor or administrator.[76] A personal representative is entitled to be sued in the county in which he resides,[77] unless the estate is being administered in another county.[78] The statute does not apply, however, to actions in which the personal representative is not sued in his character as such.[79] By the express provisions of the statutes of one state, actions against personal representatives may be brought either in the county where they reside or were appointed, or where they can be served personally.[80] Where a statute requires suits against an executor for distribution to be brought in the county where he qualifies a plea of set-off equivalent to such suit to an action which the executors bring in a different county cannot be sustained.[81] Executors are not public officers within the meaning of statutes relating to place of trial of actions against public officers.[82] Where an administrator wrongfully inventories property of another's estate, the administrator thereof may sue for its recovery in the county where he took out administration, although the court of another county has jurisdiction of the estate of defendant's intestate.[83] When an administrator is a necessary party to an action, he may be sued in any county where any of his co-defendants reside.[84] A nominal party cannot be constituted an administrator and thus by uniting him with the real party in interest withdraw the jurisdiction from the county of the residence of the latter.[85]

b. In Actions by Personal Representative. Actions which are transitory and not local in their nature need not be brought by a personal representative in the county where the estate is being administered,[86] and he may bring suit on a note executed to decedent by a non-resident and payable at the maker's residence in the state in which his letters issued.[87]

c. Change of Venue. Claims filed against a decedent's estate are civil suits held in this case that where such administratrix qualified in one county and moved to another suit must be brought against her in the county of her residence.

74. Stewart v. Morrison, 81 Tex. 396, 17 S. W. 15, 26 Am. St. Rep. 821.

75. Worthington v. Ware, 68 S. W. 627, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 429, holding that as such a suit does not involve a settlement of testator's estate the fact that it is not brought in the county in which the will was probated does not constitute a valid objection to the jurisdiction of the court.

76. Farmers' State Alliance v. Murrell, 119 N. C. 124, 25 S. E. 785; Wood v. Morgan, 118 N. C. 749, 24 S. E. 522; Bidwell v. King, 71 N. C. 287; Foy v. Morehead, 69 N. C. 512; Stanley v. Mason, 69 N. C. 1.

77. Bidwell v. King, 71 N. C. 287.

78. Rogers v. Harrison, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 494, holding, however, that a petition in a suit against an executor, instituted in one county, which alleges that defendant resided in another county, and which fails to allege that the estate was being administered in the former county, is insufficient to support a judgment by default against the executor.

79. Roberts v. Connor, 125 N. C. 45, 34 S. E. 107, holding that where defendant was sued as surviving executor of B, doing business as B. & Co., bankers, and was sought to be held for wrongful acts of the bank committed after B's death he was not sued as executor but as the bank.

Action for legacy.— An action against an executor, although it alleged the executor's promise to pay the interest on a legacy of one hundred and fifty dollars, and failure to do so must be brought in the probate court of the county in which the will was proved. Bidwell v. King, 71 N. C. 287.

80. Osborn v. Lidy, 51 Ohio St. 90, 37 N. E. 434.

81. Bennett v. McCrocklin, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 322.

82. Thompson v. Wood, 115 Cal. 301, 47 Pac. 50.

83. Abbott v. People, 10 Ill. App. 62 [affirmed in 105 Ill. 588].

84. Owen v. State, 25 Ind. 107.

85. Lawson v. Cunningham, 34 Ga. 523, in which it was said that such a proceeding would be a fraud upon the provision of the constitution which guarantees to a defendant the right to be sued in the county of his residence.

86. Trimble v. Lebus, 94 Ky. 304, 22 S. W. 329, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 85.

87. Amsden v. Danielson, 18 R. I. 787, 31 Atl. 4. And see Perkins v. Stone, 18 Conn. 270.

within statutes relating to change of venue,[88] and a statute authorizing change of venue on application of any freeholder sued in any action not local out of the county of his residence applies to actions against personal representatives.[89] Change of venue to a county in which the personal representative is by statute required to be sued is proper when the action is brought in another county.[90]

F. Time to Sue and Limitations — 1. Premature Commencement of Action — a. Statutory Prohibition of Suit Within Designated Period. In the absence of some statute exempting personal representatives from suit for a certain period there is no reason why suit should not be brought on a rejected claim at any time after the issuing of letters of administration.[91] But in many jurisdictions the statutes contain provisions which protect the personal representatives from suit for a designated period after letters testamentary or of administration are granted.[92]

b. Actions or Suits to Which Statutes Applicable. In a number of jurisdictions these statutes are held to apply to suits in equity as well as actions at law;[93] while in others they are held to apply only to actions at law.[94] The statutes include an executor who is also a residuary legatee and who has given bond to pay debts and legacies,[95] and to an ordinary, on whom is cast the duties and rights of an executor by statute.[96] While the statutes are applicable where the personal representative as such is a necessary defendant,[97] the suit must be against the personal representative as such. If brought against him in his personal capacity the exemption does not apply.[98] The statutes do not apply to actions of detinue;[99] to actions arising out of a breach of duty on the representative's part;[1] to actions to set aside fraudulent conveyances by decedent;[2] to an action to recover lands from a personal representative by one claiming them adversely;[3] to bills to remove the administration into equity;[4] to actions to cancel a deed to decedent;[5] to a bill to enjoin an administrator from interference with a legacy to which decedent had no title;[6] to a bill to foreclose a mortgage;[7] or to an action to recover

88. Lester v. Lester, 70 Ind. 201.

89. McLeod v. Shelton, 42 Miss. 517.

90. Wood v. Morgan, 118 N. C. 749, 24 S. E. 522.

91. Matson v. Abbey, 70 Hun (N. Y.) 475, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 284 [affirmed in 141 N. Y. 179, 36 N. E. 11].

92. Espy v. Comer, 76 Ala. 501; Reedy v. Armistead, 31 Miss. 353; Jones v. Whitworth, 94 Tenn. 602, 30 S. W. 736; Stratton v. Dines, 126 Fed. 968.

Statutes protecting personal representatives from compulsory payment within a certain time after taking out letters of administration do not prohibit suits within that time. Matter of Phyfe, 5 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 331; Parsons v. Keystone Nat. Bank, 34 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 297.

Effect of garnishment.— Under a statute which provides that an administrator may be garnished, but shall not be compelled to answer till the estate in his hands is sufficiently administered to enable him safely to answer the writ, the only effect of the garnishment is to keep in his hands, by way of injunction, the property finally to be ascertained and disposed of by the court on a view of all the priorities and equities of existing creditors, and hence is not in violation of a statute which prohibits a suit to recover a debt owed by a decedent till twelve months from the qualification of the administrator. Sapp v. McArdle, 41 Ga. 628.

93. Alabama State Bank v. Glass, 82 Ala. 278, 2 So. 641; Cleveland v. Mills, 9 S. C. 430. And see Rosenthal v. Enevoldsen, 61 Miss. 532; Anderson v. Newman, 60 Miss. 532; Reedy v. Armistead, 31 Miss. 353.

94. Sandridge v. Spurgen, 37 N. C. 269; Stone v. Corcoran, 17 R. I. 759, 24 Atl. 781.

95. Troy Nat. Bank v. Stanton, 116 Mass. 435.

96. O'Daniel v. Lehre, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 83.

97. Anderson v. Newman, 60 Miss. 532; Reedy v. Armistead, 31 Miss. 353.

98. Baker v. Mitchell, 109 Ala. 490, 20 So. 40; Torrey v. Bishop, 104 Ala. 548, 16 So. 422; Alabama State Bank v. Glass, 82 Ala. 278, 2 So. 641; Sims v. Canfield, 2 Ala. 555.

99. Sims v. Canfield, 2 Ala. 555, since such action cannot be instituted against the personal representative in his representative capacity.

1. Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342.

2. Freeman v. Pullen, 119 Ala. 235, 24 So. 57; Alabama State Bank v. Glass, 82 Ala. 278, 2 So. 641; Manning v. Drake, 1 Mich. 34.

3. Torrey v. Bishop, 104 Ala. 548, 16 So. 422.

4. Baker v. Mitchell, 109 Ala. 490, 20 So. 40.

5. Lanfair v. Thompson, 112 Ga. 487, 37 S. E. 717, under a statute in which the exemption only applies to a suit to recover a debt due by decedent.

6. Womack v. Greenwood, 6 Ga. 299.

7. Teel v. Winston, 29 Oreg. 489, 29 Pac. 142. And see Hathaway v. Lewis, 2 Disn.

funeral expenses where expressly excepted from the operation of the statute.[8] The statutes have been held to apply to a bill to enforce a vendor's lien for purchase-money;[9] to an action to recover counsel fees;[10] to a bill by a creditor of the administrator to be subrogated to the administrator's rights as creditor of the estate, the latter having paid a debt of the estate with his own money, in fraud of complainant's rights;[11] and to a bill against one both personally and as administrator charging him with a fraudulent transfer to decedent.[12] Ordinarily a distributee cannot maintain an action against an administrator until there has been a decree for distribution.[13]

c. Effect of Removal, Resignation, Etc. Where an administrator resigns or is removed, it is held that his successor is not entitled to the statutory exemption from suit; that the time from which the exemption commences is the date of the qualification of the original administrator.[14] And such has been held to be the rule where letters of administration are afterward revoked on presentation and approval of the will, and where the administrator is the same person who is appointed executor in the will;[15] there is some conflict of authority as to whether an administrator who becomes such on the death of the original administrator is entitled to the statutory period of exemption from the time of the qualification.[16]

(Ohio) 260, holding that an action to foreclose a mortgage may be maintained before the expiration of the period fixed by the act to provide for the settlement of the estate of deceased persons, as the act merely suspends the remedy for the debt but not the remedy upon any security which may have been given.

A foreclosure suit in which no relief is sought against the administrator of the estate which he represents is not within the meaning of the statutes. United Security L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Vandegrift, 51 N. J. Eq. 400, 27 Atl. 985. Scire facias to foreclose a mortgage is a proceeding in rem and not an action within the provision exempting a personal representative from suit within a year after letters of administration are taken out. Menard v. Marks, 2 Ill. 25.

A prohibition against suit for any debt or legacy until the expiration of the time limited for payment has no application to a bill to foreclose the equity of redemption of mortgaged premises. Austin v. Jackson, 10 Vt. 267; Bradley v. Norris, 3 Vt. 369.

8. Studley v. Willis, 134 Mass. 155.

9. Reedy v. Armistead, 31 Miss. 253.

10. Fry v. Lofton, 45 Ga. 171.

11. Anderson v. Newman, 60 Miss. 532.

12. Rosenthal v. Enevoldsen, 61 Miss. 532.

13. Flynn v. Flynn, 183 Mass. 365, 67 N. E. 314 (holding that since a decedent's estate must be settled under the direction of the probate court by an executor or administrator, decedent's widow was not entitled to maintain a bill against the executors and the transferee of certain of decedent's personal property, alleged to have been transferred in fraud of her marital rights, to set aside such transfer prior to the final settlement of the estate in the probate court); Tallon v. Tallon, 156 Mass. 313, 31 N. E. 287; Browne v. Doolittle, 151 Mass. 595, 25 N. E. 23; Cummings v. Cummings, 143 Mass. 340, 9 N. E. 730; Cathaway v. Bowles, 136 Mass. 54. Compare Peck v. Vandemark, 99 N. Y. 29, 1 N. E. 41, holding that a suit by a widow against the executor of her deceased husband's estate to enforce an antenuptial agreement for a settlement upon her of one half of his property absolutely and the other half for life cannot be held as prematurely brought, although the estate be not yet settled up, if the debts of the estate and the expenses of administration can be approximately estimated by the court.

14. Todd v. Wright, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 442; Coleman v. Raynor, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 25. These cases assign as a reason that the resigning administrator is required to settle and pay over to the new administrator the balance of money, property, and effects in his hands and is therefore furnished with information with regard to the situation of the estate, merely on taking upon himself the administration thereof, and that in consequence the reason for the rule exempting personal representatives from suit for a designated period does not apply.

In case of removal of an executor, a suit brought against the administrator de bonis non within a year from the qualification of the executor is of course premature. Troy Nat. Bank v. Stanton, 116 Mass. 435.

15. Kittredge v. Folsom, 8 N. H. 98, holding that such administration is an original administration within the terms of the statute exempting personal representatives from suit commenced within a year after the original grant of administration. Compare Callahan v. Smith, T. U. P. Charlt. (Ga.) 149, in which it was held that where letters of administration had been revoked because the administrators had not complied with the requisites of the will in giving sufficient bond, administration had never been granted, and that the full time allowed by law for the settlement of the estate by the administrator subsequently appointed must lapse before there is any liability to suit.

16. That he is.—Minor v. Webb, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 395.

d. Effect of Revival of Action. A proceeding to revive an action brought against decedent and pending at his death is not an action within the meaning of the statutes.[17]

e. Waiver of Objection That Suit Is Prematurely Brought. It is perfectly competent for a personal representative to waive the defense that the suit is prematurely brought,[18] and a judgment rendered in such suit will protect him when pleaded in suits brought after that time.[19] The objection, it has been held, must be taken by plea in abatement,[20] and is waived by answering to the merits and consenting to have it placed on the trial calendar.[21]

2. Statutes of Limitations — a. In Actions by Personal Representatives — (I) Right to Sue as Affected by General Statute of Limitations[22] — (A) In Actions Generally — (1) Causes of Action Arising in Decedent's Lifetime. Where a cause of action accruing to testator or intestate is barred by the general statute of limitations in his lifetime, his personal representative cannot recover thereon, although decedent died on the last day of the statutory period and the representative sued shortly after his death.[23] As respects causes of action arising in decedent's lifetime, but not barred by the general statute of limitations at the time of his death, it is well settled that his death does not interrupt the running of the statute in the absence of some statutory provision to the contrary;[24] and it has been held that the fact that the administrator is ignorant of the cause of action does not affect the rule.[25]

(2) Causes of Action Arising After Decedent's Death. A cause of action

That he is not.—Cooley v. Patterson, 49 Me. 570.

17. Breckenridge v. Mellon, 1 How. (Miss.) 273; Parker v. Willard, Smith (N. H.) 212; Quick v. Campbell, 44 S. C. 386, 22 S. E. 479.

The object of the exemption is to afford a personal representative an opportunity to see whether the estate committed to his administration is sufficient to pay the debts in full or not, and if not that he may then institute such proceedings as shall secure an equal distribution of the estate among his creditors and prevent the securing of unjust preferences. United Security L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Vandegrift, 51 N. J. Eq. 400, 26 Atl. 985. And see Sandridge v. Spurgen, 37 N. C. 269.

18. Kittredge v. Folsom, 8 N. H. 98; Clements v. Rogers, 91 N. C. 63; Boynton v. Sandford, 28 N. J. Eq. 184 [affirmed in 28 N. J. Eq. 592].

19. Terry v. Vest, 33 N. C. 65; Bryan v. Miller, 32 N. C. 129.

20. Kittredge v. Folsom, 8 N. H. 98; Clements v. Swain, 2 N. H. 475.

21. Clements v. Rogers, 91 N. C. 63.

Presumption as to waiver.— Where an executor permits a proceeding prematurely brought to proceed to a final decree, it will be presumed, on his application to set aside the decree on the ground that it was prematurely brought, that he intended to waive the defense unless there is proof of accident or inadvertence. Boynton v. Sandford, 28 N. J. Eq. 184 [affirmed in 28 N. J. Eq. 592].

22. Right to sue as further affected by statutes specially applicable to executors and administrators see infra, XIV, F, 2, b, (I), (B). For time within which action brought by decedent may be continued or revived by executors and administrators see Abatement and Revival, 1 Cyc. p. 103 et seq.

23. Penny v. Brice, 18 C. B. N. S. 393, 11 L. T. Rep. N. S. 632, 13 Wkly. Rep. 342, 114 E. C. L. 393.

24. Alabama.— McNeill v. McNeill, 35 Ala. 30; Johnson v. Wren, 3 Stew. 172.

Arkansas.— Brown v. Merrick, 16 Ark. 612.

District of Columbia.— Campbell v. Wilson, 2 Mackey 497.

Iowa.— Sherman v. Western Stage Co., 24 Iowa 515.

Kansas.— Green v. Goble, 7 Kan. 297.

Kentucky.— Hull v. Deatly, 7 Bush 687; Baker v. Baker, 13 B. Mon. 406; Beauchamp v. Mudd, 2 Bibb 537.

Maryland.— Ruff v. Bull, 7 Harr. & J. 14, 16 Am. Dec. 290.

Mississippi.— Metcalf v. Grover, 55 Miss. 145; Byrd v. Byrd, 28 Miss. 144.

North Carolina.— Hall v. Gibbs, 87 N. C. 4.

Ohio.— Granger v. Granger, 6 Ohio 35; Irwin v. Garretson, 1 Cinc. Super. Ct. 533.

Pennsylvania.— Light's Estate, 136 Pa. St. 211, 20 Atl. 536, 537; Amole's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 356, 8 Atl. 614.

South Carolina.— Boyd v. Monro, 32 S. C. 249, 10 S. E. 963; Bolt v. Dawkins, 16 S. C. 198; Lott v. De Graffenreid, 10 Rich. Eq. 346.

Tennessee.— Fowlkes v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 9 Heisk. 829.

Vermont.— Conant v. Hitt, 12 Vt. 285.

Washington.— McAuliff v. Parker, 10 Wash. 141, 83 Pac. 744.

England.— Hickman v. Walker, Willes 27; 2 Wood Lim. § 194.

See 33 Cent. Dig. tit. "Limitation of Actions," § 424 et seq.

25. Boyd v. Monro, 33 S. C. 249, 10 S. E. 963.

which accrues to an administrator after the death of an intestate is not complete and does not arise and exist so that the statute of limitations can begin to run upon it until an administrator is appointed who can bring suit.[26] The reason assigned is that no cause of action can arise and exist in favor of an administrator until he comes into existence as such.[27] So according to the weight of authority the statute of limitations does not commence to run against the right of an executor to bring suit on a cause of action arising after testator's death until probate of the will and his qualification as executor.[28] It has been held, however, that the 26. Alabama.— Johnson v. Wren, 3 Stew. 172.

Arkansas.— Word v. West, 38 Ark. 243; McCustian v. Ramey, 33 Ark. 141.

Connecticut.— Hobart v. Connecticut Turnpike Co., 15 Conn. 145.

Delaware.— Carey v. Morris, 5 Harr. 299.

District of Columbia.— Tucker v. Nebeker, 2 App. Cas. 326.

Georgia.— Doe v. Kennon, 1 Ga. 379; Spann v. Fox, Ga. Dec. 1.

Iowa.— Sherman v. Western Stage Co., 24 Iowa 515.

Kansas.— Carney v. Havens, 23 Kan. 82.

Kentucky.— Hull v. Deatly, 7 Bush 687; Pendleton v. Pendleton, 6 Bush 469; Baker v. Baker, 13 B. Mon. 406; Beauchamp v. Mudd, 2 Bibb 537.

Maryland.— Rockwell v. Young, 60 Md. 563; Smith v. Doe, 33 Md. 442; Fishwick v. Sewell, 4 Harr. & J. 393. See also Haslett v. Glenn, 7 Harr. & J. 17; Ruff v. Bull, 7 Harr. & J. 14, 16 Am. Dec. 290.

Michigan.— Parks v. Norris, 101 Mich. 71, 59 N. W. 428.

Mississippi.— Wood v. Ford, 29 Miss. 57.

Missouri.— Polk v. Allen, 19 Mo. 467; McDonald v. Walton, 2 Mo. 48.

New Hampshire.— Clark v. Amoskeag Mfg. Co., 62 N. H. 612; Brewster v. Brewster, 52 N. H. 52.

New York.— Bucklin v. Ford, 5 Barb. 393; Wenman v. Mohawk Ins. Co., 13 Wend. 267, 28 Am. Dec. 464.

Pennsylvania.— Riner v. Riner, 166 Pa. St. 617, 31 Atl. 347, 45 Am. St. Rep. 693; Amole's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 356, 8 Atl. 614; Marsteller v. Marsteller, 93 Pa. St. 350.

South Carolina.— Witt v. Elmore, 2 Bailey 595; Geiger v. Brown, 4 McCord 418.

Virginia.— Hansford v. Elliott, 9 Leigh 79; Clark v. Hardeman, 2 Leigh 347.

United States.— Fullenwider's Case, 9 Ct. Cl. 403.

England.— Burdick v. Garrick, L. R. 5 Ch. 233, 39 L. J. Ch. 369, 18 Wkly. Rep. 387; Murray v. East India Co., 5 B. & Ald. 204, 24 Rev. Rep. 325, 7 E. C. L. 118; Pratt v. Swaine, 8 B. & C. 285, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 353, 2 M. & R. 350, 15 E. C. L. 146; Fergusson v. Fyffe, 8 Cl. & F. 121, 8 Eng. Reprint 49; Curry v. Stephenson, 4 Mod. 372, 2 Falk. 421.

See 33 Cent. Dig. tit. "Limitation of Actions," § 424 et seq.

Contra.— Tynan v. Walker, 35 Cal. 634, 95 Am. Dec. 152.

Conversion of property.— In case of a wrongful conversion after decedent's death the statute does not begin to run until after the appointment of the administrator. The statute begins to operate only from the time the right to demand the property vests in someone. Johnson v. Wren, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 172; Parks v. Norris, 101 Mich. 71, 59 N. W. 428; Haslett v. Glenn, 7 Harr. & J. (Md.) 17; Fishwick v. Sewall, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 393; Witt v. Elmore, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 595; Pratt v. Swaine, 8 B. & C. 285, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 353, 2 M. & R. 350, 15 E. C. L. 146.

A cause of action for wrongful death accrues not to the deceased but to his administrator, and the statute does not commence to run until the appointment of an administrator. Andrews v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 34 Conn. 57; Sherman v. Western Stage R. Co., 24 Iowa 515.

In a suit to vacate a judgment taken against decedent after his death the statute of limitations begins to run against the administrator from the time of his appointment. Lynn v. Lowe, 88 N. C. 478.

Where a will is revoked, the statute of limitations against the executor of such will does not commence to run in favor of the executor properly appointed until letters of administration were granted to him. Spruance v. Darlington, 7 Del. Ch. 111, 30 Atl. 663.

Where an infant dies leaving a cause of action which passes to his personal representatives, the statute which had not begun to run in his lifetime does not begin to run after his death until the qualification of the personal representative. Sorrels v. Trantham, 48 Ark. 386, 4 S. W. 281.

Limitation of rule.— Where there is no administrator and no debts are shown to be due, the distributees have the right to sue for and recover the property belonging to their ancestors, and in such a case, where a suit by them would be barred by the statute of limitations a recovery by the administrator will also be barred, although there was no administrator when the cause of action accrued and none was appointed until within the period prescribed by the statute of limitations. Manly v. Kidd, 33 Miss. 141.

27. Johnson v. Wren, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 172; Andrews v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 34 Conn. 57; Bucklin v. Ford, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 393.

28. Hobart v. Connecticut Turnpike Co., 15 Conn. 115; Garland v. Milling, 6 Ga. 310; Donaldson v. Reboug, 26 Md. 312. But see Arnold v. Arnold, 35 N. C. 174, 55 Am. Dec. 434, which seems to maintain a contrary doctrine.

statute commences to run on the appointment and qualification of the administrator, although the decree appointing him is reversed on appeal.[29]

(B) In Actions by Administrator De Bonis Non. If the right to maintain an action depends on plaintiff's appointment as administrator de bonis non the action must fail if the appointment was made after the action was commenced.[30] Where a statute has commenced to run against an administrator it continues to run against the administrator de bonis non,[31] and is not suspended during the period that elapses between the death of the administrator and the appointment of the administrator de bonis non.[32] So where a transfer of property of an estate by an administrator has become effectual under the statutes of limitation an administrator de bonis non cannot recover such property as a part of the estate.[33] Until a disputed will is finally adjudged to be invalid no cause of action accrues to an administrator de bonis non to recover goods remaining unadministered by the executor, and the statute of limitation does not begin to run against him until that time.[34]

(C) In Actions to Recover Overpayments to Creditors or Legatees. Where a personal representative makes overpayments to a creditor through mistake superinduced by the fraud of the latter, the statute does not commence to run against a right to recover the overpayment until the date the payment was made.[35] If a creditor has paid a claim in full, under an honest belief that the estate is solvent and the estate is subsequently declared insolvent and dividends ordered to be paid from all the assets then available, the statute of limitations commences to run in an action to recover the excess from the date when the dividend was ordered.[36] The statute runs against a cause of action for money paid a legatee in excess of his legacy by mistake from the date of payment and not from the date of settling the executor's final account.[37] Where a legatee dies before the executor's claim for overpayments is barred and the executor becomes the administrator of the legatee the statute does not run against him while he remains administrator because he cannot sue himself and because he is not obliged to exercise the right of retainer on pain of forfeiting it within any specific time after taking out administration.[38]

(D) Claims of Personal Representatives Against Estates. Statutes of limitations do not apply to claims of the personal representative against the estate of the decedent for the very obvious reason that he cannot bring an action against

Effect of issue to try validity of will.— Where a chattel is placed by a father in his daughter's possession and remains in her possession until his death, after which an issue is made up to try the validity of the will which pended for eight years, when the will was established, it was held that a demand made by an administrator pendente lite and a refusal did not make the daughter's possession adverse to the rights of the executor so as to set the statutes of limitations to running against him. Wooten v. Jarman, 51 N. C. 111.

29. Mowry v. Harris, 18 R. I. 519, 28 Atl. 657, under a statute which declares that in case of an appeal from a decree of any court of probate its operation shall be suspended until it is affirmed by the supreme court, provided that, if the decree grants letters of administration, the administrator on giving bond may collect credits of intestate as though no appeal had been taken.

30. Gatfield v. Hanson, 57 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 331.

31. Campbell v. Wilson, 2 Mackey (D. C.) 497, in which it was said that when the statute begins to run no subsequent transfer of title arrests its operation.

Termination of an administration and its continued vacancy by reason of the administrator's death does not arrest or impede the operation of the statute. Underhill v. Mobile F. Dept. Ins. Co., 67 Ala. 45.

32. Bugg v. Sumner, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 333.

33. Collins v. Bankhead, 1 Strobh. (S. C.) 25. Compare Lawson v. Lay, 24 Ala. 184, holding that if an administrator makes a gratuitous bailment of property belonging to the estate both he and his bailee are guilty of a conversion. The administrator himself cannot avoid the bailment nor sue for the recovery of the property, and the statute of limitations commences to run in favor of the bailee from the time of the appointment of an administrator de bonis non.

34. Finn v. Hempstead, 24 Ark. 111.

35. Gamble v. Hicks, 27 Miss. 781.

36. Richards v. Nightingale, 9 Allen (Mass.) 149.

37. Ely v. Norton, 6 N. J. L. 187.

38. Dillard v. Ellington, 57 Ga. 567.

himself.[39] This is an exception to the rule that when a statute commences to run against a claim nothing interrupts its operation.[40]

(E) Effect of Failure to Prosecute Suit. The failure of an administrator to prosecute with reasonable diligence a suit pending at decedent's death may be treated as an abandonment thereof so as to exclude him from bringing an action on the same cause of action barred by the statute of limitations subsequent to decedent's death,[41] and where, as authorized by statute, a person sues on a claim due the estate as administrator without appointment, and subsequently thereto an administrator who has been appointed refuses to prosecute, the suit will abate.[42]

(F) Exceptional Circumstances Operating to Suspend Running of Statute. In computing the time within which a personal representative must bring action the time during which the courts are by statute closed should be excluded,[43] and where an executor who has been ousted by means of a fraudulent will is subsequently reinstated, the time during which his functions were suspended must be excluded in estimating the period within which an action to recover property of the estate against those who perpetrated the fraud must be brought.[44] So where persons who have fraudulently secreted property of an estate for a number of years on discovery admit possession and promise to account therefor they cannot set up that the executor's claim to the property has become stale and barred by lapse of time.[45] An action by a personal representative instituted after the statutory period has elapsed has been sustained in one jurisdiction where no plea to the jurisdiction was filed and no showing was made that the estate had been closed or that the personal representative had been discharged,[46] and the statute does not commence to run against a bill by the personal representative to recover property fraudulently conveyed by decedent until a reasonable time has elapsed after evidence of the fraud is discovered.[47] If a right of action exists in favor of the personal representative the statute of limitations is not prevented from running against a claim in favor of the decedent's estate by the disabilities of the heirs.[48]

39. Semmes v. Magruder, 10 Md. 242; Spencer v. Spencer, 4 Md. Ch. 456; Brown v. Stewart, 4 Md. Ch. 368; State v. Reigart, 1 Gill (Md.) 1, 39 Am. Dec. 628. And see Moore v. Bryant, 10 Tex. Civ. App. 131, 31 S. W. 222, holding that where an independent executor claims the property in his hands for the satisfaction of a debt due him from the estate, limitations cannot be invoked against such claim in an action by the heirs to recover the property so held. But compare In re Ward, 21 Ohio Cir Ct. 753, 12 Ohio Cir. Dec. 44.

40. Semmes v. Magruder, 10 Md. 242.

41. Richards v. Maryland Ins. Co., 8 Cranch (U. S.) 84, 3 L. ed. 496.

Where an administrator qualifies immediately after decedent's death but declines to prosecute, the limitation legally attaches and a statute providing that for purposes of limitations letters are deemed to have been issued within six years after the death of the testator has no application to such a case and does not revive the lost cause of action or transfer it to the next of kin or the legatees. Hunt v. Peake, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 26.

42. Merrill v. Woodbury, 61 N. H. 504.

43. Quierry v. Faussier, 4 Mart. (La.) 609.

44. Marsden's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 199.

45. Croom v. Cone, 13 Ga. 21.

Notice of fraud relied on to take a case out of the statute of limitation, to the heirs, is not necessarily notice to the administrator, as there may be debts due from the estate, the holders of which should not suffer from the negligence of the heirs, and the heirs may be disabled to sue and therefore not within the statute. Barfield v. King, 29 Ga. 288.

46. Card v. Fowler, 120 Mich. 646, 79 N. W. 925. And see Swift v. Williams, 1 La. 165, holding that an executor whose functions have been continued after the year may sue during such continuance. Compare Lamothe v. Dufour, 4 Mart. (La.) 338.

47. Preston v. Cutter, 64 N. H. 461, 13 Atl. 874.

In California, an action by an administrator to recover back real estate conveyed by the decedent in his lifetime for the purpose of defrauding his creditors may be commenced within three years after the creditors recover judgment against the estate. Forde v. Exempt F. Co., 50 Cal. 299.

48. Darnall v. Adams, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 273; Rosson v. Anderson, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 423; Rindge v. Oliphint, 62 Tex. 682. Compare Fleming v. Collins, 27 Ga. 494, holding that a court of equity will not enjoin an administrator in suing to recover a tract of land for the benefit of the heirs notwithstanding the seven years' bar has attached where both the heirs were before and at the time

(II) Right to Sue as Affected by Statutes Specially Applicable to Personal Representatives. If it is provided by statute that the time which elapses between the death of a person and the grant of letters testamentary, or of administration on his estate, is not to be taken as any part of the time limited for the commencement of actions by executors or administrators, this period must be excluded in computing the time within which suit must be brought, although the statute commenced to run in the decedent's lifetime.[49] Statutes of this character contemplate the grant of permanent letters of administration. The suspension provided for does not cease upon the grant of temporary letters of administration.[50] So a statute which provides that if any right of action existed in favor of a decedent at the time of his death and survives, action may be brought thereon within a designated period after the grant of administration extends the time within which suits may be brought which would be otherwise barred by the general statute of limitations and does not limit the time of bringing actions against which the statute had not run;[51] and the same is the rule under a statute providing that if a person entitled to bring an action dies before the expiration of the time limited for the commencement thereof and the cause of action survives, an action may be commenced by his representatives after the expiration of the time and within a designated period from his death.[52] So under statutes of this character suit need not be brought within the designated period after grant of administration, provided it is brought within the period fixed by the general statute of limitations.[53] If, however, at the time the special statute commences to run, there remains an unexpired portion of the general statute of greater length than the period fixed by the special statute the general statute controls and the special statute does not operate to extend the time within which suit may be commenced.[54] It has been held, however, that an action by the executor of the of intestate's death and have been ever since non compos mentis.

49. McNeill v. McNeill, 35 Ala. 30; Grice v. Jones, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 254. And see Manly v. Turnipseed, 37 Ala. 522; Hutchinson v. Tolls, 2 Port (Ala.) 44.

In New York it has been held that the provision of the Revised Statutes that "the time which shall have elapsed between the death of any person and the granting of letters testamentary on his estate, not exceeding," etc., "shall not be deemed any part of the time limited by law for the commencement of actions by executors" is superseded by the provisions of the code of civil procedure, and that the rule of limitation in that regard is furnished by section 402 of the code which provides that "if a person entitled to maintain an action, dies before the expiration of the time limited for the commencement thereof, and the cause of action survives, an action may be commenced by his representative, after the expiration of that time, and within one year after his death." Greene v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 333.

50. Scott v. Atwell, 63 Ga. 764.

51. Morse v. Whitcher, 64 N. H. 591, 15 Atl. 207. To the same effect see Winslow v. Benton, 130 N. C. 58, 40 S. E. 840.

52. Pinkney v. Pinkney, 61 Ill. App. 525; Harris v. Rice, 66 Ind. 267; McNear v. Robeson, 12 Ind. App. 87, 39 N. E. 896.

Effect of failure to appoint administrator. — Where a statute provides that if a person dies before the expiration of the period in which he is entitled to commence an action and the cause of action survives, action may be commenced by his representatives after the expiration of that time and within a year after his death; the action may become barred without reference to the appointment of an administrator or executor for his estate. Hughston v. Nail, 73 Miss. 284, 18 So. 920 [distinguishing Boyce v. Frances, 56 Miss. 573; Cook v. Reynolds, 58 Miss. 243; Clayton v. Merrett, 52 Miss. 353, decided under a statute since repealed]. Under a provision of this character an action must be brought within a year after decedent's death without regard to when an administrator is appointed. It is counted from the death of decedent in respect to claims in favor of the estate because the law does not encourage laches in those entitled to administration. Coppersmith v. Wilson, 107 N. C. 31, 12 S. E. 77.

53. Converse v. Johnson, 146 Mass. 20, 14 N. E. 925, in which it was said by Field, J., delivering the opinion of the court, that it is not intended by such statute that the executor or administrator should not collect debts due the estate by suits brought more than two years after his appointment when the debts were not barred by other provisions of the statute.

54. Florida.— Sammis v. Wightman, 31 Fla. 10, 12 So. 526.

Illinois.— Pinkney v. Pinkney, 61 Ill. App. 525.

estate of the creditor against the executor of the estate of the debtor brought more than two years (the statutory period) after defendant's appointment, although within two years after plaintiff's appointment, cannot be maintained.[55] Statutes requiring an administrator to sue within a designated time contemplate administration in the state of their enactment, and therefore one who qualifies as administrator and sues in that state within the statutory period is not barred, although he qualified as administrator in another state more than the statutory period before suit brought.[56]

(III) MISCELLANEOUS. Where leave to sue is necessary and is asked within the period fixed by statute for bringing suit, the motion cannot be denied on the ground of laches, for this would in effect establish a time for bringing suit different from that fixed by the statute.[57] If a surviving executor files a bill against the administratrix of his co-executor to recover certain property inventoried as part of the co-executor's estate, delay in filing the bill is no defense thereto if the delay was due to the action of both parties.[58] A widow who has wrongfully taken possession of a note payable to decedent and procured the debtor to give a note payable to herself in its place acquires no right to the debt evidenced by the original note and no lapse of time bars the right of the representative to sue for the amount due thereon. As to money actually collected by her on the note the statute runs from the time of its collection and she may invoke the bar of six years, no facts being shown to make her a trustee ex maleficio.[59] Where an administrator appointed seventeen years after decedent's death takes possession of land as belonging to intestate and is evicted therefrom by an intruder without title whose possession commences shortly after the grant of letters he should not be permitted to allege that the claim of plaintiff was stale as to him.[60] The granting of an order allowing the administrator a certain time within which to move for a new trial, in a case in which a claim against a decedent is allowed, does not suspend the right of the administrator during such time to annul a conveyance by his decedent as in fraud of the creditor in whose favor the claim is allowed.[61]

b. In Actions Against Personal Representatives — (I) ACTIONS ON CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATE — (A) Operation and Effect of General Statutes of Limitations. The general statutes of limitations apply with the same effect to the cases of the estates of deceased persons as to cases where the debtor was living,[62] and this is true whether the debt matured before or after decedent's death.[63] As between the executors and creditors of an estate no trust exists of that peculiar kind which is within the exclusive control of a court of equity, and to which the statute of limitations cannot be pleaded; the relation between them is simply that of debtor and creditor and the statute of limitations may be set up in any forum that has jurisdiction of the case, whether legal or equitable.[64]

Minnesota.— Wood v. Bragg, 75 Minn. 527, 78 N. W. 93.

New York.— Tompkins v. Austin, 10 N. Y. St. 339.

North Carolina.— Hughes v. Boone, 114 N. C. 54, 19 S. E. 63.

55. Hill v. Mixter, 5 Allen (Mass.) 27. Compare Lawrence v. Norfleat, 90 N. C. 533, holding that, under a statute providing that suits against an administrator will be barred within seven years after the qualification of the administrator, a suit by one administrator against another must be commenced within seven years after plaintiff is entitled under his appointment to maintain the actions.

56. Holmes v. Brooks, 68 Me. 416.

57. Matter of Howe, 61 Hun (N. Y.) 608, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 465.

58. Vreeland v. Westervelt, 45 N. J. Eq. 572, 17 Atl. 695.

59. Buie v. Buie, 67 Miss. 456, 7 So. 344.

60. Healy v. Buchanan, 34 Cal. 567.

61. Walker v. Cady, 106 Mich. 21, 63 N. W. 1005.

62. Campbell v. Fleming, 63 Pa. St. 242; Mitcheltree v. Veach, 31 Pa. St. 455; Man v. Warner, 4 Whart. (Pa.) 455. And see Cotter v. Quinlan, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 29.

63. Man v. Warner, 4 Whart. (Pa.) 455.

If a cause of action against decedent is barred before his death, the statute may be pleaded in an action against his personal representative. Sullivan v. Latimer, 38 S. C. 158, 17 S. E. 701.

64. York's Appeal, 110 Pa. St. 69, 1 Atl. 162, 2 Atl. 65 [expressly overruling McCandless' Estate, 61 Pa. St. 9; McClintock's Ap-

(B) Operation and Effect of Special Statutes of Limitations — (1) IN GENERAL. No delay short of the time fixed by some special statute of limitations will bar a creditor seeking the enforcement of a claim against the estate of a decedent which is not barred by a general statute of limitations; so long as he pursues the remedies pointed out by law within the time it prescribes he is entitled to the aid of the courts in the enforcement of his demand.[65]

(2) STATUTES REQUIRING SUIT WITHIN PRESCRIBED TIME AFTER DEATH, APPOINTMENT, QUALIFICATION, ETC.— (a) SUMMARY OF PROVISIONS. The statutes of the various states fixing special periods of limitation for suits against executors or administrators vary considerably in detail both in respect to the time when the statutory period shall commence to run and the duration thereof. These statutes respectively fix the period at which the statute commences to run as of the death of the testator or intestate; the granting of letters testamentary or of administration, qualification, qualification and notice of appointment, etc.[66]

(b) STATUTES REQUIRING SUIT WITHIN PRESCRIBED TIME AFTER DEATH OF DECEDENT. Statutes requiring creditors of a deceased person to sue within a designated time after his death apply to actions against personal representatives as well as to the heirs.[67] All persons are considered creditors within the meaning of the statute who have demands originating from contracts or agreements.[68] Statutes of this character have been held to apply to a debt, although part of it did not become due until more than the statutory period after decedent's death, if no notice of the debt was given to the personal representative within the statutory period.[69] They do not apply to actions not based on an indebtedness of decedent, such as an action by a surviving partner for an accounting of debts paid by him which should have been paid by decedent,[70] nor to the foreclosure of a trust deed given by him,[71] nor to causes of action accruing after his death,[72] nor will these statutes operate as a bar to creditors not suing within the period thereby fixed where there is no executor or administrator on the estate of decedent during that time.[73]

(c) STATUTES REQUIRING SUIT WITHIN DESIGNATED TIME AFTER GRANT OF LETTERS. Statutes requiring suit against executors or administrators to be brought within a designated time after grant of letters testamentary or of administration apply to actions against executors who are residuary legatees and give bonds for the payment of debts and of legacies;[74] but they do not apply to claims maturing after peal, 29 Pa. St. 360. In McCandless' Estate, supra, it was held that the administrator may in an action against him plead the general statute of limitations, but that the statute cannot be pleaded when the creditor's proceeding in a court having equity jurisdiction is for a distributive portion of the debtor's estate. In McClintock's Appeal, supra, it was held in a court of equitable jurisdiction that a debt against the estate of a decedent is not barred by the statute of limitations, where less than six years from the time it accrued had elapsed at the death of the debtor but the six years expired before settlement and distribution of the estate was made.

65. Westbrook v. Munger, 61 Miss. 329.

66. See the statutes of various states.

67. Lewis v. Hickman, 2 Overt. (Tenn.) 317.

68. Williams v. Conrad, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 412, holding that a person claiming a life-interest in shares to be conveyed on certain trusts by a person who afterward dies is barred on failure to assert the claim within the time limited.

A state is a creditor within the meaning of these statutes (State v. Crutcher, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 504), unless the statute expressly excepts states from their operation (O'Neal v. State, 10 Lea (Tenn.) 727).

Until payment by a surety on a judgment rendered against him he is not a creditor within the meaning of the statutes. Marshall v. Hudson, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 57.

Purchaser of property by decedent not owned by him.— Where one in possession of slaves sold them and died, and the slaves were recovered from the purchaser on the vendor's title being adjudged invalid, it was held that the purchaser was not a creditor of the estate within the meaning of the statute. Caplinger v. Vaden, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 629.

69. Neil v. Hosmer, 5 N. C. 202; McLellan v. Hill, 1 N. C. 532.

70. Clanton v. Price, 90 N. C. 96.

71. Smith v. Goodlett, 92 Tenn. 230, 21 S. W. 106, since the foreclosure does not take away any right which the decedent had from the representative, but leaves him to redeem the same as the decedent might have done.

72. Armistead v. Bozman, 36 N. C. 117.

73. McKinder v. Littlejohn, 23 N. C. 66.

74. Holden v. Fletcher, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 235; Walker v. Cheever, 39 N. H. 420.

the decedent's death, their operation being confined to causes of action matured and existing against the decedent at the time of his death.[75]

(d) Statutes Requiring Suit Within Designated Period After Qualification of Representative. By the provisions of some statutes, suit must be brought against a personal representative within a designated period after he has qualified,[76] and if brought after the expiration of that period they are of course barred.[77] These statutes run without regard to the publication of notice for creditors to file their claims.[78] They commence to run on the qualification of the administrator and are not stopped by his subsequent resignation.[79] They include suits on judgments obtained against the decedent during his lifetime;[80] but have no application to claims accruing after death of the decedent,[81] nor to notes given by decedent which are referred to in the schedule of debts attached to a petition to sell real estate filed before the bar of the statute has operated.[82]

(e) Statutes Requiring Suit Within Designated Time After Qualification or Giving Bond and Notice of Appointment. Where statutes provide that a personal representative after giving notice of his appointment is not liable to suit by a creditor unless it is commenced within a designated period after his giving bond the statute does not commence to run from the date that an insufficient bond is given.[83] While the limitation provided for by this statute commences to run from the date of giving bond and not from notice,[84] notice is necessary to render the statute operative,[85] and it must be in strict compliance with the terms of the statute.[86] Failure to give the notice required by this statute does not, however,

75. Wilkinson v. Winne, 15 Minn. 159.

76. Union Bank v. Powell, 3 Fla. 175, 52 Am. Dec. 367; Champion v. Cayce, 54 Miss. 695.

Effect of removal of creditor to or from state.— Under a statute which gives residents of the state two years and non-residents three years within which to commence suits against personal representatives, the residence of a creditor at the time of administration granted determines the bar and his subsequent removal to or from the state will not change the bar. Humbard v. Smith, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 249.

77. Kesterson v. Hill, 101 Va. 739, 45 S. E. 288.

78. Sivley v. Summers, 57 Miss. 712; Todd v. Wright, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 442; Atkinson v. Settle, 5 Yerg. (Tenn.) 299; Crabaugh v. Hart, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 431; Hooper v. Bryant, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 1.

79. Champion v. Cayce, 54 Miss. 695.

80. State Bank v. Vance, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 471; Peyton v. Carr, 1 Rand. (Va.) 436.

81. Sivley v. Summers, 57 Miss. 712; Buckingham v. Walker, 48 Miss. 609; McLean v. Ragsdale, 31 Miss. 701.

Contracts made by a personal representative, although in fulfilment of an executory contract made by decedent, are not within the meaning of the statute. Cummins v. Kennedy, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 118, 14 Am. Dec. 45.

Judgments against executor.— A statute providing that no action shall be brought against an executor or administrator upon a judgment obtained against the testator or intestate, and that scire facias shall be issued to revive the same after the expiration of six years from the qualification of the executor or administrator, applies only to judgments against the testator or intestate and not to judgments against executors and administrators. Bingaman v. Robertson, 25 Miss. 501. See also Pope v. Bowman, 27 Miss. 194.

82. Allen v. Shanks, 90 Tenn. 359, 16 S. W. 715.

83. Abercrombie v. Sheldon, 8 Allen (Mass.) 532.

Effect of shortening period of limitation.— If the period prescribed by the statute is shortened by an amended statute, the original and not the amended statute applies to actions against personal representatives who gave bond before it took effect (Hildreth v. Marshall, 7 Gray (Mass.) 167; King v. Tirrell, 2 Gray (Mass.) 331); but a subsequent statute excepting from the operation of the amended statute any right which had accrued or existed against any deceased person or his executor or administrator prior to its passage does not revive a right of action barred by such amended statute before the passage of the subsequent statute (Page v. Melvin, 10 Gray (Mass.) 208. See also Thompson v. Burnham, 13 Gray (Mass.) 211).

84. Sewall v. Valentine, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 276 [explaining dictum in In re Allen, 15 Mass. 58; Lawrence v. Norfleet, 90 N. C. 533].

85. Corliss Steam Engine Co. v. Schumacher, 109 Mass. 416; Love v. Ingram, 104 N. C. 600, 10 S. E. 77; Lawrence v. Norfleet, 90 N. C. 533. And see Gilbert v. Little, 2 Ohio St. 156.

86. Slattery v. Doyle, 180 Mass. 27, 61 N. E. 264, holding that where defendant in accordance with the statute was ordered to give notice by publication in a certain newspaper once a week for three weeks but published the notice three times in one week and once in the week following the notice was insufficient.

affect the running of the general statutes of limitations.[87] By further statutory provisions in one jurisdiction where the administrator had assets and sets up the statute he must show that he has properly administered the same.[88] If it is ascertained that he has no assets the statute is a complete bar.[89] The allowance of further time to settle the estate does not take the case out of the operation of the statutes.[90] Where no bond is required or given, the right of the creditor to bring an action is barred on the expiration of the statutory period after time of appointment, notice having been duly given.[91] Where the right of action accrued subsequent to qualification, the statute commences to run from the date of the accrual.[92] The statute applies to suits in equity as well as to suits at law,[93] to claims on judgments against the decedent,[94] to a claim by a widow for a year's support allowed her by statute,[95] to actions by a collector of taxes against the administrator,[96] and to claims in favor of the administrator himself.[97] The statute has no application to claims for specific property held in trust by deceased,[98] nor to actions on demands against the executor himself,[99] nor to a bill against an administrator who has converted complainant's property to the use of decedent's estate.[1] So the statutes have no application to actions which do not accrue within the period fixed thereby.[2] In computing the time within which action may be brought the day on which the bond was given must be excluded.[3]

(f) Statutes Requiring Suit Within Designated Time After Probate and Notice of Appointment. Where a statute provides that no action shall be brought against any executor or administrator in his representative capacity after three years from probate of the will or grant of administration, provided notice of his appointment be given, the statutory period to be reckoned from the time of giving notice, it is of course obvious that the time commences to run from the day of notice of appointment.[4] To put this statute in operation notice is necessary,[5]

Publication of an administrator's qualification in a newspaper printed in the county is not a sufficient compliance with the statutory requirement that qualification be advertised at the court-house door, and does not entitle the administrator to the benefit of the statute. McLin v. McNamara, 22 N. C. 82. And see Cooper v. Cherry, 53 N. C. 323; Salter v. Blount, 22 N. C. 218; Bond v. Allen, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,619, Brunn. Col. Cas. 3, 1 N. C. 83.

87. Toby v. Allen, 3 Kan. 399; Corliss Steam Engine Co. v. Schumacher, 109 Mass. 416.

88. Little v. Duncan, 89 N. C. 416; McKeithan v. McGill, 83 N. C. 517; Cooper v. Cherry, 53 N. C. 323; Reeves v. Bell, 47 N. C. 254; Godley v. Taylor, 14 N. C. 178.

89. Little v. Duncan, 89 N. C. 416.

90. Gilbert v. Little, 2 Ohio St. 156.

91. Delaplane v. Smith, 38 Ohio St. 413. And see Jones v. Jones, 41 Ohio St. 417, holding that if because of the provisions in the will the executor is not required to give bond the statute commences to run from the time of this qualification.

92. Miller v. Shoaf, 110 N. C. 319, 14 S. E. 800; Godley v. Taylor, 14 N. C. 178; Trott v. West, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 433; Bradford v. McLemore, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 318.

93. Burditt v. Grew, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 108.

94. Scroggs v. Tutt, 23 Kan. 181; McLellan v. Lunt, 11 Me. 150.

95. In re Glenn, 23 Ohio Cir. Ct. 397.

96. Rich v. Tuckerman, 121 Mass. 222, 223, where it is said: "The collector has the rights of a creditor, and may pursue the same remedy, and it follows that, in so doing, he must be subject to the provisions of law that apply to other creditors."

97. In re Ward, 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 753, 12 Ohio Cir. Dec. 44.

98. Johnson v. Ames, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 173.

Actions to recover property.— Where the parties were descendants of a common ancestor and plaintiff brought an action for the sale of certain family portraits, claiming an interest under a will, while defendant claimed that they passed to him with the mansion-house and also by adverse possession, the suit being to determine the rights of the parties to property, the special statute limiting time of action for "claims against the estate" did not apply. Haven v. Haven, 181 Mass. 573, 64 N. E. 410.

99. Dallinger v. Davis, 149 Mass. 62, 20 N. E. 696.

1. Nashua Sav. Bank v. Abbott, 181 Mass. 531, 63 N. E. 1058, 92 Am. St. Rep. 430.

2. McClaskey v. Barr, 79 Fed. 408.

3. Paul v. Stone, 112 Mass. 27.

4. Lynch v. Farnell, 24 R. I. 496, 53 Atl. 869; Bosworth v. Smith, 9 R. I. 67; Miner v. Aylesworth, 18 Fed. 199. And see Thompson v. Hoxsie, 24 R. I. 493, 53 Atl. 873.

5. If no notice is given the special statute relating to actions against personal representatives has no application. The time within which suit must be brought is under and the notice must be published in accordance with the provisions of the statute.[6] This statute applies to suits in equity as well as to actions at law,[7] and to contributions decreed to be due from the stock-holders of a bank under a section of their charter making them personally liable for "all losses, deficiencies, or failure of the capital stock of said bank."[8] It does not apply to a bill against an administrator not in his capacity as such but as trustee.[9]

(3) Statutes Permitting Suit Within Designated Period After Death of Grant of Administration. In many jurisdictions statutes are in force which provide in effect that if a person liable to action dies before the expiration of the time limited for action and the cause of action survives it may be commenced against his personal representative after the expiration of that time and within a specified period after administration granted. So in other jurisdictions statutes have been enacted which are in all respects the same except that the period prescribed runs from the death of the decedent instead of the time when administration is granted.[10] Their object is to extend the time in certain cases within which actions may be commenced and they are not intended under any circumstances to limit the time given by other statutes of limitations.[11] Consequently an action accruing against decedent in his lifetime is not barred merely because it was not commenced within the period after grant of administration fixed by the special statute under consideration, but it will be seasonably commenced if these circumstances governed by the general statute of limitations. Knowles v. Whaley, 15 R. I. 97, 23 Atl. 144.

Notice by an administrator de bonis non.— Where an executor publishes no notice of his appointment and an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed is subsequently appointed and publishes notice the statute only commences to run from the date of the publication. Lynch v. Farnell, 24 R. I. 496, 53 Atl. 869.

Where an administrator dies after qualifying and without fully administering the estate and an administrator de bonis non is appointed, the statutory period commences to run from the qualification of the original administrator and notice of appointment as by express provision of the statute, the new administration is under these circumstances considered a continuance of the original administration. Thompson v. Hoxsie, 25 R. I. 377, 55 Atl. 930.

Change of statute pending settlement of estate.— Where, pending settlement of an estate, a statute requiring suit to be brought within three years from the time of giving notice of appointment is amended so as to make the limitation two years, the earlier statute governs actions brought against the administrator, and an action commenced within three years after notice is seasonably brought. Gunn v. Kelliher, 20 R. I. 180, 38 Atl. 8.

6. Lynch v. Farnell, 24 R. I. 496, 53 Atl. 869, holding that the fact that the executor made a payment on account of the creditor's claim, and that the creditor had actual knowledge that he was acting as executor of the estate did not satisfy the terms of the statute, for without the notice no time is fixed for the statute to run at all.

7. Warren v. Providence Tool Co., 19 R. I. 656, 35 Atl. 1041.

A suit in equity cannot be maintained against the executor of a deceased stock-holder of a corporation, the members of which are liable for the corporate debts or the payment of the debt out of the personal assets of the testator, after the lapse of three years from publication of notice. New England Commercial Bank v. Newport Steam Factory, 6 R. I. 154, 75 Am. Dec. 688.

8. Atwood v. Rhode Island Agricultural Bank, 2 R. I. 191, holding that this is so, even though the three years have elapsed before the deficiency in the capital stock is discovered, and, although the administrator may have received dividends on the shares on which contributions are decreed more than three years after administration is granted.

9. Randall v. Peckham, 10 R. I. 545, in which the statute was held not to apply to a bill in equity against an administrator to obtain surrender of mortgage notes given his intestate and cancellation of the mortgage and to enjoin a sale thereunder on the ground of a release by intestate.

10. See statutes of various states and cases cited in subsequent notes in this section.

11. California.— Lowell v. Kier, 50 Cal. 646; Smith v. Hall, 19 Cal. 85.

Florida.— Sammis v. Wightman, 31 Fla. 10, 12 So. 526.

Nevada.— Rickards v. Hutchinson, 18 Nev. 215, 2 Pac. 52, 4 Pac. 702; Wick v. O'Neale, 2 Nev. 303.

New York.— Scovil v. Scovil, 45 Barb. 517.

Oregon.— Blaslower v. Speel, 23 Oreg. 106, 31 Pac. 253.

"To avoid the harshness and injustice of this rule, which often barred a cause of action without any fault or laches on the part of the creditor, the statute in question was enacted, which preserves to the creditor the right to bring an action within six months after the appointment of an executor or administrator, when the time limited would otherwise expire subsequent to the death of the debtor, and before the appointment of his personal repre-

brought within the period prescribed by the general statute of limitations;[12] and on the other hand by the express provision of the statutes an action not barred at decedent's death if brought within the period fixed by the special statute will be seasonably commenced, although the period fixed by the general statute for bringing suit has expired.[13] It has also been held that a suit brought within the period fixed by the special statute will be seasonably brought no matter how long the appointment had been delayed.[14] Nevertheless, if at the time the special statute commences to run, a portion of the time fixed by the general statute longer than that fixed by the special statute remains unexpired, the period fixed by the general statute controls and the special statute cannot operate to extend the time for bringing suit.[15] So if the suit is brought after the expiration both of the general statutes of limitations and of the period fixed by statutes of the character under consideration it is barred.[16] And of course these special statutes do not have the effect of reviving a cause of action barred at the time of decedent's death.[17] As is obvious from their language they apply only to cases where the general statute of limitations has commenced to run.[18] Nor have they any application to executors de son tort who may be sued immediately after intermedling.[19] They have been held to apply to suits to foreclose mortgages given to secure notes not barred by limitation when the maker died, although the personal representative is not a party thereto.[20] These statutes are applicable whether the administrator has given notice of his appointment or not.[21]

(4) Statutes Requiring Suit Within Designated Time After Rejection of Claim — (a) Nature and Effect of Statutes. In some states, by virtue of express statutory provisions, suit must be brought on claims presented by the holder and rejected by the personal representative within a designated time after rejection, in default of which the claim shall be forever barred,[22] and when the sentative." Blaskower v. Steel, 23 Oreg. 106, 108, 31 Pac. 253.

12. Lowell v. Kier, 50 Cal. 646; Hall v. Brennan, 140 N. Y. 409, 35 N. E. 663.

13. California.— Hibernia Sav., etc., Soc. v. Hebert, 53 Cal. 375.

Florida.— Sammis v. Wightman, 31 Fla. 10, 12 So. 526.

Illinois.— Roberts v. Tunnell, 165 Ill. 631, 46 N. E. 713 [affirming 65 Ill. App. 191]; Higgins v. Spring, 36 Ill. App. 310.

Indiana.— Roeder v. Keller, 135 Ind. 692, 35 N. E. 1014; Epperson v. Hostetter, 95 Ind. 583; Knippenberg v. Morris, 80 Ind. 540; Harris v. Rice, 66 Ind. 267.

Michigan.— Sword v. Keith, 31 Mich. 247.

Mississippi.— Klaus v. Moore, 77 Miss. 701, 27 So. 612; Clayton v. Merrett, 52 Miss. 353. And see Weir v. Monahan, 67 Miss. 434, 7 So. 291; Sledge v. Jacobs, 58 Miss. 194; Adams v. Williams, 57 Miss. 38; Bissinger v. Lawson, 57 Miss. 36.

Nevada.— Wick v. O'Neale, 2 Nev. 303.

New Hampshire.— Brown v. Leavitt, 26 N. H. 493.

New York.— Sanford v. Sanford, 62 N. Y. 553; Scovil v. Scovil, 45 Barb. 517.

North Carolina.— Winslow v. Benton, 130 N. C. 58, 40 S. E. 840; Benson v. Bennett, 112 N. C. 505, 17 S. E. 432.

Vermont.— Briggs v. Thomas, 32 Vt. 176; Hapgood v. Southgate, 21 Vt. 384.

Wisconsin.— Boyce v. Foote, 19 Wis. 199.

Compare Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Brantley, 106 Ky. 849, 51 S. W. 585, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 473, in which it was held that under St. § 2516, providing that an action for an injury to the person of plaintiff shall be commenced within one year next after the cause of action accrued, "and not thereafter," and section 2526, providing that if a person entitled to bring such an action "dies before the expiration of the time limited for the commencement thereof, and the cause of action survives, the action thereon may be brought by his representative after the expiration of that time, if commenced within one year after his qualification," the death of the person injured does not stop the running of the statute; and if one year elapses after the injury before the qualification of a personal representative the bar is complete, section 2526 having no application except where the personal representative qualifies before the expiration of the period of limitation.

14. Danglada v. De la Guerra, 10 Cal. 386.

15. Sammis v. Wightman, 31 Fla. 10, 12 So. 526; Jones v. Mitchell, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 858; Hambrick v. Jones, 64 Miss. 240, 8 So. 176. And see Blaskower v. Steel, 23 Oreg. 106, 31 Pac. 253; Briggs v. Thomas, 32 Vt. 176.

16. McNeill v. Gallagher, 24 R. I. 490, 53 Atl. 630. And see Schwartz v. Stock, 26 Nev. 155, 65 Pac. 357.

17. Hibernia Sav., etc., Assoc. v. Herbert, 53 Cal. 375.

18. Smith v. Hall, 19 Cal. 85.

19. Chambers v. David, 1 Hill (S. C.) 50.

20. Roberts v. Tunnell, 165 Ill. 631, 46 N. E. 713 [affirming 65 Ill. App. 191].

21. Lancey v. White, 68 Me. 28.

22. Arizona.—Underwood v. Brown, (1900) 60 Pac. 700.

bar of the statute has attached no act or omission of the personal representative can revive it.[23] These statutes are independent of and collateral to the general statutes of limitation,[24] and are manifestly designed to put all claims upon an equal footing. Their practical effect is to bar some claims in a much less time than the general statute does and in other cases the time may be somewhat extended.[25] It has been held that they are not statutes of limitation in the sense that the operation thereof will be suspended by constitutional provisions suspending all statutes of limitation in civil suits.[26] They are considered highly penal in their nature, must be construed with great strictness, and in order to bring a case within their provisions and to make them available to the personal representative, all the requisites of the statute must have been strictly complied with and their terms implicitly obeyed.[27]

(b) Claims to Which Statutes Are Applicable. The statutes apply to claims arising after decedent's death as well as to claims arising in his lifetime,[28] and their operation is not suspended as to a rejected claim secured by mortgage by the filing of a bill within the statutory period for a foreclosure of the mortgage.[29] So a claim which becomes due on presentation is a claim "then due" within the meaning of the statutes.[30] They have no application, however, in respect of claims which need not be presented for allowance.[31] They do not authorize suits

California.— Benedict v. Hoggin, 2 Cal. 385.

Nevada.— Wick v. O'Neale, 2 Nev. 303.

New York.— Cramer v. Bedell, 10 N. Y. St. 817.

Ohio.— McKent v. Kent, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 370, 2 West. L. Month. 540; Pollock v. Pollock, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 140, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 408. And see Crouse v. Frybarger, 22 Ohio Cir. Ct. 315, 12 Ohio Cir. Dec. 254.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1758.

A statute requiring action to be brought as speedily as the same can be done after disallowance of a claim against an estate represented as insolvent does not require such action to be commenced at the next succeeding term of court in all cases. The intent of the legislature is that this should be done as speedily as possible having regard to the place of residence and of the circumstances of the parties. Guild v. Hale, 15 Mass. 455.

Effect of partial rejection.— Where a claim consists of independent items and the executor admits some and rejects others, the statute commences to run against the rejected items from the date of the rejection. Wintermeyer v. Sherwood, 77 Hun (N. Y.) 193, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 449, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 422.

23. Selover v. Coe, 63 N. Y. 438; Miller v. Ewing, 68 Ohio St. 176, 67 N. E. 292 (holding that the representative cannot waive the statute by estoppel); Pollock v. Pollock, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 140, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 408; Flynn v. Diefendorf, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 194, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 934 (holding that after the statutory period has elapsed an agreement between the creditor and executrix to refer the claim does not waive the bar of the statute); Willis v. Talbert, (Tex. Sup. 1889) 11 S. W. 535.

24. Barclay v. Blackington, 127 Cal. 189, 59 Pac. 834.

25. Continental L. Ins. Co. v. Barber, 50 Conn. 567, holding that where decedent's note had been presented to the executors within the six months limited by the probate court therefor, and within the period fixed by the general statute (six years), an action brought within the four months prescribed by statute from rejection of the claim was not barred, although more than six years had elapsed since the right of action first accrued. Compare Barclay v. Blackington, 127 Cal. 189, 59 Pac. 834, in which it was said that while these statutes may shorten they cannot lengthen the operation of the general statute.

26. Stanfield v. Neill, 36 Tex. 688; Walker v. Taul, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 28.

27. Robeson v. Niles, 7 Mackey (D. C.) 182; Coburn v. Harris, 53 Md. 367; Peterson v. Ellicott, 9 Md. 52; Potts v. Baldwin, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 434, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Broderick v. Smith, 3 Lans. (N. Y.) 26; Calanan v. McClure, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 206; Geer v. Archer, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 420; Van Saun v. Farley, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 165; Adler v. Davis, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 47, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 241; Reynolds v. Collins, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 36; Elliott v. Cronk, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 35. But see Miller v. Ewing, 68 Ohio St. 176, 67 N. E. 292, in which it was said that the statutes should receive a liberal construction.

28. Cornes v. Wilkin, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 428.

Funeral expenses.— A statute providing that where an administrator rejects a claim against decedent's estate, either before or after publication of notice to present claims, claimant must commence action thereon within six months, applies to claims for funeral expenses as well as those arising before the death. Koons v. Wilkin, 2 N. Y. App. Div. 13, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 640.

29. Ware v. Weatherby, (N. J. Sup. 1900) 45 Atl. 914.

30. Maurer v. King, 127 Cal. 114, 59 Pac. 290.

31. National Guarantee Loan, etc., Co. v. Fly, 29 Tex. Civ. App. 533, 69 S. W. 231.

on claims not due.[32] Nor have they any application to claims arising on dealings with the personal representative.[33]

(c) Steps Necessary to Make Statute Available — aa. Presentation and Rejection of Claim. To make the statute available therefore the claim must have been presented by the claimant or by someone duly authorized by him to make presentation,[34] and the claim so presented must be properly authenticated, for otherwise it stands on the same footing as if it had never been exhibited.[35] The claim must be presented to and rejected by the personal representative,[36] or by someone whom he has directed to reject the claim.[37] The rejection must be express, unequivocal, and final.[38] Whatever may be the language or declaration of the 32. Brooks v. Lawson, 136 Cal. 10, 68 Pac. 97; Radue v. Pauwelyn, 27 Mont. 68, 69 Pac. 557. A statute requiring a plaintiff to sue on a bond, or on claims for breaches thereof, within nine months after their rejection by the administrator, has no reference to a possible or contingent claim that might arise from further breaches of a bond. Orendorff v. Utz, 48 Md. 298.

Contingent claims are claims not due within a statute requiring rejected claims not due to be sued on within a designated time after they become due. Morse v. Steele, 132 Cal. 456, 64 Pac. 690.

33. Coburn v. Harris, 58 Md. 87, the reason for requiring presentation of claims is that the administrator is supposed to be ignorant of the character of such claims and in direct dealings with the administrator himself the reason of the rule ceases.

34. Coburn v. Harris, 53 Md. 367; Peterson v. Ellicott, 9 Md. 52, holding that the statute is not available to the personal representative where it does not affirmatively appear that the person presenting the claim was plaintiff's agent.

35. Washington Loan, etc., Co. v. Darling, 21 App. Cas. (D. C.) 132; Coburn v. Harris, 53 Md. 367; Crosby v. McWillie, 11 Tex. 94.

When claim considered sufficiently authenticated.— After a claim against an estate had been presented and rejected by the executrix, plaintiff's attorney, deeming the claim not sufficiently formal, again presented it to the executrix's attorney, who simply took the claim and said it would be again rejected and it was so rejected by the executrix. There was nothing said at the second presentation by defendant's attorney as to the informality of the first presentation or that it would be considered as not having been before rejected. It was held that the statute limiting the time of action on rejected claims began to run from the first rejection. Gillespie v. Wright, 93 Cal. 169, 28 Pac. 862.

36. Ulster County Sav. Inst. v. Young, 161 N. Y. 23, 55 N. E. 483 [affirming 15 N. Y. App. Div. 181, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 493]; Hardy v. Ames, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 413; Whitmore v. Foose, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 159. And see Morgan v. Barthelte, 3 Ohio Cir. Ct. 431, 2 Ohio Cir. Dec. 244.

Limitation of rule.— When a claim against a decedent's estate has been passed by the orphans' court and payment of the same demanded by the creditor and refused by the administrator, or one of two administrators, then an action to recover it must be begun within nine months thereafter. In such case it is not necessary that there should be a physical exhibition of the claim to the administrator in order that the statutory limitation should begin to run. But when the claim has not been passed by the orphans' court there must be a physical presentation of it properly authenticated to the administrator in order that his refusal to pay may be such as to require suit to be brought by the claimant within nine months. Bradford v. Street, 84 Md. 273, 35 Atl. 886.

37. Selover v. Coe, 63 N. Y. 438; Wintermeyer v. Sherwood, 77 Hun (N. Y.) 193, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 449; Miller v. Ewing, 68 Ohio St. 176, 67 N. E. 292, in all of which cases it was held that a rejection by an attorney directed so to do is sufficient, because when the representative gives to the attorney instructions how to act, it is not a delegation of the trust but a performance of it by the representative acting through another. If, however, the claim was merely presented to and rejected by the attorney of the personal representative who had no directions to reject it, such rejection would not make the statute available. See cases cited in preceding note.

Rejection by court after rejection by representative.— Where a claim is presented to the representative and rejected, and subsequently presented to the county court and rejected, the statutory period runs from the date of rejection by the representative, and not from the date of rejection by the county court. The statute providing that when a claim is rejected either by the executor or administrator of a county judge suit must be brought within three months from same rejection, not contemplating the presentation of the rejected claims to the county court. Farwell v. Richardson, 10 N. D. 34, 84 N. W. 558.

38. Ukiah Bank v. Shoemake, 67 Cal. 147, 4 Pac. 420; Caulfield v. Green, 73 Conn. 321, 47 Atl. 334; Ulster County Sav. Inst. v. Young, 161 N. Y. 23, 55 N. E. 483 [affirming 15 N. Y. App. Div. 181, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 493]; Adler v. Davis, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 47, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 241; Barsalou's Case, 4 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 135; Barsalou v. Wright, 4 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 164; Woodlief v. Bragg, 108 N. C. 571, 13 S. E. 211.

Limitations of rule.— By the express provisions of some statutes a claim which is not acted on by the personal representative within ten days after presentation will be representative to the claimant if in the same notice or declaration or at the same time he does or says anything from which the claimant may reasonably infer that the determination to dispute or reject the claim is not final, but that it will be further examined or considered either upon the vouchers already exhibited or such as may be thereafter presented, the claim is not "disputed or rejected" within the meaning of the statute.[39] The claim rejected must also be the same as that sued on or the statute will not apply,[40] but this does not mean that a party whose claim is rejected can evade the statute by successive presentation of claims founded on the same transaction but varying in form or detail.[41]

bb. Notice of Rejection of Claim. So knowledge of the rejection of a claim must be brought home to the claimant,[42] and the rejection is operative only from the deemed rejected. This does away with the requirement of express rejection; the statute commences to run from the expiration of the ten-day period when no action is taken on the claim and if the action is not brought within the statutory period thereafter the claim is effectually barred. Underwood v. Brown, (Ariz. 1900) 60 Pac. 700; Farwell v. Richardson, 10 N. D. 34, 84 N. W. 558; Boyd v. Van Neida, 9 N. D. 337, 83 N. W. 329. By the provisions of the statutes of another state if a claim is not acted on within ten days it is optional with the claimant to deem the neglect equivalent to a rejection. He need not consider it so unless he chooses. Cowgill v. Dinwiddie, 98 Cal. 481, 33 Pac. 439; Stewart v. Hinkel, 72 Cal. 187, 13 Pac. 494; Ukiah Bank v. Shoemake, 67 Cal. 147, 7 Pac. 420. The claimant can treat the proceedings as nugatory and file a new claim and thus avoid the running of the statute. Stewart v. Hinkel, 72 Cal. 187, 13 Pac. 494.

39. Hoyt v. Bonnett, 50 N. Y. 538; Reynolds v. Collins, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 36; Elliott v. Cronk, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 35; Kidd v. Chapman, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 414.

Rejections held insufficient to set statute in motion.— A mere statement by an executor that he doubted the justice of plaintiff's claim and an offer to refer it to disinterested persons. Matter of Eichman, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 322, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 636. A letter by the executor in which he stated that he would not be ready to settle the estate and that the claim presented would not be considered until he had seen claimant. Caulfield v. Green, 73 Conn. 321, 47 Atl. 334. A rejection upon any other ground than that the debt claimed or some part thereof is not legally or equitably due. Kidd v. Chapman, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 414. A statement by the representative that he felt obliged to reject the claim followed by conduct which would create an impression that the claim had not been finally rejected. Calanan v. McClure, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 206.

Rejections held sufficient to set statutes in motion.— A statement by the administrator within a reasonable time after exhibition of the claim that the claim is rejected and that all claimant will get on it will be at the end of a lawsuit. Miller v. Ewing, 68 Ohio St. 176, 67 N. E. 292. A verbal statement that the claim is disputed and rejected, there being no statutory requirement of written notice or that it should be in any particular form. Peters v. Stewart, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 357, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 993.

40. Robeson v. Niles, 7 Mackey (D. C.) 182, so holding where the claim was originally presented and rejected and was for services rendered as attorney and trustee, while that sued on was for services as attorney only. Compare Willis v. Talbert, (Tex. Sup. 1889) 11 S. W. 535, holding that under a statute providing that where a claim for money against an estate has been rejected in whole or in part, the owner must sue within ninety days thereafter, the statute is set in motion on rejection of the claim because proper credits had not been entered thereon, and cannot be revived by a second presentation ninety days thereafter and indorsement thereon by the administrator of a portion of the claim.

41. Titus v. Poole, 145 N. Y. 414, 40 N. E. 228 [affirming 73 Hun 383, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 451].

42. Potts v. Baldwin, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 434, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Steward v. Hinkle, 72 Cal. 187, 13 Pac. 494; Van Saun v. Farley, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 165.

Sufficient and insufficient notice illustrated. — Notice to an attorney employed by the claimant to make out in legal shape and present the claim has been held not notice to the creditor (Van Saun v. Farley, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 165); and the filing of a notice on rejection in a proceeding in a surrogate's court to which the claimant was an involuntary party does not obviate the necessity of bringing knowledge of the rejection home to her (Potts v. Baldwin, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 434, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 655); so the mere fact that an attorney who had a claim against a decedent's estate for collection appeared in the proceedings in the surrogate's court in which such claim was rejected has been held insufficient to charge the claimant with notice of such rejection (Potts v. Baldwin, supra); but it has been held that a written notice by an administrator rejecting a claim left at claimant's house with a person of suitable age to inform the bearer that claimant was not home is equivalent to personal notice and sufficient to set the statute in motion (Peters v. Stewart, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 357, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 993 [reversing 1 Misc. 8, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 661]).

Where the actual date of rejection is concealed from the claimant the statute only time of actual notice to him.[43] Under former New York statutes,[44] the statute could be set up only in cases where the presentation and rejection of a claim occurred after publication of notice requiring creditors to present their claims against the estate,[45] but under the present provision[46] notice to present claims prior to presentation and rejection thereof is not necessary to set the statute in motion,[47] and according to a number of decisions no notice at all is necessary to set the statute in motion, the view being taken that where a claim has been presented and rejected there is no object in giving notice to the creditor whose claim has been so presented and rejected.[48]

(d) Miscellaneous. In computing the time within which a rejected claim must be sued on, the day of rejection must be excluded.[49] If a claim which has been allowed is subsequently rejected the statute runs from the date of the rejection.[50] The statutes do not run in favor of a representative who at the time the action accrues and continuously thereafter resides out of the state.[51] And where the personal representative rejects a claim presented by the administrator of a creditor residing in another state an action on such claim is not barred by the statute of limitations.[52]

(c) Suspension of Operation of Statutes of Limitations — (1) Death of Testator or Intestate. Where a cause of action has not accrued against a person at the time of his death the general statute of limitations does not commence to run until there is administration upon decedent's estate; because until that time a cause of action has never accrued, there being no one who could be commences to run from the date on which the claimant was actually notified of the rejection of his claim. Cowgill v. Dinwiddie, 98 Cal. 481, 33 Pac. 439.

Withdrawal of notice.— Where an administrator after disallowing a claim and giving notice requested the creditor not to sue, expressing his belief that the claim would be compromised, and the creditor at the special instance and request of the administrator delayed the commencement of his suit accordingly, it was held that this conduct of the administrator was equivalent to an express declaration that he would not insist upon the disallowance and notice and justified the jury in finding a waiver. Husted v. Hoyt, 12 Conn. 160.

43. Cowgill v. Dinwiddie, 98 Cal. 481, 33 Pac. 439; Robbins v. Coffing, 52 Conn. 118.

As he cannot maintain a suit on his claim until it is rejected he has an absolute right to be informed of its rejection by the representative, who alone knows what form of action has been taken with respect to it. Steward v. Hinkle, 72 Cal. 187, 13 Pac. 494.

44. 2 Rev. St. 88, 89, §§ 34–38, 39.

45. Tucker v. Tucker, 4 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 428, 4 Keyes (N. Y.) 136; Hardy v. Ames, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 413; Dolbeer v. Casey, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 149; Whitmore v. Foose, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 159; Clark v. Sexton, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 477; Flagg v. Ruden, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 193.

46. N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1822, providing that "where an executor or administrator disputes or rejects a claim against the estate of the decedent, exhibited to him, either before or after the commencement of the publication of a notice requiring the presentation of claims, as prescribed by law, . . . the claimant must commence an action . . . within six months after the dispute or rejection, . . . in default whereof," etc.

47. Snell v. Dale, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 575.

Claims presented and rejected before the enactment of the statute are not within its provisions. In re Haxtun, 102 N. Y. 157, 6 N. E. 111 [reversing 33 Hun 364].

Sufficiency of notice.— Under a statute requiring administrators to publish notice to creditors that they would be required to present their claims against the estate, notice that creditors were requested to present their claims is sufficient. Prentice v. Whitney, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 300.

48. Field v. Field, 77 N. Y. 294 (in which it was said that claims against the estate may be presented at any time after the personal representative qualifies and enters on the discharge of his duty and that when he examines and decides on the justice of the claim presented, although no notice to creditors has been published, the effect of his decision is the same as though the claim was presented after publication of such notice); Wintermeyer v. Sherwood, 77 Hun (N. Y.) 193, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 449. Contra, Salomon v. Heickel, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 176.

49. Hunter v. Lanius, 82 Tex. 677, 18 S. W. 201.

50. Stewart v. McLaughlin, 47 Ohio St. 555, 28 N. E. 175; Kyle v. House, 38 Tex. 155.

51. Hayden v. Pierce, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 593, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 55 [affirmed in 144 N. Y. 512, 39 N. E. 638, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 205].

52. Cobb v. Norwood, 11 Tex. 556, holding further that an administrator of a creditor being appointed in the state where decedent dies he might commence suit within three months after presenting the claim.

sued.[53] On the other hand the rule is well settled that if the cause of action accrues in decedent's lifetime his death does not, in the absence of legislation to the contrary, suspend the running of the statute until administration is taken out,[54] even though the debtor may die within the period fixed by statute and by reason of litigation as to the right to probate an executor or administrator may be appointed until after expiration of the time limited.[55] The harshness of this rule has, however, led to the enactment of special legislation in many jurisdictions, the effect of which is to materially modify it.[56]

(2) Presentation and Allowance of Claim. Because of a difference in the provisions of the statutes of the various states, there is lack of uniformity in the decisions as to whether or not presentation alone, or presentation and allow-

53. Abbott v. McElroy, 10 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 100; Jolliffe v. Pitt, 2 Vern. Ch. 694. See also Elwell v. Roper, 72 N. H. 254, 56 Atl. 342. But see Hibernia Sav., etc., Soc. v. Conlin, 67 Cal. 178, 7 Pac. 477.

Where a parent agrees to compensate his daughter by his will for her services and no compensation is made, an action by her will lie against his administrator to recover for such services; and the claim will not be barred by limitations until after the lapse of the statutory period after administration granted. Tuohy v. Trail, 19 App. Cas. (D. C.) 79. And see Sword v. Keith, 31 Mich. 247.

54. Alabama.— Johnson v. Wren, 3 Stew. 172.

Arkansas.— Whipple v. Johnson, 66 Ark. 204, 49 S. W. 827; Biscoe v. Madden, 17 Ark. 533; Brown v. Merrick, 16 Ark. 612; Etter v. Finn, 12 Ark. 632.

California.— Quivey v. Hall, 19 Cal. 97.

Florida.— Sammis v. Wightman, 31 Fla. 10, 12 So. 526.

Illinois.— Bonney v. Stoughton, 122 Ill. 536, 13 N. E. 833; Baker v. Brown, 18 Ill. 91.

Louisiana.— Linderman's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 714; Dubreuil's Succession, 12 Rob. 507.

Mississippi.— Abbott v. McElroy, 10 Sm. & M. 100.

New Jersey.— Dekay v. Darrah, 14 N. J. L. 288. Compare Burnet v. Bryan, 6 N. J. L. 377.

New York.— Sanford v. Sanford, 62 N. Y. 553; Church v. Alendorf, 49 Hun 439, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 557; Matter of Howard, 11 Misc. 224, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 1098 [affirmed in 36 N. Y. Suppl. 1126].

North Carolina.— Copeland v. Collins, 122 N. C. 619, 30 S. E. 315 [distinguishing Long v. Clegg, 94 N. C. 763]; Daniel v. Laughlin, 87 N. C. 433; Armistead v. Bozman, 36 N. C. 117; Godley v. Taylor, 14 N. C. 178; Jones v. Brodie, 7 N. C. 594. Compare Baird v. Reynolds, 99 N. C. 469, 6 S. E. 377.

Pennsylvania.— Mitcheltree v. Veach, 31 Pa. St. 455.

South Carolina.— Bolt v. Dawkins, 16 S. C. 198; Bugg v. Summer, 1 McMull. 333; Nicks v. Martindale, Harp. 135, 18 Am. Dec. 647; McCollough v. Speed, 3 McCord 255.

Tennessee.— Anderson v. Bedford, 4 Coldw. 464.

Virginia.— Harshberger v. Alger, 31 Gratt. 52.

West Virginia.— Handy v. Smith, 30 W. Va. 195, 3 S. E. 604.

United States.—Hayman v. Keally, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,265, 3 Cranch C. C. 325. Compare Lewis v. Broadwell, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,319, 3 McLean 568.

England.— Rhodes v. Smethurst, 1 H. & H. 237, 2 Jur. 893, 7 L. J. Exch. 273, 4 M. & W. 42; Freake v. Cranefeldt, 8 L. J. Ch. 61, 3 Myl. & C. 499, 14 Eng. Ch. 499.

See 33 Cent. Dig. tit. "Limitation of Actions," § 431 et seq.

But see Nelson v. Herkel, 30 Kan. 456, 2 Pac. 110; Toby v. Allen, 3 Kan. 399, in which cases it was held without mentioning any statutory provision that the death of the debtor operates to suspend the statute of limitations until an administrator is appointed; that there must be a person to sue and that the cause of action cannot accrue or exist unless there is a person in esse against whom an action can be brought; but it is further held in this state that while the death of a debtor operates to suspend the running of a statute until appointment of an administrator, the creditor cannot indefinitely prolong the time of limitations by his own omission or refusal to act (Bauserman v. Charlott, 46 Kan. 480, 26 Pac. 1051), and that inasmuch as a creditor is himself authorized by statute to take out letters of administration in case of delay by persons entitled to do so the statute of limitations will run against his claim after a reasonable time has elapsed subsequent to the death of decedent, although no personal representative had been appointed (Black v. Elliott, 63 Kan. 211, 65 Pac. 215, 88 Am. St. Rep. 239; Bauserman v. Charlott, 46 Kan. 480, 26 Pac. 1051 [affirmed in 147 U. S. 647, 13 S. Ct. 466, 37 L. ed. 316]. See also Kulp v. Kulp, 51 Kan. 341, 32 Pac. 118, 21 L. R. A. 550).

Under the Georgia statute, providing that the time between the death of a person and representation taken upon his estate shall not be counted against creditors, provided the time does not exceed five years, and that at the expiration of that time the limitation shall commence, failure to take out administration within five years does not prevent the statute from running after the expiration of that time. Langmade v. Tuggle, 78 Ga. 707, 3 S. E. 666.

55. Rhodes v. Smethurst, 1 H. & H. 237, 2 Jur. 893, 7 L. J. Exch. 273, 4 M. & W. 42.

56. See infra, XIV, F, 2, b, (I), (B), (2), (e).

ance, will operate to suspend the running of the statutes of limitations in actions against executors and administrators; thus in some states it is held that the mere filing or exhibition of a claim against an estate does not have this effect,[57] while in other jurisdictions it is held that it does.[58] So under the statutes of a number of the states no claim which has been presented and duly allowed can be affected by the statutes of limitations pending proceedings for the settlement of the estate.[59] But presentation of a claim within the required time will not validate the claim if before presentation it was barred by the general statute of limitations.[60] Where a statute requires suit to be brought within a year after allowance and an appeal is taken from the allowance of a claim, the statute commences to run from the time of the entry of the certification of the allowance by the court to which the appeal is taken, in the court where the claim was originally presented.[61]

57. Hanson v. Towle, 19 Kan. 273; Reber's Appeal, 125 Pa. St. 20, 17 Atl. 189; Keyser's Appeal, 124 Pa. St. 80, 16 Atl. 577, 2 L. R. A. 159 [explaining York's Appeal, 110 Pa. St. 69, 1 Atl. 162, 2 Atl. 65]; Thompson v. Hoxsie, 25 R. I. 377, 55 Atl. 930; Woods v. Woods, 99 Tenn. 50, 41 S. W. 345; Prewett v. Goodlett, 98 Tenn. 82, 38 S. W. 434. Compare Hillborn's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 265.

Filing and withdrawal of a claim does not constitute the commencement of an action to prevent the statute of limitations from running. Morse v. Clark, 10 Colo. 216, 14 Pac. 327.

58. Deans v. Wilcoxson, 25 Fla. 980, 7 So. 163; Warden v. McKinnon, 94 N. C. 378.

"Filing" defined.— The term "filing" signifies that the claim is to be exhibited to the personal representative for inspection in order that he may reject or allow it. It is not required of the creditor that he should part with the possession of the evidence of his claim. Hinton v. Pritchard, 126 N. C. 8, 35 S. E. 127.

What is a sufficient filing.— Before the death of a judgment debtor of a county an execution was issued, and after his death it was presented by the sheriff to the debtor's administrator who recognized it as a valid debt against the debtor's estate. It was held that the claim of the county was filed with the administrator within N. C. Code, § 164, providing that such a filing will preclude the running of limitations. Stonestreet v. Frost, 123 N. C. 640, 31 S. E. 836. So it has been held that an action brought against an administrator is a sufficient filing of a claim against the estate. McLeod v. Graham, 132 N. C. 473, 43 S. E. 935. See also Bush v. Adams, 22 Fla. 177.

A formal petition by a mortgage creditor asking recognition as such and demanding that the executor give security for his claim is such a judicial demand as will interrupt prescription. Berens v. Boutté, 31 La. Ann. 112.

Under the Missouri practice where notice of the exhibition of a demand has properly been made, and the cause has been docketed in the probate court and continued, the cause is not barred by the two years' statute of limitations, although continued for three years. Nichols-Shephard Co. v. Donavon, 67 Mo. App. 286.

59. Arkansas.—Fort v. Blagg, 38 Ark. 471.

California.— Wise v. Williams, 72 Cal. 544, 14 Pac. 204; German Sav., etc., Soc. v. Hutchinson, 68 Cal. 52, 8 Pac. 627; Dohs v. Dohs, 60 Cal. 255; Schroeder's Estate, 46 Cal. 304. And see Beckett v. Selover, 7 Cal. 215, 68 Am. Dec. 237.

Louisiana.—Willis' Succession, 109 La. 281, 33 So. 314.

North Carolina.— Turner v. Shuffler, 108 N. C. 642, 13 S. E. 243.

Pennsylvania.— Reber's Appeal, 125 Pa. St. 20, 17 Atl. 189.

Texas.— Wygal v. Myers, 76 Tex. 598, 13 S. W. 567; Howard v. Battle, 18 Tex. 673; Herbert v. Herbert, (Civ. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 594. Compare Danzey v. Swieney, 7 Tex. 617.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1757.

What is not a sufficient allowance.— Under a statute requiring the clerk upon the receipt of the prescribed affidavit and the claim and its approval by him to indorse thereon the words, "Probated, allowed for $—— and registered and to sign his name officially thereto, an indorsement that the claim is 'allowed and registered,'" is insufficient to stop the running of the statute. Cheairs v. Cheairs, 81 Miss. 662, 33 So. 414, 60 L. R. A. 549.

Application of the rule.— Under a statute providing that no claim which has been presented and allowed shall be affected by the statute of limitations, the statute does not run against a claim founded on a note and mortgage after allowance by the counsel of a deceased mortgagor. German Sav., etc., Soc. v. Hutchinson, 68 Cal. 52, 8 Pac. 627.

An allowed claim has the force of a judgment.— It stands pending the final close of the administration waiting payment in due course under orders of the court. Fort v. Blagg, 38 Ark. 471.

60. McKinzie v. Hill, 51 Mo. 303, 11 Am. Dec. 450, in which it was said that statutes of this character are not intended to be grafted on the general statute as an extension of time.

61. Horst v. McCormick Harvester Mach. Co., 30 Nebr. 558, 46 N. W. 717.

(3) Commencement of Action. The commencement of an action within the period fixed by statute therefor stops the running of a statute of limitations [62] and it is immaterial that a judgment thereon is not rendered within the statutory period.[63] The filing of claims with the proper officer and his indorsement thereof has in some jurisdictions been held to be the commencement of an action within statutes of limitations specially applicable to administrators or executors,[64] but the pleading of a lien on land by a judgment creditor in an action by the executor to sell the land for the payment of debts is not.[65] Where a reference by statute stands in the place of an action, the entry of an order to refer is the commencement of an action sufficient to stop the running of the general statutes of limitations.[66] If through mistake of plaintiff's attorney an action is not entered, another action for the same cause commenced after the expiration of the special statutes of limitations will be barred,[67] and if plaintiff suffers a nonsuit in an action commenced within the statutory period, a subsequent action brought by him after the expiration of the statutory period will be barred.[68] So if an action against one administrator is discontinued because there are several who should be sued, a second action against all the administrators commenced after the expiration of the statute will be barred.[69] And if a suit is dismissed for champerty a new suit for the same cause of action brought after the expiration of the statute is barred thereby.[70] Where an action is commenced within the statutory period, amendments to cure defects of form made after the expiration of that period do not set up a new cause of action nor entitle defendant to avail himself of the statute.[71] Where a demurrer is sustained, because the remedy is in equity,[72] or a suit is dismissed for want of jurisdiction because defendant, an administrator appointed in one state, was sued by plaintiff for the same cause in the federal court of another state,[73] the action is one defeated by defect in form within a statute permitting a new suit within a year thereafter, in case a suit is defeated on this ground. Amendments after expiration of the statutory period will not be permitted if they set up a new cause of action.[74] Where a party defendant

62. See Limitations of Actions; and cases cited in notes 62 et seq.

Where suit by legatee inures to benefit of other legatees.— Where on a bill by legatees against an executor and other legatees for setttlement and distribution a decree is made ordering payment to complainants of the amounts due them and allowing legatees who were defendants to propound their claims by petition, which they do, the running of the statute as to them is suspended by the filing of the original bill. Lockhart v. Horn, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,446, 3 Woods 542.

63. Lee v. McKoy, 118 N. C. 518, 24 S. E. 210; Phillips v. Allegheny Valley R. Co., 107 Pa. St. 472.

64. Robinson v. Robinson, 173 Mass. 233, 53 N. E. 854; Treece v. Carr, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 58 S. W. 1078. And see supra, XIV, F, 2, b, (I), (C), (2).

Filing of a claim with the commissioners of an insolvent estate is equivalent to the commencement of an action wherein the meaning of the statute limiting actions in certain cases to two years after letters testamentary or of administration are granted. Guild v. Hale, 15 Mass. 455.

65. Ambrose v. Byrne, 61 Ohio St. 146, 55 N. E. 408.

66. Bucklin v. Chapin, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 443.

67. Packard v. Swallow, 29 Me. 458.

68. Peyton v. Carr, 1 Rand. (Va.) 436.

69. Hopkins v. McPherson, 2 Bay (S. C.) 194. And see Gray v. Trapnall, 23 Ark. 510, holding that where a suit for land is brought against the administrator only within the period of limitation and dismissed, a new suit for the same land against the administrator and an heir after the period of limitation is barred by the statute. The second suit is not such a continuance as to avoid the bar of the statute.

70. Anderson v. Bedford, 4 Coldw. (Tenn.) 464.

71. Tolbert v. McBride, 75 Tex. 95, 12 S. W. 752 (so holding where the petition in an action against an administrator on a note of his intestate did not allege that the note was for a valuable consideration nor state the precise date of the transfer to plaintiff); Coles v. Portis, 18 Tex. 155.

An amendment of a writ so as to charge defendant as administrator is not objectionable, although made more than two years after due notice of his appointment and after final accounting. Hutchinson v. Tucker, 124 Mass. 240.

72. Taft v. Stow, 174 Mass. 171, 54 N. E. 506.

73. Caldwell v. Harding, 1 Lowell 326, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,302.

74. See Miller v. Taylor, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 465. An action of account against the administrator of a guardian to recover a balance found to be due on adjustment of his dies during the pendency of an action no change in the form of the proceedings will cause plaintiff to lose the benefit of his lis pendens and authorize defendant's representatives to set up the bar of the statute where decedent could not have done so.[75]

(4) Statutes Prohibiting Suit For Designated Period After Death or Decedent or Qualification of Representative. Where a statute exempts personal representatives from suit for a designated time after decedent's death or their qualification such period must be excluded in estimating the time within which suit must be brought.[76] When a temporary incapacity to sue grows out of a particular provision of a statute, such disability interrupts the running of the statute of limitations,[77] and constitutes an exception to the general rule that the running of a statute when it has once commenced to run is not stopped by an intervening disability.[78] These statutes do not apply where a suit does not seek to fix or establish a liability against the estate. To fall within the provisions of the statute, the suit must be against the personal representative as such,[79] and must account, made on application of his administrator, is not a continuation of an action of debt on a record of the county court showing such adjustment and finding such balance to be due, and the second action if brought after the expiration of the statutory period is not saved from the bar of such statute by the fact that the first action was brought within the statutory period. Spalding v. Butts, 6 Conn. 28.

75. Glenn v. Smith, 17 Md. 260.

The substitution of the administrator of a defendant in an action pending at his decease is a sufficient commencement of an action to continue the lien on the real estate of defendant; and such an action in the county where administration was granted duly prosecuted to judgment more than five years after the death of the intestate continues the lien of the debts on his real estate, throughout the commonwealth. Bredin v. Agnew, 8 Pa. St. 233.

76. Alabama.— Hood v. League, 102 Ala. 228, 14 So. 572; Allen v. Elliott, 67 Ala. 432; Posey v. Decatur Bank, 12 Ala. 802; Houpt v. Shields, 3 Port. 247; Hutchinson v. Tolls, 2 Port. 44.

California.— Quivey v. Hall, 19 Cal. 97.

Georgia.— Coney v. Horne, 93 Ga. 723, 20 S. E. 213; Pendleton v. Andrews, 70 Ga. 306; Tarver v. Cowart, 5 Ga. 66; Jordan v. Jordan, Dudley 182.

Illinois.— Tilton v. Yount, 28 Ill. App. 580.

Kentucky.— Caldwell v. Irvine, 4 J. J. Marsh. 107; Field v. Wallace, 6 T. B. Mon. 333.

Michigan.— Sword v. Keith, 31 Mich. 247.

Mississippi.— Allen v. Hillman, 69 Miss. 225, 3 So. 871; Adams v. Williams, 57 Miss. 38; Wilkinson v. Moore, 27 Miss. 365; Jennings v. Love, 24 Miss. 249; West Feliciana R. Co. v. Stockett, 13 Sm. & M. 395; Henderson v. Ilsley, 11 Sm. & M. 9, 49 Am. Dec. 41; Abbott v. McElroy, 10 Sm. & M. 100; Dowell v. Webber, 2 Sm. & M. 452.

New York.— Riley v. Riley, 141 N. Y. 409, 36 N. E. 398; Hall v. Brennan, 140 N. Y. 409, 35 N. E. 663 [affirming 64 Hun 394, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 623]; Sanford v. Sanford, 62 N. Y. 553; O'Flyn v. Powers, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 905; Scovil v. Scovil, 30 How. Pr. 246; Wenman v. Mohawk Ins. Co., 13 Wend. 267, 28 Am. Dec. 464.

Oregon.— Blaskower v. Steel, 23 Oreg. 106, 31 Pac. 253.

South Carolina.— Moore v. Smith, 29 S. C. 254, 7 S. E. 458; Lawton v. Bowman, 2 Strobh. 190; Moses v. Jones, 2 Nott & M. 259; Wightman v. Chanler, 2 Brev. 251.

Tennessee.— Woods v. Woods, 99 Tenn. 50, 41 S. W. 345; Jones v. Whitworth, 94 Tenn. 602, 30 S. W. 736; Bright v. Moore, 87 Tenn. 186, 10 S. W. 356; Todd v. Wright, 12 Heisk. 442; Maynard v. May, 2 Coldw. 44.

Wisconsin.— Boyce v. Foote, 19 Wis. 199; Lightfoot v. Cole, 1 Wis. 26.

United States.— Marsh v. Burroughs, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,111.

England.— Douglas v. Forrest, 4 Bing. 686, 6 L. J. C. P. O. S. 157, 1 M. & P. 663, 29 Rev. Rep. 695, 13 E. C. L. 693.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1748; and 33 Cent. Dig. tit. "Limitations of Actions" § 433.

But see Dekay v. Darrah, 14 N. J. L. 288, which seems to lay down a contrary rule.

Suspension by order for account.— Where within five years from the date of a judgment rendered against a deceased person an account of debts against his estate was ordered which operated to suspend the statute of limitations as against such judgment a subsequent action to enforce such judgment against his estate was not barred. Robinett v. Mitchell, 101 Va. 762, 45 S. E. 287, 99 Am. St. Rep. 928.

77. Tilton v. Yount, 28 Ill. App. 580; Dowell v. Webber, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 452.

78. Allen v. Hillman, 69 Miss. 225, 13 So. 871; Moore v. Smith, 29 S. C. 254, 7 S. E. 485.

79. Alabama State Bank v. Glass, 82 Ala. 278, 6 So. 641; Lester v. Stevens, 113 Ga. 495, 39 S. E. 109.

Illustrations.— The time allowed by statute in which executors and administrators are exempt from suit does not apply to suits by legatees and devisees to restrain the executor and others coöperating with him from seek to fasten or establish a liability upon or against property of decedent.[80] They do not apply to a bill by a creditor against the administrator of the deceased debtor and others to set aside a fraudulent conveyance by decedent, the land not being assets in the hands of the administrator.[81] These statutes have been held to apply to claims which had been duly presented and were existing at the time of the adoption of the statutes,[82] and to actions for the recovery of land.[83]

(5) Acknowledgment, Promise to Pay, or Part Payment Within Statutory Period. The acknowledgment by an executor or administrator of a debt or promise to pay the same within the statutory period of limitations operates to suspend the running of the statute which begins to run from the date of such acknowledgment or promise.[84] And part payment by an executor or administrator of a claim against the estate made before the expiration of the statutory period of limitations arrests the running of the statute so that time will begin to run only from the period of such payment,[85] and the claim will not be barred until the expiration of the limited period thereafter.[86] This is true, although no promise is made to pay the balance.[87] To be effective, however, the acknowledgment, promise of payment, or part payment must be made by the personal representative himself,[88] and to the creditor or someone lawfully acting in his behalf.[89] The acknowledgment to be within the rule must also be clear and unequivocal.[90] wasting the estate. Lester v. Stephens, 113 Ga. 495, 39 S. E. 109. So where an executor is by will vested with a trust entirely disconnected from executorial duties, such for instance as the power to sell and take charge of the real estate until such sale a suit against the executor to foreclose a mortgage thereon is not within the statutes. Ayres v. Shepherd, 64 N. J. Eq. 166, 53 Atl. 690.

80. Alabama State Bank v. Glass, 82 Ala. 278, 6 So. 641.

81. Manning v. Drake, 1 Mich. 34.

82. Rayburn v. Rayburn, 130 Ala. 217, 30 So. 365.

83. Wynne v. Parke, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 726.

84. Georgia.— Griffin v. Justices Baker County Inferior Ct., 17 Ga. 96.

Louisiana.— Sevier v. Gordon, 21 La. Ann. 373.

Mississippi.— Waul v. Kirkman, 25 Miss. 606.

New York.— Carroll v. Carroll, 11 Barb. 293.

Tennessee.— McWhirter v. Jackson, 10 Humphr. 209.

Texas.— Daniel v. Harvin, 10 Tex. Civ. App. 439, 31 S. W. 421; Park v. Pendergast, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 566, 23 S. W. 535. But see Danzey v. Swinney, 7 Tex. 617. Compare Whitehurst v. Dey, 90 N. C. 542, in which it was held that an executor's simple admission of the correctness of a claim against the estate and a verbal promise to pay it from the assets will not arrest the running of the statute of limitations, there being no proof that the creditor refrained from suing at the executor's request, or that there was any agreement for indulgence.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1752.

Right of administrator to sue on acknowledged claims.— An administrator who has admitted claims made against the estate of his intestate before they were barred by the special statute of limitations and has agreed with such creditors to bring a suit for their benefit to recover back a gift causa mortis of the intestate may bring such suit after the expiration of such period of limitation. Chase v. Redding, 13 Gray (Mass.) 418.

85. Foster v. Starkey, 12 Cush. (Mass.) 324; Denise v. Denise, 110 N. Y. 562, 18 N. E. 368 [affirming 41 Hun 9]; Hamlin v. Smith, 72 N. Y. App. Div. 601, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 258; Heath v. Grenell, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 190; Niemcewicz v. Bartlett, 13 Ohio 271.

86. Niemcewicz v. Bartlett, 13 Ohio 271.

87. Foster v. Starkey, 12 Cush. (Mass.) 324.

88. Larason v. Lambert, 12 N. J. L. 247 (holding that an acknowledgment of a person sued as administrator to be available to take a note out of the statute must have been made by the administrator when he was administrator); Blake v. Quash, 3 McCord (S. C.) 340 (holding that an acknowledgment and part payment by an heir at law will not overthrow presumption of payment in a suit against the executor).

The promise of an executor de son tort to pay a debt of the deceased will not prevent the bar of the statute of limitations to a suit for the debt, brought against him afterward when he is rightful administrator. Haselden v. Whitesides, 2 Strobh. (S. C.) 353.

89. Kisler v. Sanders, 40 Ind. 78.

A written acknowledgment by the administrator of a debt, not made to the creditor or his agent, does not suspend the running of the statute. Clawson v. McCune, 20 Kan. 337.

90. Hanson v. Towle, 19 Kan. 273; Goldsmith v. Kilbourn, 46 Md. 289; Forbes v. Perrie, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 109 (holding that the filing by an administrator as an exhibit in a suit in chancery of an account against his intestate is insufficient acknowledgment of the account); Matter of Kendrick, 6 N. Y. St. 521 (holding that the statement in the

There is some conflict of authority as to whether a promise to pay or part payment by one of two or more personal representatives will arrest the running of the statute. In one jurisdiction it has been held that it will,[91] while in another the contrary view is maintained,[92] except where the one promising afterward becomes sole representative of the estate.[93]

(6) Absence of Representative From State. Where special provision is made for bringing actions against personal representatives absent from the state their absence does not interrupt the running of the statute of limitations;[94] and independently of any statutory provision on the subject it has been held that absence of the executor from the state after rejection of a claim does not excuse the creditor's failure to sue him within the time limited by law.[95] A statute excluding a period of non-residence and absence of defendant from the state from the time within which actions must be commenced has been held to apply to actions against administrators on rejected claims.[96] And a statute providing that, after any cause of action shall accrue, if the person against whom it has accrued shall be absent from and reside out of the state, the period of his absence or residence out of the state shall be excluded in computing the statutory period of limitations has been held to apply to an action against an administrator who removes from the state before expiration of the limited time, although the action accrued against decedent in his lifetime.[97] account of an administrator that certain claims had been presented and that he had disputed it and that it remained unpaid is not a sufficient acknowledgment of indebtedness).

(7) Death of Testator or Intestate During Absence From State. It is usually provided by statute that limitation ceases to run in favor of a debtor during his absence from the state,[98] but the statute of limitations commences to run again upon his decease.[99]

Acknowledgment held sufficient.— An indorsement on a note that it has been presented and allowed and will be paid on settlement of the estate is sufficient (Sevier v. Gordon, 21 La. Ann. 373); and so is an indorsement of an account as follows: "The within account is accepted and will be paid when means sufficient come to my hands" (McWhirter v. Jackson, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 209).

Part payment on a claim after the period fixed by the statute of non-claims has elapsed raises the presumption that the claim was presented before the statutory period had elapsed. Pharis v. Leachman, 20 Ala. 662.

91. Heath v. Grenell, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 190. See also Hamlin v. Smith, 72 N. Y. App. Div. 601, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 258.

92. Caruthers v. Mardis, 3 Ala. 599, in which it was assigned as a reason that one administrator has no power to bind those connected in the administration so as to make them responsible for a devastavit.

93. Hall v. Darrington, 9 Ala. 502.

94. French v. Davis, 38 Miss. 218.

95. Cotten v. Jones, 37 Tex. 34, in which it was said, however, that if the claim had not been presented to the administrator the rule would be otherwise. See also Wilkinson v. Winne, 15 Minn. 159. But see Jennings v. Browder, 24 Tex. 192.

96. Hayden v. Pierce, 144 N. Y. 512, 39 N. E. 638 [affirming 71 Hun 593, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 55].

97. Smith v. Arnold, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 378. Compare Taylor v. McGill, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 294, holding that the absence of an administrator from the state will not arrest the operation of the statute of limitations if the suit may be prosecuted against heirs within the state and the administrator be made a party by publication.

98. See, generally, Limitations of Actions.

Absence sufficient to arrest running of statute.— Where decedent left the state with his family on a sea voyage, expecting to be absent for three years, leaving property in the state in the care of his father-in-law but never returned and died before the expiration of the three years, his absence was such as to prevent the statute from running. Ward v. Cole, 32 N. H. 452, 64 Am. Dec. 378.

99. Hibernian Banking Assoc. v. Commercial Nat. Bank, 157 Ill. 524, 31 N. E. 919; Savage v. Scott, 45 Iowa 130; Whitney v. Webb, 10 Ohio 513; Teal v. Ayres, 9 Tex. 588. Compare Lee v. Gause, 24 N. C. 440, holding that, in case of one dying intestate in another state, the statute of limitations does not commence to run until administration in this state. And see Grubb v. Clayton, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,849*a*, Brunn. Col. Cas. 30, 3 N. C. 378.

The decedent's estate stands precisely on the same footing as it would have stood had he died within the limits of the state, and the fact of his dying abroad does not impede the grant of administration or the facility of subjecting the property to the payment of claims. Whether the debtor is a resident or non-resident, the vigilant creditor can with like facility force administration, and if he does not and his claim as against one be barred, there is no sound reason why it should not be precluded as against the other. Teal v. Ayres, 9 Tex. 588.

(8) Disability of Claimant to Sue. If the statutes of limitations for bringing actions against personal representatives contain no exception in favor of persons under disability, a claim by a person under disability not sued on within the statutory period will be barred.[1] If a statute contains a saving clause in favor of persons living out of the state, the disability is removed by coming into the state even for temporary purposes, provided the debtor at that time be within the state.[2] Failure of a non-resident of the state to sue on a claim within the statutory period cannot operate as a bar where he received no notice of intestate's death or appointment of an administrator until immediately before bringing suit, and it appears that the administrator had not settled the estate and had assets to pay all claims against it. These facts constitute "peculiar circumstances entitling the claimant to equitable relief" within the exception made by the statute.[3]

(9) Vacancy in Office of Representative. The general rule is that a vacancy in the office of executor or administrator does not affect the running of the statute of limitations[4] unless the first grant of letters is void.[5] Nevertheless the statutes in some jurisdictions make provision for an extension of time for bringing suit where a vacancy in the administration occurs.[6]

(10) Miscellaneous. The running of the statutes is suspended by an appeal from the decree appointing the personal representative,[7] or by an order of injunction issued in a suit by the administrator for a settlement of the estate preventing creditors from suing,[8] or where plaintiff puts in his claim immediately and keeps

Under the New York statutes, a distinction is made between cases where the debtor leaves the state after the statute begins to run and when he is out of the state at the time the statute commences to run. In the last case the statute commences to run only from the time of granting letters testamentary or of administration, in this state. Davis v. Garr, 6 N. Y. 125, 55 Am. Dec. 387; Benjamin v. De Groot, 1 Den. 151. In the first case the statute runs from the time the cause accrued, but from that period the time during which he was out of the state is to be deducted and also eighteen months following the death of decedent which another statute provides, shall be excluded in estimating the time within which such suit must be brought. Christophers v. Garr, 6 N. Y. 61.

1. Williams v. Conrad, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 412.

2. Faw v. Roberdeau, 3 Cranch (U. S.) 174, 2 L. ed. 402.

3. McCormack v. Cook, 11 Iowa 267.

4. Alabama.— Reed v. Minell, 30 Ala. 61; Pipkin v. Hewlett, 17 Ala. 291; Lowe v. Jones, 15 Ala. 545 (death of administrator); Richardson v. Williams, 5 Port. 515.

California.— McMillan v. Hayward, 94 Cal. 357, 29 Pac. 774.

Georgia.— Pendleton v. Andrews, 70 Ga. 306.

Maine.— Heard v. Meader, 1 Me. 156.

Mississippi.— Boyd v. Lowry, 53 Miss. 352.

Rhode Island.— Thompson v. Hoxsie, 24 R. I. 493, 53 Atl. 873 (death of administrator); Mowry v. Harris, 18 R. I. 519, 28 Atl. 657 (removal of administrator).

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1756.

Appointment of an administrator de bonis non is not a grant of letters de novo. Thompson v. Hoxsie, 24 R. I. 493, 53 Atl. 673.

The marriage of an executrix does not ipso facto terminate her authority nor interrupt the running of the statute of limitations, and an action brought against an administrator subsequently appointed after the statutory bar had attached cannot be sustained. McMillan v. Hayward, 94 Cal. 357, 29 Pac. 774.

5. Brown v. Hill, 27 Miss. 44.

6. Eddy v. Adams, 145 Mass. 489, 14 N. E. 509; Fisher v. Metcalf, 7 Allen (Mass.) 209; Hemenway v. Gates, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 321; Smith v. Brown, 101 N. C. 347, 7 S. E. 890; Atkinson v. Brooks, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 484. And see Pratt v. Northam, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,376, 5 Mason 95. A statute providing that if a person against whom an action may be brought dies before the expiration of the limitation, if the action survives it may be commenced in one year after the qualification of the personal representative extends to a case where an executor is removed and an administrator de bonis non appointed. Smith v. Brown, 99 N. C. 377, 6 S. E. 667. And see Brittain v. Dickson, 104 N. C. 547, 10 S. E. 701.

Where an administrator dies after judgment quando acciderint recovered against him, the time between his death and the appointment of an administrator de bonis non must be excluded in determining whether action on the judgment is barred. Dickson v. Crowley, 112 N. C. 629, 17 S. E. 158.

7. McPhetres v. Halley, 32 Me. 72.

8. Smith v. Morgan, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 829. Compare Barnes v. Green, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 253, it up by a regular correspondence and demand of payment, although the statutory period elapses before suit is brought.[9] The statute is not suspended by institution of proceedings in insolvency,[10] nor by the pendency of an action to settle the estate if creditors are not restrained from suit by injunction,[11] nor by an unreasonable delay on the part of the personal representative to make objection to the claim presented to him,[12] nor by the fact that the administrator made distribution after he had notice of plaintiff's claim,[13] nor by failure of the creditors to institute proceedings to compel sale of real estate until after the administrator had rendered an account.[14] So a clause in a will directing all of testator's debts to be paid and appropriating therefor the rents of his real estate does not take the case at law out of the statutes of limitations where plaintiff does not seek his remedy under the will.[15] Ignorance of the fact that a conveyance made by decedent was in fraud of creditors does not avoid the bar of the statute.[16] The fact that a creditor lives outside of the county in which the will is proved and notice of appointment of executors published does not excuse failure to sue the executors within the statutory period.[17]

(D) Waiver of Bar Created by Statutes of Limitations — (1) General Statutes of Limitations. The question whether an executor or administrator has power to waive the general statute of limitations has been considered in another part of this treatise.[18]

(2) Special Statutes of Limitations — (a) The General Rule. With respect to statutes of non-claim and statutes limiting the time within which actions shall be brought against executors and administrators, it is very generally held that the bar created by these statutes cannot be waived by the personal representative either by failure to plead the bar or by agreement with the creditor.[19] The statutes absolutely extinguish the right of the claimant instead of affecting the remedy merely.[20] A personal representative cannot abrogate a positive rule of law applying to probate of claims within a designated period by any conduct of his own, however misleading or designing. The creditor is bound to obey the plain requirements of the statutes,[21] and the fact that he fails to present a claim in reliance on an agreement which the administrator had not the power to make holding that an order of court enjoining creditors from proceeding at law to compel the payment of their claims, made in a proceeding by an administrator for the settlement of an estate as an insolvent estate, does not prevent limitations from running against claims filed in the action and not properly verified.

9. Littlejohn v. Gilchrist, 3 N. C. 393, this decision does not seem to be based on any valid reason.

10. Reed v. Minnell, 30 Ala. 61; Aiken v. Morse, 104 Mass. 277.

11. Dugan v. Mitchell, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 150.

12. Bucklin v. Chapin, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 443.

13. Woodward v. Perry, 85 Me. 440, 27 Atl. 345.

14. Butler v. Johnson, 111 N. Y. 204, 18 N. E. 643 [affirming 41 Hun 206].

15. Wilson v. Turberville, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,843, 1 Cranch C. C. 512.

16. Reed v. Minell, 30 Ala. 61.

17. Richards v. Child, 98 Mass. 284.

18. See supra, X, A, 18, b.

19. Illinois.— Stillman v. Young, 16 Ill. 318.

Kansas.— Collamore v. Wilder, 19 Kan. 67.

Maine.— Littlefield v. Eaton, 74 Me. 516.

Massachusetts.— Ames v. Jackson, 115 Mass. 508; Waltham Bank v. Wright, 8 Allen 121; Heath v. Wells, 5 Pick. 140, 16 Am. Dec. 383; Emerson v. Thompson, 16 Mass. 429; Thompson v. Brown, 16 Mass. 172; In re Allen, 15 Mass. 58; Dawes v. Sheadd, 15 Mass. 6, 8 Am. Dec. 80; Brown v. Anderson, 13 Mass. 201.

Mississippi.— Nagle v. Ball, 71 Miss. 330, 13 So. 929.

Missouri. — Wiggins v. Lovering, 9 Mo. 262.

Nebraska.— Fitzgerald v. Chariton First Nat. Bank, 64 Nebr. 260, 89 N. W. 813.

New Hampshire.— Preston v. Cutter, 64 N. H. 461, 13 Atl. 874; Probate Judge v. Ellis, 63 N. H. 366; Hodgdon v. White, 11 N. H. 208.

Ohio.— Pollock v. Pollock, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 140, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 408. Contra, Joyce v. Hart, 11 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 487, 27 Cinc. L. Bul. 144.

Rhode Island.— Thompson v. Hoxsie, 25 R. I. 377, 55 Atl. 930.

Tennessee.— Langham v. Baker, 5 Baxt. 701; Brown v. Porter, 7 Humphr. 373.

Wyoming.— O'Keefe v. Foster, 5 Wyo. 343, 40 Pac. 525.

20. Thomson v. Hoxsie, 25 R. I. 377, 55 Atl. 930.

21. Nagle v. Ball, 71 Miss. 330, 13 So. 929.

is a mistake of law on his part for which the courts furnish no relief.[22] If the executor or administrator neglects to plead the statute and thereby judgment is recovered in an action brought after the debt is legally barred, or if he voluntarily pays the debt, it is held to be in his own wrong and he cannot claim to be reimbursed from the estate.[23]

(b) STATUTORY EXCEPTIONS TO RULE. In some jurisdictions the statutes fixing the period within which suit must be brought on claims against the estate contain provisos excepting the claimant from the operation of the statute where he delays commencement of his action at the special request of the personal representative. In order that the claimant may have the benefit of this exception the request must be made by the personal representative himself,[24] within the statutory period,[25] and it must stipulate for a definite time of indulgence, or until the happening of a designated event which may occur and thereby render the period certain.[26] If on request suit is delayed for a specified time the creditor must sue within the statutory period after the expiration of that time.[27] So the request only stops the running of the special statute of limitations and has no effect on the general statute.[28] Under the statutes of another jurisdiction, an offer by the personal representative to refer a disputed claim to arbitration which is accepted within the period limited for bringing suit thereon and followed by a submission operates as a waiver of the statute,[29] but a mere offer by an executor to refer a claim after an unqualified refusal to pay it will not waive the statute.[30]

(E) Statutes Saving Claims Barred by Limitations — (1) IN GENERAL. The statutes of some states provide in effect that judgment may be rendered

22. Collamore v. Wilder, 19 Kan. 67.

23. Ames v. Jackson, 115 Mass. 508.

24. Hubbard v. Marsh, 29 N. C. 204, a request by a coöbligor of decedent is insufficient.

25. Allen v. Shanks, 90 Tenn. 359, 16 S. W. 715.

26. Prewett v. Goodlett, 98 Tenn. 82, 88 S. W. 434; State v. Murray, 9 Baxt. (Tenn.) 209; Langham v. Baker, 5 Baxt. (Tenn.) 701; Cook v. Cook, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 464; Birdsong v. Birdsong, 2 Head (Tenn.) 289; Farmers, etc., Bank v. Leach, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 515; Puckett v. James, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 565; Trott v. West, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 433. The definite time may as well be the time which might elapse until the personal representative could accomplish a certain event as for a particular length of time named. Puckett v. James, supra.

Illustrations of sufficient and insufficient request.— The following requests have been held sufficiently definite: A request for delay until the personal representative shall collect the debts of the estate (McKizzack v. Smith, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 470); or until the land bought by the testator should be paid for (Puckett v. James, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 565); or until the administrator shall have settled with another creditor (State v. Murray, 9 Baxt. (Tenn.) 209); on the other hand a general request to creditors of the estate for delay from time to time (Langham v. Baker, 5 Baxt. (Tenn.) 701); or a statement on presentation of the claim "hold on, your claim is good" (Chestnutt v. McBride, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 389); or payment of part of the debt and a promise "to pay the balance soon" (Trott v. West, Meigs (Tenn.) 163, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 433) are insufficient to arrest the running of the statute. And where creditors were persuaded to postpone selling real estate for more than five years after decedent's death but nothing was said to creditors to induce them to forbear filing a lien, or any promise made that the lien of debts should remain, the lien should not be extended beyond the statutory period. Welsh's Appeal, 5 Pa. Cas. 494, 10 Atl. 34. So where a claimant against an estate had a settlement with the administrator who agreed on the correctness of the claim and he subsequently moved out of the county and was notified by the administrator that he had lost the claim and that it would have to be proven and filed with the clerk and the claimant then wrote the administrator to send him a memorandum, it was held that these circumstances were not sufficient to excuse the failure to file the claim within two years and six months after the appointment of the administrator as required by statute. Smith v. Sprout, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 58 S. W. 376.

27. Cook v. Cook, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 464; Puckett v. James, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 565, holding that where an executor's request for an extension of time in which to pay a debt due the estate was for indulgence until certain land should be paid for, the statute of limitations will commence running from the time the land is paid for.

28. Bates v. Elrod, 13 Lea (Tenn.) 156; Loyd v. Loyd, 9 Baxt. (Tenn.) 406.

29. Cornes v. Wilkin, 79 N. Y. 129. And see Fishkill Nat. Bank v. Speight, 47 N. Y. 668.

30. Cornes v. Wilkins, 79 N. Y. 129; Fishkill Nat. Bank v. Speith, 47 N. Y. 668; Snell v. Dale, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 575.

against a personal representative notwithstanding the statutory limitation, if the court thinks justice and equity require it and that the creditor is not chargeable with culpable neglect in not prosecuting his claim within the time limited therefor. In construing the statutes it has been held that their operation is not limited to cases where the failure to sue seasonably was due to such fraud, accident, or mistake as would be a ground for equitable relief if there were no statute,[31] and that delay caused by the creditor's ignorance of a fact which he did not know existed and which he had reasonable ground to believe did not exist is not culpable neglect within the meaning of the statute.[32] Such also is the rule with respect to delay agreed to by all parties interested in the estate, including heirs and creditors;[33] but a creditor who has refrained from bringing suit within the time limited at the suggestion of the administrator and in reliance on statements made in good faith by him[34] or whose delay in bringing suit is merely the result of his ignorance of the limitation of actions against personal representatives,[35] or is not caused by accident or mistake or by the practice of fraud or imposition is not entitled to relief under the statutes.[36] These statutes have been held to apply not only to claims which might have been sued on within the time limited by statute, but also to contingent claims which could not have been sued on but which might have been presented and to claims which come into existence after the expiration of the statutory period.[37] They do not apply to claims barred by the statute of limitations at the time of their passage.[38] The question of culpable neglect is one of fact to be determined by the trial court,[39] and is not subject to review.[40]

(2) Receipt of New Assets by Personal Representative. In some jurisdictions statutes which provide the period of limitations for suit against personal representatives make an exception in the case of discovery and receipt of new assets by the representative after the expiration of the statutory period. The bar of the statute is removed and the estate reopened so that any creditor,[41] even though he has not proved his claim within the statutory period,[42] may come in and assert his claim to such new assets.[43] The limitation commences to run from the time of the receipt of the new assets, and if the suit is not brought within the time limited thereafter the claim is conclusively barred.[44]

31. Ewing v. King, 169 Mass. 97, 47 N. E. 597

32. Ewing v. King, 169 Mass. 97, 47 N. E. 597.

33. Knight v. Cunningham, 160 Mass. 580, 36 N. E. 466.

34. Powow River Nat. Bank v. Abbott, 179 Mass. 336, 60 N. E. 973. See also Wells v. Child, 12 Allen (Mass.) 333.

35. Jenney v. Wilcox, 9 Allen (Mass.) 245.

36. Waltham Bank v. Wright, 8 Allen (Mass.) 121.

37. Libby v. Hutchinson, 72 N. H. 190, 55 Atl. 547.

38. Garfield v. Bemis, 2 Allen (Mass.) 445.

39. Powers v. Holt, 62 N. H. 625.

40. Libby v. Hutchinson, 72 N. H. 190, 55 Atl. 547.

41. Thurston v. Lowder, 47 Me. 72.

42. Holland v. Cruft, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 321.

43. What are new assets within the rule. — Property recovered by an administrator after the expiration of the statutory period, by setting aside a fraudulent conveyance of the decedent, is new assets within the rule (Holland v. Cruft, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 321); on the other hand the following have been held not new assets: Property received by an administrator de bonis non in settlement of a suit against the surety on the bond of his predecessor for failure to account for inventoried property (Veazie v. Marrett, 6 Allen (Mass.) 272); money arising from the sale of land possessed by the decedent at the time of his death and sold for the payment of debts, and money received by the administrator from the guardian of the heirs of the intestate under an arrangement made to save their lands from sale (Favorite v. Booher, 17 Ohio St. 548); proceeds of a mortgage given by the heirs at law without leave of court on lands of which their intestate ancestor died seized (Shute v. Wilkins, 163 Mass. 491, 40 N. E. 848); money accruing from inventoried patent rights, either as royalties or as proceeds of sales of such rights (Robinson v. Hodge, 117 Mass. 222); so the fact that a note fraudulently given in settlement of certain other notes is set out in the inventory while the other notes are omitted does not make the proceeds of such notes afterward coming into the executor's hands new assets (Gould v. Camp, 157 Mass. 358, 32 N. E. 225).

44. Thurston v. Lowder, 47 Me. 72.

(II) ACTIONS OR SUITS FOR LEGACIES AND DISTRIBUTIVE SHARES — (A) In General. The general rule is well settled that statutes of limitations whether general or special do not run in favor of an executor or administrator in respect of claims to recover legacies or distributive shares.[45] The reason is that the relation of the personal representative and the legatee or distributee is that of trustee and cestui que trust, in a direct and continuing trust and therefore the personal representative's possession cannot be adverse so long as this relation exists.[46] To put the statute in operation, there must be a final settlement or at least a dis-

45. Alabama.— Bonner v. Young, 68 Ala. 35; High v. Worley, 32 Ala. 709.

Arkansas.— Harriet v. Swan, 18 Ark. 495.

Connecticut.— Wilmerding v. Russ, 33 Conn. 67.

Florida.— Amos v. Campbell, 9 Fla. 187.

Indiana.— Smith v. Calloway, 7 Blackf. 86.

Maryland.— Ogle v. Tayloe, 49 Md. 158; Smith v. Smith, 7 Md. 55; Ward v. Reeder, 2 Harr. & M. 145.

Massachusetts.— Kent v. Dunham, 106 Mass. 586.

Michigan.— Moores' Appeal, 84 Mich. 474, 48 N. W. 39.

Mississippi.— Peebles v. Acker, 70 Miss. 356, 12 So. 248; Cooper v. Cooper, 61 Miss. 676; Roberts v. Roberts, 34 Miss. 322; Wren v. Gayden, 1 How. 365.

Missouri.— Picot v. Bates, 39 Mo. 292.

New Jersey.— Hedges v. Norris, 32 N. J. Eq. 192.

New York.— Wood v. Riker, 1 Paige 616; Decouche v. Savetier, 3 Johns. Ch. 190; Arden v. Arden, 1 Johns. Ch. 313.

North Carolina.— Bushee v. Surles, 77 N. C. 62; Davis v. Cotten, 55 N. C. 430; McCraw v. Fleming, 40 N. C. 348; Salter v. Blount, 22 N. C. 218; Bailey v. Shannonhouse, 16 N. C. 416.

Pennsylvania.— Logan v. Richardson, 1 Pa. St. 372; Thompson v. McGaw, 2 Watts 161; Durdon v. Gaskill, 2 Yeates 268; Pennepacker v. Pennepacker, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 114, 3 Pa. L. J. 357.

South Carolina.— Edwards v. Williams, 39 S. C. 86, 17 S. E. 457; Montgomery v. McCloud, 27 S. C. 188, 3 S. E. 196; Beard v. Stanton, 15 S. C. 164.

Tennessee.— Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. 84; Lafferty v. Turley, 3 Sneed 157; Haynie v. Hall, 5 Humphr. 290, 42 Am. Dec. 427; Guthrie v. Owen, 10 Yerg. 339; Smart v. Waterhouse, 10 Yerg. 94; McDonald v. McDonald, 8 Yerg. 145; Pinkerton v. Walker, 3 Hayw. 221.

Vermont.— Sparhawk v. Buell, 9 Vt. 41.

Virginia.— Jones v. Jones, 92 Va. 590, 24 S. E. 255; Leake v. Leake, 75 Va. 792; Nelson v. Cornwell, 11 Gratt. 724.

England.— Parker v. Ash, 1 Vern. Ch. 256, 23 Eng. Reprint 452; Higgins v. Crawfurd, 2 Ves. Jr. 571, 30 Eng. Reprint 781.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1761.

View that statute available.— In some jurisdictions where a remedy at law is given by statutes to recover legacies and distributive shares, the view is taken that the statute of limitations is a bar to suit for a legacy and that this is so whether the proceeding to recover the same is an action at law or a suit in equity. American Bible Soc. v. Hebard, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 552; Smith v. Remington, 42 Barb. (N. Y.) 75; Kane v. Bloodgood, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 90, 11 Am. Dec. 417; Souzer v. De Meyer, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 574; Pratt v. Northam, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,376, 5 Mason 95. And see House v. Agate, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 307. This doctrine has not, however, been generally adopted and has been very severely criticized on the ground that a claim to a legacy is essentially an equitable and not a legal claim, and that the character of the right is not altered by making it cognizable in courts of common law. Hedges v. Norris, 32 N. J. Eq. 192; King v. Berry, 3 N. J. Eq. 44. And see Thompson v. McGaw, 2 Watts (Pa.) 161. In Louisiana, where the civil law practice obtains, an action for a legacy is barred in ten years. Nolasco v. Lurty, 13 La. Ann. 100.

The present English rule.— By 3 & 4 Wm. 4, c. 27, legacies are barred after twenty years (Piggott v. Jeffreson, 5 Jur. 796, 12 Sim. 26, 35 Eng. Ch. 26); unless there has been some payment or signed acknowledgment (Proud v. Proud, 32 Beav. 234).

Where the characters of administrator and distributee unite in the same person, who holds possession of personal property in the former character for more than five years, his rights as distributee will not be barred by the statute of limitations. Vaiden v. Bell, 3 Rand. (Va.) 448.

46. Arkansas.— Harriet v. Swan, 18 Ark. 495.

Massachusetts.— Kent v. Dunham, 106 Mass. 586.

Mississippi.— Cooper v. Cooper, 61 Miss. 676; Jordan v. McKenzie, 30 Miss. 32.

Missouri.— Picot v. Bates, 39 Mo. 292.

New York.— Decouche v. Savetier, 3 Johns. Ch. 190, 8 Am. Dec. 478.

South Carolina.— Montgomery v. Cloud, 27 S. C. 188, 3 S. E. 196; Beard v. Stanton, 15 S. C. 164.

Tennessee.— Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. 84.

Virginia.— Jones v. Jones, 92 Va. 590, 24 S. E. 255; Leake v. Leake, 75 Va. 792.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1761.

And see, generally, on the subject of adverse holding between trustee and cestui que trust ADVERSE POSSESSION, 1 Cyc. 1062, where the question is considered at some length.

The doctrine is clearly explained in a well considered case as follows: "Until the trust is ended and the executor discharged from avowal of the trust.[47] But inasmuch as the rule is based on the relation of trustee and cestui que trust, the reason therefor ceases when the relation determines, and the statute of limitations then becomes operative. Consequently the statute is available to an executor or administrator against the claim of a legatee or distributee, when he does some act purporting to be an execution of the trust, for he thereby divests himself of his character as trustee and thenceforth stands in an adverse relation to the cestui que trust.[48] On final settlement by an administrator or executor the statute of limitations commences to run in his favor against claims of legatees and distributees.[49] So it may happen that without any final settlement or any act purporting to be in execution of the trust, he may set up a claim adverse to that of the legatee or distributee. In this case the statute is operative from the time the adverse claim is made known to the latter,[50] but notice to him is necessary.[51] This notice must be actual or the acts or declarations of the personal representative must be so notorious and unequivocal as to raise a presumption of notice.[52] So where an administrator who acknowledges a balance due is any further accounting, the beneficiaries have the right to consider the trust an active one, and mere delay on the part of the trustee in settling with the court, and through it with the beneficiaries, and obtaining his discharge, cannot be considered such a breach of the trust as to set the statute in motion in his favor. To so hold would be to offer a reward to executors and administrators to be dilatory instead of diligent in the performance of their duties. Nevertheless, we are not to be understood as saying that there may not be cases in which, after an actual suspension of the trust, there has been such long acquiescence or delay on the part of the cestui que trust as to require the court to deny him relief upon the ground of laches." Cooper v. Cooper, 61 Miss. 676, 694.

47. Matter of Moore, 84 Mich. 474, 48 N. W. 39; Peebles v. Acker, 70 Miss. 356, 12 So. 248; Roberts v. Roberts, 34 Miss. 322; Wood v. Riker, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 616; Edwards v. Williams, 39 S. C. 86, 17 S. E. 457. And see Flynn v. Flynn, 183 Mass. 365, 67 N. E. 314; Bechtold v. Read, 49 N. J. Eq. 111, 22 Atl. 1085.

48. Montgomery v. Cloud, 27 S. C. 188, 3 S. E. 196; Beard v. Stanton, 15 S. C. 164; Glover v. Lott, 1 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 79; Moore v. Porcher, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 195.

Application of rule.— Defendant as executor in discharge of his trust paid over to an unmarried infant, seventeen years of age, who was a residuary legatee of his testator, her distributive share of the estate and took the joint receipt of herself and her father for the same. The court held that twelve years after making his final return he was entitled to the protection of the statute of limitations against a suit for the amount brought by the legatee and her husband. Glover v. Lott, 1 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 79. So where distributees of an estate give to the administrator receipts in full for the amount due them on payment of a less amount, the statute begins to run against their right of action for the balance from the giving of such receipts. Coppersmith v. Wilson, 104 N. C. 28, 10 S. E. 134.

Duty to assert right.— If the legatee or distributee supposes that the trust has not been faithfully and fully performed, it is his duty to assert his right. Beard v. Stanton, 15 S. C. 164; Moore v. Porcher, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 195.

49. Connecticut.— Wilmerding v. Russ, 33 Conn. 67.

Delaware.— Buckmaster v. Reed, 7 Houst. 207, 30 Atl. 971.

Georgia.— Jacobs v. Pou, 18 Ga. 346; Walker v. Wootten, 18 Ga. 119.

Mississippi.— Young v. Cook, 30 Miss. 320.

Missouri.— State v. Blackwell, 20 Mo. 97. And see State v. Shires, 39 Mo. App. 560.

North Carolina.— Wilkerson v. Dunn, 52 N. C. 125.

Ohio.— Lease v. Downy, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 480, 3 Ohio Cir. Dec. 235.

South Carolina.— Buchanan v. Buchanan, 4 Strobh. 63.

Texas.— See Timnen v. Mebane, 10 Tex. 246, 69 Am. Dec. 205.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1761.

Contra.— Amos v. Campbell, 9 Fla. 187.

Notwithstanding the fact that a final settlement sets the statute of limitations in motion, the running thereof may be interrupted by admissions of the executor made subsequent to the settlement. Buchanan v. Buchanan, 4 Strobh. (S. C.) 63.

Effect of making return subsequent to settlement.— Where the statute is set in motion by final settlement, the fact that the administrator makes a return subsequent to the settlement in which he states matters occurring before the settlement, the payments made at that settlement, but nothing which happened afterward does not amount to an admission sufficient to take an action against him, by the heirs out of the statute of limitation. Walker v. Wootten, 18 Ga. 119.

50. Patton v. Overton, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 192.

51. Bonner v. Young, 68 Ala. 35.

52. See ADVERSE POSSESSION, 1 Cyc. 1067.

Married distributee becoming discovert.— Where an administrator held property to which one of the distributees was entitled, but which had been assigned to the administrator by the distributee's husband, it was removed, and an administrator de bonis non appointed, the statute commences to run against their claims against the administrator from the time of the removal, in the absence of any concealment or disability on the part of the heirs.[53]

(B) Presumption of Payment From Lapse of Time. While, as stated in the preceding section, the statute of limitations is ordinarily inoperative to bar a claim for a legacy or distributive share, lapse of time may raise a presumption of payment or satisfaction.[54] Stale demands are unwillingly countenanced in courts. Interference in behalf of those who sleep on their rights, or who procrastinate them until evidence has passed away is reluctantly awarded, even where there is no statutory bar.[55] A lapse of twenty years or over from the time the legacy or distributive share becomes payable raises a presumption of payment or satisfaction and unless rebutted bars the claim.[56] Nevertheless the presumption may be rebutted and the liability to account will then remain in full force.[57] If the delay is satisfactorily explained and the presumption of satisfaction sufficiently removed the equity of the claimant remains unaffected,[58] and where there is any evidence to rebut the presumption of payment the sufficiency of the evidence is a question of fact to be determined by the jury.[59] On the other hand if no evidence is given to repel the presumption the court should instruct the jury that they are bound by it.[60]

(III) ACTIONS BASED ON WRONGFUL ACTS OF REPRESENTATIVE. While limitations do not run against an executor for trust funds in his hands until demand, the claim for damages based on his mismanagement of the estate is subject to the operation of the statute of limitations.[61] If the claim is based on the negligence held proper to charge that if made with her consent, and the administrator claimed and held the property afterward as his own, with the knowledge of the distributee who had meanwhile become discovert, the statute commenced to run against her from the time she became a feme sole. Smith v. Atwood, 14 Ga. 402.

53. Mott v. Ruenbuhl, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 599.

54. Indiana.—Smith v. Calloway, 7 Blackf. 86.

New York.— Arden v. Arden, 1 Johns. Ch. 313.

Pennsylvania.— Summerville v. Holliday, 1 Watts 507; Durdon v. Gaskill, 2 Yeates 268.

South Carolina.— Sims v. Aughtery, 4 Strobh. Eq. 103.

Virginia.— Leake v. Leake, 75 Va. 792; Anderson v. Burwell, 6 Gratt. 405.

England.— Stuart v. Mellish, 2 Atk. 610, 26 Eng. Reprint 765; Parker v. Ash, 1 Vern. Ch. 256, 23 Eng. Reprint 452; Higgins v. Crawfurd, 2 Ves. Jr. 571, 30 Eng. Reprint 781.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1761.

55. Glen v. Kimbrough, 58 N. C. 173.

56. Alabama.— Bonner v. Young, 68 Ala. 35.

Massachusetts.— Andrews v. Sparhawk, 13 Pick. 393.

North Carolina. — Shearin v. Eaton, 37 N. C. 282; Ivy v. Rogers, 16 N. C. 58. And see Hamlin v. Mebone, 54 N. C. 18.

Pennsylvania.— Norris' Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 106; Okeson's Appeal, 2 Grant 303; Foulk v. Brown, 2 Watts 209; Brown's Estate, 8 Phila. 197.

South Carolina.— Ex p. Epting, 22 S. C. 399.

Nothing short of twenty years raises a presumption of payment unless corroborated by proof of other circumstances. Sparhawk v. Buell, 9 Vt. 41. And see Richardson v. Richardson, 9 Pa. St. 428.

Within the twenty-year period burden of proof lies on defendant; after that time it lies on plaintiff to show the contrary. Norris' Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 106.

57. Arden v. Arden, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 313; Glen v. Kimbrough, 58 N. C. 173; Shearin v. Eaton, 37 N. C. 282; Bird v. Graham, 36 N. C. 196; Falls v. Torrance, 11 N. C. 412; Norris' Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 106; Foulk v. Brown, 2 Watts (Pa.) 209; Durdon v. Gaskill, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 268.

Facts held sufficient to rebut presumption. — Declarations by an administrator inducing a belief that he would not contest a claim for a legacy or distributive share was sufficient to repel the presumption of satisfaction or abandonment. Falls v. Torrance, 11 N. C. 412.

58. Falls v. Torrance, 11 N. C. 412.

59. Kingman v. Kingman, 121 Mass. 249; Andrews v. Sparhawk, 13 Pick. (Mass.) 393; Summerville v. Holliday, 1 Watts (Pa.) 507.

60. Summerville v. Holliday, 1 Watts (Pa.) 507.

61. Taylor v. Benham, 5 How. (U. S.) 233, 12 L. ed. 130.

Limitation fixed by special statute.— In Florida an action against an administrator for personal liability incurred by mismanagement of the estates must be brought within five years from the time of his discharge. Gadsden v. Jones, 1 Fla. 332. The of the representative in collecting a debt, the statute does not commence to run from probate of the will but only from the time of the loss.[62] If the administrator buys in personal property of the estate at a sale thereof, and thenceforth openly and notoriously asserts title in himself the statute of limitations will bar a bill brought by the heirs for relief after the action was barred at law.[63] If an administrator buys land of decedent's estate at a judicial sale, the statute commences to run in his favor from the time of his discharge by the probate court, there being no concealment of the circumstances of the sale.[64] Where an administrator rents land improperly allotted to intestate's widow and occupies it while administrator, he cannot, in a suit against him by a succeeding representative to recover possession, set up adverse possession during the time he was administrator.[65] If he assumes as agent for the heirs to collect rents and apply them in payment of decedent's debts in exoneration of the land and fails to so apply the rents, he cannot set up the statute of limitations unless there is a demand and refusal and then only from the time thereof.[66] If he has purchased land for the estate taking title as administrator and after discharge on final settlement continues in possession under claim of title the statute commences to run from the date of his discharge.[67] A plea of a statute providing that actions of assumpsit or debt grounded upon any lending or contract without specialty shall be commenced within five years is not good in bar of an action against the personal representative of a personal representative for a devastavit committed by the latter.[68] Mere delay of a creditor in presenting his demand for payment does not preclude him from suing the representative for a devastavit, and the fact that the personal representative has distributed the estate does not relieve him of liability to a creditor who sues within the period fixed by the statute.[69] When an action is brought against an executor or administrator for a devastavit, and a judgment is obtained against him the cause of action accrues at the time of the qualification and the limitation in force at the time governs; but when the action is brought after the death of the executor the cause of action accrues as against his real and personal representative, when such representative qualifies and gives notice to creditors, and is governed by the limitation then in force.[70] Where a judgment is rendered for plaintiff in an action against a representative for a devastavit a further action by plaintiff to subject real estate to the payment of the judgment cannot be treated as an equitable continuation, or writ of execution on the judgment so as to avoid the bar of the statute of limitations.[71] limitation of a statute providing that an action against an administrator for malfeasance must be brought within a year from the time of final settlement does not apply to an action by an administrator de bonis non against an original administrator to recover an amount alleged to have been charged to defendant in his final account, since the final accounting intended by the statute is not the last accounting of successive representatives before the final settlement of the estate. Bartels v. Gove, 4 Wash. 632, 30 Pac. 675.

Actions by judgment creditors.— An action by a judgment creditor of decedent to reach assets misapplied by the administrator in order that they may be applied in due course of administration must be brought during the time limited by statute for bringing actions on judgments. Malloy v. Vanderbilt, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 127.

62. Harrington v. Keteltas, 92 N. Y. 40.

63. Keeton v. Keeton, 20 Mo. 530.

64. McGaughey v. Brown, 46 Ark. 25.

65. Baker v. Barclift, 76 Ala. 414, he cannot as an individual hold adversely to himself as the legal representative of the estate.

66. Shuffler v. Turner, 111 N. C. 297, 16 S. E. 417.

67. Harney v. Donohoe, 97 Mo. 141, 10 S. W. 191.

68. Brockenbrough v. Campbell, 5 Fla. 83. And see Williams v. Freeman, 7 Watts & S. (Pa.) 359, holding that a statute providing that "all actions of debt grounded upon any lending or contract without specialty, all actions of debt for arrearages of rent, except the proprietaries' quit-rents, shall be commenced and sued within six years next after the cause of such actions or suits, and not after," has no application to an action against an administrator founded upon a devastavit.

69. Harpending v. Daniels, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 858.

70. Syme v. Badger, 96 N. C. 197, 2 S. E. 61.

71. Syme v. Badger, 96 N. C. 197, 2 S. E. 61.

(iv) Actions to Set Aside Settlement For Mistake or Fraud. Under a statute authorizing any person interested in the estate to have a settlement thereof set aside for mistake or fraud within three years after settlement, if a settlement should be made without in some manner finally disposing of debts against the estate within the knowledge of the administrator the creditors will be barred from any further action against the administrator after three years.[72]

(v) Actions Against Representative and Coöbligor of Decedent. Where suit is brought against an obligor and the representative of a deceased obligor the fact that the suit is barred as to the latter by some statute specially applicable to suits against executors and administrators does not prevent the recovery of a judgment against the former.[73] Where an administrator is sued on a joint and several obligation with the surviving obligor, they are in respect of the application of the statute of limitations to be regarded as if they had been sued separately, and the time during which suits cannot be brought against an administrator must be added to the period fixed by the general statute before the statute can be made a bar as to his liability.[74]

G. Parties — 1. Actions or Suits to Recover or Protect Personal Estate, or to Establish or Foreclose Liens Thereon. The personal representative in all cases represents the personal estate, the legal title to which vests in him absolutely, and both in law and equity he is considered as fully representing the rights and interests of all other persons who have ultimate rights in such estate. He is therefore the proper party to bring suit in relation to the personal estate both at law and in equity,[75] and it is in general improper to join as parties other persons having ultimate rights in the estate.[76] Thus it has been held that the personal representative is the proper party to bring a suit for the collection of debts due the estate and it is improper to join heirs, devisees, or legatees as parties to the suit.[77] So he is the proper party to bring an action for injuries to personal property of the estate,[78] or to protect it from sale on execution issued on a judgment against himself personally,[79] or to recover property exempt from execution belonging to intestate and wrongfully withheld.[80] So in a suit by an administrator de bonis non against the former administrator to recover personal property of the estate the heirs or distributees need not be made parties.[81] The 72. Beard v. Peru First Presb. Church, 15 Ind. 490.

73. Buie v. Buie, 24 N. C. 87; Nashville Bank v. Campbell, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 353.

74. Parker v. Jackson, 16 Barb. (N. Y.) 33.

75. Georgia.— Jones v. McCleod, 61 Ga. 602.

Kentucky.— Boyd v. Jones, 2 S. W. 552, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 602.

Nebraska.— Cox v. Yeazel, 49 Nebr. 343, 68 N. W. 483.

South Carolina.— Gregory v. Forrester, 1 McCord Eq. 318; Galphin v. McKinney, 1 McCord Eq. 280.

Vermont.— Robinson v. Swift, 3 Vt. 377.

England.— Smith v. Bolden, 33 Beav. 262; Jones v. Goodchild, 2 Eq. Cas. Abr. 168, 22 Eng. Reprint 144, 3 P. Wms. 33, 24 Eng. Reprint 958; 1 Daniel Ch. Pr. 220; Pomeroy Rem. & Rem. Rights, § 261. Compare Phillips v. Threadgill, 37 Ala. 93, holding that the administrator is a necessary party to a bill filed by distributees against a person in adverse possession of personal property alleged to belong to the estate. There is nothing in this case to show why the court thought the distributees entitled to sue at all.

The right of action to recover a legacy or other chose in action due an intestate is in his administrator and cannot be maintained by the distributees of the estate or their assignee. Whelan v. Edwards, 31 Ark. 723.

Where both a foreign and a resident administrator assert by petition in the same action the same demand, the latter is the proper party to represent the estate. Crumlish v. Shenandoah Valley R. Co., 40 W. Va. 627, 22 S. E. 90.

In Louisiana, where an executor sues for personal property of the estate, the heirs, if interested and present, or their representatives, if absent, should be made parties. Hart v. Boni, 6 La. 97.

76. See cases cited in the preceding and following notes.

77. O'Bannon v. Roberts, 2 Dana (Ky.) 54 (rents accruing during decedent's lifetime); Graveley v. Graveley, 84 Va. 145, 4 S. E. 218. And see Burge v. Burge, 76 S. W. 873, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 979.

78. Coleman v. Bailey, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 297, holding that the heirs should not be joined.

79. Labitut v. Prewett, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,962, 1 Woods 144.

80. Staggs v. Ferguson, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 690.

81. Long v. Easly, 13 Ala. 239.

general rule as stated is subject to some exceptions. Thus a creditor of deceased may under peculiar circumstances, such as fraud or collusion on the part of the personal representative, bring suit against a debtor to the estate,[82] and it has been held that a creditor may maintain a bill when the personal representative refuses to sue.[83] So where an administrator makes a fraudulent transfer of property belonging to the estate and refuses to bring suit for its recovery, it has been held that the heirs may do so.[84] If an administrator sues to recover on a note given to a former administrator of the same estate, the court can order him to be made a party if necessary to a proper determination of the case.[85] The executor eo nomine is a necessary party defendant in a bill praying a decree that will deprive him of title to the personal estate,[86] and also in a bill to establish an equitable lien on funds of the estate.[87] The heirs are not necessary parties to foreclose a mortgage of personal property belonging to the estate.[88] Where a decree of distribution of the estate of a decedent was reversed, a company which had transferred shares of stock belonging to the estate to a distributee is a proper party defendant to an action by the executors to recover such shares and to cancel the transfer thereof.[89]

2. Actions or Suits by Creditors of Estate — a. In General. In actions or suits by creditors to enforce claims against the estate the general rule is that the personal representative is the only necessary or even proper party defendant.[90] Accordingly the plaintiff should not join as defendants the widow or heirs,[91] or legatees[92] or residuary legatees, unless the interests of the executor are adverse 82. 1 Daniel Ch. Pr. 200. And see Fisher v. Hubbell, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 74, 7 Lans. (N. Y.) 481; Gregory v. Forrester, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 318; Atty.-Gen. v. Wynne, Mosely 126; Wilson v. Smith, 1 Myl. & K. 126, 7 Eng. Ch. 126, 39 Eng. Reprint 629; Alsager v. Rowley, 6 Ves. Jr. 748, 31 Eng. Reprint 1289. And see Nance v. Powell, 39 N. C. 297, holding that, where an administrator fails to sue, a debtor of the deceased creditors can only file a bill against the debtor on charging collusion between him and the administrator.

Collusive settlement of matter in litigation. — Where an administrator settles a matter in litigation which is prejudical to the substantial rights of the heir at law and not such as properly protects his interest or is entered into collusively and in fraud of his rights and without his consent, the court may properly permit the heir at law to be substituted to prosecute the action in her own name. Tecumseh Nat. Bank v. McGee, 61 Nebr. 709, 85 N. W. 949.

83. Burroughs v. Elton, 11 Ves. Jr. 29, 8 Rev. Rep. 79, 32 Eng. Reprint 998. See also Ravenscraft v. Pratt, 22 Kan. 20.

Under the West Virginia statutes if an executor has failed to institute suit to ascertain outstanding claims any creditor may prosecute that action after the expiration of six months from the executor's qualification, whether he has obtained judgment on his claim or not. Broderick v. Broderick, 28 W. Va. 378.

84. Randel v. Dyett, 38 Hun (N. Y.) 347, this is on the principle that when a person whose duty it is to act refuses the person injured by the refusal may act in behalf of the injured estate.

85. Dancy v. Smith, 68 N. C. 179.

86. Kempton v. Bartine, 60 N. J. Eq. 411, 45 Atl. 966 [affirming 59 N. J. Eq. 149, 44 Atl. 461].

87. Guyer v. Wilson, 139 Ill. 392, 28 N. E. 738 [reversing 36 Ill. App. 539].

88. Scott v. Jenkins, (Fla. 1902) 35 So. 101.

89. Ashton v. Heggerty, 130 Cal. 516, 62 Pac. 934.

90. Melick v. Melick, 17 N. J. Eq. 156; Frazer v. Charleston, 19 S. C. 384; Fripp v. Talbird, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 142; Newland v. Champion, 1 Ves. 105, 27 Eng. Reprint 920. See also cases cited in subsequent notes in this section. But see McMullin v. Day, 1 Miles (Pa.) 136, holding that where an administrator is sued the heirs may come in and defend on terms.

Where suit is brought for a breach of covenant of warranty after the covenantor's death and the only relief sought is establishment of the claim, the devisees and heirs should not be joined as parties defendant. McConaughey v. Bennett, 50 W. Va. 172, 40 S. E. 540.

In a suit against executors to recover funds bequeathed by the deceased, but claimed to be in fact the property of plaintiff, the legatees thereof are not necessary parties defendant. King v. Lawrence, 14 Wis. 238.

In Louisiana a father acting in the capacity of tutor to his minor children is the representative of the succession of the mother and as such the proper party to be sued for a debt of his deceased wife. Monget v. Penny, 7 La. Ann. 135.

91. Nelson v. Hart, 8 Ind. 293 (holding that the general rule is not altered by the code); Miner v. Aylesworth, 18 Fed. 199.

92. Frazer v. Charleston, 19 S. C. 384; Glover v. Patten, 165 U. S. 394, 17 S. Ct. 411, to them and their rights may be prejudiced,[93] or distributees,[94] or devisees[95] or persons to whom decedent conveyed property in trust to convert into money and pay his creditors and to account for any surplus to decedent or his legal representatives[96] or debtors to the estate.[97] The general rule, however, is not without some exceptions. Thus a debtor to the estate may be joined as a defendant in case of collusion between the personal representative and the debtor, or insolvency of the personal representative, or unwillingness to proceed to collect the assets.[98] In no event, however, can a creditor sue a debtor of the estate without making the personal representative a party.[99] So by statute in some jurisdictions the heirs may come in and defend if the personal representative refuses or neglects to do so,[1] and this will perhaps be permissible in the absence of any statutory authority. So where a bond has been given by an heir under a statute authorizing the administrator on written requisition by an heir to disallow a claim on the giving of a bond approved by the court for the payment of all expenses in the collection of such claim, the party giving the bond must be made a party to the suit on a rejected claim and permitted to defend if he desires or he cannot be held liable for the cost and expenses of the suit.[2]

b. Creditor's Bills. To a creditor's bill against the estate, legatees are ordinarily not necessary parties because their interests are sufficiently protected by the personal representative;[3] but where the executor is removed, the reason for the rule ceases, and they are necessary parties to such bill in accordance with the general doctrine that all persons having an interest in the object of the suit should be made parties.[4] In a creditor's bill against the administrator and heir of a decedent to enforce the collection of the joint obligation of decedent and another obligor such obligor is a necessary party, although a non-resident in order that he may be made primarily liable for whatever portion of the debt may in equity be due from him.[5] Where heirs and devisees are seeking to hold the executor liable for mismanagement of the estate they may be joined as plaintiffs in a creditor's bill.[6]

c. Suits to Establish Rejected Claims. In a suit to establish a rejected claim against a decedent's estate and to determine the validity of a trust deed given to secure it, the trustee is not a necessary party.[7]

3. Actions or Suits in Relation to Land — a. Actions or Suits For Recovery of Land. Notwithstanding the fact that the personal representative is by statute 41 L. ed. 760. And see Douglas v. Fraser, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 105, holding that to a bill against an executor to charge the estate with a debt legatees need not be made parties unless their legacies have been paid and there is a deficiency of assets.

93. Melick v. Melick, 17 N. J. Eq. 156.

94. Fripp v. Talbird, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 142.

95. Greene v. Martine, 27 Hun (N. Y.) 246.

96. Miner v. Aylesworth, 18 Fed. 199.

97. Gilbert v. Thomas, 3 Ga. 575; Lancaster v. Evors, 4 Beav. 158, 5 Jur. 525, 49 Eng. Reprint 299; Alsager v. Rowley, 6 Ves. Jr. 748, 31 Eng. Reprint 1289; Utterson v. Mair, 2 Ves. Jr. 95, 30 Eng. Reprint 540.

98. Gilbert v. Thomas, 3 Ga. 575; Lancaster v. Evors, 4 Beav. 158, 5 Jur. 525, 49 Eng. Reprint 299; Gedge v. Traill, 2 L. J. Ch. O. S. 1, 1 Russ. & M. 281 note; Newland v. Champion, 1 Ves. 105, 27 Eng. Reprint 920; Story Eq. Pl. §§ 178–227. And see Burroughs v. Elton, 11 Ves. Jr. 29, 8 Rev. Rep. 79, 32 Eng. Reprint 998; Doran v. Simpson, 4 Ves. Jr. 651, 31 Eng. Reprint 336.

Instance.— A creditor may join as defendant a person claiming a fund in court on which the estate has an equitable demand for the purpose of obtaining payment out of it where the executor refuses to take steps to establish the demand. Lancaster v. Evors, 4 Beav. 158, 5 Jur. 525, 49 Eng. Reprint 299.

99. Isaacs v. Clark, 13 Vt. 657.

"Estate" as party.— In a suit against an executor, the executor and not the "estate" should be made the party defendant. Voorhies v. Eubank, 6 Iowa 274.

1. Gibson v. Higdon, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 205; Baxter v. Knox, 31 S. W. 284, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 489.

2. Fullerton v. Davis, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 572, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 320.

3. Frazer v. Charleston, 13 S. C. 533. And see Jones v. Lackland, 2 Gratt. (Va.) 81.

4. Frazer v. Charleston, 13 S. C. 533, holding further that assignees of the legatees have the right to be made parties to the bill.

5. White v. Kennedy, 23 W. Va. 221.

6. Spencer v. Goodlett, 104 Tenn. 648, 58 S. W. 322.

7. Ryon v. George, 32 Tex. Civ. App. 504, 75 S. W. 48.

given the right to possession of land as assets for the purpose of administration the heirs are indispensable parties in ejectment or any similar action where the title is in question,[8] and a statute providing that when a mortgagee dies before payment of the debt all his rights and powers pass to the personal representative do not empower the personal representative of a deceased mortgagee to maintain ejectment with making the mortgagee's heirs at law parties.[9] If sole and exclusive right to prosecute and defend all suits concerning decedent's land is given by will to the executor and the legal title vested in him, the devisees are not necessary parties to a suit against the executor for part of the land.[10] And where the title to real estate vests in the executors in fee by the terms of the will they may maintain an action against one wrongfully in possession of the land for its recovery without joining the heirs as parties.[11] Where an administrator purchases land at a sale under execution in his favor as such, it may be treated as personalty until his duty in respect to it is performed and he may proceed for its recovery without joining the heirs; nevertheless, it is not improper to substitute the heirs as plaintiffs in his stead.[12] So where the purchaser at sheriff's sale on execution dies, and a conveyance is made to his personal representative, he may bring an action to recover possession, without joining any of the heirs with him.[13] An administrator cannot maintain a bill in equity to recover land of his intestate to which the heirs are not parties on the ground that the assets of the estate are insufficient to pay its debts, in the absence of a showing that it has been declared insolvent.[14] Where suit is brought by an executor of one succession to recover property seized by the executor of another succession he must join as defendants the heirs of the seizing creditor.[15]

b. Foreclosure of Mortgages — (i) On Death of Mortgagee. Where a mortgagee dies, his personal representative is the proper party to maintain a bill to foreclose the mortgage,[16] and the reason is that the money secured belongs to

8. Chowning v. Stanfield, 49 Ark. 87, 4 S. W. 476; Sisk v. Almon, 34 Ark. 391.

In Louisiana it has been held that the administrator of a succession cannot maintain an action for the recovery of real estate alleged to be the property of the succession, when the heirs of the succession are present and all of them are not made parties to the suit. Ledoux v. Burton, 30 La. Ann. 576. So in an action by a dative testamentary executrix to recover realty held under tax title, an issue as to whether or not the property belongs to a community alleged to have existed between deceased and plaintiff cannot be determined, where the heirs are not parties. Benton v. Benton, 106 La. 99, 30 So. 137.

In Texas the statute authorizes the personal representative to maintain an action of trespass to try title without joining the heirs. Boggess v. Brownson, 59 Tex. 417; Zacharie v. Waldrom, 56 Tex. 116; Gunter v. Fox, 51 Tex. 383 [overruling Barrett v. Barrett, 31 Tex. 344]; Guilford v. Love, 49 Tex. 715. Where, however, a defendant in such a suit asks affirmative relief in his answer, he becomes a plaintiff to the extent of such relief, and, if he fails to comply with the requirements of Tex. Rev. St. art. 1202 (Act Aug. 15, 1870, p. 141), by making the heirs of the estate parties, a judgment in his favor will not operate to divest the title of the estate. East v. Dugan, 79 Tex. 329, 15 S. W. 273.

Under statutes authorizing heirs or devisees to join with the personal representative in suits to recover real property belonging to the estate, the heirs cannot compel the bringing of such action by an executor. Crosby v. Dowd, 61 Cal. 557.

9. Hughes v. Gay, 132 N. C. 50, 43 S. E. 539.

10. Lee v. Colston, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 238.

11. Martin v. Spurrier, 23 Ohio Cir. Ct. 110.

12. Jackson v. Roberts, 95 Ky. 410, 25 S. W. 879, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 831.

13. Reynolds v. Darling, 42 Barb. (N. Y.) 418.

14. Campbell v. Doyle, 57 Miss. 292.

15. Bird v. Générès, 34 La. Ann. 321.

16. California.— Grattan v. Wiggins, 23 Cal. 16.

Connecticut.— Roath v. Smith, 5 Conn. 133.

Illinois.— Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Dayton, 116 Ill. 257, 4 N. E. 492.

Maine.— Plummer v. Doughty, 78 Me. 341, 5 Atl. 526; Webster v. Calden, 56 Me. 204; Felch v. Hooper, 20 Me. 159.

Massachusetts.— Marsh v. Austin, 1 Allen 235; Fay v. Cheney, 14 Pick. 399.

Mississippi.— Griffin v. Lovell, 42 Miss. 402.

England.— Freake v. Horseley, 2 Freem. Ch. 180, 22 Eng. Reprint 1145, Nelson 93, 21 Eng. Reprint 798; Story Eq. Pl. § 200.

the personal estate and draws after it the mortgaged estate as an incident.[17] According to some of the text writers and some decisions the heir of the mortgagee is a necessary party,[18] as being a trustee of the legal estate for the executor,[19] and because if the mortgage should be redeemed there would be no one before the court by whom an effectual conveyance of the legal estate could be made.[20] So some decisions have held that the heir of the mortgagee should be made a party either as plaintiff or defendant when in possession of the premises.[21] By virtue of legislation in a number of jurisdictions, it is no longer necessary to join the heir as a party; it has so been held under a statute providing that payment of the mortgage debt to the mortgagee or his representative revests title in the mortgagor without reconveyance,[22] or that a mortgage may be released by the personal representative of a deceased mortgagee,[23] or giving the administrator the sole right to maintain actions for debts due deceased.[24] Under statutes of this character it has been held that the heir is not even a proper party.[25] Where an executor accepts payment of a bond secured by mortgage in confederate currency and delivers up the bond and enters the mortgage satisfied and cancels it, he is a necessary party to a suit by the legatees against the obligor in the bond to compel him to deliver it up and to obtain control of the property mortgaged for distribution.[26]

(II) On Death of Mortgagor — (A) Whether Personal Representative Necessary Party — (1) Introductory Statement. As will be shown in another title of this work, the heirs of a deceased mortgagor are indispensable parties to a bill to foreclose the mortgage unless there is some special provision affecting the practice.[27] As respects the necessity of making the personal representative of the deceased mortgagor a party there is considerable diversity of holding, which may be accounted for to some extent at least by statutory provisions affecting the question.[28]

(2) View That Personal Representative Is a Necessary Party. In a number of jurisdictions it is held that the personal representative is a necessary party. In some of them no special statutory provision is relied on.[29] In others statutes expressly provide that the personal representative shall be joined as a party,[30] and in others his joinder is considered to be necessary because of statutes vest-

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1779.

An administrator de bonis non with the will annexed may bring suit to foreclose a mortgage making other mortgagees as well as the mortgagor parties. Miller v. Donaldson, 17 Ohio 264.

Limitation of rule. — Where the widow of decedent mortgagee had made an amicable settlement with other heirs, and was the sole owner of the mortgage which had been assigned to her, and the administrator of the estate had fully settled it and been discharged, and the settlement had been approved by the court, it was held that the administrator was neither a necessary nor a proper party to an action for foreclosure brought by the widow. Westerfield v. Spencer, 61 Ind. 339.

17. Griffin v. Lovell, 42 Miss. 402; Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Dayton, 116 Ill. 257, 4 N. E. 492; Story Eq. Pl. § 200.

18. Worthington v. Lee, 2 Bland (Md.) 678; Hughes v. Gay, 132 N. C. 50, 43 S. E. 539; Hughes v. Hodges, 94 N. C. 56; McIver v. Cherry, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 713; Scott v. Nicoll, 3 Russ. 476, 3 Eng. Ch. 476, 38 Eng. Reprint 654; Powell Mortg. 970; Story Eq. Pl. § 200.

19. Scott v. Nicoll, 3 Russ. 476, 3 Eng. Ch. 476, 38 Eng. Reprint 654.

20. Worthington v. Lee, 2 Bland (Md.) 678; Powell Mortg. 970; Story Eq. Pl. § 200.

21. Huggins v. Hall, 10 Ala. 283; Osborne v. Tunis, 25 N. J. L. 633.

22. Griffin v. Lovell, 42 Miss. 402.

23. Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Dayton, 116 Ill. 257, 4 N. E. 492; Dayton v. Dayton, 7 Ill. App. 136.

24. Grattan v. Wiggins, 23 Cal. 16.

25. Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Dayton, 116 Ill. 257, 4 N. E. 492.

26. Howland v. Kelly, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,796, Chase 427.

27. See, generally, Mortgages.

28. See infra, XIV, G, 3, b, (II), (A), (2), (3), (4).

29. Hall v. Musler, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 36, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 471; Sargent v. Baldwin, 60 Vt. 17, 13 Atl. 854.

In Georgia it was held that the administrator of a deceased mortgagor was the proper party to be sued for a foreclosure of the mortgage and that the mortgagor's heirs were not necessary parties. Dixon v. Cuyler, 27 Ga. 248.

30. Hall v. Klepzig, 99 Mo. 83, 12 S. W. 372; Tierney v. Spiva, 97 Mo. 98, 10 S. W.

ing in him possession of real as well as personal property for purposes of administration.[31]

(3) View That Personal Representative Is Not a Necessary Party. Decisions having an opposite tendency will now be considered. The undoubted weight of authority where the question is not affected by statute is to the effect that in suits of the character under consideration the personal representative is not a necessary party;[32] that if the heir desires the benefit of having the personal estate applied in exoneration of the real, he must enforce the right by filing a bill against the representative for such relief.[33] There are, however, a few well recognized exceptions. Thus it has been held that the personal representative is a necessary party where the bill seeks to charge the personal estate with any deficiency in the mortgaged premises to pay the debt.[34] Another exception is where the mortgage is for a term of years only, for then the equity is said to belong to the personal representative,[35] and if the mortgage comprises both freehold and leasehold estates the heir and the personal representative are both necessary parties.[36]

433; Miles v. Smith, 22 Mo. 502; Riley v. McCord, 21 Mo. 285.

31. Harwood v. Marye, 8 Cal. 580; Kelsey v. Welch, 8 S. D. 255, 66 N. W. 390.

Limitations of rule.— Where a mortgagor conveys the mortgaged premises his personal representative is not a necessary party to a suit for foreclosure (Gutzeit v. Pennie, 98 Cal. 327, 33 Pac. 199; Hibernia Sav., etc., Soc. v. Herbert, 53 Cal. 375), and where the mortgaged premises after the mortgagor's death are set apart to the widow, the administrator is not a necessary party to the foreclosure (Schadt v. Heppe, 45 Cal. 433).

In Alabama where the realty as well as the personalty may and generally is brought under the personal representative, he is a necessary party to a bill to foreclose a mortgage executed by his testator or intestate unless it is shown that the assets in his hands to be administered are discharged from all liability for the mortgage debt (Boyle v. Williams, 72 Ala. 351; Dooley v. Villalonga, 61 Ala. 129 [disapproving Inge v. Boardman, 2 Ala. 331]. And see Wilkins v. Wilkins, 4 Port. 245); and it was held that in an action to foreclose a mortgage after the death of the mortgagor, the appointment of an administrator ad litem is insufficient to cure the defect in not making the heirs and legal representatives of the mortgagor parties (Bell v. Hall, 76 Ala. 546).

32. Illinois.— Bissell v. Chicago Mar. Co., 55 Ill. 165; Roberts v. Flatt, 42 Ill. App. 608.

Indiana.— Lovering v. King, 97 Ind. 130; Cole v. McMickle, 30 Ind. 94; Slaughter v. Foust, 4 Blackf. 379.

Iowa.— Darlington v. Effey, 13 Iowa 177.

Maryland.— David v. Grahame, 2 Harr. & G. 94; Worthington v. Lee, 2 Bland 678.

Michigan.— Abbott v. Godfrey, 1 Mich. 178.

Minnesota.— Hill v. Townley, 45 Minn. 167, 47 N. W. 653.

Nevada.— Ricketts v. Hutchinson, 18 Nev. 215, 2 Pac. 52, 4 Pac. 702.

New Jersey.— Harlem Co-operative Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Freeburn, 54 N. J. Eq. 37, 33 Atl. 514; United Security L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Vandegrift, 51 N. J. Eq. 400, 26 Atl. 985.

North Carolina.— Fraser v. Bean, 96 N. C. 227, 2 S. E. 159; Averett v. Ward, 45 N. C. 192.

South Carolina.— Butler v. Williams, 27 S. C. 221, 3 S. E. 211; Trapier v. Waldo, 16 S. C. 276. And see Bryce v. Bowers, 11 Rich. Eq. 41; Wright v. Eaves, 10 Rich. Eq. 582, holding that where the mortgagor has conveyed mortgaged premises his personal representative is not a necessary party to a bill for foreclosure.

Virginia.— Graham v. Carter, 2 Hen. & M. 6.

Wisconsin.— Walker v. Jarvis, 16 Wis. 28.

England.— Duncombe v. Hansley, 3 P. Wms. 333 note.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1779; 35 Cent. Dig. "Mortgages," § 1282.

33. Harlem Co-operative Bldg., etc., Assoc v. Freeburn, 54 N. J. Eq. 37, 33 Atl. 514; Duncombe v. Hansley, 3 P. Wms. 333 note; Story Eq. Pl. § 196.

The mortgagee need not intermeddle with the personal estate or run into an account thereof, and if the heir would have the benefit of any payment made by the mortgagor or his executor he must prove it. Duncombe v. Hansley, 3 P. Wms. 333 note.

34. Lovering v. King, 97 Ind. 130; Darlington v. Effey, 13 Iowa 177; Leonard v. Morris, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 90; Drayton v. Marshall, 1 Rice Eq. (S. C.) 373, 33 Am. Dec. 84. See also the following cases in which this doctrine is recognized: Roberts v. Flatt, 42 Ill. App. 608; Slaughter v. Foust, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 379; Abbott v. Godfroy, 1 Mich. 178. But see Butler v. Williams, 27 S. C. 221, 3 S. E. 211, in which it was held that the personal representative is not a necessary party even though a deficiency judgment is asked since the prayer for relief is no part of the complaint.

35. Bradshaw v. Outram, 13 Ves. Jr. 234, 9 Rev. Rep. 183, 33 Eng. Reprint 282.

36. Story Eq. Pl. 196.

(4) Whether Personal Representative a Proper Party. It is usually held that the personal representative of a deceased mortgagor, although not a necessary party, is nevertheless a proper party to a bill to foreclose a mortgage,[37] and if not made a defendant, he may upon his own motion be joined as such.[38]

(B) Whether Heirs Necessary Parties. Heirs are necessary parties to a suit to foreclose a mortgage of realty belonging to the estate.[39]

c. Redemption From Mortgage. If the mortgage be for a term of years only, the personal representative of the mortgagor is the proper party to file a bill to redeem.[40] If the mortgage be of the fee, the heir, or if the property be devised, the devisee is the proper party to file a bill to redeem,[41] and it is not necessary to make the personal representative a party where all payments on the debt were made by the heir and no effort is made to charge the personal assets of the estate;[42] but if the bill alleges that part of the mortgage was paid by the mortgagor in his lifetime, his personal representative as well as his heir or devisee is a necessary party to take an account of what is due on the mortgage,[43] and it has been said that as the personal assets are usually first to be applied in exoneration of the real estate mortgaged it would seem that on a bill to redeem by the heir or devisee the personal representative of the mortgagor might properly be made a party defendant in order to have the assets so applied.[44] If the mortgagee dies his heirs or devisees are necessary parties to a bill to redeem as having the legal title.[45] His personal representative is also a necessary party as being the person entitled to receive the money on payment of the mortgage.[46] This doctrine is 37. Hodgdon v. Heidman, 66 Iowa 645, 24 N. W. 257; Huston v. Stringham, 21 Iowa 36; Darlington v. Effey, 13 Iowa 177; Hill v. Townley, 45 Minn. 167, 47 N. W. 653; United Security L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Vandegrift, 51 N. J. Eq. 400, 26 Atl. 985; Averett v. Ward, 45 N. C. 192.

Reason for rule.— It had been assigned as a reason that the estate is liable for any deficit after exhausting the mortgage, although no judgment can be rendered against the personal representative for the deficiency (Hodgdon v. Heidman, 66 Iowa 645, 24 N. W. 257; Hill v. Townley, 45 Minn. 167, 47 N. W. 653); and it has also been said that the interest which the personal representative has in being present when an account is taken of the amount remaining due in order that he may see that all proper credits are given and that the sum remaining due is fairly and correctly ascertained is sufficient to make him a proper party. The complainant also has this advantage in making him a party that, while no direct or active relief can be awarded against him, he will nevertheless be concluded by the decree as to the amount due, and if a suit at law or other proceeding should afterward be necessary to recover the whole amount due on the bond, the amount so recovered will be considered, after the proceeds of sale of the mortgaged premises have been credited, as having been unalterably determined by the decree in the foreclosure suit (United Security L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Vandegrift, 51 N. J. Eq. 400, 26 Atl. 985).

38. Huston v. Stringham, 21 Iowa 36; Darlington v. Effey, 13 Iowa 177.

39. Scott v. Jenkins, (Fla. 1902) 35 So. 101.

40. Story Eq. Pl. § 182.

41. Sutherland v. Rose, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 144, in which it was said that an administrator has no interest in the controversy and can bring no action. Story Eq. Pl. § 182.

Statutory change of rule.— In Massachusetts it is provided by statute (Gen. St. c. 140, § 32) that the personal representative as well as the heirs or devisees of the deceased mortgagor may bring suit to redeem (Long v. Richards, 170 Mass. 120, 48 N. E. 1083, 64 Am. St. Rep. 281; Aiken v. Morse, 104 Mass. 277); and in Michigan, where the administrator under the statute is entitled to possession of decedent's lands, it is held that he has such an interest in the real estate as entitles him to redeem, and that a bill for that purpose might be brought by him without joining the heirs where complete justice could be done to the parties in the case (Enos v. Sutherland, 11 Mich. 538).

42. Jones v. Richardson, 85 Ala. 463, 5 So. 194.

43. Cholmondeley v. Clinton, 2 Jac. & W. 1, 37 Eng. Reprint 527, 2 Meriv. 171, 35 Eng. Reprint 905, 22 Rev. Rep. 99 [affirmed in 4 Bligh 1, 22 Rev. Rep. 83, 4 Eng. Reprint 721]; Story Eq. Pl. § 182.

44. Story Eq. Pl. § 182.

45. See, generally, Mortgages; and Story Eq. Pl. § 188.

46. Arkansas.— Wood v. Holland, 57 Ark. 198, 21 S. W. 223.

Maine.— Hilton v. Lothrop, 46 Me. 297.

Massachusetts.— Haskins v. Hawkes, 108 Mass. 379.

North Carolina.— Guthrie v. Sorrell, 41 N. C. 13.

England.— Anonymous, 2 Freem. Ch. 52, 22 Eng. Reprint 1053; Hobart v. Abbot, 2 P. Wms. 643, 24 Eng. Reprint 897.

Statutory change of rule.— Where a statute provides that debts due by mortgage shall be considered personal property and based upon the principle that the money should return to the fund from which it came.[47]

d. Enforcement of Vendor's Lien. The personal representative of a deceased vendor is the proper party to file a bill to enforce a lien for unpaid purchase-money.[48] If the legal title has not been conveyed by decedent, his heirs, or devisees, if the land has been devised, are necessary parties,[49] and it has been held that their presence cannot be dispensed with by tendering either in the pleadings or at the trial a deed from the heirs to the purchasers unless the latter accepts the deed.[50] So one who has purchased at an administrator's sale part of the land previously sold by decedent, and on which the administrator is seeking to foreclose a vendor's lien, has such an interest as warrants the court to permit him to become a party defendant.[51] Neither decedent's widow nor after her death her next of kin are proper parties to a suit by an administrator to recover the balance of unpaid purchase-money of real estate sold by intestate.[52] Where the purchaser of land dies, his heirs or devisees are ordinarily necessary parties defendant to a bill to enforce a vendor's lien on the land.[53] So his personal representative is a proper[54] and ordinarily a necessary party,[55] because the per-that if the mortgagee dies after taking possession the debt is personal assets and the mortgage under the same control of the personal representative as if it had been a pledge of personal estate the heirs are not necessary parties to a bill to redeem but the bill may be maintained against the personal representative alone. Dexter v. Arnold, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,857, 1 Sumn. 109. For the same result under similar statutes see Copeland v. Yoakum, 38 Mo. 349.

47. Anonymous, 2 Freem. Ch. 52, 22 Eng. Reprint 1053.

48. McCoy v. Broderick, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 203. And see Adams v. Green, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 176.

49. Arkansas.— Anderson v. Levy, 33 Ark. 665.

Kentucky.— Phillips v. Breck, 79 Ky. 465; Smith v. West, 5 Litt. 48.

Mississippi.— Kimbrough v. Curtis, 50 Miss. 117.

Missouri.— Leeper v. Lyon, 68 Mo. 216.

Tennessee.— McCoy v. Broderick, 3 Sneed 203.

Texas.— See Loller v. Frost, 38 Tex. 208.

Virginia.— Mott v. Carter, 26 Gratt. 127.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1778; 48 Cent. Dig. tit. "Vendor and Purchaser," § 779.

Reason for rule.— The personal representative has no right to the purchase-money until he can show that he is in a condition to make a good title to the purchaser and this can only be done by bringing the heirs who are vested with the legal title before the court. McCoy v. Broderick, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 203.

Amendment adding parties.— Where, notwithstanding an objection that the heirs of the vendors should be made parties, the trial court, without requiring this to be done, makes a decree for the sale of the land, the appellate court may amend the decree by directing that the heirs be made parties before the land is sold and affirmed as amended. Mott v. Carter, 26 Gratt. (Va.) 127.

50. Leeper v. Lyon, 68 Mo. 216. Compare Wollenberg v. Rose, 41 Oreg. 314, 68 Pac. 804, holding that a bill by an administrator to foreclose defendant's equitable interest in lands sold him by plaintiff's intestate does not make the heirs of the intestate parties is not an objection after answer, the administrator alleging his readiness to furnish a good and sufficient deed.

51. Chapman v. Callahan, 66 Mo. 299.

52. Hubbard v. Clark, (N. J. Ch. 1886) 7 Atl. 26.

53. See, generally, VENDOR AND PURCHASER.

54. Lord v. Wilcox, 99 Ind. 491.

55. Overly v. Tipton, 68 Ind. 410; Teetor v. Abden, 2 Ind. 183; Bryer v. Chase, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 508; Sommerville v. Sommerville, 26 W. Va. 484; Morris v. Payton, 10 W. Va. 1; Lewis v. Hawkins, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 119, 23 L. ed. 113.

Personal representative of subpurchaser.— Where a purchaser of land resells it and the person purchasing from him dies, the personal representative of the latter is a necessary party to a bill to enforce a vendor's lien on the land. Mullins v. Sparks, 43 Miss. 129.

Administrator ad litem.— When the bill alleges that the estate is largely insolvent and has been declared insolvent and that all the assets have been administered and distributed, the estate should be represented by an administrator with full powers and an administrator ad litem is not sufficient. Moore v. Alexander, 81 Ala. 509, 8 So. 199.

Limitations of rule.— The personal representative of the deceased purchaser is not a necessary party defendant if decedent left no personal estate to be administered and this is alleged in the bill (Overly v. Tipton, 68 Ind. 410); and where the purchaser was a non-resident and died without personal estate or a personal representative in the state, a bill might be brought against the heirs alone (Reed v. Gregory, 46 Miss. 740). So when the complainant sues as assignee of a promissory note given for the purchase-money of land claiming as residuary legatee

sonal estate is primarily liable for the debt and the heir or devisee is entitled to have the personal estate first applied to the payment thereof.[56] When an executor acting in good faith and in the exercise of sound discretion has purchased lands at a judicial sale in order to save a debt due to the estate, the lands are regarded simply as personalty in his hands, and the devisees or heirs are not necessary parties to a bill filed by him against a subsequent purchaser to subject the lands to payment of the purchase-money.[57]

e. Specific Enforcement or Rescission of Decedent's Contracts. Where one who has contracted to convey real estate dies and a bill is brought by his personal representatives to enforce specific performance all his heirs should be made parties either as plaintiffs or as defendants.[58] If the vendor has devised the estate contracted to be sold and his representatives bring a bill for specific performance the devisee is a necessary party.[59] If a bill is brought by the purchaser to enforce specific performance of the contract of sale made by the deceased vendor all his heirs are necessary parties,[60] and if the land has been devised the devisees should be made parties.[61] So it has been held that the administrator is a proper party defendant as he represents the creditors, and as the property might be needed to pay decedent's debts.[62] It has been held, however, that an executor who is also a devisee and made a party in that character is not a necessary party in his character of executor.[63] Where the purchaser dies, and his heirs seek to enforce specific performance against the vendor the representative of the purchaser is a necessary party defendant as the heirs to whom the contract descends in equity are entitled to have the contract primarily paid out of the personal assets.[64] So it seems he under the will of the deceased vendor, and it is shown that the executors have made a final settlement of the estate and delivered the note to the complainant, they are neither necessary nor proper parties to the suit. Bogan v. Hamilton, 90 Ala. 454, 8 So. 186.

56. Reed v. Gregory, 46 Miss. 740; Sommerville v. Sommerville, 26 W. Va. 484.

57. Hughes v. Hatchett, 55 Ala. 539.

58. Burger v. Potter, 32 Ill. 66; Morgan v. Morgan, 2 Wheat. (U. S.) 290, 4 L. ed. 242; Roberts v. Marchant, 1 Hare 547, 13 L. J. Ch. 56, 23 Eng. Ch. 547, 1 Phil. Ch. 370, 19 Eng. Ch. 370, 41 Eng. Reprint 672; Story Eq. Pl. § 160. See also Perry v. Roberts, 23 Mo. 221.

The administrator of a deceased vendor of land ought to be a party to a suit for the recovery of the purchase-money. Barbour v. Craig, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 213.

Effect of conveyance by heirs to personal representative.— Where the heirs consent to have a contract of sale executed and voluntarily convey the title to the administratrix to enable her to transfer it to the purchaser, it is not necessary to make them parties in a suit for specific performance of the contract brought by the administratrix. Schroeppel v. Hopper, 40 Barb. (N. Y.) 425.

59. Roberts v. Marchant, 1 Hare 547, 13 L. J. Ch. 56, 23 Eng. Ch. 547, 1 Phil. Ch. 370, 19 Eng. Ch. 370, 41 Eng. Reprint 672; Calvert Parties 293.

60. Duncan v. Wickliffe, 5 Ill. 452. This is necessary in order to afford them an opportunity of contesting the fact whether their ancestor had done an act by which their interest in the property alleged to be conveyed should be divested. Carr v. Callaghan, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 365.

Rule in Texas.— Under the statutes of this state which authorize the bringing of suit for specific performance against executors and administrators, it is not necessary to make the heirs parties in an action for the specific performance of a contract made by a decedent for the conveyance of land (Shannon v. Taylor, 16 Tex. 413; Ottenhouse v. Burleson, 11 Tex. 87; Holt v. Clemmons, 3 Tex. 423; Thompson v. Duncan, 1 Tex. 485); they may, however, be joined as parties (Ottenhouse v. Burleson, supra).

Bill for accounting and specific performance.— To a bill for an account of the profits of a mill and for a specific performance of a bond to convey the mill, the obligor being dead, his personal representative must be made a party defendant as well as his heirs at law. Castel v. Strange, 54 N. C. 324.

61. Carr v. Callaghan, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 365.

62. Judd v. Mosely, 30 Iowa 423; Colfax v. Colfax, 32 N. J. Eq. 206. And see In re Healy, (Cal. 1901) 66 Pac. 175.

Notwithstanding a statute permits suit to be brought against the personal representative of a deceased vendor alone to enforce specific performance, the heirs may be sued without joining the personal representative. He is a proper but not a necessary party. Judd v. Mosely, 30 Iowa 423.

63. Watson v. Mahan, 20 Ind. 223.

64. Champion v. Brown, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 398, 10 Am. Dec. 343; Story Eq. Pl. § 177. And see Downing v. Risley, 15 N. J. Eq. 93, in which it was held that where the estate has not been settled or decedent's debts paid the administrator should be a party because he has an interest in disputing the contract, and is the party liable to pay the purchase-money.

may join as complainant to a bill which seeks to compel specific performance of the contract by the vendor when the purchase-money is unpaid or the fact of payment was controverted; otherwise, however, where the purchase-money has been paid in full and the bill affirmatively shows that there can be no necessity for the exercise by the administrator of his statutory powers over the real estate.[65] The widow of the purchaser is a necessary party complainant because she was entitled to dower in her husband's equitable estate in the land at the time of his death.[66] If the purchaser dies his heirs or devisees as well as his personal representatives are necessary parties to a bill to enforce specific performance against his estate.[67] One claiming property as remainder-man under a marriage agreement between his parents in a bill for specific performance of such agreement should not make the legatees in his father's will parties defendant, as the executor represents the adverse interest under the will.[68] The personal representative of a vendor against whom a rescission of contract for the sale of land is asked is a necessary party to the suit,[69] and if he is empowered to sell lands and make and acknowledge titles, he takes the fee simple title, and in an action against him to rescind a contract of sale made by decedent he represents all the beneficiaries and they are not necessary parties.[70] So where an obligee of a bond for the conveyance of land dies, before the time fixed for the conveyance, his executors must be made parties to a bill to rescind the contract on the ground of fraud on the part of the obligor.[71] If a covenant to convey real estate is not broken in the vendee's lifetime, his heirs, being entitled to all the advantages resulting from the covenant, are necessary parties in an action by the executors of the deceased vendee to cancel the contract.[72] An administrator's bill to cancel a deed by his intestate, being an attack on it for the benefit of all persons interested in the estate, a decree setting it aside cannot be disturbed, on appeal of defendants, as affecting the interest of a person not a party.[73]

f. Suits to Set Aside Fraudulent Conveyance of Decedent. The question whether or not a personal representative is a proper party to bring suit to set aside a fraudulent conveyance executed by his decedent is considered in another chapter in this treatise.[74] There is a considerable conflict of authority as respects the propriety or necessity of joining the personal representative of a decedent as a party defendant in a suit by a creditor to set aside as fraudulent a conveyance made by decedent, and the decisions are not always harmonious even in the same jurisdiction. A considerable number of decisions hold that the personal representative is a necessary party,[75] and that if there is no administrator the com-

65. McKay v. Broad, 70 Ala. 377. And see Hill v. Smith, 32 N. J. Eq. 473.

Amendment striking out name of administrator.— When a bill is improperly filed in the name of an administrator as sole plaintiff and the heirs are brought in by amendment, the name of the administrator cannot be struck out by a second amendment, since this would work an entire change of parties. McKay v. Broad, 70 Ala. 377.

66. Hill v. Smith, 32 N. J. Eq. 473.

67. Townsend v. Champernowne, 9 Price 130, while the personal property is primarily chargeable the land purchased belongs in equity to the heirs or devisees and is chargeable with any deficit.

68. Harrington v. McLean, 62 N. C. 258.

69. Cravens v. Dyer, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 153.

70. Alger v. Anderson, 78 Fed. 729.

71. Rice v. Spotswood, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 40, 17 Am. Dec. 115, the right of decedent to be restored the purchase-money paid by him has none of the attributes of land but partakes of the nature of a chattel and goes to his personal representative. And see Gatewood v. Rucker, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 21.

72. Cox v. Grant, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 201.

73. Travis v. Parks, 130 Mich. 15, 89 N. W. 569.

74. See supra, III, H, 7.

Refusal of administrator to bring suit.— Where an administrator empowered by statute to bring suit to set aside a fraudulent conveyance by defendant refuses to do so, a general creditor of decedent (the latter's property having been all applied to the payment of debts except such as was fraudulently transferred) cannot bring such action making the administrators defendants without first obtaining a judgment at law. Harvey v. McDonnell, 48 Hun (N. Y.) 409, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 83.

75. Illinois.—McDowell v. Cochran, 11 Ill. 31.

Indiana.— Hays v. Montgomery, 118 Ind. 91, 20 N. E. 646; Willis v. Thompson, 93

plainant must procure one to be appointed and join him as a defendant before the suit can proceed.[76] Other decisions, however, take the contrary view and hold that the personal representative is not a necessary party,[77] and this rule is held to be not affected by legislation authorizing the personal representative himself to bring suit to set aside a fraudulent conveyance of decedent and recover the property.[78] Some of these decisions while holding that the personal representative is not a necessary party hold that he is, nevertheless, a proper party,[79]

Ind. 52; Baugh v. Boles, 66 Ind. 376; Allen v. Vestal, 60 Ind. 245.

Iowa.— Postlewait v. Howes, 3 Iowa 365.

Missouri.— Coates v. Day, 9 Mo. 304. But see Missouri decisions cited in note 79.

North Carolina.— Dozier v. Dozier, 21 N. C. 96.

South Carolina.— Brockman v. Bowman, 1 Hill Eq. 338.

Vermont.— Peaslee v. Barney, 1 D. Chipm. 331, 6 Am. Dec. 743.

West Virginia.—Boggs v. McCoy, 15 W. Va. 344.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1782; 24 Cent. Dig. tit. "Fraudulent Conveyances," § 794.

And see Bachman v. Sepulveda, 39 Cal. 688.

Various reasons are assigned in support of this view. Thus it has been said that the personal representative must be given an opportunity to show that the judgment (in case the claim is reduced to judgment) has been paid or that if it be unpaid the estate is solvent and the proceeding unnecessary. McDowell v. Cochran, 11 Ill. 31. And see Coates v. Day, 9 Mo. 304. So in other cases it is assigned as a reason that the personal estate is the primary and actual fund which must be resorted to for the payment of his debt to plaintiff before any real estate can be subjected to his payment (Postlewait v. Howes, 3 Iowa 365; Boggs v. McCoy, 15 W. Va. 344); and that the claim can only be collected through the administrator (Hays v. Montgomery, 118 Ind. 91, 20 N. E. 646). It has also been said that the personal representative must be made a party defendant that he may by the decree be compelled to proceed with the estate recovered in the payment of the debts in due course of administration. Peaslee v. Barney, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 331, 6 Am. Dec. 743.

Where a life-tenant joins with the remainder-man in conveying the property to defraud a creditor, his personal representative is a necessary party to a bill by the creditor to set it aside. Johnson v. Huber, 134 Ill. 511, 25 N. E. 790.

In Texas it has been held that the creditor and vendee are the only necessary parties to a suit to set aside as fraudulent as to creditors the deed of one who died without property and on whose estate no administration has been taken out (Heard v. McKinney, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 83); but that where a claim against an estate has been allowed and approved or rejected and a creditor brings suit against third persons, to set aside a conveyance made by the decedent, which is alleged to be in fraud of creditors, the administrator is a necessary party defendant to the suit (Hall v. McCormick, 7 Tex 269).

76. Hays v. Montgomery, 118 Ind. 91, 20 N. E. 646; Baugh v. Boles, 66 Ind. 376; Allen v. Vestal, 60 Ind. 245; Postlewait v. Howes, 3 Iowa 365.

77. Alabama.— McClarin v. Anderson, 109 Ala. 571, 19 So. 982; Merchants' Nat. Bank v. McGee, 108 Ala. 304, 19 So. 356; Staton v. Rising, 103 Ala. 454, 15 So. 848; Coffey v. Norwood, 81 Ala. 512, 8 So. 199; Houston v. Blackman, 66 Ala. 559, 41 Am. Rep. 756.

Arizona.— O'Doherty v. Toole, 2 Ariz. 288, 15 Pac. 28.

Maine.— Dockray v. Mason, 48 Me. 178.

Mississippi.— Taylor v. Webb, 54 Miss. 36

Missouri.— Zoll v. Soper, 75 Mo. 460; Jackman v. Robinson, 64 Mo. 289; Merry v. Fremon, 44 Mo. 518; George v. Williamson, 26 Mo. 190, 72 Am. Dec. 203.

New Jersey.— Munn v. Marsh, 38 N. J. Eq. 410 [affirmed in 40 N. J. Eq. 343].

New York.— Jackson v. Forrest, 2 Barb. Ch. 576.

North Carolina.— Wall v. Fairley, 73 N. C. 464.

Tennessee.— McCutchen v. Pigue, 4 Heisk. 565.

Wisconsin.— Cornell v. Radway, 22 Wis. 260.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1782; 24 Cent. Dig. tit. "Fraudulent Conveyances," § 744.

These reasons have been assigned for the rule stated.— Neither the debtor if living nor, if he be dead, the personal representative can enjoy any of the fruits of a successful prosecution of the suit to set aside a fraudulent conveyance. Coffey v. Norwood, 81 Ala. 512, 8 So. 199. The administrator has no interest in the suit (Jackman v. Robinson, 64 Mo. 289; McCutchen v. Pigue, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 565); and a decree establishing the debt which must form the basis of the release complainant seeks cannot affect him or the personal assets of the estate in his hands (Staton v. Rising, 103 Ala. 454, 15 So. 848). After complainant's judgment is satisfied, the remainder belongs to the purchaser and is not assets of the estate. Coffey v. Norwood, 81 Ala. 512, 8 So. 199; Dockray v. Mason, 48 Me. 178; Zoll v. Soper, 75 Mo. 460.

78. O'Doherty v. Toole, 2 Ariz. 288, 15 Pac. 28.

79. See Alabama cases cited in note 77. and Pharis v. Leachman, 20 Ala. 662.

A joint action may be maintained against the administrator of the decedent and one while other decisions go to the extent of denying that the personal representative is even a proper party.[80]

g. Suits to Quiet Title. On the death of an intestate his lands descend immediately to his heirs and they are the proper persons to bring an action to quiet title thereto.[81]

h. Suits to Subject Decedent's Land to Payment of Debts. Questions relating to parties in this class of suits are considered elsewhere in this work.[82]

i. Miscellaneous. In an action to establish a right of way across the land of a decedent, the heirs or devisees are necessary parties defendant,[83] and the heirs are necessary parties defendant in a suit against an administrator to obtain a conveyance of real estate alleged to have been held in trust for the complainant by defendant's intestate.[84] The heir of a deceased mortgagee is not a necessary party to a proceeding to correct a misdescription in the mortgage.[85] All the devisees must be made parties to a bill to enjoin executors from selling land belonging to testator's estate.[86]

4. Actions at Law or Suits in Equity For Legacies or Distributive Share — a. Actions at Law. Where the interests of legatees or distributees have been ascertained and fixed by decree and the share of each determined, each may maintain a separate suit for his share without joining the others.[87] However, judgment cannot be rendered against executors, on proceedings instituted in the name of the husband alone, for his wife's distributive share in an estate.[88]

b. Suits in Equity — (i) By Legatee or Distributee. Where a legatee brings suit to recover a legacy, the executor is a necessary party defendant.[89] But it is not in general necessary that residuary legatees or other legatees be made parties; it will be sufficient to make the executor a party.[90] Especially is to whom he had conveyed property in fraud of creditors. De Graffenreid v. Rawson, 23 Ga. 11.

80. See Missouri, New Jersey, and New York decisions cited in note 77.

81. Marsh v. Waupaca County, 38 Wis. 250.

The administrators having improperly joined with the heirs in bringing an action to quiet title, the misjoinder cannot be reached by demurrer, but the averments of the complaint concerning the administration of the estate would probably be stricken out as irrelevant and redundant. Marsh v. Waupaca County, 38 Wis. 250.

Under Tex. Rev. St. art. 1202, providing that in every suit against the estate of a decedent involving title to real estate, the executor and administrator, if any, and the heirs shall be made parties defendant, the heirs are necessary parties to a suit against the estate to acquire title (Russell v. Texas, etc., R. Co., 68 Tex. 646, 5 S. W. 686), unless the land has been devised, in which case the devisee and not the heir should be made a party (Lufkin v. Galveston, 73 Tex. 340, 11 S. W. 340).

82. See Descent and Distribution, 14 Cyc. 1; and, generally, Wills.

83. Dwyer v. Olivari, (Tex. Sup. 1891) 16 S. W. 800.

84. Wiley v. Davis, (Me. 1887) 10 Atl. 493.

85. Dayton v. Dayton, 7 Ill. App. 136.

A suit to correct a mistake in a sale of land certificate by an executor is not a suit to contest the title of the estate to land, within a statute requiring the executor and heirs and devisees to be made parties to suits contesting the estate's title to land. Wood v. Mistretta, 20 Tex. Civ. App. 236, 49 S. W. 236, 50 S. W. 135.

86. Lee v. Marshall, 2 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 30.

87. Hauenstein v. Kull, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 24.

88. Blackwell v. Meneese, 5 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 397.

89. Cooper Eq. Pl. p. 34; Story Eq. Pl. § 171.

If legacies are made a charge on the real estate by will, the executor is a necessary party defendant to a bill to enforce the charge, if the personal assets are not exonerated from the charge as the primary fund. Story Eq. Pl. § 205.

90. Georgia.— Beall v. Blake, 16 Ga. 119.

Kentucky.— Todd v. Sterrett, 6 J. J. Marsh. 425.

New Jersey.— Davison v. Rake, 45 N. J. Eq. 767, 18 Atl. 752; Read v. Patterson, 44 N. J. Eq. 211, 14 Atl. 490, 6 Am. St. Rep. 877; Melick v. Melick, 17 N. J. Eq. 156; Vanderpool v. Davenport, 3 N. J. Eq. 120.

New York.— Cromer v. Pinckney, 3 Barb. Ch. 466; Pritchard v. Hicks, 1 Paige 270; Davoue v. Fanning, 4 Johns. Ch. 199; Brown v. Ricketts, 3 Johns. Ch. 553; Wiser v. Blachly, 1 Johns. Ch. 437.

Virginia.— Sharpe v. Rockwood, 78 Va. 24.

United States.— West v. Randall, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,424, 2 Mason 181; Dandridge v. Washington, 2 Pet. 370, 7 L. ed. 454.

this the case where sufficient assets are admitted by the executor.[91] So far as the residuary legatees are concerned, the executor is their legal representative and it is his duty to see that they are properly defended.[92] Where, however, the suit involves the construction and effect of the residuary clause in the will, the residuary legatees being directly interested are necessary parties.[93] And to a bill brought by a legatee where legacy is charged on real estate, all other legatees whose legacies are charged on real estate are necessary parties.[94] So where several general legatees bring separate suits against the executors to recover the amount of their legacies and the estate is insufficient to pay them all, the court will direct an account of the estate to be taken in one cause only and in the meantime direct the proceedings in all the other suits to be stayed.[95] A stranger to whom it is alleged that the legacy has been paid for the benefit of the legatees is not a necessary party defendant in a suit against the executor for the recovery of the legacy.[96] So it has been held that an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed is not a necessary party to a bill for a legacy filed by a legatee against the personal representative of the deceased executor of the testator, the executor having received assets to pay the legacy.[97] Nor is an executor's debtor a proper party to a suit against the executor for a legacy, as the court has no jurisdiction over such debtor.[98] So ordinarily debtors to the estate should not be joined,[99] except in cases where there is collusion between the executor and the debtor or where the executor is insolvent, in which case the debtor may be made a party and a recovery be had against him.[1] Where legacies are by will made a charge on the real estate in the hands of the heir or devisee, the heir or devisee entitled to the real estate must be a party to any bill to enforce the charge.[2] In a suit by a part of the distributees and heirs at law of an intestate against his adminis-

England.— Lawson v. Barker, 1 Bro. Ch. 303, 28 Eng. Reprint 1147; Atty.-Gen. v. Ryder, 2 Ch. Cas. 178, 22 Eng. Reprint 901; Haycock v. Haycock, 2 Ch. Cas. 124, 22 Eng. Reprint 877; Brown v. Dowthwaite, 1 Madd. 446; Dunstall v. Rabett, Rep. t. Finch. 243, 23 Eng. Reprint 133; Atwood v. Hawkins, Rep. t. Finch. 113, 23 Eng. Reprint 62; Wainwright v. Waterman, 1 Ves. Jr. 311, 30 Eng. Reprint 360.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1784.

In a suit by the assignee of a legatee under a will against the administrators with the will annexed to set aside a receipt given by such legatee for his share and to establish his right to an interest in the estate, the other legatees are not necessary parties. Adams v. Cowan, 174 U. S. 800, 19 S. Ct. 873, 43 L. ed. 1188 [affirming 38 Fed. 536, 24 C. C. A. 198].

Where the interests of the executor are adverse to the residuary legatee and the rights and interests of the residuary legatee may be prejudiced, it seems that he should be made a party. Melick v. Melick, 17 N. J. Eq. 156.

91. Marsh v. Hague, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 174.

92. Pritchard v. Hicks, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 270; Wiser v. Blachly, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 437; Marsh v. Hague, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 174; Davison v. Rake, 45 N. J. Eq. 767, 18 Atl. 752; Dandridge v. Washington, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 370, 7 L. ed. 454.

93. Read v. Patterson, 44 N. J. Eq. 211, 14 Atl. 490, 6 Am. St. Rep. 877.

94. Kentucky.— Todd v. Sterrett, 6 J. J. Marsh. 425.

New York.— Hallett v. Hallett, 2 Paige 15. See also Fish v. Howland, 1 Paige 20.

North Carolina.— Parker v. Cobb, 131 N. C. 25, 42 S. E. 531.

Virginia.— Findlay v. Sheffey, 1 Rand. 73.

West Virginia.— Snider v. Brown, 3 W. Va. 143.

England.— Mose v. Sadler, 1 Cox C. C. 352, 29 Eng. Reprint 1199.

Annuity charged on land.— The personal representatives of a deceased devisee are necessary parties to a bill by the widow of the testator against his executors and devisees for an annuity devised to her and charged on the real estate. Jones v. McGinty, 3 Dana (Ky.) 425.

95. Ross v. Crary, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 416.

96. Gleason v. Thayer, 24 Barb. (N. Y.) 82.

97. Kirkwood v. Mitchell, 1 Del. Ch. 130.

98. Hunt v. Mayberry, 29 N. J. L. 403, holding that in such a case the only proper defendants are those against whom the decree of distribution was made.

99. Evans v. Evans, 23 N. J. Eq. 71; Dorsheimer v. Rorback, 23 N. J. Eq. 46; Beaty v. Downing, 96 Va. 451, 31 S. E. 612.

1. Dorsheimer v. Rorback, 23 N. J. Eq. 46.

Special cause for making debtor party necessary.— A debtor of the deceased is a proper party only when a special cause is made showing in a particular case a propriety in departing from the general rule in order to afford the complainant adequate relief. Harrison v. Righter, 11 N. J. Eq. 389.

2. Story Eq. Pl. § 205.

trator, the court has power, after determining the fund due from the administrator, to decree the separate sums due from such fund to the several distributees of the estate, although many of such distributees are not named as complainants in the bill.[3]

(II) By Residuary Legatee or Distributee. Bills to recover residuary legacies or distributive shares cannot ordinarily be maintained without making the executor or a duly appointed administrator a party defendant,[4] because the law casts title to all the personal estate of the decedent upon his personal representative.[5] So the general rule is well settled that where a suit is brought by one of several residuary legatees or next of kin for final settlement and distribution of the estate all the other residuary legatees or distributees should be made parties in order that the rights and claims of all may be conveniently established at the same time and in the same suit,[6] and non-joinder is fatal on

3. Thornton v. Tison, 95 Ala. 589, 10 So. 639.

4. Blackwell v. Blackwell, 33 Ala. 57, 70 Am. Dec. 556; Gardner v. Gantt, 19 Ala. 666; Farley v. Farley, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 506; Robertson v. Gillenwaters, 85 Va. 116, 7 S. E. 371; Hansford v. Elliott, 9 Leigh (Va.) 79; Samuel v. Marshall, 3 Leigh (Va.) 567; Cooper Eq. Pl. 34; Story Eq. Pl. § 171. And see Alexander v. Stewart, 8 Gill & J. (Md.) 226; Logan v. Fairlie, 3 L. J. Ch. O. S. 152, 2 Sim. & St. 284, 25 Rev. Rep. 208, 1 Eng. Ch. 284.

Making one who has not taken out letters of administration a party is not sufficient even though he is entitled to administration. Farley v. Farley, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 506.

A bill cannot be maintained by distributees against an executor of his own wrong, who has sold property of the deceased, to have an account and obtain a decree against the former for the proceeds of the sale, unless the rightful personal representative be a party plaintiff or defendant. Nease v. Capehart, 8 W. Va. 95.

Where the bill does not allege that the estate does not owe any debts, the administrator is a necessary party to a bill to enforce a distributee's claim to decedent's estate. Willard v. Goddard, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 397.

Limitation of rule.— Where, by misrepresentation of the residuary legatee, the legatee receives only a part of his legacy, and the executor has paid over all the remaining assets to the residuary legatee, the legatee may bring a bill against the residuary legatee and the representative of the executor for what remains due him without making the representative of the testator a party (Beasley v. Kenyon, 3 Beav. 544; Story Eq. Pl. § 214); so it has been held that where an infant dies when only eleven years old a bill to distribute her estate brought twenty years afterward may proceed without making the administrator of the infant a party (Markly v. Singletary, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 393).

5. Gardner v. Gantt, 19 Ala. 666.

6. Alabama.— High v. Worley, 32 Ala. 709; Boyett v. Kerr, 7 Ala. 2. Contra, dictum in Cherry v. Belcher, 5 Stew. & P. 133.

Arkansas.— Morris v. Virden, 57 Ark. 232, 21 S. W. 223; Neal v. Robertson, 55 Ark. 79, 17 S. W. 587.

Kentucky.— Cargile v. Harrison, 9 B. Mon. 518; Hawkins v. Craig, 1 B. Mon. 27; Kavanaugh v. Thacker, 2 Dana 137; Noland v. Turner, 5 J. J. Marsh. 179; Turley v. Young, 5 J. J. Marsh. 133; Kellar v. Bellor, 5 T. B. Mon. 573; Slaughter v. Froman, 5 T. B. Mon. 19, 17 Am. Dec. 33; Chinn v. Caldwell, 4 Bibb 543; Prewett v. Prewett, 4 Bibb 266.

New Jersey.— Deegan v. Capner, 44 N. J. Eq. 339, 15 Atl. 819; Dehart v. Dehart, 3 N. J. Eq. 471.

New York.— Davoue v. Fanning, 4 Johns. Ch. 199; Brown v. Ricketts, 3 Johns. Ch. 553.

North Carolina.— Huson v. McKenzie, 16 N. C. 463.

Texas.— Newland v. Holland, 45 Tex. 588.

Vermont.— Sillings v. Bumgardener, 9 Gratt. 273; Purcell v. Maddox, 3 Munf. 79; Sheppard v. Starke, 3 Munf. 29.

United States.— McArthur v. Scott, 113 U. S. 340, 5 S. Ct. 652, 28 L. ed. 1015; Dandridge v. Washington, 2 Pet. 320, 7 L. ed. 454; West v. Randall, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,424, 2 Mason 181. Compare Alston v. Cohen, 1 Woods 487, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 265.

England.— Parsons v. Neville, 3 Bro. Ch. 365, 29 Eng. Reprint 586; Sherrit v. Birch, 3 Bro. Ch. 229, 29 Eng. Reprint 505; Haycock v. Haycock, 2 Ch. Cas. 124, 22 Eng. Reprint 877; Morse v. Sadler, 1 Cox Ch. 352, 29 Eng. Reprint 1199; Hawkins v. Hawkins, 1 Hare 543, 6 Jur. 638, 11 L. J. Ch. 428, 23 Eng. Ch. 543; Dunstall v. Rabett, Rep. t. Finch. 243, 23 Eng. Reprint 133; Atwood v. Hawkins, Rep. t. Finch. 113, 23 Eng. Reprint 62; Cockburn v. Thompson, 16 Ves. Jr. 321, 33 Eng. Reprint 1005; Story Eq. Pl. § 89.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1784.

Contra.— In Ohio it is held that the distributees of the personal estate of an intestate cannot join in an action against the administrators for their distributive share. It was said that such claims cannot be joined without violating the rules relating to joinder of action that each distributee has a separate, distinct, and independent claim to his distributive share. Waldsmith v. Waldsmith, 2 Ohio 156.

Reason for rule.— "The general rule of this Court is, that all persons interested in the demurrer.[7] Where one of the residuary legatees or distributees dies before distribution his personal representative is a necessary party to the suit,[8] and that too, although he died insolvent and no administrator had been appointed.[9] The rule that in suits by residuary legatees or distributees all other residuary legatees or distributees should be made parties is, however, subject to some limitations. The rule may be dispensed with when it is impracticable or very inconvenient to enforce it,[10] if the court can do subtantial justice to the parties before it without injury to absent parties equally interested.[11] Thus, when they are very numerous and some of them are out of the jurisdiction of the court, the court on being satisfied that there is a sufficient number to ensure a fair trial of the question at issue may hear the cause and distribute the shares of the parties before it.[12] The decree, however, should be without prejudice to the rights of those who are not made parties and who do not come in before the decree.[13] It is not conclusive upon persons not made parties.[14] So one of several next of kin of an intestate entitled to distribution may sue for his distributive share without making the other distributees parties, if the latter are unknown and cannot be found and this fact is stated in the bill.[15] It has also been said that the necessity for the relaxation of the rule is more especially apparent in the courts of the United States, where oftentimes the enforcement of the rule would oust them of their jurisdiction and deprive parties entitled to the interposition of a court of equity of any remedy whatever,[16] and a distributee who has sold out his interest need not be made a party to the bill for distribution.[17] Creditors, legatees, or prior encumbrancers, it has been held, need not be made parties to a bill of the character under consideration,[18] and that this is so, although some of the legacies to be paid before the residuum are not to be paid subject of a suit must be parties, except where their numbers are so great as to render the application of the rule highly inconvenient or impracticable. And therefore, where the interests of a class, as of the children or next of kin of a particular person, is concerned, the whole of those who constitute the class must be parties, and the Court must be satisfied, by evidence of some kind, that they are so." Hawkins v. Hawkins, 1 Hare 543, 546, 6 Jur. 638, 11 L. J. Ch. 428, 23 Eng. Ch. 543.

7. Davoue v. Fanning, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 199.

8. Alabama.— McMullen v. Brazelton, 81 Ala. 442, 1 So. 778; Hall v. Andrews, 17 Ala. 40; Boyett v. Kerr, 7 Ala. 9.

Arkansas.— Morris v. Virden, 57 Ark. 232, 21 S. W. 223.

Kentucky.— Wilkinson v. Perry, 7 T. B. Mon. 214.

New Jersey.— Dehart v. Dehart, 3 N. J. Eq. 471.

Virginia.— Purcell v. Maddox, 3 Munf. 79; Sheppard v. Starke, 3 Munf. 29.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1784.

The personal representative of the deceased distributee should be made a party to the suit for distribution and not the heirs. Wilkinson v. Perrin, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 214.

Executor appointed in another state.— Where a residuary legatee sues the executor and other residuary legatees for a distribution of the estate, the executor of a deceased non-resident legatee may be made a defendant, although appointed as executor in another state. Stone v. Demarest, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 549, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 903.

9. Dehart v. Dehart, 3 N. J. Eq. 471.

10. Dehart v. Dehart, 3 N. J. Eq. 471; Wiser v. Blachly, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 437; Cockburn v. Thompson, 16 Ves. Jr. 321, 33 Eng. Reprint 1005.

11. Payne v. Hook, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 425, 19 L. ed. 260.

12. McArthur v. Scott, 113 U. S. 340, 5 S. Ct. 652, 28 L. ed. 1015; Bradwin v. Harpur, Ambl. 374, 27 Eng. Reprint 249; Harvey v. Harvey, 4 Beav. 215, 49 Eng. Reprint 321.

13. Hallett v. Hallett, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 15; McArthur v. Scott, 113 U. S. 340, 5 S. Ct. 652, 28 L. ed. 1015; Harvey v. Harvey, 5 Beav. 134, 49 Eng. Reprint 528.

14. Dehart v. Dehart, 3 N. J. Eq. 471; Story Eq. Pl. § 89. See also Harrison v. Harrison, 9 Ala. 470.

15. Cooper Eq. Pl. 39, 40; Story Eq. Pl. § 90.

16. Payne v. Hook, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 425, 19 L. ed. 260.

17. Fellar v. Beelor, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 573. See also King v. Berry, 3 N. J. Eq. 44, holding that a legatee who has assigned all his interest is neither a necessary nor a proper party to a bill filed by the assignee for its recovery.

18. Vanderpool v. Davenport, 3 N. J. Eq. 120 (in which it is said the reason is obvious. Their claims and priorities are admitted and therefore they are not interested in the account to be taken. There can be no residuum until they are satisfied); Mitwood Eq. Pl. 233. But see Nelson v. Page, 7 Gratt. (Va.)

immediately and may depend on such residuum to make up any deficiency.[19] If the administrator has wrongfully paid over money belonging to a distributee to a third person he may be properly joined as a defendant in a suit against the administrator for its recovery.[20] Where a specific legatee is dead at the time of the execution of the will and the next of kin sues the executor to recover the amount of the legacy as undisposed of property, the trustee of the residuary legatee is not a necessary party, although the sum sued for may have been paid to him by the executor.[21] Where a testator devised his residuary estate to his daughter subject to a legacy contingent on her death without issue and the amount of such legacy was held by the testator's executor and passed to his executors on his death, such executors are properly joined as defendants with the administrator of the daughter after her death without issue in an action to recover the legacy.[22] Where there has been collusion between the personal representative and a debtor of the estate to avoid payment of the debt the debtor may be joined as a party.[23]

(III) By Representative of Legatee or Distributee. A bill for a legacy or distributive share belonging to one deceased cannot be maintained by the next of kin but must be brought by his personal representative.[24] The reason is that the distributee has no title to such property but only to the surplus after payment of debts to be acquired through a personal representative.[25]

(IV) By Purchaser of Distributee's Interest. One who purchases a distributee's interest may maintain a bill in his own name to compel distribution where the vendor and the other distributees are before the court.[26]

(V) By Attaching Creditor of a Legatee's Interest. In a suit by one who has succeeded by operation of law by virtue of attachment proceedings to the rights of a legatee against the executor of the estate to compel payment to him of the legacy, the legatee is a necessary party and the bill will be demurrable for failure to join him as such.[27]

(VI) By Devisee and Next of Kin of Legatee. Where there has been no accounting between the executors of a testator and the executors of a legatee under his will, nor between the executors of the legatee and one claiming an interest in the legacy and original estate as next of kin and also as devisee of the legatee, the amount due such claimant cannot be determined in an action to 160, holding that in such suit specific legatees should be made parties unless it satisfactorily appears that their legacies have been satisfied, in which case it is not necessary to join them.

19. Vanderpool v. Davenport, 3 N. J. Eq. 120.

20. Watkins v. Sansom, 22 Tex. Civ. App. 178, 54 S. W. 1096.

21. Mabry v. Stafford, 88 N. C. 602, in which it was said that if it is to be considered as intestate property and goes to the next of kin, the unauthorized payment by the executor to the trustee will be no defense to him against the rightful demand of plaintiffs.

22. Auburn Theological Seminary v. Cole, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 360.

23. Haywood v. Currie, 9 Baxt. (Tenn.) 357.

24. Alabama.— Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 68; Plunkett v. Kelly, 22 Ala. 655.

Kentucky.— Kellar v. Beelor, 5 T. B. Mon. 573.

New York.— Palmer v. Green, 63 Hun 6, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 441.

North Carolina.— Haglar v. McCombs, 66 N. C. 345.

South Carolina.— Strickland v. Bridges, 21 S. C. 21.

Tennessee.— Puckett v. James, 2 Humphr. 565; Trafford v. Wilkinson, 3 Tenn. Ch. 449.

Virginia.— Hays v. Hays, 5 Munf. 418. See also Jenkins v. Freyer, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 47.

25. Trafford v. Wilkinson, 3 Tenn. Ch. 449.

26. Kavanaugh v. Thacker, 2 Dana (Ky.) 137.

Effect of reassignment.— Where a widow assigned notes and claims of her husband, to which she was entitled, to a married woman, and on the death of the latter her husband and children reconveyed the notes and claims to the widow, who then brought suit against the administrator of her deceased husband to compel a settlement of the estate, the widow was not entitled to have a distribution of the assets in the administrator's hands without bringing into court as a party the personal representative of the deceased assignee of the notes and claims. Cornell v. Hartley, 41 W. Va. 493, 23 S. E. 789.

27. Drake v. Delliker, 24 Fed. 527.

which the only parties are the claimant and the executors of the original testator.[28]

5. Suits For Marshaling Assets. In cases where a suit is instituted for marshaling assets, executor or administrator must be made a party.[29] So legatees are proper parties to a bill in equity to marshal the assets of their testator.[30]

6. Suits to Enforce Contribution For Overpayment on Distribution. Distributees of an estate who have voluntarily contributed the respective sums with which they are chargeable by reason of over advances made by the administrator in a partial distribution of the estate are not necessary parties to a bill filed by him to recover contribution from another distributee who refuses to reimburse him.[31]

7. Actions on Joint Right of Action in Favor of Decedent and Others. Where one of two or more persons having a joint right of action dies, the right of action vests in the survivor or survivors.[32] In consequence, the action must be brought in the name of the survivor or survivors alone, and it is error to join as plaintiff the personal representative of decedent.[33] Nor can the personal representative sue separately, for the entire legal interest survives. He must resort to a court of equity to obtain from the survivor the decedent's share of the amount recovered.[34]

8. Actions or Suits on Joint or Joint and Several Obligations of Decedent and Others. If the contract is joint and several, the personal representative of one may be sued at law in a separate action.[35] Where the practice remains unaffected by statute if a contract is joint or joint and several, the personal representative of the deceased obligor cannot be joined with the survivor as a defendant in an action at law on the contract.[36] The reason given as respects both classes of contracts is that the same judgment cannot be rendered against the survivor and

28. Duchesse d'Auxy v. Soutter, 35 Fed. 809.

29. Cooper Eq. Pl. 34; Story Eq. Pl. § 171.

30. Fraser v. Charleston City Council, 19 S. C. 384.

31. Alexander v. Fisher, 18 Ala. 374.

32. Jones v. Yates, 9 B. & C. 532, 4 M. & R. 613, 7 L. J. K. B. O. S. 217, 17 E. C. L. 241.

33. Alabama.— Waters v. Creagh, Minor 128.

Kentucky.— Clark v. Parish, 1 Bibb 547; Morrison v. Winn, Hard. 480.

Massachusetts.— Smith v. Franklin, 1 Mass. 480; Walker v. Maxwell, 1 Mass. 104.

New Jersey.— Freeman v. Scofield, 16 N. J. Eq. 28.

United States.— Crocker v. Beal, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,396, 1 Lowell 416.

England.— Anderson v. Martindale, 1 East 497, 6 Rev. Rep. 334; Rolls v. Yate, Yelv. 177; 1 Chitty Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 31. But see Hardwood Log Co. v. Coffin, 130 N. C. 432, 41 S. E. 931, which seems to maintain a contrary doctrine.

34. Freeman v. Scofield, 16 N. J. Eq. 28.

35. Eggleston v. Buck, 31 Ill. 254; Moore v. Rogers, 19 Ill. 347; New Haven, etc., Co. v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 361.

36. Alabama.— Murphy v. Mobile Branch Bank, 5 Ala. 421; Gayle v. Agee, 4 Port. 507. And see Rupert v. Elston, 35 Ala. 79.

California.— May v. Hanson, 6 Cal. 642; Humphreys v. Crane, 5 Cal. 173.

Florida.— Orlando v. Gooding, 34 Fla. 244, 15 So. 770.

Illinois.— Eggleston v. Buck, 31 Ill. 254; Moore v. Rogers, 19 Ill. 347.

Massachusetts.— Cochrane v. Cushing, 124 Mass. 219; New Haven, etc., Co. v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 361; Foster v. Hooper, 2 Mass. 572.

Mississippi.— Poole v. McLeod, 1 Sm. & M. 391.

New Jersey.— Sindle v. Kiersted, 3 N. J. L. 926.

New York.— Jenkins v. De Groot, 1 Cai. Cas. 122.

Ohio.— Burgoyne v. Ohio L. Ins., etc., Co., 5 Ohio St. 586.

Pennsylvania.— Githers v. Clarke, 158 Pa. St. 616, 28 Atl. 232. But see Alcorn v. Cook, 101 Pa. St. 209; Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Elliott, 15 Pa. St. 224.

South Carolina.— Ayer v. Wilson, 2 Mill 319, 12 Am. Dec. 677.

United States.— U. S. v. Bullard, 103 Fed. 256.

England.— Kemp v. Andrews, Carth. 170; Hall v. Huffan, 2 Lev. 228.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1783.

Compare White v. Johnson, 4 Dana (Ky.) 595; Quince v. Quince, 5 N. C. 169; Tipton v. Harris, Peck (Tenn.) 414.

In Texas the decisions are not harmonious. In Wiley v. Pinson, 23 Tex. 486, and Martin v. Harrison, 2 Tex. 456, it was held that one of several joint obligors cannot be joined in an action against the surviving obligor unless the claim has been presented and rejected, and the decisions were based on the ground that claims against an estate of deceased persons must be presented and rejected before an action will lie. In Henderson v. Kissam, 8 Tex. 46, it was held that a surviving partner or a joint obligor and the personal representative because one is to be charged de bonis testatoris and the other de bonis propriis.[37] As respects contracts which are joint only, and not joint and several, a still stronger reason is that the death of one joint obligor extinguishes all remedy at law against his estate and casts the legal liability under the contract on the surviving obligor.[38] It remains to be considered how far the rule has been affected by the codes of procedure and by special statutory provisions. In most of the code states there are, according to a learned commentator on code pleading, no direct provisions on the subject,[39] and in some jurisdictions it has been held that the common-law rule is not affected by the adoption of the code system of pleading.[40] In others, however, the rule is considered to have been abolished by the code, and it is held that in actions on joint or joint and several obligations the personal representative of a deceased obligor may be joined as defendants with the surviving obligors.[41] So in some jurisdictions the representatives of a deceased partner or joint obligor may as a general rule be joined as defendants in the same suit, the reason assigned being that under the system of procedure, the principles and practice of both the common law and equity jurisdictions were blended. In Bennett v. Spillars, 9 Tex. 519, it is held that where one of several defendants sued jointly on a promissory note dies pending the action, his personal representatives are properly on suggestion of his death made parties to the action.

Death of all coöbligors.—Whether the contract or obligation be joint or joint and several, their representatives cannot be joined in one action (Head v. Oliver, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 254; Grymes v. Pendleton, 4 Call (Va.) 130; Watkins v. Tate, 3 Call (Va.) 521); the action survives against the surviving obligor and his representative (Head v. Oliver, supra. See also Catlin v. Underhill, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,524, 4 McLean 337).

Objection for suing wrong party.—No advantage can be taken by the executor of one obligor of being sued alone on a joint obligation, without pleading in abatement, unless it appear on the record that the other obligor is alive or survived the testator. Geddis v. Hawk, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 33.

37. California.—May v. Hanson, 6 Cal. 642; Humphreys v. Crane, 5 Cal. 173.

Florida.—Orlando v. Gooding, 34 Fla. 244, 15 So. 770.

Illinois.—Eggleston v. Buck, 31 Ill. 254.

Massachusetts.—New Haven, etc., Co. v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 361.

Ohio.—Burgoyne v. Ohio L. Ins., etc., Co., 5 Ohio St. 586.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1783.

38. Moore v. Rogers, 19 Ill. 347; New Haven, etc., Co. v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 361, Barnes v. Seligman, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 339, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 834; Jenkins v. De Groot, 1 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 122; Burgoyne v. Ohio L. Ins., etc., Co., 5 Ohio St. 586. And see CONTRACTS, 9 Cyc. 653.

39. Bliss Code Pldg. (3d ed.) § 106.

40. Miller v. Blake, 6 Colo. 118; Mattison v. Childs, 5 Colo. 78; Barlow v. Scott, 12 Iowa 63; Marsh v. Goodrell, 11 Iowa 474; Childs v. Hyde, 10 Iowa 294, 77 Am. Dec. 113; Wapello County v. Bigham, 10 Iowa 39, 74 Am. Dec. 370; Barnes v. Seligman, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 339, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 834 [affirmed in 130 N. Y. 372, 29 N. E. 760]; Morehouse v. Ballou, 16 Barb. (N. Y.) 289; Hulbert v. Ferguson, 40 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 474. See also Pope v. Cole, 55 N. Y. 124, 14 Am. Rep. 198. Contra, Churchill v. Trapp, 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 306. In a number of New York decisions it was also held that the personal representatives of a deceased partner cannot be joined with the surviving partner in an action at law to collect a debt against the partnership. Pope v. Cole, 55 N. Y. 124, 14 Am. Rep. 198; Richter v. Poppenhausen, 42 N. Y. 373; Voorhis v. Childs, 17 N. Y. 354. In Barnes v. Seligman, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 339, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 834 [affirmed in 130 N. Y. 372, 29 N. E. 760], it was expressly stated that the rule as to joinder was not limited to cases of partnership contract.

Where one of the makers of a joint and several note dies pending suit thereon, his administrator cannot be substituted and joined with the surviving maker as a defendant. Marsh v. Goodrell, 11 Iowa 474; Pecker v. Cannon, 11 Iowa 20.

How objection taken advantage of.—Under the Colorado code, the objection that a surviving obligor and the administrator of the deceased joint obligor are improperly joined should be taken by demurrer. Where the objection is raised by motion and arrest of judgment plaintiff should be allowed to dismiss as to survivor. Miller v. Blake, 6 Colo. 118. To the same effect see Mattison v. Childs, 5 Colo. 78.

41. California.—Lawrence v. Doolan, 68 Cal. 309, 5 Pac. 484, 9 Pac. 159; Bostwick v. McEvoy, 62 Cal. 496, based on provisions authorizing the rendition of separate judgments.

Indiana.—Corbaley v. State, 81 Ind. 62; Milam v. Milam, 60 Ind. 58; Hays v. Crutcher, 54 Ind. 260; Owen v. State, 25 Ind. 107; Braxton v. State, 25 Ind. 82, 85, based on provisions abolishing the distinction between actions at law and suits in equity and providing that "any person may be made a defendant who has, or claims, an interest in the controversy adverse to the plaintiff, or who is a necessary party to a complete determination or settlement of the question common-law rule has been abrogated by express statutory provisions or rules of court and the joinder of a surviving obligor and personal representatives of the deceased obligor authorized.[42]

9. Actions For Tort Committed by Decedent and Others. In an action for trespass committed by several where one of the defendants die, pending suit, his personal representatives cannot be brought by scire facias on the record, as the same judgment cannot be rendered and the same execution asserted against the surviving defendants and the personal representative of the dead one.[43]

10. Actions Based on Wrongful Acts of Personal Representative. Where an executor has been guilty of fraudulent conduct in dealing with the assets of the estate, his co-executors may bring suit against him for an accounting without joining creditors next of kin or legatees.[44] Creditors, legatees, and distributees may maintain an action against the personal representative of an administrator or executor for waste or conversion of the assets of the estate,[45] and it is not necessary to join the administrator de bonis non of the testator or intestate,[46] who, at common law, cannot sue the representative of a former executor or administrator either at common law or in equity for assets wasted and converted by the first executor or administrator,[47] and when a suit is instituted or a bill filed to recover property sold illegally by the administrator out of the hands of those who had purchased or possess the same, the sureties on his bond are neither proper nor necessary parties.[48] Where the wrongful acts complained of consist involved." A recent statute of this state has abrogated the rule adopted under the code and provides that no action can be brought against a personal representative on any contract executed jointly or jointly and severally by decedent and another person, but that the holder of such contract can enforce it against the estate only by filing his claim thereon, and where an executor and two other persons are sued on a contract made by decedent and the other decedents, the executor has a right to a dismissal of the action as to himself but not as to all defendants. State v. Cunningham, 101 Ind. 461.

Nevada.— Maples v. Geller, 1 Nev. 233.

Ohio.— Burgoyne v. Ohio L. Ins., etc., Co., 5 Ohio St. 586; Batavia Bank v. Sewell, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 210, 6 Cinc. L. Bul. 288, based on provisions making the estate of the deceased joint debtor liable to every legal remedy as fully as if the contract had been joint and several, providing that persons severally liable on the same obligation may all be included in the same action, and authorizing a several judgment to be given against any of the defendants as the nature of the case may require.

South Carolina.— Wiesenfeld v. Byrd, 17 S. C. 106; Trimmier v. Thomson, 10 S. C. 164, based on provisions providing for the prosecution of actions at law and suits in equity with the same forms and authorizing entry of separate judgments against the different defendants.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1783.

Heirs not proper parties.— In an action on a guaranty of payment of a note executed by a husband and his wife, the wife and the administrator of the deceased husband but not the husband's heirs are proper parties defendant. Batavia Bank v. Sewell, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 210, 6 Cinc. L. Bul. 288.

42. Davis v. Wilkinson, 2 N. C. 334; Brown v. Clary, 2 N. C. 107. See also Bliss Code Pl. (3d ed.) § 106.

Under the statutes of Pennsylvania (Act of March 22, 1861, Pamphl. Laws 186) if a joint debtor dies pending suit in which both were served, the administrator may on plaintiff's motion be substituted and the suit may proceed to trial and judgment against the administrators and surviving defendant jointly. Githers v. Clarke, 158 Pa. St. 616, 28 Atl. 232; Ash v. Guie, 97 Pa. St. 493, 39 Am. Rep. 818; Dingman v. Amsink, 77 Pa. St. 114. Plaintiff cannot, however, be compelled to do this nor can decedent's representatives be substituted without plaintiff's consent. Ash v. Guie, supra. And see Githers v. Clarke, supra.

43. Mechanics', etc., Ins. Co. v. Spang, 5 Pa. St. 113.

44. Wood v. Brown, 34 N. Y. 337. To the same effect see Price v. Brown, 60 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 511.

45. Thomas v. Hardwick, 1 Ga. 78; Sibley v. Williams, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 52; Smith v. Carrere, 1 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 123; Coleman v. McMurdo, 5 Rand. (Va.) 51.

46. Smith v. Carrere, 1 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 123.

47. Thomas v. Hardwick, 1 Ga. 78; Coleman v. McMurdo, 5 Rand. (Va.) 51. Compare Gibbs v. Hodge, 65 Ala. 366, holding that where creditors of a deceased debtor not having reduced their claims to judgment as against the estate seek by a bill in equity to reach property alleged to have been fraudulently conveyed by the executor, who was also the sole devisee, and who has been removed from office, a personal representative of the estate must be made a party.

48. Nutting v. Boardman, 43 Ga. 598.

in the sale of personal property belonging to the testator's estate all purchasers and the personal representative sought to be made liable should be united in the same suit.[49] If heirs bring a suit against the administrator charging a fraudulent conversion of the assets of the estate all the heirs are necessary parties.[50] Where, in an action by a judgment creditor of an administrator in the nature of a creditor's bill, plaintiff seeks to subject to the payment of his judgment land the legal title to which was in a third person at the time of intestate's death and which the administrator fraudulently caused to be conveyed to defendant such third person and the administrator are necessary parties.[51]

11. Suits For General Administration of Estate. Where suit is brought for a general administration of an estate a properly constituted personal representative of the estate is always a necessary party;[52] consequently if a personal representative is out of the jurisdiction the suit cannot proceed,[53] and the court will not decree a general account and administration in a suit in which the deceased is represented by an administrator ad litem merely.[54] So where a bill is brought for an administration of the estate and the executor dies the suit cannot be revived against his personal representative, but there must be a representative of the testator before the court.[55]

12. Joinder of Co-Executors or Co-Administrators — a. In Actions at Law by Executors — (i) The Common-Law Rule, Its Limitations, and Statutory Changes Thereof. The common-law doctrine is well settled that in actions at law executors named in the will who are living must join in the action, although some have refused or omitted to prove the will or to administer the estate. This question has been frequently before the courts which have been practically uniform in maintaining the necessity of such joinder.[56] This rule has been held to apply even though one or more of the executors are infants.[57] If the renouncing executor will not join in the suit, the practice is to issue the writ in his name and then to summon or rule him to proceed, and if he will not, the court will give

49. Jones v. Clark, 25 Gratt. (Va.) 642.

50. Bland v. Fleeman, 29 Fed. 669.

51. Huneke v. Dold, 7 N. M. 5, 32 Pac. 45.

52. Rowsell v. Morris, L. R. 17 Eq. 20, 43 L. J. Ch. 97, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 446, 22 Wkly. Rep. 67; Cary v. Hills, L. R. 15 Eq. 79, 42 L. J. Ch. 100, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 6, 21 Wkly. Rep. 166; Donald v. Bather, 16 Beav. 26, 51 Eng. Reprint 685; Penny v. Watts, 16 L. J. Ch. 146, 2 Phil. 149, 22 Eng. Ch. 149, 41 Eng. Reprint 898; 1 Daniel Ch. Pr. 196. And see Hansford v. Elliott, 9 Leigh (Va.) 79.

53. Donald v. Bather, 16 Beav. 26, 51 Eng. Reprint 685.

54. Croft v. Waterton, 13 Sim. 653, 36 Eng. Ch. 653. And see Dowdeswell v. Dowdeswell, 9 Ch. D. 294, 48 L. J. Ch. 23, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 828, 27 Wkly. Rep. 241.

55. Barber v. Walker, 15 Wkly. Rep. 728.

56. Alabama.— Martin v. Nall, 22 Ala. 610; Williams v. Sims, 8 Port. 579. But see Cleveland v. Chandler, 3 Stew. 489.

Kansas.— Insley v. Shire, 54 Kan. 793, 39 Pac. 713, 45 Am. St. Rep. 308.

Kentucky.—Mitchell v. Rice, 6 J. J. Marsh. 623.

New Jersey.— Hill v. Smalley, 25 N. J. L. 374; Hunt v. Kearney, 3 N. J. L. 721.

New York.— Bodle v. Hulse, 5 Wend. 313.

England.— Webster v. Spencer, 3 B. & Ald. 360, 22 Rev. Rep. 427, 5 E. C. L. 211; Hensloe's Case, 9 Coke 36*a*; Swallow v. Emberson, 1 Lev. 161; Walters v. Pfeil, M. & M. 362, 22 E. C. L. 544; Scott v. Briant, 6 N. & M. 381, 1 Saund. 291, 36 E. C. L. 644; Brockes v. Stroud, 1 Salk. 3; Kilby v. Stanton, 2 Y. & J. 75.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1767 et seq.

Reason for rule.— The reasons assigned for the rule at law are that the executors constitute but one person; that each executor derives his interest from the will itself; that the probate is merely operative as the authenticated evidence, and not as the foundation of the executor's title; and that the renunciation is a renunciation of probate merely and not a renunciation or waiver of title. Mitchell v. Rice, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 623; Hill v. Smalley, 25 N. J. L. 374; Rinehart v. Rinehart, 15 N. J. Eq. 44; Webster v. Spencer, 3 B. & Ald. 360, 22 Rev. Rep. 427, 5 E. C. L. 211.

Waiver of objection.— It has been held that where the action is brought by one executor alone and the others are made defendants and no question is raised on account of the misjoinder before judgment is rendered the failure to name them as plaintiffs is not a fatal objection. Insley v. Shire, 54 Kan. 793, 39 Pac. 713, 45 Am. St. Rep. 308.

57. Foxwist v. Tremaine, 1 Lev. 299, 2 Saund. 212, 1 Sid. 449, T. Raym. 198; Smith v. Smith, Yelv. 130. But see Colborne v.

judgment of severance.[58] The rule does not apply to actions which an executor can maintain in his individual capacity. It has accordingly been held that an executor may, without joining with him his co-representatives, maintain an action to recover a loan,[59] or to recover money had and received to his use,[60] or on a sealed note given to himself,[61] and it has been held that no more should be joined than those who made the contract sought to be enforced.[62] So it has been held that where a will appointing several executors makes provision for one acting alone and only one proves the will, he alone can maintain an action in behalf of the estate.[63] So the rule has been changed by statute in a number of jurisdictions.[64]

(II) OBJECTIONS FOR NON-JOINDER, HOW AVAILED OF. Where all the defendants are not joined, the defect may be availed of by plea in abatement setting up that there are other executors living not named,[65] and it has been held that the defect can only be taken advantage of in this manner, unless the practice is changed by statute.[66] On a plea in abatement for non-joinder of a co-executor as plaintiff, it is sufficient to allege that the person who was not joined was constituted executor and is still living, and it is unnecessary to allege that he has

Wright, 2 Lev. 239, holding that where one executor is under age the other may bring an action alone.

58. Hill v. Smalley, 25 N. J. L. 374; Bodle v. Hulse, 5 Wend. (N. Y.) 313; Tooker v. Oakley, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 288.

59. Brassington v. Ault, 2 Bing. 177, 9 E. C. L. 534, 1 C. & P. 302, 12 E. C. L. 181, 3 L. J. C. P. O. S. 243, 9 Moore C. P. 340, 27 Rev. Rep. 581.

60. Heath v. Chilton, 12 M. & W. 632.

61. Foote v. Noland, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,915, 5 Cranch C. C. 399.

62. Brassington v. Ault, 2 Bing. 177, 9 E. C. L. 534, 1 C. & P. 302, 12 E. C. L. 181, 3 L. J. C. P. O. S. 243, 9 Moore C. P. 340, 27 Rev. Rep. 581; Heath v. Chilton, 12 M. & W. 632.

63. Providence Rubber Co. v. Goodyear, 9 Wall. (U. S.) 788, 19 L. ed. 566.

64. In Alabama it has been said that at common law all who are appointed as a rule were considered as executors for the purpose of prosecuting suit, while under the influence of the statutes of this state, those alone are esteemed as such who are qualified according to the requirements (Williams v. Sims, 8 Port. 579); and it was accordingly held error to join as plaintiff, an executor who had not qualified (Cleveland v. Chandler, 3 Stew. 489). But compare Martin v. Nall, 22 Ala. 610, which seems to support the common-law doctrine.

In Kentucky under statutes requiring executors to give bond and take an oath for insuring faithful administration only an executor who has qualified can sue. Mitchell v. Rice, 6 J. J. Marsh. 623.

In North Carolina it has been held that only the executors who are qualified by taking the necessary oaths are required to join in an action for a debt or demand due to their testator. Alston v. Alston, 25 N. C. 447; Burrow v. Sellers, 2 N. C. 501. In the first mentioned case it was said that the practice may have originated in consequence of a statute providing "that no person do presume to enter upon the administration of any deceased person's estate, until they have obtained a commission of administration or letters testamentary," etc.

In New York a statute was enacted which specially provides that in actions by executors, it is not necessary to join those as parties to whom letters testamentary shall not have been issued and who are not qualified. Moore v. Willett, 2 Hilt. 522. It is held, however, that notwithstanding this statute an executor who has proved the will to whom letters have been issued generally with another is a necessary party to a suit brought by the latter. Scrantom v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 33 Barb. 527 [affirmed in 24 N. Y. 424]. So under a statute relating to a special proceeding to discover property of a decedent withheld from his representative and providing that "an executor or administrator" may present to a surrogate's court a petition praying an inquiry, one of two co-representatives may proceed alone without alleging a demand upon and refusal of the other to unite with him or otherwise explaining the non-joinder. Tracey v. Slingerland, 3 Dem. Surr. 1.

65. Foxwist v. Tremaine, 1 Lev. 299, 2 Saund. 212, 1 Sid. 449, T. Raym. 198; Walters v. Pfeil, M. & M. 362, 22 E. C. L. 544; Smith v. Smith, Yelv. 130.

66. Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 27 Ga. 113; Packer v. Willson, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 343; Gordan v. Goodwin, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 70, 10 Am. Dec. 573; 1 Chitty Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 22; 1 Saunders 291 note.

A motion for nonsuit or non-joinder of an executor as plaintiff does not lie. Gordon v. Goodwin, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 70, 10 Am. Dec. 573.

Since the code the objection that another person should have joined in the suit as being co-executor with plaintiff, if it does not appear on the face of the complaint so that the question can be raised by demurrer, can only be raised by answer; and if not so raised it will be deemed waived. Scrantom v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 527 [affirmed in 24 N. Y. 424].

administered upon the estate,[67] because all the executors named in the will must join in the action, although some have omitted or refused to prove the will or to administer the estate.[68] Where, however, this rule has been changed by statute, so that executors who have not qualified cannot sue, it is of course necessary to allege that the executor not joined has qualified.[69]

b. In Actions at Law by Administrators. Where there are several administrators their power is joint only and the general rule is that they must sue jointly.[70] Nevertheless an administrator may without joining his co-administrators maintain an action for the price of property belonging to the estate sold by him,[71] and where an administrator makes an unauthorized loan an action to recover it back should be brought in his name alone.[72] So on a note payable to intestate, or bearer, an administrator need not sue in his representative character nor join his co-administrator as plaintiff;[73] and where subsequent to a decree in favor of several administrators some of them are removed action may be brought on the decree in the name of the remaining administrator.[74] It has also been held that an administrator suing to recover damages for breach of covenant, broken after intestate's death, cannot unite with him one who was a joint administrator with him in another state, since the authority of a foreign administrator to sue is not recognized.[75]

c. In Actions at Law Against Executors or Administrators. At common law all named as executors in the will may be joined as parties defendant, although they have not proved the will,[76] but it is necessary to join as defendants only those who have administered.[77] The reason is said to be that a stranger is bound to take notice of those only as executors who have acted as such.[78] Where a co-executor has administered he should be joined as defendant, although he refused to prove the will.[79] It has been held, however, without any special statutory authorization therefor that non-residence of a co-executor is sufficient to relieve plaintiff from the necessity of joining him in an action against his co-executor,[80] and that if one of two executors has in his hands the balance remaining for distribution an action may be maintained against him without joining his co-execu-

67. Cole v. Smalley, 25 N. J. L. 374. And see Webster v. Spencer, 3 B. & Ald. 360, 22 Rev. Rep. 427, 5 E. C. L. 211; Hensloe's Case, 9 Coke 36*a*; Brookes v. Stroud, 1 Salk. 3.

68. Cole v. Smalley, 25 N. J. L. 374. And see supra, XIV, G, 12, a, (I).

69. Gilman v. Gilman, 54 Me. 453; Burrow v. Sellers, 2 N. C. 501.

70. Smith v. Smith, 11 N. H. 459; Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396.

Where one administrator refuses to prosecute suit.— The practice at law is to bring the suit in the first place in the name of all the administrators, and if either of them is unwilling to have the suit prosecuted in his name afterward, the one who has instituted the suit may then upon a summons have a judgment of severance and continue the suit in his own name only. Tooker v. Oakley, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 288. But under a code provision providing that if the consent of one who should be joined as plaintiff cannot be obtained, he may be made a defendant, on the reason therefor being stated in the petition, if one of two administrators refuses to join in an action on a cause of action belonging to the estate the other may bring the action in joining as defendant stating in the petition the reason therefor. Rizer v. Gillpatrick, 16 Kan. 564.

71. Aiken v. Bridgman, 37 Vt. 249.

72. Thornton v. Smiley, 1 Ill. 34.

73. Packer v. Willson, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 343.

74. Green v. Foley, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 441.

75. Lee v. Gause, 24 N. C. 440.

76. Williams v. Sims, 8 Port. (Ala.) 579.

77. Mitchell v. Rice, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 623; Hill v. Smalley, 25 N. J. L. 374; Swallow v. Emberson, 1 Lev. 161; Alexander v. Mawman, Wills 40. And see Rawlinson v. Shaw, 3 T. R. 557, 1 Rev. Rep. 768.

78. Mitchell v. Rice, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 623. And see Hill v. Smalley, 25 N. J. L. 374, in which it was said that the executor who has in fact administered, that is to say received the assets, should be responsible to the creditor, whether he has proved the will or not without regard to others who have not interfered with the estate, although entitled by the will to do so.

79. Hensloe's Case, 9 Coke 36*a*.

Where all the executors contract for the services of an accountant in settling the estate, an action against one executor will not lie, another being living. Douglas v. Leonard, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 274.

80. Williams v. Sims, 8 Port. (Ala.) 579. And see Wheeler v. Bolton, 54 Cal. 302, holding that where only one of two executors has acted and the decree of distribution re-tor.[81] An action at law will not lie against one of two or more administrators. All must be joined as defendants,[82] and it has been held that the objection for non-joinder may be taken advantage of by a motion for nonsuit.[83]

d. In Suits in Equity by Executors or Administrators. The rule in equity is that all the executors who prove the will must be joined as complainants and that those who have not proved the will need not be joined.[84] If, however, an executor or administrator who should join as a co-plaintiff refuses to join in the suit, he should be joined as a defendant and the suit cannot be carried on in his name as plaintiff without his consent.[85] So if one executor renounces, the others may file a bill in their name and may make him a party defendant if necessary to bring him before the court, stating in the bill the fact of his refusal to join as complainant.[86] Where a suit is brought by one of two co-executors against the other for a debt due from the latter to the estate, the latter should not be made a complainant, but should be made a defendant in the character in which he owes the debt.[87]

e. In Suits in Equity Against Executors and Administrators. Where there are several executors or administrators, it is not ordinarily permissible to sue any number less than all,[88] unless perhaps, where from special reasons shown, the character of the relief sought makes it unnecessary to join them.[89]

13. Joinder of Representatives of Different Estates. Where a person is administrator of the estates of husband and wife and it is doubtful whether the right to a fund is in the estate of husband or wife, he may sue for it in equity in fers to him alone, the other absent from the state is not a necessary party to an action against the former by a distributee to recover his share in the estate.

Removal of executor from state.— Under a statute providing that in case one of the executors has removed the one remaining in the jurisdiction may be sued, removal means a change of residence and not temporary absence on a journey. Bledsoe v. Hudleston, 5 Yerg. (Tenn.) 295.

81. Negley v. Gard, 20 Ohio 310.

82. Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396; Ryerson v. Ryerson, 4 N. J. L. 363.

If one only be summoned and the other return non est inventus, he that is summoned may and must plead for both, but the plea must be joint and the judgment for or against them in their joint capacity. Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396.

83. Ryerson v. Ryerson, 4 N. J. L. 363.

84. Rinehart v. Rinehart, 15 N. J. Eq. 44 [citing 1 Daniel Ch. Pr. 273; 2 Williams Ex. 1626]; Marsh v. Oliver, 14 N. J. Eq. 259; In re Coursen, 4 N. J. Eq. 408; Thompson v. Graham, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 384; Davies v. Williams, 13 East 232, 1 Smith K. B. 5; Cramer v. Morton, 2 Molloy 108. See also Kilby v. Stanton, 2 Y. & J. 75.

One of two executors may apply for money in the hands of the court to pay undisputed claims when any reason appears for not joining the other executor. Hattersley v. Bissett, 52 N. J. Eq. 693, 30 Atl. 86.

When nothing is involved but the appropriation of money a single executor may ask aid of the court for that purpose, especially where the other executor is personally interested in the fund and is brought into court so that he can answer and protect the fund in which he is interested in its entirety. Personette v. Johnson, 40 N. J. Eq. 173.

85. Mulford v. Allen, 2 N. J. Eq. 288; Tooker v. Oakley, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 288; Blount v. Burrow, 3 Bro. Ch. 90, 29 Eng. Reprint 424. And see Finch v. Winchelsea, 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 2, 21 Eng. Reprint 828.

86. Thompson v. Graham, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 384.

Where land devised to be sold has been sold by one of several executors, all the executors ought to be parties in a suit to foreclose the mortgage existing on such lands. Mayo v. Tomkies, 6 Munf. (Va.) 520.

87. Ransom v. Geer, 30 N. J. Eq. 249.

88. Clements v. Kellogg, 1 Ala. 330. And see Spencer v. Ragan, 9 Gill (Md.) 480; In re Coursen, 4 N. J. Eq. 408, in which it was said that where executors have all taken out letters they must be sued jointly in the same manner as if they had all proved the will at the same time and before the same officer.

After bill filed against one executor, if the other executor qualify, he ought to be made a party to the suit as soon as it is known that he has so qualified. Eustace v. Gaskins, 1 Wash. (Va.) 188.

89. Clements v. Kellogg, 1 Ala. 330.

Illustration.— Where a bill seeks discovery and relief against the acts of one only of the executors of an estate, the other need not be made a party in the first instance but may be made a party during the progress of the suit if it prove necessary. Footman v. Pray, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 291.

Suit against personal representatives of one executor where two executors of a will are dead and the third and only surviving one resides out of the jurisdiction, and the estate has gone into the hands of the personal representatives of one of the deceased exec-both characters.[90] However, a count for money had and received or for money paid to the use of one person as administrator of a certain decedent and to another person as administrator of another decedent is bad, and judgment cannot be rendered thereon against defendants either jointly or severally.[91]

14. Personal Representative as Plaintiff and Defendant in the Same Action. The courts do not permit a party to be both plaintiff and defendant in the same action and therefore it is not competent for a personal representative acting in his representative capacity to sue himself in his individual capacity.[92] The rule is not altered by the fact that his co-representative is joined with him as co-plaintiff, but the pleading may be amended by striking out his name as co-complainant.[93] On the other hand a personal representative cannot maintain a suit in his individual capacity against himself in his representative capacity.[94]

15. Intervention. In a suit by a creditor against a personal representative to recover a claim against the estate, other creditors have no right to intervene and become co-defendants.[95] The personal representative may insist on being made a party to a bill against the heir for the discovery of assets and their application to the payment of debts,[96] and one who is an acknowledged representative of a party deceased should be allowed on application to intervene in a special proceeding in the surrogate court to which the decedent was a party.[97] So where one of several makers of a note dies, his representative may appear as a party defendant to contest the validity of the note.[98] Where a personal representative asking permission to intervene alleges his representative capacity and the same is not denied nor any proof given that he had not been appointed, it is not proper to admit him as a party without first compelling him to prove his legal appointment.[99] Where a mortgage and the debt secured thereby pass from the intestate as a gift causa mortis, the administrator can only interpose in the suit on the mortgage at the request of the donees and for their benefit;[1] and where one heir sues the others on an alleged contract with the ancestor whereby after administration plaintiff would be entitled to a distribution of all the property remaining in the hands of the administrator, the latter has no interest in the controversy and violates no obligation of his trust by not intervening.[2] Where a suit is brought for partition utors (the testator having left no debts) persons entitled to legacies under the will may maintain a bill in equity for such legacies against the personal representatives of the deceased executor. Rushin v. Young, 27 Ga. 325. Compare Baughman v. Kunkle, 8 Watts (Pa.) 483.

Waiver of objection for non-joinder.— Where one of two executors also made trustees in their individual capacity fails to qualify, the failure to join him as defendant in a suit to foreclose a mortgage given by testator does not invalidate a sale in such proceedings where neither the heirs, legatees, cestuis que trustent, nor the widow as individually vested with the remainder or as sole executrix, and trustee, made any objection to the foreclosure proceedings to which they were necessary parties. Steinhardt v. Cunningham, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 375, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 627.

90. Brent v. Washington, 18 Gratt. (Va.) 526.

91. Sibbit v. Lloyd, 11 N. J. L. 163.

92. Thomas v. Thomas, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 8; Harris v. Pickett, 37 La. Ann. 741; McKnight v. Calhoun, 36 La. Ann. 408; Johnson v. Dubel, (N. J. Ch. 1886) 3 Atl. 705.

93. Johnson v. Dubel, (N. J. Ch. 1886) 3 Atl. 705.

94. Byrne v. Byrne, 94 Cal. 576, 29 Pac. 1115, 30 Pac. 196; Harris v. Pickett, 37 La. Ann. 741; Farmer's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 1037; Black v. Shreeve, 7 N. J. Eq. 440; Perkins v. Se Ipsam, 11 R. I. 270.

Under special statutes.— Notwithstanding a statute providing that a personal representative if a creditor of decedent may bring action on a claim against the estate when it has been rejected, a personal representative cannot in his individual capacity bring suit against himself in his representative capacity on a claim paid by him personally after decedent's death. The statute only includes claims existing at the time of decedent's death. Phillips v. Phillips, 18 Mont. 305, 45 Pac. 221.

95. Hassinger v. Hassinger, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 485.

96. Cosby v. Wickliffe, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120.

97. Merritt v. Jackson, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 214. See also Van Alen v. Hewins, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 44; Lafferty v. Lafferty, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 326.

98. Womack v. Shelton, 31 Tex. 592.

99. Hamilton v. Lamphear, 54 Conn. 237, 7 Atl. 19.

1. Borneman v. Sidlinger, 18 Me. 225.

2. In re Healy, 137 Cal. 474, 70 Pac. 455.

between heirs of decedent the administrator cannot intervene asking for a sale of the land to make assets nor interfere in the proceeding in any manner.[3]

16. Question of Parties as Affected by Death of Personal Representative — a. In Actions by Personal Representative. At common law, all personal actions abated by the death of either party before judgment;[4] but by virtue of statutory provisions the rule is almost universal that where suit is brought by a personal representative, and he dies pending suit it does not abate on his death,[5] and this is true whether the forum be legal[6] or equitable.[7] Where the personal representative sues in his individual capacity the suit on his death must be continued in the name of his personal representative and not in the name of his successor.[8] Where the cause of action is such that the representative can only sue on it in his representative capacity, it must be continued on his death by his successor in office.[9] Where the personal representative sues in his representative capacity on a cause of action which he could sue on either individually or as representative and the amount recovered would be assets of the estate, it has been held that on his death suit should be continued by his successor.[10]

3. Clayton v. Bough, 93 Ind. 85.

4. Portevant v. Pendleton, 23 Miss. 25.

5. Alabama.— Reynolds v. Crook, 95 Ala. 570, 11 So. 412; Ex p. Jones, 54 Ala. 108.

Arkansas.— State v. Murray, 8 Ark. 199.

New Jersey.— Crane v. Alling, 14 N. J. L. 593.

New York.— Wood v. Flynn, 30 Hun 444; Bain v. Pine, 1 Hill 615.

Tennessee.— Brasfield v. Cardwell, 7 Lea 252.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1789.

A claim filed by an administratrix under order of court against the estate of another decedent and pending in that court for allowance or rejection is a suit or action within the rule. Reynolds v. Crook, 95 Ala. 570, 11 So. 412.

6. See cases cited supra, note 5.

7. Fletcher v. Sanders, 7 Dana (Ky.) 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96; Owen v. Curzon, 2 Vern. Ch. 237, 23 Eng. Reprint 753; Mitford Pl. 64.

8. Tate v. Shackelford, 24 Ala. 510, 60 Am. Dec. 488; Arrington v. Hair, 19 Ala. 243; Horskins v. Williamson, T. U. P. Charlt. (Ga.) 145, 4 Am. Dec. 703.

Where an administrator sues in his individual capacity and recovers judgment and after issuance of execution thereon an affidavit of illegality is filed and he dies, an administrator de bonis non cannot be made a party to the proceeding. Saffold v. Bank, 69 Ga. 289.

Limitations of rule.— It has been held that where an administrator obtains a judgment and after the estate has been fully settled and the debts paid he dies pending scire facias sued out by him on the judgment, the proceedings may be revived in the name of the distributee, who are the real parties in interest; that this is not prejudicial to the rights of defendant. Crane v. Crane, 51 Ark. 287, 11 S. W. 1.

9. Brasfield v. Cardwell, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 252. And see Morrow v. Taggart, 45 Ala. 293.

Where an administrator continues an action commenced by decedent and dies, the administrator de bonis non is the only proper party to continue the action. Stephenson v. Peebles, 77 N. C. 364.

Death of administratrix after judgment.— Where an administratrix recovers judgment for a debt due by reason of a loss of money to decedent's estate by the negligence of the agent of the administratrix, and dies, the administrator de bonis non is properly substituted as plaintiff under a statute giving an administratrix de bonis non the right to sue out writs of execution or scire facias on judgments obtained by or in the name of the executors or administrators into whose place they may have come. Lea v. Hopkins, 7 Pa. St. 385.

Creditors cannot continue a suit originally brought by the administrator against the heirs to have land sold to make assets. On the death of the administrator, suit can only be continued by the administrator de bonis non. Brittain v. Dickson, 111 N. C. 529, 16 S. E. 326.

Where an administrator de bonis non declines to prosecute an action in which the administrator was plaintiff, one who makes affidavit that the suit was originally brought for his use is not entitled to be made plaintiff, but on giving indemnity to secure costs he is entitled to have the administrator de bonis non made plaintiff, and the action prosecuted in his name. Stephenson v. Peebles, 77 N. C. 364.

Prerequisites to continuance of suit.— Under a statute requiring a public administrator to give bond and take out letters of administration in each particular case before he is invested with any control over the estate, a public administrator has no authority to prosecute a suit commenced by an administrator who has died until he has given bond and taken out letters of administration in the case of that particular estate. Thomas v. Adams, 10 Ill. 319.

10. Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425. But see Wood v. Tomlin, 92 Tenn. 514, 22 S. W. 206, holding that where an adminis-

b. In Actions Against Personal Representative. In actions against personal representatives suit cannot be revived on death of the representative unless there is statutory authority therefor;[11] but by virtue of statutory provisions suit does not ordinarily abate on the death of the personal representative pending suit.[12] A suit may be[13] and ordinarily should be continued,[14] against the administrator de bonis non and not against the administrator of the personal representative.[15] If, however, the object of the suit is to fasten a liability on a personal representative for a devastavit, the suit should be revived against his administrator;[16] and it has been held that where an administrator who dies pending an action against him by a creditor for a settlement of the estate had in his hands the money to pay plaintiff's claim, it was proper to render judgment against his administrator therefor.[17] So in a proceeding against an administrator to hold him accountable for maladministration his administrators and not the administrator de bonis non of his intestate is the proper party against whom to revive a suit.[18] A statute which authorizes the making of the successor of an executor a party by scire facias to a suit against him prevents abatement of such suit even when pending in a different county from that where an administration de bonis non is granted.[19] An action commenced by a widow against the administrator of her husband for the year's support and the exempt property cannot be revived against the representatives of the administrator, but only against the administrator de bonis non of the husband.[20] Where a suit was pending by the next of kin against an administrator for the distribution of his estate and defendant dies, the action could not be continued by the next of kin, as no one but an administrator de bonis non could call the representative of the deceased administrator to account for the assets.[21]

c. On Death of One of Several Personal Representatives. The widow of an intestate cannot come into court on an open unliquidated claim against the representative of one administrator while there is another living, nor can she do so even upon a joint judgment or decree previously obtained against both.[22] Where suit is brought by or against two or more personal representatives and one of them dies, the whole action or grounds of relief survive in favor of or against the survivor or survivors.[23] In consequence on the death of one of several personal trator sues in his representative capacity, upon a note taken, payable to himself as administrator for a debt due his intestate's estate, the suit may be revived upon his death during its pendency, either in the name of his own administrator or in the name of an administrator de bonis non of the first decedent.

11. Portevant v. Pendleton, 23 Miss. 25.

12. See Portevant v. Pendleton, 23 Miss. 25; Parks v. Lubbock, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 50 S. W. 466. And see cases cited in following notes.

13. Georgia.— Roe v. Doe, 30 Ga. 775.

Maryland.— Mitchell v. Williamson, 9 Gill 71.

Virginia.— Dabney v. Smith, 5 Leigh 13.

West Virginia.— Jones v. Reid, 12 W. Va. 350, 29 Am. Rep. 455.

United States.—Owen v. Blanchard, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,628, 2 Cranch C. C. 418.

14. Jones v. Jones, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 705.

15. Jones v. Jones, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 705.

16. Clopton v. Haughton, 57 Miss. 787. And see Rodgers v. Rushin, 30 Ga. 934, holding that where an executor dies pending a suit to fix a personal liability on him on account of an alleged devastavit, it is proper that his representative should be made a party to the proceedings.

17. Caldwell v. Hampton, 53 S. W. 14, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 793.

18. Leonard v. Cameron, 39 Miss. 419.

19. Walton v. Gill, 46 Ga. 600.

Where an administrator who is sued dies before levy of execution his administrator does not become a party to the record and is not privity to the subject-matter of the execution and can take no legal steps to defeat the execution. Henderson v. Winchester, 31 Miss. 290.

20. Holliday v. Holland, 41 Miss. 528.

21. Merrill v. Merrill, 92 N. C. 657.

22. Wade v. Potter, 14 N. J. L. 278.

23. Lachaise v. Libby, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 362.

Several executors and administrators are regarded in the light of an individual person. They have a joint and entire interest in the testator's effects which is incapable of being divided. And in case of death such interest vests in the survivor. 3 Bacon Abr. Ex. D; Toller Law Ex. 188, Shook v. Shook, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 653.

Effect of want of service on survivor.— Where an action is brought against two ex-representatives, the suit is properly continued by or against the survivor or survivors,[24] and it is error to revive the suit against the representatives of the deceased representative.[25]

17. Question of Parties as Affected by Resignation, Removal, or Discharge of Personal Representative. The resignation, removal, or discharge of a personal representative pending a suit brought by him does not operate to abate the action,[26] although after his removal he cannot himself continue the suit.[27] The suit should be continued in the name of his successor in office,[28] and the cause cannot be proceeded with further until he is made a party.[29] The same rules apply where a personal representative dies pending a suit against him.[30] ecutors and service is had on one for whom there is a special appearance a trial and judgment after the death of the executor on whom the writ was served is erroneous; the other executor never having been in court as a party, it would be unjust to permit plaintiff to hold him as such. Greiner v. Hummel, 2 Watts (Pa.) 345.

Suits to recover legacies.— If one of two co-executors has died, his personal representatives are not necessary parties to a bill to recover a legacy (Dehart v. Dehart, 3 N. J. Eq. 471; Richardson v. Richardson, 9 Pa. St. 428); especially where it charges that all the assets of the testator are in the hands of the surviving executor (Goble v. Andruss, 2 N. J. Eq. 66); but such representatives are proper parties whenever the deceased executor is charged with having assets or where fraud and collusion is charged between the executors or in a case of insolvency (Goble v. Andruss, supra).

24. Wright v. Land, 66 Ala. 389; Elliott v. Eslava, 3 Ala. 568; Castor v. Pace, 24 Ga. 137; Hicks v. Harris, 26 Miss. 420; Patterson v. Copeland, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 460. And see Gadsden v. Whaley, 14 S. C. 210.

25. Hicks v. Harris, 26 Miss. 420.

26. Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292; Elliott v. Eslava, 3 Ala. 568; Carley v. Barnes, 11 Ark. 291; Cole v. Hebb, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 20; Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Crockett, 17 Nebr. 570, 24 N. W. 219. Contra, Gormly v. Skinner, Wright (Ohio) 680. And compare Vaugh v. Cox, 27 Miss. 701.

27. Knight v. Hamaker, 33 Oreg. 154, 54 Pac. 277, 659.

28. Lunsford v. Lunsford, 122 Ala. 242, 25 So. 171; Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292; Townsend v. Jeffries, 24 Ala. 329; Elliott v. Eslava, 3 Ala. 568; Iowa L. & T. Co. v. Holderbaum, 86 Iowa 1, 52 N. W. 550; Cole v. Hebb, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 20; Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Crockett, 17 Nebr. 570, 24 N. W. 219.

Where a public administrator resigns or his office is otherwise terminated pending an action brought by him it may be revived in the name of his successor. Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292; Carley v. Barnes, 11 Ark. 291; Cox v. Martin, 75 Miss. 229, 21 So. 611, 65 Am. St. Rep. 604, 36 L. R. A. 800.

Revival by administrator as his own successor.— Where pending an action by an administrator his letters are revoked, the action may be revived by him on his reinstatement. Hill v. Bryant, 61 Ark. 203, 32 S. W. 506.

Presumption as to propriety of substitution.— Where plaintiff is an administrator substituted by order of court for another who was also an administrator, it will be presumed in the absence of evidence to the contrary that the substitution was properly made. Jones v. Pearl Min. Co., 20 Colo. 417, 38 Pac. 700.

Notice of revivor in the name of the successor must be given to the adverse party. Bishop v. Stoddard, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 276, 1 Clev. L. Rep. 201. And see Ex p. Jones, 54 Ala. 108.

Where one who has never qualified as administrator resigns after bringing suit an administrator who is thereafter appointed and who qualifies may procure himself to be substituted as plaintiff under a statute providing that no civil suit should be dismissed for want of necessary parties before the court shall have power to strike out or insert in the writ and pleadings the names of either plaintiffs or defendants so as to have the proper parties before it. Person v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 92 Fed. 965, 35 C. C. A. 117 [reversing 84 Fed. 759].

29. Trimmer v. Todd, 52 N. J. Eq. 426, 28 Atl. 583; Taylor v. Savage, 1 How. 282, 11 L. ed. 313, 2 How. (U. S.) 395, 11 L. ed. 132.

If an administrator resigns after rendition of a decree against him and an administrator de bonis non is appointed but is not made a party to the pending suit, either by bill of revivor or amendment, the court is without jurisdiction to proceed against him on complainant's motion for a summary judgment because of his failure to follow the direction of the decree rendered against the administrator as to the disposition of assets of the estate. Passmore v. Ellington, 122 Ala. 559, 26 So. 144.

Effect of failure to subject dismissal.— Where an executor is discharged pending suit against him and an administrator de bonis non appointed, but there is no suggestion or plea by the executor setting up the discharge and plaintiff obtains a verdict against him, the administrator de bonis non cannot by means of a rule to show cause be made a party to the suit as of a date prior to the verdict and judgment be thus entered against him. Weddington v. Huey, 80 Ga. 651, 6 S. E. 281.

30. Skinner v. Frierson, 8 Ala. 915; Troy Nat. Bank v. Stanton, 116 Mass. 435; Burras v. Looker, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 499.

18. Question of Parties as Affected by Marriage of Administratrix or Executrix. The common-law rule is well settled that if a feme sole who has been appointed a personal representative subsequently marries, her husband becomes co-executor or co-administrator with her,[31] or as it is sometimes expressed he becomes executor in her right;[32] and in actions or suits subsequently brought by or against either in a representative capacity, the other is a necessary party;[33] neither can sue or be sued alone.[34] It has been held, however, that in cases where an administrator may be charged in his own right the action lies against the husband alone.[35] Where there are several personal representatives, one of whom is a married woman, she should be joined with the other representatives whether she was constituted one before or after marriage,[36] and her husband should be joined in an action against them.[37] Where a feme sole personal representative marries pending an action commenced by her the action cannot be allowed to proceed unless the husband is joined as plaintiff;[38] but in the absence of statute providing otherwise the action may proceed if the husband is joined.[39] So where an action is brought against a feme sole representative the action may be further prosecuted on making the husband a party.[40] In a number of jurisdictions, by virtue of statutory enactment, marriage of a feme sole personal representative operates as an extinguishment of her authority;[41] and she cannot further prosecute a suit brought by her,[42] even though her husband join;[43] and if she is

Where the birth of a posthumous child is the ground for revocation of letters testamentary, the newly appointed administrator cannot be made a party defendant to a suit pending against the removed executor. He is not an administrator de bonis non, but to all intents and purposes an original administrator on an intestate estate. Martin v. Brooch, 6 Ga. 21, 50 Am. Dec. 306.

Removal pending appeal.— Where an administrator defendant pending his appeal is removed, his successor has the right to prosecute the appeal and defend the action. Kerns v. Dean, 77 Cal. 555, 19 Pac. 817.

No judgment can be rendered against a representative who has been removed. Troy Nat. Bank v. Stanton, 116 Mass. 435; Matter of Dunham, 8 Ohio Cir. Ct. 160, 4 Ohio Cir. Dec. 325. See also More v. More, 127 Cal. 460, 59 Pac. 823 [affirming (1898) 53 Pac. 1077].

31. Dowty v. Hall, 83 Ala. 165, 3 So. 315; Williamson v. Hill, 6 Port. (Ala.) 184; Buck v. Fischer, 2 Colo. 709; Wiggin v. Swett, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 194, 39 Am. Dec. 716; Wood v. Chetwood, 27 N. J. Eq. 311; Bacon Abr. tit. "Executors and Administrators," A, 8.

32. Wiggin v. Swett, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 194, 39 Am. Dec. 716.

33. Alabama.— Williamson v. Hill, 6 Port. 184.

Colorado.— Buck v. Fischer, 2 Colo. 709.

Maryland.— See Linthicum v. Polk, 93 Md. 84, 48 Atl. 842.

Massachusetts.— Barber v. Bush, 7 Mass. 510.

New Jersey.— Oliva v. Bunaforza, 31 N. J. Eq. 395; Wood v. Chetwood, 27 N. J. Eq. 311.

North Carolina.— Moore v. Suttril, 2 N. C. 16; Buller Pl. (3d ed.) 166; 1 Chitty (16th Am. ed.) 47; Dicey Parties (2d Am. ed.) 298; 3 Williams Ex. 520.

34. Williamson v. Hill, 6 Port. (Ala.) 184; 1 Chitty (16th Am. ed.) 47; 2 Comyns Dig. v.

35. Williamson v. Hill, 6 Port. (Ala.) 184 [citing 2 Saunders Pl. & Ev. 184].

If the bond be given to husband and wife administratrix, the husband may declare on it alone as on a bond made to himself. Ankerstein v. Clarke, 4 T. R. 616.

36. Gratz v. Phillips, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 333.

37. Ludlow v. Marsh, 3 N. J. L. 983.

38. Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Womack, 84 Ala. 149, 4 So. 618. And see Townshend v. Townshend, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 373; Swan v. Wilkinson, 14 Mass. 295.

39. Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Womack, 84 Ala. 149, 4 So. 618.

40. Henderson v. McClure, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 466. Compare Bobe v. Frowner, 18 Ala. 89, holding that if an administratrix marries pending suit against her as such, plaintiff may proceed to judgment without making the husband a party.

Prosecution by administrator de bonis non. — A statute providing that where an administrator is removed from office pending a suit in which he is a party it may be prosecuted by the administrator de bonis non applies where the authority of a sole administratrix to sue is extinguished by her marriage pending suit. Brown v. Pendergast, 7 Allen (Mass.) 427.

41. Whittaker v. Wright, 35 Ark. 511; Young v. Duhme, 4 Metc. (Ky.) 239; Wiggin v. Swett, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 194, 39 Am. Dec. 716; Vielhaber v. Eyermann, 1 Mo. App. 115.

42. Whittaker v. Wright, 35 Ark. 511.

43. Vielhaber v. Eyermann, 1 Mo. App. 115, holding further that when an executrix marries or becomes non-resident, her suit cannot be further prosecuted until an administrator with the will annexed is appointed.

one of two joint representatives and the other sues alone it is not necessary to amend by adding her as a party.[44]

H. Process and Appearance — 1. Process — a. In General. To give a court jurisdiction to render judgment against a personal representative, service of process on him is necessary;[45] and a recital in an order making the administrator a party on the death of decedent that he had been served does not prevent his showing that he neither was served nor appeared.[46] Where persons not residents of a state are appointed personal representatives on their petition by a court of that state the court may require them to submit to service of summons in an action to determine the liability of the estate on a claim not provable in course of administration.[47] Statutory provisions as to the time of serving process must be strictly complied with.[48]

b. Co-Executors and Co-Administrators. Where suit is brought against two or more personal representatives, they must all be served with process in order to make them parties.[49] Service of process on one will not authorize a judgment against all,[50] and according to some decisions service must be made upon all to authorize a judgment against any one of them,[51] although the contrary view also finds support.[52] The rule requiring service as to all is subject to some limitations. Thus it has been held that if process is served on one and returned "not found" as to the others plaintiff may take judgment against all,[53] and where one is a non-resident process may be served on those who are residents and plaintiff may proceed to judgment against them.[54]

c. Defects, Objections, and Amendments. A citation may issue against "the estate of [naming the decedent]."[55] Process defective for failure to allege defend-

44. Mason, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 27 Ga. 113. And see Teschemacher v. Thompson, 18 Cal. 11, 79 Am. Dec. 151.

45. Manley v. Union Bank, 1 Fla. 160; Dozier v. Richardson, 25 Ga. 90; Crabb v. Atwood, 10 Ind. 322.

As party to cross bill.— Where an administrator became a party complainant to a bill by his intestate to enjoin a sale of mortgaged property and defendants filed a cross bill and bill of revivor against the administrator and intestate's heirs and devisees to obtain a sale of the property, the administrator must be served with process to make him a party to the cross bill. Paulling v. Creagh, 63 Ala. 398.

Administrator de bonis non appointed after suit brought cannot be made a party to it by mere suggestion, although the record of such suggestion and of his having been made a party be served upon him. Manley v. Union Bank, 1 Fla. 160.

Where defendant is sued both as executor and in his individual capacity, he need not be served with more than one copy of the citation. Owsley v. Paris Exch. Bank, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 93.

46. Dozier v. Richardson, 25 Ga. 90.

47. State v. Rock County Probate Ct., 66 Minn. 246, 68 N. W. 1063.

48. Carter v. Spencer, 4 Ind. 78; Jones v. Roland, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 272.

49. Service on resigned executor.— Where one of four executors resigned, the service of notice on him eight months after his resignation, in an action against the executors as such, conferred no jurisdiction to enter judgment by default. U. S. Rolling Stock Co. v. Potter, 48 Iowa 56; Owen v. Brown, 2 Ala. 126; Jones v. Wilkinson, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 44. Compare Howard v. Daniel, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 125.

50. Breckenridge v. Mellon, 1 How. (Miss.) 273; Lobb v. Lobb, 26 Pa. St. 327; Myrick v. Adams, 4 Munf. (Va.) 366. See also Terry v. Lindsay, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 317.

51. Barnes v. Jarnagin, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 108. See also Owen v. Brown, 2 Ala. 126.

52. Lobb v. Lobb, 26 Pa. St. 327, holding that if judgment be rendered against both, it will be reversed as to the one not summoned and affirmed as to the other. See also Hunt v. Anderson, 33 Miss. 559, which sustains the view stated in the text and makes no mention of Barnes v. Jarnagin, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 108.

53. Moore v. Paul, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 330; Rous v. Etherington, 2 Ld. Raym. 870, 1 Salk. 312.

Under the Georgia statutes service on one executor and the return of not found as to the others is good, as they are "joint contractors as to their testator's contracts" and plaintiff may proceed to judgment against those served. Wynn v. Booker, 26 Ga. 553.

54. Hansom v. Jacks, 22 Ala. 549; Tappan v. Bruen, 5 Mass. 193. And see Owen v. Brown, 2 Ala. 126.

On discontinuance of the writ as to a non-resident administrator, in the declaration, on the ground of non-residence, it is the same as if the writ had been sued out originally against the resident administrator alone which would have been the correct mode of procedure. English v. Brown, 9 Ala. 504.

55. New Orleans v. Stewart, 28 La. Ann. 180, holding that the constitution and statutes contemplate that a succession may be a plaintiff or defendant, and "estate" is synonymous with "succession."

ant's representative capacity may be amended.[56] Irregularities in process against a personal representative cannot be taken advantage of by a stranger to the suit.[57]

2. APPEARANCE. An appearance by attorney is a sufficient appearance by an administrator in an action on a claim against an estate where a judgment is rendered by agreement against the estate,[58] and an administrator by moving to dismiss for want of demand thereby enters his appearance to the action.[59] Process is not necessary to make a personal representative a party to the suit when he comes voluntarily into court and asks to be made such;[60] and by voluntarily appearing and answering an administrator against whom a suit in which his intestate was defendant is sought to be revived waives want of proper service on intestate,[61] or failure to file claims in accordance with statutory requirements.[62] So appearance and answer waive the defense that suit against an executor is prematurely brought,[63] and appearance affects the personal representative with notice of all the subsequent proceedings.[64] An appearance by one executor does not bind a co-executor.[65]

I. Forms of Action. Where a personal representative brings suit or is sued, the form of action is ordinarily the same as that by or against a person suing or sued in his own right. For injury to or conversion of property after decedent's death, the personal representative may maintain trover, replevin, detinue, or trespass.[66] And, when entitled to the possession of real property belonging to the estate, he may maintain such actions as unlawful retainer, ejectment, trespass to try title, or writ of entry.[67] In actions against personal representatives on simple contracts entered into by decedent debt will lie.[68] This action also lies on an obligation of decedent that his executor shall pay after his death.[69] It cannot, however, be maintained by an administrator de bonis non, upon an unsatisfied judgment recovered by the original administrator the remedy is by scire facias.[70] If rents are by statute made liable for claims against the estate, assumpsit and not an action on the administration bond is the proper remedy of a creditor.[71] Where an action may be maintained in a court of law for a legacy, assumpsit,[72] debt,[73] or case[74] will lie. So assumpsit lies against an executor by one entitled under the will to the rents and profits, where they are withheld by the executor.[75] For torts committed by decedent, any form of action which might have been maintained against him will be proper in actions against his representative based thereon, provided the action is one which survives.[76] Case is the proper remedy by decedent's widow for the refusal of the adminis-

56. Richardson v. Hickman, 32 Ark. 406. See also Lester v. Lester, 8 Gray (Mass.) 437, holding that process against defendant personally may be amended so as to charge him in a representative capacity.

57. Helfrich v. Stem, 17 Pa. St. 143.

58. Collins v. Rose, 59 Ind. 33.

59. Tipton v. Richardson, 54 S. W. 738, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1195.

60. Bowen v. Bonner, 45 Miss. 10.

61. Daykin v. Emery, 10 Ohio Cir. Ct. 652, 5 Ohio Cir. Dec. 121. See also Clark v. Stoddard, 3 Ala. 366.

62. Morrison v. Kreamer, 58 Ind. 38 [overruling Stanford v. Stanford, 42 Ind. 485]. Compare Madison County Bank v. Suman, 79 Mo. 527.

The ten days' notice required by the Arkansas statute of 1825 to be given to the personal representative of the prosecution of a claim to the probate court is in the nature of process to bring the representative into court, and is waived by his voluntary appearance. McCoy v. Lemons, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 8,730*a*, Hempst. 216.

63. Hill v. Fly, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 52 S. W. 731.

64. Duffee v. Buchanan, 8 Ala. 27.

65. Terry v. Lindsay, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 317.

66. See supra, XIV, A, 1, b, (IX).

67. See supra, XIV, A, 1, b, (VIII).

68. Tupper v. Tupper, 3 Ohio 387; McEwen v. Joy, 7 Rich. (S. C.) 33; Thompson v. French, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 452; Childress v. Emory, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 642, 5 L. ed. 705.

69. Harrison v. Vreeland, 38 N. J. L. 366.

70. Paine v. McIntyre, 32 Me. 131.

71. Davis v. Rawlins, 3 Harr. (Del.) 346.

72. Colt v. Colt, 32 Conn. 422; Knapp v. Hanford, 6 Conn. 170; Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 213; Tappan v. Tappan, 30 N. H. 50; Clark v. Herring, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 33.

73. Peddigrew v. Peddigrew, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 580; Knapp v. Hanford, 6 Conn. 170; Dubois v. Dubois, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 494.

74. Farwell v. Jacobs, 4 Mass. 634.

75. Guthrie v. Wheeler, 51 Conn. 207.

76. Brummett v. Golden, 9 Gill (Md.) 95.

trator to set apart for her the property to which she is entitled.[77] If he has converted the property into money, she may sue in assumpsit for money had and received.[78]

J. Joinder of Causes of Action — 1. In Actions by Personal Representatives — a. Causes of Action in Individual and Causes of Action in Representative Capacity — (I) Statement of Rule. It is elementary law that an executor or administrator cannot join a cause of action in his individual right with a cause of action in his representative capacity.[79] The courts will not take cognizance of distinct and separate claims or liabilities of different persons in the same action,[80] The rule applies to suits in equity as well as actions at law.[81]

(II) How Misjoinder Availed of. The objection that a personal representative has joined a cause of action in his individual capacity with one in his representative capacity, although it is pleadable in abatement, is fatal also in every stage of the suit.[82] The declaration is bad on demurrer, motion in arrest, and on error.[83]

b. Causes of Action Accruing to Decedent and Causes of Action Accruing to Representative in Representative Capacity. While it was formerly held that an executor or administrator could not join a cause of action accruing to decedent with one accruing to himself in his representative capacity,[84] the present doctrine is that such counts may be joined whenever the money recovered will be assets;[85]

77. Neely v. McCormick, 25 Pa. St. 255, holding that she has neither such a general nor special property in the articles as will enable her to maintain trespass against the administrator.

78. Neely v. McCormick, 25 Pa. St. 255.

79. Arkansas.— Governor v. Evans, 1 Ark. 349.

California.— Dias v. Phillips, 59 Cal. 293.

Connecticut.— Bulkley v. Andrews, 39 Conn. 523.

Massachusetts.— Brown v. Webber, 6 Cush. 560.

Missouri.— Yates v. Kimmel, 5 Mo. 87.

New York.— Groh v. Hammer, 89 N. Y. App. Div. 28, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 305; Lucas v. New York Cent. R. Co., 21 Barb. 245; Hall v. Fisher, 20 Barb. 441; Wiltsie v. Beardsley, Lalor 386. Compare Hood v. Hood, 6 N. Y. St. 684.

North Carolina.— May v. Smith, 45 N. C. 196, 59 Am. Dec. 594.

Wisconsin.— Robbins v. Gillett, 2 Pinn. 439, 2 Chandl. 96.

United States.— Picquet v. Swan, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,132, 3 Mason 469.

England.— Petrie v. Hannay, 3 T. R. 659.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1673.

Illustration.— A count upon an account stated with plaintiffs, "executrix and executors," (not saying "as" executrix and executors) cannot be joined with counts on promises to the testator; for there is no allegation that the promises were made to plaintiffs in their representative capacity; and under such a count proof might be given of an account stated with them in their individual characters. Henshall v. Roberts, 5 East 150.

Limitations of rule.— Where a statute authorizes the uniting in the same complaint of several causes of action when they all arise out of the same transaction or transactions connected with the same subject of action, provided they affect all the parties to the action, plaintiff may unite a cause of action as executrix with one as devisee where both accrue under a contract made by the testator with defendant growing out of the same matter. Armstrong v. Hall, 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 76, in which it was said that plaintiff had a common interest as executrix and devisee.

80. Yates v. Kimmel, 5 Mo. 87; 1 Chitty Pl. 8, 31.

81. May v. Smith, 45 N. C. 196, 59 Am. Dec. 594; Adams Eq. (2d ed.) 567.

The reason assigned is that different decrees and proceedings might be required; for convenience therefore the joinder will not be permitted. May v. Smith, 45 N. C. 196, 59 Am. Dec. 594.

82. Picquet v. Swann, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,132, 3 Mason 469.

83. Bulkley v. Andrews, 39 Conn. 523; Brown v. Webber, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 560; Peries v. Aycinena, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 64.

84. Hosier v. Arundel, 3 B. & P. 7; Herrenden v. Palmer, Hob. 121; Nicolas v. Killigrew, 1 Ld. Raym. 436; Betts v. Mitchell, 10 Mod. 316; Rogers v. Cook, 1 Salk. 10.

85. Arkansas.— Lyon v. Evans, 1 Ark. 349.

Indiana.— Lowe v. Bowman, 5 Blackf. 410.

Kentucky.— Wilson v. Hunt, 6 B. Mon. 379.

New Hampshire.— French v. Merrill, 6 N. H. 465.

New York.— Welles v. Webster, 9 How. Pr. 251; Fry v. Evans, 8 Wend. 530; Valleau v. Cahill, 1 N. Y. City Ct. 47.

Pennsylvania.— Lea v. Hopkins, 7 Pa. St. 492; State Bank v. Haldeman, 1 Penr. & W. 161; Stevens v. Gregg, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 234.

Vermont.— Pope v. Stacy, 28 Vt. 96.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1673.

but to authorize a joinder it must be alleged that the cause of action arising after decedent's death accrued to plaintiff in his representative capacity.[86]

c. Counts For Goods of Representative and Counts For Goods of Decedent. As a personal representative may sue in his own right on contracts made with him in his representative capacity, he may join counts for goods sold of which he was owner with counts for goods sold which he held as executor.[87]

d. Miscellaneous. In an action by a widow for the rent of her dower interest after its assignment the fact that a claim for rent derived from a lease made by her husband during his lifetime was joined with a claim for rent against the administrators personally did not render the bill objectionable as multifarious.[88] So a bill by a single person as administrator, when the will includes two estates which are so nearly the same that it is necessary to proceed under both wills at the same time and which asks the direction of the court on the administration of the estate and also for contribution from the legatees for the payment of debts is not multifarious.[89] Where the decree of a surrogate's court was against plaintiff as administrator and the docketing and levying reached his individual property, it was proper for plaintiff to sue both in his representative and in his individual capacity in an action to declare the decree satisfied.[90]

2. In Actions Against Personal Representatives — a. Causes of Action in Individual and Causes of Action in Representative Capacity — (i) Statement of Rule and Reason For Rule. A cause of action against a personal representative in his representative capacity cannot be joined with a cause of action against him in his individual capacity,[91] and it has been held that this rule is operative in

"The criterion whether the counts are misjoined is, whether the money, if recovered, will be assets in the hands of the executor." Thompson v. Stent, 1 Taunt. 322.

Application of rule.— An administrator or executor may join in the same declaration counts on promises to himself as executor or administrator and counts on promises to the intestate or testator (Sullivan v. Holker, 15 Mass. 374; Wiltsie v. Bearsly, Lalor (N. Y.) 386; Stevens v. Gray, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 243; Brown v. Lewis, 9 R. I. 497; Partridge v. Court, 5 Price 412), if the money recovered on the counts on the premises to himself will be assets (Fry v. Evans, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 530; Sebring v. Keith, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 192; Powley v. Newton, 6 Taunt. 452); so a count for money had and received to the use of testator and a count for money had and received to plaintiff's use as executor may be joined (Flowers v. Kent, Brayt. (Vt.) 134; Petrie v. Hannay, 3 Term 659); and counts on promises made to an intestate may be joined with counts on promissory notes given to the administrator as such (Court v. Partridge, 7 Price 591). "A count on an insimul computasset with the plaintiff as executor may be joined with a count for goods sold by the testator." Thompson v. Stent, 1 Taunt 322. Where an executor in his capacity as such, sued on the common counts in general assumpsit, there was no misjoinder of causes because some of the counts, as for work and labor, were in their nature such that the right of action accrued to him in his own right and not in the right of the testator. Bulkley v. Andrews, 39 Conn. 523.

86. Lyon v. Evans, 1 Ark. 349; Peries v. Aycinena, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 64; Sebring v. Keith, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 192; Henshall v. Roberts, 5 East 150.

87. Haskell v. Bowen, 44 Vt. 579.

88. Boyd v. Hunter, 44 Ala. 705. Compare Danaher v. Brooklyn, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 286, holding that a personal representative of two decedents cannot join in one action causes of action belonging to the two estates.

89. Carter v. Balfour, 19 Ala. 814.

90. Laney v. Laney, 58 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 319.

91. Alabama.— Godbold v. Roberts, 20 Ala. 354; Jefford v. Ringgold, 6 Ala. 544.

Arkansas.— McDaniel v. Parks, 19 Ark. 671.

California.— Schlicker v. Hemenway, 110 Cal. 579, 42 Pac. 1063, 52 Am. St. Rep. 116; Mesmer v. Jenkins, 61 Cal. 151.

Delaware.— Farmers' Bank v. Cullen, 4 Harr. 289.

Kentucky.— Maddox v. Williams, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 695.

Louisiana.— Hemken v. Ludwig, 12 Rob. 188.

Maryland.— Grahame v. Harris, 5 Gill & J. 489.

New Jersey.— Terhune v. Bray, 16 N. J. L. 53; Mason v. Norcross, 1 N. J. L. 242.

New York.— Sortore v. Scott, 6 Lans. 271; Pugsley v. Aikin, 14 Barb. 114; Benjamin v. Taylor, 12 Barb. 328; Ross v. Harden, 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 26; Hayward v. McDonald, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 100, 1 How. Pr. N. S. 229; In re Randall, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 652, 2 Connoly Surr. 29; Clark v. Coles, 50 How. Pr. 178; McMahon v. Allen, 12 How. Pr. 39 [affirmed in 3 Abb. Pr. 89]; Wiltsie v. Beardsley, Lalor 386; Gillet v. Hutchinson, 24 Wend. 184; Demott v. Field, 7 Cow. 58.

Pennsylvania.— Bogle v. Kreitzer, 46 Pa.

suits in equity as well as in actions at law.[92] The reason for this is that different

St. 465; Seip v. Drach, 14 Pa. St. 352; Strohecker v. Grant, 16 Serg. & R. 237; Schott v. Sage, 4 Phila. 87.

Vermont.— Smith v. Purmort, 63 Vt. 378, 20 Atl. 928.

Virginia.— Kayser v. Disher, 9 Leigh 357; Epe v. Dudley, 5 Rand. 437.

England.— Wheeler v. Collin, Cro. Eliz. 406; Herrenden v. Palmer, Hob. 121; Hall v. Huffam, 2 Lev. 228.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1691.

Applications of rule.— In applying the rule, it has been held that the following causes of action cannot be joined: A count on a claim against the decedent and a count on a promise by a personal representative in his capacity as such for money had and received by him as such (Farmers' Bank v. Cullen, 4 Harr. (Del.) 289; Wilson v. Harvey, 3 Harr. (Del.) 500; Moody v. Ewing, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 521; Seip v. Drach, 14 Pa. St. 352; Ashby v. Ashby, 7 B. & C. 444, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 41, 1 M. & R. 180, 31 Rev. Rep. 242, 14 E. C. L. 202); a cause of action on a claim against decedent and a cause of action on a promise by the personal representative as such on an action for moneys due from himself (Gillet v. Hutchinson, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 184; Reynolds v. Reynolds, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 244); a cause of action on a claim against the decedent and a cause of action on a promise made by an executor to pay for services performed for him as such (Vaughn v. Gardner, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 326); a cause of action against executors on their covenants in a deed executed under a power in the will to perform an agreement made by the testator and a count against him on a covenant of the testator (Strohecker v. Grant, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 237); a count for a conversion by the decedent and a count for a conversion by his personal representatives (Terhune v. Bray, 16 N. J. L. 53); a demand for damages arising from the individual acts of defendant with a demand for damages arising from their misconduct as executors (Newcombe v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 8 N. Y. Suppl. 366); a demand of an executrix for an account and tableau of distribution with one to render her individually liable for maladministration (Hemken v. Ludewig, 12 Rob. (La.) 188); and a count on a promise made by the testator and a count on a promise by the personal representative for services performed at his request for work and labor about the funeral of the decedent (Myer v. Cole, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 349; Demott v. Field, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 58. Contra, Hapgood v. Houghton, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 154). An action for waste against one in possession of land as executor under the will of the former owner is improperly joined with one for the partition of the property to which he has been made a party in his individual capacity. Lilly v. Menke, 126 Mo. 190, 28 S. W. 643, 994.

New York statutory provisions.— The code of civil procedure, section 1815, provides that an action may be brought against an executor or administrator personally and also in his representative capacity where the complaint sets forth a cause of action against him in both capacities or states facts which render it uncertain in which capacity the cause of action exists against him. Under this provision a complaint may contain a cause of action against a representative personally and in his representative capacity without there being any misjoinder of causes of action. Murphy v. Naughton, 68 Hun (N. Y.) 424, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 52; Newcombe v. Lottimer, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 381. Thus a person who intrusts money to another to be invested by him may after the latter's death maintain an action against his widow who is the sole legatee and devisee of his property and the administratrix of the will individually and as administratrix to recover such moneys. De Crano v. Moore, 50 N. Y. App. Div. 361, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 585, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 3. In an action against defendant individually and as executor of the last will and testament of Catherine A. McDonald, deceased, to recover certain taxes and rent due under the terms of a lease and an extension thereof, where a copy of the lease annexed to the complaint showed it to have been made with the "executor of the estate of Catherine A. McDonald, deceased," and signed, "Estate Catherine A. McDonald, Saml. W. McDonald, Exetor," it was held that these facts render it uncertain in which capacity defendant is liable under the clauses authorizing an action to be brought against an executor personally and in his representative capacity where the facts stated render it uncertain in which capacity he is liable. Metropolitan Trust Co. v. McDonald, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 424, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 260. But where plaintiff sued an executrix personally and as executrix for damages on a covenant for quiet enjoyment in a lease to plaintiff from the testator broken by proceedings for dispossession by the executrix, it was held that the case was not within the statute; the facts alleged not showing a liability in a representative capacity nor making it uncertain whether it so existed or was against defendant personally. Blum v. Dabritz, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 207 [affirmed in 39 Misc. 800, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 315].

Surplusage.— Where in an action against administrators it is apparent from the whole declaration that defendants are charged in their representative character it is good on general demurrer, although it also allege a promise by the administrators. Curtis v. Bowrie, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,498, 2 McLean 374.

92. Wren v. Gayden, 1 How. (Miss.) 365, 367 (in which it was said: "It is a well understood general rule, that courts of equity, as well as courts of law, will not take cognisance of distinct and separate claims or liabilities of different persons in one suit; and this, though they stand in the judgments would be required; the first de bonis testatoris and the other de bonis propriis.[93] There would of necessity be two judgments entirely dissimilar. In the one the assets of the estate of the deceased would be charged while in the other the estate both real and personal of defendant would be subjected to its payment.[94] It is only where the counts are of the same nature and the same judgment is to be given on them all that they may be joined.[95]

(II) How Misjoinder Availed of. The objection for such misjoinder may be taken advantage of by general demurrer to the whole declaration,[96] or on error.[97]

b. Counts on Promise of Decedent and Promise of Representative on Consideration Connected With Estate. It is well settled that where the consideration of the promise or undertaking by the personal representative in his capacity as such arose in the lifetime of the decedent or in other words springs from or is connected with the estate itself, a cause of action thereon may be joined with one on a promise or undertaking of the decedent.[98] There are also decisions which go further and hold without any qualification as to the consideration arising in decedent's lifetime that a count on a promise by a personal representative in his capacity as such may be joined with a count on a promise by decedent.[99] same relative situation"); Davoue v. Fanning, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 199 (holding that where a bill joined a demand by plaintiff as executor with the demand by plaintiff in his private capacity against defendant in his individual character, it is demurrable for multifariousness). Latting v. Latting, 4 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 31. But see Day v. Stone, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 353, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 137.

93. Terhune v. Bray, 16 N. J. L. 53; Clark v. Coles, 50 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 178; Demott v. Field, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 58; Boyle v. Kreitzer, 46 Pa. St. 465; Seip v. Drach, 14 Pa. St. 352; Epe v. Dudley, 5 Rand. (Va.) 437.

94. Jefford v. Ringgold, 6 Ala. 544; Sibbit v. Lloyd, 11 N. J. L. 163.

95. Vaughn v. Gardner, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 326.

96. Godbold v. Roberts, 7 Ala. 662; Jefford v. Ringgold, 6 Ala. 544; Kayser v. Disher, 9 Leigh (Va.) 357; Epe v. Dudley, 5 Rand. (Va.) 437.

97. McDaniel v. Parks, 19 Ark. 671.

Under the Maryland practice defendant may move to instruct the jury that plaintiff cannot recover because of misjoinder. Grahame v. Harris, 5 Gill & J. 489.

Under the North Carolina code, section 272, in case of misjoinder of causes of action, the judge should order the action divided and not dismissed. Martin v. Goode, 111 N. C. 288, 16 S. E. 232, 32 Am. St. Rep. 799.

98. Kentucky.— Vaughn v. Gardner, 7 B. Mon. 326; McKinley v. Call, 1 T. B. Mon. 54.

Maryland.— Bonaparte v. State, 63 Md. 465.

Massachusetts.— Hapgood v. Houghton, 10 Pick. 154.

Missouri.— See State v. Petticrew, 19 Mo. 373.

New Jersey.— Cawley v. Reeve, 17 N. J. L. 415.

New York.— Tradesmen's Nat. Bank v. McFeely, 61 Barb. 522; Benjamin v. Taylor, 12 Barb. 328; Gillet v. Hutchinson, 24 Wend. 184; Carter v. Phelps, 8 Johns. 440.

Ohio.— Howard v. Powers, 6 Ohio 92.

Pennsylvania.— Malin v. Bull, 13 Serg. & R. 441.

Virginia.— Bishop v. Harrison, 2 Leigh 532; Epe v. Dudley, 5 Rand. 437.

United States.— Wilkings v. Murphey, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,663, 3 N. C. 282.

England.— Secar v. Atkinson, 1 H. Bl. 102.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1690, 1691.

Damages for breach of a covenant for quiet enjoyment accruing both before and after the death of the covenantor may be recovered in one and the same action against his administrator. Hovey v. Newton, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 421.

Demands for rent accruing before and after decedent's death.— Where the demised premises for which a tenant from year to year paid an annual rental pass to his executors, and they become liable for rent by continued possession, a demand against them for rent may be joined with a demand for rent which accrued during the life of the tenant. Pugsley v. Aikin, 11 N. Y. 494 [reversing 14 Barb. 114].

Demands for taxes due before and after decedent's death.— In assumpsit against an executor to recover taxes due on the estate of his testatrix, it is not a misjoinder to unite a count for taxes due by the testatrix in her lifetime with a count for taxes due from the executor on the same property while in his hands as executor. Bonaparte v. State, 63 Md. 465.

99. Hapgood v. Houghton, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 154; Gregory v. Hooker, 8 N. C. 394, 407, 9 Am. Dec. 646 (in which it was said: "It is true, the precedents furnish only cases where the testator gave birth to the obliga-

c. Miscellaneous. The personal representative cannot bind the estate by an arrangement with one having a demand against it and also one against a third party to submit the question of liability and amount thereof on both demands directly in a single suit.[1] Counts on promises by decedent and another on promises by decedent alone may be joined, although the surviving promisor be living, where such procedure is authorized by statute.[2] Where an administrator of the decedent on the death of the distributee was also appointed administrator of the distributee's estate persons entitled as distributees to a portion of both estates may unite both claims in one bill against the administrator.[3] If heirs bring suit to annul an administrator's sale of land and at the same time ask that he be ordered to file his account, that he be removed from office, and that they be put in possession of the property of the estate the demands are not inconsistent with one another.[4] Where an executor is directed by will to sell all real and personal property the surviving husband's cause of action for an allotment to him of one third of the land for life was properly joined with his cause of action against the executor for one-half the surplus personalty.[5] Where plaintiff brought an action to recover a portion of real estate from defendant as executrix of the estate of her husband, allegations that the testator was in possession, holding the same under a lease from plaintiff and that he wrongfully encroached on an additional portion of the premises and occupied the same at the time of his death, which possession had been retained by the executrix ever since, did not show an improper joinder of a cause of action against the executrix in her representative capacity with one against her in her individual capacity.[6]

K. Pleading[7] — 1. Rules Applicable to Actions Generally — a. Declaration, Petition, Complaint, or Bill — (i) Allegations of Representative Capacity and Authority to Sue or Be Sued — (a) In Actions at Law — (1) Allegations of Representative Capacity — (a) In Actions by Personal Representatives — aa. Necessity and Sufficiency of Allegations. If an executor or administrator sues in a representative capacity, it must appear from the declaration, petition, or complaint that the suit is brought by him in such capacity.[8] There is considerable confusion and uncertainty in the decisions as to what is necessary to distinguish when an action is brought in the name of the individual and when in his representative capacity.[9] Some decisions hold, seemingly without any qualification, that the mere use of the word "executor" or "administrator" of a designated tion, or received the consideration of the promise, but the reason of the thing applies to all obligations thrown upon the executor by virtue of his office"); Dixon v. Ramsay, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,932, 1 Cranch C. C. 472.

1. Barry v. Davis, 33 Mich. 515.

Where a surviving partner qualifies as administrator of the deceased partner, he may be sued both in his individual and in his representative capacity on an obligation upon which he was jointly liable with decedent. It is not necessary to sue an administrator separately from one who was jointly liable with the decedent, and the case is not altered merely because the joint obligor and the administrator of decedent are the same person. Little Grocer Co. v. Johnson, 50 Ark. 62, 6 S. W. 231.

2. Hamlet v. Bates, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 437.

3. Breckinridge v. Floyd, 7 Dana (Ky.) 456. But see McNeill v. Burton, 1 How. (Miss.) 510, holding that administrators and executors of different estates and their sureties in incurring different responsibilities and requiring different examinations and accounts cannot be made defendants to the same bill, founded on a claim against one estate.

4. Thompson v. Barrow, 33 La. Ann. 1225.

5. Brand v. Brand, 109 Ky. 721, 60 S. W. 704, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1366.

6. Pabst Brewing Co. v. Small, 83 Minn. 445, 86 N. W. 450.

7. Forms.— For form of declaration or complaint held sufficient to show that suit is brought in a representative capacity see Rhodes v. Walker, 44 Ala. 213; Williams v. Eikenbary, 36 Nebr. 478, 54 N. W. 852; Pope v. Stacy, 28 Vt. 96.

8. Alabama.— Wyatt v. Rambo, 29 Ala. 510, 68 Am. Dec. 89.

Arkansas.— Mohr v. Sherman, 25 Ark. 7; Sabin v. Hamilton, 2 Ark. 485.

Louisiana.— Hatcher's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 136.

Missouri.— Smith v. Zimmerman, 29 Mo. App. 249.

New York.— Worden v. Worthington, 2 Barb. 368.

England.— 1 Saunders Pl. & Ev. 498.

9. Lucas v. Pittman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603.

person following plaintiff's name in the caption or commencement of the pleading sufficiently shows that the suit is brought in a representative capacity.[10] Nevertheless the weight of authority is clearly to the contrary. Many decisions hold that where a suit is one which plaintiff may bring either in his individual or representative capacity and the caption of the pleading describes plaintiff, "executor" instead of "as executor," and the body of the pleading contains no averment showing representative capacity the suit will be considered as brought in plaintiff's individual capacity.[11] There are also decisions which go further and hold that whether the suit is one which plaintiff can bring only in his representative capacity, or is one which may be brought either individually or in his representative capacity his description of himself, "executor" or "administrator," instead of "as executor" or "as administrator," in the caption of the complaint, does not show that suit was brought in a representative capacity, but the contrary.[12] While it has been said that it is better pleading to describe plaintiff "as executor" or "as administrator" in the caption or commencement of the pleading,[13] it is very generally held that it will be sufficient if the allegations in the body of the pleading show that plaintiff sues in a representative capacity.[14] In

10. Jordan v. Hamlink, 21 D. C. 189; Bowler v. Lane, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 311; Lawson v. Lawson, 16 Gratt. (Va.) 230, 80 Am. Dec. 702.

11. Arkansas.— Mohr v. Sherman, 25 Ark. 7; Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425.

Georgia.— Daniel v. Hollingshead, 16 Ga. 190; Gilbert v. Hardwick, 11 Ga. 599.

Maine.— Bragdon v. Harman, 69 Me. 29.

New York.— Sheldon v. Hoy, 11 How. Pr. 11.

Texas.— Guesh v. Phillips, 34 Tex. 176.

England.— Hempshall v. Roberts, 5 East 150.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1814 et seq.

Reason for rule.—If plaintiff describes himself "executor" this only shows that the debt sued on was contracted with him in that character, but does not show that he elected in his suit to treat it as a debt of the estate. On a contract of this character he may sue either in his personal or representative capacity; hence the necessity of showing definitely the character in which he intends to sue. Daniel v. Hollingshead, 16 Ga. 190.

12. Alabama.— Lucas v. Pittman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603; Freeman v. McCann, 37 Ala. 714; George v. English, 30 Ala. 582. But see Graham v. Gunn, 45 Ala. 577.

Florida.— Branch v. Branch, 6 Fla. 314, in which case it appeared that the cause of action was one which plaintiff might sue on either in his individual or representative capacity, but the language of the opinion was broad enough to support the rule stated in the text.

Indiana.— Hamilton v. Ewing, 6 Blackf. 88.

New York.— Stilwell v. Carpenter, 2 Abb. N. Cas. 238.

Texas.— See Roundtree v. Stone, 81 Tex. 298, 16 S. W. 1035.

Contra.— Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425 [expressly overruling Watkins v. McDonald, 3 Ark. 266], holding that the word "executor" in the caption will be sufficient if the declaration discloses a cause of action which could only accrue to plaintiff in his representative capacity.

Use of words "as administrators," etc., without naming decedent.— The words "as administrators," following the names of plaintiffs in the marginal statement of the parties and in the commencement of the complaint without an averment of the intestate's name, are mere surplusage, and do not indicate the character in which plaintiffs sue. Ikelheimer v. Chapman, 32 Ala. 676.

13. Wyatt v. Rambo, 29 Ala. 510, 68 Am. Dec. 89; Beers v. Shannon, 12 Hun (N. Y.) 161 [citing 1 Chitty Pl. 315]; Cordier v. Thompson, 8 Daly (N. Y.) 172; 1 Saunders Pl. & Ev. 498.

14. Alabama.— Englehart v. Richter, 136 Ala. 562, 33 So. 939; Lucas v. Pittman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603; Rhodes v. Walker, 44 Ala. 213; Dubberly v. Black, 38 Ala. 193; Watson v. Collins, 37 Ala. 587.

Arkansas.— Sabin v. Hamilton, 2 Ark. 485.

Georgia.— Laughter v. Butt, 25 Ga. 177.

Indiana.— See Durham v. Hudson, 4 Ind. 501.

Kentucky.— Quinn v. Newport News, etc., Co., 22 S. W. 223, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 74.

Missouri.— State v. Bartlett, 68 Mo. 581; Bird v. Cotten, 57 Mo. 568.

Nebraska.— Williams v. Eikenbary, 36 Nebr. 478, 54 N. W. 852.

New York.— Beers v. Shannon, 73 N. Y. 292 [affirming 12 Hun 161]; Scrantom v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 33 Barb. 527; Cordier v. Thompson, 8 Daly 172; Stilwell v. Carpenter, 2 Abb. N. Cas. 238.

Vermont.— Pope v. Stacy, 28 Vt. 96.

Wisconsin.— Moir v. Dodson, 14 Wis. 279.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1824 et seq.

Allegations sufficient to show suit brought in representative capacity.— Allegations of the death of B, the execution and probate of his will, plaintiffs' appointment as executors, issuance of letters testamentary to them and their qualification and acceptance (Marshall v. Bresler, 1 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 217;

other words if the title of the action does not declare the character in which plaintiff sues it may be supplied from the body of the declaration.[15] It follows therefore that, although the caption or commencement describes plaintiff "executor" instead of "as executor," the action will nevertheless be considered as brought in a representative capacity if the allegations of the pleading are sufficient to show such fact,[16] and the same is the case, although the caption contains no descriptive words of any character.[17] Some decisions hold that the words "as executor" or "as administrator" in the caption sufficiently show that suit is brought in a representative capacity and that these words need not be repeated in the body of the pleading.[18] Others hold that no issue can be taken to the description of the parties in the title and that there must be a direct allegation in the body of the pleading that suit is brought in a representative capacity.[19] If there are several counts in a declaration and the first describes the cause of action as accruing to plaintiff as executor the other counts need not describe him as executor or allege that the right of action accrued to him as such.[20]

bb. Rejection of Words Descriptive of Capacity as Surplusage. If a personal representative brings suit on a cause of action which he must or may bring in his individual capacity and the pleading states a good cause of action in that capacity, the use of the words "executor or administrator" will be considered merely descriptive of the person and not being essential in the pleading to his right of recovery, may be rejected as surplusage.[21] No amendment is necessary as the Moir v. Dodson, 14 Wis. 279); allegations of the death of B intestate, plaintiff's appointment as administrator and qualification as such by reason of which defendant became liable to pay him the sum of $—— (Quinn v. Newport News, etc., Co., 22 S. W. 223, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 74); an allegation in the breach that defendant "has not paid to the intestate in his lifetime nor to plaintiff as administrator aforesaid" (Sabin v. Hamilton, 2 Ark. 485); an allegation that a tax certificate counted upon is "now lawfully possessed and owned by said administrator and plaintiff" (Hyde v. Keonshe County, 43 Wis. 129); an allegation that plaintiff's husband died after bringing suit, that she was shortly thereafter appointed executrix of his estate, and that at the time of his death he was plaintiff (Williams v. Eikenbary, 36 Nebr. 478, 54 N. W. 852); and an allegation that the money sued for will when collected be assets of decedent's estate (Watson v. Collins, 37 Ala. 587).

15. Stilwell v. Carpenter, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 238.

16. Lucas v. Pitman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603; Beers v. Shannon, 73 N. Y. 292 [affirming 12 Hun 161]; Cordier v. Thompson, 8 Daly (N. Y. 172.

17. Williams v. Eikenbary, 36 Nebr. 478, 54 N. W. 852.

18. Lucas v. Pitman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603; Crimm v. Crawford, 29 Ala. 623. And see Ketchum v. Morrell, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 58.

19. Dodson v. Scroggs, 47 Mo. 185; Smith v. Zimmerman, 29 Mo. App. 249; Forrest v. New York, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 350; Sheldon v. Hoy, 11 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 11; Neil v. Cherry, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 28, 1 West. L. Month. 143; Guest v. Phillips, 34 Tex. 176.

20. Bulkley v. Andrews, 39 Conn. 523. To the same effect see Ketchum v. Morrell, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 58.

21. Alabama.— James v. Johnston, 44 Ala. 629; Williams v. Moore, 32 Ala. 506; Farrow v. Bragg, 30 Ala. 261; Agee v. Williams, 27 Ala. 644; King v. Griffin, 6 Ala. 387. And see Warren v. Rist, 16 Ala. 686.

Arkansas.— Bailey v. Gatton, 14 Ark. 180; Brown v. Hicks, 1 Ark. 232.

California.— Burling v. Thompkins, 77 Cal. 257, 19 Pac. 429; Lewis v. Adams, 70 Cal. 403, 11 Pac. 833, 59 Am. Rep. 423; Munch v. Williamson, 24 Cal. 167.

District of Columbia.— Campbell v. Wilson, 2 Mackey 497.

Georgia.— Wheelus v. Long, 73 Ga. 110; Kenan v. Du Bignon, 46 Ga. 258. Compare Gilbert v. Hardwick, 11 Ga. 599.

Illinois.— Wolf v. Beaird, 123 Ill. 585, 15 N. E. 161, 5 Am. St. Rep. 565; Laycock v. Oleson, 60 Ill. 30; Higgins v. Halligan, 46 Ill. 173.

Indiana.— Daniels v. Ritchie, 7 Blackf. 391; Campbell v. Baldwin, 6 Blackf. 364; Capp v. Gilman, 2 Blackf. 45; Helm v. Van Vleet, 1 Blackf. 342, 12 Am. Dec. 248.

Kentucky.— Reid v. Watts, 4 J. J. Marsh. 440; Spurgen v. Robinet, 4 Bibb 75.

Maine.— Bragdon v. Harmon, 69 Me. 29.

Maryland.—Barton v. Higgins, 41 Md. 539; Sasscer v. Walker, 5 Gill & J. 102, 25 Am. Dec. 272.

Massachusetts.— Talmage v. Cappel, 16 Mass. 71; Clark v. Lowe, 15 Mass. 476.

Mississippi.—Falls v. Wilson, 24 Miss. 168.

Missouri.— Rittenhouse v. Ammerman, 64 Mo. 197, 27 Am. Rep. 215; State v. Kaime, 4 Mo. App. 479.

New York.— Litchfield v. Flint, 104 N. Y. 543, 11 N. E. 58; Merritt v. Seaman, 6 N. Y. 168 [reversing 6 Barb. 330]; Collins v. Steuart, 2 N. Y. App. Div. 271, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 891; Bingham v. Marine Nat. Bank, court will consider that the words are not in the declaration.[22] It has also been held that where an administrator sues properly in his capacity as such, his allegation of another capacity (as for instance that he is attorney in fact for the heirs) may be treated as surplusage.[23] But where a declaration by the representative of a deceased person alleges in the commencement that plaintiff was decedent's executor and in a subsequent part that he took out letters of administration the declaration is insufficient, since it fails to show whether plaintiff is executor or administrator.[24] So it has been held that where the declaration is in a representative capacity, but concludes the ad damnum to the representative personally, it is bad, since it cannot be determined whether the recovery was sought by plaintiff as administrator or in his own right.[25]

cc. Amendments. When the pleading is filed in the name of one suing in his individual capacity, it may be amended so as to make the suit stand in his representative capacity and vice versa.[26]

41 Hun 377, 17 Abb. N. Cas. 431; Scott v. Parker, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 753; Wick v. Wick, 9 N. Y. St. 477; Bright v. Carrie, 5 Sandf. 433. But see Farrington v. American L. & T. Co., 18 Civ. Proc. 135, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 433.

North Carolina.— Beaty v. Gingles, 53 N. C. 302; Cotten v. Davis, 48 N. C. 355.

Oregon.— Burrell v. Kern, 34 Oreg. 501, 56 Pac. 809.

South Carolina.— Jerkowski v. Marco, 56 S. C. 241, 34 S. E. 386; Willis v. Tozer, 44 S. C. 1, 21 S. E. 617.

Tennessee.— McCallum v. Woolsey, 6 Baxt. 308; Page v. Cravens, 3 Head 383.

Texas.— Roundtree v. Stone, 81 Tex. 229; Rider v. Duval, 28 Tex. 622; Gayle v. Ennis, 1 Tex. 184; Nelson v. Bagby, 25 Tex. Suppl. 305; Hayden v. Kirby, 31 Tex. Civ. App. 441, 72 S. W. 198.

United States.— Biddle v. Wilkins, 1 Pet. 686, 7 L. ed. 315; White v. Pulley, 27 Fed. 436.

Wisconsin.— Robbins v. Gillett, 2 Pinn. 439, 2 Chandl. 96.

England.— Hornsey v. Dimock, Vent. 119.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1816.

Application of rule.— Where an administrator sues on a contract made with himself the word "administrator" appearing in the pleading may be rejected as mere description and does not vitiate the declaration (Falls v. Wilson, 24 Miss. 168; Walt v. Walsh, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 314. And see Knoche v. Perry, 90 Mo. App. 483); so where an executor sues as executor when in fact the action is brought upon his own possession, the words "as executor" do not prevent him from recovering in his own right (Munch v. Williamson, 24 Cal. 167; Cotten v. Davis, 48 N. C. 355; Hornsey v. Dimocke, 1 Vent. 119. And see Comyns Dig. Pl. 2, d). In trespass quare clausum by an administrator the declaration charged that defendants broke and entered the close of plaintiff "administrator as aforesaid" and throughout alleged the injury to have been done to plaintiff's close. It was held that the quoted words were mere description of the person and that the declaration was in his individual and not his representative capacity. Robbins v. Gillett, 2 Pinn. (Wis.) 439, 2 Chandl. (Wis.) 96.

Limitation of rule.— In a complaint to the judge of probate for embezzlement of the estate of a person deceased the complainant having described himself as "administrator and creditor," and it appearing that he was not entitled to act as administrator, it was held that the words "administrator and" were material and could not be rejected as surplusage. "It may have been upon this ground alone that the judge took jurisdiction." Arnold v. Sabin, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 46, 48.

22. Cotten v. Davis, 46 N. C. 355.

23. McNeil's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 113.

24. Rowan v. Lee, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 97. But see Fuggle v. Hobbs, 42 Mo. 537, holding that a description of plaintiff as administrator in the caption may be disregarded where in the body of the complaint plaintiff is executor of deceased.

25. Duncan v. Whedbee, 4 Colo. 143.

26. Alabama.— Lucas v. Pitman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603; Crimm v. Crawford, 29 Ala. 623.

Connecticut.— Stanley v. Stanley, 42 Conn. 539.

New York.— Haddow v. Haddow, 3 Thomps. & C. 777.

Pennsylvania.— Wolfenden v. Pennsylvania Schuykill Valley R. Co., 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 243. Contra, McPartland v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 244, 18 Wkly. Notes Cas. 79.

Tennessee.— Winningham v. Crouch, 2 Swan 170.

Texas.— Whitehead v. Herron, 15 Tex. 127, 65 Am. Dec. 145.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1847.

Amending complaint to conform to summons.— Where plaintiff is described in the summons as suing in his representative capacity as administrator and in the complaint as suing individually, the complaint may be so amended as to make it conform to the summons. Ikelheimer v. Chapman, 32 Ala. 676.

Where the complaint shows suit in representative capacity, both in its body and in the marginal statement of the parties, it may

(b) In Actions Against Personal Representatives — aa. Necessity and Sufficiency of Allegations. In an action against an executor or administrator it is necessary to state that he is sued as executor or administrator if it is sought to hold him liable as such.[27] The word "as" prefixed to the title of defendant indicates that he is sued in his representative capacity.[28] If, however, he is described "executor" without the word "as" prefixed, the word "executor" will be considered merely description of the person and the action will be considered as brought against him in his individual capacity,[29] unless the pleading contains other averments showing that he is sued in his representative capacity which will be sufficient as no particular form of words is required.[30] Defendant need not be described in his representative capacity in the beginning of the declaration if in a subsequent part thereof he is declared against as such.[31] Where the complaint in an action against an executor contains several causes of action separately stated an allegation showing defendant's representative character need not be contained in each count. One allegation at the conclusion of the complaint is sufficient.[32]

bb. Rejection of Words Descriptive of Capacity as Surplusage. Where suit is brought against a personal representative on a cause of action for which he can be held liable only in his individual capacity the description of him in the pleading as executor or administrator will be considered surplusage and may be rejected as such. It does not vitiate the pleading.[33] The naming of him as executor or be so amended as to describe the cause of action with more particularity, and thus authorize a recovery by him in his representative capacity. Farrow v. Bragg, 30 Ala. 261.

27. Brown v. Hicks, 1 Ark. 232; Bishop v. Harrison, 2 Leigh (Va.) 532. See also McNeill v. Cook, 33 Ala. 278; Hawkins v. Forrest, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 167.

Reason for rule.— If the rule was different, defendant could not plead ne unques executor or if he was not an administrator or anything else that would abate the suit or writ. Brown v. Hicks, 1 Ark. 232.

Death of one of several defendants.—Where the facts stated and the prayer for relief fully characterize the actions against him and defendants as one against them in their representative capacity this is enough to sustain a judgment against the survivors notwithstanding the death of one. Patterson v. Copeland, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 460.

28. Austin v. Munroe, 47 N. Y. 360. And see Yates v. Hoffman, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

29. Arkansas.— Brown v. Hicks, 1 Ark. 232.

Georgia.— Glisson v. Weil, 117 Ga. 842, 45 S. E. 221. But see Jennings v. Wright, 54 Ga. 537.

Kentucky.— Hood v. Link, 2 B. Mon. 37.

New York.— Bannon v. McGrane, 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 517.

Vermont.— Rich v. Sowles, 64 Vt. 408, 23 Atl. 723, 15 L. R. A. 850.

30. Stoner v. Devilbliss, 70 Md. 144, 16 Atl. 440; Giles v. Perryman, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 164; Smith v. Bobb, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 322; Yates v. Hoffman, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 113; Kley v. Higgins, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 367, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 453.

Illustration.— Where plaintiff alleged that she filed her claim with defendants as executors, and that defendant served her with a written notice refusing to pay the claim, the omission of the word "as" between defendants' names and "executor," etc., in the caption of the complaint, did not render the word "executor," etc., descriptio personæ, and the action one against defendants individually and not as executors, since the allegation was sufficient to show that defendants were sued in their representative capacities. Kley v. Higgins, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 367, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 453.

31. Dean v. Guyse, 1 Saund. 114.

32. Moseley v. Heney, 66 Cal. 478, 6 Pac. 134. And see Epe v. Dudley, 5 Rand. (Va.) 437, holding that if all the counts are laid against defendant as administrator, they will be held applicable to him in that capacity, although some of them omit to aver that the claim is for money due from the intestate.

33. Alabama.— Johnson v. Gaines, 8 Ala. 791; Peters v. Heydenfeldt, 3 Ala. 205.

California.— Heydenfeldt v. Jacobs, 107 Cal. 373, 40 Pac. 492.

Kentucky.— King v. Beeler, 4 Bibb 83.

Tennessee.— Braden v. Hollingsworth, 8 Humphr. 19.

Virginia.— Belvin v. French, 84 Va. 81, 3 S. E. 891; Fitzhugh v. Fitzhugh, 11 Gratt. 300, 62 Am. Dec. 653.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1816.

But see Beaty v. Gingles, 53 N. C. 302; Hailey v. Wheeler, 49 N. C. 159, in which it was held that in an action in which a personal representative must be sued in his individual and not in his representative capacity, the words "as executor" cannot be rejected as surplusage.

Illustrations of rule.—In a suit for a devastavit, it is not necessary to style defendant as administrator but declaring against him as administrator is but description of the person and does not vitiate the pleading (King v. Beeler, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 83); so where executors are sued personally for wrongfully administrator neither adds to nor diminishes his individual responsibility and is matter of form and not of substance.[34] So where an action is brought, the object of which is to charge defendant individually and a legal ground for the individual liability of the representative is set forth in the pleading, the fact that he was named therein as executor does not vitiate the pleading and this allegation may be treated as surplusage.[35] Under these circumstances it is not improper to name defendant as administrator by way of description or for the purpose of showing the circumstances of the transaction and the origin of the liability.[36]

cc. Amendments. If defendant is sued in a representative character the pleading may be amended so as to permit a recovery against him personally,[37] and if sued personally the pleading may be amended so as to charge him in his capacity as administrator.[38] So if defendant is improperly described as a personal representative of the estate of a person designated when he is in fact the administrator of the estate of another person, this is a mere misdescription of the representative capacity and may be amended.[39]

(c) Methods of Raising Objection For Failure to Allege Representative Capacity.[40] If plaintiff's incapacity to sue in a representative capacity does not clearly appear from the statement of the declaration or complaint the objection cannot be taken by demurrer but only by plea or answer,[41] or motion to make the allegation more certain and specific.[42] But if the declaration or complaint shows on its face that plaintiff has not capacity to sue as a personal representative, objection must be taken by demurrer or it will be considered waived.[43] collecting the proceeds of an insurance policy payable to the heirs, the statement in the complaint that when they collected such proceeds defendants were acting as executors is immaterial (Heydenfeldt v. Jacobs, 107 Cal. 373, 40 Pac. 492).

34. Johnson v. Gaines, 8 Ala. 791.

35. Williamson v. Stevens, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 518, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 1047; Fleischman v. Shoemaker, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 152, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 415; Miltenberger v. Schlegel, 7 Pa. St. 241. And see Malone v. Davis, 67 Cal. 279, 7 Pac. 703; People v. Houghtaling, 7 Cal. 348. But compare Fitzhugh v. Fitzhugh, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 300, 62 Am. Dec. 653, holding that if the demand may possibly be maintained against the personal representative as such, the description of him as such cannot be treated as surplusage, and if the action cannot be maintained against him in his representative capacity it must fail.

36. Waldsmith v. Waldsmith, 2 Ohio 156.

37. Lucas v. Pittman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603 [overruling Christian v. Morris, 50 Ala. 585; Taylor v. Taylor, 43 Ala. 649]; McDonald v. Ward, 57 Conn. 304, 18 Atl. 51; Tighe v. Pope, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 180. Contra, Sterrett v. Barker, 119 Cal. 492, 51 Pac. 695.

Discretion in allowing amendment.— On failure to recover against executors as such the court is not bound to allow plaintiff to amend his petition so as to make a case against them as individuals; it not being shown to be in furtherance of justice, and such amendment substantially changing the nature of plaintiff's claim. Fleischman v. Shoemaker, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 152, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 415.

On a bill asking a decree against defendant as administrator it was held that a demurrer to an amendment charging him individually should have been sustained. Smith v. Ardis, 49 Ga. 602.

In an action against an executor as such on a note executed by him as executor the complaint may be amended on demurrer filed for failure to show a cause of action against him as executor by adding counts stating an indebtedness by testator in his lifetime and striking out the count on the note described in the original complaint. Taylor v. Perry, 48 Ala. 240.

Amendment after trial.— Where the declaration alleges promises by the intestate, plaintiff cannot recover for services after his death, but after a full trial and a referee's report in plaintiff's favor under such counts, plaintiff may be permitted to amend by adding the proper counts on paying costs of the motion to set aside the report. Smith v. Proctor, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 72.

38. Poole v. Hines, 52 Ga. 500; Hutchinson v. Tucker, 124 Mass. 240.

39. McElwain v. Corning, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 16. See also Kendall v. Riley, 45 Tex. 20.

40. See infra, XIV, K, 1, a, (II), (A), (4), (b).

41. Locke v. Klunker, 123 Cal. 231, 55 Pac. 993; Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 698; Paterson v. Pagan, 18 S. C. 584. Compare Stover v. Reading, 29 N. J. Eq. 152, holding that, if a bill, declaration, or complaint by a personal representative is defective on its face for failure to show plaintiff's capacity to sue as such, the objection may be taken by demurrer.

42. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. McClure, 47 Ind. 317.

43. Kentucky.—Warfield v. Gardner, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 423.

The objection cannot be raised by general demurrer,[44] but only by special demurrer.[45]

(2) Allegations Showing Authority to Sue as Personal Representative — (a) Necessity of Allegations. There is much conflict of authority as to the necessity of alleging authority to sue as a personal representative and the allegations essential to show it and decisions even in the same state are not always harmonious. Many decisions clearly hold that in actions by personal representatives as such all that is necessary to be shown is that they are suing in a representative capacity and that nothing need be alleged to show their right or authority to sue in that capacity.[46] This also seems to be the rule deducible from other decisions, although not so stated in so many words.[47] On the other hand there are many decisions which hold that plaintiff must state in a direct and issuable form the facts showing his right or authority to sue in a representative capacity.[48]

Missouri.— Fuggle v. Hobbs, 42 Mo. 537.

New York.— Nanz v. Oakley, 122 N. Y. 631, 25 N. E. 263; Varnum v. Taylor, 59 Hun 554, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 242; Robbins v. Wells, 1 Rob. 666.

South Carolina.— Mickle v. Congaree Constr. Co., 41 S. C. 394, 18 S. E. 725.

Wisconsin.— Moir v. Dodson, 14 Wis. 279.

Want of jurisdiction of court to appoint.— Where the petition in an action by an administrator affirmatively shows that the court appointing the administrator had no jurisdiction to grant administration, objection may be made by special demurrer. Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 698.

Where the complaint shows that plaintiff is a foreign administrator or executor the objection will be considered waived unless taken by demurrer. Robbins v. Wells, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 666; Moir v. Dodson, 14 Wis. 279.

In Indiana objections based on failure of the complaint to show capacity to sue cannot be raised by demurrer. Under the statutes of this state plaintiff's right to sue in a representative capacity can only be questioned by plea verified by affidavit. Hansford v. Van Auken, 79 Ind. 157.

44. Gibson v. Ponder, 40 Ark. 195. But see Toner v. Wagner, 158 Ind. 447, 63 N. E. 859.

A demurrer alleging that the complaint fails to show a cause of action does not raise the question that the complaint does not sufficiently show legal capacity to sue. Secor v. Pendleton, 47 Hun (N. Y.) 281.

45. De Haven v. De Haven, 104 Ky. 41, 46 S. W. 215, 47 S. W. 597, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 663; Warfield v. Gardner, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 423; Boyle v. Southern R. Co., 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 289, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 465.

Objection that plaintiff's appointment is void if apparent on the face of the complaint must be taken by special demurrer. Cochran v. Thompson, 18 Tex. 652.

46. District of Columbia.—Jordan v. Hamlink, 21 D. C. 189.

Indiana.— Toner v. Wagner, 158 Ind. 447, 63 N. E. 859; Kelley v. Love, 35 Ind. 106; McDowell v. North, 24 Ind. App. 435, 55 N. E. 789; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cummings, 24 Ind. App. 192, 53 N. E. 1026.

Kentucky.— Walton v. Kindred, 5 T. B. Mon. 388.

Maine.— Brown v. Nourse, 55 Me. 230, 92 Am. Dec. 583.

Massachusetts.— Langdon v. Potter, 11 Mass. 313.

Missouri.— Duncan v. Duncan, 19 Mo. 368.

Rhode Island.— Ellis v. Appleby, 4 R. I. 462.

Virginia.— Lawson v. Lawson, 16 Gratt. 230, 80 Am. Dec. 702.

United States.— Champlin v. Tilley, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,586, Brunn. Col. Cas. 71, 3 Day (Conn.) 303.

The title of an administrator to letters of administration need not appear in pleadings to entitle them to be read in evidence. Beale v. Hall, 22 Ga. 431.

47. Alabama.— Lucas v. Pittman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603; Watson v. Collins, 37 Ala. 587; Crimm v. Crawford, 29 Ala. 623.

Arkansas.— Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425; Sabin v. Hamilton, 2 Ark. 485.

Pennsylvania.— Oram v. Rothermel, 98 Pa. St. 300.

Vermont.— Pope v. Stacy, 28 Vt. 96.

United States.— Cawood v. Nichols, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,531, 1 Cranch C. C. 180.

48. California.— Barfield v. Price, 40 Cal. 535.

Illinois.— Foster v. Adler, 84 Ill. App. 654. And see Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358.

Minnesota.— Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118; Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97.

Mississippi.— Cushing v. Gibson, Walk. 87.

Missouri.— Headlee v. Cloud, 51 Mo. 301; Dodson v. Scroggs, 47 Mo. 285; State v. Matson, 38 Mo. 489.

New York.— Secor v. Pendleton, 47 Hun 281; Kingsland v. Stokes, 25 Hun 107; Forrest v. New York, 13 Abb. Pr. 350; Sheldon v. Hoy, 11 How. Pr. 11; Beach v. King, 17 Wend. 197.

Ohio.— Neil v. Cherry, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 28, 1 West. L. Month. 155.

Texas.— Beal v. Batte, 31 Tex. 371; Boyle v. Forbes, 9 Tex. 35; Wilson v. Hall, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 489, 30 S. W. 327.

United States.— Campbell v. U. S., 13 Ct. Cl. 108.

Showing proof of will.— A complaint by an

(b) Sufficiency of Allegations.[49] No particular form of words is absolutely essential to show plaintiff's authority to sue in a representative character, but the fact must appear substantially so that issue may be made upon the allegation if proper to do so.[50] The pleading must allege the appointment of plaintiff as executor or administrator,[51] or facts from which appointment will be necessarily inferred;[52] but the mere statement that plaintiff has been duly appointed executor or administrator is not enough.[53] A proper and sufficient way to show authority is to allege that plaintiff is executor by virtue of letters issued by a probate court of some county, giving the name of the court and the time at which the letters were issued.[54] It is not necessary to set forth the fact showing that the probate court has jurisdiction.[55] While it would be better to allege directly that letters executor for injuries to land is bad on demurrer unless it shows that the will has been proved. Pott v. Pennington, 16 Minn. 509.

A complaint on a note by an assignee of a non-resident executor is demurrable as failing to state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action, where it fails to allege that the will has been probated in this state. Heyward v. Williams, 57 S. C. 235, 35 S. E. 503.

49. For form of declaration or complaint held sufficient to show authority to sue in a representative capacity see the following cases:

Kansas.— Central Branch Union Pac. R. Co. v. Andrews, 37 Kan. 162, 14 Pac. 509.

Minnesota.— Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97.

Montana.— Knight v. Le Beau, 19 Mont. 223, 47 Pac. 952.

New York.—Brenner v. McMahon, 20 N. Y. App. Div. 3, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 643.

South Carolina.— Nohrden v. Northwestern R. Co., 54 S. C. 492, 32 S. E. 524.

50. Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118; Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97.

51. Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97; Kingsland v. Stokes, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 107; Sheldon v. Hoy, 11 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 11; Neil v. Cherry, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 28, 1 West. L. Month. 155.

52. Bird v. Cotton, 57 Mo. 568.

53. Judah v. Fredericks, 57 Cal. 389; Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118; Secor v. Pendleton, 47 Hun (N. Y.) 281; Sheldon v. Hoy, 11 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 11; Beach v. King, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 197; Bliss Code Pl. § 264. See also Boyle v. Southern R. Co., 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 289, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 465. But see San Francisco, etc., Land Co. v. Hartung, 138 Cal. 223, 71 Pac. 337; Collins v. O'Laverty, 136 Cal. 31, 68 Pac. 327 [which cases distinguish Judah v. Fredericks, 57 Cal. 389, and hold such averment sufficient under a provision enacted since the decision of that case].

Renewal of appointment.— Where by statute an administrator's powers continue but one year unless renewed and an administrator sues thirteen years after appointment he must allege and prove a renewal of his appointment. Boyle v. Forbes, 9 Tex. 35.

54. Minnesota.— Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118; Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97.

Missouri.— Dodson v. Scroggs, 47 Mo. 285.

North Carolina.— Hurst v. Addington, 84 N. C. 143, holding that where a complaint states such facts a demurrer on the ground that it does not show the probate of the will and qualification of the executor before suit brought is frivolous.

Ohio.— Neil v. Cherry, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 28, 1 West. L. Month. 155.

South Carolina.— Dial v. Tappan, 20 S. C. 167, holding that such allegations include an averment of all that is necessary to warrant the court in making the appointment and include an averment that the will has been admitted to probate. And see Cohu v. Husson, 113 N. Y. 662, 21 N. E. 703 [affirming 14 Daly 200, 6 N. Y. St. 292].

Where it appears from the caption of a complaint that the action was in a certain county and it alleges the appointment of plaintiff as administrator in such county, it is sufficient as against an objection that it fails to set forth the county in which the appointment was made which is made for the first time on appeal. Hughes v. Meehan, 84 Minn. 226, 87 N. W. 768.

Failure to allege date of death.— In an action by an administratrix, an allegation that her decedent died intestate, and that on a certain date plaintiff was appointed administratrix of decedent's estate was not objectionable for failure to allege the date of decedent's death and by reason thereof failing to show that deceased did not die until after plaintiff was appointed administratrix of his estate since such a contingency would not be presumed. Stanley v. Sierra Nevada Silver Min. Co., 118 Fed. 931.

In an action by the trustees under a non-intervention will, an averment that they have duly qualified and accepted the trust and are the acting executors sufficiently shows that they are executors, although it is not alleged that letters testamentary have been granted to them. Boyer v. Robinson, 26 Wash. 117, 66 Pac. 119.

Omission of word "county."—An allegation that plaintiffs have "qualified as executors in Probate Court of Darlington, S. C.," has been construed to mean the probate court of the county of Darlington. Jerkowski v. Marco, 56 S. C. 241, 34 S. E. 386.

55. Cohu v. Husson, 113 N. Y. 662, 21 N. E. 703 [affirming 14 Daly 200, 6 N. Y. St. 292].

testamentary or of administration have been issued,[56] such allegation is unnecessary if this fact appears from other facts stated.[57] Acceptance of the trust and qualification, it has been held, need not be alleged; both are implied in the grant and issuance of letters testamentary.[58] If the suit is brought by an administrator de bonis non, the complaint must state the name of the former representative and allege non-payment to him.[59] It should also allege his death, resignation, revocation of letters, or discharge by the court, since a court has no power to appoint an administrator de bonis non while there is an original administrator.[60] So if the suit is brought by an administrator with the will annexed, during the executor's absence, it must be alleged that the executor continued absent at the time of bringing the action.[61]

(3) Allegations Showing Defendant's Authority to Act as Personal Representative.[62] According to some decisions, where a person is sued as executor or administrator, the pleading must allege his appointment as such and that he was acting in that capacity.[63] These decisions are, however, against the weight of authority, it being very generally held that it is sufficient to allege that the suit is brought against defendant in his representative capacity without setting forth facts to show that he has authority to act in that capacity.[64]

(b) In Suits in Equity. Complainants who file a bill in equity as personal representatives must show on the face of the bill their authority to sue as such.[65]

56. Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97. See also Dodson v. Scroggs, 47 Mo. 285.

57. Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97.

58. Mattison v. Childs, 5 Colo. 78. And see cases cited supra, note 57. But see Wilson v. Hall, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 489, 36 S. W. 327, which hold the contrary.

59. Griffith v. Fischli, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 427; Vanblaricum v. Yeo, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 322.

60. Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118; State v. Green, 65 Mo. 528. And see Cummings v. Edmunson, 5 Port. (Ala.) 145.

Where an estate has been under the charge of two administrators, the petition in a suit by an administrator de bonis non should show that the administration of both has been brought to a close. State v. Green, 65 Mo. 528.

Allegations held sufficient.— A complaint alleging testator's death, the probate of his will, the issuance of letters to his executors, their resignation, and the acceptance thereof by the court; that plaintiff was appointed administrator by the probate court of a designated county; that he qualified and that letters were issued to him; and that he was still administrator sufficiently shows his authority to sue. Lucas v. Todd, 28 Cal. 182.

Continuance of authority.— Where a complaint in an action by an administrator shows that plaintiff was appointed as administrator only six days before the action was brought, and it is not shown that he has since been discharged, it need not be alleged that he is still qualified to act as administrator. Nohrden v. Northeastern R. Co., 54 S. C. 492, 32 S. E. 524.

61. Lewis v. Ewing, 3 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 44.

62. For form of complaint held sufficient to show defendant's authority to act as executor see Kirsch v. Derby, 96 Cal. 602, 31 Pac. 567.

63. Barfield v. Price, 40 Cal. 535. See also Crimm v. Townsend, 9 Ala. 403; Flinn v. Gouley, 139 Cal. 623, 73 Pac. 542.

64. California.—Wise v. Williams, 72 Cal. 544, 14 Pac. 204. But see California cases cited supra, note 63.

Mississippi.— Quinn v. Moss, 12 Sm. & M. 365.

Missouri.— Dodson v. Scroggs, 47 Mo. 285.

New Jersey.— Durbrow v. Eppens, 65 N. J. L. 10, 46 Atl. 582.

England.— Holliday v. Fletcher, 2 Ld. Raym. 1510.

Reason for rule.— It has been said in support of this rule that plaintiff is not supposed to know the particulars and that it is therefore sufficient to allege in general terms that he was executor or administrator of the particular estate (Dodson v. Scroggs, 47 Mo. 285), and that suing one as administrator necessarily implies that administration was granted to him, since no person can be administrator except by having letters of administration granted to him (Holliday v. Fletcher, 2 Ld. Raym. 1510).

In an action to foreclose a mortgage purporting to be executed by an executor and trustee in his representative capacity the complaint need not allege that the mortgagor was in fact such executor and trustee and the facts relating to his appointment (Kingsland v. Stokes, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 107; Skelton v. Scott, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 375); he is estopped to deny his appointment (Skelton v. Scott, supra).

65. Colorado.— Buck v. Fischer, 2 Colo. 182.

Michigan.— Middlesworth v. Nixon, 2 Mich. 425, 57 Am. Dec. 136.

New Jersey.— Stover v. Reading, 29 N. J.

Mere description of themselves as executor or administrator in the commencement of the bill is not sufficient,[66] nor is it sufficient to allege that complainant was duly appointed administrator.[67] If the bill is filed by one as executor the will must be pleaded or exhibited,[68] and it must be alleged that the will has been proved, or the bill is demurrable.[69] So the bill will be demurrable if it shows that the will was proved in an improper court.[70] A bill by a personal representative as such must show that letters testamentary or of administration had been granted to complainant,[71] and it must be alleged that he has qualified as such.[72] It is not usual or necessary, however, to state when testator or intestate died.[73] If the bill contains proper allegations to show that complainant is entitled to relief as executor or administrator he need not be so styled in the process[74] or in the bill itself.[75] It is not necessary that a defendant to a bill in equity sought to be charged as a personal representative be described as executor or administrator in the process,[76] or in the commencement or conclusion of the bill,[77] where the bill

Eq. 152; Pelletreau v. Rathbone, 1 N. J. Eq. 331.

North Carolina.— Belloat v. Morse, 3 N. C. 157.

England.— Humphreys v. Ingledon, 1 P. Wms. 752, 24 Eng. Reprint 599.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1815.

Showing in an exhibit to the bill that the complainants have authority to sue as personal representatives is not sufficient. This fact must be shown by the bill itself. Buck v. Fischer, 2 Colo. 182.

66. Middlesworth v. Nixon, 2 Mich. 425, 57 Am. Dec. 136.

67. Otto v. Regina Music-Box Co., 87 Fed. 510.

68. Trapnall v. Burton, 24 Ark. 371.

69. Michigan.— Middlesworth v. Nixon, 2 Mich. 425, 57 Am. Dec. 136.

New Jersey.— Pelletreau v. Rathbone, 1 N. J. Eq. 331.

North Carolina.— Belloat v. Morse, 3 N. C. 157.

United States.— Armstrong v. Lear, 12 Wheat. 169, 6 L. ed. 589; Trecothick v. Austin, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,164, 4 Mason 16.

England.— Humphrey v. Ingledon, 1 P. Wms. 752, 24 Eng. Reprint 599; Mitford Eq. Pl. by Jeremy 155–156; Story Eq. Pl. § 260.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1815.

On revival of suit.— If a person seeks to revive a suit as executor, he must state in his bill that he has proved the will; otherwise the bill will be demurrable. Story Eq. Pl. § 625.

70. Mitford Eq. Pl. by Jeremy 155–156; Story Eq. Pl. § 260. And see Pelletreau v. Rathbone, 1 N. J. Eq. 331.

71. Trapnall v. Burton, 24 Ark. 371; Stover v. Reading, 29 N. J. Eq. 152.

Amendment.— An administrator appointed in one state who has brought suit in the courts of another before he has obtained letters therefrom and has afterward obtained letters there may allege the fact by way of amendment. Giddings v. Green, 48 Fed. 489; Black v. Henry G. Allen Co., 42 Fed. 618, 9 L. R. A. 433; Swatzel v. Arnold, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,682, Woodw. 383.

72. Belloat v. Morse, 3 N. C. 157.

73. Bosbell v. Thigpen, 75 Miss. 308, 92 So. 823.

74. Matthews v. Hoagland, 48 N. J. Eq. 455, 21 Atl. 1054; Plaut v. Plaut, 44 N. J. Eq. 18, 13 Atl. 849; Evans v. Evans, 23 N. J. Eq. 71.

75. Buck v. Fischer, 2 Colo. 182; Walker v. Cady, 106 Mich. 21, 63 N. W. 1005; Matthews v. Hoagland, 48 N. J. Eq. 455, 21 Atl. 1054; Plaut v. Plaut, 44 N. J. Eq. 18, 13 Atl. 849; Evans v. Evans, 23 N. J. Eq. 71. Compare Capehart v. Hale, 6 W. Va. 547, in which it was held that it is not proper for an executor who sues to describe himself merely as "personal representative," but he should describe himself as "executor" in order that defendant may be informed as to the particular character in which he professes to act and may conveniently ascertain and prove or controvert the reality of the character and the consequences resulting from it and that the court and clerk may conveniently shape and enter the decree in conformity to the statement.

Sufficient and insufficient bills illustrated. — The complainants in a bill described themselves as "administrators of the goods and chattels, rights, credits, moneys and effects which were of Henry Ossum, late of Huntington county, deceased, who died intestate." The bill further stated that "on or about the 1st day of October, 1848, said Henry Ossum died intestate, and that your orators were duly appointed," etc. It was held that the bill sufficiently showed that the complainants were administrators of Henry Ossum, deceased. English v. Roche, 6 Ind. 62. The allegation that the complainant "hath taken upon himself the burthen of executing the trusts and duties required of him by the will, and become duly qualified as executor" is not sufficient to show his authority to sue. Pelletreau v. Rathbone, 1 N. J. Eq. 331.

76. Matthews v. Hoagland, 48 N. J. Eq. 455, 25 Atl. 1054; Evans v. Evans, 23 N. J. Eq. 71.

77. Matthews v. Hoagland, 48 N. J. Eq. 455, 21 Atl. 1054; White v. Davis, 48 N. J. Eq. 22, 21 Atl. 187; Plaut v. Plaut, 44 N. J. Eq. 18, 13 Atl. 849.

sets forth facts sufficient to show that he is liable in that capacity. A bill alleging the death of a designated person and that defendant was thereafter appointed and acted as his administratrix sufficiently charges defendant's representative capacity.[78] A further allegation that he accepted the trust is not necessary.[79] Title to revive the suit against defendant is not shown by the mere statement that such defendant is the representative of a party who had answered the original bill.[80]

(II) PROFERT AND OYER — (A) Profert — (1) NECESSITY. If an executor or administrator sues in his individual capacity it is unnecessary for him to make profert of his letters testamentary or of administration.[81] Many decisions lay down the rule without qualification that where an executor or administrator sues as such he must make profert of his letters testamentary or of administration.[82] Others hold that where the suit is one which must be brought in a representative capacity, plaintiff must make profert of his letters.[83] There are, however, decisions holding that profert is only necessary where suit must be brought in a representative capacity.[84] In some jurisdictions independently of any statutory provisions profert has never been necessary.[85] In others it has been dispensed with by express statutory provisions.[86] And in some of the code states where the question has arisen it has been declared that, whatever the common-law rule might have been, it is no longer necessary to make profert.[87]

(2) OBJECT AND EFFECT. The object of profert is to notify defendant not only of the character plaintiff asserts but of the source of his authority,[88] and to afford him an opportunity of taking advantage of any impropriety in the granting of the letters or of any defect to which they may be liable.[89] The effect of profert is to bring the letters testamentary or of administration into court and operates the same as if they had been set out in the declaration.[90]

78. Manning v. Drake, 1 Mich. 34; Winsor v. Pettis, 11 R. I. 506.

79. Manning v. Drake, 1 Mich. 34.

80. Griffith v. Ricketts, 3 Hare 476, 25 Eng. Ch. 475.

81. Brent v. Shook, 36 Ill. 125.

82. Florida.— Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372.

Illinois.— Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; Foster v. Adler, 84 Ill. App. 654.

Mississippi.— Ligon v. Bishop, 43 Miss. 527.

North Carolina.— Hyman v. Gray, 49 N. C. 155; —— v. Oldham, 2 N. C. 165.

Pennsylvania.— McDonald v. Browning, 4 Phila. 21. Contra, Axers v. Musselman, 2 Browne 115, holding that in a suit by an executor for a cause of action arising in the testator's lifetime plaintiff need not make profert of the letters testamentary.

South Carolina.— Trapier v. Mitchell, 2 Nott & M. 64.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1819.

83. Worthington v. McRoberts, 7 Ala. 814; Trapnall v. Craig, 19 Ark. 243; Hynds v. Imboden, 5 Ark. 385; Campbell v. Baldwin, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 364; Beaty v. Gingles, 53 N. C. 302.

84. Hill v. Huckabee, 52 Ala. 155; Riddle v. Hill, 51 Ala. 224; Caller v. Dade, Minor (Ala.) 20; Anderson v. Wilson, 13 Ark. 409; Campbell v. Baldwin, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 364; Savage v. Merian, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 176; Thames v. Richardson, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 484.

Where a contract is made with an administrator as such if he sues on it no profert is necessary because the making of a contract with a personal representative in his representative capacity admits such capacity. Hill v. Huckabee, 52 Ala. 155; Riddle v. Hill, 51 Ala. 224; Harbin v. Levi, 6 Ala. 399; Caller v. Dade, Minor (Ala.) 20; Knott v. Clements, 13 Ark. 335; Walt v. Walsh, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 314.

In a suit on a judgment recovered by an administrator in his own name no profert of letters is necessary, although he describes himself as administrator. Capp v. Gilman, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 45; Biddle v. Wilkins, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 686, 7 L. ed. 315.

85. Langdon v. Porter, 11 Mass. 313; Ellis v. Appleby, 4 R. I. 462; Champlin v. Tilley, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,586, 1 Brunn. Col. Cas. 71, 3 Day (Conn.) 303.

86. Hansford v. Van Auken, 79 Ind. 157; Cromwell v. Barnes, 58 Ind. 20; Wyant v. Wyant, 38 Ind. 48. And see Walton v. Kindred, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 388.

Under the Arkansas statutes which prescribe the form of a petition in debt it has been held unnecessary for an administrator to make profert of his letters. Rawlings v. Paty, 23 Ark. 204.

87. Judah v. Fredericks, 57 Cal. 389; Hamilton v. McIndoo, 81 Minn. 324, 84 N. W. 118; Chamberlain v. Tiner, 31 Minn. 371, 18 N. W. 97; Bright v. Currie, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 433.

88. Vickery v. Bier, 16 Mich. 50; Reynolds v. Torrance, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 59.

89. Reynolds v. Torrance, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 59.

90. Carr v. Wyley, 23 Ala. 821.

(3) Form and Requisites.[91] A formal statement in the declaration or complaint that plaintiff brings into court letters showing his qualification as executor or administrator is sufficient,[92] without alleging that the will had been proven or showing by what authority it had been admitted to probate.[93] The profert of the letters of administration in construction of law places them in the hands of the court of whom oyer is craved and not of the party, and the court is sufficiently informed of the right to sue and that the letters were granted by the proper jurisdiction by the inspection of them.[94] Where the original declaration makes profert, it is not essential that the amended declaration repeat such a profert.[95]

(4) Effect of Failure to Make Profert and Methods of Reaching or Curing Defect. Failure to make profert renders the pleading fatally defective on special demurrer,[96] but it has been held that this defect cannot be reached otherwise than by special demurrer.[97] Objection for want of profert is waived by pleading to the merits,[98] because the plea is interposed after the profert has enabled defendant to judge of the sufficiency of the latter.[99] After verdict it is too late to object to the want of profert of letters of administration. The defect is cured by verdict,[1] and an arrest of judgment will not be granted because of such defect.[2] The fact that the administrator was made a party after abatement of the suit by the death of plaintiff does not alter the rule.[3] Although objection for failure to make profert is properly raised, it may be cured by amendment.[4]

(b) Oyer. Although plaintiffs name themselves administrators yet if they have not made profert of their letters of administration they are not bound to give oyer of them.[5] And if profert is unnecessarily made, it may be treated as

91. For forms of profert held sufficient see Linder v. Monroe, 33 Ill. 388; Brown v. Jones, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 334; McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479; Thompson v. Reynolds, 3 C. & C. 123, 14 E. C. L. 484.

92. Cocke v. Walters, 6 Ark. 404; Linder v. Monroe, 33 Ill. 388; Brown v. Jones, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 334; McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479. But see dictum in Hynds v. Imboden, 5 Ark. 385.

If defendant desires to question the validity of the probate or the regularity of the grant of letters he should crave oyer and make them part of the record. Cocke v. Walters, 6 Ark. 404.

Where letters of administration had been granted to the predecessor of one suing as administrator, the profert should set forth such facts and that the letters had been revoked. Ketchum v. Morrell, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 58.

Variance.— Where plaintiff makes profert of letters of administration as having been granted to him by the probate court of a particular county, and those given on oyer were granted to him by the clerk of such court in vacation, the variance is immaterial. Knott v. Clements, 13 Ark. 335.

93. Cocke v. Walters, 6 Ark. 404.

94. Brown v. Jones, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 334.

95. McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479.

96. Florida.— Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372.

Indiana.— Campbell v. Baldwin, 6 Blackf. 364.

Mississippi.— Ligon v. Bishop, 43 Miss. 527.

Pennsylvania.— McDonald v. Browning, 4 Phila. 21.

South Carolina.— Trapier v. Mitchell, 2 Nott & M. 64.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1819, 1821.

97. Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372; McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479; Kane v. Paul, 14 Pet. (U. S.) 33, 10 L. ed. 341. And see Mitchell v. Woodward, 2 Marv. (Del.) 311, 43 Atl. 165.

In Arkansas failure to make profert is no cause of demurrer, but should be reached by a rule to produce the letters or a copy thereof. Surginer v. Paddock, 31 Ark. 528.

98. Mitchell v. Woodward, 2 Marv. (Del.) 311, 43 Atl. 165; Vickery v. Beir, 16 Mich. 50; McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479.

99. Vickery v. Beir, 16 Mich. 50.

1. Worthington v. McRoberts, 7 Ala. 814; Copewood v. Taylor, 7 Port. (Ala.) 33; Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372; Vandersmith v. Washmein, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 3; Matheson v. Grant, 2 How. (U. S.) 263, 11 L. ed. 261; Kane v. Paul, 14 Pet. (U. S.) 33, 10 L. ed. 341; Biddle v. Wilkins, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 686, 7 L. ed. 315; Gardner v. Lindo, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,231, 1 Cranch C. C. 78.

Objection made for the first time on appeal for want of profert is too late. McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 184, 14 S. W. 749.

2. Gardner v. Lindo, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,231, 1 Cranch C. C. 78 [reversed on another point in 1 Cranch 343, 2 L. ed. 130].

3. Copewood v. Taylor, 7 Port. (Ala.) 33.

4. Ligon v. Bishop, 43 Miss. 527.

5. Mason v. Lawrason, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,242, 1 Cranch C. C. 190 [affirmed in 3 Cranch 492, 2 L. ed. 509].

surplusage and plaintiff is not bound to produce them on prayer of oyer,[6] even though he sue in his representative character.[7] Nevertheless if he grants oyer of them, they become part of the record and defendant may avail himself of any defense in reference to them that he could have done had oyer been necessarily granted of them in the first instance.[8] Where plaintiff sues in a representative character and necessarily makes profert of his letters, defendant is entitled as a matter of right to a grant of oyer of them,[9] provided the demand therefor is seasonably made, and it will be in time if made before the expiration of the time to plead had expired,[10] but it cannot be made after issue joined.[11] Where demand is seasonably made the declaration is not complete until oyer has been furnished,[12] and failure to produce the letters on demand puts an end to the suit.[13] Upon filing the prayer of oyer of the letters of administration it is the duty of plaintiff to respond thereto as to any other pleading; but the court upon application and a proper showing has the discretionary power to grant plaintiff a reasonable time to respond to the prayer of oyer.[14] On grant of oyer the letters testamentary or a certified copy of them without the proof establishing the will is sufficient prima facie evidence of the authority of the representative to sue.[15] Certificates attached to the letters need not be shown as they form no part of the letters and are merely evidence.[16] On production of the letters defendant may take any exceptions to them by pleading or otherwise which he may think proper.[17] By demurring to the declaration defendant may reach any substantial defect apparent on the face of the letters,[18] and may thus take advantage of any material variance between the letters produced on oyer and the statement of

6. Anderson v. Wilson, 13 Ark. 409; Knott v. Clements, 13 Ark. 335; Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358.

7. Anderson v. Wilson, 13 Ark. 409.

8. Knott v. Clements, 13 Ark. 335.

9. Arkansas.— Trapnall v. Craig, 19 Ark. 243.

Delaware.— Prettyman v. Ratcliffe, 4 Del. 29.

Illinois.— Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358.

New York.— Varick v. Bodine, 3 Hill 444.

North Carolina.— Hyman v. Gray, 49 N. C. 155.

South Carolina.— Trapier v. Mitchell, 2 Nott & M. 64.

United States.— North v. Clark, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,308, 3 Cranch C. C. 93.

England.—Soresby v. Sparrow, 2 Str. 1186.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1822.

Tender of an order of appointment by the probate court is not a sufficient compliance with a demand of oyer. The letters must be produced. Caradine v. Balfour, Walk. (Miss.) 532.

10. Varick v. Bodine, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 444; North v. Clark, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,308, 3 Cranch C. C. 93 [criticizing dictum in Roberts v. Arthur, 2 Salk. 497].

11. —— v. Oldham, 2 N. C. 165; Berry v. Pulliam, 2 N. C. 16; Fisher v. Condy, 4 McCord (S. C.) 344; Trapier v. Mitchell, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 64.

12. Varick v. Bodine, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 444, holding that if plaintiff without complying with the demand enters defendant's default for want of plea, the proceedings will be set aside as irregular.

13. Prettyman v. Waples, 4 Harr. (Del.) 299; Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372; Soresby v. Sparrow, 2 Str. 1186.

Presumptions on appeal.— Where the court discontinues the action for the failure of plaintiff to respond to the prayer of oyer of letters of administration the appellate court will presume in favor of the correctness of the judgment, unless plaintiff puts such facts upon the record as makes it appear that the court erred. Trapnall v. Craig, 19 Ark. 243.

14. Trapnall v. Craig, 19 Ark. 243.

15. Diamond v. Shell, 15 Ark. 26; Collins v. Ryers, 13 Ill. 358. To the same effect see Bales v. Binford, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 415; Beach v. Pears, 1 N. J. L. 288.

On exhibition of letters duly authenticated plaintiff's right to sue cannot be impeached without showing a revocation of the letters or matter avoiding them. Carter v. Menifee, 4 Ark. 152.

16. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358.

17. Trapier v. Mitchell, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 64.

18. Trapnall v. Craig, 19 Ark. 243; Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; Foster v. Adler, 84 Ill. App. 654; —— v. Oldham, 2 N. C. 165. And see Philbrick v. Hazen, 3 N. H. 120.

Want of jurisdiction.—If a declaration does not set forth proper jurisdiction for granting the letters and they appear to be granted by an improper jurisdiction defendant may demur. —— v. Oldham, 2 N. C. 165.

A demurrer based on the ground that letters produced were not stamped cannot be sustained, because it is sufficient to stamp either the letters or administration bonds which need not be produced and the objection if good should be made by plea. Miller v. Henderson, 24 Ark. 344.

them in the declaration.[19] So defendant may avail himself of plaintiff's want of title by plea where the defects are not such as can be reached by demurrer,[20] and if oyer has been seasonably demanded, a plea to plaintiff's capacity as soon as the letters have been filed is in time.[21]

(III) Allegation as to Presentation, Verification, and Rejection of Claim—(A) Necessity. According to the weight of authority where the statutes require presentation of a claim against an estate to the personal representative the declaration or complaint in an action on such claim must allege presentation,[22] and it has been held that this rule applies as well in suits in equity as in actions at law.[23] In some jurisdictions, however, this rule is not recognized and it is held that no allegation of the presentation of claims is necessary,[24] the view being taken that this is a matter of defense.[25] So it has been held that if a statute requires rejection of the claim before suit brought it is necessary in an action on a claim to allege that it has been rejected.[26] Notwithstanding a statute requires verification or an affidavit of the justice of a claim as a condition to bringing suit thereon, it is not necessary that the petition in an action on the claim allege that a proper affidavit had been presented to the personal representative.[27]

(B) Sufficiency. In alleging presentment an averment that notice of the claim

19. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; Foster v. Adler, 84 Ill. App. 654.

20. Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372; —— v. Oldham, 2 N. C. 165.

If the letters are properly authenticated, but defendant has been advised that they had been unduly obtained or that for any other cause they had no right to institute suit, he may avail himself of their want of title by putting in the proper plea. Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372.

21. Lovering v. McKinney, 7 Tex. 521.

22. Hearn v. Kennedy, 85 Cal. 55, 24 Pac. 606; Hentsch v. Porter, 10 Cal. 555; Grant v. Grant, 63 Conn. 530, 29 Atl. 15, 38 Am. St. Rep. 379; Stevens v. Haskell, 72 Me. 244; Maine Cent. Institute v. Haskell, 71 Me. 487; Eaton v. Buswell, 69 Me. 552; Leverett v. Wherry, (Tex. App. 1890) 15 S. W. 121; Walters v. Prestidge, 30 Tex. 65; Fulton v. Black, 21 Tex. 424.

Excuse for non-presentation.—A petition in a suit against an executor on a claim which had not been presented for acceptance which fails to allege why it had not been so presented is insufficient to sustain a judgment against the executor. Rogers v. Harrison, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 494.

Amendment.—Where in an action against executors on a claim plaintiffs fail to allege that the claim was presented in writing to defendants as required by statute, the declaration may be amended. Maine Cent. Institute v. Haskell, 71 Me. 487.

23. Grimball v. Mastin, 77 Ala. 553; Morgan v. Morgan, 68 Ala. 80; Foster v. Holland, 56 Ala. 474; Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124.

Claims secured on homestead.—Under a statute requiring all claims secured by liens or encumbrances on the homestead of a person deceased to be presented and allowed as other claims against the estate a complaint in an action on a note given by defendant and her deceased husband and secured on their homestead which asks for a personal judgment and a sale of the mortgaged property is bad on general demurrer, where it fails to allege that the claim had been presented for allowance. Hearn v. Kennedy, 85 Cal. 55, 24 Pac. 606.

In cases of purely equitable cognizance or in which purely equitable relief is sought the cause of action is not a claim which is required by statute to be presented to the administrator before suit brought and therefore it is not necessary to allege presentation of such claim. Toulouse v. Bukett, 2 Ida. (Hasb.) 184, 10 Pac. 26.

24. Rogers v. Mitchell, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 22; Thomas v. Thomas, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 178; Kittridge v. Folsom, 8 N. H. 98; Durbrow v. Eppens, 65 N. J. L. 10, 46 Atl. 582.

Bill for relief against fraudulent conveyance by decedent.—An allegation of presentation of the claim to the executor is not necessary in order to establish the right to relief on a bill against the executors and the alleged fraudulent grantee of decedent's lands, where the allegations in the bill admitted by the demurrer show complainant to be a creditor of decedent. Rutherford v. Alyea, 53 N. J. Eq. 580, 32 Atl. 70. See also Merchants', etc., Transp. Co. v. Borland, 53 N. J. Eq. 282, 31 Atl. 272.

25. Holland v. Lowe, 101 Ky. 98, 39 S. W. 834, 41 S. W. 9, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 97; Durbrow v. Eppens, 65 N. J. L. 10, 46 Atl. 582.

26. Hentsch v. Porter, 10 Cal. 555; Walters v. Prestidge, 30 Tex. 65; Fulton v. Black, 21 Tex. 424.

An allegation of the executor's failure to take action on a claim presented is proper to take the cause out of the statute requiring suit within a designated time after rejection of a claim. Slocum v. Wilbour, 23 R. I. 97, 49 Atl. 489.

27. Rogers v. Mitchell, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 22; Thomas v. Thomas, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 178. And see Jones v. Rich, 20 Mont. 289, 50 Pac. 936; Dean v. Duffield, 8 Tex. 235, 58 Am. Dec. 108.

was given in writing is not equivalent to an averment that the claim was presented in writing and is insufficient.[28] The complaint should state the facts constituting the presentation.[29] If the statute requiring presentation is also a statute of non-claim and bars the right of action if the claim is not presented within the prescribed time, the declaration, complaint, or bill should show that it was filed in the prescribed time,[30] or state grounds excepting the claim from the operation of the statute;[31] but it has been held that if the declaration or complaint alleges that the claim was properly presented failure to allege that it was filed in the prescribed time,[32] or a defective allegation in this regard,[33] will not render the complaint bad on general demurrer.

(iv) Allegations Negativing Premature Commencement of Suit. In many jurisdictions personal representatives are in some cases protected by express statutory provision from suit for a designated period after the grant of letters of administration. It has been held that the declaration or complaint in an action against a personal representative must show that the suit is brought after expiration of the period during which the personal representative is protected from suit, or that it is within the exceptions provided by the statute granting exemption.[34] The contrary view has, however, been maintained.[35]

(v) Variance Between Process and Declaration. If plaintiff sues in his individual capacity and the process is to answer to him "as administrator" there is such a variance as will justify a plea in abatement.[36] But it is not a material variance that the writ describes a party as administrator and the declaration as administrator with the will annexed.[37] A variance between the relief asked and that specified in the citation is amendable.[38]

(vi) Variance Between Declaration and Proof. In suits by and against executors and administrators, as in all other suits, the pleadings and proofs must correspond. There can be no recovery if there is a substantial variance,[39]

28. Maine Cent. Institute v. Haskell, 71 Me. 487.

Defective averment, how cured.— In an action against an administratrix the complaint alleged that plaintiff duly presented her claim to defendant as administratrix, which claim contained a copy of said promissory note, and was duly verified by the oath of plaintiff in the form prescribed by law. It was held that if this averment was not sufficiently definite and certain the defect would not be fatal to a judgment for plaintiff, in the absence of demurrer or any averment in the answer that the claim was not supported by proper evidence. Chase v. Evoy, 58 Cal. 348.

29. Janin v. Browne, 59 Cal. 37, holding that a complaint alleging that the claim sued on was presented to the administrator within the time limited and that a copy of the claim was given to him with the verification annexed, together with the indorsement thereon which was also attached to the complaint, sufficiently alleges presentation of the claim.

30. Owens v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 92. See Page v. Bartlett, 101 Ala. 193, 13 So. 768.

Declarations held sufficient.— The allegation that plaintiff first presented to the executor his claim in writing and demanded payment thereof more than thirty days before the commencement of the action and within two years after notice given by the executor of his appointment is good. Dexter Sav. Bank v. Copeland, 72 Me. 220.

31. Owens v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 92.

32. McCann v. Pennie, 100 Cal. 547, 25 Pac. 158.

33. Wise v. Hogan, 77 Cal. 184, 19 Pac. 278.

34. Wells v. Applegate, 10 Oreg. 519; Rhodes v. Doggett, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 451, 3 West. L. Month. 134; Green v. Ulwatt, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 427, 3 West. L. Month. 44. And see Levi v. Buchanan, 2 Cinc. Super. Ct. 144, holding that where in a suit against an administrator on a claim against the estate, the petition shows on its face that suit is brought before the expiration of the time during which he is by statute ordinarily exempt from suit, and does not show that the suit is within any of the exceptions to the statute, a demurrer will lie.

35. Granjang v. Markle, 22 Ill. 250. And see Lemmal v. Puska, 54 Tex. 505, holding that, although an executor is not obliged to plead to a suit within twelve months from the date of probate, yet if he does plead, he waives his privilege and a judgment rendered against him is valid.

36. Mohr v. Sherman, 25 Ark. 7. And see Blanchard v. Strait, 8 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 83, holding that it is a fatal variance.

37. Brockman v. McDonald, 16 Ill. 112.

38. Spencer v. Popham, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 425.

39. Roberts v. Levy, (Cal. 1892) 31 Pac. 570; Richards v. Richards, 46 Pa. St. 78.

Amendment.— A variance between the relief petitioned for and that specified in the

but a variance which is immaterial will not prevent a recovery.[40] In applying these general rules it has been held that where suit is brought by a personal representative in his individual capacity he cannot recover by showing a cause of action accruing to him in his representative capacity,[41] and if he sues in his representative capacity he cannot recover on a cause of action accruing to him in his individual capacity.[42] So if a personal representative is sued as such, proof of a claim against him individually will not sustain the declaration,[43] and a suit against him in his individual capacity cannot be maintained by showing a cause of action against decedent.[44] Where plaintiff has a suit pending against defendant as executor all proceedings in other courts intended to create evidence to be used in such suit should be against him in the same character and not in the character of administrator, since an executor represents primarily the devisees and legatees and the administrator represents the heirs at law.[45] If plaintiff describes himself as administrator de bonis non, proof of issuance of general letters of administration to him is not a fatal variance where it is shown that there had been a previous administration,[46] and, where issue is joined on a plea denying that plaintiff is administrator, proof that he is administrator with the will annexed supports the issue.[47] If plaintiff declares as administrator, proof that he was administrator de bonis non is an immaterial variance.[48] So there is no material variance between a complaint to recover money alleged to have been loaned by plaintiffs individually and evidence that the money was loaned by them as executors,[49] nor between the allegations that plaintiff who sues only in his individual capacity recovered a judgment and proof which shows that the judgment was recovered by him in a representative capacity as administrator.[50] Proof that limited letters of administration were granted to plaintiff does not sustain an allegation that unrestricted letters were granted to him, so as to authorize him to maintain an action not designated by the letters,[51] and to authorize a joint judgment against two who are sued jointly as executors, the proof must show a joint liability as such.[52] Where a bill against an administrator avers exhaustion of personal assets and the proof shows a misapplication of those assets, although a liability exists, a decree cannot be granted for the misapplication unless the allegations and prayer shall be amended.[53]

b. Plea or Answer — (i) Denial of Representative Capacity — (A) Plea of Ne Unques Executor or Administrator — (1) Propriety or Necessity of Plea — (a) In General. Plaintiff's capacity to sue as executor or administrator citation is amendable. Spencer v. Popham, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 425.

40. Moseley v. Mastin, 37 Ala. 216; McDonald v. Webster, 71 Vt. 392, 45 Atl. 895.

41. Freeman v. McCann, 37 Ala. 714; Ikelheimer v. Chapman, 32 Ala. 676; Barnum v. Stone, 27 Mich. 332; Glenn v. McCullough, 2 McCord (S. C.) 212.

42. Stanley v. Stanley, 42 Conn. 539; Hoover v. Wells, 35 Miss. 159; Sarell v. Wine, 3 East 409; Dean v. Crane, 6 Mod. 309, 1 Salk. 28.

43. Anderson v. Rice, 20 Ala. 239; Beard v. Cowman, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 152; Fleischman v. Shoemaker, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 152, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 415; Bedford v. Ingram, 5 Hayw. (Tenn.) 155. And see Bartlett v. Hatch, 17 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 461.

44. Ross v. Harden, 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 26. And see Shangle v. Runk, 17 N. J. L. 372, holding that where a writ is against defendants as executors the declaration against them in their individual capacity and the evidence wholly tends to show a liability in their representative capacity there is a fatal variance.

Proof of services rendered decedent sustains a declaration alleging that decedent was indebted to plaintiff for services rendered "defendant." The pleading, although inartificial, shows that the estate and not the administrator in his individual capacity is declared against for an indebtedness of decedent. McDonald v. Webster, 71 Vt. 392, 45 Atl. 895.

45. Fulghum v. Carruthers, 87 Ga. 484, 13 S. E. 597.

46. Moseley v. Mastin, 37 Ala. 216; State v. Price, 21 Mo. 434. And see Steen v. Bennett, 24 Vt. 303.

47. Owings v. Beall, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 257.

48. Barkman v. Duncan, 10 Ark. 465.

49. Myers v. Weger, 62 N. J. L. 432, 42 Atl. 280, since he can sue either in his individual or representative capacity on such a cause of action.

50. Allen v. Lyman, 27 Vt. 20.

51. Kirwin v. Malone, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 93, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 844.

52. Moody v. Ewing, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 521. But see Gray v. White, 5 Ala. 490.

53. Rowan v. Bowles, 21 Ill. 17.

may be denied by special plea,[54] which is called in the books on common-law pleading the plea of ne unques executor or administrator,[55] but it is not a good plea where plaintiff sues in his individual capacity,[56] nor where he sues on a contract made with himself in his representative capacity, irrespective of whether he sues individually or in his representative capacity.[57] On the other hand where one is sued as the personal representative of another he may plead ne unques executor or administrator.[58] If defendant desires to raise the objection that plaintiff has not the capacity to sue as executor or administrator and the suit is based on a cause of action arising in decedent's lifetime plaintiff's representative capacity must be put in issue by a special plea denying it.[59] So the language of many decisions is broad enough to make a special plea necessary whether the cause of action arose in decedent's lifetime or after his death,[60] although others recognize a limitation of the rule in certain causes of action arising after decedent's death.[61]

(b) Effect of Pleading to the Merits. The rule is well settled that where a personal representative sues on a cause of action which he must sue on in his representative capacity, that is, a cause of action accruing to decedent in his lifetime, a plea of the general issue or other plea to the merits operates as an admission of

54. Worthington v. McRoberts, 7 Ala. 814; Weathers v. Newman, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 232.

A plea that the original plaintiff is not dead is a good plea in scire facias to revive a suit in the name of plaintiff as administrator. French v. Frazier, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 425.

55. McDonald v. Cole, 46 W. Va. 186, 32 S. E. 1033.

56. Governor v. Evans, 1 Ark. 349; Spurgen v. Robinet, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 75.

57. Riddle v. Hill, 51 Ala. 224, because the making of a contract is an admission that he is a representative.

58. See Witcher v. Wilson, 47 Miss. 663.

Notice to produce letters.— Where the plea ne unques executor is interposed plaintiff should serve defendants with notice to produce their letters testamentary in order to lay the foundation for the introduction of secondary evidence. Witcher v. Wilson, 47 Miss. 663.

59. Georgia.— Mettitt v. Cotton States L. Ins. Co., 55 Ga. 103; Hazelhurst v. Morrison, 48 Ga. 397; Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 18 Ga. 679.

Kentucky.— Willis v. Willis, 6 Dana 48; Henderson v. Clark, 4 Bibb 391.

South Carolina.— Mickle v. Congaree Constr. Co., 41 S. C. 394, 19 S. E. 725; Reynold v. Torrance, 2 Brev. 59.

Tennessee.— McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479; Cheek v. Wheatly, 11 Humphr. 556.

England.— Thynne v. Protheroe, 2 M. & S. 553.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1839.

Contra.— Gilmore v. Morris, 13 Mo. App. 114, holding that an allegation in the petition that plaintiff is administrator is put in issue by a general denial.

Amendment.— It has been held that defendant should be permitted to amend his plea filed by adding to the plea of the general issue the plea of ne unques executor. Vermilyea v. Beatty, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 57.

In Indiana by express statutory provision (Rev. St. § 2498) the question of plaintiff's capacity to sue can only be raised by sworn answer. Hansford v. Vanauken, 79 Ind. 302; Kelley v. Love, 35 Ind. 106.

60. Alabama.— Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Trammel, 93 Ala. 350, 9 So. 870. And see Johnson v. Kyser, 127 Ala. 309, 27 So. 784.

California.— Liening v. Gould, 13 Cal. 598.

Illinois — Chicago Legal News Co. v. Browne, 103 Ill. 317; Steele v. Thatcher, 79 Ill. 400; Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; Ballance v. Flisby, 3 Ill. 63; Dye v. Gritton, 29 Ill. App. 54.

Iowa.— Mayes v. Turley, 60 Iowa 407, 14 N. W. 731.

Maine.— Brown v. Nourse, 55 Me. 230, 92 Am. Dec. 583.

Massachusetts.— Langdon v. Potter, 11 Mass. 313.

New York.— Stone v. Groton Bridge, etc., Co., 77 Hun 99, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 446.

Texas.— Callahan v. Hendrix, 79 Tex. 494, 15 S. W. 593; Dignowitty v. Coleman, 77 Tex. 98, 13 S. W. 857; Cochran v. Thompson, 18 Tex. 652.

West Virginia.— McDonald v. Cole, 46 W. Va. 186, 32 S. E. 1033.

Wisconsin.— Ewen v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 38 Wis. 613.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1838, 1839.

But see Hazelhurst v. Morrison, 48 Ga. 397; Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 18 Ga. 679.

Where plaintiff alleges that he is administrator de bonis non and the note in suit is payable to another person as administrator of the same estate, plaintiff need not prove that he was administrator de bonis non in the absence of a plea denying his allegation to that effect. Tobler v. Stubblefield, 32 Tex. 188.

61. See infra, XIV, K, 1, b, (I), (A), (1), (b).

his representative capacity and he need not prove it.[62] By such plea plaintiff's character is not questioned but only his right to recover on the merits.[63] So there are many decisions which lay down the rule broadly that in an action by a personal representative in his capacity as such a plea to the merits admits his representative capacity and obviates the necessity of proving it and the weight of authority sustains this view.[64] While it is true that most of these decisions were in cases where the cause of action arose prior to the death of testator or intestate, 62. Colorado.— Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Woodward, 4 Colo. 1.

Delaware.—Mitchell v. Woodward, 2 Marv. 311, 43 Atl. 165.

Indiana.— Pollard v. Buttery, 3 Blackf. 239.

Kentucky.— Willis v. Willis, 6 Dana 48; Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. 52; Kerley v. West, 3 Litt. 362; Henderson v. Clark, 4 Bibb 391; Floyd v. Breckenridge, 4 Bibb 14.

South Carolina.— Reynolds v. Torrance, 2 Brev. 59.

Tennessee.—McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479; Cheek v. Wheatly, 11 Humphr. 556.

Vermont.— Walker v. Wooster, 61 Vt. 403, 17 Atl. 792.

West Virginia.— McDonald v. Cole, 46 W. Va. 186, 32 S. E. 1033.

United States.— Champlin v. Tilley, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,586, Brunn. Col. Cas. 71, 3 Day (Conn.) 303.

England.— Marsfield v. Marsh, 2 Ld. Raym. 824; Thynne v. Protheroe, 2 M. & S. 553; Gidley v. Williams, 1 Salk. 37.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1841.

Contra.— Gilmore v. Morris, 13 Mo. App. 114.

Representative capacity is admitted by pleas of non assumpsit (Mitchell v. Woodward, 2 Marv. (Del.) 311, 43 Atl. 165; Cheek v. Wheatly, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 556), in equity (Cheek v. Wheatly, supra), non est factum (Kerley v. West, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 362), non detinet (Willis v. Willis, 6 Dana (Ky.) 48; Floyd v. Breckenridge, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 14), covenant performed (Helm v. Jones, 9 Dana (Ky.) 26), or a plea in bar (Pollard v. Buttery, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 239; Clark v. Pishon, 31 Me. 503), except, of course, pleas ne unques executor or administrator which are generally considered pleas in bar, and are the appropriate pleas for denying representative capacity.

63. Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Woodward, 4 Colo. 1.

64. Alabama.— Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Trammell, 93 Ala. 350, 9 So. 870; Clarke v. Clarke, 51 Ala. 498; Worsham v. Goar, 4 Port. 441.

Arkansas.— Kowanachi v. Askew, 17 Ark. 595.

Florida.—Sullivan v. Honacker, 6 Fla. 372; Raney v. Baron, 1 Fla. 327.

Georgia.— Kenan v. Du Bignon, 46 Ga. 258.

Illinois.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 180 Ill. 453, 54 N. E. 325 [affirming 77 Ill. 492]; Union R., etc., Co. v. Shacklet, 119 Ill. 232, 10 N. E. 896; Chicago Legal News Co. v. Browne, 103 Ill. 317; Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; McKinley v. Braden, 2 Ill. 64; Harte v. Fraser, 104 Ill. App. 201; Dye v. Gritton, 29 Ill. App. 54.

Iowa.— Mayes v. Turley, 60 Iowa 407, 14 N. W. 731.

Kansas.— Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. McFarland, 2 Kan. App. 662, 43 Pac. 788.

Louisiana.— Dirmeyer v. O'Hern, 39 La. Ann. 961, 3 So. 132.

Maine.— Stewart v. Smith, 98 Me. 104, 56 Atl. 401; Brown v. Nourse, 55 Me. 230, 92 Am. Dec. 583; Clark v. Pishon, 31 Me. 503.

Massachusetts.— Langdon v. Potter, 11 Mass. 313.

Michigan.— Vickery v. Beir, 16 Mich. 50.

New York.— Smith v. Ludlow, Anth. N. P. 174.

Pennsylvania.— McKimm v. Riddle, 2 Dall. 100, 1 L. ed. 306.

South Carolina.— Hutchinson v. Bobo, 1 Bailey 546; Brockington v. Vereen, 1 Bailey 447; Trapier v. Mitchell, 2 Nott & M. 64.

Tennessee.— Glass v. Stovall, 10 Humphr. 453.

Texas.— Callahan v. Hendrix, 79 Tex. 494, 15 S. W. 593; Dignowitty v. Coleman, 77 Tex. 98, 13 S. W. 857; Cheatham v. Riddle, 12 Tex. 112.

Vermont.— Clapp v. Beardsley, 1 Vt. 168.

West Virginia.— McDonald v. Cole, 46 W. Va. 186, 32 S. E. 1033.

Wisconsin.— Ewen v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 38 Wis. 613.

United States.— Yeaton v. Lynn, 5 Pet. 224, 8 L. ed. 105; Hodges v. Kimball, 91 Fed. 845, 34 C. C. A. 103.

England.— Gidley v. Williams, 1 Salk. 37.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1841.

Reason for rule.— Preliminary objections like the denial of plaintiff's right to be heard in court or the want of capacity in either of the parties should be interposed and determined in limine. The rules of pleading demand that such defenses should be heard before the merits are reached so as to prevent unnecessary costs and delay. Stewart v. Smith, 98 Me. 104, 56 Atl. 401; Clark v. Pishon, 31 Me. 503.

The rule applies whether the action be ex contractu or ex delicto. Hutchinson v. Bobo, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 546.

Limitations of rule.— Although a plea of the general issue in a suit by an administrator is an admission of plaintiff's right to sue, the same rule does not apply where the cause is revived in the name of an administrator after the plea has been filed. In such a case the representative character of plain-the language of the decisions was broad enough to include all causes of action sued on by the representative in his capacity as such and some of them expressly declared that the rule is applicable, although the cause of action arose after decedent's death.[65] There are, however, decisions which recognize a limitation of the rule in certain classes of actions arising subsequent to decedent's death; thus it has been held that if the representative brings an action of trover or detinue counting on his own possession instead of that of defendant he must, whether he sues in his individual or representative capacity, show title in himself to the property sued for, although defendant has pleaded to the merits, and that this can only be done by producing competent evidence of his appointment as executor or administrator,[66] and it has also been held that where an administrator declares in ejectment upon his own seizin, it is essential for him to prove his appointment as such as part of his title in order to make out his case.[67] In an action against an executor or administrator as such if he pleads to the merits plaintiff need not prove his representative capacity.[68]

(2) NATURE OF PLEA. Some decisions consider the plea a plea in abatement.[69] The weight of authority, however, is that it is a plea in bar.[70] The tiff is in issue in the trial and defendant may disprove it. Vickery v. Beir, 16 Mich. 50.

The general issue may be rejected in an action by one suing in a representative capacity if it purports to reserve to defendant the right of denying that plaintiff is administrator. Clark v. Pishon, 31 Me. 503.

65. Lowe v. Bowman, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 410; Cheatham v. Riddle, 12 Tex. 112; Watson v. King, 4 Campb. 272. And see McMillan Marble Co. v. Black, 89 Tenn. 118, 14 S. W. 479; Cheek v. Wheatly, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 556, in which cases it is said that on principle the rule of practice should be uniform and apply in the same manner to cases where the cause of action originated after the death of the testator or intestate.

66. Colorado.— Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Woodward, 4 Colo. 1.

Georgia.— Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 18 Ga. 679.

Kentucky.— Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. 52; Floyd v. Breckenridge, 4 Bibb 14.

North Carolina.— Davis v. Taylor, 49 N. C. 499.

South Carolina.— Reynolds v. Torrance, 2 Brev. 59.

England.— Marsfield v. Marsh, 2 Ld. Raym. 824; Hunt v. Stevens, 3 Taunt. 113.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1841.

Admissibility of facts not inconsistent with admission.— Although defendant, by pleading over to the action, admits generally the right of plaintiff to sue as administrator, yet he is not thereby precluded from giving in evidence a fact not inconsistent with that admission, viz., that the administrator has no right to recover because there is an executor. Chew v. Travers, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 146.

67. Austin v. Downer, 25 Vt. 558; Aldis v. Burdick, 8 Vt. 21.

68. Alabama.— Espalla v. Richard, 94 Ala. 159, 10 So. 137.

Georgia.— Bray v. Parker, 82 Ga. 234, 7 S. E. 922.

Louisiana.— Hays v. Compton, 19 La. Ann. 434; Cheevers v. Burke, 19 La. 429.

Pennsylvania.— Hantz v. Sealy, 6 Binn. 405.

South Carolina.— Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Joyce, 8 Rich. 117; Lomax v. Spierin, Dudley 365.

Texas.— Tolbert v. McBride, 75 Tex. 95, 12 S. W. 752. See also Harris v. Harris, 2 Harr. (Del.) 354.

69. Brown v. Nourse, 55 Me. 230, 92 Am. Dec. 583; Hummel v. Brown, 24 Pa. St. 310; Clapp v. Beardsley, 1 Vt. 168; Childress v. Emory, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 642, 5 L. ed. 705.

In an action by two as executors it is a good plea in abatement that one of plaintiffs was not executor; the other only having proved the will and taken out letters testamentary. Call v. Ewing, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 301.

Substituted executor.— The objection that one substituted as executor or one who had died pending suit had not been appointed executrix is waived if not taken by plea in abatement. Murray v. Murray, 6 Oreg. 26.

70. Alabama.— U. S. Rolling Stock Co. v. Weir, 96 Ala. 396, 11 So. 436; Cotton v. Ward, 45 Ala. 359; Watson v. Collins, 37 Ala. 587; Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247; Sorrell v. Craig, 15 Ala. 789; Worthington v. McRoberts, 7 Ala. 814; Stallings v. Williams, 6 Ala. 509.

Arkansas.— Governor v. Evans, 1 Ark. 349.

Indiana.— Codding v. Whitaker, 5 Blackf. 470.

New York.— Flinn v. Chase, 4 Den. 85; Varick v. Bodine, 3 Hill 444; Thomas v. Cameron, 16 Wend. 579.

North Carolina.— Shown v. Barr, 33 N. C. 296.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1838, 1839.

In scire facias to revive in the name of plaintiff as administrator a plea that he is not administrator is a good bar. French v. Frazier, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 425.

After issues have been joined in an action by administrators, and the case been opened to the jury, defendant cannot plead in abatement that no letters of administration have reason is that the plea cannot give plaintiff a better writ but defeats the action absolutely by establishing the fact that he is not the representative of decedent.[71] It has been held, however, that if the plea begins and concludes in abatement, it will be considered a plea in abatement.[72]

(3) Requisites and Sufficiency of Plea. A plea not denying the averment that letters of administration were issued but stating facts to show that they should not have been granted is bad on demurrer.[73] So a plea alleging only that defendant was not executor at the time suit was brought is insufficient. It should be alleged that defendant never was executor and that he never administered on any of the goods and chattels belonging to deceased at the time of his death.[74] A plea alleging that plaintiff's intestate was a non-resident at the time of his death and had no effects in the state at that time does not show that the letters are void for want of jurisdiction in the court granting them.[75] It has been held, however, that the allegation that plaintiff has been duly appointed administrator, etc., is put in issue by an answer denying the complaint and "each and every part and portion thereof."[76]

(4) Time of Interposing Plea. It is too late to plead plaintiff's want of representative capacity after pleading to the merits,[77] or after judgment by default.[78]

(5) Evidence Admissible Under Plea. A plea of ne unques administrator is a denial only that plaintiff was administrator at the commencement of the suit, and defendant cannot under this plea show the termination of plaintiff's authority as administrator pending the suit.[79] So under this plea questions whether the court granted the letters to the right or the wrong person or acted irregularly in revoking letters issued to defendant and granting letters to plaintiff cannot be considered.[80]

(B) Plea That Defendant Is Administrator and Not Executor. Where one who has been executor de son tort takes out letters of administration and is afterward sued as executor de son tort he may plead in abatement that he is administrator and not executor,[81] but where one who has been sued as executor de son tort takes out administration pending suit he cannot plead in abatement that he is administrator and not executor.[82] The fact that defendant is administrator and not executor can only be pleaded in abatement.[83] been granted to plaintiffs but the matter must then be pleaded in bar. Langdon v. Potter, 11 Mass. 313.

71. Sorrell v. Craig, 15 Ala. 789; Stallings v. Williams, 6 Ala. 509; Governor v. Evans, 1 Ark. 349; Thomas v. Cameron, 16 Wend. (N. Y.) 579.

72. U. S. Rolling Stock Co. v. Weir, 96 Ala. 396, 11 So. 436; Governor v. Evans, 1 Ark. 349.

73. Rogers v. Duval, 23 Ark. 77.

74. Lively v. Ballard, 2 W. Va. 496.

75. Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247, in which it was said that the court of probate has jurisdiction to grant letters if property belonging to the estate is brought in the county after intestate's death, although he was not a resident of the state and had no property in the state at the time of his death.

76. Fogle v. Schaeffer, 23 Minn. 304, in which it was said that such denial was not confined to the denial of the principal fact on which the complaint is founded, but is equivalent to a denial of each allegation thereof just as though the pleading had traversed the several allegations in detail.

77. Indiana.—Scanland v. Ruble, 4 Blackf. 481.

Kentucky.— Cox v. Robertson, 1 Bibb 604.

Louisiana.— Dirmeyer v. O'Hern, 39 La. Ann. 961, 3 So. 132.

North Carolina.— Spencer v. Cahoon, 14 N. C. 80.

United States.— Barras v. Bidwell, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,039, 3 Woods 5.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1840.

After plea of condition performed, replication, rejoinder, and special demurrer in an action of debt on a bond, defendant is not entitled to plead that plaintiff is not executor. Grahame v. Cooke, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,678, 1 Cranch C. C. 116.

After issue joined on nul tiel record and after the cause is called for trial on that issue defendant will not be permitted to plead that plaintiff was never administrator. Duvall v. Wright, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,212, 4 Cranch C. C. 169.

78. Cheevers v. Burke, 19 La. 429; Barras v. Bidwell, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,039, 3 Woods 5.

79. Wilson v. Bothwell, 50 Ala. 378.

80. Sadler v. Sadler, 16 Ark. 628.

81. Clements v. Swain, 2 N. H. 475; Rattoon v. Overacker, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 126.

82. Clements v. Swain, 2 N. H. 475.

83. Granwell v. Sibly, 2 Lev. 190; Harding v. Salkill, 1 Salk. 296. Compare Shillaber v.

(c) Plea of Termination of Authority Pending Suit.[84] Where the authority of one suing as executor or administrator determines pending suit by reason of his resignation, removal, or discharge, this fact must be brought to the knowledge of the court by a plea in abatement puis darrein continuance or a judgment rendered against defendant will bind him.[85] Suit cannot be dismissed on the mere suggestion that plaintiffs have been removed as administrators.[86] On the other hand if one is sued as executor he may plead puis darrein continuance that he has been removed or discharged.[87] This according to some authorities abates the suit,[88] and according to others is a good plea in bar.[89] To take advantage of such facts, it is necessary that they should be pleaded puis darrein continuance,[90] in default of which a judgment should be entered on a verdict against defendant.[91]

(II) PLENE ADMINISTRAVIT — (A) Propriety and Necessity of Pleading — (1) GENERAL PLEAS — (a) AT COMMON LAW. If a personal representative is sued in his individual capacity he cannot plead plene administravit. This plea is never appropriate except when he is sued in his representative capacity.[92] Nor is the plea a proper one where a defendant dies when the cause is at issue and his personal representative is brought in to defend,[93] except where the practice is changed by statute.[94] Plene administravit is a good defense, when a personal representative is sued in his representative capacity,[95] provided he has done all that the law requires as a protection to him in the payment of debts and lega-

Wyman, 15 Mass. 322, holding that to a scire facias on a judgment against an executor de son tort it is a good plea in bar of execution that defendant has taken out letters of administration, that the deceased is insolvent, and that a decree of distribution has been passed in the probate court.

84. Form of plea setting up revocation of defendant's letter held sufficient see Morrison v. Cones, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 593.

85. Ex p. Jones, 54 Ala. 108; Hall v. Pearman, 20 Tex. 168; Yeaton v. Lynn, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 224, 8 L. ed. 105. See also Wilson v. Bothwell, 50 Ala. 378; Witherington v. Brantley, 18 Ala. 197.

Requisites and sufficiency of plea.— An executor or administrator of a solvent estate cannot allege that he has resigned or been removed, or that his letters have been revoked, or his authority has ceased from any cause, in defense to any action or proceeding, without an averment that he has settled his accounts, and delivered over the assets of the estate as required by law; but a plea that, before the commencement of the suit, his authority had ceased, the estate had been declared insolvent, and there was an administrator de bonis non, would bar the action, because the appointment of the latter would revoke any former grant of letters, and vest in him the property of the estate. Cogburn v. McQueen, 46 Ala. 551.

86. Winslett v. McLemore, 6 Ala. 416.

87. Florida.— Parkhill v. Union Bank, 1 Fla. 110.

Georgia.— Broach v. Walker, 2 Ga. 428.

Indiana.— Morrison v. Cones, 7 Blackf. 593.

Massachusetts.— Jewett v. Jewett, 5 Mass. 275.

Ohio.— Gormly v. Skinner, Wright 681.

88. Gormly v. Skinner, Wright (Ohio) 681.

89. Parkhill v. Union Bank, 1 Fla. 110; Jewett v. Jewett, 5 Mass. 275.

90. Weddington v. Huey, 80 Ga. 651, 6 S. E. 287; Jones v. Hammett, 5 S. C. 41.

91. Weddington v. Huey, 80 Ga. 651, 6 S. E. 281.

92. Glisson v. Weil, 117 Ga. 842, 45 S. E. 221; Slaughter v. McClain, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 485.

93. Borden v. Thorpe, 35 N. C. 298.

94. See XIV, K, 1, b, (II), (A), (1), (b).

95. Com. v. Richardson, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 81; Griffith v. Com., 1 Dana (Ky.) 270; Clarkson v. Com., 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 19; Peckham v. Hoag, 57 Mich. 289, 23 N. W. 818.

Rule in Connecticut.— It was held in an early case that plene administravit could not be pleaded in that state (Olcott v. Graham, Kirby (Conn.) 246); afterward it was held that an executor de son tort might plead it (Olmsted v. Clark, 30 Conn. 108); in a later decision the court quoted from Swift's Digest (a commentary on Connecticut law) which says in effect that the plea is available in only one instance — where the whole estate is absorbed in the payment of debts due the estate and the expenses of the last sickness and the funeral, which are preferable debts (Davis v. Weed, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,658, 44 Conn. 569).

In New Jersey the plea is still a proper one (Haines v. Price, 20 N. J. L. 480. And see Speer v. Van Houten, 19 N. J. L. 46; Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396; Bellerjeau v. Kotts, 4 N. J. L. 359), although in consequence of statutory provisions it may not be available under precisely the same circumstances nor to the same extent as at common law (Haines v. Price, supra). The fact that lands are made liable to the payment of debts of decedent does not affect the validity of the plea where cies,[96] and may be pleaded even by an executor de son tort, thereby exempting himself from liability beyond the extent of the goods which he has administered.[97] So the rule is well settled at common law (subject to a few exceptions which will be hereafter noted) that if he wishes to avail himself of the defense that he has not sufficient assets to satisfy the claim in suit, he must plead plene administravit. His failure to make this plea operates as a conclusive admission of assets sufficient to satisfy the claim and he will not afterward be permitted to deny that he has such assets;[98] but he will be ultimately liable to discharge the judgment recovered,[99] his liability being fixed by the presumption that if there had not been assets sufficient he would have pleaded it in the first instance.[1] The rule is, however, subject to the limitation that when from the nature of the proceedings the personal representative has not had the opportunity of making the defense previous to the rendition of a decree against him he has the right to plead fully administered to a scire facias sued out to charge him de bonis propriis,[2] and in some decisions it has been held that the rule in equity differs from the rule at law and that in a court of equity assets in the representative's hands must be alleged and if denied or not admitted must be proved.[3] So where there is a suggestion of insolvency it seems that a failure to plead plene administravit does not admit assets,[4] and it has been held that unless the declaration alleges that assets came into defendant's hands a plea of plene administravit is not necessary.[5] the lands are not by force of the statute made assets in the hands of the administrators. Haines v. Price, supra.

If a defendant dies after office judgment and writ of inquiry awarded, his administrator cannot plead plene administravit because "after an office judgment in the lifetime of intestate, the defendant cannot plead any plea which the intestate could not have pleaded." Janney v. Mandeville, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,213, 2 Cranch C. C. 31.

96. Stuart v. Carr, 6 Gill (Md.) 430.

Compliance with statute requiring notice. — The plea of plene administravit will not protect an administrator, unless he has given the six months' notice to creditors required by statute. Glenn v. Smith, 17 Md. 260; Stuart v. Carr, 6 Gill (Md.) 430.

97. Olmsted v. Clark, 30 Conn. 108; 1 Saunders 265 note.

98. Illinois.— Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

Indiana.— Goodwin v. Wilson, 1 Blackf. 344.

Maryland.— Evans v. Iglehart, 6 Gill & J. 171; Contee v. Dawson, 2 Bland 264.

Mississippi.— Howard v. Cousins, 7 How. 114; Vick v. House, 2 How. 617.

New Jersey — Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569; Haines v. Price, 20 N. J. L. 480; Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 1.

New York —Butler v. Hempstead, 18 Wend. 666.

North Carolina.— Parker v. Stephens, 2 N. C. 218, 1 Am. Dec. 557.

South Carolina.— Parker v. Latimer, 59 S. C. 330, 37 S. E. 918; Huger v. Drawson, 3 S. C. 328; Thomas v. Dyott, 1 McCord 76.

Tennessee.— Ford v. Woltering, 10 Heisk. 203.

Vermont — Sharon First Cong. Soc. v. Lovell, Brayt. 113.

England.— Ramsden v. Jackson, 1 Atk. 292, 26 Eng. Reprint 187; Rock v. Leighton, 1 Salk. 310; Erving v. Peters, 3 T. R. 685, 1 Rev. Rep. 794; Skelton v. Hawling, 1 Wils. K. B. 258.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1831 et seq.

If an administrator suffers judgment by default he cannot afterward, in an action against him suggesting a devastavit, plead plene administravit as the default is a confession of assets. Moore v. Martindale, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 353; Goodwin v. Wilson, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 344; Baracliff v. Griscom, 1 N. J. L. 195.

Where set-off pleaded.— In an action by an administrator for a debt due the estate if a set-off pleaded by defendant exceeds the debt, the administrator should reply plene administravit to the surplus. Mayhew v. Flake, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 398.

Effect of repeal of statute conferring authority.— Where pending suit against an ordinary who had taken charge of a derelict estate, the statute by virtue of which he acquired authority was repealed, a plea setting up such repeal in abatement was insufficient without a further plea of plene administravit or plene administravit præter. Strobhart v. Norrall, 7 Rich. (S. C.) 140.

99. Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569; Haines v. Price, 20 N. J. L. 480.

1. Vick v. House, 2 How. (Miss.) 617.

2. Wray v. Williams, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 302. And see Dance v. McGregor, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 428.

3. Stevens v. Gordy, 9 Gill (Md.) 405; Dugan v. Gittings, 3 Gill (Md.) 138, 43 Am. Dec. 306; Evans v. Iglehart, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 171; Contee v. Dawson, 2 Bland (Md.) 264.

4. Ford v. Woltering, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 203.

5. Sergeant v. Ewing, 30 Pa. St. 75; O'Connor v. Weeks, 9 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 461.

(b) Under Special Statutory Provisions. Statutes in some jurisdictions have modified or abrogated the common-law rule; thus, under statutes providing that neither mispleading nor lack of pleading shall render an executor or administrator personally liable, failure to plead plene administravit does not constitute an admission of assets;[6] and in an action on a judgment suggesting a devastavit, defendant may show that he has fully administered, although he failed to plead plene administravit.[7] Where by statute the effect of a judgment against a personal representative merely establishes the debt against the estate to be paid in due course of administration and the creditor is not entitled to execution against the representative or the property of decedent, the plea of plene administravit is in effect abolished and is neither necessary nor effectual.[8] So where the statute makes it the duty of the administrator to inventory and sell real estate when necessary to pay debts no such plea as plene administravit (without showing a dividend) is good except in one particular case — where the privileged debts have absorbed the whole estate.[9]

(2) Special Pleas. Where defendant admits a balance in his hands of a certain sum he must plead specially (plene administravit præter) that except such sum he has fully administered,[10] and the same is the case where he sets up the right of retainer of the sum admitted for the payment of other debts to which they are legally appropriated or has paid debts of an inferior nature without notice of plaintiff's claim;[11] but it has been said that these are the only cases in which a special plea of plene administravit is necessary.[12] Pleas of this character are appropriate and necessary wherever a general plea of plene administravit would be appropriate and necessary, and when made it is erroneous to disregard them.[13]

(B) Requisites and Sufficiency of Plea.[14] The plea should allege that defendant had not, at the time of the plea pleaded, nor at the commencement of the suit, nor at any time since, had any of the goods of decedent in his hands as executor or administrator to be administered,[15] and it has been held that this will be suffi-

6. Goodwin v. Wilson, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 344; Howard v. Cousins, 7 How. (Miss.) 114; Vick v. House, 2 How. (Miss.) 617; Conner v. Burd, 1 Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 17.

These statutes apply to executors de son tort as well as to regularly appointed representatives. Hill v. Henderson, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 688.

Judgments rendered previous to enactment of statutes.—A statute enacting that no mispleading or lack of pleading shall thereafter render any executor or administrator personally liable does not apply to judgments rendered previously to its enactment. Martindale v. Moore, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 275.

7. Goodwin v. Wilson, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 344.

8. Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455; Allen v. Bishop, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 414; Butler v. Hempstead, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 666; Parker v. Gainer, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 559; Covington v. Burnes, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,291, 1 Dill. 16.

Rule in Florida.— Since the statutes in effect excerpt the question of assets by an executor as an issue in suits by creditors to reduce their claims to judgment, that issue and the consequent personal liability or nonliability of the executor and his sureties being postponed to another suit on the judgment recovered in which the issue of assets or no assets is directly made, the pleas plene administravit and plene administravit præter in suits against an executor to reduce a claim to judgment are nugatory. Sammis v. Wightman, 31 Fla. 10, 12 So. 526; Barnes v. Scott, 29 Fla. 285, 11 So. 48.

Rule in New York.—Code Civ. Proc. § 1824, expressly dispenses with the necessity of pleading want of assets in actions against executors. Pache v. Oppenheim, 84 N. Y. Suppl. 926.

9. Bates v. Kimball, 1 Aik. (Vt.) 95.

10. Bassett v. Granger, 136 Mass. 174; U. S. v. Hoar, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,373, 2 Mason 311.

11. U. S. v. Hoar, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,373, 2 Mason 311.

12. U. S. v. Hoar, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,373, 2 Mason 311.

13. Clark v. Crout, 34 S. C. 417, 13 S. E. 602.

14. Forms of plea of plene administravit held sufficent see McKinley v. Call, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 54; Seighman v. Marshall, 17 Md. 550; Lee v. Beaman, 73 N. C. 410; Fowler v. Sharp, 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 323; Potter v. Dolan, 19 R. I. 514, 34 Atl. 1116; Noell v. Nelson, 2 Saund. 214; Martin Civ. Proc. 389; 3 Chitty Pl. (ed. 1872) 945.

15. Iglehart v. State, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 235; Cogan v. Duncan, 23 Miss. 274; Hewlet v. Framingham, 3 Lev. 28. See also Reid v. Nash, 23 Ala. 733; Gregory v. Hooker, 4

cient without a further formal allegation that defendant has fully administered the goods,[16] although this averment is found in the form of plea given by Chitty in his work on pleading.[17] The plea need not allege that there was no real estate of decedent at the time of his death to be administered as it is not assets in the hands of the personal representative,[18] except where so provided by statute. But where this is the case a plea that defendant has fully administered the personal estate will be insufficient.[19] If required by statute or rule of court, the plea should be accompanied by a full and particular account of his administration with a certified copy of the inventory and appraisement.[20] If defendant pleads plene administravit præter, it is usual to state some certain sum as the value of the goods, but this allegation is not material and traversable.[21] A plea of plene administravit should not conclude to the country but with a verification, but this defect is cured by verdict.[22] If pleaded singly it need not be signed by counsel; otherwise, however, if pleaded with the general issue.[23] If a plea amounts to no more than a plea of plene administravit allegations not essential to its validity will be disregarded as surplusage.[24]

(c) Time of Pleading. Defendant may in the discretion of the court be permitted to plead plene administravit after plea of the general issue,[25] or issue joined,[26] or at any time before judgment, provided plaintiff suffers no disadvan-

N. C. 215. But compare Nixon v. Bullock, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 414, 416, holding that a plea that defendants have fully administered all the goods and chattels, rights and credits of decedent which have come to their hands to be administered, "shall be intended to speak as to the time when the plea is filed," and although informal is good especially after verdict.

Failure to allege that defendant had no goods of defendant ever since the suing out of the writ renders the plea bad. Gewen v. Roll, Cro. Jac. 131.

A plea of plene administravit of assets which had come to defendant's hand "in this state" is demurrable because he is chargeable with assets received by him in any part of the world. Conover v. Chapman, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 436.

Where a scire facias charges that a certain sum came into defendant's hands as assets, a plea denying that such sum came into his hands but not denying that a less sum, sufficient to pay plaintiff's judgment, came into his hands is bad. Rumbarger v. Stiver, 6 Ohio 99.

A plea that the administrator had no assets to pay a judgment against him at the time of its rendition is insufficient in an action against him as administrator for failure to pay such judgment. The plea should either deny that there were assets at any time belonging to the estate or show that they had been applied to claims having a prior right to satisfaction. Cogan v. Duncan, 23 Miss. 274.

Allegations of amount disputed or admitted.— Notwithstanding a statute which requires a defendant to make affidavit that his pleas are true and to state the amount of defendant's demand, if anything, admitted to be due or owing, and the amount disputed, the pleas of plene administravit, and that the claim has been paid supported by affidavit are sufficient. The statement of the amount due if anything and the amount disputed would add nothing to the meaning of an affidavit explicitly alleging the complete satisfaction of plaintiff's claim. Furthermore it is doubtful whether the statute has any application to executors who seldom have and are not supposed to have personal knowledge of testator's indebtedness. May v. Wolvington, 69 Md. 117, 14 Atl. 706.

16. Fowler v. Sharp, 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 323, 2 Saund. 221 note 3.

17. See Fowler v. Sharp, 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 323, in which it was said that the form of the replication as given by Chitty takes issue on defendant having assets in his hands to be administered on the day of exhibiting the bill; and that this shows that the material and essential part of the plea is the possession of unadministered assets.

18. Potter v. Dolan, 19 R. I. 514, 34 Atl. 1116.

19. Brattle v. Willard, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,815, Smith (N. H.) 374.

20. Willis v. Tozer, 44 S. C. 1, 21 S. E. 617; Ford v. Rouse, Rice (S. C.) 219.

21. Burr v. Baldwin, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 580, in which it was said that if plaintiff should prove the value of the goods to be more than it is alleged to be he will thereby gain nothing. To entitle him to recover he must prove their value to be more than the sum defendant can retain to satisfy the judgment previously obtained against him.

22. Eppes v. Smith, 4 Munf. (Va.) 466.

23. Satterlee v. Satterlee, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 327.

24. Potter v. Dolan, 19 R. I. 514, 34 Atl. 1116.

25. Sawyer v. Sexton, 3 N. C. 67. But see Martin v. Sarles, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 24.

26. Woolford v. Simpson, 3 N. C. 132; Reid v. Hester, 1 N. C. 488; Haig v. Smith, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 529.

After jury sworn.— Where, after a cause of action taken by appeal to a surrogate tage by reason of defendant's failure to plead it earlier.[27] He may plead plene administravit, although several terms have elapsed, if he alleges that he can show that he had no assets at the time suit was commenced or at any time since.[28] So where the declaration in an action on a judgment recovered against the administrator suggests a devastavit which accrued after rendition of the judgment, the executor may plead a special plene administravit.[29] Where a reference is had on a plea of plene administravit and a report made charging him with assets, he cannot at a subsequent term be allowed to strike out the plea and plead plene administravit anew.[30] So he cannot plead fully administered since the last continuance.[31]

(D) Time to Which Plea Relates. Every plea of plene administravit must have reference to the commencement of the action or at least to the time of service of the process,[32] in the absence of statutory provisions changing the rule,[33] and he cannot avail himself of voluntary payment of a debt after notice of a writ sued out.[34]

(E) Joinder of Several Defendants in Plea. Two administrators may join in a plea of plene administraverunt, although their defenses under that plea are different.[35]

(F) Amendments. A defective plea of plene administravit præter may be amended,[36] and defendant should be permitted to amend his plea by setting up plene administravit at any time before trial, if it appears that the plea is not made for delay.[37] So in scire facias against administrators on a judgment against the intestate they should after an agreement that the merits of the original judgment be tried without regard to the pleading be allowed to amend by pleading plene administravit and no assets.[38]

(G) Evidence Admissible Under Plea. Under a plea of plene administravit defendant may show payment of preferred debts, funeral expenses, and expenses of administration,[39] and may give in evidence the record of a judgment confessed by him.[40] He may also give in evidence a debt due himself,[41] and may show that the estate had been settled and distributed in accordance with proceedings under a commission in insolvency.[42] So returns of administrators of legatees who were deceased at the time of the trial charging themselves with sums received from the court, defendant dies and the cause is revived against his executrix she should be permitted to plead plene administravit after the jury is sworn. Ford v. Woltering, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 203.

27. Sawyer v. Sexton, 3 N. C. 67.

28. Sawyer v. Sexton, 3 N. C. 67.

29. Ruffin v. Pendleton, 2 Wash. (Va.) 184.

30. Wright v. Flanner, 64 N. C. 510, because this would give him the benefit of any payments of debts of equal dignity with plaintiff's made by him since his first plea.

31. Smoot v. Wright, 1 N. C. 374. And see Hall v. Gully, 26 N. C. 345; Collins v. Underhill, 4 N. C. 381.

32. White v. Arrington, 25 N. C. 166; Gregory v. Hooker, 4 N. C. 215; Wilcox v. ——, 2 N. C. 484; Smoot v. Wright, 1 N. C. 374. See also Reid v. Nash, 23 Ala. 733; Hall v. Gully, 26 N. C. 345.

33. Bryan v. Miller, 32 N. C. 129, holding (under a statute providing that the executor may have nine months to plead and that then he may plead relative to the assets anything which could be pleaded had the suit been instituted at that time) that the plea does not relate to the commencement of the suit or any other point of time prior to that at which the executor is bound to plead after the expiration of the nine months.

34. White v. Arrington, 25 N. C. 166.

35. More v. Tandy, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 97, holding that the general rule that if two defendants join in a plea sufficient for one and not for the other, the plea is bad as to both, does not apply in a case of a joint plea of plene administravit by executors, and that in such plea each is only liable to pay the assets found by the jury to be in his own hands.

36. Parker v. Salmons, 113 Ga. 1167, 39 S. E. 475.

37. Chisholm v. Anthony, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 27.

38. Robeson v. Whitesides, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 320.

39. Haines v. Price, 20 N. J. L. 480. See also Hickey v. Hayter, 1 Esp. 313, 6 T. R. 384, 3 Rev. Rep. 213.

The record of the debts allowed, required to be kept by statute, is competent to support a plea of no assets by the administrator. Seighman v. Marshall, 17 Md. 550.

40. Reynolds v. Puney, 8 N. C. 318.

41. Sebring v. Keith, 2 Hill (S. C.) 340.

42. Potter v. Dolan, 19 R. I. 514, 34 Atl. 1116.

executors is admissible.[43] Defendant cannot show under such plea, receipt for payment of money, which payment had been disallowed by the probate court.[44] So he cannot give in evidence outstanding judgments,[45] or the existence of debts of a superior quality,[46] or a deed of trust to prove that certain property is not to be considered as assets;[47] and in an action by a legatee against an executor the executor cannot give in evidence proof that he had equally or proportionately distributed the residue of the personal estate after payment of debts among his several legatees.[48] Under this plea plaintiff may show assets not included in the inventory, or, where there is no inventory returned, may show assets in the hands of the administrator.[49] He may also show waste by the administrator.

(III) General and Special Statutes of Limitations—(A) Necessity of Pleading. The general rule is well settled that one who desires to avail himself of the defense of the general statutes of limitation must plead them and show affirmatively that he comes within their provisions.[50] This rule applies as well to executors and administrators as to persons sued in their own right,[51] in the absence of some statutory provision to the contrary. But by virtue of statute in a number of jurisdictions a personal representative may avail himself of the general statutes of limitations under the general issue.[52] Nevertheless defendant may plead the statute specially if he elects to do so, and the sustaining of a demurrer to a plea stating a good defense is available error.[53] So unless it clearly appears from the complaint that the cause of action is barred by a special statute of limitations in favor of personal representatives,[54] such statutes like the general statutes of limitations must be specially pleaded to be availed of in the absence of some statute dispensing with the necessity therefor,[55] and even where by virtue of statute a 43. Willingham v. Chick, 14 S. C. 93.

44. Union Bank v. Parkhill, 2 Fla. 660.

45. Hines v. Craig, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,518, 1 Cranch C. C. 340.

46. Kerley v. West, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 362, in which it was said that it is a general rule that an executor is bound to plead specially every debt or demand of greater dignity belonging to others to protect the assets in his hands.

47. Taylor v. Richards, 3 Munf. (Va.) 8.

48. Morgan v. Slade, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 38.

49. Seighman v. Marshall, 17 Md. 550; Marr v. Rucker, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 348.

50. See, generally, LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

Real estate as well as personal protected by plea.— Where a bill is filed to charge both realty and personalty with decedent's debts a plea of the statute of limitations by the personal representative goes to the defense of both the personal and real estate. It is not necessary that the heirs should also plead it. When the administrator defends the personalty he defends the realty. If a debt does not bind personalty, neither does it bind the realty of a decedent; its defeat as to one is defeat as to the other. Findley v. Cunningham, 53 W. Va. 1, 44 S. E. 472.

51. Harrison v. Harrison, 39 Ala. 489; White v. Judson, 2 Root (Conn.) 301; Cundy v. Coppock, 85 Ind. 594; Minzesheimer v. Bruns, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 324, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 261.

52. Perrill v. Nichols, 89 Ind. 444; Zeller v. Griffith, 89 Ind. 80; Purviance v. Purviance, 14 Ind. App. 269, 42 N. E. 364; McBride v. Ulmer, 30 Ind. App. 154, 65 N. E. 610; Sanders v. Robertson, 23 Miss. 389; Wren v. Span, 1 How. (Miss.) 115; Martin v. Martin, 108 Wis. 284, 84 N. W. 439, 81 Am. St. Rep. 895.

Statutes dispensing with the necessity of special pleading.— The necessity of specially pleading the general statute of limitations is dispensed with by a statute providing that all matters of valid defense except set-off may be given in evidence without any special pleading (Zeller v. Griffith, 89 Ind. 80. And see other Indiana cases cited in the preceding paragraph), or by a statute forbidding the allowance of a claim shown to be barred by the statute of limitation (Martin v. Martin, 108 Wis. 284, 84 N. W. 439, 81 Am. St. Rep. 895).

53. Niblack v. Goodman, 67 Ind. 174.

54. Wise v. Hogan, 77 Cal. 184, 19 Pac. 278; Wise v. Williams, 72 Cal. 544, 14 Pac. 204; Coney v. Horne, 93 Ga. 723, 20 S. E. 213.

A general demurrer will lie where it appears from the petition in a suit on a claim against an estate that the suit was not brought within the statutory period after its rejection. Page v. Findley, 5 Tex. 391.

55. Mardis v. Smith, 2 Ala. 382; Easton v. Somerville, 111 Iowa 164, 82 N. W. 475, 82 Am. St. Rep. 502; Munday v. Leeper, 120 Mo. 417, 25 S. W. 381; Stiles v. Smith, 55 Mo. 363; Wiggins v. Lovering, 9 Mo. 262.

Set-off in suit by administrator.— Where an executor or administrator sues in debt or assumpsit, it is incumbent on him to plead non-presentation of the claim within the statutory time, where the estate he represents is sought to be charged under the plea of set-off. Smith v. Huie, 14 Ala. 201.

special plea is not necessary, if the representative prefers to present his defense by special plea instead of giving evidence under the general issue he will be held to the strictness of pleading.[56]

(B) Requisites and Sufficiency of Plea. A plea of the general statute of limitations by a personal representative need not allege that decedent was a resident of the state for the statutory period prior to his death.[57] In order that a statute of limitations specially relating to suits against personal representatives shall be available as a defense, a special plea is necessary, or, if the representative elects to plead specially, must set forth facts showing that the representative has complied with its provisions. If the defense relied on is that suit was not brought within the period required by statute, after grant of administration, the plea must show that notice of the grant of administration was given,[58] and in the manner required by statute,[59] unless the requirement in this regard is construed to be merely directory.[60] In alleging the giving of bond it will be sufficient for the plea to state that defendant gave bond to the judge of probate for the faithful administration of the estate according to law without setting out the bond.[61] It is not necessary for the plea to allege that defendant delivered the assets to the distributees or has taken refunding bonds.[62] In an action against a personal representative a plea of the statute of limitations should not notice the period which is in effect added to the period of limitation for bringing suits against personal representatives, the provision for such additional period not being intended to alter the form of pleading.[63]

(IV) FAILURE TO GIVE NOTICE OF OR PRESENT CLAIM. The objection that plaintiff has failed to comply with the statutory requirement as to notice or presentment of his claim to the personal representative as a prerequisite to bringing suit thereon cannot be taken by plea in abatement but only by plea in bar, as a compliance with the statute is essential to the right of recovery.[64] Under the

The rule is different in a court of equity; the defense may then be made by plea, answer, or demurrer, and when it is interposed in the one mode or the other, if there are any special circumstances or any reason for excepting the case out of the statute it must be introduced by an amendment to the bill. McDowell v. Brantley, 80 Ala. 173; Owens v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 92; Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124.

Statutes dispensing with necessity of pleading.—In one jurisdiction it has been held that the necessity of specially pleading statutes of limitations governing suits against personal representatives is dispensed with by statute allowing personal representatives to give in evidence under the general issue any special matter of defense (Sanders v. Robertson, 23 Miss. 389; Wren v. Span, 1 How. (Miss.) 115); but in another jurisdiction it is held that a statute of this character does not obviate the necessity of a special plea, the view being taken that the object of the statute is to give greater facilities to those sued in another's right and whom the law presumes not to be so conversant with the facts as the original actor in the transaction, and that this reason can have no application in cases where the facts are peculiarly within the knowledge of the personal representative as must be the case when the defense is a failure of presentation of the claim to him within the required time (Mardis v. Smith, 2 Ala. 382).

56. Wren v. Span, 1 How. (Miss.) 115.

57. Saxton v. Musselman, (S. D. 1903) 95 N. W. 291.

58. Wren v. Span, 1 How. (Miss.) 115; Munday v. Leeper, 120 Mo. 417, 25 S. W. 381; Stiles v. Smith, 55 Mo. 363; Wiggins v. Lovering, 9 Mo. 262; Ryan v. Flanagan, 38 N. J. L. 161.

59. Wren v. Span, 1 How. (Miss.) 115.

Plea of notice held sufficient.—It has been held sufficient for an administrator pleading limitations to allege that he posted up notifications of his appointment in public places in a designated town or city without specifying the places. Burditt v. Grew, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 108; Sewall v. Valentine, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 276.

60. Crabaugh v. Hart, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 431.

61. Sewall v. Valentine, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 276.

62. Goodman v. Smith, 15 N. C. 450.

63. Benjamin v. De Groot, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 151.

64. Rawson v. Knight, 71 Me. 99; Eaton v. Buswell, 69 Me. 552.

Sufficient pleas illustrated.—Where, in a suit against executors upon a claim against decedent, plaintiff alleges in his complaint that on the 9th day of December, 1881, his claim duly verified was duly presented to defendants, as executors, for allowance, and defendants "deny that on the ninth day of December, at said city and county, or elsewhere, the claim of the plaintiff for the sum of thirty-six thousand dollars . . . or statutory provisions of one jurisdiction, it is held that evidence of non-compliance with the statutory requirement may be given either under a special plea or a brief statement under the general issue.[65] And in another jurisdiction it has been held, irrespective of any statutory provisions to that effect, that where the general issue is pleaded plaintiff must in order to entitle himself to a verdict prove that he has exhibited his demand to the personal representative before bringing suit.[66]

(v) Premature Commencement of Action. It is a good plea to an action against an executor that the action was commenced within the period during which he is by statute exempt from suit.[67] There is a conflict of authority as to the character of this plea. In one case it has been held a plea in bar,[68] while in another it was considered in the nature of a dilatory plea.[69] After a plea of the statute of limitations by an administrator, in an action against him for a debt of the estate it is too late to urge that the suit was prematurely brought, he never having refused to acknowledge the debts.[70]

(vi) Filing and Withdrawal of Pleas. Statutes allowing personal representatives a designated time in which to plead have no application to suits in equity.[71] An administrator should not any more than other defendants be permitted to file additional pleas without showing that the justice of the case requires it, and if no circumstances are shown to prove that he was not culpably negligent his application to file additional pleas should be denied.[72] As a plea of discharge in bankruptcy is a personal defense to be set up by the debtor or his administrator the latter when sued on a claim against his intestate may withdraw a plea of intestate's discharge in bankruptcy.[73] A plea of ne unques executor is a plea to the merits within a statute authorizing a defendant on his demurrer being overruled to withdraw the same and plead to the merits.[74]

c. Replication and Rejoinder — (i) Replication — (a) To Plea of Statute of Limitations. An unanswered plea of the statute of limitations is a prima facie bar to a recovery.[75] If a personal representative sues or is sued in his individual capacity, a replication to a plea of the statute of limitations framed on the theory that he sues or is sued in his representative capacity is a departure and is fatally defective on demurrer.[76] Conversely if a personal representative sues or is sued the claim as in plaintiff's complaint set forth, or the claim upon which this action is founded, or any claim whatever, was duly presented to these defendants for allowance," the denial, although open to criticism, is sufficient to raise an issue. Rowland v. Madden, 72 Cal. 17, 20, 12 Pac. 226, 870. So where the complaint alleges that the claim duly verified had been presented, presentation is sufficiently denied by an affirmative allegation in the answer that the claim was not presented or verified as required by answer. Derby v. Jackman, 89 Cal. 1, 26 Pac. 610.

When demurrer lies.— Where the statute requires an averment that the claim has been presented in accordance with the statutory requirements, the absence of such averment may be taken advantage of by general demurrer. Maine Cent. Institute v. Haskell, 71 Me. 487.

65. Rawson v. Knight, 71 Me. 99.

66. Kittredge v. Folsom, 8 N. H. 98; Mathes v. Jackson, 6 N. H. 105.

67. Ferrand v. Walker, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 424; Carson v. Bryant, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 159.

In the District of Columbia and in Maryland in an action against an executor he may be ruled to plead before the expiration of the year after letters granted. Buckley v. Beatty, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,091, 1 Cranch C. C. 245; Frazier v. Brackenridge, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,071, 1 Cranch C. C. 203.

68. Ferrand v. Walker, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 424.

69. O'Daniel v. Lehre, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 83, in which it was said that the long established practice in the courts of equity is not to dismiss the bill but to order plaintiff to pay costs and let the bill stand over.

70. Bird v. Pate, 4 La. Ann. 225.

71. Marsh v. Grist, 62 N. C. 349, the reason is that courts of equity have peculiar jurisdiction and a course of proceeding subject to be modified by the chancellor to suit the justice of each case.

72. Hulett v. Hall, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 83.

73. Lee v. Eure, 93 N. C. 5.

74. Stallings v. Willims, 6 Ala. 509.

75. Vandiver v. Hodge, 4 Bush (Ky.) 538.

76. Williams v. Moore, 32 Ala. 506; Worden v. Worthington, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 368.

Application of rule.— Where administrators declare in their individual capacity and defendants plead the six years' statute of limitations, to which plaintiff replies that in-

in his representative capacity, a replication to a plea of the statute of limitations, framed on the theory that he sues or is sued in his individual capacity, is bad on demurrer.[77] If plaintiff wishes to avoid the effect of a plea of the statute of limitations by an executor or administrator by showing facts which take the case out of the operation of the statute, such, for instance, as non-administration,[78] or delay at the request of the executor,[79] or that by reason of the statutory exemption of the representative from suit for a designated period after death of decedent or qualification of the administrator the period fixed by the statute of limitations had not expired,[80] a special replication setting up such facts is necessary. If to a declaration for money paid to defendant's use as executor he pleads statutory proceedings to bar creditors, a reply that the money was paid after the time limited for presentation of payment had expired is good without also alleging that assets remained in the executor's hands. It devolves on him to allege want of assets.[81] Where a replication in an action against an administrator avers the pendency of a previous action against defendant's intestate at the time of the latter's death, that such action was brought before the statute of limitations had run, the appointment of commissioners after decedent's death and the presentation of the claim within one year after the death, it sufficiently denies the running of the statute of limitations.[82] To a plea of limitations by an executor of an estate represented insolvent it is not a sufficient answer to say that the estate is solvent and that after the lapse of the statutory period for bringing suit a further time was allowed by the judge of probate for creditors to exhibit and prove their claims, under which the demand in suit was duly proved.[83] A replication to a plea of the statute of non-claim which shows that the demand was not presented within the statutory period is bad on demurrer.[84] Where a statute makes legacies or distributive shares not attached or paid to the person entitled thereto assets for the payment of a ratable proportion of the debts of a creditor who has not presented his claim within the time limited, a replication to a plea setting up his presentation of the claim in suit must allege that there has been a final settlement of the executors' accounts, for until that is done it cannot be determined whether there will be any surplus with which to pay legacies or distributive shares.[85] Variance in immaterial dates as stated in the declaration and in the replication is not such a departure as will sustain a general demurrer.[86]

(B) To Plea of Plene Administravit.[87] It is a good replication to a plea of plene administravit that defendant has not fully administered the assets which came into his hands,[88] and it is not necessary that the replication should specify

testate died and letters of administration were issued within six years and so the promises were made within six years, is bad on demurrer. Worden v. Worthington, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 368.

77. Worden v. Worthington, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 368; Benjamin v. De Groot, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 151; Bedford v. Ingram, 5 Hayw. (Tenn.) 155; Hickman v. Walker, Willes 27. But see Wilkings v. Murphey, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,663, Brunn. Col. Cas. 21, 3 N. C. 282, holding that where in an action against an administrator there is a plea of limitations the replication is not defective where it joins a count upon the intestate's promise, and upon that of the administrator to pay the debt of the intestate.

Application of rule.— Where the statute of limitations is pleaded to a count on promises to the testator a replication of a promise to the executor within the statutory period is a departure (Hickman v. Walker, Willes 27); and where the declaration counts upon a promise by the testator plaintiff cannot reply to a plea of limitations a new promise made by defendant (Benjamin v. De Groot, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 151).

78. Webster v. Newbold, 41 Pa. St. 482, 82 Am. Dec. 487.

79. Hubbard v. Marsh, 29 N. C. 204.

80. Langford v. Gentry, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 468. To the same effect see Hiatt v. Hough, 11 Ind. 161. Contra, Nelson v. Lounsbury, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 125; Howell v. Babcock, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 488.

81. Wakeman v. Paulmier, 39 N. J. L. 340.

82. Walker v. Wooster, 61 Vt. 403, 17 Atl. 792.

83. Parkman v. Osgood, 3 Me. 17.

84. Clark v. Washington, 44 Ala. 291.

85. Cunningham v. Stanford, 68 N. J. L. 7, 52 Atl. 374.

86. Wakeman v. Paulmier, 39 N. J. L. 340.

87. For form of replication to plea of plene administravit see Sanford v. Wicks, 3 Ala. 369.

88. Bishop v. Hamilton, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 548; Johnson v. Johnson, 1 Bailey the assets unadministered.[89] It is not a good replication that decedent at the time of his death was seized of real estate which defendant if necessary could have reduced to assets for the payment of debts, since he has no such power.[90] So a replication to a plea of plene administravit which tenders an issue on publication is bad where the statute of non-claim creates a complete bar on omission to exhibit a demand within the specified time whether the administrator dies or does not make publication as required by statute.[91] Where an administratrix sued as such alleges in a plea puis darrein continuance that she has fully administered, a replication which seeks a recovery on the faith of the assets received by her as "an administratrix de bonis non" after a new grant of administration without joining the co-administrator or co-administratrix de bonis non is bad as amounting to a departure.[92] If an administrator pleads fully administered except a certain sum and as to that sets forth judgments confessed by him giving the particulars of each, plaintiff cannot impeach them for fraud except on a special replication.[93]

(c) To Plea Denying Representative Capacity. Where by the practice an executor or administrator need not set forth in his declaration specially his title to the office in which he sues or make profert of his letters testamentary or of administration, an executor or administrator suing in that character may properly reply to a plea of ne unques executor or administrator his special title to that character and make profert of his letters in his replication concluding the same on account of his new matter with a verification.[94] When one was sued as executor of a designated person and he pleaded in abatement that such person died intestate and that letters of administration were afterward granted to defendant a replication alleging that before letters of administration were granted defendant made himself executor de son tort is bad on demurrer.[95] Where to a plea by one sued as administrator, denying representative capacity, plaintiff replies that defendant was appointed and qualified as administrator, but refused to pay the claim in suit, although he had sufficient assets and admitted its validity, and there is no rejoinder the only issue presented by the pleading is whether or not defendant was administrator when sued.[96]

(d) To Other Pleas. Upon a scire facias issued to show cause why plaintiff should not have judgment to be levied de bonis propriis if an administrator plead judgment and no assets ultra, replication thereto may be either nul tiel record, or assets ultra, or per fraudem, or any other fact properly triable by jury.[97] Where on a petition for a legacy against an administrator he pleads that the will had been set aside by the probate court and distribution ordered among

(S. C.) 601. See also Sanford v. Wicks, 3 Ala. 369.

89. Johnson v. Johnson, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 601.

90. Joiner v. Sanders, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 378.

91. Thrash v. Sumwalt. 5 Ala. 13.

92. Parkhill v. Union Bank, 1 Fla. 110.

93. Bell v. Davidson, 13 N. C. 397, holding further, however, that in an action against an administrator where defendant pleads fully administered except a certain sum and as to that sum pleads that he has confessed sundry judgments at a certain term of the court, without giving any particulars of them, plaintiff may under a general replication impeach any judgment offered by the defendant in support of his plea. Compare Sherwood v. Johnson, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 443.

94. Ellis v. Appleby, 4 R. I. 462.

Conclusion of replication.— Where the plea in a suit by an administrator truly sets forth plaintiff's title as such and impeaches it by alleging that his intestate was not at the time of his death a resident of the town whose court of probate granted to plaintiff his letters, but was at that time a resident of another town in the state named in the plea, and plaintiff in his replication affirms that his intestate resided at the time of his death in the town whose court of probate granted to him his letters and denies that he resided in the town named in the plea he should conclude his replication to the country, notwithstanding he unnecessarily makes profert therein of his letters of administration and states all the particular circumstances attending the grant of them. Ellis v. Appleby, 4 R. I. 462.

95. Rattoon v. Overacker, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 126.

96. Barr v. Sullivan, 75 Miss. 536, 23 So. 536.

97. Teasdale v. Branton, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,813, Brunn. Col. Cas. 28, 3 N. C. 377.

his heirs a reply that the revocation by the court was void as being decreed without an issue to try the validity of the will and without notice and proof is good on demurrer.[98] Where an assumpsit against an executor defendant pleads that the testator devised land to plaintiff in satisfaction of his demand and that plaintiff accepted the devise, plaintiff protesting that testator did not make the devise in satisfaction of the demand and that the will was not proved, replies that he did not accept the land devised, the replication is good.[99] Where to an action against an estate, defendant pleads a return of insolvency of the estate pending the action (which by statute is a good defense to all suits against the estate except for designated debts) a replication failing to show how much of the demand sued for is within the excepted class of debts is bad.[1]

(E) Evidence Admissible Under Replication. Under a replication to a plea of plene administravit that assets have and ought to have come to the administrator's hands plaintiff is entitled to prove a devastavit.[2] So in assumpsit by an administrator where plaintiff to a plea of limitations replies a promise to decedent within the statutory period evidence of a promise to plaintiff is admissible to maintain the replication.[3]

(II) Rejoinder. If the replication in a suit against a personal representative is a departure from the declaration plaintiff cannot object that a rejoinder answering it is a departure from the plea because if the rejoinder does depart from the plea the fault lies with plaintiff.[4] Where an executor pleads in bar a devise in satisfaction of plaintiff's claims and a refusal by him to elect whether to take or refuse it and plaintiff replies a refusal to accept and traverses the refusal to elect, a rejoinder that the devise has not been waived is bad for departure.[5] A rejoinder alleging that defendant has assets but not more than sufficient to pay a judgment of a designated amount is not a departure in pleading from a plea of plene administravit præter alleging the unadministered assets to be of considerably less value than the sum designated in the rejoinder. An averment of value is a mere matter of form and not traversable.[6]

2. Rules Applicable to Particular Classes of Actions — a. Actions on Claims in Favor of Estate — (I) Declaration or Complaint. Where one sues in a representative capacity on a writing purporting to be executed to his intestate a declaration or complaint which fails to show the death of intestate is fatally defective.[7] A count on an indebtedness to decedent with a promise to the representative is good without showing any promise to decedent,[8] and in assumpsit by an administrator de bonis non, the promise may be laid to have been made to the former administrator.[9] In a suit on a note or other obligation in decedent's favor the declaration should show non-payment both to decedent and his personal representative or representatives.[10] But it has been held that a general allegation that the note or obligation is due and unpaid is sufficient without specially alleging that the note

98. Quinn v. Moss, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 365.

99. Hapgood v. Houghton, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 451.

1. Fennell v. Patrick, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 244.

2. Seighman v. Marshall, 17 Md. 550; Shannon v. Denkins, 2 Strobh. (S. C.) 196.

3. Buswell v. Roby, 3 N. H. 467. This is based on the peculiar rules of practice in this state and is not in line with the weight of authority.

4. Parkhill v. Union Bank, 1 Fla. 110.

5. Hapgood v. Houghton, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 451.

6. Burr v. Baldwin, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 580.

7. Phelps v. Risk, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 893.

8. Black v. Reybold, 3 Harr. (Del.) 528.

9. Sullivan v. Holker, 15 Mass. 374.

10. Stallings v. Williams, 6 Ala. 509.

In suit by an administrator de bonis non against a debtor of the original intestate, the declaration must state the name of the previous administrator and aver that the money had not been paid to him nor to the original intestate nor to plaintiff. Griffith v. Fischli, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 427; Vanblaricum v. Yeo, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 322.

In an action by a surviving executor for a debt due the testator in his lifetime, the declaration must aver not only that the debt was not paid to plaintiff, but also that it was not paid to the testator nor to either of the co-executors. Buckner v. Blair, 2 Munf. (Va.) 336.

has not been paid to deceased.[11] If an administrator acquires a note by assignment in the settlement of the estate and sues on it as administrator it is not necessary to allege that the note is an asset of the estate as this fact is obvious.[12] As an administrator may sue in his own name on a note payable to bearer, although transferred to his intestate during the lifetime of the latter, the complaint need not state the source of his title and if stated it need not be proved.[13] If the cause of action is work done for testator the executor in assumpsit therefor need not set out the contract specially.[14] Where an administrator sues for rent under a statute, vesting him with authority to receive rents in the absence of heirs, a complaint for rent by the administrator alleging that he had authority to and did rent the property is a sufficient allegation of authority under the statute.[15] A declaration alleging that money was received by defendant to the use of decedent in his lifetime and alleging a promise to decedent may be amended so as to allege that the money was received for the use of the administrator and the promise made to her.[16] So it has been held that a defective allegation of a promise to the administrator, although a good ground for demurrer, cannot be taken advantage of after verdict.[17]

(II) Plea or Answer and Demurrer. A plea in a suit by executors on a note given to them that the consideration was the sale of testator's title to land to which plaintiffs represented that testator had a right when in fact he had no title thereto is sufficient without an allegation that plaintiffs warranted title and that they knew that the title was not good.[18] In an action of debt by two executors on a note given to them a plea that defendant was appointed executor and qualified will not abate the suit.[19] A statute requiring verification of a plea denying execution of an instrument applies where the declaration alleges that plaintiffs were administrators of a designated person deceased at the time the promises were made and that the promises were made to them personally by that description.[20] To a suit by an executor on a claim due deceased, an answer that defendant had paid deceased the amount due and that it was paid in goods in satisfaction of the claim and so received by deceased is good either as a plea of payment or accord and satisfaction.[21] Where an administrator sues as such on a note payable to him as administrator, it is a sufficient answer that the note is not the property of the estate but the individual property of the administrator.[22] To an action by an administrator for money in defendant's hands, belonging to the estate, a plea that defendant's wards were entitled as distributees to a portion of the estate, without alleging that there were no debts, or what that interest amounted to, presents no defense.[23] To entitle defendant to avail himself of an

11. Cromwell v. Barnes, 58 Ind. 20.

12. Dowing v. Carr, 38 S. W. 1044, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 979.

A complaint alleging that plaintiff as administrator had indorsed a note and was the legal holder of it and giving a description of the note states facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. Elliott v. Pollitzer, 24 S. C. 81.

13. Sanford v. McCreedy, 28 Wis. 103.

14. Peries v. Aycinena, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 64.

A bill by an administrator to recover the value of certain personalty of decedent's estate sold by plaintiff to defendant alleged that sale of the property was made at such price as could be agreed upon by arbitrators selected, but that before the arbitrators had acted the purchaser declared that he would not abide by their decision. It was not shown that any price was agreed upon or that any inventory or appraisement of the property or any order of court for private sale thereof was made or that either party to the contract was uninformed as to the facts. It was held that the bill was demurrable. Ramey v. McCain, 51 Ind. 496.

15. Guynn v. Jones, 12 Ind. 486.

16. Stanley v. Stanley, 42 Conn. 539.

17. Vandersmith v. Washmein, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 4.

18. Baker v. Baker, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 346.

19. Baker v. Baker, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 346, in which it was said by Boyle, C. J., delivering the opinion of the court, that as the note was given to the executors they could only sue thereon in their own right and that consequently a plea that there was another executor could not abate the suit.

20. Adams v. King, 16 Ill. 169, 61 Am. Dec. 64.

21. Hart v. Crawford, 41 Ind. 197.

22. Harte v. Houchin, 50 Ind. 327.

23. Holliday v. Strickland, 60 Ga. 150.

approved claim due him from the estate as an offset against the price of property sold him by the administrator, the answer must show that he is the only creditor entitled to the fund in which he seeks to apply the offset, or if other creditors are interested in the fund, it must state the extent and character of such other claims so that the court may determine whether such relief can be allowed.[24] To a suit by an administrator de bonis non a plea alleging, first, payment to the administrator who had afterward deposited it with defendant in his own name, and second, that such sum had been paid out on the orders of the administrator is bad as setting up inconsistent defenses.[25] In a suit on a note by an administratrix, an objection that the declaration does not allege to whom the note was made payable or that defendant owes plaintiff as administratrix is not available unless taken by demurrer.[26]

(III) EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE UNDER PLEADINGS. In suits by personal representatives as such they must allege a promise made to decedent in his lifetime to admit proof of that fact,[27] and in an action by an executor to recover money alleged to have been paid by testatrix in her lifetime evidence of payment made by himself after her death is inadmissible.[28] In debt on a judgment by executors, defendants cannot prove under the plea of payment that testator had renounced his interest in certain of defendants' lands and that his devisee had since sold a part thereof.[29] In the absence of a statute providing otherwise, an administrator relying on a new promise to avoid the plea of limitations must insert in the declaration a count on the promise made to himself or to his intestate as the case may be.[30] If an administrator is substituted as plaintiff in an action commenced by his intestate and defendant pleads a set-off of moneys due from plaintiff evidence of an indebtedness of intestate to defendant is inadmissible.[31] An agreement by an administratrix to credit on a note held by her the value of certain work done by the maker should be pleaded as a counter-claim and cannot be interposed as a defense by payment.[32]

b. Actions on Claims Against Estate — (I) DECLARATION OR COMPLAINT — (A) For Money Had and Received. In assumpsit against an executor for money paid by a cosurety of the testator after his death the declaration should set forth the facts specially.[33] A count for money paid out and expended for the use of a person designated as administrator of another, deceased, is bad because the administrator is personally liable and the declaration should be so drawn.[34] So a count for money had and received by a person designated as administrator of another, deceased, is bad for the same reason.[35] Where an administratrix paid part of a debt for which intestate was liable as surety and after her marriage she and her husband pay the balance she may as administratrix recover the whole of the debt from the principal in assumpsit for money paid by husband and wife as administrators without counting separately for the money paid by the administratrix before marriage.[36]

(B) For Services Performed. In a petition to establish a rejected claim for services rendered an estate under contract the administrator must allege the contract, rendition of the services, and that they were for the benefit of the estate, and that the price charged was reasonable.[37]

24. Alford v. Smith, 40 Tex. 77.
25. Smith v. Culligan, 74 Mo. 387.
26. Osborn v. Osborn, 114 Mass. 515.
27. Merritt v. Keeler, 75 Mich. 314, 42 N. W. 941; Barnum v. Stone, 27 Mich. 332.
28. Turner v. Maddock, 3 Gill (Md.) 190.
29. Matlack v. Read, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 71.
30. Felty v. Young, 18 Md. 163, holding that under the act of 1856, chapter 112, a declaration containing counts for money payable as administrator for money loaned and found due on account stated is sufficient to admit proof of a new promise to the administrator.
31. Lawson v. Fischer, 5 Ark. 52.
32. Cook v. Cook, 24 S. C. 204.
33. Bachelder v. Fiske, 17 Mass. 464.
34. Sibbit v. Lloyd, 11 N. J. L. 163. And see Sterrett v. Barker, 119 Cal. 492, 51 Pac. 695.
35. Sibbit v. Lloyd, 11 N. J. L. 163.
36. Williams v. Moore, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 432.
37. Adriance v. Crews, 45 Tex. 181.

(c) Miscellaneous. No claim other than the one directly covered by the pleading can be proved.[38] In an action on a money claim "due from deceased in his lifetime" a declaration which fails to allege that the money was due plaintiff is defective.[39] If the complaint alleges presentation to and rejection of a claim by an administrator the specific allegation of non-payment is unnecessary as this fact will be presumed from a rejection of the claim.[40] In suits on claims against an estate it is not necessary to allege that there are assets in the hands of the representative.[41] Since the surviving obligor of a joint obligation is primarily liable, a complaint against the executors of his coöbligor must allege the insolvency of the surviving obligor;[42] but an averment that he is entirely insolvent is sufficient without alleging the issue and return unsatisfied of an execution against him.[43] Where a statute provides that an executor or administrator, if the estate be insolvent, may institute suit before a probate court, and by giving notice compel the creditors to exhibit their claims, to be adjudged and paid pro rata, and that no suit shall afterward be brought against the executor or administrator, unless plaintiff allege that such executor or administrator has been guilty of fraud, negligence, or waste, such allegation, in a subsequent suit, must be contained in plaintiff's declaration.[44] A count against an executor on the death of testator alleging a promise by one of the executors who was then the only executor who had qualified and that afterward letters were granted to the other executors whereby an action had accrued against both as executors is good.[45] While debt cannot be brought against executors on a simple contract they cannot make the objection after verdict if they plead to the issue.[46]

(II) Plea or Answer and Demurrer. Non est factum is a good plea in an action against an executor on an obligation of deceased.[47] The general denial

Showing power of executors to make contract.— In an action against executors to recover commissions on the sale of lands under a contract made with them an allegation that defendants are executors of the will of A, independent of the control of the county court, and that there is no restriction in the contract as to the sale of the lands "save that it was requested by defendants that they should be sold as soon as practicable for cash, as provided by the will of defendants' testator, at a fair price," is sufficient on general demurrer as to the power of the executors to make the contract. O'Brien v. Gilleland, 79 Tex. 602, 15 S. W. 681.

Amendment.—One suing on a claim against an estate for services rendered may amend his complaint so as to increase the amount sought to be recovered to an amount greater than the claim presented without changing the claim from that originally presented. Field v. Field, 77 N. Y. 294.

38. Hurley v. Hewett, 87 Me. 200, 32 Atl. 875.

Where the particulars of a claim lie rather within defendant's knowledge than plaintiff's, as where he has acknowledged in writing the receipt from decedent of "various claims" amounting to, etc., to be collected, in a suit on a receipt by the administrator it is enough to set out the claims generally. Moore v. Gholson, 34 Miss. 372.

39. Merryman v. Ryder, 34 Md. 98.

40. Wise v. Hogan, 77 Cal. 184, 19 Pac. 278.

Establishment of claim.— Under a statute providing for the payment by an administrator of claims which have either been admitted by the judge or allowed by the executor plaintiff in an action on a claim founded on a judgment in alleging that the probate court had ordered payment of his demand, alleged a sufficient establishment of his claim and it was immaterial that he did not sufficiently allege a judgment. State v. Bowden, 3 Ind. 504.

41. Giles v. Perryman, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 164; Malin v. Bull, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 441.

In suing an executor administering independently in the county court on a claim against the testator it is unnecessary to allege the existence of assets. Smith v. Caswell, 65 Tex. 379.

42. Barnes v. Brown, 130 N. Y. 372, 29 N. E. 760; Barnes v. Seligman, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 339, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 834.

43. Stahl v. Stahl, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 60.

44. Walker v. Johnson, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,074, 2 McLean 92.

45. Benjamin v. Taylor, 12 Barb. (N. Y.) 328, in which it was said that on qualification of the second executor he acquired all the rights and subjected himself to all the liabilities of an executor.

46. Carson v. Hood, 4 Dall. (Pa.) 108, 1 L. ed. 762. It will be presumed that everything was done at the trial necessary to support the action, unless the contrary appears of record. Carson v. Hood, supra.

47. Langford v. Frey, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 443.

Verification.— Where the complaint is founded on an instrument alleged to have been executed by decedent, the administrator need not deny decedent's signature on oath.

puts in issue the execution of a note by decedent,[48] unless a special plea is required by statute.[49] In an action on a promise of decedent a plea of not guilty by his administrator is insufficient.[50] So in such action a plea of outstanding judgments recovered against testator jointly with other persons must allege that testator was the survivor.[51] Where a claim is not presented to the commissioners of an insolvent estate in accordance with a statute prohibiting suit thereon, unless the claim has been so presented, objection for non-presentation may be taken by plea in bar, or by a brief statement, and need not be taken by a plea in abatement.[52] If the laws of a state give a preference to its citizens in the payment of the debts of the deceased, the representative if sued by a foreign creditor should plead such preference,[53] and if he wishes to avail himself of a statutory provision that suit to establish a money demand against the estate must be brought in the county where the estate is being administered he must in order to assert his privilege state in what county the estate is being administered.[54] Where in an action against an administrator on a former judgment against decedent the complaint did not allege and it did not appear that intestate had any real estate a demurrer to the answer on the ground that it did not state what disposition if any had been made of the real estate is insufficient,[55] and where in such action the answer states the date and terms of the sale of decedent's property by the administrator and alleges that the purchase-money was paid when due, it is not demurrable for failure to state at what time the money was received.[56]

(III) EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE UNDER PLEADINGS. Under a statute permitting a personal representative to give any special matter in evidence under the general issue, an administrator sued on a note executed by decedent need not plead payment specially, but may prove it under the general issue.[57] So under this statute set-off may be shown under the general issue.[58] If, however, a statute requires notice at the time of pleading the general issue that a set-off will be insisted on in evidence, a set-off cannot be given in evidence under the general issue unless such notice is given.[59] In an action against the executor of one of several makers of a promissory note defendant may give in evidence the survivorship of the other makers without pleading it.[60] If the action is based on the promise of decedent a promise by the representative cannot be given in evidence to establish the demand.[61] In an action on a promise of decedent in which the statute of Heath v. Lent, 1 Cal. 410; Knight v. Knight, 9 Fla. 283. Compare Vincent v. Pitman, 1 Mo. 712. But where a statute provides that one sued as maker of a note signed in his name by agent cannot deny the agency, except by plea verified by oath, an administrator denying that an agent had authority to sign his intestate's name to a note must do so on oath. Ellis v. Planters' Bank, 7 How. (Miss.) 235.

A rule of court that the execution of the note may be taken as admitted at the trial unless defendant or someone in his behalf shall deny its execution on oath does not apply to executors and administrators, because in no ordinary case would it be possible for a personal representative to set out on oath in specific detail the nature and incidents of a transaction to which his decedent had been a party and to which he was a stranger. Perkins v. Humes, 200 Pa. St. 235, 49 Atl. 934.

48. Cawood v. Lee, 32 Ind. 44. And see Ruddell v. Tynor, 87 Ind. 529; Wells v. Wells, 71 Ind. 509.

Waiver of proof of execution.— Where the execution of a note is put in issue by the general denial, proof thereof is not waived by the fact that the administrator allowed it to be read in evidence without objection. Cawood v. Lee, 32 Ind. 44.

49. Thornton v. Alliston, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 124, holding that where this is the case a special plea is necessary, notwithstanding a statute which permits executors to give any special matter in evidence under the general issue.

50. Morrison v. Kelly, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 224.

51. Douglass v. Satterlee, 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 16.

52. Dillingham v. Weston, 21 Me. 263.

53. De Sorby v. De Laistre, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 191, 3 Am. Dec. 555.

54. McKie v. Echols, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1282.

55. Lee v. Beaman, 73 N. C. 410.

56. Lee v. Beaman, 73 N. C. 410.

57. Gray v. Thomas, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 111.

58. Herrington v. Herrington, Walk. (Miss.) 305.

59. Boyd v. Thompson, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 217.

60. Osgood v. Spencer, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 133.

61. Quarles v. Littlepage, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 401, 3 Am. Dec. 637. And see Yarlimitations is pleaded, evidence of a promise made by defendant to pay the claim in suit is not admissible to take the case out of the statute of limitations where the declaration does not allege that the promise was made by him as administrator.[62]

c. Actions by Representative to Set Aside Fraudulent Conveyance of Decedent or Gift Donatio Causa Mortis. In a suit by a personal representative on behalf of creditors to set aside a fraudulent conveyance of decedent the bill must state a case clearly within the statute under which he derives his authority to sue.[63] It must show that suit is brought within the period fixed by statute for instituting suits of this character,[64] that the suit is brought in behalf of creditors,[65] and if the statute requires a request from creditors to bring the suit the bill must also allege such request.[66] So it must state substantially the same facts as the decedent's creditors would have been required to allege if they had sued to set aside the fraudulent conveyance.[67] The bill must show that the conveyance was in fraud of creditors.[68] It should show that there is a deficiency of assets to meet the payment of claims against the estate,[69] or that the estate was insolvent;[70] and if the statute requires a suggestion of insolvency this also must be alleged.[71] It is not a sufficient answer to a suit of this character that other property conveyed by decedent was equally liable with that conveyed to defendant.[72] Where an administrator sues in behalf of creditors to recover a gift made by his intestate in view of death, it sufficiently appears that there are creditors interested in having the property recovered where it is alleged that there are outstanding and rington v. Robinson, 141 Mass. 450, 6 N. E. 382 (holding that where the suit is against defendants in their capacity as administrators their personal liability on the contract sued on cannot be tried under the declaration); Smith v. Proctor, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 72 (holding that where plaintiff counts on a promise by decedent he cannot recover for services completed after his death, although commenced and conducted before his death).

62. Chapman v. Dixon, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 527.

63. Crittenden v. Basom, 46 Mich. 33, 8 N. W. 573; Boxly v. McKay, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 286; Lant v. Manley, 71 Fed. 7.

Suit to avoid sale for fraud practised on decedent.— In an action by an administrator to avoid a sale for fraud practised by the buyer on the intestate, an allegation that the intestate was induced to make the sale in fraud of his creditors does not make the action one by the administrator as trustee for the creditors. Curry v. Brockway, 12 Daly (N. Y.) 17.

64. Cox v. Hunter, 79 Ind. 590.

65. Boxly v. McKay, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 286.

66. Lant v. Manley, 71 Fed. 7.

67. Cox v. Hunter, 79 Ind. 590.

68. Threlkel v. Scott, 89 Cal. 351, 26 Pac. 879; Cox v. Hunter, 79 Ind. 590; Crittenden v. Basom, 46 Mich. 33, 8 N. W. 573; Walker v. Pease, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 415, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 219.

Fraudulent intent will not be inferred from facts set out in the complaint that the conveyance was voluntary and that intestate was insolvent. Voluntary conveyance by an insolvent debtor is not necessarily fraudulent. Threlkel v. Scott, 89 Cal. 351, 26 Pac. 879. And the general allegation that decedent delivered the deed in escrow for the purpose of distributing the property among his heirs without will or administration and reserving the power to destroy the instruments is not sufficient to show fraud. Crittenden v. Basom, 46 Mich. 33, 8 N. W. 573.

Amendments.— Where an administrator sues to set aside certain conveyances by his intestate on the ground that they were procured by fraud he may at the trial be allowed to amend his bill and claim relief on the ground of the insolvency of the estate and that consequently the conveyances were fraudulent as to creditors. Clark v. Clough, 65 N. H. 43, 23 Atl. 526.

69. Kellogg v. Beeson, 58 Mich. 340, 25 N. W. 300. And see Ackerman v. Merle, 137 Cal. 157, 69 Pac. 982; Radabaugh v. Silvers, 135 Ind. 605, 35 N. E. 694.

Allegation sufficient to show deficiency.— In an action to set aside an alleged fraudulent conveyance of decedent a complaint is sufficient which alleges that claims allowed against the estate amount to five hundred dollars and claims pending for two hundred and fifty dollars more and that the personal estate is only fourteen dollars without further alleging that the claims are valid (Radabaugh v. Silvers, 135 Ind. 605, 35 N. E. 694); and a complaint alleging a deficiency of assets to meet the payment of claims is sufficient, at least in the absence of a special demurrer, without alleging that all the property so fraudulently conveyed was needed to pay the debts and that between the time of the conveyance and the institution of the suit the debtor remained without sufficient property to satisfy the creditors (Ackerman v. Merle, 137 Cal. 157, 69 Pac. 982).

70. Boxly v. McKay, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 286.

71. Boxly v. McKay, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 286.

72. Kaufman v. Elderd, 154 Ind. 157, 56 N. E. 215.

unpaid claims, which have been duly presented, allowed by the administrator, and approved by the county judge, and that there is no property other than that in possession of defendants out of which they can be satisfied.[73]

d. Actions to Recover Real Estate. In ejectment by an executor the declaration or complaint must show his title to the premises.[74] Where an administrator sues to recover lands from a purchaser holding under the heir at law and seeks to avoid that sale on account of the necessity of paying debts, the debts and the creditors must be set forth in his bill in order that defendant may be put on notice as to the facts on which his property is sought to be condemned.[75]

e. Actions to Foreclose Mortgages. On a bill by an executor to foreclose a mortgage, it must be alleged that the mortgage is part of the estate of decedent.[76] It is not necessary to allege that he is the owner and holder of the mortgage, but it is sufficient that it is in his possession as executor and is on its face made to decedent.[77] If it is sought to foreclose a mortgage given by an executor on testator's property, an allegation that "the will authorized and directed said executor to administer upon said estate without the intervention, order, or advice of any court and to fully execute all its terms and provisions" sufficiently shows that its terms dispense with letters of administration;[78] and his power to make the mortgage is shown where it appears from the complaint that it was decedent's intent that the estate should be administered without the aid of any court, that the executor had performed all the terms and conditions of the will, had executed the note and mortgage, and that his action therein had been fully confirmed by the court.[79] If one suing as executrix to recover the surplus proceeds of a foreclosure sale of property of the estate is without power to maintain such suit, this fact is apparent on the face of the complaint and must be taken advantage of by demurrer or the objection is waived.[80]

f. Actions For Injuries to Land. Where an administrator sues for injuries to decedent's land after his death the facts on which the administrator's right to sue depends must be alleged.[81] In an action by an administrator for injury to decedent's land under a statute vesting him with control thereof during the settlement of the estate an allegation that plaintiff was administrator, etc., and in lawful possession of the land sufficiently alleges that the injury occurred during the settlement of the estate and that the land belongs to the estate of which he was administrator.[82]

g. Suits For Specific Performance. On a bill against an executor and devisees to compel the conveyance of property which testator contracted to convey upon the execution of certain notes performance of conditions precedent on the part of complainants is sufficiently shown by alleging generally that they are ready to execute the notes upon receiving the conveyance.[83] In an action by an executor

73. Bright v. Ecker, 9 S. D. 192, 68 N. W. 326.

74. Sturgeon v. Underwood, 2 S. W. 655, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 606.

Complaint held sufficient.— In an action for possession of real estate brought by the executors of a will it is sufficient to allege that they have a legal estate in the premises, and are entitled to the immediate possession thereof, and that defendant unlawfully keeps them out of possession. Martin v. Spurrier, 23 Ohio Cir. Ct. 110.

75. Seabrook v. Brady, 47 Ga. 650.

76. Peck v. Mallams, 10 N. Y. 509.

77. Locke v. Klunker, 123 Cal. 231, 55 Pac. 993.

78. Miller v. Borst, 11 Wash. 260, 39 Pac. 662.

79. Miller v. Borst, 11 Wash. 260, 39 Pac. 662.

80. Warfield v. Hume, 91 Mo. App. 541.

81. Pott v. Pennington, 16 Minn. 509 (holding that the pleading should show that the will purports to devise the land in question since otherwise it would descend to the heirs at law); Forist v. Androscoggin River Imp. Co., 52 N. H. 477 (holding that if the administrator's right to sue depends on the insolvency of the estate this fact must be alleged).

82. Smith v. Moodus Water Power Co., 33 Conn. 460.

83. Deglow v. Meyer, 15 S. W. 875, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 974, in which it was said that it was not necessary to allege an offer to perform by a tender of the notes to executor as he had no power to convey.

Amendment.— A bill against an executor for specific performance defective for failure to allege petitioner's performance of the

to recover on notes given decedent as payments for land purchased a complaint is insufficient which does not show the right of plaintiff to make a deed.[84]

h. Actions Based on Misfeasance or Malfeasance of Personal Representative.[85] A declaration in debt for a devastavit should allege that goods and chattels sufficient to pay the debt had come to the hands of the representative to be administered,[86] and the charges of waste, etc., must be specific. General charges are insufficient.[87] If a distributee seeks to charge an administrator after final settlement, for waste, the petition must allege that there are no creditors and that the property alleged to have been wasted was not applicable to the payment of debts.[88] Where the complaint charges that a co-executor who had been removed purchased stock sued for in his own name with the funds of the estate which he pledged for his own debt, and alleged that such executor and his wife transferred their interest in the stock to plaintiff, the complaint should also allege the date of such transfer.[89] The complaint of the administrator of a life-tenant under a will to recover rents and profits belonging to her, but converted to his own use by one named in the will as executor but who did not qualify as such, need not allege that the estate of testator had been settled and his debts paid.[90] Where an administrator sells land of the estate subject to a mortgage, but fails to take a bond from the purchaser to pay the mortgage as he is required by statute to do, a complaint by the widow against him for damages for neglect to take a bond does not state a cause of action if it fails to allege that the whole property was worth more than the amount of the mortgage.[91] In an action to subject an executor to a penalty for failure to file the will within the time prescribed by statute the declaration need not allege that the omission was intentional,[92] but it must be alleged in the language of the statute that the neglect was without "just excuse made and accepted by the judge of probate for such delay" and a failure to make this allegation is not cured by verdict.[93] In an action to recover property bequeathed to plaintiff and alleged to be unlawfully detained by the executor the answer may properly set up facts showing an excuse for the detention of the property.[94] In an action by an administrator de bonis non to recover property alleged to have been illegally sold by his predecessor or, if the sale is valid, to foreclose the statutory mortgage for the price, the bill must allege the amount of money to be recovered or an excuse must be given for not doing so.[95] In agreement on his part or his readiness and willingness to perform may be amended. Chess' Appeal, 4 Pa. St. 52, 45 Am. Dec. 668.

84. Acton v. Walker, 74 S. W. 231, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2377.

85. For other matters related to this topic see infra, XIV, T.

86. Griffith v. Com., 1 Dana (Ky.) 270, holding that an allegation that the estate of intestate to a large amount came into the possession or knowledge of the administrator sufficient to pay, etc., is insufficient because he may have knowledge of goods of decedent sufficient to pay the debt and yet be unable to reduce them to possession.

Failure to inventory property.— In a complaint against an executor for neglecting to inventory and sell certain property, it must be expressly averred that the property has come to his knowledge. State v. Scott, 12 Ind. 529.

87. Davis v. Yerby, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 508.

Allegation sufficient to show devastavit.— A bill against an administrator averring that he received money arising from a sale of decedent's property, which he did not appropriate to any legal purpose, and that the complainants, who were judgment creditors, made frequent demands on him to pay their claims which he refused after the return nulla bona of executions issued on their judgments sufficiently alleges a devastavit without further averring that the assets of the estate were misapplied and wasted by the administrator. Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488.

In jurisdictions where the civil law obtains an action by a creditor of a testator against his executor charging him with a devastavit without alleging proceedings to compel defendant to exhibit a tableau of distribution cannot be maintained. McGill v. Armour, 11 How. (U. S.) 142, 13 L. ed. 638.

88. Foster v. Kenrick, 71 Mo. 422.

89. Ruggles v. O'Brien, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 641, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 940.

90. Niehaus v. Cooper, 22 Ind. App. 610, 52 N. E. 761.

91. Sparrow v. Kelso, 92 Ind. 514.

92. Smith v. Moore, 6 Me. 274.

93. Smith v. Moore, 6 Me. 274.

94. Roberts v. Stuart, 80 Tex. 379, 15 S. W. 1108.

95. Prestidge v. Pendleton, 24 Miss. 80.

an action against an executor suggesting a devastavit the plea of nil debet is good as well as that of not guilty.[96] In trespass quare clausum by the widow against the administrator a plea of justification "that he entered to remove the goods of the intestate" must allege that the goods of intestate were on the premises.[97] A bill against an administrator for not collecting accounts alleged to have been solvent at the time he received them cannot be so amended as to include a claim for the balance of the year's support, which had been set aside for testator's children, especially as it had been allowed and approved by the ordinary of the county for that amount.[98] In an action by heirs to recover land illegally purchased by the representative at a sale thereof to pay debts, he cannot without pleading it avail himself of the defense that the heirs were estopped by their conduct from attacking the validity of the purchase.[99]

i. Actions Based on Conversion of or Injuries to Personal Property.[1] If a personal representative brings an action based on the conversion of personal property belonging to the estate the declaration or complaint must describe the property or it will be fatally defective.[2] An allegation that defendant "took and carried away certain chattels of the plaintiff's intestate" sufficiently alleges property in the intestate.[3] So it has been held that the alternative averment that the property was received "by the decedent or by the defendants for his use" is good.[4] A complaint alleging that decedent held in trust for plaintiff certain securities which he bequeathed by his will and that his executors had converted them and, although requested have refused to account to plaintiff for them, states a good cause of action against the executors.[5] A bill for the recovery of bonds deposited to secure the performance by the pledgor of a contract with the pledgee cannot be maintained against the administrator of the pledgee, where it is not alleged that the bonds had ever come into the administrator's possession.[6] In trespass for an injury to personal property, the declarations should allege that the property belonged to plaintiff as administrator, but a complaint which merely alleges that the property belonged to decedent will be good after verdict.[7] An answer in an action by the representative to recover certain property, denying decedent's title to it and asserting a lien should specifically state the nature of the lien,[8] and in an action by an administrator for the conversion of a certain sum of money left by decedent an answer that defendant loaned decedent the identical money described, that decedent's widow took possession of it on his death and told defendant that she would take out letters of administration and requested him to take back the money and deliver to her a note decedent had given therefor, which he did, is insufficient.[9]

j. Actions of Covenant. The declaration in an action by an executor for breach of a covenant real must show a breach in the lifetime of the testator, since otherwise the right of action belongs to the heir.[10] Where there are two covenantees, the administrator of one of them cannot sue for breach of the covenant

96. Archer v. Duval, 1 Fla. 255.

97. Finley v. Broadwell, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 257.

98. Adkins v. Hutchings, 79 Ga. 260, 4 S. E. 887.

99. Wood v. Nicholls, 33 La. Ann. 744.

1. Form of statement of demand in trover under Indiana statute held sufficient. Davis v. Davis, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 394.

2. Union Trust Co. v. Soderer, 171 Mo. 675, 72 S. W. 499.

In an action by an administrator to recover goods belonging to the estate the allegation of the complaint, "bonds to the amount of $2,100, issued by the county of Wilson, State of Tennessee, and known as Wilson county bonds," is not a sufficient description of the bonds. David v. David, 66 Ala. 139.

3. Stanley v. Gaylord, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 82.

An allegation that the estate owned and possessed the property is equivalent to an allegation that the administrator owned and possessed it. Ham v. Henderson, 50 Cal. 367.

4. Gerard v. Jones, 78 Ind. 378.

5. King v. Lawrence, 14 Wis. 238.

6. Angus v. Robinson, 62 Vt. 60, 19 Atl. 993.

7. Hutchins v. Adams, 3 Me. 174.

8. Matter of Motz, 5 N. Y. St. 343.

9. Robinson v. Isenhower, 47 Ind. 199.

10. Ashby v. Moore, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 166; Abney v. Brownlee, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 170.

without showing in his declaration that the other covenantee is dead.[11] Where one covenants with executors as such they need not in a suit thereon allege their interest in its enforcement as their interest will be assumed.[12] A declaration in covenant against an administrator which barely avers a non-performance by the intestate is insufficient, as he may have died before the time for performance.[13] An executor sued in covenant may under a general plea to the merits, such as covenant performed, give any special matter in evidence, where a statute provides that executors may give any special matter in evidence under the general issue.[14]

k. Actions For Legacies or Distributive Shares. One who sues for a legacy or distributive share need not negative the existence of matters of defense;[15] nor is it necessary to allege that plaintiff had demanded his legacy where it is alleged that the executors have refused to pay it.[16] So it has been held unnecessary to allege that a refunding bond was executed and tendered before suit.[17] The declaration or bill should allege that a surplus sufficient to satisfy the legacy or distributive share remains or will remain after payment of debts of the estate,[18] or that the unpaid claims are barred,[19] especially where the estate has been declared insolvent.[20] So if under the will title to a legacy does not pass to the legatee until the executor has assented thereto his assent or refusal must be alleged, although the estate owes no debts.[21] If suit is brought on a decree of the probate court to recover a legacy, it is not necessary to allege that the executor has it in his possession.[22] If suit is brought by an heir to recover a legacy to the ancestor death of the ancestor must be alleged.[23] And a bill against the administrator of complainant's father to recover the distributive shares of their brothers, alleged to have died during minority, is demurrable no reason being shown why there was no administration on their estates.[24] The complaint need not set forth the will under which the legacy is claimed in an action by the legatee against the administrator and a creditor of the estate in which a fraudulent payment of the creditor's claim is alleged.[25] In an action by a guardian to recover a legacy bequeathed to his ward, the complaint need not allege that the legacy had been paid into the surrogate's court.[26] Where the action is to recover a balance alleged to be due on a legacy an answer setting up that such balance has been paid as a collateral inheritance tax by order of court is not objectionable for failure to state the order to have been duly made.[27] So in such action an answer denying that any demand

11. Waln v. Cuthbert, 54 N. J. L. 1, 22 Atl. 1007.

12. Farnham v. Mallory, 2 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 100, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 527, 3 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 171, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 380.

13. Warner v. Bledsoe, 4 Dana (Ky.) 73.

14. Martin v. White, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 473.

15. Sherwood v. Thomasson, 124 Ind. 541, 24 N. E. 334, holding that, in an action by a widow against the administrator of her husband's estate to recover her distributive share, it is not necessary that she should aver that she did not desert her husband and was not living in adultery at the time of his death.

16. Dilley v. Henry, 25 N. J. L. 302, in which it was said that a refunding bond may be waived by defendant, and if one is not given he should plead it in abatement if he wishes to object to the action on that ground.

17. Foulks v. Foulks, 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 516, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 112.

18. Norwood v. Holliman, 27 Ark. 445; Coulter v. Bradley, 30 Ind. App. 421, 66 N. E. 184; Dewitt v. Schoonmaker, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 243.

Limitation of rule.— Where a suit to recover a legacy is based on a decree of the probate court, it is not necessary to allege that the debts of the estate have been paid. This question is res judicata. Weeks v. Sowles, 58 Vt. 696, 6 Atl. 603.

19. Wright v. Dunklin, 83 Ala. 317, 3 So. 597.

20. Wright v. Dunklin, 83 Ala. 317, 3 So. 597. And see McMillan v. Rushing, 80 Ala. 402.

21. Lester v. Stephens, 113 Ga. 495, 39 S. E. 109.

22. Weeks v. Sowles, 58 Vt. 696, 6 Atl. 603, this fact is res judicata.

23. King v. King, 42 Ga. 512.

24. Tuggle v. Tuggle, 52 Ga. 475.

25. Bell v. Ayres, 24 Ind. 92.

26. Wall v. Bulger, 46 Hun (N. Y.) 346, in which it was held that if a proceeding had been instituted before that court for an accounting and to compel defendants to pay this legacy to plaintiff, then payment into that court would doubtless have been a bar to this action; but it would constitute an affirmative defense and would have to be pleaded as such.

27. Kennagh v. McColgan, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 230.

has been made for such balance raises an issue which must be tried under a statutory requirement that if after a certain time a personal representative refuses on demand to pay over a legacy an action may be maintained therefor.[28]

l. Actions to Charge Representative Individually. While a promise in writing is necessary in order to charge an executor individually, such written promise need not be alleged in declaring against him.[29] If it is sought to charge an administrator personally on a promise to pay a debt of decedent, in consideration of forbearance by the creditor to sue the estate, an allegation that defendant is administrator of the decedent debtor is surplusage and does not make it necessary to allege that he has assets.[30]

m. Suits For Distribution of Estate. On a bill for distribution, the bill must show that complainants are distributees.[31] If the suit is brought by an administrator and sole distributee, an allegation that decedent died in the county where suit was brought does not give the court jurisdiction, the complaint failing to allege where decedent was domiciled at the time of his death.[32] A bill by an administrator with the will annexed for distribution of the estate according to the provisions of the will is not rendered multifarious by the joinder of legatees who were also debtors and creditors of the estate, with a prayer for a settlement of their accounts, and for a surrender by one of them of papers which he held as agent of testator.[33]

n. Suits Between Personal Representatives. A petition by an administrator de bonis non in an action against his predecessor for property not accounted for which alleges the value of the estate which came into defendant's hands as shown by the inventory is sufficient, without setting up the entire inventory of the estate, where the amount paid over to creditors by defendant and the value of the assets turned over to plaintiff are both alleged and from these a balance appears not to have been accounted for.[34] If the basis of the suit is a devastavit in failing to redeem stock belonging to the estate which had been sold under a decree subject to redemption within a designated time, it must be alleged that there were assets in defendant's hands available and applicable for the purpose of redemption and that the proper court order the redemption to be made.[35] If an administrator is appointed to administer on assets left unadministered on the death of the executor and brings suit against an executor of the former executor, the complaint need not allege that assets ever came into defendant's hands.[36] In an action by an administrator de bonis non against his predecessor for an alleged conversion of money belonging to the estate defendant cannot show under the general issue payments and expenditures for the estate, as such matter is in confession an avoidance.[37]

o. Proceedings to Sell Lands of Decedent. A bill by an executor asking leave to sell real estate to pay debts must allege that the personal estate is exhausted.[38]

p. Miscellaneous Actions. Where a petition by heirs seeks to revise proceedings in the administration of the estate, it is subject to demurrer, unless a copy of the proceedings complained of is attached thereto.[39] Where an administrator seeks to enjoin a surrogate from disregarding, in a decree on final settlement, certain sealed instruments, executed by the next of kin, releasing him from liabil-

28. Kennagh v. McColgan, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 230.
29. Pettigrew v. Pettigrew, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 580.
30. Pratt v. Humphrey, 22 Conn. 317.
31. Hopkins v. Claybrook, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 234.
32. Minkler v. Woodruff, 12 Nebr. 267, 11 N. W. 296.
33. Triplett v. Woodward, 98 Va. 187, 35 S. E. 455.
34. Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75.
35. Steel v. Holladay, 20 Oreg. 70, 25 Pac. 69, 10 L. R. A. 670.
36. Walton v. Walton, 4 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 512, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 15, 2 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 428.
37. Grothaus v. Witte, 72 Tex. 124, 11 S. W. 1032.
38. Wiley v. Wiley, 63 N. C. 182.
39. Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123.

ity for their distributive shares, the complaint must contain averments as to the validity of the releases.[40] In an action by an administrator to set aside a contract with his intestate on the ground of insanity, and to recover money paid thereunder, an allegation that the widow consented to a surrender of the contract, without averment of release or assignment, is not a sufficient ground for omitting to make her a party.[41] Conceding that an administrator who advances his own funds to pay demands against the estate acquires a right of action against the heirs of the intestate, the purpose of the advance should be affirmatively alleged, that the court may determine from the complaint whether it constitutes a sufficient cause of action.[42]

q. Answers in Actions Against Several Personal Representatives. Joint executors must agree as to the mode of conducting suits and cannot file separate pleas which place them in a hostile attitude to each other.[43] Under the statutes of one jurisdiction[44] where an action is brought against several personal representatives, such of them as are first served with process, or first appear, are entitled to answer for the estate, and it is irregular for their co-executors to put in an answer afterward.[45] It has been held, however, that an executor not served, but who has appeared by counsel and participated in a trial of the issues raised by his co-executors and answers, may be allowed upon terms and without prejudice to the proceedings already had to serve a separate answer raising new issues.[46]

L. Evidence — 1. Presumptions and Burden of Proof — a. Presumptions — (i) In General. Various presumptions may arise in favor of or adverse to the personal representative, in actions by or against him, depending of course upon the circumstances of the particular case.[47] Thus in the absence of allegation or proof to the contrary it will be presumed that one shown to be at one time an administrator continued in that capacity until the estate was administered by the payment of debts and collection of assets;[48] that he properly performed his duty;[49] that the possession of property of the estate by the representative is 40. Wright v. Fleming, 76 N. Y. 517 [affirming 12 Hun 469].

41. Riggs v. American Tract Soc., 19 Hun (N. Y.) 481, 7 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 433.

42. McClure v. McClure, 19 Ind. 185.

43. Hilligsberg's Succession, 5 La. Ann. 118.

44. N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1817, provides that in actions against two or more personal representatives those first served with process, or who first appear, must answer, and that separate answers by different personal representatives cannot be required or allowed except by direction of the court.

45. Salters v. Pruyn, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 224, holding further that collusion between plaintiff and the executor who first answers does not give his co-executor the right to answer, at least not without leave of court on a direct application for that purpose.

46. Guernsey v. Cheyne, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 361.

47. Presumption as to regularity of appointment of personal representative see supra, II, L, 2.

Presumption as to value of land. — Where an administrator who entered on leasehold property of the intestate and received the rents and profits is sued as an assignee of the lease, although it is a good defense that he has no assets, or that the land is not worth the sum due, the presumption is that the land is worth more than the sum demanded. In re Galloway, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 32, 34 Am. Dec. 209.

Heirs are presumed to continue in life until facts are proved from which a different presumption arises, and it is therefore not necessary for an administrator to show affirmatively that his intestate's heirs are living, in order to sustain an action for land conveyed by the intestate conditionally, after the condition is broken. Austin v. Downer, 27 Vt. 636.

The fact that previously rendered accounts had been paid by the testator raises no presumption against the allowance of a subsequent account consisting of previous charges, and which is set up as a defense in a suit by an executor against defendant, where it appears that the former accounts were for disbursements only and the latter for services. Merritt v. Seaman, 6 Barb. (N. Y.) 330 [reversed on other grounds in 6 N. Y. 168].

48. Barr v. Sullivan, 75 Miss. 536, 23 So. 772.

49. Jones v. Linton, 34 Ga. 429; Sherman v. American Cong. Assoc., 113 Fed. 609, 51 C. C. A. 329 [affirming 98 Fed. 495], holding that where the bill in a suit by an heir to recover a sum given as a legacy and alleged to have been wrongfully paid to defendant as legatee fails to allege that the payment was not made at the time required by the will, or that an annuity on which such legal;[50] that a party shown to have had possession of a decedent's property subsequent to his death still has possession;[51] that a demand for payment of a claim has been made, where a special request for delay in payment is made by the representative;[52] and that a delay in payment in such case was in consequence of such request;[53] that property delivered in payment of debts of the estate, and described as property of the estate, belonged to the estate;[54] or that returns and accounts to the court were made by the representative in his representative capacity, where he has no power to make them in any other.[55] But it will not be presumed that the representative performed a wrongful act in dereliction of his official duty, as that he appropriated as assets emblements of the land to which the widow and children were entitled;[56] that he failed to give notice of his appointment where he seeks to use such failure in his own favor;[57] or that there are creditors, in a suit by the representative to assert a right which is good in favor of creditors, but not in favor of heirs.[58] Presumptions in favor of testimony arising from the failure of the opposite party to rebut it, where it is obvious that the means to do so are readily accessible to him, do not hold so strongly against the representative as they might against the decedent, if living, in a matter in which the administrator might be at fault for want of knowledge of facts necessary to enable him to make a full defense.[59]

(II) As to Settlement of Estate and Payment of Claims. After the lapse of a considerable length of time, usually twenty years, from the grant of letters, combined with other circumstances, it will be presumed in the absence of evidence to the contrary that all legacies and claims against the estate have been paid,[60] legacy was conditioned was not duly paid, there is a presumption that such payment was properly made.

In an action for the amount of a book-account for goods furnished to an administrator who represents two undivided estates, plaintiff is not bound to prove that the goods were properly applied, or in what proportion they were divided between the two estates, as it is to be presumed that the representative applied them to the purposes for which they were purchased. Jones v. Linton, 34 Ga. 429.

50. Tuskaloosa Cotton-Seed Oil Co. v. Perry, 85 Ala. 158, 4 So. 635; Butt v. Clark, 23 Ind. 548, holding that where the complaint in an action against an administrator avers that he has taken possession of real estate of the decedent it will be presumed that it was a legal possession.

51. Howell v. Howell, 37 Mo. 124, holding this to be true in an action under Mo. Rev. Code (1865), p. 13, § 7, for the recovery of goods of a decedent which had been embezzled.

In a proceeding to recover personal property belonging to the estate of a decedent, of which defendant had taken possession and which he had delivered to others, claiming to have done so in accordance with decedent's wishes, the burden is on defendant to show that the property is not under his control; and where he gives no evidence that he sought to regain the property after he became aware that his action was illegal, and a finding that the property would have been restored to him on request is warranted by the evidence, the property will be considered under his control. Matter of Nickerson, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 841, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 6.

Possession prior to decedent's death.— The fact that the legatee had his legacy in his possession prior to the decedent's death affords no conclusive evidence that he had it in his possession at the time of the decedent's death, and in an action therefor the burden is upon the personal representative to show that the legatee had possession at the latter time. Enders v. Enders, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 362.

52. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Leath, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 515.

53. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Leath, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 515.

54. Williams v. Troop, 17 Wis. 463.

55. Stewart v. Richardson, 32 Miss. 313.

56. Tucker v. Murphy, 71 Ind. 576.

57. Aiken v. Morse, 104 Mass. 277.

58. Bradshaw v. Mayfield, 18 Tex. 21.

59. Chandler v. Meckling, 22 Tex. 36.

60. Jones v. Brevard, 59 Ala. 499; Langworthy v. Baker, 23 Ill. 484 (holding that after a lapse of twenty-seven years a claim against an estate will be presumed to have been satisfied unless the laches is explained, even though the administrator does not plead the statute); Shearin v. Eaton, 37 N. C. 282; Peters' Appeal, 106 Pa. St. 340. And see, generally, PAYMENTS.

Presumption of payment of claims and of settlement of accounts as affecting time for distribution see supra, XI, E, 6.

A citation on executors to settle their accounts issued at the instance of a legatee within twenty years from the time his legacy became payable is a claim of such legatee and hence will constitute a bar to the presumption of payment in an action to recover the legacy. Foulk v. Brown, 2 Watts (Pa.) 209.

and that the estate has been fully settled and distributed by the executor or administrator.[61]

b. Burden of Proof — (i) In General. The general rule that the burden of proof is on whoever has the affirmative of an issue as determined by the pleadings, or by the nature of the investigation [62] applies to actions by or against a personal representative.[63] Thus in an action against the personal representative the burden is upon plaintiff to establish all facts necessary to prove his claim,[64]

The presumption of payment of a judgment quando acciderint from lapse of time is rebutted by a statement that no assets have ever come to the representative's hands. Austin v. Tompkins, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 22.

61. Bass v. Bass, 88 Ala. 408, 7 So. 243; Austin v. Jordan, 35 Ala. 642; Hooper v. Howell, 52 Ga. 315. See infra, XV, B, 3, b.

A distributive share will be presumed to have been paid after the lapse of twenty years from the time it was demandable (Com. v. Snyder, 62 Pa. St. 153); and this presumption is not rebutted by the settlement of an administration account showing a balance, that being no admission that the amount is in the hands of the accountants and that it has not been paid over (Com. v. Snyder, supra).

The fact of administration is sometimes presumed from lapse of time in order to protect bona fide holders of the decedent's property (Woolfolk v. Beatly, 18 Ga. 520) but not where the records furnish no evidence that administration had been granted (Gardner v. Cumming, Ga. Dec. 1).

62. See Evidence, 16 Cyc. 926 et seq.

63. See Buford v. Shinkle, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 686 (holding that in an action by an administrator to recover certain property alleged to belong to the estate, where defendant alleges a purchase from the decedent a short time before his death, the burden is on him to establish title); Smith v. Loafman, 145 Pa. St. 628, 23 Atl. 395.

In a suit on a note payable to plaintiff as administrator where plaintiff was so described in the writ, the burden of showing that the note was a debt due to the estate of plaintiff's intestate is on defendant, if he wishes to enforce a set-off in the same right. Lovell v. Nelson, 11 Allen (Mass.) 101, 87 Am. Dec. 706.

Where in ejectment against devisees the latter claim title on the ground that they are also heirs of the deceased, that fact must be affirmatively proved and will not be inferred from the fact that they are near relatives of the deceased, unless it be shown that no nearer relatives survive him. Hunt v. Payne, 29 Vt. 172, 70 Am. Dec. 402.

64. California.— Barthe v. Rogers, 127 Cal. 52, 59 Pac. 310 (holding also that if plaintiff's evidence fails, defendant is entitled to submit the case on claimant's testimony, rather than move for a nonsuit); Lichtenberg v. McGlynn, 105 Cal. 45, 38 Pac. 541.

Illinois.— Edwards v. Harness, 87 Ill. App. 471.

Indiana.— See Stanley v. Pence, 160 Ind. 636, 67 N. E. 441, 66 N. E. 51.

Maine.— Goodell v. Buck, 67 Me. 514, holding that to maintain a bill against an administrator of an insolvent estate for property received by him, on the ground that it was held by his intestate in trust for plaintiff, the burden is on plaintiff to identify the property claimed as held by the intestate in trust for him.

Michigan.— See Blakley v. Cochran, 117 Mich. 394, 75 N. W. 940, holding that a claimant against an estate upon a note need not show affirmatively, where he was agent for the decedent for several years before her death, that he had properly accounted to her as to all matters between them, as the failure so to account is matter of defense.

Missouri.— State v. Collier, 15 Mo. 293, holding that in an action against an administrator de bonis non, the onus is upon plaintiff to show the amount of assets that went into his hands and his failure to account for them.

Pennsylvania.— Foulk v. Brown, 2 Watts 209.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1862.

Action on promise of representative.— Where in assumpsit under plea of limitations, plaintiff proved that defendant administrator, in answer to demand for payment, said he thought the debt had been paid, but if it was correct, it should be paid, he must also prove the debt before he could avail himself of the promise. Kent v. Wilkinson, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 497.

In an action by heirs against a personal representative for devastavit, the burden is on the heirs to show an injury to themselves as heirs. Herbert v. Harbert, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 594.

In a suit for payment for services to the decedent the burden is on plaintiff to show that they were furnished as a consideration for a legal obligation. Johnson v. Kimball, 172 Mass. 398, 52 N. E. 386. See Williams v. Williams, 132 Mass. 304.

In an action for the payment of a legacy plaintiff must show either by proof or admissions of executors that there are sufficient assets to pay the legacy after payment of debts, funeral charges, etc. (Bush v. Cunningham, 37 Ala. 68; Stevens v. Gordy, 9 Gill (Md.) 405); and where by the terms of the bequest a debt due to the legatee from the testator is to be deducted therefrom, he must also show the amount of the indebtedness to him (Bush v. Cunningham, supra).

A bank deposit standing in the name of the decedent will be presumed to be his, and the burden of proof is upon the person claiming a title thereto adverse to the representative. Staib's Estate, 11 Pa. Super. Ct. 447.

and upon the representative to prove all matters relied upon by way of defense.[65] If the action is against the representative for a neglect or breach of trust or duty, the burden is generally on plaintiff to prove such neglect or breach;[66] but where the action is for failure to collect debts due the estate it is incumbent upon the representative to prove that he used reasonable diligence and prudence in attempting to make the collection.[67] Under statutes providing that no action shall be brought on a claim not presented to the personal representative within a certain time, it is held in some jurisdictions that inasmuch as presentation is essential to the creditor's right of recovery, he must on the plea of the general issue affirmatively prove presentation as a part of his case, although he does not allege it.[68] In other jurisdictions, however, it is held that where the representative sets up such statute as a bar to the claim he must show that the time limited by statute has expired and that he had advertised according to law.[69]

(II) As to Fact of Payment. Where in an action upon a claim against a decedent's estate plaintiff has proved the existence of his debt within the period of statutory limitation, he need not prove non-payment, although he alleges it;[70]

65. Edwards v. Daley, 14 La. Ann. 384, holding that where an administrator of one upon whom an order for funds in his hands was given contests the consideration of such an order, the burden is on him to establish want of consideration.

A want of assets to pay a claim when relied upon as a defense by the representative must be proved by him. Troy Bank v. Topping, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 557 (holding that a note given by the representative prima facie imports a sufficiency of assets and the burden is upon him to show that there was in fact a deficiency); McSorley v. Leary, 1 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 410.

On the issue of devastavit and where the representative fails to plead plene administravit the burden is on him to show that assets formerly in his hands were taken away from him without his fault or that without fault he failed to realize on them. Parker v. Latimer, 59 S. C. 330, 37 S. E. 918.

66. Gadsden v. Jones, 1 Fla. 332; Johnson's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 83.

The burden of proving maladministration by administrators is on the one who charges it, except that when the administrators admit, or it is shown that they have received, assets, they must account for or produce them. Ladd v. Stephens, 147 Mo. 319, 48 S. W. 915.

67. Peytavin's Succession, 7 Rob. (La.) 477; Longbottom v. Babcock, 9 La. 44; Collins v. Andrews, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 190.

68. Amoskeag Mfg. Co. v. Barnes, 48 N. H. 25; Kittredge v. Folsom, 8 N. H. 98; Mathes v. Jackson, 6 N. H. 105. Compare Pepper v. Sidwell, 36 Ohio St. 454.

An allegation that a verified claim was presented to the representative in accordance with the statute and rejected by them is material and must be proved. Rowland v. Madden, 72 Cal. 17, 12 Pac. 226, 870.

69. Clark v. Sexton, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 477 (holding that to subject a creditor to the short limitation of six months created by the statute concerning executors and administrators, it is incumbent upon the latter to show the publication of notice to creditors to come in); Cox v. Cox, 84 N. C. 138; Gilliam v. Willey, 54 N. C. 128.

Burden of proving general statute of limitations see LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

To establish the bar of the statute of non-claim all the elements of notice of letters of administration must be specially proved. Loder's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

In Iowa it has been held that the burden is on defendant representative who pleads such statute to establish the bar, as the plea is an affirmative one. McConaughy v. Wilsey, 115 Iowa 589, 88 N. W. 1101. But this case seems to be based on McDonald v. Bice, 113 Iowa 44, 84 N. W. 985, in which it was held that the burden of proving the general statute of limitations is on defendant pleading it.

In Alabama it has been held that where an issue is joined by general replication to a plea of the statute of non-claim, the burden is on plaintiff to show that he presented his claim within the time limited by such statute (Mitchell v. Lea, 57 Ala. 46; Evans v. Norris, 1 Ala. 511); but where plaintiff replies specially to such plea, that the advertisement was not made by defendant within the proper time after administration granted, such replication, as it would admit that no presentation had been made, would present a new issue, the affirmative of which would be cast on defendant (Evans v. Norris, 1 Ala. 511).

70. Hurley v. Ryan, 137 Cal. 461, 70 Pac. 292; Melone v. Ruffino, 129 Cal. 514, 62 Pac. 93, 79 Am. St. Rep. 127 (holding that an allegation of non-payment of a debt, although necessary to make the complaint perfect, need not be proved); Matter of Rowell, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 323, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 382; Kartoghian v. Harboth, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 79.

In an action for compensation for services rendered to the decedent where plaintiff has proven the rendition of such services and their value, he is not required to prove non-payment. Ralley v. O'Connor, 71 N. Y. App. Div. 328, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 925 [affirmed in 173 N. Y. 621, 66 N. E. 1115]; Hicks-Alixbut the burden of proof is upon defendant representative to prove payment of the claim, where such defense is relied upon.[71]

(III) In Actions on Written Instruments. Under some statutes it is held that the general rule that in an action on a note or other written instrument plaintiff is not bound to prove its execution unless denied by proper plea[72] applies to actions against a personal representative on notes or instruments executed by decedent.[73] Under other statutes, however, it is held otherwise; and that such note or instrument cannot be admitted in evidence until plaintiff has proved its execution by the decedent, although not denied by a proper plea.[74] But where the execution of a note by the decedent is proved a consideration therefor is presumed,[75] and the burden of proving want of consideration is on defendant representative.[76] In an action against an estate for the amount of a note given by defendant as representative, the burden is upon plaintiff to show that the cause of action arose upon a contract made by the decedent in his lifetime, that the original claim or debt was not extinguished by the acceptance of the note, and that there was an assignment to him of the original claim to the extent of the note.[77]

(IV) On Plene Administravit and No Assets. Where in an action against a personal representative the latter pleads no assets and plene administravit and an issue is joined thereon, the burden is on plaintiff to show assets unadministered in defendant's hands at the time the action was commenced, applicable to the payment of his claim;[78] to produce a copy of the inventory of anain v. Walton, 14 N. Y. App. Div. 199, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 541.

71. Hurley v. Ryan, 137 Cal. 461, 7 Pac. 292; Melone v. Ruffino, 129 Cal. 514, 62 Pac. 93, 79 Am. St. Rep. 127; Griffith v. Lewin, 125 Cal. 618, 58 Pac. 205; Best v. Best, 74 S. W. 738, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 93 (holding that in an action by an administrator to have a claim for board and nursing furnished a decedent ascertained, the administrator has the burden of proving payment of the board when it is shown that the claimant furnished it to the decedent); Lerche v. Brasher, 104 N. Y. 157, 10 N. E. 58; Matter of Rowell, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 323, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 382. And see, generally, PAYMENTS.

The promise to pay, implied from valuable services rendered to a decedent, must be answered by satisfactory affirmative evidence that they were gratuitously rendered before the right of the claim can be defeated. Matter of Oatman, 5 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 378. See Guild v. Guild, 15 Pick. (Mass.) 129 quære.

72. See COMMERCIAL PAPER, 8 Cyc. 216.

73. Knight v. Knight, 9 Fla. 283; Foster v. Nowlin, 4 Mo. 18.

In an action on an official bond signed by the decedent the acknowledgment of the bond as provided for by statute is prima facie evidence of the signature and execution of the bond and plaintiff need not introduce extrinsic proof of the decedent's signature, unless defendant introduces evidence to overcome the prima facie proof of execution made by the acknowledgment. Ramsey v. People, 197 Ill. 572, 64 N. E. 549, 90 Am. St. Rep. 177 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 283].

74. Smith v. King, 88 Iowa 105, 55 N. W. 88; Perkins v. Humes, 200 Pa. St. 235, 49 Atl. 934; Campion v. Schinnick, 93 Wis. 111, 67 N. W. 11.

In Indiana it is held that the statute (Thornton Rev. St. § 369) requiring the execution of written instruments to be denied under oath does not apply in an action against a personal representative upon a note executed by the decedent; and that, in order that a plaintiff may recover upon such a note, the burden is upon him to prove its execution by the decedent, although the representative does not deny its execution under oath. Ruddell v. Tyner, 87 Ind. 529; Wells v. Wells, 71 Ind. 509; Cawood v. Lee, 32 Ind. 444; Barnett v. Cabinet Makers' Union, 28 Ind. 254; Mahon v. Sawyer, 18 Ind. 73; Riser v. Snoddy, 7 Ind. 442, 65 Am. Dec. 740; Bowen v. O'Hair, 29 Ind. App. 466, 64 N. E. 672 (holding that where an administrator in an action against him on a note alleged to have been given by his decedent, defends without answer, as is authorized by Horner Rev. St. (1901) § 2324, in cases where no counter-claim or set-off is relied upon, plaintiff must prove the execution of the note); Kennedy v. Graham, 9 Ind. App. 624, 35 N. E. 925, 37 N. E. 25.

75. See COMMERCIAL PAPER, 8 Cyc. 222 et seq.

76. Thompson v. Thompson, 140 Cal. 545, 74 Pac. 21. And see COMMERCIAL PAPER, 8 Cyc. 225.

77. Cary v. Gregory, 38 N. Y. Super. Ct. 127.

78. Kentucky.—Wallace v. Barlow, 3 Bibb 168.

Maryland.— Morgan v. Slade, 2 Harr. & J. 38.

New York.— Vultee v. Rayner, 2 Hall 407; Bentley v. Bentley, 7 Cow. 701. But see Platt v. Robins, 1 Johns. Cas. 276, 1 Am. Dec. 110, holding that a plea of plene administravit is an affirmative plea and therefore it is incumbent on defendants to show that they had fully administered according to the the estate from the public records, if he wishes thereby to charge the administrator with assets;[79] and to show notice of his claim by the representative before distribution.[80]

(v) As to Necessity of Proving Representative Capacity. Except so far as the pleadings or special circumstances may have shown a waiver of such proof,[81] a personal representative who brings an action should prove his appointment as part of his title, and to substantiate his right of action,[82] unless the cause inventory which they were bound to make when they assumed the administration.

North Carolina.— Ray v. Patton, 86 N. C. 386; McKeithan v. McGill, 83 N. C. 517.

South Carolina.— Shannon v. Dinkins, 2 Strobh. 196.

Tennessee.— Gilpin v. Noe, 9 Heisk. 192. And see May v. Wright, 1 Overt. 385.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1863.

Order of proof.— Upon such issue the representative begins by showing that he has administered something and then the burden of proof is upon plaintiff to show by inventory or otherwise assets to a greater amount than is prudent to be administered. Anonymous, 3 N. C. 14.

79. Vultee v. Rayner, 2 Hall (N. Y.) 407, holding this to be true where plaintiff objected to the administrator's introducing evidence before he had produced such an inventory.

80. Willingham v. Chick, 14 S. C. 93, 95, in which Wallace, J., says: "If a plaintiff comes into court and establishes his claim, and the executor pleads plene administravit, and that all funds have been paid out, and his accounts balanced, if he satisfies the jury that he has fully administered, unless notice of the claim be brought home to him, he is entitled to a verdict. If, however, such notice be brought home to him, the plea of plene administravit is no answer; but it is incumbent upon the plaintiff to show that he had such notice."

81. See supra, XIV, A, 1, b, (I), (A), (1), (b).

Where the granting of letters of administration to plaintiff is admitted, the onus is on one disputing his title to show that the court making the appointment had no jurisdiction. Welch v. New York Cent. R. Co., 53 N. Y. 610.

82. Illinois.— When the representative character of an administrator is put in issue, he will be required to exhibit a copy of the letters of administration authenticated as the act of congress directs, together with the certificate of the proper officer that the same were granted in pursuance of, and conformable to, the laws of the state in which they were granted. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358.

Louisiana.— To sustain an order of seizure and sale at the suit of the administrator of a succession, authentic evidence of plaintiff's appointment as administrator is necessary. De Brueys v. Freret, 18 La. Ann. 80; Landry v. Landry, 12 La. Ann. 167.

New York.— Ketchum v. Morrell, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 58, holding that in an action by a public administrator, he must, to substantiate his right of action, adduce evidence of his special character.

North Carolina.— Kesler v. Roseman, 44 N. C. 389.

Ohio.— Matter of Dunham, 8 Ohio Cir. Ct. 160, 4 Ohio Cir. Dec. 325.

South Carolina.—Kerby v. Quinn, Rice 264; Browning v. Huff, 2 Bailey 174.

Texas.— Under Paschal Dig. Art. 1286, prescribing the evidence necessary to make proof of the appointment and qualification of an executor and administrator, if on the trial of an action the authority of an executor or administrator be denied he must produce his letters of administration, duly signed and sealed, or if lost then the certificate of the clerk that such letters have issued. Werbiskie v. McManus, 31 Tex. 116.

Vermont.— Austin v. Downer, 25 Vt. 558; Aldis v. Burdick, 8 Vt. 21.

Wisconsin.— Wittmann v. Watry, 37 Wis. 238.

United States.— Campbell v. U. S., 13 Ct. Cl. 108.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1864.

But see Wetzell v. Waters, 18 Mo. 396, in which it was held that a public administrator is regarded like any other administrator in bringing suits, and that defendant cannot require him to show that the facts exist which authorize him to administer.

Where special provisions of the will constitute the basis of his authority in bringing the suit, the will or a duly attested copy thereof should be produced in evidence. Horn v. Johnson, 87 Ga. 448, 13 S. E. 633; Mays v. Killen, 56 Ga. 527; Sorrell v. Ham, 9 Ga. 55; Partee v. Caughran, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 460; Aldis v. Burdick, 8 Vt. 21.

In ejectment by a representative his appointment becomes part of his title to recover and must be shown by him (Horn v. Johnson, 87 Ga. 448, 13 S. E. 633; May v. Killen, 56 Ga. 527; Sorrell v. Ham, 9 Ga. 55; Austin v. Downer, 25 Vt. 558; Aldis v. Burdick, 8 Vt. 21); and if he fails to do so by competent evidence, it is proper to grant a nonsuit (Lay v. Sheppard, 112 Ga. 111, 37 S. E. 132).

Appearance by representative upon revivor of action.— After the appearance of an administrator or executor has been entered, his right to appear must be proved, in the same manner as though the suit had been commenced in his name, but his right cannot be questioned before he has become a party. Moore v. Rand, 1 Wis. 245.

of action is one which arose after the decedent's death;[83] and the same is true in actions against him, in which he relies upon a matter of defense dependent upon his representative character.[84] Where the suit is against the representative as such, the burden is on plaintiff to prove not only the representative's appointment, but also that he had taken upon himself the trust;[85] unless the suit is upon a decree of the probate court against the representative, in which case such decree is of itself evidence of the appointment, and plaintiff need not prove it.[86]

2. Admissibility — a. In General. The admissibility of evidence in actions by or against a personal representative depends upon the nature of the fact sought to be proved.[87] For example evidence is admissible in an action for a legacy which tends to show that property existed, subject to such legacy, during the life of the

83. In such cases the representative may under some circumstances sue in either his individual or representative capacity (see supra, XIV, A, 1) and where he may sue in either capacity, it seems that it is immaterial to defendant whether or not he proves his representative capacity, although he sues in that form. Sears v. Daly, 43 Oreg. 346, 73 Pac. 5, holding that, in an action by an executor on a note alleged to have been given after the death of his testator, his failure to prove his representative capacity, or that the note was the property of the estate of which he was executor, was immaterial, as the averment as to plaintiff's representative character may be regarded as surplusage, and the complaint still state a good cause of action in his favor as an individual.

84. Partee v. Caughran, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 460, holding that where one sued as executor relies upon a retainer he must produce the letters testamentary and show that he is the rightful executor.

85. Witcher v. Wilson, 47 Miss. 663, holding that in an action against executors, this may be shown by proving that they had proved the will, or given bond and taken the oath, or in case they are charged as executors de son tort, by proving acts of intermeddling with the estate. See also Picard v. Brown, 6 T. R. 550.

86. Dubois v. Dubois, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 494, holding that a surrogate's decree against an executor to pay a pecuniary legacy makes the claim a personal claim against the executor; and it is of itself evidence that there was a will and that defendant was executor; so that plaintiff need not prove such facts on the trial.

87. See Sanford v. Howard, 29 Ala. 68, 68 Am. Dec. 101; Jones v. Linton, 34 Ga. 429 (evidence in an action against an administrator on a book-account is held admissible to show that the goods were sold to the administrator in his representative capacity, although charged to him individually); White v. Edmondson, 15 Ga. 301; Slade v. Leonard, 75 Ind. 171; Garretson v. Kinkead, 118 Iowa 383, 92 N. W. 55 (evidence held competent on issue of no indebtedness); Bond v. Corbett, 2 Minn. 248; Farrer v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 85 N. Y. App. Div. 478, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 218; Beddoe v. Wadsworth, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 120; Goss v. Dysant, 31 Tex. 186 (holding that in an action against an administrator for fraud, in a sale of a land certificate by the intestate to plaintiff, the claim against the estate which has been rejected by the administrator is admissible for the purpose of showing that it had been presented and rejected so as to authorize suit).

Admissions and declarations by testators and intestates as evidence against the personal representative see Evidence, 16 Cyc. 991, 997.

Admissions by administrator or executor as evidence against the estate or the representative's successor in office see Evidence, 16 Cyc. 1036, 1037.

Evidence is admissible, in an action to recover the value of land sold, to show that the sale was fair and that it brought its true value (Stripling v. Stripling, 49 Ga. 95) or to show its amount and value at the time the decedent went to reside with defendant, to whom the property was sold, and at whose house decedent died (Simmons v. Rust, 39 Iowa 241). In an action for personal property which plaintiff claimed as a gift from decedent, evidence that she was threatened with imprisonment or otherwise coerced into giving it up to the administrator is admissible in explanation. Pryor v. Morgan, 170 Pa. St. 568, 33 Atl. 98.

To prove notice by a representative of acceptance of his trust evidence other than the affidavit required by statute is admissible. Green v. Gill, 8 Mass. 111.

To prove conversion by a deceased son of personalty belonging to his deceased father, testimony that the father's widow continued in possession of property at the homestead is admissible. Howard v. Patrick, 43 Mich. 121, 5 N. W. 84.

On the issue of negligence on the representative's part, in keeping property, evidence of how people ordinarily prudent kept their property under like circumstances is admissible. Greenwell v. Crow, 73 Mo. 638.

Evidence held inadmissible.— In an action by an administrator to recover moneys belonging to the estate of his intestate, evidence is not admissible for the defense to show payment, settlement, and distribution of the moneys, by a family arrangement, before administration granted. Ebbs v. Com., 11 Pa. St. 374. See also McCartney v. Finnell, 106 Mo. 445, 17 S. W. 446. As against a debt with interest due from a decedent, evidence that he has left a legacy to plaintiff equal testator,[88] or that assets came into the hands of the executor,[89] or by the exercise of due diligence on his part might have come into his hands.[90] So in an action for services rendered, or board and lodging furnished the decedent, evidence is admissible to show the financial condition of the decedent,[91] the value of the services rendered,[92] that a bequest or devise was made in favor of plaintiff,[93] or that the employment was made by another than the decedent;[94] or if such services are rendered by a member of decedent's family, or a near relative, to show either an express agreement, or facts from which an implied agreement to pay therefor may be inferred.[95] Plaintiff in an action against the representative may to the principal of the debt is not admissible to prove satisfaction. Parker v. Coburn, 10 Allen (Mass.) 82.

Hearsay evidence as to whether the person on whose estate administration was granted was actually alive cannot be set up collaterally, to defeat the administrator's right of action. Hummel v. Brown, 24 Pa. St. 310.

In an action on notes executed by the decedent, evidence of the amount of the payee's claim against the estate or against the representative personally is inadmissible (Daggett v. Simonds, 173 Mass. 340, 53 N. E. 907, 46 L. R. A. 332); nor is it error to exclude evidence of the financial condition of the parties at the time of the execution of the notes, where no fraud in procuring the notes is alleged or proved (Perkins v. Humes, 200 Pa. St. 235, 49 Atl. 934; Hartman v. Shaffer, 71 Pa. St. 312).

Where the question of limitations is in issue in an action by an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, evidence that the executor of the decedent was notified to bring the action but refuses is immaterial. Nissley v. Brubaker, 192 Pa. St. 388, 43 Atl. 967.

In an action by an owner of land to recover rents and profits from a representative, evidence is admissible to show the rental value of the property (Oliver v. Hammond, 85 Ga. 323, 11 S. E. 655), or to show that the decedent was in possession and cultivated the land (Parker v. Salmons, 113 Ga. 1167, 39 S. E. 475); but evidence by the executor that prior to the testator's death he placed plaintiff on another and distinct tract of land, and allowed her to occupy the same as her home and receive the profits thereof, is not, standing alone, admissible; nor is the fact that testator conveyed other land to plaintiff for love and affection (Parker v. Salmons, supra).

Evidence of the insolvency of an estate is admissible in a suit by a representative on a claim payable to the decedent, where defendant pleads a set-off (Bass v. Gobert, 113 Ga. 262, 38 S. E. 834; Ray v. Dennis, 5 Ga. 357), or in a suit for the recovery of property out of the hands of a fraudulent grantee, in order to pay creditors (Andruss v. Doolittle, 11 Conn. 283); but it is inadmissible in an action against the widow for conversion of personalty, where no creditor is interested in the estate, or the result of the action (Fellows v. Smith, 130 Mass. 378). Where such evidence is admissible, the fact of insolvency may be proved by other evidence than the orders and decrees of the probate court; this fact being a proper question for the jury. Andruss v. Doolittle, supra.

88. Knapp v. Hanford, 7 Conn. 132.

89. Knapp v. Hanford, 7 Conn. 132. See Snelling v. Darrell, 17 Ga. 141.

90. Smith v. Griffin, 32 Ga. 81.

91. Snow v. Moore, 107 Mass. 512; Gall v. Gall, 27 N. Y. App. Div. 173, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 563; Horne v. McRae, 53 S. C. 51, 30 S. E. 701. But see Platt v. Hollands, 85 N. Y. App. Div. 231, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 556.

92. Gill v. Donovan, 96 Md. 518, 54 Atl. 117; Jack v. McKee, 9 Pa. St. 235, holding that, where plaintiff declared upon a contract by the decedent, in consideration of plaintiff continuing to live with him and taking care of his house until he died, he would give her certain land, it was competent to prove that a note was given plaintiff by the decedent payable after his death, without producing or accounting for the note for the purpose of showing the value the testator placed on plaintiff's services.

93. See Cunningham v. Hewitt, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 114, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 1102 [affirmed in 177 N. Y. 541, 69 N. E. 1122]. And see, generally, WILLS.

94. Gerlach v. Terry, 75 Cal. 290, 17 Pac. 207, holding that where in an action for medical services rendered the decedent, evidence that plaintiff was employed by one living with the deceased as her husband, and that plaintiff looked to him for payment is admissible. See also Elwell v. Roper, 72 N. H. 254, 56 Atl. 342.

95. Gill v. Donovan, 96 Md. 518, 54 Atl. 117; Lillard v. Wilson, 178 Mo. 145, 77 S. W. 74; Allen v. Allen, 101 Mo. App. 676, 74 S. W. 396; Gay v. Mooney, 67 N. J. L. 27, 50 Atl. 596 [affirmed in 67 N. J. L. 687, 52 Atl. 1131]; Disbrow v. Durand, 54 N. J. L. 343, 24 Atl. 545, 33 Am. St. Rep. 678; Wessinger v. Roberts, 67 S. C. 240, 45 S. E. 169 (conversations between decedent and plaintiff admissible); Dash v. Inabinet, 53 S. C. 382, 31 S. E. 297; Ex p. Aycock, 34 S. C. 255, 13 S. E. 450.

Where, in an action against an estate for services rendered by a young girl, defendant's proof proceeded on the theory that plaintiff was with the decedent as a member of the family, and not as a domestic, and testimony had been offered that she was a niece of decedent, there was no error in admitting evidence that the relationship was of the half blood. Gill v. Donovan, 96 Md. 518, 54 Atl. 117.

introduce evidence as to the validity of his claim at the time the indebtedness was incurred, and if he sees proper may show the subsequent conduct of the decedent or his representative;[96] and to reduce his personal liability, the representative may prove payments which the probate court through mistake has disallowed,[97] but he cannot give in evidence his own acts or admissions or those of his decedent subsequent to contracting the debt for the purpose of discharging the estate from liability.[98] A claim filed against an administrator is admissible in an action against him for a certain sum, although the claim filed exceeds the sum by the amount of interest due.[99]

b. Receipts or Writing in General. Subject to the general rules of documentary evidence,[1] and of best and secondary evidence,[2] which have been fully discussed elsewhere, receipts and vouchers given or taken by a representative or his decedent are admissible in actions by or against the representative[3] to show payments made by him or his decedent,[4] provided such receipts are connected with the matter in issue by other evidence.[5] Affidavits,[6] judgments or orders,[7] wills,[8] or other docu-

The expression of an intention by decedent to pay both plaintiff (a daughter-in-law) and her husband is admissible in order to prove a promise to pay plaintiff for her services. Allen v. Allen, 101 Mo. App. 676, 74 S. W. 396.

96. Johnston v. Hawkins, 31 Ohio St. 137.

97. Hendricks v. Mitchell, 37 Ga. 230.

98. Johnston v. Hawkins, 31 Ohio St. 137.

99. Parker v. Eufaula Nat. Bank, 121 Ala. 516, 25 So. 1001.

1. See EVIDENCE, 17 Cyc. 296 et seq.

2. See EVIDENCE, 17 Cyc. 465 et seq.

3. See Kimball v. Kimball, 16 Mich. 211, holding that, in an action to recover a claim founded on certain receipts which had been signed by an intestate jointly with others, they are admissible as a foundation or other evidence of the several liability, but not to fix the liability of the intestate's estate, it being a joint undertaking.

4. Smith v. Kimball, 105 Mass. 499; Melvin v. Stephens, 82 N. C. 283, holding receipts for payments admissible in an action against a representative for non-payment of a decree, whether they purport to be prior or subsequent to the date of the decree.

5. Field v. Bevil, 12 Ala. 608, holding that receipts and vouchers found among the decedent's papers are inadmissible as proof of payment, without connection with other facts and circumstances pertinent to the issue.

6. Under the rule of the courts of common pleas of Allegheny county, admitting as evidence such portions of the affidavit of claim as are not denied by the affidavit of defense, the affidavit of claim of an administrator suing in his representative capacity is admissible. Schupp v. Schupp, 1 Pa. Cas. 283, 2 Atl. 870. See Adkins v. Hutchings, 79 Ga. 260, 4 S. E. 887, holding that affidavits of accounts found among a deceased administrator's papers connected with the intestate's estate are ex parte and merely hearsay, and are inadmissible in an action against an administrator, appointed in his place, for not collecting certain debts.

7. See Floyd v. Wallace, 31 Ga. 688; Cook v. Stevenson, 30 Mich. 242; Reber v. Gilson, 1 Pa. St. 54 (holding the record of a former judgment against lessees for non-performance of covenants admissible in an action by them against administrators on a bond given by the intestate for performance of covenants in the lease); Bright v. Ecker, 9 S. D. 192, 68 N. W. 326 (citation and order of court directing parties to deliver assets to administrator is competent evidence (under Comp. Laws, § 5776) to charge defendants in a subsequent action by the administrator for the value of assets); Smyth v. Caswell, 67 Tex. 567, 4 S. W. 848 (holding that in an action against an executor upon a note it is competent for defendant who denies the execution of the note under oath to introduce the record of a former judgment in his favor against the executor, in a proceeding in which the debt sued on could have been pleaded as an offset, and was not).

On an issue whether decedent was indebted to plaintiff on a note destroyed by fire, the auditor's report and decree of the the orphans' court granting leave to mortgage real estate are inadmissible to show that decedent did not have personal property sufficient to pay his debts, and that consequently the claim must be a just one. Simpson v. Irvin, 5 Pa. Super. Ct. 471.

A decree setting aside a deed which had been given to plaintiff as compensation for services rendered the decedent is admissible in an action for such services to show that they had not been paid or provided for. Davis v. Duval, 111 N. C. 422, 16 S. E. 471, 112 N. C. 833, 17 S. E. 528.

8. A will is admissible in evidence where its provisions are pertinent to the action in question. See Hughes v. Keichline, 168 Pa. St. 115, 31 Atl. 887.

Thus a will is admissible in an action for services rendered or board furnished the decedent, to show whether or not plaintiff took a bequest thereunder, and as bearing upon the supposed undertaking to pay wages (Allen v. Field, 124 Mich. 466, 83 N. W. 151; Cowell v. Roberts, 79 Mo. 218; Allen v. Allen, 101 Mo. App. 676, 74 S. W. 396; Hughes v. Keichline, 168 Pa. St. 115, 31 Atl. 887); but it is properly excluded in an action against an executor to recover rent of land, ments or writings[9] taken or given by the decedent or the representative are also admissible in such actions for what they purport to express.

c. Letters of Appointment. In actions by or against a personal representative his letters of administration[10] properly authenticated by the official seal of the probate court,[11] or certified copies thereof,[12] even though the letters were granted on a defectively verified petition,[13] are admissible as evidence in any court in the state in which they are granted,[14] for the purpose of showing the representative's authority to act for and enforce or protect the rights of the estate he assumes to represent. Where such letters are excluded for want of a seal, the seal may where there is no question of the fact that plaintiff was the owner of the land (Parker v. Salmons, 113 Ga. 1167, 39 S. E. 475).

Where the construction of an executor's contract is altogether foreign from his authority under the will, the will is inadmissible. Sanford v. Howard, 29 Ala. 684, 68 Am. Dec. 101.

9. See Jones v. Jones, 41 Hun (N. Y.) 163 (holding that where an executor sued to recover money claimed by defendant as a gift from the testator, he might, to show fraud, put in evidence a note given by the testator to himself before the time of the gift): Poncin v. Furth, 15 Wash. 201, 46 Pac. 241 (holding that in an action on a note against the administrator of a deceased maker it was competent for plaintiffs to introduce the claim that had been rejected by the administrator, and the letter accompanying the rejection, to show that no vouchers had been required from plaintiffs).

An arbitration bond given by administrators individually is inadmissible in an action against them as administrators. Mahaffey v. Mahaffey, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 163.

Plaintiff's unsworn statement of a debt, which consisted of copies of the notes, and the statement that the decedent promised to pay, but did not do so, is inadmissible in an action against an executor on notes alleged to have been executed by the testator. Perkins v. Humes, 200 Pa. St. 235, 49 Atl. 934.

A note given by one of several administrators, admitting a sum of money to be due from the intestate's estate, is not admissible in evidence in a suit against a co-administrator unless accompanied by proof of an original indebtedness upon which such note was founded. Weston v. Murnan, 4 Ind. 271.

Bank-book.— Direct proof should be alleged to support a claim for trust moneys against the decedent, and the decedent's own deposit book, without other earmark or evidence, is inadmissible to sustain such a claim. Bagnall v. Roach, 76 Cal. 106, 18 Pac. 137.

On plene administravit.— A settlement by executors with the county court is admissible in a contest between a creditor and the personal representatives, whether made before or after suit brought, as prima facie evidence on the issue of plene administravit; but such settlement will prove nothing, unless it shows the dates of the payments, and whether made on judgments, specialties, or simple contracts. Cochran v. Davis, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 118. See also Mountjoy v. Lowry, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 428; Atwell v. Milton, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 253. To disprove such a plea a lease duly executed to the testator, at annual rent, may be read in evidence, although it had not been returned in the inventory to the orphans' court, and although no notice had been given to defendant that it was intended to be offered in evidence, to show fraud or want of truth in the inventory. Dukehart v. State, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 506.

In Massachusetts, where an administrator assumes the defense of an action brought against his intestate, it becomes an action against him, within St. (1896) c. 445, providing that, where an action by an administrator is supported by oral testimony of a promise or statement made by his intestate, evidence of the latter's written or oral statement, memoranda, and entries written by him, and of his act and habits of dealings, shall be admissible to disprove such statement or promise. Brooks v. Holden, 175 Mass. 137, 55 N. E. 802.

Where the insolvency of the estate is a prerequisite to the representative's right to maintain an action for waste or trespass on the lands of the deceased, the only proper evidence of the insolvency is documentary evidence from the probate office. Bates v. Avery, 59 Me. 354, holding such evidence sufficient.

10. Sanford v. Hayes, 19 Conn. 591; Farrand v. Caton, 69 Mich. 235, 37 N. W. 199; John Hancock Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Moore, 34 Mich. 41; Cook v. Stevenson, 30 Mich. 242 (holding that an objection to the admission of the letters of administration that no facts were shown to the probate court authorizing the appointment of plaintiff as administrator is untenable); Pick v. Strong, 26 Minn. 303, 3 N. W. 697; Dickinson v. McCraw, 4 Rand (Va.) 158.

11. Tuck v. Boone, 8 Gill (Md.) 187 (holding that letters of administration de bonis non with the will annexed are inoperative unless authenticated by the official seal of the orphans' court by which they were granted; and hence, unless so authenticated, are not admissible in an action by the administrator to prove his authority to sue); Maloney v. Woodin, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 202.

12. Farrand v. Caton, 69 Mich. 235, 37 N. W. 199.

13. Shaw v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 101 N. Y. App. Div. 246, 91 N. Y. Suppl. 746.

14. Dickinson v. McCraw, 4 Rand. (Va.) 158.

thereafter be affixed so as to render them admissible.[15] In ejectment against an executor or administrator, his letters are admissible, although they do not mention realty; for they prove his appointment, and the law clothes him with authority.[16]

d. Inventory and Appraisement. An inventory and appraisement of a decedent's estate duly made and returned by a representative[17] or a certified copy thereof from the record[18] is admissible for or against the representative, either for the purpose of releasing him from liability for certain assets, or of charging him therewith. But the parties in adverse interest seeking to charge the representative or his estate may prove the facts purporting to be shown by such inventory without reference to it.[19]

3. Weight and Sufficiency — a. In General. The weight and sufficiency of evidence in actions by or against a personal representative is governed by the general rules of evidence, which have been fully discussed elsewhere.[20] Subject to such rules the sufficiency of evidence in these actions depends entirely upon the nature of the issue or matter to be proved.[21] Declarations against interest may be

15. Maloney v. Woodin, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 202.

16. Lamar v. Sheffield, 66 Ga. 710.

17. Middleton v. Carrol, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 143; Chalfant v. Hart, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 572; Green v. Johnson, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 389 (assumpsit by a child of decedent); Emory v. Thompson, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 244; Bogie v. Nolan, 96 Mo. 85, 9 S. W. 14 (holding that in an action against an administrator on notes alleged to have been executed by his intestate, where the defense is want of consideration, in order to prove that after the death of the intestate no trace of such a sum as that alleged to have been borrowed could be found among the assets, the administrator may testify as to an inventory made by him of all the personal estate, and the reading of the names and amounts from such paper as part of his testimony is not reversible error). The inventory required by law to be made and returned by an administrator is partly for information of creditors of the estate; and where the administrator of one of the creditors is sued for failing to collect from the administrator of the debtor, the inventory made and returned by the latter is admissible in evidence to show means of information of which the former might have availed himself touching the debtor's estate and the particular property of which it apparently consisted. Thompson v. Thompson, 77 Ga. 692, 3 S. E. 261.

But an inventory made and returned by an administrator, after he has commenced an action for the recovery of the property included therein, is not competent evidence for him at the trial of the cause; he being personally liable to costs. Allender v. Riston, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 86.

An appraisement made by commissioners appointed for that purpose may not be admissible as evidence against the representative, unless he connects himself with it in some way; yet, if he makes it the basis of a petition for the sale of property, this is a sufficient adoption of it as his inventory, no other inventory being shown. Glover v. Hill, 85 Ala. 41, 4 So. 613.

18. Glover v. Hill, 85 Ala. 41, 4 So. 613; Chalfant v. Hart, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 572. See also Emory v. Thompson, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 244.

19. McDonald v. Jacobs, 77 Ala. 524.

20. See Evidence, 17 Cyc. 753 et seq.

21. See Thompson v. Thompson, 140 Cal. 545, 74 Pac. 21 (evidence held insufficient to show want of consideration for a note given by decedent); Ellis v. Ford, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 554 (holding that, in an action by an executor on a promise by defendant to pay testator a certain sum annually for rent during testator's lifetime, proof of defendant's promise and payment of one year's rent without any evidence as to the time when testator died is not sufficient to sustain the action); Liter v. Johnson, 78 S. W. 905, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 1783 (evidence held sufficient to establish, as against an executor, the ownership of a house and lot claimed by the executor as a part of his intestate's estate); Taylor v. Harrison, 35 S. W. 908, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 164 (evidence held sufficient to support a judgment for defendant upon the issue that an allowance to him for services was wrongfully made by the court); Gandy v. Bissell, (Nebr. 1903) 97 N. W. 632; Roberts v. Stuart, 80 Tex. 379, 15 S. W. 1108 (insufficient proof of conversion of assets); In re Macdonald, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111 (evidence in an action to subject the assets in the hands of an executrix to the payment of a judgment considered, and held sufficient to warrant a finding that she had in her possession funds belonging to the estate sufficient to pay the judgment, and that such judgment was the only claim). See also Rhule v. Davenport, 5 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 69.

To charge a representative with a devastavit the failure of an executor to pay a debt when the estate is solvent, and his allowing judgment to be taken and stay to be entered, is prima facie evidence of waste, if the estate subsequently became insolvent (Smith v. Slaughter, 3 Heisk. (Tenn.) 565); but where it is attempted to charge him for the payment of a debt barred by limitations, and it is acknowledged that the debt was just, sufficient,[22] as also may circumstantial evidence,[23] to make out at least a prima facie case for the one offering it.[24] The acknowledgment by an administrator

the executor will not be put to so strict proof that the delay was at his request, as where a creditor of the estate is attempting to enforce a claim against the executor (Puckett v. James, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 565).

In an action to recover land under a statute authorizing the representative to recover possession of any part of an estate from the heirs or their purchasers, when necessary for the purpose of paying debts or making distribution, an order of sale granted by the court of ordinary is at least prima facie evidence that such sale was necessary to pay debts, and is sufficient to sustain a verdict for so much of the land sued for as is embraced in such order; but is not sufficient to sustain a verdict for the parcels to which the order does not relate. Dixon v. Rogers, 110 Ga. 590, 35 S. E. 781.

To sustain a plea of property in a defendant as administrator the evidence should be such that the jury should believe from it not only that defendant was defending as administrator in good faith, but also that the property in controversy belonged to the estate of his intestate, and not plaintiff. Prewitt v. Lambert, 19 Colo. 7, 34 Pac. 684.

Proof of set-off.— Proof of the existence merely of a debt which might have been applied as a set-off to a demand against the estate of a deceased person does not raise a presumption that the debt was so applied, when neither the minutes of the probate court nor the account presented and allowed against the estate shows anything in relation to the set-off, although the claimant on presenting his claim filed the affidavit prescribed by statute that he had allowed all just credits against the claim. Sweet v. Maupin, 47 Mo. 323.

Proof of payment.—The payment of money to a representative by one holding a single bill made by the decedent, as so much in his hands belonging to the decedent's estate, is admissible as evidence of money had and received under a notice of set-off, in an action by such holder on the bill, it being presumptive evidence that the holder had retained in his own hands the amount of the bill. Beekman v. Beekman, Anth. N. P. (N. Y.) 169. And see, generally, PAYMENT.

Proof of jurisdiction.— The approbation of the county judge, which is necessary under an Iowa statute, section 2395, to enable the district court to entertain original jurisdiction in certain claims against estates, cannot be proven by the certificate of the county judge where he has omitted to enter such approbation of record; but the omitted fact might, it seems, be established by a nunc pro tunc record thereof, properly authenticated. Goodrich v. Conrad, 24 Iowa 254.

Proof of administration bond.— Evidence of the clerk of probate that he had been unable to find in his office any bond relating to the administration of an estate fifteen years before, and that he did not know whether any such bond had been filed, as at that early day no papers were recorded, and attorneys frequently took out and kept such papers for months, does not show conclusively that no bond was given. Harris v. Chipman, 9 Utah 101, 33 Pac. 242.

Avoidance of statute of non-claim.—Where plaintiff avers in a writ begun against the administrator more than two years after notice of his appointment that the cause of action had been fraudulently concealed from plaintiff by defendant, plaintiff's testimony that defendant promised before he was appointed administrator that he would see to plaintiff's account against the estate and that defendant had neglected to do so is not sufficient evidence from which a jury could find such fraudulent concealment. Given v. Whitmore, 73 Me. 374.

In trespass, replevin, or trover by a representative for the recovery of a chattel or its value, his possession of the chattel at the time it was taken or converted is prima facie proof of his title. Cheek v. Wheatly, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 556. And see supra, VIII, P, 1, c.

In an action against an executor for money of the testator, collected by defendant before testator's death, the testimony of defendant's wife that she saw defendant pay the money to testator is sufficient to exonerate defendant, in absence of evidence to the contrary. Hill v. Fly, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 52 S. W. 731.

Evidence sufficient to take the case to the jury on the fact of a loan made by decedent (see Motz v. Motz, 85 N. Y. App. Div. 4, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 926); or on the theory of an implied promise made by the decedent to pay for services rendered by a relative (see Wright v. Reed, 118 Iowa 333, 92 N. W. 61; Elwell v. Roper, 72 N. H. 254, 56 Atl. 342); or, in an action by an administrator for services rendered by his decedent, on the theory that defendant had agreed to pay decedent a definite sum for such services (see Lewis v. Roulo, 93 Mich. 475, 53 N. W. 622).

22. A statement in an executor's petition for the probate of the will that a part of the estate consisted of a sum of money in his hands is sufficient, where he died without rendering an account, to sustain a finding that such sum came into his hands while acting as executor. Raskin v. Robarts, (Cal. 1894) 35 Pac. 763. See also EVIDENCE, 17 Cyc. 814.

23. Sovern v. Yoran, 15 Oreg. 644, 15 Pac. 395, where circumstantial evidence of conversion was held sufficient to go to the jury. See also EVIDENCE, 17 Cyc. 817. To rebut the presumption that money found in the decedent's house at the time of his death belonged to him, evidence that his widow had borrowed the money and given her note therefor is sufficient. Weiss' Appeal, 133 Pa. St. 84, 19 Atl. 311.

24. See Grimes v. Booth, 19 Ark. 224.

that an account is just is not sufficient evidence to warrant a judgment de bonis testatoris.[25] A transcript of record from the probate court of all the proceedings, showing that a settlement was ordered, but not showing that it was ever made, or that the administrators had ever resigned, died, or been removed, is affirmative evidence of no vacancy of the administrator's office.[26] An inventory of the estate is prima facie evidence of the solvency of those stated therein to owe the estate,[27] and of the fact that such persons are indebted to the estate.[28]

b. Existence of Indebtedness. Public policy requires that claims against the estate of a deceased person should be carefully scrutinized and admitted only upon very satisfactory proof,[29] and it is therefore generally held that evidence to establish such an indebtedness should be clear, certain, and satisfactory.[30] A written acknowledgment of a debt by the decedent is in general sufficient to show an indebtedness due by the estate in the hands of the personal representative,[31] in 25. Ciples v. Alexander, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 558.

26. Bean v. Chapman, 73 Ala. 140.

27. Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720.

28. Rittenhouse v. Levering, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 190. See also supra, IV, I.

29. Van Slooten v. Wheeler, 140 N. Y. 624, 35 N. E. 583 [reversing 21 N. Y. Suppl. 329]; Kearney v. McKeon, 85 N. Y. 136; Forbes v. Chichester, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 747.

30. Arkansas.— Jefferson v. Edrington, 53 Ark. 545, 14 S. W. 99, 903, evidence held insufficient.

California.— Brooks v. Lawson, 136 Cal. 10, 68 Pac. 97; Roddan v. Doane, 92 Cal. 555, 28 Pac. 604 (evidence insufficient); Bagnall v. Roach, 76 Cal. 106, 18 Pac. 137 (holding that in an action against an administrator for money alleged to have been received for plaintiff's use by defendant's intestate, and deposited by her with other moneys in her own name in a savings bank, where plaintiff fails to show when such deposit was made, or how much remained in the bank at the time of intestate's death, although it appears that intestate had prior to her death received money to plaintiff's use, he is not entitled to recover); Thompson v. Thompson, 140 Cal. 545, 74 Pac. 21.

Iowa.— See Wickham v. Wickham, (1902) 90 N. W. 527.

New Hampshire.— See Elwell v. Roper, 72 N. H. 254, 56 Atl. 342.

New Jersey.— Varick v. Hitt, (Ch. 1903), 55 Atl. 139 (note held not to represent a valid indebtedness); Harrison v. Patterson, (Ch. 1901) 50 Atl. 113 (evidence held insufficient).

New York.— Van Slooten v. Wheeler, 140 N. Y. 624, 35 N. E. 583 [reversing 21 N. Y. Suppl. 329]; Kearney v. McKeon, 85 N. Y. 136; Dougall v. Dougall, 61 N. Y. App. Div. 282, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 336; Rowland v. Howard, 75 Hun 1, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 1018; Davis v. Seaman, 64 Hun 572, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 260.

Texas.— George v. Ryon, (Civ. App. 1901) 61 S. W. 138.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1873.

Sufficiency of evidence to prove claims for services rendered the decedent see supra, X, A, 3.

The testimony of an executrix given twenty-six months after the probate of the will that no debts are outstanding against the estate, in which no commissioners on claims have been appointed, is prima facie evidence that there are no such debts. Ewers v. White, 114 Mich. 266, 72 N. W. 184.

In a suit to establish a note given by the decedent in payment of a judgment against him, as a claim against his estate, it is not necessary for the holders to show that the judgment had not been paid where there is no evidence that the payees of the note had any connection therewith or that the judgment was kept on foot as security for the note. George v. Ryon, (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 61 S. W. 138.

Judgment as evidence.— In Pennsylvania it is held that a judgment against the personal representative is conclusive evidence of indebtedness as to the personal estate but only prima facie evidence as to the land descended or devised. Steele v. Lineberger, 59 Pa. St. 308; Sergeant v. Ewing, 36 Pa. St. 156. "Heirs and devisees have a right to a day in court before their interests can be affected by a judgment against the administrator, and they may question and disprove any and every item concluded in or constituting the judgment against the administrator, if they can; so that in fact, the only importance of the judgment against the administrator, so far as an interest in the realty is concerned, is, that it is prima facie evidence of a debt due by the estate, and the foundation for a proceeding to try whether or not the realty is chargeable with it." Steele v. Lineberger, 59 Pa. St. 308, 313.

The claim of a surety of the decedent, although primarily based upon a summary judgment, will be sustained by proof of the claim itself, if the bill is filed in time. Jordan v. Maney, 10 Lea (Tenn.) 135.

The verified account of an administrator, and the duly vouched claim of a claimant, prima facie establish the genuineness and validity of the claim, and throw the burden of proof on those contesting it, although the claimant is a relative of the decedent, and of the administrator. Valentine v. Valentine, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 265.

31. Moore v. Moore, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 68, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 167; McCullough v. Barr, the absence of proof of payment,[32] even though the debt is denied by the representative on information and belief.[33] But the weight and sufficiency of such acknowledgment may be overcome by proof of subsequent statements made by plaintiff that the "decedent did not owe him anything."[34] Admissions of the representative are prima facie evidence of the liability of his decedent's estate for a claim made upon it,[35] as is also his inventory of the debts stated therein.[36] The fact of an indebtedness to the estate may be shown either by direct or circumstantial evidence. Whether or not the evidence is sufficient depends upon the circumstances of the particular case.[37] A will directing payment of a debt alleged to be due to the testator, within a certain time, is not in itself such evidence of the indebtedness as will support an action of assumpsit thereon by the executor.[38]

c. As to Representative Capacity. In accordance with the rule that letters testamentary and of administration are prima facie evidence of all they purport to show, and in the absence of evidence to the contrary, are conclusive of the appointment and qualification of the legal representative,[39] such letters properly authenticated, or duly certified copies thereof, unless revoked,[40] or rebutted by other evidence, are sufficient proof of the representative's right to enforce or protect rights of the estate he assumes to represent.[41] The record, showing his 145 Pa. St. 459, 22 Atl. 962. But a note found among decedent's papers and never delivered, while slight evidence of admission, is insufficient to establish a contract to pay. Robinson v. Cushman, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 149.

For general rules as to sufficiency of admissions, see EVIDENCE, 16 Cyc. 1043 et seq.; 17 Cyc. 806 et seq.

A distinct and unequivocal acknowledgment of an indebtedness contained in the debtor's will suffices to establish the debt against his estate, unless there be opposing evidence. Perkins v. Seigfried, 97 Va. 444, 34 S. E. 64.

A sworn statement of the decedent is sufficient to show an indebtedness, although as a matter of fact it was not true. Reiter v. Rothschild, (Cal. 1893) 33 Pac. 849.

32. Moore v. Moore, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 68, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 167.

33. McCullough v. Barr, 145 Pa. St. 459, 22 Atl. 962.

34. See Robinson v. Dugan, (Cal. 1894) 35 Pac. 902.

35. Matoon v. Clapp, 8 Ohio 248.

36. As to debts therein recited there is presumed to be an indebtedness, and even where a debt is returned as "desperate," it is sufficient for a creditor to prove that the debtor was solvent, in order to throw upon the executor or administrator the burden of showing that the debt could not be collected from any cause. Huntington v. Spears, 25 N. C. 450. And see supra, IV, I.

37. Williams v. Young, 71 Ark. 164, 71 S. W. 669 (evidence in suit on notes by representative held insufficient to show payment in view of plaintiff's possession of the notes); McCartney v. Finnell, 106 Mo. 445, 17 S. W. 446; Hair v. Edwards, 104 Mo. App. 213, 77 S. W. 1089 (evidence held insufficient in an action by an executrix on a note to show that decedent was the owner of the note, found among his effects); Matter of Baker, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 370, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 121 (evidence held insufficient to warrant the surrogate in finding the maker of a note liable thereon for the amount testified to by a certain witness); Jones v. Walker, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 57 S. W. 384 (evidence held insufficient to establish a debt due by a creditor to the estate, as a cross account in a suit to enjoin the sale of decedent's real estate to pay such creditor).

38. Zimmerman v. Zimmerman, 47 Pa. St. 378.

39. See supra, II, L, 2.

40. Dean v. Wade, 8 La. Ann. 85; Hurlburt v. Van Wormer, 14 Fed. 709, decided under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2591.

41. Alabama.— Sands v. Hickey, 135 Ala. 322, 33 So. 827; Wolfe v. Underwood, 97 Ala. 375, 12 So. 234; Tarver v. Boykin, 6 Ala. 353.

California.— Garthwaite v. Tulare Bank, 134 Cal. 237, 66 Pac. 326. See also Ralphs v. Hensler, 97 Cal. 296, 32 Pac. 243.

Colorado.— Salazar v. Taylor, 18 Colo. 538, 33 Pac. 369, holding also that it is not necessary that the letters of administration be formally read to the jury.

Florida.— Davis v. Shuler, 14 Fla. 438.

Louisiana.— Dean v. Wade, 8 La. Ann. 85. A clerk's certificate, which has his signature and official seal, is complete evidence of the appointment of an administrator of a succession, as the clerk has authority to grant letters except where there is opposition to the appointment, when the action of the judge is required. Davie v. Stevens, 10 La. Ann. 496.

Maryland.— Wilson v. Ireland, 4 Md. 444, holding that the original letters of administration and the bond duly filed and recorded are sufficient evidence of the right of the administrator to sue in behalf of the estate.

Massachusetts.— See Newman v. Jenkins, 10 Pick. 515.

Michigan.— Farrand v. Caton, 69 Mich. 235, 37 N. W. 199 (certified copy); James v.

appointment and qualification, and his acts of administration thereunder may also constitute sufficient evidence of the representative's authority.[42] It has also been held that one's representative capacity may be shown by his own testimony, Emmett Min. Co., 55 Mich. 335, 21 N. W. 361. See Albright v. Cobb, 30 Mich. 355.

Minnesota.— Pick v. Strong, 26 Minn. 303, 3 N. W. 697; Moreland v. Lawrence, 23 Minn. 84.

Missouri.— The possession of letters of administration by the person to whom they purport to be granted is prima facie evidence of delivery; and no proof being offered to rebut that presumption it must be held conclusive. Hensley v. Dodge, 7 Mo. 479; McNiar v. Dodge, 7 Mo. 404.

New Hampshire.— Jeffers v. Radcliff, 10 N. H. 242.

New York.— Carroll v. Carroll, 60 N. Y. 121, 19 Am. Rep. 144 [reversing 2 Hun 609]; Farley v. McConnell, 52 N. Y. 630; Belden v. Meeker, 47 N. Y. 307 [affirming 2 Lans. 470]; More v. Finch, 65 Hun 404, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 164; Parhan v. Moran, 4 Hun 717 [affirmed in 71 N. Y. 596]. Letters of administration even though granted on an unverified petition are prima facie proof that they were properly issued, and it is incumbent on a person claiming that they were improperly issued to establish that fact by affirmative proof. Shaw v. New York Cent. R. Co., 101 N. Y. App. Div. 246, 91 N. Y. Suppl. 746. Code Civ. Proc. § 2591, provides that letters testamentary and of administration granted by the court or officer having jurisdiction to grant them are conclusive evidence of the authority of the person to whom they are granted, until the decree granting them is reversed upon appeal or the letters are revoked in the manner prescribed by statute.

North Carolina.— In an action by an executor, plaintiff's executorship can be proven only by the letters testamentary, unless it be shown that they are lost or destroyed. —— v. Oldham, 2 N. C. 165.

Tennessee.— Eller v. Richardson, 89 Tenn. 575, 15 S. W. 650; Wright v. Mongle, 10 Lea 38; Smith v. Mabry, 7 Yerg. 26.

Vermont.— Seymour v. Beach, 4 Vt. 493.

Wisconsin.— Where one sues as executor, certified copies of his letters testamentary and his bond, duly approved and filed, are sufficient prima facie evidence of his qualification as executor, without evidence of the will and the probate thereof. Wittmann v. Watry, 45 Wis. 491.

United States.— Hurlburt v. Van Wormer, 14 Fed. 709.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1874.

Where defendants sued as executors plead ne unques executors proof by plaintiff that defendants had received letters testamentary under a grant thereof by the county court will throw upon defendants the burden of sustaining their plea. Tarver v. Boykin, 6 Ala. 353.

Letters of administration granted upon the mere presumption of the death of another by seven years' absence, where the basis of the presumption does not clearly appear, will not, without more positive proof of death, entitle the administrator to recover money owing the absent person. McElroy v. Philadelphia Sav. Fund Soc., 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 643, 19 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 289.

Where two sets of letters of administration are offered in a case, one to the court only, to lay the foundation for the second set by showing the expiration of the first, and the second to the jury, to show a substitution of their grantee as administrator, and as conclusive proof of his right to sue, it is not error in the court to charge that the second set was conclusive of the right of their grantee to sue. Beale v. Hall, 22 Ga. 431.

42. Halbert v. Carroll, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 25 S. W. 1102, holding that where the record shows the appointment and qualification of an administrator, his annual reports, recognition of him by the court, his final settlements, discharge, and also a contest and compromise with him by the heirs in regard to the final report his final status must be recorded as settled.

Under a statute authorizing the sheriff to act as administrator in certain cases, when ordered by the probate court, a certified copy of the order directing him to act as such is proper evidence of his authority. Davis v. Shuler, 14 Fla. 438.

An order appointing an administrator, and directing that letters issue to him accordingly, on his giving bond, is not sufficient evidence of his appointment without proof that the required bond had been given. O'Neal v. Tisdale, 12 Tex. 40.

Public administrator.—In Louisiana the exhibition of a decree of the court in which the succession was opened, authorizing plaintiff to administer the same according to law in his capacity of public administrator, and, as such, an officer of the parish as well as of the court, is at least a prima facie showing of capacity and authority to sue and stand in judgment in another parish. Morse v. Griffith, 25 La. Ann. 213.

The appointment of executors is sufficiently shown by a certified copy of the will, and of the proceedings of the court probating the will and appointing the executors, and their qualification thereunder (Wolfe v. Underwood, 97 Ala. 375, 12 So. 234; Blaen Avon Coal Co. v. McCulloh, 59 Md. 403, 43 Am. Rep. 560; Wright v. Mongle, 10 Lea (Tenn.) 38), and by the exhibition and passage by the court of their accounts as executors showing among other matters the specific allowance of a fee paid by them to the register for issuing the letters (Blaen Avon Coal Co. v. McCulloh, supra); but proof of the execution of the will alone, without showing that probate was granted to the one claiming to be the executor, is insufficient without objection;[43] or by a deed from him, describing himself as representative;[44] or by his appearance in an action against him as administrator.[45] An admission by a representative, in an action against him, is not sufficient proof of his representative capacity;[46] nor is his refusal to accept or protest an order presented to him for payment of a debt of the estate, nor his appearance and resistance to a suit on it, sufficient proof of such capacity.[47]

d. As to Assets. Where in an action against a personal representative, the existence of assets is in issue, a prima facie case is made out as to their existence by showing that the representative had filed an inventory showing more assets in his hands than the amount sued for;[48] or by showing that he had received property of the estate and had omitted to file or exhibit any inventory;[49] or by showing that a judgment had been rendered in his favor;[50] or where an executor, who is sole residuary legatee, gives bond to pay all debts and legacies, by showing his appointment and the giving of such bond.[51] A plea of plene administravit is sustained by proof that the legal assets had been fully administered,[52] and this can be shown only by regular probate proceedings.[53]

e. Allowance or Rejection of Claim. Under a statute allowing suit on a rejected claim, it has been held that the fact of rejection, when in issue, must be shown to have been decided, unequivocal, and absolute;[54] and that no rejected claim shall be allowed by any court except upon competent evidence other than the testimony of the claimant.[55]

f. Effect of Admissions.[56] The general rule is that admissions made by a personal representative prior to his assumption of official duties are not evidence (Newton v. Cocke, 10 Ark. 169; —— v. Oldham, 2 N. C. 165).

43. Alabama Great Southern Ry. Co. v. Blevins, 92 Ga. 522, 17 S. E. 836.

44. A deed from an administratrix, describing her as such, to defendant, in a proceeding in equity to enforce her lien on the property for the purchase-money, is sufficient evidence of the capacity in which she sues. Bratt v. Bratt, 21 Md. 578.

45. Squires v. Martin, 24 Ohio Cir. Ct. 232, holding that where in an action against an administrator before a justice of the peace, defendant as such administrator appears and contests plaintiff's claim, such appearance is sufficient evidence of his capacity as administrator, and a claim on appeal that there was no evidence on the trial that he was the administrator cannot be considered.

46. Howard v. Daniel, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 125, holding also that even though such an admission were good as against the one making it, it would not be sufficient evidence of the representative capacity of his alleged corepresentatives.

47. Howard v. Daniel, 6 J. J. Marsh. ((Ky.) 125.

48. Fitch v. Randall, 163 Mass. 381, 4 N. E. 182.

49. Knapp v. Hanford, 7 Conn. 132. And see supra, IV, K. See also Stephens v. Barnett, 7 Dana (Ky.) 257.

50. A judgment in ejectment, recovered by an administrator, is prima facie evidence of assets in an action against him for breach of covenant of his intestate; and the introduction in evidence of a quit-claim deed of the same premises from the intestate to defendant will not rebut this presumption of assets, since the natural presumption would be that the judgment in ejectment was on a title of intestate accruing subsequent to the deed to defendant. Blodget v. Brinsmaid, 7 Vt. 9.

51. Jones v. Richardson, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 247, holding that no other proof beyond the appointment and giving of such bond is needed by a creditor or legatee to the point of establishing assets of the estate, in such a case.

52. Cloudas v. Adams, 4 Dana (Ky.) 603.

53. Woodbridge v. Tilton, 84 Me. 92, 24 Atl. 582.

54. Matter of Miller, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 60, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 134, evidence held insufficient to show such a decided, unequivocal, and absolute rejection of the claim as to bring it within Code Civ. Proc. § 1822, which provides that suit must be brought on a claim rejected by the executor within six months after its rejection. See also Hoyt v. Bonnett, 50 N. Y. 538; Kidd v. Chapman, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 414; Barsalou v. Wright, 4 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 164.

Under a statute of Texas it is held that in the absence of a plea of non est factum an indorsement upon a claim rejecting it, and signed by a name identical with defendant who is sued as administrator upon such rejected claim, is deemed sufficient evidence of such rejection. Tolbert v. McBride, 75 Tex. 95, 12 S. W. 752.

55. Quinn v. Gross, 24 Oreg. 147, 33 Pac. 535, evidence held sufficient.

Identity of claim sued on with that presented to and disallowed by the county commissioners held sufficiently established by the evidence. McDonald v. Webster, 71 Vt. 393, 45 Atl. 895.

56. See EVIDENCE, 16 Cyc. 1036, 1037.

against him in his representative capacity;[57] but an admission made by him while engaged in the discharge of his duties as such binds the estate to that extent.[58] He cannot, however, render the estate liable for a claim otherwise invalid by his admissions.[59]

M. Trial — 1. Course and Conduct of Trial in General. In an action by or against a representative the issues framed are sometimes tried by the jury as in other suits, although questions of fact as well as of law are frequently determined by the court alone.[60] Under some statutes such actions are entitled to a preference on the court calendar.[61] In the course of the proceedings the complainant may be entitled to an accounting;[62] and if an examination of accounts and calculations is necessary to ascertain plaintiff's demand, the usual practice is to make a reference to a master or an auditor, so as to reduce the points to be disputed to as few a number as possible.[63] A stay or continuance of the proceedings may be

57. Thomasson v. Driskell, 13 Ga. 253; Gilkey v. Hamilton, 22 Mich. 283; Gaines v. Alexander, 7 Gratt. (Va.) 257; Fenwick v. Thornton, M. & M. 51, 22 E. C. L. 470. But see Smith v. Morgan, 2 M. & Rob. 257.

58. Idaho.— Meinert v. Snow, 3 Ida. 851, 27 Pac. 677.

Louisiana.— Reynaud v. Peytavin, 13 La. 121. And see Wilson v. Early, 18 La. Ann. 219.

Maine.— Piper v. Goodwin, 23 Me. 251.

Massachusetts.— Faunce v. Gray, 21 Pick. 243; Hill v. Buckminster, 5 Pick. 391.

New York.— Whiton v. Snyder, 88 N. Y. 299; Church v. Howard, 79 N. Y. 415.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 832.

59. Rhodes v. Seymour, 36 Conn. 1.

60. See Lynch v. Johnson, 33 N. C. 224, holding that the act of 1826 (Rev. St. c. 31, § 119), authorizing references for the statements of accounts of representatives in actions on their bonds, leaves the trial of an issue upon plene administravit to the jury. In an action against a representative by a legatee for the amount due, and for an order directing the conversion of the estate into money, and payment of the legacy out of the proceeds, it has been held that defendant's representative is not entitled to a trial by jury as a matter of right and that such a trial may be refused, especially where the evidence is not sufficient to be submitted to the jury. Gilbert v. Morrison, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 442, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 491.

Under a Tennessee statute (Acts (1784), c. 11) it has been held that if a personal representative pleads "fully administered" in an action against him, the plea will be tried by the jury if the action is tried in the county court (now circuit court), but by the justice alone if the cause is tried in the justice's court where the plea is properly pleaded. Anderson v. Clark, 2 Swan 156.

Affidavit of assets.— Where in an action against an administrator there has been ascertained the debt of the creditors and the account of assets in defendant's hands, reserving for further consideration a certain amount with which it was supposed defendant was wrongfully charged, and the complainant asks leave to file a supplemental bill, the court may require him to show by affidavit that the assets which he proposed to charge were not charged in the former bill and that assets were in defendant's hands. Campbell v. Harlston, 3 N. C. 157.

61. Haux v. Dry Dock Sav. Inst., 150 N. Y. 581, 44 N. E. 1099, holding, however, that Code Civ. Proc. § 791, subs. 5, which entitles a cause in which an executor or administrator is sole plaintiff or sole defendant to the preference on the court calendar does not apply to an action brought by an executor suing in both his representative and individual capacities.

62. A complaint disclosing defendant's possession of money and property of the estate of a decedent, to which complainant is entitled as administratrix, and his refusal to settle, entitles complainant to an accounting. Shrum v. Simpson, 155 Ind. 160, 57 N. E. 708, 49 L. R. A. 792. And see Coates v. Muse, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,916, 1 Brock. 529.

Waiver of accounting.— Where, on an accounting with an administratrix as to money held by her decedent, it is admitted that decedent in his life made a formal statement of his account with complainant, and that such account was unpaid, complainant may waive his right to an accounting, and stand on the balance shown by such statement, where his remedy is sufficient without it. Moore v. Moore, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 68, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 167.

63. Apperson v. Hazelrigg, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 64; Putnam v. Burrill, 62 Me. 44; Bellerjeau v. Kotts, 4 N. J. L. 359; Gill v. Drummond, 4 N. J. L. 295; Grant v. Hughes, 94 N. C. 231.

A North Carolina statute (Act (1826), Rev. St. c. 31, § 119), authorizing references to be made in courts of law to state the accounts of administrators, executors, etc., applies only to suits brought upon their bonds respectively; and not to suits brought on bonds given by a testator or intestate, in which fully administered is pleaded. Anderson v. Jernigan, 33 N. C. 414; Lynch v. Johnson, 33 N. C. 224.

In New Jersey where a creditor brings a bill to enforce a testamentary charge to pay debts, the court of chancery will not take an account of the personal estate but will leave the orphans' court in which the account has had under some statutes for the purpose of allowing the representative's account to be settled,[64] of permitting proper persons to be made parties to the proceedings,[65] of permitting an answer to be filed upon prescribed terms and conditions,[66] or for the appointment and substitution as plaintiff of the administrator de bonis non, where the original administrator has become disqualified.[67] Where a plea of plene administravit is found for a representative and scire facias issued to the heirs, the representative is continued in court until the heirs come in to make up an issue;[68] and the representative is not compelled to try the issue at the same term at which it is made up.[69] A plea of the statute of non-claim in a proceeding in chancery against several defendants may be allowed at the time of the argument, or the court may let it stand over until the final hearing of the cause.[70] Where several bills are pending against the representative over essentially the same cause of litigation they should all be brought to a hearing at the same time if possible, in order that a final disposition may at the same time be made of all the questions arising on all of them.[71]

2. Reception of Evidence. The representative may waive formal mode of proof in a suit to which he is a party.[72] But in general it is his duty to object to a witness or to proof where proper,[73] and if he fails to do so, whether through ignorance, inadvertence, collusion, or fraud, any other person interested in the suit may make such objection.[74]

3. Questions of Law and Fact. It is a question for the jury, in an action by or against a representative, to determine whether the representative had prudently and in good faith invested certain trust funds of the estate;[75] whether a certain claim was allowed by the commissioners, whose report has been destroyed;[76] whether services rendered to the decedent by a relative or one living as a member of his family were intended as a gratuity or were rendered under an implied contract to pay therefor;[77] whether the representative had made payment of the claim for which he is sued;[78] or as to the ownership of an unindorsed note, made to the order of the decedent.[79] The sufficiency of the notice required by statute to be given by a representative to his creditors is in the first instance for the court to determine;[80] but where the court has any doubt as to its sufficiency it been filed to complete it, where circumstances do not require the court of chancery to act. Suydam v. Voorhees, 58 N. J. Eq. 157, 43 Atl. 4.

64. Hall v. Hurford, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 291, 4 Pa. L. J. 44.

Where several suits are brought by different legatees against the executor for legacies, and the estate is insufficient to pay them all, the court will allow the suit in which the account can be taken most advantageously to those interested to proceed for the benefit of all the legatees, and the other suits will be stayed. Ross v. Crary, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 416.

65. Jones v. Britton, 16 La. Ann. 320.

66. Ducker v. Rapp, 67 N. Y. 464 [reversing 41 N. Y. Super. Ct. 235].

67. Moore v. Estes, 23 Ark. 152, by marriage.

68. Alston v. Sumner, 2 N. C. 359.

69. Alston v. Sumner, 2 N. C. 359.

70. State v. Shall, 23 Ark. 601.

71. Armstrong v. Lear, 8 Pet. (U. S.) 52, 8 L. ed. 863.

72. Anderson v. Washabaugh, 43 Pa. St. 115.

Where no demand is necessary in an action against a representative on a claim, objection to the formal proof of the claim comes too late after the trial on the merits. Tipton v. Richardson, 54 S. W. 738, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1195.

73. Tate v. Tate, 75 Va. 522. See Thurber v. Miller, 14 S. D. 352, 85 N. W. 600.

74. Tate v. Tate, 75 Va. 522.

75. Smith v. Byers, 41 Ga. 439.

76. Hardwick v. Richardson, 28 Mich. 508.

77. Wright v. Reed, 118 Iowa 333, 92 N. W. 61; Lillard v. Wilson, 178 Mo. 145, 77 S. W. 74; Whaley v. Peak, 49 Mo. 80; Hart v. Hess, 41 Mo. 441; Smith v. Myers, 19 Mo. 433; Shannon v. Carter, 99 Mo. App. 134, 72 S. W. 495; Elwell v. Roper, 72 N. H. 254, 56 Atl. 342; Winings v. Hearst, 17 Pa. Super. Ct. 314. See also cases cited supra, X, A, 3, b.

78. The question of payment should be submitted to the jury under proper instructions. Tennison v. Platt, 50 Kan. 631, 32 Pac. 369. And see, generally, Payment.

79. As against an administrator suing to get possession of an unindorsed note to the order of his intestate for the balance of the purchase-money of land sold by him, an indorsement or assignment is not necessary to give title, and the question of ownership is one of fact for the jury. Thompson v. Onley, 96 N. C. 9, 1 S. E. 620.

80. Rawlings v. Adams, 7 Md. 26.

may submit the matter to the jury.[81] Where a representative contests plaintiff's claim and also pleads fully administered, the better practice seems to be to leave to the jury both the question of assets and plaintiff's right to his claim.[82] The construction of letters or orders of appointment is a matter for the determination of the court, and it is erroneous to leave it to the jury.[83]

4. Instructions. Instructions in actions by or against a personal representative are regulated entirely by the general rules of instructions in civil actions, and by the facts and issues of the particular case.[84] The court should in case of dispute instruct the jury as to whether the alleged appointment of the personal representative was valid or not.[85] It should also charge the jury as to the legal effect of the evidence,[86] as that the jury should not consider an admission of

81. Rawlings v. Adams, 7 Md. 26.

82. Ray v. Patton, 86 N. C. 386, holding that where an administrator denies an alleged debt, pleads plene administravit, and no assets applicable to the same, the issue as to the contestant's indebtedness must be determined by the jury; and this being settled an inquiry as to the assets and the disposition thereof must be had by reference or upon issue to a jury.

The Maryland statutes (Code, art. 26, §§ 26, 27) provide that when an administrator is sued he may plead that he has not assets sufficient to discharge plaintiff's claim "and a trial by jury shall thereupon be had"; and that if the jury shall find for plaintiff upon any other issue than that of assets for an amount greater than the assets, the jury shall declare the amount to be paid to plaintiff, regard being had to the amount of assets in hand, and the debts due from the deceased. See Gill v. Staylor, 93 Md. 453, 49 Atl. 650, holding, however, that where the assets are shown to be insufficient, but the record shows that the parties agreed that the judgment was only to bind the assets, the failure to submit the issue as to the effect of insufficiency of assets is not erroneous. But see Hellen v. Beatty, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,336, 2 Cranch C. C. 29, construing an earlier Maryland statute.

In Pennsylvania, however, under the act of Feb. 24, 1834, section 54, it has been held that, where pleas of want of assets and others are filed, the jury can only pass upon plaintiff's right to the claim and its amount, and leave it to the orphans' court to determine the question of assets. Breden v. Gilliland, 67 Pa. St. 34.

83. Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540; Fells Point Sav. Inst. v. Weedon, 18 Md. 320, 81 Am. Dec. 603. Whether plaintiff or defendant is or is not the true and bona fide representative of the estate can only arise in a proceeding to review the action of the probate court, and is not a question for the jury. Sadler v. Sadler, 16 Ark. 628.

84. See, generally, Trial.

In a suit to recover for services performed by decedent, as claimed, under a special agreement as to the amount of compensation to be paid therefor plaintiff is entitled to an instruction that if he fails to establish that agreement he is entitled to recover upon a quantum meruit, if the jury find that he was employed to perform the services. Lewis v. Roulo, 93 Mich. 475, 53 N. W. 622.

On the issue of devastavit and where the representative does not plead plene administravit it is error to instruct that as the pleading showed that the representative had property of the decedent in his hands at the time a judgment on which he is sued was recovered, he could only relieve himself by showing that he had expended it on prior liens, funeral expenses, and judgments, and to fail to charge that he would not be liable if he had judgments in favor of the estate, but was unable to collect the same. Parker v. Latimer, 59 S. C. 330, 37 S. E. 918.

The court's instruction to a jury to disregard stale items of an account is tantamount to actually expunging such items, and is therefore sufficient. Hoskins v. Wright, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 377.

In an action against an administrator on a note executed by his intestate, an instruction that it is the duty of an administrator to put in every lawful defense he may have to a note filed against the estate which he represents is not erroneous. Ray v. Moore, 24 Ind. App. 480, 56 N. E. 937.

For instructions held sufficient in an action for a claim against decedent's estate see Stanley v. Pence, 160 Ind. 636, 66 N. E. 51, 67 N. E. 441. For instructions held sufficient in an action for services rendered the decedent by a relative see Van Slambrook v. Little, 127 Mich. 61, 86 N. W. 402; Sprague v. Sea, 152 Mo. 327, 53 S. W. 1074.

For instructions held insufficient in action for services rendered decedent by a relative see Moore v. Renick, 95 Mo. App. 202, 68 S. W. 936.

85. Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540; Fells Point Sav. Inst. v. Weedon, 18 Md. 320, 81 Am. Dec. 603.

86. The court may tell the jury that it is immaterial when plaintiff first informed defendant of his claim under the agreement in suit, provided they believed that the agreement was made, and the demand was presented to the administrator in time. Clark v. Cordry, 69 Mo. App. 6. Where an administrator of an assignor is made a party to answer as to the assignment of the note sued on, an instruction that if the jury returned a general verdict for plaintiff on the note sued on, the effect would be a finding that the estate had no interest in such note is not indebtedness of the estate, by one only of two or more co-representatives.[87] But it should not give instructions that are inapplicable to the issues, and misleading[88] or unwarranted by the evidence,[89] or on immaterial matters,[90] or which are likely to exclude from the consideration of the jury important matters.[91] Nor need the court give further instructions on matters that are already covered by other instructions.[92]

5. Verdict or Finding — a. In General. The verdict or finding of the jury should correspond to the issues involved or submitted to them,[93] although a general verdict is not defective for failing to dispose of issues submitted, which by reason of rulings of the court were practically excluded;[94] and such a verdict on erroneous. Johnson v. Johnson, 156 Ind. 592, 60 N. E. 451.

87. Forsyth v. Ganson, 5 Wend. (N. Y.) 558, 21 Am. Dec. 241.

88. Fitzpatrick v. Phelan, 58 Wis. 250, 16 N. W. 606, instruction held inapplicable to the issues and misleading in an action on a claim against the estate, consisting of an account for board and care of decedent.

In an action against a personal representative on a personal contract for services made by him with plaintiff, an instruction that the personal representative cannot bind the estate by the employment of a third person, but that when he represented his accounts to the surrogate, he had a right to offer the expense of such employment as a proper disbursement and that it was for the surrogate to allow or disallow the same, although correct as a proposition of law, is inapplicable to the case. Douglass v. Leonard, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 591 [reversing 14 N. Y. Suppl. 274].

89. Fullam v. Rose, 181 Pa. St. 138, 37 Atl. 197, holding that, in an action by an executor on a sealed instrument, merely produced by plaintiff, a statement in the instructions that such paper "was found among the belongings of" the testator, was unwarranted by the evidence, and erroneous. Where the evidence shows that bonds received by a legatee from the executor were received as bonds, a charge directing the jury to determine whether they were accepted as "good money" is error. Dillard v. Ellington, 57 Ga. 567.

90. The existence or non-existence of demands against the estate is immaterial in an administrator's action to recover trust moneys, and special interrogatories should not be addressed to the jury in that regard. Langsdale v. Woollen, 99 Ind. 575.

91. An instruction implying that the fact of an unexplained three-years' delay in presenting a claim against an estate need not be considered by the jury is erroneous and ground for reversal of a judgment allowing the claim. O'Connor v. O'Connor, 52 Ill. 316. See McNeill v. McNeill, 35 Ala. 30, erroneous instruction under a statute (Code, §§ 1675, 2494), declaring that a certain length of time after decedent's death is not to be taken as any part of the time limiting the commencement of actions by or against his representative.

92. Where the court charged that a promise by an administrator that plaintiff should be paid could not create a claim against the estate, but that, if in writing, it might bind the administrator, it need not charge that the admissions or promises of the administrator were not to be considered. Fuller v. Mowry, 18 R. I. 424, 28 Atl. 606.

93. See Curran v. Kennedy, 89 Cal. 98, 26 Pac. 641, finding held sufficient in an action against the representative for failing to account for money received on decedent's life-insurance policy. And see, generally, Trial.

Illustrations.— A finding that defendant is indebted to plaintiff instead of that the "defendant detains from the plaintiff as administrator," etc., is sufficient. Glass v. Stovall, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 453. A verdict need not find the value of the estate devised, where, in an action against the executor and heir and devisees, the issue and verdict taken together constitute a finding of estate devised more than sufficient to pay the debt sued for. Jameson v. Martin, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 330. The omission to find the amount of assets in the representative's hands is no objection to a verdict for defendant in a suit against him by the decedent and revived by his representatives, in which defendant had filed a set-off for more than the decedent's demand. Adams v. Evans, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 247. Where, under an issue as to assets, plaintiff, suing an administrator, offered evidence of a devastavit, causing a failure of assets, the jury must find assets to the amount of the failure, and not find a devastavit. Shannon v. Dinkins, 2 Strobh. (S. C.) 196. A finding that decedent did not promise to pay for services performed is not outside the issues, where the complaint alleges that decedent promised to pay for such services, and the answer denies the promise. Watson v. Miller, (Cal. 1899) 58 Pac. 135. A finding that on a certain day letters of administration of intestate's estate were issued by a certain court to "plaintiff herein, that said letters have not since been revoked," is sufficient on the issue that an order of said court was duly given, made, and entered, appointing plaintiff administrator of said estate. Curran v. Kennedy, 89 Cal. 98, 26 Pac. 641.

Where the question of presentation within the time prescribed by statute is in issue, the finding must show when the claim became due. Elliott v. Peck, 53 Cal. 84.

A verdict for money only can be rendered in an action to recover a legacy of personal property which had already been distributed. Snelling v. Darrell, 17 Ga. 141.

94. Hunicke v. Thomas, 102 Mo. App. 129, 76 S. W. 659.

several counts may be amended within a reasonable time so as to apply to the count under which evidence is given.[95]

b. On Issue of Plene Administravit or No Assets. Upon the issue of plene administravit or no assets, a verdict for plaintiff should find not only the amount of plaintiff's claim, but also the amount of assets in the hands of the representative; otherwise the court cannot render a judgment upon the verdict.[96]

6. Dismissal and Nonsuit. A nonsuit or dismissal of an action by or against a representative may be granted under proper circumstances,[97] as for want of the proof required by statute;[98] or where plaintiff has admitted that he had funds belonging to the decedent in his possession but refuses to disclose the amount thereof;[99] or where the action was improperly instituted,[1] or misjoins

95. Where a general verdict is rendered upon two counts, in one of which the representative sues in his representative capacity, and in the other in his individual capacity, and evidence is introduced on the former count only, the verdict may be amended within a reasonable time by an entry nunc pro tunc to correspond to that count. Murphy v. Stewart, 2 How. (U. S.) 263, 11 L. ed. 261.

96. Arkansas.— Jarrett v. Wilson, 1 Ark. 137.

Indiana.— Gaston v. Hiatt, 5 Blackf. 44; Johnson v. Hawkins, 2 Blackf. 459; King v. Anthony, 2 Blackf. 131.

Kentucky.— Ely v. Com., 3 Dana 137; Bishop v. Hamilton, 4 J. J. Marsh. 548; Buckner v. Morris, 2 J. J. Marsh. 121; McKinley v. Call, 1 T. B. Mon. 54; Young v. Whitaker, 1 A. K. Marsh. 398; Porter v. Glenn, 3 Bibb 86; Forbes v. Scoby, 1 Bibb 281.

Pennsylvania.— Strohecker v. Drinkle, 16 Serg. & R. 38, holding also that it is not usual to find the whole amount of what is unadministered, but only a sum sufficient to cover what is found due. On a plea of no assets in this state the practice is for the jury to find for defendant, and for plaintiff to pray judgment de terris, etc., and of assets quando acciderint. Wilson v. Hurst, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,809, Pet. C. C. 441.

Tennessee.— Marr v. Rucker, 1 Humphr. 348, holding that a verdict upon the issue of fully administered should find the assets to be co-extensive with the entire verdict, and therefore a finding that defendant had received assets which he had not paid out to an amount much larger than plaintiff's debt as found and assessed by the jury was too vague.

Virginia.— A verdict upon the plea of fully administered ought to ascertain the amount of assets in the hands of defendant at the commencement of the suit and at the time of the plea pleaded; and a verdict which merely finds that assets sufficient to pay plaintiff's demand "have come" to defendant's hands, without saying when, is erroneous. Gardner v. Vidal, 6 Rand. 106.

United States.— Fairfax v. Fairfax, 5 Cranch 19, 3 L. ed. 24.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1882.

97. In an action by an executor to foreclose a mortgage to his testator, which the evidence shows to have been improperly released by a former co-executor, the court should either dismiss the action without prejudice to plaintiff's right to bring a new one, or, upon proper application and upon terms, should direct an amendment to the complaint, so that the release may be vacated in such action. Weir v. Mosher, 19 Wis. 311. See also Jones v. Britton, 16 La. Ann. 320. And see Dismissal and Nonsuit, 14 Cyc. 431 et seq.

A refusal to dismiss an action brought by two executors is proper, where one of the executors petitions for its dismissal and the other executor insists that it shall proceed, and questions are involved in the application which ought not to be decided on motion or petition. Ewing v. Handley, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 346, 14 Am. Dec. 140

Where the representative obtains a formal discharge, after an action against and an answer by him and no mention thereof is made in any pleading of the case, it is error, on proof of the discharge, to nonsuit plaintiff. Jones v. Hammett, 5 S. C. 41.

The failure to have the letters of administration read is not ground for nonsuit in an action by an administrator who had stated that his evidence was all in, but he may be allowed to read them after defendant moves for nonsuit on that ground. Huston v. Becknell, 4 Mo. 39.

A voluntary dismissal as to one of two co-representatives who is the active representative of the estate is a dismissal as to both. Willard v. Wood, 164 U. S. 502, 17 Sup. Ct. 176, 41 L. ed. 531.

98. Hayden v. Kale, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 375.

99. Hebert v. Lacour, 5 La. Ann. 599, holding that where a party being present at the taking of an inventory admitted that he had funds of the deceased in his possession but refused to state the amount, afterward brings suit for a debt alleged to be due to him from the estate, he will be nonsuited unless he shows the amount of such funds in his possession, and in such case the representative is not bound to propound interrogatories to compel a disclosure concerning such funds.

1. Hyatt v. Mavity, 34 Ind. 415, holding that where under 2 Gavin & H. St. p. 501, § 62, p. 503, § 66, a complaint shows on its face that the action is to recover a claim against the estate of decedent, and the proceeding has been commenced by complaint and summons as an ordinary action, and not parties;[2] or where the record does not show that defendant was such a one as was liable to be sued;[3] although the dismissal should be without prejudice to the right to bring another action.[4] But a legatee who has filed a bill against the executor and other legatees for his share cannot, after an interlocutory decree establishing his right, voluntarily dismiss his bill to the prejudice of the legatees who are benefited by the decree.[5]

N. New Trial. On suitable grounds a new trial is sometimes granted in suits by or against the executor or administrator, as in other actions in law or equity.[6]

O. Judgment[7] — 1. Rendition, Form,[8] and Requisites — a. In General. The circuit court has power, in an action against an administrator, to classify the claim in suit and order it to be paid as a claim of that class.[9] Erroneous directions in a judgment for a pro rata payment of the claim sued on do not necessarily vitiate the judgment, but may be rejected as surplusage.[10] If one item of an account against a decedent's estate is properly proved in an action thereon, it is error to dismiss the entire claim.[11] On a bill by a distributee against an administrator for his distributive share a decree is erroneous which directs complainant's share to be paid to him without taking notice of the shares of other distributees.[12] In some states certain demands against an estate cannot be prosecuted to judgment before the expiration of a certain time from the granting of letters testamentary or letters of administration.[13] In some states and under some conditions judg-by filing a claim, the suit should be dismissed on motion.

2. Beaty v. Downing, 96 Va. 451, 31 S. E. 612.

3. See Wilson v. Shelton, 9 Leigh (Va.) 342, holding that under 1 Rev. Code (1819), p. 380, c. 104, §§ 24, 42, a suit against a curator would be dismissed where it was not shown by the record that he was liable to be sued. See also Wynn v. Wynn, 8 Leigh (Va.) 264. But by Code (1904), § 2534, it seems that a curator may be sued the same as an executor or administrator.

4. Hayden v. Kale, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 375. The dismissal of a suit by a legatee of a decedent against his personal representative and debtor of the estate for the purpose of holding the debtor to account, while a separate suit was pending against the personal representative for the settlement of his account, should be without prejudice to the right of the legatee to have the personal representative charged in the other suit for any sum which it was his duty to collect. Beaty v. Downing, 96 Va. 451, 31 S. E. 612.

5. Collins v. Taylor, 4 N. J. Eq. 163.

6. See Reed v. Reed, 25 Ohio St. 422; Thurber v. Miller, 14 S. D. 352, 85 N. W. 600, failure of court to rule on objection to evidence. In an action against executors for the funeral expenses of the testator, it is not ground for a new trial that the amount of the verdict embraced an item not included in plaintiff's statement; the item being connected with the transaction, and needed to make up the aggregate claim. Smith v. Teacle, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 150. See, generally, New Trial.

Defect in pleadings.— Where the writ describes defendant as administrator, but declares against him personally, and the verdict is that defendant's intestate promised to pay as alleged, a new trial will not be granted, if the evidence sustains the verdict, and plaintiff amends his declaration so as to sustain the verdict. Perkins v. Hix, (Me. 1888) 13 Atl. 131. Where an executor is sued in his individual capacity for money received by him as administrator, by a creditor of the estate, and he answers that he holds the money as administrator and not as an individual, and a trial is had upon the merits, such defendant will not be granted a new trial because of defect of parties defendant, and be allowed to file an answer as administrator. Ten Eick v. Dye, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 511, 14 Cinc. L. Bul. 214. See also Fritz v. McGill, 31 Minn. 536, 18 N. W. 753.

An excessive verdict for board and services rendered the decedent may be grounds for a new trial. Lockwood v. Onion, 48 Ill. 325.

7. See, generally, Judgments.

Decrees in equity see, generally, Equity, 16 Cyc. 471 et seq.

8. Form of judgment of revival see infra, XIV, O, 6.

9. Bradwell v. Wilson, 158 Ill. 346, 42 N. E. 145.

10. Hart v. Jewett, 11 Iowa 276, holding that, although in a suit on a claim against an administrator the court has simply to allow or disallow the claim, without fixing the per cent to be paid thereon, except in cases where the assets are determined and the several claims ascertained as contemplated in the code, yet the judgment for pro rata payment is not void.

11. Collingsworth v. Davidson, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 312.

12. Buckley v. Buckley, 9 Gill (Md.) 497.

13. Smith v. Rhodes, 29 Me. 360, holding that a judgment upon such claim obtained before the expiration of that time will be reversed in error.

Void and voidable judgments.— A statute declaring that a judgment against an exec-ment cannot be rendered against a personal representative.[14] In an action against an executor to recover money that testator had received as guardian of plaintiff, a judgment ordering a sale of land to pay the claim is erroneous.[15] In a suit against an administrator to enforce a debt, however, a decree declaring certain property to be assets of the estate should also direct a sale thereof to discharge the debt.[16] In some states by statute judgment may be rendered, although the demand in suit is not due at the time of trial.[17] The amount of the judgment depends of course on the peculiar circumstances of the particular case.[18] In an utor or administrator by confession or default within six months after his qualification shall be "void" is intended only to prevent favoritism on the part of the personal representative by which a preference might be given some creditors over others, and the word "void" is not used absolutely but means merely that the judgment shall be inoperative for the time limited, so that no such advantage shall be taken. Roche v. Washington, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 142. See also Gorman v. Swaggerty, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 560; Woolley v. Sullivan, 92 Tex. 28, 45 S. W. 377, 46 S. W. 629, holding that, although under Rev. St. (1895) art. 1996, an executor need not plead to a suit against him for money until a year has expired from the probate of the will, yet a judgment against him in a suit brought before the year has expired is merely voidable.

14. Newkirk v. Burson, 21 Ind. 129 (holding that, where suit is instituted against the heirs and administrator of a deceased mortgagor to foreclose a mortgage, no judgment can be rendered against the administrator for the balance of the debt not satisfied by the sale of the premises); Paterson v. Shinn, 17 N. J. L. 322 (holding that where both parties are executors or administrators, suing and sued in their representative capacity, and defendant pleads payment with notice of a set-off exceeding in amount plaintiff's claim, judgment cannot be entered up against plaintiff for the balance, but that it nevertheless becomes a debt of record, to be enforced by an action of debt or a scire facias); Duhme v. Mehner, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 706, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 78 (holding that where the petition against an administratrix for the cancellation of receipts alleged to have been fraudulently obtained and for the payment of plaintiff's claim fails to allege any settlement of the estate by the administratrix and the balance found due plaintiff, no money judgment can be rendered).

Stipulation.— Where an administrator de bonis non entered into an agreement with his predecessor that the issue as to whether there were any assets in his hands should be tried in an amicable action, the fact found, and a certificate transmitted to the orphans' court, it was error to enter judgment against the former administrator on a verdict finding that there was a certain sum due. Finney v. Moore, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 345.

15. Murray v. Barden, 132 N. C. 136, 43 S. E. 600.

16. Ewing v. Handley, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 346, 14 Am. Dec. 140.

17. Traylor v. Cabanne, 8 Mo. App. 131, holding accordingly that a judgment for rent against an executor for land leased to testator may be rendered prospectively for the part not due at the time of trial, the judgment distinguishing between the amounts presently and prospectively payable.

18. Michigan.— Maney v. Casserly, 134 Mich. 252, 96 N. W. 478, holding that where an administrator and an intestate's widow fraudulently concealed from the probate court that complainants were heirs of intestate and as such entitled to a one-half interest in certain real estate, complainants were entitled to one half of the rental value of such real estate from the time their bill was filed to the date of the decree, with interest allowed for the average time at six per cent, less the value of necessary repairs.

Mississippi.— Tatum v. McLellan, 56 Miss. 352, holding that a decree should not be rendered against an administrator for the whole of the trust fund in his hands at the suit of a single legatee, but only for a sufficient amount to pay complainant.

New Jersey.— Wier v. Lum, 5 N. J. L. 823, holding that, in an action by a distributee to recover his distributive share of his administrators, judgment cannot be rendered also to include plaintiff's distributive share in the distributive share of the widow of intestate, who has since deceased, although the same distributees are entitled to such share of the widow in the same proportion.

New York.— Hayward v. Place, 4 Silv. Supreme 390, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 523, holding that an executor and a legatee who have misappropriated the estate are liable for no more than is proved to have remained in the hands of the executor and to have been received by the legatee beyond what he was entitled to; and that a judgment against them transcending this liability, without showing in what manner or upon what evidence it is done, so that its modification is impracticable, will be reversed.

Virginia.— Martin v. Fielder, 82 Va. 455, 4 S. E. 602, holding that where a guardian de facto is dead, in a proceeding by the wards against his administrator, it is not error to decree the whole amount due them for rents and profits against the administrator, although the deceased guardian's land, including the land of such wards, had been partitioned among his heirs, and one of them in particular held the wards' shares, since his coheirs would have to contribute to his compensation, and such a decree avoids circuity of action.

action against a personal representative, interest may be allowed in a proper case as part of the damages.[19]

b. Judgment by Confession. The personal representative of a deceased person may confess judgment both at law and in equity.[20]

c. Judgment by Default. A judgment by default may be taken against an administrator the same as against any other party,[21] in the absence of statute to the contrary.[22] So the complainant in a bill against an executor or administrator may in a proper case take a decree pro confesso.[23]

d. Judgment For Payment in Due Course of Administration. In many states it is provided by statute that a judgment against the personal representative of a decedent shall be paid only in due course of administration, and the judgment should therefore so direct and not be in the form of an absolute general money judgment against the representative.[24] So, when a judgment establishes a claim 19. Maney v. Casserly, 134 Mich. 252, 96 N. W. 478. See also Rogers v. Holley, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 624, holding that in a suit against an executor, where a report of referees is made in favor of plaintiff, although the court may not see fit to award costs to plaintiff, he may take judgment for the interest of the sum reported due in the same manner as if costs had been awarded, if he has been delayed by defendant in entering judgment by a motion to set aside the report.

20. Ruggles v. Sherman, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 446; Mactier v. Lawrence, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 206; Anonymous, 2 N. C. 295; Smith v. Eyles, 2 Atk. 385, 26 Eng. Reprint 633; Waring v. Danvers, 1 P. Wms. 295, 24 Eng. Reprint 396. See, however, Marrin v. Marrin, 27 Hun (N. Y.) 601, holding that a statement by defendant that, "on accounting . . . as said executor, and on examination of my accounts as said trustee, it appears that there is now due and owing said plaintiffs the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars, and that the same is justly due," is not sufficient whereon to found a confession of judgment; it not showing that the sum was due, but that, upon examination, it would "appear."

Judgment by consent.— Where, on a bill by decedent's widow and two infant children against the administrator, a decree is entered by consent that the administrator is indebted to the estate in a certain sum, and that of this sum one third belongs to the widow and two thirds to the infant children, the decree is not erroneous in failing to require refunding bonds to be given by plaintiffs, since this would be incompatible with the evident intent and legal effect of the decree. Harman v. Davis, 30 Gratt. (Va.) 461.

21. Chase v. Swain, 9 Cal. 130. See also Piper v. Goodwin, 23 Me. 251.

22. Parker v. Farr, 2 Browne (Pa.) 39; Lawall v. Love, 1 Leg. Rec. (Pa.) 257; Wright v. Cheyney, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 469 (all holding that a judgment entered against administrators, in a suit upon a contract of their decedent, for want of an affidavit of defense, is void, and will be stricken off on motion); Honeywell v. McGuire, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 396; Johnston v. Shurtleff, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 255 (holding that a judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense cannot be taken against an administrator de bonis non, where the matters out of which the action grew happened in the lifetime of his intestate); Hendrix v. Hendrix, 46 Tex. 6 (holding that where, in an action against the executor of an insolvent estate, an exception was sustained to the answer, it was error to assume the facts alleged in the petition to be true for want of an answer, and to render judgment thereon without the introduction of evidence); O'Keefe v. Foster, 5 Wyo. 343, 40 Pac. 525 (holding that where an administrator appears in a suit against him for foreclosure of a mortgage, the petition in which does not aver presentation of the claim in suit, nor waive recourse against the estate, judgment by default against him for a deficiency and for attorney's fees is erroneous).

23. Kennedy v. Creswell, 101 U. S. 641, 25 L. ed. 1075.

24. California.— Moore v. Russell, 133 Cal. 297, 65 Pac. 624, 85 Am. St. Rep. 166; Preston v. Knapp, 85 Cal. 559, 24 Pac. 811; Laurence v. Doolan, 68 Cal. 309, 5 Pac. 484, 9 Pac. 159; Drake v. Foster, 52 Cal. 225; Kelly v. Bandini, 50 Cal. 530; Atherton v. Fowler, 46 Cal. 323; Rice v. Innskeep, 34 Cal. 224; De Racouillat v. Sansevain, 32 Cal. 376.

Colorado.— Mattison v. Childs, 5 Colo. 78.

Illinois.— Albee v. Wachter, 74 Ill. 173; Le Moyne v. Quimby, 70 Ill. 399; Bull v. Harris, 31 Ill. 487; Granjang v. Merkle, 22 Ill. 249; Peacock v. Haven, 22 Ill. 23; Stillman v. Young, 16 Ill. 318; Judy v. Kelly, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455; McDowell v. Cochran, 11 Ill. 31; Peck v. Stevens, 10 Ill. 127; Powell v. Kettelle, 6 Ill. 491.

Louisiana.— Anderson v. Birdsall, 19 La. 441; Wooter v. Turner, 6 Mart. N. S. 442; Baillio v. Wilson, 5 Mart. N. S. 214; Herman v. Flood, 2 Mart. N. S. 659.

New Jersey.— Montgomery v. Reynolds, 14 N. J. L. 283; Woodruff v. Woodruff, 4 N. J. L. 375; Sindle v. Kiersted, 3 N. J. L. 926; Murphy v. Davis, 3 N. J. L. 843. See also Paterson v. Shinn, 17 N. J. L. 322.

New York.— See Brown v. King, 63 Hun 158, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 678.

North Carolina.— See Grant v. Bell, 91 N. C. 495; Wall v. Fairley, 73 N. C. 464; Dunn v. Barnes, 73 N. C. 273.

against the estate, the creditor should be remitted to the probate court for satisfaction.[25]

e. Judgment De Bonis Testatoris. In an action brought against an executor or administrator in his representative capacity on an obligation of his decedent, the judgment should ordinarily be de bonis testatoris or intestati,[26]

Texas.— Goff v. Hauser, 33 Tex. 430; Wilcox v. State, 24 Tex. 544; Cook v. Jordan, 21 Tex. 221; Mott v. Ruenbuhl, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. 599.

Wyoming.— Fisher v. Hopkins, 4 Wyo. 379, 34 Pac. 899, 62 Am. St. Rep. 38.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1887.

However, the fact that a judgment against a succession is written as absolute, and not a judgment to be paid in the due course of administration, is not ground for reversal. Spears v. Spears, 27 La. Ann. 537. So an absolute judgment against the administrator of a surety on the official bond of a federal official, rendered by a federal court sitting in Louisiana, is not objectionable on the theory that it should have been against the administrator, payable only in due course of administration, since, if by the law of that state the judgment is so payable, it will be thus interpreted and enforced. Smythe v. U. S., 188 U. S. 156, 23 S. Ct. 279, 47 L. ed. 425 [affirming 107 Fed. 376, 46 C. C. A. 354]. See also Chase v. Swain, 9 Cal. 130.

25. Jones v. Perot, 19 Colo. 141, 34 Pac. 728; Watson v. Blymer Mfg. Co., 66 Tex. 558, 2 S. W. 353; McCormick v. McNeel, 53 Tex. 15 (holding that a decree of the district court ordering the sheriff to make sale of mortgaged property of an estate in process of settlement is irregular, since after the court has established the mortgage, the creditor should be remitted to the county court for satisfaction of his claim in due course of administration); Fortson v. Caldwell, 17 Tex. 627.

Sufficiency of certification of judgment to probate court see infra, XIV, O, 2, a.

26. California.— Stockton Bank v. Howland, 42 Cal. 129.

Florida.— Phillips v. Sanchez, 35 Fla. 187, 17 So. 363; Cooper v. Livingston, 19 Fla. 684.

Georgia.— Justices Irwin County Inferior Ct. v. Sloan, 7 Ga. 31.

Indiana.— Steinmetz v. State, 47 Ind. 465; Horrall v. Mattingly, 27 Ind. 500; Horrall v. Scudder, 27 Ind. 499; Flagg v. Winans, 2 Ind. 123; Phipps v. Addison, 7 Blackf. 375; Priest v. Martin, 4 Blackf. 311; Raymond v. Simonson, 4 Blackf. 77. In no case, however, can a judgment be rendered against an administrator, to be levied on the assets of the estate, except where, under 2 Ind. Rev. St. p. 199, § 411, cl. 2. it directs a sale of specified articles thereof. Johnson v. Meier, 62 Ind. 98.

Iowa.— Hodgdon v. Heidman, 66 Iowa 645, 24 N. W. 257; Lawton v. Buckingham, 15 Iowa 22; Voorhies v. Eubank, 6 Iowa 274.

Kansas.— Insley v. Shire, 54 Kan. 793, 39 Pac. 713, 45 Am. St. Rep. 308.

Kentucky.— Lusk v. Anderson, 1 Metc. 426; Vaughn v. Gardner, 7 B. Mon. 326; Morton v. Fox, 4 Bibb 392.

Maine.— Ticonic Nat. Bank v. Turner, 96 Me. 380, 52 Atl. 793.

Michigan.— Peckham v. Hoag, 57 Mich. 289, 23 N. W. 818, holding that, in an action against an administrator on an order directing payment of a claim, judgment should be rendered for only so much as the assets will warrant, since the order should direct payment only to the extent of the assets.

Mississippi.— Barrow v. Wade, 7 Sm. & M. 49; Hill v. Robeson, 2 Sm. & M. 541.

Missouri.— Blondeau v. Sheridan, 81 Mo. 545; Finney v. State, 9 Mo. 227.

New Hampshire.— Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224, holding that where an executor or administrator institutes a suit for a cause of action purporting to have arisen in the lifetime of the testator or intestate, and defendant prevails on the merits, judgment is to be entered against the goods and estate of the testator or intestate.

New Jersey.— Monfort v. Vanarsdalen, 5 N. J. L. 686; Imlay v. Hamilton, 3 N. J. L. 997; Murphy v. Davis, 3 N. J. L. 843; Nelson v. Golden, 3 N. J. L. 625; Quicksall v. Quicksall, 3 N. J. L. 50, 457.

New Mexico.— Senescal v. Bolton, 7 N. M. 351, 34 Pac. 446.

New York.— Cooperstown Bank v. Corliss, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. 412; People v. Erie County, 4 Cow. 445.

North Carolina.— Usry v. Suit, 91 N. C. 406; Hogg v. White, 2 N. C. 298; Parker v. Stevens, 2 N. C. 218, 1 Am. Dec. 557.

Pennsylvania.— Dickey v. Trainer, 43 Pa. St. 509.

Tennessee.— Massingale v. Jones, 3 Hayw. 36.

Texas.— Thorn v. State, 10 Tex. 295.

Virginia.— Hite v. Paul, 2 Munf. 154; Spotswood v. Price, 3 Hen. & M. 123.

West Virginia.— Jones v. Reid, 12 W. Va. 350, 29 Am. Rep. 455.

Wisconsin.— Lightfoot v. Coles, 1 Wis. 26.

United States.— Boyce v. Grundy, 9 Pet. 275, 9 L. ed. 127.

England.— Mounson v. Bourn, Cro. Car. 518.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1892.

Judgment by default.— Judgment in favor of a creditor of the intestate against an administrator who enters no appearance and makes no plea should be de bonis testatoris. Jennings v. Wright, 54 Ga. 537.

Judgment for funeral expenses.— Under a statute placing funeral expenses among debts to be first paid out of the estate, and providing that an action for them may be brought against an executor, even within the six and as a general rule a judgment against the representative de bonis propriis in such an action is improper.[27]

f. Judgment Quando Acciderint. A judgment against an executor or admin-months which is generally allowed him to examine into the condition of the estate, judgment may be entered de bonis testatoris. Campfield v. Ely, 13 N. J. L. 150.

Judgment in action revived against administrator.— Where a defendant dies, and the suit is revived against his administrator, the decree against him should be de bonis intestati only. Myers v. Mott, 29 Cal. 359, 89 Am. Dec. 49; Cocke v. Gilpin, 1 Rob. (Va.) 20; Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578. See, however, Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh (Va.) 526.

Judgment in foreign attachment.— As a general rule a judgment against an administrator on a debt due from the intestate's estate should be against the estate, and the same rule prevails in a process of foreign attachment against an administrator. Quigg v. Kittredge, 18 N. H. 137.

Judgment on plea of plene administravit.— On a verdict against an executor on a plea of plene administravit the judgment should be de bonis testatoris. Jameson v. Martin, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 330. The verdict in such a case should find the amount of assets unadministered, and the judgment should be de bonis testatoris. Siglar v. Haywood, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 675, 5 L. ed. 713. See Fairfax v. Fairfax, 5 Cranch (N. S.) 19, 3 L. ed. 24 [reversing 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,612, 1 Cranch C. C. 292]. Where a decedent's estate is solvent, including his real estate, and his administrators neglect to apply for a sale of the real estate, and pay out all the personal estate to one creditor to the exclusion of the rest, it is a devastavit, and the judgment must be de bonis testatoris, notwithstanding the plea of plene administravit, which is an immaterial plea. Abbott v. Cole, 5 Ohio 86.

Necessity of fixing executor with assets.— A decree cannot properly be made against an executor for a debt of his testator until he has, by confession or the report of a master, been fixed with assets. Moody v. Sitton, 37 N. C. 382. See also Washington Bank v. Peltz, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 952, 2 Cranch C. C. 241. If, however, an administrator does not plead want of assets, the judgment of de bonis testatoris is awarded. Hogg v. White, 2 N. C. 298; Parker v. Stephens, 2 N. C. 218, 1 Am. Dec. 557. So in suits against executors it is not regular to enter a decree to be levied on the goods of the testator, without an account. McRae v. Bates, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 490. If, however, plaintiff's claim is proved or admitted, and the executor confesses assets, plaintiff may, at the hearing, have a decree for payment, without taking a decree for an account. Duerson v. Alsop, 27 Gratt. (Va.) 229.

Necessity of direction as to payment out of assets.— A judgment against an administrator as such is sufficient, if the recitals therein show that it was rendered against him in his representative capacity, although there is no express direction that the money is to be levied of the goods and chattels of his intestate in his hands to be administered. Cake v. Woodbury, 3 App. Cas. (D. C.) 60; Guice v. Sellers, 43 Miss. 52, 5 Am. Rep. 476, Contra, Thorn v. State, 10 Tex. 295; Hite v. Paul, 2 Munf. (Va.) 154. So a judgment against an executor or administrator, where there is no plea that the sum recovered "be levied of the goods and chattels, lands and tenements, of the testator or intestate," is sufficient, on an affidavit of illegality interposed to the execution, without adding the words, "in the hands of," etc., "to be administered." Woolfolk v. Kyle, 48 Ga. 419.

Construction of judgment.— If a suit is instituted and progresses against defendant as executor or administrator, and the judgment is against "said defendant," it is a judgment de bonis testatoris. Stone v. Kaufman, 25 Ark. 186; Jones v. Gardner, 4 Watts (Pa.) 416; Burd v. McGregor, 2 Grant (Pa.) 353; Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130. See also Crossan v. Glass, 4 Harr. (Del.) 342; Moore v. Lunney, 3 Harr. (Del.) 28; Snead v. Coleman, 7 Gratt. (Va.) 300, 56 Am. Dec. 112. See, however, McCalley v. Wilburn, 77 Ala. 549; Curtis v. Somerset Bank, 7 Harr. & J. (Md.) 25; Simmons v. Ingram, 60 Miss. 886; Pinney v. Johnson, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 500; Smith v. Lockwood, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 366; Peabody v. Hutton, 5 Wyo. 102, 37 Pac. 694, 39 Pac. 980, in all of which cases the personal representative was held to be bound individually. A judgment against a person "as administrator" binds him in his representative capacity. Sharpe v. Morgan, 44 Ill. App. 346; Egbert v. State, 4 Ind. 399; Howcott v. Collins, 23 Miss. 398; Neeley v. Planters' Bank, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 113. See, however, Hardy v. Call, 16 Mass. 530 (holding that where judgment is rendered against one "in his capacity of administrator," it should not be considered as against the estate of the intestate in the hands of the administrator, but the words, being ambiguous, should be so construed as to comport with a legal judgment de bonis propriis); Rich v. Sowles, 64 Vt. 408, 23 Atl. 723, 15 L. R. A. 850 (holding that a judgment, following a writ and declaration against A "as administrator," is not a judgment against the estate but against A personally). Where executors are sued as "J's executors," without naming them, and they confess judgment generally, the judgment binds the estate only, and not themselves personally. Jones v. Gardner, 4 Watts (Pa.) 416. In order to ascertain whether a judgment against an administrator was intended to bind him de bonis propriis, or only de bonis testatoris, reference may be had to the pleadings in the case. Tyler v. Langworthy, 57 Iowa 555.

Exceptions to rule see infra, XIV, O, 1, g.

27. See infra, XIV, O, 1, g.

istrator should provide for its satisfaction out of the estate to the extent that assets may be found in defendant's hands, and as to the balance out of assets which may subsequently come into his hands.[23] If a plea of plene administravit is confessed by plaintiff or found in defendant's favor, plaintiff is entitled to a judgment quando acciderint for the full amount of his claim.[29] So on a plea of no assets plaintiff may pray judgment of assets when they shall come into the hands of the administrator.[30] If a judgment against a personal representative is presented for payment within the time prescribed by statute, it is to be satisfied out of the estate then inventoried; otherwise it is to be satisfied out of subsequently inventoried assets.[31]

g. Judgment De Bonis Propriis. Ordinarily a judgment cannot be rendered against an executor or administrator de bonis propriis,[32] but it should be rendered 28. Kentucky.— Botts v. Fitzpatrick, 5 B. Mon. 397.

Maine.— Brown v. Whitmore, 71 Me. 65.

Maryland.— Scott v. Dorsey, 1 Harr. & J. 227.

New York.— People v. Erie County, 4 Cow. 445; Douglass v. Satterlee, 11 Johns. 16.

North Carolina.— Gregory v. Haughton, 12 N. C. 442. See also Grant v. Bell, 91 N. C. 495.

Virginia.— Nimmo v. Com., 1 Hen. & M. 470.

England.— Bridgman v. Lightfoot, Cro. Jac. 671; Bull v. Wheeler, Cro. Jac. 647.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1888.

29. Alabama.— Skinner v. Frierson, 8 Ala. 915.

Indiana.— Wilt v. Bird, 7 Blackf. 258.

Kentucky.— Miller v. Towles, 4 J. J. Marsh. 255, holding that it is error, on an issue of plene administravit vel non, found for defendant, to render judgment in bar of the action.

Maine.— Brown v. Whitmore, 71 Me. 65.

New York.— Ford v. Crane, 6 Cow. 71; Osterhout v. Hardenbergh, 19 Johns. 266.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1888.

30. Brown v. Whitmore, 71 Me. 65. See also Skinner v. Frierson, 8 Ala. 915, holding that upon the confession of the plea of plene administravit the judgment should be quando.

31. Peacock v. Haven, 22 Ill. 23; Bradford v. Jones, 17 Ill. 93.

32. Alabama.— Pope v. Robinson, 1 Stew. 415; Greening v. Brown, Minor 353; Bowie v. Foster, Minor 264; Armstrong v. Johnson, Minor 169.

Arkansas.— Vance v. State, 35 Ark. 176.

California.— Atherton v. Fowler, 46 Cal. 323; Rice v. Inskeep, 34 Cal. 224.

Colorado.— Jones v. Perot, 19 Colo. 141, 34 Pac. 728.

Florida.— Phillips v. Sanchez, 35 Fla. 187, 17 So. 363.

Indiana.— Horrall v. Mattingley, 27 Ind. 500; Horrall v. Scudder, 27 Ind. 499.

Iowa.— Hodgdon v. Heidman, 66 Iowa 645, 24 N. W. 257; Lawton v. Buckingham, 15 Iowa 22.

Kansas.— Insley v. Shire, 54 Kan. 793, 39 Pac. 713, 45 Am. St. Rep. 308.

Kentucky.— Lusk v. Anderson, 1 Metc. 426; Dawson v. Clay, 1 J. J. Marsh. 165; Rece v. May, 2 A. K. Marsh. 23.

Mississippi.— Barrow v. Wade, 7 Sm. & M. 49; Hill v. Robeson, 2 Sm. & M. 541.

Missouri.— Finney v. State, 9 Mo. 227; Laughlin v. McDonald, 1 Mo. 684.

New Hampshire.— Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224.

New Jersey.— Montfort v. Vanarsdalen, 5 N. J. L. 686; Sindle v. Kiersted, 3 N. J. L. 926.

New York.— Rhodes v. Evans, Clarke 168.

North Carolina.— Usry v. Suit, 91 N. C. 406.

Pennsylvania.— Maurer v. Kerper, 102 Pa. St. 444 (holding that while a legacy or distributive share may be reached in the executor's hands by attachment execution, only the orphans' court can determine the amount due on the settlement of the decedent's estate, and hence judgment should not be rendered in the common pleas for a sum certain against the executor de bonis propriis); Lorenz v. King, 38 Pa. St. 93 (holding that, where administrators are garnishees, it is error to enter judgment against them de bonis propriis).

Tennessee.—Dance v. McGregor, 5 Humphr. 428.

Texas.—Keowne v. Love, 65 Tex. 152 (holding that the fact that an administrator died testate, and that his executrix took possession of the estate in process of administration, does not authorize a judgment de bonis propriis, against the executrix); Thorn v. State, 10 Tex. 295.

Utah.— Bacon v. Thornton, 16 Utah 138, 51 Pac. 153.

Virginia.—Staples v. Staples, 85 Va. 76, 7 S. E. 199; Pugh v. Jones, 6 Leigh 299; Hite v. Paul, 2 Munf. 154.

West Virginia.— Jones v. Reid, 12 W. Va. 350, 29 Am. Rep. 455.

Wisconsin.— Viles v. Green, 91 Wis. 217, 64 N. W. 856 (holding that, although the statute provides that an administrator may be sued to foreclose a lien, it is error to enter a personal judgment against an administrator in an action to foreclose a lien); Woodward v. Howard, 13 Wis. 557.

United States.— Smith v. Chapman, 93 U. S. 541, 23 L. ed. 795; Boyce v. Grundy, 9 Pet. 275, 9 L. ed. 127; Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77.

against him de bonis testatoris,[33] and in some states to be paid in due course of administration.[34] This rule is, however, subject to various exceptions and qualifications.[35] If for example an executor or administrator has been guilty of a violation of duty in the administration of the estate committed to his charge,[36]

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1893.

Judgment by default.— Judgment de bonis propriis by default is erroneous, under a statute providing that administrators shall not, as at common law, be liable personally on failure to plead. Phillips v. Munsell, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 253.

Partial invalidity.— A joint judgment on a note against the administrator of a deceased maker and the surviving makers is erroneous as to the administrator, if it is not made payable de bonis testatoris; but this error does not invalidate it as to the other defendants. Stockton Bank v. Howland, 42 Cal. 129.

Construction of judgment see supra, note 26.

33. See supra, XIV, O, 1, e.

34. See supra, XIV, O, 1, d.

35. Alabama.— Pettigrew v. Pettigrew, 1 Stew. 580, holding that judgment against an executor for a legacy in his hands is de bonis propriis.

Kentucky.— Markham v. Allen, 8 B. Mon. 417, holding by implication that a judgment de bonis propriis may be rendered against an executor if there was a previous judgment de bonis testatoris and a return of nulla bona.

New Hampshire.— Moulton v. Wendell, 37 N. H. 406; Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224, both holding that if the cause of action is alleged to have accrued after the decease of the testator or intestate, and the executor or administrator might sue in his own right, judgment may be entered against him de bonis propriis.

Virginia.— Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh 526 (holding that where an administrator of a defendant in detinue, who dies pendente lite, consents that the case shall stand revived against him, and goes to trial on the plea put in by his intestate, the judgment against him should be personal for the property or its alternative value, while the costs and damages should be levied de bonis testatoris); Templeton v. Fauntleroy, 3 Rand. 434 (holding that in equity a decree against an administrator having assets, or acknowledging assets, should be de bonis propriis).

United States.— Kennedy v. Creswell, 101 U. S. 641, 25 L. ed. 1075, holding that in a creditors' suit against the debtor's executor for an accounting of the personal property and a discovery of the real property, where the executor pleads in bar that he has assets sufficient to pay all claims, and the allegations of the plea prove untrue, the admission of assets renders him personally liable, and a decree against him is proper without a discovery.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1893.

Judgment after probate decree for payment of debts.— A judgment against an administrator on a debt due from the intestate's estate may be de bonis propriis, where there has been a decree of the probate court requiring the administrator to make payment, and nothing remains to be done but to pay the money. Quigg v. Kittredge, 18 N. H. 137; Wachter's Case, 1 Walk. (Pa.) 267. See also Peckham v. Berrien Cir. Judge, 74 Mich. 287, 41 N. W. 926.

Judgment on contract or due-bill of personal representative.— A judgment against an administrator on a due-bill signed by him as administrator is properly rendered against him de bonis propriis. Ellis v. Merriman, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 296. See, however, Staples v. Staples, 85 Va. 76, 7 S. E. 199, holding that in a creditors' suit to enforce claims against a decedent's estate, where an accepted order by an executor is rejected as against the estate, the creditor is not entitled to a decree against the executor personally. Judgment will be against an executor personally on a contract made by him for the benefit of the estate. Doolittle v. Willet, 57 N. J. L. 398, 31 Atl. 385.

Judgment on false plea.— An executor or administrator may subject himself to the payment of a debt of the deceased de bonis propriis by his false plea when sued in a representative capacity. Harrison v. Taylor, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 233; Bacon Abr. tit. "Executor," B, 3; 1 Wm. Saund. 336*b* note 10. See also Justices Irwin County Inferior Ct. v. Sloan, 7 Ga. 31; People v. Erie County, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 445; Lansing v. Lansing, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 502.

Judgment on personal obligation.— If the executor or administrator is personally liable on the claim in suit, a judgment de bonis propriis is proper. Offut v. Bradford, 4 Bush (Ky.) 413 (holding that on the dissolution of an injunction sued out by an executrix for her own benefit as devisee, the judgment for damages is properly rendered against her personally and not against the assets); Taylor v. Tatum, 30 Miss. 701 (holding that an administrator can be sued in that character only for those duties which his intestate was bound to perform, and that it is error, in suing him in detinue, which could only lie against him individually, to render judgment to be levied out of the intestate's goods); Bacon v. Thornton, 16 Utah 138, 51 Pac. 153 (semble); Martin v. Stover, 2 Call (Va.) 514 (holding that in assumpsit against executors for money had and received by them to plaintiff's use, it seems that judgment should be de bonis propriis and not de bonis testatoris).

36. Dawson v. Clay, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 165 (semble); Collins v. Sanders, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 860 (holding that where an executor has as by committing a devastavit,[37] the judgment may be rendered against him personally.

h. Alternative Judgment. If an executor or administrator has become personally liable, a judgment may be rendered against him in the alternative, to be satisfied out of the goods of the testator or intestate if sufficient, and if not, then out of the goods of the personal representative himself,[38] and if those are insufficient, then out of his real estate.[39] A court of equity may render judgment in the alternative that the executor shall execute the trust imposed on him by the will, or, in case of default, be personally liable.[40] A judgment against a personal representative and heirs jointly is to be satisfied first out of the assets in the hands of the executors if sufficient, and if not, then out of the assets descended to the heirs.[41]

i. Parties.[42] The power of co-administrators is joint, and not joint and several, and there cannot be several judgments against them.[43] At common law judgment cannot be rendered on a joint obligation against surviving obligors and the representative of a deceased obligor.[44] Where heirs have the same interest in the personalty, which has not been distributed, as they have in the realty, which has been partitioned, a decree in a suit against the administrator and heirs on a debt of the ancestor may be rendered against the administrator alone, since payment of the debt out of the personalty will avoid litigation between the heirs for contribution.[45] No decree can be made against an administrator ad litem, where he is not obligated by bond or affidavit and has no power to bind any one in interest.[46] However, the fact that one to whom letters of administration have issued has not duly qualified as administrator does not invalidate a judgment against him as never been charged in a settlement of his transactions with the purchase-price of land which, without authority, he sold with warranty of title as executor, he cannot be prejudiced by a judgment in favor of the purchaser against him individually, and not as executor); Woodward v. Howard, 13 Wis. 557 (semble).

37. Shorter v. Hargroves, 11 Ga. 658; Saunders v. Smith, 3 Ga. 121; Dawson v. Clay, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 165 (semble); Dance v. McGregor, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 428 (semble); Smith v. Chapman, 93 U. S. 41, 23 L. ed. 795 (semble).

Who may take advantage of devastavit.— Where the assets are insufficient to pay all claims against the estate, plaintiff is not entitled to a judgment de propriis against the administrator on proof that the latter has paid demands inferior in dignity to that of plaintiff, if there exists outstanding and unpaid a claim of higher dignity than his, sufficient in amount to absorb the entire assets; for, although such payments constitute a devastavit for which the administrator is personally liable, such liability exists only in favor of a creditor injured by the making of such payments. Gwinn v. Trotter, 112 Ga. 703, 38 S. E. 49.

38. People v. Erie County, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 445; Boyce v. Grundy, 9 Pet. (U. S.) 275, 9 L. ed. 127. See also Stroud v. Barnett, 3 Dana (Ky.) 391; Lansing v. Lansing, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 502.

39. Lansing v. Lansing, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 502.

40. Guiou v. Guiou, 5 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 205, 3 Am. L. Rec. 476.

41. Chalfant v. Monroe, 3 Dana (Ky.) 35; Leather v. McGlasson, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 223. See also Stroud v. Barnett, 3 Dana (Ky.) 391. However, a judgment against executors, heirs, and devisees need not recite that execution is to be levied first of the assets, next of the estate descended, and lastly of the estate devised; but the sheriff is to take notice of the law to that effect. Morgan v. Morgan, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 388.

42. Judgment for or against persons not parties to suit see supra, XIV, G.

Right to judgment where less than all of several defendants are served see supra, XIV, H, 1.

43. Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396. Where, however, after ascertaining the amount of assets in the hands of executors subject to distribution, the court rendered judgment against one of the executors in favor of some of the legatees and against the other in favor of the remaining legatees, such judgment, although irregular and voidable, is not void. Elliott v. Mayfield, 3 Ala. 223.

44. Stockton Bank v. Howland, 42 Cal. 129; Brown v. King, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 462. See, however, Myers v. State, 47 Ind. 293; Bennett v. Spillars, 7 Tex. 600, holding that where one of two joint defendants died pending suit, and the executors of the deceased defendant were made parties, it was proper for the court to render judgment against defendants jointly, with an order that execution should issue against the surviving defendant, and that the executors should pay the judgment in due course of administration.

45. Martin v. Fielder, 82 Va. 455, 4 S. E. 602.

46. Russell v. Umphlet, 27 Ark. 339.

such.[47] A plaintiff cannot object to a decree because it was rendered against him in the name and capacity in which he sued.[48] If a person sues and recovers as administrator, the judgment cannot be sustained as individual judgment.[49] Prima facie a judgment in favor of a person as executor or administrator is his individual property.[50] A judgment must specify with certainty the parties in whose favor it is rendered.[51]

j. Conformity to Process, Pleadings, Proof, and Report, Findings, or Verdict —(I) In General. The judgment in a proceeding by or against the personal representative of a deceased person must conform to the process, pleadings, proof, and report, findings, or verdict.[52]

47. Ryan v. American Freehold Land Mortg. Co., 96 Ga. 322, 23 S. E. 411.

48. Sowles v. Sartwell, 76 Vt. 70, 56 Atl. 282.

49. Garman v. Glass, 197 Pa. St. 101, 46 Atl. 923.

50. Dozier v. McWhorter, 117 Ga. 786, 45 S. E. 61 (holding, however, that the presumption may be removed by evidence that he holds the same in trust); Marshall v. Charland, 109 Ga. 306, 34 S. E. 671; Wynn v. Irvine's Georgia Music House, 109 Ga. 287, 34 S. E. 582; Kenan v. Du Bignon, 46 Ga. 258; Hall v. Pearman, 20 Tex. 168 (so holding where it does not appear that he could not have recovered in his own right).

51. Kyle v. Mays, 22 Ala. 673 (holding that a decree against an administrator in favor of "the legal representative" of a distributee is void for uncertainty); Betts v. Blackwell, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 373 (holding that a judgment rendered against an administrator in favor of "the estate or the legal representatives thereof" is void for uncertainty).

52. Illinois.— McDowell v. Wight, 5 Ill. 403, holding that judgment cannot be rendered against the lands of an intestate in a proceeding in personam against the administrator.

Kentucky.— Blackerby v. Holton, 5 Dana 520, holding that a decree for partition of land not designated in a bill against an administrator for distribution is erroneous.

Maryland.— Neale v. Hermanns, 65 Md. 474, 479, 5 Atl. 424, holding that under a statute directing the court, in suits against administrators, "to enter judgment against the defendant for the penalty of the bond or damages laid in the plaintiff's declaration, . . . to be released upon payment of the sum ascertained to be paid by the verdict," the court should not enter the judgment for the penalty of the bond, when the bond is not in suit.

New York.— Camp v. Smith, 117 N. Y. 354, 22 N. E. 1044 [affirming 49 Hun 100, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 372], holding that where an action as for money had and received against an executor by a legatee who received notes of the executor in payment of the legacy is tried on the theory that defendant, while being an executor, became personally liable for the payment of the legacy, the judgment for plaintiff cannot be sustained on the theory that the action was on the notes, although the notes were offered in evidence, there being no count upon them.

South Carolina.— Quick v. Campbell, 44 S. C. 386, 22 S. E. 479, holding that in an action against an administrator a decree for plaintiff cannot be made subject to the plea of plene administravit, when such plea has not been interposed.

Texas.— Lott v. Cloud, 23 Tex. 254, holding that where a claim against a decedent's estate is already allowed, and entitled to be paid in due course of administration, a judgment for defendant for his claim in a suit brought in the district court for setting aside and annulling the allowance of the claim is unnecessary, and will be set aside on appeal, if defendant is not entitled to it on his pleadings.

Vermont.— White v. White, 69 Vt. 360, 37 Atl. 1114, holding that on appeal from the probate court to the county court, where the cause has been tried by a referee, judgment must be rendered according to the facts reported, although plaintiff recovered interest on the common money counts in assumpsit, as the county court could have allowed such amendments to the declaration as the nature of the demand required.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1890.

See, however, Jahns v. Nolting, 29 Cal. 507 (holding that where an administrator brings an action under section 116 of the California Probate Act against one who has embezzled or alienated the personal property of the intestate between the death of the latter and the grant of letters of administration, but fails to bring the case within said section by his proof, so as to recover the enhanced damages therein given, he is still entitled to recover for a wrongful conversion as in the action of trover at common law); Bogle v. Kreitzer, 46 Pa. St. 465 (holding that where, in an action against executors, incongruous counts requiring different judgments are joined in the same declaration, as when two counts in the narr. against them on their personal promise are joined with one on the promise of the testator, and there is a special finding on the last count, or no evidence on the first two, a judgment specially entered on the last is good).

A judgment de bonis testatoris is supported by a declaration for money paid for the use of defendant as executor and at his request (Wakeman v. Paulmier, 39 N. J. L.

(II) Capacity in Which Executor or Administrator Is Allowed to Recover or Is Held Bound. It has been held that if an executor or administrator sues as such, he cannot recover in his individual right;[53] and if a person sues individually he cannot recover as executor or administrator.[54] So a judgment can be rendered against a party only in the capacity in which he is sued.[55] Hence if a person is sued as executor or administrator, he cannot ordinarily be held liable as an individual in the suit so brought;[56] and conversely if suit is 340), by a count for money paid by plaintiff after testator's death on a bond in which plaintiff was surety of testator (Cawley v. Reeve, 17 N. J. L. 415), or by a count alleging an implied promise by an administratrix to refund the moneys expended for her use as such by paying a debt of intestate for which he and plaintiff were jointly liable (Collins v. Weiser, 12 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 97). So where an action was brought by an administrator, an account filed in set-off by defendant, and both submitted to a referee, who reported that defendant recover a certain sum as debt or damage, and costs, against plaintiff, instead of against the goods and estate of the intestate, and judgment was rendered by the court of common pleas on such report against the goods, etc., of the intestate, it was no error. Eaton v. Cole, 10 Me. 137. And where in an action against an executor plaintiff states testator's indebtedness, and that the executor, after the death of testator, in consideration, etc., promised to pay, the judgment will be de bonis testatoris and not de bonis propriis; the mode of declaring being merely to save limitations and not to prevent defendant from making any defense which he might have made had the declaration stated the promise of testator and his liability only. Whitaker v. Whitaker, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 112.

A judgment de bonis propriis is authorized by a count alleging that goods were in possession of testator, and in effect averring that they came to the possession of defendants as executors and were converted by them. Schott v. Sage, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 87. Where a declaration sets out as the cause of action a promise made by defendant as administrator, etc., the judgment must be de bonis propriis, and if rendered de bonis testatoris it will be reversed on error and the correct judgment rendered. Oliver v. Hearne, 4 Ala. 271; Vaughn v. Gardner, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 326. So a count in assumpsit by a legatee against an executor for a legacy which alleges a promise by defendant as executor to pay the legacy is a count against the executor in his representative capacity, upon which the judgment can only be de bonis testatoris. Kayser v. Disher, 9 Leigh (Va.) 357. And where an executor obtained a judgment for a debt due his testator against the administrator of the debtor to be levied on the goods and chattels of the intestate, and afterward brought an action of debt against the administrator suggesting a devastavit, and declared in detinue only, he could not have a judgment de bonis propriis but only de bonis testatoris. Spotswood v. Price, 3 Hen. & M. (Va.) 123. If the declaration contains a count founded on the promise of a testator, and also a count founded on an assumpsit by the executrix, it is error, under a general verdict, to render judgment against the executrix individually. Luke v. Marshall, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 458.

53. Burdyne v. Mackey, 7 Mo. 374. Contra, Childress v. Davis, 15 La. 492; Bingham v. Marine Nat. Bank, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 135.

Descriptio personæ.— Where a person sued on a note payable to D or bearer, setting forth that he was the holder, but describing himself as "administrator of the estate of L, deceased," the quoted words were held to be descriptio personæ only, and in no way militating against his right to a judgment in his own name. Rider v. Duval, 28 Tex. 622.

54. Mason v. Lord, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 447, where plaintiff, one of four sureties on a note, paid half the amount due on it with funds of the principal and the other half as administrator of the estate of a cosurety, and this last sum was allowed him in the settlement of his administration accounts, and it was held that, in an action against the other cosureties for contribution, brought in his own name, he could not recover in his capacity as administrator of his cosurety, although he filed an instrument claiming to recover in trust for the heirs and binding himself to pay them the sum recovered, provided he was not entitled to retain it to his own use.

55. Singleton v. Gayle, 8 Port. (Ala.) 270, holding that a party to a bill cannot be decreed against as executor de son tort, where the bill does not make him a party in that capacity.

56. Alabama.— Singleton v. Gayle, 8 Port. 270, holding that where, in a bill to foreclose a mortgage on a slave, defendant is charged as administrator of the estate of the mortgagor, a decree cannot be entered against him as a purchaser of the property belonging to the estate.

Delaware.— Cloud v. Whiteman, 2 Harr. 401, holding that, on a bill to recover a legacy against the executor as such, the court cannot decree against him as devisee, on the ground that the legacy was charged on land devised to him.

Iowa.— Lawton v. Buckingham, 15 Iowa 22.

Kentucky.— Monroe v. Wilson, 6 T. B. Mon. 122, holding that in an action against an executor as such he cannot be charged as devisee. See also Moody v. Ewing, 8 B. Mon. 521.

brought against a person individually he cannot be charged in that suit as a personal representative.[57]

2. Record and Amendment — a. Entry and Transcript. The judgment entry must conform to the judgment as rendered.[58] The construction of an entry of judgment is a question for the court.[59] In some states when a judgment is recovered against a personal representative as such, a transcript thereof must be filed in the probate court.[60]

b. Amendment and Correction. Clerical errors in a judgment against the personal representative of a decedent may be corrected by amendment.[61] If through clerical error a judgment is entered against a person in another capacity than that in which he is sued, the defect may ordinarily be cured by amend-

Missouri.— Ranney v. Thomas, 45 Mo. 111, holding that ordinarily where an administrator sues or is sued in his official character, the judgment should be entered against him in the same character, to be levied out of the assets of the testator or intestate.

Nebraska.— Burton v. Williams, 63 Nebr. 431, 88 N. W. 765.

North Carolina.— Allison v. Davidson, 21 N. C. 46 (holding that, where an executor is brought into court by scire facias as executor merely, he cannot in the same suit, without a supplemental bill, be charged on his own acts); Shearin v. Neville, 18 N. C. 3.

Ohio.— Flieschman v. Shoemaker, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 152, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 415.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1891.

Contra.— Louisiana.— Russell v. Cash, 2 La. 185.

Maryland.—Baugher v. Wilkins, 16 Md. 35, 77 Am. Dec. 279.

New York.— Donohue v. Kendall, 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 386.

Pennsylvania.— Patterson v. McCarty, 1 Pennyp. 491.

Virginia.— Belvin v. French, 84 Va. 81, 3 S. E. 891.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1891.

In equity the rule is otherwise. Irving v. Melton, 27 Ga. 330.

Where one is sued both personally and as administrator, a judgment properly rendered against him individually will not be reversed because of failure of the court to render judgment against him as administrator, especially when no motion for such latter judgment has been made, nor any objection offered to entering the personal judgment against him. Carter v. Zenblin, 68 Ind. 436.

Descriptio personæ.— Where, in a suit before a justice of the peace, the warrant directed the officer to summon "George Braden, administrator of John Braden," and proceeded to state a personal liability of A, the words "administrator of John Braden" might be rejected as personal description, and judgment rendered George Braden in his individual right. Braden v. Hollingsworth, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 19.

57. Middlebrook v. Pendleton, 47 Conn. 9; Davis v. Davis, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 46; Shiff v. Wilson, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 91.

58. Woodruff v. Woodruff, 4 N. J. L. 375, holding that a judgment rendered against executors as such, if entered against them generally, will be reversed on certiorari.

59. McVay v. Krebs, 7 Ala. 456, holding that a judgment entry as to a plea of insolvency reciting that "the same is overruled" means that the court declared the plea bad as a defense.

60. See Kennedy's Estate, 93 Cal. 16, 28 Pac. 839 (holding that, where a transcript is filed as required by statute, it is not necessary, on the subsequent affirmance of the judgment on appeal, that a transcript of the judgment subsequent to the coming down of the remittitur should be filed); Green v. Taney, 16 Colo. 398, 27 Pac. 249 (holding that the filing of a "transcript of the judgment docket" is a sufficient compliance with a statute requiring a "transcript of the record of the judgment entry" to be filed).

Necessity of certifying judgment to probate court for payment in due course of administration see supra, XIV, O, 1, d.

61. Lunsford v. Baskins, 6 Ala. 512, where defendant, an administratrix, pleaded that the estate was adjudged insolvent, and the jury found the plea to be true, assessed plaintiff's damages, and judgment was rendered that the suit abate and be referred to the orphans' court, and it was held that, although the statute required that judgment in such case should be that plaintiff is entitled to the sum found due him, but that no execution shall issue, and the judgment shall be certified to the proper orphans' court, yet the defect was a mere clerical misprision, amendable at plaintiff's costs.

Judgment against one who has died pendente lite.— Where an action was prosecuted on the death of defendant against his administrator, and in entering up judgment the substitution of the administrator was overlooked, the court has no power eighteen months thereafter to enter an order correcting the judgment without notice to the administrator. Rauh v. Ritchie, 1 Ill. App. 188. Where, however, on motion for a rehearing, it appeared that the suit was originally brought by an administrator, who died before judgment in the court below, and an administrator de bonis non was made plaintiff, but that the final judgment was erroneously rendered in favor of the deceased administrator, instead of the administrator de bonis non, the judgment was reformed and ment.[62] Thus a judgment entered against a person as executor or administrator in a suit against him individually may be amended to conform to the summons and complaint;[63] and a similar amendment may be made where a person is sued as personal representative on a cause of action against the decedent and judgment is entered against him individually.[64] A judgment against an executor or administrator de bonis propriis may be amended, in a proper case, so as to made it de bonis testatoris or intestati,[65] and vice versa.[66] So a general judgment de bonis testatoris, if entered through clerical error, may be amended so as to made it quando.[67] A judgment against an executor who has made himself liable de bonis propriis by pleading a false plea may be amended at a subsequent term by adding the words, "to be levied de bonis testatoris si," etc., "et si non, de bonis propriis;"[68] and in case the execution cannot be made from the personal chattels of the executor, the judgment may be amended so as to provide for its satisfaction from his real estate.[69] A judgment against a personal representative may be amended so as to subject decedent's real estate to levy and sale in satisfaction,[70] when that course is allowed by statute.[71] The court may also amend a judgment against an executor or administrator so as to make it payable in due course of administration.[72] However, where the holder of a mortgage sued to foreclose without presenting it to the administrator of the mortgagor, and without waiving recourse against other property, a decree of foreclosure providing for an attorney's fee, although there was no deficiency judgment, cannot be modified by striking out the provision for an attorney's fee, so as to rendered in favor of the administrator de bonis non. Dawson v. Hardy, 33 Tex. 198.

62. Terry v. Lindsay, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 317, holding that where persons are sued as executors and they answer as such, a judgment against them as administrators will be deemed a clerical error and amendable.

63. Pool v. Minge, 50 Ala. 100 (so holding where the summons and complaint are against defendant individually, but add to his name the words "administrator of A B, deceased," etc., and the complaint shows a cause of action against him individually, while the judgment is against him as the administrator of said A B, deceased, but does not direct the execution to be levied de bonis intestati); Irby v. Brown, 59 Ga. 596 (holding that where a judgment was entered against an administrator individually only, although he was sued in his representative capacity also, and execution issued against him in both capacities, a motion made ten years after the entry of the judgment to amend it so that it will conform with the pleadings will be allowed).

64. Ware v. St. Louis Bagging, etc., Co., 47 Ala. 667; Adams v. Re Qua, 22 Fla. 250, 1 Am. St. Rep. 191; Hoggatt v. Montgomery, 6 How. (Miss.) 93. See however, Matter of Seaman, 63 N. Y. App. Div. 49, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 376, holding that where a decree was rendered and execution issued against an administratrix personally for money in the hands of deceased as executor, the error in charging the administratrix personally, instead of in her representative capacity, was not a mistake or clerical error, but affected a material matter, and after the time to appeal had expired the court had no power to amend the decree so as to charge the administratrix only to the extent of deceased's property in her hands.

Amendment after execution sale.— Where a judgment revived after the debtor's death directs execution against his executors, instead of against his estate in their hands, and executions issue accordingly and sales thereunder are made, it is too late to amend the judgment and executions. McKay v. Paris Exch. Bank, 75 Tex. 181, 12 S. W. 529, 16 Am. St. Rep. 884.

65. Boykin v. Cook, 61 Ala. 472; Yarborough v. Scott, 5 Ala. 221; Redd v. Davis, 59 Ga. 823; Pryor v. Leonard, 57 Ga. 136 (so holding, although the judgment has been partly satisfied); Jennings v. Wright, 54 Ga. 537; Ticonic Nat. Bank v. Turner, 96 Me. 380, 52 Atl. 793; People v. McDonald, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 189.

Operation of amendment.— Where a judgment was entered against an executor so as to bind him personally, and afterward it was ordered to be amended so as to make it a lien on the estate of testator, the judgment as amended did not relate back to the date of the first judgment, so as to encumber property of testator which had been purchased of his executor between the dates of the original and amended judgments, in good faith, for a valuable consideration, and without notice. Ligon v. Rogers, 12 Ga. 281.

66. Hicks v. Barrett, 40 Ala. 291.

67. Skinner v. Frierson, 8 Ala. 915.

68. Harrison v. Taylor, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 233.

69. Lansing v. Lansing, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 502.

70. Smith v. Vining, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 376.

71. Hoxie v. Kennedy, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 643, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 185.

72. In re Schroeder, 46 Cal. 304.

allow the judgment to stand as if the suit had been brought under a statute which authorizes the holder of a mortgage against a decedent's property to enforce it against the particular property subject thereto, when all recourse against other property is waived in the complaint, but which provides that no counsel fee shall be recovered, unless the claim is presented to the administrator.[73]

3. Relief Against Judgment — a. Opening and Vacating. A judgment against a personal representative, whether taken by default[74] or otherwise,[75] may be opened or vacated when proper grounds for relief exist.[76] Thus a judgment procured through the fraud or collusion of an executor or administrator will not be allowed to stand against the objection of a party in interest.[77]

b. Equitable Relief. In cases where no remedy at law exists,[78] a court of equity may, upon sufficient grounds being shown,[79] grant relief, by way of injunction or otherwise,[80] against the enforcement of a judgment at law against an executor or administrator, upon suit being brought in seasonable time for such relief,[81]

73. Sonoma County Bank v. Charles, 86 Cal. 322, 24 Pac. 1019.

74. Philips v. Hawley, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 129 (holding that a regular judgment against an administrator by default will be set aside on payment of costs to let the administrator plead so as to prevent his being made liable de bonis propriis through the ignorance or negligence of his attorney, although more than a term has elapsed since defendant first knew of the default); Nitchie v. Smith, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 286 (holding that, where a judgment by default is regularly obtained against an administratrix, she may be allowed to come in and plead, but that the judgment ought to stand as security for the assets in her hands beyond the amount of other judgments). See also Alexander v. West, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 177, 1 Cranch C. C. 88, holding that an office judgment may be set aside after the first term on the term of "never executrix."

75. Hays v. Spann, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 494 (where, after a decree entered on summary process on demurrer, the district court on the same day rescinded the decree and gave defendant leave to withdraw his plea on payment of costs and to plead de novo upon cause shown, he being an administrator, and sued as such, and it appearing that he had not pleaded amiss for delay, and that he had a just defense); Todd v. Caldwell, 10 Tex. 236 (holding, under a statute giving the probate court power to decree performance of the land contracts of decedents, but providing that such decree may be set aside in the district court on petition of any person having an interest therein within two years for good cause shown, that such a decree obtained with the consent of the administrator will be set aside by the district court upon a showing by decedent's widow that her husband had repudiated the contract upon the drafts given for the price being protested for non-payment, and that the vendee was insolvent, and that the land has since materially advanced in value).

76. Tremper v. Wright, 2 Cai. (N. Y.) 101 (holding that where an administrator by his plea admits assets, on which there is a regular judgment entered, it will not be set aside on pleading a judgment confessed in favor of another plaintiff in another court after plea in the case at bar); Mitchell v. Albright, 10 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 301, 20 Cinc. L. Bul. 101 (holding that where one ineligible to be appointed administratrix has received letters and entered on her duties, a judgment rendered against her as administratrix will not be vacated on her motion because she had not given the bond required by law); Caldwell v. Micheau, 1 Speers (S. C.) 276 (where defendant in the previous recovery had neglected to plead plene administravit, and a motion to open the judgment and for leave to file the plea on an affidavit of instructions to the attorney in the former suit was refused in the trial of the action of devastavit on that judgment); Walter v. Radcliffe, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 577 (holding that an executor is not bound to plead the statute of limitations to a debt which he considers justly due, and the court will not set aside the judgment, in such case, to allow devisees to insist upon the statute).

77. Hoboken First Baptist Church v. Syms, 52 N. J. Eq. 545, 31 Atl. 717 [reversing 51 N. J. Eq. 363, 28 Atl. 461]; Nagle v. Groff, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 366, 2 Pa. L. J. 363, holding that a judgment against an executor on a sealed note of testator more than twenty years old will be opened, on the application of creditors of testator, on a petition alleging fraud and collusion between the judgment creditor and the executor, without requiring the parties to stipulate not to take advantage of the lapse of time, although an executor is not bound to plead limitations on the request of creditors. See, however, Cadwallader v. Cadwallader, 26 Mo. 76, holding that, while an administrator in defending an action of foreclosure should demand the fullest proof, his failure to do so will not raise a presumption of fraud.

78. Roche v. Washington, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 142, holding that, if a judgment against an executor or administrator is absolutely void, ample relief may be obtained in a court of law, and therefore equity will not interpose to grant relief against it.

79. See cases cited infra, note 83 et seq.

80. See cases cited infra, note 81 et seq.

81. Hamilton v. Newman, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 557; Caliaway v. Alexander, 8 Leigh by a party in interest.[82] It is sufficient ground for the intervention of a court of equity that the judgment defendant had no legal defense to the action at law,[83] or that, having a legal defense, he was unable for sufficient reason to present it,[84] as where he was afforded no opportunity to prove it.[85] However, equity will not as a rule lend its aid to secure the benefit of a defense available at law which the administrator neglected to interpose;[86] and a defendant is not justified in failing to present his defense at law simply because plaintiff verbally assures him that he will not be held responsible according to the terms of the judgment prayed for.[87] So in a proper case an executor or administrator may be relieved in equity from personal liability under a judgment at law, as where there are no assets or there is a deficiency of assets.[88] So in a proper case equitable relief may be granted

(Va.) 114, 31 Am. Dec. 640, where complainant was held guilty of laches.

82. Washington v. Barnes, 41 Ga. 307, holding that a bill will lie by a surety of an administrator to declare void a judgment illegally rendered against the latter and to enjoin further proceedings thereon. However, equity will not restrain collection of a judgment against an administrator at the suit of an heir because a release of the claim on which the judgment was recovered had been executed to the intestate in his lifetime, no excuse being shown why it was not interposed as a defense at law, and no fraud or collusion on the part of the administrator being alleged. Gold v. Bailey, 44 Ill. 491, 92 Am. Dec. 190.

83. Lyon v. Howard, 16 Ga. 481, holding that one holding funds belonging to an estate, but having an equitable claim against it of which he cannot avail himself as a defense in an action at law by the administrator to recover the funds, may, on a recovery against him, where the legatees are residents of different states, maintain a bill in equity, joining the administrator and legatees, to restrain the enforcement of the judgment until an accounting is had between himself and the legatees.

84. Pendleton v. Stuart, 6 Munf. (Va.) 377; Pickett v. Stewart, 1 Rand. (Va.) 478. See Wilson v. Bastable, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,788, 1 Cranch C. C. 304.

85. Smith v. Nelson, 6 Ala. 320, where an administrator employed counsel who appeared in the suit at law, and subsequently the case was taken up out of its order without notice and judgment rendered, and it was held that equity might enjoin the judgment. See also Pickett v. Stewart, 1 Rand. (Va.) 478.

86. Gold v. Bailey, 44 Ill. 491, 92 Am. Dec. 190. And see Walker v. Tyson, 52 Ala. 593. See, however, Hendricks v. Mitchell, 37 Ga. 230.

87. Weakley v. Gurley, 60 Ala. 399 (holding that an administrator, having allowed judgments at law to be rendered against him, cannot obtain equitable relief against them on an averment that they were rendered on an agreement that no effort was to be made to charge him personally, or to charge the sureties upon his bond with the amount of such judgments); Wilson v. Randall, 37 Ala. 74, 76 Am. Dec. 347 (holding that an administrator is not entitled to equitable relief from a decree for the payment of a legacy because he had a claim in set-off against the legatee which he forbore to make in the probate court on account of repeated assurances by the legatee that he would do what was right in the matter).

88. Gause v. Walker, 55 Ga. 129 (holding that, although a judgment de bonis testatoris is conclusive of assets against an executor in a court of law, yet in a proper case a court of equity will grant relief against a suit to make the executor individually liable thereon); Hendricks v. Mitchell, 37 Ga. 230 (holding that where an executor, while suits were pending against the estate, neglected to file any of the usual pleas for avoiding personal liability, because the estate was then solvent, but the property was afterward made valueless while in his hands through the effects of the war without negligence on his part, he is entitled to relief in equity from personal liability); Mosier v. Zimmerman, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 62 (holding that by statute an administrator may, at any time before his personal liability is fixed by a judgment against him, individually enjoin all judgments against him as administrator, and have a pro rata distribution of the assets of the estate, if it be insolvent); Pendleton v. Stuart, 6 Munf. (Va.) 377 (holding that administrators will be relieved in equity against a judgment at law recovered on a debt, and a subsequent judgment against them personally in an action suggesting a devastavit, where the bill alleges that complainants never had any assets out of which they could properly pay the debt, and that the existence of several chancery suits prevented their pleading fully administered); Pickett v. Stewart, 1 Rand. (Va.) 478 (holding that equity will afford relief against a personal judgment against an administrator on a charge of a devastavit, where it was rendered in the absence of his counsel, and the condition of the estate was so complicated as to make it nearly impracticable for the administrator to plead at law in relation to the assets); Royall v. Johnson, 1 Rand. (Va.) 421 (holding that an executor will be relieved in equity against judgments at law on the ground that assets which came to his hands sufficient to pay all the debts of the estate have since been recovered of him by a paramount title).

Equitable relief denied see the following cases:

Georgia.— Page v. Haines, 56 Ga. 263 against a judgment at law in favor of an executor or administrator.[89] In a proper case a bill will lie to review a decree in equity against a personal representative.[90]

4. Operation and Effect — a. Persons[91] and Property[92] Bound. A judgment rendered against an executor or administrator in his representative capacity does not as a rule bind him personally,[93] but only the estate of the decedent is bound (holding that an administrator is not entitled to relief in equity against a judgment at law because he did not know that the assets were insufficient or that a judgment was evidence of assets); Bostwick v. Perkins, 1 Ga. 136 (holding that after a judgment de bonis testatoris has been recovered at law against an administrator by default, and, on the return of nulla bona on an execution issued thereon, judgment is rendered against him by default de bonis propriis, equity will not relieve him).

Oregon.— Brenner v. Alexander, 16 Oreg. 349, 19 Pac. 9, 8 Am. St. Rep. 301, holding that where an executor, on a miscalculation of assets in his hands, confesses judgment against himself for a debt of testator, in a suit in which it is alleged that he has assets sufficient to pay the claims, he will not be relieved in equity against the judgment, upon a showing that the assets are insufficient to satisfy it, under Code, § 1135, providing that where the complaint alleges or the executor admits assets in his hands, the judgment may be enforced against him.

Tennessee.— Hamilton v. Newman, 10 Humphr. 557, holding that an administrator cannot, six years after administration granted, protect himself against judgments issued against him as administrator by a suggestion of the insolvency of the estate and praying an injunction on the ground of having exhausted the assets.

United States.— Wilson v. Bastable, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,788, 1 Cranch C. C. 304, holding that equity will not relieve against a judgment at law upon plene administravit on the ground that defendant at law could not produce vouchers to support his plea, unless the bill alleges fraud, mistake, surprise, or accident; and that a general allegation of difficulty in procuring vouchers, or of unavoidable delay in settling an administration account, without stating from what circumstances that difficulty and delay arose, is not sufficient ground to enjoin the judgment.

England.— Vincent v. Godson, 3 De G. & S. 717.

Canada.— Doner v. Ross, 19 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 229.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1898.

Perpetual injunction.— A decree enjoining a judgment at law against an administrator because of a deficiency of assets should not be made perpetual, but only until assets shall come into his hands, reserving to the creditors to show the assets by scire facias at law. Haydon v. Goode, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 460.

Burden of proof on motion to dissolve injunction.— Where an administrator enjoins a judgment against him as such, on the ground that he is a creditor of the estate, he must, on motion to dissolve the injunction, be prepared to show from his accounts that he is a creditor. Deloney v. Hutcheson, 2 Rand. (Va.) 183.

89. Link v. Link, 48 Mo. App. 345, holding that a petition against an administrator to set aside a judgment obtained by him against the estate alleging that plaintiffs were coheirs with defendant and that he procured the judgment upon a false and fraudulent account, concealing from plaintiffs all knowledge thereof until two and one half years after the rendition of the judgment, sufficiently alleges the facts constituting the fraud.

Equitable relief denied see Walker v. Tyson, 52 Ala. 593 (holding that the fact that an administrator to whom a note was due knew or connived at the purpose of the principal not to defend the suit, with the view that the surety, who depended on the principal to make defense, would thereby be misled and fail to appear, is not such an excuse for the failure to defend at law as will enable the surety to come into equity to enjoin the judgment); Fowler v. Williams, 20 Ark. 641 (holding that where one against whom a decree has been rendered in favor of an administrator for money due intestate is notified by the proper representatives that the administrator has ceased to be such and has no right to collect the money, his proper course, if he has good ground to believe that it would be unsafe to pay it over to the judgment plaintiff, is to file a bill in the nature of a bill of interpleader and bring the money into court, and that he is not entitled to enjoin the judgment).

90. Head v. Perry, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 253 (holding, however, that distributees cannot have a revision of a decree against an administrator, where there is no circumstance showing that he was guilty of fraud or gross negligence in defending the suit, and where they cannot show that the defense which he failed to make was good); Taylor v. Sewall, 69 Me. 148 (holding, however, that Rev. St. c. 87, §§ 4–6, providing that scire facias, debt, and writ of error will lie either by or against an administrator de bonis non on a judgment for or against his predecessor, do not bring such administrator into privity with his predecessor, and therefore he cannot maintain a bill to review a judgment against his predecessor).

91. See also infra, XIV, O, 4, b, (IV).

92. See also infra, XIV, O, 4, c.

93. Egbert v. State, 4 Ind. 399; Mendenhall v. Robinson, 56 Kan. 633, 44 Pac. 610; Burd v. McGregor, 2 Grant (Pa.) 353; Con-thereby.[94] A judgment confessed by one of two joint administrators is not binding on the other.[95] A judgment against an executor or administrator as such binds the personal property of the estate,[96] but not the realty.[97]

b. Estoppel by Judgment — (i) Merger and Bar of Actions and Defenses. If judgment is rendered for or against an executor or administrator, the cause of action is merged, and no suit can subsequently be brought thereon.[98] So a judgment negativing a right of action precludes the unsuccessful party from subsequently asserting it in a subsequent proceeding between the same parties;[99]

ner v. Burd, 1 Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 17, holding that a judgment against the estate of a decedent does not bind the executor or administrator personally, although he may have omitted to plead. See also Crossan v. Glass, 4 Harr. (Del.) 342. And see supra, XIV, O, 1, e, g. Where, however, judgments are obtained against an executor after service of a writ in another case and before plea, they make him responsible for the assets he had when served with the writ, although such judgments are entered up quando, the executor having sold the property of testator under the statute between the time of the service of the writ and the judgments quando. Littlejohn v. Underhill, 4 N. C. 377. And where a widow possessed of a life-estate in a moiety of the real property of her deceased husband, under authority from the orphans' court to mortgage the real estate of her intestate to raise funds for the payment of debts, procured the loan by executing to the lender a bond and warrant of attorney, upon which judgment was regularly entered, the judgment was held to bind the interest of the widow, although invalid against the rest of the estate. Barger v. Cassidy, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 324. And if a bill for foreclosure makes a certain person defendant as executor and as guardian, and the return of process shows that he was served as executor and guardian, and the bill states that he has an individual interest in the mortgaged land, a decree of foreclosure binds him as well in his individual as in his representative capacity. Cornell v. Green, 43 Fed. 105.

94. Ten Eick v. Dye, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 511, 14 Cinc. L. Bul. 214 (holding that where a judgment is rendered for the payment of money against an individual in a case wherein he has answered, alleging that he holds the funds as administrator, the estate is bound by the judgment equally with defendant in his individual capacity); Jordan v. Polk, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 430 (holding that a judgment against a special administrator appointed solely to enable the court to proceed in the cause binds the estate). See, however, Buckingham v. Owen, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 502 (holding that a judgment recovered against administrators after they have resigned their trust is a nullity, not binding upon the estate or the administrator de bonis non); Bostwick v. Brush, 4 N. Y. St. 100 (holding that the estate is not bound by a judgment in a suit which makes the executor individually a party); Pinney v. Johnson, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 500 (holding that a judgment against administrators on bond and warrant of attorney executed by them does not bind the estate so that it can be taken upon an execution issued thereon); Griffith v. Frazier, 8 Cranch (U. S.) 9, 3 L. ed. 471 (holding that a judgment against one as executor who is not executor does not bind the estate).

95. Heisler v. Knipe, 1 Browne (Pa.) 319.

96. Greenwood v. Spiller, 3 Ill. 502; Packwood v. Elliott, 43 Miss. 504; Langston v. Abney, 43 Miss. 161.

97. Greenwood v. Spiller, 3 Ill. 502; Packwood v. Elliott, 43 Miss. 504; Langston v. Abney, 43 Miss. 161; Baker v. Webb, 2 N. C. 43. See also McDonough v. Cross, 40 Tex. 251 (holding that a sale under a judgment against the administrator of land which has been partitioned among the heirs prior to the suit in which the judgment is rendered is void and passes no title); Thompson v. Cragg, 24 Tex. 582.

98. Brown v. Equitable L. Assur. Soc., 112 Fed. 845. See, however, Drane v. Gunymere, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 496, holding that a proceeding in the probate court of another state against an administratrix to obtain necessary orders for settling the estate, and the issuance of such orders in administration proceedings, under which execution or fieri facias would issue against her in case of her failure to comply, does not merge a prior cause of action in favor of her resident creditor for damages.

99. Connecticut.— Sheldon v. Bradley, 37 Conn. 324.

Kentucky.— Buford v. Pawling, 5 Dana 283.

New York.— Crabb v. Young, 92 N. Y. 56, holding that where an action was brought against an executor by beneficiaries under a will to recover damages for delay in the execution of a trust imposed by the will, judgment merely ordering a sale within a certain time, and suspending one of the executors, but not allowing damages, conclusively established that plaintiff was not entitled to damages, or to the removal of the trustee on the facts existing prior to its rendition.

South Carolina.— Kerr v. Webb, 9 Rich. Eq. 369, so holding as to a compromise judgment.

Vermont.— Probate Ct. v. Rogers, 7 Vt. 198, holding that where the supreme court, on petition of the heirs of an estate, on the ground of fraud, accident, or mistake, orders an appeal from the decision of commissioners and a judgment establishing a right of action precludes defendant therein from subsequently disputing it on any ground of defense that was or might properly have been urged in the action in which it was rendered.[1]

(II) JUDGMENT AS ESTABLISHING PARTICULAR FACTS — (A) General Rule. A judgment in an action by or against an executor or administrator is conclusive, allowing a claim to be entered in the county court, which is accordingly done by the clerk, whereupon claimant files his declaration and proceeds to prosecute his suit from term to term, and finally suffers a nonsuit, he cannot afterward sustain an action against the administrator for the original allowance of the commissioners, although no record of an appeal appears in the probate court.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1900.

The two causes of action must be the same else the judgment is not a bar. Sheldon v. Bradley, 37 Conn. 324 (holding that where a conveyance by deed absolute in form was intended in part to secure a debt and in part to defraud creditors, the property exceeding in value the amount of the debt, and on a bill by the grantor's administrator against the grantee to set aside the conveyance a decree was entered declaring the deed to be valid and vesting the title absolutely in the grantee, it was conclusive as against the grantor's administrator as to the fraudulent character of the instrument, but did not estop him from claiming, in a suit subsequently brought to compel the grantee to account for moneys received from a sale of the premises, that the conveyance was intended as a mortgage); Buford v. Pawling, 5 Dana (Ky.) 283 (holding that where a suit was brought against A as executor and revived against his executors, and judgment was rendered with an entry of an agreement that neither the executors of A nor his estate should in any event be liable on the judgment, it was a bar to a proceeding for a devastavit but not to a bill for a discovery of assets).

Rights subsequently accruing are not barred. Thus where it appears in an action against an administrator that his account has been settled and that there are no assets in his hands, and a judgment is consequently rendered for him, although plaintiff has a valid claim, it does not bar another action if new assets come into his hands. Keith v. Molineux, 160 Mass. 499, 36 N. E. 476. And a decree by an ordinary against an administrator is no bar to a bill founded on the after misconduct of the administrator. Taylor v. Taylor, 2 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 123.

Pleading. — In an action by an executor against an attorney to recover money belonging to the estate, which was received by the attorney and which he claims the right to appropriate in payment for services rendered by him for plaintiff's co-executor, an answer alleging that theretofore, in proceedings before the surrogate to secure an order directing the payment of a sum of money to another attorney, it was represented to the surrogate that defendant attorney had collected and retained the sum sued for, but which does not allege that the surrogate approved the retention or acted on it in any way, is demurrable. Arkenburgh v. Little, 176 N. Y. 551, 68 N. E. 1114 [affirming 49 N. Y. App. Div. 636, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 742].

1. Alabama. — Wright v. Phillips, 56 Ala. 69 (holding that a decree in chancery against an administrator in favor of one of the distributees for his share of a specific fund is conclusive as to any set-off on account of such distributee's appropriation of assets which might have been available to the administrator in defense of that suit, and which was in fact then adjudicated); Dent v. Smith, 15 Ala. 286 (holding that, where an execution was levied on slaves under a judgment against decedent's executor, one who interposed a claim by virtue of a trust executed by decedent during his life could not attack the validity of the judgment, but could only show that the property claimed was not subject to execution).

Arkansas. — Fowler v. Williams 20 Ark. 641.

Florida. — Gilchrist v. Meacham, 3 Fla. 219.

Missouri. — Greenabaum v. Elliott, 60 Mo. 25, holding that where an administrator has recovered and collected a judgment on a note given to the intestate, the maker of the note cannot subsequently sue to recover back the money on the ground that the debt had already been paid to the intestate, his failure to set up such defense in the action by the administrator being a conclusive bar to the subsequent action.

South Carolina. — Trimmier v. Thomson, 19 S. C. 247.

Virginia. — Scott v. Tankersley, 10 Leigh 581, holding that where, on a motion against a sheriff's administrator for the default of the sheriff's deputy, the executor of the deputy was notified to defend the motion, and promised to attend to it, but failed to do so, and judgment by default was rendered, the executor could not, in an action against him by the sheriff's administrator to recover the amount of the judgment, raise the objection that the statute of limitations would have been a defense to the motion.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1900. See also infra, XIV, O, 4, b, (II).

Contradiction of record. — Executors who plead plene administravit in a suit for their testator's debt cannot, when afterward sued individually on the judgment, show that no evidence was taken under the plea, and that the only question controverted at the trial was as to the validity of plaintiff's claim against testator. Trimmier v. Thomson, 19 S. C. 247.

as between the parties, of every matter that was determined in the action in which it was rendered.[2]

(B) Capacity as Executor or Administrator. A judgment for or against an executor or administrator in his representative capacity establishes his character as such.[3]

(C) Existence of Assets. At common law a judgment against an executor or administrator on a debt due from his decedent is a conclusive admission that he has assets on hand sufficient to pay it; and he cannot dispute this fact in a subsequent proceeding between him and the creditor.[4] This rule, however, is subject

2. Indiana.— Eggleston v. Barnes, 12 Ind. 604.

Kentucky.— Norton v. Marksberry, (1897) 5 S. W. 482.

Mississippi.— Parker v. Whiting, 6 How. 352.

South Carolina.— Summers v. Tidmore, 1 McCord 270.

Virginia.— Montague v. Turpin, 8 Gratt. 453.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1903.

However, an adjudication by a surrogate that an administrator was decedent's next of kin, in a contest between him and another as to the grant of letters of administration, is not conclusive on the question of distribution. Caujolle v. Ferrie, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,525, 5 Blatchf. 225, 2 Abb. Pr. N. S. 3 [affirmed in 13 Wall. 465, 20 L. ed. 507].

Judgment quando acciderint.— In an action against an administrator, a judgment quando acciderint is prima facie an adjudication that there are no debts known to the administrator which would take precedence of plaintiff's claim, and that assets subsequently coming into possession of the estate will be prima facie applicable to plaintiff's judgment. Willis v. Tozer, 44 S. C. 1, 21 S. E. 617.

Title.— A default confesses plaintiff's title as administrator, if well alleged. Curtis v. Herrick, 14 Cal. 117, 73 Am. Dec. 632. Where, however, suit was brought by an administrator to recover moneys deposited in a savings bank in the name of defendant as trustee for plaintiff's intestate, and the surrogate passed an order deciding that the administrator by virtue of his office as such was entitled to the custody of the bank-book, this was not an adjudication of his title to the funds. Westervelt v. Westervelt, 46 N. Y. Super. Ct. 298. And a decree against an executor in a suit by heirs to compel him to inventory land to which he claimed title is not a conclusive adjudication of the title thereto in a subsequent suit by the heirs against the executor's heirs, after his death, to recover the property. White v. Shepperd, 16 Tex. 163.

Necessity of actual determination.— Important matters which a decree does not profess on its face to dispose of, and upon which it fails to show any affirmative action by the court, it being apparent from the record that the cause was not in condition to be heard as to those matters, will be presumed not to have been considered or embraced in the decree; and it is therefore not final and conclusive as to these matters. Shegogg v. Perkins, 34 Ark. 117.

3. Fowler v. Williams, 20 Ark. 641; Rogers v. Rogers, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 379; Borer v. Chapman, 119 U. S. 587, 7 S. Ct. 342, 30 L. ed. 532. See also Whitney v. Pinney, 51 Minn. 146, 53 N. W. 198.

A sister state judgment has the same effect. Davis v. Connelly, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 136. Contra, Pierce v. Strickland, 26 Me. 277, holding that a sister state judgment is prima facie evidence that the person suing as administrator had regularly taken out letters of administration in the state in which the judgment was recovered, but is subject to be rebutted by proof.

Decree granting letters of administration. — In an action against an administrator on a debt due from the intestate, a decree granting letters of administration is admissible as evidence that defendant is administrator and bound to pay the debt. Day v. Floyd, 130 Mass. 488.

Order for revival of suit.— An administrator is not obliged to be always ready with proof of his authority, and an order of court permitting him to revive a suit is conclusive proof of his authority. McNair v. Ragland, 16 N. C. 533.

Qualification of administrator see Clark v. Tabor, 22 Vt. 595.

4. Alabama.— Banks v. Speers, 97 Ala. 560, 11 So. 841.

Georgia.— Phipps v. Alford, 95 Ga. 215, 22 S. E. 152; Gibson v. Robinson, 90 Ga. 756, 16 S. E. 969, 35 Am. St. Rep. 250.

Illinois.— Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

Maryland.— Gaither v. Welch, 3 Gill & J. 259; Post v. Mackall, 3 Bland 486; Ellicott v. Welch, 2 Bland 242; Dorsey v. Hammond, 1 Bland 463.

New Jersey.—Southard v. Potts, 22 N. J. L. 278; Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569.

New York.— Matter of Waring, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 29, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 529.

South Carolina.— Caldwell v. Micheau, 1 Speers 276. See also Young v. Kennedy, 2 McMull. 80.

Tennessee.— Simons v. Page, 96 Tenn. 718, 36 S. W. 843.

Virginia.— Eppes v. Smith, 4 Munf. 466.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1903½.

A judgment by confession is conclusive proof that the executor or administrator has assets sufficient to satisfy it. People v.

to some qualifications,[5] and in some states it has been abrogated or modified by statute.[6] A judgment against an executor or administrator in favor of legatees or heirs may also be conclusive of the existence of assets in his hands.[7] So if an administrator sues as such on his own possession, the judgment affords evidence

Erie County, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 445; Griffith v. Chew, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 17, 11 Am. Dec. 556. See also Lockyer v. De Hart, 6 N. J. L. 450, holding that a cognovit actionem by an executor is an admission of assets. See, however, Ruggles v. Sherman, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 446; Hussey v. White, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 346.

A judgment by default is an admission of assets to the extent charged in the complaint (Garrow v. Emanuel, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 285; Walker v. Kendall, Hard. (Ky.) 404; Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569; Platt v. Swartwout, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 276, 1 Am. Dec. 110; Brown v. McKee, 108 N. C. 387, 13 S. E. 8; Mosier v. Zimmerman, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 62; Dickson v. Wilkinson, 3 How. (U. S.) 57, 11 L. ed. 491. Contra, Chouteau v. Hooe, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 663), in the absence of statute to the contrary (Loftus v. Locker, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 297; Brown v. McKee, supra). See also Nicholas v. Jones, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 385 (holding that the failure of an executor to answer a bill for the discovery of assets is an implied admission of assets); Mason v. Peter, 1 Munf. (Va.) 437 (holding that a judgment by default against an executor is prima facie an admission of assets).

Sister state judgment.—In an action against executors on a judgment against an administrator de bonis non of another state, the former judgment is sufficient proof of assets authorizing the entry of a judgment de bonis propriis. —— v. Person, 3 N. C. 301.

5. Vick v. House, 2 How. (Miss.) 617 (holding that a decree of a court of equity that complainant recover a sum certain of an administrator and have execution of the goods and of the estate of the intestate in his hands to be administered, etc., is not alone sufficient evidence to establish a devastavit); Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569 (holding that a judgment against an executor or administrator by default on demurrer, or on any plea except one denying assets, does not preclude the executor or administrator from traversing an allegation, in an action on the judgment, that he has eloigned and wasted the assets of decedent); Moore v. Kerr, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 348 (holding that if judgment is entered against an executor de bonis non, execution to be levied of the lands of testator for a certain sum, it is to be considered as a judgment de terris, and is not evidence of devastavit against the executor, on a return of nulla bona and devastavit, where a levy has been made on lands and part payment received); Caldwell v. Micheau, 1 Speers (S. C.) 276 (holding that a matter arising subsequent to the former discovery, showing a destruction of the assets or a removal of them from the hands of the executor or administrator without his fault, may be set up); Lenoir v. Winn, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 65, 6 Am. Dec. 597 (holding that it seems that judgment against an administrator is conclusive evidence of assets only when rendered upon a simple contract debt, where there are also specialty debts).

Declaration not alleging assets.— Where an administrator suffers judgment to be rendered against him in an action wherein the declaration does not charge him with having received estate sufficient to pay the debt sued for, he does not thereby make such an admission of assets as will charge him personally. Senescal v. Bolton, 7 N. M. 351, 34 Pac. 446; Sinclair v. Wilson, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 167.

A scire facias against an executor of a defendant before final judgment is merely to make the executor a party to the record; and, although the judgment be against the executor, it is not a judgment fixing him with assets, but a second scire facias is necessary for that purpose, to which the executor may plead a want of assets or make any other defense which he might have made if sued on a judgment against his testator. Borden v. Thorpe, 35 N. C. 298.

6. Alabama.— Quigley v. Campbell, 5 Ala. 76, 12 Ala. 58, holding that a judgment obtained against a plaintiff administrator under the statute of set-off is no evidence of assets.

Illinois.— Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

Kentucky.— Loftus v. Locker, 1 J. J. Marsh. 297.

Mississippi.— Dobbins v. Halfacre, 52 Miss. 561; Howard v. Cousins, 7 How. 114, holding that a judgment against an administrator, and proof that assets came to his hands, are only prima facie evidence to charge the administrator, which he may rebut by showing that he has no assets in his hands unadministered, although he has not reported the estate insolvent.

North Carolina.— Brown v. McKee, 108 N. C. 387, 13 S. E. 8.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1903½.

7. Schnader v. Bitzer, 9 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 37 (holding that where in a suit for a legacy plene administravit is not pleaded, and the verdict and judgment are general, there is a conclusive admission of assets; and upon such a judgment the sheriff may, if there be no goods of testator shown by defendant, return a devastavit); Harmon v. Bynum, 40 Tex. 324 (holding that where an administrator has neither objected to nor appealed from a final judgment against him in favor of minor heirs, he cannot at a subsequent term of court be heard to say that he could not pay the judgment).

against him of assets.[8] A creditor of an estate may be estopped by a judgment to assert the existence of assets.[9]

(D) Indebtedness of Estate. A judgment against an executor or administrator as such establishes the amount and validity of the demand in suit, and it cannot be collaterally attacked on any ground that might have been urged in the suit in which it was rendered.[10]

(III) Requisites of Judgment. To work an estoppel a judgment in favor of or against an executor or administrator must be valid.[11] It is also necessary

8. Berry v. Pulliam, 2 N. C. 16.

9. Wilson v. Leigh, 39 N. C. 97; Dupuy v. Southgates, 11 Leigh (Va.) 92, holding that a creditor, by accepting a confession of judgment quando from the administrator, is estopped from afterward alleging that the administrator, at the time of confessing judgment, had assets applicable to the demand. See, however, Lash v. Hauser, 37 N. C. 489.

10. California.— Chase v. Swain, 9 Cal. 130, so holding as to a default judgment.

Colorado.— Green v. Taney, 16 Colo. 398, 27 Pac. 249.

Illinois.— Darling v. McDonald, 101 Ill. 370 (holding that a judgment of a circuit court against executors, requiring the claim to be paid in due course of administration, is binding on the county court to which it is certified by order of the circuit court; and that the judgment of the latter court may also direct the classification of the claim); Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

Indiana.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Harshman, 21 Ind. App. 23, 51 N. E. 343.

Maine.— Nowell v. Bragdon, 14 Me. 320, holding that a judgment against the goods and estate of a deceased intestate in the hands of his administrator is conclusive evidence that he was indebted.

New York.—In re Thompson, 41 Barb. 237; Leroy v. Bayard, 3 Bradf. Surr. 228, holding that a judgment against administrators on a debt due from the estate establishes the claim as a valid debt, which entitles it to be paid in due course of administration, if there are assets from which to pay it.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Bell, 91 N. C. 495; Wall v. Fairley, 73 N. C. 464; Dunn v. Barnes, 73 N. C. 273.

Pennsylvania.— Steele v. Lineberger, 59 Pa. St. 308; Walthaur v. Gossar, 32 Pa. St. 259.

United States.— See U. S. Bank v. Williams, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 942, 3 Cranch C. C. 240, holding that in an action against an administrator for money received by his intestate, the report of an auditor appointed under Md. Acts (1785), c. 80, § 12, is prima facie evidence of the amount due on the principles and evidence stated in the report; and if approved by the court so much of the report may be read to the jury as shows a balance so stated, although before the jury are sworn defendant excepts to the evidence admitted by the auditor.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1903.

Defense of limitations.—A judgment against an executor or administrator on a debt of decedent cannot, in a proceeding to collect it, be attacked because the debt was barred by limitations, since that defense might have been interposed in the former action. Thayer v. Hollis, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 369; Posthlewaite v. Ghiselin, 97 Mo. 420, 10 S. W. 482; Leroy v. Bayard, 3 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 228; West v. Smith, 8 How. (U. S.) 402, 12 L. ed. 1130.

11. Alabama.— Pickens v. Yarborough, 30 Ala. 408, fraud.

Maine.— Nowell v. Bragdon, 14 Me. 320, fraud.

Massachusetts.— Coffin v. Cottle, 9 Pick. 287.

North Carolina.— Thompson v. Badham, 70 N. C. 141; Wilson v. Leigh, 39 N. C. 97 (both being cases of fraud); Smith v. Downey, 38 N. C. 268 (holding that where an administrator suffered judgment to be recovered against him as administrator without opposition, upon a claim of which he was himself the beneficial owner, the judgment was no proof of the debt).

Tennessee.— Simons v. Page, 96 Tenn. 718, 36 S. W. 843, fraud or accident.

Texas.— Parker v. Cater, 8 Tex. 318, fraud.

United States.— West v. Smith, 8 How. 402, 12 L. ed. 1130, fraud.

Ignorance of defense.— An administrator is not relieved from personal liability on a judgment de bonis testatoris, rendered against him for his failure to plead a want of assets, by the fact that he did not know the real condition of the estate, when by the exercise of due diligence he might have known it. Whiddon v. Williams, 98 Ga. 310, 24 S. E. 437. However, the acceptance of a judgment quando acciderint against an administrator will not estop plaintiff from afterward suing the administrator for the amount of such judgment on the ground that the administrator applied all the assets of his intestate's estate to the payment of a judgment fraudulently confessed by intestate in his favor, where plaintiff did not know of the fraud when he accepted his judgment. Spoon v. Smith, 36 S. C. 588, 15 S. E. 800.

Insufficiency of proof.— The court having jurisdiction, a judgment rendered against a succession is not an absolute nullity, whether sufficient proof was adduced or not. Vaughn's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 149.

Non-approval of decree annulling sale.— In a suit by an administrator to enforce a vendor's lien, brought in a district court, a decree rendered by consent annulling the sale is not void by reason of not having been that the judgment should be final,[12] and the decision must as a rule have been made on the merits.[13]

(iv) Persons Estopped and Entitled to Urge Estoppel[14]—(a) In General. As in the case of judgments generally,[15] a judgment concerning a decedent's estate works an estoppel between the parties to the suit and their privies,[16] and only between them; strangers to the former litigation who are not in privity with a party thereto are not concluded by the judgment.[17] The estoppel may be urged, on like principle, by the parties to the judgment and their privies,[18] and by them only; strangers not in privity may not take advanapproved by the probate court having jurisdiction of the estate. Titus v. Johnson, 50 Tex. 224.

Right to question validity.— Although a decree pro confesso against an administrator is not an admission by him of the averments of the bill, yet he cannot complain that no proof was taken to establish complainant's case, where he is merely a nominal party to the action, and no relief is asked or granted against him, and decrees pro confesso are regularly entered against all the other defendants. Thornton v. Neal, 49 Ala. 590.

12. Green v. Stone, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 405 (holding that a judgment which has been reversed works no estoppel); Chaplin v. Jenkins, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 96 (holding that where the litigation was for the adjustment of the claims of different legatees, and there was no default on the part of the executors, a decree adjusting those claims, but making no order as to costs, is not such a final decree fixing the executors with costs as may be opened only by petition for rehearing or by bill of review, but the costs may afterward be adjusted under an order of court on a rule taken for that purpose).

13. Robbins v. Wells, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 666, holding that a judgment dismissing a supplemental complaint filed by the representative of a plaintiff who has died since the filing of the original complaint, given solely upon the ground that such representative has no legal capacity to sue, is not a bar to further proceedings by the proper representatives. See also Emmett v. Stedman, 3 N. C. 15, holding that where a judgment is erroneously entered against executors in an action wherein they pleaded non assumpsit and plene administravit, and the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff on the first plea but did not make any finding under the second, the executors may, on the issuance of a scire facias, again enter the plea of plene administravit; but to sustain such plea they must show a full administration and no assets at the time of the commencement of the original action.

14. See also supra, XIV, O, 4, a.

15. See, generally, JUDGMENTS.

16. Fraser v. Charleston, 19 S. C. 384; Cope v. McFarland, 2 Head (Tenn.) 543. And see cases cited supra, notes 98–13, and infra, notes 17–33, passim.

Persons liable over.— Plaintiff as administrator delivered the assets of the estate to defendant in consideration of a promise to pay all claims arising against plaintiff as administrator. Afterward, on a claim being made against plaintiff, defendant was notified and promised to take care of it if sued, and, suit being brought against plaintiff, defendant neglected to attend to it, and a judgment was obtained against plaintiff, which he was compelled to pay. The claim was one which the estate was bound to pay and defendant had recognized it by promising to pay it. It was held that in a suit by plaintiff to recover the amount paid on the judgment, defendant was precluded from objecting that the claim on which the judgment was obtained was not against plaintiff as administrator. Randall v. Kelsey, 46 Vt. 158.

17. Gibson v. Robinson, 90 Ga. 756, 16 S. E. 969, 35 Am. St. Rep. 250 (holding that where an administrator is sued on a debt of his intestate, and fails to plead a want of assets, a judgment against him in such suit is, as to a surety on his bond, merely prima facie evidence of a sufficiency of assets); Tarbell v. Jewett, 129 Mass. 457 (holding that a tenant of property in suit was not bound by the judgment); Soles v. Hickman, 29 Pa. St. 342, 72 Am. Dec. 635 (where a purchaser from a devisee was held not bound by a judgment against the executor); Talbot v. Shrewsbury, L. R. 14 Eq. 503, 20 Wkly. Rep. 854.

Creditors.— A judgment against an executor or administrator is conclusive on creditors of the estate. Pickens v. Yarborough, 30 Ala. 408; Blankenbaker v. Bank of Commerce, 85 Ind. 459; Parker v. Cater, 8 Tex. 318. See, however, Troy Bank v. Topping, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 557.

Donees of decedent.— A judgment against an executor or administrator is not conclusive against the donees of decedent. Richards v. Porter, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 1; Dozier v. Dozier, 21 N. C. 96.

Receiptor.— Where the administrator of a decedent who died during the pendency of the suit, after representing the estate as insolvent, has appeared in the suit as representative of the deceased party and submitted to a general default without suggesting the insolvency or praying for the stay of execution, the judgment awarded against the estate of the intestate in the hands of the administrator cannot be impeached in an action against a receiptor upon a receipt for goods of the original defendant attached on mesne process. Thompson v. Dyer, 55 Me. 99.

18. Hunt v. Payne, 29 Vt. 172, 70 Am. Dec. 402, holding that a judgment in favor of an executor in ejectment against devisees tage of it.[19] A judgment against a party in one right or capacity does not estop him when suing in another right or capacity.[20]

(B) Executors and Administrators.[21] A judgment for or against an executor is not conclusive on a subsequent administrator de bonis non.[22] A judgment against an administrator is not conclusive on a preceding administrator.[23] A judgment against an administrator de bonis non is not conclusive on the personal representative of the administrator in chief.[24] A judgment against collectors of an estate appointed pending proceedings to set aside a will is not conclusive on the executors.[25] A judgment against heirs[26] or distributees[27] is not binding on the executor or administrator. However, a recovery in trover against an administrator in favor of one claiming under a deed of a distributee is binding on the distributee's executor.[28] is conclusive evidence in favor of an administrator de bonis non appointed to succeed the executor, in an action to recover the same premises.

(C) Heirs and Devisees, Distributees, and Legatees.[29] Ordinarily a judgment against an executor or administrator is not conclusive on heirs,[30] devi-

19. Buford v. McKee, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 224 (holding that an unsuccessful effort by a creditor to obtain satisfaction out of personal estate in an action at law against an executor alone is no bar to a proceeding in equity against land in the hands of the heirs of a devisee); Wynn v. Wynn, 8 Leigh (Va.) 264 (holding that where the probate court appoints a person to collect and preserve an estate until administration is granted, who as such personally cannot properly be sued on a bond of the decedent, a judgment against him in such a suit is no bar to a new action against the administrator on such bond).

20. Hoopes' Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 67, holding that the fact that a husband, in an action against him by his wife's executor for moneys received by him for her, in which judgment was recovered for plaintiff, did not set off his wife's funeral expenses, which had been paid by him pursuant to a direction in her will, does not prevent his recovering the expenses from her estate, as the claim in that action and the husband's claim to be recouped such expenses were not due in the same right. See also Talbot v. Shrewsbury, L. R. 14 Eq. 503, 20 Wkly. Rep. 854.

21. See also supra, XIV, O, 4, b, (IV), (A).

22. Graves v. Flowers, 51 Ala. 402, 23 Am. Rep. 555; Grout v. Chamberlin, 4 Mass. 611, 613.

Under N. C. Rev. Code, c. 46, § 43, letting no action to which an executor or administrator is plaintiff or defendant abate by his death, a judgment against him is conclusive in a renewal action against the administrator de bonis non. Thompson v. Badham, 70 N. C. 141.

23. McLaughlin v. Nelms, 9 Ala. 925.

24. Thomas v. Sterns, 33 Ala. 137; Anderson v. Irvine, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 488.

25. Brick v. Brick, 2 MacArthur (D. C.) 256.

26. Warren v. Hall, 10 La. 377.

27. Johnson v. Longmire, 39 Ala. 143.

28. Kerr v. Webb, 9 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 369.

29. See also supra, XIV, O, 4, b, (IV), (A).

30. Alabama.— Steele v. Steele, 64 Ala. 438, 38 Am. Rep. 15; Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174, holding also that where judgment is rendered against an administrator after expiry of limitations, and the creditor does not show that the action was commenced before the limitation expired, no presumption will be indulged as to that time to prevent the bar, in an action against the heir.

California.— Luco v. Commercial Bank, 70 Cal. 339, 11 Pac. 650, holding that if there is a vacancy in the office of executor of a deceased person at the time an action is brought, and judgment is rendered therein against the estate, the heirs are not bound thereby. See, however, Cunningham v. Ashley, 45 Cal. 485, holding that an administrator who is a party to an action involving the title of his intestate represents the title which the deceased had at his death, and judgment against him binds the heirs.

District of Columbia.— Groot v. Hitz, 3 Mackey 247.

Kentucky.— Quinn v. Stockton, 2 Litt. 343, holding, however, that a judgment obtained by one administrator against another, touching the estate of the intestate, if allowed in the county court, must be taken as prima facie evidence in the court of appeals, and if not impeached must be allowed.

North Carolina.— Carrier v. Hampton, 33 N. C. 307.

Pennsylvania.— Colwell v. Rockwell, 100 Pa. St. 133 (holding that in scire facias against heirs and devisees to continue the lien of a judgment entered against an executor within five years of decedent's death, defendants may contest the debt but not the lien); Steele v. Lineberger, 59 Pa. St. 308; Walthaur v. Gossar, 32 Pa. St. 259; Benner v. Phillips, 9 Watts & S. 13; Murphy's Appeal, 8 Watts & S. 165.

South Carolina.— Gilliland v. Caldwell, 1 S. C. 194.

United States.— Deneale v. Archer, 8 Pet. 528, 8 L. ed. 1033.

See, however, D'Aunoy's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 36 (holding that the claim of a creditor of the succession, after having been established by judgment obtained against the executor, cannot thereafter be collaterally at-sees,[31] or legatees[32] who were not made parties to the suit. Nor is a judgment in favor of an administrator conclusive on the distributees.[33]

c. Lien.[34] In the absence of statute to the contrary,[35] a judgment against an executor or administrator is not a lien either on the lands of the estate[36] or on those belonging to the representative individually.[37] In some states the judgment tacked in a suit by heirs, but must be classified as a liquidated debt of the succession); Biggerstaff v. Loveland, 8 Ohio 44 (holding that under the law authorizing proceedings by scire facias on a mortgage to enforce payment of the mortgage debt against the lands of a deceased mortgagor, a judgment against the personal representative is binding on the heirs); Owen v. Shaw, 20 Tex. 81 (holding that a decree for specific performance against one sued as the administrator and guardian of the sole heir, ordering a conveyance "as guardian," binds the heir; the fact that he was administrator being admitted, but the guardianship being neither proved, admitted, nor denied).

31. Saunders v. Saunders, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 314; Colwell v. Rockwell, 100 Pa. St. 133; Steele v. Lineberger, 59 Pa. St. 308; Walthaur v. Gossar, 32 Pa. St. 259; Benner v. Phillips, 9 Watts & S. (Pa.) 13; Murphy's Appeal, 8 Watts & S. (Pa.) 165; Screven v. Joyner, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 252, 26 Am. Dec. 199; Harvey v. Wilde, L. R. 14 Eq. 438, 41 L. J. Ch. 698, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471; Willson v. Leonard, 3 Beav. 373, 43 Eng. Ch. 373, 49 Eng. Reprint 146; Marten v. Whichelo, Cr. & Ph. 257, 10 L. J. Ch. 384, 18 Eng. Ch. 257, 41 Eng. Reprint 488. See, however, Wilkinson v. Tuggle, 61 Ga. 381 (holding that where a purchaser of land from an executor sued him to quiet the title, and the executor admitted a valid sale by him, and a decree was entered accordingly, the decree was binding upon the devisees in remainder, being the executor's children and testator's grandchildren); Howard v. Johnson, 69 Tex. 655, 7 S. W. 522 (holding that where an executor, one year before the limitation expired, indorsed, as payable in due course of administration, a mortgage note executed by his testator, and two years thereafter the creditor foreclosed the mortgage, the judgment of foreclosure is not impeachable, in an action for the mortgaged premises by a devisee, on the ground that the suit was brought after the note was outlawed).

32. Lamb v. Gatlin, 22 N. C. 37 (holding that a decree by consent against an executor is not conclusive in his favor as against a residuary legatee on a settlement of the estate); Redmond v. Coffin, 17 N. C. 437 (holding that upon the delivery of a legacy to the legatee the privity between the executor and legatee ceases; and judgment in a suit subsequently commenced against the executor does not bind the legatee); Mathews v. Springer, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,277, 2 Abb. 283.

However, a decree against the executor of an executor is prima facie evidence to charge the legatee of the first testator. McMullin v. Brown, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 457. See also Fraser v. Charleston, 19 S. C. 384 (holding that judgments obtained by innocent creditors against an executor on notes purporting to bear testator's signature but which had been forged by the executor in testator's lifetime, are conclusive on the executor and on the legatees as his privies); Colt v. Colt, 111 U. S. 566, 4 S. Ct. 553, 28 L. ed. 520 (holding that executors who are also made by the will trustees for infant legatees of their legacies, so long as they hold the personal property as part of the estate of testator for the payment of debts or legacies or as a residuum to be distributed, hold it by virtue of their office and are accountable for it as executors; and where they, being made defendants as executors to a suit to determine the interests of distributees in the residuum in their hands, appear as such, and the infants are also represented by guardian, the judgment therein is conclusive on the beneficial interest of the infants, as against the objection that the executors were not before the court in their capacity as trustees).

33. Gwynn v. Hamilton, 29 Ala. 233.

34. See also supra, XIV, O, 4, a.

Amendment of judgment as to lien see supra, XIV, O, 2, b.

35. See cases cited infra, note 39.

Statutes limiting and regulating the liens of judgments in general are not applicable to such as are obtained against the representatives of deceased debtors. Payne v. Craft, 7 Watts & S. (Pa.) 458.

36. Treadwell v. Herrdon, 41 Miss. 38; Lowry v. Houston, 3 How. (Miss.) 394; Scott v. Whitehill, 1 Mo. 764 (holding that a judgment against an administrator is no lien on the lands of the intestate, although the judgment be de bonis testatoris); Cook v. Ryan, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 249 (holding that a judgment recovered against executors as such is not a lien on land conveyed to them as executors); Wambaugh v. Gates, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 505; Custer v. Custer, 17 W. Va. 113.

Equitable lien.— Judgment was recovered against executors on an indebtedness owing by testator in his lifetime, and upon this judgment another judgment was recovered against a receiver of the estate appointed after the removal of the executors. There was no personal estate out of which the latter judgment could be paid. It was held that such judgment was an equitable lien on testator's real estate, to the proceeds of which the creditor was entitled, although the judgment itself might not, under the statutes, have become a lien on the real estate. Platt v. Platt, 42 Hun (N. Y.) 592.

37. Williams v. Green, 80 N. C. 76; McCulloch v. Sample, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 422 is a lien on the assets in the hands of the personal representative.[38] In cases where a lien is allowed, proceedings to establish or enforce it must be seasonably commenced.[39] Where an administrator having a judgment as such records a certificate of lien, the fact that the certificate is signed not only by him but also by those beneficially interested in the judgment does not invalidate it.[40]

5. Satisfaction and Set-Off. Satisfaction of a judgment in favor of a distributee against one to whom the administrator has wrongfully paid the distributee's share has the effect of extinguishing the administrator's liability to the distributee.[41] A judgment against an executor or administrator may in a proper case be set off against a judgment in his favor;[42] and a judgment in favor of an

(holding that where executors sold the real estate of their testator by virtue of authority in the will for the payment of certain legacies, and on settlement of their account in the orphans' court it appeared there were assets to pay the legacies, a judgment obtained by the legatees against the executors did not constitute a lien on the real estate of the executors, and that judgments obtained by legatees who have filed refunding bonds against executors who have accounted and been discharged by the orphans' court are not liens on the real estate of such executors); Gay v. Skeen, 36 W. Va. 582, 15 S. E. 64 (holding that a conditional decree directing an executor to pay certain debts due by his testator's estate or due from him in his fiduciary capacity, when he shall have collected certain other specified claims or debts coming to his testator's estate, constitutes no lien upon the real estate of such executor).

38. Treadwell v. Herndon, 41 Miss. 38; Lowry v. Houston, 3 How. (Miss.) 394; Dancy v. Pope, 68 N. C. 147, holding that an absolute judgment against a decedent's estate is a lien, not only upon the assets in hand, but upon such as may come into the hands of the administrator after its rendition. See, however, Prefontaine v. McMicken, 16 Wash. 16, 47 Pac. 231, holding that a judgment against an executor or an administrator de bonis non is not a lien on the property of the estate, but merely establishes a claim which it is the duty of the representative to pay in due course of administration. And see supra, XIV, O, 1, d.

39. Johnson v. Peck, 58 Ark. 580, 25 S. W. 865 (holding that one obtaining a judgment against the estate of a deceased person cannot, after delaying to enforce his lien on decedent's land for thirteen years, enforce it as against one who purchases the land at the end of that time); Bowman v. Knorr, 206 Pa. St. 272, 55 Atl. 976; Buehler v. Buffington, 43 Pa. St. 278 (in both of which cases suit on the debt was not commenced within the time prescribed by statute); Keenan v. Gibson, 9 Pa. St. 249 (holding that where a judgment was recovered against executors prior to the Pennsylvania act of 1834, and revived by scire facias against the executors only after that act and within five years, without making the owners of the land parties, the lands of devisees were discharged from the lien). See, however, Keil v. Wolf, 7 Pa. St. 424 (holding that under the Pennsylvania act of 1797, requiring debts of a deceased person to be sued upon within seven years to become liens upon his land, but allowing a feme covert four years after discoverture to bring such action, a judgment confessed by executors, more than seven years after the death of testator, to a married woman and her husband for her sole and separate use, for money loaned by her during her marriage, is within the exception of the statute and constitutes a lien on the land); Payne v. Craft, 7 Watts & S. (Pa.) 458 (holding that a judgment obtained against the administrators of an intestate within seven years after his death, and revived by a note made on the record of the original judgment of the agreement of the parties for that purpose, made within every five years, is such a due prosecution of the claim as will preserve the lien of the debt on the lands of the intestate according to the provisions of the Pennsylvania act of 1797).

40. Ives v. Beecher, 75 Conn. 153, 52 Atl. 746.

41. Prater v. Stinson, 26 Ala. 456.

42. Wikel v. Garrison, 82 Iowa 453, 48 N. W. 803 (holding that a judgment against an administrator on a debt contracted by the intestate and enforceable against him in his lifetime may in equity be set off against a judgment rendered in favor of the administrator against the judgment creditor, although there are no assets other than the judgment, and the estate is indebted to the administrator for costs to an equal amount); Barrett v. Barrett, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 342 (holding that a judgment in favor of a judge of probate in a suit on a probate bond brought in his name for the benefit of a legatee against an executor and his sureties may be set off against a judgment recovered by the executor in his individual capacity against the legatee); Abercrombie v. Abercrombie, 25 S. C. 45 (holding that distributees who have not received the shares due them under the decree of distribution are entitled, as against a creditor of the estate who did not present his claim or reduce it to judgment until years after the decree of distribution was passed, to have the amounts due them set off against judgments in favor of the administrator on notes given by the husbands of the distributees for the price of property sold by him). See, however, Wikel v. Garrison, 82 Iowa 453, 48 N. W. 803, holding executor or administrator may on the other hand be set off against a judgment against him.[43]

6. Revival of Judgment[44]— a. Judgment Against Decedent.[45] A judgment against one subsequently dying may be revived against his personal representative by scire facias,[46] and in some states this is the only mode in which the judgment may be enforced against the estate.[47] The scire facias must contain a suggestion of the death of the judgment debtor and show the appointment of defendant in the writ as executor or administrator.[48] Nothing can be pleaded in defense of the proceeding that might have been pleaded in the original action.[49] It is a good plea that defendant is not the personal representative of the judgment debtor,[50] or that there are no assets of the estate.[51] It is no defense, however, that the personal representative has not accounted to the surrogate.[52] A judgment of revival may be entered on default.[53] The judgment of revival should require the money to be made first out of the assets in the hands of the executor or administrator, and, failing in this, then out of the lands descended to the heirs.[54]

b. Judgment By or Against Representative. In some states a judgment by or against an executor or administrator may be revived against his successor in that judgments against an administrator on debts contracted by the intestate cannot be purchased by a debtor of the estate, and alleged as counter-claims to judgments or demands due from him to the estate.

43. Hills v. Tallman, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 674 (holding, however, that an administrator who has purchased a judgment against a plaintiff since the rendition of a judgment against him for a debt owing by the intestate cannot set off such judgment); Dudley v. Griswold, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 24 (holding, however, that to authorize a set-off the debts must be mutual, and due to and from the same persons in the same capacity); Reigne v. Hunt, 1 Speers (S. C.) 281 (holding, however, that where the assignee of a judgment against decedent brought an action of debt thereon and recovered judgment, it was too late for the executor to claim a set-off against plaintiff in the original judgment).

44. Revival of action on death of party see Abatement and Revival, 1 Cyc. 47 et seq.

45. Revival against heirs see, generally, Judgments.

46. Brearly v. Peay, 23 Ark. 172 (holding that a plea to a scire facias to revive a judgment against the administrator of a deceased judgment debtor, setting forth a presentation but not an allowance thereof in the probate court, is bad, for a party may pursue concurrent remedies, although he can have but one satisfaction); Fulcher v. Mandell, 83 Ga. 715, 10 S. E. 582 (holding that notwithstanding a judgment creditor may, under the statute, levy on any property of his deceased judgment debtor which he may find, without making the administrator a party, yet he may make the administrator a party to the judgment by scire facias, so as to bind him, in case he has assets which could not be reached by levy).

47. Handley v. Fitzhugh, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 561 (holding that a judgment against a decedent cannot be enforced by execution against his personal representative unless revived against him by scire facias, and that a revivor in the appellate court against the representative does not revive the judgment in the court below so as to permit execution there against the representative); Brown v. Webb, 1 Watts (Pa.) 411; Righter v. Rittenhouse, 3 Rawle (Pa.) 273; Gwin v. Latimer, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 22 (holding that an executor or administrator cannot waive the necessity of a scire facias or revive a judgment, so as to authorize the issuing of an execution against the estate). See, however, cases cited supra, note 46.

Revival nunc pro tunc.— The court may, with the consent of the personal representative, permit an amicable action of scire facias to be filed nunc pro tunc to cure a sale of land made under a judgment obtained against decedent in his lifetime and not revived against the representative. Diese v. Fackler, 58 Pa. St. 109.

48. Walker v. Hood, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 266.

49. Lynch v. Inglis, 1 Bay (S. C.) 449, holding that an executor can plead nothing but a release or something arisen since the entering up of the judgment.

50. White v. Brown, 1 Dana (Ky.) 104.

51. National Sav. Bank v. Welcker, 21 D. C. 324 (holding that a plea of plene administravit is not demurrable, but plaintiff should enter up judgment of assets quando acciderint); Fulcher v. Mandell, 83 Ga. 715, 10 S. E. 582 (holding that an administrator may show that he has no assets, that he has fully administered them, or that the assets in his hands were taken possession of by intestate as sole heir of his deceased wife, and that there are outstanding debts against the wife sufficient to exhaust such assets); Tanner v. Freeland, 1 Harr. & M. (Md.) 34 (holding that plene administravit is a good plea).

52. Clark v. Sexton, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 477.

53. Middleton v. Middleton, 106 Pa. St. 252.

54. Graves v. Skeels, 6 Ind. 107. See Mills v. Thursby, 2 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 432, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 385, holding that a proceeding office.[55] However, unless the executor or administrator was personally bound by a judgment which has been rendered against him,[56] it cannot be revived after his death against his personal representative.[57] Among other defenses that may be urged against the revival of a judgment against an executor or administrator,[58] under Code, § 376, providing that in case of the death of a judgment debtor after judgment his executors may be summoned to show cause why the judgment should not be enforced against the estate in their hands, is limited merely to the enforcement of the original judgment against the estate in the executors' hands, and that a judgment therein against the executors as broad as if founded on a summons in an ordinary action in which they could be made personally liable for the whole amount of the judgment is unauthorized.

55. Bowen v. Bonner, 45 Miss. 10 (holding that the statute providing for the revival of judgments for or against the successors of executors or administrators by or against whom they were originally recovered is intended to do away with the common-law doctrine that a judgment vested individual rights in executors and administrators); Borland v. Dexter, 13 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 44 (holding that privity of estate exists between an executor whose letters have been revoked and one to whom letters are granted under another will, and hence that a judgment against the former may be revived against the latter). Contra, Bobo v. Gunnels, 92 Ala. 601, 8 So. 797, holding that a judgment against an administrator under which an execution against the estate has been returned unsatisfied cannot be revived against the administrator de bonis non, since there is no privity between the two.

Procedure.— An administrator de bonis non has, under Miss. Rev. Code, a right to appear in court, suggest the death of his predecessor, and ask that a judgment recovered by such predecessor be revived in his name as successor in the administration; he need not resort to the writ of scire facias for that purpose. Bowen v. Bonner, 45 Miss. 10; Dibble v. Norton, 44 Miss. 158. Prior to the Texas act of 1846 (Hartley Dig. art. 784), an action of debt on the judgment in the name of the administrator de bonis non was the proper remedy to revive a judgment recovered by a deceased administrator. Austin v. Townes, 10 Tex. 24.

Name in which judgment should be revived. —A judgment rendered in favor of A for the use of B, administrator of C, cannot be revived, on the death of B, in the name of D as administrator de bonis non of C; the original judgment not having been recovered by B in his representative character, nor constituting any part of the estate of C. Alexander v. Raney, 8 Ark. 324. So where letters of administration have been revoked and an administrator de bonis non appointed, a scire facias cannot be sued out in the name of the former administrator to revive a judgment rendered in his favor while in office. Weaver v. Reese, 6 Ohio 418.

Time of revival.— A judgment against an administrator can be revived by scire facias against the administrator de bonis non, his successor, more than seven years after its rendition, but less than seven years from the issuing of the last preceding execution thereon. Stith v. Parham, 57 Miss. 289.

Judgment against person appointed to collect and preserve estate.— Where a court of probate appoints a person to collect and preserve the estate of a decedent until administration is granted, such appointee cannot properly be sued on a bond of the decedent, and if he is so sued and a judgment is rendered against him, a scire facias upon the judgment will not lie, after administration is granted, against the administrator. Wynn v. Wynn, 8 Leigh (Va.) 264.

56. Coates v. Muse, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,916, 1 Brock. 529 (holding that where, in a bill against two persons as joint executors who are also devisees and legatees of the testator, defendants permit a joint decree to be entered against them, the presumption is that they are liable in equal proportions, and, on entering a decree on a revival of the suit against their executors, it should be for a moiety of the joint decree against the representative of each in the first instance); Coates v. Muse, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,917, 1 Brock. 539 (holding that a decree against two executors jointly prima facie charges each executor equally, whether it is so expressed or not, but that where on an application to carry the decree into execution it is shown that they were unequally indebted the decree may be revived against each according to his liability; but that the fact that they were debtors to the estate in unequal sums for purchases made at the sale of the estate is no proof of their unequal liability).

57. Mendenhall v. Robinson, 56 Kan. 633, 44 Pac. 610.

58. Clark v. Sexton, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 477, holding that while in scire facias to revive a judgment against testator a plea that the executors have not accounted to the surrogate is not good, yet when scire facias issues on a judgment against the executors the plea is good. See, however, Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 1, holding that an application of an executor to the orphans' court, representing that the real and personal property of decedent are insufficient to pay his debts, will not bar a scire facias issued to revive a judgment entered before the application was made.

Estoppel by plea.— Where the estate had not the means of paying a judgment against it, and one of two executors bought the judgment with his own money and had it assigned to a third person who issued scire facias thereon, naming both executors and also heirs as defendants, a plea of payment a plea of plene administravit may be sufficient when it is supported by the facts.[59]

7. Action on Judgment — a. Right of Action. An executor or administrator may sue on a judgment obtained by himself,[60] by his predecessor in office,[61] or by his decedent.[62] However, an action will not lie against an administrator in one state on a judgment obtained against a different administrator of the same estate appointed in another state.[63]

b. Parties. An administrator is a necessary party to an action on a judgment in his favor.[64] So an administrator de bonis non is a necessary party to a suit on a judgment in favor of his predecessor in office.[65] Persons beneficially interested in a judgment in favor of an administrator may properly be joined as plaintiffs in a suit thereon,[66] but heirs cannot be joined as defendants in an action on a judgment against an administrator.[67] A non-joinder of a necessary party defendant should be objected to by plea in abatement.[68]

c. Declaration or Complaint. In an action on a judgment quando against an administrator, a declaration alleging that assets have come into defendant's hands since the judgment was rendered is sufficient without alleging that plaintiff is entitled to the assets.[69] The failure to demand a proper judgment in a complaint on a judgment against an intestate does not necessarily defeat the action.[70]

d. Defenses. It is a good defense to a suit on a judgment against a personal representative that the action was not brought within the time limited by statute.[71] In an action on a judgment quando against an administrator, defendant by the executors did not estop the executor who had bought the judgment from showing that it was not in fact paid but that it was intended to be kept alive for his use. McKerrahan v. Crawford, 59 Pa. St. 390.

59. Cox v. Cox, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 305. However, a plea of plene administravit is bad on demurrer, where it appears that there is real estate of decedent which might be sold to pay debts, since the administrator is bound to sell such real estate for that purpose. Bates v. Kimball, 1 Aik. (Vt.) 95.

60. Oglesby v. Gilmore, 5 Ga. 56; Biddle v. Wilkins, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 686, 7 L. ed. 315, both holding that after judgment recovered in a suit by an administrator, the debt is due to plaintiff in his personal capacity, and he may declare on it as such.

Suit in sister state.— An administratrix who recovers judgment makes the debt hers individually, and she may sue thereon out of the state where she was appointed, allegations showing representative capacity being treated as surplusage. Newberry v. Robinson, 36 Fed. 841.

61. Austin v. Townes, 10 Tex. 24, so holding prior to the Texas act of 1846 (Hartley Dig. art. 784).

62. Freeman v. Dutcher, 15 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 431, holding that the right given by Code, § 1376, to an executor to take out execution on a judgment in favor of his intestate does not preclude him from bringing suit on the judgment without leave of court.

63. Stacey v. Thrasher, 6 How. (U. S.) 44, 12 L. ed. 337, holding that there is no privity between them. See, however, McLean v. Meek, 18 How. (U. S.) 16, 15 L. ed. 277.

64. Ives v. Beecher, 75 Conn. 153, 52 Atl. 746, so holding, although other persons are the only ones beneficially interested, and whether they purchased the judgment or acquired it under the will.

65. Ives v. Beecher, 75 Conn. 153, 52 Atl. 746.

66. Ives v. Beecher, 75 Conn. 153, 52 Atl. 746, so holding, although they own the judgment in several and unequal shares.

67. Nourse v. Ramsey, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 547. And see Moore v. Nowell, 94 N. C. 265. See, however, In re Schwartz, 14 Pa. St. 42.

68. In re Schwartz, 14 Pa. St. 42, holding that where a judgment is taken against a personal representative alone, and a subsequent action of debt is brought thereon against the representative and heirs, the non-joinder of an heir can be objected to only by plea in abatement.

69. Southard v. Potts, 22 N. J. L. 278.

70. Moore v. Nowell, 94 N. C. 265.

71. Jenkins v. Wood, 134 Mass. 115 (holding that a creditor who recovers a judgment against an executor in an action upon a debt due from testator, brought within the two years limited by statute, is not entitled, the execution on the judgment not being satisfied, to bring an action on the judgment after the expiration of the two years, although the bond given by the executor, who is also residuary legatee, is one conditioned to pay debts and legacies); McLean v. Meek, 18 How. (U. S.) 16, 15 L. ed. 277 (holding that no suit can be maintained against an administrator in one state upon a judgment recovered against the administrator of the same estate in another state, where the original demand upon which the judgment was recovered is barred by the statute of limitations of the state where the suit is brought).

may plead plene administravit.[72] Defendant may be estopped to assert the invalidity of the judgment sued on.[73]

e. Burden of Proof and Presumptions. In an action on a judgment quando against an administrator, plaintiff need not prove in the first instance that he is entitled to assets which he alleges have subsequently come into defendant's hands;[74] and an allegation in the answer that no assets have come into defendant's hands since the judgment was rendered refutes the presumption of payment arising from lapse of time.[75] If, in an action by an administrator de bonis non on a judgment obtained by the executor, plaintiff alleges that the judgment was obtained by the executor, it will be presumed the judgment was for a debt due testator.[76]

P. Execution and Enforcement of Judgment — 1. Enforcement Against Representative as Such — a. In General.[77] In many jurisdictions a judgment rendered against a personal representative on a claim against his decedent's estate can be enforced only by a proper proceeding in the probate court, in due course of administration,[78] and execution thereon, except from the probate court, cannot be issued against the representative.[79] But at common law and under special 72. Southard v. Potts, 22 N. J. L. 278.

73. Copeland v. Todd, 30 S. C. 419, 9 S. E. 341, holding that where the probate court had jurisdiction to render judgment in favor of a creditor for his pro rata part of a claim filed against the estate of a decedent, which is allowed, is immaterial to the sufficiency of a complaint based upon such a judgment, when it is alleged that the amount of the judgment was ascertained to be in the executor's hands in a settlement of his accounts made before said court, and that he has recognized by subsequent payments thereon the validity of the judgment, as by the admission of assets in his settlement he became liable personally to the creditor, and by the payments and his acquiescence in the judgment his personal representative is estopped to deny his liability as against the creditor's executor.

74. Southard v. Potts, 22 N. J. L. 278.

75. Austin v. Tompkins, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 22.

76. Dykes v. Woodhouse, 3 Rand. (Va.) 287.

77. Supplementary proceedings in aid of execution see Executions, 17 Cyc. 1402 et seq.

78. See supra, XIV, O, 1, d. And see cases cited in succeeding note.

79. Arkansas.— Meredith v. Scallion, 51 Ark. 361, 11 S. W. 516, 3 L. R. A. 812; Yonley v. Lavender, 27 Ark. 252 [affirmed in 21 Wall. (U. S.) 276, 22 L. ed. 536]; Hornor v. Hanks, 22 Ark. 572 [disapproving U. S. v. Drennen, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,992, Hempst. 320]; Adamson v. Cummins, 10 Ark. 541. The statute which recognized the right to issue an execution against an administrator in his fiduciary capacity (Rev. St. c. 60, § 8), was repealed by the provisions of the constitution of 1874, conferring exclusive jurisdiction over the assets of deceased persons on the probate courts. Since the adoption of that instrument, although courts of law still have jurisdiction to maintain an action against an administrator, the power to execute a judgment recovered therein belongs alone to the probate court, to be exercised in the course of administration. An execution issued on such judgment is therefore without authority of law and a sale made under it is void. Meredith v. Scallion, supra.

California.— Rice v. Inskeep, 34 Cal. 224.

Colorado.— Jones v. Perot, 19 Colo. 141, 34 Pac. 728; Lamping v. Keenan, 9 Colo. 390, 12 Pac. 434; Mattison v. Childs, 5 Colo. 78; Kilpatrick v. Haley, 14 Colo. App. 399, 60 Pac. 361.

Illinois.— Darling v. McDonald, 101 Ill. 370; Albee v. Wachter, 74 Ill. 173; Bull v. Harris, 31 Ill. 487; Stillman v. Young, 16 Ill. 318; Turney v. Gates, 12 Ill. 141; Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455; Peck v. Stevens, 10 Ill. 127; Welch v. Wallace, 8 Ill. 490. But see Greenwood v. Spiller, 3 Ill. 502.

Louisiana.— Anderson v. Birdsall, 19 La. 441; Baillio v. Wilson, 5 Mart. N. S. 214.

Michigan.— Peckham v. Judge Berrien County Ct., 74 Mich. 287, 41 N. W. 926.

Missouri.— Wernecke v. Wood, 58 Mo. 352. See In re Simpson, 81 Mo. App. 582. It was otherwise in this state prior to the act, approved Dec. 30, 1826, which took effect from May 1, 1827. Carson v. Walker, 16 Mo. 68. See also Sweringen v. Eberins, 7 Mo. 421. 38 Am. Dec. 463; Scott v. Whitehill, 1 Mo. 691.

New Jersey.— Under the statutes of this state execution on a judgment against the representative cannot issue, where the estate is represented insolvent within the time limited to creditors to bring in their claims. Taylor v. Volk, 38 N. J. L. 204.

North Carolina.— No court but the probate court can issue execution against the assets of the decedent upon a judgment against the representative. Vaughn v. Stephenson, 69 N. C. 212. For the earlier common-law practice in this state see Pennington v. Hayes, 3 N. C. 502; Alston v. Harris, 3 N. C. 125; Burnside v. Green, 3 N. C. 112; Borden v. Nash, 3 N. C. 42.

Texas.— Under the statutes of this state execution cannot issue upon a judgment renstatutes in some jurisdictions a judgment obtained against the representative may be enforced by execution against the property of the decedent in his hands to be administered, as in other cases in law or equity,[80] although under some statutes leave of court to issue the execution must first be obtained.[81]

b. Practice in New York. Under the statutes in this state, in order that an execution may issue against a personal representative upon a judgment for money rendered against him in his representative capacity, an order permitting its issuance must be made by the surrogate from whose court the representative's letters were issued, upon proper application therefor by the judgment creditor,[82] and dered against a personal representative, but it must be certified to the probate court for classification to be paid in due course of administration (Meyers v. Evans, 68 Tex. 466, 5 S. W. 66; Paxton v. Meyer, 67 Tex. 96, 2 S. W. 817; Hart v. McDade, 61 Tex. 208; Lewis v. Nichols, 38 Tex. 54; Wilcox v. State, 24 Tex. 544; Carroll v. Carroll, 20 Tex. 731; Boggess v. Lilly, 18 Tex. 200; Forston v. Caldwell, 17 Tex. 627; Ansley v. Baker, 14 Tex. 607, 65 Am. Dec. 136; Bennett v. Spillards, 7 Tex. 600, 9 Tex. 519; Bason v. Hughart, 2 Tex. 476; Mott v. Ruenbuhl, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 599), except where it is rendered against an independent executor — an executor who under the terms of the will is authorized to administer the estate free from the control of the probate court (Roberts v. Connellee, 71 Tex. 11, 8 S. W. 626; Hart v. McDade, supra; Lewis v. Nichols, supra; Ellis v. Mabry, 25 Tex. Civ. App. 164, 60 S. W. 571; Croom v. Winston, 18 Tex. Civ. App. 1, 43 S. W. 1072; McKie v. Simpkins, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 278. See McDonnough v. Cross, 40 Tex. 251. And see infra, XXIII); or unless, where the judgment is revived against the representative the judgment of revivor authorizes the issuance of execution (see Hart v. McDade, supra); but a mere provision in the will exempting the executor from giving bond does not authorize the issuance of execution against the estate (Lewis v. Nichols, supra). A decree of foreclosure against mortgaged property of the decedent is within the application of this rule, since any process under which property may be sold is an execution within the meaning of this statute. Smithwick v. Kelly, 79 Tex. 564, 15 S. W. 486. Where the claim is one secured by mortgage and has been rejected by the probate court, it may be carried to judgment in the district court and the property subject to the lien may be seized and sold by the sheriff and the proceeds of such sale be applied to the satisfaction of the judgment. Danzey v. Swinney, 7 Tex. 617. And see Givens v. Davenport, 8 Tex. 451.

Wyoming.— Peabody v. Hutton, 5 Wyo. 102, 37 Pac. 694, 39 Pac. 980.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1910.

80. Georgia.— Braswell v. Brown, 112 Ga. 740, 38 S. E. 51.

Kansas.— Halsey v. Van Vliet, 27 Kan. 474.

Kentucky.— Sherwood v. Campbell, 1 B. Mon. 54.

Maine.— Nowell v. Bragdon, 14 Me. 320.

Massachusetts.— Steel v. Steel, 4 Allen 417.

Virginia.— Nimmo v. Com., 1 Hen. & M. 470.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1912.

At common law a judgment against a representative which was entitled to be satisfied out of the assets of administration was for the debt or damages and costs to be levied of the goods of the testator or intestate in the hands of the executor or administrator to be administered. See Darling v. McDonald, 101 Ill. 370; U. S. v. Drennen, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,992, Hempst. 320.

A judgment quando acciderint cannot be enforced by execution (Braxton v. Wood, 4 Gratt. (Va.) 25); but plaintiff may proceed immediately by debt or scire facias to ascertain whether there is not a surplus of assets after paying the debts which have priority over his payment; and he thereby converts his judgment into a judgment de bonis testatoris and obtains a priority over other creditors in equal degree who have not recovered judgment (Braxton v. Wood, supra).

A decree directing several co-executors to pay a certain sum to one of their number cannot be enforced by execution. Eisner v. Avery, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 466.

In Alaska, where judgment has been obtained against an estate, the administrator admitting that he has money on hand to pay it, may be ordered to pay such money into the court. In re Gladough, 1 Alaska 649. The court in this case, although admitting that execution against the administrator might be allowed in a proper case, was not disposed to order it under the circumstances of this case.

81. An order to show cause why execution should not issue upon a judgment against the decedent and revived against the representative, or upon a judgment against the representative, is required by some statutes. See Wallace v. Holmes, 40 Pa. St. 427.

Practice in New York see infra, XIV, P, 1, b.

82. Marine Bank v. Van Brunt, 49 N. Y. 160 [affirming 61 Barb. 361] (holding also that this rule does not take away from the supreme court the power of controlling execution of its judgments); Matter of Bernardston Cong. Unitarian Soc., 34 N. Y. App. Div. 387, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 269; Matson v. Abbey, 70 Hun (N. Y.) 475, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 284; Winne v. Van Schaick, 9 Wend. (N. Y.)

after citation or notice to the parties interested.[83] But before leave to issue such execution will be granted, it must be clearly made to appear by the application or by an accounting ordered by the surrogate that the representative has assets of the estate in his hands which are applicable to the payment of the judgment,[84] or that funds of the estate have been misapplied which ought to have been devoted to the payment of the judgment.[85] The burden rests upon the petitioner to satisfy the surrogate that the proper conditions exist to warrant the granting of the order authorizing the execution to issue.[86] The execution, if issued, must substantially require the sheriff to satisfy the judgment out of the personal estate in the hands of the executor belonging to the estate of his testator.[87] But the 448. See also Mills v. Thursby, 2 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 432, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 385; Butler v. Hempstead, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 666; Melcher v. Fisk, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 22 (construing 3 Rev. St. p. 96, § 42).

An order in the alternative granting leave to issue execution, unless the representative applies for license to sell realty, is not authorized under such statutes. St. Johns v. Voorhies, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 53.

A judgment, within the meaning of these statutes, is one against a personal representative in his representative capacity after a trial upon the merits of the case (Schmitz v. Langhaar, 88 N. Y. 503; People v. Judges Albany Mayor's Ct., 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 486), whether it was recovered for a debt of the decedent or for one contracted by the representative for necessary and reasonable expenses of the administration (In re Thompson, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 237 [affirming 1 Redf. Surr. 490]; not including, however, a judgment against him, after he has been discharged on a final accounting, on an indebtedness created by the decedent in his lifetime (In re Hathaway, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 468, Pow. Surr. (N. Y.) 447), or a judgment in an action to recover damages for the decedent's death (Matter of Jansen, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 451, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 362), or a judgment against a firm composed of a surviving partner and the executor of a deceased partner who was empowered by the will to carry on the testator's business (Columbus Watch Co. v. Hodenpyl, 135 N. Y. 430, 32 N. E. 239 [affirming 61 Hun 557, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 337], or a judgment in an action originally commenced against the decedent and revived against his personal representatives (Thacker v. Bancroft, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 243).

The pendency of an appeal from the judgment is no bar to a motion for leave to issue execution unless the proceedings have been stayed. Matter of Morey, 10 N. Y. St. 693, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 287; Keyser v. Kelley, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 157; Smith v. Howell, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 225.

83. Marine Bank v. Van Brunt, 49 N. Y. 160 [affirming 61 Barb. 361]; St. John v. Voorhies, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 53.

Where an account by the executor shows the assets applicable to the judgment, leave to issue execution may be granted the judgment creditor, without citing the executor to account. Smith v. Howell, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 325.

Objection to failure to issue a citation as required by statute is waived by the representative appearing and accounting and taking an appeal without objection to the irregularity. St. John v. Voorhies, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 53.

84. Matter of Gall, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 114, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 835; Matter of Bernardston Cong. Unitarian Soc., 34 N. Y. App. Div. 387, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 269; In re Thurber, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 155, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 949; Matter of Lazelle, 16 Misc. (N. Y.) 515, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 343 (holding this to be true, although the representative gave an undertaking in the action, on which defendant cannot sue until he has had execution upon his judgment returned unsatisfied); St. John v. Voorhies, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 53; Mitchell v. Mount, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 1; Winne v. Van Schaick, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 448; Matter of Boyle, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 473, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 57; Peters v. Carr, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 22; Hauselt v. Gano, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 36; Melcher v. Fisk, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 22. See also Matter of Dougherty, 15 N. Y. St. 743.

An order or decree of a surrogate directing payment by a personal representative is by section 2552 "conclusive evidence that there are sufficient assets in his hands to satisfy the sum" directed to be paid by the decree (Matter of Seaman, 63 N. Y. App. Div. 49, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 376), but by express provision in section 2606 the above section does not apply to a decree ordering payment by an administrator of a deceased executor, and execution in that case cannot issue without leave of the surrogate (Matter of Seaman, supra).

85. Matter of Gall, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 114, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 835.

86. Matter of Lazelle, 16 Misc. (N. Y.) 515, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 343.

Where the petition alleges that the representative has in his possession assets sufficient to satisfy the judgment, the burden of showing that they are insufficient to pay all debts, legacies, or other claims of the class to which plaintiff's claim belongs is upon the representative, and if he presents no papers in opposition the surrogate may grant the petition. Matter of Steinau, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 550, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 886.

87. Matter of Lazelle, 16 Misc. (N. Y.) 515, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 343. The surrogate has no power to permit execution against real estate under such statute. Lichten-surrogate should permit execution to issue only for a proportionate amount of the judgment,[88] unless it appears that other creditors of the estate will not be prejudiced by execution for the full amount of the judgment.[89]

c. Against Administrator De Bonis Non. It has been held that a judgment recovered against an administrator in chief cannot be enforced against an administrator de bonis non,[90] unless the judgment is revived against the latter administrator.[91]

d. Enforcement in Equity. A judgment creditor, unless he has estopped himself by electing to rely on other remedies,[92] may also in some cases resort to a court of equity for the purpose of enforcing his judgment,[93] even in those jurisdictions in which execution cannot be issued against the representative.[94] Such bill may be maintained for the purpose of reaching assets which have already been distributed or disposed of by the representative,[95] or for the discovery and production of assets.[96] A judgment against the representative not expressed to be de bonis testatoris cannot be enforced in equity unless it is amended in that respect,[97] or unless the conditions of the case are such that it cannot be enforced against the representative, as where he is a non-resident and insolvent and all the assets of the estate have been distributed.[98]

2. Enforcement By or Against Representative After Removal or Resignation. After a personal representative has been removed from office he cannot regularly sue out execution upon a judgment recovered by him as representative;[99] nor can execution be lawfully issued against him, and an execution issued while there exists a vacancy is void and no right of property passes by a sale thereunder.[1]

3. Enforcement Against Representative Individually — a. In General. Where the personal representative has been guilty of waste, and there is a return of berg v. Herdtfelder, 103 N. Y. 302, 8 N. E. 526; Matter of Jansen, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 451, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 362.

88. Schmitz v. Langhaar, 88 N. Y. 503; Matter of Thurber, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 155, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 949; Olmsted v. Vredenbergh, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 215. See Mitchell v. Mount, 17 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 265.

89. Sippel v. Macklin, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 219.

90. Brothers v. Gunnels, 110 Ala. 436, 18 So. 3; Graves v. Flowers, 51 Ala. 402, 23 Am. Rep. 555. See also Martin v. Ellerbee, 70 Ala. 326; Wilson v. Auld, 8 Ala. 842. But see Jones v. Jones, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 705 (holding that where an administrator dies an attachment bill seeking to subject certain property alleged to belong to the estate of the intestate, to the satisfaction of a decree pronounced against such administrator should be brought against the administrator de bonis non of the estate, and not against the administrator of the deceased administrator); Garland v. Garland, 84 Va. 181, 4 S. E. 334 (holding that a decree against a domiciliary executor may be enforced against an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the same decedent in any jurisdiction).

91. See Meredith v. Scallion, 51 Ark. 361, 11 S. W. 516, 3 L. R. A. 812; Cocke v. Foote, 49 Miss. 181.

92. Martin v. Harding, 38 N. C. 603.

93. See Martin v. Harding, 38 N. C. 603.

A personal judgment at law against a representative for services rendered the estate at the request of the representative cannot be enforced by a suit in equity against the representative as such. Wade v. Pope, 44 Ala. 690.

94. In Illinois, since execution cannot issue against the representative so as to reach personal estates, the judgment creditor of an insolvent estate may resort to equity without suing out execution in order to reach real estate, although as a general rule there must be a judgment and an execution returned unsatisfied before a creditor's bill will be entertained for such purpose. Steere v. Hoagland, 39 Ill. 264; Bay v. Cook, 31 Ill. 346; McDowell v. Cochran, 11 Ill. 31.

95. Redd v. Davis, 59 Ga. 823; Sherwood v. Campbell, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 54.

A creditor having an unproductive judgment against the administrator de bonis non of his debtor cannot in equity reach assets of the debtor in the hands of the personal representative of the administrator in chief, against whom a decree settling the estate has been rendered and performed. Thomas v. Sterns, 33 Ala. 137.

96. Pilkington v. Gaunt, 5 Dana (Ky.) 410. See also Ruth v. Owens, 2 Rand. (Va.) 507.

Where an administrator pleads no assets, and judgment is rendered quando, the creditor is entitled to a bill in chancery for the discovery and production of assets. Ewing v. Handley, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 346, 14 Am. Dec. 140.

97. Redd v. Davis, 59 Ga. 823.

98. Redd v. Davis, 59 Ga. 823.

99. Salter v. Cain, 7 Ala. 478.

1. Wilson v. Auld, 8 Ala. 842; Meredith v. Scallion, 51 Ark. 361, 11 S. W. 516, 3 L. R. A. 812; Thompson v. Knight, 23 Ga. 399; Taynulla bona or nulla bona and devastavit on the original execution against him as representative, it is generally recognized that the judgment may be enforced against him personally; but the means of enforcing such a judgment is not uniform, either at common law,[2] or under the modern statutes.[3] Under some statutes upon leave of the court after proper motion and notice[4] an execution de bonis propriis may issue against the representative personally, to be levied upon his individual property, where a return of nulla bona,[5] or nulla bona and devastavit,[6] is made on the execution de bonis testatoris; or where a judgment fixing him with assets is rendered against him.[7] In some jurisdictions a statutory execution may issue as of right against the representative and his sureties upon a return of "no property found."[8]

b. By Scire Facias. In many jurisdictions, both by the common law and by statute, a judgment obtained against a personal representative may be enforced against his individual property, where he has been guilty of waste or there is a return of nulla bona on the judgment, by means of a scire facias suggesting a devastavit;[9] lor v. Savage, 2 How. (U. S.) 395, 11 L. ed. 313 [affirming 1 How. 282, 11 L. ed. 132].

2. At common law a judgment against a personal representative, as such, could be enforced against him individually by capias ad satisfaciendum or by fieri facias de bonis propriis, where the return on the original execution on the judgment was not only nulla bona, but also devastavit (see People v. Judge Erie County C. Pl., 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 445; Platt v. Robins, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 276, 1 Am. Dec. 110; Wheatley v. Lane, 1 Saund. 216, 219 note 8); but where the return was merely nulla bona the earlier practice was to issue a special inquiry to determine whether the representative had wasted the decedent's property, and if a devastavit was found, a scire facias was issued; later, however, these proceedings were joined into what was called a scire fieri inquiry (see Palmer v. Waller, 5 Dowl. P. C. 172, 5 L. J. Exch. 246, 1 M. & W. 689, Tyrw. & G. 1014; Blackmor v. Mercer, 2 Saund. 402*a*; Merchant v. Driver, 1 Saund. 303; Wheatley v. Lane, supra. See also State Bank v. Hooks, 2 Port. (Ala.) 271; Sims v. Nash, 1 How. (Miss.) 271; McDowell v. Asbury, 66 N. C. 444, where the early common-law doctrine is reviewed). The more usual remedy, however, was an action of debt on the judgment, suggesting a devastavit, even before a fieri facias was issued, although the usual practice was not to bring such action until such execution had issued and a return of nulla bona been made thereon. Wheatley v. Lane, supra. See also State Bank v. Hooks, supra; People v. Judge Erie County C. Pl., supra. And see supra, XIV, P, 3, c.

The waiver by the personal representative of a judgment debtor of the scire facias to revive might authorize an execution against the personal representative, but not against the deceased debtor. Gwin v. Latimer, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 22.

3. In Louisiana (under Code Pr. arts. 1054–1057), execution can issue against a personal representative individually who fails to pay a judgment creditor of the succession only when he has funds on hand wherewith to discharge the debt and does not do so after due demand (Comstock's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 427, 10 So. 850; Querry v. Faussier, 6 Mart. 645. And see Payne v. Dejean, 32 La. Ann. 888), and where a personal rule or judgment is obtained against him after due notice of the judgment liquidating the debt (Comstock's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 427, 10 So. 850; Castille v. Chacere, 13 La. Ann. 561; Carriere v. Meyer, 16 La. 126). Or execution may be issued against an administrator personally where he makes a vague and insufficient answer to a rule under articles 1056 and 1088 taken by creditors whose claims have been fixed by a final judgment upon the administrator's account. Philbrick's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 220; Stevens v. Stevens, 13 La. Ann. 416.

In Maryland it has been held that an absolute judgment against a personal representative is conclusive of the existence of the debt and of the sufficiency of assets to pay it, and that a fieri facias may be issued thereon and levied upon the lands of the representative as well as upon his goods and chattels. Beall v. Osbourn, 30 Md. 8.

4. McDowell v. Asbury, 66 N. C. 444.

5. Whetstone v. McQueen, 137 Ala. 301, 34 So. 229; Allen v. Allen, 80 Ala. 154, holding also that, where such execution is issued against him in the county where the judgment was rendered, it is not necessary that another execution to be levied de bonis testatoris should be sent to the county in which the representative was appointed.

6. Schnader v. Bitzer, 9 Lanc. Car (Pa.) 37.

7. Gowan v. Gentry, 32 S. C. 369, 11 S. E. 82. See also McDowell v. Asbury, 66 N. C. 444.

8. Hudson v. Modawell, 64 Ala. 481 (holding that under Code, § 2619, plaintiff in a decree of the probate court is entitled to such execution as a matter of right, and that the probate judge is charged with the administerial duty of issuing it on demand); Jewett v. Hoogland, 30 Ala. 716. See also infra, XVII, H, 2.

9. Maine.— Sturgis v. Reed, 2 Me. 109.

Maryland.—See State v. Goldsmith, 1 Harr. & J. 101.

and upon the proof of a devastavit,[10] or upon the representative's failure to appear or to show cause why execution should not be awarded against him,[11] execution de bonis propriis may be awarded against him.[12] The writ must allege or suggest a devastavit by the representative,[13] and also the fact that a judgment was obtained against him in that character,[14] and must notify him to appear and show cause why execution should not issue against his own property,[15] although as to a defect of this character the writ may be amended.[16] It should also be against him in his representative capacity,[17] although, in the absence of pleading or proof to the contrary, it is not necessary to allege or show that defendant is the personal representative.[18] This proceeding is in the nature of an original action against the representative,[19] in which he may set up any legal defense which he had no opportunity of pleading in the original suit.[20] But Mississippi.— Black v. Barton, 6 Sm. & M. 239.

New Hampshire.— Folsom v. Blaisdell, 38 N. H. 100; Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224.

New York.— See People v. Judges Erie County C. Pl., 4 Cow. 445; Platt v. Robins, 1 Johns. Cas. 276, 1 Am. Dec. 110.

North Carolina.— Dozier v. Simmons, 11 N. C. 26; Hunter v. Hunter, 4 N. C. 558.

Pennsylvania.— Schnader v. Bitzer, 9 Lanc. Bar 37.

Rhode Island.— Carver v. Wells, 17 R. I. 688, 24 Atl. 466.

Tennessee.— Hillman v. Hickerson, 3 Head 575; Cox v. Cox, 2 Yerg. 305.

United States.— Teasdale v. Branton, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,813, Brunn. Col. Cas. 28, 3 N. C. 377.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1913. And see cases cited in succeeding notes.

The pendency of a commission of insolvency is no bar to a scire facias against an administrator upon a judgment had against him. Hatch v. Eustis, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,207, 1 Gall. 160. See Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 1.

10. Sims v. Nash, 1 How. (Miss.) 271.

The representative's appraisement and account showing that sufficient assets have come into his hands to pay a debt sought to be enforced is sufficient to support a devastavit in a scire facias against him, where there is no evidence of the disposition of the assets. Stewart v. Richardson, 32 Miss. 313.

Allegations of a devastavit without proof thereof will not justify a final judgment by default awarding execution de bonis propriis. Sims v. Nash, 1 How. (Miss.) 271.

A return of nulla bona upon the execution against the estate is not by itself sufficient to support a suggestion of waste. Ring v. Burton, 5 Me. 45; Graham v. Ruble, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 170. But see Platt v. Robins, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 276, 1 Am. Dec. 110.

11. Folsom v. Blaisdell, 38 N. H. 100; Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224.

12. Sims v. Nash, 1 How. (Miss.) 271; Folsom v. Blaisdell, 38 N. H. 100; Carver v. Wells, 17 R. I. 688, 24 Atl. 466.

13. Graham v. Ruble, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 170; Hillman v. Hickerson, 3 Head (Tenn.) 575; Cope v. McFarland, 2 Head (Tenn.) 543; Cox v. Cox, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 305; Wray v. Williams, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 302.

A scire facias alleging waste should aver that there are not goods of the estate in the representative's hands sufficient to pay the judgment (Cooper v. Hanna, 2 Ind. 97), and should state the amount of assets which came into his hands as representative (Black v. Barton, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 239).

Under the statute of New Hampshire, in order to maintain scire facias against an administrator, it is sufficient to allege that the sheriff has made a return of nulla bona upon an execution against the goods and estate of the deceased. It is not necessary in addition to allege or suggest any waste or misapplication of the funds. Peaslee v. Kelley, 38 N. H. 372.

In Tennessee, however, a return of nulla bona upon the execution against the estate is not conclusive that the representative has wasted the estate, and under such circumstances it is error to allow an execution de bonis propriis when the scire facias does not suggest a devastavit. Graham v. Ruble, 1 Coldw. 170; Hillman v. Hickerson, 3 Head 575.

14. Cope v. McFarland, 2 Head (Tenn.) 543; Cox v. Cox, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 305.

15. Cox v. Cox, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 305; Wray v. Williams, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 302.

16. Cox v. Cox, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 305. See, generally, SCIRE FACIAS.

17. Hillman v. Hickerson, 3 Head (Tenn.) 575; Cope v. McFarland, 2 Head (Tenn.) 543.

18. Stewart v. Richardson, 32 Miss. 313; Dimond v. Allen, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 10, if defendant is not the personal representative, he should have shown it in his defense to the original suit.

19. Sims v. Nash, 1 How. (Miss.) 271.

20. Sims v. Nash, 1 How. (Miss.) 271.

Under 2 N. Y. Rev. St. p. 88, § 32, providing that no execution should issue upon a judgment against an executor or administrator until an account of his administration had been rendered and settled, or unless on an order of the surrogate who appointed him, it was held a good plea to a declaration on a scire facias that the representative had not rendered an account of his administration to the surrogate. Dox v. Backenstose, 12 Wend. 542.

where the judgment rendered in the original action is considered an admission of assets to the amount of the claim in suit, the representative cannot set up fully administered or want of assets as a defense,[21] unless the nature of the original suit was such that the representative had no opportunity to set up such defense.[22]

c. By Action of Debt Suggesting a Devastavit. The more usual practice, however, at common law and under the statutes is for the judgment creditor to bring an action of debt against the representative on the judgment suggesting a devastavit,[23] even before an issuance of execution and a return of nulla bona on the

The insolvency of the estate established since the recovery of the judgment is a good plea to a scire facias against an administrator to have execution by a former judgment recovered against him in that capacity. Coleman v. Hall, 12 Mass. 570.

That there are effects of the decedent in the jurisdiction subject to the execution is no answer to a writ of scire facias with the suggestion of devastavit, for if there were such effects, it became the duty of the representative to apply them accordingly. Stewart v. Richardson, 32 Miss. 313.

Matters of defense which might have been pleaded to the original action but were not cannot be pleaded in the action by scire facias. Hunter v. Hunter, 4 N. C. 558; Cude v. Spence, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 278; Dickson v. Wilkinson, 3 How. (U. S.) 57, 11 L. ed. 491; Hatch v. Eustis, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,207, 1 Gall. 160.

21. Platt v. Robins, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 276, 1 Am. Dec. 110; Carver v. Wells, 17 R. I. 688, 24 Atl. 466; Cope v. McFarland, 2 Head (Tenn.) 543; White v. Archbill, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 588 (applying this rule to a scire facias upon a foreign judgment against the representative); Blount v. Hopson, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 399. See Coleman v. Hall, 12 Mass. 570; Graham v. Ruble, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 170. Contra, Black v. Barton, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 239; Dimond v. Allen, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 10.

22. Cox v. Cox, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 305; Wray v. Williams, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 302. If after verdict and before judgment defendant dies, and his administrator becomes a party to the suit, and judgment passes against him, and execution issues thereon, and is returned unsatisfied, on scire facias against the administrator he may plead no assets or insolvency, for he had no time to plead such plea in the original suit. Hatch v. Eustis, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,207, 1 Gall. 160.

23. Georgia.— Porter v. Rountree, 111 Ga. 369, 36 S. E. 761.

Kentucky.— Jeeter v. Durham, 6 J. J. Marsh. 228; Harpending v. Daniels, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 858.

Minnesota.— Whitney v. Pinney, 51 Minn. 146, 53 S. W. 198.

New Jersey.— Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569; Van Horn v. Teasdale, 9 N. J. L. 379.

North Carolina.— See Hunter v. Hunter, 4 N. C. 558.

Pennsylvania.— Mead v. Kilday, 2 Watts 110.

South Carolina.— Willis v. Tozer, 44 S. C. 1, 21 S. E. 617, holding that where a judgment quando acciderint is rendered against an administrator who has pleaded plene administravit an action of debt suggesting a devastavit may be maintained on such judgment against the representative personally for assets subsequently coming into his hands.

Tennessee.— Hillman v. Hickerson, 3 Head 575; Cope v. McFarland, 2 Head 543.

Virginia.— Nuttall v. McDouall, 6 Call 53. Under Virginia practice it has been held that where execution against the goods of the decedent proves ineffectual, a creditor may elect to proceed at law against a representative for a devastavit, or by bill against him and the legatees or distributees for an account of assets and a proportional contribution to pay the debt. Sampson v. Payne, 5 Munf. 176.

Wisconsin.— Rusk v. Sackett, 28 Wis. 400.

England.— Wheatley v. Lane, 1 Saund. 216, holding that debt lies on a judgment had against an executor upon a bare suggestion of a devastavit.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1912.

It is essential to this action that the judgment should have been rendered against the representative in that capacity. Van Horn v. Teasdale, 9 N. J. L. 379; Brown v. Hillegas, 2 Hill (S. C.) 447.

One executor may bring debt against another suggesting a devastavit in the life of his testator on a judgment recovered by the testator against defendant. Berwick v. Andrews, 2 Ld. Raym. 971.

But such action will not lie against the executor of an executor, because founded on a tort which dies with the person. Griffith v. Beasly, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 434.

A decree rendered in another state to be levied on the decedent's property, and if there is no such property then on the representative's property, will support an action suggesting a devastavit against the representative. Pennington v. Hayes, 3 N. C. 330.

That plaintiff creditor did not present his claim to defendants under oath and affirmation is no defense to such an action. Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569.

In debt on a judgment against two administrators with a suggestion of a devastavit, a plea that they or either of them did not waste the goods, etc., which came into the hands of one of them is not sufficient, since it does not apply to what came into the hands of the other. Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569.

Allegation of time and place.— A plea by a defendant that he did not waste, etc., any of judgment;[24] and if a devastavit is established, an execution de bonis propriis may issue.[25] The foundation of this action is a devastavit committed by the personal representative, and without a suggestion or allegation and proof of a devastavit it cannot be maintained.[26] The representative may defend himself in such action by proving that there were goods of the intestate which might have been taken in execution of the judgment;[27] but he will not be allowed to plead any plea which assumes to place his defense merely on the want of assets;[28] or any other matter which he might or ought to have pleaded to the former action.[29] This action in some jurisdictions is a substitute for the writ of scire facias,[30] and in others is a concurrent remedy with that writ.[31] The amount of recovery in such action should in general be for the sum of the principal debt on which the judgment was rendered, together with interest and costs;[32] but if the representative pleads plene administravit and shows the real amount of assets in his hands unadministered at the date of the first judgment the amount of recovery should be limited to that amount.[33]

4. Enforcement For Representative's Personal Debts. A judgment against the representative for his individual debt cannot be enforced by execution against the decedent's estate in his hands until there has been a final accounting and settlement of the estate.[34]

the chattels of the deceased which at any time came into his hands to be administered, etc., is not bad for failure to allege time and place, since it is merely a negative averment. Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569.

A plea setting up an application to settle the estate as insolvent, as a bar to such an action, is insufficient under a statute providing that such application shall not bar an action against the administrator, except when the application is made before action is brought or pending the action, where it fails to allege that the application was made before the judgment was obtained against the administrator. Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569.

24. Burke v. Adkins, 2 Port. (Ala.) 236; Jeeter v. Durham, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 228; Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569.

25. Brown v. Hillegas, 2 Hill (S. C.) 447.

26. Porter v. Rountree, 111 Ga. 369, 36 S. E. 761; Brown v. Hillegas, 2 Hill (S. C.) 447; Hillman v. Hickerson, 3 Head (Tenn.) 575; Griffith v. Beasly, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 434; Glenn v. Maguire, 3 Tenn. Ch. 695.

Return as evidence of devastavit.— The return of a devastavit by the sheriff is not conclusive evidence of that fact in such an action (Howell v. Potts, 20 N. J. L. 569); and a return of "No property to be found," on an execution against a certain person individually, issued on a judgment recovered against him as administrator, is no evidence of a devastavit as to him in that capacity (Forrester v. Tift, 84 Ga. 595, 10 S. E. 1015).

27. Griffith v. Beasly, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 434.

28. Moore v. Martindale, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 353; Cope v. McFarland, 2 Head (Tenn.) 543; Hope v. Bague, 3 East 2; Erving v. Peters, 3 T. R. 685.

29. Walker v. Kendall, Hard. (Ky.) 404; Reigne v. Hunt, 1 Speers (S. C.) 281; Bastable v. Wilson, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,097, 1 Cranch C. C. 124.

Collateral attack of judgment.— Where a judgment de bonis testatoris is obtained against an executor, execution issued thereon, a return of nulla bona made by the sheriff, and a suit brought on the judgment against the executor personally, suggesting a devastavit, the executor cannot in his defense to the suit make a collateral attack upon the judgment by showing fraud or mistake in its rendition; and this is true although the judgment was rendered by the same court in which the suit thereon is pending. Porter v. Rountree, 111 Ga. 369, 36 S. E. 761.

30. See cases cited supra, 23.

31. Hillman v. Hickerson, 3 Head (Tenn.) 575.

32. Young v. Lancaster, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 381; Walker v. Kendall, Hard. (Ky.) 404. But it is erroneous to give judgment in such case for running interest upon the debt until paid. Young v. Lancaster, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 381.

A judgment by default in such action admits the truth of the allegation and declaration, and a jury of inquiry is not necessary to ascertain the damages. Greenup v. Woodworth, 1 Ill. 232.

33. Com. v. Richardson, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 81.

34. Burton v. Robinson, 3 Houst. (Del.) 154; Worrall v. Driggs, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 449 (holding that the interest of an executor in the assets of the estate is not vested until an accounting is had so as to be subject to the lien of an execution against him for his personal debts); Farr v. Newman, 4 T. R. 621, 2 Rev. Rep. 479; McLeod v. Drummond, 17 Ves. Jr. 152, 11 Rev. Rep. 41, 34 Eng. Reprint 59. See also Ray v. Ray, Coop. t. Eld. 261, 14 Rev. Rep. 255, 35 Eng. Reprint 553; Whale v. Booth, 4 T. R. 625 note, 2 Rev. Rep. 483 note.

In Alabama, however, it has been held that as between the representative and his individual creditor assets of the decedent may be

5. Property Subject to Execution — a. In General. A judgment de bonis testatoris rendered against a personal representative as such can be executed only against the goods and chattels of the decedent in the representative's hands to be administered.[35] It cannot be levied upon the individual property of the representative,[36] nor upon personalty of the estate in the hands of a legatee or distributee with the representative's assent,[37] the creditor's remedy in such case being to pursue the representative at law or to follow the property in equity.[38] On the other hand a judgment de bonis propriis can only be executed upon the individual property of the representative, and not upon the property of the estate or of any other person.[39]

b. Lands of Decedent. In most jurisdictions a judgment against a personal representative for a debt of the decedent cannot be levied upon lands descended or devised, except, upon a deficiency of the personalty, by means of special statutory proceedings, which must be strictly complied with.[40] In other jurisdictions, seized and sold on execution wherever the representative has so dealt with the assets as to be responsible for a devastavit, or has used them in a manner inconsistent with his trust. Williamson v. Mobile Branch Bank, 7 Ala. 906, 42 Am. Dec. 617.

35. Georgia.— Rogers v. Bullen, R. M. Charlt. 196.

Mississippi.— Packwood v. Elliott, 43 Miss. 504.

Pennsylvania.— Mead v. Kilday, 2 Watts 110. See Miller v. Ege, 8 Pa. St. 352.

Texas.— This rule applies to execution against an independent executor in this state. Roberts v. Connellee, 71 Tex. 11, 8 S. W. 626; Texas Savings-Loan Assoc. v. Banker, 26 Tex. Civ. App. 107, 61 S. W. 724.

Virginia.— Tucker v. Sweney, Jeff. 5.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1914.

Money in the hands of a debtor of the decedent is not the subject of execution at the suit of a creditor on a judgment rendered against the administrator of such decedent. Hartshorne v. Henderson, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 511, 6 Pa. L. J. 192.

Property devised to an executor in trust is subject to execution against the trustee in his capacity as executor until it is assigned in accordance with the trust. Myers v. Daviess, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 394.

As to property transferred from the estate, execution cannot be levied by the creditor with a judgment against the representative; and if such judgment creditor contends that the transfer was fraudulent or void he should first bring a bill to set the transfer aside. Ford v. Douglas, 5 How. (U. S.) 143, 12 L. ed. 89. See also Wier v. Davis, 4 Ala. 442.

36. Jones v. Miles, 1 How. (Miss.) 50.

37. Castellaw v. Guilmartin, 58 Ga. 305; Anderson v. Irvine, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 231; Alston v. Foster, 16 N. C. 337; Randolph v. Randolph, 6 Rand. (Va.) 194; Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. (Va.) 308. Contra, Brooks v. Lewis, 1 How. (Miss.) 207.

38. Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. (Va.) 308.

39. Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 52; Small v. Small, 16 S. C. 64; Moore v. Ferguson, 2 Munf. (Va.) 421; Barr v. Barr, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 26.

A scire facias against an executor which directs the seizure of his property and not the property of the testator cannot be levied upon the effects of the estate, the presumption being that the execution followed the judgment, and consequently that the judgment was against the executor personally. Lemon v. Thaxton, 59 Ga. 706.

Property in another county.— Under a Pennsylvania statute (Act March 29, 1832, § 57), where a defaulting executor has no property in the county where the orphans' court having jurisdiction of his accounts sits, execution may issue to take his property in any other county. Helfrich v. Stem, 17 Pa. St. 143.

40. Connecticut.— Flynn v. Morgan, 55 Conn. 130, 10 Atl. 466, execution cannot levy on real estate belonging to the estate. See Welles v. Faning, 1 Root. 95.

Georgia.— Where land of an intestate is turned over in good faith by the administrator to the sole heir on final settlement, judgment thereafter against the administrator cannot be enforced against it by levy and sale without further proceedings. Jones v. Parker, 55 Ga. 11. See Daniel v. Hollingshead, 16 Ga. 190.

Indiana.— Under the statutes of this state a complaint may be made by petition of the judgment creditor to enforce his judgment against land of the decedent, on the allegation that the personal assets are exhausted or insufficient; the legal representative and heirs or devisees being made parties, and ample defense permitted, with due proof requisite of the essential facts. Pauley v. Langdon, 83 Ind. 353; Allen v. Vestal, 60 Ind. 245; Berry v. Bullard, 8 Blackf. 399; Brownfield v. Vail, 7 Blackf. 203; Williams v. Moorehouse, 6 Blackf. 215; Brown v. Rose, 6 Blackf. 69. The petition should also set out and describe the real estate of a debtor against which the creditor seeks execution. Armstrong v. Milligan, 6 Blackf. 463. As such proceeding is one at law answers and cross bills are not admissible. Berry v. Bullard, supra. A judgment by default against some of defendants to such petition is erro-however, it is held otherwise even though the lands have been partitioned and are in the hands of the heirs or devisees.[41]

neous, where no process appears to have been issued or publication made or where the record does not show the petition to have been proved. Berry v. Bullard, supra.

Maryland.—Judgments obtained against an executor of an administrator by a creditor of the decedent are not alone such evidences of debt against the heir at law as to entitle the creditor to payment from the proceeds of the real estate; but when such proceeds are in the court, and a creditor wishes to subject them to his claim on the ground of a deficiency of personal assets, he need not exhibit full proof of his claim in the first instance. That may be done under an order nisi upon the heirs at law. Gaither v. Welch, 3 Gill & J. 259.

Massachusetts.— Real estate of a decedent cannot be levied on. Thayer v. Hollis, 3 Metc. 369; Clarke v. Tufts, 5 Pick. 337; Ex p. Allen, 15 Mass. 58; Borden v. Borden, 5 Mass. 67, 4 Am. Dec. 32.

Mississippi.— Packwood v. Elliott, 43 Miss. 504; Buckingham v. Nelson, 42 Miss. 417; Lowry v. Houston, 3 How. 394. On the return of nulla bona to an execution against an executor a scire facias will not lie to revive the judgment against the devisees to subject the real estate. Foster v. Sumner, 3 Sm. & M. 606.

New Jersey.— Before the statute of 1799, the real estate of a deceased person might be sold on execution against the executors or administrators. Warwick v. Hunt, 11 N. J. L. 1. And see Ely v. Jones, 1 N. J. L. 131.

New York.— Matter of Lazelle, 16 Misc. 515, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 343 (holding that realty purchased by an executor on a sale under a foreclosure of a mortgage held by him as executor is not subject to execution); In re Hesdra, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 842, Pow. Surr. 359 (holding that, under Code Civ. Proc. § 1823, real estate of the decedent is not subject to execution, although the decedent's will directed the sale of such real estate for the purpose of administration and distribution, since in such case the doctrine of equitable conversion does not apply); Matter of Jansen, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 451, 1 Connoly Surr. 362.

North Carolina.— A judgment of execution against the real estate of a deceased debtor in the hands of his representatives cannot issue unless it appears that the executor has fully administered, and had not sufficient assets to satisfy the creditor's demand. Carwell v. Brodie, 5 N. C. 97.

Ohio.— Gray v. Askew, 3 Ohio 466.

Pennsylvania.— Under Act (1834), § 34, a judgment rendered against a personal representative cannot be levied or paid out of real estate in the hands of the decedent's widow, heirs, or devisees, unless they were made parties to the action in which the judgment was rendered, or unless the judgment is revived against them by a writ of scire facias and, except in exceptional cases, such proceeding is absolutely essential, in order to make a valid sale of such real estate. Leiper v. Thomson, 60 Pa. St. 177; Kessler's Appeal, 32 Pa. St. 390; Sample v. Barr, 25 Pa. St. 457; McCracken v. Roberts, 19 Pa. St. 390; Benner v. Phillips, 9 Watts & S. 13; Murphy's Appeal, 8 Watts & S. 165; Payne v. Craft, 7 Watts & S. 458. But previous to this act a judgment against a representative, whether adverse or by confession, bound the lands of the decedent without notice to the heirs or devisees. Payne v. Craft, supra; Pennsylvania Agriculture, etc., Bank v. Stambaugh, 13 Serg. & R. 299; Morris v. McConaughey, 1 Yeates 9.

Tennessee.— The statutes in this state provide (in the case of domestic judgments only) a remedy against lands in the hands of heirs or devisees where the defense of "fully administered" is disposed of and the personalty is insufficient to meet the demand. Henry v. Mills, 1 Lea 144; Woolridge v. Page, 1 Lea 135; Saunders v. Wilder, 2 Head 577; Gilman v. Tisdale, 1 Yerg. 285; Peck v. Wheaton, Mart. & Y. 353.

United States.— Schley v. Collis, 47 Fed. 250, 13 L. R. A. 567; O'Brien v. Woody, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,398, 4 McLean 75.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1915. And see DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION, 14 Cyc. 203; and, generally, WILLS.

Lands devised to an executor for the payment of the testator's debts are equitable assets which a creditor can reach only through the aid of a court of equity, and are not subject to execution on a judgment against the executor. Helm v. Darby, 3 Dana (Ky.) 185; Smith v. Caswell, 3 N. C. 285. See In re Hesdra, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 842, Pow. Surr. (N. Y.) 359. And see, generally, WILLS.

41. In Kentucky, although the personal estate is the primary fund for the payment of debts, when both heir or devisee and representative are sued, and nulla bona is returned as to the latter, the creditor may have satisfaction out of the real estate. Litsey v. Smith, 10 B. Mon. 74.

In Maine an execution issued on a judgment against the goods and estate of a decedent in the hands of his executor or administrator may be legally extended on any lands of which the decedent died seized, although a partition of them among the heirs or devisees may already have been made by order of the probate court. Nowell v. Bragdon, 14 Me. 320. An execution issued upon a judgment recovered against an administrator of an estate represented as insolvent may, under Rev. St. c. 76, §§ 13, 43, be legally levied on the real estate of the intestate fraudulently conveyed by him, if the administrator assumed the defense of the action pending against his intestate, and neglected to suggest the insolvency upon the record. Wyman v. Fox, 55 Me. 523, 59 Me. 100. See Frost v.

c. Under Judgment Quando Acciderint. A judgment quando acciderint applies to assets and property which may come into the representative's hands after the judgment is rendered, and it therefore can be levied on all of the decedent's estate except such as was in the hands of the representative at the time of the judgment or such as had been previously administered by him.[42]

6. Issuance, Form, and Requisites of Execution — a. In General. Execution upon a judgment against a personal representative, when permitted, should conform to the judgment upon which it is issued.[43] If the judgment fixes the liability upon the decedent's estate, the execution should issue against the representative as such, and should direct the levy to be made upon the property of the estate in his hands to be administered.[44] On the other hand, if the judgment fixes the liability upon the representative individually, the execution should issue against him individually and should direct the levy to be made upon his individual property.[45] Under some statutes where the judgment is for debt or dam-

Ihsley, 54 Me. 345; Sturgis v. Reed, 2 Me. 109.

Under a South Carolina statute it is held that lands of a decedent may be sold under execution upon a judgment against his personal representative without making the heirs or devisees parties thereto, and notwithstanding there may be personal assets. Brock v. Kirkpatrick, 60 S. C. 322, 38 S. E. 779, 85 Am. St. Rep. 847; Hendrix v. Holden, 58 S. C. 495, 36 S. E. 1010; Martin v. Latta, 4 McCord 128; D'Urphey v. Nelson, 1 Brev. 289; Smith v. Smith, 1 McCord Eq. 134. See Jones v. Wightman, 2 Hill 579.

42. Smith v. Smith, 59 Ga. 550; Allen v. Matthews, 7 Ga. 149; McDowall v. Branham, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 572. See also Hollis v. Sales, 103 Ga. 75, 29 S. E. 482.

Scire facias to reach assets which have come into the representative's hands since the judgment was rendered can issue only on a judgment quando acciderint. Miller v. Spencer, 6 N. C. 281.

43. See Executions, 17 Cyc. 1009 et seq.

44. Boykin v. Cook, 61 Ala. 472; Wall v. Jones, 62 Ga. 725; Jones v. Parker, 60 Ga. 500; Horn v. Bird, 45 Ga. 610; Horne v. Spivey, 44 Ga. 616; Beazley v. Dunn, 8 Rich. (S. C.) 345; Lowndes v. Pinckney, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 44.

An erroneous judgment against a representative without designating him as such does not warrant an execution against the estate. McCullough v. Tidwell, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 479.

A variance in form does not render the execution void, but voidable, and if no motion is made to quash it, it will be good in a collateral suit (Beale v. Botetourt Justices, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 278. See Moughon v. Brown, 68 Ga. 207), or the execution may be amended, upon motion, to correspond with the judgment (Hollis v. Sales, 103 Ga. 75, 29 S. E. 482; Dewey v. Peeler, 161 Mass. 135, 36 N. E. 800, 42 Am. St. Rep. 399; McCormack v. Meason, 1 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 92).

Execution against representative and surety. — Under an Alabama statute it has been held that where a judgment de bonis intestatis is rendered against an appellant who is administrator, and at a subsequent term judgment is rendered against his surety for the appeal, the entries only authorized one execution — de bonis intestatis as to the principal, and de bonis propriis as to the surety. Bancroft v. Stanton, 7 Ala. 351.

An execution against a representative jointly with other defendants on a judgment recovered against the decedent with the other defendants is irregular and void. Blanks v. Rector, 24 Ark. 496, 88 Am. Dec. 780.

45. Keniston v. Little, 30 N. H. 318, 64 Am. Dec. 297.

Under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2554, providing that execution upon a decree directing the payment of money should run against "the property of the party directed to make the payment," execution upon a decree directing payment of money by a representative as such must run against the representative's property. Bennett v. Crain, 41 Hun 183 [distinguishing People v. McAdam, 84 N. Y. 294]; Matter of Quackenbos, 38 Misc. 66, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 964; Matter of Waring, 7 Misc. 502, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 393; Davies v. Skidmore, 5 Hill 501. In Peyser v. Wendt, 2 Dem. Surr. 221, the surrogate of New York took the view that the execution was properly issued against the property of the executor, and cited authorities on the subject. The court of appeals has held the same in Power v. Speckman, 126 N. Y. 354, 359, 27 N. E. 474. For form of execution on a surrogate's order or decree for the payment of money by a representative in the supreme court see Davies v. Skidmore, supra.

The mere addition of the word "executor" or "administrator" to defendant's name in a decree or in the execution thereon, without anything further to indicate that it is against him in his representative capacity, does not prevent the decree from binding his personal goods and chattels and the execution from being levied thereon.

Georgia.— Bagley v. Roberson, 57 Ga. 148; Fry v. Shehee, 55 Ga. 208; Tinsley v. Lee, 51 Ga. 482.

Iowa.— Lepage v. McNamara, 5 Iowa 124.

New York.— Olmsted v. Vredenburgh, 10 How. Pr. 215.

South Carolina.— Gowan v. Gentry, 32 S. C. 369, 11 S. E. 82.

ages and costs, one execution may issue for the debt or damages against the estate of the decedent and another for costs against the representative's individual property.[46]

b. Time of Issuance. Execution upon a judgment rendered against a personal representative must be issued within the time limited by law, if any, after the rendition of the judgment, unless a sufficient cause for delay is shown;[47] but under some statutes it cannot be issued until the expiration of a certain period of time.[48]

7. Lien, Levy, or Extent and Custody of Property. In accordance with the general rules regulating the levy of executions upon judgments[49] the personal representative is entitled to notice to choose the appraiser or appraisers, where appraisement is a requisite to a valid sale of the property,[50] or he may waive an inquisition and condemnation.[51] A suggestion of insolvency of the estate by the representative prevents an execution thereafter levied on the estate from creating a lien thereon, although the teste of the writ was dated prior to such suggestion.[52] A levy collusively made by the representative is void as against another creditor of the estate who makes a regular levy on the same estate.[53]

8. Stay, Quashing, Vacating, and Relief Against Execution.[54] An execution against a personal representative should be suspended where it does not show on its face whether it is to be satisfied out of the individual property of defendant representative or out of the property of his decedent;[55] or until it is determined what amount of assets is applicable thereto;[56] or where it appears that the personal assets are insufficient to pay all debts, until an application for the sale of real estate is made.[57] An execution upon a judgment rendered for or against a

Vermont.— Rich v. Sowles, 64 Vt. 408, 23 Atl. 723, 15 L. R. A. 850.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1917.

An execution against a representative personally is presumed to follow the judgment and cannot be levied on the estate until amended. Lemon v. Thaxton, 59 Ga. 706; Freeman v. Binswanger, 57 Ga. 159.

46. Ludwig v. Blackinton, 24 Me. 25; Look v. Luce, 136 Mass. 249. And see Beasley v. Mott, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 354.

47. Taylor v. Daniel, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 53, holding that the absence of the clerk was sufficient to excuse a delay of ten days in suing out execution after the time limited.

48. In New Jersey no execution can issue on a judgment in an action commenced against a representative after the making of an order, authorized under the supplement of March 17, 1855, to the Orphans' Court Act, sections 22, 24, limiting creditors to nine months within which to bring in their claims, until ten months after the making of such order. Taylor v. Volk, 38 N. J. L. 204. See, generally, Executions, 17 Cyc. 1003.

49. See, generally, Executions, 17 Cyc. 1049 et seq.

Equity will relieve an executor from liability for forthcoming bonds given after confession of judgment, where he executed them believing the assets of the estate were ample to meet them, but they proved not to be so by reason of an unexpected depreciation. Miller v. Rice, 1 Rand. (Va.) 438.

50. Daniels v. Ellison, 3 N. H. 279. See Executions, 17 Cyc. 1105.

51. Bennett v. Fulmer, 49 Pa. St. 155; Hunt v. Devling, 8 Watts (Pa.) 403. Compare Sample v. Barr, 25 Pa. St. 457. And see, generally, Executions, 17 Cyc. 1104.

52. Gunn v. Boone, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 8. And see, generally, Executions, 17 Cyc. 1050 et seq.

53. Where a personal representative fraudulently represents both the nominal plaintiff and also the estate in an action against himself as administrator, and in levying execution on the judgment thus obtained he obtains no title thereunder, and a nonsuit is properly entered against him in an action for the recovery of land claimed under such levy. Goddard v. Divoll, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 413.

54. Supersedeas or stay pending appeal see, generally, Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 885 et seq.

55. Higgins v. Driggs, 21 Fla. 103.

56. Rountree v. Britt, 94 N. C. 104, holding that where an administrator recovers judgment on his cause of action, and defendant on his counter-claim, the former is entitled to an execution for the entire amount of his recovery; but the execution on defendant's judgment will be stayed until it is determined what amount of assets is applicable thereto.

57. Dundas v. Leiper, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 569, holding, however, that a levari facias on a mortgage is not an execution, within the act of Feb. 24, 1834, section 35, directing that in case of an execution against executors if the personal assets are insufficient to pay all debts the court shall stay proceedings until application is made to the orphans' court for the sale of the real estate, and hence the proceedings will not be stayed to enable execupersonal representative may also be stayed, under some statutes, by defendant giving a proper bond;[58] or where equitable circumstances exist, as where the estate has been represented insolvent,[59] a court of equity may restrain the execution by an injunction.[60] An execution issued by a representative who only had power to prosecute the action will be vacated;[61] and the fact that he afterward obtains authority to issue such execution will not cure the illegal issuance.[62] Sureties who have been released or discharged from liability on the administration bond may obtain relief from a statutory execution issued against them and tors to apply to the orphans' court for a sale of the premises as provided by the act. Compare Gray v. Coulter, 4 Pa. St. 188.

58. Glassford v. Hacket, 3 Call (Va.) 193,. holding, however, that the statute does not give a motion on a three months' replevy bond against executors given by them in stay of execution.

Stay by donee of property.— In an action by the administrator of an insolvent estate, acting as representative of the creditors to recover property donated by the intestate, it was proper to stay execution against the donee upon payment by him of the costs and the filing of a bond to pay such sum as should be necessary to discharge the debts and the expenses of administration. Abbott v. Tenney, 18 N. H. 109.

In Indiana a judgment against an administrator in his representative capacity is not a repleviable judgment within the meaning of a statute authorizing a stay of execution upon the giving of repleviable bail, and therefore the representative is not liable on such bail given to secure a stay of such a judgment. Egbert v. State, 4 Ind. 399. But see Elliott v. Moore, 5 Blackf. 270.

59. Lambert v. Mallett, 50 Ala. 73; Neibert v. Withers, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 599, holding also that it is no answer to the bill that the representation of insolvency was procured by fraud. Compare Leslie v. Willey, Wright (Ohio) 145.

60. Alabama.— Lambert v. Mallett, 50 Ala. 73.

Arkansas.— Fowler v. Williams, 20 Ark. 641, holding, however, that where defendant produces no evidence to sustain his allegation, he will, on dissolution of the injunction, be liable under the statute to damages. See also Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854.

Georgia.— Dobbs v. Prothro, 57 Ga. 14.

Kentucky.— An executor is under no legal or moral duty to plead limitations to an action against him, and his failure to do so affords no ground for an injunction against the enforcement of the decree. Lee v. Colston, 5 T. B. Mon. 238.

Louisiana.— Although the heirs renounce, a creditor cannot, without letters of curatorship, enjoin an execution sale of the property under a judgment against the deceased. A curator must be appointed, and the injunction prosecuted by him. Vienne v. Boissier, 10 Mart. 359.

Maryland.— Kearney v. Sascer, 37 Md. 264, holding, however, that where the representative who seeks relief shows that the erroneous execution was attributable to his own culpable negligence or misconduct, and comes into court without having done equity, he will not be relieved by equity.

New Mexico.—Where a creditor recovered judgment against a debtor in his lifetime, but did not sue out execution, on reviving such judgment by scire facias against the administrators of the debtor, after his death, he will be enjoined from enforcing his judgment beyond the pro rata share to which he may be entitled. Crenshaw v. Delgado, 1 N. M. 376.

North Carolina.— Curtis v. Hartsfield, 4 N. C. 114.

Pennsylvania.— See Randalls v. Davidson, 1 C. Pl. 13. Where property in the hands of the representative is levied on under an execution against him individually, the probate court will enjoin the sale of the property until the representative accounts and the property belonging to him individually is thereby ascertained. Turner's Estate, 7 Kulp 481; Klein's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 354.

Texas.— Coombs v. Lane, 17 Tex. 280.

Virginia.— Hickerson v. Helm, 2 Rob. 628; Whitton v. Terry, 6 Leigh 189. Where execution against the goods of a testator is levied on property specifically bequeathed by him, and allotted to the legatee by the executor, an injunction ought to be granted to restrain proceedings until an account of the assets remaining unadministered should be taken. Sampson v. Bryce, 5 Munf. 175; Scott v. Holliday, 5 Munf. 103. See also Chapman v. Washington, 4 Call 327.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1923.

Where judgment has been recovered against the executor of the debtor's surety, the creditor may enforce his claim by execution against the property of the executor, although an injunction be pending restraining the creditors generally of the principal debtor from proceeding against him at law. Beall v. Osbourn, 30 Md. 8.

Proceedings under a special execution, allowed by statute against the estate of a decedent whose lands have been sold under a prior execution, upon condition that the land be first redeemed from the prior execution sale, will be enjoined where the first execution has been set aside in equity. Cohen v. Menard, 136 Ill. 130, 24 N. E. 604.

61. Lambert v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 579, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 877.

62. Lambert v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 579, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 877.

the representative by a supersedeas,[63] or by motion to the court, if in session, to quash the execution,[64] or if there are equitable circumstances by a bill in equity.[65]

9. Sales Under Execution — a. In General. Except in those jurisdictions in which execution is not permitted to issue against a decedent's estate,[66] a sale of a decedent's property under execution upon a judgment rendered against his personal representative passes a good title to the purchaser only where all the statutory requirements have been complied with,[67] and the sale conforms to the judgment and execution,[68] and is of property subject to such execution.[69] But where the purchaser has acted in good faith and the heirs or devisees have received a benefit from the proceeds of the sale, as by such proceeds being applied to the payment of debts to which the property was subject, equity will not permit the property to be recovered from the purchaser except upon his being reimbursed.[70] A personal representative cannot purchase for himself lands of a decedent sold under an execution created in the latter's lifetime,[71] and where he does so the sale may be set aside upon application of the devisees or heirs made before the acknowledgment of the sheriff's deed.[72]

63. Hudson v. Modawell, 64 Ala. 481.

64. Hudson v. Modawell, 64 Ala. 481.

65. Hudson v. Modawell, 64 Ala. 481.

66. A sale under execution of a decedent's property in such jurisdictions is void (Meredith v. Scallion, 51 Ark. 361, 11 S. W. 516, 3 L. R. A. 812; Hornor v. Hanks, 22 Ark. 572; Bertin v. Phillips, 1 La. Ann. 173; O'Brien v. Woody, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,398, 4 McLean 75. See McGee v. Wallis, 57 Miss. 638, 34 Am. Rep. 484); nor is it rendered valid by the fact that the representative made no objection to the proceedings and received the surplus of the proceeds after payment of the amount of the judgment upon which execution issued (Bertin v. Phillips, supra. See Emmons v. Williams, 28 Tex. 776).

67. Ponder v. Moseley, 2 Fla. 207, 48 Am. Dec. 194; Worthy v. Hames, 8 Ga. 234; McCormick v. Skelly, 201 Pa. St. 184, 50 Atl. 765; Murphy's Appeal, 8 Watts & S. (Pa.) 165; Carroll v. Carroll, 20 Tex. 731. See McCarthy v. Speed, 16 S. D. 584, 94 N. W. 411.

Where the heirs or devisees are not made parties to a judgment obtained against a representative, in compliance with statute, a sale of the decedent's real estate under such judgment does not divest the title of the heirs. Lepage v. McNamara, 5 Iowa 124; McCracken v. Roberts, 19 Pa. St. 390; Mangan's Appeal, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 257.

68. Anderson v. Lyons, 2 Tenn. Ch. 61, holding that where a judgment against a personal representative of a decedent is satisfied by levy of an execution on the right, title, and interest of the personal representative in certain land belonging to the estate, and sale thereof to judgment plaintiff, the purchaser gets nothing, and equity has jurisdiction to set aside the satisfaction.

Where the judgment and execution run against the personal representative de bonis propriis, only his individual interest, if any, can be sold and not the interest of other devisees or heirs (Small v. Small, 16 S. C. 64); and a sale of a decedent's land under an execution upon a representative personally, issued on a judgment against him in his representative capacity, is void (Boykin v. Cook, 61 Ala. 472).

69. A sale under execution of land devised to an executor in trust to pay debts may be quashed on motion of such executor. Helm v. Darby, 3 Dana (Ky.) 185. Where an executor has assented to a specific legacy, and afterward an execution issues against the goods of the testator in his hands, the purchaser of such specific legacy at the sheriff's sale under the execution acquires no title. Alston v. Foster, 16 N. C. 337; Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. (Va.) 308.

A sale of the representative's individual property under a judgment against him as representative may be set aside on motion of the representative in his individual capacity. McCarthy v. Speed, 16 S. D. 584, 94 N. W. 411.

70. McGee v. Wallis, 57 Miss. 638, 34 Am. Rep. 484; Alston v. Foster, 16 N. C. 337; Evans v. Meylert, 19 Pa. St. 402.

Where the purchaser under the execution is afterward ousted by the heirs, he is entitled to a decree against the administrator and heirs for the amount of the purchase-money credited upon the execution, with interest. White v. Park, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 603. But see Sanders v. Sanders, 13 N. C. 193.

Redemption see Smith v. Knoebel, 82 Ill. 392.

In Arkansas, although a judgment against an administrator can be enforced only by being brought under administration of the probate court, and execution otherwise issued is void, it will not be declared void after sale thereunder, except that the amount due on the judgment be paid, or so much of the lands as may be necessary to pay the judgment be sold. Hornor v. Hanks, 22 Ark. 572.

71. Williamson v. Lamb, 2 Miles (Pa.) 383.

Purchase by a representative to satisfy a judgment which he had obtained as representative held valid against a collateral impeachment. Mitchell v. Hodges, 87 Ind. 491.

72. Williamson v. Lamb, 2 Miles (Pa.) 383.

b. Disposition of Proceeds. The disposition of the proceeds of an execution sale of a decedent's property is regulated entirely by statute,[73] under which it is variously provided that the proceeds shall be applied to all liens of record;[74] or to the satisfaction of the executions under which the property is sold,[75] unless proceedings were taken to declare the estate insolvent before execution issued, in which case the proceeds should be distributed pro rata among the decedent's creditors;[76] and that the surplus, if any, shall be paid to the personal representative for distribution according to law.[77]

Q. Appeal and Error — 1. In General. Appeals from judgment or orders in probate matters or on claims against a decedent's estate are governed and controlled by the statutes regulating the settlement of decedents' estates.[78] Judgment or orders against a decedent's estate not provided for by these statutes are not appealable unless they come within the statutes relating to appeals in civil cases.[79]

2. Right and Duty to Appeal. An appeal from a judgment or order rendered against or affecting a decedent's estate may be taken by his personal representative,[80] unless he has resigned or been removed, in which case his successor may

73. See cases cited in following notes.

74. Morrison's Case, 9 Watts & S. (Pa.) 116; Willing v. Yohe, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 223 (holding also that no liens except those actually existing of record at the time of decedent's death are liens of record within the meaning of this statute; that the filing of a copy of a contract does not make the debt of a decedent a lien of record). Compare Pennsylvania Agriculture, etc., Bank v. Stambaugh, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 299. Where the proceeds of realty sold at an orphans' court or execution sale are before an auditor for distribution, an application to the court for an issue to determine how much is due on a judgment against an administrator is proper. Bacon's Estate, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 376.

75. Von Arx v. Wemple, 45 N. J. L. 89. See Dibble v. Woodhull, 24 N. J. L. 618.

Where an executor does not plead plene administravit, and several judgments, of different dates, are thereupon recovered against him under which the sheriff sells real estate, he is bound to apply the proceeds to the executions in the order of their dates, without regard to the grade of the claims on which the judgments are founded. The rule, it seems, is the same when personal estate is levied on. Huger v. Dawson, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 328.

76. Matthews v. Williams, 13 Fla. 615; Von Arx v. Wemple, 45 N. J. L. 89; Dibble v. Woodhull, 24 N. J. L. 618.

77. Vincent v. Platt, 5 Harr. (Del.) 164; Robinson v. Robinson, 3 Harr. (Del.) 391; Morrison's Case, 9 Watts & S. (Pa.) 116; Com. v. Rahm, 2 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 375; Willing v. Yohe, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 223.

In South Carolina it has been held that where there is a balance remaining after sale of part of intestate's real estate in satisfaction of executions, the administrator is not entitled to the surplus either in law or equity as assets for payment of debts, although the creditors themselves might have claimed it at law. Garlick v. Patterson, Cheves Eq. 27. See also Clifton v. Haig, 4 Desauss. 330, as to payment to commissioner of the court.

78. Ohm's Estate, 82 Cal. 160, 22 Pac. 927; Zimmerman v. Love, 97 Ind. 602; McCurdy v. Love, 97 Ind. 62; Taylor v. Burk, 91 Ind. 252; Bell v. Mousset, 71 Ind. 347; Seward v. Clark, 67 Ind. 289 [overruling Hamlyn v. Nesbit, 37 Ind. 284].

An order compelling a personal representative to allow his name to be used as plaintiff in an action to recover property alleged to have been fraudulently conveyed by the decedent is not appealable under the California statutes. Ohm's Estate, 82 Cal. 160, 22 Pac. 927.

A judgment in an action of replevin by an administrator growing out of a matter not connected with the decedent's estate is not within a statute governing appeals from orders relating to the settlement of a decedent's estate. Sloan v. Lowder, 23 Ind. App. 118, 54 N. E. 135.

79. Ohm's Estate, 82 Cal. 160, 22 Pac. 927; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Etzler, 4 Ind. App. 31, 34 N. E. 669 (holding also that an action begun by a decedent and prosecuted to judgment by his executrix is not within Rev. St. (1881) § 2155, providing for appeals for matters connected with a decedent's estate); May v. Darden, 83 N. C. 237. See Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 507 et seq.

80. Colorado.— Clayton v. Cheeley, 5 Colo. 337.

Louisiana.—Allen's Succession, 48 La. Ann. 1036, 20 So. 193, 55 Am. St. Rep. 295; Baumgarden's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 675; Charmbury's Succession, 34 La. Ann. 21; Taylor v. Jeffries, 10 La. 435.

Maryland.— Moore v. White, 4 Harr. & J. 548.

New York.— Wood v. Phillips, 11 Abb. Pr. N. S. 1.

Texas.— Taylor v. Barron, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 689, holding, however, that where an administrator is made a party to a suit involving more than one estate, and verdict and judgment are certain as to the estate which he represents, he is not in position to allege prosecute the appeal, upon his being made a party to the suit.[81] Heirs of a decedent may also appeal from a judgment against the decedent's estate by which they are aggrieved.[82] Under some statutes, if a personal representative declines to appeal, any party interested may do so.[83]

3. TIME FOR APPEAL. The time for taking an appeal from a judgment or order for or against a decedent's estate is regulated by the statutes relating to appeals in matters connected with decedents' estates,[84] or by the statutes relating to appeals in civil cases generally,[85] according to whether the judgment or order appealed from is within one or the other of these statutes.

4. BONDS. In most jurisdictions an appeal-bond need not be given by a personal representative, unless the appeal is from a judgment affecting him personally,[86] and the same is true in some jurisdictions in reference to a supersedeas error on the ground that they are uncertain as to the other estate, in which he has no interest.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1930. And see APPEAL AND ERROR, 1 Cyc. 640.

An administrator sued before a justice of the peace on a claim against him in his fiduciary capacity has a right, under 2 Gavin & H. St. p. 593, § 64, to appeal from the judgment rendered, although the justice had no jurisdiction of the cause. Palmer v. Fuller, 22 Ind. 115.

An executor is not aggrieved by a decree so as to entitle him to appeal therefrom, where he is protected from claims of creditors by such decree, directing him to pay to the widow insurance upon his decedent's life. Schlegel v. Sisson, 8 S. D. 476, 66 N. W. 1087.

In federal courts.— An executor may maintain a writ of error to the supreme court of the United States to review the decision of the supreme court of a state so construing a statute of the United States as to sustain a claim of creditors against the estate which he represents. Briggs v. Walker, 171 U. S. 466, 19 S. Ct. 1, 43 L. ed. 243 [affirming 102 Ky. 359, 43 S. W. 479, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 419].

81. Kerns v. Dean, 77 Cal. 555, 19 Pac. 817; Iowa L. & T. Co. v. Holderbaum, 86 Iowa 1, 52 N. W. 550; Taylor v. Savage, 1 How. (U. S.) 282, 11 L. ed. 132.

In West Virginia it is not necessary for an administrator de bonis non to make himself a formal party to the record by an order of the circuit court before petitioning for an appeal from a decree in that court against the administrator in chief, for money to be paid out of the assets in his hands to be administered, where the administrator in chief dies after the decree has been rendered. Miller v. Neff, 33 W. Va. 197, 10 S. E. 378, 6 L. R. A. 515.

Where an administrator appeals from an order removing him, it is regular for him to proceed with the suits he has brought until the decision of the appeal; and any default taken while the appeal is pending will be regular, although the order removing him be subsequently affirmed. Thayer v. Mead, 2 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 18.

Refusal of new appointee to act.— Where an administrator who is appointed pending an appeal from a judgment against an executor who has been removed refuses to prosecute the appeal, a legatee cannot claim to be substituted as plaintiff to prosecute the appeal, as the removal of the executor did not in itself affect the litigation, and until the administrator is substituted the original plaintiff will continue to be such in his capacity as executor, and he can allow the legatee as party in interest to prosecute the appeal. Place v. Hayward, 65 N. Y. Super. Ct. 208, 13 N. Y. St. 288.

82. Brater v. Hopper, 77 Hun (N. Y.) 244, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 472.

83. Rutherford v. Allen, 62 Vt. 260, 19 Atl. 714.

84. See Mason v. Roll, 130 Ind. 260, 29 N. E. 1135; Koons v. Mellett, 121 Ind. 585, 23 N. E. 95, 7 L. R. A. 231; May v. Hoover, 112 Ind. 455, 14 N. E. 472; Swindle v. State, 15 Ind. App. 415, 44 N. E. 60.

In South Carolina a party dissatisfied with a decree of the court of ordinary must appeal within twenty days, and prosecute it with reasonable despatch; and where, after filing a suggestion, the appellant neglects to docket it for two years, it is a discontinuance, and leave to docket cannot be granted. Ex p. Thompson, 2 Bailey 116.

85. Koons v. Mellett, 121 Ind. 585, 23 N. E. 95, 7 L. R. A. 231; Swindle v. State, 15 Ind. App. 415, 44 N. E. 60. The statutes relating to appeals in civil actions, and not those relating to appeals in matters connected with the decedent's estate, regulate the time for appeal in an action by a personal representative for the collection of assets of the estate (Walker v. Steele, 121 Ind. 436, 22 N. E. 142, 23 N. E. 271; Rusk v. Gray, 74 Ind. 231; Merritt v. Straw, 6 Ind. App. 360, 33 N. E. 657); or from a decree in a suit by an executor to quiet his title to land under his testator's will (Mason v. Roll, 130 Ind. 260, 29 N. E. 1135), or in an action brought against a person who dies before it is finally determined, and in which his representative is substituted as defendant (May v. Hoover, 112 Ind. 455, 14 N. E. 472; Wright v. Manns, 111 Ind. 422, 12 N. E. 160; Heller v. Clark, 103 Ind. 591, 3 N. E. 844).

86. See APPEAL AND ERROR, 2 Cyc. 823.

An appeal from an award of arbitration may be taken by a personal representative in Pennsylvania without payment of costs or bond,[87] although in others whether or not such bonds shall be given by the representative is left to the discretion of the court.[88]

5. Parties. All persons interested in the judgment or order appealed from should be made parties to the appeal,[89] or should be served with notice of the appeal.[90] One of two or more representatives cannot appeal from a judgment or decree rendered against the estate, without joining the other representative,[91] unless a severance in pleading appears on the record.[92]

6. Presentation and Reservation of Grounds of Review. Questions or objections not properly raised in the lower court and preserved on the record cannot be considered on appeal from a judgment for or against the personal representative.[93] Thus it cannot be contended for the first time on appeal from such judgment that a claim against the estate had not been authenticated and presented to the representative for allowance or rejection,[94] that the person suing or defending entering into a recognizance, although he took out the rule for reference. Murray v. Sharp, 72 Pa. St. 360; Zerbe v. Miller, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 290.

87. See Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 897.

88. Mills v. Forbes, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 466. And see Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 897.

Representative's liability on the bond see Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 953 note 14.

Liability of sureties.—The manner in which a judgment against the representative is to be paid does not affect the primary liability of sureties on their bond, although the compliance with the judgment in manner and form expressed may discharge them from all obligation. Mills v. Forbes, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 466.

Rights of surety on supersedeas bond on payment of judgment.— A representative's execution of a supersedeas bond creates no privity between the sureties and the estate, and the sureties' payment of the judgment on affirmance gives them no right of action against the estate. They can only recover against property devised or bequeathed by being subrogated to the rights of the representative, who can only recover as for an original deficiency of assets, and not for a deficiency caused by his own want of diligent and prudent administration. Maybury v. Grady, 67 Ala. 147.

89. Clarke v. West, 5 Ala. 117, holding that, where judgment is rendered against an administrator upon a final settlement of an insolvent estate in favor of several creditors, all of them must be made parties to a writ of error sued out by the administrator.

Heirs are not necessary parties to an appeal, for the purposes of which the representative has full power to represent the whole estate. McCalop v. Fluker, 12 La. Ann. 345.

90. Cotes v. Smith, 31 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 146. An executrix must give the requisite notice of appeal, notwithstanding she has the privilege by statute to appeal without giving bond. Lockhart v. Lockhart, 1 Tex. 199.

An administrator may waive the necessity of citation and make himself party defendant in error. Morrison v. Lewis, 13 Tex. 64.

91. Portis v. Creagh, 4 Port. (Ala.) 332; Harrington v. Roberts, 7 Ga. 510; Lyon v. Allison, 1 Watts (Pa.) 161.

92. French v. Peters, 177 Mass. 568, 59 N. E. 449.

93. Devol v. Halstead, 16 Ind. 287; Scroggs v. Alexander, 103 N. C. 162, 9 S. E. 401; Walker v. Beal, 9 Wall. (U. S.) 743, 19 L. ed. 814, objection to time of commencement of action against an executor not raised in a state court cannot be considered where the case has been removed to the United States supreme court. An heir cannot charge executors with items not referred to in the briefs and first urged on motion for rehearing. Kearney v. Nicholson, (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 67 S. W. 361. See Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 660 et seq.

The failure of a non-resident administrator to give bond in the prosecution of an action in this state is a matter in abatement of the action, and cannot be taken advantage of for the first time on appeal. Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Lowry, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 205.

That plaintiff cannot sue both as executor and devisee cannot be first urged on appeal. Stilwell v. Carpenter, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 238.

An appeal by one of several creditors in a bill against an administrator for recovery of their debts and an account of the personal assets does not bring up the case of another creditor, whose claim was allowed, so as to allow its validity to be questioned in the higher court. Cooper v. Lyons, 9 Lea (Tenn.) 596.

As to method of presenting and reserving objections see Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 677 et seq.

94. Arkansas.— Black v. Black, 60 Ark. 390, 30 S. W. 755.

California.— Drake v. Foster, 52 Cal. 225; Stockton Bank v. Howland, 42 Cal. 129; Peterson v. Hornblower, 33 Cal. 266; Coleman v. Woodworth, 28 Cal. 567; In re Cook, 14 Cal. 129; Hentsch v. Porter, 10 Cal. 555.

Indiana.— Hardin v. Crist, 7 Ind. 167.

Kentucky.— Lyon v. Logan County Bank, 78 S. W. 454, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 1668.

Washington.— Neis v. Farquharson, 9 Wash. 508, 37 Pac. 697.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1935. And see supra, X, B, 13; XIV, D, 1, n.

as personal representative has no right to sue or defend in that capacity,[95] that there was a defect in the pleading,[96] or that the judgment against the representative was not in the proper form.[97]

7. Dismissal or Withdrawal. The appellate court may dismiss the appeal where there are defects in the proceedings for review,[98] as where the appeal is not brought within the prescribed time,[99] or where an improper party is made appellee,[1] or where the statutory prerequisites of such appeal have not been complied with.[2] But it has been held that a judgment against a personal representative cannot be dismissed by him at his own volition.[3]

8. Determination and Disposition of Cause. The appellate court will presume on an appeal from a judgment for or against a personal representative that all the statutory prerequisites have been complied with;[4] and as a general rule will

95. Alabama.— It will be presumed on appeal that one once shown to be the legal representative of the estate is still such, although there has been a final settlement of the estate, where it does not appear that he has been discharged or that a decree of distribution has been made. Ligon v. Ligon, 84 Ala. 555, 4 So. 405.

Arkansas.— Complaint cannot for the first time be made on appeal that plaintiff should have sued as administrator, instead of simply denominating himself "administrator," or that he should have shown his official character by profert of letters of administration. Texarkana Gas, etc., Co. v. Orr, 59 Ark. 215, 27 S. W. 66, 43 Am. St. Rep. 30.

Illinois.— Breckenridge v. Ostrom, 79 Ill. 71.

Indiana.— Rundles v. Jones, 3 Ind. 35.

Iowa.— Laverty v. Woodward, 16 Iowa 1.

Kentucky.— Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. McDonald, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 781.

Louisiana.— Garcia v. Kitchings, 11 La. Ann. 642; Allen v. May, 11 La. Ann. 627.

Massachusetts.— Stone v. Simonds, 131 Mass. 457.

New Jersey.— Oliva v. Bunaforza, 31 N. J. Eq. 395.

Texas.— Homuth v. Zapp, 33 Tex. 130; Bull v. Jones, (Civ. App. 1898) 47 S. W. 474.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1936. See also Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 686.

The right to defend a revived action as executrix cannot be questioned in the first instance on a second appeal. Moss v. Rowland, 3 Bush (Ky.) 505.

96. Chambers v. Wright, 52 Ala. 444 (holding that a bill by the heir at law to recover his share of a particular fund in the hands of the administrator of a solvent estate, although defective, if it seeks relief as to that fund only, and not a final settlement and distribution also, is not without equity; and, if not assailed for its defects in the court below, the objection cannot be raised in the appellate court); Jones v. Beverly, 45 Ala. 161.

Failure to bring in all proper parties to the suit is not ground for reversal on appeal where not objected to in the lower court. Alexander v. Steele, 84 Ala. 332, 4 So. 281.

Objection that the presentation and rejection of the claim were not alleged in the complaint cannot be raised for the first time on appeal by a representative who has proceeded to the trial of the claim without objecting to the complaint, and who has expressly admitted that the claim was presented in due time, and that she refused to act upon it. Preston v. Knapp, 85 Cal. 557, 24 Pac. 811.

97. Hellman v. Merz, 112 Cal. 661, 44 Pac. 1079; Simons v. Busby, 119 Ind. 13, 21 N. E. 451; De Lavallette v. Wendt, 75 N. Y. 579, 31 Am. Rep. 494, holding that objection cannot be raised for the first time on appeal that a judgment against an executor, as such, is not in form de bonis testatoris.

The rendition of a personal judgment against the administrator in the enforcement of a claim against the estate is erroneous; but he cannot avail himself of the error on appeal to the supreme court, unless a motion was made to correct it in the court below, and there overruled. Wile v. Wright, 32 Iowa 451.

That a judgment against an administrator is also rendered against his securities, who were not parties to the suit, is not ground for reversal on proceedings in behalf of the administrator, the defect not being objected to by him in the trial court, when assigned as error. Harmon v. Bynum, 40 Tex. 324.

98. See, generally, Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 182 et seq.

99. McMillan v. Kelch, 16 Tex. 150.

1. Where, after judgment in an action by an executor against the curator, the curator has been discharged without opposition, an appeal making him appellee will be discharged, he having no further right to represent the heirs. Davis v. Chapier, 4 La. 133.

2. For want of an affidavit that "it is not for the purpose of delay that the appeal is entered, etc.," the appeal of an administrator from an award of arbitrators will be dismissed. McConnel v. Morton, 11 Pa. St. 398.

3. Bingham v. Waterhouse, 32 Tex. 468.

4. See Weeks v. Coe, 76 N. Y. App. Div. 310, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 477, holding that where a referee has given judgment for a claim against an executor, with costs, it will be presumed, on appeal from an order of the special term granting an extra allowance, that he gave the certificate of unreasonable not review the lower court's findings of fact.[5] If the record shows that material errors occurred in the proceedings in the lower court the judgment may be reversed,[6] or may be remanded for further proceedings if the justice of the case seems to require such proceedings,[7] as where the lower court erred in sustaining exceptions to a plea.[8] But if no error is found,[9] or the error is a harmless one,[10] or is caused or invited by the appealing party,[11] the judgment will be affirmed.[12] Mere clerical errors,[13] as where the clerk of the lower court enters judgment against the representative instead of against the decedent's estate or vice versa,[14] or makes a mistake in the name of the representative,[15] may be amended or corrected by the appellate court.

R. Costs — 1. Personal Liability of Representative For Costs — a. In Actions at Law — (I) Actions by Personal Representative — (A) In Absence of Special Statutory Provisions — (1) Actions Necessarily Brought in Representative Capacity — (a) The General Rule. Subject to some exceptions, which will be hereafter considered, it is very generally held that a personal representative who sues on a cause of action, which he can bring in his representative capacity only (ordinarily but not necessarily a cause of action accruing in decedent's lifetime) is not personally liable for costs if he fails in his action.[16] Not resistance or neglect of the executor required by the code of civil procedure, section 1836, as a condition to granting costs against an executor.

As to presumptions on appeal generally see Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 266 et seq.

5. Niblo v. Binsse, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 435, 31 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 476, 32 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 92. And see Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 345 et seq.

6. Cowdery v. McChesney, 124 Cal. 363, 57 Pac. 221, error in excluding evidence.

7. See Hazelbaker v. Clipper Coal Co., 158 Pa. St. 393, 27 Atl. 1051.

In Louisiana, under Code Pr. art. 1042, in a proceeding in the probate court the judge is required to take the testimony of the witnesses and annex it to the record, together with a list of the documents produced by the parties, that they may be read on appeal, and in case he fails or neglects to do so the cause will be remanded for a new trial at the cost of the appellee. Pargoud v. Breard, 4 La. Ann. 517; Polk v. Childers, 4 La. Ann. 500; Reeve's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 554; Desormes v. Desormes, 17 La. 111; Graham v. Graham, 16 La. 201; Tompkins v. Benjamin, 16 La. 197.

8. Alford v. Cochrane, 7 Tex. 485.

9. Borden v. Thorpe, 35 N. C. 298; Sixta v. Heiser, 14 S. D. 346, 85 N. W. 598.

10. Parker v. Salmons, 113 Ga. 1167, 39 S. E. 475; Clark v. Young, 74 S. W. 245, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2395; Low v. Hill, 67 Mich. 343, 34 N. W. 588; Stewart v. Glenn, 58 Mo. 481. See Searcy v. Ocmulgee Bank, 23 Ga. 504.

The joinder of the heirs with the administrator as defendants, in an action to establish a claim against a decedent's estate, is harmless error, where the judgment is against the estate alone. Jenkins v. Cain, (Tex. Sup. 1889) 12 S. W. 1114.

11. Although there be some uncertainty as to the correctness of the amount of a judgment rendered by the probate court against an executor, yet, if this uncertainty arises from the executor's own remissness in his rendition of accounts, the appellate court will confirm the judgment. Johnston v. Cox, 13 La. 536.

12. Johnston v. Cox, 13 La. 536; Borden v. Thorpe, 35 N. C. 298.

Form of judgment for damages and costs on affirmance of the judgment of the lower court on appeal by the personal representative. See Borden v. Thorpe, 35 N. C. 298; Hawkins v. Berkley, 1 Wash. (Va.) 204.

13. English v. Brown, 9 Ala. 504.

14. Piper v. Goodwin, 23 Me. 251; Kent v. Lyles, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 73. See also Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 429.

15. Piper v. Goodwin, 23 Me. 251.

16. Georgia.— Justices Clark County Inferior Ct. v. Haygood, 20 Ga. 847.

Illinois.— Hunter v. Bilyeu, 39 Ill. 367; Selby v. Hutchinson, 9 Ill. 319; Burnap v. Dennis, 4 Ill. 478; Gibbons v. Johnson, 4 Ill. 61; Greenwood v. Spiller, 3 Ill. 502; Church v. Jewett, 2 Ill. 55; Jones v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 106 Ill. App. 597; Masters v. Masters, 13 Ill. App. 611.

Indiana.— Cavanaugh v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 49 Ind. 149; Evans v. Newland, 34 Ind. 112; Cooper v. Thatcher, 3 Blackf. 59; Harrison v. Warner, 1 Blackf. 385.

Kentucky.— Turnham v. Shouse, 8 Dana 3, 33 Am. Dec. 473; Hughes v. Standeford, 3 Dana 285; Hutchcraft v. Gentry, 2 J. J. Marsh. 499; Brown v. McKee, 1 J. J. Marsh. 471; Caperton v. Callison, 1 J. J. Marsh. 396; Holley v. Christopher, 3 T. B. Mon. 14; Jameson v. Young, 2 Litt. 387; Reed v. Beaty, 3 Bibb 208.

Missouri.— Ross v. Alleman, 60 Mo. 269; State v. Maulsby, 53 Mo. 500; Renney v. Thomas, 45 Mo. 111; Wooldridge v. Draper, 15 Mo. 470.

New Hampshire.— Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224.

New Jersey.— Bell v. Samuels, 60 N. J. L. 370, 37 Atl. 613; Kinney v. Central R. Co., 34 N. J. L. 273; Norcross v. Boulton, 16 N. J. L. 310.

being privy to the original transaction the personal representative cannot be presumed to know exactly what the case may turn out to be upon investigation and consequently should not be required to pay the costs himself.[17] "Few administrators would take the risks of suit, if they were required to pay the costs if unsuccessful and estates would thus often suffer by reason of their rights not being properly enforced."[18] It is very generally held, however, that the exemption of a personal representative from liability for defendant's costs is not an exemption from the obligation of his own contracts, or a privilege to procure gratuitous services. In other words he must pay his own costs.[19] If the personal representative is successful in his action, he is not personally liable for costs where defendant proves insolvent.[20]

(b) Extent and Limits of Rule. Ordinarily the general rule that a personal representative necessarily suing in his fiduciary capacity is not liable for costs on failure of his suit applies, although the suit is terminated by nonsuit,[21] and if he has acted in good faith in bringing the suit he will be permitted to discontinue without paying costs upon discovering that he has no cause of action.[22] So the rule applies to suits commenced by decedent and revived by the representative,[23] to suits by an administrator de bonis non on a note given to the administrator in chief in that capacity, for goods of the estate,[24] to suits in which the adminis-

New York.— Spencer v. Strait, 40 Hun 463; Dean v. Roseboom, 37 Hun 310; Fox v. Fox, 5 Hun 53; Holdridge v. Scott, 1 Lans. 303; McGovern v. McGovern, 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 390; Lindslay v. Deafendorf, 43 How. Pr. 90; Van Orden v. Reynolds, 18 Wend. 635; People v. Judges Albany Mayor's Ct., 9 Wend. 486; Ketchum v. Ketchum, 4 Cow. 87; Tilton v. Williams, 11 Johns. 403; Carlile v. Bates, 8 Johns. 379.

North Carolina.— Collins v. Roberts, 28 N. C. 201.

Pennsylvania.— Ammon's Appeal, 31 Pa. St. 311; Callender v. Keystone Mut. L. Ins. Co., 23 Pa. St. 471 [overruling Ewing v. Furness, 13 Pa. St. 531]; Smith's Estate, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 448; Myers v. Barton, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 257, 5 Pa. L. J. 142; Ketler's Estate, 16 Phila. 294.

South Carolina.— Buckels v. Carter, 6 Rich. 106; Mealer v. Meyers, 2 Bailey 53; Bordeaux v. Cave, 2 Bailey 6; Jamison v. Lindsay, 1 Bailey 79; Murrell v. Duncan, 1 Brev. 384; Frink v. Luyten, 2 Bay 166, 1 Am. Dec. 638.

England.— Eaves v. Mocato, 1 Salk. 314; Goldthwayte v. Petrie, 5 T. R. 234.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1951.

See, however, Hicks v. Barrett, 40 Ala. 291.

17. Holdridge v. Scott, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 303; Lynch v. Webster, 17 R. I. 513, 23 Atl. 27, 14 L. R. A. 696. And see Bordeaux v. Cave, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 6, in which it was said a testator may leave behind him the most satisfactory evidence of an existing cause of action, when in truth no cause of action exists — or it may be in the power of the opposite party to show that there has been satisfaction made and accorded. In that case there is no alternative left to the executor, but to sue and procure the adjudication of a competent tribunal, or to assume the responsibility of showing it himself upon a final account of his administration.

18. Smith's Estate, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 448.

19. Musser v. Good, 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 247; Buckels v. Carter, 6 Rich. (S. C.) 106. And see Matlock v. Gray, 11 N. C. 1.

Illustration.— A personal representative is liable for his process and witness' fees and the price of a transcript made out for his appeal without regard to probable cause for bringing or defending the suit or his success therein. Campbell v. Doyle, 57 Miss. 292.

20. Janes v. Robinson, Dudley (Ga.) 1.

21. Kentucky.—Frogg v. Long, 3 Dana 157, 28 Am. Dec. 69.

New York.— Purdy v. Purdy, 5 Cow. 14; Morse v. McCoy, 4 Cow. 551; Ketchum v. Ketchum, 4 Cow. 871; Phœnix v. Hill, 3 Johns. 249; Fleming v. Tyler, 1 Johns. Cas. 102; Slocum v. Staples, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 259. Contra, Hogeboom v. Clark, 17 Johns. 268.

Pennsylvania.— Musser v. Good, 11 Serg. & R. 247; Myers v. Barton, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 257, 5 Pa. L. J. 142.

South Carolina.— Meaker v. Meyers, 2 Bailey 53; Bordeaux v. Cave, 2 Bailey 6; Vanderhorst v. Whitner, 1 Brev. 174.

Wisconsin.— Ladd v. Anderson, 58 Wis. 591, 17 N. W. 320.

England.— Eaves v. Mocato, 1 Salk. 314.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1952.

22. Fowler v. Starr, 3 Den. (N. Y.) 164; Purdy v. Purdy, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 14; Morse v. McCoy, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 551; Phœnix v. Hill, 3 Johns. (N. Y.) 249; Bordeaux v. Cave, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 6; Vanderhorst v. Whitner, 2 Bay (S. C.) 399; Bennet v. Coker, 4 Burr. 1927.

23. Brooks v. Stevens, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 68; Arrington v. Coleman, 5 N. C. 102. But see Clark v. Higgins, 2 Root (Conn.) 398.

24. Stewart v. Hood, 10 Ala. 600.

trator has been removed before judgment,[25] to proceedings in error in an action brought by the personal representative to recover a debt due his intestate,[26] and to an appeal taken by decedent and prosecuted by his executor.[27] On the other hand, notwithstanding the fact that suit is necessarily brought by the personal representative in his capacity as such, he will if unsuccessful be personally liable for costs, where the suit is vexatious or wanton [28] or known by him to be groundless,[29] where his prosecution of the suit is without the care and inquiry which ordinary prudence would have suggested,[30] or where he sues in a representative capacity without legal authority to do so [31] or unnecessarily takes an appeal.[32] So the costs of an attempt by an executrix to compel her co-executrix to join in a conveyance of real estate improperly sold by the former to her husband must be borne by her and not by the estate.[33] And where judgment, as in case of nonsuit or by default, is rendered for not proceeding to trial and no excuse is shown, costs may be awarded against the personal representative individually.[34] These cases are in principle like interlocutory orders for the payment of costs upon some default or motion.[35] So where the representative seeks the allowance of a fraudulent demand in his own behalf upon final settlement and the heirs prevail in resisting the demand, costs should be taxed against him personally and not against the estate.[36] And where a default judgment in favor of the representative is set aside by motion for irregularity, he will be ordered to pay the costs of the motion.[37]

(2) Actions Which May Be Brought in Individual Capacity. The rule is well settled both in England and in this country that if a personal representative brings suit on a cause of action accruing after decedent's death, that is, on a contract made with himself or for a wrong done to the estate in his possession he is personally liable for costs if he fails in his action.[38] The reason is said to be

25. Baxter v. Davis, 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 249.

26. Gleason v. Clark, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 303.

27. Hudson v. Ross, 1 Wash. (Va.) 74.

28. Reynolds v. Carter, 32 Ala. 444; Hutchcraft v. Gentry, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 499; People v. Judges Albany Mayor's Ct., 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 486; Show v. Conway, 7 Pa. St. 136; Reeser's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 417.

29. Raugh v. Weis, 138 Ind. 42, 37 N. E. 331; Harrison v. Warner, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 385; Hill v. Mitchell, 40 Mich. 389; Bordeaux v. Cave, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 6; Comber v. Hardcastle, 3 B. & P. 115. And see Porche v. Banks, 8 La. Ann. 65.

30. Pennypacker's Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 114.

31. Lewis v. McCabe, 16 Mo. App. 398.

32. Beatty v. Cory Universalist Soc., 39 N. J. Eq. 452.

33. Schafer's Estate, 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 100.

34. Harrison v. Warner, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 385; How v. Taylor, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 34; Morse v. McCoy, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 551; Brown v. Lambert, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 148; Rudd v. Long, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 190; Vanderhorst v. Whitner, 2 Bay (S. C.) 399; Eaves v. Mocato, 1 Salk. 314.

35. Pillsbury v. Hibbard, 10 N. H. 224.

36. Garr v. Harding, 45 Mo. App. 618.

37. Varick v. Bodine, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 444.

38. Indiana.—Harrison v. Warner, 1 Blackf. 385.

Missouri.— Ross v. Alleman, 60 Mo. 269; Wooldridge v. Draper, 15 Mo. 470; Lewis v. McCabe, 16 Mo. App. 398.

New Hampshire.— Moulton v. Wendell, 37 N. H. 406; Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224.

New Jersey.— Kinney v. Central R. Co., 34 N. J. L. 273; Norcross v. Boulton, 16 N. J. L. 310.

New York.— Mullen v. Guinn, 88 Hun 128, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 625; Bostwick v. Brown, 15 Hun 308; Fox v. Fox, 5 Hun 53; Ackley v. Ackley, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 877; Burhans v. Blanchard, 1 Den. 626; Reynolds v. Collin, 3 Hill 441; People v. Judges Albany Mayor's Ct., 9 Wend. 486; Barker v. Baker, 5 Cow. 267.

North Carolina.— Arrington v. Coleman, 5 N. C. 102.

South Carolina.— Carter v. Estes, 11 Rich. 363; Farley v. Farley, 2 Bailey 319; Bordeaux v. Cave, 2 Bailey 6; Ford v. Travis, 2 Brev. 299; Frink v. Luyten, 2 Bay 166, 1 Am. Dec. 638.

Virginia.— Carr v. Anderson, 2 Hen. & M. 361; Thornton v. Jett, 1 Wash. 138.

England.— Jenkins v. Plombe, 6 Mod. 91, 1 Salk. 207; Eaves v. Mocato, 1 Salk. 314; Marsh v. Yellowly, 2 Str. 1106; Baynham v. Matthews, 2 Str. 871.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1953, 1954.

Review of English statutes and decisions. — "In England, in the early practice, an executor or administrator might recover costs if successful in a suit brought by him, but if the decision was against him he was not liable for costs, the reason being that the statute 23 Henry VIII, cap. 15, § 1, by which costs were first given to defendants, that, inasmuch as the personal representative is a party to the transaction, he is presumed to know all about it, and to act upon his own responsibility, and therefore should not be permitted to burden the estate with costs in case of failure,[39] and even though he sues in his representative capacity on a cause of action of this character he cannot thereby evade liability for costs,[40] the true rule being that if it is not necessary for plaintiff to name himself as executor or administrator he shall pay costs.[41] The doctrine of some of the early decisions to the effect that plaintiff's liability to costs depended on the question whether the money recovered would be assets or not[42] "has long since been exploded and was contrary to older authorities than those by which it was set up."[43] It has also been held that, although the representative is successful in his action, he and not the estate is liable for costs on failure to collect them from defendant.[44]

(B) Under Special Statutory Provisions. In some jurisdictions statutes specially affecting the personal liability to costs of personal representatives have been enacted. So far as this liability is concerned some of the statutes abolish the distinction between suits brought in an individual and suits brought in a representative capacity.[45] Under some of these statutes an unsuccessful plaintiff suing in a representative capacity is not personally liable for costs unless the courts shall specially direct it on account of mismanagement or bad faith.[46]

was confined to cases of wrongs done to and contracts made with plaintiff. Now, however, under the statute of 3 & 4 Wm. IV, cap. 42, § 31, an executor or administrator, with respect to costs, is put on the same footing as other suitors, except that if the action be in the right of the testator or intestate the court in which the action is pending or the judge of a superior court may otherwise order. But, independently of the latter statute, and by virtue of the former, if an executor or administrator brought an action on a wrong done in his own time, or upon a contract, express or implied, made with himself, and failed in the action, he was liable to defendant for costs, even though he sued as executor or administrator. Slater v. Lawson, 1 B. & Ad. 893, 20 E. C. L. 734; Jobson v. Forster, 1 B. & Ad. 6, 20 E. C. L. 375; Dowbiggin v. Harrison, 9 B. & C. 666, 17 E. C. L. 299; Tattersall v. Groote, 2 B. & P. 253; Cooke v. Lecas, 2 East 395; Nicholas v. Killigrew, 1 Ld. Raym. 436; Jenkins v. Pombe, 6 Mod. 91, 1 Salk. 207; Bollard v. Spencer, 7 T. R. 358; Goldthwayte v. Petrie, 5 T. R. 234; Lynch v. Webster, 17 R. I. 513, 514, 23 Atl. 27, 14 L. R. A. 696.

On declaration demurrable for failure to show capacity.— In an action by an administrator upon a debt due him in his representative capacity, on demurrer sustained to the declaration because it does not show that plaintiff sues in his representative character, judgment against plaintiff de bonis propriis for costs is correct. Watkins v. McDonald, 3 Ark. 266.

Limitations of rule.— A cause of action on a note made payable to decedent or bearer forms an exception to the general rule that the representative must sue in his capacity as such on a cause of action accruing in the lifetime of decedent, but notwithstanding this fact an administrator suing in his representative capacity on a note of this character is not personally liable for costs if his suit fails. Jamison v. Lindsay, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 79.

39. Lynch v. Webster, 17 R. I. 513, 23 Atl. 27, 14 L. R. A. 696.

40. Muntorf v. Muntorf, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 180; Frink v. Luyten, 2 Bay (S. C.) 166, 1 Am. Dec. 638; Buckland v. Gallup, 105 N. Y. 453, 11 N. E. 843 [affirming 40 Hun 61]; Bostwick v. Brown, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 308; Holdridge v. Scott, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 303; Lyon v. Marshall, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 241; Ackley v. Ackley, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 877; Feig v. Wray, 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 159, 64 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 391; Smith v. Patten, 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 205; Matter of Justices New York Super. Ct., 1 How. Pr. (N .Y.) 200; Van Orden v. Reynolds, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 635; People v. Judge Albany Mayor's Ct., 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 486; Ketchum v. Ketchum, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 87; Tilton v. Williams, 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 403; Grimstead v. Shirley, 2 Taunt. 116; Goldthwayte v. Petrie, 5 T. R. 234; Hooker v. Quilter, 1 Wils. C. P. 171. And see Turnham v. Shouse, 8 Dana (Ky.) 3, 33 Am. Dec. 743, holding that where a plaintiff sues as executor, when the action should or might have been brought in his own right, and is successful, judgment will be given against him for defendant's costs, to be levied of the assets, if any, if none, of his own estate.

41. Norcross v. Bolton, 16 N. J. L. 310. And see Hullam Law Costs, p. 174, c. 3, § 1 et seq.

42. Hutchinson v. Gamble, 12 Ala. 36. See Bull v. Palmer, 2 Lev. 165; Cockerill v. Kynaston, 4 T. R. 277.

43. Norcross v. Bolton, 16 N. J. L. 310 [citing Hullam Law Costs 175, 184].

44. Daniel v. Hollingshead, 16 Ga. 190.

45. O'Hear v. Skeeles, 22 Vt. 152; Knox v. Bigelow, 15 Wis. 415. And see cases cited infra, notes 46–53.

46. Clark v. Wright, 26 S. C. 196, 1 S. E. 814; Wiesmann v. Brighton, 83 Wis. 550,

Under other statutes a personal representative who prosecutes an action unsuccessfully is in all cases personally liable for costs.[47] Under the statutes of some of these jurisdictions a personal representative after payment may charge the amount in his account of administration to be allowed or not as it may appear to the judge of probate that the suit was discreet or otherwise.[48] Under the statutes of another, the personal representative is entitled to an allowance for the costs if the court awarding them certify that there were probable grounds for instituting the action in which the costs were awarded. But in the absence of such certificate no allowance can be made.[49] In one jurisdiction the statutes exempt from liability for costs a special administrator in whose name a suit is brought and it is error to render against him a judgment for costs.[50] Under the statutes of another jurisdiction,[51] on return unsatisfied of an execution sued on a judgment for costs upon nonsuit in an action by an administrator, execution may be awarded against the administrator for the seizure of his property if he fails to show cause why it should not be awarded against him.[52] It is good cause why such execution should not be awarded against the administrator personally that he commenced the suit in good faith upon a supposed valid claim, although at the time of suit brought he had administered all the estate and settled his account and had no balance in his hands to be distributed.[53]

(II) ACTIONS AGAINST PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE—(A) In Absence of Special Statutory Provisions. As is shown in another section the general rule is that the personal representative who makes an unsuccessful defense is not personally liable for costs, which are payable out of the assets in his hands in the same manner as the debt for which judgment was recovered.[54] There are, however, a few well recognized exceptions to the rule. If the personal representative makes an unsuccessful defense he is liable personally for costs where he has pleaded a false plea,[55] that is to say sets up new matter in avoidance of the action

53 N. W. 911; Ladd v. Anderson, 58 Wis. 591, 17 N. W. 320; Hei v. Heller, 53 Wis. 415, 10 N. W. 620; Knox v. Bigelow, 15 Wis. 415; Lightfoot v. Cole, 1 Wis. 36.

The mere failure of one who sues in a representative capacity to appear when the cause is called for trial is not sufficient to warrant the inference of mismanagement or bad faith. Ladd v. Anderson, 58 Wis. 591, 17 N. W. 320.

Rule in California and South Dakota.—The California and South Dakota statutes contain a provision nearly identical with those of South Carolina and Wisconsin, but provide further that when a judgment is recovered with costs against the representative he shall be individually liable therefor; but that they must be allowed him in his administration accounts, unless it appears that the suit or proceeding in which the costs were taxed were prosecuted or defended without just cause. It has been held that these provisions are not necessarily conflicting and that where judgment is rendered against an administrator plaintiff for costs but such costs are not by the judgment made chargeable only upon the estate as by the provisions of the statute they may have been, plaintiff is individually liable for the costs and defendant is entitled to an execution against him personally. Stevens v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 103 Cal. 252, 27 Pac. 146; McCarthy v. Speed, 16 S. D. 584, 94 N. W. 411.

47. Ticonic Nat. Bank v. Turner, 96 Md. 380, 52 Atl. 793; Taylor v. Webb, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 631; Hardy v. Call, 16 Mass. 530; Campbell v. Doyle, 57 Miss. 292; Williamson v. Childress, 26 Miss. 328; Lynch v. Webster, 17 R. I. 513, 23 Atl. 27, 14 L. R. A. 696. And see O'Hear v. Skeeles, 22 Vt. 152.

48. Hardy v. Call, 16 Mass. 530. See also O'Hear v. Skeeles, 22 Vt. 152.

49. Taylor v. Webb, 56 Miss. 631; Williamson v. Childress, 26 Miss. 328.

50. Driver v. Hayes, 51 Ark. 82, 9 S. W. 853.

51. N. H. Rev. St. c. 161, § 13, provides that upon return of nulla bona or waste in a suit where the cause of action was against decedent an execution may be awarded on a scire facias against the property of the administrator to the amount of the waste if it can be ascertained otherwise for the whole debt.

52. Folsom v. Blaisdell, 38 N. H. 100.

53. Folsom v. Blaisdell, 38 N. H. 100.

54. See infra, XIV, R, 2, a, (II), (A).

55. Scroggin v. Scroggin, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 362; Pierson v. Evans, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 30; Smith v. Goggans, Harp. (S. C.) 52.

What is not a false plea. The pleas of non assumpsit or of non assumpsit infra, etc., are not technically such false pleas as subject the representative personally to costs where the jury find against him. Pierson v. Evans, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 30; Osterhout v. Hardenberg, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 266; Moore v. Hunt, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 370. And see Ford v. Crane, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 71.

and fails in supporting it.[56] He may also render himself liable in case he is guilty of a devastavit,[57] or has been guilty of mismanagement, misconduct, or fraud.[58] In many cases it is held that if the assets of the estate are insufficient to satisfy the costs of an action successfully prosecuted to judgment against a personal representative, then they are to be levied out of his individual estate.[59]

(B) Under Special Statutory Provisions — (1) Summary of the Statutes. The New York statutes provide that, where judgments for money only are awarded against a personal representative in his capacity as such, costs may be awarded, either against him personally, or against the estate, having reference to the facts occurring on the trial, where the creditor has presented his demand within the prescribed time, and defendant has unreasonably resisted or neglected payment, or has failed to file at least ten days before the expiration of six months from the rejection of the demand (the time limited for bringing suit on rejected demands), a written consent that it be heard and determined by the surrogate upon settlement of the representative's account, provided, however, that where the action is brought in the supreme court the facts must be certified by the judge or referee before whom the trial took place.[60] The Ohio statutes contain a provision similar to that of New York but include suits for the recovery of specific personal property as well as suits for the recovery of a money judgment.[61] The North Carolina statutes provide that no costs shall be recovered in any action against the personal representative, unless it appears that payment was unreasonably delayed or neglected, or that defendant refused to refer the matter in controversy, in which cases the court may award costs against defendant personally, or against the estate, as may be just.[62]

(2) Actions or Proceedings to Which Statutes Are Applicable. The New York statutes are by their express provisions limited to actions brought against the representative in his capacity as such.[63] They have no application to actions against him on contracts made by himself,[64] nor to actions brought against deceased in his lifetime and revived by his personal representative,[65] nor to an action by a sheriff against an executor in aid of an attachment against the distributive share of a legatee, such action being independent of any matters concerning the administration.[66] In actions to which the statutes are applicable, personal representatives are entitled to one lawful trial and to exemption from costs, saving the excepted cases, which trial must be a binding one determining

56. Pierson v. Evans, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 30.

57. Scroggin v. Scroggin, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 362.

58. In re Corrington, 124 Ill. 363, 16 N. E. 252; Meeker v. Arrowsmith, 16 N. J. L. 227; Ackerman v. Emott, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 626; Savage v. Gould, 60 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 217. See also Ball v. Townsend, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 325.

Where litigation is rendered necessary by mismanagement or misconduct of the personal representative he is personally liable for costs on making an unsuccessful defense. In re Corrington, 124 Ill. 363, 16 N. E. 252.

Judgment by default.— An executor or administrator who suffers judgment by default is personally liable for costs. Giles v. Pratt, 1 Hill (S. C.) 239, 26 Am. Dec. 170.

Where an executor improperly takes second mortgages and on foreclosure by a senior mortgagee is compelled to buy in the property he will be held personally liable for costs. Savage v. Gould, 60 How. Pr. (N. Y.)217.

Where defendant fails to plead no assets a judgment against him may, under certain circumstances, be levied de bonis propriis. Parker v. Stephens, 2 N. C. 218, 1 Am. Dec. 557.

59. Phipps v. Addison, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 375; Priest v. Martin, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 311; Sindle v. Kiersted, 3 N. J. L. 926; Quicksall v. Quicksall, 3 N. J. L. 457; Senescal v. Bolton, 7 N. M. 351, 34 Pac. 446; People v. Judges Erie County C. Pl., 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 445.

60. N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1822, 1835, 1836.

61. Ohio Rev. St. § 6106.

62. N. C. Code, § 1429.

63. See supra, XIV, R, 1, a, (II), (B), (1).

64. O'Brien v. Jackson, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 171, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 1044; Smith v. Patten, 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 205.

65. Benedict v. Caffe, 3 Duer (N. Y.) 669; Mitchell v. Mount, 17 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 213; Tindal v. Jones, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 258, 19 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 469; Lemen v. Wood, 16 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 285. Contra, McCann v. Bradley, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 79.

66. Dunn v. Arkenburgh, 165 N. Y. 669, 59 N. E. 1122 [affirming 48 N. Y. App. Div. 518, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 861].

their liability and sufficient to stand the test of an appeal if one is taken.[67] The North Carolina statute has been held not to apply to a proceeding to subject a personal representative to liability for misapplication of the debts.[68]

(3) Grounds of Allowance — (a) In General. These statutes provide for only two grounds for awarding costs in the classes of actions mentioned,[69] and unless one of these grounds is fairly established costs cannot be awarded.[70] If, however, either ground is established, a case is made for the award of costs,[71] provided the steps made necessary by statute as a prerequisite to the allowance have been complied with, as for instance, presentation of the claim sued on in accordance with the statutory requirement,[72] or the giving of a certificate of facts by the judge or referee before whom the trial took place, which is necessary in actions brought in the supreme court.[73]

(b) Unreasonable Resistance of Claim. A personal representative cannot be said to have unreasonably resisted a claim within the meaning of the statutes merely because his defense failed,[74] nor because plaintiff recovers the full amount of his demand,[75] so he is not chargeable with an unreasonable resistance where he succeeds in obtaining a material reduction of the claim,[76] nor where his refusal

67. Benjamin v. Ver Nooy, 168 N. Y. 578, 61 N. E. 971 [reversing order in 36 N. Y. App. Div. 581, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 796].

68. Valentine v. Britton, 127 N. C. 57, 37 S. E. 74.

69. Bullock v. Bogardus, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 276.

70. Horton v. Brown, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 654; Belden v. Knowlton, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 758, Code Rep. N. S. (N. Y.) 127; Buckhout v. Hunt, 16 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 407; Snyder v. Young, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 217; Bullock v. Bogardus, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 276; Winne v. Van Schaick, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 448; Nicholson v. Showerman, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 554; Morris v. Morris, 94 N. C. 613; May v. Darden, 83 N. C. 237.

71. Field v. Field, 77 N. Y. 294; Davis v. Gallagher, 37 N. Y. App. Div. 626, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 1060; Brinker v. Loomis, 43 Hun (N. Y.) 247; Snyder v. Snyder, 26 Hun (N. Y.) 324; Nellis v. Duesler, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 315; Gansevoort v. Nelson, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 389.

72. See infra, XIV, R, 1, a, (II), (B), (4), (a).

73. See infra, XIV, R, 1, a, (II), (B), (4), (b).

74. Nicholson v. Showerman, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 554.

The justice of plaintiff's cause of action alone, unless the claim as presented gave a proper credit, would not make resistance to the payment of a balance demanded unreasonable. Overheiser v. Morehouse, 8 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 11.

75. Ehrenrei v. Lichtenberg, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 305, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 513, in which it was said that a recovery of the full amount is not inconsistent with a reasonable and justified opposition. Compare Burns v. Fay, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 8 (holding that where the administrator of an insolvent estate gives notice of his dissatisfaction with the sum awarded to a creditor by the commissioners, and the creditor recovers a larger sum than was allowed by the commissioners, he is entitled to an execution for the costs of the action against an administrator de bonis propriis, but if the administrator had sufficient reasons for his appeal, the probate judge may allow the costs to be charged in the administration account); Darling v. Halsey, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 105.

76. Johnson v. Myers, 103 N. Y. 666, 9 N. E. 55; Ryan v. McElroy, 15 N. Y. App. Div. 216, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 196; Anderson v. McCann, 14 N. Y. App. Div. 365, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 956; Davis v. Myers, 86 Hun (N. Y.) 236, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 352; Pursell v. Fry, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 595; Russell v. Lane, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 519; Holcombe v. Nettleton, 41 Misc. (N. Y.) 504, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 12; Healy v. Murphy, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 541, 21 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 13; Bailey v. Schmidt, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 405; Overheiser v. Morehouse, 8 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 11; Daggett v. Mead, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 116; Comstock v. Olmstead, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 77; Robert v. Ditmas, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 522.

What amounts to a material reduction.— It is a material reduction where a claim is reduced to one fifth of the amount demanded (Russell v. Lane, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 519), or is reduced by one half (Anderson v. McCann, 14 N. Y. App. Div. 365, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 956), or where a claim amounting to sixteen hundred and twenty dollars was reduced by five hundred and twenty-five dollars (Ryan v. McElroy, 15 N. Y. App. Div. 216, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 196). On the other hand the reduction of a claim for one hundred and ninety-six dollars to one hundred and seventy-eight dollars is not a material reduction. Dukelow v. Searles, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 348. So it has been held that there is an unreasonable resistance where the claim is reduced, not by failure of plaintiff to prove the whole amount charged, nor by the establishment of an offset, but by a difference of opinion as to the value of the services resting upon a quantum meruit. Fort v. Gooding, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 388.

Where a claimant consents to a material reduction at the trial it is error to tax costs against defendant. Healy v. Malcolm, 75 is based on the ground that he has no assets,[77] nor where it appears that the defense would probably have been successful, if at the trial defendant could have procured his witness,[78] nor where suit on a claim is commenced before the representative has a reasonable time to examine it,[79] nor where the credit was originally given and the amount charged to a third person, but it appeared on the hearing to be for the benefit of deceased,[80] nor where resistance is made under advice of counsel.[81] So it has been held that where before the expiration of the period allowed for the payment of debts suit is brought on a claim which he has promised to pay, the conclusion of unreasonable resistance is not warranted, merely because when sued after promise to pay he disputes his liability to the action in his representative capacity.[82] On the other hand he is guilty of an unreasonable resistance where the defense is instituted merely for the purpose of delaying payment rather than in the expectation of defeating a recovery,[83] or where the question of law involved was simple and had been held against him by an appellate court and the expenses of further litigation were likely to amount to considerably more than the claim itself.[84]

(4) Prerequisites to Allowance — (a) Presentation of Claim — aa. In General. Under the statutes under consideration costs cannot be recovered in a suit against the personal representative, unless the claim in suit is presented within the time prescribed by statute,[85] and it has been held that it must be presented in writing.[86] The fact that the payment of the claim had been unreasonably resisted does not alter the rule, as presentation within the time limited and unreasonable resistance of the claim must concur to authorize an allowance of costs.[87] To entitle a plaintiff to costs it must appear that the demand which had been presented for payment, or which plaintiff had offered to refer, were substantially the same as that upon which the recovery was had,[88] and if plaintiff serves a bill of particulars claiming other demands it seems that he would lose his costs.[89] So where the claim presented is based upon a special contract for work and labor and a recovery had for a considerably less sum on a quantum meruit plaintiff is not entitled to costs.[90] On the other hand the fact that the amount claimed in the account as presented was larger than the amount named in the complaint and much larger than that recovered will not prevent a recovery of costs where it is

N. Y. App. Div. 422, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 315.

Defeat of counter-claim.— Notwithstanding defendant obtains a material reduction, he will be chargeable with costs when he interposes a claim which is wholly defeated. Sutton v. Newton, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 333.

77. Bullock v. Bogardus, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 276.

78. Stephenson v. Clark, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 282.

79. Macy v. Williams, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 489, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 658; Buckhout v. Hunt, 16 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 407; Knapp v. Curtiss, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 386; May v. Darden, 83 N. C. 237.

80. Comstock v. Olmstead, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 77.

81. Proude v. Whiton, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 304. But see Curtis v. Poppino, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 182.

82. Patterson v. Buchanan, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 493, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 179, 29 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 238.

83. Boyd v. Wilkin, 23 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 137.

84. Gross v. Moore, 14 N. Y. App. Div. 353, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 945.

85. Nichols v. Moloughney, 85 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 949; Horton v. Brown, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 654; Keyser v. Kelly, 43 N. Y. Super. Ct. 22; Belden v. Knowlton, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 758, Code Rep. N. S. (N. Y.) 127; King v. Todd, 15 N. Y. Suppl. (N. Y.) 156; Clarkson v. Root, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 462; Chesebro v. Hicks, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 194; McCann v. Bradley, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 79; Snyder v. Young, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 217; Bullock v. Bogardus, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 276; Potter v. Etz, 5 Wend. (N. Y.) 74; Greene v. Day, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 45; Beecher v. Duel, 14 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 109; Roe v. Hunter, 8 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 423.

86. King v. Todd, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 156. And see Wells v. Disbrow, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 518.

87. Clarkson v. Root, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 462.

88. Genet v. Binsse, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 239; Hartshorne v. King, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 674; Wallace v. Markham, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 671.

89. Hartshorne v. King, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 674.

90. Wallace v. Markham, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 671.

for the same services and disbursements and the representative is in no way misled or prejudiced by the amount.[91] And a creditor does not lose his right to costs by including in the declaration other claims than the one offered to be referred where no attempt was made to give evidence in regard to such other claims.[92] If the claimant has precluded himself from recovering costs against the administrator in an action on a claim he cannot recover costs against a defendant other than the personal representative who was surety for decedent on the claim sued on.[93]

bb. Effect of Failure to Advertise to Present Claims. The fact that executors or administrators have never advertised for the presentment of claims does not entitle a creditor to recover costs in a suit brought against them.[94] Conversely the fact that there has been no advertisement to present claims does not prevent an allowance of costs, if the claim has been duly presented and one of the grounds for allowance of costs provided by statute is shown.[95] Nor is it requisite that the claim be presented during the publication of the notice to creditors, because claims may be presented at any time after personal representatives qualify and enter upon their duties.[96]

(b) Certificate of Judge or Referee. Under statutes providing that where an action on a claim against a decedent's estate is brought in the supreme court, it is necessary to entitle claimant to costs for the judge or referee to certify that payment of the claim was unreasonably resisted or neglected, the allowance of costs to plaintiff without such certificate having been made is erroneous,[97] unless it is waived by stipulation.[98] A certificate by a referee that plaintiff is entitled to recover a sum "with the usual costs and disbursements" is not a sufficient certificate within the meaning of the statute.[99] The certificate, however, is required only for the recovery of costs and not of disbursements.[1]

(c) As Respects Time of Commencing Suit. If the claimant commenced his action before the expiration of the time allowed the representative by statute for filing his consent to refer the claim to the surrogate, he waives his right to costs.[2] After the action has been commenced the filing of the consent specified by the statute would be a useless formality.[3] On the other hand, if the claimant brings his action after the expiration of the statutory period for filing the consent, and he recovers judgment, he will be entitled to costs, although the action was commenced before the expiration of the statutory period within which he must have brought his action.[4]

91. Carter v. Beckwith, 104 N. Y. 236, 10 N. E. 350. And see Field v. Field, 77 N. Y. 294; Genet v. Binsse, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 239.

92. Hartshorne v. King, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 674.

93. Rhodes v. Doggett, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 451, 3 West. L. J. 134.

94. Snyder v. Young, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 217; Bullock v. Bogardus, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 276 [overruling Harvey v. Skillman, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 571; Knapp v. Curtiss, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 386].

Reasons for rule.— An executor is not bound to give this notice in any case, and does not violate his duty by its total omission. He may give notice for his own protection, or for the benefit of the estate he represents, but there is nothing in the statute which makes it compulsory on him to do so nor which subjects him to costs for failure to give the notice. Bullock v. Bogardus, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 270.

95. Brinker v. Loomis, 43 Hun (N. Y.) 247, 5 N. Y. St. 430. See also Clark v. Post, 45 Hun (N. Y.) 265.

96. Field v. Field, 77 N. Y. 294.

97. Matson v. Abbey, 141 N. Y. 179, 36 N. E. 11; Darde v. Conklin, 73 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 39; Wray v. Halliday, 3 Month. L. Bul. (N. Y.) 98. And see German American Provision Co. v. Garrone, 73 N. Y. App. Div. 409, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 134.

Conclusiveness of certificate.— The certificate of the referee before whom the trial of a referee took place that before the action was commenced the executor refused to refer the claim is prima facie conclusive on the court. Ely v. Taylor, 42 Hun (N. Y.) 205.

98. Nellis v. Duesler, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 315.

99. Lounsbury v. Sherwood, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 318, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 676.

1. Lounsbury v. Sherwood, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 318, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 676.

2. Hart v. Hart, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 280, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 131; Hoye v. Flynn, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 636, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 252.

3. Hart v. Hart, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 280, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 131.

4. De Kalb Ave. M. E. Church v. Kelk, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 367, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 393.

(III) Where Representatives Are Personally Interested in Litigation. The mere fact that a representative is personally interested in a suit brought by him in his representative capacity will not render him personally liable for costs in case the suit is unsuccessful if the suit was one which it was his duty to bring in a representative capacity and he was not guilty of mismanagement or bad faith.[5] It has been held, however, that representatives contesting for their own interests the claims of heirs are bound in case of failure to pay the costs of the suit;[6] and where an executrix who is also a legatee appeals from a judgment in her individual capacity as legatee she cannot claim the benefit of a statute providing that costs shall only be taxed against an executor personally in case of mismanagement or bad faith.[7]

b. In Suits in Equity. In suits brought by or against personal representatives in a court of equity costs are always in the discretion of the court.[8] The general rule, however, is in equity as well as at law that personal representatives suing in their capacity as such are not responsible for costs.[9] Ordinarily if the representative is unsuccessful in a suit brought by him in good faith he is not personally liable for costs,[10] although the bill be dismissed upon the merits.[11] On the other hand he will be personally liable in case he brings a vexatious and groundless suit,[12] or where he sues wantonly or is guilty of some wilful default,[13] and is unsuccessful. So where an executor institutes proceedings to be relieved from the amount charged against him in his final accounting on his being refused relief, he is liable to pay costs, although he also asks incidentally for a construction of the will;[14] and where the bill is brought merely in defense of a suit at law, a representative will not in case of failure be excused from costs in the court of equity in a case where costs would be given against him in the action at law.[15] He should not be allowed costs in a cause instituted by him for the purpose of having the instructions of the court upon questions which with reasonable certainty may be solved by counsel nor where they are incurred by making unnecessary parties.[16] In suits brought against a personal representative in his capacity

5. Hone v. De Peyster, 106 N. Y. 645, 13 N. E. 778 [reversing 44 Hun 487]; Finley v. Jones, 6 Barb. (N. Y.) 229. But see Hunn v. Norton, Hopk. (N. Y.) 344; Dupont v. Johnson, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 279.

6. Hurtzell v. Brown, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 138.

7. Roberts v. Lamberton, 117 Wis. 634, 94 N. W. 650. See also Gardner v. Gardner, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 455.

8. Daniels v. Eisenlord, 10 Mich. 454; Shepard v. McClain, 18 N. J. Eq. 128; Garr v. Bright, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 157; Roosevelt v. Ellithorp, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 415; Getman v. Beardsley, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 274. And see on the question of costs in suits in equity, COSTS, 11 Cyc. 32.

9. Gifford v. Thorn, 9 N. J. Eq. 702; Goodrich v. Pendleton, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 520. And see cases cited in the following notes.

10. Peyton v. McDonell, 3 Dana (Ky.) 314; McCamman v. Worrall, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 99; Manny v. Phillips, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 472. And see Getman v. Beardsley, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 274.

Illustration.— Thus a court of equity may refuse to allow costs against an executor who has prosecuted a claim resting upon securities found among the papers of his testator and apparently in full force, although the court decreed against him. Williams v. Mattock, 3 Vt. 189.

Where an executor has commenced a wrong suit by mistake or ascertained that it would be useless to proceed in consequence of facts subsequently discovered he will be permitted to discontinue without costs. Arnoux v. Steinbrenner, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 82.

On revival of bill.— Where an administrator revives a bill brought by his testator, costs should not be decreed against him individually if it be dismissed. Garner v. Strobe, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 314.

11. Roosevelt v. Ellithorp, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 415.

12. Shepherd v. McClain, 18 N. J. Eq. 128; Roosevelt v. Ellithorn, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 415; Getman v. Beardsley, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 273; Isenhart v. Brown, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 341; Wade v. Fisher, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 490.

Where a bill is filed which on its face is not sustainable and is brought against a stranger to the estate and not for the purpose of obtaining direction of the court as to the manner in which complainant should execute his trust or to settle conflicting claims, the general rules of the court as to costs in suits brought by other persons may be applied. Garr v. Bright, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 157.

13. Peyton v. McDowell, 3 Dana (Ky.) 314.

14. Beatty v. Cory Universalist Soc., 39 N. J. Eq. 452.

15. Manny v. Phillis, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 472.

16. Colson v. Martin, 62 N. C. 125.

as such he is not personally liable for costs on failure of his defense, provided it was interposed in good faith,[17] but he will be personally liable where he has interposed a vexatious or groundless defense,[18] or through his neglect the estate has lost debts,[19] and an executor who makes costs by relying upon an unreasonable objection is personally chargeable therewith.[20] On settlement of an estate, executors should be charged individually with the costs of suit where they have permitted a great and unwarrantable delay in the final settlement of their accounts.[21]

2. Liability of Estate For Costs — a. In Actions at Law — (i) Actions by Personal Representatives. Where an action is brought by a personal representative necessarily in his representative capacity and is unsuccessful, judgment for costs must be rendered against him in his representative capacity to be satisfied out of the assets of the estate,[22] except where as already shown he has by his own acts made himself personally liable.[23]

17. Ball v. Townsend, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 325; Moses v. Murgatroyd, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 472; Davis v. Davis, 2 Hill (S. C.) 377.

On a bill for specific performance of a land contract by a decedent, his executors cannot be charged personally with the costs of such proceeding where they were not contumacious in hesitating to form the contract. Andrews v. Tower, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 111.

Descriptio personæ.— Where a note was executed to A, as administrator of R, and judgment was rendered on the note, which was enjoined at the cost of A, in his individual capacity, such provision as to costs was not erroneous, since the words, "as administrator of R," were mere descriptio personæ. Reid v. Watts, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 440.

18. Lee v. Pindle, 12 Gill & J. (Md.) 288; Campau v. Campau, 25 Mich. 127.

19. Sorrel v. Procter, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 431.

20. Benick v. Bowman, 56 N. C. 314.

21. Egerton v. Egerton, 17 N. J. Eq. 419.

Where exceptions are sustained to the charges of executors administering a trust fund they may be held personally liable for the costs of litigating such exceptions. Brokaw v. Brokaw, 41 N. J. Eq. 304, 7 Atl. 414.

22. Georgia.— Clements v. Maloney, 17 Ga. 289.

Illinois.— Gibbons v. Johnson, 4 Ill. 61; Masters v. Masters, 13 Ill. App. 611.

Indiana.— Cooper v. Thatcher, 3 Blackf. 59.

Kentucky.— Corrico v. Lilly, 3 A. K. Marsh. 398; Beauchamp v. Davis, 3 Bibb 111.

Missouri.— Ross v. Alleman, 60 Mo. 269; State v. Maulsby, 53 Mo. 500; Ranney v. Thomas, 45 Mo. 111; Wooldridge v. Draper, 15 Mo. 470.

New Hampshire.— Pillsbury v. Hubbard, 10 N. H. 224.

New York.— Dodge v. Crandall, 30 N. Y. 294; Collins v. Hoxie, 9 Paige 81.

Pennsylvania.— Callander v. Keystone Mut. L. Ins. Co., 23 Pa. St. 471; Muntorf v. Muntorf, 2 Rawle 180; Jenkins v. Cutchens, 2 Miles 65; Myers v. Barton, 5 Pa. L. J. 142.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1950.

See, however, Hicks v. Barrett, 40 Ala. 291, holding that an action by an administrator, under Ala. Code, § 1938, to recover damages for an assault on his intestate, being not for the benefit of the estate but of the next of kin, a judgment for costs in favor of defendant cannot be levied on the estate, but the administrator is personally liable.

Where an administrator is removed for failure to file bond pending an action by him all costs accruing in the action before such removal must be taxed to the estate. Cuppy v. Coffman, 82 Iowa 214, 47 N. W. 1005.

If an administrator prosecutes a suit commenced by decedent and fails to support it, defendant will have costs against the estate. Brooks v. Stevens, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 68.

Where a suit commenced against decedent is continued by the court against his personal representatives, plaintiff is entitled to costs against the estate if the verdict be such that he would have recovered costs if defendant had not died. Benedict v. Caffe, 3 Duer (N. Y.) 669.

Defense of suit by heirs.— Where a judgment is rendered against an administrator in an action which was defended by the heirs upon his refusal to do so, and they were defeated the costs should be taxed against the heirs and not against the estate. Drummond v. Irish, 52 Iowa 41, 2 N. W. 622.

Where while living, the original defendant suffers default and interlocutory judgment, the estate should be charged with costs, on letting the administrators in to plead after his death. Lefevere v. Van Vechten, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 201.

Presumption as to liability.— Costs awarded to a plaintiff in an action against an executor will be presumed to be payable out of the estate and not by the executor personally in the absence of proof. Berwick v. Halsey, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 18.

Suit to recover legacy.— Where a suit to recover a legacy is rendered necessary by the ambiguity of the will the costs should be a general charge upon the whole estate and not upon the legacy. Sawyer v. Baldwin, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 378.

23. See supra, XIV, R, 1, a, (i), (A), (1), (b).

(II) Actions Against Personal Representatives — (A) The General Rule. The general rule is that where a personal representative is sued as such and makes an unsuccessful defense, the judgment for costs should be de bonis testatoris. He is liable for costs to the same extent that he is liable for the debt of the decedent, to be levied out of the assets in his hands.[24] In any event the assets in his hands are primarily liable for costs.[25]

(B) Rule as Affected by Special Statutory Provisions — (1) As to Time of Commencing Action. Under the statutes of some jurisdictions, a claimant who brings action within the time allowed for adjustment and settlement of claims is not entitled to costs, although successful in the action.[26]

(2) As to Amount of Recovery. In some jurisdictions the right to costs is in some cases affected by the amount of recovery. Under the statutes of one state, where suit is brought against a personal representative on an allowed claim, plaintiff is not entitled to costs if he recovers no more than the administrator was willing to allow.[27] In another, the holder of a disputed claim against an estate which has been rejected and referred pursuant to statute must recover more than a designated amount to be entitled to costs. If he recovers less, defendant is entitled to costs.[28] On the other hand, where personal representatives sue in the supreme court and recover less than the amount designated they are not entitled to costs.[29] A statute of another state which provides that plaintiff who recovers less than a designated amount in the circuit court shall be liable for costs does not apply to suits by an administrator who is by statute expressly empowered to sue for any sum in the circuit court.[30]

(3) As to Presentation of Claim. The statutes of some jurisdictions provide that one who successfully prosecutes a claim against an estate shall not recover costs unless he has presented his claim for allowance in accordance with the provisions of the statute,[31] and other statutes make him liable for costs in case of non-presentation.[32] These statutes have been held not to apply to actions against the personal representative when sued jointly with coöbligors of the deceased upon joint and several contracts;[33] nor to cases in which the statute of non-claim is immaterial and in which due presentment could not have avoided litigation.[34] If defendant intends to raise the question of presentation he must present it on the record by plea or suggestion so that plaintiff may have an opportunity of proving the presentation and the issue must be tried by the jury. If

24. Illinois.— McKay v. Riley, 135 Ill. 586, 26 N. E. 525; Burnap v. Dennis, 4 Ill. 478.

Indiana.— Mackey v. Ballou, 112 Ind. 198, 13 N. E. 715.

Kentucky.— Hughes v. Standeford, 3 Dana 285; Scroggin v. Scroggin, 1 J. J. Marsh. 362; Lot v. Parish, 1 Litt. 393.

Massachusetts.— Healy v. Root, 11 Pick. 389. Compare Burns v. Fay, 14 Pick. 8.

Ohio.— Farrier v. Cairns, 5 Ohio 45.

South Carolina.— Frink v. Luyten, 2 Bay 166, 1 Am. Dec. 638.

Virginia.— Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh 526.

See, however, supra, XIV, R, 1, a, (II), (A).

25. Phipps v. Addison, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 375; Priest v. Martin, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 311; Sindle v. Kiersted, 3 N. J. L. 926; Quicksall v. Quicksall, 3 N. J. L. 457; Senescal v. Bolton, 7 N. M. 351, 34 Pac. 446; People v. Judges Erie County C. Pl., 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 445.

26. Cooper v. Livingston, 19 Fla. 684; Freer v. Love, Wright (Ohio) 414; Kinney v. Lockwood, Wright (Ohio) 340. See also Butts v. Genung, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 254.

A plea of set-off is not an action within a statute providing that any person who brings an action against an executor within one year shall not recover costs. Pate v. Gray, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,794*a*, Hempst. 155.

27. Corbett v. Rice, 2 Nev. 330.

28. Lamphere v. Lamphere, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 17, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 270; Cuylers v. Kniffin, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 243.

29. Mahany v. Fuller, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 209.

30. Hillenberg v. Bennett, 88 Ind. 540; Wheeler v. Calvert, 25 Ind. 365.

31. See Rosenthal v. Magee, 41 Ill. 371; Granjang v. Markle, 22 Ill. 249; Lamson v. Vevay First Nat. Bank, 82 Ind. 21.

32. See Mitchell v. Lea, 57 Ala. 46.

Purpose of statutes.— The obvious design of the statutes is to prevent estates from being charged with costs on account of demands which would have been paid or arranged without such costs had they been presented to the personal representative of the decedents. Mitchell v. Lea, 57 Ala. 46.

33. Lamson v. Vevay First Nat. Bank, 82 Ind. 21.

34. Mitchell v. Lea, 57 Ala. 46.

no such plea or suggestion is made and plaintiff has a general verdict on the issue joined, he is entitled to full costs.[35] In order to recover costs it is not necessary for the declaration to allege a compliance with the statutory requirement as to presentation of the claims.[36]

b. In Suits in Equity. Except where the representative has by his acts made himself personally liable for costs it is apprehended that the liability of the estate for costs in suits brought by or against it is the same as that of any other suitor in a court of equity in which, notwithstanding the court's discretion in the matter of allowing costs, they are usually awarded to the successful party.[37]

3. When Personal Representative Entitled to Costs. Where the issue on the single plea of plene administravit is found for defendant, he is entitled to judgment for general costs in the case, notwithstanding judgment should be rendered in plaintiff's favor for his debt and costs to be levied of the goods of the estate quando acciderint.[38] So where the personal representative pleads the general issue and plene administravit and issues are joined on both pleas and judgment quando acciderint rendered he is entitled to the general costs of the suit.[39] It has also been held that where the representative pleads the general issue and plene administravit he will be entitled to costs on a judgment quando notwithstanding the plea of plene administravit is admitted,[40] but this has been denied in one case which holds that plaintiff is entitled to judgment for costs de bonis propriis,[41] and in another in which it is merely held that no costs should be adjudged defendant.[42] Executors who have no interest in the subject-matter

35. Wallace v. Nelson, 28 Ala. 282.

36. Granjang v. Markle, 22 Ill. 249.

37. See, generally, on this subject Costs, 11 Cyc. 32, 33, 34.

Groundless bills of discovery.— Where the answer to a bill of discovery filed by an executor shows that there was no fact within defendant's knowledge which could in any way aid the executor in his defense, costs are payable by the executor out of decedent's estate which has come into his hands. Williams v. Harden, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 298; Boughton v. Philips, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 334.

In an action against heirs and administrators to compel specific execution of a contract of a decedent where the heirs declare their readiness to lay title and the administrators admit assets on decree for plaintiff the costs should be ordered paid by the administrators out of the assets. Tindall v. Mounger, 5 N. C. 290.

Suit for breach of trust.— Costs will not be awarded on a bill against executors of one who had purchased a bond and mortgage given for the purchase-money of a trust estate sold by the trustee pending a suit against him for breach of trust, it not appearing that testator had actual notice of the suit against the trustee. Murray v. Lylburn, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 441.

Bills to set aside fraudulent conveyance of decedent.— On a bill by an administrator de bonis non of a husband against the executor of the wife to set aside conveyances made by the husband to the wife in fraud of his creditors on a decree in favor of plaintiff he is entitled to recover costs against the estate of the wife. Preston v. Cutter, 65 N. H. 85, 18 Atl. 92.

On a bill by a legatee where defendant submitted to and asked the direction of the court in a matter proper for it his costs were ordered to be paid out of the fund. Morrell v. Dickey, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 153.

Taxation of costs to successful party.— Under a statute subjecting costs in chancery cases to the discretion of the court, except in a few cases it was proper in a suit brought in good faith to establish an equitable title in lands belonging to the estate of a deceased person to charge the estate with the taxable costs as part of the necessary expenses in the administration of the estate, although the relief prayed by the bill was denied. Van Wert v. Chidester, 31 Mich. 207.

38. Timberlake v. Benson, 2 Va. Cas. 348.

39. Kentucky.— Burns v. Burton, 1 A. K. Marsh. 349.

New York.— Osterhout v. Hardenbergh, 19 Johns. 266.

North Carolina.— Battle v. Rorke, 12 N. C. 228; Welborn v. Gordon, 5 N. C. 502.

Virginia.— Timberlake v. Benson, 2 Va. Cas. 348.

England.— Cockson v. Drinkwater, 3 Dougl. 239, 26 E. C. L. 163; Hogg v. Graham, 4 Taunt. 135.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1945.

But see Speer v. Van Houten, 19 N. J. L. 46; Hindsley v. Russell, 12 East 232, holding that if executors plead the general issue and also plene administravit and plene administravit præter plaintiff will be entitled to costs upon a judgment quando if the general issue is found in his favor.

40. Lewis v. Johnston, 69 N. C. 392.

41. Marshall v. Willder, 9 B. & C. 655, 7 L. J. K. B. O. S. 325, 4 M. & R. 607, 17 E. C. L. 294.

42. Timberlake v. Benson, 2 Va. Cas. 348.

Withdrawal of replication to plea of plene administravit.— Defendant may object to of the litigation when made defendants are entitled to costs,[43] and where an executor is sued as trustee and defends on the ground that he was liable only as executor and that the probate court alone had jurisdiction and the court sustains the defense as to the greater part of the estate, it was held that he might be allowed a proportionate share of the expenses.[44] So it has been held that where an executor demands securities of decedent from a trustee and exhibits a certificate of the surrogate showing that he is executor and the trustee refuses to deliver them until an accounting in court, the executor on obtaining judgment against the trustee for the delivery of the securities is entitled to judgment for costs.[45]

4. Items Allowable. Where a disputed claim is referred and a report in claimant's favor confirmed, he is according to some decisions not entitled as matter of right to disbursements necessarily made by him, such as fees of referees, witnesses, etc., but they as well as the costs are to be awarded or withheld by the court in its discretion.[46] The weight of authority, however, is that he is entitled to his disbursements as a matter of right.[47] If a claim based on a note containing a promise to pay attorney's fees is put in suit against an estate the claimant if successful is entitled to an allowance of the attorney's fees provided for therein.[48] So it has been held that expenses and counsel fees reasonably incurred in litigation against the administrator which resulted in the recovery of a portion of the estate are a proper charge against it.[49] And attorney's fees are properly allowed to a widow in enforcing her claim against executors for an allowance under a will directing them to pay her an allowance to be determined by the court, in case of failure to agree on the amount.[50] Where costs have been properly awarded against an executor personally an extra allowance against him will be allowed[51] in extraordinary or difficult cases.[52] A motion for extra allowance will be premature when made before the right to recover the ordinary costs in the action had been determined.[53]

5. Security For Costs. A foreign administrator may be required to give security for costs,[54] and also a non-resident administrator,[55] although he brings suit as an administrator appointed within the jurisdiction.[56] Under the statutes of one jurisdiction, it is discretionary with the court in actions by or against personal representatives to require security for costs from plaintiff.[57] To authorize plaintiff's withdrawal by consent of court of the replication to the plea of plene administravit, unless on terms of plaintiff's payment of the costs occasioned by such replication, but if he neglects so to do at the time of withdrawal it admits that he is not entitled to recover such costs and there can be no judgment at any future term for his separate costs on account thereof if the issue of non assumpsit is found against him. Timberlake v. Benson, 2 Va. Cas. 348.

43. Delafield v. Colden, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 139.

44. Clement's Appeal, 49 Conn. 519.

45. Farrington v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 21 N. Y. Suppl. 194.

46. Bertholf v. Carr, 3 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 281, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 254, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 213; Miller v. Miller, 32 Hun (N. Y.) 481; Daggett v. Mead, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 116.

47. Krill v. Brownell, 10 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 8; Overheiser v. Morehouse, 8 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 11; Sutton v. Newton, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 333; Hall v. Edmunds, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 202.

48. Jewett v. Hurrie, 121 Ind. 404, 23 N. E. 262; Price v. Jones, 105 Ind. 543, 5 N. E. 683, 55 Am. Rep. 230; Hanna v. Fisher, 95 Ind. 383; Bond v. Osndorf, 77 Ind. 583.

49. In re Simons, 55 Conn. 239, 11 Atl. 36.

50. McLean v. Thomas, 159 Ill. 227, 42 N. E. 798 [affirming 52 Ill. App. 161].

51. Niblo v. Binsse, 31 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 476.

52. Weeks v. Coe, 76 N. Y. App. Div. 310, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 477.

53. Mersereau v. Ryerss, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 300.

54. Tucker v. West, 31 Ark. 643; Podmore v. Seaman's Bank, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 488, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 629.

55. Davis v. You, 43 Ala. 691; Chevalier v. Finnis, 1 B. & B. 277, 5 E. C. L. 633.

56. Davis v. You, 43 Ala. 691.

57. Johnson v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 92 N. Y. 353; Caccavo v. Rome, etc., R. Co., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 129, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 884.

Appointment procured in bad faith.— Security may be required where at the time of the appointment the fact that another administrator had been previously appointed was concealed from the court and the estate was insolvent and success of the suit doubtful. Pfeifer v. Supreme Lodge Bohemian-an order requiring security to be given, it is not necessary that there should be evidence of bad faith.[58] It is sufficient that the court considers it proper to require security.[59] Security may be required at any time during the pendency of the suit either before trial or judgment or pending an appeal;[60] and the court may require security for costs already accrued or entered on the judgment appealed from as well as for those that shall thereafter accrue or limit the requisition to the costs which shall accrue in the future.[61] Statutes requiring security from a foreign administrator bringing suit have no application to one who is sued and chooses to defend.[62] The statutes do not apply to actions originally brought by deceased and revived in favor of his personal representative.[63]

6. Suits In Forma Pauperis. The privilege conferred by statutes allowing suits to be brought in forma pauperis is a personal one and an administrator cannot so sue on account of the insolvency of the estate;[64] much less can he do so where he would be the sole beneficiary of any recovery.[65]

7. Award of Costs. Under the statutes of New York a defendant in a suit brought by an executor or administrator is entitled to costs without a motion where a successful defense is interposed;[66] but, where actions are brought against an executor or administrator and a judgment obtained, no costs can be recovered unless the court in the exercise of its powers upon motion adjudge that it is a case in which costs should be paid by the estate or its representatives.[67] So in actions prosecuted or defended by an executor or administrator a referee to whom the whole issue or cause is referred has not the right to decide the question of costs or the power to award costs against the executor or administrator personally or against the estate he represents. Such costs can only be allowed by the court upon application therefor,[68] and they can only be allowed by the court on application after trial.[69] It has also been held that the personal liability of an executor for the costs of an appeal in an action originally begun by the testator is not a matter for adjustment on the judicial accounting before the surrogate but must be determined by the court having original jurisdiction of the cause.[70] Under a statute providing for the appointment of an attorney to defend an action on a claim presented against an estate by the personal representative and that if plaintiff recover no judgment he shall pay all costs including reasonable attorney's fees to be fixed by the court, a charge for services rendered by an attorney so appointed for services in the successful defense of such an action is not a part of the bill of costs

Slavonian Benev. Soc., 54 N. Y. App. Div. 200, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 604.

58. Tolman v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 92 N. Y. 353; Pfeifer v. Supreme Lodge Bohemian-Slavonian Benev. Soc., 54 N. Y. App. Div. 200, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 604.

59. Pfeifer v. Supreme Lodge Bohemian-Slavonian Benev. Soc., 54 N. Y. App. Div. 200, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 604.

Insolvency.— An administrator prosecuting an action in good faith and with reasonable prospect of success will not be required to give security on the ground that the estate is without assets. Podmore v. South Brooklyn Sav. Inst., 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 120, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 406.

60. Gedney v. Purdy, 47 N. Y. 676; Knoch v. Funke, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 242, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 161.

61. Gedney v. Purdy, 47 N. Y. 676.

62. Moss v. Rowland, 3 Bush (Ky.) 505.

63. Sullivan v. Remington Sewing Mach. Co., 27 Hun (N. Y.) 270.

64. McCoy v. Broderick, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 203.

65. Barbee v. Frazier, 9 Lea (Tenn.) 348.

66. Howe v. Lloyd, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 335; Woodbury v. Cook, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 481.

67. Howe v. Lloyd, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 335; Ely v. Taylor, 42 Hun (N. Y.) 205; Fox v. Fox, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 453; Weeks v. Wanamaker, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 15; Knapp v. Curtiss, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 386.

68. Bailey v. Bergen, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 555; Smith v. Randall, 67 Barb. (N. Y.) 377; Morgan v. Skidmore, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 92; Mersereau v. Ryerss, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 300.

69. Bailey v. Bergen, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 555.

Allowance nunc pro tunc.— Although it is irregular to enter judgment for costs against executors upon the report of a referee, without obtaining special leave of court, the judge before whom a motion to strike the costs from the judgment and a cross motion for an extra allowance of costs are made has power to have his order giving costs and the allowance entered nunc pro tunc. Niblo v. Binsse, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 435.

70. Harrington v. Strong, 49 N. Y. App. Div. 39, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 257.

and the fee therefor is to be fixed by the court.[71] So the allowance of the fee can only be made after termination of the action.[72]

8. JUDGMENT. Where the verdict is against a defendant as administrator judgment for costs must be entered against him in the same character,[73] but notwithstanding the fact that a judgment is erroneously rendered against an administrator for costs individually it is nevertheless effective until corrected on motion or on review or on appeal.[74] There is some diversity of holding as to the proper form of judgment to charge the estate, or the personal representative individually, for costs, and this is due in some degree to a difference in the wording of the statutes relating to costs. Under the statutes of some jurisdictions it is held that, in order to charge the estate with costs, the judgment must contain an express direction that the costs shall be payable out of the estate.[75] Under the statutes of other jurisdictions, where the court orders a judgment to be entered against an executor or administrator for costs without any special instructions, it means that the judgment shall be only de bonis testatoris; or in other words, that there must be an express direction in the judgment to charge the personal representative individually for costs.[76] In another jurisdiction the judgment in order to charge the estate with costs must contain a formal direction for the payment of costs out of the estate,[77] and on the other hand if it is sought to charge the administrator personally the judgment must expressly direct the costs to be paid by him personally for mismanagement or bad faith in the action.[78] Where by statute the personal representative is always individually liable for costs, a judgment against a designated person "as administrator," etc., is against him personally for costs.[79] A judgment for costs against the estate should not contain a direction that execution issue for the same, as execution can only issue when allowed by the probate court.[80]

9. EXECUTION. Where a judgment is rendered against a personal representative in his capacity as such for costs, execution cannot issue thereon but the costs should be certified to the probate court for allowance and payment in due course of administration.[81] If a judgment is against the personal representative for costs in his individual capacity, it is a money judgment and therefore enforceable only by execution.[82] On a judgment of this character the property of an heir received from the estate is not liable to execution.[83] By the express provisions of the statutes in some jurisdictions where judgment is rendered against an executor for debt, or damages and costs, two separate executions issue; one for the debt or damages against the goods and estate of deceased and the other for the costs

71. Painter v. Painter, 78 Cal. 625, 21 Pac. 433.

72. Painter v. Painter, 78 Cal. 625, 21 Pac. 433.

73. Clements v. Maloney, 17 Ga. 289.

74. State v. Ritter, 20 Ind. 406.

Correction by reviewing court.— Where a judgment is erroneous in form as being against the administrator personally instead of in his representative capacity, it may be corrected in the reviewing court and the proper judgment rendered there. Masters v. Masters, 13 Ill. App. 611.

75. Stevens v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 103 Cal. 252, 37 Pac. 146; McCarthy v. Speed, 16 S. D. 584, 94 N. W. 411. Compare Reay v. Butler, 99 Cal. 477, 33 Pac. 1134.

76. Scroggin v. Scroggin, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 362; Hone v. De Peyster, 106 N. Y. 645, 13 N. E. 778 [reversing 44 Hun 487]; Dodge v. Crandall, 30 N. Y. 294; Callender v. Keystone Mut. L. Ins. Co., 23 Pa. St. 471.

77. Wiesmann v. Brighton, 83 Wis. 550, 53 N. W. 911; Ladd v. Anderson, 58 Wis. 591, 17 N. W. 320; Hei v. Heller, 53 Wis. 415, 10 N. W. 620. And see Lightfoot v. Cole, 1 Wis. 26.

78. Wiesmann v. Brighton, 83 Wis. 550, 53 N. W. 911; Ladd v. Anderson, 58 Wis. 591, 17 N. W. 320.

79. Lough v. Flaherty, 29 Minn. 295, 13 N. W. 131.

80. Syms v. New York, 105 N. Y. 153, 11 N. E. 369 [affirming 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 289].

81. Dye v. Noel, 85 Ill. 290; Peck v. Stevens, 10 Ill. 127; Welch v. Welch, 8 Ill. 490; Burnep v. Dennis, 4 Ill. 478; Syms v. New York, 105 N. Y. 153, 11 N. E. 369 [affirming 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 289]; Matter of Boyle, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 473, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 57; Davis v. Thomas, 5 Tex. 389; Schmidt v. Huff, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 593, 28 S. W. 1053.

82. Matter of Feehan, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 614, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 1126.

83. Daniels v. Hollingshead, 16 Ga. 190.

against the goods, estate, and body of the executor.[84] These statutes do not give the creditor a cumulative remedy in respect of costs but deprive him of his right to have an execution for costs against the goods and estate of deceased.[85] It has been held that an execution for costs issued against a personal representative warrants his arrest without affidavit or special instruction to the officer.[86]

S. Liabilities For Conduct of Action or Defense. The heirs and creditors of an estate are generally bound, in the absence of collusion or fraud, as far as third parties are concerned, by the acts of the personal representative in prosecuting or defending a suit concerning the estate,[87] although the representative may also be personally liable for damages caused by his wrongful acts, in course of the proceedings,[88] unless it appears that he was disinterested and acted in good faith for the interests of the estate.[89] As between such heirs and creditors and the representative the latter is bound to act with diligence, prudence, and good faith, and unless he does so he may render himself personally liable for any loss occasioned by his negligence or bad faith in prosecuting[90] or defending[91] proceedings

84. Ticonic Nat. Bank v. Turner, 96 Me. 380, 52 Atl. 793; Greenwood v. McGilvray, 120 Mass. 516.

Effect of insolvency of estate.— The right to an execution against an executor for costs under the statutes mentioned is not affected by a statute providing that when judgment has been rendered against the estate of a deceased person which has been represented as insolvent no execution shall be issued thereon. Perkins v. Fellows, 136 Mass. 294.

85. Ticonic Nat. Bank v. Turner, 96 Me. 380, 52 Atl. 793.

Where an execution issued for both debt and costs against the goods, and estate of decedent is satisfied by levying the same on the lands of the testator, such levy is bad, as the costs are collectable only against the executor. Ticonic Nat. Bank v. Turner, 96 Me. 380, 52 Atl. 793.

86. Gibbs v. Taylor, 143 Mass. 187, 9 N. E. 576.

87. Pauline v. Hubert, 14 La. Ann. 161; Matthews v. Joyce, 85 N. C. 258, holding that a party cannot be deprived of the fruits of an adjudication, because of the failure of an administrator to set up an available defense, unless such failure was the result of collusion with such party.

88. Schneider v. Hesse, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 242, holding that an administrator, plaintiff in an execution, is personally liable for procuring the sale of the property of another than the execution defendant.

89. Berens v. Boutte, 31 La. Ann. 112.

Wrongful injunction.— A succession should not be condemned in damages for an abuse by the administrator of the process of injunction; and the administrator, personally liable for his wrongful act, cannot be condemned personally in a proceeding in which he is a party only in his representative capacity. Lamorere v. Cox, 32 La. Ann. 246; Berens v. Boutte, 31 La. Ann. 112.

90. Iowa.— Meyeringh v. Wendt, 86 Iowa 465, 53 N. W. 414.

Kentucky.— Russell v. Russell, 4 Dana 40.

Ohio.— Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326.

South Carolina.— Hudgens v. Sullivan, 34 S. C. 99, 12 S. E. 934.

United States.— Pickett v. Foster, 36 Fed. 514 [affirmed in 149 U. S. 505, 13 S. Ct. 998, 37 L. ed. 829].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1968, 1969.

Bail-bond.— An administrator is not responsible for the sufficiency of a bail-bond taken by a sheriff in a case where he is plaintiff, even though he expressly accepted such bond. Charleton v. Sloan, 64 N. C. 702.

A suit instituted by a public administrator without authority does not charge his successor in office with any official duties in relation to it, and the latter's having the suit called out and dismissed, or his failure to prosecute it, does not make him liable to the heirs. Pickett v. Foster, 36 Fed. 514 [affirmed in 149 U. S. 505, 13 S. Ct. 998, 37 L. ed. 829].

91. Alabama.— Teague v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 529; Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

Georgia.— Skrine v. Simmons, 11 Ga. 401; Bomgaux v. Bevan, Dudley 110.

Kentucky.— Macey v. Fenwick, 4 B. Mon. 306; Hutchcraft v. Tilford, 5 Dana 353.

Maryland.— State v. Greenwell, 4 Gill & J. 407.

Massachusetts.— Brazier v. Clark, 5 Pick. 96, holding, however, that where an action by a legatee is defended by the executor by direction of the heirs and other legatees, such executor cannot be held liable for waste by reason of the defense thereby incurred, although plaintiff was successful.

North Carolina.— If counter-claims were set up in an action by an administrator against the lessors for the amount due from them for the purchase of the unexpired term, and were resisted by the administrator in good faith, and a judgment was rendered against the administrator allowing such claims, he will be exonerated; and it is not necessary, to entitle him to such exoneration, that he shall have taken an appeal. Pate v. Oliver, 104 N. C. 458, 10 S. E. 709.

by or against him in his representative capacity, or in intervening in suits instituted between other parties.[92] Thus the representative may be personally liable for a loss occasioned by his failure to record a judgment recovered by him[93] or to issue execution thereon.[94] But if he acts honestly and diligently he is not liable for failure to maintain an unjust[95] or useless suit;[96] or for a failure to insist on mere technicalities,[97] as for failing to plead in abatement,[98] or for omitting to appeal.[99]

T. Actions or Suits Between Personal Representatives.[1] The general rule is well settled that one personal representative cannot maintain an action at law against another personal representative.[2] There are, however, some exceptions and limitations to this rule. Thus it has been held that an executor may maintain an action at law against his joint executor on an express promise,[3] and

South Carolina.— Warley v. Warley, Bailey Eq. 397.

Tennessee.— Gorman v. Swaggerty, 4 Sneed 560.

Virginia.— See Boyd v. Boyd, 3 Gratt. 113.

Canada.— Hutchinson v. Edmison, 11 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 477.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1968, 1969.

It is the representative's duty, when sued by a creditor, so to plead as to protect the rights of all the creditors of the estate, according to their priorities, of whose demands he has notice, and if he fails to do so he becomes personally chargeable. Davis v. Smith, 5 Ga. 274, 47 Am. Dec. 279.

After judgment against an administrator for payment out of specified assets, any other application of them will render him liable for waste. Davies v. Flewellen, 29 Ga. 49.

Failure to plead an outstanding covenant of warranty made by his decedent does not render him personally liable, if at the time of the rendition of the judgment there was no breach of the covenant. Davis v. Smith, 5 Ga. 274, 47 Am. Dec. 279.

Statute of frauds.— Where the creditors of a decedent have, by promise of the administrator, been induced to defer bringing actions against the estate, and have finally brought personal actions against the administrator on such promises, he cannot be required to set up thereon the defense of the statute of frauds for the benefit of the next of kin of the intestate. Ames v. Jackson, 115 Mass. 508.

92. Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. (Ala.) 564, holding that an administrator who as such interposes a claim to property levied on by execution will be liable individually for the forthcoming of the property, even if destroyed after the claim is interposed and the property goes into his possession.

Failure to intervene.— An administrator who is aware, or, by the exercise of prudence, should be aware, of the pendency of proceedings for the sale of lands in which his intestate had an interest, is liable on his bond for his failure to intervene therein, so that the proceeds of such interest may come to his hands for the payment of the debts of the estate. Borders v. People, 31 Ill. App. 483.

93. Glover's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 4.

94. Glover's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 4.

95. McGuire v. Rogers, 74 Md. 192, 21 Atl. 723.

96. Banta v. Marcellus, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 373.

97. McGuire v. Rogers, 74 Md. 192, 21 Atl. 723.

98. McDowall v. McDowall, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 324.

99. McDowall v. McDowall, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 324.

1. For jurisdiction in suits between personal representatives see supra, XIV, E, 1, k.

2. Kansas.— Taylor v. Minton, 45 Kan. 17, 25 Pac. 222.

Missouri.— Martin v. Martin, 13 Mo. 36.

New Jersey.— Cole v. Wooden, 18 N. J. L. 15; Ransom v. Geer, 30 N. J. Eq. 249; Ely v. Ely, (Ch. 1901) 50 Atl. 657.

New York.— Rogers v. Rogers, 75 Hun 133, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 276; Smith v. Lawrence, 11 Paige 206.

Pennsylvania.— Simon v. Albright, 12 Serg. & R. 429. But see Pringle v. Pringle, 130 Pa. St. 565, 18 Atl. 1024, holding that under the system which obtains in Pennsylvania of administering equitable principles in common-law forms of procedure, an executor who has received no part of the assets may sustain as an individual an action at law in the court of common pleas against a co-executor who has received all the assets, to charge the estate with a debt due to plaintiff from the testator.

Virginia.— Rodes v. Rodes, 24 Gratt. 256.

United States.— Ransom v. Geer, 12 Fed. 607, 20 Blatchf. 535.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1662.

Reason for rule.— Each has the same right to the possession of the fund which belongs to both as the representatives of the estate of which they are joint trustees (Taylor v. Minton, 45 Kan. 17, 25 Pac. 222; Rogers v. Rogers, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 133, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 276; Smith v. Lawrence, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 206); and the effect of a common-law judgment in favor of one against the other would be to give to the former the right to issue an execution and transfer the whole fund to his own exclusive possession (Smith v. Lawrence, supra).

3. Phillips v. Phillips, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 71. See also Cocker v. Cocker, 2 Mo. App. 451.

that an action may be maintained by an executor against one who has renounced,[4] or who does not accept the trust,[5] or who has been removed as executor.[6] So in jurisdictions which have no courts of chancery, it seems that an administrator who has made a final settlement of the estate and paid the balance due from him to the persons entitled to receive it may bring an action against the estate of his co administratrix who was also an heir for the amount received by her beyond her share; he cannot, however, maintain such action before a final settlement of the administration account and while a portion of the estate remains in his hands.[7] In equity the same considerations as govern in courts of law do not apply, consequently one personal representative may maintain a bill in equity to compel payment of a debt due from defendant to the estate.[8] So it has been held that equity has jurisdiction of a suit by an executor against his co-executor on a bill for services rendered the testator.[9] And if one of several executors has been guilty of fraudulent misconduct in his dealings with the estate, his co-executors may maintain a suit against him for an accounting.[10] A bill in equity may also be maintained for an account between the executors or administrators of different estates.[11] Where a surviving partner and another are appointed administrators of the deceased partner's estate, a bill does not lie by the surviving partner against his co-administrator for a settlement of the affairs of the firm. This amounts to taking a position on both sides of the case.[12]

Where administrator charged with amount of note sued on.— Where one of two administrators who have given a joint bond takes on himself the sole administration of the estate and on final settlement is charged in cash with the amount of a note taken from his co-administrator and others payable to both as administrators and of the decrees rendered on such settlement, some remained unpaid, the sole equitable title to the note vests in the administrator to which it has been charged and he can maintain an action thereon. Waldrop v. Pearson, 42 Ala. 636.

4. Rawlinson v. Shaw, 3 T. R. 557.

5. Hunter v. Hunter, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 631.

6. Hendricks v. Thornton, 45 Ala. 299, in which it was said that the reason for the rule ceases on removal of the executor. And see Guibert v. Saunders, 10 N. Y. St. 43, holding that after the settlement of the accounts, an executor, as heir at law or next of kin, may maintain an action against the co-executor for the property belonging to the testator which has not been taken into the account before the surrogate.

7. Steinman v. Saunderson, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 357.

8. Petty v. Young, 43 N. J. Eq. 654, 9 Atl. 377, 12 Atl. 392; Ransom v. Geer, 30 N. J. Eq. 249; Marsh v. Oliver, 14 N. J. Eq. 259; McGregor v. McGregor, 35 N. Y. 218; Rogers v. Rogers, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 133, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 276; Wurts v. Jenkins, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 546; Decker v. Miller, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 149; Peake v. Ledger, 8 Hare 313, 32 Eng. Ch. 313. See also Rodes v. Rodes, 24 Gratt. (Va.) 256. But see Beall v. Hilliary, 1 Md. 186, 54 Am. Dec. 649, which seems to be in direct conflict with the rule stated in the text. Compare Rogers v. Moore, 1 Root (Conn.) 472 (in which it was said that a court of chancery will not interpose between executors unless it appears to be absolutely necessary for the purpose of justice); Bellamy v. Hawkins, 16 Fla. 733 (holding that on a bill filed by an executor against a co-executor to recover a pro rata share of compensation and commissions allowed by the order of the probate court and paid to and retained by the co-executor who refuses to pay over the share claimed by the complainant, the remedy at law is plain and adequate; that no discovery is necessary and chancery has no jurisdiction).

Reason for rule.— A court of equity, from its peculiar mode of administering justice, can settle the questions as to the fact of indebtedness and as to the amount due from one of the executors to the estate of which both are trustees whenever the decision of those questions becomes necessary without changing the possession of the fund. And when the amount of such indebtedness is ascertained the court may make such disposition of the fund as justice and equity shall then require. Smith v. Lawrence, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 206.

An action to foreclose a mortgage against one who on the death of plaintiff pending the action qualifies as his executor may be revived and continued by the co-executor. McGregor v. McGregor, 35 N. Y. 218.

Where executors are directed to pay money into the estate and to pay a legacy to a co-executor, but they failed to pay such money, such co-executor may sue in a court of equity in his individual right against the executors individually. Evans v. Evans, 23 N. J. Eq. 71.

9. Ely v. Ely, 64 N. J. Eq. 790, 53 Atl. 1125, (Ch. 1901) 50 Atl. 657.

10. Wood v. Brown, 34 N. Y. 337; Price v. Brown, 60 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 511.

11. Stiver v. Stiver, 8 Ohio 217.

12. Smith v. Bryson, 62 N. C. 267, 93 Am. Dec. 610.

XV. ACCOUNTING AND SETTLEMENT.[1]

A. Duty to Account — 1. In General. An executor or administrator is bound to keep clear, distinct, and accurate accounts of his management of the estate, like any trustee, which accounts ought in some way to be open to the inspection of persons interested in the estate.[2] Upon the analogies of trusteeship, English courts of equity long exercised a jurisdiction in such matters; and hence, both in England and some of the older American states, creditors' bills have been entertained by way of bills of discovery against the personal representative, forcing him to set forth an account of the assets and the manner in which he has applied them.[3] But under modern statutes jurisdiction of such accounts is usually vested in courts of probate, and such probate jurisdiction includes, under appropriate legislation, the compulsion of a regular accounting by the executor or administrator of an estate.[4] Where no assets or personal property

1. Account defined.— An account of a personal representative is a brief statement of the conduct of the administration in the form of debit and credit, with receipts and disbursements itemized. See infra, XV, F, 1, a; and ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING, 1 Cyc. 362.

Distinction between final and partial accounts see Burgwyn v. Daniel, 115 N. C. 115, 20 S. E. 462; Hubley's Appeal, 19 Pa. St. 138; Chambers' Appeal, 11 Pa. St. 436.

Settlement defined.— The term "settlement," strictly speaking, means the adjustment of the claims and demands in favor of and against the estate of the decedent and does not include the distribution of the estate. Allen v. Dean, 148 Mass. 594, 20 N. E. 314; In re Batchelor, 119 Mich. 239, 77 N. W. 941; Calkins v. Smith, 41 Mich. 409, 1 N. W. 1048; In re Creighton, 12 Nebr. 280, 11 N. W. 313. Compare Mathews' Appeal, 72 Conn. 555, 45 Atl. 170.

A final settlement is a proceeding in which the amount of the residue subject to distribution is judicially determined and established by an order or decree of the court, but not the rights or shares of those who are entitled to the same. Granger v. Bassett, 98 Mass. 462. See also Johnson v. Richards, 3 Hun (N. Y.) 454, 5 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 654. Compare Ashley v. Ashley, 15 Ala. 15, 17, in which it is said: "The material requisites therefore, of a final settlement are, first, that there be parties to it, whose rights are bound thereby; secondly, that those rights should be judicially ascertained, and established by the judgment of the court."

Necessity of order or decree.— See Picot v. Bates, 39 Mo. 292, 302.

Insufficiency of order.— See Steen v. Steen, 25 Miss. 513. Compare Fort v. Battle, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 133.

2. In re Higgins, 15 Mont. 474, 39 Pac. 550, 28 L. R. A. 116; Houser's Estate, 177 Pa. St. 441, 35 Atl. 671; Freeman v. Fairlie, 3 Meriv. 24, 17 Rev. Rep. 7, 36 Eng. Reprint 10. See also Schouler Ex. § 518.

Even though a decedent's estate is not in a position to be finally settled, the creditors and other interested persons have a right to know the situation of the property, and to be informed thereof by accounts to be filed by the administrator. Witman's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 350. See also Rhett v. Mason, 18 Gratt. (Va.) 541.

3. Schouler Ex. §§ 518–520. See infra, XV, B, 6, b.

Existence of debt necessary.— Brooks v. Headen, 88 N. C. 449.

4. Alabama.— Vincent v. Daniel, 59 Ala. 602.

Louisiana.— Baumgarden's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 46.

Maryland.—See Cummings v. Robinson, 95 Md. 759, 53 Atl. 795.

New Jersey.—Duncan v. Barnes, 20 N. J. L. 75, holding that a personal representative may be cited to account notwithstanding he has declared the estate of his decedent insolvent.

New York.— Matter of Wade, 38 Misc. 154, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 163.

Pennsylvania.—Berry's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 50.

South Carolina.— Koon v. Munro, 11 S. C. 139.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1971; infra, XV, B, 2; and Schouler Ex. § 520.

Where there are no creditors and the sole legatee is also executor an appropriation by him of the personal estate is an accounting which relieves the sureties from responsibility. McKim v. Harwood, 129 Mass. 75. See also Mattoon v. Cowing, 13 Gray (Mass.) 387.

Second account.— When an account has been regularly filed in the proper place, a personal representative will not be compelled to file a second account unless it is shown that the first is lost; and it will be presumed that it is in the proper place until the contrary is shown. Ingraham v. Cox, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 70.

A testamentary executor is not obliged to account to the heirs or legatees until the end of his administration; but nevertheless when all the assets have come into his hands he should furnish statements of account on demand. Quinn v. Fraser, 10 Quebec 320.

Estoppel.— Where an administrator files a final account showing that he has administered the estate, he is estopped to deny his representative character or liability to accome into the hands of the executor or administrator he is not bound to render an account;[5] but an order discharging an administrator who in his petition alleged that he had received no assets will be rescinded when it subsequently appears that assets have been received by him, and he will be required to account as to such assets as come into his hands.[6]

2. Periodical or Further Accounting. Periodical returns are part of the American probate system; a first account being ordered within a stated time, and other accounts, from time to time, as the statute and the representative's bond may designate, until the estate is fully settled.[7]

3. Time For Accounting. It is usual for the statutes to provide that a first account shall be filed within a certain time from the date of appointment, that other accounts shall follow at prescribed intervals, and that a final account shall be filed and settlement made at the expiration of a prescribed period.[8] Where count. In re Osborn, 36 Oreg. 8, 58 Pac. 521.

When accounting unnecessary.—It has been held that an administratrix would not be required to file an account where it appeared that all the money which she had received since her former account was audited had been absorbed by the repayment of a sum which was found due to her at the audit of the first account and by counsel fees. Lee's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 304.

5. Dakota.— Territory v. Bramble, 2 Dak. 189, 5 N. W. 945.

Louisiana.— Watterston's Succession, 19 La. Ann. 104.

Maine.—Thurlough v. Kendall, 62 Me. 166.

Maryland.—See Cummings v. Robinson, 95 Md. 83, 51 Atl. 1105.

Massachusetts.— Walker v. Hall, 1 Pick. 20.

New York.—See In re O'Brien, 45 Hun 284.

Pennsylvania.—Trout's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 761, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 608; Guinane's Estate, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 438; Bestford's Estate, 10 Kulp 223. See also Singerly's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 261, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 575.

Virginia.— Perdue v. Dillon, 89 Va. 182, 15 S. E. 385.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1971.

6. Cummings v. Robinson, 95 Md. 83, 51 Atl. 1105.

7. In re Sweetser, 109 Mich. 198, 67 N. W. 130; Matter of Arkenburgh, 11 N. Y. App. Div. 193, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 965 (supplemental account); Glaskin v. Sheehy, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 289 (intermediate account subject to objection and inquiry); Seeger's Estate, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 369 (filing subsequent accounts "when legally required"). See also Schouler Ex. § 526.

Shrinkage of assets.— Where there has been an unexplained shrinkage of assets between any two accounts, the representative will be ordered to file a further account explaining the apparent disappearance of assets. Jennings' Estate, 10 Pa. Dist. 90.

Partial accounts of executors exhibited and allowed by the court will not prevent a person interested in the estate from bringing the executors into court for a final settlement. Merselis v. Mead, 7 N. J. Eq. 557.

Additional assets.— In Pennsylvania an executor or administrator who receives assets of the estate after he has filed an account should file a supplementary account thereof; and he may be compelled to do so. Shaffer's Appeal, 46 Pa. St. 131; Witman's Appeal, 28 Pa. St. 376. But in New York the court at its discretion may permit a postponement until the time of formal accounting. Wetmore v. Wetmore, 3 Dem. Surr. 414.

Where a legatee has become of age since the last accounting, he may demand a further accounting, as such coming of age is a "new fact" on which such a demand may be predicated. Hood v. Hood, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 392.

In California it is required by statute that a statement of any receipts and disbursements of the executor or administrator since a rendition of his final account must be reported and filed at the time of making distribution, and under the statute these statements may be settled at the time the decree of distribution is made, without notice, or the court may order notice to be given and refer the same for settlement. In re Sheid, 129 Cal. 172, 61 Pac. 920; Firebaugh v. Burbank, 121 Cal. 186, 53 Pac. 560.

8. Alabama.— Austin v. Jordan, 35 Ala. 642. See also Semoice v. Semoice, 35 Ala. 295.

Georgia.— Wellborn v. Rogers, 24 Ga. 558.

Illinois.— Reynolds v. People, 55 Ill. 328.

Kansas.— Musick v. Beebe, 17 Kan. 47.

Louisiana.— Reed v. Crocker, 12 La. Ann. 445; Lafon v. Gravier, 1 Mart. N. S. 243.

Maine.— Ring v. Burton, 5 Me. 45, further time may be allowed by probate judge.

New Jersey.— See Pomeroy v. Mills, 37 N. J. Eq. 578.

New York.— Menck's Estate, 5 N. Y. St. 341; Woodruff v. Woodruff, 17 Abb. Pr. 165. See also In re Harris, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 162.

North Carolina.— Ingram v. Ingram, 49 N. C. 188; Hobbs v. Craige, 23 N. C. 332.

Ohio.— See State v. Moore, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 68, 2 Wkly. L. Gaz. 405 [reversing 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 62, 2 Wkly. L. Gaz. 389].

Pennsylvania.— Toner's Estate, 5 Wkly. Notes Cas. 386; Wistar's Estate, 5 Wkly. Notes Cas. 128; Dickson's Estate, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. 534, 11 Phila. 86; Disston's Es-there is a controversy over the probate of the decedent's will, during which the court appoints a temporary administrator of the estate, his account should not be judicially settled, on admission of the will to probate, until letters testamentary have been issued and the executors brought in as parties.[9] Notwithstanding a statutory requirement for a final accounting and settlement by the personal representative after a certain length of time, such final accounting may be postponed as justice requires where delay occurs necessarily and without his fault,[10] and it has been held that an executor or administrator ought not to be compelled to make a final settlement before the estate has been fully administered, with collections made and the debts and legacies paid.[11] A personal representative should not make his final settlement before the expiration of the statutory period for filing claims,[12] and if he does so he and his sureties become liable to the creditors of the estate.[13]

4. Who Entitled to Require Accounting — a. In General. An accounting will be ordered upon the application of a person having a sufficient interest and cause of complaint, but in order to entitle a person to demand an accounting it must appear that he has an interest in the estate and a cause of complaint, and is not a mere intermeddler.[14] tate, 14 Phila. 310; Matter of Harley, 1 Phila. 511. See also Irwin's Appeal, 6 Pa. Cas. 316, 9 Atl. 298, 3 Montg. Co. Rep. 88.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 1973–1974.

Compare Dickinson v. Arms, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 394.

An administrator with the will annexed may, under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2724 (Code Civ. Proc. (1905) § 2726), proceed to a final accounting at the same time that his predecessor could have done so. He need not wait for the lapse of a year after letters were issued to him. Matter of Burling, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 47.

Administrator of deceased guardian.— Under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2606, application for an accounting against the administrator of a deceased guardian may be made immediately on his appointment. In re Wiley, 119 N. Y. 642, 23 N. E. 1054.

When administrator resigns.— Under the Alabama statute when an administrator has resigned or been removed, it is his duty to settle his accounts within one month after his authority has ceased and on his failure to do so the court proceeds ex mero motu to compel a settlement. Glenn v. Billingslea, 64 Ala. 345.

In Canada the account of an administrator who is the creditor of the estate must be filed at least a month before the distribution of the estate. McDonald's Estate, 2 Nova Scotia 342.

Rents.— An executor must have a reasonable time to collect and pay over rents before the court will compel an accounting. Cox's Estate, 8 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 161.

Partnership settlement involved.— Under a statute providing that the surviving partner may retain firm assets until the business is settled, while paying balances to the executor of the deceased partner from time to time, it is not error to settle an annual account of the executor without an account between him and the surviving partner. In re Lux, 100 Cal. 606, 35 Pac. 345, 347.

9. Voorhis' Estate, 1 N. Y. St. 306; Bible Soc. v. Oakley, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 450.

10. Beers v. Strohecker, 21 Ga. 442 (delay caused by litigation); In re Whitney, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 468 (delay over a disputed claim). See also Flores v. Howth, 5 Tex. 329.

Final accounting postponed by will.—Where a will made a bequest of an annuity for life to the testator's widow, the executor was not bound to render a final account until after her death. Rieman v. Peters, 2 Md. 104. See also Owens v. Pierce, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 462, holding that under the will of the testator an older child was not entitled, without alleging fraud, to an account with the executor, nor to a distribution of the estate in whole or in part, till the youngest child became of age.

In Alabama it has been decided that, after the lapse of seven years from the grant of administration, a final settlement should not be deferred at the instance of an administrator, because of outstanding debts or unsettled accounts. Ditmar v. Bogle, 53 Ala. 169.

In Michigan it has been decided that the time within which an administrator is required to close up an estate under the statutes of that state cannot be extended beyond the period of four and one-half years, during which period the creditors have a lien upon the realty belonging to the estate. Hoffman v. Beard, 32 Mich. 218 [distinguished in Larzelere v. Starkweather, 38 Mich. 96].

11. Allison v. Abrams, 40 Miss. 747.

12. Wright's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 195, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 589; Gallen's Estate, 26 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 308.

13. Yakel v. Yakel, 96 Md. 240, 53 Atl. 914.

14. Alabama.— Vincent v. Daniel, 59 Ala. 602.

Georgia.— See Cook v. Weaver, 77 Ga. 9.

Louisiana.— Giddens' Succession, 48 La. Ann. 356, 19 So. 125; Scott's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 336.

b. Creditors. The right of a lawful and unpaid creditor to obtain an account from those who administer the estate of his deceased debtor will ordinarily be enforced without hesitation.[15]

Mississippi.— Robinson v. Gholson, 8 Sm. & M. 392.

New York.— Matter of Emerson, 59 Hun 244, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 788; In re Coman, 15 N. Y. St. 442; Becker v. Hager, 8 How. Pr. 68; Gratacap v. Phyfe, 1 Barb. Ch. 485 (person with a contingent interest); Edwards v. Edwards, 1 Dem. Surr. 132 (one acquiring interest since last accounting).

Pennsylvania.— Beeber's Appeal, (1887) 8 Atl. 191; Del Valle's Appeal, 2 Pa. Cas. 270, 5 Atl. 441; Okeson's Appeal, 2 Grant 303; Stewart's Estate, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 603 ("owner of any contingent interest" in personalty of decedent may demand accounting); Fryer's Estate, 12 Wkly. Notes Cas. 408 (indorsee of a note drawn by decedent to the order of his wife and by her indorsed); In re Painter 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. 190; In re Heenan, 15 Phila. 588 (contestant under a will); Disston's Estate, 14 Phila. 310; Mazurie's Estate, 11 Phila. 143; McNeal's Estate, 6 Kulp 271.

Vermont.— Davis v. Eastman, 68 Vt. 225, 35 Atl. 73.

Canada.— Contant v. Mercier, 20 Rev. Lég. 379.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1975.

A bare possibility under a will, depending on the death of the first taker without issue, is not a sufficient interest. Keene's Appeal, 60 Pa. St. 504.

One named in a will as a cestui que trust, in a clause which is void under the statute against perpetuities, is not an "interested person" entitled to compel account. Matter of Wood, 15 N. Y. St. 722.

A surviving trustee may compel the executor of a deceased co-trustee to account, as he is a "person interested in the estate." Matter of Kreischer, 30 N. Y. App. Div. 313, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 802.

Municipal authorities cannot under the New York statute compel an accounting. Matter of Wood, 15 N. Y. St. 722.

An attorney for one who recovers a judgment may be deemed a party sufficiently in interest. Close v. Shute, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 546.

Right of widow see Stille's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 1538, 27 So. 954; Haddow v. Haddow, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 777; Ferguson v. Stuart, 14 Ohio 140; Melizet's Appeal, 17 Pa. St. 449, 55 Am. Dec. 573; White's Estate, 23 Pa. Super. Ct. 552; Lacey's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 126; Cornell v. Hartley, 41 W. Va. 493, 23 S. E. 789.

Right of a receiver in supplementary proceedings see Matter of Beyea, 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 198, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 200; Matter of Rainey, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 367, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 892; Worrall v. Driggs, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 449.

Estoppel.— One who denies that he is interested in an estate may thereby estop himself from subsequently compelling the administrator to account. In re Rusko, 34 Hun (N. Y.) 334.

When question of interest determined.— Whether a person claiming to have an interest in an estate is entitled to any standing is a matter which should be determined on the hearing for distribution rather than upon the settlement of an account. In re Willey, 140 Cal. 238, 73 Pac. 998.

15. Voinche v. Brouillette, 50 La. Ann. 370, 23 So. 318; State v. Judge Second Dist. Ct., 20 La. Ann. 580; Williams' Succession, 7 Rob. (La.) 46; Carriere v. Meyer, 16 La. 126; Matter of Whitehead, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 319, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 989; Keyser v. Kelly, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 157; Hart's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 347; Agnew's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 699; Clinton's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 661, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 209; Love's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 324; Wistar's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 48; Callender's Estate, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 518; Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77. Compare Hall v. Mulhollan, 7 La. 283; Locher's Estate, 14 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 6.

A representative who has been removed cannot be called to account by creditors unless the administrator de bonis non is insolvent or colludes with the debtors. Hardwick v. Thomas, 10 Ga. 266. See also Matter of Duffy, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 251.

Cannot maintain bill in equity.— A creditor of an estate is not such a cestui que trust of the executor or administrator as to entitle him to bring a bill in equity in a federal court for the purpose of an accounting, without special averments of fraud, maladministration, or non-administration. Walker v. Brown, 58 Fed. 23.

Mere general creditors of an insolvent firm composed of a surviving member and the executors of a deceased member, not being creditors of the estate, cannot compel the executors to account. Frothingham v. Hodenpyl, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 341.

Delays in settling an estate to which a creditor contributed give him no ground of complaint. Fatjo's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 1561, 28 So. 135.

Form and contents of creditors' petition see Peters' Estate, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 581.

A creditor of a legatee or distributee who has attached his interest may by virtue of such attachment cite the representative to an account (Raeder's Estate, 10 Pa. Dist. 282; Manigle's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 39. See also Voinche v. Brouillette, 50 La. Ann. 370, 23 So. 318), but a judgment creditor of a legatee who has not attached his interest cannot demand an accounting (Greiner's Estate, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 292).

The holder of a claim against the representative personally, on which he is not entitled to sue him in his representative capacity, although the claim is for expenses

c. Heirs, Distributees, and Their Representatives. Heirs or distributees are persons interested who may require the executor or administrator to render acount of his administration,[16] and the assignee or personal representative of an heir or distributee may be similarly entitled.[17]

d. Legatees and Their Representatives. A legatee or his representative has the usual right of a party in interest to an accounting.[18] incurred or services rendered in connection with the administration of the estate, cannot compel an accounting. Matter of Flint, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 598, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 188; Lewis' Estate, 23 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 492, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 457.

An injunction restraining alleged creditors from requiring executors to account before the surrogate will not be granted, where the complaint does not show any action of the surrogate detrimental to the executors, nor that he has unjustly refused to hear objections to the claims presented. Hotchkiss v. Hotchkiss, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 825, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 129.

In North Carolina a special proceeding, under Battle Rev. c. 45, § 73, by a creditor against a personal representative of a debtor for an accounting must be by summons and complaint in the first instance, and other creditors coming in need not file complaints unless their claims are denied, in which case they must do so. Isler v. Murphy, 76 N. C. 52.

16. Alabama.— Alexander v. Steele, 84 Ala. 332, 4 So. 281 (not necessary to charge a devastavit); Alexander v. Alexander, 70 Ala. 212; Gould v. Hayes, 19 Ala. 438 (compelling account after removal).

Georgia.— Shorter v. Hargroves, 11 Ga. 658.

Louisiana.— Wiemann's Succession, 106 La. 387, 30 So. 893; Touzanne's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 420; Stein v. Bowman, 9 La. 281, not until they are recognized as such.

Maine.— Rogers v. Marston, 80 Me. 404, 15 Atl. 22.

New Hampshire.— Flanders v. Lane, 54 N. H. 390.

New Jersey.— See In re Lewis, 32 N. J. Eq. 690.

New York.— Matter of Wood, 5 Dem. Surr. 345.

Pennsylvania.— Bushong's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 107, even though decedent be insolvent.

Rhode Island.— Burch v. Champlin, (1900) 52 Atl. 988.

Virginia.— See Graff v. Castleman, 5 Rand. 195. 16 Am. Dec. 741.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1980.

Sisters of a decedent who claim through their deceased father are not persons interested. Brooke's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 325.

Persons whose claim to be heirs or next of kin is denied cannot compel an accounting. In re Lewis, 32 N. J. Eq. 690.

Insolvent estate.— Distributees have no such interest in an insolvent estate as will authorize them to proceed against an administrator for a final account. Bird v. Furniss, 33 Miss. 44. But see Bushong's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 107.

If the administrator dies an administrator de bonis non is necessary to an accounting sought by a distributee. Ward v. Huggins, 37 N. C. 135. Compare Graff v. Castleman, 5 Rand. (Va.) 195, 16 Am. Dec. 741.

After an administrator has been discharged persons claiming to be sole heirs of the decedent cannot demand an account of the administration of the succession, although they attack a judgment homologating an account, where the order discharging the administrator is not assailed, and the person to whom the residue of the estate was paid, and who had been recognized as the sole heir of the deceased, is not made a party defendant. Baron v. Baum, 44 La. Ann. 295, 10 So. 766.

17. Matter of Prout, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 109, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 841 (residuary legatee of a deceased distributee); Jenkins v. Freyer, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 47; Wright v. Lowe, 6 N. C. 354; Emerick's Estate, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 641 (administrator of deceased heir); Branch v Hanrick, 70 Tex. 731, 8 S. W. 539 (purchaser of an heir's interest).

18. Alabama.— High v. Worley, 32 Ala. 709, administrator of a deceased legatee.

New Jersey.— Bird v. Hawkins, 58 N. J. Eq. 229, 42 Atl. 588.

New York.— Matter of Egan, 89 N. Y. App. Div. 565, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 663 (assignee of legatee); Matter of Watts, 68 N. Y. App. Div. 357, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 75; Clark v. Ford, 1 Abb. Dec. 359, 3 Keyes 370, 1 Transcr. App. 22, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. 245, 34 How. Pr. 478; McKenzie v. L'Amoureux, 11 Barb. 516; Matter of Jones, 30 Misc. 354, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 726 [affirmed in 51 N. Y. App. Div. 420, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 667]; Matter of Fortune, 14 Abb. N. Cas. 415 (assignee of legatee); Woodruff v. Woodruff, 17 Abb. Pr. 165; Carroll v. Carroll, 2 Edm. Sel. Cas. 158; Crawford v. Crawford, 5 Dem. Surr. 37; Bonfanti v. Deguerre, 3 Bradf. Surr. 429; Colon's Estate, Tuck. Surr. 244 (a legatee ward who has reached majority, and not his guardian).

North Carolina.— Brotten v. Bateman, 17 N. C. 115, 22 Am. Dec. 732.

Pennsylvania.— Alter's Estate, 3 Wkly. Notes Cas. 356; Mackaw's Estate, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. 203. Compare Pratt's Estate, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. 704.

United States.— Silsby v. Young, 3 Cranch 249, 2 L. ed. 429 (unless it be shown that the fiduciary has no assets in his hands which ought to be applied to the purposes prayed for by the bill); Pulliam v. Pulliam, 10 Fed. 23.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1981.

e. Remainder-Men and Their Representatives. A remainder-man whose rights in an estate are vested is so interested therein as to be entitled to apply to compel an executor to account, even though the owner of the life-estate be also living and entitled to make similar application.[19]

f. Co-Executors and Co-Administrators. The right of a personal representative to compel his co-representative to account is discussed elsewhere.[20]

g. Successors and Representatives. An administrator de bonis non has usually the right to compel an accounting by his predecessor where the latter has resigned or been removed,[21] but he cannot compel the representatives or sureties of a predecessor whose office terminated by death to account with him.[22] It has been decided in New York that no statutory provision in that state authorizes the representatives of a deceased executor to initiate and conduct a proceeding for the accounting of their decedent in the estate whereof he was himself executor.[23]

A devisee cannot call the executor to account for the whole estate, but only as to the fund in which he has an interest. Clifton v. Haig, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 330.

Rule applicable to residuary devisees.—Cook v. Farmers Bank Trust Co., 16 Ky. L. Rep. 286; Carroll v. Carroll, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 293 (lands sold to pay debts); Palethorp's Estate, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 288 (executrix of a devisee). Compare Cary v. Macon, 4 Call (Va.) 605.

Person occupying dual capacity.— An executrix of an executor, although also a legatee of such executor's testator, cannot as legatee cite herself as such executrix to account, because she cannot sue herself. Popham v. Spencer, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 399.

The mere appearance of an interest is ordinarily sufficient to entitle a person to an accounting, and so a legatee who has released his interest may compel an accounting if the release is attacked by him as void. Matter of Duffy, 3 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 240, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 366.

The assignee of an executor, or of the administrator of an executor, cannot be called to account by legatees, where there is no fraud or collusion, even though the assets could be traced or identified. Rayner v. Pearsall, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 578.

19. Matter of Hunt, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 159, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 538 [affirming 38 Misc. 30, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 968]; Earle v. Earle, 73 N. Y. App. Div. 300, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 851; In re Lawrence, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 213 (heir of a devisee of the remainder); Campbell v. Purdy, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 434; Godwin v. Watford, 107 N. C. 168, 11 S. E. 1051; Smith's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 754; Albertson's Estate, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 188; Bushong's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 322.

20. See infra, XXI, B, 20, b.

21. Alabama.— Waring v. Lewis, 53 Ala. 615 (accounting for assets wasted or converted); Simmons v. Price, 18 Ala. 405; King v. Smith, 15 Ala. 264. Contra, prior to statute changing the rule, Moore v. Armstrong, 6 Port. 697.

California.— Radovich's Estate, 74 Cal. 536, 16 Pac. 321, 5 Am. St. Rep. 466.

Georgia.— Giles v. Brown, 60 Ga. 658; Knight v. Lasseter, 16 Ga. 151. See also Hardwick v. Thomas, 10 Ga. 266; Oglesby v. Gilmore, 5 Ga. 56.

Illinois.— Duffin v. Abbott, 48 Ill. 17 [overruling Stose v. People, 25 Ill. 600]. But an administrator de bonis non has no authority to call upon the first administrator for an account of assets already administered upon. Rowan v. Kirkpatrick, 14 Ill. 1.

Indiana.— Kelly v. Weddell, Smith 362.

Louisiana.—Collins v. Hollier, 13 La. Ann. 585.

Massachusetts.— Fay v. Muzzey, 13 Gray 53, 74 Am. Dec. 619.

New Jersey.— Boulton v. Scott, 3 N. J. Eq. 231.

New York.— Harrison v. Clark, 87 N. Y. 572; In re O'Brien, 45 Hun 284. See also Coman's Estate, 15 N. Y. St. 442; Bunnell v. Ranney, 66 How. Pr. 291, 2 Dem. Surr. 327; Matter of Fithian, 5 Dem. Surr. 305; Le Count v. Le Count, 1 Dem. Surr. 29.

North Carolina.— State University v. Hughes, 90 N. C. 537; Lansdell v. Winstead, 76 N. C. 366; Cannon v. Jenkins, 16 N. C. 422.

Pennsylvania.— Matter of Bradley, 9 Phila. 327.

South Carolina.— Villard v. Robert, 1 Strobh. Eq. 393. See also Thompson v. Buckner, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 499, holding that an administrator de bonis non would be required to prove not only that debts existed, but that the administrator had notice of them within the year before he could require an account on the ground that judgments remained unsatisfied.

Tennessee.— Whitaker v. Whitaker, 12 Lea 393.

Virginia.—See Waddy v. Hawkins, 4 Leigh 458.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1984.

22. Bliss v. Seaman, 165 Ill. 422, 46 N. E. 279 [affirming 59 Ill. App. 236]; Marsh v. People, 15 Ill. 284; Bradshaw v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 632; Douglas v. Day, 28 Ohio St. 175.

23. Bunnell v. Ranney, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 291, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 327; Spencer v.

h. Sureties of Personal Representative. Sureties on the bond of an executor or administrator cannot compel an accounting by their principal,[24] but a surviving administrator may be compelled to account by a surety on the bond of his deceased co-administrator.[25]

i. Probate Court. The probate court, having jurisdiction of the estate, may on its own motion, and without application of any interested party, make an order citing the executor or administrator to render an account, after the lapse of the time fixed by statute or the bond of the fiduciary.[26]

5. Who May Be Required to Account — a. In General. Generally speaking any executor or administrator may be called on to render an account;[27] and, where a man by marrying an executrix becomes executor in his own right and renders himself a trustee with her of the assets of the estate, he may be compelled to account.[28] Persons who without authority assume to administer an estate and receive property of the estate may be compelled to account therefor.[29] An executor or administrator who resigns or is removed from office or whose letters are revoked, as also the representatives of a deceased executor or administrator, may be required to render a final account and turn over the balance due.[30]

Popham, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 425; Popham v. Spencer, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 399.

24. Dunnell v. Providence Municipal Ct., 9 R. I. 189. See also McElroy v. Hatheway, 44 Mich. 399, 6 N. W. 867. Compare Palmer v. Ward, 91 N. Y. App. Div. 449, 86 N. Y. Suppl. 990.

25. Matter of Provost, 87 N. Y. App. Div. 86, 84 N. Y. Suppl. 29.

26. Alabama.— Vincent v. Daniel, 59 Ala. 602.

Georgia.— See Cook v. Weaver, 77 Ga. 9.

Mississippi.— Robinson v. Gholson, 8 Sm. & M. 392.

New York.—Anonymous, 14 N. Y. St. 490; Woodruff v. Woodruff, 17 Abb. Pr. 165; Matter of Uglow, 51 How. Pr. 342; Tucker v. McDermott, 2 Redf. Surr. 312.

Wisconsin.— In re Campbell, 12 Wis. 369.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1976.

Compare Thompson v. Buckley, 1 Tex. 33.

Order by surrogate under New York statute see Matter of Furniss, 86 N. Y. App. Div. 96, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 530; In re Macaulay, 27 Hun (N. Y.) 577 (irregularity in service of citation waived by appearance); Matter of Scudder, 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 179, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 101. The order to account rests in the sound discretion of the surrogate, and the appellate division cannot interfere with the exercise of that discretion except in cases where it has been abused. Matter of Merritt, 35 N. Y. App. Div. 337, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 955; Matter of Adler, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 481, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 227. See also Matter of Withers, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 404, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 169. Where an administrator dies the surrogate's court has jurisdiction, on the petition of a person interested in the estate, to compel the administrator of the deceased administrator to account. In re Armstrong, 72 N. Y. App. Div. 286, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 37.

Rents and profits.— Where, by consent of heirs or devisees, the executor or administrator enters into possession of real estate and takes rents and profits, he is liable to them only, if the estate is solvent, and the judge of probate cannot call him to account for such rents and profits. Goodrich v. Thompson, 4 Day (Conn.) 215.

27. See Taché v. Taché, 14 Rev. Lég. 257.

A sheriff appointed ex officio an administrator may be cited in to account like any other administrator. McLaughlin v. Nelms, 9 Ala. 925.

The fact that an executrix is also lifetenant does not excuse her failure to file an account. Maxwell v. McCreery, 57 N. J. Eq. 287, 41 Atl. 498. Compare Rowland v. Rowland, 29 S. C. 54, 6 S. E. 902.

Changing domicile.— A person who undertakes the administration of an estate situated in one state cannot exonerate himself from suit by the heirs for the rendition of an account of his administration by removing his domicile and citizenship to another state. McGhee v. McGhee, 41 La. Ann. 657, 6 So. 253.

28. Wood v. Chetwood, 27 N. J. Eq. 311. See also Draughon v. French, 4 Port. (Ala.) 352; Smith v. Chapman, 5 Conn. 14; Lindsay v. Lindsay, 1 Desauss. (S. C.) 150.

29. Damouth v. Klock, 29 Mich. 289. See also Marshall v. Strange, 9 S. W. 250, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 410; Pace v. Pace, 73 N. C. 119.

Nullity of appointment.— One who has been appointed as administrator of an estate and received letters of administration therein and has seized, misappropriated, and dissipated the property of the estate, cannot evade an accounting upon the ground of the nullity of his appointment. Dobler v. Strobel, 9 N. D. 104, 81 N. W. 37, 81 Am. St. Rep. 530.

In Louisiana it has been decided that there is no authority for calling on a negotiorum gestor, by an ex parte order obtained by the heirs of his deceased wife, to render an account to the court in a fiduciary capacity, as an administrator of a succession and that a surviving husband holding under the law as usufructuary is not to be called on thus for an account of administration. Rentz v. Cole, 26 La. Ann. 623.

30. Alabama.— Sloan v. McKinney, 19 Ala. 115.

b. Co-Executors and Co-Administrators. Where there are two or more executors or administrators of an estate, each has a several right to the assets of the estate, and is responsible and need account only for the assets he receives.[31] Each of several co-executors or co-administrators has a right to settle a separate account of his administration.[32] The liability of co-representatives who jointly settle their final accounts is fully discussed elsewhere.[33] A petition by an executor to compel his co-executor to join in stating an account should be dismissed, where it appears that such co-executor has repeatedly declared his willingness to unite with the petitioner in the statement of an account disposing of the assets in accordance with the proper practice and in such manner as to allow the petitioner full opportunity to establish certain disputed claims held by him against the estate, but that the petitioner has persistently failed to coöperate with him.[34]

California.— Radovich's Estate, 74 Cal. 536, 16 Pac. 321, 5 Am. St. Rep. 466.

Connecticut.— See Smith v. Chapman, 5 Conn. 14.

Georgia.— Giles v. Brown, 60 Ga. 658; Hardwick v. Thomas, 10 Ga. 266.

Kansas.— Hudson v. Barratt, 62 Kan. 137, 61 Pac. 737.

Louisiana.—Chaffe v. Farmer, 36 La. Ann. 813; Frazier's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 381; Rentz v. Cole, 26 La. Ann. 623.

Mississippi.— Noland v. Calvit, 12 Sm. & M. 273.

New Jersey.— Schenck v. Schenck, 3 N. J. L. 562; Aldridge v. McClelland, 34 N. J. Eq. 237.

New York.— Dunford v. Weaver, 84 N. Y. 445 [affirming 21 Hun 349]; Gerould v. Wilson, 81 N. Y. 573 [affirming 16 Hun 530]; Foster v. Wilber, 1 Paige 537; Rayner v. Pearsall, 3 Johns. Ch. 578.

North Carolina.— Pace v. Pace, 73 N. C. 119; Thompson v. McDonald, 22 N. C. 463; Ralston v. Telfair, 22 N. C. 414.

Pennsylvania.— Peeble's Appeal, 15 Serg. & R. 39.

South Carolina.— Thompson v. Bailey, 5 Rich. 68 (representatives of deceased's sureties); Villard v. Robert, 1 Strobh. Eq. 393.

Tennessee.—Whitaker v. Whitaker, 12 Lea 393.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1986.

When the deceased executor received no property of his decedent's estate his representative need not file an account. Thomas' Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 87.

A discharge of administrators on account of insolvency of themselves and their sureties does not relieve them of the duty to account. Union Nat. Bank v. Poulson, 31 N. J. Eq. 239.

Settlement before successor appointed.— A settlement made by an executor or administrator on his resignation is not conclusive as to his successor, if made before such successor was appointed and qualified. Emmons v. Gordon, 125 Mo. 636, 28 S. W. 863; (1893) 24 S. W. 146.

Alleged disbursement.— An administratrix who has been dismissed cannot evade the duty of accounting by alleging, in her answer to a petition for account, that she has paid out all the money of the estate which has come into her hands. Lockard's Estate, 10 Pa. Dist. 192.

The burden is upon a removed administrator to show that he has made a full accounting of the assets of the estate. In re Glover, 127 Mo. 153, 29 S. W. 982.

31. Gaultney v. Nolan, 33 Miss. 569. See also Davis' Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 206.

No assets received.—An accounting and settlement cannot be required from a co-executor or co-administrator who received none of the assets, but in the exercise of prudence and good faith permitted his associate to control them exclusively. In re Rust, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 308. Compare Matter of Campbell, 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 133, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 29, holding that an executor cannot evade an accounting on the ground that he did not make or join in the making of any inventory of the estate and that no part thereof came into his hands and that he took no part in its management, although it does not follow that he will be liable to make good any waste which may have been committed by his co-executor.

Paying over assets to co-representative.— Where an administrator turns over the property of the estate to his co-administrator, who is also next of kin of intestate, he cannot be required to account therefor by the administrators of his co-administrator. Matter of Van Wert, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 563, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 719. But one who collects and receives assets is not relieved from an accounting by paying them over to his co-executor when the habits, health, and pecuniary circumstances of such co-executor should have awakened inquiry on his part. Knight v. Haynie, 74 Ala. 542.

32. Mercer v. Glass, 25 S. W. 114, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 710; In re Patterson, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 291, joint liability on official bond for acts of co-administrator not affected thereby.

Rights of representative of co-representative.— Where one of two co-representatives who have faithfully administered different parts of their decedent's estate dies his own executor or administrator may settle a separate account of his administration. Barclay v. Morrison, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 129.

33. See infra, XXI, B, 20, c.

34. Strasbaugh v. Dallam, 93 Md. 712, 50 Atl. 417.

c. Representative of Deceased Executor or Administrator. Where an executor or administrator dies without having settled his administration account it is for his own representative and not the administrator de bonis non of the first decedent to present and settle the account of the deceased representative;[35] but the representative of a representative is not required to account as the representative of the original decedent[36] when there is no proof that any of the effects of such decedent came to his hands in his representative character.[37]

6. When Representative Acts in Different Capacities — a. Acting as Representative of Different Estates. Where the same person is administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the original decedent and administrator of the original executor he may file his account in the former capacity, although technically he should file the account of his intestate.[38]

b. Acting as Representative and Guardian. When a person acts both as executor or administrator and guardian of the children of the deceased, he should render separate accounts as personal representative and as guardian,[39] and he should first file his account in the former capacity in order that it may be definitely ascertained what amount he should charge himself with in the latter[40]

c. Acting as Representative and Trustee. One who is testamentary trustee as well as executor holds the fund as executor till his final account as such is settled,[41] and he cannot properly assume the rights and duties of trustee until the court has approved his accounts as executor and ordered a distribution of the estate.[42] It seems that executors who are charged with trust duties should, when finally accounting as executors, include all their proceedings in the administration

35. Alabama.— Howard v. Howard, 26 Ala. 682.

Connecticut.— See State v. Osborne, 69 Conn. 257, 37 Atl. 491.

Maine.— Nowell v. Nowell, 2 Me. 75.

Maryland.— Muncaster v. Muncaster, 23 Md. 286.

Mississippi.— Jarnagin v. Frank, 59 Miss. 393; Prestige v. Pendleton, 28 Miss. 379; Steen v. Steen, 25 Miss. 513.

New York.—In re Clark, 119 N. Y. 427, 23 N. E. 1052; Matter of Fithian, 44 Hun 457, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 193, 1 Connoly Surr. 187; Matter of Butler, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 641, 1 Connoly Surr. 58; Herbert v. Stevenson, 3 Dem. Surr. 236; Spencer v. Popham, 5 Redf. Surr. 425. See also Merritt v. Merritt, 161 N. Y. 634, 57 N. E. 1117 [affirming 32 N. Y. App. Div. 442, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 127]; Matter of Irvin, 68 N. Y. App. Div. 158, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 443; In re Coman, 15 N. Y. St. 442.

Pennsylvania.— Bowman's Appeal, 62 Pa. St. 166; Schoch's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 288; Van Dyke's Appeal, 31 Leg. Int. 69; Montgomery's Estate, 3 Brewst. 306.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1989.

In Wisconsin the executor of a deceased executor cannot be compelled to render and settle the account of the latter. Reed v. Wilson, 73 Wis. 497, 41 N. W. 716.

Where an administrator dies pending an appeal from the allowance of his account his administrator cannot be cited to appear before the court where the appeal was pending to settle such account. Wentworth v. Wentworth, 12 Vt. 244.

36. Schenck v. Schenck, 3 N. J. L. 562. See also Pickett v. Pickett, 41 La. Ann. 882, 6 So. 655; Rachal's Succession, 12 La. Ann. 717.

37. Davis v. Yerby, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 508; Dakin v. Demming, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 95. See also Barbour v. Robertson, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 93; In re O'Brien, 45 Hun (N. Y.) 284; Cross v. Baskett, 17 Oreg. 84, 21 Pac. 47.

38. Hughes' Estate, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 179, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 160.

Joint administration de bonis non.— Where the administrator of a deceased executor takes out jointly with another letters of administration de bonis non on the estate of the testator, he does not exclusively represent both estates, and consequently there can be no transfer by operation of law of the property in his hands as administrator to him as administrator de bonis non, and an account should be stated between him as administrator and the estate of the testator. Thomas v. Wood, 1 Md. Ch. 296.

39. Foteaux v. Lepage, 6 Iowa 123. See also in this connection Thomas' Estate, 2 Kulp (Pa.) 160; Hannah v. Boyd, 25 Gratt. (Va.) 692.

40. Davis v. Davis, 10 Ala. 299; Fish's Appeal, 3 Pa. Cas. 239, 7 Atl. 222. See also Wells v. Cuny, 4 La. 489. Compare In re Scott, 36 Vt. 297, holding that where an administrator is also guardian he may charge himself with funds as guardian without an order of the probate court, and this will be a sufficient accounting for the same as administrator.

41. Wallber v. Wilmanns, 116 Wis. 246, 93 N. W. 47. See supra, VIII, A, 8.

42. In re Higgins, 15 Mont. 474, 39 Pac. 506, 28 L. R. A. 116. See also Hall v. Cushing, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 395; Cluff v. Day, 124 N. Y. 195, 26 N. E. 306 [reversing 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 460, 14 N. Y. St. 729]; In re Willets, 112 N. Y. 289, 19 N. E. 690.

of the estate in whatever capacity they have assumed to act.[43] An administrator who collects a trust fund belonging to the estate of his intestate and is subsequently appointed trustee of such fund is liable to account for the same as administrator when it does not appear that he has ever made any transfer of such fund to himself as trustee.[44] An executor who was also an agent or trustee of the testator in his lifetime cannot, after the final settlement of his accounts as executor, be called on to account in equity as such trustee. There can be no separate accounting in the two different capacities.[45]

7. Scope of Liability and Property to Be Included. An executor or administrator must render his account for all the personal property of the decedent which has come into his hands, wherever found or by whatever means collected; and the inventory of the estate constitutes the basis or starting-point for such accounting.[46] The inventory is not, however, conclusive as to the assets for

43. Whitney v. Phœnix, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 180.

44. In re Hodson, 131 N. Y. 575, 30 N. E. 63 [affirming 61 Hun 504, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 371].

45. Vanmeter v. Jones, 3 N. J. Eq. 520.

46. California.— Radovich's Estate, 74 Cal. 536, 16 Pac. 321, 5 Am. St. Rep. 466.

Indiana.— Keister v. Howe, 3 Ind. 268.

Kentucky.— Smith v. Morgan, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 829.

Louisiana.— Francez's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 1732, 23 So. 254; Plantevignes' Succession, 28 La. Ann. 562. See also Von Hoven's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 911, 15 So. 391; Cason v. Cabrara, 4 La. Ann. 538; Grubb v. Henderson, 1 Rob. 4.

Massachusetts.— Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. 77; Dawes v. Boylston, 9 Mass. 337, 6 Am. Dec. 72.

New Hampshire.— Ella's Appeal, 68 N. H. 35, 38 Atl. 501.

New York.— In re Clark, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 911.

Pennsylvania.— Osterhout's Estate, 8 Lanc. L. Rev. 18; Tracy's Estate, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. 30.

Texas.— See Kearney v. Nicholson, (Civ. App. 1901) 67 S. W. 361.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1990.

Must account for personal property only. —Shuttleworth v. Winter, 55 N. Y. 624; Gardner v. Dering, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 131. Compare In re Beecher, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 971. Where, however, the will directs a conversion of real into personal estate, the money arising from the sale becomes assets in the hands of the executor for which he is bound to account. Stagg v. Jackson, 1 N. Y. 206; Bloodgood v. Bruen, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 8. See also Baldwin v. Smith, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 350, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 299.

Where a surviving partner of the testator is his executor, his testamentary account must include a statement of partnership affairs. Marre v. Ginochio, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 165. See also Gardere's Succession, 48 La. Ann. 289, 19 So. 134.

The administratrix of a surviving partner cannot be required to account in the state courts for partnership assets which are outside the state until such time as the proceeds thereof actually come into her hands within the state. Scudder v. Ames, 142 Mo. 187, 43 S. W. 659.

Fund belonging to widow.— An administrator must account for a fund arising out of his intestate's estate, although it rightfully belongs to the widow when she has directed him to receive it and apply it on the debts of the estate. Wilkinson v. Ward, 42 Ill. App. 541.

Receipts and disbursements after filing account.— An administrator's final account may be brought down to include receipts and expenditures subsequent to its filing, on a verified affidavit of such items. Hone v. Lockman, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 61.

Life-insurance policies.— An executor is not chargeable in his account with the amount of insurance policies in his hands on the lives of debtors of his intestate before he has realized on such policies. Richardson's Estate, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 288, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 978. And an executor is not chargeable with the sum paid on a life-insurance policy of his testator, when it appears that the policy was made payable to the testator's wife to whom it was paid and that she delivered the proceeds to the executor who deposited them in bank as her agent. In re Gordon, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 502.

Liquor license to be accounted for.— Immendorf's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 449, 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 268.

In an accounting between an executor or administrator and his successor he must account for chattels included in his inventory (Fay v. Muzzey, 13 Gray (Mass.) 53, 74 Am. Dec. 619), and all funds and property which he has received for or on account of such estate (Chaffe v. Farmer, 36 La. Ann. 813). An executor pro forma is accountable to the testamentary executor only for the surplus remaining after payment of debts. De Sobry v. De Laistre, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 191, 3 Am. Dec. 555. An administrator in chief on the settlement of his accounts with the succeeding administrator de bonis non cannot be charged with a sum of money which is shown to have been deposited by the intestate a short time before his death in the hands of a bailee for safe-keeping and to have been paid over by the bailee to the administrator de bonis non himself. Milam v. Ragland, 25 Ala. 243.

which an executor or administrator is accountable,[47] but he may be required to account for assets not inventoried or credited by him.[48] It is only as to money or property which an executor or administrator is entitled to receive in his representative capacity that an account should be taken in settling his administration. If he receives money or property to which he is not entitled in his representative capacity he cannot be required to account therefor.[49]

8. Relief From Duty[50]— a. In General. To relieve a personal representative from the duty to account or from the consequences of a failure to account his excuse must be legal and reasonable, and whether it is so is a matter largely for the discretion and judgment of the court in each particular case.[51] A creditor may waive his right to an accounting by acquiescing in a settlement,[52] and so may distributees.[53] Although the personal representative may be entirely relieved from his obligation to account by the terms of the will,[54] he is not so relieved merely because the will gives him absolute discretion as to the management of the estate,[55] or allows him a specified time in which to settle the same.[56] Permission from the court to an administrator to retain in his possession the money of minors does not relieve him from the obligation to make annual and final settlements.[57]

b. Bond to Pay Debts and Legacies. Where an executor who is also the residuary legatee has given bond to pay the testator's debts and legacies, as he may do in some jurisdictions,[58] a bill in equity cannot be maintained against him for an accounting, nor can a probate accounting be compelled.[59]

An infant administrator is responsible for all acts done after he becomes of age and before revocation. A court of equity regards him as a trustee and compels him so far to account, but not with respect to assets which came into his hands during infancy. Carow v. Mowatt, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 57.

Receipt of money by deceased.— Evidence that a testator one year before his death received certain money is not sufficient, without proof connecting his executor with the money, to make him accountable therefor. Matter of Haney, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 205, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 815.

Provisions in the house, which the family consumed immediately after the decedent's death and before the taking of the inventory, are not to be accounted for. Williamson v. Williamson, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 298.

47. See supra, IV, I.

48. Field v. Hitchcock, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 405; Boston v. Boylston, 4 Mass. 318; Schick v. Grote, 42 N. J. Eq. 352, 7 Atl. 852; Perea v. Barela, 5 N. M. 458, 23 Pac. 766.

49. Alabama.— Key v. Jones, 52 Ala. 238; Pettit v. Pettit, 32 Ala. 288; Ashurst v. Ashurst, 13 Ala. 781; Smith v. Smith, 13 Ala. 329.

Connecticut.— Guinan's Appeal, 70 Conn. 342, 39 Atl. 482.

Iowa.— Berryhill's Estate, 61 Iowa 345, 16 N. W. 198.

Missouri.— Schoeneich v. Reed, 8 Mo. App. 356.

New York.— In re Soutter, 105 N. Y. 514, 12 N. E. 34; Jones v. Corbett, 11 Paige 265.

Pennsylvania.— Rine v. Hall, 187 Pa. St. 264, 40 Atl. 1088; Watson's Appeal, 6 Pa. St. 505; Merrick's Estate, 8 Watts & S. 402; Carr's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 740, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 354; Tracy's Estate, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. 30; Osterhout's Estate, 8 Lanc. L. Rev. 18. See also Cassel's Estate, 180 Pa. St. 252, 36 Atl. 744; Walker's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 124, 16 Pa. Co. Ct. 160.

Virginia.— Cary v. Macon, 4 Call 605.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1990.

50. By private accounting and settlement see infra, XV, J.

51. Ex p. Pearce, 44 Ark. 509; Dundas' Estate, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 128; Morrow's Estate, 3 C. Pl. (Pa.) 37; Trevelyan v. Lofft, 83 Va. 141, 1 S. E. 901. See also Jones v. Williams, 2 Call (Va.) 102.

Illustrations.— It is no defense to a citation to an administrator to file an account of a deceased executor that moneys received by said executor were rents of real estate of his testator, or moneys which vested in him of his own right as devisee. Handbest's Estate, 4 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 402. Want of settlement by an administrator of an intestate's estate, caused by his own neglect, is not a valid objection to his accounting for another estate incidentally connected therewith, of which he is also administrator. Johnson v. Henagan, 11 S. C. 93.

52. Love's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 324.

53. Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900. See also Piatt v. Longworth, 27 Ohio St. 159.

54. Maurer v. Bowman, 169 Ill. 586, 48 N. E. 823. See also In re Runner, 3 Del. Co. (Pa.) 395.

55. Harrison's Estate, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 388. See also Sellers v. Sellers, 35 Ala. 235.

56. Young's Estate, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 513.

57. Devore v. Pitman, 3 Mo. 179.

58. See supra, II, J, 1, a, (II), (B).

59. Durfee v. Abbott, 50 Mich. 278, 15 N. W. 454; Copp v. Hersey, 31 N. H. 317;

c. Pendency of Other Proceedings. The pendency of other proceedings affecting the estate or its settlement does not ordinarily relieve a personal representative from the necessity of accounting as required by law.[60]

9. Consequences of Failure to Account. Under various statutes a representative who fails to account as required may become personally liable for the debts of the estate[61] may have an execution awarded against him for the full value of whatever personal property of the deceased has come to his hands,[62] may incur a penalty,[63] or may subject himself to liability to imprisonment[64] or to indictment.[65]

B. Proceedings For Accounting — 1. In General. A personal representative's account can be settled only in some proceeding appropriate for that purpose, in a court having the requisite jurisdiction.[66] Proceedings by attachment are inapplicable for the purpose of compelling the settlement of an estate,[67] nor can a proceeding provided in case of failure to file an inventory be invoked to compel an account by a personal representative.[68]

2. Jurisdiction — a. In General. An executor or administrator cannot be compelled to account in the common-law courts, but only in a court of probate or of equity.[69]

b. Probate Courts — (i) In General. Jurisdiction as to accounting and settlement by personal representatives is usually given to probate courts, or to general courts upon which probate power is expressly conferred;[70] but, as has Batchelder v. Russell, 10 N. H. 39. See also Clarke v. Tufts, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 337; McElroy v. Hatheway, 44 Mich. 399, 6 N. W. 857; Schouler Ex. §§ 249, 534.

60. Alabama.— Chighizola v. Le Baron, 21 Ala. 406.

Illinois.— Rucker v. Redmon, 67 Ill. 187, suit in chancery in another county to settle right of representative to participate in distribution.

Indiana.— Norwood v. Harness, 98 Ind. 134, 49 Am. Rep. 739, suit on joint and several bond executed by decedent.

Maryland.— Jones v. Jones, 41 Md. 354, proceedings in equity to have the estate distributed under a decree of that court. But see Barroll v. Peters, 20 Md. 172, suit in chancery for settlement is a bar to a suit for final accounting in the orphans' court.

New York.— In re Hazard, 51 Hun 201, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 701 (a proceeding for an accounting before the surrogate cannot be defeated by the subsequent commencement of an action for an accounting in the supreme court); In re Reeves, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 454 (unsettled appeal from decree entered in last accounting).

Pennsylvania.— Nicholson's Estate, 16 Phila. 267. But see Keily's Estate, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 175, account not compelled during pendency of suit between co-executors to determine ownership of bank deposits claimed by one of them individually.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1997.

61. Kenner v. Duncan, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 563; Butler v. Ricker, 6 Me. 268.

Neglect to comply with clerk's order.— There is no law which renders an administrator personally liable for a debt of his intestate on his mere neglect to comply with an ex parte order of the clerk to file his account. Lockhart v. Wall, 14 La. Ann. 273.

62. Williams v. Esty, 36 Me. 243.

63. Lippert v. Lippert, 110 Iowa 550, 81 N. W. 777; St. Mary's Congregation v. Farrelly, 34 La. Ann. 533; Toy's Succession, 14 La. Ann. 536; Dejol v. Johnson, 12 La. Ann. 853.

Persons who have induced the violation of a statute prescribing a penalty for failure to account cannot claim the penalty. Plunkett's Succession, 12 La. Ann. 558.

64. Ex p. Wright, 65 Ind. 504; Lobit v. Castille, 14 La. Ann. 779.

65. State v. Parrish, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 285.

66. See infra, XV, B, 2, b.

67. Metcalf v. Clark, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 45.

68. People v. Corlies, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 228.

69. Alabama.— See Cooper v. Tillman, 33 Ala. 332.

Louisiana.— Flint v. Wells, 4 La. 537.

Massachusetts.— Tyler v. Wheeler, 160 Mass. 206, 35 N. E. 666.

Michigan.— Pitcher v. Douglas, 37 Mich. 339.

South Carolina.— Ordinary v. Robinson, 1 Bailey 25; Ordinary v. Williams, 1 Nott & M. 587. See also Harrington v. Cole, 3 McCord 509.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1999.

An action of account by a legatee against a personal representative will not lie at common law. Anonymous, 2 N. C. 226; Merriam v. Hemmenway, 26 Vt. 565; Curtis v. Curtis, 13 Vt. 517, aliter by statute as between co-executors. Compare Smith v. Chapman, 5 Conn. 14.

Appeals from a probate court on matters involving the settlement of accounts will not be heard in a court of law. Wallis v. Gill, 3 McCord (S. C.) 475.

70. Alabama.— Hatchett v. Billingslea, 65 Ala. 16; Malone v. Marriott, 64 Ala. 486; Savage v. Benham, 11 Ala. 49.

been shown elsewhere in this work, courts of equity in many instances also have Arkansas.— Ex p. Pearce, 44 Ark. 509.

Connecticut.— Brush v. Button, 36 Conn. 292; Beach v. Norton, 9 Conn. 182.

District of Columbia.— Keyser v. Breitbarth, 3 Mackey 19.

Illinois.— Boyd v. Swallows, 59 Ill. App. 635.

Kentucky.— Holland v. Lowe, 101 Ky. 98, 41 S. W. 9, 39 S. W. 854, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 97 (county courts); McAfee v. Balden, 6 Bush 537.

Louisiana.— Spivey's Succession, 15 La. Ann. 248; Boyce v. Davis, 13 La. Ann. 554; Grubb v. Henderson, 1 Rob. 4; Humphreys v. King, 2 La. 49; Taylor v. Hollander, 4 Mart. N. S. 535; Casanovichi v. Debon, 10 Mart. 11.

Maine.— Graffam v. Ray, 91 Me. 234, 39 Atl. 569; Probate Judge v. Quimby, 89 Me. 574, 36 Atl. 1049; Decker v. Decker, 74 Me. 465; Gilbert v. Duncan, 65 Me. 469; Simpson v. Norton, 45 Me. 281; Pierce v. Irish, 31 Me. 254; Potter v. Cummings, 18 Me. 58.

Massachusetts.— Sargent v. Sargent, 168 Mass. 420, 47 N. E. 121.

Michigan.— Fingleton v. Kent Cir. Judge, 116 Mich. 211, 74 N. W. 473.

Minnesota.— Betcher v. Betcher, 83 Minn. 215, 86 N. W. 1; Starkey v. Sweeney, 71 Minn. 241, 73 N. W. 859; Luse v. Reed, 63 Minn. 5, 65 N. W. 91; Boltz v. Schutz, 61 Minn. 444, 64 N. W. 48; Culver v. Hardenbergh, 37 Minn. 225, 33 N. W. 792; State v. Ueland, 30 Minn. 277, 15 N. W. 245; Jacobs v. Fouse, 23 Minn. 51.

Mississippi.— Foute v. McDonald, 27 Miss. 610; Steen v. Steen, 25 Miss. 513; Harris v. Fisher, 5 Sm. & M. 74, right to refuse to allow accounts in case of devastavit.

Montana.— In re Higgin, 15 Mont. 474, 39 Pac. 506, 28 L. R. A. 116. See also Deer Lodge County v. Kohrs, 2 Mont. 66.

New Hampshire.— Tappan v. Tappan, 24 N. H. 400.

New York.— Sexton v. Sexton, 174 N. Y. 510, 66 N. E. 1116 [affirming 64 N. Y. App. Div. 385, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 213]; Borrowe v. Corbin, 165 N. Y. 634, 59 N. E. 1119 [affirming 31 N. Y. App. Div. 172, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 741]; In re Callahan, 152 N. Y. 320, 46 N. E. 486; Harris v. Ely, 25 N. Y. 138; Matter of Arkenburgh, 11 N. Y. App. Div. 193, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 965; Matter of Robinson, 42 Misc. 169, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 1087; Matter of Plummer, 38 Misc. 536, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 1115; Clark v. Clark, 8 Paige 152, 35 Am. Dec. 676; Foster v. Wilber, 1 Paige 537. See also In re Hurlburt, 43 Hun 311; Richardson's Estate, 2 Misc. 288, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 978, Pow. Surr. 384; Vanderveer v. McKane, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 808, 25 Abb. N. Cas. 105; Matter of Uglow, 51 How. Pr. 342; Carman v. Cowles, 2 Redf. Surr. 414.

North Carolina.— Gay v. Grant, 101 N. C. 206, 8 S. E. 99, 106; Ex p. Spencer, 95 N. C. 271; Stancill v. Gay, 92 N. C. 455; Hendrick v. Mayfield, 74 N. C. 626; Ballard v. Kilpatrick, 71 N. C. 281; Hutchinson v. Roberts, 67 N. C. 223; Neilig v. Foard, 64 N. C. 710; Hunt v. Sneede, 64 N. C. 176. See also Pegram v. Armstrong, 82 N. C. 326; Herring v. Outlaw, 70 N. C. 334.

Ohio.— Voss v. Loomis, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 20, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 12.

Oregon.— Rutenic v. Hamakar, 40 Oreg. 444, 67 Pac. 196; Gatch v. Simpson, 40 Oreg. 99, 66 Pac. 688.

Pennsylvania.— Reese's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 272, 9 Atl. 315; Wimmer's Appeal, 1 Whart. 96; Com. v. Brady, 3 Serg. & R. 309; Huffman's Estate, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 558; Parker's Estate, 8 Phila. 217; Apple's Estate, 2 Phila. 171; Peters' Estate, 1 Phila. 581 (estates, whether solvent or insolvent, may be brought into the orphans' court for settlement); Darrach's Estate, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 454. See also Walls v. Walls, 170 Pa. St. 48, 32 Atl. 649.

Texas.— Shiner v. Shiner, 90 Tex. 414, 38 S. W. 1126.

Vermont.— See Wentworth v. Wentworth, 12 Vt. 244.

Washington.— In re Alfstad, 27 Wash. 175, 67 Pac. 593.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2002–2003; and EQUITY, 16 Cyc. 92.

The court granting letters of administration has generally exclusive jurisdiction over the administrator appointed by it in the settlement of the estate (Taliferro v. Bassett, 3 Ala. 670; Boyce v. Davis, 13 La. Ann. 554; People v. Pelham, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 48), but where he dies without having rendered an account it can be rendered only in the probate court where his own estate is administered (Thomas v. Bourgeat, 6 Rob. (La.) 435).

Leave granted to bring suit upon an administrator's bond for his neglect, upon being cited, to settle his accounts does not divest the court of probate of its jurisdiction for the settlement of the accounts, if no suit has been commenced. Sturtevant v. Tallman, 27 Me. 78.

Insolvency courts have no jurisdiction to compel the executors or administrators of deceased trustees to account in these courts for the trust estate. Purviance v. Glenn, 8 Md. 202.

In Alabama when the administrator is the actor in bringing about the settlement, he must proceed in the probate court, and cannot resort to the chancery court, unless he shows some special ground of equitable jurisdiction, which the probate court is incompetent to administer. Glenn v. Billingslea, 64 Ala. 345; Bush v. Cunningham, 37 Ala. 68; Park v. Park, 36 Ala. 132; McNeill v. McNeill, 36 Ala. 109, 76 Am. Dec. 320; Sellers v. Sellers, 35 Ala. 235; Moore v. Lesueur, 33 Ala. 237; Stewart v. Stewart, 31 Ala. 207; Pearson v. Darrington, 21 Ala. 169; Horton v. Moseley, 17 Ala. 794; Wilson v. Crook, 17 Ala. 59; King v. Smith, 15 Ala. 264; Hunley v. Hunley, 15 Ala. 91; Scott v. Abercrombie, 14 Ala. 270; Dement v. Boggess, 13 Ala. 140; Blakey v. Blakey, 9 Ala.

jurisdiction as to these matters.[71] The extent of the jurisdiction of probate courts as to such matters depends upon the constitutional and statutory provisions conferring it, and it must be exercised in accordance with such provisions.[72]

391; Leavens v. Butler, 8 Port. 380; Portis v. Creagh, 4 Port. 332; Dobbs v. Cockerham, 2 Port. 328; Cherry v. Belcher, 5 Stew. & P. 133. An administrator of one person, who by becoming the personal representative of another sustains dual and antagonistic relations, cannot make a valid settlement of his accounts in probate court; the only remedy is in chancery. Buchanan v. Thomason, 70 Ala. 401; Alexander v. Alexander, 70 Ala. 357. See also Martin v. Atkinson, 108 Ala. 314, 18 So. 888; Hays v. Cockrell, 41 Ala. 75. And when an administrator is also the guardian of the distributees of the estate the probate court has no jurisdiction. Cleere v. Cleere, 82 Ala. 581, 3 So. 107, 60 Am. Rep. 750; Vaughan v. Suggs, 82 Ala. 357, 2 So. 32. See also Tankersly v. Pettis, 61 Ala. 354. But the mere fact that the same person is administrator of two estates, one of which is the only creditor of the other, does not deprive the probate court of jurisdiction. Eatman v. Eatman, 82 Ala. 223, 2 So. 729.

In California the probate court has no jurisdiction to receive or act upon an account presented by an executor of an executor against the estate of the testator of the deceased executor. Wetzler v. Fitch, 52 Cal. 638; Bush v. Lindsey, 44 Cal. 121.

71. See EQUITY, 16 Cyc. 91.

72. Alabama.— Gayle v. Johnson, 80 Ala. 388; Vincent v. Martin, 79 Ala. 540; Whorton v. Moragne, 62 Ala. 201; Carter v. Carter, 39 Ala. 579; Reaves v. Garrett, 34 Ala. 558; Gerald v. Bunkley, 17 Ala. 170; Brazier v. King, 16 Ala. 730.

Arkansas.— Hughes v. Pike, 27 Ark. 298.

District of Columbia.—U. S. v. Ames, MacArthur & M. 278.

Georgia.— Echols v. Almon, 77 Ga. 330, 1 S. E. 269.

Louisiana.—Wise's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 1229; Lawrence v. Guice, 9 Rob. 219.

Massachusetts.— Boston v. Boylston, 4 Mass. 318.

Mississippi.— West v. Gibbs, 42 Miss. 168 (the probate court should so exercise its powers as to settle all questions in controversy if practicable); Thornton v. Glover, 25 Miss. 132; Harris v. Fisher, 5 Sm. & M. 74; Scott v. Searles, 5 Sm. & M. 25.

Missouri.— Johnson v. Johnson, 72 Mo. App. 386, probate courts have jurisdiction as to everything necessary to the full and final administration of estates.

Montana.— State v. Eighth Judicial Dist. Ct., 26 Mont. 369, 68 Pac. 856 (no jurisdiction to decide dispute as to ownership of property); In re Barker, 26 Mont. 279, 67 Pac. 941.

New Jersey.— Martin v. Martin, 19 N. J. L. 44; Kinnan v. Wight, 39 N. J. Eq. 501 (jurisdiction to inquire into the validity of representative's claim satisfied by retainer); Fennimore v. Fennimore, 3 N. J. Eq. 292.

New York.— Alexander v. Durkee, 112 N. Y. 655, 19 N. E. 514 [affirming 46 Hun 665]; Stilwell v. Carpenter, 59 N. Y. 414; Matter of Miles, 61 N. Y. App. Div. 562, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 71 [reversing 33 Misc. 147, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 368]; Matter of Mitchell, 61 Hun 372, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 180; Matter of Hazard, 51 Hun 201, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 701; Richardson v. Root, 19 Hun 473; White v. Bullock, 20 Barb. 91 [reversed in 4 Abb. Dec. 578, 15 How. Pr. 102] (within the jurisdiction of a surrogate to find what each of several representatives should be debited and credited with); Farnsworth v. Oliphant, 19 Barb. 30; Matter of Cooper, 6 Misc. 501, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 425 (jurisdiction to determine all property rights between a personal representative and the estate which are necessary to a full adjustment of all matters connected with the trust); In re Schmidt, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 595 (surrogate court has no jurisdiction to annul or set aside instruments executed by parties who are before it, questioning their validity. See also Sanders v. Soutter, 126 N. Y. 193, 27 N. E. 263; In re Wagner, 119 N. Y. 28, 23 N. E. 200); Matter of Blow, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 193, 2 Connoly Surr. 360; Banks v. Taylor, 10 Abb. Pr. 199; Matter of Cooley, 6 Dem. Surr. 77; Thompson v. Mott, 5 Redf. Surr. 574; Gottsberger v. Smith, 2 Bradf. Surr. 86.

Oregon.— Dray v. Bloch, 29 Oreg. 347, 45 Pac. 772.

Pennsylvania.— In re Jacoby, 201 Pa. St. 442, 50 Atl. 935; Lafferty v. Corcoran, 180 Pa. St. 309, 36 Atl. 860; Walker's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 419, 9 Atl. 654; Hamburg Bank v. Seidel, 3 Pa. Cas. 332, 6 Atl. 255; Reed's Appeal [cited in Torr's Estate, 2 Rawle 250, 256]; Matter of Mitchel, 1 Pearson 428; Titlow's Estate, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 370, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. 15; Gillespie's Estate, 13 Phila. 239; Gordon's Estate, 9 Phila. 350 (power to determine the amount due on a judgment in another court); In re Schulte, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 95.

Rhode Island.— Moulton v. Smith, 16 R. I. 126, 12 Atl. 891, 27 Am. St. Rep. 728.

South Carolina.— Walker v. Pinson, 12 Rich. Eq. 445.

Texas.— Cobb v. Speers, (Civ. App. 1899) 49 S. W. 666.

Washington.—In re Alfstad, 27 Wash. 175, 67 Pac. 593.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2002–2003; and COURTS, 11 Cyc. 791.

Personal dealings of executor.— A probate court has no jurisdiction to compel an executor to account for his personal dealings. Byrne v. Hume, 73 Mich. 392, 41 N. W. 331.

Refunding excess paid legatee.— Upon an accounting by the representative, the probate court has no jurisdiction to require the

(II) Matters Incidental to Accounting and Settlement. Under the statutes of the several states probate courts have jurisdiction as to various matters incidental to accounting and settlement.[73]

(III) Where Trust Created by Will.[74] In Alabama it has been decided that when a trust is created by will the probate courts have no jurisdiction to enforce or settle such trust;[75] but this principle does not oust the jurisdiction of the probate court in all cases where a testator by his will devolves testamentary trusts upon the person appointed executor, and in such cases the probate court may properly undertake to settle up such matters as pertain to the executorial duties or office, and decline to take cognizance of the extraordinary trusts which fall outside of the scope or sphere of the ordinary duties of executors and administrators.[76] In New Jersey it has been said that it would seem difficult to create a pure trust by will which could not be administered in the orphans' court.[77] In Pennsylvania, where the trust is not annexed to the office of executor by the legatee or distributee overpaid, to refund the excess, as the claim to such excess so far as a recovery thereof is concerned is a matter between the representative and such overpaid party. Hatchett v. Billingslea, 65 Ala. 16; Echols v. Almon, 77 Ga. 330, 1 S. E. 269; In re Underhill, 117 N. Y. 471, 22 N. E. 1120, 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 541, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 133 [affirming 9 N. Y. Suppl. 457, 1 Connoly Surr. 313].

Debts due by personal representative to the estate.— In some states the indebtedness of the personal representative to the estate is a matter within the jurisdiction of the probate court. Wood v. Tallman, 1 N. J. L. 153; Everts v. Everts, 62 Barb. (N. Y.) 577; Matter of Strickland, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 851, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 435; Matter of Eisner, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 30, 1 Connoly Surr. 358; Gardner v. Gardner, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 112; In re Raab, 16 Ohio St. 273. Aliter in Missouri. Wilson v. Ruthrauff, 82 Mo. App. 435.

Surrogate's jurisdiction as to accounting for real estate sold under a power in a will see Baldwin v. Smith, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 350, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 299. See also Stagg v. Jackson, 1 N. Y. 206.

Legacies.— In Rhode Island the statutes do not include legacies within an administration account and such inclusion is not within the jurisdiction of probate courts. Williams v. Herrick, 18 R. I. 120, 25 Atl. 1099; Arnold v. Smith, 14 R. I. 217.

73. Alabama.— Cary v. Simmons, 87 Ala. 524, 6 So. 416, making allowance for money paid on account of the education and support of minor heirs.

Arkansas.—Brogan v. Brogan, 63 Ark. 405, 39 S. W. 58, 58 Am. St. Rep. 124, inquiry and decision whether creditors have lost the right to subject real estate to the payment of their debts.

California.— In re Sanderson, (1887) 13 Pac. 497.

Illinois.— Duval v. Duval, 153 Ill. 49, 38 N. E. 944.

Louisiana.— In re Altemus, 32 La. Ann. 364 (incidental inquiry into partnership settlement); Prudhomme's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 228 (disposition of opposition by creditors).

Mississippi.— Crowder v. Shackelford, 35 Miss. 321.

New Hampshire.— Willard v. Kingsbury, Smith 223.

New Jersey.— Dunham v. Marsh, 52 N. J. Eq. 256, 30 Atl. 473, incidental power to determine who the parties in interest are and to solve any question necessary to reach that end.

New York.— In re Schaefer, 171 N. Y. 686, 64 N. E. 1125 [affirming 65 N. Y. App. Div. 378, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 57 (modifying 34 Misc. 34, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 489)]; Hyland v. Baxter, 98 N. Y. 610 (allowing sums advanced and paid to an infant distributee); Gladding v. Follett, 2 Dem. Surr. 58 (settlement of account of testamentary trustee). See also Matter of Sistare, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 709, 2 Connoly Surr. 544; Dakin v. Demming, 6 Paige 95; Matter of Adams, 2 Redf. Surr. 66.

Ohio.— Phillips v. State, 5 Ohio St. 122, 64 Am. Dec. 635.

Pennsylvania.— In re Bitler, 1 Leg. Rec. 210.

South Carolina.— Charleston v. Mortimer, 7 Rich. 176, amendment of decree as to allowance of interest.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2004.

Jurisdiction to construe a will attaches as incident to the proceeding where a construction becomes necessary to the determination of questions arising on an accounting by a personal representative in a probate court. Small v. Thompson, 92 Me. 539, 43 Atl. 509; Matter of French, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 303, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 249; Matter of McCahill, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 450, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 1071. See also Riggs v. Craig, 89 N. Y. 479 [reversing 26 Hun 89]; Stevens v. Stevens, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 265. Compare Matter of Chapman, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 187, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 235.

74. See, generally, Trusts.

75. Johnson v. Longmire, 39 Ala. 143; Harrison v. Harrison, 9 Ala. 470.

76. Hinson v. Williamson, 74 Ala. 180; Foxworth v. White, 72 Ala. 224; Pinney v. Werborn, 72 Ala. 58, 74 Ala. 591; Ex p. Dickson, 64 Ala. 188.

77. Phillips v. Phillips, (N. J. Ch. 1889) 18 Atl. 579.

terms of the will, the court of common pleas and the orphans' court have concurrent jurisdiction.[78]

(iv) Accounting After Removal, Resignation, or Death. It seems that probate courts generally have jurisdiction to compel personal representatives to account even after they have been removed[79] or have resigned.[80] In Texas it has been held not to be within the jurisdiction of a county court, sitting in probate, to determine the amount due from a deceased personal representative.[81]

(v) Accounting After Final Settlement. After the final account of a personal representative has been rendered and allowed, the jurisdiction of the probate court to compel an accounting terminates.[82]

(vi) Enforcement of Orders or Judgments. The probate court, after the death of an executor or administrator, loses all jurisdiction to enforce against his personal representative a decree rendered in final settlement against the representative.[83] In South Carolina the jurisdiction of the ordinary extends no further than to take and adjust accounts; he has no authority to enforce the performance of his order or decree.[84]

c. Territorial Jurisdiction. A personal representative should as a general rule be compelled to account in the tribunals of the county in which administration was granted,[85] but when the county in which the decedent resided and in which administration on his estate was granted is divided and a new county formed, in which his estate is situated, jurisdiction of the settlement of such estate may be transferred to the new county.[86] In a bill by heirs for an injunction against the sale of lands and for an accounting, a prayer that the administrator be compelled to deliver the lands to the heirs does not render the suit one respecting title to the lands so as to require a decree from the court in whose jurisdiction the lands lie.[87] In New York the jurisdiction of a surrogate is not limited to the bounds of his county, but he may send a citation to any part of the state to compel a personal representative to account and settle.[88] Where a will has been proved in a foreign state, the executors can be called to account there for their dealings with the estate,[89] but it is otherwise where the will has not been probated in the foreign state.[90] A personal representative who changes his domicile is still bound to account to the court of his former domicile where the administration was granted,[91] and where letters testamentary upon the estate of a resident of one state are granted in that state to a resident of another state, 78. Apple's Estate, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 171.

79. Indiana.— See Kelly v. Weddle, 1 Ind. 550.

Mississippi.— Denson v. Denson, 33 Miss. 560; Davis v. Cheves, 32 Miss. 317. Contra, Washburn v. Dorsey, 8 Sm. & M. 214.

Missouri.— Francisco v. Wingfield, 161 Mo. 542, 61 S. W. 842.

New York.— Gerould v. Wilson, 16 Hun 530 [affirmed in 81 N. Y. 573]; In re Lawrence, Tuck. Surr. 68. See also Prentiss v. Weatherly, 68 Hun 114, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 680 [affirmed in 144 N. Y. 707, 39 N. E. 858].

Pennsylvania.— See In re Redcay, 6 Lanc. Bar 57.

Texas.— See Ingram v. Maynard, 6 Tex. 130.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2006.

Contra.— Johnson v. Brown, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 601.

80. Slagle v. Entrekin, 44 Ohio St. 637, 10 N. E. 675.

81. McClellan v. Mangum, (Tex. Civ. App. 1903) 75 S. W. 840.

82. State v. Ramsey County Prob. Ct., 84 Minn. 289, 87 N. W. 783; State v. Stephenson, 12 Mo. 178; Portis v. Cummings, 14 Tex. 139; Francis v. Northcote, 6 Tex. 185. Compare In re Moreau, Tuck. Surr. (N. Y.) 470.

83. Dilworth v. Carter, 32 Miss. 206.

84. Ordinary v. McClure, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 7, 19 Am. Dec. 648. See also Walker v. Pinson, 12 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 445.

85. George v. Lee, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 61. See also McNew v. Martin, 60 S. W. 412, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1275.

Proceedings to settle estates cannot be transferred from one county to another. In re King, 105 Iowa 320, 75 N. W. 187.

86. Flournoy v. Flournoy, 1 Bush (Ky.) 515.

87. Williams v. Lancaster, 113 Ga. 1020, 39 S. E. 471.

88. People v. Pelham, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 48.

89. Pratt v. Douglas, 38 N. J. Eq. 516.

90. Cocks v. Varney, 42 N. J. Eq. 514, 8 Atl. 722.

91. Farmer's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 1037.

the estate must be settled in the former state and the courts of the latter state have no jurisdiction over the accounts of the personal representative.[92] After submitting his account to the examination of an auditor appointed by a probate court to audit his administration account, and after a decision by the auditor, it is too late for an executor to object that money accounted for was received for land in another state, and was therefore not within the jurisdiction of the court to which he has submitted his account.[93] A bill in chancery seeking to revive a proceeding against an estate long after its final settlement is properly dismissed where it appears that the parties thereto are non-residents and no property of the estate remains in the state. In this condition of things the courts of their own state should be resorted to for relief.[94]

3. Limitations and Laches — a. Statute of Limitations. The relation of a personal representative and persons entitled to the estate is that of trustee and cestuis que trustent, and so long as this relation is acknowledged to exist between the parties and the trust is continued, the statute of limitations does not constitute a bar to a proceeding to compel an accounting and settlement.[95] But when this relation ceases to exist or where the personal representative does some act by which he renounces his trust character and such cestuis que trustent have full notice so as to put them on their remedies, and there is no disability or other impediment in the way of their enforcing their rights, the statute of limitations is set in operation.[96] In New York the rule as stated by most of the decisions is

92. Musselman's Appeal, 101 Pa. St. 165.

93. Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 77.

94. Slaughter v. Garland, (Miss. 1889) 6 So. 648.

95. Alabama.— Greenlees v. Greenlees, 62 Ala. 330; Harrison v. Harrison, 39 Ala. 489; Rhodes v. Turner, 21 Ala. 210. See also Blackwell v. Blackwell, 33 Ala. 57, 70 Am. Dec. 556.

Arkansas.— Jacoway v. Hall, 67 Ark. 340, 55 S. W. 12; Brinkley v. Willis, 22 Ark. 1.

California.— Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753.

Illinois.— Boyd v. Swallows, 59 Ill. App. 635.

Kansas.— Allen v. Bartlett, 52 Kan. 387, 34 Pac. 1042.

Louisiana.— Courtade v. Chamberlain, 4 La. Ann. 368. But see Deranco v. Montgomery, 13 La. Ann. 513, construing statute of 1808.

Maryland.—See Fishwick v. Sewell, 4 Harr. & J. 393.

Massachusetts.— Fuller v. Cushman, 170 Mass. 286, 49 N. E. 631; White v. Swain, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 365.

Mississippi.— Cooper v. Cooper, 61 Miss. 676; Wren v. Gayden, 1 How. 365.

Missouri.— Picot v. Bates, 39 Mo. 292.

Ohio.— Gilbert v. Marsh, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 230, 4 Ohio N. P. 338.

Pennsylvania.— Matter of Hoffman, 2 Pearson 491; Creidland's Estate, 2 Phila. 379. See also Logan v. Richardson, 1 Pa. St. 372; Landis' Estate, 13 Phila. 305. Compare Chandler v. Lamborne, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 124, 3 Pa. L. J. 367.

South Carolina.— Colburn v. Holland, 14 Rich. Eq. 176.

Tennessee.— Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. 84; Lafferty v. Turley, 3 Sneed 157.

Texas.— McKinney v. Nunn, 82 Tex. 44, 17 S. W. 516.

Vermont.— Davis v. Eastman, 68 Vt. 225, 35 Atl. 73.

United States.— Pulliam v. Pulliam, 10 Fed. 23.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2014, 2015, 2016.

Correction of settlement.— Under the Alabama statute when any error of law or fact has occurred in the settlement of any estate of a decedent, to the injury of any party, without any fault or neglect on his part, such party may correct such error by a bill in chancery within two years after the final settlement thereof. Baldwin v. Deming, 51 Ala. 553; Millsap v. Stanley, 50 Ala. 319 (when statute not applicable); Ansley v. King, 35 Ala. 278.

Under the North Carolina statute a proceeding to compel an accounting must be brought within ten years from the time of the filing and auditing of the final account of a personal representative, and an action to impeach such an account must be brought within the same time. Nunnery v. Averitt, 111 N. C. 394, 16 S. E. 683; Wyrick v. Wyrick, 106 N. C. 84, 10 S. E. 916; Woody v. Brooks, 102 N. C. 334, 9 S. E. 294 [distinguishing Grant v. Hughes, 94 N. C. 231]. Prior to the enactment of the code there was no statutory limitation in such cases. Davis v. Cotten, 55 N. C. 430; McCraw v. Fleming, 40 N. C. 348; Bird v. Graham, 36 N. C. 196; Salter v. Blount, 22 N. C. 218; Ives v. Sumner, 16 N. C. 338.

96. Whiting v. Leakin, 66 Md. 255, 7 Atl. 688 (personal representative removed); Gilbert v. Marsh, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 230, 4 Ohio N. P. 338 (account heard and passed upon and trust renounced); Colburn v. Holland, 14 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 176; Prince v. Towns, 33 Fed. 161.

that formerly, under the provisions of the Revised Statutes, in accordance with the rule established in equity, and now, under the provisions of the code of civil procedure, special proceedings in a surrogate's court to compel an accounting and settlement by a personal representative are barred by the statute of limitations, if not commenced within six years from the time when the right to compel such accounting or settlement accrued.[97] A proceeding by an administrator de bonis

Mere neglect to perform the official duty of rendering accounts at the time required by law will not start the running of the statute of limitations. Allen v. Bartlett, 52 Kan. 387, 34 Pac. 1042. See also Young v. Schelly, (N. J. Ch. 1891) 21 Atl. 1049.

Final accounting may not terminate trust. —A settlement of an estate on what purports to be a final account is not necessarily a termination of the trust setting the statute in operation (Davis v. Eastman, 66 Vt. 651, 30 Atl. 1, 68 Vt. 225, 35 Atl. 73. See also Wilson v. McCarty, 55 Md. 277), and it has been decided that an order of a probate judge, made on the ex parte application of a personal representative granting him a final discharge, sets the statute in operation (Fricks v. Lewis, 26 S. C. 237, 1 S. E. 884 [distinguishing Dickerson v. Smith, 17 S. C. 289; Riddle v. Riddle, 5 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 31]).

When there has been no actual settlement, but "some positive act manifesting a clear intention to terminate his trust" has been done by the trustee, the statute begins to run from this act. Such an act amounts to a claim that the trustee has fully accounted, and the acquiescence in the claim for the statutory period is a bar to any reopening of what has been so long acquiesced in. It must, however, be an act manifesting the intention to throw off the trust, not merely to strangers, but to the beneficiary or cestui que trust. Roberts v. Johns, 24 S. C. 580, 16 S. C. 171. See also Renwick v. Smith, 11 S. C. 294.

97. In re Rogers, 153 N. Y. 316, 47 N. E. 589; Butler v. Johnson, 111 N. Y. 204, 18 N. E. 643; Loder v. Hatfield, 71 N. Y. 92; American Bible Soc. v. Hebard, 41 N. Y. 619 [affirming 51 Barb. 552]; Clark v. Ford, 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 359; Matter of Schlesinger, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 77, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 514 [reversing 24 Misc. 456, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 710]; Matter of Hale, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 411, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 577; In re Van Dyke, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 394 [reversing 7 N. Y. St. 710]; In re Latz, 33 Hun (N. Y.) 618; Drake v. Wilkie, 30 Hun (N. Y.) 537; Cole v. Terpenning, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 482; Clark v. Chadeagne, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 97; Smith v. Remington, 42 Barb. (N. Y.) 75; Matter of Boylan, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 281, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 426; Matter of Barnes, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 279, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 430; Matter of Bradley, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 261, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 555; Matter of Campbell, 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 133, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 29; Matter of Miller, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 556, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 1129, 26 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 13; Matter of Kirkpatrick, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 228, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 283; Matter of Van Wort, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 563, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 719; Matter of Perry, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 535, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 536; Pitkin v. Wilcox, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 322; In re May, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 785; In re Underhill, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 455, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 541; In re Nicholls, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 7, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 479, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 156; In re Dunham, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 563, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 479, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 323; In re Clayton, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 266, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 68, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 444; In re Gregory, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 235; In re Stagg, 6 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 88; McCartee v. Camel, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 455; House v. Agate, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 307; Paff v. Kinney, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 1. See also Matter of Jordan, 50 N. Y. App. Div. 244, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 911; Garvey v. New York L. Ins., etc., Co., 4 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 348, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 818.

Contra.—In re Camp, 126 N. Y. 377, 27 N. E. 799; Matter of Irvin, 68 N. Y. App. Div. 158, 162, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 443; Matter of Jones, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 420, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 667 [affirming 30 Misc. 354, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 726]; Matter of Lyth, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 608, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 579; Matter of Beyea, 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 198, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 200; Foster v. Town, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 333. See also Matter of Rothschild, 42 Misc. (N. Y.) 161, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 1084.

Statute as to action by legatee or distributee inapplicable.—In re Van Dyke, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 394 [reversing 7 N. Y. St. 710]; Matter of Miller, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 556, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 1129, 26 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 13; In re Perry, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 535, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 536; In re Nichols, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 7, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 479, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 156; In re Dunham, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 563, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 479, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 323. Compare Collins' Estate, 6 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 85, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 30.

The statute does not begin to run until the right to relief has accrued; and so where the estate cannot be settled until the happening of certain contingencies the statute does not begin to run before that time has arrived (In re Hodgman, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 491), and where a personal representative (Peltz v. Schultes, 64 Hun (N. Y.) 369, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 637) or legatee (Matter of Campbell, 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 133, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 29) is entitled to a life-interest in the estate, the statute does not begin to run during the life of the beneficiary.

Running not prevented by acts of representative.—Neither the acts of a personal representative in enforcing an obligation or non to compel the representative of his deceased predecessor to account is in New York controlled by the ten years' statute applicable to suits in equity.[98]

b. Presumption From Lapse of Time. It is a well settled rule that a presumption that a personal representative has duly accounted and settled may arise from lapse of time.[99] This presumption, however, is not like the statute of limitations, liability to the estate (Matter of Miller, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 556, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 1129), nor a payment made by him to a person having a claim against the estate (Matter of Bradley, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 261, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 555. But see Matter of Campbell, 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 133, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 29), will prevent the running of the statute where it does not appear that the petitioner has been under any disability or that he has acted in ignorance of or been misled with respect to his rights in the premises, nor that he has remained in repose or been inactive by reason of any promise, statements, or representations made by the personal representative. The statute does not run, however, when the executor by his acts held himself out to the devisees as engaged in winding up the estate and discharging claims that would have been prior to theirs. Carroll v. Carroll, 2 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 158.

When statute not a defense.— The six-year statute of limitations forms no defense to an action for an accounting of the administration of testatrix's estate by the life beneficiary, to whom letters cum testamento annexo were issued and the estate surrendered five years before the proceedings were instituted, although eleven years have elapsed since the issuance of letters to the executors. In re Post, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 449, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 243 [distinguishing In re Van Dyke, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 394]. Where an executor pays over assets to legatees in advance of the final settlement of the estate, and thereafter a judgment for costs is recovered against the estate in an action brought by him, the statute of limitations is no defense to proceedings to compel an accounting by him, brought by the judgment creditor. In re Darling, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 783.

The right of a legatee who has obtained a judgment for his legacy to commence a proceeding for leave to issue execution against a personal representative does not accrue until after the entry of the judgment; and hence the issuing of an order by a surrogate requiring the personal representative to render an immediate account showing the assets in his hands is not prevented by the mere fact that the statute has run against any application for an accounting for the purpose of compelling the personal representative to pay the legacy. Matter of Bernardston Cong. Unitarian Soc., 34 N. Y. App. Div. 387, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 269.

Waiver of statute.— A personal representative who sets up a defense of the statute of limitations in his answer to a proceeding for an accounting does not waive this defense by voluntarily filing an account. In re Perry, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 535, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 536; In re Clayton, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 266, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 68, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 444. Where, however, executors many years after their appointment petition for a voluntary account, and those interested are cited to appear, such executors cannot set up the statute of limitations. Matter of Lyth, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 608, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 579. See also Calkins v. Isbell, 20 N. Y. 147; Wyckoff v. Van Siclen, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 75.

Time and manner of interposing defense.— A personal representative may interpose the defense of the statute of limitations at any time before the close of the evidence, and need not interpose it in a formal manner. Matter of Rothschild, 42 Misc. (N. Y.) 161, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 1084.

98. In re Rogers, 153 N. Y. 316, 47 N. E. 589 [reversing 36 N. Y. Suppl. 1132]; Matter of Smith, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 340, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 1062; Matter of Longbotham, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 607, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 118 [overruling Matter of Taylor, 30 N. Y. App. Div. 213, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 609]; Pitkin v. Wilcox, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 322, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 27; In re Latz, 33 Hun (N. Y.) 618.

99. Alabama.— Greenlees v. Greenlees, 62 Ala. 330; Scruggs v. Orme, 46 Ala. 533; Harrison v. Harrison, 39 Ala. 489; Rhodes v. Turner, 21 Ala. 210; Gregg v. Bethea, 6 Port. 9.

Arkansas.— State Bank v. Williams, 6 Ark. 156.

Louisiana.— McGehee v. McGehee, 41 La. Ann. 657, 6 So. 253.

Maryland.— Donaldson v. Raborg, 28 Md. 34; Gardner v. Simmes, 1 Gill 425.

New Jersey.— See Morgan v. Morgan, 50 N. J. Eq. 473, 26 Atl. 331.

New York.— See Leroy v. Bayard, 3 Bradf. Surr. 228.

Ohio.— Pennock v. Miller, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 456, 10 West. L. J. 85.

Pennsylvania.— Norris' Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 106; Com. v. Snyder, 62 Pa. St. 153; Hubley's Appeal, 19 Pa. St. 138; Foulk v. Brown, 2 Watts 209; McLean v. Findley, 2 Penr. & W. 97; Phillips' Appeal, 10 Pa. Cas. 249, 13 Atl. 906; Blackman's Estate, 2 Kulp 162; Leibert v. McKnight, 32 Leg. Int. 291; Ingraham v. Cox, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. 70; Karns' Estate, 1 Am. L. Reg. 121. See also Hodgdon's Estate, 16 Wkly. Notes Cas. 164.

South Carolina.— Roberts v. Johns, 16 S. C. 171, 24 S. C. 580. Compare Montgomery v. Cloud, 27 S. C. 188, 3 S. E. 196.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2014, 2016.

Compare Petty v. Harman, 16 N. C. 191 [distinguishing Falls v. Torrance, 9 N. C. 490].

In Texas it is expressly provided by statute that no presumption of settlement of a personal representative's account shall arise a flat bar to a proceeding for an accounting, but it can be overcome either by the acts or admissions of the personal representative or by other competent evidence, its practical effect being merely to shift the burden of proof.[1]

c. Laches. An accounting will be denied where the party seeking it has been guilty of laches, or has allowed his claim to come within the equitable rule against stale claims.[2]

4. Audit or Approval Before Settlement. Approval by the probate court is a needful preliminary to a final settlement and allowance of the administration account; and in some states an audit of the account under direction of the court is considered necessary.[3] from lapse of time. Blackwell v. Blackwell, 86 Tex. 207, 24 S. W. 389; Main v. Brown, 72 Tex. 505, 10 S. W. 571, 13 Am. St. Rep. 823; Branch v. Hanrich, 70 Tex. 731, 8 S. W. 539.

1. Fuller v. Cushman, 170 Mass. 286, 49 N. E. 631; Glen v. Kimbrough, 58 N. C. 173; Norris' Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 106; Blackman's Estate, 2 Kulp (Pa.) 162; Nixon's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 297; Bentley's Estate, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 344; Brown's Estate, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 197.

In Alabama, however, it has been decided that the lapse of twenty years after the time when a settlement could have been coerced is a positive bar to a suit in equity or a proceeding in probate, to compel an accounting, which can only be avoided by the admissions of the personal representative, or the recognition by him of the trust as continuing and unsettled. Werborn v. Austin, 82 Ala. 498, 8 So. 280; Holt v. Wilson, 75 Ala. 58; Garrett v. Garrett, 69 Ala. 429; Greenlees v. Greenlees, 62 Ala. 330; Harrison v. Heflin, 54 Ala. 552; Ragland v. Morton, 41 Ala. 344, 91 Am. Dec. 516; Blackwell v. Blackwell, 33 Ala. 57, 70 Am. Dec. 556.

In South Carolina it has been held that the lapse of twenty years balances the account of all antecedent transactions, unless there be some disability of the person entitled to an account, or some act or admission of the party liable to account, showing that it remains unsettled. Weatherford v. Tate, 2 Strobh. Eq. 27.

2. Arkansas.— Martin v. Campbell, 35 Ark. 137.

Delaware.— Hall v. Walker, 1 Del. Ch. 241.

Florida.— Anderson v. Northrup, 30 Fla. 612, 12 So. 318.

Kentucky.— Bailey v. Duncan, 2 T. B. Mon. 20.

Louisiana.— See Oubre's Succession, 109 La. 516, 33 So. 583; McGehee v. McGehee, 41 La. Ann. 657, 6 So. 253.

Maryland.— Constable v. Camp, 87 Md. 173, 39 Atl. 807. See also Donaldson v. Raborg, 28 Md. 34.

Mississippi.— Davis v. Yerby, Sm. & M. Ch. 508.

New Jersey.— Bechtold v. Read, 49 N. J. Eq. 111, 22 Atl. 1085; Osborne v. O'Reilly, 43 N. J. Eq. 647, 12 Atl. 377; Hance v. Conover, 31 N. J. Eq. 505.

New York.— See Matter of Schlesinger, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 77, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 514.

North Carolina.— Glen v. Kimbrough, 58 N. C. 173. See also Villines v. Norfleet, 17 N. C. 167.

Pennsylvania.— In re Henry, 198 Pa. St. 382, 48 Atl. 274; In re Bordley, 39 Pa. St. 218; Washburn's Estate, 9 Kulp 60; Baxter's Estate, 10 Pa. Dist. 97; Henry's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 649, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 290. See also Haage's Appeal, 17 Pa. St. 181.

Virginia.— Tate v. Jones, 98 Va. 544, 36 S. E. 984; Stamper v. Garnett, 31 Gratt. 550; Hayes v. Goode, 7 Leigh 452; Carr v. Chapman, 5 Leigh 164; Parks v. Rucker, 5 Leigh 149; Todd v. Moore, 1 Leigh 457.

United States.— See Lupton v. Janney, 13 Pet. 381, 10 L. ed. 218.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2014.

Persons under disability.— The doctrine of laches is not applicable to persons resting under disabilities. Werborn v. Austin, 82 Ala. 498, 8 So. 280; Wilson v. McCarty, 55 Md. 277. See also Collins' Estate, 6 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 85, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 30.

When representative charged with fraud.— In the application of the doctrine of laches, when the rights of persons who sustain to the personal representative the relation of cestuis que trustent are involved, and the representative is charged with fraud, the latitude in favor of such persons is very much more liberal than in other cases where the same defense is relied upon. Bechtold v. Read, 49 N. J. Eq. 111, 22 Atl. 1085.

Delay caused by personal representative.— The doctrine of laches is not applicable when the administrator has acquiesced in the delay by refusing to render his accounts and by resisting a suit brought against him for an accounting. Tiernan v. Mingini, 28 W. Va. 314. Executors keeping an estate in their hands for many years under the pretense of outstanding debts cannot allege against a demand for an account that the claim is stale. Clifton v. Haig, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 330.

3. See the following cases:

Alabama.— Rhodes v. Turner, 21 Ala. 210; Blackwell v. Vastbinder, 6 Ala. 218; Robinson v. Steele, 5 Ala. 473; Taylor v. Reese, 4 Ala. 121.

Kentucky.— Steele v. Morrison, 4 Dana 617.

Massachusetts.— Brigham v. Morgan, 185 Mass. 22, 69 N. E. 418.

Mississippi.— Cameron v. Gibson, Walk. 500.

5. Voluntary Accounting — a. In General. In American probate practice, the executor or administrator usually voluntarily presents his account to the register or clerk, who duly issues a citation directing next of kin, creditors, legatees, and all other persons interested in the estate to appear before the probate court at a day stated, and show cause, if any they have, against its allowance.[4]

b. Parties. All persons interested should be made parties to an accounting and settlement by a personal representative.[5]

c. Citation or Notice — (i) In General. Generally, before rendering his account and making a settlement of the estate, a personal representative must cause a citation to issue or give due notice to all persons interested, stating the time and place of such accounting and settlement and such other matters as are required by statute,[6] and it has been held that when due notice is not given Pennsylvania.— Page's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 212; McMahon's Estate, 18 Phila. 188.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2023; and Schouler Ex. § 523.

4. Schouler Ex. § 523.

Purposes for which not allowed.— An executor will not be permitted to settle an account in the probate court for the mere purpose of charging the estate with a debt due to himself by the testator in his lifetime (In re Shenck, 5 Watts (Pa.) 84), or for the purpose of having costs, incurred in determining the validity of the will, allowed (Royer's Appeal, 13 Pa. St. 569).

Voluntary accounting under New York statute see Matter of Lawson, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 96, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 645; Matter of Crowley, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 624, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 939. And see N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2728. A voluntary proceeding and an involuntary proceeding for an accounting of the same estate may be consolidated whenever such consolidation is shown to be equitable. In re Rainforth, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 660, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 314; Matter of Mulry, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 78, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 576. Compare Baylis v. Swartwout, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 395.

5. Waller v. Ray, 48 Ala. 468 (holding that upon a settlement made by a personal representative who has resigned, the parties are the heirs at law of the deceased, the legatees, distributees, and the administrator de bonis non, if the estate is solvent, and if the estate is insolvent the creditors are also proper parties); Sparrow's Succession, 42 La. Ann. 500, 7 So. 611 (right of creditor to intervene); Harrell's Succession, 12 La. Ann. 337 (heirs); Symmes v. Libbey, Smith (N. H.) 137 (vested remainder-man); McMahon v. Smith, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 25, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 93 [reversing 20 Misc. 305, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 663] (surety on administrator's bond); Matter of Sill, 41 Misc. (N. Y.) 270, 84 N. Y. Suppl. 213 (sureties); Matter of Walton, 38 Misc. (N. Y.) 723, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 296; In re Quinn, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 550 (persons interested in estate of deceased co-executor); Tilden's Estate, 5 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 449 (assignee of devisee).

Distributees should be made parties (Merrill v. Jones, 2 Ala. 192; Boyett v. Kerr, 7 Ala. 9); and where a distributee dies before the settlement his personal representative is a necessary party (McMullan v. Brazelton, 81 Ala. 442, 1 So. 778; Thomas v. Dumas, 30 Ala. 83; Hall v. Andrews, 17 Ala. 40; Reynolds v. Reynolds, 11 Ala. 1023; Boyett v. Kerr, supra). The husband of distributee has also been held to be a necessary party. Smith v. Hooper, 20 Ala. 245. But creditors of a distributee are not proper parties. Duncan v. Guest, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 440. See also In re Stephens, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 990.

In New York, under the provisions of Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2728–2731, relative to the settlement of the accounts of personal representatives "a person interested in the estate, although not cited, is entitled to appear on the hearing, and thus make himself a party to the proceeding." Matter of Thompson, 41 Misc. 223, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 983. Under these provisions the people may appear and claim payment of the collateral inheritance tax. Matter of Arnett, 49 Hun 599, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 428.

Where property is bequeathed to one in trust for others, the trustee is regarded at law as the legatee, and his cestuis que trustent are not necessary parties to a settlement of the administration. Gaunt v. Tucker, 18 Ala. 27.

6. Alabama.— Robinson v. Steele, 5 Ala. 473; Douthitt v. Douthitt, 1 Ala. 594. Notice of an intended settlement of a representative's accounts, whether partial or final, is required by statute (Sims v. Waters, 65 Ala. 442), and notice of an annual or partial settlement will not support a decree of final settlement (Sims v. Waters, 65 Ala. 442; King v. Collins, 21 Ala. 363).

Arkansas.— Greely Burham Grocery Co. v. Graves, 43 Ark. 171. But see Jones v. Graham, 36 Ark. 383.

Georgia.— Head v. Bridges, 67 Ga. 227.

Indiana.— Roberts v. Spencer, 112 Ind. 81, 13 N. E. 127.

Iowa.— Jordan v. Woodin, 93 Iowa 453, 61 N. W. 948.

Louisiana.— Winn's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 702; Hart's Succession, 8 Rob. 121; Millaudon v. Cajus, 6 La. 222. See also Capdevielle v. Erwin, 13 La. Ann. 286; Bry v.

the accounting is void,[7] unless it is waived.[8] In some cases notice may be properly given by publication or posting,[9] while in others personal service is necessary.[10]

(II) PROOF OF SERVICE OR PUBLICATION. Service of publication of notice for hearing of the final account of an administrator must be shown affirma-

Dowell, 1 Rob. 111. The notification of the filing of a tableau operates as a citation to all persons concerned therein (creditors as well as legatees), and the homologation of an account and tableau bars all further inquiries as to all matters included in the account. Bougère's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 378; Penniston's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 281; De Egana's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 263. See also Coiron v. Millaudon, 3 La. Ann. 664; Peytavin's Succession, 10 Rob. 118; Smith v. De Lalande, 1 Rob. 384.

Maryland.— Yakel v. Yakel, 96 Md. 240, 53 Atl. 914, necessity of notice to co-representative.

Michigan.— Cole v. Shaw, 134 Mich. 499, 96 N. W. 573. See also Hall v. Grovier, 25 Mich. 428.

Mississippi.— Treadwell v. Herndon, 41 Miss. 38.

Missouri.— State v. Donegan, 83 Mo. 374 [affirming 12 Mo. App. 190]. See also Brashears v. Hicklin, 54 Mo. 102.

New Jersey.— Gray v. Myrick, 38 N. J. Eq. 210.

New York.— Matter of De Forest, 86 Hun 300, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 216, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 363, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 234 (creditors); Remington v. Walker, 21 Hun 322 (creditors, heirs, and legatees); Keegan v. Smith, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 826 (sureties of representative); Brick's Estate, 15 Abb. Pr. 12 (manner of serving citation of a ward); Hallett v. Hare, 5 Paige 315. See also Matter of Tredwell, 77 N. Y. App. Div. 155, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 83. A personal representative may sue out a citation running against persons unknown, and a judicial settlement of the accounts of a personal representative is void as against persons interested in the estate, whether known or unknown, who were not duly cited to appear or did not voluntarily appear at such judicial settlement. In re Killan, 172 N. Y. 547, 65 N. E. 561, 63 L. R. A. 95 [reversing 66 N. Y. App. Div. 312, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 714].

Oregon.— In re Osburn, 36 Oreg. 8, 58 Pac. 521.

Virginia.— Campbell v. Winston, 2 Hen. & M. 10.

Wisconsin.— Schæffner's Appeal, 41 Wis. 260, notice prescribed by judge.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2020.

The personal representative cannot object to the notice for want of regularity, as such notice is intended for the benefit of creditors and distributees and not for his advantage. Williamson v. Hill, 6 Port. (Ala.) 184.

A special administrator, appointed pending the contested probate of a will, may settle, and be discharged, without giving previous notice of the contemplated settlement. Robards v. Lamb, 127 U. S. 58, 8 S. Ct. 1031, 32 L. ed. 60 [affirming 89 Mo. 303, 1 S. W. 222].

An administrator of a partnership estate must give notice of a final settlement as in the case of other administrators. State v. Donegan, 83 Mo. 374 [affirming 12 Mo. App. 190].

Effect of legatees' failure to appear.— Where legatees are cited to attend at a final settlement of the accounts of an executor, the only effect of a neglect to appear is to enable the executor to proceed ex parte as to those who do not appear. Kellett v. Rathbun, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 102.

7. Neylans v. Burge, 14 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 201; Fort v. Battle, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 133; Neal v. Wellons, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 649; Washburn v. Phillips, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 600. See also Dogan v. Brown, 44 Miss. 235; Githens v. Goodwin, 32 N. J. Eq. 286. But see Greely Burnham Grocery Co. v. Graves, 43 Ark. 171 (holding that it is an irregularity for the probate court to confirm an administrator's account before notice of filing the account has been given); Scott v. Kennedy, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 510 (holding requirement as to notice directory only).

8. Donald v. McWhorter, 40 Miss. 231. See also Fly v. Noble, 37 La. Ann. 667 (irregularity as to notice cured by answer); Perret's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 86.

Voluntary appearance waives any irregularity in the manner of bringing in parties in interest. Barnett v. Tarrence, 23 Ala. 463.

9. Alabama.— Trawick v. Trawick, 67 Ala. 271; Parks v. Stonum, 8 Ala. 752.

Florida.— Anderson v. Northrop, 30 Fla. 612, 12 So. 318.

Louisiana.— Arrieux v. Dugas, 5 Rob. 453.

Mississippi.— Cason v. Cason, 31 Miss. 578; Steen v. Steen, 25 Miss. 513.

Missouri.— Ratliff v. Magee, 165 Mo. 461, 65 S. W. 713.

Oregon.— See In re Conant, 43 Oreg. 530, 73 Pac. 1018.

Pennsylvania.—Miller's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 762; Kulp v. McGreevy, 5 Kulp 134.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2020.

Language of publication.— A notice of final settlement of an estate, published in English in a German newspaper, is not a legal notice (Heitkamp v. Biedenstein, 3 Mo. App. 450 [following Graham v. King, 50 Mo. 22, 11 Am. Rep. 401]); but a notice of final settlement is sufficiently published in a German-English newspaper on the English side thereof (McLean v. Bergner, 80 Mo. 414).

10. Hatchett v. Billingslea, 65 Ala. 16 (succeeding administrator must have personal notice); Roberts v. Roberts, 34 Miss. 322 (distributee residing within county). See also tively,[11] and a recital in a decree that proof of service of citation was produced is not conclusive.[12] An indorsement by a clerk of a probate court on the petition of an administrator that notice was published on a certain day is not sufficient proof of the publication of the notice required by law.[13]

6. Compulsory Accounting — a. By Probate Proceedings — (i) In General. A personal representative who does not render his account will ordinarily be compelled to do so by a citation from the probate court.[14]

(ii) Parties. Who are entitled to an administration account, and from whom such an account may be required, are questions which have already been discussed,[15] and this discussion necessarily enumerates most of the persons who may become parties to a probate proceeding for an account. The only general rule that can be stated is that those persons who have an interest in the accounting in a particular case are the proper parties thereto.[16]

(iii) Petition. A petition to compel an account and settlement need not conform strictly to the rules of pleading,[17] but the facts relied on for relief should be distinctly averred so that the court may be informed and the personal repre-

Landry v. Landry, 105 La. 362, 29 So. 900; Mullen v. King, 10 La. Ann. 674.

Personal notice to administrator de bonis non necessary.— Hatchett v. Billingslea, 65 Ala. 16.

11. Fort v. Battle, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 133. But see Scott v. Kennedy, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 510, holding that it will be presumed that notice according to the statute has been given until the contrary is shown.

Statutory notice not presumed.— Where the court orders the publication of notice for three consecutive times, and the decree recites that it was so made, it cannot be presumed that publication was made for three consecutive weeks as required by the statute. Jenkins v. Jenkins, 16 Ala. 693.

12. Hood v. Hood, 85 N. Y. 561 [reversing 19 Hun 300]. See also Dogan v. Brown, 44 Miss. 235.

13. Taylor v. Jeffries, 1 Rob. (La.) 1.

14. Touzanne's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 420; Matter of Arkenburgh, 11 N. Y. App. Div. 193, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 965; Shaffer's Appeal, 46 Pa. St. 131. See also Feltmeyer's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 153; Davis' Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 82; Perkins v. Shadbolt, 44 Wis. 574.

Right to proceeding.— In Pennsylvania it has been decided that a citation to personal representatives is a matter of right, and that the court cannot dismiss a petition for an accounting because it is known that the matter has already been determined unless it so appears on the record. Smith v. Black, 9 Pa. St. 308. But in New York the surrogate may in certain cases decline to entertain a petition for an accounting in his discretion, and his discretion is not exhausted by the issuance of a citation, but he may thereafter dismiss the proceeding. Matter of Stevenson, 77 Hun 203, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 362.

Consolidation of proceedings.— Where three separate petitions were filed, requiring different surviving executors, and executors of deceased executors, to file accounts, and that all persons interested should be cited to attend a final settlement of the estate, an order requiring an executor to account will not be reversed because the surrogate heard all the proceedings together, when no evil result is shown; and where the rights of all persons were protected. In re Hodgman, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 491.

15. See supra, XV, A, 4, 5.

16. In re O'Brien, 45 Hun (N. Y.) 284; Clock v. Chadeagne, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 97 (holding that where the next of kin of a decedent, entitled to a share of his estate, calls the administrator to an account, and claims to be entitled to the share of either of the other next of kin, such persons should be made parties to the proceedings); Matter of Gilligan, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 17, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 137 (receiver in supplementary proceedings a proper party to accounting of debtor as administrator of his deceased wife); Welte v. Bosch, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 364; Southal v. Shields, 81 N. C. 28; Easterling v. Thompson, Rice (S. C.) 346; Cream v. Davidson, 27 Can. Supreme Ct. 362 [affirming 6 Quebec Q. B. 34].

A guardian ad litem must be appointed and made a party when minors without a general guardian are interested. Petty v. Britt, 46 Ala. 491. See also Matter of Wood, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 345.

The widow and the heir may be parties in a joint proceeding for the settlement and distribution of the personalty of an estate. Smith v. Hurd, 7 How. (Miss.) 188.

Coheirs not necessary parties.— Any one heir may compel the administrator to render his account without the concurrence of his coheirs, and without making his coheirs parties to the suit. Hickman v. Flenniken, 12 La. Ann. 268 [distinguishing Douglass v. Edwards, 9 La. 234].

Creditors whose claims cannot be thereby prejudiced cannot intervene in proceedings by heirs to compel an administrator to account. Thomas' Succession, 12 Rob. (La.) 215.

The security on an administration bond need not be summoned before the ordinary when the administrator is called on to account. Lyles v. Caldwell, 3 McCord (S. C.) 225.

17. Crowder v. Shakelford, 35 Miss. 321.

sentative receive notice of all he is required to answer,[18] and only the relief prayed for will be granted.[19] The petitioner should sufficiently show or aver his interest or right to an accounting,[20] and if the allegation of interest is positive, that is, if facts are stated on oath sufficient in the first instance, if uncontroverted, to show a legal interest,[21] an accounting will be ordered notwithstanding the interest of the party applying is denied. Matters in avoidance of the statute of limitations need not be stated.[22] The petition should be verified.[23]

(iv) Citation or Notice. The citation or notice to a personal representative, which is generally made necessary in compulsory proceedings for an accounting, should conform to statutory requirements, and should be served in accordance therewith.[24] An error or irregularity in the notice or citation or in the

18. Davis' Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 128. See also Ludlow v. Ludlow, 4 N. J. L. 189.

Setting forth grounds of liability.— Where it is desired to charge a personal representative on an account the petition must set forth the grounds of liability with the same certainty as if application had been made to a court of equity to compel the representative to come to a settlement. Tate v. Gairdner, 119 Ga. 133, 46 S. E. 73.

When petition sufficient.—A petition which avers that the debts of the deceased have been paid, and that there is an estate to be distributed, presents at least a prima facie showing that a final settlement ought to be made. Treadwell v. Sorrell, 23 Miss. 563.

19. Westervelt v. Gregg, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 469, holding that, where a petition by a legatee asked for no relief except that an account be rendered, a new application must be made before a payment of his legacy could be ordered.

20. Alabama.— Davis v. Davis, 6 Ala. 611.

Michigan.— In re Robinson, 6 Mich. 137.

Mississippi.— Robinson v. Gholson, 8 Sm. & M. 392.

New York.— In re Hurlburt, 43 Hun 311; Wever v. Marvin, 14 Barb. 376, 7 How. Pr. 182.

North Carolina.— See Henry v. Henry, 31 N. C. 278.

Pennsylvania.— Okeson's Appeal, 2 Grant 303; Davis' Estate, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. 15.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2029.

If the petitioner claims as an heir or legatee he should state specifically the nature of his interest under the will or intestate law. Davis' Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 128.

If the petitioner be a creditor he should disclose in what manner he became a creditor of the decedent and the nature of the indebtedness. Davis' Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 128. See also Matter of Zeuschner, 15 N. Y. St. 744. In Mississippi it has been held that a creditor cannot call a personal representative to account without averring that his claim is legally authenticated against the estate, and that there is an insufficiency of assets, or that the estate is insolvent. Freeman v. Rhodes, 3 Sm. & M. 329.

Defect cured by evidence and facts found see Wilson's Appeal, 3 Walk. (Pa.) 216.

Degree of proof.— Where the duty to file an annual partial account is fixed by statute, proof of one's interest, to the entire satisfaction of the court, is unnecessary. Dickson's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 86.

Oath as to interest.— An application for an accounting will not be entertained merely on the oath of the petitioner that he has an interest in the estate, where the application shows that he has no interest. Matter of De Pierris, 79 Hun (N. Y.) 279, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 360.

21. Forsyth v. Burr, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 540; Matter of Kipp, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 491, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 259; Gratacap v. Phyfe, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 485; Burwell v. Shaw, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 322; Peters' Estate, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 581. See also Bonfanti v. Deguerre, 3 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 429; Thomson v. Thomson, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 24; Stevens' Estate, 6 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 58; Kern's Estate, 11 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 15; In re Fry, 3 Del. Co. (Pa.) 405.

22. Matter of Underhill, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 455, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 541.

23. Okeson's Appeal, 2 Grant (Pa.) 303; Darrach's Estate, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 454, 4 Pa. L. J. 245. Compare In re Robinson, 6 Mich. 137.

Verification by attorney sufficient.— In re Robinson, 6 Mich. 137.

24. Alabama.— McRee v. McRee, 34 Ala. 165; Kavanaugh v. Thompson, 16 Ala. 817, manner of serving administratrix who marries.

Louisiana.— State v. Judge Ouachita Parish Ct., 31 La. Ann. 116 (service of order of court is sufficient notice); Caldwell v. Glenn, 6 Rob. 9 (citation which mentions neither title of cause, residence of defendant, nor place where office is held where defendant is cited to appear and answer is insufficient).

Mississippi.— Winborn v. King, 35 Miss. 157, the fact that proper notice was given should appear from the record.

New Jersey.— Duncan v. Barnes, 20 N. J. L. 75.

New York.— Gratacap v. Phyfe, 1 Barb. Ch. 485; Mead v. Miller, 3 Dem. Surr. 577 (service on absent representative); Boerum v. Betts, 1 Dem. Surr. 471.

North Carolina.— Staley v. Sellars, 65 N. C. 467.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2031.

Notice to representative who resigns or is removed not necessary.— Glenn v. Billingslea, 64 Ala. 345.

service thereof may, however, be waived by the representative's general appearance,[25] or by his rendering his account,[26] or submitting to a settlement.[27]

(v) Answer or Defense. The personal representative may set up as a defense that the petitioner has no interest in the estate,[28] or valid claim against it,[29] or that there has been a former accounting and settlement.[30] But in order for the plea or answer to be sufficient it should clearly and fully set out the facts relied upon and distinctly aver all matters necessary to negative the duty to account.[31]

(vi) Judgment and Execution. The judgment in a proceeding to compel the administrator of a deceased executor to account for a sum voluntarily concealed by such executor should not determine to whom the fund is payable, but simply that there is a fund and its amount, to be paid over under the decree of the probate court to the proper parties.[32] A legatee is not entitled, in a proceeding brought, under the New York statute, against the representative of a deceased executor, to a decree ordering the property of the estate to be delivered to him. The object of the proceeding is only to enable any one interested to compel the placing of the fund in official custody.[33] Under the Georgia statute in a citation by legatees to compel an executor to settle the estate of his testator, a judgment de bonis propriis should not be rendered in the absence of any plea of ne unques executor, a release to himself, plene administravit, or plene administravit praeter.[34] In Louisiana execution may be ordered against an administrator personally if he makes a vague and insufficient answer to a rule taken by creditors whose claims have been fixed by a final judgment upon the administrator's account.[35]

(vii) Appeal. No appeal lies from an order of a probate court directing an executor or administrator to render his account,[36] but an appeal will lie from an order refusing to compel a personal representative to settle and distribute an estate which is ready for settlement.[37]

b. By Action — (i) In General. Where an accounting and settlement is sought by a bill in equity[38] the bill should be for a general account and settle-

Citation should follow prayer of petitioner. Schlegel v. Winckel, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 232.

Service by publication see Lyon v. Odom, 31 Ala. 234; Ashurst v. Fountain, 67 Cal. 18, 6 Pac. 849.

25. Davis v. Davis, 6 Ala. 611; Sankey v. Sankey, 6 Ala. 607; In re Hurlburt, 43 Hun (N. Y.) 311.

26. Hearne v. Harbison, 9 Ala. 731; Reynolds v. Reynolds, 12 La. 617.

27. Petty v. Wafford, 11 Ala. 143.

28. Becker v. Hager, 8 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 68 (no ground for relief by injunction); Sayre v. Sayre, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 264; Koerner's Estate, 19 Phila. (Pa.) 10, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 478. See also In re Williams, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 340.

29. In re Callahan, 139 N. Y. 51, 34 N. E. 756 [affirming 66 Hun 118, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 824]; Lightner's Estate, 144 Pa. St. 273, 22 Atl. 808. Compare In re Fry, 3 Del. Co. (Pa.) 405.

30. In re Hood, 90 N. Y. 512 [reversing 27 Hun 579]; Brundage v. Rust, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 308, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 78.

31. See Harrison v. Harrison, 39 Ala. 489 (holding that in a proceeding against a personal representative of a deceased administrator, a plea that the latter had in his lifetime duly distributed, according to law and by order of the probate court, all of the property and assets of his intestate which ever came to his hands as administrator is bad, since it does not show that he reduced to possession all of the assets with which he might have been chargeable or that he ever made a final settlement of his account); Stagg's Estate, 6 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 88 (holding that an answer is insufficient when it merely alleges the payment of legacies and the distribution of the estate, but contains no definite statement as to what legacies have been paid, or as to how the estate has been distributed).

32. Davis v. Eastman, 68 Vt. 225, 35 Atl. 73.

33. Spencer v. Popham, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 425.

34. Merritt v. Merritt, 66 Ga. 324.

35. Stevens v. Stevens, 13 La. Ann. 416.

36. Carrière's Succession, 34 La. Ann. 1056; In re Callahan, 139 N. Y. 51, 34 N. E. 756; In re Halsey, 93 N. Y. 48; In re Palethorp, 160 Pa. St. 316, 28 Atl. 689; Eckfeldt's Appeal, 13 Pa. St. 171; French v. Winsor, 24 Vt. 402.

37. Bellinger v. Ingalls, 21 Oreg. 191, 27 Pac. 1038.

38. For a general discussion of the right to bring such a bill see EQUITY, 16 Cyc. 91.

Time for bringing suit.— In Kentucky a suit for the settlement of an estate may be brought as soon as the representative quali-ment of the estate.[39] Where accounts involved in the settlement of an estate are in confusion, and the evidence as to them conflicting, the court may refuse to adjust the accounts and leave the parties where by their manner of dealing they have placed themselves.[40] To maintain a creditor's bill brought to reach the assets of a decedent[41] it is not necessary that the creditor should have exhausted his remedy at law by judgment and execution,[42] such a case forming an exception to the general rule.[43] A creditor's bill may ask that an administrator be compelled to sell lands of the deceased and apply the proceeds for the payment of debts[44]

(II) Parties — (A) Personal Representatives and Sureties. The executor or administrator of an estate is a necessary party to an action for an accounting and settlement,[45] and where there are several personal representatives, all should usually be made parties,[46] although it has been held that an executor or administrator who has never actively administered on the estate is not a necessary party to a bill against his co-executor or co-administrator for an accounting.[47] In an action against the first administrator or his representative for an accounting, an administrator de bonis non, if such there be, is a necessary party.[48] The sureties fies (Brand v. Brand, 109 Ky. 721, 60 S. W. 704, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1366; Holland v. Lowe, 101 Ky. 98, 39 S. W. 834, 41 S. W. 9, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 97), and in Alabama a bill seeking to have an estate duly administered and thereafter settled and properly distributed may be filed at any time after the grant of letters of administration (Baker v. Mitchell, 109 Ala. 490, 20 So. 40).

39. Hester v. Lawrence, 102 N. C. 319, 8 S. E. 915; King v. Galloway, 58 N. C. 122, bill as to only one article of property cannot be sustained. See also Postlewait v. Howes, 3 Iowa 365.

40. Lightner v. Speck, (Va. 1897) 28 S. E. 326. See also Taylor v. Roulstone, 60 S. W. 867, 61 S. W. 354, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1515.

41. Yates v. Seitz, 7 D. C. 11; Simmons v. Tongue, 3 Bland (Md.) 341; Warden v. McKinnon, 94 N. C. 378; Renan v. Banks, 83 N. C. 483; Herring v. Outlaw, 70 N. C. 334; Wilson v. Wilson, 93 Va. 546, 25 S. E. 596.

All creditors are entitled to notice to come in and prove claims (Thompson v. Brown, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 619), and a creditor is not bound by a special proceeding against a personal representative in the nature of a creditor's bill, brought under N. C. Code, § 1448, unless he is personally served with notice or a general notice is published as prescribed by statute (Hester v. Lawrence, 102 N. C. 319, 8 S. E. 915).

42. Iowa.— Postlewait v. Howes, 3 Iowa 365.

New York.— Everingham v. Vanderbilt, 12 Hun 75; Malloy v. Vanderbilt, 4 Abb. N. Cas. 127.

North Carolina.— Smith v. Sheppard, 3 N. C. 163.

South Carolina.— Reeder v. Speake, 4 S. C. 293.

United States.— See McRea v. Mobile Branch Bank, 19 How. 376, 15 L. ed. 688.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2041.

A judgment creditor may have the proceeds of the property thus obtained applied to the payment of the debts of the intestate in the order prescribed by law, although no execution has been issued upon his judgment and returned unsatisfied. Everingham v. Vanderbilt, 12 Hun (N. Y.) 75.

Where the will charges the land with the payment of debts the land is converted into equitable assets which can be reached only by a bill in chancery and the door of equity is opened to creditors of every description to come in and call for an execution of the trust. A suit at law to establish the debt is never a necessary prerequisite to such a bill. Poindexter v. Green, 6 Leigh (Va.) 504.

43. See Creditors' Suits, 12 Cyc. 6.

44. Wadsworth v. Davis, 63 N. C. 251.

45. Goode v. Goode, 6 N. C. 335; Hansford v. Elliott, 9 Leigh (Va.) 79; Moring v. Lucas, 4 Call (Va.) 577; Donahoe v. Fackler, 8 W. Va. 249. See also Reither v. Murdock, 135 Cal. 197, 67 Pac. 784; Rabasse's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 1405, 22 So. 767.

Joinder in representative capacity necessary.— Where a legatee, after bringing an action against the executor for an accounting, is appointed administratrix, she becomes a necessary party to the action in her representative, in addition to her individual capacity. Landon v. Townsend, 112 N. Y. 93, 19 N. E. 424, 8 Am. St. Rep. 712 [followed in Hayward v. Place, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 523, 4 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 390].

A resident of another county who claims to be executor under void probate proceedings is a proper party defendant, he having a lien on the estate for sums advanced to pay debts and being in possession of the assets of the estate which he holds in trust for the estate. Ashford v. Tipton, 53 S. W. 268, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 866.

46. Bregaw v. Claw, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 452; Brotten v. Bateman, 17 N. C. 115, 22 Am. Dec. 732; Conolly v. Wells, 33 Fed. 205, non-resident co-executor a necessary party.

47. Shorter v. Hargroves, 11 Ga. 658; Clifton v. Haig, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 330; Wills v. Dunn, 5 Gratt. (Va.) 384.

48. Gould v. Hayes, 19 Ala. 438; Hardy v. Miles, 91 N. C. 131; Raby v. Ellison, 40 N. C. 265; Strickland v. Bridges, 21 S. C. 21; Can-of an administrator may be made parties to a bill against him for an accounting,[49] and in order that there may be a decree against the sureties as such it is necessary that they should be made parties as sureties, although they are already parties in another capacity.[50]

(B) Heirs and Devisees. Ordinarily in an action by a creditor for an accounting the heirs are not necessary parties,[51] but inasmuch as they may be liable in the event of the insufficiency of the personal assets, they have been held proper parties,[52] and to a creditor's bill asking that the administrator be compelled to sell lands of the deceased and apply the proceeds to the debts and that the rents and profits received from the lands by the heirs or devisees be applied in the same manner, all the heirs or devisees must be made parties.[53] If the next of kin and heirs at law have received personal property of the estate, the court may make them parties and compel them to account for what they have received.[54] To a bill by a residuary devisee for an account, an objection that the heir should have been made a party cannot be sustained where it does not appear that the testator left any heir capable of inheriting and where no one had ever claimed the inheritance.[55] The rule that an action cannot be maintained against the heirs and the personal representative jointly does not apply where a creditor has established his demand before the surrogate and the personal estate of the deceased has been concealed or wasted.[56]

(C) Legatees, Distributees, and Next of Kin. To a suit brought by a distributee for a settlement of the estate and recovery of his distributive share, all the other distributees of the estate are generally held necessary parties,[57] and where several residuary legacies are to be increased or diminished as the estate may increase or diminish one legatee may file a bill on behalf of himself and the others who may choose to come in against the executor for an account and payment, making all other legatees parties.[58] Distributees are necessary parties to an action brought by an administrator de bonis non for the settlement of an estate,[59] but are not proper parties to a bill in equity by an administrator to com-non v. Jenkins, 16 N. C. 422; Easterling v. Thompson, 1 Rice (S. C.) 346. See also Henderson v. McClure, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 466.

49. Dorsheimer v. Rorback, 23 N. J. Eq. 46 (proper but not necessary parties); Taylor v. Taylor, 2 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 123; Payne v. Hook, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 425, 19 L. ed. 260; Donohue v. Roberts, 1 Fed. 449, 1 McCrary 112. But see Grady v. Hughes, 80 Mich. 184, 44 N. W. 1050; Smith v. Everett, 50 Miss. 575 [citing Judge Limestone County Ct. v. Coalter, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 348; Judge Limestone County Ct. v. French, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 263; Green v. Tunstall, 5 How. (Miss.) 638].

Right of sureties to intervene.—If the sureties have been subjected to their liability to any extent they may intervene and receive credit for the amount paid by them. Moore v. Smith, 116 N. C. 667, 21 S. E. 506.

If the only acting administrator is without the jurisdiction, the sureties may be joined, although there are co-administrators within the jurisdiction. McBee v. Crocker, McMull. Eq. (S. C.) 485, holding, however, that as a general rule the sureties on an administrator's bond could not be joined with him in a bill for an account of his administration.

50. Lyles v. Lyles, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 76.

51. Diversey v. Johnson, 93 Ill. 547; Smith v. Rotan, 44 Ill. 506; Byrd v. Byrd, 117 N. C. 523, 23 S. E. 324. See also Green v. Martine, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 129.

52. Diversey v. Johnson, 93 Ill. 547.

53. Wadsworth v. Davis, 63 N. C. 251.

54. Warden v. McKinnon, 94 N. C. 378. See also Quinn v. Stockton, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 343.

55. Rogers v. Ross, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 388, 8 Am. Dec. 575.

56. Littell v. Sayre, 7 Hun (N. Y.) 485.

57. Picot v. Bates, 39 Mo. 292; Van Mater v. Sickler, 9 N. J. Eq. 483; Woodyard v. Buffington, 23 W. Va. 195. See also Campbell v. Winston, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 10, holding that notice to legatees and distributees should be given of the hearing before a commissioner appointed by the court of chancery to settle the administration, or his settlement will be set aside. But see Thornton v. Tison, 95 Ala. 589, 10 So. 639.

The surviving husband of a distributee who died without issue is a proper party in a suit by distributees to settle the estate of the deceased wife's father. Baines v. Barnes, 64 Ala. 375.

58. Brown v. Ricketts, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 553. But see Brinkley v. Willis, 22 Ark. 1, holding that one legatee cannot bring suit for himself and the other legatees to compel an executor or administrator charged with an express trust to account.

59. Karn v. Seaton, 62 S. W. 737, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 101.

pel his co-administrator to pay over money alleged to be due to the estate.[60] Inasmuch as the executor is the trustee and proper representative of all persons interested in the personal estate and has the duty cast upon him by law of protecting it against improper demands,[61] it is held that legatees are not necessary parties to a bill by creditors for an accounting.[62] But on a bill by a creditor against the executor for an account of assets and the legatees for contribution, if there is a dispute between the executor and legatees as to whether he ought not to pay the debt without contribution from them, and all the legatees be not made parties, the bill may well be dismissed as to the legatees.[63] If one of several executors has been guilty of fraudulent misconduct in his dealings with the estate, his co-executors may maintain an action for an accounting against him without joining the creditors, legatees, or next of kin.[64] The necessity or propriety of making legatees or next of kin parties sometimes depends upon statutory provisions.[65]

(D) Debtors. Debtors of an estate are not generally proper parties to a suit to settle the estate.[66]

(E) Creditors. Creditors are not indispensable parties either in proceedings by the heirs to compel an administrator to render his account[67] or on a bill by an executor against a devisee of land charged with the payment of debts.[68] But in a suit by a creditor all other creditors are proper parties.[69] Creditors who sue for an accounting need not sue separately, but any one may sue for himself and others.[70] Where the creditors of an estate in progress of settlement in chancery are required by an order of court to come in and prove their debts, they become quasi-parties to the cause, and may appeal and assign error on account of the rejection of their claims.[71]

(F) Persons With Contingent Interests. One who in a certain event may be interested in the disposition of the estate of a decedent is not a necessary party

60. Whiting v. Whiting, 64 Md. 157, 20 Atl. 1030.

61. See Terry v. Cape Fear Bank, 20 Fed. 773.

62. Gordon v. Small, 53 Md. 550; Lucas v. McBlair, 12 Gill & J. (Md.) 1; Brown v. Dowthwaite, 1 Madd. 446.

63. Sampson v. Payne, 5 Munf. (Va.) 176.

64. Wood v. Brown, 34 N. Y. 337.

65. See Word v. Word, 90 Ala. 81, 7 So. 412; Harrell v. Warren, 105 Ga. 476, 30 S. E. 426.

66. Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Boswell, 93 Ky. 92, 19 S. W. 174, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 17; Adams v. Corbin, 3 Vt. 372; Wilson v. Wilson, 93 Va. 546, 25 S. E. 596.

67. Moreau v. Moreau, 25 La. Ann. 214.

68. Potter v. Gardner, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 498, 6 L. ed. 706. But see Payne v. Johnson, 95 Ky. 175, 24 S. W. 238, 609, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 522, holding that where the claims of creditors are made a charge on the land by will they or some of them are necessary parties.

69. See Gould v. Hays, 19 Ala. 438.

In North Carolina a special proceeding under the statute (Battle Rev. c. 45, § 43) differs from a creditor's bill in that in the latter all the creditors may make themselves parties, while in the former they are required to do so. Patterson v. Miller, 72 N. C. 516. See also Ballard v. Kilpatrick, 71 N. C. 281. In a proceeding brought under this statute, by creditors on behalf of themselves and all other creditors of the deceased to compel a personal representative to account for his administration, each complaint of the several creditors constitutes a distinct proceeding, to be proceeded in separately. Graham v. Tate, 77 N. C. 120.

70. Dana v. Western, 2 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 391.

Consolidation of creditors' suits.— If several suits are pending in favor of different creditors, the court will order proceedings in all the suits but one to be stayed, and will require the several parties to come in under the decree of such suit so that only one account of the estate may be necessary. Stephenson v. Taverners, 9 Gratt. (Va.) 398. See also Hallett v. Hallett, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 15; Ross v. Crary, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 416; Kent v. Cloyd, 30 Gratt. (Va.) 555.

Where the fact that there will be a deficiency in the fund appears upon the face of a bill brought by creditors, and there are other creditors or legatees who are entitled to a ratable distribution with the complainants, such creditors or legatees should be made parties to the bill, or the suit should be brought by the complainants in behalf of themselves and all others standing in a similar situation. Egberts v. Wood, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 517, 24 Am. Dec. 236. See also Bloodgood v. Bruen, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 8; Piatt v. St. Clair, Wright (Ohio) 526, holding that when the estate is solvent a creditor may proceed to make his own debt and leave other creditors to pursue theirs.

71. Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

to a bill brought by a devisee against the executor praying for an account and construction of the will.[72]

(G) Personal Representatives and Assignees of Necessary Parties. If the original executor or administrator be dead, his personal representative is a necessary party,[73] and so also in case a legatee, distributee, or other person who would have been a necessary party to the suit is dead his personal representative becomes a necessary party.[74] The assignee of a legatee and next of kin is a necessary party to an action for an accounting brought by such legatee,[75] and in an action brought by executors and trustees under a will for a final settlement of their accounts and to obtain a construction of the will the assignees of a legatee are properly made parties.[76] To a bill in equity by a devisee and legatee for the settlement of an administration and for a distribution, mortgagees of the undivided interests of other devisees are necessary parties.[77]

(III) Bill, Petition, or Complaint. Statutory requirements as to the allegations in the bill, petition, or complaint must be fully complied with.[78] If a bill seeks to compel a final settlement of decedent's estate, it must aver that such estate is ready for a final settlement.[79] In a bill by an heir, devisee, next of kin, legatee, or distributee of an estate, the complainant should state the right, title, or claim and all other necessary matters upon which he relies for relief with accuracy and clearness for the information both of defendant and the court.[80] Under a statute requiring that proceedings should be by summons and complaint neither memoranda of the evidences of debt filed in a special proceeding by a creditor against the executor for an account nor a replication can take the place of a complaint.[81] In an action to compel an administrator to account to his successor

72. U. S. v. Gillespie, 8 Fed. 140.

73. Kennedy v. Kennedy, 2 Ala. 571; Silsbee v. Smith, 60 Barb. (N. Y.) 372; Howth v. Owens, 29 Fed. 722. Compare Hooper v. Holmes, 11 N. J. Eq. 122.

If there be more than one executor or administrator of the deceased personal representative all are necessary parties. Howth v. Owens, 29 Fed. 722.

74. Oliver v. Wiley, 75 N. C. 320; Haglar v. McComb, 66 N. C. 345; Robertson v. Gillenwaters, 85 Va. 116, 7 S. E. 371. See also Strickland v. Bridges, 21 S. C. 21.

The representative of a deceased attorney of the administrator for whose professional services a large amount is claimed is a necessary party in a bill for an accounting against the estate of the intestate. Jewell v. Jewell, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 296.

Where there are no debts outstanding the personal representative of a deceased distribute is not a necessary party to a bill filed by the living distributees for a settlement of the decedent's estate. Baines v. Barnes, 64 Ala. 375.

Death of legatee pending suit.— Where an action was brought by legatees against an executor for an accounting and other legatees were made parties defendant and one of them died during the action, his personal representative was held not a necessary party to further proceedings. Johnson v. Hanagan, 11 S. C. 93.

75. Hood v. Hood, 85 N. Y. 561 [reversing 19 Hun 300].

76. Barnes v. Blake, 58 Hun (N. Y.) 525, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 354.

77. Bragg v. Beers, 71 Ala. 151.

78. Meyer v. Zotel, 96 Ky. 362, 29 S. W. 28, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 506; Hignutt v. Cranor, 62 Md. 216.

Facts other than those prescribed by statute need not be set out. Holland v. Lowe, 101 Ky. 98, 39 S. W. 834, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 97, 41 S. W. 9.

79. Baker v. Mitchell, 109 Ala. 409, 20 So. 40; Acklen v. Goodman, 77 Ala. 521.

80. Wood v. Mathews, 53 Ala. 1 (necessity for showing will probated); Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286; West v. Reynolds, 35 Fla. 317, 17 So. 740; Muir v. Leake, etc., Orphan House, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 477 (must state provisions of will); Hubbard v. Urton, 67 Fed. 419 (relationship should be set out in full).

Upon a bill by the next of kin, if his character does not conclusively appear, a reference as to that fact will be directed. Redmond v. Coffin, 17 N. C. 437.

Illustrative cases.— A bill alleging fraudulent mismanagement of an estate by a personal representative shows sufficient equity to require an answer. Grady v. Hughes, 80 Mich. 184, 44 N. W. 1050. See Anderson v. Northrop, 30 Fla. 612, 12 So. 318, as to sufficiency of allegations of fraud. A bill by a legatee or distributee which does not show that the statutory period allowed to the administrator to make distribution or pay legacies has run is insufficient. Harris v. Orr, 42 W. Va. 745, 26 S. E. 455. Where the same person is administrator for the estates of a father and son, a petition by the son's distributees asking for an accounting as to certain sums alleged to be due from the father to the son states no cause of action. Davis v. Davis, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 42.

81. Isler v. Murphy, 76 N. C. 52.

for sums received from the sale of lands, a complaint alleging the receipt of money from the sale of real estate of the intestate and that defendant has refused to account, although often requested, and that he still has the money in his hands is sufficient.[82] To entitle a petitioner to an accounting from the executor of a deceased executor, the petition must aver that there are assets of the estate in the hands of the second executor.[83] Specifications in a bill for the settlement of an estate brought by one executor against his co-executors in whose control the estate was must be particular in order to obtain relief.[84]

(iv) Plea or Answer, and Defenses. A personal representative who consents to answer a bill in equity, or, having pleaded, is ordered to answer, must answer fully.[85] When an administrator is called on to account in a court of equity he may exhibit with his answer a copy of the final account.[86] If a personal representative charges himself in a schedule to his answer he cannot discharge himself by another schedule to the same answer stating his disbursements.[87] The administrator may defend by pleading and showing that he has fully administered[88] or that he has properly paid over or expended a certain sum in question.[89] If he pleads to an action by a legatee an account stated between himself and the legatee, the plea must show that the legatee was present when the account was made up and that he examined and approved it.[90] That plaintiff has parted with all his interest in the estate is a perfect defense to his petition for an accounting.[91] Where a foreign administrator, pending the litigation against him for an accounting, settles his accounts in the forum of his appointment such settlement will be conclusive on the rights of the parties.[92] The fact that pending proceedings defendant's letters are revoked is no defense to his liability to account.[93] The pendency of another suit concerning property in which the estate is largely interested and the fact that a sale of the property would result in a sacrifice are not valid objections to the maintenance of a bill by devisees to remove the administration into a court of equity and compel a settlement.[94] A claim for certain

82. Lindley v. State, 115 Ind. 502, 17 N. E. 611.

83. Maze v. Brown, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 217, construing N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2606.

84. Beach v. Norton, 9 Conn. 182.

85. Beall v. Blake, 10 Ga. 449; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 3 Md. Ch. 71; Clement v. Riley, 29 S. C. 286, 6 S. E. 932.

86. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 3 Md. Ch. 71 (may exhibit and explain the vouchers for the credits therein allowed him); Grant v. Bell, 87 N. C. 34 (proper when practicable to annex a copy of the account to the answer). See also Hanlon v. Wheeler, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 821.

Representative cannot be compelled to exhibit his account. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 3 Md. Ch. 71. See also Hanlon v. Wheeler, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 821. Aliter in Georgia. Tison v. Tison, 14 Ga. 167. Even in this state an answer to a petition which waives discovery and prays for an accounting and settlement cannot be objected to because there is not attached thereto a schedule of the returns of the administrator. Adams v. Adams, 113 Ga. 824, 39 S. E. 291.

87. Dodson v. Dodson, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 110.

88. Bedell v. Keethley, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 598; Rayner v. Pearsall, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 578; Thompson v. Buckner, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 499, Riley Eq. 33. Where the answer shows that an agent of the intestate collected more money than he turned over to the administrator, the administrator having pleaded that he had fully administered, it cannot be objected to on that account, where it is not shown that the administrator actually received the amount of money. Hanlon v. Wheeler, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 821.

Averment as to account.— If defendant pleads that he has fully accounted, he must aver that there has been an "account stated" and that the same is just and true. Grant v. Bell, 87 N. C. 34.

89. See Siedler v. Bell, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 451; Hanlon v. Wheeler, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 821.

In a suit for an account of rents it is a sufficient answer that they were consumed in maintaining the realty and in repaying defendant a balance due on the surrogate's decree. Wilcox v. Quinby, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 5.

Payment of a dormant justice's judgment is a good defense to an action for an account. Bacon v. Berry, 85 N. C. 124.

Delivery of assets to successor a good defense.— Bogle v. Bogle, 23 Ala. 544. See also Gayle v. Elliott, 10 Ala. 264; Skinner v. Frierson, 8 Ala. 915.

90. Meeker v. Marsh, 1 N. J. Eq. 198.

91. Price's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 511, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 224.

92. Whittaker v. Whittaker, 10 Lea (Tenn.) 93.

93. Henderson v. McClure, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 466.

94. Stein v. Gordon, (Ala. 1892) 10 So. 631.

credits which the probate court has authorized the administratrix to take at some future settlement to be filed by her cannot be made in an action by creditors to have certain lands, which have been redeemed by the general assets, subjected to the payment of their debts, when she has not asked for a credit in any settlement and her administration is still open.[95]

(v) EVIDENCE AND BURDEN OF PROOF. The rule that the evidence must be confined to the issues raised by the pleadings is applicable to an action for an accounting and settlement of an estate,[96] as is also the rule that to entitle a party to relief the allegations and proof must correspond.[97] In a suit in equity brought by a legatee against an executor for account and distribution, if the answer of the executor is vague and unsatisfactory, many years having elapsed since the transaction took place, great latitude should be allowed in offering evidence to charge the executor, and all evidence, not positively illegal, tending even remotely to elucidate the case should be admitted.[98] The admission of an administrator, made in writing but not under oath, that he has collected assets, is evidence against him in an action to which he is a party.[99] In a suit by legatees against an executor for an accounting and payment of their legacies, evidence that some of the heirs at law did not know of or authorize a settlement pleaded by the executor in bar of the suit is admissible on the issue made in regard to the bona fides of the settlement.[1] The testimony of an executor that the life-tenant of the estate objected to his suing upon a note due the estate is competent as bearing upon his bona fides as to its collection.[2] In a proceeding by an administrator de bonis non against the representative of the former administrator to compel final settlement of the first administration, the records of the court, containing a partial settlement, are admissible.[3] Vouchers or official copies of them may be controverted by parol evidence.[4] Where certain creditors of an estate by note received payments thereon and agreed to release the administrator from personal liability on account of a previous improper payment of a note barred by the statute of limitations, such notes were not admissible, in a subsequent suit by a creditor by account against the administrator, to show outstanding debts of higher dignity than plaintiff's.[5] As a general rule the answer of the personal representative when responsive in its averments should be assumed to be true,[6] but an allegation by way of defense which is not responsive to the bill is not to be regarded as proved until rebutted by two witnesses or equivalent evidence, as is the rule in equity.[7] In a creditor's bill against an administrator, when it is found upon a reference to ascertain the debts that the fund is sufficient to pay such debts, a judgment against the administrator, or the admission of the debt, is taken as full proof, for the reason that the other creditors are not interested in the matter.[8] Where evidence is conflicting as to whether an administrator paid a claim out of the estate funds or with his own money, a finding that estate funds were used for that purpose will not be disturbed.[9] Under a vague and unsatis-

95. Salinger v. Black, 68 Ark. 449, 60 S. W. 229. See also Hankins v. Layne, 48 Ark. 544, 3 S. W. 821.

96. Perkins v. Sturdivant, (Miss. 1888) 4 So. 555; Stiles v. Burch, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 132; Daniel v. Bellamy, 91 N. C. 78.

Where a bill for a general account of the administration is filed by a specific legatee, he is not confined to evidence as to the specified allegations in the bill as he would be in a bill to surcharge and falsify an account or to reopen a settlement. Pulliam v. Pulliam, 10 Fed. 53.

97. Julian v. Reynolds, 11 Ala. 960. Compare Montgomery v. Givhan, 24 Ala. 568.

98. Smith v. Griffin, 32 Ga. 81.

99. Montgomery v. Caldwell, 14 Lea (Tenn.) 29.

1. Kidd v. Huff, 105 Ga. 209, 31 S. E. 430.

2. Orr v. Orr, 34 S. C. 275, 13 S. E. 467.

3. McDonald v. Jacobs, 85 Ala. 64, 4 So. 605. See also Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900; McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. (Va.) 288.

4. McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. (Va.) 288. And see EVIDENCE, 17 Cyc. 629 note 90.

5. McBride v. Hunter, 64 Ga. 655.

6. Barroll v. Peters, 20 Md. 172; Price's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 511, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 224; Mead's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 750. Compare Wellborn v. Rogers, 24 Ga. 558.

7. Duncan v. Dent, 5 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 7.

8. Overman v. Grier, 70 N. C. 693.

9. Sanguinetti v. Gianelli, (Cal. 1900) 61 Pac. 1106.

factory answer it may not be incumbent on the complainant to show that debts due the estate had been collected or were collectable.[10] In an action against an administrator for an account and settlement, if plaintiffs show that defendant has assets in his hands the burden is on defendant to account for the funds.[11] The books of a firm are prima facie evidence against a surviving partner who is executor of the deceased member of the firm, and it is incumbent upon the executor to show what corrections, if any, should be made.[12] Distributees to whom an executor submitted his accounts to further an amicable settlement and who retained them for nearly a year without question will have the burden cast on them to surcharge and falsify the accounts,[13] but distributees who had no connection with the examination of the accounts will not be affected.[14]

(VI) DECREE. Actions for accounting and for the removal of an administrator may be tried together; and where a petition contains a demand for an accounting and the removal of the administrator, a judgment may validly decree his removal, and that he should pay a certain sum of money for which he is liable to the estate.[15] Where on a bill by a creditor against an executor and the legatees there is a dispute between the executor and the legatees as to whether he should pay the creditor without contribution from them, he will be decreed to pay the debt from his own goods and left to his remedy at law against the legatees, where it appears that he has paid them enough to satisfy the debt.[16] A decree against an administrator who has resigned, rendered in favor of "the present administrator de bonis non," is void when there is no such administrator in existence.[17]

(VII) STAY OF OTHER ACTIONS OR PROCEEDINGS PENDING ACCOUNTING. After equity has taken jurisdiction of the settlement of an estate and of the accounting of the executor or administrator, proceedings by him to settle an account in the probate court are of no effect;[18] and after a bill has been filed against an executor or administrator he cannot at the same time be proceeded against at law[19] or in the surrogate's court[20] for the same purpose.[21] A decree for an account in one creditor's suit operates as a suspension of all other pending suits, for the other creditors may come in under the decree[22] inasmuch as the account is for the benefit of all.[23] From the date of the decree an injunction will be granted as a matter of course on motion of either party[24] and on due disclosure of assets[25] to stay all proceedings of any creditor at law.[26] But an injunction will not issue until an account has been decreed.[27]

(VIII) EXECUTION. A decree against the executor or administrator for the payment of money is enforceable by execution against his goods,[28] not against the

10. Smith v. Griffin, 32 Ga. 81.

11. Adams v. Adams, 113 Ga. 824, 39 S. E. 291.

12. Matter of Saltus, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 243, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 500.

13. Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900.

14. Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900.

15. Gray v. Waddell, 33 La. Ann. 1021.

16. Sampson v. Payne, 5 Munf. (Va.) 176.

17. Martin v. Atkinson, 108 Ala. 314, 18 So. 888.

18. Pearson v. Darrington, 21 Ala. 169; Wood v. Lee, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 50; Saunders v. Saunders, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 314.

19. Valentine v. Farrington, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 53.

20. Matter of De Pierris, 79 Hun (N. Y.) 279, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 360.

21. An action to determine a matter connected with an accounting, which action is pending in another court, need not suspend proceedings in the surrogate's court. People v. Rollins, 33 Hun (N. Y.) 47.

22. Stephenson v. Taverners, 9 Gratt. (Va.) 398. See also Brooks v. Gibbons, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 374; Duerson v. Alsop, 27 Gratt. (Va.) 229.

23. Boyd v. Harris, 1 Md. Ch. 466; Hazen v. Durling, 2 N. J. Eq. 133; Thompson v. Brown, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 619.

24. Boyd v. Harris, 1 Md. Ch. 466. See also Rogers v. King, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 210.

25. Boyd v. Harris, 1 Md. Ch. 466; Thompson v. Brown, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 619.

26. Boyd v. Harris, 1 Md. Ch. 466; Rogers v. King, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 210; Thompson v. Brown, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 619; Duerson v. Alsop, 27 Gratt. (Va.) 229.

27. Mactier v. Lawrence, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 206.

An administrator cannot be enjoined from paying a particular debt before the decree to account is rendered. Wadsworth v. Davis, 63 N. C. 251; Allison v. Davidson, 21 N. C. 46.

28. Power v. Speckman, 126 N. Y. 354, 27 N. E. 474; Matter of Waring, 7 Misc. (N. Y.)

goods and chattels of the decedent.[29] When judgment is obtained against the personal property of the decedent, the execution should not run against his personal representatives.[30] No execution can be issued on a void decree.[31]

(IX) Counsel Fees and Costs. Since it is the right of the persons who are beneficiaries of the estate to have an account and settlement from the administrator they cannot be compelled to pay the costs incurred in settling the estate.[32] A representative is entitled on the settlement of his accounts in equity to an allowance for reasonable counsel fees for services rendered in a suit instituted by him for a settlement and distribution when the condition of the estate and the conflicting trusts united in his person rendered it necessary to resort to a court of equity.[33] Fees of counsel for services rendered solely for the benefit of a legatee[34] or a creditor who brings an action for a settlement will not be paid out of the estate.[35]

C. Charges. In his account the representative should be charged with moneys and other assets of the estate which he has received,[36] including what has been received since the filing of the inventory.[37] But he cannot be charged in his account with money or property received or held by him otherwise than in his fiduciary capacity as the representative of the decedent,[38] or which, although received by him in his fiduciary capacity, does not belong to the estate by reason of the failure of the condition on which it was received,[39] or with money or property which, although in decedent's possession at the time of his death, really 502, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 393; Peyser v. Wendt, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 221; Moore v. Ferguson, 2 Munf. (Va.) 421; Barr v. Barr, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 26; Catlett v. Fairfax, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,516, 2 Cranch C. C. 99. See also Philbrick's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 220, under La. Code Proc. art. 1057. Compare Taft v. Stow, 174 Mass. 171, 54 N. E. 506 [citing Tyler v. Brigham, 143 Mass. 410, 9 N. E. 750], holding that on a bill by a beneficiary against the executor of a trustee for an accounting, the beneficiary is entitled to an execution as at common law against the estate of the trustee in the hands of the executor for the principal sum found due, and another execution for costs against the executor personally.

29. Matter of Waring, 7 Misc. (N. Y.) 502. 28 N. Y. Suppl. 393; Moore v. Ferguson, 2 Munf. (Va.) 421; Barr v. Barr, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 426.

30. Olmsted v. Vredenburgh, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 215.

31. Martin v. Atkinson, 108 Ala. 314, 18 So. 888.

32. Ransdell v. Threlkeld, 4 Bush (Ky.) 347; Craig v. Manning, 8 N. J. Eq. 806.

Costs for neither party see Torbet v. McReynolds, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 215.

33. Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607, 45 Am. Rep. 93.

34. Hood v. Maxwell, 66 S. W. 276, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 1791.

35. Miller v. Swan, 91 Ky. 36, 14 S. W. 964, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 629. See also Patterson v. Miller, 72 N. C. 516.

36. Munden v. Bailey, 70 Ala. 63. As to what constitutes assets see supra, III.

Amount recovered by executrix under invalid will see Read v. Franklin, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 60 S. W. 215.

Price or value of tobacco see McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. (Va.) 288.

Pledged property.— An executor should not be charged with the value of stock pledged by the testator as additional security for a mortgage debt. Matter of Van Houten, 18 Misc. (N. Y.) 524, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 1115.

Life-estate of widow.— Where testator by will gave his widow all his personal estate during her widowhood and to others all the property that might revert to his estate, the widow was entitled to the possession of all such property and the administrators were chargeable with only so much as was received back by them. Gee v. Hasbrouck, 128 Mich. 509, 86 N. W. 621.

Property never in representative's possession.— The executor or administrator is not chargeable for an undivided interest in property which has never been in his possession or control, nor admitted by him to be available assets. Nickerson v. Chase, 122 Mass. 296.

Liable for money collected in a foreign state or country.— McPike v. McPike, 111 Mo. 216, 20 S. W. 12; Swearinger v. Pendleton, 4 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 389; Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802.

37. Squire's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 110. And see supra, IV, E.

"Increase" of the inventory.— In rendering an account the executor must first charge himself with the amount of the inventory; then with "the increase" of the inventory for any cause. If there is no increase, that fact must be stated. In re Jones, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 263.

38. Offutt v. Divine, 53 S. W. 816, 49 S. W. 1065, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1732; Woodruff v. Young, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 420; Jones v. East Greenwich Prob. Ct., 25 R. I. 361, 55 Atl. 881.

39. Crawford's Estate, 10 Pa. Super. Ct. 587.

belonged to the representative.[40] The representative should in the first instance be charged with assets at their inventoried or appraised value;[41] but such charge is not conclusive of his liability for that amount,[42] and if such assets have actually realized more [43] or, without fault or negligence on the part of the representative, less,[44] the representative is accountable for the amount so realized. The representative is not as a rule properly chargeable in his account with the rent of his decedent's realty, for if he takes charge of the realty without some testamentary or statutory authority and collects the rents he acts merely as agent of the heirs and does not bind himself in his fiduciary capacity, or if he is a mere wrongdoer as against the heirs he is not amenable to the probate court;[45] but where any rents or profits are received by him in his fiduciary capacity he is of course chargeable therewith.[46] Where culpable loss occurs, the representative should be required to debit himself with the amount;[47] but where the loss was excusable he may leave the amount out of his account altogether, or if it is charged to him, have a corresponding credit allowed.[48] As any personal profit which he has made out of his dealings with the property of the estate belongs to the estate,[49] he is chargeable with such profits in his accounts.[50] The representative may sometimes be charged with money or property received from the decedent during his lifetime, where no transfer of title was intended;[51] but it is otherwise where such money or property was received in payment of an indebtedness or it otherwise appears that it was intended to pass the title.[52] The representative should not be charged with debts, choses in action, proceeds of sale, or the like, until he has received the money,[53] unless the amount has been lost

40. Jones v. East Greenwich Prob. Ct., 25 R. I. 361, 55 Atl. 881.

41. Weed v. Lermond, 33 Me. 492; Squire's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 110. See also Crane v. Van Duyne, 9 N. J. Eq. 259; and supra, IV, I.

Difference in appraisements.— Where there was no evidence that certain goods accounted for by an administratrix were not all the goods which had been received by her intestate, a difference in the estimated value thereof, as appraised by two distinct sets of appraisers, was insufficient to justify a surcharge of the amount of such difference. Delp v. Edlis, 190 Pa. St. 25, 42 Atl. 462.

42. Weed v. Lermond, 33 Me. 492. And see supra, IV, I.

43. Matter of Mitchell, 41 Misc. (N. Y.) 603, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 288; Squire's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 110. See also Hunt v. Smith, 58 N. J. Eq. 25, 43 Atl. 428.

Good-will of business whose value increased by representative.— An administratrix, who on the death of intestate, who had a liquor business, had the license transferred to her, had the stock replenished at her own expense, and after increasing the value of the good-will, sold the business, is not to be charged with the full amount received by her for transfer of the license, stock, and fixtures. In re Immendorf, 190 Pa. St. 590, 42 Atl. 959.

44. Horton v. Howell, (N. J. Ch. 1903) 56 Atl. 702.

45. Brown v. Fessenden, 81 Me. 522, 17 Atl. 709; Trotter v. Trotter, 40 Miss. 704; In re Hoffman, 185 Pa. St. 315, 39 Atl. 954; Walker's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 419, 9 Atl. 654; Fross' Appeal, 105 Pa. St. 258; Miller's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 408; Anck's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 118. See also Montier's Estate, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 491; and supra, III, C, 3.

Rents which should be distributed to heirs and devisees need not be accounted for to the court. In re Gallagher, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 548, 5 Ohio N. P. 518.

46. Goeppner v. Leitzelmann, 98 Ill. 409; Campbell v. McCormick, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 504, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 281; Robertson v. Breckinridge, 98 Va. 569, 37 S. E. 8, where he is given credit for all payments of debts made by him for the estate. And see supra, III, C, 3.

Charging with rents of land improperly sold.— Where a decree of sale did not in express terms authorize sales of land in another state, and the will was not probated nor the executors qualified there, sales of land there made are invalid, and on an accounting the executors will not be credited with notes taken in payment on such sales, and will be charged with rents as if no sale had been made. Allen v. Shanks, 90 Tenn. 359, 16 S. W. 715.

47. Finney's Appeal, 37 Pa. St. 323. And see supra, VIII, L.

48. Pitts v. Singleton, 44 Ala. 363. And see supra, VIII, L.

49. Sugden v. Crosland, 2 Jur. N. S. 318, 23 L. J. Ch. 563, 3 Sm. & G. 192, 4 Wkly. Rep. 343. And see supra, VIII, J, 1; and, generally, TRUSTS.

50. Walworth v. Bartholomew, 76 Vt. 1, 56 Atl. 101.

51. Matter of Brintnall, 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 67, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 250; Lovell's Estate, 21 Pa. Super. Ct. 378.

52. Hughes' Estate, 10 Pa. Super. Ct. 534.

53. Florida.— See Sanderson v. Sanderson, 20 Fla. 292.

through his negligence or lack of good faith in failing to collect.[54] An executor who in his settlement charges himself with assets is responsible therefor at the demand of heirs or creditors of the estate;[55] but a mistake in the account, in charging himself with items which he did not owe, or amounts which he did not receive, should be corrected on the settlement of the account.[56] Executors filing a joint account are properly surcharged with notes due the estate by one of them.[57] An administrator is chargeable in his annual account with property which he, as lessee under a lease with his intestate, agreed to deliver to him at a certain time, where he failed to make such delivery to himself as administrator.[58] In a proper case the representative may be charged with interest on funds of the estate.[59] The representative should not of course be charged more than once with the same item,[60] nor can he be surcharged with certain items without being given an opportunity to be heard and produce evidence as to the propriety of such surcharge.[61] Where a testator directs his executor to sell certain property or rights, the executor cannot be surcharged with an additional amount which he could have obtained by exceeding his powers under the will.[62] An administrator being entitled to the possession of his decedent's land only as assets for the payment of debts is not accountable for waste in his settlement, however he may be otherwise.[63] An executor who under a power in the will has sold mortgaged land of the estate to pay the debts, and in order to give a clear title has paid off the encumbrance with the proceeds of the sale, should in his account simply charge himself with the balance.[64] Items for which credit is unjustly

Kansas.— In re Beam, 8 Kan. App. 835, 57 Pac. 854.

Pennsylvania.— In re Smith, 194 Pa. St. 259, 45 Atl. 82.

Virginia.— Fauber v. Gentry, 89 Va. 312, 15 S. E. 899 (judgment debt the collection of which is enjoined); Cavendish v. Fleming, 3 Munf. 198.

England.— Giles v. Dyson, 1 Stark. 32, 18 Rev. Rep. 743, 2 E. C. L. 22.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2061.

Notes inventoried but subsequently missing have been held to be not properly chargeable. Hunt v. Smith, 58 N. J. Eq. 25, 43 Atl. 428.

Dividends allowed to be retained in satisfaction of debt not chargeable.— Boome v. Van Hook, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 444.

Indirect purchase by representative.— An administrator who procured a bidder to buy his intestate's land at a sale made by himself as administrator, and after making a deed to the bidder took a reconveyance to himself individually and reported to the court that the land brought a certain sum is chargeable with such sum and interest from the date of the sale, although no money passed in either transaction and he disclaimed purchasing the land on his own account and immediately after the conveyance to himself contracted to sell to others at a less price. McNeill v. Fuller, 121 N. C. 209, 28 S. E. 299.

Where the dates of payments made to an executor are not furnished by him in his account he is chargeable as of the date of the expiration of the year when distribution should have been made. Zweidinger's Estate, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 63.

54. Edmonds v. Crenshaw, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 224; Cavendish v. Fleming, 3 Munf. (Va.) 198. See also Crouse's Estate, 16 Pa. Super. Ct. 212; and supra, VII, O.

Presumption that money was collected see Burbank v. Duncan, 53 S. W. 19, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 826.

55. Read v. Franklin, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 60 S. W. 215; Davis v. Jackson, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1897) 39 S. W. 1067.

Agreement that note be given certain persons.— An executor is not chargeable with a note, at the demand of one who agreed that it might be given to certain persons, and acquiesced in their recovery thereof from the executor. Davis v. Jackson, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1897) 39 S. W. 1067.

56. Coey's Estate, Tuck. Surr. (N. Y.) 125 (on objection by sureties); James v. Craighead, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241. See also McLure v. Steele, 14 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 105; and infra, XV, D.

57. In re Bierly, 81 Pa. St. 419.

58. In re More, 121 Cal. 609, 54 Pac. 97.

59. Matter of Adams, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 619, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 591 [modifying 30 Misc. 184, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 751, and affirmed in 166 N. Y. 623, 59 N. E. 1118], holding that an administrator who appropriates funds of the estate to his own use is properly charged with interest thereon on his final settlement. And see supra, VIII, F.

60. Evans v. Iglehart, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 171; In re Pope, (Minn. 1904) 97 N. W. 1046; Hughes' Estate, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 534; Dorscheimer's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 46.

61. Tucker v. Tucker, 28 N. J. Eq. 223.

62. Allshouse's Estate, 23 Pa. Super. Ct. 146.

63. Reynolds v. New Orleans Canal, etc., Co., 30 Ark. 520. And see supra, VIII, K; and infra, XVII.

64. Millard v. Harris, 119 Ill. 185, 10 N. E. 387 [affirming 17 Ill. App. 512].

claimed on an intermediate accounting may be surcharged, without awaiting a final accounting.[65]

D. Credits. The representative should receive credit for all proper disbursements, as in the payment of claims or authorized expenditures;[66] and where on the accounting it appears that items of expenditure for which credit is claimed were actually paid by a third person the representative may show that he repaid such person out of the funds of the estate, and upon such showing the credit claimed will be allowed.[67] But the representative can receive no credit for disbursements which he made improperly, such as the payment of claims not existing or not properly established or allowed, or unauthorized expenditures.[68] The 65. Pelham's Estate, 9 Kulp (Pa.) 347.

66. Alabama.— Bates v. Vary, 40 Ala. 421. See also Benagh v. Turrentine, 60 Ala. 557.

Kentucky.— Wood v. Nelson, 10 B. Mon. 229.

New York.— In re Jones, 1 Redf. Surr. 263. See also Matter of Rogers, 10 N. Y. App. Div. 593, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 133; Matter of Benedict, 13 Abb. N. Cas. 67.

Pennsylvania.— Squires' Estate, 11 Phila. 110. But compare Overfield's Estate, 13 Phila. 306.

South Carolina.— Trimmier v. Darden, 61 S. C. 220, 39 S. E. 373.

England.— Bacon v. Bacon, 5 Ves. Jr. 331, 2 Rev. Rep. 52, 31 Eng. Reprint 614.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2065.

As to what expenditures are authorized see supra, VIII, I.

As to liabilities of estate see supra, X, A.

Disbursements for benefit of real property see Lambertson v. Vann, 134 N. C. 108, 46 S. E. 10.

Arrears of interest on mortgage see Darrah's Estate, 6 Pa. Dist. 178, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 287.

Where creditors purchase at an executor's sale and credit the purchase-price on their claims the executor is entitled to a corresponding credit on his account. Boyd v. Boyd, 9 S. W. 842, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 85.

Payment by setting off against debt due estate.—Where executors seek to credit themselves with the payment of a debt owed by the estate by offsetting such debt against one due the estate, they must show that such offset has actually been allowed and credit given the estate. In re Archer, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1041, Pow. Surr. (N. Y.) 292. But where the persons interested in a decedent's estate knew that the special administrator allowed a set-off against an account due intestate, and approved of the adjustment when such administrator's account was settled, they cannot after his death deny his power to allow the set-off and charge the same to his estate. Foster v. Stone, 67 Vt. 336, 31 Atl. 841.

Payment by note.— Where administrators pay a claim against the estate with their note they are entitled to a corresponding credit against the estate. Walworth v. Bartholomew, 76 Vt. 1, 56 Atl. 101.

Where it is shown that a debt of the decedent was paid after his death, the representative is entitled to credit therefor, even although there is nothing to indicate by whom the payment was made. Williamson's Estate, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 452, 471.

Actual payment necessary.— Williamson's Estate, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 452, 471. Contra, Vreeland v. Schoonmaker, 16 N. J. Eq. 512. No allowance can be made for obligations incurred by the representative in the management of the estate but which have not been actually paid at the time when the account is presented and before his letters are revoked (In re Blair, 49 N. Y. App. Div. 417, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 678 [modifying and affirming 28 Misc. 611, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 1090]).

Debts paid after a decree to account should not be allowed to the administrator, but he is entitled to stand in the place of the creditors paid. Jones v. Jukes, 2 Ves. Jr. 517, 2 Rev. Rep. 308, 30 Eng. Reprint 753.

The representative may waive his right to credit for reimbursement for payment of debts of the estate with his own funds in favor of the distributees of the estate. Bates v. Vary, 40 Ala. 421.

Costs paid.— A representative will be allowed a credit on settling his accounts for the costs of a suit paid under a judgment recovered against him by a creditor of the estate when it does not appear that in failing to pay the debt without suit he was guilty of any negligence, bad faith, or other improper conduct. Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

Assignment of mortgage securing debt.— Where a testator, by his will, directs that certain debts, for which the testator is secondarily responsible, and which are secured by mortgage upon lands of the original debtor, shall be paid, and that the mortgages shall be charged to a specific share in the distribution of his estate, the executors will not be allowed credit for the payment of those debts until they secure assignments of the mortgages, and are in position to charge themselves with those mortgages for the purposes of distribution. Hurlbut v. Hutton, 44 N. J. Eq. 302, 15 Atl. 417.

67. Wooten v. House, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1895) 36 S. W. 932.

68. Illinois.— In re Wincox, 186 Ill. 445, 57 N. E. 1073 [affirming 85 Ill. App. 613].

Nevada.— See In re Millenovich, 5 Nev. 161.

New York.— Matter of Very, 24 Misc. 139, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 389, 28 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 163; representative may be credited with interest on proper disbursements where he has been charged with interest on money declared to be assets,[69] but the allowance of interest is not a necessary consequence of the entry of a credit at a particular date.[70] He may also, to offset charges against him as for assets received, receive credit for articles lost, for depreciation, and for debts due the estate which have not been collected, if the loss or depreciation be not due to his negligence or bad faith.[71] The expenses of administration may be allowed to the representative in his account,[72] and he should also be allowed credit for the compensation to which he is entitled.[73] The representative, on filing a second account, is entitled to credit for any balance due him on the first.[74] Where the representative turns over money of the estate to his successor he is entitled to credit therefor in his accounts,[75] and the same is true where he himself takes charge of funds as representative of another estate and duly charges himself with and accounts for the same as representative of the latter estate.[76] Where a representative has through mistake charged himself with money, claims, or property not constituting assets of the estate, he is entitled to a corresponding credit in his accounts.[77] Where a fine is imposed on the representative for the benefit of creditors, he is entitled to credit for the amount of it when paid;[78] but where the amount of a decree against an administrator is collected from one of his sureties and distributed and the decree is subsequently reversed, the administrator is not entitled to credit for the amount collected, pending an action by the surety against the administrator de bonis non to recover such amount.[79] Where an executor invests estate funds in the preservation of property of the estate, he should be given credit for the money realized out of such property by reason of such preservation, although the court reserves until final accounting the question whether such investments were necessary.[80] The representative is not entitled to credit for money paid out on a judgment obtained on a doubtful claim where there is no evidence of diligent resistance or genuine good faith in the effort to defeat the claim.[81] Where an executor sells real estate to the widow, who has a right of dower therein, he will not be entitled to a credit on his account equal to the value of her dower, as it will be presumed that the sale was made subject to dower.[82] The jurisdiction

Matter of Smith, 1 Misc. 269, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 1067.

Pennsylvania.— Monroe's Estate, 9 Kulp 334. See also Geiger's Appeal, 1 Mona. 547, 16 Atl. 851.

Texas.— James v. Craighead, (Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241.

West Virginia.— See Dawson v. Hemelrick, 33 W. Va. 675, 11 S. E. 31.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2065; and supra, VIII, I; X.

69. State v. Layton, 3 Harr. (Del.) 469; Scott v. Crews, 72 Mo. 261 (interest on disbursements at same rate as interest charged against representative); Royston v. McCulley, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 725, 52 L. R. A. 899 (interest from date of disbursements). Contra, Trotter v. Trotter, 40 Miss. 704.

70. Durnford's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 92.

71. Ladd v. Stephens, 147 Mo. 319, 48 S. W. 915; In re Jones, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 263 (cause of loss should be stated); Leslie's Appeal, 63 Pa. St. 355; Schwoyer's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 456; Squire's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 110. And see supra, XV, C.

72. See supra, X, A, 19, h.

Allowance on settlement of distribution account see In re Wilson, 2 Pa. St. 325.

Allowance of gross sum.— It has been held improper to allow a gross sum for "expenses of settling the estate" without any items either in the account or in the schedule annexed to it (Fairman's Appeal, 30 Conn. 205), but when one attorney either performs or directs all the legal work in settling an estate, the compensation therefor may be entered in the administrator's account and allowed as one gross sum. Muldrick v. Galbraith, 31 Oreg. 86, 49 Pac. 886.

73. See infra, XV, E.

74. Schlecht's Estate, 2 Brewst. (Pa.) 397.

75. Allen v. Shriver, 81 Va. 174.

76. Alexander v. Steele, 84 Ala. 332, 4 So. 281, even though the settlement of the first estate has been held void.

77. Tartt v. Wahl, 77 Ill. App. 578. And see supra, XV, C.

78. Matter of Pye, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 306, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 350.

79. Price v. Simmons, 21 Ala. 337.

80. In re Smith, 118 Cal. 462, 50 Pac. 701.

81. Matter of Yetter, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 404, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 175 [affirmed in 162 N. Y. 615, 57 N. E. 1129].

82. Matter of Smith, 1 Misc. (N. Y.) 269, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 1067.

to settle an account of personal assets of an estate does not extend to the allowance to the administratrix of charges in her favor beyond the amount of such assets.[83] Where a claim not properly proved is paid by an administrator, but the amount is afterward repaid to and accounted for by him, the item should not appear in his settlement either as a debit or a credit.[84] Where a credit taken by an administrator in his general account is legal in part and in part illegal, and there is no mode of discriminating as to what is legal, the entire credit should be rejected.[85]

E. Compensation — 1. Right to Compensation — a. In General. At common law the office of personal representative was regarded as honorary, to be performed without remuneration.[86] In the United States and Canada, however, the common-law doctrine does not obtain, but executors and administrators are allowed a reasonable compensation for their services.[87]

83. Buxton v. Barrett, 14 R. I. 40.

84. Hatfield v. Steele, 61 S. W. 999, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1893.

85. Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

86. Georgia.— Walton v. Gairdner, 111 Ga. 343, 36 S. E. 666.

Maryland.— Gaines v. Reutch, 64 Md. 517, 2 Atl. 913.

New Jersey.— Warbass v. Armstrong, 10 N. J. Eq. 263.

New York.— Manning v. Manning, 1 Johns. Ch. 527.

North Carolina.— Boyd v. Hawkins, 17 N. C. 329.

South Carolina.— Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802. See also Charleston College v. Willingham, 13 Rich. Eq. 195.

England.— Brocksopp v. Barnes, 5 Madd. 90; Scattergood v. Harrison, Moseley 128, 25 Eng. Reprint 310; Robinson v. Pett, 3 P. Wms. 249, 24 Eng. Reprint 1049.

See Perry Trusts, § 904; Schouler Ex. § 545; Williams Ex. (7th Eng. ed.) 1853.

In India commissions are allowed to an executor in respect only to the assets collected by him while in India. Campbell v. Campbell, 6 Jur. 635, 11 L. J. Ch. 382, 13 Sim. 168, 36 Eng. Ch. 168. See also Cockerell v. Barber, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 77, 2 Russ. 585, 3 Eng. Ch. 585, 1 Sim. 23, 2 Eng. Ch. 23, 28 Rev. Rep. 181; Denton v. Davy, 1 Moore P. C. 15, 12 Eng. Reprint 716.

Where a commission agent becomes the executor of his deceased principal he is entitled to commissions on all moneys received and paid by him prior to the death of the testator; as to all moneys received or paid by him after the death of the testator he is entitled to be paid for any trouble taken by him in regard thereto before the testator's death and at the same rate that any other agent would be entitled for the same services according to the usual course of mercantile employment. Sheriff v. Axe, 4 Russ. 33, 38 Eng. Reprint 717.

87. Alabama.— Carroll v. Moore, 7 Ala. 615; Phillips v. Thompson, 9 Port. 664.

Arkansas.— Ex p. Bell, 14 Ark. 76.

California.— In re Dudley, 123 Cal. 256, 55 Pac. 897.

Connecticut.— Main's Appeal, 73 Conn. 638, 48 Atl. 965.

Delaware.— Bush v. McComb, 2 Houst. 546.

Florida.— Shepard v. Shepard, 19 Fla. 300.

Georgia.— Walton v. Gairdner, 111 Ga. 343, 36 S. E. 666.

Illinois.— In re Wincox, 85 Ill. App. 613 [affirmed in 186 Ill. 445, 57 N. E. 1073].

Indiana.— Ray v. Doughty, 4 Blackf. 115.

Kentucky.— Morton v. Morton, 112 Ky. 706, 66 S. W. 641, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2079; Webb v. Webb, 6 T. B. Mon. 163.

Louisiana.— Wells v. Alexander, 27 La. Ann. 624; Pomponeau's Succession, 10 La. Ann. 79; Heath v. Lambeth, 3 La. Ann. 361; Ball v. Hodge, 11 Rob. 390; Pinnell v. Scriber, 12 La. 608.

Maryland.— Hall v. Griffith, 2 Harr. & J. 483.

Massachusetts.— Newell v. West, 149 Mass. 520, 29 N. E. 954.

Michigan.— In re Power, 92 Mich. 106, 52 N. W. 298.

Minnesota.— St. Paul Trust Co. v. Kittson, 62 Minn. 408, 65 N. W. 74.

Mississippi.— Merrill v. Moore, 7 How. 271, 40 Am. Dec. 60.

Missouri.— Elstroth v. Young, 94 Mo. App. 351, 68 S. W. 100.

Montana.— In re Dewar, 10 Mont. 426, 25 Pac. 1026.

Nevada.— In re Nicholson, 1 Nev. 518.

New Hampshire.— Wendell v. French, 19 N. H. 205.

New Jersey.— Weeks v. Selby, 61 N. J. Eq. 668, 46 Atl. 948; Dickerson v. Canfield, 11 N. J. Eq. 259.

New York.— Matter of Prentice, 25 N. Y. App. Div. 209, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 353; Halsey v. Van Amringe, 6 Paige 12.

North Carolina.— Peyton v. Smith, 22 N. C. 325.

Ohio.— Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326.

Pennsylvania.— In re Sunderland, 203 Pa. St. 155, 52 Atl. 167; Culbertson's Appeal, 84 Pa. St. 303; Schwoyer's Estate, 2 Woodw. 456; In re Thomas, 1 Dauph. Co. Rep. 381.

Rhode Island.— Williams v. Herrick, 18 R. I. 120, 25 Atl. 1099.

South Carolina.— Tompkins v. Tompkins, 18 S. C. 1.

Tennessee.— Ex p. Parker, (Sup. 1881) 19 S. W. 571; German v. German, 7 Coldw. 180. See also Bryant v. Puckett, 3 Hayw. 252.

b. What Law Governs. The compensation of a personal representative is governed by the law operative at the time of the rendition of his services and not by the law in force at the time of his appointment or the settlement of his accounts.[88] If an administrator goes into a foreign state and there collects assets and voluntarily brings them into the state of his appointment and subjects them to the order of court in such state, his compensation must be regulated by the laws of such state.[89]

c. Effect of Void or Irregular Appointment. It has been held that the validity of an administrator's appointment cannot be questioned on the accounting, and where he has rendered services as such he is entitled to his expenses and commissions.[90] But it has also been held that one is not entitled to compensation where he acts under void letters,[91] procures his appointment as public administrator knowing that he is not by law entitled to it,[92] or is displaced because allowed to qualify without giving the requisite security.[93] One who takes possession of the estate of a relative in time of war when there is no authority competent to grant letters of administration will not be considered as a trespasser but as a trustee acting for the best, and will be allowed commissions on his accounts.[94] One who is entitled to administer, but never actually does so, may be entitled to commissions as against one who does administer, if such result is brought about by the improper conduct of the latter in obtaining a wrongful appointment and in failing to deliver the estate to the rightful administrator.[95] The fact that a will under which one is appointed and acts is afterward found invalid will not deprive him of compensation for services rendered in good faith.[96]

Texas.— Kearney v. Nicholson, (Civ. App. 1901) 67 S. W. 361.

Vermont.— In re Hall, 70 Vt. 458, 41 Atl. 508.

Virginia.— Fitzgerald v. Jones, 1 Munf. 150; Miller v. Beverleys, 4 Hen. & M. 415; Granberry v. Granberry, 1 Wash. 246, 1 Am. Dec. 455.

Washington.— In re Sour, 17 Wash. 675, 50 Pac. 587.

West Virginia.— Hoke v. Hoke, 12 W. Va. 427.

Wisconsin.— Cameron v. Cameron, 15 Wis. 1, 82 Am. Dec. 652.

United States.— Atkinson v. Robbins, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 617, 5 Cranch C. C. 312.

Canada.— McMillan v. McMillan, 21 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 369; Thompson v. Freeman, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 384; Biggar v. Dickson, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 233; Wilson v. Proudfoot, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 103; Gould v. Burritt, 11 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 523; Chisholm v. Barnard, 10 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 479; In re Honsberger, 10 Ont. 521; Hoover v. Wilson, 24 Ont. App. 424; Thompson v. Fairbairn, 11 Ont. Pr. 333.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2069–2070.

Husband or wife of decedent.— A husband (Moulton v. Smith, 16 R. I. 126, 12 Atl. 891, 27 Am. St. Rep. 728) or wife (Pelham's Estate, 9 Kulp (Pa.) 347) who serves as personal representative of his or her deceased spouse is entitled to compensation. And the fact that a husband who is appointed administrator of his wife's estate is insolvent is not sufficient to deprive him of this right. Reed's Estate, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 375.

Partner of decedent.— An administrator is not deprived of his right to commissions because he was the intestate's partner, the assets administered not being partnership property. Bewley's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 56.

An employee who becomes administrator of his deceased employer is entitled to receive the usual commissions. Bewley's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 56.

One who acts as agent of an estate at the request of the duly qualified personal representative, through motives of humanity and benevolence, is not entitled to compensation. Mason v. Roosevelt, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 534.

88. Key v. Jones, 52 Ala. 238; Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Gould v. Hayes, 19 Ala. 438; Gaines v. Reutch, 64 Md. 517, 2 Atl. 913; In re Tutt, 41 Mo. App. 662. See also In re Dewar, 10 Mont. 426, 25 Pac. 1026. Compare Dakin v. Demming, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 95.

89. Satterwhite v. Littlefield, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 302.

90. Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 337.

91. In re Frey, 52 Cal. 658.

92. Miller's Succession, 27 La. Ann. 574.

93. McDonogh's Succession, 7 La. Ann. 472.

94. Lloyd v. Cannon, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 232.

95. Preval v. Debuys, 5 Mart. (La.) 428.

96. Connecticut.— Comstock v. Hadlyme Ecclesiastical Soc., 8 Conn. 254, 20 Am. Dec. 100.

Kentucky.— Wood v. Nelson, 10 B. Mon. 229.

Maryland.— Glass v. Ramsey, 9 Gill 456.

North Carolina.— Ralston v. Telfair, 22 N. C. 414.

Tennessee.— Read v. Franklin, (Ch. App. 1900) 60 S. W. 215. Compare Royston v.

d. Necessity For Judicial Allowance. Personal representatives have no right to appropriate assets of the estate for the payment of their commissions until an allowance thereof by the court;[97] but they are entitled to retain in their hands a sufficient fund to cover their lawful commissions to be awarded on the settlement of their accounts.[98]

e. Effect of Testamentary Provisions. The right of a testator to fix by his will the compensation of his executor is generally recognized,[99] and where an executor accepts the office with knowledge of a provision in the will fixing his compensation, he is ordinarily entitled only to the amount fixed by the will,[1]

McCulley, (Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 725, 52 L. R. A. 899.

United States.— Bradford v. Boudinot, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,765, 3 Wash. 122.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2073.

97. McBride v. Hunter, 64 Ga. 655; Collins v. Tilton, 58 Ind. 374; Matter of Furniss, 86 N. Y. App. Div. 96, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 530; Wheelwright v. Rhoades, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 57, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 382; In re Gerow, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 847, Pow. Surr. (N. Y.) 364; In re Butler, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 641, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 58; Matter of Harris, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 463; Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 337; Lacey v. Davis, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 402; Whitney v. Phœnix, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 180; Wheelwright v. Wheelwright, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 501. See also Meeker v. Crawford, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 450; Hodges v. Armstrong, 14 N. C. 253.

Interest is chargeable to a personal representative on sums appropriated by him in payment of his commissions in advance of their judicial allowance, from the date of appropriation to the date of allowance. Wheelwright v. Rhoades, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 57, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 382; In re Herrick, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 105; In re Butler, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 641, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 58; Meyer's Estate, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 170; Matter of Peyser, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 244; U. S. Trust Co. v. Bixby, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 494; Lacey v. Davis, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 402; Freeman v. Freeman, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 211; Whitney v. Phœnix, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 180. Compare Matter of Ross, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 163, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 373, holding that adult parties may, for the purpose of permitting a prompt distribution of the assets, where debts and other legacies are paid, compute the amount of commissions properly allowable, and that interest will not be charged as a penalty if commissions finally approved are then paid by the executors to themselves. See also Beard v. Beard, 140 N. Y. 260, 35 N. E. 488.

98. Wheelwright v. Wheelwright, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 501.

Right not lost by failure to retain funds.— Where the commissions of the executors have been fixed by the decree in proceedings for an accounting, the fact that they do not insist upon retaining sufficient funds to pay themselves at once does not deprive them of the right thereto. Matter of Prentice, 25 N. Y. App. Div. 209, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 353.

99. California.— In re Ringot, 124 Cal. 45, 56 Pac. 781, may provide for payment of portion of compensation at stated intervals.

Massachusetts.— Manning v. American Bd. Foreign Missions Com'rs, 8 Metc. 566.

New York.— Ireland v. Corse, 67 N. Y. 343; In re Tilden, 44 Hun 441 [affirming 5 Dem. Surr. 230]; Clinch v. Eckford, 8 Paige 412; Secor v. Sentis, 5 Redf. Surr. 570. See also Greer v. Greer, 5 Redf. Surr. 214.

Pennsylvania.— In re Lilly, 181 Pa. St. 478, 37 Atl. 557; In re Allen, 125 Pa. St. 544, 17 Atl. 453 [affirming 45 Leg. Int. 227]. See also In re Hays, 183 Pa. St. 296, 38 Atl. 622.

Washington.— In re Smith, 18 Wash. 129, 51 Pac. 348.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2078.

No compensation when bequest expressly in lieu thereof.— Fletcher v. Hurd, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 388; Rote v. Warner, 17 Ohio Cir. Ct. 342, 9 Ohio Cir. Dec. 536. See also Secor v. Sentis, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 570; Freeman v. Fairlie, 3 Meriv. 24, 17 Rev. Rep. 7, 36 Eng. Reprint 10.

Abatement of legacy as compensation.— A legacy to executors, expressly as a compensation for their trouble, does not, on a deficiency of assets, abate with legacies which are mere bounties, even though the legacy somewhat exceeds what the executors would otherwise have been entitled to demand. Anderson v. Dougall, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 405.

1. California.— In re Runyon, 125 Cal. 195, 57 Pac. 783.

Kentucky.— Brown v. Brown, 6 Bush 648.

New York.— Matter of Arkenburgh, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 473, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 523.

Pennsylvania.— In re Hays, 183 Pa. St. 296, 38 Atl. 622; Shippen v. Burd, 42 Pa. St. 461; Bartolet's Appeal, 1 Walk. 77. See also In re Allen, 125 Pa. St. 544, 17 Atl. 453.

Washington.— In re Smith, 18 Wash. 129, 51 Pac. 348.

Canada.— In re Bossi, 5 Brit. Col. 446.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2079.

"Usual commission."— A provision in a will that an executor shall receive the "usual commission" has been held to mean that he shall receive a five per cent commission on the personalty (In re Lilly, 181 Pa. St. 478, 37 Atl. 557) and a two and one-half per cent commission on sales of real estate (Wedekind's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 68).

"Handsomely paid."— Where a testator directs that his executor shall be "handsomely paid" for his services, only the ordinary com-

although where extraordinary services are performed increased compensation may be allowed.[2] A testator may even deprive his executor of all compensation if he so expressly provides in his will,[3] but testamentary provisions will not be construed as depriving the executor of the right to compensation if they may be construed otherwise with equal reason.[4] The general rule is that before a bequest can be held to be made in compensation for services to be rendered by executors, there must be language in the will from which such an intention can be inferred.[5] The statutes of some jurisdictions give an executor the right to renounce a testamentary provision as to compensation and to take the statutory compensation.[6]

f. Priority of Claim. It has been held that the compensation of the executor or administrator should be allowed to him in preference to debts,[7] and legacies;[8] mission will be allowed him unless there has been extraordinary trouble. Waddy v. Hawkins, 4 Leigh (Va.) 458. See also Kenan v. Graham, 135 Ala. 585, 33 So. 699.

2. Young v. Smith, 9 Bush (Ky.) 421; Good's Estate, 150 Pa. St. 301, 24 Atl. 624; Matter of Guien, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 317; Bartolet's Appeal, 1 Walk. (Pa.) 77. See also Nathan's Estate, 6 Pa. Dist. 481. But see In re Runyon, 125 Cal. 195, 57 Pac. 783; Williams v. Roy, 9 Ont. 534 [doubting Denison v. Denison, 17 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 306].

3. Matter of Gerard, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 244; Secor v. Sentis, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 570. See also Frazer v. Frazer, 76 S. W. 13, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 473, where, however, compensation was allowed because of the loss of an advantage given by the will.

In Maryland, under the statute (Md. Code, art. 93, § 6), when a testator makes a bequest to his executor by way of compensation in lieu of commissions, and the sum bequeathed is less than that which an allowance of the highest rate of commissions fixed by statute would produce, the orphans' court may in its discretion allow the executor such a percentage as reckoning the legacy therein will not exceed the maximum, and not be less than the minimum rate established by law. Renshaw v. Williams, 75 Md. 498, 23 Atl. 905. See also Handy v. Collins, 60 Md. 229, 45 Am. Rep. 725. And apart from the provisions of this statute it has been explicitly decided that a testator cannot by anything put in his will in any wise affect the commissions which the law allows his executor. He cannot deprive the executor of such commissions or cut them down or take away the discretion vested in the orphans' court. McKim v. Duncan, 4 Gill 72. See also Handy v. Collins, 60 Md. 229; State v. Baker, 8 Md. 44.

4. In re Marshall, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 519, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 173. See also Thome v. Allen, 49 S. W. 1068, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1728; Fidelity Trust, etc., Co. v. Watkins, 42 S. W. 753, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 957.

5. District of Columbia.— Sinnott v. Kenaday, 14 App. Cas. 1 [reversed on other grounds in 179 U. S. 606, 21 S. Ct. 233, 45 L. ed. 339].

Kentucky.— See Thome v. Allen, 49 S. W. 1068, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1728.

New Jersey.— In re Haines, 8 N. J. Eq. 506.

New York.— In re Kernochan, 104 N. Y. 618, 11 N. E. 149; In re Mason, 98 N. Y. 527; Campbell v. Mackie, 1 Dem. Surr. 185.

North Carolina.— Oden v. Windley, 55 N. C. 440.

Virginia.— Granberry v. Granberry, 1 Wash. 246, 1 Am. Dec. 455. Compare Jones v. Williams, 2 Call 102.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2081.

An executor, who is also tenant for life of the estate of the testator, is entitled to commissions. Blount v. Hawkins, 57 N. C. 161.

Bequest of part of residue.— Where there is a bequest of a share of the residue of the estate to executors, it is not to be inferred that the bequest was given in lieu of compensation, as in the case of a legacy of a definite sum. Hamilton Boys' Home v. Lewis, 4 Ont. 18.

In Louisiana the rule is that where an executor is a legatee he will not be entitled to commissions unless the testator has formally declared his intention that he should have the legacy over and above his commission. Gardere's Succession, 48 La. Ann. 280, 19 So. 134; Ross' Succession, 1 La. Ann. 129; Cucullu's Succession, 4 Rob. 397. See also Fink's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 103.

6. In re Runyon, 125 Cal. 195, 57 Pac. 783; Fink's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 103; Matter of Arkenburgh, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 473, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 523 [distinguishing Matter of Hopkins, 32 Hun (N. Y.) 618; Secor v. Sentis, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 570]; Aspinwall v. Pirnie, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 410.

Written renunciation required— Matter of Arkenburgh, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 473, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 523.

Right not lost by lapse of time.— Matter of Weeks, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 194. See also Matter of Arkenburgh, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 473, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 523. But see Arthur v. Nelson, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 337, holding that an executor's election must be exercised promptly or it will be lost by laches.

7. Williamson v. Wilkins, 14 Ga. 416; Fauntleroy v. Lyle, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 266; Logan v. Troutman, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 66.

8. Williamson v. Wilkins, 14 Ga. 416. Commissions are not chargeable on legacies unless indirectly by way of abatement when the general estate is not sufficient to pay them. Westerfield v. Westerfield, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 198. See also McKnight v. Walsh, 23 N. J. Eq. 136.

and it has even been held that such compensation is entitled to priority in payment over funeral expenses.[9]

2. For What Services Allowed. Where statutory fees are not provided to compensate personal representatives for all services rendered, and other compensation forbidden except in cases especially provided,[10] the general rule seems to be that personal representatives are entitled to reasonable compensation for all services which are necessary to a proper administration and settlement of the estate, or which benefit the estate,[11] but are not entitled to compensation for services which are not properly connected with such settlement or for acts done for their own benefit.[12]

3. From What Fund Payable. The compensation of personal representatives is usually to be paid out of the general personal estate[13] of his decedent.[14] Such Exoneration of specific legacies.— In the absence of directions in a will, the compensation of the executor and the other expenses of administration are chargeable upon general and residuary legacies, in the first instance, in exoneration of specific legacies. Milly v. Harrison, 7 Coldw. (Tenn.) 191.

9. In re Nicholson, 1 Nev. 518.

10. See infra, XV, E, 5.

11. Alabama.— Gerald v. Bunkley, 17 Ala. 170; Craig v. McGehee, 16 Ala. 41.

Arkansas.— Armstrong v. Cashion, (1901) 16 S. W. 666.

Florida.— Sherrell v. Shepard, 19 Fla. 30.

Kentucky.— Scarborough v. Watkins, 9 B. Mon. 540, 50 Am. Dec. 528.

Maryland.— Lee v. Lee, 6 Gill & J. 316.

Missouri.— Hawkins v. Cunningham, 67 Mo. 415.

New Hampshire.— Bartlett v. Fitz, 59 N. H. 502; Gordon v. West, 8 N. H. 444.

Pennsylvania.— Donat's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 749, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 379; Squibb's Estate, 1 Del. Co. 529. Compare In re Morrison, 196 Pa. St. 80, 46 Atl. 257.

Tennessee.— Killebrew v. Murphy, 3 Heisk. 546.

Vermont.— See Hapgood v. Jennison, 2 Vt. 294.

Canada.— Re Batt, 9 Ont. Pr. 447.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2084, 2085, 2087.

Caring for property of estate.— A personal representative is entitled to an allowance against the estate for his time and services in taking care of the property of the estate, so long as it remains under his management, and he is accountable for it in that capacity, although the use of the property was bequeathed to another, who during all the time had the income of it. Richardson v. True, 28 Vt. 676.

Collection and investment of a fund pending litigation.— Where pending a suit against an administrator to recover specific funds, by consent of all parties the administrator collected and invested them, he was allowed his commissions, it being held to be his duty to take care of the funds until the ownership was determined. Wells v. Robinson, 13 Cal. 133.

Services by agent.— In no case will an executor be entitled to an allowance for services performed by an agent gratuitously. Chisholm v. Barnard, 10 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 479.

Services performed by attorneys.— Where executors employ attorneys to make collections which they might conveniently make themselves, they ought not to be allowed commissions thereon in addition to those of the attorneys. Carter v. Cutting, 5 Munf. (Va.) 223.

Services by representative as attorney see supra, VIII, I, 8, g, (IX), (E).

12. Louisiana.— Scott's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 336.

Massachusetts.— Miller v. Congdon, 14 Gray (Mass.) 114.

Michigan.— Wisner v. Mabley, 74 Mich. 143, 41 N. W. 835.

Pennsylvania.— Wissel's Appeal, 4 Pennyp. 236; Franket's Estate, 2 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. 406.

South Carolina.— Griffin v. Bonham, 9 Rich. Eq. 71; Esswein v. Seigling, Riley Eq. 200.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2084.

Where an executor is instructed in the will to rent a farm belonging to the estate, he is not entitled to compensation for services performed in managing the farm himself. Bartolet's Appeal, 1 Walk. (Pa.) 77.

13. Georgia.— Williamson v. Wilkins, 14 Ga. 416.

Kentucky.— Logan v. Troutman, 3 A. K. Marsh. 66.

Mississippi.— Brandon v. Hoggatt, 32 Miss. 335.

New Jersey.— McKnight v. Walsh, 23 N. J. Eq. 136.

New York.— Westerfield v. Westerfield, 1 Bradf. Surr. 198.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2077.

The indebtedness of an insolvent representative to the estate constitutes assets and will be applied in the discharge of any commissions allowed him. Freeman v. Freeman, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 211.

14. See State v. Ramsey County Prob. Ct., 76 Minn. 132, 135, 78 N. W. 1039, where it was said: "An executor or administrator takes his office with its burdens as well as its benefits, and the fact that the estate he represents is insolvent is no reason why he compensation is not generally a charge on real estate,[15] but where the personal estate is exhausted or there was none in the first instance compensation for services rendered in selling land for the payment of debts and paying out the proceeds is a charge on such proceeds.[16] Where a representative, under the provisions of a will, acts in relation to a certain fund as a trustee rather than as a representative, his compensation for executing the trust is to be paid out of the income of such fund rather than out of the general estate,[17] and so where the income of a certain fund is given by will to a person for life or for a shorter period, commissions for collecting and paying the income must be paid out of the income and not out of the general estate or out of the principal of the fund.[18]

4. Commissions — a. In General. In many jurisdictions a regular commission on the value of the assets of the estate is allowed to personal representatives.[19]

b. On What Allowed — (i) In General. Commissions should generally be allowed to personal representatives upon any and all property of the deceased which is taken into their possession and for which they account. The commissions do not apply to collecting alone but are allowed on all the estate for which they are held responsible in consideration of the risk and trouble attending the entire settlement.[20] should receive compensation from the opposite party in any litigation which may arise."

15. Newsom v. Newsom, 38 N. C. 411. And See infra, XV, E, 4, b, (VIII).

Where a testatrix separated her estate into two parts, bequeathing her personalty to one class of persons and disposing of her realty to another, and one executor solely administered the former and another the latter and rendered separate accounts, each class of beneficiaries should bear the expenses of the accounting in regard to the fund in which they are interested, and the executors should have commissions on the fund each represents. Matter of Mansfield, 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 296, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 684.

Land devised for particular purpose.— The expenses and compensation of an executor for managing and selling real estate devised to be sold for the education and advancement of children ought to be paid out of the proceeds of the lands. Mason County Justices v. Lee, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 247.

16. Loftis v. Loftis, 94 Tenn. 232, 28 S. W. 1091.

17. Grinnell v. Baker, 17 R. I. 41, 20 Atl. 8, 23 Atl. 911. See also Johnson v. Holifield, 82 Ala. 123, 2 So. 753.

18. Woodruff v. Lounsberry, 40 N. J. Eq. 545, 5 Atl. 99 [affirmed in 42 N. J. Eq. 699, 11 Atl. 113]; Danly v. Cummings, 31 N. J. Eq. 208; Booth v. Ammerman, 4 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 129; Pinckney v. Pinckney, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 269; Cammann v. Cammann, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 211 [disapproving Matter of Mount, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 406]; In re Spangler, 21 Pa. St. 335. See also Hoxie's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 296. But see Drake v. Price, 5 N. Y. 430.

19. Schouler Ex. § 545.

Interest on commissions.— See Williams v. Walter, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 336; In re Armstrong, 6 Watts (Pa.) 236.

20. Arkansas.— Ex p. Bell, 14 Ark. 76.

California.— In re Fernandez, 119 Cal. 579, 51 Pac. 851; In re Ricaud, 70 Cal. 69, 11 Pac. 471; In re Simmons, 43 Cal. 543; In re Isaacs, 30 Cal. 105.

Kentucky.— Floyd v. Floyd, 7 B. Mon. 290; Quintance v. Darnell, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 238, 332.

Louisiana.— Pinnell v. Scriber, 12 La. 608 (property coming to hand after inventory taken); Robouam v. Robouam, 12 La. 73. See also Labatut v. Rogers, 6 Mart. 272.

Maryland.— See McKim v. Duncan, 4 Gill 72.

Michigan.— Webb v. Peck, 131 Mich. 579, 92 N. W. 104.

Missouri.— Stong v. Wilkson, 14 Mo. 116.

New Jersey.— Pomeroy v. Mills, 37 N. J. Eq. 578.

New York.— Betts v. Betts, 4 Abb. N. Cas. 317.

Virginia.— Hipkins v. Bernard, 4 Munf. 83.

United States.— See Harrison v. Perea, 168 U. S. 311, 18 S. Ct. 129, 42 L. ed. 478 [reversing 7 N. M. 666, 41 Pac. 529].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2090.

Commissions on interest.— An administrator who does not deduct his commissions until a final settlement is entitled to his per centum on the aggregate of his receipts and disbursements, including interest thereon. Drake v. Drake, 82 N. C. 443. See also Wright v. Wright, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 185. But where an administrator is liable for interest for delaying payment on the principal of the estate, pending suit to determine the title thereto, he is not entitled to commissions on the interest with which he was charged. Thomas v. Frederick County School, 9 Gill & J. (Md.) 115.

Commission on notes taken in payment.— An administrator is entitled to his commission on the amount of notes taken by him for property sold at the probate sale of the succession. The commission is allowed not only for the actual trouble he may have had, but for the responsibility incurred. Smith v. Cheney, 1 Rob. (La.) 98.

(II) INVENTORIED PROPERTY. In some jurisdictions commissions are based on the property inventoried as composing the estate,[21] less deductions for worthless and uncollected assets.[22]

(III) LEGACIES AND DISTRIBUTIVE SHARES — (A) In General. As a general rule personal representatives are entitled to commissions for paying over legacies and distributive shares as well as debts.[23]

(B) Specific Legacies and Property Delivered in Kind. According to the weight of authority a personal representative is not entitled to commissions on a specific legacy, or on property delivered over in kind to distributees;[24] but com-

Taxes collected.— The allowance of commissions on state and county taxes collected by the administratrix of a deceased insolvent sheriff is within the discretion of the court. Clark v. Newman, 1 S. W. 880, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 515.

21. McCan's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 968, 22 So. 225; Boyer's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 506; Koch's Succession, 24 La. Ann. 243; Shaffer v. Cross, 13 La. Ann. 110; Handy v. Collins, 60 Md. 229, 45 Am. Rep. 725; In re Stratton, 46 Md. 551; McPherson v. Israel, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 60. But see Matter of Whipple, 81 N. Y. App. Div. 589, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 393.

In California the inventory and appraisement may be considered for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of commissions to be allowed, but the valuation of the inventory is not conclusive. In re Coursen, (1901) 65 Pac. 965; In re Fernandez, 119 Cal. 579, 51 Pac. 851; In re Hinckley, 58 Cal. 457; In re Simmons, 43 Cal. 543. See also In re Carver, 123 Cal. 102, 55 Pac. 770.

Rents and revenues not included in inventory.— Commissions should be allowed on rents and revenues which have come into the hands of the personal representative in the course of administration, if not covered by the inventory. Robertson's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 80, 21 So. 197.

Excess over appraisement.— Commissions should be allowed on the excess of sales over the appraised value of the assets. Evans v. Iglehart, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 171.

When partnership interest a part of estate. — An executor's commission on the value of the succession's interest in a partnership should not be determined by an inventory made before the partnership affairs have been liquidated, but by the amount of productive property accruing therefrom to the succession after liquidation. Milmo's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 126, 16 So. 772.

22. See infra, XV, E, 4, b, (X).

23. Walton v. Gairdner, 111 Ga. 343, 33 S. E. 666 (holding, however, that under the statute providing for commissions on all sums paid either to legatees or distributees, commissions cannot be allowed on stocks or bonds delivered to a legatee under authority in the will in the discharge of a legacy); Williamson v. Wilkins, 14 Ga. 416; West v. Smith, 8 How. (U. S.) 402, 12 L. ed. 1130.

Assets retained by heirs.— An administrator is entitled to commissions on assets which the heirs desire to retain. Park's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 560, 21 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 227.

In North Carolina it was decided in several early cases that personal representatives were not entitled to commissions upon disbursements to legatees or distributees (Clarke v. Cotton, 17 N. C. 51; Arnold v. Blackwell, 17 N. C. 1; Potter v. Stone, 9 N. C. 30. See also Peyton v. Smith, 22 N. C. 325), but according to the later cases it seems that commissions should be allowed for such disbursements (Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100 N. C. 354, 6 S. E. 111; Shepard v. Parker, 35 N. C. 103).

In Texas it is expressly provided by statute that no commission shall be allowed for paying out money to heirs and legatees. Spofford v. Minor, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 534, 36 S. W. 771.

24. Alabama.— Jenkins v. Jenkins, 33 Ala. 731; Wilson v. Wilson, 30 Ala. 670.

Georgia.— Ex p. Burney, 29 Ga. 33.

New Hampshire.— Gordon v. West, 8 N. H. 444.

New Jersey.— See McKnight v. Walsh, 23 N. J. Eq. 136.

New York.— Schenck v. Dart, 22 N. Y. 420; Matter of Whipple, 81 N. Y. App. Div. 589, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 393; In re Robinson, 37 Misc. 336, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 490; Farquharson v. Nugent, 6 Dem. Surr. 296; Hall v. Tryon, 1 Dem. Surr. 296. See also Hawley v. Singer, 5 Dem. Surr. 82; Hill v. Nelson, 1 Dem. Surr. 356. But see Matter of Ross, 33 Misc. 163, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 373; Rowland v. Morgan, 15 Abb. N. Cas. 198, 1 How. Pr. N. S. 182, 3 Dem. Surr. 289.

North Carolina.— Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100 N. C. 354, 6 S. E. 111; Walton v. Avery, 22 N. C. 405; Spruill v. Cannon, 22 N. C. 400. See also Sellars v. Ashford, 37 N. C. 104.

South Carolina.— Turnipseed v. Sirrine, 60 S. C. 272, 38 S. E. 423; Charleston College v. Willingham, 13 Rich. Eq. 195; Ruff v. Summers, 4 Desauss. 529.

Virginia.— Claycomb v. Claycomb, 10 Gratt. 589.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2103.

Contra.— Mayberry's Appeal, 33 Pa. St. 258; McMenamin's Estate, 15 Phila. (Pa.) 510; West v. Smith, 8 How. (U. S.) 402, 12 L. ed. 1130. See also Smith v. Cheney, 1 Rob. (La.) 98.

Legacy chargeable on real estate specifically devised.— An executor is not entitled to commissions on the share of a legatee that the will directs deducted from the valuation of a pensation is sometimes provided by statute for such services.[25] Commissions have been allowed in a number of cases where stocks, bonds, or other securities were delivered to general legatees or distributees, such delivery being apparently regarded as equivalent to a payment in money,[26] but where stocks or securities constituted specific legacies commissions have been refused.[27]

(IV) INVESTMENTS AND INCOME. Where a fund is given to a personal representative in trust and he is required to receive and disburse the income of the fund, he is entitled to commissions upon such income,[28] and executorial trustees, directed by the will to receive the rents and profits of real estate and apply them to the use and benefit of a person for life, who permit the beneficiary to occupy and use the devised premises, are entitled to commissions on the annual income thereof.[29] An executor is not entitled to commissions on an enhanced value of stocks and other investments made with money on which commissions have been farm specifically devised to him, on his paying the executor the residue of the appraised value. Burtis v. Dodge, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 77.

Temporary administrator entitled to commissions on specific legacies.— Matter of Egan, 7 Misc. (N. Y.) 262, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 1009.

Division of perishable property.— Where grain or other perishable property, which by the law the executor is directed to sell, is divided in kind among the legatees, the executor is entitled to a commission upon the appraised value. Claycomb v. Claycomb, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 589.

25. In California the statute provides that where property of the estate is distributed in kind, personal representatives shall receive commissions computed on all the estate above the value of twenty thousand dollars at one-half the rate otherwise allowed. Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1618. See Cudworth's Estate, 133 Cal. 462, 65 Pac. 1041.

In Georgia it is provided by statute that no commission shall be paid to a personal representative for delivering over of any property in kind, but that reasonable compensation may be allowed by the ordinary for such services, and it has been decided in construing this statute that turning over stocks or bonds in discharge of a general legacy is not such a delivering over of property in kind as to entitle a personal representative to compensation. Walton v. Gairdner, 111 Ga. 343, 36 S. E. 666.

In Kentucky the rule is, that while a personal representative is not entitled to commissions upon the value of lands, bonds, stocks, notes, and other property, which they are not authorized to sell and reduce to cash, but which are distributed in kind (Renick v. Renick, 92 Ky. 336, 17 S. W. 1018, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 600; Garr v. Roy, 50 S. W. 25, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1697), yet under the statute providing compensation for performing extraordinary services, he is entitled to a reasonable allowance for services in caring for and distributing property devised or bequeathed in kind (Glover v. Check, 71 S. W. 438, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1281; Reed v. Reed, 66 S. W. 819, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2186).

26. Missouri.— Ladd v. Stephens, 147 Mo. 319, 48 S. W. 915, in which case commissions were allowed to the personal representative on the market value of stock.

New York.— Matter of Curtiss, 9 N. Y. App. Div. 285, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 586, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 1111 [distinguishing McAlpin v. Potter, 126 N. Y. 285, 27 N. E. 475]; Cairns v. Chaubert, 9 Paige 160. See also Matter of Johnson, 57 N. Y. App. Div. 494, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 1004.

North Carolina.— Shepard v. Parker, 35 N. C. 103, note paid over as cash.

Ohio.— In re Duddy, 5 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 412, 7 Ohio N. P. 589.

Pennsylvania.—Rockafield's Estate, 4 Lanc. L. Rev. 113. See also Coggin's Appeal, 3 Walk. 426. But see Ziegler's Appeal, 2 Pa. Cas. 351, 4 Atl. 837.

South Carolina.— See Gist v. Gist, 2 McCord Eq. 473; Deas v. Spann, Harp. Eq. 176.

Virginia.— Farneyhough v. Dickerson, 2 Rob. 582. See also Hipkins v. Bernard, 4 Munf. 83 [overruling 2 Hen. & M. 21].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2102, 2103.

27. Matter of Whipple, 81 N. Y. App. Div. 589, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 393; In re Robinson, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 336, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 490; Charleston College v. Willingham, 13 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 195.

Unspecified stocks of specified amount.— Where a testator bequeaths stock but leaves it to the judgment of his executors to select the particular stock, out of the mass of his estate by which to pay bequests, the legacies are not specific, and the executors are entitled to commissions. Thompson v. Pritchard, 12 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 80.

28. Williamson v. Wilkins, 14 Ga. 416; Foote v. Bruggerhof, 66 Hun (N. Y.) 406, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 509; Westerfield v. Westerfield, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 198. But see Solliday v. Bissey, 12 Pa. St. 347.

In South Carolina it has been decided that an executor is not entitled to commissions for paying to a legatee, as directed by the will, the interest on a certain part of the estate, such commissions being allowed only when the executor receives interest annually and lets it out again as principal. Bobo v. Poole, 12 Rich. Eq. 224; Howard v. Schmidt, Rich. Eq. Cas. 452; Wright v. Wright, 2 McCord Eq. 185.

29. In re Washbon, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 672.

charged and allowed in a prior account.[30] An executor who is directed by his testator, while holding his estate in trust, to keep all moneys belonging thereto safely and profitably invested, is entitled to commissions on the real value of notes in which he finds the money already safely and profitably invested by the testator, and it is not necessary for him to convert such notes into money and reinvest them.[31]

(v) Receipts and Disbursements—(a) In General. Commissions of executors and administrators are sometimes based on their receipts and disbursements; and for this purpose receipts and disbursements are generally made separate items, a certain per cent being allowed for receiving and a certain per cent for disbursing assets.[32]

30. In re Davidson, 204 Pa. St. 381, 54 Atl. 273.

31. Hardt v. Birely, 72 Md. 134, 19 Atl. 606.

32. Alabama.— Wright v. Wilkerson, 41 Ala. 267; Newberry v. Newberry, 28 Ala. 691.

Kentucky.— Beeler v. Hill, 5 Dana 37. Compare Webb v. Webb, 6 T. B. Mon. 163, allowing commissions only on disbursements.

New York.— Matter of Whipple, 81 N. Y. App. Div. 589, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 393; Betts v. Betts, 4 Abb. N. Cas. 317.

North Carolina.— Bond v. Turner, 4 N. C. 690.

South Carolina.— Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802; Taveau v. Ball, 1 McCord Eq. 456; Logan v. Logan, 1 McCord Eq. 1.

Texas.— Claridge v. Lavenbury, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 155, 26 S. W. 324. See also Spofford v. Minor, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 534, 36 S. W. 771.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2097.

In New York the literal interpretation of the statute limiting commissions to cases where there has been both a receipt and disbursement of funds has not been adopted, but the courts have almost uniformly granted one half of such commission for receiving and the other half for disbursing assets. Howes v. Davis, 4 Abb. Pr. 71; Matter of Kellogg, 7 Paige 265; Matter of Roberts, 3 Johns. Ch. 43; Rowland v. Morgan, 3 Dem. Surr. 289; Matter of Roosevelt, 5 Redf. Surr. 601; Ward v. Ford, 4 Redf. Surr. 34. See also In re Mason, 98 N. Y. 527; Meacham v. Stearnes, 9 Paige 398. But see Matter of Bidgood, 36 Misc. 516, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 1061.

Money disbursed for use of family.— An executor is entitled to commissions for disbursing money found in testator's house after his death for the use of the family or for investing the same. Hipkins v. Bernard, 4 Munf. (Va.) 83.

Amount collected and to be distributed.— An administrator is only entitled to his commissions on the amount collected and to be distributed. Fontelieu's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 638.

Disbursements under invalid will.— An executor is entitled to commissions on money paid out pursuant to the will, although such payments afterward appear to have been improper in view of the invalidity of the will. Kelly v. Davis, 37 Miss. 76.

In the event of the death of one of the executors of a will prior to the final accounting, his personal representative is entitled to commissions only upon such sums as were received and paid out during his lifetime. Matter of Whipple, 81 N. Y. App. Div. 589, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 393.

No commissions on disbursements not allowed by the court.— Pryor v. Davis, 109 Ala. 117, 19 So. 440; Springfield Grocer Co. v. Walton, 95 Mo. App. 526, 69 S. W. 477.

A set-off in reduction of a debt due to the decedent does not fall within the description of "receipts" on which commissions are allowable. Walton v. Avery, 22 N. C. 405. See also Bedell's Appeal, 85 Pa. St. 398.

Receipt and disbursement of money.— In some jurisdictions it seems commissions are allowable only on receipts and disbursements of money to the exclusion of other property. Wright v. Wilkerson, 41 Ala. 267; Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802; Ball v. Brown, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 374; Ruff v. Summers, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 529; Claridge v. Lavenburg, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 155, 26 S. W. 324. See also Tompkins v. Tompkins, 18 S. C. 1. Even where this is the rule commissions have been allowed upon bonds, notes, accounts, etc., which have been used in lieu of money, the principle being that that which was used as money should in equity and fairness be regarded and considered as money (Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802; Gist v. Gist, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 473; Deas v. Spann, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 176. See also Ball v. Brown, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 374); but the delivery of bonds by an executor under an order of court is not such a payment of money as to entitle him to commissions (Rutledge v. Williamson, 1 Desauss. (S. C.) 159). Where a creditor of the estate of which defendants were executors purchased property at a sale made by them and gave credit for the amount, it was held that the executors were entitled to commissions on the amount thus settled, although no money was paid. Kiddle v. Hammond, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 223. In New Jersey commissions are not limited to money, but may be allowed upon any property having a money value. Pomeroy v. Mills, 37 N. J. Eq. 578. In New York it has been decided that the statute which directs the allowance of commissions for receiving and paying out sums of money is to be so construed as to treat the reception of every variety of assets as a receiving of money and the application of such assets to the discharge of debts and legacies and to the establishment of trusts, etc., as a pecuniary disbursement (Rowland v. Morgan, 3 Dem. Surr. 289. See also Ogden v. Murray, 39 N. Y. 202; Cairns v. Chabert, 3 Edw. 312; Matter of De Peyster, 4 Sandf. Ch. 511; Matter of Roosevelt, 5 Redf. Surr. 601; Ward v. Ford, 4 Redf. Surr. 34).

(B) Resulting From Continuance of Decedent's Business. Where, however, a personal representative carries on the business of his decedent, he is not entitled to commissions on the gross receipts realized or the necessary disbursements made by him while conducting the business,[33] but the proper compensation is a reasonable allowance for the time and labor bestowed in carrying on the business.[34]

(VI) SURCHARGES. According to some of the authorities, no commissions should be allowed on sums with which a representative is charged on account of his neglect or other misconduct.[35]

Receiving and investing proceeds of real estate.— The receipt of money from the sale of real estate, and its reinvestment to bear interest, is not "receiving and paying out," so as to entitle an executor to commissions. Betts v. Betts, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 317.

Advancements made by the decedent cannot be considered as so received or paid out by the personal representative as to entitle him to commissions thereon. Metcalfe v. Colles, 43 N. J. Eq. 148, 10 Atl. 804; Hill v. Nelson, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 357; Barhite's Appeal, 126 Pa. St. 404, 17 Atl. 617. See also Ziegler's Appeal, 2 Pa. Cas. 351, 4 Atl. 837.

Receipts and disbursements in Confederate money.— Under a statute allowing administrators a commission on receipts and disbursements, it was held that one receiving Confederate money during the Civil war should be allowed commissions in Confederate money and that on receipts and disbursements in United States currency since the war commissions should be allowed in that currency. Dockery v. McDowell, 40 Ala. 476. See also May v. Green, 75 Ala. 162. Compare Trammel v. Philleo, 33 Tex. 395.

33. Lamar v. Lamar, 118 Ga. 684, 45 S. E. 498; Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802; Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75. Compare Walker's Estate, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 515.

Commissions on net income.— Commissions cannot be charged on money disbursed and received from the conduct of a business carried on to produce a net income, but only upon the net income which increases the corpus of the estate. Beard v. Beard, 140 N. Y. 260, 35 N. E. 488.

An executor is held entitled to commissions on expenditures for necessary permanent improvements on land on which he is conducting farming operations under the provisions of his testator's will. Lambertson v. Vann, 134 N. C. 108, 46 S. E. 10.

Replenishing stock of goods.— Where an executor in order to make a better sale of a stock of goods left by his testator added to such stock from his own stock, commissions should be allowed only upon the amount of the personal estate of the testator exclusive of what was added to replenish the stock in trade. Field v. Colton, 7 Ill. App. 379.

34. Georgia.— Lamar v. Lamar, 118 Ga. 684, 45 S. E. 498.

Maryland.— Lee v. Lee, 6 Gill & J. 316.

Michigan.— In re Brewster, 113 Mich. 561, 71 N. W. 1085.

Oregon.— In re Osburn, 36 Oreg. 8, 58 Pac. 521; In re Partridge, 31 Oreg. 297, 51 Pac. 82.

Pennsylvania.— See Smith's Estate, 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. 188.

South Carolina.— Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802.

Texas.— Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75.

Canada.— Thompson v. Freeman, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 384.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2101, 2123.

In New York the rule is that when the business is carried on without any direction in the will a reasonable compensation in addition to legal commissions will be allowed (Lent v. Howard, 89 N. Y. 169 [reversing 25 Hun 60]; Matter of Moriarity, 27 Misc. 161, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 380; Matter of Braunsdorf, 13 Misc. 666, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 298 [affirmed in 2 N. Y. App. Div. 73, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 229]. See also Lawrance v. Garner, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 534), but where the will expressly authorized a continuance of the business by executors, services so rendered are regarded as in the line of duty, and no compensation in addition to commissions will be allowed (Matter of Hayden, 54 Hun 197, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 313 [affirmed in 125 N. Y. 776, 27 N. E. 409]; Matter of Taft, 5 Silv. Supreme 370, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 282).

In England it seems that an executor will not be allowed any compensation for carrying on his testator's business (Stocken v. Dawson, 6 Beav. 371, 49 Eng. Reprint 869; Marshall v. Holloway, 2 Swanst. 432, 19 Rev. Rep. 94, 36 Eng. Reprint 681; Burden v. Burden, 1 Ves. & B. 170, 12 Rev. Rep. 210, 35 Eng. Reprint 67) in the absence of some contract to that effect between him and the testator (Browne v. Collins, 21 Wkly. Rep. 222. But see Forster v. Ridley, 4 De G. J. & S. 452, 11 L. T. Rep. N. S. 200, 69 Eng. Ch. 347, 46 Eng. Reprint 993).

Compensation for keeping together and managing estate see Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Gould v. Hayes, 19 Ala. 438; Chancellor v. Ashby, 2 Patt. & H. (Va.) 26.

35. Gilson's Estate, 18 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 570; Bald v. Thompson, 17 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 154. Contra, Matter of Mount, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 405 [citing Meacham v.

(VII) INDEBTEDNESS BETWEEN REPRESENTATIVE AND ESTATE. An executor or administrator is not entitled to a commission for the collection of his own debt due the estate,[36] but it has been held that he is entitled to commissions on a debt due to himself from the decedent and presented and allowed on his accounting.[37]

(VIII) REAL PROPERTY AND ITS USUFRUCT — (A) In General. Personal representatives are not generally entitled to commissions upon real estate, or the proceeds thereof,[38] or upon rents or profits derived therefrom;[39] but in a few jurisdictions the rule is otherwise.[40]

(B) Proceeds of Authorized Sales. A personal representative who receives and accounts for the proceeds of realty sold under the direction of the will, or by a decree of court, is entitled to commissions thereon;[41] but when land is sold Sternes, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 398]; Edmonds v. Crenshaw, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 224.

36. Kentucky.— Worsley v. Worsley, 16 B. Mon. 455; Com. v. Bracken, 32 S. W. 609, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 785.

Maryland.— Handy v. Collins, 60 Md. 229, 45 Am. Rep. 725 [distinguishing McKim v. Duncan, 4 Gill 72], executrix not entitled to commissions on debt due testator, and specifically bequeathed to her.

North Carolina.— Arnold v. Blackwell, 17 N. C. 1. See also Bond v. Turner, 4 N. C. 690.

Pennsylvania.— In re Hoffer, 156 Pa. St. 473, 27 Atl. 11; Barhite's Appeal, 126 Pa. St. 404, 17 Atl. 617; Muth's Estate, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 597; Waylan's Estate, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 366; Spackman's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 153; Haines' Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. 91. See also Brenneman's Estate, 14 York Leg. Rec. 14.

Virginia.— Farneyhough v. Dickerson, 2 Rob. 582. See also Carter v. Cutting, 5 Munf. 223.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2100.

Contra.— Griffin v. Bonham, 9 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 71.

Commissions for disbursing.— An executor or administrator should not be allowed commissions or compensation for collecting a debt due from himself to the estate; but, if he has faithfully paid such debt into the distinct funds of the estate, he will be entitled to half commissions thereon for responsibility of handling and disposing of it. Stewart's Estate, 1 Lack. Jur. (Pa.) 225. See also In re Phillips, 6 N. J. L. J. 371.

37. Matter of Mount, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 405. See also Heft's Appeal, 5 Pa. Cas. 573, 9 Atl. 87. Contra, Brown v. Walker, 38 Tex. 109.

38. Quaintance v. Darnell, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 238; Garesche v. Levering Invest. Co., 146 Mo. 436, 48 S. W. 653, 46 L. R. A. 232; In re McKay, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 590, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 1069 [modified as to other matter in 75 N. Y. App. Div. 78, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 845]; Haley's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 116. See also Matter of Ogden, 41 Misc. (N. Y.) 158, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 977.

Real estate treated as personalty.— Where real estate comes into the hands of executors as trustees, and is treated as personalty, and accepted by the legatees as such, the executors are entitled to have it so considered in determining the amount of their commissions. Matter of Buchanan, 5 N. Y. St. 351.

39. Scudder v. Ames, 89 Mo. 496, 14 S. W. 525; Myers v. Bolton, 157 N. Y. 393, 52 N. E. 114 [affirming as to this matter 89 Hun 342, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 577]; Apple's Estate, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 239; Dagg v. Dagg, 25 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 542. See also Doan v. Davis, 23 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 207.

Where under the will it is the executors' duty to collect rents of real estate they are entitled to commissions thereon. Fisher v. Fisher, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 335. See also In re Washbon, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 672.

In exceptional cases where personal representatives acting in the interest of the beneficiaries of the estate have collected rents and duly accounted therefor, commissions may be allowed. Haley's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 116; Doan v. Davis, 23 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 207.

40. Ord v. Little, 3 Cal. 287; Girod's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 386. See also In re Fernandez, 119 Cal. 579, 51 Pac. 851; In re Reck, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 59; Calloway's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 968, 22 So. 225; Morvant's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 301, 14 So. 922.

In Washington under the provisions of the statute authorizing an administrator to take possession of and care for the real and personal estate of a decedent, and providing for a commission to the administrator on the whole estate accounted for by him, an administrator is entitled to a commission upon the unsold realty of the estate according to its actual value at the time of accounting. In re Smith, 18 Wash. 129, 51 Pac. 348; Wilbur v. Wilbur, 17 Wash. 683, 50 Pac. 589; Horton v. Barto, 17 Wash. 675, 50 Pac. 587.

Commissions on rents see Robertson's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 80, 21 So. 197; Sparrow's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 484, 4 So. 513, administrator the lessee.

No commissions on waste or uncultivated land.— McDonogh's Succession, 7 La. Ann. 475; Girod's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 386; Milne's Succession, 5 Rob. (La.) 48.

41. Maryland.— Waring v. Darnall, 10 Gill & J. 126; Scott v. Dorsey, 1 Harr. & J. 227.

Mississippi.— Shurtliff v. Witherspoon, 1 Sm. & M. 613.

Missouri.— Jacobs v. Jacobs, 99 Mo. 427, 12 S. W. 457.

New York.— Matter of Prentice, 25 N. Y.

or the proceeds thereof disbursed without his agency he is not entitled to commissions.[42] Although an executor is empowered to sell realty he is not entitled to commissions if no sale is made.[43]

(c) Realty Subject to Encumbrances. In allowing commissions on real estate or the proceeds thereof, the value of all lawful encumbrances must be deducted, and the surplus only taken as a basis of computation.[44]

App. Div. 209, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 353; Smith v. Buchanan, 5 Dem. Surr. 169.

North Carolina.—Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100 N. C. 354, 6 S. E. 111.

Pennsylvania.—Snyder's Appeal, 54 Pa. St. 67; Nathans v. Morris, 4 Whart. 389 (proceeds of ground-rent); Sharp's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 727, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 417; Kelly's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 387; Pickering's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 263; Hoxie's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 296; Clark's Estate, 11 Phila. 53.

Canada.— See Bald v. Thompson, 17 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 154.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2099.

Commissions on bonds taken in payment and delivered to distributees see Gist v. Gist, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 473; Deas v. Spann, Harp Eq. (S. C.) 176.

Commissions on debt due purchaser and deducted from purchase-price see Kiddle v. Hammond, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 223.

Where the intestate's lands are sold under written agreement of the heirs, part of the price being paid in cash and the remainder in notes made payable to, and received by, the heirs in payment of their respective shares, the proceeds of such sales or notes are not proper matters of the administrator's accounts, and he is not entitled to commissions thereon. Key v. Jones, 52 Ala. 238.

Personal devise to executor.— Where real estate is devised to the executor named in the will in trust for another person, with power of sale, and the devise runs to the executor personally, and not to him in his capacity as executor, he is not entitled to charge executorial commissions on a sale made in pursuance of such power. Matter of Brown, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 223.

42. Alabama.— Moore v. Randolph, 70 Ala. 575.

Louisiana.— Gollain's Succession, 31 La. Ann. 173.

Pennsylvania.— Sloan's Estate, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 377.

South Carolina.— Ball v. Brown, 1 Bailey Eq. 374.

Tennessee.— Loague v. Brennan, 86 Tenn. 634, 9 S. W. 693.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2099.

43. Phœnix v. Livingston, 101 N. Y. 451, 5 N. E. 70 (no commissions on part of land unsold); Matter of Johnson, 57 N. Y. App. Div. 494, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 1004; Roosevelt v. Van Alen, 31 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 304; Matter of Clinton, 12 N. Y. App. Div. 132, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 674 [affirming 16 Misc. 199, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 945]; Bruce v. Lorillard, 62 Hun (N. Y.) 416, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 900 (although valuable services rendered as to real estate); Matter of McGlynn, 41 Misc. (N. Y.) 156, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 975; Matter of Ross, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 163, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 373; Matter of Tucker, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 728, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 1021; Matter of Hardenbrook, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 538, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 845; Matter of McLaren, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 483, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 289, Pow. Surr. (N. Y.) 585; Buxton v. Shaffer, 43 W. Va. 296, 37 S. E. 319, naked power of sale. But compare Donat's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 749, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 379, holding that where an executor directed by will to sell real estate made repeated but unsuccessful attempts to do so and then died, his personal representative could collect a commission for such service.

Partition by deed in which executor joins not a sale.— Metcalfe v. Colles, 43 N. J. Eq. 148, 10 Atl. 804; In re Tilden, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 441 [affirming 5 Dem. Surr. 230]; Matter of Ross, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 163, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 373.

Equitable conversion.— When executors are vested with the power of sale which is mandatory, so as to impose a duty upon them to exercise it and thereafter to account for its proceeds as personalty the land is treated as equitably converted into money and its value may be considered not for the purpose of awarding them commissions upon such value in advance of sale, but in order to determine whether the entire estate exceeds one hundred thousand dollars, so as to give to each executor a full commission. Matter of Clinton, 16 Misc. (N. Y.) 199, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 945; Matter of McLaren, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 483, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 289; Smith v. Buchanan, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 169. See also Matter of McGlynn, 41 Misc. (N. Y.) 156, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 975. But this rule does not apply when there is a discretionary power of sale which does not work an equitable conversion. Matter of McGlynn, supra; Matter of Hardenbrook, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 538, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 845.

Conversion prevented by beneficiary.— When a conversion of realty is authorized by will, upon a bill brought to restrain the executor from converting the real estate, on the ground that there is no necessity for it and to compel him to convey it to the complainant, commissions will be allowed. Stein v. Huesmann, 38 N. J. Eq. 405.

44. Baucus v. Stover, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 109 [reversed on other grounds in 89 N. Y. 1, and disapproving Cox v. Schermerhorn, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 16]; Buerhaus v. De Saussure, 41 S. C. 457, 19 S. E. 926, 20 S. E. 64. See also In re Marvin, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 163. Compare In re Carver, 123 Cal. 102, 55 Pac. 770.

A deduction should be made for a dower charge (Pritchett's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. (Pa.) 158. See also In re Lawrence, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 702, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 702), an irredeemable

(IX) PROPERTY NOT ASSETS OF ESTATE. As a general rule a personal representative is not entitled to commissions on property not belonging to the estate, even though taken possession of or inventoried by him;[45] but when he is compelled by law to hold, protect, and guard funds coming into his hands which he has reason to believe to be assets of the estate until the right to such funds can be determined he is entitled to his commissions thereon.[46]

(X) WORTHLESS OR UNCOLLECTED ASSETS. An executor or administrator has no right to charge commissions on worthless or uncollected debts or assets,[47] unless perhaps where he has attempted in good faith to realize upon them.[48] And even if he is entitled to anything for his services as to uncollectable debts specific compensation and not commissions should be allowed.[49]

(XI) ASSETS NOT IN POSSESSION OR UNADMINISTERED. On assets never in possession of the personal representative nor chargeable to him, and in no sense administered by him, a commission is not allowable.[50] ground-rent (Brolasky's Appeal, 3 Pennyp. (Pa.) 329), or a homestead portion (In re Reck, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 59).

Full commissions when all proceeds received and disbursed see Crenshaw v. Bentley, 31 Mo. App. 75.

Commissions based on value of services.— Where mortgaged realty is purchased by the mortgagee from an administrator of the deceased mortgagor, the administrator is not entitled to any fixed commission, but should receive only what his services are actually worth. Zeiger's Estate, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 517.

Foreclosure sale.— In Texas a personal representative has been held entitled to commissions on the whole amount bid at a mortgage foreclosure sale of land of the estate, to pay a debt of the estate, although the money was not actually handed over to him. Huddleston v. Kempner, 87 Tex. 372, 28 S. W. 936 [overruling Watts v. Downs, 36 Tex. 116; James v. Corker, 30 Tex. 617].

45. Hancock v. Fidelity Mut. L. Ins. Co., (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 53 S. W. 181.

Thus he is not entitled to commissions on the value of land included in his inventory but subsequently adjudged not to belong to the estate of his decedent (In re Delaney, 110 Cal. 563, 42 Pac. 981; Ricaud's Estate, 70 Cal. 69, 11 Pac. 471. See also Blanckenburg v. Jordan, 86 Cal. 171, 24 Pac. 1061) or property held by his decedent in trust (Haines v. Hay, 67 Ill. App. 445 [affirmed as to this point in 169 Ill. 93, 48 N. E. 218]. But see Bohrer v. Otterback, 21 D. C. 32; De Peyster v. Ferrers, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 13). Neither can commissions and counsel fees for settling an estate be charged to the portion in which the deceased had only a usufruct. Millaudon v. Cajus, 9 La. 306.

46. Wells v. Robinson, 13 Cal. 133. See also Girod's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 386.

47. Louisiana.— Foulkes' Succession, 12 La. Ann. 537; Milne's Succession, 1 Rob. 400.

Michigan.— Webb v. Peck, 131 Mich. 579, 92 N. W. 104.

Mississippi.— Moffatt v. Loughridge, 51 Miss. 211.

New Jersey.— McKnight v. Walsh, 22 N. J. Eq. 136.

Pennsylvania.— Reeser's Appeal, 100 Pa. St. 79; Mayberry's Appeal, 33 Pa. St. 258; Vanderford's Appeal, (1888) 12 Atl. 491; Smithurst's Estate, 18 Phila. 66; Robinson's Estate, 2 Phila. 340.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2096.

Debts due distributees.—Commissions should be allowed on debts due by distributees, although not actually collected when included in the administration account. Elder v. Whittemore, 51 Ill. App. 662; Posey's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 351.

No commissions on property lost, or which has perished.— Eversfield v. Eversfield, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 12 (by statute); Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802.

48. Johnston's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 75; Blakey's Succession, 12 Rob. 155; John's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 281. See also Behee's Estate, 8 Kulp (Pa.) 157.

49. Kester v. Lyon, 40 W. Va. 161, 20 S. E. 933.

50. Alabama.— Moore v. Randolph, 70 Ala. 575.

Arkansas.— Reynolds v. New Orleans Canal, etc., Co., 30 Ark. 520.

California.— In re Simmons, 43 Cal. 543.

Kentucky.— See Bickel v. Bickel, 79 S. W. 215, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 1945.

Louisiana.— Day's Succession, 22 La. Ann. 366; Powell's Succession, 14 La. Ann. 425; Butterly's Succession, 10 La. Ann. 258; Macarty's Succession, 5 La. Ann. 434; Baillio v. Baillio, 5 Mart. N. S. 228. Compare McDonough's Succession, 7 La. Ann. 475; Anderson v. Anderson, 10 La. 29.

Missouri.— Hitchcock v. Mosher, 106 Mo. 578, 17 S. W. 638; Garrison v. St. Louis Trust Co., 77 Mo. App. 333.

New Hampshire.— Stevens v. Clough, 70 N. H. 165, 47 Atl. 615.

Ohio.— See Williams v. Williams, 8 Ohio St. 300.

Oregon.— Steel v. Holladay, 20 Oreg. 462, 26 Pac. 562.

Pennsylvania.— Sloan's Estate, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 377; Sharp's Estate, 11 Phila. 92.

South Carolina.—De Loach v. Sarratt, 58 S. C. 117, 36 S. E. 532; Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802.

5. Amount of Compensation — a. In General. The amount of compensation to be allowed personal representatives is either left entirely to the discretion of the court, or to the discretion of the court within certain statutory limits, or is definitely fixed by statute.[51] In exercising its discretion, the court should award an amount which is reasonable under the circumstances of the case, in view of the Canada.— Bald v. Thompson, 17 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 154.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2095.

51. Alabama.— Noble v. Jackson, 124 Ala. 311, 26 So. 955; Pinckard v. Pinckard, 24 Ala. 250.

Iowa.— Foteaux v. Lepage, 6 Iowa 123.

Kentucky.— Cabell v. Cabell, 1 Metc. 319; Webb v. Webb, 6 T. B. Mon. 163.

Louisiana.— Bougere's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 422; Hart's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 662; Young v. Chaney, 3 La. 462.

Maryland.— Parker v. Gwynn, 4 Md. 423.

Mississippi.— Merrill v. Moore, 8 Miss. 271, 40 Am. Dec. 60.

Missouri.— Elstroth v. Young, 94 Mo. App. 351, 68 S. W. 100.

New Hampshire.— Wendell v. French, 19 N. H. 205.

New Jersey.— Dickerson v. Canfield, 11 N. J. Eq. 259.

New York.— Matter of Clinton, 12 N. Y. App. Div. 132, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 674; Lansing v. Lansing, 45 Barb. 182, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. 280, 31 How. Pr. 55; McWhorter v. Benson, Hopk. 28.

North Carolina.— Peyton v. Smith, 22 N. C. 325; Potter v. Stone, 9 N. C. 30; Bond v. Turner, 6 N. C. 331.

Ohio.— Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326.

Pennsylvania.— In re Sunderland, 203 Pa. St. 155, 52 Atl. 167; Miller's Appeal, (1886) 7 Atl. 190; Gable's Appeal, 36 Pa. St. 395; Johnston's Appeal, 8 Pa. Cas. 205, 11 Atl. 78; Hall's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 8; Matter of Miller, 1 Ashm. 323; Michael's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 321; Lancaster's Estate, 14 Phila. 237; In re McCloskey, 11 Phila. 95; Wharton's Estate, 11 Phila. 39; King's Estate, 11 Phila. 26; In re Shirk, 4 Del. Co. 214; In re Walter, 24 Lack. Jur. 49.

Texas.— Kearney v. Nicholson, (Civ. App. 1901) 67 S. W. 361.

Virginia.— Taliaferro v. Minor, 2 Call 190.

Washington.— In re Sour, 17 Wash. 675, 50 Pac. 587.

England.— Cockerell v. Barber, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 77, 2 Russ. 585, 3 Eng. Ch. 585, 1 Sim. 23, 2 Eng. Ch. 23, 28 Rev. Rep. 181, rate in India.

Canada.— Torrance v. Chewett, 12 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 407.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2109.

Commissions on proceeds of sale of assets see the following cases:

Florida.— Shepard v. Sherrell, 19 Fla. 300.

Kentucky.— Ramsey v. Ramsey, 4 T. B. Mon. 151.

Pennsylvania.— De Wald's Estate, 13 Phila. 251.

South Carolina.— Norton v. Gillison, 4 Rich. Eq. 213.

Virginia.— Triplett v. Jameson, 2 Munf. 242.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2111.

Commissions on realty or proceeds thereof see the following cases:

Missouri.— Jacobs v. Jacobs, 99 Mo. 427, 12 S. W. 457.

North Carolina.— Graves v. Graves, 58 N. C. 280.

Ohio.— Stone v. Strong, 42 Ohio St. 53.

Pennsylvania.— Robb's Appeal, 41 Pa. St. 45; Scott's Estate, 18 Pa. Super. Ct. 375; Sharp's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 727, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 417; Pickering's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 263; Clark's Estate, 11 Phila. 53; Montier's Estate, 7 Phila. 491; Skinner's Estate, 4 Phila. 189; John's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 77; Prichett's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 158; Reid's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 157; Spear's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 156; Scheidt's Estate, 1 Leg. Chron. 25; Rockafield's Estate, 4 Lanc. L. Rev. 113.

Washington.— In re Smith, 18 Wash. 129, 51 Pac. 348; Wilbur v. Wilbur, 17 Wash. 683, 50 Pac. 589.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2111.

Commissions on interest and income see In re Selleck, 111 N. Y. 284, 19 N. E. 66; Drake v. Price, 5 N. Y. 430 [affirming 7 Barb. 388]; Matter of McLaren, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 483, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 289; Meeker v. Crawford, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 450; Slosson v. Naylor, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 257 (method of computing); Washington v. Emery, 57 N. C. 32; Briggs v. Holcombe, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 15; Massey v. Massey, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 492.

Where commissions are paid on part of an estate at an intermediate accounting, commissions can only be allowed on the amount which comes into the executor's hands afterward, and such commissions are calculated as if the subsequent receipts were part of the prior receipts. Tucker v. Tucker, 33 N. J. Eq. 235 [affirmed in 34 N. J. Eq. 292].

When there are several executors the commissions should be computed upon the aggregate sums received and paid out by all collectably and not upon the amount received and disbursed by each individual. Valentine v. Valentine, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 430.

Annual rests.— A personal representative cannot make annual rests in his account and be allowed full commissions thereon, unless he makes an annual accounting. Lansing v. Lansing, 45 Barb. (N. Y.) 182, 31 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 55, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 280; Betts v. Betts, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 317; Cram v. Cram, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 244.

time, trouble, risk, and responsibility demanded by the nature of the trust, the manner in which the estate is managed, and the faithfulness of the personal representative.[52] Compensation is often allowed according to the amount of the estate administered or the nature of the services rendered by the personal representative.[53] Although personal representatives are usually allowed commissions,[54] their compensation sometimes takes the form of an allowance of a gross

See also Hosack v. Rogers, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 461.

52. Alabama.— Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Gould v. Hays, 25 Ala. 426.

Arkansas.— Ex p. Bell, 14 Ark. 76.

Connecticut.—Main's Appeal, 73 Conn. 638, 48 Atl. 965.

Florida.— Sherrell v. Shepard, 19 Fla. 300; Moore v. Felkel, 7 Fla. 44.

Kentucky.— Morton v. Morton, 112 Ky. 706, 66 S. W. 641, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2079; Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. 195; Reed v. Reed, 66 S. W. 819, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2186; Fidelity Trust, etc., Vault Co. v. Watkins, 42 S. W. 753, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 957; Bailey v. Penick, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 239.

Mississippi.— Adams v. Westbrook, 41 Miss. 385.

New Hampshire.— Gordon v. West, 8 N. H. 444.

New Jersey.— Weeks v. Selby, 61 N. J. Eq. 668, 46 Atl. 948, trouble and risk rather than quantum of estate to be considered.

Pennsylvania.— In re Young, 204 Pa. St. 32, 53 Atl. 511; In re Betts, 198 Pa. St. 640, 48 Atl. 873; In re Wistar, 192 Pa. St. 289, 43 Atl. 1006; In re Semple, 189 Pa. St. 385, 42 Atl. 28; Gilpin's Estate, 138 Pa. St. 143, 20 Atl. 713; Carrier's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 230; Edenborn's Estate, 10 Pa. Dist. 184; Mutchmore's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 293, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 257; Donat's Estate, 6 Pa. Dist. 78; Laubach's Estate, 9 Kulp 150; McCloskey's Estate, 11 Phila. 95; Pennock's Estate, 2 Phila. 141; Barclay's Appeal, 2 Walk. 17; Sheetz's Estate, 2 Woodw. 407; John's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 281; In re Wirt, 11 York Leg. Rec. 145; Scully's Estate, 31 Pittsb. Leg. J. 307.

Vermont.— Powell v. Foster, 71 Vt. 160, 44 Atl. 96; In re Hall, 70 Vt. 458, 41 Atl. 508. See also Hapgood v. Jennison, 2 Vt. 294.

Virginia.— McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. 288.

West Virginia.— Kester v. Lyon, 40 W. Va. 161, 20 S. E. 933; Hoke v. Hoke, 12 W. Va. 427.

Canada.— Thompson v. Freeman, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 384; Chisholm v. Barnard, 10 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 479; McLennan v. Heward, 9 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 178; Re Fleming, 11 Ont. Pr. 426.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2107, 2108.

Reasonable compensation for the services of an administrator means what will fairly compensate him when the character of and the effectiveness and ability entering into the service are considered. Powell v. Foster, 71 Vt. 160, 44 Atl. 96.

Excessive compensation on part of estate. — Where executors receive an excessive compensation on the real-estate account filed by them, such excessive allowance will be taken into consideration in fixing the compensation in the account of the personalty. In re Wirt, 11 York Leg. Rec. (Pa.) 145.

Evidence of amount allowed in similar case inadmissible.— Hawkins v. Cunningham, 67 Mo. 415.

53. Alabama.— Pinckard v. Pinckard, 24 Ala. 250.

Connecticut.— Main's Appeal, 73 Conn. 638, 48 Atl. 965.

Florida.— Sherrell v. Shepard, 19 Fla. 300.

Kentucky.— Reed v. Reed, 66 S. W. 819, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2186; Fidelity Trust, etc., Co. v. Watkins, 42 S. W. 753, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 957; Quaintance v. Darnell, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 238.

Mississippi.— Powell v. Burrus, 35 Miss. 605.

New Hampshire.— Wendell v. French, 19 N. H. 205.

New Jersey.— Rogers v. Hand, 39 N. J. Eq. 270; Pomeroy v. Mills, 37 N. J. Eq. 578 [reversing 35 N. J. Eq. 442]; In re Wolfe, 34 N. J. Eq. 223.

North Carolina.— Graves v. Graves, 58 N. C. 280.

Ohio.— Mitchell v. Schultz, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 78, 5 Cinc. L. Bul. 503; Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326.

Pennsylvania.— Barhite's Appeal, 126 Pa. St. 404, 17 Atl. 617; Harbester's Appeal, 125 Pa. St. 1, 17 Atl. 204; Wood's Appeal, 86 Pa. St. 346; In re Lloyd, 82 Pa. St. 143; Eshleman's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 42; In re Stevenson, 4 Whart. 98; In re Walker, 9 Serg. & R. 223; Pusey v. Clemson, 9 Serg. & R. 204; Ziegler's Appeal, 2 Pa. Cas. 351, 4 Atl. 837; Stone's Appeal, 3 Walk. 499; Siddall's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 102, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 424; Eby's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 326, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 601; Oliver's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 209; Baily's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 568; Spackmous's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 153; Eachus' Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 152; Corby's Estate, 5 Kulp 159; Benedict's Estate, 4 Lanc. L. Rev. 99; Bird's Estate, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. 168; Wilson's Estate, 18 Phila. 123; Wernle's Estate, 13 Phila. 328; McCloskey's Estate, 13 Phila. 254; In re Semple, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 434; Rogers' Estate, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. 29; Lang's Estate, 13 Wkly. Notes Cas. 14.

Tennessee.— Ex p. Parker, (Sup. 1881) 19 S. W. 571.

Virginia.— Cavendish v. Fleming, 3 Munf. 198.

Canada.— Denison v. Denison, 17 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 306; Thompson v. Freeman, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 384.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2110.

54. See supra, XV, E, 4.

sum for all services rendered,[55] or a per diem allowance for the time spent in performing the duties of administration.[56]

b. Extra Allowance.[57] When the exact amount of compensation or the maximum amount allowable is fixed by statute, in the absence of a testamentary[58] or statutory provision for increased compensation for extraordinary services, personal representatives can be allowed only the fixed compensation, even although the administration of the estate has been especially difficult, or they have rendered unusual services which have benefited the estate.[59] Special compensation for such services is, however, expressly provided for by statute in several jurisdictions.[60]

55. Alabama.— Cummings v. Bradley, 57 Ala. 224.

Indiana.— Ray v. Doughty, 4 Blackf. 115.

Iowa.— Foteaux v. Lepage, 6 Iowa 123.

Kentucky.—Morton v. Morton, 112 Ky. 706, 66 S. W. 641, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2079; Chalfant v. Sterns, 4 Dana 602; Stanberry v. Robinson, 27 S. W. 973, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 309.

Massachusetts.— Newell v. West, 149 Mass. 520, 21 N. E. 954.

Michigan.— In re Power, 92 Mich. 106, 52 N. W. 298.

New Jersey.— Andress v. Andress, 46 N. J. Eq. 528, 22 Atl. 124; Metcalf v. Colles, 43 N. J. Eq. 148, 10 Atl. 804.

Pennsylvania.— McCain's Appeal, 138 Pa. St. 143, 20 Atl. 713; Reeser's Appeal, 100 Pa. St. 79; Montgomery's Appeal, 86 Pa. St. 230; Kennedy's Appeal, 4 Pa. St. 149; Kauffman's Appeal, 7 Pa. Cas. 482, 12 Atl. 31.

Rhode Island.— Williams v. Herrick, 18 R. I. 120, 25 Atl. 1099.

Tennessee.— German v. German, 7 Coldw. 180.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2113.

56. In re Nuckols, 103 Mich. 297, 61 N. W. 506; Wisner v. Mabley, 74 Mich. 143, 41 N. W. 835; Higbie v. Westlake, 14 N. Y. 281; In re Hall, 70 Vt. 458, 41 Atl. 508; Cameron v. Cameron, 15 Wis. 1, 82 Am. Dec. 652.

57. See also supra, VIII, I, 8, g, (IX), (E); XV, E, 4, b, (V), (B).

58. See supra, XV, E, 1, e.

59. Illinois.— Askew v. Hudgens, 99 Ill. 468; People v. Allen, 25 Ill. App. 657.

Louisiana.— Calloway's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 968, 22 So. 225; Turnell's Succession, 34 La. Ann. 888; Sprowl's Succession, 21 La. Ann. 544; New Orleans v. Baltimore, 15 La. Ann. 625.

Mississippi.— Satterwhite v. Littlefield, 13 Sm. & M. 302.

Missouri.— Scudder v. Ames, 89 Mo. 496, 14 S. W. 525; Gamble v. Gibson, 59 Mo. 585. See also Booker v. Armstrong, 93 Mo. 49, 4 S. W. 727. But compare Hawkins v. Cunningham, 67 Mo. 415; Lewis v. McCabe, 16 Mo. App. 398; In re Handfield, 16 Mo. App. 332.

North Carolina.— Parker v. Grant, 91 N. C. 338, no extra compensation for personal attention to the estate. See also Morris v. Morris, 54 N. C. 326; Schaw v. Schaw, 1 N. C. 79.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2117, 2118.

In New York the rule is that a personal representative cannot receive from the estate any greater compensation than the statutory commissions for his own services, however meritorious or extraordinary they may be, if performed in the discharge of the duties prescribed for him by law or by will (Lent v. Howard, 89 N. Y. 169; Smith v. Albany, 61 N. Y. 444; Collier v. Munn, 41 N. Y. 143; Matter of Hosford, 27 N. Y. App. Div. 427, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 550; In re Moriarity, 27 Misc. 161, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 380; In re Hayden, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 845, 1 Connoly Surr. 454; Morgan v. Hannas, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. 361; Van Sickler v. Graham, 7 How. Pr. 208; Clinch v. Eckford, 8 Paige 412; Vanderheyder v. Vanderheyder, 2 Paige 287, 21 Am. Dec. 86; Fisher v. Fisher, 1 Bradf. Surr. 335), but for extraordinary services in excess of his duties he is entitled to compensation beyond his commissions (In re Taft, 5 Silv. Supreme 370, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 282; Russell v. Hilton, 37 Misc. 642, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 233; Matter of Braunsdorf, 13 Misc. 666, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 298. See also Matter of McCord, 2 N. Y. App. Div. 324, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 852, 3 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 64).

60. Alabama.— Noble v. Jackson, 132 Ala. 230, 31 So. 450; Ivey v. Coleman, 42 Ala. 409; Reese v. Gresham, 29 Ala. 91; Newberry v. Newberry, 28 Ala. 691; Gould v. Hays, 25 Ala. 426.

California.—In re Coursen, (1901) 65 Pac. 965. But the allowance of extra compensation is erroneous where the representative has not petitioned the court therefor, and when it does not affirmatively appear that he has rendered any extraordinary services. Firebaugh v. Burbank, 121 Cal. 186, 53 Pac. 560; In re Delaney, 110 Cal. 163, 42 Pac. 981; In re Moore, 96 Cal. 522, 31 Pac. 584. See also Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479.

Georgia.—Walton v. Gairdner, 111 Ga. 343, 36 S. E. 666.

Iowa.— Fitzgerald v. Paisley, 110 Iowa 98, 81 N. W. 181; In re Young, 97 Iowa 218, 66 N. W. 163; In re Gloyd, 93 Iowa 303, 61 N. W. 975; Patterson v. Bell, 25 Iowa 149.

Kentucky.— Glover v. Check, 71 S. W. 438, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1281. See also McCracken v. McCracken, 6 T. B. Mon. 342. But see Renick v. Renick, 92 Ky. 336, 17 S. W. 1018, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 600.

Michigan.— In re King, 113 Mich. 606, 71 N. W. 1080, 110 Mich. 203, 68 N. W. 154; In re Brewster, 113 Mich. 561, 71 N. W. 1085; Wisner v. Mabley, 74 Mich. 143, 41 N. W. 835; Mower's Appeal, 48 Mich. 441,

An allowance for extra services can only be made when it is shown that they were necessary and were actually performed;[61] but as to what are unusual or extraordinary services for which special compensation will be allowed no general rule can be stated, this being a matter largely within the discretion of the court.[62]

c. Amount Fixed by Agreement. A personal representative may agree with the persons interested in the settlement of the estate as to the compensation he shall receive,[63] and he is bound by an agreement to accept a less sum than the statutory compensation;[64] while, on the other hand, he may enforce an agreement allowing him a sum in excess of that allowed by statute.[65]

12 N. W. 646; Loomis v. Armstrong, 63 Mich. 355, 29 N. W. 867.

Ohio.— Matter of Wolfe, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 220, 4 Ohio N. P. 336; Re Johnson, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 1, 4 Ohio N. P. 156; Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 660, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326; In re Duddy, 5 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 412, 7 Ohio N. P. 589.

Oregon.— In re Partridge, 31 Oreg. 297, 51 Pac. 82; Muldrick v. Galbraith, 31 Oreg. 86, 49 Pac. 886.

South Carolina.— Teague v. Dendy, 2 McCord Eq. 207, 16 Am. Dec. 643; Logan v. Logan, 1 McCord Eq. 1, extra compensation assessed by jury. See also Esswein v. Seigling, Riley Eq. 200, 2 Hill Eq. 600; Wallace v. Ellerbe, Rich. Eq. Cas. 49.

Texas.— Davenport v. Lawrence, 19 Tex. 317.

Wisconsin.— Zentner v. Schinz, 90 Wis. 236, 63 N. W. 162; Ford v. Ford, 88 Wis. 122, 59 N. W. 464.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2117–2124.

61. James v. Craighead, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241.

62. In re Brewster, 113 Mich. 561, 71 N. W. 1085; Matter of Wolfe, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 220, 4 Ohio N. P. 336; Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326.

Extra compensation has been allowed for looking after real estate, collecting rents, and paying taxes (Matter of Wolfe, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 220, 4 Ohio N. P. 336); for conducting extensive and successful litigation for the benefit of the estate (In re Beideman, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 66); for surveying and subdividing large tracts of land into lots when ordered to sell real estate (Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326); for investing funds of the estate and collecting and paying interest to the legatees (Fitzgerald v. Paisley, 110 Iowa 98, 81 N. W. 181); for drafting a bill to construe a provision in a will, going outside of the state to settle a partnership business and selling property outside of the state (Wisner v. Mabley, 74 Mich. 143, 41 N. W. 835); for keeping an estate together and loaning money of the estate (Reese v. Gresham, 29 Ala. 91); and for superintending farming operations (Ivey v. Coleman, 42 Ala. 409. But see Jenkins v. Fickling, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 369; Snow v. Callum, 1 Desauss. (S. C.) 542).

Extra compensation has been denied when claimed for the risk and care attendant on the custody of certificates of stock forming part of the assets of an estate (In re Duddy, 5 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 412, 7 Ohio N. P. 589, Ohio Prob. 130); for ordinary attendance to a suit brought by the representative (Holman v. Sims, 39 Ala. 709); for making inquiries as to evidence in suits against the estate while the representative was on his own business in an adjoining county (Dockery v. McDowell, 40 Ala. 476); for making inventories or keeping accounts (O'Neill v. Donnell, 9 Ala. 734); and for filing a petition to sell real estate for the payment of charges upon the estate (Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326).

No allowance for ordinary duties.— Teague v. Dendy, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 207, 16 Am. Dec. 643. See also Wilkinson v. Abbott, (N. J. Ch. 1895) 30 Atl. 1098; In re Duddy, 5 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 412, 7 Ohio N. P. 589, Ohio Prob. 130.

63. Koch's Estate, 148 Pa. St. 159, 23 Atl. 1057; Littell v. Hackley, 126 Fed. 309, 61 C. C. A. 295.

"Fair compensation."— A promise by a distributee to pay a personal representative a "fair compensation" for his services is a mere promise to pay what may be allowed by the appropriate tribunal according to law. Ratliff v. Davis, 38 Miss. 107.

64. In re Turfler, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 91, Pow. Surr. (N. Y.) 421; In re Hamilton, 29 Nova Scotia 249. See also Matter of Hodgman, 69 Hun (N. Y.) 484, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 725 [affirmed in 140 N. Y. 421, 35 N. E. 660].

Agreement to serve without compensation.—A contract by one voluntarily seeking an appointment as administrator of an estate to make no charge for his services is valid. Bate v. Bate, 11 Bush (Ky.) 639.

65. Powell v. Foster, 71 Vt. 160, 44 Atl. 96; Hubbell v. Olmstead, 36 Vt. 619. But see Matter of McCord, 2 N. Y. App. Div. 324, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 852 (holding that an agreement allowing to an executor compensation for his services as executor in excess of his commissions cannot be enforced, but if the executor performs services outside of his official duties he may be allowed compensation, and an agreement to give him such additional compensation is valid); In re Hayden, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 845, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 454; In re Young, 4 Wash. 534, 30 Pac. 643.

In California, by statute, all contracts or agreements by which an executor will receive either directly or indirectly any greater compensation than is fixed by the statute or any compensation other than such as may have been previously ascertained and determined

6. Temporary or Special Administrators. Temporary or special administration is a recognized trust, and entitles one to reasonable compensation.[66]

7. Co-Executors and Co-Administrators. Where there are two or more executors or administrators of an estate, they are usually entitled only to the recompense or commissions payable to a single representative;[67] and it has been held that where one of two executors is not entitled to commissions because he is a legatee, the other executor is entitled to only one half of the regular commissions.[68] The waiver of commissions by one personal representative does not prejudice the rights of his co-representative.[69] As a general rule the compensation is divided in proportion to the services rendered,[70] and a personal representative who has rendered no services receives no compensation.[71] Where only one by the court are void. Firebaugh v. Burbank, 121 Cal. 186, 53 Pac. 560.

66. Alabama.— Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607, 45 Am. Rep. 93; Wright v. Wilkerson, 41 Ala. 267.

California.— Moore's Estate, 88 Cal. 1, 25 Pac. 915, amount in court's discretion.

Kentucky.—Scarce v. Page, 12 B. Mon. 311, sheriff acting as administrator.

Louisiana.— See Forstall's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 1052, 3 So. 277; De Lerno's Succession, 34 La. Ann. 40.

Maryland.— See Wilson v. Wilson, 3 Gill & J. 20.

Missouri.— Hawkins v. Cunningham, 67 Mo. 415; In re Handfield, 16 Mo. App. 332.

Montana.— In re Ford, 29 Mont. 283, 74 Pac. 735.

New York.— Green v. Sanders, 18 Hun 308; Matter of Egan, 7 Misc. 262, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 1009; Matter of Duncan, 3 Redf. Surr. 153.

Texas.— Bell v. Goss, (Civ. App. 1903) 76 S. W. 315. See also James v. Craighead, (Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241.

Vermont.— Powell v. Foster, 71 Vt. 160, 44 Atl. 96.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2074.

No commission on property delivered to successor.— A special administrator should be allowed a commission only upon moneys actually paid out and in addition to this a reasonable compensation for services rendered the estate. He is not entitled to commissions on money and property delivered to his successor in office. Hawkins v. Cunningham, 67 Mo. 415; In re Boothe, 38 Mo. App. 456. But see Green v. Sanders, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 308; Matter of Duncan, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 153.

67. Phillips v. Richardson, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 212; In re Aston, 5 Whart. (Pa.) 228; Haines' Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 91.

In New York it is provided by statute that when the personal property of the decedent amounts to one hundred thousand dollars or more over all his debts, each personal representative is entitled to a full commission, unless there are more than three, in which case the compensation to which the three would be entitled must be apportioned among them according to the services rendered. N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2730; McAlpine v. Potter, 126 N. Y. 285, 27 N. E. 475 [reversing 12 N. Y. Suppl. 662]; Matter of Kenworthy, 63 Hun 165, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Matter of Franklin, 26 Misc. 107, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 858; Matter of Clinton, 16 Misc. 199, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 945; Matter of Newland, 7 Misc. 728, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 496; In re Blakeney, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 55, 23 Abb. N. Cas. 32, 1 Connoly Surr. 128; In re Hayden, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 845, 1 Connoly Surr. 454; Smith v. Buchanan, 5 Dem. Surr. 169; Welling v. Welling, 3 Dem. Surr. 511; Waters v. Faber, 2 Dem. Surr. 290; Matter of Leggatt, 4 Redf. Surr. 148.

68. Edwards' Succession, 34 La. Ann. 216; Elkins v. Elkins, 11 La. 224; Mon v. Garnier, 6 La. 324; Lee v. Lee, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 316.

69. Schoeneich v. Reed, 8 Mo. App. 356; Porter's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 290.

70. California.— In re Carter, 132 Cal. 113, 64 Pac. 123; In re Dudley, 123 Cal. 256, 55 Pac. 897; Hope v. Jones, 24 Cal. 89.

Kentucky.— Glover v. Check, 72 S. W. 302, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1783, apportionment of compensation for extraordinary services.

Michigan.— Speirs v. Wisner, 88 Mich. 614, 50 N. W. 654, 26 Am. St. Rep. 306.

New Jersey.— Andress v. Andress, 46 N. J. Eq. 528, 22 Atl. 124; Mount v. Slack, 45 N. J. Eq. 129, 17 Atl. 297 [affirmed in 45 N. J. Eq. 889, 19 Atl. 622].

New York.— Matter of Kenworthy, 63 Hun 165, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Matter of Newland, 7 Misc. 728, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 496; Matter of Harris, 4 Dem. Surr. 463; Hill v. Nelson, 1 Dem. Surr. 357. See also Matter of Mansfield, 10 Misc. 296, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 684; Valentine v. Valentine, 2 Barb. Ch. 430. But see White v. Bullock, 4 Abb. Dec. 578, 15 How. Pr. 102 [reversing 20 Barb. 91]; In re Van Nest, Tuck. Surr. 130, both decided before the enactment of the present statute.

North Carolina.— Waddill v. Martin, 38 N. C. 562; Hodge v. Hawkins, 21 N. C. 564; Perry v. Maxwell, 17 N. C. 488; Grant v. Pride, 16 N. C. 269. See also Sellars v. Ashford, 37 N. C. 104.

Canada.— See Re Fleming, 11 Ont. Pr. 426.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2127, 2128.

But compare In re Seitz, 6 Mo. App. 250; In re Aston, 5 Whart. (Pa.) 228.

71. California.— Hope v. Jones, 24 Cal. 89.

New York.— In re Hayden, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 845, 1 Connoly Surr. 454.

North Carolina.— McAuslan v. Green, 1 N. C. 172.

of two executors named in a will qualifies he is entitled to the entire commissions.[72] The portion which the several representatives are to receive is sometimes settled by an agreement entered into by them.[73]

8. Successive Administrations. Where an estate is administered by successive personal representatives, the compensation allowed should be apportioned among them according to the services rendered,[74] and the compensation of one will not be increased because his predecessors received no compensation for their services.[75] A second administrator is not entitled to commissions on assets on which a commission has been paid to a former administrator,[76] and the fact that there are successive administrations should not increase the rate of commissions on any part of the assets;[77] but it has been held that the allowance for compensation made to a special administrator has no effect upon the commissions of the general executor or administrator of the same estate, these being distinct and independent allowances for different services.[78] An executor of an executor is entitled to commissions on pecuniary legacies paid out under the will of the first testator, commissions to be retained out of the fund due to the legatees; but he is not entitled to commissions from the estate of his immediate testator, on the hypothesis that the amount was due as a debt from his estate to the former estate, unless it appears that the last testator claimed the fund adversely to the legatees under the first will.[79] The right of the last personal representative to his commissions, be they large or small, is a direct liability from the estate to himself, and he is entitled to payment from the estate, and cannot be remitted for payment to a settlement between himself and a prior representative who had appropriated

South Carolina.— Ex p. Hilton, 64 S. C. 201, 41 S. E. 978, 92 Am. St. Rep. 800.

Virginia.— Claycomb v. Claycomb, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 589.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2127.

Contra.— Richardson v. Stansbury, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 275; Smart v. Fisher, 7 Mo. 580.

Readiness to render services.— Where both executors seem to have been willing to do, and to have done whatever was required, the commission should be divided equally between them (Squier v. Squier, 30 N. J. Eq. 627. See also Pomeroy v. Mills, 40 N. J. Eq. 517, 4 Atl. 768), and although one executor has done all the work, the commission should be divided, if the other was ready to do whatever was required (Garr v. Roy, 50 S. W. 25, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1697. But see Bellamy v. Hawkins, 17 Fla. 750; Walke v. Hitchcock, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 217).

72. Bodenheimer's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 1034.

73. In re Carter, 132 Cal. 113, 64 Pac. 123 (holding that the question whether such a contract existed and the rights of the parties under it could not be determined on the final settlement of the executor's accounts); Brown v. Stewart, 4 Md. Ch. 368; John v. John, 122 Pa. St. 107, 15 Atl. 675 (holding that whether or not there was any such agreement was a question for the jury, and that if there were letters testamentary taken out and responsibility incurred in pursuance of the agreement, there was a sufficient consideration to support it); In re Aston, 5 Whart. (Pa.) 228 (holding that an agreement between two executors that one should receive two fifths of a commission charged by the other, who settled a separate account, was not illegal if the executor receiving the two fifths transacted a part of the business of the estate).

74. Kernan's Succession, 105 La. 592, 30 So. 239; Linton's Succession, 31 La. Ann. 130; In re Baxley, 47 Md. 555; McPherson v. Israel, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 60; Matter of Depew, 19 N. Y. St. 902, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 54; Lyendecker v. Eisemann, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 72; Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100 N. C. 354, 5 S. E. 111.

Commissions of part of estate administered. — Where an estate has been administered by successive personal representatives, each is entitled to commissions on such portions of the estate as have been administered by him. Girod's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 386; Milne's Succession, 1 Rob. (La.) 400.

75. Linton's Succession, 31 La. Ann. 130.

76. In re Marvin, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 163; Bougere's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 422. See also McCan's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 968, 22 So. 225; McGonnigle's Estate, 31 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 28. But see Lemmon v. Hall, 20 Md. 168; McPherson v. Israel, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 60.

Additional commissions on profits.— Where compensation to executors and administrators was fixed at a certain sum, and that sum was allowed to the first executor and trustee, a subsequent executor and trustee was entitled to an allowance of at least five per cent on the profits realized upon a large and well managed trust fund. Young v. Smith, 9 Bush (Ky.) 421.

77. In re Waring, 5 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 415, 7 Ohio N. P. 553.

78. Wilson v. Wilson, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 20.

79. In re Jones, 25 Ga. 414.

to himself for commissions the whole amount allowed for the commissions of a full administration.[80]

9. Executor Who Is Trustee or Guardian. While the same person may be entitled to compensation as executor and also as trustee in respect to the same estate, this result does not follow in every instance where trust duties are imposed upon an executor. Where by the terms of the will the two functions with their corresponding duties coexist and run from the death of the testator to the final discharge, interwoven, inseparable, and blended together, so that no point of time is fixed or contemplated in the testamentary intention at which one function should end and the other begin, double commissions or compensation in both capacities cannot be properly allowed.[81] But executors are entitled to commissions as executors and also as trustees where under the will their duties as executors and trustees are separable and, their duties as executors having ended, they take the estate as trustees and afterward act solely in that capacity.[82] One acting as trustee under one will and executor under another, although dealing with the same funds, may receive commissions for services in each capacity.[83]

80. Kernan's Succession, 105 La. 592, 30 So. 239.

81. In re Slocum, 169 N. Y. 153, 62 N. E. 130 [modifying 60 N. Y. App. Div. 438, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 1036; McAlpine v. Potter, 126 N. Y. 285, 27 N. E. 475 [reversing 12 N. Y. Suppl. 662]; Johnson v. Lawrence, 95 N. Y. 154; Hurlburt v. Durant, 88 N. Y. 121; Hall v. Hall, 78 N. Y. 535 [affirming 18 Hun 358]; Drake v. Price, 5 N. Y. 430 [affirming 7 Barb. 388]; Matter of Union Trust Co., 70 N. Y. App. Div. 5, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 68 [reversing on other grounds 35 Misc. 260, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 844, and appeal dismissed in 172 N. Y. 494, 65 N. E. 259]; Matter of Hogarty, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 79, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 839 [modifying and affirming 34 Misc. 610, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 428]; Matter of Clinton, 12 N. Y. App. Div. 132, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 674; In re Lawrence, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 702, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 653; In re Thompson, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 213; Matter of McAlpine, 15 N. Y. St. 532; Valentine v. Valentine, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 430; Holley v. S. G., 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 284; Matter of Townsend, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 147; Bacon v. Bacon, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 5; Matter of Leinkauf, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 1; Matter of Starr, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 141. See also Ramser v. Blair, 123 Ala. 139, 36 So. 341; Albro v. Robinson, 93 Ky. 195, 19 S. W. 587, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 124; Sanderson v. Pearson, 45 Md. 483.

Executor and guardian.— A person holding at one and the same time the position of testamentary executor of an estate and tutor of the minor heirs thereto cannot receive and disburse a fund in the capacity of executor and charge commissions upon the fund as being in his hands as tutor. Milmo's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 126, 16 So. 772.

In New Jersey it has been decided that if a person be appointed in a will an executor and trustee, such person is entitled to commissions, calculating on the corpus of the estate, in each capacity, at such rate as will yield a reasonable compensation for the services in each of such respective offices. Pitney v. Everson, 42 N. J. Eq. 361, 7 Atl. 860 [reversing 40 N. J. Eq. 539, 5 Atl. 95]. But the rule stated in the text is recognized in Bruere v. Gulick, 41 N. J. Eq. 280, 7 Atl. 441; Baker v. Johnston, 39 N. J. Eq. 493.

In Pennsylvania it is provided by statute that where one acts both as executor and trustee he shall be allowed but one compensation for his services in both capacities. Barclay's Estate, 11 Phila. 123; In re Old, 8 Lanc. L. Rev. 329. But it has been held that where duties which were not capable of performance by the executors at the settlement of their original account and which were clearly separate and distinct from those connected with the original administration of the estate were superimposed by the testator, compensation for such additional services should be allowed. Scull's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 699, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 198.

82. In re Crawford, 113 N. Y. 560, 21 N. E. 692, 5 L. R. A. 71; In re Willets, 112 N. Y. 289, 665, 19 N. E. 690 [affirming 9 N. Y. St. 321]; Phœnix v. Livingston, 101 N. Y. 451, 5 N. E. 70; In re Mason, 98 N. Y. 527; Laytin v. Davidson, 95 N. Y. 263 [affirming 29 Hun 622]; Matter of Johnson, 57 N. Y. App. Div. 494, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 1004; Beard v. McCredie, 77 Hun (N. Y.) 111, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 305; Foote v. Bruggerhof, 66 Hun (N. Y.) 406, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 509; Matter of Babcock, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 510, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 634; Blake v. Blake, 30 Hun (N. Y.) 469; Matter of Tucker, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 728, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 1021; Matter of Selleck, 1 N. Y. St. 575; Hall v. Campbell, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 415; Ward v. Ford, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 34; Matter of Carman, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 46. See also Mitchell v. Holmes, 1 Md. Ch. 287; Cram v. Cram, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 244.

On an accounting by executors who are also trustees, in addition to their compensation as executors, they are entitled to one-half commissions for receiving the trust fund and one half on such portions as they have paid out. Matter of Kenworthy, 63 Hun (N. Y.) 165, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 655. See also Cram v. Cram, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 244.

83. Clermontel's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 235.

Where a will contemplates that the income of the residuary estate shall be received by the trustees directly and never be held by them as executors, they are not entitled, when accounting as executors, to double commissions on unexpended income in their hands.[84] Where by will one is appointed both executor and trustee, but holds the estate as executor until it is finally settled, never having qualified as trustee, he is entitled to compensation for his services as executor.[85] An executor who is not appointed trustee by the will cannot perform self-imposed duties as such and receive compensation therefor.[86] Where a person is trustee by reason of his being executor, and voluntarily assumes control of a fund willed to minor children, he not being their guardian, he is not entitled to commissions;[87] but where an administrator having the funds of an infant in his hands is appointed his guardian he has the right as administrator to charge commissions for transferring the funds to himself as guardian, and as guardian the right to charge for receiving it.[88]

10. Waiver or Renunciation of Compensation. A personal representative, like any other trustee, may waive or renounce his claim to compensation for performance of the duties of his trust, and a promise or agreement made by him that he will not charge for his services may be regarded as equivalent to a renunciation of his claim.[89] Waiver or renunciation of a claim for compensation

84. Matter of Tucker, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 728, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 1021.

85. Schinz v. Schinz, 90 Wis. 236, 63 N. W. 162.

86. Hepburn's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 80.

87. Haglar v. McCombs, 66 N. C. 345.

88. Ex p. Witherspoon, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 13.

89. California.—Davis' Estate, 65 Cal. 309, 4 Pac. 22.

Kentucky.— Doty v. Cox, 22 S. W. 321, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 68; Bate v. Bate, 11 Bush 639, immaterial that the promise was not made to all the devisees.

Louisiana.— Regan's Succession, 43 La. Ann. 723, 9 So. 753.

Michigan.— Morton v. Johnston, 124 Mich. 561, 83 N. W. 369.

New York.— In re Hopkins, 32 Hun 618 [affirmed in 98 N. Y. 636]; In re Turfler, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 91, Pow. Surr. 421.

Pennsylvania.— Frishmuth's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 814, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 49; Mulligan's Estate, 1 Pa. Dist. 511.

South Carolina.— McCaw v. Blewit, 2 McCord Eq. 90.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2082, 2083.

Consideration.— A mere promise to make no charge of commissions, in the absence of a consideration to support it, is not binding; but when carried into execution by actual payment without deduction it becomes a gift which, except as against creditors, requires no consideration. Horwitz's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 179. See also McCawley's Estate, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 260; Barton's Estate, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 24. A promise by a person who is not entitled to administer, to serve as administrator without compensation, made to the person entitled to administer, is valid and based upon a sufficient consideration (Davis' Estate, 65 Cal. 309, 4 Pac. 22; Mott v. Fowler, 85 Md. 676, 37 Atl. 717. See also Bassett v. Miller, 8 Md. 548), but a promise not to charge commissions made by one entitled to administer to one claiming the right to do so is without consideration (Coste's Succession, 43 La. Ann. 144, 9 So. 62. See also Eversfield v. Eversfield, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 12). Benefit to the estate is a sufficient consideration for a promise of an executor to reduce his commissions. Regan's Succession, 43 La. Ann. 723, 9 So. 753. An administrator with the will annexed who in consideration of being permitted to remain such pending a contest over the validity of the will expressly agrees to relinquish all commissions cannot thereafter be heard to deny such relinquishment. McIntire v. McIntire, 14 App. Cas. (D. C.) 337, 20 App. Cas. (D. C.) 104 [affirmed in 192 U. S. 116, 24 S. Ct. 196, 48 L. ed. 369 (distinguishing Richardson v. Stansbury, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 275; Eversfield v. Eversfield, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 125)].

An intention to waive at the time of performing services will not deprive an executor of his right to compensation (King v. Whiton, 15 Wis. 684); nor when there is no agreement at the outset that a representative is to act gratuitously, will he be deprived of commissions because of a statement made long after qualifying that he did not intend to claim any compensation (Albro v. Robinson, 93 Ky. 195, 19 S. W. 587, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 124).

Withdrawal of waiver.— A waiver of commissions in a petition for letters of administration does not deprive the representative of the right to commissions where the waiver was without objection and by leave of court withdrawn before appointment. In re Carver, 123 Cal. 102, 55 Pac. 770.

Co-executor not bound.— The refusal of an executor to charge any commissions cannot prejudice the rights of his co-executor in that respect. Schoeneich v. Reed, 8 Mo. App. 356.

Evidence insufficient to show agreement to serve without compensation see Caldwell v.

need not be express but may be implied from the acts and conduct of personal representatives.[90]

11. Forfeiture or Deprivation of Compensation — a. In General. While there are a few cases holding that statutes providing for the allowance of commissions to personal representatives are imperative and that the courts are without discretion to withhold them,[91] the right to refuse compensation for proper cause is generally recognized.[92] As a general rule, however, compensation should be allowed unless there has been some act or omission calling for punishment.[93]

b. Mismanagement. An executor or administrator who has been guilty of fraud, wilful default, or gross negligence in the management of the estate may be deprived of recompense, where the estate has suffered in consequence;[94] but Hampton, 53 S. W. 14, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 793; Eversfield v. Eversfield, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 12.

90. Frishmuth's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 814, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 49.

Paying out the income received from an estate without retaining or providing for commissions has been held to constitute a waiver. Matter of Tucker, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 728, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 1021. But see Matter of Mount, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 405.

An omission to charge for services in a former settlement does not prove that the personal representative is not entitled to compensation or has waived his claim therefor. Clay v. Hart, 7 Dana (Ky.) 1.

Failure to credit.— The right to commissions is not waived by a representative's failure to credit his account with them or to appeal from a decree of the probate court in which none were allowed. Williams v. Cubage, 36 Ark. 307.

Depositing funds in safe custody.— An executor does not waive his right to commissions by depositing the securities and funds of the estate in safe custody. Hughes' Estate, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 350.

91. Handy v. Collins, 60 Md. 229, 45 Am. Rep. 725; State v. Baker, 8 Md. 44; In re Fitzgerald, 57 Wis. 508, 15 N. W. 794.

92. Allen v. Royster, 107 N. C. 278, 12 S. E. 134. See infra, XV, E, 11, b, c, d.

No compensation when no services performed.— Foster v. Foster, 71 S. W. 524, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1396; In re Manice, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 119; Matter of Pike, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 255; Kernan's Estate, 6 Kulp (Pa.) 73. See also Nicholson v. Ogden, 6 La. Ann. 486; In re Baker, 35 Hun (N. Y.) 272; In re Allen, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 7; In re Hayden, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 845, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 454; Morris v. Kent, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 175. And see supra, XV, E, 7. But see Hopkins' Succession, 33 La. Ann. 1166; Hale v. Saulter, 25 La. Ann. 320, in which cases the failure to perform services was caused by the action of the beneficiaries.

Failure to keep regular accounts.— The rule that an administrator who omits to keep regular accounts shall not be allowed commissions is not universal, although very general. Finch v. Ragland, 17 N. C. 137.

93. Montier's Estate, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 491. See also Jacobus v. Munn, 37 N. J. Eq. 48; Merkel's Estate, 131 Pa. St. 384, 18 Atl. 931; Benedict's Estate, 4 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 99; Gauff's Estate, 2 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. (Pa.) 245; Willeford v. Watson, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 476.

Mistake.— A personal representative may be entitled to compensation, although he may have made a mistake in his proceedings, provided the mistake be bona fide. In re Hoffer, 156 Pa. St. 473, 27 Atl. 11; Merkel's Estate, 131 Pa. St. 584, 18 Atl. 931; In re Brennan, 65 Pa. St. 16; Miller's Appeal, 5 Pa. Cas. 492, 8 Atl. 864 (wrong construction put on will); Heft's Appeal, 19 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 302.

Inaccurate accounts.—An executor who discharges his duty honestly but, owing to want of business training, keeps his accounts loosely and inaccurately, is entitled to compensation for his care, pains, and trouble, but the amount of compensation should not in such a case be relatively large. Hoover v. Wilson, 24 Ont. App. 424. Compare Kee v. Kee, 2 Gratt. (Va.) 116.

Failure to deposit or account for funds.— Failure to comply with a statute providing a penalty for not depositing or accounting for funds will not deprive a personal representative of his commissions, as such a statute is highly penal, and the penalty provided therein cannot be increased. Baum's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 412; Cresswell's Succession, 8 La. Ann. 122.

94. Alabama.— Ivey v. Coleman, 42 Ala. 409; Smith v. Kennard, 38 Ala. 695; Henderson v. Simmons, 33 Ala. 291, 70 Am. Dec. 590; Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Stewart v. Stewart, 31 Ala. 207; Bendall v. Bendall, 24 Ala. 295, 60 Am. Dec. 469; Gould v. Hayes, 19 Ala. 438; Emanual v. Draughn, 14 Ala. 303; Hall v. Wilson, 14 Ala. 295; Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900.

Arkansas.— See Ambleton v. Dyer, 53 Ark. 224, 13 S. W. 926.

Florida.— Eppinger v. Canepa, 20 Fla. 262.

Louisiana.— Touzanne's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 420; Liles' Succession, 24 La. Ann. 490.

Minnesota.— St. Paul Trust Co. v. Kittson, 62 Minn. 408, 64 N. W. 74.

Missouri.— State v. Berning, 74 Mo. 87.

New Jersey.— Fluck v. Lake, 54 N. J. Eq. 638, 35 Atl. 643; Brewster v. Demarest, 48 N. J. Eq. 559, 23 Atl. 271.

New York.— Matter of Rutledge, 162 N. Y. 31, 56 N. E. 511, 30 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 405, 47 unfaithful administration will not deprive a personal representative of his right to compensation for his services so far as they have been beneficial to the estate.[95]

c. Conversion, Misappropriation, or Commingling of Funds. As a rule, where the personal representative unlawfully converts or misappropriates the funds of the estate, or commingles them with his own to the detriment of the estate, he will be denied compensation;[96] but this rule is not arbitrarily applied, and, notwith-

L. R. A. 721; In re Wiley, 119 N. Y. 642, 23 N. E. 1054; Matter of Welling, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 355, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 1025; Matter of Matthewson, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 8, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 140; Stevens v. Stevens, 80 Hun 514, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 625; Matter of Ingersoll, 41 Misc. 600, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 293 [modified in 88 N. Y. Suppl. 698]; Matter of Hayes, 40 Misc. 500, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 792; Matter of Scudder, 21 Misc. 179, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 101; Matter of Conklin, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 59, 2 Connoly Surr. 176; Matter of Harnett, 15 N. Y. St. 725. See also Stevens v. Melcher, 152 N. Y. 551, 46 N. E. 965; Cook v. Lowry, 95 N. Y. 103; Matter of Yetter, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 404, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 175 [affirmed in 162 N. Y. 615, 57 N. E. 1129]; Matter of Wilbur, 27 Misc. 126, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 398. Compare Matter of Baker, 72 N. Y. App. Div. 211, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 61 [affirmed in 172 N. Y. 617, 64 N. E. 1118].

North Carolina.— Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720.

Pennsylvania.— In re Clauser, 84 Pa. St. 51; Norris' Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 106; Smith's Appeal, 47 Pa. St. 424; Berryhill's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 245; Geiger's Appeal, (1889) 16 Atl. 851, 1 Mona. 547, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. 264; In re Swartswalter, 4 Watts 77; Evans' Estate, 1 Pa. Super. Ct. 37; Unruh's Estate, 13 Phila. 337; Steger's Estate, 11 Phila. 158; Bradley's Estate, 11 Phila. 87; Sourin's Estate, 11 Phila. 14. See also Witman's Appeal, 28 Pa. St. 376.

Texas.—Chapman v. Brite, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 506, 23 S. W. 514.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2132.

In California it has been decided that the statute does not deprive a personal representative of the compensation provided by law for any fault, mismanagement, neglect, or loss resulting therefrom, but that he should be charged with losses resulting from his default or neglect and allowed his commissions. In re Carver, 123 Cal. 102, 55 Pac. 770. See also Moore's Estate, 96 Cal. 522, 31 Pac. 584; Osborn's Estate, 87 Cal. 1.

Misconduct must be wilful and exceptional. Kennedy v. Pingle, 27 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 305; Sievewright v. Leys, 1 Ont. 375.

Mere neglect of duty will not deprive a representative of his commissions. Matter of Brintnall, 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 67, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 250; Ward v. Ford, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 34.

The retention of irregular securities, causing loss, is not such a dereliction of duty as to justify a refusal of commissions. Gillespie v. Brooks, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 349.

Investments.— An administrator is entitled to no commissions when he has neglected to invest funds remaining in his hands, or has converted them to his own use. In all cases such neglect to invest funds is treated as a breach of trust, and commissions are disallowed. McKnight v. Walsh, 24 N. J. Eq. 498 [affirming 23 N. J. Eq. 136]; Frey v. Demarest, 17 N. J. Eq. 71. But see Edmonds v. Crenshaw, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 224. But it is no ground for denying an administrator compensation for his general services that he has made investments which were not authorized by statute, where they have resulted is no loss to the estate. Sanderson v. Sanderson, 20 Fla. 292.

Fraud.— Commissions may be refused when the personal representative has been guilty of wilful mismanagement with respect to the estate, although acting without fraud or bad faith. Atherton's Estate, 8 Kulp (Pa.) 150; Robinson's Estate, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 99; Steger's Estate, 33 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 416. Compare Merkel's Estate, 131 Pa. St. 384, 18 Atl. 931 [distinguishing In re Clauser, 84 Pa. St. 51; Stehman's Appeal, 5 Pa. St. 413]; Miller's Estate, 16 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 115.

Commissions refused when property of estate purchased by representative.— Darcus v. Crump, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 363; Drysdale's Appeal, 14 Pa. St. 531, fact that purchase made for himself concealed from heirs. See also Crosson's Appeal, 125 Pa. St. 380, 17 Atl. 423. But see Vance v. Gary, Rice Eq. (S. C.) 2.

95. Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 77; Campbell v. McCormick, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 504, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 281; Shinn's Estate, 166 Pa. St. 121, 30 Atl. 1026, 1030, 45 Am. St. Rep. 656. See also Jacobus v. Munn, 37 N. J. Eq. 48; Chapman v. Brite, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 506, 23 S. W. 514; Walworth v. Bartholomew, 76 Vt. 1, 56 Atl. 101; Hapgood v. Jennison, 2 Vt. 294.

96. Illinois.— In re Wincox, 85 Ill. App. 613 [affirmed in 186 Ill. 445, 57 N. E. 1073].

Missouri.— Garesche v. Levering Invest. Co., 146 Mo. 436, 48 S. W. 653, 46 L. R. A. 232.

New Jersey.— Fluck v. Lake, 54 N. J. Eq. 638, 35 Atl. 643; Frey v. Frey, 17 N. J. Eq. 71.

New York.— Matter of Wotton, 59 N. Y. App. Div. 584, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 753 [affirmed in 167 N. Y. 629, 60 N. E. 1123]; Matter of Adams, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 619, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 591 [affirmed in 166 N. Y. 623, 59 N. E. 1118]; Matter of Hobson, 61 Hun 504, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 371 [affirmed in 131 N. Y. 575, 30 N. E. 63]; Matter of Rainforth, 40 Misc. 609, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 57.

standing the misapplication or commingling of funds of the estate, compensation has been allowed in cases when no fraud or bad faith on the part of the personal representative was shown,[97] or it appeared that on the whole the estate derived benefit from his services.[98]

d. Failure to File Inventory or Accounts. Compensation is sometimes refused to personal representatives who fail to file their inventories or accounts as required by law,[99] although there are authorities holding that when a personal representa-

Pennsylvania.— Milligan's Appeal, 97 Pa. St. 525; In re Clauser, 84 Pa. St. 51; Boud's Appeal, 2 Pennyp. 241; Drake's Estate, 2 Kulp 256; Waylan's Estate, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 366, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. 375; Schmeyer's Appeal, 3 Walk. 310; Ziegler's Estate, 4 Montg. Co. Rep. 17.

Vermont.— Davis v. Eastman, 68 Vt. 225, 35 Atl. 73.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2133.

Fraudulent retention or concealment of assets a ground for refusing compensation. Badillo v. Tio, 7 La. Ann. 487; Arnold v. Blackwell, 17 N. C. 1; Davis v. Eastman, 68 Vt. 225, 37 Atl. 73.

Use of funds of the estate to speculate in claims against the estate see Matter of Rainforth, 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 609, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 57.

97. Tiner v. Christian, 27 Ark. 306; Troup v. Rice, 55 Miss. 278; Matter of Schaefer, 34 Misc. (N. Y.) 34, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 489 [modified in 65 N. Y. App. Div. 378, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 57]; Heft's Appeal, 5 Pa. Cas. 573, 9 Atl. 87; Williamson's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 64, 7 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 82 (commingling caused merely by error in bookkeeping); Sourin's Estate, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 40 (not guilty of gross neglect or fraud). See also Conway's Estate, 18 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 129.

98. Williamson's Estate, 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 221, 18 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 138 (commingling funds for benefit of estate); Walworth v. Bartholomew, 76 Vt. 1, 56 Atl. 101 (no commissions on fund commingled, but compensation for services as to other property); Foster v. Stone, 67 Vt. 336, 31 Atl. 841. See also Shinn's Estate, 166 Pa. St. 121, 30 Atl. 1026, 1030, 45 Am. St. Rep. 656.

99. Alabama.—See May v. Carlisle, 68 Ala. 135.

Florida.— Sanderson v. Sanderson, 20 Fla. 292; Eppinger v. Canepa, 20 Fla. 262; Moore v. Felkel, 7 Fla. 44.

Georgia.— It is expressly provided by statute that a personal representative who fails to make annual returns shall forfeit his commissions. Davidson v. Story, 106 Ga. 799, 32 S. E. 867; Doster v. Arnold, 60 Ga. 316; Kenan v. Hall, 8 Ga. 417; Fall v. Simmons, 6 Ga. 265.

Kentucky.— See Foster v. Foster, 71 S. W. 524, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1396; Hamilton v. Hamilton, 6 Ky. L. Rep. 95.

Massachusetts.— See Brooks v. Jackson, 125 Mass. 307.

New York.— See Matter of Matthewson, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 8, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 140; Matter of Baker, 27 Misc. 126, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 398; Eager v. Roberts, 2 Redf. Surr. 247.

North Carolina.— See Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720.

Pennsylvania.— Palmer's Estate, 2 Del. Co. 180. See also Potts' Appeal, 3 Walk. 135; Barrett's Estate, 31 Pittsb. Leg. J. 53. But see Fox's Estate, 5 Kulp 218.

Tennessee.— Horton v. Cope, 6 Lea 155; Bland v. Gollaher, (Ch. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 320. Compare Guild v. Young, (Ch. App. 1901) 62 S. W. 404; Hall v. Hall, (Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203, accounting prevented by the filing of a bill in chancery.

West Virginia.— Estill v. McClintic, 11 W. Va. 399.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2134–2136.

In South Carolina under the act of 1789 a personal representative was not entitled to commissions during the years that he neglected to make returns, there having been nothing to prevent it (Roberts v. Johns, 24 S. C. 580; Brooks v. Brooks, 12 S. C. 422; Brown v. McCall, 3 Hill 335; Vance v. Gary, Rice Eq. 2; Frazier v. Vaux, 1 Hill Eq. 203; Corbin v. Jones, Rich. Eq. Cas. 52; Wallace v. Ellerbe, Rich. Eq. Cas. 49; Gee v. Hicks, Rich. Eq. Cas. 5; Corbin v. Howell, 1 Bailey Eq. 183; Wright v. Wright, 2 McCord Eq. 185; Black v. Blakely, 2 McCord Eq. 1; Edmonds v. Crenshaw, Harp. Eq. 224; Benson v. Bruce, 4 Desauss. 463; Jenkins v. Fickling, 4 Desauss. 369; Ramsay v. Ellis, 3 Desauss. 78; Prince v. Towns, 33 Fed. 161), but since the repeal of that act by the act of 1872, which contains no provision for forfeiture in such a case, he does not therefore lose his right to commissions (Tompkins v. Tompkins, 18 S. C. 1; Davidson v. Moore, 14 S. C. 251; Lay v. Lay, 10 S. C. 208).

In Virginia prior to the passage of the act of 1867 the statute provided with some exceptions that a personal representative who failed to lay before the proper commissioner a statement of his receipts for any year, for six months after its expiration, should not be entitled to any compensation whatever for his services during that year; and the forfeiture thus prescribed was absolute (Frazier v. Frazier, 77 Va. 775; Nelson v. Page, 7 Gratt. 160; Morris v. Morris, 4 Gratt. 293; Turner v. Turner, 1 Gratt. 11; Wood v. Garnett, 6 Leigh 271. See also Moses v. Hart, 25 Gratt. 795; Boyd v. Boyd, 3 Gratt. 113); but by the statute now in force commissions in such a case are not absolutely forfeited, but may be allowed in the discretion of the court; a discretion it is true not arbitrary, but to be reasonably exercised under the circumstances of each case (Moorman v. Crock-tive has acted in good faith and no loss or injury has resulted to the estate he will not lose his compensation for a failure in this respect.[1]

e. Resignation or Removal. Personal representatives who resign or are removed are not entitled to full compensation, but should be allowed a sum commensurate with the services which they have performed, if beneficial to the estate.[2]

12. Jurisdiction, Proceedings, and Review — a. Jurisdiction — (i) In General. As a general rule questions as to the allowance of compensation are within the jurisdiction of probate courts, or courts having probate functions.[3] It has been held, however, that an appellate court may allow compensation in a case where none was claimed or allowed below,[4] or it may fix the amount of compensation where the question of compensation was not before the court below for decision on the merits, and all the parties and evidence are before the appellate court.[5] And it has also been held that where a court of equity is in possession of a suit for settling the administration of an estate it will fix the compensation.[6]

(ii) Apportionment of Commissions. It seems that probate courts usually have jurisdiction to apportion compensation among co-representatives,[7] but such courts have no jurisdiction after allowing compensation to co-representatives in a gross sum to compel one who has possessed himself of the whole amount to pay the others their shares.[8] According to some of the decisions, the remedy of one ett, 90 Va. 185, 17 S. E. 875; Trevelyan v. Lofft, 83 Va. 141, 1 S. E. 901; Brent v. Clevinger, 78 Va. 12). This statute is not applicable where the estate is being administered by the court. Fauber v. Gentry, 89 Va. 312, 15 S. E. 899.

Forfeiture for failure to file account when ordered by the court see Putnam v. Loeb, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 110, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 391; Cairns v. Hedges, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 103, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 387; Leow's Estate, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 333; West v. Providence Municipal Ct., 25 R. I. 84, 54 Atl. 926, satisfactory reasons for delay not given.

1. Gould v. Hayes, 19 Ala. 438; Craig v. McGehee, 16 Ala. 41; Birkholm v. Wardell, 42 N. J. Eq. 337, 7 Atl. 569; In re Barcalow, 29 N. J. Eq. 282; Perkins v. Caldwell, 79 N. C. 441; Van Winkle v. Blackford, 54 W. Va. 621, 46 S. E. 589.

2. California.— In re Barton, 55 Cal. 87; Ord v. Little, 3 Cal. 287.

Kentucky.— Wood v. Nelson, 10 B. Mon. 229; Frazier v. Cavanaugh, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 711.

Louisiana.—Vogel's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 81; Poindexter's Succession, 19 La. Ann. 22; Rice's Succession, 14 La. Ann. 317; Day's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 624. See also Brown's Succession, 27 La. Ann. 328 [distinguishing Lee's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 578].

Mississippi.— Sprott v. Baldwin, 34 Miss. 327; Spratt v. Baldwin, 33 Miss. 581 (full commissions when estate fully administered before letters revoked); Cherry v. Jarratt, 25 Miss. 221.

New York.— Matter of Douglas, 60 N. Y. App. Div. 64, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 687.

Wisconsin.— Brown v. McGee, 117 Wis. 389, 94 N. W. 363.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2137; and supra, XV, E, 8.

When no compensation allowed.— Where personal representatives resigned for their own convenience after having rendered very little service to the estate, it was held that they were not entitled to any compensation whatever. In re Hayden, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 845, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 454 [citing In re Baker, 35 Hun (N. Y.) 272; In re Allen, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 7].

3. Arkansas.— Ringgold v. Stone, 20 Ark. 526.

Indiana.— Cox v. Baker, 113 Ind. 62, 14 N. E. 740.

Maryland.— Hardt v. Birely, 72 Md. 134, 19 Atl. 606; Gwynn v. Dorsey, 4 Gill & J. 453; Scott v. Dorsey, 1 Harr. & J. 227.

Mississippi.— Cherry v. Jarratt, 25 Miss. 221.

United States.— West v. Smith, 8 How. 402, 12 L. ed. 1130; Smith v. Worthington, 53 Fed. 977, 4 C. C. A. 130; Atkinson v. Robbins, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 617, 5 Cranch C. C. 312; Nicholls v. Hodge, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,231, 2 Cranch C. C. 582.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2140.

Executing trusts as to realty.— Allowing compensation to an executor for executing limited and contingent trusts as to realty is not a matter within the jurisdiction of the probate court. In re Rickenbaugh, 42 Mo. App. 328.

4. Williams v. Cubage, 36 Ark. 307.

5. Hall v. Hall, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203.

6. Walton v. Avery, 22 N. C. 405; Newby v. Skinner, 21 N. C. 488, 31 Am. Dec. 397. See also Cameron v. Bethune, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 486; McLennan v. Heward, 9 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 279.

7. Hope v. Jones, 24 Cal. 89; Mount v. Slack, 39 N. J. Eq. 230; Matter of Dunkel, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 188; Markle's Estate, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 13; Davis' Estate, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 360; John's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 281.

8. Mount v. Slack, 39 N. J. Eq. 230; Wickersham's Appeal, 64 Pa. St. 67.

personal representative against another for his share of compensation is by action in the common-law courts;[9] but there also is authority to the effect that equity has jurisdiction in such a case.[10]

b. Proceedings For Allowance. No compensation will be awarded until an account is presented for settlement and an allowance asked.[11] A personal representative should not claim a gross sum for his services, but should specify the items for which he claims compensation.[12] When, however, a gross sum is allowed, the decree need not particularly specify the items for which the allowance was made.[13] It is for the personal representative to show compliance with a statutory provision upon which the allowance of compensation depends;[14] and when extra compensation is asked it is for him to show that he has rendered unusual services meriting such compensation.[15] The question of the allowance of extra compensation is for the court and not for a jury.[16]

c. Time of Allowance. The time of allowance of compensation varies; in some jurisdictions it is not allowed until the settlement of the final account of the personal representative,[17] in others it is allowed when periodical accounts are settled.[18] A probate court cannot, several months after the final settlement of an

9. Bush v. McComb, 2 Houst. (Del.) 546; Wickersham's Appeal, 64 Pa. St. 67; John's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 281.

Order allowing each representative a specified sum.— An order of the probate court, made on the application of two co-executors, for the allowance to each of a specified sum as annual compensation for his services in the management of the estate will not support an action at law in favor of one of them or his assignee against the other. Carver v. Hallett, 26 Ala. 722.

10. Speirs v. Wisner, 88 Mich. 614, 50 N. W. 654, 26 Am. St. Rep. 306. See also Huff v. Thrash, 75 Va. 546.

11. Effinger v. Richards, 35 Miss. 540.

A personal representative must present his claim for his services, in the form prescribed by the statute, to the court having jurisdiction of his decedent's estate; and upon such claim, so presented, and upon satisfactory evidence, the court may allow him just compensation. Collins v. Tilton, 58 Ind. 374.

12. Wright v. Wilkerson, 41 Ala. 267. But see Main's Appeal, 73 Conn. 638, 48 Atl. 965; Powell v. Foster, 71 Vt. 160, 44 Atl. 96; Evarts v. Nason, 11 Vt. 122.

A claim for extra services must be itemized fully, so that the court may understand the exact nature of the claim and the services rendered. Matter of Wolfe, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 220, 4 Ohio N. P. 336. See also Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262. Compare Sloan v. Duffy, 117 Wis. 480, 94 N. W. 342; Ford v. Ford, 88 Wis. 122, 59 N. W. 464.

13. In re Nuckols, 103 Mich. 297, 61 N. W. 506; Loomis v. Armstrong, 63 Mich. 355, 29 N. W. 867.

14. Knight v. Watts, 26 W. Va. 175.

15. Iowa.— Fitzgerald v. Paisley, 110 Iowa 98, 81 N. W. 181.

Kentucky.— McCracken v. McCracken, 6 T. B. Mon. 342.

Louisiana.— Young v. Chaney, 3 La. 462.

Oregon.— See Steel v. Holladay, 20 Oreg. 462, 26 Pac. 562.

Pennsylvania.— Watson's Estate, 6 Luz. Leg. Reg. 13. See also Shaw v. Betts, 2 Pa. Cas. 452, 4 Atl. 731.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2143.

Necessity for services and insufficiency of statutory compensation must be shown. In re Gloyd, 93 Iowa 303, 61 N. W. 975.

16. Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262. See also Baldwin v. Carleton, 15 La. 394.

Amount to be fixed by court.— Ford v. Ford, 88 Wis. 122, 59 N. W. 464, holding that the court may place the amount at less than any of the witnesses have testified that the services were worth. But see Logan v. Logan, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 1.

17. In re Carter, 132 Cal. 113, 64 Pac. 123 [modified in (1901) 64 Pac. 484]; Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479; Rose's Estate, 80 Cal. 166, 22 Pac. 86; In re Miner, 46 Cal. 564; Ord v. Little, 3 Cal. 287; Taveau v. Ball, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 456.

18. Mississippi.— Powell v. Burrus, 35 Miss. 605. See also Crowder v. Shackelford, 35 Miss. 321. But see Rucker v. Lambdin, 12 Sm. & M. 230; Merrill v. Moore, 7 How. 271, 40 Am. Dec. 60, both decided prior to the statute now in force.

Montana.— In re Ricker, 14 Mont. 153, 35 Pac. 960, 29 L. R. A. 622 [distinguishing In re Dewar, 10 Mont. 426, 25 Pac. 1026].

New York.— In re Selleck, 111 N. Y. 284, 19 N. E. 66; Vanderheyden v. Vanderheyden, 2 Paige 287, 21 Am. Dec. 86; Hawley v. Singer, 3 Dem. Surr. 589. See also In re Mason, 98 N. Y. 527.

Pennsylvania.— Stewart's Appeal, 110 Pa. St. 410, 6 Atl. 321; In re Parker, 64 Pa. St. 307; Callaghan v. Hall, 1 Serg. & R. 241. Compare In re Thomas, 1 Dauph. Co. Rep. 381.

Canada.— Hoover v. Wilson, 24 Ont. App. 424.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2142.

In Louisiana the entire commissions of an estate, without opening such settlement after due notice to the parties interested, make an allowance in favor of the personal representative for his services in administering the estate.[19] The subject of commissions is closed by the settlement of the administration account, so that personal representatives cannot claim commissions on charges there made, or on interest charged at the settlement of the distribution account on the balance of the administration account.[20]

d. Objections and Exceptions to Allowance. Persons interested in an award have a right within a reasonable time after the account of the personal representative has been passed to appear in the probate court and make their objections to the allowance of compensation,[21] but a person who has consented to the allowance made to a personal representative cannot thereafter object that the compensation was excessive.[22] An attaching creditor of a legatee cannot complain of the allowance of extra compensation, unless it appears that he is entitled to have the fund subjected to the payment of his claim.[23] Where the entire compensation allowed is awarded to one of two executors, distributees cannot object.[24] Under a prayer for general relief in an opposition to a personal representative's account and upon proof received without objection, the court may reject a claim for compensation, although the opposition itself does not present such an issue.[25] Where the matter of compensation is not adjudicated, it is not properly the subject of exception.[26] Where an order of reference to take and state the account of an administrator does not embrace the question of the administrator's compensation, an exception to the allowance of compensation in the master's report is well taken.[27]

e. Review. While the right to appeal from orders or decrees of probate courts as to compensation depends largely upon constitutional or statutory provisions,[28] the action of the court in allowing or refusing compensation is usually administrator are not properly exigible before the administration is terminated. Prior to this his commissions on sums received and distributed should be paid and his rights to the residue reserved for his final account. Meyer's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 871, 11 So. 532; Sparrow's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 484, 4 So. 513, 42 La. Ann. 500, 7 So. 611. See also Frantum's Succession, 3 Rob. 283.

In Maryland it has been decided that the court has the power to allow commissions, upon the assets passing through the hands of personal representatives, at different times as circumstances may require. In re Stratton, 46 Md. 551.

Reservation until complete performance of duty.— Where the final distribution of an estate by an executor is by the will deferred for a considerable time after the settlement of his account, he will not, in the allowance of commissions on that accounting, be paid for that distribution, or be paid commissions at the highest rate permitted by the statute; but the court will reserve a portion of that which it may allow for his final compensation when he shall have completely performed his duty. Conover v. Ellis, 49 N. J. Eq. 549, 25 Atl. 701. See also Pomeroy v. Mills, 35 N. J. Eq. 442.

When the estate consists of income-producing property and the circumstances are such that its settlement properly covers a number of years, it is within the discretion of the court, even in making a final settlement where no previous accounts have been rendered, to credit the services of the administrator for each year at the end of the year. Walworth v. Bartholomew, 76 Vt. 1, 56 Atl. 101.

When not made part of partial account.— If an administrator does not make commissions and counsel fees a part of his partial account, he cannot, upon the audit of such account, claim the same. They must go over for the final settlement. Shipe's Appeal, 114 Pa. St. 205, 6 Atl. 103.

When accounts drawn in question.— Allowance of commissions may be made at any time by any court before which a personal representative's accounts or settlement are drawn in question. Ladd v. Stephens, 147 Mo. 319, 48 S. W. 915.

Time for deducting.— The commissions of the administrator are to be deducted as of the date of the settlement of his account, and not as of the date of filing it. Haskin v. Teller, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 316.

19. Snider v. Graham, 14 Ohio Cir. Ct. 386, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 3.

20. In re Brinton, 10 Pa. St. 408.

21. Hardt v. Birely, 72 Md. 134, 19 Atl. 606.

22. Rambo's Estate, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 25. See also Stump's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 162.

23. Morris' Appeal, 42 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 395.

24. Claycomb v. Claycomb, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 589.

25. Hughes' Succession, 14 La. Ann. 863.

26. Bradley's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 572.

27. Hall v. Hall, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203.

28. Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262; Andress v. Andress, 46 N. J. Eq.

subject to appeal, and if erroneous may be corrected.[29] But only persons having an interest, which is injuriously affected by the order allowing compensation, can appeal therefrom,[30] and an objection as to the allowance of compensation cannot ordinarily be taken for the first time in an appellate court.[31] An appeal will usually lie from an order fixing the amount of compensation,[32] but when the amount of compensation is left to the discretion of the court its award will not be interfered with, unless it appears that there has been a manifest abuse of such discretion.[33] A finding of the lower court as to the value of assets for the purpose of estimating commissions will not be disturbed when there is evidence to support such valuation.[34] The action of the court in the allowance of compensation will not be reviewed, where the facts on which it acted do not appear in the record.[35] Although the lower court has erred in allowing compensation,[36] or in refusing to allow it,[37] its decree may be affirmed, if under the circumstances of the case the error is harmless.

528, 22 Atl. 124; Pomeroy v. Mills, 37 N. J. Eq. 578; Anderson v. Berry, 15 N. J. Eq. 232.

In California it has been decided that an order denying a motion to vacate an order, denying a petition of an executor for allowance of compensation for extraordinary services and to restore the petition to the calendar, is not an appealable order, as it is not mentioned in the statute regulating the right to appeal in probate proceedings. Walkerly's Estate, 94 Cal. 352, 29 Pac. 719.

In Kentucky an appeal lies to the court of chancery from an order of the county court making an allowance to an administrator. Stanberry v. Robinson, 27 S. W. 973, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 309.

29. Anderson v. Berry, 15 N. J. Eq. 232; Shepard v. Parker, 35 N. C. 103; Ex p. Haughton, 14 N. C. 441. See also Burns v. Ford, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 507; In re Alexander, 31 Ont. 167, by statute.

Action on failure to settle accounts.— The discretion of the court to allow or refuse commissions to a personal representative who has failed to settle his accounts is reviewable on appeal. Trevelyan v. Lofft, 83 Va. 141, 1 S. E. 901; Brent v. Clevinger, 78 Va. 12.

30. Hoffar v. Stonestreet, 6 Md. 303; Andress v. Andress, 46 N. J. Eq. 528, 22 Atl. 124.

31. Perret's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 86; Estill v. McClintic, 11 W. Va. 399. See also Zentner v. Schinz, 90 Wis. 236, 63 N. W. 162.

32. Hawkins v. Cunningham, 67 Mo. 415 (as the compensation is not within the discretion of the court); Pomeroy v. Mills, 37 N. J. Eq. 578; Anderson v. Berry, 15 N. J. Eq. 232; Green v. Barbee, 84 N. C. 69; Shepard v. Parker, 35 N. C. 103.

Review not a matter of right.— Wetherill's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 273.

33. Alabama.— Noble v. Jackson, 132 Ala. 230, 31 So. 450.

California.— In re Hedrick, 127 Cal. 184, 59 Pac. 590.

District of Columbia.—Sinnott v. Kenaday, 14 App. Cas. 1.

Florida.— Sanderson v. Sanderson, 20 Fla. 292.

Illinois.— Askew v. Hudgens, 99 Ill. 468.

Kentucky.— Cabell v. Cabell, 1 Metc. 319; Wood v. Lee, 5 T. B. Mon. 50; Ramsay v. Ramsay, 4 T. B. Mon. 151; Quaintance v. Darnell, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 238.

Maryland.— Dalrymple v. Gamble, 68 Md. 156, 11 Atl. 718; Handy v. Collins, 60 Md. 229, 45 Am. Rep. 725; Wilson v. Wilson, 3 Gill & J. 20.

Michigan.— Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262; Mower's Appeal, 48 Mich. 441, 12 N. W. 646.

Mississippi.— Powell v. Burrus, 35 Miss. 605; Satterwhite v. Littlefield, 13 Sm. & M. 302.

Montana.— In re Ford, 29 Mont. 283, 74 Pac. 735, allowance to special administrator.

New Jersey.— Anderson v. Berry, 15 N. J. Eq. 232.

New York.— See Riggs v. Cragg, 26 Hun 89 [reversed on another ground in 89 N. Y. 479].

North Carolina.—Green v. Barbee, 84 N. C. 69; Walton v. Avery, 22 N. C. 405. See also Whitted v. Webb, 22 N. C. 442; Ex p. Naughton, 14 N. C. 441 [overruling Potter v. Stone, 9 N. C. 331].

Oregon.— In re McCullough, 31 Oreg. 86, 49 Pac. 886.

Pennsylvania.— Davis' Appeal, 100 Pa. St. 201; Twaddell's Appeal, 81* Pa. St. 221. See also Laubach's Estate, 9 Kulp 150; Scheidt's Estate, 2 Woodw. 355.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2147.

Presumption that allowance properly made. — In the absence of anything to the contrary, it will be presumed that the compensation awarded was rightfully allowed (Patterson v. Bell, 25 Iowa 149; McCracken v. McCracken, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 342), but the allowance of a reasonable compensation and expenses to an administrator cannot be presumed in the absence of any showing in the record as to whether they were allowed or not (Dromgoole v. Smith, 78 Va. 665).

34. Glover v. Holliday, 109 Mo. 108, 18 S. W. 1133.

35. Ex p. Hodge, 6 Ind. App. 487, 33 N. E. 980; Morris' Appeal, 42 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 395.

36. Webster v. Webster, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 302.

37. Bates v. Vary, 40 Ala. 421.

F. Stating and Settling Accounts — 1. Form and Requisites — a. In General. No special form is generally required for the account of a personal representative,[38] but such an account should present briefly a clear and definite statement of the conduct of the administration.[39] The account should ordinarily be stated in the form of debits and credits[40] and the receipts and disbursements should be itemized.[41] In stating an account the income or interest should be sepa-

38. Solomons v. Kursheedt, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 307. See also Sackett v. Wilson, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 85; Weir v. Monahan, 67 Miss. 434, 7 So. 291; Henshaw v. Robertson, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 311, holding that where a party is ordered to render "a full and fair account" it is no objection to the account presented that it is in a book which contains a variety of other matters.

39. Georgia.— See Davis v. Brookins, 53 Ga. 282.

Kentucky.— See McCracken v. McCracken, 6 T. B. Mon. 342.

Louisiana.— Lacroix's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 366; Hickman v. Flenniken, 12 La. Ann. 268. And see Kendrick's Succession, 7 Rob. 138.

New Jersey.— See Morgan v. Morgan, 48 N. J. Eq. 399, 22 Atl. 545.

New York.— Sheldon v. Wright, 7 Barb. 39; Solomons v. Kursheedt, 3 Dem. Surr. 307; Bullard v. Benson, 1 Dem. Surr. 486 (as to showing amount of residuary estate); In re Jones, 1 Redf. Surr. 263. See also Matter of Phyfe, 5 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 331.

Pennsylvania.— Marshall's Estate, 34 Pittsb. Leg. J. 382.

South Carolina.— See Lewis v. Price, 3 Rich. Eq. 172.

Tennessee.— See Read v. Franklin, (Ch. App. 1900) 60 S. W. 215.

Virginia.— See Cary v. Macon, 4 Call 605.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2150.

The correct form of presenting an account of administration is to charge the accountant with the inventory and appraisement, and all moneys received since filing the same, together with any excess over the appraised value realized by the sale of personal property and any proper surcharges. Credit is then to be allowed for preferred debts, expense of administration, allowance to widow, loss on appraisement, and debts of decedent, if undisputed, and then the true balance for distribution will appear. Squire's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 110.

Where notes and accounts are contained in the inventory of a decedent's estate, the settlement with the administrator should show distinctly which of them have been collected; and, as to those which have not been collected, the causes of the failure to collect them should be satisfactorily explained. Steele v. Morrison, 4 Dana (Ky.) 617.

Sales of realty.— It seems that where by will a personal representative is given full authority to dispose of the real estate of the deceased without further proceedings in court relating thereto, either asking for sale or confirmation of the same, it is proper to require the personal representative in making his account to set out with reasonable fulness all such sales, giving the date of the sale, the location of the land, the amount sold, and the name of the purchaser. When, however, the personal representative must secure the order of the court for the sale of his decedent's estate and report and have confirmed the sale of the same, all matters being matters of record and accessible at all times, the account need not be so specific. In re Williamson, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 24, 4 Ohio N. P. 282.

As to what an intermediate account should state see In re Dwight, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 927, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 180.

A list of all the unpaid claims against the estate and of the names and residences of persons interested in the estate may be required of a personal representative on filing his account, under the Pennsylvania act of 1832. Fettig's Estate, 5 Kulp (Pa.) 152.

In Louisiana an account should declare the nature of the claims of the creditors, and their names and residences should be mentioned. Gautier's Succession, 8 La. Ann. 451.

40. Duncan v. Tobin, Cheves Eq. (S. C.) 143, 34 Am. Dec. 605; Pulliam v. Pulliam, 10 Fed. 23. See also Maxwell v. McCreery, 57 N. J. Eq. 287, 41 Atl. 498; Whitlock v. Whitlock, 13 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 165.

Scaling.— During the period of paper money, all sums of debit and credit in an administration account ought to be stated in due order of time, and to stand as nominally entered, without scaling, when the executor is debtor; but, when there is an excess, it should be scaled. Cary v. Macon, 4 Call (Va.) 605.

41. Thurmond v. Sanders, 21 Ark. 255; Hutchinson's Appeal, 34 Conn. 300; Fairman's Appeal, 30 Conn. 205; Swan v. Wheeler, 4 Day (Conn.) 137. And see Matter of Hunt, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 159, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 538.

In Oregon the statute requires that the final account of an administrator shall contain a detailed statement of the amount of money received and expended by him, from whom received, and to whom paid, and refer to the vouchers for such payments. See In re Osburn, 36 Oreg. 8, 58 Pac. 521; In re Partridge, 31 Oreg. 297, 51 Pac. 82.

Items of expenditure may be expressed in general terms. Liddel v. McVickar, 11 N. J. L. 44, 19 Am. Dec. 369. See also Wheaton v. Pope, 91 Minn. 299, 97 N. W. 1046; In re McCullough, 31 Oreg. 86, 49 Pac. 886.

Kind of money received.— A representative may be required to specify in his account the kind of money received by him as the prop-rated from the principal.[42] Expenses of administration and the representative's compensation need not be included in the account, as they are claims which are to be ascertained and adjusted by the court.[43] The account of a domiciliary personal representative as to property in another state, where he has taken out ancillary letters of administration, should be rendered by obtaining a certified copy of the account rendered in the other state, with a certificate of the proper court that the same has been examined, allowed, and confirmed, and that the original account and necessary vouchers are on file.[44] When an account as presented is not sufficiently specific, or is otherwise defective, it may be amended by order of court[45] and mistakes in accounts may be corrected on their settlement.[46] The court cannot command the conscience of the personal representative, so as to compel him to conform his returns under oath to the views of the court. It is for the representative to make returns; the court judges their effect.[47]

b. Blending or Separating Accounts. Blending into one account the transactions of an accountant as administrator with the will annexed and as trustee under appointment by the court is irregular, tends to confusion, and will not be allowed.[48] Neither should the account of an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed be blended with the account of the first executor.[49] Where a will creates several distinct trusts in the executors, a separate account should be rendered as to each of such trusts.[50] In a suit by wards and distributees against their father's executors and their guardian for an account, there should be a separate account taken with each distributee and ward.[51] Separate estates cannot be blended by the consent of persons interested therein and only one account rendered and one settlement effected.[52] An account cannot be rejected merely because it mingles statements as to the proceeds of real property with statements as to personal property;[53] but where sureties on an administration bond are not responsible for the proceeds of realty,[54] separate accounts of personalty and of the proceeds of realty should be rendered, when on a settlement the liability of such sureties is to be determined.[55]

erty of the estate. Magraw v. McGlynn, 26 Cal. 420.

Details of continued business of decedent. — Where an administrator, without authority, continues the business of his intestate, he need not state the details of the business in his account, since it becomes his individual business. Matter of Munzor, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 374, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 818.

42. Rankin's Estate, 9 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 407; Evans' Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 113.

Dividends on railroad and bank-stock, declared after a decedent's death, should be credited to the income of the estate, and not to the principal, in the account. Cassady's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 365.

43. Lund v. Lund, 41 N. H. 355; Matter of Kane, 64 N. Y. App. Div. 566, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 333; Matter of Collyer, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 297, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 546. But see Coggin's Appeal, 3 Walk. (Pa.) 426.

44. In re Phelps, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 13, 2 Wkly. L. Gaz. 120.

45. California.— Hirschfeld v. Cross, 67 Cal. 661, 8 Pac. 507.

Maine.— See Pettingill v. Pettingill, 60 Me. 411, 64 Me. 350.

Michigan.— Jackson v. Leech, 113 Mich. 391, 71 N. W. 846 (amended on appeal to circuit court); Loomis v. Armstrong, 63 Mich. 355, 29 N. W. 867.

New Jersey.— Maxwell v. McCreery, 57 N. J. Eq. 287, 41 Atl. 498.

New York.— Matter of Munzor, 4 Misc. 374, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 818.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2150.

46. Russell v. Wheeler, 129 Mich. 41, 88 N. W. 73; James v. Craighead, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241.

Alteration by court.— The orphans' court has no authority to make alterations in the account of an administrator by striking out items on both sides of the account and interlining others, but still preserving in the aspect of the account such an appearance as would indicate that the administrator had sworn to the account as altered, when as a matter of fact he had not; but the court should proceed to state the account de novo. Eakin v. Brick, 16 N. J. L. 98.

47. Trotter v. Trotter, 40 Miss. 704.

48. Simon's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 59.

49. Hamaker's Estate, 5 Watts (Pa.) 204.

50. Frame v. Willets, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 368.

51. Duncan v. Petty, 3 Dana (Ky.) 223.

52. Richardson v. Richardson, 24 Ala. 395.

53. In re Place, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 276.

54. See infra, XVII, B, 8.

55. Baldwin's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 315. See also Strother v. Hull, 23 Gratt. (Va.) 652.

c. Verification. Accounts of personal representatives should be duly verified.[56]

2. Objections and Exceptions — a. In General. If a person interested in an estate wishes to contest an account presented for settlement by the executor or administrator, he must make proper objections and take proper exceptions.[57] But whether exceptions are filed or not, the court should carefully examine every account presented for settlement and be satisfied that it is in every respect practically correct before entering an order settling it.[58] A question which is not adjudicated on an accounting is not properly the subject of an exception.[59]

b. Form and Sufficiency. Exceptions must be taken in the manner provided by statute,[60] and it is sometimes required that the exceptions be filed in writing.[61]

56. Louisiana.— See Rabasse's Succession, 50 La. Ann. 746, 23 So. 910.

Massachusetts.— Bailey v. Blanchard, 12 Pick. 166.

New York.— Matter of Kane, 64 N. Y. App. Div. 566, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 333; Westervelt v. Gregg, 1 Barb. Ch. 469; Gardner v. Gardner, 7 Paige 112 [reversed in 22 Wend. 526]; Williams v. Purdy, 6 Paige 166; Kellett v. Rathbun, 4 Paige 102. But see Sheldon v. Wright, 7 Barb. 39 [affirmed in 5 N. Y. 497].

Pennsylvania.— Case's Estate, 1 Kulp 307, verification by representative's attorney insufficient.

South Carolina.— Duncan v. Tobin, Cheves Eq. 143, 34 Am. Dec. 605. But see Henshaw v. Robertson, Bailey Eq. 311, holding the omission of a formal affidavit immaterial if the personal representative attends in person and is examined on oath as to his account.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2152.

Where there are several personal representatives the affidavit of one of them to the truth of the account is sufficient. Kennedy v. Wachsmuth, 12 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 171, 14 Am. Dec. 676.

57. In re More, 121 Cal. 635, 54 Pac. 148; Matter of Hart, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 516, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 239. See also Matter of Fithian, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 193, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 187; In re Jacoby, 201 Pa. St. 442, 50 Atl. 935; Wilbur's Estate, 9 Kulp (Pa.) 327. Compare Moore's Estate, 96 Cal. 522, 31 Pac. 584.

If the objections filed are insufficient, the surrogate may allow further objections to be filed from time to time, and it seems that a referee has the power to entertain a motion to amend an objection and to allow a further objection. Boughton v. Flint, 74 N. Y. 476; Fithian's Estate, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 52.

Technical objections.— Some injury must be shown before one, although interested in the estate, will be permitted to object to a final account, because some technical requirement has been imperfectly complied with. In re Conser, 40 Oreg. 138, 66 Pac. 607.

Confirmation when no opposition.— In Louisiana when legal notices of the filing of the representative's account have been given and the legal delays for opposition have expired, any party in interest may obtain a judgment homologating the account. Rabasse's Succession, 50 La. Ann. 746, 23 So. 910. See also Moise's Succession, 107 La. 717, 31 So. 990.

Subsequently discovered errors.— If the account of an executor or administrator, under a citation from a surrogate, is produced properly authenticated, the adverse party should be called upon by the surrogate to state his objections, if any; but such objections do not absolutely conclude the party from further objecting, if, in the course of the investigation, errors in the account are discovered, which the party objecting had no means of knowing at the time when he was called upon to object to the account. Gardner v. Gardner, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 112 [reversed in 22 Wend. 526].

Demurrer.— In Indiana the statute provides that exceptions may be filed to an administration account, but does not authorize an answer to such exceptions, and hence no question can be raised by a demurrer to such pleading. Dohle v. Stults, 92 Ind. 540.

58. Waller v. Ray, 48 Ala. 468; In re Willey, 140 Cal. 238, 73 Pac. 998; In re Franklin, 133 Cal. 584, 65 Pac. 1081; In re More, 121 Cal. 635, 54 Pac. 148; In re Spanier, 120 Cal. 698, 53 Pac. 357; Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753. See also Jones v. Graham, 36 Ark. 383; Slaughter v. Slaughter, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 482.

59. Bradley's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 572.

60. Blackwell v. Blackwell, 29 N. J. Eq. 576.

61. Cummings v. Bradley, 57 Ala. 224; In re Marre, 127 Cal. 128, 59 Pac. 385 (written objections waived); More's Estate, 121 Cal. 635, 54 Pac. 148; Von Hoven's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 911, 15 So. 391. Compare Kennedy's Estate, 120 Cal. 458, 52 Pac. 820, holding that it is not improper for the court to listen to objections to such an account in advance of the filing of written objections.

An opposition in the form of an answer in writing is sometimes filed. In re Halleck, 49 Cal. 111 (holding that one who files an opposition to the settlement of the final account of an executor and to a decree of distribution on the ground that he has a contingent claim against the estate must state in his opposition facts showing that such claim exists); Bothick's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 613, 17 So. 198; Milmo's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 126, 16 So. 772; Sparrow's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 696, 2 So. 501; Commagere's Succession, 38 La. Ann. 830; Bofenschen's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 711 (holding

When a person interested in a decedent's estate is not satisfied with the account of the personal representative, he must point out to the court clearly and specifically the ground of his objections;[62] and whether or not exceptions filed are sufficiently specific must be determined from the circumstances of the case.[63]

c. Time For Making Objections and Filing Exceptions. The law usually designates a period within which opposition must be made, particularly in excepting to an allowance, and one who objects or excepts should comply with such a requirement.[64]

d. Persons Entitled to Object. Any person interested in the disposition of the property of a decedent embraced in an administration account may object or file exceptions to its allowance.[65] Legatees and distributees come within the scope of that if the opposition does not contain a general clause indicating opposition to the whole account, the opponent will be confined in his contestation to those items specifically mentioned); Barbour's Succession, 17 La. Ann. 133; Foster's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 479; Filhiol v. Hempkin, 16 La. 326.

62. Alabama.—Robertson v. Black, 74 Ala. 322; Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

California.— In re More, 121 Cal. 635, 54 Pac. 148.

Illinois.— Elder v. Whittemore, 51 Ill. App. 662.

Indiana.— Conger v. Babcock, 87 Ind. 497; Christie v. Wade, 87 Ind. 294.

New Jersey.— Holcomb v. Holcomb, 11 N. J. Eq. 281.

New York.— Metzger v. Metzger, 1 Bradf. Surr. 265.

Pennsylvania.— Harned's Estate, 10 Kulp 183.

Tennessee.— Guild v. Young, (Ch. App. 1901) 62 S. W. 404.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2164.

Items excepted to must be specifically stated. Elder v. Whittemore, 51 Ill. App. 662; Birkholm v. Wardell, 42 N. J. Eq. 337, 7 Atl. 569; Reeside v. Reeside, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 507. But see Peck v. Sherwood, 56 N. Y. 615.

Surcharging or falsifying.— It is a well settled rule in equity that one who objects to a stated account must surcharge or falsify, that is, must allege an omission in the account or deny the correctness of some or of all the items rendered. An account rendered by a personal representative is a stated account within the meaning of this rule. Tate v. Gairdner, 119 Ga. 133, 46 S. E. 73. See also Carey v. Monroe, 54 N. J. Eq. 632, 35 Atl. 456.

Credit illegal in part.— On the settlement of the accounts of an administrator, where a credit claimed is legal in part, and in part illegal, an exception to the allowance of such credit need not point out what part is illegal. Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

63. Thompson v. Mott, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 154. See also In re McEvoy, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 207, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 71.

64. Delaware.— Larkin v. Sims, 2 Pennew. (Del.) 543, 46 Atl. 750; Allen v. Leach, 7 Del. Ch. 83, 29 Atl. 1050.

Louisiana.— Ball v. Ball, 42 La. Ann. 204, 7 So. 567; Scott's Succession, 41 La. Ann. 668, 6 So. 792; Bellande's Succession, 41 La. Ann. 491, 6 So. 505; Price's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 905 (opposition filed at any time before homologation of account); Ostrander's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 450; Hogan's Succession, 25 La. Ann. 331; Macarty's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 383; Chiasson v. Dupuy, 9 La. 57; Longbottom v. Babcock, 9 La. 44; Marchand v. Caurlier, 4 La. 299; McCombs v. Dunbar, 3 La. 517.

Mississippi.— If a probate judge states an executor's account in vacation, when it comes forward for allowance and confirmation in term-time, exceptions may be filed to it in court; or, if the account is stated by a commissioner to whom it has been referred, it may in like manner be excepted to in court when it is presented for allowance and confirmation. Smith v. Hurd, 8 Sm. & M. 682.

New York.—Matter of Von Glahn, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 164, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 865; Matter of Ferrigan, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 920 [affirmed in 160 N. Y. 689, 55 N. E. 1095].

Texas.— Houston v. Mayes, 66 Tex. 297, 17 S. W. 729, at any time before any application or other proceeding is decided by the court opposition may be filed thereto in writing. See also Walker v. Kerr, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 498, 27 S. W. 299.

Virginia.— Morriss v. Garland, 78 Va. 215, practice to allow exceptions to be taken to report of commissioners, appointed to effect a settlement of estate at any time before the case is heard on it.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2162.

65. Alabama.— Spear v. Banks, 125 Ala. 227, 27 So. 979.

California.— In re Spanier, 120 Cal. 698, 53 Pac. 357 (administrator may contest the account of his predecessor); Rose's Estate, 66 Cal. 241, 5 Pac. 220, guardian.

Indiana.— Swift v. Harley, 20 Ind. App. 614, 49 N. E. 1069.

Maryland.— Helms v. Franciscus, 2 Bland 544, 20 Am. Dec. 402.

Montana.— In re Barker, 26 Mont. 279, 67 Pac. 941.

New Jersey.— Dunham v. Marsh, 52 N. J. Eq. 831, 31 Atl. 619; Poulson v. Frenchtown Nat. Bank, 33 N. J. Eq. 618, account of discharged or removed representative.

New York.— Buchan v. Rintoul, 70 N. Y. 1.

Pennsylvania.— Tracy's Estate, 13 Montg. Co. Rep. 30.

this rule,[66] and a creditor may be a person interested, and so entitled to contest such an account.[67] So also an executor or administrator may contest the account of his co-representative.[68] But where one who objects or excepts has no interest therein his intervention will not be permitted,[69] and one who claims property as belonging to himself and not to the estate of the decedent cannot make objection.[70]

e. Estoppel and Waiver. One may as a result of his acts or agreements be estopped to make objections to or to contest the account of a personal representative,[71] and one who has been paid by a personal representative considerably more

Texas.— Houston v. Mayes, 66 Tex. 297, 17 S. W. 729.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2158.

Effect of reversal of decree by appellate court.— The reversal by the appellate court of a decree settling the account of an administrator sets aside such settlement and thereafter any person interested in the estate may appear in the lower court and file exceptions to the account. Rose's Estate, 66 Cal. 241, 5 Pac. 220.

66. Ames' Succession, 33 La. Ann. 1317; Barbour's Succession, 17 La. Ann. 133; Dampf's Appeal, 97 Pa. St. 371. Compare Hope's Estate, 34 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 251.

Residuary legatees who have no vested rights in the annual profits of an estate have no right to question the account of an executor as to such profits. Martin's Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 433. A residuary legatee is not a claimant against an estate within the meaning of the Oregon statute, but if he were he would have to show some injury before he would be permitted to object to a final account, because some technical requirement has been imperfectly complied with. Conser's Estate, 40 Oreg. 138, 66 Pac. 607.

67. Alabama.— Byrd v. Jones, 84 Ala. 336, 4 So. 375.

California.— See In re Fisher, (1895) 42 Pac. 237.

Louisiana.— Sterry's Succession, 38 La. Ann. 854; Glover's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 4. See also Cabouret's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 520, some proof of being a creditor necessary.

Missouri.— Wilson v. Ruthrauff, 82 Mo. App. 435.

New Jersey.—See U. S. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Chesley, 63 N. J. Eq. 219, 49 Atl. 718.

New York.— Martine's Estate, 11 Abb. N. Cas. 50.

Pennsylvania. — See Reese's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 272, 9 Atl. 315.

Wisconsin.— See Robinson v. Hodgkin, 99 Wis. 327, 74 N. W. 791.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2160.

Extent of right.— A creditor has no right to oppose each and every item on a tableau of distribution in a thoroughly solvent succession, where, after an amount amply sufficient to meet his claim has been retained, the payment of such items cannot possibly affect or injure him. Gohs' Succession, 37 La. Ann. 428.

A creditor whose claim is barred by reason of his failure to file it within the time prescribed by statute has no interest in an estate which will entitle him to object to an administration account. Schrichte v. Stite, 127 Ind. 472, 26 N. E. 77, 1009. But compare Martin's Estate, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 50.

A creditor of a distributee has not such an interest in the decedent's estate as authorizes him to contest an administration account. Owens v. Thurmond, 40 Ala. 289.

The mere allegation that one is a creditor of an estate is conclusive for the purpose of entitling him to be heard under a statute giving creditors the right to contest the account of a personal representative. Matter of Miles, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 147, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 368 [reversed on other grounds in 61 N. Y. App. Div. 562, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 71].

68. Mead v. Willoughby, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 364; Matter of Ritch, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 330. Compare Eager v. Roberts, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 247, holding that an executor who has performed no duties in settling the estate has no standing in court to object to the correctness of the account of his co-executor.

69. Kentucky.— Bailey v. Furnish, 3 Dana 455.

Louisiana.—Poret's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 157.

Mississippi.— Byrd v. Wells, 40 Miss. 711, a remainder-man cannot except to an allowance which affects merely the beneficiaries for life.

Nebraska.— Tunnicliffe v. Fox, (1903) 94 N. W. 1032.

New York.— See Matter of Sudds, 75 N. Y. App. Div. 612, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 413.

Pennsylvania.— Law's Estate, 140 Pa. St. 444, 21 Atl. 429 [affirming 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 296]; Herbein's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 449; Stevens' Estate, 3 Lanc. L. Rev. 170.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2158.

70. Cathey v. Kerr, 15 La. Ann. 228.

71. Arkansas.— See Jacoway v. Hall, 67 Ark. 340, 55 S. W. 12.

District of Columbia.— See Sinnott v. Kenaday, 14 App. Cas. 1 [reversed on other grounds in 179 U. S. 606, 21 S. Ct. 233, 45 L. ed. 339].

Kentucky.— Harber v. Green, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 594.

Louisiana.— Brownlee's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 917, 11 So. 590; Ross' Succession, 1 La. Ann. 129.

New Jersey.— Pursel v. Pursel, 14 N. J. Eq. 514.

than he had any right to claim from him is not in a position to complain of his accounts.[72] A person appealing generally from the allowance of an administration account is bound to make all objections to the account as it then stands and if he fails to object to an item he waives his objection to it.[73]

f. Exceptions to Partial Accounts. Any account filed by a personal representative is open to be excepted to at the final settlement, and it is not necessary that exceptions should be taken previously, although it may sometimes be expedient to file exceptions to the different accounts as they are from time to time settled,[74] and exceptions, although not groundless, may be overruled where in the judgment of the court they would be more properly exhibited against the final than against a mere partial account.[75] When persons prefer exceptions to a partial account and withdraw them before its confirmation, they have no right to prefer the same exceptions to a subsequent account, but such withdrawal will not prevent other persons from making the same exception.[76]

3. Hearing and Reference — a. In General. The proceedings on the filing of exceptions to an administration account are in the nature of a suit[77] in equity.[78] Whenever applicable the rules of procedure in civil cases should be applied,[79] but in most matters arising in such a proceeding strict formality is not required.[80] The personal representative stands as plaintiff and the objector as defendant in such proceedings,[81] and the former has the right to open and conclude.[82] Such proceedings may be continued for proper cause[83] or stayed pending the determina-

Pennsylvania.— Ginginger's Estate, 2 Woodw. 206; Dolph's Estate, 3 Luz. Leg. Reg. 146.

Virginia.— Radford v. Fowlkes, 85 Va. 820, 8 S. E. 817.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2163; and Estoppel, 16 Cyc. 793.

A previous objection made on an accounting by executors that they could not account in the surrogate's court for the proceeds of realty does not estop the objecting parties to afterward claim that such proceeds were personalty, and to demand an accounting. Bolton v. Myers, 83 Hun (N. Y.) 259, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 588.

Circumstances not amounting to estoppel. — Where the administrator of an estate sells a crop of cotton belonging to the estate on credit, and takes from the purchaser, who afterward becomes insolvent, a note without sureties, and the husband of one of the distributees actually assists in making the sale, but it is not shown that he knew of or approved the taking of the notes without sureties, she will not be estopped from objecting to the note as a credit to the administrator in final settlement. Walls v. Grigsby, 42 Ala. 473. A legatee is not estopped to contest a charge which is made against him by advice of his attorney, who without his knowledge is also attorney for the personal representative. In re Cummings, 120 Iowa 421, 94 N. W. 1117. The failure of a creditor of a decedent to object to certain acts of the administrator, it not appearing that he knew his rights, or that his failure to object influenced the administrator's conduct, creates no estoppel in the creditor to object to the accounts of the administrator. Crum v. Meeks, 128 Ind. 360, 27 N. E. 722.

72. Williams v. Rhodes, 81 Ill. 571.

73. Clement's Appeal, 49 Conn. 519.

74. Steele v. Knox, 10 Ala. 608; Dement v. Heth, 45 Miss. 388; Picot v. O'Fallon, 35 Mo. 29, 86 Am. Dec. 134; In re Walker, 3 Rawle (Pa.) 243. But see Weaver's Estate, 5 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) Jan. 24, 1874.

75. Tracy v. Card, 2 Ohio St. 431.

76. Light's Appeal, 22 Pa. St. 445.

77. Gray v. Harris, 43 Miss. 421.

Special findings of fact.— While the proceeding to test the correctness of a personal representative's account is not in a broad and technical sense a civil action, yet the report and the exceptions from both issues of fact and of law for the court to determine, and the court may make a special finding of facts and state its conclusion of law thereon. Swift v. Harley, 20 Ind. App. 614, 49 N. E. 1069. See also Taylor v. Wright, 93 Ind. 121; Taylor v. McGrew, 29 Ind. App. 324, 64 N. E. 651.

A rule is not the proper mode to dispose of an opposition of heirs to a tableau of distribution when excepted to. Barbour's Succession, 17 La. Ann. 133.

78. In re Danforth, 66 Mo. App. 586; In re Meeker, 45 Mo. App. 186. See also Loomis v. Armstrong, 49 Mich. 521, 14 N. W. 505.

79. Goodbub v. Hornung, 127 Ind. 181, 26 N. E. 770.

80. Goodbub v. Hornung, 127 Ind. 181, 26 N. E. 770. See also Anderson v. Gregg, 44 Miss. 170; Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 419.

81. Brownlee v. Hare, 64 Ind. 311.

82. Taylor v. Burk, 91 Ind. 252. See also Yingling v. Hesson, 16 Md. 112.

83. Neill v. Hodge, 5 Tex. 487. See also Baillio v. Wilson, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 334.

Continuance when account amended see Hasley's Succession, 27 La. Ann. 586.

tion of an independent suit over matters arising in connection therewith.[84] In proceedings on the settlement of estates such entries should be made as to show at whose instance settlements are ordered, what representatives appear before the court, and who claim under the estate and are actors in the cause.[85]

b. Submission of Issues to Jury. Issues of fact arising in an accounting proceeding in a probate court should generally be determined by the court and not submitted to a jury.[86] There may, however, be cases in which it is very desirable to submit an issue arising on a settlement of an account to a jury, and in such cases the court may doubtless frame an issue for the jury,[87] but the verdict will even then be only advisory to the court.[88]

c. Matters to Be Determined. The matters usually determined on an accounting are the amount of assets with which the personal representative should be charged,[89] the justness and legality of credits claimed against the estate arising from the payment of debts of the decedent, funeral expenses, statutory allowances, and the expenses of administration,[90] and whether the personal representative has managed the affairs of the estate with good faith and ordinary prudence.[91] Beyond these matters it is generally unnecessary to extend investigation. Irregularities which have not been prejudicial to the estate should not be inquired into,[92]

84. Troxler's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 738, 15 So. 153. See also John's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 311.

The pendency of an action to recover certain lands alleged to belong to testator is not ground for staying proceedings on exceptions to the account of the executor. Matter of Benedict, 15 N. Y. St. 746.

85. Portis v. Creagh, 4 Port. (Ala.) 332.

86. Alabama.— Kirksey v. Kirksey, 41 Ala. 626. See also Harris v. Martin, 9 Ala. 895. But see Savage v. Dickson, 16 Ala. 256; Reynolds v. Reynolds, 11 Ala. 1023; Willis v. Willis, 9 Ala. 330.

California.— Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753.

Illinois.— Boyd v. Swallows, 59 Ill. App. 635.

Indiana.— Taylor v. Wright, 93 Ind. 121. Compare Clouser v. Ruckman, 89 Ind. 65; Hamlyn v. Nesbit, 37 Ind. 284.

Louisiana.— Bozant's Succession, 5 La. Ann. 709.

Missouri.— Schooler v. Stark, 73 Mo. App. 301; McClelland v. McClelland, 42 Mo. App. 32. See also In re Meeker, 45 Mo. App. 186.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2184.

Contra.— In re Atwood, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 74 [citing Pegg v. Warford, 4 Md. 385]; Barroll v. Reading, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 175.

On an appeal from the probate to the circuit court the parties have a right to a trial by jury. Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262; Grovier v. Hall, 23 Mich. 7.

Matters discretionary with court.— The question of the allowance of an item, the allowance or disallowance of which is entirely discretionary with the court, is not a proper subject for an issue for a jury. Maynadier v. Armstrong, 98 Md. 175, 56 Atl. 357; Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262; Mower's Appeal, 48 Mich. 441, 12 N. W. 646; Showers v. Morrill, 41 Mich. 700, 3 N. W. 193.

Issue of law not to be submitted.— The question whether an amount paid by an administrator out of assets in his hands should be placed to his credit is one of law and not of fact, and should not be submitted to a jury. Hapke v. People, 29 Ill. App. 546.

87. Moore's Estate, 72 Cal. 335, 13 Pac. 880; In re Pfeffer, 117 Mich. 207, 75 N. W. 454; Thompson's Appeal, 103 Pa. St. 603; Rife v. Galbreath, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 204; Mothland v. Wireman, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 185, 33 Am. Dec. 71; Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 419. See also In re Rhoads, 3 Rawle (Pa.) 420. The demand of an issue is not, however, a matter of right upon every disputed claim, it must be shown by evidence that there exists in regard to such claim some disputed fact for the determination of which the intervention of a jury is necessary and of this necessity the court must determine from the evidence presented (Evans' Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 113; Beehler's Estate, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 254. See also Sharp's Appeal, 3 Grant (Pa.) 260; Hansell's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 47), and one cannot take his chance for a favorable finding of facts by an auditor, and when the report is adverse demand as matter of right an issue to try the same facts before a jury (Bradford's Appeal, 29 Pa. St. 513; White's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 100).

88. Moore's Estate, 72 Cal. 335, 13 Pac. 880; In re Pfeffer, 117 Mich. 207, 75 N. W. 454.

89. Vulte v. Martin, 44 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18.

90. In re Millenovich, 5 Nev. 161; Vulte v. Martin, 44 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18; Arnold v. Smith, 14 R. I. 217. See also Cobb v. Speers. (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 49 S. W. 666. matter to be determined is correctness of account.

91. In re Millenovich, 5 Nev. 161. See also Thorne v. Underhill, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 306.

92. In re Millenovich, 5 Nev. 161, holding that whether the appraisers of an estate were nor should the validity of the appointment of the personal representative be determined.[93] If, however, the interest of a person contesting a settlement is disputed that question may be determined.[94] When proceedings are instituted and conducted for an annual or partial settlement, the court of probate cannot of its own motion convert it into a final settlement and render a final decree.[95] In settling an administration account the payment of legacies or the distribution of the surplus should not be included.[96] Upon a contested settlement of an administration account, the account filed by the personal representative and the objections thereto represent the pleadings of the parties and the issues to be tried are to be determined therefrom.[97] Issues cannot be raised with parties and as to matters not brought into court through the presentation of the account.[98] A distributee cannot by objecting to a final settlement raise and litigate the question whether a personal representative is indebted to the estate, since the latter is entitled to a jury trial on that issue.[99] The right to land or to the rents or profits thereof must be settled by a direct action at law and not in a collateral manner by objecting to an administration account,[1] and one who claims property as belonging to himself and not to the estate administered will not be permitted to assert such claim by way of opposition to the account.[2] An objection to the account of an executor who is also trustee that the decree should provide for the quarterly payment to the objector of the interest payable to him under the will disinterested parties or not was a question not necessary to be determined in an accounting proceeding.

93. Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 337. See also Epperson's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 595.

94. Garwood v. Garwood, 29 Cal. 514; Herbein's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 449. See also Poulson v. Frenchtown Nat. Bank, 33 N. J. Eq. 250. But see In re Willey, 140 Cal. 238, 73 Pac. 998.

95. Daughdrill v. Daughdrill, 108 Ala. 321, 19 So. 185; Whorton v. Moragne, 59 Ala. 641.

96. Ake's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 320; Arnold v. Smith, 14 R. I. 217. See also South v. Hoy, 3 T. B. Mon (Ky.) 88; Bradbury v. Jefferds, 15 Me. 212.

Where an administration account shows no balance for distribution, the proper practice is to merely audit and settle the account and ascertain its correctness. It is error to hear and determine the claims of creditors, legatees, and distributees, until there is a fund for distribution. Snyder's Estate, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 253; Jones' Estate, 19 Phila. (Pa.) 228; Hamill's Estate, 36 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 137.

97. Matter of Heuser, 87 Hun (N. Y.) 262, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 831; Matter of Hart, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 516, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 239. See also Pettingill v. Pettingill, 64 Me. 350; James v. West, 67 Ohio St. 28, 65 N. E. 156. Compare Conger v. Babcock, 87 Ind. 497, holding that an administration account is not a complaint, nor in the nature of a complaint, and is not the subject of demurrer.

The office of exceptions to administration accounts is not to demand affirmative relief, but to call the attention of the court to errors of omission or commission in the statements of account. The account and objections form the issue to be tried, and involve no more than the correctness of the account presented by the personal representative as such. His individual liability is not involved and claims against him individually must be determined in a jurisdiction other than the court of probate. In re Brown, 113 Iowa 351, 85 N. W. 617.

98. Alabama.— Jones v. Jemison, 4 Ala. 632.

California.— In re Vance, 141 Cal. 624, 75 Pac. 323.

Illinois.— Cagney v. O'Brien, 83 Ill. 72.

Louisiana.— Oteri's Succession, 108 La. 395, 32 So. 423 (provisional account filed); McCarty's Succession, 5 La. Ann. 434. See also Troxler's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 738, 15 So. 153.

New York.— Van Valkenburg v. Lasher, 53 Hun 594, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 775.

Pennsylvania.— Stine's Estate, 16 Pa. Super. Ct. 12.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2166.

Questions should not be determined as to matters which are entirely collateral (Byrd v. Jones, 84 Ala. 336, 4 So. 375), the liability as between the personal representatives and their sureties (Brigham v. Morgan, 185 Mass. 27, 69 N. E. 418), or agreements between co-representatives as to the division of commissions (In re Carter, 132 Cal. 113, 64 Pac. 123 [modified in (1901) 64 Pac. 484]). So also matters between the personal representative and the individual heirs or distributees and not between him and the estate are not properly cognizable in an accounting proceeding. Treat v. Treat, 80 Me. 156, 13 Atl. 684. See also Dray v. Bloch, 29 Oreg. 347, 45 Pac. 772.

99. Wilson v. Ruthrauff, 82 Mo. App. 435.

1. West v. Smith, 8 How. (U. S.) 402, 12 L. ed. 1130. See also Matter of Blow, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 193, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 360; Vulte v. Martin, 44 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18.

2. Cathey v. Kerr, 15 La. Ann. 228.

is more properly a matter for disposition upon the settlement of the decree.[3] The allowance of a claim of a personal representative against the estate of his decedent, procured by fraud, cannot be set aside upon exception to his account.[4] When a claim has been adjudicated against an administrator, it is so far binding upon the heirs that they cannot have the allowance set aside as against the claimant by exceptions to the administrator's account.[5] In Louisiana an opposition and not a separate action is the proper proceeding by an heir making a claim against the succession,[6] or by a creditor who demands to be placed on the tableau,[7] or for ascertaining the extent of the personal liability of a representative for acts of maladministration.[8] The question of the widow's right to the marital fourth may be raised and passed on in her opposition to the account when there are no heirs in Louisiana or claiming an interest and when the universal legatee is present and the account exhibits the proposed settlement of the succession.[9] A direct action should be brought to determine whether a legacy is illegal;[10] or to enforce a claim against the administrator of a succession for property belonging to another succession of which he is alleged to be in possession,[11] or an unliquidated claim for property not included in the inventory against a succession under administration.[12] The liability of a widow, as an intermeddler, for her husband's debts cannot be enforced by opposition to her tableau of distribution as his administratrix.[13]

d. Reference[14] — (i) In General. In a proper case, upon the settlement of the account of a personal representative, a reference may be ordered by the probate court to a referee, auditor, commissioner, or master.[15]

(ii) Scope of Inquiry. All matters submitted by the order under which the

3. Matter of Wolfe, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 494, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 102.

4. Ashton v. Miles, 49 Iowa 564.

5. McLeary v. Doran, 79 Iowa 210, 44 N. W. 360 [distinguishing Dessaint v. Foster, 72 Iowa 639, 34 N. W. 454, in which case the claim was allowed in the absence of the administrator].

6. Bozant's Succession, 5 La. Ann. 709.

7. Pargoud v. Griffing, 10 La. 356.

8. Cooper v. Cotton, 15 La. Ann. 214.

9. Leppelman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 468.

10. Barker's Succession, 10 La. Ann. 28.

11. Blancand's Succession, 48 La. Ann. 578, 19 So. 683.

12. Sanchez's Succession, 41 La. Ann. 504, 6 So. 791.

13. Mouton's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 561.

14. See, generally, REFERENCES.

15. Arkansas.— Quinlan v. Fitzpatrick, 25 Ark. 471, an auditor cannot be appointed unless exceptions have been filed to the account.

District of Columbia.— Matter of Ames, 3 MacArthur 30.

Georgia.— Gay v. Gay, 114 Ga. 361, 40 S. E. 265.

Illinois.— See In re Wincox, 186 Ill. 445, 57 N. E. 1073.

Iowa.— In re Heath, 58 Iowa 36, 11 N. W. 723.

Kentucky.— Smith v. Cochran, 7 Bush 548, reference required by statute. And see Chalfant v. Sterns, 4 Dana 602, eligibility of member of county court to act as commissioner.

Massachusetts.— Brigham v. Morgan, 185 Mass. 27, 69 N. E. 418.

Mississippi.— Anderson v. Gregg, 44 Miss. 170; Crowder v. Shackelford, 35 Miss. 321, statute as to references merely directory.

New York.—Matter of Woodward, 69 N. Y. App. Div. 286, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 755; Matter of Hoes, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 281, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 664; In re Fithian, 3 Silv. Supreme 282, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 409; Matter of Smith, 40 Misc. 331, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 1035; Matter of Munzor, 4 Misc. 374, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 818 (referee may allow filing of amended account); In re Siesel, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 704; Matter of Douglass, 3 Redf. Surr. 538; Matter of Foster, 3 Redf. Surr. 532 (auditor cannot withhold report until his fees are paid).

North Carolina.— Evans v. Smith, 84 N. C. 146.

Ohio.— James v. West, 67 Ohio St. 28, 65 N. E. 156, time within which causes must be adjudicated by referee.

Pennsylvania.— Spellisy's Estate, 174 Pa. St. 628, 34 Atl. 316; Maxwell v. McClintock, 10 Pa. St. 237; Ames' Appeal, 8 Pa. Cas. 332, 11 Atl. 232; Hughes' Estate, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 534; Rankin's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 603 (deducting and directing payment of witness' fees by auditor); John's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 281; Marriot v. Davey, 1 Dall. 164, 1 L. ed. 83; Hansell's Estate, 11 Phila. 47 (time within which auditor must file his report); Gaul's Estate, 11 Phila. 18; Benner's Estate, 11 Phila. 6 (compensation of auditor); Hutchinson's Estate, 9 Phila. 322 (attaching vouchers to auditor's report). See also Parker's Appeal, 61 Pa. St. 478.

Tennessee.— Hall v. Hall, (Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203.

Texas.— Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75.

Virginia.—Nelson v. Kownslar, 79 Va. 468.

referee acts should be determined and no others;[16] but the approval and confirmation of an auditor's report by the probate court may cure whatever irregularity there may have been in the auditor's passing upon matters not within the submission to him.[17]

United States.— U. S. Bank v. Williams, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 942, 3 Cranch C. C. 240, report of auditor as evidence.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2185, 2187.

Consent references.— Notwithstanding the repeal of the statute authorizing the reference of the final account of a personal representative to a commissioner, such reference may be made by consent of parties. Cunningham v. Cunningham, 94 Ind. 557. But such accounts cannot be referred to auditors without the consent of the parties interested. Ludlow v. Ludlow, 4 N. J. L. 189.

Intermediate accounts.—The surrogate cannot of his own motion direct the examination of an intermediate account by a referee, the only object of such an account being to ascertain the condition of the estate, and not to determine the propriety or validity of the transactions of the personal representative. Matter of De Russey, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 577, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 270 [distinguishing Buchan v. Rintoul, 70 N. Y. 1 (affirming 10 Hun 183)].

Commissioner or auditor appointed to state account see Chamberlain v. Chamberlain, 16 S. W. 455, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 192; Scott v. Dorsey, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 227 (holding that an auditor, in stating an account against executors, is not concluded by any allowance made to them by the orphans' court, but must determine from the vouchers whether the allowance was just); Witman's Appeal, 28 Pa. St. 376; Montgomery's Estate, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 306.

Oath not necessary unless required by statute.— Smith v. Cochran, 7 Bush (Ky.) 548; Benoit v. Brill, 24 Miss. 83.

Removal.— A referee appointed to pass on the account of a personal representative will not be removed on the motion of the latter in the absence of any showing of bias against him or his attorney. In re Rainforth, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 660, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 314.

Exceptions necessary.— A person desiring to take any part in the contest of an account before a referee must file objections to such account. Matter of Gilman, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 78, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 694.

Including evidence in report.— When an order of reference does not require evidence to be reported, an exception on the ground of the failure of the referee to report evidence is not available. Cunningham v. Cunningham, 94 Ind. 557. Compare Steele v. Morrison, 4 Dana (Ky.) 617.

Additional finding.— After a referee has filed his report he cannot make an additional finding. Richardson's Estate, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 288, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 978.

Decree made by court without report.— Where an administrator's account had been referred to the clerk of a probate court, it is no ground of exception that the court made a final decree without a report from the clerk. Satterwhite v. Littlefield, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 302.

Arbitration.— See Caldwell v. Caldwell, 121 Ala. 598, 25 So. 825; Holdsombeck v. Fancher, 112 Ala. 469, 20 So. 519, both cases construing a statute providing for the reference of all matters of controversy arising on the settlement of a decedent's estate to arbitration.

16. Matter of Mellon, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 553, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 929; Matter of Rothschild, 42 Misc. (N. Y.) 161, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 1084; Matter of Leslie, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 280; Coggins' Appeal, 3 Walk. (Pa.) 426; Wetherill's Appeal, 3 Walk. (Pa.) 261; Hughes' Estate, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 534; Taylor's Estate, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 218; Homer's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 319.

Objections filed.— When disputed accounts of an executor are referred to an auditor for examination, it is the duty of the auditor to pass upon the objections filed to the accounts and no others. Boughton v. Flint, 74 N. Y. 476 [reversing 13 Hun 206]. Compare Scheidt's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 355.

Payments by way of distribution are not part of an administration account; and auditors appointed to settle such an account have no authority to report distribution. Robins' Estate, 180 Pa. St. 630, 37 Atl. 121.

The private account of the personal representative with the estate may be settled on a reference, although it may not have been specifically and particularly put in issue. Trevelyan v. Lofft, 83 Va. 141, 1 S. E. 901; Carter v. Cutting, 5 Munf. (Va.) 223.

Reference for correction of fraud.— In referring administration settlements for the correction of fraud, the court should find and designate the points in which the fraud consists and confine the reference to those points. Reinhardt v. Gartrell, 33 Ark. 727.

Disputed questions of fact should not be referred to the auditor so far as it may be avoided, but he should be confined as nearly as practicable to a mere statement of account. Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75.

Matters as to which no evidence has been submitted cannot be reported upon by an auditor. Bradley's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 87.

Only questions within the court's jurisdiction can be passed upon by an auditor. Axford's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 145.

On a rehearing of an executor's account by an auditing judge, in accordance with the opinion of the court, it is irregular to introduce new matter contrary to the findings of the court and not comprised within the purpose of the rehearing. Lafferty's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 347.

17. Bloom's Appeal, 106 Pa. St. 498. See also Matter of Mellen, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 553, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 929.

(III) EXCEPTIONS TO REPORT. The report of a referee may be excepted to by any party to the accounting proceedings;[18] and before passing upon the report in gross the court should consider in detail the exceptions taken thereto.[19] Exceptions ought to be at least specific enough to point out the error complained of.[20]

(IV) POWER OF COURT AS TO REPORT. A referee or auditor does not decide as a court, but is employed simply to aid the court making the reference, and is subject to its directions. His determination is subject to approval or disapproval of the court and his report amounts to nothing until confirmed by it.[21] The court may modify the report,[22] recommit it to the referee,[23] or set it aside.[24] But it has been held that where no exceptions have been taken and filed the court has no alternative but to confirm the report,[25] and the report of a referee has the force and effect of the verdict of a jury and must be allowed to stand, unless without support from the evidence,[26] or unless some plain and obvious error

18. Benoit v. Brill, 24 Miss. 83 (distributees); Tindal v. Tindal, 1 S. C. 111 (creditors); Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75. See also Benedict's Estate, 4 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 99.

Dismissal of exceptions.—Exceptions to the report of an auditor upon an administrator's account must be dismissed where the error complained of is not the error of the auditor, but of the court, which can only be corrected upon appeal. Taylor's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 137.

Exception as to parties.— It is not a good exception to the report of a commissioner appointed on a petition against an administrator for an accounting that the proper parties have not been made to the petition. That is an objection against the petition itself. Hobbs v. Craige, 23 N. C. 332.

19. In re Bedford, 30 Hun (N. Y.) 551.

20. Gay v. Gay, 114 Ga. 361, 40 S. E. 265; In re Moore, 103 Iowa 474, 72 N. W. 674; Hurlburt v. Hutten, 44 N. J. Eq. 302, 15 Atl. 417; Newell v. Dody, 33 N. Y. 83; In re Levy, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 177; Ingrem v. Mackey, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 357.

The surrogate may allow the filing of further objections if the objections filed are insufficient. Boughton v. Flint, 74 N. Y. 476.

21. Boughton v. Flint, 74 N. Y. 477 [reversing 13 Hun 206]; Matter of Mellen, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 553, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 929. See also McCracken v. McCracken, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 342 (ordering report of commissioner to be recorded a confirmation of it); Briscoe v. Brady, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 134.

Findings as to funds received as agent not reviewable.— Where an auditor appointed by the orphans' court to audit an executor's account, by agreement of the parties in interest, audited accounts of moneys received and paid out by the executor as agent for the collection of rents accruing after the testator's death, it was held that the orphans' court was without jurisdiction to revise the findings of the auditor as to moneys thus received as agent. Shisler's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 333, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 105.

Effect of report when confirmed.— Where, in an action against an administrator, a reference was made to a commissioner to take an account of the administration of the assets, and the commissioner made a report, which was confirmed, stating an outstanding judgment, the amount of which was more than sufficient to cover the balance of the assets in his hands, and plaintiff made use of the report to charge the administrator, it was held that the report was conclusive in favor of the administrator, and that he was not required to produce the record of the judgment. Lee v. Patrick, 31 N. C. 135.

22. Matter of Schaefer, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 378, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 57 [modifying 34 Misc. 34, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 489].

Opening account taken by master or auditor see Matter of Gorman, 49 N. Y. App. Div. 637, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 123; Evertson v. Tappen, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 497; Scheetz's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 213.

23. Mississippi.— Crowder v. Shackelford, 35 Miss. 321.

New York.— Matter of Bayer, 54 Hun 189, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 566; Matter of Rothschild, 42 Misc. 161, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 1084 (remitted for further hearing and report); Matter of Pollock, 3 Redf. Surr. 100.

North Carolina.— Barnawell v. Smith, 58 N. C. 168; Peyton v. Smith, 22 N. C. 325.

Pennsylvania.— Bradley's Estate, 11 Phila. 87; Donnelly's Estate, 3 Phila. 18; In re Harlan, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 451, 3 Pa. L. J. 116.

Vermont.— In re Pierce, 68 Vt. 639, 35 Atl. 546.

Virginia.—Thomas v. Dawson, 9 Gratt. 531.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2191.

Compare Hall v. Hall, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203.

Recommitment to supply omissions see Steele v. Morrison, 4 Dana (Ky.) 617 (omission to report evidence); Abercrombie v. Holder, 63 N. Y. 628 [affirming 4 Hun 141] (accidental omission); Thompson v. McDonald, 22 N. C. 463.

24. Hottenstein's Appeal, 2 Grant (Pa.) 301; Hoare v. Muloy, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 161.

25. In re Leffingwell, 30 Hun (N. Y.) 528.

26. In re Heath, 58 Iowa 36, 11 N. W. 723; Newell v. West, 149 Mass. 520, 21 N. E. 954; In re Young, 204 Pa. St. 32, 53 Atl. 511; Hottenstein's Appeal, 2 Grant (Pa.) 301; Wendt's Estate, 14 Pa. Super. Ct. 644; Wedekind's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 68; White's Estate, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 100; Huft's Appeal, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 284. See also Matter of sufficient to warrant the setting aside of the report be made to appear by the party who objects thereto.[27]

4. Evidence[28] — a. Presumptions. In proceedings for stating and settling the accounts of personal representatives the proper presumptions will be indulged.[29] Where the representative's general management of the estate evinces fidelity and prudence, a presumption arises in favor of the correctness of his account;[30] but where he has failed to keep accounts or take vouchers, or otherwise shows carelessness in his general management, obscurity and doubt as to whether a credit should be given in his favor will be resolved against him,[31] and where his accounts are not only untrustworthy, but of a most suspicious character, all presumptions are against him.[32] It will be presumed that some assets were received by the personal representative,[33] that a debt of the decedent was paid with money belonging to his estate,[34] that notes taken by the representative on sales made by him were paid at maturity,[35] that a debt returned in his inventory without comment has been collected in full,[36] and that articles specifically bequeathed have been disposed of conformably to the will.[37]

b. Burden of Proof — (i) In General. When a personal representative renders his account and it is contested, the burden is generally on him to sustain and Bradley, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 751, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 106; White's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 100; Lidderdale v. Robinson, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,337, 2 Brock. 159 [affirmed in 12 Wheat. 594, 6 L. ed. 740].

Conclusiveness of findings of fact.— Where the final accounting of an executor was referred, and the referee's findings of fact objected to, were adopted by the court, such findings are conclusive on the supreme court on appeal. Lambertson v. Vann, 134 N. C. 108, 46 S. E. 10.

27. Thompson's Appeal, 103 Pa. St. 603; McBride's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 564. See also Nauman's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 505, 9 Atl. 934; Atkinson's Appeal, 8 Pa. Cas. 292, 11 Atl. 239; Frey's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 15; Greenwalt's Estate, 9 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 50; Sweeten's Estate, 4 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 54; Dolph's Estate, 3 Luz. Leg. Reg. (Pa.) 146; Vandermark's Estate, 2 Luz. Leg. Reg. (Pa.) 83.

28. See, generally, Evidence, 16 Cyc. 821.

Competency of witnesses see Daughdrill v. Daughdrill, 108 Ala. 321, 19 So. 185 (an administrator is a competent witness in his own behalf on the settlement of his accounts and may be examined for any purpose); Henderson v. Simmons, 33 Ala. 291, 70 Am. Dec. 590 (the surety of a personal representative is not a competent witness for his principal on the final settlement of the latter's accounts to prove an item of credit); McCreeliss v. Hinkle, 17 Ala. 459; Booth v. Tabbernor, 23 Ill. App. 173; Harding v. Canfield, 73 Minn. 244, 75 N. W. 1112 (personal representative may testify as to his good faith in handling funds of the estate); Sheetz v. Hanbest, 81 Pa. St. 100 (when legatees competent witnesses); Taylor's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 137. And see, generally, as to this subject, Witnesses.

29. California.—Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753, that note due estate collectable.

Louisiana.— Bry v. Dowell, 1 Rob. 111.

Massachusetts.—Dickinson v. Arms, 8 Pick. 394, as to time of payment of note due by estate.

Mississippi.— Stone v. Morgan, 65 Miss. 247, 3 So. 580, as to time when debtor of estate became insolvent.

Missouri.— Myers v. Myers, 98 Mo. 262, 11 S. W. 617.

New York.— In re Clark, 119 N. Y. 427, 23 N. E. 1052; Mesick v. Mesick, 7 Barb. 120.

North Carolina.— Nichols v. Dunn, 22 N. C. 287.

Pennsylvania.— Eavenson's Appeal, 84 Pa. St. 172; Brown's Estate, 8 Phila. 197.

Vermont.— Walworth v. Bartholomew, 76 Vt. 1, 56 Atl. 101, how presumption of negligence in not collecting notes rebutted.

Virginia.— Tate v. Jones, 98 Va. 544, 36 S. E. 984, presumption as to matters embraced in receipt in full from residuary legatees.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2169.

Presumption as to liability for interest see Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607, 45 Am. Rep. 93; Caldwell v. Kinkead, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 228; Mickle v. Cross, 10 Md. 352; Bitzer v. Hahn, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 232; Staib's Estate, 11 Pa. Super. Ct. 447.

30. Ashbrook v. Ashbrook, 28 S. W. 660, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 593; Bauman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 1138; Wederstrandt's Succession, 19 La. Ann. 494.

31. Hetfield v. Debaud, 54 N. J. Eq. 371, 34 Atl. 882.

32. Downie v. Knowles, 37 N. J. Eq. 513.

33. Wyatt v. Luton, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 458.

34. In re Orne, 192 Pa. St. 626, 44 Atl. 287.

35. Chesnut v. Strong, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 146.

36. Graham v. Davidson, 22 N. C. 155.

37. Matter of Pollock, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 100.

establish its correctness,[38] unless the exceptions taken thereto are affirmative, in which case the burden of proof is upon the contestant.[39]

(II) As to Assets. Upon an accounting the affirmative of establishing more assets than are acknowledged by the inventory or account of a personal representative is with the party objecting,[40] and he must sustain his contention with reasonable certainty and not leave it to mere conjecture or suspicion.[41] When, however, assets are shown or admitted the burden is upon the personal representative to account for their proper disposition.[42]

(III) As to Disbursements. When a credit is claimed by a personal representative and its validity is disputed, the law casts on him the burden of supporting it;[43] and in order to sustain such credit he must prove not only the payment

38. Indiana.— Taylor v. Burt, 91 Ind. 252; Brownlee v. Hare, 64 Ind. 311; Hamlyn v. Nesbit, 37 Ind. 284.

Kentucky.— Cox v. Doty, 45 S. W. 1044, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 287, exact amount of taxes paid.

Louisiana.— Dougart's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 268 (effect of general denial); Lee's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 578 (formal opposition not necessary).

New York.— See Underhill v. Newburger, 4 Redf. Surr. 499.

Pennsylvania.— See Kulp's Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. 37.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2170.

When no opposition.— "When the representative of a succession files an account he is plaintiff. The burden is on him to prove and establish the correctness of the account, and it cannot be homologated without such proof. If no opposition is made, the proof is introduced, and the whole proceeding is ex parte, just as in ordinary cases where judgment by default has been taken, and is to be confirmed." Planchet's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 520, 521. The personal representative is not, however, driven to proof of each separate item of his account unless it is opposed. Bougere's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 378. See also Wederstrandt's Succession, 19 La. Ann. 494.

39. Vance's Estate, 141 Cal. 624, 75 Pac. 323; Conery's Succession, 106 La. 50, 30 So. 294. See also Eubank v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73; Kirksey v. Kirksey, 41 Ala. 626; Gayle's Succession, 27 La. Ann. 547; Borda's Estate, 10 Pa. Dist. 117.

Burden of proof as to negligence.— When an account is attacked, the burden of proving careless or imprudent conduct on the part of the personal representative is on the contestant. Matter of Wagner, 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 490, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 797. See also In re Johnson's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 83.

40. Kentucky.— South v. Carr, 7 T. B. Mon. 419, assets denied.

Louisiana.— Gagneux's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 701, 4 So. 869, receipt of assets from predecessor must be proved.

New Jersey.— Kirby v. Coles, 15 N. J. L. 441.

New York.— Matter of Baker, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 370, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 121; Matter of Ryalls, 74 Hun 205, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 815, 80 Hun 459, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 455; Bainbridge v. McCullough, 1 Hun 488, 3 Thomps. & C. 486; Matter of Koch, 33 Misc. 153, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 375; Matter of Taber, 30 Misc. 172, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 728; In re Fithian, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 193, 1 Connoly Surr. 187; Matter of Palmer, 3 Dem. Surr. 129; Marre v. Ginochio, 2 Bradf. Surr. 165.

Pennsylvania.— Ripple's Estate, 9 Kulp 66; Thomas' Estate, 4 Kulp 446. See also Hart's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 347.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2171.

Surcharging inventory.— The inventory of an estate filed with the surrogate on accounting presumptively contains a true and full account of all the personal property of the decedent, and the burden of proof rests with a party seeking to surcharge such inventory either as to the amount or value of the property of the deceased. In re Rogers, 153 N. Y. 316, 47 N. E. 589; Matter of Mullon, 145 N. Y. 98, 39 N. E. 821 [affirming 74 Hun 358, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 683]; Forbes v. Halsey, 26 N. Y. 53. See also Matter of Arkenburgh, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 583, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 125.

Profits of business.— Where it is sought to charge an administrator with profits of a business in which he has used the money of the estate, the burden of proving such profits is on those who make the charge. Matter of Munzor, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 374, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 818. See also In re Suess, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 459, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 938.

41. Matter of Baker, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 370, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 121; Marre v. Ginochio, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 165.

42. Boggan v. Walter, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 666; In re Eisner, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 30, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 358; Evans v. Smith, 84 N. C. 146; Halloway's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 317, 8 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 148; Kalbfell's Estate, 26 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 394.

43. Alabama.— Pryor v. Davis, 109 Ala. 117, 19 So. 440; Harwood v. Pearson, 60 Ala. 410; Morgan v. Morgan, 35 Ala. 303.

California.— See Herteman's Estate, 73 Cal. 545, 15 Pac. 121.

Connecticut.—Robbins v. Wolcott, 27 Conn. 234.

Georgia.— Rudolph v. Underwood, 88 Ga. 664, 16 S. E. 55, credit claimed for taxes.

Illinois.— Emerick v. Hileman, 71 Ill. App. 512.

Kentucky.— See Terrell v. Rowland, 86

but also the correctness of the demand.[44] But where a credit has been allowed on an annual or partial settlement, it is presumed to be correct and the burden of overcoming this presumption rests upon the contestants.[45]

c. Admissibility. The general rules of evidence are ordinarily applied in determining whether the evidence offered in such proceedings is admissible;[46]

Ky. 67, 4 S. W. 825, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 258; Clark v. Newman, 1 S. W. 880, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 515.

Missouri.— Williams v. Petticrew, 62 Mo. 460.

New Jersey.— Kirby v. Coles, 15 N. J. L. 441. See also Rechtold v. Read, (Ch. 1893) 28 Atl. 264.

New York.— Metzger v. Metzger, 1 Bradf. Surr. 265.

Pennsylvania.— See In re Kalbfell, 184 Pa. St. 25, 38 Atl. 1007.

Tennessee.— See Ridley v. Ridley, 1 Coldw. 323.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2156, 2173.

Degree of proof required see Matter of Koch, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 153, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 375.

Expenses of administration.—The burden of showing that the expenses incurred were necessary and proper and that the payments made were fair and reasonable is on the personal representative.

Alabama.— Munden v. Bailey, 70 Ala. 63.

Mississippi.—Brandon v. Hoggatt, 32 Miss. 335.

New York.— Matter of Peck, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 296, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 76 [affirmed in 177 N. Y. 538, 69 N. E. 1129]; Matter of Swart, 2 Silv. Supreme 585, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 608; Matter of Rainforth, 40 Misc. 609, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 57; Matter of Arkenburgh, 13 Misc. 744, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 251; Matter of Nockin, 15 N. Y. St. 731; Matter of Harnett, 15 N. Y. St. 725; Matter of Peyser, 5 Dem. Surr. 244; St. John v. McKee, 2 Dem. Surr. 236. See also Matter of Archer, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1041, Pow. Surr. 292. Compare Matter of Sewell, 32 Misc. 604, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 456.

Ohio.— In re McAlpin, 8 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 654.

Pennsylvania.— See McGregor's Estate, 131 Pa. St. 359, 18 Atl. 902.

South Carolina.— Johnson v. Henagan, 11 S. C. 93.

Tennessee.— Hall v. Hall, (Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2173.

Expenses of carrying on farm.— An executor cannot be allowed for expenses after decedent's death in stocking or carrying on a farm left by decedent, in the absence of evidence that the expenditures were beneficial. Larrour v. Larrour, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 69.

Advances for infants.— Before an administrator will be allowed for moneys advanced for the support of infants, all the facts must appear, such as his good faith, and the amounts, times, and purposes of the advances. Hyland v. Baxter, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 354 [affirmed in 98 N. Y. 610].

Evidence to be taken in writing.—In Louisiana it is required by statute that the evidence in support of claims for disbursements shall be taken in writing and annexed to the record. Girardey's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 543, 10 So. 851; Dorville's Succession, 27 La. Ann. 131.

44. Alabama.— Jenks v. Terrell, 73 Ala. 238; Harwood v. Pearson, 60 Ala. 410; Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Gaunt v. Tucker, 18 Ala. 27.

Indiana.— Wysong v. Nealis, 13 Ind. App. 165, 41 N. E. 388.

Maine.— In re Eacott, 95 Me. 522, 50 Atl. 708.

Mississippi.— Haralson v. White, 38 Miss. 178. See also Tell City Furniture Co. v. Stiles, 60 Miss. 849.

New Jersey.— Brewster v. Demarest, 48 N. J. Eq. 559, 23 Atl. 271.

North Carolina.— See Barnawell v. Smith, 58 N. C. 168.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2173.

Proper vouchers constitute such prima facie evidence as shifts the burden of proof to the contestants. See infra, XV, F, 4, e, (II).

45. Alabama.— King v. Brown, 108 Ala. 68, 18 So. 935; Dickie v. Dickie, 80 Ala. 57; Newberry v. Newberry, 28 Ala. 691. See also McCreeliss v. Hinkle, 17 Ala. 459; Willis v. Willis, 16 Ala. 652, 9 Ala. 330.

New York.— Matter of Knab, 38 Misc. 717, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 292.

Pennsylvania.— O'Donnell's Estate, 9 Kulp 123.

South Carolina.— See Cunningham v. Cauthen, 37 S. C. 123, 15 S. E. 917.

Virginia.— See Nimmo v. Com., 4 Hen. & M. 57, 4 Am. Dec. 488.

West Virginia.— See Dearing v. Selvey, 50 W. Va. 4, 40 S. E. 478.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2173.

46. In re More, 121 Cal. 609, 54 Pac. 97; Matter of Myers, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 625, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 168; Hall v. Hall, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203, holding that when credit is claimed for a sum alleged to have been paid on a judgment the transcript of the judgment should be produced as it is the best evidence. But see Matter of Woodward, 69 N. Y. App. Div. 286, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 755; Upson v. Badeau, 3 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 13 (holding that in adjusting the accounts of personal representatives the surrogate's court is governed by principles of equity as well as of law, and it is at all times competent for such a representative, unimpeded by technical rules, to show the fairness of his dealings, the real nature of his transactions, and the amount for which he should be held liable); Kennedy's Appeal, 4 Pa. St. 149 (auditors in settling administration accounts do not proceed according to the strict-evidence which is legally relevant being received[47] and that which is irrelevant being rejected.[48]

d. Weight and Sufficiency. Questions as to the weight and sufficiency of such evidence are also usually to be determined by the general rules upon that subject.[49] Credits claimed by the representative must be supported by testimony est rules of evidence); Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 419 (the orphans' court in the settlement of administration accounts is not bound by technical rules of evidence).

47. Connecticut.—Guinan's Appeal, 70 Conn. 342, 39 Atl. 482.

Illinois.— Schneider v. Westerman, 25 Ill. 514.

Louisiana.— Frank v. Frank, 108 La. 201, 32 So. 414; Mandeville v. Arnoult, 9 Rob. 447, admissibility of representative's bank-book which is not in his official but his individual name.

Michigan.— In re Buchan, 100 Mich. 219, 58 N. W. 1003.

Mississippi.— Donald v. McWhorter, 40 Miss. 231, evidence that certain property belonged to the representative.

New York.— Mellen v. Wilcox, 56 Hun 553, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 929; Matter of Rothschild, 42 Misc. 161, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 1084; Matter of Grant, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 574, 27 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 21; Ginochio v. Porcella, 3 Bradf. Surr. 277, declarations of the decedent.

Pennsylvania.— See In re Semple, 189 Pa. St. 385, 42 Atl. 28.

Vermont.— In re Brown, 65 Vt. 331, 26 Atl. 638, evidence as to representative's good faith.

Virginia.— Wills v. Dunn, 5 Gratt. 384.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2176.

Admissibility of will.— On an issue to try with what amount an executor was chargeable as such, the will was evidence to show his appointment as executor and his duties thereunder. Rife v. Galbreath, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 204.

Tax books are admissible to show that the intestate returned for taxes in each of the last two years of his life a certain sum, where the contention is as to the solvency of certain of his open accounts. Adkins v. Hutchings, 79 Ga. 260, 4 S. E. 887.

Ex parte affidavit of payee admissible as a receipt.— Williams v. Maitland, 36 N. C. 92.

48. Alabama.—McDonald v. Carnes, 90 Ala. 147, 7 So. 919; Byrd v. Jones, 84 Ala. 336, 4 So. 375, self-serving declarations.

California.— In re More, 121 Cal. 609, 54 Pac. 97.

Massachusetts.— Brigham v. Morgan, 185 Mass. 27, 69 N. E. 418.

Michigan.— Morton v. Johnston, 124 Mich. 561, 83 N. W. 369.

Minnesota.— Hanson v. Swenson, 78 Minn. 18, 80 N. W. 833.

New York.— Matter of Arkenburgh, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 583, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 125; Matter of Gabriel, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 623, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 87 [affirmed in 161 N. Y. 644, 57 N. E. 1110]; Matter of Rose, 35 Misc. 21, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 172; In re Williams, 1 Redf. Surr. 208.

Pennsylvania.— Hengst's Appeal, 24 Pa. St. 413. See also In re Semple, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 434.

Rhode Island.— Jones v. East Greenwich Probate Ct., 25 R. I. 361, 55 Atl. 881, communications between representative of his wife's estate and his wife in her lifetime.

South Carolina.— Reeves v. Tucker, 5 Rich. Eq. 150.

Tennessee.— Hall v. Hall, (Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 203.

Texas.— James v. Craighead, (Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241, evidence as to disbursements which do not appear in account.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2176.

Opinion evidence as to compensation of representative inadmissible.— Kenan v. Graham, 135 Ala. 585, 33 So. 699.

49. Alabama.— Jay v. Mosely, 47 Ala. 227; Milam v. Ragland, 25 Ala. 243, 19 Ala. 85.

California.— In re Thomas, 140 Cal. 397, 73 Pac. 1059; In re Willard, 139 Cal. 501, 73 Pac. 240, 64 L. R. A. 554.

Louisiana.— Oubre's Succession, 109 La. 516, 33 So. 583; Conery's Succession, 106 La. 50, 30 So. 294.

Maryland.— Horwitz v. Forbes, (1891) 22 Atl. 267.

New Jersey.— Mulford v. Mulford, (Ch. 1902) 53 Atl. 79; Greene v. Butterworth, 45 N. J. Eq. 738, 17 Atl. 949.

New York.— Matter of Myers, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 625, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 168; Matter of Sewell, 32 Misc. 604, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 456; In re Underhill, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 113.

Pennsylvania.— In re Hoffer, 156 Pa. St. 473, 27 Atl. 11; McGeary's Estate, 33 Pittsb. Leg. J. 405.

Tennessee.— Royston v. McCulley, (Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 725, 52 L. R. A. 899; Bland v. Gollaher, (Ch. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 320.

Washington.— In re Mason, 26 Wash. 259, 66 Pac. 435.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2177; and EVIDENCE, 17 Cyc. 753 et seq.

When the representative claims funds as against the rights of his decedent fullness of proof and freedom from suspicion should be required. Matter of Barefield, 82 N. Y. App. Div. 463, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 843 [reversing 36 Misc. 745, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 472].

Evidence of the contents of unproduced letters, admitted without objection, acknowledging payment, when supplemented by the testimony of the personal representative that he actually made payment, is sufficient proof. In re Hilliard, 83 Cal. 423, 23 Pac. 393.

Payment of a note secured by a mortgage on realty will be allowed, when the evidence of the satisfaction of the mortgage necessary in the state where the realty is situated is substantially sufficient to establish the facts before a jury,[50] and it has been held that, when a credit claimed for the payment of a debt of a decedent is contested, the personal representative must prove it by the same degree of evidence which the creditor himself would have been required to produce, if he had been forced to an action for its recovery.[51]

e. Vouchers and Proof of Payment — (1) In General. It is the duty of the representative of an estate to support every charge against it by competent evidence,[52] and for this purpose he is generally required to produce proper vouchers.[53] But such charges may be allowed without vouchers,[54] when the parties interested admit that they are correct,[55] or when on account of the lapse produced. Hart's Estate, Tuck. Surr. (N. Y.) 133.

50. Edelen v. Edelen, 11 Md. 415.

51. Jackson v. Wood, 108 Ala. 209, 19 So. 312; McDonald v. Carnes, 90 Ala. 147, 7 So. 919; Jenks v. Terrell, 73 Ala. 238; Teague v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 529; Kirksey v. Kirksey, 41 Ala. 626; Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Gaunt v. Tucker, 18 Ala. 27. But see Matter of Myers, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 625, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 168; Matter of Pollock, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 100.

In Missouri this rule formerly obtained by express statute (Jacobs v. Jacobs, 99 Mo. 427, 12 S. W. 457) which has been repealed (Springfield Grocer Co. v. Walton, 95 Mo. App. 526, 69 S. W. 477).

52. Kentucky.— See Browning v. Earl, 54 S. W. 833, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1295.

Louisiana.— Planchet's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 520.

Maryland.— Owens v. Collinson, 3 Gill & J. 25.

Missouri.— See Williams v. Petticrew, 62 Mo. 460.

South Carolina.—Buerhaus v. De Saussure, 41 S. C. 457, 19 S. E. 926, 20 S. E. 64; Lewis v. Price, 3 Rich. Eq. 172.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2154.

53. California.— In re Rose, 63 Cal. 349.

Louisiana.— Foulkes' Succession, 12 La. Ann. 537.

Maine.— Pearce v. Savage, 51 Me. 410.

Maryland.— See Maynadier v. Armstrong, 98 Md. 175, 56 Atl. 357.

Massachusetts.— Hall v. Hall, 1 Mass. 101.

New York.— In re Selleck, 111 N. Y. 284, 19 N. E. 66; Matter of Wicke, 74 N. Y. App. Div. 221, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 558; Jacques v. Elmore, 7 Hun 675; Broome v. Van Hook, 1 Redf. Surr. 444. See also Matter of Davis, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 331, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 315.

Pennsylvania.— Romig's Appeal, 84 Pa. St. 235; Fow's Estate, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 648.

South Carolina.— Each item of disbursement should be vouched by the production of receipts or other competent evidence. Buerhaus v. De Saussure, 41 S. C. 457, 19 S. E. 926, 20 S. E. 64. See also McGougan v. Hall, 21 S. C. 600; Johnson v. Henagan, 11 S. C. 93; Owens v. Walker, 2 Strobh. Eq. 289; Duncan v. Tobin, Cheves Eq. 143, 34 Am. Dec. 605; Wright v. Wright, 2 McCord Eq. 185; Black v. Blakely, 2 McCord Eq. 1.

Tennessee.—Stephenson v. Yandel, 5 Hayw. 261.

Virginia.—See Street v. Street, 11 Leigh 498.

United States.— Lidderdale v. Robinson, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,337, 2 Brock. 159 [affirmed in 12 Wheat. 594, 6 L. ed. 740]. See also Backhouse v. Jett, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 710, 1 Brock. 500; Hanson v. Cox, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,040, 1 Hayw. & H. 167.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2154.

Where an administrator continues his intestate's business without authority, he need not produce vouchers for the disbursements thereof on accounting, since the business becomes his individual business, for which he alone is liable. Matter of Munzor, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 374, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 818. See also In re Suess, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 459, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 938.

Surrogate's fees allowed without voucher. Birkholm v. Wardell, 42 N. J. Eq. 337, 7 Atl. 569.

Vouchers a part of report of settlement.— A reference to the report of the settlement of an administrator's account necessarily implies a reference to the vouchers accompanying the report. Mattingly v. Corbit, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 376.

Time for examination of vouchers.— Where the executor of an estate and the tutor of a minor heir files one account as executor and tutor combined, and secures its approval by the minor emancipated on the day of its approbation, without affording legal time for an examination of the vouchers, the approbation will be annulled. Ferguson v. Chastant, 35 La. Ann. 485.

Vouchers as evidence in suit by or against personal representative see Quigley v. Campbell, 12 Ala. 58, construing the Alabama statute.

54. Cases may arise where the orphans' court in the exercise of a reasonable discretion may supply the want of a regular voucher by the oath of a personal representative, but evidence of this kind should be resorted to with great delicacy and even then should be sustained by some corroborating proof. Romig's Appeal, 84 Pa. St. 235; In re Mylin, 7 Watts (Pa.) 64; Reeside v. Reeside, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 507. See also Bowman v. Herr, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 282.

55. In re Coursen, (Cal. 1901) 65 Pac. 965; In re Langlois, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 146, 26 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 226, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 481.

of time or other special circumstances vouchers cannot be produced.[56] By statute in some jurisdictions a personal representative may be allowed without a voucher any item of expenditure not exceeding a specified amount, if it is supported by his own uncontradicted oath, and if all the items so allowed do not exceed in the aggregate a specified amount.[57] Provision is also sometimes made by statute for proof by oath when vouchers were not taken at the time of payment, or when vouchers have been lost or destroyed.[58]

(II) WEIGHT AS EVIDENCE. When proper vouchers are produced they are of themselves prima facie evidence of disbursements without any further proof,[59] and the burden is cast upon a contestant to show that the items paid by the personal representative and represented by the vouchers were not just debts or claims against the estate.[60] A voucher may, however, be impeached. It may be

56. Wright v. Wright, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 185; Fitzgerald v. Jones, 1 Munf. (Va.) 150; Major v. Dudley, Jeff. (Va.) 51; Lidderdale v. Robinson, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,337, 2 Brock. 159 [affirmed in 12 Wheat. 594, 6 L. ed. 740]. See also Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900.

Presumption of existence.— On a bill to surcharge and falsify an administrator's former settlement, vouchers which cannot be produced may be presumed to have existed, especially after long lapse of time. Campbell v. White, 14 W. Va. 122. See also Burwell v. Anderson, 3 Leigh (Va.) 348; McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. (Va.) 288.

57. In re Hedrick, 127 Cal. 184, 59 Pac. 590; Rose's Estate, 80 Cal. 166, 22 Pac. 86; In re Van Tassel, (Cal. 1885) 5 Pac. 611; Gardner v. Gardner, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 112 [reversed on other grounds in 22 Wend. 526, 34 Am. Dec. 340]; Williams v. Purdy, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 166; Kellett v. Rathbun, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 102; Orser v. Orser, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 21 (if an administrator holds vouchers for items of expenditure under twenty dollars he should file them); Tickel v. Quinn, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 425; Matter of Nichols, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 288 (where the amount of an item is less than twenty dollars and there is no doubt of its payment it will be allowed upon the oath of the personal representative, although he cannot name the payee, or describe him sufficiently for identification); Metzger v. Metzger, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 265.

Payment of items under forty shillings could be proved in England by the oath of the personal representative without a voucher provided they did not in the aggregate exceed £100 (Robinson v. Cumming, 2 Atk. 409, 26 Eng. Reprint 646. See also Metzger v. Metzger, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 265; Reeside v. Reeside, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 507), and this rule has been recognized in the United States (Bailey v. Blanchard, 12 Pick. (Mass.) 166. See also Reeside v. Reeside, supra).

58. In re Gerow, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 847, Pow. Surr. (N. Y.) 364 [distinguishing and criticizing Matter of Langlois, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 146 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 481]; Rose v. Rose, 19 N. Y. St. 783, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 26 (statute waived by examination of representative by parties objecting to his account); Matter of Rowland, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 216 (reasonableness and justness of expenditure must be shown).

59. Frantum's Succession, 3 Rob. (La.) 283; Bainbridge v. McCullough, 1 Hun (N. Y.) 488, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 486; In re Butler, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 103, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 572; Metzger v. Metzger, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 265. See also Gray v. Harris, 43 Miss. 421; Thompson's Estate, Tuck. Surr. (N. Y.) 51; Nimmo v. Com., 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 57, 4 Am. Dec. 488.

The mere production of an instrument purporting to be a receipt without proof of the signature of the party signing it is neither proof of the payment nor of the validity of the debt against the estate. Jenks v. Terrell, 73 Ala. 238; Wright v. Wright, 64 Ala. 88; Gaunt v. Tucker, 18 Ala. 27; Savage v. Benham, 11 Ala. 49. See also Landreth v. Landreth, 9 Ala. 430.

Where a disbursement is admitted to be correct and the only question at issue is whether the representative has paid it, a receipt signed by the duly authorized agent of the person to whom the payment was made accompanied with proof of his signature and of the removal of both the principal and agent from the state is prima facie evidence of the payment. McCreeliss v. Hinkle, 17 Ala. 459.

Admission of genuineness of vouchers.— An admission that vouchers filed by a curator are genuine dispenses with other proof of payments claimed by him; but, if made without order of court, he must show that the debts were due, or he cannot be allowed credit therefor. Miller v. Miller, 12 Rob. (La.) 88.

60. In re Frazer, 92 N. Y. 239; Boughton v. Flint, 74 N. Y. 476; Matter of Sprague, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 615, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 1128 [affirmed in 162 N. Y. 646, 57 N. E. 1125]; Matter of Stevenson, 86 Hun (N. Y.) 325, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 493.

Where the gross injustice of a charge for legal services is apparent upon the very face of the account, no legal technicalities as to presumption or burden of proof should compel the surrogate to adjudicate as "just and reasonable" what he knows to be unreasonable and unjust. St. John v. McKee, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 236.

Contents of voucher.— Where a personal representative who has paid out money on shown that the signature thereto is forged; that the amount it represents was not due to him who executed it; that it has not in fact been paid; or that only a portion of it has been paid.[61]

f. Examination of Executor or Administrator. Statutes provide quite generally for examining an executor or administrator upon oath as to any matter relating to his account.[62]

5. Order or Decree. A decree on the settlement of a personal representative should comply with the statutes and practice of the jurisdiction in which it is rendered.[63] It should be signed by the judge,[64] and should bear date and take effect as of the time when it is officially announced.[65] The fact that a decree is irregular in form does not, however, constitute reversible error when no injury account of expenses of administration produces a voucher showing the nature of the disbursement and stating facts which if true show the same to have been reasonable and necessary for the good of the estate, a presumption is raised in favor of the correctness of the charge which must be opposed by affirmative evidence on the part of one contesting the demand for credit. Matter of White, 15 N. Y. St. 729, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 375 [approving Valentine v. Valentine, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 597]. Compare Matter of Harnett, 15 N. Y. St. 725.

61. Westover v. Carman, 49 Nebr. 397, 68 N. W. 501 (receipts obtained by fraud); In re Butler, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 103, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 572; Metzger v. Metzger, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 265.

62. Illinois.— See Booth v. Tabbernor, 23 Ill. App. 173.

Maryland.— Hammond v. Hammond, 2 Bland 306.

Massachusetts.— Sigourney v. Wetherell, 6 Metc. 553 (as to whether administrator indebted to the estate); Higbee v. Bacon, 7 Pick. 14, 8 Pick. 484.

Michigan.— In re Rathbone, 44 Mich. 57, 6 N. W. 115.

New York.— In re Chamberlain, 140 N. Y. 390, 35 N. E. 602, 37 Am. St. Rep. 568; Fithian's Estate, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 52; Anonymous, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 38; Woodruff v. Woodruff, 17 Abb. Pr. 165 (disclosing assets of a partnership of which representative and deceased were members); Westervelt v. Gregg, 1 Barb. Ch. 469; Leroy v. Bayard, 3 Redf. Surr. 228; Geer v. Ransom, 5 Redf. Surr. 578; Wood v. Crooke, 5 Redf. Surr. 381 (notwithstanding the representative's verified denial that property has come into his hands); Matter of Rich, 3 Redf. Surr. 177. See also Matter of Freligh, 42 Misc. 11, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 830.

North Carolina.— Ward v. Simmons, 46 N. C. 404.

Pennsylvania.— Matter of Bowen, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 147, 3 Pa. L. J. 405.

Wisconsin.— In re Fitzgerald, 57 Wis. 508, 15 N. W. 794, holding, however, that where disputed charges in an account are not correctly speaking matters of account between the administrator and the estate of his intestate, but are mere personal claims against the heirs of the intestate in respect to which the relation of creditor and debtor exists between the administrator and heirs, the statute providing for the examination of an administrator on oath does not apply.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2168.

Examination though formal objections not filed see Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753; Geer v. Ransom, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 578.

Representative may be examined by counsel for parties interested in the estate. In re Rathbone, 44 Mich. 57, 6 N. W. 115; Matter of Rich, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 177.

Disposition of balance shown by account.— An executor or administrator may be called and examined by an adverse party for the purpose of showing what disposition he has made of the balance shown by his account. Saxton v. Chamberlain, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 422; Stearns v. Brown, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 530; Griswold v. Chandler, 5 N. H. 492; Kline's Estate, 8 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 356.

Liability of co-administrator.— An administrator may be required to testify on oath respecting a liability of his co-administrator to the decedent. Davison v. Davison, 17 N. J. L. 169.

Admissibility of evidence to disprove answers.— Where an administrator, in answer to interrogatories in the probate court touching his accounts, makes answers thereto, the party at whose instance the interrogatories have been proposed may offer evidence to disprove the answers. Higbee v. Bacon, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 484.

Entire statement to be considered.— If a personal representative is examined under oath, for the purpose of charging him, a portion of his statements tending to charge him cannot be taken apart from an accompanying explanation operating in his favor. Ogilvie v. Ogilvie, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 356.

63. See Portis v. Creagh, 4 Port. (Ala.) 332; Dean v. Santa Barbara County Super. Ct., 63 Cal. 473 (the California statute does not require that the judgment or decree should contain copies of vouchers or recite the evidence which shall satisfy the court that the personal representative has delivered all the property of the estate); Matter of Daymon, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 315, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 997.

64. Ashbridge's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 206.

65. Lanier v. Richardson, 72 Ala. 134.

appears to have resulted therefrom.[66] Where a personal representative is also guardian of children of the deceased, a separate decree must be rendered on his separate accounts as guardian of each ward and as personal representative.[67] An order of final settlement necessarily means a determination of all matters proper to be included therein, unless they are excepted therefrom in accordance with express statutory provisions;[68] but it is erroneous for a decree to provide for relief not demanded.[69] A decree on the final settlement of a personal representative should ascertain the balance in his hands,[70] and, it has been held, should name specifically the persons in whose favor it is rendered,[71] and should specify a person against whom it can be enforced by proper process of the court.[72] Probate allowances in favor of creditors or third persons are directed, not against the executor or administrator personally or his property, but against the assets of the estate in his hands. The matter of inquiry lies between the creditor or third person and the estate and the executor or administrator has no personal interest or responsibility concerning it;[73] but when it comes to a final settlement the whole contest if any is between the estate and the executor or administrator, and the result of the contest, if adverse to him, charges him personally and the judgment therefore should run not against the estate but against him.[74]

66. Siniard v. Green, 123 Ala. 527, 26 So. 661.

67. Forteaux v. Lepage, 6 Iowa 123.

68. Green v. Brown, 8 Ind. App. 110, 33 N. E. 979, a provision which expressly continues the estate for certain purposes wholly excludes the idea of a final settlement thereof.

69. Finley v. Pearson, 76 S. W. 374, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 766.

70. Alabama.— Watt v. Watt, 37 Ala. 543; Rhodes v. Turner, 21 Ala. 210. See also Sankey v. Sankey, 18 Ala. 713; Elliott v. Mayfield, 3 Ala. 223.

Minnesota.— See Balch v. Hooper, 32 Minn. 158, 20 N. W. 124.

Mississippi.— See Coffee v. Ragsdale, (1893) 14 So. 454.

New Jersey.— See Sayre v. Sayre, 16 N. J. Eq. 505.

Pennsylvania.— See Purviance v. Com., 17 Serg. & R. 31.

71. Watt v. Watt, 37 Ala. 543; Lyon v. Odom, 31 Ala. 234 (a decree in favor of "heirs when known" insufficient); Willis v. Willis, 16 Ala. 652; Betts v. Blackwell, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 373; Hines v. Noah, 52 Miss. 192.

When balance in favor of representative.— If the decree rendered on the final settlement of the account of a personal representative ascertains the amount of his indebtedness and the credits to which he is entitled, showing a balance in his favor, it is valid and binding until reversed, although it is rendered in favor of no one and no execution could have issued on it. Hutton v. Williams, 60 Ala. 107.

Decree for one representative against another.— The only case in which a decree is authorized in favor of one personal representative against another is where there has been a removal, resignation, or a revocation of the letters of an executor or administrator, or from some other cause his authority ceases. In such case the decree may be rendered in favor of the remaining or succeeding executor or administrator. Cook v. Cook, 69 Ala. 294.

In favor of guardian ad litem.— On the settlement of an estate, a decree may be made in favor of an infant's guardian ad litem, and execution may issue thereon, although the proceeds should be paid into court, to be taken out only by a general guardian. Morgan v. Morgan, 35 Ala. 303.

Waiver of irregularity.—Although, in a suit by an administrator de bonis non against the representative of the first administrator for a settlement of the first administrator's accounts of his administration, it is irregular to decree payment to the administrator de bonis non, yet, where the distributees are parties to the suit, and do not complain, so that a payment to the administrator de bonis non would be a valid discharge to the representative of the first administrator, the decree will not be reversed for such irregularity. Morris v. Morris, 4 Gratt. (Va.) 293.

72. Billings v. Perry, 6 S. C. 106.

73. Haeussler v. Scheitlin, 9 Mo. App. 303. See also Wills v. Dunn, 5 Gratt. (Va.) 384.

74. Alabama.— See Davis v. Davis, 6 Ala. 611.

Louisiana.— Heffner's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 407, 21 So. 905.

Missouri.— Haeussler v. Scheitlin, 9 Mo. App. 303.

Nebraska.— See Lydick v. Chaney, 64 Nebr. 288, 89 N. W. 801.

New York.— Matter of Monell, 28 Misc. 308, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 981. See also Sherwood v. Judd, 3 Bradf. Surr. 419.

South Carolina.— Verner v. Bookman, 53 S. C. 398, 31 S. E. 283, 69 Am. St. Rep. 870; Rhodes v. Casey, 20 S. C. 491, upon such judgment supplementary proceedings may be had.

Virginia.— Sheppard v. Starke, 3 Munf. 29; Moore v. Ferguson, 2 Munf. 421; Barr v. Barr, 2 Hen. & M. 26.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2193.

G. Operation and Effect — 1. Final Settlement[75] — a. In General. A decree rendered on the final settlement of a personal representative has the force and effect of a judgment and is conclusive on the parties to the accounting and settlement as to the matters properly determined therein, until it is set aside for proper cause or reversed on appeal.[76]

Assets become property of personal representative.— Under a decree ascertaining and declaring the amount of assets in the hands of a personal representative, the whole amount due, and the sum payable to each creditor out of the assets, and ordering that the assets be placed in the hands of the personal representative, and that he personally pay the sum payable to each creditor, the liability of the personal representative becomes personal and the assets his individual property, in the absence of a showing of some special equity to follow and reach such assets. Paff v. Kinney, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 380.

Lien on real estate.— In Pennsylvania by statute the real estate of a personal representative becomes subject to a lien upon the filing of a transcript showing the amount appearing to be due and in his hands, on the settlement of his accounts in the orphans' court. McCracken v. Graham, 14 Pa. St. 209 (proper form of transcript); Hanson v. Penn Tp. Bank, 7 Pa. St. 261 (place of filing); Rosbing v. Chandler, 3 Pa. St. 369; Rowland v. Harbaugh, 5 Watts 365; Ramsey's Appeal, 4 Watts 71. But the personal estate of the representative is also bound for the payment of a balance decreed to be in their hands by the orphans' court. Burd v. McGregor, 2 Grant (Pa.) 353.

Mortgage to secure payment.—An executor, who, upon a balance being found due from him upon his accounting, gives a mortgage, in the nature of a declaration of trust, to hold the balance under the provisions of the will, and afterward pays a larger amount upon a valid outstanding claim against the estate, is entitled to have the mortgage discharged. Harris v. Young, 19 S. C. 34.

75. Final settlement does not operate as a discharge see supra, II, N, 3.

76. Alabama.— Hatcher v. Dillard, 70 Ala. 343; Hutton v. Williams, 60 Ala. 107; Tarver v. Tankersley, 51 Ala. 309; Griffin v. Ryland, 45 Ala. 688; Ashley v. Ashley, 15 Ala. 15.

Arkansas.— West v. Waddill, 33 Ark. 575; Ringgold v. Stone, 20 Ark. 526.

California.— Reynolds v. Brumagim, 54 Cal. 254.

Delaware.— State v. Barnett, 2 Marv. 115, 42 Atl. 420.

Georgia.— See Carter v. Anderson, 4 Ga. 516.

Illinois.— People v. Medart, 166 Ill. 348, 46 N. E. 1095 [affirming 63 Ill. App. 111].

Indiana.— State v. Kelso, 94 Ind. 587; Cunningham v. Cunningham, 94 Ind. 557.

Iowa.— Kows v. Mowery, 57 Iowa 20, 10 N. W. 283.

Louisiana.— Rabasse's Succession, 50 La. Ann. 746, 23 So. 910. See also Robin v. Robin, 5 Mart. 515.

Minnesota.— See Kittson v. St. Paul Trust Co., 78 Minn. 325, 81 N. W. 7.

Mississippi.— Stubblefield v. McRaven, 5 Sm. & M. 130, 43 Am. Dec. 502.

Missouri.— Ro Bards v. Lamb, 89 Mo. 303, 1 S. W. 222; Van Bibber v. Julian, 81 Mo. 618; Woodworth v. Woodworth, 70 Mo. 601; Williams v. Petticrew, 62 Mo. 460; Townsend v. Townsend, 60 Mo. 246; Lewis v. Williams, 54 Mo. 200; Murray v. Roberts, 48 Mo. 307; Picot v. Bates, 47 Mo. 390; Barton v. Barton, 35 Mo. 158; Caldwell v. Lockridge, 9 Mo. 362; Weinerth v. Trendley, 39 Mo. App. 333; Haeussler v. Scheitlin, 9 Mo. App. 303.

New Hampshire.— Hurlburt v. Wheeler, 40 N. H. 73.

New Jersey.— In re Heath, 52 N. J. Eq. 807, 33 Atl. 46.

New York.— See In re Crise, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 202, 2 Connoly Surr. 59; Ball v. Miller, 17 How. Pr. 300; Wright v. New York M. E. Church Corp., Hoffm. 202.

Ohio.— Banning v. Gotshall, 62 Ohio St. 210, 56 N. E. 1030; Swearingen v. Morris, 14 Ohio St. 424.

Oregon.— See Bellinger v. Thompson, 26 Oreg. 320, 37 Pac. 714, 40 Pac. 229. But compare Cross v. Baskett, 17 Oreg. 84, 21 Pac. 47.

Pennsylvania.— Schaeffer's Appeal, 119 Pa. St. 640, 13 Atl. 507; Smith v. Seaton, 117 Pa. St. 382, 11 Atl. 661, 2 Am. St. Rep. 668. Compare Weiting v. Nissley, 13 Pa. St. 650.

Rhode Island.— Doringh's Petition, 20 R. I. 459, 40 Atl. 4.

Tennessee.— See Cooper v. Burton, 7 Baxt. 406.

Texas.— Watkins v. Sansom, 22 Tex. Civ. App. 178, 54 S. W. 1096.

Utah.— Ehrngren v. Gronlund, 19 Utah 411, 57 Pac. 268.

United States.— See Newman v. Moody, 19 Fed. 858.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2267.

Interest.— When an adjudication upon executors' accounts has been confirmed absolutely, the awards, whether to creditors or legatees, become final judgments, and, if not promptly paid, bear interest from that date. Wainwright's Estate, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 274.

Want of proper parties.— A settlement is not conclusive when there is a total want of appropriate parties and by consequence a defect of jurisdiction. Green v. Sargeant, 23 Vt. 466, 56 Am. Dec. 88; Adams v. Adams, 22 Vt. 50.

Void settlement inoperative.— Stockton v. Ransom, 60 Mo. 535, holding that a settle-

b. Persons Concluded. The personal representative[77] and all other persons who are interested in the estate, of whom the court has acquired jurisdiction by due notice or service of citation, or who personally appear, are concluded by a decree of final settlement, but persons of whom jurisdiction is not acquired are not concluded thereby.[78] A minor is concluded when the court has acquired ment made in vacation is invalid and of no effect. See also Cloney's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 327.

Reversal on appeal renders settlement inoperative. Appleton v. Marx, 62 Fed. 638, 10 C. C. A. 555.

In New York the effect of the judicial settlement of the account of a personal representative is expressly declared by statute. Code Civ. Proc. § 2742. As to the construction of this statute see Mahoney v. Bernhard, 169 N. Y. 589, 62 N. E. 1097 [affirming 45 N. Y. App. Div. 499, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 642 (modifying 27 Misc. 339, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 748)]; Van Rensselaer v. Van Rensselaer, 113 N. Y. 207, 21 N. E. 75; In re Soutter, 105 N. Y. 514, 12 N. E. 34; In re Hood, 90 N. Y. 512 [reversing 27 Hun 579]; Poughkeepsie Bank v. Hasbrouck, 6 N. Y. 216; Matter of Irvin, 87 N. Y. App. Div. 466, 84 N. Y. Suppl. 707; Skillin v. Central Trust Co., 80 N. Y. App. Div. 206, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 188; Matter of Turner, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 495, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 573; Matter of Killan, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 312, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 714; Matter of Union Trust Co., 65 N. Y. App. Div. 449, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 977 [affirmed without opinion in 174 N. Y. 541, 66 N. E. 1117]; Kager v. Brenneman, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 63, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 339, 30 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 168; Frethey v. Durant, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 58, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 839; Baldwin v. Smith, 91 Hun 230, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 159; Fulton v. Whitney, 5 Hun 16 [affirmed in 66 N. Y. 548]; Rose v. Lewis, 3 Lans. 320; Wurts v. Jenkins, 11 Barb. 546; Shimmel v. Morse, 30 Misc. 257, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 322; Matter of Whitbeck, 22 Misc. 494, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 932.

77. Louisiana.— See Serret v. Labauve, 15 La. Ann. 186; Capdevielle v. Erwin, 13 La. Ann. 286.

Maine.— See Treat v. Treat, 80 Me. 156, 13 Atl. 684.

Maryland.— See Scott v. Burch, 6 Harr. & J. 67.

Massachusetts.— See Davis v. Cowdin, 20 Pick. 510; White v. Starr, 13 Pick. 380.

Mississippi.— Singleton v. Garrett, 23 Miss. 195.

New York.— See Marsh v. Avery, 81 N. Y. 29; O'Brien v. Heeney, 2 Edw. 242.

Pennsylvania.— See Patton's Estate, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 545.

South Carolina.— See Wright v. Wright, 2 McCord Eq. 185.

United States.— Butterfield v. Smith, 101 U. S. 570, 25 L. ed. 868.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2278.

Removed representative not bound when not a party. Reither v. Murdock, 135 Cal. 197, 67 Pac. 784.

Settlement not binding on representative of representative who had no notice. Boyd v. Kaufman, 6 Munf. (Va.) 45.

One who has rendered services at the instance of the personal representative is concluded, as he claims under the personal representative who is concluded. Lyon v. Hays, 30 Ala. 430.

Sureties.— According to the weight of authority a decree of final settlement of a personal representative's account is conclusive not only upon him, but also upon his sureties. Bellinger v. Thompson, 26 Oreg. 320, 37 Pac. 714, 40 Pac. 229. See also Slagle v. Entrekin, 44 Ohio St. 637, 10 N. E. 675. And see infra, XVII.

78. Alabama.— Sampey v. Sowell, 93 Ala. 447, 9 So. 600; Werborn v. Austin, 82 Ala. 498, 8 So. 280; Carter v. Carter, 53 Ala. 365; Horn v. Grayson, 7 Port. 270. See also Pinney v. Werborn, 72 Ala. 58.

Arkansas.— Crowley v. Mellon, 52 Ark. 1, 11 S. W. 876.

California.— It is provided by statute that after due notice is given "the settlement of the account and the allowance thereof by the court, or upon appeal, is conclusive against all persons in any way interested in the estate," with a saving in favor of persons under legal disability. Code Civ. Proc. § 1637. See Briggs v. Breen, 123 Cal. 657, 56 Pac. 633, 886 (holding that the attorney of the personal representative is not a person interested in the estate); In re Couts, 87 Cal. 480, 25 Pac. 685, 100 Cal. 400, 34 Pac. 865; Washington v. Black, 83 Cal. 290, 23 Pac. 300; Tobelman v. Hildebrandt, 72 Cal. 313, 14 Pac. 20; Williams v. Price, 11 Cal. 212; Clarke v. Perry, 5 Cal. 58, 63 Am. Dec. 82; In re Keenan, Myr. Prob. 186.

Illinois.— Burnett v. Burnett, 38 Ill. App. 186.

Indiana.— Shirley v. Thompson, 123 Ind. 454, 24 N. E. 253.

Louisiana.—Winn's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 702; Castillo v. Elliott, 13 La. Ann. 363; Whitten's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 417; Mann's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 28. Personal citation to the heirs is necessary to render the judgment homologating an administrator's final account binding as between the heirs and the administrator; but as between the heirs and creditors of the succession, it has been held that the homologation is binding without personal citation or notice, when the notice has been given as required by statute. Couder's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 810, 17 So. 317; Vom Hoven's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 911, 15 So. 391; Conrad's Succession, 45 La. Ann. 89, 11 So. 935; Yarborough's Succession, 16 La. Ann. 258; Carter v. McManus, 15 La. Ann. 676; Truxillo v. Truxillo, 11 La. Ann. 412.

Michigan.— Gee v. Hasbrouck, 128 Mich. 509, 87 N. W. 621.

jurisdiction of his regular guardian or when he is represented by a regularly appointed guardian ad litem, but not otherwise.[79]

c. Matters Concluded. A final settlement is conclusive as to all matters, the proper subject of account, included in such a settlement or necessarily involved therein;[80] but as to matters not included or necessarily involved it is not conclu-

Mississippi.— Lambeth v. Elder, 44 Miss. 80.

Missouri.—Nelson v. Barnett, 123 Mo. 564, 27 S. W. 520; Patterson v. Booth, 103 Mo. 402, 15 S. W. 543; Van Bibber v. Julian, 81 Mo. 618; Sheetz v. Kirtley, 62 Mo. 417; Johnson v. Johnson, 72 Mo. App. 386.

Nebraska.— Shelby v. Creighton, 65 Nebr. 485, 91 N. W. 369.

New Jersey.—See Budd v. Hiler, 27 N. J. L. 43; Livingston v. Combs, 1 N. J. L. 42; Bray v. Neill, 21 N. J. Eq. 343; Adams v. Adams, (Ch. 1888) 14 Atl. 575, (Ch. 1889) 17 Atl. 775.

New York.— A judicial settlement of the account of a personal representative is conclusive against all the parties who were duly cited or appeared, and all persons deriving title from any of them at any time. Code Civ. Proc. § 2742. See Denton v. Sanford, 103 N. Y. 607, 9 N. E. 490 [affirming 39 Hun 487]; Davis v. Crandall, 101 N. Y. 311, 4 N. E. 721; Matter of Turner, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 495, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 573; Matter of Gall, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 255, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 254; People v. Townsend, 37 Barb. 520; Matter of O'Brien, 33 Misc. 17, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 1116; Shimmel v. Morse, 30 Misc. 257, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 322; Matter of Crise, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 202, 2 Connoly Surr. 59; McCunn's Estate, 15 N. Y. St. 712; Wells v. Wallace, 2 Redf. Surr. 58; Redmond v. Ely, 2 Bradf. Surr. 175.

Pennsylvania.— Garwin's Appeal, 2 Am. L. J. 253.

South Carolina.— Ward v. Parker, 19 S. C. 603; Roberts v. Johns, 16 S. C. 171.

United States.— Beatty v. Maryland, 7 Cranch 281, 3 L. ed. 343; Lipse v. Spears, 88 Fed. 952.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2277.

Conclusiveness upon legatees and distributees see the following cases:

Illinois.— Curts v. Brooks, 71 Ill. 125.

Louisiana.— Miguez v. Delcambre, 109 La. 1090, 34 So. 99; Miller v. Rougieux, 20 La. Ann. 577; Bujac v. Loste, 12 La. Ann. 96; Bry v. Dowell, 1 Rob. 111.

Maryland.— Appler v. Merryman, 91 Md. 706, 47 Atl. 1026.

Mississippi.— Crawford v. Redus, 54 Miss. 700.

Missouri.— Bishop v. Chase, 156 Mo. 158, 56 S. W. 1080, 79 Am. St. Rep. 515; Lycan v. Miller, 56 Mo. App. 79.

New Hampshire.— Starkey v. Kingsley, 69 N. H. 293, 39 Atl. 1017; Symmes v. Libbey, Smith 137.

Ohio.—Clark v. Clark, 16 Ohio Cir. Ct. 103, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 752.

Pennsylvania.—McCullough v. Montgomery, 7 Serg. & R. 17.

United States.— Butterfield v. Smith, 101 U. S. 570, 25 L. ed. 868; Lupton v. Janney, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,607, 5 Cranch C. C. 474 [affirmed in 13 Pet. 381, 10 L. ed. 210].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2279.

Conclusiveness upon creditors see Jefferson v. Edrington, 53 Ark. 545, 14 S. W. 99, 903; Hood v. Hood, 80 Ky. 39, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 515; Bellocq's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 154; Carter v. McManus, 15 La. Ann. 676; Elwood v. Deifendorf, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 398; Bogart v. Van Velsor, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 718.

Persons having a life-interest in an estate are bound by the accountings had in the surrogate's court, to which they were regularly cited, although those entitled to the property on the termination of the life-estates were not cited. Elsworth v. Hinton, 47 Hun (N. Y.) 625.

Conclusiveness of finding of notice.— A decree of the orphans' court on final settlement of the accounts of an administrator, adjudging that due notice of such settlement was given, is conclusive. Boulton v. Scott, 3 N. J. Eq. 231.

Effect of recitals as to notice.— Upon an issue whether the heirs and legatees had notice of a final settlement, recitals of the decree are prima facie correct, but are not conclusive of the fact of notice. Crawford v. Redus, 54 Miss. 700. Compare Pollock v. Buie, 43 Miss. 140.

79. Alabama.— Watts v. Frazer, 80 Ala. 186; Hutton v. Williams, 60 Ala. 133; Jones v. Fellows, 58 Ala. 343; Stabler v. Cook, 57 Ala. 22; Waring v. Lewis, 53 Ala. 615; Collier v. Slaughter, 22 Ala. 671.

Kentucky.— See Stull v. Davidson, 12 Bush 167.

Mississippi.— Dogan v. Brown, 44 Miss. 235; Cason v. Cason, 31 Miss. 578.

New Hampshire.— Simmons v. Goodell, 63 N. H. 458, 2 Atl. 897.

Pennsylvania.— See Tysseur's Estate, 31 Pittsb. Leg. J. 86; Lang's Estate, 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. 97.

Tennessee.— See Allen v. Shanks, 90 Tenn. 359, 16 S. W. 715.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2281.

80. Alabama.— Waring v. Lewis, 53 Ala. 615.

California.— In re Stott, 52 Cal. 403.

Colorado.— French v. Woodruff, 25 Colo. 339, 54 Pac. 1015.

Connecticut.— See Sellew's Appeal, 36 Conn. 186.

Kentucky.— See Bush v. Hampton, 4 Dana 83.

Louisiana.— Hoss' Succession, 42 La. Ann. 1022, 8 So. 833; De Egana's Succession, 18 La. Ann. 263; Peytavin's Succession, 10 Rob.

sive.[81] It follows therefore that such a settlement is not conclusive as to assets not accounted for in such statement or received thereafter and that as to such assets the personal representative may be required to make a further settlement.[82]

118. See also Conrad's Succession, 45 La. Ann. 89, 11 So. 935.

Mississippi.— See Cole v. Leak, 31 Miss. 131.

Missouri.— State v. Gray, 106 Mo. 526, 17 S. W. 500; Van Bibber v. Julian, 81 Mo. 618; Sheetz v. Kirtley, 62 Mo. 417; Johnson v. Johnson, 72 Mo. App. 386.

Nebraska.— Shelby v. Creighton, 65 Nebr. 485, 91 N. W. 369, 101 Am. St. Rep. 630.

New York.— See Douglas v. Yost, 64 Hun 155, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 830, 28 Abb. N. Cas. 370; Matter of Chase, 40 Misc. 616, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 62; Sheldon v. Sheldon, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 477.

Ohio.— McAfee v. Phillips, 25 Ohio St. 374; Sharp v. Pontius, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 7, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 331.

Pennsylvania.— Sager v. Lindsey, 118 Pa. St. 25, 13 Atl. 211; McFadden v. Geddis, 17 Serg. & R. 336.

Texas.—See Herbert v. Herbert, (Civ. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 594.

Vermont.— See Riz v. Smith, 8 Vt. 365.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2282.

Payment of debts.— Where a probate court makes an order of final settlement of an estate and discharges the personal representative, such action involves a consideration and approval of payments made by the representative, and if the court has jurisdiction to declare the estate settled such payments are thereby ratified. People v. Medart, 166 Ill. 348, 46 N. E. 1095 [affirming 63 Ill. App. 111].

Correctness of items of account.— A decree of judicial settlement of an administration account by the orphans' court is conclusive as to the correctness of the items set out in the account and directly acted upon by the court. App v. Dreisbach, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 287, 21 Am. Dec. 447.

Allowance of compensation.— A decree allowing compensation to the personal representative and fixing the amount thereof is conclusive as to that matter (Ringgold v. Stone, 20 Ark. 526; Simonds v. Creswell, 10 La. Ann. 318; Scott v. Dorsey, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 227; Mount v. Slack, 45 N. J. Eq. 129, 17 Atl. 297, 45 N. J. Eq. 889, 19 Atl. 622; Matter of Prentice, 25 N. Y. App. Div. 209, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 353) when not appealed from (Thomas v. Frederick County School, 9 Gill & J. (Md.) 115), and cannot be collaterally attacked (Barney v. Saunders, 16 How. (U. S.) 535, 14 L. ed. 1047; Campbell v. Strong, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,367*a*, Hempst. 265). An order of the probate court in the final settlement of the administration of an estate, by joint administrators, awarding a certain sum to one of the administrators for extra services is not, however, a conclusive adjudication against the other administrator as to the right of the one, to whom the allowance was made, to the entire sum so awarded (Oakley v. Oakley, 111 Ala. 506, 20 So. 335), and a decree allowing compensation is not conclusive upon persons interested in the estate who are not duly notified of the proceeding or cited to appear (Collins v. Tilton, 58 Ind. 374; Baldwin v. Carleton, 11 Rob. (La.) 109; Millaudon v. Cajus, 6 La. 222. See also Royster v. Wright, 118 N. C. 152, 24 S. E. 746.

81. Colorado.— Hartsel v. People, 21 Colo. 296, 40 Pac. 567.

Connecticut.— See Sellew's Appeal, 36 Conn. 186.

Georgia.— See Davis v. Harper, 54 Ga. 180.

Illinois.— Bayless v. People, 56 Ill. App. 55. See also Diversey v. Johnson, 93 Ill. 547.

Iowa.— Crosley v. Calhoon, 45 Iowa 557.

Missouri.— Bramell v. Adams, 146 Mo. 70, 47 S. W. 931; Nelson v. Barnett, 123 Mo. 564, 27 S. W. 520. See also State v. Jones, 131 Mo. 194, 33 S. W. 23.

New York.— See Matter of Haslehurst, 4 Misc. 366, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 827.

Pennsylvania.— Hibshman v. Dulleban, 4 Watts 183. See also In re Schulte, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 95.

Vermont.— Boomhower v. Babbitt, 67 Vt. 327, 31 Atl. 838.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2282.

When an account is homologated only in "so far as not opposed" the heirs are not concluded as to items in the account to which opposition was filed by creditors. Schaffer's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 113. See also Cabrol's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 609; Gaines v. New Orleans, 6 Wall. (U. S.) 642, 18 L. ed. 950.

As to matters not within the jurisdiction of the court a final settlement is not conclusive.

Alabama.— Gerald v. Bunkley, 17 Ala. 170.

Arkansas.— Clark v. Shelton, 16 Ark. 474.

Maine.— Mattocks v. Moulton, 84 Me. 545, 24 Atl. 1004.

Missouri.— Patterson v. Booth, 103 Mo. 402, 15 S. W. 543.

Pennsylvania.— Work v. Work, 14 Pa. St. 316.

South Carolina.— Hollady v. Hollady, 24 S. C. 521.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2287.

But compare Baker v. Baker, 51 Wis. 538, 8 N. W. 289.

82. Maine.— See Robinson v. Ring, 72 Me. 140, 39 Am. Rep. 308.

Maryland.— See Wilson v. McCarty, 55 Md. 277.

Michigan.— See Porter v. Long, 124 Mich. 584, 83 N. W. 601.

Mississippi.— Smith v. Hurd, 7 How. 188. See also Henderson v. Winchester, 31 Miss. 290.

d. Effect on Pending Actions. A final settlement made pending litigation against the estate is unwarranted and will not defeat a recovery; but the pending suit may proceed and judgment be rendered against the personal representative notwithstanding such settlement.[83]

e. Effect on Jurisdiction of Probate Court. After a personal representative has made a final settlement and has resigned or been discharged, and the administration has been closed, the jurisdiction of the probate court ceases.[84]

f. Collateral Attack. An order or decree rendered on the final settlement of a personal representative like other judgments is not generally subject to collateral attack. The remedy of a person aggrieved thereby is to seek its reversal on appeal, or when the proper grounds exist to institute a direct proceeding to have it set aside.[85]

Missouri.— State v. Stuart, 74 Mo. App. 182. But compare Patterson v. Booth, 103 Mo. 402, 15 S. W. 543.

New Hampshire.— See Clough v. Clark, 63 N. H. 403, 1 Atl. 201.

New York.— See Brown v. Brown, 53 Barb. 217; Paff v. Kinney, 5 Sandf. 380.

North Carolina.— See McAdoo v. Thompson, 72 N. C. 408.

Ohio.— McAfee v. Phillips, 25 Ohio St. 374.

Pennsylvania.— Shuman's Appeal, 27 Pa. St. 64, 1 Grant 272. See also Mutchmore's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 293, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 257; In re Carpenter, 3 Lanc. L. Rev. 5.

Vermont.— Davis v. Eastman, 66 Vt. 651, 30 Atl. 1; Probate Ct. v. Merriam, 8 Vt. 234.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2289, 2290.

But compare Modawell v. Holmes, 40 Ala. 391.

Interest on money received.— A settlement of an administrator's account, in which he does not charge himself with interest on money received, does not preclude a subsequent inquiry as to charging him with such interest; but, if there is an adjudication as to the matter of interest, the settlement is conclusive, unless the administrator was guilty of fraud. Saxton v. Chamberlain, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 422.

Evidence of funds unaccounted for.— In an action by the heirs of the testator, the homologation of the executor's account is no bar to the introduction of evidence to show that the executor had received funds for which he had not accounted, or failed to put in any previous account, when it is offered before he has been discharged. Johnston v. Cox, 13 La. 536.

83. Ogden v. Waller, 24 Miss. 190; Smiley v. Cockrell, 92 Mo. 105, 4 S. W. 443. See also Neill v. Hodge, 5 Tex. 487.

84. Alabama.— Bryant v. Horn, 42 Ala. 496. See also Horn v. Bryan, 44 Ala. 88; Modawell v. Holmes, 40 Ala. 391.

Iowa.— Jordan v. Hunnell, 96 Iowa 334, 65 N. W. 302.

Louisiana.— Caire v. Judge Twenty-third Dist. Ct., 43 La. Ann. 1133, 10 So. 178; Gillespie v. Twitchell, 34 La. Ann. 288; Augustin v. Avila, 29 La. Ann. 837; Taylor's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 367.

Maryland.— Binnerman v. Weaver, 8 Md. 517.

Texas.— Davis v. Harwood, 70 Tex. 71, 8 S. W. 58; Long v. Wooters, 18 Tex. Civ. App. 35, 45 S. W. 165.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2276.

85. Alabama.— Modawell v. Holmes, 40 Ala. 391.

Arkansas.— Dooley v. Dooley, 14 Ark. 122.

California.— Tobelman v. Hildebrant, 72 Cal. 313, 14 Pac. 20. See also Crew v. Pratt, 119 Cal. 131, 51 Pac. 44.

Delaware.— State v. Barnett, 2 Marv. 115, 42 Atl. 420.

Georgia.— See Groves v. Williams, 68 Ga. 598.

Indiana.— Jones v. Jones, 115 Ind. 504, 18 N. E. 20; Carver v. Lewis, 104 Ind. 438, 2 N. E. 705, 105 Ind. 44, 2 N. E. 714; Peacocke v. Leffler, 74 Ind. 327; Sanders v. Loy, 61 Ind. 298; Kuhn v. Boehne, 27 Ind. App. 340, 61 N. E. 199.

Iowa.— Harlin v. Stevenson, 30 Iowa 371.

Maine.— Harlow v. Harlow, 65 Me. 448.

Maryland.— Roberts v. Roberts, 71 Md. 1, 17 Atl. 568.

Massachusetts.— Parcher v. Bussell, 11 Cush. 107.

Minnesota.— See State v. Ramsey County Prob. Ct., 40 Minn. 296, 41 N. W. 1033.

Mississippi.— Austin v. Lamar, 23 Miss. 189.

Missouri.— Van Bibber v. Julian, 81 Mo. 618; Whittelsey v. Dorsett, 23 Mo. 236; State v. Roland, 23 Mo. 95; State v. Carroll, 101 Mo. App. 110, 74 S. W. 468.

New Jersey.— Voorhees v. Voorhees, 18 N. J. Eq. 223 (holding that the final settlement and allowance of an intermediate account cannot be inquired into collaterally); Ordinary v. Kershaw, 14 N. J. Eq. 527. Compare Lippincott v. Bechtold, 54 N. J. Eq. 407, 34 Atl. 1079.

New York.— Matter of Stevens, 40 Misc. 377, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 397; Newcomb v. St. Peter's Church, 2 Sandf. Ch. 636. Compare Abell v. Bradner, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 64.

Pennsylvania.— See McNeal v. Holbrook, 25 Pa. St. 189.

Tennessee.— See Grimstead v. Huggins, 13 Lea 728.

Texas.— Debrell v. Ponton, 27 Tex. 623; Kearney v. Nicholson, (Civ. App. 1901) 67 S. W. 361; Ball v. Ball, (Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 605.

2. Ex Parte Settlements. Ex parte settlements of accounts by personal representatives are prima facie evidence of their correctness, but they are not conclusive,[86] and in some jurisdictions this is established as the rule by express statutory provisions.[87]

Wisconsin.— Barker v. Barker, 14 Wis. 131.

United States.— Tate v. Norton, 94 U. S. 746, 24 L. ed. 222. See also Barney v. Saunders, 16 How. 535, 14 L. ed. 1047.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2269.

Collateral attack for want of jurisdiction see Gamble v. Jordan, 54 Ala. 432 (holding that an irregularity in the appointment of a guardian ad litem for an infant who was a necessary party to the settlement was a mere matter of error, not of jurisdiction, and did not detract from the conclusiveness of the decree pronounced by the court); State v. Burkam, 23 Ind. App. 271, 55 N. E. 237; Nash v. Sawyer, 114 Iowa 742, 87 N. W. 707.

Collateral attack for fraud in procuring order or decree see Pass v. Pass, 98 Ga. 791, 25 S. E. 752 (construing Ga. Code, §§ 2609, 3828, 3594); Voorhees v. Voorhees, 18 N. J. Eq. 223. But compare Smith v. Hauger, 150 Mo. 437, 51 S. W. 1052; State v. Carroll, 101 Mo. App. 110, 74 S. W. 468.

Void orders and judgments.— Orders and judgments which the probate court has not the power under any circumstances to make or order are null, and being null their nullity may be asserted in any collateral proceeding where they are relied on in support of a claim of right. Trammel v. Philleo, 33 Tex. 395.

86. Georgia.— Shine v. Redwine, 30 Ga. 780. See Cumming v. Fryer, Dudley 182.

Iowa.— Clark v. Cress, 20 Iowa 50.

Kentucky.— Thomason v. Thomason, 1 Metc. 51; Smith v. Hoskins, 7 J. J. Marsh. 502; Logan v. Troutman, 3 A. K. Marsh. 66; Burns v. Burton, 1 A. K. Marsh. 349; Cochran v. Davis, 5 Litt. 118.

Louisiana.— Kendrick's Succession, 7 Rob. 138; Williams' Succession, 7 Rob. 46; Verret v. Aubert, 6 La. 350; Marchand v. Gracie, 2 La. 147; Ballio v. Wilson, 8 Mart. N. S. 344.

Maryland.— Seighman v. Marshall, 17 Md. 550; Scott v. Fox, 14 Md. 388; Gist v. Cockey, 7 Harr. & J. 134. See also Evans v. Iglehart, 6 Gill & J. 171; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 3 Md. Ch. 71.

Mississippi.— See Vertner v. McMurran, Freem. 136.

Nebraska.— Boales v. Ferguson, 55 Nebr. 565, 76 N. W. 18.

Ohio.— Muskingum Bank v. Carpenter, 7 Ohio 21, 28 Am. Dec. 616.

South Carolina.— Neville v. Robinson. 1 Bailey 361; Miller v. Alexander, 1 Hill Eq. 25.

United States.— Lupton v. Janney, 13 Pet. 381, 10 L. ed. 210.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2268.

The burden of proof is upon the person impeaching the correctness of such a settlement.

Georgia.— Wright v. Bessman, 55 Ga. 187; Brown v. Wright, 5 Ga. 29.

Illinois.— See Eckley v. Clark, 24 Ill. App. 495.

Maryland.— Owens v. Collinson, 3 Gill & J. 25.

Virginia.— Wimbish v. Rawlins, 76 Va. 48.

United States.— Lupton v. Janney, 13 Pet. 381, 10 L. ed. 210.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2268.

A final settlement made without notice is not conclusive, but like an annual settlement is to be treated as prima facie correct. Crawford v. Redus, 54 Miss. 700; Winborn v. King, 35 Miss. 157; Heitkamp v. Biedustein, 3 Mo. App. 450. See also Sumrall v. Sumrall, 24 Miss. 258.

87. See the following cases:

Kentucky.— Owensboro Deposit Bank v. Smith, 109 Ky. 311, 58 S. W. 792, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 808; Turley v. Barnes, 103 Ky. 127, 44 S. W. 446, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1808; Manion v. Titsworth, 18 B. Mon. 582; Scott v. Kennedy, 12 B. Mon. 510; Calvert v. Holland, 9 B. Mon. 458; Cundiff v. Zachary, 1 Dana 371; Briscoe v. Brady, 6 T. B. Mon. 134; Thome v. Allen, 49 S. W. 1068, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1728; Raison v. Williams, 42 S. W. 1108, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1142; Stanberry v. Robinson, 27 S. W. 973, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 310; Carrico v. Brummel, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 776; Crow v. Crow, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 909; Frazier v. Cavanaugh, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 711.

North Carolina.—Allen v. Royster, 107 N. C. 278, 12 S. E. 134; Turner v. Turner, 104 N. C. 566, 10 S. E. 606; Grant v. Hughes, 94 N. C. 231; State University v. Hughes, 90 N. C. 537.

Tennessee.— Vaccaro v. Cicalla, 89 Tenn. 63, 14 S. W. 43; Alvis v. Oglesby, 87 Tenn. 172, 10 S. W. 313; Murray v. Luna, 86 Tenn. 326, 6 S. W. 603; Shield v. Alsup, 5 Lea 508; Snodgrass v. Snodgrass, 1 Baxt. 157; Milly v. Harrison, 7 Coldw. 191; Curd v. Bonner, 4 Coldw. 632; Elrod v. Lancaster, 2 Head 571, 75 Am. Dec. 749; Turney v. Williams, 7 Yerg. 172 (circumstances under which such settlement has force and effect of a stated account); Burton v. Dickinson, 3 Yerg. 112; Stephenson v. Yandel, 5 Hayw. 261; Stephenson v. Stephenson, 3 Hayw. 123; Bashaw v. Blakemore, 1 Overt. 348; Greenlee v. Hays, 1 Overt. 300.

Virginia.— Scott v. Porter, 99 Va. 553, 39 S. E. 220; Leavell v. Smith, 99 Va. 374, 38 S. E. 202; Robinett v. Robinett, 92 Va. 124, 22 S. E. 856; Hurt v. West, 87 Va. 78, 12 S. E. 141; Radford v. Fowlkes, 85 Va. 820, 8 S. E. 817; Carter v. Edmonds, 80 Va. 58; Wimbish v. Rawlins, 76 Va. 48; Leake v. Leake, 75 Va. 792; Robertson v. Wright, 17

3. ANNUAL OR PARTIAL SETTLEMENTS.[88] Annual or partial settlements of personal representatives, when made ex parte, as they usually are, have not, like final settlements, the force and effect of judgments and so are not conclusive, but are only prima facie evidence of the correctness of the account stated;[89] the burden of overcoming this presumption being, however, upon the party impeaching such a settlement.[90] As to any matters contested and adjudicated on such settlements, Gratt. 534; Shearman v. Christian, 9 Leigh 571; Wyllie v. Venable, 4 Munf. 369; McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. 288; Cavendish v. Fleming, 3 Munf. 198; Mountjoy v. Lowry, 4 Hen. & M. 428; Atwell v. Milton, 4 Hen. & M. 253; Nimmo v. Com., 4 Hen. & M. 57, 4 Am. Dec. 488; Anderson v. Fox, 2 Hen. & M. 245.

West Virginia.— Van Winkle v. Blackford, 33 W. Va. 573, 11 S. E. 26; Seabright v. Seabright, 28 W. Va. 412; Kyle v. Kyle, 25 W. Va. 376; Leach v. Buckner, 19 W. Va. 36; Bruce v. Bickerton, 18 W. Va. 342.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2268.

A bill to surcharge and falsify such settlement must specify wherein it is erroneous, and the specifications must be sustained by evidence. Green v. Thompson, 84 Va. 376, 5 S. E. 507; Corbin v. Mills, 19 Gratt. 438; Newton v. Poole, 12 Leigh 112.

The burden of proof is on plaintiff in attacking any item in such settlement to show that it is improper. Dearing v. Selvey, 50 W. Va. 4, 40 S. E. 478.

The right to attack a settlement may be lost by a delay for such a length of time and under such circumstances as to constitute laches. Bland v. Stewart, 35 W. Va. 518, 14 S. E. 215.

88. Distinction between annual and final settlement.— There is a broad distinction between the annual and the final settlement of an administrator. The one is wholly ex parte and without notice; the other can be made only upon due publication of notice to creditors and all persons interested. The one is made annually, or oftener, at the pleasure of the court; the other, only when the estate is fully administered. The one is for the information of the court and the convenience of the administrator in the management of the estate; the other, for the protection of the administrator, is a final adjudication of the respective rights and obligations of administrator, creditors, and heirs. The one is only prima facie correct, and is subject to correction of any errors or mistakes thereafter discovered in it, with appeal, or any direct proceeding to review it or set it aside; the other is conclusive and final, unless set aside by appeal or direct proceeding therefor, or impeached for fraud. The one is, so to speak, a judgment de bene esse; the other, a final judgment. Musick v. Beebe, 17 Kan. 47.

89. Alabama.— Tayloe v. Bush, 75 Ala. 432; Ditmar v. Bogle, 53 Ala. 169; Scruggs v. Orme, 46 Ala. 533; Holman v. Sims, 39 Ala. 709; Brazeale v. Brazeale, 9 Ala. 491. If such settlement is not made in conformity to the statute, it is not even prima facie correct. Jones v. Jones, 42 Ala. 218. Partial or annual settlements made without notice to the parties interested were not, prior to the adoption of the code, evidence for the administrator on final settlement. Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Duke v. Duke, 26 Ala. 673; McCreeliss v. Hinkle, 17 Ala. 459; Willis v. Willis, 16 Ala. 652. Under the act of 1843 partial or annual settlements were regarded by the court as partaking of the nature of final settlements, so far as to authorize a writ of error to lie to the supreme court. Thompson v. Hunt, 22 Ala. 517; Savage v. Benham, 11 Ala. 49.

Illinois.— Bliss v. Seaman, 165 Ill. 422, 46 N. E. 279; Emerick v. Hileman, 71 Ill. App. 512; Clifford v. Davis, 22 Ill. App. 316.

Indiana.— Fraim v. Millison, 59 Ind. 123; Collins v. Tilton, 58 Ind. 374; Goodwin v. Goodwin, 48 Ind. 584; State v. Brutch, 12 Ind. 381.

Iowa.— In re Heath, 58 Iowa 36, 11 N. W. 723.

Louisiana.— In re Beecroft, 28 La. Ann. 824.

Maryland.— Bantz v. Bantz, 52 Md. 686; In re Stratton, 46 Md. 551.

Mississippi.— Dement v. Heth, 45 Miss. 388; Harper v. Archer, 9 Sm. & M. 71.

Missouri.— Clarke v. Sinks, 144 Mo. 448, 46 S. W. 199; McPike v. McPike, 111 Mo. 216, 20 S. W. 12; Myers v. Myers, 98 Mo. 262, 11 S. W. 617; West v. West, 75 Mo. 204 (open to collateral attack); Seymour v. Seymour, 67 Mo. 303; Folger v. Heidel, 60 Mo. 284; Picot v. O'Fallon, 35 Mo. 29; In re Ansley, 95 Mo. App. 332, 68 S. W. 609.

Nebraska.— Bachelor v. Schmela, 49 Nebr. 37, 68 N. W. 378.

New Jersey.— Jackson v. Reynolds, 39 N. J. Eq. 313.

Texas.— Richardson v. Kennedy, 74 Tex. 507, 12 S. W. 219; McShan v. Lewis, (Civ. App. 1903) 76 S. W. 616.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2292; and infra, XV, H, 7.

Personal representative concluded.— It has been decided that the annual account of a personal representative is conclusive against him and in favor of the estate, unless it is shown that errors have arisen from mere oversight, mistake, or miscalculation. Stone v. Morgan, 65 Miss. 247, 3 So. 580; Effinger v. Richards, 35 Miss. 540. See also Tate v. Gairdner, 119 Ga. 133, 46 S. E. 73; Capdevielle v. Erwin, 13 La. Ann. 286; Dodson v. Dodson, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 110. But see Smith v. Smith, 13 Ala. 329; Watts v. Watts, 38 Ohio St. 480; Seabright v. Seabright, 28 W. Va. 412.

90. Alabama.— Dickie v. Dickie, 80 Ala. 57; Tayloe v. Bush, 75 Ala. 432.

however, the usual rule as to adjudications by the courts applies, and the parties contesting are concluded.[91]

4. Settlement on Resignation, Removal, or Death. A settlement made by a personal representative who resigns his trust while the estate remains unsettled is not a final settlement of the estate,[92] but is to be regarded as the final settlement of the outgoing representative,[93] and binds all persons interested as to the matters embraced in such settlement until it is set aside in some direct proceeding.[94] Legatees and distributees are bound by a settlement made in good faith and in the absence of fraud and collusion between the representative of a deceased rep-

Illinois.— Emerick v. Hileman, 71 Ill. App. 512.

Iowa.— In re Heath, 58 Iowa 36, 11 N. W. 723.

Louisiana.— Caballero's Succession, 25 La. Ann. 646.

Maryland.— Martin v. Jones, 87 Md. 43, 39 Atl. 102; Shafer v. Shafer, 85 Md. 554, 37 Atl. 167.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2292.

91. Baber v. Woods, 39 Ga. 643; Kittson v. St. Paul Trust Co., 78 Minn. 325, 81 N. W. 7. See also Turney v. Williams, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 172.

In California an order "settling an account of an executor or administrator" is appealable (Code Civ. Proc. § 963, subd. 3); and when proper notice has been given it is conclusive as to all items contained in it, except as against persons laboring under some legal disability. In this respect there is no difference between a final account, that is one made with a view to immediate distribution of the estate, and any other account; the code makes no distinction between them as to appealability, or as to the conclusiveness of orders settling them; and it has been expressly decided that the settlement of an annual account when not appealed from is conclusive. In re Grant, 131 Cal. 426, 63 Pac. 731; In re Fernandez, 119 Cal. 579, 51 Pac. 851; In re Marshall, 118 Cal. 379, 50 Pac. 540; In re Couts, 87 Cal. 480, 25 Pac. 685, 100 Cal. 400, 34 Pac. 865. See also In re Bell, 142 Cal. 97, 75 Pac. 679. But such a settlement is conclusive only as to the items included therein and does not estop the personal representative from including in his final account any item not previously included and passed upon in any annual account, although it be for a demand existing prior thereto. In re Adams, 131 Cal. 415, 63 Pac. 838. See also In re Hill, 62 Cal. 186; Walls v. Walker, 37 Cal. 424, 99 Am. Dec. 290. Semiannual returns of a public administrator, showing the condition of estates in his hands as required by Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1736, are not accounts stated and hence are not conclusive on persons interested in such estates, although they made no objection to such returns at the time they were filed. In re Hedrick, 127 Cal. 184, 59 Pac. 590.

In Delaware there seems to be no difference between a partial and a final account as to its conclusiveness, as to all matters embraced in it. Pickard v. Price, 5 Del. Ch. 239. See also Robinson v. Robinson, 3 Harr. 433.

In Michigan partial accounts settled after notice to persons interested, as required by statute, are conclusive as to all matters contained in them and not open to attack in the final accounting, except on the ground of fraud, unknown at the time of accounting. Porter v. Long, 124 Mich. 584, 83 N. W. 601; Morton v. Johnston, 124 Mich. 561, 83 N. W. 369. Annual accountings by a personal representative consisting of credits to him and charges against him will not, however, preclude inquiry into losses of securities resulting from his negligence on the ground that they were adjudications approving what had been done and thereby binding the estate. Cheever v. Ellis, 134 Mich. 645, 96 N. W. 1067.

In Pennsylvania the rule is that the confirmation of a merely partial account is a definitive decree and is conclusive as to the matters embraced in it. Rhoads' Appeal, 39 Pa. St. 186 [overruling Lights' Appeal, 22 Pa. St. 445; In re Walker, 3 Rawle 243; McGrew's Appeal, 14 Serg. & R. 396; Crouse's Estate, 16 Pa. Super. Ct. 212; Salloway's Estate, 5 Pa. Super. Ct. 272]. See also Bower's Appeal, 2 Pa. St. 432; In re Sharp, 37 Leg. Int. 133; Weaver's Estate, 5 Lanc. Bar, Jan. 24, 1874. Such an account is not, however, conclusive as to matters not included in it; it is simply conclusive as to such matters as have been adjudicated under it. Grim's Appeal, 109 Pa. St. 391, 1 Atl. 212; Fross' Appeal, 105 Pa. St. 258; McLellan's Appeal, 76 Pa. St. 231; Leslie's Appeal, 63 Pa. St. 355; Shindel's Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 43.

In Wisconsin the county court may upon notice as prescribed by statute settle and allow an account of a personal representative at any time before the rendition of his final account, and an account thus settled and allowed will be final and conclusive as to all matters embraced in it, and can be impeached or reopened only for fraud or mistake. Schinz v. Schinz, 90 Wis. 236, 63 N. W. 162.

92. Lang v. State, 67 Ind. 577.

93. Waller v. Ray, 48 Ala. 468. But see In re Glover, 127 Mo. 153, 29 S. W. 982.

94. Waller v. Ray, 48 Ala. 468; Lang v. State, 67 Ind. 577; Parsons v. Milford, 67 Ind. 489.

Settlement before appointment of successor. —Since a retiring representative must make his settlement with his successor, no final settlement can be made by him until his sucresentative and his co-representative,[95] or successor,[96] or between an outgoing representative and his successor,[97] although as to the successor such a settlement is to be regarded as prima facie evidence only.[98]

H. Opening, Vacating, or Setting Aside Settlements — 1. Jurisdiction. It is well settled that final settlements of personal representatives like other judgments and decrees may be opened or set aside by courts of equity when sufficient grounds appear,[99] and in some states, either by virtue of inherent equity jurisdiction or as the result of express statutory enactments, probate courts have the same power.[1] In other states, however, the power of a probate court to discessor is appointed, and a purported final settlement made by him before such appointment will have the force of an annual settlement only. Emmons v. Gordon, 125 Mo. 636, 28 S. W. 863.

95. Douglass v. Murray, 63 Ga. 369.

96. Austin v. Raiford, 68 Ga. 201.

97. Waring v. Lewis, 53 Ala. 615.

98. Waring v. Lewis, 53 Ala. 615.

99. Alabama.— Watts v. Frazer, 80 Ala. 186; Waldrom v. Waldrom, 76 Ala. 285; Waring v. Lewis, 53 Ala. 615; Morrow v. Allison, 39 Ala. 70.

Arkansas.— Jones v. Graham, 36 Ark. 383.

California.— Cahalan's Estate, 70 Cal. 604, 12 Pac. 427.

Georgia.— A discharge obtained by an executor by means of a fraud practised upon the legatees or the ordinary is void by express statute, and while it may be set aside by motion in the court of ordinary upon proof of the fraud, it may also be collaterally attacked as a nullity by an equitable petition in the superior court. Pass v. Pass, 98 Ga. 791, 25 S. E. 752. See also Jacobs v. Pou, 18 Ga. 346.

Illinois.— Anderson v. Anderson, 77 Ill. App. 533.

Indiana.— Brackenridge v. Holland, 2 Blackf. 377, 20 Am. Dec. 123; Allen v. Clark, 2 Blackf. 343.

Kansas.— Ladd v. Nystol, 63 Kan. 23, 64 Pac. 985; Gafford v. Dickinson, 37 Kan. 287, 15 Pac. 175; Shoemaker v. Brown, 10 Kan. 383.

Kentucky.— Speed v. Nelson, 8 B. Mon. 499.

Mississippi.— The court of chancery may set aside a settlement for fraud and direct a new settlement in the probate court, but it has no power to assume the jurisdiction of the probate court and have the settlement made in its own forum. Foute v. McDonald, 27 Miss. 610; Neylans v. Burge, 14 Sm. & M. 201; Searles v. Scott, 14 Sm. & M. 94; Green v. Creighton, 10 Sm. & M. 159, 48 Am. Dec. 742; Turnbull v. Endicott, 3 Sm. & M. 302.

Missouri.— Baldwin v. Dalton, 168 Mo. 20, 67 S. W. 599; State v. Roberts, 60 Mo. 402; Oldham v. Trimble, 15 Mo. 225.

North Carolina.— Murphy v. Harrison, 65 N. C. 246.

South Carolina.— Harris v. Stilwell, 4 S. C. 19.

Wisconsin.— McLachlan v. Staples, 13 Wis. 448.

United States.— Griffith v. Godey, 113 U. S. 89, 5 S. Ct. 383, 28 L. ed. 934.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2221.

Positive statute necessary to extinguish jurisdiction.— The jurisdiction of courts of equity in this respect is not taken away or abridged by a statute conferring a like jurisdiction upon probate courts (Black v. Whitall, 9 N. J. Eq. 572, 59 Am. Dec. 423; Vanmeter v. Jones, 3 N. J. Eq. 520; Boulton v. Scott, 3 N. J. Eq. 231); such jurisdiction is not extinguished by anything short of direct and positive prohibitory enactment (Baldwin v. Dalton, 168 Mo. 20, 67 S. W. 599; Stewart v. Colwell, 54 Mo. 536; Dingle v. Pollick, 49 Mo. App. 479).

Unconfirmed settlements.— A suit in equity will not be entertained to correct frauds in unconfirmed settlements of an executor's accounts; and if an executor has settled his accounts several times, and another settlement is pending in the probate court, his failure to charge himself with certain assets in any of the settlements cannot be the subject of an equitable suit. Hankins v. Layne, 48 Ark. 544, 3 S. W. 821.

1. California.— See Wiggin v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 68 Cal. 398, 9 Pac. 646.

Connecticut.— See Sellew's Appeal, 36 Conn. 186.

Indiana.— Graham v. Russell, 152 Ind. 186, 52 N. E. 806; Williams v. Williams, 125 Ind. 156, 25 N. E. 176.

Maine.— Smith v. Dutton, 16 Me. 308.

Massachusetts.— Boynton v. Dyer, 18 Pick. 1; Stetson v. Bass, 9 Pick. 27; Jenison v. Hapgood, 7 Pick. 1, 19 Am. Dec. 258. See also Sever v. Russell, 4 Cush. 513, 50 Am. Dec. 811; White v. Woodberry, 9 Pick. 136.

Mississippi.— Mayo v. Clancy, 57 Miss. 674; Bowen v. Seale, 45 Miss. 30; Bowers v. Williams, 34 Miss. 324; Gadberry v. Perry, 27 Miss. 114; Pendleton v. Prestridge, 12 Sm. & M. 302; Hooker v. Hooker, 10 Sm. & M. 599 (act not retrospective); McCullom v. Box, 8 Sm. & M. 619 (act constitutional). Prior to the statute conferring such power probate courts had no jurisdiction to entertain such bills. Harper v. Archer, 9 Sm. & M. 71; Jones v. Coon, 5 Sm. & M. 751; Washburn v. Phillips, 5 Sm. & M. 600; Hendricks v. Huddleston, 5 Sm. & M. 422; Harris v. Fisher, 5 Sm. & M. 74.

New Jersey.—Stevenson v. Phillips, 21 N. J. L. 70, 15 N. J. Eq. 236, only for fraud or mistake. See also Stevenson v. Hart, 7 N. J. Eq. 471.

New York.— In re Deyo, 102 N. Y. 724, 7

turb a judgment or decree of final settlement after the expiration of the term at which it is rendered has been denied.[2] The probate court may of course open or vacate its decrees at the term at which the same were rendered.[3]

2. Grounds For Relief — a. In General. The grounds, other than statutory ones, on which a court of equity or a court of probate in the exercise of equity jurisdiction will relieve against a final settlement are fraud, accident, or mistake.[4]

N. E. 819; In re McGorray, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 366; In re Salisbury, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 932.

Pennsylvania.— In re Finley, 196 Pa. St. 140, 66 Atl. 443 [affirming 8 Pa. Dist. 723]; Scott's Appeal, 112 Pa. St. 427, 5 Atl. 671; Bishop's Appeal, 26 Pa. St. 470.

Rhode Island.— Sherman v. Chace, 9 R. I. 166.

Vermont.— Adams v. Adams, 21 Vt. 162.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2209.

2. Louisiana.— Hacker's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 446; Benoit v. Hebert, 1 La. 212.

Michigan.— Grady v. Hughes, 64 Mich. 540, 31 N. W. 438.

Missouri.— Smith v. Hauger, 150 Mo. 437, 51 S. W. 1052.

Nevada.— Lucich v. Medin, 3 Nev. 93, 93 Am. Dec. 376.

North Carolina.— Murphy v. Harrison, 65 N. C. 246.

Oregon.— In re Conant, 43 Oreg. 530, 73 Pac. 1018; Deering v. Quivey, 26 Oreg. 556, 38 Pac. 710. See also Dray v. Bloch, 29 Oreg. 347, 45 Pac. 772.

South Carolina.— Harris v. Stilwell, 4 S. C. 19.

Texas.— Townsend v. Munger, 9 Tex. 300.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2209.

In Alabama a probate court has no jurisdiction at a subsequent term to set aside a decree rendered at a former term on the final settlement of a personal representative, unless the decree is void ab initio. Trawick v. Trawick, 67 Ala. 271; Cunningham v. Thompson, 59 Ala. 158; Seawell v. Buckley, 54 Ala. 592; Alexander v. Nelson, 42 Ala. 462; Watt v. Watt, 37 Ala. 543. Such settlement is void when no guardian ad litem was appointed to represent the complainant who was then a minor. Eatman v. Eatman, 82 Ala. 223, 2 So. 729; Barwick v. Rackley, 45 Ala. 215; Laird v. Reese, 43 Ala. 148. The final settlement of a personal representative made during the Civil war and fully carried into effect is not void. Griffin v. Ryland, 45 Ala. 688. See also Catterlin v. Morgan, 50 Ala. 501.

3. Caldwell v. Lockridge, 9 Mo. 362 (notice necessary); Metz's Appeal, 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 204.

Where the estate is insolvent the orphans' court has no authority at a subsequent day in the same term to reconsider and alter its final decree settling the claims on the estate, and the amount of assets in the administrator's hands, without notice to or the appearance of the creditors who are interested in the estate and entitled to dividends thereof. Eakin v. Brick, 16 N. J. L. 98.

In Ohio it has been held that, as courts of probate are open at all times and no terms thereof are provided by law, they have not the power of vacating their judgments during the term at which they are rendered, as have courts holding regular terms. Kinsella v. De Camp, 15 Ohio Cir. Ct. 494, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 352. See also Johnson v. Johnson, 26 Ohio St. 357; In re Koehnken, 25 Ohio Cir. Ct. 245.

4. Alabama.— Morrow v. Allison, 39 Ala. 70; Williamson v. Howell, 4 Ala. 693. See also Hooper v. Hooper, 32 Ala. 669.

Arkansas.— Ambleton v. Dyer, 53 Ark. 224, 13 S. W. 926; McLeod v. Griffis, 51 Ark. 1, 8 S. W. 837, 45 Ark. 505; Jones v. Graham, 36 Ark. 383; Shegogg v. Perkins, 34 Ark. 117; Osborne v. Graham, 30 Ark. 66.

Illinois.— Brandon v. Brown, 106 Ill. 519; Anderson v. Anderson, 77 Ill. App. 533 [affirmed in 178 Ill. 160, 52 N. E. 1038]; Seymour v. Edwards, 31 Ill. App. 50. See also Schlink v. Maxton, 48 Ill. App. 471 [affirmed in 153 Ill. 447, 38 N. E. 1063].

Indiana.— Ray v. Doughty, 4 Blackf. 115.

Kansas.— Young v. Scott, 59 Kan. 621, 54 Pac. 670 (settlement not impeachable for mere technical illegality in the conduct of the administration); Gafford v. Dickinson, 37 Kan. 287, 15 Pac. 175.

Kentucky.— Speed v. Nelson, 8 B. Mon. 499; Hammon v. Pearl, 6 T. B. Mon. 410; Roll v. Stum, 46 S. W. 223, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 661.

Louisiana.— See Ames v. Hale, 27 La. Ann. 349.

Massachusetts.— Blake v. Ward, 137 Mass. 94; Davis v. Cowdin, 20 Pick. 510. See also Bassett v. Granger, 103 Mass. 177.

Mississippi.— Vaughn v. Hudson, 59 Miss. 421; Foute v. McDonald, 27 Miss. 610; Green v. Creighton, 10 Sm. & M. 159, 48 Am. Dec. 742.

Missouri.— Baldwin v. Davidson, 139 Mo. 118, 40 S. W. 765, 61 Am. St. Rep. 460; Lenox v. Harrison, 88 Mo. 491; Houts v. Sheperd, 79 Mo. 141; Miller v. Major, 67 Mo. 247; Sheetz v. Kirtley, 62 Mo. 417; Stong v. Wilkson, 14 Mo. 116; Dingle v. Pollick, 49 Mo. App. 479. See also James v. Withinton, 7 Mo. App. 575.

New Jersey.— Engle v. Crombie, 21 N. J. L. 614 [reversing 19 N. J. L. 82]; Schweitzer v. Bonn, 55 N. J. Eq. 107, 31 Atl. 24; Black v. Whitall, 9 N. J. Eq. 572, 59 Am. Dec. 423; Conover v. Conover, 1 N. J. Eq. 403.

Ohio.— Rote v. Stratton, 3 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 81, 2 Ohio N. P. 27.

Pennsylvania.— Reeside v. Reeside, 6 Phila. 507.

Rhode Island.— Pierce v. East Greenwich Prob. Ct., 19 R. I. 472, 34 Atl. 992; Williams v. Herrick, 18 R. I. 120, 25 Atl. 1099. See also Hall v. Anthony, 13 R. I. 221.

The burden is upon the person seeking relief to show affirmatively the existence of adequate grounds therefor,[5] and the evidence thereof ought to be clear, positive, and satisfactory.[6] The wilful omission or concealment of assets constitutes fraud for which a settlement may be set aside.[7] A final settlement will not be interfered with on account of mere errors or irregularities,[8] unless they are sufficiently gross to raise the presumption of fraud,[9] nor are mere illegal allowances, unless obtained by fraud, ground for impeaching or setting aside a final settlement.[10]

United States.— Mallett v. Dexter, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,988, 1 Curt. 178; Pratt v. Northam, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,376, 5 Mason 95.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2199–2201.

What constitutes fraud.— Such fraud may be positive and actual, with intent to cheat and wrong those interested in the estate, or may consist in any improper act or concealment that operates as a fraud and results in loss, whatever the motive. Clyce v. Anderson, 49 Mo. 37.

Fraud in procurement of judgment.— Final settlements like other final judgments can only be set aside for fraud practised on the court in the very procurement of the judgment. State v. Shaw, 163 Mo. 191, 63 S. W. 371; Bates v. Hamilton, 144 Mo. 1, 45 S. W. 641, 66 Am. St. Rep. 407; Nelson v. Barnett, 123 Mo. 564, 27 S. W. 520; Lewis v. Williams, 54 Mo. 200; Warden v. Busbee, 89 Mo. App. 113; Woodward v. Curtis, 19 Ohio Cir. Ct. 15, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 400.

A mistake of law is not a ground for disturbing a final settlement. Weinerth v. Trendley, 39 Mo. App. 333; Monroe's Estate, 9 Kulp (Pa.) 334.

Mistake caused by complainant.— Equity will not relieve against a mistake which the complainant was instrumental in causing, or which occurred by reason of his negligence. Griffith v. Vertner, 5 How. (Miss.) 736.

Mistake as to value of securities.— Where executors filed a final account charging themselves with a certain amount, the fact that a part of that amount consisted of securities which they then supposed were good, but which they afterward failed to collect, is not a mistake for which they can obtain relief in equity six years thereafter. Beatty v. Cory Universalist Soc., 39 N. J. Eq. 452.

Whether fraud appears on the face of an administration account is a question for the court and not for the jury. Burns v. Burton, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 349.

5. Cowan v. Jones, 27 Ala. 317; Stone v. Stillwell, 23 Ark. 444; Walker v. Wootten, 18 Ga. 119; Carroll v. Wooley, 24 La. Ann. 495.

6. Indiana.— Ray v. Doughty, 4 Blackf. 115; Murdock v. Holland, 3 Blackf. 114.

Iowa.— Smith v. Buchanan, (1903) 96 N. W. 1086.

Kentucky.—See Brown v. Wickliffe, 1 A. K. Marsh. 337.

Missouri.—McLean v. Bergner, 80 Mo. 414; Picot v. Bates, 47 Mo. 390; Cooper v. Duncan, 58 Mo. App. 5; Phillips v. Boughton, 30 Mo. App. 148.

New Jersey.— Engle v. Crombie, 21 N. J. L. 614 [reversing 19 N. J. L. 82]. See also Johnson v. Eicke, 12 N. J. L. 316.

New York.— Totten's Estate, Tuck. Surr. 115.

Oregon.— In re Conant, 43 Oreg. 530, 73 Pac. 1018.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2199.

Sufficiency of proof.— It is competent to prove a fraud in procuring a judgment of discharge by proof of representations made by an administrator, upon which the court acted, that he had fully and faithfully settled the estate and executed his trust and by proof of facts which falsify those representations. Mobley v. Mobley, 9 Ga. 247.

7. Stone v. Stillwell, 23 Ark. 444; Ringgold v. Stone, 20 Ark. 256; Zeek v. Reed, 69 Ind. 319; Smiley v. Smiley, 80 Mo. 44; Houts v. Shepherd, 79 Mo. 141; Merritt v. Merritt, 62 Mo. 150; Clyce v. Anderson, 49 Mo. 37; In re McNeel, 68 Pa. St. 412 [reversing decree 18 Pittsb. Leg. J. 154]. Compare Dickson v. Hitt, 98 Ill. 300.

Failure to account for assets a fraud.— Ridenbaugh v. Burnes, 14 Fed. 93, 94, 4 McCrary 522.

A fraudulent concealment or disposition of property is a general and always existing ground for the interposition of equity. Griffith v. Godey, 113 U. S. 89, 5 S. Ct. 383, 28 L. ed. 934. See also Tucker v. Stewart, 121 Iowa 714, 97 N. W. 148.

8. Arkansas.— Jones v. Graham, 36 Ark. 383; Reinhardt v. Gartrell, 33 Ark. 727; Greely Burnham Grocery Co. v. Graves, 33 Ark. 171; Ringgold v. Stone, 20 Ark. 526; Ragsdale v. Stuart, 8 Ark. 268.

Illinois.— Williams v. Rhoades, 81 Ill. 571.

Louisiana.— Fendler v. Daigre, 19 La. Ann. 190.

Mississippi.— Smith v. Hurd, 7 How. 188.

Missouri.— Standard v. Lacks, 25 Mo. App. 64.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2201.

9. Dyer v. Jacoway, 42 Ark. 186, 50 Ark. 217, 6 S. W. 902.

10. Mock v. Pleasants, 34 Ark. 63; Baldwin v. Palton, 168 Mo. 20, 67 S. W. 599; Byerly v. Donlin, 72 Mo. 270; Miller v. Major, 67 Mo. 247; Lewis v. Williams, 54 Mo. 200; Warden v. Busbee, 89 Mo. App. 113. See also Patterson v. Bell, 25 Iowa 149; Whittelsey v. Dorsett, 23 Mo. 236; Jones v. Brinker, 20 Mo. 87.

b. Statutory Grounds. In some states the grounds upon which and the circumstances under which the final settlement of a personal representative will be set aside, opened, or otherwise disturbed are especially enumerated by statutes which vary considerably in their provisions;[11] and as they are always subject to Fraud in obtaining allowance of claim.— It is fraud for an administrator to obtain an allowance to himself for the whole amount of a claim assigned to him by a former administrator of the deceased without deducting the amount in which his assignor is indebted to the estate. He should set off one debt against the other and take the allowance for the difference. Sorrels v. Trantham, 48 Ark. 386, 3 S. W. 198, 4 S. W. 281.

11. In Alabama it is provided by statute (Ala. Code (1896), § 805) that "when any error of law or fact has occurred in the settlement of an estate of a decedent, to the injury of any party, without any fault or neglect on his part, such party may correct such error by bill in chancery, within two years after the final settlement thereof; and the evidence filed in the court of probate in relation to such settlement must be received as evidence in the court of chancery, with such other evidence as may be adduced; and a failure to appeal from the decree of the probate court shall not be held to be such fault or neglect as will bar the complainant of the remedy herein provided." The last clause of this statute was added by Code (1886), § 3536, and has not been construed, although noted in Hall v. Pegram, 85 Ala. 522, 5 So. 209, 6 So. 612. In the earlier constructions of the other provisions of this statute the court was inclined to make it highly remedial and beneficial. See Monninn v. Beroujon, 51 Ala. 196; Meadows v. Edwards, 46 Ala. 354; Morrow v. Allison, 39 Ala. 70; Cowan v. Jones, 27 Ala. 317. See also Mock v. Steele, 34 Ala. 198, 73 Am. Dec. 455. But this rule soon gave way to stricter requirements, and the later cases hold that when the jurisdiction of the probate court has attached, its decree on final settlement of an administration cannot be vacated or annulled by a resort to equity, unless the complainant shows some equitable ground of relief whereby, by reason of accident, mistake, or fraud unmixed with fault on his part he was prevented from interposing the matters relied on before decree in the probate court. Knabe v. Rice, 106 Ala. 516, 17 So. 666; Crumpler v. Deens, 85 Ala. 149, 4 So. 826; Tuilwiler v. Lane, 82 Ala. 456, 3 So. 104; Watts v. Frazer, 80 Ala. 186; Vincent v. Martin, 79 Ala. 540; Waldrom v. Waldrom, 76 Ala. 285; Massey v. Modawell, 73 Ala. 421; Cawthorn v. Jones, 73 Ala. 82; Stoudenmire v. De Bardelaben, 72 Ala. 300; Foxworth v. White, 72 Ala. 224; Lyne v. Wann, 72 Ala. 43; Humphreys v. Burleson, 72 Ala. 1; Hatcher v. Dillard, 70 Ala. 343; Lowe v. Guice, 69 Ala. 80; Bowden v. Perdue, 59 Ala. 409; Jones v. Fellows, 58 Ala. 343; Boswell v. Townsend, 57 Ala. 308; Stabler v. Cook, 57 Ala. 22; Gamble v. Jordan, 54 Ala. 432; Waring v. Lewis, 53 Ala. 615; Otis v. Dargin, 53 Ala. 178. See also Arnett v. Arnett, 33 Ala. 273; Moore v. Lesueur, 33 Ala. 237. These decisions have in effect declared that this statute has accomplished no result whatever and gives the same scope and extent in correcting errors as was exercised by the chancery court without the statute. Hall v. Pegram, 85 Ala. 522, 5 So. 209, 6 So. 612. See also Bowden v. Perdue, 59 Ala. 409. Under this statute, by proper allegations and proof, the party complaining must show that the errors occurred without fault or neglect on his part. Watts v. Frazer, 80 Ala. 186; Cawthorn v. Jones, 73 Ala. 82; Alexander v. Alexander, 70 Ala. 357; Boswell v. Townsend, 57 Ala. 308; Robertson v. Walker, 51 Ala. 484. A bill will not lie for a set-off which should have been presented in the probate court. Wilson v. Randall, 37 Ala. 74, 76 Am. Dec. 347; Duckworth v. Duckworth, 35 Ala. 70.

In Indiana the statute (Thornton Rev. St. (1897) § 2609) provides that any person interested in an estate not appearing at the final settlement, nor personally summoned to attend the same, may have such settlement or so much thereof as affects him adversely set aside and the estate reopened by filing in the court in which settlement was made within three years from the date of such settlement his petition particularly setting forth the illegality, fraud, or mistake in such settlement, or in the prior proceedings in the administration of the estate affecting him adversely. For cases construing this statute see generally Gramm v. Russell, 152 Ind. 186, 52 N. E. 806; Harter v. Songer, 138 Ind. 161, 37 N. E. 595; Crum v. Meeks, 128 Ind. 360, 27 N. E. 722; Williams v. Williams, 125 Ind. 156, 25 N. E. 176; Dillman v. Barber, 114 Ind. 403, 16 N. E. 825. A final settlement, made before the expiration of the time prescribed by statute, is illegal and may be set aside at the instance of a claimant who did not appear and who was not summoned to appear. Shirley v. Thompson, 123 Ind. 454, 24 N. E. 253. Where a personal representative by fraudulent statements and promises to pay a claim lulls the creditor into a false security and thus induces him not to file his claim, and then fraudulently and without notice to the creditor makes a final settlement of the estate and is discharged, the estate being solvent, the creditor is entitled to relief under this statute. Chase v. Beeson, 92 Ind. 61. See also Kingan v. Hawley, 29 Ind. App. 376, 64 N. E. 620. Procuring administration on an estate by a fraudulent representation that the owner thereof is dead warrants the setting aside of the judgment approving the administrator's final account, under this statute. Jaap v. Digman, 8 Ind. App. 509, 36 N. E. 50. The allowance to a personal repremodification and repeal, it is not thought that any useful purpose would be served by attempting any more extended discussion of them than is found in the note.

sentative of attorney's fees for his personal services in the administration, which is prohibited by law, is an illegality within the meaning of the statute. Pollard v. Barklay, 117 Ind. 40, 17 N. E. 294. For cases construing former statutes on this subject see Heaton v. Knowlton, 65 Ind. 255; Miller v. Steele, 64 Ind. 79; Reed v. Reed, 44 Ind. 429; Dufour v. Dufour, 28 Ind. 421; State v. Overturf, 16 Ind. 261; Beard v. Peru First Presb. Church, 15 Ind. 490; West v. Reavis, 13 Ind. 294; Camper v. Hayeth, 10 Ind. 528.

In Iowa it is provided by statute (Code (1897), § 3398) that mistakes in settlements may be corrected after final settlement and discharge by equitable proceedings on showing such grounds as will justify the interference of the court. Tucker v. Stewart, 121 Iowa 714, 97 N. W. 148 [withdrawing opinion, (1901) 86 N. W. 371]; McLeary v. Doran, 79 Iowa 210, 44 N. W. 360. Under the statute (Code (1897), § 3399) providing that "accounts settled in the absence of any person adversely interested and without notice to him may be opened within three months on his application," it has been decided that after the expiration of three months these settlements cannot be set aside except for fraud, mistake, or other grounds of equitable relief. Dorris v. Miller, 105 Iowa 564, 75 N. W. 482; Arnold v. Spates, 65 Iowa 570, 22 N. W. 680; Daniels v. Smith, 58 Iowa 577, 12 N. W. 599; Kows v. Mowery, 57 Iowa 20, 10 N. W. 283; Cowins v. Tool, 36 Iowa 82; Patterson v. Bell, 25 Iowa 149. And it has been held that a person in interest cannot maintain a suit to impeach the settlement of an administrator even for fraud, without first showing an adequate excuse for not availing himself of the provisions made in the statute for opening the settlement within three months. Kows v. Mowery, 57 Iowa 20, 10 N. W. 283. The application provided for in this statute is properly made by petition, and defendant must answer, or the averments of the petition will stand confessed by operation of law. Van Aken v. Welch, 80 Iowa 114, 45 N. W. 406. When notice of the settlement is published by order of court, all persons interested are bound thereby. Godes v. Hassen, 81 Iowa 197, 46 N. W. 980; Van Aken v. Welch, 80 Iowa 114, 45 N. W. 406.

In New Jersey the grounds upon which the orphans' court may by statute open a final settlement are the equitable ones of mistake or fraud. Stevenson v. Phillips, 21 N. J. L. 70, 15 N. J. Eq. 236; Black v. Whitall, 9 N. J. Eq. 572, 59 Am. Dec. 423; Vanmeter v. Jones, 3 N. J. Eq. 520; Boulton v. Scott, 3 N. J. Eq. 231.

In New York a surrogate has power under Code Civ. Proc. § 2481, subd. 6, "to open, vacate, modify, or set aside, or to enter, as of a former time, a decree or order of his court; or to grant a new trial or a new hearing for fraud, newly discovered evidence, clerical error, or other sufficient cause. The powers, conferred by this subdivision, must be exercised only in a like case and in the same manner, as a court of record and of general jurisdiction exercises the same powers." For the construction of this provision see generally In re Deyo, 102 N. Y. 724, 7 N. E. 819; Matter of Hodgman, 11 N. Y. App. Div. 344, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 1004; Matter of Patterson, 79 Hun 371, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 451 [affirmed in 146 N. Y. 327, 40 N. E. 990]; In re Dey Ermand, 24 Hun 1; Matter of Gearns, 27 Misc. 76, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 200; In re McGorray, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 366; In re Salisbury, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 932. It has been said that "most of the powers here mentioned were exercised by the surrogate before the enactment of the Code, and so far the statute is declaratory of the law as it previously existed." In re Henderson, 157 N. Y. 423, 427, 52 N. E. 183 [affirming 33 N. Y. App. Div. 545, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 957]. See also Sipperly v. Baucus, 24 N. Y. 46; Yale v. Baker, 2 Hun 468, 5 Thomps. & C. 10; Campbell v. Thatcher, 54 Barb. 382; Decker v. Elwood, 3 Thomps. & C. 48; In re Wright, 16 Abb. Pr. N. S. 429; Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Hill, 4 Dem. Surr. 41; Strong v. Strong, 3 Redf. Surr. 477. Under settled rules of interpretation, the words "or other sufficient cause" must be interpreted to mean causes of like nature with those specifically named. In re Hawley, 100 N. Y. 206, 3 N. E. 68 [affirming 3 Dem. Surr. 571, and reversing 36 Hun 258]; In re Tilden, 98 N. Y. 434 [affirming 5 Dem. Surr. 230, and reversing 67 How. Pr. 447]; Matter of White, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 225, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 168; Matter of Soule, 72 Hun 594, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 270; In re Kranz, 41 Hun 463; Matter of McCormick, 27 Misc. 416, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 374; In re Mull, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 202; Matter of Soutter, 6 N. Y. St. 531. See also Matter of Engs, 57 Hun 591, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 42. These powers cannot be exercised for the correction of errors of substance or of law; the remedy is by appeal. In re Hawley, 100 N. Y. 206, 3 N. E. 68 [affirming 3 Dem. Surr. 589, and reversing 36 Hun 258]; In re Tilden, 98 N. Y. 434 [affirming 5 Dem. Surr. 230, and reversing 67 How. Pr. 447] (error in allowance of compensation); Matter of Douglas, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 303, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 103; Matter of Humfreville, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 312, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 939; In re Walrath, 37 Misc. 696, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 448; Matter of Mount, 27 Misc. 411, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 176; Matter of Monteith, 27 Misc. 163, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 379; Ricard v. Laytin, 2 Dem. Surr. 587. The statute, however, expressly authorizes their exercise for the purpose of correcting clerical errors. In re Henderson, 157 N. Y. 423, 52 N. E. 183 [affirming 33 N. Y. App. Div. 545, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 957]; Matter of Beach, 3 Misc. 393, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 717. A decree cannot be opened merely because it is shown that commissions were

3. Parties to Proceeding. A settlement of the account of a personal representative can be impeached by persons interested in and affected by it, but only not allowed on a part of the assets of the estate. In re O'Neil, 46 Hun 500; In re Carr, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 647. In accordance with the limitation imposed by the last clause of the statute a new trial for newly discovered evidence will be refused when lack of diligence is apparent and when such evidence would be insufficient to change the result. Matter of McManus, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 53, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 88 [reversing 35 Misc. 678, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 409]. A surrogate is authorized by this statute to open a decree and bring in parties who should have been cited to appear, but have not been, upon a petition for that purpose. Matter of Gall, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 255, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 254. Where a proper case presents itself to a surrogate for the exercise of his power to open a decree, he should not set aside or open the whole decree, but only so much thereof as relates to the alleged error. In re Dey Ermand, 24 Hun 1. Under this statute a surrogate has no power to open a decree settling a representative's accounts after an appeal therefrom has been perfected. Matter of May, 2 Silv. Supreme 457, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 357.

In Ohio it is provided by statute (Rev. St. § 6187) that when an account is filed in the absence of any person adversely interested and without actual notice to him, such account may be opened on his filing exceptions thereto at any time within eight months thereafter. See Stayner's Case, 33 Ohio St. 481; Matter of Seeger, 1 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 96, 7 Ohio N. P. 207.

In Pennsylvania under the act of Oct. 13, 1840, which provides for a review of the account of a personal representative, within five years from the time of its confirmation, it has been decided in a number of cases that, after such an account has been settled and confirmed in the orphans' court, it can only be reviewed as a matter of right for error of law apparent on the face of the record, or for new matter which has arisen since the decree, but that as a matter of grace a review may be granted for new proof discovered after the decree, which proof could not possibly have been used at the time the decree was made. In re Finley, 196 Pa. St. 140, 46 Atl. 443 [affirming 8 Pa. Dist. 723]; In re Thomas, 184 Pa. St. 640, 39 Atl. 567; Priestley's Appeal, 127 Pa. St. 420, 17 Atl. 1084, 4 L. R. A. 503; Meckel's Appeal, 112 Pa. St. 554, 4 Atl. 447; Scott's Appeal, 112 Pa. St. 427, 5 Atl. 671; Le Moyne's Appeal, 104 Pa. St. 321; Milligan's Appeal, 82 Pa. St. 389; Cramp's Appeal, 81 Pa. St. 90; Kinter's Appeal, 62 Pa. St. 318; Green's Appeal, 59 Pa. St. 235; Hartman's Appeal, 36 Pa. St. 70; Russell's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 258; Yeager's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 173; Stevenson's Appeal, 32 Pa. St. 318; Bishop's Appeal, 26 Pa. St. 470; In re Riddle, 19 Pa. St. 431; Zinn's Appeal, 10 Pa. St. 469; Fish's Appeal, 3 Pa. Cas. 239, 7 Atl. 222; O'Reilly's Appeal, 2 Pa. Cas. 23, 3 Atl. 836; Hartz's Appeal, 2 Grant 83; Bickford's Estate, 16 Pa. Super. Ct. 572; Miller's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 762; Martin's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 408; Levy's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 42, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 169; Simmon's Estate, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 139, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. 503; White's Estate, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 93; Lee's Estate, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 655; Costigan's Estate, 13 Phila. 264; Shallcross' Estate, 12 Phila. 158; Smith's Estate, 12 Phila. 87; Frey's Estate, 12 Phila. 15; Garwin's Appeal, 2 Am. L. J. 253; John's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. 311; Miller's Estate, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. 169; Rostonski's Estate, 7 Northam. Co. Rep. 214; Smith's Estate, 12 York Leg. Rec. 178. See also Fletcher's Appeal, 125 Pa. St. 352, 17 Atl. 340; Dull's Appeal, 10 Pa. Cas. 349, 13 Atl. 961; Myers' Estate, 13 Pa. Super. Ct. 476; Jamison's Estate, 1 Kulp 146; Geiger's Estate, 12 Wkly. Notes Cas. 439; Schmitt's Appeal, 2 Walk. 316; Jones' Estate, 2 Lanc. L. Rev. 389; Crone's Estate, 14 York Leg. Rec. 89. It is expressly stipulated by a proviso to this act that its provisions shall not extend to any case where the balance found due on the settlement shall have been actually paid and discharged. Lehr's Appeal, 98 Pa. St. 25; Miller's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 407. This provision has no application to a case in which the distribution and payment were voluntary by the personal representative and made before his account was filed. Whelen's Appeal, 70 Pa. St. 410. And actual distribution is no bar to the proceedings when the object is to effect a surcharge. Duff's Estate, 13 Phila. 216. The provision limiting the time within which a review may be granted does not apply where an unconscionable advantage has been taken of the distributee. Yung's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 476. Where an executor's account has been submitted to an auditor and passed on, a party is not entitled to a review of any matter passed on by the auditor. Wachter's Case, 1 Walk. 267. The statute did not confer a new power upon the orphans' court; it merely gave a bill of review as a matter of right in certain cases and limited the time within which it might be exercised in those cases (Johnson's Appeal, 114 Pa. St. 132, 6 Atl. 556. See also Washburn's Estate, 187 Pa. St. 162, 40 Atl. 979; In re Downing, 5 Watts 90; McLenachan v. Com., 1 Rawle 357), and apart from the statute the orphans' court has power to correct its own decrees when it discovers a palpable mistake produced either by its own inadvertence, or by a blunder of the parties (Seager's Estate, 6 Pa. St. 105. See also Priestley's Appeal, 127 Pa. St. 420, 17 Atl. 1084, 4 L. R. A. 503; Milne's Appeal, 99 Pa. St. 483). If the petitioner for a review of a decree confirming an executor's account does not file a replication, and the case is heard on petition and answer, all the averments in the answer are to be taken as true. Russell's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 258.

by such persons,[12] and all persons whose interests will be affected by opening, vacating, or setting aside the settlement are proper parties to the proceeding by which this is sought.[13]

4. PLEADINGS — a. In General. In a proceeding to open or set aside the final settlement of a personal representative, proper grounds, such as fraud, accident,

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2199–2206.

12. Alabama.— Hall v. Pegram, 85 Ala. 522, 5 So. 209, 6 So. 612, bill filed by a domiciliary executor against an ancillary administrator.

Arkansas.— Collins v. Warner, 32 Ark. 87, heirs of a deceased legatee cannot sue to set aside such a settlement.

California.— Noah's Estate, 88 Cal. 468, 26 Pac. 361.

Indiana.— Spicer v. Hockman, 72 Ind. 120.

Louisiana.— Sallier v. Rosteet, 108 La. 378, 32 So. 383; Woods' Succession, 36 La. Ann. 757.

Missouri.— Crowley v. McCrary, 45 Mo. App. 350.

North Carolina.— Murphy v. Harrison, 65 N. C. 246.

Pennsylvania.— Eby's Estate, 1 Lanc. L. Rev. 129, review on application of guardian of a minor who was not legally represented at the settlement.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2207.

Creditors and distributees.— As a general proposition creditors or distributees are the only persons (except perhaps the sureties of the administrator in certain cases) who have any concern with the accounts or settlements of an administrator, and they alone possess the legal capacity to maintain actions to falsify such settlements. Voshage v. Voshage, 45 Mo. App. 172. Creditors of the testator may intervene by petition, and be made parties to a suit by the legatees and devisees, brought for the purpose of surcharging and falsifying the accounts of the executor. Smith v. Britton, 2 Patt. & H. (Va.) 124.

Assignee for benefit of creditors.— Where an executor, in violation of duty, has squandered funds of the estate, and, subsequent to the settlement of a partial account, makes an assignment for the benefit of creditors, and then files his final account as executor in the probate court, the assignee may on leave given appear in said court and ask the correction of errors and mistakes in the accounts of said executor. Slagle v. Slagle, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 549.

The heirs or distributees of a distributee cannot maintain a suit to surcharge the accounts of the administrator of the original decedent, as the original distributees, or, after their death, their personal representatives, are the proper parties plaintiff for that purpose. Hordage v. Hordage, (Ark. 1886) 1 S. W. 707.

New administrator.— A former administrator or his representatives may be called upon by a new administrator, by a notice or upon a rule, to show cause why his account should not be opened for fraud or mistake. Crombie v. Engle, 19 N. J. L. 82 [reversed on other grounds in 21 N. J. L. 614].

Who are persons interested.— Under a statute providing for the review of a settlement at the instance of "any one interested" an administrator de bonis non cannot bring an action for correction, as the statute means only someone standing in the position of heir, legatee, or other person to be benefited by the estate. Murphey v. Menard, 11 Tex. 673. But under such a statute the widow of the decedent may institute a proceeding for the revision of a final settlement. Hefflefinger v. George, 14 Tex. 569. In Pennsylvania under the act of 1840 sureties are parties interested and entitled to present a petition for the review of the account of a personal representative. In re Bishop, 10 Pa. St. 469; Simmons' Estate, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 139, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. 503; Shallcross' Estate, 12 Phila. 158. Compare Bush's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 502.

13. See Williams v. Williams, 43 Miss. 430; Van Winkle v. Blackford, 33 W. Va. 573, 11 S. E. 26. And see EQUITY, 16 Cyc. 181.

Distributees.— In a suit in equity brought by one distributee against the administrator to set aside a settlement on the ground of fraud, all the distributees must be made parties either plaintiff or defendant. Dillon v. Bates, 39 Mo. 292.

Sureties.—The sureties of an administrator are proper parties to a bill to correct his accounts. Reinhardt v. Gartrell, 33 Ark. 727. See also Cookus v. Peyton, 1 Gratt. (Va.) 431.

Executor.— If an executor refuses to bring an action to surcharge and falsify an account by which his testator's estate has been injured, and such action is brought by the legatees or next of kin, they should make the executor a party defendant. Murphy v. Harrison, 65 N. C. 246.

An administrator de bonis non is not a proper party to a proceeding to set aside the settlement of his predecessor. So far as proceedings to set aside their settlements are concerned their accounts are separate and independent and there is no reason why they should be joined. Kerrin v. Roberson, 49 Mo. 252.

Service of process on non-residents by publication see Boden v. Mier, (Nebr. 1904) 98 N. W. 701.

In Texas in a proceeding, brought under the statute, for the revision and correction of the account of a personal representative, it is not necessary that all creditors or heirs should join as parties; such proceedings may be prosecuted by any one interested in the estate. Hefflefinger v. George, 14 Tex. 569; Reese v. Hicks, 13 Tex. 162.

or mistake must be alleged,[14] and it must also be alleged that the complainant's rights have been adversely affected by such settlement.[15] A creditor cannot have the settlement of an estate reopened when his petition does not state facts which negative negligence on his part and excuse him from securing the allowance of his claim.[16] The capacity of a party who appears in court as the representative of another must be alleged, but it need not be proved, unless specifically denied.[17]

b. Statutory Allegations. If the proceeding is brought on statutory grounds, such allegations must be made as to bring the case within the provisions of the statute.[18]

c. Certainty and Particularity in Allegations. The complainant's claim or title to relief should be stated with accuracy and clearness and with such certainty that defendant may be distinctly informed of the nature of the case which he is called on to meet, and matters essential to the complainant's right to relief must appear not by inference, but by direct and unambiguous averments.[19] A bill or petition which contains only general charges of fraud, accident, or mistake, without specifying in what the fraud, accident, or mistake consists, is insufficient,[20] and in a proceeding to surcharge and falsify the bill or peti-

14. Hart v. Duffy, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 151; Redmond v. Ely, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 175.

15. Crowley v. McCrary, 45 Mo. App. 350.

16. Hazlett v. Burge, 22 Iowa 531.

17. Hatcher's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 136.

18. Harter v. Songer, 138 Ind. 161, 37 N. E. 595; Shirley v. Thompson, 123 Ind. 454, 24 N. E. 253; Dickey v. Tyner, 85 Ind. 100; Lyon v. Roy, 54 Ind. 300; Jaap v. Digman, 8 Ind. App. 509, 36 N. E. 50; Kows v. Mowery, 57 Iowa 20, 10 N. W. 283; Matter of Patterson, 79 Hun (N. Y.) 371, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 451; Hood v. Hood, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 392; Dunson v. Payne, 44 Tex. 539.

Under the Indiana statute it must be alleged that the complainant has such an interest in the estate as caused him to be injured by the mistake, fraud, or illegality complained of (Spicer v. Hockman, 72 Ind. 120; Smith v. Miller, 21 Ind. App. 82, 51 N. E. 508), and where an ordinary individual is the complainant it must be averred that he was not personally served with the process of the court to attend the settlement, and if not so served, that he did not attend the settlement thereof as a party thereto (Graham v. Russell, 152 Ind. 186, 52 N. E. 806; Crum v. Meeks, 128 Ind. 360, 27 N. E. 722; Williams v. Williams, 125 Ind. 156, 25 N. E. 176; Dillman v. Barber, 114 Ind. 403, 16 N. E. 825. Where, however, a public officer petitions to set aside a final settlement, in order that the property of the estate may be subject to the payment of delinquent taxes, such averments need not be made. Graham v. Russell, supra.

Under the Pennsylvania statute it must be alleged that the complainant had no notice of and was not present at the settlement (Le Moyne's Appeal, 104 Pa. St. 321. See also Costigan's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 264), and that the balance found to be due has not been actually paid and distributed (In re Bear, 162 Pa. St. 547, 29 Atl. 856; Lehr's Appeal, 98 Pa. St. 25; Cramp's Appeal, 81 Pa. St. 90 [reversing 8 Phila. 204]; Russell's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 258; Clothier's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 214, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 379; Wistar's Estate, 15 Phila. (Pa.) 563; Wainwright's Estate, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 274).

Under the Alabama statute a bill which seeks equitable relief against a probate deeree on final settlement must not only clearly point out the errors complained of, but must show that the complainant has thereby suffered injury (Seals v. Weldon, 121 Ala. 319, 25 So. 1021; Waldrom v. Waldrom, 76 Ala. 285; Massey v. Modawell, 73 Ala. 421), and negative all fault or negligence on the part of the complainant (Vincent v. Martin, 79 Ala. 540; Cawthorn v. Jones, 73 Ala. 82; Stoudenmire v. De Bardelaben, 72 Ala. 300; Lyne v. Wann, 72 Ala. 43; Humphreys v. Burleson, 72 Ala. 1; Bowden v. Perdue, 59 Ala. 409; Boswell v. Townsend, 57 Ala. 308; Otis v. Dargan, 53 Ala. 178; Robertson v. Walker, 51 Ala. 484).

19. Watts v. Frazer, 80 Ala. 186; Duckworth v. Duckworth, 35 Ala. 70; Russell's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 258; Yeager's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 173; Kachlein's Appeal, 5 Pa. St. 95; Snyder's Estate, 18 Pa. Super. Ct. 462; Frey's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 15; Milligan's Appeal, 34 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 168; Fraser v. Hext, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 250; Murrel v. Murrel, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 148, 46 Am. Dec. 664.

20. Arkansas.— McLeod v. Griffis, 51 Ark. 1, 8 S. W. 837; Mock v. Pleasants, 34 Ark. 63; Stone v. Stillwell, 23 Ark. 444; Ringgold v. Stone, 20 Ark. 526.

Indiana.— Pollard v. Barklay, 117 Ind. 40, 17 N. E. 294; Reed v. Reed, 44 Ind. 429.

Kansas.— Ladd v. Nystol, 63 Kan. 23, 64 Pac. 985; Gafford v. Dickinson, 37 Kan. 287, 15 Pac. 175.

New Jersey.— Hyer v. Morehouse, 20 N. J. L. 125. Compare Trimmer v. Adams, 18 N. J. Eq. 505.

New York.— See Matter of Baity, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 70, 2 Connoly Surr. 485.

United States.— Badger v. Badger, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 718, 2 Cliff. 137 [affirmed in 2 Wall. 87, 17 L. ed. 836].

tion must specifically point out the errors, omissions, or false charges complained of.[21]

5. Limitations and Laches. When the time within which relief against a settlement can be obtained is prescribed by statute, it must be sought before the expiration of that period.[22] When, however, there is no positive limitation of the period in which such relief may be sought, a decree of final settlement may be opened or vacated within any reasonable time after its rendition,[23] although such relief will be denied where there has been delay for so long a time or under such circumstances as to cause the application of the doctrine of laches.[24]

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2212.

21. Georgia.— See Shorter v. Hargroves, 11 Ga. 658.

Kentucky.— Terrell v. Rowland, 86 Ky. 67, 4 S. W. 825, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 258; Smith v. Nuckols, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 426; Crow v. Crow, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 909.

Mississippi.— Miller v. Womack, Freem. 486.

Tennessee.— Dodson v. Dodson, 6 Heisk. 110.

Virginia.— Radford v. Fowlkes, 85 Va. 820, 8 S. E. 817; Green v. Thompson, 84 Va. 376, 5 S. E. 507; Corbin v. Mills, 19 Gratt. 438; Newton v. Poole, 12 Leigh 112; Garrett v. Carr, 3 Leigh 407.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2210.

Compare McGuire v. Wright, 18 W. Va. 507.

Filing specifications of additional items.— If plaintiff in proceedings in equity to surcharge and falsify an ex parte account rendered by an administrator does not wish to be confined before the commissioner to the items named in his bill, he should file specifications of additional items which he intends to attack. Seabright v. Seabright, 28 W. Va. 412.

22. Alabama.— Baldwin v. Deming, 51 Ala. 553; Millsap v. Stanley, 50 Ala. 319; Ansley v. King, 35 Ala. 278, when statute not applicable.

Arkansas.— Hankins v. Layne, 48 Ark. 544, 3 S. W. 821; Riley v. Norman, 39 Ark. 158; Hordage v. Hordage, (1886) 1 S. W. 707.

California.— In re Cahalan, 70 Cal. 604, 12 Pac. 427.

Indiana.— Spicer v. Hockman, 72 Ind. 120; Reed v. Reed, 44 Ind. 429; Potter v. Smith, 36 Ind. 231; Beard v. Peru First Presby. Church, 15 Ind. 490.

Iowa.— See Arnold v. Spates, 65 Iowa 570, 22 N. W. 680, holding, however, that the limitation of three months prescribed by statute within which an account settled in the absence of a person adversely interested and without notice to him may be opened on his application does not apply to a proceeding for equitable relief for fraud or mistake.

Louisiana.— Decuir's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 222.

Michigan.— Duryea v. Granger, 66 Mich. 593, 33 N. W. 730.

Mississippi.— Mayo v. Clancy, 57 Miss. 674.

Missouri.— Phillips v. Broughton, 30 Mo. App. 148.

New York.— See In re Tilden, 98 N. Y. 434.

North Carolina.— Woody v. Brooks, 102 N. C. 334, 9 S. E. 294; Slaughter v. Cannon, 94 N. C. 189. See also Wilkerson v. Dunn, 52 N. C. 125.

Pennsylvania.— Anderson's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 258; Kinter's Appeal, 62 Pa. St. 318; Baggs' Appeal, 43 Pa. St. 512, 82 Am. Dec. 583; Weiting v. Nissley, 6 Pa. St. 141; Bunting's Appeal, 4 Watts & S. 469; Robins' Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 277; Jones' Estate, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 375; Hensler's Estate, 17 Lanc. L. Rev. 257. See also Groff's Appeal, 45 Pa. St. 379.

South Carolina.—Roberts v. Johns, 24 S. C. 580.

Tennessee.— Alvis v. Oglesby, 87 Tenn. 172, 10 S. W. 313.

Texas.— Dunson v. Payne, 44 Tex. 539.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2215.

When statute begins to run.— In Arkansas the statute begins to run from the confirmation of the final account by the probate court as to parties then capable of suing (McGaughey v. Brown, 46 Ark. 25; Hanf v. Whitington, 42 Ark. 491), but as against the estate of a party then deceased, the statute does not begin to run until an administrator of such estate has been appointed (Sorrels v. Trantham, 48 Ark. 386, 3 S. W. 198, 4 S. W. 281; Hanf v. Whitington, 42 Ark. 491). In South Carolina the statute begins to run from the time of the representative's final discharge by the court (Ariail v. Ariail, 29 S. C. 84, 7 S. E. 35) and does not run from the time of a partial settlement (Dickerson v. Smith, 17 S. C. 289). In Texas the statute begins to run not from the time orders are made in the progress of administration, but from the date of final settlement. Tindal v. McMillan, 33 Tex. 484.

23. In re Henderson, 157 N. Y. 423, 52 N. E. 183 (no limitation of time for correcting clerical error in surrogate's decree); Sipperly v. Baucus, 24 N. Y. 46. See also Starrett v. Keating, 61 Ill. App. 189.

24. Alabama.— See Barnett v. Tarrence, 23 Ala. 463.

California.— Tynan v. Kerns, 119 Cal. 447, 61 Pac. 693.

Iowa.— In re Holderbaum, 82 Iowa 69, 47 N. W. 898.

Louisiana.— See Aronstein's Succession, 51 La. Ann. 1052, 25 So. 932; Bobb's Succession, 41 La. Ann. 247, 5 So. 757.

Maryland.— Ridenour v. Keller, 2 Gill 134.

6. Effect of Opening or Setting Aside — a. In General. When the settlement of a personal representative is annulled by a court of competent jurisdiction, the rights and liabilities of the parties thereto are the same as if the settlement had never been made.[25] On a petition to open such a settlement and surcharge the account, it is proper so to open it as to correct errors on both sides;[26] and when a settlement is opened at the instance of the personal representative to correct mistakes for his benefit other mistakes inuring to the benefit of persons interested in the estate will be corrected also.[27] Where one of several persons interested in an estate institutes a proceeding to revise the account of the personal representative thereof, if successful, it inures to the benefit of all persons similarly interested.[28] But the fact that a decree discharging a personal representative is vacated as to one distributee against whom the statute of limitations had not run, because of disability, does not inure to the benefit of others not under any disability, since the rights of all the distributees are entirely separate.[29]

b. Distinction Between Opening, and Surcharging and Falsifying. When errors or mistakes only are shown to exist in an account the settlement will not Nebraska.— Shelby v. Creighton, 65 Nebr. 485, 91 N. W. 369, 101 Am. St. Rep. 630.

New Hampshire.— See Childs' Appeal, 23 N. H. 225.

New Jersey.— Wood v. Chetwood, 33 N. J. Eq. 9.

New York.— Sipperly v. Baucus, 24 N. Y. 46; Matter of Cook, 68 Hun 280, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 969; In re Deyo, 36 Hun 512; In re Salisbury, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 932; Redmond v. Ely, 2 Bradf. Surr. 175.

Ohio.— Pennock v. Miller, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 456, 10 West. L. J. 85.

Pennsylvania.— See Young's Estate, 166 Pa. St. 645, 31 Atl. 373; Pennypacker's Appeal, 14 Pa. St. 430.

Tennessee.— See Burton v. Dickinson, 3 Yerg. 112.

Virginia.— See Tidball v. Shenandoah Nat. Bank, 98 Va. 768, 37 S. E. 318; Bradley v. Bradley, 83 Va. 75, 1 S. E. 477; Gibboney v. Kent, 82 Va. 383, 4 S. E. 610; Handly v. Snodgrass, 9 Leigh 484, delay of eight years not a bar. Compare Garrett v. Carr, 3 Leigh 407; Toler v. Toler, 2 Patt. & H. 71.

Washington.— Bowen v. Hughes, 5 Wash. 442, 32 Pac. 98.

West Virginia.— Hays v. Freshwater, 47 W. Va. 217, 34 S. E. 831.

United States.— Lupton v. Janney, 13 Pet. 381, 10 L. ed. 210 [affirming 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,607, 5 Cranch C. C. 474].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2216, 2218; and Equity, 16 Cyc. 150 et seq.

What amounts to laches depends upon the circumstances of each case. Richardson v. Billingslea, 69 Md. 407, 16 Atl. 65. One who moves to vacate a decree within little over a month from the date of its entry cannot be charged with laches (Matter of Wicke, 74 N. Y. App. Div. 221, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 558; In re Walrath, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 696, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 448), but after the lapse of twenty years and the death of the parties a final account will not be reopened and revised, unless a very strong case of fraud is proved, or of clear accident or mistake (Taylor v. Benham, 5 How. (U. S.) 233, 12 L. ed. 130).

Lapse of time with acquiescence or knowledge as laches see the following cases:

Kentucky.— Skinner v. Skinner, 1 J. J. Marsh. 594.

Louisiana.— Decuir's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 222.

Maryland.— Yearley v. Cockey, 68 Md. 174, 11 Atl. 586.

Michigan.— Grece v. Helm, 91 Mich. 450, 51 N. W. 1106.

New York.— In re Waack, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 522; Hart v. Duffy, 2 Redf. Surr. 151.

Pennsylvania.— In re Mylin, 7 Watts 64; Deardorff's Appeal, 6 Watts 159.

South Carolina.— Pinson v. Puckett, 35 S. C. 178, 14 S. E. 393; Keitt v. Andrews, 4 Rich. Eq. 349.

Virginia.— Green v. Thompson, 84 Va. 376, 5 S. E. 507; Bradley v. Bradley, 83 Va. 75, 1 S. E. 477; Hudson v. Hudson, 3 Rand. 117. Compare Garrett v. Carr, 3 Leigh 407.

Washington.— Bowen v. Hughes, 5 Wash. 442, 32 Pac. 98.

West Virginia.— Bland v. Stewart, 35 W. Va. 518, 14 S. E. 215.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2217.

Negligence as to mistake.— The final settlement of an intestate estate will not be disturbed because of an overpayment by a debtor to the administrator, where the debtor has been negligent in allowing the mistake to be made, and has not shown reasonable diligence in seeking its correction after ascertaining it. Dickey v. Tyner, 85 Ind. 100.

25. Thacker v. Dunn, 26 La. Ann. 442; Macomber v. Macomber, (R. I. 1894) 31 Atl. 753; Leake v. Leake, 75 Va. 792.

26. Floyd v. Priester, 8 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 248.

27. Gibbons v. Jones, 56 Ga. 297; Saxton v. Chamberlain, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 422.

28. Charlton's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 473, 75 Am. Dec. 673; Martin's Appeal, 33 Pa. St. 395; Hefflefinger v. George, 14 Tex. 569. See also Bardsley's Estate, 3 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 548.

29. Fitzsimmons v. Johnson, 90 Tenn. 416, 17 S. W. 100.

be opened, as will be done where fraud or accident affecting the entire action of the probate court is shown; but the person alleging the error or mistake in the account will be permitted to surcharge and falsify it. The distinction between opening an account and surcharging and falsifying it is that when an account is opened the whole of it becomes subject to review, while when it is merely surcharged and falsified the inquiry is limited to particular items alleged to have been improperly included or omitted and in all other respects the account is left to stand as it is.[30]

7. Annual or Partial Settlements. An annual or partial settlement, being usually ex parte and only prima facie correct, is liable to be impeached, surcharged and falsified, or opened for correction either on a subsequent annual or partial settlement or upon the final settlement itself,[31] but as to matters which were disputed, heard, and adjudicated when such annual or partial settlement was made it is conclusive.[32]

30. Cowan v. Jones, 27 Ala. 317; McLeod v. Griffis, 51 Ark. 1, 8 S. W. 837; Shorter v. Hargroves, 11 Ga. 658. See also Hyer v. Moorehouse, 20 N. J. L. 125; Matter of Morris, 65 N. J. Eq. 699, 56 Atl. 161; Trimmer v. Adams, 18 N. J. Eq. 505; Stevenson v. Phillips, 15 N. J. Eq. 236.

Where an executor's account is set aside as having been improvidently allowed, it should be set aside in its entirety, and the parties allowed to contest every item of it. Trimmer v. Adams, 18 N. J. Eq. 505.

31. Alabama.— Tayloe v. Bush, 75 Ala. 432; Moore v. Lesueur, 33 Ala. 237; Smith v. Smith, 13 Ala. 329.

Colorado.— Clemes v. Fox, 6 Colo. App. 377, 40 Pac. 843.

Connecticut.— Clement's Appeal, 49 Conn. 519; Mix's Appeal, 35 Conn. 121, 95 Am. Dec. 222. See also Potwine's Appeal, 31 Conn. 381.

Illinois.— Marshall v. Coleman, 187 Ill. 556, 58 N. E. 628 [modifying 89 Ill. App. 41]; Smith v. Smith, 174 Ill. 52, 50 N. E. 1083, 43 L. R. A. 403; Bliss v. Seaman, 165 Ill. 422, 46 N. E. 279; Bennett v. Hanifin, 87 Ill. 31; Long v. Thompson, 60 Ill. 27; Bond v. Lockwood, 33 Ill. 212; Ford v. Stuart First Nat. Bank, 100 Ill. App. 70; Strauss v. Phillips, 91 Ill. App. 373.

Iowa.— Dessaint v. Foster, 72 Iowa 639, 34 N. W. 454; Latha v. Miles, 57 Iowa 519; Cowins v. Toole, 36 Iowa 82; Clark v. Cress, 20 Iowa 50.

Louisiana.— In re Beecroft, 28 La. Ann. 824.

Maine.— Arnold v. Mower, 49 Me. 561; Coburn v. Loomis, 49 Me. 406.

Maryland.— Geesey v. Geesey 94 Md. 371, 51 Atl. 422, 96 Md. 630, 54 Atl. 616; Hoffman v. Armstrong, 90 Md. 123, 44 Atl. 1012; Hoffman v. Hoffman, 88 Md. 60, 40 Atl. 712; Martin v. Jones, 87 Md. 43, 39 Atl. 102; Shafer v. Shafer, 85 Md. 554, 37 Atl. 167; Gavin v. Carling, 55 Md. 530; Wilson v. McCarty, 55 Md. 277; Bantz v. Bantz, 52 Md. 686; In re Stratton, 46 Md. 551; Scott v. Fox, 14 Md. 388; Edelen v. Edelen, 11 Md. 415. See also Maynadier v. Armstrong, (1903) 56 Atl. 357; Donaldson v. Raborg, 28 Md. 34. Compare Bennett v. Rhodes, 58 Md. 78.

Massachusetts.— Stetson v. Bass, 9 Pick. 27; Stearns v. Stearns, 1 Pick. 157.

Mississippi.— Demont v. Heth, 45 Miss. 388; Harper v. Archer, 9 Sm. & M. 71. See also Crowder v. Shackelford, 35 Miss. 321.

Missouri.— North v. Priest, 81 Mo. 561; Julian v. Wrightsman, 73 Mo. 569; Seymour v. Seymour, 67 Mo. 403; In re Davis, 62 Mo. 450; Sheetz v. Kirtley, 62 Mo. 417; Gamble v. Gibson, 59 Mo. 585; Springfield Grocer Co. v. Walton, 95 Mo. App. 526, 69 S. W. 477; McClelland v. McClelland, 42 Mo. App. 32.

Nevada.— Lucich v. Medin, 3 Nev. 81, 93 Am. Dec. 376.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342; Allen v. Hubbard, 8 N. H. 487.

New Jersey.— Liddel v. McVickar, 11 N. J. L. 44, 19 Am. Dec. 369.

Pennsylvania.— See Ludlam's Estate, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. 116, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 332, 5 Pa. L. J. 276.

Rhode Island.— Sherman v. Chace, 9 R. I. 166.

South Carolina.— See Gee v. Humphries, 28 S. C. 606, 5 S. E. 615.

Texas.— Ingraham v. Rogers, 2 Tex. 465; McShan v. Lewis, (Civ. App. 1903) 76 S. W. 616, approval of annual exhibits by the probate judge does not prevent a reëxamination as to items of expenses of administration.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2234.

A statute limiting the time within which application may be made to open up accounts settled in the absence of parties in interest has no application to mistake or fraud in the settlement of an administrator's intermediate account. Dorris v. Miller, 105 Iowa 564, 75 N. W. 482.

Allowance of commissions.— The orphans' court may open an intermediate settlement to correct an error in the allowance of excessive commissions. Jackson v. Reynolds, 39 N. J. Eq. 313 [reversing 36 N. J. Eq. 515]. See also Griggs v. Shaw, 42 N. J. Eq. 631, 9 Atl. 578.

Revision of partial settlements under Texas statute see Birdwell v. Kauffman, 25 Tex. 189.

32. District of Columbia.— See Mercer v. Hogan, 4 Mackey 520.

I. Review — 1. Nature and Form of Remedy. The decrees and orders of probate courts rendered upon the settlements of personal representatives are, like other decrees and orders, subject to review by appeal or writ of error,[33] and in a proper case a writ of certiorari will lie.[34]

2. Orders and Decrees Reviewable. As a general rule only orders or decrees which are final are reviewable.[35] Usually the allowance of an annual or partial Louisiana.— Triche's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 289, 2 So. 52.

Minnesota.— See Kittson v. St. Paul Trust Co., 78 Minn. 325, 81 N. W. 7.

New Hampshire.— Allen v. Hubbard, 8 N. H. 487.

Rhode Island.— Sherman v. Chace, 9 R. I. 166.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2234.

Correction for fraud or mistake.— The probate court has the power and it is its duty upon the proof of fraud, accident, or mistake in the adjustment of any item in a former account to alter and correct it in such manner as to make it what it ought to be. Adams v. Adams, 21 Vt. 162.

In Indiana it is provided by statute (Thornton St. (1897) § 2610) that "in every settlement of an account rendered by an executor or administrator, all his former accounts may be so far opened as to correct any error or mistake therein; excepting that any matter in dispute between two parties, which had been previously heard and determined by the Court, shall not be brought again in question by either of the same parties, without notice to the opposite party and by leave of the Court." See Harrell v. Seal, 121 Ind. 193, 22 N. E. 983; Collins v. Tilton, 58 Ind. 374; Goodwin v. Goodwin, 48 Ind. 584; Sherry v. Sansberry, 3 Ind. 320; Murdock v. Holland, 3 Blackf. 114; Brackenridge v. Holland, 2 Blackf. 377, 20 Am. Dec. 123; Allen v. Clark, 2 Blackf. 343.

In Massachusetts it is provided by statute (Rev. St. c. 67, § 10) that upon every settlement of an account by an executor or administrator all his former accounts may be so far opened as to correct any mistake or error therein, excepting that any matter in dispute between two parties which has been formerly heard and determined by the court shall not be again brought in question, without leave of the court. See Brigham v. Morgan, 185 Mass. 27, 69 N. E. 418; Denholm v. McKay, 148 Mass. 434, 19 N. E. 551, 12 Am. St. Rep. 574. Under this statute opening former accounts is limited to accounts in the course of the settlement of the same estate. Granger v. Bassett, 98 Mass. 462. In order to avail himself of the benefit of the exception in this statute and show that a question has been once judicially considered and decided, an administrator must take care that the matter thus adjudicated should be so stated as to appear in the decree of the court allowing and disallowing specific items of the account. Wiggin v. Swett, 6 Metc. 194, 39 Am. Dec. 716; Field v. Hitchcock, 14 Pick. 405. Even then the account may be opened by leave of the court, although undoubtedly the court would be cautious in exercising such a power in regard to a subject once controverted and judicially settled. Wiggin v. Swett, supra; Stetson v. Bass, 9 Pick. 27.

In Ohio the statute provides that "upon every settlement of an account by an executor or administrator, all his former accounts may be so far opened as to correct any mistake or error therein; excepting that any matter in dispute between two parties, which has been previously heard and determined by the court, shall not again be brought in question, by either of the same parties, without leave of the court." See Stayner's Case, 33 Ohio St. 481, 487; Slagle v. Slagle, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 549; Campbell v. McCormick, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 504, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 281. If therefore there was any error or mistake, either in the debit or credit side of the former accounts, not theretofore adjudicated, it was subject to correction in a subsequent account, whether that error or mistake consisted in omitting proper charges or credits, or in including incorrect charges or credits, and whether made by the court or the representative. Watts v. Watts, 38 Ohio St. 480.

33. Atwater v. Barnes, 21 Conn. 237; Edmond v. Canfield, 8 Conn. 87; Goodrich v. Thompson, 4 Day (Conn.) 215; People v. Kohlsaat, 168 Ill. 37, 48 N. E. 81 [affirming 66 Ill. App. 505]; Freeman v. Rhodes, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 329; Mitchell v. Connolly, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 203 [reviewing and limiting Wallis v. Gill, 3 McCord (S. C.) 475]. And see, generally, Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 474. But see Turner v. Johnson County Ct., 14 Bush (Ky.) 411; Denis v. Cordeviella, 4 Mart. (La.) 344.

The proceeding of a motion for a new trial does not apply to a probate order settling the account of a personal representative. In re Franklin, 133 Cal. 584, 65 Pac. 1081 [citing Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753; Herteman's Estate, 73 Cal. 545, 15 Pac. 121; Moore's Estate, 72 Cal. 335, 13 Pac. 880, and distinguishing Leach v. Pierce, 93 Cal. 624, 29 Pac. 238; Bauquier's Estate, 88 Cal. 302, 26 Pac. 178, 532].

34. Graham v. Abercrombie, 8 Ala. 552; State v. Mayhew, 9 N. J. L. 70. And see Certiorari, 6 Cyc. 730.

35. Alabama.— Watt v. Watt, 37 Ala. 543.

Kansas.— In re Bigge, 52 Kan. 184, 34 Pac. 782.

Kentucky.— Scott v. Kennedy, 12 B. Mon. 510; Hart v. Hart, 2 Bibb 609.

Louisiana.— Calloway's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 968, 22 So. 225; State v. Judge Second settlement is not regarded as a final decree or order from which an appeal can be taken,[36] nor will an appeal lie from the refusal of the probate court to allow an account informally presented by a personal representative without a settlement in due form,[37] or from its refusal to make an order as to a matter entirely within its discretion.[38] An appeal will lie from an order or decree of the probate court setting aside,[39] or refusing to set aside,[40] a former decree rendered on the final Dist. Ct., 32 La. Ann. 300; Planchet's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 520; McLean's Succession, 5 La. Ann. 671.

Massachusetts.— Cook v. Horton, 129 Mass. 527.

Missouri.— Branson v. Branson, 102 Mo. 613, 15 S. W. 74; Seymour v. Seymour, 67 Mo. 303.

New Jersey.— Cooley v. Vansyckle, 14 N. J. Eq. 496.

Pennsylvania.— Long's Estate, 168 Pa. St. 341, 31 Atl. 1093.

Vermont.— Adams v. Adams, 21 Vt. 162.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2236.

Test of finality.— The question underlying all of the cases which consider the subject of the finality of the judgment is, Did that which the court entered determine a matter disputed between the parties so that it is no longer open to contention? Clemes v. Fox, 6 Colo. App. 377, 40 Pac. 843. See also Perrin v. Lepper, 72 Mich. 454, 40 N. W. 859.

Illustrations.— An order of the orphans' court disallowing the account of a previous administrator in a settlement with the administrator de bonis non (Shortridge v. Easley, 10 Ala. 520), an order fixing the compensation of a personal representative (In re Sour, 17 Wash. 675, 50 Pac. 587. See also Lemar v. Lemar, 118 Ga. 684, 45 S. E. 498), an order directing a personal representative to pay a certain fee to his attorney (In re Kruger, 123 Cal. 391, 55 Pac. 1056; In re Kasson, 119 Cal. 489, 51 Pac. 706), and an order disallowing a claim by an administrator for money paid for a burial lot for decedent on objection of decedent's creditors (Clemens v. Fox, 6 Colo. App. 377, 40 Pac. 843) are final and reviewable. A decree cannot be regarded as final where the true amount to be made by the execution thereon is to be determined by future inquiry. Tuggle v. Gilbert, 1 Duv. (Ky.) 340.

An appeal may be taken from a part of a final order or judgment if the part whereby the appellant is aggrieved is so far distinct and independent that it may be adjudicated on appeal without bringing up for review the entire order or judgment. St. Paul Trust Co. v. Kittson, 84 Minn. 493, 87 N. W. 1012. See also Gunn v. Newcomer, (Kan. App. 1899) 57 Pac. 1052. But see Showers v. Morrill, 41 Mich. 700, 3 N. W. 193, holding that an appeal will not lie from a disallowance of certain items in an administrator's account, but must be taken from the order itself, so as to bring up the entire matter and permit a rehearing upon each and every item of the account.

Void order appealable.—Bullock's Estate, 75 Cal. 419, 421, 17 Pac. 540. But see In re Barker, 26 Mont. 279, 67 Pac. 941.

Order not appealable because of inadvertent omission.— Where an item in an administrator's account is allowed by the court, but inadvertently omitted from its order, an appeal is not justified, since the order could no doubt be corrected by calling the court's attention to such omission. In re Byrne, 122 Cal. 260, 54 Pac. 957.

In New York an appeal lies to the general term from such orders of the surrogate court as affect a substantial right (In re Gilbert, 104 N. Y. 200, 10 N. E. 148; Matter of Burnett, 15 N. Y. St. 116), and it is not essential to such appeals that the orders be final as is requisite to authorize a review thereof in the court of appeals (In re Gilbert, 104 N. Y. 200, 10 N. E. 148. See also In re Halsey, 93 N. Y. 48).

36. Goodwin v. Goodwin, 48 Ind. 584; North v. Priest, 81 Mo. 561; Baker v. Shoeneman, 41 Mo. 391; Picot v. O'Fallon, 35 Mo. 29, 86 Am. Dec. 134.

In Alabama the rule stated in the text now obtains (Thompson v. Hunt, 22 Ala. 517), aliter under the statute of 1843 (Thompson v. Hunt, 22 Ala. 517 [overruling Stewart v. Price, 16 Ala. 40]; Savage v. Benham, 11 Ala. 49).

In California under the statute providing that an order settling an account of a personal representative is appealable, there is no distinction as to appealability between orders settling final accounts and those settling annual accounts. In re Grant, 131 Cal. 426, 63 Pac. 731; Burdick's Estate, 112 Cal. 387, 44 Pac. 734; In re Delaney, 110 Cal. 563, 42 Pac. 981; Couts' Estate, 87 Cal. 480, 25 Pac. 685; Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753; Dean v. Santa Barbara County Super. Ct., 63 Cal. 473.

In Pennsylvania a decree of the probate court confirming an account of a personal representative, whether final or partial, is a final decree from which an appeal will lie. Rhoads' Appeal, 39 Pa. St. 186 [overruling Light's Appeal, 22 Pa. St. 445].

37. Trammell v. Trammell, 50 Ala. 39.

38. Moore v. Raggi, 32 N. J. Eq. 273.

39. Bruce v. Strickland, 47 Ala. 192; Davis v. Cowdin, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 510. But see In re Cahalan, 70 Cal. 604, 12 Pac. 427 (holding that an order setting aside a decree settling the final account of an executor, although not directly appealable, may be reviewed on an appeal by the executor from a subsequent decree settling his final account); In re Dean, 62 Cal. 613; In re Dunne, 53 Cal. 631.

40. Githens v. Goodwin, 32 N. J. Eq. 286. But see Lutz's Estate, 67 Cal. 457, 8 Pac. 39.

settlement of an administration account, and from the denial of a motion made on the final accounting of a personal representative to direct him to pay counsel fees.[41]

3. Persons Entitled to Review — a. In General. The general rule that any party aggrieved by a judgment or decree may appeal therefrom and that in a legal sense a party is aggrieved by a judgment or decree whenever it operates on his rights of property or bears directly upon his interest[42] is applicable in proceedings for the settlement of administration accounts,[43] and it follows as the converse of this general rule that it is not the privilege of a party to appeal from a judgment or order rendered in such a proceeding unless he is, either as an individual or in a representative capacity, aggrieved thereby, and that no one is in a legal sense aggrieved by such a judgment or order unless it prejudicially affects his rights of property, or pecuniary interests, or those of others for whom he is, with relation to such proceeding, the duly constituted representative.[44]

b. Legatees, Distributees, and Creditors. Legatees, distributees,[45] or credit-

41. Seaman v. Whitehead, 78 N. Y. 306.

42. See Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 633.

43. California.— In re Heaton, (1903) 73 Pac. 185.

Delaware.— State v. Layton, 3 Harr. 348.

Indiana.— Taylor v. Burk, 91 Ind. 252; Reed v. Reed, 44 Ind. 429.

Louisiana.— Hartigan's Succession, 51 La. Ann. 126, 24 So. 794; Scott's Succession, 41 La. Ann. 668, 6 So. 792.

Maine.— Sturtevant v. Tallman, 27 Me. 78.

Massachusetts.— See Livermore v. Bemis, 2 Allen 394.

Michigan.— Fingleton v. Kent Cir. Judge, 116 Mich. 211, 74 N. W. 473; Grady v. Hughes, 64 Mich. 540, 31 N. W. 438.

Montana.— In re Barker, 26 Mont. 279, 67 Pac. 941.

Nebraska.— Gannon v. Phelan, 64 Nebr. 220, 89 N. W. 1028.

New Hampshire.— Bryant v. Allen, 6 N. H. 116.

New York.— Matter of Sullivan, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 51, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 32, construing Code of Civ. Proc. § 2569, giving persons interested but not parties to the proceeding the right to intervene and appeal.

Vermont.— See Barker v. Rogers, 2 Vt. 440.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2237.

A person with a contingent interest in realty under the will may appeal from a decree of the probate court allowing the account of the executor, which will probably require a sale of such land. Paine v. Goodwin, 56 Me. 411.

A grantee of real estate from the residuary legatee under a will, where there is no property of the testator which can be reached to satisfy the debts and claims against his estate, except such real estate, is interested in the settlement of the account of the executor or administrator of the estate, and has a right of appeal from the decree of the judge of probate allowing the account. Blastow v. Hardy, 83 Me. 28, 21 Atl. 179.

The assignee of land charged by will with the payment of a legacy may appeal from a decree of the court of probate allowing the account of the executrix. Leavitt v. Wooster, 14 N. H. 550.

44. California.— Burdick's Estate, 112 Cal. 387, 44 Pac. 734, (1895) 40 Pac. 35.

Georgia.— Lamar v. Lamar, 118 Ga. 684, 45 S. E. 498.

Louisiana.— See Barrett's Succession, 43 La. Ann. 61, 8 So. 438.

Michigan.— Labar v. Nichols, 23 Mich. 310.

Montana.— State v. Eighth Judicial Dist. Ct., 26 Mont. 369, 68 Pac. 856.

Nebraska.— Merrick v. Kennedy, 46 Nebr. 264, 64 N. W. 989.

Tennessee.— Glosson v. Glosson, 104 Tenn. 391, 58 S. W. 121.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2237.

A surety on an administrator's bond cannot appeal from a decree of the judge of probate settling the account of his principal. Tuxbury's Appeal, 67 Me. 267.

A purchaser of land from an heir before final settlement of the administration account has not such interest in the settlement as entitles him to appeal from an order directing the administrator to file the vouchers for moneys paid by him as stated in his final account, or from an order discharging him from further liability. Gunn v. Green, 14 Wis. 316.

45. Tillson v. Small, 80 Me. 90, 13 Atl. 402; Pierce v. Gould, 143 Mass. 234, 9 N. E. 568; Danforth's Estate, 66 Mo. App. 586. See also In re Lee, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 285; Labar v. Nichols, 23 Mich. 310.

Heirs or next of kin.—Where there is property of a testator not devised or bequeathed, his heirs or next of kin may appeal from the allowance of the executor's account. Smith v. Haynes, 111 Mass. 346.

The children of a deceased heir at law of an intestate may appeal from a decree of the judge of probate by whom the account of the administrator of such intestate has been allowed. Mathes v. Bennett, 21 N. H. 188.

Distributee of residuary legatee.— One who is entitled to a distributive share of the estate of a residuary legatee is not the proper party to appeal from a decree allowing the administration account of the executor of ors of the decedent,[46] when aggrieved by such a judgment or decree, may appeal therefrom.

c. Personal Representatives.[47] The right of a personal representative to appeal, like that of other persons, depends upon whether or not he is aggrieved by the judgment or decree.[48] He cannot appeal from a judgment which rejects a claim against the estate which he has not paid, or become personally liable to pay;[49] but where he has paid claims placed on his account he has a direct interest in sustaining such payments and may appeal from a judgment adverse to their validity.[50] A personal representative cannot in his official capacity appeal from an order disallowing his individual claim against the estate; the appeal allowed by law in such case is by him personally.[51]

4. Presentation and Reservation in Lower Court of Grounds of Review. In order that a question may be passed upon by the appellate court it must as a general rule have been raised in the court below and an appropriate exception to the court's ruling thereon reserved.[52] such legatee's devisor. Downing v. Porter, 9 Mass. 386. See also Reed v. Foster, 54 Me. 499.

46. Lacroix's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 366; Cloney's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 327; Bellocq's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 154; Higbie v. Westlake, 14 N. Y. 281 (holding that creditors may appeal from a surrogate's decree, although they have received dividends under it); Davenport v. Hervey, 30 Tex. 308.

Creditors made parties by order of court.— Where the creditors of an estate in progress of settlement in chancery are required by an order of court to come in and prove their claims, they become quasi-parties to the cause, and may appeal and assign error on account of the rejection of their claims; but the administrator, not being injured by such rejection, cannot complain of it on error. Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

Person rendering services to representative not a creditor of estate.— Burke v. Terry, 28 Conn. 414.

47. See Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 640.

48. Matter of Hodgman, 69 Hun (N. Y.) 484, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 725 [affirmed in 140 N. Y. 421, 35 N. E. 660]. See also Chew's Appeal, 3 Grant (Pa.) 308.

When appealable interest exists.— An executor has an interest to appeal whenever it is sought to wrest from him property belonging to the succession, or to impose a debt upon it which will diminish its assets in the fund to be distributed among the heirs or creditors; and his right to appeal exists independently of the heirs or creditors. Cassidy's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 827, 5 So. 292.

Succession must be aggrieved.— It is only where a judgment is rendered by which a succession can be aggrieved that a succession representative can in his official capacity appeal from the same. Payne v. Dejean, 32 La. Ann. 889. See also Hartigan's Succession, 51 La. Ann. 126, 24 So. 794; Mausberg's Succession, 37 La. Ann. 126; Lundy's Estate, 3 C. Pl. (Pa.) 139. Compare Ames' Succession, 33 La. Ann. 1317.

An administrator de bonis non may appeal from a decree of the judge of probate allowing the administration accounts of the original executor or administrator. Wiggin v. Swett, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 194, 39 Am. Dec. 716.

One who is co-executor and legatee is in either capacity entitled to appeal from an order of the orphans' court passing a separate account of the other executor, in which the latter is allowed a large claim against the estate. Hesson v. Hesson, 14 Md. 8.

Right of representative's assignee for benefit of creditors to appeal see Slagle v. Slagle, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 549.

49. Hartigan's Succession, 51 La. Ann. 126, 24 So. 794 (the appeal allowed by law is by the aggrieved creditor); Kellett v. Rathbun, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 102.

50. Heffner's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 407, 21 So. 905.

51. Hartigan's Succession, 51 La. Ann. 126, 24 So. 794; In re Barker, 26 Mont. 279, 67 Pac. 941.

52. Alabama.—Clack v. Clack, 20 Ala. 461; Long v. Easly, 13 Ala. 239; King v. Cabiness, 12 Ala. 598. See also Forrester v. Forrester, 40 Ala. 557.

Illinois.—Marshall v. Coleman, 187 Ill. 556, 58 N. E. 628 [affirming 89 Ill. App. 41]; Elder v. Whittemore, 51 Ill. App. 662.

Indiana.— Price v. Cavins, 50 Ind. 122.

Kentucky.— Polly v. Covington, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 361.

Louisiana.— Blakey's Succession, 12 Rob. 155.

Massachusetts.— See Morse v. Meston, 152 Mass. 5, 24 N. E. 916.

New Jersey.— Trimmer v. Adams, 18 N. J. Eq. 505.

Texas.— Davenport v. Hervey, 30 Tex. 308.

Vermont.— In re Hall, 70 Vt. 458, 41 Atl. 508; Pelton v. Johnson, 52 Vt. 138.

Virginia.— Wills v. Dunn, 5 Gratt. 384; Jones v. Watson, 3 Call 253.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2244; and Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 660, 714.

Procuring rulings of court.— It is the duty of a party appealing to procure to be made such findings or refusals as will present, through appropriate exceptions, the questions which he desires to argue. Deegan v. Von Glahn, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 39, 26 N. Y. Suppl.

5. TIME FOR INSTITUTING PROCEEDING. The appeal or other proceeding to review such a decree or order must be taken and perfected within the time prescribed by statute.[53] But the trial judge has sometimes a discretion to extend the time fixed by law if he deems that the circumstances require it,[54] and in some jurisdictions the statutes provide for relief in case of an excusable failure to appeal in time.[55]

6. REQUISITES FOR REVIEW. The giving of notice to the proper parties is as a general rule an essential step in perfecting such a proceeding,[56] and the filing of 989; Matter of Hesdra, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 37, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 846, construing Code Civ. Proc. § 2545, as to exceptions taken in a trial before a surrogate.

Special findings.— A party cannot on appeal first object that the court below had no authority to make special findings. Swift v. Harley, 20 Ind. App. 614, 49 N. E. 1069.

Exceptions to rule.— It has been held that in the final settlement of an estate the omission to make the personal representative of a deceased distributee a party may be taken advantage of on appeal, although no objection was made in the probate court (McMullan v. Brazelton, 81 Ala. 442, 1 So. 778), and that, although an administrator makes no objection on the ground of defective notice before the clerk, he can do so on appeal to the superior court (Hester v. Lawrence, 102 N. C. 319, 8 S. E. 915).

53. Alabama.— Thomas v. Dumas, 30 Ala. 83; Binford v. Binford, 22 Ala. 682; Bohannan v. Watts, 14 Ala. 574.

California.— In re Franklin, 133 Cal. 584, 65 Pac. 1081.

Indiana.— Webb v. Simpson, 105 Ind. 327, 4 N. E. 900; Browning v. McCracken, 97 Ind. 279.

Louisiana.— See Calloway's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 968, 22 So. 225.

New York.— Smith v. Van Kuren, 2 Barb. Ch. 473; Guild v. Peck, 11 Paige 475; Bronson v. Ward, 3 Paige 189.

Ohio.— Falconer v. Martin, 66 Ohio St. 352, 64 N. E. 430.

Pennsylvania.— See In re Sherwood, 206 Pa. St. 465, 56 Atl. 20; Candor's Appeal, 27 Pa. St. 119.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2241; and APPEAL AND ERROR, 2 Cyc. 789.

Statute not applicable.— The California statute providing that where an appeal is not taken within sixty days after the rendition of the judgment, the evidence upon which the decision rests cannot be reviewed, does not apply to an order settling the account of a personal representative. Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479. See also Rose's Estate, 80 Cal. 166, 22 Pac. 86, 20 Pac. 712.

An appeal by motion in open court is improper except during the term at which the judgment was rendered; but if the appeal is thus taken at a subsequent term, and the appellee appears and files an answer, the defect will be cured, and the appeal maintained. Planchet's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 520.

Commencement of period of limitation see Chorn v. Chorn, 98 Ky. 627, 33 S. W. 1107, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1178; Boyd v. Boyd, 9 S. W. 842, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 85.

Premature appeal.— An appeal from an order settling the account of an administrator, taken before the order is entered in the minute-book of the court, is premature and will be dismissed. Rose's Estate, 72 Cal. 577, 14 Pac. 369.

Appeal before final discharge.— Under Ind. Rev. St. (1881) §§ 2454, 2455, giving to one aggrieved by a decision of the circuit court in a matter growing out of the settlement of a decedent's estate the right to appeal, one aggrieved by the allowance of a personal representative's final account may appeal without waiting for his final discharge from the duties of his trust. Taylor v. Burk, 91 Ind. 252.

54. Calloway's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 968, 22 So. 225.

55. Howell Annot. St. Mich. § 6784, provides that the circuit court may grant an appeal from any act of the judge of probate even after the statutory period, to any party aggrieved, if he has not been guilty of default in omitting to prosecute his appeal according to law, and if it shall appear that justice requires a revision of the case. See Sanborn v. Mitchell, 94 Mich. 519, 54 N. W. 295. N. H. Pub. St. c. 200, § 7, provides that any person aggrieved by a decision of a judge of probate, who was prevented from appealing therefrom within the sixty days prescribed by statute for taking appeals from such decisions through mistake, accident, or misfortune and not from his own neglect, may petition the supreme court at any time within two years thereafter, to be allowed an appeal, setting forth his interest, his reasons for appealing, and the causes of his delay. See Ahearn v. Mann, 63 N. H. 330 (no relief when settlement agreed to); Holton v. Olcott, 58 N. H. 598; In re Rice, 58 N. H. 200 (petition denied where it appeared that decree must be affirmed); Grout v. Cole, 57 N. H. 547 (relief granted where appeal papers were mislaid by attorney after timely preparation); Tilton v. Tilton, 35 N. H. 430 (a misapprehension as to the law concerning appeals is a mistake); Matthews v. Fogg, 35 N. H. 289; In re Wilcomb, 26 N. H. 370; Buffum v. Sparhawk, 20 N. H. 81 (it must be shown that injustice has been done by decree); In re French, 17 N. H. 472; Parker's Appeal, 16 N. H. 24 (mistake may be either of fact or of law).

56. In re Bullard, 114 Cal. 462, 46 Pac. 297; Casserly v. Casserly, 123 Mich. 44, 81 N. W. 930; Perkins v. Shadbolt, 44 Wis. 574. See also In re Delaney, 110 Cal. 563, 42 Pac. 981; Romero's Succession, 25 La. Ann. 534.

an appeal-bond, when review is sought by appeal, is also generally held to be necessary.[57]

7. Parties to Proceeding. It has been held that all persons interested in maintaining the judgment or order rendered upon the settlement of an administration account should be made parties to the appeal or it will be dismissed,[58] but that it is not necessary that all the distributees who filed objections to the final settlement of a personal representative should join in an appeal from the judgment rendered on that settlement.[59]

8. Record on Review. The general rules as to the contents of the record,[60] and as to the necessity for a bill of exceptions, case, or statement of facts,[61] apply when an appeal is taken in such a proceeding.

And see Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 852 et seq. But compare In re Danforth, 66 Mo. App. 586.

57. Georgia.— Adams v. Beall, 60 Ga. 325.

Illinois.— See People v. Kohlsaat, 168 Ill. 37, 48 N. E. 81 [affirming 66 Ill. App. 505].

Nebraska.—Gannon v. Phelan, 64 Nebr. 220, 89 N. W. 1028, who the proper obligee.

New York.— In re Dumesnill, 47 N. Y. 677.

Ohio.— Taylor v. McCullom, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 66, 5 Cinc. L. Bul. 414; In re Ziegler, 6 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 54, 3 Ohio N. P. 307, amount of bond and amendment.

Vermont.— Lambert v. Merrill, 56 Vt. 464.

Wisconsin.— Perkins v. Shadbolt, 44 Wis. 574.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2246; and Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 818.

Exemption of personal representative from the necessity of giving bond see Yearley v. Sharp, 96 Ind. 469; Taylor v. McCullom, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 66, 5 Cinc. L. Bul. 414; Hudgins v. Leggett, 84 Tex. 207, 19 S. W. 387; Kleinsmith v. Northcut, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 557.

58. Forsyth's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 33; Broussard v. Robin, 13 La. Ann. 560; Perry's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 577. Compare Montgomery's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 469, holding that absent creditors who never appeared in the court below, nor claimed to be such, and who were placed on the account of the representative for the protection of his own interest, need not be made appellees, although their claims were opposed by the appellants.

59. In re Swan, 54 Mo. App. 17. Compare Merrill v. Jones, 2 Ala. 192.

60. See Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 1025 et seq.

The record must show the interest or concern of the party who excepts to an administration account. Johnson v. Johnson, 2 Harr. (Del.) 273.

Representation of minors by guardian.— Where the record shows that there are minor heirs, it must also show that they were represented at the settlement by a guardian or guardian ad litem. Clack v. Clack, 20 Ala. 461.

The petition and account filed by a personal representative in order to make a final settlement of his administration constitute a part of the record to be used on appeal, without being made so by a bill of exceptions. In re Isaacs, 30 Cal. 105.

Inventory.— The filing of an account by a personal representative makes the inventory on which it is predicated a part of the record, and it is properly included in the transcript on appeal, although not offered in evidence. In re Osburn, 36 Oreg. 8, 58 Pac. 521.

The petition for letters, the order appointing the administrator, his bond, and the order of distribution, not being necessary parts of the administrator's report, are not a part of the record unless offered in evidence, and if included in the transcript on appeal will not be considered. In re Osburn, 36 Oreg. 8, 58 Pac. 521.

61. Alabama.— See King v. Brown, 108 Ala. 68, 18 So. 935; Long v. Easly, 13 Ala. 239.

California.— Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479, construing Code Civ. Proc. § 648.

Indiana.— Cunningham v. Cunningham, 94 Ind. 557.

Kentucky.— Polly v. Covington, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 361.

Missouri.— Branson v. Branson, 102 Mo. 613, 15 S. W. 74.

South Carolina.— Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2248; and Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 1076.

Necessity of bringing up evidence see the following cases:

Alabama.— Bendall v. Bendall, 24 Ala. 295, 60 Am. Dec. 469.

Indiana.— Bristow v. McClelland, 122 Ind. 64, 22 N. E. 299; Brownlee v. Hare, 64 Ind. 311.

Kentucky.— Bowling v. Cobb, 6 B. Mon. 356, evidence as to services of attorney.

Louisiana.—Short's Succession, 45 La. Ann. 1485, 14 So. 184, evidence as to allowance of a claim by court.

Mississippi.— Gray v. Harris, 43 Miss. 421.

Ohio.— In re Raab, 16 Ohio St. 273, evidence as to costs.

Oregon.— Rostel v. Morat, 19 Oreg. 181, 23 Pac. 900.

South Carolina.— Clark v. West, 1 Strobh. Eq. 185.

Texas.— Wright v. Pate, (Sup. 1886) 1 S. W. 661.

9. Scope and Extent of Review — a. In General. Appeals from courts of probate jurisdiction are generally regulated by statutory provisions peculiar thereto,[62] on which depends in a measure the extent to which orders and decrees made upon the settlements of personal representatives will be reviewed.[63] In some jurisdictions upon appeal to a superior court there will be a hearing de novo of the whole case,[64] while in others the appellant is restricted to the investigation of matters stated in the reasons of appeal filed in the case.[65]

b. Presumptions in Support of Order or Decree. The order or decree of which a review is sought is as a general rule presumed to be right, in the absence of any affirmative showing in the record to the contrary, and every reasonable presumption will be indulged in favor of the correctness of the proceedings below.[66]

c. Discretion of Lower Court.[67] Determinations of the lower court as to matters which are properly within its discretion will not be disturbed on appeal, except for manifest abuse of such discretion.[68]

Virginia.— Farneyhough v. Dickerson, 2 Rob. 582, evidence as to allowance for services of clerk.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2248.

62. See Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 262.

63. Indiana.— See Reed v. Reed, 44 Ind. 429.

New Jersey.— Luse v. Rarick, 34 N. J. Eq. 212; Stevenson v. Phillips, 8 N. J. Eq. 593.

New Mexico.— Clancey v. Clancey, 7 N. M. 405, 37 Pac. 1105, 38 Pac. 168.

New York.— Matter of Mayer, 84 Hun 539, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 850; Ross v. Ross, 6 Hun 80.

North Carolina.— Ex p. Spencer, 95 N. C. 271.

Pennsylvania.— Bierly's Appeal, 33 Leg. Int. 296.

Texas.— Rahm v. Bergstrom, (Civ. App. 1896) 36 S. W. 494.

Wisconsin.— Gunn v. Green, 14 Wis. 316.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2249.

64. In re Boothe, 38 Mo. App. 456. See also Clark v. Clark, 21 Vt. 490.

In Illinois on an appeal from the county to the circuit court the hearing is de novo as to all matters investigated on appeal (Richardson v. Emberson, 96 Ill. App. 403); but where an appeal is taken as to particular items of an account it does not bring before the circuit court the whole account, but such hearing will be confined to the items appealed from (Morgan v. Morgan, 83 Ill. 196; Curts v. Brooks, 71 Ill. 125; Wilkinson v. Ward, 42 Ill. App. 541. See also Elder v. Whittemore, 51 Ill. App. 662). The dismissal of an appeal in the circuit court as to certain items of such account leaves the judgment of the county court standing as to them, and binding upon the parties to the appeal. Wilkinson v. Ward, 42 Ill. App. 541.

In Oregon it is provided by statute that on appeal to the circuit court from a decree of the county court, the suit shall be tried de novo on the transcript of the evidence accompanying it. See In re Plunkett, 33 Oreg. 414, 54 Pac. 152.

In Texas by statute persons interested in the estate of a decedent may have the proceedings in the county court corrected on certiorari from the district court, where the cause shall be tried de novo. Kalteyer v. Wipff, (Civ. App. 1899) 49 S. W. 1055.

65. Cowden v. Jacobson, 165 Mass. 240, 43 N. E. 98; Harris v. Harris, 153 Mass. 439, 26 N. E. 1117; Boynton v. Dyer, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 1; Dodge v. Stickney, 60 N. H. 461; Caswell v. Hill, 47 N. H. 407; French v. Currier, 47 N. H. 88.

66. Alabama.— Where the correctness of the ruling of the court below depends on the proof, and the record does not set out all the evidence that was adduced, the appellate court will presume that the decision of the court below was justified by the evidence. Mims v. Mims, 39 Ala. 716; Roundtree v. Snodgrass, 36 Ala. 185.

California.— In re Weringer, 100 Cal. 345, 34 Pac. 825; Tompkins v. Weeks, 26 Cal. 50, presumption that it was correctly determined in the probate court that the contestant was a creditor.

Kentucky.— Vaugh v. Drye, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 358, presumption that claims allowed by probate court were valid.

Mississippi.—Scott v. Porter. 44 Miss. 364; Gray v. Harris, 43 Miss. 421.

Pennsylvania.— See Robb's Appeal, 41 Pa. St. 45.

Washington.— In re Alfstad, 27 Wash. 175, 67 Pac. 593; In re Mason, 26 Wash. 259, 66 Pac. 435, presumption that the action of the probate court as to the allowance made the personal representative fully met the statutory requirements.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2250; and Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 275.

67. See also supra, XV, E, 12, e.

68. Moore v. Raggi, 32 N. J. Eq. 273; In re Holladay, 18 Oreg. 168, 22 Pac. 750; St. Clair's Appeal, (Pa. 1888) 15 Atl. 914. And see Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 325.

Allowing and awarding costs see In re Selleck, 111 N. Y. 284, 19 N. E. 66 (construing Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2557, 2558, 2570, 2589); In re Niles, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 157 (construing Code Civ. Proc. § 2561).

Allowances for services of attorneys see the following cases:

d. Findings of Fact. The general rules as to reviewing findings of fact, by appellate courts,[69] apply on the review of such proceedings.[70]

e. Former Accounts. Former accounts, from the allowance of which no appeal was taken, and the matters passed upon in them, are not subject to revision and readjustment upon an appeal from the allowance of a later account in which the same questions were not before the probate court for consideration.[71]

10. Determination and Disposition.[72] When an appeal is taken from an order or decree rendered on an administration settlement, the appellate court may dismiss such appeal;[73] or affirm,[74] modify,[75] or reverse the order or decree,[76] and when California.— In re Adams, 131 Cal. 415, 63 Pac. 838; In re Byrne, 122 Cal. 260, 54 Pac. 957; In re Gasq, 42 Cal. 288.

Kentucky.— See Miller v. Simpson, (1886) 2 S. W. 171.

Missouri.— Scudder v. Ames, 142 Mo. 187, 43 S. W. 659.

New York.— Hannahs v. Hannahs, 68 N. Y. 610.

Pennsylvania.— Good's Estate, 150 Pa. St. 307, 24 Atl. 623; Harbster's Appeal, 125 Pa. St. 1, 17 Atl. 204; Kalbfell's Estate, 17 Pa. Super. Ct. 255; Mutchmore's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 702; Simon's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 59.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2251.

Allowances for commissioners see Ex p. Carter, 27 Ark. 532.

69. See Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 345 et seq.

70. Review of verdict of jury see Doster v. Arnold, 60 Ga. 316; Fisk v. Cushman, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 20, 52 Am. Dec. 761.

Review of findings by lower court see the following cases:

Indiana.— Cooper v. Williams, 109 Ind. 270, 9 N. E. 917.

Maine.— Small v. Thompson, 92 Me. 539, 43 Atl. 509; Manning v. Devereux, 81 Me. 560, 18 Atl. 290.

Mississippi.— Price v. Mitchell, 10 Sm. & M. 179.

Montana.— In re Ford, 29 Mont. 283, 74 Pac. 735.

New York.— In re O'Brien, 145 N. Y. 379, 40 N. E. 18; Hovey v. Smith, 1 Barb. 372.

Pennsylvania.— Fiscus' Estate, 13 Pa. Super. Ct. 615; Stotler v. McGary, 31 Leg. Int. 373.

Wisconsin.— Robinson v. Hodgkin, 99 Wis. 327, 74 N. W. 791.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2252.

Findings based on conflicting evidence not disturbed.—Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479; Mayhew's Estate, 155 Pa. St. 94, 25 Atl. 1017.

Conclusiveness of findings of fact by lower court see Gee v. Hasbrouck, 128 Mich. 509, 87 N. W. 621; Clark v. Clark, 21 Vt. 490.

Review of both law and facts see Springfield Grocer Co. v. Walton, 95 Mo. App. 526, 69 S. W. 477; In re Ansley, 95 Mo. App. 332, 68 S. W. 609; In re Danforth, 66 Mo. App. 586; In re Meeker, 45 Mo. App. 186; Matter of Morris, 65 N. J. Eq. 699, 56 Atl. 161 [distinguishing Engle v. Crombie, 21 N. J. L. 614].

71. McLoon v. Spaulding, 62 Me. 315; Arnould v. Mower, 49 Me. 561; Coburn v. Loomis, 49 Me. 406; Sturtevant v. Tallman, 27 Me. 78. See also Peters v. Clendenin, 12 Mo. App. 521, holding that the annual settlement of an administrator cannot be corrected in the circuit court on appeal from an order of distribution. But see Williams v. Petticrew, 62 Mo. 460, holding that on appeal from a final settlement of an administrator mistakes in annual settlements can be corrected.

72. See Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 403 et seq.

73. Sherman v. Chace, 9 R. I. 166. See also In re Heaton, (Cal. 1903) 73 Pac. 185; Romero's Succession, 25 La. Ann. 534. And see Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 182 et seq.

74. Reeves v. McMillan, 101 N. C. 479, 7 S. E. 906. See Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 412 et seq.

Errors merely of form will not prevent affirmance. In re Phillips, 38 Mo. App. 509.

75. Willis' Succession, 109 La. 281, 33 So. 314; James v. West, 67 Ohio St. 28, 65 N. E. 156; Cary v. Macon, 4 Call (Va.) 605. See Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 424 et seq.

Correction of errors.— When a decree allowing a final account is found upon appeal to be erroneous as to an item or items the appellate court may direct the decree to be corrected, and as corrected affirm it. In re Adams, 131 Cal. 415, 63 Pac. 838. Where a decree of a probate court allowing an administrator's account contains a manifest error in computation, such error will be corrected in the decree rendered in the supreme judicial court, although such error is not made one of the reasons for the appeal. Newell v. West, 149 Mass. 520, 21 N. E. 954. Upon an appeal from the allowance of an administrator's account mistakes made in the account to the prejudice of the administrator may be corrected, although he did not appeal. Birkholm v. Wardell, 42 N. J. Eq. 337, 7 Atl. 569.

76. In re More, 121 Cal. 635, 54 Pac. 148; In re Runyon, 53 Cal. 196; Overstreet v. Potts, 4 Dana (Ky.) 138. See Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 440 et seq.

Errors which are not prejudicial no ground for reversal.— Canfield v. Bostwick, 21 Conn. 550. See also Tunnicliffe v. Fox, (Nebr. 1903) 94 N. W. 1032; Stonebraker v. Friar, 70 Tex. 202, 7 S. W. 799. Where the effect of reversal, on an accounting without notice to one of the heirs, would be to remand the cause for a new accounting, and it appears proper remand the proceedings to the lower court.[77] But when an appeal is taken to a superior court and not to a court having purely appellate jurisdiction,[78] such court, in some states, tries the cause de novo and renders such a decree, or makes such an order as the probate court should have rendered or made.[79]

11. Operation and Effect of Decree. The decree of the appellate court operates as a termination of the controversy involved in the appeal, and the account of the personal representative should be stated and a settlement made in accordance therewith.[80] But such a decree is not conclusive as to matters not passed upon on appeal.[81]

J. Private Accounting and Settlement. Provided there are no creditors[82] or none whose debts are not paid,[83] legatees, distributees, and other persons entitled to the estate may enter into agreements among themselves,[84] or with the personal representative[85] as to the settlement of the estate, which will be sustained that an accounting has actually been made upon full proof, and with all parties represented, the error will not be held prejudicial. Allen v. Shanks, 90 Tenn. 359, 16 S. W. 715.

In New York power is given by statute to the appellate division of the supreme court to reverse, affirm, or modify such orders or decrees. In re Kellogg, 104 N. Y. 648, 10 N. E. 152 [affirming 39 Hun 27] (construing Code Civ. Proc. § 2587); Freeman v. Coit, 27 Hun 447 [affirmed in 96 N. Y. 63].

77. In re Runyon, 53 Cal. 196; Overstreet v. Potts, 4 Dana (Ky.) 138.

Effect of issuance of remittitur.— When the remittitur has been duly and regularly issued, without inadvertence, the supreme court loses jurisdiction of the cause, and has no power to recall it, except in a case of mistake, or of fraud or imposition practised upon the court. Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479.

When unnecessary to remand.— On appeal from a decree of the probate court adjudging that it has no jurisdiction to hear and determine an administrator's accounts after a distribution by agreement of the intestate's estate, the superior court, acting as an appellate court of probate, on reversing such decree may settle the administration account as fully as could be done by the probate court without remanding it to that court. Mathews' Appeal, 72 Conn. 555, 45 Atl. 170.

78. Michigan.— In re Sanborn, 109 Mich. 191, 67 N. W. 128; Walker v. Hull, 35 Mich. 488; Hall v. Grovier, 25 Mich. 428.

North Carolina.— Ex p. Spencer, 95 N. C. 271.

Rhode Island.— McGinity v. McGinity, 19 R. I. 510, 34 Atl. 1114.

Texas.— Houston v. Mayes, 77 Tex. 265, 13 S. W. 1036.

Wisconsin.— Perkins v. Shadbolt, 44 Wis. 574.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2254.

Consolidation of appeals by executor and legatee see Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262.

79. See Hamlyn v. Nesbit, 37 Ind. 284; Seymour v. Seymour, 67 Mo. 303. And see Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 262.

Right to jury trial on appeal see Wisner v. Mabley, 70 Mich. 271, 38 N. W. 262; Mower's Appeal, 48 Mich. 441, 12 N. W. 646; Showers v. Morrill, 41 Mich. 700, 3 N. W. 193; Grovier v. Hall, 23 Mich. 7. See also Ward v. Tinkham, 65 Mich. 695, 32 N. W. 901.

Admissibility of evidence see Grovier v. Hall, 23 Mich. 7.

80. Duhé's Succession, 42 La. Ann. 252, 7 So. 327; State v. Judge Ouachita Parish Ct., 30 La. Ann. 183; Wright v. Wright, 72 N. Y. 149 (holding that where the decision of a surrogate rejecting certain claims is reversed on appeal, such claims should be allowed); Cary v. Macon, 4 Call (Va.) 605. See also Baggott v. Boulger, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 160.

81. Young v. Cabell, 27 Gratt. (Va.) 761.

82. Hoff's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 93.

83. Amis v. Cameron, 55 Ga. 449. See Descent and Distribution, 14 Cyc. 132.

84. Hatcher v. Cade, 55 Ga. 359; Mason v. Myer, Wright (Ohio) 641; Zacharias' Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 149. See Descent and Distribution, 14 Cyc. 131.

Where the sole heir to a succession and all the creditors make an extrajudicial settlement of the succession and involve its affairs in confusion, the court will leave them where they have placed themselves and dismiss the suit for a settlement. Engelman v. Coco, 42 La. Ann. 923, 8 So. 610.

85. Alabama.— Brazeale v. Brazeale, 9 Ala. 491. Compare Smilie v. Siler, 35 Ala. 88, holding that a private agreement made by some of the heirs at law, one of whom is administrator of the estate, which does not appear ever to have received the sanction of the probate court, cannot be considered a final settlement or a legal discharge of the administrator.

District of Columbia.— Patten v. Glover, 1 App. Cas. 466.

Iowa.— In re Mansfield, 80 Iowa 681, 46 N. W. 65.

Kentucky.— White v. Staten, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 726.

Louisiana.—Hodge v. Durnford, 13 La. 187.

Maryland.—See Hanson v. Worthington, 12 Md. 418, a release for money due parties as residuary legatees does not release from liability for a specific legacy bequeathed in trust.

Michigan.— See Eccard v. Brush, 48 Mich. 3, 11 N. W. 756.

by the courts if they are open, fair, and honest, and the parties of full age and under no disability. But such an agreement is of course not binding upon one who is not a party to it.[86] As the result of an agreement entered into by the personal representative and persons interested in the settlement of the estate, he may be relieved from his duty to render an account.[87] The validity of a written agreement set up by a personal representative as a release from his duty to account and settle may, however, be inquired into,[88] and it will be of no avail if obtained by misrepresentation or fraud,[89] or entered into under a mistake of fact.[90] A receipt, although reciting a settlement in full, may be open to explanation and is not necessarily conclusive upon legatees or distributees in a suit brought by them to compel an accounting.[91] An administrator who is cited to make a final settlement cannot protect himself by setting up a written agreement entered into between himself and the executors and legatees before letters of administration were granted to him, which would change the whole course of administration and keep the estate in process of administration for fifteen years.[92]

K. Costs and Expenses — 1. In General. The costs and expenses of account-

New York.— Jacot v. Emmett, 11 Paige 142.

Ohio.— Piatt v. Longworth, 27 Ohio St. 159.

Pennsylvania.— In re Hertzler, 192 Pa. St. 531, 43 Atl. 1027; Barber's Estate, 142 Pa. St. 476, 21 Atl. 986; Shartel's Appeal, 64 Pa. St. 25; Root's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 223. See also Riddle's Estate, 18 Phila. 222.

South Carolina.— See Reid v. Clark, Speers Eq. 343.

Virginia.— See Kent v. Kent, (1899) 34 S. E. 32.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2293–2294.

Intention to settle.— It must clearly appear from the acts of the parties that it was their intention to consider the estate settled and distributed, or to consider the personal representative discharged from further duty to them. Kells v. People's Trust Co., 82 N. Y. App. Div. 548, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 513.

A bond given by a legatee to exonerate the executor is evidence of a settlement. Ives v. Sumner, 16 N. C. 338.

86. McCune v. McCune, 29 Mo. 117; In re Pruyn, 141 N. Y. 544, 36 N. E. 595 [affirming 76 Hun 128, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 572]; Kells v. People's Trust Co., 82 N. Y. App. Div. 548, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 513. See also Smilie v. Siler, 35 Ala. 88; Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900; Clinton's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 661, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 209.

87. Massachusetts.— See Fuller v. Wilbur, 170 Mass. 506, 49 N. E. 916, agreement dispensing with account is revocable.

New York.— In re Pruyn, 141 N. Y. 544, 36 N. E. 595 [affirming 76 Hun 128, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 572]; In re Wagner, 119 N. Y. 28, 23 N. E. 200 [affirming 52 Hun 23, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 761]. See also Matter of Hale, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 411, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 577.

Pennsylvania.— Mershon's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 154, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 278; Hoff's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 93; Harlan's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 809, 16 Pa. Co. Ct. 51; Armstrong's Estate, 16 Montg. Co. Rep. 9. See also Gardiner's Estate, 18 Wkly. Notes Cas. 148.

United States.— Littell v. Hackley, 126 Fed. 309, 61 C. C. A. 295.

Canada.— Newton v. Seale, 4 Montreal Q. B. 158.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1993.

Compare Clarke v. Clay, 31 N. H. 393 [distinguishing Hibbard v. Kent, 15 N. H. 516; Giles v. Churchill, 5 N. H. 337].

The persons for whose benefit an account is required may dispense therewith, whether they be creditors, legatees, or distributees, for the filing of an account by a personal representative is a matter with which the public has no concern. Harlan's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 809, 16 Pa. Co. Ct. 51. See also Hess v. Frankenfield, 106 Pa. St. 440; Weaver v. Roth, 105 Pa. St. 408; Walworth v. Abel, 52 Pa. St. 370; Hoff's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 93.

A release by the next of kin to the widow of the intestate of the net income of the realty and personalty of the estate on condition that she relinquish all her right of dower, "the whole to be under the direction" of the administrator, does not affect the administrator's liability to account. Newport Probate Ct. v. Hazard, 13 R. I. 1.

88. Harris v. Ely, 25 N. Y. 138.

89. In re Read, 41 Hun (N. Y.) 95; In re Fischer, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 383.

A surrogate has no jurisdiction to pass upon the question whether a release was obtained by fraud (In re Wagner, 119 N. Y. 28, 23 N. E. 200. See also Matter of Hodgman, 11 N. Y. App. Div. 344, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 1004); but where it is alleged that the release was fraudulent and collusive an action may be maintained in the supreme court to annul the release and compel an accounting (Sanders v. Soutter, 126 N. Y. 193, 27 N. E. 263).

90. Clinton's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 661, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 209.

91. Watts v. Baker, 78 Ga. 622, 3 S. E. 773; Bard v. Wood, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 74; Hanlon v. Wheeler, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 821. See also Kellett v. Rathbun, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 102.

92. George v. Goldsby, 23 Ala. 326.

ing and settlement and of proceedings or actions necessitated thereby should be borne by the general estate when incurred in the just interests of the whole estate,[93] and when in the interest of the estate an audit of the account of a personal representative appears necessary, the costs of such audit will be charged to the estate.[94]

2. Counsel Fees and Expenses of Settlement. Executors or administrators are usually entitled to their reasonable costs and expenses in the settlement of accounts, so far as they are not at fault,[95] including an allowance for fees of an attorney to assist them in preparing and settling their accounts.[96] Where unusual

93. Alabama.— Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607, 45 Am. Dec. 93.

California.— In re Mullins, 47 Cal. 450.

Florida.— Sanderson v. Sanderson, 20 Fla. 292.

Kentucky.— See Thirlwell v. Campbell, 11 Bush 163; Stoll v. Stoll, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 289.

New Jersey.— Craig v. Manning, 8 N. J. Eq. 806.

New York.— Matter of Arkenburgh, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 583, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 125; In re Laramie, 2 Silv. Supreme 539, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 175; In re Meeker, 9 Daly 556; In re Vandevoort, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 764, 19 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 355, expenses of a reference. See also Gillespie v. Brooks, 2 Redf. Surr. 349.

Pennsylvania.— Potts' Appeal, 3 Walk. 135; Francis' Estate, 5 Kulp 17, 21; In re McFarland, 1 Phila. 378; In re Harlan, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 451, 3 Pa. L. J. 116. See also Rankin's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 603; In re Thomas, 1 Dauph. Co. Rep. 381.

Texas.— See Richardson v. Kennedy, 74 Tex. 507, 12 S. W. 219, construing Texas statute as to administration expenses.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2257.

Allowance to guardian ad litem out of general fund see In re Farmers' L. & T. Co., 49 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 227 (erroneous in so far as exceeds taxable costs); Matter of Robinson, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 30, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 523; Gunning v. Lockman, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 273.

The expenses of settlement constitute a lien on the entire estate and the lien is not divested by partition. In re Cary, 10 Kulp (Pa.) 227.

Practice as to payment and allowance.— A personal representative is individually liable for expenses contracted by him in the settlement of the estate. Taylor v. Mygatt, 26 Conn. 184. And if he employs counsel it is the duty of such counsel to present his account for payment before the final accounting, and for the representative to fix upon the amount which is reasonable to be paid and pay it on his own responsibility, and have such payment allowed on his final accounting. Osborne v. McAlpine, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 1. In New York the costs of an accounting by a representative in a surrogate's court have no place in the account filed in that proceeding, as they must be fixed by the decree. Charges for counsel fees paid on the accounting should be separately stated and accompanied with an affidavit showing conformity to Code Civ. Proc. § 2562. Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. 337; Harward v. Hewlett, 5 Redf. Surr. 330. See also In re Goetschius, 2 Misc. 278, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 970, Pow. Surr. 371.

Amount of estate as affecting allowance.— The amount of an estate within the meaning of N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2557, providing that "costs other than actual expenses cannot be awarded to be paid out of an estate or fund which is less than one thousand dollars in amount or value," is not the balance left after the funeral expenses, etc., are paid, but the gross amount at the time of the decedent's death, with any increase up to the time of accounting. Chalker v. Chalker, 5 Redf. Surr. 480.

94. In re Heath, 52 N. J. Eq. 807, 33 Atl. 46; Smith's Appeal, 47 Pa. St. 424; Sheetz's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 407; In re Griffiths, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 311; Bolick's Estate, 2 Leg. Rec. (Pa.) 187; Reed's Estate, 4 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 173.

Amount of auditor's fee see Moffett's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 109; Bradley's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 87 (an auditor claiming a fee agreed upon by the parties must annex the agreement to his report); Benner's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 6 (an agreement of counsel fixing the compensation of an auditor must be in writing); Matter of Ward, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 332; Waugh's Estate, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 329; In re Bewley, 35 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 120; In re Shirk, 8 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 11.

95. Ray v. Van Hook, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 427.

Stenographer's fees for services rendered in a proceeding for settlement are not, it seems, to be charged to an estate except by agreement of the persons entitled to the estate. Matter of Maritch, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 270, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 237. Compare Du Bois v. Brown, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 317.

96. Smith v. Cheney, 1 Rob. (La.) 98; Matter of Hodgeman, 69 Hun (N. Y.) 484, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 725 [affirmed in 140 N. Y. 421, 35 N. E. 660]; Matter of Kenworthy, 63 Hun (N. Y.) 165, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Matter of Selleck, 1 N. Y. St. 575; Chatfield v. Swing, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 666, 7 Am. L. Rec. 326. See also Fink's Succession, 19 La. Ann. 258, deductions for amounts previously paid attorneys. But see Willcox v. Smith, 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 316 [approving Burtis v. Dodge, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 77], decided prior to the enactment of the present statute.

When account partially sustained.— Where the final settlement of a personal repre-skill and labor is required in preparing an account an allowance may be made a personal representative for the services of an accountant,[97] but ordinarily it is his duty to keep books showing the receipts and expenditures of the estate and to prepare his account personally, without any allowance for assistance.[98]

3. ALLOWANCE OR ASSESSMENT TO CONTESTANTS. Persons contesting the account of a representative may be taxed with a part or all of the costs of the proceeding sentative is contested and some of the objections thereto are sustained and others disallowed the personal representative is entitled to a reasonable allowance for attorney's fees for defending the settlement (Pinkard v. Pinkard, 24 Ala. 250; In re Meeker, 45 Mo. App. 186); but he is not entitled to an allowance for attorney's fees for services rendered as to items which are successfully contested (Clark v. Eubank, 80 Ala. 584, 3 So. 49).

Action caused by representative's delay.— The charge made by a personal representative for lawyer's fees for the preparation of his account will not be allowed when by his delay he has compelled the heirs to sue for its rendition. Bass v. Chambliss, 9 La. Ann. 376.

An executor, whose account has been confirmed without exception, holds the balance in his hands as a mere stakeholder; and the fees of his counsel for services before the auditor appointed to make final distribution are not chargeable on the fund. Bracken's Estate, 138 Pa. St. 104, 22 Atl. 20.

When a deceased representative's surety files his account counsel fees will not be allowed his representative. Haley's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 116.

Where an administrator on resigning failed to file a proper account, and the one filed was rejected, he was not entitled to be allowed an attorney's fee for services in filing a new account and in representing him on a contest thereof. James v. Craighead, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241.

Fees allowed for defending final settlement. — Jacobs v. Jacobs, 99 Mo. 427, 12 S. W. 457. See also McFarland v. Stewart, 109 Iowa 561, 80 N. W. 657. But see Taylor v. Minor, 90 Ky. 544, 14 S. W. 544, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 479.

Undisputed matters.— In the settlement of an administrator's account he is not entitled to the services of an attorney as to matters as to which the liability of the estate is not questioned or disputed by the heirs. In re McAlpin, 8 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 654.

Allowance made to representative and not directly to attorney.— McKee v. Soher, 138 Cal. 367, 71 Pac. 438, 649; Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479; Willcox v. Smith, 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 316; Matter of Gates, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 144. See also In re Kruger, 123 Cal. 391, 55 Pac. 1056. But see Gunning v. Lockman, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 273.

Amount of fee see Levinson's Estate, 108 Cal. 450, 41 Pac. 483, 42 Pac. 479; Halsey v. Van Amringe, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 12; Taylor's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 691 (holding that where there is a fee bill the amount to be allowed as attorney's fees in settling an estate should be determined thereby rather than by the testimony of attorneys as to the value of the services rendered); In re Greenwalt, 2 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. (Pa.) 246.

In New York the statute authorizes the surrogate, upon rendering a decree, to allow certain costs to the personal representative, and in his discretion to allow in addition such a sum as he deems reasonable for the personal representative's counsel fees and other expenses, not exceeding ten dollars for each day occupied in the trial and necessarily occupied in preparing his account and otherwise preparing for the trial. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2561, 2562; Seaman v. Whitehead, 78 N. Y. 306; Matter of O'Keeffe, 80 N. Y. App. Div. 513, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 118; Matter of Hagarty, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 79, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 839 [modifying and affirming 34 Misc. 610, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 428]; Matter of Welling, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 355, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 1025, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 639, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 1060; In re Reeves, 48 Hun 606, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 17, 21 Abb. N. Cas. 289; Matter of Van Kleeck, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 85, 2 Connoly Surr. 14; Hall v. Campbell, 1 Dem. Surr. 415; Du Bois v. Brown, 1 Dem. Surr. 317; Stokes v. Dale, 1 Dem. Surr. 260; Matter of Miles, 5 Redf. Surr. 110; Osborne v. McAlpine, 4 Redf. Surr. 1; Matter of Nockin, 15 N. Y. St. 731 (allowance for attorney of next of kin refused); Matter of Collamer, 5 N. Y. St. 196. It has been decided that these provisions do not restrict the authority of the surrogate to allow as a credit upon representative's accounting, a sum in excess of the statutory limit, paid by him to his counsel for services in respect to accounting, where it appears that services beyond the ordinary preparation of the account or for trial were rendered and were necessary. Matter of Mitchell, 39 Misc. 120, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 976, 12 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 146; Matter of Smith, 26 Abb. N. Cas. 56, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 88 [distinguishing and explaining In re Bailey, 47 Hun 477; In re Clark, 36 Hun 301; Willcox v. Smith, 26 Barb. 316; Burtis v. Dodge, 1 Barb. Ch. 77; Halsey v. Van Amringe, 6 Paige 12; Hall v. Campbell, 1 Dem. Surr. 415; Walton v. Howard, 1 Dem. Surr. 103; Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. 337; Harvard v. Hewlett, 5 Redf. Surr. 330; Matter of Miles, 5 Redf. Surr. 110; Osborne v. McAlpin, 4 Redf. Surr. 1].

97. Harrison v. McAdam, 38 Misc. (N. Y.) 18, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 701; Rankin's Estate, 9 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 407. See also More's Estate, 121 Cal. 609, 54 Pac. 97; In re Greenwalt, 9 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 50.

98. Kernan's Succession, 105 La. 592, 30 So. 239; In re Wolfe, 34 N. J. Eq. 223; Ran-where the decision is against them, if it appears that the contest was brought upon insufficient grounds;[99] but the costs of proceedings in which the contestant is successful, or which were brought in good faith and upon reasonable grounds, may be paid out of the estate.[1] Where a settlement of an account shows that the estate owes the representative more than he has been surcharged as the result of a contest, contestants are not entitled to costs.[2] A creditor calling an administrator to an account cannot recover costs unless he obtains a dividend.[3] The court may in its discretion in a proper case divide the costs between the contestants.[4] Costs will not be awarded to one who is not a party to the proceeding for accounting.[5]

4. Personal Liability of Executor or Administrator. Costs and expenses of proceedings for accounting and settlement may be charged to the personal representative individually, when he has rendered it necessary that such costs and expenses should be incurred by his misconduct or negligence as to accounting or settling, or when on a contested settlement the finding is against him;[6] and he may also incur individual liability for the costs of a compulsory proceeding for kin's Estate, 9 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 407; Logan v. Logan, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 1.

99. Alabama.— Jones v. Deyer, 16 Ala. 221.

Kentucky.— Beeler v. Hill, 5 Dana 37.

New York.— In re Adams, 166 N. Y. 623, 59 N. E. 1118 [affirming 51 N. Y. App. Div. 619, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 591].

Pennsylvania.— Galloway's Estate, 5 Pa. Super. Ct. 272; Frey's Estate, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 84; Gauff's Estate, 2 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. 245; Rambo's Estate, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. 25.

South Carolina.— Chaplin v. Jenkins, 2 Strobh. Eq. 96.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2258.

1. Goetschius' Estate, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 155, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 975; Matter of Collamer, 5 N. Y. St. 196 Gillespie v. Brooks, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 349; In re Hodgson, 158 Pa. St. 151, 27 Atl. 878; Kennedy's Estate, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 376.

Allowance for attorney's fees see Taylor v. Minor, 90 Ky. 544, 14 S. W. 544, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 479.

2. Matter of Eadie, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 117, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 967.

3. Griffith v. Beecher, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 432.

4. Barry's Succession, 48 La. Ann. 1143, 20 So. 656.

Auditor's fees apportioned see Pyle's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 569; Baily's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 568; McCann's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 235.

5. Parker v. Parker, 99 Ala. 239, 13 So. 520, 42 Am. St. Rep. 48; Matter of Reed, 12 N. Y. St. 139, surety's administrator.

6. Alabama.— Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227. See also Smyley v. Reese, 53 Ala. 89, 25 Am. Rep. 598.

Illinois.— Marshall v. Coleman, 187 Ill. 556, 58 N. E. 628 [modifying 89 Ill. App. 411].

New Jersey.— King v. Foerster, 61 N. J. Eq. 584, 47 Atl. 505; Aldridge v. McClelland, 36 N. J. Eq. 288, charges excepted to plainly not allowable. See also Pursel v. Pursel, 14 N. J. Eq. 514.

New York.— In re Holmes, 176 N. Y. 603, 68 N. E. 1118 [affirming 79 N. Y. App. Div. 264, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 592]; In re Gabriel, 161 N. Y. 644, 57 N. E. 1110 [affirming 44 N. Y. App. Div. 623, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 87]; In re Hobson, 131 N. Y. 575, 30 N. E. 63; Matter of Matthewson, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 8, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 140; Willcox v. Smith, 26 Barb. 316; Griffith v. Beecher, 10 Barb. 432; In re Lamb, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 343 (cost of special accounting on resignation); Matter of Conklin, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 59, 2 Connoly Surr. 176; In re Mull, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 23; Matter of Harnett, 15 N. Y. St. 725; Matter of Woodard, 13 N. Y. St. 161; Ray v. Van Hook, 9 How. Pr. 427; Rogers v. Rogers, 3 Wend. 503, 20 Am. Dec. 716; Halsey v. Van Amringe, 6 Paige 12; Manning v. Manning, 1 Johns. Ch. 527; Christie's Estate, Tuck. Surr. 81.

Pennsylvania.— In re Parker, 64 Pa. St. 307; In re Spangler, 21 Pa. St. 335; Moss' Estate, 4 Kulp 235; Fell's Estate, 13 Phila. 289; Bradley's Estate, 11 Phila. 87; In re Dolph, 3 Luz. Leg. Reg. 146; In re Schiehl, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. 38; In re Wirt, 11 York Leg. Rec. 145. See also In re Sharp, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. 176.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2260, 2262.

Where an administrator has a personal interest in litigation between himself and distributees upon the final settlement of the estate and a decision is made in favor of the distributees, the representative is personally liable for costs of the proceedings. Jones v. Deyer, 16 Ala. 221; Sherman v. Angel, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 26.

Good faith as to contest a reason for not charging.— Barclay's Appeal, 2 Walk. (Pa.) 17. See also Walker v. Dow, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 132, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 265; In re Young, 204 Pa. St. 32, 53 Atl. 511.

When representative not charged.— The representative should not pay counsel fees when acquitted of dereliction of duty (King v. Foerster, 61 N. J. Eq. 584, 47 Atl. 505), nor should he pay costs made necessary by unsustained exceptions to the account (Fieser's Estate, 15 Pa. Super. Ct. 447), and he has been held not chargeable with costs when the opposition was only partly sustained accounting brought after undue delay on his part in accounting and settling.[7] The costs of an audit may be included in the costs which are charged to a personal representative individually.[8]

5. Costs of Appeal From Accounting. Representatives are personally liable for costs when they unsuccessfully appeal in their own interest from a settlement of their accounts,[9] or when an appeal results from their fault or misconduct.[10] Costs should not be taxed either for the representative or the other party to the appeal when neither party is entirely in the right.[11] Where an executor holding funds of the testator in trust for a special purpose appeals from a decree relating to such funds, claiming no interest in them except as trustee, and the decree is affirmed in part and reversed in part, the questions being sufficiently important to authorize the appeal, costs should be taxed for the executor.[12] On an appeal by the personal representative from an erroneous probate decree, made without any fault on his part, costs should be taxed against the estate.[13] Counsel fees and expenses incurred in good faith in resisting appeals from orders auditing his account should be allowed the personal representative.[14] Where an administrator has appealed from an order commanding him to render an account, but after filing his bond he has abandoned the appeal, damages should not be granted for the frivolous appeal, as this would be to the detriment of the creditors and heirs of the decedent, and not of the administrator.[15]

XVI. Foreign and Ancillary Administration.

A. Appointment — 1. Foreign Appointment — a. In General. The phrase "foreign representative" does not refer to the mere non-residence of the indi-(Conery's Succession, 106 La. 50, 30 So. 294). He cannot be charged with any costs except such as arise from his wrongful acts. In re Heath, 58 Iowa 36, 11 N. W. 723.

Apportionment of costs.— Costs of the audit of an administrator's accounts are properly apportioned where his failure to keep proper accounts made a reference necessary, and the audit was needlessly prolonged by the beneficiaries of the estate. In re Morrison, 196 Pa. St. 80, 46 Atl. 257.

Attachment for costs.— In Pennsylvania the payment of costs awarded against a personal representative may be enforced by process of attachment against the representative's person. Patton's Estate, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 545; Hoffman's Estate, 10 Pa. Super. Ct. 113; Lundy's Estate, 3 C. Pl. 139.

7. California.—Moore's Estate, 72 Cal. 335, 13 Pac. 880.

Kentucky.— Ransdell v. Threlkeld, 4 Bush 347.

New Jersey.— Post v. Stevens, 13 N. J. Eq. 293.

New York.— Matter of Briggs, 31 Misc. 486, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 660; Goetschius' Estate, 3 Misc. 155, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 975; Peltz v. Schultes, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 336, 64 Hun 369, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 637; In re Williams, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 669, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc, 270, 1 Connoly Surr. 99. Compare Wells v. Disbrow, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 518; Shultz v. Pulver, 3 Paige 182.

Ohio.— In re Klumperink, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 344. Compare Myers v. Bryson, 153 Pa. St. 246, 27 Atl. 986 (holding that the omission of executors to account over six months when no demand was made upon them for an account was not such an omission of an absolute or peremptory duty as would justify the imposition of the costs of an equity suit upon them); In re Sharp, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. 176.

Pennsylvania.— Fox's Estate, 5 Kulp 218; Stewart's Estate, 12 Phila. 150.

United States.— Norman v. Storer, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,301, 1 Blatchf. 593.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2261.

8. Dunford v. Weaver, 84 N. Y. 445 [affirming 21 Hun 349] (under statute when accounting is compulsory); Barhite's Appeal, 126 Pa. St. 404, 17 Atl. 617; In re Price, 81 Pa. St. 263; McClintock's Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 365; Martin's Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 433; Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 419; Miller's Estate, 16 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 115; Robinson's Estate, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 99; Smith's Estate, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 377; Kleinfelter's Appeal, 1 Pittsb. (Pa.) 376; In re Harlan, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 451, 3 Pa. L. J. 116; In re Gorgas, 4 Lanc. Bar Nov. 30, 1872.

9. Matter of Clinton, 12 N. Y. App. Div. 132, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 674. See also McClelland v. Bristow, 9 Ind. App. 543, 35 N. E. 197.

10. Smith v. Scofield, 19 Conn. 533; John's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 311; James v. Craighead, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 69 S. W. 241.

11. Phelps v. Slade, 10 Vt. 192.

12. Marston v. Marston, 21 N. H. 491.

13. Moody v. Hemphill, 71 Ala. 169; Smith v. Scofield, 19 Conn. 533.

14. Rose's Estate, 80 Cal. 166, 82 Pac. 86.

15. Girouard v. Broussard, 28 La. Ann. 626.

vidual holding the office but to the foreign origin of the representative character.[16] So if a representative appointed in one jurisdiction takes out ancillary letters of administration in another, he thereupon becomes a domestic representative within that jurisdiction.[17]

b. Extent of Authority Conferred. It is a well settled principle of the common law that letters of administration have no extraterritorial force and confer no authority upon the representative to administer upon property outside of the state or country of his appointment,[18] and in the absence of statute any recognition which the representative may receive outside of the jurisdiction of his appointment is due solely to the principle of comity,[19] which each state or country may extend or withhold according to its own pleasure and policy.[20] No state will recognize a foreign representative to the prejudice of its own 16. Hopper v. Hopper, 125 N. Y. 400, 26 N. E. 457, 12 L. R. A. 237 [affirming 53 Hun 394, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 271, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 214]; Flandrow v. Hammond, 13 N. Y. App. Div. 325, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 143, 4 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 56.

17. Hopper v. Hopper, 125 N. Y. 400, 26 N. E. 457, 12 L. R. A. 237 [affirming 53 Hun 394, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 271, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 214].

18. Alabama.— Barclift v. Treece, 77 Ala. 528.

Colorado.— Corrigan v. Jones, 14 Colo. 311, 23 Pac. 913.

Connecticut.— Perkins v. Stone, 18 Conn. 270; Riley v. Riley, 3 Day 74, 3 Am. Dec. 260.

District of Columbia.— Plumb v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. 156.

Illinois.— Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118.

Kansas.— Denny v. Faulkner, 22 Kan. 89.

Kentucky.— Fletcher v. Wier, 7 Dana 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96.

Louisiana.— In re Lewis, 32 La. Ann. 385; Burbank v. Payne, 17 La. Ann. 15, 87 Am. Dec. 513; Henderson v. Rost, 15 La. Ann. 405; Lytle's Succession, 1 Rob. 268; McRae v. McRae, 11 La. 571; Chiapella v. Couprey, 8 La. 84; Lincoln v. Ball, 6 La. 685; Morris v. Thames, 8 Mart. N. S. 687; Deshon v. Jennings, 5 Mart. 568.

Maine.— Gilman v. Gilman, 54 Me. 453; Smith v. Guild, 34 Me. 443.

Massachusetts.— Beaman v. Elliot, 10 Cush. 172; Campbell v. Sheldon, 13 Pick. 8.

Michigan.—Reynolds v. McMullen, 55 Mich. 568, 22 N. W. 41, 54 Am. Rep. 386.

Mississippi.— Rucks v. Taylor, 49 Miss. 552; Riley v. Mosely, 44 Miss. 37; Satterwhite v. Littlefield, 13 Sm. & M. 302.

Missouri.— Naylor v. Moffatt, 29 Mo. 126.

Nebraska.— Burton v. Williams, 63 Nebr. 431, 88 N. W. 765; Creighton v. Murphy, 8 Nebr. 349, 1 N. W. 138.

Nevada.— Price v. Ward, 25 Nev. 203, 58 Pac. 849, 46 L. R. A. 459.

New Hampshire.— Willard v. Hammond, 21 N. H. 382.

New York.— Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103; Brown v. Brown, 1 Barb. Ch. 189; Vroom v. Van Horne, 10 Paige 549, 42 Am. Dec. 94; Williams v. Storrs, 6 Johns. Ch. 353, 10 Am. Dec. 340; Stewart v. O'Donnell, 2 Dem. Surr. 17; Matter of Jones, 3 Redf. Surr. 257.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720; Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267.

Pennsylvania.— Hohweisner v. Kern, 3 Leg. Chron. 173; Hohweisner v. Kerr, 1 Leg. Rec. 202.

South Carolina.— Burkhim v. Pinkhussohn, 58 S. C. 469, 36 S. E. 908; Stoddard v. Aiken, 57 S. C. 134, 35 S. E. 501; Stevenson v. Dunlap, 33 S. C. 350, 11 S. E. 1017; Tillman v. Walkup, 7 S. C. 60; Carmichael v. Ray, 1 Rich. 116; Reynolds v. Torrance, 2 Brev. 59.

Tennessee.— State v. Fulton, (Ch. App.) 1898) 49 S. W. 297.

Vermont.— Vaughn v. Barret, 5 Vt. 333, 26 Am. Dec. 306; Lee v. Havens, Brayt. 93.

Washington.— Barlow v. Coggan, 1 Wash. Terr. 257.

United States.—Overby v. Gordon, 177 U. S. 214, 20 S. Ct. 603, 44 L. ed. 741 [affirming 13 App. Cas. (D. C.) 392]; Lawrence v. Nelson, 143 U. S. 215, 12 S. Ct. 440, 36 L. ed. 130; Aspden v. Nixon, 4 How. 467, 11 L. ed. 1059; Vaughan v. Northup, 15 Pet. 1, 10 L. ed. 639.

England.— Atkins v. Smith, 2 Atk. 63, 26 Eng. Reprint 436.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2297.

In Pennsylvania it is expressly provided by statute that foreign letters of administration shall not confer upon the person to whom they are granted any of the powers and authorities possessed by a representative appointed under the laws of the state. Sayre v. Helme, 61 Pa. St. 299; Moore v. Fields, 42 Pa. St. 467; Com. v. Ware, 6 Phila. 258.

19. Kansas.— Denny v. Faulkner, 22 Kan. 89.

Michigan.—Reynolds v. McMullen, 55 Mich. 568, 22 N. W. 41, 54 Am. Rep. 386.

New York.— Vroom v. Van Horne, 10 Paige 549, 42 Am. Dec. 94.

North Carolina.— Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267.

United States.— Vaughan v. Northup, 15 Pet. 1, 10 L. ed. 639.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2297.

20. Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267; Olney v. Angell, 5 R. I. 198, 73 Am. Dec. 62; Vaughan v. Northup, 15 Pet. (U. S.) 1, 10 L. ed. 639.

citizens,[21] as where such recognition will conflict with the rights of local creditors,[22] or a local administration;[23] but in the absence of such circumstances the tendency of the modern authorities is to recognize a foreign representative for many purposes,[24] although of course he will not be permitted through comity to exercise powers which he could not exercise in the state of his appointment.[25]

c. Statutory Provisions. In a number of jurisdictions the statutes authorize a foreign representative to sue,[26] or be sued,[27] or upon complying with certain conditions to act as a local representative;[28] but any conditions provided for by these statutes must be substantially complied with before a foreign representative will be recognized.[29]

2. Ancillary Appointment — a. Ancillary and Domiciliary Appointment Distinguished. The right of granting administration is not confined to the state or country in which the deceased last dwelt but it is very common and often necessary for administration to be taken out elsewhere.[30] Where different adminstrations are granted in different jurisdictions, that which is granted in the jurisdiction of the decedent's last domicile is termed the principal or domiciliary administration, and any other administration granted in any other state or country is termed ancillary,[31] and this without regard to which is granted first.[32] The ancillary administration is not dependent upon the domiciliary;[33] but each is distinct and

21. Du Val v. Marshall, 30 Ark. 230; Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267.

22. Broughton v. Bradley, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474; In re Viosca, 197 Pa. St. 280, 47 Atl. 233, 51 L. R. A. 876.

23. Du Val v. Marshall, 30 Ark. 230.

24. Putnam v. Pitney, 45 Minn. 242, 47 N. W. 790, 11 L. R. A. 41. See also Marcy v. Marcy, 32 Conn. 308; Gove v. Gove, 64 N. H. 503, 15 Atl. 121; Luce v. Manchester, etc., R. Co., 63 N. H. 588, 3 Atl. 618.

Title of foreign representative see infra, XVI, B, 1, b.

Right to collect assets see infra, XVI, B, 2, b.

Rights as to disposition and control of property of the estate see infra, XVI, B, 3.

25. Limekiller v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 33 Kan. 83, 5 Pac. 401, 52 Am. Rep. 523.

26. See infra, XVI, G, 1, c.

27. See infra, XVI, H, 3.

28. Wedderburn's Succession, 1 Rob. (La.) 263; State v. New Orleans Probate Judge, 18 La. 570; McIntosh v. Marathon Land Co., 110 Wis. 296, 85 N. W. 976.

29. Hatchett v. Berney, 65 Ala. 39; Lucas v. Tucker, 17 Ind. 41; Butler's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 887; Young's Succession, 21 La. Ann. 394; Dangerfield v. Thruston, 8 Mart. N. S. (La.) 232.

A new bond must be given by a foreign executor (Withers' Succession, 45 La. Ann. 556, 12 So. 875; Bodenheimer's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 1034; Young's Succession, 21 La. Ann. 394; Wedderburn's Succession, 1 Rob. (La.) 263); but the failure to do so does not ipso facto vacate the trust (Withers' Succession, supra).

A new oath is not necessary where the representative has already been sworn at the place of his appointment. Bodenheimer's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 1034; Wedderburn's Succession, 1 Rob. (La.) 263.

30. Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256; Reynolds v. McMullen, 55 Mich. 568, 22 N. W. 41, 54 Am. Rep. 386.

31. Alabama.— Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Childress v. Bennett, 10 Ala. 751, 44 Am. Dec. 503.

Arkansas.— Shegogg v. Perkins, 34 Ark. 117.

Colorado.— Corrigan v. Jones, 14 Colo. 311, 23 Pac. 913.

Connecticut.— Perkins v. Stone, 18 Conn. 270.

Illinois.— Young v. Wittenmyre, 123 Ill. 303, 14 N. E. 869 [reversing 22 Ill. App. 496]; Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270.

Indiana.— McCord v. Thompson, 92 Ind. 565.

Iowa.— Re Gable, 79 Iowa 178, 44 N. W. 352, 9 L. R. A. 218; Chamberlin v. Wilson, 45 Iowa 149.

Kentucky.— Fletcher v. Sanders, 7 Dana 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96.

Maryland.— Williams v. Williams, 5 Md. 467.

Massachusetts.— Fay v. Haven, 3 Metc. 109; Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256; Dawes v. Boylston, 9 Mass. 337, 6 Am. Dec. 72.

Missouri.— Spraddling v. Pipkin, 15 Mo. 118.

Nebraska.— Creighton v. Murphy, 8 Nebr. 349, 1 N. W. 138.

New York.— Matter of Newell, 38 Misc. 563, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 1116; Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. 337.

North Carolina.— Plummer v. Brandon, 40 N. C. 190.

South Carolina.— Graveley v. Graveley, 25 S. C. 1, 60 Am. Rep. 478.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2299.

32. Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256; Green v. Rugely, 23 Tex. 539.

33. Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Harvey v. Richards, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,184, 1 Mason 381.

The term "ancillary" serves only to distinguish the one administration from the other and does not indicate a dependence of the ancillary administration on that of the separate,[34] and may properly be considered as a principal one with reference to the limits of its exclusive authority.[35] The ancillary administrator becomes invested with the same powers and is subject to the same liability with respect to the assets within the jurisdiction of his appointment as other administrators.[36]

b. When Ancillary Appointment Proper — (I) In General. An ancillary administration is proper whenever a person dies leaving, in a state or country other than that of his last domicile, property to be administered,[37] or which is in danger of being wasted or lost,[38] or debts owing to him which must be collected by suit,[39] or where there are provisions of his will to be carried out with respect to property in such jurisdiction.[40] In most cases where a decedent leaves property in different jurisdictions an ancillary administration is not only proper but necessary,[41] since the domiciliary letters have no extraterritorial force,[42] and the principal representative cannot, in the absence of statute, sue to collect assets outside of the jurisdiction of his appointment.[43] The chief object, however, of an ancillary administration is to collect and preserve local assets for the benefit of local creditors.[44]

(II) Situs of Assets.[45] To authorize a grant of ancillary administration it must appear that there is property in the jurisdiction where the grant is applied for,[46] which at the time of the application is unadministered,[47] and also that it is of such a character as may be denominated local assets, or such as has its situs for purposes of administration in that jurisdiction.[48] Ancillary administration may be granted, although the decedent left only real property in the jurisdiction where the grant is applied for,[49] and it is usually held that property brought into the jurisdiction after the decedent's death is sufficient ground for granting ancillary administration, although he owned no property there at the time of his domicile. Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124.

34. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344; Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Keaton v. Campbell, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 224. See also Grant v. Rogers, 94 N. C. 755; Graveley v. Graveley, 25 S. C. 1, 60 Am. Rep. 478.

35. Parker's Estate, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 369; Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 84; Keaton v. Campbell, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 224; Harvey v. Richards, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,184, 1 Mason 381. See also Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267.

36. Smith v. New York City Second Nat. Bank, 169 N. Y. 467, 62 N. E. 577; Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 84. See also Lees v. Wetmore, 58 Iowa 170, 12 N. W. 238.

37. Connecticut.— Lawrence's Appeal, 49 Conn. 411.

Massachusetts.— Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256.

New Jersey.— Banta v. Moore, 15 N. J. Eq. 97.

North Carolina.— Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267.

Pennsylvania.— Mansfield v. McFarland, 202 Pa. St. 173, 51 Atl. 763.

Texas.— Simpson v. Knox, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 569.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2300.

38. Becraft v. Lewis, 41 Mo. App. 546.

39. Becraft v. Lewis, 41 Mo. App. 546. See also Grant v. Rogers, 94 N. C. 755.

40. Jackson v. Jeffries, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 309.

41. Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256.

42. See supra, XVI, A, 1, b.

43. See infra, XVI, G, 1, a.

44. McCully v. Cooper, 114 Cal. 258, 46 Pac. 82, 55 Am. St. Rep. 66, 35 L. R. A. 492.

45. See supra, I, J, 4, c.

46. Connecticut.—Beach's Appeal, 76 Conn. 118, 55 Atl. 596.

District of Columbia.— In re Coit, 3 App. Cas. 246.

Indiana.— McCord v. Thompson, 92 Ind. 565.

Maine.— Shaw, Appellant, 81 Me. 207, 16 Atl. 662.

Massachusetts.—Martin v. Gage, 147 Mass. 204, 17 N. E. 310.

New York.— Evans v. Schoonmaker, 2 Dem. Surr. 249.

Pennsylvania.— Schley's Estate, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. 684.

United States.— McKinzie v. U. S., 34 Ct. Cl. 278.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2300.

If it appears that all the property has been removed or legally disposed of before the date of the application a grant of ancillary administration should be denied. Shaw, Appellant, 81 Me. 207, 16 Atl. 662; Martin v. Gage, 147 Mass. 204, 17 N. E. 310.

47. Townsend v. Bell, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 367.

48. In re Coit, 3 App. Cas. (D. C.) 246; McCord v. Thompson, 92 Ind. 565; Schley's Estate, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 684.

49. Prescott v. Durfee, 131 Mass. 477; Partee v. Kortrecht, 54 Miss. 66; Hanford v. Davies, 1 Wash. 476, 25 Pac. 329.

death.[50] After property has vested in a representative in one jurisdiction, its removal into another is no ground for granting ancillary administration there,[51] and the representative may sue in his own name for its recovery;[52] but where a debtor moves into another jurisdiction the debt becomes assets in that jurisdiction.[53]

(III) Dependence on Domiciliary Appointment. While ancillary administration is not generally granted until after a representative has been appointed in the place of the decedent's domicile,[54] jurisdiction to grant ancillary letters is in no way dependent upon a prior domiciliary grant,[55] nor is it affected by the fact that a domiciliary grant has been made and that the foreign representative is by statute authorized to sue.[56]

c. Persons Entitled to Appointment. Ancillary letters should ordinarily be granted to the domiciliary representative, if he applies therefor,[57] or to his nominee,[58]

50. Morefield v. Harris, 126 N. C. 626, 36 S. E. 125. See also Kohler v. Knapp, 1 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 241. See supra, I, J, 4, c, (VI).

51. Ramey v. Green, 18 Ala. 771; Treadwell v. Rainey, 9 Ala. 590; Matter of McCabe, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 145, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 180 [affirmed in 177 N. Y. 584, 69 N. E. 1126]. See also Sawyer v. Seaver, 166 Mass. 447, 44 N. E. 505. And see infra, XVI, B, 1, b.

52. Crawford v. Graves, 15 La. Ann. 243; Beckham v. Wittkowski, 64 N. C. 464; Giddings v. Green, 48 Fed. 489.

53. Saunders v. Weston, 74 Me. 85; Pinney v. McGregory, 102 Mass. 186; Stearns v. Wright, 51 N. H. 600; Fox v. Carr, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 434.

54. Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256.

55. Kentucky.— Henderson v. Clarke, 4 Litt. 277.

Massachusetts.— Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256.

Missouri.—Spraddling v. Pipkin, 15 Mo. 118.

New York.— Wise's Estate, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 230 note; Langbein's Estate, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 226, 1 Dem. Surr. 448.

Texas.— Green v. Rugely, 23 Tex. 539; Simpson v. Knox, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 569.

Vermont.— Abbott v. Coburn, 28 Vt. 663, 67 Am. Dec. 735.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2301.

Probate of a will need not be made at the domicile before ancillary letters can be issued. Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267. Aliter by statute in New York. Winnington's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 267.

56. Broughton v. Bradley, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474; Henderson v. Clark, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 277; Purcell v. Heinberger, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 343. See infra, XVI, G, 1, c, (I).

57. California.— In re Bergin, 100 Cal. 376, 34 Pac. 867. See also In re Brundage, 141 Cal. 538, 75 Pac. 175.

Connecticut.— Lawrence's Appeal, 49 Conn. 411; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Andrews, 36 Conn. 213.

Iowa.— In re Miller, 92 Iowa 741, 61 N. W. 229.

Kentucky.— Fletcher v. Sanders, 7 Dana 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96.

Louisiana.— State v. New Orleans Probate Judge, 17 La. 486. See also State v. New Orleans Probate Judge, 18 La. 570.

Minnesota.— Babcock v. Collins, 60 Minn. 73, 61 N. W. 1020, 51 Am. St. Rep. 503.

Pennsylvania.— Mackin's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 207.

United States.— Berney v. Drexel, 12 Fed. 393.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2302.

In California in the absence of an application by the executors named in the will, letters must be granted "to a person interested in the will," who applies in preference to the public administrator (In re Bergin, 100 Cal. 376, 34 Pac. 867); and as between persons equally entitled males must be preferred to females (In re Coan, 132 Cal. 401, 64 Pac. 691). See supra, II, B, 2, d, (II).

In Louisiana where the executor named in a foreign will refuses to serve, the foreign dative testamentary executor cannot be appointed but the public administrator must be appointed. Taylor's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 22.

In New York the persons entitled to ancillary appointment are specified by Code Civ. Proc. § 2695 et seq. See Gavin's Estate, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 670, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 390, 1 Connoly Surr. 117; Wise's Estate, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 230 note; Lussen v. Timmerman, 4 Dem. Surr. 250; Hendrickson v. Ladd, 2 Dem. Surr. 402; Weed v. Waterbury, 5 Redf. Surr. 114.

In South Carolina a non-resident cannot be appointed. Burkhim v. Pinkhussohn, 58 S. C. 469, 36 S. E. 908.

Refusal of domiciliary letters to one executor.— Where a will devising real property in Minnesota and admitted to probate in a foreign country is allowed in the probate court of the proper county in Minnesota, it becomes the duty of the court to issue letters testamentary to a resident executor named in the will if duly qualified, although such letters were refused him by the court where the will was originally proved. Bloor v. Myerscaugh, 45 Minn. 29, 47 N. W. 311.

58. Wise's Estate, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 230 note.

In California it is discretionary with the court as to appointing the nominee of the person entitled to the appointment. In re Harrison, 135 Cal. 7, 66 Pac. 846; In re Richardson, 120 Cal. 344, 52 Pac. 832; In re Murphy, Myr. Prob. 185. See supra, II, B, 2, h.

or attorney;[59] but in the absence of express statutory requirement the court may in its discretion appoint some other person.[60] In cases where no domiciliary letters have been granted, the ancillary letters will ordinarily be issued to the person who would be entitled thereto, under the local statutes, in case of domestic administration,[61] and if those entitled to preference do not apply, administration may be granted in the discretion of the court.[62] The domiciliary representative may renounce his right to the ancillary appointment,[63] and the court may appoint some other suitable person on his failure or refusal to act[64] or in case of his death.[65]

d. Time For Appointment. Statutes limiting the time for taking out original letters of administration do not apply to ancillary administration.[66] Each case must be governed by its own facts and circumstances, and where the delay is sufficiently explained the court may grant such letters at any time;[67] but where a person who would be entitled to ancillary letters fails to make application therefor until after the domiciliary representative has taken possession of and administered all the assets he will be deemed to have waived his right to such administration.[68]

e. Proceedings For Appointment—(i) In General. Proceedings for the appointment of an ancillary administrator are instituted by a petition addressed to the surrogate, which must be verified,[69] and must contain statement of facts sufficient to show the jurisdiction of the court in the particular case.[70] The names and residences of creditors or persons claiming as such and residing in the state must be given.[71] If the decedent died testate, a copy of the judgment, decree, or order admitting the will to probate in the jurisdiction of the domicile should be presented,[72] together with an exemplified copy of the will.[73] If domiciliary letters have been issued, an exemplified copy thereof should be produced.[74]

59. Matter of Hanover, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 91; St. Jurjo v. Dunscomb, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 105.

60. Hardin v. Jamison, 60 Minn. 112, 61 N. W. 1018; Lussen v. Timmerman, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 250.

61. Wise's Estate, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 230 note. Persons entitled to appointment generally see supra, II, B, 2.

62. Dalrymple v. Gamble, 66 Md. 298, 7 Atl. 683, 8 Atl. 468. See supra, II, B, 2, g.

63. Keith v. Proctor, 114 Ala. 676, 21 So. 502; Hooper v. Moore, 50 N. C. 130. Renunciation of right generally see supra, II, B, 4, a.

The renunciation need not be express or formal but may be implied from silence and inaction. Keith v. Proctor, 114 Ala. 676, 21 So. 502; Lawrence's Appeal, 49 Conn. 411.

64. Keith v. Proctor, 114 Ala. 676, 21 So. 502; Langton's Estate, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 46.

65. Jackson v. Jeffries, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 309.

66. Woodruff v. Schultz, 49 Iowa 430; Henry v. Rowe, 83 Tex. 446, 18 S. W. 806; Dolton v. Nelson, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,976, 3 Dill. 469.

67. Ives v. Jacksonville Nat. Bank, 28 Ill. App. 563. See also Keith v. Proctor, 114 Ala. 676, 21 So. 502; McKee v. Simpson, 36 Fed. 248, holding that ancillary letters are not invalid because granted twelve years after the decedent's death.

68. Marcy v. Marcy, 32 Conn. 308.

69. Winnington's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 267.

70. Langbein's Estate, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 226, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 448.

The facts conferring jurisdiction must be stated directly, and not left to inference. Winnington's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 267. See also Thompson's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 264.

71. Winnington's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 267.

Naming the firms to which creditors belong instead of the creditors individually is insufficient. Thompson's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 264.

72. Thompson's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 264; Matter of Hudson, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 333.

Affidavits insufficient.— A motion to grant ancillary letters testamentary to one alleging that he is executor of a will duly probated in another state will not be granted on affidavits. Gavin's Estate, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 670, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 390, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 117.

73. Winnington's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 267; Thompson's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 264; In re Levy, Tuck. Surr. (N. Y.) 20.

A will of real estate must be shown to have been executed according to the laws of the state where the ancillary letters were applied for, but this is not necessary in case of a will of personal property. Langbein's Estate, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 226, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 448.

74. Winnington's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 267; Thompson's Estate, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 264.

(II) Appeal. The domiciliary representative has such an interest as entitles him to appeal from a decree appointing an ancillary representative in another jurisdiction;[75] and other persons interested in the estate have the same right.[76]

f. Bond. An ancillary representative is usually required by statute to give a bond in the jurisdiction where such letters are taken out,[77] but the failure to file a bond renders the letters voidable only and not void.[78]

g. Revocation of Letters and Removal. The court having power to grant ancillary letters has also the right to revoke such letters where they have been improvidently granted.[79] The letters may be revoked where they have been procured through fraud,[80] and, where general ancillary letters have been granted and it appears that the decedent left a will, they may be revoked and letters with the will annexed issued;[81] but the probate of a foreign will does not of itself annul the ancillary letters previously granted.[82] The power of the court to revoke ancillary letters is not arbitrary, but is a legal discretion to be exercised only upon a state of facts warranting it.[83] A petition for the removal of an ancillary representative can be presented only by a person interested in the estate,[84] and must make a specific allegation of facts showing sufficient cause for removal.[85] It has been held that the revocation of the domiciliary letters does not affect ancillary letters taken out in another jurisdiction.[86]

