3. Relation Between Ancillary and Domiciliary Representatives. There is no privity between administrators of the same estate appointed in different jurisdictions,[87] or between an executor in one jurisdiction and an ancillary administrator

75. Shaw, Appellant, 81 Me. 207, 16 Atl. 662; Martin v. Gage, 147 Mass. 204, 17 N. E. 310; Smith v. Sherman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 408; Graves v. Tilton, 63 N. H. 192.

The ground on which the right to appeal is based is that the principal representative should be allowed to contest burdening the estate with an unnecessary administration (Smith v. Sherman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 408) or having it intrusted to an improper person (Graves v. Tilton, 63 N. H. 192).

76. Shaw, Appellant, 81 Me. 207, 16 Atl. 662, holding that the widow of the decedent may appeal.

77. In re Prout, 128 N. Y. 70, 27 N. E. 948, 13 L. R. A. 104 [affirming 12 N. Y. Suppl. 64, 19 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 435]; Govan's Estate, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 291, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 766.

Amount of bond.— The surrogate in fixing the amount of the bond of an ancillary administrator may ignore a disputed claim probably not enforceable. Matter of Musgrave, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 427.

In Pennsylvania if an executor is a resident he will not be required to give bond. Mackin's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 207.

If an executor is relieved by the will from giving a bond no bond will be required where he takes out ancillary letters in another jurisdiction. Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718. In New York it is provided by statute that if the will requests that no security is required ancillary letters may be issued without security if the representative has his usual place of business in that state, but in other cases a bond must be given. Van Wyck v. Van Wyck, 22 Hun 9.

78. Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718.

79. Dalrymple v. Gamble, 66 Md. 298, 7 Atl. 683, 8 Atl. 468.

80. Bradley v. Broughton, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474; Mackin's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 328, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 207.

81. Bradley v. Broughton, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474; Clark v. Holt, 16 Ark. 257; Dalrymple v. Gamble, 66 Md. 298, 7 Atl. 683, 8 Atl. 468.

Until the will is admitted to probate the general ancillary letters will not be revoked. Gavin's Estate, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 670, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 390, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 117.

82. Clark v. Holt, 16 Ark. 257.

83. Dalrymple v. Gamble, 66 Md. 298, 7 Atl. 683, 8 Atl. 468. See also Mackin's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 328, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 207.

Failure to qualify and give bond within the time prescribed is not sufficient ground for removal, where the party has exercised reasonable diligence and gives a satisfactory explanation of the delay. In re Miller, 92 Iowa 741, 61 N. W. 229.

Non-residence is not ground for the removal of an ancillary administrator, where it is not shown to be actually prejudicial to the rights of those interested in the estate. White v. Spaulding, 50 Mich. 22, 14 N. W. 684.

84. White v. Spaulding, 50 Mich. 22, 14 N. W. 684. See also In re Lewis, 32 La. Ann. 385.

85. White v. Spaulding, 50 Mich. 22, 14 N. W. 684.

86. Huntington v. Moore, 1 N. M. 489. But see Matter of Gilleran, 50 Hun (N. Y.) 399, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 145, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 406.

87. Alabama.— Johnston v. McKinnon, 129 Ala. 223, 29 So. 696; Hatchett v. Berney, 65 Ala. 39.

Illinois.— Smith v. Goodrich, 167 Ill. 46, 47

in another;[88] and a judgment against the one is no evidence against the other, for the purpose of affecting assets received by the latter under his administration,[89] and cannot be made the basis of an action against him,[90] even where the offices are held by the same person.[91] The rule is different, however, as to executors appointed in different states by the same will.[92]

B. Collection and Disposition of Assets — 1. Title to Assets — a. Ancillary Representative. Immediately upon his appointment and qualification, an ancillary representative becomes vested with title to all the assets belonging to his decedent within the jurisdiction of his appointment,[93] and as to such assets his title is exclusive,[94] notwithstanding the evidence of his title may be in the hands of the domiciliary representative.[95] But the title of an ancillary representative extends only to the property of the decedent which is within the jurisdiction of his appointment,[96] and which is properly assets for the purpose of administra-

N. E. 316; Rosenthal v. Renick, 44 Ill. 202; Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270.

Indiana.— McCord v. Thompson, 92 Ind. 565.

Iowa.— Creswell v. Slack, 68 Iowa 110, 26 N. W. 42.

Maine.— Fowle v. Coe, 63 Me. 245.

Montana.—Braithwaite v. Harvey, 14 Mont. 208, 36 Pac. 38, 43 Am. St. Rep. 625, 27 L. R. A. 101.

Nebraska.— Creighton v. Murphy, 8 Nebr. 349, 1 N. W. 138.

New Hampshire.— Taylor v. Barron, 35 N. H. 484.

Pennsylvania.— Brodie v. Bickley, 2 Rawle 431.

South Carolina.— Graveley v. Graveley, 25 S. C. 1, 60 Am. Rep. 478.

Tennessee.— State v. Fulton, (Ch. App. 1898) 49 S. W. 297.

United States.— Stacy v. Thrasher, 6 How. 44, 12 L. ed. 337. See also Hill v. Tucker, 13 How. 458, 14 L. ed. 223.

88. Low v. Bartlett, 8 Allen (Mass.) 259. Compare Latine v. Clements, 3 Ga. 426.

89. Alabama.— Johnston v. McKinnon, 129 Ala. 223, 29 So. 696.

Illinois.— Smith v. Goodrich, 167 Ill. 46, 47 N. E. 316; Rosenthal v. Renick, 44 Ill. 202.

Iowa.— Creswell v. Slack, 68 Iowa 110, 26 N. W. 42.

Massachusetts.— Low v. Bartlett, 8 Allen 259.

Montana.—Braithwaite v. Harvey, 14 Mont. 208, 36 Pac. 38, 43 Am. St. Rep. 625, 27 L. R. A. 101.

Tennessee.— State v. Fulton, (Ch. App. 1898) 49 S. W. 297.

United States.— Johnson v. Powers, 139 U. S. 156, 11 S. Ct. 525, 35 L. ed. 112; McLean v. Meek, 18 How. 16, 15 L. ed. 277.

90. Indiana.— Slauter v. Chenowith, 7 Ind. 211.

Massachusetts.— Low v. Bartlett, 8 Allen 259.

Montana.—Braithwaite v. Harvey, 14 Mont. 208, 36 Pac. 38, 43 Am. St. Rep. 625, 27 L. R. A. 101.

Nebraska.— Creighton v. Murphy, 8 Nebr. 349, 1 N. W. 138.

Pennsylvania.— Brodie v. Bickley, 2 Rawle 431.

Texas.— Carrigan v. Semple, 72 Tex. 306, 12 S. W. 178; Cherry v. Speight, 28 Tex. 503.

United States.— Stacy v. Thrasher, 6 How. 44, 12 L. ed. 337.

91. Johnston v. McKinnon, 129 Ala. 223, 29 So. 696; Brodie v. Bickley, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 431 (holding that the privity must be official and not merely personal to sustain such an action); State v. Fulton, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 49 S. W. 297.

92. Creighton v. Murphy, 8 Nebr. 349, 1 N. W. 138; Hill v. Tucker, 13 How. (U. S.) 458, 14 L. ed. 223; Goodall v. Tucker, 13 How. (U. S.) 469, 14 L. ed. 227. See also Low v. Bartlett, 8 Allen (Mass.) 259.

An administrator with the will annexed in one jurisdiction is in privity with the executor in another. Latine v. Clements, 3 Ga. 426.

93. Grayson v. Robertson, 122 Ala. 330, 25 So. 229, 82 Am. St. Rep. 80; Barclift v. Treece, 77 Ala. 528; Naylor v. Moffatt, 29 Mo. 126.

94. Alabama.— Grayson v. Robertson, 122 Ala. 330, 25 So. 229, 82 Am. St. Rep. 80; Barclift v. Treece, 77 Ala. 528.

Kentucky.— Cosby v. Gilchrist, 7 Dana 206.

Mississippi.— McIlvoy v. Alsop, 45 Miss. 365.

Missouri.— Naylor v. Moffatt, 29 Mo. 126.

New Jersey.— Banta v. Moore, 15 N. J. Eq. 97.

New York.— Holyoke v. Union Mut. L. Ins. Co., 22 Hun 75 [affirmed in 84 N. Y. 648].

Pennsylvania.— Willing v. Perot, 5 Rawle 264.

United States.— New York L. Ins. Co. v. Smith, 67 Fed. 694, 14 C. C. A. 635.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2318.

95. McIlvoy v. Alsop, 45 Miss. 365. Compare Chamberlin v. Wilson, 45 Iowa 149.

The domiciliary representative may be sued by the ancillary representative for possession of such evidence of indebtedness if he comes into the jurisdiction of the latter's appointment. McCully v. Cooper, 114 Cal. 258, 46 Pac. 82, 55 Am. St. Rep. 56, 35 L. R. A. 492.

96. Willard v. Wood, 1 App. Cas. (D. C.) 44; Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270; Spoon v. Baxter, 31 Mich. 279; Cureton v. Mills, 13 S. C. 409, 36 Am. Rep. 700.

tion in that jurisdiction,[97] and he has no authority whatever over assets situated elsewhere.[98]

b. Domiciliary Representative. The title of a domiciliary representative differs from that of an ancillary representative in that it extends to all of the decedent's personal estate wherever situated, while that of the ancillary representative is limited strictly to the assets within the jurisdiction of his appointment.[99] This title, however, is not commensurate with that of the owner while living.[1] It will not authorize the representative to sue outside of the jurisdiction of his appointment,[2] or to interfere in any way with an ancillary administration;[3] but when there is no local administration, it is a title which other jurisdictions will recognize through comity,[4] which debtors of the estate in other jurisdictions may recognize and will be protected in recognizing,[5] and which will give validity to many acts of administration in other jurisdictions which can be performed without recourse to the courts.[6] Property of the estate coming from a foreign jurisdiction into that of the domicile immediately vests in the domiciliary representative,[7] provided administration has not previously been taken out in such foreign jurisdiction,[8] and when title to property has once vested in the domiciliary representative, it is not divested by the property being sent into another jurisdiction.[9]

2. Collection of Assets — a. Ancillary Representative. It is the duty of an ancillary representative to collect all the assets of the estate within the jurisdiction of his appointment,[10] and his right to do so is superior to that of a foreign domiciliary representative,[11] even though in that jurisdiction a foreign representative is authorized by statute to sue,[12] for even where such statutes exist, it

97. Moore v. Jordan, 36 Kan. 271, 13 Pac. 337, 59 Am. Rep. 550; Ellis v. Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co., 100 Tenn. 177, 43 S. W. 766.

98. Willard v. Wood, 1 App. Cas. (D. C.) 44.

99. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270; Klein v. French, 57 Miss. 662; Cureton v. Mills, 13 S. C. 409, 36 Am. Rep. 700; Wilkins v. Ellett, 9 Wall. (U. S.) 740, 19 L. ed. 586. Compare Murphy v. Crouse, 135 Cal. 14, 66 Pac. 971, 87 Am. St. Rep. 90.

1. Cureton v. Mills, 13 S. C. 409, 36 Am. Rep. 700.

2. Klein v. French, 57 Miss. 662; Wilkins v. Ellett, 9 Wall. (U. S.) 740, 19 L. ed. 586. See infra, XVI, G, 1.

3. Grayson v. Robertson, 122 Ala. 330, 25 So. 229, 82 Am. St. Rep. 30; Banta v. Moore, 15 N. J. Eq. 97; Willing v. Perot, 5 Rawle (Pa.) 264; New York L. Ins. Co. v. Smith, 67 Fed. 694, 14 C. C. A. 635.

4. State v. Fulton, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 49 S. W. 297.

5. Marcy v. Marcy, 32 Conn. 308; Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270; Klein v. French, 57 Miss. 662. See infra, XVI, B, 2, b.

6. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270; Klein v. French, 57 Miss. 662. See infra, XVI, B, 2, b; XVI, B, 3.

7. Wells v. Miller, 45 Ill. 382; Collins v. Bankhead, 1 Strobh. (S. C.) 25.

8. See Wells v. Miller, 45 Ill. 382.

9. Crescent City Ice Co. v. Stafford, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,387, 3 Woods 94. See supra, XVI, A, 2, b, (II).

10. Shegogg v. Perkins, 34 Ark. 117; Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256; Fay v. Haven, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 109; Shields v. Union Cent. L. Ins. Co., 119 N. C. 380, 25 S. E. 951.

The ancillary representative must use due diligence in collecting all the assets within the jurisdiction of his appointment, although there was another administrator first appointed in the state where the intestate was domiciled at his death. State v. Gregory, 88 Ind. 110.

11. Alabama.— Barclift v. Treece, 77 Ala. 528; Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344.

Kentucky.—Cosby v. Gilchrist, 7 Dana 206.

Massachusetts.— Merrill v. New England Mut. L. Ins. Co., 103 Mass. 245, 4 Am. Rep. 548.

Missouri.— Naylor v. Moffatt, 29 Mo. 126.

New Jersey.— Banta v. Moore, 15 N. J. Eq. 97.

New York.— Stone v. Scripture, 4 Lans. 186.

North Carolina.— Shields v. Union Cent. L. Ins. Co., 119 N. C. 380, 25 S. E. 951.

Ohio.— Purcell v. Heinberger, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 343.

Pennsylvania.— Willing v. Perot, 5 Rawle 264.

United States.— New York L. Ins. Co. v. Smith, 67 Fed. 694, 14 C. C. A. 635.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2311.

Debts due from the United States are not local assets in the District of Columbia, and an ancillary representative appointed there has no absolute right to receive the same, but the government may pay the debt to either the ancillary or the principal administrator. Wyman v. Halstead, 109 U. S. 654, 3 S. Ct. 417, 27 L. ed. 1068.

12. Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118; Purcell v. Heinberger, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 343; Willing v. Perot, 5 Rawle (Pa.) 264.

remains the universal policy to preserve local assets for the satisfaction in the first instance of local claims.[13] A voluntary payment to the domiciliary representative will not bar a suit brought by the ancillary representative to recover the same debt,[14] unless such payment was made prior to the appointment of the ancillary representative.[15] The ancillary representative, however, can collect only what is properly assets of his jurisdiction,[16] and statutes permitting a foreign representative to sue do not authorize him to sue for assets situated elsewhere,[17] nor will a voluntary payment to him by a debtor of another jurisdiction discharge the debt.[18]

b. Domiciliary Representative. Letters of administration extend only to the assets in the jurisdiction where the letters are granted,[19] and do not confer as a matter of right any authority to collect assets in another.[20] But since a foreign domiciliary representative has a title to assets wherever situated which may be recognized in the absence of local creditors or a local administration,[21] he may under such circumstances take possession of property of the estate if he can do so peaceably and without suit,[22] and his possession will be recognized as rightful and protected as fully as if he had taken out local letters of administration.[23] He may also collect a debt due to the estate if voluntarily paid,[24] and such payment

13. Plumb v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 156; Willing v. Perot, 5 Rawle (Pa.) 264.

If there are no local creditors and no other debts to collect except the claim sued on, the domiciliary representative may sue, and it is not error to refuse an application of an ancillary representative to be substituted as a party. Greenwalt v. Bastian, 10 Kan. App. 101, 61 Pac. 513.

14. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344; Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118; Reynolds v. McMullen, 55 Mich. 568, 22 N. W. 41, 54 Am. Rep. 386. Compare Weizell v. Cincinnati Sav. Inst., 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 55, 1 West. L. J. 393, holding that where a creditor promised to pay his debt to a foreign domiciliary representative before he had notice that a local ancillary appointment had been made but paid after such notice, the payment was a good defense to an action by the ancillary representative.

If there are no local creditors a payment made to a foreign domiciliary representative is a good discharge of the debt, although an ancillary representative was appointed prior to such payment if the payment was made in good faith and without notice of the ancillary appointment. Maas v. German Sav. Bank, 176 N. Y. 377, 68 N. E. 658, 98 Am. St. Rep. 689 [affirming 73 N. Y. App. Div. 524, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 256 (reversing 36 Misc. 154, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 1068 [affirming 35 Misc. 193, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 483])].

15. See infra, XVI, B, 2, b.

16. McCord v. Thompson, 92 Ind. 565; Morrisson v. Mutual L. Ins. Co., 57 Hun (N. Y.) 97, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 445; Ellis v. Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co., 100 Tenn. 177, 43 S. W. 766; Ellis v. Ellis, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 54 S. W. 666.

Insurance taken out by a domiciliary representative on property of the estate within his jurisdiction in a company located in another jurisdiction where the decedent left debts cannot be collected by an ancillary representative in the latter jurisdiction. Abbott v. Miller, 10 Mo. 141.

17. Moore v. Jordan, 36 Kan. 271, 13 Pac. 337, 59 Am. Rep. 550.

18. Moore v. Jordan, 36 Kan. 271, 13 Pac. 337, 59 Am. Rep. 550; Steele v. Connecticut Gen. L. Ins. Co., 31 N. Y. App. Div. 389, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 373 [reversing 22 Misc. 249, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 647, and affirmed in 160 N. Y. 703, 57 N. E. 1125].

19. Riley v. Moseley, 44 Miss. 37; In re Crawford, 68 Ohio St. 58, 67 N. E. 156, 96 Am. St. Rep. 648.

20. Mississippi.— Satterwhite v. Littlefield, 13 Sm. & M. 302.

New Jersey.— Banta v. Moore, 15 N. J. Eq. 97.

New York.— Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103, 18 How. Pr. 193.

Ohio.— In re Crawford, 68 Ohio St. 58, 67 N. E. 156, 96 Am. St. Rep. 648.

United States.— Vaughan v. Northup, 15 Pet. 1, 10 L. ed. 639.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2311, 2312.

The court will not allow compensation for collecting assets in another jurisdiction. Satterwhite v. Littlefield, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 302.

21. See supra, XVI, B, 1, b.

22. Denny v. Faulkner, 22 Kan. 89; Martin v. Gage, 147 Mass. 204, 17 N. E. 310; Putnam v. Pitney, 45 Minn. 242, 47 N. W. 790, 11 L. R. A. 41; Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103; Vroom v. Van Horne, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 549, 42 Am. Dec. 94; Brown v. Brown, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 189.

23. Denny v. Faulkner, 22 Kan. 89; Martin v. Gage, 147 Mass. 204, 17 N. E. 310; Putnam v. Pitney, 45 Minn. 242, 47 N. W. 790, 11 L. R. A. 41.

24. Connecticut.—Selleck v. Rusco, 46 Conn. 370; Marcy v. Marcy, 32 Conn. 308.

Iowa.—Bull v. Fuller, 78 Iowa 20, 42 N. W. 572, 16 Am. St. Rep. 419.

Louisiana.— Thorman v. Broderick, 52 La. Ann. 1298, 27 So. 735.

is a valid discharge of the debt,[25] and a protection against an action to collect the same debt by a domestic representative subsequently appointed;[26] and since debts due from the United States have no situs at the seat of government, they may be received by a domiciliary representative at any place where the government may choose to pay them.[27]

3. Disposition of Property — a. Personal Property Generally. Where a foreign domiciliary representative has taken possession of property of the estate, there being no local representative, he may sell the same.[28] In such case the purchaser will acquire a title which through comity will be respected,[29] and he cannot be compelled to pay to an ancillary representative subsequently appointed any indebtedness on account of such purchase.[30] But a domiciliary representative cannot dispose of any property in another jurisdiction where a local administration is pending.[31]

b. Bills and Notes. In some jurisdictions it is held that a representative appointed in one jurisdiction cannot indorse and transfer bills and notes payable in another so as to give the indorsee a right of action thereon.[32] But the weight of authority supports the view that while as a general rule a foreign representative cannot himself sue,[33] the disability is not a defect of title but a mere personal incapacity;[34] and if he has the note or other negotiable instrument in his

Maryland.— Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Sharp, 53 Md. 521.

Minnesota.— Dexter v. Berge, 76 Minn. 216, 78 N. W. 1111; Putnam v. Pitney, 45 Minn. 242, 47 N. W. 790, 11 L. R. A. 41.

Mississippi.— Riley v. Moseley, 44 Miss. 37.

New York.— Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103, 18 How. Pr. 193 [reversing 4 Bradf. Surr. 268]; Schluter v. Bowery Sav. Bank, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Vroom v. Van Horne, 10 Paige 549, 42 Am. Dec. 94.

Pennsylvania.— Gray's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 256, 11 Atl. 66, 70.

United States.— U. S. v. Cox, 18 How. 100, 15 L. ed. 299.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2312.

25. Connecticut.—Marcy v. Marcy, 32 Conn. 308.

Maryland.— Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Sharp, 53 Md. 521.

Minnesota.— Putnam v. Pitney, 45 Minn. 242, 47 N. W. 790, 11 L. R. A. 41.

Mississippi.— Riley v. Moseley, 44 Miss. 37.

New York.— Peterson v. Chemical Bank, 29 How. Pr. 240.

United States.— Wilkins v. Ellett, 108 U. S. 256, 2 S. Ct. 641, 27 L. ed. 718; U. S. v. Cox, 18 How. 100, 15 L. ed. 299.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2312.

Contra.— Reeside v. Reeside, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 507, decided under a statute expressly providing that no letters testamentary or of administration granted out of the state shall confer on the executor or administrator any of the powers of an executor or administrator in the state.

A collusive payment made to a foreign representative appointed after the institution of suit by the local representative does not discharge the debt and is no bar to the action. Amsden v. Danielson, 18 R. I. 787, 31 Atl. 4.

26. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270; Bull v. Fuller, 78 Iowa 20, 42 N. W. 572, 16 Am. St. Rep. 419; Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Sharp, 53 Md. 521; Wilkins v. Ellett, 108 U. S. 256, 2 S. Ct. 641, 27 L. ed. 718.

In Alabama where a foreign representative was authorized by statute to sue upon complying with certain conditions it has been held that the same conditions must be complied with before he could receive a voluntary payment; and if they were not complied with the payment would not bar an action by a local representative subsequently appointed. Ferguson v. Morris, 67 Ala. 389; Hatchett v. Berney, 65 Ala. 39. Compare Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344.

27. Wyman v. Halstead, 109 U. S. 654, 3 S. Ct. 417, 27 L. ed. 1068; U. S. v. Cox, 18 How. (U. S.) 100, 15 L. ed. 299.

28. Martin v. Gage, 147 Mass. 204, 17 N. E. 310.

29. Peterson v. Chemical Bank, 29 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 240.

30. Paramore's Estate, 15 N. Y. St. 449.

31. Du Val v. Marshall, 30 Ark. 230, holding that the assignment of a judgment by a foreign representative under such circumstances is void.

32. Stearns v. Birnham, 5 Me. 261, 17 Am. Dec. 228; McCarty v. Hall, 13 Mo. 480; Lee v. Havens, Brayt. (Vt.) 93.

The reasons for this view are that since he cannot himself sue in another jurisdiction, he cannot confer that right upon another (Stearns v. Birnham, 5 Me. 261, 17 Am. Dec. 228), and that to allow such a proceeding might be the means of diverting assets from the jurisdiction where they properly belong (Stearns v. Birnham, supra; McCarty v. Hall, 13 Mo. 480).

33. Riddick v. Moore, 65 N. C. 382; Leake v. Gilchrist, 13 N. C. 73; Solinsky v. Grand Rapids Fourth Nat. Bank, 82 Tex. 244, 17 S. W. 1050.

When representative may sue see infra, XVI, G, 1, b, (III).

34. Gove v. Gove, 64 N. H. 503, 15 Atl. 121; Solinsky v. Grand Rapids Fourth Nat. Bank, 82 Tex. 244, 17 S. W. 1050.

possession he may indorse and transfer it so as to give the indorsee the right to sue thereon.[35]

c. Choses in Action. So also, although a foreign representative cannot himself sue on a chose in action of his decedent,[36] his disability is a personal incapacity and not a defect of title,[37] and he may assign a chose in action so that the assignee may sue thereon in his own name,[38] provided the statutes of the state where the action is brought permit the assignee of a chose in action to sue in his own name.[39]

d. Corporate Stock. A domiciliary representative may assign shares of stock in a foreign corporation belonging to the estate,[40] and no local grant of administration is necessary to compel a transfer on the books of the corporation.[41]

e. Real Property. A representative cannot by virtue of his appointment in one state or country make a conveyance of land of his decedent situated in another,[42] or assign a mortgage on land situated in another state or country;[43] but he may without taking out letters where the land is situated execute a power

35. Mississippi.— Andrews v. Carr, 26 Miss. 577.

New Hampshire.— Gove v. Gove, 64 N. H. 503, 15 Atl. 121 [overruling Thompson v. Wilson, 2 N. H. 291].

North Carolina.— Riddick v. Moore, 65 N. C. 382; Grace v. Hannah, 51 N. C. 94; Leake v. Gilchrist, 13 N. C. 73.

Rhode Island.— Mackay v. St. Mary's Church, 15 R. I. 121, 23 Atl. 108, 2 Am. St. Rep. 881.

Texas.— Solinsky v. Grand Rapids Fourth Nat. Bank, 82 Tex. 244, 17 S. W. 1050; Abercrombie v. Stillman, 77 Tex. 589, 14 S. W. 196; Keller v. Alexander, 24 Tex. Civ. App. 186, 58 S. W. 637.

United States.— Wilkins v. Ellett, 108 U. S. 256, 2 S. Ct. 641, 27 L. ed. 718; Harper v. Butler, 2 Pet. 239, 7 L. ed. 410.

Canada.— Hard v. Palmer, 20 U. C. Q. B. 208.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2319.

When transfer not sustainable.— It seems that such a transfer would not be sustained where it would operate to the prejudice of local creditors or conflict with a local administration. See Gove v. Gove, 64 N. H. 503, 15 Atl. 121.

36. See infra, XVI, G, 1, a.

37. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344; Petersen v. Chemical Bank, 32 N. Y. 21, 88 Am. Dec. 298 [affirming 2 Rob. 605, 27 How. Pr. 491].

38. Alabama.— Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344.

Minnesota.— Putnam v. Pitney, 45 Minn. 242, 47 N. W. 790, 11 L. R. A. 41.

New York.— Petersen v. Chemical Bank, 32 N. Y. 21, 88 Am. Dec. 298 [affirming 2 Rob. 605, 27 How. Pr. 491]; Smith v. Tiffany, 16 Hun 552.

Utah.— Camp v. Simon, 23 Utah 56, 63 Pac. 332.

Washington.— Waldo v. Milroy, 19 Wash. 156, 52 Pac. 1012.

Contra.— A contrary view obtains in South Carolina. Heyward v. Williams, 57 S. C. 235, 35 S. E. 503; Dial v. Gary, 24 S. C. 572; Dial v. Tappan, 20 S. C. 167; Dial v. Gary, 14 S. C. 573, 37 Am. Rep. 737.

39. Petersen v. Chemical Bank, 32 N. Y. 21, 88 Am. Dec. 298 [affirming 2 Rob. 605, 27 How. Pr. 491]; Wilkins v. Ellett, 108 U. S. 256, 2 S. Ct. 641, 2 L. ed. 718.

40. Brown v. San Francisco Gaslight Co., 58 Cal. 426; Luce v. Manchester, etc., R. Co., 63 N. H. 588, 3 Atl. 618; Middlebrook v. Merchants' Bank, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 295, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 135 [affirming 41 Barb. 481, 18 Abb. Pr. 109, 27 How. Pr. 474 (affirming 24 How. Pr. 267)]. Compare Murphy v. Crouse, 135 Cal. 14, 66 Pac. 971, 87 Am. St. Rep. 90.

41. Brown v. San Francisco Gaslight Co., 58 Cal. 426; Luce v. Manchester, etc., R. Co., 63 N. H. 588, 3 Atl. 618; Middlebrook v. Merchants' Bank, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 295, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 135 [affirming 41 Barb. 481, 18 Abb. Pr. 109, 27 How. Pr. 474 (affirming 24 How. Pr. 267)].

42. Kentucky.— Simpson v. Hawkins, 1 Dana 303.

Massachusetts.— Cutter v. Davenport, 1 Pick. 81, 11 Am. Dec. 149.

Michigan.— Sheldon v. Rice, 30 Mich. 296, 18 Am. Rep. 136.

Texas.— League v. Williamson, (1903) 77 S. W. 435.

United States.— Watkins v. Holman, 16 Pet. 25, 10 L. ed. 873.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2317.

A lease of land belonging to the estate of a non-resident decedent cannot be made by a foreign representative. Potter v. Bassett, 35 Mo. App. 417; Crockett v. Althouse, 35 Mo. App. 404.

43. Cutter v. Davenport, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 81, 11 Am. Dec. 149; Reynolds v. McMullen, 55 Mich. 568, 22 N. W. 41, 54 Am. Rep. 386. Compare Solinsky v. Grand Rapids Fourth Nat. Bank, 82 Tex. 244, 17 S. W. 1050, holding that a foreign administrator may assign a promissory note and that a mortgage given as security for the note will pass as an incident thereto.

The law which governs the title to and disposition of land is always that of the place where the land is situated. Simpson v. Hawkins, 1 Dana (Ky.) 303; Cutter v. Davenport, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 81, 11 Am. Dec. 149.

of sale contained in a mortgage on such land,[44] since in such case his authority is not derived from the probate court of another state but from the contract of the parties.[45] For a similar reason[46] a foreign executor may without taking out local letters of administration make a sale of land under a power contained in the will.[47] It is necessary, however, that the will should be proved and recorded in the jurisdiction where the land is situated;[48] but such probate may be made after the date of the conveyance and will relate back and render it valid,[49] provided no rights of third persons have intervened.[50]

C. Sales Under Order of Court — 1. When Authorized. The courts of one state or country have no jurisdiction to order a sale of a decedent's realty situated in another,[51] and an order procured by a representative in the jurisdiction of his appointment confers upon him no authority to sell land outside of that jurisdiction.[52] Neither, in the absence of statute, can a representative appointed in one jurisdiction maintain in another a proceeding for the sale of land situated in that jurisdiction.[53] There are, however, in some states statutes providing that a foreign executor may be permitted by order of court to make a sale of land where no local representative has been appointed,[54] but statutes merely permitting a foreign representative to sue do not authorize such a proceeding.[55] An order may be made authorizing an ancillary representative to sell lands located in his own jurisdiction where there is an insufficiency of assets to pay debts,[56] and 44. Holcombe v. Richards, 38 Minn. 38, 35 N. W. 714; Averill v. Taylor, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 476; Doolittle v. Lewis, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 45, 11 Am. Dec. 389; Thurber v. Carpenter, 18 R. I. 782, 31 Atl. 5; Hayes v. Frey, 54 Wis. 503, 11 N. W. 695.

45. Holcombe v. Richards, 38 Minn. 38, 35 N. W. 714; Doolittle v. Lewis, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 45, 11 Am. Dec. 389; Thurber v. Carpenter, 18 R. I. 782, 31 Atl. 5.

46. Green v. Alden, 92 Me. 177, 42 Atl. 358; Crusoe v. Butler, 36 Miss. 150; Babcock v. Collins, 60 Minn. 73, 61 N. W. 1020, 51 Am. St. Rep. 503; Pollock v. Hooley, 67 Hun (N. Y.) 370, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 215; Bromley v. Miller, 2 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 575.

47. Arkansas.—Apperson v. Bolton, 29 Ark. 418.

Kansas.— Calloway v. Cooley, 50 Kan. 743, 32 Pac. 372, under express statute.

Maine.— Green v. Alden, 92 Me. 177, 42 Atl. 358.

Mississippi.— Crusoe v. Butler, 36 Miss. 150.

New York.—Pollock v. Hooley, 67 Hun 370, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 215; Bromley v. Miller, 2 Thomps. & C. 575.

Pennsylvania.— Hoysradt v. Tionesta Gas Co., 194 Pa. St. 251, 45 Atl. 62.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2317.

Only the executor named in the will can execute the power of sale, and if he declines to serve an administrator with the will annexed appointed in his place cannot do so. Wills v. Cowper, 2 Ohio 124, 3 Ohio 486. Contra, Hoysradt v. Tionesta Gas Co., 194 Pa. St. 251, 45 Atl. 62. See, generally, infra, XIX, C.

A foreign corporation which is executor cannot make a conveyance of land under a power in the will unless it has complied with the requirements necessary to enable it to do business in the state where the land is situated. Pennsylvania L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Bauerle, 143 Ill. 459, 33 N. E. 166.

Ratification of sale.—Statutes requiring domestic executors to report their sales of land for ratification to the court from which they obtained letters do not apply to a sale made by a foreign executor under a direction in the will. Smith v. Montgomery, 75 Md. 138, 23 Atl. 145.

48. Apperson v. Bolton, 29 Ark. 418; Norment v. Brydon, 44 Md. 112; Crusoe v. Butler, 36 Miss. 150; Simpson v. Foster, 46 Tex. 618.

The reason for this requirement is that a conveyance of real estate must be made according to the law of the place where it is situated. Crusoe v. Butler, 36 Miss. 150. See also Lucas v. Tucker, 17 Ind. 41.

49. Green v. Alden, 92 Me. 177, 42 Atl. 358; Babcock v. Collins, 60 Minn. 73, 61 N. W. 1020, 51 Am. St. Rep. 503; Crusoe v. Butler, 36 Miss. 150; Brooks v. McComb, 38 Fed. 317. See also Dorsey v. Banks, 88 Iowa 595, 55 N. W. 574; Smith v. Callaghan, 66 Iowa 552, 24 N. W. 50; Allison v. Cocke, 106 Ky. 763, 51 S. W. 593, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 434.

50. See Brooks v. McComb, 38 Fed. 317.

51. Seldner v. Katz, 96 Md. 212, 53 Atl. 931.

52. Sheldon v. Rice, 30 Mich. 296, 18 Am. Rep. 136; Nowler v. Coit, 1 Ohio 519, 13 Am. Dec. 640; Brown v. Edson, 23 Vt. 435; Watkins v. Holman, 16 Pet. (U. S.) 25, 10 L. ed. 873.

53. McAnulty v. McClay, 16 Nebr. 418, 20 N. W. 266.

54. Rapp v. Matthias, 35 Ind. 332; Higgins v. Reed, 48 Kan. 272, 29 Pac. 389.

55. McAnulty v. McClay, 16 Nebr. 418, 20 N. W. 266.

56. Lawrence's Appeal, 49 Conn. 411; Hobson v. Payne, 45 Ill. 158; Cowden v. Jacobson, 165 Mass. 240, 43 N. E. 98; Comstock it has been held that to authorize such a sale it is not necessary to show that the personal estate at the domicile has been exhausted.[57] The court may also make an order for the sale by an ancillary representative of lands which the decedent has by his will directed to be sold.[58]

2. Application and Proceedings. Where application is made for an order for the sale of land by an ancillary representative to pay debts, the petition must show that the situation exists which authorizes the proceeding;[59] namely, that claims have been regularly presented and allowed in the jurisdiction where the application is made,[60] and that the personal estate is insufficient to pay the same.[61] Where the application is made for the sale of lands in the ancillary jurisdiction, to pay claims allowed in the domiciliary jurisdiction, the time within which the application must be made will be governed by the law of the domicile where the claims were allowed,[62] which in the absence of evidence to the contrary will be presumed to be the same as in the jurisdiction where the application is made.[63] Notice of the application must be given if required by statute, unless waived by the parties entitled thereto.[64] The statutes authorizing a foreign representative to apply for an order of sale[65] provide what the petition must show, and these requirements must be complied with.[66] A new bond need not be required of the foreign representative if the amount of the bond already given is sufficient to cover the proceeds of the sale.[67]

D. Payment of Claims — 1. In General. It is the duty of an ancillary representative after collecting the assets within the jurisdiction of his appointment to apply the same to the payment of the claims of local creditors,[68] and in some states also to the payment of claims of non-resident creditors who prove their claims in the ancillary jurisdiction, regard being had to the solvency or insolvency of the estate as a whole.[69] In the payment of claims he is governed exclusively by the law of the jurisdiction in which he was appointed.[70]

2. Claims of Local Creditors. While the chief object of an ancillary administration is the protection of local creditors,[71] and no transmission of assets will be

v. Crawford, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 396, 18 L. ed. 34.

A bill in chancery cannot be maintained by creditors to subject lands to the payment of debts where there is no ancillary representative if a representative can be appointed. Partee v. Kortrecht, 54 Miss. 66.

57. Lawrence's Appeal, 49 Conn. 411; Rosenthal v. Renick, 44 Ill. 202. Contra, Livermore v. Haven, 23 Pick. (Mass.) 116, holding that such a sale should not be ordered unless it appears that the creditors in the exercise of due diligence have been unable to obtain payment from the principal administrator. See also Cowden v. Jacobson, 165 Mass. 240, 43 N. E. 98.

58. Massey's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 126, 15 So. 6.

59. Hobson v. Payne, 45 Ill. 158.

60. Hobson v. Payne, 45 Ill. 158.

61. Comstock v. Crawford, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 396, 18 L. ed. 34, holding, however, that, unless otherwise provided by statute, a general statement to this effect is sufficient to give the court jurisdiction, without specifying all the debts and property of the decedent, and that any further particularity necessary to guide the court in making the order may be obtained upon the hearing of the application.

62. Hadley v. Gregory, 57 Iowa 157, 10 N. W. 319.

63. Hadley v. Gregory, 57 Iowa 157, 10 N. W. 319.

64. Bacon v. Chase, 83 Iowa 521, 50 N. W. 23.

65. See supra, XVI, C, 1.

66. Rapp v. Matthias, 35 Ind. 332.

67. Rapp v. Matthias, 35 Ind. 332; Higgins v. Reed, 48 Kan. 272, 29 Pac. 389.

68. Gibson v. Dowell, 42 Ark. 164; Shegogg v. Perkins, 34 Ark. 117; Fay v. Haven, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 109; Dawes v. Head, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 128; Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256.

In New York under the present statute the court may order an ancillary representative to pay local creditors, but unless so ordered it is the duty of the representative to transmit all assets to the place of principal administration. Smith v. New York City Second Nat. Bank, 70 Hun 357, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 419.

Voluntary payments from foreign debtors of the estate cannot be applied to the domestic indebtedness of decedent so as to exclude foreign creditors. Jones v. Jones, 39 S. C. 247, 17 S. E. 587, 802.

69. See infra, XVI, D, 3.

70. Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88. 35 Am. Dec. 472; Churchill v. Prescott, 3 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 233; Moye v. May, 43 N. C. 131, 54 N. C. 844; Smith v. Union Bank, 5 Pet. 518, 8 L. ed. 212 [affirming 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,362, 4 Cranch C. C. 21].

71. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270.

made until they have received at least their pro rata share,[72] it cannot be made the means of giving such creditors any superior rights in case the estate as a whole is insolvent,[73] it being the general policy of the law that in such cases all the property of the decedent applicable to the payment of his debts should be distributed among creditors pro rata according to the classification of their claims without regard to where the assets may be found or the creditors reside.[74] It follows that if the estate as a whole is solvent, the ancillary representative may proceed to pay the claims of local creditors in full,[75] but if it is not, local creditors are entitled to receive only such an amount as represents their pro rata share of the whole estate,[76] although they are entitled to receive that amount from the ancillary representative, who need not transmit the assets in his hands to the domiciliary representative but may retain them until the amount to which each claimant is entitled is ascertained.[77]

3. Claims of Foreign Creditors. In a few jurisdictions it is held that only local creditors can prove their claims in the ancillary jurisdiction;[78] but in most jurisdictions it is held that non-residents as well as residents may prove their claims against the ancillary estate,[79] leaving the question of payment to be dealt with afterward when the solvency or insolvency of the whole estate is to be considered.[80] In these states the fact that a claim has been presented and allowed at the domicile,[81] or that it has been presented and disallowed,[82] is no bar to its allowance in the ancillary jurisdiction; but an allowance at the domicile is not conclusive upon the ancillary representative as to the validity of the claim.[83] A creditor who has received a part payment of his claim in the ancillary jurisdiction will not be allowed to share equally with other creditors of the same class at the domicile until after they have received the same proportionate amount as he has recovered in the ancillary jurisdiction;[84] but if he has received a full payment in the ancillary jurisdiction, he cannot be compelled to refund any part thereof for

72. Mitchell v. Cox, 28 Ga. 32. See also Lewis v. Rutherford, 71 Ark. 218, 72 S. W. 373.

73. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270]; Dawes v. Head, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 128. See supra, X, D, 2, c, (II), (B), (11).

74. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270]; Dawes v. Head, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 128. The true principle which should govern in all cases of double administration is so to marshal the different funds under administration as to produce equality among all creditors, whether foreign or domestic. Lawrence v. Elmendorf, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 73.

75. Miner v. Austin, 45 Iowa 221, 24 Am. Rep. 763; Churchill v. Boyden, 17 Vt. 319.

76. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270]; Davis v. Estey, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 475; Churchill v. Boyden, 17 Vt. 319.

77. Mitchell v. Cox, 28 Ga. 32; Dawes v. Head, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 128.

78. Shegogg v. Perkins, 34 Ark. 117; Barry's Appeal, 88 Pa. St. 131. See also Warrington's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 712, holding further that the fact that a creditor who resided at the decedent's domicile at the time the debt was contracted has since become a resident of the ancillary jurisdiction does not make him a local creditor or change the operation of the rule.

79. Illinois.— Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270.

Iowa.— Miner v. Austin, 45 Iowa 221, 24 Am. Rep. 763.

Kentucky.— Gray v. Lewis, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 234.

Maryland.—De Sobry v. De Laistre, 2 Harr. & J. 191, 3 Am. Dec. 555.

Mississippi.— Carroll v. McPike, 53 Miss. 569.

New Hampshire.— Taylor v. Barron, 35 N. H. 484; Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472.

Vermont.— Hicks v. Clark, 41 Vt. 183; Prentiss v. Van Ness, 31 Vt. 95. Aliter prior to statutory change. Churchill v. Boyden, 17 Vt. 319.

Canada.— Milne v. Moore, 24 Ont. 456.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2327, 2328.

An exclusion of creditors of other states is prohibited by the constitution of the United States, which provides that the citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states. Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472.

80. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270.

81. State v. Rock County Probate Ct., 67 Minn. 51, 69 N. W. 609, 908. See also Fellows v. Lewis, 65 Ala. 343, 39 Am. Rep. 1.

82. Taylor v. Barron, 35 N. H. 484; Goodall v. Marshall, 14 N. H. 161.

83. Strauss v. Phillips, 91 Ill. App. 373 [affirmed in 189 Ill. 9, 59 N. E. 560].

84. Ramsay v. Ramsay, 196 Ill. 179, 63 N. E. 618 [affirming 97 Ill. App. 270].

distribution among other creditors of the domicile where the principal estate is insolvent.[85] The law of the ancillary jurisdiction governs all questions as to the payment of claims in that jurisdiction,[86] and in the case of claims of non-residents it will not recognize and enforce priorities provided for by the laws of other states to the prejudice of its own citizens.[87]

E. Transmission of Residue to Domicile. As a general rule assets remaining in the hands of an ancillary representative after paying the claims of local creditors will be transferred to the place of the domicile for distribution.[88] This rule, however, is not absolute or inflexible, but on the contrary the transfer will or will not be made as the court may deem proper in the exercise of a sound judicial discretion according to the circumstances of the case.[89] In the absence

85. Schneller v. Vance, 8 La. 506, 28 Am. Dec. 140.

86. See supra, XVI, D, 1.

87. Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472; Moye v. May, 43 N. C. 131, 54 N. C. 84; Smith v. Union Bank, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 518, 8 L. ed. 212 [affirming 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,362, 4 Cranch C. C. 21].

Assets removed from domicile.— Where assets belonging to the domicile have been removed into the ancillary jurisdiction and there is no domiciliary representative to whom they can be transmitted the ancillary representative in paying claims should to the extent of such assets regard the priorities provided for by the law of the domicile. Rowland's Estate, 1 N. Y. St. 308.

88. Alabama.— Wright v. Phillips, 56 Ala. 69; Childress v. Bennett, 10 Ala. 751, 44 Am. Dec. 503.

Arkansas.— Gibson v. Dowell, 42 Ark. 164; Williamson v. Furbush, 31 Ark. 539.

Connecticut.— Lawrence v. Kitteridge, 21 Conn. 577, 56 Am. Dec. 385; Perkins v. Stone, 18 Conn. 270.

Georgia.— Sanford v. Thompson, 18 Ga. 554.

Illinois.— Young v. Wittenmyre, 123 Ill. 303, 14 N. E. 869 [reversing 22 Ill. App. 496].

Iowa.— Re Gable, 79 Iowa 178, 44 N. W. 352, 9 L. R. A. 218.

Louisiana.— Gravillon v. Richard, 13 La. 293, 33 Am. Dec. 563.

Maryland.— Williams v. Williams, 5 Md. 467.

Missouri.— Spraddling v. Pipkin, 15 Mo. 118.

New York.— Cummings v. Banks, 2 Barb. 602; Trimble v. Dzieduzyiki, 57 How. Pr. 208; Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. 337; Clark v. Butler, 4 Dem. Surr. 378.

Ohio.— Meswald v. Marks, 19 Ohio Cir. Ct. 605, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 355.

Pennsylvania.— Barry's Appeal, 88 Pa. St. 131; In re Robb, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 337.

South Carolina.— Hamilton v. Levy, 41 S. C. 374, 19 S. E. 610.

Tennessee.— See Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. 84, holding, however, that the transfer can only be made upon a bill filed for that purpose to which all the persons interested must be made parties.

Vermont.— Probate Ct. v. Kimball, 42 Vt. 320.

United States.— Swatzel v. Arnold, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,682, Woolw. 383.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2322.

In Mississippi the statute provides that personal property shall descend and be distributed according to the laws of that state and any surplus remaining after the payment of creditors will not be transmitted but will be distributed to the next of kin according to the laws of that state. Partee v. Kortrecht, 54 Miss. 66.

The rule applies only to the proceeds of personal property and not to the proceeds of a sale of land made for the purpose of partition among heirs. Smith v. Smith, 174 Ill. 52, 50 N. E. 1083, 43 L. R. A. 403 [affirming 63 Ill. App. 534].

89. Alabama.— Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Cochran v. Martin, 47 Ala. 525.

Connecticut.— Lawrence v. Kitteridge, 21 Conn. 577, 56 Am. Dec. 385.

Louisiana.—Gaines' Succession, 46 La. Ann. 252, 14 So. 602, 49 Am. St. Rep. 324; Gravillon v. Richard, 13 La. 293, 33 Am. Dec. 563.

Maryland.— Dalrymple v. Gamble, 66 Md. 298, 7 Atl. 683, 8 Atl. 468; Williams v. Williams, 5 Md. 467; Cassilly v. Meyer, 4 Md. 1.

New Jersey.— Lewis v. Grognard, 17 N. J. Eq. 425.

New York.— In re Hughes, 95 N. Y. 55; Despard v. Churchill, 53 N. Y. 192; Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103; Dammert v. Osborn, 65 Hun 585, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 474; Matter of Braithwaite, 19 Abb. N. Cas. 113. Compare Matter of Conkling, 15 N. Y. St. 748.

Ohio.— Swearingen v. Morris, 14 Ohio St. 424.

Pennsylvania.— Parker's Appeal, 61 Pa. St. 478; In re Adlum, 22 Pa. St. 514; Weaver's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 260; Irey's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 207.

Tennessee.— Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. 84.

Vermont.— Porter v. Heydock, 6 Vt. 374.

Virginia.— Moses v. Hart, 25 Gratt. 795.

United States.— Harvey v. Richards, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,184, 1 Mason 381.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2322.

The question is not one of jurisdiction but of judicial discretion under the circumstances of the particular case. Wright v. Phillips, 56 Ala. 69; Dammert v. Osborn, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 585, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 474; Matter of Braithwaite, 19 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 113.

If there are unpaid debts in the jurisdiction of the domiciliary administration which are chargeable on the assets according to the of special circumstances making a local distribution proper the general rule should prevail,[90] since the distribution, wherever made, must be according to the law of the decedent's domicile,[91] and comity requires that it should be accorded to that jurisdiction;[92] but the court may, even in cases where a transmission of the residue is proper, refuse to so order until the domiciliary representative has given a sufficient bond to secure its proper administration.[93] While there is no question as to the authority of the court in the ancillary jurisdiction to order a residue of assets in that jurisdiction transmitted to the domiciliary representative,[94] the court of one jurisdiction has no authority over the representative of the other to compel him to bring in such assets whether it be the court of the domiciliary[95] or of the ancillary[96] jurisdiction.

F. Distribution in Ancillary Jurisdiction. The court may in its discretion order that the residue of assets remaining in the hands of an ancillary representative after paying the claims of local creditors be retained and distributed by him instead of being transmitted to the principal representative,[97] and in a number of cases it has been held that under the circumstances of the particular case a retention of the assets was proper.[98] But since the distribution law of the domicile, they should be transmitted (Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Troxell's Estate, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 29), but unless it is affirmatively shown that there are such debts it will be presumed that none exist (In re Hughes, 95 N. Y. 55).

Where the validity of a will is disputed and must be made the subject of litigation and decided according to the law of the domicile the residue of assets should be transmitted. Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103; Matter of Dunn, 39 N. Y. App. Div. 510, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 444; Ruebsam's Estate, 26 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 311.

After the ancillary representative has filed his final account and been discharged and the fund in his hands awarded to the domiciliary representative, the court has no longer any jurisdiction to order it retained. Mingle's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 493. See also Emery v. Batchelder, 132 Mass. 452.

In Massachusetts it is now provided by statute that the residue shall be distributed or transmitted as the court in its discretion may direct (Welch v. Adams, 152 Mass. 74, 25 N. E. 34, 9 L. R. A. 244; Newell v. Peaslee, 151 Mass. 601, 25 N. E. 26; Emery v. Batchelder, 132 Mass. 452), but the court cannot order assets to be transmitted until the claims of local creditors are all paid and it has no jurisdiction to determine that there are no unpaid creditors until the time fixed by law within which they may present such claims has expired (Newell v. Peaslee, supra).

90. Alabama.— Wright v. Phillips, 56 Ala. 69.

Louisiana.— Gravillon v. Richard, 13 La. 293, 33 Am. Dec. 563.

Maryland.— Williams v. Williams, 5 Md. 467.

Missouri.— Spraddling v. Pipkin, 15 Mo. 118.

Ohio.— Swearingen v. Morris, 14 Ohio St. 424.

South Carolina.— Hamilton v. Levy, 41 S. C. 374, 19 S. E. 610.

Texas.— Simpson v. Knox, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 569.

Vermont.— Probate Ct. v. Kimball, 42 Vt. 320.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2322.

91. See DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION, 14 Cyc. 21 note 54.

92. Wright v. Phillips, 56 Ala. 69; Gravillon v. Richard, 13 La. 293, 33 Am. Dec. 563; Spraddling v. Pipkin, 15 Mo. 118.

93. Hamilton v. Levy, 41 S. C. 374, 19 S. E. 610, holding that while the court of the ancillary jurisdiction cannot require the domiciliary representative to give a bond, it may order the assets to be retained unless such a bond is given. See also Carroll v. Hughes, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 337.

94. Childress v. Bennett, 10 Ala. 751, 44 Am. Dec. 503; Gravillon v. Richard, 13 La. 293, 33 Am. Dec. 563.

95. Lewis v. Grognard, 17 N. J. Eq. 425.

96. Freeman's Appeal, 68 Pa. St. 151.

97. See supra, XVI, E.

98. Alabama.— Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124.

Louisiana.— Gaines' Succession, 46 La. Ann. 252, 14 So. 602, 49 Am. St. Rep. 324.

Maryland.— Cassilly v. Meyer, 4 Md. 1.

New York.— In re Hughes, 95 N. Y. 55; Matter of Braithwaite, 19 Abb. N. Cas. 113; Suarez v. New York, 2 Sandf. Ch. 173.

Pennsylvania.— Welles' Estate, 161 Pa. St. 218, 28 Atl. 1116, 1117; Parker's Appeal, 61 Pa. St. 478; In re Adlum, 22 Pa. St. 514; Del Valle's Appeal, 2 Pa. Cas. 270, 5 Atl. 441 [affirming 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. 30]; Weaver's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 260; Irey's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 207.

United States.— Harvey v. Richards, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,184, 1 Mason 381.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2329.

When retention proper.— A retention is proper where it appears that those entitled to distribution are within the ancillary jurisdiction and that there are no unpaid claims at the domicile (Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Cassilly v. Meyer, 4 Md. 1; In re Hughes, 95 N. Y. 55; Welles' Estate, 161 Pa. St. 218, 28 Atl. 1116, 1117; of and succession to personal property, wherever situated, is governed by the laws of the state or country where the owner had his domicile at the time of his death,[99] the distribution when made by the ancillary representative must be according to the law of the domicile.[1]

G. Actions by Foreign Representatives — 1. Right of Action — a. General Rule. It is well settled that in the absence of statute an executor or administrator cannot in his representative capacity maintain a suit in one state or country by virtue of letters granted in another.[2] As a matter of right this follows naturally Parker's Appeal, 61 Pa. St. 478; In re Adlum, 22 Pa. St. 514), where no administration has been taken out at the domicile and those entitled to distribution apply for payment in the ancillary jurisdiction (Weaver's Estate, 4 Pa. Dist. 260), or where there are no special reasons for transmission and a local distribution would avoid expense and delay (Fretwell v. McLemore, supra; Cassilly v. Meyer, supra; Matter of Braithwaite, 19 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 113; Welles' Estate, supra; In re Adlum, supra; Irey's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. 207; Harvey v. Richards, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,184, 1 Mason 381).

Local distributees should be protected as far as can be done without injustice to others interested, and assets may be retained in the ancillary jurisdiction for distribution to them until it appears whether any transmission to the domicile will be necessary. Yerkes' Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 36.

99. See Descent and Distribution, 14 Cyc. 21 note 54.

1. Alabama.— Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344.

Connecticut.— Holcomb v. Phelps, 16 Conn. 127. See also Lawrence v. Kitteridge, 21 Conn. 577, 56 Am. Dec. 385.

Illinois.— Ramsay v. Ramsay, 97 Ill. App. 270.

Maryland.— See De Sobry v. De Laistre, 2 Harr. & J. 191, 3 Am. Dec. 555.

Massachusetts.— Stevens v. Gaylord, 11 Mass. 256.

Missouri.— See Spraddling v. Pipkin, 15 Mo. 118.

New Hampshire.—See Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472.

New York.— In re Hughes, 95 N. Y. 55; Matter of Braithwaite, 19 Abb. N. Cas. 113; Suarez v. New York, 2 Sandf. Ch. 173; Churchill v. Prescott, 3 Bradf. Surr. 233.

North Carolina.— See Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720.

Ohio.— Swearingen v. Morris, 14 Ohio St. 424.

Pennsylvania.— Welles' Estate, 161 Pa. St. 218, 28 Atl. 1116, 1117; In re Adlum, 22 Pa. St. 514.

South Carolina.— Graveley v. Graveley, 25 S. C. 1, 60 Am. Rep. 478; Cureton v. Mills, 13 S. C. 409, 36 Am. Rep. 700.

United States.— Harvey v. Richards, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,184, 1 Mason 381.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2329.

If an ancillary representative disregards the law of the domicile in making distribution the fact that he has rendered a final accounting of his administration is no bar to an action to compel him to make a proper distribution. Swearingen v. Morris, 14 Ohio St. 424.

Where the place of the decedent's domicile is in dispute the question as to who shall make the distribution must be decided by the court having jurisdiction of the subject-matter and the validity of a distribution made under such a decision cannot be questioned by the courts of other jurisdictions. Holcomb v. Phelps, 16 Conn. 127.

2. Alabama.— Broughton v. Bradley, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474; Gayle v. Blackburn, 1 Stew. 429.

Arkansas.— Fairchild v. Hagel, 54 Ark. 61, 14 S. W. 1102; Gibson v. Ponder, 40 Ark. 195.

California.— Lewis v. Adams, (1885) 8 Pac. 619, 7 Pac. 779.

Connecticut.— Hobart v. Connecticut Turnpike Co., 15 Conn. 145; Perkins v. Williams, 2 Root 462. Compare Nicole v. Munford, Kirby 270.

District of Columbia.— U. S. v. Wyman, 2 Mackey 368.

Georgia.— Southwestern R. Co. v. Paulk, 24 Ga. 356.

Illinois.— People v. Peck, 4 Ill. 118.

Iowa.— McClure v. Bates, 12 Iowa 77.

Kentucky.— Marrett v. Babb, 91 Ky. 88, 15 S. W. 4, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 652.

Louisiana.—Mason v. Nutt, 19 La. Ann. 41.

Maryland.—Wright v. Gilbert, 51 Md. 146; Glenn v. Smith, 2 Gill & J. 493, 20 Am. Dec. 452.

Massachusetts.—Beaman v. Elliot, 10 Cush. 172; Goodwin v. Jones, 3 Mass. 514, 3 Am. Dec. 173.

Michigan.— Vickery v. Beir, 16 Mich. 50; Thayer v. Lane, Walk. 200.

Mississippi.— Boyd v. Lambeth, 24 Miss. 433.

Missouri.— Gregory v. McCormick, 120 Mo. 657, 25 S. W. 565; May v. Burk, 80 Mo. 675; Naylor v. Moffatt, 29 Mo. 126.

Nebraska.— Creighton v. Murphy, 8 Nebr. 349, 1 N. W. 138.

New Hampshire.—Sabin v. Gilman, 1 N. H. 193; Carpenter v. Wild, Smith 365.

New Jersey.— Porter v. Trall, 30 N. J. Eq. 106.

New York.— Taylor v. Syme, 162 N. Y. 513, 57 N. E. 83, 31 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 1; In re Webb, 11 Hun 124; Middlebrook v. Merchants' Bank, 41 Barb. 481, 18 Abb. Pr. 109, 27 How. Pr. 474 [affirming 14 Abb. Pr. 462 note, and affirmed in 3 Abb. Dec. 295, 3 Keyes 135]; Smith v. Webb, 1 Barb. 230; Farrington v. American L. & T. Co., 9 N. Y. Suppl. 433, 18 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 135; Pe-from the principle previously stated that letters of administration granted in one jurisdiction have no extraterritorial force;[3] but the rule that a foreign representative will not be permitted to sue is also based upon the principle that to allow him to do so might be the means of exhausting or diverting local assets to the injury or inconvenience of local creditors,[4] and although the reason of the rule has little force in cases where there are no local creditors it is nevertheless universally recognized and enforced.[5] Under this rule a foreign representative cannot maintain a special proceeding,[6] dismiss an appeal taken by the decedent and pending at the time of his death,[7] or sue jointly with a local representative;[8] nor do statutes providing that if a party dies pending an action the cause of which will survive, his personal representative may take upon himself the prosecution of the action apply to a foreign representative in jurisdictions where a foreign representative is not authorized by statute to sue.[9] By taking out ancillary letters a foreign representative becomes a domestic representative and entitled to sue,[10] and such letters may be taken out after the suit is terson v. Chemical Bank, 29 How. Pr. 240; Chapman v. Fish, 6 Hill 554; Robinson v. Crandall, 9 Wend. 425; Matter of Jones, 3 Redf. Surr. 257.

North Carolina.— Morefield v. Harris, 126 N. C. 626, 36 S. E. 125; Plummer v. Brandon, 40 N. C. 190; Hyman v. Gaskins, 27 N. C. 267; Leake v. Gilchrist, 13 N. C. 73; Helme v. Sanders, 10 N. C. 563; Anonymous, 2 N. C. 355; Butts v. Price, 1 N. C. 201. Compare Stevens v. Smart, 4 N. C. 83.

Pennsylvania.— Mansfield v. McFarland, 202 Pa. St. 173, 51 Atl. 763; Sayre v. Helme, 61 Pa. St. 299 [disapproving McCullough v. Young, 1 Binn. 63, 4 Dall. 292, 1 L. ed. 838]; Græne v. Harris, 1 Dall. 456, 1 L. ed. 221; Mansfield v. McFarland, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 591; Com. v. Ware, 6 Phila. 258.

South Carolina.— Stoddard v. Aiken, 57 S. C. 134, 35 S. E. 501; Patterson v. Pagan, 18 S. C. 584; Kirkpatrick v. Taylor, 10 Rich. 393; Cockleton v. Davidson, 1 Brev. 15.

Texas.— Terrell v. Crane, 55 Tex. 81; Moseby v. Burrow, 52 Tex. 396; Simpson v. Foster, 46 Tex. 618; Davis v. Phillips, 32 Tex. 564; Green v. Rugley, 23 Tex. 539; Hynes v. Winston, (Civ. App. 1899) 54 S. W. 1069; Summerhill v. McAlexander, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 584.

Vermont.— Dodge v. Wetmore, Brayt. 92.

Virginia.— Dickinson v. McCraw, 4 Rand. 158.

Wisconsin.— Smith v. Peckham, 39 Wis. 414; Johnson v. Wilson, 1 Pinn. 65.

United States.— Johnson v. Powers, 139 U. S. 156, 11 S. Ct. 525, 35 L. ed. 112; Noonan v. Bradley, 9 Wall. 394, 19 L. ed. 757; Kerr v. Moon, 9 Wheat. 565, 6 L. ed. 161; Lewis v. McFarland, 9 Cranch 151, 3 L. ed. 687; Dixon v. Ramsay, 3 Cranch 319, 2 L. ed. 453 [affirming 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,932, 1 Cranch C. C. 472]; Mills v. Knapp, 39 Fed. 592; Allen v. Fairbanks, 36 Fed. 402; Eells v. Holder, 12 Fed. 668, 2 McCrary 622; Bartlett v. Rogers, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,079, 3 Sawy. 62; Champlin v. Tilley, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,586, 1 Brunn. Col. Cas. 71, 3 Day 303; Picquet v. Swan, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,132, 3 Mason 469; Trecothick v. Austin, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,164, 4 Mason 16; Wood v. Gold, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,947, 4 McLean 577. Compare Glassell v. Wilson, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,477, 4 Wash. 59, which is, however, based upon a Pennsylvania decision which is not now the law of that state. See Sayre v. Helme, 61 Pa. St. 299.

Canada.— White v. Hunter, 1 U. C. Q. B. 452.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2330.

Rule applies to executors as well as administrators. Swatzel v. Arnold, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,682, Woolw. 383.

Where a state is divided after letters of administration are granted the representative cannot thereafter sue in the part constituting the new jurisdiction. Fenwick v. Sears, 1 Cranch (U. S.) 259, 2 L. ed. 101.

An action of ejectment cannot be maintained by a foreign executor without proving the will and taking out local letters of administration. Sims v. Hodges, 65 Miss. 211, 3 So. 457.

A suit to revoke an ancillary appointment cannot be maintained by a foreign representative. In re Lewis, 32 La. Ann. 385.

3. See supra, XVI, A, 1, b.

4. Doolittle v. Lewis, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 45, 11 Am. Dec. 389; Leake v. Gilchrist, 13 N. C. 73; Sayre v. Helme, 61 Pa. St. 299; Terrell v. Crane, 55 Tex. 81.

The disability is not a want of title but a personal incapacity of the foreign representative to sue. Smith v. Peckham, 39 Wis. 414. See supra, XVI, B, 3, b, c.

5. Taylor v. Syme, 162 N. Y. 513, 57 N. E. 83, 31 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 1. See also Putnam v. Pitney, 45 Minn. 242, 47 N. W. 790, 11 L. R. A. 41.

6. Stewart v. O'Donnell, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 17.

7. Warren v. Eddy, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 28.

8. Dickinson v. McCraw, 4 Rand. (Va.) 158.

9. Goodwin v. Jones, 3 Mass. 514, 3 Am. Dec. 173.

10. Hopper v. Hopper, 125 N. Y. 400, 26 N. E. 457, 12 L. R. A. 237 [affirming 53 Hun 394, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 271, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 214].

instituted, and in such case the fact that they have been so taken out averred by amendment.[11]

b. Exceptions to Rule — (i) Claim Not a Subject of Local Administration. A foreign representative may sue to collect a claim where under the law of the state where the action must be brought the claim could not be made the subject of local administration,[12] since in such cases the reasons for the rule prohibiting suits by foreign representatives do not apply.[13]

(ii) Actions on Foreign Judgments. Where a representative has recovered a judgment in an action brought by him in his representative capacity in the jurisdiction of his appointment he may sue thereon in his own name in another jurisdiction without taking out ancillary letters of administration.[14]

(iii) Actions on Bills and Notes. A foreign representative may sue in his own name on a negotiable bill or note belonging to his decedent's estate if the note is payable to bearer,[15] or if it is payable to the order of the decedent and indorsed by him in blank,[16] or where the note matures after the death of the decedent;[17] and the judgment recovered will be a bar to any subsequent proceeding against defendant on the note.[18] The action, however, is subject to any defense originally open to the promisor,[19] and as the note is the property of the estate, any proper claim which defendant has against the estate may be presented as a set-off in the action in the same manner as though the action were brought by plaintiff as representative.[20] If the note is not negotiable or is made payable to the order of the payee and not indorsed an action thereon can be brought by the representative only in his representative capacity.[21]

(iv) Actions For Death by Wrongful Act. In most jurisdictions a

11. Henry v. Roe, 83 Tex. 446, 18 S. W. 806; Hodges v. Kimball, 91 Fed. 845, 34 C. C. A. 103 [reversing 87 Fed. 545]; Black v. Henry G. Allen Co., 42 Fed. 618, 9 L. R. A. 433; McAleer v. Clay County, 38 Fed. 707; Swatzel v. Arnold, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,682, Woolw. 383. Compare Wright v. Gilbert, 51 Md. 146.

12. Doud v. Wolf, 1 Pittsb. (Pa.) 107; Purple v. Whithed, 49 Vt. 187.

13. Purple v. Whithed, 49 Vt. 187.

14. Arizona.— Arizona Cattle Co. v. Huber, 4 Ariz. 69, 33 Pac. 555.

California.— Lewis v. Adams, 70 Cal. 403, 11 Pac. 833, 59 Am. Rep. 423.

Maryland.— Barton v. Higgins, 41 Md. 539.

Massachusetts.— Talmage v. Chapel, 16 Mass. 71.

Mississippi.— Rucks v. Taylor, 49 Miss. 552.

Missouri.— Tittman v. Thornton, 107 Mo. 500, 17 S. W. 979, 16 L. R. A. 410.

Nevada.— Rogers v. Hatch, 8 Nev. 35.

Pennsylvania.— Moore v. Fields, 42 Pa. St. 467. See also Shakespeare v. Fidelity Ins., etc., Co., 97 Pa. St. 173.

Tennessee.— Page v. Cravens, 3 Head 383.

Texas.— Cherry v. Speight, 28 Tex. 503.

United States.— Wilkins v. Ellett, 108 U. S. 256, 2 S. Ct. 641, 27 L. ed. 718.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2331.

Basis of rule.— While this rule is based upon the ground that the action is maintainable because brought by the representative in his personal capacity (Lewis v. Adams, 70 Cal. 403, 11 Pac. 833, 59 Am. Rep. 423; Tillman v. Thornton, 107 Mo. 500, 17 S. W. 979, 16 L. R. A. 410), it is important to the purposes of justice that it should be so, since a local representative not being a privy to such judgment could not sue thereon (Talmage v. Chapel, 16 Mass. 71. See also Lewis v. Adams, supra).

Judgment for costs.— A foreign administrator sued in the state of his appointment who prevails in the action and recovers judgment for costs may sue in another state on such judgment without filing an exemplified copy of his letters of administration. Green v. Heritage, 63 N. J. L. 455, 43 Atl. 698.

A representative who is made a party to a judgment recovered by the decedent under statutes providing that he may be made a party and sue thereon in his own name may sue in another jurisdiction in the same manner as if the judgment had been recovered by him personally. Greasons v. Davis, 9 Iowa 219.

If the foreign representative dies pending suit on the judgment the action may be revived in the name of his representative. Tittman v. Thornton, 107 Mo. 500, 17 S. W. 979, 16 L. R. A. 410.

15. Gage v. Johnson, 20 Me. 437; Knapp v. Lee, 42 Mich. 41, 3 N. W. 244; Robinson v. Crandall, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 425; Patchen v. Wilson, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 57; Sanford v. McCreedy, 28 Wis. 103.

16. Barrett v. Barrett, 8 Me. 353.

17. Giddings v. Green, 48 Fed. 489.

18. Knapp v. Lee, 42 Mich. 41, 3 N. W. 244.

19. Barrett v. Barrett, 8 Me. 353.

20. Knapp v. Lee, 42 Mich. 41, 3 N. W. 244.

21. See Knapp v. Lee, 42 Mich. 41, 3 N. W. 244.

foreign representative may sue to recover damages for the wrongful death of the decedent.[22] This is the law under statutes providing that the action shall be brought by the personal representative and that the recovery shall be for the exclusive benefit of the widow and children or next of kin,[23] since in such cases the action is not to recover assets of the estate,[24] and the representative does not sue in his representative capacity but as a trustee deriving his authority from the statute.[25] A foreign representative cannot sue, however, if under the statute the recovery becomes assets of the decedent's estate,[26] or if under the law of the state of his appointment those entitled to the recovery must sue therefor in their own names.[27]

(v) ACTIONS IN PERSONAL CAPACITY. The rule that a representative cannot sue outside of the jurisdiction of his appointment applies only to actions which he must bring in his representative capacity and not where he sues as an individual.[28] If the cause of action is one which did not accrue to the decedent in his lifetime but to the representative after the former's death the representative

22. Illinois.—Wabash, etc., R. Co. v. Shacklet, 105 Ill. 364, 44 Am. Rep. 791 [reversing 10 Ill. App. 404].

Indiana.— Memphis, etc., Packet Co. v. Pikey, 142 Ind. 304, 40 N. E. 527; Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co. v. Hendricks, 41 Ind. 48.

Kansas.— Kansas Pac. R. Co. v. Cutter, 16 Kan. 568.

New York.— See Leonard v. Columbia Steam Nav. Co., 84 N. Y. 48, 38 Am. Rep. 491.

Pennsylvania.— Boulden v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 205 Pa. St. 264, 54 Atl. 906.

United States.— Florida Cent., etc., R. Co. v. Sullivan, 120 Fed. 799, 57 C. C. A. 167, 61 L. R. A. 410; Popp v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 96 Fed. 465; McCarty v. New York, etc., R. Co., 62 Fed. 437. Contra, Maysville St. R., etc., Co. v. Marvin, 59 Fed. 91, 8 C. C. A. 21; Mackay v. Central R. Co., 4 Fed. 617.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2332.

23. Memphis, etc., Packet Co. v. Pikey, 142 Ind. 304, 40 N. E. 527; Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co. v. Hendricks, 41 Ind. 48; Kansas Pac. R. Co. v. Cutter, 16 Kan. 568; Boulden v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 205 Pa. St. 264, 54 Atl. 906; McCarty v. New York, etc., R. Co., 62 Fed. 437. Contra, Mackay v. Central R. Co., 4 Fed. 617.

24. Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co. v. Hendricks, 41 Ind. 48; Kansas Pac. R. Co. v. Cutter, 16 Kan. 568; Boulden v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 205 Pa. St. 264, 54 Atl. 906; McCarty v. New York, etc., R. Co., 62 Fed. 437.

25. Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co. v. Hendricks, 41 Ind. 48; Boulden v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 205 Pa. St. 264, 54 Atl. 906; McCarty v. New York, etc., R. Co., 62 Fed. 437.

26. Maysville St. R., etc., Co. v. Marvin, 59 Fed. 91, 8 C. C. A. 21.

27. Limekiller v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 33 Kan. 83, 5 Pac. 401, 52 Am. Rep. 523 [distinguishing Kansas Pac. R. Co. v. Cutter, 16 Kan. 568].

28. California.— Fox v. Tay, 89 Cal. 339, 24 Pac. 855, 26 Pac. 897, 23 Am. St. Rep. 474; Lewis v. Adams, 70 Cal. 403, 11 Pac. 833, 59 Am. Rep. 423.

Maine.— Barrett v. Barrett, 8 Me. 346.

Mississippi.— Rucks v. Taylor, 49 Miss. 552.

Missouri.— Tittman v. Thornton, 107 Mo. 500, 17 S. W. 979, 16 L. R. A. 410; Morton v. Hatch, 54 Mo. 408; State v. Kaime, 4 Mo. App. 479.

New York.— Smith v. Webb, 1 Barb. 230; Lawrence v. Lawrence, 3 Barb. Ch. 71.

United States.— Trecothick v. Austin, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,164, 4 Mason 16.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2333.

Although the right be derived under a foreign will if the representative sues in his own right no local administration need be taken out. Trecothick v. Austin, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,164, 4 Mason 16.

Actions or suits maintainable.— A foreign representative may sue in his own name on any contract made by himself with defendant (Barrett v. Barrett, 8 Me. 346; Wolf v. Sun Ins. Co., 75 Mo. App. 306; Lawrence v. Lawrence, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 71); to foreclose a mortgage given to him as representative (Tyer v. Charleston Rice Milling Co., 32 S. C. 598, 10 S. E. 1067); to collect a note payable to himself as representative taken in the course of his administration (Trotter v. White, 10 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 607); to recover damages for the infringement of a patent granted to him for an invention of the decedent (Goodyear v. Hullihen, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,573, 2 Hughes 492); to recover property of the estate to which he is personally entitled as a legatee (Morton v. Hatch, 54 Mo. 408; Smith v. Webb, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 230), or title to which he has acquired by purchases from other legatees (Smith v. Webb, supra); or to recover lands devised to him in trust (Lewis v. McFarland, 9 Cranch (U. S.) 151, 3 L. ed. 687. See also Chapman v. Headley, (Ky. 1887) 4 S. W. 189). He may also sue to recover possession of property which is assets of the estate and which after vesting in him as representative has been removed into another jurisdiction (Crawford v. Graves, 15 La. Ann. 243; Beckham v. Wittkowski, 64 N. C. 464; Giddings v. Green, 48 Fed. 489), but this principle does not apply where the representative himself wrongfully removes the property from the jurisdiction where it properly belongs, since may sue thereon in his own name,[29] and the fact that in such an action he styles himself as representative will not defeat the action but may be disregarded as surplusage.[30]

c. Statutory Authority to Sue — (i) Statutory Provisions. In a number of jurisdictions the right to sue has been conferred upon foreign representatives by statute.[31] Under these statutes a foreign representative may sue out an execution on a judgment rendered in favor of the decedent in his lifetime,[32] or may prosecute an action commenced by the decedent where the cause of action survives and no local representative has been appointed;[33] but such statutes do not confer upon foreign representatives any greater power in reference to property of the estate than is conferred by their letters of administration,[34] and do not authorize them to maintain any suit which they would not be authorized to bring in the court of the state where they were appointed.[35] Where under the statutes the right to sue is not general it can be exercised only under the conditions[36] and with regard to the particular causes of action specified;[37] but a general right of action applies to actions for torts as well as those arising out of contract.[38] Statutes authorizing foreign representatives to sue do not oust the jurisdiction of probate courts to appoint ancillary representatives,[39] who when appointed have the superior right to sue in the jurisdiction of their appointment;[40] and such an by so doing he forfeits his title thereto (Kilpatrick v. Bush, 23 Miss. 199).

29. Fox v. Tay, 89 Cal. 339, 24 Pac. 855, 26 Pac. 897, 23 Am. St. Rep. 474; Barrett v. Barrett, 8 Me. 346; Lawrence v. Lawrence, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 71.

30. Lewis v. Adams, 70 Cal. 403, 11 Pac. 833, 59 Am. Rep. 423; Barton v. Higgins, 41 Md. 539; State v. Kaime, 4 Mo. App. 479; Page v. Cravens, 3 Head (Tenn.) 383.

31. Alabama.— Bell v. Nichols, 38 Ala. 678; Manly v. Turnipseed, 37 Ala. 522; Broughton v. Bradley, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474; Carr v. Wyley, 23 Ala. 821; Harrison v. Mahorner, 14 Ala. 829.

Arkansas.— Fairchild v. Hagel, 54 Ark. 61, 14 S. W. 1102; Clark v. Holt, 16 Ark. 257.

Delaware.— Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Niven, 5 Houst. 416.

District of Columbia.— Weaver v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 21 D. C. 499.

Florida.— Margarum v. J. S. Christie Orange Co., 37 Fla. 165, 19 So. 637; Blewitt v. Nicholson, 2 Fla. 200.

Georgia.— Patterson v. Blanchard, 98 Ga. 518, 25 S. E. 572; Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Harrison, 68 Ga. 463; Buck v. Johnson, 67 Ga. 82; Mansfield v. Turpin, 32 Ga. 260; Averitt v. Pope, 30 Ga. 660.

Illinois.— Hickox v. Frank, 102 Ill. 660; Bonnell v. Holt, 89 Ill. 71; Keefer v. Mason, 36 Ill. 406; Walker v. Walker, 55 Ill. App. 118.

Indiana.—Jeffersonville R. Co. v. Hendricks, 26 Ind. 228; Matlock v. Powell, 14 Ind. 378; Naylor v. Moody, 2 Blackf. 247.

Iowa.— Karrick v. Pratt, 4 Greene 144.

Kansas.— Dunlap v. McFarland, 25 Kan. 488; Ravenscraft v. Pratt, 22 Kan. 20.

Kentucky.— Loval v. Johnson, 9 B. Mon. 556; Huling v. Fort, 2 Litt. 193.

Maryland.— Mangun v. Webster, 7 Gill 78.

Minnesota.— Babcock v. Collins, 60 Minn. 73, 61 N. W. 1020, 51 Am. St. Rep. 503.

Mississippi.—Sims v. Hodges, 65 Miss. 211, 3 So. 457.

Ohio.— Purcill v. Heinberger, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 343; In re McCreight, 9 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 454, 6 Ohio N. P. 481.

Wisconsin.— Murray v. Norwood, 77 Wis. 405, 46 N. W. 499; Smith v. Peckham, 39 Wis. 414.

United States.— Hayes v. Pratt, 147 U. S. 557, 13 S. Ct. 503, 37 L. ed. 279; Blydenburgh v. Lowry, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,582, 4 Cranch C. C. 368; Price v. Morris, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,414, 5 McLean 4.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2330.

In Tennessee the act of 1809 authorizing foreign representatives to sue (see Smith v. Mabry, 7 Yerg. 26) was repealed by the act of 1840. Williams v. Saunders, 5 Coldw. 60.

32. Keefer v. Mason, 36 Ill. 406.

33. Noonan v. Bradley, 12 Wall. (U. S.) 121, 20 L. ed. 279. Compare Jones v. Lamar, 77 Ga. 149.

If the foreign representative dies pending an action instituted by him, an administrator de bonis non cannot be substituted as a party. Jones v. Lamar, 77 Ga. 149. See also Isbell v. Blanchard, 94 Ga. 678, 21 S. E. 720.

34. Jones v. Cliett, 114 Ga. 673, 40 S. E. 719.

35. Jones v. Cliett, 114 Ga. 673, 40 S. E. 719.

36. Southwestern R. Co. v. Paulk, 24 Ga. 356.

37. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Brantley, 96 Ky. 297, 28 S. W. 477, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 691, 49 Am. St. Rep. 291; Maysville St. R., etc., Co. v. Marvin, 59 Fed. 91, 8 C. C. A. 21.

38. Averitt v. Pope, 30 Ga. 660.

39. Broughton v. Bradley, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474; Purcell v. Heinberger, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 343; Brown v. Wright, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 57.

40. Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118; Conner r. Paul, 12 Bush (Ky.) 144; Purcell v. Heinberger, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 343.

appointment made after an action is instituted by a foreign representative presents a good defense to a further maintenance of the action.[41] In some states the statutes expressly restrict the right of a foreign representative to sue to cases where no local representative has been appointed.[42] Where there is no local representative, the right of a foreign domiciliary representative to sue is superior to that of a foreign ancillary representative.[43]

(II) FILING LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION. In some states the statutes authorizing foreign representatives to sue make no distinction between such representatives and those appointed under their own laws.[44] In others the foreign representative is required to file his original letters of administration or an authenticated copy thereof in some court of the state where the action is brought.[45] This requirement, however, is merely to furnish evidence of plaintiff's representative character,[46] and may be complied with after the suit is instituted,[47] unless the statute expressly provides that such letters shall be filed before commencing the action.[48] The failure of a foreign representative to comply with the statutory requirements as to filing his letters of administration is a matter of defense which unless specially pleaded is waived.[49]

(III) BOND. Under some of the statutes a foreign executor or administrator bringing an action in a state court is required to give a bond,[50] in some cases a bond for costs being required,[51] and in others the requirement being that before

See also Smith v. Cuyler, 78 Ga. 654, 3 S. E. 406.

Where a debtor has been appointed a representative he may plead his appointment in bar of an action brought by the foreign representative to collect the debt. Kennedy v. Kennedy, 8 Ala. 391.

41. Broughton v. Bradley, 34 Ala. 694, 73 Am. Dec. 474.

In Illinois the statute provides that where a suit is commenced by a foreign representative and before final judgment a local representative is appointed he may be substituted as a party and the proceeds of the judgment shall be assets in his hands. Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118.

42. Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118; Conner v. Paul, 12 Bush (Ky.) 144. See also Patterson v. Blanchard, 98 Ga. 518, 25 S. E. 572.

If the cause of action accrued to the foreign representative in his personal capacity he may sue thereon notwithstanding a local representative has been appointed. Smith v. Cuyler, 78 Ga. 654, 3 S. E. 406.

43. Harrison v. Mahorner, 14 Ala. 829.

44. Fairchild v. Hagel, 54 Ark. 61, 14 S. W. 1102; Clark v. Holt, 16 Ark. 257; Weaver v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 21 D. C. 499; Mangun v. Webster, 7 Gill (Md.) 78.

In Indiana it was formerly necessary that a foreign representative should have his letters recorded in a circuit court of that state (Naylor v. Moody, 2 Blackf. 247), but this is not necessary under the later statutes (Upton v. Adams, 27 Ind. 432. See also Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co. v. Hendricks, 41 Ind. 48).

45. Alabama.— Harris v. Moore, 72 Ala. 507; Hatchett v. Berney, 65 Ala. 39.

Georgia.— Buck v. Johnson, 67 Ga. 82; Turner v. Linam, 55 Ga. 253; Mansfield v. Turpin, 32 Ga. 260.

Illinois.— Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118.

Iowa.— Karrick v. Pratt, 4 Greene 144.

Minnesota.— Babcock v. Collins, 60 Minn. 73, 61 N. W. 1020, 51 Am. St. Rep. 503; Fogle v. Schaeffer, 23 Minn. 304; Pott v. Pennington, 16 Minn. 509.

Mississippi.— Sims v. Hodges, 65 Miss. 211, 3 So. 457; Hope v. Hunt, 59 Miss. 174.

Wisconsin.— Murray v. Norwood, 77 Wis. 405, 46 N. W. 499; Smith v. Peckham, 39 Wis. 414.

United States.— Hayes v. Pratt, 147 U. S. 557, 13 S. Ct. 503, 37 L. ed. 279.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2334.

In Tennessee the statute provides that the representative "shall produce" a certified copy of his letters. Smith v. Mabry, 7 Yerg. 26.

46. Smith v. Peckham, 39 Wis. 414.

47. Buecker v. Carr, 60 N. J. Eq. 300, 47 Atl. 34; Smith v. Peckham, 39 Wis. 414.

Probate of the foreign will of a deceased mortgagee may be made after a suit to foreclose has been commenced by his executor. Gray v. Franks, 86 Mich. 382, 49 N. W. 130.

48. Fogle v. Schaeffer, 23 Minn. 304.

49. Berlin v. Sheffield Coal, etc., Co., 124 Ala. 322, 26 So. 933.

After the jury is sworn it is too late to move to dismiss the suit of a non-resident executor because he has not filed his letters testamentary. Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 52.

50. See Harris v. Moore, 72 Ala. 507; Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Lowry, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 205; and cases cited in the following notes.

51. Walker v. Welker, 55 Ill. App. 118; Swift v. Donohue, 104 Ky. 137, 46 S. W. 683, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 446.

Failure to file bond for costs should be pleaded in abatement. Newton v. Cocke, 10 Ark. 169.

Waiver of objection.— An objection that a bond for costs was not filed is waived by judgment can be rendered the executor or administrator must give a bond for the proper administration of the amount recovered.[52]

2. Waiver of Objection as to Incapacity. The objection that a foreign representative cannot sue is waived by failure to take it at the proper time and in the proper manner.[53]

3. Limitations.[54] Where a foreign representative is authorized by statute to sue without taking out ancillary letters of administration the statute of limitations begins to run against the right of action from the date of his foreign appointment,[55] but where ancillary letters must be taken out the statute does not begin to run until the date of the ancillary appointment.[56]

4. Parties. A domestic representative need not be made a party to an action brought by a representative appointed in another state, where the foreign representative is authorized by statute to sue;[57] and where a foreign representative takes out ancillary letters and brings an action in the ancillary jurisdiction it is not necessary to make a foreign co-representative who did not also take out ancillary letters a party.[58]

5. Pleading — a. Declaration or Complaint. Where foreign representatives are authorized by statute to sue, such actions are subject to the same rules of pleading as actions brought by domestic representatives.[59] Letters of administration may be pleaded with a profert where the representative is plaintiff,[60] and where a profert is made the effect is the same as if the letters were set out in the declaration and it is not necessary to aver in what state they were granted.[61] Where a foreign executor takes out ancillary letters and sues as an ancillary representative it is sufficient for him to allege his ancillary appointment without alleging that the will has been admitted to probate.[62]

b. Plea or Answer. Where foreign representatives are not authorized to sue the fact that plaintiff is a foreign representative should ordinarily be pleaded in abatement,[63] and if not so pleaded will be waived;[64] but if the fact appears upon the face of the complaint the objection may be taken by demurrer,[65] and will be waived if not so taken.[66] Where a foreign representative is authorized to sue, his right to do so can be questioned only by a plea under oath denying his representative capacity;[67] but defendant may by demanding oyer of the letters and demurring to the declaration take advantage of any material variance between failure to file a special demurrer or to ask a rule requiring its execution. Swift v. Donohue, 104 Ky. 137, 46 S. W. 683, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 446.

52. Hatchett v. Berney, 65 Ala. 39; Loval v. Johnson, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 556.

Where the representative sues in his personal capacity this bond is not required. Wayland v. Porterfield, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 638; Steitler v. Hellenbush, 61 S. W. 701, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 174.

53. Gregory v. McCormick, 120 Mo. 657, 25 S. W. 565; Robbins v. Wells, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 666, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 191, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 15; Johnson v. Wilson, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 65; McAleer v. Clay County, 38 Fed. 707. See also Sparks v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 100 Iowa 458, 69 N. W. 678; Champlin v. Tilley, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,586, Brunn. Col. Cas. 71, 3 Day 303.

On appeal it will be presumed that plaintiff was duly authorized to sue, where no objection was made on the trial. Bertron v. Stuart, 43 La. Ann. 1171, 10 So. 295.

Manner of pleading objection see infra, XVI, G, 5, b.

54. See, generally, Limitations of Actions.

55. Bell v. Nichols, 38 Ala. 678; Manly v. Turnipseed, 37 Ala. 522.

56. Hobart v. Connecticut Turnpike Co., 15 Conn. 145.

57. Isbill v. Blanchard, 94 Ga. 678, 21 S. E. 720.

58. Lawrence v. Townsend, 88 N. Y. 24.

59. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358. See supra, XIV.

60. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358.

61. Carr v. Wyley, 23 Ala. 821.

62. Leland v. Manning, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 7.

63. Johnson v. Wilson, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 65; McAleer v. Clay County, 38 Fed. 707.

64. Johnson v. Wilson, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 65; McAleer v. Clay County, 38 Fed. 707.

65. Gregory v. McCormick, 120 Mo. 657, 25 S. W. 565; Robbins v. Wells, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 666, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 191, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 15; Duchesse d'Auxy v. Porter, 41 Fed. 68.

66. Gregory v. McCormick, 120 Mo. 657, 25 S. W. 565; Robbins v. Wells, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 666, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 191, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 15.

67. Jeffersonville R. Co. v. Hendricks, 26 Ind. 228; Matlock v. Powell, 14 Ind. 378. See also Hope v. Hurt, 59 Miss. 174.

the letters produced and the statement of them in the declaration.[68] If plaintiff's representative capacity is not questioned and the only objection is that he has not complied with some statutory requirement this fact should be pleaded in abatement.[69] A motion to dismiss a suit because the plaintiff was appointed administrator in another state is too late after a plea on the merits.[70]

6. Proof of Representative Capacity. The foreign representative need not on the trial make any proof of his representative capacity unless the fact is put in issue by defendant,[71] but if it is put in issue he must make proof of his foreign appointment.[72] It is provided by statute in several jurisdictions that a duly authenticated copy of his foreign letters is sufficient proof.[73] In the absence of statute the fact is sufficiently established by the production of his foreign letters,[74] or of a certified copy of the record of the probate court and a certificate of the probate judge to the effect that such letters were issued.[75]

7. Defenses. In an action by a foreign representative on a cause of action accruing to the decedent in his lifetime defendant is entitled to the same rights of defense as if the action had been instituted under local letters of administration.[76]

H. Actions Against Foreign Representatives — 1. General Rule. The general rule is that a representative appointed in one jurisdiction cannot be sued in his representative capacity in any other jurisdiction,[77] nor can an action pending

68. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358.

69. Smith v. Peckham, 39 Wis. 414.

A plea under oath is not necessary where the only objection is that he has not filed an authenticated copy of his foreign appointment. Hope v. Hunt, 59 Miss. 174.

70. McGrew v. Browder, 2 Mart. N. S. (La.) 17.

71. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; Jeffersonville R. Co. v. Hendricks, 26 Ind. 228; Matlock v. Powell, 14 Ind. 378.

72. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; Jeffersonville R. Co. v. Hendricks, 26 Ind. 228.

73. Collins v. Ayers, 13 Ill. 358; Jeffersonville R. Co. v. Hendricks, 26 Ind. 228; Jelly v. Stevens, 4 Ind. 510; Mangun v. Webster, 7 Gill (Md.) 78.

74. Cheney v. Stone, 29 Fed. 885.

75. Carmichael v. Saint, 16 Ark. 28.

76. Russell v. Hubbard, 76 Ga. 618.

77. Alabama.— Jefferson v. Beall, 117 Ala. 436, 23 So. 44, 67 Am. St. Rep. 177.

Arkansas.—Greer v. Ferguson, 56 Ark. 324, 19 S. W. 966.

Connecticut.— Russell v. Hooker, 67 Conn. 24, 34 Atl. 711, 35 L. R. A. 495; Hedenberg v. Hedenberg, 46 Conn. 30, 33 Am. Rep. 10.

District of Columbia.— U. S. v. Wyman, 2 Mackey 368; Plumm v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. 156.

Florida.— Sloan v. Sloan, 21 Fla. 589; Gordon v. Clarke, 10 Fla. 179.

Georgia.— Jackson v. Johnson, 34 Ga. 511, 89 Am. Dec. 263; Davis v. Smith, 5 Ga. 274, 47 Am. Dec. 279.

Illinois.— Elting v. Biggsville First Nat. Bank, 173 Ill. 368, 50 N. E. 1095; Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

Kentucky.— Baker v. Smith, 3 Metc. 264; Curle v. Moor, 1 Dana 445.

Massachusetts.—Norton v. Palmer, 7 Cush. 523; Campbell v. Sheldon, 13 Pick. 8; Borden v. Borden, 5 Mass. 67, 4 Am. Dec. 32.

Mississippi.— Winter v. Winter, Walk. 211.

Nebraska.— Burton v. Williams, 63 Nebr. 431, 88 N. W. 765; Creighton v. Murphy, 8 Nebr. 349, 1 N. W. 138.

New Jersey.— Durie v. Blauvelt, 49 N. J. L. 114, 6 Atl. 312; Van Dyke v. Van Dyke, 36 N. J. Eq. 521.

New York.— Flandrow v. Hammond, 13 N. Y. App. Div. 325, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 143, 4 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 56; Murphy v. Hall, 38 Hun 528; Field v. Gibson, 20 Hun 274; Metcalf v. Clark, 41 Barb. 45; Vermilya v. Beatty, 6 Barb. 429; Ferguson v. Harrison, 27 Misc. 380, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 850; Hankinson v. Page, 3 How. Pr. N. S. 323.

North Carolina.— Brookshire v. Dubose, 55 N. C. 276.

Ohio.— Pedan v. Robb, 8 Ohio 227.

Pennsylvania.— Magraw v. Irwin, 87 Pa. St. 139, 5 Wkly. Notes Cas. 557 [disapproving Evans v. Tatem, 9 Serg. & R. 252, 11 Am. Dec. 717; Swearinger v. Pendleton, 4 Serg. & R. 389]; Brodie v. Bickley, 2 Rawle 431; Laughlin v. Solomon, 5 Pa. Dist. 282. But see Laughlin v. Solomon, 180 Pa. St. 177, 36 Atl. 704, 57 Am. St. Rep. 633, holding that a foreign executor within the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania courts is liable to suit by a resident creditor of his decedent, and such suit will be sustained unless it would trench unduly on the jurisdiction of another court already attached or would expose parties subject to such jurisdiction to inequitable burdens.

South Carolina.— Garden v. Hunt, Cheves Eq. 42.

Tennessee.— Sparks v. White, 7 Humphr. 86; Allsup v. Allsup, 10 Yerg. 283.

Virginia.— Fugate v. Moore, 86 Va. 1045, 11 S. E. 1063, 19 Am. St. Rep. 926.

West Virginia.— Oney v. Ferguson, 41 W. Va. 568, 23 S. E. 710; Crumlish v. Shenandoah Valley R. Co., 40 W. Va. 627, 22 S. E. 90.

United States.— Vaughan v. Northup, 15 Pet. 1, 10 L. ed. 639; Skiff v. White, 127 Fed.

against the decedent at the time of his death be revived against a foreign representative of his estate.[78] According to the weight of authority a foreign representative cannot in his representative capacity even voluntarily submit to a suit,[79] and if he does so a judgment rendered against him will not bind the estate,[80] or estop him from disputing the claim on which the action is brought when sued thereon in his own jurisdiction.[81]

2. Exceptions to Rule — a. In General. Exceptions to the rule that a foreign representative cannot be sued have been made in a number of cases, but these exceptions are not universally recognized.[82] Practically all the cases have been suits in equity where peculiar circumstances were involved,[83] and which were permitted upon the ground of their necessity to prevent a failure of justice.[84] The proper rule has been said to be that an action at law should never be allowed to recover a mere money demand,[85] and that suits in equity should be allowed only when necessary to prevent a complete failure of justice.[86] Such suits have been allowed where a foreign representative came into another jurisdiction and 175; Wilson v. Smith, 126 Fed. 916, 61 C. C. A. 446 [affirming 117 Fed. 707]; Filer, etc., Co. v. Rainey, 120 Fed. 718; Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77; Scruggs v. Scruggs, 105 Fed. 28; Caldwell v. Harding, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,301, 5 Blatchf. 501; Mellus v. Thompson, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405, 1 Cliff. 125; Security Ins. Co. v. Taylor, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,607, 2 Biss. 446.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2344.

Federal courts sitting in one state apply the general rule as to suits against representatives appointed in another state. Filer, etc., Co. v. Rainey, 120 Fed. 718.

78. Flandrow v. Hammond, 13 N. Y. App. Div. 325, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 143, 4 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 56; Lampton v. Nichols, 2 Cinc. Super. Ct. 55.

79. Arkansas.— Greer v. Ferguson, 56 Ark. 324, 19 S. W. 966.

Florida.— Sloan v. Sloan, 21 Fla. 589.

Illinois.— Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

Montana.—Braithwaite v. Harvey, 14 Mont. 208, 36 Pac. 38, 43 Am. St. Rep. 625, 27 L. R. A. 101.

New York.— Flandrow v. Hammond, 13 N. Y. App. Div. 325, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 143, 4 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 56.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2344.

Contra.— Davis v. Connelly, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 136; Newark Sav. Inst. v. Jones, 35 N. J. Eq. 406; Ellis v. Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co., 100 Tenn. 177, 43 S. W. 766. See also Moss v. Rowland, 3 Bush (Ky.) 505.

On the death of a defendant pendente lite his representative appointed in another state cannot appear and defend the action. Greer v. Ferguson, 56 Ark. 324; Flandrow v. Hammond, 13 N. Y. App. Div. 325, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 143, 4 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 56.

80. Elting v. Biggsville First Nat. Bank, 173 Ill. 368, 50 N. E. 1095; Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

81. Braithwaite v. Harvey, 14 Mont. 208, 36 Pac. 38, 43 Am. St. Rep. 625, 27 L. R. A. 101.

82. See Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 214, 50 Am. Dec. 455, where the court said: "It may be doubted whether these decisions can be supported on principle or authority."

83. Alabama.— Colbert v. Daniel, 32 Ala. 314; Julian v. Reynolds, 8 Ala. 680; Calhoun v. King, 5 Ala. 523.

Georgia.— Lake v. Hardee, 57 Ga. 459.

Kentucky.— Manion v. Titsworth, 18 B. Mon. 582.

New York.— Montgomery v. Boyd, 78 N. Y. App. Div. 64, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 879; Gulick v. Gulick, 33 Barb. 92, 21 How. Pr. 22; McNamara v. Dwyer, 7 Paige 239, 32 Am. Dec. 627; Slatter v. Carroll, 2 Sandf. Ch. 573.

Virginia.— Powell v. Stratton, 11 Gratt. 792.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2344.

Where a representative has purchased lands in a jurisdiction other than that of his appointment he may be sued there to compel him to disclose with what funds he purchased them and to declare whether he holds them as trustee and for what uses and trusts. Clopton v. Booker, 27 Ark. 482. See also Powell v. Stratton, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 792.

Possession under invalid testamentary disposition.— Where land is in possession of a foreign representative under a testamentary disposition which is invalid according to the laws of the state where the land is situated the heirs may sue the foreign representative for its possession. Atkinson v. Rogers, 14 La. Ann. 633.

84. Colbert v. Daniel, 32 Ala. 314; Montgomery v. Boyd, 78 N. Y. App. Div. 64, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 879; McNamara v. Dwyer, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 239, 32 Am. Dec. 627.

85. Metcalf v. Clark, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 45; Field v. Gibson, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 232. See also Falke v. Terry, 32 Colo. 85, 75 Pac. 425. But see Laughlin v. Solomon, 180 Pa. St. 177, 36 Atl. 704, 57 Am. St. Rep. 633.

86. Collins v. Steuart, 2 N. Y. App. Div. 271, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 891; Kanter v. Peyser, 51 N. Y. Super. Ct. 441; Brown v. Brown, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 189; Brown v. Brown, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 343; Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77. See also Julian v. Reynolds, 11 Ala. 960; Graveley v. Graveley, 20 S. C. 93.

took possession of assets belonging to that jurisdiction,[87] or brought with him assets from another jurisdiction,[88] or where he left the jurisdiction of his appointment and became a resident of another jurisdiction.[89] Where a representative appointed in one jurisdiction moves into another, taking with him assets of the foreign appointment, a bill in equity will lie in the latter jurisdiction to compel him to account for such assets to the persons lawfully entitled thereto,[90] where but for the interference of a court of equity there would manifestly be a failure of justice.[91] In such cases, however, he is not held to account as executor or administrator but as a trustee for those entitled to the effects in his hands,[92] and, to authorize such a proceeding, it must appear that he has assets within the jurisdiction of the court,[93] and that he is accountable to the complaining party as a trustee under a will or as a trustee ex maleficio.[94] In cases where a suit against a foreign representative is allowed the nature and extent of his liability will be governed by the laws of the jurisdiction of his appointment,[95] at least to the extent of the assets belonging to that jurisdiction.[96]

b. Actions Against Representative Personally. The rule prohibiting suits against a foreign representative applies only where he is proceeded against in his representative capacity.[97] So he may be sued on any contract which he has himself made,[98] or he may be sued as a trustee,[99] or where he has rendered himself liable as an executor de son tort.[1]

87. Marcy v. Marcy, 32 Conn. 308, holding that as to such property he might be sued even by a creditor. See also Hedenberg v. Hedenberg, 46 Conn. 30, 33 Am. Rep. 10.

88. Julian v. Reynolds, 8 Ala. 680; Williamson v. Mobile Branch Bank, 7 Ala. 906, 42 Am. Dec. 617; Gulick v. Gulick, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 92, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 22; McNamara v. Dwyer, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 239, 32 Am. Dec. 627.

A suit to prevent waste of property brought by a foreign representative from another jurisdiction may be maintained by a distributee. Calhoun v. King, 5 Ala. 523.

A bill to compel distribution of property brought in from another jurisdiction may be maintained by a distributee entitled thereto. Julian v. Reynolds, 8 Ala. 680.

A creditor cannot sue to subject such property, which properly belongs to another jurisdiction, to the payment of his claim. Hedenberg v. Hedenberg, 46 Conn. 30, 33 Am. Rep. 10.

If no assets are brought in by the foreign representative he cannot be sued. Falke v. Terry, 32 Colo. 85, 75 Pac. 425; Olney v. Ferguson, 41 W. Va. 568, 23 S. E. 710.

89. Colbert v. Daniel, 32 Ala. 314; Manion v. Titsworth, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 582; Keiningham v. Keiningham, 71 S. W. 497, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1330.

A creditor is not entitled to sue under such circumstances. Baker v. Smith, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 264.

90. Alabama.— Colbert v. Daniel, 32 Ala. 314.

Kentucky.— Hussey v. Sargent, 116 Ky. 53, 75 S. W. 211, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 315.

New Jersey.— Rennie v. Crombie, 12 N. J. Eq. 457.

New York.—Marshall v. Bresler, 1 How. Pr. N. S. 217; McNamara v. Dwyer, 7 Paige 239, 32 Am. Dec. 627; Ordronaux v. Helie, 3 Sandf. Ch. 512.

Tennessee.— Beeler v. Dunn, 3 Head 87, 75 Am. Dec. 761; Dillard v. Harris, 2 Tenn. Ch. 196.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2352.

91. Colbert v. Daniel, 32 Ala. 314; Hussey v. Sargent, 116 Ky. 53, 75 S. W. 211, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 315.

92. Beeler v. Dunn, 3 Head (Tenn.) 87, 75 Am. Dec. 761; Dillard v. Harris, 2 Tenn. Ch. 196; Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77.

93. Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77.

94. Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77.

95. Hoskins v. Sheddon, 70 Ga. 528; Johnson v. Jackson, 56 Ga. 326, 21 Am. Rep. 285; Manion v. Titsworth, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 582; McNamara v. Dwyer, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 239, 32 Am. Dec. 627. See also Falke v. Terry, 32 Colo. 85, 75 Pac. 425.

96. McNamara v. Dwyer, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 239, 32 Am. Dec. 627.

97. Lewis v. McCabe, 6 Mo. App. 600; Johnson v. Wallis, 112 N. Y. 230, 19 N. E. 653, 8 Am. St. Rep. 742, 2 L. R. A. 828 [affirming 41 Hun 420]; Taylor v. Benham, 5 How. (U. S.) 233, 12 L. ed. 130.

98. Johnson v. Wallis, 112 N. Y. 230, 19 N. E. 653, 8 Am. St. Rep. 742, 2 L. R. A. 828 [affirming 41 Hun 420].

99. Atchison v. Lindsey, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 86, 43 Am. Dec. 153; Marshall v. Bresler, 1 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 217; Patton v. Overton, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 192; Allsup v. Allsup, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 283.

1. Densler v. Edwards, 5 Ala. 31; Campbell v. Tousey, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 64.

In New York the office of executor de son tort has been abolished and an action on this ground is no longer maintainable against a foreign executor or administrator. Metcalf v. Clark, 41 Barb. 45.

3. Statutory Liability to Suit. In a few jurisdictions actions against foreign representatives are expressly authorized by statute.[2] Statutes allowing foreign representatives to sue do not authorize them to be sued,[3] but do authorize them to appear and assert any affirmative right in favor of the estate, although in so doing they must in form appear as defendants.[4]

4. Parties. In cases where a suit against a foreign representative can be maintained, if such a suit is brought by a legatee or distributee to recover property of the estate to which he is entitled, all the distributees or legatees who are interested therein should be made parties,[5] and any person claiming an interest in the property in question is a proper party.[6] In a suit against a foreign executor it is not necessary to make those who were named as co-executors but who never proved the will parties.[7]

I. Accounting[8] — 1. In General. A representative appointed in one jurisdiction cannot be required to account for his administration under that appointment by the courts of any other jurisdiction,[9] and where different administrations are granted in different states, each administration must be settled where it is granted and each representative is accountable only in the courts of the state of his appointment.[10] Where there is no ancillary representative and a foreign domiciliary representative takes possession of assets or receives debts voluntarily paid he is accountable only to the court of the domicile where he was appointed,[11] and even if he subsequently takes out ancillary letters in the jurisdiction where such assets were collected he cannot be held to account there except as to assets collected after his ancillary appointment.[12]

2. By Ancillary Representative. It is the duty of an ancillary representative to render an account of his ancillary administration to the proper court of the jurisdiction in which he was appointed,[13] and it is no excuse for his failure to do

2. Cady v. Bard, 21 Kan. 667; Donifelser v. Heyl, 7 Kan. App. 606, 52 Pac. 468; Swearingen v. Morris, 14 Ohio St. 424; In re McCreight, 9 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 454, 6 Ohio N. P. 481; Craig v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 3 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 146, 2 Ohio N. P. 64. See also Adams v. Adams, 7 Ohio St. 83; Netting v. Strickland, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 136, 9 Ohio Cir. Dec. 841.

Such statutes are constitutional. Craig v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 3 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 146, 2 Ohio N. P. 64.

3. Arkansas.— Greer v. Ferguson, 56 Ark. 324, 19 S. W. 966.

Florida.— Sloan v. Sloan, 21 Fla. 589; Gordon v. Clarke, 10 Fla. 179.

Nebraska.— Burton v. Williams, 63 Nebr. 431, 88 N. W. 765.

Ohio.— Pedan v. Robb, 8 Ohio 227.

Tennessee.— Allsup v. Allsup, 10 Yerg. 283.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2344.

Compare Decker v. Patton, 20 Ill. App. 210 [affirmed in 120 Ill. 464, 11 N. E. 897].

4. Decker v. Patton, 20 Ill. App. 210 [affirmed in 120 Ill. 464, 11 N. E. 897]. See also Hamilton v. Taylor, 2 Cinc. Super. Ct. 402.

5. Colbert v. Daniel, 32 Ala. 314; Julian v. Reynolds, 8 Ala. 680. See also Newark Sav. Inst. v. Jones, 35 N. J. Eq. 406.

6. Gulick v. Gulick, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 92.

7. Newark Sav. Inst. v. Jones, 35 N. J. Eq. 406.

8. Accounting generally see supra, XV.

9. Iowa.— Snyder v. Hochstetler, 88 Iowa 621, 55 N. W. 573.

Massachusetts.— Fay v. Haven, 3 Metc. 109.

Michigan.— Woodruff v. Young, 43 Mich. 548, 6 N. W. 85.

New Jersey.— Brownlee v. Lockwood, 20 N. J. Eq. 239; Banta v. Moore, 15 N. J. Eq. 97.

New York.— Kohler v. Knapp, 1 Bradf. Surr. 241.

Tennessee.— Beeler v. Dunn, 3 Head 87, 75 Am. Dec. 761.

West Virginia.— Oney v. Ferguson, 41 W. Va. 568, 23 S. E. 710.

United States.— Lewis v. Parrish, 115 Fed. 285, 53 C. C. A. 77.

Canada.—Jessup v. Simpson, 14 U. C. Q. B. 213.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2350 et seq.

10. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am. Rep. 344; Hubbard v. Hinkley, 1 Root (Conn.) 413; Lewis v. Grognard, 17 N. J. Eq. 425.

Where same person is ancillary and domiciliary representative see infra, XVI, I, 3.

11. Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 193; Coley's Estate, 14 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 461; Gray's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 256, 11 Atl. 66, 70; Hooper v. Hooper, 29 W. Va. 276, 1 S. E. 280; Pratt v. Northam, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,376, 5 Mason 95. See also McNamara v. McNamara, 62 Ga. 200.

12. Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 193; Coley's Estate, 14 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 461.

13. Mylin's Estate, 18 Phila. (Pa.) 65; Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 84.

so that he sent the assets collected by him to the representative of the domicile and that they were there accounted for.[14]

3. Where Same Person Is Ancillary and Domiciliary Representative — a. How Accounts Rendered. Where the same person is both principal and ancillary representative he must account for his ancillary administration in the jurisdiction of the ancillary appointment,[15] and must also render a general accounting at the domicile.[16] The assets belonging to each jurisdiction are to be separately accounted for,[17] and the representative cannot be compelled to account in the ancillary jurisdiction for assets of the domicile,[18] or at the domicile for assets of the ancillary jurisdiction,[19] although assets which he has collected in some other jurisdiction where no administration was granted should be accounted for at the domicile.[20]

b. Conclusiveness of Different Accountings. Where accountings are had in different jurisdictions the judgment on the accounting in one jurisdiction is conclusive upon the courts of the other as to all matters adjudicated which were within the jurisdiction of the court,[21] but in so far as one settlement includes assets belonging to the other jurisdiction the judgment is not conclusive,[22] and will not relieve the representative from accounting for such assets where they properly belong.[23] If in one settlement the representative through mistake charges himself with assets which he did not in fact receive he may be allowed credit therefor on his other settlement.[24]

XVII. Liability on Administration Bonds.[1]

A. Nature and Extent of Liability — 1. In General. Where an administration bond is given with sureties, the principal and sureties are equally and primarily liable in case of a breach of its conditions.[2] The obligation of the sureties, however, rests solely in contract and they cannot be held liable contrary to or

Where same person is ancillary and domiciliary representative see infra, XVI, I, 3.

14. Mylin's Estate, 18 Phila. (Pa.) 65; Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 84.

If there are no creditors in the ancillary jurisdiction the assets may be paid over to the representative of the domicile and if there accounted for the ancillary representative will not be required to account. Thomas' Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 385.

15. Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 77; Duffy v. Smith, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 202 (holding that he cannot relieve himself of this duty by accounting for his whole administration at the domicile); In re Crawford, 68 Ohio St. 58, 67 N. E. 156, 96 Am. St. Rep. 648 [affirming 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 554, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 605]; Porter v. Heydock, 6 Vt. 374.

The pendency of proceedings at the domicile for an accounting there is no bar to requiring an ancillary accounting as the accountings affect different assets. Parker's Estate, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 369; Jennison v. Hapgood, 2 Aik. (Vt.) 31.

16. Clark v. Blackington, 110 Mass. 369; In re Crawford, 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 554, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 605.

Any residue remaining in the representative's hands after the ancillary accounting must be accounted for at the domicile. Clark v. Blackington, 110 Mass. 369; Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 77.

17. Lewis v. Grognard, 17 N. J. Eq. 425; Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 193; Baldwin's Appeal, 81 Pa. St. 441. See also Hubbard v. Hinkley, 1 Root (Conn.) 413.

18. Fay v. Haven, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 109; Boston v. Boylston, 2 Mass. 384; Hamilton v. Carrington, 41 S. C. 385, 19 S. E. 616.

19. Lewis v. Grognard, 17 N. J. Eq. 425. See also Rizer's Estate, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 563. Compare In re Stokely, 19 Pa. St. 476; Cureton v. Mills, 13 S. C. 409, 36 Am. Rep. 700.

20. Tunnicliffe v. Fox, (Nebr. 1903) 94 N. W. 1032.

21. Clark v. Blackington, 110 Mass. 369; Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 77; In re Crawford, 68 Ohio St. 58, 67 N. E. 156, 96 Am. St. Rep. 648 [affirming 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 554, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 605].

22. Clark v. Blackington, 110 Mass. 369; Duffy v. Smith, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 202.

23. Baldwin's Appeal, 81 Pa. St. 441.

24. Jones v. Warren, 70 Miss. 227, 14 So. 25.

1. As to necessity and furnishing of bond see supra, II, J.

2. Connecticut.— Wattles v. Hyde, 9 Conn. 10.

Kentucky.— Hobbs v. Middleton, 1 J. J. Marsh. 176.

Massachusetts.— Bassett v. Maryland Fidelity, etc., Co., 184 Mass. 210, 68 N. E. 205, 100 Am. St. Rep. 552.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Sulloway, 68 N. H. 511, 44 Atl. 720, 73 Am. St. Rep. 619, 49 L. R. A. 347.

New York.— Deobold v. Opperman, 111 N. Y. 531, 19 N. E. 94, 7 Am. St. Rep. 760, beyond the condition of the bond.[3] So a bond which omits some condition required by statute, although it will be binding in equity upon the principal,[4] is not binding upon the sureties as to the omitted condition.[5] The omission of a condition required by statute does not, however, affect the liability of the sureties as to the other conditions properly included.[6] The sureties are in general jointly and severally liable in solido to those interested in the estate.[7] The bond must, to be binding, have a sufficient consideration.[8]

2. Liability as Affected by Sufficiency of Assets. Under the usual tenor of an administration bond, the principal and his sureties are only bound to pay creditors, legatees, or heirs, according to assets which come to hand and the resources which arise in the course of an honest, prudent, and well advised administration.[9] But the bond to pay all debts and legacies sometimes given by an executor who is the residuary legatee[10] renders the executor and his sureties absolutely liable

2 L. R. A. 644; Beckett v. Place, 12 Misc. 323, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 634.

Oklahoma.—Greer v. McNeal, 11 Okla. 526, 519, 69 Pac. 893, 891.

United States.— Stovall v. Banks, 10 Wall. 583, 19 L. ed. 1036.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2355.

Until the principal fails in the performance of a duty required of him by law the liability of the sureties is contingent, but it becomes absolute upon such failure. McDowell v. Jones, 58 Ala. 25.

Bond taken contrary to testator's request. — If the court ignores a request of the testator that security be required only for the payment of a particular legacy, and takes a bond in the usual form, it will be binding accordingly and the sureties will be liable for the faithful discharge of all the duties of the executor. Sharpe v. Rockwood, 78 Va. 24.

Fixing a devastavit on the administrator does not release him from the obligation of his official bond. It only establishes his accountability more clearly and makes it personal as well as fiducial. Hobbs v. Middleton, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 176.

3. Georgia.— Webster v. Thompson, 55 Ga. 431.

Illinois.— People v. Huffman, 182 Ill. 390, 55 N. E. 981 [reversing 78 Ill. App. 345]; Salomon v. People, 89 Ill. App. 374.

Indiana.— State v. Hood, 7 Blackf. 127.

Kentucky.— Carr v. Bob, 7 Dana 417; Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. 195; Barbour v. Robertson, 1 Litt. 93.

Louisiana.— Chretien v. Bienvenu, 41 La. Ann. 728, 6 So. 553.

Maryland.— Edes v. Garey, 46 Md. 24; Waters v. Riley, 2 Harr. & G. 305, 18 Am. Dec. 302.

Michigan.—Grady v. Hughes, 80 Mich. 184, 44 N. W. 1050.

Ohio.— State v. Cutting, 2 Ohio St. 1; McGovney v. State, 20 Ohio 93; Murphy v. Dorsey, 23 Ohio Cir. Ct. 157.

South Carolina.— Kennedy v. Adickes, 37 S. C. 174, 15 S. E. 922.

West Virginia.— Hooper v. Hooper, 32 W. Va. 526, 9 S. E. 937.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2355.

The nature of the sureties' liability is fixed by the terms of the bond and not by the remedies which may be pursued for its enforcement. McDowell v. Jones, 58 Ala. 25.

The liability of the sureties cannot be changed into another and different one from that expressed in the bond by any act of the other parties in interest. Webster v. Thompson, 55 Ga. 431; Weir v. People, 78 Ill. 192.

Presumption as to condition.— In the absence of contrary evidence, it will be presumed that the bond of an executor was in the usual form, conditioned "for the faithful discharge by him of the duties of his trust." Reherd v. Long, 77 Va. 839.

A bond conditioned to "obey all orders of the surrogate" touching the administration of the estate is more than a mere bond of indemnity and a right of action accrues against the sureties immediately on the refusal of the principal to comply with such an order. Baggott v. Boulger, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 160.

Where new or additional duties are required of a public administrator by a statute passed after the execution of his bond the sureties are not liable for the performance of such new duties. State v. Cheaney, 52 Mo. App. 258.

The sureties are under no obligation to render an account and before they can be held liable on their bond the liability of the principal must first be ascertained and established. Cadwallader v. Longley, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 497, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 756.

4. Baltzell v. Hall, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 97.

5. Baltzell v. Hall, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 97; Barbour v. Robertson, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 93; Small v. Com., 8 Pa. St. 101.

6. Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 195.

7. Ball v. Hodge, 11 Rob. (La.) 390; Brown v. Gunning, 19 La. 462.

8. Tate v. Gate, 35 Ark. 289; Pierce v. Wallace, 48 Tex. 399.

9. State v. Cutting, 2 Ohio St. 1. See also Allen v. Graffius, 8 Watts (Pa.) 397.

10. See Kreamer v. Kreamer, 52 Kan. 597, 35 Pac. 214; Lafferty v. People's Sav. Bank, 76 Mich. 35, 43 N. W. 34; Hatheway v. Weeks, 34 Mich. 237; Probate Ct. v. Matthews, 6 Vt. 269. And see supra, II, J, 1, a, (II), (B).

for such payment to the extent of the penalty, regardless of the amount or value of the estate.[11]

3. Effect of Statutory Penalty. The usual effect of a statutory penalty is to add to the legal liability of the executor or administrator for maladministration, and not to exclude indemnity by action on the bond itself.[12]

4. Effect of Irregular or Invalid Issuance of Letters. The fact that the issuance of the letters of administration was irregular or invalid does not as a rule affect the liability of either principal or sureties on the administration bond.[13]

5. Execution Induced by Fraud or Misrepresentation. The liability of the sureties on an administration bond is not affected by the fact that they were induced to sign the bond through the fraud or misrepresentation of the principal, of which the beneficiaries of the estate in whose interest the liability is sought to be enforced are innocent;[14] but they will not be liable as to any beneficiary who participated in the fraud.[15]

6. Bonds of Co-Representatives. Where co-executors or co-administrators unite in giving the same bond, they are jointly and severally liable, not only each as principal for his own acts, but also each as surety for the acts of his co-representative,[16] unless the bond itself shows that they did not intend to become so

11. Kreamer v. Kreamer, 52 Kan. 597, 35 Pac. 214; State v. Nicols, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 27; State v. Snowden, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 430; Stebbins v. Smith, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 97; Hatheway v. Weeks, 34 Mich. 237.

The signing of such a bond is an estoppel to deny a sufficiency of assets. Stebbins v. Smith, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 97. See also Hatheway v. Weeks, 34 Mich. 237.

12. State v. French, 60 Conn. 478, 23 Atl. 153; Beall v. Territory, 1 N. M. 507.

13. Mitchell v. Hecker, 59 Cal. 558; McChord v. Fisher, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 193 (bond upheld as common-law bond); Foster v. Com., 35 Pa. St. 148; Zeigler v. Sprenkle, 7 Watts & S. (Pa.) 175; State v. Anderson, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 321.

Where administration is fraudulently procured upon the estate of a person who is not dead, the sureties on the bond are liable for the acts of the administrator. Williams v. Kiernan, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 355.

Where a will is produced after administration is granted, or a will on which letters issued is afterward set aside, the sureties are liable with their principal. Jones v. Jones, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 464; Hunt v. Hamilton, 9 Dana (Ky.) 90; Gibson v. Beckham, 16 Gratt. (Va.) 321.

14. Georgia.— Brown v. Davenport, 76 Ga. 799.

Kentucky.— Sebastian v. Johnson, 2 Duv. 101.

Massachusetts.— Fuller v. Dupont, 183 Mass. 596, 67 N. E. 662.

New York.— Casoni v. Jerome, 58 N. Y. 315.

Ohio.— McGaughey v. Jacoby, 54 Ohio St. 487, 44 N. E. 231.

Pennsylvania.— Dayton's Estate, 4 Kulp 451.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2360.

15. Campbell v. Johnson, 41 Ohio St. 588.

16. Alabama.— Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Little v. Knox, 15 Ala. 576, 50 Am. Dec. 145.

Connecticut.— Babcock v. Hubbard, 2 Conn. 536.

Kentucky.— Collins v. Carlisle, 7 B. Mon. 13; Anderson v. Miller, 6 J. J. Marsh. 568.

Maryland.— Clarke v. State, 6 Gill & J. 288, 26 Am. Dec. 576.

Massachusetts.— Ames v. Armstrong, 106 Mass. 15. See also Bassett v. Granger, 136 Mass. 174.

Mississippi.— Jeffries v. Lawson, 39 Miss. 791.

New Hampshire.— Newton v. Newton, 53 N. H. 537.

North Carolina.— State v. Hyman, 72 N. C. 22.

Ohio.— Seymour v. Stone, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 648, 4 West. L. Month. 323 [overruling Channel v. Stone, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 475, 3 West. L. Month. 205], joint and several bond.

Pennsylvania.— Boyd v. Boyd, 1 Watts 365.

South Carolina.— Lucas v. Curry, 2 Bailey 403; Wilks v. Davis, Rich. Eq. Cas. 390.

Tennessee.— Jamison v. Lillard, 12 Lea 690; Fulton v. Davidson, 3 Heisk. 614; Hughlett v. Hughlett, 5 Humphr. 453.

Vermont.— Essex Dist. Prob. Ct. v. May, 52 Vt. 182; Sparhawk v. Buell, 9 Vt. 41.

Virginia.— Caskie v. Harrison, 76 Va. 85; Boyd v. Boyd, 3 Gratt. 113; Morrow v. Peyton, 8 Leigh 54.

West Virginia.— Hooper v. Hooper, 29 W. Va. 276, 1 S. E. 280.

United States.— Lidderdale v. Robinson, 12 Wheat. 594, 6 L. ed. 740 [affirming 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,337, 2 Brock. 159]; Green v. Hanberry, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,759, 2 Brock. 403.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 509, 510, 2364, 2365; and infra, XXI, B, 2.

Even when the will exempts executors from giving sureties on their bonds, if they execute a joint and several bond they are liable bound.[17] Where, however, they give separate bonds, they are separately and not jointly liable.[18]

7. SUCCESSIVE OR ADDITIONAL BONDS. Where an executor or administrator is required to give a new or additional bond the new bond ordinarily relates back and the sureties thereon become liable for breaches of condition prior to its execution,[19] the two sets of sureties being considered as parties to a common undertaking with reciprocal rights of contribution.[20]

8. PUBLIC OFFICER'S BOND. The general bond of a public administrator renders the sureties thereon responsible for the faithful discharge of his duties in administering each and all of the estates which may be committed to him as public administrator,[21] and when a sheriff or other public officer acts ex officio as a public administrator, the sureties on his official bond are liable for all of his acts as administrator.[22] This is true even where a special administration bond has been required;[23] and the liability continues until the officer has been discharged as administrator, notwithstanding the fact that his original term of office has expired.[24] each for the other's acts. Ames v. Armstrong, 106 Mass. 15.

Where one of the co-executors or co-administrators dies, the suretyship continues in force, on such a bond, as to acts of the survivor, unless proper steps are taken to have the bond made inoperative for future defaults. Stephens v. Taylor, 62 Ala. 269; Lancaster v. Lewis, 93 Ga. 727, 21 S. E. 155; Dobyns v. McGovern, 15 Mo. 662. Compare Brazier v. Clark, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 96.

Where one of two joint administrators is discharged by order of court he is not liable on their joint bond for a subsequent default of the other administrator. Com. v. Smith, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 270.

The executors are jointly liable as principals to indemnify a surety on the bond for a loss occasioned through the default of one of them. Dobyns v. McGovern, 15 Mo. 662.

In Indiana and New York it is held that where co-representatives execute a joint bond it is in effect the same as if each had given a separate bond with the same sureties and they are jointly liable only for joint acts, neither being a surety for the separate acts of the other (State v. Wyant, 67 Ind. 25 [overruling Moore v. State, 49 Ind. 558; Braxton v. State, 25 Ind. 82]; Nanz v. Oakley, 120 N. Y. 84, 24 N. E. 306, 9 L. R. A. 223 [reversing 37 Hun 495]).

17. Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227; Elliott v. Mayfield, 4 Ala. 417.

18. McKim v. Aulbach, 130 Mass. 481, 39 Am. St. Rep. 470. See also Hughlett v. Hughlett, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 453.

19. Arkansas.— Dugger v. Wright, 51 Ark. 232, 11 S. W. 213, 14 Am. St. Rep. 48.

California.— Lacaste v. Splivalo, 64 Cal. 35, 30 Pac. 571.

Kansas.— Brown v. State, 23 Kan. 235.

Missouri.— Wolff v. Schaeffer, 74 Mo. 154.

North Carolina.— Pickens v. Miller, 83 N. C. 543.

Ohio.— Corrigan v. Foster, 51 Ohio St. 225, 37 N. E. 263.

Virginia.— Lingle v. Cook, 32 Gratt. 262.

West Virginia.— Perry v. Campbell, 10 W. Va. 228.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2368; and infra, XVII, B, 2.

It is not necessary to exhaust the first bond before having recourse to the second. Pinkstaff v. People, 59 Ill. 148. Compare Lane v. State, 24 Ind. 421.

20. Dugger v. Wright, 51 Ark. 232, 11 S. W. 213, 14 Am. St. Rep. 48; State v. Fields, 53 Mo. 474. Compare Corrigan v. Foster, 51 Ohio St. 225, 37 N. E. 263 (holding that the sureties on the first bond are primarily liable for a devastavit committed before the execution of the second bond); Bobo v. Vaiden, 20 S. C. 271 (holding that as between the two sets of sureties those on the second bond are primarily liable).

Discharge of original sureties by giving of new bond see infra, XVII, D, 6.

Where an additional bond is given specially for the sale of real estate, it has been held that the liability on the second bond is subsidiary to the original and that no action can be maintained thereon until the penalty of the original bond is exhausted and that securities on the original bond are not entitled to contribution (Salyers v. Ross, 15 Ind. 130); but it has also been asserted that the two sets of sureties assume a common burden with mutual rights of contribution (Powell v. Powell, 48 Cal. 234).

21. Olsen v. Rich, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 257. See also State v. Purdy, 67 Mo. 89.

In Alabama the sureties on the bond of a general administrator under the act of 1859, relating to public administrators in Mobile county, were liable only as to estates committed to him during the term for which the bond was given, although the same person was reappointed; but this rule did not apply to bonds given under the code of 1876. Buckley v. McGuire, 58 Ala. 226.

22. Governor v. Gantt, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 388; Williams v. Collins, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 58.

Extent of liability.— The liability of the sureties is limited by the law regulating the duties of ordinary administrators and applies only to such assets as he might rightfully receive as administrator. Heeter v. Jewell, 6 Bush (Ky.) 510.

23. Burnett v. Nesmith, 62 Ala. 261; State v. Watts, 23 Ark. 304.

24. State v. Watts, 23 Ark. 304; Dabney v. Smith, 5 Leigh (Va.) 13.

But when administration does not devolve upon the officer by virtue of his office, but is granted to him as an individual, the sureties on his official bond are not liable.[25]

9. Estoppel. Sureties who voluntarily sign an administration bond and on the faith of whose security persons interested in the estate have relied and acted will be estopped to set up any defect or irregularity in the proceedings as a defense to their liability,[26] and they will also be estopped as against such persons from setting up any private agreement between themselves and the principal limiting or qualifying the nature of their liability.[27] Conversely a beneficiary or creditor of the estate may by his conduct estop himself from enforcing any liability against the sureties.[28]

10. Indemnity to Sureties. In some jurisdictions it is provided by statute that, where a surety on an administration bond is in danger of loss on account of his suretyship, the principal may be required to furnish counter security for his protection,[29] and in case such security is not furnished the court may remove the executor or administrator from office,[30] or order the property delivered up to the surety.[31] In the absence of such provision an executor or administrator cannot be required to furnish counter security unless it has been contracted for,[32]

25. McNeil v. Smith, 55 Ga. 313.

26. Mundorff v. Wangler, 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 495; Field v. Van Cott, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 308; State v. Anderson, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 321; Franklin v. Depriest, 13 Gratt. (Va.) 257. See also Bloomfield v. Ash, 4 N. J. L. 314.

Where one's name has been signed as surety without his authority and after being informed of the fact he does not object, he cannot, after the administrator has committed waste, deny his liability. State v. Hill, 50 Ark. 458, 8 S. W. 401.

If all named as sureties in the bond do not sign the others may retract, but they must do so before the bond has been delivered and the judge, creditors, and administrator have acted on it. Bryan v. Austin, 10 La. Ann. 612; Canal, etc., Co. v. Brown, 4 La. Ann. 545.

27. Berkey v. Judd, 34 Minn. 393, 26 N. W. 5; Wolff v. Schaeffer, 74 Mo. 154.

28. See Diehl v. Miller, 56 Iowa 313, 9 N. W. 240; Thayer v. Finnegan, 134 Mass. 62, 45 Am. Rep. 285; McMillon v. McMillon, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 78.

A distributee who voluntarily accepts the individual obligation of the representative in payment of his distributive share is estopped, in case of its non-payment, to maintain an action on the bond. Riggin v. Creath, 60 Ohio St. 114, 53 N. E. 1100.

When no act or omission on the part of the sureties is induced by the failure of the legatees to object to the failure of an executrix to include certain property in the inventory the legatees are not estopped to claim that the property omitted was a part of the estate. Murray v. Kluck, 87 Wis. 566, 59 N. W. 137.

29. District of Columbia.— McKnight's Estate, 1 App. Cas. 28.

Georgia.— Girardey v. Dougherty, 18 Ga. 259, the court may grant relief "by counter security or otherwise"— as shall seem just and equitable.

Kentucky.— Roope v. Rodes, 7 B. Mon. 109; Caldwell v. Hedges, 2 J. J. Marsh. 485; Horseley v. Hopkins, 2 J. J. Marsh. 53.

Maryland.— March v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 79 Md. 309, 29 Atl. 521; Sifford v. Morrison, 63 Md. 14 (holding the statute providing that the court "may" require counter security to be imperative); Brown v. Murdock, 16 Md. 521. See also Wright v. Williams, 93 Md. 66, 48 Atl. 397.

Mississippi.— Russell v. McDougall, 3 Sm. & M. 234.

North Carolina.— Governor v. Gowan, 25 N. C. 342.

Pennsylvania.— Mullin's Estate, 15 Phila. 613; Seitzinger's Estate, 2 Woodw. 223; Vogt's Estate, 10 Lanc. Bar 71.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2373.

Where duties are omitted at the suggestion of the sureties, they are not entitled to counter security as a protection against liability for such omissions. Mullin's Estate, 15 Phila. (Pa.) 613.

Additional security may if necessary be demanded by sureties who have once obtained counter security, and the counter security may also demand counter security of the executor or administrator. Caldwell v. Hedges, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 485.

30. Roope v. Rodes, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 109.

31. McKnight's Estate, 1 App. Cas. (D. C.) 28; Combs v. Church, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 330.

The surety does not become administrator when the property is delivered into his hands, but he becomes responsible for its safe-keeping. Combs v. Church, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 330.

In case of misconduct of the surety after the property is delivered to him by which a loss is sustained by the principal the remedy of the latter is an action on the case for the damage sustained. Scott v. Burch, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 67.

32. Delaney v. Tipton, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 14.

although he may do so voluntarily, in which case, however, the bond affords no greater protection than its conditions import.[33]

B. Property Covered — 1. In General. The sureties on the bond of an executor or administrator are responsible only for what might properly come into his hands as assets,[34] which as a general rule includes only such assets as have actually come into his possession or which he could have collected by the exercise of due diligence.[35] But for all property collected and not accounted for, or not collected for want of due diligence, the bond is liable,[36] and this liability is not affected by the fact that assets to the amount of the penalty of the bond have been accounted for.[37]

2. Property Received or Converted Before Execution of Bond. The sureties are liable for assets of the estate which their principal has received before as well as after the execution of the bond, in case of the principal's conversion or maladministration in respect of such assets or failure to render due account thereof.[38]

3. Debts of Representative to Estate. A debt due to the estate from an executor or administrator becomes assets of the estate[39] and is covered by the administration bond;[40] and in some jurisdictions it is held that the sureties on the

33. See Boyle v. Boyle, 106 N. Y. 654, 12 N. E. 709, holding that a voluntary counter indemnity bond for "any loss or expense — by reason of their suretyship" does not cover expenses voluntarily incurred by the sureties in seeking to be relieved from their suretyship.

Where one of two joint administrators voluntarily gives a mortgage to the sureties on his bond for their protection, it will be construed as relating only to misconduct on the part of that administrator. Potter v. Webb, 6 Me. 14.

34. Jackson v. Wilson, 117 Ala. 432, 23 So. 521; Heeter v. Jewell, 6 Bush (Ky.) 510; Brown v. Glascock, 1 Rob. (Va.) 461. See also Miller v. Gee, 4 Ala. 359.

The fact that the representative improperly charges himself with property not properly receivable by him as assets of the estate will not render the sureties liable. People v. Petrie, 191 Ill. 497, 61 N. E. 499, 85 Am. St. Rep. 268 [affirming 94 Ill. App. 632].

Money recovered by an administrator as damages for injuries resulting in the death of the intestate is assets of the estate for which the sureties on the bond are liable. Goltra v. People, 53 Ill. 224; Glass v. Howell, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 50.

Where an administrator is released from paying a debt of the decedent by the statute of limitations the law does not donate to him assets equal to the amount of the debt, but other creditors or distributees are entitled to receive that much more, for the payment of which the sureties on the bond are liable. Smith v. Morgan, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 829.

35. Wright v. Lang, 66 Ala. 389.

Debts of representative to estate see infra, XVII, B, 3.

36. Choate v. Arrington, 116 Mass. 552; Chouteau v. Hill, 2 Mo. 177; Beall v. Territory, 1 N. M. 507; Morton v. Ashbee, 46 N. C. 312.

37. Probate Judge v. Heydock, 8 N. H. 491.

38. Louisiana.— Goode v. Buford, 14 La. Ann. 102 [distinguishing Parmele v. Brashaer, 16 La. 72].

Massachusetts.— Choate v. Arrington, 116 Mass. 552; Dawes v. Edes, 13 Mass. 177.

Missouri.— State v. James, 82 Mo. 509; Sherwood v. Hill, 25 Mo. 391.

New York.— Scofield v. Churchill, 72 N. Y. 565; Schofield v. Hustis, 9 Hun 157. See also Gottsberger v. Taylor, 19 N. Y. 150.

Ohio.— Foster v. Wise, 46 Ohio St. 20, 16 N. E. 687, 15 Am. St. Rep. 542.

Oklahoma.— Greer v. McNeal, 11 Okla. 519, 526, 69 Pac. 891, 893.

Oregon.— Bellinger v. Thompson, 26 Oreg. 320, 37 Pac. 714, 40 Pac. 229.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2377.

Compare State v. Hood, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 127.

Where a public administrator succeeds himself and gives a new bond the second bond covers liabilities for misappropriation of funds during its life, although the funds came into his hands during the life of his former bond. State v. Holman, 93 Mo. App. 611, 67 S. W. 747.

Liability of sureties on new or additional bond for acts of principal prior to its execution see supra, XVII, A, 7.

39. See infra, III, B, 5, b.

40. Alabama.— Wright v. Lang, 66 Ala. 389.

California.— Treweek v. Howard, 105 Cal. 434, 39 Pac. 20.

Indiana.— State v. Gregory, 119 Ind. 503, 22 N. E. 1.

Maryland.— Lambrecht v. State, 57 Md. 240. See also Kealhofer v. Emmert, 79 Md. 248, 29 Atl. 68.

Massachusetts.— Chapin v. Waters, 110 Mass. 195; Winship v. Bass, 12 Mass. 199.

Missouri.— Wilson v. Ruthrauff, 82 Mo. App. 435.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Sulloway, 68 N. H. 511, 44 Atl. 720, 73 Am. St. Rep. 619, 49 L. R. A. 347.

bond are liable for the payment of the debt without regard to the principal's solvency or ability to pay.[41] In others it is held that the liability of the sureties is the same as with regard to the debts of other persons,[42] and that they are not liable where the executor or administrator is at all times insolvent and unable to pay.[43] If, however, the executor or administrator, while solvent, fails to pay, the sureties will be liable in case he subsequently becomes insolvent.[44]

4. Property of Estate Purchased by Representative.[45] If an executor or administrator becomes a purchaser at his own sale, the sureties on his official bond will be liable for the value of the property purchased,[46] notwithstanding the unauthorized purchase is ratified by the heirs.[47]

5. Property Not Assets of Estate. According to the weight of authority, where an executor or administrator receives property to which he is not legally entitled in the discharge of his duties as personal representative, his administra-

New Jersey.— Ordinary v. Kershaw, 14 N. J. Eq. 527; Harker v. Irick, 10 N. J. Eq. 269.

New York.— Baucus v. Barr, 45 Hun 582 [affirmed in 107 N. Y. 624, 13 N. E. 939]; Keegan v. Smith, 33 Misc. 74, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 281 [reversing 31 Misc. 651, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 1117]; Keegan v. Smith, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 826.

Ohio.— James v. West, 67 Ohio St. 28, 65 N. E. 156 (holding that there is no difference between debts of administrators and debts of executors as to the liability of the sureties); McGaughey v. Jacoby, 54 Ohio St. 487, 44 N. E. 231; Campbell v. Johnson, 41 Ohio St. 588; McCoy v. Allen, 9 Ohio Cir. Ct. 607, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 659; Perkins v. Scott, 9 Ohio Cir. Ct. 207, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 226.

Pennsylvania.— Piper's Estate, 15 Pa. St. 533.

Tennessee.— Spurlock v. Earles, 8 Baxt. 437.

Virginia.— Edmunds v. Scott, 78 Va. 720.

United States.— Wilson v. Rose, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,831, 3 Cranch C. C. 371; U. S. v. Rose, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,193, 2 Cranch C. C. 567.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2386.

If the surety of a defaulting representative is made his successor, the surety's indebtedness on the bond is assets in his hands, with which he and his own sureties are chargeable, although the amount has not been fixed by account or by judgment or by a charge made by himself. Choate v. Thorndike, 138 Mass. 371.

41. Alabama.— Wright v. Lang, 66 Ala. 389.

Maryland.— Lambrecht v. State, 57 Md. 240.

Massachusetts.— Bassett v. Maryland Fidelity, etc., Co., 184 Mass. 210, 68 N. E. 205, 100 Am. St. Rep. 552, holding that where an executor is a member of a firm which is indebted to the estate the sureties are liable for the debt, notwithstanding the firm and the executor were insolvent at the time of the testator's death.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Sulloway, 68 N. H. 511, 44 Atl. 720, 73 Am. St. Rep. 619, 49 L. R. A. 347.

Ohio.— McGaughey v. Jacoby, 54 Ohio St. 487, 44 N. E. 231; Perkins v. Scott, 9 Ohio Cir. Ct. 207, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 226. Contra, McCoy v. Allen, 9 Ohio Cir. Ct. 607, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 659.

South Carolina.— Twitty v. Houser, 7 S. C. 153.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2386.

42. McCarty v. Frazer, 62 Mo. 263; Wilson v. Ruthrauff, 82 Mo. App. 435; Rader v. Yeargin, 85 Tenn. 486, 3 S. W. 178; Spurlock v. Earles, 8 Baxt. (Tenn.) 437; Lyon v. Osgood, 58 Vt. 707, 7 Atl. 5.

43. California.— Sanchez v. Forster, 133 Cal. 614, 65 Pac. 1077 [distinguishing Treweek v. Howard, 105 Cal. 434, 39 Pac. 20].

Indiana.— State v. Gregory, 119 Ind. 503, 22 N. E. 1.

Missouri.— McCarty v. Frazer, 62 Mo. 263.

New Jersey.— Harker v. Irick, 10 N. J. Eq. 269.

New York.— Keegan v. Smith, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 826; Baucus v. Barr, 45 Hun 582 [affirmed in 107 N. Y. 624, 13 N. E. 939]; Keegan v. Smith, 33 Misc. 74, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 281 [reversing 31 Misc. 651, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 1117].

Pennsylvania.— In re Piper, 15 Pa. St. 533; Garber v. Com., 7 Pa. St. 265.

Vermont.— Lyon v. Osgood, 58 Vt. 707, 7 Atl. 5.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2386.

Although an insolvent executor treats his own debt as available assets in his accounting and the probate court decrees distribution accordingly, a court of equity will grant the surety relief. Lyon v. Osgood, 58 Vt. 707, 7 Atl. 5.

44. Harker v. Irick, 10 N. J. Eq. 269; Rader v. Yeargin, 85 Tenn. 486, 3 S. W. 178.

If an administrator is able to pay a debt due by him to the estate and does not do so the sureties on his bond are liable, although his property was not subject to legal process and he was thereby insolvent. Gay v. Grant, 101 N. C. 206, 8 S. E. 99, 106.

45. Right of representative to purchase at sale of property of the estate see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (VI), (B); VIII, P, 2, f, (I); XII, M, 4.

46. Todd v. Sparks, 10 La. Ann. 668; Gay v. Grant, 101 N. C. 206, 8 S. E. 99, 106.

47. Todd v. Sparks, 10 La. Ann. 668.

tion bond does not cover such property and his sureties are not liable in respect to it.[48]

6. Foreign Assets. The liability of the sureties on an executor's or administrator's bond is limited to such assets as rightfully come or ought to have come into his hands in the state of his appointment.[49] Therefore, while as to all assets which he has a right to receive and does receive, although coming from a foreign jurisdiction, the sureties on the bond will be liable,[50] they will not be liable for such assets which he receives without lawful authority.[51]

7. Equitable Assets.[52] It has been asserted that as the obligation imposed by the bond of an executor or administrator is altogether legal, the sureties cannot be liable for any other breach than that of the legal duties embraced by the condition of the bond, and that hence the sureties are not liable for equitable assets coming into the hands of the representative;[53] but this rule has been practically abrogated by statutes requiring administration bonds to embrace all the duties and powers of the representative,[54] and it is further to be noted that as, at least in the United States, the distinction between legal and equitable assets is rarely enforced,[55] the doctrine under consideration has but little practical importance.

8. Proceeds of Sale of Realty — a. In General. The liability of sureties on the general bond of an executor or administrator for the proceeds of the sale of real estate that have come into his hands is governed by the conditions of the bond.[56] In some jurisdictions it is held that the ordinary conditions cover the proper administration of such proceeds,[57] and that if a special bond be required it

48. Florida.— Pace v. Pace, 19 Fla. 438.

Georgia.— Johnson v. Hall, 101 Ga. 687, 29 S. E. 37.

Illinois.— People v. Petrie, 191 Ill. 497, 61 N. E. 499, 85 Am. St. Rep. 268 [affirming 94 Ill. App. 652].

Kentucky.—Warfield v. Brand, 13 Bush 77; Campbell v. Sacray, 44 S. W. 980, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1912.

Missouri.— Orrick v. Vahey, 49 Mo. 428.

Ohio.— Murphy v. Dorsey, 23 Ohio Cir. Ct. 157.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2378.

But compare Matter of Hobson, 61 Hun (N. Y.) 504, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 371 (where the representative had treated the property as assets); Clark v. Pence, 111 Tenn. 20, 76 S. W. 885.

The executor or administrator may become personally liable but not on his bond so as to affect the sureties. Morris v. Morris, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 814.

49. Fletcher v. Sanders, 7 Dana (Ky.) 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96; Governor v. Williams, 25 N. C. 152, 38 Am. Dec. 712.

50. Connecticut.— Strong v. White, 19 Conn. 238.

Florida.— Woodfin v. McNealy, 9 Fla. 256.

Kentucky.— Fletcher v. Sanders, 7 Dana 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Heydock, 8 N. H. 491.

Virginia.— Andrews v. Avery, 14 Gratt. 229, 73 Am. Dec. 355.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2389.

51. Fletcher v. Sanders, 7 Dana (Ky.) 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96; Smith v. Smyser, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 440; Cabanne v. Skinker, 56 Mo. 357; Snodgrass v. Snodgrass, 1 Baxt. (Tenn.) 157.

Domiciliary and ancillary administration.— The liabilities of sureties on the bonds of domiciliary and ancillary administrators vary according to the assets which the principals are lawfully entitled to receive (Fletcher v. Saunders, 7 Dana (Ky.) 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96; Governor v. Williams, 25 N. C. 152, 38 Am. Dec. 712), and the same rule applies to the sureties on the different bonds where the same person acts in both capacities (State v. Osborn, 71 Mo. 86; Probate Ct. v. Matthews, 6 Vt. 269).

52. See also infra, XVII, B, 8.

53. Heeter v. Jewell, 6 Bush (Ky.) 510; Speed v. Nelson, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 499; Clay v. Hart, 7 Dana (Ky.) 1; Barksdale v. Butler, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 450; Wall v. Allen, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 210; Hughlett v. Hughlett, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 453.

54. See Speed v. Nelson, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 499.

55. See supra, III, A, 2.

56. See Speed v. Nelson, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 499; Governor v. Chouteau, 1 Mo. 771; Com. v. Gilson, 8 Watts (Pa.) 214; Beales v. Com., 17 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 392.

57. Alabama.— Pettit v. Pettit, 32 Ala. 288; Clarke v. West, 5 Ala. 117.

California.—Evans v. Gerken, 105 Cal. 311, 38 Pac. 725.

Maryland.— Campbell v. State, 62 Md. 1. Contra, prior to the act of 1831. Cornish v. Willson, 6 Gill 299.

Missouri.— Lewis v. Carson, 93 Mo. 587, 3 S. W. 483, 6 S. W. 365; Governor v. Chouteau, 1 Mo. 771.

North Carolina.— Reaves v. Davis, 99 N. C. 425, 6 S. E. 715. See also Lafferty v. Young, 125 N. C. 296, 34 S. E. 444.

is to be regarded merely as additional security.[58] In others the sureties on the general bond are not liable,[59] and a special bond must be given to cover such proceeds as a distinct liability.[60]

b. Sale Under Testamentary Authority. The liability of sureties for the proper administration of the proceeds of real estate sold by an executor or administrator with the will annexed under a power or direction in the will is determined largely by the conditions of the bond and the law in force at the time of its execution.[61] There is, however, a conflict of authority on this subject not reconcilable by reason of the differences in the form of the bonds considered in the several cases.[62] In most jurisdictions it is held that the sureties on the original bond will be liable,[63] but in others it is held that they are not liable and Ohio.—Wade v. Graham, 4 Ohio 126; Campbell v. English, Wright 119; Buckwalter v. Klein, 5 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 55, 2 Am. L. Rec. 347; Kehnast v. Daum, 6 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 401, 4 Ohio N. P. 366.

Virginia.— See Reherd v. Long, 77 Va. 839. Contra, under earlier statute. Strother v. Hull, 23 Gratt. 652.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2381.

Money paid by devisees to prevent a sale of real property of the real estate for the payment of debts is assets of the estate for which the sureties on the bond are liable. Fay v. Taylor, 2 Gray (Mass.) 154.

Money received on appropriation for public use.— Where real estate which an administrator has levied on to satisfy a debt due the estate is taken for public use after the time for redemption by the judgment debtor has expired, the sureties are liable for the money received therefor by the administrator. Phillips v. Rogers, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 405.

58. Clarke v. West, 5 Ala. 117; Kehnast v. Daum, 6 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 401, 4 Ohio N. P. 366.

59. Illinois.— People v. Huffman, 182 Ill. 390, 55 N. E. 981 [reversing 78 Ill. App. 345].

Indiana.— Reno v. Tyson, 24 Ind. 56; Worgang v. Clipp, 21 Ind. 119, 83 Am. Dec. 343. Compare Sayler v. State, 5 Ind. 202.

Kentucky.— Speed v. Nelson, 8 B. Mon. 499; Stuart v. Hathaway, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 438.

Pennsylvania.— The rule is as stated in the text with respect to sales under order of court. Com. v. Hilgert, 55 Pa. St. 236; Com. v. Gilson, 8 Watts 214; Beales v. Com., 17 Serg. & R. 392; Com. v. Winters, 4 Wkly. Notes Cas. 346; Baldwin's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. 315. But as to sales under testamentary authority the rule is otherwise. See infra, note 63.

South Carolina.— Wiley v. Johnsey, 6 Rich. 355.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2381.

If an administrator makes an unauthorized sale of real property under an order of court for the sale of personalty, the proceeds are not rightfully in his hands as administrator and the sureties on his bond are not liable. Young v. People, 35 Ill. App. 363.

Where an administrator confesses judgment on which real estate of the intestate is sold for the payment of debts the sureties on the bond are not liable. Reed v. Com., 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 441.

60. People v. Huffman, 182 Ill. 390, 55 N. E. 981 [reversing 78 Ill. App. 345]; Worgang v. Clipp, 21 Ind. 119, 83 Am. Dec. 343; Com. v. Hilgert, 55 Pa. St. 236. And see supra, XII, I, 5.

61. See White v. Ditson, 140 Mass. 351, 4 N. E. 606, 54 Am. Rep. 473; Newport Probate Ct. v. Hazard, 13 R. I. 3; Reherd v. Long, 77 Va. 839.

If the devisees accept the proceeds of the sale and approve the action of the executor and there are no creditors, the sureties are not liable, without regard to the power of the executor to sell. Homes v. O'Conner, 9 Tex. Civ. App. 454, 29 S. W. 236.

62. People v. Huffman, 182 Ill. 390, 55 N. E. 981 [reversing 78 Ill. App. 345]; White v. Ditson, 140 Mass. 351, 4 N. E. 606, 54 Am. Rep. 473.

63. Dix v. Morris, 66 Mo. 514 [affirming 1 Mo. App. 93]; Hood v. Hood, 85 N. Y. 561 [reversing 19 Hun 300]; Shalter's Appeal, 43 Pa. St. 83, 82 Am. Dec. 552; Hartzell v. Com., 42 Pa. St. 453; Wetherill v. Com., 1 Pa. Cas. 22, 1 Atl. 185; Zeigler v. Sprenkle, 7 Watts & S. (Pa.) 175; Com. v. Forney, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 353.

In Virginia it was formerly held that the sureties were not liable for the proceeds of land sold by an executor under the will (Murphy v. Carter, 23 Gratt. 477; Burnett v. Harwell, 3 Leigh 89; Jones v. Hobson, 2 Rand. 483), but the law is now otherwise under the code provisions as to the form of bond to be given (Reherd v. Long, 77 Va. 839).

A distinction between an express direction and a discretionary power to sell has been made, it being held that in the latter case the sureties are not liable, although in the former they would be. Clay v. Hart, 7 Dana (Ky.) 1. But see Dix v. Morris, 66 Mo. 514 [affirming 1 Mo. App. 93]; Zeigler v. Sprenkle, 7 Watts & S. (Pa.) 175.

The bond is not liable for the proceeds of land sold in a foreign state under a power conferred by the will where the will was not probated in that state. Emmons v. Gordon, 140 Mo. 490, 41 S. W. 998, 62 Am. St. Rep. 734.

As to the proceeds of property not sold under the directions of the will the sureties are not liable. Reno v. Tyson, 24 Ind. 56.

that whenever real estate is to be sold by the personal representative a new bond should be given.[64]

9. Proceeds of Insurance. The proceeds of insurance on the life of the decedent is not ordinarily assets of the estate or properly receivable by the representative in his representative capacity, and if collected by him the sureties on the bond are not liable therefor,[65] nor are they liable for the proceeds of insurance on buildings of the estate.[66]

10. Income, Interest, Rents, and Profits. The sureties on a bond given by an executor or administrator are liable, like the principal himself, for the income and profits which may accrue during the period of administration upon property for which he becomes responsible.[67] Interest on assets, in the sense of accruing profit or income, and interest chargeable to the executor or administrator for use or misuse of the property in his hands, are usually covered by the administration bond, both as to principal and sureties.[68] As to rents and profits from real estate, if the executor or administrator is made accountable therefor by statute the sureties on the bond will be liable,[69] although this liability is not expressly set out in the bond;[70] and when real estate is devised to executors in trust to sell and invest the proceeds the sureties on the bond are liable for any rents collected from such property.[71] But in the absence of any such statutory or testamentary provision the rule in most jurisdictions is that, although the executor or administrator might be held personally liable to the heirs as trustee,[72] the sureties on his bond will not be liable,[73] and that whenever it becomes necessary for an

64. Newport Probate Ct. v. Hazard, 13 R. I. 3. See also White v. Ditson, 140 Mass. 351, 4 N. E. 606, 54 Am. Rep. 473; Robinson v. Millard, 133 Mass. 236.

Under a testamentary power to sell real estate for the purpose of reinvestment, the executor acts as a trustee and the sureties on his administration bond are not liable. People v. Huffman, 182 Ill. 390, 55 N. E. 981 [reversing 78 Ill. App. 345].

65. Pace v. Pace, 19 Fla. 438; People v. Petrie, 191 Ill. 497, 61 N. E. 499, 85 Am. St. Rep. 268 [affirming 94 Ill. App. 652]; Murphy v. Dorsey, 23 Ohio Cir. Ct. 157.

When rule does not apply.— The sureties are liable where the representative is charged with the duty of collecting and paying such proceeds to the persons entitled thereto, although the amount is by statute exempt from the payment of debts (Kelley v. Mann, 56 Iowa 625, 10 N. W. 211; State v. Anderson, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 321); or where the decedent has made the policy payable to his personal representative and he in his representative capacity has collected the proceeds (Conway v. Carter, (N. M. 1902) 68 Pac. 941).

66. Harrison v. Harrison, 4 Leigh (Va.) 371.

67. Sanford v. Gilman, 44 Conn. 461; Hood v. Hood, 85 N. Y. 561; Watson v. Whitten, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 224.

68. Sanford v. Gilman, 44 Conn. 461; Clay v. Hart, 7 Dana (Ky.) 1; Shalter's Appeal, 43 Pa. St. 83, 82 Am. Dec. 552; Strother v. Hull, 23 Gratt. (Va.) 652.

Where an administrator lends money for more than the legal rate of interest the sureties are accountable for the amount of interest actually received, but as to money used by himself they are chargeable only with the legal rate of interest. Clay v. Hart, 7 Dana (Ky.) 1.

An administrator's bond is liable for interest on balances as they become due, but not for interest on the aggregate sum of principal and interest found due on any former accounting. Chick v. Farr, 31 S. C. 463, 10 S. E. 176, 390.

69. State v. Waples, 5 Harr. (Del.) 257; Brooks v. Jackson, 125 Mass. 307.

The word "rents" in the bond required by the Kentucky statute applies to only such rents as at the decedent's death passed to his personal representative and not to his heirs, and does not render the sureties liable for rents collected under a lease made by an administrator after the decedent's death. Wilson v. Unselt, 12 Bush (Ky.) 215.

If the executor or administrator is removed from office, the sureties on the bond will not be liable for rents subsequently collected by him. Brooks v. Jackson, 125 Mass. 307.

70. State v. Waples, 5 Harr. (Del.) 257.

71. Hood v. Hood, 85 N. Y. 561 [reversing 19 Hun 300].

72. See Smith v. Bland, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 21.

73. Indiana.— State v. Barrett, 121 Ind. 92, 22 N. E. 969.

Kentucky.— Denton v. Crouch, 101 Ky. 386, 41 S. W. 277, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 588; Smith v. Bland, 7 B. Mon. 21; Oldham v. Collins, 4 J. J. Marsh. 49; Slaughter v. Froman, 2 T. B. Mon. 95; Campbell v. Sacray, 44 S. W. 980, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1912; Williams v. Walters, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 336.

New Hampshire.— Gregg v. Currier, 36 N. H. 200.

South Carolina.— Jennings v. Parr, 62 S. C. 306, 40 S. E. 683.

executor or administrator to collect or receive the rents from real estate a new bond must be given.[74]

11. Property Held in Some Other Capacity[75]— a. In General. As a rule the official bond of the executor or administrator is not construed to cover his responsibility with respect to property held by him in some other and distinct capacity.[76] Where an executor or administrator also occupies some other character with regard to the estate, such as guardian or trustee, it will be presumed that the property in his hands is held in that capacity in which he ought to receive it,[77] and upon the termination of his duties in one capacity the property is transferred by operation of law to his possession in the other so as to release the sureties on the bond in the former capacity from further liability.[78] It is in some cases difficult to say when the transfer of possession from one capacity to another takes place,[79] but it is well settled that where property has been received in one capacity the change, in order to shift the responsibility of the sureties, must be evidenced by some overt act or express election to hold the property in the other capacity.[80]

b. As Guardian. The sureties on the bond of an executor or administrator are not liable for property held by him in the capacity of guardian of one of the heirs or distributees of the estate.[81] Upon the termination of the representative's

Virginia.— Hutcherson v. Pigg, 8 Gratt. 220.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2387.

In Missouri, although ordinarily an executor or administrator has nothing to do with land except in case of a deficiency of assets, yet if he does in fact retain possession and collect rents his bond will be liable therefor. Dix v. Morris, 66 Mo. 514 [affirming 1 Mo. App. 93]; Gamble v. Gibson, 59 Mo. 585; Stong v. Wilkson, 14 Mo. 116.

For rents due the decedent at his death or collected on a contract made by him which passed into the hands of his personal representative, the sureties on the bond will be liable. Wilson v. Unselt, 12 Bush (Ky.) 215.

74. State v. Barrett, 121 Ind. 92, 22 N. E. 969.

75. See also infra, XVII, D, 8.

76. Connecticut.— Spencer v. Root, 2 Root 80.

Georgia.— Johnson v. Hall, 101 Ga. 687, 29 S. E. 37.

Illinois.— People v. Allen, 86 Ill. 166; Weir v. People, 78 Ill. 192.

Kentucky.—Shields v. Smith, 8 Bush 601; Clay v. Hart, 7 Dana 1; Flannery v. Givens, 52 S. W. 962, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 705.

Massachusetts.— Forbes v. Allen, 166 Mass. 569, 44 N. E. 1065; Brooks v. Jackson, 125 Mass. 307.

Missouri.— Fielder v. Rose, 61 Mo. App. 189, holding that where property is devised for life to the executor and he wastes the property after payment of the debts his bondsmen are not liable.

North Carolina.— Roper v. Burton, 107 N. C. 526, 12 S. E. 334; Fanshaw v. Fanshaw, 44 N. C. 166.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Miller, 1 Pittsb. 51.

Tennessee.— Pardue v. Barnes, 7 Heisk. 356; Fulton v. Davidson, 3 Heisk. 614; Reeves v. Steele, 2 Head 647.

Virginia.— Andrews v. Avory, 14 Gratt. 229, 73 Am. Dec. 355.

United States.— Norman v. Buckner, 135 U. S. 500, 10 S. Ct. 835, 34 L. ed. 252.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2390, 2391.

77. Kirby v. State, 51 Md. 383; State v. Cheston, 51 Md. 352; Seegar v. State, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 162, 14 Am. Dec. 265; Porter v. Moores, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 16.

78. State v. Cheston, 51 Md. 352; Watkins v. State, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 220; Seegar v. State, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 162, 14 Am. Dec. 265. See also Ennis v. Smith, 14 How. (U. S.) 400, 14 L. ed. 472.

This presumption is not conclusive but is subject to be rebutted. See Porter v. Moores, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 16.

79. Scituate Prob. Ct. v. Angell, 14 R. I. 495.

80. Perkins v. Moore, 16 Ala. 9; Joy v. Elton, 9 N. D. 428, 83 N. W. 875; Scituate Prob. Ct. v. Angell, 14 R. I. 495; Pratt v. Northam, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,376, 5 Mason 95.

All that is necessary to make the transfer where substantial assets are in the hands of the fiduciary, or he is solvent and able to pay over his indebtedness in the one capacity to himself in the other capacity, is for him to make an election to hold it in the latter capacity and manifest such election by some act, admission, or declaration, and such election will bind the sureties on the bond given in the latter capacity. Gilmer v. Baker, 24 W. Va. 72.

81. Bell v. People, 94 Ill. 230; Downes v. State, 3 Harr. & J. (Md.) 239; State v. Jordan, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 179; Allen v. Burton, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 249.

Where an administrator assumes without authority to act as guardian under the impression that by virtue of his office as administrator he became the guardian of the wards of the decedent, the sureties on his bond are not liable for property belonging duties as executor or administrator the property is transferred by operation of law into his hands as guardian and the sureties on the former bond are released from further liability,[82] and conversely if the wards become of age and entitled to distribution before the amount for distribution is ascertained the administrator becomes indebted to them and not to himself as guardian, and the sureties on the administration bond are liable.[83] Where a guardian becomes the administrator of the estate of a deceased ward the sureties on the administration bond become liable for the proper administration of all assets then on hand which he formerly held as guardian.[84]

c. As Trustee. Where the same person is both executor and trustee under a will the sureties on his bond as executor are not liable for property held by him in the capacity of trustee,[85] unless they are made so by express statute.[86]

d. As Devisee Charged With Payment of Legacy. Where an executor is also a devisee who takes the devise charged with the payment of a legacy, he is liable for such payment as devisee only, and his sureties are not liable.[87]

e. As Surviving Partner. Where a surviving partner is appointed executor or administrator of his deceased copartner, partnership funds coming into his hands are presumed to be in the capacity of surviving partner, for which the sureties on his bond as executor or administrator will not be liable.[88] But by becoming executor or administrator he assumes the responsibility of collecting what is due by him to the estate as surviving partner,[89] and the sureties on his bond are liable for his failure to do so after such amount is ascertained,[90] or if he to such wards of which he obtained possession. Williamson v. Lippincott, 10 N. J. L. 35.

82. Watkins v. State, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 220; Seegar v. State, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 162, 14 Am. Dec. 265. See also State v. Cheston, 51 Md. 352.

When transfer of liability takes place.— After the time limited by law for the settlement of the estate the law will adjudge the ward's portion of the property to be held in the capacity of guardian whether a final account has been passed upon by the court or not. Watkins v. State, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 220.

In Tennessee it is provided by statute that "no executor or administrator, having in his hands, as such, any estate of an infant, shall be appointed his guardian until he shall have first settled his accounts as executor or administrator." The settlement draws the line between the two fiduciary relationships and fixes the liability of the sureties on the respective bonds. Ezell v. Hamilton, 4 Baxt. 304.

83. Burnside v. Robertson, 28 S. C. 583, 6 S. E. 843.

84. Baker v. Wood, 42 Ala. 664.

85. Perkins v. Lewis, 41 Ala. 649, 94 Am. Dec. 616; Hinds v. Hinds, 85 Ind. 312; Givens v. Flannery, 105 Ky. 451, 49 S. W. 182, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1355; Warfield v. Brand, 13 Bush (Ky.) 77; Neely v. Merritt, 9 Bush (Ky.) 346; Sims v. Lively, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 433; Warren v. Benton, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 332; State v. Tubb, 22 Mo. App. 91. But compare Prior v. Talbot, 10 Cush. (Mass.) 1; Bellinger v. Thompson, 26 Oreg. 320, 37 Pac. 714, 40 Pac. 229.

The sureties of an administrator with the will annexed are not liable for the misapplication of funds turned over to him as trustee by order of the probate court. Barker v. Stanford, 53 Cal. 451.

Where a will directs an executor to invest the personal estate and apply the income to certain purposes, there is not such a trust superadded to his duties as executor as to absolve the surety on his bond as executor from liability. Hall v. Cushing, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 395.

86. See Porter v. Moores, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 16; Lester v. Vick, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 476.

Statutory change.— The Tennessee act of 1838 which made sureties on the bond of an executor liable for his acts as trustee is omitted from the code and they are now not so liable unless the bond is conditioned so as to cover this liability. Walker v. Potilla, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 449.

87. Connecticut.— Olmstead v. Brush, 27 Conn. 530.

Kentucky.— Smith v. Smith, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 636.

Maryland.— State v. Hewlett, 48 Md. 138.

Massachusetts.— Thayer v. Finnegan, 134 Mass. 62, 45 Am. Rep. 285.

New Hampshire.— Leavitt v. Wooster, 14 N. H. 550.

Virginia.— Arrington v. Cheatham, 2 Rob. 492.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2394.

Compare Towner v. Tooley, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 598.

88. Pearson v. Keedy, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 128, 43 Am. Dec. 160. Compare Hooper v. Hooper, 32 W. Va. 526, 9 S. E. 937.

89. Caskie v. Harrison, 76 Va. 85. See also Knowlton v. Chick, 56 Me. 228.

90. Knowlton v. Chick, 56 Me. 228.

Where there are no partnership debts there should be an immediate transfer to the part-sells property of the estate for the payment of partnership debts while having partnership funds in his possession.[91]

C. Functions and Acts Covered. The functions and acts covered by an administration bond and for which the sureties are liable embrace generally all the duties which the executor or administrator is called upon to discharge in the course of the administration,[92] but not acts which do not come within the discharge of his official duties as representative;[93] and so do not include unauthorized acts,[94] breaches of merely personal duties,[95] or acts done with respect to the property of the estate in some other and distinct capacity.[96] The bond does not ordiner in his capacity of executor or administrator and the sureties on his bond will be liable accordingly. Caskie v. Harrison, 76 Va. 85.

91. Boyle v. Boyle, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 570.

92. Deobold v. Oppermann, 111 N. Y. 531, 19 N. E. 94, 7 Am. St. Rep. 760, 2 L. R. A. 644; Beckett v. Place, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 323, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 634. Whenever a representative does what the law prohibits or fails to exercise reasonable care and diligence in the endeavor to do what the law enjoins, he and his sureties are liable for the damage consequent upon such act or omission. McNabb v. Wixom, 7 Nev. 163.

"Due administration of the estate" comprises the due payment of its obligations and the handing over of the balance to the persons entitled. Cunningham v. Souza, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 462.

A declaration of insolvency of an estate does not ipso facto terminate the administrator's authority, and if no successor be appointed the sureties remain liable for his subsequent acts of administration. Clay v. Gurley, 62 Ala. 14.

Where a judgment in a replevin suit is rendered against an administrator, the sureties on his bond are liable to the sureties on the replevin bond in case of his failure to comply with an order of court to return the property or its value. State v. Farrar, 77 Mo. 175; State v. Dailey, 7 Mo. App. 548.

Where the same person is administrator of two estates, one of which is indebted to the other, and he wastes assets of the debtor estate which he was bound but failed to pay over to the creditor estate, his sureties for a due administration of the creditor estate are liable for such default and waste. Morrow v. Peyton, 8 Leigh (Va.) 54.

93. Georgia.— Johnson v. Hall, 101 Ga. 687, 29 S. E. 37; Bird v. Mitchell, 101 Ga. 46, 28 S. E. 674.

Kentucky.— Denton v. Crouch, 101 Ky. 386, 41 S. W. 277, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 588; Warfield v. Brand, 13 Bush 77; Warren v. Benton, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 332.

Maine.— Nelson v. Woodbury, 1 Me. 251.

Michigan.—Robbins v. Burridge, 128 Mich. 25, 87 N. W. 93.

Missouri.— Orrick v. Vahey, 49 Mo. 428.

New Hampshire.— Gregg v. Currier, 36 N. H. 200.

Ohio.— Flickinger v. Saum, 40 Ohio St. 591.

Tennessee.— Carter v. Young, 9 Lea 210.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2395.

Delivery of the report of commissioners on an insolvent estate is no part of the official duty of an administrator, and his failure to carry out an agreement to do so will not render the sureties liable. Nelson v. Woodbury, 1 Me. 251.

Deceptive and misleading conduct by the administrator to induce creditors to defer filing their claims within the statutory period is not a breach of the bond. Nagle v. Ball, 71 Miss. 330, 13 So. 929.

94. McCampbell v. Gilbert, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 592; Campbell v. Sacray, 44 S. W. 980, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1912; Gregg v. Currier, 36 N. H. 200; In re Givens, 34 N. J. Eq. 191; Curtis v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 39 Ohio St. 579. Compare Lewis v. Carson, 93 Mo. 587, 3 S. W. 483, 6 S. W. 365.

The sureties on the bond of an administrator pendente lite are not liable for the acts of their principal where he assumes to act as a general administrator. Stevenson v. Wilcox, 16 S. C. 432.

95. Bird v. Mitchell, 101 Ga. 46, 28 S. E. 674; Nelson v. Woodbury, 1 Me. 251; McLean v. McLean, 88 N. C. 394.

The personal contract of an executor or administrator in the course of settling the estate is not binding upon the sureties. Erwin v. Carroll, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 145; Childress v. Morris, 23 Gratt. (Va.) 802. Compare Murdock v. Matthews, Brayt. (Vt.) 100.

Agreements with distributees.— Where the distributees of an estate agree with the administrator, who is also a distributee, to hold certain of the property and dispose of the same at private sale for their mutual profit or loss the surety is not liable for the nonperformance of such agreement by the administrator. Kennedy v. Adickes, 37 S. C. 174, 15 S. E. 922.

96. California.— Barker v. Stanford, 53 Cal. 451.

Illinois.— People v. Huffman, 182 Ill. 390, 55 N. E. 981 [reversing 78 Ill. App. 345].

Kansas.— Carr v. Catlin, 13 Kan. 393.

Kentucky.— Warfield v. Brand, 13 Bush 77; Warren v. Benton, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 332.

Missouri.— Orrick v. Vahey, 49 Mo. 428; State v. Anthony, 30 Mo. App. 638.

North Carolina.— Fanshaw v. Fanshaw, 44 N. C. 166.

Tennessee.— Carter v. Young, 9 Lea 210.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2395.

narily secure the payment of debts contracted by the executor or administrator in the settlement of the estate,[97] nor are the sureties ordinarily liable for the payment of costs awarded against the principal.[98]

D. Discharge of Sureties From Liability — 1. In General. As a general rule whatever operates to release the executor or administrator from liability also releases the sureties,[99] but the rule is subject to exception in cases where the liability of the principal is extinguished by operation of law.[1] The sureties are also released by any conduct on the part of the persons interested in the estate or by agreements between such persons and the representative by which the sureties' liability would be altered and increased.[2] An alteration in the bond after its execution increasing the penal sum, made by the probate judge with the consent of the principal but without the knowledge of the sureties, releases the latter from liability thereon.[3] Whether the imposition of new or additional duties on a public administrator by a statute passed after the execution of his bond will release the sureties from their original liability will depend upon whether the performance of his original duties is materially interfered with.[4]

2. Settlement and Discharge of Principal. The final settlement of the accounts of an executor or administrator and his discharge ordinarily terminate the lia-

Carrying out personal trust in will.— The bond of an executor is not liable for the performance of provisions in the will in the nature of a personal trust (Armstrong v. Martin, 18 N. C. 397), unless specially conditioned so as to cover the duties imposed by such provisions (see Prescott v. Pitts, 9 Mass. 376).

Management of decedent's business.— Where a testator by his will directs that the executors continue his business for a certain period for the benefit of the estate they act in so doing not as executors but as trustees, and the sureties on the bond are not liable for any losses (Carter v. Young, 9 Lea (Tenn.) 210); but if he permits them to conduct it for their own benefit, the fund invested to be returned and administered, it is a loan to them and remains a part of the estate for the return and proper administration of which the sureties are liable (State v. Wilmer, 65 Md. 178, 3 Atl. 252).

97. Taylor v. Mygatt, 26 Conn. 184.

For services rendered an executor in settling the estate one can only recover against him individually and not upon his bond. Baker v. Moor, 63 Me. 443.

An order for the payment of attorney's fees, made pursuant to a statute authorizing the court to allow a claim for attorney's fees, is in effect a judgment against the estate and a failure of the administrator to discharge it renders the sureties liable. State v. Walsh, 67 Mo. App. 348.

98. Ferguson v. Cappeau, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 394.

A bond to pay all debts and legacies of the testator given by an executrix who is sole legatee must respond for the costs awarded out of the estate to the contestants of the will. Cole's Will, 52 Wis. 591, 9 N. W. 664.

Where the bond is conditioned to obey all orders of the court touching the administration of the estate, and the court has jurisdiction to award costs either against the estate or the representative, an order for the payment of costs is within the condition of the bond. Beckett v. Place, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 323, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 634; West v. Crosby, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 305.

99. McBroom v. Governor, 6 Port. (Ala.) 32; Austin v. Raiford, 68 Ga. 201; People v. White, 11 Ill. 341.

1. McBroom v. Governor, 6 Port. (Ala.) 32; People v. White, 11 Ill. 341.

A creditor's failure to present his claim to the administrator of the principal debtor within the proper time does not discharge the sureties. Minter v. Mobile Branch Bank, 23 Ala. 762, 58 Am. Dec. 315.

2. Alabama.— Pyke v. Searcy, 4 Port. 52.
Georgia.— Collier v. Leonard, 59 Ga. 497.
Louisiana.— Hebert v. Hebert, 22 La. Ann. 308. But compare Perkins v. Cenas, 15 La. Ann. 60.
Massachusetts.—Forbes v. Allen, 166 Mass. 569, 44 N. E. 1065.
Missouri.— See Seitz v. Hill, 9 Mo. App. 122.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2406 et seq.

Agreement for improper use of funds.— A secret agreement between the distributees and the administrator that the latter may use the funds of the estate in his private business will discharge the sureties from all liability to the distributees. Rutter v. Hall, 31 Ill. App. 647.

Coöperation of heirs with representative.— The fact that the representative and the heirs agreed to resist the payment of certain claims and that the administrator with their consent held the assets pending the litigation and afterward wasted them and became insolvent will not discharge the sureties, since the heirs had a right to coöperate with the administrator in resisting the claims of creditors by all lawful means. McMahon v. Paris, 87 Ga. 660, 13 S. E. 572.

3. Howe v. Peabody, 2 Gray (Mass.) 556.

4. State v. Cheaney, 52 Mo. App. 258, holding, however, that in neither case will the sureties incur any liability as to the new duties imposed.

bility on the bond;[5] it has the force and effect of a judgment and precludes any action on the bond unless impeached and set aside in an appropriate proceeding.[6]

3. Death of Principal or Surety. Sureties of a deceased executor or administrator are not discharged at his death with respect to his acts or defaults concerning the estate in his lifetime;[7] and it has been held that their liability extends even to the acts or defaults of the personal representative of the deceased executor or administrator with regard to the original estate.[8] The liability of a surety is not discharged by his own death but extends to defaults of the principal subsequently committed.[9]

4. Revocation of Letters — Resignation or Removal of Principal. Where the letters of an executor or administrator are revoked or he is removed or resigns the sureties are ordinarily released from liability as to the subsequent administration,[10] but they are released from liability only with respect to future acts of

5. Alabama.— Turner v. Cole, 24 Ala. 364.
Georgia.— Austin v. Raiford, 68 Ga. 201.
Kansas.—Proctor v. Dicklow, 57 Kan. 119, 45 Pac. 86; Smith v. Eureka Bank, 24 Kan. 528.
Kentucky.— Hessey v. Hessey, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 424.
Missouri.— State v. Gray, 106 Mo. 526, 17 S. W. 500; State v. Anthony, 30 Mo. App. 638.
North Carolina.— See Tulburt v. Hollar, 102 N. C. 406, 9 S. E. 430.
See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2404.
Compare Mighton v. Dawson, 38 Ohio St. 650.

A settlement and discharge procured by practising a fraud upon the ordinary is void and is no bar to an action on the bond. Pollock v. Cox, 108 Ga. 430, 34 S. E. 213.

Where a discharge on final accounting is made conditional upon the payment of a certain sum and filing vouchers therefor, the discharge from liability is not effectual until these conditions have been complied with. Cosgrove v. U. S., 33 Ct. Cl. 167.

Settlement while suit pending.— Where an administrator makes a settlement of his account while a suit by a creditor is pending against him, the debt in suit not being taken into account, such premature settlement and discharge will not relieve the sureties from liability on the bond. Dean v. Portis, 11 Ala. 104.

Where a representative is directed to retain certain funds to be paid over at a future date and he retains the same in his representative capacity, the sureties are not discharged from their liability until the amount is finally paid over as directed. McCloud v. Hewlett, 135 Cal. 361, 69 Pac. 333; Betts v. Avery, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 342, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 525.

An allowance of a certain sum "retained to pay legacies," in the first account of an administrator is not an absolute credit or discharge of the legacies, but an admission of funds for their payment; and an allowance in his second account "for sundry payments made, as stated in the last account," although with the consent of the legatees, does not discharge the obligation of the administrator's bond to pay the legacies according to the will. Fay v. Taylor, 2 Gray (Mass.) 154.

A settlement made by the representative at the time of his resignation, which does not close the business of the estate in his hands, is not a final settlement which will preclude any further liability on the bond (Lang v. State, 67 Ind. 577; Parsons v. Milford, 67 Ind. 489. Compare Tulburt v. Hollar, 102 N. C. 406, 9 S. E. 430); and where an administrator who has resigned is reappointed as his own successor, and a balance is ascertained against him on the first administration, distributees may at their election proceed against the sureties on either the first or second bonds (Modawell v. Hudson, 80 Ala. 265).

6. Proctor v. Dicklow, 57 Kan. 119, 45 Pac. 86; State v. Gray, 106 Mo. 526, 17 S. W. 500; Woodworth v. Woodworth, 70 Mo. 601. See also Smith v. Eureka Bank, 24 Kan. 528.

7. See, generally, Principal and Surety.

8. O'Gorman v. Lindeke, 26 Minn. 93, 1 N. W. 841; Williams v. State, 68 Miss. 680, 10 So. 52, 24 Am. St. Rep. 297. Contra, Jones v. Hobson, 2 Rand. (Va.) 483. And see State v. Rottaken, 34 Ark. 144.

Misapplication of estate of original representative.— The sureties of an executor or administrator are not chargeable with a misapplication by his representative of the assets of his estate. Williams v. State, 68 Miss. 680, 10 So. 52, 24 Am. St. Rep. 297.

9. Hightower v. Moore, 46 Ala. 387; Mundorff v. Wangler, 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 495; Bergstroem v. State, 58 Tex. 92.

10. Norton v. Wallace, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 507; Waterman v. Bigham, 2 Hill (S. C.) 512; Lingle v. Cook, 32 Gratt. (Va.) 262. See also People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215; De Lane's Case, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 167.

Co-executors or co-administrators.—Where the letters of one co-executor or co-administrator are revoked, or one resigns and the sole administration devolves upon the other, the sureties on the joint bond continue liable for the subsequent acts of the other (State v. Rucker, 59 Mo. 17. See also Davenport v. Reynolds, 6 Ill. App. 532), but where one co-administrator resigns and accounts to the the executor or administrator, and as to acts or defaults of the principal previously committed the sureties remain liable.[11]

5. Expiration of Term of Office or Time Limited For Administration. The authority of a public administrator as to unfinished business in his official custody continues after the expiration of his term of office[12] and the sureties on his bond remain liable.[13] Where the time for completing administration is expressly limited by statute,[14] the sureties are released from liability at the expiration of such period,[15] and where special or temporary administration is granted they are released when the reason of the grant ceases to exist.[16] But if a bond is conditioned to administer an estate according to the will, a further condition in the bond that it shall be administered within a certain time will not be construed as a release from liability as to acts which it appears from the face of the will cannot be so performed.[17]

6. Giving New Bond. Whether the giving of a new bond will operate to discharge the sureties on a former bond is governed in some cases by the purpose of the new bond,[18] and in others by express statutory provision.[19] It is in many cases provided that the sureties on the former bond shall be discharged from any other and is discharged and the other is reappointed under a new bond the sureties on the joint bond are discharged (Veach v. Rice, 131 U. S. 293, 9 S. Ct. 730, 33 L. ed. 163).

Reappointment of same person.—Where the original letters are revoked and the same person reappointed as administrator de bonis non, the sureties on the original bond are discharged and a corresponding liability substituted in the sureties of the second. Enicks v. Powell, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 196. But see Modawel v. Hudson, 80 Ala. 265, holding that where an administrator resigned and was reappointed giving a new bond, and a balance was found against him on the first administration, the distributees might at their election proceed against the sureties on either bond. See also Steele v. Graves, 68 Ala. 17.

A public administrator, although he resigns his office, continues the representative of estates committed to his hands before his resignation and the sureties on his bond remain liable for the discharge of his duties as to such estates. Olsen v. Rich, 79 Ky. 244.

Where an order dismissing an administrator is rescinded and the administrator reinstated the sureties continue bound. Collier v. Cross, 20 Ga. 1.

11. Illinois.— See People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215.

Maryland.— State v. Blackistone, 2 Harr. & G. 139.

Pennsylvania.— See Stewart v. Moody, 4 Watts 169.

South Carolina. — Norton v. Wallace, 1 Rich. 507; Waterman v. Bigham, 2 Hill 512; Cureton v. Shelton, 3 McCord 412.

Texas.— Brown v. Seaman, 65 Tex. 628.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2410, 2411.

If the representative is removed pending the settlement of his accounts, the probate court may still proceed with the settlement and hold his sureties liable for his failure to pay a decree thereafter entered. Nevitt v. Woodburn, 160 Ill. 203, 43 N. E. 385, 52 Am. St. Rep. 315.

Failure to pay over to successor.— Where an administrator who has resigned or been removed fails to pay over to his successor the funds of the estate in his hands his bond is liable at the suit of the successor, but not at the suit of a creditor. State v. Heinrichs, 82 Mo. 542.

Delivery by a resigning administrator to his successor of a purchaser's note for a sale on credit which should have been for cash does not relieve the predecessor and his sureties from liability with respect to such sale. Foster v. Thomas, 21 Conn. 285.

12. See supra, II, G, 6.

13. In re Aveline, 53 Cal. 259.

14. See supra, II, N, 1.

15. Brown v. Gunning, 19 La. 462; Rison v. Young, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 294; Jones v. Perkins, 8 Tex. 337; Flores v. Howth, 5 Tex. 329.

If an executor sells property for notes not maturing until after the expiration of his appointment and fails to account for them, his surety will be liable. Verret v. Belanger, 6 La. Ann. 109.

16. State v. Craddock, 7 Harr. & J. (Md.) 40. See supra, II, N, 5.

17. Holbrook v. Bentley, 32 Conn. 502.

18. See Veach v. Rice, 131 U. S. 293, 9 S. Ct. 730, 33 L. ed. 163, where it is said that if the new bond is given as a new and different undertaking to be a substitute for the first, the original sureties will be discharged from further liability; but if given for the purpose of strengthening the existing security their liability will not be affected. See also Atkinson v. Christian, 3 Gratt. (Va.) 448.

19. State v. Stroop, 22 Ark. 328; Pepper v. Donnelly, 87 Ky. 259, 8 S. W. 441, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 140; Russell v. McDougall, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 234; Wood v. Williams, 61 Mo. 63.

Under the Alabama statute the sureties on the first bond are discharged from further liability when the second bond is given on their application, but not otherwise. Jones v. Ritter, 56 Ala. 270.

liability accruing after the giving of the new bond,[20] but liabilities already incurred are not affected.[21] As a rule, however, when not otherwise provided, a new or additional bond is merely cumulative and does not release the sureties on the first bond.[22]

7. Giving Special Bond For Payment of Distributive Share. Where an executor or administrator under an agreement with a distributee gives the latter a special bond[23] or note[24] for the payment of his distributive share the sureties on the original bond are discharged as to this amount.

8. Retention of Property by Principal in Another Capacity. As previously stated the bond of an executor or administrator does not cover property held or acts done by him in some other and distinct capacity.[25] It follows that where property of the estate is transferred to and retained by the representative in another capacity the sureties on the administration bond are released from further liability with respect thereto.[26] They will not be released, however, unless a

Under the Illinois statute of wills a new bond given under section 78 where the original security is insufficient does not release the former sureties (People v. Curry, 59 Ill. 35), but a new bond under section 79 for the protection of the sureties on the first and which the statute provides shall relate back to the grant of letters releases the former sureties from all liability both past and present (People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215).

20. Arkansas.— State v. Stroop, 22 Ark. 328.

Kentucky.— Pepper v. Donnelly, 87 Ky. 259, 8 S. W. 441, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 140.

Mississippi.— Russell v. McDougall, 3 Sm. & M. 234.

Missouri.— Haskell v. Farrar, 56 Mo. 497.

Virginia.— Lingle v. Cook, 32 Gratt. 262.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2407.

It will be presumed in the absence of proof to the contrary that a default on the part of the administrator occurred after the execution of the second bond. May v. Kelly, 61 Ala. 489; Beard v. Roth, 35 Fed. 397. See also Phillips v. Brazeal, 14 Ala. 746. Compare McMeekin v. Hudson, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 327.

The sureties on the bond of a public administrator are not within the application of the statute providing for the release of sureties on an administrator's bond when a second bond is filed. State v. Wolff, 10 Mo. App. 95.

21. State v. Stroop, 22 Ark. 328; Pepper v. Donnelly, 87 Ky. 259, 8 S. W. 441, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 140; McKim v. Bartlett, 129 Mass. 226; Corrigan v. Foster, 51 Ohio St. 225, 37 N. E. 263. And see supra, XVII, A, 7.

Under the Mississippi statute when a new bond is given as a substitute for the first the sureties on the first bond are discharged from all liability except only as to actions then pending on that bond. Russell v. McDougall, 3 Sm. & M. 234.

Under the Tennessee statute where the sureties on the first bond are released by order of the court and a new bond given, the sureties on the second are primarily liable to the extent of their bond for all defaults whether before or after the execution of the second bond, and the sureties on the first are only liable for defaults occurring previously in case the second bond proves insufficient. Morris v. Morris, 9 Heisk. 814.

A bill of discovery may be maintained against the principal and both sets of sureties in order to ascertain the time of a devastavit and charge each set of sureties according to their respective liabilities on their bonds. Alexander v. Mercer, 7 Ga. 549.

22. Lacoste v. Speivalo, 64 Cal. 35, 30 Pac. 571; Pinkstaff v. People, 59 Ill. 148; State v. Berning, 74 Mo. 87; Haskell v. Farrar, 56 Mo. 497; State v. Fields, 53 Mo. 474; State v. Berning, 6 Mo. App. 105; Pickens v. Miller, 83 N. C. 543.

Where the court requires a new bond on its own motion and not on the application of the former sureties for relief the former sureties are not discharged. Ward v. State, 40 Miss. 108.

If the second bond is not given for a statutory cause the effect will be merely to add an additional security and the original bond will remain in full effect. Wood v. Williams, 61 Mo. 63.

23. Com. v. Shryock, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 69; Beckham v. Pride, 6 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 78.

24. Hubbard v. Ewing, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 404. See also Hoge v. Vintroux, 21 W. Va. 1, holding that while it will be presumed that a note given a distributee is merely collateral security, if it be proved to have been given in payment of the claim the liability of the sureties will be discharged.

25. See supra, XVII, B, 11; XVII, C.

26. Georgia.— Freeman v. Brown, 115 Ga. 23, 41 S. E. 385.

Illinois.— Bell v. People, 94 Ill. 230.

Iowa.— Taylor v. McArthur, 87 Iowa 155, 54 N. W. 228.

Kentucky.— Adams v. Adams, 11 B. Mon. 77; Allen v. Kennedy, 8 S. W. 882, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 336; Walker v. Spalding, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 64.

Maryland.— State v. Cheston, 51 Md. 352.

Massachusetts.— See Mattoon v. Cowing, 13 Gray 387.

Missouri.— State v. Anthony, 30 Mo. App. 638.

New York.— Hood v. Hayward, 48 Hun 330, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 566.

North Carolina.— Ruffin v. Harrison, 81 N. C. 208.

transfer has been made and a new liability incurred;[27] and while a transfer by operation of law will sometimes be presumed,[28] the presumption is subject to rebuttal.[29]

9. Discharge by Order of Court — a. Power to Grant Discharge. In most jurisdictions it is provided by statute that the court may in certain cases release the sureties on the bond of an executor or administrator from further liability,[30]

Pennsylvania.— Vandever's Appeal, 42 Pa. St. 74.

Rhode Island.— Sarle v. Scituate Prob. Ct., 7 R. I. 270.

South Carolina.— Simkins v. Cobb, 2 Bailey 60; Crenshaw v. Crenshaw, 4 Rich. Eq. 14.

Virginia.— Odell v. Howle, 77 Va. 361; Myers v. Wade, 6 Rand. 444.

United States.— Alston v. Munford, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 267, 1 Brock. 266; Taylor v. Deblois, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,790, 4 Mason 131.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2427.

An executor cannot transfer a mere liability from one set of sureties to another by charging himself in one capacity with debts due from himself on account of a devastavit committed in the other, although where he has funds actually on hand he may fix the responsibility therefor by an express election as to the capacity in which they shall be held. Smith v. Gregory, 26 Gratt. (Va.) 248.

An order of court is not indispensable to transfer the funds from one capacity to the other, but it is sufficient if the representative manifests an intention to treat the funds as transferred. Bell v. People, 94 Ill. 230.

27. Delaware.— Burton v. Anderson, 5 Harr. 221.

Massachusetts.— Newcomb v. Williams, 9 Metc. 525.

Michigan.— Cranson v. Wilsey, 71 Mich. 356, 39 N. W. 9.

North Carolina.— Clancy v. Carrington, 14 N. C. 529.

Ohio.— Wilson v. Wilson, 17 Ohio St. 150, 91 Am. Dec. 125.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2427.

A formal transfer is not essential, but it is sufficient if the representative declares his election to hold the property in his other capacity. State v. Whitehouse, 75 Conn. 410, 53 Atl. 897.

What will amount to a change of capacity where the same persons are executors and trustees so as to exonerate the sureties on the executorship bond depends upon the circumstances of the particular case. Newcomb v. Williams, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 525.

The transfer must be clearly established so as to leave no doubt of the liability of the substituted sureties before the original sureties will be released. Potter v. Ogden, 136 N. Y. 384, 33 N. E. 228 [affirming 65 Hun 27, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 594].

The administration sureties may compel an administrator who is also guardian and has given bond in both capacities to transfer the liability by passing a guardianship account. Burton v. Anderson, 5 Harr. (Del.) 221.

Where the same person is administrator and also guardian of the next of kin, his return of an account of his administration and acknowledging a balance due his ward is not a performance of the condition of his administration bond unless the money to pay the balance is identified and retained by the guardian as the property of the ward. Harrison v. Ward, 14 N. C. 417.

Where the court directs an executor to retain and invest as trustee, according to the trusts of the will, a balance in his hands, but does not in terms discharge the trustee, the executor will be considered as holding the fund in the capacity of executor until it is invested as trustee, and the sureties on the executor's bond will be liable in case it is wasted instead of invested. Cluff v. Day, 124 N. Y. 195, 26 N. E. 306 [reversing 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 460].

28. Woolley v. Price, 86 Md. 176, 37 Atl. 644; State v. Cheston, 51 Md. 352; Ruffin v. Harrison, 81 N. C. 208; Carroll v. Bosley, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 220, 27 Am. Dec. 460; Taylor v. Deblois, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,790, 4 Mason 131.

When transfer presumed.— After the time limited by law for settlement of the estate has elapsed, a transfer of possession by operation of law will be presumed. Woolley v. Price, 86 Md. 176, 37 Atl. 644; State v. Cheston, 51 Md. 352. After the lapse of a year property of a decedent held by an executrix who is also guardian of the legatees will be presumed to have been transferred to herself as guardian and to be held by her in the latter capacity. Downes v. State, 3 Harr. & J. (Md.) 239.

29. Wilson v. Wilson, 17 Ohio St. 150, 91 Am. Dec. 125.

30. Arkansas.— Valcourt v. Sessions, 30 Ark. 515.

Illinois.— Clark v. American Surety Co., 171 Ill. 235, 49 N. E. 481.

Indiana.— State v. Gregory, 88 Ind. 110; Lane v. State, 27 Ind. 108.

Kentucky.— Johnson v. Fuquay, 1 Dana 514.

Louisiana.— Boutte's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 556; Sanders v. Edwards, 29 La. Ann. 696.

Massachusetts.— McKim v. Blake, 132 Mass. 343.

New Jersey.— Allen v. Sanders, 34 N. J. Eq. 203.

New York.— Bick v. Murphy, 2 Dem. Surr. 251; Shook v. Goddard, 2 Dem. Surr. 201; Lewis v. Watson, 3 Redf. Surr. 43. See also Matter of Sogaard, 39 Misc. 519, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 379.

the principal being required to furnish new security,[31] under penalty of having his letters revoked upon failure to do so.[32] But the court cannot ordinarily release the sureties from any liabilities already incurred,[33] nor can it grant a valid release without making provision for the protection of the estate.[34] In the absence of statute the court is without authority to discharge a surety.[35] The authorities are not uniform as to whether public administrators are within the general statutory provisions relating to the discharge of sureties on official bonds.[36]

b. Proceedings. The proceedings for obtaining a discharge from liability as surety by order of court are regulated by statute,[37] the requirements of which

Ohio.— Howenstine v. Sweet, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 239, 7 Ohio Cir. Dec. 498.

South Carolina.— Gilliam v. McJunkin, 2 S. C. 442; McKay v. Donald, 8 Rich. 331; Waterman v. Bigham, 2 Hill 512; Trimmier v. Trail, 2 Bailey 480.

Tennessee.— Gower v. Shelton, 16 Lea 652; Morris v. Morris, 9 Heisk. 814; Polk v. Wisener, 2 Humphr. 520; Harrison v. Turbeville, 2 Humphr. 242.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2428.

The fact that the surety and his relatives are indebted to the estate and intend to have a new administrator appointed with a view to avoiding payment does not affect the right of the surety to be released. Lewis v. Watson, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 43.

Errors of judgment of an administrator not amounting to malfeasance are not sufficient causes to authorize the release of one of his sureties from his bond. Sparrow's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 696, 2 So. 501.

31. Arkansas.— Valcourt v. Sessions, 30 Ark. 515.

Indiana.— Lane v. State, 27 Ind. 108.

Louisiana.— Sanders v. Edwards, 29 La. Ann. 696.

New Jersey.— Allen v. Sanders, 34 N. J. Eq. 203.

New York.— Shook v. Goddard, 2 Dem. Surr. 201; Lewis v. Watson, 3 Redf. Surr. 43.

Ohio.— Howenstine v. Sweet, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 239, 7 Ohio Cir. Dec. 498.

South Carolina.— Gilliam v. McJunkin, 2 S. C. 442; Owens v. Walker, 2 Strobh. Eq. 289.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2428.

32. Arkansas.— Valcourt v. Sessions, 30 Ark. 515.

Louisiana.— Sanders v. Edwards, 29 La. Ann. 696.

New Jersey.— Allen v. Sanders, 34 N. J. Eq. 203.

New York.— Shook v. Goddard, 2 Dem. Surr. 201; Lewis v. Watson, 3 Redf. Surr. 43.

South Carolina.— Gilliam v. McJunkin, 2 S. C. 442.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2428.

33. McKim v. Blake, 132 Mass. 343; Waterman v. Bigham, 2 Hill (S. C.) 512; Trimmier v. Trail, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 480.

Under the Tennessee statute the court may release the sureties from past as well as future liability (Polk v. Wisener, 2 Humphr. 520), unless the second bond proves insufficient, in which case the released sureties will be responsible for past liabilities to the extent of such deficiency (Morris v. Morris, 9 Heisk. 814).

34. Polk v. Wisener, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 520.

Order of discharge ineffectual until sufficient new bond given.— Howenstine v. Sweet, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 239, 70 Ohio Cir. Dec. 498.

The court cannot give a money decree against the administrator but must require a new bond or revoke the letters of administration. Gilliam v. McJunkin, 2 S. C. 442.

35. Com. v. Rogers, 53 Pa. St. 470; Owens v. Walker, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 289. See also Carroll v. Moor, 7 Ala. 615; Cowperthwaite's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 59, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 504.

36. See Mitchell v. Nelson, 49 Ala. 88 (holding that a county administrator is not a public officer within the application of the statute relating to the discharge of sureties on the bond of "any public officer"); State v. Nolan, 99 Mo. 569, 12 S. W. 1047 (holding that the sureties on the bond of a public administrator may be discharged under the statute providing for the discharge of the sureties on the "bond given by any officer").

37. Illinois.— Clark v. American Surety Co., 171 Ill. 235, 49 N. E. 481.

New Jersey.— Allen v. Sanders, 34 N. J. Eq. 203.

New York.— Bick v. Murphy, 2 Dem. Surr. 251; Stevens v. Stevens, 3 Redf. Surr. 507.

South Carolina.— Gillman v. McJunkin, 2 S. C. 442.

Tennessee.— Gower v. Shelton, 16 Lea 652; Harrison v. Turbeville, 2 Humphr. 242.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2430.

A formal order of discharge is not necessary where a proper application for a release has been made in response to which the administrator has filed a new bond which the court has approved. Lane v. State, 27 Ind. 103.

The surety cannot be released on the application of the principal but only where the petition for release is filed by himself. Clark v. American Surety Co., 171 Ill. 235, 49 N. E. 481 [reversing 66 Ill. App. 284].

Joinder of applications.— An application by persons interested in the estate to require a new bond cannot be united in the same proceeding with an application by sureties to must be complied with,[38] and the facts necessary to confer jurisdiction should appear of record.[39]

E. Breach of Bond — 1. In General. As a general rule any default on the part of an executor or administrator in the performance of his official duties in administering the estate is a breach of the administration bond,[40] except where he has proceeded in good faith and the default is due to causes which he could not have prevented, in the exercise of due diligence,[41] or the error is merely technical and has not prejudiced the estate.[42]

2. Failure to Make and File Inventory.[43] The failure of an executor or administrator to make and file an inventory of the estate within the time required by law,[44] or by the condition of the bond,[45] or a failure to return a true and complete inventory,[46] is a breach of the administration bond.

be discharged from further liability. Bick v. Murphy, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 251.

38. Clark v. American Surety Co., 171 Ill. 235, 49 N. E. 481.

If an administrator appears without notice the failure to give it is immaterial, the requirement being solely for his benefit. Harrison v. Turbeville, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 242.

Personal service on a non-resident executor is sufficient where the statute does not provide for substituted service. Stevens v. Stevens, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 507.

The application may be dismissed if the sureties do not appear on the day set for the hearing. Allen v. Sanders, 34 N. J. Eq. 203.

39. Gower v. Shelton, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 652.

40. Alabama.— Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124.

Connecticut.—Adams v. Spalding, 12 Conn. 350.

Illinois.— People v. Miller, 2 Ill. 83.

Indiana.— Stanton v. State, 82 Ind. 463.

Kentucky.— Chaplin v. Simmons, 7 T. B. Mon. 337.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Heydock, 8 N. H. 491.

New York.— People v. Dunlap, 13 Johns. 437.

South Carolina.— Wiley v. Johnsey, 6 Rich. 355.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2431.

A breach may consist in disposing of assets of the estate without taking proper security (White v. Moe, 19 Ohio St. 37), making an unauthorized loan of funds of the estate (Johnston v. Maples, 49 Ill. 101), or lending money of the estate without requiring security (Probate Judge v. Mathes, 60 N. H. 433). The failure of an executor to invest funds for the benefit of infant legatees as directed by the will has been held a breach of the bond. U. S. v. Parker, 2 MacArthur (D. C.) 444. Where an executor gave a specific legatee a certificate of deposit in payment of his legacy and after the payment of debts distributed the balance of the estate among the residuary legatees who were not entitled to distribution until the specific legacy was paid in full, and the maker of the certificate became insolvent, it was held that the executor was guilty of a devastavit for which the legatee might maintain an action on the bond. Graffenreid v. Kundert, 34 Ill. App. 483.

41. Gay v. Grant, 101 N. C. 206, 8 S. E. 99, 106.

The non-performance of an act rendered impossible by an act of God or of an enemy is not a breach of the bond. Ordinary v. Corbett, 1 Bay (S. C.) 328.

Where property is given up in good faith by the representative to a surviving partner of decedent, on his claim of a right to dispose of it in closing the partnership, the sureties on the administration bond are not to be held responsible. People v. White, 11 Ill. 341.

42. State v. Schleiffarth, 9 Mo. App. 431.

43. Duty to make and file inventory see supra, IV, A.

44. Connecticut.— State v. French, 60 Conn. 478, 23 Atl. 153; Moore v. Holmes, 32 Conn. 553.

Maine.— Potter v. Titcomb, 10 Me. 53.

Massachusetts.— Forbes v. McHugh, 152 Mass. 412, 25 N. E. 622.

Pennsylvania.—Com. v. Bryan, 8 Serg. & R. 128.

Vermont.— Wilson v. Keeler, 2 D. Chipm. 16.

Wisconsin.— Ellis v. Johnson, 83 Wis. 394, 53 N. W. 691.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2432, 2450.

The failure of an executor who is sole legatee to file an inventory within the time prescribed by law is a technical breach of the bond which, there being no creditors, is cured by filing the inventory before suit brought. McKim v. Harwood, 129 Mass. 75.

No citation to file an inventory is necessary in order to render a failure to file the same within the proper time a breach of the bond. Bourne v. Stevenson, 58 Me. 499; Com. v. Bryan, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 128. Compare Hurlburt v. Wheeler, 40 N. H. 73.

45. Warren v. Powers, 5 Conn. 373; Bourne v. Stevenson, 58 Me. 499.

46. State v. French, 60 Conn. 478, 23 Atl. 153; Williams v. Morehouse, 9 Conn. 470; Bisco v. Bishop, 1 Day (Conn.) 15; Bourne v. Stevenson, 58 Me. 499; Potter v. Titcomb, 10 Me. 53; Sherwood v. Hill, 25 Mo. 391. See also Edwards v. Gibbs, 11 Ala. 292.

A breach may consist in a failure to inventory money of the estate received before the granting of letters (Sherwood v. Hill, 25 Mo. 391), or a failure of the administrator to include a debt due from himself (Williams

3. Failure to Collect Assets.[47] The failure to collect assets, so far as the exercise of good faith and due prudence and diligence on his part permits, is a breach of the bond;[48] but there is no breach from a failure to collect which was not due to the fault of the representative, but to causes which he in the exercise of due diligence could not have prevented.[49]

4. Failure to Pay Allowance to Surviving Wife, Etc. Where a special allowance to the surviving wife, husband, or children is provided for by statute,[50] a failure on the part of the executor or administrator to pay such allowance as the statute or order of court may direct is a breach of the bond.[51]

5. Failure or Refusal to Pay Claims — a. In General. In England it has been held that the failure of an executor or administrator to pay claims against the estate is not a breach of the administration bond.[52] But in this country these decisions have been expressly disapproved,[53] and it is well settled that a failure or refusal to pay claims which have been legally established, to the extent of the assets, is a breach of duty on the part of the executor or administrator for which an action on the administration bond may be maintained;[54] and in

v. Morehouse, 9 Conn. 470. Compare State v. Gregory, 119 Ind. 503, 22 N. E. 1, holding such failure immaterial where no damage has resulted therefrom). But the failure to include property of which the representative has no knowledge is not a breach of the bond (Booth v. Patrick, 8 Conn. 106), nor where the selection of exemptions is not dependent upon the filing of an inventory, can the failure of an administrator to include certain property in the inventory the existence of which was known to the person claiming the exemption be assigned by such person as a breach (Hardin v. Pulley, 79 Ala. 381).

Where an estate has been declared insolvent suit cannot be maintained against an executor upon his official bond, assigning as a breach that he has not made a full inventory of the assets. Edwards v. Gibbs, 11 Ala. 292.

47. Duty to collect assets see supra, VII, A.

48. State v. Wilmer, 65 Md. 178, 3 Atl. 252; Hellmann v. Wellenkamp, 71 Mo. 407; Chouteau v. Hill, 2 Mo. 177; Beall v. Territory, 1 N. M. 507; Keowne v. Love, 65 Tex. 152. See also State v. Ruggles, 23 Mo. 339.

An executor's failure to collect a debt due from himself, he being solvent at the time of his appointment, is a breach of the bond, and he cannot on becoming insolvent return the debt as uncollectable so as to relieve his bondsman. State v. Gregory, 119 Ind. 503, 22 N. E. 1.

The appointment of a receiver to collect the assets of the estate after the refusal of the executor to do so does not affect the liability of the sureties on the bond. State v. Wilmer, 65 Md. 178, 3 Atl. 252.

49. State v. Ruggles, 23 Mo. 339; Gay v. Grant, 105 N. C. 478, 10 S. E. 891, 11 S. E. 242 [modifying 101 N. C. 206, 8 S. E. 99, 106]; State v. Brower, 93 N. C. 344; Syme v. Badger, 92 N. C. 706. See also Sanchez v. Forster, 133 Cal. 614, 65 Pac. 1077.

50. See supra, IX.

51. Choate v. Jacobs, 136 Mass. 297; Com. v. Longenecker, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 202. Contra, Rocco v. Cicalla, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 508.

An order to retain a balance in the hands of an administrator after settlement and apply the same to the support of infant heirs is illegal and the sureties on the administration bond are not liable after such settlement and discharge in case the administrator converts the balance to his own use. State v. Anthony, 30 Mo. App. 638.

52. Wallis v. Pipon, Ambl. 183, 27 Eng. Reprint 124; Browne v. Canterbury, 1 Lutw. 882; Canterbury v. Wills, 1 Salk. 315. But see Greerside v. Benson, 3 Atk. 248, 26 Eng. Reprint 944; Canterbury v. House, Cowp. 140, Lofft 622.

The condition "to well and truly administer" the estate, in a bond given under St. 22 Car. II, applies only to the bringing in of a true inventory and account and not to the payment of claims against the estate. Canterbury v. Wills, 1 Salk. 315.

53. Massachusetts.— Coney v. Williams, 9 Mass. 114.

New Jersey.— Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396.

New York.— People v. Dunlap, 13 Johns. 437.

North Carolina.— Washington v. Hunt, 12 N. C. 475.

South Carolina.— Lining v. Giles, 3 Brev. 530.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2444.

54. Alabama.— Grimmet v. Henderson, 66 Ala. 521.

Connecticut.— Clark v. Mix, 15 Conn. 152; Willey v. Paulk, 6 Conn. 74; Warren v. Powers, 5 Conn. 373.

Illinois.— People v. Allen, 8 Ill. App. 17.

Indiana.—Pence v. Makepeace, 75 Ind. 480; State v. Mason, 21 Ind. 171.

Louisiana.— Parmele v. Brashear, 16 La. 72.

Massachusetts.— Coney v. Williams, 9 Mass. 114. See also Baylies v. Chace, 1 Pick. 230.

Minnesota.— Johanson v. Hoff, 70 Minn. 140, 72 N. W. 965.

Mississippi.— Cannon v. Cooper, 39 Miss. 784, 80 Am. Dec. 101.

Missouri.— State v. James, 82 Mo. 509; State v. Walsh, 67 Mo. App. 348.

some jurisdictions an action on the bond by a creditor of the estate is expressly allowed by statute.[55]

b. Barred Claims. It is not a breach of the bond for an executor or administrator to refuse to pay a claim against the estate which is barred by the statute of limitations[56] or by failure of the claimant to present the same within the time provided by statute.[57]

6. Wrongful Payment of Claims. It is a breach of the bond to wrongfully pay claims to the detriment of creditors, distributees, or others interested in the estate, as by paying claims for which the estate is not liable,[58] disregarding legal priorities among claimants where the assets are not sufficient to pay all in full,[59] or failing to make a pro rata distribution among claimants of the same class;[60] and failure to resist payment of an unjust or unfounded claim against the estate is a breach of the bond, so far as the beneficiaries of the estate may suffer from the culpable negligence or bad faith of the representative in this respect.[61]

7. Failure to Sell Land For Payment of Debts. It is not a breach of an ordinary administration bond for the executor or administrator to fail or refuse to apply for a license to sell land of the decedent for the payment of debts,[62] to fail to sell the lands when authorized to do so,[63] or, after having made a sale,

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Heydock, 8 N. H. 491. See also Probate Judge v. Locke, 6 N. H. 396.

New Jersey.— Hazen v. Durling, 2 N. J. Eq. 133 [distinguishing Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396].

New York.—Hood v. Hayward, 48 Hun 330, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 566; Thayer v. Clark, 4 Abb. Dec. 391 [affirming 48 Barb. 243]; People v. Dunlap, 13 Johns. 437. See also Behrle v. Sherman, 10 Bosw. 292.

North Carolina.— Washington v. Hunt, 12 N. C. 475.

South Carolina.— Lining v. Giles, 3 Brev. 530.

Texas.— Gray v. McFarland, 29 Tex. 163. Compare Wheeler v. Goffe, 24 Tex. 660.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2444.

A failure to pay attorney's fees which have been allowed in the representative's expense account and ordered to be paid is a breach of the bond. Smith v. Rhodes, 68 Ohio St. 500, 68 N. E. 7.

Where the bond is conditioned to "obey all orders of the surrogate touching the administration of the estate" a failure to pay a claim ordered by the surrogate to be paid is a breach of the bond. Scofield v. Churchill, 72 N. Y. 565 [affirming 9 Hun 157]; Brewster v. Balch, 41 N. Y. Super. Ct. 63.

Although an administrator has been allowed credit for a claim in his final settlement yet if it appears that it was not in fact paid he and his sureties are liable therefor on the bond. Williamson v. Whittington, (Ark. 1887) 4 S. W. 449.

Where a discharge of a claim given through mistake, which is discovered before the close of administration, the liability of the administrator in his official character, and thus of his surety, remains. Murdock v. Matthews, Brayt. (Vt.) 100.

Contested claim.— A refusal to pay a claim which the executor has never admitted to be justly due and the validity of which has not been settled by a judgment is not a breach of the bond. Probate Judge v. Locke, 6 N. H. 396.

Judgment on note of representative.— An administrator cannot bind the estate by giving his negotiable note as administrator and his refusal to pay a judgment recovered on such a note after settlement in favor of an innocent holder is not a breach of his bond. Curtis v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 39 Ohio St. 579.

If the estate is insolvent a creditor cannot, under the Massachusetts statute, sue on the bond for his own benefit unless the amount due him has been ascertained by a decree of distribution and an ineffectual demand for payment made. Barton v. White, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 58.

55. See State v. Mason, 21 Ind. 171; Coney v. Williams, 9 Mass. 114; Berkey v. Judd, 31 Minn. 271, 17 N. W. 618.

56. Crabtree v. Graham, 81 Ga. 290, 6 S. E. 426; Robinson v. Hodge, 117 Mass. 222; Dawes v. Snell, 15 Mass. 6, 8 Am. Dec. 80.

57. Gookin v. Sanborn, 3 N. H. 491.

If the bar of the statute is not absolute but provision is made for equitable relief under peculiar circumstances, and a claim not presented in time is approved by the administrator and allowed by the court, the failure to pay the same is a breach of the bond for which the sureties will be liable. Weber v. Noth, 51 Iowa 375, 1 N. W. 652.

58. Worthy v. Brower, 93 N. C. 344. See also Burruss v. Fisher, 23 Miss. 228.

59. State v. Brown, 80 Ind. 425; State v. Mason, 21 Ind. 171; State v. Taylor, 100 Mo. App. 481, 74 S. W. 1032; Worthy v. Brower, 93 N. C. 344.

60. Evans v. Taylor, 60 Tex. 422; Morrison v. Lavell, 81 Va. 519.

61. Smith v. Cuyler, 78 Ga. 654, 3 S. E. 406; Gold v. Bailey, 44 Ill. 491, 92 Am. Dec. 190; Parsons v. Mills, 1 Mass. 431.

62. Freeman v. Anderson, 11 Mass. 190; Hawkins v. Carpenter, 88 N. C. 403. See also Nelson v. Jaques, 1 Me. 139.

63. State v. Smith, 68 Mo. 641.

to refuse to receive the purchase-money and execute a deed to the purchaser for the land.[64]

8. Wrongful Sale of Land. It is a breach of the administration bond for an executor or administrator by falsely representing the condition of the estate to obtain an order for the sale of land to pay debts and to make a sale thereunder when such sale is not necessary,[65] or to sell on credit instead of for cash;[66] but where a sale is made under a void decree, no title passes to the purchaser, and there is no injury for which an action on the bond can be maintained.[67]

9. Failure or Refusal to Pay Legacies.[68] The failure or refusal of an executor or an administrator with the will annexed, having sufficient assets, to pay a legacy after it has become his legal duty to do so is a breach of the bond;[69] but until it has become his legal duty to make such payment his failure to do so is not a breach,[70] nor is the failure of an executor to pay from money in his hands legacies which were chargeable upon the testator's land a breach.[71]

10. Failure or Refusal to Make Distribution.[72] The failure or refusal of an administrator to pay over or distribute the estate as required by the decree of distribution is a breach of the bond for which he and his sureties are answerable;[73] but it is not a breach of the bond to refuse to make distribution before

64. Nelson v. Jacques, 1 Me. 139.

65. Chapin v. Waters, 110 Mass. 195. See also Bisco v. Bishop, 1 Day (Conn.) 15.

66. Foster v. Thomas, 21 Conn. 285.

67. Thayer v. Winchester, 133 Mass. 447.

68. Duty to pay legacies see supra, XI, A, 1.

69. Alabama.—Perkins v. Moore, 16 Ala. 9.

Connecticut.— Foreign Missions American Bd. of Comrs. Appeal, 27 Conn. 344; Adams v. Spaulding, 12 Conn. 350.

Indiana.— Gould v. Steyer, 75 Ind. 50; Heady v. State, 60 Ind. 316.

Kansas.— Kreamer v. Kreamer, 52 Kan. 597, 35 Pac. 214.

Maryland.— State v. Wilson, 38 Md. 338.

Massachusetts.— Conant v. Stratton, 107 Mass. 474.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Emery, 6 N. H. 141, where executor has assented to legacy and has sufficient assets to pay the same.

North Carolina.— McLane v. Peoples, 20 N. C. 133.

Virginia.— Almond v. Mason, 9 Gratt. 700.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2448.

If only an ordinary administration bond is given by an administrator with the will annexed, such bond containing no condition for the payment of legacies, a failure to pay legacies is not a breach. Fulcher v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 592.

Improper payment by executor of executor. — Where the executor of an executor does not pay the assets of the first estate to the legatees of the first testator, but distributes them among the legatees of the executor, his testator, the sureties of the first executor are responsible for the amount so distributed, but not until an effort has been made to recover the amount from the sureties of the second executor. Aylett v. King, 11 Leigh (Va.) 486.

70. Probate Judge v. Kimball, 12 N. H. 165, holding that without any evidence of assent by the executor or of any judgment against him or demand upon him for payment of the legacy, its non-payment was not a breach of the condition of the bond.

In the case of a residuary legacy, the residuary balance cannot be known or ascertained until the final settlement of the executor's accounts, and until such settlement by the probate court and decree for payment no action can be maintained on the bond to recover the legacy. Jones v. Irvine, 23 Miss. 361.

When order of court necessary.—Where the bond is conditioned to pay such legacies "as shall be ordered and decreed to be paid by said court," there is no breach of condition until there has been an order of court to that effect and a failure to comply therewith. Caledonia Dist. Prob. Ct. v. Kimball, 42 Vt. 320. Under the Minnesota statute a refusal to pay a legacy is not a breach of the bond unless there has been an order or decree of the probate court directing payment. Huntsman v. Hooper, 32 Minn. 163, 20 N. W. 127.

Where an annuity has been assigned by a voidable assignment, the executor is not liable on his bond for refusing to pay it to the assignor so long as the assignment is not legally rescinded. Ames v. Clarke, 106 Mass. 573.

71. Gookin v. True, 3 N. H. 288. Compare Thornton v. Fitzhugh, 4 Leigh (Va.) 209.

72. Duty to make distribution see supra, XI, A, 1.

73. Illinois.— Ralston v. Wood, 15 Ill. 159, 58 Am. Dec. 204.

Indiana.— Stanton v. State, 82 Ind. 463.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Blanton, 2 B. Mon. 393; Jackson v. Bourbon Justices, 2 Bibb 292.

Maryland.— Jenkins v. State, 76 Md. 255, 23 Atl. 688, 790.

Nebraska.— Mortenson v. Bergthold, 64 Nebr. 208, 89 N. W. 742.

South Carolina.— Burnside v. Robertson, 28 S. C. 583, 6 S. E. 843.

the amount for distribution and the persons entitled thereto have been ascertained and an order or decree for distribution made,[74] nor, in cases where a refunding bond is required,[75] to refuse distribution where such bond has not been given or tendered.[76]

11. Conversion or Waste of Estate. It is a breach of the bond for the principal to convert to his own use or waste the estate committed to him, and for acts of this character, manifesting misconduct or culpable negligence, whereby loss accrues to the estate, he and his sureties are liable on the bond.[77]

12. Failure to Account. There is a breach of the bond where the executor or administrator fails to render accounts of his administration as required by law or by the conditions of his bond,[78] or where in making settlements for the purpose of showing the condition of the estate he fails to render a true and

Texas.— Stewart v. Morrison, 81 Tex. 396, 17 S. W. 15, 26 Am. St. Rep. 821.

Vermont.— Probate Court v. Niles, 32 Vt. 775; Probate Judge v. Fillmore, 1 D. Chipm. 420.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2447.

Where an administrator's account has been adjusted on appeal and a balance ordered to be paid over, a failure to do so is a breach of the bond. Dawes v. Sweet, 14 Mass. 105.

It is the representative's duty to apply for an order of distribution within a reasonable time after settlement of his account and if a loss to the estate occurs through his neglect to do so his bond is liable therefor (Sanford v. Thorp, 45 Conn. 241), and it is not necessary that he should have been requested by the distributees to make such application (Davenport v. Richards, 16 Conn. 310).

If the bond contains no clause securing the interests of distributees, the sureties will not be liable for failure or refusal to distribute (Arnold v. Rabbit, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 665), notwithstanding the bond is conditioned "to well and truly administer according to law" (Barbour v. Robertson, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 93; Moore v. Waller, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 488).

Where the statutory provisions are not followed in the settlement and distribution of the estate the fact that the administrator proceeded under the instructions of the orphans' court will not prevent a liability on the bond to an excluded distributee. Shriver v. State, 65 Md. 278, 4 Atl. 679.

Refusal to comply with a void decree of distribution is no breach of the bond. Hancock v. Hubbard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 167.

On the death of an administrator no action can be maintained on his bond for not taking and distributing certain property belonging to the intestate's estate, because it passes to the administrator de bonis non by whom the settlement of the estate is to be completed. Williams v. Britton, 33 N. C. 110.

74. Ordinary v. Smith, 15 N. J. L. 92; Ordinary v. Martin, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 552.

75. See supra, XI, G.

76. Judge Limestone County Ct. v. Coalter, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 348; Carmichael v. Browder, 3 How. (Miss.) 252. See also Kavanaugh v. Thacker, 2 Dana (Ky.) 137.

77. Alabama.— Thomson v. Searcy, 6 Port. 393.

Connecticut.— Strong v. White, 19 Conn. 238.

Georgia.— Dowling v. Feeley, 72 Ga. 557.

Illinois.— People v. White, 11 Ill. 341.

Indiana.— State v. Bennett, 24 Ind. 383.

Massachusetts.— Hutchins v. State Bank, 12 Metc. 421.

Michigan.— Cranson v. Wilsey, 71 Mich. 356, 39 N. W. 9.

Mississippi.— Burruss v. Fisher, 23 Miss. 228.

New York.— Potter v. Ogden, 136 N. Y. 384, 33 N. E. 228 [affirming 65 Hun 27, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 594]; People v. Dulap, 13 Johns. 437.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Edwards, 92 N. C. 442.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Keil, 9 Phila. 140.

Tennessee.— Summers v. Wilson, 2 Coldw. 469.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2439.

Such waste or conversion may consist in the improvement of the real estate of an intestate with the funds of the estate. Byrd v. Governor, 2 Mo. 102. And if the executor permits his wife to appropriate to her own use money which belongs to the estate such appropriation becomes his own act and makes him chargeable for the money upon his administration bond. Smith v. Jewett, 40 N. H. 513. But the fact that the representative takes security in his own name for a debt due the estate will not in the absence of fraud render him liable for waste. Syme v. Badger, 92 N. C. 706. And the commission of waste or trespass by third persons, with the consent of the administrator, upon the real estate of the deceased will not constitute a breach of a condition to account for thrice the amount of waste and trespass committed with his consent after representation of insolvency, unless the estate has been represented insolvent to the judge of probate. Gilbert v. Duncan, 65 Me. 469.

78. Connecticut.— Warren v. Powers, 5 Conn. 373.

Iowa.— Clark v. Cress, 20 Iowa 50.

Maine.— Webb v. Gross, 79 Me. 224, 9 Atl. 612; Williams v. Esty, 36 Me. 243.

Massachusetts.— Forbes v. McHugh, 152 Mass. 412, 25 N. E. 622; McKim v. Bartlett, accurate account.[79] But it has been held that a refusal to account for a particular sum of money, either on the ground that it was never received, or was not received on account of the estate, or has already been included in an account settled is not a breach of the condition of the bond.[80]

13. Failure to Turn Over Assets to Successor. Failure of an executor or administrator to turn over assets of the estate to his successor in office upon a revocation of his letters or his resignation or removal is a breach of the bond.[81]

F. Conclusiveness of Adjudications Against Principal. By the weight of authority, a judgment or decree against an executor or administrator is, in the absence of fraud or collusion, conclusive against the sureties on the bond,[82]

129 Mass. 226; Coney v. Williams, 9 Mass. 114; White v. Swain, 3 Pick. 365.

Missouri.— Devore v. Pitman, 3 Mo. 179.

Nevada.— McNabb v. Wixom, 7 Nev. 163.

New Jersey.— Ordinary v. Barcalow, 36 N. J. L. 15.

North Carolina.— State v. Davidson, 79 N. C. 423.

Pennsylvania.— Hartzell v. Com., 42 Pa. St. 453; Com. v. Bryan, 8 Serg. & R. 128.

Rhode Island.— Westerly Prob. Ct. v. Potter, 22 R. I. 326, 47 Atl. 889; West Greenwich Probate Ct. v. Carr, 20 R. I. 592, 40 Atl. 844; Providence Municipal Ct. v. McElroy, 18 R. I. 749, 30 Atl. 796; Providence Municipal Ct. v. Henry, 11 R. I. 563.

Tennessee.— Newsom v. Dickerson, Peck 285.

Vermont.— Probate Ct. v. Bates, 10 Vt. 285; Matthews v. Page, Brayt. 106; Wilson v. Keeler, 2 D. Chipm. 16.

England.— Canterbury v. Wills, 1 Salk. 315.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2450.

Where an executor is sole legatee and there are no creditors, a failure to file an account within the time required by law is merely a technical breach which is cured by filing the account before suit brought. McKim v. Harwood, 129 Mass. 75.

A settlement after an action on the bond is instituted will not cure the breach of condition or bar the action. Clark v. Cress, 20 Iowa 50; Wilson v. Keeler, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 16.

The allowance of an account by request of the parties in interest after the time limited by law is a waiver of the breach. Loring v. Kendall, 1 Gray (Mass.) 305.

The sureties are under no obligation to render an account, and before they can be held liable the liability of their principal must be first ascertained and established. Cadwallader v. Longley, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 497, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 756.

Where it does not appear that the delay was contumacious or so continued as to work injury or that any good will be accomplished by a suit on the bond it is not usual for the ordinary to direct it to be prosecuted, although it is lawful for him to do so. Lee's Case, 43 N. J. Eq. 172, 11 Atl. 125.

A settlement out of court, between the heirs and the administrator of an estate, is not a compliance with the condition of the bond given to the judge of probate, to render an account when required in the probate court. Clarke v. Clay, 31 N. H. 393.

Citation or order to account and failure to comply therewith as condition precedent to action see infra, XVII, I, 1, b, (III).

79. Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396.

80. Probate Judge v. Briggs, 5 N. H. 66.

81. Maryland.— State v. Smith, 64 Md. 101, 20 Atl. 1037.

Minnesota.— Balch v. Hooper, 32 Minn. 158, 20 N. W. 124.

Missouri.— State v. Creusbauer, 68 Mo. 254.

New York.— Gerould v. Wilson, 81 N. Y. 573 [affirming 16 Hun 530].

Ohio.— Slagle v. Entrekin, 44 Ohio St. 637, 10 N. E. 675.

Oklahoma.— Greer v. McNeal, 11 Okla. 526, 519, 69 Pac. 893, 891.

Pennsylvania.— Hartzell v. Com., 42 Pa. St. 453.

Tennessee.— Coleman v. Raynor, 3 Coldw. 25.

Texas.— Boulware v. Hendricks, 23 Tex. 667; Baldwin v. Dearborn, 21 Tex. 446.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2436.

A public administrator is not liable upon his bond for a failure to pay over the assets of an estate to the administrators appointed by the probate court, until the court has adjusted his accounts and ordered him to pay over the balance in his hands. Baker v. State, 21 Ark. 405.

An executor's refusal to pay money into the probate court upon his resignation is not a breach of the bond, it being the duty of the court in such cases to appoint a successor who alone would be competent to receive the estate. Willson v. Hernandez, 5 Cal. 437.

82. Alabama.— Martin v. Tally, 72 Ala. 23; Grace v. Martin, 47 Ala. 135; Perkins v. Moore, 16 Ala. 9; Williamson v. Howell, 4 Ala. 693.

California.— Irwin v. Backus, 25 Cal. 214, 85 Am. Dec. 125. See also Chaquette v. Ortet, 60 Cal. 594.

Connecticut.— Willey v. Paulk, 6 Conn. 74; Goodrich v. Thompson, 4 Day 215.

Illinois.— Nevitt v. Woodburn, 160 Ill. 203, 43 N. E. 385, 52 Am. St. Rep. 315 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 346]; Ralston v. Wood, 15 Ill. 159, 58 Am. Dec. 604.

Indiana.— Salyer v. State, 5 Ind. 202.

Kentucky.— Hobbs v. Middleton, 1 J. J.

although they were not parties to the proceeding,[83] and cannot be collaterally questioned by them in an action on the bond,[84] their only remedy being by way

Marsh. 176; Frazer v. Frazer, 76 S. W. 13, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 473; Kennedy v. Crawley, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 346. Compare Stuart v. Hathaway, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 438.

Maine.— Bourne v. Todd, 63 Me. 427.

Maryland.— Jenkins v. State, 76 Md. 255, 23 Atl. 608, 790.

Massachusetts.— White v. Weatherbee, 126 Mass. 450; Heard v. Lodge, 20 Pick. 53, 32 Am. Dec. 197.

Michigan.— Clark v. Fredenburg, 43 Mich. 263, 5 N. W. 306.

Missouri.— State v. Creusbauer, 68 Mo. 254.

Montana.— Kenck v. Parchen, 22 Mont. 519, 57 Pac. 94, 74 Am. St. Rep. 625.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Sulloway, 68 N. H. 511, 44 Atl. 720, 73 Am. St. Rep. 619, 49 L. R. A. 347.

New Jersey.— Ordinary v. Kershaw, 14 N. J. Eq. 527.

New Mexico.— Conway v. Carter, (1902) 68 Pac. 941.

New York.— Power v. Speckman, 126 N. Y. 354, 27 N. E. 474 [affirming 12 N. Y. Suppl. 25]; Scofield v. Churchill, 72 N. Y. 565; Keegan v. Smith, 60 N. Y. App. Div. 168, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 260 [affirming 33 Misc. 74, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 281 (reversing 31 Misc. 651, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 1117)]; Matter of Gall, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 255, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 254; Baggott v. Boulger, 2 Duer 160; Field v. Van Cott, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. 349.

North Dakota.— Joy v. Elton, 9 N. D. 428, 83 N. W. 875.

Ohio.— Smith v. Rhodes, 68 Ohio St. 500, 68 N. E. 7.

Oklahoma.— Greer v. McNeal, 11 Okla. 519, 526, 69 Pac. 891, 893.

Oregon.— Bellinger v. Thompson, 26 Oreg. 320, 37 Pac. 714, 40 Pac. 229.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Ruhl, 199 Pa. St. 40, 48 Atl. 905; In re Yung, 199 Pa. St. 35, 48 Atl. 692; Hartzell v. Com., 42 Pa. St. 453; Garber v. Com., 7 Pa. St. 265.

Texas.— Stewart v. Morrison, 81 Tex. 396, 17 S. W. 15, 26 Am. St. Rep. 821.

Wisconsin.— Wallber v. Wilmanns, 116 Wis. 246, 93 N. W. 47; Barney v. Babcock, 115 Wis. 409, 91 N. W. 982; Roberts v. Weadock, 98 Wis. 400, 74 N. W. 93; Meyer v. Barth, 97 Wis. 352, 72 N. W. 748, 65 Am. St. Rep. 124; Holden v. Curry, 85 Wis. 504, 55 N. W. 965.

United States.— Stovell v. Banks, 10 Wall. 583, 19 L. ed. 1033.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2462.

In South Carolina the authorities are conflicting. In some cases the judgment or decree has been held not to be conclusive but prima facie evidence only (Kaminer v. Hope, 9 S. C. 253; Stewart v. McCully, 5 Rich. 80; Ordinary v. Carlile, 1 McMull. 100; Buckner v. Archer, 1 McMull. 85; Ordinary v. Condy, 2 Hill 313), while in others it has been held conclusive (Norton v. Wallace, 2 Rich. 460 [qualifying Norton v. Wallace, 1 Rich. 507]; Chambers v. Patton, 1 Bailey 130; Lyles v. Brown, Harp. 31) and subject to impeachment by the surety only on the ground of fraud or collusion (Boyd v. Caldwell, 4 Rich. 117. But see Norton v. Wallace, 2 Rich. 460).

There are some exceptions to the rule that the sureties are bound by a judgment recovered against the principal, as where he fails to plead the statute of limitation or allows himself to be defaulted or the judgment is suffered collusively. McKim v. Haley, 173 Mass. 112, 53 N. E. 152.

The sureties on the official bond of a sheriff who has been appointed administrator by virtue of his office of sheriff and has qualified and acted as such under said bond are, in the absence of fraud, concluded by a decree of a probate court against their principal in the final settlement of his accounts as such administrator. Ragland v. Calhoun, 36 Ala. 606.

Where the action was against the administrator personally and on a cause of action for which the estate was not liable the fact that judgment was by mistake entered against the administrator as representative will not make it conclusive against the sureties. Williams v. Hinkle, 15 Ala. 713.

Matters concluded.— While the decree of the probate court on final settlement equally concludes the sureties and the principal as to matters of the account, it is otherwise as to the due execution of the bond or other defenses personal to the sureties. Martin v. Tally, 72 Ala. 23.

83. California.— Irwin v. Backus, 25 Cal. 214, 85 Am. Dec. 125.

Illinois.— Ralston v. Wood, 15 Ill. 159, 58 Am. Dec. 604.

Maryland.— Jenkins v. State, 76 Md. 255, 23 Atl. 608, 790.

Pennsylvania.— In re Yung, 199 Pa. St. 35, 48 Atl. 692.

Wisconsin.— Meyer v. Barth, 97 Wis. 352, 72 N. W. 748, 65 Am. St. Rep. 124.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2462.

84. Connecticut.— Goodrich v. Thompson, 4 Day 215.

Illinois.—Nevitt v. Woodburn, 160 Ill. 203, 43 N. E. 385, 52 Am. St. Rep. 315 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 346].

Massachusetts.— White v. Weatherbee, 126 Mass. 450.

New Jersey.— Ordinary v. Kershaw, 14 N. J. Eq. 527.

New York.— People v. Downing, 4 Sandf. 189; Field v. Van Cott, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. 349.

North Dakota.— Joy v. Elton, 9 N. D. 428, 83 N. W. 875.

Oklahoma.— Greer v. McNeal, 11 Okla. 519, 526, 69 Pac. 891, 893.

Pennsylvania.— Garber v. Com., 7 Pa. St. 265.

of appeal, writ of error, or application for a new trial,[85] or by a direct proceeding in equity.[86] Thus a judgment establishing a devastavit against the representative is conclusive against the sureties;[87] a judgment on final settlement in the probate court is conclusive as to the existence and amount of assets,[88] and a judgment or decree against the representative in favor of a creditor, legatee, or distributee is conclusive as to the nature and validity of the claim,[89] although not

United States.— Stovall v. Banks, 10 Wall. 583, 19 L. ed. 1036.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2462 et seq.

85. Goodrich v. Thompson, 4 Day (Conn.) 215; Ralston v. Wood, 15 Ill. 159, 58 Am. Dec. 604; Garber v. Com., 7 Pa. St. 265; Lyles v. Brown, Harp. (S. C.) 31.

86. Ordinary v. Kershaw, 14 N. J. Eq. 527; Schnell v. Schroder, 1 Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 334. Compare Williamson v. Howell, 4 Ala. 693; Worsham v. McKenzie, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 342.

87. Grimmet v. Henderson, 66 Ala. 521; Salyer v. State, 5 Ind. 202; Governor v. Shelby, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 26; Lowe v. Carlisle, 33 S. C. 597, 11 S. E. 438. Contra, under a statute relating specifically to actions for devastavit. Fauntleroy v. Lyle, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 266.

In an action by creditors for the non-payment of claims against the estate, a judgment establishing the fact that personal property sufficient to pay the claims has been wasted by the representative is conclusive as to the devastavit and is a bar to any order for the sale of lands for the payment of the same. Banks v. Speers, 103 Ala. 436, 16 So. 25.

Showing real amount of assets.— Where it is provided by statute that in an action on the bond for a devastavit an administrator may show the real amount of assets at the time the original judgment was rendered against him the sureties should be allowed the same privilege, although not mentioned in the act. Fauntleroy v. Lyle, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 266.

88. Alabama.— Jones v. Ritter, 56 Ala. 270; Holley v. Acre, 23 Ala. 603; Kyle v. Mays, 22 Ala. 692; Watts v. Gayle, 20 Ala. 817.

Arkansas.— George v. Elms, 46 Ark. 260.

Connecticut.— Goodrich v. Thompson, 4 Day 215.

Illinois.—Nevitt v. Woodburn, 160 Ill. 203, 43 N. E. 385, 52 Am. St. Rep. 315 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 346]; Housh v. People, 66 Ill. 178; Ralston v. Wood, 15 Ill. 159, 58 Am. Dec. 604.

Maine.— Thurlough v. Chick, 59 Me. 395.

Michigan.— Clark v. Fredenburg, 43 Mich. 263, 5 N. W. 306.

Missouri.— Dix v. Morris, 66 Mo. 514; Taylor v. Hunt, 34 Mo. 205; State v. Holt, 27 Mo. 340, 72 Am. Dec. 273; State v. Donegan, 12 Mo. App. 190.

New Jersey.— Ordinary v. Kershaw, 14 N. J. Eq. 527.

New York.— Harrison v. Clark, 87 N. Y. 572; Kelly v. West, 80 N. Y. 139; Power v. Bermester, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 25.

Ohio.— Slagle v. Entrekin, 44 Ohio St. 637, 10 N. E. 675; Perkins v. Scott, 9 Ohio Cir. Ct. 207, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 226. Compare Todd v. Lewis, 2 Handy 280, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 443.

Pennsylvania.— Garber v. Com., 7 Pa. St. 265; Miles v. Com., 2 Walk. 64.

Texas.— Williams v. Robinson, 63 Tex. 576.

United States.—Stovall v. Banks, 10 Wall. 583, 19 L. ed. 1036.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2471.

Annual accounts, as distinguished from the final account and settlement, are prima facie evidence only. State v. Wilson, 51 Ind. 96; State v. Lankford, 55 Mo. 564.

In an action against the representative for a debt of the decedent the only question is that of the decedent's liability and no issue as to the amount of assets is presented, and consequently a judgment establishing the indebtedness is not conclusive on the sureties as to the sufficiency of assets to pay the same. Banks v. Spears, 97 Ala. 560, 11 So. 841.

Receipts in depreciated currency should be stated and explained fully by administrators in their accounts that allowance may be made to them therefor on settlement; and if they do not they will not be allowed to show such matter in defense on their bonds after a decree charging them for the full amount. Bailey v. Dilworth, 10 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 404, 48 Am. Dec. 760.

89. Alabama.— Watts v. Gayle, 20 Ala. 817; Lamkin v. Heyer, 19 Ala. 228.

Illinois.—People v. Stacy, 11 Ill. App. 506.

Kentucky.— Hobbs v. Middleton, 1 J. J. Marsh. 176. Compare Helm v. Donnelly, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 517.

Missouri.— State v. Berning, 74 Mo. 87.

New Hampshire.—Probate Judge v. Tillotson, 6 N. H. 292; Probate Judge v. Robins, 5 N. H. 246.

New York.— Thayer v. Clark, 4 Abb. Dec. 391 [affirming 48 Barb. 243].

Pennsylvania.— Miller v. Com., 2 Pa. Cas. 152, 5 Atl. 438.

South Carolina.— Chambers v. Patton, 1 Bailey 130.

West Virginia.— Although a judgment against the principal is ordinarily only prima facie evidence against the sureties yet a judgment establishing a creditor's debt is conclusive as to its existence, amount, and justness. Crim v. England, 46 W. Va. 480, 33 S. E. 310, 76 Am. St. Rep. 826.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2469.

The confession of a judgment for a claim which is barred by the statute of limitations is not conclusive upon the sureties on the

of the existence or sufficiency of assets to pay the same.[90] The sureties cannot set up in an action on the bond any irregularities in the decree against the principal,[91] or in the proceedings upon which it was based;[92] but they are not precluded from showing that the decree was obtained through fraud or collusion,[93] or that the court exceeded its jurisdiction.[94] In a few jurisdictions, however, it is held that a judgment or decree against the principal is not conclusive against the surety but only prima facie evidence;[95] and in jurisdictions where the general rule is followed it is held not to apply to sureties on the bond of a deceased executor or administrator where the decree is based upon a settlement made by his personal representative,[96] or by an administrator de bonis non,[97] or in cases where judgment is rendered against the representative after his authority as such has terminated,[98] or after the sureties have been discharged from liability.[99]

G. Who May Enforce Liability on Bond — 1. In General. The general rule is that as an administration bond is intended for the benefit and protection of all persons interested in the administration of the estate and the proper application of its assets,[1] an action thereon may be maintained by any person so interested who has sustained an injury by any breach of its conditions.[2] administrator's bond. Dawes v. Shed, 15 Mass. 6, 8 Am. Dec. 80.

An allowance of claims by commissioners in favor of persons who are not judgment creditors may be contested by sureties in an action on the bond. Williams v. Fitch, 2 Root (Conn.) 520.

90. A judgment by confession is not conclusive but only prima facie evidence of a sufficiency of assets to pay the same. Kearney v. Sascer, 37 Md. 264; Iglehart v. State, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 235. See also Vanhook v. Barnett, 15 N. C. 268, holding that a judgment confessed by an administrator is not even prima facie evidence of assets.

91. McClellan v. Downey, 63 Cal. 520; Harrison v. Clarke, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 404; Baggott v. Boulger, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 160; Garber v. Com., 7 Pa. St. 265; Lyles v. Robinson, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 25.

92. Clark v. Fredenburg, 43 Mich. 263, 5 N. W. 306; Lyles v. Brown, Harp. (S. C.) 31. See also Jenkins v. State, 76 Md. 255, 23 Atl. 608, 790.

93. Illinois.— See Housh v. People, 66 Ill. 178; Ralston v. Wood, 15 Ill. 159, 59 Am. Dec. 604.

Maine.— Burgess v. Young, 97 Me. 386, 54 Atl. 910; Hayes v. Seaver, 7 Me. 237.

Massachusetts.— See Heard v. Lodge, 20 Pick. 53, 32 Am. Dec. 197.

New York.— Harrison v. Clark, 87 N. Y. 572; Annett v. Terry, 35 N. Y. 256 [affirming 2 Rob. 556, 28 How. Pr. 324]; People v. Townsend, 37 Barb. 520. Compare People v. Downing, 4 Sandf. 189.

Ohio.— Todd v. Lewis, 2 Handy 280, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 443.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2462 et seq.

Compare Norton v. Wallace, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 460.

94. Browning v. Vanderhover, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 166; Buckner v. Archer, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 85. See also State v. Drake, 52 Ark. 350, 12 S. W. 706.

95. Georgia.— Brown v. Wiley, 107 Ga. 85, 32 S. E. 905; Gibson v. Robinson, 90 Ga. 756, 16 S. E. 969, 35 Am. St. Rep. 250; Bennett v. Graham, 71 Ga. 211; Dunagan v. Dunagan, 38 Ga. 554, decree in equity.

Louisiana.— Canal, etc., Co. v. Brown, 4 La. Ann. 545.

Mississippi.— Lipscomb v. Postell, 38 Miss. 476, 77 Am. Dec. 651 [distinguishing Singleton v. Garrett, 23 Miss. 195].

Tennessee.— Seat v. Cannon, 1 Humphr. 471. See also Young v. Hare, 11 Humphr. 303.

Virginia.— Hobson v. Yancey, 2 Gratt. 73; Craddock v. Turner, 6 Leigh 116.

West Virginia.— Crim v. England, 46 W. Va. 480, 33 S. E. 310, 76 Am. Dec. 826.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2462 et seq.

96. Street v. Henry, 124 Ala. 153, 27 So. 411; Means v. Hicks, 65 Ala. 241; Stallworth v. Farnham, 64 Ala. 259; Gray v. Jenkins, 24 Ala. 516. See also Brooks v. Hope, 139 Mass. 351, 31 N. E. 728.

97. Crouch v. Edwards, 52 Ark. 499, 12 S. W. 1070; Reither v. Murdock, 135 Cal. 197, 67 Pac. 784.

98. Bourne v. Todd, 63 Me. 427.

99. Rutter v. Hall, 31 Ill. App. 647.

1. Stewart v. Phenice, 65 Iowa 475, 22 N. W. 636; Rives v. Patty, 43 Miss. 338; Prosser v. Yerby, 1 How. (Miss.) 87.

In the case of intestacy without heirs or known kindred the bond inures to the benefit of the state in the same manner as to the heirs in other cases. Crawford v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 480.

Purchasers of property of the estate are not immediately interested in the faithful administration of the estate, as are heirs and creditors, and cannot sue on the bond for a loss occasioned by the failure of the representative to comply with statutory requirements in making the sale. Longpre v. White, 6 La. 388.

2. Connecticut.— Blakeman v. Sherwood, 32 Conn. 324.

Iowa.— Stewart v. Phenice, 65 Iowa 475, 22 N. W. 636.

2. Heirs and Distributees. An administration bond inures to the benefit of heirs and distributees as well as creditors,[3] and they may sue for any breach of condition by which they have been injured.[4] If the representative has died, resigned, or been removed, and the estate owes no debts, an heir or distributee may sue without the necessity of the appointment of an administrator de bonis non;[5] but where there are creditors whose claims have not been paid only an administrator de bonis non can sue.[6]

3. Legatees and Devisees. A legatee or devisee may sue on an administration bond where he has been injured by a breach of its condition.[7]

Kentucky.— Com. v. Barstow, 3 B. Mon. 290.

Massachusetts.— Paine v. Gill, 13 Mass. 365.

Mississippi.— Rives v. Patty, 43 Miss. 338; Prosser v. Yerby, 1 How. 87.

Missouri.— State v. Campbell, 10 Mo. 724.

Montana.— Territory v. Cox, 3 Mont. 197.

North Carolina.— Murphy v. McKay, 28 N. C. 397.

South Carolina.— McCorkle v. Williams, 43 S. C. 66, 20 S. E. 744; Kaminer v. Hope, 9 S. C. 253.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2519.

Where an administrator refuses to pay over money which has escheated to the state and the court does not remove him and appoint a successor to proceed against him for its recovery the attorney-general may sue on the administration bond. Fuhrer v. State, 55 Ind. 150.

A receiver appointed to collect assets of the estate in danger of being lost by reason of the refusal of the executor to collect them may maintain a suit against the sureties of the executor in the name of the state for his failure to make such collection. State v. Wilmer, 65 Md. 178, 3 Atl. 252.

The assignee of a decree against the administrator may maintain a suit as relator on the administrator's bond. The commonwealth is technically plaintiff and the use is to the relator. Com. v. Barstow, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 290.

3. Goux v. Moucla, 30 La. Ann. 743; Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123. See also Blakeman v. Sherwood, 32 Conn. 324.

4. Connecticut.— Blakeman v. Sherwood, 32 Conn. 324.

Georgia.— Williams v. Lancaster, 113 Ga. 1020, 39 S. E. 471.

Indiana.— Owen v. State, 25 Ind. 371; State v. Bennett, 24 Ind. 383; State v. Mason, 21 Ind. 171.

Missouri.— State v. Campbell, 10 Mo. 724.

South Carolina.— McCorkle v. Williams, 43 S. C. 66, 20 S. E. 744; Kaminer v. Hope, 9 S. C. 253.

Tennessee.— Newsom v. Dickerson, Peck 285.

Texas.— Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2525.

So far as a widow takes by descent from her husband under the provisions of the statute, she takes as his heir, and therefore may maintain an action against an executor or administrator on his bond. State v. Mason, 21 Ind. 171.

The heirs must show an injury to them as such in order to maintain an action on the bond, and if there are creditors an injury to the estate is prima facie an injury to the creditors and not to the heirs. Peveler v. Peveler, 54 Tex. 53; Remick v. Luter, 32 Tex. 797.

A guardian of infant distributees may sue in the name of the state on an administrator's bond. State v. Campbell, 10 Mo. 724.

The widow or heir of a deceased heir cannot sue on the bond for such heir's distributive interest, but the action must be by the personal representative of the deceased heir. George v. Elms, 46 Ark. 260.

Where a distributee has assigned his interest an action on the bond to recover the same should ordinarily be brought on the relation of the assignor to the use of the assignee (Burch v. Clark, 32 N. C. 172), but the assignee is a "party aggrieved" within the meaning of a code provision permitting the party aggrieved to sue in his own name (Jacobs v. Bogart, 128 Ala. 678, 29 So. 645).

5. State v. Thornton, 56 Mo. 325; Fort v. Fitts, 66 Tex. 593, 1 S. W. 563; Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123. Compare State v. Fulton, 35 Mo. 323; Gilliam v. Watkins, 104 N. C. 180, 10 S. E. 183.

6. Peveler v. Peveler, 54 Tex. 53. See infra, XVII, G, 5.

Where an administrator has left the state and there are creditors whose claims are unpaid an heir in order to sue on the bond must become administrator de bonis non and sue in that capacity. Remick v. Luter, 32 Tex. 797.

7. Graffenreid v. Kundert, 34 Ill. App. 483; Nelson v. Corwin, 59 Ind. 489; State v. Scott, 12 Ind. 529; Paine v. Gill, 13 Mass. 365; Mighton v. Dawson, 38 Ohio St. 650. But compare Newcomb v. Williams, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 525.

In the case of an infant devisee the action should be brought by his next friend (Stevens v. Cole, 7 Cush. (Mass.) 467) or by his lawfully authorized attorney (Territory v. Cox, 3 Mont. 197).

The administrator of a devisee may maintain an action against the surety of the testator's executor for a conversion of the devise. Nelson v. Corwin, 59 Ind. 489.

A devisee having only a contingent estate or a present interest defeasible upon a condition subsequent is not entitled to bring an action on the administration bond. Stevens v. Cole, 7 Cush. (Mass.) 467.

4. Creditors. A creditor of the estate is a person interested in its proper administration and may sue on the bond for a breach of its conditions by which he had been injured,[8] but a creditor of an heir has no direct interest in the bond and is not entitled to sue thereon.[9]

5. Administrator De Bonis Non. At common law an administrator de bonis non could not maintain an action on the bond of his predecessor,[10] the bond being considered as indemnity only to those interested in the estate as creditors, legatees, or distributees,[11] and such is apparently still the law in some jurisdictions;[12] but in most jurisdictions this rule has now been changed and the administrator de bonis non may sue,[13] and indeed it has been held that, where an administrator de

When action should be brought for benefit of estate.— Where the breaches alleged consist of the executor's failure to return an inventory, and wasting and converting the assets to his own use, the action for such breaches should be brought for the benefit of the estate and not for the benefit of a particular legatee or distributee. Dawson v. Dawson, 25 Ohio St. 443.

The assignee of a decree for a legacy cannot sue on the bond to recover the same, since a legacy is not assignable at law and such action can only be maintained on the relation of the person who has the legal right. Burnett v. Harwell, 3 Leigh (Va.) 89.

8. Indiana.— Embree v. State, 85 Ind. 368.
Minnesota.— Forepaugh v. Hoffman, 23 Minn. 295.
New Jersey.— In re Honnass, 14 N. J. Eq. 493.
New York.— Matter of Gall, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 490, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 420; Thayer v. Clark, 4 Abb. Dec. 391, 2 Keyes 620 note [affirming 48 Barb. 243]; People v. Dunlap, 13 Johns. 437.
Texas.— Frank v. De Lopez, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 245, 21 S. W. 279.
Virginia.— Franklin v. Depriest, 13 Gratt. 257; Bush v. Beale, 1 Gratt. 229.
Wisconsin.— Johannes v. Youngs, 45 Wis. 445.
See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2531.

Creditors by decree as well as those by judgment are entitled to sue. Bush v. Beale, 1 Gratt. (Va.) 229. See also Franklin v. Depriest, 13 Gratt. (Va.) 257.

Prejudice of other creditors.— One creditor cannot sue for his individual debt and recover for the full amount thereof to the prejudice of other creditors equally entitled. Newcomb v. Wing, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 168; Dickerson v. Robinson, 6 N. J. L. 195, 10 Am. Dec. 396.

A creditor who has received a third person's note in payment of his debt has no further claim on the estate which can entitle him to an action on the administrator's bond, although the maker of the note subsequently becomes insolvent. Rawson v. Piper, 34 Me. 98.

Right excluded by that of administrator de bonis non see infra, XVII, G, 5.

9. Fay v. Hunt, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 398.

10. Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854; State v. Rottaken, 34 Ark. 144; State v. Gooding, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 567; Blizzard v. Filler, 20 Ohio 479; Chatfield v. Faran, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 488, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 750; U. S. v. Walker, 109 U. S. 258, 3 S. Ct. 277, 27 L. ed. 927.

11. Rives v. Patty, 43 Miss. 338; Prosser v. Yerby, 1 How. (Miss.) 87; Thomas v. Stanley, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 411; Johnson v. Hogan, 37 Tex. 77; U. S. v. Walker, 109 U. S. 258, 3 S. Ct. 277, 27 L. ed. 927.

12. Arkansas.— Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854; State v. Rottaken, 34 Ark. 144. Compare State v. Ferguson, 8 Ark. 172.
Illinois.— Stose v. People, 25 Ill. 600; In re Richart, 58 Ill. App. 91. An administrator de bonis non appointed to succeed an administrator whose letters have been revoked is authorized by statute to sue on the former administrator's bond, but in cases where the former administrator dies the rule remains as at common law. Marsh v. People, 15 Ill. 284.
Kentucky.— Feltz v. Brown, 7 J. J. Marsh. 147; Bradshaw v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. 632.
Mississippi.— Rives v. Patty, 43 Miss. 338; Prosser v. Yarby, 1 How. 87.
Rhode Island.— Scituate Probate Ct. v. Smith, 16 R. I. 444, 17 Atl. 56.
Tennessee.— Thomas v. Stanley, 4 Sneed 411.
United States.— U. S. v. Walker, 109 U. S. 258, 3 S. Ct. 277, 27 L. ed. 927; Beard v. Roth, 35 Fed. 397.
See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2521.

Failure to turn over assets.— In a few jurisdictions an administrator de bonis non may sue on his predecessor's bond for a refusal to turn over specific property of the deceased remaining unadministered but not for former acts of maladministration. Prosser v. Yerby, 1 How. (Miss.) 87. See also Waterman v. Dockray, 78 Me. 130, 3 Atl. 49.

Except as to the unadministered assets of the estate, the administrator de bonis non is not a "party interested," and it is only with respect to such property that he can sue on the bond of his predecessor. Meservey v. Kalloch, 97 Me. 91, 53 Atl. 876.

13. California.— Slater v. McAvoy, 123 Cal. 437, 56 Pac. 49.
Georgia.— Giles v. Brown, 60 Ga. 658.
Indiana.— Sheeks v. State, 156 Ind. 508, 60 N. E. 142; Duffy v. State, 115 Ind. 351, 17 N. E. 615; Myers v. State, 47 Ind. 293; State v. Porter, 9 Ind. 342.

bonis non has been appointed, his right to sue for a breach of the bond of the former representative excludes that of the heirs or creditors.[14]

6. Probate Court or Judge. The probate court cannot voluntarily move in the prosecution of probate bonds, since the prosecutor or real plaintiff must be one who was or may have been injured by the alleged breaches of the condition.[15]

7. Co-Representative. Where one co-representative has died, resigned, or been removed from office, the other may sue on the former's bond for any breach committed by him, where they have given separate bonds,[16] or if they have given a joint and several bond he may, as the representative of the estate, sue on such bond,[17] notwithstanding any individual liability to the sureties on the bond for the acts of his co-representative.[18] One co-representative cannot of course sue on the bond for his own benefit where he is himself in default,[19] but it has been held that an innocent co-representative who is also a legatee may sue on the bond for the default of the other, although by virtue of the bond both might be sued by a creditor or other legatee.[20]

8. Right of Principal to Enforce Liability of Sureties. It has been said that an insolvent administrator may recover against his own sureties for the benefit of the creditors of the estate,[21] but he cannot sue on the bond to recover for his individual benefit.[22]

H. Nature and Form of Remedy —1. In General. The usual method of

Iowa.— Stewart v. Phenice, 65 Iowa 475, 22 N. W. 636.

Kansas.— American Surety Co. v. Piatt, 67 Kan. 294, 72 Pac. 775.

Minnesota.— Balch v. Hooper, 32 Minn. 158, 20 N. W. 124.

Missouri.— State v. Heinrichs, 82 Mo. 542; State v. Hunter, 15 Mo. 490.

New Hampshire.— Prescott v. Farmer, 59 N. H. 90; Probate Judge v. Claggett, 36 N. H. 381, 72 Am. Dec. 314.

New Mexico.— Beall v. Territory, 1 N. M. 307.

New York.— Dunne v. American Surety Co., 43 N. Y. App. Div. 91, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 429; Dunne v. American Surety Co., 34 Misc. 584, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 391; Flanagan v. Maryland Fidelity, etc., Co., 32 Misc. 424, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 544.

North Carolina.— Neal v. Becknell, 85 N. C. 299; Lansdell v. Winstead, 76 N. C. 366.

Ohio.— Foster v. Wise, 46 Ohio St. 20, 16 N. E. 687, 15 Am. St. Rep. 542; O'Conner v. State, 18 Ohio 225; Webb v. Roettinger, 4 Ohio Cir. Dec. 270; Chatfield v. Faran, 1 Disn. 488, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 750.

Texas.— Johnson v. Morris, 45 Tex. 463 [distinguishing Johnson v. Hogan, 37 Tex. 77]; Martel v. Martel, 17 Tex. 391.

Virginia.— Allen v. Cunningham, 3 Leigh 395.

Wisconsin.— Golder v. Littlejohn, 23 Wis. 251.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2521.

A public administrator who has succeeded to the rights of a special administrator and to whom the bond of the latter has been duly assigned for the purpose of prosecution may bring an action as public administrator upon the bond. Dayton v. Johnson, 69 N. Y. 419.

14. State v. Cox, 45 Mo. 311; State v. Dulle, 45 Mo. 269; State v. Fulton, 35 Mo. 323; Gilliam v. Watkins, 104 N. C. 180, 10 S. E. 183; Tulburt v. Hollar, 102 N. C. 406, 9 S. E. 430; State University v. Hughes, 90 N. C. 537; State v. Goodman, 72 N. C. 508; Ferebee v. Baxter, 34 N. C. 64; Spencer v. Moore, 33 N. C. 160, 53 Am. Dec. 401; Baldwin v. Johnston, 30 N. C. 381; Fort v. Fitts, 66 Tex. 593, 1 S. W. 563; Collins v. Warren, 63 Tex. 311; Peveler v. Peveler, 54 Tex. 53.

If the administrator de bonis non refuses to sue, the creditor may bring suit making the administrator de bonis non a party defendant. Thornton v. Park, 61 Ga. 549; Wilson v. Pearson, 102 N. C. 290, 9 S. E. 707.

15. Randolph Dist. Probate Ct. v. Brainard, 48 Vt. 620. See also Williams v. Stoutz, 92 Ala. 516, 9 So. 155; Perkins v. Moore, 16 Ala. 9.

16. Burton v. Tunnell, 5 Harr. (Del.) 182.

17. State v. Wyant, 67 Ind. 25; Nanz v. Oakley, 120 N. Y. 84, 24 N. E. 306, 9 L. R. A. 223 [reversing 37 Hun 495]; Sperb v. McCoun, 110 N. Y. 605, 18 N. E. 441, 1 L. R. A. 490; Boyle v. St. John, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 454.

18. Sperb v. McCoun, 110 N. Y. 605, 18 N. E. 441, 1 L. R. A. 490; Boyle v. St. John, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 454.

Liability of co-representatives who have given joint bond for the acts of each other see supra, XVII, A, 6.

19. Stephens v. Taylor, 62 Ala. 269; Edwards v. White, 12 Conn. 28; Municipal Ct. v. Whaley, 25 R. I. 289, 55 Atl. 750.

20. Municipal Ct. v. Whaley, 25 R. I. 289, 55 Atl. 750. Compare Stephens v. Taylor, 62 Ala. 269.

21. See Wolfinger v. Forsman, 6 Pa. St. 294.

22. Edwards v. White, 12 Conn. 28.

enforcing the liability on an administration bond is by an action brought on the bond in a court of law,[23] although in some jurisdictions other forms of remedy are provided by statute,[24] and in others proceedings in equity are allowed in some cases.[25]

2. Summary Proceedings. In Alabama it is provided by statute that a final decree of the orphans' court shall have the force and effect of a judgment,[26] and that, where execution is issued on such decree and returned "no property found," generally, or in part, execution may forthwith issue against the sureties.[27] This summary remedy fails as to any surety who dies before a final decree is rendered against the principal,[28] or before a return of no property is made,[29] and cannot be extended to his personal representative.[30] The facts essential to authorize the issuance of the execution must appear of record or the execution may be quashed on motion.[31] There are somewhat similar statutory provisions for summary proceedings to enforce the liability on the bond in a few of the other states.[32]

23. Arkansas.— Moren v. McCown, 23 Ark. 93.

Illinois.— People v. Medart, 166 Ill. 348, 46 N. E. 1095 [affirming 63 Ill. App. 111].

Maryland.— Edes v. Garey, 46 Md. 24.

Michigan.— Hatheway v. Sackett, 32 Mich. 97.

Mississippi.— Halfacre v. Dobbins, 50 Miss. 766; Smith v. Everett, 50 Miss. 575; Buckingham v. Owen, 6 Sm. & M. 502.

New Jersey.— Rorback v. Dorsheimer, 25 N. J. Eq. 516.

South Carolina.— Teague v. Denby, 2 McCord Eq. 207, 16 Am. Dec. 643; Bague v. Blacklock, 2 Desauss. 602.

England.— Bolton v. Powell, 14 Beav. 275, 16 Jur. 24, 51 Eng. Reprint 292.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2485.

24. See infra, XVII, H, 2.

25. See infra, XVII, I, 3, c, (III).

26. Jenkins v. Gray, 16 Ala. 100; Thompson v. Bondurant, 15 Ala. 346, 50 Am. Dec. 136.

27. Hanna v. Price, 23 Ala. 826; Little v. Heard, 16 Ala. 358; Jenkins v. Gray, 16 Ala. 100; Cawthorn v. Knight, 11 Ala. 579.

In whose name execution issues.— Execution does not issue in favor of the obligee, but the parties in whose favor the decree is rendered are entitled to executions in their own names against the sureties of defendant in the decree. Cawthorn v. Knight, 11 Ala. 579.

Execution against representative of deceased executor.— A return of "no property" on an execution issued against the administrator of a deceased executor upon final settlement of his intestate's administration will not authorize the issuance of execution against the securities of the executor. Jenkins v. Gray, 16 Ala. 100.

Judgment obtained by administrator against his co-administrator.— An administrator who as distributee of the estate obtains a decree and execution against his co-administrator for assets received and not accounted for cannot, on a return of "no property," have execution against the joint securities of himself and his co-administrator. Little v. Heard, 16 Ala. 358.

The official bond of a sheriff becomes an administration bond when the administration of an estate is committed to him ex officio and his sureties are liable to an execution for his default, without a previous suit on the bond. Payne v. Thompson, 48 Ala. 535.

Premature issuance.— A summary execution against the sureties issued before the return-day of the execution against the administrator individually is voidable only, and a sale made thereunder would be valid until set aside. Steele v. Tutwiler, 68 Ala. 107.

28. Thompson v. Bondurant, 15 Ala. 346, 50 Am. Dec. 136.

29. Kirby v. Anders, 26 Ala. 466.

30. Kirby v. Anders, 26 Ala. 466.

31. Hanna v. Price, 23 Ala. 826; Poacher v. Weisinger, 20 Ala. 102; Little v. Heard, 16 Ala. 358; Thompson v. Bondurant, 15 Ala. 346, 50 Am. Dec. 136.

What must appear.— To authorize the issuance of execution there must be: (1) A decree of the orphans' court against the representative on final settlement of his account; (2) an execution issued on such decree with return of "no property found" generally, or as to part; (3) a bond by which the securities are bound for the representative's default. Hanna v. Price, 23 Ala. 826; Little v. Heard, 16 Ala. 358. See also Poacher v. Weisinger, 20 Ala. 102.

A writ of error will not lie where execution has improperly issued but the execution may be quashed. Watkins v. Bassett, 3 Ala. 707.

32. In Iowa the statute provides that "if the executors fail to make payment of any kind in accordance with the order of the court, any person aggrieved by that failure may, on ten days' notice to the executors and their sureties, apply to the court for judgment against them on the bond of the executors. The court shall hear the application in a summary manner, and may render judgment against them on the bond for the amount of money directed to be paid, and costs, and issue execution against them therefor." See Rainwater v. Hummell, 79 Iowa 571, 573, 44 N. W. 814; Hart v. Jewett, 17 Iowa 234; Wheelhouse v. Bryant, 13 Iowa 160. In such a proceeding, it is not necessary to file a petition alleging a breach of the bond. Hart v. Jewett, 17 Iowa 234.

I. Actions on Administration Bonds — 1. Right of Action — a. Actual Injury Necessary. No action for a mere technical breach of an administration bond can be maintained by or for the benefit of a person to whom no injury has resulted,[33] nor is an action on the bond maintainable for an act of the representative where the injury is remote and altogether in the nature of consequential damages.[34]

b. Conditions Precedent — (I) Establishing Liability of Estate. Before a creditor, legatee, or distributee can sue on an administration bond to enforce payment of his claim against the estate the liability of the estate must be established.[35] So a creditor cannot sue on the bond until his claim has been established by a judgment,[36] or has been ascertained and allowed by the probate court;[37] nor

In Tennessee the statute provides that an order of distribution shall operate as a judgment against the representative upon which execution may be issued, and, on a return of execution unsatisfied against the representative, any creditor may on motion have judgment entered against the sureties on the bond. See Cooper v. Burton, 7 Baxt. 406.

33. Connecticut.— State v. Smith, 52 Conn. 557; Olmstead v. Brush, 27 Conn. 530.

Louisiana.— Rison v. Young, 7 Mart. N. S. 294.

Missouri.— State v. Tubb, 22 Mo. App. 91.

New Hampshire.— Gookin v. Hoit, 3 N. H. 392.

North Carolina.— Worthy v. Brower, 93 N. C. 344.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2484.

But compare Forbes v. McHugh, 152 Mass. 412, 25 N. E. 622.

The complaint must show that plaintiff has been actually damaged by the breach complained of. Weihe v. Statham, 67 Cal. 245, 7 Pac. 673.

Not even nominal damages can be recovered where plaintiff has sustained no actual injury. Olmstead v. Brush, 27 Conn. 530. Contra, Edwards v. White, 12 Conn. 28.

The payment of debts in an order different from that provided is not a breach of the bond unless a creditor of the estate or the estate has suffered by reason of such payment. Masterson v. Cauble, 15 Ind. App. 515, 41 N. E. 477, 44 N. E. 377.

The failure of an administrator to take refunding bonds on dividing property among the distributees, although technically a devastavit, will not render him and his sureties liable on his administration bond where deceased had ample other property to pay all his debts (Worthy v. Brower, 93 N. C. 344); but where an administrator without having sufficient assets distributed slaves without taking refunding bonds it was held that the fact that the slaves might have been lost by emancipation if the administrator had retained them constituted no defense to a suit on the bond (Morrison v. Lavell, 81 Va. 519).

34. State v. Todd, 57 Mo. 217.

35. Colorado.— Metz v. People, 6 Colo. App. 57, 40 Pac. 51.

Indiana.— Eaton v. Benefield, 2 Blackf. 52.

New Hampshire.—Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 39.

New York.— Garvey v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 77 N. Y. App. Div. 391, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 337.

South Carolina.—Jones v. Anderson, 4 McCord 113.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2492.

36. Alabama.— Thomson v. Searcy, 6 Port. 393.

Georgia.— Justices Irwin County Inferior Ct. v. Sloan, 7 Ga. 31.

Indiana.— Eaton v. Benefield, 2 Blackf. 52.

Kentucky.—Young v. Duhme, 4 Metc. 239; Lee v. Waller, 3 Metc. 61.

Mississippi.— Dinkins v. Bailey, 23 Miss. 284.

Missouri.—State v. St. Gemme, 23 Mo. 344.

Rhode Island.— Municipal Ct. v. Wilbour, 23 R. I. 95, 49 Atl. 488.

South Carolina.— Jones v. Anderson, 4 McCord 113.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2492.

But compare In re Honnass, 14 N. J. Eq. 493 [explaining In re Webster, 5 N. J. Eq. 89].

A return of nulla bona on an execution issued on the judgment is not essential. Young v. Duhme, 4 Metc. (Ky.) 239.

37. Colorado.— Metz v. People, 6 Colo. App. 57, 40 Pac. 51.

Michigan.— Blackmore v. Perkins, 95 Mich. 446, 54 N. W. 945.

Minnesota.— St. Paul First Nat. Bank v. How, 28 Minn. 150, 9 N. W. 626; Waterman v. Millard, 22 Minn. 261; Wood v. Myrick, 16 Minn. 494.

Missouri.— State v. St. Gemme, 23 Mo. 344.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 39.

Rhode Island.— Providence Municipal Ct. v. Wilbour, 23 R. I. 95, 49 Atl. 488.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2492.

An action for failure to inventory a claim against himself cannot be maintained upon the administration bond of an executor until the claim has been established by the orphans' court. U. S. v. Rose, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,194, 3 Cranch C. C. 174.

Taking possession of partnership assets.— Where the administrator of the individual estate of a member of a firm who dies intestate gives the further bond required by the Kansas statute and takes possession of the entire property of the partnership for the can a distributee or residuary legatee sue on the bond until the amount for distribution and the persons entitled thereto have been ascertained by the probate court.[38]

(II) FINAL SETTLEMENT AND ACCOUNTING. By the weight of authority no action on an administration bond can be maintained by a legatee or distributee for the non-payment of his legacy or distributive share until after a final settlement and accounting in the probate court,[39] for the reason that until then the amount applicable to such payments and the persons entitled thereto are not definitely ascertained;[40] and the same has been held as to suits by creditors for the non-payment of claims against the estate;[41] but a creditor may before final settlement sue on the bond for the non-payment of a claim which has been judicially ascertained and ordered to be paid,[42] or to recover damages for acts of maladministration constituting a breach of the conditions of the bond.[43] A suit purpose of settling the partnership estate and thereafter converts such property to his own use, an action can be maintained against him and the sureties on such bond by any partnership creditor without any allowance of such creditor's claim in the probate court, or any settlement of the partnership affairs in such court. Carr v. Catlin, 13 Kan. 393.

38. Judge Madison County Ct. v. Looney, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 70; Dobbins v. Half-acre, 52 Miss. 561; Thornton v. Glover, 25 Miss. 132.

Where the legacy is specific, the amount definite and certain, and the liability of the obligors absolute according to the conditions of the bond, no allowance by the court is necessary as a condition precedent to an action on the bond for a failure to pay the same. Kreamer v. Kreamer, 52 Kan. 597, 35 Pac. 214.

If defendant confesses a forfeiture of the bond he cannot afterward object that the legatee's demand was not reduced to a certainty by a judgment of court or otherwise. White v. Stanwood, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 380.

39. Alabama.— Judge Limestone County Ct. v. Coalter, 3 Stew. & P. 348.

California.— Weihe v. Statham, 67 Cal. 84, 7 Pac. 143.

Delaware.— State v. Waples, 5 Harr. 257.

Louisiana.— Chapron v. Chapron, 41 La. Ann. 486, 6 So. 810; Kemper v. Splane, 4 La. Ann. 486.

Mississippi.— Jones v. Irvine, 23 Miss. 361.

Missouri.— Ridgway v. Kerfoot, 22 Mo. App. 661.

New Jersey.— O'Neil v. Freeman, 45 N. J. L. 208; Ordinary v. Barcalow, 36 N. J. L. 15.

Ohio.— Pickaway County Treasurer v. Hall, 3 Ohio 225.

South Carolina.— Davant v. Pope, 6 Rich. 247; Ordinary v. McClure, 1 Bailey 7, 19 Am. Dec. 648.

Texas.— Buchanan v. Bilger, 64 Tex. 589.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2453.

Contra.— Robinson v. Elam, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 307; Williams v. Hicks, 5 N. C. 437.

Where no accounting can be had, as in the case of a representative who converts the assets of the estate to his own use and dies insolvent in a foreign jurisdiction, a court of equity will enforce the liability of the sureties without requiring an accounting. Bischoff v. Engel, 10 N. Y. App. Div. 240, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 815.

Where a representative dies, absconds, or is beyond the jurisdiction of the court, the proper method in order to ascertain whether he is liable and to what extent so as to bind the sureties on his official bond is by a proceeding in the nature of a civil action wherein the sureties are made parties. Reither v. Murdock, 135 Cal. 197, 67 Pac. 784.

In an equitable suit on the bond to recover legacies which were a charge upon real estate devised to the administrator with the will annexed who converted the personalty to his own use and died insolvent, the complaint charging that nothing remained of the estate of the testator or of the administrator which could be reached, an accounting was not necessary as the basis of equity jurisdiction. Towner v. Tooley, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 598.

Unless a distributee has tendered a refunding bond he cannot sue until after final settlement. Judge Limestone County Ct. v. Coalter, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 348.

Where the administrator has converted the funds of the estate it is not necessary that he should have been actually removed from office in order for the distributees to be entitled to sue. Owen v. State, 25 Ind. 371.

40. Jones v. Irvine, 23 Miss. 361; O'Neil v. Freeman, 45 N. J. L. 208; Ordinary v. Barcalow, 36 N. J. L. 15.

41. Reed v. Hume, 25 Utah 248, 70 Pac. 998; Marlboro Dist. Prob. Ct. v. Chapin, 31 Vt. 375. Compare Bonny v. Brashear, 19 La. 383.

Deceased executor.— Creditors cannot proceed against the sureties on the bond of a deceased executor without proceeding against the administrator de bonis non for an accounting. Easterling v. Thompson, 1 Rice (S. C.) 346.

If the principal has left the state and the court cannot get jurisdiction over him to compel an accounting an action may be maintained against the sureties. Scharmann v. Schoell, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 398, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 306.

42. Parmlee v. Brashear, 11 La. 329.

43. Ford v. Kittredge, 28 La. Ann. 113; Parmele v. Brashear, 16 La. 72; Probate Judge v. Lee, 72 N. H. 247, 56 Atl. 188.

on the bond for failure to pay over assets of the estate to a successor in office may, it has been held, be maintained before final settlement.[44]

(III) CITATION TO ACCOUNT. In some jurisdictions an action on the bond for a failure to account cannot be maintained until there has been a citation or order for an accounting and a failure to comply therewith,[45] but in others no citation or order is necessary.[46]

(IV) PRIOR JUDGMENT AGAINST PRINCIPAL. In some jurisdictions it is held that an action cannot be brought on an administration bond until after a judgment against the principal establishing his liability,[47] but in others an action may be maintained on the bond in the first instance against both principal and sureties without prior judgment against the administrator alone;[48] and in jurisdictions

Suit for waste.— A creditor cannot sue on the bond for waste unless it appears that the administration is closed, or that there are no assets in the representative's hands, subject to the orders of the probate court, sufficient to pay the debts of the creditor who sues. Hall v. McGehee, 34 Tex. 386.

44. State v. Flynn, 48 Mo. 413; State v. Porter, 9 Mo. 356; Douglas v. Day, 28 Ohio St. 175; Chapman v. Brite, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 506, 23 S. W. 514. Contra, Hudson v. Barratt, 62 Kan. 137, 61 Pac. 737; Adams v. Petrain, 11 Oreg. 304, 3 Pac. 163.

45. Alabama.— Judge Madison County Ct. v. Looney, 2 Stew. & P. 70.

California.— Ashurst v. Fountain, 67 Cal. 18, 6 Pac. 849.

Maine.— Gilbert v. Duncan, 65 Me. 469; Potter v. Cummings, 18 Me. 55; Potter v. Titcomb, 7 Me. 302.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 39; Hurlburt v. Wheeler, 40 N. H. 73.

Rhode Island.— Pawtucket Probate Ct. v. Williams, 23 R. I. 515, 51 Atl. 101; Providence Municipal Ct. v. McCulla, 21 R. I. 273, 43 Atl. 182; Glocester Prob. Ct. v. Eddy, 8 R. I. 339.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2490.

Insolvent estates are not within the application of the rule. Webb v. Gross, 79 Me. 224, 9 Atl. 612. Contra, Georgia Dist. Prob. Ct. v. Vanduzer, 13 Vt. 135.

46. Massachusetts.— Richardson v. Oakman, 15 Gray 57. See also Fuller v. Cushman, 170 Mass. 286, 49 N. E. 631.

North Carolina.— State v. Davidson, 79 N. C. 423.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Bryan, 8 Serg. & R. 128.

South Carolina.— Ordinary v. Hunt, 1 McMull. 380 [in effect overruling Simkins v. Powers, 2 Nott & M. 213; Ordinary v. Williams, 1 Nott & M. 587; Lining v. Giles, 3 Brev. 530].

England.— Canterbury v. Wills, 1 Salk. 315.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2490.

47. Alabama.— Judge Benton County Ct. v. Price, 6 Ala. 36; Moore v. Armstrong, 9 Port. 697; Judge Limestone County Ct. v. Coalter, 3 Stew. & P. 348.

Louisiana.— Ricks v. Gantt, 35 La. Ann. 920; Pickett v. Gilmer, 32 La. Ann. 991.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Stub, 11 Pa. St. 150, 51 Am. Dec. 515.

South Carolina.— Hoell v. Blanchard, 4 Desauss. 21.

Virginia.— Taylor v. Stewart, 5 Call 520.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2458.

Exceptions to this rule have been made in cases where the representative absconded, concealed himself, or resided without the jurisdiction of the court (Com. v. Wenrick, 8 Watts (Pa.) 159), and where a removed administrator had settled his administration account, and a balance was ascertained to remain in his hands which he refused to pay over (Treasurer v. McElvain, 5 Ohio 200).

The reversal of a judgment in favor of an administrator is sufficient to enable the party against whom the prior judgment was rendered to maintain an action on the bond to recover money paid in satisfaction of the judgment without obtaining any further judgment against the administrator. Smoot v. Bigstaff, 32 S. W. 410, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 760.

A judgment against an administrator who has died need not be revived against his personal representative in order to make it the basis of an action against the sureties of the first administrator. Pilcher v. Drennan, 51 Miss. 873.

The securities on the administration bond of a sheriff acting as administrator are only liable after a judgment fixing liability against him as administrator. Territory v. Redding, 1 Fla. 242.

48. Georgia.— Johnson v. Koockogey, 23 Ga. 183.

Indiana.— Heady v. State, 60 Ind. 316.

Massachusetts.— Where the action is brought not for the benefit of a creditor but for the benefit of an administrator de bonis non no prior judgment against the representative is necessary. Fuller v. Dupont, 183 Mass. 596, 67 N. E. 662.

New Mexico.— Beall v. Territory, 1 N. M. 507.

North Carolina.— Strickland v. Murphy, 52 N. C. 242 [distinguishing Ferebee v. Baxter, 34 N. C. 64]; Chairman of Ct. v. Moore, 6 N. C. 22.

Ohio.— It seems that the rule formerly in force requiring a judgment against the administrator before suit on the bond (see Treasurer v. Kemp, 5 Ohio 240; Stewart v. Treasurer, 4 Ohio 98) has now been changed where a judgment against the principal is a condition precedent to an action at law on the bond it has been held that the liability of the sureties might be enforced in equity without such prior judgment.[49]

(v) Return of Execution Against Principal. In some jurisdictions there must be not only a judgment against the representative but also an attempt to enforce the same against him before an action on the bond can be maintained,[50] but in others a judgment establishing the principal's liability is sufficient without the necessity of a return of execution against him unsatisfied.[51]

by statute. See State v. Humphreys, 7 Ohio 223.

Tennessee.— Newsom v. Dickerson, Peck 285.

Vermont.— Probate Judge v. Fillmore, 1 D. Chipm. 420.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2458.

49. Moore v. Armstrong, 9 Port. (Ala.) 697; Moren v. McCown, 23 Ark. 93; Clark v. Shelton, 16 Ark. 474.

A bill in equity praying a discovery of the amount and time of a devastavit in order to charge successive sets of sureties according to their respective liabilities may be maintained without first obtaining a judgment against the principal. Alexander v. Mercer, 7 Ga. 549.

A suit against the sureties alone to which neither the administrator nor his representative is made a party cannot be maintained without a prior judgment against the administrator (Moren v. McCown, 23 Ark. 93; Glenn v. Conner, 1 Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 267), except where such joinder is impossible and plaintiff unless allowed to proceed against the sureties alone would be left remediless (Moore v. Armstrong, 9 Port. (Ala.) 697).

50. Louisiana.— It is provided by statute that an action on the bond against the sureties cannot be maintained "until the necessary steps shall have been taken to enforce payment against the principal" (Ricks v. Gantt, 35 La. Ann. 920; Gaillard v. Bordelon, 35 La. Ann. 390; Pickett v. Gilmer, 32 La. Ann. 991; Lobit v. Castille, 13 La. Ann. 563; Wilson v. Murrell, 6 Rob. 68), the "necessary steps" being suit, judgment, and execution (Ricks v. Gantt, supra) unless the representative be insolvent (Lynch's Succession, 14 La. Ann. 235), which fact to take the case out of the general rule must be judicially established (Gaillard v. Bordelon, supra; Pickett v. Gilmer, supra); but if execution against the principal has been returned unsatisfied or his insolvency judicially established no further proceedings before suit on the bond are necessary (Ricks v. Gantt, supra; Bougeat v. Adams, 11 La. Ann. 78. See also Hayes v. Dugas, 51 La. Ann. 447, 25 So. 121).

Maryland.— It is provided by statute that no creditor can maintain an action against the administrator of his debtor upon his administration bond before a non est returned upon a capias ad respondendum against the administrator, or a fieri facias returned nulla bona or other apparent insolvency (Seegar v. State, 5 Harr. & J. 488), and this statute is in force in Washington county, D. C. (U. S. v. Kenedy, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,520, 4 Cranch C. C. 592; U. S. v. Queen, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,019, 3 Cranch C. C. 420), but the act refers in express terms to creditors and does not apply to distributees or other classes of claimants (U. S. v. King, 1 MacArthur (D. C.) 499).

New York.— See Haines v. Meyer, 25 Hun 414.

Virginia.— Taylor v. Stewart, 5 Call 520.

West Virginia.— State v. Hudkins, 34 W. Va. 370, 12 S. E. 495.

Where the letters of an executor have been revoked an action on his bond may, under the New York statute, be maintained without the necessity of a return of execution unsatisfied. Hood v. Hayward, 124 N. Y. 1, 26 N. E. 331 [modifying 48 Hun 330, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 566].

Where compliance impossible.— Where the statutory prerequisite of return of execution against the principal cannot from the nature of the case be complied with the liability of the sureties on the bond may be enforced in a proceeding in equity. Haines v. Meyer, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 414.

Sufficiency of return.— A fieri facias on a judgment against an administrator returned "no unadministered or unincumbered effects found," etc., is a sufficient return of nulla bona to entitle plaintiff to an action on the administration bond. Allen v. Cunningham, 3 Leigh (Va.) 395. Where a fieri facias against an administrator directs the sheriff to levy the amount of the goods, etc., of the deceased and of defendant, a return that "the defendant has no property upon which to levy this execution" does not show a devastavit. Beasley v. Mott, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 354. The surety on an administrator's bond cannot object to the return of nulla bona on a writ of fieri facias against the principal on the ground that the sheriff made his return after the return-day of the writ had passed. Soldini v. Hyams, 15 La. Ann. 551.

An execution against the administrator in his individual capacity, on his failure to pay the judgment creditors of the succession out of the funds of the estate adjudged to be in his hands, is sufficient to authorize proceedings by a creditor against the surety on the administrator's bond. Christian v. Lassiter, 23 La. Ann. 573.

51. Ward v. Yonge, 45 Ala. 474; Emmerson v. Herriford, 8 Bush (Ky.) 229; Lee v. Waller, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 61; McCalla v. Patterson, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 201 [disapproving Thomas v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 121]; Smoot v. Bigstaff, 32 S. W. 410, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 760; Governor v. Choutear, 1 Mo. 771.

(VI) ESTABLISHING DEVASTAVIT IN SEPARATE SUIT AGAINST PRINCIPAL. At common law no action could be brought on an administration bond for a devastavit until after the devastavit was established in a separate suit against the principal,[52] and such appears still to be the law in some jurisdictions.[53] In most jurisdictions, however, although in some of them the earlier decisions supported the common-law rule,[54] an action for a devastavit may now be brought on the bond in the first instance without the necessity of a previous suit against the principal.[55]

(VII) ORDER FOR PAYMENT. By the weight of authority there must be not Compare Judge Limestone County Ct. v. Coalter, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 348.

The principal need not be pushed to insolvency, but a judgment at law or a decree of the orphans' court is all that is necessary as a prerequisite to a suit on the bond. Com. v. Stubb, 11 Pa. St. 150, 51 Am. Dec. 515; Com. v. Dill, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 556.

52. Territory v. Bramble, 2 Dak. 189, 5 N. W. 495; People v. Miller, 2 Ill. 83.

Suits in equity are generally subject to the same rule that a devastavit must first be fixed by a separate suit against the principal, yet in special cases where from some necessity a plaintiff is obliged to come into equity in the first instance the court will, in order to prevent circuity of action, make the sureties parties to the suit. Carow v. Mowatt, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 57; Bacheldor v. Elliott, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 10. Contra, Rorback v. Dorsheimer, 25 N. J. Eq. 516.

53. Dakota.— Territory v. Bramble, 2 Dak. 189, 5 N. W. 495.

New York.— Haight v. Brisbin, 100 N. Y. 219, 3 N. E. 74 [reversing 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 152, 1 How. Pr. 199]; Hood v. Hood, 85 N. Y. 561 [reversing 19 Hun 300].

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Moltz, 10 Pa. St. 527, 51 Am. Dec. 499; Com. v. Fretz, 4 Pa. St. 344; Com. v. Evans, 1 Watts 437.

South Carolina.— Wilbur v. Hutto, 25 S. C. 246; Jones v. Anderson, 4 McCord 113; Lining v. Gile, 2 Treadw. 720.

United States.— Gilpin v. Crandell, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,449, 2 Cranch C. C. 57; Gilpin v. Oxley, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,450, 1 Cranch C. C. 568; Young v. Mandeville, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,161, 2 Cranch C. C. 444.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2459.

The mode of establishing a devastavit after the death of the representative is, under the present practice in New York, by the decree of the surrogate on the accounting of his successor, and this applies to bonds given before the enactment of the code. Potter v. Ogden, 136 N. Y. 384, 33 N. E. 228 [affirming 65 Hun 27, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 594].

What sufficient to show devastavit.— A decree establishing the receipt of sufficient assets and a return of nulla bona on execution sufficiently establishes a devastavit and authorizes a suit on the bond. Ordinary v. Hunt, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 380; Ordinary v. Carlisle, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 100.

54. Illinois.— Biggs v. Postlewait, 1 Ill. 198.

Kentucky.— Clark v. Com., 5 T. B. Mon. 99.

Mississippi.— Probate Judge v. Phipps, 5 How. 59.

Ohio.— Treasurer v. Kemp, 5 Ohio 240; Stewart v. Treasurer, 4 Ohio 98; Cadwallader v. Longley, 1 Disn. 497, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 811.

Virginia.— Hairston v. Hughes, 3 Munf. 568; Catlett v. Carter, 2 Munf. 24; Gordon v. Frederick Justices, 1 Munf. 1; Turner v. Chinn, 1 Hen. & M. 53; Bacheldor v. Elliott, 1 Hen. & M. 10; Braxton v. Winslow, 4 Call 308, 1 Wash. 31; Call v. Ruffin, 1 Call 333.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2459.

Where an administrator has died or been removed, a creditor may establish his claim against the estate by an action against the administrator de bonis non and make this judgment the basis of a suit upon the bond of the original administrator for a devastavit committed by him. Pilcher v. Drennan, 51 Miss. 873.

A judgment against the administrator in chief cannot be made the foundation of a suit against an administrator de bonis non and his surety for a devastavit, but he may be made liable to the extent of the assets in his hands by a revival of the judgment against him. Ruff v. Smith, 31 Miss. 59.

An action against the administrator alone could be brought on the bond without a previous suit against him personally suggesting a devastavit. Mead v. Brooking, 3 Munf. (Va.) 548.

55. Alabama.— Dean v. Portis, 11 Ala. 104; Thomson v. Searcy, 6 Port. 393.

Colorado.— Howe v. People, 7 Colo. App. 535, 44 Pac. 512.

Georgia.— Code, § 3398, provides that "no prior judgment, establishing the liability of the administrator for a devastavit by him, shall be necessary before suit against the sureties on the bond" (Morgan v. West, 43 Ga. 275), but some doubt has been expressed as to the application of this section (Henderson v. Levy, 52 Ga. 35), since it is provided by the Civil Code, § 3503, that in actions by a creditor a prior judgment against the representative is necessary except in certain specified cases (Richardson v. Whitworth, 103 Ga. 741, 30 S. E. 573), one of which is where the representative "shall remove from the state" (Giles v. Brown, 60 Ga. 658).

Illinois.— People v. Miller, 2 Ill. 83.

Kentucky.— Lee v. Waller, 3 Metc. 61;

only a final settlement,[56] but also an order of court directing payment to be made, and a failure to comply therewith, before an action on the bond can be brought by a distributee,[57] a legatee,[58] a person entitled to allowance for support,[59] or a creditor [60] for the non-payment of his claim; but no order to pay over assets of the estate to a successor in office is necessary.[61]

Clarkson v. Com., 2 J. J. Marsh. 19; Hobbs v. Middleton, 1 J. J. Marsh. 176.

Mississippi.— Dobbins v. Halfacre, 52 Miss. 561.

Missouri.— Governor v. Chouteau, 1 Mo. 731. See also Oldham v. Trimble, 15 Mo. 225.

North Carolina.— Lewis v. Fagan, 13 N. C. 298.

Ohio.— Stewart v. Treasurer, 4 Ohio 98 note. See also State v. Humphreys, 7 Ohio 223.

Tennessee.— Newson v. Dickerson, Peck 285.

Texas.— Francis v. Northcote, 6 Tex. 185.

Virginia.— Bush v. Beale, 1 Gratt. 229; Dabney v. Smith, 5 Leigh 13; Allen v. Cunningham, 3 Leigh 395.

Wisconsin.— Wallber v. Wilmanns, 116 Wis. 246, 93 N. E. 47.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2459.

A suit in chancery lies against an administrator and the sureties on his general administration bond, and upon a bond given by him for the faithful application of the proceeds of lands without alleging or first having established the devastavit. Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488.

Where an administrator has been removed from office a suit for waste may be brought against him and the sureties on his administration bond on relation of his successor in office, without recovering a previous judgment against the administrator. State v. Johnson, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 529.

56. See supra, XVII, I, 1, b, (II).

57. Alabama.— Judge Limestone County Ct. v. French, 3 Stew. & P. 263.

New Jersey.— See Ordinary v. Barcalow, 36 N. J. L. 15.

Rhode Island.— See Providence Municipal Ct. v. Henry, 11 R. I. 563.

South Carolina.— Ross v. Pettus, 11 Rich. 543.

United States.— Alexander v. Bryan, 110 U. S. 414, 4 S. Ct. 107, 28 L. ed. 195.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2454.

But compare State v. Matson, 44 Mo. 305.

The administrator's failure to pay over rents of real estate received by him to the heirs will not authorize an action on the bond where there has been no order of the court directing such payment. Choate v. Jacobs, 136 Mass. 297.

Sufficiency of order or decree.— The decree for payment must definitely ascertain the person or persons to whom the payment is to be made (Kyle v. Mays, 22 Ala. 673. Compare Ordinary v. Mortimer, 4 Rich. (S. C.) 271), a decree merely ascertaining the aggregate amount due will not authorize a suit on the bond by one distributee to recover his share (Browder v. Faulkner, 82 Ala. 257, 3 So. 30).

A discharge of the representative is not necessary but only that the amount for distribution should have been ascertained and ordered to be paid. Stewart v. Morrison, 81 Tex. 396, 17 S. W. 15, 26 Am. St. Rep. 821.

58. Mississippi.— Jones v. Irvine, 23 Miss. 361.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Adams, 49 N. H. 150.

New York.— Loop v. Northrup, 59 Hun 75, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 144.

Ohio.— Dawson v. Dawson, 25 Ohio St. 443.

Vermont.— Probate Ct. v. Kimball, 42 Vt. 320.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2454.

Contra.— Gould v. Steyer, 75 Ind. 50; Heady v. State, 60 Ind. 316; Ordinary v. Barcalow, 36 N. J. L. 15; Providence Municipal Ct. v. Henry, 11 R. I. 563.

Where an executor is also a residuary legatee and has given bond to pay all debts and legacies, no order for payment is necessary. Hatheway v. Sackett, 32 Mich. 97.

Sufficiency of order.— Where the probate court makes a judgment of the superior court the basis of its decree and orders the amount of the judgment paid, such order is equivalent to a finding by the probate court and an order for distribution. Gandolfo v. Walker, 15 Ohio St. 251.

59. Hamlin v. Kinney, 2 Oreg. 91.

60. Hall v. Brewer, 40 Ark. 433; State v. Stafford, 73 Mo. 658; State v. Modrell, 15 Mo. 421; People v. Barnes, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 492; Manchester Dist. Probate Ct. v. Kent, 49 Vt. 380; Marlboro Dist. Probate Ct. v. Chapin, 31 Vt. 373.

In Minnesota an order directing payment was formerly a prerequisite to an action on the bond by a creditor (Waterman v. Millard, 22 Minn. 261; Wood v. Myrick, 16 Minn. 447), but it is not essential under the present statute (Johanson v. Hoff, 70 Minn. 140, 72 N. W. 965).

In the settlement of an insolvent estate, a creditor cannot sue on the bond until the report of the commissioners has been accepted by the court and an order for payment made. Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 506.

Where it is shown that there are sufficient assets an action on the bond may be brought for failure to pay after demand a claim duly established, although there has been no order of court for payment. State v. Shelby, 75 Mo. 482; Governor v. Chouteau, 1 Mo. 731; Wiley v. Johnsey, 6 Rich. (S. C.) 355.

61. Balch v. Hooper, 32 Minn. 158, 20 N. W. 124; State v. Porter, 9 Mo. 356. Compare People v. Corlies, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 228.

(VIII) DEMAND. Where an executor or administrator has failed to pay creditors, legatees, or distributees it is held in most jurisdictions that no demand for payment is necessary in order to maintain an action on the bond.[62] In a few jurisdictions, however, a demand against the representative is necessary;[63] but no demand is necessary against the sureties,[64] even in jurisdictions where it is necessary against the principal.[65]

(IX) TENDER OF REFUNDING BOND. The tender of a refunding bond by a distributee is not a condition precedent to a right of action on the administration bond, but the question whether the want of such bond was an obstacle to the settlement of the estate is for the consideration of the jury.[66]

(X) ORDER GRANTING LEAVE TO SUE—(A) Necessity. As the general rule an order of court granting leave to sue is a necessary condition precedent to an action on the bond,[67] although in a few jurisdictions this is not required,[68] and

62. Alabama.— Ward v. Yonge, 45 Ala. 474; Kyle v. Mays, 22 Ala. 692.

Connecticut.— Rowland v. Isaacs, 15 Conn. 115; Warren v. Powers, 5 Conn. 373.

Indiana.— Pence v. Makepeace, 75 Ind. 480; Lane v. State, 27 Ind. 108. Compare State v. Bowden, 3 Ind. 504.

Missouri.— State v. Crow, 8 Mo. App. 596.

New York.— People v. Rowland, 5 Barb. 449.

North Carolina.— Hoover v. Berryhill, 84 N. C. 132; Pickens v. Miller, 83 N. C. 543.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2489.

When an administrator resigns it is his duty to pay the money in his hands belonging to the estate into court, or to his successor, and no demand is necessary before suit is brought upon his bond by the administrator de bonis non. Lane v. State, 27 Ind. 108.

63. Rogers v. Mitchell, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 22; Paine v. Moffit, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 496; Paine v. Stone, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 75; Coffin v. Jones, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 61; Dawes v. Head, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 128; Prescott v. Parker, 14 Mass. 429; Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116; Wood v. Myrick, 16 Minn. 494; State v. Cowles, 5 Ohio St. 87; McGovney v. State, 20 Ohio 93.

In Massachusetts a demand is necessary where the action is brought under Pub. St. c. 143, § 10 (McIntire v. Cottrell, 185 Mass. 178, 69 N. E. 1091; Fuller v. Dupont, 183 Mass. 596, 67 N. E. 662), but not where it is brought under Pub. St. c. 143, § 13 (Fuller v. Dupont, 183 Mass. 596, 67 N. E. 662).

In Illinois a demand is necessary in an action for a devastavit (People v. Admire, 39 Ill. 251) or in a proceeding against a defaulting executor or administrator brought under section 115 of the Administration Act but not in an action under section 39 against a representative who has had his letters revoked (Nevitt v. Woodburn, 160 Ill. 203, 43 N. E. 385, 52 Am. St. Rep. 315 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 346]).

If the demand is rendered impossible by the death of the representative, his sureties cannot, in an action on the bond by the distributees, avail themselves of a failure to make the demand. People v. Admire, 39 Ill. 251.

64. Rogers v. Mitchell, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 22; Wood v. Barstow, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 368; Elwell v. Prescott, 38 Wis. 274.

65. Rogers v. Mitchell, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 22. See also Wood v. Barstow, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 368.

66. Mayo v. Mayo, 9 N. C. 329. See also In re Green, 8 N. J. Eq. 550, holding that the question of the necessity of a refunding bond as a condition precedent to an action on the administration bond cannot be considered by the probate court on a petition for leave to sue.

67. Maine.— See Bulfinch v. Waldoboro, 54 Me. 150.

Massachusetts.— McKim v. Roosa, 183 Mass. 510, 67 N. E. 651; Robbins v. Hayward, 16 Mass. 524.

Minnesota.— Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116; Wood v. Myrick, 16 Minn. 494.

Mississippi.— Washburn v. Phillips, 6 Sm. & M. 425.

New Hampshire.— Prescott v. Farmer, 59 N. H. 90; Probate Judge v. Kimball, 12 N. H. 165; Probate Judge v. Tillotson, 6 N. H. 292.

New Jersey.— In re Green, 8 N. J. Eq. 550; In re Webster, 5 N. J. Eq. 89.

New York.— Prentiss v. Weatherly, 68 Hun 114, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 680 [affirmed in 144 N. Y. 707, 39 N. E. 858]; Hood v. Hayward, 48 Hun 330, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 566; People v. Rowland, 5 Barb. 449; Scofield's Estate, 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 323; Scofield v. Adriance, 1 Dem. Surr. 196.

Ohio.— Everett v. Waymire, 30 Ohio St. 308.

Vermont.— Probate Ct. v. Sawyer, 59 Vt. 57, 7 Atl. 281; Rutland Probate Ct. v. Hull, 58 Vt. 306, 3 Atl. 472.

Wisconsin.— Johannes County Judge v. Youngs, 48 Wis. 101, 4 N. W. 32; Elwell v. Prescott, 38 Wis. 274.

United States.— Beall v. New Mexico, 16 Wall. 535, 21 L. ed. 292.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2494.

Objection that suit brought without leave must be by plea in abatement.— Johannes County Judge v. Youngs, 48 Wis. 101, 4 N. W. 32.

68. State v. Wilson, 38 Md. 338; Bartels v. Gove, 4 Wash. 632, 30 Pac. 675.

even in those jurisdictions where it is necessary as a general rule circumstances may render it unnecessary.[69]

(B) Application and Proceedings. The proper course in procuring leave to sue upon an administration bond is to make a written application to the court asking for such authority,[70] which should be made by the person aggrieved by the breach of the bond complained of,[71] and should state the facts upon which the application is based[72] and the interest and claim of the applicant,[73] and be duly verified.[74] The application is ex parte in its character,[75] and it is not necessary to give the obligors notice thereof,[76] or to cite the representative to show cause why it should not be granted.[77] In some cases the applicant is required to give a bond for costs[78] and to file his certificate of leave in the county court.[79]

(C) Form and Effect of Order. The order granting leave to sue must be in writing.[80] If not in conformity with the statute it may be amended by the court.[81] The order when granted is conclusive in all collateral proceedings and its validity cannot be questioned in an action on the bond.[82]

69. Maine.— Leave to sue is necessary in cases where the claims of creditors or distributees have not been ascertained by judgment (Groton v. Tallman, 27 Me. 68), but the rule does not apply to residuary legatees (Williams v. Cushing, 34 Me. 370).

Massachusetts.— There are three cases in which suit may be brought on a bond without obtaining leave of the probate court: (1) By a creditor who has recovered judgment against a solvent estate; (2) by a creditor of an insolvent estate who has obtained a decree of distribution in his favor; and (3) by a person who is next of kin to recover his share of the personal estate after a decree of the probate court ascertaining the amount due to him. White v. Weatherbee, 126 Mass. 450.

New Hampshire.— A claim on a probate bond before a commissioner in insolvency may be prosecuted by an administrator de bonis non without an order by the probate judge permitting it. Prescott v. Farmer, 59 N. H. 90.

New York.— A successor in office need not obtain an order of court granting leave to sue on the bond of his predecessor. Hood v. Hayward, 48 Hun 330, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 566; Dunne v. American Surety Co., 34 Misc. 584, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 391.

Ohio.— Suit may be brought without an order of court by a creditor, legatee, or distributee, provided his claim has been first liquidated by allowance, judgment, or award. State v. Cutting, 2 Ohio St. 1.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2494.

70. Fay v. Rogers, 2 Gray (Mass.) 175.

71. In re Webster, 5 N. J. Eq. 89; In re Webster, 4 N. J. Eq. 558; Probate Ct. v. Sawyer, 59 Vt. 57, 7 Atl. 281. See also In re Northampton County Sav. Bank, 32 N. J. Eq. 689.

72. In re Webster, 4 N. J. Eq. 558.

73. Probate Judge v. Tillotson, 6 N. H. 292.

74. In re Webster, 4 N. J. Eq. 558.

The want of verification of the facts stated in a petition for leave to prosecute an administration bond is not sufficient ground for vacating the order for prosecution. In re Green, 8 N. J. Eq. 550.

75. Washburn v. Phillips, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 425; Elwell v. Prescott, 38 Wis. 274.

76. Bulfinch v. Waldoboro, 54 Me. 150; Fuller v. Cushman, 170 Mass. 286, 49 N. E. 631; Richardson v. Oakman, 15 Gray (Mass.) 57; Probate Judge v. Kimball, 12 N. H. 165; Roberts v. Weadock, 98 Wis. 400, 74 N. W. 93; Elwell v. Prescott, 38 Wis. 274.

77. People v. Rowland, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 449.

78. Rutland Prob. Ct. v. Hull, 58 Vt. 306, 3 Atl. 472.

To whom bond delivered see Dickerson v. Miller, 13 N. J. L. 3.

79. Probate Ct. v. Niles, 32 Vt. 775, holding, however, that the requirement that it be filed at the time the writ is returned need not be strictly complied with but that it may in the discretion of the court be filed later.

80. Fay v. Rogers, 2 Gray (Mass.) 175.

If the decree bears date prior to the bringing of the action evidence is not admissible at the trial to show that it was not reduced to writing till after the action was brought; the proper remedy is by an application to the judge of probate to amend the record. Richardson v. Hazleton, 101 Mass. 108.

An indorsement on a certified copy of the bond that it appeared to the satisfaction of the court that the petitioner was a creditor of the estate and that the administrator had neglected to file an inventory or to render an account as required by law and that on the petitioner's request an action is authorized to be brought on the bond is a sufficiently formal authority. Johannes County Judge v. Youngs, 48 Wis. 101, 4 N. W. 32.

81. Bennett v. Russell, 2 Allen (Mass.) 537.

82. Bennett v. Woodman, 116 Mass. 518; Ordinary v. Poulson, 43 N. J. L. 33; In re Webster, 4 N. J. Eq. 558. Contra, People v. Corlies, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 228, holding that in a suit upon an administrator's bond, ordered by the surrogate, defendants are at liberty to show that there was no previous proceeding which authorized the surrogate to order the bond to be prosecuted.

2. Time to Sue and Limitations — a. Time to Sue. Subject to certain conditions precedent that in some cases must be complied with,[83] an action on an administration bond may be brought as soon as there has been a breach of its conditions,[84] and statutes providing that an action cannot be maintained against a representative by a creditor for a certain period do not apply to actions on the bond.[85] An action on the bond cannot be brought pending an appeal from the order on which the right of action is based,[86] but a mere right to appeal from the order does not suspend the right of action on the bond during the period allowed for taking such appeal.[87]

b. Limitations — (i) Period of Limitation. The statutes relating to suits or claims by creditors of the estate do not apply to actions on the administration bond,[88] but in a number of the states there are special statutes limiting the time within which actions on administration bonds must be brought after the right of action accrues, the periods prescribed varying in the different states.[89]

(ii) When Statute Begins to Run. No cause of action accrues on an administration bond until there has been a breach of its conditions and the statute of limitations begins to run only from the time such right of action accrues.[90] In jurisdictions where such conditions precedent[91] are essential, the statute will not begin to run until there has been a judgment or order establishing plaintiff's claim as a liability of the estate,[92] a final accounting,[93] an order of distribu-

83. See supra, XVII, I, 1, b.

84. Greer v. State, 2 Ohio St. 574.

For failing to file an inventory within the time specified in the conditions of the bond an action may be maintained as soon as that time expires and it is not necessary to wait for a final accounting. Minor v. Mead, 3 Conn. 289.

85. Greer v. State, 2 Ohio St. 574. Compare Hammerle v. Kramer, 12 Ohio St. 252.

86. Wiren v. Nesbitt, 85 Tex. 286, 20 S. W. 128.

87. Lesly v. Osborn, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 90.

88. Fuller v. Dupont, 183 Mass. 596, 67 N. E. 662.

89. See the following cases:

Alabama.— Harrison v. Heflin, 54 Ala. 552.

Arkansas.— Hall v. Cole, 71 Ark. 601, 76 S. W. 1076.

Connecticut.— Edwards v. White, 12 Conn. 28.

Kentucky.—Craddock v. Browning, 70 S. W. 684, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1074.

Maryland.— State v. Boyd, 2 Gill & J. 365.

Missouri.— Nelson v. Barnett, 123 Mo. 564, 27 S. W. 520; Martin v. Knapp, 45 Mo. 48; State v. Ennis, 79 Mo. App. 12.

North Carolina.— Gill v. Cooper, 111 N. C. 311, 16 S. E. 316; Brawley v. Brawley, 109 N. C. 524, 14 S. E. 73; Reaves v. Davis, 99 N. C. 425, 6 S. E. 715; Vaughan v. Hines, 87 N. C. 445.

Virginia.— Morrison v. Lavell, 81 Va. 519; Sharpe v. Rockwood, 78 Va. 24; Leake v. Leake, 75 Va. 792; Tilson v. Davis, 32 Gratt. 92; Franklin v. Depriest, 13 Gratt. 257.

West Virginia.— Hoge v. Vintroux, 21 W. Va. 1.

Wisconsin.— McGonigal v. Colter, 32 Wis. 614.

United States.— Alexander v. Bryan, 110 U. S. 414, 4 S. Ct. 107, 28 L. ed. 195.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2513.

Proceedings by way of citation and attachment are barred by the lapse of the same time as would bar an action at law on the bond. Philips v. State, 5 Ohio St. 122, 64 Am. Dec. 635.

A suit on the bond of a public administrator is governed by the statutes relating to private administrators and not the statute relating to actions against a sheriff, coroner "or other officer" (State v. Ennis, 79 Mo. App. 12), and where a sheriff acts as public administrator by virtue of his office of sheriff the statute limiting actions on the official bonds of sheriffs does not apply (Ragland v. Calhoun, 36 Ala. 606).

The limitation prescribed by the Pennsylvania statute of April 4, 1797, is not applicable to an original administration bond taken by the register, but only to an additional bond given by the executor or administrator by order of the orphans' court. Com. v. Miller, 195 Pa. St. 230, 45 Atl. 921; Miltenberger v. Com., 14 Pa. St. 71; Com. v. Patterson, 8 Watts (Pa.) 515.

90. Frank v. People, 47 Ill. App. 248; Carr v. Catlin, 13 Kan. 393; State v. Pratte, 8 Mo. 286, 40 Am. Dec. 140. See also McGonigal v. Colter, 32 Wis. 614.

As soon as the cause of action accrues, which is as soon as the party has a right to apply to the proper tribunals for relief, the statute begins to run. Ganser v. Ganser, 83 Minn. 199, 86 N. W. 18, 85 Am. St. Rep. 461.

91. See supra, XVII, I, 1, b.

92. Craddock v. Browning, 114 Ky. 298, 70 S. W. 684, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1074; State v. St. Gemme, 23 Mo. 344.

93. Hall v. Cole, 71 Ark. 601, 76 S. W. 1076; George v. Elms, 46 Ark. 260; Vaughan v. Hines, 87 N. C. 445.

In case of the non-payment of a residuary legacy, if all prior claims have been satisfied, the time for contesting the will has expired, and there are assets solely applicable to the

tion,[94] or demand for payment;[95] but it has been held that an order granting leave to sue, although essential, is no part of the cause of action but merely a step in the remedy and that the statute will begin to run from the date of the decree of distribution.[96] For failing to include property in a report of assets, the statute begins from the filing of the report;[97] for converting property of the estate, from the date of conversion;[98] for failure to pay over assets to a successor in office, from the time of demand for payment;[99] for a failure to account, from the time when an accounting is demanded and refused;[1] and for failing to comply with an order of court, from the time limited in the order for such compliance.[2] In Alabama the statute begins as to an action on the bond against the sureties only from the time the default of the principal is judicially ascertained.[3]

3. Jurisdiction — a. In General. Ordinarily, in the absence of statute,[4] or of special circumstances making equitable interference necessary,[5] courts of law have exclusive jurisdiction of actions to enforce the liability on administration bonds.[6] The particular court having jurisdiction varies as to its designation in the different states,[7] and as between different courts of the same state the amount payment of the legacy, a right of action accrues and the statute begins to run, although there has been no final settlement or decree of distribution. State v. Grigsby, 92 Mo. 419, 5 S. W. 39.

Where an administrator dies before final settlement, the statute does not begin to run from his death but from the decree of the court on the final settlement made by his representative. Williams v. State, 68 Miss. 680, 10 So. 52, 24 Am. St. Rep. 297.

94. George v. Elms, 46 Ark. 260; Mortenson v. Bergthold, 64 Nebr. 208, 89 N. W. 742.

Where the time for settlement and distribution is limited by statute and the court neglects at the expiration of this period to make a decree of distribution the statute of limitations begins from the time the right to compel a distribution accrues. Biddle v. Wendell, 37 Mich. 452.

95. Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116; Wood v. Myrick, 16 Minn. 494.

In Illinois where a representative has failed to pay over money in pursuance of an order of court the statute begins to run thirty days after refusal to pay on demand the amount ordered. Frank v. People, 147 Ill. 105, 35 N. E. 530 [affirming 47 Ill. App. 248].

96. Ganser v. Ganser, 83 Minn. 199, 86 N. W. 18, 85 Am. St. Rep. 461 [overruling Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116; Wood v. Myrick, 16 Minn. 494].

97. People v. Ochiltree, 48 Ill. App. 220.

98. Carr v. Catlin, 13 Kan. 393.

99. Gill v. Cooper, 111 N. C. 311, 16 S. E. 316.

1. Stonestreet v. Frost, 123 N. C. 290, 31 S. E. 718.

2. Avery v. Miller, 81 Mich. 85, 45 N. W. 503.

3. Eatman v. Eatman, 82 Ala. 223, 2 So. 729; Bonner v. Young, 68 Ala. 35; Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Alexander v. Bryan, 110 U. S. 414, 4 S. Ct. 107, 28 L. ed. 195 [affirming 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,064, 14 Woods 529].

A probate decree merely ascertaining the amount due the legatee but making no valid order directing its payment will not start the running of the statute. Bryan v. Alexander, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,064, 14 Woods 529 [affirmed in 110 U. S. 414, 4 S. Ct. 107, 28 L. ed. 195].

4. See infra, XVII, I, 3, b, c.

5. See infra, XVII, I, 3, c.

6. Maryland.— Edes v. Garey, 46 Md. 24.

Michigan.— Hatheway v. Sackett, 32 Mich. 97.

Mississippi.— Halfacre v. Dobbins, 50 Miss. 766; Smith v. Everett, 50 Miss. 575.

New Jersey.— Rorback v. Dorsheimer, 25 N. J. Eq. 516.

England.— Bolton v. Powell, 14 Beav. 275, 16 Jur. 24, 51 Eng. Reprint 292.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 2485, 2507 et seq.

7. District court.— Jenkins v. Shields, 36 Iowa 526; Wheelhouse v. Bryant, 13 Iowa 160; Brown v. Gunning, 16 La. 238; Ingram v. Stokes, 10 La. 26; Zander v. Pile, 8 La. 211; Elliott v. White, 5 La. 322. A statutory provision for summary proceedings against the principal and sureties on the bond is not exclusive and does not affect the jurisdiction of the district court. Wheelhouse v. Bryant, 13 Iowa 160. A statute providing that courts of probate shall have power to compel the representatives to account and pay over what they may be found to owe does not affect the jurisdiction of the district court to entertain an action on the bond for failure to make such payment. Brown v. Gunning, 16 La. 238.

Circuit court.— State v. Shelby, 75 Mo. 482; State v. Rankin, 4 Mo. 426.

Superior court.—State v. Berryhill, 84 N. C. 132.

Court of common pleas.— Dawson v. Dawson, 25 Ohio St. 443; Chatfield v. Faran, 1 Disn. 488, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 750.

A bond which the probate judge was not authorized or required to take, by virtue of his office, although good as a common-law bond, is not technically a probate bond, and an action thereon is not governed by the statutes regulating actions on probate bonds. Thomas v. White, 12 Mass. 367.

claimed is sometimes the controlling element in determining which is entitled to take jurisdiction.[8]

b. Probate Courts. Probate courts have no jurisdiction of actions on administration bonds,[9] except where such jurisdiction is conferred by statute;[10] nor has an ordinary any jurisdiction to call the sureties to account for the conduct of their principal or to render any decree against them.[11]

c. Equity Jurisdiction. It is now held in most jurisdictions that the liability on an administration bond may be enforced in a court of equity.[12] In a few jurisdictions this is by virtue of statutory provisions,[13] but in others the decisions are based merely on the ground of avoiding multiplicity of suits and circuity of action where plaintiff was obliged to come into equity in the first instance,[14] and in still others it is held that the liability may be enforced in equity where the remedy at law is inadequate or not available,[15] but that in the absence of special circumstances making equitable interference necessary the remedy at law is exclusive.[16]

8. Brown v. Seaman, 65 Tex. 628.

In Texas the district court has jurisdiction where the amount claimed is over five hundred dollars. Fort v. Fittes, 66 Tex. 593, 1 S. W. 563.

Where a scire facias is sued out on a judgment rendered for the penalty of the bond the amount of the penalty and not the amount of the damages sustained determines the jurisdiction. Hoit v. Bradley, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 262.

9. Louisiana.— Larue v. Van Horn, 25 La. Ann. 445; Hemken v. Ludewig, 12 Rob. 188.

Mississippi.— Washburn v. Phillips, 6 Sm. & M. 425; Green v. Tunstall, 5 How. 638.

Missouri.— State v. Shelby, 75 Mo. 482; State v. Maulsby, 53 Mo. 500. See also State v. Waters, 54 Mo. 112.

Ohio.— Dawson v. Dawson, 25 Ohio St. 443.

Pennsylvania.—Maguire's Estate, 12 Phila. 12.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2508.

10. See State v. Stafford, 73 Mo. 658, holding that under the Missouri act of 1860, establishing the probate court of Carroll county, and giving it jurisdiction of all cases where administrators are necessarily parties, that court has jurisdiction of a suit on an administrator's bond.

11. Ordinary v. Bonner, 2 Hill (S. C.) 468; Ross v. Chambers, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 548; Schnell v. Schroder, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 334.

12. Alabama.— Martin v. Ellerbe, 70 Ala. 326.

Arkansas.— Reinhardt v. Gartrell, 33 Ark. 727; Osborne v. Graham, 30 Ark. 66; Moren v. McCown, 23 Ark. 93.

Georgia.— Alexander v. Mercer, 7 Ga. 549.

Illinois.— People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215.

Indiana.— Anthony v. Negley, 2 Ind. 211; Persons v. Crane, 2 Ind. 157.

Kentucky.— Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. 195; Moore v. Waller, 1 A. K. Marsh. 488.

Mississippi.— Clopton v. Haughton, 57 Miss. 787; Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488; Buie v. Pollock, 55 Miss. 309.

New York.— Onondaga Trust, etc., Co. v. Pratt, 25 Hun 23; Carow v. Mowatt, 2 Edw. 57.

South Carolina.—Taylor v. Taylor, 2 Rich. Eq. 123; McBee v. Crocker, McMull. Eq. 485; Gayden v. Gayden, McMull. Eq. 435 [disapproving Teague v. Dendy, 2 McCord Eq. 207, 16 Am. Dec. 643; Glenn v. Conner, Harp. Eq. 267].

Virginia.— Spottswood v. Dandridge, 4 Munf. 289.

West Virginia.— Thompson v. Nowlin, 51 W. Va. 346, 41 S. E. 178.

United States.— Payne v. Hook, 7 Wall. 425, 19 L. ed. 260; Kendall v. Creighton, 23 How. 90, 16 L. ed. 419; McLaughlin v. Potomac Bank, 7 How. 220, 12 L. ed. 675.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2485.

Contra.— Rorback v. Dorsheimer, 25 N. J. Eq. 516; Bolton v. Powell, 14 Beav. 275, 16 Jur. 24, 51 Eng. Reprint 292.

13. Anthony v. Negley, 2 Ind. 211; Persons v. Crane, 2 Ind. 157; Clopton v. Houghton, 57 Miss. 787; Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488; Brunini v. Para, 54 Miss. 649.

In Mississippi prior to the code of 1871, it was held that the liability on the bond could not be enforced in equity. See Halfacre v. Dobbins, 50 Miss. 766; Smith v. Everett, 50 Miss. 575; Buckingham v. Owen, 6 Sm. & M. 502.

14. Alabama.— Gerald v. Miller, 21 Ala. 433; Moore v. Armstrong, 9 Port. 697.

Arkansas.—Moren v. McCown, 23 Ark. 93; Clark v. Shelton, 16 Ark. 474.

Kentucky.— Moore v. Waller, 1 A. K. Marsh. 488.

South Carolina.—Taylor v. Taylor, 2 Rich. Eq. 123; McBee v. Crocker, McMull. Eq. 485; Knox v. Pickett, 4 Desauss. 92, 199.

United States.— Kendall v. Creighton, 23 How. 90, 16 L. ed. 419.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2485.

15. People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215; Onondaga Trust, etc., Co. v. Pratt, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 23; Carow v. Mowatt, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 57; Spottswood v. Dandridge, 4 Munf. (Va.) 289; Payne v. Hook, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 425, 19 L. ed. 260.

16. People v. Medart, 166 Ill. 348, 46 N. E. 1095 [affirming 63 Ill. App. 111]; Edes v.

4. Venue. An action against an administrator and the sureties on his bond may be brought in the county of the residence of any of the parties, as the obligation of the principal and sureties on the bond is joint and several.[17] Where a bond is given in one state and the principal and sureties afterward become residents of another, a suit on the bond based on a decree rendered in the latter state may be brought in the courts of that state.[18]

5. Defenses — a. In General. In an action on an administration bond the sureties are subrogated to all defenses which would have been available to the principal.[19] They may plead and prove any fact which would negative the liability of the principal,[20] and also any facts which would discharge them from liability,[21] regardless of what the liability of the principal alone might be;[22] but they cannot set up a defense which inures exclusively to the estate and not to the representative.[23] In an action for failing to pay a claim against the estate it is a good defense to show that plaintiff has in his possession[24] or has converted to his own use[25] sufficient funds of the estate to pay the claim, or that the person for whose benefit the action is brought has made a valid settlement of his claim with the representative.[26] It is no defense that in committing the breach complained of the representative acted under advice of counsel,[27] or that since the action was instituted he has been removed from office and a successor appointed,[28] or, where the suit is brought for the general benefit, that the person on whose representation it was instituted will not be entitled to share in the recovery.[29] The fact that certain property of the estate is claimed by a third person is no defense to an action for failing to include it in the inventory.[30] The bond being a continuing obligation, each breach of which furnishes a cause of action, the waiver of any number of breaches is no bar to an action for a subsequent breach.[31]

b. Want of Assets. The want of assets is a good defense to an action on the bond for failure to pay claims against the estate,[32] unless the representative has had assets and his inability to pay the claim in question is due to his own neglect or misconduct;[33] but to entitle a representative to defend upon the ground of insufficiency of assets there must be an inventory filed and a settlement of his Garey, 46 Md. 24; Hood v. Hood, 85 N. Y. 561 [reversing 19 Hun 300]; Scharmann v. Schoell, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 528, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 498; Thomson v. Mann, 53 W. Va. 432, 44 S. E. 246. See also Hoell v. Blanchard, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 21.

The death of an executor does not affect the liability of his sureties as surviving obligors in an action at law, so as to give a court of equity jurisdiction of an action on the bond. Edes v. Garey, 46 Md. 24.

17. Williams v. Lancaster, 113 Ga. 1020, 39 S. E. 471.

18. Johnson v. Jackson, 56 Ga. 326, 21 Am. Rep. 285, holding, however, that the liability will be determined and enforced according to the law of the state where the bond was given.

19. Baines v. Barnes, 64 Ala. 375. See also Fauntleroy v. Lyle, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 266.

20. Bird v. Mitchell, 101 Ga. 46, 8 S. E. 674.

21. Bird v. Mitchell, 101 Ga. 46, 28 S. E. 674. See also Burgess v. Young, 97 Me. 386, 54 Atl. 910.

The principal's failure to comply with a parol agreement with his sureties made at the time of their signing his bond that he would furnish them with an indemnity bond and procure other sureties does not affect their liability and is no defense to the sureties when sued on the bond. State v. Modrel, 69 Mo. 152.

22. Burgess v. Young, 97 Me. 386, 54 Atl. 910.

23. Johnston's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 75.

24. King v. Johnson, 94 Ga. 665, 21 S. E. 895; Everett v. Waymire, 30 Ohio St. 308.

25. Bowen v. Groover, 77 Ga. 126.

26. Cheever v. Congdon, 34 Mich. 296. See also State v. Jones, 131 Mo. 194, 33 S. W. 23.

27. Bourne v. Stevenson, 58 Me. 499.

28. State v. Bloxom, 1 Houst. (Del.) 446.

29. Bennett v. Woodman, 116 Mass. 518.

30. Bourne v. Stevenson, 58 Me. 499.

31. Thayer v. Keyes, 136 Mass. 104.

32. State v. White, 33 Ind. 298; Burgess v. Young, 97 Me. 386, 54 Atl. 910; Thurlough v. Kendall, 62 Me. 166; Fuller v. Connelly, 142 Mass. 227, 7 N. E. 853. See also Coleman v. Hall, 12 Mass. 570.

33. Woodward v. Fisher, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 303.

Want of assets at the time suit is instituted is not alone a defense. Outlaw v. Yell, 8 Ark. 345.

That the estate was exhausted in paying debts is not a defense in an action for a distributive share unless it appears that the debts paid were lawful demands against the estate (Clement v. Hawkins, 96 Ga. 811, 22 S. E. 951), nor, as against a creditor, is it account in the probate court,[34] and in some jurisdictions the defense is not available unless prior to the action on the bond a representation of insolvency was made.[35]

c. Invalidity of Principal's Appointment. Neither principal nor sureties can set up as a defense to their liability on the bond the invalidity of the appointment under which the principal has acted,[36] for not only is the grant of administration not subject to collateral attacks in an action on the bond,[37] but both principal and sureties are estopped from questioning the validity of the appointment[38] by the recitals of the bond,[39] its voluntary execution,[40] and the fact that the principal has acted thereunder and obtained possession of assets of the estate.[41]

d. Performance of Conditions After Suit Commenced. Performance of the conditions of the bond after commencement of the suit thereon will not bar the action,[42] but plaintiff is entitled to recover at least nominal damages for the breach committed.[43]

e. Limitations and Laches.[44] The statute of limitations is a good defense to an action on an administration bond,[45] but as in other cases it cannot be taken advantage of unless pleaded.[46] A representative is not precluded on the ground of being a trustee from pleading the statute,[47] nor does the principle which prevents the statute of limitations from running against the state apply to administration bonds given nominally to the state but really for the benefit of others.[48] The fact, however, that a claim was barred at the time judgment was rendered thereon against the estate is no defense to an action on the bond for failure to pay the judgment.[49] A plaintiff may also be barred on the ground of laches from bringing an action on an administration bond,[50] and a presumption of payment or satisfaction arises after a lapse of twenty years;[51] but the defense of laches is not any defense that the estate was exhausted in paying claims entitled to priority unless such claims were duly exhibited and allowed (Outlaw v. Yell, 8 Ark. 345).

34. McKim v. Haley, 173 Mass. 112, 53 N. E. 152.

35. Phelps v. Swan, Kirby (Conn.) 428; Providence Municipal Ct. v. McElroy, 19 R. I. 712, 36 Atl. 717.

A representation made after suit is instituted is no bar, the remedy of defendants in such a case being to have the case continued until it is ascertained whether the proceedings under that representation will result in an adjudication of insolvency. McKim v. Roosa, 183 Mass. 510, 67 N. E. 651.

36. Alabama.— Kling v. Connell, 105 Ala. 590, 17 So. 121, 53 Am. St. Rep. 144; Burnett v. Nesmith, 62 Ala. 261; Plowman v. Henderson, 59 Ala. 559.

Illinois.— Pritchett v. People, 6 Ill. 525.

Massachusetts.— White v. Weatherbee, 126 Mass. 450.

New Jersey.— Bloomfield v. Ash, 4 N. J. L. 314.

New York.— Power v. Speckman, 126 N. Y. 354, 27 N. E. 474 [affirming 12 N. Y. Suppl. 25]; People v. Falconer, 2 Sandf. 81; Field v. Van Cott, 5 Daly 308.

Pennsylvania.— Shalter's Appeal, 43 Pa. St. 83, 82 Am. Dec. 552.

Tennessee.—State v. Anderson, 16 Lea 321.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2501.

37. Pritchett v. People, 6 Ill. 525. And see supra, II, L, 4.

This rule is subject to exception in cases where the letters were granted upon the estate of a person who was not in fact dead (see supra, I, J, 3, a), or where another representative has been already appointed, or where the record or papers in the case show a lack of jurisdiction. Nash v. Sawyer, 114 Iowa 742, 87 N. W. 707.

38. Nash v. Sawyer, 114 Iowa 742, 87 N. W. 707; Hoffman v. Fleming, 66 Ohio St. 143, 64 N. E. 63.

39. Plowman v. Henderson, 59 Ala. 559; Cutler v. Dickinson, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 386.

40. People v. Falconer, 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 81; Field v. Van Cott, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 308.

41. Bloomfield v. Ash, 4 N. J. L. 314; Hoffman v. Fleming, 66 Ohio St. 143, 64 N. E. 63; State v. Anderson, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 321.

42. State v. White, 33 Ind. 298; Clark v. Cress, 20 Iowa 50; Wilson v. Keeler, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 16.

43. Clark v. Cress, 20 Iowa 50.

44. See supra, XVII, I, 2, b.

45. People v. Ochiltree, 48 Ill. App. 220; State v. Pratte, 8 Mo. 286, 40 Am. Dec. 140. Compare Gold v. Bush, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 579; Georgia Dist. Probate Ct. v. Chandler, 7 Vt. 111.

If the liability is barred which the bond was meant to secure, action on the bond to enforce that liability is barred also. Biddle v. Wendell, 37 Mich. 452.

46. Maddox v. State, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 539.

47. People v. Ochiltree, 48 Ill. App. 220.

48. State v. Pratte, 8 Mo. 286, 40 Am. Dec. 140.

49. Christian v. Lassiter, 23 La. Ann. 573.

50. Rudolph v. Underwood, 88 Ga. 664, 16 S. E. 55.

51. Harrison v. Heflin, 54 Ala. 552; Thompson v. Nations, 112 N. C. 508, 17 S. E.

available to defeat an action which is brought within the period prescribed by the statute of limitations.[52]

6. Set-Off and Counter-Claim. In an action on an administration bond assigning as breaches of the bond acts of misconduct on the part of the representative, the damages to be recovered are not necessarily liquidated and the action is not therefore one in which a set-off is allowable.[53] Furthermore, since an action on the bond is against the obligors individually, they cannot set off as against their personal liability an indebtedness of plaintiff to the estate,[54] nor can the sureties in an action against them set off a claim of the principal against the estate,[55] or against plaintiff.[56] It has been held, however, that in an action for failing to account for property of the estate received by a representative he may set up by way of counter-claim a claim of his own against the estate which has been duly allowed and is entitled to payment.[57]

7. Parties — a. Plaintiff. The question in whose name an action on an administration bond should be instituted is largely regulated by statute and the rule varies in the different jurisdictions.[58] In some jurisdictions the action should be brought in the name of the state[59] or people,[60] or of the governor,[61] ordinary,[62] or probate judge,[63] or the successor in office of such officer;[64] while in others the 432; Diemer v. Sechrist, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 419. Compare Potter v. Titcomb, 7 Me. 302.

The presumption begins to run not from the date of the bond but from the time when plaintiff is entitled to resort to it. Backestoss v. Com., 8 Watts (Pa.) 286.

The presumption is not conclusive but is subject to rebuttal. Miles v. Com., 2 Walk. (Pa.) 64; Burnside v. Donnon, 34 S. C. 289, 13 S. E. 465.

52. Poullain v. Brown, 80 Ga. 27, 5 S. E. 107.

Where plaintiff is obliged to come into equity to enforce the liability on the bond he will not be required to sue within a shorter period than that prescribed by the statute of limitations, especially where the loss of his legal remedy was without his own fault. Hagerty v. Mann, 56 Md. 522.

53. State v. Modrill, 15 Mo. 421.

The remedy of a representative as to his labor and expenses in the management of the estate is by settlement of his account with the court of probate and set-off cannot be allowed in an action on his bond. Wattles v. Hyde, 9 Conn. 10.

54. Vastine v. Dinan, 42 Mo. 269; State v. Modrell, 15 Mo. 421. See also Probate Ct. v. Gale, 47 Vt. 473. Compare Rudolph v. Underwood, 88 Ga. 664, 16 S. E. 55.

55. Vastine v. Dinan, 42 Mo. 269.

56. Norton v. Wallace, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 460.

57. State v. Barrett, 121 Ind. 92, 22 N. E. 969.

Where there has been no decree of distribution determining the amount of his distributive share a representative cannot set up any claim therefor in an action on the bond. Vastine v. Dinan, 42 Mo. 269.

A claim for compensation is forfeited when the representative is removed from office for maladministration, and therefore he cannot set up such claim in reduction of the damages in an action on the bond. Dryfoos v. Cullinan, 17 Kan. 452.

58. See 1 Williams Ex. 645.

59. State v. Shelby, 75 Mo. 482; Woodworth v. Wòodworth, 70 Mo. 601; Sickles v. McManus, 26 Mo. 28; State v. Campbell, 10 Mo. 724; Brown v. McKee, 108 N. C. 387, 13 S. E. 8; Norman v. Walker, 101 N. C. 24, 7 S. E. 468.

It was formerly the law in Missouri that the action must be brought in the name of the governor (see Spear v. Thompson, 1 Mo. 581) or probate judge (see Oliver v. Crawford, 1 Mo. 263).

60. People v. Stacey, 6 Ill. App. 521.

61. Merrit v. Governor, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 489; Arkansas v. Ball, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 530, Hempst. 541.

The name of the person occupying the office and not the name of the office must be used. Arkansas v. Ball, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 530, Hempst. 541. Compare Merrit v. Governor, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 489.

62. Halsted v. Fowler, 22 N. J. L. 48; Williamson v. Updike, 14 N. J. L. 270.

63. Smith v. Russell, 17 Conn. 105; Prescott v. Farmer, 59 N. H. 90; Parker v. Colcord, 2 N. H. 36.

64. Smith v. Russell, 17 Conn. 105.

On an administration bond made payable to the governor and his successors, any subsequent governor may maintain an action, and declare as the "successor" to the governor named in the bond; and he may allege that the bond was made "to the plaintiff." Phillips v. Governor, 2 Ark. 382.

If the succeeding judge is disqualified by interest or position the action may be prosecuted in the name of the judge of an adjoining district. Smith v. Russell, 17 Conn. 105.

An action on a bond which does not conform to the statute and is enforceable only as a common-law bond can be maintained only in the name of the officer to whom it was given or his personal representative, and not in the name of his successor. Frye v. Crockett, 77 Me. 157; Cleaves v. Dockray, 67 Me. 118; Hibbits v. Canada, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 465.

injured person may sue in his own name.[65] In a few states the action may be brought in the name of either the person injured or the nominal obligee for the use of such person.[66] The name of the nominal plaintiff is a matter of form and not of substance and a mistake in that respect is not reached by a general demurrer.[67] A suit may be instituted on the relation of one creditor without joining the others as plaintiffs, but the judgment must be made to inure to the benefit of the estate generally and not to the individual creditor,[68] unless the estate is admitted to be solvent and sufficient to pay all its debts.[69] So also a suit by a legatee should be prosecuted for the benefit of all interested in the fund where there is an insufficiency of assets.[70] Where there are no creditors, a sole heir may sue on the bond of a deceased administrator without having an administrator de bonis non appointed and making him a party,[71] and, after the amount due to each distributee is definitely ascertained, each has a separate right of action and may sue therefor without joining the others.[72] Distributees are not necessary parties plaintiff to a suit brought by an administrator de bonis non on the bond of his predecessor.[73] Where a particular right of action is given by statute to a particular class of claimants other persons, although interested in the estate, are not necessary parties.[74] All persons interested in the subject of the action and in obtaining the relief demanded may join as plaintiffs.[75] So several distributees

65. Alabama.— Jacobs v. Bogart, 128 Ala. 678, 29 So. 645; Amason v. Nash, 24 Ala. 279.

Kansas.— Hudson v. Barratt, 62 Kan. 137, 61 Pac. 737.

Minnesota.— Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116.

Nebraska.— Buel v. Dickey, 9 Nebr. 285, 2 N. W. 884, but prior to the act of 1873 the action was brought in the name of the judge of probate.

New Mexico.— Conway v. Carter, (1902) 68 Pac. 941.

New York.— Williams v. Kiernan, 25 Hun 355; Rowe v. Parsons, 6 Hun 338; Baggott v. Boulger, 2 Duer 160; Cridler v. Curry, 44 How. Pr. 345. Compare Bos v. Seaman, 2 Code Rep. 1.

Ohio.— Mighton v. Dawson, 38 Ohio St. 650.

South Carolina.— McCorkle v. Williams, 43 S. C. 66, 20 S. E. 744; Kaminer v. Hope, 9 S. C. 253.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2538.

A succeeding administrator is the real party in interest in an action on the bond of his predecessor for failing to pay over a balance in his hands and the successor is entitled to maintain such action in his own name. Dayton v. Johnson, 69 N. Y. 419.

The complaint may be amended so as to substitute the real party in interest as plaintiff, where the action is improperly instituted in the name of the state. Hudson v. Barratt, 62 Kan. 137, 61 Pac. 737.

66. Amason v. Nash, 24 Ala. 279.

In Minnesota under Gen. St. (1878) c. 55, actions on probate bonds may be prosecuted "in the name of any person interested therein" whenever the judge of probate so directs (Balch v. Hooper, 32 Minn. 158, 20 N. W. 124), but actions for refusing to obey orders of the probate judge are properly brought in the name of the probate judge (O'Gorman v. Lindeke, 26 Minn. 93, 1 N. W. 841).

In New York the action may be brought either in the name of the real party in interest (Williams v. Kiernan, 25 Hun 355; Rowe v. Parsons, 6 Hun 338; Cridler v. Curry, 44 How. Pr. 345) or in the name of the people as trustee of an express trust (People v. Struller, 16 Hun 234; People v. Townsend, 37 Barb. 520; People v. Laws, 4 Abb. Pr. 292; People v. Laws, 3 Abb. Pr. 450).

In South Carolina the action was brought in the name of the county court judges prior to the act of 1799 and subsequently in the name of the ordinary (Hamilton v. Bostwick, 1 Brev. 221; Fairfield County Judges v. Phillips, 2 Bay 519); but under the present code the action may be brought by the party in interest in his own name (Kaminer v. Hope, 9 S. C. 253) or in the name of the probate judge to whom the bond is payable (Johnson v. Dawkins, 20 S. C. 528).

67. Governor v. Davis, 9 Ala. 917.

68. Embree v. State, 85 Ind. 368.

69. Bonny v. Brashear, 19 La. 383.

70. Towner v. Tooley, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 598.

71. Glover v. Hill, 85 Ala. 41, 4 So. 613.

72. Bramley v. Forman, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 144; Hoover v. Berryhill, 84 N. C. 132.

73. Slaughter v. Froman, 2 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 95; Dunne v. American Surety Co., 43 N. Y. App. Div. 91, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 429.

74. Bridges v. Maxwell, 34 Miss. 309, holding that under a statute authorizing the "heirs of the testator or intestate" to sue on the bond for the removal of property out of the state the widow is not a necessary party plaintiff.

75. Pilcher v. Drennan, 51 Miss. 873; McCorkle v. Williams, 43 S. C. 66, 20 S. E. 744.

Persons interested may be made parties while the action is pending, and any person who may have obtained an order for that may join in the same action,[76] at least where the action is brought before a final decree of distribution;[77] and the representative of a deceased legatee may join in an action with the other legatees.[78]

b. Defendant. Administration bonds are ordinarily joint and several, and either one or all of the obligors may be sued.[79] This was the rule at common law,[80] although it was necessary to treat the bond either as a joint or several obligation and to bring the action either against one obligor or against all of the obligors jointly and not against any intermediate number.[81] This rule is now changed in most jurisdictions and plaintiff may at his option proceed against any number of the obligors.[82] So the principal may be sued without joining the sureties,[83] or the sureties may be sued without joining the principal[84] or the representative of a deceased principal;[85] or some of the sureties may be sued without joining the others.[86] The change in the common-law rule, however, applies only to actions at law and not where the liability is enforced in equity,[87] in which case all the obligors, or their representatives, who are able to respond to plaintiff should be made parties.[88] The representative of a deceased principal or surety may be joined in an action on the bond against the surviving obligors,[89] and in a suit to correct a final settlement the sureties may be joined and their liability as to the amount found due enforced in the same proceeding.[90] The sureties on purpose from the judge of probate may have his name indorsed upon the original writ after the cause is removed into the superior court. Probate Judge v. Tillotson, 6 N. H. 292.

An action in the name of the people may be brought for the benefit of more than one person. People v. Stacey, 6 Ill. App. 521.

76. Murphy v. McKay, 28 N. C. 397. Contra, Jackson v. Bourbon Justices, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 292.

Where either the probate judge or the party in interest may sue, the probate judge and certain of the distributees may join in the same suit. McCorkle v. Williams, 43 S. C. 66, 20 S. E. 744.

77. State v. Thornton, 56 Mo. 325.

78. Maddox v. State, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 539.

79. State v. Bennett, 24 Ind. 383; O'Gorman v. Lindeke, 26 Minn. 93, 1 N. W. 841; Devore v. Pitman, 3 Mo. 182.

If one of the obligors die after an action is instituted against all of them, the action may proceed as if he had not been originally a defendant. Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116.

80. State v. Bennett, 24 Ind. 383.

81. People v. Miller, 2 Ill. 83; Gridler v. Curry, 66 Barb. (N. Y.) 336, 44 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 345; Field v. Van Cott, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 349. See also Blackerby v. Holton, 5 Dana (Ky.) 520.

82. California.— Slater v. McAvoy, 123 Cal. 437, 56 Pac. 49.

Colorado.— McAllister v. People, 28 Colo. 156, 63 Pac. 308.

Illinois.— Curry v. People, 54 Ill. 263; People v. Miller, 2 Ill. 83.

Kentucky.— Robinson v. Elam, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 307.

New York.—Cridler v. Curry, 66 Barb. 336, 44 How. Pr. 345; Field v. Van Cott, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. 349.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators." § 2541.

In Texas the statute requires that the principal shall be joined with the surety except in certain specified cases. Strickland v. Sandmeyer, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 351, 52 S. W. 87. One of two joint principals and the sureties cannot be sued without joining the other principal (Farris v. Berry, 33 Tex. 701), but the representative of a deceased obligor need not be joined in an action against the survivors (Stephenson v. McFaddin, 42 Tex. 322; Strickland v. Sandmeyer, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 351, 52 S. W. 87).

83. Robinson v. Elam, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 307.

84. Bonny v. Brashear, 19 La. 383; Devore v. Pitman, 3 Mo. 182; Field v. Van Cott, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 349. Compare Phelps v. Sawyer, 7 La. Ann. 551.

The action may be dismissed as to the principal and continued as to the surety without discharging the latter from his liability. McAllister v. People, 28 Colo. 156, 63 Pac. 308.

85. Embree v. State, 85 Ind. 368; Flack v. Dawson, 69 N. C. 42.

86. People v. Miller, 2 Ill. 83; State v. Bennett, 24 Ind. 383.

87. People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215.

88. Towner v. Tooley, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 598.

Principal must be joined in a suit against sureties. Lee v. Waller, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 61.

The representative of a deceased obligor must be joined in a suit against the survivors. People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215; Mitchell v. Miller, 6 Dana (Ky.) 79; Hutcherson v. Pigg, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 220.

If a deceased principal has no representative the sureties may be sued alone. Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 195. Compare Lee v. Street, Speers Eq. (S. C.) 373, holding that a representative should be appointed.

89. Myers v. State, 47 Ind. 293; Braxton v. State, 25 Ind. 82; Chatfield v. Faran, 1 Disn. 488, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 750. See also Embree v. State, 85 Ind. 368.

90. Ponton v. Bellows, 22 Tex. 681; Donohue v. Roberts, 1 Fed. 449, 1 McCrary 112.

two separate bonds given by the same principal may be joined in the same action,[91] but successive administrators of the same estate cannot.[92] It has been held that in a suit in equity to enforce the liability of the sureties for the benefit of creditors, the devisees of the testator are necessary parties unless represented by an administrator de bonis non.[93] A misjoinder of parties defendant can be taken advantage of only by those who should not have been made parties.[94]

8. PLEADING — a. Declaration or Complaint — (I) ALLEGATIONS AS TO PLAINTIFF'S INTEREST. The declaration must show in what right or capacity plaintiff sues,[95] the person for whose benefit the action is brought,[96] the nature of his interest or claim,[97] and that the prerequisites necessary to establish the same so as to authorize an action on the bond have been complied with.[98]

(II) ALLEGATIONS AS TO CONDITIONS PRECEDENT. Where there are certain conditions precedent which must be complied with before an action on the bond can be maintained,[99] the complaint must allege a compliance therewith in order to state a good cause of action.[1] So where such conditions are essential, it must

91. Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488. Compare Lewis v. Gambs, 6 Mo. App. 138.

92. Governor v. Hays, 3 Mo. 434.

93. People v. White, 11 Ill. 341.

94. Leggett v. Bennett, 48 Ala. 380.

95. Morton v. State, 25 Ark. 46; State v. Matson, 38 Mo. 489 (holding that the right of plaintiff to sue upon the cause of action stated in the petition must be set forth by averments so as to tender an issue); Cabell v. Hardwick, 1 Call (Va.) 345.

The want of a proper statement in the caption of the complaint as to the capacity in which plaintiff sues is not fatal where this is set out in the body of the complaint. State v. Bartlett, 68 Mo. 581.

An allegation of the assignment of the bond is sufficient without stating that it was for the purpose of prosecution. The surrogate having no power under the statute to assign the bond for any other purpose, this fact will be presumed. Hauenstein v. Kull, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 24.

96. Blakeman v. Sherwood, 32 Conn. 324; Songer v. Mainwaring, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 251; Probate Judge v. Johnson, 4 How. (Miss.) 680; Cabell v. Hardwick, 1 Call (Va.) 345. Compare Clark v. Mix, 15 Conn. 152; Clark v. Russell, 2 Day (Conn.) 112.

The proper place for stating at whose instance the action is instituted is at the beginning and not at the conclusion of the declaration. Porter v. State, 9 Ark. 226.

97. Morton v. State, 25 Ark. 46; State v. Ritter, 9 Ark. 244; Phillips v. Governor, 2 Ark. 382; Eaton v. Benefield, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 52; Songer v. Mainwaring, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 251; Probate Judge v. Johnson, 4 How. (Miss.) 680; Hooe v. Lockwood, 3 Pinn. (Wis.) 42, 3 Chandl. (Wis.) 41. Compare Giles v. Brown, 60 Ga. 658.

The allegation must be positive, and in an action by a distributee the petition must allege that plaintiff is a distributee. It is not sufficient to state that in a proceeding to settle the administrator's accounts it has been adjudged that plaintiff is a distributee. Helm v. Donnelly, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 517.

If the declaration merely shows the relator to be a creditor of the estate, but does not allege that he had recovered a judgment against the estate or show the nature or amount of his demand, it is insufficient. Wright v. State, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 385.

Defective allegation cured by verdict.—Beal v. State, 77 Ind. 231.

A creditor need not allege the class to which his claim belongs where it is alleged that the assets were largely in excess of all liabilities and that they have been wasted by defendant. Frank v. De Lopez, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 245, 21 S. W. 279.

An allegation that judgment was rendered against the administrator as such to be levied de bonis intestati is sufficient, and it is not necessary to allege that it was rendered on a debt which was a proper charge against the estate. Reid v. Nash, 23 Ala. 733.

Where the claim is alleged to have been allowed and approved, it is not necessary to state the items of which it is composed. Frank v. De Lopez, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 245, 21 S. W. 279.

A statement that plaintiff is decedent's widow and entitled under the statute to certain personal property of the estate which she had demanded of the administrator, the statement being filed with a copy of the bond as the cause of action is sufficient, in a suit before a justice. Walker v. Prather, 3 Ind. 112.

98. State v. Cutting, 2 Ohio St. 1.

99. See supra, XVII, I, 1, b.

1. Arkansas.— Morton v. State, 25 Ark. 46; State v. Ritter, 9 Ark. 244; State v. Ferguson, 8 Ark. 172.

Colorado.— Howe v. People, 7 Colo. App. 535, 44 Pac. 512.

Kentucky.— Thomas v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. 121.

Maryland.— Dorsey v. Pannell, 4 Gill & J. 471.

Mississippi.— Probate Judge v. Thompson, 2 How. 808.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 39.

New Jersey.—Ordinary v. White, 43 N. J. L. 22.

Rhode Island.— Pawtucket Prob. Ct. v. Williams, 23 R. I. 515, 51 Atl. 101.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2551.

be alleged that there has been a final accounting and settlement [2] or an order to account and a failure to comply therewith,[3] that plaintiff's claim has been established [4] either by the recovery of a judgment [5] or an allowance thereof,[6] that there has been an order for payment,[7] a demand and failure to comply therewith,[8] a tender of a refunding bond,[9] or in an action for a devastavit that the devastavit has been established in a separate suit against the principal.[10]

(III) Allegation of Execution of Bond. It must be alleged that defendant executed the bond upon which the action is brought.[11]

(IV) Allegation of Conditions of Bond. In some states it is held to be unnecessary to set out the conditions of the bond in the declaration,[12] while in others it is held that, in order to state a cause of action against the sureties, the conditions of the bond must be set out,[13] and a mere allegation that the bond was conditioned according to law is insufficient.[14]

(V) Allegations as to Breach of Conditions. At common law it was not necessary for plaintiff to assign breaches in the declaration, but he might declare on the penalty and then make the assignment in the replication in case defendant should plead performance of the condition as a defense.[15] The modern practice, however, is to set forth the condition and assign the breach in the decla-

2. Probate Judge v. Thompson, 2 How. (Miss.) 808.

3. State v. Ferguson, 8 Ark. 172; Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 39; Pawtucket Probate Ct. v. Williams, 23 R. I. 515, 51 Atl. 101; West Greenwich Prob. Ct. v. Carr, 20 R. I. 592, 40 Atl. 844; Glocester Prob. Ct. v. Eddy, 8 R. I. 339; Georgia Dist. Prob. Ct. v. Vanduzer, 13 Vt. 135.

4. Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 39.

5. Gilbreath v. Manning, 24 Ala. 418.

6. See Gordon v. State, 11 Ark. 12; State v. Ritter, 9 Ark. 244; St. Paul First Nat. Bank v. How, 28 Minn. 150, 9 N. W. 626.

Where the executor is residuary legatee and has given bond for the payment of all debts and legacies, under the Ohio act of March 23, 1840, section 4, the petition need not show a presentment of the claim to the executor, to allow the bringing of the action specified in section 98 of the same act. Stevens v. Hartley, 13 Ohio St. 525.

7. Alabama.— Gilbreath v. Manning, 24 Ala. 418.

Arkansas.— State v. Roth, 47 Ark. 222, 1 S. W. 98; Morton v. State, 25 Ark. 46; Gordon v. State, 11 Ark. 12; State v. Ritter, 9 Ark. 244; State v. Ferguson, 8 Ark. 172.

Colorado.— Howe v. People, 7 Colo. App. 535, 44 Pac. 512.

Missouri.— State v. Modrell, 15 Mo. 421.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Couch, 59 N. H. 39.

Vermont.— Chittenden Dist. Prob. Ct. v. Saxton, 17 Vt. 623; Georgia Dist. Prob. Ct. v. Vanduzer, 13 Vt. 135.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2551.

Averment held sufficient.— The fact that an order was made to pay over money to a successor is sufficiently averred by alleging a refusal to pay over the money "in violation of the order of said court." Rutenic v. Hamakar, 40 Oreg. 444, 67 Pac. 196.

8. Gordon v. State, 11 Ark. 12; State v. Ritter, 9 Ark. 244; Stratton v. McCandless, 27 Kan. 296.

A general averment that the administrator did not pay over the sum in his hands to the persons entitled thereto, "though often requested so to do," is sufficient on general demurrer. State v. Cowles, 5 Ohio St. 87.

Either a demand or an excuse for the omission to make a demand must be averred. State v. Cowles, 5 Ohio St. 87; Woodson v. State, 17 Ohio 161.

9. Probate Judge v. Thompson, 2 How. (Miss.) 808; Ordinary v. White, 43 N. J. L. 22.

10. Wilbur v. Hutto, 25 S. C. 246. See also Burnside v. Robertson, 28 S. C. 583, 6 S. E. 843.

11. Jeffree v. Walsh, 14 Nev. 143.

Sufficiency of allegation.— A complaint alleging that letters were directed to be issued to an executor on "executing a bond according to law," etc., and that he and defendants "duly made and executed the bond required by said order," is good, as against a general demurrer, and need not allege that the bond was approved, filed, and recorded. Evans v. Gerken, 105 Cal. 311, 39 Pac. 725.

12. Woodbridge v. Grant, 1 Root (Conn.) 173; Rice v. Thomson, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 339. See also Davis v. Dickson, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 370 [overruling Fuqua v. Stone, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 435].

13. Mountjoy v. Pearce, 4 Metc. (Ky.) 97; Brewer v. Hill, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 329; Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488.

Where more than one bond is given and the action is on the second bond the purpose of the bond must be stated in order to show for what acts the sureties are liable. Lane v. State, 24 Ind. 421.

14. Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488.

15. Rice v. Thomson, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 339; Calhoun v. Lillard, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 56. See also Davis v. Dickson, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 370 [overruling Fuqua v. Stone, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 435].

An assignment of breaches must appear in some part of the record in order to sustain the judgment. Ward v. Fairfax Justices, 4 Munf. (Va.) 494.

ration,[16] and plaintiff may assign any number of breaches.[17] The breach of the condition must be directly and positively averred,[18] the particular breach or breaches relied on being specifically stated,[19] together with the facts necessary to show the commission of the breach,[20] and that plaintiff has been injured thereby.[21] In other words a specific cause of action must be alleged with reasonable certainty and precision.[22] This, however, is all that good pleading requires,[23] and plaintiff

16. Calhoun v. Lillard, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 56. See also Phillips v. Governor, 2 Ark. 382.

17. See Phillips v. Governor, 2 Ark. 382; West Greenwich Prob. Ct. v. Carr, 20 R. I. 592, 40 Atl. 844.

At common law only one breach could be assigned. West Greenwich Prob. Ct. v. Carr, 20 R. I. 592, 40 Atl. 844.

18. Phillips v. Governor, 2 Ark. 382; Fitch v. Lothrop, 1 Root (Conn.) 88.

19. Newsom v. Dickerson, Peck (Tenn.) 285.

20. Porter v. State, 9 Ark. 226; Phillips v. Governor, 2 Ark. 382. Compare Ordinary v. Phillpot, 1 Bay (S. C.) 462.

The receipt of sufficient assets must be alleged in order to show a breach of condition in failing to pay claims against the estate (Lee v. Waller, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 61; State v. Cutting, 2 Ohio St. 1; Chittenden Prob. Ct. v. Saxton, 17 Vt. 623. Compare Thomson v. Searcy, 6 Port. (Ala.) 393), but a formal averment to this effect is not necessary where the fact appears from the other allegations (Hoggatt v. Montgomery, 6 How. (Miss.) 93. Compare Lee v. Waller, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 61).

A petition against the executor of a deceased executor for breach by the decedent of his bond as executor should allege that neither the deceased executor in his lifetime, nor his executor since, has performed the acts required by law or the order of the court non-performance of which is alleged to constitute the breach. State v. Petticrew, 19 Mo. 373.

Complaints held insufficient.— A complaint alleging that an executor failed to inventory property of the estate is insufficient where it does not allege that he had knowledge of such property. State v. Scott, 12 Ind. 529. A complaint alleging as breaches "failure to return a true inventory" and "unreasonable delay" in selling certain real estate without alleging in what respect the inventory was untrue or the delay unreasonable is too indefinite. Stratton v. McCandless, 27 Kan. 296. Where a legacy was not to be paid until the legatee attained a certain age, a complaint in an action on the bond for failure to pay the same which fails to allege that plaintiff has attained that age and that there are sufficient assets to pay the legacy is insufficient. Rogers v. State, 26 Ind. App. 144, 59 N. E. 334.

21. Stratton v. McCandless, 27 Kan. 296.

22. Arkansas.—Phillips v. Governor, 2 Ark. 382.

Indiana.— Nicholson v. Carr, 3 Blackf. 104.

Kansas.— Stratton v. McCandless, 27 Kan. 296.

Kentucky.— Lee v. Waller, 3 Metc. 61.

Tennessee.— Newsom v. Dickerson, Peck 285.

Vermont.— Probate Ct. v. Hull, 58 Vt. 306, 3 Atl. 472.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2551.

Where plaintiff is interested in only a particular class of assets a complaint alleging a devastavit must specify the particular class. Altheimer v. Hunter, 56 Ark. 159, 19 S. W. 496.

A complaint merely alleging the recovery of a judgment against the administrator for a devastavit without stating that it has not been paid is fatally defective. Irvine v. Williams, 6 Dana (Ky.) 41.

A petition which fails to allege when a devastavit occurred is demurrable, where, under the law then in force, if the devastavit occurred after its passage the action would not lie. Collins v. Warren, 63 Tex. 311.

In an action to charge an administrator for failing to account for money received, it should be alleged that it was received before the account was rendered or that he has since been cited in and has not accounted. Paine v. Fox, 16 Mass. 129.

The authority of the surrogate to issue the letters of administration must be alleged. Mahoney v. Gunter, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 431.

23. Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488; Calhoun v. Lillard, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 56. See also Probate Judge v. Thompson, 2 How. (Miss.) 808; Finney v. State, 9 Mo. 632; Franklin County Treasurer v. McElvain, 5 Ohio 200.

The declaration is sufficient if it properly avers facts which, with the legal presumptions arising thereon, make a prima facie case; and a declaration which avers that the administrator was discharged and his letters revoked by the county court is sufficient without averring facts showing that the court had jurisdiction of the parties and of the subject-matter. People v. Lane, 36 Ill. App. 649.

For illustrations of sufficient assignments see the following cases where the assignment was held sufficient to show a breach of the bond in failing to file an inventory (Edwards v. White, 12 Conn. 28), failure to render accounts (O'Connor v. State, 18 Ohio 225; Providence Municipal Ct. v. McElroy, 18 R. I. 749, 30 Atl. 796), failure to pay claims of creditors (Matthews v. Council, 96 Ga. 780, 22 S. E. 335), failure to pay legacies (Perkins v. Moore, 16 Ala. 9; Heady v. State, 60 Ind. 316), and the commission of a devastavit (Kyle v. Mays, 22 Ala. 692; State v. Bennett, 24 Ind. 383).

need not anticipate and negative matters of defense[24] nor set out matters lying more properly within the knowledge of defendant.[25] Setting out the condition in the language of the bond and alleging its non-performance has been held to be sufficient,[26] but in some cases merely negativing the condition is not sufficient to show a breach.[27] Although only one of several breaches relied on be properly assigned the complaint is good against a general demurrer.[28]

(VI) EXHIBITS. It is not necessary, unless required by statute or rule of court,[29] to file with the complaint a copy of the bond,[30] of the will,[31] or of the settlement made by the representative;[32] and even where a copy of the bond is required to be filed, it does not become a part of the record for the purposes of pleading, but is merely notice to defendant of the cause of action and will not cure a defective statement in the declaration.[33]

b. Plea or Answer — (I) IN GENERAL. The plea or answer must meet the allegations of the declaration or complaint,[34] and must answer the whole cause of action stated therein[35] by stating facts and not merely conclusions without the

The time when the representative received property alleged to have been misappropriated, whether before or after the execution of the bond, is immaterial and need not be alleged. Owen v. State, 25 Ind. 371.

Where the disobedience of a decree of the surrogate is assigned as the breach the complaint need not state the grounds of the decree (Field v. Van Cott, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 349) nor the steps preliminary to making the same (People v. Falconer, 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 81).

24. Thomas v. Searcy, 6 Port. (Ala.) 393; Blagden v. U. S., 18 App. Cas. (D. C.) 370.

Failure to explain the non-joinder of certain parties plaintiff does not affect the sufficiency of the cause of action alleged. Bischoff v. Engel, 10 N. Y. App. Div. 240, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 815.

25. Thomson v. Searcy, 6 Port. (Ala.) 393; Hoggatt v. Montgomery, 6 How. (Miss.) 93; People v. Dunlap, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 437. See also Ordinary v. Phillpot, 1 Bay (S. C.) 462.

26. Porter v. State, 9 Ark. 226; Gutridge v. Vanatta, 27 Ohio St. 366; Carroll v. Foster, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 468. See also Clark v. Russell, 2 Day (Conn.) 112.

All the words of the condition need not be negatived if it is stated in substance and a denial of the performance of that particular duty alleged. Probate Judge v. Thompson, 2 How. (Miss.) 808.

Where the bond does not follow the statutory form the breach must be assigned according to the condition as expressed in the bond given, and if the non-performance of duties not covered by the condition be added the assignment is bad. Ordinary v. Cooley, 30 N. J. L. 179.

27. See Walker v. Hall, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 20; Probate Judge v. Lane, 6 N. H. 55; Probate Judge v. Tillotson, 5 N. H. 413.

In assigning an omission to render an inventory or account, it is necessary to aver that some property came into the administrator's hands. Walker v. Hall. 1 Pick. (Mass.) 20; Probate Judge v. Tillotson, 5 N. H. 413.

28. Whitehall v. State, 19 Ind. 27; State v. Scott, 12 Ind. 529; Probate Judge v. Thompson, 2 How. (Miss.) 808; Providence Municipal Ct. v. McElroy, 19 R. I. 712, 36 Atl. 717; Carroll v. Foster, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 468; Newsom v. Dickerson, Peck (Tenn.) 285.

The proper remedy in a case where the averment of one breach is defective is to move on the trial to exclude all evidence relating to that breach. State v. Porter, 9 Mo. 356.

29. See Rice v. Thompson, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 339.

30. Gibson v. Robinson, 90 Ga. 756, 16 S. E. 969, 35 Am. St. Rep. 250.

31. Braxton v. State, 25 Ind. 82.

32. State v. Bartlett, 68 Mo. 581.

33. Rice v. Thompson, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 339.

34. Outlaw v. Yell, 8 Ark. 345; State v. Tomlinson, 16 Ind. App. 662, 45 N. E. 1116, 59 Am. St. Rep. 335; Probate Judge v. Lane, 50 N. H. 556; Harris v. Davis, 1 N. H. 248.

A plea of nul tiel record in an action not founded on a record but upon a misapplication or wasting of assets presents no issue on the substantial matter in controversy. Cogan v. Duncan, 23 Miss. 274.

In an action for failing to pay claims of creditors, it is not sufficient to allege that the assets have not been wasted or misapplied, since a mere retention of the funds after it was the duty of the representative to pay the claims would constitute a breach of the bond. Cannon v. Cooper, 39 Miss. 784, 80 Am. Dec. 101.

35. State v. Tomlinson, 16 Ind. App. 662, 45 N. E. 1116, 59 Am. St. Rep. 335; Harris v. Davis, 1 N. H. 248. See also Clark v. Cress, 20 Iowa 50; Probate Ct. v. Potter, 25 R. I. 204, 55 Atl. 524.

It is not necessary that one plea should answer the whole declaration or cause of action, it being only necessary that the whole matter of defense pleaded shall cover the whole complaint, and defendant may therefore plead several matters of defense in several pleas, and if all taken together form a sufficient answer to the whole matter of the complaint, the defense is complete. Probate Ct. v. Potter, 25 R. I. 204, 55 Atl. 524 [quot- facts on which they are based.[36] A plea which neither controverts the allegations of the declaration nor presents any matter in avoidance of them is bad on demurrer,[37] as is also a plea which tenders an immaterial issue.[38] Where a settlement and accounting with the proper court is relied on as a defense, a copy or transcript of the records referred to should be filed with the answer.[39]

(II) PERFORMANCE. A general plea of performance in an action on an administration bond where special breaches are assigned is bad on demurrer,[40] but if the declaration does not assign a breach defendant may plead performance and plaintiff must then assign breaches in his replication.[41]

(III) PLENE ADMINISTRAVIT. There are very few cases in which the plea of plene administravit is admissible,[42] unless expressly allowed by statute;[43] but where the plea of plene administravit is no longer in use, the facts necessary to show that the estate has been fully administered may be set up in the answer.[44] It may be pleaded by the sureties where by statute their liability is limited to the amount of the assets,[45] or by the principal where certain claimants are entitled to preference and after exhausting the assets in paying claims in the proper order he is sued for the non-payment of a claim of an inferior class.[46] It is not a good plea where it does not answer the declaration or raise any material issue,[47] and where a judgment is rendered against the principal in an action suggesting a devastavit it is conclusive that he had assets and wasted them and neither he nor the sureties can thereafter plead plene administravit in an action on the bond.[48] A plea of plene administravit must state the time when the administrator was without assets to satisfy the demand in question and should allege that he did not have such assets at the time of the issuing of the original writ or at any time thereafter.[49]

(IV) NIL DEBET. A plea of nil debet in an action on an administration bond where breaches are assigned is bad on demurrer,[50] the breaches assigned being in the nature of several causes of action to which defendant should ing Gould Pl. (4th ed.) c. 6, pt. 2, §§ 102, 103].

36. Reid v. Nash, 23 Ala. 733.

37. Outlaw v. Yell, 8 Ark. 345; Cogan v. Duncan, 23 Miss. 274; Harris v. Davis, 1 N. H. 248.

38. Byrd v. State, 15 Ark. 175.

Plea tendering immaterial issue may be stricken out. Probate Ct. v. Potter, 25 R. I. 204, 55 Atl. 524.

39. State v. Marshall, 20 Ind. 287.

40. Alabama.— Reid v. Nash, 23 Ala. 733.

Arkansas.— Byrd v. State, 15 Ark. 175.

Delaware.— State v. Short, 2 Harr. 152.

Kentucky.— Griffith v. Com., 1 Dana 270.

Maryland.— Shriver v. State, 65 Md. 278, 4 Atl. 679.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2556.

Compare Dawes v. Gooch, 8 Mass. 488.

The plea of defendant must state a special performance showing when, where, and how he performed. Calhoun v. Lillard, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 56.

If defendant traverses the specific breaches assigned affirming that he has in these particulars performed the conditions of the bond there is a good issue between the parties and the plea is sufficient. Stewart v. McCully, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 80.

41. State v. Short, 2 Harr. (Del.) 152; Stewart v. McCully, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 80.

42. Randolph v. Singleton, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 439. See also Daviess v. Mead, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 397.

43. Com. v. Richardson, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 81; Griffith v. Com., 1 Dana (Ky.) 270.

44. McKim v. Haley, 173 Mass. 112, 53 N. E. 152.

45. Alabama.— Amason v. Nash, 24 Ala. 279; Williams v. Hinkle, 15 Ala. 713.

Florida.— See State v. Crawford, 23 Fla. 289, 2 So. 371.

Maine.— Burgess v. Young, 97 Me. 386, 54 Atl. 910.

Minnesota.— See St. Paul First Nat. Bank v. How, 28 Minn. 150, 9 N. W. 626.

Tennessee.— See Calhoun v. Lillard, 4 Hayw. 56.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2503.

Where the plea is not pleaded by name, in which case all material averments would have been considered as duly made, it must be alleged that the administration of the assets was made before the suit on the bond was instituted, and this notwithstanding the record states that the plea was taken "in short by consent." Reid v. Nash, 23 Ala. 733.

46. Randolph v. Singleton, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 439.

47. Probate Judge v. Lane, 50 N. H. 556.

48. Goodwin v. Wilson, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 344.

49. Iglehart v. State, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 235.

50. Alabama.— Reid v. Nash, 23 Ala. 733.

respond;[51] but the plea is not a nullity, and if issue is taken thereon it is incumbent upon plaintiff to prove all the material allegations of his declaration except the execution of the bond.[52]

(v) Non Est Factum. The plea of non est factum puts in issue only the execution of the bond.[53] It admits every other allegation in the declaration,[54] and is a waiver of any legal defense of which the defendant could have availed himself under the condition.[55]

(vi) Pleas in Abatement. Where leave to sue is a condition precedent to suit on the bond, an objection that suit was brought without such leave can be taken only by a plea in abatement,[56] and if not so taken it will be deemed to be waived.[57] The fact that the action is brought by a married woman alone without joining her husband can also be taken advantage of only by a plea in abatement.[58]

(vii) Severance in Pleading. In an action on the bond against both principal and sureties defendants need not plead jointly but may sever and each plead as many pleas as he may deem necessary to his defense.[59]

c. Replication or Reply. In modern practice breaches are usually assigned in the declaration and issue joined on the plea,[60] but if not and defendant pleads performance the specific breaches must be assigned in the replication.[61] Where defendant pleads performance the replication must state facts sufficient to show a breach of condition.[62] The replication in such cases performs the office of a declaration,[63] and there must be the same certainty of averment as would be necessary in the declaration.[64]

d. Rejoinder and Surrejoinder. The rejoinder to be sufficient must answer the whole cause of action set out in the replication,[65] and must support the plea, any departure therefrom being ground for demurrer.[66] If plaintiff files a surrejoinder, it must conform to the replication, and if it sets up another and different breach from the one therein assigned it is bad for departure.[67]

Indiana.— Kirkpatrick v. State, 3 Ind. 521.
Kentucky.— Griffith v. Com., 1 Dana 270.
Mississippi.— State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347.
United States.— Alexander v. Bryan, 110 U. S. 414, 4 S. Ct. 107, 28 L. ed. 195.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2556.

51. State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347.

52. Kirkpatrick v. State, 3 Ind. 521.

53. Pritchett v. People, 6 Ill. 525; People v. Rowland, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 449.

The delivery as well as the signing of the bond is included in its execution and is raised by a plea of non est factum. Cully v. People, 73 Ill. App. 501.

54. People v. Rowland, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 449.

55. Rice v. Thomson, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 339.

56. Prindle v. Holcomb, 45 Conn. 111; Johannes County Judge v. Youngs, 48 Wis. 101, 4 N. W. 32.

57. Prindle v. Holcomb, 45 Conn. 111.

Pleading to the merits is a waiver of the right to object that conditions precedent were not complied with. Ross v. Chambliss, 5 La. Ann. 158.

58. Probate Ct. v. Sawyer, 59 Vt. 57, 7 Atl. 281.

59. Williams v. Hinkle, 15 Ala. 713.

60. Calhoun v. Lillard, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 56.

61. See State v. Short, 2 Harr. (Del.) 152.

62. Griffin v. Pratt, 3 Conn. 513.

In an action for failing to file an inventory a replication to a plea of special performance that the administrator did not exhibit an inventory and concluding to the country is good. Proprietary v. Gibbs, 1 Harr. & M. (Md.) 62.

A replication to a plea of omnia performavit which states in detail sufficient facts to show that defendant was guilty of fraudulent conduct in the sale of property of the estate is sufficient. Probate Judge v. Lane, 50 N. H. 556.

63. State v. Gaither, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 160.

64. Isaacs v. Stevens, 13 Conn. 499; State v. Gaither, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 160.

Sufficiency.— A replication showing the existence of a debt due from the intestate and that the administrator was insolvent would render the surety liable, unless he could prove that the estate of the deceased had been duly administered. State v. Cox, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 379.

In an action by a creditor for the nonpayment of his claim the replication must state the nature and character of the claim and not merely its amount. Isaacs v. Stevens, 13 Conn. 499.

65. Edwards v. White, 12 Conn. 28.

66. Proprietary v. Cockshut, 1 Harr. & M. (Md.) 40; Ordinary v. Bracey, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 191. See also State v. Hanson, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 437; Probate Judge v. Lane, 50 N. H. 556; Lewis v. Spann, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 429.

After a plea of performance a rejoinder of matters in excuse of non-performance is a departure. Warren v. Powers, 5 Conn. 373.

67. Dawes v. Winship, 16 Mass. 291.

e. Amendments to Pleading. Where the action must be instituted in the name of the state or other nominal plaintiff,[68] the complaint may be amended so as to substitute the proper nominal plaintiff where the action is improperly brought in the name of the real party in interest,[69] and if brought by the proper nominal plaintiff but for the benefit of the wrong person the record may be amended to show the real party in interest;[70] but any amendment must be consistent with the original pleading, and cannot be allowed where it would constitute a new suit against new parties.[71]

9. Issues, Proof, and Variance. There can be no recovery except upon the issues raised by the pleadings.[72] The proof must establish the cause of action as alleged,[73] and must show a compliance with any conditions precedent essential to the maintenance of the action;[74] but all material averments in the declaration not denied or controverted by the plea are admitted, and plaintiff need not introduce proof of matters not put in issue by the pleadings.[75] The proof must correspond to the allegations of the pleadings,[76] but an immaterial variance may be disregarded,[77] and will be considered as waived if not objected to on the trial.[78] Under the general issue defendant may show that the person on whose estate the letters of administration were granted was not in fact dead, and that the court was therefore without jurisdiction.[79]

10. Evidence — a. Presumptions. It will be presumed in an action on an administration bond that the representative has performed the duties of his office according to law,[80] that where sales were made on credit good security was taken,[81] and after a reasonable time that the amount was duly collected.[82] Where the representative acted in different capacities with regard to property of the estate it will be presumed to have been in his hands in that capacity in which it ought at the time to have been held,[83] and, where he received property of the estate under an agreement to take administration, it will be presumed that he retained possession thereof until after his appointment.[84] Where a representative is cited to file a final account it will be presumed in an action for failing to obey the order that accounts previously filed were not final although they were so styled.[85] It will be presumed that the order requiring the bond was authorized,[86] and the possession and approval of such bond by the probate judge raises the presumption that it was duly executed and delivered.[87]

b. Burden of Proof. In an action on the bond to recover damages for any act of maladministration, the burden is upon plaintiff to prove the damages alleged,[88]

68. See supra, XVII, I, 7, a.

69. State v. Shelby, 75 Mo. 482.

70. Cranson v. Wilsey, 71 Mich. 356, 39 N. W. 9.

71. Leggett v. Bennett, 48 Ala. 380.

72. Allen v. Corbett, 51 Iowa 703, 1 N. W. 771; Edelen v. State, 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 277; Bergstroem v. State, 58 Tex. 92. See also State v. Edwards, 78 Mo. 473.

73. Bergstroem v. State, 58 Tex. 92.

In an action against the sureties for a devastavit committed by their principal it is essential to show what amount of assets came into the hands of the executor or administrator (Miller v. Gee, 4 Ala. 359) except where the amount is admitted by the pleadings (Hoggatt v. Montgomery, 6 How. (Miss.) 93).

74. State v. Hudkins, 34 W. Va. 370, 12 S. E. 495. See also Behrle v. Sherman, 10 Bosw. (N. Y.) 292.

Assignment of bond to plaintiff must be proved. Burgess v. State, 12 Gill & J. (Md.) 64.

75. People v. Gray, 72 Ill. 343; Glocester Prob. Ct. v. Eddy, 8 R. I. 508; Roberts v. Weadock, 98 Wis. 400, 74 N. W. 93.

76. Rogers v. Jones, 51 Ala. 353; State v. Short, 2 Harr. (Del.) 152; State v. Seabright, 15 W. Va. 590.

77. Woodward v. Fisher, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 303; Gabie v. Meilan, 4 N. C. 346. See also Grant v. Rogers, 94 N. C. 755.

78. Curry v. People, 54 Ill. 263.

79. Ross v. White, 29 N. C. 116. See supra, I, J, 3, a.

80. Lockhart v. White, 18 Tex. 102.

81. Gordon v. Gibbs, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 473; Lockhart v. White, 18 Tex. 102.

82. Gordon v. Gibbs, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 473.

83. Kirby v. State, 51 Md. 383. See generally supra, XVII, B, 11; XVII, D, 8.

84. People v. Hascall, 22 N. Y. 188, 78 Am. Dec. 176.

85. Providence Municipal Ct. v. Henry, 11 R. I. 563.

86. Owen v. State, 25 Ind. 371.

87. Wright v. Lang, 66 Ala. 389.

88. Choate v. Arrington, 116 Mass. 552.

and also to show that at the time of the alleged default the principal was acting in his representative capacity.[89] A distributee suing for the non-payment of his distributive share has the burden of proving that he is a person entitled to distribution and also that he is entitled to the particular amount claimed,[90] and any claimant suing for the non-payment of his claim must show a receipt of assets by the representative,[91] but where such receipt is proved or admitted the burden is upon defendant to show that the assets were properly disposed of.[92] Where a representative has failed to collect debts due the estate he has the burden of showing that the failure was unavoidable,[93] and also that he exercised due care and diligence in the attempt to collect.[94]

c. Admissibility. In actions on administration bonds whatever is competent as evidence upon which to charge the principal is admissible against the sureties,[95] but as in other cases evidence is not admissible unless it tends to support or contradict some allegation of the pleadings,[96] and to prove or disprove the particular fact in issue,[97] and the best evidence of the particular fact in question must be produced.[98] The inventory and accounts filed by the representative are admissible to show for what property he and the sureties on the bond are liable,[99] and evidence of the receipt of sums of money as income from the personal estate and of any property which at any time has come or ought to have come into the representative's hands is admissible against both him and the sureties.[1] In an action for the non-payment of a legacy the will of the decedent is admissible as

89. Cluff v. Day, 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 460, 14 N. Y. St. 729.

90. Shriver v. State, 65 Md. 278, 4 Atl. 679.

91. Wilson v. Slade, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 281; Morgan v. Slade, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 38.

Where the bond is conditioned to pay all debts and legacies, the executor being residuary legatee, plaintiff need not show assets (State v. Snowden, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 430; Buel v. Dickey, 9 Nebr. 285, 2 N. W. 884), the voluntary execution of a bond in this form being a conclusive admission of assets (Colwell v. Alger, 5 Gray (Mass.) 67).

92. Miller v. Gee, 4 Ala. 359; Johnston v. Maples, 49 Ill. 101; Johnston's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 75; Choate v. Arrington, 116 Mass. 552. But see State v. Price, 17 Mo. 431.

In an action by a succeeding administrator against his predecessor for failing to pay over a balance, where it is shown that such balance was in the hands of the preceding administrator, the presumption is that it was not paid over, and if it was paid to the successor in office the burden is upon defendant to prove this fact. Dayton v. Johnson, 69 N. Y. 419.

93. Gordon v. Gibbs, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 473.

Where a representative fails to pay a debt due from himself if he relies upon the inability to pay as a defense he has the burden of proving the fact. Keegan v. Smith, 60 N. Y. App. Div. 168, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 260 [affirming 33 Misc. 74, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 281, and affirmed in 172 N. Y. 624, 65 N. E. 1118].

94. Peytavin's Succession, 7 Rob. (La.) 477.

95. Choate v. Arrington, 116 Mass. 552.

96. People v. Hunter, 89 Ill. 392; Burch v. State, 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 444; State v. Pare, 28 Mo. App. 512.

97. Taylor v. Smith, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 230.

In an action for failing to account for certain property of the estate evidence as to whether certain claims against the estate were properly allowed is inadmissible. State v. Farmer, 54 Mo. 439.

Evidence as to the time of the receipt of assets is properly excluded since the bond covers assets received before its execution. Scofield v. Churchill, 72 N. Y. 565.

98. Millers v. Catlett, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 477, holding that the best evidence as to the person to whom a legacy should be paid is the will of the testator and that where this can be produced parol evidence is inadmissible. See also Emory v. Thompson, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 244.

A certified copy of the bond is, by statute in Illinois, admissible as evidence. See People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215.

Where bonds are required to remain on file in the office where they are recorded a certified copy of the record is original evidence. Richardson v. Whitworth, 103 Ga. 741, 30 S. E. 573.

99. Choate v. Arrington, 116 Mass. 552; State v. Kennedy, 163 Mo. 510, 63 S. W. 678; Lewis v. Gambs, 6 Mo. App. 138.

Reports of a representative, although never acted on by the court, are admissible as admissions as to the disposition and management of the assets of the estate. Beal v. State, 77 Ind. 231.

Where a special bond is given for the sale of real estate a general account, in which no separate and distinct account of the proceeds of the real estate and the disbursements made therefrom is made, is inadmissible in an action against the sureties on the real estate bond. Com. v. Hilgert, 55 Pa. St. 236.

1. Choate v. Arrington, 116 Mass. 552. Testimony as to the amount and kinds of property owned by the decedent just prior to his death is admissible as evidence of what evidence of plaintiff's right of action,[2] and in an action for failure to pay the amount allowed for the support of minor heirs where defendants set up as a defense that no notice was given the representative to appear before the commissioners it is competent to show by parol, as evidence of a waiver of notice, that the representative was present and consented to or aided in the commissioner's report.[3] Where an administrator has made an unauthorized sale of property of the estate, evidence of the price received is admissible to show the value of the property converted.[4] The representative's report of a sale is not conclusive as to the price but parol evidence is admissible to show the amount actually received.[5] Where defendant pleads that the bond as originally executed was in a different and smaller sum from that sued on, evidence is admissible to show that he knew the value of the estate and that the bond was required to be in double that value.[6] A judgment or decree against the principal is admissible in an action against the sureties.[7] In an action against the sureties to recover the amount of a decree any evidence tending to show that plaintiff has received payment in whole or in part out of the assets of the estate of the principal debtor is admissible;[8] and, in an action on the bond of an administrator whose letters have been revoked, evidence of proper payments made by him and of losses of money by theft should be admitted in exoneration of his liability.[9]

d. Weight and Sufficiency. The inventory filed by a representative, although not conclusive,[10] is prima facie evidence of the assets received and their value,[11] but the return of appraisers where the representative has no right or opportunity went into the hands of the representative. Beal v. State, 77 Ind. 231.

Settlement after appointment of successor. — Where an administrator has refused to give counter security and a successor has been appointed, a settlement made by the former after such appointment is admissible against him and his sureties. Slaughter v. Froman, 2 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 95.

In an action for failure to render a true inventory and account of the goods and chattels, rights and credits of the deceased evidence that the administratrix was seen in possession of money left with her by her husband prior to his death and money supposed to be his, brought to her by a person sent to ascertain the circumstances of his death, was properly admitted. Governor v. Byrd, 2 Mo. 194.

2. Ruby v. State, 55 Md. 484.

3. Butts v. Pugh, 54 Ga. 465.

4. State v. Scholl, 47 Mo. 84.

5. State v. Lindley, 98 Ind. 48.

6. Jackson v. Johnson, 67 Ga. 167.

7. Connecticut.— Willey v. Paulk, 6 Conn. 74.

Kansas.— Hefferlin v. Struckslager, 6 Kan. 166.

Maryland.— Ruby v. State, 55 Md. 484.

Mississippi.— Lipscomb v. Postell, 38 Miss. 476, 77 Am. Dec. 651; Woodward v. Fisher, 11 Sm. & M. 303.

South Carolina.— Lucas v. Guy, 2 Bailey 403; Cureton v. Shelton, 3 McCord 412; Lyles v. Caldwell, 3 McCord 225.

United States.— McLaughlin v. Potomac Bank, 7 How. 220, 12 L. ed. 675.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2566.

But compare Nicholson v. Carr, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 104.

In North Carolina a judgment against the principal is not admissible in evidence in an action against the sureties (Governor v. Carter, 25 N. C. 338; Chairman Washington County Ct. v. Harramond, 11 N. C. 339; Chairman Mecklenburg County Ct. v. Clark, 11 N. C. 43), and conversely a judgment in his favor is not admissible in favor of the sureties (Governor v. Carter, supra).

A decree on a settlement by the representative of a deceased principal to which the sureties were not parties is not admissible to show a liability of their principal for which they are responsible. Means v. Hicks, 65 Ala. 241. Contra, Williams v. State, 68 Miss. 680, 10 So. 52, 24 Am. St. Rep. 297.

A judgment against an administrator reviving a dormant judgment rendered against the intestate is evidence of assets. Ansley v. Glendenning, 52 Ga. 347, 56 Ga. 286.

In an action founded on a decree of the surrogate's court, the decree is not admissible unless the record of the proceedings upon which the decree was based is produced to show that the surrogate had acquired jurisdiction. Nanz v. Oakley, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 431, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 1, 21 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 71.

8. Thompson v. Bailey, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 68.

Receipts showing payment to plaintiff by a former administrator are admissible in evidence and their effect cannot be defeated by showing waste by the former administrator. Gordon v. Clapp, 5 Vt. 129.

9. Annett v. Kerr, 2 Rob. (N. Y.) 556.

10. Hilton v. Briggs, 54 Mich. 265, 20 N. W. 47; McNabb v. Wixon, 7 Nev. 163; In re Mullon, 145 N. Y. 98, 39 N. E. 821 [affirming 74 Hun 358, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 683]. And see supra, IV, I.

11. Williams v. Esty, 36 Me. 243; In re Mullon, 145 N. Y. 98, 39 N. E. 821 [affirming 74 Hun 358, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 683]; Chairman to object to the return on the ground of a deficiency of assets is not evidence to charge him with assets,[12] unless by his conduct he has adopted the appraisement as his inventory.[13] The representative's accounts are prima facie evidence in an action on the bond.[14] Where the penalty of the bond is required to be fixed according to the appraisal of the estate, the sum expressed therein is prima facie evidence of the value of the property for which the representative is responsible.[15] Since the representative is lawfully in possession of the assets proof of the failure to pay a claim against the estate on demand is not sufficient to show conversion,[16] but a creditor who proves a debt against the estate and a devastavit or misapplication of assets is prima facie entitled to recover,[17] and need not show that there are no other assets from which his claim will ultimately be paid.[18] Proof of a sale of property which was lost because insufficient security was taken is prima facie evidence of a devastavit.[19] The final settlement of a representative in which certain persons are designated as the heirs entitled to distribution is sufficient proof of the fact that the persons so named are heirs.[20] There is much conflict of authority as to the effect in evidence of judgments and decrees against the principal when offered against the sureties in an action on the bond,[21] and the subject has already been treated at length.[22] At common law a judgment at law against the principal establishing a claim against the estate was an admission of assets sufficient to pay the same,[23] and a return of nulla bona on an execution issued thereon established a devastavit;[24] but in most jurisdictions the law is now otherwise and the judgment is not an admission of assets,[25] nor is the return of execution unsatisfied sufficient to establish a devastavit;[26] but where an administrator's account shows a balance in his hands a return of nulla bona is sufficient evidence of a devastavit.[27]

11. Trial — a. Questions For Jury. In an action of debt on an administration bond it is error to render final judgment without the intervention of a jury.[28] Where a representative may in his discretion make sales on credit, whether he has abused his discretion in so doing is a question of fact for the jury.[29] After verdict in an action upon a probate bond for the penal sum thereof, it is discretionary with the court, upon a hearing in equity, to fix the amount for which execution shall be awarded or to submit the question to a jury.[30]

Washington County Ct. v. Harramond, 11 N. C. 339. And see supra, IV, I.

12. King v. Johnson, 94 Ga. 665, 21 S. E. 895.

13. Glover v. Hill, 85 Ala. 41, 4 So. 613, holding that where an appraisement of the estate is made by commissioners and the representative makes it the basis of a petition for the sale of the property and does not return any other inventory it is a sufficient adoption of the appraisement as his inventory to make it prima facie evidence against him and the sureties of the assets for which he is responsible.

14. Lane v. State, 27 Ind. 108; Ruby v. State, 55 Md. 484. An account in which the administrator charged himself with the fund in question and an admitted default in not paying out the money in accordance with a decree of distribution based thereon are prima facie sufficient to establish a devastavit in an action against the sureties. Wetherill v. Com., 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 104.

Statements and admissions made by a representative in his settlements with the probate court may be overcome by proof of the actual facts. State v. Elliott, 157 Mo. 609, 57 S. W. 1087, 80 Am. St. Rep. 643.

15. Eggleston v. Colfax, 4 Mart. N. S. (La.) 481.

16. Embree v. State, 85 Ind. 368.

17. Curry v. People, 54 Ill. 263; Wiley v. Johnsey, 6 Rich. (S. C.) 355; Ordinary v. Hunt, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 380.

18. Curry v. People, 54 Ill. 263.

19. Curry v. People, 54 Ill. 263.

20. Beal v. State, 77 Ind. 231.

21. Williams v. State, 68 Miss. 680, 10 So. 52, 24 Am. St. Rep. 297.

22. See supra, XVII, F.

23. Outlaw v. Yell, 5 Ark. 468; Lee v. Gardiner, 26 Miss. 521.

24. Lee v. Gardiner, 26 Miss. 521.

25. Outlaw v. Yell, 5 Ark. 468; Lee v. Gardiner, 26 Miss. 521.

26. Outlaw v. Yell, 5 Ark. 468; King v. Johnson, 94 Ga. 665, 21 S. E. 895; O'Bannon v. Cord, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 183; Lee v. Gardiner, 26 Miss. 521.

27. Givens v. Porteous, 1 McCord (S. C.) 379.

28. Amason v. Nash, 24 Ala. 279.

An administrator's plea of "fully administered and no assets," in an action on a bond found due and unpaid, must be disposed of by submitting an issue to a jury or by reference. Little v. Duncan, 89 N. C. 416.

29. Spence v. Dasher, 63 Ga. 430.

30. Defriez v. Coffin, 155 Mass. 203, 29 N. E. 516.

b. Instructions. In an action on an administration bond the court must correctly instruct the jury as to the nature of defendant's liability.[31]

c. Verdict. In an action for a devastavit, although the sureties can only be charged to the extent of the assets actually wasted, the verdict of the jury need not ascertain the exact amount of the devastavit,[32] but where defendant pleads plene administravit in an action for failing to pay a claim against the estate the verdict must find that defendant had assets sufficient to satisfy the demand or the value of the assets if they were not sufficient.[33]

d. Reference or Arbitration. Where the bond is given to a judge of probate he is merely a trustee of the bond for the benefit of the persons interested in the estate and he cannot submit their rights under it to reference or arbitration;[34] but where, in an action on the bond, it is admitted or proved that there came into the hands of the representative assets belonging to the estate it is proper to order a reference to take an account of his administration of the same, unless some defense is interposed which bars the right to such account.[35]

12. Judgment. The rule in most jurisdictions is that for breach of an administration bond there can be only one judgment,[36] and this judgment is for the whole penalty of the bond.[37] The judgment is not for the exclusive benefit of the person by whom the action is instituted,[38] but it stands as security for all who may be interested therein,[39] whether such persons were named in the original suit or not.[40] The judgment also stands as security for subsequent acts of maladministration.[41] In some jurisdictions, however, judgment need not be for the full penalty of the bond but only for the damages which the party suing has sustained,[42] and such a judgment will not bar another action on the bond, but suits may continue to be prosecuted thereon until the whole amount of the penalty

31. Bergstroem v. State, 58 Tex. 92, holding further that where the court submits to the jury an erroneous and misleading test of defendant's liability, it is not necessary in order to entitle defendant to take advantage of the error that he should have discovered it and asked for further instructions.

32. Dean v. Portis, 11 Ala. 104; Miller v. Gee, 4 Ala. 359.

33. Booth v. Armstrong, 2 Wash. (Va.) 301, holding that a verdict that "we of the jury find for the plaintiff the debt in the declaration mentioned" should be set aside as being uncertain and insufficient in not finding on the issue.

34. Paine v. Ball, 3 Mass. 235; Thomas v. Leach, 2 Mass. 152.

35. Neal v. Becknell, 85 N. C. 299.

36. Probate Judge v. Lee, 72 N. H. 247, 56 Atl. 188; Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342; Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 374; Carl v. Com., 9 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 63.

The bond becomes merged in the first judgment and no suit can be afterward maintained on the bond unless authorized by statute. Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 374.

37. Arkansas.— Taylor v. State, 23 Ark. 225; Byrd v. State, 15 Ark. 175.

Massachusetts.— Bennett v. Woodman, 116 Mass. 518; Glover v. Heath, 3 Mass. 252.

Michigan.— Cranson v. Wilsey, 71 Mich. 356, 39 N. W. 9.

Missouri.— State v. Ruggles, 20 Mo. 99.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Lee, 72 N. H. 247, 56 Atl. 188; Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342.

New Jersey.— Williamson v. Snook, 10 N. J. L. 65.

North Carolina.—Reaves v. Davis, 99 N. C. 425, 6 S. E. 715.

Pennsylvania.— Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts 374.

Vermont.— Hoit v. Bradley, 1 D. Chipm. 262.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2577.

The proper form of judgment is, under the Arkansas statute, for the penalty of the bond with a further judgment that plaintiff have execution for the damages assessed (Taylor v. State, 23 Ark. 225), and, under the Pennsylvania statute, a judgment in favor of the commonwealth for the amount of the penalty and in favor of plaintiff in issue for the amount of damages assessed for the breach complained of (Miltenberger v. Com., 14 Pa. St. 71).

38. State v. Ruggles, 20 Mo. 99.

39. Potter v. Titcomb, 12 Me. 55; Conant v. Stratton, 107 Mass. 474; Probate Judge v. Lee, 72 N. H. 247, 56 Atl. 188; Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342; Com. v. Kean, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 576.

40. Potter v. Titcomb, 12 Me. 55; Com. v. Kean, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 576.

41. Conant v. Stratton, 107 Mass. 474; Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342; Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 374; Hoit v. Bradley, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 262.

42. State v. French, 60 Conn. 478, 23 Atl. 153; Rowland v. Isaacs, 15 Conn. 115; People v. Summers, 16 Ill. 173; O'Connor v. Such, 9 Bosw. (N. Y.) 318.

In Mississippi the statute provides that if the whole penalty shall be recovered the chancery court shall apportion the recovery is finally recovered.[43] Actions on the bond are not against the representative in his representative capacity and the judgment must be de bonis propriis.[44] A judgment which is merely irregular and not void may be amended.[45] The judgment becomes a lien upon the representative's land,[46] or upon land purchased by him with funds belonging to the estate and fraudulently conveyed.[47]

13. Execution and Enforcement of Judgment. Although judgment is entered for the full penalty of the bond execution does not issue for this amount, but only for the damages assessed for the breaches assigned.[48] Persons interested may be entitled to execution on the judgment, although their claims were not perfected at the time the suit was brought,[49] or even when the judgment was rendered;[50] and any person interested may sue out a scire facias and have execution thereon,[51] whether named in the original writ or not.[52] Where breaches occur subsequently to the rendition of the original judgment persons injured thereby may sue out a scire facias on the judgment and have their damages assessed as in the original suit,[53] no other judgment being necessary than the usual one on a scire facias of an award of execution.[54] Unless required by statute the writ need not expressly state that plaintiff is an heir, creditor, or legatee, it being sufficient if it appears that he is a person interested in the bond or the judgment rendered thereon.[55] In an action against principal and sureties, the sureties have a right to an order directing that execution be first levied on the property of the principal.[56] On a second scire facias to have a further execution of a judgment for the penalty of the bond a plea of payment of the penalty must show that such payment was pursuant to a decree of the probate court or a judgment at law or was otherwise compulsory against defendants.[57] The recovery where suit is instituted for the general benefit is to be treated as assets of the estate and distributed accordingly.[58]

14. Damages — a. In General. Whenever a breach of the conditions of the bond is shown the recovery of damages follows as a matter of course.[59] The measure of damages is the loss actually sustained by the breach complained of[60] according to the rights of the parties. Jones v. Patty, 73 Miss. 179, 18 So. 794.

43. People v. Summers, 16 Ill. 173; Jones v. Patty, 73 Miss. 179, 18 So. 794.

44. McNulty v. Marcus, 57 Ga. 507. See also Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 195.

45. Pryor v. Leonard, 57 Ga. 136.

46. Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 374.

47. Duffy v. State, 115 Ind. 351, 17 N. E. 615.

48. Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 374.

49. Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342. See also Hooker v. Olmstead, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 481.

50. Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342.

51. Potter v. Titcomb, 12 Me. 55; Conant v. Stratton, 107 Mass. 474.

A second administrator de bonis non may sue out a scire facias on a judgment recovered by a former administrator de bonis non in an action on the bond of the original administrator. Com. v. Strohecker, 9 Watts (Pa.) 479.

Where the heirs at law have been admitted to prosecute an administrator's bond and have recovered judgment thereon for their share of the amount due, without a decree of distribution, the widow may sue out a scire facias to recover her share without first obtaining a decree of distribution in her favor. Potter v. Titcomb, 22 Me. 300.

52. Potter v. Titcomb, 12 Me. 55; Com. v. Kean, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 576.

53. Conant v. Stratton, 107 Mass. 474; Probate Judge v. Lane, 51 N. H. 342; Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 374; Hoit v. Bradley, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 262.

54. Arrison v. Com., 1 Watts (Pa.) 374.

55. Potter v. Titcomb, 12 Me. 55.

56. Prichard v. State, 34 Ind. 137.

57. Potter v. Webb, 5 Me. 330.

58. Bennett v. Russell, 2 Allen (Mass.) 537; Newcomb v. Williams, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 525; Hood v. Haywood, 124 N. Y. 1, 26 N. E. 331.

If the representative is not a proper person to receive this amount for distribution and there is no co-representative, the court should remove him and appoint another, and may suspend entry of judgment for this purpose. Bennett v. Russell, 2 Allen (Mass.) 537.

Preferred claims are entitled to the same preference in making such distribution as in the probate court. Com. v. Meyerhaven, 17 Phila. (Pa.) 108.

59. Rowland v. Isaacs, 15 Conn. 115.

60. Scarborough v. State, 24 Ark. 20; State v. French, 60 Conn. 478, 23 Atl. 153.

A fair measure of damages for failure to render a final account within the time required by law is, if the property was lying idle and unproductive, the interest thereon. McKim v. Barlett, 129 Mass. 226.

When a bond is enforced as a common-law obligation the obligors are not subject to the penal provisions of the statute, but are liable unless otherwise provided by statute,[61] and where plaintiff shows a breach of condition but fails to show any special damages resulting therefrom he can recover only nominal damages.[62] Where property of the estate is lost through the neglect or misconduct of the representative the measure of damages is the value of the property.[63] In an action for failing to include certain property in the inventory the rule of damages is a sum not exceeding the value of the property omitted,[64] and in an action for failing to pay creditors the damages are limited to the value of the assets which should be in the hands of the representative.[65] In an action of debt where judgment is rendered for the penalty of the bond the recovery is not limited to the damages laid in the declaration,[66] and, in assessing the damages after a breach has been established and judgment for the penalty rendered, matters may be considered in mitigation of the damages which would not amount to a legal defense to the breach.[67]

b. Interest. Interest is ordinarily allowable as an element of plaintiff's damages,[68] but only simple interest can be recovered.[69] It has been asserted that there can be a recovery for interest beyond the penalty of the bond,[70] but only for the actual damages sustained by the breach complained of. Cleaves v. Dockray, 67 Me. 118.

61. Bridges v. Maxwell, 34 Miss. 309, holding that under the Mississippi statute giving a right of action on the bond to heirs where a representative has removed property of the estate out of the state the recovery is not intended merely as compensation to the heirs but as a punishment to the representative and that plaintiff may recover the full value of the property regardless of the actual injury, together with any other damages actually sustained if in excess of that amount.

62. Arkansas.— Scarborough v. State, 24 Ark. 20.

Connecticut.—Edwards v. White, 12 Conn. 28.

Delaware.— State v. Bloxom, 1 Houst. 446.

Illinois.— People v. Hunter, 89 Ill. 392.

Missouri.— See State v. Reinhardt, 31 Mo. 95.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2575.

63. State v. Berning, 6 Mo. App. 105; McNabb v. Wixom, 7 Nev. 163.

64. Minor v. Mead, 3 Conn. 289.

A distributee can recover only his proportionate share of the value of the property omitted. Ordinary v. Bracey, 2 Bay (S. C.) 542. Compare Blakeman v. Sherwood, 32 Conn. 324.

65. Reaves v. Davis, 99 N. C. 425, 6 S. E. 715.

A creditor can only recover for his distributive share in a suit on the administrator's bond, unless he sues for assets not distributed but wasted. State v. Bowen, 45 Miss. 347.

Where a representative refuses to pay a judgment which he has sufficient assets to pay the rule of damages is the amount of the judgment. Washington v. Hunt, 12 N. C. 475.

Where the estate has been declared insolvent, the rule of damages in an action by a creditor for the non-payment of his claim will be the average allowed the creditors on the commissioners' report. Warren v. Powers, 5 Conn. 373.

66. Byrd v. State, 15 Ark. 175.

67. Probate Ct. v. Bates, 10 Vt. 285, holding that in an action for failing to account for the proceeds of a sale the fact that a part of the proceeds actually went into the hands of an administrator de bonis non and was distributed to creditors might be considered and this amount deducted from the amount received and not accounted for.

68. Connecticut.— Huntington v. Mott, 1 Root 423.

Massachusetts.— Chapin v. Waters, 116 Mass. 140.

Michigan.— Cranson v. Wilsey, 71 Mich. 356, 39 N. W. 9.

Missouri.— See State v. Berning, 6 Mo. App. 105.

New York.— Hood v. Hayward, 48 Hun 330, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 566.

North Carolina.—See Washington v. Hunt, 12 N. C. 475.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2576.

In an action for failing to pay over a balance to a successor in office, interest may be allowed from the time payment was demanded until the rendition of judgment. Webb v. Roetinger, 12 Ohio Cir. Ct. 730, 4 Ohio Cir. Dec. 270.

Where partial payments have been made on a judgment against an executor or administrator and an action on the bond is brought for the non-payment of the balance the partial payments should be first applied to keep down the interest and the interest computed on the balance remaining after each payment. Fay v. Bradley, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 194.

The fact that the complaint does not contain a demand for interest does not preclude the court from awarding interest if the facts justify it. Rutenic v. Hamakar, 40 Oreg. 444, 67 Pac. 196.

69. Chapin v. Waters, 116 Mass. 140; Cranson v. Wilsey, 71 Mich. 356, 39 N. W. 9.

70. Probate Judge v. Heydock, 8 N. H. 491, holding that where the whole penalty has become a debt which the obligors unjustly detain the recovery may be for the entire amount of the penalty with interest in Pennsylvania it has been held that interest is not demandable beyond the penal sum of the bond.[71]

15. Costs.[72] In an action on the bond by a creditor for the non-payment of a judgment debt he is entitled to recover the costs of the action as a part of the damages.[73] It has been held that on dismissal of an action in the name of the people for the use of an administrator on the official bond of another administrator the entry of judgment for costs against plaintiffs was error.[74]

16. Appeal and Error. In actions on administration bonds, the general principles relating to appeals in other civil actions apply.[75] Thus matters are not ordinarily assignable as error which were not objected to in the court below,[76] or which could have been taken advantage of by a plea in abatement;[77] and nothing can be assigned as error which contradicts the record.[78] Under a statute authorizing any person aggrieved by a decree of the orphans' court to appeal, the sureties may appeal from a decree against the principal.[79] An order refusing leave to sue on an administration bond is a judicial decree from which the applicant may appeal,[80] but an order granting leave to sue, which may be made in an ex parte proceeding without any notice to the obligors in the bond,[81] does not determine any question as to their liability,[82] and hence they are not entitled to appeal therefrom.[83]

17. Equitable Relief Against Judgment. Where a representative having matters proper for a defense to an action on the bond neglects to make it, equity will not ordinarily relieve against the judgment; nor are the mistakes or negligence of counsel in the conduct of a defense a sufficient ground for relief.[84]

XVIII. Administrators De Bonis Non.[85]

A. Assets to Be Administered — 1. In General. In the absence of statutory change of the common-law rule an administrator de bonis non administers only upon the assets which have not been administered by his predecessor, and conversely is not entitled to assets which have been administered wholly or in part.[86] In some jurisdictions, however, the common-law rule has been changed thereon for the time so detained. And see Bonds, 5 Cyc. 851 note 95.

71. Com. v. Meyerhaven, 17 Phila. (Pa.) 108.

72. See Costs, 11 Cyc. 1.

73. McKim v. Haley, 173 Mass. 112, 53 N. E. 152.

74. People v. Cloud, 50 Ill. 439, where the court said that if the people were considered as plaintiffs a judgment for costs could not be rendered against them; while if the administrator was considered as plaintiff the judgment should not be against him personally but to be paid in due course of administration.

75. See Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 474.

76. Wetmore v. Plant, 5 Conn. 541; Conway v. Carter, (N. M. 1902) 68 Pac. 941. See also Deblanc v. Levasseur, 26 La. Ann. 541.

77. Wetmore v. Plant, 5 Conn. 541.

78. Wetmore v. Plant, 5 Conn. 541.

79. Garber v. Com., 7 Pa. St. 265.

80. See Fay v. Rogers, 2 Gray (Mass.) 175; Robbins v. Hayward, 16 Mass. 524.

81. See supra, XVII, I, 1, b, (x), (b).

82. Hilton v. Briggs, 54 Mich. 265, 20 N. W. 47.

83. Bulfinch v. Waldoboro, 54 Me. 150; In re Jones, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 121.

84. O'Keefe v. Rice, 1 Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 179. But see Wall v. Gressom, 4 Munf. (Va.) 110.

85. Appointment and qualification see supra, II, D.

86. Alabama.— Weeks v. Love, 19 Ala. 25.

Connecticut.— American Bd. Commissioners' Appeal, 27 Conn. 344.

Georgia.— Gilbert v. Hardwick, 11 Ga. 599; Echols v. Barrett, 6 Ga. 443.

Maine.— Meservey v. Kallock, 97 Me. 91, 53 Atl. 876; Hodge v. Hodge, 90 Me. 505, 38 Atl. 535, 60 Am. St. Rep. 285, 44 L. R. A. 33.

Maryland.— Baker v. Bowie, 74 Md. 467, 22 Atl. 133; Stewart v. Baltimore Fireman's Ins. Co., 53 Md. 564; Donaldson v. Raborg, 26 Md. 312, 28 Md. 34; West v. Chappell, 5 Gill 228; Gardner v. Simmes, 1 Gill 425.

Massachusetts.— Blake v. Dexter, 12 Cush. 559.

Mississippi.— Andrews v. Brumfield, 32 Miss. 107; Searles v. Scott, 14 Sm. & M. 94; Morse v. Clayton, 13 Sm. & M. 373.

Missouri.— State v. Hunter, 15 Mo. 490.

New York.— Matter of Manhardt, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 836 [affirming 16 Misc. 522, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 206]; Caulkins v. Bolton, 31 Hun 458 [affirmed in 98 N. Y. 511].

North Carolina.— Carson v. Duffy, 55 N. C. 507.

by statute, and an administrator de bonis non is entitled to administer upon all the assets in the hands of his predecessor.[87]

2. What Constitutes Unadministered Assets. Unadministered assets which go to the administrator de bonis non consist of the goods, effects, and credits which belonged to the decedent at the time of his death and which remain in specie, unaltered or unconverted by any act of the former representative.[88]

Pennsylvania.— Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315; Com. v. Strohecker, 9 Watts 479; Kendall v. Lee, 2 Penr. & W. 482; Thomas v. Reigel, 5 Rawle 266; Potts v. Smith, 3 Rawle 361, 24 Am. Dec. 359.

South Carolina.— Miller v. Alexander, 1 Hill Eq. 25.

Texas.— Todd v. Willis, 66 Tex. 704, 1 S. W. 803; Murphy v. Menard, 11 Tex. 673.

Utah.— Reed v. Hume, 25 Utah 248, 70 Pac. 998.

Virginia.— Coleman v. McMurdo, 5 Rand. 51.

United States.— U. S. v. Walker, 109 U. S. 258, 3 S. Ct. 277, 27 L. ed. 927; Beall v. New Mexico, 16 Wall. 535, 21 L. ed. 292.

England.— Catherwood v. Chaband, 1 B. & C. 154, 8 E. C. L. 65; Packman's Case, 6 Coke 18*b*; Wankford v. Wankford, 1 Salk. 299; Barker v. Talcott, 1 Vern. Ch. 473, 23 Eng. Reprint 600.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 485.

Debt from original representative to decedent.— An administrator de bonis non may recover of the original administrator a debt due from him to the intestate in his lifetime (Kelsey v. Smith, 1 How. (Miss.) 68; Utterback v. Cooper, 28 Gratt. (Va.) 233) unless such debt has been extinguished by some act of the administrator by which his indebtedness was acknowledged, as returning it in the inventory (Kelsey v. Smith, 1 How. (Miss.) 68).

Where an administrator is dismissed and adjudged to pay interest and damages, these amounts are payable to his successor in office and not to the creditor who procured his dismissal. Lobit v. Castille, 14 La. Ann. 779.

87. State v. Hunter, 15 Mo. 490. See also State v. Fulton, 35 Mo. 323; State v. Porter, 9 Mo. 356; Slaymaker v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 103 Pa. St. 616; Starr v. York Nat. Bank, 55 Pa. St. 364, 93 Am. Dec. 759; Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315; Weld v. McClure, 9 Watts (Pa.) 495; Drenkle v. Sharman, 9 Watts (Pa.) 485.

An administrator de bonis non takes the estate where his predecessor left it, and his administration is a continuation of that commenced by the former administrator. Slocum v. English, 62 N. Y. 494; In re Kingsland, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 116, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 495.

88. Alabama.— Abney v. Pickett, 21 Ala. 739; Swink v. Snodgrass, 17 Ala. 653, 52 Am. Dec. 190; Nally v. Wilkins, 11 Ala. 872; Willis v. Willis, 9 Ala. 721; King v. Griffin, 6 Ala. 387; Judge Benson County Ct. v. Price, 6 Ala. 36.

Georgia.— Paschall v. Davis, 3 Ga. 256.

Illinois.— Short v. Johnson, 25 Ill. 489.

Kentucky.— Oldham v. Collins, 4 J. J. Marsh. 49; Bradshaw v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. 632; Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. 195; Slaughter v. Froman, 5 T. B. Mon. 19, 17 Am. Dec. 33; Graves v. Downey, 3 T. B. Mon. 353.

Maine.— Meservey v. Kallock, 97 Me. 91, 53 Atl. 876; Hodge v. Hodge, 90 Me. 505, 38 Atl. 535, 60 Am. St. Rep. 285, 40 L. R. A. 33.

Maryland.— Baker v. Bowie, 74 Md. 467, 22 Atl. 133 (holding that where an executrix, who is also residuary legatee, pays the legacies, practically all the debts, and converts a portion of the estate to her own use, the estate is so far administered by her as that an administrator de bonis non of the testator is entitled to receive from her executor only such of the estate as she had not collected or appropriated at her death); Stewart v. Baltimore Fireman's Ins. Co., 53 Md. 564; Neale v. Hagthrop, 3 Bland 551.

Mississippi.—Byrd v. Holloway, 6 Sm. & M. 323; Prosser v. Yerby, 1 How. 87.

Missouri.— Harney v. Dutcher, 15 Mo. 89, 55 Am. Dec. 131.

New Jersey.— Roy v. Squier, 61 N. J. Eq. 182, 48 Atl. 233; Hartson v. Elden, 58 N. J. Eq. 478, 44 Atl. 156; Thiefes v. Mason, 55 N. J. Eq. 456, 37 Atl. 455; Carrick v. Carrick, 23 N. J. Eq. 364; Brownlee v. Lockwood, 20 N. J. Eq. 239. The act of April 9, 1897, amending the act of March 27, 1874 (Gen. St. p. 1425), by authorizing every administrator de bonis non with the will annexed to demand of the executor of a deceased executor all the "unadministered" assets of the first testator, does not change the common-law rule that such administrator can only administer such personalty as remains in specie in the form in which it existed at the death of deceased. Roy v. Squier, 61 N. J. Eq. 182, 48 Atl. 233.

Pennsylvania.— Potts v. Smith, 3 Rawle 361, 24 Am. Dec. 359.

South Carolina.— Villard v. Robert, 1 Strobh. Eq. 393.

Tennessee.— Cheek v. Wheatley, 3 Sneed 484; Bell v. Speight, 11 Humphr. 451.

Utah.— Reed v. Hume, 25 Utah 248, 70 Pac. 998.

United States.— Beall v. New Mexico, 16 Wall. 535, 21 L. ed. 292.

England.—Atty.-Gen. v. Hooker, 2 P. Wms. 338, 24 Eng. Reprint 756; Waukford v. Waukford, 1 Salk. 299.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 486.

Assets must be distinguishable as such. An administrator de bonis non cannot maintain an action against the estate of his predecessor for money wrongfully received by him prior to his appointment as administrator, in the absence of allegation and proof that such money is distinguishable as a part of the intestate's property. Hodge v. Hodge, 90 Me. 505, 38 Atl. 535, 60 Am. St. Rep. 285, 40 L. R. A. 33.

3. Particular Classes of Assets — a. Notes and Bonds. Under the old rule an administrator de bonis non could not take possession of, collect, or sue on a bond, note, or other evidence of indebtedness running to his predecessor as such, and this rule seems still to obtain in some jurisdictions.[89] In equity, however, the administrator de bonis non was held entitled to the proceeds of such a note or bond, although not to the possession of the instrument itself.[90] The more modern authorities in most jurisdictions, based to some extent upon statute, adopt a different view as to these matters, and allow the administrator de bonis non to take possession of, collect, and sue on such obligations.[91]

What constitutes administration.— The word "administer," when applied to the disposition of the assets of a decedent's estate, is equivalent to "alter," "change," or "convert." The change or alteration of the goods necessary to amount to an administration of them by one administrator, so that they would be beyond the reach and control of the succeeding administrator de bonis non, is not a change in specie, but a change in the property of the goods. Adams v. Internal Imp. Fund, 37 Fla. 266, 20 So. 266. A sale of property is a conversion and the administrator de bonis non cannot at common law sue for the proceeds (Gilbert v. Hardwick, 11 Ga. 599; Clarke v. Wells, 6 Gratt. (Va.) 475; Calder v. Pyfer, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,299, 2 Cranch C. C. 430), but in equity the proceeds of the sale may be treated as unadministered assets (Clarke v. Wells, supra). Where a widow who was administratrix conveyed property to a trustee for herself and the next of kin, this was an act of administration preventing the administrator de bonis non from recovering the property. Quince v. Nixon, 51 N. C. 289. But under similar circumstances if the widow and executrix dies before any expressed or implied acceptance of the legacy, the property is unadministered and goes to the administrator de bonis non. Floyd v. Breckenridge, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 14.

Property delivered to life-tenant.— Where a personal chattel is bequeathed to one for life, with no limitation over, the reversion vests, as in other cases of intestacy, in the next of kin, and a distribution and delivery to the tenant for life is a complete act of administration and distribution to the next of kin, and hence an administrator de bonis non cannot recover such property as unadministered effects belonging to the estate of the testator. Andrews v. Brumfield, 32 Miss. 107. See also Bates v. Woolfolk, 5 Ga. 329.

Property purchased with decedent's money. — Where stock was purchased with money belonging to a decedent, the fact that the stock was not in existence at the time of his death does not rob it of its character of an unadministered asset. Michigan Trust Co. v. Probasco, 29 Ind. App. 109, 63 N. E. 255.

Presumption of administration from lapse of time.— When a division of an estate of an intestate was made by the distributees, who were all sui juris at the time, and twenty-seven years have elapsed, an administration will be presumed in a suit by an administrator de bonis non to recover of one of the distributees the portion allotted him. Desverges v. Desverges, 31 Ga. 753. See also Breckinridge v. Waters, 4 Dana (Ky.) 620.

89. Missouri.— Harney v. Dutcher, 15 Mo. 89, 55 Am. Dec. 131. But see Cowgill v. Linville, 20 Mo. App. 138.

New Jersey.— A note belonging to the estate of a decedent, but made payable to the executrix, is an administered asset, and does not pass to an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, appointed to administer on unadministered assets. Roy v. Squier, 61 N. J. Eq. 182, 48 Atl. 233.

New York.— Matter of Manhardt, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 836 [affirming 16 Misc. 522, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 206]; Caulkins v. Bolton, 31 Hun 458 [affirmed in 98 N. Y. 511].

Vermont.— Nason v. Potter, 6 Vt. 28.

United States.— Beall v. New Mexico, 16 Wall. 535, 21 L. ed. 292.

England.— Barker v. Talcot, 1 Vern. Ch. 473, 23 Eng. Reprint 600.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 486.

Consent to payment to administrator de bonis non.— Where executors took a note to themselves as such for the effects, and were then removed by the probate court, and an administrator de bonis non appointed, who took a new note to himself for the amount, which was paid, the presentment by the survivor of the first executors of his account for allowance to the probate court, claiming the amount of the debt as a credit, was prima facie evidence of consent to the payment to the administrator de bonis non. Nason v. Potter, 6 Vt. 28.

90. Williams v. Seabrook, 3 McCord (S. C.) 371; Miller v. Alexander, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 25. See also Burrus v. Roulhac, 2 Bush (Ky.) 39.

When immediate distribution proper.— A petition by the administrator de bonis non may properly be refused and immediate distribution awarded of the proceeds of a note if they are not needed to pay debts. Bellamy v. Bellamy, 3 Bush (Ky.) 109.

91. Alabama.— Barron v. Vandvert, 13 Ala. 232; Spence v. Rutledge, 11 Ala. 590; White v. Beard, 5 Port. 94, 30 Am. Dec. 552; Caller v. Boykin, Minor 206.

Indiana.— Sheets v. Pabody, 6 Blackf. 120, 38 Am. Dec. 132.

b. Money and Balances Due From Predecessor. A specific sum of money set apart as cash for the estate, and identifiable, may be claimed by the administrator de bonis non,[92] but money not so specially set apart, such as a balance due from the former representative, the result of his administration, is not, in the absence of statute, unadministered assets, and the administrator de bonis non is not entitled to such funds.[93] In many jurisdictions, however, statutes exist whereby an admin-

Kentucky.— Burrus v. Roulhac, 2 Bush 39; Maraman v. Trunnell, 3 Metc. 146, 77 Am. Dec. 167. Formerly the common-law rule prevailed. Saffran v. Kennedy, 7 J. J. Marsh. 188.

Mississippi.— Morse v. Clayton, 13 Sm. & M. 373.

North Carolina.— Eure v. Eure, 14 N. C. 206; Cuttar v. Quince, 3 N. C. 60.

Pennsylvania.— Slaymaker v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 103 Pa. St. 616; Little v. Walton, 23 Pa. St. 164; Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315; State Bank v. Haldeman, 1 Penr. & W. 161. But see Kendall v. Lee, 2 Penr. & W. 482.

South Carolina.— Redfearn v. Craig, 57 S. C. 534, 35 S. E. 1024, holding that an administrator de bonis non was vested with the title to a bond and mortgage taken by the former administrator to secure money of the estate lent out by him, although the obligations ran to "M., administrator," and not to "M., as administrator." But see Williams v. Seabrook, 3 McCord 371; Miller v. Alexander, 1 Hill Eq. 25.

Tennessee.— Abingdon v. Tyler, 6 Coldw. 502.

Texas.— Williams v. Verne, 68 Tex. 414, 4 S. W. 548; Miller v. Jasper, 10 Tex. 513.

Virginia.— Clarke v. Wells, 6 Gratt. 475; Heffernan v. Grymes, 2 Leigh 512. See also Tyler v. Nelson, 14 Gratt. 214, holding that where administration de bonis non is committed to a sheriff, which administration goes into the hands of his deputy, the latter is chargeable with the amount of bonds taken by the first administrator, and payable to him as such, and after his death delivered by his personal representative to such deputy as unadministered assets.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 486.

Notes for which the administrator has accounted in his settlement cannot be recovered by the administrator de bonis non. Searles v. Scott, 14 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 94; Smith v. Waugh, 84 Va. 806, 6 S. E. 132. But see State Bank v. Haldeman, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 161. See also infra, XVIII, B, 4.

92. Smithers v. Hooper, 23 Md. 273; Lemmon v. Hall, 20 Md. 168 (statute); Hackney v. Steadman, 46 N. C. 207; Clarke v. Wells, 6 Gratt. (Va.) 475; Blydenburgh v. Lowry, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,582, 4 Cranch C. C. 368.

Moneys deposited.— The administrator de bonis non is entitled to a fund on deposit which can be identified as the money of the decedent. Matter of Manhardt, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 836 [affirming 16 Misc. 522, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 206]; Hackney v. Steadman, 46 N. C. 207; Stair v. York Nat. Bank, 55 Pa. St. 364, 93 Am. Dec. 759. But in the absence of proof as to what portion of a bank deposit in the name of a deceased executor belongs to his decedent's estate and what portion belongs to the estate of the executor, as charges for expenditures and commissions, the administrator de bonis non cannot draw out such deposit in gross, he being entitled only to the balance due his decedent's estate. Slaymaker v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 103 Pa. St. 616. An administrator de bonis non may not recover a deposit made by the decedent if the first administrator has withdrawn a portion and surrendered the certificate. Brooks v. Mastin, 69 Mo. 58. Where a bank-account was, after the depositor's death, continued in his name by his administrator, who occasionally made deposits of money derived from the estate, it was held that if such balance was a part of the assets of the estate of the original decedent, and his deceased administrator did not distribute the same nor finally settle the estate, then it was an unadministered asset of the original decedent. Getty v. Long, 82 Md. 643, 33 Atl. 639. And see In re Hall, 1 Hagg. Eccl. 139.

The proceeds of a sale of the decedent's property go to the administrator de bonis non, where such proceeds have been kept intact. Meservey v. Kallock, 97 Me. 91, 53 Atl. 876; Hodge v. Hodge, 90 Me. 505, 38 Atl. 535, 60 Am. St. Rep. 285, 40 L. R. A. 33.

Money recovered on the bond of the former representative constitutes assets for the administrator de bonis non. People v. Corlies, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 228.

Moneys collected in another state.— An administrator de bonis non in one state is not entitled to moneys collected by the administrator in another state. Dorsey v. Dorsey, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 280, 22 Am. Dec. 33.

93. Alabama.— Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286; Hanna v. Price, 23 Ala. 826 (holding that a judgment rendered in favor of an administrator de bonis non, before the passage of a statute giving him the right to sue, was absolutely void); Nolly v. Wilkins, 11 Ala. 872; Willis v. Willis, 9 Ala. 721; Judge Benton County Ct. v. Price, 6 Ala. 36. See also Price v. Simmons, 13 Ala. 749.

Arkansas.— Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854.

District of Columbia.—U. S. v. Ames, MacArthur & M. 278.

Georgia.—Gilbert v. Hardwick, 11 Ga. 599.

Kentucky.— Saffran v. Kennedy, 7 J. J. Marsh. 188; Dorsey v. Dorsey, 5 J. J. Marsh. 280, 22 Am. Dec. 33; Oldham v. Collins, 4 J. J. Marsh. 49; Bradshaw v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. 632.

Maine.— Hodge v. Hodge, 90 Me. 505, 38 Atl. 535, 60 Am. St. Rep. 285, 40 L. R. A. 33.

istrator de bonis non is entitled to and may recover the balance due from his predecessor to the estate.[94] Under some statutes it is essential that the account of Maryland.— Gardner v. Simmes, 1 Gill 425.

Mississippi.— Dement v. Heth, 45 Miss. 388; Sloan v. Johnson, 14 Sm. & M. 47.

New Jersey.— Bradway v. Holmes, 50 N. J. Eq. 311, 25 Atl. 196; Carrick v. Carrick, 23 N. J. Eq. 364; Brownlee v. Lockwood, 20 N. J. Eq. 239. Aliter as to a substituted administrator. McDonald v. O'Connell, 39 N. J. L. 317.

Pennsylvania.— Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315; Com. v. Strohecker, 9 Watts 479; Thomas v. Riegel, 5 Rawle 266; Potts v. Smith, 3 Rawle 361, 24 Am. Dec. 359.

Vermont.— Curtis v. Curtis, 13 Vt. 517.

Virginia.— Smith v. Waugh, 84 Va. 806, 6 S. E. 132; Coleman v. McMurdo, 5 Rand. 51.

United States.— Wilson v. Arrick, 112 U. S. 83, 5 S. Ct. 75, 28 L. ed. 617; U. S. v. Walker, 109 U. S. 258, 3 S. Ct. 277, 27 L. ed. 927.

England.— Packman's Case, 6 Coke 18b; Wankford v. Wankford, 1 Salk. 299.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 486.

Money collected by an agent or attorney of the former administrator is deemed at common law to be an administered asset, which the administrator de bonis non cannot recover from the agent or attorney. Sloan v. Johnson, 14 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 47; Wilson v. Arrick, 112 U. S. 83, 5 S. Ct. 75, 28 L. ed. 617. But see Blydenburgh v. Lowry, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,582, 4 Cranch C. C. 368.

Where balance voluntarily paid.— If the balance due from the administrator in chief be voluntarily rendered by him to the probate court on his final settlement, it becomes assets of the estate when paid into the hands of his successor for which he and his sureties are liable. Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286; Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854.

When it becomes necessary to remit to the probate court for administration a balance recovered in another tribunal from an executor or administrator in chief, it must be paid to the administrator de bonis non as assets of the estate. Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854.

When fund ready for distribution.— If it can be ascertained from the records of the probate court that the fund is ripe for distribution, nothing is in the way of an order to that effect in the tribunal where it is recovered, and it is then unnecessary to encumber it with costs and delay by remitting it to the probate court. Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854; Gray v. Harris, 43 Miss. 421.

In South Carolina it has been held that an administrator de bonis non was entitled to a balance due from his predecessor, as being only partially administered assets. Miller v. Alexander, 1 Hill Eq. 25.

94. Alabama.— Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286; Long v. Easley, 13 Ala. 239.

Maryland.— Donaldson v. Raborg, 26 Md. 312, holding that the court may order a balance remaining in the hands of the first administrator to be paid over, although an action on his bond is barred by the statute of limitations. Lemmon v. Hall, 20 Md. 168. Prior to 1820 the law was otherwise. Gardner v. Simmes, 1 Gill 425.

Massachusetts.— Foster v. Bailey, 157 Mass. 160, 31 N. E. 771; Minot v. Norcross, 143 Mass. 326, 9 N. E. 662; Marvel v. Babbitt, 143 Mass. 226, 9 N. E. 566; Sewall v. Patch, 132 Mass. 326; Buttrick v. King, 7 Metc. 20; Wiggin v. Swett, 6 Metc. 194, 39 Am. Dec. 716.

Minnesota.— Palmer v. Pollock, 26 Minn. 433, 4 N. W. 1113.

Missouri.— State v. Heinrichs, 82 Mo. 542; Morehouse v. Ware, 78 Mo. 100; State v. King, 76 Mo. 510; Wickham v. Page, 49 Mo. 526; State v. Dulle, 45 Mo. 269; State v. Fulton, 35 Mo. 323; Cowgill v. Linville, 20 Mo. App. 138.

New York.— Walton v. Walton, 4 Abb. Dec. 512, 1 Keyes 15, 2 Abb. Pr. N. S. 428.

North Carolina.— Ham v. Kornegay, 85 N. C. 119; Latta v. Jones, 53 N. C. 111. And see Morton v. Ashbee, 46 N. C. 312.

Ohio.— Tracy v. Card, 2 Ohio St. 431; Blizzard v. Fuller, 20 Ohio 479 (holding that there can be no action except under statute); O'Connor v. State, 18 Ohio 225; Herckelrath v. Van Nes, 31 Cinc. L. Bul. 35.

Pennsylvania.— Slaymaker v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 103 Pa. St. 616; Little v. Walton, 23 Pa. St. 164; Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315 [affirming 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 101, 4 Pa. L. J. 462]; Weld v. McClure, 9 Watts 495; Drenkle v. Sharman, 9 Watts 485; Schlecht's Estate, 2 Brewst. 397; Pierce's Estate, 11 Montg. Rep. 110; Montgomery's Estate, 7 Phila. 504; Croyell v. Blackfan, 1 Pittsb. 327.

Texas.— Boulware v. Hendricks, 23 Tex. 667; Murphy v. Menard, 11 Tex. 673, 14 Tex. 62; Mott v. Ruenbuhl, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 599.

Where there are no debts, it has been held that a balance found due from the former administrator on an accounting should be ordered paid to the distributees, and not to the administrator de bonis non (Dement v. Heth, 45 Miss. 388; Gray v. Harris, 43 Miss. 421. And see Duffy v. State, 115 Ind. 351, 17 N. E. 615), but this does not seem in accordance with the general line of authorities (Duffy v. State, supra; Miller v. Alexander, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 25). The Pennsylvania statute of 1834, authorizing an administrator de bonis non to sue the former administrator for a balance in his hands, applies to cases where the account was settled before the passage of the act, and regardless of the existence of outstanding debts. Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315 [affirming 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 101, 4 Pa. L. J. 462]. And see New Jersey Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Corbin, 12 Phila. 257.

the former administrator be first settled before the administrator de bonis non can maintain a suit for the balance.[95] When a prior executor or administrator after his discharge from office collects money for the estate, it may be treated as money had and received to the use of the administrator de bonis non, who may sue the former representative in assumpsit.[96]

c. Assets Wrongfully Administered — (i) Illegal and Fraudulent Sales and Transfers. A sale, transfer, or payment made without authority passes no title and does not constitute an administration. Therefore an administrator de bonis non may pursue assets so disposed of.[97] Not only may this be done where the sale or transfer is contrary to law,[98] but also where it is fraudulent, in which case the administrator de bonis non may avoid it,[99] unless the persons interested

As to moneys which cannot be identified as the specific property of the estate the administrator de bonis non has no preference and stands as a general creditor. Gamble v. Hamilton, 7 Mo. 469.

In Louisiana the second administrator may call upon the succession of the first for a general accounting, but cannot sue for a money judgment. Granger v. Reid, 36 La. Ann. 845.

95. Foster v. Bailey, 157 Mass. 160, 31 N. E. 771; Esher v. Fulmer, 2 Miles (Pa.) 463; Ingraham v. Cox, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 70, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 464, 3 Pa. L. J. 128; Matter of Bradley, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 327; King v. Devoe, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 551; Ewing v. Lewis, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 112.

In Maryland an order must first be obtained from the probate court directing payment to the administrator de bonis non. State v. Robinson, 57 Md. 486; State v. Hart, 57 Md. 234.

In Ohio there need be no prior accounting. Douglas v. Day, 28 Ohio St. 175.

96. Salter v. Cain, 7 Ala. 478.

97. Reed v. Reeves, 13 Bush (Ky.) 447, holding that where an executor assigned a note belonging to the estate in payment of a gambling debt due from him to the assignee, the assignment was void, and did not defeat the right of the administrator de bonis non thereto.

Payment of an unfounded claim in good faith, the administrator and claimant both believing it to be valid, will not ground an action by the administrator de bonis non to recover it back. Mayhew v. Stone, 26 Can. Supreme Ct. 58.

Payments by way of distribution but not in fact made to the next of kin do not protect the former administrator from a suit by the administrator de bonis non for the sums so paid. Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315 [affirming 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 101, 4 Pa. L. J. 462]. But payments to certain distributees of more than their share of the estate distributed by the former administrator will not ground an action by the administrator de bonis non if the shares can be equalized in future distributions. Patterson v. Bell, 25 Iowa 149. Where distribution has been made under a void decree to the prejudice of creditors, the administrator de bonis non is entitled to payment by the former administrator only to the extent necessary properly to settle the estate. Browne v. Doolittle, 151 Mass. 595, 25 N. E. 23.

98. Alabama.— McArthur v. Carrie, 32 Ala. 75, 70 Am. Dec. 529; Hopper v. Steele, 18 Ala. 828.

Georgia.— Paschal v. Davis, 3 Ga. 256.

Mississippi.— Forniquet v. Forstall, 34 Miss. 87; Hull v. Clark, 14 Sm. & M. 187; Byrd v. Holloway, 6 Sm. & M. 323.

Missouri.— Cowgill v. Linnville, 20 Mo. App. 138.

Tennessee.— Bell v. Speight, 11 Humphr. 451. Compare Cheek v. Wheatley, 3 Sneed 484.

Vermont.— Green v. Sargeant, 23 Vt. 466, 56 Am. Dec. 88.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 487.

99. Alabama.— McArthur v. Carrie, 32 Ala. 75, 70 Am. Dec. 529; Gantt v. Phillips, 23 Ala. 275; Swink v. Snodgrass, 17 Ala. 653, 52 Am. Dec. 190.

Indiana.— Duffy v. State, 115 Ind. 351, 17 N. E. 651; Talbott v. Dennis, 1 Ind. 471.

Mississippi.— Searles v. Scott, 14 Sm. & M. 94; Scott v. Searles, 7 Sm. & M. 498, 45 Am. Dec. 317.

North Carolina.— Hendrick v. Gidney, 114 N. C. 543, 19 S. E. 598.

Tennessee.— Bell v. Speight, 11 Humphr. 451, holding that fraud and collusion would entitle the administrator de bonis non to recover in equity. But see Cheek v. Wheatley, 3 Sneed 484, where a recovery at law was denied.

Texas.— Williams v. Verne, 68 Tex. 414, 4 S. W. 548; Todd v. Willis, 66 Tex. 704, 1 S. W. 803; Giddings v. Steele, 28 Tex. 732, 91 Am. Dec. 336; Pearson v. Burdett, 26 Tex. 157, 80 Am. Dec. 649; Cochran v. Thompson, 18 Tex. 652; Burdett v. Silsbee, 15 Tex. 604; De Witt v. Miller, 9 Tex. 239; Evans v. Oakley, 2 Tex. 182. Compare Johnson v. Morris, 45 Tex. 463; Brown v. Franklin, 44 Tex. 559; McDonald v. Alford, 32 Tex. 35; De Witt v. Miller, 9 Tex. 239.

Virginia.— Heffernan v. Grymes, 2 Leigh 512.

England.— Cubbidge v. Boatwright, 1 Russ. 549, 46 Eng. Ch. 489, 38 Eng. Reprint 212.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 487.

The statute of limitations does not begin to run against such an action by the administrator de bonis non until his appointment.

in the estate have ratified it,[1] or the administrator de bonis non has elected to take the proceeds.[2]

(II) Property Wasted or Converted. At the common law an administrator de bonis non had no right of action against his predecessor for a devastavit by him committed, such right belonging to creditors and distributees alone;[3] but in accordance with the general policy now prevailing statutes have in many jurisdictions conferred upon the administrator de bonis non powers sufficient to sustain an action by him against his predecessor for waste or conversion of the Hopper v. Steele, 18 Ala. 828. But see Paschal v. Davis, 3 Ga. 256, holding that the purchaser's possession is adverse to that of the original administrator, and that the statute runs from the delivery of possession.

The declarations of the former administrator as to the validity of the sale are not admissible to support the action. McArthur v. Carrie, 32 Ala. 75, 70 Am. Dec. 529.

Confirmation of the sale or transfer by the probate court will not make it such an administration as will defeat the title of the administrator de bonis non. Giddings v. Steele, 28 Tex. 732, 91 Am. Dec. 336; Pearson v. Burdett, 26 Tex. 157, 80 Am. Dec. 649; Cochran v. Thompson, 18 Tex. 652; Burdett v. Silsbee, 15 Tex. 604; De Witt v. Miller, 9 Tex. 239; Evans v. Oakley, 2 Tex. 182. Compare Johnson v. Morris, 45 Tex. 463; Brown v. Franklin, 44 Tex. 559; McDonald v. Alford, 32 Tex. 35.

In South Carolina it has been held that where the administrator has the right to dispose of property belonging to the estate, the fact that a disposition is made with fraudulent motives and in collusion with the purchaser will not entitle the administrator de bonis non to follow the property into the hands of the purchaser, such right being possessed by the legatees and creditors only. Knobeloch v. Germania Sav. Bank, 43 S. C. 233, 21 S. E. 13; Steele v. Atkinson, 14 S. C. 154, 37 Am. Rep. 728; Johnston v. Lewis, Rice Eq. 40, 33 Am. Dec. 74. But where actual fraud is practised on the administrator, whereby he is induced to dispose of property belonging to the estate, it seems that the administrator de bonis non may follow the property into the hands of the purchaser. Steele v. Atkinson, 14 S. C. 154, 37 Am. Rep. 728; Johnston v. Lewis, Rice Eq. (S. C.) 40, 33 Am. Dec. 74.

1. McArthur v. Carrie, 32 Ala. 75, 70 Am. Dec. 529 (holding that receipt of property by the distributees, bought with the proceeds of the illegal sale, was not a ratification unless such distributees were of lawful age at the time they received the property, and knew with what funds it was bought); Elliott v. Mobile Branch Bank, 20 Ala. 345; Kavanaugh v. Thompson, 16 Ala. 817.

2. Wales v. Newbould, 9 Mich. 45. But see Woods v. Legg, 91 Ala. 511, 8 So. 342, holding that the administrator de bonis non cannot exercise the election to which the heirs are entitled, to ratify an illegal sale of land, and he cannot therefore sue his predecessor for the proceeds of such sale.

3. Alabama.— Nolly v. Wilkins, 11 Ala. 872; Willis v. Willis, 9 Ala. 721; Judge Benton County Ct. v. Price, 6 Ala. 36; Chamberlain v. Bates, 2 Port. 550, 27 Am. Dec. 667.

Arkansas.— Brice v. Taylor, 51 Ark. 75, 9 S. W. 854; Green v. Byrne, 46 Ark. 453; Ludlow v. Flournoy, 34 Ark. 451; State v. Rottaken, 34 Ark. 144; Finn v. Hempstead, 24 Ark. 111.

Connecticut.— American Bd. Commissioners' Appeal, 27 Conn. 344.

Florida.— Gregory v. Harrison, 4 Fla. 56.

Georgia.— Knight v. Lasseter, 16 Ga. 151; Oglesby v. Gilmore, 5 Ga. 56; Paschal v. Davis, 3 Ga. 256; Thomas v. Hardwick, 1 Ga. 78.

Illinois.— Stose v. People, 25 Ill. 600; Short v. Johnson, 25 Ill. 489; Newhall v. Turney, 14 Ill. 338; Rowan v. Kirkpatrick, 14 Ill. 1.

Indiana.— Lucas v. Donaldson, 117 Ind. 139, 19 N. E. 758; Kemp v. Smith, 7 Ind. 471; Young v. Kimball, 8 Blackf. 167; Anthony v. McCall, 3 Blackf. 86.

Kentucky.— Warfield v. Brand, 13 Bush 77; Felts v. Brown, 7 J. J. Marsh. 147; Karn v. Seaton, 62 S. W. 737, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 101.

Maryland.— Baker v. Bowie, 74 Md. 467, 22 Atl. 133; Hagthrop v. Hook, 1 Gill & J. 270.

Mississippi.— Rives v. Patty, 43 Miss. 338; Searles v. Scott, 14 Sm. & M. 94; Byrd v. Holloway, 6 Sm. & M. 323; Stubblefield v. McRaver, 5 Sm. & M. 130, 43 Am. Dec. 502.

Missouri.— Gamble v. Hamilton, 7 Mo. 469.

New Jersey.— Roy v. Squier, 61 N. J. Eq. 182, 48 Atl. 233; Hartson v. Elden, 58 N. J. Eq. 478, 44 Atl. 156; Thiefes v. Mason, 55 N. J. Eq. 456, 37 Atl. 455; Carrick v. Carrick, 23 N. J. Eq. 364; Brownlee v. Lockwood, 20 N. J. Eq. 239.

Ohio.— Douglas v. Day, 28 Ohio St. 175; O'Conner v. State, 18 Ohio 225.

Pennsylvania.— Kendall v. Lee, 2 Penr. & W. 482; Potts v. Smith, 3 Rawle 361, 24 Am. Dec. 359; Allen v. Irwin, 1 Serg. & R. 549.

South Carolina.— Smith v. Carrere, 1 Rich. Eq. 123.

Tennessee.— Cheek v. Wheatley, 3 Sneed 484; Stott v. Alexander, 2 Sneed 650.

Texas.— Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123.

Utah.— Reed v. Hume, 25 Utah 248, 70 Pac. 998.

Vermont.— Curtis v. Curtis, 13 Vt. 517.

Virginia.— Cheatham v. Bufoot, 9 Leigh 580; Coleman v. McMurdo, 5 Rand. 51.

United States.— U. S. v. Walker, 109 U. S. 258, 3 S. Ct. 277, 27 L. ed. 927; Beall v. New Mexico, 16 Wall. 535, 21 L. ed. 292.

assets.[4] Such right of action is, however, purely statutory, and must be pursued and confined within the terms of the statute.[5]

d. Realty. An administrator de bonis non in general succeeds to such interests and rights in and concerning realty as devolved upon his predecessor.[6] Thus

England.— Packman's Case, 6 Coke 18*b*; Wankford v. Wankford, 1 Salk. 299.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 488.

Administrator de bonis non may not sue for waste committed by administrator of predecessor. Ferguson v. Sweeney, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 547.

A public administrator may sue his predecessor in office. He is not an administrator de bonis non. State v. Watts, 23 Ark. 304.

Where the predecessor acted under a void appointment, the legal administrator may sue him. O'Bannon v. Cord, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 183. See also Anderson v. ——, 3 N. C. 22.

4. Alabama.— Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286.

California.— Horton v. Jack, (1894) 37 Pac. 652.

Georgia.— Oglesby v. Gilmore, 5 Ga. 56.

Indiana.— Duffy v. State, 115 Ind. 351, 17 N. E. 615; Ormes v. Brown, 22 Ind. App. 569, 52 N. E. 1005.

Kansas.— American Surety Co. v. Piatt, 67 Kan. 294, 72 Pac. 775.

Minnesota.— Palmer v. Pollock, 26 Minn. 433, 4 N. W. 1113.

Oregon.— Gatch v. Simpson, 40 Oreg. 90, 66 Pac. 688.

Pennsylvania.— Lewis v. Ewing, 18 Pa. St. 313; Parrish v. Brooks, 4 Brewst. 154.

Texas.— Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75; Martel v. Martel, 17 Tex. 391; Francis v. Northcote, 6 Tex. 185. But see apparently to the contrary Johnson v. Hogan, 37 Tex. 77; McDonald v. Alford, 32 Tex. 35; Murphey v. Menard, 11 Tex. 673.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 488.

Trover will lie by an administrator de bonis non against his predecessor for goods converted (Foster v. Brown, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 221, 19 Am. Dec. 672), but only when the goods can be specifically distinguished (Stott v. Alexander, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 650).

When suit improper.— An administrator de bonis non cannot sue a former administrator for negligence in the collection of claims, where the only party whom the administrator de bonis non represents has already received all to which he is entitled. Shurtleff v. Ferry, 138 Mass. 259.

5. Alabama.— Nolly v. Wilkins, 11 Ala. 872; Willis v. Willis, 9 Ala. 721, holding that the statute confers a right to sue only when the estate is insolvent.

Illinois.— Marsh v. People, 15 Ill. 284, holding that the action lies only against an administrator who has been removed, and not against the representatives of one who dies.

Indiana.— Lucas v. Donaldson, 117 Ind. 139, 19 N. E. 758; Ormes v. Brown, 22 Ind. App. 569, 52 N. E. 1005, holding that the action must be upon the bond of the former administrator.

Maine.— Meservey v. Kalloch, 97 Me. 91, 53 Atl. 876, holding that the right is not conferred by a statute giving the right to sue to "a person interested personally or in any official capacity."

New Jersey.— McDonald v. O'Connell, 39 N. J. L. 317, holding that only a substituted administrator may sue, and that an administrator de bonis non may not. See also Hartson v. Elden, 58 N. J. Eq. 478, 44 Atl. 156.

Ohio.— Jones v. Willis, 66 Ohio St. 114, 63 N. E. 605; Douglas v. Day, 28 Ohio St. 175; Curtis v. Lynch, 19 Ohio St. 392; Blizzard v. Filler, 20 Ohio 479; Montgomery v. Goepper, 7 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 581, 4 Cinc. L. Bul. 67; Entrekin v. Slagle, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 550, holding that the action lies only on the official bond.

Texas.— Murphey v. Menard, 11 Tex. 673, holding that the action lies only in the cases expressly provided for by statute, and seeming to hold that the action must be upon the bond. This case is explained in Murphy v. Menard, 14 Tex. 62, as holding merely that the action lay only in accordance with the statute, but not necessarily upon the bond. See also Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75, holding that an administrator excused from giving bond may be sued.

Virginia.— Helsey v. Craig, 33 Gratt. 716, holding that a curator may be sued but not an administrator.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 488.

6. See Kline v. Moulton, 11 Mich. 370, holding that an administrator de bonis non succeeds to the statutory rights of the administrator to hold possession of the land and receive the rents and profits, and such right cannot be aliened by the administrator so as to prevent the administrator de bonis non from recovering possession.

After twenty years' acquiescence it will be presumed that a sale of land by heirs was consented to by the then administrator, and the administrator de bonis non cannot assert a right thereto. Breckinridge v. Waters, 4 Dana (Ky.) 620.

When no debts remain unpaid the title vests in the heirs. Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123.

Execution sale.— In Pennsylvania an administrator de bonis non may recover from his predecessor the surplus proceeds of real estate sold on execution and paid to the predecessor. Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315 [affirming 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 101, 4 Pa. L. J. 462.] Contra, in North Carolina. Alexander v. Wolfe, 88 N. C. 398.

Interest as devisee and testamentary trustee.— The administrator de bonis non takes no right in land held by the former admin-he is entitled to administer upon land purchased by his predecessor with funds of the estate,[7] and he may collect the purchase-money of land sold by his predecessor,[8] or decedent,[9] or he may maintain a suit to set aside an illegal sale made by his predecessor when necessary in order to subject the land to the payment of debts.[10] The appointment of an administrator de bonis non does not start anew the period during which land may be sold for the payment of debts, and the limitation in that respect continues to run as under the previous administration.[11]

B. Powers, Duties, and Liabilities — 1. In General. So far as concerns the assets to which an administrator de bonis non is entitled he represents the estate[12] and has all the powers and is subject to all the responsibilities of a general administrator.[13]

2. Powers and Duties — a. Collection of Assets — (i) In General. It is the duty of the administrator de bonis non to take possession of unadministered effects of the decedent,[14] and to this end he may maintain any action necessary or proper for the recovery of such assets.[15] While there is, as has been istrator as devisee and trustee under the will and not as administrator. Carson v. Duffy, 55 N. C. 507. See also Myers v. Forbes, 74 Md. 355, 22 Atl. 410.

7. Haynes v. Bessellieu, 25 Ark. 499; Tiernan's Estate, 31 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 185.

A mortgage taken by an administrator in his own name may after his death be enforced only by his own representative (Caulkins v. Bolton, 98 N. Y. 511), but one taken by an executor to himself as such and to his successors passes to the administrator de bonis non (Luers v. Brunges, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 282).

8. Hudgens v. Cameron, 50 Ala. 379; Hefferman v. Grymes, 2 Leigh (Va.) 512.

Interest on moneys obtained from a sale of real estate and wrongfully retained by the administrator belongs to the administrator de bonis non. Smithers v. Hooper, 23 Md. 273.

9. White v. Beard, 5 Port. (Ala.) 94, 30 Am. Dec. 552, where the decedent had made the sale and the former administrator had taken a note for the price.

10. Seabrook v. Brady, 47 Ga. 650; Forniquet v. Forstall, 34 Miss. 87. Contra, Brown v. Franklin, 44 Tex. 559.

11. Slocum v. English, 62 N. Y. 494; In re Topping, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 116, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 495. See also Waters v. Crossen, 41 Iowa 261; McCrary v. Tasker, 41 Iowa 255.

12. Grant v. Bell, 87 N. C. 34; Smith v. Billing, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,014, 3 Cranch C. C. 355.

A dismissed administrator must settle with his successor, and not with the creditor provoking his dismissal. Lobit v. Castille, 14 La. Ann. 779.

Suit for conversion.— The administrator de bonis non and not the legatees should sue for a conversion of the assets by strangers after the death of the administrator. Barlow v. Nelson, 157 Mass. 395, 32 N. E. 359.

13. Indiana.— Ormes v. Brown, 22 Ind. App. 569, 52 N. E. 1005.

Kentucky.— Williams v. Collins, 1 B. Mon. 58.

New York.— Whitlock v. Bowery Sav. Bank, 36 Hun 460; McMahon v. Allen, 4 E. D. Smith 519.

North Carolina.— Alexander v. Wolfe, 88 N. C. 398.

Tennessee.— Shackelford v. Runyan, 7 Humphr. 141.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 485.

The advice of the court may be sought and obtained by an administrator de bonis non in difficult and doubtful matters. Sellers v. Sellers, 35 Ala. 235; Hartson v. Elden, 58 N. J. Eq. 478, 44 Atl. 156.

Inventory.— It is the duty of the administrator de bonis non to return an inventory of assets coming to his hands. Alexander v. Stewart, 8 Gill & J. (Md.) 226; Fay v. Muzzey, 13 Gray (Mass.) 53, 74 Am. Dec. 619.

14. Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286 (within a reasonable time); Alexander v. Stewart, 8 Gill & J. (Md.) 226. The right of the administrator de bonis non to the assets cannot be defeated by the sole distributee paying the debts of the estate, and taking possession of the property. Kelly v. Kelly, 9 Ala. 908, 44 Am. Dec. 469.

In New Jersey the powers of an administrator de bonis non are restricted to unadministered assets, but a substituted administrator under Laws (1901), p. 303, is entitled to the entire personal estate which is undistributed. Hoagland v. Cooper, 65 N. J. Eq. 407, 56 Atl. 705.

Issue of letters de bonis non to original administrator.— Where letters of administration have been revoked, and other letters granted to the same person on a new bond, the funds in his hands as administrator are transferred to him as administrator de bonis non. Enicks v. Powell, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 196.

15. Connecticut.— Chamberlin's Appeal, 70 Conn. 363, 39 Atl. 734, 41 L. R. A. 204.

Massachusetts.— Cunningham v. Davis, 175 Mass. 213, 56 N. E. 2, holding that an administrator de bonis non is entitled to the benefit of a statute permitting a personal seen,[16] considerable diversity in the law as to what constitutes assets for the administrator de bonis non, especially as regards claims against his predecessor, the difficulties on that subject arise as to the title of the administrator de bonis non, and not as to his right of action where title exists,[17] and so far as the law confers upon him rights to assets or demands against his predecessor, he may maintain actions against him or his personal representative for their enforcement.[18] It is not, however, the duty of an administrator de bonis non to cause a reëxamination of his predecessor's accounts.[19] In some states statutes provide for a summary order from the probate court requiring assets in the predecessor's hands to be delivered to the administrator de bonis non.[20]

(II) JUDGMENTS IN FAVOR OF PREDECESSOR. At common law an administrator de bonis non could not enforce a judgment recovered by his predecessor during his administration,[21] but in some jurisdictions provision is made by statute for the enforcement of such a judgment by the administrator de representative to maintain forcible entry and detainer to obtain possession of premises mortgaged to the decedent.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Bell, 87 N. C. 34.

Ohio.— Jelke v. Goldsmith, 52 Ohio St. 499, 40 N. E. 167, 49 Am. St. Rep. 730.

Pennsylvania.— Lea v. Hopkins, 7 Pa. St. 385.

Texas.— Evans v. Oakley, 2 Tex. 182, holding that, where an intestate pledged property to secure the payment of borrowed money, an action to recover such property should have been brought by the administrator de bonis non, and not by the heirs.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 486.

A plea in abatement is the only method of questioning the right of an administrator de bonis non to sue. Michigan Trust Co. v. Probasco, 29 Ind. App. 109, 63 N. E. 255.

16. See supra, XVIII, A, 2.

17. Weld v. McClure, 9 Watts (Pa.) 495.

18. Arkansas.— Wilson v. Hinton, 63 Ark. 145, 38 S. W. 338.

Kansas.— American Surety Co. v. Piatt, 67 Kan. 294, 72 Pac. 775.

New Jersey.— Hoagland v. Cooper, 65 N. J. Eq. 407, 56 Atl. 705.

Pennsylvania.— Lewis v. Ewing, 18 Pa. St. 313; Carter v. Trueman, 7 Pa. St. 315; Weld v. McClure, 9 Watts 495.

South Carolina.— Miller v. Alexander, 1 Hill Eq. 25.

United States.— Beall v. New Mexico, 16 Wall. 535, 31 L. ed. 292.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 488.

Enforcement of surrogate's decree.—An administrator de bonis non may maintain an action to enforce a surrogate's decree made on an accounting. Clapp v. Meserole, 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 362, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 281, 27 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 600 note. But see Clark v. Ford, 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 359, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 370, 1 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 22, 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 245, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 478.

Debt due from former representative.—An administrator de bonis non may recover from the former administrator a debt due from him to the decedent. Kelsey v. Smith, 1 How. (Miss.) 68; Utterback v. Cooper, 28 Gratt. (Va.) 233.

Suit for property received as statutory trustee.— Where the husband has been appointed administrator of his wife, but her estate is not taken and held by him as such, and no actual administration on her estate is had, the administrator appointed for her estate on the death of the husband may sue his administrator for the wife's personalty received by the husband as statutory trustee. Connecticut Trust, etc., Co. v. Security Co., 67 Conn. 438, 35 Atl. 342, holding further that the fact that the wife's administrator delayed for eighteen months after the husband's death before applying for his letters of administration did not constitute laches barring his recovery from the husband's administrator of the wife's personalty, the delay having resulted in no injury.

The account of the former administrator showing an indebtedness to the estate is prima facie evidence in favor of the administrator de bonis non. Wilson v. Hinton, 63 Ark. 145, 35 S. W. 338.

Where the appointment of an administrator de bonis non is void for a failure to comply with the law in removing the former administrator, a judgment of the probate court against the former administrator and in favor of the administrator de bonis non is unauthorized and void. Goodwin v. Hooper, 45 Ala. 613.

19. Yale v. Baker, 2 Hun (N. Y.) 468, 5 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 10; Brown v. Franklin, 44 Tex. 559.

In Alabama it is the duty of an administrator de bonis non to participate in the accounting of his predecessor, and he is liable for assets in the latter's hands. Waller v. Ray, 48 Ala. 468; Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286; Taylor v. Benham, 5 How. (U. S.) 233, 12 L. ed. 130.

20. State v. Hart, 57 Md. 234; Foster v. Bailey, 157 Mass. 160, 31 N. E. 771; Wickham v. Page, 49 Mo. 526; Miller v. Jasper, 10 Tex. 513, summary method of recovering papers belonging to the estate.

21. Grout v. Chamberlin, 4 Mass. 611, 613; Allen v. Irwin, 1 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 549; Yaites v. Gough, Yelv. 33.

bonis non.[22] Where the administrator de bonis non is entitled to enforce the judgment by execution, he is also entitled to supplementary and ancillary remedies.[23]

b. Distribution. Having collected the unadministered assets, it is the duty of the administrator de bonis non to distribute the same to the persons entitled.[24]

3. Liabilities. The administrator de bonis non is not chargeable generally with all the undistributed assets of the estate, but only with such as came into his hands, or would have come into his hands had he used good faith and reasonable diligence.[25] Nor is he chargeable with moneys collected by his predecessor, for which parties

Where the administrator de bonis non requires such protection because of the insolvency of the former administrator's sureties and the existence of a balance against him, it seems that the court will order the judgment entered to the use of the administrator de bonis non, but not in the absence of such circumstances. Magruder's Case, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,962, 2 Cranch C. C. 626.

Administrator de bonis non may maintain a new action. Grout v. Chamberlin, 4 Mass. 613; Smith v. Pearce, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 127; Dykes v. Woodhouse, 3 Rand (Va.) 287. This would seem contrary to the strict rule of the common law by which the administrator de bonis non took only assets remaining in specie unaltered by any act of the former administrator. See supra, XVIII, A, 1.

22. Duncan v. Hargrove, 18 Ala. 77; Warren v. Rist, 16 Ala. 686; Ellison v. Andrews, 34 N. C. 188; Meiser v. Eckhart, 19 Pa. St. 201; Lea v. Hopkins, 7 Pa. St. 385; Hunt v. Payne, 29 Vt. 176.

Payment to the representative of the former administrator after notice given by the administrator de bonis non before letters issued is no protection to the judgment debtor. Meiser v. Eckhart, 19 Pa. St. 201.

23. Talbott v. Dennis, Smith (Ind.) 357 (holding that an administrator de bonis non may maintain a bill to set aside the satisfaction of a decree); Shell v. Boyd, 32 S. C. 359, 11 S. E. 205 (holding that an administrator de bonis non may maintain a bill to set aside a fraudulent conveyance and satisfy the judgment from the land). The administrator de bonis non is an essential party to a bill to enforce a decree to which his predecessor was a party. Griffin v. Spence, 69 Ala. 393.

24. Chamberlin's Appeal, 70 Conn. 363, 39 Atl. 734, 41 L. R. A. 204, holding that where personal property had been delivered to a testamentary trustee when it was in fact intestate, the administrator de bonis non should recover it and distribute it to the persons rightfully entitled thereto. Alexander v. Stewart, 8 Gill & J. (Md.) 226.

Commissions of former administrator.—The administrator de bonis non is not bound to pay commissions allowed to the former administrator unless there is an order of court or a demand of payment, and he will be discharged from liability if he distributes the estate under such circumstances, without paying such commissions. Patton v. Patton, 32 Miss. 331.

25. Illinois.— People v. Allen, 25 Ill. App. 657.

Maryland.— Smithers v. Hooper, 23 Md. 273.

Missouri.— State v. Ruggler, 23 Mo. 339.

New York.— In re Place, 1 Redf. Surr. 276, 7 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 217.

North Carolina.— Roper v. Burton, 107 N. C. 526, 12 S. E. 334.

Texas.— Higgs v. Garrison, (Civ. App. 1894) 27 S. W. 34.

Presumption as to receipt of proceeds of sale by predecessor.— When, on the sale of property by an administrator, part of the price is due before and part after the appointment of his successor, the latter is presumed to have received the proceeds, and, in order to escape liability, must show as a special defense his inability to collect from his predecessor the portion in his hands. New Orleans Gaslight, etc., Co. v. Webb, 2 La. Ann. 526.

Money paid by mistake.— Where a general administrator, through mistake, pays to an administrator de bonis non money which was not an asset of the estate, the administrator de bonis non is not liable as such for the money so paid. Weeks v. Love, 19 Ala. 25; Sellers v. Smith, 11 Ala. 264; Houston v. Frazer, 8 Ala. 81.

Successive administrations by same person. — Where the original administrator was superseded by another, but later again invested with the trust, he must account for all assets received by him on his first administration, and not delivered to his immediate successor. Willis v. Willis, 16 Ala. 652. Where letters of administration have been revoked and other letters granted to the same person he holds the bonds in his hands under the first letters as administrator de bonis non. Knicks v. Powell, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 196.

A sheriff to whom special administration is granted is chargeable in the same manner as an administrator de bonis non, and upon his bond as sheriff, with moneys received upon notes given to the former administrator. Williams v. Collins, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 58.

Surety on former administrator's bond succeeding.— Where the surety on the first administrator's bond was made administrator de bonis non, and the former administrator held assets in excess of the penalty of the bond, the administrator de bonis non was required to charge himself with the entire penalty. Jacobs v. Morrow, 21 Nebr. 233, 31 N. W. 739.

in interest have their remedy against such predecessor or his representatives[26] or with the value of chattels in the use of which a life-estate is given by the will, as to which the parties in remainder have their remedy by requiring security.[27] The inventory and settlement in court of the former administrator do not bind, even presumptively, the administrator de bonis non as to assets coming into his hands,[28] but a settlement between the administrator de bonis non and his predecessor is prima facie correct.[29] The administrator de bonis non is not responsible for the failure to realize moneys insecurely invested by his predecessor and thereby lost.[30] His liability is for his own acts,[31] and he cannot be called to account for the maladministration of his predecessor.[32] The measure of duty on the part of an administrator de bonis non is the exercise of good faith and ordinary care and diligence, and he is liable for failure to reach that standard but not beyond.[33] He cannot be charged with assets which he failed to realize because of excusable ignorance of their existence,[34] but he is required to exercise ordinary diligence both in discovering and in obtaining possession of assets, without special demand or request so to do.[35]

4. Effect of Contracts and Transactions of Predecessor. While at common law there was no privity between an administrator de bonis non and his predecessor, the former's rights and duties concerning only assets not administered at all by the predecessor, and being therefore practically independent of his predecessor's acts,[36] the effect of the modern extensions of the rights of the administrator de bonis non is to bind him by all acts of his predecessor lawfully performed within the scope of his duties.[37] He is not, however, bound by acts of his prede-

26. In re Place, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 276, 7 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 217.

27. In re Place, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 276, 7 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 217.

28. Saffran v. Kennedy, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 188; Solomons v. Krusheedt, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 307. See also Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 72. And see as to inventory generally supra, IV, I.

29. Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720.

30. Scarborough v. Watkins, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 540, 50 Am. Dec. 528; Bentley's Estate, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 160.

31. Alsop v. Mather, 8 Conn. 584, 21 Am. Dec. 703, holding that an administrator de bonis non was not liable for the payment of a decree obtained against his predecessor for acts performed by the predecessor.

The liability for taxes assessed against an administrator is a liability of the estate, and is not personal to the administrator, and it devolves upon his successor. San Francisco v. Pennie, 93 Cal. 465, 29 Pac. 66.

32. Illinois.— Bliss v. Seaman, 165 Ill. 422, 46 N. E. 279.

Maryland.— Smithers v. Hooper, 23 Md. 273.

New Jersey.— Brownlee v. Lockwood, 20 N. J. Eq. 239.

Pennsylvania.— In re Small, 5 Pa. St. 258.

Tennessee.— Cheek v. Wheatley, 3 Sneed 484.

33. Alabama.— Eubank v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73; Waller v. Ray, 48 Ala. 468; Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286; Wilkinson v. Hunter, 37 Ala. 268.

Georgia.— Bowers v. Grimes, 45 Ga. 616.

Missouri.— State v. Ruggles, 23 Mo. 339.

North Carolina.— Roper v. Burton, 107 N. C. 526, 12 S. E. 334; Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720.

Texas.— Higgs v. Garrison, (Civ. App. 1894) 27 S. W. 34.

United States.— Taylor v. Benham, 5 How. 233, 12 L. ed. 130. And see as to personal representatives generally, supra, VIII, A, 1.

Payments received as creditor from predecessor.— It is error to charge an administrator de bonis non with moneys paid to him as a creditor of the estate by a former administrator, without proof that they were improperly paid. Daughdrill v. Daughdrill, 108 Ala. 321, 19 So. 185.

34. State v. Ruggles, 23 Mo. 339.

35. Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720. The administrator de bonis non may be charged with the resultant loss to the estate if he fails to collect assets within a reasonable time. Whitworth v. Oliver, 39 Ala. 286; Lidderdale v. Robinson, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 594, 6 L. ed. 740 [affirming 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,337, 2 Brock. 159].

Sale by predecessor for distribution.— An administrator de bonis non is liable for moneys actually received upon notes taken by his predecessor at sales made not for administration, but for distribution, but he is not liable for a failure to collect such notes. Roper v. Burton, 107 N. C. 526, 12 S. E. 334.

36. See supra, XVIII, A, 1.

37. Alabama.— Martin v. Ellerbe, 70 Ala. 326.

Maryland.— Hagthorp v. Neale, 7 Gill & J. 13, 26 Am. Dec. 594.

Mississippi.— Duncan v. Watson, 28 Miss. 187.

North Carolina.— Badger v. Jones, 66 N. C. 305.

South Carolina.— Nettles v. Elkins, 2 McCord Eq. 182.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 492.

cessor which were fraudulent[38] or illegal.[39] An administrator de bonis non may enforce by action a contract of his predecessor which the latter might have sued on in his representative capacity.[40] So, while by the common law the administrator could bind only himself and not the estate by obligations created by him,[41] now such obligations created on behalf of the estate can usually be enforced against an administrator de bonis non to the extent of the available assets in his hands.[42]

C. Administrators De Bonis Non With the Will Annexed. In the case of an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, any question arising out of his de bonis non character or based upon the fact that there has been a prior administration is governed by the same rules as though he were an ordinary administrator de bonis non,[43] while in his capacity as administrator with the will annexed he stands upon the same footing as any other administrator with the will annexed as to the powers which he may exercise and the duties which devolve upon him.[44]

XIX. ADMINISTRATORS WITH THE WILL ANNEXED.[45]

A. Powers and Duties in General. As a general rule, both at common law and in many jurisdictions by virtue of express statute, an administrator with the will annexed possesses the same rights and powers, and is subject to the same

38. Martin v. Ellerbe, 70 Ala. 326.

39. Masterson v. Pullen, 62 Ala. 145 (holding that an administrator de bonis non may, when necessary to pay debts, enforce notes which the administrator has surrendered); Sellars v. Cheney, 70 Ga. 790 (holding that an administrator de bonis non is not estopped from claiming property which the former administrator stood by and permitted to be sold under a void execution); Badger v. Jones, 66 N. C. 305; Bell v. Speight, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 451 (holding that an administrator de bonis non is not estopped from claiming property by the fact that the former administrator concurred in an illegal execution sale thereof).

An administrator de bonis non may buy in the title of heirs to property wrongfully sold by the administrator and claim it as against the purchasers at the sale. Walbridge v. Day, 31 Ill. 379, 83 Am. Dec. 227.

Estoppel.— In New York it has been held that the administrator de bonis non may not assert a claim which the administrator was estopped from asserting. Whitlock v. Bowery Sav. Bank, 36 Hun 460.

Assets improperly included in administration.— An administrator de bonis non is liable for assets of a partnership of which the decedent was a member which the former administrator took into his possession and administered into the estate. Marlatt v. Scantland, 19 Ark. 443.

40. Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425; Parker v. Fay, 61 N. J. Eq. 167, 47 Atl. 499; Stair v. York Nat. Bank, 55 Pa. St. 364, 93 Am. Dec. 759; McGuinness v. Whalen, 17 R. I. 619, 24 Atl. 44. Contra, Ross v. Sutton, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 126, 19 Am. Dec. 660.

Administrator de bonis non may declare upon promise as made to first administrator. Hirst v. Smith, 7 T. R. 182, 4 Rev. Rep. 415.

41. Savage v. Benham, 11 Ala. 49; Tyson v. Walston, 83 N. C. 90; McBeth v. Smith, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 511; Pearce v. Smith, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 360, 4 Am. Dec. 588.

42. Habersham v. Huguenin, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 376; Shawhan v. Loffer, 24 Iowa 217. An administrator de bonis non cannot repudiate his predecessor's contract without compensating the party injured. Cock v. Carson, 38 Tex. 284.

Attorney's fees.— Fees for services rendered as an attorney in connection with the estate may be collected from the administrator de bonis non. Bell v. Welch, 38 Ark. 139; In re Young, 3 Md. Ch. 461; In re Watson, 53 L. J. Ch. 305, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 205, 32 Wkly. Rep. 477. Contra, Mellen v. West, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 89, 3 Ohio Cir. Dec. 46, administrator de bonis non not liable for note given by former administrator.

Costs.— An administrator de bonis non is not bound for the costs of a capias ad satisfaciendum sued out by his predecessor and discontinued. Hampton v. Cooper, 33 N. C. 580.

Garnishment.— An administrator de bonis non is bound by garnishment proceedings against his predecessor. Simonds v. Harris, 92 Ind. 505.

43. Pinney v. Barnes, 17 Conn. 420. See supra, XVIII, A, B.

44. See the following cases:

Illinois.— Nicoll v. Scott, 99 Ill. 529.

Indiana.— Rubottom v. Morrow, 24 Ind. 202, 87 Am. Dec. 324.

Maine.— Knight v. Loomis, 30 Me. 204.

Massachusetts.— Blake v. Dexter, 12 Cush. 559.

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Johnson, 69 Miss. 46, 13 So. 40; King v. Talbert, 36 Miss. 367; Bartlett v. Sutherland, 24 Miss. 395.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720. See infra, XIX.

45. Appointment and qualification see supra, II, C.

duties and liabilities as though he had been nominated executor by the will.[46] For example he may collect assets and pay debts,[47] sue or be sued,[48] or sell property to pay debts by leave of court.[49] But he cannot exercise any powers which the executor named in the will could not have exercised.[50]

B. Exercise of Discretionary Powers. Where the will gives to the executor named discretionary powers and duties involving personal trust and confidence, and which do not ordinarily come within the scope of administrative functions, they do not pass to an administrator with the will annexed,[51] although 46. Alabama.— Henderson v. Simmons, 33 Ala. 291, 70 Am. Dec. 590; Lucas v. Doe, 4 Ala. 679.

California.— Crouse v. Peterson, 130 Cal. 169, 62 Pac. 475, 615, 80 Am. St. Rep. 89; In re Li Po Tai, (1895) 39 Pac. 30.

Illinois.— Penn v. Fogler, 182 Ill. 76, 55 N. E. 192 [reversing on other grounds 77 Ill. App. 365].

Indiana.— Davis v. Hoover, 112 Ind. 423, 14 N. E. 468; Landers v. Stone, 45 Ind. 404.

Iowa.— Hodgin v. Toler, 70 Iowa 21, 30 N. W. 1, 59 Am. Rep. 435 (also holding that section 2351 of the code, relating to probate of foreign wills, and the powers of executors thereunder, confers no power upon an administrator with the will annexed); Lees v. Wetmore, 58 Iowa 170, 12 N. W. 238; Shawhan v. Loffer, 24 Iowa 217.

Kentucky.— De Haven v. De Haven, 104 Ky. 41, 46 S. W. 215, 47 S. W. 597, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 663; Simpson v. Hawkins, 1 Dana 303; Jackson v. Jeffries, 1 A. K. Marsh. 88.

Massachusetts.— Tarbell v. Jewett, 129 Mass. 457; Blake v. Dexter, 12 Cush. 559; Farwell v. Jacobs, 4 Mass. 634.

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Johnson, 69 Miss. 46, 13 So. 40; King v. Talbert, 36 Miss. 367; Bartlett v. Sutherland, 24 Miss. 395.

Nebraska.— Koopman v. Carroll, 50 Nebr. 824, 70 N. W. 395; Schroeder v. Wilcox, 39 Nebr. 136, 57 N. W. 1031.

New Jersey.— Hoagland v. Cooper, 65 N. J. Eq. 407, 56 Atl. 705.

New York.— Bain v. Matteson, 54 N. Y. 663; Simmons v. Taylor, 19 N. Y. App. Div. 499, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 730; In re Baker, 26 Hun 626; Bowers v. Emerson, 14 Barb. 652; Dominick v. Michael, 4 Sandf. 374; Matter of Kick, 11 N. Y. St. 688; Luers v. Brunges, 56 How. Pr. 282; Peterson v. Chemical Bank, 29 How. Pr. 240. And see Merritt v. Merritt, 161 N. Y. 634, 57 N. E. 1117 [affirming 32 N. Y. App. Div. 442, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 127]; McMahon v. Allen, 4 E. D. Smith 519.

North Carolina.— Saunders v. Saunders, 108 N. C. 327, 12 S. E. 909; Creech v. Grainger, 106 N. C. 213, 10 S. E. 1032; Syme v. Broughton, 86 N. C. 153.

Pennsylvania.— Evans v. Chew, 71 Pa. St. 47; Ross v. Barclay, 18 Pa. St. 179, 55 Am. Dec. 616; Cornell v. Green, 10 Serg. & R. 14.

Rhode Island.— Belcher v. Branch, 11 R. I. 226.

Tennessee.— Harrison v. Henderson, 7 Heisk. 315. And see Lewis v. Woodfolk, 2 Baxt. 25; Perry v. Gill, 2 Humphr. 218.

Virginia.— McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. 288; Archer v. Saddler, 2 Hen. & M. 370.

Wisconsin.— In re Besley, 18 Wis. 451.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 493.

Property undisposed of by the will may be administered upon by an administrator with the will annexed. Landers v. Stone, 45 Ind. 404; Sullivan v. Fosdick, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 173. But see Dean v. Biggers, 27 Ga. 73; Harper v. Smith, 9 Ga. 461.

Personal property given to a trustee by the will must be protected and preserved by the administrator with the will annexed until a trustee is appointed. Casperson v. Dunn, 42 N. J. Eq. 87, 6 Atl. 488.

A foreign administrator with the will annexed does not succeed to the powers and duties of the executor in the state in which he seeks to exercise such powers unless reappointed by a competent court of such state. Simpson v. Hawkins, 1 Dana (Ky.) 303; Jackson v. Jeffries, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 88.

47. Drury v. Natick, 10 Allen (Mass.) 169 (even though the will directs trustees to do so); Sullivan v. Fosdick, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 173; Scott v. Monks, 16 R. I. 225, 14 Atl. 860.

He may pay legal expenses and reasonable fees incurred in having the will probated. Henderson v. Simmons, 33 Ala. 291, 70 Am. Dec. 590.

He cannot pay out money by way of compromise. Henderson v. Simmons, 33 Ala. 291, 70 Am. Dec. 590.

48. Varnum v. Taylor, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 554, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 242; Syme v. Broughton, 86 N. C. 153.

He may sue for possession of land belonging to the estate (De Haven v. De Haven, 104 Ky. 41, 46 S. W. 215, 47 S. W. 597, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 663), but not unless he holds the legal title (O'Connell v. Dougherty, 32 Cal. 458; Emeric v. Penniman, 26 Cal. 119), or has statutory power to do so (Cornell v. Green, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 14; Scott v. Monk, 16 R. I. 225, 14 Atl. 860).

49. Syme v. Broughton, 86 N. C. 153.

50. Matter of Blow, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 193, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 360.

51. Alabama.— Anderson v. McGowan, 42 Ala. 280.

Illinois.— Penn v. Folger, 182 Ill. 76, 55 N. E. 192 [reversing on other grounds 77 Ill. App. 365].

Indiana.— Rubottom v. Morrow, 24 Ind. 202, 87 Am. Dec. 324.

Kentucky.— Warfield v. Brand, 13 Bush 77. But see Shields v. Smith, 8 Bush 601.

Maine.— Knight v. Loomis, 30 Me. 204.

such administrator is by statute or a decree of court, expressly invested with all the rights and powers of and subjected to the same duties as an executor named in the will,[52] unless it clearly appears from the will that the testator intended to confer the powers and duties upon the executor merely virtute officii, and that they should be exercised in any event.[53]

C. Power of Sale Under Will. As a general rule a power of selling real estate conferred by will upon a named executor is one of personal trust and confidence which cannot be exercised by an administrator with the will annexed.[54] But it is otherwise where the will clearly evinces an intention to confer the power

Massachusetts.— Farwell v. Jacobs, 4 Mass. 634.

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Johnson, 69 Miss. 46, 13 So. 40.

New Jersey.— Brush v. Young, 28 N. J. L. 237; Stoutenburgh v. Moore, 37 N. J. Eq. 63.

New York.— Merritt v. Merritt, 161 N. Y. 634, 57 N. E. 1117 [affirming 32 N. Y. App. Div. 442, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 127]; Bain v. Matteson, 54 N. Y. 663.

North Carolina.— Newsom v. Newsom, 38 N. C. 411.

Pennsylvania.— Maus v. Maus, 80 Pa. St. 194; Waters v. Margeram, 60 Pa. St. 39; Ross v. Barclay, 18 Pa. St. 179, 55 Am. Dec. 616; Ebert's Appeal, 9 Watts 300; Hepburn's Estate, 8 Phila. 206.

Rhode Island.— Belcher v. Branch, 11 R. I. 226.

South Carolina.— See Johnson v. Henegan, 11 S. C. 93.

Tennessee.— Harrison v. Henderson, 7 Heisk. 315; Armstrong v. Park, 9 Humphr. 195.

Texas.— Frisby v. Withers, 61 Tex. 134; Vardeman v. Ross, 36 Tex. 111; Tippett v. Mize, 30 Tex. 361, 94 Am. Dec. 313.

Wisconsin.— In re Besley, 18 Wis. 451.

United States.— Ingle v. Jones, 9 Wall. 486, 19 L. ed. 621.

England.— Lambert v. Rendle, 3 New Rep. 247.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 493.

A personal trust to provide for the widow, charged upon the executor by the will, does not devolve upon the administrator with the will annexed. Lindsley v. Personette, 35 N. J. Eq. 355. Contra, Sanders' Estate, 5 Kulp (Pa.) 521.

An application for the appointment of a trustee to carry out the provisions of the will, which do not devolve upon an administrator with the will annexed, may be made by such administrator to a court of equity. Penn v. Fogler, 182 Ill. 76, 55 N. E. 192 [reversing on other grounds 77 Ill. App. 365]; Mulligan v. Lambe, 178 Ill. 130, 52 N. E. 1052.

Management of trust property without authority by an administrator with the will annexed constitutes him a trustee de son tort. Penn v. Fogler, 182 Ill. 76, 55 N. E. 192 [reversing on other grounds 77 Ill. App. 365].

52. Penn v. Fogler, 182 Ill. 76, 55 N. E. 192 [reversing on other grounds 77 Ill. App. 365]; Hodgin v. Toler, 70 Iowa 21, 30 N. W. 1, 59 Am. Rep. 435; Creech v. Grainger, 106 N. C. 213, 10 S. E. 1032; Harrison v. Henderson, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 315; In re Besley, 18 Wis. 451.

53. Illinois.— Wenner v. Thornton, 98 Ill. 156.

Massachusetts.— Blake v. Dexter, 12 Cush. 559.

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Johnson, 69 Miss. 46, 13 So. 40.

New York.— Varnum v. Taylor, 59 Hun 554, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 242; In re Baker, 26 Hun 626; Matter of Post, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 449, 2 Connoly Surr. 243, holding that a direction to invest a specified sum "upon bond and mortgage of real estate, or such stocks as they may regard safe and permanent," evinces no intention to repose any such special trust and confidence as will disable an administrator with the will annexed from fully administering the trust.

North Carolina.— Creech v. Grainger, 106 N. C. 213, 10 S. E. 1032; Jones v. Jones, 17 N. C. 387.

Pennsylvania.— Olwine's Appeal, 4 Watts & S. 492; Sanders' Estate, 5 Kulp 521.

Rhode Island.— Belcher v. Branch, 11 R. I. 226.

United States.— Ingle v. Jones, 9 Wall. 486, 19 L. ed. 601.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 493.

54. Alabama.— Posey v. Conaway, 10 Ala. 811; Lucas v. Doe, 4 Ala. 679.

California.— Crouse v. Peterson, 130 Cal. 169, 63 Pac. 475, 615, 80 Am. St. Rep. 89.

Delaware.— Chandler v. Delaplaine, 4 Del. Ch. 503; Lockwood v. Stradley, 1 Del. Ch. 298, 12 Am. Dec. 97.

Illinois.— Bigelow v. Cady, 171 Ill. 229, 48 N. E. 974, 63 Am. St. Rep. 230; Nicoll v. Scott, 99 Ill. 529; Hall v. Irwin, 7 Ill. 176; Penn v. Fogler, 77 Ill. App. 365, without an order of court.

Massachusetts.— Greenough v. Welles, 10 Cush. 571; Dunbar v. Tainter, 7 Cush. 574; Tainter v. Clark, 13 Metc. 220.

Mississippi.— Montgomery v. Milliken, Sm. & M. Ch. 495.

Missouri.— Compton v. McMahan, 19 Mo. App. 494.

New Jersey.— McDonald v. King, 1 N. J. L. 432; Naundorf v. Schumann, 41 N. J. Eq. 14, 2 Atl. 609; Stoutenburgh v. Moore, 37 N. J. Eq. 63; Lanning v. Sisters of St. Francis, 35 N. J. Eq. 392.

New York.— Cooke v. Platt, 98 N. Y. 35; Horsfield v. Black, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 264, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 1006; Simmons v. Taylor, 19 upon the executor virtute officii, and not as involving any personal discretion,[55] and in some jurisdictions such power is conferred upon him by statute where the will directs a sale for administrative purposes, or to pay legacies or make distribution.[56]

N. Y. App. Div. 499, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 730; Fay v. Taylor, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 32, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 572; Conklin v. Egerton, 21 Wend. 430.

North Carolina.— Ferebee v. Procter, 19 N. C. 439.

Pennsylvania.— Waters v. Margerum, 60 Pa. St. 39; Ross v. Barclay, 18 Pa. St. 179, 55 Am. Dec. 616; Moody v. Fulmer, 3 Grant 17; Moody v. Vandyke, 4 Binn. 31, 5 Am. Dec. 385.

Tennessee.— Harrison v. Henderson, 7 Heisk. 315; Armstrong v. Parks, 9 Humphr. 195, except by the advice and consent of the chancellor.

Texas.— Tippett v. Mize, 30 Tex. 361, 94 Am. Dec. 313.

England.— In re Clay, 16 Ch. D. 3, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 402, 29 Wkly. Rep. 5. But see Wyman v. Carter, L. R. 12 Eq. 309, 40 L. J. Ch. 559.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 493½.

Power to divide the estate given to the executor does not authorize an administrator with the will annexed to sell the land. Montague v. Carneal, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 351; McDowell v. White, 68 N. C. 65.

An order of court is necessary to authorize a sale by an administrator with the will annexed where the latter comes into a court of equity, files his claim as creditor against the estate, and seeks to sell the real estate of his testator. Watson v. Fletcher, 7 Gratt. (Va.) 1.

An application for the appointment of a trustee to sell and make distribution may be made by an administrator with the will annexed to a court of equity where the terms of the will cannot be carried out without converting the land into money. Mulligan v. Lambe, 178 Ill. 130, 52 N. E. 1052; Stoff v. McGinn, 178 Ill. 46, 52 N. E. 1048.

55. Kentucky.— Rutherford v. Clark, 4 Bush 27.

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Johnson, 69 Miss. 46, 13 So. 40; King v. Talbert, 36 Miss. 367.

New Hampshire.— Rollins v. Rice, 59 N. H. 493, holding that, where a will authorizes a sale of land by any person legally qualified to administer the estate, an administrator with the will annexed may sell without a license from the probate court.

New Jersey.— Drummond v. Jones, 44 N. J. Eq. 53, 13 Atl. 611.

New York.— Carpenter v. Bonner, 26 N. Y. App. Div. 462, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 298; Clifford v. Morrell, 22 N. Y. App. Div. 470, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 83; Bingham v. Jones, 25 Hun 7; Scott v. Douglas, 39 Misc. 555, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 354; Campbell v. Jennings, 22 Misc. 406, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 278; In re Kick, 11 N. Y. St. 688. But see Conklin v. Egerton, 21 Wend. 430 [affirmed in 25 Wend. 224].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 493½.

The fact that an appraisal is directed to precede the sale does not make the power of sale discretionary and so not exercisable by an administrator with the will annexed. Clifford v. Morrell, 22 N. Y. App. Div. 470, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 83.

56. Alabama.— Anderson v. McGowan, 45 Ala. 462 [overruling Anderson v. McGowan, 42 Ala. 280].

California.— Kidwell v. Brummagim, 32 Cal. 436.

Delaware.— Curran v. Ruth, 4 Del. Ch. 27.

Indiana.— Davis v. Hoover, 112 Ind. 423, 14 N. E. 468.

Kentucky.— Gulley v. Prather, 7 Bush 167 (even where discretionary power to sell was conferred by the will on the executor); Rutherford v. Clark, 4 Bush 27; Owens v. Cowan, 7 B. Mon. 152; Steele v. Moxley, 9 Dana 137.

Maryland.— Venable v. Mercantile Trust, etc., Co., 74 Md. 187, 21 Atl. 704.

Mississippi.— Sandifer v. Grantham, 62 Miss. 412.

Missouri.— Francisco v. Wingfield, 161 Mo. 542, 61 S. W. 842; Evans v. Blackiston, 66 Mo. 437; Dilworth v. Rice, 48 Mo. 124; In re Rickenbaugh, 42 Mo. App. 328.

Nebraska.— Koopman v. Carroll, 50 Nebr. 824, 70 N. W. 395; Schroeder v. Wilcox, 39 Nebr. 136, 57 N. W. 1031.

New Jersey.— Howell v. Sebring, 14 N. J. Eq. 84. Under the act of April 6, 1838, an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed may make sale of the realty of the testator if the will conferred power upon the executors named therein to make such sale. In re Devine, 62 N. J. Eq. 703, 49 Atl. 138; Griggs v. Veghte, 47 N. J. Eq. 179, 19 Atl. 867. But the power of such administrator is declared by this act not to be valid until the terms of sale shall have been submitted to the orphans' court of the county in which the lands proposed to be sold lie and approved by such court. The jurisdiction of the orphans' court to approve or disapprove of the terms of a sale can only be invoked by one who exhibits by proof a right to make sale, if the will has conferred power of sale upon the executors named therein. If the will is one probated within the state, the application must show that he has been duly appointed administrator with the will annexed by some court having jurisdiction to make such appointment. If the will is a foreign one, it must appear that the applicant has been appointed with the will annexed, and also that he has taken such proceedings within the state as will give him a right to act in New Jersey. In a proceeding under this statute the court has not authority to consider or adjudicate upon a claim

XX. Temporary or Special Administrators and Receivers.[57]

A. Administrators Durante Minoritate. An administrator durante minoritate has, during the minority of the executor, the same authority as an ordinary administrator.[58] He may exercise a power of sale given by a testator to his executors or administrators,[59] and has the power to assent to a legacy if there were assets for the payment of debts.[60] He has the same authority as an ordinary executor or administrator to retain for his own debt,[61] and he has a further right to retain for a debt due the infant executor.[62] Under the old practice scire facias might issue against the executor, upon his reaching majority, upon a judgment obtained against the administrator durante minoritate.[63] The administrator durante minoritate is liable for a devastavit to the executor who qualifies after coming of age.[64]

B. Administrators Durante Absentia. An administrator durante absentia is such a legal representative as to be empowered to assign a leasehold of the deceased.[65] The authority of an administrator durante absentia does not become that the lands descended to testator's heirs at law or were specifically devised by his will and were not within the power of sale conferred by the will, for if the administrator had no authority to sell under the will, an order of the orphans' court under this statute would not confer it upon him. In re Devine, 62 N. J. Eq. 703, 49 Atl. 138.

New York.— Mott v. Ackerman, 92 N. Y. 539; Campbell v. Jennings, 22 Misc. 406, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 278.

North Carolina.— Creech v. Grainger, 106 N. C. 213, 10 S. E. 1032; Gay v. Grant, 101 N. C. 206, 8 S. E. 99, 106; Council v. Averett, 95 N. C. 131.

Pennsylvania.— Tarrence v. Reuther, 185 Pa. St. 279, 39 Atl. 956 [affirming 13 Montg. Co. Rep. 162]; Potts v. Breneman, 182 Pa. St. 295, 37 Atl. 1002; Jackman v. Delafield, 85 Pa. St. 381; Lantz v. Boyer, 81 Pa. St. 325; Evans v. Chew, 71 Pa. St. 47 [affirming 8 Phila. 103]; Waters v. Margerum, 60 Pa. St. 39; Keefer v. Schwartz, 47 Pa. St. 503; Moody v. Fulmer, 3 Grant 17; Still's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 105, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 379, 31 Wkly. Notes Cas. 252; Meredith's Estate, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. 433; Kline's Estate, 2 Leg. Chron. 137.

Rhode Island.— Bailey v. Brown, 9 R. I. 79.

South Carolina.— Robinson v. Ostendorff, 38 S. C. 66, 16 S. E. 371, sale for reinvestment.

Tennessee.— Blakemore v. Kimmons, 8 Baxt. 470; Green v. Davidson, 4 Baxt. 488; Harrison v. Henderson, 7 Heisk. 315. But see McElroy v. McElroy, 110 Tenn. 137, 73 S. W. 105, holding that a direction in a will that real estate be sold and the proceeds divided among certain legatees does not authorize an administrator with the will annexed to treat the estate as personal property and sell it under the doctrine of equitable conversion.

Virginia.— Miller v. Jones, 9 Gratt. 584; Brown v. Armistead, 6 Rand. 594.

United States.— Peters v. Bowman, 98 U. S. 56, 25 L. ed. 91 [affirming 19 Fed. Cas. Nos. 11,028, 11,029].

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 493½.

A foreign administrator with the will annexed cannot sell lands under a statutory provision in the state where the lands are situated. Steele v. Moxley, 9 Dana (Ky.) 137; Brown v. Hobson, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 380, 13 Am. Dec. 187.

A power of sale to carry out a collateral trust cannot be exercised by an administrator with the will annexed, even under such statutes. Crouse v. Peterson, 130 Cal. 169, 62 Pac. 475, 615, 80 Am. St. Rep. 89; Nicoll v. Scott, 99 Ill. 529; Gehr v. McDowell, 206 Pa. St. 100, 55 Atl. 851; Evans v. Chew, 71 Pa. St. 47; Waters v. Margerum, 60 Pa. St. 39; Harrison v. Henderson, 7 Heisk. 315.

57. Appointment and qualification see supra, II, E.

58. In re Cope, 16 Ch. D. 49, 50 L. J. Ch. 13, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 566, 29 Wkly. Rep. 98; In re Thompson, [1896] 1 Ir. 356.

Power to sell.— An administrator durante minoritate had, during the minority of the executor, the power to sell the estate if necessary in course of administration. In re Thompson, [1896] 1 Ir. 356. But see Robinson v. Sords, 13 L. R. Ir. 429.

59. Monsell v. Armstrong, L. R. 14 Eq. 423, 41 L. J. Ch. 715, 20 Wkly. Rep. 921.

60. 1 Williams Ex. (7th Am. ed.) 583.

61. Priers v. Goddard, Hob. 351; Roskelley v. Godolphin, T. Raym. 483.

62. Franks v. Cooper, 4 Ves. Jr. 763, 31 Eng. Reprint 394.

63. Sparkes v. Crofts, 1 Ld. Raym. 265.

64. Herndon v. Pratt, 59 N. C. 327, holding, however, that if the executor abstained for ten years from bringing suit, his cause of action was presumed to have been satisfied, released, or abandoned so that persons having a contingent interest in remainder which was injured by the devastavit, must look to the executor and not to the administrator durante minoritate or the sureties on his administration bond.

65. See Webb v. Kirby, 7 De G. M. & G. 376, 3 Jur. N. S. 73, 26 L. J. Ch. 145, 5 Wkly. Rep. 189, 44 Eng. Reprint 147.

void upon the death of the absent executor but only voidable.[66] A suit begun durante absentia does not fall to the ground upon the return of the executor, but goes on, the executor being made a party in the usual course.[67]

C. Administrators Pendente Lite.[68] An administrator pendente lite has been said to be not properly the representative of the deceased, as is the general administrator, but rather an appointee or officer of the court,[69] his office closely resembling that of a receiver in chancery.[70] His duties were originally merely to collect the effects,[71] file an inventory,[72] and hold and care for the property of the estate until the pending suit terminated;[73] but in the more modern practice he sometimes has the right to pay debts of the estate,[74] and may even sell the effects of the estate where a sound discretion warrants such action.[75] His authority does not, however, extend to the payment of legacies or making distribution of the estate.[76] Inasmuch as it is his duty to collect the effects of the estate, he is entitled to the possession of the personalty of the deceased,[77] and may maintain an action to recover a debt due the estate.[78] He has also been held entitled to bring ejectment against any person, whether the heir or next of kin or any other person whatsoever, who keeps possession of the testator's real or leasehold estate.[79] An administrator pendente lite is not liable for interest on money in his hands during pendency of the contest,[80] or at least he should be allowed to keep a reasonable sum to meet contingencies, without being subject to the liability for interest on the sum retained.[81] If proceedings are begun against the administrator pendente lite, they will be continued against the proper representative of the deceased when the duties of the administrator pendente lite have come to an end.[82] When the account of the administrator pendente lite is settled, the proper practice is to award the fund belonging to the estate to the general administrator.[83]

D. Special Administrators Under Modern Practice. Under the modern practice the different kinds of special administrators are generally known simply as special or temporary administrators whose powers are usually definitely fixed 66. Taynton v. Hannay, 3 B. & P. 26, construing 38 Geo. III, c. 87.

67. See Rainsford v. Taynton, 7 Ves. Jr. 460, 32 Eng. Reprint 186.

68. An administrator appointed to act during the heir's delay for deliberating has the same powers and is subject to the same duties and liabilities as the curator of a vacant estate. Self v. Morris, 7 Rob. (La.) 24. See Ogden's Succession, 10 Rob. (La.) 457.

69. Winpenny's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 20; Webb's Estate, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 275; Kaminer v. Hope, 9 S. C. 253. See also Houston v. Houston, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 652.

70. See In re Toleman, [1897] 1 Ch. 866, 66 L. J. Ch. 452, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 381, 45 Wkly. Rep. 548, holding, however, that under Prob. Act (1857), § 70, the position of administrator and of receiver did not correspond and that the administrator pendente lite could be sued without leave of court.

71. Baldwin v. Mitchell, 86 Md. 379, 38 Atl. 775; In re Colvin, 3 Md. Ch. 278; In re Ellmaker, 4 Watts (Pa.) 34.

72. In re Ellmaker, 4 Watts (Pa.) 34.

73. Baldwin v. Mitchell, 86 Md. 379, 38 Atl. 775; In re Ellmaker, 4 Watts (Pa.) 34. See also In re Colvin, 3 Md. Ch. 278; Houston v. Houston, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 652.

The administrator may take charge of and rent land belonging to the estate and affected by the will. In re Soulard, 141 Mo. 642, 43 S. W. 617.

74. Baldwin v. Mitchell, 86 Md. 379, 38 Atl. 775; In re Ellmaker, 4 Watts (Pa.) 34; Webb's Estate, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 275. See also Thompson v. Tracy, 60 N. Y. 174. Contra, In re Wincos, 186 Ill. 445, 57 N. E. 1073 [affirming 85 Ill. App. 613].

Expenses for establishment of the will cannot be credited in his account. Dietrich's Appeal, 2 Watts (Pa.) 332.

75. See Fluck v. Lake, 54 N. J. Eq. 638, 35 Atl. 643.

76. Fluck v. Lake, 54 N. J. Eq. 638, 35 Atl. 643; In re Ellmaker, 4 Watts (Pa.) 34; Winpenny's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 20; Houston v. Houston, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 652.

77. Cain v. Warford, 7 Md. 282.

78. Kaminer v. Hope, 18 S. C. 561; Walker v. Woollaston, 2 P. Wms. 576, 24 Eng. Reprint 868. See also In re Colvin, 3 Md. Ch. 278.

79. See In re Colvin, 3 Md. Ch. 278. See, however, infra, XX, D.

80. Com. v. Mateer, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 416; Gallivan v. Evans, 1 Ball & B. 191.

If the administrator makes use of the money, he should be charged interest. Com. v. Mateer, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 416.

81. Dietrich's Appeal, 2 Watts (Pa.) 332. See infra, XX, D.

82. See In re Toleman, [1897] 1 Ch. 866, 66 L. J. Ch. 452, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 381, 45 Wkly. Rep. 548.

83. Wiley's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 419, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 547.

by statute. Like the limited administrators under the old practice, their duties are generally to collect and preserve the property and to hand over the assets to the general representative when appointed or qualified.[84] Special administrators generally have the authority to bring suit for the protection or preservation of the estate,[85] but under a statute which gives a temporary administrator the power to sue for the collection of debts or personal property of decedent, the temporary administrator cannot institute and maintain an action to recover land alleged to 84. Henderson v. Clarke, 27 Miss. 436; In re Ford, 29 Mont. 283, 74 Pac. 735; State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 18 Mont. 481, 46 Pac. 259; Baskin v. Baskin, 4 Lans. (N. Y.) 90; In re Parish, 29 Barb. (N. Y.) 627, 8 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 336. But see Underhill v. Mobile Fire Dept. Ins. Co., 67 Ala. 45, holding that a special administrator appointed with reference to a particular pending suit has the same power of collecting and preserving the assets that a general administrator has.

Obtaining aid of equity.— The temporary administrator of a deceased insolvent who was indebted on accounts as administrator and whose estate was further complicated should obtain from a court of equity authority to keep the estate of the decedent unmolested in his hands until general administration can be granted and all conflicting claims against the estate investigated. Johnson v. Brady, 24 Ga. 131.

85. Alabama.— Briarfield Iron Works Co. v. Foster, 54 Ala. 622.

California.— Forde v. Exempt F. Co., 50 Cal. 299.

Georgia.— Wheelus v. Long, 73 Ga. 110; Ewing v. Moses, 50 Ga. 264.

Indiana.— Bruning v. Golden, 159 Ind. 199, 64 N. E. 657.

Iowa.— Masterson v. Brown, 51 Iowa 442, 1 N. W. 791.

Maine.— Libby v. Cobb, 76 Me. 471.

Mississippi.— See Henderson v. Clarke, 27 Miss. 436.

New York.— McMahon v. Allen, 4 E. D. Smith 519; Delafield v. Parish, 4 Bradf. Surr 24; In re Christy, Tuck. Surr. 24.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 495.

The scope of his power to bring actions for the preservation of the estate, or for matters relating to the estate, must be ascertained from the statute from which he obtains his authority. Larson v. Johnson, 72 Minn. 441, 75 N. W. 699. Thus a statute authorizing the special administrator to maintain actions for the purpose of collecting goods, chattels, and credits, or actions which will aid him in caring for, gathering, or securing crops, or in preserving the property, does not authorize him to maintain an action in his official capacity to set aside a deed made, executed, and delivered to a third person by a decedent in his lifetime (Larson v. Johnson, 72 Minn. 441, 75 N. W. 699), nor does the statute authorize him to sue for and recover goods and chattels which have been fraudulently conveyed by the deceased in his lifetime, although the assets of the estate may be insufficient to pay the debts (Richmond v. Campbell, 71 Minn. 453, 73 N. W. 1099).

Compromise of suit.— Where a claim for damages in litigation is the only asset of the estate, there being no money to meet the expenses of the suit, the administrator is not bound to continue it, but may compromise with defendant. Grece v. Helm, 91 Mich. 450, 51 N. W. 1106. But see Tomlinson v. Wright, 12 Ind. App. 292, 39 N. E. 884.

Submitting claims to arbitration.— Under a statute authorizing a special administrator to "do all needful acts under the direction of the court" for the preservation of the property, but forbidding him to take any steps as to the allowance of claims against the estate, he has no power to submit such claims to arbitration. Sullivan v. Nicoulin, 113 Iowa 76, 84 N. W. 978.

He may maintain a bill in equity to redeem land of the estate from a mortgage, if the right to redeem might be barred by foreclosure before a general administrator would be qualified. Libby v. Cobb, 76 Me. 471.

He may institute suit in chancery for the appointment of a receiver of property in which the estate is interested, to protect the property from destruction or removal beyond his reach. Briarfield Iron Works Co. v. Foster, 54 Ala. 622.

An equitable petition to prevent insolvent persons from wasting assets of the estate in their possession may be maintained by a temporary administrator of one who had been an heir at law of another decedent. Pollock v. Cox, 108 Ga. 430, 34 S. E. 213.

A suit in equity to have a deed declared a mortgage should be revived after the death of plaintiff, not by the administrator ad litem, but by the heirs and general administrator. Grace v. Neel, 41 Ark. 165.

Upon the trial of a case made upon an affidavit of illegality, it is not only the right but the duty of the temporary administrator, affiant, the affidavit having been made to arrest the progress of an execution against the estate, to represent the interests of the estate. Barfield v. Hartley, 108 Ga. 435, 33 S. E. 1010.

In Texas, under Rev. St. art. 1878, providing that the probate court shall "define the powers" of temporary administrators appointed by it, and article 1882, declaring that they shall have only such powers as are specifically committed to them, a probate court may authorize a husband, as temporary administrator of his wife's property, to prosecute an action already begun by the husband and wife to recover land belonging to her separate estate. Callahan v. Houston, 78 Tex. 494, 14 S. W. 1027.

belong to the estate.[86] Special administrators have no power, in the absence of statute, to pay debts[87] or to sell property for their payment;[88] but under the statutes of some states the court may in a proper case direct the special or temporary administrator to pay the debts of the estate,[89] and to sell property for their payment.[90] But even in those jurisdictions where the court has this power, it is limited to the occasions for which provision is made in the statute.[91] In some jurisdictions the temporary administrator has only such powers as the court grants him upon appointment.[92] If the temporary administrator, without authority to institute a suit, begins an action, no subsequent order of the court authorizing the suit can make his act valid.[93] The special administrator has no authority to invest any money of the estate in his hands.[94] He should deposit the money, except 86. Banks v. Walker, 112 Ga. 542, 37 S. E. 866.

87. In re Wincox, 186 Ill. 445, 57 N. E. 1073 [affirming 85 Ill. App. 613]; Supple's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 24; Henderson v. Clarke, 27 Miss. 436; In re Ford, 29 Mont. 283, 74 Pac. 735 (holding that expenses incurred by a special administrator in the appointment of appraisers were improperly allowed to him in his final settlement, and that he should not receive credit on his final account for expenses incurred by him in publishing notice to creditors); State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 18 Mont. 481, 46 Pac. 259; In re Parish, 29 Barb. (N. Y.) 627, 8 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 336. See also Erwin v. Mobile Branch Bank, 14 Ala. 307.

Family allowance to widow.— A special administrator appointed pending proceedings for the removal of the general administrator, the estate being solvent, may be directed to pay the amount which has become due the widow, under an order directing the payment to her of a certain sum for a family allowance. In re Welch, 106 Cal. 427, 39 Pac. 805.

If a special administrator pay a note which had been given by him for property purchased for the benefit of the estate and appropriated and used for the benefit thereof, he may claim the right to be reimbursed out of the property of the estate on a proper case made; but the holder of the note cannot look to the estate for the payment of the note unless the special administrator be insolvent. Funderburk v. Gorham, 46 Ga. 296.

Under an authority to make reasonable expenses, an item of expense must be shown to have been made in the exercise of prudence by the special administrator; it is not sufficient to show that he incurred the expense in good faith for what he believed was for the best interest of the estate. Powell v. Foster, 71 Vt. 160, 44 Atl. 96.

88. Supple's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 24; Henderson v. Clarke, 27 Miss. 436. See, however, supra, XX, C.

89. Hamersley's Estate, 15 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 187, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 285.

Counsel fees.— When a temporary administrator applies for an order, under N. Y. Civ. Proc. § 2672, to pay his counsel for legal services a certain specified sum, it is the better practice, although section 2672 would justify the order asked for, to permit the administrator to withdraw from deposit funds not exceeding an amount specified, and afford him an opportunity to exercise his own discretion as to a reasonable amount to be paid to counsel, subject to an accounting, and that an order should be granted accordingly. Stokes v. Dale, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 260.

Prior to the New York act of 1870, chapter 359, the surrogate could not require a special administrator to distribute assets among the creditors of the estate. Berdell v. Schell, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 292.

90. Matter of Gihon, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 626, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 494.

91. Kruse v. Fricke, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 264 (holding that no power exists to order the temporary administrator to pay for the attendance of experts to testify in proceedings for the probate of the will upon the question of the testator's sanity); Matter of Haskett, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 165.

Costs of probate proceedings.— The surrogate is without authority to direct a temporary administrator of a decedent's estate to pay thereout any sum as costs of a special proceeding instituted to procure probate of the will. Matter of Aaron, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 362. See also Henry v. Nevada County Super. Ct., 93 Cal. 569, 29 Pac. 230; Taylor v. Minor, 90 Ky. 544, 14 S. W. 544, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 479.

That the administrator exceeded the amount allowed for repairs is not a ground for disallowing the excess, provided the expenditure was reasonable and necessary to keep the property in repair. Moore's Estate, 88 Cal. 1, 25 Pac. 915.

92. Dull v. Drake, 68 Tex. 205, 4 S. W. 364; Willis v. Pinkard, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 423, 52 S. W. 626 (holding that where the administrator was appointed to "take charge of and care for" the estate, he could not, on levy of execution upon goods alleged to be a part of the estate, file a claimant's oath and bond and enter into litigation in behalf of the estate); Germania L. Ins. Co. v. Peetz, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 47 S. W. 687.

Paying out money.— He has no authority independent of his order of appointment to pay out the money of the estate for any purpose. Sackett's Estate, 78 Cal. 300, 20 Pac. 863; In re Wincox, 186 Ill. 445, 57 N. E. 1073 [affirming 85 Ill. App. 613].

93. Willis v. Pinkard, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 423, 52 S. W. 626.

94. People v. Salomon, 184 Ill. 490. 56 N. E. 815; Baskin v. Baskin, 4 Lans. (N. Y.) 90.

such an amount as may be necessary to defray current expenses,[95] with some solvent bank or trust company which will refund the money on demand,[96] but he should try to obtain interest on the money and he will be charged with interest which he might have realized where he has failed so to do through neglect.[97] A special administrator for the collection of a debt is not a representative of the decedent so far as to be liable to an action for the non-performance of the decedent's contracts.[98] The special administrator has no right to the possession or control of the realty of the estate, unless the court so orders and the property is needed for the payment of debts of the estate.[99] The authority of a special or temporary administrator ceases on the appointment of a general administrator,[1] who succeeds to all the rights of the special administrator,[2] and to whom the temporary administrator must, upon the settlement of his account, pay any balance in his hands.[3] If the general administrator sues for property in possession of the former special administrator, the latter may show that the property does not in fact belong to the estate and that the possession belongs to him in capacity of guardian.[4] A proceeding by a temporary administrator for a judicial settlement of his accounts abates upon his death.[5]

E. Receivers. At one time it was the practice in England for the court of chancery to appoint a receiver while litigation was pending, although the ecclesiastical court by granting an administration pendente lite might have provided for the collection of the effects of the estate,[6] but now under the statutes[7] the court of chancery will not appoint a receiver when an administrator pendente lite has been appointed by the court of probate.[8] Under certain circumstances receivers are appointed in this country.[9] When a receiver is appointed he does not repre-

95. Harrington v. Libby, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 259, holding that it is proper for him to retain in his hands a reasonable sum to defray current expenses, upon which sum he should not be charged interest.

96. Baskin v. Baskin, 4 Lans. (N. Y.) 90, holding that a deposit payable only after a certain time is a loan, for the failure to pay which by the depositary the administrator is liable.

Deposit with an incorporated trust company is required by N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2678, if the administrator was appointed by the surrogate of the county of New York. See Livermore v. Wortman, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 341.

97. Harrington v. Libby, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 259.

If he retains the money in his possession instead of depositing as required by law, he will be charged interest at the rate a trust company would have paid unless it appears that he has used the money or made profit on it. Livermore v. Wortman, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 341.

98. Nashville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Harris, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 558, holding that, although any equity growing out of the liability sought to be enforced by the special administrator may be set up against him, yet an equity arising upon an independent cause of action cannot be set off.

99. Union Trust Co. v. Soderer, 171 Mo. 675, 681, 72 S. W. 499 [distinguishing and limiting In re Soulard, 141 Mo. 642, 43 S. W. 617]. See also Lee v. Lee, 74 N. C. 70, holding that the special administrator has no power to enter upon and make leases of land which, on the death of the intestate, descended to the heir at law.

No power to mortgage the realty.— Duryea v. Mackey, 151 N. Y. 204, 45 N. E. 458.

1. Cadman v. Richards, 13 Nebr. 383, 14 N. W. 159; Matter of Eisner, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 383 (holding, however, that his official bond is not, ipso facto, functus officio). See also Hayes v. Hayes, 175 Ind. 395.

Pending an appeal from the grant of permanent letters he may exercise his authority. Gresham v. Pyron, 17 Ga. 263. See, however, Hayes v. Hayes, 75 Ind. 395.

2. Cowles v. Hayes, 71 N. C. 230.

3. Matter of Philp, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 263, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 241, holding that N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2743, relating to a decree for distribution after an accounting by an administrator, does not apply to an accounting by a temporary administrator.

4. Burnett v. Roberts, 15 N. C. 81; Yarborough v. Harris, 14 N. C. 40.

5. Matter of Steencken, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 417, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 660.

6. Blackett v. Blackett, 24 L. T. Rep. N. S. 276, 19 Wkly. Rep. 559. See also King v. King, 6 Ves. Jr. 172, 31 Eng. Reprint 997.

7. Judicature Act, 20 & 21 Vict. c. 77, §§ 70, 71; Prob. Act (1857).

8. Veret v. Duprez, L. R. 6 Eq. 329, 37 L. J. Ch. 552, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 501, 16 Wkly. Rep. 750. See also In re Parker, 54 L. J. Ch. 694.

9. Boynton v. Payrow, 67 Me. 587 (holding that where one since deceased delivered a savings-bank book to a third person as security for a debt, unless his administratrix, within the time fixed by the court, should tender the amount of the pledge, with interest to the date of the tender and costs of process, the court would appoint an officer sent the legatees,[10] but the property passes into the possession of the court.[11] The receiver may be required to list and pay taxes upon the property of which he has charge.[12]

XXI. Co-Executors and Co-Administrators.

A. Authority — 1. In General. With respect to the representation and management of their decedent's estate, co-executors[13] and co-administrators[14] are regarded in law as one person, and consequently the acts of one of them in relation to the regular administration of the estate are deemed to be the acts of all, inasmuch as they have a joint and entire authority over the whole property.[15] Some cases distinguish between the powers of the two classes of representatives on the ground that, although each executor represents the testator, all the administrators represent the intestate, and hence a single administrator cannot bind his associates,[16] but this distinction has not been followed generally.[17] Where, however, assets or funds arising from the disposal thereof are in the joint custody of the representatives, some cases hold that their action with relation thereto must be joint.[18]

2. Executors Acting as Trustees. As a general rule executors, although clothed to receive the amount of the deposit and make proper disposition thereof); Harman v. McMullen, 85 Va. 187, 7 S. E. 349 (holding that the appointment of a receiver for decedent's estate is the proper remedy where it appears that the administrator has been removed and the sheriff appointed administrator de bonis non, that the administered assets will not pay the debts, and that the remaining assets will have to be drawn on, which being once administered, the administrator de bonis non could not receive and hold).

10. Fraser v. Charleston, 13 S. C. 533.

11. Fraser v. Charleston, 11 S. C. 486.

Leave of court to sue.— Before suit can be brought against a receiver, leave of the court by which he was appointed must be obtained. Spalding v. Com., 88 Ky. 135, 10 S. W. 420, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 714.

12. Spalding v. Com., 88 Ky. 135, 10 S. W. 420, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 714.

13. Alabama.— Scruggs v. Driver, 31 Ala. 274.

Georgia.— Wilkerson v. Wootten, 28 Ga. 568.

Louisiana.— Clark v. Farrar, 3 Mart. 247.

Mississippi.— Bodley v. McKinney, 9 Sm. & M. 339.

New Jersey.— New York Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Sturges, 33 N. J. Eq. 328.

New York.— Barry v. Lambert, 98 N. Y. 300, 50 Am. Rep. 677; Douglass v. Satterlee, 11 Johns. 16.

South Carolina.— Chapman v. Charleston, 30 S. C. 549, 9 S. E. 591, 3 L. R. A. 311.

United States.— Edmonds v. Crenshaw, 14 Pet. 166, 10 L. ed. 402.

England.— Charlton v. Durham, L. R. 4 Ch. 433, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 467, 17 Wkly. Rep. 995 [affirming 38 L. J. Ch. 183]; Owen v. Owen, 1 Atk. 494, 26 Eng. Reprint 313; Smith v. Everett, 27 Beav. 446, 5 Jur. N. S. 1332, 29 L. J. Ch. 236, 7 Wkly. Rep. 605; Simpson v. Gutteridge, 1 Madd. 609, 16 Rev. Rep. 276; Ex p. Rigby, 2 Rose 224, 19 Ves. Jr. 463, 34 Eng. Reprint 588; Jacomb v. Harwood, 2 Ves. 265, 28 Eng. Reprint 172.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 496.

14. Alabama.— Scruggs v. Driver, 31 Ala. 274.

Delaware.— Lank v. Kinder, 4 Harr. 457.

Georgia.— Scruggs v. Gibson, 40 Ga. 511.

Indiana.— Herald v. Harper, 8 Blackf. 170.

Kentucky.— Hord v. Lee, 4 T. B. Mon. 36.

New York.— Matter of Bradley, 25 Misc. 261, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 555; Murray v. Blatchford, 1 Wend. 583, 19 Am. Dec. 537; Douglass v. Satterlee, 11 Johns. 16.

Pennsylvania.— Reber v. Gilson, 1 Pa. St. 54.

South Carolina.— Gage v. Johnson, 1 McCord 492.

Texas.— Dean v. Duffield, 8 Tex. 235, 58 Am. Dec. 108.

United States.— Boudereau v. Montgomery, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,694, 4 Wash. 186.

England.— Willand v. Fenn, 2 Selw. 767 [cited in Jacomb v. Harwood, 2 Ves. 265, 267, 28 Eng. Reprint 172]. Contra, Hudson v. Hudson, 1 Atk. 460, 26 Eng. Reprint 292.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 496.

15. Dean v. Duffield, 8 Tex. 235, 58 Am. Dec. 108.

16. Jordan v. Spiers, 113 N. C. 344, 18 S. E. 327; Gordon v. Finlay, 10 N. C. 239; Mangrum v. Simms, 4 N. C. 160; Hudson v. Hudson, 1 Atk. 460, 26 Eng. Reprint 292. But compare Jacomb v. Harwood, 2 Ves. 267, 28 Eng. Reprint 172.

17. Hord v. Lee, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 36; Murray v. Blatchford, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 583, 19 Am. Dec. 537; Dean v. Duffield, 8 Tex. 235, 58 Am. Dec. 108.

18. Bagby v. Hudson, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 581; De Haven v. Williams, 80 Pa. St. 480, 21 Am. Rep. 107; Williams v. De Haven, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 173; Barton v. North Staffordshire R. Co., 38 Ch. D. 458, 57 L. J. Ch. 800, 58 L. T. Rep. N. S. 549, 36 Wkly. Rep. 754. And see Child v. Thorley, 16 Ch. D. 151, 29 Wkly. Rep. 417, holding that, without regard to the authority of a co-executor to act inwith an ultimate duty to act as trustees, are not, until they so act, compelled to act jointly as is the case of trustees generally;[19] but special duties imposed by the will may be such as to demand joint or majority action.[20]

3. Collection and Custody of Assets — a. Collection of Assets.[21] Each executor[22] or administrator[23] has the right to receive all debts due the estate or other assets which may come into his hands and may discharge the debtors. The right to enforce claims due the estate is, however, joint to the extent that a bar as against one representative is a bar as against all.[24]

b. Custody of Assets.[25] Generally speaking the rights of co-executors or co-administrators to the custody and control of assets belonging to the estate are equal,[26] and a representative has apparently no right to prevent his associates from collecting the assets of the estate or holding them in their possession for the purposes of administration,[27] unless in case of mismanagement or of existing or impending insolvency, when a representative may be enjoined from acting further and compelled to restore the assets in his hands,[28] or a receiver may be dividually, acquiescence of the associate executors in similar acts may protect the person dealing with him. Contra, People v. Miner, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 466, 23 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 223; Fesmier v. Shannon, 143 Pa. St. 201, 23 Atl. 898; D'Invilliers v. Abbot, 4 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 124.

A note to the representatives jointly cannot be transferred by one (Smith v. Whiting, 9 Mass. 334; Johnson v. Mangum, 65 N. C. 146), nor can the maker be released by one (Clark v. Gramling, 54 Ark. 525, 16 S. W. 475).

19. Bogert v. Hertell, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 492; Fesmier v. Shannon, 143 Pa. St. 201, 22 Atl. 898.

20. Werborn v. Austin, 77 Ala. 381; Port Gibson Bank v. Baugh, 9 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 290; Holcomb v. Coryell, 11 N. J. Eq. 476; Holcomb v. Holcomb, 11 N. J. Eq. 281.

Construction of wills creating trusts see, generally, Wills.

21. As to representatives generally see supra, VII.

22. Kentucky.— Bagby v. Hudson, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 581.

Maine.— Gilman v. Healy, 55 Me. 120.

Maryland.— Mitchell v. Williamson, 6 Md. 210.

New Jersey.— Duncan v. Davison, 40 N. J. Eq. 535, 5 Atl. 93.

New York.— Arkenburgh v. Arkenburgh, 27 Misc. 760, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 612.

North Carolina.— Hoke v. Fleming, 32 N. C. 263.

Pennsylvania.— Devling v. Little, 26 Pa. St. 502.

Rhode Island.— Stone v. Union Sav. Bank, 13 R. I. 25.

South Carolina.— Hyatt v. McBurney, 18 S. C. 199.

Virginia.— Mills v. Mills, 28 Gratt. 442, holding that without deciding whether all executors must join in a deed of release of the reversion, it was not necessary that they join in the receipt of a gross sum paid under the terms of a lease to extinguish the rent.

United States.— Edmonds v. Crenshaw, 14 Pet. 166, 10 L. ed. 402.

England.— Charlton v. Durham, L. R. 4 Ch. 433, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 467, 17 Wkly. Rep. 995 [affirming 38 L. J. Ch. 183]; Ex p. Shakeshaft, 3 Bro. Ch. 198, 29 Eng. Reprint 488.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 498.

A note payable to one executor which belongs to the estate may be enforced by the co-executors without indorsement to them. Leland v. Manning, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 7.

23. Kentucky.— Bryan v. Thompson, 7 J. J. Marsh. 586.

Maine.— Shaw v. Berry, 35 Me. 279, 58 Am. Dec. 702.

New York.—Murray v. Blatchford, 1 Wend. 583, 19 Am. Dec. 537.

South Carolina.— Gage v. Johnson, 1 McCord 492.

Vermont.— Gleason v. Lillie, 1 Aik. 28.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 498.

Contra.— Hudson v. Hudson, 1 Atk. 460, 26 Eng. Reprint 292, holding that one administrator cannot release a debt so as to bind his fellow; otherwise as to an executor, for each entirely represents the testator. But one administrator may bar both by his release, if the releasee is accountable to them in their own right, and not as administrators. Compare Willand v. Fenn, 2 Selw. 767; Jacomb v. Harwood, 2 Ves. 265, 28 Eng. Reprint 172.

Distraint for rent may issue on the affidavit of one administrator. Scruggs v. Gilson, 40 Ga. 511.

24. Turner v. Debell, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 383.

25. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, A, 2.

26. Gates v. Whetstone, 8 S. C. 244, 28 Am. Rep. 284; Edmonds v. Crenshaw, 14 Pet. (U. S.) 166, 10 L. ed. 402.

27. Hall v. Carter, 8 Ga. 388; Sanford v. Sanford, 45 N. Y. 723; Burt v. Burt, 41 N. Y. 46.

Contracts as to custody between the executors may be sustained. Berry v. Tart, 1 Hill (S. C.) 4.

28. Wood v. Brown, 34 N. Y. 337; Elmendorf v. Lansing, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 562.

appointed,[29] who may act with the remaining solvent executors if they consent; otherwise there should be an appointment generally.[30] By statute, in New York, the surrogate may compel moneys of the estate to be deposited to the joint credit of co-executors.[31]

4. Custody of Books and Papers.[32] The title of co-executors to books and papers is equal; each is entitled to inspect and to know what they contain,[33] but it appears a majority may agree in whose manual custody they shall be.[34]

5. Sale and Transfer or Assignment of Assets — a. In General.[35] As a general rule one of two or more executors possesses the power of selling and disposing of the personal assets of the estate as fully as if all join in the act of transfer,[36] and the same is true of administrators.[37] In some cases an exception to this rule has been made in case of obligations taken to the representatives jointly;[38] but there would seem to be no reason therefor where the obligation is in fact an asset of the estate.[39]

b. Indorsement and Transfer of Negotiable Instruments.[40] One co-executor[41] or co-administrator[42] may assign a note made payable to the testator.

6. Payment of Debts. The authority of one of several representatives to allow or pay a claim against the estate is treated elsewhere.[43]

29. Jenkins v. Jenkins, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 243; Middleton v. Dodswell, 13 Ves. Jr. 266, 33 Eng. Reprint 294.

30. Jenkins v. Jenkins, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 243.

31. In re Hoagland, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 347, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 920; Matter of Eisner, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 563, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 718; Matter of Adler, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 481, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 227; Chambers v. Cruikshank, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 414. See supra, VIII, A, 5.

Limitation of surrogate's power.— The surrogate can direct and control the conduct of executors only in the manner prescribed by statute. He cannot compel one executor to transfer to the other funds of the estate for the purpose of paying counsel. Thompson v. Mott, 1 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 32.

32. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, A, 3.

33. Matter of Stein, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 542, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 933, holding that an application for an order directing a co-executor to permit inspection of books and papers by an associate was not a special proceeding which must be commenced by citation, but that a remedy was afforded under the section of the statutes conferring on the surrogate authority to give directions when two or more co-executors disagree respecting the custody of the property of the estate.

34. Bronson v. Bronson, 48 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 481.

35. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, P, 2.

36. Dwight v. Newell, 15 Ill. 333; New York Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Sturges, 33 N. J. Eq. 328; Bogert v. Hertell, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 492 [reversing 9 Paige 52]; Wheeler v. Wheeler, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 34; Chalfont v. Johnston, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 16.

An assignment of a mortgage, the property of the estate, may be made by one executor. George v. Baker, 3 Allen (Mass.) 326 note.

Corporate stock registered in the joint names of the executors forms an exception to the rule stated in the text, such a case being governed by the peculiar rules fixing the liability of a corporation with regard to the transfer of its stock. Barton v. North Staffordshire R. Co., 38 Ch. D. 458, 57 L. J. Ch. 800, 58 L. T. Rep. N. S. 549, 36 Wkly. Rep. 754, holding that where a co-executor transferred stock registered in the names of himself and his co-executor by forging the signature of his associate, the innocent executor might bring an action against him and the corporation which made the transfer on its books.

37. Beecher v. Buckingham, 18 Conn. 110, 44 Am. Dec. 580. Contra, Gordon v. Finlay, 10 N. C. 239.

38. Clark v. Gramling, 54 Ark. 525, 16 S. W. 475 (holding that one administrator could not release the maker of a note payable to the administrators jointly for less than the amount due); Sanders v. Blain, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 446, 22 Am. Dec. 86; Smith v. Whiting, 9 Mass. 334; Johnson v. Mangum, 65 N. C. 146.

39. See Bogert v. Hertell, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 492 [reversing 9 Paige 52] (holding that one executor had authority to transfer a bond and mortgage given the executors as proceeds of conversion of realty); Mackay v. St. Mary's Church, 15 R. I. 121, 23 Atl. 108, 2 Am. St. Rep. 881. Compare Sutherland v. Brush, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 17, 11 Am. Dec. 383.

40. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, P, 2, a, (III), (B).

41. Dwight v. Newell, 15 Ill. 333; Wheeler v. Wheeler, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 34; Geddes v. Simpson, 2 Bay (S. C.) 533.

42. Sanders v. Blain, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 446, 22 Am. Dec. 86; Mackay v. St. Mary's Church, 15 R. I. 121, 23 Atl. 108, 2 Am. St. Rep. 881; Mosely v. Graydon, 4 Strobh. (S. C.) 7.

43. See supra, X, B, 14, a, (V).

7. Contracts, Deposits, and Investments — a. Contracts Generally.[44] Since, as the rule is generally stated, a co-executor or co-administrator cannot act singly with regard to those acts which may affect the personal responsibility of his co-representative,[45] he cannot, by his individual act, create a debt against the estate[46] or make a new contract with respect thereto so as to bind his associates.[47]

b. Acknowledgment of or New Promise to Pay Debt. The power of one of several representatives to make a valid new promise to pay a debt barred by the statute of limitations has already been discussed.[48]

c. Deposits.[49] Where a deposit has been made by the executors to their joint account, one cannot make a valid check thereon or receipt therefor.[50]

d. Investments.[51] When a power of investment is conferred on the executors by the will, they become subject to the rule applicable to trustees requiring joint action.[52]

8. Admissions. The effect of admissions by one representative as against his associates and the estate is elsewhere treated.[53]

9. Compositions, Compromises, and Releases.[54] The power to collect the assets of the estate confers on a single representative the power to release an obligation by which a debt is secured,[55] and by later authorities the same power is possessed, even in cases where the obligation has been taken to the representatives jointly.[56] A single representative cannot, however, release a security except on payment,[57]

44. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, D.

45. Scruggs v. Driver, 31 Ala. 274.

46. Cayuga County Bank v. Bennett, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 236; McIntire v. Morris, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 90; Forsyth v. Ganson, 5 Wend. (N. Y.) 558, 21 Am. Dec. 241; Hammon v. Huntley, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 493; James v. Hackley, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 273; Hall v. Boyd, 6 Pa. St. 267.

Borrowing for benefit of estate must be with consent of the co-executor, which cannot be presumed from the purpose of the loan. Bryan v. Stewart, 83 N. Y. 270.

Execution of notes.— One of several executors acting alone cannot bind the estate by making or indorsing notes, even though in renewal of notes made by testator. Bailey v. Spofford, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 86.

Contracts for services made by an executor are not binding on the estate (Freeman v. Brunswick, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 327), but they may be binding inter sese (Arkenburgh v. Arkenburgh, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 760, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 612, holding that an attorney for one of two executors, who collected money belonging to the estate, is entitled thereto, as against the co-executor, where he had performed services for the estate in excess of the amount collected, and had claimed a lien on the sum collected, and thereafter the executor at whose request he had rendered his services agreed that he should retain it and apply it on account of such services).

Contracts to purchase property by one of two joint executors without the concurrence of his co-executor are not binding on the estate. Scruggs v. Driver, 31 Ala. 274. And see Wilson v. Mason, 158 Ill. 304, 42 N. E. 134, 49 Am. St. Rep. 162.

An agreement terminating a lease may be made by one of several administrators if he believes continuance to be injurious to the estate, and such agreement being entered on the lease and bond securing rent binds the estate, and may be enforced by an action of debt on the bond against all the administrators. Reber v. Gilson, 1 Pa. St. 54.

47. Turner v. Hardey, 1 Dowl. P. C. N. S. 954, 11 L. J. Exch. 277, 9 M. & W. 770.

48. See supra, X, A, 18, b, (III).

49. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, A, 5.

50. De Haven v. Williams, 80 Pa. St. 480, 21 Am. Rep. 107. See also Allen v. Louisiana Nat. Bank, 50 La. Ann. 366, 23 So. 360, holding that this could not be done over the positive protest of a co-executor.

51. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, E.

52. Wilson v. Mason, 158 Ill. 304, 42 N. E. 134 [affirming 57 Ill. App. 325]; Holcomb v. Coryell, 11 N. J. Eq. 476; Holcomb v. Holcomb, 11 N. J. Eq. 281. But see Fesmier v. Shannon, 143 Pa. St. 201, 22 Atl. 898.

Investments by executors as trustees see, generally, Trusts.

53. See Evidence, 16 Cyc. 1036, 1037.

54. As to representatives generally see supra, VII, K, L.

55. Stuyvesant v. Hall, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 151 (holding that he may release a portion of the premises included in a mortgage); Weir v. Mosher, 19 Wis. 311.

56. People v. Miner, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 466, 23 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 223 [reversing 32 Barb. 612]; Arkenburgh v. Arkenburgh, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 760, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 612; Fesmire v. Shannon, 143 Pa. St. 201, 22 Atl. 898; De Invilliers v. Abbott, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 462, 4 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 124. Contra, Pearce v. Savage, 51 Me. 410.

57. Stuart v. Abbott, 9 Gratt. (Va.) 252. But see New York Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Sturges, 33 N. J. Eq. 328, holding that a single executor intrusted with the active management of the estate may agree to postpone the lien of a mortgage held by the estate.

nor can he compromise a debt,[58] or release a promise made to an associate individually.[59]

10. Submission to Arbitration.[60] One of several representatives may submit to arbitration a matter which would have been properly submitted had he been the sole representative.[61]

11. Confession of Judgment.[62] An individual executor has no power to confess a judgment which will bind the estate or his associates,[63] nor has an individual administrator.[64]

12. Sale and Conveyance of Real Property.[65] At common law a mere naked power of sale as distinguished from a power coupled with an interest could not be exercised by less than the entire number of executors appointed.[66] This rule was modified by statute as to cases in which a portion of the executors refused,[67] and as so modified was adopted as a portion of the common law of the United States,[68] and it may now be said to be the general rule in the United States that a power of sale unless expressly restricted may be exercised by the representatives who qualify or survive.[69] In some jurisdictions the renunciation of executors

58. Jordan v. Spiers, 113 N. C. 344, 18 S. E. 327 (holding that since one of several administrators had no authority to compromise a judgment for damages and extend the time of payment, an agreement by him attempting so to do did not operate to discharge a surety on a bond given for the payment of such damages); Mangrum v. Simms, 4 N. C. 160. But compare Smith v. Everett, 27 Beav. 446, 5 Jur. N. S. 1332, 29 L. J. Ch. 236, 7 Wkly. Rep. 605.

Ratification by one of two administrators of an agreement by the other administrator to compromise a claim due the estate is not shown where his only positive act was the repudiation thereof by a reply to a supplemental answer setting it up. Jordan v. Spiers, 113 N. C. 344, 18 S. E. 327.

59. Gleason v. Lillie, 1 Aik. (Vt.) 28.

60. As to representatives generally see supra, V, I.

61. Lank v. Kinder, 4 Harr. (Del.) 457; Grace v. Sutton, 5 Watts (Pa.) 540. See also McIntire v. Morris, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 90.

62. As to representatives generally see supra, V, J.

63. Hall v. Boyd, 6 Pa. St. 267 (so holding when the debt was barred by limitations); Karl v. Black, 2 Pittsb. (Pa.) 19; Nason v. Smalley, 8 Vt. 118; Elwell v. Quash, 1 Str. 20; Lepard v. Vernon, 2 Ves. & B. 51, 13 Rev. Rep. 605, 35 Eng. Reprint 237; Commercial Bank v. Woodruff, 21 U. C. Q. B. 602. Contra, Simpson v. Guttridge, 1 Madd. 609, 16 Rev. Rep. 276.

64. Heisler v. Knipe, 1 Browne (Pa.) 319.

65. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, O, 9, d.

66. Holcomb v. Coryell, 11 N. J. Eq. 476; Holcomb v. Holcomb, 11 N. J. Eq. 281; Sharpsteen v. Tillou, 3 Cow. (N. Y.) 651; Ferre v. American Bd. Com'rs, 53 Vt. 162.

Where a testator authorized his executors or a majority of them to sell and convey the land, a deed made by less than a majority did not pass the title at law. Carmichal v. Elmendorf, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 484.

Where no appointment is made by the will as to who is to execute a power of sale, a purchaser from the surviving executor acquires a good title, and such sale will be held valid. Lloyd v. Taylor, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 422, 2 Dall. (Pa.) 223, 1 L. ed. 357.

67. St. 21 Hen. VIII, c. 4.

68. Clinefelter v. Ayres, 16 Ill. 329.

69. Alabama.— Leavens v. Butler, 8 Port. 380. The statute does not apply to a discretionary power of sale held by the executors as a personal trust. Tarver v. Haines, 55 Ala. 503.

Florida.— Stewart v. Mathews, 19 Fla. 752.

Georgia.— Wolfe v. Hines, 93 Ga. 329, 20 S. E. 322.

Illinois.— Wardwell v. McDowell, 31 Ill. 364; Clinefelter v. Ayres, 16 Ill. 329, holding that the refusal of co-executors to act must be shown satisfactorily by the record.

Kentucky.— The English statute has been substantially adopted (Ross v. Clore, 3 Dana 189; Muldrow v. Fox, 2 Dana 74; Anderson v. Turner, 3 A. K. Marsh. 131; Wooldridge v. Watkins, 3 Bibb 349), and has been held not to extend to discretionary powers (Smith v. Moore, 6 Dana 417; Muldrow v. Fox, 2 Dana 74).

Michigan.— Herrick v. Carpenter, 92 Mich. 440, 52 N. W. 747.

Mississippi.— Bartlett v. Sutherland, 24 Miss. 395 (holding that the statute does not apply to a discretionary power); Bodley v. McKinney, 9 Sm. & M. 339. But see Clark v. Hornthal, 47 Miss. 434.

Missouri.— Phillips v. Stewart, 59 Mo. 491.

New Jersey.— Weimer v. Fath, 43 N. J. L. 1; Corlies v. Little, 14 N. J. L. 373; Rutherford Land, etc., Co. v. Sanntrock, (Ch. 1899) 44 Atl. 938; Denton v. Clark, 36 N. J. Eq. 534; Coykendall v. Rutherford, 2 N. J. Eq. 360, holding that a provision in a will giving full power to the executors "and to a majority of them, and to a majority of the survivors of them," does not indicate an intention of the testator against allowing a sole executor who qualified to sell.

New York.— Correll v. Lauterbach, 12 N. Y. App. Div. 531, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 143 [affirmed in 159 N. Y. 553, 54 N. E. 1089]; House v. Raymond, 3 Hun 44, 5 Thomps. & C. 248 who fail to act must be formal and of record to enable the other executor to convey,[70] but in others it may be established as any other fact.[71] All who have qualified must join in conveying,[72] unless it is otherwise provided by statute.[73] On the refusal of a co-executor to join in a proper sale by his associate he may be compelled by the court to do so.[74] A co-executor may dispose of what personal interest he possesses in the estate without the consent of his associates.[75]

(holding the statute applicable to discretionary powers); Meakings v. Cromwell, 2 Sandf. 512 [affirmed in 5 N. Y. 136]; Roseboom v. Mosher, 2 Den. 61; Jackson v. Ferris, 15 Johns. 346; Bunner v. Storm, 1 Sandf. Ch. 357. Compare Matter of Bull, 45 Barb. 334, 31 How. Pr. 69.

North Carolina.— Smith v. McCrary, 38 N. C. 204; Wood v. Sparks, 18 N. C. 389, holding that a formal renunciation need not be established.

Ohio.— Collier v. Grimesey, 36 Ohio St. 17; Taylor v. Galloway, 1 Ohio 232, 13 Am. Dec. 605.

Pennsylvania.— Heron v. Hoffner, 3 Rawle 393; Taylor v. Adams, 2 Serg. & R. 534, 7 Am. Dec. 665. But see Zebach v. Smith, 3 Binn. 69, 5 Am. Dec. 352.

Rhode Island.— Wood v. Hammond, 16 R. I. 98, 17 Atl. 324, 18 Atl. 198.

South Carolina.— Jennings v. Teague, 14 S. C. 229; Uldrick v. Simpson, 1 S. C. 283; Chanet v. Villeponteaux, 3 McCord 29; Britton v. Lewis, 8 Rich. Eq. 271.

Tennessee.— Bedford v. Bedford, 110 Tenn. 204, 75 S. W. 1017; Fitzgerald v. Standish, 102 Tenn. 383, 52 S. W. 294; Robertson v. Gaines, 2 Humphr. 367.

Texas.— Johnson v. Bowden, 43 Tex. 670; McCown v. Terrell, 9 Tex. Civ. App. 66, 29 S. W. 484.

Virginia.— Davis v. Christian, 15 Gratt. 11 (holding that a power will survive, although a discretion is given in regard to its exercise); Geddy v. Butler, 3 Munf. 345.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 525.

A statute of a seceding state attempting to authorize resident executors to convey without joinder of those resident in non-seceding states does not validate a sale made under its sanction. Lipse v. Spears, 88 Fed. 952.

70. Clinefelter v. Ayres, 16 Ill. 329; Neel v. Beach, 92 Pa. St. 221; Heron v. Hoffner, 3 Rawle (Pa.) 393.

71. Roseboom v. Mosher, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 61; Robertson v. Gaines, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 367, holding that a neglect to qualify is prima facie evidence of refusal to act and will validate a sale by the acting executor.

A presumption of renunciation by an executor may arise from acquiescence of heirs and lapse of time. Eskridge v. Patterson, 78 Tex. 417, 14 S. W. 1000.

72. Illinois.— Wilson v. Mason, 158 Ill. 304, 42 N. E. 134, 49 Am. St. Rep. 162 [affirming 57 Ill. App. 325].

Kentucky.— Smith v. Shackleford, 9 Dana 452.

North Carolina.— Wassom v. King, 19 N. C. 262.

Ohio.— Fleischman v. Shoemaker, 2 Ohio Cir. Ct. 152, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 415.

Pennsylvania.— Kling v. Hummer, 2 Penr. & W. 349.

Texas.— Hart v. Rust, 46 Tex. 556.

Virginia.— Nelson v. Carrington, 4 Munf. 332, 6 Am. Dec. 519; McRae v. Farrow, 4 Hen. & M. 444.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 505.

But see Stockdale v. McKown, 1 Nott & M. (S. C.) 41.

An executor who has renounced his office may unite with another who has not done so in the execution of a joint discretionary trust. Robinson v. Redman, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 82.

Mistake.— A contract of sale of realty entered into by one executor under a mistaken belief that his co-executor acquiesces therein will not be specifically enforced. Sneesby v. Thorne, 7 De G. M. & G. 399, 1 Jur. N. S. 1058, 3 Wkly. Rep. 605, 56 Eng. Ch. 309, 44 Eng. Reprint 156.

Ratification of acts of associate.— If a written agreement for a sale of land by executors be signed by the purchaser and one only of two acting executors the other may by his conduct so assent to the sale as to make it his own act, as by delivering possession and the like. Nelson v. Carrington, 4 Munf. (Va.) 332, 6 Am. Dec. 519.

Executors who have qualified in a foreign state need not join the sole resident qualified executor in a sale of realty within the state. Correll v. Lauterbach, 12 N. Y. App. Div. 531, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 143.

A sale to executors themselves over the dissent of a co-executor cannot be sustained. Holcomb v. Holcomb, 11 N. J. Eq. 281.

Equitable title.— A deed made under order of court and reciting payment of the purchase-money is, it seems, sufficient to convey an equitable title, although a co-administrator does not join. Harrison v. McMurray, 71 Tex. 122, 8 S. W. 612, so holding but deciding the deed to be of importance only as establishing the boundaries of a tract to which title might be claimed by adverse possession.

73. Carroll v. Stewart, 4 Rich. (S. C.) 200, holding that under the act of 1837 (5 St. at L. p. 15), making it lawful for the executors of a will "or the majority of such executors as shall qualify" in certain cases to sell and convey the lands of their testator, one of two cannot sell and convey.

74. Love v. Love, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 13.

75. Ex p. Sheffield Union Banking Co., 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 477.

Effect of conveyance.— Where a power to convey either jointly or separately is con-

13. Lease.[76] One executor[77] or administrator[78] may assign a lease. A statutory requirement of majority action by co-representatives is applicable to their execution of a lease.[79]

14. Mortgage or Pledge — a. Personal Property.[80] The power of individual disposition of the decedent's personalty empowers a representative to pledge the assets of the estate for the payment of its debts,[81] and although a pledge has been collusive for the payment of the representative's individual obligation, yet, where the assets have passed to an innocent purchaser they cannot be recovered from him without reimbursing him.[82]

b. Real Property.[83] A testamentary power to mortgage must be exercised in pursuance of its terms.[84] With regard to his ultimate beneficial interest, the executor may act individually.[85]

B. Liabilities — 1. In General. As a general rule the liability of an executor or administrator extends only to the assets actually received by him.[86] A ferred on the executor, a conveyance by one only, while operative to transfer his interest, does not transfer the interest of the others unless made in pursuance of the authority given by the will. Hite v. Shrader, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 444.

76. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, O, 10.

77. Simpson v. Gutteridge, 1 Madd. 609, 16 Rev. Rep. 276.

78. Lewis v. Ringo, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 247.

79. Utah L. & T. Co. v. Garbutt, 6 Utah 342, 23 Pac. 758, holding that under statutes requiring the majority action of co-executors, and also requiring a written authority to authorize an agent to execute a lease for more than one year, such a lease could not be executed by a single executor without a written authorization from his associates.

80. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, P. 3.

81. Wheeler v. Wheeler, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 34, holding that one of several executors may assign a note belonging to the estate of the testator as collateral security for a judgment obtained against the estate, and his act will bind his co-executors.

82. Bailie v. Kinchley, 52 Ga. 487 (holding that an authority "to sell, exchange, or otherwise dispose of any portion or all of my estate," is broad enough to empower the executors to raise money by pledging notes of the estate to a reasonable amount as collateral security, and if such money is advanced to one executor in good faith, the other cannot, without repayment, maintain trover for the notes, although the money was not used for the benefit of the estate); Wood's Appeal, 92 Pa. St. 379, 37 Am. Rep. 694 (so holding, although certificates of stock pledged showed on their face that title came from the executor).

83 As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, O, 11.

84. Port Gibson Bank v. Baugh, 9 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 290, holding that where the testator conferred a power to mortgage and also directed that the executors should exercise their powers jointly, an individual executor could not bind the estate by the execution of a note and mortgage.

85. Ex p. Sheffield Union Banking Co., 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 477, holding that one of two executors who has a beneficial interest in property may create a good equitable mortgage of such interest by depositing the title deeds relating thereto and signing a memorandum of deposit, although he makes the deposit without the consent of his co-executor. But compare In re Ingham, [1893] 1 Ch. 352, 62 L. J. Ch. 100, 68 L. T. Rep. N. S. 152, 3 Reports 126, 41 Wkly. Rep. 235.

86. Kentucky.—Young v. Wickliffe, 7 Dana 447, holding that whether or not one executor can be made liable for a devastavit committed by another depends upon facts which must be submitted to a jury, as to his exercise of executorial authority over the assets wasted, his aid in their acquisition or disposal, etc.

New Jersey.—Bellerjeau v. Kotts, 4 N. J. L. 359; Bechtold v. Read, (Ch. 1893) 28 Atl. 264; Young v. Schelly, (Ch. 1891) 21 Atl. 1049; King v. Foerster, 61 N. J. Eq. 584, 47 Atl. 505.

New York.— White v. Bullock, 20 Barb. 91.

Pennsylvania.— Ripple's Estate, 9 Kulp 66.

South Carolina.— Gates v. Whetstone, 8 S. C. 244, 28 Am. Rep. 284.

Tennessee.— Adams v. Gleaves, 10 Lea 367.

United States.— U. S. Bank v. Beverley, 1 How. 134, 11 L. ed. 75; Peter v. Beverly, 10 Pet. 532, 9 L. ed. 522.

Canada.— Darling v. Brown, 2 Can. Supreme Ct. 26, 21 L. C. Jur. 125; Miller v. Coleman, 25 L. C. Jur. 196.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 522.

Where separate custody of assets is not established, the representatives will be charged equally, as where the accounts are kept so loosely that it cannot be determined in whose hands the particular assets are (Brotten v. Bateman, 17 N. C. 115, 22 Am. Dec. 732), or where it does not appear how much of the purchase-money each executor who joined in a conveyance received (Bechtold v. Read, (N. J. Ch. 1893) 28 Atl. 264).

A receipt given to a co-executor and certified by the ordinary for the whole estate of the testator is conclusive as between the executor and the legatees in the absence of fraud.

co-executor who has not had possession of the assets of the estate, and who has not concurred in or negligently permitted a devastavit by his associates is not liable therefor,[87] and the same rule applies to a co-administrator under similar circumstances.[88] The representative is of course liable for his own acts,[89] or those of his co-representatives in which he concurs.[90]

2. As Dependent on Nature of Bond. When representatives give a joint bond, they are responsible each for the acts of the other,[91] but this does not change the Edmonds v. Crenshaw, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 224.

Under the Louisiana code executors are liable jointly and severally for the property subject to the executorship. Doriocourt v. Jacobs, 1 La. Ann. 214; Baldwin v. Carleton, 11 Rob. 109. See also St. Andre v. Rachal, 3 La. Ann. 574, holding that administrators who qualify jointly and whose duties are not severed are liable in solido for the proceeds of property coming into their hands. Where one seeks to escape liability, he must show that the dilapidation of the funds received was not the result of his neglect of duty.

87. Alabama.— Turner v. Wilkins, 56 Ala. 173.

Georgia.— Kerr v. Waters, 19 Ga. 136; Hall v. Carter, 8 Ga. 388; Cameron v. Justices Richmond County Inferior Ct., 1 Ga. 36, 44 Am. Dec. 636.

Kentucky.— Lawrence v. Lawrence, Litt. Sel. Cas. 123; Moore v. Tandy, 3 Bibb 97.

New Jersey.— Van Pelt v. Veghte, 14 N. J. L. 207; Fennimore v. Fennimore, 3 N. J. Eq. 292.

New York.— Wilmerding v. McKesson, 103 N. Y. 329, 8 N. E. 665 [reversing 28 Hun 184]; Croft v. Williams, 88 N. Y. 384; Sutherland v. Brush, 7 Johns. Ch. 17, 11 Am. Dec. 383; Cocks v. Barlow, 5 Redf. Surr. 406.

North Carolina.— Kerr v. Kirkpatrick, 43 N. C. 137; Williams v. Maitland, 36 N. C. 92; Worth v. McAden, 21 N. C. 199; Clarke v. Cotton, 17 N. C. 51.

Pennsylvania.— Graham's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 479, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 540.

South Carolina.— Anderson v. Earle, 9 S. C. 460; Gates v. Whetstone, 8 S. C. 244, 28 Am. Rep. 284; Clarke v. Jenkins, 3 Rich. Eq. 318.

Tennessee.— Fulton v. Davidson, 3 Heisk. 614.

Vermont.— Sparhawk v. Buell, 9 Vt. 41.

Virginia.— Boyd v. Boyd, 3 Gratt. 113; Myrick v. Adams, 4 Munf. 366.

United States.— U. S. Bank v. Beverley, 1 How. 134, 11 L. ed. 75; Peter v. Beverly, 10 Pet. 532, 9 L. ed. 522.

England.— Littlehales v. Gascoyne, 3 Bro. Ch. 73, 29 Eng. Reprint 416; Hargthorpe v. Milforth, Cro Eliz. 318.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 508, 522.

88. Delaware.— State v. Belin, 5 Harr. 400.

Indiana.— Davis v. Walford, 2 Ind. 88; Ray v. Doughty, 4 Blackf. 115, holding that although the administratrix who committed a devastavit was a minor, her co-administratrix was not liable therefor.

Kentucky.— Roach v. Hubbard, Litt. Sel. Cas. 235; Moore v. Tandy, 3 Bibb 97.

New York.— Matter of Hall, 14 N. Y. St. 540; Matter of Hall, 5 Dem. Surr. 42.

South Carolina.— O'Neall v. Herbert, McMull. Eq. 495; Knox v. Picket, 4 Desauss. 92; Lenoir v. Winn, 4 Desauss. 65, 6 Am. Dec. 597.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," §§ 508, 522.

89. California.— In re Sanderson, (1887) 13 Pac. 497; Abila v. Burnett, 33 Cal. 658.

Illinois.— Crain v. Kennedy, 85 Ill. 340.

Indiana.— Call v. Ewing, 1 Blackf. 301.

Kentucky.— McCampbell v. Gilbert, 6 J. J. Marsh. 592.

New Jersey.— Van Pelt v. Veghte, 14 N. J. L. 207.

New York.— Williams v. Holden, 4 Wend. 223; Douglas v. Satterlee, 11 Johns. 16.

Virginia.— Templeman v. Fauntleroy, 3 Rand. 434.

United States.— Edmonds v. Crenshaw, 14 Pet. 166, 10 L. ed. 402.

Canada.— Hoffman v. Pfeiffer, 7 Quebec 125.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 508.

90. Bechtold v. Read, 49 N. J. Eq. 111, 22 Atl. 1085; In re Irvine, 203 Pa. St. 602, 53 Atl. 502; Geiger's Appeal, 1 Mona. (Pa.) 547, 16 Atl. 851; Williams v. Mower, 29 S. C. 332, 7 S. E. 505; Mathews v. Mathews, McMull. Eq. (S. C.) 410; Johnson v. Johnson, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 277, 29 Am. Dec. 72; Waring v. Purcell, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 193; Hughlett v. Hughlett, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 453; Deaderick v. Cantrell, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 263, 31 Am. Dec. 576.

Where co-executors joined in a sale of the land of the testator and the proceeds thereof came to the hands of one with the assent of the other and they joined in a settlement with the purchaser they were equally liable to legatees, etc., for the price of the land. Hauser v. Lehman, 37 N. C. 594. But see Atcheson v. Robertson, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 132, 55 Am. Dec. 634.

Admissions of liability for the acts of an associate are binding in the absence of any evidence showing that they were founded in mistake. Jeffries v. Lawson, 39 Miss. 791.

Signing of joint checks may impose liability. Palmer v. Ward, 91 N. Y. App. Div. 449, 86 N. Y. Suppl. 990.

Accounts kept in the joint names of executors will not impose liability on all in the absence of evidence of concurrence in the receipts or payments of the active executor. Clarke v. Jenkins, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 318.

91. See supra, XVII, A, 6.

rule as to the accountability of the representatives in the first instance[92] or inter sese.[93]

3. Delivery of Assets to Associate. Where one executor has assets of the decedent's estate in his hands, and hands them over to a co-executor without a good reason for so doing, he will be liable for any misapplication by his co-executor,[94] although he may have acted in good faith.[95]

4. Permitting Possession of Assets by Associate. A wrong done or a duty omitted by the person sought to be charged must lie at the foundation of liability of one representative for the acts or omissions of his associate.[96] It follows that

A devastavit must have been established. Cameron v. Justices Richmond County Inferior Ct., 1 Ga. 36, 44 Am. Dec. 636.

92. O'Neall v. Herbert, McMull. Eq. (S. C.) 495; Gayden v. Gayden, McMull. Eq. (S. C.) 435. And see Wilks v. Davis, Rich. Eq. Cas. (S. C.) 390.

93. Slaughter v. Froman, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 19, 17 Am. Dec. 33 (holding that the sureties of a widow administratrix and her co-administrator are not liable for her distributive share of the chattels collected and converted by her co-administrator but the latter alone is liable to her); McDivitt v. McDivitt, 4 Watts (Pa.) 384 (holding that an administrator cannot maintain an action against his co-administrator on a bond by which they are jointly and severally bound).

94. New York.— Adair v. Brimmer, 74 N. Y. 539; Thompson v. Hicks, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 275, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 340; Mesick v. Mesick, 7 Barb. 120; Dixon v. Storm, 5 Redf. Surr. 419.

Pennsylvania.— Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. 419; Power's Estate, 15 Phila. 539.

South Carolina.— Johnson v. Johnson, 2 Hill Eq. 277, 29 Am. Dec. 72, holding that there is no distinction between the liability to creditors and that to legatees.

Vermont.— Sparhawk v. Buell, 9 Vt. 41.

England.— Candler v. Tillett, 22 Beav. 257, 25 L. J. Ch. 505, 4 Wkly. Rep. 160, 52 Eng. Reprint 1106; Townsend v. Barber, Dick. 356, 21 Eng. Reprint 307.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 511.

Sufficiency of delivery to impose liability. — Under a statute providing that an executor shall not be charged with moneys receipted for by his co-executor, unless shown to have come into his hands, where two executors went together to a bank and caused the decedent's deposit to be equally divided, and one half credited to one and the other half to the other, and neither afterward had possession of the other's half, one was not liable for the other's defalcation. Nettman v. Schramm, 23 Iowa 521, where the court was equally divided. But it has been held sufficient to impose liability that an executor to whom a bag of coin was handed in the presence of his associates should hand it to a co-executor. Langford v. Gascoyne, 11 Ves. Jr. 333, 8 Rev. Rep. 170, 32 Eng. Reprint 1116.

Division of assets consisting of bonds, notes, and accounts for the purpose of collecting and disbursement will not impose joint liability. Kerr v. Kirkpatrick, 43 N. C. 137.

Merely formal acts, such as the indorsement to an associate of negotiable instruments payable to the representatives jointly will, apparently, not impose liability. Paulding v. Sharkey, 88 N. Y. 432 [affirmed in 21 Hun 276]; Palmer v. Ward, 91 N. Y. App. Div. 449, 86 N. Y. Suppl. 990; Matter of Provost, 87 N. Y. App. Div. 86, 84 N. Y. Suppl. 29; Hovey v. Blakeman, 4 Ves. Jr. 596, 31 Eng. Reprint 306.

Payment of individual debt to co-representative.— An executor who purchases a farm originally belonging to the estate, and who pays his co-executor the balance of the purchase-price still due the estate, is not liable for his co-executor's misappropriation of the payments, it appearing that when he made the payments the executor had no reason to suspect his co-executor's honesty or financial responsibility. Matter of Demarest, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 292, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 200.

A co-executor who proved the will but never acted cannot be charged by receiving a bill by the post on account of the estate, and sending it immediately to the acting executor. Balchen v. Scott, 2 Ves. Jr. 678, 3 Rev. Rep. 29, 30 Eng. Reprint 838.

Creditors only, and not legatees, can hold an executor liable for surrendering assets to his associate. In re Verner, 6 Watts (Pa.) 250.

95. In re Storm, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 499; Croft v. Williams, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 102; Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 419; Langford v. Gascoyne, 11 Ves. Jr. 333, 8 Rev. Rep. 170, 32 Eng. Reprint 1116. But see Osborn's Estate, 87 Cal. 1, 25 Pac. 157, 11 L. R. A. 264; Clarke v. Cotton, 17 N. C. 51.

96. MacDonald v. Hanna, 100 Mich. 412, 59 N. W. 171 (holding that an executor who took no part in the administration of an estate and who by the will was not to do so unless the testator's widow (the executrix) remarried, was not liable for a misappropriation of its funds by her and that he was not bound on her remarriage to demand from her the administration of the trust); Croft v. Williams, 88 N. Y. 384; Matter of Demarest, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 292, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 200.

Where the will intrusted the greater portion of the assets to one executor, he being a passive acquiescence in the possession of assets by an associate will not impose liability for his misapplication,[97] unless the co-representative had reason to suspect that it would occur[98] or was negligent in failing to discover it.[99] But where assets are actually in joint control or possession, one of the co-representatives cannot avoid responsibility for their proper application by turning them over to the sole control of the other,[1] unless the latter is entitled to possession as distributee or trustee.[2] Liability will not in any event extend to funds not received by the associate as executor or administrator.[3]

5. Permitting Breach of Trust by Associate. Although in general one executor or administrator is not bound to exercise supervision over another,[4] he must use vigilance to protect the funds if the circumstances are such as to create a doubt as to their safety,[5] and he is responsible for a loss resulting from the waste or maladministration of his co-representative where he could have prevented the same, and by his negligence failed to do so.[6] It has been held to be no excuse that he required to carry on decedent's business, his co-executors were not liable for losses occasioned by his mismanagement where they were guilty of no fraud, and had no reason to believe that he was wasting or misappropriating the assets. Walker v. Walker, 88 Ky. 615, 11 S. W. 718, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 80.

97. Croft v. Williams, 88 N. Y. 384; Wright v. Dugan, 15 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 107; Taylor v. Shuit, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 528; Worth v. McAden, 21 N. C. 199; Latham v. Blakemore, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 276; Stearn v. Mills, 4 B. & Ad. 657, 2 L. J. K. B. 106, 1 N. & M. 434, 24 E. C. L. 289; Langford v. Gascoyne, 11 Ves. Jr. 333, 8 Rev. Rep. 170, 32 Eng. Reprint 1116.

98. Cocks v. Haviland, 124 N. Y. 426, 26 N. E. 976 [reversing 57 Hun 592, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 872]; Matter of Hoagland, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 56, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 1080; Myer v. Myer, 187 Pa. St. 247, 41 Atl. 24; Irwin's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 294; Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 419; Robinson's Estate, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 61.

99. In re Adams, 166 N. Y. 623, 59 N. E. 1118 [affirming 51 N. Y. App. Div. 619, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 591 (modifying 30 Misc. 184, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 751)]; Matter of Hunt, 38 Misc. (N. Y.) 613, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 105. An executor who does not know that the assets received by his co-executor are not applied according to the trusts of the will or in a due course of administration is not liable for waste or misapplication when he had reason to believe that the heirs acquiesced in his decision not to act in the settlement of the estate. English v. Newell, 42 N. J. Eq. 76, 6 Atl. 505 [affirmed in 43 N. J. Eq. 295, 14 Atl. 811].

1. New York.— In re Niles, 113 N. Y. 547, 21 N. E. 687; Matter of Hunt, 88 N. Y. App. Div. 52, 84 N. Y. Suppl. 790 [reversing 38 Misc. 613, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 105]; Brown's Accounting, 16 Abb. Pr. N. S. 457. A business man familiar with the values of property and accustomed to making investments is not justified in leaving the entire management of the estate in the hands of his co-executrix without supervision or inquiry, she being a woman unacquainted with business and whose time is occupied with domestic duties. Earle v. Earle, 93 N. Y. 104.

Pennsylvania.— Sterrett's Appeal, 2 Penr. & W. 419.

Tennessee.— Allen v. Shanks, 90 Tenn. 359, 16 S. W. 715.

United States.— Edmonds v. Crenshaw, 14 Pet. (U. S.) 166, 10 L. ed. 402.

England.— Lees v. Sanderson, 4 Sim. 28, 6 Eng. Ch. 28.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 511; and supra, XXI, B, 3.

2. Heppenstall's Estate, 144 Pa. St. 259, 22 Atl. 860; Anderson v. Earle, 9 S. C. 460.

3. Carlile's Appeal, 38 Pa. St. 259. And see Young v. Wickliffe, 7 Dana (Ky.) 447; Geddis v. Irvine, 5 Pa. St. 508 (holding that where a testator directed the sale of his land, and one third of the proceeds to be invested, the interest to be paid to his widow, or to his executors for her use, the receipt of such interest by the executors would raise a personal liability to the widow, and that the executor receiving the interest would be alone liable); Scholey v. Walton, 13 L. J. Exch. 122, 12 M. & W. 510.

Receipt as agent of heir or legatee.— If one of a number of executors after paying an heir or legatee his share or legacy becomes his agent or bailee, and receives the share or legacy so paid to hold for any purpose, the estate of his testator is discharged, and his co-executors are not liable for his embezzlement or other default. Soley's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 144.

4. Kerr v. Kirkpatrick, 43 N. C. 137; Matter of Hall, 14 N. Y. St. 540.

5. Earle v. Earle, 93 N. Y. 104. See also Wilmerding v. McKesson, 103 N. Y. 329, 8 N. E. 665 [reversing 28 Hun 184], holding that an executor would be liable for a loss resulting from the use of funds of the estate in business by his co-executor even although he had not actual knowledge of such use, where he could have ascertained the fact by making due inquiries.

Delay in failing to compel investment by a co-representative to whom funds have been delivered until after judicial proceedings, and with knowledge of the irresponsibility of the associate, will impose liability. Thompson v. Hicks, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 275, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 340.

6. California.— Osborn's Estate, 87 Cal. 1, 25 Pac. 157, 11 L. R. A. 264.

was apparently justified in relying on the integrity of his associate,[7] even although testator induced the reposal of confidence.[8]

6. Insolvency of Co-Representative. The insolvency of an associate does not impose liability on an executor who has not had possession of the assets,[9] unless, after discovery of the insolvency or danger thereof, he has permitted the associate to retain the fund.[10]

7. Joint Receipt or Inventory. The early rule at common law making a joint receipt conclusive of the joint liability of executors[11] is now departed from and the receipt is but prima facie evidence that assets came into joint possession and may be contradicted.[12] Even the early cases made a distinction between creditors and legatees, holding co-executors uniting in a receipt liable only to the former.[13] A joint inventory obligatory upon all the executors does not of itself show assets in the hands of either of the executors so as to charge them, without more;[14] nor does it prove a joint possession of the evidences of debt due to the decedent, but leaves the actual possession in the one or the other, or in both, open to proof.[15]

8. Release of Co-Representative. The persons solely interested in the acts of the representatives may of course release their liability,[16] but since the duties of Georgia.— Whiddon v. Williams, 98 Ga. 310, 24 S. E. 437; Head v. Bridges, 67 Ga. 227.

Kansas.— Insley v. Shire, 54 Kan. 793, 39 Pac. 713, 45 Am. St. Rep. 308.

Mississippi.— Gaultney v. Nolan, 33 Miss. 569.

New Jersey.— English v. Newell, 42 N. J. Eq. 76, 6 Atl. 505; Smith v. Pettigrew, 34 N. J. Eq. 216; Fisher v. Skillman, 18 N. J. Eq. 229.

New York.— Matter of Niles, 113 N. Y. 547, 21 N. E. 687; Wilmerding v. McKesson, 103 N. Y. 329, 8 N. E. 665 [reversing 28 Hun 184]; Earle v. Earle, 93 N. Y. 104; Croft v. Williams, 88 N. Y. 384; Adair v. Brimmer, 74 N. Y. 539; Matter of Peck, 31 N. Y. App. Div. 407, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1028; Cocks v. Haviland, 57 Hun 592, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 872; In re Brown's Accounting, 16 Abb. Pr. N. S. 457; Johnson v. Corbett, 11 Paige 265; Clark v. Clark, 8 Paige 152, 35 Am. Dec. 676; Lacey v. Davis, 5 Redf. Surr. 301; Matter of Macdonald, 4 Redf. Surr. 321.

North Carolina.— Worth v. McAden, 21 N. C. 199.

England.— Williams v. Nixon, 2 Beav. 472, 9 L. J. Ch. 269, 17 Eng. Ch. 472, 48 Eng. Reprint 1264.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 522.

7. Bates v. Underhill, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 365. But compare Weyman v. Thompson, 50 N. J. Eq. 8, 25 Atl. 205.

8. Dover v. Denne, 3 Ont. L. Rep. 664. But see Cressman's Estate, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 76.

9. Clarke v. Cotton, 17 N. C. 51; Brown's Appeal, 1 Dall. (U. S.) 311, 1 L. ed. 152; Churchill v. Hobson, 1 P. Wms. 241, 24 Eng. Reprint 370.

10. In re Osborn, 87 Cal. 1, 25 Pac. 157, 11 L. R. A. 264; Smith v. Pettigrew, 34 N. J. Eq. 216.

11. Leigh v. Barry, Ambl. 219 note, 27 Eng. Reprint 145, 3 Atk. 583, 26 Eng. Reprint 1136; Sadler v. Hobbs, 2 Bro. Ch. 114, 29 Eng. Reprint 66, 3 Bro. Ch. 92, 29 Eng. Reprint 425; Neal v. Hanbury, Prec. Ch. 173, 24 Eng. Reprint 83; Churchill v. Hobson, 1 P. Wms. 241, 24 Eng. Reprint 370; Fellows v. Mitchell, 1 P. Wms. 81, 83 note, 24 Eng. Reprint 302; Doyle v. Blake, 2 Sch. & Lef. 231, 9 Rev. Rep. 76; Joy v. Campbell, 1 Sch. & Lef. 341, 9 Rev. Rep. 39; Murrell v. Cox, 2 Vern. Ch. 570, 23 Eng. Reprint 971; Moses v. Levy, 3 Y. & C. 359, 367.

12. Hall v. Carter, 8 Ga. 388; Ochiltree v. Wright, 21 N. C. 336; Wilson's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 95, 9 Atl. 473; McNair's Appeal, 4 Rawle (Pa.) 148; Hess' Estate, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 243.

A joint release of a mortgage, signed by two executors, is only prima facie evidence that the money derived therefrom came into the possession or under the control of both, and may be rebutted by proof that the money was in fact received by one, and that the other joined only as matter of form. McKim v. Aulbach, 130 Mass. 481, 39 Am. Rep. 470; Wilmerding v. McKesson, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 184 [reversed in 103 N. Y. 329, 8 N. E. 665].

13. Hall v. Carter, 8 Ga. 388; Brown's Appeal, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 310, 1 L. ed. 152; Gibbs v. Herring, Prec. Ch. 49, 24 Eng. Reprint 25; Shipbrook v. Hinchinbrook, 16 Ves. Jr. 477, 33 Eng. Reprint 1066; Price v. Stokes, 11 Ves. Jr. 324, 32 Eng. Reprint 1111.

14. Hall v. Carter, 8 Ga. 388; Ochiltree v. Wright, 21 N. C. 336.

15. Hall v. Carter, 8 Ga. 388.

16. In re Pruyn, 141 N. Y. 544, 36 N. E. 595; In re Wagner, 119 N. Y. 28, 23 N. E. 200; Tillinghast v. Brown University, 25 R. I. 284, 55 Atl. 758; Murrel v. Murrel, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 148, 49 Am. Dec. 664.

Sufficiency of release.— Where the settlement of a joint account by two executors showed a balance in their hands, division of the balance equally between them and acceptance by each of the legatees of half the interest due on the balance does not sever the joint liability. Ducommun's Appeal, 17 co-representatives with regard to the estate impose a several liability, a discharge of one will not release the rest.[17]

9. Contracts — a. In General.[18] A representative is individually liable on contracts made by him without his associates.[19]

b. Services.[20] Joint contracts for services impose joint personal liability.[21]

10. Deposits, Investments, and Loans — a. Deposits.[22] A representative negligently permitting funds to remain on deposit under the sole control of his associate may be liable for any resulting loss.[23]

b. Investments.[24] Where one representative knows or has the means of knowing of irregular investments by an associate, he is liable therefor in the absence of fraud or misrepresentation.[25] Where the executors cannot agree as to investments directed to be made by the will, they should apply to the proper court for instructions within a reasonable time.[26] Where an executor has been intrusted with the entire charge of an investment, his co-executors cannot hold an instrument taken by him, either on his private account or in his representative capacity, free from the taint of usurious interest which he has reserved to himself.[27]

c. Loans.[28] A representative is not responsible for a loan made by his associates without his knowledge where he does not appear to have been negligent with relation thereto.[29]

Pa. St. 268. The fact that the money and sole management of the estate was turned over to one executor, with the concurrence of one having a power of attorney to collect moneys due non-resident beneficiaries of the estate, in no way relieves the co-executor from responsibility. Osborn's Estate, 87 Cal. 1, 25 Pac. 157, 11 L. R. A. 264.

17. Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 15 Pac. 753. A suit by heirs against administrators to recover for a breach of trust in conspiring together to sell lands of the estate, which they severally acquired in separate portions, each for his own benefit, under the sale, is several as well as joint, and is not barred as to one of the administrators by a settlement with the other. Piatt v. Longworth, 27 Ohio St. 159.

18. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, D, 1.

19. Shreve v. Joyce, 36 N. J. L. 44, 13 Am. Rep. 417 (holding that a co-executor is not made personally liable by the new promise of another executor, unless in case of devastavit); Freeman v. Brunswick, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 327.

20. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, D, 2.

21. Long v. Rodman, 58 Ind. 58 (holding that where one of several co-executors, with the knowledge and consent of the others, employs an attorney, without a special agreement with him to look to the estate alone for payment, they all become personally liable for the value of his services); Mygatt v. Wilcox, 45 N. Y. 306, 6 Am. Rep. 90 (holding that administrators who retained an attorney to attend for them in proceedings against them on a final accounting before the surrogate are jointly liable to such attorney, although their interests upon the distribution are different).

22. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, A, 5.

23. Wilmerding v. McKesson, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 184 [reversed in 103 N. Y. 329, 8 N. E. 665], holding that where an executor allows his co-executor to deposit moneys with a firm of which he is a member, he becomes personally liable for any loss thereby sustained by persons interested in the estate.

Failure to examine the bank-account of the acting executor for two years is not in itself culpable negligence. Irwin's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 294.

A representative who deposits funds in a bank of which his associate is president, and which is at the time in good standing, is not liable where it fails before certain distributees have cashed checks made payable to them, although they have had opportunity to do so. Maffet's Estate, 7 Kulp (Pa.) 153.

24. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, E.

25. In re Niles, 113 N. Y. 547, 21 N. E. 687; Matter of Peck, 31 N. Y. App. Div. 407, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1028; Weldy's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 454, holding that where, instead of investing a fund as directed by the will, executors divide it between themselves without security, each becomes liable for a loss by the other. See also Lacey v. Davis, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 301.

Failure to invest.— Executors charged with a duty to invest a fund for the securing of an annuity who pay the fund to one of their number and make no effort to see to its investment are liable for its loss. Thompson v. Hicks, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 275, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 340.

26. Holcombe v. Holcombe, 13 N. J. Eq. 413.

27. O'Neil v. Cleveland, 30 N. J. Eq. 273.

28. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, G.

29. Cocks v. Barlow, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 406; Lacey v. Davis, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 301.

11 FRAUD.[30] Fraud by an associate with which the representative is not connected and which he has not permitted does not impose liability.[31]

12. INTEREST ON FUNDS OF ESTATE.[32] In case of a devastavit representatives permitting it may be charged with interest,[33] although in some cases they may be excused by having acted in good faith.[34] A disagreement as to the manner of investment will not prevent an executor from being charged with interest where he made no application to the court for directions.[35]

13. INDIVIDUAL INTEREST IN TRANSACTIONS.[36] The co-representatives should not purchase property of the estate from themselves either directly or indirectly,[37] unless upon full disclosure and with the consent of all persons in interest,[38] and they are liable to the estate for any profits made by such transactions.[39] A sale to one of their number is, however, usually regarded as merely voidable.[40] Contracts made with the acting executor by executors who have not qualified may be sustained in the absence of fraud.[41] Where an executor has employed the property of the estate in his personal business, in determining the liability incurred by him in a case where it is to be based on the extent of his property interest he will be regarded as a joint tenant.[42]

14. COLLECTION OF ASSETS.[43] Generally speaking, each executor may collect assets and his co-executor is not liable therefor.[44] Where assets are doubtful, the

30. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, N.

31. Heath v. Allin, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 442, holding that one of two executors does not, by practising a fraud in the sale of his testator's estate, subject his co-executor to an action.

32. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, F.

33. Whitney v. Phœnix, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 180; Bates v. Underhill, 3 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 365. Where one of three administrators mingled funds of the estate with his own and used them in his own business, the administrators were chargeable with interest on the funds of the estate thus treated. Gilbert's Appeal, 78 Pa. St. 266; Brown's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 127.

34. In re Wyckoff, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 75.

35. Holcombe v. Holcombe, 13 N. J. Eq. 413.

36. As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, J.

37. Candler v. Clarke, 90 Ga. 550, 16 S. E. 645; Inman v. Foster, 69 Ga. 385 (holding that where three executors buy land of the estate, two of them cannot discharge themselves of liability to the beneficiary by showing that the other, who was the beneficiary's trustee, was allowed for the beneficiary the amount of purchase-money he was to pay, and gave his receipt for that amount as paid to the beneficiary); Gordon v. Finlay, 10 N. C. 239.

As to representatives generally see supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (VI), (B); VIII, P, 2, f, (I); XII, M, 4.

An agreement to sell realty to a partnership of which the executor's associates are members is voidable at the option of the beneficiaries of the estate. Colgate v. Colgate, 23 N. J. Eq. 372.

38. Mosley v. Floyd, 31 Ga. 564, holding that when the heirs, legatees, or distributees of an estate permit an executor to purchase property belonging to the estate and sold by his co-executor, the former is not liable for money paid to the co-executor upon notes given for the purchase-money and which is subsequently wasted by such co-executor.

39. Bechtold v. Read, (N. J. Ch. 1895) 32 Atl. 694, holding that where executors convey property of testator so that one of them makes a profit, the one receiving the profit is primarily liable therefor, and if it cannot be collected of him the others will be required to respond.

40. Colgate v. Colgate, 23 N. J. Eq. 372; Geyer v. Snyder, 140 N. Y. 394, 35 N. E. 784 [affirming 69 Hun 115, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 200, and in effect overruling Case v. Abeel, 1 Paige 393].

A sale of partnership property to the surviving partner who is also an administrator at a price less than the value is voidable at the election of any party in interest, and all the administrators are chargeable with the actual value. That they acted in good faith and under the advice of counsel does not justify the transaction. Gilbert's Appeal, 78 Pa. St. 266.

41. Bowden v. Pierce, 73 Cal. 459, 14 Pac. 302, 15 Pac. 64.

42. Hanschell v. Swan, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 304, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 42, holding that where testator appointed three executors, one executor's liability on a claim against a vessel in which testator owned an interest, arising while it was being employed in his own business, was measured by the extent of the testator's interest.

43. As to representatives generally see supra, VII.

44. Hall v. Carter, 8 Ga. 388 (holding that where there is a joint return of an inventory of debts made by executors, and the possession of the debts is in one, and he, through negligence, without participation by the others, fails to collect them, he is solely representatives should schedule them as such in their inventory to avoid responsibility for their collection,[45] although failure to do so will not impose liability in the absence of negligence in collection.[46]

15. Negligence or Bad Faith. Representatives are jointly liable for losses to the estate from their concurrent negligence or bad faith.[47] A representative, in the exercise of a sound discretion, may, it seems, redeem assets wrongfully disposed of by his associate instead of bringing an action therefor.[48]

16. Debts Due From Associate to Estate. As a general rule a representative is not bound to collect debts owing by his associates to the estate,[49] but notwithstanding co-executors are equally entitled to the possession of the funds of the estate, a note given by one to the other for a debt due to the estate may be upon a sufficient consideration.[50] Where the administrator would have been liable on his bond for the debt of an associate, he may be compelled to account therefor.[51]

17. Liabilities Inter Sese and Contribution. As between himself and his associates each representative is responsible for his own acts of maladministration,[52] but this responsibility may be varied or released by contracts inter sese.[53] Con-liable for such devastavit); Fennimore v. Fennimore, 3 N. J. Eq. 292; Sutherland v. Brush, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 17, 11 Am. Dec. 383; Tompkins v. Tompkins, 18 S. C. 1 (holding that where one executor misappropriates the proceeds of a joint sale, the other is not chargeable with the loss, he not having himself been in any way in fault). But see Bechtold v. Read, 49 N. J. Eq. 111, 22 Atl. 1085, holding that where executors all joined in the assignment of a bond and mortgage, and acknowledgment of the receipt of the money therefor, and allowed one of their number to complete the transaction, in doing which he repaid a large portion of the purchase-money received, they were all accountable for the loss.

45. Metz's Appeal, 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 204.

46. Barclay v. Morrison, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 129.

47. Grundy v. Drye, 104 Ky. 825, 48 S. W. 155, 49 S. W. 469, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 970, 1337 (holding that executors are liable for the devastavit of a co-executor where they permitted him to use in his business a fund which the testator directed to be paid to a trustee, and united with him in resisting suits by the cestui que trust to get the money out of their hands); Blackwell v. Blackwell, 29 N. J. Eq. 576 (holding that executors who allow the widow and executrix to value her dower right too high and retain the amount, and to buy personal property of the estate at too low a price, are liable to make good to the estate the sum it thus lost); In re Goetschius, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 278, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 970; Clark v. Clark, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 152, 35 Am. Dec. 676; Whitney v. Phœnix, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 180; In re Irvine, 203 Pa. St. 602, 53 Atl. 502.

Non-concurrence must be pleaded. Kincade v. Conley, 64 N. C. 387.

Repayment of advances by associate.— Where an executor allows his co-executor to apply the assets of the estate in full payment of his own advances, instead of pro rata with other creditors, he is equally liable. McCormick v. Wright, 79 Va. 524.

48. Wright v. Dugan, 15 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 107.

49. Tichenor v. Tichenor, 43 N. J. Eq. 163, 10 Atl. 867 (holding that where an executor occupies real estate belonging to the estate, under an agreement with his co-executor, at a monthly rental, and the occupant fails to account for the rent, the co-executor is not responsible for such rent, there being nothing to show that the occupant was irresponsible, or that the rent was not safe in his hands); Clarke v. Cotton, 17 N. C. 51. But see Weigand's Appeal, 28 Pa. St. 471, holding that where an obligation of one of the executors to decedent is set apart by the will as a trust fund and the executors are directed to secure it they are jointly liable for a failure to do so.

50. Deloach v. Youmans, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 278 (holding that one executor was entitled to recover against the other on a note given by him for the purchase-price of property belonging to the estate and sold to him before he qualified as executor); Berry v. Tart, 1 Hill (S. C.) 4 (holding that to render such a note void defendant must show that he was in advance to the estate and plaintiff had the funds in his hands).

51. Beckley's Appeal, 3 Pa. St. 425.

52. Jordy's Succession, 5 La. Ann. 37; Marshall's Estate, 34 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 382; Massey v. Cureton, Cheves Eq. (S. C.) 181; Knox v. Picket, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 92.

Where all are equally in the wrong, the loss will be divided equally between them. Fisher v. Skillman, 18 N. J. Eq. 229.

53. See Jones v. Ward, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 160.

Construction and effect of agreements.— A bond given by an administratrix who received the assets from her co-administrator to indemnify him in case she should fail to pay certain claims of third persons against the estate, or any claims that might be brought against him as administrator, creates no new personal obligation to pay the debts beyond the available assets of the estate, and he can only allege a breach after his liability growing out of the administration of the estate tribution may be enforced by a representative who has discharged more than his proportion of a joint liability.[54]

18. Subrogation. Where one representative pays a liability incurred through the default of his associate, he is entitled to all the remedies which the payee or creditor possessed against the associate.[55] But subrogation to the rights of an executor as legatee cannot be permitted where the interest of the legatee has passed to an innocent third person by foreclosure of a mortgage executed by the legatee.[56]

19. Accounting and Liability Thereon[57] — a. Accounting by Co-Representatives.[58] An accounting by co-representatives is in general subject to the same rules as govern accountings by sole representatives, save as to rights and liabilities inter sese arising out of their relations.[59]

b. Accounting as Between Co-Representatives. While in some cases doubt has been expressed as to the authority of a representative to compel his associates to account,[60] it would seem to be the rule that he may do so in equity,[61] especially has been ascertained. Pittman v. Myrick, 16 Fla. 692. An agreement between three co-administrators that certain notes made by their intestate, on which one of the administrators was indorser, should be paid in full, with the understanding that if, upon a final settlement of the estate, the assets should prove insufficient for that purpose, the indorsing administrator should make good the deficiency, is binding on the indorsing administrator. Kilgore v. Moore, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 192.

A mortgage on his own land given by one executor to himself and his associate does not exonerate him from liability for delinquencies when nothing is realized from the property conveyed. Storms v. Quackenbush, 34 N. J. Eq. 201.

54. Wilks v. Davis, Rich. Eq. Cas. (S. C.) 390; Marsh v. Harrington, 18 Vt. 150. Money awarded to an executor on an assignment of his co-executor for creditors, to reimburse him for money paid on a balance due the estate by both executors, is not assets of the estate, but of the executor to whom it is paid. Miller's Appeal, 127 Pa. St. 95, 17 Atl. 866.

Contribution by solvent associates.—Where two of four joint executors become insolvent, and one of the remaining two is compelled by a decree to pay for property, which without fault on his part has been seized by one of the insolvent executors, he may recover from the other solvent executor one-half the amount so paid by him, together with all expenses incurred by him in defending the suit in which the decision was made. Marsh v. Harrington, 18 Vt. 150.

Payment must be alleged in a bill for contribution. Huey v. Stewart, 69 Ga. 768.

55. Reber v. Gundy, 13 Fed. 53.

56. Drake v. Paige, 127 N. Y. 562, 28 N. E. 407. Compare Clapp v. Meserole, 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 362, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 281.

57. As to representatives generally see supra, XV.

58. See also supra, XV, A, 5, b; XV, E, 7.

59. See Waldrop v. Pearson, 42 Ala. 636 (holding that where an administrator is charged, on his final settlement, with a note payable to his co-administrator and himself, the equitable title thereto, entitling him to sue thereon in his name alone, is vested in him); O'Neil's Estate, 12 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 463 (holding that the liability of an executor for the acts or negligence of his co-executor will not be determined on a citation to file an account).

Laches may bar the right to force a compulsory accounting. Matter of Barrett, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 45, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 589.

As to funds converted by a co-executor, he is accountable in the probate court as if never so converted. Baldwin v. Carleton, 15 La. 394.

Parties.—Where a co-administrator, against whom a balance is reported, is not before the court, he is not bound, and the administrator who is before the court cannot be charged with the amount in such proceeding. Green v. Hanberry, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,759, 2 Brock. 403.

The administrator of a deceased executor must be made a party before a distribution of assets or decree as to costs may be made, where the deceased executor was also a legatee and the assets are insufficient to pay all legacies in full, although in his absence the accounts of the survivor may be adjusted. Matter of Koch, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 672, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 938.

60. Clarke v. Cotton, 17 N. C. 51; Hendricks v. Thornton, 45 Ala. 299. Compare Chandler v. Shehan, 7 Ala. 251.

61. Kentucky.— Chamberlain v. Chamberlain, 16 S. W. 456, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 151.

North Carolina.— Moffit v. Moffitt, 36 N. C. 124.

Ohio.— Stiver v. Stiver, 8 Ohio 217.

Pennsylvania.— Chew's Appeal, 3 Grant 294.

South Carolina.— Wright v. Wright, 2 Desauss. 242.

Texas.— Davis v. Thorn, 6 Tex. 482.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 1983.

Contra.— Whiting v. Whiting, 64 Md. 157, 20 Atl. 1030 [following Beall v. Hilliary, 1 Md. 186, 54 Am. Dec. 649], holding that a representative cannot maintain a bill in equity against his co-representative to com-where he is a creditor[62] or legatee,[63] and the right in some states has been established by statutes which also provide as to procedure.[64] The amount for which each executor is liable may be determined on a joint accounting.[65]

c. Liability on Joint or Several Settlement of Account. While in some states the settlement of a joint account fixes a joint liability for the amount found due thereunder,[66] the better rule apparently is that such settlement is not conclusive as to individual liability but may be rebutted by evidence showing with what amounts each representative should properly be charged.[67] Where accountings are separate, liabilities merely consequent upon joint possession of assets do not attach,[68] but where a joint liability of co-executors or co-administrators in fact pel the latter to account for and pay over money alleged to be due from him to the estate.

62. King v. Shackleford, 13 Ala. 435.

63. Wright v. Wright, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 242.

64. Beach v. Norton, 9 Conn. 182; Ludlow v. Ludlow, 4 N. J. L. 189; Wood v. Brown, 34 N. Y. 337; Buchan v. Rintoul, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 183; In re Rumsey, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 402; In re Hodgman, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 491. And see Smith v. Lawrence, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 206.

65. White v. Bullock, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 91, holding that the decree upon such accounting is conclusive between the executors as to the amounts received and paid out by each, and cannot be contradicted by the sworn accounts of the executors, produced by them upon the accounting.

The joint account may be surcharged with the amount of the indebtedness of one of the representatives to the estate. In re Maloney, 11 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 341.

Credits may be given an executor chargeable with funds misappropriated by a co-executor of such amounts as the co-executor would have received under the will, but not for payments made to the estate by the co-executor after a time when the first executor was not chargeable for misappropriations, such later payments being properly applied to later misappropriations. Adair v. Brimmer, 95 N. Y. 35.

Where an administrator assumes to pay a claim by giving his note therefor as administrator, without purporting to bind his co-administrator, the liability is not imposed on the co-administrator, although the maker of the note be personally liable, and it should be allowed the maker on an accounting. Boyer v. Marshall, 5 N. Y. St. 431.

Presumptions on accounting.—When a joint account has been passed by two co-executors in which are included assets jointly held and assets charged to the executors severally and there is no evidence showing specifically how the several items of the assets charged were disposed of, it is proper to apply what are the most natural and reasonable presumptions with respect to the order of application as between different classes of assets. These presumptions seem to be: (1) That, the debts being credited as if paid by both executors, the payments were made with assets jointly held so far as these may go; and (2) that as to the application of assets charged to the executors severally, inasmuch as both are equally credited with the payment of the debts and held assets at the time it is presumable that each contributed equally to such payment. Conner v. McIlvaine, 4 Del. Ch. 30.

66. Hengst's Appeal, 24 Pa. St. 413; Ducommun's Appeal, 17 Pa. St. 268; Metz's Appeal, 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 204; Sprenkle's Appeal, 1 Walk. (Pa.) 365; Bitler's Estate, 1 Leg Rec. (Pa.) 221; Buerkle's Estate, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 398. But see Lightcap's Appeal, 95 Pa. St. 455, holding that executors, uniting in an account, are not liable for uncollected securities for which credit is taken therein; and if securities are taken in their name, and collected by one of them, the other is not liable to the legatees therefor, in absence of proof of culpable negligence. In Young's Appeal, 99 Pa. St. 74, it is stated that while the filing of a joint account is an admission of joint liability for the balance, such joint liability is not a continuing obligation which remains fixed and established as a judicial decree and without regard to subsequent circumstances.

The rule is not applicable where the accounting, although purporting to be joint, is in fact separate. English v. Newell, 42 N. J. Eq. 76, 6 Atl. 505 [affirmed in 43 N. J. Eq. 295, 14 Atl. 811]; Beatty v. Cory Universalist Soc., 41 N. J. Eq. 563, 7 Atl. 338. It is to be observed that the rule of the text does not now obtain in New Jersey. See infra, note 67.

67. Conner v. McIlvaine, 4 Del. Ch. 30; Effinger v. Richards, 35 Miss. 540; Gaultney v. Nolan, 33 Miss. 569; Weyman v. Thompson, 52 N. J. Eq. 263, 29 Atl. 685, 30 Atl. 249 [reversing 50 N. J. Eq. 8, 25 Atl. 205, and overruling Tehan v. Maloy, 45 N. J. Eq. 68, 16 Atl. 686; Suydam v. Bastedo, 40 N. J. Eq. 433, 2 Atl. 808; Schenck v. Schenck, 16 N. J. Eq. 174; Laroe v. Douglass, 13 N. J. Eq. 308; Fennimore v. Fennimore, 3 N. J. Eq. 292]. And see Wilson v. Fisher, 5 N. J. Eq. 493; Goble v. Andruss, 2 N. J. Eq. 66.

Admissions of possession of assets or investments in joint accounts establish prima facie liability. Glacius v. Fogel, 88 N. Y. 434 [affirming 25 Hun 227]; Lacey v. Davis, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 402.

68. Merselis v. Mead, 7 N. J. Eq. 557; Irwin's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 294; Davis' Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 206; Rife v. Galbreath, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 204.

exists it cannot be discharged as to one or more of such representatives by means of making separate accountings.[69]

C. Acting Executor or Administrator — 1. In General. As has been noted in many of the duties of administration the representative may act severally and with regard to such duties the question of whether associates act or qualify becomes immaterial.[70]

2. Mutual Agreements or Arrangements. A co-representative cannot by contract absolve his associate or associates from their responsibility to the estate for its proper administration,[71] nor can the associates by a division of their duties apportion their responsibilities,[72] although power to do formal or ministerial acts may be delegated.[73]

3. Failure or Refusal to Qualify. A failure or refusal of some of the persons named as executors to qualify will not prevent the others from acting unless there is an express testamentary provision to that effect.[74]

4. Resignation, Removal, Discharge, Etc. The accepted resignation or removal of a representative casts the burden of the administration on those who remain,[75] and the retiring representative is not responsible for their further acts.[76] In case one of the representatives has become bankrupt, or wasted or misapplied the

69. Hinson v. Williamson, 74 Ala. 180; Fonte v. Horton, 36 Miss. 350; McCoy v. Porter, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 57, holding that where executors, in settling an account, charge themselves jointly, they cannot, after a lapse of six years, settle another account in which they are charged separately, so as to discharge some of them as to creditors. Hess' Estate, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 243.

70. See supra, XXI, A.

71. Wilson v. Lineberger, 94 N. C. 641, 55 Am. Rep. 628; Lees v. Sanderson, 4 Sim. 28, 6 Eng. Ch. 28.

Rule as to sureties.— Sureties may consent to become liable for the joint administration of two administrators under an arrangement that one of them shall do no more than sign all papers presented to her by the other, and if they do so she cannot be held in default as to them for acting accordingly. Palmer v. Ward, 91 N. Y. App. Div. 449, 86 N. Y. Suppl. 990.

72. Fonte v. Horton, 36 Miss. 350 (holding that if executors agree that certain things shall be done by one in the name of both, both are responsible); In re Irvine, 203 Pa. St. 602, 53 Atl. 502; Allen v. Shanks, 90 Tenn. 359, 16 S. W. 715.

73. Roe v. Smith, 42 Misc. (N. Y.) 89, 85 N. Y. Suppl. 527, holding that where two executors were authorized by will to sell the lands of the estate as trustees, a written, unsealed agreement, purporting to be that of such executors, signed by one only of them, who had been authorized by the other executor to act for him in signing the contract, was enforceable.

74. Muldrow v. Fox, 2 Dana (Ky.) 74 (holding that a peremptory direction to testator's executors as executors should be construed as meaning those who undertake the office and act as executors); Clark v. Farrar, 3 Mart. (La.) 247.

Trust powers necessary to the settlement of the estate may be exercised by the executors who qualify. Treadwell v. Cordis, 5 Gray (Mass.) 341; Steinhardt v. Cunningham, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 375, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 627.

Representatives who qualify may sue in behalf of estate. Clark v. Farrar, 3 Mart. (La.) 247; Alexander v. Rice, 52 Mich. 451, 18 N. W. 214; Thompson v. Graham, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 384 (holding that where one executor renounces the others may file a bill in their own names and if it is necessary bring in the executor who refuses to accept the trust before the court by making him a party defendant); Goodyear v. Providence Rubber Co., 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,583, 2 Cliff. 351.

75. Marsh v. People, 15 Ill. 284; Columbus Banking, etc., Co. v. Humphries, 64 Miss. 258, 1 So. 232; Matter of Crossman, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 350.

Marriage of an executrix may by statute terminate her authority and enable a co-executor to act alone. Urban v. Hopkins, 17 Iowa 105. See supra, II, N, 6.

Actions may be brought in the name of the continuing representative, it being averred that the associates have been removed. Green v. Foley, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 441; State v. Tunnell, 5 Harr. (Del.) 182, holding that on the removal of an administrator the co-administrator or succeeding administrator, being entitled to recover all the assets, may sue for them on the administration bond.

The title to a note made to two executors jointly, upon the settlement and discharge of one, vests in the other, and he may maintain an action upon it in his own name, although the executors gave separate bonds, and each administered separately from the other, and the note was taken by the executor discharged, in the transactions of his separate administration. Grinstead v. Fonte, 32 Miss. 120.

76. Marsh v. People, 15 Ill. 284.

Where executors resign after a devastavit by a co-executor, they are not primarily liable for the amount of the devastavit where the continuing executor pays to the estate more than he was liable for when they resigned, although upon his final accounting he fails assets, or dissipated them through misconduct or negligence, a receiver may be appointed.[77]

D. Surviving Executor or Administrator — 1. In General. Where the administration of an estate is granted to several and one dies, the entire authority and control remains with the survivors.[78] And where several executors are nominated in the will, and one dies before the testator or before qualification, the others are entitled to qualify.[79]

2. Collection of Assets. The surviving representative is entitled to collect and hold the custody of the assets of the estate,[80] and may sue to recover them from the representatives of his deceased associate,[81] unless the latter has so to account for the entire estate. Bostick v. Elliott, 3 Head (Tenn.) 507.

77. Jenkins v. Jenkins, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 243 (holding that a receiver would be appointed to act with a solvent executor if he consented, and if he did not consent there would be a reference to a master to appoint a receiver generally); Middleton v. Dodswell, 13 Ves. Jr. 266, 33 Eng. Reprint 294.

Termination of receivership.—Where an executor qualifies after a misapplication of the assets by a co-executor, and subsequently a receiver is appointed without objection, the court will not, on the death of the executor who was guilty of the misapplication, restore the management of the estate to the co-executor. Fraser v. Charleston, 19 S. C. 384.

78. Florida.— Hart v. Smith, 17 Fla. 767.

North Carolina.— McDowell v. Clark, 68 N. C. 117.

Pennsylvania.— Chew's Appeal, 3 Grant 294, holding that in equity, remaining executors can demand the enforcement of a decree against the late co-executor.

Tennessee.— Lewis v. Brooks, 6 Yerg. 167.

Texas.— Saul v. Frame, 3 Tex. Civ. App. 596, 22 S. W. 984.

United States.— Hayes v. Pratt, 147 U. S. 557, 13 S. Ct. 503, 37 L. ed. 279.

England.— Flanders v. Clark, 3 Atk. 509, 26 Eng. Reprint 1093, 1 Ves. 9, 27 Eng. Reprint 875; Balwyn v. Johnson, 3 Bro. Ch. 455, 29 Eng. Reprint 640; Hudson v. Hudson, Cas. t. Talb. 127, 25 Eng. Reprint 700; Moodie v. Bainbridge, 6 Madd. 107; Adams v. Buckland, 2 Vern. Ch. 514, 23 Eng. Reprint 929. But see Jacomb v. Harwood, 2 Ves. 265, 28 Eng. Reprint 172.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 527.

Discretionary powers given to "executors" by official designation only, not expressly joint, survive. Viele v. Keeler, 129 N. Y. 190, 29 N. E. 78 [reversing 13 N. Y. Suppl. 196]; Davis v. Christian, 15 Gratt. (Va.) 11.

79. Burks v. Beall, 77 Ga. 271, 3 S. E. 155; Anderson v. Stockdale, 62 Tex. 54. See supra, II, A, 1, a.

80. Shook v. Shook, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 653 (holding that a surviving executor has an exclusive right to the possession of the property, and, if he is insolvent, an application for relief must be made by the cestui que trust, and not by strangers, such as are the executors of a co-executor); Matter of Aymar, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 428; Cook v. Cook, 34 Fed. 249 (holding that the refusal of a co-administrator to proceed against the estate of a deceased associate, to recover for a devastavit, was not in itself a sufficient ground for a federal court to remove the matter from the surviving administrator's hands, in advance of any action by the surrogate court of the state).

Note to representatives jointly.— A surviving administrator may maintain a suit in his representative capacity to recover on a promissory note executed to him jointly with his co-administrator. Wood v. Evans, 43 Tex. 175. Where a note is made to two executors, not described as such, after the death of one of them his executor cannot join with the survivor in an action thereon. Waters v. Creagh, Minor (Ala.) 128.

Settlement by representative of deceased representative.— Where an action pending on a note of the estate by two administrators is, on the decease of one, settled by his representatives, and money received by them from the debtor under the settlement, the surviving representative has an election to affirm the settlement and pursue the representatives of his associate, or disaffirm it and hold the original debtor still liable. Weathers v. Ray, 4 Dana (Ky.) 474.

Satisfaction of judgment.— Where joint executors recover judgment on a mortgage due their testator, and one of them dies, the survivor has the right to receive payment and satisfy the judgment. Packer v. Owens, 164 Pa. St. 185, 30 Atl. 314.

Where executors who are also sole legatees effect a settlement with a debtor of the estate and take his notes in their individual names, for which they sign a release of the indebtedness as executors, and one of the notes is afterward repudiated by the maker, an action on the portion of the debt represented by it may be brought in the name of an executor who survives for the use of the administrator of the deceased executor payee, and it need not be authorized by the surviving executor where he makes no complaint as to the use of his name. Saeger v. Runk, 148 Pa. St. 77, 23 Atl. 1006.

81. Lawrence v. Lawrence, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 123; Davis v. Thorn, 6 Tex. 482.

The surviving administrator's individual liability to contribute with the deceased administrator upon their joint bond as administrators cannot be determined in a proceeding by the survivor against the legal representatives of her co-administrator to recover funds be-mingled the assets with his own property that they can no longer be distinguished, in which case the right of recovery for the devastavit is in the persons entitled to the fund and not in the surviving representative for their benefit.[82]

3. Debts Due From Deceased Representative. The estate of a deceased representative is to be charged with the assets which were in his hands,[83] and the survivor should present a claim therefor.[84] The estate of a deceased representative is liable only for those acts of administration which occurred during the lifetime of the decedent.[85]

4. Real Property and Interests Therein. The powers of a surviving representative with reference to a disposal of the realty of the estate have been elsewhere treated.[86]

XXII. Representatives of Deceased Executors or Administrators.

A. In General. At common law the executor of a deceased executor succeeds as executor of the will of the first testator;[87] but the deceased executor's administrator does not so succeed; nor does a deceased administrator's executor or administrator succeed to the administration of the estate of the original intestate.[88] In the United States the common-law rule has been followed in a few of the states;[89] but in a majority of the states the courts now hold that the personal longing to the estate. Matter of Scudder, 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 179, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 101.

82. Lawrence v. Lawrence, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 123; Rorke v. McConville, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 291; Bowen v. Miller, 5 Pa. L. J. 270; Matter of McWilliams, 5 Pa. L. J. 265. Compare Lawrence v. Lawrence, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 71.

83. Adams v. Gleaves, 10 Lea (Tenn.) 367 (holding that where a co-administrator dies with funds in his hands belonging to certain legatees, and his estate is solvent, the surviving co-administrator is not liable to account for the funds in the first instance, but recourse should be had to the executor of the deceased administrator and to the sureties on the executor's bond); Carter v. Cutting, 5 Munf. (Va.) 223.

Where one representative dies before the other qualifies.— Where of two executors nominated by will one qualifies and misapplies the assets, and after his death the other qualifies, the latter is not responsible for the misapplication of the funds by the first executor; but the estate of the first executor being solvent, it is the duty of the second executor to collect from it the amount which should have come to his hands as assets of the testator, and for his failure to do so he is liable. Wise v. Murphy, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 365.

Where both representatives dead.— Where one executor has paid over assets to a co-executor, and both have died, an administrator de bonis non must join the representatives of both in a suit on account of the estate in order to avoid circuity of action. Quince v. Quince, 5 N. C. 160.

84. Smith's Estate, 108 Cal. 115, 40 Pac. 1037, holding that where J, an executor and legatee who received moneys of the estate, died, and W, surviving executor, presented no claim against his estate for the same, the court cannot, on the death of W, after the time for presenting claims against the estate of J had expired, deduct upon distribution the amount collected by J out of the share due his estate.

Time for presentation of claim.— A claim for such funds in the possession of a deceased executor should be presented by testator's surviving executor when the account of decedent as testator's executor is filed in court by decedent's administrator, and the presentation of the claim before that time is premature. Hanbest's Estate, 3 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 520.

85. Conner v. McIlvaine, 4 Del. Ch. 30; Towne v. Ammidown, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 535; Brazier v. Clark, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 96; Young's Appeal, 99 Pa. St. 74. Compare Hengst's Appeal, 24 Pa. St. 413.

86. See supra, XXI, A, 12.

87. Brooke v. Haymes, L. R. 6 Eq. 25; In re Delacour, Ir. R. 9 Eq. 86; Barr v. Carter, 2 Cox Ch. 429, 2 Rev. Rep. 98, 30 Eng. Reprint 199; Fowler v. Richards, 6 L. J. Ch. 185, 5 Russ. 39, 5 Eng. Ch. 39, 38 Eng. Reprint 941. And see Barker v. Railton, 6 Jur. 549, 11 L. J. Ch. 372; Jossaume v. Abbot, 15 Sim. 127, 38 Eng. Ch. 127; Jernegan v. Baxter, 5 Sim. 568, 9 Eng. Ch. 568.

Probate of will essential.— Where the executor dies before probate of the will, his executor cannot prove it, but administration with the will annexed must be granted to the residuary legatee, if any, or to the next of kin. Day v. Chatfield, 1 Vern. Ch. 200, 23 Eng. Reprint 412. See also Wilcocks v. Doughty, 29 L. R. Ir. 17.

88. In re Bridger, 4 P. D. 77, 47 L. J. P. & Adm. 46, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 123; In re Martin, 3 Swab. & Tr. 1. See also Twyford v. Trail, 7 Sim. 92, 8 Eng. Ch. 92; In re Hughes, 4 Swab. & Tr. 209, holding that the chain of executorship is not continued by the appointment of an executor by a married woman in the will made under a power.

89. White School House v. Post, 31 Conn. 240; Hart v. Smith, 20 Fla. 58; Windsor v.

representative of a deceased executor or administrator cannot, as such, administer on the estate of the first testator, but that an administrator de bonis non should be appointed.[90]

B. Duties and Liabilities — 1. In General. The general rule is that the personal representative of a deceased executor or administrator should surrender the unadministered assets of the original decedent's estate to the survivor in the original administration or to the administrator de bonis non when appointed;[91] and, for waste and misappropriation by a deceased personal representative, his own estate may be made to respond by appropriate proceedings against his personal representative.[92] In at least one jurisdiction the statute gives the probate court power to compel the executor of a deceased executor to account for unad-

Bell, 61 Ga. 671; Burch v. Burch, 19 Ga. 174; Carrol v. Connet, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 195; Dean v. Dean, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 304. See also Sebre v. Eve, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 402, holding that an administrator of an administrator cannot in that capacity recover a demand due the first intestate. But see Arline v. Miller, 22 Ga. 330.

90. California.— Chevassus v. Burr, 134 Cal. 434, 66 Pac. 568; Wetzler v. Fitch, 52 Cal. 638.

Illinois.— Kinney v. Keplinger, 172 Ill. 449, 50 N. E. 131 [reversing 71 Ill. App. 334].

Maine.— Prescott v. Moss, 64 Me. 422.

Massachusetts.— Tallon v. Tallon, 156 Mass. 313, 31 N. E. 287. See also Brooks v. Rice, 131 Mass. 408.

Michigan.— Robbins v. Burridge, 128 Mich. 25, 87 N. W. 93; Perrin v. Lepper, 49 Mich. 342, 13 N. W. 767.

Mississippi.— Miller v. Womack, Freem. 486, holding also that administrators of an administrator are liable only to the administrator de bonis non of a former estate, and are not liable to the distributees.

New Jersey.— Garret v. Stilwell, 10 N. J. Eq. 313.

New York.— Foster v. Wilber, 1 Paige 537; Fosdick v. Delafield, 2 Redf. Surr. 392; Kilburn v. See, 1 Dem. Surr. 353.

North Carolina.— Duke v. Ferebee, 52 N. C. 10; Ferebee v. Baxter, 34 N. C. 64; Conrad v. Dawlton, 14 N. C. 251. But see Saunders v. Gatlin, 21 N. C. 86; Roanoke Nav. Co. v. Green, 14 N. C. 434.

South Carolina.— Easterly v. Thompson, 1 Rice 346. But see Uldrick v. Simpson, 1 S. C. 283.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 531.

91. Illinois.— Kinney v. Keplinger, 172 Ill. 449, 50 N. E. 131 [reversing 71 Ill. App. 334].

Indiana.— Ray v. Doughty, 4 Blackf. 115.

New York.— In re Fithian, 5 N. Y. St. 375, holding, however, that an executrix of an executor can only be compelled to deliver over such property as has come into her possession or is under her control.

North Carolina.— Ferebee v. Baxter, 34 N. C. 64.

Pennsylvania.— Marshall v. Hoff, 1 Watts 440.

South Carolina.— Davis v. Wright, 2 Hill 560, holding, however, that the personal representative is not liable for interest while there is no representative of the original estate authorized to receive the assets.

Tennessee.— See Williams v. McClund, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 443.

Virginia.— Stark v. Lipson, 29 Gratt. 322; Burnley v. Duke, 2 Rob. 102, holding also that where the administrator of an administrator pays over to the administrator de bonis non of the first estate assets converted by his intestate, with the assent of the parties entitled to recover them of him, and under a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, he is thereby completely protected in such payments.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 531.

92. Alabama.—Draughon v. French, 4 Port. 352, holding, however, that the action should be brought by the distributees or creditors of the estate, and not by the administrator de bonis non.

Arkansas.— Finn v. Hempstead, 24 Ark. 111.

Florida.— Brockenbrough v. Campbell, 5 Fla. 83.

Georgia.— Arline v. Miller, 22 Ga. 330; Welman v. Armour, R. M. Charlt. 6.

Illinois.— Newhall v. Turney, 14 Ill. 338, holding, however, that the action must be brought by the creditors or distributees.

New Jersey.— Crane v. Howell, 35 N. J. Eq. 374 (holding that where one of two executors wastes funds of the estate and dies without accounting, the surviving executor may recover therefor from the deceased executor's personal representative); Moore v. Smith, 5 N. J. Eq. 649.

New York.— Price v. Brown, 10 Abb. N. Cas. 67 (holding that a surviving executor may maintain an action in equity against the foreign executor of the deceased co-executor to compel him to account to the extent of the assets in his hands for the misconduct and breach of trust of the co-executor); Foster v. Wilber, 1 Paige 537.

North Carolina.— Morton v. Ashbee, 46 N. C. 312.

Oregon.— Gatch v. Simpson, 40 Oreg. 90, 66 Pac. 688.

South Carolina.— Trescot v. Trescot, 1 McCord Eq. 417.

Virginia.— Allen v. Cunningham, 3 Leigh 395.

ministered property in his hands belonging to the first estate, and pay the same into court or to his successor in office.[93] Save in exceptional circumstances,[94] heirs, distributees, or legatees cannot maintain a suit against the personal representative of a deceased executor or administrator to recover property of the estate, but an administrator de bonis non should be appointed to bring the action.[95] In no case is the executor of an administrator liable at law to the creditors of the intestate, but it seems that in a proper case he may be made responsible to them in equity on the ground that he is in possession of funds liable to the payment of debts.[96]

2. Collection and Disposition of Assets — a. Lien and Retention For Settlement. In some jurisdictions a lien on assets of the original decedent for charges and outlays on behalf of the original representative is allowed for the benefit of his own estate, and should be enforced by his representative;[97] and the latter cannot be compelled to turn over the estate to the administrator de bonis non of the original estate until he has effected a settlement of his own decedent's estate.[98]

b. Participation in Administration. In jurisdictions where the common-law rule has not been adhered to, the representative of the deceased executor or administrator cannot collect or sue upon assets of the first estate, nor proceed with its general administration,[99] beyond clearing up such personal liability as United States.— Coates v. Muse, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,917, 1 Brock. 539.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 531.

Liability to sureties on original representative's bond.— The representative of a deceased administrator is responsible to the sureties on the administration bond for what they have been compelled to pay on account of a defalcation. Dobyns v. McGovern, 15 Mo. 662.

93. In re Moehring, 154 N. Y. 423, 48 N. E. 818; Mount v. Mount, 68 N. Y. App. Div. 144, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 148 [reversing 35 Misc. 62, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 199]; Matter of Trask, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 825, 27 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 7. See also Budd v. Hardenbergh, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 90, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 537.

94. Wathen v. Glass, 54 Miss. 382 (holding that rents accruing after the death of the ancestor constitute no part of his estate but belong to the heir as an issue out of the land, and accordingly if the administrator collects such rents and dies without accounting, his personal representative is accountable therefor in a suit by the heir); Buchan v. James, Speers Eq. (S. C.) 375 (holding that the next of kin of an intestate may maintain a suit against the representative of the deceased administrator and his estate, without an administration de bonis non, where from the lapse of time, after the death of the administrator, all other concerns of the estate may be presumed to be settled).

A legatee whose share has been converted by the deceased executor to his own use may recover directly of the executor's personal representative. Clawson v. Riley, 34 N. J. Eq. 348; Tucker v. Green, 5 N. J. Eq. 380; Auburn Theological Seminary v. Kellogg, 16 N. Y. 83.

If a deceased executor held funds as trustee under the will and died without accounting to the beneficial legatee, his personal representative is liable directly to the legatee. Felton v. Sawyer, 41 N. H. 202; Auburn Theological Seminary v. Kellogg, 16 N. Y. 83; Goodyear v. Bloodgood, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 617.

95. Boulton v. Scott, 3 N. J. Eq. 231 (holding that an administrator of the executor is not accountable to legatees for the payment of legacies; but such administrator must account with an administrator de bonis non of the testator, and the latter with the legatees); Piatt v. St. Clair, 5 Ohio 555; Gilliland v. Bredin, 63 Pa. St. 393; Drenkle v. Sharman, 9 Watts 485; Trueman v. Trueman, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 101, 4 Pa. L. J. 462. See also Finn v. Hempstead, 24 Ark. 111. See, generally, supra, II, D, 2. In Smith v. Moore, 4 N. J. Eq. 485 [affirmed in 5 N. J. Eq. 649], the personal representative of an executor was compelled to account to a legatee of the original testator in due course of the administration for the assets which came into his hands; and in Young v. Schelly, (N. J. Ch. 1891) 21 Atl. 1049, a legatee was allowed to maintain a bill against the personal representative of the deceased executor for an order to sell lands which were made subject to the legacy; but in the latter case an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed was appointed pending the action and brought before the court, and in neither case was any question raised as to the right to bring the suit.

96. Conrad v. Dalton, 14 N. C. 251.

97. Ray v. Doughty, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 115; Foster v. Bailey, 157 Mass. 160, 31 N. E. 771; Munroe v. Holmes, 13 Allen (Mass.) 109 [reversing 9 Allen 244]; Slaymaker v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 103 Pa. St. 616. See also Bowman's Appeal, 62 Pa. St. 17; Pendergrass v. Pendergrass, 26 S. C. 19, 1 S. E. 45.

98. Foster v. Bailey, 157 Mass. 160, 31 N. E. 771. See also Baldwin v. Dalton, 168 Mo. 20, 67 S. W. 599; Sibbs v. Philadelphia Sav. Fund Soc., 153 Pa. St. 345, 25 Atl. 1119.

99. Alabama.— Dempsey v. Stapleton, 46 Ala. 383.

Michigan.— Robbins v. Burridge, 128 Mich. 25, 87 N. W. 93.

may have been incurred by his own decedent,[1] and realizing upon what should enter properly into a final account and settlement on his part so as to clear his own decedent's estate from further liability for the trust.[2] So far as the expense of settlement of a deceased administrator's account is made necessary by his improper conduct, it falls upon his estate, but otherwise it may be charged in his account.[3]

XXIII. INDEPENDENT EXECUTORS.

A. Administration Independent of Control of Courts.[4] Administration may be had independent of the control of courts of probate jurisdiction under the statutes of Texas[5] and Washington,[6] where the testator has clearly indicated by his will that such is his desire,[7] and the persons taking under the will have assented.[8] An independent administration may be had in a suitable case although Missouri.— Harney v. Dutcher, 15 Mo. 89, 55 Am. Dec. 131.

New Jersey.— Chambers v. Tulane, 9 N. J. Eq. 146, holding that the power to sell given by a will to the executor is not transmitted to his executor.

New York.— Smith's Estate, 17 Abb. N. Cas. 78; Renaud v. Conselyea, 7 Abb. Pr. 105 [reversing 5 Abb. Pr. 346]; Campbell v. Bowne, 5 Paige 34; Gaffney v. Public Administrator, 4 Dem. Surr. 223; Stewart v. O'Donnell, 2 Dem. Surr. 17.

North Carolina.— Ballinger v. Cureton, 104 N. C. 474, 10 S. E. 664, attempt to sue on note executed to original executor as such.

Pennsylvania.— Stair v. York Nat. Bank, 55 Pa. St. 364, 93 Am. Dec. 759; Brooks v. Smyser, 48 Pa. St. 86; Tucker v. Horner, 10 Phila. 122; Com. v. Mears, 5 Leg. & Ins. Rep. 67.

Virginia.— Hinton v. Bland, 81 Va. 588; Allen v. Cunningham, 3 Leigh 395.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 532.

1. Alabama.— See Dempsey v. Stapleton, 46 Ala. 383.

Georgia.— Worrill v. Taylor, 27 Ga. 398.

New York.— See Montross v. Wheeler, 4 Lans. 99, holding that the surrogate has no power to compel an executor to account for property which has been received by his testator as executor, unless it has come into his possession, and then only to the extent that he has received it.

North Carolina.— Jarratt v. Lynch, 106 N. C. 422, 11 S. E. 261; Irvin v. Hughes, 82 N. C. 210.

Ohio.— McCoy v. Gilmore, 7 Ohio 268.

Pennsylvania.— Sibbs v. Philadelphia Sav. Fund Soc., 153 Pa. St. 345, 25 Atl. 1119; Marshall v. Hoff, 1 Watts 440.

Vermont.— Crampton v. Seymour, 67 Vt. 393, 31 Atl. 889; Bottam v. Morton, Brayt. 108.

Virginia.— Turnbull v. Claibornes, 3 Leigh 392.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 532.

2. Mississippi.— Prestige v. Pendleton, 28 Miss. 379.

Missouri.— Cook v. Holmes, 29 Mo. 61, 77 Am. Dec. 548, holding that where a promissory note is made to an administrator in his representative character and he dies, a suit thereon may be properly brought in the name of his executor.

New York.— Caulkins v. Bolton, 31 Hun 458, holding that if an executor lends funds of the estate he represents, and takes securities for the loan in his own name, his executors are entitled to collect them.

North Carolina.— Lancaster v. McBryde, 27 N. C. 421 (holding that where two co-executors died, the executor of the one who died last might recover from the executor of the one who died first a bond belonging to the estate of the first testator); Alston v. Jackson, 26 N. C. 49.

Pennsylvania.— Sibbs v. Philadelphia Sav. Fund Soc., 153 Pa. St. 345, 25 Atl. 1119; Slaymaker v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 103 Pa. St. 616. See also Marshall v. Hoff, 1 Watts 440; Williamson's Estate, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. 452.

South Carolina.— Williams v. Seabrook, 3 McCord 371.

United States.— Daly v. James, 8 Wheat. 495, 5 L. ed. 670.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 532.

3. Walworth v. Bartholomew, 76 Vt. 1, 56 Atl. 101.

4. See supra, I, H, 7.

5. Todd v. Willis, 66 Tex. 704, 1 S. W. 803; Freeman v. Tinsley, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 835.

6. Newport v. Newport, 5 Wash. 114, 31 Pac. 428.

7. Smithwick v. Kelly, 79 Tex. 564, 15 S. W. 486, holding, however, that an intention to remove the administration from the control of the probate court cannot be inferred from the fact that the executors are relieved from giving bond.

Such wills are termed non-intervention wills. In re Macdonald, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111.

The will is to be liberally construed so as to confer on the executor powers requisite to prevent the taking of the estate into court, where the will is specific with regard to the testator's intention that there shall be no administration in court. Cooper v. Horner, 62 Tex. 356.

8. Henderson v. Van Hook, 25 Tex. Suppl. 453.

In case the heirs and legatees do not elect to make the will effectual by giving a bond, the estate is insolvent.[9] The executor is in such case termed an independent executor,[10] and need not qualify by taking an oath.[11]

B. Powers and Liabilities in General. Independent executors have the powers of ordinary executors, free from the supervision and control of the courts, being restrained only by the will.[12] Where they have exercised reasonable discretion they are not responsible for errors in judgment.[13] They cannot delegate discretionary powers.[14]

C. Sale of Property.[15] The executor may, without express authority, sell the property for the payment of the debts of the estate or the discharge of any other trust which is directly or exclusively committed to him by the will,[16] and a statute requiring executors in all cases to report sales of real estate to the superior the estate is to be settled as in other cases. Hogue v. Sims, 9 Tex. 546.

9. Shackleford v. Gates, 35 Tex. 781.

The right to have such administration is vested at the death of testator and cannot be taken away by a subsequent statute providing for an ordinary administration in case the estate appears to be insolvent. State v. Kings County Super. Ct., 21 Wash. 186, 57 Pac. 337.

10. Ellis v. Mabry, 25 Tex. Civ. App. 164, 60 S. W. 571.

11. Connellee v. Roberts, 1 Tex. Civ. App. 363, 23 S. W. 187.

12. Carlton v. Goebler, 94 Tex. 93, 58 S. W. 829; McDonough v. Cross, 40 Tex. 251; Hall v. Reese, 24 Tex. Civ. App. 221, 58 S. W. 974; Newport v. Newport, 5 Wash. 114, 31 Pac. 428.

In case of joint executors those surviving or remaining after failure of others to qualify may exercise the powers granted by the will (Johnson v. Bowden, 43 Tex. 670), especially where the will provides that, in case one of the executors named refuses to act, the other shall not be required to give bond (Terrell v. McCown, 91 Tex. 231, 43 S. W. 2 [reversing (Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 54]).

Community property of the testator and his deceased wife may be administered by an independent executor under a will empowering him to manage the estate of the testator. Carlton v. Goebler, 94 Tex. 93, 58 S. W. 829. As to administration of community property in general see HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Title to the property passes to the executor as trustee. State v. Kings County Super. Ct., 21 Wash. 186, 57 Pac. 337.

13. Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75.

14. Terrell v. McCown, 91 Tex. 231, 43 S. W. 2 [reversing (Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 54], holding, however, that an executor with discretionary power to sell land exercised the power where he determined to sell particular land in small tracts, authorized an attorney in fact to negotiate sales and subdivide to suit purchasers, and considered the sales made by such agent to be advantageous to the estate and assented thereto as they were made and the facts concerning them were reported to him from time to time as the business progressed although the deeds were executed by the attorney in fact.

15. As to sales of the property of decedents generally see supra, VIII, O, 9, d; VIII, P, 2; XII.

16. McDonough v. Cross, 40 Tex. 251. When authorized to sell personalty, and from the proceeds to pay debts, taxes, and expenses of the support and education of testator's children, the executor may contract to give a person procuring the location of an unlocated land certificate belonging to the estate, one-half the land located. Murrell v. Wright, 78 Tex. 519, 15 S. W. 156.

Executor may sell community property to pay community debts. Carlton v. Goebler, 94 Tex. 93, 58 S. W. 829.

An implied power of sale for that purpose may arise from a testamentary direction to pay debts (Carleton v. Hausler, 20 Tex. Civ. App. 275, 49 S. W. 118), or from the mere existence of debts (Masterson v. Stevens, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 37 S. W. 364). An implication of power to sell is not excluded by a provision that the executor shall "manage" the testator's estate "to the best advantage for the benefit of" his creditors. Carlton v. Goebler, 94 Tex. 93, 58 S. W. 829 [distinguishing Blanton v. Mayes, 58 Tex. 422]; Carleton v. Hausler, supra.

Indebtedness for the payment of which sale may be made may include taxes due and accruing, together with money borrowed to pay them (Blanton v. Myers, 72 Tex. 417, 10 S. W. 452), but not a mere claim of the executor unsupported by evidence (Freeman v. Kingsley, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 835), or a liability arising from the testator's unexecuted parol agreement to convey land (Masterson v. Stevens, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 37 S. W. 364).

Where no inventory has been filed, a purchaser from the executor will be protected, heirs and creditors having for a long time failed to assert their rights to secure its filing. Cooper v. Horner, 62 Tex. 356; Willis v. Ferguson, 46 Tex. 496.

Termination of power.— A provision that after payment of debts and the sale of so much of the estate as shall be necessary for the support and education of the children the remainder shall be divided when an older child attains his majority does not terminate the executor's power of sale on the arrival of such child at his majority. Hallum v. Silliman, 78 Tex. 347, 14 S. W. 797.

A conveyance by the vendee at an unauthorized sale to his wife in consideration of court and giving the court power to set aside or confirm such sale has been held not inconsistent with a power given independent executors by another statute to make sales without reports.[17] Where the executor has only an implied power of sale the purchaser must show that the sale was authorized by the facts,[18] but such proof is unnecessary in case of an express power.[19] The purchaser is not bound to see that a proper disposition is made of the proceeds of sale.[20]

D. Filing and Enforcement of Claims. Statutory provisions with reference to the presentation of claims against the estates of decedents do not apply to an estate settled outside of the probate court by an independent executor;[21] nor is it necessary that such an executor should give notice to creditors to present their claims.[22] Action may be brought on the claim and execution issued against the executor if he have assets of the estate in his possession,[23] without prior presenan antecedent debt and the assumption of a community debt does not constitute the wife a bona fide purchaser for value without notice. Freeman v. Tinsley, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 835.

17. Philadelphia Provident L. & T. Co. v. Mills, 91 Fed. 435, construing the Washington statutes.

18. Freeman v. Tinsley, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 835.

19. Terrell v. McCown, 91 Tex. 231, 43 S. W. 2 [reversing (Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 54], holding that in such case the burden of proof is on the heirs claiming the land, as against bona fide purchasers and grantees of the executors, to show that there were no debts when the deeds were made.

20. Blanton v. Myers, 72 Tex. 417, 10 S. W. 452; Cooper v. Horner, 62 Tex. 356. This is the general rule as to all sales by personal representatives. See supra, VIII, O, 9, d, (IX), (D); VIII, P, 2, i; XII, V, 6.

21. In re Smith, (Oreg. 1904) 75 Pac. 133 (construing the Washington statute and holding that notice given would not operate to bar a claim not presented within a year); Bell v. Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 76 S. W. 798.

Verification of the claim by affidavit is unnecessary. Pleasants v. Davidson, 34 Tex. 459.

22. In re Macdonald, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111; Moore v. Kirkman, 19 Wash. 605, 54 Pac. 24.

23. Hart v. McDade, 61 Tex. 208; Lewis v. Nichols, 38 Tex. 54; McKie v. Simpkins, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 278.

Bond must have been given by the devisees showing an election to take advantage of the provision of the will removing the administration from the control of the court in order that a suit may be maintained against the executors or the heirs and legatees in possession of the estate. Carroll v. Carroll, 20 Tex. 731; Hogue v. Sims, 9 Tex. 546.

After the executor has delivered the property to the devisees, free from any claim of his for the purposes of administration, it cannot be contended that it remains in his hands so as to be subject to execution against him on a judgment against him in his representative capacity, although in the proper discharge of his duty he should have retained it in his hands for the payment of debts; and where the executor has sold land belonging to the estate and taken notes in payment in such amounts as represent the individual shares of the devisees and delivered such notes to the devisees, the land cannot subsequently be sold on execution on a judgment obtained against the executor by a creditor of the estate. McDonough v. Cross, 40 Tex. 251. But see Baker v. Beach, 85 Fed. 836, holding that the widow of a deceased stockholder of an insolvent national bank, who by authority of the will undertook to settle the estate as executrix without judicial proceedings, but failed to transfer such stock to herself or other person, could not, on the ground that the estate was fully settled, escape liability as executrix for assessments on such stock to the extent of assets of the estate under her control.

A judgment against the executor in a federal court in an action to enforce the testator's personal liability on corporate stock is enforceable as is any other claim against the estate. In re Macdonald, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111.

The pleadings need not aver that the executor has assets of the estate in his hands. Pleasants v. Davidson, 34 Tex. 459. A general averment, not excepted to, that defendant was the qualified and acting executrix authorizes proof that she was an independent executrix and will support an award of execution against her as such. Ellis v. Mabry, 25 Tex. Civ. App. 164, 60 S. W. 571. In foreclosure of a mortgage executed by an independent executor, an allegation that the will authorized the executor to administer upon the estate without the intervention, order, or advice of any court is sufficient to show that letters testamentary were not required in the settlement of the estate. Miller v. Borst, 11 Wash. 260, 39 Pac. 662. An allegation in one part of a complaint that a person named as executor has executed a note and mortgage will be read with an allegation that he has executed and performed all the terms and conditions of the will, and it will be presumed that such execution was within the administrator's power where it further appears that there was to be an independent administration. Miller v. Borst, 11 Wash. 260, 39 Pac. 662.

In a collateral action the question of whether a judgment was such as to authorize tation of the claim as against the estate.[24] Since the probate court is without power, except such as is especially conferred on it by statute, to control the administration of estates under non-intervention wills, a purported discharge of the executor will not prevent the enforcement of a judgment against him where he has funds of the estate in his hands.[25]

E. Removal or Resignation. Provision is made under the statutes for the removal of a malfeasant executor,[26] after which, or in case of resignation, the administration proceeds under the control of the court as de bonis non.[27] The persons interested may compel an accounting on the executor's removal.[28]

XXIV. EXECUTORS DE SON TORT.

A. Definition and Nature of Office. An executor de son tort is a person who without authority intermeddles with the estate of a decedent and does such acts as properly belong to the office of an executor or administrator,[29] and thereby becomes a sort of quasi-executor, although only for the purpose of being sued or made liable for the assets with which he has intermeddled.[30] The designation is inapt in that it applies the term "executor" to intestate as well as testate estates, and also in that it gives to a person who has merely incurred a certain liability by reason of his intermeddling an official title corresponding with that of a duly appointed representative,[31] and in many states the so-called office of executor de son tort has been abolished by statute, while in others it is considered inconsistent with the prevalent system of administration.[32] execution to issue against the property of the estate in the hands of the executor may be determined by an examination of the pleadings or evidence thereof. Croom v. Winston, 18 Tex. Civ. App. 1, 43 S. W. 1072.

24. Rogers v. Harrison, 44 Tex. 169; In re McDonald, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111; Moore v. Kirkman, 19 Wash. 605, 54 Pac. 24.

25. In re McDonald, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111. Where a partition is not sought the county court has no jurisdiction to adjudicate that the estate has been properly administered, to allow the executor compensation, and to discharge him from further liability on what is purported to be the presentation of a final accounting, unless the will fails to provide a means for partition or fails to distribute the entire estate. Lumpkin v. Smith, 62 Tex. 249.

26. Newport v. Newport, 5 Wash. 114, 31 Pac. 428, holding that where independent executors have failed to pay over income as required by the terms of the will, and have paid it out for other purposes and have not accounted as required by the will, a legatee may maintain an action to require them to take out letters testamentary and administer the estate according to the general law.

A creditor of an heir has no standing to require letters testamentary or of administration to issue, or to have the court cite the executors before it and have the trust faithfully executed. State v. Pierce County Super. Ct., 21 Wash. 575, 59 Pac. 483.

27. Todd v. Willis, 66 Tex. 704, 1 S. W. 803; Bell v. Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank, (Tex. Civ. App. 1903) 76 S. W. 798.

The administrator de bonis non may bring an action against his predecessor for property of the estate, for which the latter has not accounted (Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 Tex. 554, 5 S. W. 75), or to set aside a sale upon the ground that it was fraudulently made to enable the executors to acquire title in themselves (Todd v. Willis, 66 Tex. 704, 1 S. W. 803).

The court is bound to take notice of the proceedings already had by the independent executor and shown in his report. Bell v. Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank, (Tex. Civ. App. 1903) 76 S. W. 798.

28. Murrell v. Wright, 78 Tex. 519, 15 S. W. 156.

29. Barnard v. Gregory, 14 N. C. 223. See also Morrow v. Cloud, 77 Ga. 114; Matter of Richardson, 8 Misc. (N. Y.) 140, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 1079.

For other definitions substantially the same see the following cases:

Arkansas.— Barasien v. Odum, 17 Ark. 122.

Maine.— Hinds v. Jones, 48 Me. 348.

New York.— Mills v. Mills, 115 N. Y. 80, 21 N. E. 714.

South Carolina.— Ex p. Davega, 31 S. C. 413, 10 S. E. 72.

West Virginia.—Morris v. Joseph, 1 W. Va. 256, 91 Am. Dec. 386.

A person acting under void letters of administration may be chargeable as an executor de son tort. Bradley v. Com., 31 Pa. St. 522.

30. Pryor v. Downey, 50 Cal. 388, 19 Am. Rep. 656.

31. See Schouler Ex. § 184.

32. Alabama.— Winfrey v. Clarke, 107 Ala. 355, 18 So. 141; Draughor v. French, 4 Port. 352.

Arkansas.— Barasien v. Odum, 17 Ark. 122.

California.— Bowden v. Pierce, 73 Cal. 459, 14 Pac. 302, 15 Pac. 64.

Kansas.— Fox v. Van Norman, 11 Kan. 214.

B. How Office or Liability Assumed — 1. INTERMEDDLING IN GENERAL. A person makes himself chargeable as executor de son tort by acts of such a character as indicate that he is possessed of authority to administer upon the estate.[33] If a debtor or a stranger takes the goods of a decedent, or in any way intermeddles with them, injuriously to the interests of the estate, he becomes an executor de son tort and is chargeable accordingly.[34] To constitute intermeddling, the person sought to be charged as executor de son tort must take possession or some control of property belonging to the decedent;[35] without this the perform-

Louisiana.— Walworth v. Ballard, 12 La. Ann. 245.

Michigan.— Gilkey v. Hamilton, 22 Mich. 283.

Minnesota.— Noon v. Finnegan, 29 Minn. 418, 13 N. W. 497.

Missouri.— Rozelle v. Harmon, 103 Mo. 339, 15 S. W. 432, 12 L. R. A. 187.

New York.— Babcock v. Booth, 2 Hill 181, 38 Am. Dec. 578. See also Field v. Gibson, 20 Hun 274; Metcalf v. Clark, 41 Barb. 45; Matter of Richardson, 2 Misc. 288, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 978.

Ohio.— Dixon v. Cassell, 5 Ohio 533.

Oregon.— Rutherford v. Thompson, 14 Oreg. 236, 12 Pac. 382.

Texas.— Vela v. Guerra, 75 Tex. 595, 12 S. W. 1127; Green v. Rugely, 23 Tex. 539; Hunt v. Butterworth, 21 Tex. 133, 73 Am. Dec. 223; Ansley v. Baker, 14 Tex. 607, 65 Am. Dec. 136.

Vermont.— Roys v. Roys, 13 Vt. 543.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2582.

33. Connecticut.— Selleck v. Rusco, 46 Conn. 370.

Maine.— Hinds v. Jones, 48 Me. 348.

Mississippi.— O'Reilly v. Hendricks, 2 Sm. & M. 388.

New Hampshire.— See Emery v. Berry, 28 N. H. 473, 61 Am. Dec. 622.

South Carolina.— Givens v. Higgins, 4 McCord 286, 17 Am. Dec. 743.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2583.

By answering as executor to any action brought against himself, or by pleading any other plea than ne unques executor, a person may make himself an executor de son tort. Haacke v. Gordon, 6 U. C. Q. B. 424. See also Jessup v. Simpson, 14 U. C. Q. B. 213. But compare State v. Rogers, 1 Harr. (Del.) 120, holding that where one of two executors named in a will did not qualify, the fact that he appeared with the executor who had qualified and moved to quash a scire facias issued against both as executors was not evidence that he was an executor de son tort.

34. Alabama.— Densler v. Edwards, 5 Ala. 31.

Connecticut.— Bennett v. Ives, 30 Conn. 329; Bacon v. Parker, 12 Conn. 212.

Delaware.— Wilson v. Hudson, 4 Harr. 168.

Indiana.— Wilson v. Davis, 37 Ind. 141.

Kentucky.— Hopkins v. Towns, 4 B. Mon. 124, 39 Am. Dec. 497; Gentry v. Jones, 6 J. J. Marsh. 148; Brown v. Durbin, 5 J. J. Marsh. 170; Johnston v. Duncan, 3 Litt. 163, 14 Am. Dec. 54.

Maryland.— Hagthorp v. Hook, 1 Gill & J. 270.

New Hampshire.— Emery v. Berry, 28 N. H. 473, 61 Am. Dec. 622.

New Jersey.— See McGill v. O'Connell, 33 N. J. Eq. 256.

North Carolina.— Turner v. Child, 12 N. C. 331, 17 Am. Dec. 555.

South Carolina.— Ex p. Davega, 31 S. C. 413, 10 S. E. 72; Givens v. Higgins, 4 McCord 286, 17 Am. Dec. 742; Howell v. Smith, 2 McCord 516.

Vermont.— Shaw v. Hallihan, 46 Vt. 389, 14 Am. Rep. 628.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2583.

A person to whose order money belonging to an estate is paid before an administrator is appointed is accountable therefor, although the money or the avails of it never came to his actual use. Clark v. Pishon, 31 Me. 503.

Levy of distress warrant.— A distress warrant abates by the death of the tenant before its execution, and if it is subsequently levied and the goods sold the landlord subjects himself to the liabilities of an executor de son tort. Salvo v. Schmidt, 2 Speers (S. C.) 512.

Persons who aid or abet or take part in the intermeddling with decedent's estate or who are in collusion with the intermeddler may also be held liable. See Scoville v. Post, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 216.

35. Beavan v. Hastings, 2 Jur. N. S. 1044, 2 Kay & J. 724, 4 Wkly. Rep. 785.

One who takes property belonging to himself through a purchase from decedent before his death is not an intermeddler. Cook v. Sanders, 15 Rich. (S. C.) 63, 94 Am. Dec. 139.

Intermeddling may consist in collecting or taking possession of the assets (Scoville v. Post, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 216; Hubble v. Fogartie, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 413, 45 Am. Dec. 775; Howell v. Smith, 2 McCord (S. C.) 516. See also Turner v. Child, 12 N. C. 331, 17 Am. Dec. 555), selling the property (Wilson v. Hudson, 4 Harr. (Del.) 168; Hubble v. Fogartie, supra; Padget v. Priest, 2 T. R. 97, 1 Rev. Rep. 440. See also Turner v. Child, supra, 17 Am. Dec. 555), paying the debts or otherwise paying out money of the estate (Scoville v. Post, supra; Hubble v. Fogartie, supra; Howell v. Smith, supra; Shaw v. Hallihan, 46 Vt. 389, 14 Am. Rep. 628), or any act which usually evinces a legal control (Hubble v. Fogartie, supra), such as using the property as one's own (Hubble v. Fogartie, supra. See also Bacon v. Parker, 12 Conn. 212), wasting it (Hubble v. Fogartie, supra), or carrying on the business of the decedent ance of acts which are in their nature such as an executor or administrator would do cannot make one an executor de son tort.[36] Intermeddling with real estate will not constitute a person executor de son tort.[37]

2. Acts Done in Good Faith or Under Color of Right. In order for a person's acts to charge him as an executor de son tort, they must show an intention on his part to take upon himself the exercise of those duties which appertain to the office of the legal representative alone. If it clearly appears that the person sought to be charged was merely acting in good faith in attempting to protect his own rights, or under color of authority, he will not as a general rule be charged as executor de son tort.[38] Thus a person will not be charged as executor de son tort where he comes into possession of assets lawfully or with the consent of the rightful administrator,[39] or takes or retains possession of property under color of title in good faith believing his right to be superior to that of the lawful administrator, although his title proves indefensible.[40] But even though one has some color of authority to intermeddle with the goods of a decedent, he becomes executor de son tort if he exceeds his authority.[41]

3. Acts of Kindness and Charity. To establish the liability of an executor de son tort the intermeddling must be of an illegal character.[42] Mere acts of (Perkins v. Sturtivant, (Miss. 1888) 4 So. 555).

36. Carter v. Robbins, 8 Rich. (S. C.) 29, holding that payment of the decedent's debts out of one's own money will not render one liable. See also Morris v. Lowe, 97 Tenn. 243, 36 S. W. 1098.

37. King v. Lyman, 1 Root (Conn.) 104; Mitchel v. Lunt, 4 Mass. 654; Ela v. Ela, 70 N. H. 163, 47 Atl. 414.

If the heir takes possession of the lands of the deceased and sells the same he is not liable as executor de son tort. Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629.

Mortgage interest.— Inasmuch as a mortgage is personalty and goes to the administrator of the mortgagee, the heirs of a mortgagee who enter the mortgaged premises to foreclose and take the rents and profits thereof are intermeddlers with the personal property of the estate of the deceased and executors in their own wrong and are liable for the amounts they have received. Haskins v. Hawkes, 108 Mass. 379.

38. Willingham v. Rushing, 105 Ga. 72, 31 S. E. 130.

Completion of act properly begun.— Where a person sold property as an agent and after the death of his principal collected the proceeds he was not an executor de son tort, for the collection of the money had reference to the agency and was the completion of an act proper and lawful in its commencement. Turner v. Child, 12 N. C. 25, 17 Am. Dec. 555 [distinguishing Padget v. Priest, 2 T. R. 97, 1 Rev. Rep. 440].

39. See Gibson v. Draffin, 77 S. W. 928, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 1332; Boring v. Jobe, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 53 S. W. 763.

40. Alabama.—Ward v. Bevill, 10 Ala. 197, 44 Am. Dec. 478; Densler v. Edwards, 5 Ala. 31.

Georgia.— Willingham v. Rushing, 105 Ga. 72, 31 S. E. 130.

Iowa.— Claussen v. Lafrenz, 4 Greene 224.

Maine.— Smith v. Porter, 35 Me. 287.

Pennsylvania.— Brown v. Brown, 1 C. Pl. 8.

South Carolina.— Cook v. Sanders, 15 Rich. 413, 94 Am. Dec. 139.

Tennessee.— Morris v. Lowe, 97 Tenn. 243, 36 S. W. 1098.

England.— Femings v. Jarrat, 1 Esp. 335.

Canada.— Merchants Bank v. Monteith, 10 Ont. Pr. 467.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2583.

An assignee for the benefit of the creditors who accepted the trust, went into possession of the goods, and sold them, some before and some after the testator's death, and applied the proceeds to the debts mentioned in the assignment, all in good faith and without fraud, cannot be charged as executor de son tort of the deceased assignor, although the deed of assignment was void for want of a proper affidavit as to the list of creditors, etc. Chattanooga Stove Co. v. Adams, 81 Ga. 319, 6 S. E. 695.

A widow who takes possession of and claims property bailed to her late husband as belonging to herself and does not claim as administratrix and pays her husband's debts out of her own property is not an administratrix de son tort. Morris v. Lowe, 97 Tenn. 243, 36 S. W. 1098.

41. Wiley v. Truett, 12 Ga. 588; Ex p. Davega, 31 S. C. 413, 10 S. E. 72, holding that the attorney of persons who held a mortgage on the entire property of the deceased may be held to be executor de son tort as to the excess of the property which remains after satisfying the mortgage debt, even granting that he had authority to seize the property for the purpose of making satisfaction.

Wrongfully retaining property may make one an executor de son tort, although his original possession was lawful. Clarke v. Goodrum, 61 Miss. 731. See also Root v. Geiger, 97 Mass. 178.

42. Brown v. Sullivan, 22 Ind. 359, 85 Am. Dec. 421.

kindness and charity, such as directing the funeral, the payment of funeral expenses, protecting the estate from loss or waste by locking up the goods, feeding the stock, and the like, providing for children, and other acts of a similar character, do not render one chargeable as executor de son tort.[43] But the exemption from liability extends only to acts of this character, and one who takes over the entire estate for arrangement and distribution, including everything in substance that an administrator would be bound to do, may be charged as executor de son tort.[44]

4. Possession Under Conveyance From Decedent. One who holds property under a gift or conveyance void as against the creditors of the deceased donor or grantor, may, so far as defrauded creditors are concerned, be deemed as in a sense an executor de son tort.[45] But it is of course otherwise in the case of one who holds under a bona fide conveyance for a valuable consideration, coupled with an actual transfer of possession, which is not fraudulent in law.[46]

5. Acts of Foreign Executor or Administrator. It has been held that an executor or administrator appointed or qualified in one state may be held liable as executor de son tort if he assumes possession or control of the assets of the decedent in another state in which letters have not been issued to him,[47] but this

43. Connecticut.— Bennett v. Ives, 30 Conn. 329; Bacon v. Parker, 12 Conn. 212.

Illinois.— Rohn v. Rohn, 204 Ill. 184, 68 N. E. 369, 98 Am. St. Rep. 185.

Indiana.— Brown v. Sullivan, 22 Ind. 359, 85 Am. Dec. 421.

Massachusetts.— Pittengill v. Abbott, 167 Mass. 307, 45 N. E. 748 (holding that under the Massachusetts statute the widow may, before letters granted, pay from the estate the ordinary funeral expenses and the reasonable price of a burial lot); Perkins v. Ladd, 114 Mass. 420, 19 Am. Rep. 374.

New Hampshire.— Emery v. Berry, 28 N. H. 473, 61 Am. Dec. 622.

England.— Camden v. Flather, 3 Jur. 57, 1 H. & H. 361, 8 L. J. Exch. 17, 4 M. & W. 378.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2583.

44. Rohn v. Rohn, 204 Ill. 184, 68 N. E. 369, 98 Am. St. Rep. 185. See also Bennett v. Ives, 30 Conn. 329.

In a wild and unsettled region where there is no organized civil government a greater latitude may be allowed as to acts which may be performed without subjecting one to liability as executor de son tort than would be the case in a regularly organized community. See Graves v. Poage, 17 Mo. 91.

45. Alabama.— Simonton v. McLane, 25 Ala. 353; Densler v. Edwards, 5 Ala. 31.

Georgia.— Gleaton v. Lewis, 24 Ga. 209; Clayton v. Tucker, 20 Ga. 452; Trippe v. Ward, 2 Ga. 304; Howland v. Dews, R. M. Charlt. 383. But see Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629.

Maine.— Allen v. Kimball, 15 Me. 116.

Maryland.— Baumgartner v. Haas, 68 Md. 32, 11 Atl. 588; Dorsey v. Smithson, 6 Harr. & J. 61.

Mississippi.— Ellis v. McGee, 63 Miss. 168; Garner v. Lyles, 35 Miss. 176.

New York.— Babcock v. Booth, 2 Hill 181, 38 Am. Dec. 578; Osborne v. Moss, 7 Johns. 161. 5 Am. Dec. 252.

North Carolina.— Sturdivant v. Davis, 31 N. C. 365; Bailey v. Miller, 27 N. C. 444, 44 Am. Dec. 47; Norfleet v. Riddick, 14 N. C. 198, 22 Am. Dec. 717.

Pennsylvania.— Stockton v. Wilson, 3 Penr. & W. 129.

South Carolina.— Tucker v. Williams, Dudley 329, 31 Am. Dec. 561.

England.— Edwards v. Harben, 2 T. R. 587, 1 Rev. Rep. 548.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2583.

Contra.— King v. Lyman, 1 Root (Conn.) 104.

Fraudulent conveyance in another state.— A widow who has possession of property under color of a fraudulent conveyance from her deceased husband may be held to be executrix de son tort in the state whither she has brought the property. Hopkins v. Towns, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 124, 39 Am. Dec. 497.

Conveyance of exempt property.— A person holding under a conveyance from the decedent property which was in his hands exempt from execution cannot be charged as executor de son tort on account of his possession of such property. Winchester v. Gaddy, 72 N. C. 115. See also Frierson v. Wesberry, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 353.

Fraudulent claim.— A person who neither intermeddles with the estate of the deceased, nor holds any of it in his hands, but only sets up a claim against the estate, is not an executor de son tort, although the claim may be a fraudulent one, and although he forbids a sale as a claimant and thereby causes the property to sell for a less price. Barnard v. Gregory, 14 N. C. 223.

46. See Mills v. Mills, 115 N. Y. 80, 21 N. E. 714; O'Reilly v. Hendricks, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 388 [distinguishing Edwards v. Harben, 2 T. R. 587, 1 Rev. Rep. 548]; Debesse v. Napier, 1 McCord (S. C.) 106, 10 Am. Dec. 658.

47. Campbell v. Tousey, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 64.

has been denied on the ground that such representative is not a stranger to the property and cannot be an intermeddler.[48]

6. Acts of Agent or Servant of Intermeddler. One who acts as a mere agent or servant of an executor de son tort cannot be held to the liability of his principal.[49]

7. Acts of Surviving Spouse, Heirs, or Devisees. The acts of a surviving spouse, heir, or devisee of the decedent, done in good faith, are treated with indulgence, especially if the estate gains advantage rather than disadvantage therefrom, and the assets are duly accounted for;[50] but acts done in bad faith, injurious to the interests of the estate or with proceeds unaccounted for, are not shielded merely because of such relationship borne to the decedent.[51]

8. Purchase From Executor De Son Tort. An innocent purchaser of property from the executor de son tort cannot be held to the liability of his vendor,[52] and there is authority for the doctrine that even a vendee of an executor de son tort with notice of his vendor's lack of authority does not thereby become himself an Charging estate.— Although a person may be liable in such cases to be charged as executor de son tort, it does not follow that the creditors can through such an executor charge or bind the estate of the deceased. Campbell v. Sheldon, 13 Pick. (Mass.) 8.

48. Marcy v. Marcy, 32 Conn. 308 [criticizing Campbell v. Tousey, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 64]. See also Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86.

49. Magner v. Ryan, 19 Mo. 196; Givens v. Higgins, 4 McCord (S. C.) 286, 17 Am. Dec. 742. See also Rohn v. Rohn, 98 Ill. App. 509; Outlaw v. Farmer, 71 N. C. 31. But see Stevenson v. Valentine, 27 Nebr. 338, 43 N. W. 107 (holding that an attorney acting as agent for another may be liable to the lawful administrator without reference to whether he accounts to his client or not); Sharland v. Mildon, 5 Hare 469, 10 Jur. 771, 15 L. J. Ch. 434, 31 Eng. Ch. 469.

Agent of executor.— A person who deals with the goods of the testator as agent of the executor cannot be treated as executor de son tort, whether the will has been proved or not. Sykes v. Sykes, L. R. 5 C. P. 113, 39 L. J. C. P. 179, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 236, 18 Wkly. Rep. 551.

50. Alabama.—Ward v. Bevill, 10 Ala. 197, 44 Am. Dec. 478.

California.— Valencia v. Bernal, 26 Cal. 328.

Connecticut.— Bogue v. Watrous, 59 Conn. 247, 22 Atl. 31; Taylor v. Moore, 47 Conn. 278.

Georgia.— Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629; Barron v. Burney, 38 Ga. 264; Semmes v. Porter, Dudley 167.

Indiana.— Brown v. Benight, 3 Blackf. 39, 23 Am. Dec. 373.

Kentucky.— Risk v. Risk, 9 S. W. 712, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 566.

Louisiana.— Dusfreme v. Aime, 4 La. 164.

Maryland.— Sindall v. Campbell, 7 Gill 66.

Missouri.— Lich v. Bernicker, 34 Mo. 93; Magner v. Ryan, 19 Mo. 196.

New York.— Ginochio v. Porcella, 3 Bradf. Surr. 277.

North Carolina.— Outlaw v. Farmer, 71 N. C. 31.

South Carolina.— Frierson v. Wesberry, 11 Rich. 353; Givens v. Higgins, 4 McCord 286, 17 Am. Dec. 742.

Tennessee.— Morris v. Lowe, 97 Tenn. 243, 36 S. W. 1098; Miller v. Birdsong, 7 Baxt. 531.

Texas.— Green v. Rugely, 23 Tex. 539.

Vermont.— Blodgett v. Converse, 60 Vt. 410, 15 Atl. 109.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2584.

A widow may maintain trover for personal property belonging to the estate of her deceased husband of which she had possession several years after his death when no letters of administration had been granted on his estate. Brown v. Beason, 24 Ala. 466. See also Williams v. Crum, 27 Ala. 468.

51. Georgia.— Bryant v. Helton, 66 Ga. 477; Semmes v. Porter, Dudley 167.

Illinois.— Truett v. Cummons, 6 Ill. App. 73.

Indiana.— Wilson v. Davis, 37 Ind. 141; Leach v. Prebster, 35 Ind. 415; Hawkins v. Johnson, 4 Blackf. 21.

Iowa.— Madison v. Shockley, 41 Iowa 451; Schaffner v. Grutzmacher, 6 Iowa 137.

Louisiana.— Badillo v. Tio, 6 La. Ann. 129.

Maine.— White v. Mann, 26 Me. 361.

Mississippi.— Wilbourn v. Wilbourn, 48 Miss. 38.

New Hampshire.—Emery v. Berry, 28 N. H. 473, 61 Am. Dec. 622.

New Jersey.— McGill v. O'Connell, 33 N. J. Eq. 256.

Pennsylvania.— Crunkleton v. Wilson, 1 Browne 361.

South Carolina.— Hubble v. Fogartie, 3 Rich. 413, 45 Am. Dec. 775; Haigood v. Wells, 1 Hill Eq. 59.

Vermont.— Walton v. Hall, 66 Vt. 455, 29 Atl. 803.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2584.

52. Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86. But see Brown v. Bibb, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 434, where the court said, obiter, that the alienees of an executrix de son tort were in no better position than their vendor.

executor de son tort and chargeable as such as if he had directly intermeddled with the property.[53]

9. Administration on Estate of Executor De Son Tort. That a person who administers upon the estate of an executor de son tort thereby makes himself liable as executor de son tort of the original decedent has been both asserted[54] and denied.[55]

10. Intermeddling With Partnership Assets. One who intermeddles with the assets of a partnership after the death of a member of the firm is usually held liable to account to the surviving partner, and hence cannot be properly regarded as an executor de son tort of the deceased partner.[56]

11. When Rightful Representative Exists. As a general rule an intermeddling with the goods of the deceased will not make one liable as an executor de son tort in a suit by creditors if there be an executor or administrator already appointed, for in such case the intermeddler is accountable to the lawful representative.[57] If, however, acts have been performed for which a person cannot be responsible to the rightful administrator but which have interfered with the estate to the injury of creditors alone, he may still be liable as executor de son tort.[58] The fact that there is a lawful representative in one state does not prevent an intermeddler in another state being held liable as an executor de son tort.[59]

C. Rights and Liabilities — 1. In General.[60] Persons who presume with-

A purchaser is not bound to inquire into an executor's title; if there be an appearance of title, it is sufficient. A stranger therefore who sees one acting as executor may fairly presume that there is a will in which the person acting with apparent authority is appointed executor. Johnson v. Gaither, Harp. (S. C.) 6.

53. Smith v. Porter, 35 Me. 287; Paull v. Simpson, 9 Q. B. 365, 15 L. J. Q. B. 382, 58 E. C. L. 364; Hill v. Curtis, L. R. 1 Eq. 90, 12 Jur. N. S. 4, 35 L. J. Ch. 133, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 584, 14 Wkly. Rep. 125. See also Nesbit v. Taylor, Rice (S. C.) 296. Contra, Mitchell v. Kirk, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 319; Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86.

54. McMorine v. Storey, 20 N. C. 83, 34 Am. Dec. 374.

55. Alfriend v. Daniel, 48 Ga. 154.

56. Hunt v. Drane, 32 Miss. 243. See also Palmer v. Maxwell, 11 Nebr. 598, 10 N. W. 524. But see Leigh v. Birch, 9 Jur. N. S. 1265, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 230, 11 Wkly. Rep. 565.

57. Howland v. Dews, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 383; McMorine v. Storey, 20 N. C. 83, 34 Am. Dec. 374; Norfleet v. Riddick, 14 N. C. 221, 22 Am. Dec. 717; Armstrong v. Armstrong, 44 U. C. Q. B. 615. See also Bacon v. Parker, 12 Conn. 212; Willingham v. Rushing, 105 Ga. 72, 31 S. E. 130.

But to this there are exceptions, as where a stranger takes the decedent's goods, and, claiming to be executor, pays or receives debts or pays legacies or otherwise does those acts which none but an executor can do, in which case he becomes executor de son tort, although there be a rightful executor, or administration has been duly granted. So also one who intermeddles before probate or administration granted may be charged as executor de son tort. Howland v. Dews, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 383.

58. Turner v. Child, 12 N. C. 25, 17 Am. Dec. 555.

Fraudulent conveyance.— This is the situation when the person sought to be charged is in possession of goods under a gift or conveyance from the deceased, which is good between the original parties and binding upon the rightful administrator, but fraudulent and void as to creditors. Simonton v. McLane, 25 Ala. 353; Densler v. Edwards, 5 Ala. 31; Norfleet v. Riddick, 14 N. C. 221, 22 Am. Dec. 717; Turner v. Child, 12 N. C. 25, 17 Am. Dec. 555. See also Marler v. Marler, 6 Ala. 367; Howland v. Dews, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 383.

In cases of collusion between the rightful representative and a third person, where there is nothing to prevent the former from being held liable, the doctrine stated in the text has no application. Simonton v. McLane, 25 Ala. 353.

59. Hopkins v. Towns, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 124, 39 Am. Dec. 497; Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86.

One who acts with the consent of the executor in the other state ought not to be liable. Selleck v. Rusco, 46 Conn. 370.

Delivering property to foreign administrator.— Where a citizen of one state dies in another state, the person in whose house he died cannot be held liable as an executor de son tort in a suit by a creditor living in the state of decedent's domicile, by reason of his taking possession of money which the decedent had with him at the time of his death and paying it over, without notice of the creditor's claim, to the administrator in the state of the decedent's domicile. Nisbet v. Stewart, 19 N. C. 24. See also Hopkins v. Towns, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 124, 39 Am. Dec. 497; Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86.

60. Right of retainer see supra, X, D, 3, a, (I), (B).

out authority to administer an estate and who claim to have fully administered are estopped in a proceeding for an accounting from denying their representative character or their liability to account accordingly.[61] An executor de son tort has all the liabilities with none of the privileges which belong to the character of executor;[62] but although he cannot obtain any personal advantage from his intermeddling he can use proper means to protect the assets of the estate.[63] He cannot enforce the collection of notes due the estate of the decedent and therefore cannot be sued for a failure to do so.[64] An executor de son tort is held liable in his dealings with and representing the estate to such diligence as prudent men ordinarily bestow on their own affairs.[65] The rule of strict construction is applied to statutes providing a penalty for intermeddling with the estate of a decedent.[66]

2. Extent of Liability. An executor de son tort is liable for the value of the goods taken and used,[67] but can be charged only with what actually came into his hands.[68]

3. Who May Enforce Liability.[69] The lawful executor or administrator is as a general rule the proper person to enforce the liability of an executor de son tort.[70] According to the common-law rule an executor de son tort may also be

61. See Damouth v. Klock, 29 Mich. 289; Weaver v. Williams, 75 Miss. 945, 23 So. 649.

62. 1 Williams Ex. (7th Am. ed.) 217.

A liability to care for old and disabled slaves imposed upon the owner or his personal representative by statute is not a liability to which an executor de son tort is subjected. Hyde County v. Silverthorn, 28 N. C. 356.

The estate of an executor de son tort is liable after his decease for his intermeddling during his life. Swift v. Martin, 19 Mo. App. 488.

63. McIntire v. Carson, 9 N. C. 544, holding that an executor de son tort can plead the statute of limitations as to a claim against the estate.

64. Guild v. Young, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1901) 62 S. W. 404.

65. Rohn v. Rohn, 98 Ill. App. 509.

66. Currie v. Currie, 80 N. C. 553, holding that a person who merely takes possession of the property of a decedent, but does not actually enter upon the administration of the estate, is not liable to a statutory penalty provided for persons who enter upon the administration of an estate without first having obtained letters therefor.

67. Spruance v. Darlington, 7 Del. Ch. 111, 30 Atl. 663 (liability for appraised value of household goods); Cook v. Sanders, 15 Rich. (S. C.) 63, 94 Am. Dec. 139; Leach v. House, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 42; Baysand v. Lovering, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,147, 1 Cranch C. C. 206.

Liability for note.— One who takes a note good and collectable at the time of the owner's death and holds it as executor de son tort and neglects to collect it until the maker becomes insolvent is liable to the rightful administrator for the amount of the note; but if the note is worthless at the time of the owner's death, the executor de son tort is liable only for the non-delivery of the note. Root v. Geiger, 97 Mass. 178.

Liability for rent of land.— A person appointed executor who has received the rent of land devised to be sold, but refuses the appointment as executor, is responsible to the administrator with the will annexed for such rents. Steel v. Steel, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 231.

Where a creditor becomes executor de son tort of his debtor, the value of the debtor's assets illegally taken into the creditor's hands are regarded as a payment pro tanto of the debt. Finnell v. Meaux, 3 Bush (Ky.) 449.

Interest.— An executor de son tort is liable for interest from the time he took possession of the assets (Kinard v. Young, 2 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 247) at the highest legal rate (Walton v. Hall, 66 Vt. 455, 29 Atl. 803).

Delivery of specific articles.— Where a testator devised furniture to his wife for life, remainder to a son who died, and subsequently the wife died leaving the furniture in the house of another son who on coming of age took possession of the house, it was held that he was not to be charged in money for the furniture, but that he might deliver it long after taking possession, to the representative of his deceased brother. Cary v. Macon, 4 Call (Va.) 605.

68. Hill v. Henderson, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 688; Stockton v. Wilson, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 129; Cook v. Sanders, 15 Rich. (S. C.) 63, 94 Am. Dec. 139; Kinard v. Young, 2 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 247. See also Barasien v. Odum, 17 Ark. 122; Pulliam v. Pulliam, 10 Fed. 53; Lowry v. Fulton, 3 Jur. 454, 8 L. J. Ch. 314, 9 Sim. 104, 16 Eng. Ch. 104.

One executor de son tort may be liable for the acts of another which he has authorized or directed, and his liability is not limited to the value or amount of goods or money actually received by him. Kenny v. Ryan, [1897] 1 Ir. 513.

69. See also infra, XXIV, E, 6.

70. Delaware.— Spruance v. Darlington, 7 Del. Ch. 111, 30 Atl. 663.

Kentucky.— Steel v. Steel, 4 J. J. Marsh. 231.

Maine.— Snow v. Snow, 49 Me. 159.

Maryland.— See Hagthorp v. Hook, 1 Gill & J. 270.

Massachusetts.— Root v. Geiger, 97 Mass. 178.

sued by creditors of the decedent;[71] but under modern statutes in a number of states an intermeddler is not liable to the creditors of the deceased but only to the personal representative.[72] By the general rule the heirs or next of kin as such cannot enforce the liability of an executor de son tort.[73]

D. Effect of Acts — 1. How Far Binding on Lawful Representative. The true representative is bound by those acts of an executor de son tort which are lawful and such as the true representative would be bound to perform in the due course of administration,[74] but not by any other acts of the intermeddler.[75]

2. Sale. A purchaser from an executor de son tort gets no better title than his vendor had and therefore such a purchase, although bona fide, is no defense as against the rightful administrator seeking to recover in trespass or trover.[76]

Pennsylvania.— Piening's Estate, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. 384.

Tennessee.— See David v. Bell, Peck 135.

United States.— Roggenkamp v. Roggenkamp, 68 Fed. 605, 15 C. C. A. 600, under Nebr. St. (1891) § 1244.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2591.

Estoppel.— In an action by the widow of a deceased person as his administratrix to recover against defendant for the conversion of property of the estate, defendant may show that he acted under the direction of the widow, before her appointment as administratrix and that he used the proceeds of the property in payment of debts of the estate. Rutherford v. Thompson, 14 Oreg. 236, 12 Pac. 382. But in Sebring v. Keith, 2 Hill (S. C.) 340, where at the death of an intestate one present took possession of the cash on hand with a view to its safe-keeping, it was held that an action for money had and received would lie by the administrator, although he was present at the time of the taking of the money and made no objection.

71. Alabama.— Densler v. Edwards, 5 Ala. 31.

Colorado.—Ebbinger v. Wightman, 15 Colo. App. 439, 62 Pac. 963.

Indiana.— Ferguson v. Barnes, 58 Ind. 169, holding that when an action is instituted by a creditor, it should not be for his sole benefit, but for the benefit of all the creditors.

Iowa.— Elder v. Littler, 15 Iowa 65.

Kentucky.— See McKenzie v. Pendleton, 1 Bush. 164. But compare O'Bannor v. Cord, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 398.

Massachusetts.— See Mitchel v. Lunt, 4 Mass. 654.

Mississippi.— Wilbourn v. Wilbourn, 48 Miss. 38.

New York.— See Lockwood v. Stockholm, 11 Paige 87.

North Carolina.— See Morrison v. Smith, 44 N. C. 399.

Pennsylvania.— See Power's Estate, 14 Phila. 289.

England.— Coote v. Whittington, L. R. 16 Eq. 534, 42 L. J. Ch. 846, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 206, 21 Wkly. Rep. 837.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2592.

72. Winfrey v. Clarke, 107 Ala. 355, 18 So. 141 [overruling Cameron v. Cameron, 82 Ala. 392, 3 So. 148; Dunlap v. Newman, 47 Ala. 429]; Rust v. Witherington, 17 Ark. 129; Barasien v. Odum, 17 Ark. 122; McCoy v. Payne, 68 Ind. 327; Rutherford v. Thompson, 14 Oreg. 236, 12 Pac. 382.

73. Ferguson v. Barnes, 58 Ind. 169; Muir v. Leake, etc., Orphan House, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 477; Haley v. Thames, 30 S. C. 270, 9 S. E. 110, holding that distributees of an estate cannot without administration charge their co-distributees as executors de son tort in the court of probate. See also Davis v. Davis, 56 Ga. 37; Lee v. Wright, 1 Rawle (Pa.) 149.

The proper course for heirs to pursue is to procure the appointment of an administrator and have a suit instituted in his name. Muir v. Leake, etc., Orphan House, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 477; Farley v. Farley, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 506.

74. Thomson v. Harding, 2 E. & B. 630, 18 Jur. 58, 22 L. J. Q. B. 448, 1 Wkly. Rep. 468, 75 E. C. L. 630, holding that a proper payment to a creditor of the estate will bind the true representative.

The lawful representative can ratify and make valid by relation all those acts of the executor de son tort which would have been valid had he been the lawful administrator. Outlaw v. Farmer, 71 N. C. 31.

75. Buckley v. Barber, 6 Exch. 164, 15 Jur. 63, 20 L. J. Exch. 114.

The lawful representative cannot be compelled to perform contracts made by persons with an executor de son tort of the same estate. Barr v. Cubbage, 52 Mo. 404.

An executor de son tort cannot make a settlement by accord and satisfaction of a debt or demand due the estate of a decedent so as to bind the rightful executor or those legally authorized to receive payment or to make such settlement. Caperton v. Ballard, 4 W. Va. 420.

76. Alabama.—Carpenter v. Going, 20 Ala. 587.

Delaware.— Wilson v. Hudson, 4 Harr. 168.

Georgia.— See Wylly v. King, Ga. Dec. Pt. II, 7.

Massachusetts.— See Campbell v. Sheldon, 13 Pick. 8.

New Hampshire.— See Giles v. Churchill, 5 N. H. 337.

England.— See Mountford v. Gibson, 4 East 441, 1 Smith K. B. 129.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2590.

Nevertheless a bona fide purchaser at a public sale acquires at least a possession and a right of possession which he can maintain against all the world except the rightful administrator, and as against him the purchaser acquires an actual possession of which he cannot be lawfully deprived except by suit.[77] A purchaser on credit from an executor de son tort can defend against an action by the vendor for the price by showing that he has paid a part thereof to the legally appointed administrator on demand and given his note to the administrator for the balance.[78]

3. Effect of Subsequent Issue of Letters to Executor De Son Tort. Where an executor de son tort subsequently takes out letters testamentary or of administration, such letters relate back so as to validate all acts previously performed in the interest of the estate;[79] and contracts previously made by him may be thereafter ratified by him either expressly[80] or impliedly,[81] and when ratified may be enforced.[82] So also a payment to the executor de son tort binds the estate, if he is subsequently granted letters;[83] and it has been held that a judgment against an executor de son tort will be valid against him after he has regularly administered and will bind the estate unless fraud or collusion be shown.[84] A person who is sued as executor de son tort cannot defeat the action by taking out letters pending the suit, although he thus renders legitimate all his acts ab initio.[85]

E. Actions and Remedies — 1. Right of Action. An executor de son tort is an executor only for the purpose of being sued, or made liable for the assets with which he has intermeddled,[86] and he cannot himself bring an action.[87] And

That the executor de son tort afterward paid debts of the estate with his own money does not make the sale valid so as to pass title to a vendee with notice. Roumfort v. McAlarney, 82 Pa. St. 193. But see Hostler v. Scull, 3 N. C. 179, where it was said that if an executor de son tort takes property and pays debts with it, the rightful executor shall not disturb the purchaser, because if he could recover the property would have to be disposed of to pay the debts.

77. Woolfork v. Sullivan, 23 Ala. 548, 48 Am. Dec. 305.

78. Rockwell v. Young, 60 Md. 563.

79. Connecticut.— Olmsted v. Clark, 30 Conn. 108.

Georgia.—Carnochan v. Abrahams, T. U. P. Charlt. 196, holding that executorship de son tort does not per se debar from obtaining letters.

Illinois.— McClure v. People, 19 Ill. App. 105; Moore v. Wright, 4 Ill. App. 443.

Massachusetts.— Hatch v. Proctor, 102 Mass. 351; Shillaber v. Wyman, 15 Mass. 322.

Missouri.— Magner v. Ryan, 19 Mo. 196.

New Hampshire.—Emery v. Berry, 28 N. H. 473, 61 Am. Dec. 622; Giles v. Churchill, 5 N. H. 337, holding that where the heirs of an intestate agreed to administer his estate without letters of administration and one of them paid a creditor of the deceased in goods belonging to the estate, and afterward another of the heirs was appointed administrator, he could not maintain trover against the creditor for the goods he had received, having previously assented to the act.

New York.— Priest v. Watkins, 2 Hill 225, 38 Am. Dec. 584; Rattoon v. Overacker, 8 Johns. 126; Farrell's Estate, Tuck. Surr. 110. See also Ingram v. Young, 1 Hun 487, 3 Thomps. & C. 491.

Pennsylvania.— Sellers v. Licht, 21 Pa. St. 98.

South Carolina.— Witt v. Elmore, 2 Bailey 595.

Texas.— Lockhart v. White, 18 Tex. 102.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2593.

Contra.— Wilson v. Hudson, 4 Harr. (Del.) 168, holding that the fact that the executor de son tort subsequently administered the estate did not give title to a person who bought from him before he was a rightful administrator.

Repudiation of agreement.— An executor de son tort to whom administration is subsequently granted may repudiate an agreement made by him to surrender a term of years vested in the intestate. Doe v. Glenn, 1 A. & E. 49, 3 L. J. K. B. 161, 3 N. & M. 837, 28 E. C. L. 48.

80. Hatch v. Proctor, 102 Mass. 351.

81. See Sellers v. Licht, 21 Pa. St. 98.

82. Hatch v. Proctor, 102 Mass. 351; Sellers v. Licht, 21 Pa. St. 98.

83. Priest v. Watkins, 2 Hill (N. Y.) 225, 38 Am. Dec. 584.

84. Walker v. May, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 22.

85. Rohn v. Rohn, 98 Ill. App. 509; Rattoon v. Overacker, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 126; Vaughan v. Browne, And. 328, 2 Str. 1106; Vernon v. Curtis, 2 H. Bl. 18, 3 T. R. 587, 1 Rev. Rep. 774.

86. Pryor v. Downey, 50 Cal. 388, 19 Am. Rep. 656.

87. Francis v. Welsh, 33 N. C. 215; Gadsby v. Donelson, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 370; Cameron v. Cameron, 23 U. C. C. P. 289.

Cannot recover payments in excess of assets received.— Although the amount of the payments made by an executor de son tort in discharge of the debts of a decedent is in excess of the assets received by him, he cannot recover from the representative of the decedent whose debts he paid. De la Guerra v. Packard, 17 Cal. 182.

since a set-off to a debt is allowed simply to avoid a cross action, an executor de son tort cannot, in an action by a creditor, set off a debt due from such creditor to the decedent.[88] The proper course for a creditor who takes out administration on the estate of his debtor who made a fraudulent conveyance is to sue the fraudulent vendee as executor de son tort. He cannot seize the property in the vendee's hands.[89] In Louisiana it is not now necessary that a person who has taken unauthorized possession of the effects of a vacant succession or a part thereof, with intent to convert the same to his own use, should be criminally prosecuted and convicted for such action, before a creditor of the succession can institute a suit to hold such person liable for a debt due him by the succession.[90]

2. DEFENSES. Although an executor de son tort cannot by his own wrongful act acquire any benefit, yet he is protected in all acts not for his own benefit which a rightful executor might do.[91] He is entitled to be credited with all lawful claims which existed against the estate and which he had discharged, and may therefore show the payment of debts in defense to a suit against him;[92] but it is incumbent upon him to show that he has applied the assets which have come into his hands in the same manner in which they would have been lawfully applied by a rightful representative,[93] and he will be allowed no set-off or credit if the debts which he has discharged were not legal claims against the estate.[94] Where a creditor of a deceased grantor brings a bill in equity against a fraudulent or voluntary grantee on the theory that he is an executor de son tort, defendant may set up any defense which might be made by the decedent himself,

88. Cameron v. Cameron, 23 U. C. C. P. 289.

89. Osborne v. Moss, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 161, 5 Am. Dec. 252.

90. Peet v. Nalle, 30 La. Ann. 949. But formerly this was necessary. Carl v. Poleman, 12 La. Ann. 344; Walworth v. Ballard, 12 La. Ann. 245; McMasters v. Place, 8 La. Ann. 431.

91. Brown v. Walter, 58 Ala. 310. And see Risk v. Risk, 9 S. W. 712, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 566.

92. Illinois.— McConnell v. McConnell, 94 Ill. 295.

Indiana.— Reagan v. Long, 21 Ind. 264.

Kentucky.— McMeekin v. Hynes, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 177.

Louisiana.— Hewes v. Baxter, 48 La. Ann. 1303, 20 So. 701, 36 L. R. A. 531.

Maine.— Tobey v. Miller, 54 Me. 480.

Maryland.— See Glenn v. Smith, 2 Gill & J. 493, 20 Am. Dec. 452.

Massachusetts.— Weeks v. Gibbs, 9 Mass. 74.

New Jersey.— McMonigle v. McMonigle, 42 N. J. Eq. 64, 6 Atl. 314.

Pennsylvania.— Cooper v. Eyrich, 41 Wkly. Notes Cas. 370. See also Meigan v. McDonald, 10 Watts 287.

South Carolina.— Cook v. Sanders, 15 Rich. 63, 94 Am. Dec. 139. Contra, Howell v. Smith, 2 McCord 516.

Tennessee.— Winn v. Slaughter, 5 Heisk. 191.

United States.— Roggenkamp v. Roggenkamp, 68 Fed. 605, 15 C. C. A. 600.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators." § 2595.

But see Bryant v. Helton, 66 Ga. 477, holding that, since the adoption of the code, debts voluntarily paid by an executor de son tort cannot be set off in an action by a distributee.

If the estate is insolvent, it is no defense to an executor de son tort that he has paid debts to double the amount of assets received by him. Neal v. Baker, 2 N. H. 477.

Payment only to the value of goods sold may be shown in trover by a rightful administrator against an executor de son tort; he cannot give in evidence in mitigation of damages payments of debts to the value of goods still in his possession. Hardy v. Thomas, 23 Miss. 544, 57 Am. Dec. 152.

Purchaser cannot show payment of debts.— In Carpenter v. Going, 20 Ala. 587, without deciding whether or not an executor de son tort, when sued in trover by a rightful administrator could show payment of debts of the decedent by him in mitigation of damages, it was held that when such an action is brought against a voluntary purchaser from an executor de son tort, the purchaser cannot show in mitigation of damages that since his purchase the executor de son tort has paid debts which the administrator was bound to pay in due course of administration.

93. Gay v. Lemle, 32 Miss. 309, holding that therefore if it appears that he has paid one particular debt not entitled to preference, leaving others unpaid, he cannot claim that he has done what the law required to be done with the assets in due course of administration but must be liable as executor de son tort to the other creditors. See also Bennett v. Ives, 30 Conn. 329; Snow v. Snow, 49 Me. 159.

94. Holeton v. Thayer, 89 Ill. App. 184; Crispin v. Winkleman, 57 Iowa 523, 10 N. W. 919; Weaver v. Williams, 75 Miss. 945, 23 So. 649. See also Spruance v. Darlington, 7 Del. Ch. 111, 30 Atl. 663.

if living, or by his rightful personal representative.[95] If one without authority sells the goods of an estate and receives the money therefor it is no defense to an action for its recovery, instituted against him by the administrator, that the sale was void, and vested no title in the purchaser.[96]

3. Venue. An executor de son tort is liable to be sued in any jurisdiction where he is found with property of the decedent.[97]

4. Time to Sue and Limitations. A statute protecting personal representatives from suit until after the expiration of a certain time does not apply to executors de son tort, but they may be sued immediately after intermeddling.[98] An action may be brought against an executor de son tort if a cause of action existed against his decedent until the action is barred by the lapse of the statutory time after a lawful grant of administration.[99] Where the relationship of the decedent to another was such that the statute of limitations would not run in the decedent's favor, it will not run in favor of his executor de son tort.[1]

5. Form of Remedy — a. Action at Law. The rightful administrator may pursue the executor de son tort in a court of law either by trespass for unlawfully taking the goods of the intestate,[2] or by trover for their conversion;[3] and debt has been held a proper form of action by a creditor in certain cases.[4] An action against an executor de son tort by a creditor has been held to be founded on contract and not on tort,[5] and it has also been held that if a person sells the goods of an estate before administration is granted and receives the money therefor, an administrator subsequently appointed may sue him in trover for conversion, or waive the tort and bring assumpsit for money had and received.[6]

b. Bill in Equity. The rule that a creditor may come into a court of chancery against a personal representative has been recognized as applying to an executor de son tort.[7] If the person sought to be charged as executor de son tort holds the property in question under a fraudulent conveyance the remedy in equity for the creditor is particularly proper, for the rightful representative is bound by the fraud of the decedent.[8] Bills in chancery against executors de son tort by rightful personal representatives,[9] and by heirs and distributees[10] have also been sustained.

95. Means v. Hicks, 65 Ala. 241.

96. Upchurch v. Norsworthy, 15 Ala. 705.

97. Hopkins v. Towns, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 124, 39 Am. Dec. 497 (holding that although defendant took the property into another state through her agent, not in person, she was liable precisely to the same extent as if she had gone to the other jurisdiction herself and brought the property to the state of the forum); Foster v. Nowlin, 4 Mo. 18.

98. Chambers v. Davison, 1 Hill (S. C.) 50.

99. Brown v. Leavitt, 26 N. H. 493.

1. Dawson v. Callaway, 18 Ga. 573.

2. Rockwell v. Saunders, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 473.

3. Upchurch v. Norsworthy, 15 Ala. 705; Rockwell v. Saunders, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 473. See also Peet v. Nalle, 30 La. Ann. 949.

4. Bellows v. Goodall, 32 N. H. 97. See also Norfolk v. Gantt, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 435.

5. Martin v. Hand, 11 R. I. 306.

6. Upchurch v. Norsworthy, 15 Ala. 705.

7. Alabama.— Watts v. Gayle, 20 Ala. 817.

Kentucky.— Gentry v. Jones, 6 J. J. Marsh. 148.

Maryland.— See Baumgartner v. Haas, 68 Md. 32, 11 Atl. 588; Bentley v. Cowman, 6 Gill & J. 152, plaintiff entitled to an accounting under prayer for general relief.

Tennessee.— Russel v. Lanier, 4 Hayw. 289, the court saying that the creditor could either go into equity or could pursue his remedy at law and that a bill in equity was proper both to ascertain the debt and to prove the fraud and to have a decree for satisfaction.

Virginia.— See Hansford v. Elliott, 9 Leigh 79.

England.— Newland v. Champion, 1 Ves. 105, 27 Eng. Reprint 920.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2594.

Contra.— Pleasants v. Glasscock, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 17 (holding that there is a plain and adequate remedy at law); Ansley v. Baker, 14 Tex. 607, 65 Am. Dec. 136.

8. Watts v. Gayle, 20 Ala. 817; Ellis v. McGee, 63 Miss. 168; Garner v. Lyles, 35 Miss. 176.

9. See Thorn v. Tyler, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 504 (under a statute providing that an intermeddler might be pursued either at law or in equity by the creditors or other persons injured); Seay v. Shue, 83 Va. 838, 3 S. E. 801. But compare Abernathy v. Bankhead, 71 Ala. 190.

10. Farve v. Graves, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 707. See also Bryant v. Peters, 3 Ala. 160.

c. Probate Proceedings. It has been held that an executor de son tort cannot be cited to account in a probate court.[11]

6. Parties. It has been held that a bill cannot be maintained by distributees against an executor de son tort who has sold property of the decedent, to have an account and obtain a decree for the proceeds, unless the rightful personal representative is a party plaintiff or defendant.[12] A laborer may, however, enforce his lien on crops in the hands of a wrong-doer after the death of his employer, without bringing in the personal representative of such employer.[13] The distributees are not necessary parties to a bill by a creditor against an executor de son tort who is a fraudulent vendee.[14] If there be a lawful executor, he and the executor de son tort may be joined in an action by a creditor.[15] An executor de son tort is not a proper party defendant to a bill for relief against a judgment at law in favor of the deceased.[16] On the death of a defendant in an action of debt a summons may issue to his executor de son tort to appear and defend the action, if there be no legal executor or administrator of the deceased.[17]

7. Pleadings. The rule as usually laid down is that in actions against executors de son tort the complaint or declaration should charge them as executors generally,[18] but it has been said in a late case that under the practice as it now prevails the creditor of the decedent brings his action against the executor de son tort, alleges his intermeddling without lawful appointment and possession of the goods of the deceased, states his cause of action, and prays judgment;[19] and it has also been held that a complaint not alleging that defendant came into possession of property of a decedent unlawfully, or showing that he was an intermeddler in the estate of such decedent, is insufficient to charge him as an executor de son tort.[20] The complaint of a creditor against one who is alleged to have intermeddled with and converted the property of the decedent must affirmatively show that the creditors of the decedent were entitled to have the property go into the hands of an administrator.[21] The creditor should allege as nearly as possible the amount of money or property of the decedent in the hands of defendant.[22] In a suit for a penalty under a statute which provides that no person shall enter upon the administration of any decedent's estate until he has obtained letters therefor, under a prescribed penalty, a complaint which fails to state that defendant entered upon the administration of the estate without obtaining letters is demurrable.[23] An amendment of the complaint to conform to the evidence, which does not substantially change the claim or present any new issue, will be allowed.[24]

11. Huff's Estate, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 39; Power's Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 289.

12. Nease v. Capehart, 8 W. Va. 95.

13. Pugh v. Baker, 127 N. C. 2, 37 S. E. 82.

14. Watts v. Gayle, 20 Ala. 817.

15. See Stockton v. Wilson, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 129; Chaplin v. Hopkins, 3 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 182.

16. Pemberton v. Riddle, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 401.

17. Norfolk v. Gantt, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 435.

18. Kentucky.— Brown v. Durbin, 5 J. J. Marsh. 170.

Maine.— Sawyer v. Thayer, 70 Me. 340.

Mississippi.— Pleasants v. Glasscock, Sm. & M. Ch. 17.

Pennsylvania.— Stockton v. Wilson, 3 Penr. & W. 129.

South Carolina.— Gregory v. Forrester, 1 McCord Eq. 318.

Utah.— Hailey First Nat. Bank v. Lewis, 12 Utah 84, 41 Pac. 712.

Vermont.— Buckminster v. Ingham, Brayt. 116.

England.— See Meyrick v. Anderson 14 Q. B. 719, 14 Jur. 457, 19 L. J. Q. B. 231, 68 E. C. L. 719.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2599.

19. Ebbinger v. Wightman, 15 Colo. App. 439, 62 Pac. 963, where, however, the court recognized that the rule is usually laid down as first stated.

20. McAfee v. Montgomery, 21 Ind. App. 196, 51 N. E. 957. See also In re Lovett, 3 Ch. D. 198, 45 L. J. Ch. 768, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 93, 24 Wkly. Rep. 982.

21. Kahn v. Tinder, 77 Ind. 147; Goff v. Cook, 73 Ind. 351.

22. Ebbinger v. Wightman, 15 Colo. App. 439, 62 Pac. 963.

23. Currie v. Currie, 90 N. C. 553.

24. Sipe v. Sipe, 14 Ind. 477, holding that where the complaint of a rightful administrator against an intermeddler laid the wrongful acts on a day certain, which was after the date of plaintiff's letters of administration, an amendment by substituting a day before the letters were granted was properly allowed.

The commonest pleas by an executor de son tort are ne unques executor,[25] plene administravit,[26] plene administravit præter,[27] and non assumpsit.[28] Sometimes two or more of these pleas are joined.[29] The pleading of other pleas in addition to ne unques executor is not an admission by defendant that he is liable as executor of his own wrong.[30] A plea to an action by a creditor, that since the institution of the suit an administrator had been appointed, is bad unless it contains an averment that the assets in the defendant's hands had been delivered to the administrator either before or after the institution of the action.[31] A plea in abatement comes too late after the cause has been tried on defendant's plea of the general issue and the facts have been found by the court and when a legal judgment is impending.[32]

8. Evidence. In an action against a person alleged to be the fraudulent vendee of the deceased and therefore his executor de son tort, a statement made by the vendor after the sale of the property and while it still remained in his possession that the property was his is admissible.[33] Records of judgments against the deceased at the time he made the alleged fraudulent sale are admissible to show his indebtedness at the time.[34] Although a defendant sued as executor de son tort may give in evidence under the general issue payments of the decedent's debts, yet his book of original entries is inadmissible to prove the payment of the debts.[35] Evidence to charge a person as executor de son tort need not be sufficient to warrant a conviction of felony.[36] Evidence is admissible to show that a defendant is an executor de son tort, although it is not so charged in the pleadings.[37]

9. Trial. Whether a person is an executor de son tort is partly a question of law and partly a question of fact.[38] The court determines what state of facts will constitute a person executor of his own wrong,[39] and the jury determines whether such facts exist in the particular case.[40] When defendant pleads plene

25. See Simonton v. McLane, 25 Ala. 353; King v. Lyman, 1 Root (Conn.) 104; Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629; Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86.

26. See Bennett v. Ives, 30 Conn. 329; State v. Rogers, 1 Harr. 120; Glenn v. Smith, 2 Gill & J. 493, 20 Am. Dec. 452 (when the suit is by a creditor, but not when the lawful representative sues); McIntire v. Carson, 9 N. C. 544; Turner v. Child, 12 N. C. 331, 17 Am. Dec. 555; Leach v. House, 1 Bailey 42.

In the statutory action for intermeddling with a decedent's goods, if the charge that defendant intermeddled is true he is liable, and a plea of payment of debts is therefore not a proper answer. Collier v. Jones, 86 Ind. 342.

27. Hubble v. Fogartie, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 411, 45 Am. Dec. 775.

28. See Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86.

29. Thus defendant may join ne unques executor and plene administravit (State v. Rogers, 1 Harr. (Del.) 120; McIntire v. Carson, 9 N. C. 544; Hailey First Nat. Bank v. Lewis, 12 Utah 84, 41 Pac. 712), ne unques executor and non assumpsit (Brodnax v. Brown, Dudley (Ga.) 202; Hubble v. Fogartie, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 413, 45 Am. Dec. 775), or ne unques executor, plene administravit and non assumpsit (Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86). And the statute of limitations has been pleaded along with the other pleas. McIntire v. Carson, 9 N. C. 544.

30. Alexander v. Kelso, 1 Baxt. (Tenn.) 5.

31. McMeekin v. Hynes, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 177.

32. Tweedy v. Bennett, 31 Conn. 276.

33. Foster v. Nowlin, 4 Mo. 18, where it was held that the statement was good evidence to show the nature of the possession of the goods and that inasmuch as it was offered after defendant had proved a previous statement by the vendor that the property was not his, but belonged to defendant, it was admissible as rebutting evidence.

34. Foster v. Nowlin, 4 Mo. 18.

35. Saam v. Saam, 4 Watts (Pa.) 432.

36. Israel v. King, 69 N. C. 373.

37. Harper v. West, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,093, 1 Cranch C. C. 192.

38. Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86; Haacke v. Gordon, 6 U. C. Q. B. 424.

39. Illinois.— Rohn v. Rohn, 204 Ill. 184, 68 N. E. 369, 98 Am. St. Rep. 185.

Mississippi.— O'Reilly v. Hendricks, 2 Sm. & M. 388.

South Carolina.— Hubble v. Fogartie, 3 Rich. 413, 45 Am. Dec. 775.

Tennessee.— Caruthers v. Moore, 1 Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. 86.

England.— Padget v. Priest, 2 T. R. 97, 1 Rev. Rep. 440.

Canada.— Haacke v. Gordon, 6 U. C. Q. B. 424.

See 22 Cent. Dig. tit. "Executors and Administrators," § 2601.

40. Hubble v. Fogartie, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 413, 45 Am. Dec. 775; Caruthers v. Moore, 1 administravit and the plea is found against him, the verdict should find how much property came into his hands, how much he lawfully administered, how much remains and its value.[41]

10. Judgment. In an action against an executor de son tort on a debt of the decedent, the proper judgment at common law was that plaintiff recover the debt and costs to be levied of the assets of the decedent if defendant have so much, but if not, then of defendant's own goods.[42] It is sufficient that the judgment is entered and execution issued against defendant as executor and not as executor de son tort.[43] Judgment should be given to plaintiff for the full amount of his debt, although the estate be insolvent.[44] Judgment by default should not be rendered against an executor de son tort as garnishee for the debt of a distributee, where it does not appear that there has been a settlement, which alone can determine whether anything will be coming to the distributee.[45]

11. Execution. A judgment against an executor de son tort gives the party obtaining it no right to have an execution against the lands of the decedent,[46] for the lands are not in legal contemplation the estate of the decedent in defendant's hands.[47] Goods in the possession of an executor de son tort are not subject to be seized for his individual debts.[48] To a scire facias on a judgment against an executor de son tort for a debt of the decedent, it is a good plea in bar of execution that defendant has taken letters of administration before the suing out of the scire facias, that the estate of the deceased is insolvent, and that a decree of distribution has been passed in the probate court.[49]

EXECUTORSHIP EXPENSES. Testamentary expenses.[1] (See, generally, Executors and Administrators; Wills.)

EXECUTORY. That which remains to be carried into operation or effect; incomplete; depending upon a future performance or event.[2] (Executory: Agreement, see Contracts. Bequest, see Wills. Consideration, see Contracts. Contract, see Contracts. Contract of Sale, see Sales. Devise, see Wills. Estate, see Estates. Remainder, see Estates. Sale, see Sales. Trusts, see Trusts. Use, see Trusts.)

EXECUTORY CONSIDERATION. See Contracts.

Tenn. Cas. 60, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 86; Padget v. Priest, 2 T. R. 97, 1 Rev. Rep. 440; Haacke v. Gordon, 6 U. C. Q. B. 424.

The bona fides of one's taking or retaining property under color of right, believing his right to be superior to that of a lawful representative, is a question of fact for the jury, and not a question of law for the court. Ward v. Bevill, 10 Ala. 197, 44 Am. Dec. 478; Brown v. Durbin, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 170; Brown v. Brown, 1 C. Pl. (Pa.) 8.

41. Foster v. Nowlin, 4 Mo. 18.

42. Parker v. Thompson, 30 N. J. L. 311; Hubbell v. Fogartie, 1 Hill (S. C.) 167, 26 Am. Dec. 163; Hutchinson v. Fulghum, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 550; Peters v. Breckenridge, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,030, 2 Cranch C. C. 578. See also Hawkins v. Johnson, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 21; Chaplin v. Hopkins, 3 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 182. But compare Hill v. Henderson, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 688.

In Indiana, by statute, although a creditor may sue an executor de son tort, he cannot recover a personal judgment for his debt against such executor, but can only compel him to account for the full value of the decedent's property with which he has unlawfully intermeddled, with ten per cent thereon. Goff v. Cook, 73 Ind. 351; McCoy v. Payne, 68 Ind. 327.

43. Shotwell v. Rowell, 30 Ga. 557.

44. Tweedy v. Bennett, 31 Conn. 276.

45. Grider v. Phœnix Brewing Co., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 593.

46. Mitchel v. Lunt, 4 Mass. 654; Nass v. Vanswearingen, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 144, 7 Serg. & R. 192; Warren v. Raymond, 17 S. C. 163; Wrathwell v. Bates, 15 U. C. Q. B. 391; McDade v. Dafoe, 15 U. C. Q. B. 386; Graham v. Nelson, 6 U. C. C. P. 280.

The sale of a reversion in a term of years under a fieri facias on a judgment against an executor de son tort is a valid sale as against a rightful administrator. Bain v. McIntyre, 17 U. C. C. P. 500.

47. Mitchel v. Lunt, 4 Mass. 654.

48. Grant v. Williams, 28 N. C. 341.

49. Schillaber v. Wyman, 15 Mass. 322. But see Green v. Dewit, 1 Root (Conn.) 183.

1. Sharp v. Lush, 10 Ch. D. 468, 470, 48 L. J. Ch. 231, 27 Wkly. Rep. 528, where it is said: "They are expenses incident to the proper performance of the duty of the executor in the same way as testamentary expenses are, neither more nor less."

2. Black L. Dict.

EXECUTORY CONTRACT. See Contracts.

EXECUTORY CONTRACT OF SALE. See Sales.

EXECUTORY DEVISE. See Wills.

EXECUTORY ESTATE. See Estates.

EXECUTORY PROCESS. In Louisiana, a term applied to an order of seizure and sale when a mortgage imports a confession of judgment.[2]

EXECUTORY TRUST. See Trusts.

EXECUTORY USE. See Trusts.

EXECUTRIX. See Executors and Administrators.

EXEMPLA NON RESTRINGUNT REGULAM, SED LOQUUNTUR DE CASIBUS CREBRIORIBUS. A maxim meaning "Examples do not restrict the rule, but speak of the cases which most frequently occur."[4]

EXEMPLARY. Such as may serve for a warning to others; such as may deter from wrong-doing.[5] (See, generally, Damages.)

EXEMPLARY DAMAGES. See Damages.

EXEMPLIFICATION. A perfect copy of a record or office book.[6] (Exemplification: For Use in Evidence, see Evidence. See also Authentication; Certification; Copy.)

EXEMPLI GRATIA. Literally, "for the purpose of example." Often abbreviated "ex. gr." or "e. g."[7]

EXEMPT.[8] As a noun, a person who is free from any charge, burden, or duty; not liable to, &c.;[9] one who is excused from duty.[10] As a verb, to excuse;[11] to relieve from some requisition, etc., to which others are subject;[12] to take out of or from, and in its ordinary signification to free from, not be subject to any service or burthen to which others are made liable;[13] it does not mean to disqualify.[14] (See, generally, Exemptions.)

3. It is said to be, in substance, a decree of foreclosure and sale. Marin v. Lalley, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 14, 17, 21 L. ed. 596. See also Harrod v. Voorhies, 16 La. Ann. 254, 256, where it is said that it is a "summary proceeding," and "issues without citation to the adverse party."

"Executory proceedings" is a term applied when seizure is obtained against the property of the debtor, without previous citation, in virtue of an act or title importing confession of judgment, or in other cases provided by law. Garland La. Code, § 98.

4. Trayner Leg. Max.

Aplied in Wilson v. Merry, L. R. 1 H. L. Sc. 326, 332, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 30.

5. Century Dict.

"'Exemplary,' when it relates to the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors, has a different legal meaning from its usual meaning when applied to any other wrongful act." Mayer v. Frobe, 40 W. Va. 246, 262, 22 S. E. 58.

6. Bouvier L. Dict. [cited in Dickinson v. Chesapeake, etc., R. Co., 7 W. Va. 390, 413].

7. Black L. Dict. See 14 Cyc. 1231.

8. "It is not a technical term; it is a plain English word." In re Bradshaw, 60 N. C. 379, 381.

9. In re Strawbridge, 39 Ala. 367, 379, distinguishing the word from "detail."

10. Glassinger v. State, 24 Ohio St. 206, 207 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

11. Glassinger v. State, 24 Ohio St. 206, 207.

12. Burrill L. Dict. [quoted in Church Charity Foundation v. People, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 154, 156, 11 N. Y. St. 704].

"Exempted," in military circles, is a word sometimes used in the sense of "discharged" or "relieved from." In re Bradshaw, 60 N. C. 379, 381.

13. In re Bradshaw, 60 N. C. 379, 381.

14. State v. Stunkle, 41 Kan. 456, 459, 21 Pac. 675.

EXEMPTIONS

By Ernest H. Wells *

---

* Author of "Contribution," 9 Cyc. 792; "Court Commissioners," 11 Cyc. 622; "Disorderly Houses," 14 Cyc. 479; "Drunkards," 14 Cyc. 1089; "Dueling," 14 Cyc. 111; "Escrows," 16 Cyc. 560; and joint author of "Factors and Brokers," 19 Cyc. 109.

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:
- Exempt Property:
  - Assignor's Right to, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.
  - Bankrupt's Right to, see BANKRUPTCY.
  - Conveyance in Fraud of Creditors, see FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.
  - Description of in Deed of Assignment, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.
  - Liability For Seizure of, see SHERIFFS AND CONSTABLES.
  - Not Subject to:
    - Attachment, see ATTACHMENT.
    - Execution, see EXECUTIONS.
    - Garnishment, see GARNISHMENT.
    - Supplementary Proceedings, see EXECUTIONS.
  - Reservation of in Deed of Assignment, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.
- Exemption From:
  - Appearance as Witness, see WITNESSES.
  - Appropriation to Public Use, see EMINENT DOMAIN.
  - Arrest, see ARREST; BANKRUPTCY.
  - Forfeiture, see FORFEITURES.
  - Import Duty, see CUSTOMS DUTIES.
  - Individual Liability, see CORPORATIONS.
  - Jury Service, see GRAND JURIES; JURIES.
  - Military Service, see ARMY AND NAVY; MILITIA.
  - Operation of Statutes, see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW; CORPORATIONS.
  - Poll-Tax, see STREETS AND HIGHWAYS; TOLL-ROADS.
  - Search and Seizure, see SEARCHES AND SEIZURES.
  - Service of Process, see PROCESS.
  - Taxation, see MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS; TAXATION.
  - Testifying, see WITNESSES.
  - Use as Highway, see STREETS AND HIGHWAYS.
  - Work on Highways, see STREETS AND HIGHWAYS.
- Exemption of:
  - Homestead, see HOMESTEADS.
  - Wife's Separate Property, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.

For Matters Relating to — (continued)
Exemptions:
Allowance:
Mandamus to Compel, see MANDAMUS.
To Assign, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.
To Surviving Husband, Wife, or Child, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Lien of Garnishment on Debt Accruing After Writ Served, see GARNISHMENT.
Specific Performance of Contract Waiving, see SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.
Rights in Public Lands, see PUBLIC LANDS.

I. ORIGIN, GENERAL NATURE, AND EXTENT OF THE RIGHT.

A. Definition, Nature, Origin, and Purpose in General. An exemption is defined to be an immunity, freedom from any service, charge, burden, taxes, etc.[1] As used in this article, the term means a privilege or immunity allowed by law to a judgment debtor by which he may hold property to a certain amount, or certain classes of property, free from all liability to levy and sale, on execution, attachment, or other process issued in pursuance of and for the satisfaction of a money judgment.[2] The exemption in personal property is not in the nature of an estate in the property, analogous to the homestead right in land;[3] the debtor's interest, if it can be called an interest at all, and if it is anything beyond a mere negative immunity from disturbance under a particular writ, is in the nature of a chattel interest.[4] It is entirely a creature of statute,[5] and the right of the debtor is determined by the statute of creation, for prima facie all property is liable to execution.[6] This immunity given the debtor is founded upon the idea that the exempt property is necessary to support the debtor and his family.[7] It is not intended exclusively for the benefit of the owner of the property, but mainly for the benefit of the family for which he provides.[8]

1. Koenig v. Omaha, etc., R. Co., 3 Nebr. 373, 380. See also Maine Water Co. v. Waterville, 93 Me. 586, 596, 45 Atl. 830, 49 L. R. A. 294; Bartholomew v. Austin, 85 Fed. 359, 368, 29 C. C. A. 568.

Immunity or privilege.— State v. Smith, 158 Ind. 543, 553, 63 N. E. 25, 214, 64 N. E. 18, 63 L. R. A. 116; Florer v. Sheridan, 137 Ind. 28, 42, 36 N. E. 365, 23 L. R. A. 278; Green v. State, 59 Md. 123, 128, 43 Am. Rep. 542; People v. Rawn, 90 Mich. 377, 379, 51 N. W. 522; Bartholomew v. Austin, 85 Fed. 359, 368, 29 C. C. A. 568.

Synonym of "immunity." — Long v. Converse, 91 U. S. 105, 113, 23 L. ed. 233.

Distinguished from "abatement."— State v. Armstrong, 17 Utah 166, 171, 53 Pac. 981, 41 L. R. A. 407.

Distinguished from "encumbrance."— Robinson v. Wiley, 15 N. Y. 489, 492.

Distinguished from "deduction." — State v. Smith, 158 Ind. 543, 553. 63 N. E. 25, 214, 64 N. E. 18, 63 L. R. A. 116; Florer v. Sheridan, 137 Ind. 28, 42, 36 N. E. 365, 23 L. R. A. 278.

2. See Black L. Dict.

"Exempt property" is something toward which the eye of the creditor need never be turned. Taylor v. Winnie, 59 Kan. 16, 18, 51 Pac. 890, 68 Am. St. Rep. 339.

Process and proceedings against which exemption may be asserted see infra, VI, A.

3. Homestead generally see HOMESTEADS.

4. State v. Harrington, 33 Mo. App. 476.

5. "At common law, from which we derived the writ of fieri facias, little mercy was extended to the debtor. Even his wearing apparel might be taken, provided in doing so the sheriff was not obliged to strip it from the debtor's back." Hanna v. Bry, 5 La. Ann. 651, 655, 52 Am. Dec. 606. See also Fink v. Fraenkle, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 140, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 402.

Serjeant Stephen enumerates the different articles that were exempt from distress for rent. 3 Stephen Comm. (12th London ed. 1895).

6. Wygant v. Smith, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 185; Yates County Nat. Bank v. Carpenter, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 372.

Exemption of salary of a public officer through the operation of the doctrine of public policy see infra, III, D, 2, a.

7. Wright v. Pratt, 31 Wis. 99.

8. Wilcox v. Hawley, 31 N. Y. 648. See also McMurray v. Shuck, 6 Bush (Ky.) 111, 99 Am. Dec. 662.

Where, on application of a husband, property belonging to him was set apart as an exemption for the benefit of his wife, the latter, although entitled to have the proceeds thereof used for her support, was not entitled to a right to manual possession, since

B. Exemption in Personalty in Lieu of Homestead. In a number of states the debtor is given the right to exemption in personal property or sometimes even in lands if he does not possess a homestead.[9] If the debtor has a homestead he is not entitled to the exemption in personalty.[10] Out of what law, state or national, the homestead right has its origin is immaterial.[11] The owner of a life-estate in lands occupied by him as a family residence is the owner of a homestead so as to be precluded from an exemption in personalty.[12] But a tenancy for a single year of a house, stable, and parcel of land is not a homestead, especially where the tenant does not claim a homestead in the property.[13] If the wife owns a homestead the debtor cannot claim his exemption in personalty or in land.[14] That the homestead is encumbered does not give the debtor the act of setting it apart did not vest title in the wife, but merely made her a beneficiary. Floyd v. Floyd, 111 Ga. 855, 36 S. E. 879.

A debtor cannot be deprived of his right to exemptions, except by his own act, conduct, or assent. Higgins v. Dunkleberger, 9 Pa. Dist. 91, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 291, 16 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 55.

Economic effect.— In Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Green, 78 N. C. 247, 257, the economic effect of exemption laws is explained.

9. Clark v. Hicks, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 413, 2 Clev. L. Rep. 129. See Kuhn v. Nieberg, 40 Ohio St. 631. See also Comer v. Dodson, 22 Ohio St. 615, where the allowance was made out of the debtor's share of the proceeds of the land sold in the partition suit.

In South Carolina, under the act of Dec. 23, 1879, a judgment debtor is entitled to a homestead in money. Gray v. Putnam, 51 S. C. 97, 28 S. E. 149. The act of 1870 allowed an exemption of personal property to the head of a family, whether he owned a homestead or not. See Oliver v. White, 18 S. C. 235.

Wife claimant.— Where neither husband nor wife owns a homestead and the only article of personalty possessed by the husband is of less value than the statutory limit of five hundred dollars and the wife owns no property whatever and the personalty of the husband is levied on, the wife may demand and is entitled to have the article exempted and set off in lieu of the homestead. Regan v. Zeeb, 28 Ohio St. 483. But a married woman is not entitled to have five hundred dollars in lieu of a homestead in the absence of evidence that she and her husband are living together and that neither of them is the owner of a homestead. Voight Co. v. Lafkin, 12 Ohio Cir. Ct. 751, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 124.

10. Axtell v. Warden, 7 Nebr. 182.

If one employs his money in the purchase of land, the money becomes real estate and he is entitled to a homestead therein but he cannot claim personal property exemption. Dortch v. Benton, 98 N. C. 190, 3 S. E. 633, 2 Am. St. Rep. 331.

Nebr. Code Civ. Proc. § 521, provides that heads of families who have neither lands, town lots, nor houses subject to exemption as a homestead shall have five hundred dollars personal property exempt. The words "subject to exemption as a homestead" do not refer to houses alone but apply to the lands and town lots as well. Widemair v. Woolsey, 53 Nebr. 468, 73 N. W. 947, opinion of the court by Norval, J.

11. And it is immaterial, if the homestead is held under the laws of congress, whether or not the patent has been issued therefor. Axtell v. Warden, 7 Nebr. 182.

12. Biddinger v. Pratt, 50 Ohio St. 719, 35 N. E. 795 (where the life-estate was conveyed as an equitable mortgage); Newton v. Clarke, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 165, 4 Wkly. L. Gaz. 109 (where a husband has a life-estate as a tenant by curtesy in his wife's property).

A lease conveying a life-estate in lands including a dwelling-house constitutes the grantee the owner of the homestead so as to deprive him of exemption in personalty. Staley v. Woolley, 8 Ohio Cir. Ct. 35, 4 Ohio Cir. Dec. 550, where the lease contained provisions forfeiting only for waste, and nonpayment of taxes, and in case a sale thereof on execution is permitted.

A tenancy by the curtesy may be a homestead so as to preclude an exemption in personalty. Newton v. Clarke, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 165, 4 Wkly. L. Gaz. 109.

13. Colwell v. Carper, 15 Ohio St. 279.

14. Lippelman v. Boning, 7 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 450, 3 Cinc. L. Bul. 296. See also Stout v. Rapp, 17 Nebr. 462, 23 N. W. 364. Contra, Morely v. National Loan, etc., Co., 120 Mich. 171, 78 N. W. 1078. Where a married woman resides with her husband and family on land in which she owns an interest as tenant in common, she is entitled to her homestead therein and her husband is precluded from an exemption in personalty. Keys v. Young, 4 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 113, 2 Ohio N. P. 390.

If a homestead is owned by either husband or wife neither can claim exemption in personalty. Dwinell v. Edwards, 23 Ohio St. 603.

Removal.— If the wife owned property which had been occupied as a homestead but from which they had removed before levy of execution against the husband, he is entitled to his exemption in personalty. Ryan v. Miller, 40 Ohio St. 232.

any right to claim the exemption in personalty,[15] although the encumbrance is for its full value,[16] or even for more than its full value;[17] and this although foreclosure proceedings have been begun, no decree having been taken.[18] After the foreclosure sale[19] and before the confirmation of the sale[20] of the homestead the debtor may claim his exemption in personalty. If the debtor has sold his homestead in good faith before the levy and several days after the levy the contract was fully executed, he was not at the time of the levy the "owner of a homestead," so as to be precluded from his exemption in personalty.[21]

C. The Law Governing the Right — 1. Of What Jurisdiction. It may be laid down as the general rule that exemption laws have no extraterritorial force.[22] They are treated as part of the remedies for the collection of debts and are in furtherance of state policy and can have only a local application.[23] In other words an exemption is a personal privilege as contradistinguished from a right,[24] and it is governed by the law of the place where the contract is sought to be enforced instead of by the lex loci contractus.[25] This rule is applied when a debtor endeavors to claim the exemption laws of another jurisdiction;[26] and some 15. Biddinger v. Pratt, 50 Ohio St. 719, 35 N. E. 795. See also State v. Townsend, 17 Nebr. 530, 23 N. W. 509.

16. State v. Krumpos, 13 Nebr. 321, 14 N. W. 409.

17. Bartram v. McCracken, 41 Ohio St. 377. See also Lippelman v. Boning, 7 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 450, 3 Cinc. L. Bul. 296. Contra, In re May, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,326, where the real estate was mortgaged and the condition had been broken.

18. Olding v. Kemker, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 601, 15 Cinc. L. Bul. 310 [following Bartram v. McCracken, 41 Ohio St. 377].

This is a necessary rule, for "the legislature did not intend to impose upon the sheriff the duty of ascertaining the existence and validity of, and the amount due upon, incumbrances upon the realty of the execution debtor." Bartram v. McCracken, 41 Ohio St. 377, 378.

19. Niehaus v. Faul, 43 Ohio St. 63, 1 N. E. 87; William H. Holmes Co. v. Book, 1 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 665, 1 Ohio N. P. 58 [following Jackson v. Reid, 32 Ohio St. 443].

20. Carter v. Ross, 8 Ohio Cir. Ct. 139, 4 Ohio Cir. Dec. 333.

21. Muse v. Darrah, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 604, 4 West. L. Month. 149.

Removal from homestead of wife see supra, note 14.

22. Alabama.— East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 83 Ala. 462, 2 So. 852, 3 Am. St. Rep. 755.

Colorado.— Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Maggard, 6 Colo. App. 85, 39 Pac. 985.

Georgia.— Kyle v. Montgomery, 73 Ga. 337.

Kentucky.— Stewart v. Thomson, 97 Ky. 575, 31 S. W. 133, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 381, 53 Am. St. Rep. 431, 36 L. R. A. 582.

North Carolina.— Balk v. Harris, 122 N. C. 64, 30 S. E. 318, 45 L. R. A. 257.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 2; and Contracts, 9 Cyc. 692.

23. Kyle v. Montgomery, 73 Ga. 337.

24. Kyle v. Montgomery, 73 Ga. 337.

25. Illinois.— Mineral Point R. Co. v. Barron, 83 Ill. 365.

Iowa.— Newell v. Hayden, 8 Iowa 140 [citing Helfenstein v. Cave, 3 Iowa 387, 2 Story Eq. Jur. §§ 556, 557].

Nebraska.— Singer Mfg. Co. v. Fleming, 39 Nebr. 679, 58 N. W. 226, 42 Am. St. Rep. 613, 23 L. R. A. 210.

Pennsylvania.— Morgan v. Neville, 74 Pa. St. 52.

United States.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Sturn, 174 U. S. 710, 19 S. Ct. 797, 43 L. ed. 1144 [reversing 58 Kan. 818, 51 Pac. 1100].

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 2.

26. Alabama.—Boykin v. Edwards, 21 Ala. 261.

Arkansas.— Swanger v. Goodwin, 49 Ark. 287, 5 S. W. 319.

Colorado.— Atchison, etc., R. Co., v. Maggard, 6 Colo. App. 85, 39 Pac. 985.

Georgia.— Gamble v. Central R., etc., Co., 80 Ga. 595, 7 S. E. 315, 12 Am. St. Rep. 276, where it was held that a waiver of exemption in a note made by the debtor in Georgia, the note to be payable in Alabama, was governed solely by the laws of Georgia where the question came up and was not affected by the laws of Alabama.

Illinois.— Mineral Point R. Co. v. Barron, 83 Ill. 365; American Cent. Ins. Co. v. Hettler, 46 Ill. App. 416 [citing Roche v. Rhode Island Ins. Co., 2 Ill. App. 360]; Wabash R. Co. v. Dougan, 41 Ill. App. 543.

Iowa.— Oberfelder v. Union Pac. R. Co., 60 Iowa 755, 14 N. W. 255; Mooney v. Union Pac. R. Co., 60 Iowa 346, 14 N. W. 343, where the wages due to a debtor of a railroad corporation operating in both Iowa and Nebraska were taken in spite of the exemption allowed the debtor in Nebraska. Exemption from garnishment in another state, where the debtor resides, cannot be claimed in Iowa, unless the amount due the debtor from the garnishee is also exempt by Iowa laws. Lyon v. Callopy, 87 Iowa 567, 54 N. W. 476, 43 Am. St. Rep. 396; Broadstreet v. Clark, 65 Iowa 670, 22 N. W. 919; Mooney v. Union Pac. R. Co., 60 Iowa 346, 14 N. W. 343; Leiber v. Union Pac. R. Co., 49 Iowa 688.

courts have held the same as to the force of the laws of their own jurisdictions.[27] Sometimes one court has enforced the laws of another by the doctrine of comity;[28] in other instances the forum has denied that there is any room for comity.[29] The pleasure which the courts take in giving to a debtor the exemption of their own jurisdiction which he would not have in another is sometimes very noticeable.[30] The exemption laws of a foreign jurisdiction have been given all their practical force by the forum before which the question was being litigated by the doctrine in attachment and garnishment that the court has nothing to determine, unless it has jurisdiction of the person, or unless the property in question is within the jurisdiction of the court.[31]

Kentucky.— See Barker v. Brown, 33 S. W. 833, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1172.

Michigan.— See Detroit First Nat. Bank v. Burch, 80 Mich. 242, 45 N. W. 93.

West Virginia.— Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Rogers, 52 W. Va. 450, 44 S. E. 300, 62 L. R. A. 178 [following Stevens v. Brown, 20 W. Va. 450; Mahany v. Kephart, 15 W. Va. 609].

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 2.

27. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Hollenbeck, 161 Ind. 452, 69 N. E. 136; Sexton v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 132 N. C. 1, 43 S. E. 479; Balk v. Harris. 122 N. C. 64, 30 S. E. 318, 45 L. R. A. 257; Morgan v. Neville, 74 Pa. St. 52.

28. Kansas City, etc., R. Co. v. Cunningham, 7 Kan. App. 47, 51 Pac. 972, where the statutory provisions for the wages exemption in both states were substantially the same; but this was not the only reason for the decision. See also Mason v. Beebee, 44 Fed. 556, where a federal court sitting in Iowa enforced the exemption laws of Illinois to protect in garnishment proceedings in Iowa the wages exemption given the debtor by the laws of Illinois.

Under N. J. Rev. p. 1265, § 2, exempting wages due from a resident employer to a non-resident employee at the suit of a non-resident creditor, when wages are exempt from attachment by the laws of the state of which the employee is a resident, an attachment issued at the suit of a non-resident creditor against wages due a resident of another state, where wages are exempt from attachment, will be set aside. Freeman v. Coykendall. 2 N. J. L. J. 125.

29. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 83 Ala. 462, 3 So. 852, 3 Am. St. Rep. 755; Stevens v. Brown, 20 W. Va. 450.

30. Thus property not exempt in Illinois was held exempt in Iowa. Newell v. Hayden, 8 Iowa 140. The garnishment in a foreign jurisdiction of a railroad domiciled there as well as in Mississippi for a debt due an employee resident in Mississippi does not affect the exemption allowed a debtor by the Mississippi law. Both debtor and creditor residing in Mississippi the court will give effect to its own laws regardless of the laws of other states. Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Smith, 70 Miss. 344, 12 So. 461, 35 Am. St. Rep. 651, 19 L. R. A. 577. But see contra. Morgan v. Neville. 74 Pa. St. 52.

31. Thus a resident of Tennessee had wages due him, earned in that jurisdiction, from a railroad corporation chartered there and in Georgia. In Tennessee his wages were exempt from attachment and he sued for them there and recovered judgment, although a suit was pending in Georgia against him and the corporation as garnishee. It was held that garnishment proceedings could not be maintained in Georgia, for the debtor had neither effects nor a debt due him from the garnishee in Georgia, for to the Georgia corporation he had never rendered any services whatever under any contract either express or implied, entered into or performed there either in whole or in part; that since he had no effects on which the attachment could be levied, the very foundation for attachment was wanting and therefore there was nothing to which the jurisdiction of the Georgia court could attach. Wells v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 74 Ga. 548 [distinguishing Kyle v. Montgomery, 73 Ga. 337, where it was held that the property of a non-resident debtor found in Georgia was subject to attachment and that the debtor was not entitled to claim his exemption in the property allowed by the laws of this state. In that case a non-resident had rendered services to a Georgia corporation under a contract entered into and wholly performed in Georgia]. So in Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Maltby, 34 Kan. 125, 8 Pac. 235, it was held that a debt created and payable in Missouri could not be garnished in Kansas; there all the parties were residents of Missouri and the garnishee's debt to defendant was exempt under Missouri law, the garnishee doing business in Kansas, but plaintiff and defendant being only temporarily there. In Michigan the court seems to have gone even farther. A debt was contracted in Indiana where there was a wages' exemption for one month and both parties were residents of that state. The debtor was an employee of a railroad in that state and his wages were payable there. The debt was assigned to a resident of Michigan where there was not a wages' exemption. Garnishment proceedings were brought in Michigan. It was held that the debtor not being subject to the jurisdiction of the court, the Indiana exemption became a vested right in rem and that the debt transferred to evade the exemption law of Indiana could not be reached. Drake v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 69 Mich. 168, 37 N. W. 70, 13 Am. St. Rep. 382. In New York in a situation the reverse of the above cases the same principle was sustained.

2. Of What Time. The right to an exemption is governed by the law which is in force when the debt is contracted, not necessarily by the law which is in force when the exemption is claimed.[32] A number of cases, particularly early ones, have taken the ground that an exemption law relates to the remedy and not to the right and that therefore an exemption law could affect debts contracted for prior to the time the law took effect, without impairing the obligation of the contract;[33] but the true rule is as first stated and has the sanction of Martin v. Central Vermont R. Co., 50 Hun 347, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 82. In that case plaintiff sued defendant, a Vermont corporation, for a debt due for work done in New York. The corporation pleaded payment of the amount in an attachment proceeding brought in Vermont. It appeared that one Kelly of New York had brought an action in a justice's court in Vermont against plaintiff in the principal case; attachment issued and the officer returned that plaintiff in the principal case (defendant in attachment) was not in the state and had no known agent or attorney; that he had served a writ by delivering it to the treasurer of the corporation, defendant in the principal case. The action was adjourned to a certain day at which day the attachment defendant did not appear, but the attachment plaintiff did appear and so did the corporation and judgment was rendered for plaintiff in attachment against defendant therein and the corporation paid the judgment. It further appeared that defendant in attachment had no notice of the proceedings in Vermont. It was held that this was not due process of law and that the answer of defendant showed no defense to the action, and that this view was not in conflict of the other constitutional provision that full faith and credit shall be given to the judgments of other states.

32. Alabama.— Bell v. Hall, 76 Ala. 546; Giddens v. Williamson, 65 Ala. 439; Fearn v. Ward, 65 Ala. 33; Preiss v. Campbell, 59 Ala. 635.

Arkansas.— Moore v. Boozier, 42 Ark. 385.

Florida.— Alexander v. Kilpatrick, 14 Fla. 450.

Georgia.— Peters v. Bradford, 49 Ga. 551.

Indiana.— O'Neil v. Beck, 69 Ind 239.

Iowa.— Baugh v. Barrett, 69 Iowa 495, 29 N. W. 425 (holding that Laws (1884), c. 23, exempting money in the hands of the pensioner, were enacted for the personal benefit of the pensioner and were not applicable to the money of the pensioner who died before their passage); Goble v. Stephenson, 68 Iowa 270, 26 N. W. 433.

Kentucky.— Millay v. White, 86 Ky. 170, 5 S. W. 429, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 462; Knight v. Whitman, 6 Bush 51, 99 Am. Dec. 652; Jones v. McCrocklin, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 285; Woods v. Jones, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 241.

Louisiana.— Lavillebeuvre v. Frederic, 20 La. Ann. 374.

Massachusetts.—Kellogg v. Waite, 12 Allen 529.

North Carolina.— Carlton v. Watts, 82 N. C. 212 [citing Gamble v. Rhyne, 80 N. C. 182].

Pennsylvania.— Reed v. Defebaugh, 24 Pa. St. 495.

Tennessee.— Harris v. Austell, 2 Baxt. 148.

United States.— The Queen, 93 Fed. 834.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit "Exemptions," §§ 5, 6.

Compare Burns v. Plume, etc., Mfg. Co., 56 Conn. 526, 16 Atl. 260.

An exemption under a later law cannot be greater in amount than that which was allowed at the time the debt was contracted. Alexander v. Kilpatrick, 14 Fla. 450, holding, however, that the heirs of the debtor could claim the exemption of which the debtor had been entitled, although the former law had not given the heirs this right since no right to subject the property had existed before and therefore no right of the creditor was impaired.

The California act of March 27, 1897, amending Code Civ. Proc. § 690, by giving an absolute wages' exemption to seamen to an amount not exceeding one hundred dollars cannot be applied to executions upon judgments rendered in suits on contracts prior to the passage of the act. The Queen, 93 Fed. 834.

The federal statute of 1866 exempting sums of money due the pensioner, or that in course of transmission or in the hands of government pension agents, does not protect the money already paid to an agent of the pensioner by his request before the statute was passed and the money may be attached by trustee process served on the agent. Kellogg v. Waite, 12 Allen (Mass.) 529.

The laws in force at the husband's death determine the amount of exemption of his property for the payment of his debts in favor of the widow and minor children. Rottenberry v. Pipes, 53 Ala. 447. See, however, Alexander v. Fitzpatrick, 14 Fla. 450. See also Executors and Administrators.

A delivery bond executed before an exemption went into effect is not governed by that law. Smith v. Brown, 28 Miss. 810, holding further that a delivery bond is not a contract in contemplation of the exemption law. Where, however, such a bond is given after the date when the exemption law takes effect it is subject to that law's provision, although the bond existed before that time. Dean v. King, 35 N. C. 20.

33. Alabama.— Sneider v. Heidelberger, 45 Ala. 126.

Georgia.— Maxey v. Loyal, 38 Ga. 531.

Michigan.— Rockwell v. Hubbell, 2 Dougl. 197, 45 Am. Dec. 246.

Minnesota.— Grimes v. Bryne, 2 Minn. 89.

Mississippi.— Stephenson v. Osborne, 41 Miss. 119, 90 Am. Dec. 358; Morrison v. McDaniel, 30 Miss. 213 [both cases overruled in the supreme court of the United States.[34] Where the debt is contracted before the law takes effect, the fact that a note is given for the debt after the law takes effect does not make the debt subject to the law.[35] The date of a promise to pay a debt discharged by bankruptcy is not the date when the contract is entered into, for it does not create a new contract, but merely revives the old debt which is then governed by the exemption law in force at the time it is made.[36] If a creditor, allowing an account to run on unliquidated, the different items of the account being subject to different exemption laws, passed in different years, sues for the whole amount and recovers judgment, the debtor may claim his exemption according to the provisions of the later exemption law against the whole judgment.[37] Although it is said that the debtor "has no vested rights in statutory provisions and exemptions," the above rule that the exemption right is governed by the law in force at the time the debt is contracted has operated in his favor where there has been a change or a repeal of the exemption law as it existed at the time the debt was contracted, for it cannot be doubted that the debtor may Lessley v. Phipps, 49 Miss. 790 (followed in Johnson v. Fletcher, 54 Miss. 628, 28 Am. Rep. 388)].

New York.— Morse v. Goold, 11 N. Y. 281, 62 Am. Dec. 103 [overruling Quackenbush v. Danks, 1 Den. 128].

North Carolina.— McKeithan v. Terry, 64 N. C. 25; Hill v. Kessler, 63 N. C. 437. In Earle v. Hardie, 80 N. C. 177, the court took the ground that the exemption law (a constitutional provision) was not void against the debt contracted before the law took effect, where the law did not give a greater exemption than the former law. See Albright v. Albright, 88 N. C. 238.

Texas.— Helm v. Pridgen, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 643.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," §§ 5, 6.

34. Gunn v. Barry, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 610, 21 L. ed. 212. See also The Queen, 93 Fed. 834. See Bronson v. Kinzie, 1 How. (U. S.) 311, 315, 11 L. ed. 143. See also CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, 8 Cyc. 695; and infra, I, C, 4.

Date of process and service thereof.—Where a trustee process was dated a month prior to the enactment of the statute, which exempted the personal earnings of debtors accruing to them after the service of process, but was not served until three months after that enactment, and plaintiff's attorney, who made it, was unable to say that it was not then put into the officer's hands, it did not affirmatively appear that the suit was brought before the passage of the act; hence the act applied. McDaniels v. Morton, 34 Vt. 101.

35. Marsh v. Alford, 5 Bush (Ky.) 392.

The fact that there was a merger of a simple contract debt into a new security had no effect where there was no intention that the original debt should be considered as satisfied by the new security. Reed v. Defebaugh, 24 Pa. St. 495. See also In re Weaver, 25 Pa. St. 434, where a note was given before the law took effect and where after the law took effect it was changed for a single bill for the warrant of attorney to enter judgment.

A new note given after the law took effect in place of the former given before the law took effect, the later note being for a greater amount, does not exempt the property of the debtor which was subject to execution for the debt he had before the statute. Kibbey v. Jones, 7 Bush (Ky.) 243.

A surety who pays a note after the exemption law has taken effect cannot be regarded as a creditor of the principal until the debt is paid. Caldwell v. Stevens, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 894.

36. Nowland v. Lanagan, 45 Ark. 108. Contra, Willis v. Cushman, 115 Ind. 100, 17 N. E. 168, by which construction the court was enabled to give the debtor a six-hundred-dollar exemption instead of one for three hundred dollars.

37. Bachman v. Crawford, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 213, 39 Am. Dec. 163. But see Harleman v. Buck, 30 Pa. St. 267.

Marshaling assets under different laws.— Where judgments were entered at different times and for debts incurred both before and after the date on which the exemption law took effect the assets deducting the amount, three hundred dollars, allowed as exempt should be applied to the judgment according to their priority and the three hundred dollars should be liable for the debts incurred before July 4, 1849, not already satisfied. Smith's Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 310.

Change of status of debtor.— Where, after judgment and order of sale have been duly and regularly entered in an action to foreclose, the mortgagor becomes entitled to the exemption provided by the act of May 1, 1861, by being mustered into the United States service for three years, if the war should last that long, and a sale is made and confirmed, and deed executed to the purchaser, while he is still in such service, the sale and proceedings are not void, but voidable only. Sked v. Sedgley, 36 Ohio St. 483. For change of status by marriage see infra, II, B, 2, a. In Harleman v. Buck, 30 Pa. St. 267, 271, where judgment was recovered against defendant for a debt in part contracted before the law took effect and the remainder contracted since then, it was said that the debtor could not have the benefit of the exemption law except by paying that part of the debt which was contracted before acquire a vested right, under the operation of the statute, which cannot be affected by its repeal.[38]

3. Construction of Statutes[39]— a. General Principles. Inasmuch as the exemption right is a creature of the statute, the extent or limitation or even the very existence of the right itself is often determined by the usual principles of statutory construction; as for instance, the principles that the intention of the law-maker must prevail over the literal sense of the terms and its reasons and intention must prevail over the strict letter;[40] that all statutes in pari materia must be construed together and that the intent of the law-makers must be determined from a consideration of the whole;[41] that a statute must be construed so that if it can be prevented no clause, section, or word should be void, superfluous, or without significance;[42] that where special words are used followed by words of more general import, the general words are to be limited to things of the same kind as are described by the special words, unless an intention may be found to extend their meaning;[43] that where an act provides that a prior statute "should be amended so as to read as follows" the amendatory act is a substitute for the original statute and repeals all those parts of the prior act which are omitted;[44] the principle of noscitur a sociis;[45] that repeals by implication are not favored;[46] that a revision of the whole subject-matter repeals former provisions, not because the revision is inconsistent with former provisions, but because it is a substitute for them.[47] But this last rule, as all the others, must yield to the general rule that the intention of the legislature must be discovered and carried out.[48]

b. Liberal Construction. By an all but universal rule the statutes which the date when the law took effect and by claiming the benefit of the exemption as to the residue.

38. Bramble v. State, 41 Md. 435, 442 [citing Cooley Const. Lim. § 383], holding that where a law restricted the exemptions given by a former law to residents of the state, a non-resident's exemption in land set apart for him after the levy would be property or right which vested in him which could not be taken away by the repealing or amending statute. In Rierson v. Wesberry, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 353, it was held that if the claimant asserted her right to an exemption in the manner prescribed by the statute in existence, at any time before the repeal of that statute, her right became vested and the subsequent repeal of the right could no more affect her title in the case in question than it could in the case of a claim for a homestead.

In Alabama as against debts contracted prior to the adoption of the constitution of 1868, there was no exemption law in force between April 23, 1873, when the former laws were repealed, and Feb. 9, 1877, when they were revised and reënacted as to such debts. Carlisle v. Godwin, 68 Ala. 137; Giddens v. Williamson, 65 Ala. 439.

In Pennsylvania the act of 1849 provided that it should not affect contracts entered into before the date of its taking effect. The act of April 22, 1846, therefore was held to apply to a contract entered into before the act of 1849 took effect. Mardis v. Clarke, 19 Pa. St. 386.

Repeal of a repealing act.— The Georgia act of 1850, providing that the officers of all corporations whose salaries exceed five hundred dollars, except officers of municipal corporations, are subject to garnishment, is not repealed by Acts (1872), p. 43, providing that wages shall be subject to garnishment where the consideration of the debt was provisions for the use of the employee and his family, since Ga. Code, § 3554, repeals such later act. Bailie v. Mosher, 72 Ga. 740.

39. Interpretation of statutes generally see Statutes.

40. Mallory v. Norton, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 424; Rose v. Wortham, 95 Tenn. 505, 509, 32 S. W. 458, 30 L. R. A. 609.

41. Cook v. Allee, 119 Iowa 226, 93 N. W. 93; Jordan v. Gower, 1 Baxt. (Tenn.) 103.

42. Brown v. Balfour, 46 Minn. 68, 48 N. W. 604, 12 L. R. A. 373. See also Russell v. Arnold, 25 Ga. 625.

43. McLarty v. Tibbs, 69 Miss. 357, 12 So. 557.

44. Shadewald v. Phillips, 72 Minn. 520, 75 N. W. 717, where a statute exempted from execution "one sewing machine" and where this statute was amended by adding one bicycle and later the statute was amended so as to read as follows: "one sewing machine and one typewriting machine," it was held that a bicycle was no longer exempt.

45. Martin v. Bond, 14 Colo. 466, 24 Pac. 326; Bevitt v. Crandall, 19 Wis. 581 [modified in Wicker v. Comstock, 52 Wis. 215, 9 N. W. 25]. See also Gordon v. Shields, 7 Kan. 320, 325, opinion of Brewer, J.

46. Hawkins v. Mosher, 8 Colo. App. 31, 44 Pac. 763. See also Mardis v. Clarke, 19 Pa. St. 386.

47. Burlander v. Milwaukee, etc., R. Co., 26 Wis. 76.

48. Bransom v. Bacon, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 259. Compare Cayce v. Stovall, 50 Miss. 396.

create or give the right of exemption to a debtor are held subject to the rule of liberal construction. Indeed it would be more proper to say that they are generally subjected to the most liberal construction which the courts can possibly give them, the courts taking the ground that, since the statutes have a beneficial object, it is their first duty to see that this object is accomplished.[49] Although the courts are willing to go to extremes and, it sometimes seems, to unwarranted

49. Alabama.— Kennedy v. Smith, 99 Ala. 83, 11 So. 665.

Arizona.—Wilson v. Lowry, (1898) 52 Pac. 777.

Arkansas.— St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Hart, 38 Ark. 112.

Connecticut.— Montague v. Richardson, 24 Conn. 338, 63 Am. Dec. 173.

Illinois.—Good v. Fogg, 61 Ill. 449, 14 Am. Rep. 71.

Indiana.— Astley v. Capron, 89 Ind. 167; Pickrell v. Jerauld, 1 Ind. App. 10, 27 N. E. 433, 50 Am. St. Rep. 192.

Iowa.— Cook v. Allee, 119 Iowa 226, 93 N. W. 93; Kaiser v. Seaton, 62 Iowa 463, 17 N. W. 664; Bevan v. Hayden, 13 Iowa 122.

Kansas.— Donmyer v. Donmyer, 43 Kan. 444, 23 Pac. 627; Rasure v. Hart, 18 Kan. 340, 26 Am. Rep. 772.

Kentucky.— Schillinger v. Boes, 85 Ky. 357, 3 S. W. 427, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 18.

Maryland.— See Muhr v. Pinover, 67 Md. 480, 10 Atl. 289.

Massachusetts.— Pond v. Kimball, 101 Mass. 105.

Michigan.— Hutchinson v. Whitmore, 90 Mich. 255, 51 N. W. 451, 30 Am. St. Rep. 431.

Missouri.— Bovard v. Ford, 83 Mo. App. 498.

New York.— Stewart v. Brown, 37 N. Y. 350, 93 Am. Dec. 578. See, however, Monroe v. Button, 20 Misc. 494, 496, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 647. Contra, Rue v. Alter, 5 Den. 119.

North Carolina.— Shepherd v. Murrill, 90 N. C. 208.

Ohio.— Wanzer v. The Widow, 2 Ohio Dec. Reprint 323, 2 West. L. Month. 426.

Oklahoma.—Nelson v. Fightmaster, 4 Okla. 38, 44 Pac. 213.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Boyd, 56 Pa. St. 402.

South Carolina.— Parkerson v. Wightman, 4 Strobh. 363.

Tennessee.— Byous v. Mount, 89 Tenn. 361, 17 S. W. 1037; Webb v. Brandon, 4 Heisk. 285.

Texas.—Robinson v. Robertson, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 253.

Vermont.— Webster v. Orne, 45 Vt. 40.

Washington.— Puget Sound Dressed Beef, etc., Co. v. Jeffs, 11 Wash. 466, 49 Pac. 962, 48 Am. St. Rep. 885, 27 L. R. A. 808.

Wisconsin.— Heath v. Keyes, 35 Wis. 668; Kuntz v. Kinney, 33 Wis. 510; Connaughton v. Sands, 32 Wis. 387; Gilman v. Williams, 7 Wis. 329, 76 Am. Dec. 219.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 4.

Reason for rule.— As a general legal truth, a statute in derogation of the common rights of creditors ought to receive a strict construction; but if it concern the public good it should be construed liberally (Alexander Powlter's Case, 11 Co. Rep. 17; Rex v. Armagh, 1 Str. 516. Now, the public has a deep interest in the prosperity of mechanical employments, and a sufficient corrective is interposed by the prescribed inquiry, whether the articles claimed to be exempted are necessary. In relation to the natural description of the goods, of which an exemption is demanded, the exposition of the law, in my judgment, ought to be liberal; but so far as respects their protection, in a given case, on the ground that they are necessary for the upholding of life, this is a strict inquiry of fact. Patten v. Smith, 4 Conn. 450, 10 Am. Dec. 166. Exemption laws being remedial, beneficial, and humane in their character will be liberally construed. And when it does not clearly appear whether certain property is or is not embraced within the exempting statute the debtor will generally be allowed the benefit of the doubt and suffered to retain the property. Nelson v. Fightmaster, 4 Okla. 38, 44 Pac. 213 [citing Freeman Ex. § 208]. "The statute allowing exemption is reasonable and beneficent, and ought not to be so constructed as to defeat the intention of the legislature, unless unavoidable." Com. v. Boyd, 56 Pa. St. 402, 404.

The contrary rule.— The exemption law, being in derogation of the general law that all the debtor's property is the common pledge of his creditors, must be construed strictly. White v. Heffner, 30 La. Ann. 1280, 31 Am. Rep. 238; Boston Belting Co. v. Ivens, 28 La. Ann. 695; Crilly v. Sheriff, 25 La. Ann. 219; Guillory v. Deville, 21 La. Ann. 686; Pitard v. Carey, McGloin (La.) 289; Temple v. Scott, 3 Minn. 419; Grimes v. Bryne, 2 Minn. 89 (statutes of this nature are in derogation of the common law, and must be strictly construed and nothing can be taken by implication); London, etc., Loan, etc., Co. v. Connell, 11 Manitoba 115. Statutes exempting a debtor's property from the payment of his debts are not remedial in the ordinary sense so as to require them to be construed with any peculiar liberality. They are in derogation of the common law and confer immunities and privileges contrary to its general maxims. The interpretation therefore is to be according to what is written or what is plainly or manifestly to be implied from what is written. The court is not to speculate on what are the evils to be provided against and thus come to a conclusion in conformity to what a liberal and munificent spirit or perhaps a more enlightened judgment than that displayed in the legislalengths in this policy of liberal construction, they have balked at "construing" a statute so as to extend the right of exemption in one particular specific article to another and different article.[50]

4. Constitutionality.[51] An exemption law must not violate the rule against class or special legislation;[52] nor can it impair the obligation of a contract.[53] A more extended exemption given in an act than in the constitution is unconstitutional and void.[54] On the other hand a statute cannot restrict the exemption allowed by the constitution.[55] Where the legislature has passed exemption laws as authorized by the constitution, it cannot thereafter entirely abrogate the laws without a contemporaneous passage of substitutes therefor, but it has the power to modify the laws within the constitutional limits.[56]

D. Ownership of Property — 1. Necessity of. Only the owner of property can claim an exemption therein.[57] If the debtor's conveyance of his property is set aside as fraudulent the title does not revest in him so as to give him a right to exemptions therein;[58] but where one has in good faith sold the property tive provision would approve. Rue v. Alter, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 119.

50. "When a class of property is exempt, such as 'suitable apparel, bedding, tools, arms, and articles of household furniture, such as may be necessary for upholding life,' the courts take care that the beneficial purposes of the legislature are carried into execution, and give the statute the most liberal construction. But when a specific article is exempt, the court cannot extend the statute by construction to another and different article." Carty v. Drew, 46 Vt. 346, 347. See also Dinkins v. Crunden-Martin Woodenware Co., 91 Mo. App. 209, where the court refused to construe Rev. St. (1899) § 3158, exempting to persons not the head of a family their wearing apparel and their tools and implements if they are mechanics engaged in their trade to include the salary or wages of such persons.

51. Constitutionality of statutes generally see Constitutional Law; Statutes.

Constitutionality of exemption laws see Constitutional Law, 8 Cyc. 897.

52. A statutory provision that exemption laws should not operate as against the purchase-price of a specific article is not unconstitutional as class legislation (Rogers v. Brackett, 34 Minn. 279, 25 N. W. 601. See infra, I, F, 2); but a law exempting only certain enumerated property not exceeding a certain amount in value, where the execution has issued on a judgment for labor other than for professional services, is unconstitutional as special legislation (Burrows v. Brooks, 113 Mich. 307, 71 N. W. 460).

Under a constitutional provision that "a reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale," the legislature may provide for the exemption of a reasonable amount of property, but cannot discriminate between different classes of creditors or debts. Coleman v. Ballandi, 22 Minn. 144.

53. An exemption law which withdraws property from the lien of a judgment previously rendered by increasing the amount of exemption is unconstitutional and void, as it impairs the obligation of a contract. Gunn v. Barry, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 610, 21 L. ed. 212.

54. Duncan v. Barnett, 11 S. C. 333, 32 Am. Rep. 476.

Where a "reasonable amount" is provided for in the constitution, a statute which places no reasonable limit upon the amount of exemption is unconstitutional. In re How, 59 Minn. 415, 61 N. W. 456 [modified on rehearing in 61 Minn. 217, 63 N. W. 627].

55. Burrows v. Brooks, 113 Mich. 307, 71 N. W. 460.

56. Bull v. Conroe, 13 Wis. 233.

57. Cassell v. Williams, 12 Ill. 387; Bohn v. Weeks, 50 Ill. App. 236; State v. Springate, 51 Mo. App. 619; Stotesbury v. Kirtland, 35 Mo. App. 148; Larkin v. McAnnally, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 17. See Wygant v. Smith, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 185, where it was said that neither the bailee nor mortgagee of property was entitled to claim an exemption therein. Contra, Steen v. Hamblet, 66 Miss. 112, 5 So. 524.

Assignee.— If, without making claim, the debtor assigns a judgment in which he may have an exemption, his assignee has no right of exemption. Wabash R. Co. v. Bowring, 103 Mo. App. 158, 77 S. W. 106. See also Stotesbury v. Kirtland, 35 Mo. App. 148.

A wife to whom land has been fraudulently conveyed by her husband cannot claim a portion of it as exempt, or three hundred dollars out of the fund arising from the sale. Carl v. Smith, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 569.

Property not belonging to succession.— Where the property of the debtor has been sold under a judgment and a twelve-months' bond given for the price, which was less than the amount of the judgment, the widow and heirs of the deceased debtor cannot claim an exemption in the property, for, having been sold before the death of the debtor, it no longer formed a part of the succession, nor did the bond which was the consideration thereof. Murphy v. Rulh, 24 La. Ann. 74.

58. McNally v. White, 154 Ind. 163, 54 N. E. 794, 56 N. E. 214. But see infra, V, A, 3, a.

claimed to be exempt and subsequently rescinded the sale and regained possession, he may still have his exemption in the property.[59]

2. Joint Ownership — a. Tenancy in Common. A tenant in common is generally allowed to claim an exemption in his undivided interest in a chattel.[60]

b. Partnership Holding — (i) Claim by a Partner Against Firm Debt — (A) While Partnership Continues. By the great weight of authority individual partners cannot claim exemptions in the partnership property as against a partnership debt.[61] This is held on various different grounds: (1) On the well known ground that partnership property is subject to the payment of partnership debts before all other claims;[62] (2) the impracticability[63] or even inequity[64] of allowing an exemption out of the property; (3) that, under the theory of the civil law that a partnership is an entity[65] — a theory not generally recognized by

59. Boesker v. Pickett, 81 Ind. 554.

60. Servanti v. Lusk, 43 Cal. 238; Heckle v. Grewe, 125 Ill. 58, 17 N. E. 437, 8 Am. St. Rep. 332 [affirming 26 Ill. App. 339]; Radcliff v. Wood, 25 Barb. (N. Y.) 52; Rutledge v. Rutledge, 8 Baxt. (Tenn.) 33. Contra, Hawley v. Hampton, 160 Pa. St. 18, 28 Atl. 471; Bonsall v. Comly, 44 Pa. St. 442.

In Pennsylvania under the act of April 9, 1849, providing that "property to the value of three hundred dollars shall be exempt from levy and sale on execution or by distress for rent," a tenant in common is entitled to his exemption out of the fund raised by a sale of the real estate in proceedings in partition, notwithstanding the funds out of which he claims his exemption were not raised by sale on execution. Reed v. Hollibaugh, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 20.

In Wisconsin the exemption is not allowed where the chattels (horse, buggy, and harness) are incapable of separation or of exclusive possession and ownership. Wright v. Pratt, 31 Wis. 99. If the chattels are naturally severable, as for instance grain which may be divided by weight and measure, a tenant in common may claim his exemption therein. Newton v. Howe, 29 Wis. 531, 9 Am. Rep. 616.

61. Alabama.—Schlapback v. Long, 90 Ala. 525, 8 So. 113; Giovianni v. Montgomery First Nat. Bank, 55 Ala. 305, 28 Am. Rep. 723. Contra, Howard v. Jones, 50 Ala. 67.

Arkansas.— Richardson v. Adler, 46 Ark. 43.

California.— Cowan v. Creditors, 77 Cal. 403, 19 Pac. 755, 11 Am. St. Rep. 294.

Colorado.— McCrimmon v. Linton, 4 Colo. App. 420, 36 Pac. 300.

Illinois.— Fingerhuth v. Lachmann, 37 Ill. App. 489.

Indiana.— State v. Emmons, 99 Ind. 452; Smith v. Harris, 76 Ind. 104; Love v. Blair, 72 Ind. 281.

Indian Territory.— Hart v. Hiatt, 2 Indian Terr. 245, 48 S. W. 1038.

Kansas.— Guptil v. McFee, 9 Kan. 30.

Kentucky.— Green v. Taylor, 98 Ky. 330, 32 S. W. 945, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 897, 56 Am. St. Rep. 375.

Massachusetts.— Pond v. Kimball, 101 Mass. 105.

Minnesota.— Prosser v. Hartley, 35 Minn. 340, 29 N. W. 156; Baker v. Sheehan, 29 Minn. 235, 12 N. W. 704.

Missouri.— State v. Spencer, 64 Mo. 355, 27 Am. Rep. 244; State v. Pruitt, 65 Mo. App. 154.

Nebraska.— Lynch v. Englehardt-Winning-Davison Mercantile Co., 1 Nebr. (Unoff.) 528, 96 N. W. 524; Miller v. Waite, 59 Nebr. 319, 80 N. W. 907; Till's Case, 3 Nebr. 261.

New Hampshire.— Bateman v. Edgerly, 69 N. H. 244, 45 Atl. 95, 76 Am. St. Rep. 162; Peaslee v. Sanborn, 68 N. H. 262, 44 Atl. 384.

Ohio.— Gaylord v. Imhoff, 26 Ohio St. 317, 20 Am. Rep. 762.

Pennsylvania.— Hubbard v. Evarts, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 132; Clegg v. Houston, 1 Phila. 352.

South Carolina.— Ex p. Karish, 32 S. C. 437, 11 S. E. 298, 17 Am. St. Rep. 865.

Tennessee.— Gill v. Lattimore, 9 Lea 381; Spiro v. Paxton, 3 Lea 75, 31 Am. Rep. 630.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," §§ 83, 85.

Contra.— McCoy v. Brennan, 61 Mich. 362, 28 N. W. 129, 1 Am. St. Rep. 589 (holding that not all the partners need join in an action by one of them who claims an exemption out of the firm assets); Skinner v. Shannon, 44 Mich. 86, 6 N. W. 108, 38 Am. Rep. 232; St. Louis Foundry v. International Live-Stock, etc., Co., 74 Tex. 651, 12 S. W. 842, 15 Am. St. Rep. 870.

62. Gazette Pub. Co. v. McMurtrie, 7 Pa. Super. Ct. 617. See cases cited supra, note 61; and especially Pond v. Kimball, 101 Mass. 105; Gaylord v. Imhoff, 26 Ohio St. 317, 20 Am. Rep. 762. See also Story Eq. Jur. § 1253.

63. See State v. Bowden, 18 Fla. 17; Pond v. Kimball, 101 Mass. 105; State v. Spencer, 64 Mo. 355, 27 Am. Rep. 244.

64. In re Handlin, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,018, 3 Dill. 290.

65. A partnership is, in contemplation of law, a legal entity separate and distinct from the individual members. Stauffer v. Morgan, 39 La. Ann. 632, 636, 2 So. 98; White v. Heffner, 30 La. Ann. 1280, 1282, 31 Am. Rep. 238. "Une personne fictive et morale séparée des associés." Troplong Partn. § 68 [cited in Smith v. McMicken, 3 La. Ann. 319, 322]; Parsons Partn. § 3. "A partnership is a distinct entity, having its own property, debts, and credits. For the purposes for which it was created it is a person, and as such is the common law and one which is inconsistent with its principles[66] — and that the partnership property does not belong to the individual partners, but to the firm, that is, to the legal entity;[67] (4) that the different exemption statutes contemplate only individuals and have no reference to partnerships.[68] In North Carolina a partner may have his exemption as against the partnership debts provided the other partners consent,[69] but not otherwise.[70] The North Carolina rule has been adopted in Wisconsin,[71] but the general rule cannot be affected in those jurisdictions where it obtains[72] by the fact that the other partners do or do not consent to one of the firm having his exemption out of partnership property.[73]

(B) After Dissolution. If the partnership is dissolved before the lien of the judgment against which the exemption is claimed attaches and the dissolution has been bona fide, each partner may claim an exemption in the partnership property which has been set off to him.[74] If one member of the partnership becomes the bona fide owner of the partnership property, he may claim his exemption,[75] although the purchasing partner has not paid the consideration for the convey-recognized by the law." Rosenbaum v. Hayden, 22 Nebr. 744, 748, 36 N. W. 147.

66. See Blanchard v. Paschal, 68 Ga. 32, 34, 45 Am. Rep. 474; Dennis v. Kass, 11 Wash. 353, 358, 39 Pac. 656, 48 Am. St. Rep. 880; Parsons Partn. § 4.

67. Green v. Taylor, 98 Ky. 330, 32 S. W. 945, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 897, 56 Am. St. Rep. 375; Clegg v. Houston, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 352. See also Porch v. Arkansas Milling Co., 65 Ark. 40, 45 S. W. 51, 67 Am. St. Rep. 895; State v. Bowden, 18 Fla. 17.

68. Kansas.— Guptil v. McFee, 9 Kan. 30.

Massachusetts.— Pond v. Kimball, 101 Mass. 105.

Missouri.— State v. Spencer, 64 Mo. 355, 27 Am. Rep. 244.

Nebraska.— Lynch v. Englehardt-Winning-Davison Mercantile Co., 1 Nebr. (Unoff.) 528, 96 N. W. 524.

New Hampshire.— Bateman v. Edgerly, 69 N. H. 244, 45 Atl. 95, 76 Am. St. Rep. 162.

Ohio.— Gaylord v. Imhoff, 26 Ohio St. 317, 20 Am. Rep. 762.

Tennessee.— Spiro v. Paxton, 3 Lea 75, 31 Am. Rep. 630.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 83.

"A partnership is a legal but not a social entity. It can own property, it can buy and sell, it can sue and be sued, and it can plead and be impleaded in the courts of the land, but it can neither marry or be given in marriage, nor perform any other social function essential to its being elevated to the dignity of becoming the head of a family." Lynch v. Englehardt-Winning-Davison Mercantile Co., 1 Nebr. (Unoff.) 528, 532, 96 N. W. 524.

Where each partner owns distinct and separate property which is used in the business in which they share profits, the property is not partnership property so as to be without the exemption allowed by law. Root v. Gay, 64 Iowa 399, 20 N. W. 489.

69. Burns v. Harris, 67 N. C. 140.

The federal courts sitting in North Carolina have followed this rule of the state courts. In re Seabolt, 113 Fed. 766 [citing Burns v. Harris, 67 N. C. 140].

If the other partners consent the exemption may be allotted to the claimant out of the partnership property, although he has individual property sufficient to make up the exemption. State v. Kenan, 94 N. C. 296.

70. Burns v. Harris, 67 N. C. 140.

Personal property of a partnership was levied upon under an execution issued on a judgment against the firm. Both partners gave their consent to the sheriff to allot to each his personal property exemption, but before such allotment was made one of the partners withdrew his consent. It was held that such revocation was a bar to the right of the other partner to have his exemptions set apart to him. Stout v. McNeill, 98 N. C. 1, 3 S. E. 915.

Surviving partners cannot claim exemptions without the consent of the administrator of a deceased partner. Richardson v. Redd, 118 N. C. 677, 24 S. E. 420. But the exemption may be set apart to a surviving partner if he has the consent of the administrator of the deceased partner. In re Seabolt, 113 Fed. 766.

71. O'Gorman v. Fink, 57 Wis. 649, 15 N. W. 771, 46 Am. Rep. 58.

72. See cases cited supra, note 61.

73. Wills v. Downs, 38 Ill. App. 269.

74. Worman v. Giddey, 30 Mich. 151.

In Michigan a partner can claim an exemption against a firm debt before dissolution. See supra, note 61.

In Wisconsin a claim by each individual partner of an exemption against a firm debt is held to work such a severance of the partnership's property that the statutory right of exemption attaches as where the goods are held in severalty. O'Gorman v. Fink, 57 Wis. 649, 15 N. W. 771, 46 Am. Rep. 58.

The taking charge of property by a receiver for the purpose of winding up a copartnership estate is not a seizure or a threatened seizure for the payment of the individual debts of the copartners which justifies one of them in making a claim of exemption. Weinrich v. Koelling, 21 Mo. App. 133.

75. Levy v. Williams, 79 Ala. 171; State v. Thomas, 7 Mo. App. 205; Long v. Hoban, 7 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 688, 4 Cinc. L. Bul. 986; In re Bjornstad, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,453, 9 Biss. 13.

ance of the others' shares to him.[76] But if the lien of the judgment has attached before the dissolution of the partnership there can be no exemption to any partner against a firm debt.[77]

(II) Claim by Partner Against Individual Debt. Some courts make no distinction between a claim of exemption out of partnership property when the debt is against the partnership property and when it is against an individual debt, maintaining the rule as stiffly in the latter situation as in the former.[78] But other courts take the contrary and more rational view[79] and have pointed out the difference in the two cases[80] and taken the pains to severely criticize the authorities whom they deem — by reasoning difficult to refute — to have gone astray on this question.[81]

(III) Claim by Partnership. For the reason that the exemption laws contemplate only individuals and have no reference to partnerships,[82] the partnership

76. Voight v. Lafkin, 12 Ohio Cir. Ct. 751, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 124.

If the firm is insolvent at the time the property is conveyed to one partner, the transaction is fraudulent and no exemption will be allowed. Aiken v. Steiner, 98 Ala. 355, 13 So. 510, 39 Am. St. Rep. 85; Southern Commission Co. v. Porter, 122 N. C. 692, 30 S. E. 119. Contra, see Bates v. Callender, 3 Dak. 256, 16 N. W. 506.

Partners who have made an assignment for the benefit of creditors cannot claim that any part of the partnership property be set apart to them as exempt from execution. Ex p. Hopkins, 104 Ind. 157, 2 N. E. 587.

77. State v. Day, 3 Ind. App. 155, 29 N. E. 436. Contra, Blanchard v. Paschal, 68 Ga. 32, 45 Am. Rep. 474.

Exemption as against copartner.— A partner is entitled to his personal property exemption out of the partnership property before a debt due by him individually to his copartner can be deducted therefrom, on a settlement of the partnership. Evans v. Bryan, 95 N. C. 174, 59 Am. Rep. 233.

As against an individual debt a partner may have his exemption out of his share of the partnership property after an action for the dissolution of the firm has been brought against him by his copartner. Dennis v. Kass, 11 Wash. 353, 39 Pac. 656, 48 Am. St. Rep. 880.

The property in which the exemption is claimed must be of the kind allowed by law. Thus the tools and the stock in trade of the partnership are not exempt to one of the partners after dissolution and his acquisition of an individual title, unless it is shown that the tools and stock are kept by him for the purpose of carrying on his trade. Prosser v. Hartley, 35 Minn. 340, 29 N. W. 156.

78. Porch v. Arkansas Milling Co., 65 Ark. 40, 45 S. W. 51, 67 Am. St. Rep. 895; State v. Bowden, 18 Fla. 17.

79. Hart v. Hiatt, 2 Indian Terr. 245, 48 S. W. 1038; Southern Jellico Coal Co. v. Smith, 49 S. W. 807, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1594; Moyer v. Drummond, 32 S. C. 165, 10 S. E. 952, 17 Am. St. Rep. 850, 7 L. R. A. 747. See also Bright v. Buhr, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 579, holding that an allegation that plaintiff obtained judgment against defendant's partners is not an allegation that the debt was a partnership debt, or that the judgment was rendered against them as partners; and there is no reason why each defendant may not claim property exempt by statute.

80. Ex p. Karish, 32 S. C. 437, 11 S. E. 298, 17 Am. St. Rep. 865.

81. "To hold that one against whom an officer has an execution is entitled to have a certain amount of property, of which he has the entire title, exempted therefrom, and at the same time to hold that he could have no exemptions out of such property if he was not the sole owner, is to do violence to the evident intention of the statute. The different text writers upon the subject, though most of them have fallen into the error of grouping cases of judgments against a partnership with those against the individual members thereof, have come to the conclusion that, upon principle, exemptions should be allowed to the individual partner when the levy is under a judgment against him; and those of such writers who have carefully discriminated between cases of this kind, and those in which the judgments were against the partnership, have arrived at the conclusion that such doctrine is sustained by authority. The others seem to concede that the weight of authority is the other way, but we are not satisfied that such concession was the necessary result of the cases when critically examined." Dennis v. Kass, 11 Wash. 353, 358, 39 Pac. 656, 48 Am. St. Rep. 880.

Mr. Thompson, in his work, Homesteads and Exemptions, discusses this subject with ability, and after citing the cases upon each side of the question, sums up his conclusions in section 216 by the statement that the courts which have held that exemptions could not be had out of partnership property when levied upon under an execution against the individual partner have done so in the face of the statutes, for the reason that the rule announced by them is more convenient of execution than would be one which allowed such exemptions. Thompson Homest. & Exempt. [quoted in Dennis v. Kass, 11 Wash. 353, 354, 39 Pac. 656, 48 Am. St. Rep. 880].

82. See supra. I. D. 2, b, (I).

or firm has no right to an exemption as against the enforcement of an execution for the satisfaction of a judgment against the partnership.[83]

3. Ownership of Other Property.[84] Where certain articles are specifically exempt or where an absolute exemption to a certain amount is given in a certain class or in certain classes of articles, the fact that the debtor owns other articles or articles of a different class does not affect his right in the articles in question.[85]

E. Amount of Exemption.[86] Where there is a question of determining the amount of exemption to which the debtor is entitled, the courts are ever ready to apply the rule that exemption statutes should be liberally construed, whether they are construing a single statutory provision or several provisions together.[87] Of course if the whole of the debtor's personalty is not equal in value to the amount allowed by law none of it can be levied upon.[88] Money paid out by the debtor between the time of filing his claim of exemptions and the filing of his inventory will be deducted from the amount of his exemption,[89] unless the pay-

83. Louisiana.— White v. Heffner, 30 La. Ann. 1280, 31 Am. Rep. 238.

Maine.— Thurlow v. Warren, 82 Me. 164, 19 Atl. 158, 17 Am. St. Rep. 472.

Missouri.— State v. Spencer, 64 Mo. 355, 27 Am. Rep. 244.

Nebraska.— Wise v. Frey, 7 Nebr. 134, 29 Am. Rep. 380.

Wisconsin.—Russell v. Lennon, 39 Wis. 570, 20 Am. Rep. 60 [overruling Gilman v. Williams, 7 Wis. 329, 76 Am. Dec. 219].

United States.— In re Lentz, 97 Fed. 486, holding that a partnership cannot be a "head of a family" or a "single person not the head of a family" within the meaning of a statute which allows a certain amount of property selected as claimed as exempt by persons answering to the above description.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 84.

Contra.— Stewart v. Brown, 37 N. Y. 350, 93 Am. Dec. 578.

By statute in Dakota one partnership exemption was allowed out of partnership property. See Bates v. Callender, 3 Dak. 256, 16 N. W. 506.

84. As to the effect of owning other property when exemption is claimed in particular property, such as horses and work animals, animals used for food, and household goods, see infra, III, B, 1; III, C, 1, b; III, C, 3. See also infra, VI, C, 2, h, (I).

85. State v. Beamer, 73 Mo. 37; State v. Romer, 44 Mo. 99; Megehe v. Draper, 21 Mo. 510, 64 Am. Dec. 245; Smith v. Slade, 57 Barb. (N. Y.) 637. Thus where the statute exempted "one slave" to every debtor, the fact that the debtor owned other property is immaterial. Moseley v. Anderson, 40 Miss. 49.

Property set apart to a widow as a part of her year's support does not affect or diminish her right under the exemption law. Webb v. Brandon, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 285.

That the members of a debtor's family own other property does not affect his right to have set off to him for each member of the family a certain amount of attached property in lieu of provisions for the exemption given by the law is to the father. Crigler v. Connor, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 751. Contra, see Simonds v. Gulley, 7 Ala. 721, where it was held that the fact that the wife owned property in her separate estate affected the debtor's right, this on the principle that the exemption given by the law was for the benefit of the family.

Transferring other property cannot render the property levied on exempt, if at the time process is levied it is not exempt. Kilpatrick-Koch Dry Goods Co. v. Callender, 34 Nebr. 727, 52 N. W. 403. See Brooks v. Hathaway, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 290.

86. As against a debt antedating the Georgia constitution of 1877, one is entitled only to an exemption of personalty of the value of one thousand dollars. Johnson v. Dobbs, 69 Ga. 605 [approved in Richards v. Jernigan, 70 Ga. 650].

87. Alabama.— Enzor v. Hurt, 76 Ala. 595, construing Code (1876), §§ 2820, 2823.

Indiana.— Citizens' State Bank v. Harris, 149 Ind. 208, 48 N. E. 856, construing Horner Rev. St. (1897) § 734.

Kansas.— Donmyer v. Donmyer, 43 Kan. 444, 23 Pac. 627, construing Gen. St. c. 38, art. 3.

Missouri.— Rolla State Bank v. Borgfeld, 93 Mo. App. 62, construing Rev. St. (1899) § 3162. See also State v. Farmer, 21 Mo. 160.

Nebraska.— Johnson v. Bartek, 56 Nebr. 422, 76 N. W. 878; Williams v. Golden, 10 Nebr. 432, 6 N. W. 766, both construing Code Civ. Proc. §§ 521, 530.

North Carolina.— Campbell v. White, 95 N. C. 344 [citing Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Green, 78 N. C. 247], construing Const. art. 10, § 1.

Pennsylvania.— McFarland v. Short, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. 410.

United States.— In re Buelow, 98 Fed. 86, construing a Washington statute.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 39.

88. Godman v. Smith, 17 Ind. 152; State v. Kurtzeborn, 2 Mo. App. 335.

Amount of food and provisions exempt to a debtor see infra, III, C, 1.

Amount of insurance money allowed the debtor see infra, III, E.

89. Pinkus v. Bamberger, 99 Ala. 266, 13 So. 578, holding, however, that where a debtor, prior to the attachments against which he

ment was of just debts.[90] This liberal tendency of the courts is generally noticeable in applying the provisions of the statutes exempting animals,[91] but a provision exempting a horse of a certain value has been held not to include one worth more than that amount.[92] Where a statute exempts specific animals in numero, their number is not doubled when ownership in them is of an undivided half of each.[93]

F. Liabilities Enforceable Against Exemption Right — 1. Debt Not Founded in Contract — a. Generally. Exemptions can be claimed only as against judgments upon a contract. No exemption is allowed against a judgment for a tort.[94] It is therefore held that a judgment for conversion,[95] for detinue,[96] or a judgment obtained on a replevin bond[97] or for negligence,[98] fixes an obligation against which no exemption can be claimed. A judgment for a penalty,[99] or for alimony,[1] or a judgment fixing the responsibility of a man as father of a bastard claims exemption, sold book-accounts amounting to two thousand one hundred dollars in payment of a debt of one thousand six hundred dollars, with a provision that if more was realized it should be paid the debtor, no deduction should be made from the debtor's exemption on this account, in the absence of anything to show that any sum would accrue to the debtor from this source.

90. Trager v. Feibleman, 95 Ala. 60, 10 So. 213.

91. Good v. Fogg, 61 Ill. 449, 14 Am. Rep. 71; Munson v. Gashorn, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 404, 8 West. L. J. 569.

92. Waldo v. Gray, 14 Ill. 184; Everett v. Herrin, 46 Me. 357, 74 Am. Dec. 455. See also Hughes v. Farrar, 45 Me. 72; McClenden v. Jungling, 116 Mo. 162, 22 S. W. 688, holding that, although a stallion used only for the stud was a working animal, one worth four hundred and fifty dollars was not exempt under a law exempting from execution "working animals of the value of $150."

In North Carolina, under the term "other property" which may be set apart as exempt, the debtor may include a mare and five hogs provided their value does not exceed fifty dollars. Dean v. King, 35 N. C. 20.

93. Thus one who owns an undivided half of a yoke of oxen, of a yoke of steers, and of more than twenty sheep, is entitled to an exemption in either the oxen or the steers, and in ten of the sheep; not in both oxen and steers and in twenty sheep. "The statute exempts from attachment and levy of execution, one yoke of oxen or steers — not both,— and ten sheep in number. It is not the value of a yoke of oxen or steers, or the value of ten sheep. . . . Such holding would change the exemption from that of specific articles to their value, and so contravene the manifest intention of the statute." White v. Capron, 52 Vt. 634, 636. See infra, III, B, 1.

94. Alabama.— Northern v. Hanners, 121 Ala. 587, 25 So. 817, 77 Am. St. Rep. 74.

Arkansas.— Massie v. Enyart, 33 Ark. 688.

Indiana.— State v. Melogue, 9 Ind. 196.

Indian Territory.— Gaines v. Toles, 1 Indian Terr. 543, 37 S. W. 946.

Pennsylvania.— Kenyon v. Gould, 61 Pa. St. 292; Lane v. Baker, 2 Grant 424; Washburn v. Baldwin, 10 Phila. 472.

Contra.— Dellinger v. Tweed, 66 N. C. 206; Smith v. Omans, 17 Wis. 395, a case where the homestead was levied on.

Where a statute provides for the recovery of a wager lost upon any game of chance, exemption cannot be claimed against an action therefor. State v. Morgan, 160 Ind. 474, 67 N. E. 186.

95. Smith v. Ragsdale, 36 Ark. 297.

The conversion and misappropriation of public funds by a state treasurer is both a tort and a crime and no exemption can be allowed for the amount of the defalcation. Vincent v. State, 74 Ala. 274. See also Com. v. Lay, 12 Bush (Ky.) 283, 23 Am. Rep. 718 [approving Com. v. Cook, 8 Bush (Ky.) 220, 8 Am. Rep. 456].

96. Stuckey v. McKibbon, 92 Ala. 622, 8 So. 379.

97. These characteristics of a replevin bond (enumerated in opinion) show that the essential requisites of a contract are wanting. Pierce v. Lewis, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 250.

A delivery bond is not a contract against which an exemption can be claimed. Smith v. Brown, 28 Miss. 810.

98. De Hart v. Haun, 126 Ind. 378, 26 N. E. 61, where the negligence alleged in the complaint was the malpractice of a physician.

A constable who is liable for negligence in the performance of his office is not entitled to an exemption. Kirkpatrick v. White, 29 Pa. St. 176.

Extents against delinquent collectors of town taxes are not within the exemptions provided by statute. Hackett v. Amsden, 56 Vt. 201.

99. Crawford v. Slaton, 133 Ala. 393, 31 So. 940; Keller v. McMahan, 77 Ind. 62, holding that under a statute which allows an exemption against any debt growing out of or founded on a contract, express or implied, no exemption can be allowed a person against whom judgment was recovered for a penalty for running by a toll gate to avoid paying toll.

1. Bates v. Bates, 74 Ga. 105; Menzie v. Anderson, 65 Ind. 239.

As against a decree ordering a pensioner to pay a part of his pension for the support to pay an allowance to the mother,[2] does not arise out of contract and hence no exemption can be claimed against it. An action for the recovery of the possession of land and for the damages for the wrongful detention thereof is an action which sounds in tort and as against a judgment obtained therein no exemption can be allowed.[3] No exemption can be allowed as against a creditor who succeeds in having a fraudulent conveyance set aside.[4] A debtor who has violated a fiduciary relation cannot have the benefit of the exemption laws.[5] A defendant in action for fraud and deceit is not entitled to an exemption.[6] Whether an action sounds in tort or in contract must be determined by an examination of the plead-of his wife, no exemption can be claimed under U. S. Rev. St. § 4747. Tully v. Tully, 159 Mass. 91, 34 N. E. 79. See infra, III, F, 1.

Where a wife obtained a judgment against her husband for her maintenance and support, he cannot have the benefit of the law which allows an exemption to a head of a family. Spengler v. Kaufman, 46 Mo. App. 644. But where a woman obtained a divorce from her husband which required him to pay twenty dollars a month for the support of their infant child, and the husband was the father of the child by a former marriage, he was held entitled as the head of a family to claim an exemption when his weekly wages were garnished. Maag v. Williams, 92 Mo. App. 674 [distinguishing Spengler v. Kaufman, supra]. See also Jarboe v. Jarboe, 106 Mo. App. 459, 79 S. W. 1162.

2. State v. Parsons, 115 N. C. 730, 20 S. E. 511.

3. Penton v. Diamond, 92 Ala. 610, 9 So. 175; Smith v. Wood, 83 Ind. 522; Dorrell v. Hannah, 80 Ind. 497; Thomas v. Walmer, 18 Ind. App. 112, 46 N. E. 695; Smith v. Carter, 17 Phila. (Pa.) 344. See also Hardy v. Gunn, 122 Ala. 666, 25 So. 621.

In an action for unlawful detainer under Mansfield Dig. Ark. § 3351, plaintiff executed a bond and obtained a writ of possession. The jury found for defendant and judgment was rendered against plaintiff and his bondsman for damages and costs. It was held that the judgment was founded on a tort, and not on a contract, and that no exemption could be allowed as against it. Gaines v. Toles, 1 Indian Terr. 543, 37 S. W. 946.

The statutory cause of action for use and occupation is in the nature of assumpsit at common law, and not an action ex delicto. Exemption of personal property can therefore be claimed against a judgment obtained in such an action under Ark. Const. (1874) art. 9, § 1, which provides for an exemption of personal property for "debts by contract." St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Hart, 38 Ark. 112.

4. Taylor v. Dwyer, 131 Ala. 91, 32 So. 509.

Where a widow, by concealing an antenuptial contract whereby she relinquished all interest in her husband's estate, obtained from his administrator personal property in her right as widow and the administrator obtained judgment therefor, the judgment was for a tort. Nowling v. McIntosh, 89 Ind. 593.

5. Dangaix v. Lunsford, 112 Ala. 403, 20 So. 639 (an executor); Bescher v. State, 63 Ind. 302 (holding that, in a suit on the bond of a guardian, the court may add ten per cent damages to the amount found against the latter, and order it to be collected without relief from valuation laws). See also Potter v. State, 23 Ind. 550. Contra, Green v. Simon, 17 Ind. App. 360, 46 N. E. 693 (construing Horner Rev. St. Ind. (1896) §§ 703, 2459, 2460, 2527); Shreck v. Gilbert, 52 Nebr. 813, 73 N. W. 276 (holding that, although the library of an attorney at law, a resident of the state, is exempt under Nebr. Code Civ. Proc. § 530, by virtue of section 531, the exemption cannot be claimed against an execution upon a judgment recovered against him for moneys received professionally for the judgment creditor); Woods' Estate, 7 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 811 (an administrator). Compare Terrill v. Allgaier, 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 346, 14 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 199; Taylor's Estate, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 293, a guardian who was removed and ordered to pay costs of removal proceeding.

6. Edwards v. Mahon, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 531. But in Ashworth v. Addy, 7 Wkly. Notes Cas (Pa.) 342, it was held that an exemption may be claimed in proceedings for an attachment, where the judgment is sought on the ground that the debt was fraudulently contracted, and that defendant had fraudulently concealed his goods.

Property obtained by false pretenses.— S. D. Comp. Laws, § 5139, provides that "no exemptions, except the absolute exemptions, shall be allowed any person against an execution or other process issued upon a debt incurred for property obtained under false pretenses." See Hall v. Harris, 1 S. D. 279, 282, 46 N. W. 931, 36 Am. St. Rep. 730, holding that in a proceeding by defendant in attachment to have the additional exemptions under the statute set apart to him, an order denying a motion to discharge the attachment, on the ground that the debt for which the attachment issued was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses, is admissible and is a bar to the proceeding. S. D. Comp. Laws, § 5139, denying the right to additional exemptions, as against a debt incurred for property obtained under false pretenses, is not repealed by S. D. Const. art. 21, § 4, declaring the right of a debtor to exemption, from forced sale, of a homestead and a reasonable amount of personal property. Sundback v. Griffith, 7 S. D. 109, 63 N. W. 544.

ings.[7] If plaintiff sues in assumpsit and recovers judgment defendant is entitled to claim his exemption, although the foundation of the action was a tort.[8] If the form of the action is tort defendant cannot show for the purpose of claiming an exemption that the judgment was in fact taken upon a claim arising out of contract instead of tort.[9]

b. Costs of Action. Costs recovered in an action ex delicto are merely incident to the judgment and therefore no exemption is good against them.[10] An unsuccessful plaintiff in a tort action cannot have an exemption against the costs to which the judgment renders him liable.[11] Under a statute which allows an exemption against the debt growing out of or founded upon a contract, express or implied, a judgment for the costs of the opposite party is not within the statute, for the obligation is one which depends entirely upon the statute and not upon any contract.[12]

c. Obligation of Bail or Surety. According to some authorities the obligation of a surety upon a bond or upon an undertaking in a criminal proceeding is not a contract within the meaning of the exemption laws;[13] but the contrary is also

7. McDaniel v. Johnston, 110 Ala. 526, 19 So. 35; Green v. Simon, 17 Ind. App. 360, 46 N. E. 693. See De Hart v. Haun, 126 Ind. 378, 26 N. E. 61.

A sale of land under execution will not be enjoined on the ground that it is within the exemption from liability for debts founded on contract, unless plaintiff alleges or it is found by the court that the judgment on which the execution issued was founded on contract. Goldthait v. Walker, 134 Ind. 527, 34 N. E. 378.

8. Wireman v. Mueller, (Pa. 1887) 7 Atl. 592, where there had been an embezzlement.

Where the action was for debt founded on an account rendered by defendant for rent collected, the action was based on a contract and not on a tort, and an exemption could be claimed against it. "Clearly, he based his right to recover, not on a breach of duty growing out of any fiduciary relations which the defendant bore to him (for nothing of the kind is alleged in the pleadings), but upon the latter's implied contract to pay the balance of account which he admitted to be due to the plaintiff. . . . If the defendant's failure to pay over the balance admitted by him to be due involved any other or greater wrong than is involved in every action based on a count for money had and received to the plaintiff's use, or on an account stated, it does not appear in the record and was not made the basis of the plaintiff's demand. The action, therefore, both in form and substance, was based on a contract and not on a tort, and the defendant is entitled to the exemption." Bank v. Ziegler, 4 Kulp (Pa.) 407.

9. Smith v. Wood, 83 Ind. 522.

Especially is this so where the complaint is unequivocal as to the character of the cause of action. Green v. Simon, 17 Ind. App. 360, 46 N. E. 693.

Where the complaint united two causes of action in tort with one in contract, defendant was allowed to treat the judgment as one rendered upon contract and to claim his exemption. Ries v. McClatchey, 128 Ind. 125, 27 N. E. 349.

10. Stuckey v. McKibbon, 92 Ala. 622, 8 So. 379; Massie v. Enyart, 33 Ark. 688; Russell v. Cleary, 105 Ind. 502, 5 N. E. 414; Church v. Hay, 93 Ind. 323. Contra, Harting v. Grant, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 127. See also Lane v. Baker, 2 Grant (Pa.) 424. In Clingman v. Kemp, 57 Ala. 195, it was held that a debt due for costs was within the exemption laws. But in Stuckey v. McKibbon, 92 Ala. 622, 8 So. 379, it was held that this rule was intended to apply only to actions ex contractu.

11. Crawford v. Slaton, 133 Ala. 393, 31 So. 940; Northen v. Hanners, 121 Ala. 587, 25 So. 817, 77 Am. St. Rep. 74; Strohecker v. Buffington, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 124. Contra, Lane v. Baker, 2 Grant (Pa.) 424.

12. Ross v. Banta, 140 Ind. 120, 34 N. E. 865, 39 N. E. 732; State v. McIntosh, 100 Ind. 439; Donaldson v. Banta, 5 Ind. App. 71, 29 N. E. 362; In re Owens, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,632, 6 Biss. 432, interpreting an Indiana statute. But see Hain v. Rhoads, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 568.

Master's fee.— Where plaintiff's bill to restrain a trespass on his premises was dismissed at his cost, including the master's fee, he may claim an exemption as against the master's fee, for "by invoking the services of the master, said plaintiff impliedly agreed to pay him therefor, and hence no element other than that of debt on contract entered into the decree against him for costs, and he was therefore entitled to the exemption that was accorded to him by the sheriff." Bradley v. West Chester St. R. Co., 160 Pa. St. 72, 76, 28 Atl. 500.

13. Com. v. Dougherty, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 366. See also Com. v. Whiteside, 1 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) Sept. 25, 1869.

Where a statute provides that "there shall be no property exempt from execution for fine and costs for this offense" (carrying concealed weapon under certain circumstances), the surety of the principal is liable for the fine and costs for the offense of his principal and to the same extent; and not property of his, any more than that of his principal, is held.[14] There is the same disagreement of the authorities where the obligation of a surety is in a civil case.[15]

2. PURCHASE-PRICE. The exemption laws of the different states almost all contain a clause, in the form of a proviso or otherwise, that no exemption can exist against a debt for the purchase-price of property sold the debtor.[16] This right of the seller to enforce his claim for the purchase-price of personal property sold exempt. It is fine and costs for an offense from which, for the satisfaction of, the state expressly declares there shall be no exemption in property. Irvin v. State, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 588.

14. State v. Williford, 36 Ark. 155, 161, 38 Am. Rep. 34. See also Com. v. Lay, 12 Bush (Ky.) 283, 23 Am. Rep. 718.

15. Thus in Pennsylvania it is held that a claim for exemption cannot be maintained against an execution on a judgment on a recognizance given on an appeal from a magistrate. Edwards v. Withrow, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 13. In Indiana, on the contrary, the undertaking of a replevin bail is held to have all the elements of a contract and the obligation resulting therefrom is one within the exemption laws. Maloney v. Newton, 85 Ind. 565, 44 Am. Rep. 46.

A surety on a bond given by an assignee for the benefit of the creditors is entitled to an exemption of three hundred dollars, where suit is brought on default of the assignee to pay out moneys in his hands after distribution by an auditor has been confirmed by the court. Com. v. Brown, 17 Pa. Super. Ct. 520, the court approving the distinction made by the lower court between the assignee himself and his sureties, the default of the assignee being in the nature of a tort and therefore not within the exemption act.

16. Arkansas.— Friedman v. Sullivan, 48 Ark. 213, 2 S. W. 785.

Colorado.— Behymer v. Cook, 5 Colo. 395.

Florida.— A debtor cannot, by selecting property as a part of his exemption and excepting it from the operation of a general assignment made by him, render it exempt from sale for the payment of its price. Cator v. Blount, 41 Fla. 138, 25 So. 283.

Georgia.— Phelps v. Porter, 40 Ga. 485.

Michigan.— Gottesman v. Chipman, 125 Mich. 60, 83 N. W. 1026. See also Lillibridge v. Walsh, 97 Mich. 459, 56 N. W. 845, 104 Mich. 153, 62 N. W. 172.

New York.— See Smith v. State, 57 Barb. 637, to the effect that if the purchase-price is for a horse, it must appear that the horse was used in a "team" or that he was purchased for a "team" or a part of a "team." And compare Hoyt v. Van Alstyne, 15 Barb. 568, holding that an execution obtained in an action for taking personal property without the consent of the owner, and disposing of it, is not to be deemed as issued on a demand for the purchase-money of the property.

Pennsylvania.— Fehley v. Barr, 66 Pa. St. 196; Ulrich's Appeal, 48 Pa. St. 489; Kyle's Appeal, 45 Pa. St. 353; Scott v. Kerlin, 1 Del. Co. 545; Denlinger v. Burkey, 18 Lanc. L. Rev. 94. See also Wiley's Appeal, 90 Pa. St. 173.

Wisconsin.— Houlehan v. Rassler, 73 Wis. 557, 41 N. W. 720.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 97.

Contra.— Property exempt from execution cannot be sold on a judgment for debt, although the person owning the judgment has a verbal lien on the property sought to be sold for purchase-money. McGaughey v. Meek, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1195. The provision of Ill. Rev. St. p. 497, c. 52, § 3, that "no property" shall be exempt from sale for a liability incurred for the purchase or improvement thereof, relates only to real estate. Shear v. Reynolds, 90 Ill. 238; Howard v. Lakin, 88 Ill. 36; Wells v. Lilly, 86 Ill. 317. But see Friedman v. Sullivan, 48 Ark. 213, 2 S. W. 785.

Land, not money, as consideration.— A sold a horse to B, and A being indebted to C for land, B, by agreement of the parties, gave his note to C, who credited A on the land with its amount. It was held that the extinguishment of the debt for the land was the consideration of the note, and not the purchase-money for the horse. Washington v. Cartwright, 65 Ga. 177.

Money loaned one for the express purpose of enabling him to make a purchase of certain property, and so used by him, is "purchase-money" of said property, within the meaning of Wis. Rev. St. § 2982, subd. 20, providing that no property shall be exempt from execution for the purchase-money thereof; and such property may be levied on by the lender under a judgment obtained for the money loaned. Houlehan v. Rassler, 73 Wis. 557, 41 N. W. 720.

The fact that the property has been set apart as exempt does not prevent the enforcement of the claim for the purchase-money. Loyless v. Collins, 55 Ga. 370.

Where a factor makes advances and takes a lien on the growing crops, under Ga. Rev. Code, § 1977, such advances are in the nature of purchase-money, and the lien is superior to the wife's title, where the crop is set apart to her as personalty under the homestead law after it was made. Tift v. Newson, 44 Ga. 600.

Where the vendee, in a contract for the conditional sale of a horse, recovered damages of a third party for negligence in killing the horse, with which he purchased another horse, the vendor acquired no title to or lien on the new horse, and hence the vendee could hold it as exempt under the constitution. Smith v. Gufford, 36 Fla. 481, 18 So. 717, 51 Am. St. Rep. 37.

the debtor is a quasi-vendor's lien.[17] The right of the creditor to enforce his claim for the purchase-price of property classed as exempt extends only to the property purchased, not to other property.[18] The acceptance by the vendor of a note[19] or even the reducing of the claim to a judgment[20] has been held not to affect his right to enforce his claim for the purchase-money; the debt is nevertheless for purchase-money within the meaning of the statute. Whether the assignee of the debt or of a note given for the debt can enforce the claim for the purchase-money is a question upon which the authorities cannot be reconciled; some authorities hold that the assignee takes all the rights of his assignor,[21] while 17. See Weil v. Nevitt, 18 Colo. 10, 31 Pac. 487; Rodgers v. Brackett, 34 Minn. 279, 25 N. W. 601.

But in Arkansas it is said that the effect of this law is not to give to the vendor a lien for the purchase-price on the chattel sold, but only to forbid its exemption for his debt and to enable him to seize it at the commencement of its action, if still in the possession or control of the purchaser, without the necessity of alleging any of the ordinary grounds of attachment. It is a statutory process for impounding the chattel to prevent alienation pendente lite. Bridgeford v. Adams, 45 Ark. 136.

18. Loyless v. Collins, 55 Ga. 370; In re Tobias, 103 Fed. 68, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555.

In New York under the act of 1842 as amended in 1866, exempting a debtor's team from execution, except when the demand sued for is the purchase-money of such team, in a suit for the purchase-money of a horse the debtor may exempt another horse. Smith v. Slade, 57 Barb. 637. But prior to the amendment the property of a householder exempt by the laws of 1842 was liable for the purchase-money of other property also exempt by that law. Craft v. Curtiss, 25 How. Pr. 163; Barnes v. Anderson, 4 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 346. See Mathewson v. Weller, 3 Den. 52. Contra, the execution must follow the property sold, as if plaintiff retained a specific lien thereon for the price, and the execution cannot be levied on other exempt property to satisfy the same. Hickox v. Fay, 36 Barb. 9 [disapproved in Snyder v. Davis, 1 Hun 350, 3 Thomps. & C. 596, 47 How. Pr. 147]. But it was held that property exempt under the Revised Statutes could not be taken for the purchase-price of other articles, notwithstanding the proviso clause of Laws (1842), c. 157, § 1. Davis v. Peabody, 10 Barb. 91; Cole v. Stevens, 9 Barb. 676, 6 How. Pr. 424; Cox v. Stafford, 14 How. Pr. 519. But these decisions were not followed in Snyder v. Davis, 1 Hun 350, 3 Thomps. & C. 596, 47 How. Pr. 147.

Where a merchant purchases goods of the same class from different persons, and in the ordinary course of business so mingles them that it is impossible to designate the goods purchased from any one person, the entire stock will not be liable to seizure in an action by one of such persons for the purchase-price of goods sold, under N. D. Comp. Laws, § 5137, providing that no exemption shall be allowed against an execution issued for the purchase-money of property that has been seized under the execution. Wagner v. Olson, 3 N. D. 69, 54 N. W. 286. See also Mitchell v. Simpson Grocery Co., 114 Ga. 199, 39 S. E. 935.

19. Rogers v. Brackett, 34 Minn. 279, 25 N. W. 601 (under Minn. Gen. St. (1878) c. 96, § 311); De Loach Mill Mfg. Co. v. Latham, 99 Mo. App. 231, 72 S. W. 1080 (under Mo. Rev. St. (1899) § 3170). Contra, in New York where it was said that the word "purchase-money," in the statute of 1842, respecting property exempt from levy of execution, should be held to mean the original demand for the property sold as extinguished from the demand on the security. Davis v. Peabody, 10 Barb. 91, holding that a surety on the note given might have exemption. See also Smith v. Slade, 57 Barb. 637. So in British Columbia in Vye v. McNeill, 3 Brit. Col. 24, the debtor was allowed to claim his five-hundred-dollar exemption out of the proceeds of the sale of a horse, although the horse was sold to satisfy a promissory note given in payment thereof.

20. Fox v. Delong, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 137, under the act of April 9, 1849. But see contra, State v. Lacy, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 379, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 111. Compare Harley v. Davis, 16 Minn. 487.

21. State v. Orahood, 27 Mo. App. 496. "It seems to us that there is no good reason, founded on either principle or policy, why the vendee should be allowed to hold the property freed from this right, simply because the debt for purchase money has been transferred by the vendor to a third party." Langevin v. Bloom, 69 Minn. 22, 23, 71 N. W. 697, 698, 65 Am. St. Rep. 546. But see Harley v. Davis, 16 Minn. 487. Under the constitutional provision that "no property shall be exempt from sale for taxes or for the payment of obligations contracted for the purchase of said premises," notes of a third person indorsed and transferred by the vendee of land to the vendor in payment of the purchase-price constitute an "obligation." Whitaker v. Elliott, 73 N. C. 186.

"The true test is this: Does the vendee owe the purchase money, or any part of it? and if so, the debt comes within the constitutional provision, and it is immaterial to whom the money is due. The assignee, when it is assigned, becomes the owner of the debt, but it is still a debt incurred in making the purchase. Nor is it material whether the debt exists in the form of a note or bond or others hold that the privilege is personal to the debtor, that the transfer of the note does not carry with it to the assignee the right to resort to exempt property to satisfy a judgment which he may recover upon the note.[22]

3. Rent. The right to exemption is generally subordinate to the right of the landlord to the payment of the rent due him. Particularly is this true in the great agricultural states[23] where the lien on the crops raised by the tenant usually takes priority of all other liens.[24] This priority given to the landlord is personal to him and exists only for his benefit.[25] His rights do not attach as against a debtor of the tenant so as to deprive the tenant's debtor of the benefit of the exemption provisions.[26]

4. Debts For Necessaries — a. In General. If a creditor claims that the debt is an exception to the exemption laws in that it is for necessaries furnished the debtor, the articles alleged to be necessaries must have been furnished to the debtor as necessaries[27] to be applied by him directly, not mediately, for his use as in a verbal contract it is equally capable of being transferred." Lawson v. Pringle, 98 N. C. 450, 454, 4 S. E. 188.

22. Weil v. Nevitt, 18 Colo. 10, 31 Pac. 487; Shepard v. Cross, 33 Mich. 96.

23. Florida.— Hodges v. Cooksey, 33 Fla. 715, 15 So. 549, 24 L. R. A. 812. See also Cathcart v. Turner, 18 Fla. 837. But the exemption of personal property other than agricultural products raised on the land rented, although used on the rented premises, takes precedence over the lien for the rent. Schofield v. Liody, 35 Fla. 1, 16 So. 780 [following Hodges v. Cooksey, 33 Fla. 715, 15 So. 549, 24 L. R. A. 812].

Georgia.— Taliaferro v. Pry, 41 Ga. 622; Davis v. Meyers, 41 Ga. 95.

Louisiana.— Stewart v. Lacoume, 30 La. Ann. 157.

Mississippi.—Ransom v. Duff, 60 Miss. 901.

New Jersey.— Hoskins v. Paul, 9 N. J. L. 110, 17 Am. Dec. 455.

North Carolina.— Hamer v. McCall, 121 N. C. 196, 28 S. E. 297. See also Durham v Speeke, 82 N. C. 87.

Pennsylvania.— Williams v. Sheridan, 7 Luz. Leg. Reg. 14.

Tennessee.— Hill v. George, 1 Head 394.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 94.

Contra.— Rudd v. Ford, 91 Ky. 183, 15 S. W. 179, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 740; McGaughey v. Meek, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1195.

In the nature of purchase-money.— The crop is subject to the lien of the landlord, although set apart as an exemption for the benefit of the family of the tenant; the claim for rent being in the nature of purchase-money. Shirling v. Kennon, 119 Ga. 501, 46 S. E. 630; Harrell v. Fagan, 43 Ga. 339.

The lien extends to the satisfaction of costs of proceedings to recover the rents and therefore the costs must be paid before the tenant can have any exemption. Slaughter v. Winfrey, 85 N. C. 159.

"The object and effect of this statute was to abolish all exemptions against demands for rent, and this consequence follows regardless of the legal process adopted for the collection of such demands. The test of exemption or non-exemption is not the form of action pursued, but the consideration of the debt due." Ransom v. Duff, 60 Miss. 901, 903.

Unfinished cloth owned by the lessee of a fulling mill and sent there by him to be wrought is not exempt from distress by the landlord. Hoskins v. Paul, 9 N. J. L. 110, 17 Am. Dec. 455.

Where a tenant contracts with a third person to work the land on shares, the grain to be divided, the occupier under the agreement is not entitled to the benefit of the act of March 18, 1851, exempting property to the amount of two hundred dollars from distress, not being a tenant of the lessor, and there not being any privity of contract between them. Guest v. Opdyke, 31 N. J. L. 552.

Tex. Rev. St. (1895) art. 3251, giving a landlord a preference lien on the tenant's property that the tenant's right to statutory exemptions from forced sale shall not thereby be affected does not invalidate a judgment foreclosing such a lien on exempt property purchased by one pendente lite, where both he and the tenant omitted to claim such exemptions. York v. Carlisle, 19 Tex. Civ. App. 269, 46 S. W. 257.

24. 2 Tiffany Real Prop. § 575.

25. Under La. Code Pr. art. 644, exempting from execution instruments used by a dentist, but not exempting them as against a claim for rent by a landlord, a seizure of such instruments by a creditor was invalid, although the landlord afterward entered claim for the proceeds of the sale, as the landlord's right of seizure was personal, and could not be exercised by another. Duperron v. Communy, 6 La. Ann. 789.

26. The debtor of the tenant cannot be garnished. Swope v. Ross, 29 Ark. 370.

27. Lenhoff v. Fisher, 32 Nebr. 107, 48 N. W. 821.

Limited exemption even against debt for necessaries.— Mass. Pub. St. c. 183, § 30, exempts from attachment by trustee process twenty dollars due for wages for personal labor and services, except where the demand is for necessaries furnished to defendant or his family, when only ten dollars is exempt. It was held that a defendant in attachment is entitled to recover ten dollars from the garnishee absolutely, whether it appears that necessaries.[28] What is included in the term "necessaries" is a question of fact depending upon the circumstances of each case.[29] Debts for legal services,[30] medical attendance,[31] farming utensils,[32] supplies furnished the tenant by the landlord to support the tenant's family,[33] and supplies for making a crop and cultivating the land[34] have all been held to be within the exception to the exemption laws.

b. Board and Lodging. In some jurisdictions a specific provision of the statute excepts from the benefit of the exemption law a debt for board.[35] A statute the garnishment suit is for necessaries furnished the debtor or not. Sullivan v. Hadley Co., 160 Mass. 32, 35 N. E. 103.

28. Groceries furnished an unmarried person, and used in the family in which he is boarding, being taken in payment for his board, are not necessaries "furnished him or his family," within the meaning of Me. Rev. St. c. 86, § 55. McAuley v. Tracy, 61 Me. 523.

29. Fisher v. Shea, 97 Me. 372, 54 Atl. 846, 61 L. R. A. 567. See Provost v. Piche, 93 Me. 455, 45 Atl. 506.

30. Halsell v. Turner, (Miss. 1904) 36 So. 531 (holding that money collected by an attorney for wages due his client is not exempt from the attorney's lien for services); Rich v. Treu, 25 R. I. 208, 55 Atl. 492 [citing Crafts v. Carr, 24 R. I. 397, 53 Atl. 275, 96 Am. St. Rep. 721, 60 L. R. A. 128]. See also Fisher v. Shea, 97 Me. 372, 54 Atl. 846, 61 L. R. A. 567.

31. Darling v. Andrews, 9 Allen (Mass.) 106 [citing Wood v. O'Kelley, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 406].

The burial expenses of the deceased mother of a defendant in attachment cannot be charged as "necessaries," under Ohio St. § 6489, subd. 9, providing that in attachment against a head of a family, where the debt is for necessaries, ten per cent of the personal earnings of defendant may be attached. Watkins v. Schlecter, 9 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 590, 7 Ohio N. P. 42.

32. Mitchell v. Joyce, 69 Iowa 121, 28 N. W. 473.

33. Cathcart v. Turner, 18 Fla. 837, where by statute the landlord had a lien.

34. Cathcart v. Turner, 18 Fla. 837. Where an open account for supplies furnished to enable the purchaser to make his crop was reduced to judgment and a lien thereby created a subsequent setting apart to the debtor of the produce of the year as exempt personalty, under the constitution and statutes of the state, did not protect the same from sale under the judgment. Stephens v. Smith, 62 Ga. 177 [following Tift v. Newsom, 44 Ga. 600].

Confusion of necessaries and article not necessaries.— "The act of 1843, amending art. 3184 of the code, provides that debts due for necessary supplies furnished to any farm or plantation, shall be entitled to a privilege on the crop, for the making of which those supplies were furnished. It was incumbent upon the opponents to have brought their case within this rule, and, we are unable to say, that we have done so to a larger amount than the sum allowed by the district court as a privilege. Their account is made out in such a manner, as to render it impossible to ascertain their rights with precision. Things, which are clearly plantation supplies, such as corn and pork, are mixed up with other articles, which they are well aware are not supplies, such as cognac, annisette, cigars, and large quantities of ice, the latter article greatly preponderating; and the total amount of each invoice is charged, without showing the cost of the different articles it includes. The uncertainty, thus created by the opponents, may have been prejudicial to them in the district court, but it is not in our power to relieve them from the legal consequences of their negligence. We are of opinion, that the privilege must be limited to necessary supplies furnished to the plantation, and that it does not extend to supplies furnished to the family of the planter, beyond plantation fare." Hollander v. His Creditors, 6 La. Ann. 668, 669.

35. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Pennsylvania the act of 1889, amendatory of the act of 1876, makes this exception. The act of 1876 made wages liable to attachment execution where the claim was for board, but by an unfortunate wording of the act the court in Smith v. McGinty, 101 Pa. St. 402, held that the laborer who had the money and yet would not pay his board bill was still entitled to the benefit of the exemption law, thus rendering the act practically nugatory. To remedy this the legislature passed the act of 1889, and the two acts are thus required to be read together. If judgment has been obtained for more than four weeks' board, there is no exemption against an attachment execution for a judgment. Karnes v. Rosena Furnace Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 752, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 306; Tredennick v. Jones, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 548. Blythan v. Rescorla, 1 Kulp (Pa.) 351, decided in 1880, reached the same conclusion as Smith v. McGinty, supra. It is no defense to a garnishment that the garnishee answered that he owed defendant a certain amount for wages. Karnes v. Rosena Furnace Co., supra. But plaintiff cannot attach without giving security for damages by reason of a false claim or to prosecute his action, but is authorized to have merely an execution attachment founded on a judgment previously obtained. Serena v. Guilfry, 7 Pa. Dist. 141, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 549, 14 Montg. Co. Rep. 100. In spite of the act of April 4, 1889, providing that no exemption of property from attachexempting certain property from general execution has been held not to abrogate the common-law lien of an innkeeper.[36]

5. Wages and Material. A number of states have special statutory provisions that there shall be no exemption in personal property as against a claim for wages of any laborer,[37] of any "laborer or servant,"[38] or of "any clerk, mechanic, laborer, or servant,"[39] according to the jurisdiction. A provision of this character has been held subject to strict construction and one who wishes to avail himself of it must bring himself within its content.[40] Under a provision of this kind a laborer is one who performs manual labor not requiring special knowledge or skill and a servant is one performing menial service.[41] Whether wages which are exempt can be seized under a provision of this character depends upon the jurisdiction.[42] ment shall be allowed "on judgment" obtained for board, nevertheless when the wages are attached on original process, defendant can still claim wage exemptions, as the last act applies only to attachments "on judgments." Thomas v. Glasgow, 2 Pa. Dist. 711 [following McGentey v. Keefe, 8 Luz. Leg. Reg. 179].

36. Swan v. Bournes, 47 Iowa 501, 503, 29 Am. Rep. 492.

The lien given by statute to a boarding-house keeper is not affected by the exemption law. The lien is exactly the same as the common-law lien of the innkeeper. Thorn v. Whitbeck, 11 Misc. (N. Y.) 171, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 1088 [following Swan v. Bournes, 47 Iowa 501, 29 Am. Rep. 492].

Lien of liveryman.— Minn. Gen. St. (1894) § 6249, creating a lien in favor of livery or boarding stable keepers on account of feed and care of animals placed in their charge, does not impinge "section 12, art. 1, of our constitution, which, so far as here material, reads thus: 'A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure and sale, for the payment of any debt or liability; the amount of such exemption shall be determined by law.'" Flint v. Luhrs, 66 Minn. 57, 59, 68 N. W. 514, 61 Am. St. Rep. 391.

37. See Frutchey v. Lutz, 167 Pa. St. 337, 31 Atl. 638.

38. See Dickinson v. Rahn, 98 Ill. App. 245.

39. Reed v. Umbarger, 11 Kan. 206.

As against mechanics' liens.— A judgment debtor is not entitled to the three-hundred-dollar exemption when the fund is not adequate to the payment of mechanics' liens to an amount exceeding three hundred dollars filed between the entry of judgment and the sale. Building Assoc. v. O'Connor, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 453.

Provision applicable to homestead alone.— Ark. Const. (1868) art. 12, § 3, defining a homestead, and declaring that it shall be exempt from sale on execution, but that no portion shall be exempt from sale for labor performed for the owner thereof, refers only to the homestead, and does not apply to the exemption of personal property granted by section 1 of the same article. Parham v. McMurray, 32 Ark. 261.

40. Dickinson v. Rahn, 98 Ill. App. 245; Smith v. Kennett, 94 Ill. App. 331. The words "for labor," in a note given a physician for his services, do not import that the consideration was wages due the payee "as laborer or servant," within the meaning of the exemption law. Magers v. Dunlap, 39 Ill. App. 618. But a judgment of a justice which states that it is for "the wages of a laborer" is sufficient to authorize levy of execution on property otherwise exempt. Stroup v. Hobbs, 65 Ill. App. 296.

41. Dickinson v. Rahn, 98 Ill. App. 245.

One employed as a traveling salesman and bookkeeper is not such a laborer. Epps v. Epps, 17 Ill. App. 196.

One who manufactured a pair of boots upon the written order of another was an independent contractor, and hence his claim was not within Nebr. Code Civ. Proc. § 531, providing that nothing shall exempt any property from execution for clerks', laborers', or mechanics' wages. Fox v. McClay, 48 Nebr. 820, 67 N. W. 888.

The taking of a note by a laborer or servant for wages due him serves merely to liquidate the demand, and not to waive the lien given by the statute. Graves v. Ahlgren, 87 Ill. App. 668. See infra, V.

42. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Illinois no property whatever is exempt from execution for the wages of a laborer or servant. Bohn v. Weeks, 50 Ill. App. 236.

In Nebraska Code Civ. Proc. § 531*a*, providing for the exemption of wages of laborers who are heads of families was enacted long after section 531, which provides that no property of a debtor is exempt as against a debt for laborers' wages, and is controlling, and therefore the wages of a laborer cannot be seized under section 531. Snyder v. Brune, 22 Nebr. 189, 34 N. W. 364.

In Pennsylvania wages cannot be attached. Frutchey v. Lutz, 167 Pa. St. 337, 31 Atl. 638. Contra, Meiers v. Umla, 6 Kulp (Pa.) 332; Finns v. Banker, 5 Kulp (Pa.) 33; Enke v. Stine, 4 Kulp (Pa.) 45.

Claims for materials.— Minn. Const. art. 1, § 12, as amended in 1888, provides: "A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability. The amount of such exemption shall be determined by law. Provided, however, that all property so exempted

6. Preëxisting Liabilities. Whether a statute which makes an exception to the general exemption law has any effect upon a debtor's right to an exemption as against a liability or an obligation previously incurred or fixed is a question differently decided in different jurisdictions.[43] A devisee of land upon which the lien of a judgment in favor of a creditor of the devisor has attached cannot claim the land exempt from the judgment lien.[44]

7. Debts Due Government.[45] State exemption laws are inapplicable to debts due from a citizen to the United States.[46] shall be liable to seizure and sale for any debts incurred to any person for work done or materials furnished in the construction, repair, or improvement of the same; and provided further, that such liability to seizure and sale shall also extend to all real property for any debt incurred to any laborer or servant for labor or service performed." This provision is applicable only to a debt for labor and services performed. It does not apply to a debt for materials furnished. Burlington Mfg. Co. v. City Hall Com'rs, 67 Minn. 327, 328, 69 N. W. 1091.

Maritime lien for supplies.— In proceedings against a boat, by name, under the water-craft laws (57 Ohio Laws, p. 32), providing that claims for material, supplies, and labor shall be a lien on vessels to which they are furnished, neither the owner nor his wife are entitled, under the homestead laws of this state, to select and hold the craft, its apparel or furniture, exempt from execution in lieu of a homestead. Johnson v. Ward, 27 Ohio St. 517.

43. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Georgia it is held that an act rendering wages of a debtor liable for a debt for services rendered by a physician or surgeon applies only to services rendered before its passage. Moore v. McCown, 64 Ga. 617. See also Hawks v. Hawks, 64 Ga. 239. A judgment for the purchase-money of land, where the land has been sold for its satisfaction, but does not fully discharge the debt, is not such an encumbrance or lien on the crop made on the premises, which was matured and gathered before the levy on the land, as will defeat the right of the family of the vendee to the crop as an exemption, etc., under the homestead law. Johnson v. Holmes, 49 Ga. 365.

In Indiana it is held that a statute which excepts from the exemption law a judgment rendered in a suit upon a guardian's bond applies to bonds executed before as well as after the passage of the statute. Potter v. State, 23 Ind. 607.

In Pennsylvania the exception of a claim for wages from the exemption law was allowed, although judgment was obtained before the enactment of the statute making the exception. Van Wye v. Harrington, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 272. The same was held in Finns v. Banker, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 311, where the judgment was rendered before the passage of the act and the execution was issued subsequent to its passage. But a statute disallowing "from and after the passage of this Act" exemption on judgment obtained for board for four weeks or less does not apply to judgment obtained before the enactment. Brown v. Reiser, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 416. Under the act of April 9, 1849, exempting "from levy and sale on execution or by distress for rent" property to the value of three hundred dollars, a distributee of a fund raised by the sale of real estate in proceedings in partition, against whose interests there were liens prior to the commencement of proceedings, is entitled to his exemption, as against lien creditors in whose favor he had not waived the benefit of the law. Reed v. Hollibaugh, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 20.

In Texas a statute precluding a mortgagor of chattels from claiming them as exempt from sale to satisfy the mortgage applies to mortgages executed before the statute's enactment. Mason v. Bumpass, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1338.

44. Graves v. Graves, 106 Ind. 118, 5 N. E. 879.

Effect of mortgage upon exempt property see infra, IV.

45. Fines and costs.— In Kentucky an exemption can be claimed against the sale of property under an execution in favor of the commonwealth for fines and costs. Com. v. Lay, 12 Bush (Ky.) 283, 23 Am. Rep. 718. Compare Wilcox v. Hemming, 58 Wis. 144, 147, 15 N. W. 435, 46 Am. Rep. 625, holding that where the exemption is only from "seizure and sale on execution, or provisional or final process issued from any court, or any proceedings in aid thereof," the expenses incurred by impounding an animal under an ordinance regulating animals are not within the statute of exemption. "The power granted by the legislature to this city in its charter, by ordinance 'to restrain the running at large of cattle, horses, etc., and cause such as may be found running at large to be impounded and sold,' is a police power necessary to the due protection of the public at large in the use and enjoyment of the public streets, to which the private rights of property, and the ordinary exemption thereof from seizure and sale on execution or judgments in actions on contract or other incurred liability, must of necessity be subordinate."

46. U. S. v. Howell, 9 Fed. 674, 4 Hughes 483, where judgment was rendered on a warehouse bond.

St. 23 Vict. c. 25, exempting certain articles from seizure, does not bind the crown. Reg. v. Davidson, 21 U. C. Q. B. 41.

8. CONSTITUTIONALITY[47] AND CONSTRUCTION[48] OF STATUTES MAKING EXCEPTION. A statutory provision making an exception to the exemption laws is constitutional[49] or not[50] according to the jurisdiction. Statutory provisions making an exception to the general exemption laws are strictly construed.[51]

9. ENFORCEMENT OF LIABILITY.[52] The complaint or declaration should show that plaintiff's claim is within the exception to the exemption law.[53] The same is true of the recitals in the judgment and execution.[54] Nevertheless it has been held that in an action for purchase-money it was not necessary for the complaint, judgment, or execution to state the fact.[55] If plaintiff reduces his claim to a judgment and then sues on the judgment, it is held in some jurisdictions that he is no longer within the exception to the exemption law;[56] nevertheless in other

47. Constitutionality of statutes generally see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW; STATUTES.

48. Interpretation of statutes generally see STATUTES.

49. A provision that none of the personal property mentioned within the exemption laws shall be exempt from attachment or execution for the wages of any clerk, mechanic, laborer, or servant is constitutional. McBride v. Reitz, 19 Kan. 123.

50. An exception from the exemption laws in favor of debts or liability for wages due to clerks, laborers, or mechanics is unconstitutional and conflicts with section 12 of the bill of rights, which provides that a reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure for the payment of any debt. Tuttle v. Strout, 7 Minn. 465, 82 Am. Dec. 108.

An exception from exemption of debts due for rent is in violation of Const. art. 6, § 48. Donaldson v. Voltz, 19 W. Va. 156.

51. State Bank v. Holland, 11 Ind. 150.

52. Beginning action by attachment is not allowed by the act of May 8, 1876, making wages attachable for a board bill, but the act gives merely a right of an attachment execution after rendition of judgment. Serena v. Guilfry, 7 Pa. Dist. 141, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 549; Gibbons v. McCarthy, 16 Pa. Co. Ct. 541.

53. Pioneer Co-operative Co. v. Eagle, etc., Mfg. Co., 67 Ga. 38, holding that a complaint should show the character of the action for necessaries where plaintiff attempts to garnish the daily wages of a laborer. See, however, Green v. Spann, 25 S. C. 273.

Confusion of exemptions and exceptions to the exemption law.— Where it appears by an account annexed to the writ that necessaries were furnished defendant, the fact that a few articles in the account (which exceeded the amount for which defendant's wages had been attached) are not necessaries does not prevent trustee process for the articles which are necessaries. Pullen v. Monk, 82 Me. 412, 19 Atl. 909. Where goods against which a claim for the purchase-money is valid are indistinguishably mingled with those not exempt, the burden is on the person claiming the benefit of the exemption law to make a separation. Rose v. Sharpless, 33 Gratt. (Va.) 153.

Necessity of personal service of demand of payment for necessaries out of debtor's wages see K. B. Co. v. Batie, 25 Ohio Cir. Ct. 418.

Requisites of affidavit under the Ohio statute for the garnishment of debtor's wages see K. B. Co. v. Batie, 25 Ohio Cir. Ct. 418.

54. Hughes v. Melville, 60 Ill. App. 419 (holding that a recital that the judgment is for "work and labor" does not comply with the requirements that no personal property shall be exempt from levy when the debt is for wages of any laborer or servant, provided the court shall find that the demand so sued for is "for wages due such person as laborer or servant"); Buis v. Cooper, 63 Mo. App. 196 (holding that a judgment and execution must recite that the amount due is for the services of a servant or laborer rendered within six months as prescribed by statute, otherwise the execution cannot be enforced against exempt property); McCourt v. Brenaman, 1 Pa. Dist. 783, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 645 (holding that where the record fails to show that plaintiff is "a proprietor of an hotel, boarding-house or lodging-house," wages cannot be attached on a judgment for board and lodging under the act of May 18, 1876); Paxton, etc., Co. v. McDonald, (S. D. 1904) 99 N. W. 1107 (holding that in an action for the purchase-price, the decision and judgment which found that the goods were obtained by false pretenses should recite that fact).

A judgment for more than four weeks' board is not within the act and cannot be split up and an attachment cannot be issued for part of it. Tredennick v. Jones, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 548. See, however, Weisman v. Weisman, 133 Pa. St. 89, 19 Atl. 300, where the justice's docket, while showing that the claim of exemption was disallowed on account of the act of 1889, yet failed to show affirmatively that the judgment was for four weeks' board, and where the judgment was affirmed.

55. Rogers v. Brackett, 34 Minn. 279, 25 N. W. 601.

56. Brown v. West, 73 Me. 23 (holding that a claim for necessaries merged in and extinguished by a judgment rendered in a suit upon a claim and an action upon a judgment is not a suit for necessaries so as to render the wages of defendant liable therefor); In re Lumpkin, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,606, 2 Hughes 175 (holding that the landlord's specific lien for rent is waived by his jurisdictions a more rational and just view is taken of this exception to the exemption laws.[57]

II. PERSONS ENTITLED TO THE RIGHT.

A. Debtors or Defendants. Under a statute which makes certain exemptions to a "defendant" or to a "debtor," a terre-tenant who has not been a defendant or a debtor cannot claim exemption out of the proceeds of land bought by him subject to certain judgments.[58]

B. Constituents of a Family — 1. In General. Under a statute which exempts the wages of a member of a family, the word "family" has been held to be a collective body of persons, generally relatives and servants — a household living together in one house or curtilage — and does not embrace separate individuals who have no common home.[59] Under a statute exempting the earnings of a debtor where they are necessary for the use of his family, a debtor who supports kin whom he is not legally obliged to support,[60] or a debtor who has deserted his family in a foreign country and contributes nothing to their support,[61] is not entitled to exemption.

2. "Head of Family" — a. In General. To constitute a person the "head of a family" within the exemption laws there must be a condition of dependence acceptance of a judgment in lieu of rent and that exemption may be allowed against the judgment).

57. Garside v. Colby, 72 N. H. 544, 545, 50 Atl. 50 [quoting Freeman Judgm. § 244]: ("Whenever justice requires it, judgments will be generally construed, not as a new debt, but as an old debt in a new form"); Thompson v. Roach, 15 R. I. 417, 418, 6 Atl. 790 (where the court said: "The meaning of the statute is that any person who has furnished another with necessaries shall have the right to attach the latter's wages to their full amount. We cannot see any reason why we should not give effect to this meaning when the action is on a judgment as well as when it is on the original promise").

58. Eberhart's Appeal, 39 Pa. St. 509, 80 Am. Dec. 536.

A subtenant who has never been recognized by the landlord has no right to any exemption from a distress levied on his goods where the demand, warrant to distrain, etc., were all in the name of the original tenant. A mere stranger whose goods are on the premises and are distrained cannot claim the exemption. The original tenant might make the claim to protect the goods of his subtenant or the stranger, but neither of the latter persons is a debtor within the letter of the law, nor are they indeed within its spirit. Rosenberger v. Hallowell, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 330.

A bachelor debtor in Pennsylvania may have the benefit of the exemption law of 1849. Dieffenderfer v. Fisher, 3 Grant 30.

59. Zimmerman v. Franke, 34 Kan. 650, 9 Pac. 747.

A father and daughter living together, the mother being dead, constitute a family. Cox v. Stafford, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 519, holding that a debt due to the father for labor which is necessary for the support of his family is therefore exempt within the meaning of the code.

A mother and her infant son who lives with her and is dependent upon her for support constitute a family for which she provides. Cantrell v. Conner, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 324, 51 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 45.

The father of a bastard has no family within the meaning of Rev. St. § 5430. Moore v. Baughman, 8 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 396, 7 Ohio N. P. 149, holding that a conviction under the bastardy statutes of Ohio does not decide that defendant is the father of the child but merely that he is the reputed father.

The housekeeper of the debtor and her children are not a family supported by the debtor's labor, within the meaning of the statute which exempts personal earnings if necessary for the family. Van Vechten v. Hall, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 436.

Laborers hired to cultivate a farm are not a part of the housekeeper's family and no allowance will be made for them. McMurray v. Schuck, 6 Bush (Ky.) 111, 99 Am. Dec. 662.

An adult forty years old, residing with his stepmother and transacting her business, is not a member of the family of the person with whom he resides, so as to render his clothing exempt under a statute providing that the necessary wearing apparel of any member of the family of a householder shall be exempt from execution. Bowne v. Witt, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 475.

60. Blake v. Bolte, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 714, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 209, holding that one who supports his orphan nieces, is not entitled to the benefit of N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2463, since he is not legally obliged to support them. See, however, State v. Kane, 42 Mo. App. 253.

61. Wright v. Ball, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 231, 1 Clev. L. Rep. 140.

on the part of the other members of the family upon the head and either a legal or moral obligation on his part to support and maintain them.[62] Primarily the husband and father is the head of the family,[63] but it is not necessary that the debtor should be a husband or a father; a man who controls, supervises, and manages about the house may be the head of a family.[64] A debtor who does not sustain the relation of either husband or father toward the persons who are dependent upon him and live with him may be the head of the family.[65] If either of these relations exists, it is held in some jurisdictions that it is not necessary that the debtor's dependents should live with him;[66] but the contrary seems to be more often held,[67] and in some jurisdictions the terms of the statute require that the debtor should reside with his family.[68] But an unmarried debtor who contributes to the support of kin who do not reside with him has been held not

62. Rolater v. King, 13 Okla. 37, 73 Pac. 291, holding that a debtor who resides with his widowed mother and two sisters who are wholly dependent upon him for their support is entitled as the head of the family to a wages' exemption. See also Sternberg v. Levy, 159 Mo. 617, 60 S. W. 1114, 53 L. R. A. 438.

It is not essential that there should be any legal obligation to support other members of the family, provided the debtor is under a moral obligation which is performed. State v. Kane, 42 Mo. App. 253. See, however, Blake v. Bolte, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 714, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 209.

Under the old N. Y. Code Proc. § 297, which gave a wages' exemption, it was necessary for the debtor to show that he had a family dependent upon him, or that he supported the family, "wholly or in part by his labor." Martin v. Sheridan, 2 Hilt. 586.

63. See Whalen v. Cadman, 11 Iowa 226; Ness v. Jones, 10 N. D. 587, 88 N. W. 706, 88 Am. St. Rep. 755; State v. Finn, 8 Mo. App. 261 [citing Barney v. Leeds, 51 N. H. 253, a homestead case].

A woman living with her married daughter and the daughter's husband is not the head of the family, although the daughter is a minor. Briggs v. Bell, 8 N. J. L. J. 251.

64. Wade v. Jones, 20 Mo. 75, 61 Am. Dec. 584, holding that a man who had his widowed sister and her children living with him, who was keeping house and cultivating a small piece of ground, and who provided for and supported his sister and her four small children, the sister keeping house for him, must be considered as the head of a family. But see contra, Sallee v. Waters, 17 Ala. 482. And compare Whalen v. Cadman, 11 Iowa 226.

65. See cases cited infra, this note.

An unmarried man whose indigent mother and sisters live with him and are supported by him is the head of the family. Marsh v. Lazenby, 41 Ga. 153. See also Harding v. Hendrix, 26 Kan. 583; Seymour v. Cooper, 26 Kan. 539; Connaughton v. Sands, 32 Wis. 387.

An unmarried man who supports his mother who lives with him and keeps house for him is the head of the family. State v. Kane, 42 Mo. App. 253; Duffey v. Reardon, 70 Ohio St. 328, 71 N. E. 712. But see Riley v. Hitzler, 49 Ohio St. 651, 32 N. E. 752.

An unmarried man who with his sister keeps house for and partly supports his younger brothers and sisters is the head of the family. That his mother lives elsewhere and contributes to the support of the children is immaterial. Duncan v. Frank, 8 Mo. App. 286.

Maintenance of incapacitated adult kin.— Webster v. McGauvran, 8 N. D. 274, 78 N. W. 80.

66. Sallee v. Waters, 17 Ala. 482, 488, where it is said that upon the question whether a debtor is the head of a family or not, the relation of parent and child or that of husband and wife must exist to constitute a family and there must be a condition of dependence on the one or the other of these relations, but it is not necessary that all the dependents should live under the same roof or that the family should live together; it is the relation and the dependence on that relation, not the aggregation of the individuals, that constitute a family. See also Rogers v. Fox, (Tex. App. 1890) 16 S. W. 781, where the husband had not lived with his wife and children for a year or contributed to their support.

67. Gibson v. Gross, 8 Kan. App. 548, 54 Pac. 796; Beitz v. Schueller, 8 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 674, 7 Ohio N. P. 619 (holding that the debtor must show that he is living with and supporting his family, as the mere fact that he is married and has children does not give any exemption); Searcy v. Short, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 749 (holding that an itinerant dancing-master having no wife, but a minor son who does not live with him, is not entitled as head of the family to an exemption in household goods, for the provisions of the statute involve the idea of a place of residence where the head of the family sleeps and where his children or other members of the household stay. See also Wright v. Ball, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 231, 1 Clev. L. Rep. 140.

Temporary absence of wife and children from the state does not prevent the debtor from being the head of the family, although he has ceased to keep house. State v. Finn, 8 Mo. App. 261.

68. As where a statute provides for exemption of wages to a defendant "who is the

to be the head of the family, within the meaning of the exemption laws.[69] Under a constitutional provision that "each head of a family, or guardian or trustee of a family of minor children" shall have a certain exemption, the guardian of a minor child is entitled to the exemption.[70] Where an exemption is given to the head of a family in certain work animals and in animals used for food and support, the occupation of the head of the family is immaterial.[71] Where the claimant of exemption was not the head of a family at the time the debt was contracted and when execution was levied, the authorities are not in harmony upon the question whether he is entitled to an exemption if he becomes the head of a family after the levy and before the sale.[72]

b. Wife. The husband, not the wife, is presumptively the head of the family.[73] This presumption may be rebutted by showing conditions to exist that place the wife in that position and enable her as such to claim the exemption.[74] The wife of an absconding debtor may in many jurisdictions claim the right of exemption, either under a special statutory provision intended to govern such a case,[75] or head of a family and resides with the same." Wabash R. Co. v. Dougan, 41 Ill. App. 543.

It is for the jury to decide whether the debtor is the head of a family residing with the same. Barnes v. Rogers, 23 Ill. 350.

69. Jones v. Grey, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,463, 3 Woods 494 [distinguishing Marsh v. Lazenby, 41 Ga. 153].

70. "It is clear that the head of a family, though the family be but one child, would be entitled to the homestead. The family would be the head and the child. In case there should be no father or mother, then the guardian becomes the head of the family, and the minor and himself would constitute the family — the property being for the use of the child." Rountree v. Dennard, 59 Ga. 629, 630, 27 Am. Rep. 401.

71. Young v. Bell, 1 Kan. App. 265, 40 Pac. 675.

72. See cases cited infra, this note.

Some authorities maintain that after the lien has attached, it cannot be affected by the debtor's change of condition. Richardson v. Adler, 46 Ark. 43; Pender v. Lancaster, 14 S. C. 25, 37 Am. Rep. 420. See also Selders v. Lane, 40 Ohio St. 345.

In other jurisdictions a debtor is allowed to claim the exemption if he becomes the head of a family any time before the sale. Robinson v. Hughes, 117 Ind. 293, 20 N. E. 220, 10 Am. St. Rep. 45, 3 L. R. A. 383. See also Watson v. Simpson, 5 Ala. 233.

73. John V. Farwell Co. v. Martin, 65 Ill. App. 55. See Van Doran v. Marden, 48 Iowa 186, where the wife was the mother of three children by a former husband, and where her horses were levied on to satisfy her debt, and the husband used these horses in his work in supporting the family. The horses were exempt by law to her as the head of the family before she remarried and upon her remarriage the husband became the head of the family and she was held no longer entitled to the exemption under the law. But see Richardson v. Woodward, 104 Fed. 873, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94, 44 C. C. A. 235, holding that under Va. Const. art. 211, which secures to "every householder or head of a family" an exemption, etc., and provides that it should be "liberally construed to the end that all the intents thereof may be fully and perfectly carried out," a married woman holding title to the property, although living with her husband, is entitled to claim an exemption as against her own creditors with whom she has been trading as feme sole, for she is the head of a family either alone or jointly with her husband for exemption purposes. See supra, note 63.

74. Linander v. Longstaff, 7 S. D. 157, 63 N. W. 775.

If, on account of infirmity, disability, or absence of the husband, the wife becomes in fact the head of the family by taking exclusive charge of and managing and controlling the earnings and productions of the family which is dependent upon her for maintenance, the presumption is rebutted. Temple v. Freed, 21 Ill. App. 238; State v. Houck, 32 Nebr. 525, 49 N. W. 462; Hamilton v. Fleming, 26 Nebr. 240, 41 N. W. 1002; Schaller v. Kurtz, 25 Nebr. 655, 41 N. W. 642; Linander v. Longstaff, 7 S. D. 157, 63 N. W. 775. And see Wilson v. Wilson, 101 Ky. 731, 42 S. W. 404, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 925.

The mere fact that the wife conducts a business of her own which contributes to the support of the family does not make her the head of the family. She is not entitled to the exemption unless she is in fact the head of the family. Arnold v. Coleman, 88 Ill. App. 608; John V. Farwell Co. v. Martin, 65 Ill. App. 55; Ness v. Jones, 10 N. D. 587, 88 N. W. 706, 88 Am. St. Rep. 755.

The wife cannot recover in an action against the sheriff for levying on property alleged to be exempt, unless it is affirmatively found that she is the head of the family. Blount v. Medbery, 16 S. D. 562, 94 N. W. 428.

75. Berry v. Hanks, 28 Ill. App. 51 (holding that a deserted wife was entitled to the exemption, although she had no children); Malvin v. Christoph, 54 Iowa 562, 7 N. W. 6 (holding that it was not necessary for the husband to have deserted his family, or left without their knowledge and consent to en-under the theory that the exemption laws are for the benefit of the debtor's family and are to be liberally construed to that end.[76] Under this latter theory an absconding debtor's minor child has been allowed the benefit of the statutory exemption.[77] The fact that the husband has deserted his wife and absconded does not transfer the title of his exempt property to his wife.[78]

c. Surviving Husband or Wife. A widower[79] or a widow[80] may be the head of a family after the death of the spouse.

title them to the exemption); State v. Dill, 60 Mo. 433; State v. Chaney, 36 Mo. App. 513. See also Liberal Bank v. Redlinger, 95 Mo. App. 279, 68 S. W. 1073. In Lindsey v. Dixon, 52 Mo. App. 291, it was held that a wife of an absconding debtor could claim the exemptions of Rev. St. § 4903, or might select and hold as exempt any other property not exceeding three hundred dollars in value, although an absconding husband has not the articles exempted by the statute; that she might sue therefor in her own name, or interplead therefor in an attachment suit against the husband, unless her husband be a non-resident; but if the husband be a non-resident the wife cannot claim the exemption which the statute gives to the wife of an absconding debtor inasmuch as the husband could not have claimed an exemption in the first place.

76. Frazier v. Syas, 10 Nebr. 115, 4 N. W. 934, 35 Am. Rep. 466 (where a wife of an absconding debtor claimed a team of horses under a statute which allowed such an exemption to the head of a family engaged in the business of agriculture); Bonnel v. Dunn, 29 N. J. L. 435. Contra, Betz v. Brenner, 106 Mich. 87, 63 N. W. 970, holding that the wife of a merchant who has absconded and abandoned his business cannot recover the value of merchandise set apart to the husband as exempt, but subsequently seized by creditors under an attachment, since the husband's abandonment of his business abandoned the exemption. See also Miller v. Miller, 97 Mich. 151, 56 N. W. 348.

Under Wash. Code Civ. Proc. § 489, which excepts from exemption the property of a person who has left the state with intent to defraud his creditors the wife of the fugitive cannot as his agent and representative claim a householder's exemption under the statutory provision applying to cases of mere absence. Carter v. Davis, 6 Wash. 327, 33 Pac. 833.

77. Bank v. Griffith, 8 Pa. Dist. 333. In White v. Swann, 68 Ark. 102, 56 S. W. 635, 82 Am. St. Rep. 282, it was held that where the property of a debtor, the head of a family, was attached on the ground that he had concealed himself that summons could not be served upon him, and the property attached is exempt property, the exemption could be claimed in his absence by his minor children acting by their grandfather as next friend; that it was to be presumed that defendant had not abandoned the premises and that he had left the grandfather in charge. See infra, II, E, 2.

78. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Hoffman, (Nebr. 1903) 96 N. W. 1044, holding further that an appraisement after the creditor had dismissed his attachment upon the wife's filing an inventory and claiming exemption did not change the title of the exempt property from the husband to the wife.

79. A widower who after the death of his wife kept house just as before, his son and his son's wife living with him, paying no board or compensation, and who had full charge of the household, was held to be the head of a family. Tyson v. Reynolds, 52 Iowa 431, 2 N. W. 469. But a man who continues to reside in his dwelling-house after the death of his wife, but has no family there or elsewhere to provide for, is not the head of a family. Chamberlain v. Darrow, 46 Hun (N. Y.) 48.

80. A widow keeping a boarding-house and having a woman friend living with her as one of the family and also two domestics, besides boarders, is the head of a family. Race v. Oldridge, 90 Ill. 250, 32 Am. Rep. 27. A widow, a mother of several children, residing with her aged father, living in the same house and eating at the same table with him and cultivating, together with her children, portions of his lands is "the head of a family engaged in agriculture" within the statute and is entitled to the exemption of one farm-horse. Bachman v. Crawford, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 213, 39 Am. Dec. 163.

A widow living alone is not the head of a family. Emerson v. Leonard, 96 Iowa 311, 65 N. W. 153, 59 Am. St. Rep. 372. Contra, see Collier v. Latimer, 8 Baxt. (Tenn.) 420, 35 Am. Rep. 711. But see Brown v. Parham, 25 Ohio Cir. Ct. 640 [distinguishing Wentzel v. Hayes, 16 Ohio Cir. Ct. 110, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 756, in that it was decided when the statute "contained no comma after the words 'unmarried female' as it now does, and as found in Whittaker's code it contained a comma after the word 'widow.' This punctuation evidently influenced the court in that decision, as there is no sound reason why a widow should be entitled to an exemption that an unmarried female is not entitled to"], holding that under Ohio Rev. St. § 5441, which provides that every widow and every unmarried female having in good faith the care, maintenance, and custody of any minor children of a deceased relative, may have an exemption for a certain sum, a widow who is not the owner of a homestead and has not in good faith the care, maintenance, and custody of any minor child or children of a deceased relative has no right to an exemption.

d. After Divorce or Separation.[81] If a wife obtains a divorce and is awarded the custody of the children, but the husband continues to support the children, he may still have his exemption as the head of the family.[82] An abandoned wife who lives with and supports her children is the head of the family.[83] A childless man who lives apart from his wife and has not contributed to her support for a period of years is not the head of a family.[84]

3. Surviving Husband, Wife, Children, and Next of Kin.[85] It is not unusual to have a separate provision which continues, for the benefit of the widow and children, the exemption given to the debtor during his lifetime.[86] Where the exempt property of the decedent was exchanged for other property, the widow and children were held to have acquired the same rights in the property received in exchange;[87] and where the exempt property has been sold under attachment, the proceeds in court, undistributed at the death of the debtor, have been held to pass to the widow and children.[88] Whether under a statute of this kind or under one which continues the exemption for the widow alone, the widow's right to exemption depends very often upon circumstances of the case, or upon

81. Husband separated from wife claiming exemption as against a judgment for maintenance see supra, I, F, 1.

82. Roberts v. Moudy, 30 Nebr. 683, 46 N. W. 1013, 27 Am. St. Rep. 426.

In Texas an exemption which a man enjoys while he is a constituent of a family continues in him after the marital relation is dissolved. Withee v. Brown, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 544.

83. Nash v. Norment, 5 Mo. App. 545.

In Texas a man who had lived apart from his wife and children for a year and had not contributed to their support was nevertheless allowed as the head of the family an exemption in a horse and wagon. Rogers v. Fox, (App. 1890), 16 S. W. 781.

84. Linton v. Crosby, 56 Iowa 386, 9 N. W. 311, 41 Am. Rep. 107.

85. Surviving husband.— An exemption of personal property from forced sale, while the debtor has a family, does not continue in his favor, after the other members of the family are dead. "As to the surviving wife, the same right is secured by statute in reference to personal property exempt to the family. Batt Civ. St. art. 2046. But no provision of law, either constitutional or statutory, has been cited, and we have found none, securing the same right to a surviving husband. There may be expressions in the opinion in Cameron v. Morris. 83 Tex. 14, 18 S. W. 422, tending to support such contention; but in that case the husband died first, and therefore his rights as a survivor were not involved." Allen v. Ashburn, 27 Tex. Civ. App. 239, 242, 65 S. W. 45.

86. Kentucky.— Myers v. Forsythe, 10 Bush 394, construing Rev. St. c. 30, § 11.

Mississippi.— Hickman v. Ruff, 55 Miss. 549 (construing Code, §§ 1290, 1956); Mason v. O'Brien, 42 Miss. 420; Wally v. Wally, 41 Miss. 657 (construing Rev. Code, p. 469, art. 172, as amended by Acts (1860), p. 375).

North Dakota.— See Fore v. Fore, 2 N. D. 260, 50 N. W. 712, construing Comp. Laws, § 5779.

Pennsylvania.— Matter of Wood, 1 Ashm. 314, construing the act of March 26, 1814, and the act of March 31, 1821.

Texas.— Abney v. Pope, 52 Tex. 288, construing Paschal Dig. art. 5487.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 34.

In New York, in the absence of a statute, the court, through a liberal construction of the exemption laws for the benefit of the debtor's family, held that property which was exempt before the debtor's death continued so afterward in favor of his widow and children. Becker v. Becker, 47 Barb. 497.

In Texas, under the provisions making it the duty of the court to allow to the widow and children a certain sum in lieu of exempt property not existing in kind, the value of existing exempt property turned over in kind cannot be deducted from the sum allowed. Cooper v. Pierce, 74 Tex. 526, 12 S. W. 211.

As to continued exemption of pension money.— Under a statute providing that pension money is exempt from execution whether the pensioner is the head of a family or not and under Code (1873), § 2371, providing that a widow shall be entitled to such property only as would be exempt in the hands of her husband "as the head of a family," the money received by the widow from the United States government as a pension due the deceased person is not exempt from the decedent's debts. Perkins v. Hinckley, 71 Iowa 499, 32 N. W. 469. In New York the unexpended pension money left by the deceased pensioner in the hands of the widow who with children survived the pensioner was held exempt for the benefit of the children upon the decease of the widowed mother. Hodge v. Leaning, 2 Dem. Surr. 553. But neither under the state nor the federal statute is pension money exempt after the pensioner's death in favor of descendants other than a family for whom the pensioner provided. Matter of Winans, 5 Dem. Surr. 138. See also infra, III, F.

87. Sneed v. Jenkins, 90 Tenn. 137, 16 S. W. 64.

88. Myers v. Forsythe, 10 Bush (Ky.) 394.

the construction of the laws given by the courts of the different jurisdictions.[89] The widow has been held not entitled to any exemption where she had separated

89. See cases cited infra, this note.

Early in Mississippi the exemption continued in favor of the wife. Loury v. Herbert, 25 Miss. 101. The widow was entitled to hold the property thus exempt to the exclusion of the administrator. Holliday v. Holland, 41 Miss. 528; Whitley v. Stephenson, 38 Miss. 113. See EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS. She was entitled to the exemption in addition to her distributive share of the estate. Wally v. Wally, 41 Miss. 657; Coleman v. Brooke, 37 Miss. 71. The widow of an insolvent was entitled to the exemption as if her husband had died solvent. Williams v. Hale, 12 Sm. & M. 562, construing the law of 1846. A term for years was considered personalty and could be exempted to the widow free from debt if it did not exceed fifteen hundred dollars. Smith v. Estell, 34 Miss. 527. Subsequently the law was changed so that the exemption was continued for the benefit of the widow and children. Wally v. Wally, 41 Miss. 657. A widow's right, as the head of a family, to property exempt from execution, vests by operation of law and is not affected by the fact that the property has not been formally set off to her. Grafton v. Smith, 66 Miss. 408, 6 So. 209.

In North Dakota under Comp. Laws, § 5779, providing that in addition to the homestead, the surviving husband, wife, or children shall be allowed all personal property or money that is exempt by law from levy and execution, when a husband dies without children property so exempt does not become assets of the deceased husband's estate, to be eventually distributed to his heirs, but belongs to the widow absolutely. Fore v. Fore, 2 N. D. 260, 50 N. W. 712.

In Ohio a widow whose husband was not the owner of a homestead is not, under Rev. St. §§ 5438, 6165, entitled to an allowance out of his personalty in lieu of a homestead. Wolverton v. Paddock, 3 Ohio Cir. Ct. 488, 2 Ohio Cir. Dec. 279.

In Tennessee the statute originally continued the exemption for the benefit of the widow alone. Vincent v. Vincent, 1 Heisk. 333. The widow's claim for intestate husband's exempt property was held to be confined to that which was on hand as part of his estate at the time of his death (Johnson v. Henry, 12 Heisk. 696); and she was entitled to hold the articles exempted to her by the act of 1833, chapter 80, only as against claims of creditors, and not as against the legatees and distributees of the deceased (Duncan v. Duncan, 2 Swan 351). Under Acts (1842), c. 42, § 2, she was authorized to claim only the articles therein specifically exempted as against legatees and distributees of decedent. Duncan v. Duncan, supra. Code, § 2288, provides that property exempt from execution shall, at the husband's death, be vested in the widow "for herself, and in trust for the benefit of the children." It further provides that "property exempt . . . shall not go to the executor or administrator." Construing this section with sections 2113 and 2285 to 2290, which provide for a year's support, etc., the widow of an insolvent testator is entitled to the same benefit as the widow of an insolvent intestate. "By the concluding words of the section, this property shall not go to the executor or administrator. This shows that the benefit was intended not only for the widows of those dying intestate, but of those dying testate; and also that the benefit was secured without regard to the size or solvency of the estate." Pride v. Watson, 7 Heisk. 232, 233 [citing Turner v. Fisher, 4 Sneed 209]. The exemption which is continued by Code, § 2288, for the benefit of the widow is not restricted to specific articles enumerated in the code, but embraces all property which may at any time be exempted by statute. Merriman v. Lacefield, 4 Heisk. 209. Under Milliken & V. Code, § 3128, providing that exempt personal property, on the death of the head of a family who leaves a wife or children surviving, shall go to the widow for herself and in trust for the benefit of her children, of the deceased, or of the widow, or of both, the word "children" means the young sons or daughters of either deceased or his widow who formed a part of the family of which deceased was the head, and in default of such children the widow takes the exempt property absolutely. Compton v. Perkins, 92 Tenn. 715, 23 S. W. 66.

In Texas the right of a surviving wife to exempt personal property is paramount to all ordinary claims against the estate. Williams v. Hall, 33 Tex. 212. Under Paschal Dig. art. 5487, which provides that "the property reserved from forced sale by the constitution and laws of this state, or its value if there be no such property, does not form any part of the estate of a deceased person where a constituent of the family survives," the surviving widow of one who dies leaving no homestead is entitled to an allowance in lieu of such personal property exempt as her husband did not leave her at the time of his death. Terry v. Terry, 39 Tex. 310.

The fact that the widow owns separate property equal in value to her distributive share does not prevent her from claiming her exemption. Darden v. Reese, 62 Ala. 311 (and cases cited); Thompson v. Thompson, 51 Ala. 493; Coleman v. Brooke, 37 Miss. 71.

Selection.— Under Ala. Acts (1872), p. 66, extending the exemption of personal property to the widow or child or children under twenty-one years of age on the death of the owner, and allowing them additional exemptions of enumerated property, the widow has herself from her husband without cause.[90] Under the statutes of some of the states which continue the debtor's exemption for the benefit of the widow and children the children of a debtor who dies leaving no widow,[91] or the children of a debtor whose widow subsequently dies,[92] have the full benefit of the exemption law. In some jurisdictions the exemption can be enjoyed by the children during only their minority.[93]

C. Married Women. Through the liberal construction of exemption laws or sometimes through statutes which remove the common-law disability of married a right to select any property on hand at the death of the husband, or choses in action due him, to make up her exemption. Darden v. Reese, 62 Ala. 311. See infra, VI, C, 2, h, (I).

Waiver by the deceased.— Where a judgment debtor waived the benefit of the act of April 9, 1849, and then subsequently devised all his estate to his wife, who was appointed executor, the wife cannot claim the exemption. Deininger v. Schnee, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 94.

Subsequent marriage.— Under the act of Oct. 20, 1862, which provides that property exempt from execution of a husband who dies intestate shall descend in like manner as other property descends to his widow and children during widowhood, and afterward to all the children alike, the interest and estate of a widow in the property mentioned in the act ceases and determines upon her subsequent marriage to another husband, where there are no children of the former husband. The language used is that the property shall "descend in like manner as other property descends, according to the laws now in force, to the widow and children during widowhood." Her estate rests entirely on this clause, and is manifestly limited by it to her widowhood. Carpenter v. Brownlee, 38 Miss. 200.

90. Nye's Appeal, 126 Pa. St. 341, 17 Atl. 618, 12 Am. St. Rep. 873; Fyock's Estate, 9 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 89. See also Odiorne's Appeal, 54 Pa. St. 175, 93 Am. Dec. 683.

91. Whitcomb v. Reid, 31 Miss. 567, 66 Am. Dec. 579.

In Kansas where the statute exempts the library of a professional man, it is further provided that the widow shall be allowed to keep absolutely out of the estate for the use of herself and children all the personal property of the deceased which was exempt to him at the time of his death. . "If there be no children, then the said articles shall belong to the widow; and if there be children and no widow, said articles shall belong to such children." Under this statute the debtor's only survivor, a son, living in another state and more than twenty-one years of age, and not having been dependent upon him at the time of his death, was held entitled to the possession of his deceased father's law library. Taylor v. Winnie, 59 Kan. 16, 51 Pac. 890, 68 Am. St. Rep. 339.

92. Sneed v. Jenkins, 90 Tenn. 137, 16 S. W. 64, the court holding that upon the death of the widow there remained nothing of her interest in the property to which her second husband could lay claim.

In North Carolina the homestead exemption is continued for the benefit of the widow and children. There is no such provision in regard to the "personal property exemption." Johnson v. Cross, 66 N. C. 167. See also Bruton v. McRae, 125 N. C. 206, 34 S. E. 397; Welch v. Macy, 78 N. C. 240.

In Texas the minor children of a widower are entitled to property exempt from execution and to an allowance in lieu of specific property. Moore v. Owsley, 37 Tex. 603. But the minor children of a son of decedent are not entitled to an allowance in lieu of exempt property if the son's family were not constituents of deceased's family at the time of his death. Glasscock v. Stringer, (Civ. App. 1896) 33 S. W. 677.

Heirs.— In Florida it was held that the heirs succeeded to their ancestor's rights of exemption, and if the exempted property has been converted into funds, they may claim the value of the property. Carter v. Carter, 20 Fla. 558, 51 Am. Rep. 618. See also Baker v. State, 17 Fla. 406. In Texas it has been held that the heirs of a deceased surviving widow of a community cannot claim the exemption which existed in her favor in her lifetime, where the claimants were not constituents of her family. Peters v. Hood, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 376. But in Cameron v. Morris, 83 Tex. 14, 18 S. W. 422, it was held that by the decease of the surviving wife the exempt personalty descended to her collateral heirs free from liability of debt.

Widowed stepmother and children.— Batt Civ. St. art 2049, § 4, provides that if there be children of the deceased of whom the widow is not the mother, the share of the children in the exempted property, except in the homestead, shall be delivered to the children. Under this statute if the widowed stepmother sells the children's share of exempt personal property and appropriates all of the proceeds the children may recover from her. Burns v. Falls, 23 Tex. Civ. App. 386, 56 S. W. 576.

93. Cofer v. Scroggins, 98 Ala. 342, 13 So. 115, 39 Am. St. Rep. 54, construing Const. art. 10, § 3, and Code, §§ 2507, 2537.

The children of the first wife.— Where decedent leaves a second wife and minor children by the first wife, the children are entitled to share in allowance made in lieu of exemptions. Wilson v. Brinker, (Tex. Civ. App. 1903) 76 S. W. 213, under Rev. St. (1895) arts. 2037–2041, 2046–2051.

women, a married woman is entitled to claim an exemption independently of whether she is the head of a family, or sometimes whether she has any one dependent upon her.[94]

D. Householder. The term "householder," as used in the statutes of exemption, has been said to have almost the same meaning as the term "head of a family."[95] Nevertheless the term appears, in some instances at least, to have a broader significance than the term "head of a family."[96] A person who claims

94. Alabama.— Shuessler v. Wilson, 56 Ala. 516, where a married woman's claim for exemption of "articles of comfort and support of the household" was sustained under Rev. Code, § 2376.

Arkansas.—Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Adams, 46 Ark. 159, holding that the word "married" in a constitutional provision applied either to a man or to a woman.

Colorado.— Scott v. Mills, 7 Colo. App. 155, 42 Pac. 1021, a married woman carrying on business on her own account as if she were sole under the provisions of Gen. St. p. 695, § 6.

Georgia.— A married woman having the care and support of her dependent daughters, although not the head of a family, is entitled to an exemption in property belonging to her separate estate. Sparks v. Shelnutt, 99 Ga. 629, 25 S. E. 853.

Indiana.— Crane v. Waggoner, 33 Ind. 83, a married woman being a resident householder.

Kentucky.— The property of a husband exempt from attachment continues exempt for the benefit of the wife, notwithstanding the abandonment of her husband. Baum v. Turner, 76 S. W. 129, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 600.

Michigan.— McHugh v. Curtis, 48 Mich. 262, 12 N. W. 163, holding that a married woman who supports her family or contributes to its support by the employment of a team may claim the benefit of the laws exempting a team from execution.

Minnesota.— A married woman who lives with her husband on a farm and labors jointly with him in cultivating the farm and caring for the household is entitled to the exemption given by Gen. St. (1894) § 5459, to a debtor and his family, of provisions for one year. Boelter v. Klossner, 74 Minn. 272, 77 N. W. 4, 73 Am. St. Rep. 347.

Ohio.— Kimmel v. Paronto, 52 Ohio St. 468, 469, 43 N. E. 1040, holding that under Rev. St. § 6319, "to entitle the married woman to such exemptions she must be the head of a family, but that she is entitled to all exemptions that are allowed by law to the head of a family, and it is not essential to her right to them that she shall be living with her husband, or have a child or children living with, or supported by her." This rule was followed in Shaw v. Foley, 62 Ohio St. 30, 56 N. E. 475, the court holding that the rule is not confined to a case where the demand is for an allowance of wearing apparel and household goods in lieu of a homestead, but that it applies to a case where the demand is for an allowance of money in lieu of a homestead. But compare Lugauer v. Weisgerber, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 458, 13 Cinc. L. Bul. 637, holding that the exemption under Rev. St. § 5440, can only be allowed where the husband and wife are living together.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 21.

95. Chamberlain v. Darrow, 46 Hun (N. Y.) 48, 51; Peterson v. Bingham, 13 Wash. 178, 43 Pac. 42. See also Lowry v. McAlister, 86 Ind. 543; Sullivan v. Canan, Wils. (Ind.) 532, 534 (where the court said: "A house-holder may, as a general proposition, be said to be the head of a family occupying a house"); Pettel v. Muskegon Booming Co., 74 Mich. 214, 215, 41 N. W. 900 (where the court said: "The term 'householder' . . . embraces usually the head of an actual family dependent on him, whether housekeeping or not").

A person having and providing for a household is a householder. See Griffin v. Sutherland, 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 456.

"Householder having a family."— A householder may be said to be a person owning or holding and occupying a house; and a family may be defined to be a collection of persons living together under one head. A householder having a family may be characterized as the head of a family occupying a house and living together in one domestic establishment. Pearson v. Miller, 71 Miss. 379, 14 So. 731, 42 Am. St. Rep. 470.

96. In Hutchinson v. Chamberlin, 11 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 248, the court held that one who rents a house and keeps boarders and servants is a householder within the meaning of the exemption act of 1842, whether he has a family dependent upon him or not.

The term has been held to include: One who is not actually occupying a house, as for instance, one occupying rooms in a hotel with his family, although paying no board. Sullivan v. Canan, Wils. (Ind.) 532. A widower living in another man's house and paying the board of himself and his three children. Lowry v. McAlister, 86 Ind. 543. A bachelor occupying a house and maintaining a household of hired servants. Kelly v. McFadden, 80 Ind. 536. A judgment debtor occupying a house and taking boarders and hiring a woman to take charge of the house. Van Vechten v. Hall, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 436; Hutchinson v. Chamberlin, 11 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 248. An unmarried white man over twenty-one years of age living with his sister, each owning personal property and each contributing to the household expenses, but an exemption as a householder need not necessarily be a housekeeper at the time.[97] In Kentucky the statute gives an exemption to a "housekeeper," instead of a "householder." The term was early held by the courts to mean a housekeeper with a family;[98] and by a somewhat stricter construction than is usual it is held that to claim the benefit of the law the debtor must both be a housekeeper[99] and have a family.[1] Whether the statute uses the word "householder" or the word he directing and controlling the household. Graham v. Crockett, 18 Ind. 119. A widower having no one necessarily dependent on him who lives in a house belonging to a married daughter, on which he pays the taxes and keeps up improvements without paying other rent, and who contributes to the living expenses of the daughter who acts as his housekeeper, her husband, and himself. Bipus v. Deer, 106 Ind. 135, 5 N. E. 894. A woman having an infant son who lives with her and is dependent upon her for support. Cantrell v. Connor, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 224. A widower who employed a family to keep house for him and his adopted daughter, who was dependent upon him for support, even though, at the time of the levy on the debtor's property, the daughter was on a visit to her natural mother. Bunnell v. Hay, 73 Ind. 452. A woman who was a widow and householder before her second marriage and who continues to reside on her farm and support her children by her first husband after her second marriage, although her second husband resides with her. Brigham v. Bush, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 596.

The term has been held not to include: A widower living alone in his house and supporting no one, although the wife of his adult son came with her children each week to his house to aid him in keeping the house in order. Chamberlain v. Darrow, 46 Hun (N. Y.) 48, 11 N. Y. St. 100. An unmarried man occupying a house as an office and sleeping apartment and supporting a grandfather living and eating at another house, where the statute gave an exemption to a householder having a family. Pearson v. Miller, 71 Miss. 379, 14 So. 731, 42 Am. St. Rep. 470. A judgment debtor, none of whose children live with him, some of whom were grown and self-supporting, and whose younger children were mostly supported by their grandmother, and for whom he contributed little except occasional small sums in presents. Gregg v. Brickley, 27 Ind. App. 154, 59 N. E. 1072.

A householder who has neither wife nor child is entitled to hold one bed and bedding exempted under a statute exempting beds, bedsteads, bedding, and household utensils of any debtor necessary for himself, his wife, and children, providing the beds and bedding exempted should not exceed one bed, bedstead, and necessary bedding for two persons, and household furniture to the value of fifty dollars. Brown v. Wait, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 470, 31 Am. Dec. 154.

Under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1390, exempting certain articles of personal property when owned by a householder, and under section 1391 exempting other articles "owned by a person being a householder, or having a family for which he provides," and under section 2463 exempting personal earnings of a judgment debtor for services within thirty days when "necessary for the use of a family, wholly or partly supported by his labor," a man who is not a householder and has no family is not entitled to any exemption. Fink v. Fraenkle, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 140, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 402.

97. It is enough if he is the head of a family to whose support he contributes. Astley v. Capron, 89 Ind. 167.

A person who has temporarily given up housekeeping and has stored his household furniture intending to keep house again is a householder. Griffin v. Sutherland, 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 456; Cantrell v. Connor, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 224.

One whose family and household goods are in transit from a former abode to a prospective one is still a householder and entitled to his exemption. Mark v. State, 15 Ind. 98; Woodward v. Murray, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 400.

98. Gunn v. Gudehus, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 447.

99. Carter v. White, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 588.

1. Gunn v. Gudehus, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 447.

A debtor whose wife's mother continues to live with him after his wife's death, as she had before, and who is dependent upon him for support, is a housekeeper. Scholl v. Laurenz, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 971, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 228.

A debtor who has lived with a woman twenty years, although not married to her, and who still lived with her and had by her a minor son, is a housekeeper under the exemption laws. Bell v. Keach, 80 Ky. 42.

No legal obligation to support is necessary; a natural and moral obligation to support the family is sufficient. Scholl v. Laurenz, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 971, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 228. But see Carter v. Adams, 4 S. W. 36, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 91.

That the person living with the debtor should be dependent on him for support in the narrow and restricted sense of that word is not necessary. Thus, where the debtor's daughter supported herself by teaching school, and when not teaching made her home with him and performed household duties, the debtor was held to come within the statute. Doolin v. Dugan, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 749. But compare Carter v. Adams, 4 S. W. 36, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 91.

An unmarried woman with whom live her sister and her aunt who are not dependent upon the debtor for support is not entitled "housekeeper" it has been held that the fact that the householder[2] or the housekeeper[3] lives separate from his family need not deprive him of his exemption.

E. Residents or Non-Residents — 1. In General. In a number of jurisdictions the exemption laws protect the property of residents only;[4] but in other jurisdictions a non-resident debtor is entitled to the benefit of the exemption laws unless the statute provides to the contrary.[5] Of course if the statute by its terms requires residence, a non-resident can take no benefit thereunder.[6] A person who moves into the state with his family and personal property for the to exemption. Robinson v. Turner, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 79.

Where a widow was a housekeeper and subsequently married, the husband became a housekeeper and entitled to the benefit of the exemption law. Clark v. Miller, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 402.

2. Thus where a married man declared his intention of not living again with his family, he was nevertheless bound by law to support them and was held a householder within the meaning of the law and entitled to his exemption. Roney v. Wood, Wils. (Ind.) 378.

3. A widower with two children of tender age whom he provided for, but whom he kept in the care of his mother at her house, he himself occupying a single room about a mile distant as an office and dwelling without servants or other family than the aforesaid children who sometimes were with him at his office where he lodged and cooked and ate his meals, has been held a housekeeper. Seaton v. Marshall, 6 Bush (Ky.) 429, 99 Am. Dec. 683.

A mere temporary abandonment of his home and family by a man, and his staying at the house of a sister with nothing to show that he ceased to recognize the residence of his wife and children as his home, will not deprive him of the housekeeper's exemption. Carrington v. Herrin, 4 Bush (Ky.) 624.

4. Alabama.— Boykin v. Edwards, 21 Ala. 261 [following Allen v. Manasse, 4 Ala. 554]. See also Auerbach v. Pritchett, 58 Ala. 451.

Florida.— Post v. Bird, 28 Fla. 1, 9 So. 888.

Georgia.— Kyle v. Montgomery, 73 Ga. 337.

Indiana.— Hoagland v. Roe, 8 Ind. 275. See also Finley v. Sly, 44 Ind. 266.

Iowa.— See Lyon v. Callopy, 87 Iowa 567, 54 N. W. 476, 43 Am. St. Rep. 396.

Pennsylvania.—Collom's Appeal, 2 Pennyp. 130, 12 Wkly. Notes Cas. 309; Dock v. Cauldwell, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 51; McWilliams v. Newlin, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. 50; Wilkins v. Rubincam, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. 128; Snow v. Dill, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. 330. In Linsenmayer v. Smythe, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 400, a non-resident debtor was held entitled to the exemption allowed by the act of 1849.

Tennessee.— Hawkins v. Pearce, 11 Humphr. 44.

Wisconsin.— Commercial Nat. Bank v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 45 Wis. 172. See, however, Lowe v. Strigham, 14 Wis. 222.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 30.

In New Jersey, if the family of the debtor is resident, it is immaterial whether he resides within the state or not. Bonnel v. Dunn, 28 N. J. L. 153.

Foreign attachment.—See Yelverton v. Burton, 26 Pa. St. 351, holding that a debtor proceeded against by foreign attachment could not claim the benefit of the exemption law as against the foreign attachment because the act exempts property only from levy and sale on an execution or by distress for rent, and a foreign attachment is not an execution.

Wages and earnings.—The exemption given by the act of April 15, 1845, for wages and salaries, is not a mere personal privilege in the nature of an exemption, but is a limitation of jurisdiction, withdrawing wages and salaries altogether from the scope of the writ, and the proviso of the act of May 8, 1874, which denies to non-resident debtors the benefit of exemption laws of the commonwealth, does not apply. Mattson v. Bryan, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 355; Billin v. Froment, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 450. Under a statute which exempts the earnings of all married persons or persons who have to provide for the entire support of the family in the state of Wisconsin, a person who does not reside in the state, and whose family does not reside therein, is not entitled to the exemption. Commercial Nat. Bank v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 45 Wis. 172.

Necessity of residence within the county to give the ordinary jurisdiction see Rutherford v. Wright, 41 Ga. 128.

5. Illinois.— Mineral Point R. Co. v. Barron, 83 Ill. 365; Menzie v. Kelly, 8 Ill. App. 259.

Kansas.—Kansas City, etc., R. Co. v. Gough, 35 Kan. 1, 10 Pac. 89, where the state of the debtor's residence and the state of the forum had substantially the same law exempting earnings of the debtor.

Nebraska.— Wright v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 19 Nebr. 175, 27 N. W. 90, 56 Am. Rep. 747.

New Hampshire.— Hill v. Loomis, 6 N. H. 263.

New York.— Bunn v. Fonda, 2 Code Rep. 70.

Ohio.— Sproul v. McCoy, 26 Ohio St. 577; State v. O'Brien, 14 Ohio Cir. Ct. 300, 7 Ohio Cir. Dec. 386.

Oregon.— Bond v. Turner, 33 Oreg. 551, 54 Pac. 158, 44 L. R. A. 430.

Texas.— Bell v. Indian Live-Stock Co., (Sup. 1889) 11 S. W. 344.

Vermont.— Haskill v. Andros, 4 Vt. 609, 24 Am. Dec. 645.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 30.

6. Dinkins v. Crunden-Martin Woodenware Co., 99 Mo. App. 310, 73 S. W. 246; Latta v. Bell, 122 N. C. 639, 30 S. E. 15.

purpose of residing therein is a resident of the state, within the exemption laws, before he has secured a place of permanent residence.[7]

2. DEBTORS WHO HAVE REMOVED OR ARE ABSENT. As a corollary to the rule that the exemption laws protect the property of residents only, a debtor who leaves the jurisdiction to take up his abode elsewhere is not entitled to the benefit of the exemption laws of the jurisdiction which he has left.[8] A mere temporary absence from the state does not deprive a debtor of his right of exemption;[9] for the general rule of law is, a domicile once acquired continues until it is left with an intention not to return.[10] So long as the debtor maintains his residence within

A non-resident who visits the state occasionally does not come within the terms of the statute allowing exemptions to a resident. In re Dinglehoef, 109 Fed. 866.

A resident who assigns his exemption and then becomes a non-resident, without having his exemption allotted to him, cannot take advantage of the exemption law; nor can his assignee. Latta v. Bell, 122 N. C. 639, 30 S. E. 15.

A person who has been absent from the state seven or eight years working upon a steamboat in the waters of Florida is not entitled to the exemption. Munds v. Cassidey, 98 N. C. 558, 4 S. E. 353, 355.

One who is a resident at the time of the levy, but not at the time of the sale, is not entitled to exemption. Jones v. Alsbrook, 115 N. C. 46, 20 S. E. 170.

The debtor need not have been a resident at the time the debt was contracted; it is sufficient if he is a resident at the time of the attempted levy. Gray v. Putnam, 51 S. C. 97, 28 S. E. 149 [citing Rollings v. Evans, 23 S. C. 316; Chaffee v. Rainey, 21 S. C. 11], construing Const. (1868) art. 2, § 32.

Residence at time of sale.— In State v. Allen, 48 W. Va. 154, 35 S. E. 990, 86 Am. St. Rep. 29, 50 L. R. A. 284, it was held that if a man was a resident at the time of the sale, he was entitled to the exemption, although at the time of the levy he was not a resident.

7. Chesney v. Francisco, 12 Nebr. 626, 12 N. W. 94.

Temporary residents.— The exemption laws include persons temporarily resident of the state as well as those permanently residing there. Everett v. Herrin, 46 Me. 357, 361, 74 Am. Dec. 455 ("the statute exempts certain property of the 'debtor,' and does not limit the exemption to the property of the citizen, except in the single case of a fishing boat"); Lowe v. Stringham, 14 Wis. 222.

8. Indiana.— See Ross v. Banta, 140 Ind. 120, 34 N. E. 865, 39 N. E. 732.

Louisiana.— Lambeth v. Milton, 2 Rob. 81.

Michigan.— McHugh v. Curtis, 48 Mich. 262, 12 N. W. 163.

Minnesota.— Orr v. Box, 22 Minn. 485, absconding debtor.

Missouri.— See Stotesbury v. Kirtland, 35 Mo. App. 148.

Pennsylvania.— Dock v. Cauldwell, 19 Pa. Super. Ct. 51.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 33.

An intention on the part of the head of the family to abscond from one part of the state to another will not deprive the family of this privilege. Davis v. Allen, 11 Ala. 164.

Claim by the wife.— Where a guardian who was a resident householder embezzled funds of his ward and a judgment was obtained against him therefor, but no prosecution was instituted, and he absconded and his whereabouts were unknown, it was held that he did not lose his domicile and his wife might claim exemption in his behalf under Ind. Rev. St. (1894) § 727. Green v. Simon, 17 Ind. App. 360, 46 N. E. 693.

That the debtor is keeping himself hidden to avoid a criminal prosecution, he being occasionally seen in the county, and that his family were staying temporarily with his brother, did not show that he had lost his residence or ceased to be a householder in such a sense as to deprive him of his exemption. Norman v. Bellman, 16 Ind. 156.

No part of the property left behind by the debtor can be held exempt by him. McHugh v. Curtis, 48 Mich. 262, 12 N. W. 163.

9. Birdsong v. Tuttle, 52 Ark. 91, 12 S. W. 158, 20 Am. St. Rep. 156; Wymond v. Amsbury, 2 Colo. 213; Rice v. Wadsworth, 59 N. H. 100. See also Erickson v. Drazkowski, 94 Mich. 551, 54 N. W. 283 (where the debtor's wife was compelled to seek shelter in her mother's house which was in a neighboring state, on account of the wrongful seizure of her household property); Griffith v. Bailey, 79 Mo. 472 (where a wife whose husband had fled the jurisdiction to escape punishment for crime, shortly after his departure sold some of the household goods, and taking the rest with her went to her father-in-law's house in Kansas, where her husband joined her, and where they resided until he was brought back to Missouri upon requisition in the same year).

10. Griffith v. Bailey, 79 Mo. 472 [citing Greene v. Beckwith, 38 Mo. 384; State v. Finn, 4 Mo. App. 347].

Presumption of place of residence.— Under the exemption laws a debtor must be conclusively presumed to reside where his family live with his consent, where there has been no separation between husband and wife, and where they occupy the old home, even though he be voluntarily absent, and he cannot by such voluntary absence deprive his family of their rights in the household property, nor would it cease to be exempt while so held. Freehling v. Bresnahan, 61 Mich. 540, 28 N. W. 531, 1 Am. St. Rep. 617.

Evidence.— On an issue whether the debtor the jurisdiction, together with an animus revertendi, he is entitled to his exemption.[11] A protracted absence may become evidence of a change of residence.[12] If the debtor was a resident when the lien of the execution attached, his subsequent removal to and residence in another state does not defeat his right of exemption.[13] In the absence of statutory provision to that effect,[14] an intention on the part of the debtor to leave the jurisdiction,[15] or even preparations to leave,[16] do not deprive the debtor of his exemption.

F. Debtors With Family Out of Jurisdiction. By the very terms of the statute in some jurisdictions, a resident debtor whose family resides without the state is excluded from the benefit of the exemption granted;[17] but where the statute by its terms does not exclude such a case, the debtor whose family resided without the state has been held to have the benefit of the law.[18]

G. Citizenship. Alien residents have been held entitled to the benefit of the exemption law, although they are not citizens.[19] had lost his residence by the removal into another state he may be asked whether he had removed to engage in business in the other state. Jones v. Alsbrook, 115 N. C. 46, 20 S. E. 170.

11. Wymond v. Amsbury, 2 Colo. 213.

12. Wymond v. Amsbury, 2 Colo. 213.

Where a debtor moved out of the state to obtain more advantageous employment, intending to return as soon as he could, but having no plan of returning at any definite time, and his family being absent from the state for two years, it was held that he was not entitled to the benefit of the exemption laws as a resident of the state. Stotesbury v. Kirtland, 35 Mo. App. 148.

Where one, with his family and part of his household goods, left the state for government service in one of the territories, with the intention of returning when the service should terminate, he was held not entitled to the exemption. "The facts found show that Banta, though a resident of Indiana in law, yet that he was not a householder in this State, but was a householder in New Mexico at the time he demanded his exemption and when the sheriff's sale to appellant Ross took place." Ross v. Banta, 140 Ind. 120, 141, 34 N. E. 865, 39 N. E. 732.

13. McCrary v. Chase, 71 Ala. 540; Caldwell v. Renfro, 99 Mo. App. 376, 73 S. W. 340. But see Jones v. Alsbrook, 115 N. C. 46, 20 S. E. 170.

14. In some jurisdictions there is a positive statutory provision which takes away the exemption of a debtor starting to leave the state or about to take up his abode in another state. Graw v. Manning, 54 Iowa 719, 7 N. W. 150; State v. Laies, 46 Mo. 108; Hackett v. Gihl, 63 Mo. App. 447; Stein v. Burnett, 43 Mo. App. 447 [citing State v. Chaney, 36 Mo. App. 513]; State v. Kingsbury, 33 Mo. App. 519.

15. Winslow v. Benedict, 70 Ill. 120; Urquhart v. Smith, 5 Kan. 447.

16. Herzfeld v. Beasley, 106 Ala. 447, 17 So. 623; Anthony v. Wade, 1 Bush (Ky.) 110; Rasco v. Sheet, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 703. See also Stirman v. Smith, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 781, 10 S. W. 131, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 665, where a debtor had determined to remove from the state and his family had already gone and still remained at his home for business reasons, intending soon to follow his family, but where he was still held entitled to the benefit of the exemption law.

In New Jersey it has been held that where a debtor was absent from the state and his family was at the railroad station with the goods and actually moving, he was still entitled to the benefit of the exemption law. Bonnel v. Dunn, 28 N. J. L. 153.

In West Virginia, however, it is held that where a resident, with fixed intention to remove to another state and there reside, sets out for that state in pursuance of his intention, he becomes a non-resident directly he begins his removal and loses his right of exemption. State v. Allen, 48 W. Va. 154, 35 S. E. 990, 86 Am. St. Rep. 29, 50 L. R. A. 284.

17. Allen v. Manasse, 4 Ala. 454; Schwartz v. Birnbaum, 21 Colo. 21, 39 Pac. 416, construing Mills Annot. St. § 2562. See also Hughes v. Sausley, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 116, holding that a debtor cannot locate his family in another state and maintain an exemption of such property as he may need for his personal convenience through an indefinite period of residence.

18. Pettit v. Muskegon Booming Co., 74 Mich. 214, 41 N. W. 900, where the debtor's family lived in Canada and were supported out of his wages and where the statute gave an exemption when the defendant is a "householder having a family." Contra, see Zimmerman v. Franke, 34 Kan. 650, 9 Pac. 747.

In New Jersey a debtor's family may be residents of the state and he not and he may nevertheless have his exemption. Bonnel v. Dunn, 28 N. J. L. 153.

Where a woman is a resident of Kansas at the time of the marriage and continues to remain so, although her husband has never been a resident there, she may hold property exempt from judicial process as head of the family. Fish v. Street, 27 Kan. 270.

19. People v. McClay, 2 Nebr. 7. See also ALIENS, 2 Cyc. 106 note 78.

In Texas a statute which gives an exemption of tools, apparatus, etc., to every citi-

H. Persons Engaged in Particular Occupations. In some states provisions are made for the allowance of exemptions to persons who are engaged in certain specified occupations,[20] such as persons engaged in agriculture,[21] teamsters,[22] peddlers,[23] or laborers.[24]

I. Persons in Military and Naval Service. Where, in response to a requisition by the United States government to the governor of the state, a military force is raised to protect the frontier of the state and is mustered into the service of the United States, the officers of the force are not in the service of the state within the meaning of the exemption laws.[25] Where a statute provides that no civil process shall issue or be enforced against any person mustered into the service of the state or of the United States during his term of service or thirty days thereafter, a fieri facias against the former owner of the property can be set aside.[26] A person in the naval service is not entitled to the benefit of the zen or head of a family, has been construed to include, within its benefit, a person who is not a native-born and naturalized citizen, and the term, "every citizen," was held to have the meaning of its general acceptation as descriptive of the inhabitants of the country. Cobbs v. Coleman, 14 Tex. 594.

20. See cases cited infra, notes 21–24.

21. It has been held that a person is not considered to be engaged in agriculture, within the meaning of the exemption laws, unless he is so engaged to a considerable extent, or unless that is his principal occupation by which he derives his means of livelihood. Dulgar v. Hartmeyer, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 763, 8 Am. L. Rec. 15, 4 Cinc. L. Bul. 540. Thus where a man whose principal business was that of a butcher, but who cultivated a one-acre garden plot of ordinary vegetables, was held not entitled to an exemption of "five head of sheep and ten head of stock hogs," which the statute gave to a person "engaged in agriculture." Simons v. Lovell, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 510.

In Pennsylvania it has been held that a person is "actually engaged in the science of agriculture" when he derives the support of himself and family either wholly or in part from the tillage of fields. He must cultivate something more than a garden, although it may be much less than a farm. Springer v. Lewis, 22 Pa. St. 191.

Debtor's occupation at the time of the seizure, not afterward, is the test of whether he was a farmer and as such entitled to the exempt property accorded to farmers. Ray v. Hayes, 28 La. Ann. 641.

Exemption to person not head of family.— 15 S. C. Gen. St. p. 369, No. 308, allows an exemption of one-third of the yearly products to a laborer engaged in raising a crop; to be entitled to this exemption, he must show that he is not the head of a family, for the very object of the statute was to give an exemption to a person who is not the head of a family, as heads of families were provided for elsewhere in the law. Prince v. Nance, 7 S. C. 351.

22. A teamster within the meaning of such a statute is one who is engaged in the business of hauling freight for other persons for a consideration, by which he habitually supports himself and family, if he has one. Brusie v. Griffin, 34 Cal. 302, 91 Am. Dec. 695.

If he does not habitually earn his living as teamster or cartman, etc., he cannot claim the exemption. Dove v. Neuman, 62 Cal. 399. A keeper of a livery stable, although he constantly drives his own team in carrying persons about town (Edgecomb v. His Creditors, 19 Nev. 149, 7 Pac. 533), or a warehouseman, although he employ teams in hauling wheat to and from his warehouse (In re Parker, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,724, 5 Sawy. 58), is not a teamster.

A person who is a clerk in a store and has purchased horses with a view to giving employment to his son by whom exclusively the team was habitually used for hauling freight for the proprietors of the store and other persons is not a teamster. Brusie v. Griffith, 34 Cal. 302, 91 Am. Dec. 695.

The claimant need not drive the team with his own hands to come within the law. Elder v. Williams, 16 Nev. 416.

23. Stanton v. French, 83 Cal. 194, 23 Pac. 555, holding that a person engaged in delivering bread to the customers of his wife who is the manager, owner, and controller of the business is not a peddler within a statute which exempts certain property of a peddler by means of which he earns his living.

24. One whose only occupation was in having the entire care of a stallion moved from stand to stand for breeding purposes has been held a laborer, within the meaning of the exemption laws. Krebs v. Nicholson, 118 Iowa 134, 91 N. W. 923, 96 Am. St. Rep. 370, under Iowa Code, § 4008, exempting from execution certain property to the head of a family, if a laborer.

25. Highsmith v. Ussery, 25 Tex. Suppl. 96, holding that they are not entitled to exemption from liability to forced sales of the land of persons in the service of the state of Texas, within the meaning of the act of 1843.

26. Jefferis v. Shearer, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 330.

An exemption from imprisonment for debt, given by the statute of 1830 to soldiers of the American Revolution who were upward of seventy years of age, does not prohibit an attachment in debt against their property. Walker v. Anderson, 18 N. J. L. 217.

statute exempting the property of "soldiers in actual military service." [27] Where a statute makes an exemption of "such military arms and accoutrements as the debtor is required by law to furnish," the debtor's exemption continues so long as he is bound by law to furnish them and when the obligation ceases the exemption in the particular case ceases.[28]

J. Aged and Infirm Persons. Under a constitutional provision allowing to "every aged and infirm person" a right of exemption, a man sixty-six years old is entitled to an exemption from levy and sale, although he be a hale and hearty man.[29]

III. PROPERTY AND RIGHTS EXEMPT.

A. Money — 1. In General. Whether money can be held as exempt depends upon the statute.[30]

2. Fees. The fees due to a justice as part of the costs in a civil case tried before him may be claimed as exempt.[31]

3. Money in Custody of the Law. By some authorities the debtor may claim his exemption out of money in the custody of the law, as for instance out of a fund paid into court,[32] or money in the hands of the sheriff.[33] On the other hand, the courts in some jurisdictions will not generally allow this, for they require the debtor to be diligent enough to claim his exemption in the property before it has been converted into money.[34] Although exemption cannot be

27. Abrahams v. Bartlet, 18 Iowa 513, construing Laws (1862), c. 11.

28. Thus where it appeared that an officer in a militia regiment absconded from the state, he was, through his absence from the state, no longer under obligation to furnish these military accoutrements, and that therefore the exemption of the statute had ceased as to him. Owen v. Gray, 19 Vt. 543.

Enrolment of horse for service.— Under the Military Act of 1823, § 100, the written memorandum, made by the captain of a company of horse artillery, of an application to him by a member of his company to enroll his horse for service, is a sufficient enrolment to obtain exemption from seizure on execution. Shields v. Craney, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 274.

29. Allen v. Pearce, 101 Ga. 316, 28 S. E. 859, 65 Am. St. Rep. 306, 39 L. R. A. 710.

30. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Georgia under the constitution of 1877 a debtor cannot have cash set apart as constituting his exemption. Richards v. Jernigan, 70 Ga. 650; Johnson v. Dobbs, 69 Ga. 605. Nor can money be set apart for investment by defendant under the homestead exemption. Richards v. Jernigan, 70 Ga. 650. Civ. Code (1895), § 2841, provides that there can be no valid allowance of cash as an exemption unless the order of the ordinary provides for its investment in personal property. This section is not applicable where the property exempted was an interest owned and held by the debtor in a judgment. Johnson v. Redwine, 105 Ga. 449, 33 S. E. 676. Under Civ. Code (1895), §§ 2866, 2867, there is no exemption of cash or any provision for the investment of cash in property. Rosser v. Florence, 119 Ga. 250, 25 S. E. 975.

In Illinois, in Fanning v. Jacksonville First Nat. Bank, 76 Ill. 53, it was held that the exemption of one hundred dollars' worth of property suited to the debtor's condition in life may include a bank deposit of less than that amount. But later under the act of July 1, 1877, providing that the selection and exemption of property as exempt shall not be made by the debtor, or allowed to him from any money, wages, or salary due him from any person or corporation, a debtor was not allowed to claim money deposited in a bank as exempt from garnishment (Nichols v. Goodheart, 5 Ill. App. 574); and under this statute money due the debtor may be garnished, although his whole property, including said money, is less than is allowed as exemption (Finlen v. Howard, 26 Ill. App. 66. See also Monniea v. German Ins. Co., 12 Ill. App. 240).

Money in lieu of specific exemption see infra, III, K.

31. Dane v. Loomis, 51 Ala. 487.

32. Rolla State Bank v. Borgfeld, 93 Mo. App. 62; Marchildon v. O'Hara, 52 Mo. App. 523.

33. Williamson v. Harris, 57 Ala. 40, 29 Am. Rep. 707; Gibbons v. Gaffney, 154 Pa. St. 48, 26 Atl. 24. Thus money exempt from garnishment in the hands of the employer is exempt from seizure by a rule against the sheriff after payment to him by the employer on a judgment in favor of the employee. Cox v. Bearden, 84 Ga. 304, 10 S. E. 627, 20 Am. St. Rep. 359.

34. Surratt v. Young, 55 Ark. 447, 18 S. W. 539; Weaver's Appeal, 18 Pa. St. 307. See also Miller's Appeal, 16 Pa. St. 300; State v. Boulden, 57 Md. 314. See infra, V, A, 1, c, (III); VI, C, 2, f, (IV).

When the exempt property has been converted into funds by the administrators of the decedent, the heirs may claim the value of the property out of the funds as exempt claimed as a general rule against a mortgage in the foreclosure thereof,[35] it is held in some jurisdictions at least that the exemption may be allowed out of the surplus proceeds of the sale.[36]

B. Means of Gaining a Living — 1. Horses and Work Animals[37] — a. In General. A horse cannot generally be claimed exempt as a tool or implement of a trade[38] or profession.[39] A horse or a team of a teamster has been held exempt as "tools of his occupation,"[40] and in some jurisdictions a broad provision exempts a certain number of horses to a large class of persons who habitually earn their living by the use of the horses.[41] Under a statute exempting "one farm-horse or mule" a horse used in running a dray for the support of the owner and his family is exempt.[42] The term "horse" has been held to include a colt which could be rendered fit for service,[43] even though it is not shown that the colt has been broken to gear or used in harness.[44] Within the meaning of a statute exempting "two work animals" a mare is a "work animal."[45] A debtor is confined to the number of horses exempted by statute to him[46] or to from satisfaction of the debts of the decedent. Carter v. Carter, 20 Fla. 558, 51 Am. Rep. 618. See supra, II, B, 3.

35. See infra, VI, A, 5.

36. In re Bremer, 4 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 80, 3 Ohio N. P. 12. See also Yorkshire v. Cooper, 10 Brit. Col. 65.

A surplus remaining after the sale of real estate partakes of the nature of realty, and the debtor cannot claim an exemption of personalty out of the surplus, after the foreclosure sale. Beard v. Smith, 71 Ala. 568.

37. At common law or under the statute of Marlbridge the landlord had no right to take in distress for rent, beasts of the plow, if there were other movable chattels immediately available, to satisfy the arrears of the rent. Piggott v. Bertles, 2 Gale 18, 5 L. J. Exch. 193, 1 M. & W. 441, 1 Tyrw. & G. 729. See 1 Coke Litt. 47*a*, b. But if there were no other movable chattels immediately available to satisfy the rent, work beasts were distrainable. Hutchins v. Chambers, 1 Burr. 579, 2 Ld. Ken. 204.

38. Wallace v. Collins, 5 Ark. 41, 39 Am. Dec. 359 (holding that a horse is not an implement of a tanner's trade); Tucker v. Napier, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 670. Contra, Watson v. Lederer, 11 Colo. 577, 19 Pac. 602, 7 Am. St. Rep. 263, 1 L. R. A. 854, holding that a horse, wagon, and harness of an unmarried man engaged in assaying and sampling ores are exempt as tools, etc., of a mechanic, miner, or other person.

Whether a horse and wagon are necessary accessaries to the tools of a carpenter working in the country, for the purpose of moving the tools from one job to another, and therefore exempt, is a question for the jury. Whitmarsh v. Angle, 3 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 53.

39. Hanna v. Bry, 5 La. Ann. 651, 52 Am. Dec. 606, the horse of a physician.

40. Rice v. Wadsworth, 59 N. H. 100. But see Enscoe v. Dunn, 44 Conn. 93, 26 Am. Rep. 430.

A horse ordinarily used in the debtor's occupation is a "chattel" within 23 Vict. c. 25, providing that "tools and implements of, or chattels ordinarily used in the debtor's occupation, to the value of sixty dollars," are exempt. Davidson v. Reynolds, 16 U. C. C. P. 140.

41. See In re Hindman, 104 Fed. 331, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 20, 43 C. C. A. 558.

42. Kirksey v. Rowe, 114 Ga. 893, 40 S. E. 990, 88 Am. St. Rep. 65.

43. Winfrey v. Zimmerman, 8 Bush (Ky.) 587 (under the statute exempting a "work beast" or a "work horse"); Kennedy v. Bradbury, 55 Me. 107, 92 Am. Dec. 572 [citing Bowzey v. Newbegin, 48 Me. 410] (where the debtor owned neither oxen nor horses).

44. Hall v. Miller, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 336, 51 S. W. 36. Contra, see Durke v. Crane, 112 La. 156, 36 So. 306.

In Alabama it was held that it was sufficient if it was shown that the horse performed the common drudgery of the homestead, either by hauling wood, drawing the plow, carrying the family to church, etc., under the saddle or in traces, and that he need not have performed all these services; that if he was intended to be used in any or all of them, or in others of a kindred character, he was within the exemption of "one work horse." Noland v. Wickham, 9 Ala. 169, 44 Am. Dec. 435.

In California, under Code Civ. Proc. § 690, subd. 3, exempting from execution instruments of husbandry, also two horses, a debtor is not entitled to an exemption of colts unless he is engaged in farming. Murphy v. Harris, 77 Cal. 194, 19 Pac. 377.

In Michigan an unbroken two-year-old colt never used by the debtor, who had two other horses which he used in his business, is not exempt without showing that the owner intended to use the colt in a team. Hogan v. Neumeister, 117 Mich. 498, 76 N. W. 65. See Sullivan v. Davis, 50 Vt. 648.

45. White v. Wilson, 106 Mo. App. 406, 80 S. W. 692.

46. Pardue v. Recer, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 46 S. W. 112.

Under an early statute in Alabama a horse is exempt from levy on execution where the owner, the head of a family, owned but one horse and no mules or oxen, although he also owned slaves. Cook v. Baine, 37 Ala. 350.

his family.[47] Where a statute exempts to the debtor engaged in the business of agriculture "a pair of horses," he is not limited to any particular horses, but may select them.[48]

b. Stallion. A stallion kept solely for stud service is not exempt as a work horse.[49]

c. Oxen, Mules, Asses, and Other Animals. Under a statute which exempts to the debtor a horse, mule, or yoke of oxen, a single ox is exempt if the debtor has neither a horse, mule, nor other oxen.[50] Under a statute which exempts one yoke of oxen to the debtor, the fact that the debtor has an interest in another yoke of oxen which he has sold to another by a conditional sale does not prevent him from holding exempt the yoke remaining to him.[51] An exemption of a yoke of oxen does not necessarily imply cattle already "broke" to work.[52] Statutes which exempt horses have been held to include mules[53] and jackasses[54] within their meaning; and a statute which exempts a mule to the debtor includes within its meaning an ass which the debtor uses for farm work.[55]

d. What Constitutes a "Team." The term "team," as used in an exemption statute, has been construed to mean one horse or more as the case may be, together with the harness and the vehicle which is customarily attached for use.[56] Nevertheless the debtor may, if he so chooses, claim simply one horse, without either the harness or the vehicle, as a working team.[57] Moreover a wagon alone

47. Simonds v. Gulley, 7 Ala. 721.

Evidence that the debtor owns other horses is admissible in his action of replevin, for the horse claimed might prove not to be exempt by the proper statutory selection. Gass v. Van Wagner, 63 Mich. 610, 30 N. W. 198.

48. Conway v. Roberts, 38 Nebr. 456, 56 N. W. 980.

49. Robert v. Adams, 38 Cal. 383, 99 Am. Dec. 413; Smith v. Dayton, 94 Iowa 102, 62 N. W. 650; Krieg v. Fellows, 21 Nev. 307, 30 Pac. 994. Contra, Krebs v. Nicholson, 118 Iowa 134, 91 N. W. 923, 96 Am. St. Rep. 370; Smith v. Dayton, 94 Iowa 102, 62 N. W. 650; State v. Jungling, 116 Mo. 162, 22 S. W. 688.

But a stallion used by a farmer about his own farm work, and also for stud service, is exempt under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 690, exempting "two horses" used as farm-horses. McCue v. Tunstead, 65 Cal. 506, 4 Pac. 510. See also Allman v. Gann, 29 Ala. 240, holding that the use is a question of inference to be drawn by the jury on a survey of the evidence.

50. Wolfenbarger v. Standifer, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 659.

Under a statute exempting "one pair of working cattle," a bull used for work is exempt, although the owner has no other cattle. Bowzey v. Newbegin, 48 Me. 410. See also Mallory v. Berry, 16 Kan. 293, where the debtor was allowed to claim as exempt an unbroken steer twenty months' old.

51. Wilkinson v. Wait, 44 Vt. 508, 8 Am. Rep. 391.

52. If the work cattle are intended by the owner for use and are old enough to be used as work cattle, they are within the statute. Mallory v. Berry, 16 Kan. 293; Berg v. Baldwin, 31 Minn. 541, 18 N. W. 821. See also Nelson v. Fightmaster, 4 Okla. 38, 44 Pac. 313 (holding that under an exemption of "one yoke of work oxen," a two-year-old steer and a two-year-old bull which had been yoked together a few times and are being kept by the owner for the purpose of work oxen are exempt); Mundell v. Hammond, 40 Vt. 641 (holding that a yoke of steer calves is included under an exemption of "one yoke of oxen or steers, as the debtor may select").

53. State v. Cunningham, 6 Nebr. 90; Allison v. Brookshire, 38 Tex. 199.

54. Robinson v. Robertson, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 253.

55. Richardson v. Duncan, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 220.

56. Brown v. Davis, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 43; Cogsdill v. Brown, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 341.

57. Wilcox v. Hawley, 31 N. Y. 648; Finnin v. Malloy, 33 N. Y. Super. Ct. 382 (on the theory that defendant might take any portion of what constitutes a team, the court saying that this was the spirit of the decision of Lockwood v. Younglove, 27 Barb. (N. Y.) 505, where it was held that the debtor who has but one horse and hires another to work with it, his own horse, which is his interest in the team thus made, is exempt, if within the statutory limit of value); Hutchinson v. Chamberlin, 11 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 248.

The horse of a country physician whose patients reside at too great distance to visit on foot is a necessary team within the statute of 1842. Wheeler v. Cropsey, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 288. But compare Hanna v. Bry, 5 La. Ann. 651, 52 Am. Dec. 606.

Necessary evidence as to value.—It is necessary for a person claiming a horse as his team to show that he is a householder, that his household furniture, workman's tools, and team do not in the aggregate exceed in value two hundred and fifty dollars. Upon these facts being established, he is entitled to his exemption. Wilcox v. Hawley, 31 N. Y. 648; Dains v. Prosser, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 290.

may be exempt as part of the team.[58] And it has been held that a colt four months' old and its dam are not properly speaking a span.[59]

e. Use. Under statutes which exempt work horses or a team, the debtor is not entitled to hold them exempt unless he actually uses them in his business.[60] A team kept for pleasure merely is generally not exempt.[61] It need not be used exclusively in the debtor's business.[62] If the debtor employs his horses in his principal business,[63] as husbandry[64] or peddling,[65] the fact that he uses them occasionally in other ways will not deprive him of his right to his exemption, although he cannot claim any exemption unless he habitually earns his living by the use of them.[66] The fact that the debtor is temporarily not engaged in his occupation does not preclude him from having an exemption.[67] It is not necessary that the horse or team be in actual use at the time of the levy or attachment.[68] In New York[69] and in Kansas[70] the head of a family may hold exempt a horse used in any manner to support the family, there being no restriction as to the occupation of debtor.

2. Vehicles, Harness, Etc. The word "wagon" has been construed in some jurisdictions to mean any four-wheeled vehicle, whether covered or placed upon

58. Dains v. Prosser, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 290 [overruling Morse v. Keyes, 6 How. Pr. 18]; Hutchinson v. Chamberlin, 11 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 248. See also Baker v. Hayzlett, 53 Iowa 18, 3 N. W. 796.

A horse, harness, and cart belonging to a public carman are exempt as a team under the act of 1842. Harthouse v. Rikers, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 606.

59. Ames v. Martin, 6 Wis. 361, 7 Am. Dec. 468, construing Rev. St. c. 102, § 58.

60. Corp v. Griswold, 27 Iowa 379; Hickok v. Thayer, 49 Vt. 372 (holding that the statute exempting "two horses kept and used for team-work, in lieu of oxen," means that the debtor cannot have both oxen and horses exempt); In re Parker, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,724, 5 Sawy. 58.

A horse required for actual use by a commercial traveler in his business of selling goods by sample is exempt under a statute exempting a horse when "required for farming or teaming purposes, or other actual use." Towne v. Marshall, 64 N. H. 460, 13 Atl. 648.

A liveryman who hires out his team and thereby earns his living may hold it exempt. Washburn v. Goodheart, 88 Ill. 229; Root v. Gay, 64 Iowa 399, 20 N. W. 489.

What constitutes actual use is a question of fact to be determined upon competent evidence. Cutting v. Tappan, 59 N. H. 562.

A horse and wagon bought for speculative purposes are not exempt, although the owner is an inventor and the horse and wagon enabled him to carry on his business. Boyle v. Walsh, 105 Mich. 237, 63 N. W. 435.

61. Washburn v. Goodhart, 88 Ill. 229; Burgess v. Everett, 9 Ohio St. 425.

A horse kept and used as a race-horse and not otherwise is not within the exemption of "two horses kept and used for team-work," although they had been used on a few occasions for work and also in taking members of the bankrupt family to and from work or school. In re Libby, 103 Fed. 776, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 615.

The use to which work beasts are put is immaterial. Young v. Bell, 1 Kan. App. 265, 40 Pac. 675.

62. Webster v. Orne, 45 Vt. 40.

63. See Kenyon v. Baker, 16 Mich. 373, 97 Am. Dec. 158.

64. McCue v. Tunstead, 65 Cal. 506, 3 Pac. 863, 4 Pac. 510. See also Webster v. Orne, 45 Vt. 40.

65. Stanton v. French, 91 Cal. 274, 27 Pac. 657, 25 Am. St. Rep. 174.

66. Murphy v. Harris, 77 Cal. 194, 19 Pac. 377; Dove v. Nunan, 62 Cal. 399.

67. Forsyth v. Bower, 54 Cal. 639 (where a hackman's horses were temporarily at pasture, and the hack at the painter's undergoing repairs); Jaquith v. Scott, 63 N. H. 5, 56 Am. Rep. 476 (where the debtor did not require the use of the horse at the time of the levy).

68. If the owner keeps it with the honest intention and purpose of using it for work within a reasonable time, it is exempt. Steele v. Lyford, 59 Vt. 230, 8 Atl. 736; Rowell v. Powell, 53 Vt. 302 [distinguishing Sullivan v. Davis, 50 Vt. 648].

If one procures a team or a part of a team intending to complete it for the purposes of using the same in good faith, that is such an "habitual use" as to exempt it from levy whether he had an opportunity to use it much or little. Bevan v. Hayden, 13 Iowa 122. See also Cleveland v. Andrews, 5 Ida. 65, 46 Pac. 1025, 95 Am. St. Rep. 165, construing Rev. St. § 4480.

69. A horse used in collecting accounts is exempt as a "team" under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1391. Knapp v. O'Neill, 46 Hun 317.

Whether a debtor has more or less property beyond the amount limited by statute is wholly immaterial in determining whether a team is necessary to him. Wilcox v. Hawley, 31 N. Y. 648. See also Smith v. Slade, 57 Barb. (N. Y.) 637.

70. Wilhite v. Williams, 41 Kan. 288, 21 Pac. 256, 13 Am. St. Rep. 281 [citing Nuzman v. Schooley, 36 Kan. 177, 12 Pac. 829].

springs, or for whatever use it may be employed;[71] but the usual interpretation confines the term, as used in the provisions for exemption, to a vehicle which is suitable for the transportation of goods.[72] The word "cart" includes a four-wheeled wagon.[73] The vehicle of a physician,[74] or the bus of a hotel-keeper, used in connection with his business,[75] comes within the exemption of the necessary tools and instruments kept for the purpose of carrying on trade or business. A teamster's wagon,[76] his sled,[77] and harness[78] are tools of his occupation. A bicycle is not a "tool or apparatus" belonging to the profession of an architect.[79] If the debtor changes his occupation so that his wagon is no longer needed, his exemption therein ceases.[80] If the debtor is entitled to claim his wagon as

71. Nichols v. Claiborne, 39 Tex. 363 (where a carriage which was the only vehicle of defendant was held exempt); Rodgers v. Ferguson, 32 Tex. 533.

72. Quigley v. Gorham, 5 Cal. 418, 63 Am. Dec. 139, holding that a hackney coach is not exempt. See Smith v. Chase, 71 Me. 164 (holding that a peddler's wagon for use in trade from place to place, with the body hung upon three elliptic steel springs, with drawer behind and doors at the sides and a railing around the top and dasher in front, is not exempt as one cart or drag or wagon); Gibson v. Gibbs, 9 Gray (Mass.) 62 (holding that a wagon with patent couplings attached, used by the owner in carrying on his business of selling couplings, is not exempt as a tool, implement, materials, stocks, or fixtures necessary for carrying on business).

Under this theory a buggy is held not exempt from execution.

Kansas.— Gordon v. Shields, 7 Kan. 320.

Minnesota.— Dingman v. Raymond, 27 Minn. 507, 8 N. W. 597. Contra, Allen v. Coates, 29 Minn. 46, 11 N. W. 132.

New Hampshire.— Parshley v. Green, 58 N. H. 271.

Ohio.— Dulgar v. Hartmeyer, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 763, 8 Am. L. Rec. 15, 4 Cinc. L. Bul. 540.

United States.— In re Peabody, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,866.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 55.

A dray is included in the meaning of the statute exempting one wagon or one carriage or buggy. Cone v. Lewis, 64 Tex. 331, 53 Am. Rep. 767.

A hearse has been held a wagon within the meaning of the exemption law. Spikes v. Burgess, 65 Wis. 428, 27 N. W. 184. Compare Gordon v. Shields, 7 Kan. 320.

A light two-seated vehicle, known as a "surrey," owned and used by the debtor, is exempt under the statute exempting one wagon. Kimball v. Jones, 41 Minn. 318, 43 N. W. 74 [following Allen v. Coates, 29 Minn. 46, 11 N. W. 132].

In New York a wagon is not exempt unless it can be shown to be part of the debtor's "team." "A team 'consists of one horse or two horses with their harness and the vehicle to which they are customarily attached for use;' and a wagon, if exempt, is exempt because it is embraced in the description of a team." Brown v. Davis, 9 Hun 43, 44 [quoting from Dains v. Prosser, 32 Barb. 290]. If it can be shown to be part of a team, it can be held exempt if it does not exceed the statutory limitation of value. Dains v. Prosser, 32 Barb. 290. But see Wolf v. Farley, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 168.

73. Favers v. Glass, 22 Ala. 621, 58 Am. Dec. 272; Webb v. Brandon, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 285.

74. Farner v. Turner, 1 Iowa 53; Richards v. Hubbard, 59 N. H. 158, 47 Am. Rep. 188; Van Buren v. Loper, 29 Barb. (N. Y.) 388; Eastman v. Caswell, 8 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 75. See also Knapp v. Bartlett, 23 Wis. 68, 99 Am. Dec. 109.

75. White v. Gemeny, 47 Kan. 741, 28 Pac. 1011, 27 Am. St. Rep. 320.

Whether a wagon used chiefly by an itinerant lecturer to carry his apparatus in is a tool of his occupation is a question of fact. Hall v. Nelson, 59 N. H. 573.

76. Rice v. Wadsworth, 59 N. H. 100.

77. Rice v. Wadsworth, 59 N. H. 100. See also Parshley v. Green, 58 N. H. 271, holding that a sled used for drawing timber to market is exempt as a tool of one's occupation.

78. Rice v. Wadsworth, 59 N. H. 100.

The harness and buggy of an insurance agent, resident of the state, and the head of a family, used and kept by him in carrying on his business, and necessary in it, are exempt to him under Comp. Laws, c. 38, § 3, subd. 8, providing that necessary tools and implements of any mechanic, miner, or other person, used and kept for the purpose of carrying on his trade or business, shall be exempt to him. Wilhite v. Williams, 41 Kan. 288, 21 Pac. 256, 13 Am. St. Rep. 281. Contra, Cotes v. McClure, 27 Tex. Civ. App. 459, 66 S. W. 224.

79. Smith v. Horton, 19 Tex. Civ. App. 28, 46 S. W. 401.

But under a statute which exempts to the head of a family, if a laborer, a team with a wagon or other vehicle and a proper harness or tackle by the use of which the debtor habitually earns his living, a bicycle used by a painter, paper-hanger, and bill-poster to earn his living is exempt. Roberts v. Parker, 117 Iowa 389, 90 N. W. 744, 94 Am. St. Rep. 316, 57 L. R. A. 764, holding that the fact that the bicycle was not known when the statute was enacted is immaterial.

80. Wright v. Hollingshead, 23 Ont. App. 1, under a statute which exempted tools and implements ordinarily used in the debtor's occupation.

exempt, his right to the exemption is not affected by the fact that at the time of the levy the wagon had been six weeks at a shop awaiting repair.[81] The exemption of a horse has been said to include not only the horse itself, but everything essential to its beneficial enjoyment.[82]

3. Tools and Implements of Trade — a. In General. The tools and implements of the debtor's trade were early exempt in this country.[83] The object of a provision of this character is as plain as the abolition of imprisonment for debt; that the debtor may not be deprived of the power of paying his debts and of making an honest living.[84] Nevertheless there were some jurisdictions which did not make a provision of this kind until comparatively recently.[85] This exemption sometimes exists in addition to what is allowed the head of a family,[86] or independently of whether the debtor has a family or not.[87]

b. As to Trade — (i) Meaning of Term. Under the statutes exempting the tools of a debtor's trade, the term "trade" is frequently, although by no means universally, construed to mean the kind of employment in which mechanics, artisans, and handicraftsmen are engaged.[88] Under this theory a merchant is not

81. Wolf v. Farley, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 168.

82. As for instance, shoes, saddle, etc. Cobbs v. Coleman, 14 Tex. 594. See also Dearborn v. Phillips, 21 Tex. 449, where a rope was held exempt with the horse. Contra, to the effect that a statute exempting a yoke of oxen or a horse does not include a harness within its meaning. See Somers v. Emerson, 58 N. H. 48; Carty v. Drew, 46 Vt. 346. Nor does such a statute include a wagon. Somers v. Emerson, 58 N. H. 48.

A road cart and harness appurtenant to a stallion and used to convey defendant from place to place as he was using the stallion for stud service comes within Iowa Code, § 4008, exempting to a laborer a team with the wagon or other vehicle and the harness or other tackle by the use of which he habitually earns his living. Krebs v. Nicholson, 118 Iowa 134, 91 N. W. 923, 96 Am. St. Rep. 370.

83. Hendricks v. Lewis, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 105.

At common law an implement of trade was privileged from distress for rent in only two cases: (1) If it was in actual use at the time; and (2) if there was other sufficient distress upon the premises. Fenton v. Logan, 9 Bing. 676, 2 L. J. C. P. 102, 3 Moore & S. 82, 23 E. C. L. 756; Gorton v. Falkner, 4 T. R. 565, 2 Rev. 463; Simpson v. Hartopp, Willes 512. See 1 Coke Litt. 47*a*, b.

84. See Harris v. Haynes, 30 Mich. 140.

85. See cases cited infra, this note.

In North Carolina a carpenter's tools might be sold under an original attachment, although they were exempt from the operation of a fieri facias. Martindale v. Whitehead, 46 N. C. 64, 66. The decision seems to have gone off on the fact that the debtor was attempting to escape process. "It is insisted, that although the words are confined to a 'fieri facias' the exemption by implication extends to an original attachment. This is a non sequitur; because the Legislature deemed it expedient to favor a citizen who resides among us, and renders obedience to the ordinary process of the law, by exempting from execution the tools with which he earns a livelihood, or the arms with which he musters, it does not follow that the intention was to extend the like favour to one, who leaves the country or persists in his disobedience to the commands of the State, which is shown by his failing to appear."

In Tennessee the tools of a mechanic might be levied on. Bell v. Douglass, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 397. This was changed by statute in 1871.

86. Harrison v. Martin, 7 Mo. 286.

87. Geiger v. Kobilka, 26 Wash. 171, 66 Pac. 423, 90 Am. St. Rep. 733.

88. See cases infra, this note.

A baker pursues a trade and may claim exemption to the tools and instruments used by him in his business and reasonably necessary thereto. In re Peterson, 95 Fed. 417, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 630.

Carpenters, blacksmiths, etc., see Atwood v. De Forest, 19 Conn. 513. It would not include the keeping of a meat market and grocery. Wallace v. Bartlett, 108 Mass. 52, construing Gen. St. c. 133, § 32, which exempts necessary tools, etc., of the debtor's "trade or business."

A farmer's tools are exempt as "tools of the occupation of the debtor." Wilkinson v. Alley, 45 N. H. 551. See also Garrett v. Patchin, 29 Vt. 248, 70 Am. Dec. 414. See infra, III, B, 6.

A mechanic need not be employed as a journeyman, to entitle him to the exemption. In re Robb, 99 Cal. 202, 33 Pac. 890, 37 Am. St. Rep. 48.

Insurance agent is a person engaged in a "trade or profession." Betz v. Maier, 12 Tex. Civ. App. 219, 33 S. W. 710.

The business of a contractor is not a trade, occupation, or profession. See In re Wetmore, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,508, Deady 585.

The business of saddle and harness making is a trade. Nichols v. Porter, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 302, 26 S. W. 859.

The business of trucking and carting is not engaged in trade and therefore his fixtures and other equipment are not exempt[89] — a fortiori his merchandise or stock in trade.[90]

(II) Number of Trades of Debtor. In some jurisdictions it is held that if the debtor has more than one trade, he may hold exempt the tools or stock in trade appropriate to each.[91] Particularly is this so where the trades are of a kindred nature.[92] If the statute allows to the debtor an exemption of the tools of the trade in which he is "wholly or principally engaged,"[93] his exemption is of course restricted to the tools of one trade;[94] but the fact that the debtor uses his tool or implement in more than one business or trade does not affect his right of exemption if the implement is appropriate and necessary for his principal business.[95]

c. What "Tools or Implements" of Trade Connotes — (I) In General. In some jurisdictions the term "tool," as used in exemption statutes, includes only a trade. Enscoe v. Dunn, 44 Conn. 93, 26 Am. Rep. 430.

The business of a warehouseman is not a trade, occupation, or profession. In re Parker, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,724, 5 Sawy. 58.

"Common tools of trade" is construed to mean simple and indispensable appliances used in the debtor's trade. Kirksey v. Rowe, 114 Ga. 893, 40 S. E. 990, 88 Am. St. Rep. 65; Lenoir v. Weeks, 20 Ga. 596.

89. Desmond v. Young, 173 Mass. 90, 53 N. E. 151; Wilson v. Elliot, 7 Gray (Mass.) 69. See McCord-Collins Co. v. Lazarus, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 50 S. W. 1048, holding that a soda-water fountain used in a confectionery store is not a tool or apparatus belonging to a trade or profession. Contra, Harrison v. Mitchell, 13 La. Ann. 260; Farmers', etc., Bank v. Franklin, 1 La. Ann. 393 (holding that the commercial books and counting-house furniture of a merchant and iron chests, found in his counting-house in which his books and papers are kept are exempt from seizure under execution); Cunningham v. Bructson, 101 Wis. 378, 77 N. W. 740.

A bread-box used by a debtor in his business as a peddler of bread is not exempt, as it is not named in the list of articles exempted by Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 690. Stanton v. French, 91 Cal. 274, 27 Pac. 657, 25 Am. St. Rep. 174.

90. Reed v. Neale, 10 Gray (Mass.) 242; Files v. Stevens, 84 Me. 84, 24 Atl. 584, 30 Am. St. Rep. 333. See infra, III, B, 4.

91. Patten v. Smith, 4 Conn. 450, 10 Am. Dec. 166; Baker v. Willis, 123 Mass. 194, 25 Am. Rep. 61 (holding that a cornet of a debtor who is a musician and a tinner is exempt in addition to his tinner's tools, if the entire exemption amounts to less than the statutory limit of one hundred dollars); Pierce v. Gray, 7 Gray (Mass.) 67 (holding that one whose general business was the ice business and who lived in the country might nevertheless hold exempt some farming and gardening implements). See also Garrett v. Patchin, 29 Vt. 248, 70 Am. Dec. 414 (holding that under a statute exempting such tools as may be necessary for upholding life, a person whose principal occupation was shoemaking, but who lived rather isolated and did his own mending of sleds, ox-yokes, and other farming implements, was entitled to hold exempt a pitch fork, potato hook, scythe, spade, ax, and other tools). Contra, Jenkins v. McNall, 27 Kan. 532, 41 Am. Rep. 422; Bevitt v. Crandall, 19 Wis. 581, in neither of which cases was there any provision in the statute that the debtor might hold exempt the tools of his trade in which he was principally engaged.

The books and office furniture of a man who earns part of his living by legal work for others in his office were held exempt, although he combined this work with other business and did not advertise as a lawyer or appear in court in the trial of cases. U. S. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Goode, 101 Iowa 160, 70 N. W. 113, 63 Am. St. Rep. 378, 35 L. R. A. 690.

92. Nichols v. Porter, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 302, 303, 26 S. W. 859 [quoting Thompson Homest. & Exempt. § 759]. See also Eager v. Taylor, 9 Allen (Mass.) 156.

A jeweler and watch repairer may have exempt articles appropriate to both employments. Howard v. Williams, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 80.

93. The words "principally engaged" in a provision of this kind must be construed without reference to the productiveness or profit of one kind of business over another, but with reference to the occupation on which the debtor relies for a livelihood and which occupies most of his time throughout the year. Stewart v. Welton, 32 Mich. 56.

94. Coville v. Bentley, 76 Mich. 248, 42 N. W. 1116, 15 Am. St. Rep. 312; Morrill v. Seymour, 3 Mich. 65.

Where a person runs a newspaper and job printing-office and is an agent for loaning money, he cannot claim as exempt from execution a job printing-press owned by him unless he derives his principal support from the business in which the press is used. Jenkins v. McNall, 27 Kan. 532, 41 Am. Rep. 422. The statute under which this case was decided made no restriction of its exemption to the trade in which the debtor was "wholly or principally engaged." The court came to its conclusion on general principles.

95. Kenyon v. Baker, 16 Mich. 373, 97 Am. Dec. 158.

those simple implements of the artisan which are worked by hand or muscular power.[96] It is usually held that the term does not include machinery used in manufacture, particularly where the business is conducted on a large scale.[97] Some of the cases go further and will not include minor machinery, even though it is worked by hand or foot power;[98] but other authorities take the other view.[99]

(II) Printing-Press. As to whether a printer's press, cases, type, etc., may be considered tools or implements of trade, the authorities are divided. Some maintain that they should be so considered;[1] others hold that they are more prop-

96. Batchelder v. Shapleigh, 10 Me. 135, 25 Am. Dec. 213; Daniels v. Hayward, 5 Allen (Mass.) 43, 81 Am. Dec. 731; Dowling v. Clark, 3 Allen (Mass.) 570, where a sewing-machine was held exempt. See also Buckingham v. Billings, 13 Mass. 82; Kilburn v. Demming, 2 Vt. 404, 406, 21 Am. Dec. 543. The articles of personal property exempted from execution under the clause "implements of the debtor's trade" are the tools of a mechanic used in carrying on his business. Atwood v. De Forest, 19 Conn. 513.

A seat in a stock exchange is not exempt, under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1391, as working tools of a member. Leggett v. Waller, 39 Misc. 408, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 13.

Household and kitchen furniture used in hotels and restaurants is not exempt as tools and apparatus. Frank v. Bean, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 211.

Question for the jury.—Whether specific articles are in a particular case working tools within the meaning of the exemption statutes is a question of fact for the jury. Sammis v. Smith, 1 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 444.

97. Alabama.— Sallee v. Waters, 17 Ala. 482.

Connecticut.— Atwood v. De Forest, 19 Conn. 513. Although it may include tools of an improved and expensive character. Seeley v. Gwillim, 40 Conn. 106.

Louisiana.— Boston Belting Co. v. Ivens, 28 La. Ann. 695.

Massachusetts.— Buckingham v. Billings, 13 Mass. 82.

Pennsylvania.— Richie v. McCauley, 4 Pa. St. 471. But compare McDowell v. Shotwell, 2 Whart. 26.

Vermont.— Henry v. Sheldon, 35 Vt. 427, 82 Am. Dec. 644.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 56 et seq.

Contra.— Wood v. Bresnahan, 63 Mich. 614, 617, 30 N. W. 206.

A machine for shaving and splitting leather, operated by hand, steam, or water, costing two hundred and fifty dollars, weighing from six hundred to nine hundred pounds, operated by a crank requiring two men to work it by hand, and which had to be kept in its place by cleats, is not exempt from attachment as a "tool," although it takes the place of a tool that is exempt. Henry v. Sheldon, 35 Vt. 427, 82 Am. Dec. 644.

A threshing-machine, five rods long, and requiring eight horses and ten men to work it, is not a "working tool." Ford v. Johnson, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 364.

Tools and implements, material, stock, and fixtures of a paper-mill are not included in the exemption of Mass. St. (1855) c. 264, by which Rev. St. c. 97, § 22, is "so amended as to exempt from levy on execution the tools and implements, materials, stock, and fixtures of the debtor, necessary for carrying on his trade or business," to the amount of five hundred dollars. Smith v. Gibbs, 6 Gray (Mass.) 298, 300.

98. Willis v. Morris, 66 Tex. 628, 1 S. W. 799, 59 Am. Rep. 634.

The statutes do not exempt machines (for instance, a peg machine, which can be used by one person, and operated by hand power, and is of no great value) from attachment or sale on execution; such machines not being embraced under the words of the statute, "the tools of any debtor." Knox v. Chadbourne, 28 Me. 160. 48 Am. Dec. 487.

A portable machine, called a "Billy and Jenny," used for spinning and manufacturing cloth, and worked by hand, is not exempt from attachment and execution under Vt. Comp. St. p. 208, § 1. Kilburn v. Demming, 2 Vt. 404, 406, 21 Am. Dec. 543. Contra, McDowell v. Shotwell, 2 Whart. (Pa.) 26.

99. In re Robb, 99 Cal. 202, 33 Pac. 890, 37 Am. St. Rep. 48, where a lathe was held exempt.

Instruments used by a woman in making cheese, such as presses, vats, and knives, are exempt from seizure under judicial process as "tools and instruments." Fish v. Street, 27 Kan. 270.

The word "apparatus" used in the statute may take a wider range and embrace such minor machinery as may be operated by hand, and such as courts of high authority have held not to be included under the term "tools" as used in similar enactments. Willis v. Morris, 66 Tex. 628, 1 S. W. 799, 59 Am. Rep. 634.

A fisherman's boat is exempt by a special statute in Connecticut. See Enscoe v. Dunn, 44 Conn. 93. 26 Am. Rep. 430. See also Me. Rev. St. (1903) p. 730, tit. 9, c. 83, § 64, subd. 10; 2 Mass. Rev. St. (1903) p. 599, c. 177, § 34, subd. 9; 2 Ballinger Code Wash. (1897) § 5248, subd. 10–11.

1. Alabama.— Sallee v. Waters, 17 Ala. 482.

Connecticut.— Patten v. Smith, 4 Conn. 450, 10 Am. Dec. 166.

erly classed with machinery or apparatus for manufacture;[2] and still others say that the question is one for the jury.[3]

(III) Photographer's Apparatus. The vocation of a photographer being considered a trade, his photographic apparatus has been declared to be an implement of trade within the meaning of the exemption statutes.[4]

d. Necessary Tools. The exemption of tools "necessary to carry on the debtor's trade" is not limited to those implements which are absolutely indispensable for such a purpose, but may include those which enable the debtor to carry on his trade conveniently and in the usual manner.[5] Whether a particular implement is or is not necessary to the debtor depends in a large measure upon what his trade, profession, or business may be. Thus a hotel-keeper,[6] watchmaker,[7] tailor,[8]

Kansas.— Bliss v. Vedder, 34 Kan. 57, 7 Pac. 599, 55 Am. Rep. 237.

Louisiana.— Prather v. Bobo, 15 La. Ann. 524.

Texas.— Green v. Raymond, 58 Tex. 80, 44 Am. Rep. 601.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 60.

A printing-press and printing materials of a head of a family are exempt under a statute which exempts the necessary tools of mechanics or other persons used and kept for carrying on his trade or business, where the owner, an employer of others, himself works with his employees as a foreman would work, and he has other business. Bliss v. Vedder. 34 Kan. 57, 7 Pac. 599, 55 Am. Rep. 237. But he cannot claim as exempt a job printing-press owned by him unless he derives his principal support from the business in which the press is used. Jenkins v. McNall, 27 Kan. 532, 41 Am. Rep. 422.

The press and type which are necessarily used by him and his journeymen in the publication of a weekly newspaper are tools or implements of trade; but the paper and ink employed by a printer in his business are stock in trade, and not "tools and implements of trade." Sallee v. Waters, 17 Ala. 482.

Where it is shown that a party depends entirely upon his trade as a printer and editor for means of support, his printing-press and materials necessary for the exercise of his trade are exempt from seizure under Code Pr. art. 644. Prather v. Bobo, 15 La. Ann. 524.

Limits of rule.— Even under authorities which consider a printer's outfit may be classed as tools or implements of trade, a debtor is entitled to claim as exempt only so much of his outfit as is "necessary to carry on his trade." In re Mitchell, 102 Cal. 534, 36 Pac. 840. In Prather v. Bobo, 15 La. Ann. 524, a printer's outfit worth eight hundred dollars was held exempt.

2. Danforth v. Woodward, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 423, 20 Am. Dec. 531; Buckingham v. Billings, 13 Mass. 82; Spooner v. Fletcher, 3 Vt. 133, 21 Am. Dec. 579.

3. Patten v. Smith, 4 Conn. 450, 10 Am. Dec. 166.

4. Davidson v. Hannan, 67 Conn. 312, 34 Atl. 1050, 52 Am. St. Rep. 282, 34 L. R. A. 718, holding that a photographic lens belonging to a photographer and used by him in his business is an implement of trade. Contra, Story v. Walker, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 515, 47 Am. Rep. 305, holding that in Tennessee a photographer, not being considered a mechanic, cannot claim that his tools are exempt.

A daguerreotype apparatus which the owner has ceased to use for taking likenesses and is using only to teach the art to another is not exempt from attachment as a "tool of his occupation." Norris v. Hoitt, 18 N. H. 196.

The building in which a photographer carries on his business is not exempt as "tools" or "instruments," even though it should be considered personal property. Holden v. Stranahan, 48 Iowa 70.

5. Howard v. Williams, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 80; Kenyon v. Baker, 16 Mich. 373, 97 Am. Dec. 158; Healy v. Bateman, 2 R. I. 454, 60 Am. Dec. 94. Contra, Prather v. Bobo, 15 La. Ann. 524.

"Nor is the phrase 'necessary to carry on his trade' used in such strict sense that because some journeyman machinist can get employment with a manufacturer who will supply the implement, therefore it is not necessary to the trade within the meaning of the statute." In re Robb, 99 Cal. 202, 203, 33 Pac. 890, 37 Am. St. Rep. 48.

6. To whom a grain drill is not a necessary tool or implement of his business. Reed v. Cooper, 30 Kan. 574, 1 Pac. 822.

7. Upon evidence that a safe was necessary to the profitable conduct of watch repairing and that customers would not leave their watches to be repaired unless one were used, a safe was properly set off to the debtor. McManus' Estate, 87 Cal. 292, 25 Pac. 413, 22 Am. St. Rep. 250, 10 L. R. A. 567.

So a lamp and other articles kept by a watchmaker and jeweler would be exempt from attachment and execution, as "tools and implements," provided such articles were necessary for his use in carrying on the business of making and repairing watches and jewelry. Bequillard v. Bartlett, 19 Kan. 382, 27 Am. Rep. 120.

8. To whom a sewing-machine was allowed as necessary. Dowling v. Clark, 1 Allen (Mass.) 283, 3 Allen (Mass.) 570.

In Minnesota two machines were allowed the debtor as reasonably necessary for carrying on his trade, under Gen. St. (1878) barber,[9] cigarmaker,[10] milliner,[11] insurance agent,[12] abstracter of titles,[13] or plumber,[14] each requires implements peculiar to his calling, and to them he is entitled. But an implement which is not practically related to the particular calling in question cannot be held exempt on this ground.[15]

e. Necessity of Use of Tools — (i) In General. The "tools" of a mechanic or other person must be kept for actual use in his trade.[16] It may not be necessary that they be required for immediate use.[17] If he no longer uses them in carrying on his business,[18] or if he has abandoned his trade,[19] as where he conceives the design of absconding,[20] they are not exempt; but a mere temporary suspension of his trade will not have this result.[21]

(ii) Personal Use. It has been held that the tools claimed as exempt must be used by the debtor himself, and that those used by his employees are subject to execution;[22] but this is not the general rule.[23]

c. 66, § 310, exempting tools used in a trade, although subdivision 9 specifically enumerates only "one sewing machine." Cronfeldt v. Arrol, 50 Minn. 327, 52 N. W. 857, 36 Am. St. Rep. 648.

9. To whom a chair and mirror (Terry v. McDaniel, 103 Tenn. 415, 53 S. W. 732, 46 L. R. A. 559), table (Fore v. Cooper, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 34 S. W. 341), and foot-rest (Allen v. Thompson, 45 Vt. 472) are exempt as "tools."

10. A watch and chain are not exempt to a debtor who is a journeyman cigarmaker as a tool of his trade, although the debtor states that such watch is necessary to enable him to keep his time and that of the cigarmakers under him. Rothschild v. Boelter, 18 Minn. 361.

11. A clock, stove, screen, pitcher, and table cover, used by a milliner, should be exempted, if the jury find them to have been necessary and in use in her business. Woods v. Keyes, 14 Allen (Mass.) 236, 92 Am. Dec. 766.

12. An iron safe used by an insurance agent to store his policies, etc., is exempt from execution as a "tool" or "apparatus" under Sayles Civ. St. Tex. art. 2337. Betz v. Maier, 12 Tex. Civ. App. 219, 33 S. W. 710.

13. One carrying on business as an "insurance agent and abstracter of titles" is entitled to exemption from levy upon execution of one iron safe, one set of abstracts, and one cabinet and table, used in his business. Davidson v. Sechrist, 28 Kan. 324.

14. To whom a watch was not allowed without proof that it was necessary to carry on his trade. In re Turnbull, 106 Fed. 667.

15. Goozen v. Phillips, 49 Mich. 7, 12 N. W. 889.

Contra.— A "mower," not exceeding fifty dollars in value, is within the language of the statute exempting farming utensils within that amount from sale on execution, even though the judgment debtor is not a farmer, nor engaged in any business requiring a mower. Humphrey v. Taylor, 45 Wis. 251, 30 Am. Rep. 738; Knapp v. Bartlett, 23 Wis. 68, 99 Am. Dec. 109.

16. Prosser v. Hartley, 35 Minn. 340, 29 N. W. 156; Bond v. Tucker, 65 N. H. 165, 18 Atl. 653; Burgess v. Everett, 9 Ohio St. 425.

17. See Wilkinson v. Alley, 45 N. H. 551.

Intended use.— That an implement has never yet been applied by the debtor to the use for which he claims it is necessary and by virtue thereof exempt, is no answer to the debtor's claim. If it has been bought and prepared for use and is necessary in the debtor's trade, it is sufficient. Fields v. Moul, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 6.

"Habitually earning living."— To entitle a mechanic to the exemption of tools provided in Code (1851), § 1898, he need not show that by the use of such tools he habitually earns his living. Perkins v. Wisner, 9 Iowa 320.

18. Norris v. Hoitt, 18 N. H. 196.

19. McCord-Collins Co. v. Lazarus, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 50 S. W. 1048. See Willis v. Morris, 66 Tex. 628, 1 S. W. 799, 59 Am. Rep. 634.

20. Davis v. Wood, 7 Mo. 162.

21. Caswell v. Keith, 12 Gray (Mass.) 351.

One who had failed in the hardware and tinning business, and made an assignment, reserving certain tinner's tools and machines as exempt, was held entitled to retain them as exempt, notwithstanding he did little or nothing in the business for four months afterward, in the absence of any showing that he had gone into other business, or relinquished his former occupation. Harris v. Haynes, 30 Mich. 140. See also Miller v. Weeks, 46 Kan. 307, 26 Pac. 694.

22. Abercrombie v. Alderson, 9 Ala. 981.

The wife's "implements or tools" of "trade or calling" are not exempt to the debtor. Smith v. Rogers, 16 Ga. 479.

23. Daniels v. Hayward, 5 Allen (Mass.) 43, 81 Am. Dec. 731; Dowling v. Clark, 3 Allen (Mass.) 570; Parkerson v. Wightman, 4 Strobh. (S. C.) 363; In re Osborn, 104 Fed. 780, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 111; In re Petersen, 95 Fed. 417, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 630.

Tools used by an apprentice or a journeyman in the jeweler's business are exempted, although the master (the debtor) worked principally on watches, his principal business being that of a jeweler. Howard v. Williams, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 80.

4. STOCK IN TRADE.[24] Under statutes exempting the stock in trade of a debtor, some courts have not allowed a merchant an exemption out of the goods in which he deals,[25] giving the phrase a meaning about equivalent to "tools and implements of trade;"[26] but a number of jurisdictions allow the debtor an exemption out of such goods.[27] In Minnesota and some other states "stock in trade" means: (1) Material which the debtor uses in manufacture; that is, material upon which he uses the tools which are exempt by law to him to produce a certain article;[28] and (2) the articles manufactured or in the process of manufacture by the debtor are held exempt.[29] That manufactured articles have been placed on sale by the debtor with non-exempt property, such as mere merchandise, in a jurisdiction where merchandise is held not to be exempt, will not affect the debtor's right of exemption of his own product;[30] but where articles are kept indiscriminately for sale and as stock for manufacture, as opportunity affords, they are not exempt as stock in trade.[31] Material held to be exempt as stock in trade must of course be suitable for the particular trade.[32] If a stock of goods set apart as an exemption is sold in the regular course of trade and other goods purchased with the pro-

Two barber chairs, a mirror in front of, and a table accompanying each, used constantly for five years in carrying on his trade by a barber, are exempt from execution, where he is dependent on his trade for support, and has kept another barber employed to assist him. Fore v. Cooper, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 34 S. W. 341.

24. Selection from stock in trade see infra, VI, C, 2, h, (I).

25. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Kansas this was held in Bequillard v. Bartlett, 19 Kan. 382, 27 Am. Rep. 120. See also In re Schwartz, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,503, where the federal court was sitting in Kansas. Nevertheless, in Rice v. Nolan, 33 Kan. 28, 5 Pac. 437, a merchant tailor who was a resident head of a family was held entitled to an exemption of such a portion of his stock in trade as he might select up to such a statutory limit of value.

In Minnesota see Grimes v. Bryne, 2 Minn. 89.

In the federal courts the Colorado (In re Peabody, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,866) and Wisconsin (Ex p. Robinson, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,933, 7 Biss. 125) statutes were construed according to the rule of the text, the court in each case having given a construction which is contrary to the rule laid down by the state court (see infra, note 27). Contra, In re Bjornstad, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,453, 9 Biss. 13.

26. In re Peabody, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,866.

27. Brewer v. Granger, 45 Ala. 580; Martin v. Bond, 14 Colo. 466, 24 Pac. 326; Wicker v. Comstock, 52 Wis. 315, 9 N. W. 25.

The liquors of a saloon-keeper are his "stock in trade" under Mills Annot. St. § 2562 (Weil v. Nevitt, 18 Colo. 10, 31 Pac. 487); but not if he is keeping a saloon without the license required by law (Walsch v. Call, 32 Wis. 159).

The fact that merchandise is of a perishable nature is not a ground for its exemption. Batchelder v. Frank, 49 Vt. 90.

28. Prosser v. Hartley, 35 Minn. 340, 29 N. W. 156. See also Eager v. Taylor, 9 Allen (Mass.) 156; Stewart v. Welton, 32 Mich. 56.

Lumber belonging to a carpenter, and by him being used in erecting a house for his own use, may be exempt as stock or material to enable him to carry on his trade. Hutchinson v. Roe, 44 Mich. 389, 6 N. W. 870.

Under this construction the exemption becomes a supplement to the exemption of the debtor's tools, that the debtor may have something upon which to use his tools and thus make the exemption of them to him a thing of some practical value. Grimes v. Bryne, 2 Minn. 89.

29. Smalley v. Masten, 8 Mich. 529, 77 Am. Dec. 467.

Masquerade suits, made by a tailor during his leisure moments, and at periods when he was unable to get work, and used by him for hiring out, are exempt under Howell Annot. St. Mich. § 7686, par. 8, as "materials, stock apparatus, . . . to enable any person to carry on the trade . . . or business in which he is wholly or principally employed." Fischer v. McIntyre, 66 Mich. 681, 33 N. W. 762.

Watches and jewelry manufactured by a watchmaker and jeweler, whether completed or not completed, as well as the raw materials kept by such watchmaker and jeweler from which to manufacture watches and jewelry, are exempt from attachment and execution as "stock in trade," to the amount of four hundred dollars. Bequillard v. Bartlett, 19 Kan. 382, 27 Am. Rep. 120.

Unfinished burial cases, bought by a manufacturer engaged in the business of buying cases in such unfinished condition and finishing them by lining them on the inside and trimming them on the outside are such manufaturer's stock in trade, within Minn. Gen. St. (1878) c. 66, § 279, subd. 8. McAbe v. Thompson, 27 Minn. 134, 6 N. W. 479.

30. Hillyer v. Remore, 42 Minn. 254, 44 N. W. 116.

31. Hillyer v. Remore, 42 Minn. 254, 44 N. W. 116.

32. Stewart v. Welton, 32 Mich. 56.

ceeds, the goods so purchased are exempt to an amount not exceeding the value of the original exemption.[33]

5. Library and Instruments of Professional Man. By a specific statutory provision the library and implements or working tools of a professional man are made exempt in a number of jurisdictions.[34] A professional library is generally held not exempt under a statute exempting the tools or implements of a debtor used in his trade.[35] The surgical instruments of a physician are exempt as his "tools."[36] Dental instruments have been held exempt either as "mechanical tools,"[37] or as "instruments necessary for the exercise" of the dentist's profession;[38] but the instruments claimed as exempt must be appropriate to the practice of dentistry.[39] Under a statute exempting generally the tools and instruments used by a debtor in his trade or calling, a cornet,[40] violin and bow,[41] and a piano[42]

33. Dodd v. Thompson, 63 Ga. 393. See also Hanley v. O'Donald, 30 Pa. St. 261, 263.

34. See Roberts v. Moudy, 30 Nebr. 683, 46 N. W. 1013, 27 Am. St. Rep. 426; Fowler v. Gilmore, 30 Tex. 432, and cases cited infra, this note.

Under Iowa Code, § 3072, which exempts the "proper tools, instruments, or books, of a debtor, of a . . . lawyer," the debtor who earns part of his living by legal work for others in his office and does not advertise as a lawyer or appear in court to try cases is entitled to the exemption, although he combines his legal work with other business. U. S. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Goode, 101 Iowa 160, 70 N. W. 113, 63 Am. St. Rep. 378, 35 L. R. A. 690.

Under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1391, providing that the necessary working tools and library of a member of the legal profession shall be exempt from execution, a share in the New York law institute, conferring library privileges on a practising lawyer, is exempt to him from execution. Keiher v. Shipherd, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 274.

A lawyer's ordinary office furniture, including his table, necessary to enable him to carry on his business, is included in the term "instruments." Abraham v. Davenport, 73 Iowa 111, 34 N. W. 767, 5 Am. St. Rep. 665.

Habitual use.— To entitle a physician to the exemption of his books and instruments, as provided by Code, § 1898, it is not necessary that it be shown that by their use he habitually earns his living. Perkins v. Wisner, 9 Iowa 320.

The library of a late practising attorney deceased is exempt in Texas. Fowler v. Gilmore, 30 Tex. 432.

Professional books as part of a "family library."— The medical books of a surgeon who is head of a family are exempt as a part of his family library. Robinson's Case, 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 467.

The books used by a minister of the gospel for the purpose of his calling are not liable to seizure and cannot be considered in determining his solvency as a surety. State v. St. Paul, 111 La. 71, 35 So. 389, under La. Code Pr. art. 644, forbidding the sheriff to seize the tools and instruments necessary for the exercise of the trade or profession by which a debtor gains a living.

Not all of the library may be exempt. Brown v. Hoffmeister, 71 Mo. 411, holding that only so much of a lawyer's library is exempt as he may select within the limits of value fixed by the subdivisions of section 9 of the execution law.

35. Thus a lawyer's library is not exempt under a statute of this kind. Lenoir v. Weeks, 20 Ga. 596; Church's Petitioner, 15 R. I. 245, 2 Atl. 761. Contra, Lambeth v. Milton, 2 Rob. (La.) 81, under La. Code Pr. art. 641.

36. Robinson's Case, 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 467. Contra, Demers v. O'Connor, 10 Quebec Super. Ct. 371 [reversing 7 Quebec Super. 216], construing the word "trade" (metier) as used in Code Civ. Proc. art. 556, which exempts the "tools and implements or other chattels ordinarily used by the debtor in his trade," as not being applicable to a liberal profession.

Knowledge of profession.— Under a statute which provides for an exemption of a horse, with surgical instruments, etc., to every practising physician, it has been held that a charge to the jury that the question to be considered had reference to the business in which the physician was engaged rather than the skill with which he exercised his business was misleading, in that it would allow the jury to infer that if the claimant was occupied in the business of practising medicine, he was within the exemption law, whether he had any knowledge of the business or not. Sutton v. Facey, 1 Mich. 243.

37. Maxon v. Perrott, 17 Mich. 332, 97 Am. Dec. 191. Contra, Whitcomb v. Reid, 31 Miss. 567, 66 Am. Dec. 579.

A dentist's chair is not exempt as a common tool of trade. Burt v. Stocks Coal Co., 119 Ga. 629, 46 S. E. 828, 100 Am. St. Rep. 203.

38. Duperron v. Communy, 6 La. Ann. 789.

39. Smith v. Rogers, 16 Ga. 479, holding that pianos and guitars cannot be so claimed.

40. Baker v. Willis, 123 Mass. 194, 25 Am. Rep. 61.

41. Goddard v. Chaffee, 2 Allen (Mass.) 395, 79 Am. Dec. 796.

42. Amend v. Murphy, 69 Ill. 337.

Instruments used by the wife of the debtor in her occupation as music teacher cannot be claimed by him as exempt as the "working have been held exempt, where it appeared that the debtor depended upon the instrument for support.

6. Farming Utensils and Means of Reproduction. Under some statutes the ordinary implements of husbandry and manual labor are the farmer's "tools of his occupation."[43] A large threshing-machine is not a working tool.[44] Within an exemption of "such tools, etc., as may be necessary for upholding life" may be included such simple mechanic's tools as are indispensable for repairing farming implements.[45] When one claims as exempt "an implement of husbandry," it must appear that the implement in question is suitable for that occupation.[46] Not only must the implements claimed to be exempt be suitable to the occupation of a farmer, but they must be actually used by him in that occupation;[47] but if the debtor uses the implement in question principally in work upon his farm, the fact that it is used in harvesting the crops of others will not take it out of the statute.[48] The debtor is not confined to any one branch of farming, but has an exemption of all the necessary tools used by a debtor in diversified farming;[49] but he is confined to only that number of implements which is necessary.[50] If the implement comes under the head of utensils and implements of husbandry, it is exempt regardless of its value or the amount of land which may be culti-tools or implements of my trade or calling." Smith v. Rogers, 16 Ga. 479.

43. As his plow, cart-wheels, and other rigging, harrows, and drags. Wilkinson v. Alley, 45 N. H. 551. Under a statute exempting tools, etc., of "any mechanic, miner or other person," a farmer may hold exempt his implements of husbandry. Knapp v. Bartlett, 23 Wis. 68, 99 Am. Dec. 109 [explaining Bevitt v. Crandall, 19 Wis. 581, which appeared to hold the other way]. Contra, Dailey v. May, 5 Mass. 313.

A whip owned and used by a debtor on his farm is not exempt from seizure on execution in the absence of special circumstances entitling him to hold it as so exempt. See Savage v. Davis, 134 Mass. 401.

44. Ford v. Johnson, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 364, where the machine in question was five rods long and required eight horses and ten men to work it. But compare In re Klemp, 119 Cal. 41, 50 Pac. 1062, 63 Am. St. Rep. 69, 39 L. R. A. 340; Muse v. Darrah, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 604, 4 West. L. Month. 149.

45. For instance an ordinary grindstone such as is generally used on the farm. "Very little can be accomplished with an ax, scythe, and many other hand tools in constant use on a farm, without a grindstone to render them serviceable." White v. Capron, 52 Vt. 634, 637.

46. See Nelson v. Fightmaster, 4 Okla. 38, 44 Pac. 213, where a well-boring apparatus and derrick seldom used on the farm were held not exempt. A reaper and mower is exempt as a "farming utensil" or "instrument of husbandry." Voorhees v. Patterson, 20 Kan. 555; Henry v. McLean, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1079. So are a threshing-machine, a clover huller, and a wagon used for carrying the machines from place to place. Muse v. Darrah, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 604, 4 West. L. Month. 149. See also In re Klemp, 119 Cal. 41, 50 Pac. 1062, 63 Am. St. Rep. 69, 39 L. R. A. 340, where a harvester was held exempt.

What is suitable depends to some extent at least upon the conditions attending agriculture in the jurisdiction where the question arises. A logging capstan and cable and tools used in logging are exempt to one engaged in the occupation of a farmer, where it is necessary to use them in clearing and improving farms. State v. Creech, 18 Wash. 186, 51 Pac. 363.

Question for the jury.— Whether a given apparatus is an implement of husbandry within the meaning of the exemption law is a question for the jury under proper instructions of the court. Henry v. McLean, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1079.

47. Thus an expensive threshing outfit owned by the debtors and others in common and used by them to a limited extent upon their land, but principally used in doing work for others for hire, is not exempt as a "farming utensil or implement of husbandry." In re Baldwin, 71 Cal. 74, 12 Pac. 44. See Nelson v. Fightmaster, 4 Okla. 38, 44 Pac. 213, where the implements in question were a well-boring apparatus and a derrick. See also Tucker v. Napier, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 670.

48. Spence v. Smith, 121 Cal. 536, 53 Pac. 653, 66 Am. St. Rep. 62; In re Klemp, 119 Cal. 41, 50 Pac. 1062, 63 Am. St. Rep. 69, 39 L. R. A. 340. See also Stanton v. French, 91 Cal. 274, 27 Pac. 657, 25 Am. St. Rep. 174. Contra, Meyer v. Meyer, 23 Iowa 359, 92 Am. Dec. 432, where the court appeared to base its decision somewhat on the fact that a threshing-machine was an expensive machine rather than a "proper tool or implement of a farmer."

In Massachusetts it was held that a shovel, pick-ax, dung fork, and hoe used by a debtor in tilling his land were exempt, although tilling land was not his principal business. Pierce v. Gray, 7 Gray 67.

49. In re Slade, 122 Cal. 434, 55 Pac. 158.

50. In re Baldwin, 71 Cal. 74, 12 Pac. 44.

vated therewith.[51] That the debtor is temporarily not engaged in the occupation of farming need not except him from the benefit of the exemption law if he intends bona fide to resume farming.[52] In a number of jurisdictions the farmer is allowed an exemption of the means of reproduction, whether of crops[53] or of animals.[54]

C. Articles Furnishing Means of Support or Comfort — 1. Food, Provisions, and Supplies — a. In General. The term "provisions" as used in the exemption laws has been defined in one state to mean something which is in a condition to be consumed as food, such as meal, flour, lard, meat, and other articles of that kind — articles which need no change for the cooking.[55] Butter made from the milk of a debtor's only cow has been held exempt under a statute which exempted among other animals a cow and forage for keeping them.[56] In some states it is held that the articles claimed exempt as provisions must be such as directly contribute to the sustenance of the debtor or his family; that it is not sufficient that the articles may by sale and exchange indirectly contribute to the support of the family.[57] Corn is one of the articles which may be embraced in "provisions on hand for family use."[58] "Flour" has been held to include corn meal,[59] but not wheat.[60] "Provisions" has been construed to include crops not yet severed from the soil.[61] A statute specifically exempting crops from execu-

51. Spence v. Smith, 121 Cal. 536, 53 Pac. 653, 66 Am. St. Rep. 62.

In Wisconsin, the farming utensils, in addition to those specifically allowed him in the statute, are limited in value to fifty dollars. Bevitt v. Crandall, 19 Wis. 581, construing Rev. St. c. 131, § 31, subd. 7.

52. Pease v. Price, 101 Iowa 57, 69 N. W. 1120 (where the debtor was temporarily residing in town and had sought for employment while there and had even offered a part of his farming implements for sale); Hickman v. Cruise, 72 Iowa 528, 34 N. W. 316, 2 Am. St. Rep. 256.

53. Stilson v. Gibbs, 46 Mich. 215, 9 N. W. 254; Matteson v. Munro, 80 Minn. 340, 83 N. W. 153. See also Hutchinson v. Whitmore, 90 Mich. 255, 51 N. W. 451, 30 Am. St. Rep. 431.

54. In Tennessee the statute exempts to the farmer "stock hogs." This term has been held to mean such hogs as are capable of reproduction and not to refer to barrows or spayed sows. Byous v. Mount, 89 Tenn. 261, 17 S. W. 1037.

55. "The statute seems to have drawn a distinction between provisions and hogs, cows, etc." Wilson v. McMillan, 80 Ga. 733, 735, 6 S. E. 182, holding that a milch cow is not exempt.

This definition was subsequently criticized as too restrictive. "This was discovered when the opinion was first published in the Southeastern Reporter, vol. 6, page 182. The word corn was then stricken from it, but this, it seems, did not carry the correction far enough." Cochran v. Harvey, 88 Ga. 352, 355, 14 S. E. 580.

56. Leavitt v. Metcalf, 2 Vt. 342, 19 Am. Dec. 718, the court reaching this conclusion through an exemption of the statutes which shows a strong tendency to enlarge the debtor's exemption.

57. George v. Hunter, 48 Kan. 651, 29 Pac. 1148, 30 Am. St. Rep. 325. See also Herndon v. Waters, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 667.

If the debtor is a boarder, has no family depending on him for support, or is in such a situation that he can have no intention to use corn or grain as food for himself and family, these articles are not necessary for the sustenance of himself and family and are not exempt. Blake v. Baker, 41 Me. 78.

58. Atkinson v. Gatcher, 23 Ark. 101.

59. Lashaway v. Tucker, 61 Hun (N. Y.) 6, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 490, under a statute which exempts "all necessary meat, fish, flour and vegetables actually provided for family use."

60. Salsbury v. Parsons, 36 Hun (N. Y.) 12.

Whether unthreshed wheat or oats are provisions has been held a question of fact for the jury. Plummer v. Currier, 52 N. H. 287, Ladd, J., dissenting, and holding that the fact that the grain was unthreshed made no difference.

61. Cochran v. Harvey, 88 Ga. 352, 14 S. E. 580 (corn on the ear in the shuck); Mulligan v. Newton, 16 Gray (Mass.) 211 (crops ripe for harvest); Carpenter v. Herrington, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 370, 37 Am. Dec. 239 (potatoes in the ground).

Crop just visible above the ground. — In King v. Moore, 10 Mich. 538, the court was divided as to whether a statute exempting "provisions for the comfortable subsistence of a household and family for six months" exempted growing crops of corn and potatoes recently planted and which had just become visible above the ground.

But a field of standing corn does not constitute provisions actually prepared and designed for the use of the debtor's family so as to be exempt. This was on the principle that the provisions for the family must be claimed at the time of the levy and that if the debtor's family do not require the provisions at that time, they were not exempt then and no change of circumstances could give the debtor a right to have any portion of the crop set aside thereafter. Donahue v.

tion has been held to mean only those crops which are suitable for breadstuffs;[62] but this of course would not be true under the statute which allows the debtor to claim property in lieu of provisions for his family.[63] Articles which are in their nature provisions, but which are kept as part of a store of merchandise, and not for the use of the family, are not exempt as provisions.[64]

b. Animals Furnishing Food and Support. A statute which exempts a certain number of hogs, sheep, and cows to the head of a family is for the purpose of furnishing food to the debtor and his family.[65] Statutes exempting a cow for the use of a debtor have been held to include a heifer.[66] A statute which exempts "one swine" to the debtor includes a hog that has been killed.[67] A statute which exempts pork "on foot" includes hogs of all sizes and conditions and at all seasons of the year which may, in due season and at the convenience of the debtor, be prepared for and converted into pork.[68] By the terms of some Steele, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 130, 2 West. L. J. 402.

Under bankruptcy act.— Where the homestead laws do not include growing crops, a bankrupt cannot claim as exempt property under the bankruptcy act a crop growing on his homestead at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy, although an execution could not have been levied on the crop before its severance. In re Coffman, 93 Fed. 422, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 530.

62. A tobacco crop is not included within the meaning of the statute. Herndon v. Waters, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 667; Hayden v. Crutchfield, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 83.

63. See Com. v. Burnett, 44 S. W. 966, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1836.

Improvements erected by a debtor on the land of his wife are not personal property which may be set apart by the debtor as exempt in lieu of provisions and provender not on hand. Lawson v. S. T. Barlow Co., 51 S. W. 314, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 308.

64. Massachusetts.— Where the statute exempts provisions necessary, procured, and intended for the use of the family, and where provisions are procured and kept both for the purpose of sale and for the use of the debtor's family, that portion of them which is for the use of the debtor's family, but which is not set apart or claimed at the time to be held for the family use, is not exempt. Nash v. Farrington, 4 Allen 157.

Missouri.— State v. Conner, 73 Mo. 572, where the debtor kept a grocery store and was in the habit of carrying home small quantities from the store as needed.

New Hampshire.—Bond v. Tucker, 65 N. H. 165, 18 Atl. 653, meat purchased by a dealer to be sold again in his business.

Ohio.—Robinett v. Doyle, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 391, 2 West. L. Month. 585, groceries kept for sale.

United States.— In re Lentz, 97 Fed. 486.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 41.

The fact that a man is taking his vegetables to market to exchange them for articles of prime necessity in his family, or even to obtain the means to pay his taxes, will not deprive him of his right to insist that such vegetables were in fact actually provided for family use, and exempt from seizure and sale on execution against him. Shaw v. Davis, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 389.

65. Wabash R. Co. v. Bowring, 103 Mo. App. 158, 77 S. W. 106, holding that such a statute would not include a hog chiefly valuable and used for exhibition on account of its great size. In Young v. Bell, 1 Kan. App. 265, 40 Pac. 675, it was held that the use to which the animals were put was immaterial.

66. As where the debtor has no other animal of the kind. Johnson v. Babcock, 8 Allen (Mass.) 583; Freeman v. Carpenter, 10 Vt. 433, 33 Am. Dec. 210; Dow v. Smith, 7 Vt. 465, 29 Am. Dec. 202. And especially where the owner intends to keep the heifer as a milch cow. Carruth v. Grassie, 11 Gray (Mass.) 211, 71 Am. Dec. 707; Nelson v. Fightmaster, 4 Okla. 38, 44 Pac. 213.

Under Iowa Code (1873), § 3072, however, exempting from execution "two cows and a calf" does not include a yearling heifer. Mitchell v. Joyce, 69 Iowa 121, 28 N. W. 473.

67. Gibson v. Jenney, 15 Mass. 205.

But a statute exempting one hog and the pork of the same when slaughtered does not exempt a hog in addition to the pork of the slaughtered hog. Parker v. Tirrell, 19 N. H. 201. But see In re Libby, 103 Fed. 776, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 615, holding that, under a statute exempting a debtor his "best swine or meat of a swine," the fact that a bankrupt has part of the meat of a swine does not deprive him of the right to select his best remaining swine as exempt.

68. Byous v. Mount, 89 Tenn. 361, 17 S. W. 1037, where it was unsuccessfully contended that the pigs and shoats which were claimed as exempt were not so in that they were not in fit condition for slaughter.

Hogs, bacon, and pork for a family consisting of more than six persons.— Under Milliken & V. Tenn. Code, § 2932, providing that "ten head of stock hogs" shall be exempt in the hands of each head of a family "engaged in agriculture," and section 2931, providing that twelve hundred pounds of pork "slaughtered or on foot," or nine hundred pounds of bacon, shall be exempt in the hands of each head of a family consisting of more than six persons, a farmer having a wife and five minor children living with him, statutes the debtor is put to his election in claiming his animals as exempt.[69] In the absence of an election by the debtor, a choice the most favorable to him will be presumed.[70] If a statute exempts without qualification "two cows," a resident head of the family may have his two cows, although they are not used by him and his family and are not necessary to the support of himself or his family.[71]

c. Food For Exempt Animals. Under a statute exempting certain crops for fodder for animals only those crops which are suitable for the purpose are exempt.[72] A statute exempting food necessary for one cow and two swine does not admit of so liberal a construction as to include the food for a team which itself is exempted by another statute which says nothing about the food for the team.[73]

d. Amount — (i) For Debtor and Family. If the statute does not set out the time for which the exempted provisions are to last, such an amount of provisions is contemplated as will be necessary until the next annual period for laying up provisions.[74] If the statute exempts provisions to last for a certain length of time, the amount of provisions which the debtor is entitled to must be reckoned by the size of his family.[75] The statute which exempts without qualification the "provisions on hand for family use" exempts all such provisions regardless of what other property the execution debtor may have.[76] A debtor cannot claim property as exempt in lieu of provisions if he has other property remaining sufficient to supply the deficiency in breadstuffs.[77] and having no slaughtered pork, and only fifteen pounds of bacon, and owning two brood sows, weighing seventy-five pounds each; twelve small pigs weighing eighteen or nineteen pounds each; and six shoats, spayed sows, and barrows, weighing eighty pounds each, on an average, can claim them all as exempt; the two brood sows and eight pigs as "stock hogs," and the others as "pork on foot." Byous v. Mount, 89 Tenn. 361, 17 S. W. 1037.

69. Wentworth v. Young, 17 Me. 70.

70. Stirman v. Smith, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 781. But compare Lindsey v. Fuller, 10 Watts (Pa.) 144.

If the debtor owns two cows, one of which is mortgaged, the other is exempt from attachment or levy. Tryon v. Mansir, 2 Allen (Mass.) 219; Greenleaf v. Sanborn, 44 N. H. 16. If both are subject to a mortgage his interest in one of them is exempt from attachment. Howard v. Cooper, 45 N. H. 339.

Selection of a portion from each alternative.— Where the debtor had an alternative of twelve hundred pounds of pork or nine hundred pounds of bacon, he was allowed to take both pork and bacon where the aggregate of his selections, when reduced to the value of either alternative, did not exceed the amount given by the statute. Byous v. Mount, 89 Tenn. 361, 17 S. W. 1037. See infra, VI, C, 2, h, (I).

71. Nuzman v. Schooley, 36 Kan. 177, 12 Pac. 829.

72. See cases infra, this note.

Cotton seed.— Under Tex. Rev. St. (1895) art. 2395, subd. 15, exempting from forced sale "all provisions and forage on hand for home consumption," cotton seed suitable for feeding stock is exempt, if the supply reserved be not unreasonably excessive, although it may not, in view of other forage on hand, be indispensable; and therefore an instruction that the forage must be "necessary" for home consumption to render it exempt is erroneous. Stephens v. Hobbs, 14 Tex. Civ. App. 148, 36 S. W. 287.

Tobacco would not be exempt. Herndon v. Waters, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 667.

73. Rue v. Alter, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 119.

74. Farrell v. Higley, Lalor (N. Y.) 87 (holding that, under a statute which exempts all provisions actually provided for family use and necessary fuel for the use of the family for sixty days, the sixty days' limitation applies only to the fuel); Anderson v. Larremore, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 947.

"Necessary provisions" is construed in Texas to mean such a quantity "as a provident man would ordinarily keep on hand." See Ward v. Gibbs, 10 Tex. Civ. App. 287, 30 S. W. 1125. And the fact that the debtor owns a hundred hogs instead of twenty does not prevent him from claiming the corn he has on hand as necessary for home consumption. Burris v. Booth, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 186.

75. Stilson v. Gibbs, 53 Mich. 280, 18 N. W. 815.

"Family" in this connection does not include strangers or boarders lodging with the family (Coffy v. Wilson, 65 Iowa 270, 21 N. W. 602, where the claimant was a restaurant keeper and made his claim under Iowa Code (1873), § 3072); but the grown children of the claimant who have no home elsewhere may be considered as a part of the debtor's family (Stilson v. Gibbs, 53 Mich. 280, 18 N. W. 815).

76. Atkinson v. Gatcher, 23 Ark. 101.

77. Turner-Looker Co. v. Garvey, 43 S. W. 202, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1205. See also Lawson v. S. T. Barlow Co., 51 S. W. 314, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 308, holding that, to entitle him to hold the particular property in question as exempt, he must not only allege that he has not the

(II) For Exempt Animals. An exemption of fodder for animals is held to include only such an amount of fodder as is necessary to keep the animals which the debtor has at the time of the levy;[78] but this rule is not universal.[79] If the statute exempts "necessary" fodder for animals without specifying the length of time the fodder is for, so much is exempt if the season of the year when the levy is made allows any exemption[80] as will maintain them until the foddering season is past.[81] Under a statute allowing an exemption of sufficient fodder for a certain period of time, if the food is not needed at the time of the levy, it is not exempt then[82] or later, although unsold.[83]

2. Wearing Apparel[84] — a. In General. It has been held that at common law the wearing apparel in use by the debtor was exempt from execution.[85] A statute exempting wearing apparel necessary for immediate use has been construed to mean such an amount of clothing as is necessary to meet the varying changes of climate and the customary habits and ordinary necessities of the mass of the people of the jurisdiction which provides for this particular exemption.[86] "Necessary wearing apparel" includes cloth put into the hands of a tailor to be made into clothes for the debtor;[87] and it has been held that "necessary requisite quantity of provisions, but must show the extent of the deficit.

That the debtor has recovered judgment for a large sum of money, which judgment has been superseded, does not prevent him from claiming exempt, in lieu of provisions for himself and family, chattels which had been seized. Braswell v. Rehkoff, 42 S. W. 916, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1037.

78. Foss v. Stewart, 14 Me. 312 (under a statute which exempts two tons of hay, for "the use of said sheep"); King v. Moore, 10 Mich. 538.

79. Olin v. Fox, 79 Minn. 459, 82 N. W. 858; Kimball v. Woodruff, 55 Vt. 229, holding that under a statute exempting a cow, ten sheep, a yoke of oxen, or, in lieu thereof, two horses, "with sufficient forage for the keeping of the same through the winter," a debtor who had only a cow and a horse was entitled to claim as exempt not only forage enough for them, but enough for the other animals specified in the statute, although he did not have them. But see Cowan v. Main, 24 Wis. 569, holding that under Rev. St. c. 134, § 131, exempting the necessary food for one year's support, the food for the animals which the debtor does not possess and has no present purpose of obtaining, is not included.

80. "In the summer months, when cattle and sheep are depasturing, no such food as the statute contemplates is necessary, and probably none is protected. But after the grass is cut and converted into hay, I think so much is exempt as will be necessary for the next foddering season." Farrell v. Higley, Lalor (N. Y.) 87, 88.

81. Farrell v. Higley, Lalor (N. Y.) 87.

If a definite quantity of fodder is exempted by the statute without any reference to the length of time it is supposed to last, the full quantity is exempt, although part of the foddering season is gone. Kennedy v. Philbrick, 38 Me. 135.

82. A field of corn levied on in the month of June cannot be claimed by the debtor as exempt as food for his animals. Donahue v. Steele, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 130, 2 West. L. J. 402. See also Farrell v. Higley, Lalor (N. Y.) 87.

83. Donahue v. Steele, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 130, 2 West. L. J. 402.

The period of time for which the exempt fodder is to last begins to run from the levy. Donahue v. Steele, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 130, 2 West. L. J. 402.

84. Masonic uniform.— Under a state statute exempting from execution "all wearing apparel of the debtor," a bankrupt will be entitled to claim as exempt a masonic uniform, although he does not wear it as an ordinary and usual dress, but on special occasions only. In re Jones, 97 Fed. 773.

85. Bumpus v. Maynard, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 626; In re Stokes, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 560. See also Hendricks v. Lewis, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 105 (holding that the necessary wearing apparel is exempt, but whether by the common law or by an early statute does not appear); Cook v. Gibbs, 3 Mass. 193 (holding that if the sheriff were to strip the debtor's wearing apparel from his body he would be a trespasser, for the apparel when being worn is not liable to execution).

86. Peverly v. Sayles, 10 N. H. 356.

87. Ordway v. Wilbur, 16 Me. 263, 33 Am. Dec. 663, where the cloth was already cut.

"Wearing apparel" does not include bags (Shaw v. Davis, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 389), or traveling trunks or mahogany cabinet boxes (Towns v. Pratt, 33 N. H. 345, 66 Am. Dec. 726).

Cloth in hands of debtor.— The statutes exempting carpeting and manufactured cloth from execution, by construing them so as to effect their object, include cloth not manufactured by the debtor's family, but necessary for their use. Sims v. Reed, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 51.

Yarn and wool.— Under a statute which enacts that "all sheep, to the number of ten, with their fleeces and the yarn or cloth manufactured from the same," shall be ex-wearing apparel" will include the trimmings[88] as well as the cloth left in the hands of a tailor for such a purpose.

b. Ornaments and Watches. The term "wearing apparel" generally means garments worn to protect the person from exposure;[89] it does not include articles used for ornament alone.[90] Whether a watch is exempt as wearing apparel depends upon the jurisdiction.[91]

3. Household Furniture and Goods — a. In General. "Household furniture" is a comprehensive term embracing about everything with which a house can be furnished;[92] but it is confined to what is for use in the debtor's household; it does not include the furniture of his shop or office.[93] An exemption of household furniture necessary for the debtor and his family is not confined to things absolutely indispensable to the bare existence of life, but includes whatever may be considered as necessary to comfort and convenience.[94] Nor is it confined to such articles as were necessary when the statute was enacted.[95] A time-empt, the yarn possessed by a householder is exempt from execution to a certain amount, although he did not own the sheep which produced the wool from which the yarn was made. Hall v. Penny, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 44, 25 Am. Dec. 601. See also Brackett v. Watkins, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 68.

88. Richardson v. Buswell, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 506, 43 Am. Dec. 450.

89. Towns v. Pratt, 33 N. H. 345, 66 Am. Dec. 726.

A lace shawl is wearing apparel and exempt from execution; and whether it is of greater value than the owner ought to wear in her then condition of life cannot be inquired into. Frazier v. Barnum, 19 N. J. Eq. 316, 97 Am. Dec. 666.

90. Towns v. Pratt, 33 N. H. 345, 66 Am. Dec. 726 (a breast-pin); Frazier v. Barnum, 19 N. J. Eq. 316, 97 Am. Dec. 666 (rings and jewelry).

Diamond shirt stud.— But under Tex. Rev. St. § 2397, exempting all "wearing apparel" of the debtor, a diamond stud worth two hundred and fifty dollars habitually worn by the debtor for several years on the front of his shirt and for the purpose of fastening his shirt together has been held exempt when there were no circumstances connected with the accusation or use tending to show fraud or bad faith toward the debtor's creditors. In re Smith, 96 Fed. 832.

91. See cases cited infra, this note.

That a watch is exempt was held in Beckett v. Wilson, 5 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 257, 5 Ohio N. P. 155; Stewart v. McClung, 12 Oreg. 431, 8 Pac. 447, 53 Am. Rep. 374; Brown v. Edmonds, 8 S. D. 271, 66 N. W. 310, 59 Am. St. Rep. 762; In re Jones, 97 Fed. 773; Sellers v. Bell, 94 Fed. 801, 36 C. C. A. 502, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529.

That a watch is not exempt was held in Rothschild v. Boelter, 18 Minn. 361; In re Turnbull, 106 Fed. 667.

In New York a watch worn merely as an ornament and not necessary in the employment through which the judgment debtor earns his livelihood is not exempt. Peck v. Mulvihill, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 424.

An insolvent debtor cannot hold two watches exempt from execution as part of his "wearing apparel." Smith v. Rogers, 16 Ga. 479.

92. Rasure v. Hart, 18 Kan. 340, 26 Am. Rep. 772.

A traveling trunk, mahogany cabinet box, and breast-pin are not articles exempted from attachment and execution, as household furniture. Towns v. Pratt, 33 N. H. 345, 66 Am. Dec. 726.

93. Kessler v. McConachy, 1 Rawle (Pa.) 435.

A dentist's chair is not exempt as a chair suitable for the use of the family. Burt v. Stocks Coal Co., 119 Ga. 629, 46 S. E. 828, 100 Am. St. Rep. 203.

Furniture and equipments belonging to and used by the debtor in his capacity of third-class postmaster are not exempt, but are protected only in so far as execution thereon would prevent the delivery of the mails. Turrill v. McCarthy, 114 Iowa 681, 87 N. W. 667, where, however, no claim of exemption was made under the state statute, but a reservation upon an assignment for the benefit of creditors.

94. Hitchcock v. Holmes, 43 Conn. 528; Montague v. Richardson, 24 Conn. 338, 63 Am. Dec. 173; Davlin v. Stone, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 359. See also Leavitt v. Metcalf, 2 Vt. 342, 19 Am. Dec. 718.

But in an early case in New York it was held that under a statute exempting from execution the necessary cooking utensils of a householder, a person claiming such exemption must show affirmatively that the cooking utensils were in fact necessary, and not merely useful. Van Sickler v. Jacobs, 14 Johns. 434.

No question of the furniture being necessary.— Under a statute exempting certain specific household furniture together with all other household furniture, not specially enumerated and not exceeding a certain amount, everything with which a house can be furnished is included, whether or not they are necessary to the use of the debtor or family. Rasure v. Hart, 18 Kan. 340, 26 Am. Rep. 772.

95. Montague v. Richardson, 24 Conn. 338, 63 Am. Dec. 173.

Regard may be had to the improved standard in living, the improvement in the arts, piece[96] and a cook stove[97] may be considered as necessary furniture. So may beds and bedding.[98] A rifle is not exempt as an article of household and kitchen furniture, although it might be as the furniture of a frontiersman's tent or cabin.[99] Pianos are generally not considered articles of household furniture, within the meaning of the term as used in the exemption laws.[1] Although it must appear that the furniture is kept and used by the debtor and his family or is kept for their use,[2] the fact that the furniture is not in actual personal use by the debtor or his family does not take it out of the statute.[3] Thus it has been held that and the general tendency to increase the amount of the debtor's exemption. Leavitt v. Metcalf, 2 Vt. 342, 19 Am. Dec. 718.

But the meaning ought not to be enlarged by a change in the station in life or previous habits of the individual, as is allowable in determining what are necessaries for a wife or a minor. Hitchcock v. Holmes, 43 Conn. 528.

96. Leavitt v. Metcalf, 2 Vt. 342, 19 Am. Dec. 718. But not a clock worth fifty dollars. See supra, note 91.

A watch and chain habitually carried on the person of the debtor for his own convenience, and not used for the benefit of the family, is not exempt as "household furniture." Brown v. Edmonds, 5 S. D. 508, 59 N. W. 731. See also Rothschild v. Boelter, 18 Minn. 361. Under N. Y. Laws (1842), c. 157, § 1, exempting "necessary household furniture and working tools" from execution, it was held that whether a watch was necessary to the debtor depended on whether it was necessary in the prosecution of his business. Bitting v. Vandenburgh, 17 How. Pr. 80.

It is a question for the jury whether a clock worth one hundred and fifty dollars was a necessary article of household furniture. Wilson v. Ellis, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 462.

97. Hart v. Hyde, 5 Vt. 328; Crocker v. Spencer, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 68, 15 Am. Dec. 652.

But at one time in Massachusetts it was held that unless it appeared that a cooking stove was used "exclusively" for warming a debtor's house, as required by St. (1817) c. 108, it was not exempt. "By the revised statutes the word 'exclusively' is omitted, and that statute, therefore, would probably admit of a different construction." Brown v. Wait, 19 Pick. 470, 472, 31 Am. Dec. 154.

98. See Hendricks v. Lewis, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 105.

Bags are not bedding within the exemption law. Shaw v. Davis, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 389.

The number of beds to which the debtor is entitled as necessary furniture depends upon the size of his family. Thus under the Massachusetts statute of 1805, a debtor whose family consisted of himself, wife, and three young sons was held entitled to only two beds. Glidden v. Smith, 15 Mass. 170. A later case in Massachusetts holds that an unmarried debtor cannot claim as exempt his bed and bedding used by persons boarding with him. Brown v. Wait, 19 Pick. 470, 31 Am. Dec. 154. Under Wis. Rev. St. c. 134, § 32, par. 6, exempting "all beds, bedsteads and bedding kept and used for the debtor and his family," the exemption of bedsteads and beds actually used by the debtor's family would not be affected by the fact that there were other beds of the debtor not levied upon, unless it affirmatively appears that the number was greater than necessary for the use and comfort of the debtor and his family. Heath v. Keyes, 35 Wis. 668.

99. Choate v. Redding, 18 Tex. 579.

1. Kehl v. Dunn, 102 Mich. 581, 61 N. W. 71, 47 Am. St. Rep. 561; Dunlap v. Edgerton, 30 Vt. 224; Tanner v. Billings, 18 Wis. 163, 86 Am. Dec. 755. Contra, Alsup v. Jordan, 69 Tex. 300, 6 S. W. 831, 5 Am. St. Rep. 53.

In New York replevin for a piano, which was seized under execution, and which plaintiff claimed as a part of her necessary furniture, under Code Civ. Proc. § 1391, exempting necessary furniture to the value of two hundred and fifty dollars, may be maintained without express proof of the value of other articles of furniture owned by plaintiff, where there was sufficient proof on the subject to justify a finding that the other articles were of little value. Conklin v. McCauley, 41 N. Y. App. Div. 452, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 879.

The fact that the husband keeps a saloon and lodging-house for fishermen is not such evidence of the condition and circumstances of the family as will enable the court to say as a matter of law that a piano given by the husband to his wife is not an article "necessary for her personal use," within the meaning of the statute protecting such articles and the husband's creditors. Hamilton v. Lane, 138 Mass. 358, construing St. (1879) c. 133, and holding that whether the piano is "an article necessary" for the personal use of the wife is a question for the jury.

2. Fletcher v. Staples, 62 Minn. 471, 64 N. W. 1150, construing Gen. St. (1894) § 5459, subd. 5, and where the claim for exemption was against the insurance money for the articles of furniture which had been consumed by fire.

3. Haswell v. Parsons, 15 Cal. 266, 76 Am. Dec. 480, where the furniture in question was a remnant of what had been previously used in keeping a hotel, not exceeding in value one hundred and twenty-eight dollars in all. See infra, III, C, 3, b. See also Rasure v. Hart, 18 Kan. 340, 26 Am. Rep. 772, where the statute exempted "all other household furniture" not specially enumerated to a value not exceeding five hundred dollars.

furniture, if otherwise exempt, does not become open to attachment by reason of its being stored and not in actual use.[4]

b. Used by Keepers of Boarding-Houses and Restaurants. Household and kitchen furniture used in a hotel or restaurant is not exempt from execution, except so much of it as is used by the family of the debtor.[5] It would seem that the rule would be the same for household furniture used in a boarding-house to carry on the business,[6] but a number of authorities hold that furniture thus employed is exempt as household furniture.[7]

D. Earnings, Wages, Salary[8] — 1. Of Debtors Generally — a. In General. The earnings of a debtor are made exempt to him in the great majority of the states. The extent of this exemption either in its amount or in the class of persons included depends of course on the statute in the particular jurisdiction. A common provision is the exemption of the "wages" of a mechanic or laborer.[9] In some jurisdictions a claimant of this particular exemption must be the head of a family.[10] Whether he must be a resident is a question which differs as much when the wages of exemption is claimed as when any other exemption is claimed.[11]

4. Weed v. Dayton, 40 Conn. 293.

5. Heidenheimer v. Blumenkron, 56 Tex. 308; Dodge v. Knight, (Tex. Sup. 1901) 16 S. W. 626; Bond v. Ellison, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 387; Frank v. Bean, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 211. See also Clark v. Averill, 31 Vt. 512, 76 Am. Dec. 131. Contra, Rasure v. Hart, 18 Kan. 340, 26 Am. Rep. 772.

It is not reasonable that one hundred and sixteen mattresses and forty-six bedsteads should be exempted for a private family. Heidenheimer v. Blumentrom, 56 Tex. 308.

6. Myers v. Esray, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 281.

7. Weed v. Dayton, 40 Conn. 293; Vanderhorst v. Bacon, 38 Mich. 669, 31 Am. Rep. 328. Compare Mueller v. Richardson, 82 Tex. 361, 18 S. W. 693.

Furniture not in use.— A widow supporting herself and daughter by keeping a boarding-house, who stored her furniture and took a furnished room for a year in New York city and went there to keep boarders, intending to return to Connecticut at the end of the year and resume her business there, is not entitled to an exemption of the furniture she had stored as being necessary for the use of her boarders, or on the ground that the boarders were part of the family. Weed v. Dayton, 40 Conn. 293.

8. Wages, salary, or compensation is personal property within the meaning of the exemption laws. McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co. v. Vaughn, 130 Ala. 314, 30 So. 363. See also Karnes v. Rosena Furnace Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 752, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 306. A statute which provides that the head of a family at his election in lieu of other property may select and hold exempt "any other property, real, personal or mixed, not exceeding $150 in value" does not exempt wages under the clause "any other property." Gregory v. Evans, 19 Mo. 261, holding that there was no exemption in wages prior to the act of 1853.

Impairing the obligation of contracts.— A statute giving an exemption in wages as against their garnishment, or a statute which takes away the creditor's right of garnishment, cannot affect a debt contracted prior to the adoption of the statute. McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co. v. Vaughn, 130 Ala. 314, 30 So. 363. See supra, I, C, 4.

9. See McLarty v. Tibbs, 69 Miss. 357, 12 So. 557.

Miner.— Mont. Code Civ. Proc. § 1222, subd. 7, provides that the earnings of a judgment debtor for his personal services rendered at any time within thirty days next preceding the levy of an execution or attachment shall be exempt, where such earnings are necessary for the use of his family in the state and supported by his labor, except that only one half shall be exempt for necessaries. The same section exempts to a miner his dwelling and necessary mining appliances to a value of not exceeding one thousand dollars. Const. art. 19, § 4, provides that the legislative assembly shall enact liberal exemption laws; and Civ. Code, § 4660, provides that words and phrases are to be construed according to the context and the approved usage of the language. It was held that in view of the last three provisions the first-mentioned statute exempts to a placer miner the gold dust taken from his claim within thirty days next preceding a levy, when he is a poor man whose family resides in the state and depends for support on his personal services in working the mine, and the debt is not for necessaries. Dayton v. Ewart, 28 Mont. 153, 72 Pac. 420, 98 Am. St. Rep. 549.

10. McLarty v. Tibbs, 69 Miss. 357, 12 So. 557.

In Missouri Rev. St. (1899) § 3158, exempts to persons not the head of a family their wearing apparel and their tools and implements if they are mechanics engaged in their trade. It has been held that the court cannot extend this exemption to recover the salary or wages of mechanics. Dinkins v. Crunden-Martin Woodenware Co., 91 Mo. App. 209.

11. See supra, II, E.

In Indiana the non-resident has only the twenty-five dollars' exemption; a resident

The wages of a seaman or an apprentice are declared to be exempt from attachment by a federal statute.[12]

b. Meaning, Limits, and Extent of the Different Terms — (I) Wages — (A) Generally. The term "wages" is held applicable in some jurisdictions to compensation only for manual labor,[13] and is said not to include what is generally meant by the term "salary."[14] If the services of the debtor consist mainly of work requiring mental skill or business capacity and involve the exercise of intellectual faculties rather than work, the doing of which properly would depend on a mere physical power to perform ordinary manual labor, the debtor is not entitled to an exemption as a laborer.[15] householder may claim an exemption of six hundred dollars in wages due him and this discrimination is held constitutional. Pomeroy v. Beach, 149 Ind. 511, 49 N. E. 370. See also Hart v. O'Rourke, 151 Ind. 205, 51 N. E. 330.

In Pennsylvania a non-resident may have the exemption. Little v. Balliette, 9 Pa. Super. Ct. 411.

12. U. S. Rev. St. (1878) § 4536 [U. S. Comp. St. (1901) p. 3082].

One who ships for a fishing voyage to be paid at the rate of twenty-five dollars for each thousand fish caught by him and one dollar and fifty cents per day for unloading is not a seaman within the meaning of this section which is found under title 53, which treats of "merchant seamen," and "merchant seamen" have been distinguished from "fishermen" in all the legislation of congress. Telles v. Lynde, 47 Fed. 912.

A person serving on board a steam ferry-boat used by an interstate railway to carry trains across a river between two cities is within the statute, for the ferry-boat is a "ship" within section 4612. Hitchcock v. St. Louis, 48 Fed. 312.

The wages earned by a seaman in the coastwise trade of the United States are not subject to garnishment at the instance of the creditor of the seaman in an action at law brought in a state court. McCarty v. The City of New Bedford, 4 Fed. 818. But this statute is not broad enough to cover the case of a seizure of a seaman's wages on execution, issued on a valid judgment against the seaman in a state court; and the satisfaction of the execution by the employer as authorized by the state laws is a good defense to a subsequent action by a seaman to recover the amount. The Queen, 93 Fed. 834 [citing Telles v. Lynde, 47 Fed. 912]. But, although a seaman be engaged in the coasting trade, his wages in the hands of his attorney are not exempt from judgment, although that attorney be a proctor in the admiralty court. "The reasons given by Judge Benedict [in McCarty v. The City of New Bedford, supra], however, do not apply here. In this case the owners had paid the wages to the seaman's own attorney, who was impliedly authorized by the seaman to receive it. There was no longer any claim against the vessel, nor the owners nor the master. The money was not paid into court. The attorney did not hold it as an officer of the court, but as the agent of his client. His being a proctor in an admiralty court imposed on him certain duties to that court, but did not free him from any obligations to his client, or his client's creditors. The defendant had in effect collected his wages, and intrusted and deposited the money with his attorney. We think it was then liable to attachment." Ayer v. Brown, 77 Me. 195, 197.

An attachment for the seaman's wages in the hands of the owner is no excuse for delay in payment, and the penalty, under U. S. Rev. St. (1878) § 4529 [U. S. Comp. St. (1901) p. 3077], for the delay is recoverable. The John E. Holbrook, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,339, 7 Ben. 356.

This federal statute does not apply where an execution issued in an action against the person claiming to be a seaman is served upon the owners of the vessel and payment is enforced from them by an order made in proceedings supplemental to execution. Telles v. Lynde, 47 Fed. 912.

13. Wildner v. Ferguson, 42 Minn. 112, 43 N. W. 794, 18 Am. St. Rep. 495, 6 L. R. A. 338; Heebner v. Chave, 5 Pa. St. 115. See also State v. Land, 108 La. 512, 32 So. 433, 92 Am. St. Rep. 392, holding that the exemption from seizure for debt protects laborers on farms and in factories and other places where workmen possess no particular skill.

14. South Alabama, etc., R. Co. v. Falkner, 49 Ala. 115. Contra, Bovard v. Ford, 83 Mo. App. 498. But see Bell v. Indian Live-Stock Co., (Tex. Sup. 1889) 11 S. W. 344, holding that one employed by a live-stock company as manager at a monthly salary of two hundred dollars, although he is also a stock-holder, is entitled to the exemption in current wages.

15. Tabb v. Mallette, 120 Ga. 97, 47 S. E. 587, 102 Am. St. Rep. 78; Stothart v. Melton, 117 Ga. 460, 43 S. E. 801; Kline v. Russell, 113 Ga. 1085, 39 S. E. 477; Hunter v. Morgan, 108 Ga. 409, 33 S. E. 986; Oliver v. Macon Hardware Co., 98 Ga. 249, 25 S. E. 403, 58 Am. St. Rep. 300; Kyle v. Montgomery, 73 Ga. 337; Adcock v. Smith, 97 Tenn. 373, 37 S. W. 91, 56 Am. St. Rep. 810.

If the services involve both physical and mental effort, as for hunting up "witnesses and testimony to defeat a recovery on a forged note," the compensation due therefor is exempt as wages or salary. Hartman v.

(B) Earnings Under a Special Form of Contract. The earnings of a person not engaged under the usual contract of employment as laborer or artisan are often considered wages within the meaning of the statutory exemption. Thus where the remuneration is according to the work done and not according to the length of employment it has been still considered wages.[16] Under a contract by which the debtor exchanges his labor for a consideration other than money, as the rent of a house[17] or a piece of land,[18] the value of his labor is nevertheless considered wages. The fact that there was no agreement that the debtor should receive his wages periodically as is customary,[19] or the fact that there was no agreement whatever as to when he should receive his pay,[20] does not put the debtor without the pale of the exemption. A person who is really a contractor and not an Mitzel, 8 Pa. Super. Ct. 22, 42 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 436.

One of whom special skill and intellectual fitness to direct the work of operators under him is required is not within the statute. Miller v. Dugas, 77 Ga. 386, 4 Am. St. Rep. 90.

Not entitled to exemption of wages as laborers are the following: The president of a railroad company (South Alabama, etc., R. Co. v. Falkner, 49 Ala. 115), a civil engineer (McPherson v. Stroup, 100 Ga. 228, 28 S. E. 157; Pennsylvania, etc., R. Co. v. Leuffer, 84 Pa. St. 168, 24 Am. Rep. 189), a physician (Weymouth v. Sanborn, 43 N. H. 171, 80 Am. Dec. 144), a teacher (Schwacke v. Langton, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 402, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 124), mechanical engineers, electrical engineers, clerks, cashiers, and bookkeepers (State v. Land, 108 La. 512, 32 So. 433, 92 Am. St. Rep. 392. But see infra, this note), a general salesman in a clothing establishment (Ensel v. Adler, 110 Ga. 326, 35 S. E. 334 [following Oliver v. Macon Hardware Co., 98 Ga. 249, 25 S. E. 403, 58 Am. St. Rep. 300]), an agent who sells goods by sample (Wildner v. Ferguson, 42 Minn. 112, 43 N. W. 794, 18 Am. St. Rep. 495, 6 L. R. A. 338), one whose business is to travel and sell goods for his employer (Briscoe v. Montgomery, 93 Ga. 603, 20 S. E. 40, 44 Am. St. Rep. 192; Wildner v. Ferguson, supra), a clerk employed in a railway company's office whose services under his contract consisted mainly of work requiring mental skill or business capacity (Boynton v. Pelham, 108 Ga. 794, 33 S. E. 876), the captain of a canal-boat (Shimer v. Rugg, 7 Northam. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 248).

Entitled to exemption of wages as laborers are the following: A clerk and bookkeeper (Lamar v. Chisholm, 77 Ga. 306 [following Smith v. Johnston, 71 Ga. 748]. See also Butler v. Clark, 46 Ga. 466), a clerk in a retail store who is one half of the time employed in drudgery and hard work and one fourth in waiting on customers (Pike v. Sutton, 115 Ga. 688, 42 S. E. 58; Williams v. Link, 64 Miss. 641, 1 So. 907), a forwarding clerk employed by a railroad (Claghorn v. Saussy, 51 Ga. 576), a locomotive engineer who receives his pay monthly according to the time he works (Smith v. Walker, 119 Ga. 615, 46 S. E. 831; Sanner v. Shivers, 76 Ga. 335) or even by the number of miles he has run (Johnson v. Hicks, 120 Ga. 1002, 48 S. E. 383), a brakeman (Franklin v. Southern R. Co., 119 Ga. 855, 47 S. E. 344), and a street railway conductor (Stuart v. Poole, 112 Ga. 818, 38 S. E. 41, 81 Am. St. Rep. 81).

A physician's earnings are not exempt under Ga. Code, § 2026. Staples v. Keister, 81 Ga. 772, 8 S. E. 421. But the pay of a physician employed by a city at a fixed sum per day has been held as exempt in Texas. Sydnor v. Galveston, (Tex. App. 1890) 15 S. W. 202.

The funds of an insurance agent deposited in a bank with the funds of his company cannot be regarded as wages or hire of an employee in the hands of his employer, so as to be exempt from attachment. Baltimore First Nat. Bank v. Jaggers, 31 Md. 38, 100 Am. Dec. 53.

The compensation received by a master carpenter for supervising the labor of the hands employed by him is not exempt as the wages of a laborer. Smith v. Brooke, 49 Pa. St. 147. But under a statute exempting mechanics and laborers from garnishment of their wages, overseers who by agreement are to be paid their wages weekly to supply necessaries for their families are entitled to exemption. Caraker v. Matthews, 25 Ga. 571.

Costs due a commissioner in a partition suit are not exempt from execution as wages of a mechanic or laboring man. State v. Cobb, 4 Lea (Tenn.) 481.

16. Moore v. Hendry, 111 Ga. 863, 36 S. E. 921; Swift Mfg. Co. v. Henderson, 99 Ga. 136, 25 S. E. 27. See also Pennsylvania Coal Co. v. Costello, 33 Pa. St. 241; Adcock v. Smith, 97 Tenn. 373, 37 S. W. 91, 56 Am. St. Rep. 810.

17. Mason v. Ambler, 6 Allen (Mass.) 124.

18. Scott v. Watson, 36 Pa. St. 342.

19. Prothro v. Grubbs, 71 Ga. 863.

20. Dempsey v. McKennell, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 284, 23 S. W. 525. In Hartmon v. Mitzel, 8 Pa. Super. Ct. 22, 42 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 436, although the compensation was fixed after service was rendered, it was held exempt.

But an attorney's fee for legal services, where not hired for a stated period, to be paid at the expiration of such period and not in proportion to the business done, is not "current wages for personal services." Cleemployee is not within an exemption of this character.[21] If a contractor performs labor and the amount due him for his labor is separable from the amount due to other elements arising out of the contract, the exemption may be allowed for the wages proper;[22] but if the wages proper are not distinguishable from the rest no exemption can be allowed,[23] even though the total amount due is less than the whole exemption allowed by statute.[24]

(II) "Wages or Salary." Some statutes exempt the "wages or salary" of the debtor.[25] Commissions or part profits are not exempt as wages or salary.[26]

(III) Personal Earnings. A common provision is an exemption in "personal earnings" or in "earnings for personal services." These exemptions include more classes of debtors than those heretofore noted. A debtor is entitled to hold exempt compensation to the statutory amount irrespective of the character of his employment so long as his compensation is "personal earnings" or "earnings for personal services."[27] But money due a person as a result of his burne First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 462, 22 S. W. 1101.

21. Heebner v. Chave, 5 Pa. St. 115. But see Moore v. Heaney, 14 Md. 558.

Amounts due to a blacksmith, for work done by him, in carrying on an independent business for himself as the proprietor of a blacksmith shop do not constitute indebtedness for the daily, weekly, or monthly wages of a journeyman mechanic or day laborer. Tatum v. Zachry, 86 Ga. 573, 12 S. E. 940.

A person who contracts to make and burn brick for so much per one thousand, he to provide the labor, agreeing also to keep the machinery furnished by the other party in good repair to supply oil therefor, and to feed and care for a team provided for the work, is not a "laborer" within the meaning of Nebr. Code Civ. Proc. § 531, declaring that no property shall be exempt from execution and attachment for laborers' wages. Henderson v. Nott, 36 Nebr. 154, 54 N. W. 87, 38 Am. St. Rep. 720.

One who contracted to build a house for a fixed price and who employed others to work under him, although he did part of the work himself, is not a laborer, within Miss. Code (1892), § 1963, exempting a certain sum from the wages of "every laborer or person working for wages." Heard v. Crum, 73 Miss. 157, 18 So. 934, 55 Am. St. Rep. 520.

A miner who works himself in a coal-mine at so much per ton and has charge of a chamber, with one or two hands under him, is a laborer and his wages are not attachable. Pennsylvania Coal Co. v. Costello, 33 Pa. St. 241 [distinguishing Heebner v. Chave, 5 Pa. St. 115].

22. Banks v. Rodenbach, 54 Iowa 695, 7 N. W. 152; Brainard v. Shannon, 60 Me. 342.

23. Gray v. Fife, 70 N. H. 89, 47 Atl. 541, 85 Am. St. Rep. 603; Robbins v. Rice, 18 N. H. 507. Contra, Rikerd Lumber Co. v. Chrouch, (Mich. 1904) 98 N. W. 739, where the money was due on a contract for work for a total sum for the job, instead of daily wages, although he had others to aid him in the work.

The gross earnings of a debtor and his team are exempt under a statute which exempts the "earnings" of the debtor for a certain period but without any qualification as to whether the earnings must be personal or not. Kuntz v. Kinney, 33 Wis. 510.

24. Brainard v. Shannon, 60 Me. 342.

25. See South, etc., R. Co. v. Falkner, 49 Ala. 115.

In Pennsylvania under the act of April, 1845, exempting the wages of labor or the salary of a person engaged in public or private employment, the salary of a chorister which was set apart by the board of trustees of a church for the payment of a debt and was in the hands of the treasurer of the trustees could not be garnished. Catlin v. Ensign, 29 Pa. St. 264.

26. Brierre v. His Creditors, 43 La. Ann. 423, 9 So. 640; Weems v. Delta Moss Co., 33 La. Ann. 973; Hamburger v. Marcus, 157 Pa. St. 133, 27 Atl. 681, 37 Am. St. Rep. 719. Contra, McSkimin v. Knowlton, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 283 [citing Sandford v. Goodwin, Daily Reg. March 11, 1881].

27. McCoy v. Cornell, 40 Iowa 457 (holding that the statute made no distinction between the earnings of professional men, mechanics, or common laborers); Beckett v. Wishon, 5 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 257, 5 Ohio N. P. 155 (holding that the salary of a superintendent of a county infirmary, earned within three months, he being the head of a family, is "personal earnings").

The statute applies to the earnings of an artist in painting portraits. Millington v. Laurer, 89 Iowa 322, 56 N. W. 533, 48 Am. St. Rep. 385, under Code, § 3074.

Tuition payable in advance to a schoolmaster to the amount of six hundred dollars was held exempt in New York as personal earnings necessary for the support of the family. Miller v. Hooper, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 394.

Under a statute which exempts the "earnings" of a debtor for a certain period, a judgment debtor employed in a chamber of commerce to inspect flour when requested by merchants who paid him a certain sum per barrel, the debtor employing by the week a deputy inspector, a laborer, and a bookkeeper, but nevertheless inspecting daily himself and passing upon every sample, is entitled to the exemption of the statute in the being engaged in a commercial[28] or agricultural[29] pursuit on his own account and not as the hireling of another cannot be considered "personal earnings" or "earnings for personal services."

c. Amount and Period of Exemption. The amount of wages measured in time or in other words the number of days of the earning period differs according to jurisdiction. The statute usually provides that wages earned within a certain number of days next preceding the levy shall be exempt.[30] Some of the statutes which exempt "personal earnings" or "earnings for personal services" for a certain period give the exemption to the extent that it is necessary for the use of the debtor's family.[31] If all his earnings for the statutory period are necessary he may hold all.[32] Other statutes limit the amount earned within the statutory period to a definite sum;[33] still others give the entire amount earned within the set period and without any qualification.[34] The exemption expires at the end of the period and is not extended by leaving the earnings with the employer,[35] or by the fact that the earnings are in the hands of the debtor's net proceeds of his business. Brown v. Hebard, 20 Wis. 326, 91 Am. Dec. 408.

Money paid to a constable serving a writ in a suit for money due for personal services in full payment of the claim is not exempt and may be garnished in an action against the person entitled thereto, since the payment was to the officer as a personal agent and extinguished the debt for personal services. Hewitt v. McNerney, 73 Conn. 565, 48 Atl. 424, construing Conn. Gen. St. § 1231, as amended by Pub. Acts (1895), c. 342.

28. As moneys due from customers to a person engaged in retailing ice, in which business he employs two ice carts and several men (Mulford v. Gibbs, 9 N. Y. App. Div. 490, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 273); money received by a saloon-keeper in the conduct of his business (Mulford v. Gibbs, supra); money owed to a boarding-house keeper, although she works about the house besides superintending it (Shelly v. Smith, 59 Iowa 453, 13 N. W. 419); debts due the proprietor and keeper of a public hotel for boarding and accommodation of guests (Youst v. Willis, 5 Okla. 170, 49 Pac. 56). But money earned by a photographer doing his own work and having little or no assistance is within N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2463, exempting the earnings of a judgment debtor for his personal services, rendered within sixty days next before the institution of supplementary proceedings. McSkimin v. Knowlton, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 283.

29. Matter of Wyman, 76 N. Y. App. Div. 292, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 546 [citing Prince v. Brett, 21 N. Y. App. Div. 190, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 402].

30. Illinois.— Mangold v. Dooley, 89 Mo. 111, 1 S. W. 126, thirty days.

Maine.— Haynes v. Hussey, 72 Me. 448; Parks v. Knox, 22 Me. 494, one month.

Minnesota.— Bean v. Germania L. Ins. Co., 54 Minn. 366, 56 N. W. 127, thirty days.

Missouri.— See Cooper v. Seyoc, 104 Mo. App. 414, 79 S. W. 751, thirty days.

New York.— McCullough v. Carragan, 24 Hun 157, sixty days.

Ohio.— Snook v. Snetzer, 25 Ohio St. 516, three months.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 72.

31. For example see N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2463; Ohio Code Civ. Proc. § 467. See Snook v. Snetzer, 25 Ohio St. 516.

For admissibility of evidence on this issue and for sufficiency of evidence to show that the earnings of the debtor were not necessary for the support of his family see Cushing v. Quigley, 11 Mont. 577, 29 Pac. 337; New Mexico Nat. Bank v. Brooks, 9 N. M. 113, 49 Pac. 947.

32. Vandal v. Daiber, 10 Ohio Cir. Ct. 355, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 585, construing Ohio Rev. St. §§ 5430, 5433, 6498. But see Driscoll v. Kelly, 4 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 124, 5 Ohio N. P. 243.

33. See Bean v. Germania L. Ins. Co., 54 Minn. 366, 56 N. W. 127 (twenty-five dollars in thirty days); Waite v. Franciola, 90 Tenn. 191, 16 S. W. 116 (thirty dollars); Bloodgood v. Meissner, 84 Wis. 452, 54 N. W. 772 (sixty dollars per month for three months); Lafferty v. Sistalla, 11 Wyo. 360, 72 Pac. 192 (fifty dollars).

34. See McCoy v. Cornell, 40 Iowa 457, earnings of the debtor, or those of his family for the ninety days next preceding the levy, irrespective of the needs of the debtor's family.

35. Seligmann v. Heller Bros. Clothing Co., 69 Wis. 410, 34 N. W. 232.

"Current wages" under Texas statute.— The statute gives to the debtor an exemption in "current" wages. Under this statute wages left in the possession of the employer after they become due ordinarily cease to be "current" and are not exempt. Bell v. Indian Live-Stock Co., (Tex. Sup. 1889) 11 S. W. 344. See also Davidson v. F. H. Logeman Chair Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 41 S. W. 824. However, past-due wages left with the employer because the debtor is unable to collect them do not cease to be "current" wages. Davidson v. F. H. Logeman Chair Co., supra. And wages left with the employer because the debtor did not know the state of his account and that anything was due him do not cease to be "current." Childress v. Franks, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 44 S. W. 868.

wife,[36] or that the debtor had to bring an action to reduce the wages to his possession.[37] Under a statute which exempts from levy the wages and earnings of any debtor to a certain amount during thirty days, the exemption does not cease when the wages reach the debtor's hands if the period of exemption is not passed.[38] The creditor cannot attach or garnish wages not yet due,[39] nor can he get at the debtor's wages over and above the amount allowed as exempt by making the writ in garnishment returnable to a term of court long subsequent to its execution.[40]

d. Property Purchased With Earnings. Whether the exemption in wages or personal earnings covers property purchased by the wages or personal earnings is a question on which the authorities differ.[41]

2. Of Public Officers — a. By Public Policy — (i) Public Officers Generally. Independent of any statutory provision, the salary or compensation of a public officer which has not reached his hands is exempt from the claims of his creditors on the ground of public policy,[42] the courts refusing to allow the money

36. Bloodgood v. Meissner, 84 Wis. 452, 54 N. W. 772.

37. Chadwick v. Stout, 112 Iowa 167, 83 N. W. 901, 84 Am. St. Rep. 334.

An attorney's fee is not an earning of the debtor within sixty days next preceding the order, so as to make it exempt, under S. C. Code, § 317, where an order for the examination of a judgment debtor in supplementary proceedings is passed eighteen months after the termination of a litigation in which defendant was attorney, and while the amount of his fee was under reference, and during the next month the amount of such fee is fixed by the court, and five months afterward it is required to be paid over to the judgment creditor by the order in supplementary proceedings. Union Bank v. Northrop, 19 S. C. 473.

38. Rutter v. Shumway, 16 Colo. 95, 98, 26 Pac. 321, where it is said: "It is argued with much ingenuity that the earnings of the laborer, when received by him, are no longer wages, but capital; that the exemption statute has performed its office when it has enabled the laborer to secure his wages from his employer without let or hindrance; and that thereafter the statute cannot be invoked in his favor. The statute cannot be thus reasoned away. Such a construction is narrow and illiberal."

Exemption continues while the earnings are under the control of the debtor, although temporarily in the hands of another who collected them. Elliot v. Hall, 3 Ida. 421, 31 Pac. 796, 35 Am. St. Rep. 285, 18 L. R. A. 586.

39. Illinois.— Davis v. Siegel, 80 Ill. App. 278.

Iowa.— Davis v. Humphrey, 22 Iowa 137.

Maryland.— House v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 48 Md. 130. See also Shryock v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 56 Md. 519; Hagerstown First Nat. Bank v. Weckler, 52 Md. 30.

New York.— Kroner v. Reilly, 49 N. Y. App. Div. 41, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 527.

Tennessee.— Weaver v. Hill, 97 Tenn. 402, 37 S. W. 142.

In Quebec the fourth part of the wages of a workman (operarius) is seizable even for wages not yet due. Chabot v. Oneson, 11 Quebec Super. Ct. 223.

40. Chapman v. Berry, 73 Miss. 437, 18 So. 918, 55 Am. St. Rep. 546.

Under N. H. Rev. St. c. 208, § 9, providing that debtor's earnings for personal services earned within fifteen days prior to the service of the writ, or earned after such service, shall not be subject to garnishment, where trustee process was served on May 29, and on July 4 plaintiff discharged the trustee without knowledge of defendant, and caused new process to be served on him, such latter process was not valid, as against wages earned between the two dates. Redington v. Dunn, 24 N. H. 162.

41. Thus in Iowa a husband who uses his personal earnings in paying for property purchased by his wife has an exemption in the property thus purchased. Robb v. Brewer, 60 Iowa 539, 15 N. W. 420. And in Georgia where a head of a family to whom an exemption of personalty had been set apart purchased on credit a wagon, and in so doing did not part with any exempted personalty, the wagon became immediately subject to the lien of an existing judgment against the purchaser, and this lien was not divested by reason of the fact that he subsequently paid part of the price of the wagon with money made by hauling therewith. Anderson v. Cook, 105 Ga. 496, 30 S. E. 884.

That property purchased by the salary of a public officer is not exempt on the ground of public policy see infra, III, D, 2 a, (I).

42. Alabama.— Mobile v. Rowland, 26 Ala. 498. But in Montgomery v. Van Dorn, 41 Ala. 505, under a statute subsequently passed, the garnishment of the salary of a municipal officer was allowed.

Colorado.— See Troy Laundry, etc., Co. v. Denver, 11 Colo. App. 368, 53 Pac. 256.

Georgia.— See McLellan v. Young, 54 Ga. 399, 21 Am. Rep. 276.

Kentucky.— Dickinson v. Johnson, 110 Ky. 236, 61 S. W. 267, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1686, 54 L. R. A. 566; Rodman v. Musselman, 12 Bush 354, 23 Am. Rep. 724; Divine v. Harvie, 7 T. B. Mon. 439, 18 Am. Dec. 194. See also Webb v. McCauley, 4 Bush 8.

due a public officer to be attached or garnished or diverted from his hands in any way, as otherwise the government might be deprived of the services of its officers and great injury to the public service might result. This principle has been applied to the salaries of officers of municipal corporations,[43] but this extension of the rule has been lopped off by statutes which render corporations liable to the process of attachment or garnishment and by the construction given to those statutes by the courts.[44] The exemption does not continue after the payment of the salary has been made to the officer or his agent.[45] A person who has ceased to be an officer or an employee of the government cannot insist upon this Maryland.— See Keyser v. Rice, 47 Md. 203, 28 Am. Rep. 448.

Minnesota.— Sexton v. Brown, 72 Minn. 371, 75 N. W. 600 [following Sandwich Mfg. Co. v. Krake, 66 Minn. 110, 68 N. W. 606, 61 Am. St. Rep. 395; Roeller v. Ames, 33 Minn. 132, 22 N. W. 177].

Tennessee.— State Bank v. Dibrell, 3 Sneed 379. In State v. Cobb, 4 Lea 481, it was held that the principle of State Bank v. Dibrell, supra, did not apply to costs taxed in favor of commissioners appointed by the court to partition land.

Texas.— Sanger v. Waco, 15 Tex. Civ. App. 424, 40 S. W. 549, the court holding that it was immaterial what form the officer's compensation was in, whether by fees or by salary, to entitle him to the exemption. But in Thompson v. Cullers, (Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 412, the fees of a public weigher of cotton were garnished, the court basing its decision on the ground that the officer might assign these fees, and that if therefore public policy did not prohibit an assignment it did not prohibit their garnishment. In Highland v. Galveston, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 623, the court refused to allow the garnishment of the salary of a public officer on the ground that Const. art. 16, § 28, forbade the garnishment of current wages for personal services. This case appears to have escaped the notice of the court in each of the above cases.

Virginia.— Blair v. Marye, 80 Va. 485.

Canada.—Canada Cent. Bank v. Ellis, 20 Ont. App. 364.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 64 et seq.

Contra.— Waterbury v. Deer Lodge County, 10 Mont. 515, 523, 26 Pac. 1002, 24 Am. St. Rep. 67.

In Massachusetts the fees of a juryman are not subject to trustee process against the county. Williams v. Boardman, 9 Allen 570. But in Adams v. Tyler, 121 Mass. 380, the compensation due a messenger in charge of a county court-house, who was appointed by the county commissioners at a fixed salary, was subjected to trustee process against the county. The court distinguished this case from Williams v. Boardman, supra, on the ground that in Adams v. Tyler, supra, the salary of defendant was due him for services rendered under a contract, but in Williams v. Boardman, supra, the juror did not render his services under any contract, but performed them as a part of the duty of a citizen, and furthermore that the compensation due him was neither goods, effects, nor credits within the meaning of the statute.

Real estate purchased with the salary of a public officer is not exempt. Dickinson v. Johnson, 110 Ky. 236, 61 S. W. 267, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1686, 54 L. R. A. 566.

The salary of a deputy sheriff is exempt from garnishment. Oliver v. Athey, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 149.

43. Baird v. Rogers, 95 Tenn. 492, 32 S. W. 630.

44. Alabama.— Montgomery v. Van Dorn, 41 Ala. 505, wages of a policeman in the hands of a municipal corporation.

Kentucky.—Salaries of officers of municipal corporations may be subjected to the payment of their debts if the salary is already earned and set apart. Speed v. Brown, 10 B. Mon. 108 [distinguishing Divine v. Harvie, 7 T. B. Mon. 439, 18 Am. Dec. 194, where the court refused to attach the salary of an auditor of the commonwealth, the distinction being that a city might be sued at law or in equity, but that a sovereign state cannot]. But compensation not due at the commencement of the suit cannot be subjected to the payment of the officer's debts. Bridgeford v. Keenehan, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 268.

Montana.— Waterbury v. Deer Lodge County, 10 Mont. 515, 26 Pac. 1002, 24 Am. St. Rep. 67.

New Hampshire.— Wardwell v. Jones, 58 N. H. 305, the fees of a juror due him from a county.

Ohio.— Newark v. Funk, 15 Ohio St. 462, the salary of a city marshal.

Rhode Island.— Wilson v. Lewis, 10 R. I. 285.

Restriction to municipal officers.— A statute authorizing the subjection to attachment or garnishment of money due a municipal officer is not extended to any other class of public officers. See Pruitt v. Armstrong, 56 Ala. 306.

45. Kennedy v. Aldridge, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 141; Blake v. Bolte, 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 333, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 124, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 78.

But where an officer in the army or navy becomes insane and is declared a lunatic upon inquisition found, and is retired on half pay, his pay primarily is not liable for his debts, but for his support; but after it has been paid into the hands of his committee or guardian appointed by the court any surplus not needed for his support may with the consent of the court be applied to the pay-exemption given to a public officer, for in such case public policy no longer requires it.[46]

(II) School-Teachers. A school-teacher is considered, in some jurisdictions at least, to be a public officer and entitled to the exemption given to public officers on the ground of public policy;[47] but the rule is not universal.[48]

b. By Exemption Laws. Sometimes the salary of a public officer falls within the general provision for the exemption of salaries or personal earnings.[49]

E. Life-Insurance Money.[50] The statutes of the different states generally contain an exemption in the money resulting from a policy or certificate of insurance in favor of beneficiaries of a certain kind, usually the widow or children of the insured, as against the insured's debts.[51] This kind of an exemption does not rest upon contract but upon legislative grant exempting the fund from the claims of the creditors.[52] In the absence of wife or children it is held in some jurisdictions that the fund becomes assets for the payment of creditors;[53] but this rule is not universal.[54] Following the rule a policy payable to the perment of his debts and the committee will not be allowed to claim a three-hundred-dollar exemption. Elwyn's Appeal, 67 Pa. St. 367.

46. Baird v. Rogers, 95 Tenn. 492, 32 S. W. 630.

The rule is not applied to an officer of the army or navy retired on half pay, for although retired, he is nevertheless an officer of the government. See Elwyn's Appeal, 67 Pa. St. 367.

47. Hightower v. Slaton, 54 Ga. 108, 21 Am. Rep. 273; Allen v. Russell, 78 Ky. 105. See also Marathon Tp. School District No. 4 v. Gage, 39 Mich. 484, 33 Am. Rep. 421.

48. Seymour v. Over-River School-Dist., 53 Conn. 502, 3 Atl. 552.

49. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Georgia where a statute provides that all banks, banking companies, and other corporations, except municipal corporations, shall be liable to be garnished for the salaries of their officers in all cases where the salary exceeds the sum of five hundred dollars, a salary under five hundred dollars of a municipal officer is exempt. Holt v. Experience, 26 Ga. 113, the court saying that properly the salary of the officer should be exempt irrespective of its amount.

In Louisiana, Civ. Code, art. 1992, and Code, § 647, exempt money due for the salary of an office. Under these sections it is held that the salary of the clerk of the sixth recorder's court is exempt. Moll v. Sbisa, 51 La. Ann. 290, 25 So. 141. See also Wild v. Ferguson, 23 La. Ann. 752; Chaudet v. De Jong, 16 La. Ann. 399.

In New Hampshire a mayor of a city may have the benefit of the exemption of his salary for fifteen days prior to the service of the writ of garnishment or attachment allowed by Rev. St. c. 208, § 9. Robinson v. Aiken, 39 N. H. 211.

In Ohio the salary of a superintendent of a county infirmary is "personal earnings" under Rev. St. § 5430. Driscoll v. Kelly, 4 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 124, 5 Ohio N. P. 243.

In Pennsylvania, Laws (1845), § 5, exempt the wages of any laborer or the salary of any person in public or private employment from attachment in the hands of his employer. See Catlin v. Ensign, 29 Pa. St. 264.

50. Life insurance generally see Life Insurance.

51. For example see Houston v. Maddux, 179 Ill. 377, 53 N. E. 599 [reversing 73 Ill. App. 203]; Saunders v. Robinson, 144 Mass. 306, 10 N. E. 815; Baron v. Brummer, 100 N. Y. 372, 3 N. E. 474 [reversing 30 Hun 88]; Amberg v. Manhattan L. Ins. Co., 56 N. Y. App. Div. 343, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 872 [reversing 32 Misc. 89, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 424]; Klinckhamer Brewing Co. v. Cassman, 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 465, 12 Ohio Cir. Dec. 141.

The right defined by the creating statute.— Under a statute authorizing a married woman to cause the life of her husband to be insured for the benefit of herself and children free from the claims of the representatives of the husband, or any of his creditors, a policy procured by her husband in favor of one of his children is not protected against the claims of his creditors. Fearn v. Ward, 80 Ala. 555, 2 So. 114.

Exemption without statute.— In Colorado it has been held that life insurance taken out by a husband for the benefit of his wife and children and without any fraudulent intent cannot be subjected by his creditors unless it be to the extent of premiums paid during his insolvency and subsequent to becoming indebted to the creditors. Hendrie, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Platt, 13 Colo. App. 15, 56 Pac. 209.

52. The statute is enabling and relates to the remedy, and the state has the right to change and regulate the exemption before the fund reaches the beneficiary, and therefore the proceeds of policies issued before the enactment of a statute can be subject to its provisions. Kittel v. Domeyer, 175 N. Y. 205, 67 N. E. 433, 1084 [reversing on other grounds 70 N. Y. App. Div. 134, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 150].

53. Hathaway v. Sherman, 61 Me. 466. See also Wright v. Wright, 100 Tenn. 313, 45 S. W. 672.

54. Coates v. Worthy, 72 Miss. 575, 17 So. 606, 18 So. 916, holding that Miss. Code (1892), § 1552, imposing liability for the sonal representatives of the assured falls into the estate of the deceased and is subject to his debts.[55] An endowment policy by which a company agrees to pay the insured a sum of money after a certain period has been held a life-insurance policy within the exemption allowed in life insurance;[56] but an exemption in this kind of policy is forbidden by some authorities.[57] A fund created by a beneficial association is life insurance.[58] That premiums were paid while the insured was insolvent does not affect the exemption rights of the beneficiary.[59] The terms of the statute giving to the beneficiary an exemption in the money received from life insurance sometimes require that the policy or certificate of insurance must be issued by a company or association incorporated within the state,[60] but this is not a universal or even the usual rule.[61] Generally the beneficiary has no exemption in the insurance money as against the claims of his or her creditors,[62] debts of a decedent on his exempt property, in the absence of wife or children, is limited by section 1965, which provides that the proceeds of a life-insurance policy, not exceeding five thousand dollars payable to the executor or administrator, shall inure to the heirs or legatees, free from all liability for decedent's debts.

Collateral heirs.— Iowa Code, §§ 1182, 2372, provide that the avails of life insurance are not subject to the debts of deceased but shall inure to the separate use of the deceased's husband or wife and children and be disposed of like other exempt property of deceased. Under these sections the insurance fund is exempt in favor of collateral heirs. Larrabee v. Palmer, 101 Iowa 132, 70 N. W. 100.

For proper distribution between widow and son of the proceeds of different policies see Cozine v. Grimes, 76 Miss. 294, 24 So. 197.

55. Kennedy's Estate, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 492. See also Ceiger v. McLin, 78 Ky. 232; Rice v. Smith, 72 Miss. 42, 16 So. 417; Yale v. McLaurin, 66 Miss. 461, 5 So. 689; Dulaney v. Walsh, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 37 S. W. 615 [distinguishing Mullins v. Thompson, 51 Tex. 7, where policy was made payable to widow, child, or heirs]. But in Tennessee insurance effected by a man on his own life, before marriage, payable to his "legal representatives," is, within Milliken & V. Code, §§ 3135, 3335, providing that life insurance effected by a husband on his own life shall inure to the benefit of the widow and next of kin, not subject to the debts of the husband. Rose v. Wortham, 95 Tenn. 505, 32 S. W. 458, 30 L. R. A. 609.

56. Briggs v. McCullough, 36 Cal. 542. See also Pulsifer v. Hussey, 97 Me. 434, 54 Atl. 1076.

57. Ellison v. Straw, 119 Wis. 502, 97 N. W. 168. See also Talcott v. Field, 34 Nebr. 611, 52 N. W. 400, 33 Am. St. Rep. 662.

58. Coleman v. McGrew, (Nebr. 1904) 99 N. W. 663; Mellows v. Mellows, 61 N. H. 137; Zinn's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 801, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 33. See also Matter of Palmier, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 129, holding that the proceeds of policies in benefit insurance associations will be presumed, against the creditors of the assured, to belong to his family after his death, although coming to the hands of his executors.

Special statutory provisions.— Conn. Pub. Acts (1895), p. 595, c. 255, § 1, defines the term "secret and fraternal society" to include any corporation or voluntary association organized for the sole benefit of its members, not for profit, having a lodge system with a ritualistic form of work and a representative form of government, providing for the payment of benefits in case of death; and section 7 declares that all benefits accruing from such society are exempt from attachment. A mutual aid association composed of odd fellows having a lodge system, but not shown to have a ritual of its own, is not within the statute, and hence benefits payable therefrom are not exempt from attachment. Miles v. Odd Fellows Mut. Aid. Assoc., 76 Conn. 132, 55 Atl. 607.

Constitutionality.— Ohio Rev. St. § 3631, exempting funds arising from contracts of insurance in mutual benefit insurance associations from liability for the debts of the beneficiary is constitutional. Williams v. Donogh, 9 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 414, 6 Ohio N. P. 418.

59. Mellows v. Mellows, 61 N. H. 137; Mahoney v. James, 94 Va. 176, 26 S. E. 384. Contra, Houston v. Maddux, 179 Ill. 377, 53 N. E. 599 [reversing 73 Ill. App. 203].

In Nebraska the rule of the text does not obtain where the policy is in the form of an endowment whereby a certain sum is to be repaid after a number of years. The transaction is considered as being in the nature of a loan, the insurance being a mere incident; and, where the premiums have been paid by an insolvent debtor, the insurance money on the policy received by the wife during the lifetime of the husband is not transmuted so as to be hers as against creditors of the husband, but is subject to their claims. Talcott v. Field, 34 Nebr. 611, 52 N. W. 400, 33 Am. St. Rep. 662.

60. Briggs v. McCullough, 36 Cal. 542; Presbyterian Mut. Assur. Fund v. Allen, 106 Ind. 593, 7 N. E. 317.

61. See Cross v. Armstrong, 44 Ohio St. 613, 10 N. E. 160.

62. Illinois.— Martin v. Martin, 187 Ill. 200, 58 N. E. 230 [affirming 87 Ill. App. 365].

Iowa.— Murray v. Wells, 53 Iowa 256, 5 N. W. 182.

but this of course depends upon the terms of the statute which grants, allows, or limits the exemption; and the rule has been changed in several jurisdictions.

Maine.— Hathorn v. Robinson, 96 Me. 33, 51 Atl. 236.

Mississippi.— Rice v. Smith, 72 Miss. 42, 16 So. 417. See also Yale v. McLaurin, 66 Miss. 461, 5 So. 689.

Missouri.— Meyer v. Supreme Lodge K. & L. of H., 72 Mo. App. 350.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 75.

In Kansas, Laws (1895), c. 163, providing that a beneficiary's certificate shall inure to the sole use of the beneficiary's name and shall be free from the claim of the assured and from the claims of the creditors of the person named in the policy, include the beneficiary within their terms and the money resulting from a policy while deposited in a bank is exempt from garnishment by the judgment creditor of the beneficiary. Emmert v. Schmidt, 65 Kan. 31, 68 Pac. 1072 [overruling Reighart v. Harris, 6 Kan. App. 339, 51 Pac. 788, and following Crumly v. Fuller, (App. 1898) 57 Pac. 47].

In Kentucky it has been held that where the charter of a beneficiary society provides that the funds shall be for the relief of the member's family and shall be exempt from seizure under legal process for the payment of a debt of the deceased member, a certificate payable to the widow of a member is for the benefit of the member's family and cannot be seized by the widow's creditors after the death of the member. Schillinger v. Boes, 85 Ky. 357, 3 S. W. 427, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 18.

In Minnesota it is held that Gen. St. (1894) § 3312, providing that the money to be paid by coöperative or assessment life-insurance associations shall be exempt from execution, exempts the money from execution after it has been paid to and while it remains in the hands of the beneficiary named in the certificate or policy. Shakopee Nat. Bank v. How, 65 Minn. 187, 67 N. W. 994. See also Brown v. Belfour, 46 Minn. 68, 48 N. W. 604, 12 L. R. A. 373.

In New York there is considerable conflict upon this question due, to a considerable extent, to the difference in the statutes under which the decisions have been rendered. In Crosby v. Stephan, 32 Hun 478 [following Bolt v. Keyhoe, 30 Hun 619], the rule of the text that the beneficiary could not claim the exemption as against his own creditors was upheld. See also Commercial Travelers' Assoc. v. Newkirk, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 177. In an earlier case, Leonard v. Clinton, 26 Hun 288, it was held that the money received by a widow on a policy issued upon the life of her husband for the benefit of herself and children was not subject to the claims of her creditors. The court came to this conclusion from the fact that when the statute authorizing such policies to be issued was first passed a wife could not under ordinary circumstances have creditors; although the law from time to time extended her rights and increased her liabilities, the court thought that it had not changed the nature of her contingent interests in an insurance policy and had not decreased the necessity for preserving this interest for her support. The same conclusion was reached in Austin v. McLaurin, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 209. The exemption allowed in the policy of a beneficial society has been changed a number of times by statute. By Laws (1901), c. 397, providing that all moneys which shall be paid by any fraternal insurance society shall be exempt from execution and shall not be liable to seizure to pay any debt of a member or beneficiary, the money due a widow as beneficiary of her husband is exempt from execution. Ettenson v. Schwartz, 38 Misc. 669, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 231. Laws (1884), c. 116, and Laws (1889), c. 520, provided an exemption in "that part of such beneficiary fund paid to the widow." Under this statute the widow had a claim of exemption in the fund received against debts contracted either before or after the receipt of the fund. Clark v. Lynch. 83 Hun 462, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 1038. Laws (1892), c. 690, § 238, provided that all moneys or other benefits "to be paid, provided, or rendered" by any beneficial association shall be exempt from execution. Under this statute, money which has been paid to the beneficiary is not exempt as against his or her debts. Bull v. Case, 41 N. Y. App. Div. 391, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 774 [distinguishing Clark v. Lynch, supra]. Laws (1879), c. 189, authorizing the incorporation of benevolent associations does not exempt a fund received by a beneficiary from being taken for his debts. Bolt v. Keyhoe, 30 Hun 619.

Heirs and legatees of beneficiary.—Mo. Acts (1897), p. 135, provides, in regard to fraternal beneficiary societies, that the money to be paid by any association authorized to do business under the act shall not be liable to judgment or execution, and shall not be seized by any legal or equitable process, or by the operation of law, to pay any debt or liability of a certificate holder of any beneficiary named in a certificate, or any person who may have any right thereunder. A sole beneficiary died after the death of the insured. It was held that the administrator, as the quasi-trustee of the heirs, is entitled to the proceeds of the certificate, and that such proceeds, when received by him, cannot be applied to the liabilities of the estate in his hands, but must be accounted for to the heirs at law of his intestate. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Dister, 77 Mo. App. 608.

Property purchased with insurance money. — A provision that the avails of a life or accident policy shall be exempt from all debts of the beneficiary contracted before the death of the assured exempts not only the proceeds of the policy but also any prop-

The amount of the exemption is generally limited.[63] If the statute provides that excess of premiums over a certain amount shall be allowed for the debts of the insured, the amount must be reckoned from premiums paid on all the policies held by the insured.[64] If the premiums exceed the statutory amount, the creditors have a right to subject an amount equal to the excess, with interest thereon, to their claims;[65] but they have no right to the insurance purchased by the excess of premiums; they are limited to the excess in premiums and the interest thereon.[66] If a married woman purchases insurance out of her own money upon the life of her husband, her husband's creditors have no claim against the proceeds, irrespective of any amount paid for premium.[67] Under some statutes the exempted erty which the beneficiary (widow) may purchase therewith. Cook v. Allee, 119 Iowa 226, 93 N. W. 93. In an earlier case it was held that property acquired by an assignment of an insurance policy was not exempt. Friedlander v. Mahoney, 31 Iowa 311. On the levy of an execution on land belonging to plaintiff, he interposed a claim as the head of the family, and it appeared that an exemption was formerly set aside to him, a part of which consisted of a portion of amounts due on certain insurance policies. The evidence showed that six hundred and fifty dollars derived from these policies was invested in this land, and that this six hundred and fifty dollars was more by one hundred and nine dollars and three cents than the share of the exemption estate in the proceeds of the policies. There was no equitable pleading in the case, and the court instructed the jury to find the land subject to the fieri facias, to the extent of one hundred and nine dollars and three cents, with costs. It was held error, as the whole property was not subject for a specific sum of money. Vining v. Court Officers, 82 Ga. 222, 8 S. E. 185.

63. See the statutes of the several states.

If no limitation is made a law providing for the exemption in a policy of life insurance violates the constitutional provision which declares that the right of the debtor to enjoy the comforts and necessaries of life shall be recognized by wholesome laws and exempting from forced sale a reasonable amount of personal property, the kind and value of which is to be fixed by general laws. Skinner v. Holt, 9 S. D. 427, 69 N. W. 595, 62 Am. St. Rep. 878 [citing In re How, 59 Minn. 415, 61 N. W. 456].

In Tennessee, Code, § 3135, declares that "a life insurance effected by a husband on his own life shall inure to the benefit of the widow and next of kin, to be distributed as personal property, free from the claims of his creditors." Section 3336 is in substance the same, except that the insurance inures to the widow and children. Under these provisions the life insurance in the sum of fifty-eight thousand dollars effected by a husband on his own life and made payable to his widow is exempt even though he effected the insurance while insolvent and thereafter paid as premiums a larger sum than the amount of the debt sued for, which debt was incurred prior to taking the insurance. Harvey v. Harrison, 89 Tenn. 470, 14 S. W. 1083.

64. Bartram v. Hopkins, 71 Conn. 505, 42 Atl. 645.

But in Ohio under Rev. St. c. 5427, providing that any beneficial fund not exceeding a certain amount paid by any benevolent association to the family of a deceased member shall be exempt from the payment of his debts, it was held that each policy must be considered alone, and that the amount resulting on the different policies could not be added together in determining the amount that may belong to the creditors. Hinch v. D'Utassy, 1 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 372.

65. Bartram v. Hopkins, 71 Conn. 505, 42 Atl. 645.

In California the statute exempts moneys accruing on an insurance policy issued on the life of a debtor if the annual premium does not exceed five hundred dollars. If the premiums exceed that amount the beneficiary can have no exemption at all. In re Brown, 123 Cal. 399, 55 Pac. 1055, 69 Am. St. Rep. 74.

66. Kiely v. Hickcox, 70 Mo. App. 617.

Under New York Laws (1896), p. 220, c. 272, providing that that portion of the insurance which is purchased by excess of premiums above five hundred dollars, is primarily liable for the husband's debts the beneficiary is not to be deprived of any portion of the insurance moneys until it is determined that the other assets of the estate of the deceased will not satisfy the claims of the creditors; but until the creditors' claims are discharged, they are a lien in the meantime on so much of the insurance money as was purchased by the excess of premium; and in reckoning the amount to which the beneficiary is entitled, premiums on policies assigned by a wife and her husband before his death to secure a debt of the husband cannot be considered as a part of the five hundred dollars, or charged against the wife in determining the amount of the life insurance to which she is entitled after the husband's death. Kittel v. Domeyer, 175 N. Y. 205, 67 N. E. 433 [reversing in part 70 N. Y. App. Div. 134, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 150].

67. Baron v. Brummer, 100 N. Y. 272, 3 N. E. 474 [reversing 30 Hun 88]; Jacob v. Continental L. Ins. Co., 1 Cinc. Super. Ct. 519, where the insurance was taken in the husband's name and where the court held that he merely acted as his wife's agent.

avails of life insurance may be disposed of by will,[68] and under other statutes they may be subjected to the debts of the deceased by a special contract or arrangement.[69]

F. Pension and Bounty Money and Property Purchased Therewith — 1. Under Federal Statute.[70] The statute [71] provides that "no sum of money due, or to become due, to any pensioner shall be liable to attachment, levy, or seizure by or under any legal or equitable process whatever, whether the same remains with the pension office, or any officer or agent thereof, or is in course of transmission to the pensioner entitled thereto, but shall inure wholly to the benefit of such pensioner." This statute is held not to protect money after it has been received by the pensioner.[72] Nor does it protect a credit arising from the deposit of the pension check or money.[73] The protection of the statute lasts, by its very terms, only so long as the money is in the course of transmission to the pensioner.[74] A different construction has been disapproved by the supreme court of the United

68. Me. Rev. St. c. 75, § 10, gives the fund accruing from a life-insurance policy to the widow and issue, and "if no issue, the whole to the widow, and if no widow the whole to the issue." And it further provides that "it may be disposed of by will though the estate is insolvent." See Hathaway v. Sherman, 61 Me. 466, holding that the statute does not empower one dying insolvent and leaving neither widow nor child to dispose of the insurance fund by will, but that in this event it becomes assets for the payment of debts.

Under Ohio Rev. St. § 3628, the avails of the decedent's life-insurance policy cannot be disposed of by will, but after the proceeds have gone to exhaust the exemption under the statute the remainder of the avails must go to the administrator to pay debts and costs of administration and a year's allowance to the widow, and whatever remains after the satisfaction of these liabilities must go to the widow and children according to the statute of descents. Wagner v. Karman, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 753, 7 Am. L. Rec. 671.

69. See Larrabee v. Palmer, 101 Iowa 132, 70 N. W. 100, holding that a meeting of the minds of the parties is necessary to establish either a "special contract" or an "arrangement," and that the fact that the insured clearly expressed before his decease his desire that the avails of his policies should go in payment of his debts is insufficient.

70. A bounty or grant of money for meritorious services in suppressing slave trade "for the relief of the heirs" of the person who rendered the services is not liable to the claims of his creditors as against the rights of the heirs in the gift or grant. Emerson v. Hall, 13 Pet. (U. S.) 409, 10 L. ed. 223.

71. U. S. Rev. St. (1878) § 4747 [U. S. Comp. St. (1901) p. 3279].

72. Kentucky.— Johnson v. Elkins, 90 Ky. 163, 13 S. W. 448, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 967, 8 L. R. A. 552; Robion v. Walker, 82 Ky. 60, 56 Am. Rep. 878; Carter v. Strange, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 302; Suter v. Stamper, 6 Ky. L. Rep. 745; Herreld v. Skillem, 6 Ky. L. Rep. 666; Moxley v. Andrews, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 425. Contra, see Eckert v. McKee, 9 Bush 355.

Maine.— Crane v. Linneus, 77 Me. 59; Friend v. Garcelon, 77 Me. 25, 52 Am. Rep. 739.

Massachusetts.— Spelman v. Aldrich, 126 Mass. 113. But compare Kellogg v. Waite, 12 Allen 529.

New Jersey.— Jardain v. Fairton Sav. Fund, etc., Assoc., 44 N. J. L. 376.

Ohio.— Fulwiler v. Infield, 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 36, 3 Ohio Cir. Dec. 338.

Pennsylvania.— Money which has been received by the pensioner and placed in the hands of a third person for safe-keeping is not exempt. Rozelle v. Rhodes, 116 Pa. St. 129, 9 Atl. 160, 2 Am. St. Rep. 591. But in Holmes v. Tallada, 125 Pa. St. 133, 17 Atl. 238, 11 Am. St. Rep. 880, 3 L. R. A. 219, the court, although recognizing the authority of Rozelle v. Rhodes, supra, held that the money when in the pensioner's hands could not be applied to the payment of his debts against his will and that therefore a gift of the money to his wife is not a fraud upon his creditors. See also Clark v. Ingraham, 15 Phila. 646.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 80.

Contra.— See Folschow v. Werner, 51 Wis. 85, 7 N. W. 911 [following Eckert v. McKee, 9 Bush (Ky.) 355, which was afterward practically overruled].

Funds in the hands of a guardian, belonging to his wards, derived from a pension allowed to them on account of the services and death of their father in the military service of the United States are not exempt from liability for their support; but to justify an order of allowance therefrom to the surviving parent for their past support would require a stronger showing than for a future allowance, and should only be made under special circumstances. Welch v. Burris, 29 Iowa 186, 187.

73. Webb v. Holt, 57 Iowa 712, 11 N. W. 658; Cranz v. White, 27 Kan. 319, 41 Am. Rep. 408; Martin v. Hurlburt, 60 Vt. 364, 14 Atl. 649; McCalla v. Brennan, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 513. Contra, Reiff v. Mack, 160 Pa. St. 265, 28 Atl. 699, 40 Am. St. Rep. 720.

74. Triplett v. Graham, 58 Iowa 135, 12 N. W. 143. See cases cited supra, notes 72, 73.

States.[75] It therefore follows that property purchased with pension money is not exempt.[76] But the protection of the statute is absolute until the money reaches the pensioner's hands,[77] and it has been held that pension money in the pensioner's hands at the time of filing his petition in bankruptcy is exempt.[78]

2. Under State Statutes. Where different states have passed statutes providing for an exemption in pension money given by the United States, the pensioner's right to an exemption after the money has been paid to him must be found in the laws of the state where the pensioner resides,[79] for after the money is paid over the federal statute ceases to be operative.[80] The limits of the exemption depend upon the statute of each jurisdiction and the construction given thereto by the court.[81] A number of states have given the pensioner an exemption in

75. McIntosh v. Aubrey, 185 U. S. 122, 124, 22 S. Ct. 561, 46 L. ed. 834 [citing Crow v. Brown, 81 Iowa 344, 46 N. W. 993, 25 Am. St. Rep. 501, 11 L. R. A. 110; Yates County Nat. Bank v. Carpenter, 119 N. Y. 550, 25 N. E. 1108, 16 Am. St. Rep. 855, 7 L. R. A. 557].

76. Indiana.— Cavanaugh v. Smith, 84 Ind. 380.

Kentucky.— Johnson v. Elkins, 90 Ky. 163, 13 S. W. 448, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 967, 8 L. R. A. 552; Sims v. Walsham, 7 S. W. 557, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 912; Carter v. Strange, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 302; Herreld v. Skillem, 6 Ky. L. Rep. 666; Hudspeth v. Harrison, 6 Ky. L. Rep. 304; Robion v. Walker, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 799.

Pennsylvania.— Aubrey v. McIntosh, 10 Pa. Super. Ct. 275, 44 Wkly. Notes Cas. 164; Burtch v. Burtch, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 482. Compare Lancaster County Poor Directors v. Hartman, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 177.

West Virginia.— Kingwood Bank v. Murdock, 48 W. Va. 301, 37 S. E. 548; McFarland v. Fish, 34 W. Va. 548, 12 S. E. 548.

United States.— In re Stout, 109 Fed. 794. See also McIntosh v. Aubrey, 185 U. S. 122, 22 S. Ct. 561, 46 L. ed. 834 [quoting Aubrey v. McIntosh, 10 Pa. Super. Ct. 275, 44 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 164].

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 73.

Contra.— Cook v. Allee, 119 Iowa 226, 93 N. W. 93; Crow v. Brown, 86 Iowa 741, 53 N. W. 131, 81 Iowa 344, 46 N. W. 993, 25 Am. St. Rep. 501, 11 L. R. A. 110; Smith v. Hill, 83 Iowa 684, 49 N. W. 1043, 32 Am. St. Rep. 329 [overruling Foster v. Byrne, 76 Iowa 295, 35 N. W. 513, 41 N. W. 22]; Dean v. Clark, 81 Iowa 753, 46 N. W. 995. See also Fayette County v. Hancock, 83 Iowa 694, 49 N. W. 1040.

Lands conveyed to the wife of the pensioner in consideration of pension money have been held exempt (Marquardt v. Mason, 87 Iowa 136, 54 N. W. 72) even in the jurisdiction which interprets the federal statute to give an exemption only so long as the money is in course of transmission to the pensioner (Hissem v. Johnson, 27 W. Va. 644, 55 Am. Rep. 327). This was the rule in Iowa when the general rule was that land purchased by the proceeds of a pension check was not exempt. Farmer v. Turner, 64 Iowa 690, 21 N. W. 140. See supra, note 74. Contra, Johnson v. Elkins, 90 Ky. 163, 13 S. W. 448, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 967, 8 L. R. A. 552; Coakley v. Underwood, 18 S. W. 7, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 654; Burtch v. Burtch, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 482.

77. Therefore a formal payment to one without authority to receive it will not deprive the pensioner of the protection of the act. Payne v. Gibson, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 173. Even where the money of a pensioner was paid to an agent appointed by him to receive it from a disbursing agent it was held still under the protection. Adams v. Newell, 8 Vt. 190, a case decided in 1836 under another statute.

Payment of a debt due from the pensioner to his wife cannot be objected to by the husband's creditors. Bullard v. Goodno, 73 Vt. 88, 50 Atl. 544, holding that the sum of twenty-three dollars paid by the pensioner to his wife over and above the four hundred and seventy-seven dollars borrowed from her would be considered as a payment of interest on the loan.

78. In re Bean, 100 Fed. 262, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 53 [distinguishing Martin v. Hurlburt, 60 Vt. 364, 14 Atl. 649, where the pension money had been changed in nature by investment in a savings bank deposit, not for safe-keeping, but to earn dividends].

79. Burgett v. Fancher, 35 Hun (N. Y.) 647.

80. See supra, III, F, 1.

81. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Connecticut, Gen. St. § 1164, exempts any pension moneys received from the United States while "in the hands of the pensioner." Under this statute the proceeds of the pension check deposited all at one time and entered on a pass-book in a mutual savings bank, of the assets of which the pensioner thereby becomes a proportional part owner, are exempt. Price v. Savings Soc., 64 Conn. 362, 30 Atl. 139, 42 Am. St. Rep. 198.

In New York pension money is absolutely exempt under Code Civ. Proc. § 1393. Wildrick v. De Vinney, 18 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 355. If the money is deposited in a bank it is still exempt. Stockwell v. Malone Nat. Bank, 36 Hun 583; Burgett v. Fancher, 35 Hun 647. But one who receives an interest-bearing certificate of deposit receives property in return for his money and thereby loses his right of exemption. Matter of Kennedy, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 18, 1 Connoly Surr. 181.

In Texas the probate act of 1870 providing that property reserved by law from forced sale shall form no part of the estate of property purchased with the pension money he receives.[82] A person claiming real estate as exempt from execution, because bought with pension money, must prove the right claimed, as inspection of the property or of the records will not determine whether it is exempt or not.[83] Bounty money like pension money is protected on grounds of public policy from seizure for the debts of the person to whom the bounty is due, at least until it has been received in his hands,[84] or even a deceased person where a constituent of the family survives does not apply to a pension warrant issued to veteran under Acts (1874), p. 114. Heard v. Northington, 49 Tex. 439.

Liability of pension money for maintenance of a relative.— Pension moneys exempted by N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1393, which moneys compose the entire property of a father, cannot be subjected to the maintenance of an insane son who is being cared for at the expense of the state, although Code Cr. Proc. § 915, provides that a relative of sufficient ability can be compelled to maintain a poor person. St. Lawrence State Hospital v. Fowler, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 159, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 12. In Iowa pension money in the hands of a conservator of an insane pensioner cannot be appropriated to reimburse the county for expenses incurred by it in support of the pensioner. Fayette County v. Hancock, 83 Iowa 694, 49 N. W. 1040.

For the payment of alimony out of pension money see Tully v. Tully, 159 Mass. 91, 34 N. E. 79.

82. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Iowa, McClain Code, § 4305, gives an absolute exemption in all pension money whether it is in the pensioner's possession or invested by him. This statute was held not to apply where the debt against which the exemption is claimed was contracted before the enactment of the statute. This on the constitutional ground of the impairment of the obligation of contracts (U. S. Const. art. 1, § 10). Foster v. Byrne, 76 Iowa 295, 35 N. W. 513, 41 N. W. 22. The act does not affect the property of a pensioner who died before it was enacted. Baugh v. Barrett, 69 Iowa 495, 29 N. W. 425. If the money is invested in animals, not all their increase is necessarily exempt. The pensioner is entitled to an exemption only in the money actually "invested." Diamond v. Palmer, 79 Iowa 578, 44 N. W. 819. Although by one section pension money loaned or invested is exempt and by another section the proceeds and accumulations are exempt when invested in a homestead, crops grown upon land purchased with pension money do not come within the exemption where it is not shown that the land is a homestead. Haefer v. Mullison, 90 Iowa 372, 57 N. W. 893, 48 Am. St. Rep. 451. Where a pensioner trades a horse which is exempt because bought with pension money for another horse of greater value, but gives nothing to boot, the latter horse is also exempt. Smith v. Hill, 83 Iowa 684, 49 N. W. 1043, 32 Am. St. Rep. 329. A claimant under this statute must show, not only that the money was invested in the property, but also the exact amount invested. Lee v. Teeter, 106 Iowa 37, 75 N. W. 655.

In Nebraska, Code Civ. Proc. § 531*b*, has given the pensioner an exemption in personal property purchased with pension money to an amount not exceeding two thousand dollars. This exemption extends to personal property of less than two thousand dollars in value on which a mortgage lien has been discharged with money received as a pension, and to property taken in exchange for the property thus discharged from the mortgage lien and to the increase of such property. Dargan v. Williams, 66 Nebr. 1, 91 N. W. 862.

In New York, under Code Civ. Proc. § 1393, property bought with pension money is exempt. Yates County Nat. Bank v. Carpenter, 119 N. Y. 550, 556, 23 N. E. 1108, 16 Am. St. Rep. 855, 7 L. R. A. 557 [reversing 49 Hun 40, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 733, and limiting Wygant v. Smith, 2 Lans. 185, to the facts appearing therein: "In that case the pensioner had embarked his pension in business or trade, and in some transactions had made a profit. It was impossible to identify the fund in the various articles of property in which, through numerous and successive changes, it had become invested, and it was held that the pensioner had lost his right of exemption"]. But real estate bought with pension money is subject to the pensioner's debts after his death. Matter of Liddle, 35 Misc. 173, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 474; Beecher v. Barber, 22 N. Y. St. 136, 6 Dem. Surr. 129. Contra, Tyler v. Ballard, 31 Misc. 540, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 557, 31 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 63, 7 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 465; Hodge v. Leaning, 2 Dem. Surr. 553. The exemption of a lot bought with pension money and the house built thereon extends only to the amount of pension money so used, and a mortgage given for a balance due under a contract for the building of the house is valid as to any surplus. Countryman v. Countryman, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 258, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 161.

As to waiver see Monroe v. Button, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 494, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 637. See also infra, V.

83. Shull v. King, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 605, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 1.

84. Manchester v. Burns, 45 N. H. 482.

Land bought with bounty.— Me. Laws (1862), c. 106, § 2, allowing an exemption in personal property "during the term of service of such volunteer" does not protect land bought by the debtor with his bounty money, the title being in his wife's name, where question arises long after the debtor's service expired. Knapp v. Beattie, 70 Me. 410, 411.

absolutely.[85] If the statute protects bounty money and seizure only until it can be received in his hands, it is subject to execution for the recipient's debts after he[86] or his agent[87] has received it.

G. Proceeds of Exempt Property — 1. By Voluntary Sale or Exchange. When exempt personal property is exchanged for property in kind or like character, the property received in exchange is also exempt;[88] but when property is sold for money or is exchanged for merchandise or other property not exempt under the law, the money[89] or the property received in exchange[90] is liable to execution.

Public policy requires that the bounties voted by a town to encourage enlistments cannot while in the hands of the town be held by the creditors of a volunteer under trustee process. Manchester v. Burns, 45 N. H. 482.

That a recipient was already a deserter when he enlisted and that he enlisted under a fictitious name does not affect his right to his exemption in the amount of money he has received. Youmans v. Boomhower, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 21, under N. Y. Acts (1864), § 4.

85. Whiting v. Barrett, 7 Lans. (N. Y.) 106; Youmans v. Boomhower, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 21.

86. Morse v. Towns, 45 N. H. 185.

87. Manchester v. Burns, 45 N. H. 482. When a purchaser of a claim against a town for a soldier's bounty receives the pay on it, the money received becomes the property of the purchaser, and he becomes the debtor of the soldier for the price which he agreed to pay, and may be held as trustee of the soldier therefor, although Vt. Gen. St. p. 118, provides that no money payable or received under the act authorizing towns to vote bounties to volunteers shall be subject to the trustee process. Yates v. Hurst, 41 Vt. 556.

88. Johnson v. Franklin, 63 Ga. 378; Morris v. Tennent, 56 Ga. 577; Kingsland v. McGowan, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 32. Contra, Lloyd v. Durham, 60 N. C. 282, where the decision went on the ground that the property which had been exchanged was the property allotted to him, and the property received in exchange was not the property allotted to him, the court remarking that if the debtor had procured the article received in exchange to be given to him by a second allotment, it would then have been exempt.

In Kentucky property purchased with the proceeds of exempt property is exempt irrespective of the character or kind of the property thus purchased. Musgrave v. Parish, 11 S. W. 464, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 998; King v. Tompkins, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 29, holding that notes received in exchange for exempt property are not subject to the claims of the debtor's creditors. But property purchased with the salary of a public officer is not exempt. See supra, note 42.

Where part of the purchase-price constituted a part of the debtor's personal property exemption and the real estate was then conveyed to his wife, it was held that on a sale of the land to satisfy the debts of the debtor the creditor had no more right to subject that portion of the purchase-price which constituted a part of the debtor's exemption to the payment of his debts than if it had remained in the hands of the debtor. Bridgers v. Howell, 27 S. C. 425, 3 S. E. 790.

89. Charles v. Oatman, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 452, 4 Pa. L. J. 239.

A debt due from the sale of exempt property is not exempt. Avery Planter Co. v. Cole, 61 Ill. App. 494; Reade v. Kerr, 52 Ill. App. 467 (both cases decided under a statute which forbade an execution to be allowed a debtor in any money, salary, or wages due him from any person or corporation); Scott v. Brigham, 27 Vt. 561. And see Edson v. Trask, 22 Vt. 18. See also Harrier v. Fassett, 56 Iowa 264, 9 N. W. 217, holding that Iowa Code (1873), § 3244, which provides that the exemption given in property shall apply also to the judgment recovered for its value when wrongfully seized on execution by a creditor does not include a judgment recovered for exempt property sold voluntarily. See infra, III, G, 2.

Where a statute allows a wife to claim the personal property of exemption when her husband has absconded, she is entitled to hold the property itself, but not the proceeds thereof, if she converts it into money. This is because the law does not vest in her the title of the property exempt, but gives her only a right of possession, and if the property is converted into money it becomes subject to the debts of the husband just like any other of his property. The wife, however, may claim four hundred dollars of the money as exempt, but the residue will go to the creditors. Steele v. Leonori, 28 Mo. App. 675.

90. Pool v. Reid, 15 Ala. 826; Connell v. Fish, 54 Vt. 381, holding that a colt which is not exempt under the statute as kept for a team is not exempt merely because it was received in exchange for a horse which the debtor held as exempt under the statute. See also Salsbury v. Parsons, 36 Hun (N. Y.) 12, 17, where the court said: "It is a familiar rule that property exempt from levy and sale on execution only remains so, so long as it maintains its identity and is kept intact. A horse, under certain circumstances, may be exempt, but, if sold and the proceeds taken and invested in watches, they would not be exempt."

If real estate is received in exchange for exempt personal property it must take its place subject to the laws governing real es-

2. By Wrongful Conversion. A judgment for the wrongful conversion of exempt property cannot be subjected to execution.[91] The costs of the judgment are also held exempt,[92] but not the additional[93] or exemplary[94] damages given over and above the value of the thing converted.

3. Insurance Money. Insurance money received for exempt personal property which has been burned can be claimed as exempt by the judgment debtor.[95]

4. Miscellaneous.[96] Where proceeds of the interests in a judgment duly set apart as exempt were invested in land the land was held exempt.[97] A combined result of the proceeds of exempt property and the labor of the debtor is not subject to execution.[98] The natural increase of exempt animals has been held tate and be exempt or not as other property of like nature. Bennett v. Hutson, 33 Ark. 762, holding that the fact that the title was taken in the wife's name would not affect the rule.

91. Arkansas.— See Draffin v. Smith, 63 Ark. 83, 37 S. W. 307.

Georgia.— Harrell v. Harrell, 77 Ga. 130, 3 S. E. 12.

Iowa.— See Harrier v. Fassett, 56 Iowa 264, 9 N. W. 232.

Kansas.— Treat v. Wilson, 65 Kan. 729, 70 Pac. 893.

Minnesota.— Wylie v. Grundysen, 51 Minn. 360, 53 N. W. 805, 38 Am. St. Rep. 509, 19 L. R. A. 33. Contra, Temple v. Scott, 3 Minn. 419.

Missouri.— Wabash R. Co. v. Bowring, 103 Mo. App. 158, 77 S. W. 106.

New York.— Tillotson v. Wolcott, 48 N. Y. 188, holding that the judgment will be protected as exempt property until sufficient time has elapsed to give the debtor opportunity to reinvest in exempt property. See also Andrews v. Rowan, 28 How. Pr. 126. But see Mallory v. Norton, 21 Barb. 424.

Pennsylvania.— Steele v. McKerrihan, 172 Pa. St. 280, 33 Atl. 570; McFarland v. Short, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. 410. Contra, Knabb v. Drake, 23 Pa. St. 489, 62 Am. Dec. 352, where the court was evidently influenced in its decision by the fact that half the sum recovered was given as exemplary damages.

South Dakota.— Long v. Collins, 15 S. D. 259, 88 N. W. 571.

Tennessee.— Crawford v. Carroll, 93 Tenn. 661, 27 S. W. 1010, 42 Am. St. Rep. 943, 26 L. R. A. 415.

Texas.— Howard v. Tandy, 79 Tex. 450, 15 S. W. 578.

Vermont.— Stebbins v. Peeler, 29 Vt. 289.

Wisconsin.— Below v. Robbins, 76 Wis. 600, 45 N. W. 416, 20 Am. St. Rep. 89, 8 L. R. A. 467.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 78.

Contra.— Robinson v. Burke, 70 N. H. 2, 45 Atl. 713, 85 Am. St. Rep. 595.

If not all the property converted was exempt, although some of it was, and if there is nothing to show how much of the judgment recovered for the conversion proceeded from the portion of the property which was exempt, the judgment may be garnished. Burke v. Hance, 76 Tex. 76, 13 S. W. 163, 18 Am. St. Rep. 28.

92. Long v. Collins, 16 S. D. 625, 94 N. W. 700, 102 Am. St. Rep. 724; Below v. Robbins, 76 Wis. 600, 45 N. W. 416, 20 Am. St. Rep. 89, 8 L. R. A. 467.

93. Johnson v. Edde, 58 Miss. 664.

94. See Knabb v. Drake, 23 Pa. St. 489, 62 Am. Dec. 352.

95. Reynolds v. Haines, 83 Iowa 342, 49 N. W. 851, 32 Am. St. Rep. 311, 13 L. R. A. 719; Cooney v. Cooney, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 524 [following Tillotson v. Wolcott, 48 N. Y. 188]; Ward v. Goggan, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 274, 23 S. W. 479 (holding that the insurance money was not subject to garnishment even where the creditor has a lien on the property destroyed); Puget Sound Dressed Beef, etc., Co. v. Jeffs, 11 Wash. 466, 39 Pac. 962, 48 Am. St. Rep. 885, 27 L. R. A. 808. Contra, Monnica v. German Ins. Co., 12 Ill. App. 240; Wooster v. Page, 54 N. H. 125, 20 Am. Rep. 128.

The debtor's answer to the disclosure of the garnishee of the amount due the debtor under an insurance policy must state the value of the property burned and allege that it was all of the like kind which was owned or used by him when the loss occurred. A mere allegation that the property insured was exempt is insufficient. Winsor v. McLachlan, 12 Wash. 154, 40 Pac. 727.

96. Exemption in property purchased by: Earnings, wages, or salary see supra, III, D, 1, d. Life-insurance money see supra, III, E. Pension or bounty money see supra, III, F. Proceeds of stock in trade see supra, III, B, 4.

97. Johnson v. Redwine, 105 Ga. 449, 33 S. E. 676.

98. Reed v. Holbrook, 113 Ga. 1168, 39 S. E. 445. See supra, III, D. The entire crop of cotton produced by the joint use of exempt property and supplies of the family furnished by the head of the family is not subject to his individual debt. Brand v. Clements, 116 Ga. 392, 42 S. E. 711, 94 Am. St. Rep. 133, holding that where the evidence does not show the amount and value so that the part of the debtor may be ascertained the whole must be held not subject to execution. See also Kupferman v. Buckholts, 73 Ga. 778.

A judgment for wages recovered by an employee who was wrongfully discharged before the expiration of his term is exempt, where there is an exemption of wages allowed by statute. Cox v. Bearden, 84 Ga. 304, 10 S. E. 627, 20 Am. St. Rep. 359.

subject to execution for the owner's debts;[99] but their produce has been held exempt.[1]

H. Choses in Action. The term "personal property" is generally held to include choses in action, whether in statutes making an absolute exemption of a certain amount of property or in statutes allowing the debtor to select a certain amount of property, either generally or in lieu of certain articles specifically exempt.[2] Under other statutes the courts have found it impossible to have the term connote a chose in action.[3]

I. Military Equipment. Early in the last century a number of the states exempted the equipments of a soldier of the militia.[4]

J. Share in Intestate Estate. A debtor who is the head of a family can claim an exemption in his share of an intestate's personal estate,[5] but not as Money awarded to a defendant out of the proceeds of his real estate, under the exemption law of 1849, and paid over to his attorney by the sheriff, is not liable to be attached in the hands of the attorney. Gery v. Ehrgood, 31 Pa. St. 329.

99. Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Green, 78 N. C. 247.

1. Thus the butter made from the milk of the debtor's only cow, which was exempt by statute, has been held exempt. Leavitt v. Metcalf, 2 Vt. 342, 19 Am. Dec. 718. However, in order to maintain a claim to chattels which is founded solely on the contention that they are the product or increment of duly exempted personalty, it is incumbent upon the claimant to prove affirmatively that the subject-matter of the claim was obtained in exchange for exempted property or the proceeds thereof, or by labor exerted in connection with the use or consumption of such property, so that the newly acquired personalty might with fairness and reason be said to take the place of that which has been set apart. Culver v. Tappan, 113 Ga. 525, 38 S. E. 944.

2. Alabama.— Kennedy v. Smith, 99 Ala. 83, 11 So. 665; Enzor v. Hurt, 76 Ala. 595; Randolph v. Little, 62 Ala. 396.

Arkansas.— Winter v. Simpson, 42 Ark. 410; Probst v. Scott, 31 Ark. 652.

Georgia.— See Leggett v. Van Horn, 76 Ga. 795.

Kentucky.— Miller v. Mahoney, 29 S. W. 879, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 799.

Missouri.—Rolla State Bank v. Borgfeld, 93 Mo. App. 62; Wagner v. J. H. North Furniture, etc., Co.., 63 Mo. App. 206; State v. Finn, 8 Mo. App. 261. Contra, under the act of Feb. 6, 1847, see Gregory v. Evans, 19 Mo. 261.

Nebraska.— Mace v. Heath, 34 Nebr. 54, 51 N. W. 317, a judgment.

North Carolina.—Frost v. Naylor, 68 N. C. 325, construing Const. art. 10, § 1. But contra, under Rev. Code, c. 45, § 89, see Ballard v. Waller, 52 N. C. 84, where the chose in action was a judgment.

Ohio.— Homestead Act, § 8, as amended March 22, 1858 (Swan & C. Annot. St. 1146), which allows the resident head of a family not the owner of a homestead to hold exempt personal property to be selected by him or her, "not exceeding three hundred dollars in value, in addition to the amount of chattel property now by law exempt," includes, when construed in connection with other statutes in pari materia, credits and moneys selected by the debtor as against either attachment or garnishee process. Chilcote v. Conley, 36 Ohio St. 545.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 38.

An equity of redemption in personal property may be claimed by the debtor as exempt. Gaster v. Hardie, 75 N. C. 460. Contra, Moffett v. Sheehey, 52 Ill. App. 376.

La. Civ. Code, art. 1992, exempts the rights of personal servitude of use and habitation from execution. See also La. Civ. Code, art. 646, servitude.

3. Finlen v. Howard, 126 Ill. 259, 18 N. E. 560 [distinguishing Fanning v. Jacksonville First Nat. Bank, 76 Ill. 53]; Leonard v. Lawrence, 32 N. J. L. 355; Edson v. Trask, 22 Vt. 18.

In British Columbia, under St. (1888) c. 57, § 10, exempting goods and chattels to the debtor, book debts are not exempt before seizure and sale. Hudson's Bay Co. v. Hazlett, 4 Brit. Col. 450.

4. Hendricks v. Lewis, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 105. Under such a statute the arms of an artilleryman were exempt. Crocker v. Hunt, 2 McCord (S. C.) 352. But the horse and saddle of a member of a company of cavalry were not within section 32 of the Militia Act, providing that the uniform, arms, ammunition, and accoutrements of enrolled citizens shall be exempt. Fry v. Canfield, 4 Vt. 9.

Compliance with statute.— To obtain the benefits of the statute the claimant was obliged to comply with its terms. Southwell v. Harley, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 180.

This particular kind of exemption has been held to continue only so long as the debtor is bound by law to furnish the equipments — if the obligation ceases, the exemption ceases. Owen v. Gray, 19 Vt. 543, holding that after the debtor absconded his exemption ceased, since being without the jurisdiction he was no longer obliged to furnish the equipments. See supra, II, I.

5. Swandale v. Swandale, 25 S. C. 389.

Legacies of married women are not subject to execution or attachment under the proviso of the Pennsylvania act of April 13, 1843, which expressly exempts legacies and distributive shares of married women from against the debts which he owes the estate.[6] In some jurisdictions a debtor is given an exemption in land which is set apart as burial ground.[7]

K. Property or Money in Lieu of Specific Exemption. Whether the debtor can claim money[8] or property[9] in lieu of specific exemptions allowed by the law depends upon the jurisdiction. If a debtor selects a debt due him, the debt becomes exempt, in a jurisdiction where he is allowed this privilege, just as if it had been designated under the statutory provision as to articles specifically exempt.[10]

IV. SALE, TRANSFER, MORTGAGE, OR ENCUMBRANCE.

A. Power to Sell, Transfer, Encumber, or Dispose — 1. In General. Subject to certain exceptions,[11] a debtor has power to sell or dispose of property the status of which as exempt property is determined.[12] The debtor may dispose foreign attachment. Irwin's Estate, 31 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 23.

6. Duffy v. Duffy, 155 Mo. 144, 55 S. W. 1002 [citing Lietman v. Lietman, 149 Mo. 112, 50 S. W. 307, 73 Am. St. Rep. 374].

7. Pawnee City First Nat. Bank v. Hazels, 63 Nebr. 844, 89 N. W. 378, 56 L. R. A. 765; Cox v. Stafford, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 519. See also CEMETERIES, 6 Cyc. 718. In Pawnee City First Nat. Bank v. Hazels, supra, it was held that the fact that the owner of the legal title to a portion of the lots in a cemetery dedicated to public use receives a portion of the revenue derived from the sale thereof when required for burial purposes does not render the unsold lots subject to the execution.

8. See Fowler v. State, 99 Md. 594, 53 Atl. 444 [distinguishing State v. Boulden, 57 Md. 314]; Carter v. Davis, 6 Wash. 327, 33 Pac. 833.

If a debtor claims an exemption by reserving a certain amount out of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, the claim must be restricted to some property which he owned or in which he had an interest at the time of the assignment, or at the farthest, to the proceeds for which the property was sold. The claim cannot be extended to money made by the assignee's care, management, and use of the assigned property. Bausman's Appeal, 90 Pa. St. 178, holding that the rent which the assignees received after an assignment, not on a term existing at the time of the assignment but on a letting afterward, cannot be allowed to a debtor who has reserved his three-hundred-dollar exemption in the assignment.

The debtor may claim his exemption out of the rents and profits of a life-estate appraised at less than the statutory amount. Sener v. Scherff, 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 529 [followed in Buchi v. Pund, 9 Pa. Dist. 446, 17 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 11].

9. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Kentucky, prior to the exemption act of June 1, 1884, a debtor could not claim anything in lieu of the exemption articles not on hand. The act of 1884 allowed in such cases other personal property to be set apart to the debtor. Miller v. Mahoney, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 400. In Northington v. Boyd, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 227, it was said that a debtor might sell articles specifically exempt and have an allowance out of other property if he has spent the money.

In Michigan a debtor engaged in a business which would entitle him to claim a team as exempt may select instead of it other property to the value of two hundred and fifty dollars necessary to enable him to carry on the same business, although without a team he would be obliged to change entirely the mode of conducting his business. Wyckoff v. Wyllis, 8 Mich. 48.

In Missouri, under section 13 of the Exemption Act, a debtor may select any other property in lieu of specific articles enumerated in the first and second clauses of section 12, provided his whole exemption does not exceed in value one hundred and fifty dollars. Mahan v. Scruggs, 29 Mo. 282.

10. Day v. Burnham, 82 Mo. App. 538. See, however, Johnson v. Redwine, 105 Ga. 449, 33 S. E. 676, holding that the provision for the allowance of cash and its investment by the ordinary is not applicable where the property exempted was an interest owned and held by the debtor in a judgment.

11. See infra, IV, A, 1, 2.

Under a statute which abrogates the right of a debtor to assign or transfer his exempt property after suit has been begun for its purchase-price and plaintiff has complied with certain conditions provided in the statute, the right to assign or transfer remains until the conditions are complied with, although action has been begun for the purchase-price. Lillibridge v. Walsh, 97 Mich. 459, 56 N. W. 854.

12. Alabama.— Cook v. Baine, 37 Ala. 350. See also Gamble v. Reynolds, 42 Ala. 226.

Georgia.— Powers v. Rosenblatt, 113 Ga. 559, 38 S. E. 969.

Illinois.— Washburn v. Goodheart, 88 Ill. 229, 232; Vaughan v. Thompson, 17 Ill. 78.

Indiana.— Ray v. Yarnell, 118 Ind. 112, 20 N. E. 705.

Iowa.— Bevan v. Hayden, 13 Iowa 122.

Kentucky.— See Moxley v. Ragan, 10 Bush 156, 19 Am. Rep. 61.

Michigan.— Rosenthal v. Scott, 41 Mich. 632, 2 N. W. 909.

Missouri.— Day v. Burnham, 82 Mo. App. 538.

Tennessee.— Cronan v. Honor, 10 Heisk.

of his exempt property by gift or voluntary conveyance.[13] This right of gift or voluntary conveyance exists irrespective of the debtor's motive, whether in fraud of creditors or not.[14] The right to convey still exists, even after the execution is in the hands of the officer,[15] or after the execution lien has attached.[16] It naturally follows that the debtor may pledge or mortgage his exempt property;[17] but an indigent debtor cannot encumber that portion of his property exempt by law for the support of his wife and minor children,[18] nor can he by will dispose of pension money to the exclusion of his creditors.[19]

2. CONSENT OF WIFE OR HUSBAND. It is a usual provision of the exemption laws that property made exempt by them cannot be transferred or encumbered by a man, if he be married, without the consent of his wife; or the statute sometimes provides that neither husband nor wife can transfer or encumber their exempt property without the consent of the other.[20] Such a provision has been

533. In Cox v. Ballentine, 1 Baxt. 362, the court said that, although the legislature might restrain creditors from levying execution upon certain property of a debtor's family, it could not prohibit a debtor, the head of a family, from selling any property of which he was the absolute owner.

Virginia.— See Williams v. Watkins, 92 Va. 680, 24 S. E. 223.

Canada.— Field v. Hart, 22 Ont. App. 449.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," §§ 105–107.

In Georgia the sale of exempt personal property by the head of a family, without an order of court, is void when made after the property has been duly set apart under the exemption laws of the state. Clifton v. Northen, 106 Ga. 21, 31 S. E. 782.

A bona fide resident householder possessed with less than six hundred dollars' worth of property over and above encumbrances may, before sale on a judgment founded on a contract, convey his equity in the land free from the lien of the judgment or execution. Citizens' State Bank v. Harris, 149 Ind. 208, 48 N. E. 856.

A fund exempt to a widow from the payment of her husband's debts is not made subject to their payment by the fact that she has assigned it. Kramer v. Wood, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 52 S. W. 1113.

13. Wright v. Smith, 66 Ala. 514; Farmer v. Turner, 64 Iowa 690, 21 N. W. 140 (where a check given in settlement of a pension was given by the pensioner to his wife); Ehrisman v. Roberts, 68 Pa. St. 308; Carhart v. Harshaw, 45 Wis. 340, 30 Am. Rep. 752.

14. Carhart v. Harshaw, 45 Wis. 340, 30 Am. Rep. 752. See also Tracy v. Cover, 28 Ohio St. 61; Day v. Burnham, 82 Mo. App. 538. Contra, see Kulage v. Schueler, 7 Mo. App. 250; Yeager v. Nicholls, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 91. And see FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

15. Pool v. Reid, 15 Ala. 826, 828; Barnard v. Brown, 112 Ind. 53, 13 N. E. 401; Paxton v. Freeman, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 234, 22 Am. Dec. 74.

16. Godman v. Smith, 17 Ind. 152. Contra, see Cassell v. Williams, 12 Ill. 387.

17. Gillespie v. Brown, 16 Nebr. 457, 20 N. W. 632; Frost v. Shaw, 3 Ohio St. 270; Rose v. Martin, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 33 S. W. 284. See also Hawley v. Hampton, 160 Pa. St. 18, 28 Atl. 471.

A mortgage of exempt property is not an unlawful preference. Fournier v. Brown, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 204.

Where a chattel mortgage covering certain exempt and certain non-exempt property has not been recorded, the mortgagor, when certain of his creditors have levied execution on the non-exempt property, cannot require the mortgagee or his assignees to exhaust such property before proceeding against the exempt property. Baughn v. Allen, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 68 S. W. 207.

A debtor who deserts his family cannot in Illinois encumber the exempt property to the detriment of his family in favor of one knowing the facts. Baker v. Baker, 69 Ill. App. 461. But in Nebraska it is held that the husband's desertion or absconding does not divest him of the power to create a lien upon his exempt property. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Hoffman, (Nebr. 1903) 96 N. W. 1044.

18. Simpson v. Robert, 35 Ga. 180.

19. Luthey v. Bacon, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 326.

20. Idaho.— Kindall v. Lincoln Hardware, etc., Co., 8 Ida. 664, 70 Pac. 1056.

Kansas.— Searle v. Gregg, 67 Kan. 1, 72 Pac. 544; Alexander v. Logan, 65 Kan. 505, 70 Pac. 339, joint consent of husband and wife necessary. See also Skinner v. Winfield First Nat. Bank, 63 Kan. 842, 66 Pac. 997.

Kentucky.— Thorn v. Darlington, 6 Bush 448. Contra, Smith v. Wilson, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 719.

Michigan.— Singer Mfg. Co. v. Cullaton, 90 Mich. 639, 51 N. W. 687, but the statute applies only to articles enumerated therein.

Nebraska.— Farmers', etc., Bank v. Hoffman, (1903) 96 N. W. 1044, consent being required for the transfer of household goods or any interest therein, the statute putting no restriction on the husband's right to mortgage a standing crop.

Ohio.— Slanker v. Beardsley, 9 Ohio St. 589. But see Hiser v. Dawson, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 827, 17 Cinc. L. Bul. 318.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 110.

Contra.— Mason v. Bumpass, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1338.

In Alabama that the restriction does not apply to personal property and that the husheld not to apply to a mortgage for the purchase-price.[21] The formalities of giving the consent depend upon the statute.[22] A statute making this restriction against mortgaging exempt property does not apply to a mortgage which is a renewal of a former mortgage given to secure a debt before the passage of the statute.[23]

B. Title and Rights of Transferee or Lienor. If the debtor can transfer at will his exempt property, it logically follows that the title of the transferee in the property cannot be assailed or impaired by the creditor of the transferee. This is the rule followed in many jurisdictions.[24] In other jurisdictions the rule band may waive the exemption laws by a stipulation in a note see infra, V, A, 1, b.

In Florida the restriction does not apply to personal property. Hinson v. Booth, 39 Fla. 333, 32 So. 687, construing Const. art. 10, § 1.

In Iowa it is held that the restriction applies only to property which is exempt at the time, and not such as by some contingency may thereafter become exempt. Grover v. Younie, 110 Iowa 446, 81 N. W. 684.

In Michigan a husband has the right to sell or mortgage a span of horses exempt from execution under Howell St. § 7686, because necessary to enable him to carry on the business in which he is wholly or principally engaged, without the consent of his wife. Miller v. Miller, 97 Mich. 151, 56 N. W. 348. A sale by the husband of a personal chattel exempt by law from execution may be valid, without the written consent of the wife. If any consent is necessary a verbal one is sufficient. Holman v. Gillette, 24 Mich. 414. Where a statute exempts to each householder two cows, and where another provision forbids any chattel mortgage on any part of the exempt property unless the mortgage be signed by the wife, a mortgage of two cows by a husband without the wife's signature is good, where he owns five; for it will be presumed that he mortgaged those not exempt. Harley v. Procunier, 115 Mich. 53, 72 N. W. 1099, 69 Am. St. Rep. 546, 40 L. R. A. 150.

In Ohio the wife may, under the act of April 17, 1857, "securing to married women such personal property as may be exempt from execution," etc., maintain an action for the recovery of the specific property from the officer holding the same in execution. Colwell v. Carper, 15 Ohio St. 279.

21. Paterson v. Higgins, 58 Ill. App. 268; Barker v. Kelderhouse, 8 Minn. 207.

22. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Missouri, in interpreting an Iowa statute, the court held that the signature of the wife to a mortgage need not be acknowledged. Brown v. Koenig, 99 Mo. App. 653, 656, 74 S. W. 407 [citing Gammon v. Bull, 86 Iowa 754, 53 N. W. 340; Genoway v. Maize, 163 Mo. 224, 63 S. W. 698].

In Wisconsin the signature of a wife to a chattel mortgage must, by Rev. St. (1898) § 1313, be witnessed by two witnesses. Lashua v. Myhre, 117 Wis. 18, 93 N. W. 811.

23. Vollmer v. Reid, (Ida. 1904) 77 Pac. 325, where the note for the debt was renewed and a different rate of interest was provided for in the new note and an additional sum for attorney's fees, and it was stated in the new note that it was given to renew the old one.

24. Connecticut.— Ketchum v. Allen, 46 Conn. 414.

Indiana.— Burdge v. Bolin, 106 Ind. 175, 6 N. E. 140, 55 Am. Rep. 724.

Iowa.— Redfield v. Stocker, 91 Iowa 383, 59 N. W. 270; Millington v. Laurer, 89 Iowa 222, 56 N. W. 533, 48 Am. St. Rep. 385.

Kentucky.— See Fuqua v. Ferrell, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 571.

Michigan.— Buckley v. Wheeler, 52 Mich. 1, 17 N. W. 216.

Pennsylvania.— Ehrisman v. Roberts, 68 Pa. St. 308.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 111.

In Indiana a recorded deed of land which had been set apart to the judgment debtor as exempt and then conveyed by him protects the grantee, who is not bound to oppose execution issued against his land or to procure additional schedules to be filed by his grantor. Ray v. Yarnell, 118 Ind. 112, 20 N. E. 705. If the property of a resident householder at the time of the rendition of the judgment is less than the statutory amount of exemption and so continues, the grantee takes it exempt from any lien of a judgment or execution, although a statute provides that a judgment is a lien on real estate and chattels real subject to execution. Dumbould v. Rowley, 113 Ind. 353, 15 N. E. 463. A note which is exempt in the hands of a husband will not be rendered subject to execution by an assignment to his wife. Pickrell v. Jerauld, 1 Ind. App. 10, 27 N. E. 433, 50 Am. St. Rep. 192. The purchaser of real estate which the vendor could have claimed as exempt from sale on execution may maintain an action to quiet his title, if brought before the execution sale, but he cannot bring such action after the execution sale. Moss v. Jenkins, 146 Ind. 589, 45 N. E. 789.

Garnishment process will not reach personal property assigned by the principal debtor, if in his hands it would have been exempt from execution. Anderson v. Odell, 51 Mich. 492, 16 N. W. 870.

Mortgagee.— Where a mortgagor, at the time of executing the mortgage, had no property subject to execution, the mortgagee could hold the property against an execution issued against the mortgagor. Durbin v. Haines, 99 Ind. 463. In Georgia one who obtains a mortgage lien on property known to him to be exempt acquires his lien subject to the exemption right. Johnson v. Redwine, that the purchaser of exempt property stands in the place of the debtor and can assert the latter's right to exemption has been held to apply only to property specifically exempt, and not to property which defendant has a right to select in lieu of the specified property exempt under the statute.[25] And there are a number of jurisdictions which hold that as a right of the debtor to his exemption is personal to him, exempt property loses the quality which the law attached to it in the hands of the debtor as soon as it is transferred;[26] and the vendee is not allowed to assert the exemption claim, but holds the property subject to the debts of his transferrer.[27]

V. WAIVER AND FORFEITURE OF AND ESTOPPEL AS AGAINST RIGHT.

A. In General — 1. WAIVER — a. Power to Waive — (I) IN GENERAL. It is laid down as a general proposition by many courts that the exemption right of the debtor is personal to him and may be claimed or waived at will;[28] but if the rule can be said to exist as a general one there are a number of exceptions to it.[29] In some jurisdictions the debtor is not allowed to waive his exemption in property which is exempt for the use of the family.[30]

105 Ga. 449, 33 S. E. 676, where the mortgage was taken on land purchased with the proceeds of exempted property.

The lien for the purchase-price would of course be held superior to the transferee's rights. Buckley v. Wheeler, 52 Mich. 1, 17 N. W. 216. See supra, notes 11, 21.

The motive of the transfer, whether to defraud creditors or not, cannot affect the transferee's title or rights. Ketchum v. Allen, 46 Conn. 414; Burdge v. Bolin, 106 Ind. 175, 6 N. E. 140, 45 Am. Rep. 724. See also supra, IV, A, 1. And see FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

The purchaser from the wife of an absconding debtor who has deserted his family has the same right to hold the property purchased, as against attaching creditors of the husband, as if he had purchased directly from the husband. Waugh v. Bridgeford, 69 Iowa 334, 28 N. W. 626, under the act of 1873, section 3078, providing that the wife of an absconding debtor who has left his family may hold exempt the property which was exempt in the absconding husband's hands.

The debtor must have claimed his exemption as the statute requires, or the title of the purchaser of the debtor's property will be invalid. Chapin v. Hoel, 11 Ill. App. 309, where the transfer was made after an execution lien had attached, and where it was held that the debtor must have made a schedule.

Presumption of claim.— In Indiana it was held that where the creditor and officer had notice of the debtor's intention to claim the statutory exemption and they delayed the levy for four months, the presumption would be in favor of the claim without any formal act. Vandibur v. Love, 10 Ind. 54.

25. Hombs v. Corbin, 20 Mo. App. 497, 507.

26. Howland v. Fuller, 8 Minn. 50; Lane v. Richardson, 104 N. C. 642, 10 S. E. 189.

The right to claim as exempt real estate which is not a homestead is a personal privilege and lost when the property is parted with. Stewart v. Stewart, 65 Mo. App. 663, where the debtor claimed the exemption.

27. Simpson v. Simpson, 30 Ala. 225; Howland v. Fuller, 8 Minn. 50; Lane v. Richardson, 104 N. C. 642, 10 S. E. 189.

The vendee of a tenant's growing crops is not entitled to an exemption to the value of two hundred dollars of goods distrained, under the act of 1851. Such exemption is confined to tenants. Guest v. Opdyke, 31 N. J. L. 552.

28. California.— Keybers v. McComber, 67 Cal. 395, 7 Pac. 838.

Florida.— Patterson v. Taylor, 15 Fla. 336.

Indiana.— Moss v. Jenkins, 146 Ind. 589, 45 N. E. 789; State v. Melogue, 9 Ind. 196.

Kansas.— Kroenert v. Mead, 59 Kan. 665, 54 Pac. 684.

Louisiana.— Stockett v. Johnson, 22 La. Ann. 89.

Maine.— Fogg v. Littlefield, 68 Me. 52.

Massachusetts.— Hewes v. Parkman, 20 Pick. 90, holding that his subsequent assent will make the attachment valid.

Pennsylvania.— Kyle's Appeal, 45 Pa. St. 353; Laucks' Appeal, 24 Pa. St. 426; Case v. Dunmore, 23 Pa. St. 93; Winchester v. Costello, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. 279.

United States.— Spitley v. Frost, 15 Fed. 299, 5 McCrary 43, a homestead case.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 112.

This rule is particularly applicable where the exemption is dependent upon whether the debtor makes his claim or not, according to the requirements of the law. See Moss v. Jenkins, 146 Ind. 589, 45 N. E. 789. See infra, V, A, 1, c, (III).

The federal courts sitting in Pennsylvania have followed the law as laid down by the courts of that state. Wright v. Wright, 103 Fed. 580.

29. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (II); V, A, 1, b, c.

30. Burke v. Finley, 50 Kan. 424, 31 Pac. 1065, 34 Am. St. Rep. 132; Ross v. Lister, 14 Tex. 469. See also Powell v. Daily, 163 Ill. 646, 45 N. E. 414. See, however, Denny v. White, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 283, 88 Am. Dec. 596, holding that, although the head of a family has the right to sell or exchange ex-

(II) By Stipulation in Executory Contract. It is a general rule that a debtor's waiver of his exemption right, by stipulation of an executory contract, is absolutely void.[31] Thus an agreement by a laborer to waive his exemption in his wages is void.[32] So is a stipulation of this kind in a promissory note.[33] As to empt property, it cannot be levied on and sold on execution by his consent, for this is a privilege he cannot waive, since the property is held exempt for the benefit of the family.

In Georgia, Code, § 5212, permits the debtor to waive his exemption rights except as to household and kitchen furniture and provisions. See Wilson v. McMillan, 80 Ga. 733, 6 S. E. 182. Cotton, although produced by labor performed under sustenance afforded by exempt provisions, is not protected against a waiver under this section, for it does not take the place of the provisions consumed in its production. Butler v. Shiver, 79 Ga. 172, 4 S. E. 115. In Flanders v. Wells, 61 Ga. 195, it was said that the constitution of 1877, which provided that a husband could not waive exemptions as to certain household and kitchen furniture without the consent of his wife, had no application to the waiver of exemptions in a mortgage given prior to the adoption of the constitution.

Jurisdictional restriction upon waiver.— The Alabama act of Feb. 21, 1893, forbidding a justice of the peace to issue a garnishment on any claim when exemptions have not been waived in writing, and that a waiver shall be given only for necessary bread and meat for support of defendant and his family or for house-rent, is not in contravention of the debtor's constitutional right to waive, but relates only to the restriction of garnishment in justice's courts. Adams v. Green, 100 Ala. 218, 14 So. 54.

31. District of Columbia.— Wallingsford v. Bennett, 1 Mackey 303.

Illinois.— Recht v. Kelly, 82 Ill. 147, 25 Am. Rep. 301.

Kentucky.— Moxley v. Ragan, 10 Bush 156, 19 Am. Rep. 61.

Nebraska.— Farmers', etc., Bank v. Hoffman, (1903) 96 N. W. 1044, yet the debtor may suffer his exempt chattels to be sold under execution.

New York.—Kneettle v. Newcomb, 22 N. Y. 249, 78 Am. Dec. 186 [affirming 31 Barb. 169].

North Carolina.— Branch v. Tomlinson, 77 N. C. 388.

Tennessee.— Mills v. Bennett, 94 Tenn. 651, 30 S. W. 748, 45 Am. St. Rep. 763. But see Mynatt v. Magill, 3 Lea 72.

Wisconsin.— Maxwell v. Reed, 7 Wis. 582.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 115; and Waples Homst. & Exempt. p. 40, § 2.

Contra.— Case v. Dunmore, 23 Pa. St. 93. When made at the time the debt is created the waiver is based upon the same consideration as that upon which rests the liability to pay, and is therefore irrevocable. Bowman v. Smiley, 31 Pa. St. 225, 226, 72 Am. Dec. 738. See also Nevling v. Arnot, 42 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 489. But see Pentz v. Rooker, 1 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. (Pa.) 151.

Where there is a contract for a lien on a specific thing, a provision of the contract waiving the right of the debtor to exemption out of the thing specified is valid. Such a provision is unlike the provision in a promissory note that the obligor will not claim any benefit from the exemption laws. Marquess v. Brandon, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 686.

A contract fraught with such consequences to the family of the debtor is totally at variance with public policy, and therefore void. Harper v. Leal, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 276. See also Mills v. Bennett, 94 Tenn. 651, 30 S. W. 748, 45 Am. St. Rep. 763.

32. Green v. Watson, 75 Ga. 471, 45 Am. Rep. 479; Smith v. Johnston, 71 Ga. 748; Firmstone v. Mack, 49 Pa. St. 387, 88 Am. Dec. 507; Crump v. Com., 75 Va. 922. Contra, McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co. v. Vaughn, 130 Ala. 314, 30 So. 363.

33. Florida.—Carter v. Carter, 20 Fla. 558, 51 Am. Rep. 618.

Illinois.— Recht v. Kelly, 82 Ill. 147, 25 Am. Rep. 301.

Iowa.— Curtis v. O'Brien, 20 Iowa 376, 89 Am. Dec. 543.

Kentucky — Columbia Finance, etc., Co. v. Morgan, 44 S. W. 389, 628, 45 S. W. 65, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1761.

Louisiana.—Levicks v. Walker, 15 La. Ann. 245, 77 Am. Dec. 187.

New York.— Kneettle v. Newcomb, 31 Barb. 169 [affirmed in 22 N. Y. 249, 78 Am. Dec. 186]; Crawford v. Lockwood, 9 How. Pr. 547.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 115.

Contra.— Brown v. Leitch, 60 Ala. 313, 31 Am. Rep. 42 (under a statute); Rosser v. Florence, 119 Ga. 250, 45 S. E. 975 (holding that where an execution is founded on a note containing a waiver of homestead and exemption and an administrator has money in his hands belonging to defendant in execution as an heir, the money having come from a conversion of the exempt property by the administrator, there was no exemption in favor of defendant when the administrator was duly served with garnishment). See also Mynatt v. Magill, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 72, 74.

In Alabama the restriction of the law as to the husband's transferring or encumbering a homestead without the consent of the wife does not apply to personal property and the husband may waive his exemption in personalty without her consent by a stipulation in a promissory note. See infra, V, A, 1, b.

A stipulation in a note for the price of land reciting that the vendor retains a lien on all crops does not operate as a waiver of the vendor's right to an exemption out of the crops of sufficient food for one year. Columbia Finance, etc., Co. v. Morgan, 44 S. W. 389, 628, 45 S. W. 65, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1761 [following Moss v. Carl, 37 S. W. 580, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 648]. A stipulation in a note that whether a clause of waiver in a lease is valid, the authorities are in hopeless conflict.[34]

b. Persons Who May Waive. Only the person who has the right of exemption, or his authorized agent,[35] can waive it; thus a wife cannot, without his authority, waive her husband's rights.[36] Nor can the rights of a married woman[37] be affected by an attempted waiver of her husband.[38] A waiver by one defendant promised to pay without default, and without any relief whatever from the appraisement or valuation laws, will not be given effect by the court, as the parties cannot prescribe the rules of proceeding for the officers, or the mode by which the court shall enforce its judgments. Levicks v. Walker, 15 La. Ann. 245, 77 Am. Dec. 187. Although a stipulation in a note for the waiver of exemption be allowed, to take effect it must be clear and unambiguous. O'Nail v. Craig, 56 Pa. St. 161.

After a waiver has been made in a judgment note, the debtor cannot afterward claim his exemption in proceedings before a master appointed to distribute the proceeds of real estate sold for the satisfaction of the judgment. Wright v. Wright, 103 Fed. 580, decided in U. S. circuit court of Pennsylvania.

One who indorses in blank a note containing a waiver of exemption does not thereby waive his exemptions as against his liability on the indorsement. Jordan v. Long, 109 Ala. 414, 19 So. 843.

The benefit of appraisement may be renounced in a twelve-months' bond reciting that if a payment was not made on the day named the property of the principal and the sureties might be used without benefit of appraisement. Stockett v. Johnson, 22 La. Ann. 89.

34. See cases cited infra, this note.

That such a clause is invalid was held in Powell v. Daily, 61 Ill. App. 552; Curtiss v. Ellenwood, 59 Ill. App. 110. Contra, Fejavary v. Broesch, 52 Iowa 88, 2 N. W. 963, 35 Am. Rep. 261 (holding that a stipulation of this kind is good as a mortgage or equitable lien); McKinney v. Reader, 6 Watts (Pa.) 34.

A stipulation in a lease, by an unmarried man, giving his landlord a lien on all his property for rent and waiving all exemptions, is a valid waiver. Powell v. Dailey, 163 Ill. 646, 45 N. E. 414 [distinguishing Recht v. Kelly, 82 Ill. 147, 25 Am. Rep. 301, where the debtor who made a stipulation for a waiver of exemption in a promissory note was the head of a family]. Kan. Gen. St. (1901) § 2874, provides that a tenant may make a waiver in favor of his landlord. In Burke v. Finley, 50 Kan. 424, 31 Pac. 1065, 34 Am. St. Rep. 132, it was held that a stipulation by the lessee to waive exemption rights did not apply to the exemption given by Gen. St. (1889) par. 4589, for the statutory provision was in the interest of the family of the debtor.

A stipulation in a lease of agricultural lands giving the landlord a lien for rent on the crop does not waive the tenant's right to his exemptions out of the crop for his support. Moss v. Carl, 37 S. W. 580, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 648. See also Vinson v. Hallowell, 10 Bush (Ky.) 538. But see Brown v. Coats, 56 Ala. 439, holding that a verbal promise by a tenant who rented the land on shares that everything he had and the crop should be bound for supplies furnished is a valid waiver.

Effect of waiver on assignee of lessee.—Under Kan. Gen. St. (1901) § 3874, an assignee of the unexpired term of the tenant, who enters with the consent of the landlord under the written lease and pays rent according to its terms, is bound by the waiver which the assignor of the term made to the landlord when he took the lease. Barbyte v. New Hampshire Real Estate Co., 66 Kan. 390, 71 Pac. 837.

Extent of waiver in lease.— A waiver in a lease of all "the benefit of all laws or usages exempting any property from distress or executions for rent" applies to any property of the debtor, whether seized upon a landlord's warrant or levied upon by an execution for rent. Beatty v. Rankin, 139 Pa. St. 358, 21 Atl. 74 [distinguishing Mitchell v. Coates, 47 Pa. St. 202]. A similar stipulation in a lease was held operative as to property off the leased property seized on execution under a judgment for rent. Jenkins v. Stone, 14 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 29.

35. Lippman v. Anniston First Nat. Bank, 120 Ala. 123, 24 So. 581, 74 Am. St. Rep. 28.

Effect of waiver by head of family.— That a head of a family who, as such, files a claim to exempt property levied upon under an execution issued against him as an individual, afterward withdraws such claim, does not render the property subject to the execution as against the family. Kennedy v. Juhan, 102 Ga. 148, 29 S. E. 188.

36. Woodward v. Murray, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 400.

37. A married woman may waive the benefit of the exemption law. Lloyd v. Underkofler, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 160. See also Howe Mach. Co. v. Hixenbaugh, 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 469.

38. King v. Moore, 10 Mich. 538; Hess v. Beates, 78 Pa. St. 429; Balmer v. Peiffer, 7 Del. Co. (Pa.) 425.

Waiver without wife's consent.— The exemption rights of a man in a stock of groceries under Howell Annot. St. Mich. § 7686, subd. 8, to enable him to carry on his business may be waived without the consent of his wife. "This exemption, however, is expressly put outside of her interference by the statute, and the use and disposition of of two partners is good against his individual property, but not against the individual property of another partner.[39]

c. Conduct, Acts, or Omissions Constituting — (i) Imposition of Mortgage or Other Liens. Although a mortgage or pledge of exempt property is a waiver of the exemption therein as against the mortgagee or pledgee,[40] no waiver of the exemption results as against the claims of other creditors.[41]

(ii) Consent to Levy. If the debtor asks the officer to levy upon a particular piece of property[42] in preference to another,[43] or if the debtor agrees the right placed entirely in her husband." Charpentier v. Bresnahan, 62 Mich. 360, 363, 28 N. W. 916. Although Ala. Code, §§ 2846, 2848, require the signatures of husband and wife, attested by a witness, in order to waive a homestead, a stipulation in the note waiving all exemption laws as to real and personal property is effectual as to the personalty, although void as to the realty. Agnew v. Walden, 95 Ala. 108, 10 So. 224; Wagnon v. Keenan, 77 Ala. 519; Terrell v. Hurst, 76 Ala. 588. See also Neely v. Henry, 63 Ala. 261.

Waiver of life-insurance exemption.— A note given by a husband which waived exemptions as to personal property was not a lien on the annual premiums paid by him on a policy of life insurance in favor of his wife, where the premiums paid did not exceed the statutory limit of five hundred dollars. Craft v. Stoutz, 95 Ala. 245, 249, 10 So. 647.

39. Terrell v. Hurst, 76 Ala. 588. Contra, Harvey v. Ford, 83 Mich. 506, 47 N. W. 242.

40. Frost v. Shaw, 3 Ohio St. 270; Morgan v. Noud, 5 Pa. L. J. Rep. 93. See also supra, IV, A, B.

A chattel mortgage executed by a partner upon the stock in trade in the firm-name, to secure a firm debt, waives the exemption as against the mortgagee, although the copartner was unaware of the execution. Harvey v. Ford, 83 Mich. 506, 47 N. W. 242.

A mortgage of one of the debtor's three teams is valid as a waiver, even though the mortgage be executed without the consent of the wife, for a debtor is allowed by statute an exemption in one team alone, and he has the right to make the selection. Grover v. Younie, 110 Iowa 446, 81 N. W. 684.

The exemption of real estate purchased with pension money is waived by the execution of a mortgage thereon by the pensioner, and this in spite of N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1404, as it existed before 1894, providing that unless a waiver of exempt real estate is in writing in the form of a prescribed notice that the debtor cancels all exemptions from levy or sale it is void. Monroe v. Button, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 494, 496, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 637.

If exempt property and non-exempt property are covered by a mortgage, the creditor has no right to sell the exempt property if the non-exempt property is sufficient to satisfy his lien. Sanders v. Phillips, 62 Vt. 331, 20 Atl. 104.

Mortgage to one who has no notice, either actual or constructive, of the exemption right is valid in favor of the mortgagee as against the beneficiaries of the homestead. Ford v. Fargason, 120 Ga. 606, 48 S. E. 180.

Mechanic's lien.— The provisions of the Pennsylvania exemption act of April 9, 1849, are not operative against claims under the act relating to the lien of mechanics and others upon buildings; therefore a debtor is not entitled to three hundred dollars of the proceeds of sale of a building in opposition to such liens. Lauck's Appeal, 24 Pa. St. 426.

A verbal agreement to pledge personal property will not operate as a waiver against the alleged pledgee where the statute requires a waiver to be made in writing. Knox v. Wilson, 77 Ala. 309.

Conditional sale.— An agreement to sell a military uniform to be paid for by the vendee in instalments, the title to remain in the vendor until all payments are made, is not in contravention of Mass. Rev. St. c. 12, § 42, which provides that every officer or private will hold his uniform and equipment exempt from the payment of his debts. Morley v. French, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 130, 133.

41. Kansas.—Crawford v. Furlong, 21 Kan. 698, where mortgage was overdue.

Kentucky.— Collett v. Jones, 2 B. Mon. 19, 36 Am. Dec. 586.

Montana.— Cheney v. Caldwell, 20 Mont. 77, 49 Pac. 397.

New York.—Livor v. Orser, 5 Duer 501.

Oklahoma.— Irwin v. Walling, 4 Okla. 128, 44 Pac. 219.

Pennsylvania.— Laub v. Shollenberger, 1 Woodw. 18.

Virginia.— Williams v. Watkins, 92 Va. 680, 24 S. E. 223.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 118; and supra, IV, A, 1.

In an action against a sheriff for selling exempt property, the admission in evidence of a chattel mortgage on the property sold, no default under it being shown, was error, since, till default under the mortgage, plaintiff was entitled to possession of the property, and such possession and title were sufficient to support the action. Hartmann v. Wood, 57 N. Y. App. Div. 23, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 1046.

42. People v. Johnson, 4 Ill. App. 346. Contra, Eltzroth v. Webster, 15 Ind. 21, 77 Am. Dec. 78, where it is held that the giving up of property to an officer is not a waiver of the right of defendant to claim it as exempt.

43. White v. Thompson, 3 Oreg. 115, where the officer was about to levy on wheat in the possession of the debtor which was not ex-expressly to a sale,[44] his right to his exemption in the property concerned is waived.[45] But to constitute a waiver defendant's acts or words must clearly and unmistakably show that he intends to waive his rights.[46]

(III) Failure to Assert Claim. It is the duty of defendant who wishes to rely upon his right to hold property exempt from execution to indicate in some manner his purpose to do so.[47] Failure to make a proper assertion of the right to exemption is a waiver of the right.[48] This rule is particularly applicable where the debtor has to elect from among several articles which he is entitled to hold exempt.[49] If in such case he is present at the sale and makes no objection to the sale of a certain piece of property, his right of election is waived.[50] Although the rule obtains where there is no question of the right of exemption in specific articles,[51] it does not apply as a matter of law where articles specifically exempt have been seized.[52] If the debtor delays unreasonably to assert his claim, so that he may be considered guilty of laches, his right to an exemption will be considered waived;[53] but a delay in the assertion of the right until a levy[54] or an empt and the debtor asked him to levy on his team which was exempt.

44. Dow v. Cheney, 103 Mass. 181. See also Rich v. French, 99 Mich. 27, 57 N. W. 1040. Contra, Washburn v. Goodheart, 88 Ill. 229.

45. Dodge v. Knight, (Tex. Sup. 1891) 16 S. W. 626.

If the husband consents to a levy upon community property which is exempt and there is no complaint by the wife that it was fraudulently done to deprive her of the privilege, the exemption is deemed waived. Dodge v. Knight, (Tex. Sup. 1891) 16 S. W. 626.

46. Thus a declaration of the debtor at the time of the levy upon exempt property that he would see about it or see an attorney about it tends to show that he did not intend to abandon his right and negatives the presumption of a waiver of the exemption. Green v. Blunt, 59 Iowa 79, 12 N. W. 762.

47. Green v. Blunt, 59 Iowa 79, 12 N. W. 762 [citing Angell v. Johnson, 51 Iowa 625, 2 N. W. 435, 33 Am. Rep. 152; Richards v. Hains, 30 Iowa 574].

48. Alabama.— Wright v. Grabfelder, 74 Ala. 460; Rottenberry v. Pipes, 53 Ala. 447; Steele v. Moody, 53 Ala. 418.

Arkansas.— Chambers v. Perry, 47 Ark. 400, 1 S. W. 700.

California.— Stanton v. French, 83 Cal. 194, 23 Pac. 355; Barton v. Brown, 68 Cal. 11, 8 Pac. 517.

Colorado.— Behymer v. Cook, 5 Colo. 395.

Illinois.— Alden v. Yeoman, 29 Ill. App. 53.

Indiana.— Wagner v. Barden, 13 Ind. App. 571, 41 N. E. 1067.

Iowa.— Moffitt v. Adams, 60 Iowa 44, 14 N. W. 88.

Maryland.— State v. Boulden, 57 Md. 314.

Nevada.— Hammersmith v. Avery, 18 Nev. 225, 2 Pac. 55.

New Hampshire.— Buzzell v. Hardy, 58 N. H. 331.

New York.— Russell v. Dean, 30 Hun 242.

Pennsylvania.— Weaver's Appeal, 18 Pa. St. 307; Miller's Appeal, 16 Pa. St. 300; Line's Appeal, 2 Grant 197; Kerns v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar 183.

Tennessee.— Cleveland Nat. Bank v. Bryant, (Ch. App. 1899) 54 S. W. 73.

United States.— Hitchcock v. The St. Louis, 48 Fed. 312.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 117.

Contra.— Rempe v. Ravens, 68 Ohio 113, 67 N. E. 282, holding that a mere failure of defendant to assert his exemption right by motion or application to discharge an attachment on the ground that the same is exempt is not an abandonment or waiver of the right to claim such exemption.

Waiver of inquisition under a fieri facias is not a waiver of the right of exemption. Com. v. Boyd, 56 Pa. St. 402.

49. Colson v. Wilson, 48 Me. 416; Savage v. Davis, 134 Mass. 401. See also Johnson v. Lang, 71 N. H. 251, 252, 51 Atl. 908, 93 Am. St. Rep. 509; Butt v. Green, 29 Ohio St. 667; Sumner v. Brown, 34 Vt. 194.

50. Westerland v. Mooreland, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 324. See also Buzzell v. Hardy, 58 N. H. 331.

51. As where the debtor has a larger amount of provisions than the statutory allowance and he makes no selection for the use of his family. In such a case he has no action against the officer who takes the whole on attachment. Clapp v. Thomas, 5 Allen (Mass.) 158.

52. As where the household furniture specifically exempt by the statute is intermingled with similar articles not exempt. Copp v. Williams, 135 Mass. 401. See also Woods v. Keyes, 14 Allen (Mass.) 236, 92 Am. Dec. 766.

53. Dorland v. O'Neal, 22 Cal. 504 (where the debtor delayed four months after notice of the levy); Shaeffer's Appeal, 101 Pa. St. 45; Chilcoat's Appeal, 101 Pa. St. 22. See also Gibbons v. Gaffney, 154 Pa. St. 48, 26 Atl. 24; Harlan v. Haines, 125 Pa. St. 48, 17 Atl. 248 [citing Bittenger's Appeal, 76 Pa. St. 105].

54. Alley v. Daniel, 75 Ala. 403. But a delay in the assertion of the claim until after judgment in favor of the attaching or the garnishing creditor against the garnishee is a waiver. Randolph v. Little, 62 attempt to sell[55] is not a waiver. If the debtor's delay to claim his exemption at the proper time is due to the fact that he is absent from the jurisdiction, no waiver can be inferred.[56] Under a statute which makes it the duty of appraisers to set off to the assignor for the benefit of creditors so much of his real estate mentioned in his inventory as he may select, up to a certain amount, and so much personal property, within the statutory limits, which he may specify, failure on his part to make his selection and specification as the statute requires is a waiver of his right.[57] If the statute provides that the exemption shall not be defeated except by conveyance, it cannot be waived by a mere failure to give the sheriff notice of the claim.[58]

(iv) Miscellaneous Acts, Declarations, Etc. The giving of a delivery bond[59] by an execution debtor or his receipting for the articles levied

Ala. 396 [overruling Webb v. Edwards, 46 Ala. 17].

The positive refusal of the owner of personal property to make a schedule at the time of the levy, upon due notice and opportunity given, does not of itself prevent him from making a schedule within a reasonable time. The statute provides that "whenever" a debtor against whom an execution is issued may desire to avail himself of its benefits, he may do so by delivering to the officer a proper schedule. Ordinarily this should be done before levy, but the only limitation by the statute of the time for its effectual delivery is that which is necessarily implied, viz., that it must be before the writ is executed and the officer's control of the property lost by sale thereunder, and what is generally implied where time is given without a more specific limitation, viz., that it must be within a reasonable time. Johnston v. Willey, 21 Ill. App. 354.

55. McMichael v. Grady, 34 Fla. 219, 15 So. 765.

56. Harrington v. Smith, 14 Colo. 376, 23 Pac. 331, 20 Am. St. Rep. 272 (where the debtor sent a letter to his creditor asking for a postponement of the case until he could "come down and fix up everything satisfactory," but making no claim for exemption); Dennis v. Benfer, 54 Kan. 527, 38 Pac. 806. See also Haswell v. Parsons, 15 Cal. 266, 76 Am. Dec. 480.

A debtor failing to answer in an action brought against him in a state other than where he lived, in which action the court had no jurisdiction, does not waive his exemption, although process was served on the bankrupt in his resident state. See Hirshizer v. Tinsley, 13 Mo. App. 489.

57. Graves v. Hinkle, 120 Ind. 157, 21 N. E. 328.

Where partners make an assignment of all their property "except such as [is] exempt from levy and sale under execution," but file no list of exemptions with the inventory, which includes a stock of goods, or where they make no demands for exemptions for several weeks after the assignment, a waiver of their right to an exemption out of the stock is inferred. Lamont v. Wooton, 88 Wis. 107, 59 N. W. 456. See also Bong v. Parmentier, 87 Wis. 129, 48 N. W. 243, where the debtor was estopped by the fact that the assignee had expended labor and money upon the property in caring for it, insuring it, and getting it ready to be sold. See infra, V, A, 2.

But the rule of the text does not apply if the assignor foregoes his right of selection out of his stock of merchandise, in pursuance of an agreement with the assignee that, in lieu of the property he might select, he shall have the proceeds thereof to an equivalent amount in money when the stock is sold. Faulkner v. Jones, 13 Ind. App. 381, 41 N. E. 830.

Absence from appraisement on account of sickness.— Where an assignor for the benefit of creditors was on account of sickness absent from an appraisement made by the assignee, but he had already asked the assignee to set off certain property, there was no waiver. Doherty v. Ramsey, 1 Ind. App. 530, 27 N. E. 879, 50 Am. St. Rep. 223.

58. Gray v. Putnam, 51 S. C. 97, 28 S. E. 149 [citing Myers v. Ham, 20 S. C. 522].

59. Alabama.— Daniels v. Hamilton, 52 Ala. 105.

Arkansas.— Jacks v. Bigham, 36 Ark. 481; Atkinson v. Gatcher, 23 Ark. 101.

Indiana.— Eltzroth v. Webster, 15 Ind. 21, 77 Am. Dec. 78.

Kentucky.— Perry v. Hensley, 14 B. Mon. 474, 64 Am. Dec. 164.

Nebraska.— Desmond v. State, 15 Nebr. 438, 19 N. W. 644.

Dissolving a garnishment by giving bond and security does not waive the right to set up that the debt seized was not subject to process, and the debtor may insist on the exemption whether the garnishee does so or not, and if his claim be well founded no judgment can be entered on the bond given to vacate the dissolution. Born v. Williams, 81 Ga. 796, 7 S. E. 868.

Even where a delivery bond was given voluntarily, it was held that there was no waiver, for the necessity for the bond's execution was produced by an illegal act, and therefore its execution might with propriety be said to have been induced by legal coercion. "Besides, as the property levied on was not subject to execution, the bond is not founded on any consideration either good or valuable. Its execution, under the circumstances, cannot be regarded as an implied admission that the property was liable upon [60] is not a waiver of his exemption. The indiscriminate sale by the debtor of property, some of which is exempt and some not, and the mingling of the proceeds,[61] or the removal to an auction room of the goods for the purpose of having them sold at auction,[62] is a waiver. A written agreement by partners that the business should be run by others and that all moneys arising therefrom should be devoted to the debts of the firm, share and share alike, and that the succeeding manager should have authority to replenish the stock, but should deposit the proceeds of the business in a bank, to be paid out ratably to the creditors, is a waiver of the exemption in the assets.[63] Delivering property to another, to be worked upon and transformed by his labor for the purpose of sale, renders the debtor's exemption in the property so delivered subject to the lien for the labor bestowed upon it in working the transformation.[64] The debtor's appearing and moving to dissolve an attachment without first having made claim to his exemption [65] or the traverse of an attachment on other grounds before claiming the exemption [66] is not a waiver. No formal language is required to constitute a written waiver.[67] A mere oral agreement to turn over specific exempt property to the creditor,[68] or mere oral declarations of the debtor which tend to show that the debtor does not claim his exemption, but do not express a well defined waiver,[69] are insufficient.

d. Revocation. In a jurisdiction where a waiver is permitted at the time of entering into a contract, the waiver is based upon the same consideration as that upon which rests the liability to pay and is therefore irrevocable.[70] Since an executed contract cannot be revoked by one of the parties in his lifetime and is not revoked by his death, a widow cannot claim an exemption in opposition to a waiver made by her late husband when he entered into the contract.[71] But it is held that if a waiver made without consideration be implied from the conduct of defendant it is revocable.[72] for the debt." Perry v. Hensley, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 474, 61 Am. Dec. 164.

60. Vanderhorst v. Bacon, 38 Mich. 669, 31 Am. Rep. 328; Heath v. Keyes, 35 Wis. 668.

Reason.— Receipting for the property has been held no waiver, because it was merely yielding to a force which the debtor could not resist, and was therefore not a surrender of any right. Vanderhorst v. Bacon, 38 Mich. 669, 31 Am. Rep. 328.

61. Although the sale for reinvestment in similar property be not. Rasco v. Sheet, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 703. See supra, III, G.

62. Kennedy v. Baker, 3 Pinn. (Wis.) 295, 4 Chandl. (Wis.) 19, where the goods were the stock in trade of the debtor.

63. Levy v. Rosell, 82 Miss. 527, 34 So. 321.

64. Rogers v. Raynor, 102 Mich. 473, 60 N. W. 980.

65. State v. Gardner, 32 Wash. 550, 73 Pac. 690, 98 Am. St. Rep. 858.

66. Bassett v. Inman, 7 Colo. 270, 3 Pac. 383; Etheridge v. Davis, 111 N. C. 293, 16 S. E. 232; Ladwig v. Williams, 87 Wis. 615, 58 N. W. 1103.

67. Thus a waiver of "appraisement laws" is substantially a promise to pay money "without relief from valuation laws." Vesey v. Reynolds, 14 Ind. 444.

A stipulation in a condition of a bond waiving all exemptions is sufficient. Smiley v. Bowman, 3 Grant (Pa.) 132. See supra, V, A, 1, a.

68. Washburn v. Goodheart, 88 Ill. 229.

But an offer to place the property in the hands of a third person to be sold for the benefit of the execution creditor is not evidence of a waiver. Haswell v. Parsons, 15 Cal. 266, 76 Am. Dec. 480.

Consent to levy see supra, V, A, 1, c, (II).

69. Frey v. Butler, 52 Kan. 722, 35 Pac. 782; Rice v. Chase, 9 N. H. 178, 32 Am. Dec. 346.

70. Bowman v. Smiley, 31 Pa. St. 225, 72 Am. Dec. 738.

Sufficiency of consideration.— Where a debtor expressly waives the right of exemption after levy, and the sheriff thereupon sells the property, the debtor cannot subsequently revoke the waiver as not being based on a sufficient consideration. Winchester v. Costello, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 279.

71. Barrett v. Barrett, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 454.

72. Thus, upon an objection by defendant that his wagon, which was exempt as a tool of his occupation, could not be taken because the act would be an interference with the United States mail, and defendant was told that he might keep the wagon if he claimed it as exempt and he made no direct waiver, and the day before the sale he demanded the wagon, the court said: "If waiver of the exemption and consent to the attachment could be implied from such mere non-action, being without consideration and no prejudice appearing, such waiver and consent were revoked by the subsequent demand." Johnson v. Lang, 71 N. H. 251, 252, 51 Atl. 908, 93 Am. St. Rep. 509.

2. Estoppel.[73] Any conduct or representations of the debtor which influence and change the acts and position of the creditor or the officer to his detriment operate as an estoppel.[74] If at the time of the levy the debtor denies ownership of the property levied upon, he is estopped from claiming the right to exemption therein at a later time.[75] If the debtor voluntarily surrenders property levied upon without claiming the exemption, he is estopped from afterward asserting the claim.[76] The rule that a person who is silent when he should speak will not be heard when he would speak is generally held to apply to a debtor who fails to make his claim at the time of the levy and later endeavors to hold the creditor or the officer responsible for taking his goods.[77] If the debtor demands and receives

73. See, generally, Estoppel, 16 Cyc. 671 et seq.

74. Davis v. Webster, 59 N. H. 471 (holding that where the debtor leads the sheriff to believe that he has other cows than those attached and does not claim a particular cow as exempt and receives back one of the cows released from the attachment without objection, he cannot hold the sheriff liable for seizing the cow on the ground that it was exempt); Barney v. Keniston, 58 N. H. 168 (holding that, where a horse and a yoke of oxen are seized under attachment and the debtor procures a release of the horse, claiming exemption under Laws (1871), c. 30, he is estopped from thereafter denying title to the horse and claiming that the oxen were exempt). See, however, Haskins v. Bennett, 41 Vt. 698, where a debtor told his creditor that he had two yoke of oxen and other property subject to attachment, and that he would pay soon, and afterward the creditor attached one yoke of the oxen; and it was held that the debtor was not estopped by his declaration from claiming the yoke attached as exempt.

But the fact that the debtor has declared his intention of leaving the state and has started on his journey with his family does not estop him from claiming property levied on by the sheriff, who relied on the debtor's statements as to leaving the state, for the debtor has the right to change his intention at any time. Tubbs v. Garrison, 68 Iowa 44, 25 N. W. 921.

75. Gilleland v. Rhoads, 34 Pa. St. 187; Dieffenderfer v. Fisher, 3 Grant (Pa.) 30; Frank v. Kurtz, 4 Pa. Super. Ct. 233; Markley v. Spires, 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 424; Dale v. McAlpine, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 34. See Miles v. State, 73 Md. 398, 21 Atl. 51 (where it was adjudicated that the debtor did not have title to the property); Holmes v. Donovan, 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 605.

On the contrary it has been held that the fact that the debtor, the head of a family, transferred his exempt property to his wife, who instituted an action of replevin against the officer making the levy, but was unsuccessful in her suit, the property being adjudicated to be that of her husband, will not deprive a debtor of the benefit of exemption laws, even though he may have testified upon the trial that the property belonged to his wife and that he had no interest in it (State v. Carson, 27 Nebr. 501, 43 N. W. 361, 20 Am. St. Rep. 681, 9 L. R. A. 523), and that a declaration of the debtor at the time of the levy that he had sold the mare which was levied on to a third person does not prevent recovery in an action against the officer if in point of fact there was no sale and transfer of title (Byrd v. Carlin, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 466).

The proper practice when goods are seized on execution and the debtor denies ownership, but afterward files written notice of ownership and the claim of exemption, is for plaintiff to indemnify the sheriff to sell the goods and leave the debtor to his remedy on the bond. Fisher v. Hummel, 2 Pa. Dist. 233, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 234.

76. Richards v. Haines, 30 Iowa 574. See also Ponder v. Webb, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 335, holding that, where a debtor in order to protect the surety on a replevin bond informed the officer that he would surrender certain exempt property and the officer accepted the offer, the debtor cannot afterward withdraw the surrender by claiming his exemption, since this might subject the officer to suit.

Keeping possession of goods seized on execution as bailee of the sheriff, or buying them in at the execution sale, does not estop the owner from prosecuting his claim to them as exempt from execution. Parham v. McMurray, 32 Ark. 261.

Procuring the garnishment of a debt due him does not estop the debtor from claiming exemption out of a debt which exceeds the amount of the exemption, for the debtor's conduct is not inconsistent with an intention to appropriate only the excess to the payment of the execution. Marchildon v. O'Hara, 52 Mo. App. 523.

77. Iowa.— Angell v. Johnson, 51 Iowa 625, 2 N. W. 435, 33 Am. Rep. 152.

Minnesota.— See Miller v. McCarty, 47 Minn. 321, 50 N. W. 235, 28 Am. St. Rep. 375.

New York.— Twinam v. Swart, 4 Lans. 263; Smith v. Hill, 22 Barb. 656.

Pennsylvania.— Allemong v. Passmore, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. 124; Scott v. Kerlin, 1 Del. Co. 545.

Wisconsin.— Lamont v. Wootton, 88 Wis. 107, 59 N. W. 456. See also Bong v. Parmentier, 87 Wis. 129, 58 N. W. 243; Roundy v. Converse, 71 Wis. 524, 37 N. W. 811, 5 Am. St. Rep. 240.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 125.

Contra.— An owner's failure to claim as exa surplus from the sale of his property, he is estopped to claim damages from the officer who seized and sold the property, although at the time of the assignment the debtor asked to have his exemption set off.[78] To estop the debtor by a judgment, the debtor's claim must be res adjudicata by the judgment.[79] The mortgagor is estopped to claim an exemption against the mortgagee.[80] The maker of a promissory note containing a waiver of exemption is estopped in those jurisdictions which allow a waiver to be made thus to set up his failure to read the note.[81] A debtor who has transferred his property to another is estopped from claiming an exemption in favor of himself.[82] A constituent of a debtor's family who claims property as his own cannot subsequently plead that the article in question is exempt property.[83] False representations to obtain credit have been held to work an estoppel against the claim for an exemption.[84] A person who holds himself out to a creditor as doing business as a partnership is estopped to set up that he is doing business as an individual so as to be able to claim exemption in the business property.[85] The element of equitable estoppel that the other party must have acted to his prejudice or changed his position in reliance on the empt personal property attached by an officer does not as a matter of law estop the debtor to claim exemption. Copp v. Williams, 135 Mass. 401. See also Alley v. Daniel, 75 Ala. 403. The fact that the widow was present at the sale of the deceased debtor's property, which by statute belonged to her and the children after the debtor's death, and the fact that she had a brother-in-law, a lawyer, also present at the sale, and that she did not resist the sale, cannot operate as a waiver of her right to the property. Myers v. Forsythe, 10 Bush (Ky.) 394.

Where exempt property is attached the owner does not forfeit his right to it or estop himself from recovering by replevin simply because he fails to avail himself of his right to move for a dissolution of the attachment or a release of the property. Wilson v. Stripe, 4 Greene (Iowa) 551, 61 Am. Dec. 138.

78. Merry v. Walker, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 308, 2 West. L. Month. 384. Contra, Stanton v. French, 83 Cal. 194, 23 Pac. 355.

79. Rempe v. Ravens, 68 Ohio St. 113, 67 N. E. 282; Strauss v. Cooch, 47 Ohio St. 115, 24 N. E. 1071 [citing Close v. Sinclair, 38 Ohio St. 530]. See also Boylston v. Rankin, 114 Ala. 408, 21 So. 995, 62 Am. St. Rep. 111. See, generally, JUDGMENTS.

80. Matter of White, Ohio Prob. 153.

81. Goetter v. Pickett, 61 Ala. 387, where there was no question of fraud and where debtor had ability and opportunity to read the whole of the note. See also Adams v. Bachert, 83 Pa. St. 524, holding that to avoid the waiver the debtor must show that he was induced to execute it through fraud or mistake. But this would not be true in jurisdictions which would not allow a waiver to be made thus. Crawford v. Lockwood. 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 547. See supra, V, A, 1, a, (II).

82. Bishop v. Johnson, 15 N. Y. St. 579. See State v. Pruitt, 65 Mo. App. 154. See also Miles v. State, 73 Md. 398, 21 Atl. 51, holding that a defendant who has conveyed land to his wife prior to the levy of the execution cannot claim exemption out of the proceeds of its sale. See supra, I, D, 1; infra, V, A, 3, a.

An attempt to conceal property which does not result in a transfer of the title before it is attached does not estop the debtor from claiming the right of exemption. Bevan v. Hayden, 13 Iowa 122. See infra, V, A, 3.

83. Countryman's Estate, 151 Pa. St. 577, 25 Atl. 146; Connor v. Hawkins, 64 Tex. 544.

84. John V. Farwell Co. v. Patterson, 76 Ill. App. 601; Blount v. Medbery, 16 S. D. 562, 94 N. W. 428.

But in Pennsylvania it has been held that dishonest debtors to whom exemptions are denied by the act of 1869 are not debtors fraudulently contracting a debt, but those who fraudulently conceal property liable to execution to hinder and delay creditors. New York, etc., Cut Sole Co. v. Zuber, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 21.

That a surety stated in the justification clause that his property was not exempt from execution does not estop him from claiming the benefit of an exemption conferred upon him because the property was purchased with pension money. King v. Warren, 42 Misc. (N. Y.) 317, 86 N. Y. Suppl. 609 [quoting Countryman v. Countryman, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 258, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 161].

85. Green v. Taylor, 98 Ky. 330, 32 S. W. 945, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 897, 56 Am. St. Rep. 375. But see Smith v. Brown, 4 Ariz. 358, 42 Pac. 949, holding that the fact that a married woman, a sole trader, does business under the name "Smith & Co.," and that in ordering goods she and her son, who managed the business for her, used the expression "we," and that she, when asked by the salesman selling her the goods who her partners were, answered that "my creditors are my partners," and, when asked why she did business in that name, answered, "That is my business," as a matter of law does not estop her to deny that she was doing business as a partnership, so as to enable her to claim personal exemptions in the property used in the business.

debtor's representations or conduct is as necessary in cases of this character as in others.[86]

3. Forfeiture — a. Fraudulent Conveyance or Concealment. By the more general rule a fraudulent conveyance or concealment of property does not work a forfeiture of the right of exemption therein.[87] Creditors cannot complain of any

86. Alabama.— Boylston v. Rankin, 114 Ala. 408, 21 So. 995, 62 Am. St. Rep. 111; Jordan v. Autrey, 10 Ala. 276.

Illinois.— Johnston v. Willey, 21 Ill. App. 354, holding that the owner's declaration at the time his property is levied on that he will not furnish the officer with a list of property claimed as exempt does not estop him from afterward claiming his exemption, since the validity of the levy is not affected by the absence of such schedule.

Iowa.— Ellsworth v. Savre, 67 Iowa 449, 25 N. W. 699.

Minnesota.— McAbe v. Thompson, 27 Minn. 134, 6 N. W. 279.

New York.— Bliss v. Raynor, 91 Hun 250, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 156.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 135.

87. Alabama.— Pinkus v. Bamberger, 99 Ala. 266, 13 So. 578.

Arkansas.— Sannoner v. King, 49 Ark. 299, 5 S. W. 327, 4 Am. St. Rep. 49.

Connecticut.— Ketchum v. Allen, 46 Conn. 414.

Georgia.— See McWilliams v. Bones, 84 Ga. 199, 10 S. E. 723. But see Kirtland v. Davis, 43 Ga. 318.

Indiana.— Doherty v. Ramsey, 1 Ind. App. 530, 27 N. E. 879, 50 Am. St. Rep. 223. But see Mandlove v. Burton, 1 Ind. 39.

Michigan.— See Freehling v. Bresnahan, 61 Mich. 540, 38 N. W. 531, 1 Am. St. Rep. 617.

Missouri.— Wagner v. J. H. North Furniture, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 206. He may nevertheless claim the exemption where he remains in possession and has no other property either at the time of the sale or the time of the levy from which he can select his exemption. State v. Koch, 47 Mo. App. 269.

Nebraska.— State v. Carson, 27 Nebr. 501, 43 N. W. 361, 20 Am. St. Rep. 681, 9 L. R. A. 523. See also Frazier v. Syas, 10 Nebr. 115, 4 N. W. 934, 35 Am. Rep. 466; Derby v. Weyrich, 8 Nebr. 174, 30 Am. Rep. 827.

North Carolina.— Gaster v. Hardie, 75 N. C. 460; Duvall v. Rollins, 71 N. C. 218. See also Cowan v. Phillips, 122 N. C. 70, 28 S. E. 961.

South Dakota.— Noyes v. Belding, 5 S. D. 603, 59 N. W. 1069.

Texas.— King v. Harter, 70 Tex. 579, 8 S. W. 308.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 128.

Contra.— Bohn v. Weeks, 50 Ill. App. 236; Cassell v. Williams, 12 Ill. 387 (where it was said that after a fraudulent transfer the debtor could not claim the property as his own and recover from the officer selling it three times its value); Stevenson v. White, 5 Allen (Mass.) 148 (the fraudulent sale, for the purpose of hindering creditors, of material and stock necessary for carrying on the debtor's business and to be wrought in the use thereof, causes the material and stock to lose its character, and exemption cannot thereafter be claimed therein); Imhoff's Appeal, 119 Pa. St. 350, 13 Atl. 279; Huey's Appeal, 29 Pa. St. 219; Carl v. Smith, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 569; Moore v. Baker, 2 Pa. Dist. 142; Markley v. Spires, 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 424; Byrd v. Curlin, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 466 (after a fraudulent sale by the debtor he cannot claim an exemption in the property when it is subsequently sold by the sheriff on execution).

The federal courts follow the law of the state wherein they are sitting so far as this rule is concerned. In re Duffy, 118 Fed. 926; Naumburg v. Hyatt, 24 Fed. 898.

In Pennsylvania a debtor who conveys his interest in real estate to his wife to secure her in a portion of the purchase-money which she has contributed from her personal estate does not lose his exemption right. Martin v. Kohr, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 513, holding that the burden of establishing that a debtor has so acted as to have forfeited his right to exemption is upon him who alleges it and is never presumed. And where a debtor collects outstanding claims, using them to pay debts and costs of livelihood, there is no fraud upon the creditors and the exemption right is not lost. New York, etc., Cut Sole Co. v. Zuber, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 21. The conversion of a large amount of securities into money by a debtor who left home, but left sufficient personal property behind him to satisfy an execution, is not such fraud as hinders and delays the creditor, so as to estop him from claiming his entire exemption from the land when levied on. McNair v. Rieshar, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 494.

A debtor who has reserved to himself a large amount of money and has not scheduled it is not entitled to an exemption. McNally v. Mulheim, 79 Ga. 614, 4 S. E. 332, holding that the debtor could not withhold any amount of money which he deems necessary for attorney's fees and expenses.

The fraudulent vendor cannot claim the exemption for the fraudulent vendee. Hoodinpyle v. Bagby, 104 Ill. App. 620. Where a wife mingles funds conveyed to her by her husband in fraud of his creditors with her own, there can be no separation of the property, if she is a party to the fraud and ratifies the conveyance. Alt v. Lafayette Bank, 9 Mo. App. 91.

The mere holding of money or property and not turning it over to the officer is not a waiver. Haslage v. Hoover, 16 Ohio Cir. Ct. 570, 9 Ohio Cir. Dec. 404.

dealings with exempt property,[88] for the possession of property exempt from execution creates no false basis of credit.[89] Some courts go even to the extent of holding that a fraudulent sale or transfer of other property does not work a forfeiture;[90] but this rule is by no means universal.[91] It is said that the maxims, "He who seeks equity must do equity," and "A party must come into a court of equity with clean hands," apply to a situation of this kind; and therefore when the debtor, the applicant for equity, withholds property to a value equal to or greater than that exempted by law he will be held to have elected to hold such property as exempt and will be estopped from claiming in addition thereto the property levied on.[92]

b. Miscellaneous Acts. The fact that the debtor was about to use[93] or had contracted to use[94] his exempt property in another state does not affect his right to exemption. That the debtor left his current wages for personal services due him from a city in the city's treasury after demand had been made for the wages by him and the demand of the entire amount refused does not work a forfeiture of his right to exemption.[95] That a woman who claims as a householder is the keeper of a bawdy-house is not ground for forfeiture of her exemption right.[96]

B. Operation and Effect — 1. In General. The waiver of exemption in a written lease subjects, where such waiver is allowed, the exempt property of the tenant to the satisfaction of a judgment for the rent.[97] A waiver of exemptions

88. Freehling v. Bresnahan, 61 Mich. 540, 38 N. W. 531, 1 Am. St. Rep. 617. See also supra, IV. And see FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

89. Noyes v. Belding, 5 S. D. 603, 59 N. W. 1069.

90. Alabama.— Calloway v. Carpenter, 10 Ala. 500.

Dakota.— Bates v. Callender, 3 Dak. 256, 16 N. W. 506.

Mississippi.— Moseley v. Anderson, 40 Miss. 49.

Missouri.— Megehe v. Draper, 21 Mo. 510, 54 Am. Dec. 245. But see State v. Koch, 40 Mo. App. 635, where it was held that the debtor who had made a fraudulent conveyance of his goods could not claim the goods under the exemption laws after attachment by a creditor unless he affirmatively showed that they constituted all the property owned by the debtor at the time of the sale and were not of a kind specifically exempted by statute.

Nevada.— Elder v. Williams, 16 Nev. 416.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 128.

Disposing of other property not exempt to invest proceeds in exempt property.— The fact that plaintiff in replevin of property levied on had disposed of all the property he had which was subject to execution for the very purpose of investing the proceeds in, or converting them into, that kind of property which was exempt under the statute, does not deprive him of the exemption, so long as his occupation is really such as the statute requires, and the particular property is needed in that occupation; nor does it constitute legal fraud. O'Donnell v. Segar, 25 Mich. 367.

91. Thus where a man transferred a large quantity of his property and thus reduced the tangible property to the amount allowed by the exemption law, it was held that he could not claim exemption in the property untransferred. Bishop v. Johnson, 15 N. Y. St. 579; Rose v. Sharpless, 33 Gratt. (Va.) 153. If a debtor, being possessed of several cows, sells all but one, and, that one being attached and sold on execution, brings trover against the attaching officer, the question may be submitted to the jury whether the sale of the other cows was intended to operate an actual transfer of the property, or was merely colorable, without intention to change the ownership. It is not sufficient, to entitle defendant to recover, to prove merely that the sale of the other cows was fraudulent in fact; for if so those cows might be taken by plaintiff's creditors. Sanborn v. Hamilton, 18 Vt. 590.

92. Hoover v. Haslage, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 98, 5 Ohio N. P. 90 [quoting Waples Homest. & Exempt. p. 528].

A promise to convey the property claimed as exempt as against one creditor to another creditor as soon as the debtor should obtain possession of it does not defeat the debtor's right to his exemption. Kriesel v. Eddy, 37 Nebr. 63, 55 N. W. 224 [citing Gillespie v. Brown, 16 Nebr. 457, 20 N. W. 632, to the point that the debtor has the right to convey or mortgage his exempt property as he pleases]. See supra, IV.

93. Wood v. Bresnahan, 63 Mich. 614, 30 N. W. 206.

94. Whicher v. Long, 11 Iowa 48.

95. Snyder v. Galveston, (Tex. App. 1890) 15 S. W. 202.

96. Bowman v. Quackenboss, 3 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 17.

97. Hoisington v. Huff, 24 Kan. 379.

But where the waiving clause stipulated that all property on the premises should be liable to distress and that all right of exemption should be waived, the waiver was held to extend only to the property on the premises and not to choses in action. Mitchell v. Coates, 47 Pa. St. 202.

The waiver extends no further than for the rent due. Therefore, after goods were sold in a promissory note does not amount to a lien or pledge of any of the debtor's exempt property or confer any estate or interest in it. There must be a judgment and execution to give the waiver any operation.[98] A release of exemption is a release of the right to appraisement of property seized on execution.[99] If the exemption is waived in a judgment the debtor cannot divest his property from liability under the judgment by transferring it to his wife.[1] If an agreement to submit to arbitration is accompanied by a bond containing a waiver of exemption, the waiver follows and attaches to a judgment obtained in default of abiding by the award.[2]

2. As to Junior Judgment Creditors. It has been held that a waiver of exemption for the benefit of a junior judgment creditor works a waiver in favor of all judgment creditors. The debtor is not allowed to determine priorities by this means.[3] Whatever the debtor does not claim for himself or his family goes into the general fund, to be distributed according to law;[4] for among creditors having existing liens upon the same property the law regulates their priority and not the will of the debtor.[5] Of course the waiver will not inure to the benefit of the creditors beyond its amount.[6] The rule is not applicable to a mortgage foreclosure, for although the debtor cannot claim exemption against the mortgage, he may nevertheless claim exemption against subsequent judgment creditors.[7] It is held even that the implied waiver by the execution of a mortgage does not amount to a waiver of exemption as against general judgment creditors whose liens had attached prior to its execution.[8] The rule does not apply to and an excess for the rent due realized, an attachment by plaintiff with a view to holding it for subsequently accrued rent could not prevent the tenant from claiming a part of the amount of the exemption. Simes v. Steadwell, 12 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 292.

98. In re Tune, 115 Fed. 906 [following In re Moore, 112 Fed. 289]. But see Mynatt v. Magill, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 72.

99. For the latter is inseparable from the former. Bowman v. Smiley, 31 Pa. St. 225, 72 Am. Dec. 738.

1. Tillis v. Deam, 118 Ala. 645, 22 So. 804.

2. Quick v. Geitman, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 610.

Where judgment was rendered on a note waiving the benefit of the exemption law, and the property was claimed by the wife of defendant in execution, and a bond filed, defendant in execution being a party thereon, and judgment was rendered on the forthcoming bond, defendant in execution, on the forthcoming bond, was not entitled to any exemption. The suit on bond was not a new suit. Lorenz v. Wright, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 539.

3. Miller v. Getz, 135 Pa. St. 558, 19 Atl. 955, 20 Am. St. Rep. 887; Hallman v. Hallman, 124 Pa. St. 347, 16 Atl. 871; Bower's Appeal, 68 Pa. St. 126; Lauck's Appeal, 44 Pa. St. 395; Shelly's Appeal, 36 Pa. St. 373; Garrett's Appeal, 32 Pa. St. 160, 72 Am. Dec. 779; Bowyer's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 210; Keetley v. Campbell, 15 Pa. Super. Ct. 415; Knoll's Appeal, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 511; Denlinger v. Burkey, 18 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 94. Contra, Johnston's Appeal, 25 Pa. St. 146; McCowan v. Eisenhuth, 2 Pearson (Pa.) 262; Irwin's Estate, 31 Pittsb. L. J. (Pa.) 23, See also Bishop v. Johnston, 15 N. Y. St. 597.

4. Bowyer's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 210. A judgment in favor of a certain person containing a waiver of the debtor's exemption inures to the benefit of a landlord's claim, although the lease was silent upon the subject of waiver. Collins' Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 83; Steininger v. Butler, 5 Pa. Dist. 43, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 97. The rule is the same wherever one of the writs in the sheriff's hands is an attachment. Wiseman's Appeal, 3 Kulp (Pa.) 283.

5. Thomas' Appeal, 69 Pa. St. 120.

A more cautious statement of the rule is, a waiver as to any lien will inure to the benefit of subsequent liens so far as to compel the creditor in whose favor the waiver is made to resort first to the exempted funds. Grover, etc., Sewing Mach. Co. v. Gruber, 2 Pearson (Pa.) 288; Ankrim v. Kyle, 6 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 74; Kehler v. Miller, 1 Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 35, 4 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 125. Contra, McCowen v. Eisenhuth, 2 Pearson (Pa.) 262. But this does not mean that a creditor to whom such waiver has been given shall insist upon it for the benefit of creditors who have no such waiver. Feak's Appeal, 81* Pa. St. 76.

6. Thus, if the judgment is for less amount than the three-hundred-dollar exemption, the balance will go to the debtor claiming the exemption. Hallman v. Hallman, 124 Pa. St. 347, 16 Atl. 871.

7. Quinn's Appeal, 86 Pa. St. 447; Shelley's Appeal, 36 Pa. St. 373 (where the judgment creditors had taken no executions); Hill v. Johnston, 29 Pa. St. 362.

8. Bower's Appeal, 68 Pa. St. 126. However, if real estate is sold under a judgment prior to a mortgage, defendant is not entitled to claim his exemption out of the proceeds. Huffort's Appeal, 10 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 528.

costs.[9] That the rule should be applied at all, there must be process in the sheriff's hands whereby he can seize all defendant's property and thus take the proceeds into court for distribution before the creditors can take advantage of the waiver.[10]

C. Enforcement.[11] If a waiver is claimed in an action on a note, it must be pleaded and found in favor of plaintiff.[12] An allegation of a waiver of all homestead exemptions does not include personalty.[13] The judgment must contain the waiver or it cannot be taken advantage of.[14] Omission of the waiver in the judgment amounts to an abandonment thereof and a consent to accept a common judgment.[15] If the waiver has not been pleaded, has not been indorsed on the writ, or has not otherwise appeared in the proceedings as required by law, it can-

9. Thus where two executions are issued on judgments by confession, one of which waives exemptions, and the amount realized is less than the exemptions, the costs of the second execution are first deducted, and the balance given to the first execution. It was the second execution with its clause of exemption which created whatever fund there was in court from which the first execution creditor derived the benefit. Kiefer v. Kiefer, 3 Pa. Dist. 471, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 545.

10. The existence of a waiver will not justify the sheriff in disregarding defendant's claim for exemption, unless he has knowledge of its existence through the record. The waiver of the benefit of all exemption laws in a lease cannot inure to the benefit of an execution creditor as to whose debt such exemptions are not waived, although the landlord notifies the sheriff levying such execution that a year's rent is due him by the execution debtor, such notice not being process whereby all defendant's property may be seized and the proceeds brought into court for distribution. Temple v. Gough, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 85.

Where no debt is levied except the one against which the debtor claims exemption and there is no fund in court to be distributed the rule does not apply. Thomas' Appeal, 69 Pa. St. 120.

Priorities.— Two judgments were entered on the same day — one on a debt contracted before the act of 1849, the other containing a waiver of the benefit of the exemption law. It was held that the proceeds of defendant's real estate should be distributed pro rata. McAfoose's Appeal, 32 Pa. St. 276. See Johnston's Appeal, 25 Pa. St. 116.

11. Real party in interest.— A bond was given conditioned to hold the maker of a note harmless thereon, and provided that on breach of its condition the obligee should recover judgment without relief from valuation or appraisement laws. It was held that the payee of the note, in an action to enforce the bond, was entitled to a judgment without relief. South Side Planing Mill Assoc. v. Cutler, etc., Lumber Co., 64 Ind. 560.

Marshaling assets.— If a mortgage cover both exempt and non-exempt property, the mortgagor has a right, both as against the mortgagee and as against a creditor having a lien by judgment or the levy of an execution upon the non-exempt property alone, to demand that the mortgagee first exhaust the non-exempt property before resorting to the exempt. But this is a right which the mortgagor must seasonably assert for himself. The mortgagee is not required to assert it for him or to institute proceedings to protect it. Furthermore the rule, being founded on mere equity, will not be enforced where, from the acts or omissions of the mortgagor, it would be inequitable to do so. Miller v. McCarty, 47 Minn. 321, 50 N. W. 235, 28 Am. St. Rep. 375.

12. Fears v. Thompson, 82 Ala. 294, 2 So. 719; Taylor v. Cockrell, 80 Ala. 236.

Insufficient allegation.— A complaint containing an averment of waiver of exemptions, filed on the return of the writ, but not served, does not, in the absence of the statutory indorsement on the writ, comply with Ala. Code (1876), §§ 2849, 2850, which provides that the complaint must contain an averment of such waiver; and where a writ is sued out, the officer issuing the writ must indorse the fact of waiver thereon. Fears v. Thompson, 82 Ala. 294, 2 So. 719.

13. Reed Lumber Co. v. Lewis, 94 Ala. 626, 10 So. 333.

14. Courie v. Goodwin, 89 Ala. 569, 8 So. 9, where a garnishment suit was brought on the judgment.

15. Agnew v. Walden, 95 Ala. 108, 10 So. 224. See Hosea v. Talbert, 65 Ala. 173. See also Usaw v. Wenrick, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 467, holding that where suit was brought on a note with a waiver of exemption and on the common counts in assumpsit, and it did not appear upon what count judgment was entered, plaintiff could not avail himself of the waiver. Contra, Hoisington v. Huff, 24 Kan. 379, in which case, where a lessee waived in his written lease all right of exemption of personal property from seizure for any rent, it was held that such of his property as would otherwise be exempt might be seized on execution, although the judgment for rent contained no reference to the waiver.

Judgment for costs.— Upon a judgment upon a note containing a waiver of appraisement, etc., it is not necessary to render a separate judgment for costs, since the waiver of appraisement relates to both judgment on the debt and for the costs. Martindale v. Tibbetts, 16 Ind. 200.

not appear in the judgment, and if the judgment thus improperly contains a waiver it must be modified by omitting the recital thereof.[16] Where, by law, the landlord has no lien on the tenant's property exempt from execution, it is necessary for the landlord to record a lease containing a waiver of exemptions if he wishes to claim the waiver against bona fide purchasers of the property.[17] Where there was no stipulation either in the mortgage or in the notes to secure which the mortgage was given, a personal judgment against the mortgagor for recovery of the debt, without relief from valuation or appraisement laws, is erroneous.[18]

VI. PROTECTION, ENFORCEMENT, AND ESTABLISHMENT OF RIGHT.

A. Process and Proceedings Against Which Right May or May Not Be Asserted — 1. EXECUTION.[19] The personal property exemption cannot be reached by execution,[20] and therefore a levy upon exempt property has no more effect on the transfer of the title than a levy upon the property of a person not a party.[21]

2. ATTACHMENT.[22] Where property is exempted by provisions of the constitution or statute from levy and sale, the exemption may be invoked against a seizure under attachment.[23] If property is taken under attachment, it is the duty

16. Fears v. Thompson, 82 Ala. 294, 2 So. 719.

17. Richardson v. Kurz, (Iowa 1881) 9 N. W. 104.

18. Duckwall v. Kisner, 136 Ind. 99, 35 N. E. 697.

19. Execution generally see EXECUTIONS.

20. Duvall v. Rollins, 71 N. C. 218.

In Alabama, after a claim of exemptions in specific articles has been filed with the judge of probate, a levy cannot be made on the property unless plaintiff makes affidavit and gives bond as required by Code (1876), § 2830. Totten v. Sale, 72 Ala. 488.

An executor who was an insolvent debtor of the testator is entitled to his exemptions as against a fieri facias issued out of the orphans' court. Wilson's Estate, 1 Del. Co. (Pa.) 170.

21. Williams v. Miller, 16 Conn. 144. See also Johnson v. Babcock, 8 Allen (Mass.) 583. But in Hombs v. Corbin, 20 Mo. App. 497, it was held that a levy upon exempt property was not absolutely void, for the exemption right was a personal privilege which might be claimed or waived at the option of the debtor.

Alias execution.— Where a statute provides that the debtor, by filing a schedule of exemptions, may obtain a supersedeas against an execution, the filing of a schedule of exemptions of personal property and obtaining a supersedeas staying an execution will not defeat title acquired under a second execution against the same property, although the second execution was issued within thirty minutes after the supersedeas against the first was allowed. A separate supersedeas must be obtained for each execution issued in order to defeat title acquired thereunder. When under these circumstances executions are repeatedly procured for the sole purpose of annoying and harassing judgment debtors who may be unable to pay off their judgment debts, and who claim the right of exemption which the law gives them, we know of no remedy unless it be by injunction. An alias execution issued upon an unsatisfied judgment, and levied upon personal property that has not been enjoined or superseded by some lawful authority, is as efficacious as the first, and can be defeated in the same way, and upon the same grounds. Parker v. Independence Produce Co., 2 Indian Terr. 561, 53 S. W. 335.

22. Attachment generally see ATTACHMENT.

23. Alabama.— Hadley v. Bryars, 58 Ala. 139.

Indiana.— Haas v. Shaw, 91 Ind. 384, 46 Am. Rep. 607.

Michigan.— See Michels v. Stork, 44 Mich. 2, 5 N. W. 1034.

North Carolina.— Montgomery County v. Riley, 75 N. C. 144.

Ohio.— Close v. Sinclair, 38 Ohio St. 530.

Pennsylvania.— Washburn v. Baldwin, 10 Phila. 472; Corbit v. Long, 2 Woodw. 118. See also Taylor v. Worrel, 4 Leg. Gaz. 401; Roberts v. Reese, 2 Leg. Op. 7.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 131.

An execution on a judgment on attachment under section 27 of the Pennsylvania act of July 12, 1842, abolishing imprisonment for debt, is subject to the exemption law if the original judgment was on a contract. Waugh v. Burket, 3 Grant (Pa.) 319. See also Washburn v. Baldwin, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 472.

An attachment from a justice's court is subject to the exemption law just as if the attachment had been issued from a court of record. Michels v. Stork, 44 Mich. 2, 5 N. W. 1034. See also Crawford v. Main, 8 Kulp (Pa.) 67, where the judgment of a justice who disregarded the claim of exemption was reversed and the attachment set aside.

Property seized under attachment is only a legal deposit in the hands of the sheriff to abide the event of the action, and after judgment against defendant he is entitled to his exemptions in the property attached as he would have been had there been no attachment. Gamble v. Rhyme, 80 N. C. 183.

of the court, when the fact is brought to its notice, to order the property released.[24]

3. GARNISHMENT.[25] The debtor may claim the benefit of his statutory exemption against process in the nature of garnishment, whether it be called garnishment, attachment execution, or trustee process.[26] Where there are successive services of garnishment, the garnishee or trustee is entitled to reserve for the benefit of the claimant of exemptions the amount allowed by the exemption act.[27]

4. SET-OFF.[28] A debtor's right to exemption cannot be defeated by a set-off by the creditor.[29] To subject the debtor's demand to the creditor's set-off would

The exemption of property of persons in actual military service from levy or sale under legal process does not include levies by attachment which merely create a lien thereon. Ryan v. Wessels, 15 Iowa 145; Hannahs v. Felt, 15 Iowa 141.

24. Urquhart v. Smith, 5 Kan. 447.

25. Garnishment generally see GARNISHMENT.

26. Georgia.— Russell v. Arnold, 25 Ga. 625; Caraker v. Matthews, 25 Ga. 571. See also Hill v. Arnold, 116 Ga. 45, 42 S. E. 475.

Illinois.— Hoffmann v Fitzwilliam, 81 Ill. 521; Bliss v. Smith, 78 Ill. 359; Fanning v. Jacksonville First Nat. Bank, 76 Ill. 53; Illinois Glass Co. v. Holman, 19 Ill. App. 30.

Kansas.—Harding v. Hendrix, 26 Kan. 583; Seymour v. Cooper, 26 Kan. 539.

Maine.— Bridgton v. Lakin, 53 Me. 106.

Massachusetts.— Staniels v. Raymond, 4 Cush. 314.

Michigan.— Wilson v. Bartholomew, 45 Mich. 41, 7 N. W. 227.

Mississippi.— Chapman v. Berry, 73 Miss. 437, 18 So. 918, 55 Am. St. Rep. 546.

Rhode Island.— McKenna v. Lucas, 21 R. I. 509, 45 Atl. 101.

Vermont.— Parks v. Cushman, 9 Vt. 320. See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 132.

In Pennsylvania the debtor may claim exemption against a domestic attachment execution (Strouse v. Becker, 44 Pa. St. 206, 38 Pa. St. 190, 80 Am. Dec. 474; Ashton v. Glass, 9 Phila. 510; Kuhn v. Warren Sav. Bank, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. 230. Contra, Vezia v. Viench, 1 Phila. 176), but not against a foreign attachment under the law of 1849 (Yelverton v. Burton, 26 Pa. St. 351). The garnishee may claim the benefit of the statute just as can the debtor defendant. Fisher v. Elliott, 11 Phila. 344.

A judgment recovered by the debtor who sued to recover his property which was attached may be reached by trustee process at the instance of a creditor who was not a party to the original attachment proceedings (Robinson v. Burke, 70 N. H. 2, 45 Atl. 713, 85 Am. St. Rep. 595), on the principle that the proceeds of exempt property are not exempt from attachment.

Whether the judgment is out of the court of common pleas or a justice's court, the debtor may claim his exemption in his wages or salary given under section 15 of the Pennsylvania act of April 15, 1845. Catlin v. Ensign, 29 Pa. St. 264.

27. Sullivan v. Hadley Co., 160 Mass. 32, 35 N. E. 103; Hall v. Hartwell, 142 Mass. 447, 8 N. E. 333, where the debt was for necessaries and the claim for exemption was in wages, the Massachusetts statute allowing an exemption against necessaries to a certain amount. See supra, III, D. But where the writ in garnishment was issued against F, and served twice, each time the sum due defendant being less than the exemption allowed him by Mass. Pub. St. c. 183, § 30, and the garnishee paid nothing to defendant, although he was entitled to his exemptions at each service, and the writ was abandoned and another issued against F and another, the sums in the garnishee's hands were not exempt because of the other services, it not appearing that the abandonment of the first writ and the issuance of the second was not in good faith. Choquette v. Ford, 178 Mass. 6, 59 N. E. 454.

The provision in Me. Rev. St. c. 86, § 6, authorizing a further service upon trustees, may have its full and fair effect without applying it to cases in which the garnishee's indebtment would have been securely held by the first service, had it not been specially exempted from attachment by another section of the same statute; thus, a creditor who has procured the detention of a laborer's wages in the hands of his employer by the first service of a trustee process cannot, by making a second service after the lapse of a month, deprive the laborer of the exemption of some portion of his wages granted in chapter 86, section 55. Collins v. Chase, 71 Me. 434.

28. Set-off generally see RECOUPMENT, SET-OFF, AND COUNTER-CLAIM.

29. Arkansas.— Atkinson v. Pittman, 47 Ark. 464, 2 S. W. 114.

Indiana.— Junker v. Hustes, 113 Ind. 524, 16 N. E. 197.

Iowa.— Millington v. Laurer, 89 Iowa 322, 56 N. W. 533, 48 Am. St. Rep. 385, where the debtor's claim was for earnings.

Kentucky.— Mulliken v. Winter, 2 Duv. 256, 87 Am. Dec. 495.

Missouri.— Wagner v. J. H. North Furniture, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 206. See also State v. Hudson, 86 Mo. App. 501; Lewis v. Gill, 76 Mo. App. 504; State v. Finn, 8 Mo. App. 261.

Nebraska.— Deering v. Ruffner, 32 Nebr. 845, 49 N. W. 771, 29 Am. St. Rep. 473.

North Carolina.— Curlee v. Thomas, 74 be as much a legal seizure thereof as if a creditor had impounded it under process of garnishment on an execution or attachment. The legal effect would be the same in either case and therefore it cannot be allowed.[30] To allow a set-off against a judgment for trespass or conversion of the exempt property,[31] or against an action for replevin of the property,[32] would be a particularly inexcusable subversion of the exemption laws. Recoupment[33] and counter-claim[34] are allowed in some states, but in other states a plaintiff whose entire property does not exceed the statutory limit may claim even the demand in suit and thus defeat a counter-claim or set-off.[35] A set-off will not be allowed against an assignee of the debtor's claim.[36]

5. Foreclosure Proceedings.[37] Exemption cannot be successfully claimed against a foreclosure proceeding upon a mortgage.[38] Neither can it be claimed

N. C. 51. See, however, Lynn v. Stanly Creek Cotton Mills, 130 N. C. 621, 41 S. E. 877.

Pennsylvania.— Thall's Appeal, 119 Pa. St. 425, 13 Atl. 466.

Tennessee.— Collier v. Murphy, 90 Tenn. 300, 16 S. W. 465, 25 Am. St. Rep. 698, where the debtor's claim was for earnings.

Texas.— Dempsey v. McKennell, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 284, 23 S. W. 525.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," §§ 134, 164.

However, the exemption is not available before judgment so as to destroy the right of set-off in an action of contract. Lynn v. Stanly Creek Cotton Mills, 130 N. C. 621, 41 S. E. 877; Kepner v. Pierce, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 488, 3 Ohio Cir. Dec. 239.

30. Wagner v. J. H. North Furniture, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 206 [citing Waples Homest. & Exempt. p. 829, § 5].

31. Alabama.— Ex p. Hunt, 62 Ala. 1.

Connecticut.— Talbot v. Ellis, 33 Conn. 235.

Kansas.— Treat v. Wilson, 65 Kan. 729, 70 Pac. 893, at least where the judgment is in the hands of the original judgment creditor.

Kentucky.— See Collett v. Jones, 7 B. Mon. 586.

Nevada.— Elder v. Frevert, 18 Nev. 446, 5 Pac. 69.

South Carolina.— Parkerson v. Wightman, 4 Strobh. 363.

Texas.— Craddock v. Goodwin, 54 Tex. 578; Stagg v. Piland, 31 Tex. Civ. App. 245, 71 S. W. 762; Moore v. Graham, 29 Tex. Civ. App. 235, 69 S. W. 200. See Wilson v. Manning, (Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 1079.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 164.

Contra.— Temple v. Scott, 3 Minn. 419.

32. Duff v. Wells, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 17.

33. Corbally v. Hughes, 59 Ga. 493.

34. Lynn v. Stanly Creek Cotton Mills, 130 N. C. 621, 41 S. E. 877. But see Duff v. Wells, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 17.

35. Carpenter v. Coal, 115 Ind. 134, 17 N. E. 266; Puett v. Beard, 86 Ind. 172, 44 Am. Rep. 280; Coppage v. Gregg, 1 Ind. App. 112, 27 N. E. 570; Coldwell v. Ryan, (Mo. App. 1904) 79 S. W. 743. See also Dumbould v. Rowley, 113 Ind. 353, 15 N. E. 463; Butner v. Bowser, 104 Ind. 255, 3 N. E. 889. A debtor, plaintiff in an action on a note, and whose property does not exceed six hundred dollars, may claim such note as exempt against a note pleaded as a set-off to his note, and may do this by way of reply to the answer of set-off. Smith v. Sills, 126 Ind. 205, 25 N. E. 881; Coffing v. Dungan, 6 Ind. App. 386, 33 N. E. 815.

It is a question for the jury whether the allegation of plaintiff is true where he avers that all his property, of which he files a schedule, does not exceed the amount of the statutory exemption and that therefore a judgment cannot be pleaded and set off to his claim. Coppage v. Gregg, 1 Ind. App. 112, 27 N. E. 570.

A judgment for costs in favor of defendant cannot be set off against a three-hundred-dollar personal injury judgment recovered by plaintiff, who was head of a family, had no other property, and claimed the judgment as an exemption. Bowen v. Holden, 95 Mo. App. 1, 75 S. W. 686, construing the statutory provisions relating to exemption and set-off.

36. Millington v. Laurer, 89 Iowa 322, 5 N. W. 533, 48 Am. St. Rep. 385.

The assignor is a proper party plaintiff to claim the exemption against the set-off. Pickrell v. Jerauld, 1 Ind. App. 10, 27 N. E. 433, 50 Am. St. Rep. 192.

Where creditors attach and sell community property for a debt of the husband and the debtor's wife obtains judgment against them therefor, the creditors cannot offset their judgment against the judgment obtained by the wife even after the assignment of the wife's judgment to another and even after the wife's death; for the wife's judgment being for the value of exempt property is also exempt. Cullers v. May, 81 Tex. 110, 16 S. W. 813.

37. Foreclosure proceedings generally see Chattel Mortgages; Mortgages.

38. Florida.— Patterson v. Taylor, 15 Fla. 336.

Indiana.— Love v. Blair, 72 Ind. 281.

New Jersey.— Conway v. Wilson, 44 N. J. Eq. 457, 11 Atl. 734.

New York.— Lantz v. Buckingham, 11 Abb. Pr. N. S. 64.

Texas.— Bigger v. Jones, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 227.

In Pennsylvania, supporting the text, see Morgan v. Noud, 1 Phila. 250 (where prop-against a judgment on a bond accompanying the mortgage.[39] The surplus proceeds of a foreclosure sale have been held exempt against existing judgment creditors under a statute which exempts property to a certain amount.[40]

6. MISCELLANEOUS.[41] The claim for exemption has been held good against distress for rent,[42] a judgment in an action of account rendered by one partner against another,[43] a sale by an administrator of an insolvent estate[44] against an equitable proceeding,[45] against a lien of a creditor upon a fund arising from a partition of land, although the lien had not arisen by an execution or distress,[46] against any sale by operation of law which is necessary for the payment of the debtor's debts.[47] Money exempt from garnishment in the hands of the employer is exempt from seizure by other process, such as a rule against the sheriff, while passing from the employer to the employee.[48]

B. Powers, Duties, and Responsibilities of Officers Serving Process — 1. POWERS MINISTERIAL. When a claim for an exemption is filed the sheriff has no erty was sold on a levari facias); Craig v. Craig, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. 613. Where property is sold on execution and the proceeds of the sale are less than the amount of two mortgages on the property, the mortgagor is not entitled to his exemption as against the mortgagee. Emery v. Phillips, 38 Leg. Int. 126. The exemption act of 1849 is a limitation of the remedies given by law against a debtor's property, but not intended to interfere with such as arise out of an express contract, as where a debtor specifically pledges by mortgage all his estate in the land described therein, thus expressly waiving his right of exemption. Gangwere's Appeal, 36 Pa. St. 466. See also Bower's Appeal, 68 Pa. St. 126. Contra, Saving Fund v. Creighton, 3 Phila. 58. See supra, V.

Foreclosure in absence of soldier.— The appointment of a receiver to take charge of mortgaged premises after judgment for foreclosure, when the mortgagor is in the military service of the United States, is a violation of the Iowa act of April 7, 1862, which exempts the property of volunteers from sale under deeds of trust, mortgages, or judgments. Adair v. Wright, 16 Iowa 385.

Mortgage as waiver of exemption see supra, V, A, 1, c, (I).

39. McAuley's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 209; Dornan v. McAuley, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 324, 325.

But as against an execution issued on a judgment entered on a warrant of attorney accompanying a bond and mortgage, defendant will be allowed his statutory exemption if it be not expressly waived. Twaddell v. Rodgers, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 163.

40. Darbey v. Rouse, 75 Md. 26, 22 Atl. 1110; Bower's Appeal, 68 Pa. St. 126.

41. Exempt liquor wrongfully seized under a statute providing for the suppression of intemperance cannot be recovered in an action of replevin. Funk v. Israel, 5 Iowa 438.

Debt for an advancement.— The son of an intestate mother, who was indebted to her, is not entitled to claim the benefit of the debtor's exemption on distribution of the estate. Maxwell's Estate, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 4.

42. Caulfield v. McAlister, 4 McCord (S. C.) 378, under the act of 1823, exempting certain articles of debtors from levy and sale. Contra, Harly v. Weathersbee, 21 S. C. 243, holding that S. C. Const. art. 2, § 32, providing that the general assembly shall enact laws exempting from attachment and sale under any mesne or final process issued from any court certain property, does not refer to distress for rent, and property exempted by the legislature as exempt from execution may be subject to such a claim. The Pennsylvania act of April 9, 1849, provided for exemption against distress for rent. See Reed v. Hollibaugh, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 20. See supra, page 1374, note 5.

43. McTague v. Rehill, 2 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 35.

44. Kinard v. Moore, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 193.

45. Where a judgment was obtained against an insolvent owning an equitable interest in land, and an action was brought to subject his interest to the judgment, and the court found that the insolvent owned personal property to the value of about one hundred dollars, and was entitled to about two hundred dollars out of the value of his equitable interest to make up the three hundred dollars to which he was entitled as an exemption, and that he owed one hundred dollars which was a lien on the land, and the land was sold and purchased by the judgment plaintiffs, and they tendered the amount of the lien, but did not tender the two-hundred-dollar exemption, an order to convey to the purchaser the equitable estate in fee was unauthorized. Smith v. Vanscoten, 20 Ind. 221.

A judgment creditor does not acquire by a suit in equity to subject the proceeds of his debtor's bills and accounts receivable and by the appointment of a receiver for the purpose of collecting them such a lien as will preclude an allowance out of the proceeds to the debtor of an exemption in personal property in lieu of a homestead. Fry v. Smith, 61 Ohio St. 276, 55 N. E. 826.

46. Reed v. Hollibaugh, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 20.

47. See Kinard v. Moore, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 193. Contra, see McLean v. Gillis, 2 Manitoba 113.

48. Cox v. Bearden, 84 Ga. 304, 10 S. E. 627, 20 Am. St. Rep. 359.

power to pass on the sufficiency thereof; the law does not vest him with judicial powers.[49]

2. Duty to Notify Debtor of His Rights. It is the duty of the officer having the writ or process in his hands to notify the debtor of his rights of exemption.[50] This rule exists to give defendant a chance to surrender other property not selected or exempt for satisfaction of the judgment,[51] or to give him an opportunity to pay off the judgment.[52] But it is incumbent upon the officer to give notice only where it is practicable for him to notify the debtor;[53] so if the debtor is not in the county, the officer is generally excused from giving notice.[54] In all cases the officer should act fairly and in good faith and not use the exemption law as a trap to catch those debtors who are honestly and in good faith seeking to avail themselves of its benefits.[55]

49. Kennedy v. Smith, 99 Ala. 83, 89, 11 So. 665, where it is said: "The only case in which the sheriff can disregard a claim of exemption, however informal or irregular, interposed by a defendant in execution within the time prescribed by the statute, is where the execution is issued upon a judgment based upon tort, or other demand against which the statute does not authorize a claim of exemption to be interposed. It has been held by this court that, where it appears upon the face of the papers that the case is one not governed by the exemption laws, it is the duty of the sheriff to disregard the claim of exemption, and to proceed with the sale of the property."

Where an officer holds property under an execution he cannot ignore a claim made to him merely because it fails to show that the debt was contracted during the existence of the law creating exemptions, that question being a judicial one. Straughn v. Richards, 121 Ala. 611, 25 So. 700.

Where in an interpleader issue the claimant alleges that the goods seized include the statutory exemptions, that is a question for trial in the issue and is not to be left to the sheriff to deal with. Field v. Hart, 22 Ont. App. 449.

50. Cook v. Scott, 6 Ill. 333; State v. Romer, 44 Mo. 99; Hombs v. Corbin, 20 Mo. App. 497. It is the duty of the officer to require a party claiming election between chattels of which one is exempt from execution to make his selection at the time of the levy. Pyett v. Rhea, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 136, 138. But see Twinam v. Swart, 4 Lans. (N. Y.) 263, holding that a constable need not consult a judgment debtor as to what part of his property is exempt from execution before a levy thereon, but is justified in taking and selling the debtor's property, although exempt, if not informed of the exemption.

In Maryland the officer is not required to notify the debtor of the execution and levy. State v. Boulden, 57 Md. 314.

Sufficient notice.— Where defendant's land was advertised for sale under an execution against him, he cannot contend that he was not afforded an opportunity of claiming his exemption. Lahr v. Ulmer, 27 Ind. App. 107, 60 N. E. 1009. Where, in attachment, the officer serving the writ serves an inventory on defendant, and tenders him the use of an appraisal to enable him to select his exemptions, this is sufficient, there being no requirement that he shall serve the appraisal. Jones v. Peek, 101 Mich. 389, 59 N. W. 659.

Before summoning the garnishee the officer should notify the debtor of his exemption rights. State v. Somdag, 15 Mo. App. 312; State v. Carroll, 9 Mo. App. 275, holding, however, that no damage results from the failure of the constable to notify a judgment debtor of his exemption rights before summoning the garnishee if no judgment is rendered against the garnishee and no malice or oppression in office is shown.

Duty to give advice.— It is even said that the officer's duty is not discharged by merely notifying the execution debtor of his rights of exemption, but he should give the debtor the benefit of his advice. State v. Kane, 42 Mo. App. 253, 255.

51. Cook v. Scott, 6 Ill. 333. See also Godman v. Smith, 17 Ind. 152.

52. See Godman v. Smith, 17 Ind. 152.

53. Foote v. People, 12 Ill. App. 94.

54. Foote v. People, 12 Ill. App. 94 [citing People v. Palmer, 46 Ill. 398, 95 Am. Dec. 418].

But if the officer knows of the residence of defendant in an adjoining county and can reach him by the exercise of reasonable diligence, it is then his duty to apprise him of his rights of exemption. Finke v. Craig, 57 Mo. App. 393.

55. Langston v. Murphy, 31 Ill. App. 188, holding that where the debtor delivered a schedule to the officer and the schedule was by mistake unsigned and the debtor offered to sign it or make another, he was entitled to maintain an action against the officer for recovery of the property named as exempt, as it was the duty of the officer in the first place to call the debtor's attention to the omission. See also Schumann v. Pilcher, 36 Ill. App. 43, holding that, where the execution debtor writes his name in the body of the affidavit attached to the schedule, the constable cannot presume that the name was written by the same person who wrote the schedule and affidavit, but he should inquire whether the name was written by the debtor, especially where the handwriting is dissimilar from that of the schedule and affidavit.

3. Responsibility as to Articles Specifically Exempt. It is the duty of the officer to know the statute which enumerates articles specifically exempt and to obey it at his peril. The debtor need not designate such articles.[56] That the execution does not in terms except property exempt by law is no defense to the officer.[57]

C. Establishment of Right — 1. In General. The particular mode pointed out by the statute for obtaining the benefits of the exemption law must be followed.[58]

2. Claim of Exemption[59] — a. Necessity of — (i) In Property Generally. If the debtor wishes to have the benefit of the exemption laws, it is almost always necessary for him to claim his right.[60] If, however, the debtor has no property except what is exempt by law, it is unnecessary to make claim.[61] A claim of exemption under one execution may not and usually does not dispense with the necessity of the claim under other different executions where the different executions were issued on different judgments;[62] it is even held that a claim under the original execution will not suffice to protect the debtor upon the levy of an alias,[63] but this rule is by no means universal.[64] And where other property is levied

An ambiguously worded notice by mail from which the debtor may infer that personal demand will be made of him at some time in the future is not in good faith and is insufficient. Boggess v. Pennell, 46 Ill. App. 150.

56. Frost v. Shaw, 3 Ohio St. 270; Gilman v. Williams, 7 Wis. 329, 76 Am. Dec. 219.

Under a statute exempting household furniture to the value of one hundred dollars, an officer attaching such property is bound to leave at least the value of one hundred dollars with the debtor. Mannan v. Merritt, 11 Allen (Mass.) 582.

Failure to make inventory. — Under a statute which provides that an officer levying on exempt property shall make an inventory of it and cause it to be appraised, an officer is not liable unless he fails to make an inventory for the appraisal within a reasonable time. Tullis v. Orthwein, 5 Minn. 377.

57. Maxwell v. Reed, 7 Wis. 582.

58. Johnson v. Larcade, 110 Ill. App. 611; Line's Appeal, 2 Grant (Pa.) 197; Sennickson v. Fulton, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 220.

If the statute does not contain a form in which the claim or demand for the exemption shall be made the right is nevertheless not affected. Hill v. Johnston, 29 Pa. St. 362.

59. Absence at time of sale on account of sickness in debtor's family is a sufficient excuse for not making the claim, where the creditor is aware of the claim from its having been made in a former suit. Haswell v. Parsons, 15 Cal. 266, 76 Am. Dec. 480.

60. Alabama.—Gresham v. Walker, 10 Ala. 370. See also Patillo v. Taylor, 83 Ala. 230, 3 So. 558.

Arkansas.— Scanlan v. Guiling, 63 Ark. 540, 39 S. W. 713.

Illinois.— Johnson v. Larcade, 110 Ill. App. 611; Menzie v. Kelly, 8 Ill. App. 259.

Kansas.— Williamson v. Kansas, etc., Coal Co., 6 Kan. App. 443, 50 Pac. 106.

Kentucky.— Bank of Commerce v. Payne, 86 Ky. 446, 8 S. W. 856, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 43.

Missouri.— Alt v. Lafayette Bank, 9 Mo. App. 91.

New York.— Wilcox v. Howe, 59 Hun 268, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 783, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 214.

Pennsylvania.— Bair v. Steinman, 52 Pa. St. 423; Wolf v. Wolf, 3 Lanc. L. Rev. 81.

South Dakota.— Pirie v. Harkness, 3 S. D. 178, 52 N. W. 581.

Washington.— Zelinsky v. Price, 8 Wash. 256, 36 Pac. 28.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 137.

An agreed statement that debtor has claimed his exemption is not a sufficient compliance with the statute requiring a verified claim. Courie v. Goodwin, 89 Ala. 569, 8 So. 9.

Where the proceeds of exempt property is in the custody of the court, the claimant must apply to the court for an order to have the money paid over. Linck v. Troll, 84 Mo. App. 49.

The debtor cannot maintain an action against the officer for seizing his property, unless he has claimed his exemption. Settles v. Bond, 49 Ark. 114, 4 S. W. 286; Sullivan v. Farley, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 157. See also Oliver v. White, 18 S. C. 235. Contra, Parsons v. Thomas, 62 Iowa 319, 17 N. W. 526. Neither can an action of replevin be maintained without this prerequisite. Mann v. Welton, 21 Nebr. 541, 32 N. W. 599. See also Tullis v. Orthwein, 5 Minn. 377.

61. Wallace v. Lawyer, 54 Ind. 501, 23 Am. Rep. 661. See also Skinner v. Jennings, 137 Ala. 295, 34 So. 622; Grieb v. Northrup, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 86, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 481.

62. Krauter's Appeal, 150 Pa. St. 47, 24 Atl. 603; Strouse v. Becker, 38 Pa. St. 190, 80 Am. Dec. 474; Dobson's Appeal, 25 Pa. St. 232; Bechtel's Appeal, 2 Grant (Pa.) 375; Wisser v. Wisser, 8 Pa. Dist. 673, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 125. Compare McCreary's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 194. See also Stowers v. Mathews, 98 Ga. 371, 25 S. E. 452; Wise v. Bucher, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 373.

63. Finley v. Sly, 44 Ind. 266.

64. See McAfoose's Appeal, 32 Pa. St. 276, holding that where a fieri facias was levied upon under the other execution, a claim of exemption made after the levy of the first execution upon certain property is not sufficient.[65]

(II) Of Property Specifically Exempt. Where property specifically exempt is levied upon, by the general rule it is not necessary for the debtor to make any claim,[66] especially where the debtor has specific property only to the amount of exemption allowed by law,[67] or where the person holding or directing the service of the writ knows at the time of the service that the property levied upon is exempt.[68]

b. Persons Who May Make. An exemption being a personal privilege, it can as a general rule be pleaded or taken advantage of only by the execution or attachment debtor.[69] Under this general rule it has been held that a garnishee on the real estate of the debtor and he claimed his exemption and it was allowed, and the land was appraised and sold under a venditioni exponas, and where after the sale was set aside an alias was levied on the same land and it was subsequently sold by the sheriff, the debtor was entitled to his exemptions out of the proceeds of the sale, for the alias in such a case, although irregular, was not an independent writ; it was in substance a continuance of the first writ.

In Illinois by Starr & C. Annot. St. c. 52, par. 14, a debtor who has presented a sufficient schedule of his exempt property is not compelled, upon the return of the execution unsatisfied and the issuing of an alias, to present an additional schedule before seventy days from the date of the writ, if on a justice's judgment, ninety days before any other, unless additional property has been acquired. This statute does not relieve the debtor from scheduling against an alias issued after the time provided, for the limitation was intended to relieve the debtor who had made one sufficient schedule from the duty of making another during the lifetime of the execution, unless he should acquire additional property. Gullett v. Conley, 81 Ill. App. 131.

65. Camp v. Ganley, 6 Ill. App. 499. See also Biggs v. McKenzie, 16 Ill. App. 286.

In garnishment before a justice of the peace, defendant claimed an exemption admitted by the garnishee and the garnishee was discharged. On appeal the garnishee admitted that it had become indebted to defendant in a further sum. There was no new claim of exemption, but the garnishee was nevertheless discharged. It was held that, although the whole indebtedness accrued under a continuous contract, that part which accrued pending the appeal could not be included in the first claim of exemption, and therefore it was error to discharge the garnishee. Craft v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 93 Ala. 22, 9 So. 328.

66. Frost v. Shaw, 3 Ohio St. 270; Gilman v. Williams, 7 Wis. 329, 76 Am. Dec. 219. See supra, VI, B, 3. See also Frost v. Mott, 34 N. Y. 253, holding that if an officer seizes a whole flock of sheep of the debtor and the statute allows him ten sheep as exempt from execution, the officer cannot justify his seizure of the ten by the omission of the debtor to designate any particular portion of the flock as not subject to execution.

Defendant's right in public lands is exempt without any form of claim. Healy v. Conner, 40 Ark. 352.

If tools, implements, and fixtures which are exempt from execution are attached, and are plainly distinguishable as articles which are exempt from execution, the owner may maintain an action against the attaching officer, without first demanding or pointing them out to him. Woods v. Keyes, 14 Allen (Mass.) 236, 92 Am. Dec. 766. But if such articles have been so intermingled with plaintiff's other property that the officer could not distinguish them, a neglect to claim them when the officer was about to attach the whole might be a waiver. Clapp v. Thomas, 5 Allen (Mass.) 158.

Under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 1391, however, providing for an exemption in working tools, teams, etc., when owned by a person being a householder, or having a family, except in certain cases, the exemption must be claimed by the person entitled thereto. Gilewicz v. Goldberg, 69 N. Y. App. Div. 438, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 984.

67. Harrington v. Smith, 14 Colo. 376, 23 Pac. 331, 20 Am. St. Rep. 272; Murphy v. Sherman, 25 Minn. 196. See also Seip v. Tilghman, 23 Kan. 289, holding that in replevin to recover exempt property seized on execution, where no similar property is owned by the debtor, and no selection is necessary to distinguish it from non-exempt property, no notice to the officer at the time of the levy that it is claimed as exempt is necessary.

Military arms.— If an officer levies an execution on a gun belonging to defendant, it is the duty of defendant to inform the officer before sale that the gun is kept for the purpose of mustering and is therefore exempt. Henson v. Edwards, 32 N. C. 43, 44.

Where all the property which a debtor has, of a kind which is exempted, with a limit as to quantity or amount and not with a limit as to value, does not exceed the quantity or amount which the statute exempts, there is no occasion for the debtor to choose or select the same as exempt. In such case the statute operates to choose and select it for him. Howard v. Rugland, 35 Minn. 388, 29 N. W. 63.

68. Lynd v. Picket, 7 Minn. 184, 82 Am. Dec. 79; Frost v. Mott, 34 N. Y. 253.

69. Iowa.— Moore v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 43 Iowa 385.

cannot claim that the property in question is not subject to garnishment because of the exemption laws,[70] but in some jurisdictions the garnishee may interpose the defense of exemption[71] on the theory that he must disclose every fact which would prevent a judgment against it.[72] Neither the bailee or agent,[73] the mortgagee,[74] the trustee in a deed of trust,[75] nor the subtenant or original tenant[76] can claim the privilege of the owner. The debtor can exercise the privilege for only his own and his family's benefit, not for the benefit of any one else.[77] In certain circumstances the wife can in many jurisdictions claim the exemption for the debtor; as where he is temporarily absent,[78] or where he refuses or fails to assert his right,[79] or after his death;[80] but she must make the claim in proper form.[81]

Kentucky.— Belknap v. Carpenter, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 358.

Maryland.— Miles v. State, 73 Md. 398, 21 Atl. 51.

Missouri.— Howland v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 134 Mo. 474, 36 S. W. 29.

New York.— Earl v. Camp, 16 Wend. 562. See also Smith v. Hill, 22 Barb. 656.

North Carolina.— See Johnson v. Cross, 66 N. C. 167.

Pennsylvania.— See Larkin v. McAnnally, 5 Phila. 17.

Canada.— Young v. Short, 3 Manitoba 302. See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 139.

Assignee.— The right of the head of a family to claim any property to a certain value as exempt, in lieu of articles specifically exempt, is personal to him and, having assigned a judgment without making the claim, the assignee cannot make it. Wabash R. Co. v. Bowring, 103 Mo. App. 158, 77 S. W. 106.

In an action against the constable for failure to collect an execution, he cannot set up as a defense that the property of defendant in execution was exempt. Baker v. Brintnall, 52 Barb (N. Y.) 188.

70. Seitz v. Starks, (Mich. 1904) 98 N. W. 852. See, generally, GARNISHMENT.

71. Mull v. Jones, 33 Kan. 112, 5 Pac. 388.

72. Wright v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 19 Nebr. 175, 27 N. W. 90, 56 Am. Rep. 747 [citing Drake Attach. 630].

73. Mickles v. Tousley, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 114. But see Pearce v. Loudenberger, 16 Phila. (Pa.) 33, where the wife claimed the exemption in the husband's name. See infra, note 78, et seq.

74. It is the mortgagor's interest that is attached, not the mortgagee's. Sherrible v. Chaffee, 17 R. I. 195, 21 Atl. 103, 33 Am. St. Rep. 853. But where plaintiff testifies that he told the sheriff that the property seized was mortgaged and that the mortgagee was in possession, the testimony is sufficient to show that plaintiff is without the necessary title to assert exemption, although the mortgage is not introduced in evidence. Eisenberg v. Burchinell, (Colo. App. 1898) 52 Pac. 220. Where the possession of property subject to an unrecorded chattel mortgage is given to the mortgagee, with instruction to sell part of the property to pay the mortgage debt, and the property is afterward attached, and the mortgagee then withdraws his claim, the right of the owner to claim exemption therein was not defeated. Liberal Bank v. Redlinger, 95 Mo. App. 279, 68 S. W. 1073.

75. Terry v. Wilson, 63 Mo. 493, where property exempt from execution was conveyed by deed of trust to secure a debt.

76. Rosenberger v. Hallowell, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 330.

77. Guntley v. Staed, 77 Mo. App. 155, 164 [citing Garrett v. Wagner, 125 Mo. 450, 28 S. W. 762].

A personal representative was not allowed, in North Carolina, to make the claim after the debtor's death. Johnson v. Cross, 66 N. C. 167.

In Arkansas the exemption right passes to the widow by the act of 1887. See Thompson v. Ogle, 55 Ark. 101, 17 S. W. 593.

The act of the debtor in asserting an exemption in lieu of a homestead binds his family. Hoover v. Haslage, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 98. But in South Dakota, under Comp. Laws, § 5133, the wife may claim exemption if the husband refuses to exercise the privilege wholly or partially. See Thompson v. Donahoe, 16 S. D. 244, 92 N. W. 27; Meyer v. Beaver, 9 S. D. 168, 68 N. W. 310. And see Mapp v. Long, 62 Ga. 568, for a similar provision.

78. Meitzler's Appeal, 73 Pa. St. 368; McCarthy's Appeal, 68 Pa. St. 217; Wilson v. McElroy, 32 Pa. St. 82; Waugh v. Burket, 3 Grant (Pa.) 319.

In case of permanent abandonment by the husband of wife, home, and property, the wife cannot claim the exemption. McNair v. Riesher, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 494.

Where a man did not live with his wife, who resided in a house belonging to him, she is entitled to make a claim of exemption unless the husband has expressly waived it. Kerst's Appeal, 2 Walk. (Pa.) 117.

If the husband has abandoned his principal business, the horses which were exempt to him to carry on the business cannot be claimed by his wife in his absence, for she has no further interest in them. Miller v. Miller, 97 Mich. 151, 56 N. W. 348.

79. White v. Smith, 104 Mo. App. 199, 78 S. W. 51; Thompson v. Donahoe, 16 S. D. 244, 92 N. W. 27; Noyes v. Belding, 5 S. D. 603, 59 N. W. 1069. See also Meyer v. Beaver, 9 S. D. 168, 68 N. W. 310.

80. Thompson v. Ogle, 55 Ark. 101, 17 S. W. 593.

81. Mapp v. Long, 62 Ga. 568.

c. General Rules as to Form and Requisites — (I) Should Be Clear and Unequivocal. The claim should be clear and unequivocal that the officer may understand it;[82] but if the right to the exemption has been substantially asserted it will not be defeated by formal and technical objections.[83]

(II) Following Statute. The claim must be made in the manner required by statute.[84] It is not necessary that the claim should be made in the precise language of the statute.[85] If the terms and wording of the law are followed in making the claim it is sufficient.[86] Nor is it necessary for the debtor to cite the law under which he makes his claim.[87] It is sufficient if he indicates clearly to the court the grounds of his claim and the facts to support it.[88]

(III) Where No Form Is Prescribed. In a number of jurisdictions it is held that there is no prescribed form in which the debtor should make his claim, provided the claim is understood by the officer.[89] In some jurisdictions the claim need not be in writing.[90] The application need not state that the applicant is a debtor.[91] A notice of claim of exemption from execution, signed by two persons, is sufficient as a claim for either separately.[92]

Form and requisites generally see infra, VI, C, 2, c.

Claim by minor children acting through grandfather.— Where property of a debtor who is the head of a family is attached on the ground that he has concealed himself so that summons cannot be served, and the property is exempt, the exemption can be claimed in his absence by his minor children, acting by their grandfather, as next friend; the presumption being that defendant had not abandoned the premises, and that he had left the grandfather in charge. White v. Swann, 68 Ark. 102, 56 S. W. 635, 82 Am. St. Rep. 282.

82. Tonsmere v. Buckland, 88 Ala. 312, 6 So. 904 [citing Franklin v. Pollard Mill Co., 88 Ala. 318, 6 So. 685]; Moffitt v. Adams, 60 Iowa 44, 14 N. W. 88; Turner v. Borthwick, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 119.

83. Burdge v. Bolin, 106 Ind. 175, 6 N. E. 140, 55 Am. Rep. 724; Haas v. Shaw, 91 Ind. 384, 46 Am. Rep. 607. See also Fick v. Mullholland, 48 Wis. 413, 4 N. W. 346.

84. Boesker v. Pickett, 81 Ind. 554.

Following statute in making schedule, inventory, and affidavit see infra, VI, C, 2, e, (II).

85. Bow v. Smiley, 31 Pa. St. 225, 72 Am. Dec. 738.

86. La. Const. art. 219, exempts "on a farm the necessary quantity of corn and fodder for the current year." If the debtor makes claim in these words, he has fulfilled the requirements of the constitutional provision and the court will not increase the requirements. Ducote v. Rachal, 44 La. Ann. 580, 10 So. 933.

87. Rolla State Bank v. Borgfelt, 93 Mo. App. 62 [citing Aull v. Day, 133 Mo. 337, 34 S. W. 578; Ray v. Stobbs, 28 Mo. 35].

88. Rolla State Bank v. Borgfelt, 93 Mo. App. 62.

89. Long v. Hoban, 7 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 688, 4 Cinc. L. Bul. 986; Keller v. Bricker, 64 Pa. St. 379; Diehl v. Holben, 39 Pa. St. 213. See also Bassett v. Inman, 7 Colo. 270, 3 Pac. 383.

A mere demand of the benefit of the exemption laws is sufficient. Wilson v. McElroy, 32 Pa. St. 82.

In Georgia when the claim is made by the wife the application must affirmatively disclose whose property it is which is claimed, whether the husband's or the wife's (Mutual Ben. Bldg. Assoc. v. Tanner, 96 Ga. 338, 23 S. E. 403; Coffee v. Adams, 65 Ga. 347); but this is not necessary when the applicant is the husband and father (Braswell v. McDaniel, 74 Ga. 319).

Where partners claim their several exemptions, it is sufficient if each informs the officer making the levy and asks that he be permitted to make his selection. O'Gorman v. Fink, 57 Wis. 649, 15 N. W. 771, 46 Am. Rep. 58.

90. Simpson v. Simpson, 30 Ala. 225 (unless the debtor wishes to bring action against the sheriff, in which case the claim must be made by affidavit as required by statute); Bassett v. Inman, 7 Colo. 270, 3 Pac. 383; Hart v. Hart, 167 Pa. St. 13, 31 Atl. 352; Dale v. McAlpin, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 34; Com. v. Springer, 13 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 305.

This is not the rule of course where a schedule is required. See infra, VI, C, 2, e.

A parol demand by a debtor for exemption is good as against subsequent execution creditors as notice of the claim. Wise v. Bucher, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 373.

By plea.— As the garnishment statute does not provide for any pleadings, a claim that money attached is exempt need not be set up by plea. McKenna v. Lucas, 21 R. I. 509, 45 Atl. 101.

Plaintiff in execution against realty is entitled to notice by record of the debtor's claim to exemption, and a verbal notice given to the sheriff, not communicated by him to plaintiff, is insufficient. Denlinger v. Burkey, 16 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 94. See also McCloskey v. Moulder, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 156.

91. Braswell v. McDaniel, 74 Ga. 319.

92. Stanton v. French, 83 Cal. 194, 23 Pac. 355.

(iv) Furnishing Description and Surrender of Other Property. In some jurisdictions if the debtor claims an exemption in property not specifically exempt, he must offer to disclose other property liable to execution if he has it, or his exemption cannot be allowed.[93] If, however, the debtor has no more property than the law exempts, he is not required to turn out one piece of it to the officer as a condition on which he may return the residue;[94] and if the property levied upon is specifically exempt, the debtor is not obliged to turn out property or disclose other property.[95]

d. Schedule, Inventory, and Affidavit — (i) Required by Statute. It is a common provision to require the claimant to make a schedule of all his property[96] and that the schedule and inventory made by the debtor must be signed[97] and sworn to[98] by him. If an execution issue to one county, the inven-

93. McMasters v. Alsop, 85 Ill. 157; Johnson v. Larcade, 110 Ill. App. 611; MacVeagh v. Bailey, 29 Ill. App. 606. See also Keybers v. McComber, 67 Cal. 395, 7 Pac. 838; Bingham v. Maxcy, 15 Ill. 290; Cook v. Scott, 6 Ill. 333; McGee v. Anderson, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 187, 36 Am. Dec. 570. Contra, Bray v. Laird, 44 Ala. 295.

It is error for the court to refuse to allow a full inquiry as to whether the debtor has other personal property in addition to the choses in action attached. Miller v. Mahoney, 29 S. W. 879, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 799. See also Trager v. Feibleman, 95 Ala. 60, 10 So. 213; Davis v. Hays, 89 Ala. 563, 8 So. 131.

A record of the debtor's former examination in supplementary proceedings is admissible to prove his admissions that he had at that time other property which he withheld from the levying officer, notwithstanding that on the examination the debtor had no opportunity by cross-examination to explain the omission, and notwithstanding that the proceeding was between parties other than those in the present controversy. Hasloge v. Hoover, 16 Ohio Cir. Ct. 570, 9 Ohio Cir. Dec. 404.

If the other property is in another county the debtor can have his exemption in the property levied on without bringing the other property from the other county (Anderson v. Ege, 44 Minn. 216, 46 N. W. 362), especially where the property in the other county is held under execution by the sheriff in that county (Keefer v. Guffin, 38 Ill. App. 622).

94. Vaughan v. Thompson, 17 Ill. 78.

95. Amend v. Murphy, 69 Ill. 337; Stirman v. Smith, 10 S. W. 131, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 665. In Bonnell v. Bowman, 53 Ill. 460, 462, it was held that where the officer levied upon property specifically exempt and the levy was made without the debtor's knowledge, the debtor must offer to surrender other property not exempt before he can claim his exemption in the property levied on.

96. Ehle v. Deitz, 32 Ill. App. 547; Cook v. Bohl, 8 Ill. App. 293.

In Alabama an inventory is not necessary in case of garnishment under Code, § 2533. Decatur Mercantile Co. v. Deford, 93 Ala. 347, 9 So. 454.

In Georgia only when exemption in personalty is claimed is a schedule necessary under Code, §§ 203, 205. Atwater v. Respess, 97 Ga. 283, 22 S. E. 1000.

In Indiana this was not necessary under 2 Rev. St. 336. Mark v. State, 15 Ind. 98.

In Michigan the officer must make the schedule. Town v. Elmore, 38 Mich. 305.

Against an alias execution the schedule and affidavit must be made. Weller v. Moore, 50 Ark. 253, 7 S. W. 130 [following Euper v. Alkire, 37 Ark. 283]. Contra, Lafferty v. Sistalla, 11 Wyo. 360, 72 Pac. 192. See, however, supra, VI, C, 2, a, (i).

A non-resident who by law has the benefit of the exemption statutes of the state, and who desires an exemption of his property from execution, must make a schedule. Menzie v. Kelly, 8 Ill. App. 259.

It is essential to the validity of a schedule filed by the wife for the purpose of having the property of her husband set apart as exempt under Ga. Civ. Code, § 866 et seq., that it affirmatively appear that the husband refused to file the same, otherwise the schedule as recorded is void and may be collaterally attacked. Hirsch v. Stimson, 112 Ga. 348, 37 S. E. 365. Failure of the wife to include in the schedule what was given her by her husband will not vitiate her application when it does not appear that the gift was made in anticipation of application and for the purpose of fraudulent conveyance or concealment. Wood v. Collins, 111 Ga. 32, 36 S. E. 423.

97. Schumann v. Pilcher, 36 Ill. App. 43 (where it was held that the writing by an execution debtor of his name in the body of the affidavit attached to the schedule was a sufficient signing of both the schedule and the affidavit); Cook v. Bohl, 8 Ill. App. 293.

98. Casper v. People, 6 Ill. App. 28. See also Cook v. Bohl, 8 Ill. App. 293.

Although a verbal claim is sufficient to perfect the debtor's right in his work horse, yet an affidavit is necessary if the debtor wishes to retain his right of action against the officer who sells in spite of his claim. Simpson v. Simpson, 30 Ala. 225.

An affidavit that the debtor believes the property to be exempt is insufficient unless it is added that his belief is founded on a knowledge of law or advice of counsel. Roberts v. Willard, 1 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 100, under N. Y. Code Proc. § 182. The code re-tory and appraisement need not be made in all the counties where the debtor has property.[99]

(II) Form, Requisites, and Sufficiency.[1] In making the schedule or inventory[2] or the affidavit[3] the statutory requirements must be substantially and definitely followed. To entitle the debtor to exemption in any of the articles scheduled, he must make claim therefor,[4] and in many jurisdictions his schedule must show that the claimant is a resident of the state,[5] and in some the head of a family.[6] It must appear by the affidavit that the debt against which exemption is claimed was contracted subsequent to the passage of the exemption laws.[7] If the exemption is claimed on the ground that the debt did not arise out of the contract, this must be clearly alleged.[8] The debtor is generally required to set out his different articles of property with particularity.[9] The property claimed quirement was that the debtor must "show" that the property is by statute exempt. To "show" means more than simply to allege. The right to the exemption must be shown by stating facts which constitute the exemption. Spaulding v. Spaulding, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 297, 1 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 64.

Alleged perjury in the affidavit is no ground for refusal of the sheriff to set apart the property claimed if the schedule is sworn to and the claim is in substantial accordance with the requirements of the statute. Over v. Shannon, 91 Ind. 99. The officer can question the validity of neither the signature nor the affidavit filed by the debtor. Smith v. Johnson, 43 Nebr. 754, 62 N. W. 217. Nor can he question the correctness of the schedule. State v. Cunningham, 6 Nebr. 90.

A wife's affidavit made in her husband's absence is not insufficient for a trifling and immaterial informality. Astley v. Capron, 89 Ind. 167. That she adds to her affidavit, which is itself sufficient in law, the statement that there may be something that her husband owns in some other state, of which she had no knowledge, will not defeat the claim for exemption. Eisenhauer v. Dill, 6 Ind. App. 188, 33 N. E. 220. Where a wife swears in her affidavit that the property claimed is her husband's, the effect is the same as though she had made the averment in the petition, although it was omitted therefrom. Cartwright v. Bessman, 73 Ga. 189.

99. Alvord v. Lent, 23 Mich. 369.

1. Acceptance of a schedule without objection by the constable to its form or substance precludes him from afterward saying that it was not in compliance with the law. McClellan v. Powell, 109 Ill. App. 222.

2. Alabama.— Mitchell v. Corbin, 91 Ala. 599, 3 So. 810; Block v. George, 83 Ala. 178, 4 So. 836; McBrayer v. Dillard, 49 Ala. 174.

Arkansas.— Settles v. Bond, 49 Ark. 114, 4 S. W. 286; Healy v. Conner, 40 Ark. 352.

Illinois.— Finlen v. Howard, 126 Ill. 259, 18 N. E. 560; Ehle v. Deitz, 32 Ill. App. 547; Biggs v. McKenzie, 16 Ill. App. 286; Chapin v. Hoel, 11 Ill. App. 309; Cook v. Bohl, 8 Ill. App. 293; Blair v. Parker, 4 Ill. App. 409.

Indiana.— Guerin v. Kraner, 97 Ind. 533; Barkley v. Mahon, 95 Ind. 101.

Nebraska.— Mann v. Welton, 21 Nebr. 541, 32 N. W. 599.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 137.

The omission of the words "within and without the state" did not invalidate the inventory where the affidavit contained a full account of all the debtor's property and alleged that no property had since been disposed of. Gregory v. Latchem, 53 Ind. 449.

3. Kahn v. Hayes, 22 Ind. App. 182, 53 N. E. 430.

In Illinois the debtor need swear, when making his affidavit, that the schedule contains a list of all his personal property only on the day of the date of the oath. Taylor v. Beach, 14 Ill. App. 259.

In Iowa a notice of claim to attach property was required to be under oath only when the claim was made by a third person. Glover v. Narey, 92 Iowa 286, 60 N. W. 531.

In Nebraska the affidavit must set out that the schedule was complete and correct, that claimant is a resident of the state, the head of a family, and not possessed of lands, town lots, or houses exempt as a homestead under the laws of the state. Neligh First Nat. Bank v. Lancaster, 54 Nebr. 467, 74 N. W. 858. An affidavit to this effect must negative the possession of any of these, and if it fails to do so it will be insufficient. Kilpatrick-Koch Dry Goods Co. v. Callender, 34 Nebr. 727, 52 N. W. 403.

4. Guise v. State, 41 Ark. 249. See also Porter v. Navin, 52 Ark. 352, 12 S. W. 705.

5. Guise v. State, 41 Ark. 249. See also Porter v. Navin, 52 Ark. 352, 12 S. W. 705; Neligh First Nat. Bank v. Lancaster, 54 Nebr. 467, 74 N. W. 858.

6. Neligh First Nat. Bank v. Lancaster, 54 Nebr. 467, 74 N. W. 858. Contra, Webster v. McGauvran, 8 N. D. 274, 78 N. W. 80.

7. Ely v. Blacker, 112 Ala. 311, 20 So. 570.

8. Huffman v. Thompson, 64 Ark. 196, 41 S. W. 428, holding that an affidavit alleging that "the attachment was for a debt not due upon contract," shows that the debt sued for was under a contract, but was not due.

9. Alabama.— Pinkus v. Bamberger, 99 Ala. 266, 13 So. 578.

Arkansas.— Friedman v. Sullivan, 48 Ark. 213, 2 S. W. 785.

Illinois.—McClellan v. Powell, 109 Ill.

as exempt should be described so that it can be identified by the appraisers and officer.[10] Although property not included in the schedule is not exempt,[11] the omission of some articles affects none of the debtor's rights to exemption in the articles actually scheduled,[12] especially where the omission is not done through fraudulent intent.[13] The inventory and the claim should be verified at the very time they are filed and not before.[14]

(III) AMENDMENT. In some states an officer is not liable for refusing to allow an execution debtor to amend his schedule.[15] But the mere fact that the debtor delivered his schedule unsigned through inadvertence does not prevent him from enforcing his right to exemption claimed therein, where he subsequently offered to sign the schedule or make another.[16] The debtor cannot amend his petition for exemption by striking anything thence.[17] A mistake of law in scheduling an article of property does not authorize an amendment.[18]

e. Time of — (I) EXECUTION AND PROCESS GENERALLY — (A) At or Near Time of Levy. The proper time to claim an exemption would seem to be at the time of the levy or within a reasonable time thereafter, and so a number of authorities hold.[19] The question of what is a reasonable time is ordinarily one for the App. 222; Moffett v. Sheehey, 52 Ill. App. 376.

Nebraska.— Farquhar v. Hibben, 38 Nebr. 556, 57 N. W. 290.

United States.— In re Wilson, 108 Fed. 197, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 287.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 147.

10. Driggs v. Roth, 97 Ill. App. 39.

11. See Brown v. Edmonds, 5 S. D. 508, 59 N. W. 731, under Comp. Laws, § 5130.

12. Horton v. Smith, 46 Ill. App. 241; Berry v. Hanks, 28 Ill. App. 51; Douch v. Rahuer, 61 Ind. 64; Paddock v. Balgord, 2 S. D. 100, 48 N. W. 840; Mikkleson v. Parker, 3 Wash. Terr. 527, 19 Pac. 31.

13. Wagner v. Olson, 3 N. D. 69, 54 N. W. 286.

14. Young v. Hubbard, 102 Ala. 373, 14 So. 569, under Code, §§ 2525, 2533.

15. Blair v. Parker, 4 Ill. App. 409, holding this to be so whether the debtor had omitted certain articles of his property therefrom through fraud or inadvertence.

A schedule filed by a wife under Ga. Civ. Code, § 2867, providing that the wife, in case the husband refuses to file a schedule of property exempt from execution, may file such schedule in his stead, is not later amendable by changing it to make it claim property as exempt as the property of the wife as head of the family, based on the idea that she was living separate from her husband and had a minor child. Ozburn v. Flurnoy, 109 Ga. 704, 35 S. E. 139.

16. Langston v. Murphy, 31 Ill. App. 188.

If the constable swears the debtor to the schedule and then carries the schedule away, he cannot question its validity on account of the lack of the debtor's signature. Cooper v. Payne, 36 Ill. App. 155.

17. McWilliams v. Bones, 84 Ga. 199, 10 S. E. 723, holding that the code only permits him to add omitted articles.

An objection to the schedule that it omitted property owned by the head of the family, some of which consisted of debts owing to him by persons unknown to the objector, without further specifying or describing the property charged to have been omitted was properly disallowed for want of fullness and certainty. Wood v. Collins, 111 Ga. 32, 36 S. E. 423.

18. Brown v. Edmonds, 5 S. D. 508, 59 N. W. 731.

19. Gavitt v. Doub, 23 Cal. 78 [following Booland v. O'Neal, 22 Cal. 504]; MacVeagh v. Bailey, 29 Ill. App. 606; Johnston v. Willey, 21 Ill. App. 354; Blair v. Parker, 4 Ill. App. 409; Zielke v. Morgan, 50 Wis. 560, 7 N. W. 651. See also Brooks v. Hathaway, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 290; Dale v. McAline, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 34 (holding that a claim is in time, if verbally made when the sheriff presented the execution and followed up by written notice a few days afterward); Lenning v. Taylor, 18 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 94 (holding that where defendant had knowledge of an attachment in March, but did not technically appear until June, a claim of exemption made after that date is too late).

If not at so late a time as to postpone the sale, a demand of appraisement and exemption should be made after the time of the levy, although the proper time is when the levy is made. Dieffenderfer v. Fisher, 3 Grant (Pa.) 30 [citing Hammer v. Freese, 19 Pa. St. 255].

Against distress.— Under the Pennsylvania act of May 13, 1876, exempting musical instruments leased or hired from execution or distress for rent, the notice required by the act must be given when the leased instrument was put upon the premises; and when given after levy of distraint it is too late. McGeary v. Mellor, 87 Pa. St. 461. In Lindley v. Miller, 67 Ill. 244, it is said that as against a distress for rent a claim is of no avail unless selection is made in proper time and the property demanded before the suit in replevin.

A claim by a widow at the time of the levy is in time where the husband died pending a suit to recover a debt contracted for family necessaries, the wife having become the head jury.[20] The debtor is not bound to file a claim until he has notice of levy or until a reasonable time after receiving notice,[21] unless, as is the case in some states, he must file his claim within a certain number of days after notice.[22] The fact that defendant is present at the time of the levy has been held not to make it necessary that he make claim exactly then.[23] If the debtor is misled by the officer, he may file his schedule after the time prescribed by law.[24]

(B) Before Sale or Advertisement. In many jurisdictions the claim may be made at any time before sale of property on execution,[25] and generally it of the family on the death of the husband. White v. Wilson, 106 Mo. App. 406, 80 S. W. 692, the contention being that the wife's claim was res judicata under Rev. St. (1899) § 4340, which provided that separate property of a wife might be subjected to execution for a debt of the husband contracted for family necessaries, but that before execution should be levied on the property of the wife she should be made a party to the action and all questions involved should be therein determined.

Where upon the severance of a partnership, an individual partner makes his claim before the sale under an attachment of the partnership goods, the claim is made in time, although seventeen days after the seizure of the partnership goods, for the partners were entitled to a reasonable time to sever their interests and claim their exemptions after the seizure. Ladwig v. Williams, 87 Wis. 615, 58 N. W. 1103.

In Michigan, since the officer is required by law to appraise the goods and set aside so much as is exempt, the debtor is not obliged to claim at the time of the levy. Vanderhorst v. Bacon, 38 Mich. 669, 31 Am. Rep. 328.

20. Johnston v. Willey, 21 Ill. App. 354; Brooks v. Hathaway, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 290.

21. Behler's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 324, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 393, where claim was not filed until eight months after levy. See also Hart v. Hart, 167 Pa. St. 13, 31 Atl. 352; Howard Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 102 Pa. St. 220.

22. See Furrow v. Zollars, 8 S. D. 522, 67 N. W. 612, holding that under Comp. Laws, § 5135, as amended by Laws (1893), c. 19, which provides that the debtor must claim the benefit of his exemptions within five days after notice of the levy, the time for making the claim is not extended by the pendency of an action of replevin by a third person to recover the property levied upon, and to which the debtor is not a party.

Claim by wife.— In the absence of a law limiting the time within which the wife must exercise the statutory exemption right in case her husband fails to do so within three days after receiving a notice of levy, a reasonable time thereafter will be allowed her in which to claim property exempt to herself and family, and thirty-two days under the circumstances was held reasonable. Noyes v. Belding, 5 S. D. 603, 59 N. W. 1060.

23. Ellsworth v. Savre, 67 Iowa 449, 25 N. W. 699; Close v. Sinclair, 38 Ohio St. 530; Muse v. Darrah, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 604, 4 West. L. Month. 149 (where the court said that ordinarily the claim should be made at the time of levy if the debtor be present, but that this is not necessary under all circumstances); Bittenger's Appeal, 76 Pa. St. 105; Landis v. Lyon, 71 Pa. St. 473. Contra, Dieffenderfer v. Fisher, 3 Grant (Pa.) 30.

24. Morrissey v. Feeley, 36 Ill. App. 556. See also Pelkey v. People, 11 Ill. App. 82, holding that where an officer demanded property to satisfy an execution and gave the execution debtor three days to make a schedule and at the end of the three days the officer gave the debtor further time in which to see the execution creditor, he should have been allowed a reasonable time after failure of negotiations to make the schedule, good faith requiring this of the officer.

25. Alabama.— Boylston v. Rankin, 114 Ala. 408, 21 So. 995, 62 Am. St. Rep. 111, under Code, §§ 2520, 2521.

Arizona.— Wilson v. Lowry, (1898) 52 Pac. 777, under Rev. St. § 1956.

Indiana.— State v. Read, 94 Ind. 103; Pate v. Swann, 7 Blackf. 500; Stout v. Price, 24 Ind. App. 360, 55 N. E. 964, 56 N. E. 857.

Kansas.— Gardner v. King, 37 Kan. 671, 15 Pac. 920.

Missouri.— State v. Emerson, 74 Mo. 607.

Nebraska.— Crans v. Cunningham, 13 Nebr. 204, 13 N. W. 176.

North Carolina.— Pate v. Harper, 94 N. C. 23; Shepherd v. Murrill, 90 N. C. 208; Hathaway v. Floyd, 33 N. C. 496.

Pennsylvania.— A claim made four days before the sale will not be held too late, in the absence of proof that debtor had earlier notice of the levy. Kee v. Hobensack, 2 Phila. 82.

Washington.— State v. Gardner, 32 Wash. 550, 73 Pac. 690, 98 Am. St. Rep. 858, within any reasonable time before sale. See also Messenger v. Murphy, 33 Wash. 353, 74 Pac. 480.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 145.

In Ohio, 70 Laws, 51, provides that the selection by the debtor may be made "at any time before sale." Close v. Sinclair, 38 Ohio St. 530. The right to select and demand property in lieu of a homestead exemption may be asserted at any time before the fund therefrom comes into the custody of the court. Hoover v. Haslage, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 98. A notice of demand four days before the sale, which described the property and claimed to have set off out of it the amount to which in lieu of a homestead plaintiff was entitled was sufficient. Long v.

must be before the sale if the debtor has notice.[26] In fairness it should be made before the beginning of the sale;[27] and in some states even before the advertisement of the sale,[28] and if made before that it is in time.[29] These rulings are based on the just principle that an exemption should be allowed when it can be done without prejudice to creditors and therefore the claim should not be delayed until costs which might have been avoided have been incurred.[30] If no costs or expenses have been incurred, the strict rule will not be enforced against the debtor.[31] Although it would follow that a claim out of the proceeds in court would be too late,[32] nevertheless there are circumstances which have been held sufficient to allow a claim then made.[33]

Hoban, 7 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 688, 4 Cinc. L. Bul. 986.

26. Com. v. Burnett, 44 S. W. 966, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1836 (where the claim was for sufficient provisions for family); Fackler v. Bale, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 171. This is so at least if the debtor has property in excess of the exemption allowed by law. Harrington v. Smith, 14 Colo. 376, 23 Pac. 331, 20 Am. St. Rep. 272, under Gen. St. (1883) p. 601, § 32. The statutory exemption of personal property on behalf of the widow and minor children must, when the property is not in their possession, and although the entire personal estate does not exceed the statutory allowance, be claimed by them before a valid sale thereof has been made by the personal representative, or the exemption will be deemed waived. Chandler v. Chandler, 87 Ala. 300, 6 So. 153.

Lack of notice.— Where defendant files a declaration of exemption of personal property, and plaintiffs make affidavit and give bond for a contest and attachment issues, but written notice of the levy is not served on defendant as required by Ala. Code, § 2520, defendant is not bound to contest; and where he voluntarily enters his appearance and files an inventory of his personalty, it is error for the court to strike it from the files and render judgment against him became the inventory was not filed sooner. Bledsoe v. Gary, 95 Ala. 70, 10 So. 502.

After the assignee has converted or sold the goods of a debtor who assigned for the benefit of creditors it is too late to make claim. Pilling v. Stewart, 4 Brit. Col. 94.

27. State v. Boulden, 57 Md. 314; Rogers v. Waterman, 25 Pa. St. 182; Hammer v. Freese, 19 Pa. St. 255 [reversing 5 Pa. L. J. Rep. 153]. Contra, State v. Emmerson, 74 Mo. 607. A claim the day of sale of the property under execution is too late. Diehl v. Holben, 39 Pa. St. 213; Stewart's Appeal, 7 Pa. Cas. 46, 10 Atl. 833. See Dieffenderfer v. Fisher, 3 Grant (Pa.) 30, where claim was made a half hour before sale.

In Kansas the mere failure of the debtor to make claim until the morning preceding the sale made by an officer upon an order of attachment is not a waiver. Rice v. Nolan, 33 Kan. 28, 5 Pac. 437.

In Missouri the last day but one before the sale is the latest the debtor can make claim. Linck v. Troll, 84 Mo. App. 49.

28. Com. v. Boyd, 56 Pa. St. 402; Fackler v. Bale, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 171; Johnston Harvester Co. v. Fite, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 415; Kensel v. Kern, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 86; Kern v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 183; Keiper v. Cochenauer, 7 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 94. Contra, State v. Carson, 27 Nebr. 501, 43 N. W. 361, 20 Am. St. Rep. 681, 9 L. R. A. 523. This is so unless there are special circumstances, such as absence from home or ignorance of the levy, operating as an excuse for the delay. Diehl v. Holben, 39 Pa. St. 213. Even absence from home is not an excuse, for in such case his wife or next friend can give notice. Boas v. Fendler, 2 Pearson (Pa.) 361. See also Kern v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 183. Generally a claim for the benefit of the exemption is too late after defendant's property has been levied upon and duly advertised for sale by the sheriff. Hubbard v. Evarts, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 132. In the case of an attachment on chattels, the claim of an exemption must be made in time not to delay the sale or to require new advertisements. Yost v. Heffner, 69 Pa. St. 68. Where notice of distress is given on the second of the month, and the appraisement is made on the eighth, and the sale is advertised for the fourteenth, a demand made on the eighth, the day the advertisement was posted, was not made in time. Rosenberger v. Hallowell, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 330. Where no inquisition is required by law in proceedings for the sale of property, a request for appraisement to obtain the benefit of a three-hundred-dollar exemption from the proceeds of the sale, as provided by the Pennsylvania act of April 9, 1849, should be made before advertisement of the sale. Bowyer's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 210.

29. Com. v. Boyd, 56 Pa. St. 402. See also Scott v. Kerlin, 1 Del. Co. (Pa.) 545.

30. Williamson v. Krumbhaar, 132 Pa. St. 455, 19 Atl. 281; Cornman's Appeal, 90 Pa. St. 254; Moore v. McMorrow, 5 Pa. Super. Ct. 559.

31. Williamson v. Krumbhaar, 132 Pa. St. 455, 19 Atl. 281. See also Snyder v. Schmick, 166 Pa. St. 429, 31 Atl. 124; Cornman's Appeal, 90 Pa. St. 254; Elliott v. Flanigan, 37 Pa. St. 425; Weir's Estate, 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 187; Johnston Harvester Co. v. Fite, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 415.

32. Lancaster Trust Co. v. Gouchenauer, 6 Pa. Super. Ct. 209 [following Moore v. McMorrow, 5 Pa. Super. Ct. 559].

33. As when the officer levying execution does not notify the judgment debtor of his

(II) Garnishment, Attachment-Execution, or Trustee Process.[34] The claim must be made at the term at which process is returnable.[35] If the claim is made on trial between the attachment creditor and the garnishee it is too late.[36] A claim made after judgment against the garnishee is of course too late, if the debtor has notice of the garnishment or attachment.[37] If the debtor has not had notice or has not been served he may and must make his claim within a reasonable time after notice.[38]

(III) Attachment Proceedings. After final judgment in attachment for exemptions. Rolla State Bank v. Borgfeld, 93 Mo. App. 62. See also Calloway v. Calloway, 39 S. W. 241, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 870.

A claim for exemption out of a life-estate cannot be considered until the funds collected by the sequestrator are ready for distribution. Darby First Nat. Bank v. Harkins, 8 Del. Co. (Pa.) 134.

Where there has been no appraisement of real estate under a claim of exemption, although the claim was made, defendant cannot come upon the fund raised by the sale of the property. The debtor's only remedy in such a case is by action against the officer. Kershner v. Miller, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 51. The same principle is recognized in the sale of personal property. In the case of real estate, this is accomplished by requiring the claim for exemption to be made before inquisition, while, in the case of personal property, the same end is accomplished by requiring the demand to be made before the day of sale, and probably before the advertisements are issued. McCloskey v. Moulder, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 156, 159.

Before appraisement or inquisition.— Notice by a judgment debtor of his claim under the three-hundred-dollar exemption law may be given at any time before inquisition made. Bowyer's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 210; Brant's Appeal, 20 Pa. St. 141; Weaver's Appeal, 18 Pa. St. 307; Miller's Appeal, 16 Pa. St. 300; McCloskey v. Moulder, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 156; Kern v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 183; Com. v. Springer, 13 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 305; Kershner v. Miller, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 51.

34. Premature claim.— When a rule for judgment against the garnishee upon his answer is undisposed of, a claim for exemption out of moneys in his hands is premature. Leibfried v. Morrisey, 9 Pa. Dist. 740.

35. If then the claim is made at the time that the garnishee files his answer it is in time. Kuhn v. Warren Sav. Bank, 7 Pa. Cas. 432, 11 Atl. 440; Holmes v. Pettingill, 4 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 495; Hilbronner v. Sternberger, 4 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 186, where the claim was put forward in the answer of the garnishee. If the claim is made before the garnishee has answered the interrogatories propounded by plaintiff it is in time. Heathcote v. Crassly, 9 Pa. Dist. 137; Evans v. Evans, 13 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 164; McKenna v. Lucas, 21 R. I. 509, 45 Atl. 101. If not made until after the filing of the answer to the interrogatories it is too late. Pugh v. Bresnahan, 4 Kulp (Pa.) 311; Malany v. Entriken, 7 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 374. A claim of exemption in attachment execution is made too late when raised by a plea to the scire facias against the garnishee. Strouse v. Becker, 44 Pa. St. 206.

After defendant in garnishment has given bonds for dissolution of the garnishment and the fund has been paid over to him by the garnishee, he may interpose his claim. Skews v. Vancleave, 119 Ala. 418, 24 So. 850 [following Guilford v. Reeves, 103 Ala. 301, 15 So. 661].

36. Bancord v. Parker, 65 Pa. St. 336; Zimmerman v. Briner, 50 Pa. St. 535.

37. Randolph v. Little, 62 Ala. 396 [overruling Webb v. Edwards, 46 Ala. 17]; State v. Judge, 39 La. Ann. 622, 2 So. 425; New Mexico Nat. Bank v. Brooks, 9 N. M. 113, 49 Pac. 947; Eichert v. Schmitt, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 454; Huber v. Ritter, 2 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 24. Contra, Blass v. Erber, 65 Ark. 112, 44 S. W. 1128, 67 Am. St. Rep. 907 [following Robinson v. Swearingen, 55 Ark. 55, 17 S. W. 365], holding that the claim may be asserted at any time before sale.

Where the issues in an action to set aside an alleged fraudulent conveyance have been submitted and special findings have been made and filed the right to exemption cannot be raised. McNally v. White, 154 Ind. 163, 54 N. E. 794, 56 N. E. 214. In Cunningham v. Duncan, 5 Pa. Dist. 574, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 250, 12 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 181, it was held that after attachment had been levied under the fraudulent debtor's act defendant might make his claim and have appraisement made without waiting until the entry of judgment.

Where a claim was presented against the estate of a decedent garnishee and allowed, an application by defendant thereafter for exemption comes too late. Downing's Estate, 5 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 544. See also Morris v. Shafer, 93 Pa. St. 489, where a claim was not allowed after an arbitration and where costs had been allowed to pile up previously.

38. Hayes v. Lentz, 8 Pa. Dist. 625, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 39; Cochran v. Rockhill, 2 Del. Co. (Pa.) 4, where attachment issued in November and the debtor in January upon having notice of the garnishment gave notice of his claims. The fact that the claim is not made at the term at which the writ is returnable (Howard Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 102 Pa. St. 220) or not until interrogatories and the rule on the garnishee were filed (Field v. Streeton, the sale of the property attached, it is too late for the attachment defendant to claim the property as exempt from sale.[39]

(iv) Foreclosure and Other Proceedings.[40] In those jurisdictions allowing an exemption as against a mortgage, the mortgagor should assert his claim at the hearing for the appointment of a receiver.[41] He cannot make claim after the mortgaged property has been ordered to be sold.[42] As against other creditors, a claim made within a reasonable time after the sale, to establish the statutory quantum in the surplus proceeds, is good.[43] If an estate is solvent it is too late for the widow to make application for an allowance in lieu of property not subject to forced sale after the estate is ready for partition and distribution among the heirs.[44]

f. Presentation, Delivery, and Filing of Claim, Inventory, Etc. It is a usual provision that the inventory or schedule must be filed or delivered to the officer.[45] When execution process is issued by a justice, the schedule should be filed with the justice.[46] If the inventory which is required by statute to be filed is not filed, plaintiff is entitled, without tendering issue, to an order subjecting the property to process.[47] Leaving the schedule at a place designated by the officer[48] or with the officer's wife with instructions to deliver it to him[49] has been held sufficient. Where notice to plaintiff is required[50] the voluntary appearance of a creditor to contest the right to exemption is a waiver of the notice which has not been given to him.[51]

16 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 457) is immaterial so long as the debtor makes his claim within a reasonable time after having notice.

39. Haas v. Shaw, 91 Ind. 384, 46 Am. Rep. 607; Perkins v. Bragg, 29 Ind. 507; State v. Manly, 15 Ind. 8. See, however, supra, VI, C, 2, e, (I), (B).

Where goods which have been clandestinely removed were attached under the Pennsylvania act of March 17, 1869, and, as they were perishable, sold by order of court, the claim for exemption is premature before judgment rendered and the order of sale was not a judgment. Martin v. Magarry, 8 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 145.

40. After payment under court's order.— Where defendant in a pending action was by the court, on the application of a creditor of plaintiff, ordered to hold subject to the court's order any sum for which plaintiff might obtain judgment, and the court ordered defendant to pay the creditor's claim when plaintiff secured a judgment, after payment it is too late to claim exemption of the judgment in lieu of homestead, although an adjustment of an excessive payment is still to be made by plaintiff's creditor. Green v. Fischer, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 1138, 10 Am. L. Rec. 570.

41. Storm v. Ermantrout, 89 Ind. 214, holding that he is not entitled to claim as exempt from execution rents accruing from mortgaged property, where a decree has been rendered adjudging that the mortgagee is entitled to the rents, appointing a receiver, and directing him to collect and apply the rents to the mortgage debt.

42. Slaughter v. Detiney, 15 Ind. 49.

Whether claim against a mortgage can be made see supra, V, A, 1, c, (I).

43. In re Bremer, 4 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 80. But see Gibbons v. Cutler, 2 Del. Co. (Pa.) 214, holding that a claim of exemption, made after a sale in proceedings on a mortgage, is too late as against a judgment creditor claiming the balance of the fund.

Where the surplus was paid into court and an auditor appointed to make distribution and the audit allowed to proceed to its close before defendant claimed his exemption, he was too late. Gibbons v. Gaffney, 154 Pa. St. 48, 26 Atl. 24.

44. Little v. Birdwell, 27 Tex. 688.

45. See Garrett v. Wade, 46 Ark. 493; Doyle v. Hall, 86 Ill. App. 163; Swenson v. Christoferson, 10 S. D. 188, 72 N. W. 459, 66 Am. St. Rep. 712.

The filing of a petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court is not equivalent to delivering a schedule to the officer having the execution or filing it in the court whence the writ issued. Doyle v. Hall, 86 Ill. App. 163.

Time of filing.— Exemption claims against garnishment are governed wholly by Ala. Code, § 2533, providing that the debtor may file a claim with the inventory required in section 2525 at any time before condemnation. The time in which the claim may be filed is not governed by section 2525. Roden v. Brown, 103 Ala. 324, 15 So. 598. See supra, VI, C, 2, e, (I), (B).

46. Taylor v. Tomlinson, 65 Ark. 544, 45 S. W. 544.

47. Ex p. Redd, 73 Ala. 548.

48. Miller v. Rolen, 39 Ill. App. 350.

49. Bryan v. Kelly, 85 Ala. 569, 5 So. 346.

50. Leibfried v. Morrisey, 9 Pa. Dist. 740. See supra, VI, C, 2, c.

A notice of filing is not required if the claim is made by affidavit. Bassett v. Inman, 7 Colo. 270, 3 Pac. 383.

51. Garrett v. Wade, 46 Ark. 493.

g. Determination of — (I) Selection — (A) Necessity and Right of. Where a debtor possesses a number of articles, some part or some one of which the law exempts, it is his right and duty to select which one or which part he wishes to retain under the law.[52] If the debtor refuses to make his selection, he cannot afterward complain, if any of his property is taken and sold.[53] No selection is necessary if the debtor's property, either in number or in value, is less than the amount allowed him by law, as the case may need to be considered under the law.[54] The debtor may select any particular property seized, within the amount allowed by statute.[55] The fact that he has other property is immaterial.[56] If a part of the debtor's property is subject to mortgage he may claim his exemption from that portion which is not encumbered[57] — at least he will not be compelled 52. Alabama.— Ross v. Hannah, 18 Ala. 125.

Iowa.— Parker v. Haley, 60 Iowa 325, 14 N. W. 359.

Kentucky.— See Westerland v. Moreland, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 324.

Maryland.— State v. Boulden, 57 Md. 314.

Michigan.— Town v. Elmore, 38 Mich. 305.

New York.— Finnin v. Malloy, 33 N. Y. Super. Ct. 382.

Ohio.— Frost v. Shaw, 3 Ohio St. 270.

Oregon.— Thibault v. Lennon, 39 Oreg. 280, 64 Pac. 449, 87 Am. St. Rep. 657.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 154.

If levy is made in the debtor's absence he may make selection on his return. Haskins v. Bennett, 41 Vt. 698.

If the debtor's property be indivisible and exceed the statutory allowance, the debtor cannot retain the property by paying the excess to the officer. Cook v. Scott, 6 Ill. 333. But where the property is separable, the debtor may take a portion of it; thus the debtor may select from a mower and its reaper attachment the mower alone, where the attachment and the mower are separable and his selection does not exceed the statutory requirement. Ramsey v. Barnabee, 88 Ill. 135.

If the officer gives the debtor no opportunity to make a selection, or if the officer denies the debtor's right to any exemption, the right to selection is not lost or waived. Wicker v. Comstock, 52 Wis. 315, 9 N. W. 25. See supra, V.

That the debtor may select from the community property the number of horses allowed by statute as an exemption, instead of choosing the allowed number from the property belonging to his wife's separate estate, see McClelland v. Barnard, (Tex. Civ. App. 1904)) 81 S. W. 591.

The debtor is entitled to one selection only and this must embrace all the property he is entitled to as exempt. Johnson v. Larcade, 110 Ill. App. 611.

53. Davis v. Webster, 59 N. H. 471.

Where an insolvent debtor pointed out to his assignee two articles, part of his estate, but refused to select which one he was to retain, claiming to be entitled to both, he was estopped from maintaining replevin against the assignee for one of the articles taken by the assignee in the belief that it was a part of the estate. McKenzie v. Redman, 87 Me. 322, 32 Atl. 962.

54. Illinois.— Cole v. Green, 21 Ill. 104.

Kentucky.— Stirman v. Smith, 10 S. W. 131, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 665.

Maine.— Bridgton v. Lakin, 53 Me. 106. See also Everett v. Herrin, 46 Me. 357, 74 Am. Dec. 455.

Minnesota.— Howard v. Rugland, 35 Minn. 388, 29 N. W. 63.

Ohio.— Slanker v. Beardsley, 9 Ohio St. 589.

Tennessee.— State v. Haggard, 1 Humphr. 390.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," § 154.

Duty of the officer to notify the debtor of his right to make the selection see supra, VI, B, 2. See also People v. Palmer, 46 Ill. 398, 95 Am. Dec. 418; McCluskey v. McNelly, 8 Ill. 578; Davis v. Williamson, 68 Mo. App. 307 (holding that it was immaterial that the officer did not apprise defendant of his right); Seaman v. Luce, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 240.

55. Bernheim v. Andrews, 65 Miss. 28, 3 So. 75.

The right of election is not divested by a levy on one particular article, but the debtor at any time before sale may elect to retain the article levied on without tendering to the officer the articles which he had omitted to seize under execution. Ross v. Hannah, 18 Ala. 125.

In Pennsylvania a debtor may claim his entire exemption out of real estate levied on, although the creditor failed to levy on personal property which was sufficient to satisfy the entire execution. This rule of course obtains only where the personal property was not concealed or where the debtor's fraudulent conduct did not hinder or delay the creditor. McNair v. Riesher, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 494.

56. Bray v. Laird, 44 Ala. 295; State v. Finn, 8 Mo. App. 261; Lockwood v. Younglove, 27 Barb. (N. Y.) 505.

Under a statute exempting a working team used by debtor in his business, a debtor may choose either one of two teams he possesses. Finnin v. Malloy, 33 N. Y. Super. Ct. 382.

57. Baldwin v. Talbot, 43 Mich. 11, 4 N. W. 547 [citing Bayne v. Patterson, 40 Mich. 658]. See also Ganong v. Green, 71 Mich. 1, 38 to accept his exemption out of the encumbered property at its full value.[58] If the officer does not give the debtor opportunity to make selection before sale he may elect the property sold and sue for its value.[59]

(B) Who May Make. Selection may be made by the debtor, his agent, clerk, or legal representative.[60] The debtor's wife under certain circumstances has the right to make the selection.[61]

(C) What Constitutes. As a general rule any method of selection which the officer cannot or under the circumstances ought not to misunderstand is sufficient.[62] Concealment or removal of property out of reach of process,[63] an objection to the levy upon a particular piece of property in question,[64] a bill of sale of a particular piece of property,[65] and a motion to the court to discharge money held under a garnishment[66] have all been held sufficient to constitute a designation or selection by the debtor. Where a certain portion of a mass is claimed, it is sufficient to select an amount from the mass which will equal the value allowed by the statute.[67] A mere demand of the debtor's right to select has been held not equivalent to making a selection.[68]

(D) Time of. In some jurisdictions if the debtor is properly notified[69] or requested by the sheriff he must make his selection before or at the time of the

N. W. 661, holding that the mortgagee of the debtor may as against the execution creditor properly release from his mortgage property selected by the debtor as exempt.

58. Rice v. Nolan, 33 Kan. 28, 5 Pac. 437.

Where a prior mortgage covers exempt and non-exempt property, the mortgagor can require the mortgagee in foreclosure to first exhaust the non-exempt property. Baughn v. Allen, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 68 S. W. 207; Saunders v. Phillips, 62 Vt. 331, 20 Atl. 104.

59. Stilson v. Gibbs, 53 Mich. 280, 18 N. W. 815.

If the debtor sues the officer for taking a certain piece of his property, he must show that he had exercised his right by selecting the piece sued for. Howard v. Farr, 18 N. H. 457; Chamberlain v. Whitney, 65 Vt. 428, 27 Atl. 72.

In Canada.— In execution of a judgment against a carter the bailiff left with him a horse and a carriage and seized all his other effects, which were sold. After the sale the bailiff seized another carriage which had been left with another person for repairs and of which he knew nothing at the time of the first seizure. The debtor then made a declaration that he would choose and keep the carriage last seized, and offered to return the one formerly left with him to be sold in its place. The bailiff having refused this offer, the debtor signified to his creditor an opposition afin d'annuler. It was held that the debtor, although he had stated to the bailiff in regard to the carriage left at the first seizure that he had nothing but that to enable him to gain a living, had not exercised the choice accorded to him by statute, and was entitled to make such choice when the second carriage was seized. The signature of the debtor to the proces verbal does not establish a choice by him, and if there is no choice the bailiff should seize all the effects, leaving it to the debtor to exercise his rights before the sale, but at his own expense. Filion v. Chabot, 9 Quebec Super Ct. 327.

60. State v. Cunningham, 6 Nebr. 90.

Assignee.— If upon assignment for the benefit of creditors the debtor fails to make selection, the assignee has a right to select such articles as are exempt under the statute. Cloutier v. Georgeson, 13 Manitoba 1.

In Michigan the officer is permitted to make the selection if the execution debtor is absent. Murphy v. Mulvena, 108 Mich. 347, 66 N. W. 224.

61. As where the husband is insane (Ecker v. Lindskog, 12 S. D. 428, 81 N. W. 905, 48 L. R. A. 155), where he refuses to make a selection (Harley v. Procunier, 115 Mich. 53, 72 N. W. 1099, 69 Am. St. Rep. 546, 40 L. R. A. 150), or where he has absconded (Malvin v. Christoph, 54 Iowa 562, 7 N. W. 6). See also State v. Wolf, 81 Mo. App. 586.

62. Northrup v. Cross, 2 N. D. 433, 51 N. W. 718 [citing Thompson Homest. & Exempt. § 834].

63. Ross v. Hannah, 18 Ala. 125; Florida L. & T. Co. v. Crabb, (Fla. 1903) 33 So. 523; Haslage v. Hooer, 16 Ohio Cir. Ct. 570, 9 Ohio Cir. Dec. 404. See also Robinson v. Myers, 3 Dana (Ky.) 441, where it was held that if the debtor has one of his work beasts out of the jurisdiction, although subject to his control, and another in his possession, he cannot select the latter and thus defeat the levy as to both.

64. Clark v. Bond, 7 Baxt. (Tenn.) 288. See also Finnin v. Malloy, 33 N. Y. Super. Ct. 382; Plimpton v. Sprague, 47 Vt. 467.

65. George v. Bassett, 54 Vt. 217.

66. Tombow v. Haskins, 15 Ohio Cir. Ct. 656, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 281.

67. Hill v. Brown, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 80, 1 Clev. L. Rep. 9.

68. Schwartz v. Birnbaum, 21 Colo. 21, 39 Pac. 416; Eisenberg v. Burchinell, 10 Colo. App. 457, 52 Pac. 220.

69. If not notified he may make the selection, at any reasonable time before the sale.

levy.[70] In other jurisdictions he has the absolute right to select any time before sale.[71] In Pennsylvania it is held that the proper time to make selection is after the appraisers have been summoned.[72]

(II) APPRAISEMENT— (A) Necessity of.[73] After the debtor has made his claim of exemption either by schedule or inventory or by any other appropriate way, the officer is usually obliged to have the property levied upon appraised.[74] The act required of the officer is ministerial; he is without discretion in the matter.[75] There are a number of instances where an appraisement is unnecessary; as where property specifically exempt is levied upon;[76] where debts and wages are garnished;[77] where the property in question is money;[78] where the property is not in any sense subject to execution;[79] or where a demand in suit is claimed as exempt against a judgment pleaded in set-off, plaintiff in reply averring that the whole of his property does not exceed the amount of the statutory exemption, setting out his claim by a proper schedule.[80] The debtor's right's are not affected by the failure of the officer to have the appraisement made[81]

McCluskey v. McNeely, 8 Ill. 578. See also Seaman v. Luce, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 240; Frost v. Shaw, 3 Ohio St. 270.

No request by sheriff at trial.— Tex. Rev. St. art. 2427, authorizes the debtor to make his selection within a reasonable time after request to do so by the officer. If the sheriff making the levy does not request defendant to select his exemptions defendant may select at the trial. Hall v. Miller, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 336, 51 S. W. 36.

70. Amend v. Smith, 87 Ill. 198; Wright v. Deyoe, 86 Ill. 490. See also Bingham v. Maxcy, 15 Ill. 290; Colson v. Wilson, 58 Me. 416; Smith v. Chadwick, 51 Me. 515.

Selection must be made within a reasonable time and what is a reasonable time should under the circumstances of the case be submitted to the jury. Brooks v. Hathaway, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 290. A debtor must make his election within a reasonable time; and if he fails so to elect the officer may make an election for him, and he is bound thereby. Savage v. Davis, 134 Mass. 401.

71. State v. Emmerson, 74 Mo. 607. See also Ross v. Hannah, 18 Ala. 125. See supra, VI, C, 2, e.

Selection before the issuance of execution or the rendition of a judgment may be made as against an existing debt. Grover v. Younie, 110 Iowa 448, 81 N. W. 684.

72. Bowman v. Smiley, 31 Pa. St. 225, 72 Am. Dec. 738.

73. Failure of creditor to demand appraisement.— If the debtor furnishes the required schedule of his property and of that which he claimed as exempt and the attachment creditor makes no demand for an appraisement as authorized by the statute within a reasonable time, the sheriff must release the property exempt. State v. Gardner, 32 Wash. 550, 73 Pac. 690, 98 Am. St. Rep. 858. See also American Paper Co. v. Sullivan, 34 Wash. 390, 75 Pac. 991.

74. State v. Kurtzeborn, 2 Mo. App. 335; Neligh First Nat. Bank v. Lancaster, 54 Nebr. 467, 74 N. W. 858; Mann v. Welton, 21 Nebr. 541, 32 N. W. 599.

That the property claimed as exempt was real property and not susceptible of division furnished no defense to a sheriff who was sued on his bond for failure to have the property appraised. State v. Harrington, 33 Mo. App. 476.

Return of nulla bona.— The officer has no right to return the writ, "no goods," although it is plain that the exemption would fully cover all the goods. O'Malley v. Dempsey, 3 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 225.

75. Pudney v. Burkhart, 62 Ind. 179.

If the debtor claims in the manner required by statute, the officer cannot disregard the claim and decline to have an appraisement. Over v. Shannon, 91 Ind. 99.

The fact that the debtor committed perjury in swearing to his schedule is no ground for the officer's selling the real estate without an appraisement, and the purchaser will not obtain a valid title. Over v. Shannon, 91 Ind. 99. See also State v. Cunningham, 6 Nebr. 90.

76. Johnson v. Bartek, 56 Nebr. 422, 76 N. W. 878.

77. State v. Barada, 57 Mo. 562.

78. Peterman's Appeal, 76 Pa. St. 116.

79. Jones v. Motley, 78 Ala. 370.

80. Coppage v. Gregg, 1 Ind. App. 112, 27 N. E. 570.

81. Bender v. Bame, 40 Nebr. 521, 59 N. W. 105; Hill v. Johnston, 29 Pa. St. 362.

In Pennsylvania, where there has been no appraisement and no return that the land levied on could not be divided, the debtor cannot claim out of the proceeds of the real estate. Nyman's Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 447; Kern v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar 183; Pentz v. Rooker, 1 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. 151; Pearson's Appeal, 2 Mona. 678. If the appraisers certify that the land could not be divided the debtor may then claim his exemption out of the proceeds. Coleman's Appeal, 103 Pa. St. 366. At the time of a levy defendant claimed his exemption, but no appraisement was made by the sheriff, who afterward went out of office. At the request of defendant, the next sheriff on the day of the sale had the real estate appraised. It was held that the defendant was entitled to the exemption on the proceeds of the real estate. Seibert's Appeal, 73 Pa. St. 359. And compare Peter-or by his delay in so doing.[82] The debtor may enforce his right to have an appraisement by a suit against the officer for property taken;[83] or he may have mandamus against the officer to compel performance of official duty.[84]

(B) The Appraisers.[85] Under a statute which requires that the debtor shall deliver a schedule to the officer and that "thereupon" the officer shall summon the appraisers, it is the duty of the officer to summon the appraisers without delay;[86] he has no discretion in the matter.[87] A statute which provides that the sheriff or other officer making a levy shall, on demand, summon the appraisers, authorizes a constable levying an execution from a justice's court likewise to summon them.[88] Persons who are fitted to determine the value of the property seized on execution should be appointed;[89] and they must be legally appointed.[90] The only authority of the appraisers is to fix a fair value, by inspection and handling, upon what property they can see.[91]

(C) Conduct and Requisites of.[92] The appraisement should be made in public,[93] and the debtor is entitled to be present.[94] An appraisement made in the absence of part of the scheduled property is invalid.[95] If the appraisement is man's Appeal, 76 Pa. St. 116; Mark's Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 36, 75 Am. Dec. 631.

82. Coleman's Appeal, 103 Pa. St. 366. See Smith v. Dauel, 29 Ill. App. 290, as to the effect of the officer's delay.

83. Bender v. Bame, 40 Nebr. 521, 59 N. W. 105.

84. Neligh First Nat. Bank v. Lancaster, 54 Nebr. 467, 74 N. W. 858, holding that pending the application for the writ the attachment creditor may intervene and join with the officer in resisting the application.

85. Form of oath to be taken by appraisers see N. C. Code, § 524.

86. Smith v. Dauel, 29 Ill. App. 290, holding that the debtor may go from home on the third day, taking a part of the property in question, without forfeiting his rights, where he has no notice of an intended appraisement on that day.

Under a levari facias in Pennsylvania the sheriff has no power to appoint appraisers. See Hill v. Johnston, 29 Pa. St. 362.

The property need not be in view of the officer before he appoints the appraisers, and the fact that the property is in another county will not excuse him from appointing them. Lansden v. Hampton, 38 Ill. App. 115.

87. State v. Cunningham, 6 Nebr. 90.

88. McAuley v. Morris, 101 N. C. 369, 7 S. E. 883.

89. Morris v. Towns, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 51, where the plant of a printer was appraised and only one of the appraisers was a printer, and the court set aside the appraisement, suggesting that it would have been more satisfactory if made by three master printers.

Only disinterested persons who are strangers can be appointed appraisers. The blood kin of defendant are not competent to make the appraisement. Strasburg First Nat. Bank v. Keen, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 47.

The attorney conducting attachment proceedings is not a proper person to act as appraiser under an execution in force at the same time against the same defendant. Bayne v. Patterson, 40 Mich. 658.

The appraisement of the property which an assignor elects to keep under the exemption law must be made by the appraisers of the assignee for creditors. Peterman's Appeal, 76 Pa. St. 116.

Where it does not appear that any objection was made on account of an appraiser's incompetency, no presumption of incompetency will be indulged in on appeal. "The law provides that 'in case either party fails to select an appraiser, the same shall be selected by the officer holding the execution.' The failure of a party to select an appraiser, competent to act, does not, therefore, deprive him of the benefit of the statute." Kelley v. McFadden, 80 Ind. 536, 539.

90. Ehle v. Deitz, 32 Ill. App. 547, holding that the appraisal should show that fact.

Number as required by statute.— Where a sheriff, holding attached property which the debtor claims as exempt, calls two freeholders to appraise it instead of three, as required by Nebr. Code Civ. Proc. § 522, such appraisement affords him no protection for releasing and surrendering the property to the judgment debtor. Johnson v. Bartek, 54 Nebr. 787, 75 N. W. 55.

91. Moffett v. Sheehey, 52 Ill. App. 376, where the court said that they are not authorized to consider and adjust equities between an execution debtor and third persons or to ascertain whether a mortgage was given for money borrowed for future advances or for indemnity to the mortgagee against a liability which might or might not arise.

A report to the effect that the property claimed as exempt by the debtor is not exempt is a nullity and does not justify the clerk in revoking the supersedeas or protect the sheriff in selling, since the appraisers have no function save to report the value of the property. Parham v. McMurray, 32 Ark. 261.

92. See supra, VI, C, 2, g, (II), (B).

93. Huddy v. Sproule, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 353.

94. Halle v. Felsinger, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 330; Huddy v. Sproule, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 353.

95. Smith v. Dauel, 29 Ill. App. 290, holding that the debtor may regard the entire much below the real market value it will be set aside.[96] If the return of the appraisers sets out the different classes of articles and sufficiently enumerates each and attaches the value thereto the return is sufficiently specific.[97]

(D) Objections to. If the appraisement is not deemed a proper one by the debtor, he should seek to have it corrected.[98] If the appraisement is accepted by the debtor he waives all imperfections in it and cannot be heard to object to it afterward.[99]

(E) Conclusiveness and Effect of. The appraisement does not determine whether the property which has been set apart as exempt is lawfully exempt. That question remains for the determination of the court.[1] Whether the valuation of the appraisers is, in the absence of fraud or collusion, conclusive or not, depends upon the jurisdiction.[2] The court has power to set aside an appraisement for cause.[3] A disclaimer by the debtor of title to property appraised condemns the appraisement.[4]

(III) ALLOTMENT OR SETTING APART OF EXEMPTION.[5] A constitutional exemption of a certain amount of personalty from all process for the enforce-proceeding as a nullity and recover his property levied on by replevin.

96. Sleeper v. Nicholson, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 348, 5 Pa. L. J. Rep. 163. As for instance, where later on the same day the goods appraised at less than three hundred dollars sold for four times that amount. Halle v. Felsinger, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 330. But see Norris v. Town, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 62, where a second appraisement was not set aside by the court on the ground that the articles were worth five hundred dollars, although appraised for three hundred dollars.

97. Ray v. Thornton, 95 N. C. 571.

98. Moffett v. Sheehey, 52 Ill. App. 376, where the debtor was not allowed to select specific articles at appraised values.

N. C. Code, § 519, provides that a judgment debtor who objects to the valuation and allotment of his personal property or exemption shall "file with the clerk of the superior court of the county where the said allotment shall be made a transcript of the return of the appraisers . . . together with his objections in writing to said return," etc. See McAuley v. Morris, 101 N. C. 369, 7 S. E. 883, holding that the provision applies to all cases of laying off personal property exemptions, whether under a judgment in the superior court or in a justice's court.

Objection by a creditor.— If, in an application for homestead and exemption under the Georgia act of 1868, objections are filed to the plat and valuation of the realty, and the matter is postponed by the court to a future day, it is not too late, on that day, for another creditor to appear and file objections to the schedule of personalty. Robson v. Lindrum, 47 Ga. 250.

99. Moffett v. Sheehey, 52 Ill. App. 376.

Acceptance of property set apart by an officer upon a claim of exemption waives irregularities in the proceedings to ascertain the exemption. State v. Conner, 73 Mo. 572.

1. Christopher v. Bowden, 17 Fla. 603. See also Parham v. McMurray, 32 Ark. 261; Laucks' Appeal, 24 Pa. St. 426.

The action of appraisers in setting apart personal property for a portion of the exemption of a debtor, and finding that his real estate cannot be divided so as to give him the balance of his exemption in land, is not such an adjudication that he is entitled to the residue in money out of the sale of the land as to seat his claim either upon the land or the money obtained by its sale. "The finding merely put him in a position to present his claim upon the fund, so that it might be awarded to him, provided it appeared, to the auditor or court distributing the same, that he was legally entitled thereto." Imhoff's Appeal, 119 Pa. St. 350, 354, 13 Atl. 279.

2. For example in Ohio it is conclusive. Levi v. Groves, 7 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 508, 3 Cinc. L. Bul. 569.

3. Huddy v. Sproule, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 353; Wilkins v. Rubincam, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 128.

4. See Gilleland v. Rhoads, 34 Pa. St. 187.

Severing growing crop by appraisement.— Where execution was levied on real and personal estate and defendant claimed his exemption and elected to have the growing grain, which was duly appraised in the presence of one of plaintiffs, and the land was subsequently purchased by plaintiffs, who claimed that the growing grain passed to them, it was held that the appraisement under the circumstances was a severance of the grain from the realty and that plaintiffs were not entitled thereto. Hershey v. Metzgar, 90 Pa. St. 217.

5. Adjustment under different exemption statutes.— Where, on an assignment being made, there are debts contracted before the Indiana act of March 29, 1879, increasing exemptions from three hundred dollars to six hundred dollars, took effect, and also debts contracted after the taking effect of the act, the additional three hundred dollars' worth of property should be set aside from the bulk of the assets, and the debtor should be allowed such a proportion thereof as his subsequent debts bear to the whole of his debts, and the residue thereof should be distributed to the prior creditors, in addition to what they may receive in common with the subsequent creditors. O'Neil v. Beck, 69 Ind. 239.

ment of a debt precludes any necessity for making an allotment of the amount.[6] Where the statute prescribes the manner in which an allotment must be made, it is of the highest importance that all the requirements of the law should be observed.[7] One who takes an exemption can have set apart to him only the property owned by him at the time.[8] If one has the right to have property set apart in kind, he may enforce the right.[9] Property on which there is no lien must be first exhausted in alloting the debtor's exemption.[10] If the garnishees are numerous and the amount due from each is small, the proper method of securing the debtor's exemptions is for the sheriff to appraise and set apart to the debtor such or so much of the claims as he may elect to retain under his exemption.[11] Accepting from the officer levying an execution the articles set apart by him as exempt is a waiver of irregularities in the proceedings to ascertain the exemption.[12]

Setting apart real estate.— The Pennsylvania act of 1849 contemplates setting apart real estate for the use of the debtor and not money arising from its sale. Thus it is only where the return of the appraisers shows that the land cannot be divided that the debtor is permitted to take money. Hufmann's Appeal, 81* Pa. St. 329. See Kearns v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar 183, holding that a claim under the Pennsylvania act of 1849 amounted to an election to have an exemption in land or out of its proceeds when it is necessary to sell the same. Under the Kentucky act of May 17, 1886, no part of the proceeds of land can be set apart in lieu of exempted articles not on hand. Substitution if made at all must be made out of personal property or money. Peak v. Weller, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 153.

Review and correction.— If property belonging to the judgment debtor has been omitted by the appraisers, they have power to correct the allotment. They have this power only so long as the property remains in the officer's hands, for then the allotment is in fieri; after the execution has been returned with the allotment, it becomes an estoppel. Pate v. Harper, 94 N. C. 23. It is not the duty of the county commissioners, individually or as a board, to revise upon appeal the allotment made by the appraisers. Jones v. Rowan, 85 N. C. 278. The proper way to review the action of the commissioners on the question of improper allotment is by a recordari in the nature of a writ of false judgment. Ballard v. Waller, 52 N. C. 84.

6. Lockhart v. Bear, 117 N. C. 298, 23 S. E. 484. See also Albright v. Albright, 88 N. C. 238.

7. Smith v. Hunt, 68 N. C. 482, 484, "especially that the freeholders [who made the allotment] should be sworn, and that there should be a descriptive list of the property, and that list registered, so that creditors when they desire to levy their debts, may ascertain by examining the descriptive list the property exempted."

Whether the referee in a creditor's suit should set apart the property see Dickerson v. Van Tine, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 724.

In Georgia if any portion of the debtor's exemption alloted to him is money, it is necessary that it should be invested in personal property and then returned by schedule as in the cases of other property. An allowance of cash by the ordinary without investing as required by statute is illegal and void. Jones v. Ehrlsch, 65 Ga. 546. In Douglass v. Boylston, 69 Ga. 186, it was held that the ordinary might order money due to the head of a family to be paid to him, to be invested by him according to law, and after having been thus invested and a schedule of the property made the ordinary might then pass a final order of exemption. Where an insolvent claims exemption of funds in the hands of a receiver the ordinary is not entitled to money to make an investment until the expenses of the receiver in raising the money have been paid, including the reasonable clerk hire and attorney's fees. Hahn v. Allen, 93 Ga. 612, 20 S. E. 74. Where it is necessary that the property should not only be selected by the debtor and his wife, but also set apart by the proper official, a mere claim unsupported by official action is inoperative. Sasser v. Roberts, 68 Ga. 252.

The fact tnat an allotment is made returnable to the wrong place or officer does not render it void, for the court has the power to direct a return to be made to the proper officer, and it should exercise that power instead of dismissing the proceeding for the defect in the return. McAuley v. Morris, 101 N. C. 369, 7 S. E. 883, where it was held that the return should be made to the clerk of the superior court.

8. Smith v. Echles, 65 Ga. 326, holding that where one had property which he did not own included in his petition and the claim was allowed, subsequently bought property of the kind described in the petition was not exempt.

9. McMichael v. Eckman, 26 Fla. 43, 7 So. 365, especially where it is not shown that the delay incident to setting aside the property claimed as exempt would be fatal to the interests of the parties concerned.

10. Cowan v. Phillips, 128 N. C. 70, 28 S. E. 961. See also Bayne v. Patterson, 40 Mich. 658.

11. Barker v. Johnson, 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 414.

12. State v. Conner, 73 Mo. 572.

(iv) Contest and Hearing.[13] An adverse ruling in an attachment proceeding upon motion by defendant to have attached property released as exempt does not render the question of exemption res judicata,[14] the attachment being merely a provisional remedy.[15] A creditor may attack an exemption by showing it was illegal.[16] And the creditor may appear and object without filing any paper setting forth objections, and if such a paper be filed, it need not be verified or served on the debtor.[17] Under a statute which requires an inventory upon claim of exemption, if the claim of exemption is too indefinite, plaintiff may elect to demand judgment by default against the garnishee or insist upon a fuller inventory; but the allowance of the demand is within the discretion of the court.[18] To support the claim of exemption from trustee process, the property must be shown to be exempt in fact.[19] If a creditor files objections to an allowance of an exemption on the ground that specific articles of personalty are omitted from the schedule, he is confined on the trial to the articles mentioned in his objections.[20] That the claimant appropriated to his own use, after the attachment was levied, a part of the property, of greater value than the exemptions claimed, is a complete defense to his claim.[21]

3. Successive Exemptions. By the usual rule debtors cannot have at the same time more than one exemption;[22] for when the exemption has once been claimed,

13. Equity jurisdiction.— Under Fla. Rev. St. (1892) § 2007, equity has jurisdiction of an application of the judgment creditor, claiming that his debtor owns more than one thousand dollars' worth of personal property above that levied on, which the debtor conceals, to ascertain if the property has been concealed, and to determine what property shall be set aside as exempt, and, pending the proceeding, to enjoin the officer from setting apart as exempt the property levied on. Camp v. Mullen, (Fla. 1903) 35 So. 399.

Appearance as waiver to form of proceedings see American Paper Co. v. Sullivan, 34 Wash. 391, 75 Pac. 991.

Appointment of receiver under Ga. Code, § 2034, for excess of property remaining to debtor over exempt property see McWilliams v. Bones, 84 Ga. 199, 10 S. E. 723.

Necessity of a jury to pass upon the claim of fraud of defendant, this being the ground to set aside an exemption allowed by the sheriff, see Dale v. McAlpine, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. (Pa.) 34.

Right of filing bond upon the claim being contested see Ex p. Haralson, 75 Ala. 543.

Where exempt personalty is sold subject to the exemption pending an application to set it apart as exempt, it may be recovered from the purchaser, although the application fail, if a subsequent application is successful. Robson v. Rawlings, 79 Ga. 354, 7 S. E. 212.

14. Watson v. Jackson, 24 Kan. 442, holding that defendant may afterward bring replevin against plaintiff to try the question.

15. Gamble v. Rhyne, 80 N. C. 183.

16. Piedmont Nat. Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Bryant, 115 Ga. 417, 41 S. E. 661, and this, although the debt was not contracted until after the return of the schedule and its record by the ordinary.

17. In re Baldwin, 71 Cal. 74, 12 Pac. 44.

Notice: Necessity of, to release an attachment upon a claim of exemption see Claflin v. Lisso, 31 La. Ann. 171. Misnomer in see Gamble v. Central R., etc., Co., 80 Ga. 595, 7 S. E. 315, 12 Am. St. Rep. 276. Proper service of see Allen v. Strickland, 100 N. C. 225, 50 S. E. 780, holding that under N. C. Code, § 597, service by mail is insufficient. Waiver of by appearance to contest the claim see Brown v. Doneghey, 46 Ark. 497; Garrett v. Wade, 46 Ark. 493. See McAbee v. Parker, 83 Ala. 169, 3 So. 521.

18. Buckland v. Tonsmere, 88 Ala. 312, 6 So. 904, 90 Ala. 503, 8 So. 68.

19. Rollins v. Allison, 59 Vt. 188, 10 Atl. 201, holding that it is not sufficient to show that it is of a kind that is exempt from attachment by the statutory provisions.

The question whether defendant habitually earned his living by a harness and buggy which were attached was determined upon affidavits filed and witnesses examined thereon, and the attachment was sustained, defendant being relegated to an action at law to test the liability of the property to seizure under the writ. Brooks v. Engle, (Iowa 1900) 83 N. W. 805 [citing Cox v. Allen, 91 Iowa 462, 59 N. W. 335].

20. Wood v. Collins, 111 Ga. 32, 36 S. E. 423.

21. Strange v. Gess, 111 Ky. 640, 64 S. W. 458, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 868.

22. Weis v. Levy, 69 Ala. 209. See Torrance v. Boyd, 63 Ga. 22, holding that where a man having in his family two daughters of full age, depending upon him, acquired an exemption of personalty, he could not on a second or third marriage acquire a second exemption as long as the daughters continued dependent and members of his family. But see Chatten v. Snider, 126 Ind. 387, 26 N. E. 166.

In North Carolina, under the act of 1848, the insolvent debtor has a right to have allotments for his benefit made by the freeholders from time to time as his necessities may require, provided the allotment be made at intervals not unreasonably short. Each allot-the property selected by the debtor and allotted to him, so long as he retains it and it is undiminished in value, he is without right to a further exemption; otherwise double exemptions could be claimed and the whole of the debtor's property exhausted to the prejudice of his creditors. If a part of the debtor's exemption has been set apart under one levy, the residue may be set apart under another,[23] and if the property allotted to the debtor has been taken from him without fault on his part or it has been consumed in maintaining himself or family a subsequent exemption may be claimed.[24] The exemption of wages is one which is peculiarly proper for recurring claims.[25]

D. Proceedings to Enforce and Protect Right — 1. Remedies Against Evasion of the Law by Assignment or Transfer to Another Jurisdiction. In a number of states there are statutory provisions to prevent the evasion of the exemption law by the assignment of the debt to a person in another state.[26] To enforce a provision of this kind, the debtor has various remedies. Thus he has a right of action against the creditor or person making the assignment,[27] and he may sue for an ment must be complete in itself so as to designate all the articles allowed. Dean v. King, 35 N. C. 20.

In Pennsylvania it is held that a debtor who has claimed his exemption under the acts of 1849 and 1859, and had personal property set apart for him, may again claim his exemption against the same judgment out of the proceeds of the sale of real estate under partition proceedings without showing that the property first set apart had been consumed or destroyed. Krauter's Appeal, 150 Pa. St. 47, 24 Atl. 603 [citing Hanley v. O'Donald, 30 Pa. St. 261]. Contra, Vogelsong v. Beltzhoover, 59 Pa. St. 57.

Successive exemptions under successive laws.— The allowance to a bankrupt of the full amount to which he is entitled as exempt as head of a family, under the Georgia constitution of 1868, does not prevent him from afterward having set apart the exemption of personalty provided by the Georgia constitution of 1877, since the object of the latter provision is to protect the family, while the former exemption is vested in the bankrupt alone. Holland v. Withers, 76 Ga. 667.

Requisites of petition to set aside second appraisement.— Where a defendant has had an appraisement of her property levied on and property set aside for her and subsequently a transcript of the judgment is entered in another county and she again claims personal property levied upon in that county and it is appraised to her, the court on mere petition disclosing these facts will not set aside the second appraisement when it is not shown that the debtor is still in possession of the property first exempted. Koller v. Miller, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 235.

23. State v. Carroll, 24 Mo. App. 358. See also Clark v. Ismael, 2 Cinc. Super. Ct. 437.

24. Weis v. Levy, 69 Ala. 209, 211, it being his right to have and hold at all times exemption of personal property to the value of one thousand dollars of his own selection free from liability of debt.

25. The claim is usually allowed as often as process is served, so long as at the time of the service of the process the exemption does not exceed the statutory limit. For example see Hall v. Hartwell, 142 Mass. 447, 8 N. E. 333; Chandler v. White, 71 Miss. 161, 14 So. 454. And see supra, III, D.

26. Thus Nebr. Laws (1889), c. 25, provides that where exempt wages due employees from a corporation engaged in interstate business are collected by action in another state, the amount may be recovered. See Bishop v. Middleton, 43 Nebr. 10, 61 N. W. 129, 26 L. R. A. 445, holding that the term "corporation engaged in interstate business" means one employing men in Nebraska and having in another state a situs as to permit of its being reached by process of garnishment there, and holding further that the law applies to a debt incurred before its passage and assigned in good faith, where the assignee afterward assigns it to be collected out of the state to evade the exemption laws.

27. Kestler v. Kern, 2 Ind. App. 488, 28 N. E. 726 (holding that the exact question did not come into consideration in Uppinghouse v. Mundel, 103 Ind. 238, 2 N. E. 719, which apparently takes the view that there is no right of action); Stark v. Bare, 39 Kan. 100, 17 Pac. 826, 7 Am. St. Rep. 537; O'Connor v. Walker, 37 Nebr. 267, 55 N. W. 867, 40 Am. St. Rep. 486, 23 L. R. A. 650. See Hinds v. Sells, 63 Ohio St. 328, 58 N. E. 800 (holding that Ohio Rev. St. § 7014, giving the right of action against one who sends a claim out of the state to be collected by attachment thereby to defeat the exemption laws is constitutional). Contra, Harwell v. Sharp, 85 Ga. 126, 11 S. E. 561, 21 Am. St. Rep. 149, 8 L. R. A. 514, where the court said that the debtor might have had an injunction if he had asked for it.

If there is no proof of the controverted fact that the right of exemption existed there can be no recovery. Stull v. Miller, 55 Nebr. 30, 75 N. W. 239.

The good faith of the assignment is always a question for the jury. Karnes v. Dovey, 53 Nebr. 725, 74 N. W. 311. For evidence sufficient to show that the assignment was made for the purpose of evading the exemption laws of the state see Frieden v. Conkling, (Nebr. 1903) 96 N. W. 615.

injunction,[28] and even prosecute criminally.[29] Where a wage-earner has an action against his employer for paying a claim out of his wages contrary to the exemption law, the rule that injunction will not issue when there is an adequate remedy at law applies and the employer will not be enjoined.[30] Inasmuch as injunction is granted by equity acting in personam, there can be no interference by injunction by the courts of the debtor's domicile, when the debtor and creditor are domiciled in different states and the creditor proceeds by attachment in the courts of his domicile against the property of his debtor; and this even though the creditor be temporarily found within the jurisdiction of the state of the debtor's domicile.[31] A statute which provides a penalty for transferring a debt to evade exemption laws is subject to the strict construction usually given to criminal statutes.[32] The rule of strict construction is nevertheless made to yield to a common-sense interpretation.[33] Interstate comity does not preclude the courts of a state from awarding judgment upon a claim assigned from another state to evade the exemption laws of that other state, although the assignment is a misdemeanor of the other state.[34]

28. Injunction issues against the creditor himself when he is attempting to collect his debt in another state; it is not necessary that the claim should have been assigned.

Georgia.— Harwell v. Sharp, 85 Ga. 126, 11 S. E. 561, 21 Am. St. Rep. 149, 8 L. R. A. 514.

Indiana.— Wilson v. Joseph, 107 Ind. 490, 8 N. E. 616.

Indian Territory.— Biggs v. Colby, (1902) 69 S. W. 910, holding that injunction may issue in spite of Mansfield Dig. § 3750, which provides that no injunction shall be issued to stay proceedings on the judgment of a justice of the peace where the judgment is less than twenty dollars. This on the ground that the provision has no extraterritorial effect, the court of equity nevertheless having its right to act in in personam.

Iowa.— Mumper v. Wilson, 72 Iowa 163, 33 N. W. 449, 2 Am. St. Rep. 238; Hager v. Adams, 70 Iowa 746, 30 N. W. 36; Teager v. Landsley, 69 Iowa 725, 27 N. W. 739.

Kansas.— Zimmerman v. Franke, 34 Kan. 650, 9 Pac. 747.

Kentucky.— Stewart v. Thomson, 97 Ky. 575, 31 S. W. 133, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 381, 53 Am. St. Rep. 431, 36 L. R. A. 582.

Maryland.— Keyser v. Rice, 47 Md. 203, 28 Am. Rep. 448.

Missouri.— Wabash Western R. Co. v. Siefert, 41 Mo. App. 35.

New Jersey.— See Margarum v. Moon, 63 N. J. Eq. 586, 53 Atl. 179.

Ohio.— Snook v. Snetzer, 25 Ohio St. 516.

Pennsylvania.— Galbraith v. Rutter, 20 Pa. Super. Ct. 554.

United States.— See Cole v. Cunningham, 133 U. S. 107, 10 S. Ct. 269, 33 L. ed. 538.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," §§ 162, 168.

29. Thus Ind. Rev. St. (1881) § 2163, provides for the fine of a person who directly or indirectly assigns or transfers any claim for debt against a citizen of Indiana for the purpose of having the same collected by proceedings in attachment, garnishment, or other process out of the wages or the personal earnings of the debtor in courts outside of the state where the creditor, debtor, person, or corporation owing the money intended to be reached by the proceeding in attachment each and all are within the jurisdiction of the state of Indiana. See Uppinghouse v. Mundel, 103 Ind. 238, 2 N. E. 719. See also Goldsborough v. Bolenbaugh, 3 Ohio Cir. Ct. 583, 2 Ohio Cir. Dec. 337.

30. Galbraith v. Rutter, 20 Pa. Super. Ct. 554, holding, however, that the creditor himself may be enjoined.

31. Griffith v. Langsdale, 53 Ark. 71, 73, 13 S. W. 733, 22 Am. St. Rep. 182, holding further that the debtor has no right of action against the creditor for collecting the debt in violation of an injunction improvidently granted in the state of the debtor's domicile.

32. Thus the transfer of a debt under such conditions was held not to be subject to the penalty provided without showing that the transfer was made for the purpose of collection and to avoid the exemption laws. Drury v. High, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 523, 8 Cinc. L. Bul. 278, where it appeared that the original judgment was by default and that there were no intervening rights and that the debtor had at no time demanded exemption and that a valuable consideration had been paid for the assignment, and where the court said the case was properly taken from the jury. It was held further that the statute did not prohibit a resident of Ohio from selling a claim for debt against another resident to one residing outside of the state, although the assignor knew that the claim would be collected by garnishment proceedings outside of the state, providing the sale was not made for that purpose.

33. Thus under Ind. Rev. St. (1881) § 2162, which provides for the punishment of every person who with intent to deprive a resident of the state of his rights under the exemption laws "sends or causes to be sent" out of the state any claim against the debtor within its jurisdiction for collection by garnishment, one who carries out of the state with intent to deprive the debtor a claim "upon his own person," "sends" it out of the state, and is subject to the penalty. State v. Dittmar, 120 Ind. 54, 388, 22 N. E. 88, 299.

34. Stevens v. Brown, 20 W. Va. 450.

2. Remedies in Other Instances — a. Extraordinary Remedies. Mandamus is employed in some jurisdictions.[35] By the better rule equity will not enjoin the sale of exempt property unless plaintiff alleges and shows that the sale will work irreparable damage, or that he has no adequate remedy at law.[36]

b. Summary Proceedings. In some jurisdictions the question of the right to exemption cannot be determined in a summary manner as by rule or motion,[37] it being held that defendant cannot thus be deprived of the right to demand the 35. See Meyer v. Beaver, 9 S. D. 168, 68 N. W. 310 (alternative writ); State v. Lacy, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 379, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 111. Contra, Oliver v. Wilson, 8 N. D. 590, 80 N. W. 757, 73 Am. St. Rep. 784, holding that mandamus was not a proper remedy.

Under a statute which provides that mandamus must be issued in all cases "where there is not a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law" and "to compel the performance of an act which the law especially enjoins as a duty resulting from an office, trust or station" mandamus will lie to compel a sheriff to release exempt property held by him under attachment, for the reason that replevin does not furnish a speedy remedy, since it may result in withholding possession from the debtor until the end of an extended litigation. State v. Gardner, 32 Wash. 550, 73 Pac. 690, 98 Am. St. Rep. 858.

Mandamus generally see Mandamus.

36. Arkansas.— Drigg's Bank v. Norwood, 49 Ark. 136, 4 S. W. 448, 4 Am. St. Rep. 30.

Indiana.— Mead v. McFadden, 68 Ind. 340.

Missouri.— Bailey v. Wade, 24 Mo. App. 186.

North Carolina.— Baxter v. Baxter, 77 N. C. 118.

Oregon.— Parsons v. Hartman, 25 Oreg. 547, 37 Pac. 61, 42 Am. St. Rep. 803, 30 L. R. A. 98.

Compare Muir v. Howell, 37 N. J. Eq. 39, where an injunction was denied because the complainant had not claimed her right, the court remarking that if the right had been clear injunction would have been appropriate.

Contra.— Cunningham v. Conway, 25 Nebr. 615, 41 N. W. 452 (although debtor may have mandamus or an action); Nichols v. Caliborne, 39 Tex. 363.

In Florida injunction has been allowed under the laws of March 7, 1881, enlarging the jurisdiction of equity courts. Smith v. Gufford, 36 Fla. 481, 18 So. 717, 51 Am. St. Rep. 37, holding also that a bond is unnecessary, for an injunction granted for this purpose is not an injunction to stay a proceeding at law within the statute prohibiting the granting of injunctions for that purpose without the giving of a bond. In Bryan v. Long, 14 Fla. 366, injunction was refused according to the rule of the text.

In New York the collection of a judgment out of real estate purchased with pension money will be enjoined, although the debtor has an adequate remedy at law by motion to set aside the levy in the action in which the judgment was rendered; this, because the debtor's claim to exemption may be controverted and he is entitled to have the question determined on common-law evidence and is not bound to have it disposed of on affidavits. Buffum v. Forster, 77 Hun 27, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 285.

Equity has no jurisdiction to enjoin a proceeding to appraise property levied on under a fieri facias for the purpose of claiming an exemption, although it is alleged that the judgment and execution issued are for the purchase-price of the property. Christopher v. Bowden, 17 Fla. 603. And this, although Fla. Laws, c. 1944, have made it a felony for any officer to levy on and sell exempt personal property. Phillips v. Crichton, 17 Fla. 600.

Complete justice.— An injunction is properly issued to prevent the sale under an execution issued on the judgment of a justice of the peace of property exempt by law from a forced sale; and jurisdiction, once having attached, should be exercised to finally determine the rights involved under the issues made. Stein v. Frieberg, 64 Tex. 271.

37. Tasker v. Sheldon, 115 Pa. St. 107, 7 Atl. 762; Tioga Cricket Club v. Horn, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 672, holding that a rule to dissolve an attachment execution is not the proper procedure to enforce defendant's claim out of funds in the hands of a garnishee. See also Boland v. Spitz, 153 Pa. St. 590, 26 Atl. 22 (holding that where a justice decides against a party making claim to exemptions in garnishment proceedings, the judgment cannot be questioned by a rule to show cause why the money should not be paid to the party claiming, he not having taken his remedy by appeal or certiorari); Ferguson v. Moore, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 92 (holding that where a sheriff levies on the joint effects of a firm and deducts three hundred dollars from their joint effects, leaving one hundred and fifty dollars which defendant claimed was exempt, a rule on the sheriff to show cause why venditioni exponas should not issue could not be determined, as no order of the court could have affected the rights of the sheriff or the parties). And compare Chandler v. Jessup, 132 Ind. 351, 31 N. E. 1109 (holding that where a conveyance of land is set aside on the ground of fraud, a motion to allow defendant his exemption of the proceeds of the sale was properly refused if no issue was tendered on the subject at the trial and no evidence offered that defendant was a resident house-exemption and upon the neglect or refusal of the officer to comply with that demand to assert that right by an action at law; but in others the contrary is held.[38]

c. Action at Law[39]—(i) Right of. Where exempt property is wrongfully seized, a right of action arises in favor of the debtor.[40] The debtor must have complied with the statutory requisites as to filing claim, etc., or his action will not lie.[41] Whether the property in question is exempt and hence whether the debtor has a cause of action must be determined as of the time of the levy.[42]

(ii) Jurisdiction. Jurisdiction of the question whether a person is entitled to an exemption and of matters connected with the right depends more or less upon the state in which the questions are to be adjudicated.[43]

holder); Opitz v. Winn, 3 Oreg. 9 (holding that where money has been voluntarily paid by the garnishee to the officer, there having been no judgment rendered against the garnishee, it is not error for a justice of the peace to refuse to direct the officer to pay the money to the judgment debtor, who claims it as earnings for thirty days preceding).

An application by plaintiff in execution, asking the opinion of the court as to an order on the sheriff commanding him to sell certain property taken on execution which defendant claims as exempt, will not be determined, as the opinion of the court at such a stage would stand the sheriff in no more stead than that of his counsel. Houston v. Smith, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 221.

38. Oliver v. Wilson, 8 N. D. 590, 80 N. W. 757, 73 Am. St. Rep. 784, where a motion against the attaching officer to discharge the attachment is valid. Thus if the constable collects wages from a garnishee and on demand refuses to pay over the wages to the laborer, the laborer is entitled to a rule compelling him to do so (Smith v. Johnston, 71 Ga. 748); and it is not error to make the judgment creditor a party to the rule (Steele v. Parker, 109 Ga. 791, 35 S. E. 167). Where exempt property is attached and the notice is filed, according to Iowa Code (1873), § 3018, for its discharge, no pleading may be filed for the purpose of controverting the motion and if filed may be stricken out. See Joyce v. Miller, 59 Iowa 761, 13 N. W. 664.

Where exempt property has been levied on under an execution from a justice's court, the proper remedy is to remove the proceedings in the circuit court by certiorari and there have the levy quashed. The justice had no power to correct the abuse of process, but the circuit court, in virtue of its general revisory jurisdiction, may supersede and quash the levy. Jones v. Williams, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 105. See, however, EXECUTIONS, 17 Cyc. 1152 et seq.

39. Interpleader.—A sheriff sued in the county by an execution debtor for one hundred dollars damages, the value of implements seized and sold by the sheriff without any special direction from the execution creditor and alleged to be exempt, cannot obtain in that court an interpleader order directing the trial of an issue between the execution debtor and the execution creditor, to settle whether the implements were exempt or not. The sheriff acts at his own peril in granting or refusing the exemption. Gould v. Hope, 20 Ont. App. 347 [reversing 21 Ont. 624].

After judgment disallowing exemption reversed.—Defendant made proper claim for property levied upon in an attachment suit but the sheriff did not notify plaintiff of the claim. Defendant filed a plea setting up her claim of exemptions. Plaintiff recovered judgment in which it was decided that against the recovery there was no claim of exemptions to be allowed. The property was sold under a writ of venditioni exponas issued upon the judgment and the amount of recovery as stated in the judgment was paid. On appeal the supreme court modified the judgment by striking out that portion which provided for waiver of exemptions. It was held that the money paid plaintiff out of the property claimed as exempt, to which it was shown plaintiff had no right and which ex aequo et bono belonged to defendant in attachment suit, could be recovered by her in a subsequent action against plaintiff in said suit for money had and received. Anniston First Nat. Bank v. Lippman, 129 Ala. 608, 30 So. 19.

40. Cook v. Baine, 37 Ala. 350; Albrecht v. Treitschke, 17 Nebr. 205, 22 N. W. 418.

In Pennsylvania it is held that after the sheriff has wrongfully sold the property, the only remedy the debtor has is an action against him. Marks' Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 36, 75 Am. Dec. 631; Kearns v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar 183; Kershner v. Miller, 2 Woodw. 51.

41. Gamble v. Reynolds, 42 Ala. 226.

42. Watson v. Simpson, 5 Ala. 233, holding that it is immaterial that the debtor was not married and the head of the family when the execution came into the hands of the sheriff, as long as he was married and the head of a family when the levy was made, for the statute which gives the right to exemption provides that the exempt article shall be free from levy and sale. See Berry v. Nichols, 96 Ind. 287. Compare Phillips v. Taber, 83 Ga. 565, 10 S. E. 270.

43. See cases cited infra, this note.

In Florida under the act of March 7, 1881, the courts of equity are clothed with full and complete jurisdiction over the question of exemptions allowed by the constitution and laws; not only to adjudicate as to the rights of the parties thereto, but to control and di-

(III) Form of.[44] When exempt property is seized, the action of trespass,[45] case,[46] trover,[47] or replevin[48] may lie. At the present day the remedy would generally be the ordinary action for damages.[49] The grantee of land exempt from judgments, liens, and execution may maintain an action to quiet his title against a lien by virtue of a judgment against his grantor.[50]

(IV) Defenses. In those states where residence is not a prerequisite, the fact that the debtor is about to remove from the state,[51] or that he has already removed from the state,[52] is no defense to an action against the sheriff levying on exempt property. In jurisdictions where residence is a prerequisite the fact that rect the setting apart and allotment thereof, to restrain interference therewith or sale thereof under any inhibited process of law, and to pass upon and adjudicate the propriety of any exception set apart by any officer and to rectify it if improper. McMichael v. Grady, 34 Fla. 219, 15 So. 765.

In Georgia the ordinary has no jurisdiction of an exemption claim, unless the applicant is a resident of the county. Rutherford v. Wright, 41 Ga. 128.

In Kansas if execution against an insurance company is directed to the sheriff of any county who attempts to levy on property which is exempt, under Comp. Laws (1879), c. 50*a*, the company, having its place of business in the same county, may apply to the court of that county to prevent the unlawful sale and is not obliged to proceed in the court from which the execution issued. Naill v. Kansas Farmers' F. Ins. Co., 47 Kan. 223, 27 Pac. 854.

In Nebraska the county court has jurisdiction under Comp. St. (1885) c. 6, to decide whether personal property is exempt from execution and whether it should be delivered to the assignee. Such inquiry does not involve the question of the title to real estate. Stout v. Rapp, 17 Nebr. 462, 23 N. W. 364.

In British Columbia the magistrate sitting as judge of the small debts court has no jurisdiction to decide the validity of the claim of exemption, under the Homestead Act, of goods seized under process of execution issued from that court. Augsberg v. Anderson, 5 Brit. Col. 622.

If an equitable defense is put in against a levy, the parties should have their whole case decided in a court of equity. Mynatt v. Magill, 3 Lea (Tenn.) 72, where the levy was made upon a judgment rendered on a note which by its terms imposed a lien on the property levied on, and where the maker of the note petitioned to have the levy quashed on the ground that the provision as to the lien was inserted without his knowledge.

44. Appeal from justice.— If a justice of the peace refuses a supersedeas on the filing of a schedule claiming the property seized as exempt, the remedy of the debtor is by appeal. Failure to appeal is a waiver of the right. Cason v. Bone, 43 Ark. 17. In Jones v. Williams, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 105, it is said that certiorari to the circuit court is the proper remedy where exempt property has been levied on by an execution from a justice's court.

45. Moseley v. Anderson, 40 Miss. 49; Bonnel v. Dunn, 28 N. J. L. 153; Elder v. Frevert, 18 Nev. 446, 5 Pac. 69; Van Dresor v. King, 34 Pa. St. 201, 75 Am. Dec. 643; Sanborn v. Hamilton, 18 Vt. 590; Dow v. Smith, 7 Vt. 465, 29 Am. Dec. 202.

Trespass generally see TRESPASS.

46. Moseley v. Anderson, 40 Miss. 49; Van Dresor v. King, 34 Pa. St. 201, 75 Am. Dec. 643.

Case generally see CASE, ACTION ON.

47. Harrell v. Harrell, 75 Ga. 697 (where trover was maintained against the purchaser of the property, which was sold at a judicial sale subject to the right of exemption and pending an application for the exemption); Ross v. McGuffin, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 458 (where recovery in conversion was allowed without making a demand and the receiving of a refusal).

Trover generally see TROVER AND CONVERSION.

48. Indiana.— See Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Payne, 103 Ind. 183, 2 N. E. 582.

Iowa.— Wilson v. Stripe, 4 Greene 551, 61 Am. Dec. 138.

Kansas.— Westenberger v. Wheaton, 8 Kan. 169.

Mississippi.— Ross v. Hawthorne, 55 Miss. 551 (in spite of having a special statutory remedy by the bond); Moseley v. Anderson, 40 Miss. 49.

Tennessee.— Wilson v. McQueen, 1 Head 17. See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions, § 166.

Contra.— Saffell v. Wash, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 92; Reynolds v. Sallee, 2 B. Mon. (Ky.) 18; Hawk v. Lepple, 51 N. J. L. 208, 17 Atl. 351, 14 Am. St. Rep. 677, 4 L. R. A. 48.

The debtor cannot replevy without statutory authority. Buis v. Cooper, 63 Mo. App. 196.

Replevin generally see REPLEVIN.

Claim and delivery is the proper process in some states for the recovery of exempt property wrongfully seized. Wagner v. Olson, 3 N. D. 69, 54 N. W. 286; Linander v. Longstaff, 7 S. D. 157, 63 N. W. 775.

Validity of judgment is admitted by bringing replevin. Redinger v. Jones, 68 Kan. 627, 75 Pac. 997.

49. See Ross v. Hawthorne, 55 Miss. 551.

50. Citizens' State Bank v. Harris, 149 Ind. 208, 48 N. E. 856, at least if the action is begun before a sale under the judgment.

51. State v. Knott, 19 Mo. App. 151.

52. Neeper v. Irons, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 180.

the debtor has removed from the state is a defense to an action for levying on his property.[53] The ultimate return of the property wrongfully seized is not a defense to an action for the wrongful seizure, but goes only in mitigation of damages.[54] That the title of the property in question was not in the debtor is a good defense to an action by the debtor for its seizure.[55] Under a statute which provides that no exemption shall be allowed against an execution on a debt incurred for property obtained under false pretenses, a sheriff who can show his case within the statute has a good defense.[56] If the debtor is not allowed his right of selection, it is no defense to an action for the property seized that he had other property.[57] A judgment in part for exempt personalty, under a statute rendering certain property otherwise exempt subject to execution, is not a justification for seizing property not within the purview of the statute.[58] Sometimes an estoppel operates against the setting up of a defense.[59] An order for the sale of the attached property does not conclude the question of exemption therein unless the question has been litigated.[60]

(v) Parties[61] — (a) Plaintiff.[62] Husband and wife may sue jointly for damages for seizure of exempt property.[63] In the absence of the husband from

53. Finley v. Sly, 44 Ind. 266. See supra, II, E, 2.

54. Castile v. Ford, 53 Nebr. 507, 73 N. W. 945.

55. State v. Pruitt, 65 Mo. App. 154. See also Larkin v. McAnnally, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 17.

A sheriff who has sold lands under execution and received the purchase-price cannot plead as a defense to an action to recover the statutory amount of the proceeds exempted to the debtor that plaintiff-debtor had no legal estate in the property sold. Bramble v. State, 41 Md. 435.

That the property was mortgaged is no defense to the officer selling it. McMartin v. Hurlburt, 2 Ont. App. 146. See Owens v. Bull, 1 Ont. App. 62.

An action by the wife for damages for taking the property of her husband cannot be defeated by showing that the property was turned out by the husband to be levied upon. King v. Moore, 10 Mich. 538.

56. Taylor v. Rice, 1 N. D. 72, 44 N. W. 1017.

57. Stilson v. Gibbs, 53 Mich. 280, 18 N. W. 815; Anderson v. Larremore, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 947.

58. Grieb v. Northrup, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 86, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 481.

59. Kolsky v. Loveman, 97 Ala. 543, 12 So. 720, holding that where plaintiff has attached certain property as defendant's in an action for its purchase-price and executes a bond for its return if not found subject to attachment, he is estopped from showing that the claim for exemption is invalid because the property really belonged to plaintiff, it being in defendant's possession on consignment for sale on plaintiff's account.

Particularly is this so where the defense is a technical one. Thus where an officer refused to receive the schedule properly tendered by the debtor, making no objection that it was not in compliance with the law, it was afterward held upon suit brought that he would not be allowed to object to the schedule as not complying with the statute. Pensoneau v. Masserang, 8 Ill. App. 298. Where the sheriff and creditor at the time the schedule and claim were filed gave strong assurance that the claim would be granted and that there would be no trouble about its amount, they were held not in a position to urge technical objections to defeat the debtor's right. Eisenhauer v. Dill, 6 Ind. App. 188, 33 N. E. 220.

60. Wilson v. Stripe, 4 Greene (Iowa) 551, 61 Am. Dec. 138; Berry v. Charlton, 10 Oreg. 362. Contra, State v. Manly, 15 Ind. 8. See supra, VI, C, 2, e.

61. Parties generally see PARTIES.

62. The grantor and grantee of land which the former was entitled to claim as exempt from execution may join in a complaint against creditors of the former who had obtained judgments, issued executions, and filed transcripts of their judgments, which were taken before a justice of the peace, in the clerk's office, prior to such conveyance, the former to have his right to exemption established and the latter to have his title quieted. Barnard v. Brown, 112 Ind. 53, 13 N. E. 401.

Mortgagor and mortgagee of exempt property.— The mortgagor may maintain an action for damages when the property has been wrongfully seized and sold upon execution; but in order that defendants may not be subjected to a double liability the mortgagee should be joined as plaintiff. Evans v. St. Paul Harvester Works, 63 Iowa 204, 18 N. W. 881.

Neither the claimant's sureties on his bond nor his attorney can be made parties to the claim case where a claim is made for exemption. Kimbrough v. Pitts, 63 Ga. 496.

63. Neeper v. Irons, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 180; Cunningham v. Coyle, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 422.

Wife and children.— A horse exempted under Ga. Code, § 2040, is for the wife and children as well as for the head of the family; and, where possession has been tortiously obtained from him, they may proceed by possessory warrant to recover the horse. A the jurisdiction,[64] or sometimes in case of abandonment of the wife by the husband,[65] or sometimes after the death of the husband,[66] the wife or widow is the proper party to sue. In Michigan one partner may maintain trover against the sheriff for the seizure of exempt property of the firm under an execution against all, since the exemption is held to be an individual right.[67]

(B) Defendant. The sheriff may be held liable in an action for the wrongful seizure of exempt property;[68] and the creditor may be held liable with him.[69] The purchaser of exempt property sold at a judicial sale subject to the right of exemption is liable in trover to the debtor if the sale took place pending an application by the debtor for an exemption which was subsequently allowed.[70]

(VI) PLEADING.[71] If the debtor attempts to enforce his exemption rights by action for damages, or by replevin, or in some other way, he must show by his pleadings facts which entitle him to relief.[72] Ownership in the property consent extorted from the head of the family while in jail does not affect the rights of the wife and children as to the exemption. Tucker v. Edwards, 71 Ga. 602.

Although the exemption is for the wife and children of the debtor, he as well as they may sue for a conversion of the exempt property. Braswell v. McDaniel, 74 Ga. 319.

64. Eisenhauer v. Dill, 6 Ind. App. 188, 33 N. E. 220.

Under a statute giving the right to the wife to claim when the husband has absconded, an action by a married woman is properly brought in the name of the state to her use. State v. Dill, 60 Mo. 433.

65. Baum v. Turner, 76 S. W. 129, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 600.

66. Myers v. Forsythe, 10 Bush (Ky.) 394, where it was claimed that the personal representatives were the proper parties.

67. McCoy v. Brennan, 61 Mich. 362, 28 N. W. 129, 1 Am. St. Rep. 589.

68. Van Dresor v. King, 34 Pa. St. 201, 75 Am. Dec. 643; Marks' Appeal, 34 Pa. St. 36, 75 Am. Dec. 631; Kearns v. Beam, 11 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 183; Kershner v. Miller, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 51.

The officer is liable on his official bond. State v. Knott, 19 Mo. App. 151.

In an action brought by one member of a partnership to restrain the sale of so much of the partnership property under a judgment against the firm as was exempt to him from execution, the sheriff is not a proper party, for the sheriff is, unless he has a personal interest in the subject of the action, merely a public ministerial officer. Stout v. McNeill, 98 N. C. 1, 3 S. E. 915, where an injunction suit was brought upon the consent of the other partner.

69. Indiana.— Eisenhauer v. Dill, 6 Ind. App. 188, 33 N. E. 220 [citing Thompson Homest. & Exempt. § 877], particularly where the creditor had full knowledge of the rights of the debtor and received the benefit for the action of the sheriff.

Kansas.— Mullaney v. Humes, 48 Kan. 368, 29 Pac. 691.

Maine.— See Spencer v. Brighton, 49 Me. 326.

Minnesota.— Purchase, at sale on execution, by the attaching plaintiff, of exempt property unlawfully attached, and subsequent sale thereof by such purchaser, who then knew that the property was exempt, will be deemed a ratification of the trespass. Murphy v. Sherman, 25 Minn. 196.

Nebraska.— Castile v. Ford, 53 Nebr. 507, 73 N. W. 945. See also Schaller v. Kurtz, 25 Nebr. 655, 41 N. W. 642, where the debtor was held liable alone.

Nevada.— Elder v. Frevert, 18 Nev. 446, 5 Pac. 69.

New Jersey.— Bonnel v. Dunn, 28 N. J. L. 153.

See 23 Cent. Dig. tit. "Exemptions," §§ 160, 161.

70. Harrell v. Harrell, 75 Ga. 697.

71. Pleading generally see PLEADING.

Immaterial allegation.— In an action of trespass for seizure of exempt property, an allegation that the property was mortgaged by defendant is immaterial. Collett v. Jones, 2 B. Mon. (Ky.) 19, 36 Am. Dec. 586.

72. McCoy v. Brennan, 61 Mich. 362, 28 N. W. 129, 1 Am. St. 589; Cockrum v. McCracken, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 65. See also Lynd v. Picket, 7 Minn. 184, 82 Am. Dec. 79.

Declaration in trover sufficient.— In Hutchinson v. Whitmore, 90 Mich. 255, 51 N. W. 451, 30 Am. St. Rep. 431, it was said that the usual declaration in trover was sufficient to enable plaintiff to show the facts essential to a recovery, and that the contrary doctrine pronounced in McCoy v. Brennan, 61 Mich. 362, 28 N. W. 129, 1 Am. St. Rep. 589, should be regarded as obiter.

In an action for the seizure and sale under execution of corn claimed by plaintiff to be exempt, the allegations of the complaint that he was the head of a family consisting of a wife and six children, and that such corn was all he owned, and was necessary for home consumption and the maintenance of himself and family, were sufficient to justify the admission of evidence that he was a farmer, and owned certain live stock, to be fed on such corn from the date of the levy until the next harvest. Burris v. Booth, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 186.

A petition for an injunction alleging that all the debtor's property consists of three hundred bushels of corn, which is insufficient to furnish his family with bread, meat, and such other articles of food as will be necesmust be averred.[73] If residence within the jurisdiction be a condition of the exemption right, the residence must be pleaded.[74] In some states, if it be alleged that the debtor is head of a family, no allegation that he resides in the state or that he resides in the jurisdiction is necessary.[75] If the exemption is given by statute to a householder or housekeeper,[76] or to the head of a family,[77] or to a member of the family,[78] the allegations must cover this prerequisite. The debtor must show by his pleadings that he has taken all steps required of him by the sary, is insufficient unless it state the number, ages, etc., of the members of the family. Swisher v. Hancock, 31 Tex. 262.

An allegation that the judgment upon which execution was issued is "a judgment for labor" is not equivalent to an allegation that it was a judgment for "laborers' or mechanics' wages." Paddock v. Balgord, 2 S. D. 100, 48 N. W. 840. See also State v. Power, 63 Nebr. 496, 88 N. W. 769, where it was further held that the wages claimed must be alleged to be for a period not exceeding sixty days.

Allegations as to exempt horses.— Under Tenn. Acts (1833), c. 80, § 1, "one farm horse" was exempted to the debtor. Under Tenn. Acts (1842), c. 44, which was passed to amend and enlarge the effect of the acts of 1833, heads of families were given other exemptions, and by the usual liberal construction of the exemption laws the head of a family was held entitled to a horse where proper for his vocation. Therefore it was not necessary for a plaintiff debtor, in an action of trespass for seizure of his horse, to allege that the horse was a farm horse. Tipton v. Pickens, 1 Swan 25. In trespass for taking plaintiff's horse on execution a replication that the horse was his only work beast "not previously levied upon" is bad, as showing that he might have had other horses which were his property, although levied upon. Faulkner v. Bradley, 2 Dana (Ky.) 141.

Instrument used in profession.— An allegation that the debtor was a pianist and that he had taught music within three months prior to the time when his piano was seized does not show that teaching music was his business at the time of the seizure. "On the contrary, the special and peculiar manner in which this fact is stated, would indicate that it was not." Tanner v. Billings, 18 Wis. 163, 176, 86 Am. Dec. 755.

If in reply to a set-off plaintiff debtor alleges that the property sold by defendant consists of two mules which were exempt, being the only work beasts plaintiff has, and pleads the exemption as a bar to defendant's set-off, defendant is entitled to file a rejoinder denying that the two mules are the only work beasts plaintiff has, as he cannot, if he has other work beasts, refuse to elect which he will retain and then claim as exempt those which are sold. Woolfolk v. Lyons, 59 S. W. 21, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 918.

Where the proceeding is a creditor's bill to subject a fund which can be reached only in this way, upon principle, the appropriate way for the debtor to claim his exemption is to set it up in his answer just as he is required by the rules of legal procedure to set up in his answer any other constitutive fact which makes against the right of plaintiff to the relief which he seeks. Furlong v. Thomssen, 19 Mo. App. 364.

In an action by the grantor and grantee of land which the former was entitled to claim as exempt from execution as against his creditors, who had issued executions against the land, it is sufficient that the complaint states the value of the grantor's property at the time of the filing of the transcripts of the judgments on which executions were to be issued, and of the conveyance, showing it to be exempt from execution at the time, without stating the value at the time of instituting the action, and no demand need be alleged. Barnard v. Brown, 112 Ind. 53, 13 N. E. 401.

Value.— An allegation that "said property does not exceed in value the sum of $600" sufficiently shows the value of the property claimed as exempt. Boesker v. Pickett, 81 Ind. 554. Failure to state the value of the property unlawfully taken is a defect, if one at all, of such a formal kind that it is too late to take advantage of it after the trial. State v. Beamer, 73 Mo. 37.

73. Taylor v. Bertram, 55 S. W. 553, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1402.

74. Donnelly v. Wheeler, 34 Ark. 111. See Loring v. Wittich, 16 Fla. 498, for sufficient averments as to residence.

75. State v. Hussey, 7 Mo. App. 597.

76. It should be alleged in trespass against the sheriff for seizing exempt property that plaintiff (debtor) is "an actual, bona fide housekeeper with a family." Prewit v. Walker, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 332. An allegation that the debtor is a bona fide housekeeper with a family living at home and dependent on him is sufficient to bring him within the statute in connection with the fact that he was proceeded against as a resident of the state. Wolf v. Glenn, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 425.

77. State v. Power, 63 Nebr. 496, 88 N. W. 769. Averments that a person is and has been a citizen of this state; that he came to this state, bringing with him his family, with the intention of making his permanent home here; and that it has been his home ever since, sufficiently shows that he is "the head of a family residing in this state," so as to entitle him to exemptions. Loring v. Wittich, 16 Fla. 498.

78. A petition to enjoin the sale of exempt property is insufficient if it fails to allege that plaintiff is either the head of a family or a member of a family entitled to exemp-

statute for claiming and defining his rights.[79] This rule does not, however, require the debtor to set out his schedule in his pleadings.[80] The usual rule that special damages must be alleged obtains.[81] Facts constituting a defense must be pleaded by answer and not by demurrer.[82] Thus if a waiver of exemption is relied on as a defense it must be pleaded.[83]

(VII) Burden of Proof and Presumptions.[84] In an action or proceeding to enforce or establish an exemption right, the burden is upon him who seeks to enforce or establish it.[85] The claimant of exemption has the burden to show that tions under the acts of the twelfth legislature, page 427. Attoway v. Still, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 697.

79. Newcomer v. Alexander, 96 Ind. 453.

Filing or delivering schedule.— An allegation that "defendant filed with sheriff a schedule of his property" does not sufficiently show the filing of the schedule as the law requires. Over v. Shannon, 75 Ind. 352. But an allegation that defendant filed an affidavit and inventory containing a full account of all his property "at the date of the execution" substantially complies with the statute which requires the affidavit to state the debtor's property "at the date of issuing the writ." Eisenhauer v. Dill, 6 Ind. App. 188, 33 N. E. 220.

In replevin before a justice, 2 Ind. Rev. St. p. 464, § 1, requires that an affidavit of plaintiff must state that the property has not been taken under execution or other writ against him. An affidavit that plaintiff was a resident householder of certain personalty, that said property was exempt, that he made a demand that it be set off to him, and that defendant constable refused so to do after levy, is insufficient. Green v. Aker, 11 Ind. 223.

80. State v. Read, 94 Ind. 103. See also Coppage v. Gregg, 1 Ind. App. 112, 27 N. E. 570.

81. Boggan v. Bennett, 102 Ala. 400, 14 So. 742; Morris v. Williford, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 70 S. W. 278.

To recover the penalty of double damages provided by the statute for selling exempt property plaintiff must declare specially. Camp v. Ganley, 6 Ill. App. 499 [citing Pace v. Vaughan, 6 Ill. 30].

82. Keegan v. Peterson, 24 Minn. 1, holding that whether a certain harvester is a "farming utensil" and therefore exempt from execution should be raised by answer. See O'Donnell v. Segar, 25 Mich. 367, holding that the fact that plaintiff had sold other property to bring himself down to the statutory exemptions or sold any property during the winter prior to the taking by defendant of the property in controversy, are matters of defense to be pleaded as in confession and avoidance.

83. Murphy v. Sherman, 25 Minn. 196.

84. Burden of proof and presumptions generally see Evidence.

Presumptions as to jurisdiction of the ordinary granting the exemption (Gamble v. Central R., etc., Co., 80 Ga. 595, 7 S. E. 315, 12 Am. St. Rep. 276) and of the regularity of proceedings, as that due notice was given to the creditor of the proceedings (Chalker v. Thompson, 72 Ga. 478) are proper.

As to married women's exemption.— It will not be presumed that a married woman is entitled to the exemption given her under Ohio Rev. St. § 5441, in the absence of evidence showing that she and her husband are living together and that neither of them is the owner of a homestead. Voight v. Lafkin, 12 Ohio Cir. Ct. 751, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 124, where an exemption was sought in lieu of the homestead.

As to waiver.— In the absence of proof it will be presumed that the debtor does not waive his exemption. State v. Haggard, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 390. Where defendant does not have more than the statutory amount of property, and it does not appear that he was notified of his rights of exemption by the officer levying on the property, it will not be presumed that he waived his rights, although he did not assert them until long after the levy. Holliday v. Mansker, 44 Mo. App. 465. A note executed in Georgia, the domicile of both parties, and containing "a waiver of all rights of exemption and homestead," is presumed to refer only to the exemptions allowed by the law of Georgia, and does not apply in an action on the note in Alabama. Seay v. Palmer, 93 Ala. 381, 9 So. 601, 30 Am. St. Rep. 57. If one draws a bill of exchange on his employer, who owes him only for wages, the presumption is that he waives his right of exemption before acceptance. Bibb v. Janney, 45 Ala. 329.

85. Alabama.— Ely v. Blacker, 112 Ala. 311, 20 So. 570; Kolsky v. Loveman, 97 Ala. 543, 12 So. 720.

Arkansas.— Porch v. Arkansas Milling Co., 65 Ark. 40, 45 S. W. 51, 67 Am. St. Rep. 895; Blythe v. Jett, 52 Ark. 547, 13 S. W. 137.

California.—Murphy v. Harris, 77 Cal. 194, 19 Pac. 377; Calhoun v. Knight, 10 Cal. 393.

Georgia.— Steele v. Parker, 109 Ga. 791, 35 S. E. 167; Blanchard v. Paschal, 68 Ga. 32, 45 Am. Rep. 474.

Illinois.— McMasters v. Alsop, 85 Ill. 157.

Indiana.— Hartlep v. Cole, 101 Ind. 458.

Iowa.— Joyce v. Miller, 59 Iowa 761, 13 N. W. 664.

Massachusetts.— Clapp v. Thomas, 5 Allen 158. See also Gay v. Southworth, 113 Mass. 333.

Minnesota.— Fletcher v. Staples, 62 Minn. 471, 64 N. W. 1150.

New York.— Gilewicz v. Goldberg, 69 N. Y. App. Div. 438, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 984 [citing Knapp v. O'Neill, 46 Hun 317]; Tuttle v. Buck, 41 Barb. 417; Dains v. Prosser, 32 he has fulfilled the statutory requirement as to steps taken to obtain his exemption, such as demand and furnishing a schedule.[86]

(VIII) EVIDENCE.[87] Evidence to justify the suing out of the attachment is inadmissible where the issue is as to any legal levy on exempt property.[88] A debtor who before sale demands the return of his property as exempt and objects at the sale on the same ground and sues the sheriff and the purchaser for its return cannot show at the trial that the sale is void on other grounds.[89]

(IX) SUBMISSION TO AND QUESTIONS FOR JURY.[90] Unless it be shown in an action of replevin that the property in question was exempt, a nonsuit should Barb. 290; Griffin v. Sutherland, 14 Barb. 456.

Vermont.— Connell v. Fisk, 54 Vt. 381; Bourne v. Merritt, 22 Vt. 429.

Contra.— Under Wis. St. (1898) §§ 3716, 3719 et seq., which require in garnishment that the party seeking the remedy should show by affidavit that the indebtedness from the corporation to defendant is "not by law exempt from sale on execution" and which provide that from the time of the garnishment the corporation shall "stand liable to the plaintiff to the amount" of its indebtedness to defendant "then due and to become due and not by law exempt from sale on execution," the burden is upon plaintiff to prove that the indebtedness of the garnishee to defendant is not exempt. Eastlund v. Armstrong, 117 Wis. 394, 94 N. W. 301.

Burden of showing time when debt was contracted see Todd v. McCravey, 77 Ala. 468.

In replevin the burden is on plaintiff to show that the judgment on which the writ issued was rendered on a contract and that plaintiff owned the property. Thompson v. Ross, 87 Ind. 156.

The burden is on the garnishee or defendant to establish that earnings due from the garnishee are exempt from liability. Oakes v. Marquardt, 49 Iowa 643.

The burden is on plaintiff to prove that the value of all his tools, including the one for the seizure of which he brings trover, do not exceed the statutory limit. Chambers v. Halsted, Lalor (N. Y.) 384.

86. Graham v. Crockett, 18 Ind. 119.

The presumption that where the husband, wife, and children are living together, the husband is the head of the family is not rebutted by proof that the wife is the owner of the premises on which they live. Clinton v. Kidwell, 82 Ill. 427.

Satisfying burden.— The debtor's affidavit as to the necessary facts to entitle him to his exemption in wages is prima facie evidence of their truth. Muzzy v. Lantry, 30 Kan. 49, 2 Pac. 102. The allegations of the movant in a motion for a rule before a justice of the peace, asking that money received by the creditor and officer be paid over to the movant on the ground that it is exempt as his wages as a day laborer, are not sufficient to carry the burden of proof, where the creditor and officer answer that they cannot, for want of sufficient information, admit or deny that the movant is a day laborer or that the fund in controversy is exempt, and it is not error for the magistrate to award the fund to the judgment creditor. Steele v. Parker, 109 Ga. 791, 35 S. E. 167. If the debtor satisfies the burden and the officer alleges that the goods claimed as exempt have been taken for their purchase-price, it is his duty to go forward in his proof. Wagner v. Olson, 3 N. D. 69, 54 N. W. 286. Where the debtor has a specific exemption on household goods to a certain amount, he needs to prove, in an action to recover such property, which has been levied on, only that it is not worth more than the statutory limit; it is not necessary for him to show that he does not own any other property. Reinecke v. Flecke, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 491. Where there is no evidence that any harm was caused by delay in making claim, it is the duty of the creditor to show that the delay alleged by him was unreasonable. Kee v. Hobensack, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 82.

87. Evidence generally see EVIDENCE. See also supra, this article passim.

Evidence of damage.— In an action of replevin to recover exempt property taken under an execution and damages, it was not reversible error to admit evidence as to the wages paid to plaintiff's hands while defendant was in possession of the property, or injury to the credit of plaintiff and loss of custom caused thereby. Stonestreet v. Crandell, 10 Kan. App. 575, 62 Pac. 249.

Mental distress is not an element of actual damage for seizure and sale of property exempt from execution. Morris v. Williford, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 70 S. W. 228.

88. Brown v. Bridges, 70 Tex. 661, 8 S. W. 502.

Discharge of levy.—In an action for wrongfully seizing property under an attachment, in which the wrong complained of is the seizing of property not subject to the writ, plaintiff need not show that the levy has been discharged by the court. Baum v. Turner, 76 S. W. 129, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 600.

89. Redinger v. Jones, 68 Kan. 627, 73 Pac. 997.

90. See, generally, TRIAL.

Opening and closing.— When an applicant for exemption presents a schedule, the creditors who attack it are entitled to open and close before a jury. McNally v. Mulherin, 79 Ga. 614, 4 S. E. 332.

What are questions for the jury see also supra, this article passim.

Instructions.— The court cannot charge the jury that they are authorized to find that the property in question is exempt, when there is no evidence tending to prove that be granted.[91] Whether the debtor is entitled to have the question of his right to an exemption submitted to a jury depends upon the jurisdiction[92] or the issues presented.[93] When there is no conflict as to the facts the question is for the court.[94] In an action for a wrongful seizure and sale of exempt property, whether the property seized was in fact exempt is for the jury.[95]

(x) Judgment and Amount of Recovery.[96] The court cannot render judgment on facts not pleaded.[97] In trespass for taking exempt property, plaintiff is entitled to recover its value without being subject to a recoupment of the amount of its proceeds which have been applied in satisfaction of the execution.[98] The measure of damages, when no special damages are alleged, for the wrongful taking of exempt property is ordinarily the value of the property at the time of the taking[99] with interest from the date of the taking.[1] A wilful levy upon exempt property will justify exemplary damages.[2] If, however, plaintiff brings his action to recover a penalty provided by statute, he cannot have exemplary damages, but he is confined to the penalty.[3] fact. Tuttle v. Buck, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 417. In Matthews v. Redwine, 25 Miss. 99, a charge that the jury might without positive evidence infer that a horse was a plow horse was held correct in principle. For a fair presentation of the question of waiver see Carpentier v. Bresnahan, 74 Mich. 48, 41 N. W. 856. See also Woodbury v. Tuttle, 26 Ill. App. 211.

Verdict.— On an issue before the jury as to whether an applicant is entitled to a homestead and exemption, a finding of "homestead" for the applicant means the entire realty and personalty in issue. Brand v. Kennedy, 71 Ga. 707.

Finding.— A finding which does not contain sufficient facts to make the aggregate value of the property that a debtor owned a matter of computation and not of conjecture is insufficient. Emerson, etc., Co. v. Marshall, 4 Ind. App. 265, 30 N. E. 1099.

91. Hesse v. Hargraves, 74 Wis. 648, 43 N. W. 736, under Rev. St. § 3732, which provides that a judgment defendant cannot maintain an action for the recovery of property seized on execution against him, unless the property is exempt.

92. Becket v. Whitlock, 83 Ala. 123, 37 So. 545 (holding that under Ala. Code, § 2838, the court cannot direct an issue unless both parties appear, but in discretion can direct an issue to be made up at a subsequent time); Webb v. Edward, 46 Ala. 17 (holding that whether the debtor is entitled to the money in the officer's hands, which money has been collected in garnishment proceedings, is a question for the jury); Swope v. Ross, 29 Ark. 370 (holding that the impaneling of the jury to determine whether a person is entitled to an exemption is not authorized by statute).

93. Tasker v. Sheldon, 115 Pa. St. 107, 7 Atl. 762, holding that where plaintiff in execution alleges on exceptions to the appraisal of property claimed as exempt a fraudulent removal and concealment of the goods, the allegation strikes at the right of exemption itself and can be determined only by a jury.

94. Fischer v. McIntyre, 66 Mich. 681, 33 N. W. 762.

95. Haugen v. Younggren, 57 Minn. 170, 58 N. W. 988.

96. Damages generally see Damages.
Judgment generally see Judgments.

97. Paddock v. Lance, 94 Mo. 283, 6 S. W. 241, holding that an adjudication that plaintiff's title is invalid because of the failure of the officer to give the debtor notice of his right of exemption and election is unauthorized unless this appears by the pleadings. See also McGuire v. Galligan, 53 Mich. 453, 19 N. W. 142, holding that where, in replevin for personalty wrongfully sold on execution, plaintiff disavows title as to part of the property and puts the value of the rest above the statutory limit of exemption, the court cannot determine the fact of exemption and the wrongful refusal of the adverse party to allow it.

98. Hill v. Loomis, 6 N. H. 263.

To allow this would be practically to defeat the exemption and indirectly do what the law declares shall not be done. Cone v. Lewis, 64 Tex. 331, 53 Am. Rep. 767. See supra, VI, A, 4.

99. Howard v. Rugland, 35 Minn. 388, 29 N. W. 63; Morris v. Williford, (Tex. Civ. App. 1902) 70 S. W. 228. See Murphy v. Sherman, 25 Minn. 196.

Where the property is returned before suit in as good condition as when taken, the measure of damages is the net profits lost during the detention of the property and the expenses incurred by plaintiff in the procuring and placing of the property to take the place of that which has been lawfully seized. Wilson v. Manning, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 1079. See also Elder v. Frevert, 18 Nev. 446, 5 Pac. 69, holding that the measure of damages for the wrongful taking and detention of a team and wagon is the value of the use of the team and wagon during the time they are detained.

1. Murphy v. Sherman, 25 Minn. 196.

2. Matteson v. Monro, 80 Minn. 340, 83 N. W. 153. See Stonestreet v. Crandell, (Kan. App. 1900) 62 Pac. 249, where the exemplary damages awarded were not excessive.

3. Johnson v. Laroude, 110 Ill. App. 611.

(xi) Review.[4] After a cause has reached the appellate court it is too late for the first time either to urge[5] or to attack a claim of exemption.[6] And an exemption cannot be attacked in the appellate court on grounds not presented at the trial.[7] So an objection to the form of the judgment cannot be made for the first time upon appeal for the judgment is amendable in the court which rendered it.[8] The rule that an appellate court will not disturb a finding upon conflicting testimony[9] or for harmless error[10] obtains.

EXEQUATUR. See Ambassadors and Consuls.

EXERCISE.[1] To put in practice.[2] Sometimes the word is used as equivalent in meaning to "usurp."[3]

EXERCISE DISCRETION. To choose between doing and not doing a thing, the doing of which cannot be demanded as an absolute right of the party asking it to be done.[4] (See Discretion.)

EXERCISING A TRADE. Carrying on a business.[5]

EXERCISING THE RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE. Voting.[6] (See, generally, Elections.)

EXERCITOR. In maritime law, the person to whom the daily profits of a ship belong;[7] the person who receives the earnings of a vessel.[8] (See, generally, Shipping.)

4. Review generally see Appeal and Error.

Under N. C. Acts (1883), c. 347, providing that on appeal from an appraisal on homestead and personal property exemptions the jury shall assess the value of the property embraced therein and the court shall appoint three commissioners to set apart the exemptions in accordance with the verdict of the jury, the commissioners appointed to set apart the exemptions must be guided by the valuation of the jury, whose verdict is final. Shoaf v. Frost, 116 N. C. 675, 21 S. E. 409.

5. Richardson v. Woodring, 74 Iowa 149, 37 N. W. 122.

6. Weil v. Nevitt, 18 Colo. 10, 31 Pac. 487; Bassett v. Inman, 7 Colo. 270, 3 Pac. 383.

7. Weil v. Nevitt, 18 Colo. 10, 31 Pac. 487.

8. O'Brien v. Peterman, 34 Ind. 556, where the judgment erroneously directed the sale of property without relief from the valuation law.

9. Joyce v. Miller, 59 Iowa 761, 13 N. W. 664; Wolf v. Farley, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 168. See also Savage v. Davis, 134 Mass. 401; Gray v. Putnam, 51 S. C. 97, 28 S. E. 149.

10. Cronfeldt v. Arrol, 50 Minn. 327, 52 N. W. 857, 36 Am. St. Rep. 648.

1. "The word . . . has an established legal meaning." Cleaver v. Com., 34 Pa. St. 283, 284.

"Any exercise of any of the powers conferred on the local board" relative to highways see Burgess v. Northwich Local Bd., 6 Q. B. D. 264, 275, 45 J. P. 256, 50 L. J. Q. B. 219, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 154, 29 Wkly. Rep. 931.

"Exercise" of one's usual vocation on Sunday see Voglesong v. State, 9 Ind. 112, 113.

"Make, use, exercise, and vend" an invention see Minter v. Williams, 4 A. & E. 251, 253, 1 Hurl. & W. 585, 15 L. J. K. B. 60, 5 N. & M. 647, 31 E. C. L. 124; Saccharin Corp. v. Reitmeyer, [1900] 2 Ch. 659, 663, 69 L. J. Ch. 761, 83 L. T. Rep. N. S. 397.

Not to "exercise" a particular trade in a covenant see Cooke v. Colcraft, 2 W. Bl. 856, 3 Wils. C. P. 380, 388.

The "exercise" of a corporate right, privilege, or franchise embraces the prosecution by a corporation of an action for libel. Milwaukee Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Sentinel Co., 81 Wis. 207, 211, 51 N. W. 440, 15 L. R. A. 627.

To "exercise" corporate powers see Middletown Ferry Co. v. Middletown, 40 Conn. 65, 70.

"To exercise the law making power" must mean to make rules for the government of men's actions, and to make rules to define what shall be yours and what shall be mine; to make rules what shall be the consequences of doing and not doing particular acts. State v. Fry, 4 Mo. 120, 190.

"To exercise the privileges conferred by the charter" refers to the right of the corporation to transact the business for which it was chartered. Branch v. Augusta Glass Works, 95 Ga. 573, 576, 23 S. E. 128.

2. Saccharin Corp. v. Reitmeyer, [1900] 2 Ch. 659, 663, 69 L. J. Ch. 761, 83 L. T. Rep. N. S. 397.

3. Cleaver v. Com., 34 Pa. St. 283, 284.

4. Alden v. Hinton, 6 D. C. 217, 223.

5. Grainger v. Gough, [1896] A. C. 325, 343.

"Exercising" trade in United Kingdom see Watson v. Sandie, [1898] 1 Q. B. 326, 329, 67 L. J. Q. B. 319, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 528, 46 Wkly. Rep. 202.

"Exercise" and occupy the craft, mystery, or manual occupation of a woollen-draper see Rex v. Kilderby, 1 Saund. 308, 309.

6. U. S. v. Souders, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,358, 2 Abb. 456.

7. Trayner Leg. Max. [citing Justinian Inst. b. 4, tit. 7, § 2].

8. The Phebe, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,064. 1 Ware 263, 265, where it is held that when applied to a ship-owner who has, by contract,

EX FACTO JUS ORITUR.[9] A maxim meaning "The law arises out of the fact."[10]

EX FREQUENTI DELICTO AUGETUR PŒNA. A maxim meaning "Punishment increases with increasing crime."[11]

EXHAUST. To empty.[12]

EXHAUSTER. An aspirator, exhaust-fan, suction-fan, known by many names according to construction or purpose.[13] (See, generally, PATENTS.)

EXHIBIT.[14] As a noun, a paper or document produced and exhibited to a court during a trial or hearing, or to a commissioner taking depositions, or to auditors, arbitrators, etc., as a voucher, or in proof of facts, or as otherwise connected with the subject-matter, and which, on being accepted, is marked for identification and annexed to the deposition, report, or other principal document, or filed of record, or otherwise made a part of the case;[15] a paper referred to in and filed with the bill or answer in a suit in equity.[16] As a verb,[17] to present;[18] to present in a public or official manner;[19] to offer or propose in a formal and public manner; to present or show in legal form; to present to a court;[20] to produce a thing publicly, &c.;[21] to produce a thing publicly, so that it may be divested himself from all control of the ship, yet receives a certain proportion of the freight and earnings of the vessel, it may mean an "employer."

9. "A maxim of the common law."— Stephenson v. Fraser, 24 N. Brunsw. 482, 494.

10. Broom Leg. Max.

Applied in Stout v. Rassel, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 334, 338; Tyson's Estate, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 82, 84; Stephenson v. Fraser, 24 N. Brunsw. 482, 494; Catterall v. Hindle, L. R. 2 C. P. 368, 370.

11. Wharton L. Lex. [citing 2 Inst. 479].

12. See 15 Cyc. 1043.

A gale to work a coal mine is "exhausted" within the meaning of 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43, § 61, when there is not enough coal left in it to make it worth working. Ellway v. Davis, L. R. 16 Eq. 294, 297, 43 L. J. Ch. 75, 21 Wkly. Rep. 806.

"Exhausted by judicial proceedings" see Globe Pub. Co. v. State Bank, 41 Nebr. 175, 194, 59 N. W. 683, 27 L. R. A. 854.

13. Knight Mech. Dict. (1884) [quoted in Williames v. Barnard, 41 Fed. 358, 362, where the term is considered in connection with a patent right].

14. "The dictionaries give a meaning to the word . . . which sustains the ordinary professional opinion." Com. v. Anspach, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 414.

"Exhibit" may include blood-stained garments as evidence of murder (People v. Hughson, 154 N. Y. 153, 165, 47 N. E. 1092); a coupon taken from a town bond (Concord v. Derby Line Nat. Bank, 51 Vt. 144, 147).

15. Black L. Dict. See also State v. Elia, 108 La. 553, 556, 32 So. 476.

16. Brown v. Redwyne, 16 Ga. 67, 72 [citing 1 Daniell Ch. Pr. 475, 476].

17. Distinguished from "read" in Craig v. Smith, 100 U. S. 226, 232, 25 L. ed. 577.

"Exhibit" and "examine" corporation books see Brouwer v. Cotheal, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 216, 218 [affirmed in 5 N. Y. 562].

"Exhibit the books" as applied to a duty enjoined upon corporations by statute means showing the contents of the books, and not their outside merely. Brouwer v. Cotheal, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 216, 218 [affirmed in 5 N. Y. 562].

"Exhibiting a faro bank for gaming" as used in a statute should not be construed to be synonymous with the words "exhibiting faro bank." Kramer v. State, 18 Tex. App. 13.

"Exhibiting a claim for classification and presenting it for allowance, are different steps." Pfeiffer v. Suss, 73 Mo. 245, 255.

"Exhibiting" in gaming is the act of displaying a bank or game for the purpose of obtaining betters. Wolz v. State, 33 Tex. 331, 336; Kain v. State, 16 Tex. App. 282, 307; Whitney v. State, 10 Tex. App. 377, 379, construing the term as used in the Texas penal code. But in a restricted sense the word conveys the idea of a single, rather than a continuous act. Kain v. State, 16 Tex. App. 282, 306, distinguishing the word from "keeping."

18. In re Wiltse, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 105, 112, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 733, as used in a statute regulating the presentation of claims against a decedent's estate. But see Ellison v. Lindsley, 33 N. J. Eq. 258, 260.

19. Webster Dict. [quoted in Com. v. Anspach, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 414].

20. Burrill L. Dict. [quoted in Com. v. Alsop, 1 Brewst. (Pa.) 328, 345, where it is said: "Worcester adopts this definition, and quotes from Clarendon: 'He suffered his attorney-general to exhibit a charge of high treason against the earl'"].

"Present or exhibit" his claim or demand to the court or commissioners see Fitzgerald v. Union Sav. Bank, 65 Nebr. 97, 100, 90 N. W. 994.

"The production and proof of a paper before an examiner makes it an exhibit in fact." Commercial Bank v. State Bank, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 516, 519 [citing Tomlins Dict.].

21. Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Com. v. Alsop, 1 Brewst. (Pa.) 328, 346, where it is said: "In the English Admiralty, after the return of process, the promovent 'is called upon to exhibit his libel': 1 Conkling Ad. Proc. 417"].

taken possession of, or seized; to file of record.[22] As applied to a complaint, or information, in a criminal case, to present the same to a public officer.[23] (Exhibit: Annexation of — To Deposition, see Depositions; To Order to Take Depositions, see Depositions; To Pleading, see Equity; Pleading. As Part of Record on Appeal, see Appeal and Error. Documentary Evidence, see Evidence. Experiments in Evidence, see Evidence; Trial. Incorporation in Case or Statement of Facts, see Appeal and Error. Printing, as Costs, see Costs. Reference to in Bill of Exceptions, see Appeal and Error. Use by Counsel in Arguments, see Criminal Law; Trial.)

EXHIBITANT. A complainant in articles of the peace.[24]

EXHIBITING OF THE BILL. In practice, a phrase which may be synonymous with the words "commencement of the suit."[25]

EXHIBITION. The act of exhibiting or displaying for inspection; a showing or presenting to view;[26] that which is exhibited; a show.[27]

EXIGENT or EXIGI FACIAS. In England, a writ commanding the sheriff to exact, or call on the defendant at five successive county courts (or hustings, if in London): if he fail to appear he is outlawed.[28]

EXIGI FACIAS. See Exigent.

EXILIUM EST PATRIÆ PRIVATIO, NATALIS SOLI MUTATIO, LEGUM NATIVARUM AMISSIO. A maxim meaning "Exile is a privation of country, a change of natal soil, a loss of native laws."[29]

EXIST. To live, to have life or animation.[30]

22. Com. v. Anspach, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 414 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict., and citing Dig. 10, 4, 2; Sellon Pr. 74; Stephen Pl. 52 note].

23. Newell v. State, 2 Conn. 38, 40.

24. Bouvier L. Dict. See also Rex v. Stanhope, 12 A. & E. 619 note, 40 E. C. L. 310.

25. Rees v. Morgan, 5 B. & Ad. 1035, 1039, 3 L. J. K. B. 102, 3 N. & M. 205, 27 E. C. L. 434.

26. Century Dict.

"Exhibition" of an indictment within the statutory period does not require an exhibition to the defendant personally, but only means a public presentation in court by the grand jury. Com. v. Anspach, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 414. But compare Com. v. Alsop, 1 Brewst. (Pa.) 328, 344.

"Legal exhibition of a claim against an estate" see Pfeiffer v. Suss, 73 Mo. 245, 254.

27. Century Dict. See also People v. Royal, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 258, 260, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 742.

"Exhibitions for gain" see Webber v. Chicago, 148 Ill. 313, 319, 36 N. E. 70.

"Exhibitions of minstrelsy" see Society for Reformation, etc. v. Neusbach, 16 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 349.

"Exhibition" does not include a school for the teaching of dancing (Com. v. Gee, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 174, 179); or piano playing in a liquor saloon (People v. Campbell, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 565, 566, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 114).

See, generally, Agriculture; Theaters and Shows.

28. Cochran L. Lex.

29. Wharton L. Lex.

30. Merritt v. Grover, 57 Iowa 493, 495, 10 N. W. 879.

In connection with other words the term "existing" has often received judicial interpretation; for example as used in the following phrases: "An existing company" (see Richmond Waterworks Co. v. Richmond, 3 Ch. D. 82, 97, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 480, 45 L. J. Ch. 441); "existing appraisal" (see Winnipiseogee Lake Cotton, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Laconia, 68 N. H. 284, 288, 35 Atl. 252); "existing contract" (see Whitaker v. Rice, 9 Minn. 13, 18, 86 Am. Dec. 78); "existing creditor" (see Goll, etc., Co. v. Miller, 87 Iowa 426, 431, 54 N. W. 443; McAfee v. Busby, 69 Iowa 328, 331, 28 N. W. 623; Fox v. Edwards, 38 Iowa 215, 216); "existing debt" (see Severs v. Dodson, 53 N. J. Eq. 633, 637, 34 Atl. 7, 51 Am. St. Rep. 641; Wing v. Slater, 19 R. I. 597, 601, 35 Atl. 302, 33 L. R. A. 566); "existing estates" (see State v. Diveling, 66 Mo. 375, 379); "existing lien" (see St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 153 Ill. 182, 194, 38 N. E. 638); "existing law" (see McKean v. Archer, 52 Fed. 791, 793; Curtis v. Wortsman, 26 Fed. 36, 37); "existing law of the state" (see 1 Cyc. 616 note 95); "existing laws" (see Lawrie v. State, 5 Ind. 525, 526. See also Millen v. Guerrard, 67 Ga. 284, 291, 44 Am. Rep. 720; Jonesboro v. Cairo, etc., R. Co., 110 U. S. 192, 198, 4 S. Ct. 67, 28 L. ed. 116); "existing railroad corporations" (see Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Blackman, 63 Ill. 117, 118); "existing right" (see Godwin v. Banks, 87 Md. 425, 440, 40 Atl. 268 [citing Jackson v. Waldron, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 221, 222]); "existing rights of others" (see Silver Bow Min., etc., Co. v. Clark, 5 Mont. 378, 417, 5 Pac. 570 [citing Steel v. St. Louis Smelting, etc., Co., 106 U. S. 447, 1 S. Ct. 389, 27 L. ed. 226); "existing settlement" (see Fitchburg v. Ashby, 132 Mass. 495, 496, dissenting opinion [cited in Worcester v. Great Barrington, 140 Mass. 243, 244, 5 N. E. 491]); "existing sewers" (see Falconar v. South Shields, EXISTENCE. That which exists; that which actually is an individual thing; an actuality.[31]

EXITS. A term which may mean doors, or gates, or passages, or a mere right of way.[32] (See ENTRY.)

EXITUS ACTA PROBAT; FINIS, NON PUGNA, CORONAT. A maxim meaning "The conclusion or result proves or justifies the acts; the termination, not the trial, crowns the victory."[33]

EX JUDICORUM PUBLICORUM ADMISSIS, NON ALIAS TRANEUNT ADVERSUS HAEREDES POENAE BONORUM ADEMPTIONIS QUAM SI LIS CONTESTAT ET CONDEMNATIO FUERIT SECUTA; EXCEPTO MAJESTATIS JUDICIO. A maxim meaning "On account of admissions made at public trials, the punishment of confiscation of goods or property does not otherwise pass against heirs than if a contested suit and condemnation followed; excepting in the case of high treason."[34]

EX JUSTIS NUPTIIS PROCREATUS. Born of or in lawful marriage.[35]

EX MALEFICIO NON ORITUR CONTRACTUS. A maxim meaning "A contract cannot arise out of an act radically vicious and illegal."[36]

EX MALIS MORIBUS BONÆ LEGES NATÆ SUNT. A maxim meaning "Good laws arise from evil manners."[37]

EX MALITIA. In its legal signification, a term which imports a publication that is false and without legal excuse.[38] (See, generally, LIBEL AND SLANDER.)

EX MULTITUDINE SIGNORUM, COLLIGITUR IDENTITAS VERA. A maxim meaning "From the great number of signs true identity is ascertained."[39]

EX NIHILO NIHIL FIT. A maxim meaning "From nothing nothing comes."[40]

EX NUDÂ SUBMISSIONE NON ORITUR ACTIO. A maxim meaning "From a bare or naked submission [i. e. to arbitration] no action can arise."[41]

EX NUDO PACTO NON ORITUR ACTIO.[42] A maxim meaning "No cause of action arises from a bare promise."[43]

11 T. L. R. 223); "existing street" (see London County Council v. Mitchell, 63 L. J. M. C. 104, 107, 10 Reports 308); "existing suit" (see Blake v. Done, 7 H. & N. 465, 472, 7 Jur. N. S. 1306, 31 L. J. Exch. 100, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 429, 10 Wkly. Rep. 175).

31. Century Dict.

32. Roberts v. Trujillo, 3 N. M. 50, 51, 1 Pac. 855.

33. Adams Gloss.

34. Adams Gloss. [citing Halkerston Max. 44].

35. Adams Gloss. [citing Broom Leg. Max. 496; Coke Litt. 7*b*]. See also Doe v. Vardill, 5 B. & C. 438, 453, 11 E. C. L. 531.

36. Broom Leg. Max.

Applied in Collier v. Miller, 62 Hun (N. Y.) 99, 109, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 633; Harris v. Harris, 23 Gratt. (Va.) 737, 767; Reg. v. McCleverty, L. R. 3 P. C. 673, 687; Petrie v. Hannay, 3 T. R. 418, 421; Shove v. Webb, 1 T. R. 732, 734. See also Woytas v. Hibbs, 10 Kulp (Pa.) 269, 270.

37. Wharton L. Lex. [citing 2 Inst.].

Applied in Townsend v. Hughes, 2 Mod. 150, 161; Townsend v. Hughes, 1 Mod. 232, 233.

38. Dixon v. Allen, 69 Cal. 527, 529, 11 Pac. 179 [citing Townshend Lib. & Sl. 88].

39. Bouvier L. Dict. [citing Bacon Max. Reg. 25; Broom Leg. Max. 638].

40. Bouvier L. Dict.

Applied in the following cases:

Maine.—Bailey v. Myrick, 50 Me. 171, 187.

Maryland.—In re Bank, 87 Md. 425, 441, 40 Atl. 268.

New York.—Watervliet v. Colonie, 27 N. Y. App. Div. 394, 396, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 487; Harlem Gas Light Co. v. New York, 3 Rob. 100, 127; Root v. Stuyvesant, 18 Wend. 257, 301; Jackson v. Waldron, 13 Wend. 178, 221.

Pennsylvania.—Taggart v. Fox, 1 Grant 190, 192.

Vermont.—Peabody v. Landon, 61 Vt. 318, 328, 17 Atl. 781, 15 Am. St. Rep. 903.

41. Adams Gloss. [citing Broom Leg. Max.].

42. "The maxim of the civil law."—Van der Volgen v. Yates, 9 N. Y. 219, 222.

43. Broom Leg. Max.

Applied in the following cases:

Connecticut.—Cook v. Bradley, 7 Conn. 54, 62, 18 Am. Dec. 79.

Missouri.—Anderson v. Stapel, 80 Mo. App. 115, 122.

New York.—Van der Volgen v. Yates, 9 N. Y. 219, 222; Farrington v. Bullard, 40 Barb. 512, 515.

Pennsylvania.—Thum's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 739, 742.

England.—Pillans v. Van Mierop, 3 Burr. 1663, 1670; Balfe v. West, 13 C. B. 466, 472, 22 L. J. C. P. 175, 1 Wkly. Rep. 335, 22 Eng. L. & Eq. 506, 76 E. C. L. 466; Liversidge v. Broadbent, 4 H. & N. 603, 610, 28 L. J. Exch. 332, 7 Wkly. Rep. 615; Sharington v. Strotton, 1 Plowd. 298, 305; Carnatic v. East India Co., 1 Ves. Jr. 371, 389, 30 Eng. Reprint 391.

EX-OFFICER. An officer who has been in office, but has gone out.[44] (See, generally, Officers.)

EX OFFICIO. From office; by virtue of the office; without any other warrant or appointment than that resulting from the holding of a particular office.[45] (Ex Officio: Powers and Duties, see Officers.)

EXONERATION. The state of being disburdened or freed from a charge. It is something that is supposed to take place after a charge has been made.[46] In Scotch law, a discharge, or a deed by which a person is disburdened.[47] (Exoneration: Of Bail, see Bail. Of Guarantor, see Guaranty. Of Indemnitor, see Indemnity. Of Property or Legacies From Payment of Debts, see Executors and Administrators. Of Surety, see Principal and Surety.)

EXONERETUR. See Bail.

EX P. An abbreviation for Ex Parte,[48] q. v.

EX PACTO ILLICITO NON ORITUR ACTIO. A maxim meaning "From an illicit contract no action arises."[49]

EX PARTE. On behalf of.[50]

EX PARTE MATERNA or EX PARTE PATERNA.[51] Terms used to denote the line, or blood of the mother or father.[52] (See, generally, Descent and Distribution; Wills.)

EX PARTE PROCEEDING. A proceeding at the instance and for the benefit of one party only and without notice to or contestation by any person adversely interested.[53] (Ex Parte Proceeding: In General, see Motions. Appealability of Orders in, see Appeal and Error. Dismissal or Nonsuit, see Dismissal and Nonsuit. Habeas Corpus, see Habeas Corpus. In Admiralty, see Admiralty. In Bankruptcy, see Bankruptcy. In Insolvency, see Insolvency.)

EXPATRIATION. See Citizens.

EX PAUCIS PLURIMA CONCIPIT INGENIUM. A maxim meaning "From a few words or hints the understanding conceives many things."[54]

EXPECT.[55] This term has been defined as meaning: to look for (mentally);

Canada.— Heckman v. Zwicker, 1 Nova Scotia 200, 203.

44. Cordiell v. Frizell, 1 Nev. 130, 132.

45. Black L. Dict. See also Brace v. Solner, 1 Alaska 361, 379; State v. Walker, 97 Mo. 162, 163, 10 S. W. 473; Territory v. Ritter, 1 Wyo. 318, 331.

46. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Com., 114 Ky. 787, 806, 71 S. W. 910, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 1593, 1779. See also Bannon v. Burnes, 39 Fed. 892, 898, where it is said: "The term 'exonerated' was, presumably, employed in its ordinary acceptation: 'to be relieved of as a charge; to be discharged or exempted.'"

"In exoneration" of real estate see In re Rossiter, 13 Ch. D. 355, 356, 49 L. J. Ch. 36, 42 L. T. Rep. N. S. 353, 28 Wkly. Rep. 238.

"In exoneration of my other real estate" see In re Newmarch, 9 Ch. D. 12, 18, 48 L. J. Ch. 28, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 146, 27 Wkly. Rep. 104.

47. Burrill L. Dict. [citing Bell Dict.].

In connection with other words this term has often received judicial interpretation; for example in the following phrases: "Corporate existence" (see Hurt v. Salisbury, 55 Mo. 310, 314); "existence and location" of a cattle chute (see Dorsey v. Phillips, etc., Constr. Co., 42 Wis. 583, 602); "existence by actual birth" (see Wallace v. State, 10 Tex. App. 255, 270); "the existence of such theory" (see Silver Min. Co. v. Fall, 6 Nev. 116, 121).

48. Anderson L. Dict.

49. Bouvier L. Dict. [citing Broom Leg. Max. 742].

Applied in De Witt Wire-Cloth Co. v. New Jersey Wire-Cloth Co., 16 Daly (N. Y.) 529, 533, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 277; McCortle v. Bates, 29 Ohio St. 419, 422, 23 Am. Rep. 758; Stewart v. Gibson, 7 Cl. & F. 707, 729, 7 Eng. Reprint 1237.

50. Anderson L. Dict.

51. The phrases "ex parte materna" and "ex parte paterna" have a well-known signification in the law. They are found constantly used in the books. Banta v. Demarest, 24 N. J. L. 431, 433.

52. And they "have no such restricted or limited sense, as from the mother or father, exclusively." Banta v. Demarest, 24 N. J. L. 431, 433 [citing Den v. Jones, 8 N. J. L. 340, 348; Jackson v. Lyon, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 664; 2 Blackstone Comm. 224 note 25, 225 note 26, etc.]. See also Perot's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 235, 242.

53. Black L. Dict.

As applied to the examination of witnesses, the term implies an examination in the presence of one of the parties and in the absence of the other. Lincoln v. Cook, 3 Ill. 61, 62.

54. Black L. Dict.

55. "Expected to arrive" see Abe Stein Co. v. Robertson, 167 N. Y. 101, 107, 60 N. E. 329; Corkling v. Massey, L. R. 8 C. P. 395, 399, 1 Aspin. 18, 42 L. J. C. P. 153, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 636, 21 Wkly. Rep. 680; Smith v.

to look forward to, as to something that is believed to be about to happen or come.[56]

EXPECTANCY.[57] The condition of being referred to a future time, or of dependence upon an expected event; contingency as to possession or enjoyment;[58] a mere hope unfounded in any limitation, provision, trust, or legal act whatever;[59] a bare hope of succession to the property of another such as may be entertained by an heir apparent.[60] (Expectancy: Assignability, see Assignments. Curtesy in Estates in, see Curtesy. Estates in, see Estates. Mortgage, see Chattel Mortgages; Mortgages. Of Life, see Damages; Death; Life Insurance. Release of, see Descent and Distribution.)

EXPECTANT HEIR. An heir expecting an inheritance from intestacy or devise.[61]

EXPECTANT RIGHT. A right which depends on the continued existence of the present condition of things until the happening of some future event.[62]

EXPEDITION. A march or voyage with martial,[63] or hostile intentions.[64] (See Enterprise; and, generally, War.)

EXPEDIT REIPUBLICÆ NE QUIS RE SUA MALE UTATUR. A maxim meaning "It concerns the public good that no one should misuse his own property."[65]

EXPEDIT REIPUBLICÆ UT SIT FINIS LITIUM. A maxim meaning "It is to the advantage of the state that there should be an end of litigation."[66]

Myers, L. R. 7 Q. B. 139, 141, 41 L. J. Q. B. 91, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 103, 20 Wkly. Rep. 186; Bold v. Rayner, 2 Gale 44, 5 L. J. Exch. 172, 173, 1 M. & W. 343, 1 Tyrw. & G. 820.

"Expects" to make a party to an action as used in reference to the taking of a deposition see Matter of Darling, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 543, 545, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 793.

"Expects" a boat to be completed in connection with an offer of employment see Johnson v. McCune, 27 Mo. 171, 174.

56. Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Hamlin, 67 Kan. 476, 484, 73 Pac. 58.

57. "Expectancy of a renewal" see Crittenden, etc., Co. v. Cowles, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 95, 96, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 701.

58. Black L. Dict. [quoted in Ayers v. Chicago Title, etc., Co., 187 Ill. 42, 58, 58 N. E. 318].

59. 2 Fearne Rem. 22 [quoted in Jeffers v. Lampson, 10 Ohio St. 102, 106].

60. De Hass v. Bunn, 2 Pa. St. 335, 338, 44 Am. Dec. 201 [quoted in Robbin's Estate, 199 Pa. St. 500, 501, 49 Atl. 223, where the term is distinguished from "contingent interest"].

61. Whelan v. Phillips, 151 Pa. St. 312, 322, 25 Atl. 44.

This phrase is sometimes used not in its literal meaning, but as including every one who has either a vested remainder or a contingent remainder in a family property, including a remainder in a portion, as well as a remainder in an estate, and every one who has the hope of succession to the property of an ancestor, either by reason of his being the heir apparent or presumptive, or by reason merely of the expectation of a devise or bequest on account of the supposed or presumed affection of his ancestor or relative. Wells v. Houston, 23 Tex. Civ. App. 629, 655, 57 S. W. 584; Beynon v. Cook, L. R. 10 Ch. 389, 391 note; 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 353, 23 Wkly. Rep. 531. See also Aylesford v. Morris, L. R. 8 Ch. 484, 497, 42 L. J. Ch. 546, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 541, 21 Wkly. Rep. 424.

62. Cooley Const. L. 332 [quoted in People v. Adirondack R. Co., 39 N. Y. App. Div. 34, 56, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 869; Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 673, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838, where the term is distinguished from "contingent rights" and "vested rights"].

63. U. S. v. Ybanez, 53 Fed. 536, 538; Johnson Dict. [quoted in U. S. v. Burr, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,694].

64. U. S. v. Ybanez, 53 Fed. 536, 538.

In this sense, it does not mean the body which marches, but the march itself. The term is, however, sometimes employed to designate the armament itself, as well as the movement of that armament. U. S. v. Burr, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,694.

The term is not to be confined to that movement of the troops which immediately precedes the actual conflict and shock of battle. Leathers v. Greenacre, 53 Me. 561, 573.

65. Trayner Leg. Max.

Applied in Belcher v. Farrar, 8 Allen (Mass.) 325, 329.

66. Bouvier L. Dict. [citing Coke Litt. 303*b*].

Applied in the following cases:

Maine.—Walker v. Chase, 53 Me. 258, 260; Sturtevant v. Randall, 53 Me. 149, 153.

Massachusetts.—French v. Neal, 24 Pick. 55, 61; Eastman v. Cooper, 15 Pick. 276, 286, 26 Am. Dec. 600.

New York.—Calkins v. Calkins, 3 Barb. 305, 310; Tomlinson v. Miller, Sheld. 197, 207; French v. Shotwell, 5 Johns. Ch. 555, 568.

Pennsylvania.—Marsh v. Pier, 4 Rawle 273, 288, 26 Am. Dec. 131; Wells' Estate, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 354, 361; Crossen v. McAllister, 2 Pa. L. J. 199, 201.

United States.—Lawrence v. Vernon, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,146, 3 Sumn. 20.

EXPEL.[67] To drive or force out, or reject.[68] As applied to membership in an association, to exclude or dismiss.[69]

EXPEND.[70] To dispose of.[71]

EXPENDITURE. The spending of money;[72] the act of expending, a laying out, as of money; disbursement, money expended, EXPENSE,[73] q. v.; payment.[74] (Expenditure: In General, see COSTS. By Agent, see PRINCIPAL AND AGENT. By Assignee — In Behalf of Assigned Estate, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS; Of Bankrupt's Estate, see BANKRUPTCY; Of Insolvents' Estate, see INSOLVENCY. By Auctioneer, see AUCTIONS AND AUCTIONEERS. By Executor or Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS. By Guardian, see GUARDIAN AND WARD. By Trustee, see TRUSTS. Lien of Attorney For, see ATTORNEY AND CLIENT. Right as to Expenditures Affected by Lapse of Time, see EQUITY. See also DISBURSEMENTS.)

EXPENSE.[75] That which is spent; money expended; COST,[76] q. v.; EXPENDITURE,[77] q. v.; money actually paid out;[78] outlay;[79] the disbursement of money,[80] the payment of a price;[81] but it is as well the employment and consumption of time and labor.[82] In common speech and in contracts, the term signifies not only the cost of contemplated services, materials, etc., but also the charges for such as have been performed or furnished.[83] As connected with litigation, the term may have, at least, two meanings — the one including the ordinary costs or taxable expenses, and the other the extraordinary costs also, such as agents' and attorneys' fees, etc.[84] As used in an act appropriating money for 67. "Ejected," "expelled," "put out," and "removed" relating to trespass see Perry v. Fitzhowe, 8 Q. B. 757, 779, 10 Jur. 799, 15 L. J. Q. B. 239, 55 E. C. L. 757.

68. Smith v. Leo, 92 Hun (N. Y.) 242, 243, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 949.

69. Macauley v. Tierney, 19 R. I. 255, 263, 33 Atl. 1, 61 Am. St. Rep. 770, 37 L. R. A. 455.

70. "Expended necessarily" means actually paid. See Reg. v. Marsham, [1892] 1 Q. B. 371, 379, 56 J. P. 164, 61 L. J. M. C. 52, 65 L. T. Rep. N. S. 778, 40 Wkly. Rep. 84.

"Moneys expended" in the execution of a contract see Littlefield v. Winslow, 19 Me. 394, 397.

71. Norman v. Central Kentucky Lunatic Asylum, 92 Ky. 10, 16, 17 S. W. 150, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 310.

72. Ainsworth v. Dean, 21 N. H. 400, 407.

73. Webster Dict. [quoted in Ainsworth v. Dean, 21 N. H. 400, 408].

74. People v. Kane, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 472, 482, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 195.

"What is contemplated is expenditure. What do you 'expend'? You 'expend' that which you have. A man cannot spend what he has not got — he can mortgage or pledge, but he cannot actually spend." In re Bristol, [1893] 3 Ch. 161, 166, 62 L. J. Ch. 901, 3 Reports 689.

As used in a statute, the word is entirely equivocal and may, in its natural sense, signify as well the application of money to purposes for which towns have not authority to raise money, as to purposes for which they have such authority. Adams v. Mack, 3 N. H. 493, 501 [cited in Ainsworth v. Dean, 21 N. H. 400, 407]. As used in a statute providing that the state may resume the right and privilege of the corporation in a railroad, paying to the corporation all it may not have received of its expenditures, the term does not mean cost of construction, but what had been expended by the stockholders. State v. Manchester, etc., R. Co., 70 N. H. 421, 432, 48 Atl. 1103.

75. Distinguished from "value" in Voelz v. Breitenfield, 68 Wis. 491, 496, 32 N. W. 757.

"'Expenses' is never used to signify expenses during the life of the testator; they would be debts." In re Haines, 8 N. J. Eq. 506, 510.

76. People v. Saratoga County, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 42, 50, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 1122.

77. Bowery Bank v. Hart, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 412, 413, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 781 [citing Century Dict.]; Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192, 199.

Commission paid to brokers when not included within definition of "expenses" see Texas Land, etc., Co. v. Holtham, 63 L. J. Q. B. 496, 1 Manson 429, 10 Reports 398.

78. Mombert v. Bannock County, (Ida. 1904) 75 Pac. 239, 243.

79. Bowery Bank v. Hart, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 412, 413, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 781 [citing Century Dict.]; Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192, 199.

80. Bowery Bank v. Hart, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 412, 413, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 781 [citing Century Dict.]; Matthews, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Trenton Lamp Co., 73 Fed. 212, 215; Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192, 199.

81. Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192, 199.

82. Matthews, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Trenton Lamp Co., 73 Fed. 212, 215.

83. Sullivan v. Triunfo Gold, etc., Min. Co., 39 Cal. 459, 466.

84. Kohn v. Zimmerman, 34 Iowa 544, 545 [quoted in Bowery Bank v. Hart, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 412, 413, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 781].

"'Expenses' . . . is a word frequently used in the Scotch Courts where the English salaries and expenses of the national board of health, the term has been construed to mean those expenses which are necessarily incident to the work directed to be done, including payment for clerk hire or office rent.[85] (Expense:

Courts would use the word 'costs.'" Reg. v. Vantassel, 5 Can. Cr. Cas. 128, 132.

85. Dunwoody v. U. S., 22 Ct. Cl. 269, 280.

In connection with other words this term "expense" or "expenses" has often received judicial interpretation, for example as used in the following phrases: "All expenses for the sale and keep" (see Ferguson v. Hogan, 25 Minn. 135, 140); "all expenses incident to such sale" (see Johnson v. Glenn, 80 Md. 369, 370, 30 Atl. 993); "all expenses of the company" (see Kane v. Schuylkill F. Ins. Co., 199 Pa. St. 205, 208, 48 Atl. 989); "all just and reasonable expenses" (see Brady v. Dilley, 27 Md. 570, 582); "all reasonable expenses incurred" (see Hall v. Vermont, etc., R. Co., 28 Vt. 401, 407); "all the expenses, if any, in this case" (see Kohn v. Zimmerman, 34 Iowa 544, 545); "all the expenses" of locating a new road (see Damon v. Reading, 2 Gray (Mass.) 274, 276); "and all other expenses" (see Reg. v. Heath, 6 B. & S. 578, 587, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 492, 13 Wkly. Rep. 805, 118 E. C. L. 578); "at the expense of the Territory" (see Fisk v. Cuthbert, 2 Mont. 593, 603); "costs and expenses" (see Swartzel v. Rogers, 3 Kan. 380, 382; Brigham v. Worcester County, 147 Mass. 446, 447, 18 N. E. 220; Reg. v. St. Mary, 59 L. J. Q. B. 462, 464); "costs, charges and expenses" (see In re Smith, 60 L. J. Ch. 613, 616); "of estimated expenses" and "the actual expenses" (see West Ham v. Grant, 58 L. J. Ch. 121, 123); "every expense the vessel may incur" (see Sully v. Duranty, 3 H. & C. 270, 283, 33 L. J. Exch. 319); "expenses and charges" (see Greer v. Greer, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 214, 215); "expenses and costs" (see Butchers' Union Slaughterhouse, etc., Landing Co. v. Crescent City Live Stock Landing, etc., Co., 41 La. Ann. 355, 363, 6 So. 508); "expense, and free of lighterage to the ship," etc. (see Carr v. Austin, etc., R. Co., 14 Fed. 419, 420, 4 Woods 327); "expenses" as used in a contract for the purchase of goods construed in connection with the payment of a fine for undervaluation or for an additional duty and import duties (see Seggermann v. Valentine, 61 N. Y. Super. Ct. 248, 250, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 711); "expenses attendant upon or connected with any such alteration" of a street (see Bayley v. Wilkinson, 16 C. B. N. S. 161, 193, 10 Jur. N. S. 726, 33 L. J. M. C. 161, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 543, 12 Wkly. Rep. 797, 111 E. C. L. 161); "expenses for clerk hire and advertising" (see Foster v. Goddard, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,970, 1 Cliff. 158, 176); "expenses incident to said estates" (see Stephens v. Milnor, 24 N. J. Eq. 358, 373); "expenses incurred" (see Reg. v. Kingston Upon Hull, 2 E. & B. 182, 188, 17 Jur. 914, 22 L. J. Q. B. 324, 75 E. C. L. 182); "expenses when used in relation to a [blind] child" (see 56 & 57 Vict. c. 42, § 15); "'expenses,' in relation to the detention of a person in a certified inebriate reformatory" (see 61 & 62 Vict. c. 60, § 27); "expenses" in preparing and printing the burgess list (see Jones v. Carmarthen, 10 L. J. Exch. 401, 8 M. & W. 605, 616); "'expenses' in the power of attorney" (see Walker v. Denison, 86 Ill. 142, 145); "expenses necessarily incurred" (see Ball v. Vason, 56 Ga. 264, 267; People v. Saratoga County, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 42, 50, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 1122; Reg. v. Gloucester, 5 Q. B. 862, 871, Dav. & M. 677, 8 Jur. 573, 13 L. J. Q. B. 233, 48 E. C. L. 862); "expense necessary to maintain the land in a state to command the rent" (see Reg. v. Gainsborough Union, L. R. 7 Q. B. 64, 67, 41 L. J. M. C. 1, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 589, 20 Wkly. Rep. 250); "expenses of administration" (see Rose's Estate, 80 Cal. 166, 178, 22 Pac. 86; Gurnee v. Maloney, 38 Cal. 85, 87, 99 Am. Dec. 352; Lester v. Mathews, 56 Ga. 655, 656); "expenses" of assessment for the cost and expenses of paving done in a city (see Dashiell v. Baltimore, 45 Md. 615, 631); "expenses of borrowing, management, &c." (see Glasgow Corp. v. Glasgow Tramway, etc., Co., [1898] A. C. 631, 640); "expense of building" (see Voelz v. Breitenfield, 68 Wis. 491, 496, 32 N. W. 757); "expenses of courts" (Adam v. Wright, 84 Ga. 720, 724, 11 S. E. 893; Adair v. Ellis, 83 Ga. 464, 466, 10 S. E. 117. See Houston County v. Kersh, 82 Ga. 252, 254, 10 S. E. 199); "expenses of cutting and marketing" (see Stocker v. Hutter, 134 Pa. St. 19, 28, 19 Atl. 427, 566); "expenses of leaving her berth" (see Westoll v. Carter, 14 T. L. R. 281, 282); "expense of lighting any street" (see Nelson v. La Porte, 33 Ind. 258, 261); "expenses of management" (see Clarke v. Thornton, 35 Ch. D. 307, 311, 56 L. J. Ch. 302, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 294, 35 Wkly. Rep. 603); "expenses of maintaining a minister" (see Atty.-Gen. v. Worcester Union Soc., 116 Mass. 167, 168); "expense of obtaining" a patent (see Chemical Electric Light, etc., Co. v. Howard, 148 Mass. 352, 361, 20 N. E. 92, 2 L. R. A. 168); "expenses or costs of improvements" (see Vorrath v. Hoboken, 49 N. J. L. 285, 288, 8 Atl. 125); "expenses of or incident to making any apportionment" (see Hinchcliffe v. Armitstead, 6 Jur. 693, 11 L. J. Exch. 253, 256, 9 M. & W. 155); "expenses" of removing a wreck (see Barraclough v. Brown, [1897] A. C. 615, 620, 66 L. J. Q. B. 672, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 797; Smith v. Wilson, [1896] A. C. 579, 584, 8 Aspin. 197, 65 L. J. P. C. 66, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 81; Arrow Shipping Co. v. Tyne Imp. Com'rs, [1894] A. C. 508, 524, 7 Aspin. 513, 63 L. J. Adm. 146, 71 L. T. Rep. N. S. 346, 6 Reports 258); "expenses of resisting the bill of [a municipal] corporation" (see Leith v. Leith Harbour, etc., Com'rs, [1899] A. C. 508, 517, 68 L. J. P. C. 109, 81 L. T. Rep. N. S. 98); "expenses of sale" (see Thomas v. Jones, 84 Ala. 302, 304, 4 So. 270); "expenses be duly paid and satisfied, by my executors" (see In

As Element of Damage, see Damages; Death; Eminent Domain. Of Burial, see Dead Bodies; Executors and Administrators. Of Carrying Out Contract, see Contracts. Of Coroner's Inquest, see Coroners. Of Litigation as Ground For Compensatory Damages, see Damages. Of Prosecuting Attorney, see Prosecuting Attorneys. Of Sale of Attached Property, see Attachment. On Divorce, see Divorce. Reimbursement of Attorney For, see Attorney and Client. See Charges; and, generally, Costs.)

EXPENSE BILL. A form of a receipt given by a railroad station agent for all freight charges collected by him.[86]

EXPENSES OF WRITING THE RISK. As applied to an insurance policy, the expense of writing the policy, together with the commission paid by the company to its agent.[87]

EXPENSIVE. In its popular sense, that which would involve or require expense.[88]

EXPERIENTIA PER VARIOS ACTUS LEGEM FACIT. A maxim meaning "Experience by various acts makes laws."[89]

EXPERIMENT. In general, a trial; a test.[90] In chemistry, the bringing together of two organic substances and the noting of the result.[91] (Experiment: As Evidence — In Civil Action, see Evidence; In Criminal Prosecution, see Criminal Law. At Trial, see Trial. In Court, see Evidence. In Examination of Expert Witness, see Criminal Law. In Suit For Infringement, see Patents. Right of Jury to Make, see Criminal Law.)

EXPERT.[92] In a general sense, a person of peculiar knowledge or skill;[93] one re Haines, 8 N. J. Eq. 506, 509); "expenses to the assisting attorneys" (see Whitlow v. Whitlow, 109 Ky. 573, 578, 60 S. W. 182, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1179); "free from all expen[c]e" (see Gosden v. Dotterill, 1 Myl. & K. 56, 60, 39 Eng. Reprint 602); "funeral expenses" (see Shubart's Estate, 154 Pa. St. 230, 237, 26 Atl. 202); "necessary expenses" (see Heublein v. New Haven, 75 Conn. 545, 546, 54 Atl. 298; Lee v. Dean, 3 Whart. (Pa.) 316, 329); "over and above all expenses and interest" in connection with a mortgage (see Montgomery v. Montgomery, 58 Mich. 441, 443, 25 N. W. 390); "such expenses as aforesaid" incident to the stopping or diverting a highway (see United Land Co. v. Tottenham Local Bd. of Health, 13 Q. B. D. 640, 53 L. J. M. C. 136, 140, 32 Wkly. Rep. 798); "the actual expenses that may appertain to the goods themselves" (see Foster v. Goddard, 1 Black (U. S.) 506, 514, 17 L. ed. 228); "the ordinary current expenses of said corporation" (see Rome v. McWilliams, 67 Ga. 106, 111); "traveling expenses to be borne by the defendant" (see Dowd v. Krall, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 252, 253, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 797); "where such expenses are not otherwise provided by law" (see Williams v. U. S., 12 Ct. Cl. 192, 199; Re Wrexham, etc., R. Co., 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 648, 650; Proffitt v. Wye Valley R. Co., 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 669, 673; Re Cornwall Minerals R. Co., 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 41, 44); "'working expenses and other proper outgoings" (see In re Eastern, etc., R. Co., 45 Ch. D. 367, 385, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 604 [citing Re Cornwall Minerals R. Co., 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 41]).

86. Willis v. State, 134 Ala. 429, 433, 33 So. 226.

87. State Ins. Co. v. Horner, 14 Colo. 391, 394, 23 Pac. 788.

88. Webster v. Peck, 31 Conn. 495, 499.

89. Bouvier L. Dict. [citing Branch Princ.; Coke Litt. 60].

90. Century Dict.

As used in regard to inventions, it may be a trial, either of an incomplete mechanical structure, to ascertain what changes or additions may be necessary to make in it to accomplish the design of its projector, or of a completed machine to illustrate or test its practical efficiency. Northwestern Fire Extinguisher Co. v. Philadelphia Fire Extinguisher Co., 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,337, 1 Ban. & A. 177.

91. State v. Biddle, 54 N. H. 379, 380.

92. Derivation.— From the Latin expertus, which is the past participle of experiri, a word meaning to try, to go through with. Century Dict. See Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Nelson v. Johnson, 18 Ind. 329, 334; Travis v. Brown, 43 Pa. St. 9, 12, 82 Am. Dec. 540]. See also 3 Ky. L. Rep. 479, 480.

"He must be an expert, and have an opinion of his own upon the subject of inquiry." Wehner v. Lagerfelt, 27 Tex. Civ. App. 520, 522, 66 S. W. 221.

93. Greenleaf Ev. § 440 [quoted in Cheney v. Dunlap, 20 Nebr. 265, 269, 29 N. W. 925, 57 Am. Rep. 828]; Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454 [citing Boardman v. Woodman, 47 N. H. 120, 134]; Jones v. Tucker, 41 N. H. 546, 547 [quoted in Graney v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 157 Mo. 666, 680, 57 S. W. 276, 50 L. R. A. 153]; Rochester v. Chester, 3 N. H. 349, 365; Congress, etc., Spring Co. v. Edgar, 99 U. S. 645, 657, 25 L. ed. 487 [citing Buster v. Newkirk, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 75].

The method of acquiring the special skill or knowledge, whether by study, experience, observation or practice, is not material (see Parsons v. Lindsay, 26 Kan. 426, 432; Nelson who has peculiar knowledge or skill as to some particular subject,[94] such as any art[95] or science,[96] or particular trade,[97] or profession,[98] or any special branch of learning,[99] and is professionally or peculiarly acquainted with its practices and usages;[1] a person who has technical and peculiar knowledge in relation to matters with which the mass of mankind are supposed not to be acquainted;[2] one who has some special, particular or practical knowledge in relation to some special department of the affairs of men as would qualify him to stand as an expert, skilled enough to teach others;[3] a man of science;[4] a person conversant

v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 71 N. Y. 453, 460 [citing Goins v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 47 Mo. App. 173, 181; Ellis v. Thomas, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 626, 629, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 1064; Pendleton v. Saunders, 19 Oreg. 9, 26, 24 Pac. 506; Carter v. Boehm, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 791]; Kelley v. Richardson, 69 Mich. 430, 436, 37 N. W. 514); thus he is said to be an expert who is so qualified, either by actual experience or by such careful study, as to enable him to form a definite opinion of his own respecting some division of science, branch of art, or department of trade, about which persons having no particular training or special study are incapable of forming accurate opinions or deducing correct conclusions (Scott v. Astoria R. Co., 43 Oreg. 26, 38, 72 Pac. 594, 99 Am. St. Rep. 710, 62 L. R. A. 543 [citing State v. Simonis, 39 Oreg. 111, 65 Pac. 595; Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank v. Woodell, 38 Oreg. 294, 61 Pac. 837, 65 Pac. 520; State v. Anderson, 10 Oreg. 448]).

"Knowledge of any kind, gained for and in the course of one's business as pertaining thereto, is precisely that which entitles one to be considered an expert." Buffum v. Harris, 5 R. I. 243, 251 [quoted in Pendleton v. Saunders, 19 Oreg. 9, 26, 24 Pac. 506].

Essential requisites.—"An expert must have made the subject upon which he gives his opinion a matter of particular study, practice, or observation, and he must have particular and special knowledge on the subject." Jones v. Tucker, 41 N. H. 546, 548 [quoted in Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454; Pendleton v. Saunders, 19 Oreg. 9, 26, 24 Pac. 506].

94. Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454 [citing Beard v. Kirk, 11 N. H. 397]; Jones v. Tucker, 41 N. H. 546, 547; Wheeler, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Buckhout, 60 N. J. L. 102, 105, 36 Atl. 772 [citing Lawson Exp. & Sp. Ev. 210] (where it is said: "Mr. Lawson lays down the rule that one may be qualified as an expert witness by study without practice or by practice without study"); Jones v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 87, 123, 40 S. W. 807, 41 S. W. 638, 70 Am. St. Rep. 719; State v. Phair, 48 Vt. 366, 377. See also 3 Ky. L. Rep. 480, 481.

95. Roger Exp. Test. 2 [quoted in Turner v. Haar, 114 Mo. 335, 344, 21 S. W. 737].

96. Yates v. Yates, 76 N. C. 142, 149 [citing Greenleaf Ev. § 440].

97. Clark v. Rockland Water Power Co., 52 Me. 68, 77; State v. Jacobs, 51 N. C. 284, 286; Struthers v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 174 Pa. St. 291, 298, 34 Atl. 443; Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Toomes' Estate, 54 Cal. 509, 514, 35 Am. Rep. 83. 3 Ky. L. Rep. 479, 480];

Roger Exp. Test. 2 [quoted in Turner v. Haar, 114 Mo. 335, 344, 21 S. W. 737].

"Expert" may include a ship-builder (State v. Jacobs, 51 N. C. 284, 286); bankers, bank cashiers, and clerks of courts (Bratt v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 121, 123, 41 S. W. 622 [citing Lawson Exp. Ev. 425, 428]); merchants and others who habitually receive and pass the notes of a bank (Yates v. Yates, 76 N. C. 142, 149; State v. Jacobs, supra; State v. Cheek, 35 N. C. 114); or a physician (Horton v. Green, 64 N. C. 64, 67).

98. Worcester L. Dict. [quoted in In re Toomes, 54 Cal. 509, 514, 35 Am. Rep. 53]; Heald v. Thing, 45 Me. 392, 394 [citing Burrill L. Dict., and cited in Clark v. Rockland Water Power Co., 52 Me. 68, 77]; Flynt v. Bodenhamer, 80 N. C. 205, 207 [quoting Burrill L. Dict., and citing Worcester Dict.]; Roger Exp. Test. 2 [quoted in Turner v. Haar, 114 Mo. 335, 344, 21 S. W. 737].

"Persons who are much accustomed to attend upon the sick to watch the progress of diseases to their end and to be with the dying, are by their experience enabled to form a better judgment as to the course of disease and its probable effect upon the body and mind in the last hours of life than others who have no such opportunity. Physicians who are in general practice and nurses thus become experts in such matters, so far as experience and observation can furnish knowledge." Fairchild v. Bascomb, 35 Vt. 398, 408 [quoted in In re Toomes, 54 Cal. 509, 514, 35 Am. Rep. 53].

99. Webster Int. Dict. [quoted in Wehner v. Lagerfelt, 27 Tex. Civ. App. 520, 522, 66 S. W. 221].

1. Strickland Ev. 408 [cited in Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454; Jones v. Tucker, 41 N. H. 546, 547]. See also 3 Ky. L. Rep. 480.

2. Baltimore, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Cassell, 66 Md. 419, 431, 7 Atl. 805, 59 Am. Rep. 175.

3. Ellis v. Thomas, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 626, 629, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 1064.

4. Folkes v. Chadd, 3 Dougl. 157, 26 E. C. L. 111 [quoted in Doe v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454].

"In matters of science, the reasonings of men of science can only be answered by men of science." Folkes v. Chadd, 3 Dougl. 157, 159, 26 E. C. L. 111 [cited in Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454; Jones v. Tucker, 41 N. H. 546, 547; State v. Jacobs, 51 N. C. 284, 286]. See also 3 Ky. L. Rep. 479, 480.

"The expert gives the result of a process of reasoning which can be mastered only by special scientists." 3 Ky. L. Rep. 479, 481 [quoting 1 Wharton Ev. par. 439].

with the subject;[5] one who has had experience;[6] one who has been instructed by,[7] or become skilled through, use, practice, or experience;[8] a skillful or experienced person;[9] one who by his habits of life and business has a peculiar skill in forming an opinion on some subject;[10] one who by practice or observation has become experienced in any science, art or trade;[11] a person who has made the subject upon which he gives his opinion a matter of particular study, practice or observation.[12] (See, generally, EVIDENCE, WITNESSES.)

EXPERT EVIDENCE. An opinion by a qualified person on facts already proved involving scientific or technical knowledge, and is not evidence of things done or measurements taken which anyone is competent to prove, the weight to be given to his evidence depending upon his ability.[13] (See, generally, EVIDENCE.)

EXPIRATION. Cessation; end;[14] a particular word, peculiarly appropriated to effluxion of time.[15] (Expiration: Of Charter,[16] see CORPORATIONS. Of Copyright, see COPYRIGHT. Of Lease,[17] see LANDLORD AND TENANT. Of Patent, see PATENTS. Of Policy,[18] see INSURANCE; and the insurance titles.)

EXPIRE. To emit the last breath; to perish; to cease; to come to an end; to conclude; to terminate;[19] to cease to exist.[20] (See EXPIRATION.)

5. Best Princ. Ev. § 346 [quoted in Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454; Jones v. Tucker, 41 N. H. 546, 547; State v. Jacobs, 51 N. C. 284, 286].

6. Peterborough v. Jaffrey, 6 N. H. 462, 463 [quoted in Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454; Jones v. Tucker, 41 N. H. 546, 547]; Ardesco Oil Co. v. Gilson, 63 Pa. St. 146, 151 [cited in Graney v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 157 Mo. 666, 680, 57 S. W. 276, 50 L. R. A. 153, and Jackson v. Grand Ave. R. Co., 118 Mo. 199, 222, 24 S. W. 192]; Wehner v. Lagerfelt, 27 Tex. Civ. App. 520, 522, 66 S. W. 221 [citing Lawson Exp. & Op. Ev. (2d ed.) 230].

7. 2 Best Ev. 368 [quoted in Toomes' Estate, 54 Cal. 509, 514, 35 Am. Rep. 83]; Nelson v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 71 N. Y. 453, 460 [citing Carter v. Boehm, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 791, and cited in Ellis v. Thomas, 84 N. Y. App. Div. 626, 629, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 1064; Pendleton v. Saunders, 19 Oreg. 9, 26, 24 Pac. 506]; State v. Jacobs, 51 N. C. 284, 286; Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Flynt v. Bodenhamer, 80 N. C. 205, 207]; Webster Dict. [quoted in Toomes' Estate, 54 Cal. 509, 514, 35 Am. Rep. 83; Wehner v. Lagerfelt, 27 Tex. Civ. App. 520, 522, 66 S. W. 221].

8. Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in 3 Ky. L. Rep. 479, 480].

9. Heald v. Thing, 45 Me. 392, 394.

The highest degree of skill is not necessary. Beckett v. Northwestern Masonic Aid Assoc., 67 Minn. 298, 302, 69 N. W. 923; Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454; Yates v. Yates, 76 N. C. 142, 149; Richmond Locomotive Works v. Ford, 94 Va. 627, 641, 27 S. E. 509; Bratt v. State, 38 Tex. Cr. 121, 123, 41 S. W. 622; Congress, etc., Spring Co. v. Edgar, 99 U. S. 645, 657, 24 L. ed. 487.

10. White v. Clements, 39 Ga. 232, 242.

11. Rogers Exp. Test. 2 [quoted in Turner v. Haar, 114 Mo. 335, 344, 21 S. W. 737; Goins v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 47 Mo. App. 173, 181].

12. State v. Davis, 55 S. C. 339, 341, 33 S. E. 449; Pothier Civ. Proc. (pt. 1, c. 3, art. 3, § 1 [quoted in Dole v. Johnson, 50 N. H. 452, 454], where it is said that this term applies to the experts appointed by the French courts.

13. Cain v. Uhlman, 8 Can. L. T. 373, 374.

14. Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Marshall v. Rugg, 6 Wyo. 270, 290, 44 Pac. 700, 33 L. R. A. 679].

"Expiration" of grant see St. Paul, etc., R. Co. v. Greenhalgh, 26 Fed. 563, 568.

15. Wrotesley v. Adams, 1 Plowd. 187, 198, where the word is compared with "end." See also Logsdon v. Logsdon, 109 Ill. App. 194, 196, where it is said: "We can see no distinction to be drawn between the word 'expiration' and the word 'elapse' or 'intervene.'"

Thus "expiration of the term" has been construed to mean expiration by lapse of time, and not through a breach of condition.

California.— Silva v. Campbell, 84 Cal. 420, 423, 24 Pac. 316.

Illinois.— See Stuart v. Hamilton, 66 Ill. 253, 255.

Massachusetts.— Farnum v. Platt, 8 Pick. 339, 340, 19 Am. Dec. 330.

Minnesota.— See State v. Burr, 29 Minn. 432, 433, 12 N. W. 676.

New York.— Finkelmeier v. Bates, 92 N. Y. 172, 178; Miller v. Levi, 44 N. Y. 489, 494; Beach v. Nixon, 9 N. Y. 35, 37; Matter of Guaranty Bldg. Co., 52 N. Y. App. Div. 140, 142, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 1056; Kramer v. Amberg, 15 Daly 205, 206, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 613 [affirmed in 115 N. Y. 655, 21 N. E. 1119]; Oakley v. Schoonmaker, 15 Wend. 226, 230.

United States.— Bonsack Mach. Co. v. Smith, 50 Fed. 383, 393.

16. Crease v. Babcock, 23 Pick. (Mass.) 334, 346, 34 Am. Dec. 61.

17. State v. Burr, 29 Minn. 432, 433, 13 N. W. 676; Philip v. McLaughlin, 24 N. Brunsw. 532, 536.

18. Sullivan v. Massachusetts Mut. F. Ins. Co., 2 Mass. 318, 328.

19. Stuart v. Hamilton, 66 Ill. 253, 255.

20. Bonsack Mach. Co. v. Smith, 70 Fed. 383, 392 [citing Pohl v. Anchor Brewing Co., 134 U. S. 381, 387, 10 S. Ct. 577, 33 L. ed. 953].

EXPLANATION. As applied to charges against a person in office, it may consist either in excusing any delinquency or apparent neglect or incapacity; that is, explaining the favorable appearances, or disapproving the charges.[21]

EXPLODE. To burst forth, as sound; to burst and expand with force and a violent report, as an elastic fluid.[22] (See EXPLOSION; and, generally, EXPLOSIVES.)

EXPLODED. As applied to an argument, decisively rejected.[23]

EXPLORATION. The act of exploring; search, examination, or investigation.[24]

EXPLORE FOR. In mining, the examination and investigation of lands by means of test pitting, drilling, and boring, for the purpose of discovering the presence of ore thereunder, and the extent of the ore body therein.[25] (See, generally, MINES AND MINERALS.)

EXPLOSION.[26] The act of exploding, bursting with a loud noise, or detonation; a sudden inflaming with force and a loud report, as the explosion of gunpowder;[27] a bursting out with a noise;[28] a bursting with violence and loud noise, because of internal pressure;[29] a sudden bursting with noise;[30] a sudden bursting, or breaking up or in pieces, from an internal or other force; a blowing up or tearing apart;[31] a sudden and violent expansion of the parts of a body,[32] by its component parts acquiring a great increase of bulk;[33] a sudden and rapid combustion, causing violent expansion of the air, and accompanied by a report;[34]

"Expire" as applied to a lease see Hall v. Comfort, 18 Q. B. D. 11, 14, 56 L. J. Q. B. 135, 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 550, 35 Wkly. Rep. 48.

"Expire and terminate" as applied to a lease, is an elliptical phrase, meaning expire and terminate at the lessor's option. Bowman v. Foot, 29 Conn. 331, 339.

21. People v. New York, 72 N. Y. 445, 449 [quoted in People v. La Grange, 2 N. Y. App. Div. 444, 446, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 991; Matter of Nichols, 6 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 474, 487].

22. Webster Dict. [quoted in Evans v. Columbian Ins. Co., 44 N. Y. 146, 151, 4 Am. Rep. 650].

23. Evens v. Griscom, 42 N. J. L. 579, 592, 37 Am. Rep. 542.

24. Century Dict.

"Exploration" does not include an entry upon "lands or waters for the purpose of exploring, surveying, leveling, and laying out the route of, and locating any railroad." Morris, etc., R. Co. v. Hudson Tunnel R. Co., 25 N. J. Eq. 384, 388.

25. Colvin v. Weimer, 64 Minn. 37, 38, 65 N. W. 1079.

26. Not susceptible of exact definition.— "The word 'explosion' is variously used in ordinary speech, and is not one that admits of exact definition. Its general characteristics may be described, but the exact facts which constitute what we call by that name, are not susceptible of such statement as will always distinguish the occurrences. It must be conceded that every combustion of an explosive substance whereby other property is ignited and consumed, would not be an explosion within the ordinary meaning of the term." United L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Foote, 22 Ohio St. 340, 347, 10 Am. Rep. 735 [quoted in Smiley v. Citizens' F., etc., Ins. Co., 14 W. Va. 33, 40, and cited in Transatlantic F. Ins. Co. v. Dorsey, 56 Md. 70, 81, 40 Am. Rep. 403].

It is an idea of degrees, and the true meaning of the word in each particular case must be settled, not by any fixed standard, or accurate measurement, but by the common experience and notions of men in matters of that sort. United L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Foote, 22 Ohio St. 340, 348, 10 Am. Rep. 755 [quoted in Smiley v. Citizens' F., etc., Ins. Co., 14 W. Va. 33, 49].

The term is to be construed in its popular sense, and as understood by ordinary men, and not by scientific men. Mitchell v. Potomac Ins. Co., 183 U. S. 42, 52, 22 S. Ct. 22, 46 L. ed. 74.

27. Webster Dict. [quoted in Louisville Underwriters v. Durland, 123 Ind. 544, 550, 24 N. E. 221, 7 L. R. A. 399].

28. Hobbs v. Northern Assur. Co., 8 Ont. 343, 347, where it is said: "An explosion may be produced without the aid of heat or fire, as by the sudden liberation of air from an air gun; by the expansion of gas in a balloon caused by the rising of the balloon into a higher atmosphere; by the expansive force of any gas or vapour bursting its environment; by the contact or mixture of some chemicals; or by the concussion of nitro-glycerine or dynamite, in which last articles the union of the particles is very easily disturbed and trees often explode during a severe frost. Fire is perhaps the principal efficient cause of explosions."

29. Webster Dict. [quoted in Wadsworth v. Marshall, 88 Me. 263, 269, 34 Atl. 30, 32 L. R. A. 588].

30. Webster Dict. [quoted in St. Louis Gaslight Co. v. Philadelphia American F. Ins. Co., 33 Mo. App. 348, 385].

31. Century Dict. [quoted in Louisville Underwriters v. Durland, 123 Ind. 544, 550, 24 N. E. 221, 7 L. R. A. 399].

32. Evans v. Columbian Ins. Co., 44 N. Y. 146, 152, 4 Am. Rep. 650.

33. Evans v. Columbian Ins. Co., 44 N. Y. 145, 151, 4 Am. Rep. 650.

34. United L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Foote, 22 Ohio St. 340, 347, 10 Am. Rep. 735 [quoted in Smiley v. Citizens' F., etc., Ins. Co., 14 W. Va. 33, 49].

"All explosions caused by combustion are preceded by a fire." United L., etc., Ins. Co.

the result due to the conversion of a solid or liquid into a gas, or the expansion of a gas, which is accompanied with a loud report and the shattering of the material about it;[35] the sudden or extremely rapid conversion of a solid or liquid body of small bulk into gas or vapor occupying many times the volume of the original substance; and, in addition, highly expanded by the heat generated during the transformation.[36] (See Collapse; Explode; and, generally, Accident Insurance; Explosives; Fire Insurance.)

v. Foote, 22 Ohio St. 340, 348, 10 Am. Rep. 755 [quoted in Renshaw v. Missouri State Mut. F. & M. Ins. Co., 103 Mo. 595, 610, 15 S. W. 945, 23 Am. St. Rep. 904; Smiley v. Citizens' F., etc., Ins. Co., 14 W. Va. 33, 49].

When produced by ignition, according to common understanding, it may be accurately enough described for practical purposes as a sudden and rapid combustion causing a violent expansion of the air and producing a report more or less loud according to the resistance offered. Mitchell v. Potomac Ins. Co., 16 App. Cas. (D. C.) 241, 270; Transatlantic F. Ins. Co. v. Dorsey, 56 Md. 70, 81, 40 Am. Rep. 403.

The term is not synonymous with "combustion" (United L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Foote, 22 Ohio St. 340, 347, 10 Am. Rep. 735 [quoted in Smiley v. Citizens' F., etc., Ins. Co., 14 W. Va. 33, 49]), although it has at least some distinctive characteristics (Transatlantic F. Ins. Co. v. Dorsey, 56 Md. 70, 81, 40 Am. Rep. 403).

35. Mitchell v. Potomac Ins. Co., 16 App. Cas. (D. C.) 241, 269.

36. Hobbs v. Northern Assur. Co., 8 Ont. 343, 346.

Explosion of a boiler has been defined to be "the bursting of a boiler" (Louisville Underwriters v. Durland, 123 Ind. 544, 548, 24 N. E. 221, 7 L. R. A. 399); "the shattering of a boiler by a sudden and immense pressure in distinction from rupture" (Webster Dict. [quoted in Louisville Underwriters v. Durland, 123 Ind. 544, 24 N. E. 221, 7 L. R. A. 399]).

"The difference between the 'collapse' of a flue and the 'explosion' of a boiler is" considered in Louisville Underwriters v. Durland, 123 Ind. 544, 550, 24 N. E. 221, 7 L. R. A. 399.

"Explosion of a steam boiler" as used in an insurance risk see St. John v. American Mut. F. & M. Ins. Co., 11 N. Y. 516.

"A steam boiler is said to rupture when the failure is not accompanied by the sudden or extraordinary development of elastic force, the material giving way by cracking or splitting open, and affording an outlet for the water and steam. The boiler is said to explode when the failure is accompanied by an extraordinary development of elastic force, the boiler being rent and torn asunder at strong places and weak places frequently without distinction." 20 Encycl. Brit. 634 [quoted in Evans v. Columbian Ins. Co., 44 N. Y. 146, 151, 4 Am. Rep. 650]. "The explosion is the cause, while the rupture is the effect." Evans v. Columbian Ins. Co., 44 N. Y. 146, 151, 4 Am. Rep. 650. "In explosions proper, the boiler is not only ruptured, and often thrown from its place, but fragments of it are usually hurled with terrible force, accompanied by the escape of steam." 15 New Am. Encycl. 60 [quoted in Evans v. Columbian Ins. Co., 44 N. Y. 146, 151, 4 Am. Rep. 650]; Chicago Sugar-Refining Co. v. American Steam-Boiler Co., 48 Fed. 198, 199.