CYCLOPEDIA

OF

LAW AND PROCEDURE

EDITED BY

WILLIAM MACK AND HOWARD P. NASH

VOLUME V

NEW YORK

THE AMERICAN LAW BOOK COMPANY

LONDON: BUTTERWORTH & CO., 12 BELL YARD

1902

J. B. LYON COMPANY
PRINTERS AND BINDERS
ALBANY, N. Y.

TABLE OF TITLES, EDITORS, AND CONTRIBUTORS

CITE THIS VOLUME

5 Cyc.

FOLLOWED BY PAGE.

BAIL

By Joseph A. Joyce* and Howard C. Joyce†

---

* Author of "A Treatise on Marine, Fire, Life, Accident, and Other Insurances"; and joint author of "A Treatise on Electric Law."

† Joint author of "A Treatise on Electric Law."

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Bonds, Undertakings, or Recognizances of Bail or in the Nature of Bail:
For Appearance, see APPEARANCES.
For Jail Liberties, see EXECUTIONS.

For Bonds, Undertakings, etc.—(continued)
For Prison Limits, see EXECUTIONS.
For Stay of Execution, see EXECUTIONS.
In Admiralty, see ADMIRALTY.
In Bastardy Proceedings, see BASTARDS.
In Contempt Proceedings, see CONTEMPT.
In Court-Martial Proceedings, see ARMY AND NAVY.
In Ne Exeat Proceedings, see NE EXEAT.
In Proceedings Against Poor Debtors, see ARREST; EXECUTIONS.
On Appeal or Error, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
On Arrest on Execution, see EXECUTIONS.
To Keep the Peace, see BREACH OF THE PEACE.
Liability for Requiring Excessive Bail, see JUDGES; JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.
Proceedings to Hold to Bail, see ARREST; CRIMINAL LAW.
Rights, Duties, and Liabilities of Sureties Generally, see PRINCIPAL AND SURETY.
See also ARREST; CRIMINAL LAW; ESCAPE.

I. DEFINITION.[1]

The word bail is used both as a verb and as a noun. As a verb it means to deliver an arrested person to his sureties[2] upon their giving security[3] for his appearance, at the time and place designated, to submit to the jurisdiction and judgment of the court.[4] In its substantive sense it may be defined as the sureties into whose custody the arrested person is delivered, and who are considered as having control of his person.[5] And these definitions apply to bail given and taken

1. In Canadian law "bail" signifies a lease; thus bail emphyteotique, a lease for years, with a right of indefinite renewal. Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

In French law the word "bail" is used in several contracts of hiring. Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

2. Bail saves a man from imprisonment, his friends undertaking for him that he shall appear at a day certain and answer whatever shall be objected to him in a legal way. Ramsey v. Coolbaugh, 13 Iowa 164 [citing 1 Bacon Abr. 321]. Blackstone defines bail as "a delivery or bailment, of a person to his sureties, upon their giving (together with himself) sufficient security for his appearance: he being supposed to continue in their friendly custody, instead of going to gaol." In re Siebert, 61 Kan. 112, 116, 58 Pac. 971.

3. Bail-bond.— The obligation entered into by the surety or sureties. Anderson L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict. [citing Graecen v. Allen, 14 N. J. L. 74]. See also infra, II, G; III, F.

Bail-piece.—A certificate from the record in a case that one or more persons named become bail in a certain sum of money. Anderson L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict. A piece of parchment containing the names of special bail, with other particulars, which, being signed by a judge, was filed in the court in which the action was pending, and notice of the bail having justified was then given to the opposite party. Wharton L. Lex. [citing Bayley Pr. 361].

For forms of bail-piece see Mich. Comp. Laws (1897), § 10,001; N. J. Gen. Stat. (1895), p. 2546, § 75; Vt. Stat. (1894), pp. 979, 980; Va. Code (1887), § 3962; W. Va. Code (1899), c. 156, § 8.

Recognizance entered into before the county court, by a person in custody on a criminal charge, that the respondent shall make his personal appearance before the court then sitting, and remain from time to time, and from day to day, and shall answer, and shall abide the orders and decrees of the court, and not depart without leave, is a legal and valid recognizance. Treasurer v. Rolfe, 15 Vt. 9.

Special bail distinguished from delivery bond.—A delivery bond is not special bail. There is a wide distinction between the two obligations upon general principles. Ramsey v. Coolbaugh, 13 Iowa 164.

4. Bail as a verb.—Anderson L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict. See also infra, note 5.

5. Bail as a noun.—Anderson L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict.; 3 Bl. Comm. 290; Nicolls v. Ingersoll, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 145; Devine v. State, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 622; Taylor v. Taintor, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 366, 21 L. ed. 287.

Bail absolute is usually an obligation to the state to pay a specified sum of money for failure of the principal to account for moneys held in the capacity of administrator, trustee, or in other fiduciary capacity. Anderson L. Dict.

Bail above, bail below, and special bail explained.— In Blackstone's time the d fendant might put in special bail to the sheriff by entering into an obligation called a bail-bond with sureties who were real, responsible bondsmen, as distinguished from common bail or fictitious persons. This bail-bond, or bail to the sheriff below, was given to insure the defendant's appearance at the return of the writ. What was commonly called putting in to release persons whether under arrest in civil actions[6] or on charges of crime.[7]

II. IN CIVIL ACTIONS.

A. Effect of Admission to Bail. While the giving of bail, as a general rule, restores a person to his freedom, yet technically he is considered as being delivered into the custody of his sureties, they being jailers of his own choosing, who have a control and dominion over him.[8]

B. Right to Release on Bail — 1. IN GENERAL. The right to release on bail in a civil proceeding is conceded, but it is subject almost entirely to statutory control.[9] If, however, an officer has a debtor in his keeping under the mittimus and bail above was an appearance, according to the exigency of the writ, upon the return-day thereof, or within a certain time thereafter, effected by putting in and justifying bail to the action. In this bail above, or bail to the action, there was a joint and several undertaking by the sureties that, if the defendant were condemned in the action, he should pay the costs and condemnation or render himself a prisoner, which recognizance was denominated a bail-piece. It was a requirement that such bail above must be put in either in open court or before a judge thereof, or else in the country before a commissioner appointed therefor. Special bail was required only upon actions of debt, on the case in trover, or for money due, and even the right was subject to certain limitations. It was also required of heirs, executors, and administrators, in actions where the wrong was of their own committing, as in cases of devastavit, or the wasting of the goods of deceased. 3 Bl. Comm. 290–293; Anderson L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

Bail in admiralty actions see ADMIRALTY V, L [1 Cyc. 871]; Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

Bail in error.— Bail given by defendant in an action when he is going to bring error on the judgment and wishes execution stayed in the meantime. Rapalje & L. L. Dict. See also infra, III, G.

Common bail or straw bail.—Where there was merely a personal service of the copy of the writ or process, or a notice in writing to appear and defend, the defendant could appear and put in sureties, called common bail, for his future attendance and obedience; these sureties being the same two imaginary persons who were pledges for the plaintiff's prosecution, or, if the defendant failed to put in such bail, the plaintiff might thereafter enter such appearance and file such bail for him, and proceed thereupon. 3 Bl. Comm. 287, 295; Anderson L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

6. In civil actions.— "Upon those contracts of indemnity which are taken in legal proceedings as security for the performance of an obligation imposed or declared by the tribunals, and known as undertakings or recognizances, the sureties are called bail." Cal. Civ. Code (1899), § 2780; N. D. Rev. Codes (1899), § 4623. See also, generally, infra, II.

7. In criminal prosecutions admission to bail is defined as the order of a competent court or magistrate that the defendant be discharged from actual custody on bail; and taking of bail consists in the acceptance by a competent court or magistrate of the undertaking of sufficient bail for the appearance of defendant according to the terms of his undertaking, or that the bail will pay the state a specified sum. Ala. Crim. Code (1896), §§ 4348, 4349; Ariz. Pen. Code (1901), §§ 1069, 1070; Cal. Pen. Code (1899), § 72; Bullitt's Crim. Code (Ky. 1899), §§ 72, 73; Mont. Pen. Code (1895), §§ 2340, 2341; Nev. Comp. Laws (1900), §§ 4460, 4461; Utah Rev. Stat. (1898), §§ 4983, 4984. See also, generally, infra, III.

8. Technically in custody.— Hammons v. State, 59 Ala. 164, 31 Am. Rep. 13; Cain v. State, 55 Ala. 170; Taylor v. Taintor, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 366, 21 L. ed. 287; Reese v. U. S., 9 Wall. (U. S.) 13, 19 L. ed. 541. See also Wright v. Grant, 5 N. Y. St. 324. In an early case, where a bail-bond was taken by a sheriff under an agreement that it should be inoperative unless other or additional bail should be procured by the defendant, it was held that the defendant might be retaken by the sheriff before the writ was returned, if the additional bail provided for was not furnished. Bronson v. Noyes, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 188.

9. Under this right a person arrested is, upon giving a sufficient bail-bond, legally entitled to be released, and if the sheriff thereupon, and upon compliance with the law governing the matter, refuses to discharge him, such sheriff is liable therefor. Richards v. Porter, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 137. See also Wass v. Bartlett, 10 Gray (Mass.) 490; Brady v. Brundage, 2 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 621; Lake v. Haseltine, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 309, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 320.

Right to bail in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, A.

State statute controls.— Stone v. Murphy, 86 Fed. 158, construing U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), §§ 990, 991. See in this connection Gardner v. Isaacson, Abb. Adm. 141, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,230, 3 Am. L. J. N. S. 193, 8 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 77, decided under the supreme court rules of 1845.

As to the practice in admiralty see ADMIRALTY, V, I, 2, b [1 Cyc. 867], and Martin v. Walker, Abb. Adm. 579, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,170.

The habeas corpus act, though it contains no express provision for relief in civil actions, the statute does not prescribe who shall receive the bond for the debtor's release, the latter is entitled to be released upon a tender to the officer of an adequate and sufficient bond.[10]

2. As Affected by Assignment of Prisoner. Where an arrested person is entitled to bail, his right thereto will not be affected by the fact that the sheriff by whom he was arrested has delivered him over to his successor in office subsequent to the arrest and before the prisoner has given bail.[11]

3. As Affected by Erroneous Order. Where the court has power to issue writs of habeas corpus and admit to bail pending the hearing upon the writ, and the petitioner is before the court in such proceeding, so that it has jurisdiction of the subject-matter and of the person, an order authorizing the taking of bail, though erroneous, must be obeyed by the officer in whose custody the arrested person is, and the latter, upon tendering the desired bond, is entitled to be admitted to bail.[12]

4. As Affected by Surrender by Bail. Though a person surrendered by his bail is returned to all the disadvantages of the original arrest, he is, however, by the same act, restored to such privileges as existed thereunder, one of which was the right to release on bail, and he is therefore entitled to obtain his liberty by entering new bail.[13]

5. In Actions Against Joint Debtors. Where an action is commenced against joint debtors, and the plaintiff proceeds on the arrest of one of them, the latter may, by habeas corpus, remove the cause and put in bail for himself only.[14]

6. Time of Giving Bail. It is decided that bail may be given at any time before execution against the person,[15] but a rule to discharge a defendant on bail before he has been arrested is premature.[16]

C. Necessity of Special Bail[17] — 1. When Not Required. In certain juris-is declared to embrace civil causes as well as criminal offenses, and the writ will lie to compel admission to bail in civil actions. In re Cazin, 56 Vt. 297.

In proceedings requiring bail in actions for the recovery of personal property the object of the statute is either to secure the property or the payment of the price therefor, and not to punish the debtor for illegal acts in obtaining it, and therefore, where it satisfactorily appears that a defendant imprisoned in such an action is unable either to produce the property or give security for the eventual condemnation money, it is proper for the court to discharge him on his own recognizance. Garrett v. Underwood, 102 Ga. 558, 27 S. E. 665; Ragan v. Chicago Packing, etc., Co., 93 Ga. 712, 21 S. E. 143. Compare Tracy v. Griffin, 50 Barb. (N. Y.) 70 [disapproving Elston v. Potter, 9 Bosw. (N. Y.) 636], construing N. Y. Code Proc. § 179.

10. Tender of bond to officer.—Wilson v. Gillis, 15 Me. 55.

Officer's duty to procure.— In the absence of a statutory provision a sheriff or other officer having a prisoner in his custody is under no obligation to travel about with such prisoner to enable him to obtain bail. Page v. Staples, 13 R. I. 306.

11. Richards v. Porter, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 137.

12. Matson v. Swanson, 131 Ill. 255, 23 N. E. 595 [reversing 31 Ill. App. 594]. In this case the prisoner was held, by virtue of a writ capias ad satisfaciendum, and the custody of the prisoner under this writ was held to be terminated by the writ of habeas corpus, since to the authority of this writ all other writs must yield.

13. New bail.— McCallum v. Barnard, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 169; Ex p. Mason, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 239. But see Chiswell v. Ellzey, Rice (S. C.) 29.

14. Corlies v. Wyckoff, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 145.

15. Bostwick v. Goetzel, 57 N. Y. 582.

16. Robbins v. Redheffer, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 220.

New bail after surrender by bail may be entered even after verdict and judgment, but before a capias ad satisfaciendum has been taken out. Ex p. Mason, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 239.

17. Entry of common bail by plaintiff to perfect appearance.— Under the early decisions there were certain prerequisites necessary to perfect appearance by the plaintiff, and it may be generally stated that entry of common bail has, by several adjudications, been included therein, and although this was a matter of form, nevertheless the filing of such bail has been decided to be necessary even though defendant acknowledges service of process, or has agreed to appear. The plaintiff's right, however, in this respect depends, at least under the early practice, upon compliance with certain required legal formalities. Anonymous, 20 N. J. L. 494; Corse v. Colfax, 5 N. J. L. 801; Anonymous, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 630; Phelps v. Bronson, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 61; Byrne v. Morris, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 472; Lane v. Cook, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 359; Smith v. Bohn, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 127, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,015.

dictions and in certain proceedings defendant had the right to appear and plead without first filing special bail to the action.[18] This rule has been held to include actions for libel or slander,[19] actions of debt upon foreign judgments,[20] actions on bonds containing collateral conditions,[21] proceedings in original attachment,[22] and proceedings by petition and summons.[23]

2. When Required. In some jurisdictions, however, a contrary rule has prevailed, to the extent at least that appearance has been refused without bail.[24] Thus special bail has been required in an action of covenant for rent.[25] So in an action

See also Appearances, III, A, 2 [3 Cyc. 503], as to appearance made by giving bail.

18. One acting in a representative capacity, such as an administrator, is included within the rule. Patterson v. McLaughlin, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 352, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,828.

That defendant is not a citizen of the state does not have the effect of limiting the right. Reid v. Moore, 12 Ga. 368.

Upon setting aside office judgment, where no appearance bail has been required, the court will not require special bail. Shean v. Towers, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 5, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,731; Gordon v. Riddle, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 329, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,619.

Defendant's appearance without special bail will not be struck out, so as to charge the marshal. Wood v. Dixon, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 401, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,943.

Plaintiff's attorney will not be given time to procure an affidavit to hold defendant to special bail, if, upon calling the appearance docket, the latter offers to appear. Meade v. Roberts, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 72, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,374.

19. Action for libel or slander.— Renninger v. Dillon, 2 Pa. Dist. 819, where plaintiff swears to special damages or defendant is about to leave the state.

20. In debt upon foreign judgment.—Wray v. Riley, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 361, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,060.

21. Action on bond containing collateral condition.—Barbour v. Russell, 3 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 47, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 971. But see Craik v. Hilton, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 116, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,342. Contra, as to money bond see infra, note 27.

22. Proceedings in original attachment.— Georgia.— Reid v. Moore, 12 Ga. 368.

Indiana.— Unless an affidavit be made. State Bank v. Seaman, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 181, since the statute abolishing imprisonment for debt.

Mississippi.— Rowley v. Cummings, 1 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 340, after statute abolishing imprisonment for debt.

North Carolina.— Stephenson v. Todd, 63 N. C. 368; Holmes v. Sackett, 63 N. C. 58.

Virginia.—Locke v. Cannon, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 186, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,440, subject to certain qualifications under the early Virginia statute.

United States.— Gibson v. Scull, Hempst. (U. S.) 36, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,400*a*, construing Arkansas statute.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 6.

Extends to a common-law attachment.— So held in Locke v. Cannon, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 186, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,440 — under old Virginia statute — wherein it was said that the federal court could, in its discretion, allow the principal to appear without bail and plead to the jurisdiction.

23. Proceedings by petition and summons. — Thomas v. Mann, 4 Dana (Ky.) 452.

24. Campbell v. Morris, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 535, under Md. Acts (1795), c. 56; Acock v. Linn, Harp. (S. C.) 368. See also Fife v. Clarke, 3 McCord (S. C.) 347; Mayor v. Cooke, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 160, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,358, a motion for defendants to appear on a chancery attachment without giving security under Va. Acts (1792), c. 78.

When appearance without bail not allowed — Practice.— If appearance bail is required, special bail must be given to enable defendant to appear at the rules. Bradley v. Welch, 1 Munf. (Va.) 284. Compare State Bank v. Seaman, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 181. It will also be ordered before appearance is permitted, where there is an affidavit of injury to a carrying away of personal property, and of plaintiff's belief that the defendant intends to depart without the jurisdiction. Voss v. Tuel, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 72, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,015. Compare Renninger v. Dillon, 2 Pa. Dist. 819. Plaintiff is entitled thereto on removal of a cause on habeas corpus to the supreme court, where defendant was held to bail in the court below, even though none was there required. Kirkham v. Fox, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 126. Nor will the fact of a judgment in defendant's favor upon the same cause of action enable an appearance without bail, where the action was not decided upon merits. Gardner v. Lindo, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 592, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,232. Nor, unless the defendant be in actual custody, will the court hear a motion to so appear when made before appearance day. Olive v. Mandeville, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 38, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,488. Nor can the defendant, by a rule of arbitration entered by him before special bail, deprive plaintiff of his right thereto. Maus v. Sitesinger, 2 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 421.

Appearance without bail — Merits of the case.— Upon a motion to appear without special bail, the court will not examine the merits of the case. Lee v. Gamble, 3 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 374, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,189; Day v. Hackley, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 251, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,679.

25. In covenant for rent.—Wager v. Lear, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 92, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,034.

upon a bond of long standing,[26] or in an action upon a money bond special bail has been required.[27]

3. Merger of Special and Appearance Bail. The effect of a condition in a bail-bond to the sheriff may be such that it answers the purposes of bail below and bail above at common law,[28] and bail below may become bail above.[29]

4. Waiver — a. Of Right to Special Bail. A plaintiff may always waive his right to special bail and proceed to trial.[30] Again it may be generally stated that where there are certain prerequisite legal steps which govern the plaintiff's rights in respect to special bail he must comply therewith, and if he does not, but subsequently legally proceeds to advance his cause of action to issue or trial, he thereby raises the legal presumption of waiver of prior irregularities or rights.[31]

b. Of Right to Object to Affidavit. Although the court can take nothing by intendment in an affidavit to hold to bail,[32] yet if bail is accepted without opposition, no objection lies to the affidavit.[33]

D. Entry of Special Bail[34] — 1. Prerequisites. An order of court or consent 26. In action of bond of long standing.— Craik v. Hilton, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 116, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,342.

27. In action on money bond.— Aldridge v. Drummond, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 400, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 156. But see Craik v. Hilton, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 116, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,342.

28. Hale v. Russ, 1 Me. 334; Harrington v. Dennie, 13 Mass. 93; Champion v. Noyes, 2 Mass. 481; Pierce v. Read, 2 N. H. 359; Hamilton v. Dunklee, 1 N. H. 172. See also Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222. As to distinction between bail in Massachusetts and bail in England see Bean v. Parker, 17 Mass. 591, per Parker, C. J. And that undertaking to be released from arrest stands in place of bail to the sheriff and bail to the action, or special bail, see Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222, per Andrews, J.

29. Ex p. Metzler, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 287. So plaintiff may elect to file appearance bail, proceed to final judgment, and then recover to such bail. De Myer v. McGonegal, 32 Mich. 120.

In South Carolina at a very early date bail to the sheriff were bail to the action (so after the statutes of 1785 and 1809). Harwood v. Robertson, 2 Hill (S. C.) 336. Bail was in every instance, except that of bail for a woman, upon the footing of bail above, and therefore possessed all the privileges, and was subject to all the liabilities of the latter. Broaders v. Welsh, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 569; Fletcher v. Weatherby, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 56.

30. Paul v. Purcell, 1 Browne (Pa.) 348. And if such bail is not put in and perfected in due time, the plaintiff may elect to proceed against the appearance bail, or rule the sheriff to bring in the defendant, but he cannot do both. Valentine v. Smith, 8 Ohio 26.

31. Waiver is instanced by plaintiff accepting a plea before such bill is given (Hubbard v. Shaler, 2 Day (Conn.) 195); by his omitting to move for special bail and accepting a plea (Halsey v. Fanning, 2 Root (Conn.) 101); by his filing a statement, appearing and pleading before referee (Maus v. Sitesinger, 2 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 421); by joining issue with an objection (Culpeper Agricultural, etc., Soc. v. Digges, 6 Rand. (Va.) 165, 18 Am. Dec. 708); by taking out a rule for arbitration (Nones v. Gelbaud, 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 9; Phillips v. Oliver, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 419; Moulson v. Rees, 6 Binn. (Pa.) 32); or by taking out a judgment, in a suit instituted by capias for want of affidavit of defense (Barbe v. Davis, 1 Miles (Pa.) 118). In these and other cases based upon like principle there is a waiver, and, unless the plaintiff appears at the return of the writ, special bail will not be required where no declaration is filed. Thompson v. Carenough, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 267, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,947. And an entry of the rule that the sheriff bring in the defendant, although not served, is an election to proceed against the defendant, instead of proceeding against the appearance bail, where special bail is not put in and perfected. Valentine v. Smith, 8 Ohio 26.

Special bail is not waived by filing a declaration. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 317, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,589; Caton v. McCarty, 2 Dall. (Pa.) 141, 1 L. ed. 323. See De Myer v. McGonegal, 32 Mich. 120, and also supra, II, C, 3; and infra, II, D, 2.

32. Macpherson v. Lovie, 1 B. & C. 108, 2 D. & R. 69, 8 E. C. L. 47.

33. Mammatt v. Mathew, 10 Bing. 506, 25 E. C. L. 242.

Where defendant gives bail and enters appearance, neither he nor his bail can afterward avail himself of any objection to the affidavit, on the ground of defect, deficiency, or irregularity therein, for this must be taken advantage of in the first instance. Sedgewick v. Houston, 8 Houst. (Del.) 132, 9 Houst. (Del.) 113, 32 Atl. 12, 43 Am. St. Rep. 165. See also Shawman v. Whalley, 6 Taunt. 185, 1 E. C. L. 568.

34. Withdrawal to plead limitations.— Where defendant is not precluded from pleading to the merits, and his attorney has examined the papers in season to plead limitations, he cannot accomplish this object by a motion to strike out bail and appearance for him, on the ground that they were unauthorized. Schleigh v. Hagerstown Bank, 4 Gill (Md.) 306.

Demanding bail in petition see Arrest, 3 Cyc. 951, note 69.

of plaintiff's counsel may be a prerequisite to entry of special bail,[35] and liberty will be granted the plaintiff's attorney to file such bail to enable him to surrender defendant where the circumstances justify such permission.[36]

2. TIME.[37] Where the statute which limits the time within which special bail may be entered is directory merely, it is always competent for the court in its discretion, upon good cause being shown, to suffer such bail to be put in at any time during the return-term,[38] and for a mere irregularity which is not error bail may on notice be filed nunc pro tunc,[39] and further time has been granted for filing special bail for informalities in a writ or capias or order for bail.[40] If the time expires on Sunday bail may be filed on the following Monday.[41]

3. NOTICE. The rule requiring notice of entry of special bail necessitated liberal compliance,[42] but a notice of intention to perfect will not enable a party to add new bail,[43] and plaintiff might enter default in the absence of the required notice.[44] He could also act upon such notice received from an attorney.[45]

E. Authority to Take Bail. The authority to take bail is vested in the person or persons designated in the statute. Generally the person so authorized is the sheriff.[46]

Necessity of affidavit to hold to bail see ARREST, 3 Cyc. 926, note 51.

35. Gilliam v. Allen, 4 Rand (Va.) 498.

36. Gilchrist v. Van Wagenen, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 499, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 312.

37. Common bail might be filed at any stage of the case. Anonymous, 20 N. J. L. 494.

38. At any time during return-term.—Enos v. Aylesworth, 8 Ohio St. 322, under section 9 of the act of June 1, 1831. And this is declared to be the rule in the king's bench. Rolle Abr. 333, Cro. Jac. 384, Bacon Abr. 530; Tidd Pr. (9th ed.) 279. And special bail may be given at any time during the return-term, although plaintiff may have taken an assignment of the bail-bond. Rhodes v. Brooke, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 206, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,747. As to assignment from sheriff see 3 Bl. Comm. 291.

39. Filing nunc pro tunc.— Phelps v. Bronson, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 61; Colden v. Knickerbacker, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 31.

40. Further time allowed. — Logan v. Lawshe, 62 N. J. L. 567, 41 Atl. 751.

Erroneous order as affecting right to bail see supra, II, B, 3.

41. Time expiring on Sunday.— Clink v. Russell, 58 Mich. 242, 25 N. W. 175; Lane v. Cook, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 359; Broome v. Wellington, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 664.

Intervening Sundays are excluded in computation of time, in order to fix bail. Sandon v. Proctor, 7 B. & C. 800, 14 E. C. L. 358. See also Combe v. Cuttill, 3 Bing. 162, 11 E. C. L. 87. The case does not fall within the rule for computing statutory time. Broome v. Wellington, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 664.

42. Stevenson v. Kimber, 3 Rawle (Pa.) 272.

This rule, however, was subject to certain exceptions and qualifications, such bail being valid until vacated (Worral v. Harper, 1 Jour. Law (Pa.) 33), and defendant must have been called upon to put in bail (Douglass v. Wight, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 218), and the bail-piece must have been actually filed prior to notice (Britt v. Van Norden, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 390). See further Masterton v. Benjamin, 2 Cai. (N. Y.) 98.

43. Adding new bail.— Brown v. Williamson, 8 N. J. L. 363.

44. Default in absence of notice.— Pardee v. Reid, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 51.

45. Notice received from attorney.— Even though attorney may not have been retained, and though bail be not put in as stated in the notice. Nichols v. Sutfin, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 422; Cobb v. Darrow, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 390. But plaintiff's attorney is not bound to take notice of the putting in of special bail; such notice must be given to him. Harris v. Underwood, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 668; Butterfield v. Cooper, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 608; Pardee v. Reid, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 51.

46. Sheriff.—Although a sheriff or his deputy may have authority to accept bail (Bunch v. Deliesseline, Harp. (S. C.) 226); yet a sheriff has no authority to take a recognizance of special bail outside of the county of which he is sheriff, and one so taken is void (Harris v. Simpson, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 165, 14 Am. Dec. 101).

Authority to take bail in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, C.

In Pennsylvania, 23 Hen. VI, c. 9, which authorizes a sheriff to take bail where a person is arrested on civil process, is held to be superseded by the act abolishing imprisonment for debt. Keller v. Com., 2 Mona. (Pa.) 757.

Constable has no authority to release on bail one whom he has arrested in a civil action. Churchill v. Perkins, 5 Mass. 541; Ludlum v. Wood, 2 N. J. L. 52; Millard v. Canfield, 5 Wend. (N. Y.) 61.

Judge who has issued a writ of habeas corpus may admit the prisoner to bail before the return of the writ. Matson v. Swanson, 131 Ill. 255, 23 N. E. 595 [reversing 31 Ill. App. 594].

Justice of the peace authorized to take a recognizance before a certain court in term-time, or before the clerk of the court in vacation, has no authority to take a recognizance on a day when the court stands adjourned to

F. Amount of Bail — 1. In General. It may be generally stated that the probable amount of defendant's liability should be a determining factor as to the amount of bail, subject to such exception as may exist where the demand is very large, and a refusal to relax such a rule would operate as a hardship.[47] Ordinarily the bail is taken in double the amount claimed by the plaintiff in his writ or complaint;[48] but the amount may be fixed by express statutory provisions,[49] or by order of court.[50]

2. Reduction or Increase of Bail — a. In General. If the amount of bail required is excessive or unreasonable it will be reduced according to the circumstances and rights of the parties.[51] So the court may in its discretion enhance bail according to the rights of the parties.[52]

b. Application. The application for relief in case of excessive or unreasonable bail may be by way of a motion, based on affidavit to reduce or mitigate the bail[53] or to vacate the order of arrest[54] or by motion to discharge the bail.[55] The motion for an order to show cause why the bail should not be mitigated should not be made to a court without original jurisdiction thereof, although it may be carried to such court on appeal after application first made to a judge or commissioner having authority in the premises.[56] But in determining whether bail another day of the same term. Brayman v. Whitcomb, 134 Mass. 525.

47. Amount of defendant's liability.—People v. Tweed, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 25. See infra, II, F, 2.

Amount of bail in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, E.

A bail-bond or recognizance, though for a larger amount than the case legally demands, may be neither void nor irregular for that reason. Allen v. Hunt, 23 N. J. L. 376; Alexander v. Winn, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 14. And a recognizance may be for a larger amount than the judgment, for the payment of which it is conditioned. Worthen v. Prescott, 60 Vt. 68, 11 Atl. 690.

48. Double amount claimed.— Oxley v. Turner, 2 Va. Cas. 334. Or double the amount sworn to in the affidavit and indorsed on the writ. Ellis v. Robinson, 3 N. J. L. 280. Need not be double the amount, but a sum sufficient to cover costs on error from proceedings by scire facias. Hosie v. Gray, 73 Pa. St. 502.

Reasonable bail such as the jailer should require, or sufficient to satisfy the requirements demanded by the nature of the case, may be sufficient. Wilbur's Petition, 64 N. H. 387, 10 Atl. 817. Should be large enough to cover debt. Ratti v. Their Creditors, 9 La. 22; Day v. Hall, 12 N. J. L. 203.

The ad damnum in the writ, and the sum demanded, are guides to the sheriff, but the amount is subject to reduction. Parkhurst v. Kinsman, 3 Woodb. & M. (U. S.) 168, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,761.

49. Fixed by statute.— Beveridge v. Chetlain, 1 Ill. App. 231, holding that the provisions of the statute requiring the sheriff to take a bail-bond in double the sum in which bail is required are directory merely, and that a bond taken for a less sum is valid and may be enforced at least as a common-law bond.

50. The last order as to the amount of bail extinguishes prior contrary orders and alone binds defendant and his sureties. Potts v. Fitch, 2 Pa. St. 173.

When bail is directed by a judge on affidavit he is to ascertain the penalty of the bond. Oxley v. Turner, 2 Va. Cas. 334.

51. Right to reduce. — Massachusetts. — Jones v. Kelly, 17 Mass. 116.

New Hampshire.—Evans v. Foster, 1 N. H. 374.

New York.— Reigner v. Spang, 5 N. Y. App. Div. 237, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 127; Kahn v. Freytag, 2 Rob. (N. Y.) 678; Ballingall v. Burnie, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 237.

Pennsylvania.— Keppele v. Zantzinger, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 83.

United States.— Sanderson v. Serat, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 485, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,300; Parkhurst v. Kinsman, 3 Woodb. & M. (U. S.) 168, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,761; Martin v. Walker, Abb. Adm. 579, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,170.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 5.

52. Right to increase.— Martin v. Walker, Abb. Adm. 579, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,170.

Bail given pursuant to the order of arrest cannot be increased on the ground that it does not cover plaintiff's claim. Agar v. Haines, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 212, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 6.

53. Motion to reduce.— Parkhurst v. Kinsman, 3 Woodb. & M. (U. S.) 168, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,761. See also Britton v. Richards, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 258; Union Bank v. Mott, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 315.

Motion to quash a capias writ for excessive bail will be overruled, the remedy being an application for reduction of bail before giving bond. Moore v. Moore, 61 Me. 417.

54. Motion to vacate order of arrest.—See Union Bank v. Mott, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 315.

55. Motion to discharge bail.— Jennings v. Sledge, 3 Ga. 128.

56. To whom application should be made. — Doremus v. Kinney, 3 Den. (N. Y.) 178. Defendants may apply to a judge. Bunting v.

should be reduced, the question rests upon the whole case as made by affidavits of matters which can be legally considered, and the subject is generally as if it were res nova with relation to the court.[57]

G. Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance — 1. Form, Contents, and Validity — a. Compliance With Statute. The bond, recognizance, or undertaking should as a general rule conform to the statutory requirements, and officers armed with bailable process should in taking bonds or other securities be held to a strict compliance therewith, neither accepting less nor demanding more than the law prescribes.[58] Though a bond or undertaking may not be executed in conformity with the statutory requirements or otherwise be insufficient as a statutory bond, Brown, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 425. Such a motion is chamber business. Smith v. Newell, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 484. Where a motion was denied by one justice another justice should not reduce the bail, unless upon new facts presented. Union Bank v. Mott, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 315. A court will mitigate the bail. Sanderson v. Serat, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 485, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,300. But a federal court will not decide the question of jurisdiction on a motion to reduce special bail. Parkhurst v. Kinsman, 3 Woodb. & M. (U. S.) 168, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,761.

57. Union Bank v. Mott, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 315.

Proof and questions considered.—A justice, previous to determining the amount of bail, is not required to hear testimony pro or con, but may merely make such inquiry into the proceedings in the suit as will furnish means for fairly fixing the amount. Newton v. Bailey, 36 Ga. 180. Defendant must show the facts relied on in defense. Britton v. Richards, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 258. While in a proper case a reduction will be made according to the circumstances and counter-affidavits may be entertained, yet in certain causes the court will not consider affidavits to reduce the demand. Irregularities are, however, a subject of inquiry as well as matters showing that the bail as fixed will operate as an injustice or is otherwise unreasonable; thus bail will not be reduced upon affidavits that the whole sum is not due. Lee v. Welch, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 477, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,204. Nor can a set-off be shown. Robbins v. Upton, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 498, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,886. Nor has defendant a right to a reduction to a sum sufficient to secure his presence. People v. Tweed, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 25. But affidavits bearing upon the true amount are admissible where the sum recoverable is contested. Parkhurst v. Kinsman, 3 Woodb. & M. (U. S.) 168, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,761. And counter-affidavits will be considered. Gall v. Molessa, 3 Pa. Dist. 537. So another suit pending for the same cause of action operates to reduce the bail, and a nominal sum or only common bail will be allowed. Parkhurst v. Kinsman, 3 Woodb. & M. (U. S.) 168, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,761. And mitigating circumstances of a seduction will be considered. Kahn v. Freytag, 2 Rob. (N. Y.) 678. So irregularity in the proceedings where the amount is large will be considered without affidavit on a judge's order. Ballingall v. Burnie, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 237. And where damages are uncertain bail will be reduced according to circumstances (Sanderson v. Serat, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 485, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,300), or according to the circumstances on a capias ad computandum (Keppele v. Zantzinger, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 83). So in an action for the conversion of shares of stock, bail in the amount of the par value thereof will be reduced on affidavit of a less value. Reigner v. Spang, 5 N. Y. App. Div. 237, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 127.

For form of order for reduction of bail see Collins v. Collins, 80 N. Y. 24.

58. Should conform to statutory requirements.— Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222; Cook v. Freudenthal, 80 N. Y. 202.

Bond, undertaking, or recognizance, in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, F.

For forms of bonds, undertaking, or recognizances for bail in civil actions see Chandler v. Byrd, 1 Ark. 152, 155; Deboard v. Brooks, 28 Ga. 362; Ill. Rev. Stat. (1899), c. 79, § 28; Neil v. Morgan, 28 Ill. 524; Bullitt's Civ. Code Ky. (1899), p. 696; Danker v. Atwood, 119 Mass. 146; Mich. Comp. Laws (1897), § 10,029; N. J. Gen. Stat. (1895), p. 2546, § 75; Tannenbaum v. Cristalar, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 141; 1 N. C. Code (1883), p. 355; Roulhac v. Miller, 90 N. C. 174.

Recognizance partly legal and partly unauthorized will be considered as wholly void. Billings v. Avery, 7 Conn. 236. In Cook v. Freudenthal, 80 N. Y. 202, an undertaking containing a provision beyond what was required by a statute was held to be void. See also infra, II, G, 1, e, (I), (B).

Variance from prescribed form.— If there is a material variance both in form and substance between the bond, as prescribed by law, and that executed it will render the latter void. Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Barbee, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 384 [citing Basket v. Scott, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 208; Handley v. Ewings, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 505; Sullivan v. Alexander, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 233; Strong v. Tompkins, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 98; Richmond v. Roberts, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 319; Love v. Palmer, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 159].

Prescribed in order of arrest.—In New York an order of arrest in an action of replevin should show the grounds on which it was granted and prescribe the character of bail to be taken. But where such grounds are not shown in the order, the undertaking may be in ordinary form. Josuez v. Murphy, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 324.

yet it may in some cases be considered operative as an agreement between the parties.[59]

b. Parol Recognizance. A parol recognizance is not valid as a general rule, unless authorized by statute.[60]

c. To Whom Bond Should Run — (I) In General. The statutes as a general rule designate the person to whom a bail-bond should be taken.[61]

(II) Running to Sheriff. In most cases it is provided that such bonds should be taken to the sheriff of the county.[62] And if the obligors in a bail-bond acknowledge themselves bound to the sheriff by his proper name the bond will not be rendered invalid, if, by a clerical error, it is made payable to another person;[63] and under a statute requiring the bond to be given to the "sheriff as sheriff" an omission of the name of the county of which he is sheriff will not invalidate the bond.[64] If, however, the statute provides that the bonds shall be to the sheriff, a bond given to his deputy is invalid;[65] but where the statute requires

59. To what extent operative as an agreement between parties.— "It is competent for the parties, independently of the statute, to agree upon the terms and conditions upon which the discharge shall be had." Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222, 237. May be valid contract between the parties at common law. Emanuel v. Laughlin, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 342. Though not conforming to statute, yet if good as a common-law bond may be enforced as such, a consideration to support it being implied from its seal. Paddock v. Hume, 6 Oreg. 82; Koons v. Seward, 8 Watts (Pa.) 388. See also Bell v. Pierce, 146 Mass. 58, 15 N. E. 119; Pratt v. Gibbs, 9 Cush. (Mass.) 82.

Note of third party.— But where a defendant indorses and delivers a note of a third party as security to the sheriff instead of giving bail as prescribed by law, such note cannot be collected by the latter, especially where the transfer is prohibited by statute. Strong v. Tompkins, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 98.

60. Rule applied in case of a verbal promise by one arrested that he will appear for trial at a certain time. Bloomington v. Heiland, 67 Ill. 278. So execution issued against a person who signified his willingness to become bail for another should be quashed, as such signification is not binding. Amonett v. Nicholas, 5 Mo. 557. Following recognizance entered by justice of the peace on his docket was held to be informal and void: "Jacob Kearns v. John Stewart, Recognizance bail, 25. Simon Elliot appears, and acknowledges himself bail in the above case." Kerns v. Schoonmaker, 4 Ohio 331, 334, 22 Am. Dec. 757.

61. 23 Hen. VI, c. 9; and cases cited infra, this note and in note 62 et seq.

Running to arresting creditor.—Where a statute provides for the giving of a bond to an arresting creditor to secure his debt, no other creditor has any concern with such bond, and if taken for the benefit and use of other creditors, it is void. Beacon v. Holmes, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 190.

Where, however, the statute is silent as to whom the bond shall be taken, a bond to the judge (McClelland v. Smith, 12 Pa. St. 303), or a bond to the person for whose benefit it is intended (Bishop v. Drake, Kirby (Conn.) 378; Nott v. Welles, Kirby (Conn.) 12), has been declared to be valid. But where, instead of being taken in name of creditor, it is taken by the sheriff in his own name, it will be valid, if sheriff stand ready to assign the bond to the creditor. Tucker v. Davidson, 28 Ga. 535.

62. Running to sheriff.— Hunter v. Gilham, 1 Ill. 82; Handley v. Ewings, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 505; Ralston v. Love, Hard. (Ky.) 501; Conant v. Sheldon, 4 Gray (Mass.) 300; Smith v. Adams, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 564; Loker v. Antonio, 4 McCord (S. C.) 175.

In England the general duties of a sheriff as to taking bail were early prescribed by statute 23 Hen. VI, c. 9.

Running to plaintiff instead of sheriff.— Though a bond, by reason of its running directly to the plaintiff in an action and not to the sheriff or other officer as provided by the statute, may not be valid as a bail-bond, yet if approved and accepted by the obligee it may be valid at common law. Bell v. Pierce, 146 Mass. 58, 15 N. E. 119. See Pratt v. Gibbs, 9 Cush. (Mass.) 82; and supra, II, G, 1, a.

63. Clerical error.—Glezen v. Rood, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 490.

64. Omitting name of county.— Payne v. Britton, 6 Rand. (Va.) 101. See also Kirkebridge v. Wilson, 2 Lev. 123, where a bond by N and T, of the county of C to J, sheriff, without saying of what county, was good. But see Neel v. Cooper, 2 Rolle 365, where name of county being in margin and bond given to A, sheriff of aforesaid county, was held void, not being given to sheriff in his name of office, which required not only the naming of him as sheriff, but of what county.

65. Running to deputy sheriff.— Conant v. Sheldon, 4 Gray (Mass.) 300, wherein such a bond was declared to be invalid, either under Mass. Rev. Stat. c. 91, § 1, which provided that "when bail is taken in any civil action, it shall be taken, as heretofore practised in this commonwealth, by a bond to the sheriff, if the writ is served by him or his deputy," or under 23 Hen. VI, c. 9.

Must run to deputy's own superior.—Where a statute providing that where bail is taken it must be by a bond to the sheriff, if bail is taken by a deputy sheriff, it must be by bond the bond to be executed to the officer making the arrest a bond may be taken to the under-sheriff when the arrest has been made by such officer.[66]

d. Amount of Bond. A bond is not invalid because of the omission to state either the sum in which the obligors are held[67] or the amount demanded in the writ.[68] Nor will the fact that the bond is taken for an amount greater than the sum sworn to in the writ render the bond invalid.[69]

e. Conditions — (I) In General — (A) Complying Substantially With Statute. If the statute requires that certain conditions should be inserted in a bail-bond there should be a substantial compliance therewith, and as a general rule if the conditions of a bond do not differ materially from those prescribed by statute the bond will be valid and enforceable.[70]

(B) Inserting Unauthorized Conditions. In many cases unauthorized stipulations or conditions are inserted in a bond which neither add to nor impair its legal effect, and in such cases the added words may be treated as mere surplusage.[71] But the bond should not contain conditions which contravene public policy, or violate any statute.[72] Nor should a bond or recognizance impose condi-

to his own superior. Smith v. Adams, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 564, holding that the deputy's own superior is the sheriff of the same county, and that a bond taken to the sheriff of another county is void.

66. Running to officer making arrest. — Wilcox v. Ismon, 34 Mich. 268.

67. Failure to state amount of bond. — Haberstro v. Bedford, 43 Hun (N. Y.) 201; Harrison v. Tiernans, 4 Rand. (Va.) 177, assigning as a reason for this rule the fact that such sum may be ascertained from the order of arrest.

68. Failure to state amount demanded in writ. — Bull v. Clarke, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 587; Clyburn v. Ingram, 13 Rich. (S. C.) 248. But see People v. Felton, 36 Barb. (N. Y.) 429.

69. Greater sum than demanded in writ. — Allen v. Hunt, 23 N. J. L. 376.

70. Illustrations of substantial compliance. — Bond conditioned that surety will "render himself amenable to the court thereupon" does not differ materially from requirement that he shall "render himself amenable to the process of the court thereupon." Abbott v. Daniel, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 339, 340. The following condition was held to be sufficient: "Now, if the said Russell, in case he is cast in the said suit, shall well and truly pay and satisfy the condemnation of the Court, or render his body to prison in execution of the same, in terms of the law, in such case made and provided, and upon failure thereof the said H. W. Allen will do it for him, then the above obligation to be void." Scott v. Russell, 36 Ga. 494, 496. But see Sackett v. Tucker, 18 Ga. 401. In Louisiana, where defendant had been arrested for fraud under the act of March 15, 1855, relating to voluntary surrender of property by an insolvent, a condition in the bond that the sureties should be liable "in case the said insolvent shall have departed the State without the leave of our said court" was held sufficient as the condition required by La. Code Civ. Proc. art. 223 was held to relate only to arrests for debt. Figuiere v. His Creditors, 11 La. Ann. 557. See also Farmers' Bank v. Boyer, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 48.

So conditions as to payment of the judgment must also substantially conform to statutory requirements. Phillips v. Parnell, 32 Ga. 522; Tucker v. Davis, 15 Ga. 573; Hysinger v. Colman, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 596; Basket v. Scott, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 208; Cloud v. Catlett, 4 Leigh (Va.) 462. See also Clyburn v. Ingram, 13 Rich. (S. C.) 248.

Slight variance from prescribed form. — If the bond contain all the obligations imposed by statute and allow every defense given thereunder, the mere fact that it varies slightly from the form prescribed by statute will not affect its validity. Rhodes v. Vaughan, 9 N. C. 167. See Phillips v. Parnell, 32 Ga. 522.

But the exact words of a statute should be used where a covenant is to be implied from statutory words. Vipond v. Hurlburt, 22 Ill. 226.

71. Surplusage. — Block v. Maxwell, 10 La. Ann. 5 (where the bond was executed in strict conformity to statute with added stipulation "that otherwise the surety shall pay defendant"); Rosenberg v. McKain, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 145 (where the bond contained a statement of the damages such statement not being required by statute). Where the statute required a bond ordering defendant arrested on mesne process amenable to final process, a bond conditioned amenable to both mesne and final process was held valid, as no further mesne process could issue and the added words were mere surplusage. Haberstro v. Bedford, 118 N. Y. 187, 23 N. E. 459, 28 N. Y. St. 857 [affirming 43 Hun (N. Y.) 201; distinguishing Goodwin v. Bunzl, 102 N. Y. 224, 6 N. E. 399; Carr v. Sterling, 114 N. Y. 558, 22 N. E. 37, 24 N. Y. St. 521]. Where bond for appearance was conditioned "defendant to appear, &c., and to abide the event of the Court and jury," the words "abide the event of the Court and jury" were treated as surplusage. Saunders v. Hughes, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 504, 505. But see Blanding v. Rogers, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 394, 4 Am. Dec. 595; Stewart v. McClure, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 407.

72. Paddock v. Hume, 6 Oreg. 82.

Against a rule of court. — In Pennsylvania it has been held that, though a condition in a tions beyond those which the law requires to fulfil the purposes thereof, and where conditions are inserted which are not warranted by law and which are onerous to the security, the instrument is thereby invalidated;[73] and such a condition will have this latter effect where the statute especially directs the form thereof and declares that a bond taken "in any other manner or form shall be void."[74] The general rule in such cases is that a bond which is void in part and legal in part, the void part being against the positive provisions of a statute, is void in toto;[75] and it is declared that the better opinion is that such an instrument is utterly void at common law.[76]

(c) Omitting Necessary Conditions. If the statute prescribes certain conditions to be inserted in the bond and they are omitted their omission will render the bond void.[77]

(II) As to Appearance. Under the early English statute,[78] and now where such or a similar statute is in force, the bond to the sheriff must be that the party appear according to the writ and not according to the condition of the bond,[79] and it is not necessary in such a case for the condition to specially designate the time and place of appearance.[80] But a bail-bond will be void if a condition therein pro-bond may be against a rule of law, it will not avoid the bond. Holdship v. Jaudon, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 307. But see Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Barbee, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 384.

73. Unwarranted and onerous conditions. — Tucker v. Davis, 15 Ga. 573; Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Barbee, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 384; Clark v. Walker, 25 N. C. 181. So a bond whose object is to secure the appearance of the principal has been held to be void where it contains a condition that the defendant shall "perform the final judgment of the Court in said case." Loyd v. McTeer, 33 Ga. 37, 38. A condition that the defendant "will perform the judgment of the court in the action" will invalidate a bond which the statute requires shall be given that the defendant will render himself amenable to the process of the court. Shuttleworth v. Levi, 13 Bush (Ky.) 195.

74. Statute prohibiting any other than form therein prescribed.— Shuttleworth v. Levi, 13 Busn (Ky.) 195. See Billings v. Avery, 7 Conn. 236. "The object of the statute prohibiting sheriffs and other officers from taking securities not authorized by law, and of the statutes prescribing the form of undertakings in particular cases, was to make the duty of the officer, and the rights of parties, certain and plain, and to prevent oppression, or abuse of authority, by disabling public officers from imposing terms, or making contracts as a condition of official action, except such as were sanctioned either by the statute or the common law." Cook v. Freudenthal, 80 N. Y. 202, 208; Barnard v. Viele, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 88. See also Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Barbee, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 384.

75. Void in part void in toto.— "It is no unreasonable principle, but one often recognized, that if persons will mix in a contract good and evil together, or right and wrong, courts will not make a separation, but will consider the whole as incurably tainted." Billings v. Avery, 7 Conn. 236, 239, per Hosmer, C. J. [citing, on general proposition in text, Hyslop v. Clarke, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 458; Austin v. Bell, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 442, 11 Am. Dec. 297; Norton v. Simmes, Hob. 18; Maleverer v. Redshaw, 1 Mod. 35; Collins v. Blantern, 2 Wils. C. P. 347].

76. Billings v. Avery, 7 Conn. 236 [citing Fermor's Case, 3 Comb. 77; Wimbish v. Tailbois, 1 Plowd. 38].

77. A bond with a blank condition is void under 23 Hen. VI, c. 9. Perry v. Dobbins, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 343.

Statutory conditions omitted.—Alexander v. Bates, 33 Ga. 125; Hutton v. Helme, 5 Watts (Pa.) 346; McKee v. Stannard, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 380. Where a bond which is unauthorized, owing to the adding to or the omission of the statutory conditions, is designedly taken by a public officer from a person under arrest as a ground of his discharge it will be void as having been taken colore officii, though it may not have been the intention of the officer to violate the law. Cook v. Freudenthal, 80 N. Y. 202. But an omission of a condition which if it had been inserted would have increased the responsibilities of the obligors cannot be complained of by them. Farmers' Bank v. Boyer, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 48.

78. 23 Hen. VI, c. 9, which required the sheriff to release persons upon their giving sufficient sureties to appear at the day and place mentioned in the writ, bill, or warrant.

79. Payne v. Britton, 6 Rand. (Va.) 101; Gardiner v. Dudgate, 2 Show. 51.

80. Payne v. Britton, 6 Rand. (Va.) 101.

At court or for prison limits.— So also in an early decision where a debtor had been arrested on mesne process it was held that the condition might be either for appearance at court or for the prison limits. Holmes v. Chadbourne, 4 Mc. 10.

At return-term and from term to term.— Condition for appearance at return-term and for attendance from term to term until discharged is declared to be sufficient in an early case. Embree v. Norris, 2 Ala. 271.

Substantially designating court and place. — If the law requires that the bond shall substantially set forth the court and place of defendant's appearance, it is sufficient if the vides for the appearance of the principal at a day different from that prescribed by law for holding the court.[81]

f. Misrecitals Which Do Not Vitiate. Where bonds are substantially correct there is a strong disposition in the court to disregard misrecitals therein, which are mere clerical errors, and to sustain the validity of the bonds.[82]

g. Validity as Affected by Antecedent Proceedings.[83] The validity of the bond may in some cases be affected by irregularities in the antecedent proceedings, such as an invalid order of arrest[84] or an unauthorized arrest.[85] But it bond provides that the defendant shall appear before the judges and assistant justices of a certain court to be held at the court-house in a certain place. Stevens v. Clancey, 1 Johns. (N. Y.) 521.

Conflicting statutes.—Where the process is, under the statute, returnable to the court from which the writ issued and which is in another county than that in which the defendant resides, and by one statute it is provided that the defendant must appear at the court to which the process is returnable, while another statute requires that the bond for the defendant's release should be conditioned for appearance at the county of his residence, the condition of the bond should be for appearance in the county from which the writ issued. Mallory v. Powell, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 411.

81. At term not appointed by law.—Allen v. White, Minor (Ala.) 289.

Non-appearance at adjournment.— If a bond should be and is conditioned for an appearance only and the defendant appears as required thereby his sureties will not be liable for his failure to appear at an adjournment of the hearing. McClelland v. Smith, 12 Pa. St. 303.

82. Trivial defects.— Glezen v. Rood, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 490. See Sergeant Williams' notes to Posterne v. Hanson, 2 Saund. 59.

Illustrations.— So though there may be a misnomer in the body of the bail-bond of one of the parties thereto, or one of the names of the parties may be omitted, yet if such party is otherwise sufficiently described as to be identified, it will not vitiate the bond. Thus it has been held that neither the omission of names of sureties in the body of the instrument signed by them (Davidson v. Carter, 9 Ga. 501; Bruce v. Colgan, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 284; Valentine v. Christie, 1 Rob. (La.) 298; Raynolds v. Gore, 4 Leigh (Va.) 276 [but see Adams v. Hedgepeth, 50 N. C. 327]), nor the misnomer of the plaintiff (Colburn v. Downes, 10 Mass. 20), nor an inconsistent recital as to who is party plaintiff (Turner v. White, 49 N. C. 116), nor omission to state character of parties as plaintiff and defendant (Halsall v. Meier, 21 Mo. 136), nor omission of defendant's christian name (Danker v. Atwood, 119 Mass. 146; Donnelly v. Foote, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 148), nor an omission of the name of one of several defendants (Ralston v. Love, Hard. (Ky.) 501; Kelly v. Com., 9 Watts (Pa.) 43; Smith v. Wallace, 1 Wash. (Va.) 254), nor a recital that plaintiff sues as "administrator" instead of as executor (Payne v. Britton, 6 Rand. (Va.) 101), nor the insertion in the condition of the bail-bond of the name of the bail with that of the principal (Fletcher v. Weatherby, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 56) will render the instrument invalid. So also it has been declared that the bond is valid though it may contain no recital that the party was arrested (Walker v. Massey, 10 Ala. 30), or that the demand arose in the course of a legal proceeding (Churchill v. Perkins, 5 Mass. 541), or that the bond recited an arrest in an action of trespass on the case when it was taken in an action of trespass (Devereux v. Esling, 7 Pa. St. 383 [see also Palmer v. McGinnis, Hard. (Ky.) 505; Rowland v. Seymour, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 590; In re Friedrich, 113 Mich. 468, 71 N. W. 835]); or that it omitted the name of the county where the action was pending (Deboard v. Brooks, 28 Ga. 362), or the amount of the debt (Palmer v. McGinnis, Hard. (Ky.) 505 [see also McClean v. Lillard, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 146]). But where the code provides that those qualifying as bail must be residents and freeholders within the state a bond should show these facts on its face, and where they are not so recited the bond may be refused by the plaintiff Howell v. Jones, 113 N. C. 429, 18 S. E. 672.

83. Consent of the principal is necessary before another can become bail for him. People v. Davidson, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 416, the reason assigned being that the giving of bail constitutes a contract between the principal and his sureties.

Plaintiff who has always repudiated the bail-bond during a time when the sureties could have surrendered the principal cannot subsequently, on payment of the judgment by the sheriff, surrender the bond to the latter so as to render the sureties liable. Bell v. Pierce, 146 Mass. 58, 15 N. E. 119.

84. Invalid order of arrest.— Brown v. Way, 33 Ga. 190; Pauer v. Simon, 6 Bush (Ky.) 514.

Waiver of defects in process.—And it has been declared that the voluntary appearance and entering into a recognizance by one arrested under a void process will operate as a waiver of defects in the process and that the recognizance will be valid. State v. Wenzel, 77 Ind. 428.

85. Illegal arrest.— Dumont v. Wright, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 540; Gillespie v. Hewlings, 2 Pa. St. 492.

Illustrations.— So an arrest by virtue of a defective certificate (Sargent v. Roberts, 52 Me. 590), or without the required affidavit (Aiken v. Richardson, 15 Vt. 500), or where not authorized by statute (Usher v. Pease, seems that, although the order admitting to bail may be erroneous, the bail may nevertheless be valid.[86]

h. Curing Defects in Bond. A bail-bond may, by permission of the court, be changed or amended in some cases if no rights are thereby prejudiced,[87] and it has been declared that under certain circumstances a new bond may be taken in the proper form where the former one was defective.[88]

2. Execution[89] — a. In General. In the absence of statutory provisions relating thereto, the formal requisites of contracts generally must control the execution of bonds or undertakings for bail,[90] but where the statute prescribes the form of the instrument or describes the manner of its execution, the bond or undertaking should, at least, substantially comply with the statute.[91] This rule has been applied in determining the necessity and sufficiency of signing,[92] sealing,[93] and acknowledging the instrument.[94] So in ascertaining the proper person in whose 116 Mass. 440, 17 Am. Rep. 169), or without proper authority (Thomas v. Mann, 4 Dana (Ky.) 452; Covey v. Noggle, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 330), has been held to be such an irregularity as will invalidate the bond.

But though the capias was tested out of term the bond was held not to be affected thereby. Parke v. Heath, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 301.

86. Erroneous order admitting to bail.— Matson v. Swanson, 131 Ill. 255, 23 N. E. 595. In this case, after the issuance of the writ of habeas corpus, the court issued an order admitting to bail before the return of the writ. See also supra, II, B, 3.

87. Amendment.—Walker v. Kennison, 34 N. H. 257. See Bennett v. Brickey, 4 Ark. 460. So an amendment may properly be made for the purpose of setting out the contract more accurately (Wright v. Blunt, 74 Me. 92), or for the purpose of curing a mistake or omission as to the names of the parties (Welch v. Vanbebber, 4 Yeates (Pa.) 559; Fletcher v. Weatherby, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 56). But it has been held that a bail-piece cannot be amended for the purpose of curing a defect which was not discovered until after suit was brought against the bail (Morrell v. Pixley, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 256, wherein an amendment striking out the words "trespass on the case" and inserting the word "debt" was not allowed under such circumstances).

On motion a mistake in the copy of the bond may be corrected by amending the copy so as to correspond with the original bond. So held in State v. Dowd, 43 N. H. 454, where the copy sent to the supreme court by the magistrate before whom taken contained the words "court of common pleas" wherever in the original bond the words "supreme judicial court" appeared. And where by mistake the obligation of the surety is not properly entered the remedy should be by motion to correct the entry, and not by motion to quash a scire facias which conforms to the record. Boyle v. Robinson, 7 Harr. & J. (Md.) 200.

88. New bond.— So in Pennsylvania the clerk of the supreme court has been permitted to take a new bond for the purpose of curing a defective bond in error taken in the court below. Hosie v. Gray, 73 Pa. St. 502.

89. Delivery either by the party himself, or by an attorney, is, by an early decision, declared to be necessary to have the bond take effect. Harrison v. Tiernans, 4 Rand. (Va.) 177.

90. See, generally, Bonds; Contracts; Undertakings.

91. See supra, II, G, 1, a, and cases cited infra, note 92 et seq.

92. Signing and subscribing.— If the statute requires that the bond should be executed by both principal and sureties, it must be actually executed by them and a recital in the bond of the defendant as principal and the others as sureties is not sufficient. Thus, although a person's name may be inserted in the body of the bond, it is error to take judgment against him, if he has not signed such bond. Goode v. Galt, Gilmer (Va.) 152. See also Bean v. Parker, 17 Mass. 591. In Indiana the statute did not formerly require parties entering into a recognizance to subscribe their names thereto. Doe v. Harter, 2 Ind. 252. In New York it was early decided that a statute providing that all recognizances, to be valid, should be signed by the party intended to be bound by them did not require that the principal and surety should unite in the same recognizance. People v. Huggins, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 464.

A bond for an infant arrested in an action for tort should be executed by the aid of a next friend. Vincent v. Warner, 16 Phila. (Pa.) 87, 40 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 46. See also, generally, Infants.

93. Sealing.— If the statute requires that a seal be affixed to a bond the want thereof is fatal. Peyton v. Moseley, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 77; Smalley v. Vanorden, 5 N. J. L. 951. But in some states a seal is not required by law and in such a case its omission will not render the bond void. Labarre v. Durnford, 10 Mart. (La.) 180; Kelly v. McCormick, 28 N. Y. 318; Willet v. Lassalle, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 618. And it was decided in an early case that, if a sheriff takes a bond which has no seals annexed to the names of the sureties, he will not be justified in detaining the defendant thereafter. Bunch v. Deliesseline, Harp. (S. C.) 226. See also, generally, Seals.

94. A recognizance acknowledged before a notary who has no power to take an acknowledgment of special bail is void. Clink v. Russell, 58 Mich. 242, 25 N. W. 175. See also, generally, Acknowledgments, 1 Cyc. 506.

presence the bond must be executed the statutory provisions relating to the execution of the instrument, if any, must be complied with.[95]

b. Indorsements on Writ. In an early case it is declared that sureties may assume the legal obligations of bail by entering their names on the back of the writ,[96] and in some states it has been held necessary that the name of the one becoming bail be indorsed on the writ.[97]

c. Qualification and Justification of Sureties — (i) In General. A person becomes a surety and is entitled to the rights and remedies and is subject to the liabilities of sureties in other cases where he signs a bail-bond to secure the discharge of a defendant from civil arrest and the payment of final judgment against him.[98]

(ii) Competency — (a) Who May Be Sureties. The rule as to competency has been held to include a housekeeper or householder,[99] or freeholder,[1] or one who has received transfers of property without consideration from defendant's friends to enable him to qualify,[2] or one who has received pecuniary consideration under agreement to go bail,[3] or a surety company,[4] or a stranger where defendant consents,[5] or under certain circumstances one who is not a housekeeper or freeholder,[6] or, in some jurisdictions, non-residents,[7] or a deputy sheriff,[8] or one who has been convicted of crime many years before;[9] also parties who, although

95. Execution in presence of officer.— The bond to be valid should be executed in the presence of the officer authorized to take it. Jones v. Bunn, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 490.

96. Pierce v. Read, 2 N. H. 359. But the indorsement "I, Ashbil Hurlburt, acknowledge myself special bail for the appearance of the within named Henry B. Roberts," signed A H was held not to have the force and effect of a recognizance. Vipoud v. Hurlburt, 22 Ill. 226.

97. Henderson v. Morrison, Ky. Dec. 181 (holding that judgment cannot be taken against appearance bail unless the sheriff shall indorse the name of the bail upon the writ); Dresser v. Fifield, 12 R. I. 24 (wherein it is held that where the statute requires one who becomes bail to indorse "his Christian and surname on the back of the writ," an indorsement by the bail of his surname and initials only is not a compliance therewith, and will not bind him as bail, though this may be his usual form of signature.

98. Culliford v. Walser, 158 N. Y. 65, 52 N. E. 648, 70 Am. St. Rep. 437 [reversing 3 N. Y. App. Div. 266, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 199, 73 N. Y. St. 692 (affirming 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 493, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 475, 69 N. Y. St. 173), rehearing denied in (N. Y. 1899) 53 N. E. 1124].

Bail are sureties and their rights and remedies are similar to those of sureties. Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222; Rathbone v. Warren, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 587.

Bail-bond may be directed to stand as security where trial has been lost. Rex v. London Sheriffs, 1 Chit. 358, 18 E. C. L. 200.

99. Description of residence should not be too general when it can be specifically designated. Jackson's Bail, 1 Chit. 492, 18 E. C. L. 269; Rickman v. Hawes, 5 Taunt. 173, 1 E. C. L. 96. See Taylor's Bail, 1 Chit. 503, 18 E. C. L. 276.

One taking lodging-house and who has received rent from lodger may justify as housekeeper. Coehn v. Waterhouse, 8 Moore C. P. 365.

Unmarried man who owns machinery of a mill which he rents is a householder, within N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 812, although he is a boarder. Delamater v. Byrne, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 71.

Who is householder.— Somerset, etc., Sav. Bank v. Huyck, 33 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 323; Savage v. Hall, 1 Bing. 430, 8 Moore C. P. 525, 8 E. C. L. 580.

1. Title to real estate constitutes one a freeholder. People v. Hynds, 30 N. Y. 470; People v. Scott, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 566.

2. People v. Ingersoll, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 23.

3. Fitch v. Vanderveer, 6 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 243.

Surety and fidelity companies receive consideration for this purpose to become bail. Bick v. Reese, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 125, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 121, 23 N. Y. St. 404.

4. Surety companies.— See Nichols v. MacLean, 98 N. Y. 458, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 132, 1 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 370, construing N. Y. Laws (1881), c. 486; Travis v. Travis, 48 Hun (N. Y.) 343, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 357, 15 N. Y. St. 874, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 307 [reversed in 122 N. Y. 449, 25 N. E. 920, 34 N. Y. St. 42, construing N. Y. Laws (1886), c. 416]; Rosenwald v. Phenix Ins. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 444.

5. Stranger where defendant consents.— People v. Davidson, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 416.

6. One not householder.— Saggers v. Gordon, 5 Taunt. 174, 1 E. C. L. 96, a case of waiver.

7. Non-residents.— See Glezen v. Rood, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 490; Dickison v. Coward, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 49. But see contra, infra, II, G, 2, c, (II), (B).

8. Deputy sheriff.— Plumer v. Brewster, 2 N. H. 473. See infra, II, G, 2, c, (II), (B).

9. One convicted many years before.— It is not an objection to bail that he had been originally incompetent, are estopped to deny their competency.[10] So a cosurety with a wife who is not liable may be bound where he has knowledge of the facts.[11] Again, after appearance bail have pleaded, the defendant may, at a subsequent term, appear and give the same persons as special bail.[12]

(B) Who May Not Be Sureties.[13] The rule of incompetency has been held to exclude as bail one who is not a housekeeper or householder;[14] non-residents;[15] persons seeking to justify in respect to property abroad;[16] the wife of the principal where her separate estate is not charged and she has received no consideration;[17] sheriffs;[18] a material witness;[19] a stranger;[20] attorneys and their clerks;[21] and a person who receives a commission from defendant's attorney on the amount on which he is to justify.[22]

(III) Number. Statutes prescribing the number of sureties on a bail-bond are in some jurisdictions directory and not exclusive, in so far at least as the validity of the bond is concerned,[23] although in respect to plaintiff's right he may be entitled to two sureties,[24] yet he must except if one surety be a fictitious per-transported thirty years before. Hatfield's Bail, 2 Chit. 98, 18 E. C. L. 528.

10. Estoppel to deny competency.—And this may include a sheriff. Meriam v. Armstrong, 22 Vt. 26. And if the incompetency is not objected to the bail is not a nullity. Miles v. Clarke, 4 Bosw. (N. Y.) 632 [affirming 2 Bosw. (N. Y.) 709]. See Hubbard v. Gicquel, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 15.

Non-residence of the surety may, under the circumstances, be no excuse for failure to comply with the conditions of the bond. Trimble v. Shaffer, 3 W. Va. 614.

Where the incompetency in respect to the person has ceased to exist, such person may be competent, as in case of an attorney who has not practised but has engaged in other avocations. Phillips v. Wortendyke, 5 N. Y. L. Bul. 90. See Evans v. Harris, 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 366 [cited in Stringham v. Stewart, 3 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 215]; Stringham v. Stewart, 8 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 420, 3 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 214.

11. Yale v. Wheelock, 109 Mass. 502.

12. Dunlops v. Laporte, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 22.

13. The earlier New York code did not abrogate the common-law disqualifications of persons proposed for bail. Wheeler v. Wilcox, 7 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 73.

14. One cannot justify as housekeeper where he has taken a house, but is prevented by accident from obtaining possession, although time may be allowed in such case to justify. Bold's Bail, 1 Chit. 288, 18 E. C. L. 159.

In England one could justify as tenant by the curtesy of lands in places where such tenancy prevails. Tomsey v. Napier, 8 Taunt. 148, 4 E. C. L. 84.

15. Non-residents.— People v. New York C. Pl., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 132; Lee v. Welch, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 477, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,204; Conningham v. Lacey, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 101, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,116. But see supra, II, G, 2, c, (II), (A).

16. Property abroad.— Levy's Bail, 1 Chit. 285, 18 E. C. L. 157.

17. Wife of principal.— Yale v. Wheelock, 109 Mass. 502.

18. Sheriffs.— Bailey v. Warden, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 129. But see supra, II, G, 2, c, (II), (A).

19. Material witness.—Anonymous, 2 Chit. 103, 18 E. C. L. 532.

20. Strangers.— People v. Davidson, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 416, except defendant consent.

21. Attorneys and their clerks.—Ryckman v. Coleman, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 398; Scott v. Craig, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 35.

Special circumstances excusing incompetency of attorney see Gilchrist v. Van Wagenen, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 499, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 312.

22. Foxall's Bail, 7 D. & R. 783, 16 E. C. L. 322.

23. A less number may suffice. Holbrook v. Klenert, 113 Mass. 268; Rice v. Hosmer, 12 Mass. 126; Long v. Billings, 9 Mass. 479; Arrenton v. Jordan, 11 N. C. 98; Johnson v. Williams, 2 Overt. (Tenn.) 177.

One surety is sufficient on a capias ad respondendum bond. Glezen v. Rood, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 490; Morton v. Campbell, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 179; Nulton v. Com., 19 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 69.

Three persons may justify as bail. Jell v. Douglass, 1 Chit. 601, 18 E. C. L. 327.

24. Rice v. Hosmer, 12 Mass. 126; Long v. Billings, 9 Mass. 479; Cromelines v. Beldens, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 107; Wendover v. Ball, 1 Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 49.

Two sureties are required if special bail be taken out of court by two justices of the peace by recognizance. Thomas v. Elliot, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 432, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,896.

In New York it has been decided that two sureties must justify as bail; one is not sufficient. O'Neil v. Durkee, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 94. See Cromelines v. Beldens, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 107. See also Grimwood v. Wilson, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 215, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 283; Morss v. Hasbrouck, 10 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 407, 63 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 84. And that upon failure of one surety to justify and the undertaking is not approved the other surety is not obligated. Gross v. Bouton, 9 Daly (N. Y.) 25. It is also held, however, son.[25] This rule, however, is subject to whatever exception exists by virtue of statutes relating to surety companies and which provide that any undertaking whatsoever shall be sufficient when executed or guaranteed solely by such company, and shall be accepted and taken and approved.[26]

(IV) Exceptions to Sureties — (A) Right to Make. Plaintiff may except to the bail[27] and to their sufficiency,[28] but he cannot proceed on the bail-bond;[29] nor is a party entitled to change his bail except for sufficient reason.[30]

(B) Waiver. An exception to special bail may thereafter be waived before the expiration of the time for justification and without requiring the latter.[31] Plaintiff may also waive his rights in respect to sureties by failing to except thereto in a proper case,[32] or by proceeding in the case without any justification or new bail,[33] or by filing a declaration or going to trial,[34] after notice received of special bail.[35]

(V) Justification of Sureties — (A) Necessity — (1) In General. Special bail must be given to entitle appearance bail to an exoneretur, and the former that the sufficiency of the sureties is a matter resting in the discretion of the court, although two sureties are as a rule required. Delamater v. Byrne, 57 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 170.

25. Caines v. Hunt, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 358.

26. Qualification of rule.— Nichols v. MacLean, 98 N. Y. 458, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 132, 1 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 370; Travis v. Travis, 48 Hun (N. Y.) 343, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 357, 15 N. Y. St. 874, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 307 [reversed in 122 N. Y. 449, 25 N. E. 920, 34 N. Y. St. 42]; Hurd v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 33 Hun (N. Y.) 109; Grimwood v. Wilson, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 215, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 283; Matter of Filer, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 107.

27. Cummings v. Meeker, 2 Miles (Pa.) 83.

For form of notice of exceptions to bail see 1 N. C. Code (1883), p. 355.

28. Caines v. Hunt, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 358; Ferris v. Phelps, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 249; Bennett v. Pendleton, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 146, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,322; Poe v. Mounger, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 145, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,240.

A plea served before justification of bail, after an exception thereto, becomes a nullity, even though received without objection, and the plaintiff must plead de novo after justifying. Briggs v. Rowe, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 508. See Adams v. Minton, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 56.

29. Cannot proceed on bond.— Caines v. Hunt, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 358; Ferris v. Phelps, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 249.

30. Change of bail by party.— Orchard v. Glover, 9 Bing. 318, 23 E. C. L. 597.

Sheriff cannot refuse to receive timely notice of exception to the sufficiency of sureties on the ground that the undertaking has been approved ex parte where the judge is of the proper court. Hetsch v. Bishop, 61 N. Y. Super. Ct. 441, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 837, 49 N. Y. St. 322.

The court may extend the time for serving notice of non-acceptance of bail. Zimm v. Ritterman, 5 Rob. (N. Y.) 618.

Justice should allow time for an exception. Smith v. Steel, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 80.

31. Boyd v. Weeks, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 71; People v. New York Super. Ct., 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 607.

Defendant's giving notice of justification will not have the effect of waiving an irregularity in giving notice of exception to bail without entering it. Hodson v. Garrett, 1 Chit. 174, 18 E. C. L. 105.

32. Failure to except.—He may thus waive his right to more than one surety (Cummings v. Meeker, 2 Miles (Pa.) 83) or to have incompetent persons as attorneys, etc., rejected (Miles v. Clarke, 4 Bosw. (N. Y.) 632 [affirming 2 Bosw. (N. Y.) 709]). He may also waive justification that bail shall be a householder or freeholder (Saggers v. Gordon, 5 Taunt. 174, 1 E. C. L. 96); and exception must be taken to the sufficiency of appearance bail or he cannot be objected to as special bail (Dunlops v. Laporte, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 22).

After justification opposition to bail is too late. Butler's Bail, 1 Chit. 83, 18 E. C. L. 58.

33. Proceeding without justification.— Flack v. Eager, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 185.

34. Filing declaration and going to trial.— People v. Stevens, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 72; White v. Fitler, 7 Pa. St. 533; Com. v. Heilman, 4 Pa. St. 455; Com. v. Watmough, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 412, 3 Pa. L. J. 63, holding also that the rule was the same after the act of 1836 as before. See also Rex v. London Sheriffs, 1 D. & R. 163, 16 E. C. L. 26. But see Com. v. Heilman, 4 Pa. St. 455.

35. After notice of special bail.— So although the bail-piece was not filed when notice was given, and in such case the plaintiff cannot proceed against the sheriff, even if the bail are insufficient. People v. Stevens, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 72. Nor where there is a waiver can he proceed against the bail excepted to. Flack v. Eager, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 185. Nor can he by a waiver hold special bail who have not justified in time and are discharged. Thorp v. Faulkner, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 514; People v. Judges Onondaga County C. Pl., 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 54.

must justify if excepted to.[36] But if bail is entered for the purpose of making a surrender justification is unnecessary.[37]

(2) Effect of Failure to Justify. After bail is accepted by the sheriff defendant is at large until actual failure of the sureties to justify in case of an exception taken to them,[38] and failure to justify makes the sheriff liable as bail, although he may exonerate himself by taking defendant into actual custody,[39] and when he becomes so liable he has all the rights and privileges and is subject to all the duties and liabilities of bail.[40] And bail who fail to justify unless other bail are given and justify are liable to the sheriff for all damages sustained by such failure, but the sureties are not liable as bail in such case,[41] nor are they liable to one to whom the bond has been assigned.[42] It has, however, been decided in an early case that the bond is still obligatory upon non-justification after exception taken, unless bail have duly surrendered their principal, and that plaintiff may proceed upon the bail-bond after judgment had against defendant and issuing a capias ad satisfaciendum which is returned non est.[43]

(3) No Renewal of Sheriff's Liability. Bail once regularly allowed cannot be set aside on the ground of excusable neglect of the plaintiff's attorney to

36. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 317, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,589.

37. Stockton v. Throgmorton, 1 Baldw. (U. S.) 148, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,463.

If, after exception taken, bail do not justify, the proper course is to rule the sheriff to bring in the body and compel him by attachment to procure sufficient bail or pay the money into court. Fitler v. Bryson, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 566. See also White v. Fitler, 7 Pa. St. 533; Freeman v. Hays, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 253, 4 Pa. L. J. 8; Com. v. Watmough, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 412, 3 Pa. L. J. 63.

38. Arteaga v. Conner, 88 N. Y. 403, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 152, 14 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 278 [affirming 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 494].

39. Liability of sheriff.— Douglass v. Warren, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 1, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 264. See also Neresheimer v. Bowe, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 301.

Sheriff's right to rearrest.—Arteaga v. Conner, 88 N. Y. 403, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 152, 14 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 278 [affirming 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 494]; Watt v. Reilly, 62 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 350.

Failure of bail to justify as ground for second arrest see Arrest, II, K, 1, b [3 Cyc. 975, and note 12].

But no lapse of time will give him the right to rearrest defendant after indefinite postponement of justification by the plaintiff's attorney, unless the sureties have made actual default. Arteaga v. Conner, 88 N. Y. 403, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 152, 14 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. (N. Y.) 278 [affirming 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 494].

40. Sheriff has rights of and is liable as bail.— Brady v. Brundage, 59 N. Y. 310; Sartos v. Mèrceques, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 188.

41. Liability of bail to sheriff.— Clapp v. Schutt, 44 N. Y. 104 [affirming 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 9, 29 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 255]; Douglass v. Warren, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 1, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 264; In re Taylor, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 212. See Haberstro v. Bedford, 43 Hun (N. Y.) 201.

Upon non-justification within time allowed bails' liability ceases and they cannot be held by plaintiff's notice of waiver of exception. Cooper v. Spicer, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 619; Thorp v. Faulkner, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 514; Trotter v. Hawley, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 226; Waterman v. Allen, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 60; People v. Judges Onondaga County C. Pl., 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 54.

42. Liability to assignee of bond.— Clapp v. Schutt, 44 N. Y. 104. Where the plaintiff in an execution gave notice of non-acceptance, and bail did not justify and defendant did nothing as to the undertaking, the plaintiff has no right of action as original obligee against the bail. Clapp v. Schutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 9, 29 How. (N. Y.) 255 [affirmed in 44 N. Y. 104].

What bail-bonds are assignable under statute 4 Anne, c. 16, see Meller v. Palfreyman, 4 B. & Ad. 146, 24 E. C. L. 73.

43. Com. v. Watmough, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 412, 3 Pa. L. J. 63.

Failure of special bail to justify before expiration of time allowed therefor does not release them if exceptions are withdrawn before time expires. People v. New York Super. Ct., 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 607.

If bail has been treated as valid to gain a benefit exoneretur will not be entered on ground of bail being null. Sard v. Forrest, 1 B. & B. 139, 2 D. & R. 250, 1 L. J. K. B. O. S. 31.

That principal is a lunatic and that marshal refused to receive him into custody is no ground of exoneretur of bail-piece. Anderson's Bail, 2 Chit. 104, 18 E. C. L. 532.

Rule to bring in body.— Under the Pennsylvania act of June 13, 1836, as well as prior thereto, the effect of a non-justification might be a rule to the sheriff to bring in defendant's body. Fitler v. Bryson, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 566; Littleboy v. Blankman, 1 Miles (Pa.) 279. When rule not enforceable see Freeman v. Hays, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 253, 4 Pa. L. J. 8, under Pennsylvania act June 13, 1836, §§ 9, 12, 13, 14. And no action lies on bail-bond after such rule. Blackford v. Hawkins, 1 Bing. 181, 7 Moore C. P. 600, 8 E. C. L. 461.

attend the justification, and if the sheriff has once been legally exonerated from liability he cannot be reinstated.[44]

(B) Notice. Notice of justification must be given.[45]

(C) Time and Place. The general rule is that bail must justify at the time and place specified in the notice, and such justification is good.[46] Further time may be allowed for justification upon good cause appearing, but a new notice must be given.[47]

(D) Sufficiency — (1) In General. In New York the justification is not complete unless the judge, where he finds the bail sufficient, indorse his allowance on the undertaking and file it with the clerk;[48] and it was ruled early in Pennsylvania that an affidavit before a commissioner, with notice to the plaintiff that the bail would answer on oath any questions that might be put to them, was a sufficient justification.[49]

44. Lewis v. Stevens, 93 N. Y. 57, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 224, 65 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 525 [reversing 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 559].

45. Jaques v. Hemphill, 3 Harr. (Del.) 503.

For form of notice of justification of bail see 1 N. C. Code (1883), p. 355.

Sufficiency of notice — New bail.—A notice of intention to "perfect" bail is insufficient where, in addition to justification, it is purposed to add new bail. Brown v. Williamson, 8 N. J. L. 363.

46. Southerland v. Sheffield, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 293. As to estoppel as to time against sureties on undertaking required for arrest see Vanderberg v. Connoly, 18 Utah 112, 54 Pac. 1097.

At a second term, after exception taken at the rules, it was decided in an early case that the marshal might justify appearance bail. Brent v. Brashears, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 59, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,836.

If justification is after plea served, the plea is not made good unless served de bene esse and with notice. Adams v. Minton, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 56.

In open court.— Under a former rule a judge of the supreme court might, before justification, order it to be made in open court. N. Y. General Rule, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 422.

In vacation.— So it has been held that bail excepted to might justify in vacation when defendant was arrested in vacation. Fenn v. Smith, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 124.

Under the early English practice bail might justify at the rising of court before the last day of the term (Hopper v. Jacobs, 8 Taunt. 56, 4 E. C. L. 38); or at any time before execution issued (Tood v. Etherington, 2 Marsh. 374, 4 E. C. L. 489; Stanton's Bail, 2 Chit. 73, 18 E. C. L. 510).

Before whom made.— The present New York statute provides for notice of justification before a judge of the court or a county judge. N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 578, 580, 581. The early rule, however, permitted justification before a judge at chambers (Fenn v. Smith, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 124); or on due notice before officers authorized to take recognizances (N. Y. General Rule, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 422); or an officer other than the one named in the notice (Southerland v. Sheffield, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 293). But if not made in open court an appeal lay to the court. N. Y. General Rule, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 422.

47. Further time allowed.— Burns v. Robbins, 1 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 62; Smith v. Steel, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 80, holding also that time may be allowed if necessary for entering good bail. So if time has been granted to inquire into the sufficiency of former bail fresh bail may be put in. Freeman v. Oldham, 2 Chit. 84, 18 E. C. L. 518. But if bail is approved the court cannot renew the sheriff's liability by opening the default by reason of neglect of plaintiff's attorneys. Lewis v. Stevens, 93 N. Y. 57, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 224, 65 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 525, 2 McCar. (N. Y.) 450 [reversing 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 559].

Bail becoming incompetent.— Time will be allowed to add and justify another bail where bail who has consented becomes incompetent. Dixon v. Clarke, 1 Chit. 3, 18 E. C. L. 16; Anonymous, 1 Chit. 6, 11, 18 E. C. L. 19, 22. See also Ayton's Bail, 1 Chit. 4, 18 E. C. L. 17.

Errors in jurat or notice.—And time to justify will be allowed for certain errors in jurat (Arrington's Bail, 1 Chit. 495, 18 E. C. L. 271; Drabble v. Denham, 2 Chit. 92, 18 E. C. L. 524) or in notice of justification (Atkinson's Bail, 2 Chit. 86, 18 E. C. L. 520).

Affidavit to add and justify on ground of bail not attending must show promise to attend and that deponent believed bail competent. West's Bail, 1 Chit. 292, 18 E. C. L. 162; Hamilton v. Dainsford, 2 Chit. 82, 18 E. C. L. 516; Gwillim v. Howes, 2 Chit. 107, 18 E. C. L. 534; Gillbank's Bail, 9 D. & R. 6, 22 E. C. L. 583. But when contra, see Joyce v. Pratt, 6 Bing. 377, 4 M. & P. 55, 19 E. C. L. 175; Lascar v. Morioseph, 1 Bing. 357, 8 E. C. L. 546.

48. O'Neil v. Durkee, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 94.

For form of justification of bail see 1 N. C. Code (1883), p. 356.

For form of notice of other bail-bond see 1 N. C. Code (1883), p. 356.

49. Jones v. Badger, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 461.

Bail prevaricating may on coming up again be committed for contempt. Wilson v. Bodkin, 8 D. & R. 41, 16 E. C. L. 333; Curtis v. Smith, 1 Chit. 116, 18 E. C. L. 75. Bail will not be set aside on affidavit of perjury by bail in justifying. Stockham v. French, 1 Bing.

(2) As to Amount in Which Sureties Justify.[50] Where the statute provides that each surety must be worth the sum specified in the order of arrest, bail need not justify in double the amount, even though another enactment requires that, except when otherwise expressly prescribed by law, the justification must be in twice the sum specified in the undertaking.[51]

3. Return and Filing. As a general rule it is necessary, in order to render a recognizance a perfect instrument, which is valid and enforceable, that it, or a copy thereof, be returned to the court and filed,[52] but where omission to file the bail-piece has been by mistake the court may order it to be filed nunc pro tunc.[53]

H. Money Deposited in Lieu of Bail — 1. In General. A general power to take bail does not authorize receiving a deposit of money in lieu of bail.[54]

2. Disposition of — a. Refunding. Where, under the statute, money deposited in lieu of bail has been released, as by a termination of the proceedings,[55] or by the giving and justification of sufficient bail,[56] such money should be returned to the defendant; but, in the absence of a statute to the contrary,[57] such cash deposit

365, 8 E. C. L. 550. Nor will allowance of bail be set aside because one of them received money for trouble and loss of time. Wyllie v. Jones, 2 D. & R. 253, 16 E. C. L. 84.

Defendant's knowledge.— Defendant has been held bound to know circumstances of bail. Hunt v. Haynes, 1 Chit. 7, 18 E. C. L. 19; George v. Barnsley, 1 Chit. 8, 18 E. C. L. 20.

Fraud.— Justification will be set aside for gross fraud or imposition. Gould v. Berry, 1 Chit. 143, 18 E. C. L. 89.

50. As to the number of sureties required see supra, II, G, 2, c, (III).

51. Cafiero v. Demartino, 6 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 55.

Double the amount was formerly required. Chapin v. White, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 105; Louis v. Mitchell, 2 Hill (N. Y.) 379. But should the rule require that bail must justify in double the amount, nevertheless, if its enforcement will operate oppressively, as where the demand is very large, the court will mitigate the sum by making it reasonably sufficient to secure the plaintiff. Cromelines v. Beldens, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 107. But a set-off will not be considered in mitigation, nor for such purpose will an affidavit be required which in effect substantially operates to reduce the demand. Robbins v. Upton, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 498, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,880. Where, in an action for libel, damages were laid at twenty thousand dollars and plaintiff averred damages to the same extent, justification was required for five hundred dollars only. Mayo v. Smith, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 569, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,355.

Recognizance should not be taken for a larger sum than directed. Waugh v. People, 17 Ill. 561.

52. Necessity.—Darling v. Hubbell, 9 Conn. 350; Trigg v. Shields, Hard. (Ky.) 168; Ruggles v. Berry, 76 Me. 262; Quarles v. Buford, 3 Munf. (Va.) 487. But see Jones v. Bunn, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 490, where it is held that a requirement that the bond when accepted shall be returned to the clerk's office is merely directory.

Effect of filing the bail-piece is to render it a record of court on which an action will lie. Green v. Ovington, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 55.

53. Nunc pro tunc filing.— Nichols v. Sutfin, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 422, where such an order was made after judgment.

Remedy where bond lost.—Where the original bond is lost and an application is made, in an action upon the recognizance, to substitute a copy in lieu of the original, notice should be given to the sureties as well as to the principal. Montgomery v. Henry, 10 Mich. 19. In an early case in New York it is decided that, if a bond is lost, permission may be given after a verdict to file common bail nunc pro tunc. Napier v. Whipple, 3 Cai. (N. Y.) 88. See also, generally, Lost Instruments.

54. Eagan v. Stevens, 39 Hun (N. Y.) 311 [distinguished in McShane v. Pinkham, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 969, 46 N. Y. St. 66, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 173].

Money deposited in lieu of bail in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, H.

55. That proceedings have terminated, so as to release the money, must be shown in order to recover it from the sheriff. Alexander v. Creamer, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 211, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 539.

Where, upon appeal from a judgment against him, execution is stayed and he furnishes a sufficient undertaking for bail defendant is entitled to a return of his cash deposit. Lake v. Haseltine, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 309, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 320.

56. Until after the giving and justification of bail, a motion to refund money deposited in lieu of bail cannot be made. Hermann v. Aaronson, 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 389, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 272 [affirmed in 8 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 155].

57. N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 586.

Acknowledgment and record of written direction to pay.—Where a statute provides that a written direction to pay money deposited in lieu of bail, in case defendant becomes entitled to a return thereof, shall be acknowledged and recorded in like manner as a deed, such acknowledgment is required merely to note the substance of the direction in the clerk's books. The statutory acknowledgment last above mentioned may, if insufficient, be amended nunc pro tunc on the certificate of payment into court. Kennerly v. Tompkins, could be returned to no other person than the defendant, even though deposited by a third person.[58]

b. Satisfaction of Plaintiff's Judgment. Money on deposit in lieu of bail at the time of final judgment for the plaintiff should be applied in satisfaction of said judgment, irrespective of any third person's prior ownership of the money, or of any special stipulation for return on defendant's surrender,[59] although the plaintiff's right in this respect may not be absolute, but limited by circumstances.[60]

I. Discharge of Sureties — 1. Grounds — a. In General. The liability of bail rests upon the terms and conditions of their obligation. Therefore, as a general rule, special bail are discharged by anything which in any manner affects the nature and extent of their contract in such a way as to probably result in an increase of risk or liability.[61] For the same reason any alterations in the writ, changes in the pleadings by amendment or otherwise, or variances from the affidavit of arrest,[62] whereby a different or new cause of action is created and the bail thereby subjected to a different or additional responsibility, or whereby they are made liable for an increased sum or are otherwise placed in a situation which

7 N. Y. Suppl. 921, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 428, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 296.

58. Returning to third person.— Hermann v. Aaronson, 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 389, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 272 [affirmed in 8 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 155]; Zimmerman v. Peirpont, 17 Phila. (Pa.) 53, 42 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 170, 2 Lanc. L. Rev. 177.

59. Hermann v. Aaronson, 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 389, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 272.

60. Plaintiff's right in this respect does not extend to a case where, after bail has been accepted, at the officer's request a third person deposits money in his hands as security to the officer that bail will justify or the defendant surrender himself. New York Commercial Warehouse Co. v. Graber, 45 N. Y. 393.

61. Increasing risk or liability.—Michigan. — Campau v. Seeley, 30 Mich. 57.

New York.— Lathrop v. Briggs, 8 Cow. (N. Y.) 171.

Ohio.— Candee v. Kelsey, 7 Ohio, pt. II, 210.

Pennsylvania.— Hayden v. Adams, 2 Binn. (Pa.) 232; Lopeman v. Henderson, 4 Pa. St. 231; Myers v. Young, 2 Dall. (Pa.) 79, 1 L. ed. 297.

Virginia.— Grays v. Hines, 4 Munf. (Va.) 437.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 64.

Discharge of bail in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, J.

Performance of obligation see infra, II, J.

Surrender of principal see infra, II, L.

Alteration of bond operating as discharge of obligors see Alterations of Instruments, 2 Cyc. 219, note 13.

In Canada it seems that bail are not bound by what the attorney for their principal may choose to do as such. Mitchell v. Noble, 1 C. L. Chamb. 284.

"Just cause" may be shown why judgment should not be rendered against the bail; but "just cause" does not mean a cause why the amount recovered should be reduced to nominal damages. Walker v. Waterman, 50 Vt. 107.

That officer was prevented by the principal's resistance from taking him in execution is no defense. Fitch v. Loveland, Kirby (Conn.) 380.

62. Alteration of writ, change in declaration; amendments.— When bail discharged. —Delaware.— Waples v. Derrickson, 1 Harr. (Del.) 134.

Massachusetts.— Wood v. Denny, 7 Gray (Mass.) 540 (holding that they are discharged by amending a declaration on money counts by adding a count on a guaranty of a debt due from a third person to the plaintiff); Willis v. Crooker, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 204 (counts added were not for same cause of action as the counts in the writ).

New York.— Pell v. Grigg, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 426.

North Carolina.— Bradhurst v. Pearson, 32 N. C. 55 (holding that an amendment of the writ after bail is given, whereby the nature of the action is changed, discharges bail); Smith v. Shaw, 30 N. C. 233; West v. Ratledge, 15 N. C. 31; Bryan v. Bradley, 1 N. C. 54.

South Carolina.— Murrel v. Halbert, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 238; Woodfolk v. Leslie, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 585.

Vermont.— Wright v. Brownell, 3 Vt. 435.

United States.— Hyer v. Smith, 3 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 437, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,979.

When bail not discharged.— Massachusetts.— Brown v. Howe, 3 Allen (Mass.) 528; Wood v. Denny, 7 Gray (Mass.) 540 (holding that bail were not discharged where counts added were in fact the same cause of action, though not so appearing on the record); Lord v. Clark, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 223; Seeley v. Brown, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 177 (judgment was taken on the original declaration and not on the new demand under the amendment).

New York.— Blue v. Stout, 3 Cow. (N. Y.) 354.

North Carolina.— Bradhurst v. Pearson, 32 N. C. 55, where bail was not discharged, but it was declared when an amendment would discharge.

Ohio.— Enos v. Aylesworth, 8 Ohio St. 322.

Pennsylvania.— Hackett v. Carnell, 106 Pa. St. 291.

South Carolina.— Woodfolk v. Leslie, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 585, holding that a creditor might hold the debtor to bail in one cause of action and declare on another.

materially changes the legal nature of their obligation, may operate to discharge the bail.[63] It is also decided that a verdict given on a different cause of action than that on which the creditor is held to bail may be taken advantage of in a suit on the bond.[64]

b. Arrest and Custody of Principal — (i) In Other Proceedings. Where the power of surrendering the principal is made impossible by an act of law, such as the imprisonment and custody of the principal in other proceedings, the obligation to surrender him is thereupon discharged,[65] but the liability must rest wholly Vermont.— Wright v. Brownell, 3 Vt. 435, holding that bail are not discharged by filing a new count, unless they are thereby subjected to a new or additional responsibility or made liable for an increased sum.

United States.— Carrington v. Ford, 4 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 231, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,449.

England.— Manesty v. Stevens, 9 Bing. 400, 2 M. & S. 563, 23 E. C. L. 633; Coppin v. Potter, 1 Bing. N. Cas. 443, 27 E. C. L. 714.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 81.

63. Increase of ad damnum discharges bail. Langley v. Adams, 40 Me. 125. And they are discharged when the sum in the declaration is larger than in the writ. Matthews v. Armstrong, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 180. Contra, New Haven Bank v. Miles, 5 Conn. 587. See Carr v. Sterling, 114 N. Y. 558, 22 N. E. 37, 24 N. Y. St. 521 [reversing 53 N. Y. Super. Ct. 255].

Variance — Affidavit and declaration. — When bail are discharged. Robeson v. Thompson, 9 N. J. L. 97; Hyer v. Smith, 3 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 437, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,979. When bail are not discharged. Cummer v. Moyer, 57 Mich. 375, 24 N. W. 110; Wilkinson v. Nichols, 48 Mich. 354, 12 N. W. 486; Robeson v. Thompson, 9 N. J. L. 97.

Demand contained in suit in which principal has been arrested is the only one on which the sureties are responsible. Bean v. Parker, 17 Mass. 591.

Discontinuance of the suit at the rules, if it be reinstated, does not discharge the bail. Gadsby v. Miller, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 39, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,167.

64. Verdict on different cause of action.— Woodfolk v. Leslie, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 585. But it has been determined that judgment against bail on scire facias is sufficiently regular, even though the action against the principal was changed from detinue to trover. Porter v. Brisbane, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 496. See Karck v. Avinger, Riley (S. C.) 201; Saunders v. Hughes, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 504.

65. Delaware.— Bail are discharged by act of the law as by the conviction or imprisonment of the principal for felony. Canby v. Griffin, 3 Harr. (Del.) 333.

Massachusetts.—The rule applies to a case where a lunatic is confined and a writ of habeas corpus is denied to bring in the principal from the hospital for surrender. Fuller v. Davis, 1 Gray (Mass.) 612. See also Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380. Contra, Parker v. Chandler, 8 Mass. 264, which holds that confinement in a state prison for felony did not excuse bail, since nothing but the act of God could so operate; this case is declared in Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380, to be shaken, if not overruled, by Bigelow v. Johnson, 16 Mass. 218, and also that it is opposed to the English decisions.

New Jersey.—"The cases almost uniformly recognized the rule, that where the condition of a bond or recognizance becomes impossible of performance by the act of God, or of the law, or of the obligee, the obligation is saved." Steelman v. Mattix, 38 N. J. L. 247, 249, 20 Am. Rep. 389.

New York.— Rule applied to a case of imprisonment for life; bail made a bona fide effort to surrender the principal, and if it had been done it would not have benefited the plaintiff. Cathcart v. Cannon, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 28, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 64, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 65. See also Loflin v. Fowler, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 335, where principal was imprisoned in another state for felony.

Virginia.— Ross v. Randolph, 5 Call (Va.) 296.

United States.— Wormsley v. Beedle, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 331, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,049.

England.—"Wherever the principal, by act of God, or of the law, is taken, as it were, out of the bail's keeping, before the day of surrender allowed, and without fault in his bail, they are discharged." 5 Dane Abr. 290 [quoted in Fuller v. Davis, 1 Gray (Mass.) 612, 613]. Substantially the same rule is stated in Canby v. Griffin, 3 Harr. (Del.) 333 [citing Petersdorf Bail, 395]. In Fowler v. Dunn, 4 Burr. 2034, habeas corpus was moved on behalf of bail to bring up defendant, who was on ship about to be transported for felony, and motion was denied, in that it might delay the ship's sailing, and it was impliedly declared that habeas corpus would not lie after actual transportation. In Vergen's Bail, 2 Str. 1217, the convict was brought up on habeas corpus and surrendered in discharge of bail. The same was done in Sharp v. Sheriff, 7 T. R. 226; Biggnell v. Forrest, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 482. In Trinder v. Shirley, 1 Dougl. 45, the principal became a peer by succession and could not be surrendered and exoneretur was entered. In Wood v. Mitchell, 6 T. R. 247, principal was convicted of felony and sentenced to transportation and exoneretur was entered on motion of bail. See also Merrick v. Vaucher, 6 T. R. 50; Bacon Abr. Bail in Civil Causes, D; 1 Tidd Pr. (1st Am. ed.) 243.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 68.

upon such act of the law, without aid or contribution from the fault, neglect, or omission of the sureties themselves.[66]

(II) In Same Action. Bail are discharged by the legal arrest or commitment of the principal in that action; but charging one of two bail in execution does not discharge the other.[67]

c. Discharge of One of Several Co-Defendants. The discharge of one of several co-defendants does not release the bail as to the other or others, unless such bail's liability is thereby changed or varied, or they are subjected to a new or different cause of action, or to a greater risk, or the sureties are prejudicially affected in their rights or means of indemnity as shown by and dependent upon the bond.[68] The release of the husband after execution against him and his wife 66. See cases cited supra, note 65.

Rule qualified and distinguished.—Massachusetts.— A distinction has been made between these cases where the convict is confined under a charge only of felony, of which he may be acquitted and his creditor derive benefit by taking him in execution, and these cases where he is in prison under sentence and the creditor can derive no advantage from his execution, and the prisoner will be remanded. In such a case habeas corpus is an unnecessary expense, and, although habeas corpus is proper, it is not the only course. Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380. It is one thing to excuse bail and another to discharge them upon surrender of the principal. So, where the bail pleaded in bar the commitment of the principal to jail and the plaintiff in an action against the bail replied that they were afterward imprisoned in state prison on a charge of felony, the replication was adjudged bad, since the bail might have habeas corpus and surrender the principal. Bigelow v. Johnson, 16 Mass. 218.

New Jersey.— In Steelman v. Mattix, 38 N. J. L. 247, 20 Am. Rep. 389, the rule was declared as in force, but in that case the surrender was not rendered impossible by act of the law, or by operation thereof, and the sureties were not held.

New York.— In Haberstro v. Bedford, 118 N. Y. 187, 23 N. E. 459, 28 N. Y. St. 857 [affirming 43 Hun (N. Y.) 201, 5 N. Y. St. 399, 26 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 56], the sureties were held not relieved from liability to the sheriff by his removal of the principal to an inebriate asylum in another county, nor by the fact that said sheriff released defendant from custody and caused his rearrest by the coroner. But in this case the bail refused to justify and the order of commitment to the asylum was void. In Phœnix F. Ins. Co. v. Mowatt, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 599, the term of imprisonment was only two years, and the court declared that relief had only been granted in those cases where imprisonment was for life or for a long term of years in another state, and therefore temporary imprisonment was no ground for discharge, although that might be granted for surrender if bail were pressed with suit. The refusal was, it is apparent, to grant summary relief. In Nehresheimer v. Bowe, 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 363, the sheriff was refused relief where defendant escaped into another state and was there imprisoned for crime. But the bail did not justify, and the case really turned upon the construction of N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 589, 600.

North Carolina.— In Adrian v. Scanlin, 77 N. C. 317, bail was not exonerated where the term of imprisonment expired before judgment against bail. See also Sedberry v. Carver, 77 N. C. 319.

United States.— In Gadsby v. Miller, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 39, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,167, the plea was made, but abandoned, that the principal was in jail in another state at the time of the judgment and ever since. But in Bowerbank v. Payne, 2 Wash. (U. S.) 464, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,727, the court rules that even if the lunacy of the principal were permanent there was nothing to prevent his surrender, and in the absence of proof that it was not temporary, nothing could justify the release of bail.

Where other proceedings are civil.—In Ross v. Randolph, 5 Call (Va.) 296, the distinction is expressly made between arrest in civil and in criminal proceedings.

Where principal is imprisoned for crime before return of civil process surety may escape liability by filing special bail and surrendering the principal by habeas corpus, or by motion after sentence. Atkinson v. Prine, 46 N. J. L. 28. See Nehresheimer v. Bowe, 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 363.

67. Johnson v. Smith, 1 Root (Conn.) 373; Crouse v. Paddock, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 630; Penn v. Remsen, 24 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 503; Stewart v. McGuin, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 99. Commitment "for the relief of bail" discharges (Ruggles v. Corey, 3 Conn. 419) or a commitment on alias execution (Warren v. Gilmore, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 15) or an arrest on capias ad satisfaciendum (Milner v. Green, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 283; McKnight v. Sessions, 8 Rich. (S. C.) 210), and a subsequent discharge of the principal with his consent under the act of 1815 does not revive liability of bail (McKnight v. Sessions, 8 Rich. (S. C.) 210). Judgment against bail does not discharge principal taken on alias execution. In re Potoshinsky, (R. I. 1897) 36 Atl. 878.

68. Sanderson v. Stevens, 116 Mass. 133 [citing Leonard v. Speidel, 104 Mass. 356]. See also Happenny v. Trayner, 111 Mass. 279; Hamlin v. McNiel, 32 N. C. 306; Karck upon a judgment in an action in which a body execution can issue does not release sureties, who were bail for both.[69]

d. Irregularity of Proceedings. Bail may be discharged by reason of the irregularity of the proceedings against the principal, whether the error be that of the court or judge, or exists in some material step in the process, or where it is otherwise such as to bring it within the rule that bail shall not be prejudiced materially contrary to the condition and terms of his obligation where he is not in fault.[70]

e. Judgment — (i) For More Than Original Claim. If the plaintiff takes judgment for more than the ad damnum named in the writ and attempts to hold bail by giving them notice on the execution they are discharged.[71]

(ii) For Principal. If judgment is rendered upon the merits for the principal bail are exonerated.[72]

f. Plaintiff's Acts. The plaintiff or his attorney may by acts or declarations done or made surrender their rights in respect to the obligation of bail,[73] but acts

v. Avinger, 3 Hill (S. C.) 215. So in Higginbotham v. Browns, 4 Munf. (Va.) 516, it was declared that the surrender of one only was not a full performance and no bar to scire facias, and also that the case was not analogous to the discharge of one of two defendants on execution since the execution was joint.

When bail released.— In Trice v. Turrentine, 27 N. C. 236, there was a joint judgment, a capias ad satisfaciendum issued against all, and the sheriff was directed by the plaintiff not to execute the capias ad satisfaciendum as to two, and it was declared that the law was for the benefit of bail, and good faith was required of the plaintiff in the effort to recover the debt of the principal. In Bryan v. Simonton, 8 N. C. 51, there was a joint capias ad satisfaciendum and it was held that a consent to a discharge of one of two prevented a retaking, as the execution was supposed to be satisfied. In Com. v. Clay, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 121, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 148, it was declared that the event on which the bond was conditioned had not occurred; that a judgment against one was not in accordance with the bond and therefore the principal was discharged and the sureties exonerated, since they might have had an action over against him; that the confession of the judgment varied the nature of the obligation, for a demand sounding in money damages was converted into a contract to deliver stock, thereby altering the liability of bail in a material particular without their consent.

69. Where the judgment is against husband and wife the execution must follow the judgment and the wife is liable to be imprisoned on a capias ad satisfaciendum with or without her husband, although otherwise on mesne process; the wife, when taken in execution, can be relieved only in the same manner as other execution debtors are relieved. Hall v. White, 27 Conn. 488.

70. Baker Mfg. Co. v. Fisher, 35 Kan. 659, 12 Pac. 20 (an erroneous order of arrest and discharge); McCaleb v. Maxwell, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 527 (where service of process was irregular); Fish v. Barbour, 43 Mich. 19, 4 N. W. 502 (where declaration was not filed as required by statute); Myers v. Young, 2 Dall. (Pa.) 79, 1 L. ed. 297.

Great caution should, however, be used in the application of this rule. Gorgorian v. Prood, 167 Mass. 31, 44 N. E. 1069; In re Friedrich, 113 Mich. 468, 71 N. W. 835; Mason, etc., Vocalion Co. v. Killough Music Co., 45 S. C. 11, 22 S. E. 755.

Prosecution of different actions.— That action on bond to dissolve attachment and an action on a poor debtor's recognizance may be prosecuted at the same time, see Watts v. Stevenson, 169 Mass. 61, 47 N. E. 447.

71. Ruggles v. Berry, 76 Me. 262. See also supra, II, I, 1, a.

But if judgment for such larger amount rests upon a mere irregularity in an amendment increasing the claim for damages it is valid until corrected by motion. Carr v. Sterling, 114 N. Y. 558, 22 N. E. 37, 24 N. Y. St. 521 [reversing 53 N. Y. Super. Ct. 255].

72. So held even though there is a reversal thereof for error or a new trial granted. Lockwood v. Jones, 7 Conn. 431; Ainsworth v. Peabody, 1 Root (Conn.) 469; Fleming v. Lord, 1 Root (Conn.) 214; Butler v. Bissel, 1 Root (Conn.) 102; Duncan v. Tindall, 20 Ohio St. 567.

But it is also held that if the judgment is set aside and the plaintiff allowed to proceed in the action, the bail's liability revives. Watt v. Reilly, 62 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 350. So a fair trial and acquittal of the principal after a recognizance will release the sureties. Lafleur v. Mouton, 8 La. Ann. 489.

73. Kellogg v. Manro, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 300; Hughes v. Hollingsworth, 5 N. C. 146; Howell v. Hunt, 1 Mill (S. C.) 321. See also Melvill v. Glendining, 7 Taunt. 126, 2 E. C. L. 290.

Acts or declarations of plaintiff or attorney may be such as to release the latter from liability, even though there was no mention to discharge bail, but the contrary; especially so where there is an attempt to entrap the bail against the honesty and justice of the case. Newell v. Hoadley, 8 Conn. 381; Howell v. Hunt, 1 Mill (S. C.) 321.

Laches is a good defense to the extent that the plaintiff should not neglect or delay per-beneficial to the surety, or which cannot possibly operate to his prejudice, do not release him.[74]

g. Principal's Death. The principal's death does not necessarily exonerate bail, where the statute expressly specifies a time with relation to the pleadings or process within which the death must occur to be of avail to the sureties. Such enactment governs, subject, however, to the exception that the existence of another enactment may necessitate a construction extending the time; or some legal technicality or excuse, or the attendant circumstances may justify the departure from, or qualifications of, any statutory or other rule.[75] Death after return non est inventus does not discharge bail.[76]

h. Principal's Discharge in Bankruptcy or Insolvency. If the principal receives his discharge in insolvency or bankruptcy before the bail are fixed, they formance of any material act nor compliance with any statutory requirements essential to fix or preserve the rights in regard to the obligation of bail, especially so where the surety is prejudiced to his loss or his risk is increased thereby. Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222; Remsen v. Beekman, 25 N. Y. 552; Gelston v. Swartwout, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 136. The plaintiff's neglect or failure to comply with a statutory requirement necessary to prevent the defendant's release at the termination of a certain period of time discharges bail, where obligation rests upon such statute. Fonda v. Beach, 7 La. Ann. 213.

When neglect does not release.— It is no defense on a bond to appear and answer that the bond was not called so as to enforce an appearance, where defendants voluntarily appeared and pleaded. Billings v. Avery, 7 Conn. 236. Plaintiff's neglect to proceed against the sheriff does not discharge the appearance bail, the plaintiff having the option to so proceed or take an assignment of the bond. Wilcox v. Ismon, 34 Mich. 268.

74. Wilson v. Eads, Hempst. (U. S.) 284, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,801*a*.

Bail are not discharged by a mere parol declaration of attorney that they are released. Parker v. Bidwell, 3 Conn. 84. And the creditor may refuse to deliver his execution to an officer so that bail may surrender their principal. Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433. Nor are sureties released by the principal's affirmation to them that the debt was paid. Van Ness v. Fairchild, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 153.

Failure to levy on property before principal's arrest.—Where a poor debtor's recognizance is given after defendant's arrest it constitutes no defense to an action against bail that the execution plaintiff failed to attempt, before arresting defendant, to find property on which execution could be levied. Watts v. Stevenson, 169 Mass. 61, 47 N. E. 447.

75. Death of defendant discharges.— The liability of sureties on a bond taken on a capias in detinue ceases when defendant's liability ceases by death. Chandler v. Byrd, 1 Ark. 152. In Granberry v. Pool, 14 N. C. 155, it was held that nothing can be pleaded in discharge except death or surrender of the principal.

Death before expiration of time to answer in action against bail is the limitation under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 601. Walsh v. Schulz, 13 Daly (N. Y.) 132, 5 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 357, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 173 [affirmed in 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 209, 1 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 506]. But see Bulkley v. Colton, 1 Johns. (N. Y.) 515.

Statutory time may be enlarged by construction.— Gauntley v. Wheeler, 4 Lans. (N. Y.) 491; Hayes v. Carrington, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 179, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 143.

Death before or after judgment.— Death of the principal at any time before final judgment on scire facias against bail, but not afterward, discharges them. Griffin v. Moore, 2 Ga. 331; Wakefield v. McKinnell, 9 La. 449. See also Saunders v. Gaines, 3 Munf. (Va.) 225.

Death after judgment and before execution issued does not affect the liability of bail. Parker v. Bidwell, 3 Conn. 84. And it is no defense if the death were after return-day of execution and after return was indorsed thereon, if it occurred before the execution was returned into the clerk's office. Bradford v. Earle, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 120.

Death before or after capias ad satisfaciendum.— If the principal die after capias ad satisfaciendum returned non est, and before return of the first scire facias executed, or the second nihil, bail are discharged. Mt. Pleasant Bank v. Pollock, 1 Ohio 35. And they are released where the death is before capias ad satisfaciendum issued. Antonio v. Arthur, 1 Nott & M. (S. C.) 251. The same is true where the death is after return of the capias ad satisfaciendum and before final judgment. White v. Cummins, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 224. See II, I, 1, j, (II).

76. Death after return non est inventus.— Kentucky.— McClelland v. Chambers, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 366.

Massachusetts.— Champion v. Noyes, 2 Mass. 481.

New Hampshire.— Hamilton v. Dunklee, 1 N. H. 172.

New York.—Olcott v. Lilly, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 407.

Pennsylvania.— Boggs v. Teackle, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 332.

South Carolina.— Gordon v. Liepman, 3 McCord (S. C.) 49.

Vermont.— Humphrey v. Kasson, 26 Vt. 760; Boardman v. Stone, Brayt. (Vt.) 35.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 78.

are entitled to be released without a surrender;[77] and this rule applies where such discharge was in another state,[78] or under a state law, although the bail's release rests within the jurisdiction of other than the state court.[79] A rule contrary to that first above stated has been asserted upon principle, and there are also decisions denying relief to bail, where the insolvent or bankrupt has been discharged. These latter rulings cannot be considered as other than qualifications of, or exceptions to, said rule based rather upon particular facts or other elements

77. Operates to release bail.— Delaware.— Bailey v. Seal, 1 Harr. (Del.) 367.

Maryland.— McCausland v. Waller, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 156; Harrison v. Young, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 102 note; McKim v. Marshall, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 101.

Massachusetts.— Champion v. Noyes, 2 Mass. 481; Payson v. Payson, 1 Mass. 283.

Michigan.—Bryant v. Kinyon, (Mich. 1901) 86 N. W. 531, 53 L. R. A. 801, 8 Detroit Leg. N. 263, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 237.

New York.— Trumbull v. Healy, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 670; Seaman v. Drake, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 9; Kane v. Ingraham, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 403.

South Carolina.— Saunders v. Bobo, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 492.

England.— Bacon Abr. tit. Bail in Civil Causes, D; 1 Tidd Pr. 243 [cited in Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380].

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 77.

Particular decisions.— An allegation of fraud does not prevent an exoneretur in such case. Trumbull v. Healy, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 670; Burns v. Sim, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 75, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,184. So where the plaintiffs were parties to such discharge, proceedings on the capias ad satisfaciendum bond are stopped (Johnson v. Thurmond, 28 Ga. 127), and only nominal damages can be recovered for breach of an appearance bond after an insolvent's final discharge (State v. Reaney, 13 Md. 230). So the bail can ask to have an exoneretur entered on production of the certificates of discharge (Com. v. Huber, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 383, 5 Pa. L. J. 331), and special bail before surrender may plead discharge by the act to abolish imprisonment for debt (Kelly v. Henderson, 1 Pa. St. 495). Again such discharge of the insolvent entitles bail to an exoneretur any time before surrender (Thomae v. Brown, 9 Watts (Pa.) 288; Shaeffer v. Child, 7 Watts (Pa.) 84), and surety are released even though the debtor had personal property when arrested, and the discharge was under a petition pending at the time of the arrest (Lincoln v. Williams, 12 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 105). So exoneretur was granted on payment of costs of scire facias against special bail prior to return-day thereof (Boggs v. Bancker, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 507), and a certificate of discharge in bankruptcy may be pleaded in defense in scire facias (Belknap v. Davis, 21 Vt. 409). So a note given by bail will be canceled by insolvent's discharge (Bussard v. Warner, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 111, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,229), and such discharge before capias ad satisfaciendum returned is a good plea (Byrne v. Carpenter, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 481, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,271).

Discharge of insolvent should be pleaded.— Post v. Riley, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 54; Hayton v. Wilkinson, Brunn. Col. Cas. (U. S.) 247, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,272, 1 Am. L. J. 260.

Right of bail may be waived.— Mechanics' Bank v. Hazard, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 392. Contra, to extent that no delay forfeits the right. Thomae v. Brown, 9 Watts (Pa.) 288; Shaeffer v. Child, 7 Watts (Pa.) 84. See also Campbell v. Palmer, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 596.

Suit not barred against surety by proof of claim in insolvency on judgment where recognizance is entered into by judgment debtor where execution issued. Harris v. Hayes, 171 Mass. 275, 50 N. E. 532.

78. Rule applies to discharge in another state.— Kennedy v. Adams, 5 Harr. (Del.) 160; McGlensey v. McLear, 1 Harr. (Del.) 466; Bailey v. Seal, 1 Harr. (Del.) 367; Richmond v. De Young, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 64; McKim v. Marshall, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 101; Rowland v. Stevenson, 6 N. J. L. 149; Mount v. Bradford, 2 Miles (Pa.) 17.

The qualification exists that the same courtesy must not be refused in the foreign state. Walsh v. Nourse, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 381; Hilliard v. Greenleaf, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 336 note; Boggs v. Teackle, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 332; Smith v. Brown, 3 Binn. (Pa.) 201.

79. Claggett v. Ward, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 669, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,780; Beers v. Haughton, 1 McLean (U. S.) 226, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,230 [affirmed in 9 Pet. (U. S.) 329, 9 L. ed. 145, and qualified to the extent that defendants are not liable to be imprisoned on the judgment and that special bail may plead the insolvent's discharge]; Harrison v. Gales, 3 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 376, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,136; King v. Simm, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 234, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,805; Burns v. Sim, 2 Cranch C C. (U. S.) 75, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,184; Bough v. Noland, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 2, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,114 (holding that exoneretur will be entered on producing copy of record of insolvent's discharge); Davis v. Marshall, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 173, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,641 (holding that defendant may appear and discharge attachment without giving special bail); Hayton v. Wilkinson, Brunn. Col. Cas. (U. S.) 247, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,272, 1 Am. L. J. 260 (holding that insolvent's discharge must be availed of by plea). Contra, Glenn v. Humphreys, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 424, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,480, holding that state insolvency laws do not affect the United States.

Bond not released where discharge under state law is after bail-bond has been assigned to the plaintiff. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 317, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,589.

than upon conflicting principles of law.[80] Again the liability of sureties in such cases may be preserved by statute.[81]

i. Principal's Enlistment in Army. Under certain decisions the enlistment of the principal in the army, being a voluntary act, does not discharge sureties on a bail-bond;[82] but it is also decided upon sound reasons that even though the act of enlistment is voluntary, nevertheless bail are discharged.[83]

j. Principal's Exemption From Arrest — (I) In General. Where the law protects the principal from arrest bail are entitled to a discharge,[84] even though the privileged party puts in special bail.[85] And the failure to surrender the debtor may be based on the consideration that the creditor release the bail, and they will then be discharged.[86] But an exoneration has been denied where the ground of exemption from arrest has not been availed of until after expiration of the time to surrender.[87]

(II) Under Statutes Abolishing Imprisonment For Debt. A recognizance of bail entered into before a statute abolishing imprisonment for debt is discharged by the passage of such statute.[88]

80. Contrary rule; that discharge does not constitute a ground for release.— Kentucky. — Sowle Mfg. Co. v. Bernard, 100 Ky. 658, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 1106, 39 S. W. 239.

Louisiana.— Henderson v. Lynd, 2 Mart. (La.) 51, 5 Am. Dec. 726.

Massachusetts.— Demelman v. Hunt, 168 Mass. 102, 46 N. E. 436. See Gorgorian v. Prood, 167 Mass. 31, 44 N. E. 1069. See also Smith v. Randall, 1 Allen (Mass.) 456.

New York.— Greenwood v. Cleveland, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 168; Campbell v. Palmer, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 596.

North Carolina.— Norment v. Alexander, 32 N. C. 71.

Pennsylvania.— Pepper v. Doores, 1 Miles (Pa.) 60.

United States.— Munroe v. Towers, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 187, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,930; Bennet v. Alexander, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 90, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,310.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 77.

81. Liability preserved by statute.— Demelman v. Hunt, 168 Mass. 102, 46 N. E. 436, wherein it is held that, upon a breach of a poor debtor's recognizance before the discharge in insolvency of the principal, such discharge operated as a bar to an action against the principal for such breach, but that the surety was not thereby released, as the statute preserved his liability.

82. State v. Reaney, 13 Md. 230; Harrington v. Dennie, 13 Mass. 93; Sayward v. Conant, 11 Mass. 146.

83. Whatever would render the arrest unlawful or insufficient discharges bail. Such surrender would be useless and of no benefit to the creditor, since the plaintiff could not have legally held the body if surrendered. Besides the involuntary act of enlistment is no different from that of bankruptcy, etc. McFarland v. Wilbur, 35 Vt. 342. See also Herrick v. Richardson, 11 Mass. 234, holding without discussion that the surety cannot be charged in such case.

Bail are discharged by act of government, as where a seaman is impressed into the government service. Bacon Abr. tit. Bail in Civil Causes, D; 1 Tidd Pr. 243 [cited in Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380].

84. California.— Matoon v. Eder, 6 Cal. 57, where no body execution could lawfully issue against defendants.

Kentucky.— Holland v. Bouldin, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 147.

Massachusetts.— Harrington v. Dennie, 13 Mass. 93.

New Hampshire.— Gilman v. Perkins, 11 N. H. 343.

New York.—Dunham v. Macomber, 5 Wend. (N. Y.) 113. Bail will be canceled on the filing of common bail on application to relieve non-resident suitor from arrest. Taft v. Hoppin, Anth. N. P. (N. Y.) 255.

North Carolina.— McKay v. Ray, 63 N. C. 46.

Pennsylvania.—Thomas v. Stewart, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 475.

United States.— Exemption from imprisonment on a judgment excuses special bail from surrendering defendant. Beers v. Haughton, 1 McLean (U. S.) 226, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,230 [affirmed in 9 Pet. (U. S.) 329, 9 L. ed. 145].

Contra, Jarvis v. Giberson, Dudley (S. C.) 223, in case of a female.

Exemption from arrest see Arrest, 3 Cyc. 922, note 33.

85. Notwithstanding special bail.— Washburn v. Phelps, 24 Vt. 506. And in such case an exoneretur may be entered on the bail-bond or bail may be discharged of his own motion, although it is also held that the principal alone will be heard where he was not originally liable to arrest. White v. Blake, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 612.

86. Shields v. Smith, 78 Ind. 425.

87. Stever v. Somberger, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 121. See Stever v. Sornberger, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 275. So upon scire facias against bail, relief was denied where defendant in the original action was, at the time of his arrest, chargé d'affaires of this government to a foreign country and was then on his way thither. Springfield Card Mfg. Co. v. West, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 388.

88. Indiana.— Scott v. Brokaw, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 241; White v. Guest, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 228.

Kentucky.— Holland v. Bouldin, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 147.

k. Pursuing Remedy Against Principal's Property. A fieri facias issued before a capias ad satisfaciendum does not discharge the bail.[89] Proceedings in attachment are not of themselves necessarily exclusive of those in arrest and bail.[90]

l. Stipulations and Agreements — (i) In General. An agreement with bail which discharges his responsibility and which, if not enforced, would injure his rights, or an agreement with defendant which, if made without the bail's consent, would operate as a fraud upon the bail, will discharge his liability as bail.[91]

Michigan.— Bronson v. Newberry, 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 38.

New York.— White v. Blake, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 612.

Ohio.— Towsey v. Avery, 11 Ohio 90; Parker v. Sterling, 10 Ohio 357.

Pennsylvania.— Gillespie v. Hewlings, 2 Pa. St. 492, Kelly v. Henderson, 1 Pa. St. 495.

South Carolina.— Ware v. Miller, 9 S. C. 13.

United States.— Gray v. Munroe, 1 McLean (U. S.) 528, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,724.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 80.

Substantially the same rule has been sanctioned in the following decisions:

Arkansas.—Newton v. Tibbatts, 7 Ark. 150, abolished by statute before return-day of capias ad satisfaciendum.

Kentucky.— Palmer v. Merriwether, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 506; Peteet v. Owsley, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 130; Holland v. Bouldin, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 147.

Louisiana.— Thomas v. McNeil, 2 La. Ann. 795; Frey v. Hebenstreit, 1 Rob. (La.) 561; Atchafalaya Bank v. Hozey, 17 La. 509; Cooper v. Hodge, 17 La. 476. See also Borgsted v. Nolan, 17 La. 593.

Mississippi.— Brown v. Dillahunty, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 713, 43 Am. Dec. 499.

Pennsylvania.— Merritt v. Smith, 2 Pa. St. 161, and statute may be pleaded in bar.

Vermont.— McFarland v. Wilbur, 35 Vt. 342.

When no release.— See Bronson v. Newberry, 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 38 (a case of nonresident); Lopeman v. Henderson, 4 Pa. St. 231 (holding that rule only applied to actions ex contractu); Boardley v. Waltman, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 77, 1 Pa. L. J. 256; Patterson v. Matlack, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 76, 1 Pa. L. J. 255.

89. Execution.—Aycock v. Leitner, 29 Ga. 197; Ogier v. Higgins, 2 McCord (S. C.) 8. See also Johnson v. Myer, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 232, for the rule under the New York Code of Civil Procedure.

Compare also infra, II, K, 2.

If a capias ad satisfaciendum and a fieri facias are issued simultaneously, and the latter is levied and the capias ad satisfaciendum returned not found, this is of no avail in a plea to a scire facias to subject-bail. Wheeler v. Bouchelle, 27 N. C. 584.

If only part of the debt is levied on the bail are liable for the residue. Olcott v. Lilly, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 407.

Proceeding in the original suit has been held to be a waiver of proceedings on the bail-bond. Huguet v. Hallet, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 55, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 162, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 162.

90. In order that the levy of attachment shall effect the satisfaction of the debt the property must be sufficient for and applied to the demand sued on. Chapman v. H. D. Lee Mercantile Co., 7 Kan. App. 254, 53 Pac. 778 [affirmed in 60 Kan. 858, 56 Pac. 749]. See also Yourt v. Hopkins, 24 Ill. 326.

See also ATTACHMENT, II, C [4 Cyc. 404].

An attachment of a judgment in defendant's hands is a defense to an action on recognizance of bail in error. Bobyshall v. Evans, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 315, 2 Pa. L. J. 297.

91. Clark v. Niblo, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 236, where it was agreed that defendant might depart the state and that proceedings would be stayed until his return. Compare Shimer v. Isaac, 1 Ind. 568.

A stipulation which materially changes the situation of bail, or varies the exact terms of his contract, or increases his risk, or enlarges the time and manner of performance, discharges the surety. Edwards v. Coleman, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 567; Rathbone v. Warren, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 587; Crutcher v. Com., 6 Whart. (Pa.) 340; Wilkins v. Burr, 6 Binn. (Pa.) 389.

Instances of no release.—A covenant before judgment not to arrest defendant on execution within four months is no defense to a scire facias. Fullam v. Valentine, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 156. So when judgment against defendant is entered by a stipulation which in effect is an admission of the fraud necessary to recover, the surety's liability is not thereby removed, even though there is a disclaimer in the agreement of any admission of the allegations of fraud. Steinback v. Evans, 122 N. Y. 551, 25 N. E. 929, 34 N. Y. St. 138 [affirming 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 278, 18 N. Y. St. 325]. And an agreement not under seal made by a creditor to discharge the claim for less than the full amount due does not release bail. Von Gerhard v. Lighte, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 101. Again a sheriff was bail for two defendants; after judgment a capias ad satisfaciendum was executed on one who gave security for his appearance at court, but the other defendant could not be found; before the appearance day for the arrested defendant, he stipulated with plaintiff to secure him for other debts he owed; the latter in consideration of a release under the capias ad satisfaciendum and non-opposition to the debtor's discharge in insolvency, and it was held that this did not operate as a

(II) To Arbitrate. If the reference to arbitration dissolves an attachment the bail are discharged; otherwise, if the action and only the demands against the plaintiff are referred;[92] and the bail are also released by a submission of the original action of all demands against the parties, for this is the substitution of another demand contrary to the contract.[93]

m. Satisfaction or Release of Debt or Judgment. As a rule the satisfaction, release, payment, or discharge of the debt or judgment, and in certain cases the reversal of the judgment, will either constitute a good defense in an action against bail or operate to discharge them.[94] The attendant circumstances may, however, be such that the rule does not apply.[95]

n. Substitution of New Bond. If the bond given is insufficient the sureties therein are discharged by the substitution of a new undertaking.[96]

2. Proceedings to Obtain — a. Mode of Application.[97] It has been determined that a motion by the bail is the proper course, if they desire to be exonerated;[98] release of the debt. Ferrall v. Brikell, 27 N. C. 67. So a temporary stay of execution by agreement with plaintiff, based upon a confession of judgment by defendant, does not exonerate special bail. Johnson v. Boyer, 3 Watts (Pa.) 376, 27 Am. Dec. 363.

Waiver.— The bail may, in certain cases, lose his rights by a waiver. Bay v. Tallmadge, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 305. Examine Crutcher v. Com., 6 Whart. (Pa.) 340.

92. Hill v. Hunnewell, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 192.

Reference to arbitration operating to discharge bail see Arbitration and Award, 3 Cyc. 606, note 6.

93. Bean v. Parker, 17 Mass. 591, wherein it is said: "A reference in such case has always been of the particular action only, with an agreement that the defendant may file in set-off any claims he may have against the creditor. This puts the bail upon a safe footing, and he cannot complain of the result."

In England a reference to arbitration of the cause of action discharged the sureties unless a verdict was taken for the plaintiff to stand as security for the award. For a discussion of this rule and the particular reasons therefor see Cunningham v. Howell, 23 N. C. 9, which, however, holds to the contrary.

94. Operates as discharge.— Creager v. Brengle, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 234, 9 Am. Dec. 516; National Security Bank v. Hunnewell, 124 Mass. 260; Champion v. Noyes, 2 Mass. 481; Short v. Hooker, 40 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 420; Mechanics' Bank v. Hazard, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 392; Van Ness v. Fairchild, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 153.

95. No discharge.— Seymour v. Hine, 1 Root (Conn.) 254 (where a judgment was recovered on the bail-bond and the debtor had paid the creditors and it was held that the administrator of the officer should recover what the latter had paid and his fees); Culliford v. Walser, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 266, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 199, 73 N. Y. St. 692 [affirming 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 493, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 475, 70 N. Y. St. 173, holding that bail were not discharged because the surety on a subsequent appeal-bond paid the judgment to relieve himself and with no intention of releasing bail];

Appleby v. Robinson, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 316 (payment was made while appeal was pending, but it did not save costs); Ketland v. Medford, 1 Binn. (Pa.) 497 (holding that the payment of the whole debt is no ground for exoneretur at the instance of the principal against the wishes of bail, before the principal has been taken).

96. Cook v. Horwitz, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 542; Colgate v. Hill, 20 Vt. 56.

97. Mandamus will be granted by the supreme court commanding the court below to order an exoneration on a bail-piece, where the bail are released by a failure to justify. People v. Judges Onondaga County C. Pl., 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 54.

Effect of failure to justify see supra, II, G, 2, c, (v), (A), (2).

Rule to show cause.— It has been decided that sureties may proceed by rule on the adverse party to show cause why the bond should not be canceled and they discharged. Wallace v. Glover, 3 Rob. (La.) 411; Weyman v. Cater, 17 La. 529. The application to discharge bail should be made by rule to show cause and not the motion, since it involves matters aliunde and not on the face of the record. Hawkins v. Gibson, 1 Leigh (Va.) 476. See infra, note 98 et seq.

Notice of application by a surety to be exonerated as bail, if served without anything to show that the application is from the sheriff, calls on the attorney to do nothing more than apprise the sheriff that he has received such notice. Buckman v. Carnley, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 180.

98. Motion.—Obregon v. De Mier, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 390. See also McArthur v. Martin, 1 Gill (Md.) 259. Contra, Hawkins v. Gibson, 1 Leigh (Va.) 476.

Motion, according to rules of court, must be made. Karck v. Avinger, 3 Hill (S. C.) 215.

Where principal has been surrendered bail will be relieved by motion and not by plea. Brownelow v. Forbes, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 101. See also McArthur v. Martin, 1 Gill (Md.) 259.

Waiver of right to move for exoneration arises by reason of justification. So held in Knight v. Dorsy, 1 Ball & B. 48.

but a motion will not prevail, if the principal himself could not thus be relieved.[99] Nor should an application to discharge appearance bail be on motion.[1]

b. Time of Application. Application to be exonerated should, if a time is fixed by statute within which the act relied on must occur to operate as a discharge of bail, be made within the period so specified.[2]

c. Entry of Exoneretur. Under the early decisions where the principal had been arrested on capias ad satisfaciendum an exoneretur need not be entered to complete the discharge.[3]

J. Breach or Performance of Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance — 1. In General. Whether or not there is a breach of the bond, undertaking, or recognizance depends upon the terms, conditions, and construction thereof in connection with the statute. As a general rule, security taken by order of the court or of law is treated with more freedom by way of construction with relation to its binding force, than are obligations which result from the voluntary act of the parties.[4] So a bond will not be held binding where the material fact upon which the condition rests ceases to exist.[5]

2. Appearance — a. In General.[6] Where there is an appearance or surrender in conformity with the requirements of the bond, the obligation with relation to the sureties is satisfied.[7] Bail may become liable for the appearance or surrender

99. Plea not motion.—So held in Campbell v. Palmer, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 596; Franklin v. Thurber, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 427, where the plaintiff was discharged after judgment, which was revived by scire facias. Nor will equity relieve bail on motion until the condition of the bond has been broken, for defendants must rely on their plea. So held in Bird v. Mabbett, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 31.

So payment of the debt cannot be availed of by motion, but must be pleaded. Mechanics' Bank v. Hazard, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 392.

1. To discharge appearance bail.—Hawkins v. Gibson, 1 Leigh (Va.) 476.

2. Walsh v. Schulz, 13 Daly (N. Y.) 132, 5 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 357, 67 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 173.

But it is suggested that this rule ought not to be exclusive where such time is enlarged by construction with another statute as was done in Gauntley v. Wheeler, 4 Lans. (N. Y.) 491; Hayes v. Carrington, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 179, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 143.

A motion to discharge appearance bail cannot be entertained after judgment against the defendant by default has been entered, a writ of inquiry awarded, and defendant has left the state. Hawkins v. Gibson, 1 Leigh (Va.) 476.

A motion to quash the writ against bail is not available after an issue is raised in the action against them. Rodney v. Hoskins, 2 Miles (Pa.) 465.

Second motion rests upon leave granted therefor. Bode v. Maiberger, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 53.

3. Johnson v. Smith, 1 Root (Conn.) 373; Stewart v. McGuin, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 99; Smith v. Rosecrantz, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 97; Milner v. Green, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 283. Contra, Darling v. Cutting, 57 Vt. 218. Compare also Dalton v. Gib, 1 Arn. 463, 5 Bing. N. Cas. 113, 3 Jur. 43, 8 L. J. C. P. 151, 7 Scott 117, 35 E. C. L. 70.

A commissioner or a judge at chambers may order an exoneretur on the discharge of the principal, under the body act, in the same manner as on an actual surrender; and, as against the bail, the discharge is conclusive, and cannot be questioned for irregularity or fraud. Cunningham v. Brown, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 289.

4. Lane v. Townsend, 1 Ware (U. S.) 289, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,054, 17 Am. Jur. 51.

Breach or performance of bond, undertaking, or recognizance, in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, J.

Statute is remedial and should be liberally construed in favor of bail. Lichten v. Mott, 10 Ga. 138. Or to state the rule in another form the risk of liability of special bail will not be increased by construction, for their obligations are in the nature of those of sureties and strictissimi juris, and cannot be enlarged. Campau v. Seeley, 30 Mich. 57. Bail are entitled to a strict construction of their obligation and their responsibility cannot be altered or enlarged. McAuliffe v. Lynch, 17 R. I. 410, 22 Atl. 940.

5. Gray v. Gidiere, 7 Rich. (S. C.) 168.

Exception — Strict performance.— Where the condition is in a contract to secure defendant's release, and is calculated to avoid said contract, it must be strictly performed. Bruce v. Snow, 20 N. H. 484.

6. Breach by departure from state must be proven. Weingerter v. White, 5 La. Ann. 487; Dussin v. Allain, 9 Rob. (La.) 394; Phillips v. Hawkins, 4 Rob. (La.) 218. And it is not sufficient to show that the principal cannot be found in the parish where the bond was taken. Sompeyrac v. Cable, 10 Mart. (La.) 361.

7. California.— Offer to surrender is good. Babb v. Oakley, 5 Cal. 93.

Georgia.— Where principal is called and presents himself at return-term to the court sureties are entitled to discharge. Swinney v. Watkins, 22 Ga. 570.

Massachusetts.— Debtor must appear at of two or more co-defendants,[8] and where, the action being in tort, one may be convicted without the others, a failure to surrender him will be a breach of the condition.[9] Both the condition to appear and the condition to abide the judgment must be fulfilled, and there must not only be an appearance, but such a legal continuance thereof as to satisfy the second condition.[10] The last rule does not embrace a continuance or adjournment of the cause, without consent of the sureties, to the next term, for if this is done they will be discharged.[11]

b. Time of. An appearance or surrender should, or may, be made (1) at the time conditioned in the bond,[12] (2) before the return-day,[13] (3) or at any time within the term.[14] But when an appearance bond has been duly forfeited, the appear-time fixed within life of recognizance given on his arrest on execution in poor debtor's proceedings and institution of insolvency proceedings does not excuse him. Demelman v. Hunt, 168 Mass. 102, 46 N. E. 436.

New Jersey.— Must appear and answer upon bail-bond to constable, but need not wait and deliver himself after judgment. Smalley v. Vanorden, 5 N. J. L. 951.

New Mexico.— May appear by attorney. Magruder v. Weisl, 2 N. M. 21.

New York.—A party bound to appear before a court or officer must, to save a default, make a technical appearance, and it is not enough to be corporally present if he refuse to answer when formally called. People v. Wilgus, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 58. Must appear in person on adjournment before justice, or bail are liable. Dunham v. Heyden, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 381. Voluntary surrender by principal within time allowed to bail exonerates them, although sureties have been indemnified. Brownelow v. Forbes, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 101.

North Carolina.— If debtor appears and answers when called, no judgment can be taken, although surety does not surrender him. Mears v. Speight, 49 N. C. 420.

South Carolina.—Where bail runs to the action and not to the sheriff, plea of appearance in original action is not good to declaration on the bond. Harwood v. Robertson, 2 Hill (S. C.) 336.

Virginia.—Appearance by attorney and setting aside a conditional judgment discharges bail, and subsequent judgments against them will be reversed. Fisher v. Riddell, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 330 note.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 57.

See also infra, II, L, as to surrender of principal.

Consent to surrender.— Principal cannot surrender in discharge of bail without their consent and that of his creditor. Cushing v. Breck, 10 N. H. 111. Contra, Dick v. Stoker, 12 N. C. 91, and placing himself in sheriff's power is a surrender by the principal.

8. In case of two or more defendants.— Crouse v. Paddock, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 630; Penn v. Remsen, 24 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 503.

9. Briggs v. Wolf, 34 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 222.

10. Appearance and abiding judgment.— Billings v. Avery, 7 Conn. 236.

Condition is satisfied by an appearance at court at the term designated and remaining during that term to abide the order of the court. Dunbarton v. Palfrey, 27 N. H. 171.

"Abide, do and perform," as used in certain bail-bonds, is merely an emphatic expression of the idea "to abide" and not a covenant to pay. Hewins v. Currier, 62 Me. 236.

To "appear" is to remain within reach of the process of the court to satisfy the judgment. Harwood v. Robertson, 2 Hill (S. C.) 336; Saunders v. Hughes, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 504.

Undertaking of bail of a female defendant is within the rule. Jarvis v. Alexander, Cheves (S. C.) 143.

11. Continuance of cause.— Dunbarton v. Palfrey, 27 N. H. 171. It is not a forfeiture of the bond where the first day of the term was appointed for the hearing, and petitioner was not discharged until the fourth day without any record made of his appearance on the first day, or of any continuance from day to day. But evidence was admitted to show the practice to postpone the hearing, and continue it from day to day. Sheets v. Hawk, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 173, 16 Am. Dec. 486. See also Bauerle v. Fox, 8 Pa. Dist. 45, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 3, where hearing was adjourned and another appearance bond was given therefor, and defendant did not appear, but the bond was not forfeited. Examine Scully v. Kirkpatrick, 79 Pa. St. 324, 21 Am. Rep. 62.

Upon continuance and a subsequent default the condition was held to be broken and the plaintiff entitled to judgment. Arrington v. Bass, 14 N. C. 90.

12. Time conditioned in bond.— Osbourne v. State, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 1. And the words "last day of the term" mean the last day of final adjournment. Parsons v. Hathaway, 40 Me. 132. Nor will the words "next court" control the time specified. Winslow v. Anderson, 20 N. C. 1, 32 Am. Dec. 651. For construction of terms of bond relating to time of appearance see Winslow v. Anderson, 20 N. C. 1, 32 Am. Dec. 651.

Where condition is without the requirements of the law making the bond not binding, the rule does not apply. Magruder v. Weisl, 2 N. M. 21.

13. Before return-day.— Florence v. Shumar, 34 N. J. L. 455. And if the sheriff accepts the surrender made at such time, the bail is discharged. Dalbey v. Lowenstein, 34 N. J. L. 465. Or within a certain or prescribed time thereafter. Begole v. Stimson, 39 Mich. 288; Lynn v. McMillen, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 170.

14. During term.— May appear before the juries have been discharged. Jones v. Garrett, 20 Ga. 269. Or on the next day of term.

ance of the accused at a subsequent term of the court to stand his trial will not liberate the security from his liability.[15]

3. Entry of Special Bail. Where the obligation exists to put in special bail, it must be done, and bail must justify if not accepted.[16]

4. Forfeiture. The bond is not forfeited where there is no record in evidence showing a breach of condition;[17] or where the judge is not acting as a court of record and has no power to adjudge a forfeiture;[18] but both parties should go to trial according to the terms of the recognizance, or it is forfeited.[19]

K. Fixing Liability of Sureties — 1. Judgment. It is a general rule that, in order to fix the liability of sureties, there must be a judgment against them[20] and also a judgment against the principal.[21]

2. Execution and Return — a. In General. A distinction exists between bail to the action and bail in error, in that the return of a capias ad satisfaciendum against the principal is unnecessary before proceeding against the latter,[22] while such capias ad satisfaciendum must be issued and returned non est to hold the former.[23] Bail then become liable unless there is a surrender of the principal Magruder v. Weisl, 2 N. M. 21. Has the whole of the return-term, and if action withdrawn before the end thereof, suit does not lie on the bail-bond. Ringgold v. Renner, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 263, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,849. But appearance during the same term will not save a bond of an insolvent debtor otherwise conditioned. Osbourne v. State, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 1.

15. At subsequent term after forfeiture.— Guice v. Stubbs, 13 La. Ann. 442. Nor is the condition complied with by debtors presenting themselves after failure to obtain a discharge in insolvency and asking for an order of commitment. Stout v. Quinn, 9 Pa. Super. Ct. 179, 43 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 418.

16. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 317, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,589.

If special bail be entered in time in the original suit in which the writ was returned non est, there is a compliance with the condition of a bail-bond given upon an alias or pluries capias. Lynn v. McMillen, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 170. And no action lies on a bail-bond conditioned generally for defendant's appearance, where special bail has been entered. Worral v. Harper, 1 Pa. Journ. L. 333.

In so far as notice is a prerequisite to a valid compliance with said obligation, it must be given. Harris v. Underwood, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 668. But suit on a bond may be precluded by notice given, before the commencement thereof, that special bail has been put in and filed, although it has not exactly been done and even though the filing was after the expiration of the time conditioned therein. Wiles v. Hill, 1 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 154.

17. No forfeiture.— Bauerle v. Fox, 9 Pa. Dist. 45, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 3. See Sheets v. Hawk, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 173, 16 Am. Dec. 486.

Compare also infra, III, M, N.

18. Where judge has no authority to forfeit.— Scully v. Kirkpatrick, 79 Pa. St. 324, 21 Am. Rep. 62.

19. People v. Winchell, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 160.

An order estreating a recognizance, omitting the christian name of one of the cognizors, is sufficiently certain, especially when connected with the scire facias in which the names are fully set out, and to which no answer was filed. Barton v. Keith, 2 Hill (S. C.) 537.

Taking office judgment against the appearance bail, after special bail is entered, is not error if final judgment be not taken against the appearance bail. Bradley v. Steele, Hard. (Ky.) 559.

20. Against sureties.—Champion v. Noyes, 2 Mass. 481. Although it is held that the alleged fraud which is the basis of the original arrest need not be fixed by judgment as a prerequisite to a judgment against the bail. Patton v. Gash, 99 N. C. 280, 6 S. E. 193.

Fixing liability of bail in criminal prosecutions see infra III, K, 3.

Default.— Where special bail is not put in in compliance with condition of the bond, but no default is entered and thereafter an action is brought on the bond and defendant in the original suit goes through the form of perfecting special bail and of being surrendered by his sureties and default is entered, such giving of bail and entering default is of no effect. Pease v. Pendell, 57 Mich. 315, 23 N. W. 827.

Final judgment is necessary, default of appearance is insufficient. Cook v. Evans, 16 N. J. L. 177.

21. Against principal.— Walls v. Smith, 3 La. 498.

22. Bail in error.— Dowlin v. Standifer, Hempst. (U. S.) 290, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,041*a*.

On appeal from a justice, bail is absolutely fixed by a failure of the defendant to surrender or prosecute his appeal, a capias ad satisfaciendum need not be issued. Gray v. Dawson, 7 Watts (Pa.) 471.

23. Bail to the action.—Alabama.—Brown v. Simpson, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 331.

Delaware.— Layton v. Houston, 5 Houst. (Del.) 574.

Kentucky.—Abbott v. Daniel, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 339; Holland v. Bouldin, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 147.

within the time allowed ex gratia by the court's practice,[24] or unless it can be shown that such return was unfairly made.[25] The execution must be upon final judgment;[26] and while it is ordinarily necessary that the execution must be regularly sued out[27] and comply with the statutory requirements,[28] it has been held that mere irregularities in the writ or in its issuance cannot be taken advantage of by bail.[29] But bail have no concern with an additional execution against the principal after judgment by default against them and part payment

Louisiana.— See Block v. Maxwell, 10 La. Ann. 5; Lindley v. Hagens, 11 Rob. (La.) 203.

Massachusetts.— Herrick v. Richardson, 11 Mass. 234.

New Jersey.— Armstrong v. Davis, 1 N. J. L. 110.

New York.— Bradley v. Bishop, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 352; Pearsall v. Lawrence, 3 Johns. (N. Y.) 514.

North Carolina.—Arrenton v. Jordan, 11 N. C. 98; Langdon v. Troy, 3 N. C. 165.

South Carolina.— Ware v. Miller, 9 S. C. 13; Saunders v. Bobo, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 492.

Tennessee.— Embree v. Lamb, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 290; Gillaspie v. Clark, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 2.

Virginia.— Green v. Thompson, 1 Patt. & H. (Va.) 427.

United States.— Dowlin v. Standifer, Hempst. (U. S.) 290, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,041*a*.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 85.

Statutory provisions.— If the statute requires the issue of a fieri facias and its return unsatisfied in whole or in part, and also a subsequent return of a capias ad satisfaciendum non est, these are prerequisites to fixing bail's liability. Bradley v. Bishop, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 352. A capias ad satisfaciendum only and not a fieri facias may be required to be issued. Broaders v. Welsh, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 569. It is no objection that fieri facias is issued before capias ad satisfaciendum. Aycock v. Leitner, 29 Ga. 197. And although a return not found upon an execution against the principal may fix the sureties, yet if the statute also so provides a return on a notice of "not found" may enable the plaintiff to sue on the bail-bond before return-day of the execution. Wehrle v. Gurney, 146 Mass. 331, 15 N. E. 777. Where there is a misprint of the statute the enrolled law being "scire facias" (not a "fieri facias") the former must issue on a judgment before bail can be held. Hopkins v. Moon, 24 Ill. 115.

Where capias ad satisfaciendum is abolished by statute the bail are not liable thereafter, for this precludes return of such writ. Waring v. Crawford, 9 Rob. (La.) 291; Jartroux v. Debergue, 5 Rob. (La.) 126; Frey v. Hebenstreit, 1 Rob. (La.) 561; Borgsted v. Nolan, 17 La. 593. See further Blue v. McDuffie, 44 N. C. 131; Trice v. Turrentine, 32 N. C. 543. Contra, Peteet v. Owsley, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 130.

Supersedeas — No execution.— Where the statute requires a specified legal act as a prerequisite to a surrender or discharge of the principal or the discharge of the bail the non-performance of such legal act precludes the release of bail even though the principal is not actually charged in execution. Bostwick v. Wildey, 42 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 245, 34 N. Y. Super. Ct. 23, applying rule to a case where supersedeas is necessary to discharge defendant from custody under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 572. But see Longuemere v. Nichols, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 157, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 107, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 221; Mechanics' Nat. Bank v. Mosher, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 414.

24. Armstrong v. Davis, 1 N. J. L. 110; Olcott v. Lilly, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 407; Rathbone v. Blackford, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 588; Boggs v. Teackle, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 332; Gordon v. Liepman, 3 McCord (S. C.) 49.

25. Showing return unfairly made.— Collins v. Cook, 4 Day (Conn.) 1; Fitch v. Loveland, Kirby (Conn.) 380; Saunders v. Bobo, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 492; Howe v. Ransom, 1 Vt. 276.

26. Upon final judgment.— Cook v. Evans, 16 N. J. L. 177.

Capias ad satisfaciendum against female defendant will not be compelled in order to fix her bail. Jarvis v. Giberson, Dudley (S. C.) 223.

Execution against the body must conform to judgment to hold the surety liable. Abbott v. Daniel, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 339.

Pursuit of principal may not be required by nature of the bond to render surety liable. Seeley v. Evans, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 459.

27. Must be regularly issued.— Brown v. Simpson, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 331. But a return of non est on an execution made by mistake of the clerk, returnable at an earlier day than by law it should have been, is prima facie evidence of the principal's avoidance and sufficient ground for a scire facias against bail when not rebutted. Runlet v. Warren, 7 Mass. 477.

28. Bail may plead non-compliance with statutory requirements as to executions, as that they were not issued or were not issued in time, or that service thereof was prevented by the plaintiff or his attorney by fraud or otherwise. Bradley v. Bishop, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 352.

In a justice court plaintiff must prove at least the delivery of a writ to the proper officer with a bona fide intention of having it served. Brown v. Van Duzen, 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 472.

29. Mere irregularities.—Kenan v. Carr, 10 Ala. 867; Parker v. Bidwell, 3 Conn. 84; Gillespie v. White, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 117. See also dissenting opinion in Gallarati v. Orser, 27 N. Y. 324.

thereof, so that the court will not therefore compel the plaintiff, by order at their instance, to issue a new execution against the defendant's body.[30]

b. County of Issuance. The decisions vary in some respects in regard to the county of issuance of execution or capias ad satisfaciendum in order to charge bail. Thus it has been decided that a fieri facias need not issue in the county where the principal defendant resides.[31] Under other rulings it has been held that the capias ad satisfaciendum should issue to the county where the original writ was served;[32] to the county of the principal's arrest, unless it is shown to be no longer his proper county;[33] to the county where the venue is laid, even though defendant was arrested in a different county;[34] and also that it need not be shown that capias ad satisfaciendum issue to the county of the defendant's removal after his arrest, nor if execution does issue to the latter county is a return of non est necessary to fix bail.[35]

c. Time of Issuance — (i) In General. Circumstances may justify refusing a motion for an exoneration when the capias ad satisfaciendum was issued less than the prescribed number of days before return-day.[36] Sunday is excluded in the computation of time of issue of a capias ad satisfaciendum or delivery of it to the officer.[37]

(ii) Delay in Issuance. Although it has been decided that delay to sue out execution within the prescribed time discharges bail,[38] the better doctrine seems to be that the rule should be applied only in cases where the delay has been unreasonable,[39] and not in cases where the delay is one of which only the princi-

30. Alias or new execution.— Stransky v. Harris, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 691, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 1123 [reversing 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 15, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 623]. Compare Lyman v. Giddey, 96 Mich. 401, 56 N. W. 6.

By the common law the arrest of a debtor on an execution and his voluntary release by the creditor are a satisfaction of the judgment so that no alias execution can be taken out or other proceedings had under it. Kellogg v. Underwood, 163 Mass. 214, 40 N. E. 104, per Knowling, J. [citing Nowell v. Waitt, 121 Mass. 554; Kennedy v. Duncklee, 1 Gray (Mass.) 65; Coburn v. Palmer, 10 Cush. (Mass.) 273].

Where principal is taken on alias execution judgment against bail does not release former. In re Potoshinsky, (R. I. 1897) 36 Atl. 878.

31. County of principal's residence.—Fake v. Edgerton, 5 Duer (N. Y.) 681, 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 229. But see Fuller v. Howard, 6 Vt. 561.

Town annexed to another county.—Where a town in which defendant resided at the time of his original arrest is taken from one county and annexed to another, capias ad satisfaciendum need not thereafter issue to the sheriff of the former county, that not then being defendant's place of residence. Johnson v. Myer, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 232.

32. County where original writ was served. — Finley v. Smith, 14 N. C. 220; Embree v. Lamb, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 290.

To officer of county where original writ was served and the bail reside, although the principal's residence is elsewhere, is sometimes the requirement. Crane v. Shaw, 13 Mass. 213; Brown v. Wallace, 7 Mass. 208; Branch v. Webb, 7 Leigh (Va.) 371.

33. County of principal's arrest.— Benton v. Duffy, 1 N. C. 229.

34. County where venue laid.— Drake v. Cockran, 18 N. J. L. 9.

35. County of defendant's removal after arrest.— Kennedy v. Spencer, 4 Port. (Ala.) 428.

Domicile of bail.— The officer having the execution against the principal may, it is decided, leave a notice at the last and usual place of abode of bail in the state of his actual residence, although he may have had a legal domicile elsewhere when he became bail and have been actually resident there at all times after execution issued. Atherton v. Thornton, 8 N. H. 178.

36. Welsh v. Mead, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 261, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 140.

37. Sunday is excluded.— Johnson v. Rea, 1 Miles (Pa.) 159.

Time is computed from the actual entry of judgment under a statute requiring the plaintiff, within a certain time after judgment is obtained, to charge in execution a defendant already in custody and allowing a supersedeas where he fails so to do. Lippman v. Petersberger, 9 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 209.

38. Maxwell v. Williams, Hempst. (U. S.) 172, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,324*a*.

39. Delay for long period of time.— Havemeyer Sugar Refining Co. v. Taussig, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 475, 9 N. Y. St. 380, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 247, 19 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 57. Although even in such cases the laches of the plaintiff may be excused. Carr v. Sterling, 114 N. Y. 558, 22 N. E. 37, 24 N. Y. St. 521 [reversing 53 N. Y. Super. Ct. 255; distinguishing Toles v. Adee, 91 N. Y. 562, 84 N. Y. 222]. It is also decided that it is not a sufficient plea to a scire facias that the plaintiff failed for two years to sue out a capias ad satisfaciendum. Bell v. Bullitt, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 200.

"The test is, has the judgment creditor pal could take advantage, or where it constitutes an immaterial error or a mere irregularity, or where the act of issuance or return would evince only a breach of contract without adding to or otherwise changing the existing liability of bail.[40]

d. Lodging Writ With Sheriff. The requirement that the execution be delivered to the sheriff within a certain time after judgment or issuance of the writ[41] and remain lodged with him for a certain time before return-day[42] may be either for the purpose of notice or to impose diligence on the execution of the writ.[43]

e. Diligence Required in Execution of Writ. Although various expressions are used to designate the degree of diligence to be exercised by the officer in searching for and causing the principal to be apprehended, nevertheless it would seem that only such due and reasonable diligence as is consistent with an honest endeavor is required,[44] and no fraudulent or collusive means should be used to prevent service,[45] but the officer is not required to subject himself to manifest danger of bodily harm to effect the arrest,[46] and although defendant was in the been vigilant?" Longuemare v. Nichols, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 157, 158, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 107, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 221.

Where there is no unreasonable delay bail will not be discharged. Deboard v. Brooks, 28 Ga. 362.

40. Parker v. Bidwell, 3 Conn. 84; Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433; Gillespie v. White, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 117; Handy v. Richardson, 3 N. C. 311.

Where the delay has occasioned special bail no particular injury, especially so where it is not necessary to give such bail notice of judgment against the principal nor of issuance or return of execution upon the same and no demand is required to charge them, such bail are not released. Vandergazelle v. Rodgers, 57 Mich. 132, 23 N. W. 713.

41. The execution must be lodged in the sheriff's hands within the time prescribed after judgment. Allcorn v. Tuggle, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 537 (holding that the object of the statute was to impose diligence not to shorten return-day); Johnson v. Rea, 1 Miles (Pa.) 159 (holding that capias ad satisfaciendum must be delivered to the sheriff four days before the return-day).

Where no rule is established for ascertaining the shortest time in which execution should be delivered to the officer before return-day it is necessary that he should have it a sufficient time before it is returnable to make diligent inquiry for the principal and a reasonable time and opportunity to arrest him, and the plaintiff must honestly endeavor to obtain satisfaction before recourse to bail. Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433. See also Rosenberg v. McKain, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 145.

42. That execution must lie in the sheriff's office four days, or that it is sufficient that it has so lain, is decided in several early cases. Armstrong v. Davis, 1 N. J. L. 110 (holding that the rule of Westminster requiring capias ad satisfaciendum to lie four days in the sheriff's office before the return is in force in that state); Gillespie v. White, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 117; Carmer v. Weeks, 3 Johns. (N. Y.) 246; Cook v. Campbell, 3 Cai. (N. Y.) 322. But see Rosenberg v. McKain, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 145, holding that three days is sufficient to enable the sheriff to search for the defendant. It is also decided that if the four days did not elapse before non est returned, bail would not be entitled to an exoneration, but they might set aside the writ and avoid the effect of its return for the time being, but that circumstances might justify refusing an exoneration in such case of premature return. Welsh v. Mead, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 261, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 140. The requirement that a capias ad satisfaciendum shall lie a specified number of days, exclusively before the return-day in the sheriff's office, excludes the return-day only. Gillespie v. White, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 117. Also substantially so held in Carleton v. Bartlett, 16 N. H. 538.

Return not dated.— If the statute requires the officer to keep the execution in his hands until the return-day thereof, in order that the bail may produce the principal to the officer and that he may arrest him on said execution, an allegation in an action against bail that he has so kept the return is not proven by the fact that the sheriff returned his execution non est without any date thereon. Butterick v. Atkinson, 3 N. H. 307.

43. Object of the requirement.— See Allcorn v. Tuggle, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 537; Farrar v. Barnes, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 224; Stevens v. Adams, Brayt. (Vt.) 29; and cases cited supra, notes 41, 42.

44. Degree of diligence.— Sufficient diligence. Beach v. Elliott, 44 Conn. 237. No want of fairness or ordinary diligence. Hall v. White, 27 Conn. 488. Due diligence. Edwards v. Gunn, 3 Conn. 316. A reasonable endeavor. Fitch v. Loveland, Kirby (Conn.) 380. Diligent search. Kidder v. Parlin, 7 Me. 80. Reasonable care and diligence but not bound to make inquiries of the bail. Koch v. Coots, 43 Mich. 30, 4 N. W. 534. A certain degree of diligence. Stevens v. Adams, Brayt. (Vt.) 29.

45. Absence of fraud or collusion.—Lyman v. Giddey, 96 Mich. 401, 56 N. W. 6. See also Bull v. Clarke, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 587; Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433; Bradley v. Bishop, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 352.

46. Danger to officer.— Fitch v. Loveland, Kirby (Conn.) 380.

city, county, or state, all the time, this is not of itself a sufficient defense to bail,[47] and the fact that defendant might have been found may be waived.[48] The sheriff cannot, however, return non est where defendant is in his custody on process.[49]

f. Time of Return — (i) In General. The only general rule governing the time of the return of an execution in order to fix bail is that they shall not be prejudiced contrary to the terms and intent of their obligation and their rights thereunder; that the plaintiff shall do no unfair, unlawful, or fraudulent act to prematurely or otherwise fix said bail, and that the return shall be made in a manner and at a time consistent with the officer's safety in the premises;[50] provided always that the return must not be void, illegal, or fraudulent, and that, if the statute is mandatory with relation to the bail rather than to the principal, it should be observed, especially where non-compliance would prejudice the rights of bail.[51]

(ii) Premature Return. Outside of the general rule just stated,[52] the cases establish no definite proposition other than of limited application. It is certain, however, that there ought to be a reasonable effort to arrest the principal and that no act should be done calculated to injuriously or unnecessarily fix bail; but it is a question whether only a reasonable time should be given bail to surrender the principal or they should have all the time therefor consistent with the officer's safety, the latter not being permitted to return the execution non est until his duty or safety requires it.[53]

47. Presence of defendant in city, county, or state.— Hall v. White, 27 Conn. 488; Winchell v. Stiles, 15 Mass. 230; Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433; Lyman v. Giddey, 96 Mich. 401, 56 N. W. 6; Carr v. Sterling, 114 N. Y. 558, 22 N. E. 37, 24 N. Y. St. 521. And even though plaintiff's attorney had been informed that defendant would remain in the state a month, the question of laches should be submitted to the jury. Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222.

48. Waiver.— Douglas v. Haberstro, 88 N. Y. 611 [reversing 25 Hun (N. Y.) 262]. It is also decided that, although service might have been made upon defendant, nevertheless, bail may be fixed by an instruction to return the capias ad satisfaciendum non est. Van Winkle v. Alling, 17 N. J. L. 446.

49. Defendant in sheriff's custody.— Van Winkle v. Alling, 17 N. J. L. 446.

50. Computation of time. — By three months, three calendar months are intended, and the day of the date is excluded in computing time on a return. Bull v. Clarke, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 587. Sunday is excluded in computing time of return on execution. Welsh v. Mead, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 261, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 140.

Return to an adjourned term.— Bails' liability may be fixed by return of a capias ad satisfaciendum to a legally adjourned term of the court, especially so where they are benefited thereby. Aycock v. Leitner, 29 Ga. 197.

51. Statutory requirements.— McAuliffe v. Lynch, 17 R. I. 410, 22 Atl. 940. And where the statute requires a fieri facias to be returned not less than, nor more than, a certain number of days, return may be made at any time between the periods so fixed. Block v. Maxwell, 10 La. Ann. 5. But if the statute limiting the time for the return of an execution is solely for the plaintiff's benefit and special bail cannot possibly be prejudiced by the officer's failing to comply with such statutory requirement, the bail are not discharged. Wilson v. Eads, Hempst. (U. S.) 284, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,801*a*. So where the object of the statute is not to give notice to bail, but to require a certain degree of diligence in the creditor in causing principal to be apprehended or in obtaining satisfaction of the judgment, and also that the evidence of the search is to be certified by a return non est, it is sufficient that such return is written on the execution within the prescribed statutory period and that it be returned into office in a reasonable time thereafter. Stevens v. Adams, Brayt. (Vt.) 29. Statute construed, fixing return-day and to prevent bail being fixed sooner than if proviso had not been enacted, as not relating to special bail but only to bail to the sheriff. McMackin v. McFarland, 1 Miles (Pa.) 319.

The rules of court will govern the time of return where the object of the statute is not to shorten such time but only to impose diligence upon the plaintiff in placing the execution in the officer's hands. Allcorn v. Tuggle, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 537.

52. See supra, II, K, 2, f, (i).

53. Bail should be given all the time for the surrender consistent with the officer's safety. Lichten v. Mott, 10 Ga. 136. If reasonable time is given to surrender the principal, a premature return non est does not discharge bail, although it may be shown that the return was unfairly made or that bail were injured thereby or that there has not been a reasonable endeavor to find the principal and the return is merely made with the intention of charging bail. Edwards v. Gunn, 3 Conn. 316 (holding also that if the principal is in fact rendered to the officer within a reasonable time, though after return made, bail will be exonerated, although the officer must exercise due diligence to take the principal, and that what is a reasonable time

g. Sufficiency of Return. The return ought to show the exact truth concerning the required lawfully material acts necessary to be done, but it need not state the doing of acts which the officer is not obligated to do.[54]

h. Notice of Judgment or Execution. It is not a prerequisite to bringing suit against bail that special notice should be given them of a judgment in an action begun by capias, or that demand for the payment thereof should be made, or that notice of the issuance or return of execution should be given.[55]

i. Lien of Recognizance. Recognizances of bail create no lien on land or other property of the recognizor.[56]

L. Surrender of Principal — 1. Right to Surrender — a. In General. Sureties are technically considered as custodians of their principal over whom they are regarded as having control and dominion, and they may as a general rule discharge themselves by surrendering him,[57] and in case of the death of the sure-for return of execution is a question of fact); Collins v. Cook, 4 Day (Conn.) 1; Fitch v. Loveland, Kirby (Conn.) 380; Jones v. Bunn, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 490; Opothlarholer v. Gardiner, 15 La. 512; Howe v. Ransom, 1 Vt. 276. Contra, Rowland v. Seymour, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 590; Niles v. Field, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 327 (upon the ground that such premature return would enlarge and alter bail's responsibility); Ancrum v. Sloan, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 421.

Officer need not wait until the last hour of the last day on which the writ is returnable. This rule is subject to the qualification that there is an absence of trick or deception to entrap bail or to prevent them surrendering the defendant. Bull v. Clarke, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 587.

Officer not bound to defer return until expiration of the term and bail can take no advantage thereof unless actually prejudiced. Hall v. White, 27 Conn. 488.

Return during vacation is premature and insufficient and is not a legal return. Lichten v. Mott, 10 Ga. 138. Contra, Farrar v. Barnes, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 224.

Where statute specifies the time, execution cannot be returned before return-day. McAuliffe v. Lynch, 17 R. I. 410, 22 Atl. 940.

54. It is elementary that whatever the officer does should be shown by the return and this return is based upon what he is legally obligated to do in the premises. It should be specific where it is expressly so required. If it is a legal prerequisite to further or other proceedings it should be sufficiently specific to constitute a basis therefor.

Georgia.— Ford v. Lane, 8 Ga. 322.

Louisiana.— Conway v. Jones, 17 La. 413.

Michigan.—Barnum v. Waterbury, 38 Mich. 280.

New Hampshire.— Rowell v. Hoit, 8 N. H. 38. See Banfill's Petition, 70 N. H. 132, 46 Atl. 1088.

North Carolina.— Jackson v. Hampton, 32 N. C. 579 [overruling Waugh v. Hampton, 27 N. C. 241].

Pennsylvania.— Brotherline v. Mallory, 8 Watts (Pa.) 132.

South Carolina.— Jarvis v. Alexander, Cheves (S. C.) 143; Mathewson v. Moore, 2 McCord (S. C.) 315.

Virginia.— Lee v. Chilton, 5 Munf. (Va.) 407.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 89.

Amendment of return.—An insufficient return will not be permitted to be amended where a mortal sickness of the principal prevented his being surrendered. Goodwin v. Smith, 4 N. H. 29.

55. Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433; Vandergazelle v. Rodgers, 57 Mich. 132, 23 N. W. 713. But see supra, II, K, 2, d.

If, however, the statute requires notice of the execution, it must be given in the form and manner therein prescribed. Holmes v. Chadbourne, 4 Me. 10; Emerson v. Brown, 2 N. H. 347. But see Mahurin v. Brackett, 5 N. H. 9.

Notice to charge bail must be seasonable.— Carleton v. Bartlett, 16 N. H. 538.

56. So held in Dewitt v. Osburn, 5 Ohio 480; Patterson v. Sample, 4 Yeates (Pa.) 308; Campbell v. Richardson, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 131, 1 L. ed. 68.

57. Alabama.— Kennedy v. Rice 1 Ala. 11.

Arkansas.— Chandler v. Byrd, 1 Ark. 152.

Louisiana.— Slocomb v. Robert, 16 La. 173.

Michigan.— De Myer v. McGonegal, 32 Mich. 120.

New Jersey.— Anonymous, 9 N. J. L. 25.

New York.— Steinbock v. Evans, 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 278, 18 N. Y. St. 325; Milk v. Waite, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 236; In re Taylor, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 212; Kibbe v. Ballard, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 55, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 56. The method provided for the exoneration of sureties is by surrender of defendant. Stransky v. Harris, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 691, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 1123 [reversing 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 15, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 623]; Campbell v. Palmer, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 596; Franklin v. Thurber, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 427. See Stark v. Hemstead, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 301.

North Carolina.— Underwood v. McLaurin, 49 N. C. 17; Hightour v. Murray, 2 N. C. 28. But compare Hinton v. Odenheimer, 57 N. C. 406.

South Carolina.— Jarvis v. Alexander, Cheves (S. C.) 143.

Vermont.— Worthen v. Prescott, 60 Vt. 68, 11 Atl. 690; Humphrey v. Kasson, 26 Vt. 760; Graves v. Dyer, 22 Vt. 614.

Virginia.— Levy v. Arnsthall, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 641.

Compare, however, Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 333, 3 Fed. Cas.

ties their representatives may in some cases surrender the principal.[58] But an agreement as surety not complying with the statute, though it may be good as a common-law agreement, does not give the right to surrender.[59] Nor does such right exist where sureties have been relieved of their obligations by statute.[60]

b. Where Bail Indemnified. Where indemnity has been given to the bail in the nature of a bond, permission to surrender the principal will not be granted unless it be shown with reasonable certainty that the one giving the bond of indemnity is pecuniarily unable to meet the obligations therein assumed.[61]

2. Time When Surrender May Be Made — a. In General. A condition in the bond as to time of surrender may control,[62] but as a general rule this matter is regulated by the statute, and in such cases a surrender to be effectual must be in compliance with statutory provision in reference thereto.[63] In some cases the time of surrender is dependent upon the execution against the principal.[64] As a general rule, however, the time when surrender may be made depends upon some period in the course of the action against the bail on the recognizance. So in many states it has been declared that the surrender should be made upon the return of the process against the bail.[65] In others the surrender may take place

No. 1,590, distinguishing between special bail and appearance bail.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 95; and supra, II, J, 2.

Surrender of principal by bail in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, L.

After capias ad satisfaciendum has been returned "Defendant discharged on entering bail," the sheriff is under no obligation to accept the surrender of the principal, the writ being dead and he having no process in his hands by which he can detain him. Keim v. Saunders, 120 Pa. St. 121, 13 Atl. 710.

An unauthorized surrender will not discharge the sureties. McKenzie v. Smith, 48 N. Y. 143.

Surety must obtain a certified copy of the bail-bond before he can surrender his principal. So held in Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22.

Unless an action be pending against the principal or bail, a surrender in court by bail of their principal is not effectual. Sloan v. Bryant, 28 N. H. 67.

Where the force of a special bail-piece has already been spent by the arrest of the principal on a capias ad satisfaciendum, bail cannot surrender their principal, though he may escape. Ex p. Badgley, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 472.

58. Surrender by personal representatives. — Wheeler v. Wheeler, 7 M ss. 169.

59. Agreement not complying with statute. — Toles v. Adee, 84 N. Y. 222.

On undertaking to deliver chattels bail have no power to surrender. Hedges v. Payne, 85 Hun (N. Y.) 377, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 969, 66 N. Y. St. 405 [affirmed in 146 N. Y. 397, 42 N. E. 543, 70 N. Y. St. 869].

60. Sureties relieved by statute. — Ex p. Lafonta, 2 Rob. (La.) 495.

61. Mills v. Rodewald, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 297; Mills v. Hildreth, 7 Hun (N. Y.) 298. In an early case in New York it was decided that an exoneretur would be allowed on surrender within the eight days, though the bail may have been indemnified by the principal. Brownelow v. Forbes, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 101.

62. If the condition of the bond is special for a surrender on a particular day, as for instance the first day of the next term after judgment is rendered against the principal, a surrender on a subsequent day is of no avail. Siter v. Welford, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 61.

63. Under statutory requirements. — See Steward v. Patten, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 38; Geneva Bank v. Reynolds, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 81, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18; Cornell v. Reynolds, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 241; Kibbe v. Ballard, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 55, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 56; Kelly v. Stepney, 4 Watts (Pa.) 69; Speakman v. Pearce, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 347; Walker v. Graham, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 230.

In New York it is held in an early case that, where an action on a recognizance of bail is taken in the court of common pleas, and prosecuted in the supreme court, the time of surrender is governed, not by the practice of the court in which the recognizance was taken, but by the practice of the supreme court. Ward v. Mozer, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 153.

64. Dependent upon execution. — Allen v. Breslauer, 8 Cal. 552. In Thorne v. Hutchinson, 3 B. & C. 112, 10 E. C. L. 59, it is held that if defendant is surrendered after judgment in discharge of bail, but no notice thereof is given until execution is issued and executed, exoneration will be entered and the execution set aside.

In Michigan it has been decided that the sureties' right to surrender their principal does not terminate until, in regular course, an execution against defendant's body has failed. De Myer v. McGonegal, 32 Mich. 120. He may be legally surrendered into the sheriff's custody before or after the return-day of the fieri facias. Umphrey v. Emery, 121 Mich. 184, 80 N. W. 14.

65. Upon return of process against bail. — Illinois. — Gear v. Clark, 8 Ill. 64.

Missouri. — Parmer v. Moore, 1 Mo. 706; Hood v. Creath, 1 Mo. 582.

South Carolina. — Ancrum v. Sloan, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 421; Stevens v. Meeds, 1 Mill (S. C.) 318. See Watson v. Bancroft, 4 Strobh. (S. C.) 218.

Vermont. — Worthen v. Prescott, 60 Vt. 68, 11 Atl. 690.

within a certain number of days after the return of the writ on the recognizance or the commencement of the action against the bail,[66] and in others while the court is in session[67] or at any time during the term,[68] or before final judgment,[69] and in some states the right to surrender may continue to exist after judgment.[70]

Virginia.— Branch v. Webb, 7 Leigh (Va.) 371.

United States.— Stockton v. Throgmorton, 1 Baldw. (U. S.) 148, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,463; Boyer v. Herty, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 251, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,753.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 97.

66. In Michigan.— Within eight days of the return-day of the writ. Lyman v. Giddey, 96 Mich. 401, 56 N. W. 6; Koch v. Coots, 43 Mich. 30, 4 N. W. 534; Begole v. Stimson, 39 Mich. 288.

In New York.— In the earlier cases eight days after the return of process was allowed. Mayell v. Follett, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 507; Brownelow v. Forbes, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 101; Kane v. Ingraham, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 403; Ellis v. Hay, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 334; Strang v. Barber, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 329. Subsequently the time was changed to twenty days after commencement of suit against the bail, after the expiration of which surrender could not properly be made without leave of court. Mills v. Hildreth, 81 N. Y. 91; Hayes v. Carrington, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 179, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 143; Baker v. Curtis, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 279.

In Pennsylvania.— Fourteen days after service of scire facias or summons, or until the quarto die post. Cowles v. Brawley, 4 Watts (Pa.) 358; McClurg v. Bowers, 9 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 24; Still v. Howard, 2 Miles (Pa.) 274; Carey v. Henry, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 32, 4 Pa. L. J. 360. See Com. v. Kite, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 399, as to earlier rule in this state.

Computing the days.—The days within the teste and return-days of process are included in computing the days after return of process or ex gratia (Wiggins v. Wilson, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 420); as is also Sunday (Brown v. Smith, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 84). But where there are seven days only in the term after declaration is served on bail, the latter has one day in the next term in which to surrender his principal. Mayell v. Follett, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 507.

67. While court in session.— In Vermont a surrender can only be made in a case before a justice of the peace while the court is in session, and it is not in session where it adjourns, though such adjournment may take place before the expiration of the time allowed for the parties to appear. Converse v. Washburn, 43 Vt. 129.

68. At any time during term.—Shannon v. Hyde, 17 Ga. 88; Dunbar v. Conway, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 92; Breeze v. Elmore, 4 Rich. (S. C.) 436; Glover v. Gomillion, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 554; Davitt v. Counsel, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 136; Humphrey v. Kasson, 26 Vt. 760.

69. Before final judgment.— Georgia.— Griffin v. Moore, 2 Ga. 331.

Indiana.— Lewis v. Brackenridge, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 220, 12 Am. Dec. 228.

Louisiana.—Slocomb v. Robert, 16 La. 173; Wakefield v. McKinnell, 9 La. 449; Jayne v. Cox, 8 Mart. N. S. (La.) 168.

Massachusetts.— Rice v. Carnes, 8 Mass. 490.

New York.— But not after appeal from judgment against sureties, no excuse for delay being made. Denny v. Blumenthal, 8 Misc. (N. Y.) 544, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 744, 59 N. Y. St. 263.

South Carolina.— Atkinson v. Martin, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 481.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 97.

Where a surrender should be made before judgment the bail cannot release themselves by a surrender after judgment, though the record does not show when it was signed. Opothlarholer v. Gardiner, 15 La. 512.

70. After judgment.— Granberry v. Pool, 14 N. C. 141.

Surrender pending appeal.—Surrender may in some cases be made pending an appeal from a judgment on the scire facias. Davison v. Mull, 2 N. C. 364. So where the defendant in a writ of scire facias defaulted, but no judgment was entered, and pending an appeal from an order disallowing the motion to take off the default, the bail surrendered the principal, the surrender was declared to be in time under a statute providing that bail might surrender their principal at any time before final judgment on scire facias. Norcross v. Crabtree, 161 Mass. 55, 36 N. E. 678.

After reversal of a judgment surrender may be made. Safford v. Knight, 117 Mass. 281; Thayer v. Goddard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 60.

After return of fieri facias.— It is declared in Michigan in a late case that under the laws of that state a surrender may be made at any time before or after the return-day of the fieri facias. Umphrey v. Emery, 121 Mich. 184, 80 N. W. 14.

Until return of non est inventus.— Where bail may, by statute, surrender their principal after judgment until a return of non est inventus, when they become liable, it has been decided in an action where the return was not made until after forty days, that the time was reasonably sufficient for the bail to surrender their principal. Collins v. Cook, 4 Day (Conn.) 1. See in this connection, generally, Edwards v. Gunn, 3 Conn. 316; Fitch v. Loveland, Kirby (Conn.) 380.

Certiorari after judgment.— It is declared in an early case that where judgment has been rendered on a scire facias, the bail cannot by certiorari carry the case into the circuit court by merely showing that he has the body of his principal ready to surrender. Sharp v. Clouston, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 193.

b. Extension of Time. The court may, in its discretion, after the expiration of the strict time allowed by law, grant to the sureties in certain cases an extension of time in which to surrender their principal.[71] Permission to surrender after the time allowed by law should not, however, be granted where the bail have the means of indemnifying themselves in case of recovery against them,[72] or where they have been guilty of inexcusable laches.[73] But bail may in a proper case, within the legal time therefor, make application to stay proceedings and for time to surrender where the principal has been concluded by judgment on default after failure to plead his discharge.[74]

2. Manner of Surrender. In the absence of any statutory formalities or rules of practice prescribed for the surrender of the principal by his sureties, the surrender should be by some distinct unequivocal act accompanied by such declarations or acknowledgments as show the case to which it applies and an actual honest delivery of the principal into the custody of the proper authority;[75] but if the statute or rules of court provide that a surrender by bail of their principal

71. Discretion of court.— Barker v. Russell, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 303, Code Rep. N. S. (N. Y.) 57; Gilbert v. Bulkley, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 668; Geneva Bank v. Reynolds, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 81, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18; Hall v. Emmons, 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 370 [reversing 2 Sweeny (N. Y.) 396]; Reynolds v. Boyd, 23 N. C. 106; Wright v. Coller, 35 Ohio St. 131; Davidson v. Taylor, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 604, 6 L. ed. 743. See also Stransky v. Harris, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 691, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 1123 [reversing 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 15, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 623].

But where the bail has become finally charged under a code provision which fixes the liability of bail by the return of a capias ad satisfaciendum against defendant "not found" it is held that the court has no power to extend the time of surrender. Whetstone v. Riley, 7 Ohio St. 514.

When extension may be granted.— Such an extension may be properly granted where the sureties have been lulled into security by the plaintiff (Livingston v. Bartles, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 478), or where a judgment has been entered against them by mistake without their fault (Safford v. Knight, 117 Mass. 281. See Bogle v. Fitzhugh, 2 Wash. (Va.) 213), or where by an omission to file the bail-piece they are prevented from surrendering (Nichols v. Sutfin, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 422), which may be granted in such case after judgment against them; or where inability to surrender is owing to the continued absence of the principal from the country, whether due to imprisonment, sickness, or wilful conduct of the latter (People v. New York C. Pl., 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 263; Geneva Bank v. Reynolds, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 81, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18. But see Rathbone v. Warren, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 310), or where it is impossible to make the surrender, owing to the distance to be traveled (Van Rensselaer v. Hopkins, 3 Cai. (N. Y.) 136, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 479, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 481), or the sickness of the bail (Thomas v. Bulkley, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 25; Boardman v. Fowler, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 413), or where they have done all in their power to surrender the principal in the time prescribed (Warner v. Hayden, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 251).

Renewal of motion.— The rule that a renewal of a motion made before one judge and denied cannot be renewed before another judge on the same facts without leave does not apply where an application is made to the discretion of the court to allow an extension of time for surrender of principal after an application for exoneration as a matter of right has been denied on the ground that the strict time had passed. Hall v. Emmons, 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 370 [reversing 2 Sweeny (N. Y.) 396].

72. Existence of means of indemnification. — Geneva Bank v. Reynolds, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 81, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18.

73. Laches.— Bode v. Maiberger, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 53; Baker v. Curtis, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 279. See Denny v. Blumenthal, 8 Misc. (N. Y.) 544, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 744, 59 N. Y. St. 263.

74. So held in Franklin v. Thurber, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 427, after return of writ against bail.

75. In the absence of statutory requirements.— Menude v. Butler, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 440; Bomar v. Poole, 2 Speers (S. C.) 119. See Moyers v. Center, 2 Strobh. (S. C.) 439. An announcement in open court that the sureties surrender the principal, who, though known to the judge, is unknown to all the others present, except the bail, does not constitute a valid surrender, where he is never delivered into the actual custody of the sheriff. Rountree v. Waddill, 52 N. C. 309. A surrender, however, of the principal in court may be valid (Coolidge v. Cary, 14 Mass. 115), though not before a judge at his chambers in the absence of some law or rule of court permitting it (Baxter v. Biays, Brunn. Col. Cas. (U. C.) 254, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,123, 4 Am. L. J. 276). Again, it has been held that the surrender should be at the jail. Glover v. Gomillion, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 554. And it has been decided that it is not necessary to make application to the court for permission to surrender the principal in order to make such surrender valid. Ellis v. Hay, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 334.

For certificate of surrender of principal by bail see Sullivan v. Richardson, 25 Ga. 154. 155.

should be made in a certain manner, the surrender, to be effectual, should be in the manner prescribed.[76] The ordinary requirements as to the manner of surrender are that notice be given either to the plaintiff or his attorney,[77] that the bail-piece be exhibited to the judge before whom proceedings are brought for the commitment of the defendant in exoneration of bail or to the sheriff to whom the surrender is made;[78] that entry as a matter of record be made of the surrender or exoneretur;[79] that the surrender be indorsed upon a certified copy of the undertaking by the officer into whose custody the principal is delivered;[80] and in certain cases that payment of costs be made by the bail.[81]

76. Under statute or rule of court.— Cozine v. Walter, 55 N. Y. 304; Stark v. Hemstead, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 301.

Statutory provisions may in some cases be merely directory and not conditions precedent to the validity of a surrender, and a non-compliance with a provision of that character will not prevent the discharge of the sureties. Jones v. Varney, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 137; Cooke v. Beale, 1 Wash. (Va.) 313.

The question as to where or to whom the surrender should be made must depend upon either the statute or the conditions of the bond. If it be designated by statute such designation must control, but otherwise it may be subject to the provisions of the undertaking. So where the bond designated "the jail of said county" as the place of surrender, a surrender to a deputy sheriff in court is of no effect. Keim v. Saunders, 120 Pa. St. 121, 13 Atl. 710. A surrender, however, to the jailer of the county has been held sufficient, though the statute requires the surrender to be to the sheriff. Bruce v. Colgan, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 284.

Rule in New York.— The sureties must take the defendant to the sheriff and require him in writing to take the defendant into his custody. They must, at the same time, deliver to the sheriff a certified copy of the undertaking, whereupon it is made the duty of the latter to "detain the defendant in his custody thereupon, as upon the original mandate" and to acknowledge the surrender by a certificate in writing; and where the original mandate is the order of arrest the effect of any surrender which might be allowed would be that the sheriff must resume the custody of the defendant because of the original order for arrest, and his authority for so doing would rest upon the demand of the sureties and the papers required to be delivered to him at the time of the surrender. Stransky v. Harris, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 691, 694, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 1123 [reversed in 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 15, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 623].

77. Notice to plaintiff or his attorney.— Sloan v. Bryant, 28 N. H. 67; Maynadier v. Wroe, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 442, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,351.

Notice required is of the surrender and not of the intention. Cleveland v. Skinner, 56 Ill. 500.

Omission of date of surrender in notice may not affect its validity. Reed v. Maynard, 11 Allen (Mass.) 394.

Signature to the notice is not an indispensable requisite. Tucker v. Bruce, 121 Mass. 400.

78. Exhibition of bail-piece.— Not sufficient in such case that copies of the recognizance be presented to the judge instead of the bail-piece. Elliott v. Dudley, 8 Mich. 62.

Copies of the bail-piece required to be produced in proceedings to surrender defendant by special bail need not be certified, and the sheriff's certificate shows that defendant is in custody by virtue of the commitment, where the commissioner indorses an order of commitment on one copy of the bail-piece and the sheriff certifies on the other copy that he had defendant in his custody. Morgan v. Jones, 117 Mich. 59, 75 N. W. 280. Surrender to sheriff is in an early case declared to be void, though bail-piece be not exhibited, if surrender be made in county where sureties were entered as special bail in open court and sheriff had knowledge of the bail's undertaking. Evans v. Freeland, 3 Munf. (Va.) 119.

79. Entry of surrender and exoneretur.— Whitton v. Harding, 15 Mass. 535; Colgan v. Supplee, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 87. That entry of exoneretur may be made after time limited therefor see Strang v. Barber, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 329.

See also supra, II, I, 2, c, as to entry of exoneretur.

Entry of a surrender which has been made in discharge of bail cannot be rescinded on a subsequent day in the same term. Underwood v. McLaurin, 49 N. C. 17.

80. Indorsement of surrender.— Hume v. Norris, 5 Oreg. 478.

81. Payment of costs.— Cleveland v. Skinner, 56 Ill. 500; Bartlet v. Falley, 5 Mass. 373; Brownelow v. Forbes, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 101; Parker v. Tomlinson, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 220. But compare Morgan v. Jones, 117 Mich. 59, 75 N. W. 280 [distinguishing Cozine v. Walter, 55 N. Y. 304; Geneva Bank v. Reynolds, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 81, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 18; Mayell v. Follett, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 507], that non-payment of accrued costs does not make void the proceedings for the surrender of the principal, where no objection to the commissioner's order of discharge is made and there is nothing to indicate that defendant, in the action on the bail-bond, had any knowledge of the amount thereof until it was stated in court, whereupon they were directed to pay the amount forthwith and a verdict was ordered in their favor.

Bail should seek plaintiff and pay the costs without waiting for demand. Cathcart v. Cannon, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 220.

If separate writs of scire facias are issued

4. Effect of Surrender — a. On Principal. It has been held that, to authorize an order that the principal who has been surrendered in discharge of bail be committed in execution, a motion therefor should be made.[82] Commitment of the principal into custody may also be ordered on his surrender by his bail on affidavit by the plaintiff that the defendant is about to leave the state.[83]

b. On Sureties — (i) In General. Bail by a valid and proper surrender of their principal are thereby discharged from liability of their bond.[84] A surrender, however, which is made after the liability of the bail has become fixed,[85] as by a judgment against them, will not operate as a discharge or in any way relieve them of their liability.[86]

(ii) By One of Two or More Sureties. Where two or more persons become sureties on a bail-bond a surrender of the principal by one of them may be good as to all.[87]

(iii) Principal Arrested or Convicted on Criminal Charge. The general rule is that if a principal has been committed to prison on a criminal charge against two sureties who have become jointly and severally liable, and a surrender is made by one of them, the costs of both writs should, it has been decided, be paid by such surety. Pennington v. Thornton, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 101, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,939*a*.

82. Motion to commit on execution.— Peter v. Suter, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 311, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,021. But see Howzer v. Dellinger, 23 N. C. 475, to the effect that though plaintiff may not pray for the committal of the principal in execution, it will not in all cases operate as a discharge of the latter from execution. Compare also Lawrence v. Graham, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 477, holding that, though the bail may avail themselves of the fact that the plaintiff had given notice of the exception to bail, where no exception was in fact entered on the bail-piece, yet, if waived by them, defendant cannot avail himself thereof for the purpose of obtaining his discharge when surrendered.

See also supra, II, B, 4; infra, III, L, 3.

83. Principal about to leave state.— Farmers' Bank v. Freeland, 50 N. C. 326.

Where the statute provides for a capias against an absconding debtor the justice to whom the bail surrenders such principal may, under the statute, commit him to jail, unless he procures bail for his appearance on the continuance day, so that he may be had if needed on execution. Worthen v. Prescott, 60 Vt. 68, 11 Atl. 690; Abells v. Chipman, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 377.

If principal who has been discharged under an insolvent law is surrendered by the special bail he will be discharged from custody by the court. Richardson v. McIntyre, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 412, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,789.

84. Releases from liability.— Colgan v. Supplee, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 87; Fleming v. Rushton, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 383. So a surrender before the execution is returnable to the officer holding the same will have this effect. Collins v. Cook, 4 Day (Conn.) 1; Ryan v. Watson, 2 Me. 382; Rice v. Carnes, 8 Mass. 490; Champion v. Noyes, 2 Mass. 481. As will also a surrender before any attempt is made to enforce liability on the bond. De Myer v. McGonegal, 32 Mich. 120. And in some cases where made within a certain number of days of the service of the summons on the bail. Com. v. Malony, 3 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 407. Again in an early case it is decided that a surrender before a judgment has been rendered on the scire facias will discharge the bail from the costs of such action. Peace v. Person, 5 N. C. 188.

The order of exoneration must be entered in New York in order to stay proceedings in an action to charge the sureties as bail. Surrender merely will not exonerate them so as to have the effect. Bode v. Maiberger, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 53.

85. A surrender will not exonerate the bail where the bond is conditioned for the payment of any judgment which may be recovered, though such a bond is not authorized by statute. Paddock v. Hume, 6 Oreg. 82. And where by statute bail is liable in certain cases if the principal have property and removes it from the state but otherwise not, a surrender of the principal will not affect such liability. Kirley v. Sproul, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 92.

86. After judgment against sureties.— Bode v. Maiberger, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 53; Dowlin v. Standifer, Hempst. (U. S.) 290, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,041*a*.

87. Compton v. Williams, 27 Ga. 29; Kibbe v. Ballard, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 55, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 56. So where the bail have been sued jointly a surrender of the principal by one of them will discharge all, although it is declared in this case to be otherwise if sued severally. Kibbe v. Ballard, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 55, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 56. But in an early case in Kentucky it is held that, where the bond is a joint one and suit is commenced against one of the sureties, a surrender of the principal by him will discharge all except as to costs. Myers v. Irons, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 156.

This rule does not apply, however, where the liability of one or more of the others has already become fixed, in which case such liability will not be affected thereby though the sureties will discharge the one making it. Cleveland v. Skinner, 56 Ill. 500.

habeas corpus will be granted on motion of the bail to enable them to surrender him,[88] and such a course may also be followed where the principal has been convicted of a crime,[89] although in the latter case the more proper and expedient course is probably to discharge the sureties on motion.[90]

5. Right of Bail to Arrest Principal. As a general rule the bail has the right at any time to arrest his principal, such right resulting from the relation of the parties.[91] The arrest may be made in open court,[92] or the bail may follow their principal beyond the jurisdiction of the court and even into another state and arrest him,[93] or he may be arrested on a Sunday,[94] and it has been decided that the arrest may be made though the principal is in the custody of another person who has subsequently become bail for him.[95] Bail may in certain cases obtain the assistance of some officer to aid in the arrest,[96] or may depute their power to take and surrender.[97]

M. Relief in Case of Forfeiture — 1. In General. It has been declared that, upon proper application made for that purpose,[98] the court will grant relief

88. Committed on criminal charge.— Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380; Atkinson v. Prine, 46 N. J. L. 28; Biggnell v. Forrest, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 482; Sharp v. Sheriff, 7 T. R. 226. In a case in New Jersey it is declared that whether relief will be granted by habeas corpus or by extending the time for surrender or by discharge on motion will depend upon the fact as to which mode will be more beneficial to the plaintiff. Steelman v. Mattix, 38 N. J. L. 247, 20 Am. Rep. 389.

89. Conviction for crime.—Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380; Bigelow v. Johnson, 16 Mass. 218.

90. Discharge on motion.— Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380; Atkinson v. Prine, 46 N. J. L. 28; Loflin v. Fowler, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 335; Cathcart v. Cannon, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 28, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 64, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 65.

The reason for the distinction is that when a party is merely confined on a charge he may be acquitted and the plaintiff derive some benefit from taking him on his execution, but when in prison under sentence no advantage can be derived from his execution, as the prisoner will be immediately remanded, and a habeas corpus is an unnecessary expense. Way v. Wright, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 380.

91. Ex p. Lafonta, 2 Rob. (La.) 495; Fisk v. Comstock, 2 Rob. (La.) 25; Henderson v. Lynd, 2 Mart. (La.) 57, 5 Am. Dec. 726.

Females are not exempt from arrest under a bail writ, though a statute may exempt them from arrest under a capias ad satisfaciendum. Jarvis v. Alexander, Cheves (S. C.) 143; Desprang v. Davis, 3 McCord (S. C.) 16.

Arrest of principal by bail made in good faith but erroneously on the authority of a transcript from the docket of the justice court, the arrest being for the purpose of exonerating the bail from liability, is not made under such color of authority as will aggravate damages for the principal in an action by him against the bail for false imprisonment. Campbell v. Rishaberger, 2 Watts (Pa.) 447.

Breaking into principal's dwelling-house.— After demand of entry, bail, or one lawfully deputed by him, may be justified in forcibly entering the dwelling-house of the principal for the purpose of arresting him. Read v. Case, 4 Conn. 166, 10 Am. Dec. 110; Nicolls v. Ingersoll, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 145. See also Sheers v. Brooks, 2 H. Bl. 120.

92. Made in open court.— Marshall v. Carhart, 20 Ga. 419; Broome v. Hurst, 4 Yeates (Pa.) 123; Smith v. Catlett, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 56, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,021.

93. Beyond jurisdiction of court.— Ruggles v. Corey, 3 Conn. 419; Parker v. Bidwell, 3 Conn. 84; Pease v. Burt, 3 Day (Conn.) 485; Ex p. Lafonta, 2 Rob. (La.) 495; Fisk v. Comstock, 2 Rob. (La.) 25; Henderson v. Lynd, 2 Mart. (La.) 57, 5 Am. Dec. 726; Nicolls v. Ingersoll, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 145; Sharpless v. Knowles, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 129, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,712.

94. On Sunday.— Broome v. Hurst, 4 Yeates (Pa.) 123.

95. In custody of another.— Sharpless v. Knowles, 2 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 129, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,712. In this case bail followed his principal into another jurisdiction in which another had subsequently become bail for him. But see Holsey v. Trevillo, 6 Watts (Pa.) 402.

96. Obtaining assistance of officer.— Ex p. Lafonta, 2 Rob. (La.) 495.

97. Deputizing another.— State v. Mahon, 3 Harr. (Del.) 568; Com. v. Brickett, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 138; Nicolls v. Ingersoll, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 145; Boardman v. Fowler, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 413; Holsey v. Trevillo, 6 Watts (Pa.) 402.

What necessary to depute power.—In Kentucky it has been decided that the arrest of the principal by a third person can only be authorized by the written indorsement of the surety on the certified copy of the bail-bond. Marking v. Needy, 8 Bush (Ky.) 22. In a case in New York where ten persons were on the bail-bond an authority by eight of them to arrest the principal was held sufficient. In re Taylor, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 212.

98. Motion to exonerate bail once made and denied cannot be renewed without leave. Bode v. Maiberger, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 53.

On motion to set aside proceedings in a to bail to the sheriff in all cases, on the usual terms, upon the return of the writ against them,[99] but not after judgment has been recovered against the sureties upon their undertaking.[1] In some cases, however, it may be proper to open the judgment and enter an exoneretur as to the bail.[2]

2. EQUITABLE RELIEF. If a judgment has been rendered against the bail at law, equity will not grant relief therefrom unless it appear that the bail had good cause for not defending the action at law.[3]

3. STAY OF PROCEEDINGS. Proceedings against bail upon their undertaking may, upon a proper showing therefor,[4] be stayed.[5] Where proceedings are stayed suit on a bail-bond for irregularity, an affidavit used on such motion is properly entitled in such suit, and not in the original cause. Phelp v. Hall, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 367; Pell v. Jadwin, 3 Johns. (N. Y.) 448. See Ex p. Metzler, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 287.

Relief in case of forfeiture by bail in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, N.

99. Upon return of writ.— Haswell v. Bates, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 80; Ellis v. Berry, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 61, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 62. Bail may be so relieved after the death of the principal. Bulkley v. Colton, 1 Johns. (N. Y.) 515. Loss of trial merely will not be sufficient to prevent such relief, unless such loss was caused by defendant's delay after bail is called for and without neglect on plaintiff's part. Elles v. Berry, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 61, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 62.

Where plaintiff has been delayed in the trial of his cause, owing to delay in putting in special bail, the bond must stand as security for the debt to be recovered (McFarland v. Holmes, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 50; Fitler v. Probasco, 1 Browne (Pa.) 238), except where plaintiff may be put in as good a condition as if there had been no delay (State Bank v. Lassel, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 387).

1. It is then too late for them to apply for exoneration, as the judgment is a contract debt of record against them. Bode v. Maiberger, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 53. And compare Claxton's Case, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 102, wherein it is held that if, owing to the failure of the defendant to file his petition in time, the bail-bond becomes forfeited, the court has no power to relieve the surety by allowing the defendant to file his petition and be heard subsequently.

2. Opening judgment.— Com. v. Howard, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 81, wherein it appears that plaintiff had arrested principal in pursuance of information furnished on behalf of the bail, and had lodged him in jail, from which he was subsequently discharged, under the insolvent law. See also Keerle v. Norris, 2 Va. Cas. 217, where it was declared that an office judgment against the defendant, and his appearance bail, the latter afterward becoming special bail, might be set aside.

Though bail may have been guilty of laches relief may in some cases be granted. Bonsal v. Camp, 2 Harr. (Del.) 327.

Proceedings in outlawry, in a bailable action, will not, it has been held, be reversed on motion and affidavit, on the ground that the defendant was not a citizen of the state, unless special bail is put in by defendant on a writ issued by the plaintiff in a new action. Roosevelt v. Crommelin, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 253.

Where bail have been personated a vacation of bail may be ordered. Such order, however, will be stayed where the personation was felonious until the felon has been prosecuted to effect. Renoard v. Noble, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 293.

Where principal offered to surrender himself in due time, but was prevented owing to a mistake in entering the scire facias as of a former term, bail may be relieved. Hamilton v. Taylor, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 389.

3. Not granted as a rule.— Brown v. Toell, 5 Rand. (Va.) 543, 16 Am. Dec. 759. See also Allen v. Hamilton, 9 Gratt. (Va.) 255; Dickinson v. Sizer, 4 Rand. (Va.) 113; Carter v. Cockrill, 2 Munf. (Va.) 448. In Gilliam v. Allen, 4 Rand. (Va.) 498, it is declared that, as a general rule, where a legal advantage has been acquired by the plaintiff against bail, without any participation or agency on the part of the former, such advantage will not be taken from him by any tribunal.

But where a person who has not executed the bond is returned as appearance bail, his failure to appear and plead will not preclude him from equitable relief, and if such relief be sought in the nature of a bill of injunction, it is declared that both the plaintiff in the original suit, and the sheriff who returned the writ should be parties thereto. Spotswood v. Higgenbotham, 6 Munf. (Va.) 313.

In New York, in an action against bail in the supreme court, equitable relief may be granted to the bail by that court, although the original action was in another court, and a temporary stay of proceedings may be allowed to enable the bail to surrender their principal. Barker v. Russell, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 303, Code Rep. N. S. (N. Y.) 57.

4. An affidavit that defendant has absconded from the state and that it is reported and believed that he is dead is not sufficient to stay such proceedings where it is not shown with sufficient certainty that he is dead or whether, even if dead, the bail had not become fixed at the time of death. State v. Crane, 17 N. J. L. 191.

Mere delay in moving for a stay will not deprive bail of their right thereto where no substantial damage has resulted therefrom. Masterton v. Benjamin, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 362, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 363.

5. Barker v. Russell, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 303, Code Rep. N. S. (N. Y.) 57.

by an agreement in the nature of a rule, and the filing of special bail, defendant should plead and tender costs, but after such special bail is entered and notice thereof given, plaintiff is not entitled to costs subsequently incurred.[6]

N. Actions on Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance — 1. In General — a. Necessity of Action. Judgment cannot be entered upon a forfeited recognizance and execution issued against the sureties until they have been required in some proceeding to show cause why judgment should not be entered against them.[7]

b. Nature and Form of Proceeding. Whether the proceeding is a new suit[8] or incidental to the original suit is a matter upon which the decisions are not in harmony.[9] But as to the form of the action, it has generally been determined that scire facias is a proper remedy,[10] though in some jurisdictions an action of debt may be maintained on the bond.[11]

c. When Action May Be Brought. A recognizance is not a perfect instrument until it is returned to the court to which it is to be transmitted, and a suit upon a recognizance before the sitting of such court is premature.[12] The time within which a suit upon a bail-bond must be brought is generally limited by statute, and, when it is subject to statutory limitation, the action should be commenced within the time prescribed.[13]

Collusion of the plaintiff with others, depriving bail of the power to surrender principal, may constitute a ground for a stay. Barrett v. Lewis, 1 Mart. (La.) 188.

Principal's discharge in bankruptcy may stay proceedings, upon motion and payment of costs by bail seeking the stay. Nettleton v. Billings, 17 N. H. 453; Riddles v. Mitchell, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 11 note; Seaman v. Drake, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 9. See Carrew v. Willing, 1 Dall. (U. S.) 130, 1 L. ed. 68.

Where there has been no loss of any advantage to plaintiff which he would have had if special bail had been entered at the regular time a stay may be had. Union Bank v. Kraft, 2 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 284; Priestman v. Keyser, 4 Binn. (Pa.) 344. See also McFarland v. Holmes, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 50.

6. Costs.—Huguet v. Hallet, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 55, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 162, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 162.

7. Gilmer v. Blackwell, Dudley (Ga.) 6; Varner v. Crabb, 2 Ind. 168; State v. Mills, 19 N. C. 552.

Actions on bond, undertaking, or recognizance, in criminal prosecutions see infra, III, O.

8. That proceeding is a new suit see Gale v. Quick, 2 La. 348; Labarre v. Fry, 9 Mart. (La.) 381; Davis v. Packard, 7 Pet. (U. S.) 276, 8 L. ed. 684 [reversing 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 327].

9. That proceeding is incidental to the main action see Wallace v. Glover, 3 Rob. (La.) 411; Weyman v. Cater, 17 La. 529; Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 482, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,592. In other cases in Louisiana it has been held that it is not necessary to formally set the cause down for trial but that judgment against the bail may be had on motion (Kirkman v. Wyer, 10 Mart. (La.) 126; Hall v. Farrow, 9 Mart. (La.) 391); or that the proceedings may be taken by rule (Block v. Maxwell, 10 La. Ann. 5).

10. Scire facias.—Kentucky.—Price v. Lee, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 434.

Maine.— Packard v. Brewster, 59 Me. 404; Hale v. Russ, 1 Me. 334.

Massachusetts.— Heustis v. Rivers, 102 Mass. 398; Champion v. Noyes, 2 Mass. 481; Gale v. Boyle, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 138; Crane v. Keating, 13 Pick. (Mass.) 339.

Missouri.— Benton v. Brown, 1 Mo. 393; Priest v. Whitelow, 1 Mo. 259; Howel v. March, 1 Mo. 182.

New Hampshire.— Pierce v. Read, 2 N. H. 359.

North Carolina.— Hunter v. Hill, 3 N. C. 398.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 108.

11. Debt.— Green v. Dana, 13 Mass. 493; Parmer v. Moore, 1 Mo. 176; Hawkins v. Quartermas, 1 Nott & M. (S. C.) 323.

N. Y. Laws (1855), c. 202, which provided that, in the case of forfeited recognizances in any of the counties of the state, all the provisions of the code of procedure should apply thereto have been held not to change the method of enforcing such recognizances in the city and county of New York but to give an additional remedy by action of debt. People v. Hickey, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 365.

12. Premature action.— Darling v. Hubbell, 9 Conn. 350.

13. Limitation of action.— Howard v. Miller, 1 Root (Conn.) 428; Rice v. Carnes, 8 Mass. 490; Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342; McRae v. Mattoon, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 49; Pearce v. Curran, 15 R. I. 298, 3 Atl. 419; Strong v. Edgerton, 22 Vt. 249. See Deviney v. Wells, 26 N. C. 30.

Absence from the state will not prevent the running of the statute unless an exception in such case be made by statute. Gass v. Bean, 5 Gray (Mass.) 397. See Albemarle Steam Nav. Co. v. Williams, 111 N. C. 35, 15 S. E. 877.

Final judgment is declared in Massachusetts to mean not the judgment on review but the first judgment on which plaintiff may sue out an execution. Swett v. Sullivan, 7 Mass. 342.

2. Jurisdiction — a. In General. Under an early English statute [14] it was declared by the English decisions that the action on the bond must be brought in the same court as that out of which the process issued, as this was necessary to give the parties the relief intended by statute unless some special circumstance existed to warrant a departure from this rule.[15] This act has been adopted in some of the United States, and where adopted the rule of the English decisions has been followed.[16] And the general rule affirmed by the early American decisions is that, in the absence of any rules of practice or statute providing otherwise, the action should be brought in the court in which the original suit was instituted, as such court is supposed to be more competent to relieve the bail, when entitled to relief, but if, owing to some special circumstances, such as the removal of the plaintiff from the jurisdiction of the court, suit cannot be brought therein, the plaintiff is not deprived of his remedy but may bring his action in a different court.[17]

b. In Case of Bond Given in Another State. An action on a bail-bond will not lie in another state than that in which it was given.[18]

3. Parties — a. Who May Sue — (i) In General. A distinction based upon the form of the action is made by some of the earlier cases as to the right of the plaintiff to maintain an action upon the recognizance, it being declared in some of them that he who is to have the benefit of the recognizance shall have a scire facias upon it, whether he be the conusee or not;[19] but if the action be in the Ignorance of breach of condition of the bond will not prevent the statute from running from the time of such breach. Pearce v. Curran, 15 R. I. 298, 3 Atl. 419.

Taking out of a writ is not a compliance with the statute, where such writ cannot be served within the time designated by statute. Strong v. Edgerton, 22 Vt. 249.

The object of the statute is to limit the rights of the creditor to call upon the surety to ascertain and fix time, so that the latter will be under no embarrassment as to the extent or duration of his contingent liability or as to the time when he may with safety to himself cease to look after his principal. Strong v. Edgerton, 22 Vt. 249.

14. 4 Anne, c. 16, § 20, by which it was provided that the court where the action was brought might, by rule or rules of such court, give such relief to the plaintiff or defendant in the original action and to the bail upon the bail-bond as was agreeable to reason and justice, and such rule or rules were declared to have the nature and effect of a defeasance to the said bond.

15. English rule.— Walton v. Bent, 3 Burr. 1923; Chesteron v. Middlehurst, 1 Burr. 642; Donatty v. Barclay, 8 T. R. 152.

16. English rule followed.— Florence v. Shumar, 34 N. J. L. 455; Roop v. Meek, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 542. But see Van Winkle v. Alling, 17 N. J. L. 446.

17. American rule.—McRae v. Mattoon, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 49; McDougall v. Richardson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 558; Otis v. Wakeman, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 604; Matthews v. Cook, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 33; Burtus v. McCarty, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 424; Gardiner v. Burham, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 459; Haswell v. Bates, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 80; Davis v. Gillet, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 318; Davis v. Packard, 7 Pet. (U. S.) 276, 8 L. ed 684. But see Easton v. Collier, 1 Mo. 603; Easton v. Collier, 1 Mo. 467.

In a case in Georgia it is declared that scire facias is not such an original suit as requires it to be brought in the county of the bail's residence, but that the original suit gives jurisdiction to proceed against the bail. Garvin v. Gallagher, 1 Ga. 315.

In South Carolina, while the English rule is spoken of as clear, yet the reason therefor is said to be because the rules of practice differ in the different courts, and it is declared that, where the rules of the court taking the bond can be enforced by the court where the suit is brought, the action in the latter court must be allowed. So an action was permitted in the district courts on a bond taken in the city court of Charleston (McMillan v. Whitaker, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 523), and in the city court of Charleston on a bond taken in the court of common pleas (Legare v. Brown, 4 McCord (S. C.) 370), all of such courts being governed by the same rules of practice.

Court of final judgment has been declared to be the one in North Carolina from which scire facias must issue. Turner v. White, 49 N. C. 116. But see Jones v. McLaurine, 52 N. C. 392.

The remedy where suit is brought in wrong court is by motion and not by plea. Otis v. Wakeman, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 604; Matthews v. Cook, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 33. See Garvin v. Gallagher, 1 Ga. 315.

18. McRae v. Mattoon, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 49.

19. Bishop v. Drake, Kirby (Conn.) 378. See also Ansley v. Harris, 22 Ga. 616 (where it is decided that the sheriff in taking the bond is in effect acting as agent of the plaintiff, and though the bond is payable to the former, it is in law payable to plaintiff, and therefore an assignment to him is not necessary to enable him to sue thereon); Ford v. Lane, 8 Ga. 322; Pierce v. Read, 2 N. H. 359; Douglass v. Wight, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 218; Alexander v. Winn, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 14. But nature of debt, the suit should be in the name of the obligee, though the beneficial interest be in a third person.[20]

(II) Where Bond Has Been Assigned. Under an early English statute[21] it was provided that the sheriff, at the request and cost of plaintiff, should assign to him the bail-bond by indorsing the same and attesting it under his hand and seal in the presence of two or more credible witnesses, and that upon such assignment plaintiff might bring an action thereon in his own name.[22] In the absence, however, of any statutory requirement,[23] an assignment may be valid and effective though not under seal, provided it clearly purports to transfer the bond.[24] Nor need the assignment be made by the officer in his official capacity.[25] And where the bond is given to the sheriff or his successors in office, his successor may exe-see Priest v. Whitelow, 1 Mo. 259; Lowther v. Lawrence, Wright (Ohio) 180.

20. Obligee.— Where the bond is taken in the name of the sheriff, an action of debt thereon should be in his name to the use of the real person in interest. Parmer v. Moore, 1 Mo. 176. See Bishop v. Drake, Kirby (Conn.) 378.

The force and effect of such distinction is of practically no value in those states where forms of action have, to a great extent, been abolished, and in any event the question as to who may bring the action where the bond is to the sheriff, or whether assignment thereof by him will be necessary, or of any effect whatever, must largely depend upon the statutory provisions and practice in each state. If no power is conferred by statute to assign the bond the action thereon should be in the name of the sheriff, where the bail is taken by statute to "himself." Hunter v. Gilham, 1 Ill. 82. Where assignment is expressly required by statute, it must be made, but otherwise if the statute is silent thereto. Sompeyrac v. Cable, 10 Mart. (La.) 361. If plaintiff is expressly authorized, on taking an assignment of a bond, to bring an action in his own name he may, when such assignment has been made, sue in his name. Hunt v. Allen, 22 N. J. L. 533.

Where plaintiff may sue as trustee.— Sureties on appeal-bonds become equitably subrogated to the rights of the plaintiff where they are obliged to pay the amount of their undertaking, and in such case they have a right of action against defendant's bail, but the plaintiff, being the real party in interest, may sue on the bond for himself and as trustee for the sureties on the appeal-bond, instead of a separate action being brought by each. Cullifford v. Walzer, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 493, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 475, 70 N. Y. St. 173 [affirmed in 3 N. Y. App. Div. 266, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 199, 73 N. Y. St. 692].

Where money has been deposited in lieu of bail.— Though the plaintiff in attachment may be, by law, authorized to bring any action in the name of himself and the sheriff, which the sheriff might bring to recover property attached, or its value, or on an undertaking, yet under such statute no power or right is conferred on the plaintiff to bring an action against the clerk to recover money which has been deposited by the defendant in lieu of bail. Anderson v. Tomkins, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 39, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 433.

21. 4 Anne, c. 16.

22. This statute was, in substance, early incorporated into the law of South Carolina, and where this or a similar act is in force the assignment should be in compliance therewith. Soloman v. Evans, 3 McCord (S. C.) 274, wherein, however, it was held that, under a plea of non est factum, the objection could not be raised that the bond was illegally assigned to plaintiff.

Failure of one of two witnesses to subscribe his name will not invalidate an assignment made under a statute requiring it to be executed in the presence of two witnesses. Bleibdrey v. Keppler, 33 N. J. L. 140.

Failure of the plaintiff to except to the bail may in some cases prevent him from taking an assignment of the bond. Caines v. Hunt, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 358; Ferris v. Phelps, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 249, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 98, Col. Cas. (N. Y.) 99.

If the name of the sheriff does not precede the seal the assignment will not be good where the statute prescribes the form of assignment concluding with "In witness, whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, this the ——— day of ———." Hardy v. Andrews, 49 N. C. 476, 478.

The omission of the name of the county over which the sheriff's authority extends will not be fatal under a requirement that the bond be executed by "I, A. B., sheriff of ——— county" where the sheriff is properly designated as to his county in the body of the bond. Miller v. White, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 269, 272.

23. Statutory provisions as to assignment may not in all cases be obligatory but in the nature of a privilege, and the sheriff may, by following such provisions, exonerate himself from liability, but, until he has done so, his liability will continue and he may sue on the undertaking. Willet v. Lassalle, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 618, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 272, where it is so held in case of a requirement that the sheriff, in order to exonerate himself, should deliver the order of arrest and other documents to plaintiff's attorney.

24. Seal not necessary.— Wilcox v. Ismon, 34 Mich. 268.

25. Official capacity.— Wilcox v. Ismon, 34 Mich. 268.

cute a valid assignment of the bond;[26] but an assignment by the administrator of the sheriff will confer no right upon the assignee to sue in his own name.[27] The transfer of the bond by the sheriff to the creditor may be sufficient when made at any time before trial and judgment against the bail, where a statute or rule of practice requires the plaintiff to exhibit the bond assigned to him and which he can only do at the trial.[28]

b. Who May Be Sued. If the undertaking executed by the bail be joint and not several they should all be joined as defendants in an action to recover thereon;[29] but where the undertaking of bail is a several one by several recognizances they cannot all be joined in one scire facias.[30] The cause of action against bail survives.[31]

4. Process. Where bail are proceeded against by scire facias they are apprised, by the nature of the writ, of the character of the action against them,[32] but in an action of debt upon the recognizance in order to protect bail from surprise the original process should cite the defendants to answer to a plea of debt "upon recognizance."[33] The manner of making service of process against bail is, as a general rule, subject either to statute or rules of the court, and to be valid should conform to the requirements prescribed.[34]

5. Defenses — a. In General. It is declared in an early decision that, in an action on the bail-bond, the only direct defense thereto is performance of the condition, which may, however, be enlarged.[35] It has been repeatedly held, however,

26. Assignment by successor in office.— Loker v. Antonio, 4 McCord (S. C.) 175.

27. Assignment by sheriff's administrator. — Mann v. Hunter, 47 N. C. 11.

28. Time of assignment.—Harris v. Brown, 11 La. 90.

29. On joint undertaking.— Tannenbaum v. Cristalar, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 141.

Where only one of the bail can be joined the action may be against both, as in case of joint debtors, and in such a case an exoneretur will not be entered on motion of the surety not taken for the purpose of availing both. Steward v. Patten, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 38.

30. On several undertaking.— Garland v. Ellis, 2 Leigh (Va.) 555.

31. Action survives.— Parker v. Willard, Smith (N. H.) 212. So the action may be maintained against the administrator or executor of the bail. Langley v. Knighton, 2 Mill (S. C.) 451. The heirs and personal representatives may in some cases be proceeded against. Com. v. Haines, 2 Va. Cas. 134.

Death of bail during pendency of scire facias will not abate the suit, but the administrator may defend. Wheeler v. Wheeler, 7 Mass. 169; Com. v. Haines, 2 Va. Cas. 134.

The survivor, where one of the bail has died, cannot, it has been held, be joined with the executor of the deceased in one writ of scire facias. Niles v. Drake, 17 Pick. (Mass.) 516.

32. See infra, II, N, 6, b.

33. Citation to appear.— Van Winkle v. Alling, 17 N. J. L. 446.

Summons and alias summons.— Though scire facias may be a proper remedy in some jurisdictions, it is not necessary to resort thereto in all cases, but where summons has been served on one of several coöbligors and judgment by default entered against him, the other may be brought in by an ordinary alias summons. Cleveland v. Skinner, 56 Ill. 500.

34. Service of process.— Dennison v. Willson, 16 N. H. 496. See Ehler v. Stœver, 2 Miles (Pa.) 14; Branch v. Webb, 7 Leigh (Va.) 371; Kyles v. Ford, 2 Rand. (Va.) 1; Green v. Thompson, 1 Patt. & H. (Va.) 427.

Where bail has moved from the state service may be made by leaving a copy at his last and usual place of residence. People v. Judges of Monroe C. Pl., 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 443. Service on his attorney is not sufficient and the return should be verified by the oath of the officer. Dennison v. Willson, 16 N. H. 496.

Return of officer may be amended in discretion of court, after issue joined, by his verifying it. Dennison v. Willson, 16 N. H. 496.

Return of two nihils has been held to be a good service of scire facias against bail. Woodfork v. Bromfield, 5 N. C. 187.

35. Performance of condition.— Wurtz v. Musselman, 5 Watts (Pa.) 95.

See also supra, II, I, J, L, M.

An offer to surrender cannot, it has been held, be pleaded in defense to an action on the bond, the only proper plea being comperuit ad diem. Osborn v. Jones, 4 Harr. & M. (Md.) 5 note.

Where there has been a breach of the condition of a bond given by the debtor upon his arrest on the oath of the creditor that he believes the former is about to leave the state, it cannot be shown in defense thereto that the debtor was not in fact about to leave the state. Marston v. Savage, 38 Me. 128.

Where the statute expressly specifies the circumstances under which bail are entitled to a verdict and the facts urged in defense in a suit against them are not within the statutory designation, the plaintiff is not obligated to waive his rights and accept a sur-that facts which would operate to discharge bail may be pleaded and shown in defense.[36] So also it is a good ground for dismissing a suit against bail that upon their motion an exoneretur was entered after the commencement of the action.[37] The bail may also be permitted to show the insolvency of the principal as a defense to a scire facias.[38] And it is declared that one arrested upon a capias ad satisfaciendum, who has given bond for an appearance, may adduce any matter which amounts to a defense, where a motion has been made for a judgment for a breach of the bond.[39] Bail cannot, however, in scire facias against them, impeach the judgment in the original action.[40]

b. Fraud, Collusion, or Mistake. Fraudulent conduct on the part of the plaintiff for the purpose of charging the bail, or collusion between the parties to the suit with the same object in view, are matters which are not concluded by the judgment, but may properly be shown in defense to an action on the bond.[41] In the absence, however, of fraud or some disability rendering the person incapable of reading and comprehending the writing for himself, it is no defense to an action against him on the bond that he was misled or misinformed as to the contents and effect thereof.[42]

c. Irregularities or Defects in Proceedings. Irregularities or defects in the proceedings against the principal which operate to the injury of the bail or affect the validity of the proceedings may in some cases be a proper defense[43] though render or to cause a new writ of capias ad satisfaciendum to be issued. Lyman v. Giddey, 96 Mich. 401, 56 N. W. 6.

36. Matters of discharge.— McFarland v. Wilbur, 35 Vt. 342, holding that facts which would entitle bail to be discharged in the original action may be pleaded as a bar to a scire facias. See also supra, II, I.

Promise of plaintiff to discharge bail may be shown in defense. McFarland v. Wilbur, 35 Vt. 342.

Unlawful arrest, or an arrest insufficient by operation of law which would operate to discharge bail, may be set up as a defense to a scire facias. McFarland v. Wilbur, 35 Vt. 342, defendant having enrolled as a soldier in the United States army. See also Harrington v. Dennie, 13 Mass. 93. But see Gregory v. Levy, 12 Barb. (N. Y.) 610, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 37.

Want of consideration may be pleaded, though the bond be under seal. So held in Greathouse v. Dunlap, 3 McLean (U. S.) 303, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,742.

37. Exoneretur entered.— Under such circumstances suit may be dismissed at the costs of the bail, but the exoneretur should not be pleaded in bar of the action. White v. Guest, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 228.

38. To support such a defense where allowed by statute utter insolvency must be shown, and the fact that the principal does not possess enough property to pay all his debts is not sufficient. Kelly v. Porter, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 454. If the liability of bail has become fixed, however, the insolvency of the principal is no bar to an action against them as bail. Levy v. Nicholas, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 614, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 282.

39. Robinson v. McDugald, 34 N. C. 136.

40. Cannot impeach judgment in original action.— Morsell v. Hall, 13 How. (U. S.) 212, 14 L. ed. 117.

Want of notice.—Where, under the laws of a state, the bail is a party to the record to the extent that he is bound to take notice of all proceedings both against the principal and himself, want of notice to him of scire facias is no objection to an action on a judgment upon such scire facias issued after he left the state. McRae v. Mattoon, 13 Pick. (Mass.) 53.

Where scire facias against bail incorrectly recites name of the person against whom judgment was rendered and a plea of nul tiel record is sustained, such adjudication will be no bar to a scire facias in which the name of the judgment debtor is correctly recited. Benton v. Duffy, 1 N. C. 229.

41. Winchel v. Stiles, 15 Mass. 230; Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433; Weld v. Bartlett, 10 Mass. 470; Bradley v. Bishop, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 352; Mott v. Hazen, 27 Vt. 208; Parkhurst v. Sumner, 23 Vt. 538, 56 Am. Dec. 94; Van Ness v. Fairchild, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 153; Taylor v. Fleckenstein, 30 Fed. 99; Greathouse v. Dunlap, 3 McLean (U. S.) 303, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,742.

That service of process on the defendant in the original suit was prevented by fraudulent or collusive means may be shown, but such a defense must, however, be distinctly charged in the plea or notice. Bishop v. Earl, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 316.

42. In the absence of fraud.— Taylor v. Fleckenstein, 30 Fed. 99. And the fact that the plaintiff was induced to consent to a judgment for costs against him while intoxicated is declared to be a matter not available as a defense, since it is concluded by the judgment as to both the principal and the bail. Parkhurst v. Sumner, 23 Vt. 538, 56 Am. Dec. 94.

Nor can duress of the principal be taken advantage of by the bail as a ground of defense, where no unlawful restraint has been imposed upon him. Oak v. Dustin, 79 Me. 23, 7 Atl. 815, 1 Am. St. Rep. 281.

43. Bond void because security for costs has not been given by plaintiff as required may be shown (Wood v. Yonge, 9 Port. (Ala.)

the bail may not be permitted to avail themselves of such defense if they have been guilty of laches.[44] But mere technical defects or errors in the original process, which might have been pleaded in the original action, or matters which tend to dispute the cause of such action cannot be taken advantage of by bail in an action on the bond.[45] And again the validity of the recognizance cannot, it is held, be questioned by proof that it was illegally taken by the justice, it being declared that the only remedy in such case is an application to the justice to reform or set aside the recognizance.[46]

d. Sickness. Inability of the principal to appear at the time fixed owing to sickness may be shown by the surety as a defense to an action on the bond;[47] but default of the principal cannot, however, be excused because of sickness of the surety.[48]

6. Pleadings — a. Declaration. In an action upon a recognizance the declaration should allege those facts which tend to show that such obligation was entered into by the defendants and such other necessary facts as may show that, as a result of such obligation, the defendants have become liable on their undertaking to the plaintiffs.[49] And if the declaration contains a proper and suffi-

208); or because it is taken by the sheriff out of his county (Harris v. Simpson, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 165, 14 Am. Dec. 101).

Irregularity in issuing a capias ad satisfaciendum against the original defendants may be taken advantage of by bail. Boggs v. Chichester, 13 N. J. L. 209.

Omission to enter an exception to bail may preclude plaintiff from maintaining an action on the bond. Ferris v. Phelps, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 249, Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 98, Col Cas. (N. Y.) 99.

That execution was issued prematurely to the injury of bail may be shown. Mattocks v. Judson, 9 Vt. 343.

Want of jurisdiction may be set up as a defense to an action on the bond (Broadhead v. McConnell, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 175), unless there has been a waiver of same, in which case it cannot be taken advantage of (Hall v. Young, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 80, 15 Am. Dec. 180).

Non-liability of principal to arrest is not a defense to an action on the bond. Hall v. Young, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 80, 15 Am. Dec. 180; Stever v. Sornberger, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 275. But see Stafford v. Low, 20 Ill. 152; Aiken v. Richardson, 15 Vt. 500. As by entering into the recognizance bail waive their right to take advantage thereof. Stever v. Sornberger, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 275.

One defendant will not be permitted to avail himself of irregularities in the proceedings against the others. Bruce v. Colgan, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 284.

44. Effect of laches.— Jones v. Dunning, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 74; Barton v. Keith, 2 Hill (S. C.) 537.

Alleged incapacity due to drunkenness of the party entering into a recognizance is not a ground for impeaching such recognizance where such party has recognized it as being in force and taken no steps to avoid it on this ground. Doe v. Harter, 1 Ind. 427.

Where the sanction of a court of chancery is required to a suit on a bond, objection that the suit was begun without such sanction should be by motion, which should be made at the earliest opportunity after suit is brought. Harris v. Hardy, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 393.

45. Mere technical defects.— Alabama.— Kennedy v. Rice, 1 Ala. 11.

Connecticut.— Robbins v. Bacon, 1 Root (Conn.) 548.

Georgia.— Gilmore v. Lidden, 23 Ga. 14.

Indiana.— Cutshaw v. Birge, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 511.

New Jersey.— Hunt v. Allen, 22 N. J. L. 533.

South Carolina. Rosenberg v. McKain, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 145.

Vermont.— Stedman v. Ingraham, 22 Vt. 346.

United States.— Hall v. Singer, 3 McLean (U. S.) 17, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,946.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 114.

46. Clark v. McComman, 7 Watts & S. (Pa.) 469.

47. Sickness of principal.— People v. Tubbs, 37 N. Y. 586, 5 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 342; Scully v. Kirkpatrick, 79 Pa. St. 324, 21 Am. Rep. 62. But see Goodwin v. Smith, 4 N. H. 29.

48. Sickness of surety.— Speight v. Wooten, 14 N. C. 289.

49. Authority to make arrest should be alleged. Gallup v. Dennison, Kirby (Conn.) 430; Reed v. Lane, 61 Vt. 481, 17 Atl. 796.

Condition of bond and the proceedings against principal should be set out. Loker v. Antonio, 4 McCord (S. C.) 175.

Execution in the presence of some officer authorized to take bail should be alleged. Jones v. Bunn, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 490.

Judgment against principal should be alleged. Murphy v. Summerville, 7 Ill. 360; Gauntley v. Wheeler, 31 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 137. Contra, Bolles v. Haines, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 398; Holton v. Smith, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 424.

Particular breaches of the conditions should be alleged. Loker v. Antonio, 4 McCord (S. C.) 175. See also Gallup v. Dennison, Kirby (Conn.) 430; State v. Rolfe, 15 Vt. 9. But see Allen v. Hunt, 23 N. J. L. 376.

cient averment of facts it will not be vitiated by the allegation of an immaterial fact.[50]

b. Scire Facias. Such facts as show the legal right of the plaintiff to recover should be stated in a scire facias against bail,[51] and if all the proceedings are prop-

Recognizance should be set out in terms or according to its legal effect. Bolles v. Haines, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 398.

Return of execution unsatisfied should be alleged. Gallup v. Dennison, Kirby (Conn.) 430; Murphy v. Summerville, 7 Ill. 360; Jones v. Bunn, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 490; Fisher v. Drewa, 63 Mich. 655, 30 N. W. 315; Prior v. Bodrie, 49 Mich. 200, 13 N. W. 515; Gauntley v. Wheeler, 31 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 137. See Little Rock v. Johnson, 5 Ark. 691. But see Bolles v. Haines, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 398; Holton v. Smith, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 424; Kelly v. McCormick, 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 503.

That recognizance was filed in court and became a matter of record should be alleged. Mendocino County v. Lamar, 30 Cal. 627.

In other decisions, however, it has been declared, that in an action of scire facias against bail the record of the original suit is not a part of the record in the latter action unless made such by the plea (Bell v. Bullitt, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 200; Young v. Simral, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 176; Lampton v. Scott, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 172; Mattocks v. Judson, 9 Vt. 343); that the declaration need not aver that an affidavit of debt was made before the issue of the writ on which the arrest was made (Hunt v. Allen, 22 N. J. L. 533); or that the attachment on which defendant was arrested was returned, or that the defendant was called on the return-day and that his default was entered (Thomas v. Cameron, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 59); or delivery of the undertaking (Willet v. Lassalle, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 618, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 272); or the date of the bond, but if stated, however, it must be correctly stated (Clark v. Kidder, 12 Vt. 689). Again it has been held unnecessary to allege that the defendants are citizens of a different state from that of the plaintiffs. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 482, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,592.

In an action by the sheriff on a bail-bond or his assignee, the complaint should, it has been declared, aver damage sustained by the sheriff and what such damage was. Clapp v. Schutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 9. But it is not necessary to allege that the sheriff has exonerated himself, under the provisions of a statute that he may so do, by delivering the order of arrest, etc., to the attorney of the plaintiff. Willet v. Lassalle, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 618, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 272.

50. Immaterial facts averred.— Willet v. Lassalle, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 618, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 272.

51. Facts to be alleged.— Frost v. Reynolds, 2 Dana (Ky.) 94. Thus it has been held that scire facias should set forth the cause of action (Smith v. Shaw, 30 N. C. 233); the fact as to sureties becoming bail (Smith v. Shaw, 30 N. C. 233; Usher v. Frink, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 84); the substance of the bond (Kennedy v. Spencer, 4 Port. (Ala.) 428; Toulmin v. Bennett, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 220; Usher v. Frink, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 84); before whom bond was taken (McMahan v. Knox, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 450); judgment against the principal (Stewart v. McClure, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 407); court in which judgment was obtained (Smith v. Shaw, 30 N. C. 233); notice to the bail if required by statute (Emerson v. Brown, 2 N. H. 347); and what notice, so court may judge if according to statute (Goodwin v. Smith, 4 N. H. 29); failure to satisfy the condemnation of the court (Embree v. Norris, 2 Ala. 271; Nichols v. Woodruff, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 180; Holland v. Bouldin, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 147; Baker v. Harrison, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 59).

An averment of commitment to jail of the principal under a capias ad satisfaciendum, without showing how or whether he was discharged, shows no cause of action. Dozier v. Gore, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 163.

Omission to aver prout patet per recordum has been held to be fatal on special demurrer. Wright v. Brownell, 2 Vt. 117.

On undertaking not to remove effects from state should aver where it is suggested that defendant did remove property that he had title to, or interest in the same. Perrott v. Story, 9 Dana (Ky.) 126.

Where a debtor has been arrested in an action on contract a declaration in scire facias against his bail which avers that the debtor was a resident of another state, but does not aver that he was not a citizen of such state, is not sufficient, where an act forbids such an arrest of citizens of the United States. Blood v. Crandall, 28 Vt. 396.

What facts need not be alleged.— It has been held unnecessary to aver that the original writ issued as a capias (Yatter v. Pitkin, 66 Vt. 300, 29 Atl. 370); or to set forth the affidavit or order for bail (Glidden v. Leonard, 4 Port. (Ala.) 194); or to allege that the bail-bond was executed by the principal (Bull v. Clarke, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 587); or that the principal appeared to the action against him (Kenan v. Carr, 10 Ala. 867); or to state the form of the action in which judgment was rendered (Turner v. White, 49 N. C. 116); or to aver the issuing and return of the capias ad satisfaciendum (Ross v. Ellis, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 91; Crawford v. Beall, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 472; Cappeau v. Middleton, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 154; Gray v. Hoover, 15 N. C. 475; Arrenton v. Jordan, 11 N. C. 98; Langdon v. Troy, 3 N. C. 165). See Bowen v. Pyne, Wright (Ohio) 602. But see Davis v. Dorr, 30 Vt. 97.

Nature of the bail's liability need not be averred, it has also been held; but if the scire facias undertakes to aver it, it must do so correctly. Wright v. Brownell, 2 Vt. 117.

erly set out in a scire facias and the liability of the bail shown judgment by default may be had though no declaration is filed.[52] The prayer in scire facias should, it has been held, be for the damages sustained in the first suit.[53]

c. Plea or Answer.[54] Matters which constitute an affirmative defense and matters of substance should be pleaded if the bail wish to avail themselves of such defenses.[55] The bail may, it has been decided in an action on the bond, plead to the jurisdiction of the court,[56] or a performance of the conditions of the bond,[57] or a surrender of the principal.[58] Again, if the bond has not become a part of the record and the defendant desires to put it in issue, it should be done, it is declared in early decisions, by a plea of non est factum,[59] but no allegation inconsistent with or against the validity of the record can be pleaded in an action of debt on the recognizance,[60] and in such an action the plea of nil debet is not good.[61]

d. Replication. In the absence of any substantial defect,[62] a replication will

Loss of papers alleged in declaration.—The fact that the writ in scire facias vouches the record for the affidavit to warrant the capias ad satisfaciendum and for the capias ad satisfaciendum itself, but that the declaration avers the loss of these papers since the writ was issued is no ground for objection to the proceedings. Kenan v. Carr, 10 Ala. 867.

It is sufficient to raise the issue on a plea of nul tiel record that there is a note of the substance of a recognizance from which a formal recognizance could have been drawn. Seidenstriker v. Buffum, 14 Pa. St. 158.

52. Necessity of declaration.— Walker v. Massey, 10 Ala. 30.

In determining the meaning of a word or sentence in a writ of scire facias, or other process, resort is not to be had to the next antecedent or next subsequent word but rather to the subject-matter. In notice dated "3d day of October, 1842" that execution was returnable "on the third Tuesday of October next," "next" was held to refer not to the month but to the third Tuesday of the month. Nettleton v. Billings, 13 N. H. 446.

53. Prayer.— Howel v. March, 1 Mo. 182.

Though prayer may be wrong yet it is a matter of form and it will be good on demurrer, and judgment for the right party will be given. Barton v. Vanzant, 1 Mo. 192.

54. Affidavit of defense.— A bond with a collateral condition is not within a rule of court which requires that, in all actions of debt or contract for the payment of a specific sum of money, the defendant shall make an affidavit of defense. Boas v. Nagle, 3 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 250. Nor is a rule that in any action brought upon a written instrument the plaintiff shall not be put to proof of its execution on the handwriting of the defendant, unless its execution be denied by affidavit applicable thereto. Elliott v. Green, 10 Mich. 113. An affidavit of defense may be sufficient without an averment of satisfaction where it presents facts showing a prima facie case of satisfaction. Christy v. Bohlen, 5 Pa. St. 38.

55. Affirmative defense.— Willet v. Lassalle, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 618, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 272; Mitchell v. Noble, 1 C. L. Chamb. (Can.) 284.

Cannot take advantage by motion of want of capias ad satisfaciendum against principal. Drake v. Cockran, 18 N. J. L. 9.

If injured by premature return such matter must be pleaded. Howe v. Ransom, 1 Vt. 276.

56. Plea to the jurisdiction.— Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 482, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,592.

If a plea of abatement is set up by the bail, the existence of such facts as authorize bail to defend the suit must, it has been held, be alleged. Deforest v. Elkins, 2 Ala. 50.

57. May plead comperuit ad diem in action on bond given for appearance. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 388, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,591.

58. Surrender.—Should also allege in such case surrender before the return of the process against the bail executed (Easton v. Collier, 1 Mo. 467); to whom the surrender was made (Davison v. Mull, 2 N. C. 364); and notice and payment of the costs required by statute (Cleveland v. Skinner, 56 Ill. 500); and should conclude prout patet per recordum and not with a verification (Fleming v. Howard, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 465).

59. Non est factum.— Hamlin v. McNeill, 30 N. C. 172; Spotswood v. Douglas, 6 Munf. (Va.) 312. See State v. Daily, 14 Ohio 91.

Conclusion should be to the jury where the defendants deny that they became bail and it is not required that the bond be returned or recorded. Parks v. Hall, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 206.

60. If, however, the recognizance is not correctly stated in the declaration, the defendant may plead nul tiel record. Green v. Ovington, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 55.

61. Nil debet not good, when.— White v. Converse, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 266; Niblo v. Clark, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 24; Bullis v. Giddens, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 82.

62. Though a replication may be faulty, yet if a defendant neglects to take advantage by demurrer of any imperfection therein, and by such replication an issue in law or in fact has been formed, the case is ripe for trial. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 388, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,591.

As to insufficiency of replication see Rogers v. Lee, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 407; Houghton v. Jewett, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 183.

be held good on demurrer, though it may not be as attentive to form as it might be.[63]

e. Amendments. Defects in a scire facias or proceedings against bail on the bond may be cured by amendment[64] in the discretion of the court at any time before judgment rendered.[65]

f. Variance. If essential and material facts are averred in a manner wholly inconsistent with the facts proved it will constitute a fatal variance,[66] but though averments as to recitals in the recognizance may not set forth such recitals according to the tenor thereof, yet if they correspond in substance and legal operation it will be sufficient,[67] and the omission to aver matters which are not a necessary part of the record is no variance.[68]

7. Evidence — a. In General. In actions upon the bond the officer's return of the proceedings on the writ[69] and the records of the proceedings and the judgment rendered may be admissible in evidence,[70] and upon a plea of nul tiel record in an action upon a recognizance which is recorded in the same court in which the suit is brought an inspection of the original recognizance is proper evidence.[71]

63. Immaterial defects.—Colegate v. Frederick-Town Sav. Inst., 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 114; Jackson v. Trammell, Cooke (Tenn.) 274.

As to sufficiency of rejoinder see Cutts v. King, 1 Me. 158.

64. Patterson v. State, 10 Ind. 296.

Leave to amend so as to describe the record correctly and cure an accidental variance between judgment and declaration may be allowed, though it may deprive defendant of an opportunity of nonsuiting the plaintiff and of driving him to a new action which would give further opportunity to surrender the principal. State Bank v. Simpson, 2 Speers (S. C.) 41. See also Tatem v. Potts, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 534.

Similiter to a replication may be shown to have been added without consent of bail. Nadenbousch v. McRea, Gilmer (Va.) 228.

65. Discretion of court.— The only limitation to the judge's authority, if it may be called a limitation, being declared to be that amendments should not be allowed where they will operate to delay or surprise the other party. State Bank v. Simpson, 2 Speers (S. C.) 41.

Amendment which will only falsify the exemplification of the record of another court will not be allowed. Thus a writ of scire facias issued from the common-pleas court, founded on a judgment in the supreme court, will not be amended by striking out the words which make it a common-pleas writ and inserting others making it a supreme-court writ. Osgood v. Thurston, 23 Pick. (Mass.) 110.

66. Fatal variance.— Tobias v. Reed, 1 Speers (S. C.) 295; Harvey v. Goodman, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 273.

Proof should support the plea.—Under plea of payment advantage cannot be taken of a variance between the actual recognizance and that set out in the scire facias. Abbott v. Lyon, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 38. Nor can evidence be given of facts submitted on a previous application for relief on the bond (Wurtz v. Musselman, 5 Watts (Pa.) 95), or of a payment of a less sum than the amount of the judgment (Mechanics' Bank v. Hazard, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 353). A paper purporting to be a bond but with no seal will not support a scire facias against the signers thereof, on a plea of nul tiel record, where the seal is a material essence of a bond. Walker v. Lewis, 3 N. C. 168.

67. Immaterial variance.— Waldo v. Spencer, 4 Conn. 71; Rodman v. Forman, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 26; Handy v. Richardson, 3 N. C. 311; Devereux v. Esling, 7 Pa. St. 383. See Payne v. Britton, 6 Rand. (Va.) 101.

68. So held in case of omission to aver costs — the costs which accrued after judgment. Alston v. Bullock, 1 N. C. 209.

69. Return of proceedings under writ.— Heymes v. Champlin, 52 Mich. 25, 17 N. W. 226; Wilson v. Gillis, 15 Me. 55. If a sheriff's return show the surrender of the principal and the cancellation of the bond, it will be presumed, in an action on a bond subsequently taken, that the creditor assented thereto in the absence of evidence to the contrary. Harris v. Brown, 11 La. 90.

Return made under date of return-day raises the presumption that the execution was properly kept by the officer until such time. Wheelock v. Hall, 3 N. H. 310.

Return of non est without date does not prove an allegation in the scire facias that the execution was kept by the officer until the return-day. Butterick v. Atkinson, 3 N. H. 307.

70. Record of proceedings.— Heymes v. Champlin, 52 Mich. 25, 17 N. W. 226.

If proceedings are merely incidental and collateral the record thereof is inadmissible. Scully v. Kirkpatrick, 79 Pa. St. 324, 21 Am. Rep. 62.

Judgment is admissible as fixing the measure of damages. Wilcox v. Ismon, 34 Mich. 268. But see Respublica v. Davis, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 128, 2 Am. Dec. 366.

71. Inspection of recognizance.— Blood v. Morrill, 17 Vt. 598. But on such a plea it has been held plaintiff is not bound to produce the bail-bond. Mason v. Cooper, 4 N. C. 83.

Neglect or refusal to surrender a principal in execution may be taken as prima facie evidence of the departure of the principal from the state and that the bond has thereby become forfeited.[72]

b. Best and Secondary Evidence. Matters of record in the original action cannot be impeached in scire facias against bail,[73] and an officer's return that he cannot find his principal has been declared to be conclusive evidence of the avoidance of such principal.[74] So also a surrender of the principal, being generally required by law to be recorded, must be proved by the record.[75]

8. Questions of Law and Fact. In those jurisdictions where proceedings against bail are declared to be in the nature of a new suit the bail, upon filing his answer, is entitled to a trial of his cause by jury,[76] and where issues, some of which are for the court and others for the jury, are found for the plaintiff, it is for the jury to determine the amount due the latter.[77] The issue raised by a plea of nul tiel record is one for the court to determine,[78] but the validity of the execution of a recognizance is a question of fact for the jury.[79]

9. Judgment — a. In General. The judgment should, it is declared, be entered for the penalty of the bond, and if entered erroneously, or no specific sum is mentioned, time will be allowed for the making of an amendment to correct such error.[80]

b. By Default. If no plea is filed by bail in scire facias against them, judgment may be rendered on motion without the intervention of a jury, as the default admits that bail has nothing to show against judgment being entered against them.[81] Judgment by default may, however, be set aside under power

72. Refusal to surrender principal.— Hudson v. Perry, 8 La. 121.

73. Record cannot be impeached.— Arrest of principal cannot be denied. Bean v. Parker, 17 Mass. 591. Nor can the judgment be collaterally impeached. Ford v. De Villers, 2 McCord (S. C.) 144. Nor can bail defend successfully by denying that there is any record of their becoming bail. Bean v. Parker, 17 Mass. 591. Though they may show that it is a case of mistaken identity in suing them as bail. Renoard v. Noble, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 293.

Where a plea of nul tiel record is made to a scire facias a minute of the recognizance taken by the clerk of a prothonotary has been held to be sufficient. Moore v. McBride, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 148.

74. Return conclusive.— Winchel v. Stiles, 15 Mass. 230; Stevens v. Bigelow, 12 Mass. 433.

75. Proof of surrender.— Fitch v. Hall, Kirby (Conn.) 18; Griffin v. Moore, 2 Ga. 331; Whitton v. Harding, 15 Mass. 535; Stewart v. Massengale, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 479. But see Chase v. Holton, 11 Vt. 347.

Parol evidence.— It has been held, however, that an arrest under capias ad satisfaciendum may be shown by parol. McKnight v. Sessions, 8 Rich. (S. C.) 210. As may also the insolvency of the principal. Willard v. Wickham, 7 Watts (Pa.) 292. And for the purpose of determining whether scire facias is barred by limitations, evidence of the day on which the judgment was given is admissible. Clark v. Ely, 2 Root (Conn.) 380.

76. Right to jury trial.— Gale v. Quick, 2 La. 348; Labarre v. Fry, 9 Mart. (La.) 381.

77. Amount due a question for jury.— Bolles v. Haines, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 398.

Though amount as found by jury may be in excess of that stated in a scire facias, yet the court may give judgment, it has been held, for the proper sum. Bowyer v. Hewitt, 2 Gratt. (Va.) 193.

78. Issue raised by nul tiel record.— Bolles v. Haines, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 398; Merkle v. Bolles, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 288.

79. Validity of execution of recognizance. — Spencer v. Fish, 43 Mich. 226, 4 N. W. 168, 287, 5 N. W. 95.

80. Entry of judgment.— Hunt v. Allen, 22 N. J. L. 533.

In New York it has been held that, if the judgment is in excess of the bond, the judgment is not thereby void but the amount of such excess should be credited in such manner as to effectually prevent abuse of process or proceeding. Bode v. Maiberger, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 53.

In Tennessee it is held that judgment on a scire facias should not be for debt and damages but that the plaintiff have execution. Payton v. Stuart, Peck (Tenn.) 156.

Judgment is erroneous in an action of replevin where it is for the value of the property in controversy and the costs of the action. Eddings v. Boner, 1 Indian Terr. 173, 38 S. W. 1110.

81. Garvin v. Gallagher, 1 Ga. 315; Reed v. Sullivan, 1 Ga. 292. May be so rendered against the administrator of the bail. Denny v. Hutcheson, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 576.

Should not be rendered by default before return of the writ of scire facias. Lyon v. Randall, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 57, 1 West. L. J. 397.

Damages are assessed on the basis of those occasioned by the breach of the condition, which will be the amount of the recovery in given to courts to grant bail such relief upon such terms and in such manner as may be just and equitable.[82]

c. Joint or Several. Judgment cannot be entered jointly against both the principal and the surety, the latter being no party to the action and having a right to be heard.[83] But if a joint and several recognizance is given and a scire facias thereon is returned as executed upon one of the defendants and not found as to the other, scire facias upon the latter is not a prerequisite to rendering judgment against the former.[84]

d. Amount and Extent of Liability. The liability of bail is joint or several according to the nature of their undertaking.[85] In actions on the bond the measure of damages is prima facie the whole amount of the undertaking.[86] Or they may be assessed, as held in some cases, on the basis of the actual damage to the plaintiff from the breach of the condition.[87] As a general rule, however, the measure of damages in an action on the bond is the amount of the judgment recovered against the principal in the original action together with the costs of the suit,[88] not exceeding the penalty of the bond.[89] And it has been held that the suit in which the bond was given. O'Conner v. Mullen, 11 Ill. 116.

82. So judgment may be set aside and bail let in to defend original action against the principal. Guthrie v. Morrison, 1 Harr. (Del.) 368. And a judgment against the bail in favor of the plaintiff in the original judgment, but who is not a party to the bond, may be set aside. Earle v. Dobson, 46 N. C. 515.

Where, in the absence of the plaintiff, a judgment has been entered against bail such judgment may, at the former's request, be struck out and a discontinuance entered. Com. v. Kite, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 399.

Though a new trial may in some cases be granted, it is no ground therefor that the defendant was informed and believed "that he had fully and legally discharged himself as bail" if he has omitted to do all that was necessary by law for a discharge. Howard v. Capron. 3 R. I. 182, 183.

83. McWhorter v. De Kay, 3 N. J. L. 469.

But in an early case in Tennessee it is held that under the statute a judgment on a capias ad satisfaciendum must be against both principal and surety. Grisham v. Grisham, 8 Yerg. (Tenn.) 393. And see Lee v. Carter, 3 Munf. (Va.) 121, where it is held that, if defendant fails to appear and plead, and his appearance bail is allowed to do so but subsequently withdraws his plea, judgment should not be against bail alone but against defendant.

84. Chinn v. Com., 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 29.

85. Joint or several liability.— Davis v. Van Buren, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 391; Tannenbaum v. Christalar, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 141. And see Luckett v. Austin, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 181; Morange v. Mudge, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 243.

Sureties on appearance bail who become liable on failure to put in special bail are subject to the same liability as those on special bail would have been if such bail had been put in. Wilcox v. Ismon, 34 Mich. 268.

The liability of special bail is limited by the amount of the ac etiam. Mumford v. Stocker, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 601.

86. Whole amount of bond.—Willet v. Lassalle, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 618, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 272. See Fetterman v. Hopkins, 5 Watts (Pa.) 539.

Nominal damages may, however, be given under particular circumstances. Morton v. Bryce, 1 Nott & M. (S. C.) 64. See Burbank v. Berry, 22 Me. 483; Graecen v. Allen, 14 N. J. L. 74.

87. Actual damage to plaintiff.— Clifford v. Kimball, 39 Me. 413; Burbank v. Berry, 22 Me. 483.

88. Amount of judgment against principal.
—Arkansas.— Leech v. Pirani, 5 Ark. 118.

Connecticut.—Hall v. White, 27 Conn. 488; New Haven Bank v. Miles, 5 Conn. 587.

Kentucky.—Abbott v. Daniel, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 339.

Louisiana.— Keane v. Fisher, 10 La. Ann. 261.

Maine.— Richards v. Morse, 36 Me. 240; Sargent v. Pomroy, 33 Me. 388.

New Jersey.—Kelly v. Simmons, 39 N. J. L. 438. See Graecen v. Allen, 14 N. J. L. 74.

New York.—Levy v. Nicholas, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 614, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 282.

South Carolina.— Longstreet v. Lafitte, 2 Speers (S. C.) 664; Kinsler v. Kyzer, 4 McCord (S. C.) 315.

Vermont.—Worthen v. Prescott, 60 Vt. 68, 11 Atl. 690.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 134.

And where a wife with no separate estate and no property whatever becomes surety, the rule is the same. Hall v. White, 27 Conn. 488.

Though the writ by mistake states a less amount than the action is for, yet if bail assume their obligation with full knowledge of the actual amount claimed, collection of the full amount of the judgment will not be enjoined in equity. Carter v. Cockrill, 2 Munf. (Va.) 448.

89. Not exceeding penalty of bond.—Kelly v. Simmons, 39 N. J. L. 438. See Heustis v. Rivers, 103 Mass. 398; Oxley v. Turner, 2 Va. Cas. 334.

Where judgment for the penalty of a bond has been given a writ of inquiry may be di-interest on the judgment is recoverable.[90] Satisfaction of the judgment may be pleaded in mitigation of damages,[91] but the amount of recovery cannot be affected by the insolvency of the principal.[92]

10. Execution on Judgment. On a joint scire facias against bail a separate execution may be issued against either of the bail,[93] but where the plaintiff may have an execution against the body of the principal, or of the bail, he must elect against which one he wishes the execution.[94]

III. In Criminal Prosecutions.

A. Right to Bail — 1. At Common Law. By the ancient common law all offenses, including treason, murder, and other felonies, were bailable before indictment found.[1]

2. Constitutional Guaranty. It is a constitutional guaranty that all persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption of guilt great; and that excessive bail shall not be required.[2] rected to determine the sum due. Bobyshall v. Oppenheimer, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 482, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,592. See Kelly v. Simmons, 39 N. J. L. 438. Though not necessary. Leech v. Pirani, 5 Ark. 118. Where such a judgment has been entered the damages should not be assessed in the bail-bond suit, but in the original action. Mabbett v. Kelly, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 62.

90. Interest on judgment.— Alabama.— Kenan v. Carr, 10 Ala. 867.

Arkansas.— Leech v. Pirani, 5 Ark. 118.

Maine.— Richards v. Morse, 36 Me. 240.

New Jersey.— Allen v. Hunt, 23 N. J. L. 376.

New York.— Steinbock v. Evans, 122 N. Y. 551, 25 N. E. 929, 34 N. Y. St. 138 [affirming 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 278, 18 N. Y. St. 325].

Contra, Gray v. Cook, 3 Houst. (Del.) 49; Kinsler v. Kyzer, 4 McCord (S. C.) 315; Murden v. Perman, 1 McCord (S. C.) 128; Bowyer v. Hewitt, 2 Gratt. (Va.) 193; Anonymous, 1 Brunn. Col. Cas. (U. S.) 29, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 433, 3 N. C. 575.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 134.

In case of unreasonable delay in proceeding against bail, interest during such time is not recoverable. Constable v. Colden, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 480.

Costs as between two sets of sureties.— Although the order-of-arrest bail may become liable for the amount due on the judgment for costs in the court of appeals, yet the circumstances may give them the right of reimbursement from the court of appeals sureties. Culliford v. Walser, 158 N. Y. 65, 52 N. E. 648, 70 Am. St. Rep. 437 [reversing 3 N. Y. App. Div. 266, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 199, 173 N. Y. St. 692 (affirming 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 493, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 475)].

91. Mitigation of damages.— So held in suit against bail for indorser of note where satisfaction had been obtained from the makers. Wattles v. Laird, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 327.

92. Effect of principal's insolvency.— Abbott v. Daniel, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 339; Sargent v. Pomroy, 33 Me. 388; Metcalf v. Stryker, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 62; Levy v. Nicholas, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 614, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 282. But see Burbank v. Berry, 22 Me. 483.

93. Bruce v. Colgan, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 284; Luckett v. Austin, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 181.

94. Election.— Smith v. Rosecrantz, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 97.

1. Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646; Ex p. Bryant, 34 Ala. 270 [citing Rex v. Remnant, 5 T. R. 169]; Rex v. Marks, 3 East 157; Ex p. Baronnet, 16 Eng. L. & Eq. 361, 2 Hale P. C. 129, 2 Hawkes P. C. c. 15, §§ 40, 80. See also Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561; Ford v. State, 42 Nebr. 418, 60 N. W. 960; Hampton v. State, 42 Ohio St. 401.

Right to bail in civil actions see supra, II, B.

Extent and limits of common-law rule.— Certain restrictions were, however, imposed upon justices of the peace concerning their right to let to bail, but, in the court of king's bench, bail was not a matter of right in capital felonies, being limited by judicial discretion exercised according to the degree of proof of guilt. Rex v. Marks, 3 East 157; Ex p. Baronnet, 16 Eng. L. & Eq. 361, 2 Hale P. C. 129.

As to bail for officer placed in confinement in court-martial proceedings see Army and Navy, VIII, I, 5, c [3 Cyc. 855].

2. With the exception that some constitutions contain only the provision as to excessive bail and that others use the words "before conviction" or words of like import, or the words "murder" and "treason" instead of the words "capital offenses" and other slight changes, the language of the text is substantially that of all the constitutions. See also Ariz. Pen. Code (1901), §§ 726, 733, 1071, 1072, 1074, 1081–1083; Nev. Comp. Laws (1900), §§ 4462, 4463; Foley v. People, 1 Ill. 57. Some constitutions, though substantially to the same effect, are worded differently throughout. Ind. Const. art. 1, § 17; Me. Const. art. 1, § 10; Oreg. Const. art. 1, § 14; R. I. Const. art. 1, § 9, which uses the words "unless for offences punishable by death or by imprisonment for life."

3. EXERCISE OF DISCRETION — a. Capital Offenses — (I) RULE STATED. Primarily the prisoner cannot demand bail as a matter of right where the offense is a capital one, since, upon ascertaining the character of the charge against the accused, the next question would be as to the degree of proof and the nature of the presumption of guilt.[3] The power, therefore, to admit to bail becomes a matter of judicial discretion in this class of cases.[4] This discretionary power should, however, be exercised with great caution.[5]

(II) NATURE AND DEGREE OF PROOF. As a general rule, bail should be denied whenever the trial court would sustain a verdict of conviction for a capital offense, if rendered on the same evidence given on the application for bail.[6] But this rule is not strictly followed, for it is declared that, under the liberal principles of the constitution, and the laws relating to bail, an application therefor will be allowed even in a case where the jury might and

3. But, where the proof is not evident nor the presumption of guilt great, it has been decided that bail should be allowed even in capital cases.

Alabama.— Ex p. King, 86 Ala. 620, 5 So. 863; Ex p. Dykes, 83 Ala. 114, 3 So. 306; Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646; Ex p. Acree, 63 Ala. 234; Ex p. Bryant, 34 Ala. 270; Ex p. Banks, 28 Ala. 89.

California.— People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77.

Colorado.— In re Losasso, 15 Colo. 163, 24 Pac. 1080, 10 L. R. A. 847.

Indiana.— Ex p. Richards, 102 Ind. 260, 1 N. E. 639; Ex p. Walton, 79 Ind. 600.

Kansas.— Matter of Malison, 36 Kan. 725, 14 Pac. 144.

Kentucky.— Ullery v. Com., 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 3.

Louisiana.— Governor v. Fay, 8 La. Ann. 490; State v. Roger, 7 La. Ann. 382; Langworth Praying for Writ of Habeas Corpus, 7 La. Ann. 247; Territory v. McFarlane, 1 Mart. (La.) 216, 5 Am. Dec. 706; Territory v. Benoit, 1 Mart. (La.) 141.

Ohio.— State v. Summons, 19 Ohio 139.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227.

Texas.— Ex p. Cosby, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 54 S. W. 587; Ex p. Hayes, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 1149; Ex p. Darter, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 770; Ex p. Jasef, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 421; Ex p. Thompson, (Tex. App. 1890) 15 S. W. 912. See also Ex p. Coldiron, 15 Tex. App. 464; Ruston v. State, 15 Tex. App. 324; Ex p. Albitz, 29 Tex. App. 128, 15 S. W. 173; In re Wilson, (Tex. App. 1890) 13 S. W. 609; Ex p. Beacom, 12 Tex. App. 318; Ex p. Randon, 12 Tex. App. 145; Ex p. Bomar, 9 Tex. App. 610; Thompson v. State, 25 Tex. Suppl. 395.

Wyoming.— State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 139.

Upon habeas corpus the court determines the amount of testimony proper to be heard and whether the petitioner should be allowed to give bail. State v. Herndon, 107 N. C. 934, 12 S. E. 268.

4. Matter of judicial discretion.— Ex p. Nettles, 58 Ala. 268; Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646; Ex p. McCrary, 22 Ala. 65; State v. Abbot, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 244; Ex p. Fortenberry, 53 Miss. 428; Street v. State, 43 Miss. 1; Beal v. State, 39 Miss. 715; Moore v. State, 36 Miss. 137; Ex p. Wray, 30 Miss. 673; People v. Hyler, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 570. In People v. Perry, 8 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 27, it is said that the power of the supreme court to admit to bail existed in all cases, but that whether it should be exercised was a matter of judicial discretion.

Property qualification.— In Ex p. Arthur, (Tex. Crim. 1898) 47 S. W. 365, it is held that one indicted for a capital felony, who proves that he has property of the value of five hundred dollars, is entitled to be admitted to such bail as will insure his presence at his trial.

5. Caution should be used.—State v. Rockafellow, 6 N. J. L. 332; State v. Hill, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 89, 1 Treadw. (S. C.) 242. Or there should be exceptional circumstances to justify allowance of bail. Ex p. Hamilton, 65 Miss. 147, 3 So. 241; Ex p. Bridewell, 57 Miss. 39. See also Ex p. Fortenberry, 53 Miss. 428.

As to the nature and degree of proof see infra, III, A, 3, a, (II).

In a new state where courts are not fully organized and there are no jails, the court will, in its discretion, admit persons to bail. People v. Smith, 1 Cal. 9.

6. Where verdict would be sustained upon same evidence.— Alabama.— Ex p. Richardson, 96 Ala. 110, 11 So. 316; Ex p. Sloane, 95 Ala. 22, 11 So. 14; Ex p. Bown, 65 Ala. 446; Ex p. Nettles, 58 Ala. 268; Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646.

California.— Matter of Troia, 64 Cal. 152, 28 Pac. 231.

Florida.— Thrasher v. State, 26 Fla. 526, 7 So. 847.

Mississippi.— Street v. State, 43 Miss. 1; Moore v. State, 36 Miss. 137; Ex p. Wray, 30 Miss. 673.

New York.— People v. Shattuck, 6 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 33.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227.

Texas.— Ex p. Foster, 5 Tex. App. 625, 32 Am. Rep. 577.

Wyoming.— State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 148.

perhaps ought upon the same evidence to render a verdict of guilty of murder.[7] In addition, the tendency of the courts has been rather toward a fair and liberal construction than otherwise of the law, in determining what degree of proof or conclusiveness of presumption is sufficient to justify a denial of bail. This is evident, not only from various expressions used in the decisions, many of which do not go to the extent of the general rule above stated, but also from a consideration of the facts upon which the courts have refused to allow bail.[8] Again, it has been declared that the constitutional clause "where the proof is evident or presumption great" indicates the same degree of certainty whether the

7. Rule not strictly followed.— Beall v. State, 39 Miss. 715. See People v. Baker, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 567. So upon evidence taken before the grand jury, and affidavits furnished by the prisoner, bail was allowed. People v. Porter, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 168 note.

8. Degree of proof and facts justifying denial of bail.—Alabama.—Where the homicide was committed in execution of a conspiracy. Ex p. Bonner, 100 Ala. 114, 14 So. 648. And so where murder is co mitted with a deadly weapon, unless the testimony which proved the killing proved also the justification. Ex p. Warrick, 73 Ala. 57. But the evidence should be clear and strong. Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646. And where the evidence is circumstantial it should exclude to a moral certainty every other hypothesis but that of guilt. Ex p. Acree, 63 Ala. 234. Again the court may deny bail if a capital conviction would be sustained on the evidence. Ex p. Nettles, 58 Ala. 268. So, by the common law bail was denied if there was no reasonable doubt of guilt, whether the felony was capital or not. Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646. And bail may be refused if the offense may be capitally punished, and the proof is evident, or the presumption great; that the jury may determine punishment shall be death or life-imprisonment does not make the offense less capital. Ex p. McCrary, 22 Ala. 65.

California.— Where the evidence points to accused and induces a belief that he may be guilty of murder. Ex p. Winthrop, (Cal. 1895) 40 Pac. 751. Where one, while resisting arrest, shoots an officer and attempts to escape. Ex p. Curtis, 92 Cal. 188, 28 Pac. 223.

Georgia.— The fact that the verdict of the coroner's jury does not charge felonious intent is not a ground for allowing bail, where the affidavits and depositions taken by the coroner and the committing magistrate in connection with the verdict show commission of a felony. State v. Abbot, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 244.

Indiana.— Shooting one, in the mistaken belief that he is another whom it would not have been murder to shoot, does not make the offense bailable. Brown v. State, 147 Ind. 28, 46 N. E. 34. See also Schmidt v. Simmons, 137 Ind. 93, 36 N. E. 516; Ex p. Colter, 35 Ind. 109.

Mississippi.—Ex p. Hamilton, 65 Miss. 147, 3 So. 241; Ex p. Bridewell, 57 Miss. 39. The provision that the jury may fix the punishment by death or life-imprisonment does not make the offense bailable. Ex p. Fortenberry, 53 Miss. 428.

Missouri.—Where defendant had threatened to kill any one who interfered with him, and there was proof of the killing, and of defendant's being seen bending over the body and then running away, and the accused offered no evidence. In re Bell, 113 Mo. 568, 21 S. W. 221.

New York.— Where the probability of conviction is so strong as to warrant the belief of the prisoner's flight. People v. Dixon, 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 395, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 651. So where it appears that there is probable cause for charging accused with murder (Matter of Collins, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 406); where guilt is past dispute (People v. Lohman, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 450); where there is good reason to believe guilt (People v. Restell, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 251); where guilt is past reasonable doubt (Ex p. Tayloe, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 39); where accused is found in actual possession of stolen property (People v. Ferris, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 19). See also People v. Budge, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 519, as to non-application of 2 N. Y. Rev. Stat. 568, § 58.

Pennsylvania.— In case of murder done in a riot where accused was one of the rioters, having full knowledge of their purpose and encouraging them. Com. v. O'Donnell, 2 Pa. Dist. 131, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 142, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. (Pa.) 76. See also Com. v. Megary, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 607; Com. v. McNall, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 423.

Texas.— Where the proof is sufficient to show murder in the first degree (Ex p. Wright, 39 Tex. Crim. 193, 45 S. W. 593); where there is proof of the commission of the offense and of defendant's guilt (Ex p. Epps, 35 Tex. Crim. 406, 34 S. W. 113). Threats against the life of accused made by deceased some time before the murder does not entitle him to bail. Ex p. Taylor, 33 Tex. Crim. 531, 28 S. W. 957. So bail will be refused where the testimony of a witness shows malice in the killing and accused could disprove the salient points of the testimony if untrue but does not (Price v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 26 S. W. 624); or where there is evidence of a quarrel, and so notwithstanding there is evidence of defendant's good reputation for peace (Randle v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 49). And bail will be denied where accused with others entered deceased's house evidently with intent to injure or kill him, even though accused did not fire the fatal shot. Ex p. Johnson, 30 Tex. App. 279, 17 S. W. 410. Nor evidence is direct or circumstantial: the design being to secure the right to bail in all cases except those in which the facts show with reasonable certainty that the prisoner is guilty of a capital offense.[9] Following out, therefore, these last-mentioned principles, and applying the evident intent of the law-makers, and of the fundamental law to the facts, the courts have in many cases allowed bail under what in their discretion seemed justifying circumstances.[10] does evidence of intoxication raise any doubt of criminal intent so as to entitle to bail. Ex p. Evers, 29 Tex. App. 539, 16 S. W. 343. But it is also said that the evidence of guilt should be satisfactory and conclusive. Ex p. Coldiron, 15 Tex. App. 464; Ruston v. State, 15 Tex. App. 324. In the following cases bail was also refused: Herrin v. State, 33 Tex. 638; Ex p. Mosby, 31 Tex. 566, 98 Am. Dec. 547; Cash v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 408; Ex p. Pace, (Tex. Crim. 1892) 20 S. W. 922.

Virginia.— If two distinct offenses are charged, an acquittal on one does not raise a presumption of innocence on the other. Summerfield v. Com., 2 Rob. (Va.) 767. Contra, Green v. Com., 11 Leigh (Va.) 709.

Wyoming.— Where judge could, upon the evidence, sustain a verdict of murder in the first degree. State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 161.

9. Same degree of certainty, whether evidence is direct or circumstantial.— McCoy v. State, 25 Tex. 33, 78 Am. Dec. 520; Drury v. State, 25 Tex. 45. And see further Ex p. Smith, 23 Tex. App. 100, 5 S. W. 99 [overruling Ex p. Foster, 5 Tex. App. 625, 32 Am. Rep. 577].

10. Degree of proof and facts justifying the allowance of bail.— Alabama.— Deceased being the aggressor. Ex p. King, 86 Ala. 620, 5 So. 863. Where there was doubt whether death was by suicide, accident, or violence of another, there being no evidence on the prisoner's behalf. Ex p. Hammock, 78 Ala. 414. So (at common law) accused is entitled to bail if the evidence of guilt is not strong (Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 496, 25 Am. Rep. 646), or if a well-founded doubt of guilt exists (Ex p. Bryant, 34 Ala. 270; Ex p. Banks, 28 Ala. 89; Ex p. Simonton, 9 Port. (Ala.) 39, 33 Am. Dec. 320).

California.— Where there was nothing to show an intent to kill, death having followed an attempt to procure abortion. Ex p. Wolff, 57 Cal. 94.

Florida.— Where only a "probability" of guilt is shown. Gainey v. State, (Fla. 1900) 29 So. 405.

Georgia.— State v. Wicks, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 139.

Indiana.— Where the killing was in sudden heat and without previous acquaintance with deceased (Ex p. Hock, 63 Ind. 206), or where it is not clear that there was sufficient time between the provocation and the killing for passion to cool and reason to resume control or that the killing was malicious (Ex p. Moore, 30 Ind. 197).

Kansas.— Evidence of a quarrel, and an offer of deceased to fight accused if he would take the rocks out of his pocket, does not raise a presumption of guilt precluding bail. State v. Bell, (Kan. App. 1898) 54 Pac. 504. Nor should bail be denied upon testimony that deceased, having heard some one call, came to where accused was holding a person and was shot by the defendant, no reason being shown therefor. State v. Start, (Kan. App. 1898) 54 Pac. 22.

Kentucky.— Ready v. Com., 9 Dana (Ky.) 38.

Mississippi.— Where the evidence tends to show that another, who had been jointly indicted with petitioner, and who had been tried and convicted, was alone guilty. Ex p. Jack, (Miss. 1897) 22 So. 188. Upon evidence of a quarrel and facts tending to show a killing in self-defense. Ex p. Patterson, (Miss. 1897) 22 So. 186. Where the evidence is circumstantial and an alibi is relied on (Ex p. Catron, (Miss. 1897) 21 So. 1029), or where it is improbable that the alleged rape was committed by accused (Ex p. Manley, (Miss. 1896) 20 So. 1023), or where the testimony of fourteen witnesses for the state failed to disclose any criminality (Ex p. Floyd, 60 Miss. 913), or where there was a reasonable doubt whether accused committed the crime (Ex p. Bridewell, 57 Miss. 39).

Missouri.— Where the killing was after deceased had drawn his pistol and threatened to kill accused. Ex p. Goans, 99 Mo. 193, 12 S. W. 635, 17 Am. St. Rep. 571. Compare Shore v. State, 6 Mo. 640.

New York.— If it is evident that accused is guilty of no higher offense than manslaughter, even though the warrant calls it murder. People v. Sheriff Westchester County, 2 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 324, 10 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 298. Although by a verdict of a third jury the offense is murder, two former juries having adjudged it manslaughter where the state raises no objection to allowance of bail. People v. Van Horne, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 158. Bail is not, however, a matter of right in manslaughter, but of discretion (Ex p. Tayloe, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 39; People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 443); but if the proof is indifferent as to guilt or innocence, bail will be granted (People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 443).

Pennsylvania.— If the court is satisfied that accused is not guilty. Com. v. Lemley, 2 Pittsb. (Pa.) 362.

Texas.— Merely showing that death resulted from an abortion. Ex p. Fatheree, 34 Tex. Crim. App. 594, 31 S. W. 403. Where accused was in fear of his life from continued threats of deceased, and other facts tended to justify the shooting. Ex p. Rankin, 30 Tex. App. 71, 20 S. W. 202. Where there is no positive identification of accused and evidence only of a belief that they were the persons who did the shooting. Ex p. Moore, (Tex. App. 1891) 16 S. W. 764. Where there is sufficient proof of present danger to raise the belief of killing in self-defense. Ex p. Hope, 29 Tex. App. 189, 15 S. W. 602. Where accused was so drunk that he did not know what he did or said. Ex p. Bates, 29 Tex. App. 138, 15 S. W. 406. Where the testimony was mostly circumstantial and no sufficient motive appeared and many of the witnesses for the state were prejudiced. In re Foulk, (Tex. App. 1890) 13 S. W. 746. Where accused was not aware of the official character or purpose of a constable whom he killed while making his arrest. In re Johnson, (Tex. App. 1889) 12 S. W. 504. Where the evidence was of self-defense. Ex p. Hanson, 27 Tex. App. 591, 11 S. W. 641. Where there was a quarrel, and it does not appear who drew his weapon first. Ex p. Suddath, 25 Tex. App. 426, 8 S. W. 479. Where there was no direct evidence and the proof tended to show motive on the part of another. Ex p. Kunde, 22 Tex. App. 418, 3 S. W. 332. Where there is doubt whether deceased committed suicide or was murdered. Ex p. Schamberger, 19 Tex. App. 572. For further illustrations of the allowance of bail on charge of murder see Bean v. Mathieu, 33 Tex. 591; In re Puryear, (Tex. App. 1889) 11 S. W. 32; Ex p. Rice, 26 Tex. App. 343, 9 S. W. 615; Ex p. Jones, 26 Tex. App. 597, 10 S. W. 114; Ex p. Smith, 26 Tex. App. 134, 9 S. W. 359; Ex p. Gallaher, 25 Tex. App. 455, 8 S. W. 481; Ex p. Henson, 24 Tex. App. 305, 5 S. W. 684; Ex p. McDowell, 23 Tex. App. 679, 5 S. W. 187; Ex p. Hay, 23 Tex. App. 585, 5 S. W. 98; Ex p. O'Connor, 22 Tex. App. 660, 3 S. W. 340; Ex p. Allen, 22 Tex. App. 201, 2 S. W. 588; Ex p. Bryant, 21 Tex. App. 639, 2 S. W. 891; Ex p. Williams, 18 Tex. App. 653; Ex p. Matlock, 18 Tex. App. 227. Examine also for general statement of the rule Ex p. Wilson, 20 Tex. App. 498; Ex p. Terry, 20 Tex. App. 486; Ex p. Dickson, 20 Tex. App. 332; Ex p. Cochran, 20 Tex. App. 242; Ex p. Boyett, 19 Tex. App. 17.

(iii) Conflict of Evidence. In many of the decisions considered under the preceding notes there has been a conflict of evidence upon the question of guilt, but outside of these it has been expressly decided that, where there is a conflict of evidence as to the state of mind of the accused at the time of the act of alleged homicide, the proof cannot be said to be "evident" so as to preclude admission to bail.[11]

(iv) Burden of Proof. Upon a petition for release on bail the petitioner must bring himself within the law under which he claims the right to bail, and this rule obviously casts upon him the burden of proof in homicide or capital cases to either overcome the presumption of guilt arising from the indictment, or of showing that the proof is not evident and the presumption not great.[12]

Virginia.— An acquittal in one case where several indictments are based on one criminal offense affords a presumption of innocence entitling petitioner to bail. Green v. Com., 11 Leigh (Va.) 709. But see Summerfield v. Com., 2 Rob. (Va.) 767.

Wyoming.— Where the evidence is not sufficient to warrant the court to sustain a verdict of conviction. State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681, holding also that an indictment is not conclusive evidence of guilt.

United States.— If it is clear to the judge that a conviction should not take place. U. S. v. Marshal District Columbia, 2 Hayw. & H. (U. S.) 205, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,726*a*.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 160 et seq.

11. Ex p. Miller, 41 Tex. 213. See also Ex p. Heffren, 27 Ind. 87; Ex p. Suddath, 25 Tex. App. 426, 8 S. W. 479.

But such conflict of evidence on habeas corpus does not necessarily imply that the proof is not "evident," for the evidence is to be considered in its entirety, and if in such view a reasonable doubt of guilt is not engendered, it is decided that bail should be refused. Ex p. Smith, 23 Tex. App. 100, 5 S. W. 99.

12. Alabama.— Ex p. Hammock, 78 Ala. 414; Ex p. Rhear, 77 Ala. 92; Ex p. Vaughan, 44 Ala. 417.

California.— Matter of Troia, 64 Cal. 152, 28 Pac. 231. See also People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77.

Florida.— Rigdon v. State, 41 Fla. 308, 26 So. 711.

Indiana.— Brown v. State, 147 Ind. 28, 46 N. E. 34; Ex p. Jones, 55 Ind. 176; Ex p. Heffren, 27 Ind. 87.

Nevada.— See Ex p. Finlen, 20 Nev. 141, 18 Pac. 827.

New Jersey.— State v. Mairs, 1 N. J. L. 335, where rule was applied to a case of mayhem.

New York.— People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 434.

Texas.— Ex p. Jones, 31 Tex. Crim. 422, 20 S. W. 983; Ex p. Johnson, 30 Tex. App. 279, 17 S. W. 410; Ex p. Smith, 23 Tex. App. 100, 5 S. W. 99; Ex p. Beacom, 12 Tex. App. 318; Ex p. Randon, 12 Tex. App. 145; Ex p. Scoggin, 6 Tex. App. 546.

Utah.— Ex p. Springer, 1 Utah 214.

Wyoming.— State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 161 et seq.

Under other decisions, however, the burden of proof has been placed upon the state to show that the offense is a capital one, and that the proof is evident, even though the statute gives the relator in habeas corpus the right to open and close the argument.

b. Offenses Not Capital — (i) General Rule. Under most constitutions the right to bail exists in other than capital offenses, independently of the discretion of courts or officers, being placed by the fundamental law, in cases not within the exception, beyond the power of either legislative or judicial interposition to the contrary. But in the absence of a constitutional prohibition it is within the legislative power to at least substantially abridge or modify the common-law right to bail.[13] The first question therefore in legal contemplation on an application for bail is whether the offense is of a character within the constitutional exception,[14] and if the offense is made capital by statute such enactments must be constitutional.[15]

(ii) Rule Not Absolute. The rule just stated is not absolute and unqualified in its application to bailable and non-bailable offenses, since some constitutions provide only against excessive bail. Again there are various statutory provisions which are constitutional and which relate to such offenses or which fix the degree of the crime within the constitutional exception.[16]

Ex p. Newman, 38 Tex. Crim. 164, 41 S. W. 628, 70 Am. St. Rep. 740; Ex p. Bramer, 37 Tex. 1.

13. Alabama.— Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561. See also Taylor v. Smith, 104 Ala. 537, 16 So. 629; Callahan v. State, 60 Ala. 65; Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646; Jones v. State, 63 Ala. 161; Hammons v. State, 59 Ala. 164, 31 Am. Rep. 13; Ex p. Bryant, 34 Ala. 270.

California.— People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77.

Illinois.— Lewis v. People, 18 Ill. App. 76; Foley v. People, 1 Ill. 57.

Louisiana.— Governor v. Fay, 8 La. Ann. 490; State v. Roger, 7 La. Ann. 382; Longworth Praying for Writ of Habeas Corpus, 7 La. Ann. 247.

Michigan.— Daniels v. People, 6 Mich. 381.

Mississippi.— Street v. State, 43 Miss. 1; Ex p. Wray, 30 Miss. 673. See also Hill v. State, 64 Miss. 431, 1 So. 494; Ex p. Dyson, 25 Miss. 356.

Nebraska.— Ford v. State, 42 Nebr. 418, 60 N. W. 960, holding that the statutory right to bail is merely declaratory of the common law, and that neither the rights of the parties nor the practice are thereby changed.

Ohio.— Hampton v. State, 42 Ohio St. 401. See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 153.

14. Ex p. McAnally, 53 Ala. 495, 25 Am. Rep. 646; Ex p. McCrary, 22 Ala. 65.

15. People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77; State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681.

Constitutional right of trial by jury is not abridged by a statute authorizing a police judge to hold the prisoner to bail before the proper court in cases where the offense is one which he cannot adequately punish. Stevens v. Anderson, 145 Ind. 304, 44 N. E. 460. But see People v. Johnson, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 322; People v. Kennedy, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 312, as to right of trial by jury in cases of misdemeanor not being taken away by implication.

16. Bailable offenses.— Bail will ordinarily be granted in all cases not capital (State v. McNab, 20 N. H. 160), including misdemeanors (Taylor v. Smith, 104 Ala. 537, 16 So. 629; Callahan v. State, 60 Ala. 65; Jones v. State, 63 Ala. 161; Hammons v. State, 59 Ala. 164, 31 Am. Rep. 13; Com. v. Yancy, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 375). See People v. Johnson, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 322; People v. Kennedy, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 312; Golden v. State, 32 Tex. 737; Reg. v. Badger, 4 Q. B. 468, D. & M. 375, 7 Jur. 216, 12 L. J. M. C. 66, 45 E. C. L. 468.

Among offenses held to be bailable are the following:

Abortion, even though death resulted. Ex p. Fathieree, 34 Tex. Crim. 594, 31 S. W. 403.

Assault and battery, even though there is a danger of death therefrom. State v. Judge Twenty-First Judicial Dist. Ct., 48 La. Ann. 92, 18 So. 902; Dunlap v. Bartlett, 10 Gray (Mass.) 282, 69 Am. Dec. 320.

Horse stealing. Rex v. ———, 2 Chit. 110, 18 E. C. L. 537.

Larceny. Foley v. People, 1 Ill. 57; Ex p. Burkham, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 974.

Passing counterfeit money. Barton v. Keith, 2 Hill (S. C.) 537, but bailed before commitment.

Rape. People v. Burwell, 106 Mich. 27, 63 N. W. 986 (even though the punishment is imprisonment for life which is within the exception of 2 Howell's Anno. Stat. Mich. § 9479, where the constitutional exceptions are only murder and treason. Mich. Const. art. 6, § 29); Ex p. Manley, (Miss. 1896) 20 So. 1023 (depending upon the proof of guilt).

Shooting with intent to kill. Com. v. Yancy, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 375.

Treason. U. S. v. Hamilton, 3 Dall. (U. S.) 17, 1 L. ed. 490; Davis' Case, Chase (U. S.) 1, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,621*a*, 3 Am. L. Rev. 368.

Offenses not bailable.— If the warrant contains a specific charge of an offense not bailable the prisoner cannot be discharged. State v. Everett, Dudley (S. C.) 295. Although mayhem may be bailable, yet if the indictment charge it to be enormous, and there are no circumstances raising a presumption of the innocence, bail will be refused. State v. Mairs, 1 N. J. L. 335. So robbery when made a capital offense by statute may not be bailable. Ex p. Epps, 35 Tex. Crim. 406, 34

4. Matters Affecting Right — a. In General. The right to bail is often affected by certain elements more or less important, depending upon the provisions of the law and the attendant circumstances. Thus it has been held that the abolition of capital punishment,[17] the age of the prisoner,[18] and his health and physical condition,[19] may be considered as elements bearing upon or controlling the right of admission to bail. But neither the prisoner's agreement to turn state's evidence,[20] nor alleged financial ruin by reason of his confinement and his wife's frail and delicate physical condition,[21] nor his poverty constitute sufficient ground for allowance of bail.[22]

b. Breach of Prior Bond. Breach of prior bond may preclude the prisoner being admitted to further bail or recognizance in the same case,[23] except upon

S. W. 113, as where the proof shows the defendant guilty within the statute. Carnal intercourse with a female who is under fifteen years of age, and who is not accused's wife, precludes bail. Ex p. Cotton, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 53 S. W. 632. Nor is assault with intent to kill bailable as a matter of right where the person wounded is in danger of dying within a year and a day unless the accused can show that he would be entitled to bail, even if death should ensue (Ex p. Andrews, 19 Ala. 582); and under such facts he will not be discharged until the danger is over (Com. v. Trask, 15 Mass. 277). An application to be permitted to give bail to await the action of the grand jury, where there is a violation of the excise law, may be refused. People v. Batten, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 721, 17 N. Y. St. 234. So one charged with an offense above petit larceny cannot demand bail as a matter of right. People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 434. Counterfeiting may be bailable or not in the court's discretion. State v. Howell, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 120. Where rape is punishable by statute, with death or life-imprisonment, bail will not be allowed. Ex p. Dusenberry, 97 Mo. 504, 11 S. W. 217. As to non-bailable offenses see also Ex p. Bonner, 100 Ala. 114, 14 So. 648; Ex p. Richardson, 96 Ala. 110, 11 So. 316; Ex p. Sloane, 95 Ala. 22, 11 So. 14; Ex p. Turner, 112 Cal. 627, 45 Pac. 571; Chan Gun v. U. S., 9 App. Cas. (D. C.) 290; Thrasher v. State, 26 Fla. 526, 7 So. 847; State v. Madison County Ct., 136 Mo. 323, 37 S. W. 1126; In re Bell, 113 Mo. 568, 21 S. W. 221; Ford v. State, 42 Nebr. 418, 60 N. W. 960; In re Boulter, 5 Wyo. 263, 39 Pac. 875.

Accomplice not entitled to bail where the crime is murder, and he has testified for the government, and there has been no trial or conviction. Ex p. Birch, 8 Ill. 134.

In cases of felony it has been held in some cases that the right to bail is not absolute but rests in court's discretion. People v. Van Horne, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 158; People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 434.

17. Abolition of capital punishment.— Matter of Perry, 19 Wis. 676, holding that the abolition of capital punishment will entitle persons charged with murder to bail in all cases.

18. Age of prisoner.— Ex p. Walker, 28 Tex. App. 246, 13 S. W. 861, construing Tex. Pen. Code, arts. 35, 609, and holding that one under seventeen years of age who commits murder will be admitted to bail.

19. Health and physical condition of prisoner.— The court will, upon a proper showing, admit the prisoner to bail where his health and physical condition is such as to justify the belief that continued imprisonment would probably result fatally, or at least endanger his life, or be ultimately dangerous thereto; otherwise, relief has generally been refused, except perhaps where there are other matters which, in connection with such bad health or disease, might warrant letting to bail. For this reason bail was allowed in In re Ward, 127 Cal. 489, 59 Pac. 894, 47 L. R. A. 466; Ex p. Azhderian, 123 Cal. 512, 56 Pac. 1130; Ex p. Wheeler, (Miss. 1898) 24 So. 261; Archer's Case, 6 Gratt. (Va.) 705; Com. v. Semmes, 11 Leigh (Va.) 696; Thomas v. State, 40 Tex. 6; U. S. v. Jones, 3 Wash. (U. S.) 224, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,495. Bail was not allowed for this cause in Lester v. State, 33 Ga. 192; Ex p. Pattison, 56 Miss. 161; Cole's Case, 4 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 280; Ex p. Meador, (Tex. Crim. 1892) 20 S. W. 371.

Insanity.— Bail should be refused where plea of not guilty and present insanity is entered. People v. Watson, 14 Misc. (N. Y.) 430, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 852, 70 N. Y. St. 327. But it is also determined that, after indictment, the accused is entitled to bail if the testimony as to his insanity, that being the issue, is such as to induce the belief that the "proof is evident or presumption great." Zembrod v. State, 25 Tex. 519. See Ex p. Miller, 41 Tex. 213.

20. Agreement to turn state's evidence.— Ex p. Greenhaw, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 53 S. W. 1024, wherein it is held that an agreement of a state's attorney to grant an accomplice in a capital offense immunity from punishment, and to admit him to bail when he should have reasonably complied with his agreement to give evidence for the state is ultra as to the promise to let to bail, and he is merely relegated to his rights under the statute as to bail.

21. Prisoner's financial condition and his wife's frail health.— Hill v. State, 64 Miss. 431, 1 So. 494.

22. Prisoner's poverty.— Matter of Jahn, 55 Kan. 694, 41 Pac. 956. This fact of poverty also goes to the amount of bail under which heading it is considered herein. See also Ex p. Lewis, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 38 S. W. 1150; and infra, III, E.

23. Allen's Case, 126 Mass. 224, also holding the statute applicable where a recogni-reasonable excuse being shown for such default, and a statute so providing is constitutional.[24]

c. Status and Progress of Case[25]— (i) After Indictment Found. As a rule, in cases not within the constitutional or statutory exceptions, bail will be refused after indictment found.[26] This rule is not, however, enforced in all jurisdictions exclusive of circumstances entitling to bail, and some decisions hold that bail is a matter of right upon a proper showing.[27]

(ii) Continuance or Delay of Trial. While it has been held that one charged with a capital offense is entitled to bail as a matter of right in case of zance to answer any indictment for the same offense has been defaulted, and defendant asks to be permitted to recognize anew.

24. Extent and limits of rule.— Bail has been denied where the prisoner, convicted and imprisoned for an offense in one county, has escaped and been arraigned in another county for a similar offense committed after such escape. State v. Burrows, Kirby (Conn.) 259. But bail has been granted by the higher court where accused has been charged with a lesser offense than the one on which there was a breach of a prior bond, since the question relating to such breach was for the lower court. State v. Judge Twenty-First Judicial Dist. Ct., 48 La. Ann. 95, 18 So. 904. And in Lee's Case, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,180, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 96, 22 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 284, it is held that one does not forfeit his right to be liberated on bail by a breach of a prior bond; but that the court should always exercise caution as to the amount of the bond and number of sureties.

25. The right to bail sometimes depends upon the status or progress of the case. The words "before conviction" appear in some of the constitutional provisions relating to the time within which bail may be demanded. See infra, notes 26 et seq.

Delay in finding an indictment after commitment for assault with intent to kill does not entitle the accused to bail as a matter of right, where a year and a day has not elapsed and the wounded person still lives, unless it also appears that defendant would be so entitled if death should ensue within such period of time. Ex p. Andrews, 19 Ala. 582.

Examination postponed.—Bail has been allowed where there is adjournment of an examination of a person arrested in one state for the crime of murder in the second degree committed in another state. State v. Hufford, 23 Iowa 579.

26. General rule supported.— Alabama.— Always refused at common law in capital cases. Ex p. Bryant, 34 Ala. 270.

Iowa.— Hight v. U. S., Morr. (Iowa) 407, 43 Am. Dec. 111.

Missouri.— State v. Madison County Ct., 136 Mo. 323, 37 S. W. 1126.

New York.— People v. Van Horne, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 158.

Ohio.— Kendle v. Tarbell, 24 Ohio St. 196; Martin v. State, 17 Ohio Cir. Ct. 406, 9 Ohio Cir. Dec. 621, where indictment was for murder, but it appeared that the trial had been fixed for an early day and that was evidently the main reason for refusing bail.

United States.— U. S. v. Jones, 3 Wash. (U. S.) 224, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,495; U. S. v. Burr, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,693.

England.— 1 Bacon Abr. 581; Petersdorf Bail, 270, 521; Reg. v. Guttridge, 9 C. & P. 228, 38 E. C. L. 143; Reg. v. Chapman, 8 C. & P. 558, 34 E. C. L. 890; Rex v. Marks, 3 East 157; Rex v. Mohun, 1 Salk. 104; Lester's Case, 1 Salk. 103.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 142.

Not discharged without bail after indictment.— Parker v. State, 5 Tex. App. 579; Hernandez v. State, 4 Tex. App. 425.

27. Rule not strictly enforced.— Alabama. — Ex p. Williams, 114 Ala. 29, 22 So. 446 (holding that bail is a matter of right upon a proper petition and evidence, under Ala. Crim. Code (1886), §§ 142, 4415, 4417, the case being an indictment for murder in the first degree); Ex p. Howard, 30 Ala. 43 (holding it a matter of right, but the indictment was for homicide of a slave).

California.— People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77.

Illinois.— Sloan v. People, 23 Ill. 77, bail allowed at any time after indictment without waiting for a warrant to arrest, the prisoner being in the sheriff's custody.

Indiana.— Brown v. State, 147 Ind. 28, 46 N. E. 34; Ex p. Jones, 55 Ind. 176.

New York.— People v. Van Horne, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 158, holding that there are circumstances arising after indictment justifying allowance of bail. See also Gorsline's Case, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 282, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 85 (holding that it is only a prisoner who has been committed that can be bailed on habeas corpus); People v. Porter, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 168 note (as to power under certain circumstances to admit to bail after indictment for murder).

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Lemley, 2 Pittsb. (Pa.) 362; Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227.

Wyoming.— State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681.

England.— Bail allowed on charge of manslaughter by coroner's jury. Rex v. Mills, 4 N. & M. 6, 30 E. C. L. 573.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 142.

A statute has been decided to be unconstitutional where it provides that no person under indictment for a capital offense shall be admitted to bail after indictment. State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681, the only exception in the constitution [Wyo. Const. art. 1, § 14] being "capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great."

undue delay or continuance of the trial, when such delay was without the accused's fault or assent, and so even though there had been a prior continuance at his request,[28] and that the accused may insist upon his right to be discharged on bail on account of a premature unauthorized adjournment of the term[29] at which he was properly triable,[30] a majority of the decisions are to the effect that bail in such cases is not a matter of right, where there is a justifiable cause for such continuances or delay;[31] but the delay to prosecute should not operate oppressively,[32] nor should the trial be unreasonably delayed.[33] It has, however, been decided that the accused is not entitled to a release where the delay or continuance has been at his request and for his benefit;[34] and that bail will not be allowed where the inability of the state to proceed to trial is occasioned by the accused's acts.[35] So too it has been held in some cases that bail will not be allowed even though the continuance or delay is at the state's instance or through its fault,[36] or is occasioned by illegalities relating to the indictment,[37] or irregulari-

28. Ex p. Stiff, 18 Ala. 464, where the cause was continued at one term on account of the incompetency of the judge to try the accused, and at the succeeding term by the state.

Where there is a statutory right to bail in a capital case, if more than one continuance has been granted to the state, accused is entitled to bail at the same term, whereat the second continuance was granted and he is entitled to be so admitted without any formal demand for a trial. Ex p. Walker, 3 Tex. App. 668.

29. "Term" means an actual session available for trial, and all circumstances of physical, moral, or legal necessity which prevent trial are exceptions which take a case out of the statute. Com. v. Brown, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 370, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 430.

30. Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561, even though he was in a distant prison and it was unsafe to remove him on account of his wounds, and although he made no application for trial, and might have continued his trial on account of his condition.

31. Good cause for delay or continuance.— As where the continuances were four in number, twice on account of defects in the venire or the service, once for want of time, and once for sickness of the judge. Ex p. Carroll, 36 Ala. 300. So, where there has been a change of venue which set aside the first continuance, a second continuance in the court of the state where transferred does not entitle to bail as of right. Ex p. Johnson, 18 Ala. 414. And although bail is not a statutory matter of right where one accused of a capital offense is not tried at the term at which he was first triable, by reason of non-attendance of the state's witnesses, "where an affidavit is made, satisfactorily accounting for their absence," yet the court is not obligated to admit accused to bail where such affidavit is not made, but it may be permitted to be made on habeas corpus. Ex p. Chaney, 8 Ala. 424. Nor does long delay give an absolute right to bail, but the court may consider whether it will let to bail and may consider the prisoner's escape after indictment as a factor. State ex rel. Vickers, 47 La. Ann. 662, 17 So. 296. And although the statute provides that the cause may be continued from term to term, and the accused bailed on his own undertaking, or discharged, it is not obligatory as a matter of right to compel admission to bail. Ex p. Lowrie, 4 Utah 177, 7 Pac. 493.

Constitutionality of statute.— An enactment providing that bail is not a matter of right where defendant is not tried at the first term, but that if he is not tried at the second term he may claim to be discharged unless the failure to try is occasioned by his own fault or misfortune, or on his application, or with his assent, is not in conflict with the constitution. Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561.

32. Delay should not operate oppressively. — State v. Abbot, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 244. One charged with felony is entitled to bail where trial is delayed unless the state's witnesses could not be produced, or the defendant assented to the delay. Ex p. Simonton, 9 Port. (Ala.) 390, 33 Am. Dec. 320.

33. Delay should not be unreasonable.— People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77.

So a long delay at the instance of the prosecution authorizes the exercise of the court's discretion as to bail. Territory v. McFarlane, 1 Mart. (La.) 216, 5 Am. Dec. 706. And unless the count with which accused is charged is within the excepted cases his trial cannot be delayed from term to term without bail being allowed. Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561; Com. v. Phillips, 16 Mass. 423; State v. Buyck, 2 Bay (S. C.) 563.

34. For benefit of accused.— U. S. v. Stewart, 2 Dall. (U. S.) 343, 1 L. ed. 408, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,401, Whart. St. Tr. 172, even though he announces his readiness to proceed to trial at the close of the trial term before adjournment.

35. Fault of accused.— Com. v. Philadelphia County Prison, 4 Brewst. (Pa.) 320, absence of material witnesses through the accused's procurement.

36. At instance of state.— State v. Butler, 40 La. Ann. 3, 3 So. 350, a case of capital offense. As a continuance for want of witnesses. State v. Holmes, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 272; U. S. v. Jones, 3 Wash. (U. S.) 224, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,495.

37. Illegalities as to indictment.— State v. Villeré, 41 La. Ann. 572, 6 So. 827.

ties in procuring the continuance,[38] or where the delay is short,[39] and especially where the state interposes no obstacle to a speedy trial.[40]

(III) During Trial. Where the accused is free on bail he may be ordered into actual custody during the trial of the case.[41] Nor will bail be allowed during adjournments of the daily sessions of the court;[42] nor will accused be admitted to bail during the progress of a new trial after reversal of a conviction of murder.[43]

(IV) Upon Conviction. The right to admit to bail after conviction, before sentence, has been decided not to be taken away by the words "before conviction" in the constitution.[44] It has also been held that it is a matter of discretion with the supreme court on habeas corpus, notwithstanding an inflexible rule of the trial court, not to admit any person convicted of felony to bail;[45] and that a prisoner may be admitted to bail after conviction to appear and abide the sentence of the court, in cases not capital,[46] where the record of conviction is not made up and the court has nothing before it on which to proceed for sentence,[47] or where the execution of the sentence is suspended;[48] and it is held that this discretion may be exercised after conviction of an infamous offense,[49] or upon conviction of manslaughter and recommendation to mercy.[50] But bail will not be granted in any such case as a matter of right;[51] nor after conviction of murder where the statute so prohibits;[52] nor in capital cases.[53]

(V) Upon Mistrial. A mistrial does not give one accused of a capital offense an absolute right to bail, although it may, in connection with other circumstances, constitute proper matter for the exercise of the court's discretion as to allowing bail,[54] and this is true as to a disagreement of the jury which does not

38. Irregularities in procuring continuance. — Ex p. Campbell, 20 Ala. 89, where continuance was procured on the unsworn statement of the prosecutor.

39. Short delay.— State v. Butler, 40 La. Ann. 3, 3 So. 350.

40. State v. Villeré, 41 La. Ann. 572, 6 So. 827.

41. Court may order into custody.— People v. Williams, 59 Cal. 674.

Court should order into custody.— People v. Beauchamp, 49 Cal. 41.

Such power is not restricted by a previous allowance of bail by another court. Adkins v. Com., 98 Ky. 539, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1091, 33 S. W. 948, 32 L. R. A. 108.

The accused remains in custody during a trial for felony, unless, as authorized by some statutes, his bail consent in court to his remaining on bail. White v. Com., 80 Ky. 480 (where accused was, upon compliance with the statute and under the claim that his freedom was necessary to the preparation of his defense, allowed continuance of his bail); Willis v. Com., 7 Ky L. Rep. 229 (holding also that trial does not begin until jury has been selected and explaining the meaning of the words "during trial").

42. During adjournments.— Com. v. Rusk, 7 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 486.

43. During progress of new trial.— Hull v. Reilly, 87 Mich. 497, 49 N. W. 869.

44. State v. Levy, 24 Minn. 362. But see Ex p. Ezell, 40 Tex. 451, 19 Am. Rep. 32. Compare State v. Vion, 12 La. Ann. 688, construing Louisiana constitution and holding that a bond given for the appearance of the accused after he has been convicted of larceny is null, and the surety on such a bond will be discharged.

45. Discretion of supreme court.— Ex p. Smith, 89 Cal. 79, 26 Pac. 638, under Cal. Pen. Code, § 1272.

46. In cases not capital.— Davis v. State, 6 How. (Miss.) 399; Hampton v. State, 42 Ohio St. 401; State v. Connor, 2 Bay (S. C.) 34; U. S. v. Greenwood, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 186, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,260.

47. Where record is not made up.— McNeill's Case, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 72; Col. & C. Cas. (N. Y.) 175, a case of conspiracy.

48. Execution suspended.—State v. Smith, 3 N. C. 50.

49. After conviction of infamous offense. — State v. Satterwhite, 20 S. C. 536, holding, however, that the court should, in such cases, exercise great caution. Contra, State v. Connor, 2 Bay (S. C.) 34.

50. Upon recommendation to mercy after conviction of manslaughter. State v. Frink, 1 Bay (S. C.) 168.

51. Not as a matter of right.— Ex p. Brown, 68 Cal. 176, 8 Pac. 829. Nor before judgment, and a verdict of "guilty" constitutes conviction. See People v. Dixon. 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 395, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 651.

No constitutional right.— It has also been held that there exists no constitutional right to bail after conviction. State v. Vion, 12 La. Ann. 688; Hill v. State, 64 Miss. 431, 1 So. 494; Ex p. Dyson, 25 Miss. 356. And see U. S. v. Devlin, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,955, 7 Int. Rev. Rec. 44. But see Ex p. Smith, 89 Cal. 79, 26 Pac. 638.

52. Baldwin v. Westenhaver, 75 Iowa 547, 39 N. W. 882.

53. Hampton v. State, 42 Ohio St. 401.

54. Mistrials.— State ex rel. Vickers, 47 La. Ann. 662, 17 So. 296. See also Territory v. McFarlane, 1 Mart. (La.) 216, 5 Am. Dec. 706; Ex p. Pattison, 56 Miss. 161.

entitle the prisoner to be bailed as of course,[55] although the failure of two successive juries to agree is a circumstance strongly showing the lack of sufficient evidence within the reasoning of the fundamental law as to bailable offenses. It does not, however, preclude the court on habeas corpus from inquiring into the sufficiency of the proof.[56]

(VI) Where Appeal, Error, or Motion For New Trial Is Pending. The decisions are not in harmony as to the admission to bail pending an appeal, or writ of error, etc., and it is difficult to deduce any general rule of value, for the reason that the nature of the offense and the constitutional and statutory provisions governing the particular case should be considered, involving, as they necessarily must do, the construction and validity of enactments relating to such proceedings.[57] It would seem, however, that, in a majority of jurisdictions, bail will be permitted where the offense is not of a character wherein the right to bail is precluded by the constitution or statute, or where there is no express provision of the law, especially including appeal, error, and similar proceedings, as those in which bail should not be allowed. Provided, however, that in those cases where bail has been granted the matter has generally rested upon the court's discretion under the evidence, in the absence of a mandatory statute making bail substantially a matter of right on appeal, etc., and even then it appears that ordinarily much must depend upon the circumstances.[58] There are, however, many

55. Disagreements of juries.— State ex rel. Vickers, 47 La. Ann. 662, 17 So. 296 (holding also that the disagreement merely affords in connection with other testimony matter for consideration); Cole's Case, 4 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 280; State v. Summons, 19 Ohio 139; Webb v. State, 4 Tex. App. 167 (for the reason that such disagreement is not of itself exclusively indicative that the proof of guilt is not "evident").

56. Disagreement of two successive juries. — Matter of Alexander, 59 Mo. 598, 21 Am. Rep. 393.

Whether or not public justice is more securely protected by refusing than accepting bail is a question which should be considered.

California.—Ex p. McLaughlin, 41 Cal. 211, 10 Am. Rep. 272, where the prisoner was charged with murder, and, after being confined seven months, was tried, jury disagreed, and was discharged over defendant's objection and bail was allowed.

Missouri.— Ex p. Goans, 99 Mo. 193, 12 S. W. 635, 17 Am. St. Rep. 571, where the disagreement was considered in connection with other evidence as a factor bearing on the allowance of bail.

New York.— People v. Perry, 8 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 27 (where bail was allowed after two disagreements); Cole's Case, 4 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 280 (the trial was for murder and the jury disagreed; the prosecution promptly moved a second trial; the proofs against the prisoner were of a grave character and there was no satisfactory evidence that he was unable to bear the confinement and bail was denied).

Ohio.— State v. Summons, 19 Ohio 139, where the question was considered but bail was held allowable in the court's discretion if the facts justified.

Texas.— Ex p. England, 23 Tex. App. 90, 3 S. W. 714, where bail was allowed.

57. Construction and constitutionality of statutes.— Where "corporal punishment" is among the statutory exceptions of the right to bail pending review, such words do not include imprisonment. Ritchey v. People, 22 Colo. 251, 43 Pac. 1026. And a statute which provides that upon appeal by defendant in cases of felony he shall be committed to jail until the decision of the supreme court does not violate a constitutional provision permitting bail only before conviction. Ex p. Ezell, 40 Tex. 451, 19 Am. Rep. 32. See also In re Boulter, 5 Wyo. 263, 39 Pac. 875; State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681. Accused is not deprived of liberty without due process of law by N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 527, 555, providing for bail on appeal of defendant from conviction of a crime not punishable with death only when there is a stay of proceedings by filing a certificate of a judge that there is a reasonable doubt whether the judgment should stand; nor are such sections repugnant to U. S. Const. art. 4, § 2, guaranteeing to citizens of each state all the privileges and immunities of citizens of the several states. McKane v. Durston, 153 U. S. 684, 14 S. Ct. 913, 38 L. ed. 867. Oklahoma act of Feb. 2, 1895, providing for bail pending appeal in certain criminal cases, excludes from its operation convictions of offenses "punishable by death or incarceration for life." In re Shoemaker, 2 Okla. 606, 607, 39 Pac. 284.

58. Pending petition in error after conviction of felony, the right to bail is in the court's discretion.

California.— Ex p. Voll, 41 Cal. 29.

Mississippi.— Ex p. Dyson, 25 Miss. 356.

Nebraska.— Ford v. State, 42 Nebr. 418, 60 N. W. 960.

New York.— People v. Lohman, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 450.

North Carolina.— State v. Ward, 9 N. C. 443.

cases in which bail has been refused in proceedings of the character under consideration. In some of the adjudications the right to bail has not been denied on principle, but only under the facts, and the ruling is not therefore in conflict with what has been hereinbefore stated, while in other cases there has been an unqualified denial of bail as a legal right.[59]

Pennsylvania.—Com. v. Myers, 137 Pa. St. 407, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 205, 21 Atl. 246. See also cases cited infra, this note.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 145.

One convicted of felony will not be let to bail pending an appeal, unless circumstances of an extraordinary character have intervened. Ex p. Smith, 89 Cal. 79, 26 Pac. 638; People v. Marshall, 59 Cal. 386; Ex p. Smallman, 54 Cal. 35; Ex p. Marks, 49 Cal. 680; People v. Bowe, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 393.

Particular instances of allowance.— California.— In embezzlement held a matter of discretion. In re Ward, 127 Cal. 489, 59 Pac. 894, 47 L. R. A. 466. If offense is one for which court may in its discretion sentence for a felony or misdemeanor and the appeal is not frivolous. People v. Perdue, 48 Cal. 552; Ex p. Hoge, 48 Cal. 3.

Florida.— On writ of error. Miller v. State, 15 Fla. 575.

Illinois.— For larceny on writ of error, where very clear that there can be no conviction on another trial. Bennett v. People, 94 Ill. 581.

Iowa.— Code, § 4511, provides that court must fix the bail and this suspends judgment. Murphy v. McMillan, 59 Iowa 515, 13 N. W. 654.

Kansas.— Misdemeanor on appeal. State v. Allison, 44 Kan. 423, 24 Pac. 964.

Louisiana.— In cases not within the constitutional exception the court has no discretion to refuse bail even pending appeal. Governor v. Fay, 8 La. Ann. 490; State v. Roger, 7 La. Ann. 382; Longworth Praying for Writ of Habeas Corpus, 7 La. Ann. 247.

Michigan.— Matter of Montague, 70 Mich. 157, 38 N. W. 15.

Missouri.— Entitled on appeal from perjury conviction. In re Bauer, 112 Mo. 231, 20 S. W. 488.

Nebraska.— Rests in court's discretion after conviction for felony and petition in error, and a showing of probable reversal. Ford v. State, 42 Nebr. 418, 60 N. W. 960.

New York.— On writ of error after conviction of a misdemeanor. People v. Folmsbee, 60 Barb. (N. Y.) 480. But the application to be let to bail will be granted with great caution after affirmance of a conviction by the supreme court and pending a writ of error to the court of appeals. People v. Lohman, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 450. And so even though the statute authorizes bail pending an appeal. People v. Lohman, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 450.

North Carolina.—Entitled upon giving bail to be released during certiorari sued out as a substitute for an appeal lost through failure to perfect. State v. Walters, 97 N. C. 489, 2 S. E. 539, 2 Am. St. Rep. 310.

Ohio.— Entitled after conviction for perjury pending motion for new trial. State v. Granville, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 626, 15 Cinc. L. Bul. 419.

Oklahoma.—Bail on appeal in federal criminal cases must be given as required in territorial criminal cases. U. S. v. Raidler, (Okla. 1896) 48 Pac. 270; Ex p. Murphy, 1 Okla. 288, 29 Pac. 652.

Pennsylvania.— Upon quashing indictment and pending removal of case to supreme court, the court has discretion pending certiorari or writ of error to hold defendant to bail or to release him on his own recognizance. Com. v. Bartilson, 85 Pa. St. 482. Under special circumstances after conviction of larceny until motion for new trial. Respublica v. Jacob, 1 Smith Laws (Pa.) 57.

South Carolina.— In discretion of court pending appeal from conviction of manslaughter. State v. McFail, 35 S. C. 595, 14 S. E. 289.

Texas.— In all cases of misdemeanor, on appeal defendant must give bail for appearance, or pay the fine or go to jail. Golden v. State, 32 Tex. 737.

United States.— After conviction and sentence for embezzlement, on appeal bail was refused until application made for advancing the case on the docket as the public interest required a speedy disposition of the cause. U. S. v. Simmons, 47 Fed. 723, 14 L. R. A. 78. When a matter of right, and when of discretion under the statute, see Clawson v. U. S., 113 U. S. 143, 5 S. Ct. 393, 28 L. ed. 957.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 145.

59. Particular instances of refusal.— Illinois.— On writ of error from conviction of larceny. Bennett v. People, 94 Ill. 581, wherein the rule is well stated.

Iowa.— Failure of court to fix the bail will not entitle prisoner to be discharged on habeas corpus. Murphy v. McMillan, 59 Iowa 515, 13 N. W. 654.

Louisiana.— Where crime is necessarily punishable with imprisonment and hard labor within the constitutional exception, accused not entitled to bail pending a suspensive appeal by the state from an order in arrest of judgment for defects in indictment. State v. Anselm, 43 La. Ann. 195, 8 So. 583.

Mississippi.— Facts not sufficient to justify release in case of manslaughter. Hill v. State, 64 Miss. 431, 1 So. 494.

New York.— Not let to bail after sentence where imprisonment begins on the day thereof. People v. Restell, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 251.

North Carolina.— Not entitled where appeal is merely for delay. State v. Daniel, 30 N. C. 21.

North Dakota.— Order invalid continuing bail after writ of error. In re Markuson, 5 N. D. 180, 64 N. W. 939.

(VII) WHERE CONVICTION IS REVERSED. Where a conviction has been reversed the prisoner is not entitled to release by virtue of his former bail-bond;[60] but it has been held that a new recognizance for appearance is valid when taken after judgment reversed for error, even though the order of reversal is subsequently set aside.[61]

(VIII) WHERE SECOND APPLICATION IS MADE. A valid judgment on habeas corpus denying bail is res adjudicata unless reversed,[62] and it continues as a bar throughout the same case and after indictment, so as to preclude allowing bail on a second application therefor on a state of facts existing when the judgment was rendered;[63] but such bar may be avoided by some new state of the case which would be a ground for granting bail exclusive of the testimony given on the first hearing.[64] If, however, after admission to bail of one indicted for murder the cause is dismissed he is entitled to bail where he is again indicted, for his right to bail is also res adjudicata.[65]

d. Surrender by Bail. After surrender by his bail of an alleged criminal who Ohio.— Recognizance void on allowance of writ of error. State v. Clark, 15 Ohio 595.

South Carolina.— Not entitled, where offense infamous, on motion in arrest and for new trial. State v. Connor, 2 Bay (S. C.) 34.

Texas.— Cannot be released. Warnock v. State, 6 Tex. App. 450.

Washington.— Pending appeal by one in custody under an extradition warrant from an order in habeas corpus remanding to custody. Matter of Foye, 21 Wash. 250, 57 Pac. 825.

Wyoming.— Not entitled under Wyo. Rev. Stat. § 3326, pending proceedings in error where conviction is for felony. In re Boulter, 5 Wyo. 263, 39 Pac. 875.

United States.— On felony cannot be released. U. S. v. Hudson, 65 Fed. 68. Defendant who has been sentenced to pay a fine, and also to imprisonment, not entitled to bail after appeal as a matter of right though a certificate of probable cause filed. Clawson v. U. S., 113 U. S. 143, 5 S. Ct. 393, 28 L. ed. 957. Nor can bail be taken during time given to counsel to prepare a case and move in arrest of judgment. U. S. v. Devlin, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,955, 7 Int. Rev. Rec. 44.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 145.

60. Ex p. Williams, 114 Ala. 29, 22 So. 446, also holding that the fact that defendant was admitted to bail before a trial for murder in the first degree will not be considered in determining his right to bail after conviction reversed. But see, on the point that new bail is not required in such case, Ex p. Guffee, 8 Tex. App. 409.

After reversal of conviction of less degree than that charged.— In State v. Helm, 92 Iowa 540, 61 N. W. 246, it is held that a conviction of murder in a less degree than that charged operates as an acquittal of the latter, and upon a reversal the prisoner stands as unconvicted and may be let to bail even though the statute precludes allowing bail for murder after conviction.

61. Brewer v. State, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 198. See also Hull v. Reilly, 87 Mich. 497, 49 N. W. 869, where the prisoner's conviction of murder was reversed with order for a new trial, and he was admitted to bail.

62. Reviewing refusal of bail.— The presumption exists unless rebutted, that the court's refusal of bail was proper upon the evidence, and that abuse of discretion must therefore be shown to justify disturbing such refusal upon proceeding in review thereof. State v. Madison County Ct., 136 Mo. 323, 37 S. W. 1126.

63. Ex p. Hamilton, 65 Miss. 98, 3 So. 68 (under Miss. Code (1880), § 2534, declaring the effect of judgments on habeas corpus); Ex p. Pattison, 56 Miss. 161. Nor can a party make a second application to a circuit judge, and take such exceptions as will bring the original judgment and evidence before the appellate court. Ex p. Carroll, 36 Ala. 300. So the court, although not bound to do so, may decline to hear another application based on the same facts. Ex p. Campbell, 20 Ala. 89. And on certiorari an order of a justice of the supreme court admitting to bail on application made after refusal of bail by the committing magistrate will be reversed, as the matter became res adjudicata before it was brought before said justice. People v. Cunningham, 3 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 531 [reversing 3 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 520].

64. The proof, however, should not be newly discovered evidence as to old facts, but of matters which have actually occurred since the hearing on the original writ and upon such newly developed exculpatory proof bail may be allowed where there are other justifiable causes (Ex p. Pattison, 56 Miss. 161, a mistrial having also intervened); and where the return on the second writ shows that the prisoner was remanded on the first writ for an offense not bailable, such remand is conclusive against the second application (Ex p. Turner, 36 Mo. App. 75, under Mo. Rev. Stat. (1879), § 2672).

65. Ex p. Augustine, 33 Tex. Crim. 1, 23 S. W. 689, 47 Am. St. Rep. 17. And so where bail has been fixed before indictment accused may have another writ of habeas corpus and again be bailed after indictment if proper upon the facts. Ex p. Wilson, 20 Tex. App. 498, construing Tex. Code Crim. Proc. art. 187.

has been at large the sheriff may again admit such offender to bail with new sureties.[66]

B. Waiver of Right to Bail. Accused may waive his right to bail.[67]

C. Jurisdiction and Authority to Admit to Bail — 1. Courts and Judicial Officers — a. In General. Courts have inherent power to take a recognizance,[68] the authority to bail being incident to the right to hear and determine the offense charged;[69] and ordinarily a recognizance may be taken either by a court as such or by a judge thereof;[70] or in chambers in term-time for appearance during a subsequent day of that term.[71] If, however, no authority is conferred upon a judge to take a recognizance out of court, except in vacation, the doing such an act in term-time is void.[72]

b. Judges of Appellate Courts. Judges of appellate courts have power to admit to bail in certain cases.[73] And the supreme court of appeals may, on

66. May admit to new bail.— Kellogg v. State, 43 Miss. 57. The fact that the accused at once gave himself up after the killing has been considered in connection with other facts. Ex p. Goans, 99 Mo. 193, 12 S. W. 635, 17 Am. St. Rep. 571. See also infra, III, L.

Reasonable time and opportunity after surrender by his sureties pending appeal should be given accused to make another bond. In re Bauer, 112 Mo. 231, 20 S. W. 488.

67. Matter of Malison, 36 Kan. 725, 14 Pac. 144 (holding that where a defendant, charged with murder in the first degree, waives a preliminary examination for such offense, he not only waives his right to be let to bail, but also to have the facts of the alleged offense examined into on habeas corpus; but where said waiver is made under fear of personal violence, he will not be estopped by reason of such waiver); Devine v. People, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 98 (holding that the accused by pleading to the charge, without objecting, and applying for and obtaining two adjournments, had waived his right to waive an examination and give bail).

68. U. S. v. Evans, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 605, 2 Fed. 147, 1 Crim. L. Mag. 600.

Authority to take bail in civil actions see supra, II, E.

69. Incident to right to hear cause.— People v. Van Horne, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 158; People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 434. But it cannot be implied as incidental to the power to adjourn hearings, if not so specified by statute. Hallett v. U. S., 63 Fed. 817. But see State v. Schaffer, 36 Mo. App. 589.

If the court has jurisdiction of the offense, and the defendant is personally present at court, no jurisdictional fact is lacking. Ex p. Chandler, 114 Ala. 8, 22 So. 285. An order of a magistrate admitting to bail a defendant not in the custody of the court is an absolute nullity. St. Clair v. Com., 11 Ky. L. Rep. 812. But the obligation to appear and answer a criminal charge does not depend upon jurisdiction as to the particular crime charged, but upon the duty and power of the magistrate to examine and admit such party to bail. State v. Edney, 20 N. C. 423.

When a judge is specially appointed to try a case, because of the disqualification of the judge of the court, the latter may, upon failure of the appointed judge to appear, continue the cause and take recognizance for appearance of the accused. State v. Schaffer, 36 Mo. App. 589.

70. By either court or judge.— State v. Zwifle, 22 Mo. 467, holding also that the record should show by whom taken. But it is decided that an examining court has no right, in cases of felony, to admit accused to bail, and that a bail-bond taken during examination is void, for there is no power in such court to release accused from custody. Com. v. Moore, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 477.

This rule is subject, however, to such exceptions as exist by reason of legislative enactments conferring exclusive jurisdiction upon certain courts and judges, or in certain criminal cases in the matter of hearing and determining applications for bail.

Arkansas.— See Ex p. Kittrel, 20 Ark. 499.

Kansas.— State v. Davis, 26 Kan. 205.

Louisiana.—State v. Hebert, 10 Rob. (La.) 41.

New York.— People v. Hurlbutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 126.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227.

See also infra, II, C, 1, b, et seq.; and 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 165 et seq.

A recognizance before a de facto judge is valid. Brown v. O'Connell, 36 Conn. 432, 4 Am. Rep. 89.

Either justice of the examining court may take and attest a bail-bond. Murphy v. Com., 11 Bush (Ky.) 217.

The president judge and associates may let to bail. Saxton v. State, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 200.

71. Taken in chambers.—Crandall v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 284, circuit judge.

The power of a particular judge to let to bail at chambers may exist, independently of the habeas corpus act or of proceedings thereunder. State v. Wilson, 12 La. Ann. 189; State v. Everett, Dudley (S. C.) 295.

72. Taken out of court during term.— Com. v. Littell, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 566.

The legislature may, where the constitution so permits, confer upon any local officer or special judge appointed to discharge the duties of county judge the authority to take bail, including taking recognizance out of court. People v. Main, 20 N. Y. 434.

73. For example in capital cases where the office of a circuit judge is vacant (Ex p. Kithabeas corpus, admit to bail, notwithstanding a statute limiting the power to take bail to other courts.[74] The supreme court has, however, refused to issue a writ of habeas corpus where the inferior court has authority to admit to bail a petitioner who has been committed to jail on default of bail;[75] and the authority of such court to take a recognizance has been denied, even where exceptions have been transmitted to it to be heard before sentence.[76]

c. Particular Superior and Inferior Courts and Judges Thereof. The power to admit to bail has been decided to rest upon the common law;[77] but inasmuch as such authority is based, in the cases hereinafter considered, upon the statute conferring jurisdiction, a discussion of this point becomes unnecessary. The degree of the crime charged may, however, affect the jurisdiction,[78] as may the county of commission of the offense;[79] and undoubtedly other jurisdictional requisites must exist. In addition the status or progress of the case is of importance.[80] Dependent therefore upon the foregoing general principles, and subject to such qualifications as have been mentioned, and which may be applicable to the particular case, it may be stated that inferior courts, or the judges thereof,[81] trel, 20 Ark. 499); or where, on a charge of manslaughter, the judge of the court in which accused is held is absent from the state (State v. Duson, 36 La. Ann. 855); or where the court having cognizance of the offense is not sitting at the time the application for bail is made (People v. Clews, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 90, under Rev. Stat. § 56 [That N. Y. supreme court has original and appellate jurisdiction, and is also subject to appellate jurisdiction, see N. Y. Const. art. 6, §§ 1, 2]); or where the charge is of treason (Com. v. Holloway, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 512); or after arrest and commitment for trial (In re Durant, 60 Vt. 176, 12 Atl. 650).

74. Ex p. Eastham, 43 W. Va. 637, 27 S. E. 896.

So the queen's bench division of the high court may admit to bail, until the time for his return, a person who has been committed to prison under the fugitive offender's act to await his return to the place where the offense was committed. Reg. v. Spilsbury, [1898] 2 Q. B. 615. As to original and appellate jurisdiction of this court see 38 & 39 Vict. c. 77; 36 & 37 Vict. c. 66.

75. Belgard v. Morse, 2 Gray (Mass.) 406.

76. People v. McKinney, 9 Mich. 444. So in 1820 a judge of the supreme court of Missouri had no power to take recognizance of bail. Todd v. State, 1 Mo. 566.

Bail will not be reduced by the supreme court in the absence of a motion therefor in the lower court. State v. Aucoin, 47 La. Ann. 1677, 18 So. 709. And bail cannot be reduced by a magistrate or county judge after termination of their judicial power. Reed v. Com., 13 Ky. L. Rep. 637. But see infra, III, C, 1, f.

77. At common law.—State v. Hill, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 89, 1 Treadw. (S. C.) 242. See also supra, III, A, 1.

78. Degree of crime.—State v. Harper, 3 La. Ann. 598; State v. Hebert, 10 Rob. (La.) 41; Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227. But see People v. Hurlbutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 126.

79. County of commission.—State v. Davis, 26 Kan. 205.

80. Thus it is determined that the trial court has no authority to release on bail, after conviction, until accused has appealed by service of the statutory notice. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628. Defendant may be ordered into custody under Wyo. Rev. Stat. § 3326, after conviction of a felony, notwithstanding Wyo. Const. art. 1, § 14, c. 1, provides for bail. In re Boulter, 5 Wyo. 263, 39 Pac. 875. See also supra, III, A, 4, c, (VI).

81. Circuit court or judges have exclusive power after indictment in capital cases. Ex p. Kittrel, 20 Ark. 499. And such court may order accused into custody after trial commenced, notwithstanding bail has been allowed by a county judge. Adkins v. Com., 98 Ky. 539, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1091, 33 S. W. 948, 32 L. R. A. 108. An application for bail under the habeas corpus act must be, in the first instance, to a judge of the circuit court for the county in which applicant is held in custody. State v. Woolery, 39 Mo. 525.

Circuit superior court or judges have power. Com. v. Semmes, 11 Leigh (Va.) 696.

City court of Mobile has jurisdiction coextensive with the circuit court of Mobile. Arnold v. State, 25 Ala. 69.

County judges have no power to bail in capital cases after indictment. Ex p. Kittrel, 20 Ark. 499. See also Bowman v. Com., 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 313; Adkins v. Com., 98 Ky. 539, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1091, 33 S. W. 948, 32 L. R. A. 108, as to effect of allowance. In People v. Rutan, 3 Mich. 42, the power of a county judge to take bail after indictment was asserted. Applications for bail under the habeas corpus act may be made in the second instance to a justice of the county court. State v. Woolery, 39 Mo. 525. So in New York such judges have power to bail all cases where supreme-court commissioners had power so to do prior to the constitution of 1846. People v. Hurlbutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 126. And where there is an arrest and commitment for trial, bail can be taken before a judge of the county court. In re Durant, 60 Vt. 176, 12 Atl. 650. But the recognizance is decided to be invalid where accused has have the power to admit to bail in all cases within the law which constitutes the basis and source of their jurisdictional authority in the premises, and not otherwise, and this includes superior and other courts which have both original and appellate jurisdiction, although they are not of dernier resort except perhaps in certain cases.

d. Justices of the Peace — (i) In General. The rule that every member of a court which has authority to try an offense can bail the offender has been applied to justices of the peace.[82] But the constitution[83] or the statute may limit the power of a justice or justices of the peace to take bail on a recognizance, where such power is not otherwise limited by general principles governing the jurisdiction of such courts;[84] and such limitation may be express or implied, so not been committed to jail for trial. State v. Lamoine, 53 Vt. 568.

Court of criminal corrections of St. Louis. — See State v. Hoeffner, 44 Mo. App. 543.

Court of special sessions of the city of New York.— An application to be allowed to give bail to await the action of the grand jury in a case of violation of the excise law was refused. People v. Batten, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 721, 17 N. Y. St. 234. Compare People v. Justices Ct. Special Sessions, 74 N. Y. 406, 18 Alb. L. J. 254 [affirming 13 Hun (N. Y.) 533].

District court.— See State v. Branner, 15 La. Ann. 565.

General court or judges have power to bail. Hamlett v. Com., 3 Gratt. (Va.) 78; Com. v. Semmes, 11 Leigh (Va.) 696.

Judges of general sessions have power in all cases. State v. Hill, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 89, 1 Treadw. (S. C.) 242.

Oyer and terminer had power in all cases. People v. Van Horne, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 158. See N. Y. Const. art. 6, § 6.

Parish judge cannot let to bail in certain cases. State v. Hebert, 10 Rob. (La.) 41; State v. Harper, 3 La. Ann. 598.

Police judge or justice in a city of the second class has no authority to take a recognizance for appearance before the district court of one charged with a felony beyond the city limits. State v. Davis, 26 Kan. 205. But compare Matter of Gessner, 53 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 515.

Presidents of courts of common pleas possessed some authority and jurisdiction to admit to bail as judges of the supreme court. Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227. Judge of common pleas has no power. Powell v. State, 15 Ohio 579.

Probate judges.—See Ex p. Keeling, 50 Ala. 474. And compare Ex p. Ray, 45 Ala. 15; Hale v. State, 24 Ala. 80.

Recorders and recorders' courts have power. State v. Moulin, 45 La. Ann. 309, 12 So. 142; State v. Judge Fifth Dist. Ct., 32 La. Ann. 315; Matter of Goodhue, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 427. But the power of the recorder of Philadelphia was limited. Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227. A city recorder appointed by military authority had power to take bail. Cline v. State, 34 Tex. 98.

Superior court has power in all cases (State v. McNab, 20 N. H. 160), until accused is in execution (Corbett v. State, 24 Ga. 391).

Supreme court or justices thereof in New York possess indisputable discretionary power in all cases. People v. Perry, 8 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 27; People v. Van Horne, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 158; Ex p. Tayloe, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 39. Even in vacation. People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 443. But authority denied in People v. Mead, 1 N. Y. Crim. 417, 28 Hun (N. Y.) 227 (under 2 Rev. Stat. p. 728, §§ 56, 57); and in People v. Dutcher, 83 N. Y. 240 [reversing 20 Hun (N. Y.) 241].

82. Incident to authority to try offender. — People v. Huggins, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 464, holding that justices of the peace or any one justice may, independently of the statute, bail persons indicted before the sessions of a bailable offense.

Interest may disqualify.— Com. v. McLane, 4 Gray (Mass.) 427, as where he resides in a town to which any forfeiture incurred under the recognizance is given by statute. But the fact that one of the justices had previously been of counsel for accused does not invalidate a bond for appearance on an adjournment. People v. Clark, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 214.

83. Constitutional limitations.— State v. Toups, 44 La. Ann. 905, 11 So. 528; People v. Burwell, 106 Mich. 27, 63 N. W. 986.

84. Bond or recognizance when void or unauthorized.— Colorado.— Huston v. People, 12 Colo. App. 271, 55 Pac. 262, when taken after commitment in default of bail or in lieu of a recognizance previously given under a statute providing that the parties or a judge may take such recognizance.

Illinois.— People v. Cook, 68 Ill. App. 202, taken by one justice is void under a statute providing for two justices.

Kansas.— Cox v. State, 5 Kan. App. 539, 47 Pac. 191, when taken eight days after termination of jurisdictional proceedings.

Massachusetts.—Com. v. Otis, 16 Mass. 198, when taken after conviction by higher court, escape to another state and extradition.

Minnesota.— State v. Bartlett, 70 Minn. 199, 72 N. W. 1067, taken pending adjournment of preliminary examination where offense is punishable with death, or imprisonment over seven years.

Missouri.— State v. McGunnegle, 3 Mo. 402, single justice is not authorized to take bail where arrest is under capias issued on an indictment found in the circuit court.

Virginia.—Hamlett v. Com., 3 Gratt. (Va.)

that such justice or justices can only lawfully act within that law which constitutes the only source of their power, otherwise the acts are void and of no effect. This would also be true, whether the governing law relates merely to jurisdictional power or expressly to the authority to bail, or whether it is based upon the general principle stated at the beginning of this section or upon modification or statutes. Thus if the statute imposes upon the justice the legal obligation of trying a misdemeanor, he cannot evade such duty by binding the accused over and taking bail;[85] and the power to take a recognizance to appear may be restricted as to the term;[86] or the authority may exist only to bail a person charged with a bailable offense, and who has been committed for not finding sureties, excluding the right to inquire into or decide upon the particulars as to the offense;[87] or there may be a limitation as to the amount of the recognizance.[88] Where the offense is one concerning which a justice of the peace may exercise the power to bail, and he has authority to adjourn the examination, he may take a recognizance thereupon for the prisoner's appearance.[89] 78, taken after examining court has sent prisoner to superior court for trial.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 170.

Bond or recognizance when valid or authorized.— Colorado.— Haney v. People, 12 Colo. 345, 21 Pac. 39 (may accept a recognizance though the sheriff received it and discharged the prisoner, before delivering it to the justice); Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528 (valid though taken by two justices where one may lawfully act).

Illinois.— People v. McKay, 40 Ill. 386 (authority is limited by degree of crime and two justices may take a recognizance where indictment is for passing counterfeit bills, the indictment having been found while the prisoner was in jail); Johnston v. People, 31 Ill. 469 (the prisoner, on charge of larceny, failing to comply with a requirement to give appearance bail was committed and the committing magistrate four days thereafter alone took the recognizance, and it was declared valid); McFarlan v. People, 13 Ill. 9 (justices may take a recognizance in all cases where the offense is bailable; two justices may validly take a bond in a case where one may lawfully act).

Kentucky.— Com. v. Yancy, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 375 (holding that a charge of shooting with intent to kill is merely a misdemeanor, and an examining justice may, on adjournment, take bail for appearance); Com. v. Leight, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 107 (holding that the statute does not imply that a committing justice would have no legal authority to take a recognizance when the circuit judge happens to be in the county).

Louisiana.— State v. Toups, 44 La. Ann. 905, 11 So. 528, holding that a justice may, without any order from a district judge, take a recognizance of one accused of petit larceny.

Michigan.— People v. Burwell, 106 Mich. 27, 63 N. W. 986, holding that a justice may admit to bail a person charged with rape punishable by imprisonment for life or any number of years.

Missouri.— State v. Railey, 35 Mo. 168, holding it unnecessary that the record should show an adjudication of commission of an offense and probable cause to authorize taking bail. See also, as to presumption of validity of bond, State v. Woolery, 39 Mo. 525.

New York.— People v. Mack, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 567, holding that presumption favors validity of recognizance.

North Carolina.— State v. Edney, 60 N. C. 463, holding that a recognizance ordered by an authorized judge to be taken by two justices is valid.

South Carolina.— Barton v. Keith, 2 Hill (S. C.) 537, holding that two justices, one being of the quorum, may bail a prisoner, before commitment, charged with passing counterfeit money.

Vermont.— State Treasurer v. Brooks, 23 Vt. 698, holding that a recognizance conditioned for appearance in the county court of one bound over by a justice of the peace upon the information of the state's attorney is valid.

Virginia.—Hamlett v. Com., 3 Gratt. (Va.) 78, holding that if the examining court refuses bail, or is silent, a justice cannot admit to bail; he can only take bail after such court has decided that the prisoner is bailable and fixed the amount of bail.

United States.— U. S. v. Milburn, 4 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 478, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,765, holding that marshal of District of Columbia may take a prisoner before a justice of the peace to give bail for appearance to answer.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 170.

Justice cannot cancel recognizance to appear. Benjamin v. Garee, Wright (Ohio) 450.

85. Must try, not admit to bail.— Thomm v. State, 35 Ark. 327, holding that such bail-bond would be void.

86. Restriction as to term.— Hostetter v. Com., 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 1.

87. Restricted to bailable offenses.—State v. Corson, 10 Me. 473.

88. Restriction as to amount.— State v. Wormell, 33 Me. 200.

89. On adjournment.— Potter v. Kingsbury, 4 Day (Conn.) 98; Lewis v. People, 23 Ill. App. 28; State v. Gachenheimer, 30 Ind. 63; State v. Kruise, 32 N. J. L. 313. See also supra, III, A, 4, c, (II), (III).

But magistrate cannot admit one to bail

(II) Where Felony Is Charged. A justice of the peace cannot admit to bail persons charged with felony.[90] This rule, however, is not absolute and unqualified.[91] Upon the same principle it has been held that offenses beyond the trial jurisdiction of a judge of a police court as a committing magistrate are excluded from his power to bail.[92]

e. Commissioners[93] — (I) In General. Under the practice in some jurisdictions certain court commissioners are vested with the power of taking the recognizances or admitting prisoners to bail.[94] during the postponement of his examination. State v. Jones, 100 N. C. 438, 6 S. E. 655. Where bail has been taken and the court has adjourned, the sheriff and not the magistrate has power to take an additional bail-bond. State v. Russell, 24 Tex. 505.

90. Persons charged with felony.— Arkansas.— Bass v. State, 29 Ark. 142, where persons were, by an inquiry, implicated in charge of murder and arrested.

Indiana.— State v. Winninger, 81 Ind. 51, not at time of issuing warrant.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Fisher, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 376, single justice no power.

Louisiana.— State v. Harper, 3 La. Ann. 598; State v. Hebert, 10 Rob. (La.) 41, not where crime "punishable with death, or with seven years or more imprisonment at hard labor."

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Loveridge, 11 Mass. 337, not in case of homicide. See Com. v. Otis, 16 Mass. 198.

Minnesota.— See State v. Bartlett, 70 Minn. 199, 72 N. W. 1067.

New Jersey.— See State v. Kruise, 32 N. J. L. 313.

North Carolina.— See State v. Jones, 100 N. C. 438, 6 S. E. 655.

Pennsylvania.—Steel v. Com., 7 Watts (Pa.) 454 (not one arrested as a horse-thief); Com. v. Keeper Prison, 2 Ashm. (Pa.) 227 (not in cases of felonious homicide, robbery, burglary, arson, or horse-stealing).

United States.— U. S. v. Faw, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 486, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,078, not one committed for trial on felony charge.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 173.

91. Rule not absolute. — Colorado.— See Haney v. People, 12 Colo. 345, 21 Pac. 39.

Illinois.— See Lewis v. People, 23 Ill. App. 28.

Indiana.— State v. Winninger, 81 Ind. 51, holding that power exists where he has granted a continuance or recognized accused to appear and answer in the circuit court.

Kentucky.— Tharp v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 411, holding that a single justice may hold to bail for misdemeanors but two justices are required in charges of felony.

Louisiana.— State v. Toups, 44 La. Ann. 896, 11 So. 524, no authority in cases of larceny without order from district judge.

Michigan.— See People v. Burwell, 106 Mich. 27, 63 N. W. 986.

New York.— People v. Huggins, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 464, two justices may, before indictment, where prisoner in jail on suspicion of felony.

Pennsylvania.— Moore v. Com., 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 314, he may discharge from prison one committed by him for a bailable offense, whether felony or misdemeanor, on taking a recognizance.

South Carolina.— Barton v. Keith, 2 Hill (S. C.) 537, one accused of passing counterfeit money, even if included in the statutes, to be refused bail by two justices must not only be charged with felony but there must also be a violent presumption of guilt.

Virginia.— Tyler v. Greenlaw, 5 Rand. (Va.) 711, may bail where charge is felony and there is only a slight suspicion.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 173.

92. In re Mantz, 19 D. C. 595. But it is also held that, to authorize a magistrate to take bail for appearance to answer before a court of superior jurisdiction for an offense the punishment of which is beyond his jurisdiction, it should appear that the offense has been committed and that there is probable cause of guilt. State v. Hartwell, 35 Me. 129.

93. Nature of power.—Where the plain intent of a constitutional provision is to permit the legislature to invest commissioners with any of the judicial power which a circuit judge might lawfully exercise when not in court, the power of such commissioners to take bail is not a judicial power. Daniels v. People, 6 Mich. 381.

94. Maine.—Bail commissioners appointed by the supreme judicial court of Maine have the same power as a justice thereof, or of the supreme court; but during a term of the supreme court in any county such commissioner cannot admit to bail any person confined in jail or under arrest on a precept returnable to that term nor change the amount of bail. In re Bail Com'rs, 85 Me. 544, 27 Atl. 455.

Massachusetts.— Such a commissioner appointed by the superior court may take a recognizance when the court is in session for proceedings before the grand jury. Com. v. Merriam, 9 Allen (Mass.) 371. And the intermediate time during a temporary adjournment of the court from Saturday to Monday morning is not part of the "session" of the court under Mass. Pub. Stat. c. 212, § 48. Com. v. Gove, 151 Mass. 392, 24 N. E. 211. Special commissioner may be appointed by the court of common pleas to take a recognizance, in vacation, of one convicted on indictment and committed under an order to recognize with sureties and prosecute exceptions in the supreme court. Com. v. Dunbar, 15 Gray (Mass.) 209.

New York.— Under an early decision, such a commissioner could take bail in all bailable offenses, and also where defendant

(II) United States Commissioners. United States commissioners have power conferred upon them by statute[95] to take bail of one charged with an offense or crime against the United States for his appearance before the proper court, and this authority may be exercised upon an arrest before or after indictment, notwithstanding a state statute to the contrary.[96] And it is within the discretion of such commissioner to take recognizances of defendants and witnesses recognized in previous cases for the same grand jury.[97] So where the commitment is by the commissioner he has jurisdiction to entertain an application for release on bail any time before the issuing of a warrant for his removal to the jurisdiction from which he has fled.[98]

f. Exclusive Jurisdiction of Court or Judge.[99] It has been held that where the presiding judge has not acted arbitrarily on an application for bail no other court or judge can take cognizance and discharge or bail the prisoner;[1] that the district court cannot interfere by habeas corpus with a recorder's court which has full power to determine whether a prisoner shall be admitted to bail;[2] that a county judge whose power is limited in this matter by statute cannot bail a prisoner after the first term of the court other than the county court to which he is committed for trial;[3] and that the power of a justice of the supreme court to admit to bail is not restricted by the exclusive jurisdiction to try certain offenses vested in an inferior court,[4] although it is also decided that the power of such higher court to interfere does not exist during the session of the court having jurisdiction to try the indictment where the accused is indicted before arrest.[5] So a comwaives all preliminaries and gives bail at once. Champlain v. People, 2 N. Y. 82.

Utah.— A supreme court commissioner has power to take bail of one accused of violating an act of congress prohibiting unlawful cohabitation in the territory. U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 Utah 161, 13 Pac. 673.

95. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), §§ 1014, 1015.

96. Hoeffner v. U. S., 87 Fed. 185, 59 U. S. App. 313, 30 C. C. A. 610; U. S. v. Dunbar, 83 Fed. 151, 48 U. S. App. 531, 27 C. C. A. 488.

The last statement of the text is qualified, however, by a decision holding that the state laws are of force so far as applicable to the proceedings, and in determining the authority conferred. It is therefore determined that such commissioner may, in conformity with the interpretation of the state law, take bail of the accused to answer further before him. U. S. v. Sauer, 73 Fed. 671. So a commissioner to take affidavits, etc., has power to let to bail pending the proceedings in those states where justices of the peace have similar power. U. S. v. Rundlett, 2 Curt. (U. S.) 41, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,208. It is also held that such commissioner has the same power as to bail as a state magistrate and no greater. U. S. v. Horton, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 94, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,393, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 471, 18 Int. Rev. Rec. 31, 63, 5 Leg. Gaz. 255, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 17. But see U. S. v. Case, 8 Blatchf. (U. S.) 250, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,742, holding that he has no power to take recognizance for appearance before him at a future day.

97. Hallett v. U. S., 63 Fed. 817.

98. U. S. v. Volz, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 15, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,627.

99. No fixed general rule.— Whether the power of the court or judge in denying or allowing bail is exclusive depends upon various factors, no one of which ordinarily constitutes the basis of a governing rule applicable to other than the particular jurisdiction in which the decision was rendered and frequently not even then, for the reason that the controlling statute may have been repealed or amended, or the practice may have been changed, or the court which decided the cause may itself have been abolished, or its jurisdiction changed. See cases cited infra, notes 1 et seq.

1. Ex p. Isbell, 11 Nev. 295.

2. State v. Judge Fifth Dist. Ct., 32 La. Ann. 315.

3. Branham v. Com., 2 Bush (Ky.) 3.

When, however, the statute so provides such judge can accept the bond of one bailed by another officer or magistrate. State v. Klingman, 14 Iowa 404.

4. People v. Dutcher, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 241.

5. Babcock's Case, 2 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 204.

Application for bail on indictment pending. — If an application for bail is pending in the circuit court in a capital case, and the judge is prevented by business or indisposition from attending thereto, it would be irregular for another tribunal or officer having concurrent jurisdiction to issue a writ of habeas corpus to admit to bail even after expiration of the term. Ex p. Kittrel, 20 Ark. 499. If an indictment is pending in court it may fix the bail without regard to any action theretofore taken by the committing magistrate. Ex p. Ryan, 44 Cal. 555. But if bail is allowed without issuance of a writ of habeas corpus by a judge of court other than that in which the indictment is pending, it is void. State v. Watson, 54 Mo. App. 416. And see also State v. Ferguson, 50 Mo. 409; State v. Nelson, 28 Mo. 13; State v. Ramsey, 23 Mo. 327. So one who is not the officer before whom the mitting magistrate's power as to bail is not exclusive.[6] Again, the authority to admit to bail has been held, in a number of cases, to rest exclusively in the proper court of the county wherein the warrant was issued or the offense committed.[7] But when the indictment and arrest, or the indictment, is in one county, bail has been allowed to be taken in another county.[8] And the judge of a civil court cannot hear an application to admit to bail a prisoner in the custody of the military power in a district under martial law until the legality of such custody has been inquired into under an application for a writ of habeas corpus.[9]

g. Upon Change of Venue. Change of venue of a cause from one county to another transfers the entire control and jurisdiction thereof to the court of the latter county, including authority to entertain an application for and admit to bail.[10] application for bail is pending may authorize bail to be taken, especially where jurisdiction of the person is acquired by voluntary appearance, and the officer before whom the application is pending adopts such recognizance. People v. Leggett, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 360. And although jurisdiction of an indictment pending in one court cannot be conferred on another court by agreement, yet, if the latter has general jurisdiction over the offense, the defendant will not be discharged unless he gives new bail for appearance in the court where the indictment is pending. People v. Hartwell, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 32.

6. Committing magistrate's power not exclusive.— California.— Ex p. Ryan, 44 Cal. 555.

Indiana.— State v. Best, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 611.

Kentucky.— Compare Com. v. Brown, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 301.

Maine.— State v. Baker, 50 Me. 45.

Michigan.— People v. Robb, 98 Mich. 397, 57 N. W. 257.

New York.— People v. McKinnon, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 170; People v. McLane, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 45.

Ohio.— State v. Dawson, 6 Ohio 251.

United States.— U. S. v. Brawner, 7 Fed. 86.

Contra, State v. Randolph, 26 Mo. 213.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 176.

Courts of sessions are not authorized upon indictment before arrest and a subsequent arrest thereon to send the case to a police justice for examination, and an order therefor does not affect the question of the power to bail. Babcock's Case, 2 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 204.

Justice of the peace cannot take bail where another justice has issued a mittimus against defendant for want of sureties. State v. Berry, 8 Me. 179; Com. v. Canada, 13 Pick. (Mass.) 86. Nor has such justice authority to bail one convicted in another court, and who has made his escape before sentence. Com. v. Otis, 16 Mass. 198.

Police justice has no power to bail persons after they have been bound over to the recorder's court, and the proceedings certified thereto. Mills v. Chambers, 91 Mich. 521, 52 N. W. 20.

7. County of issuance of warrant.— California.— Mansir v. San Diego County Super. Ct., 65 Cal. 582, 4 Pac. 627; Ex p. Hung Sin, 54 Cal. 102.

Iowa.— State v. Cannon, 34 Iowa 322.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Salyer, 8 Bush (Ky.) 461.

Louisiana.— State v. Collins, 19 La. Ann. 145.

Missouri.— See State v. Ferguson, 50 Mo. 409; State v. Nelson, 28 Mo. 13.

New Hampshire.— State v. Fowler, 28 N. H. 184.

New York.— People v. Chapman, 30 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 202; Gorsline's Case, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 282, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 85; Clark v. Cleveland, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 344.

Contra, State v. Eastman, 42 N. H. 265, where application is voluntary. See Doyle v. Russell, 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 300; Com. v. Jailer, 1 Grant (Pa.) 218.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 176.

Rule qualified by facts.— Haney v. People, 12 Colo. 345, 21 Pac. 39, holding that the surety was not discharged, since he must be held to have known of the irregularity when he signed the recognizance which showed that the arrest was made in another county.

8. Hunter v. State, 21 Ind. 351, where the prisoner was confined in jail in another county because of the insufficiency of the jail in the county of indictment and arrest. So in People v. Hurlbutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 126, the accused was confined in jail in one county and the county judge of another county took the acknowledgment of the execution of a recognizance by the sureties in order that it might be sent to accused and acknowledged. See also People v. Clews, 77 N. Y. 39.

9. Davis' Case, Chase (U. S.) 1, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,621*a*, 3 Am. L. Rev. 368.

10. Ex p. Walker, 3 Tex. App. 668.

This includes right to hold a prior bail-bond of the court from which the case was transferred invalid, and gives the right to order accused into custody, notwithstanding such admission to bail. Adkins v. Com., 98 Ky. 539, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1091, 33 S. W. 948, 32 L. R. A. 108, which case was removed from county court to circuit court of another county.

Presumption of validity attaches as to necessary preliminary steps on recognizance taken before a county judge after change of venue. State v. Woolery, 39 Mo. 525.

h. Upon Appeal or Error. In certain jurisdictions the question of admission to bail upon an appeal or on writ of error after a judgment of conviction seems to depend rather upon what constitutes the proper court and the procedure than upon the power of the court, the right itself not being disputed, but only the effect of the statute being considered.[11] And it has been decided that a statute which precludes "any justice of the supreme court" pending an appeal in specified cases from granting bail does not prevent the supreme court from exercising such power, but only inferentially shows an intent of the legislature to continue said power in that court.[12] Again, under a comparatively recent decision in the United States supreme court, it is decided that in cases of crimes not capital, at least, bail might be taken on writ of error by order of the court, justice, or judge, and although two justices dissented, they agreed as to the existence of the power but deduced this solely from the grant of jurisdiction over the proceedings in error, and it was also determined that a justice of such court might order the judge before whom the conviction was had to admit the prisoner to bail and enforce the order by mandamus.[13] But, where the statute so prohibits, a justice of the supreme court cannot release on bail one convicted or sentenced to the penitentiary.[14] So where a case has gone on exceptions to the supreme court a recognizance for appearance at the next county court is void even though there is a new trial.[15]

2. Sheriffs and Clerks[16]— a. Sheriffs. In order to enable the sheriff to take a bond or recognizance the prisoner must be in his custody on legal process,[17] or he must have authority to make the arrest;[18] or the offense charged may affect his right to take bail as in case of felony or con-

11. On appeal the power will not be exercised by the supreme court in the first instance. People v. January, 70 Cal. 34, 11 Pac. 326. Compare Ex p. Marks, 49 Cal. 680, stating the former rule. In State v. Jones, 3 La. Ann. 9, it was determined that the bond could be taken before an officer of the lower court or other person designated. So after a bill of exceptions allowed after verdict of guilty, the superior court may recognize the prisoner to appear from term to term in that court. Com. v. Field, 11 Allen (Mass.) 488. And under Howell's Anno. Stat. Mich. § 9578, the circuit court, upon appeal, raising questions of a serious nature, has no further jurisdiction, except to take bail. Matter of Montague, 70 Mich. 157, 38 N. W. 15. Again the supreme court pending appeal or error can admit to bail only while sitting in the grand division of the state in which the case is to be heard, but the trial court can admit to bail at any time when the supreme court is not so in session. Holcomb v. State, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 668.

And compare also supra, III, A, 4, c, (VI).

12. State v. Farris, 51 S. C. 176, 28 S. E. 370.

13. Hudson v. Parker, 156 U. S. 277, 15 S. Ct. 450, 39 L. ed. 424, considering U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), §§ 1014–1017. But, pending an appeal from an order of a district judge denying a writ of habeas corpus to release a foreign consul imprisoned under state authority, said judge may not admit him to bail. In re Iasigi, 79 Fed. 755, under U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 765, and U. S. Supreme Ct. Rules No. 34. And see U. S. v. Hudson, 65 Fed. 68, holding that the supreme court had no power to make Rule 36, par. 2, providing for admission to bail after appeal or writ of error.

14. State v. Clark, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 155, 3 West. L. J. 7 [affirmed in 15 Ohio 595].

15. State Treasurer v. Seaver, 7 Vt. 480.

16. Ministerial officers generally.— An officer without judicial power cannot take a recognizance. Solomon v. People, 15 Ill. 291. But an officer authorized to execute an attachment for contempt may take a recognizance. Baldwin v. State, 126 Ind. 24, 25 N. E. 820, under Ind. Rev. Stat. (1881), § 1705. So that officer only can take a recognizance who is "charged with the duty of arresting a person indicted." State v. West, 3 Ohio St. 509. And peace-officers have no power to take bail on charges of felony. Short v. State, 16 Tex. App. 44.

Governor.— The power to bail is not incidental to the power of the governor to reprieve, so that a bond given in conformity with a condition on reprieve is not binding on sureties. So held in Governor v. Fay, 8 La. Ann. 490.

Mayor.— The power of a mayor to take a recognizance is denied even though conferred upon him by the city charter. Cunningham v. State, 14 Mo. 402; Holmes v. State, 44 Tex. 631. But compare Scio v. Hollis, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 99, 7 Ohio N. P. 281, holding that the mayor has no power after conviction and sentence, except upon order of the court or judge on granting leave, to file a petition in error.

17. In custody on legal process.— Blackman v. State, 12 Ind. 556.

18. Authority to make arrest.— Blevins v. State, 31 Ark. 53.

tempt;[19] or the magistrate issuing the warrant must have final jurisdiction of the offense;[20] or the amount of bail required must be indorsed on the warrant of commitment;[21] or the process must be issued by one having lawful authority,[22] or be based on an order of court or an order fixing the amount of bail,[23] or upon a warrant or other process showing that the accused is to be admitted to bail;[24] or his right to take bail before or after commitment may rest solely upon the statute.[25] Again the sheriff has no power to bail one committed because the examining magistrate did not know whether or not the offense was bailable;[26] nor can the sheriff of the county from which the venue is changed take a bail-bond.[27] And, even though he has the custody of the prisoner, if the authority to take

19. Nature of offense.— Thus a recognizance by the sheriff of one arrested on capias on a felony charge is void. Antonez v. State, 26 Ala. 81; Governor v. Jackson, 15 Ala. 703. See also Short v. State, 16 Tex. App. 44. Or he may be precluded from taking bail where the offense is punishable with death, although he may bail one arrested for any other cause. Pace v. State, 25 Miss. 54. And he has no power to recognize one arrested for contempt of court. State v. Howell, 11 Mo. 613.

20. Jurisdiction of magistrate.— Jones v. State, 63 Ala. 161.

21. Amount indorsed on warrant.— Evans v. State, 63 Ala. 195.

22. Process illegally issued.—Shaw v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 1 (issued by clerk of court without order of court gives no authority to sheriff to take bail); State v. Edwards, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 226 (holding that the statute limits the sheriff's power to bail to cases where the party has been surrendered by his surety, or where he has been committed for want of sureties). See also State v. Wren, 21 Tex. 379.

23. Process based upon proper order.— Alabama.— Callahan v. State, 60 Ala. 65 (considering when order may be granted in vacation); Antonez v. State, 26 Ala. 81 (sheriff has no power to bail after indictment, and power cannot be delegated under insufficient order).

Arkansas.— Dunlap v. State, 66 Ark. 105, 49 S. W. 349 (sheriff may take bail when amount is fixed without any special authorization); Havis v. State, 62 Ark. 500, 37 S. W. 957 (where amount is fixed and bail is ordered in court to which change of venue is made, said bond to be approved by sheriff, he may take bail); Moore v. State, 28 Ark. 480; Pinson v. State, 28 Ark. 397 (if amount is fixed sheriff may bail one upon arrest or in custody); Cooper v. State, 23 Ark. 278 (if amount is indorsed on warrant of commitment for want of bail habeas corpus is necessary and sheriff cannot recognize). But see Gray v. State, 5 Ark. 265.

Connecticut.— Dickinson v. Kingsbury, 2 Day (Conn.) 1, sheriff may bail one committed for want of sureties.

Georgia.— Simpson v. Robert, 35 Ga. 180. If sheriff authorized to imprison until bail furnished bond is valid.

Indiana.— McCole v. State, 10 Ind. 50, sheriff may bail before indictment on order from judge or clerk.

Iowa.— State v. Benzoin, 79 Iowa 467, 44 S. W. 709.

Kentucky.— Shaw v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 1.

Louisiana.— State v. Balize, 38 La. Ann. 542; State v. Loeb, 21 La. Ann. 599; State v. Gordon, 18 La. Ann. 528; State v. Badon, 14 La. Ann. 783; State v. Ansley, 13 La. Ann. 298 (also a case of estoppel); State v. McKeown, 12 La. Ann. 596; State v. Smith, 12 La. Ann. 349; State v. Wyatt, 6 La. Ann. 701 (rule somewhat qualified); State v. Jones, 3 La. Ann. 9. See also State v. Hendricks, 40 La. Ann. 719, 5 So. 24 (as to verbal order being sufficient).

Mississippi.— Cornwell v. State, 53 Miss. 385 (sheriff's power where one committed must strictly conform in the exercise thereof to judgment and he may take bail though mittimus is lost); State v. Brown, 32 Miss. 275 (sheriff may take bail under order of court until accused is duly discharged from custody even after mistrial).

Missouri.— State v. Austin, 141 Mo. 481, 43 S. W. 165 [affirming 69 Mo. App. 377] (sufficient where sheriff takes and approves recognizance in amount ordered by court and filing same with clerk); State v. Jenkins, 24 Mo. App. 433 (where amount of bail is fixed by order of court, sheriff may take one in his custody on a warrant of commitment for want of sureties).

North Carolina.— State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 549.

Texas.— Hodges v. State, 20 Tex. 493, one committed until bail found may be bailed by sheriff where judge fixed amount.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 185.

24. Schneider v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 409, holding also that, where the code provides as above, if the sheriff arrest any person by authority of his bail he cannot take new bail any more than can a private individual.

25. Statutory authority.—Welborn v. People, 76 Ill. 516 (holding that his right to take bail is not limited to the time of making the arrest but that he may take it after he had committed the prisoner to jail); State v. McCoy, 1 Baxt. (Tenn.) 111 (holding that Tenn. Code, §§ 5017, 5056, 5144, limits the sheriff's power, and that bail taken before examination or commitment is a nullity).

26. State v. Horn, Meigs (Tenn.) 473.

27. Harbolt v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1898) 44 S. W. 1110. See Wilson v. Com., 99 Ky. 167, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 51, 35 S. W. 274.

bail is exclusively vested in certain judicial officers this precludes the sheriff in the matter;[28] nor can he take a bond on capias returnable forthwith.[29] Under other decisions, however, the right of the sheriff to take bail is absolutely denied.[30] But, in accordance with the underlying principles of the preceding cases, where the legal prerequisites to the sheriff's right to take bail exist and are complied with, he may take a bond or recognizance even though there may be some irregularities, provided they are immaterial;[31] and he may take bail in vacation or in term where so authorized and the offense is not within the cases excluded from his authority.[32]

b. Clerks of Courts. As to clerks of courts it may be generally stated that they have power to take a recognizance only by virtue of the statute;[33] and so even though the amount thereof is fixed by the court or they are deputized by the court or a judge thereof.[34] Again such clerk may, by statute, take bail in vaca-

28. Rupert v. People, 20 Colo. 424, 38 Pac. 702.

29. On capias returnable forthwith.—Bourdeaux v. Warren County, 66 Miss. 231, 5 So. 227; Jackson v. State, 13 Tex. 218; Busby v. State, 13 Tex. 136.

30. Right absolutely denied.— State v. Walker, 1 Mo. 546; State v. Mills, 13 N. C. 555 (holding that he is not a judicial officer and that a recognizance taken by him is merely a simple obligation); Keller v. Com., 2 Mon. (Pa.) 757 (holding that 23 Hen. VI, c. 9, does not authorize him to take a bond of one arrested for crime). In State v. Miller, 31 Tex. 564, it is also determined that he may not exact a bail-bond, and only has authority to take one whom he has arrested or who voluntarily surrendered himself before some magistrate that the offense may be inquired into.

31. Extent of right.— Alabama.— Holcombe v. State, 99 Ala. 185, 12 So. 794, holding that even though the prosecution is pending in another county the sheriff may, under a proper order, take bail where he has the prisoner in his custody.

Georgia.— Colquitt v. Bond, 69 Ga. 351, holding that bond not void merely because the sheriff in charge of accused filled it up, accepted the sureties, and returned the bond to the clerk.

Indiana.— Blackman v. State, 12 Ind. 556, taken by sheriff de facto valid.

Louisiana.— State v. Gilbert, 10 La. Ann. 524.

Mississippi.—Moss v. State, 6 How. (Miss.) 298, under a statute the sheriff may take a recognizance returnable to a day of the term, under a bench warrant issued in term-time returnable at the same term; it is not like the case of a warrant returnable forthwith.

Missouri.— State v. Austin, 141 Mo. 481, 43 S. W. 165, holding that where the supreme court reverses a conviction with direction to commit the prisoner to await the action of the trial court the sheriff holding him under the judgment may take bail.

Texas.— Golden v. State, 32 Tex. 737, after notice of appeal and failure to recognize before the district court and to pay the fine, sheriff may take a bond to abide decision of the supreme court.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," §§ 184, 185.

Deputy sheriff who arrests one on a capias for a misdemeanor may, under the statute, take a recognizance, nor need it be certified by the officer. Shreeve v. State, 11 Ala. 676. And, where the statute so provides, a special deputy or deputy has the same power as the sheriff. State v. Kizer, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 563. But a deputy cannot bail one surrendered by his bail or one committed for want of sureties. State v. Edwards, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 226.

Jailer.— A recognizance taken by a jailer is not a good statutory or common-law bond. Com. v. Roberts, 1 Duv. (Ky.) 199; Com. v. Lee, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 698. And the delivery from prison does not validate such a bail-bond. Com. v. Roberts, 1 Duv. (Ky.) 199.

Marshal.— That marshal of city court has no authority to take a recognizance see Frishe v. Com., 6 Dana (Ky.) 318.

32. In term-time or in vacation.— Ellis v. State, 10 Tex. App. 324; Peters v. State, 10 Tex. App. 302 (provided the district court has not obtained jurisdiction). But see Gray v. State, 43 Ala. 41.

Sheriff cannot cancel recognizance after having approved, signed, and filed it with the clerk of the court. State v. Lay, 128 Mo. 609, 29 S. W. 999.

33. Statutory authority only.— U. S. v. Evans, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 605, 2 Fed. 147, 1 Crim. L. Mag. 600. Under Iowa Code, § 4380, the clerk of a court to which the venue is taken has the same power to take bail as a clerk of the court in which the indictment is found. State v. Merrihew, 47 Iowa 112, 29 Am. Rep. 464. So an order to the clerk of a higher court to take bail is void where, by statute, the order should be to the clerk of the lower court. State v. Clark, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 155, 3 West L. J. 7.

Recognizance before a deputy clerk is void where it should have been taken before the court. Chinn v. Com., 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 29. See Workman v. Com., 16 Ky. L. Rep. 447.

Subsequent approval by the court does not validate a bail-bond taken by the clerk without legal authority. State v. Caldwell, 124 Mo. 509, 28 S. W. 4.

34. That clerk has no power to take bail in such cases see State v. Carothers, 11 Iowa 273; Morrow v. State, 5 Kan. 563; Lock v. Com., 11 Ky. L. Rep. 399.

tion or his authority may continue to and during subsequent terms of the court,[35] or he may be empowered by law to fix the amount of bail under certain circumstances, and this restricts his authority to the cases specified,[36] although it is decided that a legislative enactment conferring such power is unconstitutional.[37]

3. Delegation of Authority. Determinations allowing and fixing the amount of bail are judicial acts and the authority cannot be delegated.[38]

4. Termination of Authority. An order relating to bail or fixing it is void when made by a magistrate or county judge after the termination of his judicial power in the premises; and this may arise by fixing a prisoner's bail and committing him in default thereof,[39] or by committing the accused and adjourning court.[40] The authority to bail from day to day pending a hearing on habeas corpus expires, however, with the disposal of the case.[41]

5. Want of Authority. It is a constantly recurring principle that the right to bail must be secured by law, and that bail taken without authority of law is void.[42] This rule especially applies to a case where the magistrate is prohibited from admitting accused to bail.[43]

D. Proceedings to Admit to Bail — 1. Application. Application for bail may be made either by motion or by writ of habeas corpus.[44] If new evidence is

That clerk has authority to take bail in such cases see Wilson v. Com., 99 Ky. 167, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 51, 35 S. W. 274; Workman v. Com., 16 Ky. L. Rep. 447; Wallenweber v. Com., 3 Bush (Ky.) 68; Hunt v. U. S., 63 Fed. 568, 27 U. S. App. 287, 11 C. C. A. 340.

35. In vacation.— Wilson v. Com., 99 Ky. 167, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 51, 35 S. W. 274. And a law permitting the clerk in vacation to take bail and fix the amount is unconstitutional as conferring judicial power on such clerk. State v. Krohne, 4 Wyo. 347, 34 Pac. 3.

36. Fixing amount of bail.—State v. Woodward, 159 Mo. 680, 60 S. W. 1042. As to act being mere irregularity not available to accused see Matter of Eddy, 40 Kan. 592, 20 Pac. 283. That clerk may fix the bail where there is no district judge in the county see State v. Schweiter, 27 Kan. 499.

37. Gregory v. State, 94 Ind. 384, 48 Am. Rep. 162, assigning as the reason for this the fact that fixing of bail is a judicial function which should be vested in the courts.

38. Cannot be delegated.— Antonez v. State, 26 Ala. 81; Butler v. Foster, 14 Ala. 323; Com. v. Brown, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 301; State v. Jones, 3 La. Ann. 9. But see State v. Sewall, 3 La. Ann. 575.

39. By fixing bail and ordering commitment.— Reed v. Com., 13 Ky. L. Rep. 637. But a magistrate who commits a prisoner only until he gives bail may thereafter take and approve the bond. State v. Wyatt, 6 La. Ann. 701.

40. Committing accused and adjourning court.— Moore v. State, 37 Tex. 133; State v. Russell, 24 Tex. 505.

41. Disposal of case.— Ex p. Erwin, 7 Tex. App. 288 (Tex. Rev. Crim Code, art. 162).

42. Bail void.—Arkansas.—Cooper v. State, 23 Ark. 278.

Illinois.— Solomon v. People, 15 Ill. 291.

Kentucky.— Dugan v. Com., 6 Bush (Ky.) 305 (taken by a clerk); Branham v. Com., 2 Bush (Ky.) 3.

Louisiana.— State v. Collins, 19 La. Ann. 145.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Otis, 16 Mass. 198; Com. v. Loveridge, 11 Mass. 337; Vose v. Deane, 7 Mass. 280.

United States.—U. S. v. Hudson, 65 Fed. 68. See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 183.

43. Where magistrate is expressly prohibited.— Branham v. Com., 2 Bush (Ky.) 3; State v. Whitaker, 19 La. Ann. 142; State v. Hays, 4 La. Ann. 59; State v. Harper, 3 La. Ann. 598; State v. Hebert, 10 Rob. (La.) 41.

Extent and limits of rule.— It is decided, however, that, if the accused voluntarily gives a bail-bond without questioning the jurisdiction and is released, he can thereafter take no advantage of the want of authority of the magistrate. Jones v. Gordon, 82 Ga. 570, 9 S. E. 782. And a mere error in exercising his judicial authority does not invalidate a bail-bond taken by a justice of the peace. Creekmore v. Com., 5 Bush (Ky.) 312. But where no authority exists the irregularity is not cured by Ky. Crim. Code, § 80. Schneider v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 409.

A recognizance taken by the sheriff, who has no authority to take it, may be considered as a mere bond, a forfeiture of which cannot be had. Pace v. State, 25 Miss. 54. See also Dennard v. State, 2 Ga. 137; State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 549; State v. Mills, 13 N. C. 555.

44. By motion or habeas corpus.— Lynch v. People, 38 Ill. 494; Ex p. Walker, 3 Tex. App. 668.

Habeas corpus is not a prerequisite (Ready v. Com., 9 Dana (Ky.) 38; State v. Field, 112 Mo. 554, 20 S. W. 672), unless made necessary by statute (State v. Field, 112 Mo. 554, 20 S. W. 672).

Notice of application should be given to the district attorney and not to the sheriff. State ex rel. Vickers, 47 La. Ann. 662, 17 So. 296.

Respondent, it seems, should be the district attorney rather than the sheriff. State ex rel. Vickers, 47 La. Ann. 662, 17 So. 296.

Upon the application the accused should produce the testimony relied on by the state relied on, the discovery thereof should be set out in the petition.[45] But it has been held that the prisoner cannot withdraw his motion for bail after submitting all his evidence.[46]

2. Hearing and Proofs — a. Time of Hearing. Applications for bail may be heard during the term or thereafter if public interests so require,[47] or during vacation where other business or the indisposition of the judge prevents a hearing during the term.[48]

b. Proofs — (I) In General. The decisions concerning what proof will be considered on the application for bail where an indictment has been found or there is a judgment of the examining court differ principally as to the conclusiveness of these acts.[49] In certain jurisdictions the rule precludes evidence to rebut the inference of guilt arising from the indictment in the absence of malice, mistake, or extraordinary circumstances.[50] But it is also decided that such indictment and judgment are not conclusive, and that other evidence will be considered, the question being one for the sound discretion of the court.[51] And it has been determined that if the application is before indictment the inquiry will be confined to the depositions on which commitment is ordered.[52]

(II) In Homicide Cases. A person indicted for murder is entitled to habeas corpus for the purpose of showing facts satisfying the court that he is entitled to a discharge on bail;[53] and it is the duty of the judge or court to hear the evidence,[54] although it is decided that such facts should be stated in the petition as will rebut the presumption raised by the indictment and that a general allegation of innocence is insufficient.[55] and a list of the witnesses who have been furnished by the prosecuting attorney in due time. So held in Rigdon v. State, 41 Fla. 308, 26 So. 711, under an indictment for a capital offense.

The mode prescribed by the legislature of bringing the prisoner before the court or judge in the matter of taking bail is not necessarily essential to the jurisdiction. It is sufficient if the object of the statute is accomplished through the voluntary act of the prisoner or of the sheriff (State v. West, 3 Ohio St. 509; and see also State v. Wenzel, 77 Ind. 428; Ready v. Com., 9 Dana (Ky.) 38), or by waiver of irregularities (State v. Perry, 28 Minn. 455, 10 N. W. 778); and the doctrine of waiver may extend to errors in the proceedings (State v. Edney, 60 N. C. 463).

45. New evidence relied on.— Ex p. Curtis, 92 Cal. 188, 28 Pac. 223, Pen. Code, § 1484.

46. Withdrawal of application.— Ex p. Campbell, 20 Ala. 89.

47. During term.— Ex p. Wreford, 40 Ala. 378.

48. During vacation.— Ex p. Kittrel, 20 Ark. 499.

Prisoner's presence at hearing cannot be dispensed with by state unless petitioners on habeas corpus waive their right. State v. Jones, 32 S. C. 583, 10 S. E. 577. But see State ex rel. Vickers, 47 La. Ann. 662, 17 So. 296.

49. Elsewhere has been fully considered under what circumstances and upon what evidence bail will be allowed or denied, including the questions of conflict of evidence and burden of proof, and this covers generally the present inquiry. See, generally, supra, III, A, 3, a.

50. People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77. See also People v. Dixon, 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 395, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 651 (excluding depositions before the committing magistrates); U. S. v. Jones, 3 Wash. (U. S.) 224, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,495 (holding that the evidence would not be examined after indictment. See also infra, III, D, 2, b, (II).

51. Ex p. Tayloe, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 39; Com. v. Rutherford, 5 Rand. (Va.) 646.

So the court will look into the depositions taken before the committing magistrate (People v. Smith, 1 Cal. 9); or on motion the court will examine the papers in the case where the charge is felony (People v. De Graff, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 141); or it will hear and consider affidavits, even though they tend to contradict the finding of the jury (State v. Hill, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 891, 1 Treadw. (S. C.) 242); and on habeas corpus evidence will be heard as to the nature of the offense and the circumstances as to its commitment (Ex p. Campbell, 28 Tex. App. 376, 13 S. W. 141. See also infra, III, D, 2, b, (II).

52. People v. McLeod, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 377, 37 Am. Dec. 328. Contra, see People v. De Graff, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 141.

53. Holley v. State, 15 Fla. 688; Finch v. State, 15 Fla. 633; Lumm v. State, 3 Ind. 293.

54. Duty to hear evidence.—In re Losasso, 15 Colo. 163, 24 Pac. 1080, 10 L. R. A. 847; State v. Crocker, 5 Wyo. 385, 40 Pac. 681.

55. Ex p. White, 9 Ark. 222.

Effect of indictment.— California.— Presumption raised by indictment may be rebutted under certain circumstances. People v. Tinder, 19 Cal. 539, 81 Am. Dec. 77.

Illinois.— Indictment does not preclude inquiry. Lynch v. People, 38 Ill. 494.

Indiana.— Indictment prima facie excludes right to bail. Ex p. Kendall, 100 Ind. 599.

3. Order. Orders for bail, it seems, are valid and operative if they are sufficiently certain,[56] not unjust,[57] and are in substantial compliance with the statutory requirements.[58] If in habeas corpus they should be directed to the sheriff having custody of the prisoner, even though the latter be in a county other than that of the trial.[59] And an order of commitment without bail made on a second hearing and followed by an indictment for murder precludes the right to bail under an order of commitment on the first preliminary hearing.[60]

4. Review of Proceedings — a. Right of Review — (I) In General. It has been determined that the refusal of bail may be the subject of review.[61]

(II) Appeal, Error, or Exceptions. In some states a refusal to allow bail may be reviewed on appeal or writ of error,[62] or the evidence may be set out in

See Ex p. Heffren, 27 Ind. 87, as to production of the state's evidence and the right to cross-examine or impeach the witnesses against accused.

Iowa.— Hight v. U. S., Morr. (Iowa) 407, 43 Am. Dec. 111, substantially same rule as in California.

Louisiana.— Indictment excludes right to bail. State v. Butler, 40 La. Ann. 3, 3 So. 350. But see State v. Brewster, 35 La. Ann. 605; State v. Merrick, 10 La. Ann. 424.

Nevada.— Proof of allegations in petition showing manslaughter only may be given by witnesses before the grand jury or by other evidence, but all the exculpatory facts must appear without material conflict. Ex p. Finlen, 20 Nev. 141, 18 Pac. 827. See also Ex p. Isbell, 11 Nev. 295.

New York.— Justice of supreme court on habeas corpus may examine into defendant's guilt and the degree of crime. People v. Beigler, 3 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 316. See also People v. Goodwin, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 443. In People v. Baker, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 567, it was held that further evidence after indictment would not be received. Examine also People v. Hyler, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 570.

North Carolina.— See State v. Dew, 1 N. C. 88.

Pennsylvania.— State's evidence is conclusive. Com. v. McNall, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 423.

South Carolina.— Indictment is not conclusive. State v. Hill, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 89, 1 Treadw. (S. C.) 242.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 201.

Prisoner is entitled to benefit of reasonable doubt on application for bail. So held in Ex p. Bird, 24 Ark. 275.

56. Votaw v. State, 12 Ind. 497, holding that, if an order for bail sufficiently embraces the indictments intended, it is good as to them. But where the court ordered that in certain state cases designating only the name of the offense a recognizance should be taken, the bail to be fixed at the amounts stated, a recognizance taken under such order for the appearance of one indicted for an offense is void. State v. Hopson, 10 La. Ann. 550.

57. Carmody v. State, 105 Ind. 546, 5 N. E. 679, wherein it is held that a general order fixing the amount for bail as to the particular class is valid if not unjust in the particular case.

58. San Francisco v. Randall, 54 Cal. 408, holding that the statutes requiring the magistrate to make and sign an order for discharge is satisfied by an oral order certified in writing by the clerk to the keeper of the prison followed by a release of the prisoner.

For forms of orders admitting to bail see Ariz. Pen. Code (1891), § 1077; Humphries v. State, 33 Ark. 713; State v. James, 37 Conn. 355, 357; Hendee v. Taylor, 29 Conn. 448, 449; Ex p. Nightingale, 12 Fla. 272; State v. Pender, 66 N. C. 313, 314; Wash v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 91. 92.

For form of order of discharge on giving bail see Iowa Code (1897), § 551; Hill's Anno. Laws Oreg. (1892), §§ 1477, 1478.

Interpretation of order.—An order of court directing the admission of an accused person to bail is not to be construed strictly as to any inartificial or ungrammatical language therein, but if the terms thereof will admit of a construction which will make such order legal, such construction should be given. So where in the case of these prisoners the court ordered that A should give bail in the sum of six hundred dollars, and B and C in the sum of five hundred dollars "each conditioned that the said A, B and C shall appear before the superior court," etc., it was held that the order was to be interpreted as requiring each to give bail for his own appearance, and not for the others. Hendee v. Taylor, 29 Conn. 448.

59. Directed to sheriff of another county. — Holcombe v. State, 99 Ala. 185, 12 So. 794.

60. When order precludes bail.— Ex p. Robinson, 108 Ala. 161, 18 So. 729. But see Ex p. Skelton, 104 Ala. 98, 16 So. 74.

New recognizance on same order.— If the prisoner fails to appear in obedience to an order of the court, and his recognizance is paid, a new bond may be taken if he comes again into the sheriff's custody. Lewis v. People, 18 Ill. App. 76.

61. Ex p. Harris, 26 Fla. 77, 7 So. 1, 23 Am. St. Rep. 548, 6 L. R. A. 713 (where lower court refused to act on ground that he was disqualified and the offense was a bailable felony); State v. Herndon, 107 N. C. 934, 12 S. E. 268 (where judge below refused to hear any evidence, on ground that return to writ showed that petitioner was indicted for a capital offense).

62. On appeal or error.— Ex p. Richards, 102 Ind. 260, 1 N. E. 639; Lumm v. State, 3 exceptions and the application made to the supreme court.[63] In several states, however, the refusal of, or admission to, bail is not within that class of cases in which an appeal or writ of error lies, either because acts of discretion are not reviewable or are not final judgments, or for some other statutory reason.[64]

(III) Certiorari, Habeas Corpus, or Mandamus.[65] Upon a proper showing habeas corpus and certiorari will be awarded by the supreme court to review the action of the court below in refusing bail,[66] and a denial of the application may be ordered with leave to move again on additional evidence for another hearing.[67] Mandamus will not issue to compel admission to bail unless all the facts on which the decision is based are legally certified up.[68]

b. Record and Presumptions. Where a copy of the record and other papers are required they must be filed in the supreme court before an application for bail will be heard therein,[69] and matters necessary for the court's information, or essential to be established, or to rebut presumptions of fact or of law, or in favor of the judgment showing the refusal of bail below to have been erroneous, must appear;[70] although such a prima facie case may be made out upon the record

Ind. 293; Ex p. Walker, 3 Tex. App. 668. See, generally, Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 474.

Reasons for decision.— The appellate court in Texas need not discuss the facts nor give the reasons for its reversal of the judgment below denying bail on habeas corpus. Ex p. Winters, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 897; Ex p. McKinney, 5 Tex. App. 500; Ex p. Moore, 5 Tex. App. 103; Ex p. Rothschild, 2 Tex. App. 560.

63. Exceptions and application to supreme court.—Ex p. Banks, 28 Ala. 89.

64. Appeal or writ of error will not lie.— Arkansas.— Ex p. Kittrel, 20 Ark. 499; Ex p. Good, 19 Ark. 410.

California.— People v. Schuster, 40 Cal. 627.

Illinois.— Lynch v. People, 38 Ill. 494.

Louisiana.— State v. Judge Second Dist. Ct. New Orleans, 10 La. Ann. 424.

Mississippi.— State v. Shrader, 72 Miss. 541, 18 So. 454.

Texas.— Yarbrough v. State, 2 Tex. 519.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 202.

65. Instead of the writs of certiorari and habeas corpus issuing from the supreme court, an agreed statement of the facts and proceedings had before the circuit judge may be submitted by the counsel for and against the prisoner, and if the supreme court decides that the prisoner is entitled to bail, application may again be made to the circuit judge. So held in Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561.

66. Certiorari or habeas corpus.—Ex p. Croom. 19 Ala. 561 (discussing proper practice and what the petition should set forth); Ex p. Kittrel, 20 Ark. 499; Ex p. Good, 19 Ark. 410 (considering also duty of judge to make record). The body of the prisoner and the proceedings before the lower court (Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561), or a transcript of all the proceedings (Ex p. Good, 19 Ark. 410) will be brought before the supreme court. See also, generally, Certiorari; Habeas Corpus.

Federal courts.— That the prosecuting attorney was duly a de facto officer and that petitioner was denied bail pending writ of error in the state court are not sufficient grounds under U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 753. In re Humason, 46 Fed. 388.

Reviewing proceedings of courts of concurrent jurisdiction.— But it is also decided that these writs will not be granted by the supreme court to review the actions of another court having concurrent and not inferior jurisdiction in the matter of bail. In re Strickland, 41 La. Ann. 324, 6 So. 577.

67. Leave to apply again.—State v. Jones, 36 S. C. 607, 15 S. E. 544.

68. Mandamus.— Ex p. Good, 19 Ark. 410. See also, generally, Mandamus.

Mandamus to sheriff will not issue to compel him to bring accused before a certain circuit court commissioner for admission to bail where he has good reason to believe such commissioner disqualified and no issue is made to try the questions and there are other authorities having cognizance of the application. Elder v. Garner, 97 Mich. 617, 55 N. W. 460.

Refusal of the lower court to hear a second application for bail will not be controlled by mandamus. Ex p. Campbell, 20 Ala. 89.

Supersedeas and mandamus.—Although an order from a justice of the supreme court to the court below allows a "writ of error to operate as a supersedeas" but directs the admission to bail, it is not a mere supersedeas but a command to admit to bail, and the supreme court may compel compliance with such order by mandamus, although the judge below is of opinion that said order is unauthorized by law and that the bond would be void. Hudson v. Parker, 156 U. S. 277, 15 S. Ct. 450, 39 L. ed. 424.

69. Requisite papers must be filed.—Com. v. Myers, 2 Mon. (Pa.) 764, including copy of bills of exceptions and assignments in error.

70. The record should contain evidence of the applicant's ability to give or procure bail for the court's information in fixing the amount of bail if granted. Miller v. State, 42 Tex. 309; Ex p. Walker, 3 Tex. App. 668. So, where from the record it appears that a voluntary surrender after escape of one indicted for murder is an essential assertion. it is not established in the supreme court by that it will be aided by a presumption in favor of the petitioner.[71] The presumption, however, exists that the court properly exercised its discretion and that the judgment is correct,[72] but this does not preclude the supreme court from reviewing the evidence and determining the facts,[73] nor from giving the prisoner the benefit of every reasonable doubt upon the case as presented;[74] and even though it may decline to consider the credibility of witnesses in the court below or to reverse the refusal on those grounds,[75] or to discuss the evidence in the record, yet it will consider its sufficiency to make a case in which the "proof is evident" that accused is guilty as charged,[76] and it may also, without reversing, reject, as irrelevant, inculpatory evidence improperly admitted below and affirm the judgment upon the legal evidence.[77]

E. Amount of Bail — 1. Excessive Bail. It is a constitutional guaranty that excessive bail shall not be required.[78] Bail must not, however, be in a prohibitory amount, for, if so, it is substantially a denial of bail within the constitutional provision, and the circumstances and ability of the prisoner or his poverty may be considered in connection with the atrocity of the offense, or turpitude of the crime and the punishment involved.[79] In addition it has been declared that the a proffer before the district court to prove such fact and a refusal of the judge thereof to hear testimony upon the subject brought before the supreme court only on a bill of exceptions. State ex rel. Vickers, 47 La. Ann. 662, 17 So. 296. See further cases cited infra, note 71 et seq.

71. Prima facie case.—When no cause is assigned in the order and none appears in the record for a premature adjournment at which one accused of a capital offense is properly triable the appellate court will not presume that a sufficient cause existed for such adjournment, nor will it require the prisoner who has made out a prima facie case to prove that a sufficient cause did not exist. Ex p. Croom, 19 Ala. 561.

72. Abuse of discretion or manifest error.— The jurisdiction of the appellate court being revisory and correctory, upon reviewing proceedings as to bail it will not interfere except where such discretion has been exercised in an arbitrary, unjust, or oppressive manner, or where the refusal below is manifestly erroneous.

Alabama.— Ex p. Richardson, 96 Ala. 110, 11 So. 316; Ex p. Nettles, 58 Ala. 268; Ex p. Allen, 55 Ala. 258; Ex p. Weaver, 55 Ala. 250; Ex p. McCrary, 22 Ala. 65.

Arkansas.— Ex p. Osborn, 24 Ark. 185.

California.— Ex p. Turner, 112 Cal. 627, 45 Pac. 571.

Georgia.— Lester v. State, 33 Ga. 192.

Indiana.— Ex p. Halpine, 30 Ind. 254.

Mississippi.— Street v. State, 43 Miss. 1.

Texas.— McKinney v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1892) 20 S. W. 363.

Utah.— Ex p. Clawson, (Utah 1884) 5 Pac. 74.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 203.

73. Reviewing facts.—Ex p. Kendall, 100 Ind. 599; Ex p. Sutherlin, 56 Ind. 595; Ex p. Moore, 30 Ind. 197; Ex p. Heffren, 27 Ind. 87. But see Street v. State, 43 Misc. 1, holding that the only possible inquiry is as to the grade of the offense on the strength of the evidence.

74. Giving benefit of reasonable doubt.— Ex p. Jones, 20 Ark. 9, where the only evidence considered was the written testimony taken by the committing magistrate.

75. Credibility of witnesses.— Street v. State, 43 Miss. 1. See also Ex p. Weaver, 55 Ala. 250.

76. Ex p. Cook, 2 Tex. App. 388. Where it appeared that the killing was with express malice and the identity of the person was the only question involved, the judgment of refusal was not disturbed. McKinney v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1892) 20 S. W. 363.

77. Ex p. Smith, 23 Tex. App. 100, 5 S. W. 99.

78. That the prohibition of the United States constitution relating to excessive bail does not apply to state governments has been decided. Foote v. State, 59 Md. 264; Com. v. Hitchings, 5 Gray (Mass.) 482.

Amount of bail in civil actions see supra, II, F.

79. Must not be in prohibitory amount.— U. S. v. Brawner, 7 Fed. 86; U. S. v. Lawrence, 4 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 518, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,577. See also Ex p. Choynski, (Tex. Crim. 1901) 61 S. W. 391; Ex p. Tittle, (Tex. Crim 1897) 40 S. W. 598; Ex p. Lewis, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 38 S. W. 1150.

Fixed at ten thousand dollars will not be considered excessive on an indictment for murder in the absence of any showing as to accused's circumstances. McConnell v. State, 13 Tex. App. 390. See further People v. Town, 4 Ill. 19; Ex p. Hutchings, 11 Tex. App. 28.

If offense is punishable both by fine and imprisonment, a larger bond than the maximum of the fine is not illegal. State v. Martinez, 11 La. Ann. 23.

Inability to procure bail is insufficient to show that it is excessive. Ex p. Duncan, 53 Cal. 410, 54 Cal. 75. Nor is it a ground for release without bail. Matter of Jahn, 55 Kan. 694, 41 Pac. 956.

That amount depends upon turpitude of crime, etc., see In re Williams, 82 Cal. 183, 23 Pac. 118; U. S. v. Lawrence, 4 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 518, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,577.

court, in fixing the amount of bail, will consider the nature of the offense charged, and on the whole case the probabilities of conviction, the sex, rank, and relations of the accused, so far as they have a bearing on the probabilities of his appearing for trial.[80] Again bail should not be clearly disproportionate to the offense charged, nor the amount thereof unreasonably large.[81]

2. Reduction or Increase of Bail — a. In General. If the amount of bail is clearly disproportionate to the offense or unreasonably large,[82] or it appears upon a proper presentation and showing to be excessive,[83] or the public interests will be the better subserved,[84] or there are other legal and justifiable reasons therefor,[85]

80. People v. Cunningham, 3 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 520.

Amount involved in certain offenses may be considered, although this is not alone the criterion. In re Williams, 82 Cal. 183, 23 Pac. 118; People v. Tweed, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 382, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 148.

The nature of the offense may also affect the amount of bail, as it may be within a statute fixing the amount, or be of a character which would make the matter one of discretion with the judge of court. People v. Page, 3 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 600.

81. See Ex p. Duncan, 54 Cal. 75; In re Scott, 38 Nebr. 502, 56 N. W. 1009. An officer in taking bail is not bound by the amount of a previous bond taken on his own authority. Patillo v. State, 9 Tex. App. 456.

Amount need not be specified in, nor indorsed upon, the warrant to commit; it is sufficient that it is fixed by the proper authority. Votawo v. State, 12 Ind. 497. Ala. Crim. Code, § 3408, requiring such indorsement, applies only to preliminary proceedings before indictment, and not to commitments after indictment. Antonez v. State, 26 Ala. 81.

Supreme court on habeas corpus will fix amount of bond and direct the sheriff to take it and submit it to the court before the prisoner's discharge. Longworth Praying for Writ of Habeas Corpus, 7 La. Ann. 247.

82. Ex p. Duncan, 54 Cal. 75; In re Scott, 38 Nebr. 502, 56 N. W. 1009.

83. Excessive bail.— The petitioner should set forth that the amount is excessive. Hernandez v. State, 4 Tex. App. 425. And the question will not be considered where no complaint of it is made in the petition, and no testimony is adduced. Ex p. Warris, 28 Fla. 37, 9 So. 718. So the record should show accused's pecuniary circumstances. Ex p. Hutchings, 11 Tex App. 28. But if it appears that defendant is unable to give sufficient bail it will not be reduced. People v. Town, 4 Ill. 19. And if the application is to reduce bail after indictment, it is decided that the prisoner's guilt will be presumed (Ex p. Duncan, 54 Cal. 75), but the presumption may be rebutted (In re Scott, 38 Nebr. 502, 56 N. W. 1009); and if the facts on which the order of arrest was made are not denied, a presumption of their truth arises (People v. Tweed, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 382, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 148).

84. To better subserve public interests.— Where defendant, who is implicated with another, has pleaded guilty and a sentence would deprive the state of his testimony on trial of his accomplice, bail will be reduced. Com. v. Lowry, 14 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 332.

85. When the trial is for a wrongful conversion of moneys and credits, and there has been a disagreement of the jury, and accused is held on other charges growing out of the same matter and has assigned all his property for the benefit of his creditors, bail will be reduced. Smith v. Lee, 13 Fed. 28. And if excessive bail be required the accused will be discharged on habeas corpus on bail in a reasonable sum. Whiting v. Putnam, 17 Mass. 175; Jones v. Kelly, 17 Mass. 116.

Instances of excessive bail.— Louisiana.— State ex rel. Chandler, 45 La. Ann. 696, 12 So. 884, libel and bail in the sum of ten thousand dollars.

Nevada.— Ex p. Douglas, 25 Nev. 425, 62 Pac. 49, larceny and bail in sum of five thousand dollars.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Lowry, 14 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 332.

Texas.—Ex p. Choynski, (Tex. Crim. 1901) 61 S. W. 319, prize-fighting and bail in sum of two thousand five hundred dollars, which was reduced to one thousand dollars.

United States.— U. S. v. Brawner, 7 Fed. 86.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 209 et seq.

Instances of bail not excessive.— California.—In re Williams, 82 Cal. 183, 23 Pac. 118 (forgery and bail in sum of eight thousand dollars); Ex p. Ryan, 44 Cal. 555 (assault with intent to murder and bail in sum of fifteen thousand dollars).

Nebraska.— In re Scott, 38 Nebr. 502, 56 N. W. 1009, embezzlement and bail in sum of seventy thousand dollars.

New Hampshire.— Evans v. Foster, 1 N. H. 374, holding that bail in sum of one hundred and fifty dollars is not excessive where the crime is punishable by fine of from fifty to five hundred dollars.

New York.— People v. Tweed, 63 N. Y. 202, fraudulently obtaining six thousand dollars and bail in sum of three thousand dollars.

Rhode Island.— Ex p. Snow, 1 R. I. 360, embezzlement and bail in sum of two thousand five hundred dollars.

Texas.— Ex p. Scott, (Tex. Crim. App. 1901) 62 S. W. 568 (assault with intent to rape and bail in sum of six hundred dollars); Ex p. Bishop, (Tex. Crim. 1901) 61 S. W. 308 (burglary and bail in sum of two hundred and fifty dollars); Ex p. Hutchings, 11 Tex. App. 28 (felony and bail in sum of five hundred dollars). See also Ex p. Ferrell, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 37 S. W. 328.

United States.— U. S. v. Petit, 11 Fed. 58, bail will be reduced. But the court has refused, after one has been admitted to bail, to increase the amount on an affidavit of aggravating facts.[86]

b. On Review. Much the same general principles as those considered under the last section apply to the review by the supreme court of the discretion of the trial court in fixing the amount of bail.[87] But it is also determined that all remedies below for a reduction must have been exhausted to justify such review.[88]

F. Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance[89] — 1. Form, Contents, and Validity — a. Bond or Recognizance. If the law be silent as to the form in which the obligation is to be taken it may be done by bond or recognizance,[90] but if a bond be prescribed by statute a recognizance cannot be required;[91] and where such an obligation is required it should be in correct legal form.[92] On the other hand, if the statute requires a recognizance,[93] the material parts of the obligation and the condition should be set forth in the body of it.[94]

b. Compliance With Statute. The form of the instrument is in many cases provided for by law, and where such provision has been made there should be a compliance in substantial particulars with such requirements as apply thereto, and where it possesses none of them scire facias cannot be maintained thereon.[95] counterfeiting and bail in sum of one thousand dollars.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 209 et seq.

Amount fixed by the magistrate may be reduced or increased.

Indiana.— State v. Best, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 611.

Michigan.— People v. Robb, 98 Mich. 397, 57 N. W. 257.

New York.— People v. McKinnon, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 170; People v. McLane, 1 Wheel. Crim. (N. Y.) 45.

Texas.— Johnson v. State, 31 Tex. Crim. 456, 20 S. W. 985.

United States.— U. S. v. Brawner, 7 Fed. 86.

But see State v. Aucoin, 47 La. Ann. 1677, 18 So. 709.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 209 et seq.

The district court may consider a motion to reduce bail, notwithstanding the action of the supreme court is final and conclusive on appeal under habeas corpus. Miller v. State, 43 Tex. 579. See State v. Minkler, 6 Wash. 623, 34 Pac. 151, where the power of the supreme court to reduce the amount of the appeal-bond on a prosecution for manslaughter was denied.

86. Rex v. Salter, 2 Chit. 109, 18 E. C. L. 536.

87. Thus the amount must be disproportionate per se. In re Williams, 82 Cal. 183, 23 Pac. 118. Or there must be an abuse of discretion. Fitzpatrick v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 1085.

But an increase of bail to an amount which accused was unable to raise is decided not to be a ground for reversal. Johnson v. State, 31 Tex. Crim. 456, 20 S. W. 985.

88. State v. Aucoin, 47 La. Ann. 1677, 18 So. 709.

Bond, undertaking, or recognizance, in civil actions see supra, II, G.

89. For definition, form, and general nature of bonds, recognizances, or undertakings see Bonds; Recognizances; Undertakings.

In case of the loss of a recognizance the court may permit the same to be supplied under its power to permit any part of the record or files to be supplied in case of loss or destruction, and a forfeiture may be taken of the same when so supplied. McElwee v. People, 77 Ill. 493. See also, generally, Lost Instruments.

90. Bond or recognizance.— Pugh v. State, 2 Head (Tenn.) 227.

91. Bond not recognizance.— So the security to be taken by a justice of the peace of one accused as the putative father of a bastard child, if required to be in the form of a bond, cannot be by recognizance, as the party, or his sureties, cannot be relieved against the condition of the latter, though they may be against the penalty of a bond. Johnson v. Randall, 7 Mass. 340; Merrill v. Prince, 7 Mass. 396.

92. U. S. v. Hudson, 65 Fed. 68.

If all the words necessary to make a valid bond are inserted, the fact that the words are not correctly arranged will not vitiate a bond, for in such a case the court will reform and rearrange the words so as to give the bond its proper force and effect. State v. Adams, 3 Head (Tenn.) 259.

93. Recognizance not bond.— Shattuck v. People, 5 Ill. 477, wherein it is said that at common law a recognizance was an obligation entered into before some court of record or magistrate duly authorized, with a condition to do some particular act therein specified — an instrument declared to be an obligation of more solemnity and of greater effect than another bond.

94. Dillingham v. U. S., 2 Wash. (U. S.) 422, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,913.

95. Lloyd v. State, Minor (Ala.) 34.

Bond taken by United States commissioner should conform to the statutory requirements of the state in which the commissioner is sitting, so far as such laws are applicable. U. S. v. Sauer, 73 Fed. 671.

Though a United States statute may provide for a recognizance in offenses against the United States, it is not exclusive of any other mode of bail not inconsistent therewith, and a bond provided for by state laws

And if the form is laid down by statute it is declared that such form becomes an essential ingredient of the manner of exercising the right, and, when there is but one form and there is no authority given to vary it, this is the only form applicable to the specific remedy, and the court cannot alter it, or substitute another in its stead.[96] But it has been held that an obligation in the form of a penal bond with the condition of a recognizance has the force and effect thereof.[97]

c. Conformity to Order. A bond or recognizance should conform to the requirements of the order authorizing the taking of the same, and a material variance therefrom will be fatal.[98] may be valid. Swan v. U. S., 3 Wyo. 151, 9 Pac. 931.

Failure to designate who is principal and who are sureties, when such designation is required, will invalidate a bond. Smith v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 9, 29 S. W. 158.

For forms of bonds, undertakings, or recognizances for bail see Ala. Crim. Code (1896), §§ 4361, 4362; Ariz. Pen. Code (1901), §§ 1084, 1106; Sandels & H. Dig. Ark. (1894), §§ 769, 2013; Cal. Pen. Code (1899), §§ 1278, 1287, 1316; People v. Love, 19 Cal. 676, 677; People v. Mellor, 2 Colo. 705, 706; Hendee v. Taylor, 29 Conn. 448, 450; D. C. Comp. Stat. (1894), p. 452, § 61; Fla. Rev. Stat. (1892), p. 896; Colquitt v. Bond, 69 Ga. 351, 352; Ida. Rev. Stat. (1887), § 8108; Matson v. Swanson, 131 Ill. 255, 256, 23 N. E. 595; Ogden v. People, 62 Ill. 63, 64; Thornton's Stat. Ind. (1897), §§ 1804, 1806; Hannum v. State, 38 Ind. 32, 34; Iowa Code (1897), §§ 5501, 5505; Nelson v. State, 44 Kan. 154, 24 Pac. 58; Norton v. State, 40 Kan. 670, 20 Pac. 462; Bullitt's Crim. Code Ky. (1895), pp. 141, 142; Me. Rev. Stat. (1883), c. 134, § 26; State v. Cobb, 71 Me. 198, 199; State v. Hatch, 59 Me. 410; Daniels v. People, 6 Mich. 381, 382; Miss. Anno. Code (1892), §§ 1400, 1400*a*; Dean v. State, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 200; Mo. Rev. Stat. (1899), § 2762; Carpenter v. State, 8 Mo. 291, 292; Mont. Pen. Code (1895), § 2351; Irwin v. State, 10 Nebr. 325, 326, 6 N. W. 370; Nev. Comp. L. (1900), §§ 4469, 4476, 4498; N. Y. Code Crim. Proc. §§ 554, 568, 581, 605; People v. Hurlbutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 126, 127; People v. McCoy, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 73, 74; State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 174, 175; State v. Edney, 60 N. C. 463, 465; N. D. Rev. Codes (1895), § 8454; Bates' Anno. Stat. Ohio (1900), § 7187; Millikin v. State, 21 Ohio St. 635, 636; Hill's Anno. Laws Oreg. (1892), §§ 1470, 2154; Whitney v. Darrow, 5 Oreg. 442, 443; Fox v. Com., 81* Pa. St. 511, 513; Tenn. Code (1896), §§ 7117, 7118; State v. Quinby, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 418, 420; Pierce v. State, 10 Tex. 556; Utah Rev. Stat. (1898), § 4995; U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 Utah 161, 163, 13 Pac. 673; Tyler v. Greenlaw, 5 Rand. (Va.) 711; Wis. Stat. (1899), §§ 4746, 4811; State v. Wettstein, 64 Wis. 234, 235.

For form of entry of bail in criminal prosecution see Wis. Stat. (1899), § 4812.

96. Dover v. State, 45 Ala. 244.

Sufficiency as a recognizance.—An acknowledgment signed and sealed by the accused and two others and on which the judge wrote "attested and approved" has been held not good as a recognizance. State v. West, 3 Ohio St. 509. As has also a mere memorandum containing neither the form nor substance of a recognizance. State v. Crippen, 1 Ohio St. 399. Though it has been decided that a formal recognizance may be molded out of the entries in the court's docket. Pierson v. Com., 3 Grant (Pa.) 314. A simple bond with a collateral condition has also been declared not a recognizance. Hicks v. State, 3 Ark. 313. See Blackwell v. State, 3 Ark. 320. In Tennessee it has been held that, in any proceeding where any bond or recognizance may be questioned, it will be regarded as a sufficient statutory bond if it would have been good at common law. U. S. v. Evans, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 605, 2 Fed. 147, 1 Crim. L. Mag. 600. But an undertaking prescribed by statute which differs radically in form and substance from a recognizance will not be construed as such. State v. Hays, 2 Oreg. 314.

A bond not good as a recognizance may be good as a statutory bond. Park v. State, 4 Ga. 329. And might, it has been said, be good as a common-law bond. Hicks v. State, 3 Ark. 313. But see Dickenson v. State, 20 Nebr. 72, 29 N. W. 184. But a bond taken without authority will not even be good as a common-law bond. Scio v. Hollis, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 99, 7 Ohio N. P. 281.

97. Penal bond conditioned as recognizance.—Colorado.— People v. Mellor, 2 Colo. 705.

Illinois.— McFarlan v. People, 13 Ill. 9; Shattuck v. People, 5 Ill. 477.

Indiana.— Kearns v. State, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 334.

Kansas.— Ingram v. State, 10 Kan. 630.

North Carolina.— State v. Jones, 88 N. C. 683; State v. Edney, 60 N. C. 463.

98. Material variance fatal.— Dillingham v. U. S., 2 Wash. (U. S.) 422, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,913. So where a single bond for an aggregate amount for appearance of one charged with distinct offenses is not authorized by the order, the sureties on such a bond will not be liable. Cooper v. Com., 13 Bush (Ky.) 654; U. S. v. Goldstein, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 413, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,226. And where the order directs that the bond be given at a certain term of court, one bearing an earlier date is not the bond required, and is void. State v. Williams, 37 La. Ann. 200.

That the date of the order is the same as

d. To Whom Bond Should Run. The question as to whom the bond should run is, in many cases, made dependent upon the nature of the offense charged or the jurisdiction of the magistrate.[99] But if the statute specifies that it shall be taken to a certain official, or to the state, there should be a compliance in this particular with the statutory requirement.[1]

e. Amount of Bond. To be valid the bond should specify the amount in which the obligors are bound.[2] If the statute specifies the amount of bail which shall be given in the particular class of offenses of which the defendant is accused, a recognizance for a sum less than that specified will be void,[3] as it will also be if the penalty of the bond is for too much.[4] Again if the committing court in its order for bail designated the amount to be required, a bond not conforming to such order will be void.[5] A bond cannot, it has been declared, be taken in an aggregate amount to cover the penalties in different prosecutions.[6] that of the bond is not proof of the fact that at the time the bond was taken the court was in session. Lindsay v. State, (Tex. Crim. App. 1898) 46 S. W. 1045.

99. So where a justice of the peace has final jurisdiction of a criminal offense brought before him, but no authority to bind the offender over to the county court, the bond should, it was held in early Connecticut cases, be to the treasurer of the town (Bentley v. Lyman, 21 Conn. 81), and not to the county treasurer (Darling v. Hubbell, 9 Conn. 350), and the requirement that the bond should be to the county treasurer on an appeal from a justice of the peace was not changed by the Connecticut act of 1855, which abolished the county court and transferred its jurisdiction to the superior court (Salef v. Phelps, 25 Conn. 114).

A private prosecutor, having no pecuniary interest in the trial and conviction of the offender, is not entitled to have a bail-bond taken to him. State Treasurer v. Rice, 11 Vt. 339.

1. So where the statute specifies that the bond should run to the state, one made to the governor is invalid. Warren v. State, 21 Tex. 510; Lawton v. State, 5 Tex. 270. See also Chittenden County Treasurer v. Mitchell, 23 Vt. 131.

A mere clerical error, however, in inserting the name of the former executive instead of the present one, where the bond should be taken to the executive, will not vitiate it. State v. McKeown, 12 La. Ann. 596.

2. Com. v. Campbell, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 494; Townsend v. State, 7 Tex. App. 74.

Omission of a stipulation to pay a certain sum to the state in case of a failure to perform the conditions of a bond or recognizance, though it be required by law, will not invalidate such instrument where it elsewhere acknowledges indebtedness in a specified amount to be void on certain conditions, and by statute or code it is provided that defects in form will render a bond or recognizance void. Ky. Crim. Code, § 80; Miller v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 14. See also Com. v. O'Daniel, 9 Bush (Ky.) 551. But the mere omission of the word "dollars," or the sign therefor, will not, it has been held, avoid the instrument, for the omitted word may be supplied. Whitney v. Darrow, 5 Oreg. 442. But see Irwin v. State, 10 Nebr. 325, 6 N. W. 370, where a recognizance in the sum of "three hundred" was held insufficient. A bail-bond that was conditioned for the payment of "$500, five hundred ———" has been held sufficient. Roberts v. State, 11 Tex. App. 26.

3. Less than statutory amount.— State v. McCown, 24 W. Va. 625.

4. More than proper amount.— State v. Austin, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 213. See Dow v. Prescott, 12 Mass. 418; Vose v. Deane, 7 Mass. 280.

5. Conformity to order.— Neblett v. State, 6 Tex. App. 316.

A bond taken in a larger sum than that fixed by court is void. Waugh v. People, 17 Ill. 561; Roberts v. State, 34 Kan. 151, 8 Pac. 246; Com. v. Riffe, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1608, 49 S. W. 772; Connolly v. Com., 10 Ky. L. Rep. 873. Where, however, the order of the court fixed the bond at seven hundred dollars and the court subsequently directed the entry to be amended by inserting seven thousand dollars, a bond which had been previously executed for the latter sum was declared to be valid, and it was held that the sureties could be relieved only on the ground of error in signing it. State v. Frith, 14 La. 191.

A bond taken at a less sum than that fixed by court has been, however, held to be valid. Com. v. Nimmo, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 287. See also Chumasero v. People, 18 Ill. 405; Peters v. State, 10 Tex. App. 302.

Indorsement of amount by the clerk.— Where such an indorsement is required by a statute which directs the court to fix the amount of accused's bail, or authorizes the clerk to fix it when the judge is out of the county (see Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 4124) the indorsement should be that the judge ordered bail or that he was absent. State v. Pratt, 148 Mo. 402, 50 S. W. 113.

Where the order for bail designated the amount as four hundred dollars with two sureties in the sum of two hundred dollars, and the bond was for the amount specified, but with ten sureties in the sum of forty dollars each, it was held that the sureties were not bound. State v. Buffum, 22 N. H. 267.

6. Cooper v. Com., 13 Bush (Ky.) 654. But see U. S. v. Reese, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 629, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,138.

f. Conditions — (I) In General. A recognizance in general binds the principal to appear to answer a specified charge against him, to abide the order and judgment of the court thereon, and not to depart without leave of court, each of which particulars is said to be distinct and independent.[7]

(II) As to Appearance — (A) In General. The condition for appearance has generally been held sufficient where it binds the principal to appear to answer the complaint before some court of competent jurisdiction,[8] and abide the judgment of the court thereon.[9] And, generally, it may be stated that omissions or other defects which are not of a substantial nature will not invalidate a recognizance to appear.[10] The question, however, as to the validity of an obligation in a recognizance to appear and answer a criminal charge depends in many cases upon the jurisdiction and authority of the magistrate to examine and admit such party to bail, and not as to whether the particular court before which the parties are to appear has jurisdiction of the crime charged.[11] In some cases conditions in a

7. State v. Stout, 11 N. J. L. 124.

8. Made returnable to a court not having jurisdiction of. the case is void. Williams v. Shelby, 2 Oreg. 144; Com. v. Bolton, 1 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 328; State Treasurer v. Danforth, Brayt. (Vt.) 140.

9. Connecticut.—Waldo v. Spencer, 4 Conn. 71; County Treasurer v. Burr, 1 Root (Conn.) 392.

Illinois.— Gallagher v. People, 91 Ill. 590.

Kentucky.—Roberts v. Com., 7 Bush (Ky.) 430; Tenney v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 415.

Massachusetts. — Com. v. Nye, 7 Gray (Mass.) 316.

New Hampshire.— State v. Eastman, 42 N. H. 265.

New York.— People v. Koeber, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 39.

Vermont.— State Treasurer v. Rolfe, 15 Vt. 9.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail." § 257.

Sufficiency, generally.— It is no objection to a recognizance which requires the appearance of the principal that the condition thereof provides that the obligation shall be void, if default be made in the condition. McCarty v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 338. Nor is a recognizance void which does not bind the principal in express terms to answer some charge where the nature of the offense is stated elsewhere in the instrument. State v. Whitecotton, 63 Mo. App. 8; State v. Becknall, 41 Tex. 319. See also infra, note 10. But see contra, Com. v. Fulks, 94 Va. 585, 27 S. E. 498. But where it cannot be ascertained whether the appearance is to be before a magistrate for examination or before the court for trial (Henry v. Com., 4 Bush (Ky.) 427), or where attendance is not required at the court before which the defendant may be tried (People v. Mack, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 567), the recognizance is defective. And a bond to appear and "answer the charge of the state of Texas with gift enterprise" has been held insufficient to support a verdict. Foard v. State, 3 Tex. App. 556.

A condition to appear at the next court of general sessions, then and there to answer all such matters and things as should be objected against the defendant and abide the order of the court, has been construed as binding the defendant to appear at the next court, to be forthcoming before such court until discharged. Gildersleeve v. People, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 35.

If bond should be for appearance only no authority exists to exact in addition a condition for the payment of any fine against him. State v. Cobb, 44 Mo. App. 375.

Omission of word "next" before "term" will not invalidate a recognizance for appearance, but the instrument will be construed in connection with the statute requiring appearance at next term. Jedlicka v. State, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 463, 2 Clev. L. Rep. 196.

The phrase to "abide the judgment and orders" of the court does not mean that the final judgment shall be satisfied by the defendant or his sureties, but that the former will surrender himself ready and willing to either secure such judgment or be committed until such security is given. Sowders v. State, 37 Kan. 209, 14 Pac. 865.

10. So omission of phrase "to answer the charge" will not invalidate a recognizance. State v. Davidson, 20 Mo. 406; Gary v. State, 11 Tex. App. 527. Or that the defendant will not depart without leave. State v. Whitecotton, 63 Mo. App. 8; People v. Stager, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 431.

The adding of clauses not required by law will not, in all instances, avoid the bond, but such clauses will be treated as surplusage. So held where the recognizance bound the party to appear "from day to day" (Cundiff v. State, 38 Tex. 641; State v. Glaevecke, 33 Tex. 53), and not to depart from the court "without leave" (Thompson v. State, 34 Tex. Crim. 135, 29 S. W. 789). See also infra, III, F, 1, l, as to effect of trivial defects.

11. State v. Edney, 20 N. C. 423. See also in this connection the following cases:

Alabama.— Gooden v. State, 35 Ala. 430.

Connecticut.— Darling v. Hubbell, 9 Conn. 350.

Indiana.— State v. Montgomery, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 221; Paine v. State, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 206.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. McNeill, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 127.

New Hampshire.—State v. Fowler, 28 N. H. 184.

New York.—People v. Shaver, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 45.

recognizance are prescribed by statute, and where so prescribed the courts will not inquire into the reasons of the legislature in requiring them.[12]

(B) Place of Appearance. A recognizance should designate a place or court where the defendant is to appear, and where this is not stated the instrument is fatally defective,[13] and if it designates a court, and there is no such court as that designated, it will be void.[14] But a mere misnomer of the court will not necessarily avoid it.[15] It has, however, been held unnecessary in some cases to specifically name the court for appearance where the court intended is sufficiently described by the designation of the place for appearance.[16] And the recognizance may in some cases designate the court of another county for the appearance of the defendant, as where an order has been made changing the venue to such county.[17]

(C) Time of Appearance. While the time for appearance of the defendant should be designated in a recognizance, yet it has generally been decided that it is not essential to the validity of such instrument that the day of the month or the year be correctly stated therein, provided the proper time is sufficiently fixed by other terms; and it has been held that a recognizance to appear at the "next term" of court will be valid, though there be an incorrect recital as to the Texas.— Garner v. Smith, 40 Tex. 505.

Wisconsin.— State v. Wettstein, 64 Wis. 234, 25 N. W. 34.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," §§ 257, 260.

12. Van Blaricum v. People, 22 Ill. 86.

13. State v. Allen, 33 Ala. 422; Grigsby v. State, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 354; State v. Phelps, 38 Tex. 555; Ward v. State, 38 Tex. 302; State v. Angell, 37 Tex. 357; Crouch v. State, 36 Tex. 333; Barnes v. State, 36 Tex. 332; Vivian v. State, 16 Tex. App. 262; Littlefield v. State, 1 Tex. App. 722.

In New York it has been held that a recognizance should be made returnable before a court at some term thereof. Corlies v. Waddell, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 355.

Conditions held sufficient.—A statutory requirement that a recognizance shall state the court before which, and the time and place when and where, the defendant is to appear is sufficiently complied with by a requirement that he personally "appear before the next term of the District Court" instead of "before said court at its next term." Brown v. State, 28 Tex. App. 65, 66, 11 S. W. 1022. Condition that the defendant "shall well and truly make his personal appearance before the honorable district court of A county, Texas, now in session at the court house thereof in the town of B, and here remain from day to day" is a sufficient compliance. Thrash v. State, 16 Tex. App. 271; Ray v. State, 16 Tex. App. 268.

Defective conditions.—A condition stating the place as "the county court in and for the county of county, state of Texas at the court house thereof in the city of W," has been held defective. Hammond v. State, (Tex. App. 1886) 9 S. W. 269. As has also the condition to appear "at the next term of this court, and there remain" (Williamson v. State, 12 Tex. App. 169) or "before the District Court at Brackett" (Teel v. State, 3 Tex. App. 326, 327) under a requirement that the name of the court or county be stated. And a condition to appear "before said examining court" but omitting to name the magistrate has been held insufficient. Crowder v. State, 7 Tex. App. 484. Again, under a statute requiring that a debtor be taken before one of certain "magistrates," a recognizance that conditioned that the debtor will surrender himself "for examination before said police court" is not a compliance therewith. Underwood v. Clements, 16 Gray (Mass.) 169.

Recognizance to appear at next term of a certain court will be construed as meaning the court of the same county in which the prisoner was held to bail. People v. McCoy, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 73; Hodges v. State, 20 Tex. 493.

14. Designating court not in existence.— Sherman v. State, 4 Kan. 570; Coleman v. State, 10 Md. 168; State v. Manly, 1 Md. 135. But where the recognizance was conditioned for appearance "before the criminal court" of a certain county, there was a sufficient designation of the court for appearance, where a certain court of such county alone had jurisdiction of the offense. Petty v. People, 118 Ill. 148, 8 N. E. 304.

15. Misnomer of court.— People v. Hawkins, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 1, 3 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 42; State v. Edney, 20 N. C. 423.

16. Place designated by statute.— Norton v. State, 40 Kan. 670, 20 Pac. 462; Com. v. Stegala, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 686; State v. Quinby, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 418. See People v. Carpenter, 7 Cal. 402, where it is held to be unnecessary if fixed by law.

Failure to designate the place will not avoid the recognizance where the statute designates a certain place as the only place at which such court shall meet. Tyler v. Greenlaw, 5 Rand. (Va.) 711.

17. Designating court of another county.— Hall v. State, 15 Ala. 431; Stebbins v. People, 27 Ill. 240. Such a condition has also been held valid where the indictment is pending and bail filed in another county. State v. Wells, 36 Iowa 238. But see Hodges v. State, 20 Tex. 493.

year or the day of the month on which the court will meet or for the defendant to appear,[18] or an omission to designate any date therefor.[19] But if there is no term of court to be held at the time specified in the recognizance and there is nothing in the record from which it may be inferred by the court that the time designated was intended to describe the next session of the court, the instrument will be void.[20]

(III) Unauthorized Conditions. Conditions in a recognizance, in addition to those authorized by law, are generally considered as not affecting the validity of the instrument, but as mere surplusage,[21] especially where they do not impose obligations which are more onerous than the law requires.[22]

18. Illinois.—Mooney v. People, 81 Ill. 134.
Indiana.— Hunter v. State, 21 Ind. 351.
Mississippi.— Curry v. State, 39 Miss. 511.
Missouri.— State v. Lay, 128 Mo. 609, 29 S. W. 999; State v. McElhaney, 20 Mo. App. 584.
New York.— People v. Welch, 47 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 420.
Texas.— O'Neal v. State, 35 Tex. 130; Brite v. State, 24 Tex. 219. But see contra, Maxwell v. State, 38 Tex. 171; Wegner v. State, 28 Tex. App. 419, 13 S. W. 608; Douglass v. State, 26 Tex. App. 248, 9 S. W. 733; Thomas v. State, 13 Tex. App. 496; Sloan v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 63, 44 S. W. 1095, 73 Am. St. Rep. 903. In Texas the cases hold that the principal should be bound to appear at a fixed time. Wright v. State, 22 Tex. App. 670, 3 S. W. 346; Williamson v. State, 12 Tex. App. 169.
See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 259.
Sufficiency of designation generally.—Under a code provision that a recognizance shall be for the prisoner's appearance on the first day of the next term, if the day specified in the recognizance is in fact the first day of the term it is sufficient. Holmes v. State, 17 Nebr. 73, 22 N. W. 232. But see contra, Teel v. State, 3 Tex. App. 326. Again a requirement has been held sufficient providing for appearance "instanter" (Fentress v. State, 16 Tex. App. 79), or before a certain court "now in session" (Camp v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 142, 45 S. W. 490); and a recognizance taken to the second day of the term is held valid in an early Kentucky case. Adams v. Com., 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 70. But see Hostetter v. Com., 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 1.
At current term.—Whether under special circumstances an appearance may be compelled at the current term in the district court, though a state statute provides that recognizance shall be for appearance at the next term, and proceedings in such cases are required to be in accordance with the state statute, quære. U. S. v. Brawner, 7 Fed. 86.
"Before the next term."—Where a bond provides for appearance "before the next term" of a certain court the word "before" is construed as having reference not to time but to place. Williford v. State, 17 Tex. 653.
Bond dated in August conditioned for appearance in August next was construed as meaning August of the following year. Wheeler v. State, 21 Ga. 153.
"Next regular term."—Where a statute provided that the defendant might, "at his option, give bail either for his appearance at the then pending or next regular term thereof, or for his appearance at such term, and from term to term thereafter," bond was declared to be void which was conditioned for appearance at a special term of the United States district court which was not then called and was subsequently called at a different time from that named in the bond and after the lapse of two regular terms. U. S. v. Keiver, 56 Fed. 422, 424.
"Next term" of court in a recognizance entered into in a criminal case is construed as meaning the next term for the transaction of criminal business. People v. O'Brien, 41 Ill. 303.

19. Failure to designate any date.— Gay v. State, 7 Kan. 394; State v. Ansley, 13 La. Ann. 298; Kellogg v. State, 43 Miss. 57; State v. Potts, 60 Mo. 368. But see Coleman v. State, 10 Md. 168.
Omission of the word "next" before the word "term" in a recognizance required by statute to bind the accused to appear at the "next term" will not invalidate a recognizance which strictly conforms to the statute in other respects. Proseck v. State, 38 Ohio St. 606.

20. State Treasurer v. Merrill, 14 Vt. 64. See Butler v. State, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 470; State v. Sullivant, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 280; Burnett v. State, 18 Tex. App. 283; Hayden v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 801; Moseley v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 18, 38 S. W. 800.

21. Surplusage.—Alabama.—Howie v. State, 1 Ala. 113.
Maine.— State v. Cobb, 71 Me. 198; State v. Crowley, 60 Me. 103; State v. Hatch, 59 Me. 410; State v. Baker, 50 Me. 45.
Missouri.— State v. Lewis, 61 Mo. App. 633.
Rhode Island.— State v. Edgerton, 12 R. I. 104.
Tennessee.— State v. Adams, 3 Head (Tenn.) 259.
Vermont.— State Treasurer v. Woodward, 7 Vt. 529.
See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 261.

22. Conditions not more onerous than law requires.— Georgia.— Simpson v. Robert, 35 Ga. 180.
Kansas.— Glasgow v. State, 41 Kan. 333, 21 Pac. 253.
Louisiana.— State v. Cassidy, 7 La. Ann. 273.
Ohio.— State v. Wellman, 3 Ohio 14.
Texas.— Wilcox v. State, 24 Tex. 544;

g. Description of Offense — (i) Necessity. A recognizance should either set out the kind of offense or describe it substantially, so that it may appear what the nature of the charge is for which the accused is to answer.[23] But this rule is not followed in some jurisdictions.[24]

(ii) Sufficiency — (a) Particularity Required. It is not necessary in a recognizance to describe the offense with legal accuracy,[25] or in the terms of the statute;[26] nor is it essential that the instrument designate by number the section of the statute alleged to have been violated,[27] or that it state the degree of the crime charged.[28] The offense need only be substantially described, it not being necessary to set it forth with the technical precision required in an indictment;[29]

Pickett v. State, 16 Tex. App. 648; Fulton v. State, 14 Tex. App. 32.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," §§ 261, 262.

Conditions more onerous than law requires. — In some cases, however, it has been held that, if material and important words are added which impose more onerous conditions than are required by law, the recognizance is void. Durein v. State, 38 Kan. 485, 17 Pac. 49; Barringer v. State, 27 Tex. 553; Hand v. State, 28 Tex. App. 28, 11 S. W. 679; Wright v. State, 22 Tex. App. 670, 3 S. W. 346; Turner v. State, 14 Tex. App. 168. Contra, Ainsworth v. Territory, 3 Wash. Terr. 270, 14 Pac. 590.

23. Rule requiring description.—Alabama. — Goodwin v. Governor, 1 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 465.

Colorado.— Waters v. People, 4 Colo. App. 97, 35 Pac. 56.

Idaho.— People v. Sloper, 1 Ida. 158.

Kentucky.—Simpson v. Com., 1 Dana (Ky.) 523.

Louisiana.— State v. Wooten, 4 La. Ann. 515.

Oregon.— Belt v. Spaulding, 17 Oreg. 130, 20 Pac. 827.

Texas.— State v. Gordon, 41 Tex. 510; Gonzales v. State, 31 Tex. 205; Tierney v. State, 31 Tex. 40; Bennett v. State, 30 Tex. 446; Payne v. State, 30 Tex. 397; Horton v. State, 30 Tex. 191; O'Bannon v. State, 9 Tex. App. 465; Littlefield v. State, 1 Tex. App. 722.

Virginia.— Cannon v. Com., 96 Va. 573, 32 S. E. 33.

24. In these jurisdictions it is declared that if the defendant was in legal custody charged with a criminal offense, and was discharged from such custody by reason of the execution of the recognizance, and it can be ascertained that the sureties undertook that the defendant should appear before the proper court for trial for such offense, the recognizance is not void in failing to state the particular offense charged. Kansas City v. Hescher, 4 Kan. App. 782, 46 Pac. 1005. See also State v. Randolph, 22 Mo. 474; State v. Rye, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 386; Dailey v. State, 4 Tex. 417. And in New York it has been decided that, under the code provision that no proceeding thereunder shall be invalid because of any error or mistake which does not prejudice defendant's substantial rights [N. Y. Code Crim. Proc. § 684] an omission to specify the offense will not invalidate the bond, since defendant's substantial rights are not thereby prejudiced. People v. Gillman, 125 N. Y. 372, 26 N. E. 469, 35 N. Y. St. 280 [reversing 58 Hun (N. Y.) 368, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 40, 34 N. Y. St. 629].

25. Legal accuracy not required.— Patterson v. State, 12 Ind. 86.

26. Hall v. State, 9 Ala. 827. A description in the recognizance of the offense as "resisting process" is sufficient, though the statute makes the offense consist in "knowingly and wilfully resisting or opposing any officer of this State in serving or attempting to serve, or execute, any legal writ or process whatsoever." Browder v. State, 9 Ala. 58. But see Belt v. Spaulding, 17 Oreg. 130, 20 Pac. 827.

But following the language of the statute describing the offense will be sufficient. People v. Baughman, 18 Ill. 152. And it has been held that the offense should be set out in substantial conformity to the statutory definition. Hardin v. State, 36 Tex. Crim. 460, 37 S. W. 735.

Where a statute prescribes the form of bond and designates the manner of describing the offense, the omission of words not necessarily essential to the description will not avoid the recognizance. So where, under the statute, the bond should read to answer "for the offense of burglary," a bond to answer "for burglary" will be sufficient. Holcombe v State, 99 Ala. 185, 12 So. 794.

27. U. S. v. Dunbar, 83 Fed. 151, 48 U. S. App. 531, 27 C. C. A. 488.

28. Degree of offense need not be stated.— Georgia.— Foote v. Gordon, 87 Ga. 277, 13 S. E. 512; Clark v. Gordon, 82 Ga. 613, 9 S. E. 333.

Illinois.— Besimer v. People, 15 Ill. 439.

Kentucky.— Fowler v. Com., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 128.

Michigan.— People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338.

Texas.— Thompson v. State, 31 Tex. 166; Cotton v. State, 7 Tex. 547.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 263 et seq.

29. Substantial description sufficient.— Alabama.— State v. Weaver, 18 Ala. 293.

Georgia.— Hampton v. Brown, 32 Ga. 251.

Illinois.— People v. Baughman, 18 Ill. 152.

Indiana.— State v. Hamer, 2 Ind. 371.

Louisiana.— State v. Tennant, 30 La. Ann. 852; State v. Cunningham, 10 La. Ann. 393.

Maine.— State v. Howley, 73 Me. 552.

Missouri.— State v. Weideman, 30 Mo. App. 647.

nor need the facts of the case be set forth, it being sufficient if the offense be specified in general terms.[30] And where there are several indictments the fact that the recognizance does not specify to which indictment it refers will not affect its validity.[31] Again it has been held to be sufficient to state the name of the offense without setting out the elements thereof, or the facts.[32] Nor will clerical errors in the description of the offense invalidate a recognizance, where it is provided by law that no recognizance shall be void for want of form or substance, or for omission of any recital or condition.[33] And added or unnecessary words in the description may be treated as surplusage.[34]

(B) Must Describe a Punishable Offense. The recognizance, when required to describe the offense, should describe such a one as will, under the laws, justify a criminal prosecution, and if no such offense be described, the recognizance will be void.[35]

New York.— People v. Blankman, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 252.

Texas.— State v. Gordon, 41 Tex. 510; Barrera v. State, 32 Tex. 644.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 266.

30. Supporting the text and giving illustrations of sufficient descriptions see the following cases:

Alabama.— Hall v. State, 15 Ala. 431.

California.— People v. Barnes, 65 Cal. 16, 2 Pac. 493.

Colorado.— Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528.

Illinois.— Young v. People, 18 Ill. 566.

Iowa.— State v. Merrihew, 47 Iowa 112, 29 Am. Rep. 464; State v. Marshall, 21 Iowa 143.

Kentucky.— Main v. Com., 22 Ky. L. Rep. 228, 56 S. W. 970.

Maine.— State v. Howley, 73 Me. 552.

Michigan.— Daniels v. People, 6 Mich. 381.

Nevada.— State v. Birchim, 9 Nev. 95.

Ohio.— Kinney v. State, 14 Ohio Cir. Ct. 91, 7 Ohio Cir. Dec. 97.

Texas.— Lewis v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1898) 47 S. W. 988; Camp v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 142, 45 S. W. 490; Lockhart v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 149, 22 S. W. 413; Lowrie v. State, 43 Tex. 602; Turner v. State, 41 Tex. 549; State v. Franklin, 35 Tex. 497; State v. Brown, 34 Tex. 146; Webb v. State, 32 Tex. 652; Barrera v. State, 32 Tex. 644; Goldthwaite v. State, 32 Tex. 599; Wilson v. State, 25 Tex. 169; Vivian v. State, 16 Tex. App. 262; Wills v. State, 4 Tex. App. 613; Morris v. State, 4 Tex. App. 557.

United States.— U. S. v. Dunbar, 83 Fed. 151, 48 U. S. App. 531, 27 C. C. A. 488; U. S. v. Dennis, 1 Bond (U. S.) 103, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,949; U. S. v. George, 3 Dill. (U. S.) 431, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,199, 2 Centr. L. J. 77, 22 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 103.

For insufficient descriptions see State v. Moore, 2 Pennew. (Del.) 299, 46 Atl. 669; Fikes v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 51 S. W. 248; Loveless v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 50 S. W. 361; Mara v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 183, 45 S. W. 594; Patton v. State, 35 Tex. 92; Hill v. State, 27 Tex. 608.

31. Several indictments.— People v. Ct. Oyer & Terminer, 7 Hun (N. Y.) 114.

Though several offenses may be charged in different counts in the indictment, a recital of one has been held sufficient. Mooney v. People, 81 Ill. 134; People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338; State v. Peyton, 32 Mo. App. 522; Foster v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 374, 42 S. W. 998.

32. Merely naming offense.— State v. Hamer, 2 Ind. 371; Belt v. Spaulding, 17 Oreg. 130, 20 Pac. 827; Jones v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 364, 43 S. W. 78, 70 Am. St. Rep. 751. So held under a statute requiring a recognizance "briefly stating the nature of the offense." State v. Birchim, 9 Nev. 95. But see Belt v. Spaulding, 17 Oreg. 130, 20 Pac. 827.

An indorsement of the name of the offense may be sufficient. Tillson v. State, 29 Kan. 452.

33. State v. Soudriette, 105 Ind. 306, 4 N. E. 860. So a description of the offense as carrying "brass knucks" instead of "brass-knuckles" is not fatal. Mills v. State, 36 Tex. Crim. 71, 35 S. W. 370. See also People v. Hanaw, 106 Mich. 421, 64 N. W. 328, where it is held that a bond is not void because of a misnomer of the offense.

Misdescription of the offense will not relieve the sureties. Shreeve v. State, 11 Ala. 676; State v. Loeb, 21 La. Ann. 599.

Reference to indictment or information may cure an insufficient description (Com. v. Merriam, 7 Allen (Mass.) 356), or a misrecital in the recognizance (Com. v. Field, 11 Allen (Mass.) 488).

Where recognizance contains a condition that the accused will not depart without leave of court, it may be valid, though the offense is not properly described in the body of the instrument. State v. Arledge, 48 La. Ann. 774, 19 So. 761; State v. Loeb, 21 La. Ann. 599; State v. Ansley, 13 La. Ann. 298; State v. Gilbert, 10 La. Ann. 524; Gildersleeve v. People, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 35; U. S. v. Atwill, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,475. See also State v. Whitley, 40 Ala. 728.

34. Surplusage.— So held where the offense was described as "assault and battery with intent to kill," and the words "with intent to kill" were rejected as surplusage. Sweetser v. State, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 528. See also Wilson v. State, 25 Tex. 169; Hodges v. State, 20 Tex. 493.

35. Com. v. West, 1 Dana (Ky.) 165; State v. Ridgley, 10 La. Ann. 302; Edwards v. State, 29 Tex. App. 452, 16 S. W. 98; State v. Cotton, 6 Tex. 425; Dailey v. State, 4 Tex. 417;

(c) Disjunctive Wording and Duplicity. If the recognizance describes the offense in a disjunctive form it has been declared that such description will render it invalid;[36] and it may also be bad for duplicity.[37]

(d) Intent of Accused. Where, under the statute, a recognizance should name and describe the offense of which the defendant is accused, a failure therein to state that the act of the person was committed knowingly or with felonious intent, such description being under the statute essential to the offense, is a defect and will render the bond invalid;[38] but in some cases the recital of the offense may be construed as meaning a felonious intent on the part of the accused.[39]

(e) Venue of Offense. The venue of the offense need not be stated in a bond or recognizance,[40] and it has been held to be no objection to the validity of a recognizance that the crime is stated therein to have been committed in another county than that of the court to which the recognizance is taken.[41]

(f) Variance Between Indictment and Recognizance. The fact that the description of the offense in the recognizance varies from that set forth in the warrant of arrest or indictment will not avoid such recognizance if it in substance describes the offense charged.[42] But if the variance is a substantial one, and the U. S. v. Hand, 6 McLean (U. S.) 274, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,296.

For offenses not punishable as described in a recognizance see the following:

Com. v. West, 1 Dana (Ky.) 165; State v. Gibson, 23 La. Ann. 698; State v. Ridgley, 10 La. Ann. 302; Jackson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 24 S. W. 902; Bowman v. State, (Tex. App. 1890) 13 S. W. 1009; Sively v. State, 44 Tex. 274. See also Stewart v. State, 37 Tex. 576; Davis v. State, 30 Tex. 352; State v. Hotchkiss, 30 Tex 162; Moore v. State, 34 Tex. 138; Stroud v. State, 33 Tex. 650; Montgomery v. State, 33 Tex. 179; McDonough v. State, 19 Tex. 293. See Tousey v. State, 8 Tex. 173; Cotton v. State, 7 Tex. 547; State v. Cotton, 6 Tex. 425; Cresap v. State, 28 Tex. App. 529, 13 S. W. 992; Bowen v. State, 28 Tex. App. 103, 12 S. W. 413; Cravey v. State, 26 Tex. App. 84, 9 S. W. 62; Kramer v. State, 18 Tex. App. 13; Keppler v. State, 14 Tex. App. 173; O'Bannon v. State, 9 Tex. App. 465; Riviere v. State, 7 Tex. App. 55; Stancel v. State, 6 Tex. App. 460; Massey v. State, 4 Tex. App. 580; Hutchison v. State, 4 Tex. App. 435; McLaren v. State, 3 Tex. App. 680; Wraybourn v. State, 2 Tex. App. 7; Coney v. State, 1 Tex. App. 62. But see Elkins v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 44; McGee v. State, 11 Tex. App. 520.

36. Disjunctive wording.— So a recognizance was held invalid which described the offense as "carrying on or about" the person a weapon. Burrows v. State, (Tex. App. 1891) 17 S. W. 257; Walker v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 517, 24 S. W. 909; Kennedy v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 24 S. W. 901.

37. Duplicity.— Thus it was so held where the bond was to answer "for theft, receiving and concealing stolen property." Hutchison v. State, 4 Tex. App. 435.

But where there were two counts in an indictment, one for forgery and the other for uttering a forged instrument, it was held that a bond reciting both offenses was not bad for duplicity. Douglass v. State, 26 Tex. App. 248, 9 S. W. 733. See also Baird v. Com., 2 Duv. (Ky.) 78, where a recognizance to appear to answer two separate indictments for the same act was held valid.

38. So where a recognizance stated that the defendant was charged with concealing smuggled goods, but did not state that he did so knowing the same to be smuggled, it was held to be invalid. U. S. v. Sauer, 73 Fed. 671. See also Smith v. State, 36 Tex. 317; Stancel v. State, 6 Tex. App. 460; Allison v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 501, 26 S. W. 1080.

39. So held where the bond recited that defendant was to appear and answer to the state "upon a charge of killing one T. W." State v. Williams, 17 Ark. 371.

40. Cundiff v. State, 38 Tex. 641.

The rule is otherwise where it is provided by law that it must appear in the recognizance that the defendant is accused of some crime against the laws of the state. Tex. Code Crim. Proc. art. 288, sub. 3; La Rose v. State, 29 Tex. App. 215, 15 S. W. 33, wherein it was held that, where the defendant was accused of bigamy, the recognizance should show that unlawful marriage was contracted in the state, this being essential to the crime of bigamy under the laws of Texas.

41. Dean v. State, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 200. Contra, Com. v. Nickols, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1173, 33 S. W. 946.

42. Immaterial variance.—Alabama.—Holcombe v. State, 99 Ala. 185, 12 So. 794; Welch v. State, 36 Ala. 277; Howie v. State, 1 Ala. 113.

California.— People v. Eaton, 41 Cal. 657.

Illinois.— Graves v. People, 11 Ill. 542.

Louisiana.— State v. Ansley, 13 La. Ann. 298.

Michigan.—People v. Tuthill, 39 Mich. 262; People v. Gordon, 39 Mich. 259.

South Carolina.— State v. Rowe, 8 Rich. (S. C.) 17.

Texas.— State v. Hotchkiss, 30 Tex. 162; Dyches v. State, 24 Tex. 266; Collins v. State, 16 Tex. App. 274; Hill v. State, 15 Tex. App. 530.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 273.

Illustrations.— So it has been held that a recognizance is valid where it sets forth the recognizance names or describes a different offense from that charged in the indictment, it has been declared that the sureties will not be bound.[43] In some cases, however, it has been held that the fact that the offense described in the recognizance is of a lower grade than that charged in the indictment will not invalidate the former instrument.[44]

h. Recital of Authority or Jurisdiction. While it should appear, from the nature and character of the recognizance as evidenced by its general terms,[45] recitals, and conditions, that the magistrate or officer taking the same had authority to so act in that class of cases to which the offense alleged to have been committed by the defendant belongs, it is not necessary that the particular facts showing the jurisdiction of the magistrate in the premises or the authority of the officer to act in the particular case be stated therein.[46] But if it appear from offense as assault with intent to commit rape, though the indictment fails to sufficiently charge such offense and only charges aggravated assault. Langan v. State, 27 Tex. App. 498, 11 S. W. 521. Again, a description of the offense as the theft of a steer, while the indictment only alleges the unlawful use of an estray, is not fatal. O'Neal v. State, 35 Tex. 130. Nor will the sureties be relieved because the accused is conditioned to answer a charge of murder if one be found, while the affidavit on which the prisoner was brought before the magistrate charged an assault with intent to kill. Dyches v. State, 24 Tex. 266. And it will not avoid a recognizance that the offense is described therein as malicious mischief and the indictment is for intentionally injuring telegraph wires. Welch v. State, 36 Ala. 277. So also a recognizance conditioned to appear and answer a charge of forgery is not void because the indictment is for uttering and publishing as true a false and forged order for the payment of money. State v. Ansley, 13 La. Ann. 298. And a slight variance between the name in the indictment and that in the recognizance will not avoid the latter instrument. People v. Eaton, 41 Cal. 657; Graves v. People, 11 Ill. 542.

43. Material variance.— Duke v. State, 35 Tex. 424; Draughan v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 51, 35 S. W. 667.

Illustrations.— So, where the indictment was for an aggravated assault but the bond described the offense as assault and battery, the bond was held to be insufficient. Foster v. State, 27 Tex. 236. As it was also where the indictment was for assault with intent to commit rape and the offense was described in the bond as rape. State v. Forno, 14 La. Ann. 450. And where the indictment was for resisting an officer a bond describing the offense as aggravated assault was held invalid. Smalley v. State, 3 Tex App. 202 [overruling State v. Angell, 37 Tex. 357; McCoy v. State, 37 Tex. 219]. Again the recognizance was held invalid where it describes the offense as selling liquor in quantities "larger" than one gallon, while the indictment was for selling in quantities "less" than one gallon. Reese v. People, 11 Ill. App. 346. Where the recognizance does not describe the property as being the property of the same persons as are named in the indictment as owners thereof, it has been held a fatal variance. McAdams v. State, 10 Tex. App. 317.

44. State v. Tennant, 30 La. Ann. 852; State v. Cunningham, 10 La. Ann. 393. See also Campbell v. State, 18 Ind. 375, 81 Am. Dec. 363.

45. State v. Grant, 10 Minn. 39; State v. Railey, 35 Mo. 168; State v. Randolph, 22 Mo. 474; Holmes v. State, 17 Nebr. 73, 22 N. W. 232; Gildersleeve v. People, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 35; People v. Kane, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 530.

46. Sufficiency of recitals generally.— So it has been held that the recital of the offense and the official character of the magistrate are enough (Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528); and that the recognizance will be sufficient if it shows at what court the accused is to appear, and from the description of the offense it appears that the magistrate could take the same. State v. Gilmore, 81 Me. 405, 16 Atl. 339, 17 Atl. 316 [but see the earlier cases in this state. State v. Wormell, 33 Me. 200; State v. Magrath, 31 Me. 469; State v. Smith, 2 Me. 62]. So a recital that the defendant stands charged by indictment in the district court with embezzlement or theft has been held to sufficiently describe the offense and to show the jurisdiction of such court, though it has no jurisdiction if the property stolen or embezzled is under a certain value, it being in such case a misdemeanor. Brown v. State, 28 Tex. App. 65, 11 S. W. 1022. But in an early case in New York it is declared that where the crime charged is burglary and there are different degrees thereof, the recognizance should show what degree it was, it being necessary to sufficiently state the crime so as to show the case to be one in which the magistrate had the right to take bail. People v. Koeber, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 39. Where an appearance bond taken by the sheriff did not show that there was any order authorizing him to take the same, the surety was held not liable. State v. Smith, 12 La. Ann. 349. A paper purporting to be a recognizance which contained nothing in any recital therein, or in the attestation clause showing that it had been taken by one authorized to take recognizances was held invalid. State v. Ahrens, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 493.

Recitals as to authority.— As to other recitals showing authority it has been decided indorsements on the bond or recitals therein[47] that the officer or magistrate taking such bond did not have authority or jurisdiction to act in the matter the bond will be void.[48]

i. Recital of Prior Proceedings. It is not essential to the validity of a recognizance that it recite the special circumstances under which it was taken or detail the proceedings leading up to the admission of the party to bail. If there is sufficient stated therein from which the regularity of the proceedings may be presumed, as where the recognizance contains a condition to do some act, for the doing of which such an obligation may be properly taken, and the court or officer before whom it was acknowledged had authority by law to act in cases of that general description the recognizance is valid.[49]

j. Recital of Probable Cause. It has generally been held that it is not sufficient to state merely the nature of the offense in the recognizance without giving some reason why defendant should be held to appear. There should be in some way a showing, or statement of probable cause to charge the accused.[50] that a recognizance which should have been taken before the sheriff is not avoided by the indorsement "Taken and acknowledged before me . . . Webb McNall, notary public." State v. Kurtz, 27 Kan. 223. And in an early case in Indiana it was held that a recognizance taken before an associate judge of the county court need not state that he is a judge of the circuit court. McCarty v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 338. Where the bond recites that defendant is charged with a certain offense, which is not necessarily a felony, such recital does not show that an investigation was necessary as is required in cases of felony. Brauner v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 228.

Recitals as to where taken.— The venue in the margin of the recognizance giving the name of the state and county will sufficiently indicate where taken. State Treasurer v. Bishop, 39 Vt. 353. A bond taken by the sheriff of one county will not be invalidated by marginal words referring to another county. Allen v. Com., 8 Ky. L. Rep. 353. An abbreviation of the name of the county in the caption of a recognizance, which can be interpreted as referring to only one county in the state, is also sufficiently certain. Gedney v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 318. It has been held, however, that a recognizance need not show on its face the court in which it was taken. State v. Rye, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 386. But see Grigsby v. State, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 354.

47. That it need not appear on the face of the recognizance that a magistrate in committing the defendant acted within the jurisdiction was held in Daniels v. People, 6 Mich. 381.

48. Want of authority appearing.— Covington v. Com., 3 Bush (Ky.) 478. See Com. v. Collins, 11 Gray (Mass.) 465.

49. Arkansas.— State v. Williams, 17 Ark. 371.

Illinois.— McFarlan v. People, 13 Ill. 9.

Kentucky.— Rogers v. Com., 11 Ky. L. Rep. 97; Com. v. Gilbert, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 183.

Michigan.— People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338.

New York.—People v. Kane, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 530.

Tennessee.— But see State v. Edwards, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 226.

Vermont.— State Treasurer v. Bishop, 39 Vt. 353.

Virginia.—Archer v. Com., 10 Gratt. (Va.) 627; Hamlett v. Com., 3 Gratt. (Va.) 78.

So it has been held unnecessary to recite the arrest of the prisoner, conviction, and order for bail (Adams v. Governor, 22 Ga. 417), or a preliminary examination (Adams v. Governor, 22 Ga. 417; State v. Cobb, 71 Me. 198), or that the principal has been committed to jail (Hodges v. State, 20 Tex. 493), or that the accused was bound over because such punishment as could be inflicted in such court would be inadequate (Harris v. State, 54 Ind. 2).

Recitals as to indictment or complaint.— While a bond should, it is declared, show that the accusation was legally made (Murphy v. State, 17 Tex. App. 100), it has been held unnecessary to state that the complaint was made under oath (McCarty v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 338) or the time when the indictment was found (Mooney v. People, 81 Ill. 134; Gragg v. State, 18 Tex. App. 295). But see State Treasurer v. Cook, 6 Vt. 282. Where there is a recital of a presentment against A by the grand jury for the crime of perjury, in a recognizance which is conditioned for his appearance to "answer unto said presentment, according to law," it may, it is held, be understood as showing the finding of an indictment against him. Wood v. People, 16 Ill. 171.

Form of accusation, whether by indictment or otherwise, need not be indicated in the recognizance. State v. Weideman, 30 Mo. App. 647; McGee v. State, 11 Tex. App. 520; Coleman v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 595, 25 S. W. 286. Contra, State v. Gordon, 41 Tex. 510.

50. Nicholson v. State, 2 Ga. 363; Com. v. Daggett, 16 Mass. 447; Com. v. Downey, 9 Mass. 520; People v. Koeber, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 39. But see People v. Freeman, 20 Mich. 413. A recital "that there was good reason and probable cause to believe the said A to be guilty thereof" has been held sufficient. State v. Baker, 50 Me. 45. But a recognizance con-

k. Recital of Surety's Liability. The sureties may be bound in a "penal sum."[51] But as the nature of the sureties' liability to the state is fixed by the law under which the bond is taken, the fact that the bond does not bind them in solido cannot be objected to by them.[52]

l. Trivial Defects. While it has been held that necessary words which have been omitted from the recognizance will not be supplied by intendment,[53] mere technical defects in form which are not material in any way, and from which no injury is shown to have resulted will not affect the validity of a recognizance.[54] Again, the statutes in some of the states expressly provide that a recognizance shall not be rendered void because of mere defects in form.[55]

m. Validity as Affected by Defects in Preliminary Proceedings — (i) In General. Though it has been held that it is essential to the validity of the recognizance that the record of the court show that certain proceedings have taken place,[56] yet it may be stated generally that defects in the proceedings preliminary to the taking of bail are considered as waived by the sureties when they assume their obligations as such at the time of the execution of the recognizance, and such instrument, when filed, becomes a matter of record, and the presumption then arises that the proceedings prior thereto have been proper and legal.[57] And it has been ditioned that the accused shall personally appear before a certain court at a certain term thereof, then and there to answer to such matters as are objected against him on behalf of the commonwealth has been declared to be insufficient. Com. v. Daggett, 16 Mass. 447.

51. In penal sum.— People v. Love, 19 Cal. 676, holding that where so bound the word "penal" will not make the sum mentioned strictly a penalty but the bond may be enforced as a simple undertaking to pay the sum specified.

52. State v. Lewis, 7 La. Ann. 540.

Recitation in a recognizance, that the principal binds himself, etc., and the surety binds "his heirs and legal representatives," without binding himself, is not sufficient. The defect is fatal, although it has not been assigned for error. Grier v. State, 29 Tex. 95.

Sureties may be bound separately in separate amounts where the amount secured is equal to the penalty of the bond in the aggregate. Moore v. State, 28 Ark. 480. See also Humphries v. State, 33 Ark. 713. But see Brown v. State, 34 Tex. 525.

53. Omission of necessary words.— Carroll v. State, 6 Tex. App. 463, wherein recognizance was held fatally defective by the omission of the word "appear" in the condition.

54. Petty v. People, 19 Ill. App. 317; State v. Patterson, 23 Iowa 575; Shupe v. State, 40 Nebr. 524, 59 N. W. 100; Steen v. State, 27 Tex. 86.

The same particularity is not required as in an indictment. Young v. People, 18 Ill. 566.

That defects in form shall not invalidate a recognizance is expressly provided for by statute in some states. Hardesty v. State, 5 Kan. App. 780, 48 Pac. 998; Kansas City v. Hescher, 4 Kan. App. 782, 46 Pac. 1005; Reed v. Lowell Police Ct., 172 Mass. 427, 52 N. E. 633; Shupe v. State, 40 Nebr. 524, 59 N. W. 100; State v. Lambert, 44 W. Va. 308, 28 S. E. 936.

After appearance, trial, and conviction, errors in a recognizance are immaterial. Bookhout v. State, 66 Wis. 415, 28 N. W. 179.

55. Kan. Comp. Laws, c. 82, § 154; Nelson v. State, 44 Kan. 154, 24 Pac. 58; Allen v. Com., 90 Va. 356, 18 S. E. 437. See also Miller v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 14; Ky. Crim. Code, § 77.

56. What record should show.—Where bail is taken by, or in pursuance of, the decision of an examining court, there should be some memorandum in writing showing that an examining court was held, and accused admitted to bail. Morgan v. Com., 12 Bush (Ky.) 84. One not charged with an offense, and who has had no trial cannot, it has been decided, be held to bail by such a court. Com. v. Thompson, 98 Ky. 593, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1132, 33 S. W. 1103. And it has also been held that the record of the recognizance should show that the accused was committed for trial before the recognizance was taken. State v. Lamoine, 53 Vt. 568.

An order of court admitting the accused to bail and fixing the amount of his bond is declared in early decisions in Louisiana to be essential to the validity of the recognizance. State v. Cravey, 12 La. Ann. 224; State v. Gilbert, 10 La. Ann. 532. But see later decisions in this state in following note, and also Vancil v. People, 16 Ill. 120.

57. Waiver of defects.—Alabama.—Gooden v. State, 35 Ala. 430.

Illinois.—Chumasero v. People, 18 Ill. 405; Shattuck v. People, 5 Ill. 477.

Indiana.— State v. Osborn, 155 Ind. 385, 58 N. E. 491; State v. Downs, 8 Ind. 42.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Lester, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 276.

Louisiana.— State v. Hendricks, 40 La. Ann. 719, 5 So. 24; State v. Canady, 16 La. Ann. 141; State v. Wilson, 12 La. Ann. 189. In earlier cases in this state it was declared that the maxim "volenti non fit injuria" could not be extended to bonds in criminal declared that the question as to whether such proceedings were legal is not rele-proceedings and that an unauthorized bond or one illegally taken was not binding. Governor v. Fay, 8 La. Ann. 490.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Gove, 151 Mass. 392, 24 N. E. 211.

Michigan.— Daniels v. People, 6 Mich. 381.

New York.— People v. Brown, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 320, 37 N. Y. St. 178.

United States.—Hunt v. U. S., 61 Fed. 795, 19 U. S. App. 683, 10 C. C. A. 74.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 241.

Illustrations.— So it has been held no defense to an action on the recognizance that the minutes did not specify the cause for which an accused was arrested or that an order was given to prefer another indictment or to give bail (Gooden v. State, 35 Ala. 430); or that the affidavit on which the recognizance was founded was irregularly taken (Adair v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 200); or that the order admitting to bail did not set out the offense nor any affidavit, information, or indictment against the accused (State v. Nicol, 30 La. Ann. 628); or that there is no order committing the defendant for trial or admitting him to bail (State v. Herpin, 26 La. Ann. 612); or that there was no service on the district attorney of application for bail (Com. v. Gove, 151 Mass. 392, 24 N. E. 211); or that the warrant for the removal of the accused from the district in which he was arrested was not signed by the proper judicial officer (Hunt v. U. S., 61 Fed. 795, 19 U. S. App. 683, 10 C. C. A. 74); or that it did not appear from the bond that the accused had been brought before the clerk for examination and bail (U. S. v. Evans, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 605, 2 Fed. 147, 1 Crim. L. Mag. 600). And where it did not appear in the record whether defendant had been arrested for petty or grand larceny it was held that, though no bail could have been taken if the charge had been grand larceny, the surety was estopped as affecting his liability from showing that the latter charge was subsequently made or that the defendant had committed such crime. Com. v. Lester, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 276. Again, failure to indorse on the process the amount of bail required is not a ground for defeating recovery on the recognizance. Trimble v. State, 3 Ind. 151; George v. State, 3 Kan. App. 566, 43 Pac. 850.

The fact that the arrest or detention of the defendant was illegal is, as it has been declared in numerous cases, no defense to an action on the recognizance.

Alabama.— Peck v. State, 63 Ala. 301.

Arkansas.— Dunlap v. State, 66 Ark. 105, 49 S. W. 349; Littleton v. State, 46 Ark. 413; Humphries v. State, 33 Ark. 713.

Colorado.— Haney v. People, 12 Colo. 345, 21 Pac. 39.

Illinois.— Mix v. People. 26 Ill. 32.

Iowa.— State v. Benzion, 79 Iowa 467, 44 N. W. 709.

Kansas.— Junction City v. Keeffe, 40 Kan. 275, 19 Pac. 735.

Minnesota.— State v. Grant, 10 Minn. 39.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Blair County Jail Warden, 8 Pa. Dist. 159.

Virginia.—Archer v. Com., 10 Gratt. (Va.) 627.

Wyoming.— State v. Krohne, 4 Wyo. 347, 34 Pac. 3.

United States.— U. S. v. Wallace, 46 Fed. 569.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 242.

In other decisions, however, it has been held that if the arrest or detention of the defendant was illegal the bond is void.

Alabama.— State v. Brantley, 27 Ala. 44.

Illinois.— Plummer v. People, 16 Ill. 358; People v. Slayton, 1 Ill. 329.

Indiana.— State v. Wenzel, 77 Ind. 428.

Kentucky.—Shaw v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 1.

Maine.— State v. Young, 56 Me. 219.

Missouri.— State v. Swope, 72 Mo. 399; State v. Holtdorf, 61 Mo. App. 515.

Montana.— Deer Lodge County v. At, 3 Mont. 168.

New York.— People v. Shaver, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 45.

Ohio.— See also Gage v. State, 29 Ohio St. 6.

Texas.— Cassaday v. State, 4 Tex. App. 96; Hodges v. State, 20 Tex. 493.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 242.

Actual custody of the principal has been held not essential to the validity of the bond. State v. Terrell, 29 Kan. 563.

A voluntary appearance in court of one under indictment but for whom no formal order of arrest has been issued places him in legal custody, and a bond therefor executed is valid and gives the surety control over him. Baird v. Com., 2 Duv. (Ky.) 78; Vias v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 743.

Objections to jurisdiction.— The jurisdiction of the committing court or of the court before whom the recognizance is taken cannot be questioned by the sureties in an action on the recognizance. Harris v. State, 60 Ark. 212, 29 S. W. 751; Pack v. State, 23 Ark. 235; Dilley v. State, 2 Ida. 1012, 29 Pac. 48; People v. Meacham, 74 Ill. 292; People v. Watkins, 19 Ill. 117. But as to sufficiency of a transcript showing jurisdiction see Gachenheimer v. State, 28 Ind. 91. Nor can they question the jurisdiction of the grand jury which found the indictment. Dilley v. State, 2 Ida. 1012, 29 Pac. 48.

Application for bail.— The sureties cannot, in defense to an action on the recognizance, avail themselves of the facts that the application for bail was not verified, or that proper notice was not given to the solicitor, or that no writ to produce the body of the prisoner was issued (Merrill v. State, 46 Ala. 82), or that his application was not by "written petition" (Com. v. Dye, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 517). Failure of the minutes for the recognizance to acknowledge the indebtedness to the people of the state has been held, however, to invalidate the recognizance, though such acknowledgment was made in the instrument as executed. People v. Felton, 36 Barb. (N. Y.) 429.

vant or material where the arrest was under color of process.[58] Again it has been decided that if it appears from the record that the accused was in actual custody and to secure his release therefrom the bond was given, the regularity of the proceedings cannot be questioned by the sureties.[59]

(II) In Complaint or Indictment. The fact that the indictment or complaint was defective is not a ground of defense for the sureties in an action against them on the recognizance.[60] And the sureties can neither deny the existence of an indictment, nor avoid liability on the ground of irregularities in the organization of the grand jury.[61]

n. Validity as Affected by Execution Before Indictment. The fact that no indictment had been found at the time of the execution of a recognizance will not render it void.[62]

o. Waiver or Adjournment of Preliminary Examination. A bond or recognizance, otherwise valid, cannot be objected to on the ground that there was no preliminary examination, where such examination was waived by accused,[63]

58. Arrest under color of process.— People v. Brown, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 320, 37 N. Y. St. 178.

59. Accused in actual custody.— State v. Hendricks, 40 La. Ann. 719, 5 So. 24. See State v. Austin, 141 Mo. 481, 43 S. W. 165.

The fact that date on officer's return on bench warrant or bond itself is incorrect will not invalidate the bond, where it appears that the officer had such writ in his hands, with proper authority to execute it, which he in fact did according to law. Com. v. Nimmo, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 287.

60. Alabama.— Peck v. State, 63 Ala. 201.

Arkansas.— Harris v. State, 60 Ark. 209, 29 S. W. 640; Reeve v. State, 34 Ark. 610.

Indiana.— State v. Osborn, 155 Ind. 385, 58 N. E. 491; Friedline v. State, 93 Ind. 366; Adams v. State, 48 Ind. 212.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Skeggs, 3 Bush (Ky.) 19; Decker v. Com., 6 Ky. L. Rep. 653; Com. v. Pierce, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 247.

Louisiana.— State v. Ruthing, 49 La. Ann. 909, 22 So. 199; State v. Snow, 23 La. Ann. 596; Taliaferro v. Steele, 14 La. Ann. 656.

Maine.— State v. Boies, 41 Me. 344.

Missouri.— State v. Austin, 141 Mo. 481, 43 S. W. 165; State v. Morgan, 124 Mo. 467, 28 S. W. 17; State v. Poston, 63 Mo. 521; State v. Hoeffner, 68 Mo. App. 164; State v. Livingston, 58 Mo. App. 445.

Nebraska.— King v. State, 18 Nebr. 375, 25 N. W. 519.

New Hampshire.— State v. Fowler, 28 N. H. 184.

Texas.— State v. Ake, 41 Tex. 166; McCoy v. State, 37 Tex. 219; State v. Rhodius, 37 Tex. 165; State v. Cocke, 37 Tex. 155; State v. Franklin, 35 Tex. 497; Lee v. State, 25 Tex. App. 331, 8 S. W. 277; Hester v. State, 15 Tex. App. 418; Jones v. State, 15 Tex. App. 82; Smalley v. State, 3 Tex. App. 202.

Wyoming.— State v. Krohne, 4 Wyo. 347, 34 Pac. 3.

United States.— Hardy v. U. S., 71 Fed. 158, 36 U. S. App. 225, 18 C. C. A. 22; U. S. v. Evans, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 605, 2 Fed. 147, 1 Crim. L. Mag. 600; U. S. v. Reese, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 629, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,138 [reversed in 9 Wall. (U. S.) 13, 19 L. ed. 541].

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 245.

But see contra, where it is held that, if an indictment is fatally defective, there cannot be a breach of a condition in the recognizance to appear and answer. Candler v. Kirksey, 113 Ga. 309, 38 S. E. 825; State v. Lockhart, 24 Ga. 420; Harrell v. State, 22 Tex. App. 692, 3 S. W. 479. And see Kingsbury v. Clark, 1 Conn. 406; State v. Hufford, 28 Iowa 391.

Defects held to be no defense.— It has been held to be no defense to an action on the recognizance that there was a mistake in the indictment as to the name of the accused (Decker v. Com., 6 Ky. L. Rep. 653); or a mistake in the date thereof (Blain v. State, 34 Tex. Crim. 417, 31 S. W. 366); or that no offense is charged in the information (Hardy v. U. S., 71 Fed. 158, 36 U. S. App. 225, 18 C. C. A. 22); or that separate offenses are set out in the complaint (State v. Fowler, 28 N. H. 184); or that the date when the offense was committed is not set out in the indictment (U. S. v. Evans, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 605, 2 Fed. 147, 1 Crim. L. Mag. 600); or the place where it was committed (Harris v. State, 60 Ark. 209, 29 S. W. 640); or that it does not sufficiently specify the nature of the offense (State v. Franklin, 35 Tex. 497); or that the information was not sufficiently verified (State v. Krohne, 4 Wyo. 347, 34 Pac. 3); or that the finding of the grand jury was not signed by the district attorney (State v. Snow, 23 La. Ann. 596).

61. Cannot deny existence of indictment. — Pack v. State, 23 Ark. 235; State v. Cooper, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 226; State v. Stout, 11 N. J. L. 124. Contra, Brown v. State, 6 Tex. App. 188.

Irregularity in grand jury.— Peck v. State, 63 Ala. 201; Sharpe v. Smith, 59 Ga. 707; State v. Borroum, 25 Miss. 203. Contra, Wells v. State, 21 Tex. App. 594, 2 S. W. 806.

62. Colquitt v. Bond, 69 Ga. 351; Marion v. Johnson, 23 La. Ann. 597; Moore v. State, 37 Tex. 133.

But if invalid at time of execution, a subsequent finding of an indictment will not aid the recognizance. Griffin v. State, 48 Ind. 258.

63. State v. Cobb, 71 Me. 198; Champlain v. People, 2 N. Y. 82; Hedges v. State, 18 Ohio St. 420.

or, it seems, where such examination was properly adjourned before completed.[64]

p. Where Prosecution Is Illegal. If a law under which a prosecution is commenced has been repealed prior to such prosecution, a recognizance entered into in such case will be void.[65]

q. Defects Cured by Amendment. Defects in a bail-bond or recognizance may, upon notice to the parties, be cured by amendments in the discretion of the court.[66] But if a recognizance is invalid at the time it is executed, owing to material misrecitals therein, or other substantial defects, it cannot subsequently be validated.[67]

r. Validity of Second Bond. A valid second bond or recognizance may be made or taken where an illegal or defective one has been abandoned,[68] or where the first one is about to be forfeited for non-appearance of principal.[69] But if the power of the officer in the premises to accept a recognizance has been exhausted or no good reason is shown on the record for taking the second one, the latter will be void.[70]

s. Effect of Invalid Bond. A bail-bond which is invalid does not bind either principal or sureties thereon.[71]

2. Execution — a. Requirements Generally. The execution of a bond dates

64. In an early case in Connecticut it is declared that, where a justice of the peace holding a court of inquiry on a complaint has authority to adjourn, he may take a recognizance to a future day to the same person as if given at final trial. Goodwin v. Dodge, 14 Conn. 206.

But, if the examination is adjourned for a longer time than the law allows, it has been decided that the recognizance taken by the magistrate for his appearance is invalid, and want of jurisdiction may be set up by the prisoner or his sureties. U. S. v. Hosmer, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,394, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 116, 17 Int. Rev. Rec. 38. So under the N. Y. Code Crim. Proc. § 191, providing that in case of an adjournment of a preliminary examination it shall not be for more than two days, except by defendant's consent, the sureties are only obliged to produce their principal at the time and place first fixed, and such obligation being performed the sureties are discharged and are not liable for failure to produce the principal at a future adjourned date, the adjournment having taken place without notice to principal or sureties. People v. McKenna, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 327, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 1057.

65. Gaspar v. State, 11 Ind. 548.

66. Com. v. Cheney, 108 Mass. 33; Blalack v. State, 3 Tex. App. 376; Bias v. Floyd, 7 Leigh (Va.) 640. A court cannot, however, of its own motion amend a recognizance nunc pro tunc over the objection of the sureties and without notice to the principal. Hand v. State, 28 Tex. App. 28, 11 S. W. 679.

67. State v. Winninger, 81 Ind. 51; Wallen v. State, 18 Tex. App. 414. See Com. v. Brown, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 301.

68. Where first bond abandoned.— State v. McKeown, 12 La. Ann. 596; Com. v. Merriam, 9 Allen (Mass.) 371. And the filing of the first one will not invalidate the second. State v. West, 3 Ohio St. 509.

69. Upon non-appearance on first bond.— Combs v. People, 39 Ill. 183, holding that, where the principal has entered into a recognizance, failed to appear, and his surety enters into a new one to save the forfeiture of the first, it is good.

That a bond had been previously given by the accused and forfeited constitutes no defense to an action on a recognizance in an arrest on a complaint for the same offense. Wallingford v. Hall, 45 Conn. 350. See Com. v. Abbott, 168 Mass. 471, 47 N. E. 112, wherein it was held that a recognizance was not void because one similar in all respects had been entered into by the parties in the police court.

70. After power of officer exhausted.— Matthews v. State, 92 Ala. 89, 9 So. 740; Townsend v. People, 14 Mich. 388.

If a valid bond is accepted by the sheriff his power in the premises is exhausted, and an agreement at the time such bond was given that it was to have effect only until a second one was given is of no avail and the taking of a second bond is unauthorized. Matthews v. State, 92 Ala. 89, 9 So. 740. See Schneider v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 409.

71. Binds neither principal nor sureties.— U. S. v. Hudson, 65 Fed. 68.

May be vacated or quashed on motion after forfeiture. State v. Halloway, 5 Ark. 433. Though in another case it is declared the court may vacate a void recognizance at any time. Butler v. State, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 470. Where for defects apparent on the face of the record a motion to quash is made, the entire record, with all official acts and entries, is brought before the court. Com. v. Long, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 366. And if, on appeal by the commonwealth in such a case, it fails to make the indictment a part of the record it will be presumed that there were defects in the indictment which invalidated the bond. Com. v. Long, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 366 In other cases it is held that the question as to the validity of a recognizance cannot be tried on motion to quash but only on scire facias.

from the signature.[72] And sureties who admit their signature cannot object that their principal did not appear in person in court at the time the bond was approved.[73] If the recognizance in substance complies with the law in other respects the fact that the names of one or more of the parties thereto are omitted in the body of the instrument will not affect its validity, where such parties have signed and executed the same.[74] Nor will the fact that the defendant in an action on a bond is described therein by a wrong christian name avoid the instrument.[75] And again, though there may be a variance between the name given in the body of the recognizance, either as principal or surety, and that signed to such instrument in like capacity, the obligation will not thereby be avoided, but it may be shown, under proper averments in the petition, that the one named in the bond is the same person as the one whose signature is affixed thereto.[76] In the absence, however, of some statute which requires the parties to a bond to sign the same, it is not essential to the validity of such an instrument that the signature of the parties be affixed thereto, if it be taken in court in the usual form.[77] Where, however, a signature is necessary the fact that it is not placed at the bottom of the bond will not avoid such bond,[78] and a signing with the initials or mark of the State v. Hopkins, 30 Mo. 404; State v. Davidson, 20 Mo. 406.

Remedy by appeal.—And again, that, when judgment is rendered on the bond, the remedy is by appeal. Taliaferro v. Steele, 14 La. Ann. 656.

72. Dates from signature.— Holt v. State, 20 Tex. App. 271.

73. Estoppel from admission of signatures. — State v. Peyton, 32 Mo. App. 522.

74. Names omitted in body of instrument. — Alabama.— Hall v. State, 9 Ala. 827; Badger v. State, 5 Ala. 21.

Idaho.— People v. Bugbee, 1 Ida. 88.

Illinois.— Neil v. Morgan, 28 Ill. 524.

Indiana.— Burton v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 339.

Missouri.— Cunningham v. State, 14 Mo. 402.

Nebraska.— Holmes v. State, 17 Nebr. 73, 22 N. W. 232.

Texas.— Gorman v. State, 38 Tex. 112, 19 Am. Rep. 29.

United States.— Compare U. S. v. Pickett, 1 Bond (U. S.) 123, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,043.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 214 et seq.

Though blanks may be left in the recognizance at the time it is signed which are afterward to be filled in, it is not a ground for defeating a recovery thereon. So held where the instrument was afterward completed and delivered in the presence of the surety who had so signed. Madden v. State, 35 Kan. 146, 10 Pac. 469. But it is held otherwise where bond was, according to agreement, to be filled in by the magistrate, but was in fact filled in by the county clerk. Com. v. Ball, 6 Bush (Ky.) 291.

75. Defendant's wrong christian name.— State v. Rhodius, 37 Tex. 165, holding that, if it appear that such defendant entered into the obligation, he will be held thereto without regard to his appellation.

76. Variance between signature and name in body of instrument.— Stokes v. People, 63 Ill. 489; Lytle v. People, 47 Ill. 422; O'Brien v. People, 41 Ill. 456; Gay v. State, 7 Kan. 394. See State v. Cherry, Meigs (Tenn.) 232; Dodd v. State, 2 Tex. App. 58.

There is no presumption that the same person is indicated in such a case. McIntyre v. State, 19 Tex. App. 443.

77. Necessity of signing.—Indiana.—Grinestaff v. State, 53 Ind. 238; State v. Elder, 35 Ind. 368; Campbell v. State, 18 Ind. 375, 81 Am. Dec. 363.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Mason, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 456.

Nebraska.— King v. State, 18 Nebr. 375, 25 N. W. 519; Irwin v. State, 10 Nebr. 325, 6 N. W. 370.

Ohio.— Millikin v. State, 21 Ohio St. 635.

United States.— U. S. v. Pickett, 1 Bond (U. S.) 123, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,043.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 217.

A statute requiring all recognizances to be signed and sealed by the parties and certified to by the officer taking the same has been held not to apply in the case of a recognizance taken by a justice on a preliminary examination of one charged with an offense. Gamble v. State, 21 Ohio St. 183. And a similar statutory requirement as to appearance bonds to the sheriff or other officer has been held not applicable to an appearance bond taken by a judge. State v. West, 3 Ohio St. 509.

Signature of principal has been held to be not necessary.

Indiana.— Minor v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 236.

Iowa.— State v. Patterson, 23 Iowa 575.

Kansas.— Tillson v. State, 29 Kan. 452; Ingram v. State, 10 Kan. 630.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Radford, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 9.

Michigan.— People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338.

But see State v. Taylor, 19 La. Ann. 145; State v. Doax, 19 La. Ann. 77; Chaney v. State, 23 Tex. 23.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 217.

78. Place of signature.— A signature in the body of the bond above the condition may be sufficient. State v. Wilcox, 59 Mo. 176.

parties will be sufficient.[79] Again, if it be essential to the validity of a recognizance that it be signed by the principal, a signature by his attorney is not sufficient.[80] And it should be signed in the presence of the officer taking the same, where the statute authorizes the officer "taking a recognizance" to administer all necessary oaths.[81] It has also been held that it is not necessary to the validity of a recognizance that it be under the seal of the parties;[82] but it is declared that the bond or recognizance must be acknowledged.[83]

b. By Principals Jointly Indicted. Defendants who have been jointly prosecuted may give separate bail.[84]

c. Disability of Principal or Sureties. A recognizance executed by a minor as principal may be binding on him personally;[85] and the obligation of the bail will not be affected by any disability of the principal which is known to them.[86] So the disability of one of the sureties will only avoid the recognizance as to the surety under disability.[87]

d. Justification and Qualification of Sureties. If required, bail for a prisoner's appearance must justify.[88] Although the statute may require two or more

79. By initials or by mark.— Hammons v. State, 59 Ala. 164, 31 Am. Rep. 13. See Ingram v. State, 10 Kan. 630.

80. Signing by attorney.— Matter of Fowler, 49 Mich. 234, 13 N. W. 530; State v. Ahrens, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 493; Ferrill v. State, 29 Tex. 489; Price v. State, 12 Tex. App. 235.

Authority to appear by attorney confers no right to authorize any other person to enter into a recognizance. Grier v. State, 29 Tex. 487.

Signing by attorney at principal's request is not sufficient to bind the sureties, under a statute which requires authority to sign for another in such case to be in writing. Billington v. Com., 79 Ky. 400, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 19.

The name of one surety signed without proper authority will not be binding as to the others. Com. v. Belt, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 339, 51 S. W. 431.

81. Signed in presence of officer.— State v. Pratt, 148 Mo. 402, 50 S. W. 113.

82. Necessity of seal.— Slaten v. People, 21 Ill. 28; Grinestaff v. State, 53 Ind. 238; Campbell v. State, 18 Ind. 375, 81 Am. Dec. 363; State v. Foot, 2 Mill (S. C.) 122.

See also, generally, SEALS.

Where necessary, however, a scroll which contains the word "seal" opposite the name of each signer is sufficient. Lindsay v. State, 15 Ala. 43.

83. Necessity of acknowledgment.— Com. v. Hickey, 172 Pa. St. 39, 37 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 328, 33 Atl. 188; Barber v. U. S., 35 Fed. 886. But see State v. Wells, 36 Iowa 238; Kansas City v. Fagan, 4 Kan. App. 796, 46 Pac. 1009.

See also, generally, ACKNOWLEDGMENTS, 1 Cyc. 506.

Failure, however, of principal to acknowledge the bond will not affect the liability of sureties who duly acknowledge the same and justify as sureties. People v. Hammond, 4 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 270, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 219, 26 N. Y. St. 486.

Sufficiency of acknowledgment.—A form of acknowledgment, following the signature of the recognizors, filled in with the names of the recognizors, but not signed by the official before whom the recognizance is taken, followed by a justification of the sureties before such official as appeared by his jurat over his name and seal, and this in turn followed by his indorsement that "I hereby approve the within recognizance and the sureties thereon," the jurat and indorsement being of the same date, was held to show a sufficient acknowledgment. State v. Perry, 28 Minn. 455, 459, 10 N. W. 778.

84. Separate bail.— State v. Lighton, 4 Greene (Iowa) 278.

Recognizance binding two principals jointly for the personal appearance of both, and to save the condition of which it is necessary that both personally appear, is void both as to principal and surety. Ferry v. Burchard, 21 Conn. 597; Com. v. Field, 9 Allen (Mass.) 581. But see Holtzclaw v. State, 4 Ind. 597, where it is held that, if there is a joint indictment and trial, the recognizance may be joint.

A recognizance on appeal by persons jointly indicted, tried, and convicted, if in the form of a joint obligation, is fatally defective. Stanly v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 53 S. W. 345; Hodges v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 1019; McMeans v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 130, 38 S. W. 998. See infra, III, G.

85. Executed by infant.— State v. Weatherwax, 12 Kan. 463. And where a recognizance is binding on him, if the surety has paid the amount of a judgment recovered against him, he is bound to reimburse such surety for the amount so paid. Fagin v. Goggin, 12 R. I. 398.

If prisoner be an infant or other incompetent person his sureties may be required to enter into the recognizance without the principal joining therein. Schultze v. State, 43 Md. 295; Com. v. Semmes, 11 Leigh (Va.) 696.

86. Principal's disability known to bail.— Weldon v. Colquitt, 62 Ga. 449, 35 Am. Rep. 128.

87. Disability of surety.—Pickett v. State, 16 Tex. App. 648, one surety being a married woman.

88. Necessity of justification.— People v. Vermilyea, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 108.

sureties, a recognizance with a single surety may be valid.[89] Or it may be valid where a non-resident is accepted as bail, though the law requires that bail should be residents of the state.[90] And the fact that the sureties on an appeal-bond to the court of appeals are also sureties on a bond given on appeal to a lower court does not render them incompetent where no judgment has been entered against them.[91]

3. DELIVERY AS ESCROW. There can be no delivery of the bail-bond as an escrow to the obligee.[92]

4. CERTIFICATION, APPROVAL, AND ACCEPTANCE. Although it should appear in a recognizance that the principal was under arrest or required to give bail; that the amount of bail was fixed; by whom it was taken, and authority to take the same;[93] yet in many cases there are requirements and provisions as to the manner of its execution and acceptance which are imposed by statute and which are merely directory or ministerial in their nature, a strict compliance therewith not being essential to the validity of the instrument. Of such a character are statutory provisions as to justifying, certifying, and approving a recognizance, want of compliance with which cannot be taken advantage of by the parties executing the same, as such subsequent acts are not treated as essential to the validity of the contract.[94] So it has been declared that the failure of the magistrate to affix his seal to a recognizance will not vitiate it.[95] The recognizance may be taken Justification in an amount less than that fixed by law does not authorize the sureties to object to the validity of the bond (People v. Shirley, 18 Cal. 121; People v. Carpenter, 7 Cal. 402; State v. Emily, 24 Iowa 24 [but see U. S. v. Hudson, 65 Fed. 68]), as exactments made in the state's favor may be waived by the state (State v. Benton, 48 N. H. 551).

New sureties may be required, if a magistrate has been deceived or taken insufficient bail, though ordinarily bail is considered absolute in the first instance. Spicer v. State, 9 Ga. 49.

89. One surety may be sufficient.—State v. Baker, 50 Me. 45; State v. Benton, 48 N. H. 551. See U. S. v. Petit, 11 Fed. 58.

90. Non-resident surety.— Com. v. Ramsay, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 385.

91. Sureties on other bond.— State v. Snow, 23 La. Ann. 596; Short v. State, 16 Tex. App. 44.

92. Brown v. State, 18 Tex. App. 326.

93. State v. Carr, 4 Iowa 289. See also supra, III, F, 1, m.

94. Alabama.— Badger v. State, 5 Ala. 21.

Arkansas.—Adler v. State, 35 Ark. 517, 37 Am. Rep. 48.

California.— People v. Penniman, 37 Cal. 271.

Indiana.— McAllister v. State, 81 Ind. 256; Ross v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 315.

Iowa.— State v. Wright, 37 Iowa 522; State v. Wells, 36 Iowa 238; State v. Emily, 24 Iowa 24.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Perkins, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 542, 32 S. W. 134; Workman v. Com., 16 Ky. L. Rep. 447; Com. v. Dye, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 517.

Minnesota.— State v. Perry, 28 Minn. 455, 10 N. W. 778.

Oregon.— State v. Hays, 2 Oreg. 314.

Texas.— Pierce v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 343, 45 S. W. 1019; Doughty v. State, 33 Tex. 1; Dyches v. State, 24 Tex. 266.

Contra, Lawrence v. People, 17 Ill. 172; Bacon v. People, 14 Ill. 312; State v. Pratt, 148 Mo. 402, 50 S. W. 113; State v. Austin, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 213.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 239.

Decisions as to sufficiency.— A statement as to the manner of executing a recognizance and who are the recognizors, preceding the recognizance, has been held equivalent to a formal certificate of such facts at the foot of it. Badger v. State, 5 Ala. 21. Where officially approved it is sufficient, though not formally certified to as required by statute. State v. Perry, 28 Minn. 455, 10 N. W. 778. And a subsequent approval may be good. State v. Wyatt, 6 La. Ann. 701.

An amended memorandum may be filed of a recognizance under permission therefor to the special commissioner appointed to take the same. Com. v. Field, 11 Allen (Mass.) 488.

A certificate of receipt and acceptance of the bond by the sheriff, though without date, may be sufficient, for it may be presumed that the bond was received and accepted by him after he had been authorized to do so by the magistrate. State v. Lewis, 7 La. Ann. 540.

The date of the bond controls where it is subsequently approved. Moseley v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 18, 38 S. W. 800; Hayden v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 801. See also Lindsay v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 468, 46 S. W. 1045. But where the bond is not dated the date of approval is said to fix the date of the bond. Ake v. State, 4 Tex. App. 126.

95. Failure of magistrate to affix seal.— Slaten v. People, 21 Ill. 28; Holmes v. State, 17 Nebr. 73, 22 N. W. 232. See Hall v. State, 9 Ala. 827.

If, from want of authority in a magistrate to take a recognizance, it is void as to the principal it will be void as to surety. Ferry v. Burchard, 21 Conn. 597.

and accepted in open court,[96] or before a judge in vacation;[97] nor is it necessary for the sureties to appear in order to give the judge jurisdiction.[98] But a bond taken and approved by one without authority to so act is invalid.[99] Again a clerk of a court may have no statutory authority to take and approve a recognizance, yet he may so act under orders of a judge;[1] and a sheriff may take bail when requested by the magistrate though not empowered by statute so to act.[2]

5. FILING. It has generally been decided that a bond or recognizance should be filed, thus making it a part of the record, such procedure being necessary before a scire facias may be had upon it or a forfeiture declared;[3] and an indorsement on a recognizance that it has been filed has also been declared essential.[4] But, where the purpose of a statute directing the filing of the instrument is that it may be a lien on real estate, it has been held that it may be the foundation of an action though not filed.[5] So also it is not in all cases necessary that there be a strict compliance with provisions which are merely directory as to time of filing,[6] or to the entering of the memorandum of a recognizance by the clerk, where such memorandum is merely a temporary substitute for the full record which is subsequently made,[7] or declaratory of the magistrate's duty,[8] or of the sheriff's duty.[9] And where there has been a failure to file the recognizance within the

96. In open court.—State v. Elgin, 11 Iowa 216; Com. v. Watts, 84 Ky. 537, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 571, 2 S. W. 123; Parrish v. State, 14 Md. 238.

97. In vacation.— Ainsworth v. Territory, 3 Wash. Terr. 270, 14 Pac. 590.

98. Appearance of sureties unnecessary.— People v. Hurlbutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 126.

99. So held where bond was taken and approved by a mayor. Scio v. Hollis, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 99, 7 Ohio N. P. 281.

1. In such case it is, in effect, the taking of a recognizance by the judge himself acting through the proper officer of his court. State v. Satterwhite, 20 S. C. 536; U. S. v. Evans, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 605, 2 Fed. 147, 1 Crim. L. Mag. 600. See also supra, III, C, 2.

2. State v. Wyatt, 6 La. Ann. 701. But see Luckett v. State, 51 Miss. 799, where it is held that the judge has no power to delegate the duty of approving the bond to the sheriff.

3. Arkansas.—State v. Richardson, 28 Ark. 346.

Illinois.— Raysor v. People, 27 Ill. 190; People v. Watkins, 19 Ill. 117.

Indiana.— State v. Lewis, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 20.

Iowa.— State v. Klingman, 14 Iowa 404.

Louisiana.— State v. Smith, 8 La. Ann. 471.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Baird, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 407.

New York.—People v. Shaver, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 45; People v. Graham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 141.

Ohio.— Sargeant v. State, 16 Ohio 267.

Oregon.— Belt v. Spaulding, 17 Oreg. 130, 20 Pac. 827.

Contra, Haney v. People, 12 Colo. 345, 21 Pac. 39; Jennings v. State, 13 Kan. 80; State Treasurer v. Pierce, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 106.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 240.

Bond to appear for examination before a justice of the peace should be returned to such justice. Garner v. Smith, 40 Tex. 505.

When magistrate need not enter on docket.—A statutory provision that the magistrate shall, in certain cases, transmit a transcript of his proceedings "together with" the recognizance does not require that such recognizance shall be entered upon and become a part of such magistrate's docket, but it may be taken upon a separate paper and when filed in the proper court it becomes a part of the record. State v. Moran, 24 Nebr. 103, 38 N. W. 29, 18 Nebr. 536, 26 N. W. 357, 25 N. W. 519.

Where the magistrate binds the principal over to another court to answer the charge against him, the original recognizance should be filed by the magistrate in such other court. State v. Lewis, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 20.

Presumption that recognizance has been properly filed is raised by an indorsement thereon of the fact of filing and date thereof. People v. Hurlbutt, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 126.

4. Indorsement on recognizance.— State v. Smith, 8 La. Ann. 471.

5. Adams v. State, 48 Ind. 212 [overruling Urton v. State, 37 Ind. 339]. And see Patterson v. State, 12 Ind. 86.

6. State v. Perry, 28 Minn. 455, 10 N. W. 778, where it is held that a provision that it be filed on or before the first day of the court before which defendant is bound to appear is merely directory, it being sufficient if it is of record in such court at the time when defendant is called on to appear. See also McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625.

7. State v. Williams, 14 Ohio St. 140.

8. A statutory provision that, where the respondent is bound over in cases heard before a magistrate, the latter shall furnish copies of the proceedings to the clerk of the court on or before a certain day is merely declaratory of his duty, and his failure to comply therewith will only affect his personal liability. State v. Davis, 43 N. H. 600.

9. Havis v. State, 62 Ark. 500, 37 S. W. 957, wherein it is held that the failure of the sheriff to file the bond in the court where the proper time, or to indorse the time of filing thereon as required, a nunc pro tunc order for such filing or indorsement may be made at a subsequent term of the court.[10]

G. Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance on Appeal — 1. Form, Contents, and Validity — a. Compliance With Statute. As to form and conditions the bond or recognizance on appeal should comply with the statutory requirements.[11]

b. Conditions. A recognizance on appeal should designate the time when[12] and the court before which the prisoner is to appear, and if the latter be not so designated no jurisdiction is conferred upon the appellate court to try the cause,[13] nor will the recognizance be good in such case;[14] and where a certain court is specified by law as the only one having jurisdiction of criminal appeals, a recognizance conditioned to perform the judgment of any other court will be void,[15] as it will prosecution was commenced so that it might be copied in the transcript does not affect the right of such court to render a judgment against the sureties on a forfeiture of the bond.

10. Nunc pro tunc order.— McFarlan v. People, 13 Ill. 9; Wellman v. State, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 343; State v. Patterson, 23 Iowa 575; Haverty v. State, 32 Tex. 602; Slocumb v. State, 11 Tex. 15.

An erroneous copy filed by one appointed by court to take a recognizance may be corrected by the court allowing such person to file an amended and correct copy, even after suit brought for default of the recognizance. Com. v. Field, 11 Allen (Mass.) 488.

11. Ex p. Bell, 56 Miss. 282; Laturner v. State, 9 Tex. 451. See also supra, III, F.

Bail pending appeal see Aliens, 2 Cyc. 129, note 98.

See also, generally, Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 474.

Substantial compliance, however, may be sufficient. So where the statute required the defendant to enter into recognizance to prosecute his appeal, one requiring him "to enter his appeal" was held valid, the latter being included in the former. State v. Boies, 41 Me. 344.

Recognizance may be executed to the city on an appeal from a conviction for violation of a municipal regulation. Kansas City v. Garnier, 57 Kan. 412, 46 Pac. 707.

Failure to indorse approval by the magistrate on an appeal-bond will not invalidate it, for it may be sufficient without such indorsement. Triplett v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 1079.

12. Time of appearance.— State v. Casey, 27 Tex. 111. Contra, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628.

Conditioned for appearance from term to term.— It has been decided that, if the recognizance fails to bind the appellant to appear from term to term before the trial court and to abide the judgment of the appeal court, it is invalid. Barela v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 26 S. W. 397. See also Wilson v. State, 7 Tex. App. 38; Anderson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 289; Crise v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 285; Pollard v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 285; Knight v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 103; Sides v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 95. So a recognizance conditioned for appearance "from time to time," instead of "from term to term," is bad. Forbes v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 1072.

Condition that appellant shall satisfy judgment if affirmed was held to be insufficient. State v. Porte, 10 La. Ann. 148.

Where day specified is one on which there is no court the instrument is void. Com. v. Bolton, 1 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 328.

13. Designation of court.— Kazda v. State, 52 Nebr. 499, 72 N. W. 853; Pill v. State, 43 Nebr. 23, 61 N. W. 96; Howard v. State, 30 Tex. App. 680, 18 S. W. 790; Bigelow v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 37 S. W. 330; Thompson v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 505, 34 S. W. 124, 612; Mader v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 114; Short v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 288; Harris v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 290; Pippin v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 20 S. W. 979. But see contra, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 400, 48 Pac. 628, wherein it is held to be unnecessary for the recognizance to designate the court in which defendant must surrender himself, where it is recited therein that he "will surrender himself in execution of the judgment so as aforesaid entered upon its being affirmed, modified, or upon appeal being dismissed," as provided by Nev. Gen. Stat. § 4382, and further recites as provided by § 4395 that he "will in all respects abide the order and judgment of the appellate court upon the appeal."

A condition for appearance before court where convicted has been held essential to the validity of the recognizance. Henry v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 609. See also State v. Jones, 3 La. Ann. 9. But see contra, Hutchinson v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 95.

14. Must designate proper court.— Manes v. State, 20 Tex. 38; Palvadore v. State, 12 Tex. 230.

15. Where court is specified by law.—Lawrence v. State, 1 Tex. App. 392; Jones v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 627. So in Texas where, by the act of 1892, the court of criminal appeals succeeded to the criminal jurisdiction of the court of appeals, a recognizance conditioned to "abide the judgment of the court of appeals" is invalid, and on also be where the designation is so defective that it does not bind the defendant to abide the judgment of any court.[16]

c. Description of Offense — (I) Necessity. The fact that a recognizance given upon appeal from a conviction fails to definitely designate the offense for which the conviction was had will not invalidate the instrument where the complaint which sufficiently describes such offense is referred to therein and transmitted with it.[17] So also it has been declared sufficient if the obligation was properly entered into and the record shows what offense was charged.[18]

(II) Sufficiency — (A) Particularity Required. If the offense charged in the indictment or described in the recognizance is not an offense eo nomine under the laws of the state, the essential elements thereof must be set out in the latter.[19]

motion the appeal will be dismissed. The condition should be to "abide the judgment of the court of criminal appeals." Starr v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 790; Dun v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 287; Sturdevant v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 37 S. W. 732; Tucker v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 1001; Lively v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 997; Cryer v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 37 S. W. 753; Volney v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 35 S. W. 658; Ray v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 35 S. W. 368; Magers v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 114; McAfee v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 970; Bohanon v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 866; Blackshear v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 33 S. W. 222; Irvin v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 899; Hill v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 30 S. W. 806; McClesky v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 30 S. W. 800; Cook v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 28 S. W. 476; Barnard v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 967; Crawford v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 629; Calhoun v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 126; Powers v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 23 S. W. 795; Horton v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 23 S. W. 691; Garza v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 139; Neubauer v. State, 31 Tex. Crim. 513, 21 S. W. 363; Cummings v. State, 31 Tex. Crim. 406, 20 S. W. 706; Curry v. Dallas, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 21 S. W. 930; Kaiser v. Dallas, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 21 S. W. 767. And where this condition is inserted the omission to insert the expression "of the state of Texas" will not affect the validity of the recognizance. Anderson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 36 S. W. 97. Such a condition is also the proper one in appeals of cases of misdemeanors. Satterwhite v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 49 S. W. 396; Guill v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 42 S. W. 303.

16. Douglass v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 43.

17. Kansas City v. Garnier, 57 Kan. 412, 46 Pac. 707.

In Texas, however, it is held that the recognizance must show both the offense charged and that for which defendant was convicted. Sheppard v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 530. See also Fondren v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 29 S. W. 479; Short v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 288.

18. State v. Heed, 62 Mo. 559. See also Holman v. State, 10 Tex. 558; Pierce v. State, 10 Tex. 556.

19. Setting out elements of offense.—Vanwey v. State, 44 Tex. 112; Youngman v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 42 S. W. 988; Salmon v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 995; Ramsey v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 37 S. W. 330; Warden v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 125; Leach v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 449, 34 S. W. 124; Sanders v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1892) 20 S. W. 360; Johnson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 21 S. W. 371. And where a statute makes it necessary to constitute the offense that it was done "knowingly" or "wilfully" a recognizance which does not state that it was so done is fatally defective. Allison v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 501, 26 S. W. 1080, 1081; Magee v. State, 7 Tex. App. 99.

Punishable offense must be described. Breeding v. State, 31 Tex. 94; Adler v. State, 31 Tex. 61; Riviere v. State, 7 Tex. App. 55; Coggin v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 984; McClure v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 129, 38 S. W. 1002; Draughan v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 51, 35 S. W. 667; Calhoun v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 126; Wilson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 33; Morgan v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 413, 23 S. W. 1107; Henderson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 23 S. W. 692; Yokum v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 21 S. W. 191; Harris v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 20 S. W. 708. If the offense described in a bond on appeal is not a criminal one the sureties on such instrument will not be liable. State v. Jones, 3 La. Ann. 9.

The following descriptions have been held insufficient: "Did unlawfully sell intoxicating liquor in a county where local option has been adopted and was in force" (Duffer v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 997), "betting at a game played with cards in a public place" (Heath v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 31 S. W. 659), "disturbing the peace" (Strain v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 42 S. W. 383), "disturbing religious worship" (Hunt v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 750), "gaming" (Harkey v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 423), "malicious mischief" (Koritz v. State, 27 Tex. App. 53, 10 S. W. 757), "retailing liquor without license" (Munch v. State, 3 Tex. App. 552), "unlawfully carrying a pistol" (Ross v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1898) 44 S. W. 492; Blackshear v.

But under a statute requiring that such instrument state briefly the nature of the offense, a recognizance on appeal which states in substance the charge upon which defendant was convicted under the statute is sufficient.[20] But a recognizance may be bad for duplicity or uncertainty where the description joins two or more offenses or states the offense in the alternative so that it is uncertain to which of them the description refers.[21]

(B) Should Show Conviction. It has been declared that a recognizance given on appeal which fails to show that the principal has been convicted of any offense is void,[22] and on appeal from a judgment in the lower court dismissing an appeal the recognizance should show what disposition was made in the lower court of the appeal.[23]

(C) Variance Between Indictment and Recognizance. A recital in the recognizance of the offense charged in the indictment is sufficient,[24] and where it is expressly provided by statute that the former must state the very offense named in the latter, or with which the defendant stands charged, a variance in these respects invalidates such recognizance.[25]

State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 33 S. W. 222; Clark v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 901; Baizey v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 30 S. W. 358; Rhoads v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 28 S. W. 467; Heath v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 28 S. W. 203), "unlawfully selling intoxicating liquors in a prohibition district" (McMeans v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 130, 38 S. W. 998), violating the "Sunday law" (Pace v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 700). So a recognizance describing the offense as crap playing has been held insufficient in not stating the elements of the offense, it being necessary to show that the game was not played at a private residence. Roe v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 28. See also Allphin v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 26 S. W. 61.

The following descriptions have been held to be sufficient: "Keeping a disorderly house" (Reed v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 969 [reversing 21 S. W. 364]), receiving "stolen" property (Sands v. State, 30 Tex. App. 578, 18 S. W. 86), "unlawfully obstructing a public highway" (Robinson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 39 S. W. 678), "unlawfully pursuing the occupation of selling medicated bitters in quantities of a quart and less than five gallons, without first obtaining a license therefor" (Viser v. State, 10 Tex. App. 86).

20. Describing in substance.— So a recital of the conviction as being for selling whisky to an Indian was held sufficient, where the defendant was convicted under a statute making it an offense to sell "spirituous" liquor to an Indian. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628.

21. Uncertainty or duplicity.— Killingsworth v. State, 7 Tex. App. 28; Hart v. State, 2 Tex. App. 39; Davidson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1898) 45 S. W. 488; Young v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 42 S. W. 564; Whitehead v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 437, 34 S. W. 114; Bailey v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 116; Kennedy v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 24 S. W. 901; Knight v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 103; Garza v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 139; Wells v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 21 S. W. 370; Parker v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1892) 20 S. W. 707. So where the conviction was for carrying a pistol on "and" about the person, a recognizance is void which recites the offense as carrying a pistol on "or" about the person. Strey v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 279; Polly v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 283; Lowery v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 609.

22. Jones v. State, 8 Tex. App. 365; Nunn v. State, 40 Tex. Crim. 435, 50 S. W. 713; McGough v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 50 S. W. 712; Fancher v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 285.

The punishment assessed must also be shown where the statute so requires. Cauthern v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 59 S. W. 273; Allred v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 59 S. W. 273; Callicoatte v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 58 S. W. 1008; Cartwright v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 58 S. W. 1008; McCormack v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 58 S. W. 1006; Cooper v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 55 S. W. 494; Chumley v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 55 S. W. 492; Jordan v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 55 S. W. 176; Westfall v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 53 S. W. 629; Secrest v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 53 S. W. 630; Sessum v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 51 S. W. 373; Peck v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 51 S. W. 229; Donnelly v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 51 S. W. 228; Cyrus v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 50 S. W. 716; Bird v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 50 S. W. 715; McGough v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 50 S. W. 712; May v. State, 40 Tex. Crim. 196, 49 S. W. 402; Davis v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 49 S. W. 403; Kirk v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 21.

23. Bennett v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 244, 39 S. W. 363; Biggins v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 109; Alexander v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 695; Armento v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 539, 28 S. W. 200; Sides v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 95.

24. Alford v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 386, 35 S. W. 657.

25. Robinson v. State, 30 Tex. 437; Johnson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 982;

d. Amendment. But a bond or recognizance cannot be amended after the adjournment of the term at which it is entered,[26] or in vacation,[27] or after the defendant has been discharged from arrest,[28] nor can a surety be substituted without the knowledge of the cosureties.[29]

2. Execution. Where the recognizance is required to be signed,[30] it will be binding though the signatures be in the body of the bond instead of at the bottom.[31] But it cannot be executed by another in behalf of the accused, either as attorney or otherwise.[32] So where it is expressly required by statute that in certain cases bail shall be by bond it must be executed under seal to be in form the instrument required.[33] And if two or more defendants have been jointly convicted in case of an appeal by them each must execute a separate recognizance.[34]

H. Money Deposited in Lieu of Bail — 1. In General. A magistrate or officer has no authority to accept a deposit of money in lieu of bail in the absence of a statute conferring such right upon him;[35] but where it is provided by statute that money may be deposited in lieu of bail, and the amount required is deposited, the defendant cannot be required to enter into a recognizance in form.[36]

2. Disposition of. Money deposited in lieu of bail with an officer or judge is said to be held in trust by such person for the commonwealth,[37] and on default for

Morrison v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 601, 40 S. W. 591; Jackson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 287; Wilson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 40 S. W. 279; Canady v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 610; Swain v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 609; Schoonmaker v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 424, 35 S. W. 969; Couch v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 942; Smith v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 1079; Pace v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 697; Loven v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 30 S. W. 358; Johnson v. State, 34 Tex. Crim. 106, 29 S. W. 472; Nichols v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 29 S. W. 383; Nash v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 368, 24 S. W. 32, 26 S. W. 412; Turner v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 26 S. W. 62; Heilman v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 1120; Blevins v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 23 S. W. 688; Mullinix v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 116, 22 S. W. 407; Shackelford v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 26; Flemming v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 1038; Daggett v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 21 S. W. 360; Morgan v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 21 S. W. 260; McDaniel v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 20 S. W. 1108; Bowen v. State, 28 Tex. App. 103, 12 S. W. 413; Jones v. State, 8 Tex. App. 365.

26. After adjournment.— Miller v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 26 S. W. 71. A defect cannot be cured by granting a certiorari when the term of the court has expired. Harris v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 103.

27. In vacation.— Simpson v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 425.

28. After discharge from arrest.— Cox v. State, 5 Kan. App. 539, 47 Pac. 191.

If it is provided by statute that no appeal shall be dismissed, because of any informality in its taking, a defective appeal-bond may be amended by the substitution of one containing the conditions prescribed by law. Territory v. Milroy, 7 Mont. 559, 19 Pac. 209. But see Holman v. State, 10 Tex. 558 (where it is held that the supreme court will dismiss the appeal); Koritz v. State, 27 Tex. App. 53, 10 S. W. 757 (wherein it is held that the trial court has no jurisdiction to amend a bond).

29. Substitution of surety.— Cox v. State, 5 Kan. App. 539, 47 Pac. 191.

30. Though the signatures of the defendant or his sureties may not be required to a recognizance on appeal, the fact that they sign such instrument will not render it invalid. Shupe v. State, 40 Nebr. 524, 59 N. W. 100.

31. Place of signatures.—McHowell v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 53 S. W. 630; Triplett v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 1079.

32. By agent or attorney.—Ferrill v. State, 29 Tex. 489.

33. Seal.— Williams v. State, 25 Fla. 734, 6 So. 831, 6 L. R. A. 821.

34. By defendants jointly convicted.—Goldman v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 34 S. W. 122; Bowers v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1896) 33 S. W. 974. See also Irvin v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1895) 32 S. W. 899.

35. This rule has been applied to justices of the peace (Appelgate v. Young, 62 Kan. 100, 61 Pac. 402 [reversing 9 Kan. App. 493, 58 Pac. 1000]; U. S. v. Faw, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 486, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 15,078), to magistrates (Reinhard v. Columbus, 49 Ohio St. 257, 31 N. E. 35), to mayors (Columbus v. Dunnick, 41 Ohio St. 602), to police officers (Reinhard v. Columbus, 49 Ohio St. 257, 31 N. E. 35), and to sheriffs (Butler v. Foster, 14 Ala. 323; Smart v. Cason, 50 Ill. 195; State v. Reiss, 12 La. Ann. 166).

36. Where statute permits.— Morrow v. State, 6 Kan. 222; Wash v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 91.

Money deposited in lieu of bail in civil actions see supra, II, H.

For form of deposit in lieu of bail in criminal cases see Bullitt's Crim. Code Ky. (1899), p. 143; N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 554.

37. In trust for commonwealth.— Com. v. Leech, 103 Ky. 389, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 129, 45 S. W. 361.

non-compliance with the conditions to secure the fulfilment of which the deposit was made it becomes forfeited.[38] Such deposit may also by statute be a security for the fine and costs, where judgment is rendered.[39] And if made in lieu of bail, under a statute permitting such procedure, it is presumed to have been made by the defendant and to belong to him, and therefore, though made by a third person in his name, it will be equally liable to be applied to the satisfaction of any judgment recovered against the defendant.[40]

I. Discharge of Sureties — 1. In General. Although the conditions of the recognizance should be performed, nevertheless the act of God or of the obligee or of the law may excuse performance, or operate to render it impossible.[41] Thus it has been held that the sureties are released from liability by death of the accused,[42] by discharge in bankruptcy or insolvency,[43] or by a material alteration

38. Forfeiture.— Rock Island County v. Mercer County, 24 Ill. 35; Com. v. Leech, 103 Ky. 389, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 105, 45 S. W. 361; Arnsparger v. Norman, 101 Ky. 208, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 381, 40 S. W. 574; Dean v. Com., 1 Bush (Ky.) 20; Bullock v. Com., 16 Ky. L. Rep. 284.

A married woman cannot on the ground of coverture resist a forfeiture of money deposited by her in lieu of bail. Bullock v. Com., 16 Ky. L. Rep. 284.

Statutory proceedings for the forfeiture of money in such a case are constitutional. Bullock v. Com., 96 Ky. 537, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 621, 29 S. W. 341.

A provision as to recognizances that, in case of breach thereof, they shall, in certain cases, be certified and returned from the justice's court to the district court has been held in Montana to confer no authority upon the justice, on declaring a forfeiture of money deposited in lieu of bail to turn the same over to the county attorney. State v. Evans, 13 Mont. 239, 33 Pac. 1010.

39. When security for fine and costs.— State v. Ross, 100 Tenn. 303, 45 S. W. 673, wherein it is held that, under a statute, the costs should be taken from a deposit made in the supreme court in a case affirmed on appeal before any part of such deposit is withdrawn.

40. State v. Owens, 112 Iowa 403, 84 N. W. 529 (wherein it is also declared that, under the statute, the money can only be returned to the defendant); Appelgate v. Young, 62 Kan. 100, 61 Pac. 402 [reversing 9 Kan. App. 493, 58 Pac. 100]; People v. Laidlaw, 102 N. Y. 588, 7 N. E. 910; State v. Ross, 100 Tenn. 303, 45 S. W. 673.

Return to attorney of the defendant has been held proper. Jackson v. Rome, 78 Ga. 343.

Where deposited with the clerk of the court who pays the same to the trustee of the jury fund, such clerk is considered as holding the money as agent for the person making the deposit and the payment by him is considered as equivalent to payment by such person. Arnsparger v. Norman, 101 Ky. 208, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 381, 40 S. W. 574.

41. Belding v. State, 25 Ark. 315, 99 Am. Dec. 214, 4 Am. Rep. 26; State v. Crosby, 114 Ala. 11, 22 So. 110; State v. McAllister, 54 N. H. 156. So an act of the court may operate as a discharge of the sureties, as in case of a release of the prisoner on habeas corpus from an illegal imprisonment, intended as a surrender, and discharging him. Smith v. Com., 91 Ky. 588, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 186, 16 S. W. 532. And payment to the clerk of the amount of the recognizance, he being the proper officer to receive said amount, releases the sureties. Flanigan v. Minneapolis, 36 Minn. 406, 31 N. W. 359. See also infra, III, J, L, N.

Discharge of bail in civil actions see supra, II, J.

The alteration of a bail-bond, made by a separate stipulation between the principal and the government, without the consent of the other obligors, renders the bond void as to the latter. Reese v. U. S., 9 Wall. (U. S.) 13, 19 L. ed. 541. See, generally, Alterations of Instruments, 2 Cyc. 137.

Fact that the cognizor was an infant and was removed by his parent out of the state, thereby preventing his surrender, does not discharge surety. Starr v. Com., 7 Dana (Ky.) 243.

Fact that the prisoner was appointed a deputy marshal and acted as such until the time for his appearance at court does not release sureties. Bolanz v. Com., 24 Gratt. (Va.) 31.

Pardon of accused does not discharge his sureties from forfeiture incurred prior thereto. Dale v. Com., 101 Ky. 612, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1119, 42 S. W. 93, 38 L. R. A. 808.

42. Death releases the sureties where it renders the performance of the condition impossible. Pynes v. State, 45 Ala. 52; McKee v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 286 (holding that death before the day of appearance releases bail, but that it must be pleaded as an existing fact and not on information and belief); People v. Meyer, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 726, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 1148, 61 N. Y. St. 121 (rule applied to death before forfeiture); Merritt v. Thompson, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 550; People v. Manning, 8 Cow. (N. Y.) 297, 18 Am. Dec. 451; Conner v. State, 30 Tex. 94 (where accused died pending appeal and the death was proved before judgment of affirmance).

43. Discharge in bankruptcy or insolvency releases the sureties from all liability upon the bond. Jones v. State, 28 Ark. 119; Richardson v. McIntyre, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 412, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,789. Although such dis-of the bond after its final execution.[44] But if the fault of the sureties contributes in any way, together with the above acts, to prevent the principal's surrender, they are not discharged, although they are not liable where they are unable to produce the accused by one of the causes which the statute recognizes as a sufficient excuse.[45]

2. Arrest and Custody — a. In Other Proceedings. Notwithstanding the rule in civil bail,[46] the arrest or imprisonment of the accused in other proceedings does not in criminal cases operate in all jurisdictions to discharge the sureties. Under a federal decision [47] it is determined that the removal of a prisoner by a court of competent jurisdiction beyond the control of his bondsmen, thus rendering them unable to produce him at the time and place set for trial in accordance with the obligation, constitutes an act of the law and discharges the sureties; and under several decisions this seems to be a rule based on sound reasons.[48] But the arrest of accused for another offense while he is out on bail does not release the sureties,[49] for although by taking bail the state parts with the exclusive control of the prisoner and consents that the bondsmen may exercise direct control over him, yet it is only for the purpose of enabling them to produce him in court in conformity with their undertaking, and the state retains the right in certain con-charge after giving the bond does not, it is decided, apply to a debt due to the state, since the statute cannot be extended by implication so as to defeat the execution of the criminal laws. Com. v. Anderson, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 275; Com. v. McMillen, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 270.

44. A material alteration of the bond after its final execution either by erasures, striking out, or adding to the same without the sureties' knowledge or consent releases them. Vincent v. People, 25 Ill. 500; Grant v. State, 8 Tex. App. 432; Davis v. State, 5 Tex. App. 48. But a change of the amount thereof where the recognizance need not have been in writing does not discharge the bail. Com. v. McHenry, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 451, 36 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 285. Nor are they released where the bond was filled up according to the sureties' directions after they had signed the same. Brown v. Colquitt, 73 Ga. 59, 54 Am. Rep. 867. Nor has the sheriff any power after bail is taken, the bond approved, and the accused released, to alter the bond upon stipulation with the sureties, and for their protection, even though it has not been returned into the sheriff's office. McClure v. Smith, 56 Ga. 439.

45. State v. McAllister, 54 N. H. 156.

Enlistment in the army by the principal without the knowledge or consent of his sureties, whereby he becomes subject to military jurisdiction and is without the jurisdiction of the state, or the reach of his sureties at the time of the forfeiture, so that he cannot be taken by habeas corpus or otherwise has been decided not to release the sureties. Gingrich v. People, 34 Ill. 448; Winninger v. State, 23 Ind. 228; State v. Scott, 20 Iowa 63. Contra, Com. v. Terry, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 383 (where the principal was unable to obtain a furlough); People v. Cushney, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 118; People v. Cook, 30 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 110.

46. See supra, II, I, 1, b.

47. In re James, 18 Fed. 853.

48. Sureties are released where accused is imprisoned by an order of the military officer under a provisional government (Belding v. State, 25 Ark. 315, 99 Am. Dec. 214, 4 Am. Rep. 26); or where he is adjudged a lunatic and confined as such (Wood v. Com., 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1076, 33 S. W. 729); or escapes on his way to the asylum (Com. v. Fleming, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 491); or where accused is illegally imprisoned even by the sureties' own act and is released therefrom on habeas corpus (Smith v. Com., 91 Ky. 588, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 186, 16 S. W. 532); or where he is confined in the penitentiary and is incapable of appearing (Buffington v. Smith, 58 Ga. 341; Cooper v. State, 5 Tex. App. 215, 32 Am. Rep. 571; Caldwell v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 698).

49. Sureties not released. — Alabama. — State v. Crosby, 114 Ala. 11, 22 So. 110 [citing Ingram v. State, 27 Ala. 17], arrest and commitment to prison for another offense.

Arkansas. — Havis v. State, 62 Ark. 500, 37 S. W. 957.

Georgia. — Hartley v. Colquitt, 72 Ga. 351; West v. Colquitt, 71 Ga. 559, 51 Am. Rep. 277.

Kentucky. — Alguire v. Com., 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 349; McGuire v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 287, and this even though defendant escapes.

Louisiana. — State v. Frith, 14 La. 191, and this even though the second offense is not bailable.

See also In re James, 18 Fed. 853; and 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 291.

Qualifications and particular instances. — Where the accused was detained out of court to pay a fine on another charge and the time of detention did not exceed five minutes bail were held responsible upon their obligation. People v. Robb, 98 Mich. 397, 57 N. W. 257. And it is decided that the arrest for another offense does not ipso facto discharge the sureties. Tedford v. State, 67 Miss. 363, 7 So. 352. Nor are they released although the accused was arrested as an escaped contingencies to resume the custody of the offender, and it cannot therefore be claimed that the being out on bail operates as an immunity from arrest for a new offense.[50] This rule has been extended to apply to a case of confinement in the penitentiary of another state,[51] to a transfer by federal authority[52] from the state court into military custody in another state,[53] to an arrest in another county,[54] and to a removal into another county.[55]

b. Rearrest on Same Charge. Where the prisoner is rearrested or ordered into custody on the same charge or for the same offense, his sureties are discharged,[56] vict and was lawfully in the custody of the warden of the penitentiary provided he was at large and might have appeared in court. Bishop v. State, 16 Ohio St. 419. Nor where, after arrest, trial, and conviction for another felony, the principal had escaped. Wheeler v. State, 38 Tex. 173. Nor will the federal court discharge bail because the principal is confined in jail under process of the state court. U. S. v. Van Fossen, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 406, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,607; U. S. v. French, 1 Gall. (U. S.) 1, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,165.

50. In re James, 18 Fed. 853 [citing Taintor v. Taylor, 36 Conn. 242, 4 Am. Rep. 58; State v. Horn, 70 Mo. 466, 35 Am. Rep. 437; Taylor v. Taintor, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 366, 21 L. ed. 287; U. S. v. Van Fossen, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 406, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,607].

Custody during trial of another indictment does not release the sureties although they are bound under separate bonds for accused's appearance under both indictments at the same term. Combs v. Com., 103 Ky. 385, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 129, 45 S. W. 359.

51. Confinement in penitentiary of another state.— Alabama.—Cain v. State, 55 Ala. 170.

Kentucky.— Yarbrough v. Com., 89 Ky. 151, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 351, 12 S. W. 143, 25 Am. St. Rep. 524; Withrow v. Com., 1 Bush (Ky.) 17.

Missouri.— State v. Horn, 70 Mo. 466, 35 Am. Rep. 437.

Nebraska.— King v. State, 18 Nebr. 375, 25 N. W. 519.

Tennessee.— Devine v. State, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 622.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 291.

It has also been applied to confinement of a lunatic in another state. Adler v. State, 35 Ark. 517, 37 Am. Rep. 48. And confinement in another state on authority thereof does not excuse failure to appear in discharge of the bond. Hall v. Com., 20 Ky. L. Rep. 99, 45 S. W. 458.

So on a requisition, where one was delivered upon suit to another state, tried, convicted, and sentenced to imprisonment for a long term of years, it was declared that that was not an act of the law which rendered the performance impossible, and therefore excused failure, since such law must be one operative in the state where the obligation was assumed and obligatory in this respect upon the authorities. Taintor v. Taylor, 36 Conn. 242, 4 Am. Rep. 58 [affirmed in 16 Wall. (U. S.) 366, 21 L. ed. 287]. See also Ingram v. State, 27 Ala. 17 (where the bail were held although the delivery was after escape from his bail but the demand was not on the same charge); State v. Burnham, 44 Me. 278 (where the principal was arrested in a neighboring state on a requisition and bail were held). Contra, People v. Moore, 4 N. Y. Crim. 205; State v. Allen, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 258.

52. But bail are discharged by the arrest upon the same charge in the same state by federal authorities and incarceration in another state. Com. v. Overby, 80 Ky. 208, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 704, 44 Am. Rep. 471. See infra, III, J, 1.

53. Transfer into military custody.—State v. Davis, 12 S. C. 528. Bail are not released where they take the principal out of the county to offer him as a substitute and he is seized by the military authorities as a deserter (Shook v. People, 39 Ill. 443), nor where the principal has placed himself under military jurisdiction are the bail discharged (Huggins v. People, 39 Ill. 241). But bail are not entitled to have the body in another state until a sentence of court martial has been complied with. U. S. v. Bishop, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 37.

54. Arrest in another county.— Mix v. People, 26 Ill. 32; Brown v. People, 26 Ill. 28; State v. Merrihew, 47 Iowa 112, 29 Am. Rep. 464. Contra, People v. Bartlett, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 570.

55. Removal into another county.— Stafford v. State, 10 Tex. App. 46. Contra, Com. v. Webster, 1 Bush (Ky.) 616.

56. Alabama.— State v. Posey, 79 Ala. 45.

Arkansas.— State v. Jones, 29 Ark. 127, for the right of bail to the custody of the defendant is impaired, even by giving the sheriff the custody of the prisoner to be transmitted to the sheriff of the county to which a change of venue is ordered.

Iowa.— State v. Orsler, 48 Iowa 343 (prisoner arrested on indictment subsequently found); State v. Holmes, 23 Iowa 458 (the state's custody on rearrest is actual, not constructive, and the bail has no control or liability).

Kentucky.— Medlin v. Com., 11 Bush (Ky.) 605.

Missouri.— See State v. Taylor, 136 Mo. 462, 37 S. W. 1121.

Nebraska.— Smith v. State, 12 Nebr. 309, 11 N. W. 317.

Texas.— Foster v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 372, 43 S. W. 80; Peacock v. State, 44 Tex. 11. And they are discharged by rearrest of principal and bail thereupon. Roberts v. State, 22 Tex. App. 64, 2 S. W. 622; Lindley v. State, 17 Tex. App. 120.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 290.

Particular applications of rule.— The bond is not given new life by the subsequent re-nor are they liable where the prisoner escapes after such arrest.[57] But it is decided that the rule does not apply where the rearrest is irregular;[58] nor where the state has only temporary custody;[59] nor where the surety binds himself for merely a portion of the total bail, and the prisoner is retaken to compel them to keep good the additional security;[60] nor where the rearrest is under a second indictment though based on the same transaction as the first.[61]

3. FAILURE TO INDICT. Recurring to the general principle that the condition of the recognizance should be performed, it follows that, if the principal fails to appear according to the obligation, the bond is forfeited whether or not there is an indictment or information, for ordinarily the discharge is a matter for the court and does not result as of course from failure to indict or to proceed by information;[62] and this rule governs where, upon failure to indict, the accused is ordered to appear before a second grand jury.[63]

4. INDICTMENT FOR ANOTHER OFFENSE. It is determined that sureties have a lease of accused. Smith v. State, 12 Nebr. 309, 11 N. W. 317. See People v. McReynolds, 102 Cal. 308, 36 Pac. 590. Even though the prisoner is erroneously discharged by legal authority. Com. v. Bronson, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 361. And the sureties are released where there is an appearance and accused is ordered into custody after sentence and permitted by the court's leave to depart in order to pay his fine (State v. Zimmerman, 112 Iowa 5, 83 N. W. 720); or where he is in the state's custody at the time his appearance is required (McGuire v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 287).

57. Escape after rearrest.—Smith v. Kitchens, 51 Ga. 158, 21 Am. Rep. 232; State v. Holmes, 23 Iowa 458; Medlin v. Com., 11 Bush (Ky.) 605; People v. Stager, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 431. But see McGuire v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 287. Contra, Com. v. Branch, 1 Bush (Ky.) 59; Chappell v. State, 30 Tex. 613. See also Dunlap v. State, 66 Ark. 105, 49 S. W. 349 [citing Havis v. State, 62 Ark. 500, 37 S. W. 957; Stafford v. State, 10 Tex. App. 46], holding that the fact that the accused was in custody for another and distinct offense at the time of his escape does not discharge bail where he was not in custody at the time his bail was bound for his appearance.

Escape after release by order of court made without the sureties' application or knowledge after delivery of the prisoner into custody by a prior order operates to discharge the sureties. People v. McReynolds, 102 Cal. 308, 36 Pac. 590 [citing State v. Orsler, 48 Iowa 343; Medlin v. Com., 11 Bush (Ky.) 605; People v. Stager, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 431; Reese v. U. S., 9 Wall. (U. S.) 13, 19 L. ed. 541].

58. Where rearrest is irregular.— Ingram v. State, 27 Ala. 17.

59. Where state has only temporary custody.— Com. v. Thompson, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 439.

60. U. S. v. Atwill, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,475.

61. Rearrest under second indictment.— Foster v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 372, 43 S. W. 80.

62. Alabama.— State v. Kyle, 99 Ala. 256, 13 So. 538.

Illinois.— Mooney v. People, 81 Ill. 134; O'Brien v. People, 41 Ill. 456; Wheeler v. People, 39 Ill. 430; Garrison v. People, 21 Ill. 535; Chumasero v. People, 18 Ill. 405.

Indiana.— Fleece v. State, 25 Ind. 384; State v. Cooper, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 226; Adair v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 200.

Kentucky.— Hinkson v. Com., 14 Ky. L. Rep. 203, only on failure to indict at the second term or on dismissal by the grand jury that the sureties are released.

Louisiana.— State v. Plazencia, 6 Rob. (La.) 441, 41 Am. Dec. 271, not absolved by omission of the state to proceed; appearance is only protection.

Missouri.— State v. Millsaps, 69 Mo. 359.

New Jersey.— State v. Stout, 11 N. J. L. 124.

New York.— Champlain v. People, 2 N. Y. 82.

Pennsylvania.—Com. v. McAnany, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 292.

South Carolina.— State v. Fitch, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 558, and a new bill may be preferred.

Texas.— McCoy v. State, 37 Tex. 219; State v. Cocke, 37 Tex. 155; Coleman v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 595, 25 S. W. 286.

Contra, Com. v. Blincoe, 3 Bush (Ky.) 12; Rion v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 235; Com. v. Roberts, 4 Metc. (Ky.) 219. See also Jones v. State, 11 Tex. App. 412.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 293.

To what extent rule qualified.— In Rogers v. State, 79 Ala. 59, the condition was to appear at the next term and from term to term thereafter until discharged by law; there was no indictment had and no forfeiture taken, nor was the case continued, and the sureties were discharged. In Bryant v. Com., 3 Bush (Ky.) 9, no indictment was found or order made for resubmission or for discharge of the accused, and it was held error to forfeit the bond. In State v. Doane, 30 La. Ann. 1194, it was held that the sureties were entitled to release after the discharge of the grand jury at the first term. In State v. Mackey, 55 Mo. 51, the prisoner attended during the term named without any measures being taken to commit him, or otherwise secure his appearance, and it was decided that bail were released.

63. Ex p. Isbell, 11 Nev. 295

That indictment was under unconstituright to stand upon the terms of their obligation, and therefore, if the recognizance is to answer an indictment for one offense, the bail are not liable for the failure of their principal to appear and answer to an indictment for an offense of an entirely distinct character,[64] that is where the offenses are not different degrees of the same class,[65] but different classes of crime, and there is nothing tending to identify the two crimes as one or to show that the one charge had any relation to the other.[66] But it has also been decided that it is within the terms of the bond to hold the sureties liable even though the information is for a different offense than that under the bond, for the accused binds himself not only to appear and answer the specific charge but also not to depart thence without leave of court first obtained.[67] Nor are the sureties discharged where it does not appear that the attorney for the state, who had filed an information for a different offense, had abandoned the original complaint,[68] or where one of several offenses charged is abandoned.[69]

5. New Bond. Bail will be discharged where accused appears according to the recognizance and new bail is given for his future appearance.[70] And a supersedeas bond given with new bail transfers the custody of defendant from his former bail for appearance to the new bail.[71] But where the statute so provides the appeal-bond can be forfeited only where the judgment against defendant tional law will not discharge sureties. State v. Ruthing, 49 La. Ann. 909, 22 So. 199.

64. Alabama.— Gray v. State, 43 Ala. 41.
Idaho.— People v. Sloper, 1 Ida. 158.
Iowa.— State v. Brown, 16 Iowa 314.
Ohio.— Aultfather v. State, 4 Ohio St. 467.
Texas.—Addison v. State, 14 Tex. App. 568.
See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 294.

65. Where the indictment is for an offense of a lesser degree, the sureties are not discharged. Mudd v. Com., 14 Ky. L. Rep. 672.
Where the indictment is for a higher offense, the sureties are not discharged. Gresham v. State, 48 Ala. 625, where the sureties were bound for manslaughter and the indictment was for murder. Again, where the original indictment was quashed and the defendant was bound to answer in a new indictment, it was decided that the sureties were not discharged where the indictment was for a higher offense, including that charged. Hortsell v. State, 45 Ark. 59. And where the recognizance is to appear for assault and battery and there is an indictment for murder the sureties are liable. Pack v. State, 23 Ark. 235; Adams v. Governor, 22 Ga. 417.

66. Where the identity of the two offenses does not appear the sureties are not liable. People v. Hunter, 10 Cal. 502. So a material variance between the crime set out in the recognizance and that charged in the indictment will be fatal. State v. Woodley, 25 Ga. 235. See also State v. Brown, 16 Iowa 314. But a bond is not invalidated where the indictment is for assault with intent to murder and the recognizance describes the offense as "assault and attempt to murder." Where the undertaking charges manslaughter in the second degree it is sufficient even though the indictment charges that offense by description and not in express words. People v. Brown, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 320, 37 N. Y. St. 178.
Where the complaint is illegal the principal is not compelled to appear and answer an information duly filed in the court by a proper officer. Kingsbury v. Clark, 1 Conn. 406.

67. People v. Meacham, 74 Ill. 292; State v. Cole, 12 La. Ann. 471, where the charge was robbery and the information was for larceny alone. And under the same condition the failure to appear was declared to be a breach of the bond although the bail was for manslaughter and upon the same facts an indictment for murder was found. State v. Bryant, 55 Iowa 451, 8 N. W. 303. So the bond was declared forfeited where the principal was to answer for the charge of adultery and he departed without leave of court, although the indictment in the superior court was lewd and lascivious cohabitation. Com. v. Teevens, 143 Mass. 210, 9 N. E. 524, 58 Am. Rep. 131. See also Hendee v. Taylor, 29 Conn. 448; Com. v. Slocum, 14 Gray (Mass.) 395. See further State v. Crosby, 114 Ala. 11, 22 So. 110; McCoy v. State, 37 Tex. 219.

68. Hendee v. Taylor, 29 Conn. 448. And see Foster v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 374, 43 S. W. 80, where the prosecution under the former indictment was still pending, but the second indictment charged the original offense under different counts and also another offense.

69. Com. v. Field, 11 Allen (Mass.) 488. See also Foote v. Gordon, 87 Ga. 277, 13 S. E. 512.

70. Schneider v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 409. But they are not released where accused is brought into court on a bench warrant and new bail is entered and defendant escapes. Com. v. Dougherty, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 367. And if the new recognizance is before the same magistrate and upon another charge which is part of the same transaction as that upon which the first bond is given the bail are not discharged. State v. Shaw, 4 Ind. 428.
But statutory requirements must be complied with to effect the sureties' release where new bail is given and if a surrender is necessary thereto it must be made. Matthews v. State, 92 Ala. 89, 9 So. 740.

71. Smith v. Craig, 59 Ga. 882.

below has been affirmed; and upon reversal the appeal recognizance becomes functus officio while the original recognizance or bail-bond retains its full force and effect.[72]

6. Principal's Discharge, Acquittal, or Sentence. Sureties are released from further liability by the discharge or acquittal of their principal either on appearance and plea,[73] or after trial and before final judgment,[74] or on habeas corpus,[75] or before trial is fixed.[76] Again, where a party is convicted and sentenced he is no longer in the custody of his bail but is under the custody of the proper officer of the law and the sureties are entirely discharged by operation of the law, for there has been a compliance with the conditions of the bond.[77]

7. Proceedings Nullifying Indictment or Affecting Its Validity. It has been determined that sureties are released from their liability by quashing the indictment,[78] or by the finding thereafter of an indictment or information for the same offense;[79] or by entering a nolle prosequi.[80] But the construction of the conditions on the bond may operate to preclude such release where the indictment is quashed,[81] or nolle prosequi is entered.[82] Again the case may be resubmitted to the grand jury and the bail still be held,[83] but they are not released by the loss or destruction of the indictment,[84] nor by a failure to enter it upon the docket at the same term it is found and prosecuted.[85]

72. Wells v. State, 21 Tex. App. 594, 2 S. W. 806.

73. On appearance and plea.— Lyons v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 309.

74. After trial and before judgment.— State v. Hay, 7 La. 78; Mills v. McCoy, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 406. Or upon trial at a subsequent court after default. State v. Saunders, 8 N. J. L. 177.

75. On habeas corpus.— State v. Adler, 67 Ark. 469, 55 S. W. 851. Or on habeas corpus after surrender. Smith v. Com., 11 Ky. L. Rep. 811.

76. Before trial fixed.— Kelly v. Com., 9 Watts (Pa.) 43.

An order of abatement as to one of two jointly indicted terminates the proceedings as to him, so that upon the indictment being reinstated and the party arrested, his bail are not responsible for his non-appearance. Henry v. Com., 4 Bush (Ky.) 427.

77. Conviction and sentence.— Ex p. Williams, 114 Ala. 29, 30, 22 So. 446 [citing Hawk v. State, 84 Ala. 466, 4 So. 690; Cain v. State, 55 Ala. 170; Ex p. Robinson, 108 Ala. 161, 18 So. 729]. See also Ex p. Chandler, 114 Ala. 8, 10, 22 So. 285.

78. Quashing indictment.— People v. Lafarge, 3 Cal. 130; State v. Clerk, 16 Ind. App. 137, 44 N. E. 813; McKensie v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 24 Mo. App. 392 (also holding that they are discharged even though no formal entry of record is made); People v. Felton, 36 Barb. (N. Y.) 429 (where done upon motion of the prosecution, the accused being present, and the latter may thereupon depart from court without special permission or order). But see Little v. Com., 3 Bush (Ky.) 22.

Qualifications.—An order striking from the docket one of two indictments for the same offense is not equivalent to a discontinuance of the other. Bradley v. People, 21 Ill. App. 78. And bail are liable for non-appearance of accused to answer a second indictment where the first was set aside on defendant's motion after a plea of not guilty but before the jury was impaneled, and by order of court he was permitted to stand upon his bail-bond. Brewer v. Com., 3 Bush. (Ky.) 550.

Upon reversal of such order erroneously made at the instance of defendant's attorney a reasonable time to appear and discharge the recognizance will be allowed. Com. v. Thompson, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 284.

79. Subsequent indictment for same offense.— People v. Lafarge, 3 Cal. 130; State v. Clerk, 16 Ind. App. 137, 44 N. E. 813.

80. Entering nolle prosequi.— Lamp v. Smith, 56 Ga. 589; State v. Bugg, 6 Rob. (La.) 63; State v. Prendergast, 11 La. 68; State v. Dunbar, 10 La. 99. Contra, State v. Brooks, 48 La. Ann. 855, 19 So. 739; Silvers v. State, 59 N. J. L. 428, 37 Atl. 133; State v. Haskett, 3 Hill (S. C.) 95.

81. As where it is conditioned to appear and not depart without leave of the court. State v. Hancock, 54 N. J. L. 393, 24 Atl. 726; U. S. v. White, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 368, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,678.

82. Silvers v. State, 59 N. J. L. 428, 37 Atl. 133.

83. Even though the indictment was for assault and the new indictment was for aggravated assault. Hortsell v. State, 45 Ark. 59. See Brewer v. Com., 3 Bush (Ky.) 550.

Especially where the statute so provides, but such resubmission must be in conformity with the statutory requirements, or the sureties will be discharged. Hyde v. Cross, 25 Oreg. 543, 37 Pac. 59. See Lady v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 228.

84. Loss or destruction of indictment.— Price v. State, 42 Ark. 178; People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338; Crouch v. State, 25 Tex. 755.

85. State v. Spear, 54 Vt. 503.

Filing indictment without indexing it releases the sureties. Hall v. Com., 17 Ky. L. Rep. 231, 30 S. W. 877.

8. Prosecuting Attorney's Acts. In so far as bail have a legal right to rely upon the acts or declarations of the prosecuting attorney in the premises, and they are induced thereby to so act as that their rights would be otherwise materially prejudiced under their bond or recognizance, they are not liable to forfeiture of bail.[86] But bail are not released by a failure of the state attorney to perform his duty to call those bound by any recognizance, and to take judgment if the principal be not produced.[87]

9. Reversal of Judgment. If the effect of a judgment has been to legally discharge the sureties the reversal of such judgment does not revive the liability of bail.[88]

J. Breach or Performance of Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance —

1. Appearance — a. In General. Appearance should be made in conformity with the condition of the obligation at the time and place designated therein or legally required by the terms thereof.[89] If, however, a particular hour is specified then the full legal hour is ordinarily contemplated,[90] and if the designation is general as of a term without further requirement as to the day, then particular days are excluded,[91] unless there is some other legal requirement for appearance on the first day of the term.[92]

b. In Person or by Attorney. It has been held that, in order to prevent a

86. People v. Hammond, 4 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 270, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 219, 26 N. Y. St. 486, where accused was present in court at the time specified for his appearance, but the district attorney stated to counsel for defendant that he would not move the indictment against accused for that term, whereupon, and induced thereby, said counsel advised accused that he might leave the court. But it is not a defense that the district attorney told counsel for accused that he might go away, and when he wanted him he would send for him. People v. Brown, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 320, 37 N. Y. St. 178. Nor can bail defend on the ground that the solicitor-general gave him erroneous advice which he followed. Clark v. Gordon, 82 Ga. 613, 9 S. E. 333.

87. State v. Plazencia, 6 Rob. (La.) 441, 41 Am. Dec. 271.

There is an implied obligation on the part of the state that bail shall not be hindered by any authority within the limits of the state from surrendering his principal at any time before forfeiture, and that the state's peace-officers will arrest the principal if within the state when bail desires it. Com. v. Overby, 80 Ky. 208, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 704, 44 Am. Rep. 471. But see State v. Kraner, 50 Iowa 575.

Non-arrest in other cases.— Bail are not released where an officer neglects to arrest after conviction. State v. Stewart, 74 Iowa 336, 37 N. W. 400. Nor is it a defense that, after bail was raised and a new order of arrest issued, the prisoner escaped owing to the negligence of the officers in the proceedings. People v. Eaton, 41 Cal. 657. But where the sheriff had the defendant in his custody, and, after trial, conviction, and new trial had, the sheriff permitted accused to go at large to obtain a new bond, and he escaped, it was held a sufficient defense. State v. Rosseau, 39 Tex. 614.

88. State v. Glenn, 40 Ark. 332; State v. Murphy, 10 Gill & J. (Md.) 365. But compare Wells v. State, 21 Tex. App. 594, 2 S. W. 806.

89. Appearance should be on the first day of the term if so specified and not on a later day. Adair v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 200; Shore v. State, 6 Mo. 640. And if appearance is alone required non-appearance is a forfeiture. Wallenweber v. Com., 3 Bush (Ky.) 68. But a mere appearance at the specified time is insufficient where there are other requirements under the bond or recognizance. Starr v. Com., 7 Dana (Ky.) 243. And an order of court taking charge and control of the prisoner is necessary upon appearance. Com. v. Coleman, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 382. But accused need not appear at any other time or place than that specified. State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 174. See also infra, III, J, 1, c.

Breach of performance of bond, undertaking, or recognizance, in civil actions see supra, II, J.

Where there has been a failure to appear in accordance with a valid condition for appearance, it will operate as a forfeiture of the recognizance. Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528; Sturges v. Sherwood, 15 Conn. 149.

90. Particular hour designated.— People v. Morstadt, 101 Cal. 379, 35 Pac. 1007; U. S. v. Rundlett, 2 Curt. (U. S.) 41, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,208.

91. Griffin v. Com., Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 31.

If the term designated has no existence then the recognizance for appearance thereat is not binding; and forfeiture for non-appearance at the next term of another court cannot be declared in such case. Thruston v. Com., 3 Dana (Ky.) 224.

The ordinary bail-bond requires an appearance at the next term of the court. State v. Langton, 6 La. Ann. 282.

92. As in case of a misdemeanor. U. S. v. Hodgkin, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 510, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,375.

forfeiture of bail, a personal appearance is required upon a felony charge[93] upon a condition to appear and abide the judgment of the court,[94] or where the order of the court is to appear in person to be arraigned.[95] And the rule has been applied in certain jurisdictions in cases of misdemeanor.[96] But ordinarily in cases of this character either the statute controls and appearance by attorney is sufficient, or the principle applies that the condition for appearance is for defendant's benefit, or the condition operates to secure compliance with the judgment.[97]

c. Time and Place — (i) In General. It is a general rule that a recognizance cannot be forfeited for failure to appear at any other time or place than that specified therein.[98]

(ii) After Conviction. There is a legal requirement for appearance after conviction where the conditions of the bond or recognizance are either not to depart without leave of court,[99] or to abide the order and judgment of the court,[1]

93. In felony cases.— State v. Rowe, 8 Rich. (S. C.) 17.

94. On condition to appear and abide judgment.— People v. McCully, 1 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 270.

95. For arraignment.— State v. Lartigue, 6 La. Ann. 404.

96. In misdemeanor cases.— Arkansas.— Warren v. State, 19 Ark. 214, 68 Am. Dec. 214.

Iowa.— State v. Ruferty, 70 Iowa 160, 30 N. W. 391; State v. Howorth, 70 Iowa 157, 30 N. W. 389, holding that defendant, who is recognized to appear and submit to judgment, must appear in person for sentence, otherwise the court may forfeit the recognizance notwithstanding Code (1873), § 4497, providing that judgment may be pronounced for a misdemeanor in the absence of defendant.

Kentucky.—Walker v. Com., 79 Ky. 292, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 197; Bond v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 94.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. McNeill, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 127.

South Carolina.— State v. Minton, 19 S. C. 280.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 320.

97. It follows therefore that there can be no forfeiture where such conditions exist even though defendant does not appear in person but by attorney.

California.— People v. Budd, 57 Cal. 349; People v. Ebner, 23 Cal. 158.

Iowa.— State v. Conneham, 57 Iowa 351, 10 N. W. 677.

Kansas.— Kenworthy v. El Dorado, 7 Kan. App. 643, 53 Pac. 486.

Kentucky.— Johnson v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 244.

Montana.— State v. Evans, 13 Mont. 239, 33 Pac. 1010.

Texas.— Neaves v. State, 4 Tex. App. 1.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 309 et seq.

98. State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 174. See also Hannum v. State, 38 Ind. 32; U. S. v. Rundlett, 2 Curt. (U. S.) 41, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,208. But see State v. Stout, 11 N. J. L. 124.

Before indictment.— If the bail-bond is conditioned to appear and answer an indictment the finding thereof is a condition precedent. Hudson v. State, 91 Ga. 553, 18 S. E. 432. See also Liceth v. Cobb, 18 Ga. 314. But see supra, III, I, 3.

Change of time of holding or failure to hold court.— A bond is not forfeited by failure to appear on another day than that fixed in said bond when the law changing said day is post facto. State v. Melton, 44 N. C. 426. See also State v. Stephens, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 307; State v. Edwards, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 226. But a recognizance to appear at the first day of the circuit next succeeding, etc., is not released by a failure to hold said court at the regular time appointed therefor, for there must be an appearance at the first circuit court actually held. Com. v. Cayton, 2 Dana (Ky.) 138. Nor is a recognizance avoided by a statute changing the time of holding the court to an earlier date. Walker v. State, 6 Ala. 350. Nor is a condition to appear at the next jury term to be holden, etc., affected by the court ordering a special jury term, and the defendant's failure to appear at said earlier term is not a ground for forfeiture. State v. Aubrey, 43 La. Ann. 188, 8 So. 440.

99. The sureties are not released where there is a departure without leave after verdict but before judgment or sentence (Glasgow v. State, 41 Kan. 333, 21 Pac. 253); nor where accused after being found guilty disappears (State v. Norment, 12 La. 511); nor where defendant so departs after conviction, but before sentence (Boring v. Com., (Pa. 1886) 4 Atl. 738; Magie's Appeal, (Pa. 1886) 4 Atl. 737).

Qualifications.— Where the clause in the bond "not thence to depart without leave" is not authorized by the statute it cannot be so construed as to hold the prisoner after examination and finding of guilt. State v. Bobb, 39 Mo. App. 543. And where a like clause is not supplemented by a condition to abide the final judgment of the court the sureties are not bound for accused's appearance at a term subsequent to that at which he was sentenced. Roberts v. Gordon, 86 Ga. 386, 12 S. E. 648.

1. State v. Baldwin, 78 Iowa 737, 36 N. W. 908. So the recognizance may be forfeited under such a condition for failure to appear after verdict. Neininger v. State, 50 Ohio St. 394, 34 N. E. 633, 40 Am. St. Rep. 674.

or both,[2] or that accused shall render himself in execution.[3] Again it has also been stated generally that there is a forfeiture of the recognizance where accused fails to comply with the judgment against him,[4] but the obligation of sureties ceases upon a surrender of defendant in execution,[5] or where he submits to and is taken into custody under sentence,[6] or where he is seized by the sheriff after a verdict of guilty and taken to jail.[7]

(III) During Trial or Term. The condition of the obligation must primarily be considered, and ordinarily such condition or the statute requires an attendance during the trial or the term or until surrender of the principal into proper custody or until otherwise legally discharged, so that the sureties are liable for an escape of the defendant before such fulfilment of the obligation or legal release therefrom.[8]

(IV) From Day to Day or From Term to Term. The effect of an adjournment upon the liability of sureties depends largely, if not exclusively, upon the conditions of the obligation. If such condition is, in effect, a continuing one, as that accused will appear and answer and not depart without leave or that he will abide the order and judgment of the court, it requires an appearance also at legal adjournments from day to day or from term to term at the peril of forfeiture of

2. But in such case the condition is satisfied by an appearance and submitting to the jurisdiction although he departed without leave after the imposition of the fine (Wilson v. People, 10 Ill. App. 357), or by an appearance receiving sentence and submitting to being taken into custody (Jackson v. State, 52 Kan. 249, 34 Pac. 744).

3. And in such case, if after conviction the court allows the principal to go from custody to obtain the amount of fine imposed, the sureties are liable on his disappearance. Com. v. Turpin, 98 Ky. 9, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 546, 32 S. W. 133.

4. State v. Whitson, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 178 (and there is also a breach of the bond where after sentence and adjournment the prisoner escapes); Com. v. Casper, 6 Pa. C. Ct. 382.

When no forfeiture.— Where the condition of the recognizance is to abide final sentence there can be no forfeiture after appearance, a finding of guilt, and an order of commitment even though accused fails to return. Spillman v. People, 16 Ill. App. 224. And, even though there is a condition not to depart without leave until final trial and conviction or acquittal, the sureties' responsibility ceases after a verdict of guilty is found. State v. Wilson, 14 La. Ann. 446. Nor can the bond be forfeited for failure to appear subsequent to the trial to answer sentence. State v. Cobb, 44 Mo. App. 375. Nor can the sureties be held where sentence has been twice postponed and accused has appeared at the last term appointed but the court was not in session. People v. Kennedy, 58 Mich. 372, 25 N. W. 318.

5. Mitchell v. Com., 12 Bush (Ky.) 247.

6. Jackson v. State, 52 Kan. 249, 34 Pac. 744.

7. State v. Murmann, 124 Mo. 502, 28 S. W. 2.

8. Alabama.— Cook v. State, 91 Ala. 53, 8 So. 686; Hawk v. State, 84 Ala. 466, 4 So. 690.

Colorado.— Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528.

Georgia.— Dennard v. State, 2 Ga. 137. Compare Lamb v. State, 73 Ga. 587, holding that where the jury has been discharged for the term and thereafter the cases are ordered continued, the recognizance cannot be forfeited, and it is not material that the defendant was not in court when the cause is not ready for trial.

Indiana.— Wilson v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 212.

Kansas.— Glasgow v. State, 41 Kan. 333, 21 Pac. 253.

Kentucky.— Askins v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 275. See Willis v. Com., 85 Ky. 68, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 653, 2 S. W. 654, construing Ky. Crim. Code, § 229. If the principal appears in discharge of the recognizance and is put on trial but escapes during its progress the sureties are not liable. Askins v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 275. Nor are they liable where, by order of court, the accused is placed in the sheriff's custody during trial and escapes while the jury is out. Com. v. Coleman, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 382.

Louisiana.— State v. Ruthing, 49 La. Ann. 909, 22 So. 199; State v. Martel, 3 Rob. (La.) 22.

Michigan.— People v. Tuthill, 39 Mich. 262; People v. Gordon, 39 Mich. 259. It is decided that, after appearance and a continuance without renewal of the bond, there could be no default for non-attendance thereafter during the term. Townsend v. People, 14 Mich. 388.

Mississippi.— Lavins v. State, (Miss. 1887) 3 So. 78; Lee v. State, 51 Miss. 665.

New York.— People v. McCoy, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 73; People v. Stager, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 431.

Virginia.— Allen v. Com., 90 Va. 356, 18 S. E. 437.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 312.

Recognizance may be called any day during the continuance of the court (People v. Blankman, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 252); or at any stage of the trial if accused fails to appear (People v. Petry, 2 Hilt. (N. Y.) 523).

the bail-bond for non-compliance with said obligation.[9] But notwithstanding such continuing nature of the obligation it has also been determined that an adjournment to a subsequent term is not within the contract of the recognizance.[10] If, however, the obligation of the bond is not a continuing one the surety is entitled to a discharge at the term designated for appearance.[11]

(v) On Change of Venue. But in case of a change of venue, transfer, or removal of a cause the defendant must appear in the court to which such change of venue is made or the bond or recognizance will be forfeited.[12]

9. Continuing obligation.— Alabama.— Ellison v. State, 8 Ala. 273.

Arkansas.— Hortsell v. State, 45 Ark. 59; Price v. State, 42 Ark. 178; Moore v. State, 28 Ark. 480; Gentry v. State, 22 Ark. 544.

Delaware.— See State v. Roop, 1 Marv. (Del.) 535, 41 Atl. 196.

Illinois.— Gallagher v. People, 88 Ill. 335, 91 Ill. 590. See also Stokes v. People, 63 Ill. 489 [distinguishing Norfolk v. People, 43 Ill. 9].

Indiana.— Rubush v. State, 112 Ind. 107, 13 N. E. 877, a case of forfeiture for failure to appear at a subsequent day in the term to which the cause had been continued.

Iowa.— See State v. Ryan, 23 Iowa 406; State v. Brown, 16 Iowa 314.

Kentucky.— See Ramey v. Com., 83 Ky. 534, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 704; Com. v. Branch, 1 Bush (Ky.) 59.

Louisiana.—State v. Plazencia, 6 Rob. (La.) 417. See also State v. Ruthing, 49 La. Ann. 909, 22 So. 199; State v. Langton, 6 La. Ann. 282.

Michigan.— People v. Hanaw, 106 Mich. 421, 64 N. W. 328.

North Carolina.— See State v. Smith, 66 N. C. 620.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 313.

Particular instances.— A recognizance to appear at the next term is not discharged because the judge was ill and did not appear to hold court where by the code all matters are continued. State v. Horton, 123 N. C. 695, 31 S. E. 218. See State v. Jenkins, 121 N. C. 637, 28 S. E. 413. And it is determined that a bond, though not so expressed, binds accused to appear from term to term until discharged (Pickett v. State, 16 Tex. App. 648); and so, where the recognizance is to appear at the "next term" (Brite v. State, 24 Tex. 219).

Consent or agreement to postpone entered into between the government and the accused and making further prosecution of the action dependent upon the decree in cases in another court releases the sureties. Reese v. U. S., 9 Wall. (U. S.) 13, 19 L. ed. 541 [reversing 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 629, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,138]. So continuance without consent of the surety constitutes no defense. State v. Benzion, 79 Iowa 467, 44 N. W. 709. But an agreement between defendant and the commissioner, without the sureties' consent, that the cause shall be postponed will not obligate the sureties where that obligation has been discharged by appearance. U. S. v. Backland, 33 Fed. 156. And a recognizance cannot be respited from one court to another contrary to the remonstrance and express dissent of bail— the principal being in court when a motion for a respite is made. People v. Clary, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 374.

Continuance at instance of defendant and failure to appear forfeits bail-bond. Miller v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 14; Waldron v. Harrison, 2 Oreg. 87; State v. Breen, 6 S. D. 537, 62 N. W. 135. See also People v. Hanaw, 106 Mich. 421, 64 N. W. 328. Contra, Swank v. State, 3 Ohio St. 429.

10. State v. Murdock, 59 Nebr. 521, 81 N. W. 447. See also Colquitt v. Smith, 65 Ga. 341; State v. Moore, 57 Mo. App. 662; People v. Hainer, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 454; People v. Greene, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 647; State v. Gardner, 29 Oreg. 254, 45 Pac. 753; Com. v. Somers, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 159; Keefhaver v. Com., 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 240.

11. Lane v. State, 6 Kan. App. 106, 50 Pac. 905, condition being to appear "on the first day of the next term," etc. And if no proceedings are had at the particular term accused is discharged. Goodwin v. Governor, 1 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 465; U. S. v. Backland, 33 Fed. 156.

12. In case of change of venue.— Arkansas. — Beasley v. State, 53 Ark. 67, 13 S. W. 733, where the condition was that defendant should render himself answerable to all orders and processes of the court.

Iowa.— State v. Brown, 16 Iowa 314, where accused was ordered to appear at the court in which venue was changed.

Kentucky.— Ramey v. Com., 83 Ky. 534, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 704, where the cause was transferred to a criminal court under an act creating said court.

Louisiana.— Contra, State v. Young, 20 La. Ann. 397.

Missouri.— State v. Curtis, 67 Mo. App. 431, where the recognizance did not specify either division of the court as the one in which defendant should appear and he took a change of venue from one division to the other.

Texas.— Baker v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 1039 (where the cause was transferred from the county to the district court); Pearson v. State, 7 Tex. App. 279 (where the transfer was from the district to the county court).

Appearance at court from which cause is transferred is not a performance of the obligation of the sureties. Williams v. McDaniel, 77 Ga. 4 (Code, §§ 300, 314). But the failure to appear in the state court after removal in the federal court does not forfeit the bond. Davis v. South Carolina, 107 U. S. 597, 2 S. Ct. 636, 27 L. ed. 574.

When bond not forfeited.— The transfer of

(vi) When Directed or Notified. If notice is under the condition of the bond or recognizance, a prerequisite to an appearance either in the first instance or at an adjournment of the court or cause, then the obligation cannot be forfeited in the absence of the required notice.[13]

2. Failure to Challenge Grand Jury. Failure to challenge the grand jury by one held to answer will not justify a forfeiture.[14]

3. Failure to Enter Into New Recognizance. A recognizance may be forfeited by failure to enter into a new recognizance on change of venue,[15] or on continuance.[16]

4. In Case of Bail Pending Appeal. An appeal-bond may be forfeited where the appellant neither appears nor is produced by his sureties when the case is called on appeal.[17] And if it is given to appear at the next term and abide the judgment rendered it obligates an appearance at the next succeeding term and at subsequent terms or until decision rendered in the appellate court.[18] Again upon recognizance or bond on appeal and a reversal of the cause and the return of the case below, there should be an appearance below of the principal to save a forfeiture.[19]

the cause and the order changing the custody of the accused ends the liability of the sureties. State v. Jones, 29 Ark. 127. So where the court has no power to change the venue the recognizance cannot be forfeited by the failure of accused to appear in the court to which the cause is transferred. Adams v. People, 12 Ill. App. 380.

13. State v. Sypher, 19 La. Ann. 71 (condition to appear "when called on"); People v. Scott, 67 N. Y. 585 (condition to appear on a specified day "and from time to time as directed by said justice"). Nor can the bail be forfeited unless notice be given where, upon appearance, the prisoner is told by the justice that he cannot then be heard but will be notified of the hearing. Flynn v. State, 42 Ark. 315. But the bond is forfeited on a return of the sheriff that he could not find accused and the surety is notified in time but failed to produce the principal. State v. Cole, 12 La. Ann. 471, condition being to appear "when notified."

What constitutes notice.— When sureties are required to produce defendant "whenever requested to do so" no notice or request is necessary other than that given in open court at the time regularly set for trial. U. S. v. Dunbar, 83 Fed. 151, 48 U. S. App. 531, 27 C. C. A. 488.

14. Ringgold County v. Ross, 40 Iowa 176; State v. Klingman, 14 Iowa 401.

15. On change of venue.— Fowler v. State, 91 Ind. 507.

Mansfield's Dig. Ark. § 2199 providing that on change of venue the defendant shall enter into a recognizance with security to appear in the court to which the cause is removed is merely directory, and the condition of the bond may preclude the release of bail upon such change. Beasley v. State, 53 Ark. 67, 13 S. W. 733. But see State v. Jones, 29 Ark. 127, which holds that a change of venue ends the liability of bail. See supra, III, J, 1, c, (v).

16. On continuance.— So held in Swank v. State, 3 Ohio St. 429. But see supra, III, J, 1, c, (iv).

Although it is also decided that such new bond operates to avoid the prior recognizance. Thompson v. People, 73 Ill. App. 258. See State v. Clerk, 16 Ind. App. 137, 44 N. E. 813; Swank v. State, 3 Ohio St. 429.

17. And so even though no judgment is entered against the appellant in the appellate court. State v. Nichols, 43 Vt. 91. But in State v. Miller, 58 Vt. 21, 4 Atl. 418, it is decided that, where the recognizance is conditioned only for appearance at court and not that defendant would prosecute his appeal to effect, no action lies on the recognizance if the case has never been entered in the appellate court.

18. Williams v. State, 55 Ala. 71. See State v. Morgan, 124 Mo. 467, 28 S. W. 17, holding that the sureties should not be relieved from forfeiture by the fact that the appeal was not considered at the term named or that forfeiture for non-appearance was not declared until a later term when the appeal was considered.

Appeal-bond conditioned for surrender in execution of the judgment of the supreme court and to abide its orders, etc., is not forfeited by failure to appear at the next term of the district court after conviction is affirmed, where defendant is, at the time, surrendered to the penitentiary in execution of his sentence. State v. Row, 89 Iowa 581, 57 N. W. 306.

Default at subsequent term does not forfeit recognizance where appeal has been duly entered and process continued. State v. Richardson, 2 Me. 115.

Execution of judgment is suspended until the next succeeding term or until reversal or an order of extension. State v. Lowry, 29 Ala. 44.

19. After reversal or exceptions overruled. — State v. Heed, 62 Mo. 559; Riviere v. State, 7 Tex. App. 55. And sureties on the recognizance and not those on the former bail-bond are responsible for appearance after reversal. Weaver v. State, 43 Tex. 386.

This rule applies where the exceptions are overruled and the case remitted to the lower

K. Liability on Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance — 1. LIABILITY OF PRINCIPAL. The principal's liability arising from a forfeiture of his recognizance is not released by his surrender, and the sureties' discharge,[20] but the former is not liable upon the bond after a judgment against bail.[21]

2. LIABILITY OF SURETIES — a. Joint or Several Liability. Although the liability of sureties on a bail-bond has been decided to be several as well as joint, whether the bond so expressly stipulates or not,[22] nevertheless, under the terms of the obligation, the obligors may be jointly and severally liable,[23] or only severally bound.[24]

b. Survival. A surety's obligation survives and binds his estate after death,[25] and forfeiture may be had as though the surety were alive.[26]

3. FIXING LIABILITY. Defendant may be called and his recognizance defaulted pending his motion for a new trial.[27] Liability is also fixed when the bail is first forfeited.[28] So a return of not found upon successive writs of scire facias may be equivalent to a service of the writ, so that execution may be awarded on failure of the principal to appear and plead.[29]

4. LIEN OF BOND, UNDERTAKING, OR RECOGNIZANCE. A recognizance of bail constitutes a lien upon land owned by the cognizor at the time of the acknowledgment,[30] although this has been decided not to apply to bail-bonds.[31]

L. Surrender of Principal — 1. RIGHT TO SURRENDER. An accused person who is admitted to bail is considered as being transferred to the friendly custody court. Com. v. Austin, 11 Gray (Mass.) 330, where the condition was to "abide the order and sentence of said court thereon."

20. Weese v. People, 19 Ill. 643. See also Lorance v. State, 1 Ind. 359.

21. Com. v. Radford, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 9.

22. Mathena v. State, 15 Tex. App. 460.

23. If the parties expressly bind themselves in a specified sum to be levied severally and individually of their goods respectively, this constitutes a joint and several recognizance and not a several recognizance of each. Ellison v. State, 8 Ala. 273. Nor are obligors other than jointly and severally liable merely because different sums are set against their names, where the evident intent thereof is to fix their liability to one another. People v. Bugbee, 1 Ida. 88.

24. As where two acknowledge themselves indebted to the state in a specified sum each. Hildreth v. State, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 80. See also Adair v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 200. So in Parrish v. State, 14 Md. 238, 239, the following was declared a several recognizance, viz.: "which they and each of them acknowledge themselves, and each of them severally, to owe and stand justly indebted to the State of Maryland, in the sum of seven hundred dollars, which said sum, they, and each of them, acknowledged, shall be made and levied of their respective bodies," etc., in case E should not appear, etc., and that "the said E. and J, although severally solemnly called," etc. See Mussulman v. People, 15 Ill. 51; U. S. v. Hawkins, 4 Mart. N. S. (La.) 317.

Separate recognizances for appearance of a person may be conferred by judgment of forfeiture. Henry v. McDaniel, 80 Ga. 174, 4 S. E. 906.

25. U. S. v. Keiver, 56 Fed. 422. See also State v. Gallagher, 9 La. Ann. 589; Langley v. Knighton, 2 Mill (S. C.) 451.

26. Vias v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 743.

Court cannot know that bail is dead and cannot therefore comply with the code requiring an order of arrest of accused in the absence of a motion and evidence showing said death. Vias v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 743.

27. Pending motion for new trial.— Campbell v. State, 18 Ind. 375, 81 Am. Dec. 363.

Fixing liability of bail in civil actions see supra, II, K.

But a case cannot be called out of its order contrary to the statute and bail be thereby charged. Johnson v. State, 12 Tex. App. 414.

Entry of forfeiture fixes liability so that relief can only be obtained by petition to remit. Com. v. Fogelman, 3 Pa. Super. Ct. 566, 40 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 17.

28. When bail is first forfeited.— Com. v. Oblender, 135 Pa. St. 536, 19 Atl. 1057, even though the recognizance is respited from term to term to allow bail an opportunity to produce his principal.

29. State v. Culp, 39 Mo. 530.

Decree of forfeiture cannot be made if accused is present and bail be compelled to pay costs where the jury acquits the prisoner and determines that he shall pay costs. Keefhaver v. Com., 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 240.

30. State v. Stout, 11 N. J. L. 362; Burton v. Murphey, 6 N. C. 339; State v. Magniss, 2 N. C. 115; Cole v. Warner, 93 Tenn. 155, 23 S. W. 110; Wilkins v. May, 3 Head (Tenn.) 173; Pugh v. State, 2 Head (Tenn.) 227; State v. Winn, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 393. Contra, State v. Carswell, 24 Ga. 261; McKee v. Brown, 43 Ill. 130; Com. v. Adkins, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 380.

Not a lien beyond the county.— State v. Miller, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 620.

Recognizance must be certified and recorded to constitute a lien on land. Patterson v. State, 12 Ind. 86.

31. Cole v. Warner, 93 Tenn. 155, 23 S. W. 110.

of his sureties and the right of the latter to surrender their principal exists in criminal as well as in civil cases.[32]

2. Time and Manner of. The surrender of the principal, to be effectual as an exoneration of the sureties, should generally be made before their liability on the bond or recognizance has become fixed and is a matter of record.[33] There must be an actual delivery[34] of the principal into the custody of the proper magistrate or officer, thus clearly manifesting the intention of the sureties to be no longer bound.[35] So a mere request by the sureties to the sheriff that he take the principal into custody is not sufficient.[36] Again, if the form and manner of surrender is prescribed by statute a surrender in any other manner than that prescribed will not relieve the sureties from liability.[37] So if it be required by law that an indorsement of the exoneration of the bail shall be made by certain officers it is decided that sureties are chargeable with the duty of seeing that such indorsement is made and that it is essential to a valid discharge.[38] And non-compliance with an order of court as to further security will invalidate a surrender.[39]

3. Effect of. The effect of a valid surrender of the principal by his sureties on a bond or recognizance is to relieve them from further liability on such instru-

32. State v. Lazarre, 12 La. Ann. 166; Kellogg v. State, 43 Miss. 57; Harp v. Osgood, 2 Hill (N. Y.) 216. Contra, Griswold's Petition, 13 R. I. 125.

Surrender of principal by bail in civil actions see supra, II, L.

Extent and limits of rule.— The right is not confined to cases of bonds for appearance in courts of original jurisdiction, but extends also to those where bail is given for appearance in an appellate court. In re Bauer, 112 Mo. 231, 20 S. W. 488. But where it is provided by law that the undertaking of bail shall be to pay the fine or such part thereof as may be directed, a surrender cannot be made. State v. Meier, 96 Iowa 375, 65 N. W. 316; State v. Stommel, 89 Iowa 67, 56 N. W. 263. Nor can the circuit court, where the principal is confined in jail under process of a state court, issue a writ of habeas corpus to surrender such principal in discharge of his bail. U. S. v. French, 1 Gall. (U. S.) 1, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,165.

33. Time of surrender.— Com. v. Johnson, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 454; Com. v. Gaul, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 70. See also Boswell v. Colquitt, 73 Ga. 63.

34. Actual delivery.— State v. Martel, 3 Rob. (La.) 22. See also Ramey v. Com., 83 Ky. 534, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 704, wherein it is held the defendant must be delivered into the actual custody of the court or jailer. So again in McKinney v. Com., 3 Ky. L. Rep. 465, it is declared that the delivery to the jailer must be such as to give him actual dominion over the accused. But though the surrender should be made at the jail, in such case it may be effectual if accepted elsewhere. Com. v. Clark, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 828.

35. To whom surrender may be made.— A surrender may be made to the court in session at which the accused is to be tried, or to the tribunal which sent him to such court if the term of the trial court has not arrived. Com. v. Bronson, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 361. But see Stegars v. State, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 104. Or the surrender may be to the sheriff who it is declared in some cases is the only officer to whom it may be made. Stegars v. State, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 104; Roberts v. State, 4 Tex. App. 129. And, though the sheriff may have resigned, yet where his functions still continue, a valid surrender to him may be made, as it may also to the coroner under such circumstances. State v. Frith, 14 La. 191. Again it has been declared that the deputy sheriff may receive a surrender as such act is purely ministerial (Ward v. Colquitt, 62 Ga. 267), or a deputy sheriff de facto (Carter v. State, 43 Ark. 132).

36. Mere request to take accused into custody.— People v. Robb, 98 Mich. 397, 57 N. W. 257. See also State v. McMichael, 50 La. Ann. 428, 23 So. 992. But see State v. Trahan, 31 La. Ann. 715.

37. Manner prescribed by statute.— State v. McMichael, 50 La. Ann. 428, 23 So. 992; Roberts v. State, 4 Tex. App. 129. So a mere surrender, without delivering to the sheriff a certified copy of the bond or obtaining an exoneration as required by statute, has been decided to be insufficient to relieve the sureties from liability. State v. Tieman, 39 Iowa 474. But see Walton v. People, 28 Ill. App. 645, holding that if the surrender is voluntary a certified copy of the recognizance need not accompany it.

The affidavit required to be taken before the court or magistrate, under Tex. Code Crim. Proc. (1895), art. 321, may be taken out of term-time before the clerk of such court, under articles 320 and 322. Whitener v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 146, 41 S. W. 595.

38. Indorsement of exoneration.— U. S. v. Stevens, 16 Fed. 101.

Such indorsement subsequently made will be sufficient if the party is either in actual custody or has been released on giving other security. U. S. v. Stevens, 16 Fed. 101. See Com. v. Clark, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 828.

39. Berkstresser v. Com., 127 Pa. St. 15, 17 Atl. 680.

ment,[40] and it also relegates the principal to the custody of the sheriff under the original capias.[41]

4. Arrest of Principal.[42] The principal being, in legal contemplation, in the custody of his sureties the latter may arrest him without the jurisdiction of the court in which bail was taken.[43] The arrest may be made by the sureties in person or by an agent;[44] or at common law they may command the assistance of the sheriff and his officers.[45] And they may break into his dwelling-house.[46]

M. Forfeiture Proceedings — 1. In General. It has been determined that the proper practice, where there has been a default in the condition of a bond or recognizance, is to enter a forfeiture, and until such entry has been made a right of action on the instrument does not accrue.[47] A forfeiture against the principal alone is not sufficient, it being necessary also to include the surety.[48] It need not, however, be taken on the day when the accused is, by the terms thereof, bound to appear,[49] but may be taken at a subsequent date[50] and without previ-

40. Releases sureties.— Wiggins v. Tyson, 112 Ga. 744, 38 S. E. 86; Shields v. Smith, 78 Ind. 425.

A note given by way of bail is discharged by a valid surrender. Daggett v. Gage, 41 Ill. 465.

A surrender by one of the several sureties will, where it relieves him from liability, also relieve the others. State v. Doyal, 12 La. Ann. 653.

A surrender in one case, however, by the sureties on a bond will not operate as a surrender in another case. Com. v. Thompson, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 439.

41. Relegates to custody of sheriff.— Kellogg v. State, 43 Miss. 57; Patillo v. State, 9 Tex. App. 456.

Custody of prisoner upon surrender by bail see Arrest, 3 Cyc. 895.

Though the surrender be made under a mistake of fact and the defendant has been illegally confined he should not, in such cases, be remanded to the custody of his sureties. Wiggins v. Tyson, 122 Ga. 744, 38 S. E. 86.

42. Arrest after admission to bail see Arrest, I, C, 3 [3 Cyc. 898].

43. Sureties' right to arrest principal.— State v. Mahon, 3 Harr. (Del.) 568; State v. Cunningham, 10 La. Ann. 393; Com. v. Brickett, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 138; Respublica v. Gaoler, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 263. Though in another state the principal may be so arrested. State v. Lingerfelt, 109 N. C. 775, 14 S. E. 75, 14 L. R. A. 605.

Effect of an arrest of the principal at request of the sureties is that a delivery by them will release them from liability. Sternberg v. State, 42 Ark. 127.

Warrant of arrest for the principal may be issued to a county other than that of the prosecution where the law provides that such a warrant shall be executed as in other cases. Whitener v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 146, 41 S. W. 595.

The right to arrest ceases after the recognizance has become functus officio. Spillman v. People, 16 Ill. App. 224, wherein the right was held not to exist after the release of the principal from the sheriff's custody, to which he had been committed after appearance at the time fixed by the recognizance. See also Com. v. Johnson, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 454.

44. Arrest in person or by agent.— State v. Lingerfelt, 109 N. C. 775, 14 S. E. 75, 14 L. R. A. 605. But see State v. Mahon, 3 Harr. (Del.) 568, to the effect that a deputy of special bail cannot delegate his authority.

45. Assistance of sheriff.— State v. Cunningham, 10 La. Ann. 393; Com. v. Brickett, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 138.

46. Breaking into principal's house.—Com. v. Brickett, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 138.

47. Entry of forfeiture.— Marr v. State, 26 Ark. 410; Combs v. People, 39 Ill. 183; People v. Witt, 19 Ill. 169; State v. Klingman, 14 Iowa 404. But see People v. Race, 2 Ill. App. 563, wherein it is held that, if a default is required to be entered by the justice of the peace, a circuit court need not, in terms, declare a forfeiture before scire facias can be issued, except the recognizance be for appearance before the circuit court.

Proceedings on forfeiture are summary, and may be tried without a jury, the court assessing the damage. State v. Gilbert, 10 La. Ann. 524; Com. v. McAnany, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 292. Contra, Hammons v. State, 59 Ala. 164, 31 Am. Rep. 13. And a judgment entered by filing the recognizance and a copy of the order of the court forfeiting it with the county clerk is one entered on due process of law, and is not an infringement of the constitutional right of trial by jury. People v. Hickey, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 365 [affirmed in 59 N. Y. 83].

48. Against both principal and surety.— Combs v. People, 39 Ill. 183.

49. Time of forfeiture.— State v. Brown, 16 Iowa 314.

50. It may be taken on the last day of the term (Sartorius v. Dawson, 13 La. Ann. 111), or at a subsequent term (Gallagher v. People, 88 Ill. 335, 91 Ill. 590; Stokes v. People, 63 Ill. 489; Norfolk v. People, 43 Ill. 9; State v. Merrihew, 47 Iowa 112, 29 Am. Rep. 464 [but see contra, McGuire v. State, 124 Ind. 536, 23 N. E. 85, 25 N. E. 11; Kiser v. State, 13 Ind. 80]), or it may be declared at any subsequent time prior to being barred by the statute of limitations (Brown v. State, 18 Tex. App. 326). But where no jury was summoned at the term at which defendant was held to appear, and no proceedings were had on the indictment or ous notice to the surety.[51] And though it has been announced by the court, on failure of defendant to appear, that the case will go over to the next term, yet an order of forfeiture taken on such default will render the sureties liable where, after citation given, they have had sufficient time to rearrest defendant.[52]

2. JURISDICTION. If the court before which the accused is bound to appear has no jurisdiction of the charge against him, it has also no jurisdiction to declare a forfeiture of the recognizance.[53] And it is decided that the court where a recognizance was taken has exclusive jurisdiction of the question of the forfeiture of such instrument.[54] The authority, however, to forfeit a bond is not in all cases implied from authority to take one,[55] and if the case is transferred from the court where the recognizance is taken to another court, and the papers are properly transmitted, such instrument may be declared forfeited by the court to which the case has been transferred.[56] But the authority conferred upon a judge to enter up such a judgment cannot be delegated to the clerk.[57]

3. CALLING, OR NOTICE TO, SURETIES OR PRINCIPAL. It has been determined that, if there has been a default on the part of the principal, a forfeiture of the recognizance may be declared or entered without calling the sureties,[58] or the accused.[59] So the fact that no notice was given to the surety to produce the principal on the day the recognizance was forfeited is immaterial,[60] as is also the fact that the principal was given no notice of the forfeiture.[61] recognizance, it was held there had been no breach of the condition and the recognizance was improperly defaulted at a subsequent term. People v. Derby, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 392.

51. Without notice to surety.— Sartorius v. Dawson, 13 La. Ann. 111. Contra, Moss v. State, 6 How. (Miss.) 298. See also infra, III, M, 3.

52. Combs v. Com., 103 Ky. 385, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 129, 45 S. W. 359.

53. McGee v. State, 11 Tex. App. 520 [overruling Wilson v. State, 25 Tex. 169].

If jurisdiction of the charge exists the court has also jurisdiction to forfeit a bond, though the amount be below the civil jurisdiction of the court. State v. Williams, 37 La. Ann. 200.

54. Exclusive jurisdiction.— People v. Devlin, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 47.

A bond executed in one state may, it has been held, be forfeited in another. Smith v. Spencer, 63 Ga. 702.

Where a court is abolished prior to the execution of a recognizance for appearance therein the court established by the same act has no jurisdiction to forfeit such recognizance. Coleman v. State, 10 Md. 168.

Where a recognizance is taken before a special judge appointed to try the case because of the disqualification of the judge of the criminal court, in the absence of the former, the latter has no power to order a forfeiture. State v. Schaffer, 36 Mo. App. 589.

Particular instances of jurisdiction.— The criminal district court of the parish of Orleans in Louisiana (State v. Cornig, 42 La. Ann. 416, 7 So. 698), the court of general sessions in South Carolina (State v. Wilder, 13 S. C. 344), and justices of the peace in Texas (Garner v. Smith, 40 Tex. 505) have power to forfeit recognizances for appearance in their respective courts.

55. So where the law authorizes municipalities to provide by ordinance for the forfeiture of bonds given in cases before the municipal courts there is no authority in such a court to forfeit a bond; it is conferred as prescribed. Koger v. Madison, 108 Ga. 543, 34 S. E. 133.

56. After transfer of cause.— Williams v. McDaniel, 77 Ga. 4; Warren County v. Polk County, 89 Iowa 44, 56 N. W. 281; Baker v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 1039, 24 S. W. 31.

If, however, no papers have been filed, or no minute from the record, showing the execution of a recognizance, the court has no power to declare a forfeiture. Com. v. Brents, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 466.

Police judge directed by the county judge to try a case may declare a forfeiture. Wilson v. Com., 2 Ky. L. Rep. 61.

57. Delegation of authority.— State v. Thistlewaite, 83 Ind. 317.

58. Need not call sureties.— Ingram v. State, 10 Kan. 630; Mishler v. Com., 62 Pa. St. 55, 1 Am. Rep. 377; Taylor v. State, 21 Tex. 499. But see Potter v. Kingsbury, 4 Day (Conn.) 98; Langridge v. Judge Twenty-First Judicial Dist. Ct., 46 La. Ann. 29, 14 So. 427.

The words "instanter" and "in open court" as used in calling upon the sureties to produce the body of their principal are not sacramental terms. State v. Badon, 14 La. Ann. 783.

59. Need not call principal.— Leeper v. Com., Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 102; State v. Holtdorf, 61 Mo. App. 515; State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628. Contra, Brown v. People, 24 Ill. App. 72; Com. v. Zeidler, 2 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 356; Dillingham v. U. S., 2 Wash. (U. S.) 422, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,913.

60. Notice to surety.— People v. Kurtz, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 188, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 745, 31 N. Y. St. 276. See also State v. Brown, 13 La. Ann. 266; and supra, note 51.

61. Notice to principal.— State v. Alexander, 46 La. Ann. 550, 15 So. 361.

4. Filing of Recognizance. If neither the recognizance[62] nor a memorandum thereof[63] has been filed in the court, such court has no power to render a judgment of forfeiture.

5. Judgment or Record of Forfeiture[64] — a. Entry. The entry upon the record of defendant's failure to appear renders the forfeiture of his bail complete, though the entry of formal judgment is not made until afterward;[65] and in some cases it is decided that an entry of judgment is not necessary before scire facias can issue,[66] though the entry of default, however, is essential.[67] But it has also been determined that the record is merely evidence of the forfeiture, and that the failure of the clerk to enter the order therefor at the time it is made does not render it nugatory, but the record may be amended by an entry nunc pro tunc,[68] as is also the case where there has been a failure to make an entry of default on the bond or recognizance as required by law.[69]

b. Requisites and Sufficiency — (i) In General. The judgment or record of forfeiture should assume every fact necessary to show the liability of the defendants though great particularity therein is not required;[70] but if it is expressly provided by statute what the judgment or record should contain, a 62. Recognizance should be filed.— Bacon v. People, 14 Ill. 312; Belt v. Spaulding, 17 Oreg. 130, 20 Pac. 827.

63. A memorandum is sufficient.— Hinkson v. Com., 12 Ky. L. Rep. 894; Com. v. Merriam, 9 Allen (Mass.) 371.

But where a provision as to the time of filing is for the convenience of the state and not for the benefit of the recognizor non-compliance therewith which operates in no way to the injury of the surety does not relieve the latter from liability. State Treasurer v. Bishop, 39 Vt. 353.

64. Operating as lien on real estate.— The filing and entry of a forfeited recognizance when legally sufficient may constitute a lien on the real estate of the sureties. Gachenheimer v. State, 28 Ind. 91; People v. Lott, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 130.

65. People v. Bennett, 136 N. Y. 482, 32 N. E. 1044, 49 N. Y. St. 908.

For form of entry of forfeiture see People v. Hickey, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 365, 367.

66. Potter v. Kingsbury, 4 Day (Conn.) 98; Andress v. State, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 108. Contra, Eubank v. People, 50 Ill. 496; Kennedy v. People, 15 Ill. 418; Brown v. People, 24 Ill. App. 72.

If a judgment nisi is required by statute upon the forfeiture of a bail-bond to be made absolute at the next term of court, a final judgment can only be valid when predicated on a valid judgment nisi. Watkins v. State, 16 Tex. App. 646; Collins v. State, 12 Tex. App. 356.

67. McGuire v. State, 124 Ind. 536, 23 N. E. 85, 25 N. E. 11; State v. Lambert, 44 W. Va. 308, 28 S. E. 930. But see Ingram v. State, 10 Kan. 630.

68. Nunc pro tunc entry.—People v. Bennett, 137 N. Y. 601, 33 N. E. 373, 50 N. Y. St. 926; Rhoads v. Com., 15 Pa. St. 272.

69. State v. Jenkins, 121 N. C. 637, 28 S. E. 413. See also Adams v. State, 48 Ind. 212, wherein it is held that an action may be maintained on a recognizance though no entry of default thereon has been made.

Effect of a memorandum of forfeiture on a recognizance is not destroyed because an entry not contradictory thereto is made on the record, though the latter entry is not required by law. Franks v. State, 12 Ohio St. 1.

If the judgment of forfeiture has been erroneously docketed by the clerk when it should not have been entered, or is invalid because of the disability of the surety, the docket of such judgment may be expunged. People v. Devlin, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 47; Com. v. Matyiewicz, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 154, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 294.

70. Holcombe v. State, 99 Ala. 185, 12 So. 794; Pugh v. State, 2 Head (Tenn.) 227.

Instances as to sufficiency.— A judgment nisi or record of forfeiture will be sustained though it is not signed by the judge (State v. Johnson, 12 La. 547; Ainsworth v. Territory, 3 Wash. Terr. 270, 14 Pac. 590), or though in reciting the title of the case it omits the name of one of the defendants (State v. Emily, 24 Iowa 24), or though it does not specify the amount of the bond (Spicer v. State, 9 Ga. 49 [contra, Galindo v. State, 15 Tex. App. 319; Evans v. State, 25 Tex. 80]). But a judgment for a larger sum than the penalty of the recognizance may be set aside. Barringer v. State, 27 Tex. 553. And a variance as to the name of the principal will be fatal. Lowe v. State, 15 Tex. 141. As to particular instances of sufficiency see also Banta v. People, 53 Ill. 434; Cable v. People, 46 Ill. 467; Weese v. People, 19 Ill. 643; Baird v. Com., 2 Duv. (Ky.) 78; State v. Ozer, 5 La. Ann. 744; People v. Rich, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 60, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 277.

If two forfeitures are entered at the same term on the same recognizance the latter may be treated as surplusage. State v. Pepper, 8 Mo. 249.

For forms of judgments of forfeiture see Ala. Crim. Code (1896), § 4375; Cantaline v. State, 33 Ala. 439, 440; People v. Witt, 19 Ill. 169, 170; Iowa Code (1897), § 5433; State v. Moody, 69 N. C. 529.

For form of notice of judgments of forfeiture see Ala. Crim. Code (1896), § 4376.

compliance therewith is essential.[71] Generally, however, the judgment nisi should so refer to and describe the recognizance that it may be sufficiently identified,[72] and should substantially describe the offense;[73] and it should also show that the condition as to appearance has not been complied with.[74]

(II) Where Undertaking Is Joint and Several. A judgment nisi may be entered against one or more of the obligors in a recognizance where the undertaking is a joint and several one.[75]

N. Relief From Forfeiture — 1. Authority to Remit — a. In General. A forfeiture of a recognizance is not in all cases final against the sureties, but it may be remitted or moderated, where, in the judgment of the court or official vested with such power, good reason therefor exists and substantial justice will be dispensed.[76] This power may exist in the courts,[77] or in some cases it is vested in

71. Compliance with statutory requirements.— So a requirement that the judgment nisi should state "that the same will be made final unless good cause be shown at the next term of court why the defendant did not appear" must be complied with. Ware v. State, 21 Tex. App. 328, 17 S. W. 624; McWhorter v. State, 14 Tex. App. 239; Cheatham v. State, 13 Tex. App. 32; Smith v. State, 13 Tex. App. 31; Thomas v. State, 12 Tex. App. 416; Bailey v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 40.

72. Describing recognizance.— Cantaline v. State, 33 Ala. 439; Howie v. State, 1 Ala. 113; Miller v. Com., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 14; Tenney v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 415; Overaker v. State, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 738.

Variance between the bond and the judgment nisi will be fatal where the condition as recited in the latter is not in the recognizance. Werbiski v. State, 20 Tex. App. 131.

When may be amended.— A judgment nisi which incorrectly recites or describes the recognizance on which it is rendered may be amended nunc pro tunc to conform thereto (Governor v. Knight, 8 Ala. 297; State v. Jenkins, 121 N. C. 637, 28 S. E. 413); and such amendment may be made after the term (Collins v. State, 16 Tex. App. 274), or even after the scire facias has issued (State v. Craig, 12 Ala. 363; Browder v. State, 9 Ala. 58), and without serving notice on the principal of intention to amend (Sims v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 55 S. W. 179).

73. Describing offense.— Hall v. State, 15 Ala. 431; Faulk v. State, 9 Ala. 919; Badger v. State, 5 Ala. 21; Howie v. State, 1 Ala. 113. Contra, Com. v. Pierce, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 247.

74. Showing non-compliance with condition.— It has been generally decided that this is sufficiently shown by a recital that the principal was called and did not appear. Spicer v. State, 9 Ga. 49; Park v. State, 4 Ga. 329; Alley v. People, 6 Ill. 109; State v. Gorley, 2 Iowa 52; Clifford v. Marston, 14 Oreg. 426, 13 Pac. 62; State v. Grigsby, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 279. And it is declared in some cases that the record must show this. Park v. State, 4 Ga. 329; State v. Grigsby, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 279. Contra, State v. Hirronemus, 50 Iowa 545; State v. Wells, 36 Iowa 238. But the failure to recite in the record that the non-appearance was "without sufficient cause or excuse" as provided by statute is not a fatal defect. State v. Austin, 141 Mo. 481, 43 S. W. 165 [affirming 69 Mo. App. 377].

75. Kilgrow v. State, 76 Ala. 101; Brewer v. State, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 198 [overruling Scott v. State, 1 Head (Tenn.) 483]; Avant v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 312, 26 S. W. 411. But see Douglass v. State, 26 Tex. App. 248, 9 S. W. 733.

76. The highest evidence of a remission is an entry on the minutes, and an indorsement or entry on the original scire facias by one unauthorized is of no force as a discharge. Williams v. Jenkins, 53 Ga. 166.

Relief in case of forfeiture by bail in civil actions see supra, II, M.

77. Authority may be vested in court to remit. Hammons v. State, 59 Ala. 164, 31 Am. Rep. 13; People v. Conn, 13 Ill. App. 329; Com. v. Cantrell, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 364; U. S. v. Feely, 1 Brock. (U. S.) 255, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,082; U. S. v. Duncan, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,004, 2 Pittsb. (Pa.) 328, 10 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 41, 4 West. L. Month. 425. But see Plate v. People, 15 Ill. 221, wherein it is held that the penalty of a recognizance cannot be relieved against by the courts. And see Johnson v. Randall, 7 Mass. 340. Thus it has been held that superior courts have such authority (State v. Moody, 74 N. C. 73), and courts of quarter sessions (Com. v. Phillips, 8 Kulp (Pa.) 230), and of common pleas where recognizance is taken and forfeited in court of quarter sessions (Com. v. Phillips, 8 Kulp (Pa.) 230; Com. v. Brandt, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 138, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 287 [but see Com. v. Gaul, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 70]). But where a recognizance was declared forfeited by a justice of the peace a circuit court has been held to have no power to set aside such forfeiture in an action on the recognizance (Day v. State, 125 Ind. 582, 25 N. E. 817), or an appellate court to enter satisfaction of the bond where, after the forfeiture of such bond and appeal therefrom, the defendant was tried, convicted, and sentenced on the charge for which he gave the bond to appear (State v. Schmidt, 13 La. Ann. 267).

Authority to cancel a bond is not authority to remit a forfeiture or fine, and is not an infringement of the rights of the executive. Com. v. Thornton, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 380.

Power of the court to determine the sufficiency of excuse for default of principal in a the governor of the state,[78] or in both the courts and the executive;[79] and in some instances the consent of the district attorney should be obtained.[80]

b. Partial Remission. Though the facts of the case may not justify a full remission of the forfeiture, yet they may be such as to warrant a partial remission thereof.[81] And the remission may also be express as to the principal, in which case it is said the judgment cannot be enforced against the surety.[82] In case of a partial remission of a forfeiture, however, the sureties are not released on the recognizance until there has been a satisfaction of the part which is not remitted.[83]

c. Time When Remission May Be Made. Where authority exists in a court to discharge a forfeiture of a recognizance, such relief may be granted upon such terms as may be just before the final adjournment of the court,[84] or after the term at which the recognizance was forfeited if the authority of the court as to time is not limited by law,[85] or even after final judgment.[86] But it is declared that an bail-bond is intended, it has been declared, to be exercised only when the principal has appeared and submitted to the court's orders and can be held to answer the charge against him. Hammons v. State, 59 Ala. 164, 31 Am. Rep. 13.

The power is discretionary which is conferred upon courts to remit a forfeiture. Com. v. Davidson, 1 Bush (Ky.) 133; Com. v. Rowland, 4 Metc. (Ky.) 225; State v. Moody, 74 N. C. 73; Com. v. Taylor, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 261.

78. Power of governor.— State v. Shideler, 51 Ind. 64; Harbin v. State, 78 Iowa 263, 43 N. W. 210; Stone v. Riddell, 5 Bush (Ky.) 349; Com. v. Spraggins, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 512; Com. v. Morgan, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 314; Com. v. Denniston, 9 Watts (Pa.) 142; State v. Dyches, 28 Tex. 535.

Exclusive power in the executive to remit forfeiture and fines is not unlawfully interfered with by authority conferred upon a court to discharge sureties from further liability on a forfeited recognizance by a surrender of their principal. State v. Rowe, 103 Ind. 118, 2 N. E. 294. Nor is it infringed upon or limited by a statutory provision giving county attorneys, in addition to a salary, certain fees in suits on written instruments where judgment is obtained. State v. Beebe, 87 Iowa 636, 54 N. W. 479; Williams v. Shelbourne, 102 Ky. 579, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1924, 44 S. W. 110.

Pardon by the governor after rearrest and conviction of the accused will not prevent the enforcement of the forfeiture. Weatherwax v. State, 17 Kan. 427.

79. State v. Shideler, 51 Ind. 64.

80. Consent of district attorney.— Com. v. Flucker, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 405, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 208. See Esmond v. People, 18 Ill. App. 114.

81. Alabama.— Cain v. State, 55 Ala. 170.

Kentucky.— Yarbrough v. Com., 89 Ky. 151, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 351, 12 S. W. 143, 25 Am. St. Rep. 524.

New York.— People v. Young, 92 Hun (N. Y.) 373, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 547, 71 N. Y. St. 846.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Bruener, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 151, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 295; Com. v. Gaul, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 70.

Texas.— Hedrick v. Sisk, 73 Tex. 616, 11 S. W. 862; Golden v. State, 32 Tex. 737; Lee v. State, 25 Tex. App. 331, 8 S. W. 277.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 360.

So expenses incurred by bail in attempting to bring back the principal may be allowed. Com. v. Brandt, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 138, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 287; Com. v. Bilski, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 286.

Where judgment had been rendered and an execution thereon issued and returned unsatisfied, it was held that the court of common pleas had no authority to entertain an application by the defendant to vacate the judgment on payment of a certain per cent of such judgment. People v. Rofrano, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 148, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 634, 30 N. Y. St. 427.

A prosecuting attorney, whose duty it is to prosecute a forfeited recognizance to final judgment and execution unless remitted by the court for cause shown, cannot release the sureties on such an instrument where forfeited, with the consent of the judge of the criminal court in vacation or at chambers on payment to him of the per cent of the amount of the recognizance to which he is entitled by law for collecting forfeited recognizances and the costs of the prosecution. State v. Hoeffner, 124 Mo. 488, 28 S. W. 1.

82. Express remission as to principal.— Hatch v. State, 40 Ala. 718. Though it is declared in another case that if the obligation is several the surety is not thereby released. State v. Davidson, 20 Mo. 212, 61 Am. Dec. 603. See also State v. Meier, 96 Iowa 375, 65 N. W. 316.

83. Satisfaction as to part not remitted.— Buckler v. Com., 8 Ky. L. Rep. 63.

84. Before final adjournment.— U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 Utah 161, 13 Pac. 673. See U. S. v. Cookendorfer, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 113, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,856, wherein it is declared that a forfeiture cannot be remitted at a subsequent term.

85. After term of forfeiture.— Com. v. Coleman, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 382; People v. Nooney, 64 Hun (N. Y.) 171, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 134, 45 N. Y. St. 619; Com. v. Craig, 6 Rand. (Va.) 731.

86. After final judgment.—State v. Moody, 74 N. C. 73. Contra, Com. v. Becker, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 297.

application for discharge is premature if made before the prisoner is produced, tried, and either convicted or acquitted, or a nolle prosequi is entered.[87]

2. Grounds For Relief — a. In General. It may be stated generally that a forfeiture will be vacated where it appears that the default of the principal was owing to some good and sufficient cause due to no fault on his part;[88] and that no rights have been lost by the prosecution to its prejudice as a result thereof.[89] Again it should appear that diligent efforts have been made to apprehend and surrender the principal.[90]

b. Arrest and Imprisonment of Principal in Other Proceedings. It has been determined that the arrest and imprisonment of the defendant in proceedings in Remission may be filed after judgment and before mandate and the mandate will be conformed to it. Chambless v. State, 20 Tex. 197.

87. Premature application.— People v. Fields, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 410; People v. Coman, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 527, 49 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 91. See also State v. Brown, 13 La. Ann. 266.

88. Georgia.— Smith v. State, 17 Ga. 462.

Nebraska.— Rawlings v. State, 38 Nebr. 590, 57 N. W. 286.

New York.—People v. Flynn, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 661, 28 N. Y. St. 18.

Texas.— Barton v. State, 24 Tex. 250; State v. Warren, 17 Tex. 283; Baker v. State, 21 Tex. App. 359, 17 S. W. 256; Markham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 91, 25 S. W. 127.

United States.— U. S. v. Barger, 20 Fed. 500; U. S. v. Feely, 1 Brock. (U. S.) 255, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,082.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 350.

Statutes as to remission construed.— A statutory provision authorizing the remission of a forfeiture for cause shown confers authority to remit only for cause shown. State v. Speck, 20 Ind. 211; State v. Warwick, 3 Ind. App. 508, 29 N. E. 1142. And where the grounds for which a forfeiture may be remitted are enumerated some one of such grounds must be shown. Barton v. State, 24 Tex. 250. The sureties are also entitled to a remission of the forfeiture of a recognizance by an enactment approved prior to the execution of such instrument, but taking effect subsequent thereto, and which provides that all bonds or recognizances, either pending in the courts to which returnable, or already forfeited, are by such act declared void and of no effect. Doniphan v. State, 50 Miss. 54. But the repeal, subsequent to the forfeiture, of the law under which accused was indicted is not of itself a ground for remission thereof. Sproat v. Com., 4 Ky. L. Rep. 629.

Sufficiency of excuse generally.— It has been held a sufficient excuse that the principal was under bond to appear in a foreign court (Wray v. People, 70 Ill. 664), or that he had enlisted in the army (Com. v. Terry, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 383), or that he was present in court at the time but did not hear his name called (People v. Baer, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 660, 28 N. Y. St. 412), or that he did not attend the court in which the action was brought because of an agreement as to change of venue (Mason v. People, 17 Ill. App. 331), or that the surety was misled by the attorney for the prosecution stating that he would not enter up judgment until the following day and in consequence application was not made to the court for indulgence on the day of forfeiture, and on the following day the surety appeared in court with his principal (Woodall v. Smith, 51 Ga. 171). In other cases, however, it has been held to be no ground for relief that there was a verbal agreement with the district attorney to postpone the trial (People v. Haggerty, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 532), or to discharge the defendant if he became a state's witness (State v. Moody, 69 N. C. 529). And the sickness of the surety is no excuse (People v. Meehan, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 333, 13 N. Y. St. 152); nor that of the wife of the principal (Com. v. Hart, 5 Pa. Dist. 109, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 148 [but see McArdle v. McDaniel, 75 Ga. 270]).

Where no sufficient excuse is shown relief will not be granted. People v. Flynn, 53 Ill. App. 493; Noll v. State, 38 Nebr. 587, 57 N. W. 285; Com. v. Luther, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 309.

Where principal has absconded and is a fugitive from justice, a motion in his behalf to set aside a forfeiture of a recognizance given by him will be denied. U. S. v. Stien, 13 Blatchf. (U. S.) 127, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,403. But by an early statute in Massachusetts provisions were made for the relief of sureties in such a case. Com. v. Dana, 14 Mass. 65.

89. Relief will not be granted where the state has been deprived of proofs (Noll v. State, 38 Nebr. 587, 57 N. W. 285), or its witnesses have disappeared (Com. v. McAnany, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 292).

And in New York it is declared that, on an application for relief, bail must show that the prosecution has not been so prejudiced. People v. Abrahams, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 120; People v. Carey, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 533; People v. O'Donnell, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 1123, 57 N. Y. St. 870, 58 N. Y. St. 872; People v. Hassan, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 859, 49 N. Y. St. 702; People v. Cohen, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 921; People v. Baer, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 660, 28 N. Y. St. 412; People v. Flynn, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 661, 28 N. Y. St. 18; People v. Smith, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 659, 28 N. Y. St. 181; People v. Tietjen, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 642, 28 N. Y. St. 13; People v. Mooney, 15 N. Y. St. 382; People v. Flegenheimer, 15 N. Y. St. 376.

90. Efforts to apprehend and surrender principal.— People v. Kurtz, 16 Daly (N. Y.)

another jurisdiction than that in which the recognizance was entered into and in which the defendant was conditioned to appear is not a sufficient ground for remitting the forfeiture of the recognizance.[91]

c. Sickness or Death of Principal. A forfeiture of a recognizance taken because of the failure of the principal to appear as conditioned will be vacated where it appears that, owing to sickness, he was prevented from appearing;[92] and generally the death of the principal after forfeiture, but before judgment thereon, will exonerate the sureties.[93]

d. Surrender or Appearance of Principal. The sureties are not, as a matter of right, released from their obligations under a forfeited recognizance by the mere surrender of their principal after forfeiture or by his voluntary appearance,[94] unless it be provided by statute that such acts shall so result.[95] And the compulsory appearance of the principal by operation of the law will not be sufficient to nullify a judgment of forfeiture.[96] The surrender of the principal, however, after forfeiture, followed by his trial, has generally been decided to operate as a discharge from liability.[97]

188, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 745, 31 N. Y. St. 276; People v. Petry, 2 Hilt. (N. Y.) 523; Com. v. Bilski, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 286.

91. Com. v. House, 3 Bush (Ky.) 679; Com. v. Rowland, 4 Metc. (Ky.) 225; People v. Nooney, 73 Hun (N. Y.) 566, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 313, 56 N. Y. St. 155; U. S. v. Stricker, 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 389, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,410. See also Yarbrough v. Com., 89 Ky. 151, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 351, 12 S. W. 143, 25 Am. St. Rep. 524. Contra, Cain v. State, 55 Ala. 170; Granberry v. Pool, 14 N. C. 141.

92. Sickness.— Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 481; Russell v. State, 45 Ga. 9.

93. Death.— Georgia.— State v. Cone, 32 Ga. 663.

Illinois.— Mather v. People, 12 Ill. 9.

Indiana.— Woolfolk v. State, 10 Ind. 532.

New Jersey.— State v. Traphagen, 45 N. J. L. 134; State v. McNeal, 18 N. J. L. 333.

New York.— People v. Wissig, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 23; People v. Perlstein, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 662, 28 N. Y. St. 171.

United States.— But see U. S. v. Van Fossen, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 406, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,607.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 354.

But if on the escape of the principal the amount of the bond has been paid by the surety, the latter will not, on death of the former while free, be entitled to a return thereof. People v. Rich, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 60, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 277.

94. Illinois.— Hangsleben v. People, 89 Ill. 164.

Iowa.— State v. Emily, 24 Iowa 24; State v. Scott, 20 Iowa 63.

Kentucky.— Walker v. Com., 79 Ky. 292, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 197; Sproat v. Com., 4 Ky. L. Rep. 629.

Louisiana.— State v. Martin, 49 La. Ann. 752, 22 So. 224; State v. Defesse, 18 La. Ann. 104; State v. Schmidt, 13 La. Ann. 267; State v. Grice, 11 La. Ann. 605. But see State v. Williams, 37 La. Ann. 200; State v. Cotton, 19 La. 550; State v. Dunbar, 10 La. 99.

Rhode Island.— State v. McGuire, 16 R. I. 519, 17 Atl. 918.

Texas.— Conner v. State, (Tex. App. 1888) 9 S. W. 63; Chambless v. State, 20 Tex. 197; Lee v. State, 25 Tex. App. 331, 8 S. W. 277.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 350.

95. Huston v. People, 12 Colo. App. 271, 55 Pac. 262; Williams v. McDaniel, 77 Ga. 4; McGuire v. State, 5 Ind. 65. See also State v. Rollins, 52 Ind. 168; Miller v. State, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 77; State v. Taylor, 136 Mo. 462, 37 S. W. 1121.

96. Compulsory appearance.— State v. Martin, 49 La. Ann. 752, 22 So. 224, 50 La. Ann. 1157, 24 So. 590; Reed v. Lowell Police Ct., 172 Mass. 427, 52 N. E. 633.

Where the principal is rearrested on the same charge after forfeiture, the court may, under power given it to remit for cause shown before final judgment, discharge the bail on a showing of good cause therefor. State v. Taylor, 136 Mo. 462, 37 S. W. 1121.

In case of an arrest on a different charge after defendant has escaped a surrender may be made in some instances before judgment on the scire facias which will discharge the bail. Huston v. People, 12 Colo. App. 271, 55 Pac. 262. Contra, State v. Warwick, 3 Ind. App. 508, 29 N. E. 1142.

97. Alabama.— Bearden v. State, 89 Ala. 21, 7 So. 755.

Colorado.—Ayres v. People, 3 Colo. App. 117, 32 Pac. 77.

Georgia.— Williams v. McDaniel, 77 Ga. 4; Boswell v. Colquitt, 73 Ga. 63; Johnson v. State, 64 Ga. 442.

Louisiana.— State v. Martin, 50 La. Ann. 1157, 24 So. 590; State v. Alexander, 46 La. Ann. 550, 15 So. 361; State v. Schexneider, 45 La. Ann. 1445, 14 So. 250; State v. Langton, 6 La. Ann. 282; State v. Hamill, 6 La. Ann. 257.

Maine.— State v. Burnham, 44 Me. 278.

New Jersey.— State v. Saunders, 8 N. J. L. 177.

New York.— People v. Madden, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 63, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 531, 29 N. Y. St. 503; People v. Grossman, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 311, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 446, 24 N. Y. St. 1009, 25 N. Y. St. 754; People v. Deery, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 493; People v. O'Donnell, 27 N. Y.

3. Payment of Costs Necessary. Though sufficient grounds may exist for remitting a forfeiture of a recognizance, yet it is generally essential to the granting of such relief that the costs accruing up to the time of the granting thereof be paid.[98]

4. Application and Proof. In proceedings to obtain a remission of a forfeiture of a recognizance a complaint is not necessary, a written motion or application therefor being sufficient.[99] And there should be furnished with such application certified copies of the recognizance and indictment, and the record of the forfeiture and copy of the judgment.[1] The application should also be accompanied by a showing that the costs have been paid as required by law,[2] and there should be proof showing that no rights have been lost to or injury sustained by the prosecution as a result of the default.[3]

Suppl. 1123, 57 N. Y. St. 870, 58 N. Y. St. 872; People v. Samuels, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 81, 54 N. Y. St. 836; People v. Ohlrogge, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 814, 37 N. Y. St. 969; People v. Weber, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 53, 31 N. Y. St. 552; People v. Tietjen, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 285, 29 N. Y. St. 1000; People v. Cooney, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 285, 29 N. Y. St. 1000; People v. Mahon, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 284, 29 N. Y. St. 1000; People v. Perlstein, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 662, 28 N. Y. St. 171; People v. Brady, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 661, 28 N. Y. St. 170; People v. Higgins, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 658, 27 N. Y. St. 974; People v. Johnson, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 705, 23 N. Y. St. 631; People v. Boesseemeker, 12 N. Y. St. 122.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Howard, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 81; Com. v. Dewees, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 28.

Contra, Hangsleben v. People, 89 Ill. 164; U. S. v. Mercer, Deady (U. S.) 502, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,758.

Acquittal of defendant who departs from court during the trial of the case may be a ground for setting aside the estreat. U. S. v. Santos, 5 Blatchf. (U. S.) 104, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,222.

98. Georgia.— Ward v. Colquitt, 62 Ga. 267.

Illinois.— People v. Smith, 43 Ill. App. 217.

Indiana.— State v. Rollins, 52 Ind. 168.

Maine.— State v. Burnham, 44 Me. 278.

Nebraska.— Rawlings v. State, 38 Nebr. 590, 57 N. W. 286.

New York.— People v. Brady, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 711, 34 N. Y. St. 307, 19 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 372.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Saloton, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 152, 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 296.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 362.

The costs which are to be paid include those taxable by court and the sheriff's fees (Ayres v. People, 3 Colo. App. 117, 32 Pac. 77; People v. Deery, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 493; Com. v. Dewees, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 28), and in addition thereto the expenses, if any, legitimately incurred in the apprehension or recapture of the accused (Ayres v. People, 3 Colo. App. 117, 32 Pac. 77; People v. Kelly, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 223, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 775, 51 N. Y. St. 945; People v. Cohen, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 64, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 854, 49 N. Y. St. 921; People v. Kirwan, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 956, 41 N. Y. St. 954; People v. Brady, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 711, 34 N. Y. St. 307, 19 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 372); but not such expenses where the arrest is under a different charge (Huston v. People, 12 Colo. App. 271, 55 Pac. 262).

99. Written application.— State v. Shideler, 51 Ind. 64. See also Foulke v. Com., 90 Pa. St. 257.

Notice to district attorney of application must be given where required by the rules of court. People v. Silverman, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 1150, 56 N. Y. St. 897; People v. Carroll, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 990, 49 N. Y. St. 921. And proof of service of such notice must be given. People v. Ketterle, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 657, 28 N. Y. St. 180.

Renewal of a petition for the vacating of a judgment of forfeiture must fulfil the conditions on which leave to renew was granted. People v. Samuels, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 475, 29 N. Y. St. 1000.

Where two or more courts are of concurrent jurisdiction an application heard and determined by one of them will not again be entertained by another. People v. Street, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 778, 38 N. Y. St. 801.

1. Accompanying papers.— People v. Williams, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 409; People v. Betts, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 1123, 57 N. Y. St. 870, 58 N. Y. St. 872.

2. Showing that costs have been paid.— People v. Rofrano, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 148, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 634, 30 N. Y. St. 427; People v. Cohen, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 854, 49 N. Y. St. 920; People v. Kirwan, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 956, 41 N. Y. St. 954.

3. Loss of rights or injury sustained.— People v. Williams, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 409; People v. Cary, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 406; People v. Byrnes, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 1147, 61 N. Y. St. 120; People v. Cohen, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 921.

Proof that no rights have been lost must be by facts shown in detail and the certificate of the district attorney is said not to be sufficient. People v. Devine, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 660, 28 N. Y. St. 404; People v. Tietjen, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 642, 28 N. Y. St. 13. See also People v. Carey, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 533.

Continuance to show cause.— Where the accused has failed to appear according to the condition of a recognizance, application may be made by the sureties for a continuance for a reasonable time for the purpose of enabling the accused to appear and show cause why the default should be set aside. People v. Conn, 13 Ill. App. 329.

5. Vacating or Reviewing Remission. A remission may be vacated;[4] and the power vested in the courts to grant relief in cases of forfeited recognizances is not, it has been determined, an arbitrary discretion but a sound legal one, and the action of the court in the exercise of such discretion, where an abuse thereof is shown, may be reviewed.[5]

6. Effect of a Remission. The effect of a remission is to place the accused in the same position as if no proceedings of forfeiture had taken place, and he is under the same obligation as to compliance with the conditions of the recognizance.[6] And though money may have been paid on a forfeited recognizance, yet relief may in some cases be thereafter granted and an order may be obtained for its repayment;[7] and, in case of the refusal of the officer to whom the order is directed to pay over the same, resort may be had to an action to recover such money.[8]

O. Actions on Bond, Undertaking, or Recognizance — 1. In General — a. Necessity of Action. Though a forfeiture may be declared of a bond or recognizance, a final judgment cannot be entered against the recognizors without the intervention of some process or proceeding.[9]

b. Form of the Proceeding. Scire facias, which is a civil proceeding,[10] is a

4. As where it appears that the court or official making such order was not informed of the true state of facts, or that it was fraudulently procured. State v. Scanlon, 2 Ind. App. 320, 28 N. E. 430; State v. Leak, 5 Ind. 359; People v. Lasher, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 136, 45 N. Y. St. 46 [following People v. Street, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 778, 38 N. Y. St. 801].

5. Wray v. People, 70 Ill. 664; People v. Hobbs, 46 Ill. App. 206; State v. Kraner, 50 Iowa 575; Com. v. Davidson, 1 Bush (Ky.) 133; Sproat v. Com., 4 Ky. L. Rep. 629; People v. Young, 92 Hun (N. Y.) 373, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 547, 71 N. Y. St. 846. Contra, People v. Bennett, 136 N. Y. 482, 32 N. E. 1044, 49 N. Y. St. 908; State v. Moody, 74 N. C. 73; State v. Brown, 35 Tex. 357. See also State v. Cole, 39 La. Ann. 938, 3 So. 84; Brown v. State, 28 Tex. App. 65, 11 S. W. 1022.

6. State v. Cornig, 42 La. Ann. 416, 7 So. 698; Anderson v. State, 19 Tex. App. 299. See also Com. v. Runnion, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 2.

7. Where money has been paid on forfeiture.— People v. Goltze, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 62, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 530, 29 N. Y. St. 503. Contra, State v. Langton, 6 La. Ann. 282. And see People v. Fischer, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 278, 8 N. Y. St. 382, wherein a remission of forfeiture was refused to one who had returned after forfeiture and payment thereof and gave bail under an indictment which was subsequently nolle prosequied, it being declared that the fact of payment was probably taken into consideration in moving to the nolle.

8. O'Donnell v. New York, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 357, 36 N. Y. St. 988.

9. Arkansas.— Johnstons v. State, 3 Ark. 524.

Georgia.— Robinson v. Gordon, 85 Ga. 559, 11 S. E. 844; Wright v. State, 51 Ga. 524.

Illinois.— Pinckard v. People, 2 Ill. 187.

Indiana.— State v. Robb, 16 Ind. 413.

Louisiana.— State v. Dunbar, 10 La. 99.

Tennessee.—Wash v. State, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 91.

Texas.— Waughhop v. State, 6 Tex. 337.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 370.

Actions on bond, undertaking, or recognizance in civil actions see supra, II, N.

A motion may be sufficient, it has been held, to permit a recovery without the formality of any plea. State v. Hay, 7 La. 78.

Judgment upon a forfeited recognizance is considered absolute in some jurisdictions and not a judgment nisi. Lee v. State, 51 Miss. 665; U. S. v. Winstead, 4 Hughes (U. S.) 464, 12 Fed. 50.

Summary judgments without service of process or notice are authorized by statute in some states. Lang v. People, 14 Mich. 439; People v. Quigg, 59 N. Y. 83.

10. Scire facias.—Alabama.—Peck v. State, 63 Ala. 201; Hunt v. State, 63 Ala. 196; Hatch v. State, 40 Ala. 718. See also Hall v. State, 15 Ala. 431.

Georgia.— Vaughan v. Candler, 113 Ga. 9, 38 S. E. 352.

Illinois.— People v. Phelps, 17 Ill. 200.

Kentucky.— Speckert v. Com., (Ky. 1901) 63 S. W. 752.

Louisiana.— State v. Ansley, 13 La. Ann. 298. Contra, State v. O'Rourke, 49 La. Ann. 1567, 22 So. 818.

Maine.— State v. Chandler, 79 Me. 172, 8 Atl. 553.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Stebbins, 4 Gray (Mass.) 25.

Missouri.— State v. Heed, 62 Mo. 559.

Montana.— U. S. v. Ensign, 2 Mont. 396.

New Hampshire.— State v. Kinne, 39 N. H. 129.

Texas.— Morse v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 566, 47 S. W. 645, 50 S. W. 342. Contra, Hart v. State, 13 Tex. App. 555; Cassaday v. State, 4 Tex. App. 96.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 372.

Nature of action upon bail-bond or recognizance see Actions, 1 Cyc. 732, note 69.

So the civil-practice acts of a state apply thereto. U. S. v. Ensign, 2 Mont. 396. And a judgment therein which is for less than the amount required to permit an appeal cannot be appealed from. Speckert v. Com., proper remedy to recover on a forfeited recognizance.[11] Such remedy is not, however, exclusive of the common-law action on the bond,[12] and debt also will lie.[13] And separate actions may also in some cases be brought simultaneously against the principal and surety.[14]

c. Sufficiency of Record as Affecting. The undertaking being the basis of the action should, in connection with the order of forfeiture, present a perfect cause of action, and the record should show the recognizance and order and such other essential facts as may be necessary;[15] and should also show a compliance with statutory requirements which are necessary to the maintenance of the action, such as certification and delivery of the recognizance.[16] But though the record may be incomplete it may be perfected by amendment and scire facias may issue on the amended record.[17]

2. Jurisdiction. The question as to jurisdiction depends, independent of any statute or rule of practice in reference thereto, upon the view which controls in the particular jurisdiction as to the nature of the action, that is whether it be an original action, for if it be so considered the jurisdiction of the court may be determined by the amount demanded,[18] or whether it be a civil or criminal proceeding and accordingly to be prosecuted in a court having civil or criminal juris-

(Ky. 1901) 63 S. W. 752. And the scire facias is amendable. Vaughan v. Candler, 113 Ga. 9, 38 S. E. 352. But it is held that it is not so far a civil proceeding as to permit a judgment against the sureties after a discontinuance as to the principal. Gay v. State, 20 Tex. 504.

11. Lloyd v. State, Minor (Ala.) 34; Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528.

When scire facias will not lie.— If the hypothesis fails as to the supposition that the liability which the remedy of scire facias, conferred by statute, seeks to redress is unauthorized the defendant cannot be charged. Whitted v. Governor, 6 Port. (Ala.) 335.

When scire facias not intended by statute. — Where a statute provides that, on a forfeiture of a bail-bond, no pleadings are required but a summons may be issued by the clerk against the bail, such summons is not intended to be a writ of scire facias. Zufall v. U. S., 1 Indian Terr. 638, 43 S. W. 760.

Where both principal and surety were insolvent, a motion for scire facias was refused. State v. Anonymous, 16 N. J. L. 437.

12. Does not exclude common-law action on bond.— Littleton v. State, 46 Ark. 413; State v. Glass, 9 Iowa 325; State v. Gorley, 2 Iowa 52; State v. Ozer, 5 La. Ann. 744.

Choice of remedies is in some states given to the district attorney. State v. Norment, 12 La. 511; People v. Van Eps, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 387.

If a mode is prescribed by statute it should be followed. Conner v. State, 30 Tex. 94.

Federal courts, in enforcing bonds, are not restricted to the remedies provided by the laws of the state, but may proceed according to the common law. U. S. v. Insley, 54 Fed. 221, 12 U. S. App. 125, 4 C. C. A. 296 [reversing 49 Fed. 776].

13. Debt will lie.— Illinois.— People v. Witt, 19 Ill. 169; Pate v. People, 15 Ill. 221.

Indiana.— State v. Inman, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 225.

Iowa.— McKnight v. U. S., Morr. (Iowa) 444.

Maine.— State v. Folsom, 26 Me. 209.

Massachusetts.—Com. v. Green, 12 Mass. 1.

New York.— People v. Van Eps, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 387.

Contra, Hazen v. Smith, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 105.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 372.

14. Separate actions against principal and surety.— State v. Sutcliffe, 16 R. I. 410, 16 Atl. 710, wherein it was so held under a statute directing that process shall issue against the persons bound or such of them as the attorney-general shall direct.

15. The record should show an order of forfeiture. Com. v. Gilbert, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 183. And contain a memorandum of the recognizance. Sargeant v. State, 16 Ohio 267. But it has been held unnecessary for the transcript to show that defendant waived an examination or that there was a judgment of committal against him. State v. Wilcox, 59 Mo. 176. And omission of the record of the recognizance may be supplied by a scire facias. People v. Baughman, 18 Ill. 152.

16. Showing compliance with statute.— Connor v. People, 4 Colo. 134; Raysor v. People, 27 Ill. 190. Contra, Com. v. Hart, 5 Pa. Dist. 109, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 148. And see Gachenheimer v. State, 28 Ind. 91.

A statute as to entry of recognizance on record providing that it "shall be considered as of record in such court, and proceeded on by process, issuing out of said court, in the same manner as if such recognizance had been entered into before said court," does not require that an action of debt on such a recognizance shall be commenced by process issuing out of such court. State v. West, 3 Ohio St. 509, 511.

17. Amended record.— Com. v. McNeill, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 127. See also State v. Cherry, 13 N. C. 550.

18. Depending on amount.— Blackwell v. State, 3 Ark. 320. But see Crisman v. People, 8 Ill. 351.

diction.[19] Aside from these factors, however, it has been determined that the proceedings should be in the court where appearance was required by the condition of the recognizance.[20] And again it has been decided that a court with authority to take a recognizance has jurisdiction of scire facias to enforce the same.[21] In some cases the jurisdiction may also depend upon the residence of the parties.[22]

3. PARTIES. An action on a forfeited recognizance may be brought in the name of the people or of the state[23] or of the county,[24] and in some cases in the name of the district attorney.[25] Again, where the recovery is for the use and benefit of the city, the action may be by the city attorney.[26] But it has been determined that it need not be brought at the relation of anybody, and the name of the relator if inserted may be stricken out on motion.[27] And the scire facias may be either joint or several as to the defendants.[28] Though it has been held that if

19. Being a civil action must be prosecuted in a court having civil jurisdiction. State v. Kinne, 39 N. H. 129. Contra, Cassaday v. State, 4 Tex. App. 96. And see Hutchings v. State, 24 Tex. App. 242, 6 S. W. 34.

20. Court in which appearance was required.— Arkansas.— Cauthron v. State, 43 Ark. 128.

Georgia.— Cooper v. State, 17 Ga. 437.

Iowa.— State v. Emerson, 16 Iowa 206.

Ohio.— State v. Byrne, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 302, L. & Bank. Bul. 302.

Texas.— Garner v. Smith, 40 Tex. 505.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 374.

But in other jurisdictions the rule prevails that scire facias must issue from the court which is in possession of the record or recognizance upon which it issues. State v. Brown, 41 Me. 535; State v. Smith, 2 Me. 62; State v. Kinne, 39 N. H. 129.

21. Court having authority to take.—State v. Caldwell, 124 Mo. 509, 28 S. W. 4. See People v. Backman, 1 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 221, wherein it was held that the action should be brought in the court in which it was taken and which had jurisdiction of the defendants.

Change of venue, however, would warrant the bringing of the action in the jurisdiction to which the trial was transferred. Lucas County v. Wilson, 59 Iowa 354, 13 N. W. 325; Decatur County v. Maxwell, 26 Iowa 398.

Particular instances of exceptions.— See also following cases where bonds have been enforced in other courts than where taken. Bonds taken in a justice's court may be enforced in the court of common pleas (Hawkins v. State, 24 Ind. 288); or in the district court (State v. Emerson, 16 Iowa 206); or in the circuit court (State v. Inman, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 225; Ross v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 315). So also bonds taken before a magistrate may be enforced in the court of quarter sessions. Com. v. Duffy, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 378, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 83. And the court of common pleas may enforce those taken before a municipal court. Com. v. McNeill, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 127. And a bond taken in the court of oyer and terminer has in New York been enforced in the supreme court. People v. Van Eps, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 387. Again a court of common pleas was held to have jurisdiction of an action on a recognizance forfeited before a city recorder. Sturgeon v. Com., (Pa. 1888) 14 Atl. 41.

22. Depending upon residence of parties.— People v. Blackman, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 632. See Dyches v. State, 24 Tex. 266. But see Cooper v. State, 17 Ga. 437.

23. In name of people or state.— California.— People v. De Pelanconi, 63 Cal. 409.

Idaho.— People v. Sloper, 1 Ida. 158; People v. Bugbee, 1 Ida. 88.

Ohio.— Gamble v. State, 21 Ohio St. 183.

Oklahoma.—McColgan v. Territory, 5 Okla. 567, 49 Pac. 1018.

Washington.— Ainsworth v. Territory, 3 Wash. Terr. 270, 14 Pac. 590.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 382.

The state may maintain the action in its own name though it is provided by statute that the action must be brought in the name of the real party in interest. Territory v. Hildebrand, 2 Mont. 426; Chandler v. Scioto County, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 112, 1 West. L. Month. 401.

Though the money when collected may go to the county the action on a forfeited recognizance executed to the state may nevertheless be brought in the name of the state where it is provided by statute that an action may be brought in the name of the trustee of an express trust. State v. Wettstein, 64 Wis. 234, 25 N. W. 34. See also State v. Newson, 8 S. D. 327, 66 N. W. 468.

24. In name of county.— People v. De Pelanconi, 63 Cal. 409; Mendocino County v. Lamar, 30 Cal. 627; Shelby County v. Simmonds, 33 Iowa 345.

25. In name of district attorney.— Hannah v. Wells, 4 Oreg. 249.

26. In name of city attorney.— New Orleans Second Municipality v. Labatut, 8 Rob. (La.) 33; State v. Desforges, 5 Rob. (La.) 253.

27. Relator.— Black v. State, 58 Ind. 589; Hawkins v. State, 24 Ind. 288.

28. Joint or several as to defendants.— Howie v. State, 1 Ala. 113. So it may issue to the sureties alone (Hutchings v. State, 24 Tex. App. 242, 6 S. W. 34 [contra, Banta v. People, 53 Ill. 434; Alley v. People, 6 Ill. 109]; or against several of the recognizors (State v. Stout, 11 N. J. L. 124; Caldwell v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 698); or against each of the obligors (Dyches v. State, 24 Tex. 266).

the recognizance is several as to the obligors a joint scire facias against them cannot be maintained.[29]

4. Process — a. Scire Facias — (i) Time of Issuance and When Returnable. To determine the time when scire facias should be brought and made returnable recourse must be had to the statutes or rules of practice in the particular jurisdictions applicable thereto. In most states the rule prevails that a scire facias on a forfeited recognizance should be brought after the adjournment of the term of the court at which the forfeiture occurs and should be made returnable to the next term.[30]

(ii) Service and Return. Personal service of a scire facias is generally required, but where it cannot be made, a return of nihil upon two writs has ordinarily been considered equivalent to actual service.[31] And though the principal may not be a party to a scire facias notice to him has been held necessary.[32] Again the return should show the manner of service, and if some of the defendants cannot be found the proper return of such fact should be made.[33]

(iii) Quashing or Discontinuance. If it appears from the record that the state is entitled to an award of execution a scire facias will not be quashed on motion.[34] And it is no ground for quashing a scire facias which conforms to the record that defendant was erroneously entered as bail for two instead of one.[35] Again there may be a discontinuance of the action as to the principal and not as to the other defendants.[36] But it is not a discontinuance of a scire facias that the court failed to take action for one or more terms,[37] or without waiting for two returns of "not found" made the judgment final against the sureties.[38]

b. Summons. A summons will be sufficient if it describes the recognizance with such accuracy as to show the instrument upon which there is a claim of liability, and immaterial errors therein will not be fatal.[39] But if it is fatally defective for any cause it may be quashed on motion.[40]

29. Where recognizance is several.—Chandler v. State, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 471; Wellman v. State, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 343; Hildreth v. State, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 80; Parrish v. State, 14 Md. 238. Contra, Farris v. State, 58 Ill. 26; Madison v. Com., 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 131. And see Stebbins v. People, 27 Ill. 240.

30. Rich v. Colquitt, 61 Ga. 197; Glass v. State, 39 Ind. 205; Com. v. Dexter, 11 Gray (Mass.) 205; Com. v. Brown, 7 Gray (Mass.) 319. See Bullard v. State, 32 Tex. Crim. 518, 24 S. W. 898. Contra, State v. Jenkins, 21 N. C. 637, 28 S. E. 413, as to time when returnable. And see Crandall v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 284, wherein it is held that a scire facias is not vitiated by the recital of an order made at the term of forfeiture that scire facias issue commanding the recognizor then and there to appear, where such scire facias is returnable to the next term.

An omission to name the day of the month in a scire facias to appear at the next term will not render it void. State v. Ricketts, 67 Miss. 409, 7 So. 282.

For form of scire facias see Ala. Crim. Code (1896), § 4376; Mo. Rev. Stat. (1897), § 2795; Gingrich v. People, 34 Ill. 448, 450; Grisby v. State, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 354, 355; Trash v. State, 16 Tex. App. 271, 272.

31. Hunt v. State, 63 Ala. 196; Besimer v. People, 15 Ill. 439; Crisman v. People, 8 Ill. 351; Sans v. People, 8 Ill. 327 [overruling Alley v. People, 6 Ill. 109]; West v. Com., 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 641. See State Treasurer v. Moore, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 329, wherein it is held scire facias may be served as an attachment.

Personal service is held necessary in an early case in Alabama. Hayter v. State, 7 Port. (Ala.) 156.

If no sufficient service has been made on a defendant principal, plaintiff cannot proceed to judgment against the other defendants. Burton v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 339.

32. Notice to principal.— Collins v. State, 16 Tex. App. 274. But see Branch v. State, 25 Tex. 423. And as to sufficiency of notice see State v. Cassidy, 7 La. Ann. 273.

33. Manner of service should be shown.— Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528; State v. Johnson, 12 La. 547; Winans v. State, 25 Tex. Suppl. 175. A return of "not found within the county" is sufficient, it not being necessary to send the scire facias outside the county. Petty v. People, 118 Ill. 148, 8 N. E. 304.

34. State v. Littlepage, 30 Mo. 322.

35. Boyle v. Robinson, 7 Harr. & J. (Md.) 200.

36. Discontinuance as to principal.—Cooper v. State, 23 Ark. 278.

37. Failure to take action for one or more terms.— Hunt v. State, 63 Ala. 196.

38. Not waiting for two returns of "not found."— Keipp v. State, 49 Ala. 337.

39. Baird v. Com., 2 Duv. (Ky.) 78; Tenney v. Com., 3 Metc. (Ky.) 415; Abbott v. Com., 10 Ky. L. Rep. 873.

40. Flynn v. State, 42 Ark. 315.

5. Defenses. The defendant is not precluded by an order of forfeiture from making any defense which he was entitled at any time to make;[41] and such pleas as their principal could urge are also available to the sureties as a defense in an action to enforce their liability.[42] The defense which a surety should interpose in an action on a forfeited recognizance must, to be sufficient, show such facts and valid reasons as will excuse non-performance of the condition of the obligation or such other facts as will show that, by reason thereof, judgment of forfeiture should not be made absolute.[43] So the surety may prove that the bond was conditioned for appearance at no fixed day before a tribunal which had no existence,[44] or that a judgment has already been rendered against him on the same bond.[45] But he cannot in defense to such action impeach the record of forfeiture,[46] or the entry of recognizance,[47] or the verity of the recognizance.[48]

6. Pleadings — a. Necessity of Declaration or Complaint. A scire facias which issues upon the forfeiture of a bond or recognizance takes the place of both summons and declaration or petition.[49]

41. State v. Wooley, 25 Ga. 235.

42. State v. Bugg, 6 Rob. (La.) 63.

43. Adequacy of defense.— Thomas v. Com., 14 Ky. L. Rep. 334; State v. Peyton, 32 Mo. App. 522.

Duress.— That the recognizance was executed under any illegal compulsion may be a defense. Champlain v. People, 2 N. Y. 82. See People v. Robb, 98 Mich. 397, 57 N. W. 257. Contra, Plummer v. People, 16 Ill. 358. But fear on the part of the accused of injury or mob violence is no defense (Sugarman v. State, 28 Ark. 142; Fleenor v. State, 58 Ind. 166); unless it appear that the proper authorities were applied to for protection which they failed to extend (Weddington v. Com., 79 Ky. 582).

Sickness of principal is no defense. Piercy v. People, 10 Ill. App. 219; Thomas v. Com., 14 Ky. L. Rep. 334; State v. Edwards, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 226. Contra, Hopkins v. Com., 5 Ky. L. Rep. 419.

Particular instances of insufficient defenses. —Unconstitutionality of statute giving plaintiff right of action on the bond. Louisiana Prevention Cruelty to Children Soc. v. Moody, 52 La. Ann. 1815, 28 So. 224. Flight or concealment of principal to avoid arrest on same or another charge. State v. Osborn, 155 Ind. 385, 58 N. E. 491. A previous prosecution for same offense which has been terminated by a nolle prosequi. Archer v. Com., 10 Gratt. (Va.) 627. Pendency of another prosecution. U. S. v. Eldrege, 5 Utah 189, 14 Pac. 42. No offense alleged in the information. Hardy v. U. S., 71 Fed. 158, 36 U. S. App. 225, 18 C. C. A. 22. Crime was committed in another county. State v. Osborn, 155 Ind. 385, 58 N. E. 491. Statute of limitations as to forfeitures or penalties. State v. Robb, 16 Ind. 413. That statute of limitations had run against the offense. U. S. v. Dunbar, 83 Fed. 151, 48 U. S. App. 531, 27 C. C. A. 488. That there would be no liability on the bond until the expiration of a year, this being the limitation of time prescribed by a statute against a sheriff on liability incurred by him. Tinker v. City Trust, etc., Co., 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 23, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 910, 29 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 67. Appearance or discontinuance after forfeiture. U. S. v. McGlashen, 66 Fed. 537. Satisfaction by defendant of a judgment in favor of the commonwealth after forfeiture. Oakes v. Scott, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 287. An order dismissing a prior proceeding on the same bond "without prejudice." Com. v. Nimmo, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 287. A respite by the governor not relied on by pleading. Brown v. Com., 4 Metc. (Ky.) 221. Death of the principal. State v. McNeal, 18 N. J. L. 333. That recognizance is several and action joint. Gedney v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 318. That the magistrate who took the recognizance had no jurisdiction. Wallingford v. Hall, 45 Conn. 350. As to jurisdiction see also Simmons v. Kelly, 39 N. J. L. 438.

44. No day fixed for appearance.— Coleman v. State, 10 Md. 168.

Sickness of the justice before whom the accused was to appear which prevented his being at his office on the day specified may be a defense where accused was prepared to appear. Neal v. State, 61 Ark. 282, 32 S. W. 1069.

45. Former judgment.— State v. Harrison, 38 La. Ann. 299.

46. Cannot impeach record.— Calvin v. State, 12 Ohio St. 60. See People v. Wolf, 16 Cal. 385, wherein it is held that the decision of a court that a bond has been forfeited cannot be revised in an action on the bond in another court.

47. State v. Wenzel, 77 Ind. 428; Com. v. Kanenheimer, 25 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 124.

48. People v. Watkins, 19 Ill. 117.

49. Illinois.— McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625; Compton v. People, 86 Ill. 176; Rietzell v. People, 72 Ill. 416; Shadley v. People, 17 Ill. 252; Wood v. People, 16 Ill. 171.

Iowa.— State v. Foster, 2 Iowa 559.

Mississippi.— Tucker v. State, 55 Miss. 452.

Texas.— Branch v. State, 25 Tex. 423; State v. Cox, 25 Tex. 404.

Virginia.—Gedney v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 318.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 384 et seq.

For forms of declarations, complaints, or petitions on bonds, undertakings, or recognizances see State v. Wells, 36 Iowa 238; Barkey v. State, 15 Kan. 99, 100; People v. Den-

b. Sufficiency of Scire Facias or Declaration — (I) In General. A scire facias should present a perfect cause of action and it must therefore state with reasonable certainty the facts of which the parties are required to take notice and which they are called upon to answer and upon which the judgment is demanded;[50] and a similar rule prevails with respect to declarations in actions of debt upon a recognizance.[51]

(II) Particular Allegations — (A) In General. A scire facias or declaration should sufficiently show the authority and jurisdiction of the court or officer to take the recognizance,[52] though it is not necessary to state the special facts or circumstances conferring jurisdiction in the particular case.[53] It should also describe the offense with such particularity as to show with what offense the accused was charged and to answer for which the recognizance was taken,[54] and should also nis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338; People v. Shaver, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 45.

In Arkansas a summons to the bail may issue and a complaint is unnecessary where it is provided by statute that, when the bond is indorsed by the justice as forfeited and filed with the clerk of the court, he may issue a summons to the bondsmen. Neal v. State, 61 Ark. 282, 32 S. W. 1069; Thomm v. State, 35 Ark. 327; Miller v. State, 35 Ark. 276.

50. Scire facias.— State v. Patterson, 7 Baxt. (Tenn.) 246; Brown v. State, 43 Tex. 349; Branch v. State, 25 Tex. 423; State v. Cox, 25 Tex. 404; Davidson v. State, 20 Tex. 649; Lindley v. State, 17 Tex. App. 120; Pearson v. State, 7 Tex. App. 279. See Roberts v. Com., 7 Bush (Ky.) 430.

The particularity and precision, however, required in a civil suit are not essential in a scire facias. Davidson v. State, 20 Tex. 649; Thrash v. State, 16 Tex. App. 271. Nor need there be an exact or literal conformity with statutory forms. Grund v. State, 40 Ala. 709. See Gooden v. State, 35 Ala. 430.

Illustrations of sufficiency.— An allegation of forfeiture in a scire facias, and a requirement that defendant appear and show cause why he should not render to the commonwealth the amount of the recognizance is a sufficient notice of the object of the appearance. Com. v. Miller, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 418. And in a writ of scire facias it is not necessary that the declaration be certified. Com. v. Stevens, 10 Cush. (Mass.) 483. Though the writ should conclude against the dignity and peace of the commonwealth. Ullery v. Com., 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 3; Com. v. Kimberlain, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 43; Downing v. Com., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 511. A complaint also is good against demurrer which alleges jurisdiction of the court and entry of judgment of forfeiture. Friedline v. State, 93 Ind. 366.

Oyer of the recognizance is not demandable in scire facias. Slaten v. People, 21 Ill. 28.

51. In an action of debt upon a recognizance the utmost strictness which is required as to the declaration or complaint is that it should, pursuing the description in the recognizance, allege with certainty in what court, at whose suit, and for what sum the defendants acknowledged themselves obligated; that the recognizance was made a part of the record, and should aver the breach according to its terms. State v. McGuire, 42 Minn. 27, 43 N. W. 687; State v. Davis, 43 N. H. 600. But see State v. Folsom, 26 Me. 209, wherein it is held that a declaration alleging the facts in a manner proper for a scire facias will be bad on demurrer.

The declaration should conclude with a prout patet per recordum. State v. Davis, 43 N. H. 600.

52. Should show authority to take recognizance.— Arkansas.— Hogan v. State, 23 Ark. 636; State v. Sartain, 23 Ark. 541; Darby v. State, 21 Ark. 523.

Illinois.— Thomas v. People, 13 Ill. 696; Noble v. People, 9 Ill. 433; Reese v. People, 11 Ill. App. 346.

Indiana.— Hannum v. State, 38 Ind. 32; State v. Hiney, 24 Ind. 381; Hawkins v. State, 24 Ind. 288; Myers v. State, 19 Ind. 127; Blackman v. State, 12 Ind. 556; Wellman v. State, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 343; Lang v. State, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 344; Andress v. State, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 108.

Kentucky.— Ullery v. Com., 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 3.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Merriam, 7 Allen (Mass.) 356; Com. v. Dunbar, 15 Gray (Mass.) 209. But see Com. v. Gordon, 15 Pick. (Mass.) 193.

New York.— People v. Young, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 44; People v. Koeber, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 39.

Texas.— Cushman v. State, 38 Tex. 181. Contra, since the enactment of Code Crim. Proc. § 443. Werbiski v. State, 20 Tex. App. 131 [overruling Lindley v. State, 17 Tex. App. 120].

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 387.

53. People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338; Champlain v. People, 2 N. Y. 82; People v. Millis, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 511; People v. Kane, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 530; People v. Young, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 44; People v. Koeber, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 39; Archer v. Com., 10 Gratt. (Va.) 627; U. S. v. George, 3 Dill. (U. S.) 431, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,199, 2 Centr. L. J. 77, 22 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 103.

54. Should describe offense.— Georgia.— Rich v. Colquitt, 61 Ga. 197.

Illinois.— Thomas v. People, 13 Ill. 696.

Maine.— State v. Brown, 41 Me. 535; State v. Lane, 33 Me. 536.

Oregon.— Hannah v. Wells, 4 Oreg. 249.

Texas.— Thompson v. State, 17 Tex. App. 318. But see Evans v. State, 25 Tex. 80.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 389.

correctly describe such instrument and set out so much thereof as that the nature and character of the undertaking and the liability incurred by the party or parties against whom judgment is sought may appear.[55] Again a scire facias or declaration should also allege that the recognizance was returned or transmitted to the proper court and filed, thus being made a matter of record,[56] and should aver that there has been a breach thereof,[57] and that forfeiture for the breach of the Illustrations as to sufficiency.— A recital of the offense as a misdemeanor has been held sufficient. Rich v. Colquitt, 61 Ga. 197. As has also a description of it as grand larceny, though the information to which it referred also stated that it was committed "by unlawfully taking one cow." State v. Wrote, 19 Mont. 209, 213, 47 Pac. 898. And again a recital was held sufficient which described the offense as "selling liquor without license," though the offense under the statute was for selling intoxicating liquors in a less quantity than one gallon by one not licensed. Compton v. People, 86 Ill. 176, 179. But a recital that the defendant was charged with "shooting and killing" was held not sufficient. Hannah v. Wells, 4 Oreg. 249. As was also a description of the offense as "unlawfully using an estray." Thompson v. State, 17 Tex. App. 318.

55. What should be alleged.— A scire facias should, it has been held, show who took the recognizance, the signing of same by the recognizors, and the sum (Gray v. State, 5 Ark. 265); that it was acknowledged (State v. Cherry, Meigs (Tenn.) 232); and approved (Bacon v. People, 14 Ill. 312 [but see McFarlan v. People, 13 Ill. 9]). But it is not necessary to allege the date of the recognizance (State v. Glaevecke, 33 Tex. 53); or that it was required by an order of court (McClure v. State, 29 Ind. 359); or that it was entered into in open court (Pleasants v. State, 29 Tex. App. 214, 15 S. W. 43); or that it was taken in consequence of a continuance (State v. Inman, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 225). And it has been held that it need not aver the facts set forth in the bond. Furgison v. State, 4 Greene (Iowa) 302, 61 Am. Dec. 120; State v. Johnson, 6 Baxt. (Tenn.) 198; Cushman v. State, 38 Tex. 181; Cowen v. State, 3 Tex. App. 380.

The recognizance or a copy thereof should be filed with the complaint in Indiana. Swinney v. State, 16 Ind. 309; Kiser v. State, 13 Ind. 80; Votaw v. State, 12 Ind. 497. Or it may be set out in haec verba in the complaint. Campbell v. State, 18 Ind. 375, 81 Am. Dec. 363. Though in the latter case also an exact copy must be set out. Burton v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 339.

A misrecital of the names of the recognizors in the scire facias will be fatal. Loving v. State, 9 Tex. App. 471. See also Garrison v. People, 21 Ill. 535; Graves v. People, 11 Ill. 542; State v. Hiney, 24 Ind. 381.

56. Should show disposition of recognizance.— Illinois.— Conner v. People, 20 Ill. 381; Bacon v. People, 14 Ill. 312; Noble v. People, 9 Ill. 433.

Indiana.— Urton v. State, 37 Ind. 339; Paine v. State, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 206; Davis v. State, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 374; Andress v. State, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 108.

Kentucky.— Starr v. Com., 7 Dana (Ky.) 243; Simpson v. Com., 1 Dana (Ky.) 523.

Maine.— State v. Baker, 50 Me. 45; Palister v. Little, 6 Me. 350; State v. Smith, 2 Me. 62. But see State v. Howley, 73 Me. 552.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Dunbar, 15 Gray (Mass.) 209.

Minnesota.— State v. Grant, 10 Minn. 39.

Nevada.— State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628.

New Hampshire.— State v. Davis, 43 N. H. 600.

New Jersey.— Slape v. State, 44 N. J. L. 264.

New York.— People v. Van Eps, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 387; People v. Shaver, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 45. But see People v. Huggins, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 464.

Tennessee.— State v. Arledge, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 229.

Virginia.—Gedney v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 318.

United States.— U. S. v. Atwell, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,475.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," §§ 392, 393.

But see People v. Love, 19 Cal. 676, wherein it is held that an allegation that the recognizance was certified to the court in which the suit is pending is only necessary in scire facias upon the record of the recognizance and when the accused is a party and not in a suit against the sureties on the bond. And see also State v. Howley, 73 Me. 552, wherein it is decided that in scire facias in the superior court, upon a recognizance taken in such court and which is a part of the records of such court and in its keeping, it is not necessary to allege that the recognizance is recorded in that court. Contra, State v. Wrote, 19 Mont. 209, 47 Pac. 898.

A general averment is sufficient. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628.

57. Should show breach of recognizance.— Indiana.—Hannum v. State, 38 Ind. 32; State v. Inman, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 225; State v. Humphries, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 538.

Iowa.— State v. Foster, 2 Iowa 559.

North Carolina.— State v. Mills, 19 N. C. 552.

Ohio.— State v. Johnson, 13 Ohio 176.

Wisconsin.— State v. Wettstein, 64 Wis. 234, 25 N. W. 34.

See also People v. Smith, 18 Cal. 498; and 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 392.

Averments in the complaint of payment or non-payment of the penalty or failure to satisfy the judgment are declared to be unnecessary (People v. Love, 19 Cal. 676; State v. Grant, 10 Minn. 39; State v. Biesman, 12 condition or conditions of the recognizance was judicially declared and properly and duly entered of record.[58]

(B) As to Proceedings Preliminary to Giving Bail. It may be stated generally, subject to the exceptions hereinafter noted, that the scire facias, declaration, or complaint need not contain averments as to the proceedings prior to or in connection with the giving of bail. So it has been decided that allegations are unnecessary as to the arrest of the accused or warrant therefor,[59] as to an indictment,[60] preliminary examination or waiver thereof,[61] or order of court directing a prosecution.[62] Nor need the declaration show probable cause to believe the accused guilty.[63] But it should, however, allege that the accused was released from custody by reason of the giving of the recognizance.[64]

(C) Curing Defect by Amendment. A scire facias or declaration to recover on a forfeited recognizance may, in the discretion of the court, be amended for the purpose of curing formal defects therein.[65]

Mont. 11, 29 Pac. 534), it being held that such averment is only necessary in scire facias (People v. Love, 19 Cal. 676).

An objection after verdict that the recognizance was on condition and breach thereof was not averred in the declaration is made too late. Kirkner v. Com., 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 557.

58. Should show that forfeiture was properly declared and entered.

Colorado.— Higgins v. People, 2 Colo. App. 567, 31 Pac. 951.

Illinois.— Conner v. People, 20 Ill. 381; Kennedy v. People, 15 Ill. 418; Thomas v. People, 13 Ill. 696.

Minnesota.— State v. Grant, 10 Minn. 39.

New Mexico.— Brooks v. U. S., 9 N. M. 72, 27 Pac. 311.

New York.— People v. Van Eps, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 387.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 393.

The allegation of forfeiture and entry on record implies that the proper steps authorizing such forfeiture have been taken, and it is not necessary to allege that the principal or sureties were called and defaulted. Rubush v. State, 112 Ind. 107, 13 N. E. 877; State v. Grant, 10 Minn. 39. Contra, Urton v. State, 37 Ind. 339; White v. State, 5 Yerg. (Tenn.) 183.

Entry of record may be presumed.— In some cases the rule is affirmed that the regularity of the proceedings of the court may be presumed and that an averment that the forfeiture was entered of record is not necessary where there is an averment that the cognizors were called but did not appear. People v. Huggins, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 464; State v. Edgerton, 12 R. I. 104. An averment that the bond was duly forfeited is unnecessary in a petition which sets forth exactly what was done to constitute the forfeiture. Kinney v. State, 14 Ohio Cir. Ct. 91, 7 Ohio Cir. Dec. 97. See also Barkley v. State, 15 Kan. 99; Rheinhart v. State, 14 Kan. 318; State v. Wrote, 19 Mont. 209, 47 Pac. 898.

Date of the term at which recognizance was forfeited need not be alleged. State v. Davis, 43 N. H. 600; Pugh v. State, 2 Head (Tenn.) 227.

A copy of the justice's certificate of forfeiture is not necessary in a complaint. Fowler v. State, 91 Ind. 507.

59. Averment as to arrest or warrant.— Jennings v. State, 13 Kan. 80; Conner v. State, (Tex. App. 1888) 9 S. W. 63. Contra, State v. Arledge, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 229.

That scire facias recites arrest of principal and surety instead of principal alone is not a fatal defect. Sturgeon v. Com., (Pa. 1888) 14 Atl. 41.

Where defendant is arrested on a pluries writ it is not necessary to set forth the attachment and alias in the declaration. Thomas v. Cameron, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 59.

60. Averment as to finding of indictment. — Mooney v. People, 81 Ill. 134; O'Brien v. People, 41 Ill. 456; Garrison v. People, 21 Ill. 535; Chumasero v. People, 18 Ill. 405; Bernhamer v. State, 123 Ind. 577, 24 N. E. 509; Snowden v. State, 8 Mo. 483. But see contra, as to declarations and complaints, People v. Smith, 3 Cal. 271. And see Griffin v. State, 48 Ind. 258, wherein it was held that the complaint must show that a charge had been made against the principal. Also see U. S. v. Keiver, 56 Fed. 422, wherein it is held that the complaint must allege that criminal proceeding had been commenced.

61. Averment of preliminary examination or waiver thereof.—Jennings v. State, 13 Kan. 80. Contra, U. S. v. Keiver, 56 Fed. 422.

62. Averment of order of court directing prosecution.— People v. Blankman, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 252. See also Champlain v. People, 2 N. Y. 82; Pugh v. State, 2 Head (Tenn.) 227.

63. Averment of probable cause to believe guilt.— Champlain v. People, 2 N. Y. 82.

64. Should show release from custody.— Los Angeles County v. Babcock, 45 Cal. 252; Com. v. Bordus, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 219; People v. Solomon, 5 Utah 277, 15 Pac. 4. But see Dilley v. State, 2 Ida. 1012, 29 Pac. 48, wherein it is held that the complaint need not allege that an order was made discharging the accused from custody.

65. In discretion of court.— Illinois.— Peacock v. People, 83 Ill. 331.

Mississippi.—Tucker v. State, 55 Miss. 452.

Missouri.— State v. Culp, 39 Mo. 530; Snowden v. State, 8 Mo. 483.

c. Defendant's Pleadings — (I) In General. In considering the defendant's pleadings the following distinctions should be remembered, (1) where a scire facias is regarded as a declaration, it should contain all the averments necessary to authorize judgment,[66] and if it fails to allege facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action it will not sustain a judgment of default; but (2) in certain jurisdictions no pleadings are required on the part of the state, although in all other respects the cause proceeds as in civil actions;[67] so (3) matters shown by the record are conclusive and cannot be contradicted,[68] and (4) the code may require only that substantial facts necessary to constitute a cause of action or defense should be stated.[69]

(II) Demurrer. The defendant may demur to the declaration or scire facias averring that insufficient matters have been alleged to maintain the action;[70] and in case of a demurrer to a scire facias a question only is raised as to the sufficiency of matters appearing on the record or necessarily implied by law and not matters outside thereof.[71] And the defendant may both demur and answer to the same cause of action.[72]

Texas.— Hutchings v. State, 24 Tex. App. 242, 6 S. W. 34.

Virginia.— Gedney v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 318. See also Bias v. Floyd, 7 Leigh (Va.) 640.

United States.— U. S. v. George, 3 Dill. (U. S.) 431, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,199, 2 Centr. L. J. 77, 22 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 103.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 397.

Notice to the principal is declared to be unnecessary, in order to amend a scire facias. Hutchings v. State, 24 Tex. App. 242, 6 S. W. 34.

66. McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625. Scire facias performs the office of a declaration as well as process, and a default admits the facts alleged in the writ. Rietzell v. People, 72 Ill. 416. See also supra, III, O, 6, a, b.

67. Miller v. State, 35 Ark. 276; Brown v. Com., 4 Metc. (Ky.) 221. If the complaint or its equivalent is fatally defective under the liberal rules of amendment applicable to writs or other civil suits, matters of defense on the merits may be set up by answer, as the summons is not the subject of demurrer. Miller v. State, 35 Ark. 276.

Motion to quash.— Where there are no pleadings on the part of the state, the summons may be the subject of a motion to quash. Miller v. State, 35 Ark. 276. In McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625, a motion to quash the writ upon scire facias was overruled.

68. State v. Bryant, 55 Iowa 451, 8 N. W. 303 (holding that answer denying breach of bond is insufficient as that is res adjudicata); Peacock v. People, 83 Ill. 331 (holding that pleas that defendant did not make and execute the bond and nil debet were not proper pleas, since return of and filing recognizance made it a record). See Rubush v. State, 112 Ind. 107, 13 N. E. 877.

Again the record cannot be disputed by a plea denying joint or several liability. McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625.

Where the truth or falsity of the matter alleged is apparent of record an answer will be good and a sufficient defense. Odiorne v. State, 37 Tex. 122. But it is also held that in such case there should be a special demurrer. Ross v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 315. See Rubush v. State, 112 Ind. 107, 13 N. E. 877.

69. State v. Meyers, 61 Mo. 414.

Payment of costs need not be averred when not necessary to a surrender. State v. Meyers, 61 Mo. 414.

70. A demurrer will lie in case of a variance between the scire facias and the recognizance (Ellison v. State, 8 Ala. 273); or where the declaration on its face shows want of authority to take the recognizance (Ferry v. Burchard, 21 Conn. 597); or where the scire facias is joint on a several recognizance (Parrish v. State, 14 Md. 238).

But a demurrer will not lie because of an incorrect description in the recognizance of the offense (State v. Eldred, 31 Ala. 393); or of other defects therein (Candler v. Kirkland, 112 Ga. 459, 37 S. E. 715; State v. Rhonimus, 47 Miss. 314 [see also Ross v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 315; and see Hall v. State, 9 Ala. 827]). And it has been declared that, in scire facias proceedings, errors or omissions in the writ will be disregarded on demurrer if it sufficiently appears from the records and files of the court that the state is entitled to execution. State v. Heed, 62 Mo. 559.

A summons issued upon forfeiture where no pleading is required is not the subject of demurrer, but may be quashed on motion. Miller v. State, 35 Ark. 276.

71. Questions raised.— Norfolk v. People, 43 Ill. 9; Fields v. State, 39 Miss. 509. The demurrer in such a case is said to reach only to the recognizance on which the judgment nisi is founded and the legal sufficiency of the indictment cannot be questioned. Williams v. State, 20 Ala. 63; State v. Weaver, 18 Ala. 293. But see Com. v. Pierce, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 247. The recognizance is only before the court for comparison with the scire facias and not to be quashed. Com. v. Miller, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 418.

72. Both answer and demurrer.— People v. Meyer, 2 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 49. But an

(III) Plea or Answer[73]—(A) Nature.[74] There may be a plea in abatement,[75] or in bar.[76] So the plea interposed by defendant may be a special plea, setting up special matters of defense;[77] or it may be nil debet,[78] non est factum,[79] or nul tiel record,[80] depending upon the circumstances of the particular case.

answer cannot be made to perform the office of a demurrer. State v. Bryant, 55 Iowa 451, 8 N. W. 303. And it has been declared that there is a waiver of the demurrer if, after it has been overruled, there is an answer over by defendant. State v. Morgan, 124 Mo. 467, 28 S. W. 17.

73. For necessity and sufficiency of replication or reply to defendant's plea or answer see the following cases:

Arkansas.— Cannon v. State, 17 Ark. 365.

Indiana.— James v. State, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 325.

Kentucky.— Slodgill v. Com., 11 Ky. L. Rep. 368.

Missouri.— State v. Morgan, 124 Mo. 467, 28 S. W. 17.

New York.— Foster v. Rainsford, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 323.

See also, generally, Pleading.

A reply to the plea (comperuit ad diem) that defendant was an infant and did not appear by guardian is bad. Foster v. Rainsford, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 323.

74. Affidavits of defense may be required in Pennsylvania on all instruments in writing under a rule of court, making such affidavit obligatory in actions of scire facias on recognizances. Com. v. Hart, 5 Pa. Dist. 109, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 148. See also Magie v. Com., (Pa. 1886) 4 Atl. 738; Boring v. Com., (Pa. 1886) 4 Atl. 738; Harres v. Com., 35 Pa. St. 416; Com. v. Taylor, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 261; Com. v. Becker, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 297.

Written statement by the defendant of the facts constituting his defense may be as applicable to this as to any other kind of action. Brown v. Com., 4 Metc. (Ky.) 221.

75. In abatement.— Wilson v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 212 (non-joinder of a surety must be availed of by plea in abatement showing that the omitted party is not living); People v. Watkins, 19 Ill. 117 (and the time of the principal's death should be averred). See also People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338.

So matters of objection to copy of scire facias served should be pleaded in abatement. Wilson v. State, 25 Tex. 169.

Withdrawal of answer of general demurrer and general denial to allow answer in nature of abatement is properly refused. Camp v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 142, 45 S. W. 490, 39 Tex. Crim. 143, 45 S. W. 491.

76. A plea is good in bar which alleges the discharge of accused by the court in such form that the contention arises that the discharge was by operation of law, as where the dismissal of the jury operated as an acquittal and the principal's departure was with leave of court, although it is necessary to allege such discharge by the court. Lyons v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 309. But matters which would induce the court to stay proceedings on the bail-bond are not a proper bar. King v. Gettysburg Bank, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 197. And uncertainty in the statement of the offense charged, whether caused by errors or discrepancies in dates or otherwise, affords no ground for arresting judgment and is not properly special matter in bar. Rubush v. State, 112 Ind. 107, 13 N. E. 877.

For forms of answers or pleas in actions upon bonds, undertakings, or recognizances see Waugh v. People, 17 Ill. 561, 562; People v. Shaver, 4 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 45, 48.

77. Special plea.— State v. Hendricks, 40 La. Ann. 719, 5 So. 24, holding, however, that one who files a special plea is to be judged on that plea and no other, all else being admitted. See also Reading v. State, 1 Harr. (Del.) 190, holding that discharge on legal payment could not be proven under a plea of payment, but must be specially pleaded. So evidence is inadmissible of default, unless pleaded. Madden v. State, 35 Kan. 146, 10 Pac. 469. And if there is a mistake in the date of the bond there should be proper allegations to admit parol proof to correct the same, and in the absence of such averments it is not permissible to introduce a bond bearing any other date than that in the scire facias. Moseley v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 18, 38 S. W. 800; Hayden v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 38 S. W. 801.

If the execution of the bond is admitted in the answer, such bond may be put in evidence, for it cannot prejudice the defendant's rights to prove what is admitted. Votaw v. State, 12 Ind. 497.

It is not necessary for the state to plead a fact in order to introduce it in rebuttal of evidence offered by defendant to sustain an allegation of default. Allee v. State, 28 Tex. App. 531, 13 S. W. 991.

78. See, generally, Bonds.

Nil debet is not a proper plea in an action on a record. McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625; State v. Sutcliffe, 16 R. I. 520, 16 Atl. 710, 17 Atl. 920. See Peacock v. People, 83 Ill. 331.

79. Non est factum should explicitly and directly deny execution of instrument, and a mere denial of execution of the bond is not such a plea. Lindsay v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 468, 46 S. W. 1045. See State v. Wrote, 19 Mont. 209, 47 Pac. 898; State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628.

Non est factum is not a proper plea to a scire facias which has become a matter of record. McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625; Johnston v. People, 31 Ill. 469; Kuhle v. People, 65 Ill. App. 378. See also Peacock v. People, 83 Ill. 331.

80. Nul tiel record.— That to which nul tiel record is appropriate must purport at least to be a record, and such a plea is not bad as attacking in a single plea both the recognizance and the judgment, and if a scire facias misdescribes the record, the proper

(B) Particularity and Sufficiency of Averments.[81] The answer or plea should plainly, fully, and distinctly set forth the grounds of defense[82] and should not be general and indefinite,[83] and a plea that does not aver, except argumentatively, a fact relied on by the defense is bad.[84] It is also technically bad when it neither denies any material fact averred in scire facias nor yet confesses and avoids;[85] and it is manifestly insufficient where the representations relied on, and which are negatived, relate to legal questions of which defendants are required to judge themselves.[86] Again a plea is bad which is not an averment of facts, but only a deduction from facts afterward averred which do not justify the averment.[87] And the allegations of the answer may be taken as confessed, no reply thereto being filed after demurrer overruled.[88] But an answer may cure the want of service of the scire facias.[89]

d. Variance. To constitute a fatal variance there must be a material misdescription in the pleadings of the cause of action such as is calculated to surprise or mislead the adverse party.[90] So a material variance between the warrant and plea is nul tiel record. Slaten v. People, 21 Ill. 28. See also that nul tiel record does not lie: State v. Dickenson, 7 N. C. 10. So a denial of forfeiture must be proven under a plea nul tiel record, where the forfeiture is alleged by the scire facias to be of record (Wilson v. State, 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 212), although it is not competent under a plea of nul tiel record to raise other issues, since the only question under such plea is whether there is such a record, and it cannot be proven that defendant was not the recognizor or that the court taking the bond had no jurisdiction, for these must be specially alleged (State v. Sutcliffe, 16 R. I. 520, 16 Atl. 710, 17 Atl. 920).

Plea that defendant did not stand in open court and consent to terms of recognizance is in effect an attempt to dispute the record by a plea nul tiel recognizance which cannot be done. McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625.

81. Verification.— In Texas the statute does not require an answer to a scire facias to be sworn to, especially when the matters pleaded in the answer are of record and those of which the court ought to take judicial notice. Odiorne v. State, 37 Tex. 122.

82. Matters which are only of evidence need not be alleged. State v. Meyers, 61 Mo. 414, as that the acceptance of the prisoner was acknowledged in writing.

83. It should not admit a fact by negative pregnant and then deny it as a conclusion of law, for pleadings should state facts and not conclusions of law, and unless this is done they are fatally defective. Sasser v. McDaniel, 73 Ga. 547, applying this rule to a statement that the warrant was illegal as not being founded upon a sufficient affidavit; that the warrant described no offense, and that the bond contained no condition for personal appearance, and hence that there was no breach.

A plea which is open to an intendment in favor of the state is insufficient. U. S. v. Atwill, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,475, wherein it is said: "A cardinal rule in respect to pleas in bar is that the defendant must state his case with its legal circumstances, and if the plea be susceptible of two intendments it shall be taken most strongly against him. . . . He must also set forth his case according to the truth."

If, however, the complaint is bad, it need not be determined whether or not an answer is sufficient. Tucker v. State, 13 Ind. 332.

84. Argumentative plea.— Spicer v. State, 9 Ga. 49, a plea setting up the taking of a former bond, not alleging positively that such first bond was sufficient.

85. Neither denying nor confessing and avoiding.— Landis v. People, 39 Ill. 79, where an answer alleged that defendant did appear at the term and did abide the order of court. So a plea that the surety surrendered his principal, and confessing as to the costs is bad. People v. McFarland, 9 Ill. App. 275. If defendant should have moved to set aside the forfeiture nisi, the answer should show satisfactory cause for the default or it is insufficient or no answer. Goode v. State, 15 Tex. 124..

Continuing recognizance.— In the absence of an averment of duress or constraint the presumption is that the obligors intended to comply with the statute, and that they desired to enter into the statutory "continuing recognizance" and that the court "desired" the same. Carmody v. State, 105 Ind. 546, 5 N. E. 679.

86. As that they were misled by the sheriff's representations that accused was in the sheriff's legal custody. Peacock v. People, 83 Ill. 331.

87. Kirby v. Com., 1 Bush (Ky.) 113, applying this rule to an answer that the principal was necessarily prevented from appearing because he was then in custody of the state, etc., because this does not allege that he would have appeared if he had not been prevented and that the imprisonment was before the day specified.

88. Com. v. Anderson, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 275.

Facts set up in a plea are admitted by a demurrer, but not other facts which may be inferred from those admitted. State v. Bell, 58 Miss. 823. See also Com. v. Miller, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 418; State v. Millsaps, 69 Mo. 359.

89. Curing want of service of process.— Steen v. State, 27 Tex. 86.

90. Werbiski v. State, 20 Tex. App. 131. And the rule applies to averments as to the the recognizance set forth in the declaration and that given in evidence,[91] or between a recognizance or scire facias or judgment therein are fatal.[92] But it is too late to inquire after judgment whether the recognizance conforms to the judgment nisi or scire facias.[93]

7. Trial — a. In General. In scire facias upon a bail-bond the court should consider the whole record,[94] and if it varies from the description in the scire facias the defendant must object when it is offered in evidence.[95] If the defense in an place of taking the recognizance. Paine v. State, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 206; State v. Miner, 14 R. I. 303.

The variance must be material to the merits and prejudicial to defendants in their defense; or it must be such that the scire facias could not have been amended so as to agree with the record. And the facts being within this rule, the judgment cannot be reversed because variances were disregarded by the court. Saxton v. State, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 200. And where the statute so provides, an error or mistake in the form or mode of a pleading or proceeding will not render it invalid, unless it has actually prejudiced defendant or tended to his prejudice in respect to a substantial right. People v. Myers, 1 Ida. 355 [citing Tevis v. Randall, 6 Cal. 632, 65 Am. Dec. 547].

91. Dillingham v. U. S., 2 Wash. (U. S.) 422, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,913.

92. Daingerfield v. State, 4 How. (Miss.) 658.

Where sureties fail to appear when properly served they cannot avail themselves of a variance between the bond and scire facias, the bond not being a part of the record of scire facias proceedings. Smith v. State, 76 Miss. 728, 25 So. 491.

93. Shreeve v. State, 11 Ala. 676 (also declaring that, if advantage had been claimed in the court below on this ground, it would have been competent to set aside or perhaps to have amended the entry); Saffold v. State, 60 Miss. 928.

When fatal variance.— Within the general principles stated in the text a variance has been held fatal in the following cases as to the offense charged (Simpson v. Com., 1 Dana (Ky.) 523; State v. Borroum, 25 Miss. 203; Bailes v. State, 20 Tex. 498); as to appearance (Bridges v. State, 24 Miss. 153; Grigsby v. State, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 354; Smith v. State, 7 Tex. App. 160); as to the court (Frost v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 347, 26 S. W. 412; Avant v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 312, 26 S. W. 411; Brown v. State, 28 Tex. App. 297, 12 S. W. 1101); as to name (Weaver v. State, 13 Tex. App. 191); as to joint or several judgment (Farris v. People, 58 Ill. 26; Ellis v. State, 10 Tex. App. 324); as to officer taking the bond (Arrington v. State, 13 Tex. App. 554); as to recital of date of bond (Avant v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 312, 26 S. W. 411; Bailey v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 22 S. W. 40; Highsaw v. State, (Tex. App. 1892) 19 S. W. 762; Brown v. State, 28 Tex. App. 65, 11 S. W. 1022; Faubion v. State, 21 Tex. App. 494, 2 S. W. 830; Holt v. State, 20 Tex. App. 271; Hedrick v. State, 3 Tex. App. 570). And where, in scire facias, the declaration is on a forfeited recognizance and a forfeited bond is relied on at the trial the variance is fatal. Garrison v. State, 21 Tex. App. 342, 17 S. W. 351.

When no variance.— Within the general principles stated in the text a variance has been held in the following cases not to be fatal as to the offense charged (Whitfield v. State, 4 Ark. 171; State v. Livingston, 117 Mo. 627, 23 S. W. 766; State v. Millsaps, 69 Mo. 359; State v. Rye, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 386; Ross v. State, 35 Tex. 433; Arrington v. State, 13 Tex. App. 551); as to appearance (Sheets v. People, 63 Ill. 78; Allen v. People, 29 Ill. App. 555); as to the court (State v. Furguson, 50 Mo. 470; State v. Rye, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 386 [see also State v. McElhaney, 20 Mo. App. 584]); as to the name of the principal (Allen v. People, 29 Ill. App. 555); as to joint or several judgment (Allee v. State, 28 Tex. App. 531, 13 S. W. 991; Kiser v. State, 13 Tex. App. 201); as to recital of date of bond (Mills v. State, 36 Tex. Crim. 71, 35 S. W. 370); as to amount (Ditto v. State, 30 Miss. 126). And the variance is not material where the bond described in the complaint has no file-mark and the bond offered in evidence has. U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 Utah 161, 13 Pac. 673.

Qualifications.— Where the name differs in the bond, indictment, and judgment nisi, the bond and indictment are not admissible to show forfeiture in the absence of an allegation showing the name to be that of the same person. Weaver v. State, 13 Tex. App. 191. Although it has been decided that the question whether the person indicted was the same as the one recognized is for the jury. Wilcox v. State, 24 Tex. 544. And the recognizance is declared to be admissible in connection with other evidence to prove that the person who executed the bond was the one described in the body of the instrument by another name. O'Brien v. People, 41 Ill. 456 [distinguishing Vincent v. People, 25 Ill. 500]. See further as to variance Kuhle v. People, 65 Ill. App. 378; Camp v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 143, 45 S. W. 491.

94. Should consider whole record.— State v. Jones, 29 Ark. 127.

95. Welborn v. People, 76 Ill. 516.

An objection that the paper produced is, on its face, not a recognizance may be made ore tenus, an affidavit of defense being unnecessary. State v. Ahrens, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 493.

If the plea is non est factum the court may require defendant, before permitting him to impeach the judgment nisi to prove that he is the same person on whom process was served as a defendant, and on his refusal may pro-action of scire facias is defectively pleaded, the court should not proceed to judgment where such action would, upon the record, be illegal or unjust,[96] nor while a plea of death of the cognizor remains unanswered.[97]

b. Questions of Law and Fact. A question of fact may be involved upon the trial of a forfeited bail-bond which entitles the sureties to a jury,[98] although, where the statute so provides, the issues in scire facias on such bond are to be decided by the court.[99]

8. Evidence — a. Presumptions and Burden of Proof. In a suit upon a recognizance it will be presumed that the proceedings were regular and the recognizance valid; that the decision was based upon sufficient evidence,[1] and that the bond or recognizance was taken by the proper authority, legally empowered in the premises.[2] And while upon a general denial the burden of proof is not upon the defendant,[3] he must nevertheless sustain a special plea in the nature of non est factum, and show cause why the recognizance should not be escheated.[4]

b. Admissibility — (1) Matters of Record or in the Nature Thereof. In actions upon forfeited recognizances or bonds the affidavit, indictment, or information is admissible in evidence.[5] It is also proper to admit in evidence, in actions upon such instruments, the bonds or recognizances themselves,[6] ceed to judgment. Rutledge v. State, 36 Tex. 459.

96. State v. Jones, 29 Ark. 127.

97. Mix v. People, 26 Ill. 480.

But when the recognizance is a collateral issue independent of the original indictment the court is not precluded from entering a judgment by default on a scire facias issued to enforce a judgment nisi on a recognizance, even though a plea to said indictment remains unanswered. Ditto v. State, 30 Miss. 126.

98. Questions for jury.— As whether or not there was a delivery by them of the person bailed to the jailer's custody. McKinney v. Com., 3 Ky. L. Rep. 465. In Texas a trial by jury on such bonds is governed by the rules relating to trials in civil causes. Short v. State, 16 Tex. App. 44.

99. Questions for court.— State v. Posey, 79 Ala. 45. Nor is a jury necessary to compute the amount of the debt on recognizance of bail. Crump v. People, 2 Colo. 316. So a plea of nul tiel record to a scire facias presents no issue for the jury. Kuhle v. People, 65 Ill. App. 378.

1. Presumption of regularity of proceedings, etc.— Friedline v. State, 93 Ind. 366; State v. Patterson, 23 Iowa 575; Redmond v. State, 12 Kan. 172; State v. Rogers, 36 Mo. 138. So the execution of the bond will be taken as proved unless denied under oath. State v. Carr, 4 Iowa 289.

Presumption exists that first default was executed upon sufficient showing to the satisfaction of court taking second recognizance. Com. v. Sholes, 13 Allen (Mass.) 396.

2. Presumption is that recognizance was taken before the court, even though the record shows that it was taken before the clerk of said court. Bodine v. Com., 24 Pa. St. 69. And it will be presumed that the proper transcript was before the court. Fox v. Com., 81* Pa. St. 511. So the officer's authority and jurisdiction will be presumed. Dunkin v. Hodge, 46 Ala. 523; Carmody v. State, 105 Ind. 546, 5 N. E. 679; Furgison v. State, 4 Greene (Iowa) 302, 61 Am. Dec. 120. But see McGuire v. State, 124 Ind. 536, 23 N. E. 85, 25 N. E. 11, and Gachenheimer v. State, 28 Ind. 91, for the necessity and sufficiency of proof of such authority.

Defendant may, however, show that the officer who took the bond was not authorized or was not the proper officer. So held in State v. Russell, 24 Tex. 505.

3. Burden of proof upon general denial.— Goodin v. State, 14 Tex. App. 443.

To explain alteration of the bond the burden is upon the plaintiff. State v. Roberts, 37 Kan. 437, 15 Pac. 593.

The cause of action must be proved, as in a civil suit, both by the bond and by the judgment nisi, declaring the forfeiture. McWhorter v. State, 14 Tex. App. 239. See also infra, III, O, 8, c.

Burden of sustaining special plea.— Brown v. Colquitt, 73 Ga. 59, 54 Am. Rep. 867.

4. Why recognizance should not be escheated.— State v. Carr, 4 Iowa 289.

5. Affidavit, indictment, or information.— Affidavit charging the crime is admissible in the circuit court (Adams v. State, 48 Ind. 212), and the affidavit and information filed after nolle prosequi to the original indictment and charging the same offense may be admitted in evidence (Clifford v. Marston, 14 Oreg. 426, 13 Pac. 62). So it is no objection to the admissibility of the indictment that it does not show upon its face that the principal was indicted for the offense with which he was charged before the examining court. Sims v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 55 S. W. 179. But if an indictment for theft is put in evidence, the state cannot show under it a conviction for swindling. Martin v. State, 16 Tex. App. 265.

6. Bonds and recognizances.— Adams v. State, 48 Ind. 212. And if the execution of the bond is not in issue in scire facias such execution need not be proven before introducing the bond in evidence. Lindsay v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 468, 46 S. W. 1045. But it cannot be considered as in evidence or as prothe scire facias,[7] and the justice's transcript,[8] or the minutes of the court or magistrate.[9] But the record is an entirety and it is error to reject a part thereof.[10]

(II) Matters Not of Record — (A) Contradicting Record. The record of forfeiture of a recognizance is conclusive evidence of the breach, and cannot be impeached by extrinsic evidence.[11]

duced on the trial when it has not been filed. State v. Wilson, 12 La. Ann. 189. And unless the admission of the bond in evidence is objected to, an objection to a variance between it and the recitals in the scire facias is waived. Lewis v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 39 S. W. 570. See also infra, III, O, 8, c.

7. Scire facias.— Lewis v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1897) 39 S. W. 570.

A recital in a scire facias on a bail-bond in a justice's court, and in the judgment thereon, that the principal is required to answer in the district court is fatal to proceedings under scire facias to enforce the bond. Avant v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 312, 26 S. W. 411.

8. Justice's transcript.— Adams v. State, 48 Ind. 212.

9. The magistrate's minutes taken on a recognizance and returned into court are proper evidence in an action on said obligation, provided they show the amount and evidence and that the party was bound to the state. Com. v. Emery, 2 Binn. (Pa.) 431. Where the minutes of the court contain no record of forfeiture such record cannot be supplied by parol testimony. State v. Doyle, 42 La. Ann. 640, 7 So. 699. But the magistrate's docket entry as to the time of an adjournment does not control the recitals in the bond, and parol evidence is admissible to show the real time fixed in the bond. State v. Burdick, 84 Iowa 626, 51 N. W. 67. On a motion to set aside the judgment on the ground of failure to enter on the minutes of the court an order for the special term, the county attorney may introduce a certified copy of the entry nunc pro tunc of an order showing that the special term had been legally entered, and such certified copy will also cure any defects in the proceedings. Harbolt v. State, 39 Tex. Crim. 129, 44 S. W. 1110.

The entry of the forfeiture stands for proof of all the steps necessary to complete the forfeiture, including the fact that the bail and defendant were duly called and did not appear and answer. Com. v. Fogelman, 3 Pa. Super. Ct. 566, 40 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 17; Fox v. Com., 81* Pa. St. 511. So an entry "Recognizance forfeited" is conclusive that defendant and the bail were called and did not appear. Com. v. Basendorf, 153 Pa. St. 459, 25 Atl. 779. In the absence of journal entries showing defendant to have been present during the whole trial, sentence may be proven by parol. Moorehead v. State, 38 Kan. 489, 16 Pac. 957. See infra, III, O, 8, b, (II).

The indorsement by the clerk of the court into which a recognizance is returnable, showing its return and entry of record, is competent evidence of such facts. Com. v. Slocum, 14 Gray (Mass.) 395. But the clerk's certificate is not the only competent evidence of the filing of the recognizance in that court. Com. v. Merriam, 7 Allen (Mass.) 356.

Indorsement "approved" on an undertaking is not the only evidence by which approval may be shown. Ozeley v. State, 59 Ala. 94.

10. State v. Lighton, 4 Greene (Iowa) 278. But see Com. v. Dye, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 517.

Record of proceedings subsequent to forfeiture should be excluded. Com. v. Oblender, 135 Pa. St. 530, 19 Atl. 1057.

11. Illinois.— McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625; Welborn v. People, 76 Ill. 516 (record of taking recognizance imports verity and cannot be contradicted by pleas or parol evidence); Bulson v. People, 31 Ill. 409 (after recognizance has become of record the action of the magistrate cannot be impeached nor the proceedings assailed).

Iowa.— State v. Bryant, 55 Iowa 451, 8 N. W. 303; State v. Clemons, 9 Iowa 534; State v. Gorley, 2 Iowa 52.

Maine.— State v. Gilmore, 81 Me. 405, 16 Atl. 339, 17 Atl. 316.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Slocum, 14 Gray (Mass.) 395. But if an agreed statement of facts show that the recognizance was not properly taken, the record ceases to be conclusive. Com. v. Greene, 13 Allen (Mass.) 251.

Ohio.— Calvin v. State, 12 Ohio St. 60.

Pennsylvania.—Com. v. Basendorf, 153 Pa. St. 459, 25 Atl. 779; Com. v. Burkholder, 3 Pa. Dist. 563; Pierson v. Com., 3 Grant (Pa.) 314.

Tennessee.—Barkley v. State, Meigs (Tenn.) 93, verity of recognizance filed in court of record cannot be questioned under a plea of non est factum.

United States.— U. S. v. Ambrose, 7 Fed. 554, evidence that the defendant was not called, nor his surety required to produce his body is incompetent to impeach the record.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 403.

Physician's certificate is inadmissible to show that defendant was disabled by sickness, on appearance day, but defendant being appellant he cannot complain of such error. Price v. State, 4 Tex. App. 73. But see Baker v. State, 23 Tex. App. 657, 5 S. W. 130.

Written instructions by the district attorney to the sheriff to suspend proceedings are inadmissible where there is nothing therein to prevent postponement of the defendant's fine or his surrender. State v. Stewart, 74 Iowa 336, 37 N. W. 400.

If there is a surrender it may be proved by other evidence than the justice's certificate, he having failed to give the same. State v. Lambert, 44 W. Va. 308, 28 S. E. 930.

Sheriff's return in a capias may be contro-

(B) Explaining Record. But in certain cases extraneous proof and evidence explaining the record is admissible,[12] but it has been decided that a recognizance is a matter of record and cannot be aided by any parol evidence.[13]

c. Weight and Sufficiency. The proof may be sufficient to render the recognizors liable[14] without offering the indictment or showing that it was ever found;[15] but the bond or recognizance must be produced under a general denial.[16] Again, the recognizance and judgment of forfeiture are declared to be competent and sufficient evidence to authorize a judgment for the state.[17] But it has also been determined that a breach of the bond must be proven by evidence of the accused being called and neglecting to appear.[18] verted as to arrest of accused, where such arrest operates to release the sureties. Gary v. State, 11 Tex. App. 527.

That accused's capture was not at defendant's instance, but to the contrary by circumstance tending to show such fact. Ayres v. People, 3 Colo. App. 117, 32 Pac. 77.

12. Thus parol evidence is admissible where there is a variance between the indictment and the capias and bail-bond (Welch v. State, 36 Ala. 277), or between the bond and scire facias (Allen v. People, 29 Ill. App. 555), or to show identity of the offense described in the recognizance with that in the statute (People v. Baughman, 18 Ill. 152), or to prove that both indictments, one being quashed, were for the same offense (State v. Clemons, 9 Iowa 534). So essential facts other than the undertaking may be proven by means other than the bond. Com. v. Pierce, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 247. Ambiguous words in the recognizance may be explained by surrounding circumstances. Colquitt v. Bond, 69 Ga. 351. That accused was released from custody by the execution of the bond may be proven by parol. Com. v. Perkins, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 542, 32 S. W. 134. Nor is it error to prove accused's discharge by parol. State v. Hays, 2 Oreg. 314.

Time of forfeiture of lost bond may be fixed by parol. State v. Burdick, 84 Iowa 626, 51 N. W. 67. Nor is it necessary to advertise the loss of the bond before giving evidence of its description. State v. Doyle, 42 La. Ann. 640, 7 So. 699.

Judicial notice will not be taken of the location of the court-house at which the principal was to appear. Vivian v. State, 16 Tex. App. 262. But judicial notice will be taken of the location of the jail, as showing that the recognizance was taken in the same county, one of the cognizors being confined in said jail. State Treasurer v. Bishop, 39 Vt. 353.

13. Aiding recognizance by parol evidence. — State Treasurer v. Merrill, 14 Vt. 64. See also Murphy v. Merry, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 295; State v. Coppock, 79 Iowa 482, 44 N. W. 714. Nor is such evidence admissible to supply material parts of a recognizance not shown in the writing itself. State v. Crippen, 1 Ohio St. 399.

But the bond is not properly a part of the record of the scire facias proceedings (Smith v. State, 76 Miss. 728, 25 So. 491), unless made so by plea or bill of exceptions (Hendon v. State, 49 Ala. 380).

As to estoppel to deny jurisdiction see Kuhle v. People, 65 Ill. App. 378; State v. Dwyer, 70 Vt. 96, 39 Atl. 629.

14. It is sufficient to prove the information before the justice of the peace, the warrant and the return thereon of arrest, the record requiring bail and appearance, the bail-bond, and the record of the district court adjudging the default. State v. Coppock, 79 Iowa 482, 44 N. W. 714. So the statements in the order of commitment that accused was held for trial, that bail was required, and in default thereof was committed to jail are sufficient evidence of the proceedings of the examining court, it also appearing that the prisoner was arrested on a warrant by a police judge, but that there was no record of his examination or of any judgment. Dean v. Com., 1 Bush (Ky.) 20.

15. Without aid of indictment.—Kepley v. People, 123 Ill. 367, 13 N. E. 512; Mooney v. People, 81 Ill. 134; O'Brien v. People, 41 Ill. 456; Garrison v. People, 21 Ill. 535; Chumasero v. People, 18 Ill. 405; State v. Coppock, 79 Iowa 482, 44 N. W. 714. If the undertaking stipulates for appearance to answer the indictment but does not otherwise describe it, the state may, under the statute, supply by proof such deficiency. Vasser v. State, 32 Ala. 586.

16. Production of bond or recognizance.— Baker v. State, 21 Tex. App. 359, 17 S. W. 256. That the bond was produced before the judgment nisi does not dispense with its production on proceedings for final judgment. Hester v. State, 15 Tex. App. 418.

The bond is said to prove itself, and that its production proves its execution so that judgment may be entered. State v. Lewis, 7 La. Ann. 540. See also Gresham v. State, 48 Ala. 625. But a valid judgment can only be rendered on production of the bond in a form which proves itself, or on proof of execution. State v. Cooper, 3 La. Ann. 225.

17. Recognizance and judgment of forfeiture.— Cannon v. State, 17 Ark. 365; Peacock v. People, 83 Ill. 331 (under a plea of nul tiel record); People v. Witt, 19 Ill. 169. But that such bond and judgment must be proved see McWhorter v. State, 14 Tex. App. 239.

18. Proof of breach of bond.— Dillingham v. U. S., 2 Wash. (U. S.) 422, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,913; U. S. v. Rundlett, 2 Curt. (U. S.) 41, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,208, holding also that it is insufficient to prove the default outside of the record. As to minutes upon files being sufficient evidence of default see People v.

9. Judgment — a. In General. Jurisdiction is essential, for a valid judgment cannot be rendered against the sureties unless the court has power in the premises,[19] based upon some proper and legal notice or proceeding whereby they have an opportunity to be heard.[20] Again, while the issues involved should be determined, yet if the recitals support the final judgment they are sufficient, although not all the facts are set out in the record.[21] But a judgment rendered on facts not within the issues will be reversed,[22] although a judgment may be informal, but not erroneous.[23]

b. Joint or Several. Final judgment must be joint or several according to the liability of the parties.[24]

c. Against Part of Recognizors. Judgment may be taken against the sureties Tuthill, 39 Mich. 262; People v. Gordon, 39 Mich. 259. That minutes of the court and judgment are sufficient evidence of the breach see State v. Fuller, 14 La. Ann. 726.

It is error to direct a verdict against plaintiff where there is evidence of execution of the bond and default of condition and forfeiture thereupon. State v. Burdick, 84 Iowa 626, 51 N. W. 67.

19. So the court cannot render judgment against sureties on a trial of accused on the merits, even though he and the state agreed to such trial. Huffman v. State, 23 Tex. App. 491, 5 S. W. 134.

20. Sureties must have a chance to appear and show cause why a judgment nisi should not be made absolute (Hunt v. State, 63 Ala. 196), and on motion to make a judgment nisi absolute the proceedings are summary (State v. Johnson, 12 La. 547); so where, after judgment nisi for non-appearance, if upon notice by scire facias to the sureties they defend the judgment against them it is valid (State v. Jones, 88 N. C. 683). A scire facias must be duly issued and served (Braxton v. Candler, 112 Ga. 459, 37 S. E. 710).

Court's power to render judgment for less than the amount of the bond can be exercised only on an admitted liability; it cannot be done on a plea of the general issue. State v. Connolly, 72 Conn. 607, 45 Atl. 432.

Judgment absolute upon scire facias may be rendered against sureties where they have had until the state case is called at next term to produce the principal and have failed to do so. Freeman v. State, 112 Ga. 648, 37 S. E. 886.

Time of rendition.— But if judgment nisi is to be made final at the succeeding term, and the court fails, it may be done at the next term, the law being merely directory. State v. Johnson, 12 La. 547.

21. Recital of facts.— Cantaline v. State, 33 Ala. 439; Richardson v. State, 31 Ala. 347; Farr v. State, 6 Ala. 794. As to description of amount and nature of undertaking see Smith v. State, 7 Port. (Ala.) 492.

Reasons for judgment, as that the bond was called and accused failed to appear, are sufficient on motion to enter it up against principal and sureties. State v. Gossin, 13 La. 96.

Variance.— The right exists to have a judgment entered according to the tenor of the recognizance, and not of the recitals of the writ, even though there is an agreement to take no advantage of a variance between such recognizance and scire facias. Briggs v. People, 13 Ill. App. 172.

Record of redocketing — Waiver of notice. — Judgment cannot be collaterally attacked after the case has been remanded, on the ground that the record does not show that the circuit court had ordered the case redocketed, or that the prisoner had not been notified of the intention to redocket it, where such record shows that the case was in fact redocketed, since, by appearing in court and entering into recognizance, the principal and his sureties waived notice and order. Quinn v. People, 146 Ill. 275, 34 N. E. 148 [affirming 45 Ill. App. 547].

22. Outside the issues.— State v. Connolly, 72 Conn. 607, 45 Atl. 432.

23. As that plaintiff recover instead of have execution. Fowler v. Com., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 128.

Judgment should be that plaintiff have execution.— Fowler v. Com., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 128; Davis v. Com., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 113. But it should be rendered to have execution according to the effect of the recognizance. Madison v. Com., 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 131.

Curing errors and defects.— A verdict on the general issue may cure defects in the petition in an action on the bond, even though no exception was taken thereto. McClellan v. State, 22 Tex. 405. So final judgment may correct a judgment nisi erroneously entered as to the amount. Sass v. State, 8 Tex. App. 426. But it is also decided that the state's counsel should amend and correct a judgment nisi before trial thereon, and that it is too late after verdict and judgment for defendant. Robertson v. State, 14 Tex. App. 211.

24. Howie v. State, 1 Ala. 113; Caldwell v. Com., 14 Gratt. (Va.) 698. And one judgment and one execution may be rendered against a plurality of cognizors. State v. Stout, 11 N. J. L. 124.

Several judgments nisi may be entered and prosecuted to final judgment upon a joint and several recognizance. Brewer v. State, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 198.

A joint scire facias may be maintained on a several recognizance. Madison v. Com., 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 131. But see supra, III, O, 3.

alone on a forfeited bail-bond,[25] or be rendered against a part only of the sureties, continuing the case as to the others,[26] or silently discontinuing it as to them.[27]

d. Amount and Extent of Liability — (I) In General. Judgment against bail may be rendered to the full amount of the penalty, but not for a larger sum, although a recovery may be had for a part thereof, where the statute permits;[28] but this does not include the full amount of the bond against each, where the principal and sureties are jointly and severally bound.[29] The judgment may, however, charge each recognizor to the extent of his liability.[30]

(II) Interest and Costs. Interest is allowed on recognizances from the time of forfeiture.[31] But it is decided that costs of the criminal proceedings are not taxable upon scire facias against the sureties.[32] The defendant in scire facias may, however, be entitled to costs if he prevails.[33]

10. Proceedings After Judgment — a. Arrest or Vacation of Judgment. Sureties have the right, without limitation to statutory grounds, to move to set aside the judgment forfeiting an appearance bond and condemning them in the

25. And so although the principal has not been summoned. Madison v. Com., 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 131. Or where the principal cannot be found. Thompson v. State, (Miss. 1890) 7 So. 403; Marx v. State, 61 Miss. 478; Saffold v. State, 60 Miss. 928. Contra, Brown v. State, 40 Tex. 49; Blalock v. State, 35 Tex. 89.

26. Continuance as to some.— Fowler v. Com., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 128, a case of recognizance by several.

27. Silent discontinuance.— And so even though all the recognizors are served. Robinson v. State, 5 Ala. 706. And service upon one of several sureties is sufficient as to him, although others are not found. People v. Mellor, 2 Colo. 705; Chase v. People, 2 Colo. 528.

So the court may dismiss the other sureties and proceed against the surety served (Marx v. State, 61 Miss. 478), and judgment may be rendered against one surety and the principal and in favor of the other surety (Ray v. State, 16 Tex. App. 268).

Where the recognizance is joint and several, judgment may be rendered only against those sureties served. Stokes v. People, 63 Ill. 489; Wheeler v. People, 39 Ill. 430; Mussulman v. People, 15 Ill. 51; McFarlan v. People, 13 Ill. 9; Passfield v. People, 8 Ill. 406; Sans v. People, 8 Ill. 327.

But there must be a dismissal or discontinuance or disposal, or notice of the other's case. Smith v. State, 12 Nebr. 309, 11 N. W. 317; Brown v. State, 40 Tex. 49; Thompson v. State, 17 Tex. App. 318; Stephenson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 459; Walter v. State, 6 Tex. App. 254.

28. Alabama.— Cain v. State, 55 Ala. 170 (or for any part thereof); Badger v. State, 5 Ala. 21 (even though said penalty exceed the forfeiture which the law imposes); State v. Hinson, 4 Ala. 671 (but not for a greater sum).

Connecticut.—Colt v. Eaton, 1 Root (Conn.) 524, recognizance may be chancered on scire facias.

Iowa.— State v. Hirronemus, 50 Iowa 545, amount is the penalty and not the fine and costs.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Thornton, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 380, statute providing for judgment for part is constitutional.

Michigan.— People v. Hanaw, 106 Mich. 421, 64 N. W. 328.

Tennessee.— State v. Austin, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 213, the whole amount of penalty or nothing, and if penalty is for too much recovery is void.

Texas.— Hodges v. State, 20 Tex. 493, not liable beyond penalty though recital is that bond is greater.

See 5 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bail," § 411.

29. Ishmael v. State, 41 Tex. 244; Thomas v. State, 13 Tex. App. 496. Nor can there be a recovery for double the sum set against each, namely, the principal and surety. Dean v. State, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 200.

30. Smith v. State, 7 Port. (Ala.) 492.

31. From time of forfeiture.— Swerdsfeger v. State, 21 Kan. 475; State v. Frazier, 52 La. Ann. 1305, 27 So. 799 (from the date of the judgment of forfeiture); Kinney v. State, 14 Ohio Cir. Ct. 91, 7 Ohio Cir. Dec. 97. Contra, People v. Hanaw, 106 Mich. 421, 64 N. W. 328.

32. Costs of criminal prosecution.— Cade v. Gordon, 88 Ga. 461, 14 S. E. 706 (and a motion to retax or exclude them should be granted); People v. Phelps, 17 Ill. 200 (cost on a capias to apprehend and surrender the principal excluded). And the judgment should not be for the fine and costs imposed. State v. Hirronemus, 50 Iowa 545.

Against surety for costs and against principal for penalty and costs cannot stand. People v. McFarland, 9 Ill. App. 275. But compare State v. Homey, 44 Wis. 615.

Particular instances.— It is irregular to tax an attorney's fee and the county tax upon a judgment nisi on a recognizance when the judgment is afterward, at the same term, set aside on condition that all costs be paid. Weissinger v. State, 11 Ala. 540. But the surety on an appearance bond against whom judgment is rendered for the amount thereof is liable for costs in the action thereon, since they follow the judgment by operation of law. State v. Beebee, 87 Iowa 636, 54 N. W. 479.

33. Defendant's costs.— Com. v. Stebbins, 4 Gray (Mass.) 25.

amount thereof. If the motion comes too late the objection should be made as a ground of defense thereto rather than in opposition to filing or hearing the same.[34] So a motion may be made in arrest of judgment for insufficiency of description of the defense in the recognizance.[35] But an omission to state therein that the principal was a party is not available on such a motion.[36]

b. Execution.[37] A recognizance is an obligation of record, and when forfeiture is declared and entered by the court it becomes a judgment enforceable by execution.[38] But execution must be had according to the form, force, and effect of the recognizance itself.[39]

c. Payment or Satisfaction. Property transferred to indemnify sureties cannot be applied in satisfaction of the penalty.[40]

d. Review — (i) Nature and Form of Remedy. Although a writ of error will lie from a judgment in scire facias on a forfeited bail-bond notwithstanding such cases are criminal in their nature,[41] and while it is decided that proceedings on appeal from such judgment are governed by the rules relating to civil actions,[42] and that an appeal from a judgment against the sheriff for money collected on a forfeited bail-bond lies to the court of civil appeals,[43] yet it is also determined that appeals must be taken in conformity with the criminal statute relating thereto.[44] The form of the final judgment

34. State v. Hayes, 104 La. 461, 29 So. 22.

Remission by governor of forfeiture and judgment except "fees and costs" is no ground for setting aside judgment. Brown v. Com., 4 Metc. (Ky.) 221.

Variance in christian name may not constitute sufficient grounds for granting motion by recognizors to set aside the judgment against them. Tolison v. State, 39 Ala. 103.

35. Sively v. State, 44 Tex. 274.

36. People v. Dennis, 4 Mich. 609, 69 Am. Dec. 338.

37. Stay of execution will not be granted defendant in a judgment on a forfeited recognizance where bail is a debt due the state. Com. v. Markert, 4 Pa. Dist. 520.

Motion for judgment against the sheriff who has failed to pay in to the proper county the moneys collected on an execution issued upon a judgment rendered upon a forfeited recognizance is the proper remedy; and the district attorney for the state may prosecute such motion, and the judgment is properly rendered for the use of the county where the motion shows upon its face that it is so made and the action thereon is civil and not criminal and this applies to the appeal. Russell v. State, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 69.

38. Schultze v. State, 43 Md. 295, holding also that such execution may be issued to another county other than that of rendition of judgment.

Verdict on scire facias, upon a common recognizance for appearance, which finds the issue for plaintiff, authorizes an award of execution. Mix v. People, 29 Ill. 196.

39. Farris v. People, 58 Ill. 26.

Principle applies to a several recognizance in that the execution must be several (Farris v. People, 58 Ill. 26), and a separate execution may issue against each of two cognizors for the amount of the obligation (Minor v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 236).

Execution against part of the cognizors may be awarded where the nature of the recognizance is several and not joint. Adair v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 200. See also State v. Woerner, 33 Mo. 216.

Execution against cognizor not served cannot be awarded except upon two returns not found to writs of scire facias against him. Graham v. State, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 313.

40. People v. Skidmore, 17 Cal. 260.

Compromise after final judgment on a forfeited bail-bond cannot be made in settlement by the prosecuting attorney. Dunkin v. Hodge, 46 Ala. 523; Whittington v. Ross, 8 Ill. App. 234.

Surety indemnified is not liable as garnishee. Holker v. Hennessy, 143 Mo. 80, 44 S. W. 794, 65 Am. St. Rep. 642.

41. State v. Arrington, 13 Tex. App. 611; Houston v. State, 13 Tex. App. 560; Hart v. State, 13 Tex. App. 555.

Writ of error and not appeal lies to a judgment of the common pleas. Com. v. Rhoads, 9 Pa. St. 488.

42. Com. v. Hughes, 13 Bush (Ky.) 349; Brauner v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 228; Mayer v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 408. See further as to civil nature of bond Louisinana Prevention Cruelty to Children Soc. v. Cage, 45 La. Ann. 1394, 14 So. 422; State v. Hendricks, 40 La. Ann. 719, 722, 5 So. 24.

Appeal from judgment on forfeiture of bail see Appeal and Error, III, C, 2, r, [2 Cyc. 548].

Review of proceedings in arrest and bail see Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 227, note 74.

Under Ind. Rev. Stat. (1881), § 1722, on forfeiture of bail in criminal cases, the prosecuting attorney must sue the sureties in a civil action. McGuire v. State, 119 Ind. 499, 21 N. E. 1100.

43. Russell v. State, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 69.

44. State v. Alexander, 46 La. Ann. 550, 15 So. 361; State v. Toups, 44 La. Ann. 896, 11 So. 524. So an action to enforce a recogmay, however, affect subsequent proceedings in respect to their joint or several character.[45]

(II) Decisions Reviewable. No appeal lies from an order of forfeiture which is not a final judgment,[46] nor from a judgment refusing to remit a forfeited recognizance,[47] nor from a rule issued against accused and his sureties to show cause why the bail-bond should not be escheated;[48] although a writ of error lies to the supreme court on a judgment final on a recognizance,[49] and sureties may obtain a review by appeal of a judgment summarily entered under the statute.[50]

(III) Assignment of Errors, Record, Bill of Exceptions, etc. The record should fully and fairly present the issues between the appellant and appellee, and should, excluding those matters which are immaterial and irrelevant, sufficiently and explicitly set forth such of them as are legally necessary to apprise the appellate court of the questions before it. Matters not properly made part of such record will ordinarily not be considered, although the court has not adhered strictly to this rule, for in its application the material grounds relied on upon review are entitled to consideration.[51] nizance is a continuation of the criminal proceeding, and appeal lies from judgment. State v. Hoeffner, 137 Mo. 612, 38 S. W. 1109.

Appeal or certiorari and not injunction is proper remedy for review of irregularities on forfeiture of bond by justice of the peace. Garner v. Smith, 40 Tex. 505. So remedy is by appeal and not an action to annul a judgment in case of invalidity of bond. Taliaferro v. Steele, 14 La. Ann. 656.

New trial to state will not be granted where the judgment is in favor of the defendant in a suit on a forfeited bond, as the action is thereby finally terminated. Robertson v. State, 14 Tex. App. 211; Perry v. State, 14 Tex. App. 166; Gary v. State, 11 Tex. App. 527.

State cannot appeal in scire facias cases under a constitutional inhibition as to appeal by it in criminal cases. State v. Ward, 9 Tex. App. 462.

45. Howie v. State, 1 Ala. 113. See Com. v. Teevens, 141 Mass. 577, 6 N. E. 756, as to final judgment.

46. McGuire v. State, 119 Ind. 449, 21 N. E. 1100.

Final judgment in state court is not reviewable in United States court on writ of error, and where the state court holds that bail may be indemnified by bond and mortgage given by a cosurety and that such indemnity is not against public policy no federal question is involved and proceedings in removal afford no ground for a writ of error. Nelson v. Moloney, 174 U. S. 164, 19 S. Ct. 622, 43 L. ed. 934 [dismissing writ in Moloney v. Nelson, 158 N. Y. 351, 53 N. E. 31 (affirming 12 N. Y. App. Div. 545, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 418, affirming 16 Misc. (N. Y.) 474, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 930)]. See further upon indemnity and liability Conley v. Buck, 100 Ga. 187, 28 S. E. 97.

47. Com. v. Oblender, 135 Pa. St. 536, 19 Atl. 1057, judgment was of the court of quarter sessions.

48 State v. McNinch, 13 S. C. 452.

49. Hill v. State, 27 Tex. 608.

50. State v. Brady, 62 Wis. 129, 22 N. W. 154.

51. Applications of rule.— A recognizance copied into the transcript, but not made part of the record by exceptions or appropriate reference, is not properly before the court. Cantaline v. State, 33 Ala. 439. So the recognizance, indictment, and preliminary affidavit and warrant are not a part of the record, so as to dispense with their identification as evidence offered on the trial. Colquitt v. Solomon, 61 Ga. 492. And briefs on demurrer and motion to quash, coupled with affidavits of the parties incorporated in the record, but not in the bill of exceptions, are no part of the record, and will not be considered. McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625. Again, the record must show non-appearance of defendant warranting a forfeiture, otherwise it is fatally defective. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 48 Pac. 628. But a judgment may be reversed on the ground that the record does not show that the bond was accepted pursuant to the order of a competent judge, although there is no bill of exceptions or assignments of errors, such reversal not being made upon a review of the sufficiency of the evidence. State v. Toups, 44 La. Ann. 896, 11 So. 524. And the appellate court will not assume that the trial court had no recognizance before it from the mere fact that such an instrument copied in full does not appear in the transcript when the record shows that such recognizance was executed and lodged in the office of the clerk of the court below. State v. Riley, 34 Mo. App. 426. Again, error on the ground of variance between the bond and scire facias cannot be predicated, as the bond is not properly a part of the record (Smith v. State, 76 Miss. 728, 25 So. 491), and proceedings of the examining court constituting the basis of the action and read as evidence by the state will not be considered when not incorporated in the bill of exceptions or identified by order of court (Brauner v. Com., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 228).

Co-cognizor — Error cannot be assigned for failure of court to dispose of case as to cocognizors. Mussulman v. People, 15 Ill. 51.

Affirmance and reversal — Record.— There

(iv) Filing Transcript, Briefs, etc. The transcript,[52] assignment of errors,[53] and briefs on appeal must be prepared for submission and filed in accordance with, and at the time specified by, the statute or rules of court.[54]

(v) Objections, Defenses, and Questions Not Raised Below. It is a general rule that the court will not, on appeal, consider for the first time objections, defenses, or questions which should have been raised below.[55]

(vi) Decision. The appellate court has power, on appeal, without remand, to reform an error of judgment as to the amount recoverable[56] or to correct an error of the final judgment which is repugnant to the judgment nisi.[57]

P. Disposition of Proceeds. The existence or non-existence of constitutional or statutory provisions is of primary importance in determining the right to moneys collected upon a forfeited bail-bond or recognizance. Therefore, such moneys have been variously determined to belong to the state;[58] the county;[59] the library fund of the county;[60] and the school fund of the county;[61] and the can be no affirmance of a judgment of forfeiture of bail merely on a certificate taken out by the state in the absence of a transcript of the proceeding in the record. State v. Lowry, 29 Ala. 44. But judgment will be reversed where the forfeiture is upon a bond which mentions no offense for which the accused is answerable and the record fails to show any indictment. State v. Derosier, 14 La. Ann. 736.

52. Hollenbeck v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1899) 51 S. W. 373.

53. Com. v. Hughes, 13 Bush (Ky.) 349.

54. Mayer v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1893) 24 S. W. 408.

55. Illustrations.— That the obligors did not execute the bond should have been pleaded and proved below. Gresham v. State, 48 Ala. 625. So defects in the writ cannot be questioned on appeal. McNamara v. People, 183 Ill. 164, 55 N. E. 625. And the question cannot be first raised on appeal that the record did not show that the indictment was returned into open court by the grand jury (Huggins v. People, 39 Ill. 241), or that there was no order admitting defendant to bail, fixing the amount thereof, or committing him for trial is not available (State v. Herpin, 26 La. Ann. 612). So a variance between the scire facias and recognizance as to the term to answer cannot be reached by writ of error. Ditto v. State, 30 Miss. 126. And verdict "for the amount due on the bond" not excepted to nor made the basis for a motion for new trial is sufficient. Calvin v. State, 12 Ohio St. 60. Nor can the principal urge on appeal that he had no notice of the state's intention to amend judgment nisi and scire facias as to recital. Sims v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1900) 55 S. W. 179. And alleged error in introduction of bond, reciting filing of indictment on erroneous date, is not reviewable. Blain v. State, 34 Tex. Crim. 417, 31 S. W. 366. Nor will it be first considered on appeal that judgment nisi was invalid. Watkins v. State, 16 Tex. App. 646.

Exceptions to rule.— Defendant sued on appearance bond in name of state may urge for first time on appeal that state took nothing by the forfeiture. State v. Desforges, 5 Rob. (La.) 253.

56. Carr v. State, 9 Tex. App. 463.

57. Robinson v. State, 11 Tex. App. 309.

Reversal where defects are amendable.— Where the statute so provides the judgment will not be reversed for any defects or imperfections in matter of form which are amendable by law. Wingate v. Com., 5 Cush. (Mass.) 446.

58. To the state.— Com. v. Shick, 61 Pa. St. 495.

59. To the county.—State v. Miles, 52 Wis. 488, 9 N. W. 403. See also State v. Newson, 8 S. D. 327, 66 N. W. 468; State v. Wettstein, 64 Wis. 234, 25 N. W. 34. Compare Galveston County v. Noble, 56 Tex. 575, to the effect that the funds belong to the county which has borne the burden of keeping prisoner bailed.

The county to which venue is changed is entitled (Rock Island County v. Mercer County, 24 Ill. 35; Decatur County v. Maxwell, 26 Iowa 398) where the judgment is rendered in said county on a recognizance there given (Russell v. State, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 69). And this last statement especially applies where there is no statute requiring payment to the county where the indictment is found (State v. Speice, 24 Nebr. 386, 38 N. W. 837). Again under the code of Iowa, Code (1873), § 3370, the county where the forfeiture occurred after change of venue is entitled to said proceeds. Lucas County v. Wilson, 61 Iowa 141, 16 N. W. 60.

60. To the library fund of the county.— People v. Wayne County, 8 Mich. 392. But the taxable costs should be kept separate, nor should there be any deduction for expenses of collection. People v. Wayne County, 8 Mich. 392.

61. To the school fund of the county.— State v. June, (Kan. 1901) 64 Pac. 983, holding that upon appeal and affirmance of judgment and forfeiture for failure to surrender as ordered to the sheriff of the county in which conviction was had, the forfeiture inures to the benefit of such county and not of another county in which the supreme court was sitting. See also Shelby County v. Simmonds, 33 Iowa 345.

Entry of default does not operate to transfer the money to the school fund, but where the default has been set aside, though at a subsequent term, the forfeiture may be discharged and the money returned (Code (1873), commonwealth or county attorney may be entitled by statute to a specified percentage of judgments on forfeited recognizances,[62] although an informer is entitled to no part of the money received on such forfeiture, as it is not a fine,[63] nor are escheated recognizances within charter provisions of a town covering fines, amercements, forfeited issues, and the like.[64]

BAILABLE. Admitting of bail; allowing or providing for release upon bail.[1]

BAIL-BOND. See BAIL.

BAIL COURT. An auxiliary of the court of queen's bench, which heard and determined ordinary matters and disposed of common motions. It was sometimes called the practice court.[2]

BAILEE. See BAILMENTS.

BAILIFF. An officer concerned in the administration of justice of a certain province;[3] an under or deputy sheriff;[4] a tipstaff;[5] a keeper or protector;[6] a servant who has the administration and charge of lands, goods, and chattels, to make the best benefit for the owner;[7] a person appointed by private persons to collect their rents and manage their estates.[8] (Bailiff: In General, see SHERIFFS AND CONSTABLES. Of Property Levied on — Under Attachment, see ATTACHMENT; Under Execution, see EXECUTIONS. Remedy Against Defendant as Bailiff, see ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.)

BAILIWICK. The district or jurisdiction of a bailiff or sheriff;[9] a county of which the sheriff is bailiff.[10] §§ 4596–8, 4600). Arquette v. Marshall County, 75 Iowa 191, 39 N. W. 264.

Repayment.— Under the constitution and statutes moneys collected upon a forfeited bail-bond after reversal of judgment are not part of the irreducible school fund of the state, and the county is responsible for repayment and the obligation to restore said money is enforceable in an action against said county. Metschan v. Hyde, 36 Oreg. 117, 58 Pac. 80.

62. Percentage to commonwealth's attorney.— Williams v. Shelbourne, 102 Ky. 579, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1924, 44 S. W. 110; Arnsparger v. Norman, 101 Ky. 208, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 381, 40 S. W. 574; Stone v. Riddell, 5 Bush (Ky.) 349; Fultz v. Crofton, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1921, 42 S. W. 841. See State v. Beebee, 87 Iowa 636, 54 N. W. 479.

63. U. S. v. Fanjul, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 117, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,069.

64. Matter of Nottingham, [1897] 2 Q. B. 502, 61 J. P. 725, 66 L. J. Q. B. 833, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 210.

1. Anderson L. Dict.

2. Wharton L. Lex.

3. Coke Litt. 168*b*.

4. Nicholson v. State, 38 Fla. 99, 102, 20 So. 818 [citing 1 Bacon Abr. tit. Bailiff].

5. Anderson L. Dict.

6. Nicholson v. State, 38 Fla. 99, 102, 20 So. 818 [citing 1 Bacon Abr. tit. Bailiff].

7. Coke Litt. 172*a* [quoted in Barnum v. Landon, 25 Conn. 137, 149; Huff v. McDonald, 22 Ga. 131, 161, 68 Am. Dec. 487; Bredin v. Kingland, 4 Watts (Pa.) 420, 422].

8. Elwell v. Burnside, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 447, 453 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

9. Burrill L. Dict.

10. 1 Bl. Comm. 344.

BAILMENTS

By George H. Bates

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:
Agistment, see ANIMALS,
Carriers of Goods, see CARRIERS; SHIPPING.
Commission Merchants, see FACTORS AND BROKERS.
Conditional Sales, see SALES.
Confusion of Goods, see CONFUSION OF GOODS.
Consignments to Factors For Sale, see FACTORS AND BROKERS.
Delivery of Logs For Manufacture, see LOGGING.
Depositaries, see DEPOSITARIES.
Deposits:
For Collateral Security, see PLEDGES.
In Bank, see BANKS AND BANKING.
Embezzlement by Bailee, see EMBEZZLEMENT.
Factors, see FACTORS AND BROKERS.
Finding Lost Goods, see FINDING LOST GOODS.
Hire and Use of Animals, see ANIMALS.
Increase of Hired Animals, see ANIMALS.
Innkeepers, see INNKEEPERS.
Larceny by Bailee, see LARCENY.
Livery-Stable Keepers, see LIVERY-STABLE KEEPERS.
Pawnbrokers, see PAWNBROKERS.
Pledges, see PLEDGES.
Receiptors or Bailees of Attached Property, see ATTACHMENT.
Safe-Deposit Companies, see DEPOSITARIES.
Stake-Holders, see GAMING.
Warehousemen, see WAREHOUSEMEN.
Wharfingers, see WHARVES.

I. TERMINOLOGY.[1]

A. Bailment. A bailment may be defined as a delivery of personalty[2] for

1. Comprehensive character of terms.—The words "bailment," "bailor," and "bailee" are of very large signification, and when employed in a private writing, a verbal contract, or a statute their real meaning can be ascertained only by reference to the subject-matter, and the circumstances attending their employment.

Alabama.— Watson v. State, 70 Ala. 13, 45 Am. Rep. 70.

California.— People v. Poggi, 19 Cal. 600; People v. Cohen, 8 Cal. 42.

Oregon.— State v. Chew Muck You, 20 Oreg. 215, 25 Pac. 355.

Pennsylvania.— Krause v. Com., 93 Pa. St. 418, 39 Am. Rep. 762; Com. v. Chathams, 50 Pa. St. 181, 88 Am. Dec. 539.

England.— Reg. v. Garrett, 8 Cox C. C. 368, 2 F. & F. 14; Reg. v. Hoare, 1 F. & F. 647; Reg. v. Hassall, 8 Cox C. C. 491, 7 Jur. N. S. 1064, L. & C. 58, 30 L. J. M. C. 175, 4 L. T. Rep. N. S. 561, 9 Wkly. Rep. 708; Reg. v. Loose, Bell C. C. 259, 8 Cox C. C. 302, 6 Jur. N. S. 513, 29 L. J. M. C. 132, 2 L. T. Rep. N. S. 254, 8 Wkly. Rep. 422.

The words are derived from the French bailler,— to deliver. 2 Bl. Comm. 451 [cited in Todd v. Figley, 7 Watts (Pa.) 542].

2. It has been said that real property may be bailed where the bailment is in the nature

some particular purpose, or on mere deposit, upon a contract,[3] express or implied, that after the purpose has been fulfilled it shall be redelivered to the person who delivered it, or otherwise dealt with according to his directions, or kept until he reclaims it, as the case may be.[4]

B. Bailor and Bailee. The person who delivers a personal chattel or chattels to another under circumstances coming within the definition of the term bailment is called the bailor, and the person to whom such chattel or chattels have been delivered is called the bailee.[5]

II. CLASSIFICATION.

A. In General. There are several kinds of bailments involving different rights and duties upon the part of the bailor and bailee:[6] (1) the depositum, which is where the thing bailed is delivered by the bailor to the bailee to keep for the use of the former without any recompense; (2) the mandatum, which occurs where the subject of the bailment is to have something done to it by the bailee without recompense; (3) the commodatum, which takes place when the bailee may use or borrow what is bailed without paying for such use or loan; (4) the pignori acceptum or pledge of what is bailed for the mutual benefit of bailor and bailee; of a pignus. Glanville, lib. 10, c. 1, p. 19 [cited in Cortelyou v. Lansing, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 200]. So in the civil law it seems that real property may be the subject of a bailment. Schouler Bailm. § 31.

3. Bailment not always accompanied by contract.— It has been said that a bailment may exist without any contract, and that in the absence of a contract the law imposes duties which the bailee cannot neglect without liability, and which do not depend upon the existence of any contract. State v. Chew Muck You, 20 Oreg. 215, 25 Pac. 355. See also Schouler Bailm. § 9.

4. Burrill L. Dict. See also Knapp, etc., Co. v. McCaffrey, 178 Ill. 107, 52 N. E. 898, 69 Am. St. Rep. 290 [affirming 74 Ill. App. 80]; Phelps v. People, 72 N. Y. 334; State v. Chew Muck You, 20 Oreg. 215, 25 Pac. 355; Krause v. Com., 93 Pa. St. 418, 39 Am. Rep. 762; Trunick v. Smith, 63 Pa. St. 18.

Other definitions are: "A delivery of goods in possession, and is either to keep or employ." Finch Law, bk. 2, c. 18 [quoted in Fletcher v. Ingram, 46 Wis. 191, 202, 50 N. W. 424].

"A delivery of goods, in trust, on a contract, express or implied, that the trust shall be duly executed, and the goods re-delivered as soon as the time or use for which they were bailed shall have elapsed, or be performed." Jones Bailm. 117 [quoted in Baren v. Cain, 15 Ill. App. 387, 388; Krause v. Com., 93 Pa. St. 418, 420, 39 Am. Rep. 762].

"A delivery of goods in trust, upon a contract, express or implied, that the trust shall be executed, and the goods returned by the bailee, as soon as the purposes of the bailment shall be answered." 2 Kent Comm. 559 [quoted in Watson v. State, 70 Ala. 13, 14, 45 Am. Rep. 70; Krause v. Com., 93 Pa. St. 418, 420, 39 Am. Rep. 762; Com. v. Maher, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 425, 33 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 22].

"A delivery of a thing in trust for some special object or purpose, and upon a contract, express or implied, to conform to the object or purpose of the trust." Story Bailm. § 2 [quoted in Watson v. State, 70 Ala. 13, 14, 45 Am. Rep. 70; Krause v. Com., 93 Pa. St. 418, 420, 39 Am. Rep. 762].

"A delivery of goods or property for the execution of a special object, beneficial either to the bailor or bailee, or both; and upon a contract, expressed or implied, to carry out this object, and dispose of the property in conformity with the purpose of the trust." Ga. Code, § 2058 [quoted in Cabaniss v. Ponder, 65 Ga. 134, 138].

See also Bishop Stat. Crimes, § 423 [quoted in State v. Chew Muck You, 20 Oreg. 215, 218, 25 Pac. 355], to the effect that "a bailment takes place where an article of personal property is put into the hands of one for a special purpose, and it is to be returned by the bailee to the bailor or delivered to some third person when the object of the trust is accomplished."

Distinction between definitions.—Although the definitions agree in nearly all essential particulars, they disagree in two or three respects. Some of them assume that no contract is a bailment unless the specific property delivered is to be returned, while others assume that a contract is a bailment, although it does not contemplate a return of such property. Edwards Bailm. § 2 [cited in Krause v. Com., 93 Pa. St. 418, 39 Am. Rep. 762].

History of the law of bailments.— The principles of the English law of bailments are founded upon the civil law, and were first tersely expounded by Holt, C. J., in the leading case of Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354.

5. Anderson L. Dict.; Finch Law, bk. 2, c. 18; Wharton L. Lex.; Phelps v. People, 72 N. Y. 334.

6. Watson v. State, 70 Ala. 13, 45 Am. Rep. 70.

Rights and duties of bailor and bailee see infra, V.

(5) the locatum, or hiring, which is always for a reward.[7] This classification, however, is generally supplanted by a division with reference to compensation, under which bailments are divided into three kinds only: (1) bailments for the benefit of both parties; (2) bailments for the sole benefit of the bailor; (3) bailments for the sole benefit of the bailee.[8]

B. Bailments For Mutual Benefit. Under the head of bailments for the benefit of bailor and bailee are found the pledge,[9] and the locatum or what is denominated generally as a bailment for hire.[10] The latter comprises four distinct classes,[11] viz., the hire of a thing, or locatio rei, by which the hirer gains the temporary use thereof;[12] the hire of services on or about a thing, or locatio operis faciendi, when work and labor or care and pains are to be performed or bestowed on the thing delivered;[13] the hiring of the carriage of things, or locatio

7. Jones Bailm. 36 [cited in Todd v. Figley, 7 Watts (Pa.) 542].

Bailments are divided by Holt, C. J., into six classes, viz., depositum, commodatum, locatio et conductio, pledge, the carriage of or service about goods for reward, and the carriage of or service about them gratis. Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354.

8. Neel v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 408, 26 S. W. 726. See also Schouler Bailm. § 14; Story Bailm. § 140.

9. As to pledges, generally, see PLEDGES.

10. Schouler Bailm. § 14.

Statutory definition of contract for hire.— A contract for hire is one whereby "one person grants to another the enjoyment of a thing, or the use of the labor and industry, either of himself or servant, during a certain time for a stipulated compensation." Ga. Code, § 2085 [quoted in Cabaniss v. Ponder, 65 Ga. 134, 139].

11. Another classification.— Contracts of hiring are of two kinds: (1) where the hirer gains a temporary use of the thing; (2) where something is to be done to the thing delivered. Neel v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 408, 26 S. W. 726.

12. Iowa.— Nye v. Iowa City Alcohol Works, 51 Iowa 129, 50 N. W. 988, 33 Am. Rep. 121.

Massachusetts.— Spafford v. Dodge, 14 Mass. 66.

New Hampshire.— Sanborn v. Colman, 6 N. H. 14, 23 Am. Dec. 703.

New York.— Young v. Leary, 135 N. Y. 569, 32 N. E. 607, 49 N. Y. St. 93; Chamberlain v. Pratt, 33 N. Y. 47; Hyland v. Paul, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 241; Ames v. Belden, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 513; Zule v. Zule, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 76, 35 Am. Dec. 600; Seymour v. Brown, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 44.

North Carolina.— Maxwell v. Houston, 67 N. C. 305.

United States.—Ward v. Thompson, Newb. Adm. 95, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,162.

England.— Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354.

Option to purchase property.—A hiring of personalty for a specific term is not the less a bailment because the hirer has an option to purchase the property before the expiration of the term. Hunt v. Wyman, 100 Mass. 198; Bailey v. Colby, 34 N. H. 29, 66 Am. Dec. 752; Collins v. Bellefonte Cent. R. Co., 171 Pa. St. 243, 33 Atl. 331.

A loan where the lender gains a benefit therefrom as well as the borrower is a bailment of this class. Francis v. Shrader, 67 Ill. 272; Chamberlin v. Cobb, 32 Iowa 161; Neel v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 408, 26 S. W. 726; Carpenter v. Branch, 13 Vt. 161, 37 Am. Dec. 587.

A person holding property for the purpose of exhibition is a party to a bailment of this class. Prince v. Alabama State Fair, 106 Ala. 340, 17 So. 449, 28 L. R. A. 716; Vigo Agricultural Soc. v. Brumfiel, 102 Ind. 146, 1 N. E. 382, 52 Am. Rep. 657; Moeran v. New York Poultry, etc., Assoc., 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 537, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 584. See also Smith v. Minneapolis Library Board, 58 Minn. 108, 59 N. W. 979, 25 L. R. A. 280; Davison v. Association, etc., 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 226.

13. Illinois.— Russell v. Kœhler, 66 Ill. 459; Spangler v. Eicholtz, 25 Ill. 297; Keith v. Bliss, 10 Ill. App. 424.

Indiana.— Cox v. Reynolds, 7 Ind. 257.

Kentucky.— Smith v. Frost, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 375.

Louisiana.— Broussard v. Declouet, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 259.

Massachusetts.— Lincoln v. Gay, 164 Mass. 537, 42 N. E. 95, 49 Am. St. Rep. 480; Judson v. Adams, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 556.

Missouri.— Halyard v. Dechelman, 29 Mo. 459, 77 Am. Dec. 585.

New York.— Seymour v. Brown, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 44.

Pennsylvania.— Zell v. Dunkle, 156 Pa. St. 353, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33, 27 Atl. 38; Gamber v. Wolaver, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 60.

South Carolina.— McCaw v. Kimbrel, 4 McCord (S. C.) 220.

Tennessee.— Kelton v. Taylor, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 264, 47 Am. Rep. 284.

Vermont.— Gleason v. Beers, 59 Vt. 581, 10 Atl. 86, 59 Am. Rep. 757.

The business of telegraphing has been regarded as consisting merely of receiving orders for work and labor and executing them, and the contract between the receiver and the remitter as constituting a bailment of this class. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Fontaine, operis mercium vehendarum, where goods are bailed, for the purpose of being carried from place to place, either to a private person,[14] or to a person exercising a public employment as a carrier;[15] and the hiring of the custody of things or locatio custodiæ.[16]

C. Bailments For Sole Benefit of Bailor. Bailments for the sole benefit of the bailor include the depositum and the mandatum.[17]

D. Bailments For Sole Benefit of Bailee. The gratuitous loan or use of the thing bailed, the commodatum of the older classification, forms the division of bailments for the sole benefit of the bailee.[18] This division, however, is 58 Ga. 433. But see Western Union Tel. Co. v. Blanchard, 68 Ga. 299, 45 Am. Rep. 480. See, generally, TELEGRAPHS AND TELEPHONES.

14. Delaware.— Pennewill v. Cullen, 5 Harr. (Del.) 238.

Georgia.— Self v. Dunn, 42 Ga. 528, 5 Am. Rep. 544; Fish v. Chapman, 2 Ga. 349, 46 Am. Dec. 393.

Minnesota.— St. Paul, etc., R. Co. v. Minneapolis, etc., R. Co., 26 Minn. 243, 2 N. W. 700, 37 Am. Rep. 404.

Missouri.— Holtzclaw v. Duff, 27 Mo. 392.

New Hampshire.— Sheldon v. Robinson, 7 N. H. 157, 26 Am. Dec. 726.

New York.— Stannard v. Prince, 64 N. Y. 300; Baird v. Daly, 57 N. Y. 236, 15 Am. Rep. 488; Allen v. Sackrider, 37 N. Y. 341, 4 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 396; Pike v. Nash, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 610, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 335; Fish v. Clark, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 176; Bush v. Miller, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 481; Brown v. Denison, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 593; Roberts v. Turner, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 232, 7 Am. Dec. 311.

Pennsylvania.— Forsythe v. Walker, 9 Pa. St. 148.

Texas.— Haynie v. Baylor, 18 Tex. 498.

Vermont.— White v. Bascom, 28 Vt. 268.

England.— Nugent v. Smith, 1 C. P. D. 19.

15. Seymour v. Brown, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 44. See, generally, CARRIERS; SHIPPING.

16. Schouler Bailm. § 13.

There is a bailment of this class where property is intrusted for keeping to a safety deposit company (Mayer v. Brensinger, 74 Ill. App. 475. See, generally, DEPOSITARIES), or to an innkeeper by one who is neither guest nor traveler (Healey v. Gray, 68 Me. 489, 28 Am. Rep. 80. See, generally, INNKEEPERS); and of a similar kind where goods are left by a customer in a store (Bunnell v. Stern, 122 N. Y. 539, 25 N. E. 910, 34 N. Y. St. 218, 19 Am. St. Rep. 519, 10 L. R. A. 481 [reversing 14 Daly (N. Y.) 357, 13 N. Y. St. 71]; Osgoodby v. Liemberner, 22 Alb. L. J. 114; Woodruff v. Painter, 150 Pa. St. 91, 24 Atl. 621, 30 Am. St. Rep. 786, 16 L. R. A. 451; McCollin v. Reed, 16 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 287. But see Powers v. O'Neill, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 129, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 1007, 68 N. Y. St. 842), a restaurant (Simpson v. Rourke, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 230, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 11, 67 N. Y. St. 867; Buttman v. Dennett, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 462, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 247, 61 N. Y. St. 89), a barber's shop (Dilberto v. Harris, 95 Ga. 571, 23 S. E. 112. See also Trowbridge v. Schriever, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 11), or a bathing establishment (Tombler v. Koelling, 60 Ark. 62, 28 S. W. 794, 46 Am. St. Rep. 146, 27 L. R. A. 502; Bird v. Everard, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 104, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1008, 53 N. Y. St. 210; Levy v. Appleby, 1 N. Y. City Ct. 252); but the class of bailment under which a restaurateur is liable must be distinguished from the class under which an innkeeper is liable (Carpenter v. Taylor, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 193).

17. Schouler Bailm. § 14.

As to deposits, generally, see DEPOSITARIES.

Distinction between deposit and mandate. —A difference between a deposit and a mandate is that the latter lies in feasance and the former in custody, that is to say, the depositary is charged with keeping property only, and the mandatory with doing something with or about it. Jones Bailm. 53. Another distinction is said to consist in the fact that in a deposit the principal object is the custody of the thing and the service and labor are merely accessory, but that in a mandate the service and labor are the principal object and the thing is merely accessory. Story Bailm. § 140 [cited in Montgomery v. Evans, 8 Ga. 178].

Several kinds of mandate.—A mandate may be for the interest of the person granting it alone; for the joint interest of both parties; for the interest of a third person; for the interest of a third person and that of the party granting it; and for the interest of the mandatory and the third person. La. Civ. Code, art. 2986. See also Inst. Just. Sand. lib. 3, tit. XXVI. Compare Bourg v. Lopez, 36 La. Ann. 439.

Illustrations of mandatum are the carriage of goods without compensation therefor (Goodenow v. Snyder, 3 Greene (Iowa) 599); the gratuitous management of another's business (Richardson v. Futrell, 42 Miss. 525); a gratuitous undertaking to cure a horse (Conner v. Winton, 8 Ind. 315, 65 Am. Dec. 761); and a gratuitous transmission, by draft, of money deposited with the sender by the owner (Eddy v. Livingston, 35 Mo. 487, 88 Am. Dec. 122).

18. Schouler Bailm. § 14.

An illustration of commodatum is the use of another's property on condition that the user takes care of it and keeps it in good order. Booth v. Terrell, 16 Ga. 20; Bennett v. O'Brien, 37 Ill. 250. Contra, Chamberlin v. Cobb, 32 Iowa 161.

Loan for use.— The use of bonds given to a broker, provided that he keeps an equal amount of the same bonds at par as a circulating medium, is not a loan for use, under capable of further subdivision into loans that are for use and those that are for consumption.[19]

III. Nature and Elements of Bailment.

A. Delivery and Acceptance — 1. Delivery — a. Necessity of. In order to constitute a transaction a bailment there must be a delivery to the bailee, either actual[20] or constructive.[21]

b. Sufficiency of. Such a full delivery of the subject-matter must be made to the bailee as will entitle him to exclude for the time of the bailment the possession of the owner, as will make him liable as its sole custodian to the latter in the event of his neglect or fault in discharging his trust with respect to the subject-matter,[22] and as to require a redelivery of it by him to the owner or other person entitled to receive it after the trusts of the bailment have been discharged.[23] Where the delivery can be constructive only, there must be an intention to transfer the possession of the property.[24]

2. Acceptance — a. Necessity of. Since the duties and responsibilities of a bailee cannot be thrust upon a person without his knowledge and against his con-a statute defining a loan for use as the gratuitous grant of an article to another for use to be returned in specie, and at the will of the grantor. Cabaniss v. Ponder, 65 Ga. 134.

19. Jones Bailm. [cited in Seymour v. Brown, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 44].

Mutuum in the civilian classification of contracts seems the equivalent of a loan for consumption. At common law, however, this kind of loan is not regarded as a bailment but as a sale, for the reason that the specific property delivered is not to be returned, but property of a like nature and equal value. Schouler Bailm. § 6. See also Lonergan v. Stewart, 55 Ill. 44; Seymour v. Brown, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 44.

20. Minnesota.— Houghton v. Lynch, 13 Minn. 85.

Missouri.— Sherman v. Commercial Printing Co., 29 Mo. App. 31.

New York.— Samuels v. McDonald, 33 N. Y. Super. Ct. 211.

North Carolina.—Owens v. Kinsey, 52 N. C. 245.

Pennsylvania.— Trunick v. Smith, 63 Pa. St. 18.

Wisconsin.— Crosby v. German, 4 Wis. 373.

There is an actual delivery where the acts of the parties show an intention on the one part to make delivery then and there, and on the other part to accept delivery then and there. Fletcher v. Ingram, 46 Wis. 191, 50 N. W. 424.

Delivery as affecting subsequent purchasers or creditors of bailor.—A bailment without delivery is void as against subsequent bona fide purchasers, and generally as against creditors. On the other hand, a bailment with delivery is valid against purchasers and creditors. Sanders v. Davis, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 432. See also Hamilton v. Wagner, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 331.

21. Trunick v. Smith, 63 Pa. St. 18; Lloyd v. Barden, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 343; Ex p. Fitz, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 519, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,837; Meyerstein v. Barber, L. R. 2 C. P. 38; Reeves v. Capper, 1 Arn. 427, 5 Bing. N. Cas. 136, 2 Jur. 1067, 6 Scott 877, 35 E. C. L. 82.

Delivery of possession is not necessary where the parties have agreed that the possession of the thing bailed should remain with the bailor. Collins' Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 590, 52 Am. Rep. 479. See also Reeves v. Capper, 1 Arn. 427, 5 Bing. N. Cas. 136, 2 Jur. 1067, 6 Scott 877, 35 E. C. L. 82.

Placing meter on premises of consumer.— The placing of a meter in the house of a consumer has been held to constitute neither an actual nor constructive delivery of the meter. Blondell v. Baltimore City Consol. Gas Co., 89 Md. 732, 43 Atl. 817, 46 L. R. A. 187.

22. Fletcher v. Ingram, 46 Wis. 191, 50 N. W. 424.

23. Fletcher v. Ingram, 46 Wis. 191, 50 N. W. 424. See also Samuels v. McDonald, 33 N. Y. Super. Ct. 211.

As to whom redelivery should be made see infra, V, A, 5, b, (IV).

24. Trunick v. Smith, 63 Pa. St. 18, holding that a railroad car having a qualified possession of a railroad track and incapable of being taken elsewhere, unless to a private siding, is not delivered to a railroad company because left on a siding belonging to such company in charge of one of its servants.

A written transfer of the muniments of title of the property bailed is sufficient, because it is a delivery of the means of obtaining possession. Goodenow v. Dunn, 21 Me. 86; Wilson v. Little, 2 N. Y. 443, 51 Am. Dec. 307; Mason v. Lickbarrow, 1 H. Bl. 357.

Goods left in lodging-house.— The mere leaving of goods by a lodger in his room is held not a delivery to the lodging-house keeper. Swann v. Smith, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 114, 3 N. Y. St. 588.

The mere leaving of a cloak on the counter of a store, without bringing the fact to the notice of the storekeeper or his servants, has been held constructive delivery to such storekeeper. Bunnell v. Stern, 122 N. Y. 539, 25 N. E. 910, 34 N. Y. St. 218, 19 Am. St. Rep. 519, 10 L. R. A. 481 [reversing 14 Daly (N. Y.) 357, 13 N. Y. St. 71].

sent, it is essential to a bailment that there be an acceptance of the subject-matter.[25]

b. Sufficiency of. It is not requisite that the acceptance be actual — one that is constructive being sufficient,[26] as where a person comes into actual possession and control of a chattel fortuitously or by mistake,[27] or takes possession of goods left rightfully in a place by their owner and removes them to another place.[28]

B. Subject-Matter — 1. In General. Any kind of personal property may be the subject of bailment unless statutes provide otherwise;[29] and such property need not be corporeal, because a chose in action may be bailed.[30]

2. Existence of Property. Property which is not in existence, or which is to be acquired by a person in the future, is not bailable;[31] that is to say, no con-

25. Alabama.— Bohannon v. Springfield, 9 Ala. 789.

Illinois.— Michigan Cent. R. Co. v. Carrow, 73 Ill. 348, 24 Am. Rep. 248.

Minnesota.— Houghton v. Lynch, 13 Minn. 85.

New Hampshire.— Cory v. Little, 6 N. H. 213, 25 Am. Dec. 458.

New Jersey.— Delaware, etc., R. Co. v. Central Stock-Yard, etc., Co., 45 N. J. Eq. 50, 17 Atl. 146, 6 L. R. A. 855.

New York.— Bunnell v. Stern, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 357, 13 N. Y. St. 71.

Pennsylvania.— Lloyd v. West Branch Bank, 15 Pa. St. 172, 53 Am. Dec. 581.

26. Rodgers v. Stophel, 32 Pa. St. 11, 72 Am. Dec. 775.

Custom of trade.—A purchaser of goods, bought subject to a trade custom for the purchaser to take care of the property in which the goods bought are delivered to him until called for by the seller, constructively accepts the property. Gaff v. O'Neil, 2 Cinc. Super. Ct. 246. See also Westcott v. Thompson, 18 N. Y. 363; Wescott v. Tilton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 53.

No constructive acceptance by servant acting under orders.— The mere taking by an overseer of cotton-seed left by the former occupant on the plantation of the employer of the overseer, and the use of it by his directions, is not a constructive acceptance by such overseer. Bohannon v. Springfield, 9 Ala. 789.

Refusal to accept tender may effect constructive acceptance.— Should there be a refusal to accept a valid tender of chattels, followed by a retention of possession on the part of the person who tendered, the latter thereby becomes a bailee of the property tendered. Fannin v. Thomason, 50 Ga. 614.

27. Massachusetts.— Newhall v. Paige, 10 Gray (Mass.) 366.

Missouri.— T. J. Moss Tie Co. v. Kreilich, 80 Mo. App. 304.

New Hampshire.— Smith v. Nashua, etc., R. Co., 27 N. H. 86, 59 Am. Dec. 364.

New York.— Phelps v. People, 72 N. Y. 334; Morris v. Third Ave. R. Co., 1 Daly (N. Y.) 202.

England.—Armory v. Delamirie, 1 Str. 505, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 631.

Involuntary bailments.—A person is said to become an involuntary bailee when he comes into possession and control of the chattel fortuitously. Story Bailm. §§ 44*a*, 83*a*, 121*a* [cited in Preston v. Neale, 12 Gray (Mass.) 222].

28. Tanner v. Chapman, 75 Ga. 871.

29. Personal property only bailable see supra, I, A.

30. Georgia.— Cabaniss v. Ponder, 65 Ga. 134.

Illinois.— Loomis v. Stave, 72 Ill. 623.

Kentucky.— Pindell v. Grooms, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 501; Sanders v. Davis, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 432.

Maine.— Shaw v. Wilshire, 65 Me. 485.

Massachusetts.— Jarvis v. Rogers, 15 Mass. 389.

Minnesota.—White v. Phelps, 14 Minn. 27, 100 Am. Dec. 190.

New Jersey.— Morris Canal, etc., Co. v. Fisher, 9 N. J. Eq. 667, 64 Am. Dec. 423.

New York.— McNeil v. New York City Tenth Nat. Bank, 46 N. Y. 325, 7 Am. Rep. 341; Wilson v. Little, 2 N. Y. 443, 51 Am. Dec. 307; Smedes v. Utica Bank, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 372; Garlick v. James, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 146, 7 Am. Dec. 294; McLean v. Walker, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 471.

Pennsylvania.— Appleton v. Donaldson, 3 Pa. St. 381.

Wisconsin.— Bowers v. Evans, 71 Wis. 133, 36 N. W. 629.

United States.— Cowdrey v. Vandenburgh, 101 U. S. 572, 25 L. ed. 923; Biebinger v. St. Louis Continental Bank, 99 U. S. 143, 25 L. ed. 271.

England.— Collins v. Martin, 1 B. & P. 648, 2 Esp. 250, 4 Rev. Rep. 752; Mason v. Lickbarrow, 1 H. Bl. 357.

Where chose in action not bailable.—A chose in action arising out of a personal wrong, and not being for the recovery of damages for property illegally taken out of a person's possession or unlawfully withheld from him, cannot be the subject of a bailment. Pindell v. Grooms, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 501.

Land warrants or certificates, located or representing specific land, are not personalty and are not bailable. Mowry v. Wood, 12 Wis. 413 [overruling Ainsworth v. Bowen, 9 Wis. 348]; Whitney v. State Bank, 7 Wis. 620. Unlocated land warrants are and may be bailed. Smith v. Frost, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 375; Stone v. Brown, 54 Tex. 330.

31. Gittings v. Nelson, 86 Ill. 591; Macomber v. Parker, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 497; Smith-tract respecting such property can operate by way of bailment until the property has come into existence,[32] been taken into possession by the bailee,[33] or the title thereto acquired by the bailor.[34] Moreover the continued existence of the thing bailed is implied in a contract of bailment.[35]

C. Sufficiency and Validity of Contract — 1. In General. The principles governing the validity and sufficiency of contracts in general are applicable to bailments:[36] Thus an oral bailment is as valid as one that is written, and is entitled to the same consideration;[37] and the contract must not be made in contravention of a prohibitory statute.[38]

2. Parties to Contract — a. Who May Be Bailee. Any one having contractual capacity[39] may be a bailee, but no persons, with the exception perhaps of innkeepers, common carriers, wharfingers, or warehousemen,[40] can be compelled to be bailees, since a person has the same right to decline becoming a bailee as he has to decline becoming a purchaser.[41]

b. Who May Be Bailor. It is not essential that the bailor should have an absolute title to the subject-matter of the bailment, it being sufficient if he is invested with such possessory interest in the subject-matter as will entitle him to assert his interest against all the world except the rightful owner.[42] urst v. Edmunds, 14 N. J. Eq. 408. See also Story Bailm. § 286.

32. Collins' Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 590, 52 Am. Rep. 479; Smith v. Atkins, 18 Vt. 461.

33. Gittings v. Nelson, 86 Ill. 591.

34. Macomber v. Parker, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 497, holding that property not in existence or to be acquired by a person in the future may be hypothecated but not technically bailed.

An interest in a partnership will be affected in equity by an instrument bailing such interest, notwithstanding that the interest had no existence at the date of the contract of bailment. Collins' Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 590, 52 Am. Rep. 479.

35. Taylor v. Caldwell, 3 B. & S. 826, 32 L. J. Q. B. 164, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 356, 11 Wkly. Rep. 726, 113 E. C. L. 826; Williams v. Lloyd, W. Jones 179. See also Menetone v. Athawes, 3 Burr. 1592.

36. Newhall v. Paige, 10 Gray (Mass.) 366.

Principles of contracts, generally, see Contracts.

37. Sanders v. Davis, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 432. See also Giles v. Bradley, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 253.

Recording or registration.— For the prevention of fraud the statutes in many jurisdictions necessitate the recording of a bailment in the nature of a loan or lease.

Alabama.— Butler v. Jones, 80 Ala. 436, 2 So. 300; Pharis v. Leachman, 20 Ala. 662.

Kentucky.—Penny v. Davis, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 313; Green v. Botts, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 196.

Missouri.— McDermott v. Barnum, 16 Mo. 114; Blount v. Hamey, 43 Mo. App. 644.

South Carolina.— Ludden, etc., Southern Music House v. Dusenbury, 27 S. C. 464, 4 S. E. 60.

Tennessee.— Walker v. Wynne, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 61; Porter v. Armstrong, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 74.

Virginia.— Gay v. Moseley, 2 Munf. (Va.) 543.

38. Stewart v. Davis, 31 Ark. 518, 25 Am. Rep. 576; Gregg v. Wyman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 322; Logan v. Mathews, 6 Pa. St. 417; Berrill v. Smith, 2 Miles (Pa.) 402; Whelden v. Chappel, 8 R. I. 230.

Contracts of hiring made on Sunday see Sunday.

39. As to capacity to contract see Husband and Wife; Infants; Insane Persons.

40. As to the duty of accepting a bailment thrown upon persons exercising a public employment see Carriers; Innkeepers; Post-Office; Telegraphs and Telephones; Warehousemen.

41. King v. Richards, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 418, 37 Am. Dec. 420.

Refusal of acceptance.—Where property is consigned to a person as a bailee with specific directions as to its disposal the consignee may refuse to accept the consignment. Kansas Elevator Co. v. Harris, 6 Kan. App. 89, 49 Pac. 674.

As to acceptance see supra, III, A, 2.

42. Alabama.— Lowremore v. Berry, 19 Ala. 130, 54 Am. Dec. 188.

Delaware.— Hargardine v. Ford, 5 Houst. (Del.) 380; Clark v. Malony, 3 Harr. (Del.) 68.

Maryland.—Harker v. Dement, 9 Gill (Md.) 7, 52 Am. Dec. 670.

Massachusetts.— Learned v. Bryant, 13 Mass. 224; Caldwell v. Eaton, 5 Mass. 399.

New Hampshire.— Holt v. Burbank, 47 N. H. 164; Hyde v. Noble, 13 N. H. 494, 38 Am. Dec. 508.

New York.— McLaughlin v. Waite, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 670; Smith v. James, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 328; Dillenback v. Jerome, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 294.

Pennsylvania.— Tatum v. Sharpless, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 18, 22 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 244.

Vermont.— Brown v. Gleed, 33 Vt. 147; Pettes v. Marsh, 15 Vt. 454, 40 Am. Dec. 689.

Virginia.—Tancil v. Seaton, 28 Gratt. (Va.) 601, 26 Am. Rep. 380.

England.— Burton v. Hughes, 2 Bing. 173, 9 E. C. L. 533; Taylor v. Plumer, 3 M. & S. 562, 2 Rose 457, 16 Rev. Rep. 361; Armory v. Delamirie, 1 Str. 505, 1 Smith Lead. Cas.

3. Express Contract Not Necessary. An express contract is not necessary — many well-recognized cases of bailment being founded on implied contract.[43] No bailment, however, can be implied when the relation of the parties to one another does not justify the presumption that a bailment was intended.[44]

4. Consideration. All bailments, whether with or without compensation to the bailee, are contracts founded on a sufficient consideration.[45] To constitute a sufficient consideration, it is not necessary that the bailee should derive some benefit from the bailment,[46] it being sufficient if the bailor on the faith of the bailee's undertaking parts with some present right, delays the present use of some right, suffers some immediate prejudice or detriment, or does some act at the bailee's request.[47]

631; Bridges v. Hawkesworth, 15 Jur. 1079, 21 L. J. Q. B. 75, 7 Eng. L. & Eq. 424.

Applicability of rule to choses in action.— It has been held that a person not entitled to a chose in action cannot make it the subject of a bailment. McLaughlin v. Waite, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 670. Contra, Tancil v. Seaton, 28 Gratt. (Va.) 601, 26 Am. Rep. 380.

When nothing is said about the title it does not matter whether the bailor owns, or only has possession of, the subject-matter of the bailment. Andrews v. Keith, 168 Mass. 558, 47 N. E. 423.

Necessity of evidence of title.— To constitute the relation of bailor and bailee there must be some evidence of title in the bailor. Tome v. Parkersburg Branch R. Co., 39 Md. 36, 17 Am. Rep. 540.

Bailee cannot be in better situation than bailor.— Where the bailor has no title the bailee can have none, for the bailor can give no better than he has. Western Transp. Co. v. Barber, 56 N. Y. 544; Robinson v. Hodgson, 73 Pa. St. 202; Hentz v. The Steamship Idaho, 93 U. S. 575, 23 L. ed. 978; Wilson v. Anderton, 1 B. & Ad. 450, 9 L. J. K. B. O. S. 48, 20 E. C. L. 555 [cited in King v. Richards, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 418, 37 Am. Dec. 420].

43. Alabama.— Bohannon v. Springfield, 9 Ala. 787.

Colorado.— Wilson v. People, 19 Colo. 199, 34 Pac. 944, 41 Am. St. Rep. 243, 22 L. R. A. 449.

Maryland.— Moore v. State, 47 Md. 467, 28 Am. Rep. 483.

Massachusetts.— Blake v. Kimball, 106 Mass. 115; Briggs v. Dearborn, 99 Mass. 50.

Missouri.—State v. Fitzpatrick, 64 Mo. 185.

New Hampshire.—Stone v. Sleeper, 59 N. H. 205; Cross v. Brown, 41 N. H. 283.

New Jersey.— Mott v. Pettit, 1 N. J. L. 344.

New York.— Phelps v. People, 72 N. Y. 334; Witowski v. Brennan, 41 N. Y. Super. Ct. 284; Browning v. Hanford, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 588, 40 Am. Dec. 369.

Ohio.— Peabody v. State, 4 Ohio St. 387; Bassett v. Baker, Wright (Ohio) 337.

Pennsylvania.— Aurentz v. Porter, 56 Pa. St. 115.

Vermont.— Briggs v. Taylor, 28 Vt. 180.

United States.— Burke v. Trevitt, 1 Mason (U. S.) 96, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,163.

Implied contracts of bailment exist where property is left temporarily in a store (Bunnell v. Stern, 122 N. Y. 539, 25 N. E. 910, 34 N. Y. St. 218, 19 Am. St. Rep. 519, 10 L. R. A. 481 [reversing 14 Daly (N. Y.) 357, 13 N. Y. St. 71]; Osgoodby v. Liemberner, 22 Alb. L. J. 114; Woodruff v. Painter, 150 Pa. St. 91, 24 Atl. 621, 30 Am. St. Rep. 786, 16 L. R. A. 451; McCollin v. Reed, 16 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 287), barber's shop (Dilberto v. Harris, 95 Ga. 571, 23 S. E. 112), restaurant (Carpenter v. Taylor, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 193; Simpson v. Rourke, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 230, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 11, 67 N. Y. St. 867; Buttman v. Dennett, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 462, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 247, 61 N. Y. St. 89), bathhouse establishment (Tombler v. Koelling, 60 Ark. 62, 28 S. W. 794, 46 Am. St. Rep. 146, 27 L. R. A. 502; Bird v. Everard, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 104, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1008, 53 N. Y. St. 210; Levy v. Appleby, 1 N. Y. City Ct. 252), or skating-rink (Donlin v. McQuade, 61 Mich. 275, 28 N. W. 114).

44. Thus the relationship of master and servant will not warrant the presumption of a bailment with respect to work intrusted to the servant as such. Com. v. Doane, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 5; Fletcher v. Ingram, 46 Wis. 191, 50 N. W. 424. So where a sovereign power requires the inspection of merchandise in its warehouses, no bailment can be implied between such power and the individual to whom the merchandise belongs (Moore v. State, 47 Md. 467, 28 Am. Rep. 483), and no new bailment can be implied where a hirer refuses to redeliver the thing bailed at the expiration of his term (Chamberlain v. Pratt, 33 N. Y. 47; Zule v. Zule, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 76, 35 Am. Dec. 600).

45. McCauley v. Davidson, 10 Minn. 418.

Contingent benefit.— The adequacy of the consideration must be determined by the parties themselves, they being the sole judges of the benefits or advantages to be derived from the contract. Hence a contingent benefit which may inure to the bailee is sufficient. Newhall v. Paige, 10 Gray (Mass.) 366.

46. Durnford v. Patterson, 7 Mart. (La.) 460; McCauley v. Davidson, 10 Minn. 418; Funkhouser v. Ingles, 17 Mo. App. 232.

47. Connecticut.— Clark v. Gaylord, 24 Conn. 484.

Iowa.— Chamberlin v. Cobb, 32 Iowa 161.

Minnesota.— McCauley v. Davidson, 10 Minn. 418.

Missouri.— Funkhouser v. Ingles, 17 Mo. App. 232.

New Hampshire.— Benden v. Manning, 2 N. H. 289.

5. Return of Property. It is essential that the parties to the contract should have intended a return of the specific thing bailed,[48] even if in an altered form,[49] or its delivery to some third person, with the express or implied consent of the bailor.[50] Where there is no intention that the specific articles should be returned or delivered to another the transaction becomes either a sale,[51] a mortgage,[52] a gift,[53] or an exchange.[54]

New York.— Lyons First Nat. Bank v. Ocean Nat. Bank, 60 N. Y. 278, 19 Am. Rep. 181.

Ohio.—Young v. Noble, 2 Disn. (Ohio) 485.

Wisconsin.— Magdeburg v. Uihlein, 53 Wis. 165, 10 N. W. 363.

48. Bohannon v. Springfield, 9 Ala. 789; Coleman v. Lipscomb, 18 Mo. App. 443; Foster v. Pettibone, 7 N. Y. 433, Seld. Notes (N. Y.) 36, 57 Am. Dec. 530; Mallory v. Willis, 4 N. Y. 76; Arent v. Squire, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 347; Collier v. Poe, 16 N. C. 55.

Intention of bailor not material.— An express promise to redeliver goods when called for creates a bailment, although the promisee may intend never to call for a redelivery. Smith v. Jones, 8 Ark. 109; Selleck v. Selleck, 107 Ill. 389. See also Gunn v. Mason, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 637.

Bailment or partnership.—Where animals are delivered to be taken care of for a certain time, and at the expiration of such time the same number of animals is to be returned, and any increase is to be enjoyed by both parties, there is a bailment and not a partnership. Robinson v. Haas, 40 Cal. 474. See also Ward v. Thompson, Newb. Adm. 95, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,162, where a charterer who, after paying the expenses of running the boat out of the earnings, was to divide what was left with the boat's owner was regarded as a bailee prior to the payment of the expenses and the striking of a balance.

49. Indiana.— Ashby v. West, 3 Ind. 170.

Maine.— Barker v. Roberts, 8 Me. 101.

Massachusetts.— Mansfield v. Converse, 8 Allen (Mass.) 182; Judson v. Adams, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 556.

New York.— Sattler v. Hallock, 160 N. Y. 291, 54 N. E. 667, 73 Am. St. Rep. 686, 46 L. R. A. 679; Mack v. Snell, 140 N. Y. 193, 35 N. E. 493, 55 N. Y. St. 576, 37 Am. St. Rep. 534; Foster v. Pettibone, 7 N. Y. 433, Seld. Notes (N. Y.) 36, 57 Am. Dec. 530; Mallory v. Willis, 4 N. Y. 76.

Pennsylvania.— Bretz v. Diehl, 117 Pa. St. 589, 11 Atl. 893, 2 Am. St. Rep. 706.

Canada.— In re Williams, 31 U. C. Q. B. 143.

Change immaterial when thing capable of ascertainment.— It makes no difference in reason or law into what other form different from the original the change may have been made; for the product of or substitute for the original thing still follows the nature of the thing itself, as long as it can be ascertained to be such; and the right only ceases when the means of ascertainment fail, which is the case when the subject is turned into money and mixed and confounded in a general mass of the same description. Taylor v. Plumer, 3 M. & S. 562, 2 Rose 457, 16 Rev. Rep. 361. See also Scott v. Surman, Willes 400; Whitecomb v. Jacob, 1 Salk. 160.

50. Harris v. Coe, 71 Conn. 157, 41 Atl. 552; Wier Plow Co. v. Porter, 82 Mo. 23.

Contract intending title not to pass.— Where it appears by the contract that it is the bona fide intention of the parties that the title to goods shall not pass, but that the receiver shall sell them for the person who delivers, the transaction is a bailment and not a sale. Harris v. Coe, 71 Conn. 157, 41 Atl. 552.

51. Lyon v. Lenon, 106 Ind. 567, 7 N. E. 311; Mallory v. Willis, 4 N. Y. 76; Norton v. Woodruff, 2 N. Y. 153; Chase v. Washburn, 1 Ohio St. 244, 59 Am. Dec. 623; Bretz v. Diehl, 117 Pa. St. 589, 11 Atl. 893, 2 Am. St. Rep. 706.

As to the distinction between bailment and sale see Sales.

Effect of sale upon illegal consideration.— Where property is delivered upon sale the fact that the sale is void, because made upon an illegal consideration, will not constitute the purchaser a bailee of the property delivered. Green v. Hollingsworth, 5 Dana (Ky.) 173, 30 Am. Dec. 680.

52. Distinction between bailment and mortgage.—A radical distinction between a bailment and a mortgage is that by a mortgage the general title is transferred to the mortgagee, subject to be revested by performance of the condition; but in case of a bailment the bailor retains the general title in himself, and parts with the possession for a special purpose. Walker v. Staples, 5 Allen (Mass.) 34. See also White v. Phelps, 14 Minn. 27, 100 Am. Dec. 190; Garlick v. James, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 146, 7 Am. Dec. 294; Collins' Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 590, 52 Am. Rep. 479. See, generally, Mortgages.

53. Stump v. Roberts, 3 Cooke (Tenn.) 350. See, generally, Gifts.

Presumption arising from permissive possession of property.—A person acquiring possession of personal property by permission of the owner will be presumed to hold as a bailee and not as a donee. Matter of Rathgeb, 125 Cal. 302, 57 Pac. 1010.

54. King v. Fuller, 3 Cai. (N. Y.) 152, holding that an agreement by which one party is to let the other have a horse, in consideration that the other party will let him have another, creates an exchange, not a bailment. See also Austin v. Seligman, 21 Blatchf. (U. S.) 506, 18 Fed. 519, where jeweler's sweepings delivered under an option to return either the product or its equivalent in value was held either an exchange or sale. See, generally, Exchange of Property.

IV. TITLE AND RIGHT OF PROPERTY.

A. In General — 1. Of Bailor. After the creation of a bailment the bailor retains a general title to, or property in, the subject-matter of the bailment,[55] which is not affected in any way by unauthorized acts of the bailee[56] or, in general, by his mere possession as bailee of the subject-matter for any length of time;[57] but acts of ownership inconsistent with the rights of the bailee may, if

55. Alabama.— Montgomery Gas-Light Co. v. Montgomery, etc., R. Co., 86 Ala. 372, 5 So. 735.

Maine.— Morse v. Androscoggin R. Co., 39 Me. 285.

Massachusetts.— Adams v. O'Connor, 100 Mass. 515, 1 Am. Rep. 137; Eaton v. Lynde, 15 Mass. 242.

Minnesota.—Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114; White v. Phelps, 14 Minn. 27, 100 Am. Dec. 190.

North Carolina.— Hopper v. Miller, 76 N. C. 402.

Nature of general property.— The general property which a bailor is said usually to retain is no more than a legal right to the restoration of the thing bailed, on the termination of bailment. Wilson v. Little, 2 N. Y. 443, 51 Am. Dec. 307.

Declarations affecting bailor's title.—A bailor's declarations that the bailee was the owner of the bailed property may estop the bailor to assert his title. Hunt v. Moultrie, 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 531; McMahon v. Sloan, 12 Pa. St. 229, 51 Am. Dec. 601.

56. Alabama.— Medlin v. Wilkerson, 81 Ala. 147, 1 So. 37; Sumner v. Woods, 67 Ala. 139, 42 Am. Rep. 104; Fairbanks v. Eureka Co., 67 Ala. 109; McCall v. Powell, 64 Ala. 254; Calhoun v. Thompson, 56 Ala. 166, 28 Am. Rep. 754.

Arkansas.— Smith v. Jones, 8 Ark. 109.

California.— Kohler v. Hayes, 41 Cal. 455.

Connecticut.— Hart v. Carpenter, 24 Conn. 427.

Georgia.— Richardson v. Smith, 33 Ga. Suppl. 95.

Indiana.— Schindler v. Westover, 99 Ind. 395; Wolf v. Esteb, 7 Ind. 448; Ingersoll v. Emmerson, 1 Ind. 76; Leffler v. Watson, 13 Ind. App. 176, 40 N. E. 1107, 41 N. E. 467.

Iowa.— Baehr v. Clark, 83 Iowa 313, 49 N. W. 840, 13 L. R. A. 717.

Kentucky.— Vaughn v. Hopson, 10 Bush (Ky.) 337; Chism v. Woods, 3 Hard. (Ky.) 531, 3 Am. Dec. 740.

Louisiana.— Russell v. Favier, 18 La. 585, 36 Am. Dec. 662; Barfield v. Hewlett, 4 La. 118.

Massachusetts.—Benner v. Puffer, 114 Mass. 376; Zuchtmann v. Roberts, 109 Mass. 53, 12 Am. Rep. 663; Sargent v. Metcalf, 5 Gray (Mass.) 306, 66 Am. Dec. 368; Coggill v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 3 Gray (Mass.) 545.

Michigan.— Dunlap v. Gleason, 16 Mich. 158, 93 Am. Dec. 231.

Missouri.— Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581; Moore v. Simms, 47 Mo. App. 182; Hendricks v. Evans, 46 Mo. App. 313.

New Hampshire.— Stone v. Sleeper, 62 N. H. 3; Luther v. Cote, 61 N. H. 129; Weeks v. Pike, 60 N. H. 447; King v. Bates, 57 N. H. 446; Fisk v. Ewen, 46 N. H. 173; Phelps v. Gilchrist, 30 N. H. 171; Sargent v. Gile, 8 N. H. 325.

New York.— Austin v. Dye, 46 N. Y. 500; Ballard v. Burgett, 40 N. Y. 314; Boyce v. Brockway, 31 N. Y. 490; Dows v. Perrin, 16 N. Y. 325; Brower v. Peabody, 13 N. Y. 121; Cobb v. Dows, 10 N. Y. 335; Spaulding v. Brewster, 50 Barb. (N. Y.) 142; Dudley v. Hawley, 40 Barb. (N. Y.) 397; Cook v. Beal, 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 497; Covill v. Hill, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 323; Connah v. Hale, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 462; Hoffman v. Carow, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 285; Saltus v. Everett, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 267, 32 Am. Dec. 541; Everett v. Coffin, 6 Wend. (N. Y). 603, 22 Am. Dec. 551; Murray v. Burling, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 172.

Pennsylvania.— Davis v. Bigler, 62 Pa. St. 242, 1 Am. Rep. 393; Agnew v. Johnson, 22 Pa. St. 471, 62 Am. Dec. 303.

South Carolina.— Carmichael v. Buck, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 451.

Vermont.— Dunham v. Lee, 24 Vt. 432.

United States.— Stump v. Roberts, Brunn. Col. Cas. (U. S.) 224, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,561, Cooke (Tenn.) 350.

England.— Peer v. Humphrey, 2 A. & E. 495, 1 Hurl. & W. 28, 4 L. J. K. B. 100, 4 N. & M. 430, 29 E. C. L. 236; Whistler v. Forster, 14 C. B. N. S. 248, 32 L. J. C. P. 161, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 317, 11 Wkly. Rep. 648, 108 E. C. L. 248; Loeschman v. Machin, 2 Stark. 311, 20 Rev. Rep. 687, 3 E. C. L. 423.

57. Callis v. Tolson, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 80; Green v. Harris, 25 N. C. 210; Darden v. Allen, 12 N. C. 466; Walker v. Wynne, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 61.

Possession of bailee does not exclude that of bailor.—The bailor's title and right to the property is not excluded by the possession of the bailee. Sallee v. Arnold, 32 Mo. 532, 82 Am. Dec. 144; Faulkner v. Brown, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 63.

Bailee cannot acquire title through fraud. — A tortious seizure and sale of the property by a third person and a purchase by the bailee from such person will not assist the bailee to a title adverse to that of the bailor. Enos v. Cole, 53 Wis. 235, 10 N. W. 377. See also Knight v. Bell, 22 Ala. 198.

Where there is more than one bailor.—A bailee's possession of property bailed to him by two opposing claimants of the property will not assist either bailor to oust the title of the other. Hamlin v. Alston, 19 N. C. 269.

brought to the knowledge of the bailor, both affect his title and bar any right of action with respect to the property.[58]

2. Of Bailee. The bailee has, by virtue of the bailment and until its termination, a special property or possessory interest in the subject-matter[59] which entitles him, whatever be the class of the bailment, to avail himself of any legal means to defend it against any person who may interfere with his accomplishing the purposes of the bailment.[60]

58. Lucas v. Daniels, 34 Ala. 188; Knight v. Bell, 22 Ala. 198; Callis v. Tolson, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 80; McMahon v. Sloan, 12 Pa. St. 229, 51 Am. Dec. 601.

Necessity of open and adverse claim.— Proof of some open, notorious, or unequivocal act evincing an intention to hold adversely to the bailor which is brought to the knowledge of the latter is requisite to affect his title, or bar his right of action.

Alabama.— Lucas v. Daniels, 34 Ala. 188; Knight v. Bell, 22 Ala. 198.

California.— Matter of Rathgeb, 125 Cal. 302, 57 Pac. 1010.

Mississippi.— Hall v. Dickey, 32 Miss. 208.

North Carolina.—Darden v. Allen, 12 N. C. 466.

Pennsylvania.— McMahon v. Sloan, 12 Pa. St. 229, 51 Am. Dec. 601.

Unauthorized sale an assertion of adverse claim.— An unauthorized sale by the bailee is a sufficient assertion of title adverse to the bailor. Crump v. Mitchell, 34 Miss. 449; Hall v. Dickey, 32 Miss. 208. So the bailee's offer to sell the bailed property as his own, where brought to the notice of the bailor, is a sufficient claim of adverse title. Echols v. Barrett, 6 Ga. 443.

A naked declaration by the bailee that he claims the property without change of possession, or demand or desire on the part of the bailor to resume the property, is not sufficient as an adverse claim. Green v. Harris, 25 N. C. 210.

59. Alabama.— Montgomery Gas-Light Co. v. Montgomery, etc., R. Co., 86 Ala. 372, 5 So. 735.

Louisiana.— Hardy v. Lemons, 36 La. Ann. 146.

Maine.— Morse v. Androscoggin R. Co., 39 Me. 285.

Massachusetts.— Adams v. O'Connor, 100 Mass. 515, 1 Am. Rep. 137; Eaton v. Lyndè, 15 Mass. 242.

Minnesota.— Engel v. Scott, etc., Lumber Co., 60 Minn. 39, 61 N. W. 825; Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114; White v. Phelps, 14 Minn. 27, 100 Am. Dec. 190.

North Carolina.—Hopper v. Miller, 76 N. C. 402.

Interest of bailee where bailment is gratuitous.— Some authorities hold that where the bailment is not for mutual benefit the bailee has only a custody of, and not a property in, the subject-matter of the bailment. Com. v. Morse, 14 Mass. 217; Warren v. Leland, 9 Mass. 265; Ludden v. Leavitt, 9 Mass. 104, 6 Am. Dec. 45; Waterman v. Robinson, 5 Mass. 303; Norton v. People, 8 Cow. (N. Y.) 137; Dillenback v. Jerome, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 294; Sibley v. Story, 8 Vt. 15; Hartop v. Hoare, 3 Atk. 44, 2 Str. 1187, 1 Wils. C. P. 8; Holliday v. Camsell, 1 T. R. 658.

As to the interest of receiptors for property taken under process who may be looked upon as subbailees see Attachments; Executions.

Special property transient and qualified.— A transient, qualified property in what is the subject of the bailment is all that passes to the bailee. Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565.

Possessory interest is the expression used by Blackstone respecting a bailee's right in the subject-matter of a bailment. 2 Bl. Comm. 452 [cited in Thayer v. Hutchinson, 13 Vt. 504, 37 Am. Dec. 607].

Bailee a mere trustee.—A bailee's property in the subject of a bailment is limited to a mere trust. Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581.

Termination of special property right.— Where work has to be performed upon a thing delivered, the special property right of the bailee terminates when he ceases to have possession, or any right to possession, of it. Morse v. Androscoggin R. Co., 39 Me. 285.

Where term of bailment is indefinite.—A bailee for an indefinite term has a right of possession until a redelivery is demanded. Smith v. Jones, 8 Ark. 109.

60. Alabama.— Montgomery Gas-Light Co. v. Montgomery, etc., R. Co., 86 Ala. 372, 5 So. 735; Cox v. Easley, 11 Ala. 362.

Connecticut.—Burrows v. Stoddard, 3 Conn. 160.

Delaware.—Clark v. Maloney, 3 Harr. (Del.) 68.

Maine.— Morse v. Androscoggin R. Co., 39 Me. 285; Moran v. Portland Steam Packet Co., 35 Me. 55.

Massachusetts.— Harrington v. King, 121 Mass. 269; Shaw v. Kaler, 106 Mass. 448; Eaton v. Lynde, 15 Mass. 242; Burke v. Savage, 13 Allen (Mass.) 408.

Minnesota.—Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114.

Missouri.— Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581.

New Hampshire.— Odiorne v. Colley, 2 N. H. 66, 9 Am. Dec. 39; Poole v. Symonds, 1 N. H. 289, 8 Am. Dec. 71.

New York.— Bliss v. Schaub, 48 Barb. (N. Y.) 339; Hendricks v. Decker, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 298; Rogers v. Arnold, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 30.

North Carolina.— Hopper v. Miller, 76 N. C. 402.

Pennsylvania.— Harris v. Smith, 3 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 20; Tatum v. Sharpless, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 18, 22 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 244.

B. Estoppel of Bailee — 1. In General. It has been stated broadly and without any qualifications, that a bailee may not, in any case, dispute or deny the title of the bailor.[61] The reasons given for such a doctrine are, however, by no means satisfactory,[62] and the rule must be accepted with many qualifications.[63] The generally accepted rule is that the bailee may not, for his own benefit, deny the title of the bailor or avail himself of the title of a third person although that person be the true owner,[64] nor may he do so in any case where he has not yielded the reclamation of possession by the true owner. Hentz v. The Steamship Idaho, 93 U. S. 575, 23 L. ed. 978.

Tennessee.— Carson v. Prater, 6 Coldw. (Tenn.) 565.

Vermont.— White v. Bascom, 28 Vt. 268; Thayer v. Hutchinson, 13 Vt. 504, 37 Am. Dec. 607; Burdict v. Murray, 3 Vt. 302, 21 Am. Dec. 588.

Virginia.—Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565.

United States.— Knight v. Davis Carriage Co., 71 Fed. 662, 30 U. S. App. 664, 18 C. C. A. 287; Gibbs v. U. S., 14 Ct. Cl. 544.

England.— Giles v. Grover, 9 Bing. 128, 23 E. C. L. 515, 6 Bligh N. S. 277, 5 Eng. Reprint 598, 1 Cl. & F. 72, 6 Eng. Reprint 843, 2 Moore & S. 197; Bridges v. Hawkesworth, 15 Jur. 1079, 21 L. J. Q. B. 75, 7 Eng. L. & Eq. 424; Sutton v. Buck, 2 Taunt. 302, 11 Rev. Rep. 585, 587; Roberts v. Wyatt, 2 Taunt. 268, 11 Rev. Rep. 566; Holliday v. Camsell, 1 T. R. 658.

Where bailor hinders accomplishment.— In cases where the bailment is for a time certain, or for a specific purpose, the bailor is answerable to the bailee for removing the property before the time has expired, or the purpose is accomplished. McConnell v. Maxwell, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 419, 26 Am. Dec. 428; Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581; Neafie v. Patterson, 42 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 395; Burdict v. Murray, 3 Vt. 302, 21 Am. Dec. 588.

Remedies available to bailee against third persons see infra, VI, B, 1, b.

61. Fitzherbert Nat. Brev. tit. Writ of Detinue, M; Rolle Abr. tit. Detinue. See also Miles v. Cattle, 6 Bing. 743, 8 L. J. C. P. O. S. 271, 4 M. & P. 630, 31 Rev. Rep. 532, 19 E. C. L. 333.

Legal representatives of a bailee stand in his position as to estoppel. Maxwell v. Houston, 67 N. C. 305.

62. King v. Richards, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 418, 37 Am. Dec. 420; Hentz v. The Steamship Idaho, 93 U. S. 575, 23 L. ed. 978.

Reason of doctrine.— In Bacon Abr. tit. Bailment, A, the reason assigned is that by accepting the bailment the bailee has estopped himself against questioning the right of his bailor. Undoubtedly the contract raises a strong presumption that the bailor is entitled, but it is not true that thereby the bailee conclusively admits the right. His contract is to do with the property committed to him, what his principal has directed — to restore it or to account for it. And he does account for it when he has yielded to the claim of one who has right paramount to that of the bailor. If there be any estoppel it ceases when the bailment on which it is founded is determined by what is equivalent to an eviction by title paramount, that is by

63. Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79.

64. Arkansas.— Estes v. Boothe, 20 Ark. 583.

California.— Wetherly v. Straus, 93 Cal. 283, 28 Pac. 1045; Dodge v. Meyer, 61 Cal. 405.

District of Columbia.— Moses v. Taylor, 6 Mackey (D. C.) 255.

Illinois.— Simpson v. Wrenn, 50 Ill. 222, 99 Am. Dec. 511.

Iowa.— Reed v. Reed, 13 Iowa 5.

Kansas.— Thompson v. Williams, 30 Kan. 114, 1 Pac. 47.

Kentucky.— Stephens v. Vaughan, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 206, 20 Am. Dec. 216.

Maine.— Roberts v. Noyes, 76 Me. 590.

Maryland.— Casey v. Suter, 36 Md. 1.

Massachusetts.— Osgood v. Nichols, 5 Gray (Mass.) 420.

Michigan.— Sinclair v. Murphy, 14 Mich. 392.

Missouri.— Pulliam v. Burlingame, 81 Mo. 111, 51 Am. Rep. 229; Sherwood v. Neal, 41 Mo. App. 416; Dougherty v. Chapman, 29 Mo. App. 233; Cole v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 21 Mo. App. 443; Swallow v. Duncan, 18 Mo. App. 622.

New Jersey.— Mount v. Hendricks, 5 N. J. L. 864, 8 Am. Dec. 623; Hampton v. Swisher, 4 N. J. L. 74.

New York.— Mullins v. Chickering, 110 N. Y. 513, 18 N. E. 377, 18 N. Y. St. 606, 1 L. R. A. 463; Wheeler v. Lawson, 103 N. Y. 40, 8 N. E. 360; Schrauth v. Dry Dock Sav. Bank, 86 N. Y. 390; Western Transp. Co. v. Barber, 56 N. Y. 544; Hayes v. Kedzie, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 577; Gerber v. Monie, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 652; Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 188 [affirmed in 36 N. Y. 403, 2 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 179]; Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79; Barnard v. Kobbe, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 35, 373 [affirmed in 54 N. Y. 516]; Gruel v. Yetter, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 494, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 373 [affirming 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 851, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 443]; Leoncini v. Post, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 825, 37 N. Y. St. 255; Vosburgh v. Huntington, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 254; Holbrook v. Wight, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 169, 35 Am. Dec. 607; Marvin v. Ellwood, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 365.

North Carolina.— Lain v. Gaither, 72 N. C. 234; Maxwell v. Houston, 67 N. C. 305; Burnett v. Fulton, 48 N. C. 486; Craig v. Miller, 34 N. C. 375.

Pennsylvania.— McCafferty v. Brady, (Pa. 1887) 9 Atl. 37.

South Carolina.— Manning v. Norwood, 2 Mill Const. (S. C.) 374.

to a paramount title in another,[65] the position of the bailee being precisely the same, whether his bailor was honestly mistaken as to the rights of the third person whose title is set up, or fraudulently acting in derogation of them.[66]

2. When Property Is Taken by Process of Law. The bailee may deny the title of the bailor when the property has been taken from him by due process of law.[67]

3. When Property Is Delivered to One Having Paramount Title. A bailee

Texas.— Moore v. Aldrich, 25 Tex. Suppl. 276.

Vermont.— Burton v. Wilkinson, 18 Vt. 186, 46 Am. Dec. 145.

West Virginia.—Kelly v. Patchell, 5 W. Va. 585.

Wisconsin.— Nudd v. Montanye, 38 Wis. 511, 20 Am. Rep. 25.

United States.— Hentz v. The Steamship Idaho, 93 U. S. 575, 23 L. ed. 978; McCullough v. Roots, 19 How. (U. S.) 349, 15 L. ed. 681.

England.— Wilson v. Anderton, 1 B. & Ad. 450, 9 L. J. K. B. 48, 20 E. C. L. 555; Holl v. Griffin, 10 Bing. 246, 3 L. J. C. P. 17, 3 Moore & S. 732, 25 E. C. L. 121; Gosling v. Birnie, 7 Bing. 339, 9 L. J. C. P. 105, 5 M. & P. 160, 20 E. C. L. 155; Caunce v. Spanton, 7 M. & G. 903, 49 E. C. L. 903.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 32.

Position of bailee analogous to that of tenant.— The position of an ordinary bailee, where there has been no special contract or representation on his part, is very analogous to that of a tenant, who, having accepted the possession of land from another, is estopped to deny his landlord's title, but whose estoppel ceases when he is evicted by title paramount. Shelbury v. Scotsford, Yelv. 23 [cited in Biddle v. Bond, 6 B. & S. 225, 11 Jur. N. S. 425, 34 L. J. Q. B. 137, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 178, 13 Wkly. Rep. 561, 118 E. C. L. 225].

65. District of Columbia.— Moses v. Taylor, 6 Mackey (D. C.) 255.

Missouri.— Dougherty v. Chapman, 29 Mo. App. 233; Cole v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 21 Mo. App. 443.

New York.— Schrauth v. Dry Dock Sav. Bank, 86 N. Y. 390; Western Transp. Co. v. Barber, 56 N. Y. 544; Cook v. Holt, 48 N. Y. 275; Sedgwick v. Macy, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 154; Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79.

North Carolina.— Pitt v. Albritton, 34 N. C. 74.

United States.— Hentz v. The Steamship Idaho, 93 U. S. 575, 23 L. ed. 978.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 32.

66. Missouri.— Dougherty v. Chapman, 29 Mo. App. 233.

New York.— Western Transp. Co. v. Barber, 56 N. Y. 544; Sedgwick v. Macy, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 154.

West Virginia.—Kelly v. Patchell, 5 W. Va. 585.

United States.— Hentz v. The Steamship Idaho, 93 U. S. 575, 23 L. ed. 978.

England.— Cheesman v. Exall, 6 Exch. 341. In Biddle v. Bond, 6 B. & S. 225, 11 Jur. N. S. 425, 34 L. J. Q. B. 137, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 178, 13 Wkly. Rep. 561, 118 E. C. L. 225, it was said that upon principle there is no difference between cases in which the bailor in the first instance obtained possession of the goods by fraud, force, or felony, and cases in which he was only mistaken as to the rights of others; for a bailor can confer upon his bailee no better title than he has himself. If the true owner demand the property of the bailee and he refuses to deliver it he is at once liable in an action for its conversion. It would be somewhat anomalous if the bailee might shield himself from an action for conversion by delivering the property to the owner, if he could not show a delivery to the owner as a defense to the groundless claim of the bailor.

Felonious or tortious acquisition by a bailor.— In some cases the ground on which the defense was allowed seems to have been that there was a felonious or tortious acquisition by the bailor. Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79; Decan v. Shipper, 35 Pa. St. 239, 78 Am. Dec. 334; Floyd v. Bovard, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 75; King v. Richards, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 418, 37 Am. Dec. 420; Hardman v. Willcock, 9 Bing. 382 note, 23 E. C. L. 626.

67. Georgia.— Savannah, etc., R. Co. v. Wilcox, 48 Ga. 432.

Indiana.— Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Yohe, 51 Ind. 181, 19 Am. Rep. 727.

Kentucky.— Stephens v. Vaughan, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 206, 20 Am. Dec. 216.

Louisiana.— Britton v. Aymar, 23 La. Ann. 63.

Massachusetts.— French v. Star Union Transp. Co., 134 Mass. 288.

Missouri.— McAlister v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 74 Mo. 351.

New Mexico.— MacVeagh v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 3 N. M. 205, 5 Pac. 457.

New York.—Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 36 N. Y. 403, 2 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 179; Livingston v. Miller, 48 Hun (N. Y.) 232, 16 N. Y. St. 71; Van Winkle v. U. S. Mail Steamship Co., 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 122; Stamford Steam Boat Co. v. Gibbons, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 327; Edson v. Weston, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 278.

Vermont.— Burton v. Wilkinson, 18 Vt. 186, 46 Am. Dec. 145.

United States.— The M. M. Chase, 37 Fed. 708; Robinson v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 16 Fed. 57.

England.— Verrall v. Robinson, 2 C. M. & R. 495, 4 Dowl. P. C. 242, 1 Gale 244, 5 Tyrw. 1069; Cheesman v. Exall, 6 Exch. 341; who has actually delivered the subject-matter of the bailment to a person having the paramount title thereto is not estopped to deny the bailor's title.[68]

4. When Bailee Is Authorized by Third Person to Deny Bailor's Title. Where the bailee retains possession of the goods, he may set up and rely upon a jus tertii if he defends his possession upon the right and title of the third person,[69] or where the bailor was himself the mere agent and the return of the property to him has been forbidden by his principal.[70]

5. Where Bailor Has Parted With Title Since Bailment. The bailee may deny the title of the bailor when the latter has, subsequently to the bailment, parted with his interest in the property.[71]

V. Rights, Duties, and Liabilities of Parties.

A. As Between Bailor and Bailee — 1. In General — a. Controlled by Contract — (I) In General. The rights, duties, and liabilities of the bailor and bailee must be determined from the terms of the contract between the parties, whether express or implied.[72] Where there is an express contract, the terms thereof control, since both the bailor and bailee are entitled to impose on one Ogle v. Atkinson, 1 Marsh. 323, 5 Taunt. 759, 15 Rev. Rep. 647, 1 E. C. L. 389.

Issue of process under unconstitutional statute.—Where the property was taken from the bailee by process issued under an unconstitutional statute it was held that the defense was sufficient because the bailee was not bound to know that the law under which the proceedings were had was unconstitutional. McAlister v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 74 Mo. 351.

68. Maine.— Fisher v. Bartlett, 8 Me. 122, 22 Am. Dec. 225.

Missouri.— Dougherty v. Chapman, 29 Mo. App. 233; Cole v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 21 Mo. App. 443.

New York.—Western Transp. Co. v. Barber, 56 N. Y. 544; Sedgwick v. Macy, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 154; Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79; Edson v. Weston, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 278.

North Carolina.— Pitt v. Albritton, 34 N. C. 74.

United States.— Hentz v. The Steamship Idaho, 93 U. S. 575, 23 L. ed. 978; Rosenfield v. Express Co., 1 Woods (U. S.) 131, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,060.

England.— Biddle v. Bond, 6 B. & S. 225, 11 Jur. N. S. 425, 34 L. J. Q. B. 137, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 178, 13 Wkly. Rep. 561, 118 E. C. L. 225; Shelbury v. Scotsford, Yelv. 23; Wilson v. Anderton, 1 B. & Ad. 450, 9 L. J. K. B. O. S. 48, 20 E. C. L. 555.

Reception by the true owner in a proper manner is virtually the act of the law. Stephens v. Vaughan, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 206, 20 Am. Dec. 216.

Effect of bailee's previous knowledge of adverse claim.— Default on the part of a bailee will estop him from availing himself of a defense that the property had been yielded to a title paramount. Thus if a bailee, knowing of an adverse claim to the thing bailed, said to the bailor, "I will sell the property for you if you will let me have a commission, and I will offer the proceeds to you," he could not afterward set up against his bailor the title of the adverse claimant, because he would have acted with his eyes open. Ex p. Davies, 19 Ch. D. 86.

69. Alabama.— Lowremore v. Berry, 19 Ala. 130, 54 Am. Dec. 188.

California.—Wetherly v. Straus, 93 Cal. 283, 28 Pac. 1045; Dodge v. Meyer, 61 Cal. 405; Palmtag v. Doutrick, 59 Cal. 154, 43 Am. Rep. 245.

New York.— Kissam v. Roberts, 6 Bosw. (N. Y.) 154.

South Carolina.— Tindall v. McCarthy, 44 S. C. 487, 22 S. E. 734.

England.— Biddle v. Bond, 6 B. & S. 225, 11 Jur. N. S. 425, 34 L. J. Q. B. 137, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 178, 13 Wkly. Rep. 561, 118 E. C. L. 225; Thorne v. Tilbury, 3 H. & N. 534, 27 L. J. Exch. 407; Rogers v. Lambert, [1891] 1 Q. B. 318, 55 J. P. 452, 60 L. J. Q. B. 187, 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 406, 39 Wkly. Rep. 114; Kingsman v. Kingsman, 6 Q. B. D. 122, 45 J. P. 357, 50 L. J. Q. B. 81, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 124, 29 Wkly. Rep. 207.

Where third person makes no claim or abandons it.— The right of a third person who makes no claim to the property, or who has abandoned any claim, cannot be set up as a defense. Betteley v. Reed, 4 Q. B. 511, 3 G. & D. 561, 7 Jur. 507, 12 L. J. Q. B. 172, 45 E. C. L. 511.

70. Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79.

71. Roberts v. Noyes, 76 Me. 590; Cole v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 21 Mo. App. 443; Gerber v. Monie, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 652; Gruel v. Yetter, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 494, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 373 [affirming 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 851, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 443]; Marvin v. Ellwood, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 365.

Acquisition of interest by bailee who is a cestui que trust subsequently to bailment.— Where property after bailment is conveyed in trust, for the benefit of the bailee, the title of the bailor may be disputed. Burnett v. Fulton, 48 N. C. 486.

72. White v. Phelps, 14 Minn. 27, 100 Am. Dec. 190.

another any terms they respectively may choose.[73] Where the bailment is implied the intention of the parties must be ascertained and explained by all the surrounding and attending circumstances;[74] but in determining whether a bailment is gratuitous or lucrative the inquiry must not be directed to the character or certainty of a benefit or profit to either party, but to whether it was accepted for the purpose of deriving the one or the other.[75] There is always a presumption that the bailment is one for mutual benefit,[76] although the question is always one of fact.[77]

(II) Restriction of Liability. As a general rule bailees may contract for any degree of exemption from liability that stops short of protection in case of fraud[78] or their own negligence;[79] the principle being that the bailee may impose

The character of a bailment may be changed subsequently to the original contract. Preston v. Prather, 137 U. S. 604, 34 L. ed. 788.

73. Butler v. Greene, 49 Nebr. 280, 68 N. W. 496; Harris v. Howard, 56 Vt. 695; Walker v. York, etc., R. Co., 2 C. L. R. 237, 2 E. & B. 750, 18 Jur. 143, 23 L. J. Q. B. 73, 2 Wkly. Rep. 11, 75 E. C. L. 750; Van Toll v. South Eastern R. Co., 12 C. B. N. S. 75, 8 Jur. N. S. 1213, 31 L. J. C. P. 241, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 244, 10 Wkly. Rep. 578, 104 E. C. L. 75.

A special contract prevails against general principles of law applicable in the absence of express agreements. Butler v. Greene, 49 Nebr. 280, 68 N. W. 496; Lance v. Griner, 53 Pa. St. 204.

74. Mariner v. Smith, 5 Heisk. (Tenn.) 203.

75. Prince v. Alabama State Fair, 106 Ala. 340, 17 So. 449, 28 L. R. A. 716.

76. Swartz v. Hauser, 10 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 434; Erie Second Nat. Bank v. Ocean Nat. Bank, 11 Blatchf. (U. S.) 362, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,602, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 433.

When no hire is paid, the safer rule is to hold a bailment to be for hire only in those cases where it is a necessary incident of a business in which the bailee makes profit. Woodruff v. Painter, 150 Pa. St. 91, 24 Atl. 621, 30 Am. St. Rep. 786, 16 L. R. A. 451.

Distinction between deposit and mandate. —Where a gratuitous bailment for the bailor's benefit is claimed, a court will generally avoid making an issue between a deposit and mandate, and decide the question presented upon principles common to both classes. Story Bailm. (9th ed.) 143 [cited in Coleman v. Lipscomb, 18 Mo. App. 443].

77. Indiana.— Dart v. Lowe, 5 Ind. 131.

Kansas.— Lobenstein v. Pritchett, 8 Kan. 213.

Missouri.— Kincheloe v. Priest, 89 Mo. 240, 1 S. W. 235, 58 Am. Rep. 117.

New York.— Pattison v. Syracuse Nat. Bank, 1 Hun (N. Y.) 606.

Tennessee.— Mariner v. Smith, 5 Heisk. (Tenn.) 203.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailments," § 17.

78. Gashweiler v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 83 Mo. 112, 53 Am. Rep. 558; Wells v. Steam Nav. Co., 8 N. Y. 375; Alexander v. Greene, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 9; Hollister v. Nowlen, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 234, 32 Am. Dec. 455; Coffield v. Harris, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 315.

Powers of carriers and innkeepers in this respect see CARRIERS; INNKEEPERS.

Restriction of liability by masters of ships see SHIPPING.

Relief from custody of goods for indefinite period.— Where the business of the bailee is such that it is important to him not to be burdened with the care of articles for a long time after work to be done upon them has been completed, he may contract to deliver the goods to the bailor if called for within a certain time only. Lance v. Griner, 53 Pa. St. 204.

Necessity of express agreement.—Where a person vested with temporary control of another's property desires to shield himself from responsibility he must show his immunity on the face of his agreement. No stipulation can be implied from a general expression. Wells v. Steam Nav. Co., 8 N. Y. 375.

Such stipulations must be construed strictly. Hence where the bailor agreed that the bailed property should be stored in a particular warehouse, at his risk and expense, the bailees were liable for damage to the property upon its removal without the consent of the bailor. St. Losky v. Davidson, 6 Cal. 643. An undertaking to assume the risk of a destruction of the bailed article by a natural force that cannot be resisted should be special and express, and so clear as not to admit of any other construction. Such a risk is not covered by the words "the usual wear and tear excepted." McEvers v. Steamboat Sangamon, 22 Mo. 187.

79. Kentucky.— Bridwell v. Moore, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 535.

Missouri.— Cashweiler v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 83 Mo. 112, 53 Am. Rep. 558.

New York.— Wells v. Steam Nav. Co., 8 N. Y. 375; Alexander v. Greene, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 533.

Pennsylvania.— Lancaster County Nat. Bank v. Smith, 62 Pa. St. 47.

Tennessee.— Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 2 Head (Tenn.) 516.

Receipt of subject of bailment "at owner's risk."—Where the subject of bailment is received "at owner's risk," and with an express promise to exercise all reasonable diligence with respect thereto, but not to be responsible for loss by fire or otherwise, the bailor assumes only the risk from ordinary dangers, not to be prevented by reasonable and ordinary care on the part of the bailee; but the bailee is left liable for occurrences which whatever terms he chooses if he gives the bailor notice that there are special terms and the means of knowing what they are, and if the bailor chooses to make the bailment he is bound by them.[80]

b. Insurance. Either the bailor or bailee may insure the subject-matter of the bailment for the joint benefit of both parties.[81]

c. Repairs. By the civil law the bailor for hire was generally bound to keep the thing in order, or in a state of repair suitable for use. No such liability, however, is recognized by the common law, and, in the absence of an express contract, whether the bailor or bailee is bound to pay the ordinary expenses incident to keeping the article hired in a state of repair, while in the custody of the bailee, depends largely on custom and usage and the character of the article.[82]

2. Use and Care of Property and Performance of Services — a. Use and Care — (i) In General. A bailee has not the right to make use of the property in any way not evidently contemplated by the parties to the contract of bailment.[83] Should he do so either in a different manner, for a different purpose, or for a longer time than was agreed upon, he is guilty of a conversion of the property,[84] might be avoided with ordinary care and prudence. Moeran v. New York Poultry, etc., Assoc., 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 537, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 584.

80. Walker v. York, etc., R. Co., 2 C. L. R. 237, 2 E. & B. 750, 18 Jur. 143, 23 L. J. Q. B. 73, 2 Wkly. Rep. 11, 75 E. C. L. 750; Van Toll v. South Eastern R. Co., 12 C. B. N. S. 75, 8 Jur. N. S. 1213, 31 L. J. C. P. 241, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 244, 10 Wkly. Rep. 578, 104 E. C. L. 75; Wyld v. Pickford, 8 M. & W. 443.

Notice of restriction of liability must be given to the bailor. Hunter v. Reed, 12 Pa. Super. Ct. 112.

81. Watkins v. Durand, 1 Port. (Ala.) 251; Durand v. Thouron, 1 Port. (Ala.) 238; Savage v. Corn Exch. F., etc., Nav. Ins. Co., 36 N. Y. 655, 3 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 112; De Forest v. Fulton F. Ins. Co., 1 Hall (N. Y.) 84.

As to insurable interest of bailee see Insurance.

Where the bailee has procured insurance without instructions from the bailor, the latter may adopt it before a loss or within a reasonable time thereafter, or may disclaim the policy entirely. Watkins v. Durand, 1 Port. (Ala.) 251.

The bailor is not liable for insurance charges unless he has agreed to pay them. Abbott v. Curtis, etc., Mfg. Co., 25 Fed. 402.

Bailor should notify bailee of insurance.— Where the bailor has insured the property as located in a particular place, he should inform the bailee to that effect, or in the event of a change of location by the bailee the insurance may be affected. Bradley v. Cunningham, 61 Conn. 485, 23 Atl. 932, 15 L. R. A. 679.

82. New York Cent. Trust Co. v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 50 Fed. 857.

Repairs of railroad cars hired by one railroad from another see Railroads.

A bailor who binds himself to keep a bailed article in perfect repair, without any further charges whatever, is liable for repairs made necessary by an accident not caused by the wilful default of the hirer. Reading v. Menham, 1 M. & Rob. 234.

When expenses of repair recoverable from bailee.—Where the bailee agrees to return an article in as good condition as it was when hired, ordinary and natural wear excepted, the expense of necessary repairs made by the bailor after its return may be recovered from the bailee. Woodward v. Cutter, 33 Vt. 49. And where the bailee has agreed to pay the cost of repairs, the fact that the bailed article had a defect in it at the time of the hiring does not release him from his contract. Riley v. Lowry, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 299, 44 N. Y. St. 233.

83. Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581.

84. Alabama.—Cartlidge v. Sloan, 124 Ala. 596, 26 So. 918; Bolling v. Kirby, 90 Ala. 215, 7 So. 914, 24 Am. St. Rep. 789; Jones v. Fort, 36 Ala. 449; Fail v. McArthur, 31 Ala. 26; Wilkinson v. Moseley, 30 Ala. 562; Moseley v. Wilkinson, 24 Ala. 411; Hooks v. Smith, 18 Ala. 338.

Arkansas.— Stewart v. Davis, 31 Ark. 518, 25 Am. Rep. 576.

California.— Welch v. Mohr, 93 Cal. 371, 28 Pac. 1060.

Connecticut.—Frost v. Plumb, 40 Conn. 111, 16 Am. Rep. 18.

Delaware.— Maguyer v. Hawthorn, 2 Harr. (Del.) 71.

Georgia.— Farkas v. Powell, 86 Ga. 800, 13 S. E. 200, 12 L. R. A. 397; Lewis v. McAfee, 32 Ga. 465; Latimer v. Alexander, 14 Ga. 259; Gorman v. Campbell, 14 Ga. 137; Columbus v. Howard, 6 Ga. 213.

Illinois.— Johnson v. Weedman, 5 Ill. 495.

Kentucky.— Kennedy v. Ashcraft, 4 Bush (Ky.) 530; Kelly v. White, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 124; King v. Shanks, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 410.

Louisiana.— Guillot v. Armitage, 7 Mart. (La.) 710.

Maine.— Morton v. Gloster, 46 Me. 520; Crocker v. Gullifer, 44 Me. 491, 69 Am. Dec. 118.

Maryland.— Clagett v. Speake, 4 Harr. & M. (Md.) 162.

Massachusetts.— Perham v. Coney, 117

if his acts of themselves imply an assertion of title to or a right of dominion over the bailor's property, notwithstanding that the bailee has honestly mistaken his rights;[85] or of a breach of contract, where his acts do not of themselves imply an assertion of title or right of dominion in himself.[86] He must, however, always use

Mass. 102; Hall v. Corcoran, 107 Mass. 251, 9 Am. Rep. 30; Lucas v. Trumbull, 15 Gray (Mass.) 306; Gregg v. Wyman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 322; Rotch v. Hawes, 12 Pick. (Mass.) 136, 22 Am. Dec. 414; Homer v. Thwing, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 492; Wheelock v. Wheelwright, 5 Mass. 104.

Michigan.— Hubbell v. Blandy, 87 Mich. 209, 49 N. W. 502, 24 Am. St. Rep. 154; Fisher v. Kyle, 27 Mich. 454.

Mississippi.—Wallace v. Seales, 36 Miss. 53; Young v. Thompson, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 129.

Missouri.— Kellar v. Garth, 45 Mo. App. 332; Fox v. Young, 22 Mo. App. 386.

New Hampshire.—Gove v. Watson, 61 N. H. 136; King v. Bates, 57 N. H. 446; Woodman v. Hubbard, 25 N. H. 67, 57 Am. Dec. 310.

New Jersey.— Schenk v. Strong, 4 N. J. L. 99.

New York.— Buchanan v. Smith, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 474; Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380; Fish v. Ferris, 5 Duer (N. Y.) 49; Disbrow v. Tenbroeck, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 397; Campbell v. Stakes, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 137, 19 Am. Dec. 561; Sarjeant v. Blunt, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 74.

North Carolina.— Martin v. Cuthbertson, 64 N. C. 328; Slocumb v. Washington, 51 N. C. 357; Bell v. Bowen, 46 N. C. 316.

Pennsylvania.— Brown v. Baker, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 60.

South Carolina.— Richardson v. Dingle, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 405; Duncan v. South Carolina R. Co., 2 Rich. (S. C.) 613; De Tollenere v. Fuller, 1 Mill Const. (S. C.) 116, 12 Am. Dec. 616.

Tennessee.— Scruggs v. Davis, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 261 [distinguishing Fouldes v. Willoughby, 8 M. & W. 540]; Bedford v. Flowers, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 241; Mullen v. Ensley, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 427; Horsely v. Branch, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 198; Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459; McNeill v. Brooks, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 73.

Texas.— Mills v. Ashe, 16 Tex. 295; Sims v. Chance, 7 Tex. 561; Cochran v. Walker, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 49 S. W. 403; Evertson v. Frier, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 201.

Vermont.— Malaney v. Taft, 60 Vt. 571, 15 Atl. 326, 6 Am. St. Rep. 135; Ray v. Tubbs, 50 Vt. 688, 28 Am. Rep. 519; Towne v. Wiley, 23 Vt. 355, 56 Am. Dec. 85; Green v. Sperry, 16 Vt. 390, 42 Am. Dec. 519.

Virginia.— Harvey v. Skipwith, 16 Gratt. (Va.) 393; Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565.

Wisconsin.— De Voin v. Michigan Lumber Co., 64 Wis. 616, 25 N. W. 552, 54 Am. Rep. 649; Lane v. Cameron, 38 Wis. 603.

United States.— Ross v. Southern Cotton Oil Co., 41 Fed. 152.

It is immaterial what degree of care was employed by a bailee when using a bailed article in an unauthorized manner. Jones v. Fort, 36 Ala. 449.

Remedies for unauthorized use see infra, VI, A, 2, a.

85. Alabama.— St. John v. O'Connel, 7 Port. (Ala.) 466.

Georgia.—Fannin v. Thomason, 50 Ga. 614.

Illinois.— Follett v. Edwards, 30 Ill. App. 386.

Kentucky.— Newcomb-Buchanan Co. v. Baskett, 14 Bush (Ky.) 658.

Massachusetts.— Goell v. Smith, 128 Mass. 238.

Missouri.— State v. Berning, 74 Mo. 87.

New Hampshire.—Evans v. Mason, 64 N. H. 98, 5 Atl. 766.

New Jersey.— New Jersey Electric R. Co. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 61 N. J. L. 287, 41 Atl. 1116, 43 L. R. A. 849 [affirming 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828].

New York.— Bowen v. Fenner, 40 Barb. (N. Y.) 383.

Virginia.—Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565.

England.— Fouldes v. Willoughby, 1 Dowl. N. S. 86, 5 Jur. 534, 10 L. J. Exch. 364, 8 M. & W. 540.

Canada.— Coffey v. Quebec Bank, 20 U. C. C. P. 110; Moffatt v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 15 U. C. C. P. 392; Wallace v. Swift, 31 U. C. Q. B. 523.

A right of dominion is implied by the use of a hired article for a purpose other than that for which it was hired (Fail v. McArthur, 31 Ala. 26; Moseley v. Wilkinson, 24 Ala. 411; Hooks v. Smith, 18 Ala. 338; Rotch v. Hawes, 12 Pick. (Mass.) 136, 22 Am. Dec. 414; Wheelock v. Wheelwright, 5 Mass. 104), but unauthorized use has been held not a conversion unless injury was caused thereby (Johnson v. Weedman, 5 Ill. 495; Harvey v. Epes, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 153), or there was an intent to convert by such use (Evans v. Mason, 64 N. H. 98, 5 Atl. 766; Harvey v. Epes, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 153).

Use of one of many articles bailed does not render the bailee a tort-feasor as to other articles stolen from him. Schermer v. Neurath, 54 Md. 491, 39 Am. Rep. 397.

The mere user of money bailed causes the bailee to be at once liable as a wrong-doer, notwithstanding that the manner of user was intended for the benefit of the bailor. Mott v. Pettit, 1 N. J. L. 344.

The pledge of a decedent's property by an administrator for his own purposes is an act constituting a conversion of such property. State v. Berning, 74 Mo. 87.

Bailee's right to pledge see infra, V, A, 3, a.

Unauthorized delivery of a bailed note to the maker who destroys it is a conversion. Hicks v. Lyle, 46 Mich. 488, 9 N. W. 529.

86. Massachusetts.— Spooner v. Manchester, 133 Mass. 270, 43 Am. Rep. 514; Bowlin v. Nye, 10 Cush. (Mass.) 416.

the property intrusted to him well,[87] and may impliedly contract for and bind the bailor with respect to the preservation and care of such property.[88]

(II) Rights and Duties of Bailee—(A) Bailment For Mutual Benefit. The bailee's right to use the subject-matter of the bailment is restricted to such uses only as are authorized by the contract, express or implied, as the case may be.[89] Thus, where it is the intention of the bailor that the bailee should act merely as the custodian of the article, it is the latter's duty to keep the property without using it, unless its preservation requires such use.[90] Where, however, the bailment is one of hiring, the bailee, during the period of the hiring, is entitled to use, enjoy, and possess the subject-matter thereof in any manner contemplated by the contract,[91] and this right is exclusive not

New Hampshire.—Evans v. Mason, 64 N. H. 98, 5 Atl. 766; Eaton v. Hill, 50 N. H. 235, 9 Am. Rep. 189; Wentworth v. McDuffie, 48 N. H. 402; Woodman v. Hubbard, 25 N. H. 67, 57 Am. Dec. 310.

Vermont.— Swift v. Moseley, 10 Vt. 208, 33 Am. Dec. 197.

England.— Heald v. Carey, 11 C. B. 977, 16 Jur. 197, 21 L. J. C. P. 97, 73 E. C. L. 977.

Canada.— Gilpin v. Royal Canadian Bank, 27 U. C. Q. B. 310 [reversing 26 U. C. Q. B. 445]; Lovekin v. Podger, 26 U. C. Q. B. 156; Wells v. Crew, 5 U. C. Q. B. O. S. 209.

Any misuse or abuse of the thing bailed in the particular use for which the bailment was made is merely a breach of contract. Swift v. Moseley, 10 Vt. 208, 33 Am. Dec. 197.

Simple asportation of the thing bailed, independent of any claim over it, is merely a breach of contract. Eldridge v. Adams, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 417; Fouldes v. Willoughby, 1 Dowl. N. S. 86, 5 Jur. 534, 10 L. J. Exch. 364, 8 M. & W. 540.

87. Zell v. Dunkle, 156 Pa. St. 353, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33, 27 Atl. 38.

88. Kentucky.— Tudor v. Lewis, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 378.

Maine.— Leach v. French, 69 Me. 389, 31 Am. Rep. 296.

New York.— Harter v. Blanchard, 64 Barb. (N. Y.) 617.

Pennsylvania.— Zell v. Dunkle, 156 Pa. St. 353, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33, 27 Atl. 38.

United States.— Gibbs v. U. S., 14 Ct. Cl. 544.

89. Alabama.—Cartlidge v. Sloan, 124 Ala. 596, 26 So. 918; Singer Mfg. Co. v. Belgart, 84 Ala. 519, 4 So. 400; Fail v. McArthur, 31 Ala. 26.

Georgia.— Malone v. Robinson, 77 Ga. 719.

Massachusetts.— Lucas v. Trumbull, 15 Gray (Mass.) 306; Wheelock v. Wheelwright, 5 Mass. 104.

Michigan.— Fisher v. Kyle, 27 Mich. 454.

Missouri.— Fox v. Young, 22 Mo. App. 386.

New York.— Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380.

In the absence of an express contract concerning the manner of user, the residence of the parties, the character of their business, the nature and qualities of the thing hired, and other facts relating to the hiring are proper subjects of investigation to ascertain the implied obligations of the parties. Pridgen v. Buchannon, 24 Tex. 655.

Where there is an unauthorized use liability for injury or loss is said not to be dependent upon want of care upon the part of the bailee, but is absolute. Cartlidge v. Sloan, 124 Ala. 596, 26 So. 918. Compare Cullen v. Lord, 39 Iowa 302, where the court held that a bailee for hire was not liable for disregarding instructions, unless the injury directly resulted from a failure to follow them.

The bailee must act up to the spirit of his covenant and must not only observe a covenant of hire, but is bound to perform what has been omitted to be inserted but ought reasonably to be done. Cooper's Justinian, lib. 3, tit. 25, § 5 [cited in Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565].

90. Butler v. Greene, 49 Nebr. 280, 68 N. W. 496.

Bailment of corpse for purpose of interment.—A bailee to whom a dead body is intrusted until the bailor is ready to inter the same is not entitled to dispose of such body. Renihan v. Wright, 125 Ind. 536, 25 N. E. 822, 21 Am. St. Rep. 249, 9 L. R. A. 514. As to corpses, generally, see Dead Bodies.

91. Alabama.— Harris v. Maury, 30 Ala. 679; Farrow v. Bragg, 30 Ala. 261.

Colorado.— Schoyer v. Leif, 11 Colo. App. 40, 52 Pac. 416.

New York.— Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380, holding that in a contract for the hire of a vehicle usually employed to carry two persons, no agreement is implied that it shall be used to carry one only; but that when both the bailor and bailee are silent as to the number of persons who may ride in the carriage, such number may ride as the vehicle was made for, not exceeding the ordinary load adapted to the team drawing the carriage.

Pennsylvania.— Zell v. Dunkle, 156 Pa. St. 353, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33, 27 Atl. 38.

Vermont.— Hickok v. Buck, 22 Vt. 149; Soper v. Sumner, 5 Vt. 274.

Right to rebail.—Where a contract of hiring is general in its terms, and without restriction as to the employment or use of the bailed property, the bailee may rebail such property. Harris v. Maury, 30 Ala. 679. But if a hired article be rehired the original hirer is responsible for ordinary negligence only against third persons[92] but against the bailor who has no right to disturb him.[93]

(B) Bailment For Sole Benefit of Bailor. Where the bailment is for the sole benefit of the bailor, the bailee may not use the property for his own purposes, or needlessly expose it,[94] or derive any benefit therefrom.[95]

(C) Bailment For Sole Benefit of Bailee. The right of the bailee to use the thing bailed is strictly confined to such use, expressed or implied, as was anticipated by the bailor at the time of the bailment and the former is responsible for any loss arising from an unauthorized use, although the loss be caused by some inevitable casualty.[96] So the bailee has no right to delegate his power of user[97] unless there be some understanding or agreement to that effect.[98]

(III) Duties of Bailor — (A) Bailment For Mutual Benefit. Where a bailment for mutual benefit is one of hiring, there is imposed on the bailor, in the absence of special contract or representation, an obligation that the thing or property hired for use shall be reasonably fit for the purpose, or capable of the use known to be intended, that is, that it shall possess the qualities usually belonging to things of that kind when used for the same purpose;[99] and for a failure to deliver the thing hired in a proper condition, the bailor is responsible for damage caused the bailee or his servants by its lack of such proper condition.[1]

(B) Bailment For Sole Benefit of Bailee. Where the bailment is for the sole benefit of the bailee, the bailor, when aware of any defect in the property which would make its use to the bailee dangerous or not beneficial, must inform him thereof;[2] and should he conceal such defect will be responsible for any injury arising therefrom.[3] Where, however, the defect is not known to the bailor he is on the part of his bailee. Alabama, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Burke, 27 Ala. 535.

92. Hartford v. Jackson, 11 N. H. 145.

93. Camp v. Dill, 27 Ala. 553.

94. Carico v. Fidelity Invest. Co., 5 Colo. App. 56, 37 Pac. 29; Persch v. Quiggle, 57 Pa. St. 247; Ulmer v. Ulmer, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 489.

Use for preservation of property.— It may, however, be necessary to use the bailed property for its preservation and for the benefit of the rightful owner, as in the case of an animal taken up as an estray. See ANIMALS, 2 Cyc. 362, note 19.

95. Boston, etc., Smelting Co. v. Reed, 23 Colo. 523, 48 Pac. 515.

96. Iowa.— Cullen v. Lord, 39 Iowa 302.

Kentucky.— Kennedy v. Ashcraft, 4 Bush (Ky.) 530.

New York.— Buchanan v. Smith, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 474.

Wisconsin.— Lane v. Cameron, 38 Wis. 603.

United States.— Ross v. Southern Cotton Oil Co., 41 Fed. 152.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 43.

Duties of bailee with respect to animals loaned for use see ANIMALS, 2 Cyc. 311.

97. Wilcox v. Hogan, 5 Ind. 546; Hunt v. Douglass, 22 Vt. 128.

98. Camoys v. Scurr, 9 C. & P. 383, 38 E. C. L. 229, holding that where a prospective purchaser of a horse asks the lender to let him have the animal, with the object of trying it, and such request is granted, there is an implied understanding that the prospective purchaser has a right to put some proper person on the horse for such purpose, and his right of user is not restricted to himself.

99. Indiana.— Bass v. Cantor, 123 Ind. 444, 24 N. E. 147.

Kentucky.— Swigert v. Graham, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 661.

Maine.— Windle v. Jordan, 75 Me. 149.

Massachusetts.—Horne v. Meakin, 115 Mass. 326.

New York.— Kissam v. Jones, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 432, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 94, 31 N. Y. St. 198; Campbell v. Page, 67 Barb. (N. Y.) 113; Cook v. New York Floating Dry Dock Co., 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 436; Moriarty v. Porter, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 536, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 1107.

Further use of unfit property improper.— After having tried property hired for a particular kind of work, the bailee should, if it is clear that the property is unfitted therefor and that further use would be injurious to the property, abstain from further use, unless the bailor is informed of the facts in relation to the property and his consent obtained for a further use thereof. Bass v. Cantor, 123 Ind. 444, 24 N. E. 147.

The bailee should not continue to use property needing repair, but should inform the bailor that it needs repair. Higman v. Camody, 112 Ala. 267, 20 So. 480, 57 Am. St. Rep. 33.

1. Gagnon v. Dana, 69 N. H. 264, 39 Atl. 982, 76 Am. St. Rep. 170, 41 L. R. A. 389; Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380.

2. MacCarthy v. Young, 6 H. & N. 329, 30 L. J. Exch. 227, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 785, 9 Wkly. Rep. 439; Blakemore v. Bristol, etc., R. Co., 8 E. & B. 1035, 92 E. C. L. 1035.

3. Blakemore v. Bristol, etc., R. Co., 8 E. & B. 1035, 92 E. C. L. 1035.

not liable in case of injury,[4] even if he ought to have known of it.[5] Neither is he responsible for injury done to another by the bailee's negligence in his use of what is bailed.[6]

b. Performance of Services — (I) In General. Where the nature of the bailment is such that duties or services are to be performed by the bailee he must pursue any instructions given, expressly or impliedly, in relation to the subject-matter of the bailment, or he will be liable in the event of loss or injury resulting from a non-performance.[7]

(II) Where Skill Is Required. Where skill as well as care is required in performing the undertaking, if the bailee purports to have skill in the business he must be understood to have engaged to use a degree of skill adequate to the due performance of his undertaking.[8] This rule is equally applicable to a mandatory who has actually entered upon the execution of some work or service that he has undertaken to perform respecting the subject-matter of the bailment.[9]

4. Gagnon v. Dana, 69 N. H. 264, 39 Atl. 982, 76 Am. St. Rep. 170, 41 L. R. A. 389; MacCarthy v. Young, 6 H. & N. 329, 30 L. J. Exch. 227, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 785, 9 Wkly. Rep. 439; Blakemore v. Bristol, etc., R. Co., 8 E. & B. 1035, 92 E. C. L. 1035.

5. Gagnon v. Dana, 69 N. H. 264, 39 Atl. 982, 76 Am. St. Rep. 170, 41 L. R. A. 389, holding that there is a distinction between the liability in a bailment of this character and the liability in a hiring agreement; for while in the former the liability for defects in the thing loaned extends only to those which are known to the bailor, and not communicated to the bailee, in the latter the bailor's duty is to deliver the thing hired in a proper condition, to be used as contemplated by the parties, and for failure so to do he is liable for damage directly resulting to the bailee, or his servants, from its unsafe condition.

6. Herlihy v. Smith, 116 Mass. 265.

7. Arkansas.— Lyon v. Tams, 11 Ark. 189.

Florida.— Ferguson v. Porter, 3 Fla. 27.

Illinois.— Walden v. Karr, 88 Ill. 49.

Indiana.— McClelland v. Hubbard, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 361.

Iowa.— Serry v. Knepper, 101 Iowa 372, 70 N. W. 601; Cullen v. Lord, 39 Iowa 302.

Kentucky.— Fellowes v. Gordon, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 415; McKibben v. Bakers, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120.

Mississippi.— Moore v. Gholson, 34 Miss. 372.

Missouri.— Coleman v. Lipscomb, 18 Mo. App. 443.

New York.— McCollough's Lead Co. v. Strong, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 21; Lienan v. Dinsmore, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 365; Rutgers v. Lucet, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 92.

Pennsylvania.—Chambers v. Crawford, Add. (Pa.) 150.

Where a bailee is specifically directed as to the disposition of the bailed property the bailee must comply in substance with the instructions given. Kansas Elevator Co. v. Harris, 6 Kan. App. 89, 49 Pac. 674.

When the bailor renders performance by the bailee impossible the latter is excused. Russell v. Da Bandeira, 13 C. B. N. S. 149, 106 E. C. L. 149; Holme v. Guppy, 1 Jur. 825, 3 M. & W. 387.

Liability for acts of subbailee.—An original bailee is responsible for the acts of his substitute. Seevers v. Gabel, 94 Iowa 75, 62 N. W. 669, 58 Am. St. Rep. 381, 27 L. R. A. 733.

8. Illinois.— Keith v. Bliss, 10 Ill. App. 424.

Kentucky.— McKibben v. Bakers, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120.

Massachusetts.— Lincoln v. Gay, 164 Mass. 537, 42 N. E. 95, 49 Am. St. Rep. 480; Morton v. Fairbanks, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 368.

New York.— Mack v. Snell, 140 N. Y. 193, 35 N. E. 493, 55 N. Y. St. 576, 37 Am. St. Rep. 534.

Pennsylvania.— Zell v. Dunkle, 156 Pa. St. 353, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33, 27 Atl. 38; Gamber v. Wolaver, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 60; Chambers v. Crawford, Add. (Pa.) 150.

Wisconsin.— Kuehn v. Wilson, 13 Wis. 104.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 58.

Reasonable skill constitutes the measure of responsibility, in regard to the work undertaken by the bailee, unless he has professed to the highest degree of skill in regard to it, and expressly engaged to do it in the best manner. McCombs v. Megratten, 3 Houst. (Del.) 35.

Where unsuitable materials are handed to the bailee he is not bound to work them up but may do so if requested; and if the article manufactured is as good as could be made out of such materials the bailor cannot complain. Morton v. Fairbanks, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 368.

Acceptance of work by a bailor will not relieve the bailee from consequences arising from insufficient work. McKibben v. Bakers, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120; Dale v. See, 51 N. J. L. 378, 18 Atl. 306, 14 Am. St. Rep. 688, 5 L. R. A. 583; Chambers v. Crawford, Add. (Pa.) 150.

Work prohibited by statute.— Where the bailee is charged with want of professional skill the fact that the sort of work performed by him is prohibited by a statute which came into operation after the performance of the work does not render his liability less. McKillip v. Bonynge, 86 Ill. App. 618.

9. Skelley v. Kahn, 17 Ill. 170; Eddy v. Livingston, 35 Mo. 487, 88 Am. Dec. 122; Funkhouser v. Ingles, 17 Mo. App. 232; Jenkins v. Motlow, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 248, 60 Am.

c. Care and Negligence — (I) In General — (A) Classification. The terms "ordinary," "slight," and "great," as applied to care, and "ordinary," "gross," and "slight," as applied to negligence, are valuable standards for measuring the care and limiting the liability imposed by the several classes of bailments, according as they are made for mutual benefit of the parties or wholly for the benefit of the bailor or bailee.[10] With regard to the degrees of care it is generally admitted that the line between them cannot be disregarded,[11] but the propriety of establishing the degrees of negligence has been questioned, on the ground that negligence and gross negligence are the same things, with the addition of a vituperative epithet.[12] In all cases, however, the degree of care and diligence which a bailee must exercise corresponds with the degree of negligence for which he is responsible, there being the same difficulty in defining the extent of the positive duty in each case as the degree of neglect of it which incurs responsibility;[13] the

Dec. 154; Kirtland v. Montgomery, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 452; Jones v. Parish, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 494.

A person to whom promissory notes are handed for collection need only exercise ordinary care or diligence in collecting them. Kincheloe v. Priest, 89 Mo. 240, 1 S. W. 235, 58 Am. Rep. 117. See also Newell v. Newell, 34 Miss. 385. Compare Tempest v. Bertrand, 19 Quebec Super. Ct. 365, where a mandatory, to whom money was sent to pay a debt due from the sender to a third person in a foreign country, deposited the money in a bank duly established and enjoying public confidence instead of keeping it with him, and left it there pending his finding the creditor and obtaining from him a power sufficient to permit the payment, was not liable for subsequent failure of the bank before he was able to execute his commission.

10. Whitney v. Lee, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 91; Mason v. St. Louis Union Stock Yards Co., 60 Mo. App. 93.

The terms, while not definable, are with some approach to certainty distinguishable, although it is often difficult to mark the line where the one ends and the other begins. Whitney v. Lee, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 91; Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49; Giblin v. McMullen, L. R. 2 P. C. 317, 38 L. J. P. C. 25, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 214, 5 Moore P. C. N. S. 434, 17 Wkly. Rep. 445, 16 Eng. Reprint 578. See also Beal v. South Devon R. Co., 3 H. & C. 337, 11 L. T. Rep. N. S. 184, 12 Wkly. Rep. 1115, where it was said that although there might be difficulty in defining what gross negligence was there was a certain degree of negligence to which everyone attached great blame, and that it was a mistake to suppose that things were not different because a strict line of demarcation could not be drawn between them.

11. Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co., L. R. 1 C. P. 600, 12 Jur. N. S. 727, 35 L. J. C. P. 321, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 711, 14 Wkly. Rep. 893, holding that it is more correct and scientific to define the degrees of care than the degrees of negligence, since the use of the term "gross negligence" is only a way of stating that less care is required in some cases than in others. See also Dudley v. Camden, etc., Ferry Co., 42 N. J. L. 25, 36 Am. Rep. 501.

12. The Steamboat New World v. King, 16 How. (U. S.) 469, 14 L. ed. 1019; Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co., L. R. 1 C. P. 600, 12 Jur. N. S. 727, 35 L. J. C. P. 321, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 711, 14 Wkly. Rep. 893; Hinton v. Dibbin, 2 Q. B. 646, 2 G. & D. 36, 6 Jur. 601, 42 E. C. L. 847; Wilson v. Brett, 12 L. J. Exch. 264, 11 M. & W. 113. See also Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454, to the effect that it is perhaps more strictly accurate to call gross negligence simply negligence, since in every case negligence consists in a failure to bestow the care and skill which the situation demands. But see Doorman v. Jenkins, 2 A. & E. 256, 4 L. J. K. B. 29, 4 N. & M. 170, 29 E. C. L. 132, where it is said that gross negligence is a great and aggravated degree of negligence, as distinguished from negligence of lower degree.

There is, however, a practical difference between the degrees of negligence for which different classes of bailees are responsible, and the term "gross negligence" may be usefully retained as descriptive of that difference, especially as it has been long in familiar use and been sanctioned by high authority. Giblin v. McMullen, L. R. 2 P. C. 317, 38 L. J. P. C. 25, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 214, 5 Moore P. C. N. S. 434, 17 Wkly. Rep. 445, 16 Eng. Reprint 578, where the court said that from the time of the judgment in Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354, the term "gross negligence" had been used without objection as a short and convenient mode of describing the degree of responsibility which attaches to a bailee for the sole benefit of the bailor.

Introduction of division from Roman law. — The theory that there are three degrees of negligence described by the terms, "slight," "ordinary," and "gross," was introduced into the common law by some of the commentators on Roman law. Some, however, of the ablest commentators on the Roman law and on the civil code of France have wholly repudiated the theory, as unfounded in principles of natural justice, useless in practice, and presenting inextricable embarrassments and difficulties. The Steamboat New World v. King, 16 How. (U. S.) 469, 14 L. ed. 1019.

13. Giblin v. McMullen, L. R. 2 P. C. 317, 38 L. J. P. C. 25, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 214, 5

true measure of liability being that the bailee is bound to that degree of diligence which the manner and the nature of his employment make it reasonable to expect of him, anything less than this being culpable in him.[14]

(B) Ordinary Care and Ordinary Negligence. What constitutes ordinary care or diligence necessarily varies not only with the circumstances under which the subject of it is placed,[15] and with the country and the age in which the bailee lives,[16] but with the nature of the subject itself[17] and the business of the bailee.[18] Ordinary diligence then means that degree of care, attention, or exertion which, under the actual circumstances, a man of ordinary prudence and discretion would use in reference to the particular thing were it his own property, or in doing the particular thing were it his own concern;[19]

Moore P. C. N. S. 434, 17 Wkly. Rep. 445, 16 Eng. Reprint 578.

14. Briggs v. Taylor, 28 Vt. 180.

Where there is a special contract providing what degree of care the bailee shall exercise over the property, he is of course required to use such care as the contract prescribes, otherwise the degree of care required will depend upon the particular circumstance of each case. Line v. Mills, 12 Ind. App. 100, 39 N. E. 870.

15. Gray v. Merriam, 148 Ill. 179, 35 N. E. 810, 39 Am. St. Rep. 172, 32 L. R. A. 769; Swigert v. Graham, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 661; Preston v. Prather, 137 U. S. 604, 34 L. ed. 788.

Under peculiar circumstances of danger extraordinary exertions may be required of one who is bound only to ordinary diligence, or, in other words, the circumstances may be such that extraordinary exertions are nothing more than ordinary diligence. Swigert v. Graham, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 661.

The care must be graduated according to the value of the property, the convenience of its being made secure, the facility for its being stolen, and the temptations thereto.

Indiana.— Conner v. Winton, 8 Ind. 315, 65 Am. Dec. 761.

Maine.— Storer v. Gowen, 18 Me. 174.

Missouri.— State v. Meagher, 44 Mo. 356, 100 Am. Dec. 298.

New Hampshire.— Graves v. Ticknor, 6 N. H. 537.

Pennsylvania.— Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9.

United States.— Tracy v. Wood, 3 Mason (U. S.) 132, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,130.

16. Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9, holding that what might be ordinary diligence in one country and in one age might, at another time and in another country, be negligence, or even gross negligence.

17. Delaware.— Chase v. Maberry, 3 Harr. (Del.) 266.

Kentucky.— Swigert v. Graham, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 661.

New York.— Magnin v. Dinsmore, 70 N. Y. 410, 26 Am. Rep. 608.

North Carolina.—Pegram v. Western Union Tel. Co., 97 N. C. 57, 2 S. E. 256.

England.— Batson v. Donovan, 4 B. & Ald. 21, 22 Rev. Rep. 599, 6 E. C. L. 373.

Knowledge that the subject-matter requires extra care — as where a registered letter is delivered to a letter-carrier — necessitates the taking of such care. Joslyn v. King, 27 Nebr. 38, 42 N. W. 756, 20 Am. St. Rep. 656, 4 L. R. A. 457. See also Boyd v. Estis, 11 La. Ann. 704.

Ignorance of the value will excuse the bailee for not taking extra precautions. Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Gordon, 5 La. Ann. 604.

18. Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454; Preston v. Prather, 137 U. S. 604, 34 L. ed. 788.

Where skill is required for an undertaking, ordinary diligence implies the possession and use of competent skill. Swigert v. Graham, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 661.

19. Alabama.— Haynie v. Waring, 29 Ala. 263.

Arkansas.— Gulledge v. Howard, 23 Ark. 61; Lyon v. Tams, 11 Ark. 189.

Delaware.— Chase v. Maberry, 3 Harr. (Del.) 266.

Florida.— Tallahassee R. Co. v. Macon, 8 Fla. 299; Kelly v. Wallace, 6 Fla. 690; Forsyth v. Perry, 5 Fla. 337.

Georgia.— McNabb v. Lockhart, 18 Ga. 495; Latimer v. Alexander, 14 Ga. 259; Gorman v. Campbell, 14 Ga. 137; Columbus v. Howard, 6 Ga. 213.

Illinois.— Cloyd v. Steiger, 139 Ill. 41, 28 N. E. 987; Mansfield v. Cole, 61 Ill. 191; Howard v. Babcock, 21 Ill. 259; Skelley v. Kahn, 17 Ill. 170.

Indiana.— Duffy v. Howard, 77 Ind. 182; Conwell v. Smith, 8 Ind. 530; Conner v. Winton, 8 Ind. 315, 65 Am. Dec. 761; Kemp v. Farlow, 5 Ind. 462.

Iowa.— Jourdan v. Reed, 1 Iowa 135.

Kansas.— Moore v. Cass, 10 Kan. 288; Lobenstein v. Pritchett, 8 Kan. 213.

Kentucky.— Sodowsky v. McFarland, 3 Dana (Ky.) 204; Jackson v. Robinson, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 1; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Yandell, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 586; Hawkins v. Phythian, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 515; Swigert v. Graham, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 661.

Louisiana.— Boyd v. Estis, 11 La. Ann. 704.

Maine.— Storer v. Gowen, 18 Me. 174.

Maryland.— Casey v. Suter, 36 Md. 1; Hambleton v. McGee, 19 Md. 43.

Massachusetts.—Wood v. Remick, 143 Mass. 453, 9 N. E. 831; Perham v. Coney, 117 Mass. 102; Maynard v. Buck, 100 Mass. 40; Edwards v. Carr, 13 Gray (Mass.) 234; Whitney v. Lee, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 91; Foster v. Essex Bank, 17 Mass. 479, 9 Am. Dec. 168.

Michigan.— Ruggles v. Fay, 31 Mich. 141.

and the want of such care and attention may be described as ordinary negligence.[20]

(c) Slight Care and Gross Negligence. Taking ordinary diligence or care and ordinary negligence as the mean of the so-called three degrees of care and negligence, slight care may be described as a less degree of care than ordinary,[21] and gross negligence as an omission of the care which even the most inattentive and thoughtless never fail to take of their own concerns,[22] or as such a degree of negligence as excludes the loosest degree of care.[23] In determining what amounts to gross negligence, however, the nature of the subject-matter must be carefully considered, for an act under certain circumstances might be

Mississippi.— Lampley v. Scott, 24 Miss. 528.

Missouri.— Gashweiler v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 83 Mo. 112, 53 Am. Rep. 558; Eddy v. Livingston, 35 Mo. 487, 88 Am. Dec. 122; Johnson v. Ruth, 34 Mo. App. 659; Taussig v. Schields, 26 Mo. App. 318.

New Hampshire.—Chase v. Boody, 55 N. H. 574.

New Jersey.— Dudley v. Camden, etc., Ferry Co., 42 N. J. L. 25, 36 Am. Rep. 501.

New York.— Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380; Fox v. Pruden, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 187; Smith v. Simms, 51 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 305; Beardslee v. Richardson, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 25, 25 Am. Dec. 596; Millon v. Salisbury, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 211.

North Carolina.— Stanton v. Bell, 9 N. C. 145, 11 Am. Dec. 744.

Ohio.—Anderson v. Foresman, Wright (Ohio) 598; Monteith v. Bissell, Wright (Ohio) 411.

Pennsylvania.— Swentzel v. Penn. Bank, 147 Pa. St. 140, 23 Atl. 405, 415, 30 Am. St. Rep. 718, 15 L. R. A. 305; Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 275; Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9.

South Carolina.— Carrier v. Dorrance, 19 S. C. 30; Barber v. Anderson, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 358.

Tennessee.— Yeatman v. Hart, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 374; Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459.

Texas.—Willis v. Harris, 26 Tex. 136; Fulton v. Alexander, 21 Tex. 148; Green v. Larkins, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 785.

Vermont.— Eastman v. Patterson, 38 Vt. 146; Briggs v. Taylor, 28 Vt. 180.

Wisconsin.— Jones v. Parish, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 494.

United States.— Laub v. Lansdale, Hayw. & H. (U. S.) 45, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,118; Reeves v. The Constitution, Gilp. (U. S.) 579, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,659.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 46.

Where bailed property is treated as carefully as bailee's.— The fact that the bailee observes the same care and diligence in respect to the subject-matter of the bailment as he does with respect to his own property of like nature and value is sometimes stated to be a test of whether he is observing ordinary diligence; but this test is not conclusive, as he may be grossly negligent of his own property. Ray v. State Bank, 10 Bush (Ky.) 344; Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49. See also Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454.

20. Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454; Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 275; Briggs v. Taylor, 28 Vt. 180. See also Whiting v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 5 Dak. 90, 37 N. W. 222.

Where the bailee intrusts the subject-matter to two agents to return to the bailor — one to take it a part of the way and the other the rest of the way — he is not guilty of a want of ordinary care. Colton v. Wise, 7 Ill. App. 395.

21. Mason v. St. Louis Union Stock Yards Co., 60 Mo. App. 93; Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454; Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co., L. R. 1 C. P. 600, 12 Jur. N. S. 727, 35 L. J. C. P. 321, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 711, 14 Wkly. Rep. 893.

22. Dakota.— Whiting v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 5 Dak. 90, 37 N. W. 222.

Missouri.— Wiser v. Chesley, 53 Mo. 547; Mason v. St. Louis Union Stock Yards Co., 60 Mo. App. 93.

New York.— Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454.

United States.— Tracy v. Wood, 3 Mason (U. S.) 132, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,130.

England.— Duff v. Budd, 3 B. & B. 177, 6 Moore C. P. 469, 23 Rev. Rep. 609, 7 E. C. L. 671; Riley v. Horne, 5 Bing. 217, 2 M. & P. 331, 30 Rev. Rep. 576, 15 E. C. L. 549; Batson v. Donovan, 4 B. & Ald. 21, 22 Rev. Rep. 599, 6 E. C. L. 373.

23. McNabb v. Lockhart, 18 Ga. 495; Cashill v. Wright, 6 E. & B. 891, 2 Jur. N. S. 1072, 4 Wkly. Rep. 709, 88 E. C. L. 891.

This has been said to be equivalent to fraud (McNabb v. Lockhart, 18 Ga. 495; Foster v. Essex Bank, 17 Mass. 479, 9 Am. Dec. 168; Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 275; Cashill v. Wright, 6 E. & B. 891, 2 Jur. N. S. 1072, 4 Wkly. Rep. 709, 88 E. C. L. 891), but this is not always true for gross negligence may be, and often is, consistent with good faith and honesty of intention (Tudor v. Lewis, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 378; Wilson v. York, etc., R. Co., 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 58; Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 100 U. S. 699, 25 L. ed. 750). Gross negligence may, however, furnish evidence of fraud and of a violation of that good faith which the law assumes to exist in every contract of bailment. Tudor v. Lewis, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 378.

simple negligence and the same act under other circumstances might be grossly negligent.[24]

(D) Great Care and Slight Negligence. Great care or extraordinary diligence, when viewed from the point of ordinary care or diligence, may be regarded as a higher degree of care than ordinary;[25] a failure to observe such great care or extraordinary diligence being slight negligence.[26]

(II) Bailment For Mutual Benefit. Where a bailment is for mutual benefit, the bailee is held to the exercise of ordinary care in relation to the subject-matter thereof, and is responsible only for ordinary negligence.[27] He is not liable

24. Pegram v. Western Union Tel. Co., 97 N. C. 57, 2 S. E. 256; Tracy v. Wood, 3 Mason (U. S.) 132, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,130.

When securities are deposited with a bank accustomed to receive such deposits, the bailee is liable for any loss occurring through the mere want of that degree of care which good business men should exercise in keeping property of such value. Gray v. Merriam, 148 Ill. 179, 35 N. E. 810, 39 Am. St. Rep. 172, 32 L. R. A. 769. But that one who permits a friend to deposit valuables in a safe temporarily should not be held to the same degree of responsibility which attaches to a safe-deposit company is a rule of such obvious justice that it must inhere in every system of law that equitably regulates human conduct. Dudley v. Camden, etc., Ferry Co., 42 N. J. L. 25, 36 Am. Rep. 501.

Where the profession of the bailee implies skill, a want of such skill as is imputable to his calling will render him liable as for gross neglect. Stanton v. Bell, 9 N. C. 145, 11 Am. Dec. 744; Shiells v. Blackburne, 1 H. Bl. 158, 2 Rev. Rep. 750. Even where his profession does not imply skill, a bailee who assumes to perform a delicate task is not screened from liability in case he performs such task in gross ignorance, or with gross negligence. Conner v. Winton, 8 Ind. 315, 65 Am. Dec. 761.

25. Mason v. St. Louis Union Stock Yards Co., 60 Mo. App. 93.

26. Whiting v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 5 Dak. 90, 37 N. W. 222; Mason v. St. Louis Union Stock Yards Co., 60 Mo. App. 93.

27. Alabama.— Wilkinson v. Moseley, 30 Ala. 562; Alabama, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Burke, 27 Ala. 535; Jones v. Hatchett, 14 Ala. 743.

Arkansas.— Union Compress Co. v. Nunnally, 67 Ark. 284, 54 S. W. 872; Stewart v. Davis, 31 Ark. 518, 25 Am. Rep. 576.

Delaware.— Chase v. Maberry, 3 Harr. (Del.) 266; Early v. Wilson, 2 Harr. (Del.) 47.

Florida.— Tallahassee R. Co. v. Macon, 8 Fla. 299; Kelly v. Wallace, 6 Fla. 690; Forsyth v. Perry, 5 Fla. 337.

Georgia.— Latimer v. Alexander, 14 Ga. 259; Gorman v. Campbell, 14 Ga. 137; Columbus v. Howard, 6 Ga. 213.

Illinois.— Standard Brewery v. Bemis, etc., Malting Co., 171 Ill. 602, 49 N. E. 507; Gray v. Merriam, 143 Ill. 179, 35 N. E. 810, 39 Am. St. Rep. 172, 32 L. R. A. 769; Cloyd v. Steiger, 139 Ill. 41, 28 N. E. 987; Francis v. Shrader, 67 Ill. 272; Russell v. Hœhler, 66 Ill. 459; Mansfield v. Cole, 61 Ill. 191; Spangler v. Eicholtz, 25 Ill. 297; Howard v. Babcock, 21 Ill. 259; Saunders v. Hartsook, 85 Ill. App. 55; Colton v. Wise, 7 Ill. App. 395.

Indiana.— Bass v. Cantor, 123 Ind. 444, 24 N. E. 147; Duffy v. Howard, 77 Ind. 182; Conwell v. Smith, 8 Ind. 530; Cox v. O'Riley, 4 Ind. 368, 58 Am. Dec. 633.

Iowa.— Chamberlin v. Cobb, 32 Iowa 161.

Kansas.— Moore v. Cass, 10 Kan. 288.

Kentucky.— Jackson v. Robinson, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 1; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Yandell, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 586; Hawkins v. Phythian, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 515; Swigert v. Graham, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 661; Kimball v. Dohoney, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 937, 38 S. W. 3.

Louisiana.— Nicholls v. Roland, 11 Mart. (La.) 190.

Maryland.— Hambleton v. McGee, 19 Md. 43.

Massachusetts.—Wood v. Remick, 143 Mass. 453, 9 N. E. 831; Perham v. Coney, 117 Mass. 102; Maynard v. Buck, 100 Mass. 40; Eastman v. Sanborn, 3 Allen (Mass.) 594, 81 Am. Dec. 677; Edwards v. Carr, 13 Gray (Mass.) 234; Foster v. Essex Bank, 17 Mass. 479, 9 Am. Dec. 168.

Michigan.— Ruggles v. Fay, 31 Mich. 141.

Missouri.— Gashweiler v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 83 Mo. 112, 53 Am. Rep. 558; Buis v. Cook, 60 Mo. 391; Johnson v. Ruth, 34 Mo. 659; Halyard v. Dechelman, 29 Mo. 459, 77 Am. Dec. 585; Smith v. Meegan, 22 Mo. 150, 64 Am. Dec. 259; Johnson v. Ruth, 34 Mo. App. 659; Taussig v. Schields, 26 Mo. App. 318.

Nebraska.—Purnell v. Minor, 49 Nebr. 555, 68 N. W. 942.

New Hampshire.—Chase v. Boody, 55 N. H. 574.

New York.— Jones v. Morgan, 90 N. Y. 4, 43 Am. Rep. 131; Baird v. Daly, 57 N. Y. 236, 15 Am. Rep. 488; Schwerin v. McKie, 51 N. Y. 180, 10 Am. Rep. 581; Moore v. Westervelt, 27 N. Y. 234; Titsworth v. Winnegar, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 148; Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380; Fox v. Pruden, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 187; Hoffmann v. Coughlin, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 24, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 600; Smith v. Simms, 51 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 305; Millon v. Salisbury, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 211.

North Carolina.—Henderson v. Bessent, 68 N. C. 223.

Pennsylvania.— Pittsburgh Safe Deposit Co. v. Pollock, 85 Pa. St. 391, 27 Am. Rep. 660; Rodgers v. Stophel, 32 Pa. St. 111, 72

if the subject-matter of the bailment has been injured by some internal decay, by accident, or by some other means wholly without his default, and in the absence of some special stipulation an injury to or loss of the property falls on the bailor.[28] The bailee may, however, be liable in all events where he has undertaken to keep

Am. Dec. 775; Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9.

Rhode Island.— Moulton v. Phillips, 10 R. I. 218, 14 Am. Rep. 663.

South Carolina.— Carrier v. Dorrance, 19 S. C. 30; Barber v. Anderson, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 358.

Tennessee.— Kelton v. Taylor, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 264, 41 Am. Rep. 284; Yeatman v. Hart, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 374; Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459.

Texas.— Willis v. Harris, 26 Tex. 136; Phillips v. Hughes, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 33 S. W. 157; Green v. Larkins, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 785.

Vermont.— Eastman v. Patterson, 38 Vt. 146; White v. Bascom, 28 Vt. 268; Briggs v. Taylor, 28 Vt. 180.

United States.— New York Cent. R. Co. v. Lockwood, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 357, 21 L. ed. 627; U. S. v. Yukers, 60 Fed. 641; 23 U. S. App. 292, 9 C. C. A. 171; Laub v. Lansdale, Hayw. & H. (U. S.) 45, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,118; Reeves v. The Constitution, Gilp. (U. S.) 579, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,659.

England.— Batut v. Hartley, L. R. 7 Q. B. 594, 41 L. J. Q. B. 273, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 968, 20 Wkly. Rep. 899; McMahon v. Field, 7 Q. B. D. 591, 50 L. J. Q. B. 852, 45 L. T. Rep. N. S. 381.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 46.

Shopkeepers, restaurant-keepers, barbers, bath-house keepers, and the like.— Where property is temporarily in charge of an incidental bailee such as a shopkeeper, restaurant-keeper, barber, bath-house proprietor, or the like, as an incident to his general business, the liability of the bailee does not differ in any respect from that of other bailees for hire (Tombler v. Koelling, 60 Ark. 62, 28 S. W. 794, 46 Am. St. Rep. 146, 27 L. R. A. 502; Dilberto v. Harris, 95 Ga. 571, 23 S. E. 112; Donlin v. McQuade, 61 Mich. 275, 28 N. W. 114; Bunnell v. Stern, 122 N. Y. 539, 25 N. E. 910, 34 N. Y. St. 218, 19 Am. St. Rep. 519, 10 L. R. A. 481; Buttman v. Dennett, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 462, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 247, 61 N. Y. St. 89; Bird v. Everard, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 104, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1008, 53 N. Y. St. 210; Levy v. Appleby, 1 N. Y. City Ct. 252; Woodruff v. Painter, 150 Pa. St. 91, 24 Atl. 621, 30 Am. St. Rep. 786, 16 L. R. A. 451; Hunter v. Reed, 12 Pa. Super. Ct. 112; McGollin v. Reed, 16 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 287. Contra, Rea v. Simmons, 141 Mass. 561, 6 N. E. 699, 55 Am. Rep. 492; Bunnell v. Stern, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 357, 13 N. Y. St. 71; Goff v. Wanamaker, 25 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 358. Compare Powers v. O'Neill, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 129, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 1007, 68 N. Y. St. 842); but contributory negligence on the part of such a bailor may relieve the bailee from liability (Powers v. O'Neill, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 129, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 1007, 68 N. Y. St. 842; Trowbridge v. Schriever, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 11; McAllister v. Simon, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 214, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 733; Schnitz v. Sturn, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 168, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 140; Pattison v. Hammerstein, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 375, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1039; Hunter v. Reed, 12 Pa. Super. Ct. 112). To avoid liability under a bailment of this description, the bailee should provide a reasonably safe place for keeping such property, and advise the bailor thereof. Trowbridge v. Schriever, 5 Daly (N. Y.) 11; Appleton v. Welch, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 343, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 751.

Effect of breach of contract by bailee.— Failure to keep the property in that place which he has contracted for makes the bailee liable for a loss, by reason of his failure so to do, without regard to the general principle that a bailee of this class need only take ordinary care. Butler v. Greene, 49 Nebr. 280, 68 N. W. 496. See also Otis v. Wood, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 498.

Effect of termination of bailment.— Where the duration of the bailment is not fixed, and the bailee has given reasonable notice of his intention to terminate the bailment to the bailor, the degree of negligence for which the bailee is liable changes from ordinary negligence to gross negligence, the bailee not being liable for the destruction of the property by fire without any fault or negligence on his part. Barrows v. Cushway, 37 Mich. 481. See also Carnes v. Nichols, 10 Gray (Mass.) 369.

28. Indiana.— Rice v. Nixon, 97 Ind. 97, 49 Am. Rep. 430; Conwell v. Smith, 8 Ind. 530.

Massachusetts.— Perham v. Coney, 117 Mass. 102.

New York.— Stewart v. Stone, 127 N. Y. 500, 28 N. E. 595, 40 N. Y. St. 314, 14 L. R. A. 215; Hyland v. Paul, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 241; Buddin v. Fortunato, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 195, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 115, 31 N. Y. St. 278; Millon v. Salisbury, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 211.

Pennsylvania.— Zell v. Dunkle, 156 Pa. St. 353, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33, 27 Atl. 38.

United States.— Pelham v. Pace, Hempst. (U. S.) 223, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,911*a*.

Canada.— Dickie v. Campbell, (C. Ms. 44) Stevens' N. Brunsw. Dig. 82.

Bailees for hire are not insurers of the bailed property. Standard Brewery v. Bemis, etc., Malting Co., 171 Ill. 602, 49 N. E. 507 [affirming 70 Ill. App. 363]; Field v. Brackett, 56 Me. 121; Ames v. Belden, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 513; Montgomery v. Ladjing, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 92, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 840; Pattison v. Hammerstein, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 375, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1039; Simpson v. Rourke, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 230, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 11, 67 N. Y. St. 867.

the property safely, either expressly[29] or impliedly,[30] and for any injury or loss arising through the acts of his employees unauthorized by the bailor.[31]

(III) Bailment For Sole Benefit of Bailor. Where the bailment is one which is for the sole benefit of the bailor, it is uniformly held that the bailee is obligated only to the exercise of slight care, and is only answerable for gross neglect[32]

29. Vaughan v. Webster, 5 Harr. (Del.) 256; Smith American Organ Co. v. Abbott, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 319.

An agreement to return property as it was at the time of hiring, usual wear excepted, does not make the bailee an insurer of the property. Seevers v. Gabel, 94 Iowa 75, 62 N. W. 669, 58 Am. St. Rep. 381, 27 L. R. A. 733.

Liability for all risks limited to period of contract.— Where the bailee covenants to insure for a particular time, and to assume all risks not covered by the insurance that may happen to the property during that time, he is not liable in the event of the destruction of the property while being returned to the bailor after the policy has expired, unless he has contracted to renew the policy. Young v. Leary, 135 N. Y. 569, 32 N. E. 607, 49 N. Y. St. 93.

30. Reinstein v. Watts, 84 Me. 139, 24 Atl. 719; Harvey v. Murray, 136 Mass. 377.

Implied and express contract equivalent to one another.—An implied contract that the property shall be at the risk of the bailee is equivalent to an express contract. Thomas v. Cummiskey, 108 Pa. St. 354.

Removal of goods from place deposited may amount to negligence.—When goods are deposited with a bailee for hire, without any contract as to where they shall be kept, but the bailor, supposing they will be kept where first deposited, insures them as located there, without informing the bailee of such insurance, the bailee is not guilty of such negligence in removing them to another place of deposit without informing the bailor of his intention of so doing as will of itself make him liable for the value of goods if burned; but the bailor loses the benefit of the insurance in case it only covers the goods while in the place named in the policy. Bradley v. Cunningham, 61 Conn. 485, 23 Atl. 932, 15 L. R. A. 679. Where, however, the bailee contracts to keep the goods at a particular place, but places part of them at another place, where they are destroyed by fire, the bailee is liable to the bailor in the event of the bailor's having insured the goods at the place where the bailee contracted to deposit them, if in the event of their removal he loses the benefit of the insurance. Lilley v. Doubleday, 7 Q. B. D. 510, 46 J. P. 708, 51 L. J. Q. B. 310, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 814.

31. Alabama.— McGill v. Monette, 37 Ala. 49; Maxwell v. Eason, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 514.

Maryland.— American Dist. Tel. Co. v. Walker, 72 Md. 454, 20 Atl. 1, 20 Am. St. Rep. 479.

Michigan.— Hofer v. Hodge, 52 Mich. 372, 18 N. W. 112, 50 Am. Rep. 256.

Missouri.— Kellar v. Garth, 45 Mo. App. 332.

New York.— Hall v. Warner, 60 Barb. (N. Y.) 198.

South Carolina.—McCaw v. Kimbrel, 4 McCord (S. C.) 220.

United States.— Smith v. Bouker, 49 Fed. 954, 1 U. S. App. 80, 1 C. C. A. 481 [affirming 40 Fed. 839].

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 55.

Criminal conduct of a servant or employee is not imputable to the bailee. Mitchell v. Mims, 8 Tex. 6.

32. Alabama.— Henry v. Porter, 46 Ala. 293.

Delaware.— Chase v. Maberry, 3 Harr. (Del.) 266.

Georgia.— McNabb v. Lockhart, 18 Ga. 495.

Illinois.— Gray v. Merriam, 148 Ill. 179, 35 N. E. 810, 39 Am. St. Rep. 172, 32 L. R. A. 769; Michigan Cent. R. Co. v. Carrow, 73 Ill. 348, 24 Am. Rep. 248; Skelley v. Kahn, 17 Ill. 170; Singer Mfg. Co. v. Tyler, 54 Ill. App. 97; Race v. Hansen, 12 Ill. App. 605.

Indiana.—Bronnenburg v. Charman, 80 Ind. 475; Conner v. Winton, 8 Ind. 315, 65 Am. Dec. 761; Dart v. Lowe, 5 Ind. 131.

Kentucky.— Dunn v. Kyle, 14 Bush (Ky.) 134; Ray v. State Bank, 10 Bush (Ky.) 344; United Soc. of Shakers v. Underwood, 9 Bush (Ky.) 609, 15 Am. Rep. 731.

Louisiana.— Wilcox v. Steamboat Philadelphia, 9 La. 80, 29 Am. Dec. 436.

Maine.— Knowles v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 38 Me. 55, 61 Am. Dec. 234.

Maryland.— Schermer v. Neurath, 54 Md. 491, 39 Am. Rep. 397; Maury v. Coyle, 34 Md. 235.

Massachusetts.— Smith v. Westfield First Nat. Bank, 99 Mass. 605, 97 Am. Dec. 59; Whitney v. Lee, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 91; Foster v. Essex Bank, 17 Mass. 479, 9 Am. Dec. 168.

Missouri.— Wiser v. Chesley, 53 Mo. 547; Huxley v. Hartzell, 44 Mo. 370; Graves v. Poage, 17 Mo. 91; Mason v. St. Louis Union Stock Yards Co., 60 Mo. App. 93.

Nebraska.— Burk v. Dempster, 34 Nebr. 426, 51 N. W. 976.

New Hampshire.— Brown v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 54 N. H. 535.

New Jersey.—Dudley v. Camden, etc., Ferry Co., 42 N. J. L. 25, 36 Am. Rep. 501.

New York.— Harter v. Blanchard, 64 Barb. (N. Y.) 617; Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454.

North Carolina.— Patterson v. McIver, 90 N. C. 493; Bland v. Womack, 6 N. C. 373.

Ohio.— Griffith v. Zipperwick, 28 Ohio St. 388.

Pennsylvania.— Hibernia Bldg. Assoc. v. McGrath, 154 Pa. St. 296, 32 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 233, 26 Atl. 377, 35 Am. St. Rep. 828; Swentzel v. Penn Bank, 147 Pa. St. 140, 23 Atl. 405, 415, 30 Am. St. Rep. 718, 15 L. R. A. 305; Carlisle First Nat. Bank v.

or bad faith.[33] While this general principle is the same in all cases, its application is materially affected by the circumstances of each particular case;[34] and the bailee's liability must be determined by a performance bona fide of the terms of the contract, or of a failure to perform such terms,[35] and by comparison Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49; Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 275.

Texas.— Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Flanary, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 50 S. W. 726.

Vermont.— Spooner v. Mattoon, 40 Vt. 300, 94 Am. Dec. 395.

Virginia.— Tancil v. Seaton, 28 Gratt. (Va.) 601, 26 Am. Rep. 380.

Wisconsin.— Minor v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 19 Wis. 40, 88 Am. Dec. 670.

United States.— Tracy v. Wood, 3 Mason (U. S.) 132, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,130.

England.— Doorman v. Jenkins, 2 A. & E. 256, 4 L. J. K. B. 29, 4 N. & M. 170, 29 E. C. L. 132; Giblin v. McMullen, L. R. 2 P. C. 317, 38 L. J. P. C. 25, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 214, 5 Moore P. C. N. S. 434, 17 Wkly. Rep. 445, 16 Eng. Reprint 578; Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," §§ 37, 38.

Where the property is stolen it has been held that the bailee is not liable unless the loss is the result of gross negligence on his part (Whitney v. Lee, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 91; Foster v. Essex Bank, 17 Mass. 479, 9 Am. Dec. 168; Tancil v. Seaton, 28 Gratt. (Va.) 601, 26 Am. Rep. 380; Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354. But see Huxley v. Hartzell, 44 Mo. 370 [holding that the mere fact that an article was stolen without the knowledge of the bailee is not an excuse; but that it must appear that it was lost without his negligence or fault]; State v. Meagher, 44 Mo. 356, 100 Am. Dec. 298 [to the effect that the fact of theft was presumptive evidence of carelessness or fraud under the civil law]), but a bailee having reason to believe that there is danger of robbery who takes no precautions against it is negligent (Jenkins v. Motlow, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 248, 60 Am. Dec. 154), and where a bailee used the property and substituted other property of a similar kind and value, which was stolen, he was held liable for the loss to the bailor (Anderson v. Foresman, Wright (Ohio) 598).

Necessity of employing watchmen.—It has been said that there is no instance in which a bailee who has possession of goods solely for the benefit of the bailor is required to exercise diligence to the extent of employing a watchman to guard against danger to the property. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Flanary, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 50 S. W. 726.

33. Alabama.— Haynie v. Waring, 29 Ala. 263.

Arkansas.— Gulledge v. Howard, 23 Ark. 61; Lyon v. Tams, 11 Ark. 189.

Georgia.— McNabb v. Lockhart, 18 Ga. 495.

Illinois.— Skelley v. Kahn, 17 Ill. 170.

Indiana.— Conner v. Winton, 8 Ind. 315, 65 Am. Dec. 761; Kemp v. Farlow, 5 Ind. 462.

Iowa.— Jourdan v. Reed, 1 Iowa 135.

Kansas.— Lobenstein v. Pritchett, 8 Kan. 213.

Kentucky.—Sodowsky v. McFarland, 3 Dana (Ky.) 204.

Louisiana.—Boyd v. Estis, 11 La. Ann. 704.

Maine.— Storer v. Gowen, 18 Me. 174.

Massachusetts.— Whitney v. Lee, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 91.

Mississippi.— Lampley v. Scott, 24 Miss. 528.

Missouri.—Eddy v. Livingston, 35 Mo. 487, 88 Am. Dec. 122.

New Jersey.—Dudley v. Camden, etc., Ferry Co., 42 N. J. L. 25, 36 Am. Rep. 501.

New York.— Beardslee v. Richardson, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 25, 25 Am. Dec. 596.

North Carolina.— Stanton v. Bell, 9 N. C. 145, 11 Am. Dec. 744.

Ohio.— Anderson v. Foresman, Wright (Ohio) 598; Monteith v. Bissell, Wright (Ohio) 411.

Pennsylvania.—Swentzel v. Penn Bank, 147 Pa. St. 140, 23 Atl. 405, 415, 30 Am. St. Rep. 718; 15 L. R. A. 305; Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 275.

Texas.— Fulton v. Alexander, 21 Tex. 148.

Vermont.— Whitney v. Brattleboro First Nat. Bank, 55 Vt. 154, 45 Am. Rep. 598.

Wisconsin.—Jones v. Parish, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 494.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 38.

Treating property as he treats his own.— In Louisiana, under the code, the bailee must take the same care of the subject-matter of the bailment as he uses with respect to his own property. Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Gordon, 5 La. Ann. 604. Proof that the bailee so dealt with the property raises a presumption of adequate diligence (Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49), but the presumption is overcome by proof that he is greatly negligent of both (Carico v. Fidelity Invest. Co., 5 Colo. App. 56, 37 Pac. 29; Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49; Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9).

Mere knowledge by the bailor of the mode in which a bailee cares for property intrusted to him will not absolve the latter from liability for want of due care in keeping the property. Such knowledge, accompanied by evidence of long acquiescence without objection, might show an agreement as to the nature and degree of care which the bailee was to use, but beyond this it would not be safe to go. Conway Bank v. American Express Co., 8 Allen (Mass.) 512. Compare Knowles v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 38 Me. 55, 61 Am. Dec. 234; The William, 6 C. Rob. 316.

34. Colyar v. Taylor, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 372.

35. Mariner v. Smith, 5 Heisk. (Tenn.) 203.

of his conduct with the conduct, not of individuals, but of classes of men under similar conditions.[36]

(iv) Bailment For Sole Benefit of Bailee. Where the bailment is for the sole benefit of the bailee, he is bound to great care or extraordinary diligence and is responsible for slight neglect in relation to the subject-matter of the bailment.[37] He is not responsible, however, for reasonable wear and tear of what is loaned,[38] or for its utter loss or damage without blame or neglect attributable to himself.[39]

3. Sale and Transfer — a. By Bailee — (i) In General. As a rule[40] the Duty of person riding horse for exhibition purposes.—A person who, for the sole benefit of the bailor, and at his request, rides a horse in order to show his paces must use such skill as he possesses, and if proved to be skilled with respect to horses is liable for any injury to the horse. Wilson v. Brett, 12 L. J. Exch. 264, 11 M. & W. 113.

Where instrument of mandate is ambiguous.— It is a settled rule of the law of mandate that if the instrument is not expressed in plain and unequivocal terms, free from ambiguity, but the language is fairly susceptible of different interpretations, and the bailee, in fact, is misled and adopts and follows one, when the bailor intended the other, the latter will be bound and the former exonerated. Dunbar v. Hughes, 6 La. Ann. 466.

36. Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49.

37. Illinois.—Hagebush v. Ragland, 78 Ill. 40; Bennett v. O'Brien, 37 Ill. 250; Howard v. Babcock, 21 Ill. 259; Phillips v. Coudon, 14 Ill. 84.

Indiana.—Watkins v. Roberts, 28 Ind. 167; Wood v. McClure, 7 Ind. 155.

Iowa.— Cullen v. Lord, 39 Iowa 302.

Kentucky.— Kennedy v. Ashcraft, 4 Bush (Ky.) 530; Green v. Hollingsworth, 5 Dana (Ky.) 173, 30 Am. Dec. 680.

Maryland.— Casey v. Suter, 36 Md. 1.

New York.— Scranton v. Baxter, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 5.

North Carolina.— Fortune v. Harris, 51 N. C. 532.

Pennsylvania.— Todd v. Figley, 7 Watts (Pa.) 542.

England.— Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," §§ 42, 43.

Necessity of common prudence.—A bailee who is driving his own horse in the carriage of the bailor, at the request of the latter, merely as a means of recreation and amusement for both of them, is liable for damage to the carriage if he does not use common prudence and is careless and negligent. Carpenter v. Branch, 13 Vt. 161, 37 Am. Dec. 587.

Failure to use reasonable diligence to collect notes.—A person who has borrowed the note of a third person is liable to the lender, where the amount of the note is lost through the borrower's failure to use reasonable diligence to receive the money. Higbie v. Hopkins, 1 Wash. (U. S.) 230, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,466.

The servant or agent employed by the bailee is bound to the same extraordinary care as the master himself. Scranton v. Baxter, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 5.

38. Blakemore v. Bristol, etc., R. Co., 8 E. & B. 1035, 92 E. C. L. 1035.

39. Arkansas.— Parker v. Gaines, (Ark. 1889) 11 S. W. 693.

Delaware.— Wilson v. Rockland Mfg. Co., 2 Harr. (Del.) 67.

Indiana.—Watkins v. Roberts, 28 Ind. 167; Wood v. McClure, 7 Ind. 155.

Kentucky.— Green v. Hollingsworth, 5 Dana (Ky.) 173, 30 Am. Dec. 680.

Maryland.— Casey v. Suter, 36 Md. 1.

Michigan.— Beller v. Schultz, 44 Mich. 529, 7 N. W. 225, 38 Am. Rep. 280.

New York.— Whitehead v. Vanderbilt, 10 Daly (N. Y.) 214.

North Carolina.— Fortune v. Harris, 51 N. C. 532.

United States.— World's Columbian Exposition Co. v. Republic of France, 91 Fed. 64, 62 U. S. App. 704, 33 C. C. A. 333 [reversing 83 Fed. 109].

England.— Coggs v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 909, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 354.

Effect of bailor's interference with property.— The interference by a bailor to remedy an injury to the subject of the bailment, occasioned by the negligence of the bailee, will not exonerate the latter from his liability for slight neglect. Todd v. Figley, 7 Watts (Pa.) 542.

Wrongful act of third person.— Where the proximate cause of a loss is the wrongful act of a third person, the bailee is not excused unless it clearly appears that the act could not have been foreseen or prevented, and that no fault or neglect of his contributed in any degree to create the loss. Scranton v. Baxter, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 5.

40. Where statutes require some contracts of bailment to be in writing and recorded, else after the lapse of a specified time the subject-matter of the bailment shall, in the absence of demand by the bailor, be treated in all respects as the property of the bailee, the right of a purchaser from or a creditor of the bailee is unaffected by any interest of the bailor after the lapse of the specified time (Butler v. Jones, 80 Ala. 436, 2 So. 300; Pharis v. Leachman, 20 Ala. 662; Penny v. Davis, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 313; Green v. Botts, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 196; McDermott v. Barnum, 16 Mo. 114; Blount v. Hamey, 43 Mo. App. 644; Ludden, etc., Southern Music House v. Dusenberry, 27 S. C. 464, 4 S. E. 60; Walker v. Wynne, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 61; Porter v.

bailee cannot, in contravention of the purpose of the bailment, sell,[41] pledge, mortgage,[42] exchange,[43] or give away the property,[44] or otherwise expressly or impliedly transfer it[45] so as to give title even to one acting bona fide and without notice of the bailee's status.

Armstrong, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 74; Gay v. Moseley, 2 Munf. (Va.) 543); but the bailed property is liable only to the bailee's debts contracted after the expiration of the statutory term (Durden v. McWilliams, 31 Ala. 206; Carew v. Love, 30 Ala. 577).

41. Alabama.— Medlin v. Wilkerson, 81 Ala. 147, 1 So. 37; Sumner v. Woods, 67 Ala. 139, 42 Am. Rep. 104; Fairbanks v. Eureka Co., 67 Ala. 109; McCall v. Powell, 64 Ala. 254; Calhoun v. Thompson, 56 Ala. 166, 28 Am. Rep. 754.

Arkansas.— Smith v. Jones, 8 Ark. 109.

California.— Kohler v. Hayes, 41 Cal. 455.

Connecticut.— Hart v. Carpenter, 24 Conn. 427.

Indiana.— Wolf v. Esteb, 7 Ind. 448; Ingersoll v. Emmerson, 1 Ind. 76; Leffler v. Watson, 13 Ind. App. 176, 40 N. E. 1107, 41 N. E. 467.

Iowa.— Baehr v. Clark, 83 Iowa 313, 49 N. W. 840, 13 L. R. A. 717.

Kentucky.— Vaughn v. Hopson, 10 Bush (Ky.) 337; Chism v. Woods, 3 Hard. (Ky.) 531, 3 Am. Dec. 740.

Louisiana.— Short v. Lapeyreuse, 24 La. Ann. 45; Russell v. Favier, 18 La. 585, 36 Am. Dec. 662; Barfield v. Hewlett, 4 La. 118.

Maine.— Emerson v. Fisk, 6 Me. 200, 19 Am. Dec. 206.

Massachusetts.—Benner v. Puffer, 114 Mass. 376; Zuchtmann v. Roberts, 109 Mass. 53, 12 Am. Rep. 663; Sargent v. Metcalf, 5 Gray (Mass.) 306, 66 Am. Dec. 368; Coggill v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 3 Gray (Mass.) 545.

Michigan.— Dunlap v. Gleason, 16 Mich. 158, 93 Am. Dec. 231.

Mississippi.— Crump v. Mitchell, 34 Miss. 449.

Missouri.— Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581; Moore v. Simms, 47 Mo. App. 182; Hendricks v. Evans, 46 Mo. App. 313.

New Hampshire.— Stone v. Sleeper, 62 N. H. 3; Luther v. Cote, 61 N. H. 129; Weeks v. Pike, 60 N. H. 447; King v. Bates, 57 N. H. 446; Fisk v. Ewen, 46 N. H. 173; Bailey v. Colby, 34 N. H. 29, 66 Am. Dec. 752; Sargent v. Gile, 8 N. H. 325; Sanborn v. Colman, 6 N. H. 14, 23 Am. Dec. 703.

New York.— Austin v. Dye, 46 N. Y. 500; Ballard v. Burgett, 40 N. Y. 314; Spaulding v. Brewster, 50 Barb. (N. Y.) 142; Cook v. Beal, 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 497; Covill v. Hill, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 323; Hoffman v. Carow, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 285; Saltus v. Everett, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 267, 32 Am. Dec. 541. Compare Wait v. Green, 36 N. Y. 556, 2 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 340.

Pennsylvania.— Davis v. Bigler, 62 Pa. St. 242, 1 Am. Rep. 393; Agnew v. Johnson, 22 Pa. St. 471, 62 Am. Dec. 303.

South Carolina.— Carmichael v. Buck, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 451.

Vermont.— Dunham v. Lee, 24 Vt. 432; Hunt v. Douglass, 22 Vt. 128; Buckmaster v. Mower, 21 Vt. 204.

United States.— Stump v. Roberts, Brunn. Col. Cas. (U. S.) 224, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,561, Cooke (Tenn.) 350.

England.— Loeschman v. Machin, 2 Stark. 311, 20 Rev. Rep. 687, 3 E. C. L. 423.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 28.

Implied power to sell a bailed article to pay the expense of keeping does not warrant the bailee in selling more than sufficient for that purpose. Whitlock v. Heard, 13 Ala. 776, 48 Am. Dec. 73.

Sale by administrator of bailee.— The sale of the bailed property by an administrator of the bailee is void as against the bailor. Maxwell v. Houston, 67 N. C. 305.

Where a bailee for hire has a right to purchase property if he pay the price within a certain time, the contract gives him no right to sell. Partridge v. Philbrick, 60 N. H. 556.

An unauthorized sale by a bailee may be ratified by the bailor, who may demand the proceeds of the sale. Atkins v. Gamble, 42 Cal. 86, 10 Am. Rep. 282.

42. Indiana.— Schindler v. Westover, 99 Ind. 395.

Kansas.— Branson v. Heckler, 22 Kan. 610.

Missouri.— Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581.

New York.— Nauman v. Caldwell, 2 Sweeny (N. Y.) 212; Holbrook v. Wight, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 169, 35 Am. Dec. 607; Kennedy v. Strong, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 128.

Pennsylvania.— Agnew v. Johnson, 22 Pa. St. 471, 62 Am. Dec. 303.

Vermont.— Thrall v. Lathrop, 30 Vt. 307, 73 Am. Dec. 306.

Virginia.— Skinner v. Dodge, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 432.

United States.— Van Amridge v. Peabody, 1 Mason (U. S.) 440, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,825.

England.—Daubigny v. Duval, 5 T. R. 604; Paterson v. Tash, 2 Str. 1178.

Hypothecation of receipt for bailed goods. — A bailment of the class locatio operis mercium vehendarum does not authorize the bailee who has deposited the subject-matter of the bailment in a warehouse, according to his instructions, and taken a receipt therefor, to hypothecate such receipt as security for his own debt. Richardson v. Smith, 33 Ga. Suppl. 95.

43. Atkinson v. Jones, 72 Ala. 248.

44. Johnston v. Whittemore, 27 Mich. 463.

45. Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581; Everett v. Coffin, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 603, 22 Am. Dec. 551; Murray v. Burling, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 172.

Consignment by the bailee of the goods bailed, in payment of a balance due by the bailee, does not divest the title of the bailor, even though the bailee has authority to sell.

(II) Where Bailee Has Interest in Property. Where the bailment is accompanied with other contracts or stipulations which affect its character and give to the bailee other rights not incident to a simple bailment, and where there is no personal confidence and none of the characters of an estate at will, and where it would be entirely consistent with the analogies existing in the case of real estate to hold that the bailee has an assignable interest which may be transferred to a third person, an assignment by the bailee will be enforced and protected as between the parties and as against all parties whose interests are not injuriously affected by the transfer.[46]

b. By Bailor. The bailor may sell the subject-matter of the bailment, and thereby confer on the purchaser an immediate and valid title thereto, the possession of the bailee becoming that of the purchaser,[47] without any formal delivery of the subject of the bailment to him, a mere notice to the bailee of the sale being sufficient.[48]

Canadian Bank of Commerce v. Baum, 187 Pa. St. 48, 40 Atl. 975.

A delivery to a creditor in part payment of the bailee's private debt is illegal. Gould v. Blodgett, 61 N. H. 115.

A distress or sale for rent owing by the bailee does not divest the title of the bailor. Connah v. Hale, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 462.

A sale for taxes owed by the bailee does not operate to divest the bailor's title. Crist v. Kleber, 79 Pa. St. 290.

Subjection of bailed property to execution. — The bailor is not ordinarily divested of his title to the bailed property by reason of its sale under an execution against the bailee (Holt v. Holt, 58 N. H. 276; Cole v. Mann, 62 N. Y. 1; Frank v. Batten, 49 Hun (N. Y.) 91, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 705, 17 N. Y. St. 476; Clark v. Jack, 7 Watts (Pa.) 375; Cobb v. Deiches, 7 Pa. Super. Ct. 252; Hatch v. Heim, 86 Fed. 436, 58 U. S. App. 544, 30 C. C. A. 171); but creditors of a bailee may levy upon and sell property bailed for consumption or sale, or to be dealt with in any way inconsistent with the continued ownership of the bailor, or in a manner which would necessarily destroy his right of property (Frank v. Batten, 49 Hun (N. Y.) 91, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 705, 17 N. Y. St. 476; Ludden v. Hazen, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 650. See also Russell v. Favier, 18 La. 585, 36 Am. Dec. 662; Devlin v. O'Neill, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 305 [affirmed in 68 N. Y. 622]). But where chattels are leased with an option to buy, the purchasers of the bailed property at a sheriff's sale, under an execution against the bailee, do not acquire the option to purchase the property. Cobb v. Deiches, 7 Pa. Super. Ct. 252.

Right to bail property. — It has been held that a bailee has such a special property in the goods as authorizes him to bail the goods to another. Cox v. Easley, 11 Ala. 362; Whitsett v. Womack, 8 Ala. 466.

46. Day v. Bassett, 102 Mass. 445; Vincent v. Cornell, 13 Pick. (Mass.) 294, 23 Am. Dec. 683; Bailey v. Colby, 34 N. H. 29, 66 Am. Dec. 752.

Of this class are cases where the bailee has a right as against the bailor to insist upon the possession of the property until a lien thereon is fully discharged by payment or performance of other conditions (Jarvis v. Rogers, 15 Mass. 389; Bailey v. Colby, 34 N. H. 29, 66 Am. Dec. 752; Urquhart v. McIver, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 103; Ratcliffe v. Davis, 1 Bulst. 29; Man v. Shiffner, 2 East 523) and where there is a hiring for a fixed time, and without restriction or limitation from which any personal confidence may be inferred (Bailey v. Colby, 34 N. H. 29, 66 Am. Dec. 752; Davis v. Emery, 11 N. H. 230; Putnam v. Wyley, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 432, 5 Am. Dec. 346); but a stipulation that a thing bailed is to be employed in the service of the bailee and in his business does not authorize the bailee to lease the property to another (Crocker v. Gullifer, 44 Me. 491, 69 Am. Dec. 118. See also Jones v. Fort, 36 Ala. 449; Persch v. Quiggle, 57 Pa. St. 247).

47. Hodges v. Hurd, 47 Ill. 363; Chambersburg Nat. Bank v. Buckeye Iron, etc., Works, 46 Ill. App. 526; Hardy v. Lemons, 36 La. Ann. 146; State v. Fitzpatrick, 64 Mo. 185; Erwin v. Arthur, 61 Mo. 386; Williams v. Gray, 39 Mo. 201; Sigerson v. Harker, 15 Mo. 101; Heine v. Anderson, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 318.

The bailee's interest after such sale remains as theretofore, with the substitution of a new bailor. Hardy v. Lemons, 36 La. Ann. 146.

48. Hodges v. Hurd, 47 Ill. 363; Chambersburg Nat. Bank v. Buckeye Iron, etc., Works, 46 Ill. App. 526; Whitney v. Lynde, 16 Vt. 579; Pierce v. Chipman, 8 Vt. 334; Harman v. Anderson, 2 Campb. 243, 11 Rev. Rep. 706. Compare Burnell v. Robertson, 10 Ill. 282.

No restriction of doctrine that actual delivery is unessential. — The doctrine that an actual delivery is unnecessary, even as against attaching creditors of the bailor, is not restricted to bailees of a quasi-public character, as carriers, warehousemen, or public officers holding the goods against the will of the vendor. Chambersburg Nat. Bank v. Buckeye Iron, etc., Works, 46 Ill. App. 526. See also Hughes v. Stubblefield, 21 Ill. App. 216.

Sufficiency of order for delivery. — As between the bailor and the vendee, an order on the bailee is a delivery, even if the order for delivery has been delivered to the vendee. Sigerson v. Harker, 15 Mo. 101.

4. Compensation, Reimbursement, and Lien — a. Compensation — (i) Bailment Gratuitous. Where the bailment is for the sole benefit of the bailee, the bailor is entitled to no recompense whatever;[49] and where it is for the sole benefit of the bailor or the sole benefit of the bailee, the latter is not entitled to any recompense for a duty involved by the bailment.[50]

(ii) Bailment For Mutual Benefit — (a) In General. Where the bailment is for the benefit of both parties both the bailor and the bailee are entitled to compensation which need not necessarily be in money.[51]

(b) Of Bailee — (1) In General. The bailee is entitled to compensation for the work performed by him;[52] but as a general rule where the contract is an entire one only upon full performance.[53]

(2) Compensation Pro Tanto. Where materials furnished by the bailor to be worked on by the bailee are accidentally destroyed before completion of the work, without any fault on the part of the bailee, the latter is entitled to compensation for such work as he has already done,[54] unless the contract of bailment imports a different obligation.[55] So it has been held that notwithstanding an unreasonable delay in completion, the bailee has a right to compensation for work that he has actually done upon the thing bailed.[56]

(c) Of Bailor — (1) In General. Where the bailment is one of hiring the bailor is entitled to rent for the use of the subject-matter thereof,[57] unless he

What amounts to a delivery, when the facts are given, is a question of law. Williams v. Gray, 39 Mo. 201.

49. Iowa.— Chamberlin v. Cobb, 32 Iowa 161.

New York.— Putnam v. Wyley, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 432, 5 Am. Dec. 346.

Tennessee.—Gunn v. Mason, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 637.

Texas.— Neal v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 408, 26 S. W. 726.

Vermont.—Carpenter v. Branch, 13 Vt. 161, 37 Am. Dec. 587.

50. Prince v. Alabama State Fair, 106 Ala. 340, 17 So. 449, 28 L. R. A. 716; Wilson v. Wilson, 16 La. Ann. 155; Lafourche, etc., Nav. Co. v. Collins, 12 La. Ann. 119; Carpenter v. Branch, 13 Vt. 161, 37 Am. Dec. 587.

In Louisiana where the services are onerous, responsible, and toilsome, remuneration has sometimes been allowed to the mandatory. Beugnot v. Tremoulet, 52 La. Ann. 454, 27 So. 107; Krekeler's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 726, 11 So. 35; New Orleans, etc., Packet Co. v. Brown, 36 La. Ann. 138, 51 Am. Rep. 5; Lafourche, etc., Nav. Co. v. Collins, 12 La. Ann. 119; Fowler's Succession, 7 La. Ann. 207; Waterman v. Gibson, 5 La. Ann. 672; Decoux v. Plantevignes, 10 La. 503.

A bailee not willing to act gratuitously any longer must, if he means to make a charge thereafter, notify the bailor to that effect before he can make a claim for charges and sell the property therefor. Dale v. Brinckerhoff, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 45.

51. Alabama.— Prince v. Alabama State Fair, 106 Ala. 340, 17 So. 449, 28 L. R. A. 716.

Illinois.— Francis v. Shrader, 67 Ill. 272.

Indiana.— Vigo Agricultural Soc. v. Brumfield, 102 Ind. 146, 1 N. E. 382, 52 Am. Rep. 657.

Iowa.— Chamberlin v. Cobb, 32 Iowa 161.

Massachusetts.—Newhall v. Paige, 10 Gray (Mass.) 366.

Missouri.— Parker v. Marquis, 64 Mo. 38.

Pennsylvania.— Woodruff v. Painter, 150 Pa. St. 91, 24 Atl. 621, 30 Am. St. Rep. 786, 16 L. R. A. 451.

England.— White v. Humphery, 11 Q. B. 43, 12 Jur. 417, 63 E. C. L. 43.

52. Garrard v. Moody, 48 Ga. 96.

53. Niblo v. Binsse, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 375, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 476; Archer v. McDonald, 36 Hun (N. Y.) 194; Cohen v. Moshkowitz, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 389, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1084; Pierce v. Schenck, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 28.

54. Cohen v. Moshkowitz, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 389, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1084; Labowitz v. Frankfort, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 275, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1038, 53 N. Y. St. 525; Menetone v. Athawes, 3 Burr. 1592.

55. Cohen v. Moshkowitz, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 389, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1084.

Custom or local usage may throw the loss on the bailee. Niblo v. Binsse, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 375, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 476; Cohen v. Moshkowitz, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 389, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1084; Labowitz v. Frankfort, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 275, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1038, 53 N. Y. St. 525; Gillett v. Mawman, 1 Taunt. 137.

56. Shailer v. Corbett, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 875, 40 N. Y. St. 786.

57. Iowa.— Cullen v. Lord, 39 Iowa 302.

Missouri.— Bigbe v. Coombs, 64 Mo. 529.

New Hampshire.— Hartford v. Jackson, 11 N. H. 145.

New Mexico.—Armijo v. Abeytia, 5 N. M. 533, 25 Pac. 777.

New York.— Gleason v. Smith, 39 Hun (N. Y.) 617; Johnson v. Meeker, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 92; Foster v. Magee, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 182; Rider v. Union India Rubber Co., 5 Bosw. (N. Y.) 85 [affirmed in 28 N. Y. 379]; Wilcox, etc., Sewing Mach. Co. v. Hynes, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 760, 50 N. Y. St. 489.

retakes possession of the property before the expiration of the stipulated time of hiring and against the objection of the bailee.[58]

(2) Implied Right to Rent. Whether a person who permits another to make use of his property has an implied right to recover rent therefor is an unsettled question, some authorities holding that in the absence of express agreement a contract to pay a reasonable price for the use of an article is implied,[59] while others hold that the mere use of an article does not warrant an inference that the bailor has a right to rent by reason of such use.[60]

(3) Where Bailee Loses Possession or Use of Property. Where the hired chattel is destroyed without fault of the bailee before the expiration of the period during which he was to have the use of it, he is, in the absence of express stipulations to the contrary, liable only pro tanto for the payment of the hire;[61] but he may agree to terms that will compel him to continue to pay the hire under any circumstances whatsoever.[62]

b. Reimbursement. Reimbursement for actual disbursements and necessary and useful expenses incurred in preserving the property bailed, or in fulfilling the objects of the bailment, may be recovered either by a gratuitous bailee[63] or

North Carolina.— Rogers v. McKenzie, 73 N. C. 487.

Vermont.— Cushman v. Somers, 60 Vt. 613, 15 Atl. 315; Woodward v. Cutter, 33 Vt. 49.

Avoiding payment of hire by purchase of article.—A bailee who agrees to pay a specified sum a day for use of an article, with the privilege of paying another sum for it if lost or injured, may, although the article is not lost or injured, pay its price and avoid paying the hire. Pope v. Murray, 6 Ala. 489.

Credit on rent should be allowed the bailee where he has laid out money for the benefit of the bailor and to secure the benefit of his lease. Rogers v. McKenzie, 73 N. C. 487.

Liability for rent on breach of contract.—Where a contract specifies that the bailed property is to be considered as value received and a breach of contract by the bailee takes place, the bailor is not entitled to rent for any time thereafter the article is retained by the bailee, because the bailor might refuse to institute suit for a considerable time and then recover the value of the article bailed and the rent for such time; whereas if suit was instituted at once upon the breach the damages would only be the value of the article. Armijo v. Abeytia, 5 N. M. 533, 25 Pac. 777.

Rent for use of article hired by another than user.—A bailor is not entitled to rent from the user of a thing, bailed to a person who hires it in the name of the person who uses it, unless the user has previously authorized the bailee to hire the article or subsequently ratifies the act. Adams v. Bourne, 9 Gray (Mass.) 100.

Rent not dependent on third party's failure to act as required by contract.—A bailee, who agrees to deliver as rent a certain article, to be selected by a third person, to the lessor, at a place designated by the third person, is not discharged from payment by reason of the third person's failure to make the selection, etc., but on the failure of the third person to act within a reasonable time the bailee should select the article, designate the place, deliver the article, and notify his bailor. Cushman v. Somers, 60 Vt. 613, 15 Atl. 315.

Warranty of quality as affecting right to rent.—Where the bailor stipulates to furnish an article in good order, he has, notwithstanding a breach of warranty on his part, a right to recover rent, if the bailee does not rescind the contract and return the article. Woodward v. Stein, 5 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 171, 3 Am. L. Rec. 352.

58. Harris v. Maury, 30 Ala. 679; Farrow v. Bragg, 30 Ala. 261.

59. Cullen v. Lord, 39 Iowa 302; Rider v. Union India Rubber Co., 5 Bosw. (N. Y.) 85 [affirmed in 28 N. Y. 379].

Use under expectation of purchase.— There is an implied agreement that a person with whom another's property is left with an expectation of purchase will pay for the use of such property. Rider v. Union India-rubber Co., 28 N. Y. 379 [affirming 5 Bosw. (N. Y.) 85]. See also Rider v. Union India Rubber Co., 4 Bosw. (N. Y.) 169.

60. Davis v. Breon, 1 Ariz. 240, 25 Pac. 537; Kincheloe v. Priest, 89 Mo. 240, 1 S. W. 235, 58 Am. Rep. 117; Dunham v. Kinnear, 1 Watts (Pa.) 130; Plimpton v. Gleason, 57 Vt. 604.

61. Warth v. Mack, 79 Fed. 915, 51 U. S. App. 133, 25 C. C. A. 235.

62. Bigbee v. Coombs, 64 Mo. 529; Hartford v. Jackson, 11 N. H. 145; Gleason v. Smith, 39 Hun (N. Y.) 617; Warth v. Mack, 79 Fed. 915, 51 U. S. App. 133, 25 C. C. A. 235.

63. Kentucky.—Reeder v. Anderson, 4 Dana (Ky.) 193.

Louisiana.— Devalcourt v. Dillon, 12 La. Ann. 672.

Massachusetts.— Chase v. Corcoran, 106 Mass. 286; Preston v. Neale, 12 Gray (Mass.) 222.

Nebraska.— Moline, etc., Co. v. Neville, 52 Nebr. 574, 72 N. W. 854.

New York.— Bacon v. New York City Fourth Nat. Bank, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 435; Dale by a bailee where the bailment is for the benefit of both parties.[64] No bailee, however, is entitled to reimbursement for expenses incurred by reason of his own negligence, misconduct, or misuse of the property bailed.[65]

c. Lien — (I) Right to — (A) Bailment Gratuitous. Where the bailment is gratuitous the bailee has no lien upon the subject-matter thereof.[66]

(B) Bailment For Hire — (1) In General. The right to a specific lien on property in the hands of a tradesman or artisan for the price of work done upon it is of common-law origin,[67] but the right has long been extended to every bailee who has by his labor or skill conferred some value on the thing bailed,[68] in the

v. Brinckerhoff, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 45; Baker v. Hoag, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 201; Amory v. Flyn, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 102, 6 Am. Dec. 316.

England.— Nicholson v. Chapman, 2 H. Bl. 254, 3 Rev. Rep. 374.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 85.

Legal expenses incurred in defending property from seizure are properly a subject for reimbursement. Bacon v. New York City Fourth Nat. Bank, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 435.

64. Fick v. Runnels, 48 Mich. 302, 12 N. W. 204.

Expenses of preserving property detained for a lien cannot be claimed by the bailee. Somes v. British Empire Shipping Co., 8 H. L. Cas. 338, 6 Jur. N. S. 761, 30 L. J. Q. B. 229, 8 Wkly. Rep. 707, 11 Eng. Reprint 459; Bruce v. Everson, 1 Cab. & El. 18.

65. Fick v. Runnels, 48 Mich. 302, 12 N. W. 204; Crigler v. Gaff, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 278, 7 Cinc. L. Bul. 17 [affirmed in 11 Cinc. L. Bul. 327].

A bailee conniving at a tortious act liable to destroy the property of the bailor is not entitled to reimbursement for money expended by him in preserving the property from such tortious act. Enos v. Cole, 53 Wis. 235, 10 N. W. 377.

Unauthorized expenditure is not the subject of a reimbursement. Pelletier v. Roumage, 2 La. 528.

Reimbursement by sale.—A bailee to whom goods have been consigned for sale may not sell the consigned property, contrary to instructions, in order to reimburse himself. Hallowell v. Fawcett, 30 Iowa 491.

66. Preston v. Neale, 12 Gray (Mass.) 222; Wentworth v. Day, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 352, 37 Am. Dec. 145; Amory v. Flyn, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 102, 6 Am. Dec. 316; Etter v. Edwards, 4 Watts (Pa.) 63, 6 Am. Dec. 316; Nicholson v. Chapman, 2 H. Bl. 254, 3 Rev. Rep. 374; Binstead v. Buck, 2 W. Bl. 1117.

Advance of money by gratuitous bailee.—A bailee to whom property has been loaned, who afterward advances money to the bailor without any special contract, may not retain the property until the money is repaid. Cole v. Cole, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 340.

Expenses of preserving article.—In Hoover v. Epler, 52 Pa. St. 522, it was held that a bailee hired to do a particular act for which he was to receive compensation, who voluntarily incurred expenses in and about the preservation of the article, had a lien thereon for expenses he had incurred toward its preservation.

67. Holderman v. Manier, 104 Ind. 118, 3 N. E. 811; Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill (Md.) 213; McDearmid v. Foster, 14 Oreg. 417, 12 Pac. 813; McIntyre v. Carter, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 392, 37 Am. Dec. 519.

The bailee has no lien for money advanced on the property in relation to which the work is performed. East v. Ferguson, 59 Ind. 169.

68. Connecticut.— Leavy v. Kinsella, 39 Conn. 50.

Georgia.— Garrard v. Moody, 48 Ga. 96.

Indiana.— Holderman v. Manier, 104 Ind. 118, 3 N. E. 811; Hanna v. Phelps, 7 Ind. 21, 63 Am. Dec. 410.

Maryland.—Wilson v. Guyton, 8 Gill (Md.) 213.

New Hampshire.— Wilson v. Martin, 40 N. H. 88.

New Jersey.— White v. Smith, 44 N. J. L. 105, 43 Am. Rep. 347.

New York.— Conrow v. Little, 115 N. Y. 387, 22 N. E. 346, 26 N. Y. St. 527, 5 L. R. A. 693.

Oregon.— McDearmid v. Foster, 14 Oreg. 417, 12 Pac. 813.

Pennsylvania.— McIntyre v. Carver, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 392, 37 Am. Dec. 519.

Vermont.—James Smith Woolen Mach. Co. v. Holden, 73 Vt. 396, 51 Atl. 2.

England.— Chapman v. Allen, Cro. Car. 271; Jackson v. Cummins, 3 Jur. 436, 8 L. J. Exch. 265, 5 M. & W. 342.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 78.

A civil engineer who makes field-notes, maps, etc., in and about the construction of a canal on material furnished by his employer has a lien on the notes, field-maps, etc. Amazon Irrigating Co. v. Briesen, 1 Kan. App. 758, 41 Pac. 1116.

A mechanic to whom an engine has been sent for alteration or repair has, under Ind. Rev. Stat. (1881), §§ 5304, 5305, a lien on the engine. Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615.

Manufactured articles.—A person who has material left with him to be manufactured has a lien upon the article manufactured. Holderman v. Manier, 104 Ind. 118, 3 N. E. 811; Hazard v. Manning, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 613; White v. Hoyt, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 232; Pierce v. Schenck, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 28; Ruggles v. Walker, 34 Vt. 468. Under Cal. Civ. Code, § 3052, providing that any person who makes, alters, or repairs any article of personal property, at the request of the owner, has a lien thereon for his reasonable charges, it is immaterial whether the work be done absence of anything in the contract inconsistent therewith.[69] No express agreement for a lien is necessary,[70] and it does not seem material whether the agreement be to pay a stipulated price or only an implied contract to pay a reasonable price.[71] The bailee must, however, have an exclusive legal possession[72] of the subject-matter created by some express or implied contract existing between the bailor and the bailee.[73]

(2) Effect of Special Agreement. A special agreement as to the mode of payment does not destroy the right to a lien,[74] except where it contains some terms inconsistent with that right.[75] on the bailee's or bailor's premises. Douglass v. McFarland, 92 Cal. 656, 28 Pac. 687.

69. Hanna v. Phelps, 7 Ind. 21, 63 Am. Dec. 410; Wilson v. Martin, 40 N. H. 88; White v. Smith, 44 N. J. L. 105, 43 Am. Rep. 347; Morgan v. Congdon, 4 N. Y. 552.

70. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139; Hazard v. Manning, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 613; Hoover v. Epler, 52 Pa. St. 522. See also Conrow v. Little, 115 N. Y. 387, 22 N. E. 346, 26 N. Y. St. 527, 5 L. R. A. 693.

71. Douglass v. McFarland, 92 Cal. 656, 28 Pac. 687; Hanna v. Phelps, 7 Ind. 21, 63 Am. Dec. 410; Morgan v. Congdon, 4 N. Y. 552. Contra, Ruggles v. Walker, 34 Vt. 468.

72. Constructive possession may be sufficient, as where the thing is incapable of possession, or where the actual possession is in another, as where goods are consigned to one who has made advances on them. Heard v. Brewer, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 136.

73. Florida.—Wright v. Terry, 23 Fla. 160, 2 So. 6.

Maine.— Small v. Robinson, 69 Me. 425, 31 Am. Rep. 299; Hotchkiss v. Hunt, 49 Me. 213.

Massachusetts.— Gilson v. Gwinn, 107 Mass. 126, 9 Am. Rep. 13; King v. Indian Orchard Canal Co., 11 Cush. (Mass.) 31; Hollingsworth v. Dow, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 228.

New York.— Hassett v. Sanborn, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 588, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 81.

Pennsylvania.— McIntyre v. Carver, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 392, 37 Am. Dec. 519.

Hence at common law the lien does not extend, as against the bailor, to persons employed by the bailee (Wright v. Terry, 23 Fla. 160, 2 So. 6; Hollingsworth v. Dow, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 228), and the bailor's knowledge that a servant of the bailee is performing the work does not give the servant a right to a lien (Hollingsworth v. Dow, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 228); nor will the provisions of a statute, creating liens in favor of a bailee not entitled thereto at common law, be impliedly extended to his employees (Wright v. Terry, 23 Fla. 160, 2 So. 6; Landry v. Blanchard, 16 La. Ann. 173).

Lien of tortious bailee.— Manufacturers cannot lawfully set up a lien for labor performed upon articles tortiously converted to their own use. Hotchkiss v. Hunt, 49 Me. 213.

74. Chase v. Westmore, 2 Marsh. 346, 5 M. & S. 180, 17 Rev. Rep. 301; Crawshay v. Homfray, 4 B. & Ald. 50, 22 Rev. Rep. 618, 6 E. C. L. 385.

75. Indiana.— Hanna v. Phelps, 7 Ind. 21, 63 Am. Dec. 410.

Massachusetts.— Stickney v. Allen, 10 Gray (Mass.) 352.

New Hampshire.—Wilson v. Martin, 40 N. H. 88; Stoddard Woolen Manufactory v. Huntley, 8 N. H. 441, 31 Am. Dec. 198.

New Jersey.— White v. Smith, 44 N. J. L. 105, 43 Am. Rep. 347.

New York.— Morgan v. Congdon, 4 N. Y. 552; Chandler v. Belden, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 157.

England.— Cowell v. Simpson, 16 Ves. Jr. 275, 10 Rev. Rep. 181; Blake v. Nicholson, 3 M. & S. 167; Chase v. Westmore, 2 Marsh. 346, 5 M. & S. 180, 17 Rev. Rep. 301; Crawshay v. Homfray, 4 B. & Ald. 50, 22 Rev. Rep. 618, 6 E. C. L. 385.

An agreement to give credit to the bailor has such effect.

Indiana.— Tucker v. Taylor, 53 Ind. 93.

New Hampshire.— Stillings v. Gibson, 63 N. H. 1; Stoddard Woolen Manufactory v. Huntley, 8 N. H. 441, 31 Am. Dec. 198.

New York.— Morgan v. Congdon, 4 N. Y. 552; Pierce v. Schenck, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 28; Chandler v. Belden, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 157, 9 Am. Dec. 193.

Pennsylvania.— Lee v. Gould, 47 Pa. St. 398.

Vermont.— Hutchins v. Olcutt, 4 Vt. 549, 24 Am. Dec. 634.

England.— Cowell v. Simpson, 16 Ves. Jr. 275, 10 Rev. Rep. 181; Crawshay v. Homfray, 4 B. & Ald. 50, 22 Rev. Rep. 618, 6 E. C. L. 385.

Contra, Ruggles v. Walker, 34 Vt. 468, where the contract called for the payment of the price of manufacturing the article in advance, but it was held that the right of lien was not affected by the neglect or refusal of the bailor to make such payment.

Leaving property in care of landlord.— Where, at the expiration of a tenancy, a person asked leave of his landlord to permit property to remain until such time as it should be required to be removed, agreeing to pay therefor a certain sum monthly, but not agreeing that the property should remain that long, or for payment when the property should be removed, the transaction was held inconsistent with a lien for storage in favor of the landlord. Webster v. Keck, (Nebr. 1902) 89 N. W. 410.

Where a mechanic agrees to labor on property in consideration of being employed and paid by its owner to do other work for him,

(II) ASSIGNABILITY OF. It has been said that the right is a personal one which cannot be transferred to another,[76] nor is it attachable as personal property or a chose in action of the person entitled to it.[77]

(III) EXTENT OF— (A) In General. As a general rule, the right to retain property on account of work performed or expenses incurred applies only to the identical property on which the work has been so performed, or on account of which the expenses have been so incurred.[78] The right, however, extends to the whole of an entire work upon one single subject,[79] even if the property be delivered in different parcels and at different times, if the work to be done under the agreement be entire,[80] and covers any outgoing expenses incurred by a bailee in order to perform his own work in relation to the bailed property.[81]

(B) Where There Is a General Balance. Where there is a general balance due from the bailor to the bailee the courts seem inclined to sustain a lien therefor whenever it can be done by evidence of custom or agreement.[82] Such a general lien, however, can only be acquired by a well-established custom, the particular mode of dealing between the parties,[83] or by express the agreement is inconsistent with a lien. Stickney v. Allen, 10 Gray (Mass.) 352.

76. Lovett v. Brown, 40 N. H. 511; Ruggles v. Walker, 34 Vt. 468; Daubigny v. Duval, 5 T. R. 604. Contra, Davis v. Bigler, 62 Pa. St. 242, 1 Am. Rep. 393, where it was said that a bailee might transfer his claim and with it his lien and the possession of the thing as security for his claim, since such an act on his part amounted to a mere appointment of the assignee to keep possession as his servant or attorney, and that the lien was not thereby extinguished, for the possession still continued properly to be the possession of the bailee, but that it was entirely different where there was an unlawful sale or pledge by the bailee of the thing itself. Such an act puts an end to bailee's possession and with it his lien.

77. Lovett v. Brown, 40 N. H. 511 [cited in Ruggles v. Walker, 34 Vt. 468].

78. Indiana.— Holderman v. Manier, 104 Ind. 118, 3 N. E. 811.

Iowa.— Nevan v. Roup, 8 Iowa 207.

Missouri.— Honig v. Knipe, 25 Mo. App. 574.

New York.— Gregory v. Stryker, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 628.

Rhode Island.— Moulton v. Greene, 10 R. I. 330.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 79.

Work done under special contract as to payment.—Where there is a contract to do work upon several articles of property, and any one article is to be returned as soon as completed, and the bailor contracts to pay on the first of any month for those articles that are completed and returned during the preceding month, the bailee has no lien upon articles in his possession for an unpaid balance. Wiles Laundering Co. v. Hahlo, 105 N. Y. 234, 11 N. E. 500, 59 Am. Rep. 496.

79. Morgan v. Congdon, 4 N. Y. 552.

Effect of bailor's default on special contract limiting lien.— A special contract confining the lien to all articles manufactured and delivered after a specified quantity is of no avail, where the bailor does not supply the bailee with sufficient material to enable him to manufacture such a sufficient number of articles as to enable him both to deliver the specified quantity and satisfy his lien; but the bailee has a lien on the last lot of articles manufactured. Mount v. Williams, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 77. See also Moore v. Hitchcock, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 292.

80. Ruggles v. Walker, 34 Vt. 468; Chase v. Westmore, 2 Marsh. 346, 5 M. & S. 180, 17 Rev. Rep. 301.

81. Briggs v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 6 Allen (Mass.) 246, 83 Am. Dec. 626; Coller v. Shepard, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 305.

The lien given by Mass. Gen. Stat. c. 151, § 21, attaches for all expenditure including the cost of material and labor. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139.

82. Honig v. Knipe, 25 Mo. App. 574.

Lien for purchase-money.— An article bought, partly paid for, and left with the seller for repairs cannot be retained for the purchase-money. Owen v. Duhme, 3 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 303.

83. Moulton v. Greene, 10 R. I. 330; Lickbarrow v. Mason, 1 H. Bl. 357, 2 T. R. 63, 6 East 21 note, 1 Rev. Rep. 425.

Calico printers have a lien for a general balance on goods delivered to them to print. Weldon v. Gould, 3 Esp. 268, 6 Rev. Rep. 832.

Dyers.— As to the general liens of dyers see Bennett v. Johnson, 2 Chit. 455, 3 Dougl. 387, 18 E. C. L. 734; Green v. Farmer, 4 Burr. 2214, 1 W. Bl. 651; Savill v. Barchard, 4 Esp. 53; Close v. Waterhouse, 6 East 523 note, 8 Rev. Rep. 524 note; Kirkman v. Shawcross, 6 T. R. 14, 3 Rev. Rep. 103.

Packers have a general lien upon all the goods of a customer in their possession or in their hands, and not merely for money owing in respect to particular goods. In re Witt, 2 Ch. D. 489, 45 L. J. Bankr. 118, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 785, 24 Wkly. Rep. 891; Ex p. Deeze, 1 Atk. 228.

Printers employed to print certain numbers, but not all consecutive numbers, of an entire work have a lien upon undelivered copies for a general balance due for printing all the numbers. Blake v. Nicholson, 3 M. & S. 167.

contract,[84] unless the property delivered is of such a character that it is impracticable to keep separate and distinct charges against its several parts,[85] or different articles are received and treated by the bailee as one lot.[86]

(iv) Waiver or Loss of. A bailee's lien is lost or waived where not asserted at the proper time,[87] or where the bailee treats the bailed property as his own,[88] parts with the possession thereof,[89] or takes security as payment of the charges

84. Nevan v. Roup, 8 Iowa 207; Moulton v. Greene, 10 R. I. 330.

Extension of lien by agreement.—The common-law right of lien may be extended by an express agreement, or impliedly from usage and mutual understanding, that the property shall be held not only for expenses and labor actually bestowed upon it, but also as a security for the balance of similar demands. McFarland v. Wheeler, 26 Wend. (N. Y.) 467.

85. Holderman v. Manier, 104 Ind. 118, 3 N. E. 811; Shaw v. Ferguson, 78 Ind. 547; East v. Ferguson, 59 Ind. 169; Lane v. Old Colony, etc., R. Co., 14 Gray (Mass.) 143; White v. Hoyt, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 232.

86. Lane v. Old Colony, etc., R. Co., 14 Gray (Mass.) 143; Young v. Kimball, 23 Pa. St. 193.

87. Leigh v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 58 Ala. 165; Hanna v. Phelps, 7 Ind. 21, 63 Am. Dec. 410; Mexal v. Dearborn, 12 Gray (Mass.) 336; Holbrook v. Wight, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 169, 35 Am. Dec. 607.

A lien on the property of an insolvent is not waived by filing a claim for the amount due in the insolvency proceedings, if the lien be asserted when the claim is filed. Knapp, etc., Co. v. McCaffery, 178 Ill. 107, 52 N. E. 898, 69 Am. St. Rep. 290.

Lien for sum exceeding value of property. —A lien, upon property much less in value than the amount due, is not lost because the bailee asserts bona fide, to an officer attaching on behalf of a creditor of the bailor, that the bailor has no beneficial interest in such property. Mutual Redemption Bank v. Sturgis, 9 Bosw. (N. Y.) 660.

Where a different ground of retention than the lien is asserted the bailee waives the lien. Long Island Brewery Co. v. Fitzpatrick, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 389; Boardman v. Sill, 1 Campb. 410 note; White v. Gainer, 2 Bing. 23, 9 E. C. L. 464, 1 C. & P. 324, 12 E. C. L. 194, 9 Moore C. P. 41. Thus a bailee, who, having a lien on property, buys it under contract valid between the parties but void as to the bailor's creditors, claims such property as a purchaser when it is attached under process against the bailor, and does not give the attaching officer any notice of the lien, or make any demand for its amount, loses his lien. Mexal v. Dearborn, 12 Gray (Mass.) 336.

Whether an absolute refusal to deliver waives the lien is a point upon which the authorities are not uniform, some cases holding that a person having a lien does not waive it by the mere fact of his omitting to state that he claims a lien when the property is demanded (White v. Gainer, 2 Bing. 23, 9 E. C. L. 464, 1 C. & P. 324, 12 E. C. L. 194, 9 Moore C. P. 41) while others hold that he does (Hanna v. Phelps, 7 Ind. 21, 63 Am. Dec. 410; Dows v. Morewood, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 183).

Reinstatement of a lien once lost is not effected by reason of the bailee's again coming into possession, unless such is the intention of the parties. Hale v. Barrett, 26 Ill. 195, 79 Am. Dec. 367; Robinson v. Larrabee, 63 Me. 116; Hartley v. Hitchcock, 1 Stark. 408, 18 Rev. Rep. 790, 2 E. C. L. 158.

88. Munson v. Porter, 63 Iowa 453, 19 N. W. 290; Mexal v. Dearborn, 12 Gray (Mass.) 336; Davis v. Bigler, 62 Pa. St. 242, 1 Am. Rep. 393; Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414.

89. Indiana.— Tucker v. Taylor, 53 Ind. 93.

Iowa.— Nevan v. Roup, 8 Iowa 207.

Massachusetts.— Stickney v. Allen, 10 Gray (Mass.) 352; Doane v. Russell, 3 Gray (Mass.) 382; King v. Indian Orchard Canal Co., 11 Cush. (Mass.) 231.

New York.— McFarland v. Wheeler, 26 Wend. (N. Y.) 467; Moore v. Hitchcock, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 292.

North Carolina.— McDougall v. Crapon, 95 N. C. 292.

Pennsylvania.— Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414; Megee v. Beirne, 39 Pa. St. 50.

Vermont.— Kitteridge v. Freeman, 48 Vt. 62; Bailey v. Quint, 22 Vt. 474.

England.— Jones v. Pearle, 1 Str. 556; Lickbarrow v. Mason, 1 H. Bl. 357, 2 T. R. 63, 6 East 21 note, 1 Rev. Rep. 425.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 84.

Delivery of possession to bailor under conditional contract.— Where it was agreed that the property should be the bailee's until he was paid, but that the bailor should possess the property, and the bailee parted with the possession, he was held to have lost his lien. Kittridge v. Freeman, 48 Vt. 62.

Delivery at a time unauthorized by the bailee does not effect a waiver of the lien. Partridge v. Dartmouth College, 5 N. H. 286.

Delivery of some portion of the goods does not defeat a lien upon the remainder for the whole amount. Morgan v. Congdon, 4 N. Y. 552; Schmidt v. Blood, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 268, 24 Am. Dec. 143.

Retention of possession in statutory liens. — Statutes giving a bailee a right to a lien do not, as a rule, abrogate the necessity of a retention of possession by the bailee. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139; McDougall v. Crapon, 95 N. C. 292; McDearmid v. Foster, 14 Oreg. 417, 12 Pac. 813. Contra, Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414, where it was held, under a Pennsylvania act giving the bailee the power to sell the property at auction in order to enforce his lien, that the due for labor.[90] The lien is not waived, however, where the bailee refuses to part with possession and declares that he retains possession in order to enforce payment of what is due,[91] where he fails to give notice of the lien to a subsequent purchaser of the property from the bailor,[92] or by reason of a special contract respecting payment.[93]

(v) Enforcement of—(a) At Common Law. At common law the bailee can enforce his lien only by detention of the subject-matter[94] until payment is made or tendered,[95] unless a power of sale is superadded by special agreement[96] or a custom exists with respect to particular trades.[97] Where, however, the property is perishable and likely to become entirely lost, the bailee may, if the owner is unknown, sell for the purpose of protecting his lien.[98] bailee was relieved from the necessity of retaining possession.

The possession retained need not be the direct and actual possession of the bailee. Possession by one under his authority is sufficient. McFarland v. Wheeler, 26 Wend. (N. Y.) 467.

No special stipulation can extend the lien after the bailee has lost possession so as to prejudice general creditors or bona fide purchasers for valuable consideration and without notice. McFarland v. Wheeler, 26 Wend. (N. Y.) 467.

A presumption of waiver may be explained. — Robinson v. Larrabee, 63 Me. 116.

90. East v. Ferguson, 59 Ind. 169.

Effect of protested draft as payment.— Where the bailee has received drafts as part payment of the sum owing, his lien attaches for the amount due less the amount of the drafts received, notwithstanding that the drafts are protested. Montreal Bank v. J. E. Potts Salt, etc., Co., 91 Mich. 342, 51 N. W. 890.

Where lien is expressly reserved by contract.—Acceptance of additional security, or giving credit to the bailor, does not impliedly waive a lien expressly reserved by the contract. Montieth v. Great Western Printing Co., 16 Mo. App. 450.

91. Thatcher v. Harlan, 2 Houst. (Del.) 178; Hanna v. Phelps, 7 Ind. 21, 3 Am. Dec. 410.

Refusal to deliver because of general indebtedness.— No lien for a labor account is waived when the bailee expressly refuses to deliver on the ground of his charge for labor, even if he also declines to deliver because of a general claim for which he has no lien. Thatcher v. Harlan, 2 Houst. (Del.) 178.

92. Graham v. Fitzgerald, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 178, holding that a bailee need not give actual notice of his lien to purchasers from the bailor, since the possession of the property is constructive notice of the bailee's rights in relation thereto.

93. Mathias v. Sellers, 86 Pa. St. 486, 27 Am. Rep. 723.

Unreasonable delay on the part of the bailee in making repairs on an article delivered to him for that purpose, where acquiesced in by the bailor, does not preclude the bailee from detaining the article until paid for work that has been done up to the time a demand is made therefor. Shailer v. Corbett, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 875, 40 N. Y. St. 786.

94. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139; Doane v. Russell, 3 Gray (Mass.) 382; Thames Iron Works Co. v. Patent Derrick Co., 1 Johns. & H. 93, 6 Jur. N. S. 1013, 29 L. J. Ch. 714, 2 L. T. Rep. N. S. 208, 8 Wkly. Rep. 408; Lickbarrow v. Mason, 1 H. Bl. 357, 2 T. R. 63, 6 East 21 note, 1 Rev. Rep. 425; Jones v. Pearle, 1 Str. 556; Jones v. Thurloe, 8 Mod. 172. Compare Scott v. Delahunt, 65 N. Y. 128 [affirming 5 Lans. (N. Y.) 372], where it is stated that at common law a bailee who has possession of the article upon which he has bestowed labor may foreclose his lien.

95. Dilworth v. McKelvy, 30 Mo. 149; Montieth v. Great Western Printing Co., 16 Mo. App. 450; Gregory v. Stryker, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 628; Moore v. Hitchcock, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 292; Dunn v. Oneal, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 105, 60 Am. Dec. 140.

Where only part of the work is done, the tender of a sum sufficient to pay therefor is sufficient, even if there was a contract price for the whole work, provided that the completion of the work was countermanded. Lilley v. Barnsley, 1 C. & K. 344, 47 E. C. L. 344.

Notwithstanding the work done does not comply with the specifications the bailee may retain possession until paid for any benefit actually accruing to the bailor. The Isaac Newton, Abb. Adm. 11, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,089.

96. Briggs v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 6 Allen (Mass.) 246, 83 Am. Dec. 626; Doane v. Russell, 3 Gray (Mass.) 382.

97. Doane v. Russell, 3 Gray (Mass.) 382; Parker v. Brancker, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 40; Cortelyou v. Lansing, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 200; Hart v. Ten Eyck, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 62; Jones v. Pearle, 1 Str. 556; Pothonier v. Dawson, Holt N. P. 383, 17 Rev. Rep. 647, 3 E. C. L. 154.

98. Millcreek Tp. v. Brighton Stock Yards Co., 27 Ohio St. 435.

Statutory recognition of doctrine.— The doctrine stated in the text has received statutory recognition where perishable freight is concerned. Briggs v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 6 Allen (Mass.) 246, 83 Am. Dec. 626; Millcreek Tp. v. Brighton Stock Yards Co., 27 Ohio St. 435. See, generally, Carriers.

(B) Under Statute. In many jurisdictions, by statute the bailee may sell the property covered by the lien.[99] In some jurisdictions the sale is by auction after giving the notice required by statute,[1] while in others the lien can be enforced only by some judicial proceeding.[2] In all cases, however, a statute enabling a bailee to enforce his lien by sale must be strictly complied with.[3]

(VI) PRIORITY. Where the bailee has only a common-law lien it seems that it is subordinate to a lien created by a properly filed or recorded mortgage,[4] but where the lien is statutory it is sometimes provided that it shall be superior to that of a mortgage.[5] It has been held, however, that a bailee's lien is superior to that of an attaching creditor.[6]

(VII) PROTECTION OF AND RECOVERY OF AMOUNT. Where there is a legally subsisting lien the bailee may, if so disturbed in his possession of the property as to threaten the loss of the lien, take proper steps to protect it.[7] In the event

99. Indiana.— Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615.

Louisiana.— Landry v. Blanchard, 16 La. Ann. 173.

Massachusetts.— Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139; Briggs v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 6 Allen (Mass.) 246, 83 Am. Dec. 626.

Minnesota.—Jesurun v. Kent, 45 Minn. 222, 47 N. W. 784.

New Hampshire.— Stillings v. Gibson, 63 N. H. 1.

New York.— Scott v. Delahunt, 65 N. Y. 128 [affirming 5 Lans. (N. Y.) 372].

North Carolina.— McDougall v. Crapon, 95 N. C. 292.

Ohio.— Millcreek Tp. v. Brighton Stock Yards Co., 27 Ohio St. 435.

Oregon.— McDearmid v. Foster, 14 Oreg. 417, 12 Pac. 813.

Pennsylvania.— Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414.

A statutory power of sale is exhausted as soon as enough property has been sold to satisfy the lien. Jesurun v. Kent, 45 Minn. 222, 47 N. W. 784.

1. Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615; McDougall v. Crapon, 95 N. C. 292; Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414.

Jurisdiction of courts.— Under Mass. Gen. Stat. c. 151, § 21, exclusive jurisdiction in the first instance was given to a justice of the peace or police magistrate, such jurisdiction not being affected by the amount of the claim or the value of the property. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139.

Sufficiency of initial proceeding.— A summons duly served on the bailor, containing a notice to the bailor as owner of the property to appear and show cause why the prayer of the petition should not be granted and reciting the substance of the petition, is sufficient. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139.

Contents and sufficiency of petition.— Neither a just and true account nor a description of the property intended to be covered by the lien is necessary under Mass. Gen. Stat. c. 151, a demand only being required by the statute as a preliminary to the proceedings for a determination of claimant's right to have an order for sale. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139.

Where bailment was to a partnership.— All proceedings for enforcement of a claim under Mass. Gen. Stat. c. 151, § 21, must, where the bailment was to a partnership, be brought in the name of the partnership, notwithstanding its dissolution and the assignment of his interest by one copartner to the other. Busfield v. Wheeler, 14 Allen (Mass.) 139.

3. Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615; Briggs v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 6 Allen (Mass.) 246, 83 Am. Dec. 626; Jesurun v. Kent, 45 Minn. 222, 47 N. W. 784; McDougall v. Crapon, 95 N. C. 292.

Application of proceeds of sale.—As a general rule the proceeds of sale must be applied to discharge the lien and the costs and expenses of sale, the balance, if any, being for the benefit of the bailor. Jesurun v. Kent, 45 Minn. 222, 47 N. W. 784; McDougall v. Crapon, 95 N. C. 292; Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414.

Cumulative character of statutory remedy.—A common-law lien is not affected by N. Y. Laws (1862), c. 482, which is intended to give a remedy where the bailee of a special class is not in possession. Scott v. Delahunt, 65 N. Y. 128.

4. Bissell v. Pearce, 28 N. Y. 252.

5. Scott v. Delahunt, 65 N. Y. 128.

Where a bailor gave a mortgage upon all his property, including property upon which labor was being performed, and such property was afterward taken possession of by a receiver, the bailee had a lien thereon superior to that of the mortgage. Montreal Bank v. J. E. Potts Salt, etc., Co., 91 Mich. 342, 51 N. W. 890.

6. Anheuser-Busch Brewing Assoc. v. Daviess County Distilling Co., 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1522, 49 S. W. 541.

7. Douglass v. McFarland, 92 Cal. 656, 28 Pac. 687; Knapp, etc., Co. v. McCaffrey, 178 Ill. 107, 52 N. E. 898, 69 Am. St. Rep. 290; Watts v. Sweeney, 128 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615; McFarland v. Wheeler, 26 Wend. (N. Y.) 467.

Equity has jurisdiction to afford relief to a of such disturbance he may either recover the property or the amount covered by the lien.[8]

5. Redelivery or Delivery Over — a. Necessity of — (I) In General. Upon the termination of a bailment the identical thing bailed[9] or the product of, or substitute for, that thing[10] must be redelivered, delivered over, or accounted for by the bailee in accordance with the contract,[11] unless he has a sufficient excuse for failure so to do.[12]

(II) Excuses For Non-Delivery or Misdelivery. It is a sufficient, excuse for non-delivery or misdelivery that the property has been destroyed without fault of the bailee, by some act over which he had no control,[13] that bailee where equitable circumstances exist justifying the granting of relief on equitable principles, as against purchasers threatening to take away the property and assignees for creditors of the bailor. Knapp, etc., Co. v. McCaffrey, 178 Ill. 107, 52 N. E. 898, 69 Am. St. Rep. 290.

8. Douglass v. McFarland, 92 Cal. 656, 28 Pac. 687; White v. Hoyt, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 232; Moore v. Hitchcock, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 292.

Recovery from transferee of property subject to lien.— Where the bailor takes away a portion of property on which the bailee has a general lien, paying a portion of the amount due, and transfers the remainder of the property to a third person who has notice that there is still a balance due to the bailee, and the property is delivered to the transferee upon his promise to pay that amount, the bailee may recover the amount of his lien from the transferee. White v. Hoyt, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 232.

9. Hurd v. West, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 752; Abrahams v. South-western Railroad Bank, 1 S. C. 441, 7 Am. Rep. 33.

Certificates of stock or bank-bills.— It is not requisite to return the identical certificates of stock or bank-bills that are bailed, providing stock or bills of equal value are returned. Barclay v. Culver, 30 Hun (N. Y.) 1. See also Henry v. Porter, 46 Ala. 293, where the bills returned had depreciated on account of the failure of the bank of issue.

10. Taylor v. Plumer, 3 M. & S. 562, 2 Rose 457, 16 Rev. Rep. 361.

11. Alabama.— Prince v. Alabama State Fair, 106 Ala. 340, 17 So. 449, 28 L. R. A. 716; Lay v. Lawson, 23 Ala. 377.

Georgia.— Columbus v. Howard, 6 Ga. 213.

Kentucky.—Ewing v. Gist, 2 B. Mon. (Ky.) 465.

Louisiana.— Nott v. Papet, 15 La. 306.

New Jersey.— Burgin v. Riggins, 3 N. J. L. 233.

New York.— Ouderkirk v. Central Nat. Bank, 119 N. Y. 263, 23 N. E. 875, 29 N. Y. St. 573.

Pennsylvania.— Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 107.

12. Alabama.— Prince v. Alabama State Fair, 106 Ala. 340, 17 So. 449, 28 L. R. A. 716; Seals v. Edmondson, 71 Ala. 509; Spence v. Mitchell, 9 Ala. 744.

Indiana.— Underwood v. Tatham, 1 Ind. 276.

Nebraska.— Walter A. Wood Harvester Co. v. Dobry, 59 Nebr. 590, 81 N. W. 611.

New Hampshire.— Graves v. Ticknor, 6 N. H. 537.

Tennessee.— Roach v. Turk, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 708, 24 Am. Rep. 360.

Non-delivery without excuse after demand is prima facie negligence. Fairfax v. New York Cent. R. Co., 67 N. Y. 11; Steers v. Liverpool, etc., Steamship Co., 57 N. Y. 1, 15 Am. Rep. 453; Burnell v. New York Cent. R. Co., 45 N. Y. 184, 6 Am. Rep. 61; Anonymous, 2 Salk. 655.

13. Alabama.— Abraham v. Nunn, 42 Ala. 51.

Georgia.—Smith v. Frost, 51 Ga. 336; Mein v. West, T. U. P. Charlt. (Ga.) 170.

Illinois.— Russell v. Kœhler, 66 Ill. 459; Steele v. Buck, 61 Ill. 343, 14 Am. Rep. 60; Saunders v. Hartsook, 85 Ill. App. 55.

Iowa.— Seevers v. Gabel, 94 Iowa 75, 62 N. W. 669, 58 Am. St. Rep. 381, 27 L. R. A. 733; Irons v. Kentner, 51 Iowa 88, 50 N. W. 73, 33 Am. Rep. 119; Francis v. Dubuque, etc., R. Co., 25 Iowa 60, 95 Am. Dec. 769.

Kentucky.— Young v. Bruces, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 324.

Louisiana.— Spencer v. Cullom, 36 La. Ann. 213; McCranie v. Wood, 24 La. Ann. 406; Britton v. Aymar, 23 La. Ann. 63; Yale v. Oliver, 21 La. Ann. 454; McCullom v. Porter, 17 La. Ann. 89.

Maryland.— Schermer v. Neurath, 54 Md. 491, 39 Am. Rep. 397.

Missouri.— McEvers v. Steamboat Sangamon, 22 Mo. 187.

New York.— Young v. Leary, 135 N. Y. 569, 32 N. E. 607, 49 N. Y. St. 93; Coldwell-Wilcox Co. v. Sullivan, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 359, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 290, 73 N. Y. St. 657; Hayes v. Kedzie, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 577.

Pennsylvania.— Zell v. Dunkle, 156 Pa. St. 353, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33, 27 Atl. 38; Jones v. Gilmore, 91 Pa. St. 310.

Tennessee.— Waller v. Parker, 5 Coldw. (Tenn.) 476.

Texas.— Wilkinson v. Williams, 35 Tex. 181.

Vermont.— Spooner v. Mattoon, 40 Vt. 300, 94 Am. Dec. 395.

Virginia.— Slaughter v. Green, 1 Rand. (Va.) 3, 10 Am. Dec. 488; Harris v. Nicholas, 5 Munf. (Va.) 483.

Wisconsin.— Stacy v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 84 Wis. 614, 54 N. W. 1091.

it has been taken from him without his collusion under due process of law or by a person having a paramount title, or that the title of the bailor has terminated.[14]

United States.— U. S. v. Thomas, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 337, 21 L. ed. 89.

England.— Cunningham v. Dunn, 3 Aspin. 359, 3 C. P. D. 443, 48 L. J. C. P. 62, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 631; Taylor v. Caldwell, 3 B. & S. 826, 32 L. J. Q. B. 164, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 356, 11 Wkly. Rep. 726, 113 E. C. L. 826; Williams v. Lloyd, W. Jones 179; Menetone v. Athawes, 3 Burr. 1592.

Canada.— McKenna v. McNamee, 14 Ont. App. 339.

A loss occasioned by robbery on the highway, or by the depredation of mobs, riots, insurgents, etc., is not occasioned by the act of God or vis major. Story Bailm. (9th ed.) § 526 [cited in State v. Moore, 74 Mo. 413, 41 Am. Rep. 322].

Effect of bailor's neglect to save property where possible.— A bailor who being able to save and protect his property from a vis major neglects so to do, must himself suffer a loss if one occur, for he has no right to see his property go to ruin and rely upon a remedy against the bailee. Smith v. Frost, 51 Ga. 336.

14. Connecticut.— Clark v. Gaylord, 24 Conn. 484.

Illinois.— Great Western R. Co. v. McComas, 33 Ill. 185.

Louisiana.— Satterfield v. Delavalade, 21 La. Ann. 650.

New York.— Ball v. Liney, 48 N. Y. 6, 8 Am. Rep. 511; Welles v. Thornton, 45 Barb. (N. Y.) 390; Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 188; Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79; Edson v. Weston, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 278.

Pennsylvania.— King v. Richards, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 418, 37 Am. Dec. 420.

Texas.— Roberts v. Yarboro, 41 Tex. 449.

Vermont.— Burton v. Wilkinson, 18 Vt. 186, 46 Am. Dec. 145.

United States.— Stiles v. Davis, 1 Black (U. S.) 101, 17 L. ed. 33; Robinson v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 16 Fed. 57.

Necessity of legal process.—When property in the custody of a bailee for hire is demanded by a third person under color of process, it is the duty of the bailee to ascertain whether the process is such as requires him to surrender property (Edwards v. White Line Transit Co., 104 Mass. 159, 6 Am. Rep. 213; Roberts v. Stuyvesant Safe Deposit Co., 123 N. Y. 57, 25 N. E. 294, 33 N. Y. St. 175, 20 Am. St. Rep. 718, 9 L. R. A. 438; Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 188); but a writ not void on its face will protect him (McAlister v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 74 Mo. 351).

Process must be against bailor.— To be sufficient as an excuse, the process must have been directly against the bailor. Barnard v. Kobbe, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 35, 373 [affirmed in 54 N. Y. 516]. Process against a person not the owner of the property is no excuse. Edwards v. White Line Transit Co., 104 Mass. 159, 6 Am. Rep. 213 [criticizing Stiles v. Davis, 12 Black (U. S.) 101, 17 L. ed. 33, which decided that a failure to deliver goods with no denial of the bailor's right, but merely for the reason that it was detained under legal process, was not a conversion of the property]. See also Robinson v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 16 Fed. 57, which was a suit upon a contract of carriage, and it was held that seizure under legal process at the suit of strangers was a legal excuse, provided the bailor was promptly notified of the taking.

Notification of seizure under process should be given to the bailor. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Yohe, 51 Ind. 181, 19 Am. Rep. 727; Furman v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 81 Iowa 540, 46 N. W. 1049; Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 36 N. Y. 403, 2 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 179. See also Savannah, etc., R. Co. v. Wilcox, 48 Ga. 432; Scranton v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 24 N. Y. 424. But where the bailor has a timely knowledge that his property has been seized under legal process, a formal notice thereof by the bailee is not necessary. Furman v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 81 Iowa 540, 46 N. W. 1049; MacVeagh v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 3 N. M. 205, 5 Pac. 457; Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 514. See also Robinson v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 16 Fed. 57, where the court said that nothing less than a full showing of actual knowledge quite as nearly as would have resulted from proper notice by the bailee would be sufficient.

Where the process is not such as requires a surrender of the property the bailee should offer such resistance to the taking, and adopt such measures for reclaiming it, if taken, as a prudent and intelligent man would if it had been demanded and taken under a claim of right without legal process. Roberts v. Stuyvesant Safe Deposit Co., 123 N. Y. 57, 25 N. E. 294, 33 N. Y. St. 175, 20 Am. St. Rep. 718, 9 L. R. A. 438; Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 188.

Surrender of possession under a judgment by default, in a suit where the bailee fails to give his bailor statutory notice to defend, will render him liable for the goods, unless he has delivered them to the real owner. Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423.

After the bailee has negligently allowed the property to pass into the hands of trespassers or persons who have no right to it, a seizure under legal process is not sufficient as an excuse. Roberts v. Stuyvesant Safe Deposit Co., 123 N. Y. 57, 25 N. E. 294, 33 N. Y. St. 175, 20 Am. St. Rep. 718, 9 L. R. A. 438.

Seizure under process of property exempt from attachment is not a sufficient excuse. Kiff v. Old Colony, etc., R. Co., 117 Mass. 591, 19 Am. Rep. 429.

b. Manner of Redelivery — (i) Compliance With Contract. Where the manner of redelivery or delivery over is specified, the bailee must comply strictly therewith, or be liable in the event of any loss;[15] but where the contract is silent on the question of redelivery,[16] the bailee's obligation is generally regulated by the custom and usage of business at the place where the bailment was made, such custom and usage being adopted into the contract.[17]

(ii) Time of. Where the time of redelivery is not fixed by agreement, or by the nature of the object to be accomplished, redelivery must be made within a reasonable time after demand, the question of what time is reasonable being determined by the circumstances of each particular case.[18] Where the time is fixed the bailee must return the article at the time stipulated.[19]

(iii) Place of. Redelivery should be made at the place expressly or impliedly appointed by the bailor.[20]

(iv) To Whom Made — (a) In General. The delivery or accounting in all Merely showing that legal title is in the estate of a deceased person is not enough to relieve the bailee from his obligation to redeliver to the bailor. McCafferty v. Brady, 19 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 553.

When a bailment is made by a tenant in common, and the bailee undertakes to hold for him and subject to his order alone, he cannot excuse himself for failing to deliver to him by showing a delivery to the other, for the latter could not have compelled him by action so to do, and there is consequently no necessity for such a delivery. Pitt v. Albritton, 34 N. C. 74.

15. McGinn v. Butler, 31 Iowa 160; Clagett v. Speake, 4 Harr. & M. (Md.) 162; Forsythe v. Walker, 9 Pa. St. 148; Graves v. Smith, 14 Wis. 5, 80 Am. Dec. 762.

Delivery only on written order.— Where the bailor instructed the bailee not to deliver to any person except upon the bailor's written order, a delivery made without such order to the bailor's wife is not sufficient. Kowing v. Manly, 49 N. Y. 192, 10 Am. Rep. 346.

Where the bailee follows express directions of his bailor and delivers the property bailed to the person whom, or the place where, he has ordered, he has done all that can be required of him, either in law or ethics. Stearns v. Farrand, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 292, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 501.

Where the bailee was called upon by the bailor for the property bailed, but he was at that time unable to comply with the demand and volunteered to send it by express, he assumed the responsibility of delivery and was liable for misdelivery. Rhind v. Stake, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 177, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 42.

16. In the absence of a contract there is an implied promise on the part of the bailee to return the property at the expiration of the term in as good condition as when received — ordinary wear and tear excepted. Harvey v. Murray, 136 Mass. 377; Hyland v. Paul, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 241; Colyar v. Taylor, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 372.

17. Story Bailm. § 384 [cited in Gleason v. Morrison, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 320, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 684 (affirming 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 4, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 609)].

18. Alabama.— Lay v. Lawson, 23 Ala. 377; Spence v. Mitchell, 9 Ala. 744.

California.— Skidmore v. Taylor, 29 Cal. 619.

Indiana.— Underwood v. Tatham, 1 Ind. 276.

Kentucky.— Green v. Hollingsworth, 5 Dana (Ky.) 173, 30 Am. Dec. 680.

New York.— Wilson v. Press Pub. Co., 14 Misc. (N. Y.) 514, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 12, 70 N. Y. St. 770; Rutgers v. Lucet, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 92.

Tennessee.— Cobb v. Wallace, 5 Coldw. (Tenn.) 539, 98 Am. Dec. 435.

Return not necessary until after demand.— In the case of a loan for use the bailee need not return the property until after demand made. Phelps v. Bostwick, 22 Barb. (N. Y.) 314; Brown v. Cook, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 361.

Demand may be inferred.—Stewart v. Frazier, 5 Ala. 114.

19. Green v. Hollingsworth, 5 Dana (Ky.) 173, 30 Am. Dec. 680; Barber v. Anderson, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 358.

Whenever called for.— Where one receives a chattel from another, under a stipulation in writing that he will return it "whenever called for, in good repair, free from expense," he must deliver it on demand. Spence v. Mitchell, 9 Ala. 744.

Where goods are bailed for a specific time the bailee should return them when that time has expired, unless there is some agreement to the contrary. Barber v. Anderson, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 358; Clapp v. Nelson, 12 Tex. 370, 62 Am. Dec. 530.

20. Esmay v. Fanning, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 176, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228, holding that where an article was loaned to be redelivered on request it should be returned to the residence of the bailor. See also Brown v. Cook, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 361.

The bailee should ascertain from the bailor the place where he will receive the article bailed. White v. Perley, 15 Me. 470.

Restoration to the place from which the bailee took the property was at civil law a good redelivery in case no place was agreed on. Story Bailm. § 117 [cited in Esmay v. Fanning, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 176, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228].

cases must be made to the person entitled thereto, or the bailee will be guilty of a conversion [21] in cases where he has the possession of the property and refuses to deliver or account,[22] and of a breach of contract where he has merely acted negligently.[23]

(B) To Bailor—(1) IN GENERAL. As a general rule the person to whom the thing bailed must be redelivered is the bailor, or some one claiming under him;[24] and where the bailor is not the owner of the property the bailee may still

21. Alabama.— Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151.

Arkansas.— Estes v. Boothe, 20 Ark. 583.

California.—Briggs v. Haycock, 63 Cal. 343.

Delaware.— Vaughan v. Webster, 5 Harr. (Del.) 256.

Indiana.— Hill v. Haverstick, 17 Ind. 517; Coffin v. Anderson, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 395.

Maryland.— Buel v. Pumphrey, 2 Md. 261, 56 Am. Dec. 714; Hopkins v. Stump, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 301.

Massachusetts.— Hall v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 14 Allen (Mass.) 439, 92 Am. Dec. 783.

Michigan.— Hubbell v. Blandy, 87 Mich. 209, 49 N. W. 502, 24 Am. St. Rep. 154; Donlin v. McQuade, 61 Mich. 275, 28 N. W. 114.

Missouri.—Loeffel v. Pohlman, 47 Mo. App. 574; Allgear v. Walsh, 24 Mo. App. 134.

Nebraska.— Walter A. Wood Harvester Co. v. Dobry, 59 Nebr. 590, 81 N. W. 611.

New York.— Coykendall v. Eaton, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 188, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 438; Carroll v. Mix, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 212; Esmay v. Fanning, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 176, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228; Gregory v. Fichtner, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 891, 38 N. Y. St. 192 [reversing 13 N. Y. Suppl. 593, 38 N. Y. St. 460]; Lockwood v. Bull, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 322, 13 Am. Dec. 539.

North Carolina.—Setzar v. Butler, 27 N. C. 212.

South Carolina.— Barber v. Anderson, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 358.

Texas.— Nelson v. King, 25 Tex. 655; Young v. Lewis, 9 Tex. 73.

Vermont.— Doharty v. Madgett, 58 Vt. 323, 2 Atl. 115; Sibley v. Story, 8 Vt. 15.

Wisconsin.— Magdeburg v. Uihlein, 53 Wis. 165, 10 N. W. 363.

England.—Ex p. Drake, 5 Ch. D. 866; Wilson v. Anderton, 1 B. & Ad. 450, 9 L. J. K. B. O. S. 48, 20 E. C. L. 555; Baldwin v. Cole, 6 Mod. 212.

Misdelivery whether intentional or otherwise is equivalent to non-delivery to the proper person, and, therefore, a conversion.

Illinois.— Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Parks, 54 Ill. 294.

Iowa.— Serry v. Knepper, 101 Iowa 372, 70 N. W. 601.

Michigan.— Hubbell v. Blandy, 87 Mich. 209, 49 N. W. 502, 24 Am. St. Rep. 154; Gibbons v. Farwell, 63 Mich. 344, 29 N. W. 855, 6 Am. St. Rep. 381; Barnum v. Stone, 27 Mich. 332.

Missouri.—Loeffel v. Pohlman, 47 Mo. App. 574.

New York.— Price v. Oswego, etc., R. Co., 50 N. Y. 213, 10 Am. Rep. 475; Guillaume v. Hamburgh, etc., Packet Co., 42 N. Y. 212, 1 Am. Rep. 512; Markoe v. Tiffany, 26 N. Y. App. Div. 95, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 751; Hayes v. Kedzie, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 577; Coykendall v. Eaton, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 188, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 438; Esmay v. Fanning, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 176, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228; Willard v. Bridge, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 361; Hawkins v. Hoffman, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 586, 41 Am. Dec. 767; Powell v. Myers, 26 Wend. (N. Y.) 591; Packard v. Getman, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 613, 21 Am. Dec. 166; Lockwood v. Bull, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 322, 13 Am. Dec. 539.

Texas.—Nelson v. King, 25 Tex. 655; Horseley v. Moss, 5 Tex. Civ. App. 341, 23 S. W. 1115.

England.— Stephenson v. Hart, 4 Bing. 476, 6 L. J. C. P. O. S. 97, 1 M. & P. 357, 29 Rev. Rep. 602, 13 E. C. L. 596; Syeds v. Hay, 4 T. R. 260.

Canada.— Leslie v. Canada Cent. R. Co., 44 U. C. Q. B. 21; Grant v. Northern Pacific Junction R. Co., 21 Ont. App. 322 [affirming 22 Ont. 645].

Remedies for non-delivery or misdelivery see infra, VI, A, 2, a.

22. Packard v. Getman, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 613, 21 Am. Dec. 166.

23. Hyde v. Noble, 13 N. H. 494, 38 Am. Dec. 508; Scovill v. Griffith, 12 N. Y. 509; Hawkins v. Hoffman, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 586, 41 Am. Dec. 767; Packard v. Getman, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 613, 21 Am. Dec. 166; Buck v. Ashley, 37 Vt. 475; Hale v. Huntley, 21 Vt. 147.

Omission to deliver property not actually placed in bailee's custody.— When property is not put into the actual custody of the bailee, but is deposited upon his premises, unprotected by an inclosure, and consequently accessible to all persons desiring to enter thereon, an omission to deliver the property upon demand is not sufficient to make the bailee liable for non-delivery. Feltman v. Gulf Brewery, 42 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 488. See also Morris v. Third Ave. R. Co., 1 Daly (N. Y.) 202.

24. Alabama.—Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 433; Alabama, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Nidd, 35 Ala. 209.

Illinois.— Foltz v. Stevens, 54 Ill. 180; Great Western R. Co. v. McComas, 33 Ill. 185; Garvey v. Scott, 9 Ill. App. 19.

Iowa.— McGinn v. Butler, 31 Iowa 160.

Louisiana.— Satterfield v. Delavalade, 21 La. Ann. 650.

Missouri.— Pulliam v. Burlingame, 81 Mo. 111, 51 Am. Rep. 229; Dufour v. Mepham, 31 Mo. 577; Smith v. Bell, 9 Mo. 873.

New York.— Welles v. Thornton, 45 Barb. (N. Y.) 390; Esmay v. Fanning, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 176, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228.

Texas.— Freeman v. Perry, 25 Tex. 611.

redeliver to him[25] in the absence of a claim thereto by the owner,[26] in which case a subsequent redelivery to the bailor amounts to an unqualified refusal to deliver and a conversion of the bailed property.[27]

(2) Where There Is an Adverse Claim. Where there is an adverse claim, and the bailee cannot or does not compel an interpleader,[28] he may refuse delivery to the bailor and, assuming the burden of establishing a title paramount to that of the bailor, surrender the property to its claimant, if the real owner.[29] So, if unwilling to undertake the onus of proving a paramount title in the claimant, the bailee may retain possession for the bailor and await an action by the claimant in which he must stand or fall by the bailor's title;[30] or he may refuse to deliver the property to either party until he can in good faith investigate the facts as to the real ownership, and may, for a brief period, retain possession for that purpose. He must not, however, absolutely refuse to deliver the property without any qualification attached to his refusal, such refusal being equivalent to an actual Bailment by joint owners.—The bailee may refuse to deliver to one of several joint owners making a joint bailment. Harper v. Godsell, L. R. 5 Q. B. 422, 39 L. J. Q. B. 185, 18 Wkly. Rep. 954; Atwood v. Ernest, 13 C. B. 881, 1 C. L. R. 738, 17 Jur. 603, 22 L. J. C. P. 225, 1 Wkly. Rep. 436, 76 E. C. L. 881; Brandon v. Scott, 7 E. & B. 234, 3 Jur. N. S. 362, 26 L. J. Q. B. 163, 5 Wkly. Rep. 235, 90 E. C. L. 34; May v. Harvey, 13 East 197, 12 Rev. Rep. 322.

25. Nelson v. Iverson, 17 Ala. 216; Foltz v. Stevens, 54 Ill. 180; Great Western R. Co. v. McComas, 33 Ill. 185; Satterfield v. Delavalade, 21 La. Ann. 650; Smith v. Bell, 9 Mo. 873.

Redelivery to the bailor must be in good faith and not to avoid a possible claim by the owner. Nelson v. Iverson, 17 Ala. 216. But a bailee, although having good ground for belief that his bailor obtained the property wrongfully, is not guilty of conversion by redelivery to the bailor. Hill v. Hayes, 38 Conn. 532.

26. Alabama.— Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423; Nelson v. Iverson, 17 Ala. 216.

Louisiana.— Dickson v. Chaffe, 34 La. Ann. 1133.

New Hampshire.— Doty v. Hawkins, 6 N. H. 247, 25 Am. Dec. 459.

New York.— Coykendall v. Eaton, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 188, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 438.

Texas.— Roberts v. Yarboro, 41 Tex. 449.

Where the bailee is aware that the title of the bailor has been assigned to another he must account to the assignee. Roberts v. Noyes, 76 Me. 590.

Restoration of property to a criminal by a public officer aware that the goods belong to a person from whom they have been stolen is conversion by such officer. Loeffel v. Pohlman, 47 Mo. App. 574.

A notice prohibiting a delivery to the bailor must assert some title absolute or qualified to the property, or it is insufficient to prevent delivery, or to justify the bailee in demanding a bond of indemnity before delivery. Susquehanna Boom Co. v. Rogers, 3 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 478.

Trial of right of property.—A bailee is not authorized to surrender property to a third person without the bailor's authority, merely because in a trial of right of property between the bailor and such person the property bailed is proved to belong to the latter. Foltz v. Stevens, 54 Ill. 180.

27. Robinson v. Hodgson, 73 Pa. St. 202; Weston v. National Transit Co., 19 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 378; Roberts v. Yarboro, 41 Tex. 449.

28. Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423.

In Alabama the bailee has a statutory right to require the claimants to interplead at law, and he is not justified in surrendering the property to either claimant, the statute contemplating a retention of possession by the bailee until there is an interpleader and then a delivery to the claimant who gives the bond required by statute; but, if neither party gives a bond, it is the bailee's duty to retain the property to abide the result of the action. Where, however, the bailee does not avail himself of his statutory right his liability remains as at common law. Behr v. Gerson, 95 Ala. 438, 11 So. 115; Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423.

29. Jackson v. Jackson, 97 Ala. 372, 12 So. 437; Young v. East Alabama R. Co., 80 Ala. 100; Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423.

A refusal to deliver to the bailor is not justified unless the true owner authorizes the bailee to vindicate his title. Wetherly v. Straus, 93 Cal. 283, 28 Pac. 1045; Dodge v. Meyer, 61 Cal. 405; Lain v. Gaither, 72 N. C. 234; Biddle v. Bond, 6 B. & S. 225, 11 Jur. N. S. 425, 34 L. J. Q. B. 137, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 178, 13 Wkly. Rep. 561, 118 E. C. L. 225; Betteley v. Reed, 4 Q. B. 511, 3 G. & D. 561, 7 Jur. 507, 12 L. J. Q. B. 172, 45 E. C. L. 511; Thorne v. Tilbury, 3 H. & N. 534, 27 L. J. Exch. 407; Palmteg v. Doutrick, 8 L. J. P. C. 884.

30. Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423; Wilson v. Anderton, 1 B. & Ad. 450, 9 L. J. K. B. O. S. 48, 20 E. C. L. 555.

Bailor should be notified of suit.— When action is brought the bailee may give the bailor notice thereof, and require him to defend. Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423. See also Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 188, where it was held that the bailee was not himself bound to litigate.

A judgment against the bailee, whether the bailor appears or refuses to defend after conversion of the property.[31] Where more than one person claims the property, and neither of them is the bailor, the bailee must not decide between them. Should he do so he acts at his peril.[32]

6. Termination of Bailment — a. In General. A bailment may be determined by the mere lapse of time, as where the chattel is bailed for a stated period;[33] by the accomplishment of the object for which the thing was bailed;[34] by mutual agreement;[35] by rescission of the contract of bailment on grounds recognized in contracts generally;[36] by the total or partial destruction of the subject-matter, as notice of suit, will be a sufficient excuse if the property be subsequently demanded by the bailor. Powell v. Robinson, 76 Ala. 423.

31. Ball v. Liney, 48 N. Y. 6, 8 Am. Rep. 511; McEntee v. New Jersey Steamboat Co., 45 N. Y. 34, 6 Am. Rep. 28; Rogers v. Weir, 34 N. Y. 463; Carroll v. Mix, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 212; Willner v. Morrell, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 222; Tuttle v. Gladding, 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 157; Dunlap v. Hunting, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 643, 43 Am. Dec. 763; Mount v. Derick, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 455; Holbrook v. Wight, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 169, 35 Am. Dec. 607; Dowd v. Wadworth, 13 N. C. 130, 18 Am. Dec. 567; Beckley v. Howard, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 94; Alexander v. Southey, 5 B. & Ald. 247, 24 Rev. Rep. 348, 7 E. C. L. 141; Isaack v. Clark, 2 Bulst. 306; Green v. Dunn, 3 Campb. 215 note; Solomons v. Dawes, 1 Esp. 83; Vaughan v. Watt, 9 L. J. Exch. 272, 6 M. & W. 492; Hollins v. Fowler, L. R. 7 H. L. 757, 44 L. J. Q. B. 169, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 73.

There is a conversion where delivery is refused because the property has been sold to pay storage (Briggs v. Haycock, 63 Cal. 343); where possession is retained (Dusky v. Rudder, 80 Mo. 400; Western Transp. Co. v. Barber, 56 N. Y. 544; Ball v. Liney, 48 N. Y. 6, 8 Am. Rep. 511; Dohorty v. Madgett, 58 Vt. 323, 2 Atl. 115); where the bailee signs a receipt acknowledging that he holds the property for some person other than the real owner (Holbrook v. Wight, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 169, 35 Am. Dec. 607); where the bailor is notified that the bailee, or someone holding under him, claims to hold under a right adverse to and denying the bailor's title (Collins v. Bellefonte Cent. R. Co., 171 Pa. St. 243, 33 Atl. 331); and where delivery is refused unless certain claims of the bailor or bailee inconsistent with the true owner's title are first paid (Roberts v. Yarboro, 41 Tex. 449. See also Smith v. Bell, 9 Mo. 873).

Difficulty in distinguishing bailed property from other property in the hands of a bailee is not a proper reason for non-delivery. Dusky v. Rudder, 80 Mo. 400.

Refusal to deliver until receipt of order from bailor.— A bailee declining to deliver to a person claiming to be the owner until he has received an order to deliver them from the bailor is not guilty of a conversion. Freeman v. Perry, 25 Tex. 611.

The refusal of a servant to deliver goods intrusted to him by his employer on a demand made by a stranger, because he has no authority so to do, is a qualified refusal. Mount v. Derick, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 455.

32. Freeman v. Perry, 25 Tex. 611, where the bailor, after the bailment, sold the property and two persons claimed it as purchasers, the bailee detaining the property from one of them upon the ground that the other was entitled thereto.

33. Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151; New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828; Cobb v. Wallace, 5 Coldw. (Tenn.) 539, 98 Am. Dec. 435.

34. Alabama.— Lay v. Lawson, 23 Ala. 377.

Georgia.— Chattahoochee Nat. Bank v. Schley, 58 Ga. 369.

Maine.— Morse v. Androscoggin R. Co., 39 Me. 285.

Massachusetts.— Sessions v. Western R. Corp., 16 Gray (Mass.) 132.

New Jersey.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828.

Tennessee.— Cobb v. Wallace, 5 Coldw. (Tenn.) 539, 98 Am. Dec. 435.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 103.

35. New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828.

Bailor's sale of subject-matter with consent of bailee.— The bailor may, when his contract reserves a right to take possession of the property at any time, sell the property and thus terminate the bailment. Minturn v. Stryker, 1 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 356.

Demise of land with personal property thereon.— Where land is demised with personal property thereon for a term, and the lessor reserves right to sell the land before the expiration of the term, it is doubtful whether, if he exercises such right, he can terminate the bailment of the personal property before the expiration of the specified term. Zule v. Zule, 24 Wend. (N. Y.) 76, 35 Am. Dec. 600.

The bailor may reserve the right to terminate the bailment by retaking possession of the subject-matter whenever he becomes dissatisfied with the bailor's manner of user. Barr v. Van Duyn, 45 Iowa 228.

36. Camp v. Dill, 27 Ala. 553; Stiff v. Keith, 143 Mass. 224, 9 N. E. 577.

Consolidation of separate and distinct contracts of hire.— Where two articles are hired separately, the giving of a note for the correct amount agreed to be paid does not of itself consolidate the two contracts so as to warrant the rescission of both upon the breach of the one. Camp v. Dill, 27 Ala. 553.

Where the bailor does not care to keep a hired article in repair he cannot be held to where a chattel is lost or destroyed[37] or it becomes unfit and unsuitable for the use for which it was hired ;[38] or by any act of the bailee which is inconsistent with the bailment or which tends to defeat the bailor's right to the property,[39] as where the bailee, when not authorized so to do, sells,[40] misuses,[41] or in any way converts[42] do so, but if it becomes disabled the bailee may put an end to the agreement and return the article to the bailor. Gleason v. Smith, 39 Hun (N. Y.) 617.

37. New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828; Masterson v. International, etc., R. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 55 S. W. 577; Morse v. Crawford, 17 Vt. 499, 44 Am. Dec. 349.

Bailee's right to sue for loss not barred by destruction.— The destruction of the subject of a bailment, while it terminates the contract of bailment, does not bar the bailee from maintaining an action for the loss against the party responsible therefor. Masterson v. International, etc., R. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 55 S. W. 577.

38. New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828 [affirmed in 61 N. J. L. 287, 41 Atl. 1116, 43 L. R. A. 849].

39. Indiana.— Smith v. Stewart, 5 Ind. 220.

Maine.— Ripley v. Dolbier, 18 Me. 382.

New Jersey.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828.

North Carolina.— Barringer v. Burns, 103 N. C. 606, 13 S. E. 142.

South Carolina.— Clarke v. Poozer, 2 McMull. (S. C.) 434.

A gift of the property bailed to another person terminates the bailment. Johnston v. Whittemore, 27 Mich. 463.

40. Maine.— Emerson v. Fisk, 6 Me. 200, 19 Am. Dec. 206.

Michigan.— Dunlap v. Gleason, 16 Mich. 158, 93 Am. Dec. 231.

Mississippi.— Crump v. Mitchell, 34 Miss. 449.

New Hampshire.— Partridge v. Philbrick, 60 N. H. 556; King v. Bates, 57 N. H. 446; Bailey v. Colby, 34 N. H. 29, 66 Am. Dec. 752; Lovejoy v. Jones, 30 N. H. 164; Sargent v. Gile, 8 N. H. 325; Sanborn v. Colman, 6 N. H. 14, 23 Am. Dec. 703.

Vermont.— Dunham v. Lee, 24 Vt. 432.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 104.

An unauthorized sale by the bailee has been held not to terminate a bailment where he may either return the bailed property or pay a sum of money within a specified date and is still able so to do. Vincent v. Cornell, 13 Pick. (Mass.) 294, 23 Am. Dec. 683.

41. New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828, holding that while a mere misuse might not terminate a bailment, yet, when by the negligence of the bailee, either alone or in conjunction with the negligence of the third party, the subject-matter is no longer fit and suitable for the uses for which it was hired the contract of bailment is at an end.

42. Alabama.—Cartlidge v. Sloan, 124 Ala. 596, 26 So. 918; Bolling v. Kirby, 90 Ala. 215, 7 So. 914, 24 Am. St. Rep. 789; Jones v. Fort, 36 Ala. 449; Fail v. McArthur, 31 Ala. 26; Wilkinson v. Moseley, 30 Ala. 562; Moseley v. Wilkinson, 24 Ala. 411; Hooks v. Smith, 18 Ala. 338.

Arkansas.— Stewart v. Davis, 31 Ark. 518, 25 Am. Rep. 576; Estes v. Boothe, 20 Ark. 583.

California.— Welch v. Mohr, 93 Cal. 371, 28 Pac. 1060.

Connecticut.— Frost v. Plumb, 40 Conn. 111, 16 Am. Rep. 18.

Delaware.— Maguyer v. Hawthorn, 2 Harr. (Del.) 71.

Georgia.— Farkas v. Powell, 86 Ga. 800, 13 S. E. 200, 12 L. R. A. 397; Lewis v. McAfee, 32 Ga. 465; Latimer v. Alexander, 14 Ga. 259; Gorman v. Campbell, 14 Ga. 137; Columbus v. Howard, 6 Ga. 213.

Illinois.— Johnson v. Weedman, 5 Ill. 495.

Indiana.— Coffin v. Anderson, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 395.

Kentucky.— Kennedy v. Ashcraft, 4 Bush (Ky.) 530; Kelly v. White, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 124; King v. Shanks, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 410.

Louisiana.— Guillot v. Armitage, 7 Mart. (La.) 710.

Maine.— Morton v. Gloster, 46 Me. 520; Crocker v. Gullifer, 44 Me. 491, 69 Am. Dec. 118.

Maryland.—Clagett v. Speake, 4 Harr. & M. (Md.) 162.

Massachusetts.— Perham v. Coney, 117 Mass. 102; Hall v. Corcoran, 107 Mass. 251, 9 Am. Rep. 30; Lucas v. Trumbull, 15 Gray (Mass.) 306; Gregg v. Wyman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 322; Rotch v. Hawes, 12 Pick. (Mass.) 136, 22 Am. Dec. 414; Homer v. Thwing, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 492; Wheelock v. Wheelwright, 5 Mass. 104.

Michigan.— Hubbell v. Blandy, 87 Mich. 209, 49 N. W. 502, 24 Am. St. Rep. 154; Fisher v. Kyle, 27 Mich. 454.

Mississippi.— Wallace v. Seales, 36 Miss. 53; Young v. Thompson, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 129.

Missouri.— Kellar v. Garth, 45 Mo. App. 332; Allgear v. Walsh, 24 Mo. App. 134; Fox v. Young, 22 Mo. App. 386.

New Hampshire.— Gove v. Watson, 61 N. H. 136; King v. Bates, 57 N. H. 446; Woodman v. Hubbard, 25 N. H. 67, 57 Am. Dec. 310.

New Jersey.— Schenk v. Strong, 4 N. J. L. 99.

New York.— Buchanan v. Smith, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 474; Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380; Fish v. Ferris, 5 Duer (N. Y.) 49; Disbrow v. Tenbroeck, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 397; Campbell v. Stakes, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 137, 19 Am. Dec. 561; Sarjeant v. Blunt, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 74.

North Carolina.—Martin v. Cuthbertson, 64 N. C. 328; Slocumb v. Washington, 51 N. C. 357; Setzar v. Butler, 27 N. C. 212.

the property, purchases it from the bailor,[43] or does not perform the conditions of the contract.[44]

b. Bailment For Mutual Benefit. Where a bailment of hiring is without specification as to time either the bailor or bailee may terminate it at any time,[45] upon the one giving reasonable notice to the other.[46]

c. Bailment For Sole Benefit of Bailor. A bailment for the sole benefit of the bailor terminates upon the death of either the bailor or bailee before performance is entered upon;[47] and the bailor may at any time terminate the bailment upon giving notice to the bailee,[48] whether the purpose of the bailment be legal Pennsylvania.— Brown v. Baker, 15 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 60.

South Carolina.—Abrahams v. South Western Railroad Bank, 1 S. C. 441, 7 Am. Rep. 33; Richardson v. Dingle, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 405; Duncan v. South Carolina R. Co., 2 Rich. (S. C.) 613; De Tollenere v. Fuller, 1 Mill Const. (S. C.) 116, 12 Am. Dec. 616.

Tennessee.— Scruggs v. Davis, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 261; Bedford v. Flowers, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 241; Mullen v. Ensley, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 427; Horsely v. Branch, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 198; Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459; McNeill v. Brooks, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 73.

Texas.— Mills v. Ashe, 16 Tex. 295; Young v. Lewis, 9 Tex. 73; Cochran v. Walker, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 49 S. W. 403; Evertson v. Frier, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 201.

Vermont.— Malaney v. Taft, 60 Vt. 571, 15 Atl. 326, 6 Am. St. Rep. 135; Ray v. Tubbs, 50 Vt. 688, 28 Am. Rep. 519; Towne v. Wiley, 23 Vt. 355, 56 Am. Dec. 85; Green v. Sperry, 16 Vt. 390, 42 Am. Dec. 519; Sibley v. Story, 8 Vt. 15.

Virginia.— Harvey v. Skipwith, 16 Gratt. (Va.) 393; Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565.

Wisconsin.— De Voin v. Michigan Lumber Co., 64 Wis. 616, 25 N. W. 552, 54 Am. Rep. 649; Lane v. Cameron, 38 Wis. 603.

United States.— Ross v. Southern Cotton Oil Co., 41 Fed. 152.

43. Dunlap v. Gleason, 16 Mich. 158, 93 Am. Dec. 231.

44. Otis v. Wood, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 498, holding that, where it is a condition in a lease of personal property that the lessee shall keep it upon particular premises and not remove it therefrom, a removal of such property by the lessee operates as a termination of the bailment.

45. Alabama.— Learned-Letcher Lumber Co. v. Fowler, 109 Ala. 169, 19 So. 396.

New Hampshire.— Drake v. Redington, 9 N. H. 243.

New Jersey.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828.

New York.— Emerald, etc., Brewing Co. v. Leonard, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 120, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 706; Gleason v. Morrison, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 4, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 909.

North Carolina.— Puffer, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Baker, 104 N. C. 148, 10 S. E. 254; Hoell v. Paul, 49 N. C. 75.

Where a bailee may at any time terminate the bailment, he must comply strictly with the contract. Thus where he is entitled to terminate by a return of the property he must so do. Wilcox, etc., Sewing Mach. Co. v. Himes, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 760, 50 N. Y. St. 489.

46. Wyman v. Dorr, 3 Me. 183; Emerald, etc., Brewing Co. v. Leonard, 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 120, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 706; Puffer, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Baker, 104 N. C. 148, 10 S. E. 254; Smith v. Plomer, 15 East 607.

The bailee has not the arbitrary and exclusive right to determine at what time a bailment shall terminate. Cobb v. Wallace, 5 Coldw. (Tenn.) 539, 98 Am. Dec. 435.

A notice by the bailee that he will pay no more hire is sufficient. Puffer, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Baker, 104 N. C. 148, 10 S. E. 254.

A demand by the bailor for the thing bailed is sufficient. Hoell v. Paul, 49 N. C. 75.

A refusal to accept back from the bailee the subject of the bailment is not a sufficient act on the part of the bailor to terminate the bailment. Andrews v. Keith, 168 Mass. 558, 47 N. E. 423.

Restoration of possession.— Where the bailee wishes to terminate the bailment he must restore the possession to the person whom, by accepting the bailment, he admitted to be entitled to it. Andrews v. Keith, 168 Mass. 558, 47 N. E. 423.

47. Farrow v. Bragg, 30 Ala. 261.

48. Arkansas.— McLain v. Huffman, 30 Ark. 428.

Georgia.—Montgomery v. Evans, 8 Ga. 178.

Illinois.— Hodges v. Hurd, 47 Ill. 363; Amberg v. Philbrick, 33 Ill. App. 200.

New Hampshire.— Winkley v. Foye, 33 N. H. 171, 66 Am. Dec. 715.

New York.— Phelps v. Bostwick, 22 Barb. (N. Y.) 314; Beardslee v. Richardson, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 25, 25 Am. Dec. 596.

South Carolina.— West v. Murph, 3 Hill (S. C.) 284.

Vermont.— Jackman v. Partridge, 21 Vt. 558.

England.— Taylor v. Lendey, 9 East 49; Lyte v. Peny, Dyer 49*a*.

A mandate may be revoked at any time before it is executed, or at least before any engagement is entered into by the mandatory with a third person to execute it for his benefit, and it will be revoked by any prior disposition of the property inconsistent with such execution. Story Bailm. § 104; Bacon Abr. tit. "Bailment," D. [cited in Winkley v. Foye, 33 N. H. 171, 66 Am. Dec. 715].

A notice to the bailee that the title to the or illegal.[49] In like manner the bailee may terminate at any time upon giving reasonable notice to that effect to the bailor.[50]

d. Bailment For Sole Benefit of Bailee. Where the loan is for an indefinite time the bailor may terminate the bailment when he pleases,[51] and the bailment terminates eo instanti by the death of the bailee.[52]

e. Effect of Termination. Upon the termination of the bailment the bailor has a right to resume possession of the property[53] or to consider the bailment as continued or renewed.[54] Should the bailment terminate by reason of the bailee's refusing to perform his part of the contract the bailor may use the subject-matter thereof so as to relieve the bailee from all unnecessary damage.[55]

B. As Between Bailor or Bailee and Third Persons — 1. Rights as Against Third Persons — a. In General. Since the property in things bailed is for some purposes in the bailee and for some in the bailor, the right of action in relation thereto must partake of the same properties, and so continue until it is finally fixed and determined by one or the other party appropriating it to himself.[56] Accordingly, for any wrong done by a third party in connection with the subject-matter of the bailment, either the bailor or the bailee may sue;[57] but a recovery of dam-subject-matter passed from the bailor is sufficient. Hodges v. Hurd, 47 Ill. 363; Whitney v. Lynde, 16 Vt. 579; Pierce v. Chipman, 8 Vt. 334; Harman v. Anderson, 2 Campb. 243, 11 Rev. Rep. 706.

The bailment is terminated upon a demand for return of the property in relation to which some duty was to be performed. Carle v. Bearce, 33 Me. 337.

49. Taylor v. Lendey, 9 East 49; Lyte v. Peny, Dyer 49*a*.

50. Dale v. Brinckerhoff, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 45; Roulston v. McClelland, 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 60; De Lemos v. Cohen, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 579, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 498.

51. Pulliam v. Burlingame, 81 Mo. 111, 51 Am. Rep. 229. Compare Story Bailm. § 258, where it is said that a lender may not terminate the bailment unreasonably, while the object of the bailment is not accomplished, and that if he does so the bailee may recover damage in case of a loss occasioned thereby.

The bailor's right to terminate is not necessarily restricted to the life of the bailee. McGehee v. Mahone, 37 Ala. 258.

52. Smiley v. Allen, 13 Allen (Mass.) 465; Blount v. Hamey, 43 Mo. App. 644; Morris v. Lowe, 97 Tenn. 243, 36 S. W. 1098.

This principle is not affected by Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 5173, providing that when personal property shall be pretended to have been loaned to any person, with whom or those claiming under him possession shall have remained for the space of five years without demand made and pursued by due process of law on the part of the pretended lender, the same shall be taken as to all creditors and purchasers of the persons so remaining in possession, to be void, and that the absolute property is with the possession unless such loan be recorded as required by the statute. Blount v. Hamey, 43 Mo. App. 644.

Where a bailment is terminated by the death of the bailee in a manner that requires an inquiry by a coroner, the administrator of the person deceased has no right or title to the subject-matter of the bailment; and it is the duty of the coroner, where he has taken possession of the property in his capacity as coroner, to deliver it to the bailor. Smiley v. Allen, 13 Allen (Mass.) 465.

53. Alabama.— Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151.

Massachusetts.— Smiley v. Allen, 13 Allen (Mass.) 465.

Michigan.— Johnston v. Whittemore, 27 Mich. 463.

Vermont.— Dunham v. Lee, 24 Vt. 432.

England.—Farrant v. Thompson, 5 B. & Ald. 826, 2 D. & R. 1, 24 Rev. Rep. 571, 7 E. C. L. 449; Samuel v. Morris, 6 C. & P. 620, 25 E. C. L. 606.

54. Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151.

No presumption of continuance.— The continued possession of personal property after the expiration of a hiring agreement does not imply that the bailment was continued, and in this respect a bailment is not analogous to a lease of real property, where there is a presumption that a tenant holding over after the termination of a specified time has renewed his lease. Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151; Chamberlain v. Pratt, 33 N. Y. 47.

Bailor's remedies for failure to return upon termination of bailment see infra, VI, A, 2, a.

55. Johnson v. Meeker, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 92 [affirmed in 96 N. Y. 93, 48 Am. Rep. 609], holding that the bailor is not bound to have his property suffer from disuse and exposure and sue finally upon the contract as if performed.

56. Elkins v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 19 N. H. 337, 51 Am. Dec. 184; Green v. Clarke, 12 N. Y. 343.

57. Connecticut.—Gillette v. Goodspeed, 69 Conn. 363, 37 Atl. 973.

Kentucky.— City Transfer Co. v. Robinson, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 555.

Massachusetts.— Rindge v. Coleraine, 11 Gray (Mass.) 157.

Mississippi.— Baggett v. McCormack, 73 Miss. 552, 19 So. 89, 55 Am. St. Rep. 554.

New Hampshire.— Elkins v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 19 N. H. 337, 51 Am. Dec. 184.

ages by either of them will be a full satisfaction[58] and a bar of any subsequent suit by the other.[59]

b. Of Bailor — (I) Against Creditors of Bailee. Where a creditor of the bailee seizes the bailed property, the bailor may recover possession or the value thereof from him,[60] unless the bailor has by his acts estopped himself from asserting his title to the property.[61]

(II) Against Persons Contracting With Bailee. Where the bailee and a third person enter into a contract respecting the subject-matter of the bailment the bailor may sustain an action for a breach of contract against such third person.[62]

(III) Against Persons Injuring Property. A right of action against a third party injuring the property while in the possession of the bailee accrues to the bailor,[63] as it does also against any person who commits a trespass upon the

New York.— Baird v. Daly, 57 N. Y. 236, 15 Am. Rep. 488; Green v. Clarke, 12 N. Y. 343; Coykendall v. Eaton, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 188, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 438; Paddock v. Wing, 16 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 547; Faulkner v. Brown, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 63; Smith v. James, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 328; Thorp v. Burling, 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 285.

Texas.—Masterson v. International, etc., R. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 55 S. W. 577.

Vermont.— Wilder v. Stafford, 30 Vt. 399.

United States.— Knight v. Davis Carriage Co., 71 Fed. 662, 30 U. S. App. 664, 18 C. C. A. 287.

England.— Nicolls v. Bastard, 2 C. M. & R. 659, 1 Gale 295, 5 L. J. Exch. 7, 1 Tyrw. & G. 156.

58. Maine.— Little v. Fossett, 34 Me. 544, 56 Am. Dec. 671.

Massachusetts.— Harrington v. King, 121 Mass. 269.

New Hampshire.— Elkins v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 19 N. H. 337, 51 Am. Dec. 184; Chesley v. St. Clair, 1 N. H. 189.

New York.— Faulkner v. Brown, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 63.

United States.— Knight v. Davis Carriage Co., 71 Fed. 662, 30 U. S. App. 664, 18 C. C. A. 287.

Where the bailor settles with the bailee for injuries done to the bailed article, and agrees with the latter that he may sue in the bailor's name at his own risk and expense and for his own benefit, the settlement is not a bar to the bailee's right of action. Rindge v. Coleraine, 11 Gray (Mass.) 157.

59. Massachusetts.— Johnson v. Holyoke, 105 Mass. 80.

Mississippi.— Baggett v. McCormack, 73 Miss. 552, 19 So. 89, 55 Am. St. Rep. 554.

New Hampshire.—Woodman v. Nottingham, 49 N. H. 387, 6 Am. Rep. 526.

New York.— Green v. Clarke, 12 N. Y. 343; Leoncini v. Post, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 825, 37 N. Y. St. 255.

United States.— Knight v. Davis Carriage Co., 71 Fed. 662, 30 U. S. App. 664, 18 C. C. A. 287.

Payment to the bailee of full damages for an injury to the subject of the bailment bars an action by the bailor, although such payment was not compelled by judicial proceedings. Masterson v. International, etc., R. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 55 S. W. 577.

60. Alabama.— Abbercrombie v. Bradford, 16 Ala. 560.

California.— Hardy v. Hunt, 11 Cal. 343, 70 Am. Dec. 787.

Maine.— Small v. Hutchins, 19 Me. 255; Sibley v. Brown, 15 Me. 185.

New Hampshire.— Bellows v. Denison, 9 N. H. 293.

Pennsylvania.— King v. Humphreys, 10 Pa. St. 217.

Tennessee.— Caldwell v. Cowan, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 262.

Vermont.— Hart v. Hyde, 5 Vt. 328.

Whether bailed property is subject to attachment against bailee a question of fact.— Where the bailor leaves property with the bailee with directions to sell it, and, after deducting a debt due to himself, to pay the balance to the bailor, and the bailee exchanges it for other property, such property is not necessarily subject to be attached upon his debts. This depends upon whether the bailor ratifies or repudiates the exchange. Strong v. Adams, 30 Vt. 221, 73 Am. Dec. 305.

Bailed property not liable to distress levied against bailee. Owen v. Boyle, 22 Me. 47.

Seizure of receptacle containing bailed property.—Where the place in which a bailee keeps bailed property is seized by a creditor and such property is destroyed accidentally, the bailor cannot recover from the creditor unless the seizure caused the destruction. Hobson v. Woolfolk, 23 La. Ann. 384.

Liabilities of officers seizing property belonging to a third person see SHERIFFS AND CONSTABLES.

61. Drew v. Kimball, 43 N. H. 282, 80 Am. Dec. 163.

62. Taintor v. Prendergast, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 72, 38 Am. Dec. 618; Beebee v. Robert, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 413, 27 Am. Dec. 132; Sanderson v. Lamberton, 6 Binn. (Pa.) 129; New Jersey Steam Nav. Co. v. Boston Merchants' Bank, 6 How. (U. S.) 344, 12 L. ed. 465.

63. Kentucky.— Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Kidd, 7 Dana (Ky.) 245.

New Hampshire.—Howard v. Farr, 18 N. H. 457.

New York.—Orser v. Storms, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 687, 18 Am. Dec. 543.

property while in the bailee's possession, notwithstanding the fact that no actual injury is done to the property.[64]

(iv) Against Persons Wrongfully Dispossessing Bailee. The bailor may maintain an action against a third party who wrongfully dispossesses the bailee of the subject-matter of the bailment.[65]

(v) Against Vendees and Other Transferees of Bailee. The bailor may recover possession of the subject-matter of the bailment, or its value, from any person who has acquired possession by a wrongful act of the bailee, such as a sale,[66] mortgage,[67] pledge,[68] or otherwise,[69] unless the bailor has done some act which estops him to set up his claim to the property.[70] This right is not affected, even if the person so in possession is in the position of a bona fide purchaser without notice,[71] unless possession was acquired by him under a sale in market

North Carolina.— White v. Griffin, 49 N. C. 139.

United States.— New Jersey Steam Nav. Co. v. Boston Merchants' Bank, 6 How. (U. S.) 344, 12 L. ed. 465.

64. White v. Griffin, 49 N. C. 139.

65. Walker v. Wilkinson, 35 Ala. 725, 76 Am. Dec. 315; Drake v. Redington, 9 N. H. 243; Orser v. Storms, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 687, 18 Am. Dec. 543; Soper v. Sumner, 5 Vt. 274.

66. Indiana.—Kitchell v. Vanadar, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 356, 12 Am. Dec. 249.

New Hampshire.— Partridge v. Philbrick, 60 N. H. 556; Johnson v. Willey, 46 N. H. 75; Lovejoy v. Jones, 30 N. H. 164; Sargent v. Gile, 8 N. H. 325.

New Jersey.— Midland R. Co. v. Hitchcock, 37 N. J. Eq. 549.

Ohio.— Roland v. Gundy, 5 Ohio 202.

Pennsylvania.— Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414; Heizmann v. Rank, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 469; Hardy v. Metzgar, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 347.

Vermont.— Child v. Allen, 33 Vt. 476; Heacock v. Walker, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 338.

United States.—Aborn v. Mason, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 405, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 19.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 93.

Right of bailee to transfer see supra, V, A, 3, a.

No breach of the peace must be committed by a bailor when retaking his property. Heacock v. Walker, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 338.

Bailed property wrongfully annexed to real estate of bailee.— The bailor cannot recover property from a purchaser where it was tortiously annexed to the real estate of the bailee, who then sold the real estate to the purchaser. Fryatt v. Sullivan Co., 7 Hill (N. Y.) 529 [affirming 5 Hill (N. Y.) 116].

67. Thirlby v. Rainbow, 93 Mich. 164, 53 N. W. 159.

Record of an unauthorized mortgage does not affect the bailor with notice. Robinson v. Bird, 158 Mass. 357, 33 N. E. 391, 35 Am. St. Rep. 495.

68. Gallaher v. Cohen, 1 Browne (Pa.) 43; North v. Barr, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 425; Thrall v. Lathrop, 30 Vt. 307, 73 Am. Dec. 306.

69. Schenck v. Saunders, 13 Gray (Mass.) 37; Brainard v. Knapp, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 206, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 678, 60 N. Y. St. 833.

Property taken as indemnity for becoming surety of bailee.— A person taking bailed property to indemnify himself for going on a recognizance for the bailee is liable to the bailor for the use of the property, according to the terms of the lease entered into by the bailee. Rowe v. Sharp, 51 Pa. St. 26.

A person who makes advances to the bailee upon the subject-matter of the bailment cannot hold such property as against the bailor. Schenck v. Saunders, 13 Gray (Mass.) 37.

70. Midland R. Co. v. Hitchcock, 37 N. J. Eq. 549; Penfield v. Dunbar, 64 Barb. (N. Y.) 239.

Declarations of the bailor that the bailee owns the property sold do not bind the bailor, unless the purchaser was thereby induced to buy. McMahon v. Sloan, 12 Pa. St. 229, 51 Am. Dec. 601; Hildeburn v. Nathans, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 567, 12 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 254.

To affect the bailor's title as to strangers, acts of ownership inconsistent with the bailor's title must have been brought to the knowledge of the bailor. McMahon v. Sloan, 12 Pa. St. 229, 51 Am. Dec. 601; Hildeburn v. Nathans, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 567, 12 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 254.

Where bailee has apparent ownership.— Whether the bailor is estopped to assert his claim against a person who deals with the bailee on the apparent ownership of the latter is a question of fact. Brainard v. Knapp, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 206, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 678, 60 N. Y. St. 833.

A bailor is not estopped to assert his title to the bailed property, because he permits the bailee to sell it to a stranger to apply upon a prior indebtedness due to him from the bailee, if such purchaser is at the time of purchase aware of the bailor's title. Penfield v. Dunbar, 64 Barb. (N. Y.) 239.

The presence of the bailor's agent at a foreclosure sale under a wrongful mortgage by the bailee is not misleading to a purchaser, if such agent says nothing concerning the property and the purchaser is not aware that the bailor's agent is present. Thirlby v. Rainbow, 93 Mich. 164, 53 N. W. 159.

71. Indiana.— Ingersoll v. Emmerson, 1 Ind. 76; Kitchell v. Vanadar, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 356, 12 Am. Dec. 249.

New Hampshire.— Johnson v. Willey, 46 N. H. 75.

New York.— Edwards v. Dooley, 120 N. Y. 540, 24 N. E. 827, 31 N. Y. St. 510; Wooster overt,[72] the principle being that the bailee cannot transfer a greater right or better title than he himself possessess,[73] and that a person purchasing property from a stranger must be careful.[74]

c. Of Bailee — (i) In General. During the existence of the bailment but not after it has terminated [75] the bailee may maintain any proper action to protect his possession of the subject-matter, or may interpose a claim to such property if attached as that of the bailor [76] or of a third person.[77] So he may recover for any tort committed in relation to the property bailed, by a third person,[78] unless such person is the rightful owner of the property ; [79] or where a third person commits some breach of contract in connection with the bailed property.[80]

(ii) Against Persons Injuring Property. It has been held uniformly that the bailee has a right of action against a third party who by his negligence causes the loss of or any injury to the bailed article,[81] and this right has been

v. Sherwood, 25 N. Y. 278; Saltus v. Everett, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 267, 32 Am. Dec. 541.

Pennsylvania.— McMahon v. Sloan, 12 Pa. St. 229, 51 Am. Dec. 601; Hardy v. Metzgar, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 347; Hildeburn v. Nathan, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 567, 12 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 254; Mann v. English, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 637.

England.—McCombie v. Davies, 6 East 538, 2 Smith K. B. 557, 8 Rev. Rep. 534.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 93.

A denial of the bailor's title is permitted bona fide purchaser of the property. McFerrin v. Perry, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 314.

72. Robinson v. Haas, 40 Cal. 474; Roland v. Gundy, 5 Ohio 202; King v. Richards, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 418, 37 Am. Dec. 420; Hartop v. Hoare, 3 Atk. 44, 2 Str. 1187, 1 Wils. C. P. 8; Horwood v. Smith, 2 T. R. 750, 1 Rev. Rep. 613.

Purchase at market overt.— For the security of a purchaser in his contract, and for the encouragement of commercial intercourse, the doctrine in England seems to be that all sales of things vendible in market overt shall not only be good between the parties but also binding on others who have any right or property therein. Kitchell v. Vanadar, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 356, 12 Am. Dec. 249; Hoffman v. Carow, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 285. In the United States, however, markets overt do not appear to exist (Robinson v. Haas, 40 Cal. 474; Kitchell v. Vanadar, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 356, 12 Am. Dec. 249; Roland v. Gundy, 5 Ohio 202; Lecky v. McDermott, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 500; Easton v. Worthington, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 130; Hardy v. Metzgar, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 347; Heacock v. Walker, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 338. See also Hoffman v. Carow, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 285), the only cases of sale that can with propriety be said to be made in market overt being those which are regulated by statute, which ought to inure against the owner (Heacock v. Walker, 1 Tyler (Vt.) 338).

73. Roland v. Gundy, 5 Ohio 202.

The bailee is not clothed with such indicia of ownership as to affect the bailor's right. Cox v. McGuire, 26 Ill. App. 315.

74. Hardy v. Metzgar, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 347.

75. Morse v. Androscoggin R. Co., 39 Me. 285.

76. Hartford v. Jackson, 11 N. H. 145; Truslow v. Putnam, 4 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 425, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 568; Stanley v. Robbins, 36 Vt. 422; Smith v. Niles, 20 Vt. 315, 49 Am. Dec. 782. Contra, Anheuser-Busch Brewing Assoc. v. Daviess County Distilling Co., 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1522, 49 S. W. 541, where the court said it was aware of no case that went to the extent of holding that the bailee could recover possession of property as against an attaching creditor of the bailor.

Interest of bailor liable to execution or attachment.— In New York the bailee has no right of action against an officer who attaches or levies upon the interest of the bailor in the subject-matter of the bailment. Stief v. Hart, 1 N. Y. 20; Patterson v. Perry, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 82; Bakewell v. Ellsworth, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 484. In Vermont under statute the right of the bailor in property hired may be attached. Brigham v. Avery, 48 Vt. 602.

77. Knight v. Davis Carriage Co., 71 Fed. 662, 30 U. S. App. 664, 18 C. C. A. 287.

78. Hollenback v. Todd, 19 Ill. App. 452; Faulkner v. Brown, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 63; White v. Bascom, 28 Vt. 268.

79. Faulkner v. Brown, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 63.

80. Bruen v. Kansas City Agricultural, etc., Fair Assoc., 40 Mo. App. 425; White v. Bascom, 28 Vt. 268.

Recovery by original bailee from contractor with subbailee.—Where a subbailee contracts with a third person in relation to the subject-matter of the bailment, such third person is liable to the original bailee for a breach of contract. Bruen v. Kansas City Agricultural, etc., Fair Assoc., 40 Mo. App. 425.

81. Alabama.— Montgomery Gas-Light Co. v. Montgomery, etc., R. Co., 86 Ala. 372, 5 So. 735; McGill v. Monette, 37 Ala. 49.

Georgia.—Lockhart v. Western, etc., R. Co., 73 Ga. 472, 54 Am. Rep. 883.

Illinois.— Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. McIntire, 39 Ill. 298.

Kentucky.— Belt Electric Line Co. v. Creason, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 203; Owensboro Wharfboat Co. v. Hoover, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 399.

Maine.— Moran v. Portland Steam Packet Co., 35 Me. 55.

Maryland.— American Dist. Tel. Co. v. Walker, 72 Md. 454, 20 Atl. 1, 20 Am. St. Rep. 479.

Massachusetts.— Johnson v. Holyoke, 105 Mass. 80.

held to be the same even though the bailee is not responsible to the bailor for the loss.[82]

(III) Against Persons Wrongfully Dispossessing. A bailee unlawfully dispossessed of the subject-matter of the bailment has a right to recover possession of such property or its value from the wrong-doer;[83] and this right is not divested because the bailor has, after the tortious act, demanded the property unavailingly from the wrong-doer,[84] or because such third person was acting under directions from the bailor.[85]

2. Liability to Third Parties — a. For Detention of Property From True Owner — (I) Liability of Bailor. The true owner of the property bailed may enforce his right to it as against the bailor whenever he sees fit so to do before its delivery by the bailee as directed by the bailor.[86]

(II) Liability of Bailee. Where the property bailed was at the time of the bailment owned by a third person, such person may enforce his claim thereto against the bailee[87] until its redelivery to the bailor[88] or other delivery in accord-

Minnesota.—Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114.

Mississippi.— Baggett v. McCormick, 73 Miss. 552, 19 So. 89, 55 Am. St. Rep. 554.

New Hampshire.— Murray v. Warner, 55 N. H. 546, 20 Am. Rep. 227; Woodman v. Nottingham, 49 N. H. 387, 6 Am. Rep. 526; Elkins v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 19 N. H. 337, 51 Am. Dec. 184.

New York.— Kellogg v. Sweeney, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 397 [affirmed in 46 N. Y. 291, 7 Am. Rep. 333]; Bliss v. Schaub, 48 Barb. (N. Y.) 339.

England.— Croft v. Alison, 4 B. & Ald. 590, 23 Rev. Rep. 407, 6 E. C. L. 614; Nicolls v. Bastard, 2 C. M. & R. 659, 1 Gale 295, 5 L. J. Exch. 7, 1 Tyrw. & G. 156.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 100.

82. Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114; Kellogg v. Sweeney, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 397 [affirmed in 46 N. Y. 291, 7 Am. Rep. 333]. But see Buddin v. Fortunato, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 195, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 115, 31 N. Y. St. 278, holding that a bailee, bound to use ordinary care only, is not entitled to recover for an injury occasioned by the wrongful act of another, because he is not liable to the owner.

The fact that the bailee has previously paid the bailor for damages caused by negligence of a third party does not affect his right of action against the tort-feasor. The Jersey City, 51 Fed. 527, 1 U. S. App. 244, 2 C. C. A. 365.

83. Alabama.— Cox v. Easley, 11 Ala. 362.

California.— Bode v. Lee, 102 Cal. 583, 36 Pac. 936.

Illinois.—McGraw v. Patterson, 47 Ill. App. 87.

Massachusetts.— Harrington v. King, 121 Mass. 269; Shaw v. Kaler, 106 Mass. 448; Eaton v. Lynde, 15 Mass. 242.

New Hampshire.— Poole v. Symonds, 1 N. H. 289, 8 Am. Dec. 71.

New York.— Bowen v. Tenner, 40 Barb. (N. Y.) 383; Leoncini v. Post, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 825, 37 N. Y. St. 255; Butts v. Collins, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 139; Faulkner v. Brown, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 63.

North Carolina.—Hopper v. Miller, 76 N. C. 402.

Vermont.— Burdict v. Murray, 3 Vt. 302, 21 Am. Dec. 588.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 99.

A bailee having a lien may recover the property or the amount of the lien from an officer who, without his consent, has taken it on execution against the bailor. Douglass v. McFarland, 92 Cal. 656, 28 Pac. 687; Moore v. Hitchcock, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 292.

Where property belongs to different bailors.—A bailee has an entire cause of action against purchasers of bailed property taken out of his possession, even though such property belongs to more than one bailor. Bode v. Lee, 102 Cal. 583, 36 Pac. 936.

84. Harrington v. King, 121 Mass. 269.

Gratuitous bailee.— Where the bailor has intervened and asserted and proven his right, a gratuitous bailee cannot recover against a third person who has dispossessed him of the property. Engel v. Scott, etc., Lumber Co., 60 Minn. 39, 61 N. W. 825.

85. Burdict v. Murray, 3 Vt. 302, 21 Am. Dec. 588.

86. Wells v. American Express Co., 55 Wis. 23, 11 N. W. 537, 12 N. W. 441, 42 Am. Rep. 695.

87. Indiana.— Kitchell v. Vanadar, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 356, 12 Am. Dec. 249.

New Hampshire.— Doty v. Hawkins, 6 N. H. 247, 25 Am. Dec. 459.

New York.— Florence Sewing Mach. Co. v. Warford, 1 Sweeny (N. Y.) 433; Hoffman v. Carow, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 285.

Pennsylvania.—Gallaher v. Cohen, 1 Browne (Pa.) 43.

Wisconsin.—Wells v. American Express Co., 55 Wis. 23, 11 N. W. 537, 12 N. W. 441, 42 Am. Rep. 695.

Persons entitled to receive the subject-matter of the bailment from the bailee have a right of action against him, notwithstanding that they are not parties to the contract. Walden v. Karr, 88 Ill. 49; Thompson v. Fargo, 49 N. Y. 188, 10 Am. Rep. 342; Sturtevant v. Orser, 24 N. Y. 538, 82 Am. Dec. 321; Lawrence v. Fox, 20 N. Y. 268; Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Westchester County Bank, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 97; Berly v. Taylor, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 577.

88. Nelson v. Iverson, 17 Ala. 216.

ance with the bailor's instructions.[89] Moreover, the bailee is answerable to the true owner of the property in the event of its return to the bailor after being notified of the claim of the true owner,[90] and to a person who has purchased the property subsequently to the bailment,[91] provided he has knowledge of the transfer of the property.[92]

b. For Negligence — (I) In General. The liabilities of the bailor and bailee to third parties are so essentially independent of each other that the negligence of the one cannot be imputed to the other.[93]

(II) Liability of Bailor. In a contract of bailment for hire the bailor is not responsible to a third party for injuries occurring to such third party, by reason of the negligent use of the things hired by the bailee, or for the negligence of the servants of the bailee in respect thereto.[94] He is liable, however, where the subject-matter of the bailment is under the control of his own servant or employee.[95]

(III) Liability of Bailee. The bailee is responsible to third parties for injuries to them caused by the acts of his servants,[96] and may become liable for the acts of servants employed by the bailor, as where he orders the servant to act in a particular manner or to absent himself at any particular moment, and the like.[97]

VI. ACTIONS.

A. Between Bailor and Bailee — 1. Accrual of Right — a. To Bailor. A right of action accrues to the bailor where the subject-matter of the bailment has been used differently from what was intended or the bailee fails to deliver over or redeliver in accordance with his contract;[98] where the bailee has been guilty

89. Wells v. American Express Co., 55 Wis. 23, 11 N. W. 537, 12 N. W. 441, 42 Am. Rep. 695.

90. Nelson v. Iverson, 17 Ala. 216; Dickson v. Chaffe, 34 La. Ann. 1133; Doty v. Hawkins, 6 N. H. 247, 25 Am. Dec. 459; McAnelly v. Chapman, 18 Tex. 198.

91. Mitchell v. McLean, 7 Fla. 329; Erwin v. Arthur, 61 Mo. 386; Smith v. Bell, 9 Mo. 873; Hall v. Robinson, 2 N. Y. 293; Willard v. Bridge, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 361. Compare Gardner v. Adams, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 297.

92. Mitchell v. McLean, 7 Fla. 329.

Effect of bailee's want of knowledge.— Where, without the knowledge of the bailee, a lien has been created by the bailor on the subject-matter of the bailment, the person owning the lien cannot recover the property from the bailee in the event of his subsequently delivering the property to a bona fide purchaser for value by the direction of the bailor. Peoples' Bank v. Gayley, 92 Pa. St. 518.

93. New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828 [affirmed in 61 N. J. L. 287, 41 Atl. 1116, 43 L. R. A. 849].

94. Herlihy v. Smith, 116 Mass. 265; New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828 [affirmed in 61 N. J. L. 287, 41 Atl. 1116, 43 L. R. A. 849].

95. Indiana.— Crockett v. Calvert, 8 Ind. 127.

New Jersey.— Bennett v. New Jersey R., etc., Co., 36 N. J. L. 225, 13 Am. Rep. 435.

New York.— Dyer v. Erie R. Co., 71 N. Y. 228.

Pennsylvania.— Simpson v. Hand, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 311, 36 Am. Dec. 231.

England.— Jones v. Liverpool, 14 Q. B. D. 890, 49 J. P. 311, 54 L. J. Q. B. 345, 33 Wkly. Rep. 551; Quarman v. Burnett, 4 Jur. 969, 9 L. J. Exch. 308, 6 M. & W. 499; Viner Abr. tit. Trespass, B, pl. 1.

96. Herlihy v. Smith, 116 Mass. 265; Quarman v. Burnett, 4 Jur. 969, 9 L. J. Exch. 308, 6 M. & W. 499.

97. Dyer v. Erie R. Co., 71 N. Y. 228; Little v. Hackett, 116 U. S. 366, 29 L. ed. 652; Quarman v. Burnett, 4 Jur. 969, 9 L. J. Exch. 308, 6 M. & W. 499.

98. Alabama.— Atkinson v. Jones, 72 Ala. 248; Cothran v. Moore, 1 Ala. 423.

Arkansas.— McLain v. Huffman, 30 Ark. 428.

California.— Atkins v. Gamble, 42 Cal. 86, 10 Am. Rep. 282.

Indiana.— Spencer v. Morgan, 5 Ind. 146.

Iowa.— Jones v. Foreman, 93 Iowa 198, 61 N. W. 846.

Kentucky.— Easley v. Easley, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 86.

Maryland.—Hopkins v. Stump, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 301.

Massachusetts.— Pratt v. Boston Heel, etc., Co., 134 Mass. 300.

Missouri.— Pritchett v. Reynolds, 21 Mo. App. 674.

New York.— Hayes v. Kedzie, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 577; Disbrow v. Tenbroeck, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 397; Fryatt v. Sullivan Co., 7 Hill (N. Y.) 529 [affirming 5 Hill (N. Y.)

of such a want of care with respect to the subject-matter of the bailment that the bailor is damaged thereby;[99] where the bailee has departed from the terms of the bailment or the instructions of the bailor;[1] or where services to be performed by the bailee have not been sufficiently performed.[2]

b. To Bailee. A right of action accrues to the bailee where the bailor has retaken from him the subject of the bailment during such time as the former was entitled to retain possession,[3] or where the bailee is entitled to compensation.[4] Again, where the contract is one of hiring, and the article hired is not fit for the purposes for which it was hired, the bailee may sue for a breach of the hiring contract.[5]

2. Form of Action — a. By Bailor[6] — (i) In General — (a) Assumpsit. Where the property bailed has been sold or converted into money or money's worth the bailor may sue the bailee in assumpsit.[7]

(b) Case. The bailor may sue in case where the subject-matter of the bailment has been misused by the bailee,[8] or where a loss or injury to the property has occurred from the latter's neglect.[9]

(c) Detinue and Replevin. The bailor may maintain detinue[10] where he 116]; Lockwood v. Bull, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 322, 13 Am. Dec. 539.

North Carolina.— Simmons v. Sikes, 24 N. C. 98.

Tennessee.— Moore v. Fitzpatrick, 7 Baxt. (Tenn.) 350.

Texas.— Nelson v. King, 25 Tex. 655.

99. Georgia.— McNabb v. Lockhart, 18 Ga. 495.

Missouri.— Coleman v. Lipscomb, 18 Mo App. 443.

New York.— Russell v. Roberts, 3 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 318; Delaware Bank v. Smith, 1 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 351.

North Carolina.— Bland v. Womack, 6 N. C. 373.

Ohio.— Anderson v. Foresman, Wright (Ohio) 598.

Pennsylvania.— Persch v. Quiggle, 57 Pa. St. 247.

United States.— Tracy v. Wood, 3 Mason (U. S.) 132, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,130.

1. Florida.— Ferguson v. Porter, 3 Fla. 27.

Iowa.— Cullen v. Lord, 39 Iowa 302.

Maryland.— Casey v. Suter, 36 Md. 1.

Nebraska.— Burk v. Dempster, 34 Nebr. 426, 51 N. W. 976.

New York.— Buchanan v. Smith, 10 Hun (N. Y.) 474.

Tennessee.— Colyar v. Taylor, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 372.

Wisconsin.— Lane v. Cameron, 38 Wis. 603.

United States.— Higbie v. Hopkins, 1 Wash. (U. S.) 230, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,466.

2. Illinois.— Keith v. Bliss, 10 Ill. App. 424.

Kentucky.— McKibben v. Bakers, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120.

New York.— Lienan v. Dinsmore, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 365.

Pennsylvania.— Rodgers v. Grothe, 58 Pa. St. 414; Chambers v. Crawford, Add. (Pa.) 150.

South Carolina.— McCaw v. Kimbrel, 4 McCord (S. C.) 220.

Wisconsin.— Kuehn v. Wilson, 13 Wis. 104.

United States.— The Una, 56 Fed. 157.

3. Illinois.— Simpson v. Wrenn, 50 Ill. 222, 99 Am. Dec. 511.

Indiana.— McConnell v. Maxwell, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 419, 26 Am. Dec. 428.

Missouri.— Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581.

Pennsylvania.—Neafie v. Patterson, 42 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 395.

South Carolina.— Bowen v. Coker, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 13.

Vermont.— Hickok v. Buck, 22 Vt. 149; Fisher v. Cobb, 6 Vt. 622.

4. Gerrard v. Moody, 48 Ga. 96.

5. Woodward v. Stein, 5 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 171, 3 Am. L. Rec. 352.

6. Book-account will not lie for any breach of duty as a bailee. See Accounts and Accounting, 1 Cyc. 500, note 7.

7. Illinois.— Parker v. Tiffany, 52 Ill. 286.

Massachusetts.— Mason v. Briggs, 16 Mass. 453.

New Hampshire.— Frothingham v. Morse, 45 N. H. 545.

New York.— Scovill v. Griffith, 12 N. Y. 509; Berly v. Taylor, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 577.

Ohio.— Barker v. Cory, 15 Ohio 9.

Pennsylvania.— Hamaker v. Blanchard, 90 Pa. St. 377, 35 Am. Rep. 664.

Rhode Island.— Durfee v. Jones, 11 R. I. 588, 23 Am. Rep. 528.

8. Johnson v. Strader, 3 Mo. 359; Scovill v. Griffith, 12 N. Y. 509; Setzar v. Butler, 27 N. C. 212; Parker v. Thompson, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 348; McNeill v. Brooks, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 73.

9. Alabama.— Lay v. Lawson, 23 Ala. 377.

Missouri.— Johnson v. Strader, 3 Mo. 359.

New York.— Hallenbake v. Fish, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 547, 24 Am. Dec. 88; Packard v. Getman, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 613, 21 Am. Dec. 166; Cairnes v. Bleecker, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 300; Jenner v. Joliffe, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 9.

Tennessee.— Hunter v. Sevier, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 126.

England.— Bromley v. Coxwell, 2 B. & P. 438, 5 Rev. Rep. 648.

10. Stoker v. Yerby, 11 Ala. 322; Rucker v. Hamilton, 3 Dana (Ky.) 36; Lewis v.

has a right to immediate possession of the bailed article or, under similar circumstances, he may maintain replevin.[11]

(D) Trespass. Trespass will lie where the bailee has destroyed the bailed property[12] or lost it.[13]

(E) Trover. Where the bailee has been guilty of a conversion of the bailed property, either by a user of it in a different manner or for a different purpose than was agreed upon, or by failure to redeliver or deliver over the property in accordance with the terms of the contract, the bailor may sue him in trover or in some action in the nature of trover.[14]

(II) Election of Remedies. The bailor may, where a tort has been committed with respect to the subject-matter of the bailment, either sue for the tort or waive the tort and sue for a breach of the contract of bailment.[15]

b. By Bailee. Where the bailor has taken the property bailed from the bailee during the term of the bailment the bailee may sue him in trover[16] or replevin.[17]

3. Conditions Precedent — a. Performance in General. No action will lie against the bailee until the performance of any conditions precedent by the bailor.[18]

b. Demand Before Suit — (I) Necessity of. As a general rule there must be a demand made upon the bailee and a refusal by him before suit can be brought;[19] but this is unnecessary where the bailee has determined the bailment by some act of his own;[20] where he fails to return the property at the expiration of the bailment;[21] where the gist of the action is the negligent loss of the bailor's property;[22] where the bailee has put it out of his power to comply with the demand;[23] or where the bailee has asserted, in another action respecting the Hoover, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 500, 19 Am. Dec. 120.

11. Wood v. Orser, 25 N. Y. 348, holding that the bailor cannot maintain replevin where the bailee has a present right to possession.

12. Hall v. Goodson, 32 Ala. 277; Nelson v. Bondurant, 26 Ala. 341; Setzar v. Butler, 27 N. C. 212; James v. Carper, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 397.

13. James v. Carper, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 397.

14. Kentucky.— Lewis v. Hoover, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 500, 19 Am. Dec. 120.

Missouri.—Coffey v. National Bank, 46 Mo. 140, 2 Am. Rep. 488.

New York.— Rogers v. Weir, 34 N. Y. 463; Esmay v. Fanning, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 176, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228; Dunlap v. Hunting, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 643, 43 Am. Dec. 763; Berly v. Taylor, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 577; Packard v. Getman, 4 Wend. (N. Y.) 613, 21 Am. Dec. 166; Lockwood v. Bull, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 322, 13 Am. Dec. 539; Thorp v. Burling, 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 285.

North Carolina.— Setzar v. Butler, 27 N. C. 212.

Ohio.— Bassett v. Baker, Wright (Ohio) 337.

Vermont.— Swift v. Moseley, 10 Vt. 208, 33 Am. Dec. 197.

Virginia.—Tancil v. Seaton, 28 Gratt. (Va.) 601, 26 Am. Rep. 380.

15. Suydam v. Smith, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 182. Election between tort and contract see Assumpsit, Action of, 4 Cyc. 317.

16. Bowen v. Coker, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 13; Hickok v. Buck, 22 Vt. 149.

17. Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581; Neafie v. Patterson, 42 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 595.

18. Ferrier v. Wood, 9 Ark. 85; Ulmer v. Paine, 1 Me. 84.

Determination of title.—Where money was deposited with the bailee to be kept until it should be legally determined to which of several bailors it belonged, the title must be first determined by a judgment at law before an action will lie against the bailee. Ulmer v. Paine, 1 Me. 84.

19. Arkansas.— McLain v. Huffman, 30 Ark. 428; Spencer v. McDonald, 22 Ark. 466.

Georgia.—Montgomery v. Evans, 8 Ga. 178.

Indiana.— Underwood v. Tatham, 1 Ind. 276.

Missouri.— Ross v. Clark, 27 Mo. 549; Irwin v. Wells, 1 Mo. 9.

New York.— Phelps v. Bostwick, 22 Barb. (N. Y.) 314; Brown v. Cook, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 361.

North Carolina.— Benners v. Howard, 1 N. C. 93, 1 Am. Dec. 583.

South Carolina.— West v. Murph, 3 Hill (S. C.) 284.

Texas.— Clapp v. Nelson, 12 Tex. 370, 62 Am. Dec. 530.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 120.

20. Cothran v. Moore, 1 Ala. 423; McLain v. Huffman, 30 Ark. 428; Spencer v. McDonald, 22 Ark. 466; Cox v. Reynolds, 7 Ind. 257; Smith v. Stewart, 5 Ind. 220; Spencer v. Morgan, 5 Ind. 146; Felton v. Hales, 67 N. C. 107.

21. Lay v. Lawson, 23 Ala. 377; Clapp v. Nelson, 12 Tex. 370, 62 Am. Dec. 530.

22. Warner v. Dunnavan, 23 Ill. 380; Line v. Mills, 12 Ind. App. 100, 39 N. E. 870; Ross v. Clark, 27 Mo. 549.

23. Dinsmore v. Abbott, 89 Me. 373, 36 Atl. 621; Lovejoy v. Jones, 30 N. H. 164; Esmay subject-matter of the bailment, that he has fully performed the duty intrusted to him.[24]

(II) Sufficiency of—(A) In General. Where a demand is requisite, a letter demanding the property bailed is sufficient if the bailee understands that a demand is made upon him and denies that he ever received the property;[25] and where a note is taken for collection and mislaid, a promise by the bailee to pay the amount of the note to its owner, if not found upon a search therefor, is sufficient.[26]

(B) By Whom Made. Where one of two owners of property bails such property without the privity of the other, a demand by the bailor is sufficient; but where both owners bail, a demand by one without the authority of the other will not suffice.[27]

(C) Upon Whom Made. Where the action sounds in tort and the bailment was made to two persons, a demand upon one alone is not sufficient.[28] So where the property was bailed to a partnership another member of the firm is not chargeable if, after its dissolution, demand was made upon one partner only.[29]

c. Tender. Where money is due the bailee, a tender of the amount due must be made before suit,[30] unless the bailee refuses to deliver the subject-matter of the bailment and denies the bailor's right[31] or has failed to do as agreed.[32]

4. Parties. The bailor of property not owned by him, but under his control and in his possession, may sue for the loss of or an injury to the property in his own name and without making the real owner a party.[33]

5. Defenses—a. Due Care of Property. The fact that defendant has used the requisite degree of care in the keeping of the bailed property is a sufficient defense where the cause of action is negligence.[34]

b. Lien. The lien of the bailee is a good defense in an action to recover the bailed property.[35]

c. Property Taken by Process of Law. The fact that the property is taken from the bailee by authority of law is a good defense where the cause of action is non-delivery of the bailed article.[36]

d. Redelivery of Property. Redelivery of property and its acceptance by the bailor is not a defense to an action for an injury to such property;[37] but where redelivery is a defense, it is sufficient if it appears that delivery was made to one of several bailors if the action be brought by all of them.[38]

v. Fanning, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 176, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228; Bates v. Conkling, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 389; Delamater v. Miller, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 75, 13 Am. Dec. 512.

24. Woods v. Hamilton, 39 Kan. 69, 17 Pac. 335.

25. Pattee v. Gilmore, 18 N. H. 460, 45 Am. Dec. 385.

26. Sandefur v. Mattingley, 16 Ark. 237, holding that even if not sufficient a demand made upon the executors of the bailee for an allowance of the claim would be sufficient.

27. May v. Harvey, 13 East 197, 12 Rev. Rep. 322.

28. White v. Demary, 2 N. H. 546.

29. Pattee v. Gilmore, 18 N. H. 460, 45 Am. Dec. 385.

30. Vance v. Dingley, 14 Cal. 53; Brown v. Holmes, 21 Kan. 687; Montieth v. Great Western Printing Co., 16 Mo. App. 450; Brown v. Dempsey, 95 Pa. St. 243.

Necessity of tender is not dispensed with because it appears that the bailee declared to a third party that he would not give up property, which he claimed under a lien, even if the lien was fully discharged. Brown v. Holmes, 21 Kan. 687.

31. Long Island Brewery Co. v. Fitzpatrick, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 389.

32. Barringer v. Burns, 108 N. C. 606, 13 S. E. 142, holding that no tender was necessary where a horse-trainer agreed to keep a mare delivered to him and, when requested, to show her speed to persons selected by the bailor, and declined upon request so to exhibit her speed.

33. Casey v. Suter, 36 Md. 1; White v. Nicholls, 1 Hayw. & H. (U. S.) 123, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,554.

34. Green v. Hollingsworth, 5 Dana (Ky.) 173, 30 Am. Dec. 680; Storer v. Gowen, 18 Me. 174; Foster v. Essex Bank, 17 Mass. 479, 9 Am. Dec. 168; Hayes v. Kedzie, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 577.

Degrees of care and negligence see supra, V, A, 2, c.

35. Leavy v. Kinsella, 39 Conn. 50.

Lien of bailee see supra, V, A, 4, c.

36. Bliven v. Hudson River R. Co., 36 N. Y. 403, 2 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 179 [affirming 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 188]; Burton v. Wilkinson, 18 Vt. 186, 46 Am. Dec. 145. See also supra, V, A, 5, a, (II).

37. Cartlidge v. Sloan, 124 Ala. 596, 26 So. 918; Fox v. Pruden, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 187.

38. Brandon v. Scott, 7 E. & B. 234, 3 Jur. N. S. 362, 26 L. J. Q. B. 163, 5 Wkly. Rep. 235, 90 E. C. L. 234.

e. Unavoidable Loss. It is a good defense to an action for failure to return property that it was taken from the bailee by vis major.[39]

f. Want of Title in Bailor. Want of title in the bailor is under some circumstances a sufficient defense.[40]

6. Pleading — a. Complaint, Declaration, or Petition — (I) In General. The contract of bailment must be substantially and accurately stated[41] and a breach thereof alleged[42] in accordance with the principles applicable to actions for breach of contract generally.[43]

(II) Particular Averments — (A) Demand. Where a demand was requisite,[44] the declaration must specifically allege that demand was made and the manner of its making.[45]

(B) Description of Subject-Matter. A general description of the subject-matter of the bailment is sufficient.[46]

(C) Negligence. The negligence of the bailee need not be alleged where the ground of action is a breach of contract by the bailee's failure to return the subject-matter.[47]

(D) Ownership of Bailor. A specific allegation that plaintiff is the owner of the property bailed is not necessary, where the cause of action is an injury to the property, at least in an action before a justice.[48]

(E) Possession of Bailee. Where the ground of action is failure to return in good order, it should be alleged that the bailee had returned the subject-matter of the bailment, or given the bailors notice to remove it, and that the injury was done while in possession of the bailee.[49]

(F) Termination of Bailment. Where the ground of action is a failure to return in good order, according to contract, the complaint should allege that the term of the bailment had ceased.[50]

(III) Joinder of Counts and Election. Plaintiff may join counts in case[51]

39. Watkins v. Roberts, 28 Ind. 167; Meridian Fair, etc., Assoc. v. North Birmingham St. R. Co., 70 Miss. 808, 12 So. 555. See also supra, V, A, 5, a, (II).

40. California.— Palmtag v. Doutrick, 59 Cal. 154, 43 Am. Rep. 245.

Kentucky.— Stephens v. Vaughan, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 206, 20 Am. Dec. 216.

New York.— Cook v. Holt, 48 N. Y. 275; Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79.

North Carolina.—Pitt v. Albritton, 34 N. C. 74; Dunwoodie v. Carrington, 4 N. C. 355.

Pennsylvania.— Floyd v. Bovard, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 75.

Virginia.— Kelly v. Patchell, 5 W. Va. 585. See also supra, IV, B.

A delivery of the property to the true owner upon his demand before the commencement of a suit by the bailor is a good defense in an action to recover bailed property. Bates v. Stanton, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 79.

Title in the estate of a decedent is not a defense to an action to recover the bailed property. McCafferty v. Brady, (Pa. 1887) 9 Atl. 37.

41. Illinois.— Standard Brewery v. Bemis, etc., Malting Co., 171 Ill. 602, 49 N. E. 507.

Iowa.— Jourdan v. Reed, 1 Iowa 135.

Tennessee.— Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459.

Texas.— Grooms v. Rust, 27 Tex. 231; Duncan v. Mayette, 25 Tex. 245.

Vermont.— Graves v. Severans, 40 Vt. 636.

Delivery and acceptance.— An averment that the property was delivered to defendant and that he promised to take care of it and return it to the bailors sufficiently shows an acceptance of the property as a bailment. Belmont Coal Co. v. Richter, 31 W. Va. 858, 8 S. E. 609.

A promise must be alleged where the ground of action is not the gross or wilful negligence of a bailee liable only for ordinary negligence. Kingsley v. Bill, 9 Mass. 198.

42. Levis v. Burke, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 71, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 386, 20 N. Y. St. 789; Graves v. Severans, 40 Vt. 636.

43. See, generally, Contracts.

44. See supra, VI, A, 3, b.

45. Montgomery v. Evans, 8 Ga. 178.

For form of complaint alleging demand and refusal in general terms which was sustained upon general demurrer setting forth as a special cause the absence of an allegation of a demand for the property at any time before suit see Clapp v. Nelson, 12 Tex. 370, 62 Am. Dec. 530.

46. Moody v. Keener, 7 Port. (Ala.) 218, holding that where the subject of the bailment is bank-notes it is unnecessary to state the bank of issue.

47. Tindall v. McCarthy, 44 S. C. 487, 22 S. E. 734.

48. Johnson v. Moffett, 19 Mo. App. 159.

49. Levis v. Burke, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 71, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 386, 20 N. Y. St. 789.

50. Levis v. Burke, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 71, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 386, 20 N. Y. St. 789.

51. For forms of counts in case for a breach of contract of hiring see Wheelock v.

and trover;[52] but a count in trover cannot be joined with one in assumpsit,[53] since such counts require different pleas and judgments.[54] Where the declaration contains counts in trover and in assumpsit the court may strike out either count.[55]

b. Answer or Plea. Where there is a plea of property in the bailee on the ground of lien against the real owner the plea or answer should state the name of the owner.[56] A defense of fraud on the part of the bailor must be pleaded where the statutes provide that the question of fraudulent intent is one of fact and not of law.[57]

7. Evidence — a. Presumptions and Burden of Proof — (i) Presumptions — (a) Diligence. Where the bailee has taken the same care of the bailed property as he did of his own a presumption of adequate diligence arises.[58]

(b) Negligence. Where property was received by the bailee in good, and returned in bad, condition, or not returned at all, the bailee is presumed to have acted negligently;[59] and this is true where the bailor shows a degree of loss or damage to the bailed article that ordinarily does not happen where the requisite degree of care is exercised.[60]

(c) State of Article on Delivery. There is a presumption that an article was in proper condition when delivered to the bailee.[61]

(ii) Burden of Proof. Where negligence is the foundation of the action between the bailor and the bailee, the burden of proving negligence is ordinarily on the former.[62] The burden is on the bailee, however, to show that he has exercised such degree of care as the bailment called for, where the subject-matter was in good condition when placed in the hands of the bailee and was in a damaged

Wheelwright, 5 Mass. 104; Horsely v. Branch, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 198; Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459; Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565.

52. Horsely v. Branch, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 198; Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459; Harvey v. Skipwith, 16 Gratt. (Va.) 393; Spencer v. Pilcher, 8 Leigh (Va.) 565.

53. For form of count in assumpsit on a contract of hiring see Baxter v. Pope, Meigs (Tenn.) 467 note.

54. Baxter v. Pope, Meigs (Tenn.) 467 note; Angus v. Dickerson, Meigs (Tenn.) 459.

55. Moses v. Taylor, 6 Mackey (D. C.) 255, holding that, where the declaration apparently set out an action of a double aspect, the court might strike out a feature that seemed to make it an action of tort and allow it to remain an action of assumpsit.

56. Stetler v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 401.

Denial of bailment and bailor's title.— Where plaintiff avers a hiring of property by defendant and that defendant had made use of what was hired, but does not show that plaintiff had possessed the property prior to defendant's possession, or that defendant had acquired possession through plaintiff, it is sufficient to deny the hiring and the right, title, or interest of plaintiff. Grooms v. Rust, 27 Tex. 231.

57. Wetherly v. Straus, 93 Cal. 283, 28 Pac. 1045, holding that under Cal. Civ. Code, § 3442, the bailee cannot, without pleading fraud, where the ground of action is failure to surrender property attached by creditors of the bailor's husband, show that the property was given to the bailor by the husband with the intention of defrauding creditors.

58. Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49; Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9.

59. Funkhouser v. Wagner, 62 Ill. 59; Cumins v. Wood, 44 Ill. 416, 92 Am. Dec. 189; Bennett v. O'Brien, 37 Ill. 250; Baren v. Cain, 15 Ill. App. 387; Simmons v. Sikes, 24 N. C. 98; Logan v. Mathews, 6 Pa. St. 417. Contra, Wintringham v. Hayes, 144 N. Y. 1, 38 N. E. 999, 63 N. Y. St. 16, 43 Am. St. Rep. 725 [reversing 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 604, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 338, 52 N. Y. St. 858].

Even though the burden of proof is on the bailor to show negligence, a failure to produce the property or account for its nonproduction is prima facie negligence. Koch v. National Express Co., 1 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 289.

A presumption arising from a return in a damaged condition may be rebutted by showing that the damage was not caused by the negligence either of the bailee or his servants. McLoughlin v. New York Lighterage, etc., Co., 7 Misc. (N. Y.) 119, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 248, 57 N. Y. St. 543.

60. Arnot v. Branconier, 14 Mo. App. 431; Canfield v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 93 N. Y. 532, 45 Am. Rep. 268.

61. Higman v. Camody, 112 Ala. 267, 20 So. 480, 57 Am. St. Rep. 33.

62. Arkansas.— James v. Orrell, 68 Ark. 284, 57 S. W. 931, 82 Am. St. Rep. 293; Sandefur v. Mattingley, 16 Ark. 237.

Maryland.— Hambleton v. McGee, 19 Md. 43.

New York.— Stewart v. Stone, 127 N. Y. 500, 28 N. E. 595, 40 N. Y. St. 314, 14 L. R. A. 215; Claflin v. Meyer, 75 N. Y. 260, 31 Am. Rep. 467 [reversing 43 N. Y. Super. Ct. 1]; Harrington v. Snyder, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 380.

Pennsylvania.— Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9.

South Carolina.— Carrier v. Dorrance, 19 S. C. 30.

condition when returned,[63] where it was lost or not returned at all,[64] or where he refuses to give any account of how the injury occurred.[65] Again, in an action to recover property on account of a breach of the contract, the bailee must prove a waiver of the breach, if the breach has been shown;[66] and where a lien is set up by the bailee the burden of proving its amount is upon him.[67] So where the bailee defends upon a jus tertii he takes upon himself the burden of proof.[68]

b. Admissibility — (i) In General. Where the question is whether the bailment was gratuitous or not, evidence showing that the bailee was a bailee for compensation in a different matter, and with a person other than plaintiff, is not admissible.[69] Where the ground of action is an injury to bailed property the bailor may show by expert evidence that the injuries were not the result of ordinary wear and tear;[70] and the testimony of a bailee for the sole benefit of the bailor has been held not admissible to disprove his negligence.[71] Parol evidence is not admissible to vary or modify the terms of a written contract of bailment,[72] except in a case of fraud, accident, or mistake;[73] but where a written contract of bailment does not specify the time of its continuance, what length of time is reasonable under the circumstances may be shown by parol.[74] Where an action is brought Tennessee.—Runyan v. Caldwell, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 133.

Vermont.— Malaney v. Taft, 60 Vt. 571, 15 Atl. 326, 6 Am. St. Rep. 135.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 125.

In suits against common carriers and innkeepers a different rule may perhaps apply. Malaney v. Taft, 60 Vt. 571, 15 Atl. 326, 6 Am. Rep. 135. See, generally, CARRIERS; INNKEEPERS.

Property lost by vis major.— Notwithstanding that negligence is presumed where a demand and refusal to deliver have been proved, yet in the absence of any showing of bad faith if the property seem to have been lost by an unavoidable accident, the bailor must show that the loss arose from the bailee's negligence. Claflin v. Meyer, 75 N. Y. 260, 31 Am. Rep. 467 [reversing 43 N. Y. Super. Ct. 1].

63. Funkhouser v. Wagner, 62 Ill. 59; Cumins v. Wood, 44 Ill. 416, 92 Am. Dec. 189; Bennett v. O'Brien, 37 Ill. 250; Burlingame v. Horne, 30 Ill. App. 330; Baren v. Cain, 15 Ill. App. 387; Wintringham v. Hayes, 144 N. Y. 1, 38 N. E. 999, 63 N. Y. St. 16, 43 Am. St. Rep. 725; Collins v. Bennett, 46 N. Y. 490; Cox v. Pruden, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 187; Nichols v. Balch, 8 Misc. (N. Y.) 452, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 667, 59 N. Y. St. 573; Logan v. Mathews, 6 Pa. St. 417. But see Willett v. Rich, 142 Mass. 356, 7 N. E. 776, 56 Am. St. Rep. 684, 2 N. Eng. 672; Malaney v. Taft, 60 Vt. 571, 15 Atl. 326, 6 Am. St. Rep. 135; Cooper v. Barton, 3 Campb. 5 note, 13 Rev. Rep. 736, to the effect that the burden of proof is not shifted by a mere showing that the subject-matter was in good condition when delivered and returned injured in such a way that does not ordinarily occur without negligence.

64. Alabama.— Haas v. Taylor, 80 Ala. 459, 2 So. 633.

Georgia.— Hawkins v. Haynes, 71 Ga. 40.

Illinois.— Funkhouser v. Wagner, 62 Ill. 59; Cumins v. Wood, 44 Ill. 416, 92 Am. Dec. 189; Bennett v. O'Brien, 37 Ill. 250; Baren v. Cain, 15 Ill. App. 387.

Louisiana.— Nicholls v. Roland, 11 Mart. (La.) 190.

Maine.— Mills v. Gilbreth, 47 Me. 320, 74 Am. Dec. 487.

Missouri.—Taussig v. Schields, 26 Mo. App. 318.

New Hampshire.— Shelden v. Robinson, 7 N. H. 157, 26 Am. Dec. 726.

New York.— Scranton v. Baxter, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 5.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bailment," § 125.

65. Logan v. Mathews, 6 Pa. St. 417.

66. Treacy v. Barclay, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 707, 6 S. W. 433.

67. Shearer v. Gunderson, 60 Minn. 525, 63 N. W. 103.

68. Wetherly v. Straus, 93 Cal. 283, 28 Pac. 1045; Western Transp. Co. v. Barber, 56 N. Y. 544; Sedgwick v. Macy, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 154; Nudd v. Montanye, 38 Wis. 511, 20 Am. Rep. 25; Rogers v. Lambert, [1891] 1 Q. B. 318, 55 J. P. 452, 60 L. J. Q. B. 187, 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 406, 39 Wkly. Rep. 114; Ex p. Davies, 19 Ch. D. 86; Dixon v. Yates, 5 B. & Ad. 313, 2 L. J. K. B. 198, 2 N. & M. 177, 27 E. C. L. 137; White v. Bartlett, 9 Bing. 378, 2 L. J. C. P. 43, 23 E. C. L. 624; Biddle v. Bond, 6 B. & S. 225, 11 Jur. N. S. 425, 34 L. J. Q. B. 137, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 178, 13 Wkly. Rep. 561, 118 E. C. L. 225; Cheesman v. Exall, 6 Exch. 341; Shelbury v. Scotsford, Yelv. 23.

69. Lobenstein v. Pritchett, 8 Kan. 213.

70. Wintringham v. Hayes, 144 N. Y. 1, 38 N. E. 999, 63 N. Y. St. 16, 43 Am. St. Rep. 725 [affirming 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 604, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 338, 52 N. Y. St. 858].

71. Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 275.

72. Selleck v. Selleck, 107 Ill. 389; Restein v. Graf, 17 Phila. (Pa.) 266, 41 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 134; Brown v. Hitchcock, 28 Vt. 452.

73. Restein v. Graf, 17 Phila. (Pa.) 266, 41 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 134.

74. Cobb v. Wallace, 5 Coldw. (Tenn.) 539, 98 Am. Dec. 435.

for a breach of contract against more than one, any defendant may, for the purpose of showing that he was not a party to the contract, show that he merely accompanied the real bailee.[75]

(II) Admissions, Statements, or Acts of Parties. Statements made by a bailee at the time of demand, excusing a failure of delivery or qualifying his refusal, are admissible as part of the res gestæ attending the demand;[76] as are the acts and declarations of a bailee made immediately before and after the loss of the bailed property.[77] So, too, letters of the bailee written to the bailor, or other admissions of his, while in possession, that go to show the manner in which he held the property, are admissible against the bailee or his transferee.[78]

(III) Custom and Usage. Where there is a question of diligence and ordinary care, a custom of the place where the contract was made with respect to the manner of storing and keeping a particular article may be proved;[79] and where there is a failure to manufacture a particular quality of article out of the material delivered to the bailee, the quality of the article manufactured by other persons transacting the same kind of business in the same neighborhood may be shown.[80] Where, however, the question turns upon whether the bailment is gratuitous or otherwise, proof that the article bailed had been used by others without a price being charged for such use is not admissible.[81]

(IV) Measure of Damages or Compensation. In an action to recover for the use of a hired article evidence of the value of such article when received and when returned is admissible on the question of the value of the use,[82] and it is admissible to show what would be a proper charge for the use of a hired article.[83] In a suit to recover for the loss of the article bailed evidence of the price of the article when bought is admissible to show its value at the time of the loss.[84]

c. Sufficiency. The evidence must conform substantially to the allegations of the pleading, or the party will fail by reason of a material variance,[85] or by reason of a total failure of proof.[86] A defense that the bailment was gratuitous and that the subject-matter had been stolen from the bailee while he held it in the performance of his duties is not supported where defendant fails to prove the necessity of keeping the subject-matter as alleged and to show that the loss

75. Adams v. Graves, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 355; Graves v. Moses, 13 Minn. 335.

76. Gracie v. Robinson, 14 Ark. 438; Lampley v. Scott, 24 Miss. 528.

77. Lampley v. Scott, 24 Miss. 528; Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 275.

78. Robinson v. Haas, 40 Cal. 474.

79. Morehead v. Brown, 51 N. C. 367; Kelton v. Taylor, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 264, 47 Am. Rep. 284.

80. McKibben v. Bakers, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120.

81. Harris v. Howard, 56 Vt. 695.

82. Wilcox v. Palmeter, 2 Hun (N. Y.) 517.

83. Curren v. Ampersee, 96 Mich. 553, 56 N. W. 87.

84. Bird v. Everard, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 104, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1008, 53 N. Y. St. 210.

85. Where a contract of hiring is alleged proof of a different kind of bailment will not support the action. Standard Brewery v. Bemis, etc., Malting Co., 171 Ill. 602, 49 N. E. 507; Jourdan v. Reed, 1 Iowa 135; Dunham v. Kinnear, 1 Watts (Pa.) 130; Harvey v. Skipwith, 16 Gratt. (Va.) 393.

A claim for the use of an article for a specified time is supported by proof of defendant's possession for that time with the right to use it at his pleasure. Reilly v. Rand, 123 Mass. 215.

Loss of subject-matter.— Evidence of what bailor paid for an article lost by defendant is sufficient in the absence of other proof to establish its value at the time of the loss. Bird v. Everard, 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 104, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1008, 53 N. Y. St. 210.

Where the defense is that the bailor represented the article hired to be in good condition at the time of hiring, and that if it was not in good condition at that time it would cost little to take the article and try it, and the evidence upon this point is conflicting, the court is not warranted in directing a verdict for plaintiff, even if defendant admits a hiring of the article. Shaffer v. Harmon, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 591, 20 N. Y. St. 792.

86. Where negligence is the ground of bailor's claim there must be evidence of such negligence. Mock v. Erdmann, 28 Wis. 113, holding that proof of a promise by defendant to pay for injuries caused to the subject-matter of the bailment is not sufficient.

Slight evidence of gross negligence on the part of a gratuitous bailee is sufficient to warrant a refusal to direct a verdict for defendants by reason of the insufficiency of evidence. Whiting v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 5 Dak. 90, 37 N. W. 222.

did not occur through his own negligence.[87] The bailor must show that there was an injury to his interest.[88]

8. Trial — a. Questions of Law and Fact. It is for the court to determine the degree of diligence and care in the relation of bailor and bailee;[89] but it is for the jury to determine under proper instructions whether the bailee has exercised due care.[90]

b. Instructions. The court should properly define the criterion of diligence imposed upon the bailee and the neglect that would make him liable,[91] and should correctly inform the jury upon whom the burden of proof lies.[92]

9. Damages — a. In Action by Bailor. Where a contract of hiring expressly stipulates the rent to be paid the measure of damages is the amount stipulated for[93] with interest thereon.[94] Where the bailed property is wholly lost through the negligence of the bailee, the value of the property at the place where received by him is the measure of damages.[95] Where the bailed articles are stolen from a negligent bailee the measure of damages is the market value of the property at the time the robbery was committed,[96] and such is the measure where the bailee has used the subject-matter in an unauthorized way by which the specific article is lost to the bailor.[97]

b. In Action by Bailee. The damages which the bailee may recover are held to be limited to his special interest in the property which was the subject-matter of the bailment.[98]

B. Action Against Third Parties — 1. Form of Action — a. By Bailor —

87. Carico v. Fidelity Invest. Co., 5 Colo. App. 56, 37 Pac. 29.

88. Lacoste v. Pipkin, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 589.

Where property was damaged before delivery to bailee the bailor must show the amount and extent of damage that occurred while the property was held by defendant. Farley v. Vanwickle, 19 La. Ann. 9.

89. Watkins v. Roberts, 28 Ind. 167; Morris v. Third Ave. R. Co., 1 Daly (N. Y.) 202; Brock v. King, 48 N. C. 45.

90. Georgia.— McNabb v. Lockhart, 18 Ga. 495; Morel v. Roe, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 19.

Illinois.— Skelley v. Kahn, 17 Ill. 170.

Kentucky.— Green v. Hollingsworth, 5 Dana (Ky.) 173, 30 Am. Dec. 680; Dehoney v. Kimball, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 858.

Maine.— Storer v. Gowen, 18 Me. 174.

Massachusetts.— Whitney v. Lee, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 91.

New York.— Lamb v. Camden, etc., R., etc., Co., 2 Daly (N. Y.) 454; Lyons First Nat. Bank v. Ocean Nat. Bank, 48 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 148.

North Carolina.— Rowland v. Jones, 73 N. C. 52.

Ohio.— Griffith v. Zipperwick, 28 Ohio St. 388.

Pennsylvania.— Carlisle First Nat. Bank v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 106, 21 Am. Rep. 49; Erie Bank v. Smith, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 9; Swartz v. Hauser, 10 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 434.

Tennessee.— Kirtland v. Montgomery, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 452.

Texas.— Fulton v. Alexander, 21 Tex. 148.

Virginia.— Carrington v. Ficklin, 32 Gratt. (Va.) 670.

United States.— Stewart v. Western Union R. Co., 4 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,438.

England.— Doorman v. Jenkins, 2 A. & E. 256, 4 L. J. K. B. 29, 4 N. & M. 170, 29 E. C. L. 132.

Where negligence per se is disclosed by the evidence as to the bailee's treatment of the property it has been held erroneous to leave the question of requisite care to the jury. Wiser v. Chesley, 53 Mo. 547; Mason v. St. Louis Union Stock Yards Co., 60 Mo. App. 93; Briggs v. Taylor, 28 Vt. 180.

91. Tudor v. Lewis, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 378; Casey v. Suter, 36 Md. 1.

92. Higman v. Camody, 112 Ala. 267, 20 So. 480, 57 Am. St. Rep. 33; James v. Orrell, 68 Ark. 284, 57 S. W. 931, 82 Am. St. Rep. 293; Bennett v. O'Brien, 37 Ill. 250.

93. Negus v. Simpson, 99 Mass. 388; Woodward v. Stein, 5 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 171, 3 Am. L. Rec. 352.

94. Negus v. Simpson, 99 Mass. 388.

95. Oregon Imp. Co. v. Seattle Gas-Light Co., 4 Wash. 634, 30 Pac. 672.

96. Baltimore Third Nat. Bank v. Boyd, 44 Md. 47, 22 Am. Rep. 35.

97. Hubbell v. Blandy, 87 Mich. 209, 49 N. W. 502, 24 Am. St. Rep. 154, holding that where stock handed to a bailee is converted to his own use the value of the stock at the time of such conversion and the dividends thereon from the time of delivery to the bailee, together with interest on the value of the stock from the date of the conversion and on the dividends from the date of the respective payments, are recoverable by the bailor.

98. White v. Webb, 15 Conn. 302; Benjamin v. Stremple, 13 Ill. 466.

Where the bailmnt was joint.— The whole value of property delivered to the bailee by a joint owner who was rightfully in possession thereof may be recovered where such property was wrongfully taken away by the

(I) Assumpsit. Assumpsit will lie at the suit of the bailor against a third party to enforce a contract entered into by such third party with the bailee in relation to the subject-matter of the bailment.[99] An action for money had and received, however, cannot be maintained by the bailor against a third person who has received from the bailee, in payment of a debt of his own, the proceeds of bailed property sold by the bailee in violation of his trust.[1]

(II) Case. Where any permanent injury was done to the chattel, the bailor may maintain an action of case against a third party for an injury to the reversionary interest.[2]

(III) Trespass, Trover, Replevin, Detinue. During the existence of the bailment the bailor cannot maintain against a third person an action of trespass,[3] because he has neither the actual nor constructive possession of the bailed article ;[4] of trover,[5] because he has neither an actual possession nor the right of possession ;[6] of replevin,[7] because he has not an immediate right of possession ;[8] or of detinue.[9] But the bailor may treat the bailment as ended and maintain trover,[10] trespass,[11] other joint owner. Russell v. Allen, 13 N. Y. 173.

99. Taintor v. Prendergast, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 72, 38 Am. Dec. 618; Beebee v. Robert, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 413, 27 Am. Dec. 132; Sanderson v. Lamberton, 6 Binn. (Pa.) 129; New Jersey Steam Nav. Co. v. Boston Merchants' Bank, 6 How. (U. S.) 344, 12 L. ed. 465.

1. Thacher v. Pray, 113 Mass. 291, 18 Am. Rep. 480; Lime Rock Bank v. Plimpton, 17 Pick (Mass.) 159, 28 Am. Dec. 286; Thorne v. Wilmington First Nat. Bank, 37 Ohio St. 254; Culver v. Bigelow, 43 Vt. 249; Foster v. Green, 7 H. & N. 881, 31 L. J. Exch. 158, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 390.

2. Kentucky.— Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Kidd, 7 Dana (Ky.) 245; Hawkins v. Phythian, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 515.

New Hampshire.—Howard v. Farr, 18 N. H. 457.

New Jersey.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828.

North Carolina.— White v. Griffin, 49 N. C. 139.

England.— Mears, etc. v. London, etc., R. Co., 11 C. B. N. S. 850, 31 L. J. C. P. 220, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 190, 103 E. C. L. 850.

3. Alabama.—Walker v. Wilkinson, 35 Ala. 725, 76 Am. Dec. 315.

California.— Triscony v. Orr, 49 Cal. 612.

New Hampshire.— Wilson v. Martin, 40 N. H. 88.

New Jersey.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828.

Vermont.— Swift v. Moseley, 10 Vt. 208, 33 Am. Dec. 197.

England.— Viner Abr. Trespass, N, p. 11.

A bailor who has a right to terminate the bailment but does not exercise such right cannot maintain trespass against a third party. Soper v. Sumner, 5 Vt. 274.

4. Marshall v. Davis, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 109, 19 Am. Dec. 463; Soper v. Sumner, 5 Vt. 274. See, generally, Trespass.

5. California.— Triscony v. Orr, 49 Cal. 612.

New Jersey.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828.

North Carolina.— Andrews v. Shaw, 15 N. C. 70.

Tennessee.— Caldwell v. Cowan, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 262.

Vermont.— Swift v. Moseley, 10 Vt. 208, 33 Am. Dec. 197.

England.— Gordon v. Harper, 7 T. R. 9, 2 Esp. 465, 4 Rev. Rep. 369.

6. Gordon v. Harper, 7 T. R. 9, 2 Esp. 465, 4 Rev. Rep. 369. See, generally, Trover and Conversion.

7. Wyman v. Dorr, 3 Me. 183; New York, etc., R. Co. v. New Jersey Electric R. Co., 60 N. J. L. 338, 38 Atl. 828; Marshall v. Davis, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 109, 19 Am. Dec. 463.

8. Wyman v. Dorr, 3 Me. 183. See, generally, Replevin.

9. Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540.

10. Alabama.— Abbercrombie v. Bradford, 16 Ala. 560.

New Hampshire.— Sargent v. Gile, 8 N. H. 325.

Pennsylvania.—Gallaher v. Cohen, 1 Browne (Pa.) 43; North v. Barr, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 425; Lewis v. Shortledge, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 507.

South Carolina.— Clarke v. Poozer, 2 McMull. (S. C.) 434.

Vermont.— Thrall v. Lathrop, 30 Vt. 307, 73 Am. Dec. 306; Swift v. Moseley, 10 Vt. 208, 33 Am. Dec. 197.

England.— Loeschman v. Machin, 2 Stark. 311, 20 Rev. Rep. 687, 3 E. C. L. 423.

But see Caldwell v. Cowan, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 262, where trover is said not to be maintainable against a third party, either before or after the termination of the bailment, in a case where an officer levies on and sells the property on an execution against the bailee before the term of the hiring has expired.

11. Maine.— Sibley v. Brown, 15 Me. 185.

Missouri.— Moore v. Simms, 47 Mo. App. 182.

New York.— Ely v. Ehle, 3 N. Y. 506; Orser v. Storms, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 687, 18 Am. Dec. 543.

Vermont.— Swift v. Moseley, 10 Vt. 208, 33 Am. Dec. 197.

Wisconsin.— Enos v. Cole, 53 Wis. 235, 10 N. W. 377.

detinue,[12] or replevin,[13] where the bailee has done some act inconsistent with the bailment and calculated to defeat the bailor's right of property.

b. By Bailee — (I) Case. In the event of an injury caused by a stranger to the bailed property case is a proper remedy to be pursued against such person by the bailee.[14]

(II) Trespass, Trover, Replevin, Detinue. Where the bailee has been dispossessed of the property by a stranger he may maintain trespass,[15] trover,[16] detinue,[17] or replevin.[18]

2. Conditions Precedent — a. In General. Payment of the purchase-price of bailed property bought by a third party from a bailee not authorized to sell such property need not be made to the purchaser before suit by the bailor against such party;[19] and where stolen goods are found in the possession of another the owner need neither pay nor tender anything due thereon for storage of such goods before suit against the person possessing such property.[20] So where an article bailed has been illegally pawned by the bailee, the sum for which it was pawned need not be tendered before suing the pawnee.[21]

b. Demand. Where rendered necessary by the form of action the bailor must before suing a third person make a demand upon such person before commencing suit.[22]

3. Parties. Since the bailor's property in an article bailed is entire, distinct, and separate from that of the bailee, and their interests perhaps adverse, it is

12. Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540.

13. Maine.— Small v. Hutchins, 19 Me. 255.

Michigan.— Dunlap v. Gleason, 16 Mich. 158, 93 Am. Dec. 231.

New Hampshire.— Partridge v. Philbrick, 60 N. H. 556.

New York.— Ely v. Ehle, 3 N. Y. 506.

Pennsylvania.— Collins v. Bellefonte Cent. R. Co., 171 Pa. St. 243, 33 Atl. 331; Heizmann v. Rank, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 469.

Statutory substitute for replevin.—A bailee may avail himself of any statutory remedy in substitution for replevin. Knight v. Davis Carriage Co., 71 Fed. 662, 30 U. S. App. 664, 18 C. C. A. 287.

Where the act of the third party was not tortious the bailor should count on the detention and not on the taking of the property. Smith v. Clark, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 83, 34 Am. Dec. 213.

14. Iowa.— Allen v. Barrett, 100 Iowa 16, 69 N. W. 272.

Maine.— Moran v. Portland Steam Packet Co., 35 Me. 55.

Massachusetts.— Finn v. Western R. Corp., 112 Mass. 524, 17 Am. Rep. 128.

Minnesota.—Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114.

New York.— Green v. Clarke, 12 N. Y. 343.

15. Alabama.— Cox v. Easley, 11 Ala. 362; Hare v. Fuller, 7 Ala. 717.

Illinois.— Hollenback v. Todd, 19 Ill. App. 452.

Maine.— Little v. Fossett, 34 Me. 545, 56 Am. Dec. 671.

New York.— Hendricks v. Decker, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 298; Bass v. Pierce, 16 Barb. (N. Y.) 595; Butts v. Collins, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 139; Orser v. Storms, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 687, 18 Am. Dec. 543; Barker v. Miller, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 195.

South Carolina.—Jones v. McNeil, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 466.

Vermont.— Thayer v. Hutchinson, 13 Vt. 504, 37 Am. Dec. 607; Hart v. Hyde, 5 Vt. 328; Burdict v. Murray, 3 Vt. 302, 21 Am. Dec. 588.

16. California.—Bode v. Lee, 102 Cal. 583, 36 Pac. 936.

Illinois.—McGraw v. Patterson, 47 Ill. App. 87; Hollenback v. Todd, 19 Ill. App. 452.

Massachusetts.— Harrington v. King, 121 Mass. 269; Shaw v. Kaler, 106 Mass. 448; Adams v. O'Connor, 100 Mass. 515, 1 Am. Rep. 137; Eaton v. Lynde, 15 Mass. 242.

New Hampshire.— Bradley v. Spofford, 23 N. H. 444, 55 Am. Dec. 205; Poole v. Symonds, 1 N. H. 289, 8 Am. Dec. 71.

New York.— Bowen v. Fenner, 40 Barb. (N. Y.) 383; Hendricks v. Decker, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 298; Neff v. Thompson, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 213; Leoncini v. Post, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 825, 37 N. Y. St. 255; Faulkner v. Brown, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 63; Duncan v. Spear, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 54; Dillenback v. Jerome, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 294; Barker v. Miller, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 195.

England.— Burton v. Hughes, 2 Bing. 173, 9 E. C. L. 533; Armory v. Delamirie, 1 Str. 505, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. 631; Sutton v. Buck, 2 Taunt. 302, 11 Rev. Rep. 585, 587.

17. Noles v. Marable, 50 Ala. 366; Bryan v. Smith, 22 Ala. 534; Traylor v. Marshall, 11 Ala. 458; Boyle v. Townes, 9 Leigh (Va.) 158.

18. Sowden v. Kessler, 76 Mo. App. 581; Alt v. Weidenberg, 6 Bosw. (N. Y.) 176. Contra, Waterman v. Robinson, 5 Mass. 303.

19. Kitchell v. Vanadar, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 356, 12 Am. Dec. 249.

20. Florence Sewing Mach. Co. v. Warford, 1 Sweeny (N. Y.) 433.

21. Gallaher v. Cohen, 1 Browne (Pa.) 43.

22. Hunter v. Sevier, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 126.

neither necessary nor proper to join them where statutes provide for the prosecution of an action in the name of the real party in interest.[23]

4. Defenses — a. In General. A third person who has received property from the custodians of an insane bailee, under an agreement to keep it for such person, may set up any defense that the bailee might make.[24]

b. Judgment Recovered by Bailee. In an action brought by a bailor against a third party such party may defend by showing that the bailee had previously recovered judgment against him in an action respecting the same property.[25]

c. Negligence of Bailee. In a suit against a third party by the bailor for a loss of the property bailed negligence of the bailee is no defense.[26]

5. Pleading. In an action by a bailee against a third party for injuries sustained to the bailed article, the complaint, declaration, or petition must sufficiently show the connection of the bailee with an article of which he is not the owner.[27]

6. Evidence. Where the bailor sues a third person to recover property handed to him by the bailee, proof that would authorize a recovery against the bailee is generally sufficient.[28] Where the bailee sues for damages caused by a third party's carelessness to the subject-matter of the bailment, evidence of the amount paid by plaintiff to repair the damages is admissible.[29]

7. Questions For Jury. In an action by a bailor against a third person to recover property pledged to defendant by the bailee, where the question of the bailee's power to sell is at issue, if the evidence will support either of two inferences, that a power of sale was authorized, or that it was not, it is for the jury to try the inference, notwithstanding that the fact of the sale is undisputed.[30]

8. Damages. Where a third party has deprived the bailee of the possession of the property, or injured it, the bailee may recover the whole value of the property,[31] unless the bailor interposes by a suit for his own protection,[32] and will hold the excess beyond his special interest in trust for the bailor.[33]

23. White v. Phelps, 14 Minn. 27, 100 Am. Dec. 190.

24. Peters v. Peters, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 264, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 764, 52 N. Y. St. 169.

25. Woodman v. Nottingham, 49 N. H. 387, 6 Am. Rep. 526. See also Pettigrew v. U. S., 97 U. S. 385, 27 L. ed. 1029.

26. Kellar v. Shippee, 45 Ill. App. 377.

27. Mizner v. Frazier, 40 Mich. 592, 29 Am. Rep. 562, holding that an allegation that a carriage injured was then and there lawfully used and driven by plaintiff was sufficient in the absence of a demurrer.

28. Pugh v. Calloway, 10 Ohio St. 488.

29. Schoenholtz v. Third Ave. R. Co., 14 Misc. (N. Y.) 461, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 15, 70 N. Y. St. 773.

30. Citroen v. Adam, 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 187, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 669, 24 N. Y. St. 263.

31. Connecticut.—Gillette v. Goodspeed, 69 Conn. 363, 37 Atl. 973; White v. Webb, 15 Conn. 302.

Illinois.— Benjamin v. Stremple, 13 Ill. 466.

Maine.— Moran v. Portland Steam Packet Co., 35 Me. 55; Little v. Fossett, 34 Me. 545, 56 Am. Dec. 671.

Maryland.— American Dist. Tel. Co. v. Walker, 72 Md. 454, 20 Atl. 1, 20 Am. St. Rep. 479.

Massachusetts.—White v. Allen, 133 Mass. 423; Finn v. Western R. Corp., 112 Mass. 524, 17 Am. Rep. 128.

Michigan.— Mizner v. Frazier, 40 Mich. 592, 29 Am. Rep. 562.

Minnesota.—Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114.

New Hampshire.—Woodman v. Nottingham, 49 N. H. 387, 6 Am. Rep. 526.

United States.— Knight v. Davis Carriage Co., 71 Fed. 662, 30 U. S. App. 664, 18 C. C. A. 287.

Where a bailee is entitled to use an article for a special purpose, the damages recoverable in case of an injury to the article cannot be measured by any criterion outside the strict right to use the article, nor can they be measured by any uncertain benefit that might accrue to him by the use of the article. Mizner v. Frazier, 40 Mich. 592, 29 Am. Rep. 562.

Articles bailed for specified time.— The value of the use of a bailed article from the time it is taken away from the bailee by a third party to the end of the time for which it was bailed may be recovered from the tort-feasor. Moore v. Winter, 27 Mo. 380.

Where a third person has not actually converted the bailed property to his own use, and the property is returned before suit is instituted, the bailee can recover only the value of his special interest in the bailed article. Eldridge v. Adams, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 417.

32. Gillette v. Goodspeed, 69 Conn. 363, 37 Atl. 973.

33. Connecticut.—White v. Webb, 15 Conn. 302.

BAIL-PIECE. See Bail.

BAIRNS. In Scotch law, a term used to denote one's whole issue.[1]

BAIRN'S PART. In Scotch law, a third part of a deceased's free moveables, debt deducted, if his wife survive, and a half if she do not, due to his children.[2]

BAIT. To attack with violence; to harass by the help of others.[3]

BAKER. One whose occupation is to bake bread and other articles of food.[4] (Baker: License of Employment, see Licenses. Prohibition of Employment on Sunday, see Sunday. See, generally, Food.)

BALANCE.[5] The conclusion or result of the debit and credit sides of an account;[6] the difference between the debits and credits of an account;[7] the remainder of anything;[8] residue.[9] (See, generally, Accounts and Accounting.)

BALANCED. An ambiguous word sometimes used to denote an ascertained state of accounts, but more often, in the sense of all being cleared off and adjusted between the parties.[10]

BALANCE OF TRADE. The difference between the value of the exports from and imports into a country.[11]

BALANCE-SHEET. A statement which should exhibit all the balances of debits and credits, the value of merchandise, and the result of the whole made by merchants and others to show the true state of a particular business;[12] a paper which shows a summation or general balance of all accounts but not the particular items going to make up the several accounts.[13]

BALDIO. In Spanish law, land that is neither arable nor pasture.[14]

BALIVO AMOVENDO. A writ to remove a bailiff from his office for want of sufficient land in the bailiwick.[15]

BALLAST. See Shipping.

Georgia.— Schley v. Lyon, 6 Ga. 530.

Illinois.— Benjamin v. Stremple, 13 Ill. 466.

Maine.— Moran v. Portland Steam Packet Co., 35 Me. 55.

Massachusetts.— Rindge v. Coleraine, 11 Gray (Mass.) 157.

Michigan.— Mizner v. Frazier, 40 Mich. 592, 29 Am. Rep. 562.

Minnesota.— Chamberlain v. West, 37 Minn. 54, 33 N. W. 114.

Mississippi.— Baggett v. McCormack, 73 Miss. 552, 19 So. 89, 55 Am. St. Rep. 554.

New Hampshire.— Woodman v. Nottingham, 49 N. H. 387, 6 Am. Rep. 526.

New York.— Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank, 60 N. Y. 40; Alt v. Weidenberg, 6 Bosw. (N. Y.) 176; Russell v. Butterfield, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 300.

A bailee having a lien upon goods taken from his possession under process against his bailor can only recover to the extent of his special interest. Heard v. Brewer, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 136.

1. Burrill L. Dict.

2. Wharton L. Lex.

3. Johnson Dict. [quoted in Pitts v. Millar, L. R. 9 Q. B. 380, 382, 43 L. J. M. C. 96, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 328].

4. Com. v. Crowley, 145 Mass. 430, 432, 14 N. E. 459.

5. "The term 'balance' has, in law, no technical signification. It is, however, a word which is in popular use. In its literal import it is, perhaps, only applicable to weights; but it is frequently, in a figurative sense, applied to other things. In this sense we speak of the balance of an account; and we may, no doubt, in the same sense, and with the same propriety, speak of the balance of a tract of land. But the word, when thus used, evidently does not signify the whole thing of which we speak. It always implies that there is something to be deducted or subtracted; and it is only applied to signify what remains after the deduction or subtraction is made. Nor is the term 'balance' ever used to signify any precise quantity or definite proportion of a thing. It is equally applicable to a small as to a large quantity or proportion." Taylor v. Taylor, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 18, 19.

6. McWilliams v. Allan, 45 Mo. 573, 574.

Net balance in commercial usage as applied to the proceeds of the sale of stock means the balance of the proceeds after deducting the expenses incident to the sale. Evans v. Waln, 71 Pa. St. 69, 74.

7. Loeb v. Keyes, 156 N. Y. 529, 531, 51 N. E. 285.

8. Worcester Dict. [quoted in Lopez v. Lopez, 23 S. C. 258, 269].

9. Brooks v. Brooks, 65 Ill. App. 326, 331; Davis v. Hutchings, 15 Ohio C. C. 174, 177, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 52.

10. Wilde, C. J., in Finney v. Tootell, 5 C. B. 504, 509, 12 Jur. 291, 17 L. J. C. P. 158, 57 E. C. L. 504.

11. Wharton L. Lex.

12. Bouvier L. Dict.

13. Eyre v. Harmon, 92 Cal. 580, 584, 28 Pac. 779.

14. Burrill L. Dict.

15. Jacob L. Dict.

BALLASTAGE. A toll paid for the privilege of taking up ballast from the bottom of a port or harbor.[16]

BALLIUM. In old English law, bail.[17]

BALLOT.[18] A little ball used in giving votes;[19] a little ball or ticket used in voting privately, and, for that purpose, put into a box (commonly called a ballot-box) or some other contrivance;[20] any printed or written ticket used in voting;[21] a piece of paper, or suitable material with the name written or printed upon it, of the person to be voted for;[22] a bit of paper having printed or written thereon the designation of an office, and the name of a person to fill it;[23] a paper ticket containing the names of the persons for whom the elector intends to vote, and designating the office to which each person so named is intended by him to be chosen;[24] the act itself of giving votes;[25] a secret method of voting at elections;[26] secret voting by means of ball or ticket;[27] the act of voting by balls or tickets by putting the same into a box or urn.[28] (See, generally, ELECTIONS.)

BALLOT-BOX. A box or other contrivance for the receipt of ballots.[29]

BAN. A proclamation or public notice;[30] in Canadian law, a space within which certain privileges might be exclusively exercised and certain dues exacted.[31]

BANAL. In Canadian law, having qualities derived from a ban or privileged space; privileged.[32]

BANALITY. In Canadian law, a seigniorial right to exact certain dues or services within certain limits.[33]

BANC. Bench; the place where the court regularly sits; the full court.[34] (Banc: Sittings of Court In, see COURTS.)

BANCUS. The original name of the English court of common pleas.[35]

BANCUS REGINÆ. The court of queen's bench.[36]

BANCUS REGIS. The court of king's bench.[37]

BAND. A company of persons.[38]

BANDIT. A man outlawed.[39]

BANISHMENT. Transportation or exile by way of punishment for crime; expulsion or deportation by the political authority on the ground of expedi-

16. Wharton L. Lex.

17. Burrill L. Dict.

Used in the expression quod imposuit commune ballium per nomen Eliz.,— that she put in common bail by the name of Elizabeth, in Stroud v. Lady Gerrard, 1 Salk. 8.

18. "The word is of French origin, and has been adopted into the English language without any change in its meaning, so far as the authorities give us light." State v. Shaw, 9 S. C. 94, 138.

19. Williams v. Stein, 38 Ind. 89, 92, 10 Am. Rep. 97 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.]; In re Voting Mach., 19 R. I. 729, 731, 36 Atl. 716, 36 L. R. A. 547.

20. Williams v. Stein, 38 Ind. 89, 92, 10 Am. Rep. 97 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.].

21. Webster Int. Dict. [quoted in State v. Timothy, 147 Mo. 532, 535, 49 S. W. 499].

22. Daniel v. Simms, 49 W. Va. 554, 560, 39 S. E. 690.

23. Taylor v. Bleakley, 55 Kan. 1, 14, 39 Pac. 1045, 49 Am. St. Rep. 233, 28 L. R. A. 683.

24. People v. Holden, 28 Cal. 123, 137. See also Bourland v. Hildreth, 26 Cal. 161, 194 (where it is said that a ballot "in itself considered is nothing but a written note or communication from an elector addressed to the Government, expressing the choice of the elector, but which has not as yet been delivered"); Temple v. Mead, 4 Vt. 535, 541.

25. Williams v. Stein, 38 Ind. 89, 92, 10 Am. Rep. 97 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.].

26. State v. Shaw, 9 S. C. 94, 138 [citing Webster Dict.; Worcester Dict.].

27. State v. Shaw, 9 S. C. 94, 138.

28. State v. Shaw, 9 S. C. 94, 138.

29. Williams v. Stein, 38 Ind. 89, 92, 10 Am. Rep. 97 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.].

30. Jacob L. Dict.

31. Burrill L. Dict.

32. Burrill L. Dict.

33. Burrill L. Dict.

34. Black L. Dict.

35. Burrill L. Dict.

Bancus apud Westmonasterium,— the bench at Westminster — was the name by which this court was afterward distinguished. Burrill L. Dict.

36. Bouvier L. Dict.

37. Burrill L. Dict.

During the protectorate this court was known as "bancus superior." Wharton L. Lex.

38. Guttman v. U. S., 9 Ct. Cl. 60, 67 [affirmed in 18 Wall. (U. S.) 84, 21 L. ed. 816], where it was said that it may perhaps mean a company of armed persons.

39. Wharton L. Lex.

ency.[40] (Banishment: Of Aliens, see ALIENS; WAR. Of Persons Accused of Crime in Other Jurisdictions, see EXTRADITION.)

BANJO. A musical instrument of the guitar class, having a neck with or without frets, and a circular body covered in front with tightly stretched parchment. It has from five to nine strings, of which the melody string, the highest in pitch, but placed outside of the lowest of the others, is played by the thumb of the performer. As in the guitar, the pitch of the strings is fixed by stopping them with the left hand while the right hand produces the tone by plucking or striking.[41]

BANK. A steep acclivity on the side of a lake, river, or the sea;[42] the continuous margin of a stream where vegetation ceases;[43] the outermost part of the bed in which the river naturally flows;[44] that space of ground above low water mark, which is usually covered by ordinary high water;[45] what contains the river in its natural channel when there is the greatest flow of water.[46] (See also BANKS AND BANKING.)

BANKABLE. Receivable at a bank;[47] receivable as the equivalent of cash at the bank; receivable for discount by a bank;[48] bank notes, checks, and other securities for money received as cash by the banks in the place where the word is used.[49]

BANK-ACCOUNT. A fund which merchants, traders, and others have deposited into the common cash of some bank, to be drawn out by checks, from time to time, as the owner or depositor may require.[50]

BANK-BILL. See BANK-NOTE.

BANK-BOOK. A book kept by a customer of a bank, showing the state of his account therewith.[51]

BANKER. See BANKS AND BANKING.

BANKER'S NOTE. A promissory note given by a private banker or banking institution, not incorporated, but in all other respects resembling a BANK-NOTE,[52] q. v.

BANKING. See BANKS AND BANKING.

BANK-NOTE or BANK-BILL.[53] A written promise on the part of the bank to pay to the bearer a certain sum of money, on demand;[54] obligations for the payment of money on demand, passing from hand to hand as money.[55] (See, generally, BANKS AND BANKING.)

BANKRUPT. See BANKRUPTCY.

40. Fong Yue Ting v. U. S., 149 U. S. 698, 709, 13 S. Ct. 1016, 37 L. ed. 905.

41. Dobson v. Cubley, 149 U. S. 117, 118, 13 S. Ct. 796, 37 L. ed. 671 [citing Century Dict.].

42. Hooper v. Hobson, 57 Me. 273, 275, 99 Am. Dec. 769.

43. McCullough v. Wainright, 14 Pa. St. 171, 174. See also Alabama v. Georgia, 23 How. (U. S.) 505, 16 L. ed. 556 [citing Johnson Dict.; Webster Dict.].

44. Harlan, etc., Co. v. Paschall, 5 Del. Ch. 435, 463. See also Howard v. Ingersoll, 13 How. (U. S.) 381, 427, 14 L. ed. 189.

45. Howard v. Ingersoll, 17 Ala. 780, 789.

46. Stowe v. Augusta, 46 Me. 127, 137 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]; Paine Lumber Co. v. U. S., 55 Fed. 854, 864.

47. Webster Dict. [quoted in Edward P. Allis Co. v. Madison Electric Light, etc., Co., 9 S. D. 459, 464, 70 N. W. 650].

48. Anderson L. Dict. [quoted in Edward P. Allis Co. v. Madison Electric Light, etc., Co., 9 S. D. 459, 464, 70 N. W. 650].

49. Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Edward P. Allis Co. v. Madison Electric Light, etc., Co., 9 S. D. 459, 464, 70 N. W. 650], where it is said: "The word is also sometimes applied to promissory notes and bills of exchange in high credit, thereby denoting that they will be discounted by the banks."

50. Gale v. Drake, 51 N. H. 78, 84 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.]. See also ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING, 1 Cyc. 362, note 2.

51. Wharton L. Lex.

52. Bouvier L. Dict.

53. The terms are convertible, and mean the same thing.

Florida.— Ex p. Prince, 27 Fla. 196, 203, 9 So. 659, 26 Am. St. Rep. 67.

Indiana.— State v. Hays, 21 Ind. 176, 177 [quoting Webster Dict.].

Iowa.— Munson v. State, 4 Greene (Iowa) 483, 484.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Stebbins, 8 Gray (Mass.) 492, 495; Eastman v. Com., 4 Gray (Mass.) 416, 418.

New York.— Low v. People, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 37, 41.

Texas.— See Roth v. State, 10 Tex. App. 27, 30.

Vermont.— State v. Wilkins, 17 Vt. 151, 156.

54. Townsend v. People, 4 Ill. 326, 328.

55. Low v. People, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 37, 41.

BANKRUPTCY

By James W. Eaton* and Frank B. Gilbert†

*Author of "Eaton's Equity Jurisprudence"; editor of the third edition of Collier's "Law and Practice in Bankruptcy"; late editor of the "American Bankruptcy Reports"; and late lecturer on Bankruptcy in the Albany Law School.

†Compiler of the "Domestic Relations Law of New York," the "New York Town and County Officers' Manual," etc.; and joint compiler of the "Annotated Insurance Laws of New York," the "General Laws and Other General Statutes of the State of New York," etc.

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:

Assignments For Benefit of Creditors, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.

Insolvency, see INSOLVENCY.

I. GENERAL NATURE AND EFFECT OF BANKRUPTCY LAWS.

A. Definitions. A "bankrupt law" in modern legal significance means a statutory system under which an insolvent debtor[1] may either on his own petition[2] or that of his creditors[3] be "adjudicated bankrupt" by a court of competent jurisdiction,[4] which thereupon takes possession of his property, distributes it equally among his creditors, and discharges the bankrupt and his after-acquired property from debts existing at the initiation of the bankruptcy proceedings.[5] "Bankruptcy" means the status of one who has been made the subject of such a law.[6] A "bankrupt" includes a person against whom an involuntary petition or an application to set a composition aside, or to revoke a discharge, has been filed, or who has filed a voluntary petition, or who has been adjudged a bankrupt.[7]

1. As to what constitutes insolvency see Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (15), infra, note 8. See also Marvin v. Anderson, 111 Wis. 387, 87 N. W. 226, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 520, to the effect that "insolvency" as used in bankruptcy and insolvency laws means the inability of a person to pay his debts as they mature in the ordinary course of business; but that, as used in a general sense, it means a substantial excess of a person's liabilities over the fair cash value of his property.

2. As to voluntary proceedings see infra, VI, A.

3. As to involuntary proceedings see infra, VI, B.

4. As to courts and their jurisdiction see infra, II.

5. Black L. Dict. See also Anderson L. Dict.; Bouvier L. Dict.; Burrill L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

6. Black L. Dict.; Bouvier L. Dict.; Cyclopedic L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict. See also Sackett v. Andross, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 327, 339, 348, 3 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 11.

In its secondary sense the term "bankruptcy" refers to the system of law under which such a status is established. Black L. Dict. See also Anderson L. Dict.

7. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (4), infra, note 8. See also Barr v. Bartram, etc., Mfg. Co., 41 Conn. 502, 505; Anderson L. Dict.; Black L. Dict.; Bouvier L. Dict.; Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

Several derivations of the word "bankrupt" have been given. One is that it comes from the Italian words banca rotta, meaning

The meaning of the words and phrases used in the Bankruptcy Act of 1898 is defined by the Act itself.[8] a broken bank or bench, and is said to have originated from the custom in Italy of breaking the bench or counter of a money-changer upon his failure. Century Dict.; 2 Bl. Comm. 472. Another derivation is Lord Coke's banque route, the latter word meaning a trace or track, and the combination signifying "one who hath removed his banque, leaving but a trace behind." 2 Bl. Comm. 472*n*. Judge Story, in Everett v. Stone, 3 Story (U. S.) 446, 453, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,577, says: "A bankrupt means a contemplation of becoming a broken up or ruined trader, according to the original signification of the term; a person whose table or counter of business is broken up, bancus ruptus."

8. Meaning of words and phrases.—Bankr. Act (1898), § 1, provides that the words and phrases used in the Act and in proceedings pursuant thereto shall, unless the same be inconsistent with the context, be construed as follows: (1) "A person against whom a petition has been filed" shall include a person who has filed a voluntary petition; (2) "adjudication" shall mean the date of the entry of a decree that the defendant, in a bankruptcy proceeding, is a bankrupt, or if such decree is appealed from, then the date when such decree is finally confirmed; (3) "appellate courts" shall include the circuit courts of appeals of the United States, the supreme courts of the territories, and the supreme court of the United States; (4) "bankrupt" shall include a person against whom an involuntary petition or an application to set a composition aside or to revoke a discharge has been filed, or who has filed a voluntary petition, or who has been adjudged a bankrupt; (5) "clerk" shall mean the clerk of a court of bankruptcy; (6) "corporations" shall mean all bodies having any of the powers and privileges of private corporations not possessed by individuals or partnerships, and shall include limited or other partnership associations organized under laws making the capital subscribed alone responsible for the debts of the association; (7) "court" shall mean the court of bankruptcy in which the proceedings are pending, and may include the referee; (8) "courts of bankruptcy" shall include the district courts of the United States and of the territories, the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and the United States court of the Indian Territory and of Alaska; (9) "creditor" shall include any one who owns a demand or claim provable in bankruptcy, and may include his duly authorized agent, attorney, or proxy; (10) "date of bankruptcy," or "time of bankruptcy," or "commencement of proceedings," or "bankruptcy," with reference to time, shall mean the date when the petition was filed; (11) "debt" shall include any debt, demand, or claim provable in bankruptcy; (12) "discharge" shall mean the release of a bankrupt from all of his debts which are provable in bankruptcy, except such as are excepted by this Act; (13) "document" shall include any book, deed, or instrument in writing; (14) "holiday" shall include Christmas, the fourth of July, the twenty-second of February, and any day appointed by the President of the United States or the congress of the United States as a holiday or as a day of public fasting or thanksgiving; (15) a person shall be deemed insolvent within the provisions of this Act whenever the aggregate of his property, exclusive of any property which he may have conveyed, transferred, concealed, or removed, or permitted to be concealed or removed, with intent to defraud, hinder, or delay his creditors, shall not, at a fair valuation, be sufficient in amount to pay his debts; (16) "judge" shall mean a judge of a court of bankruptcy, not including the referee; (17) "oath" shall include affirmation; (18) "officer" shall include clerk, marshal, receiver, referee, and trustee, and the imposing of a duty upon or the forbidding of an act by any officer shall include his successor and any person authorized by law to perform the duties of such officer; (19) "persons" shall include corporations, except where otherwise specified, and officers, partnerships, and women, and when used with reference to the commission of acts which are herein forbidden shall include persons who are participants in the forbidden acts, and the agents, officers, and members of the board of directors or trustees, or other similar controlling bodies or corporations; (20) "petition" shall mean a paper filed in a court of bankruptcy or with a clerk or deputy clerk by a debtor praying for the benefits of this Act, or by creditors alleging the commission of an act of bankruptcy by a debtor therein named; (21) "referee" shall mean the referee who has jurisdiction of the case or to whom the case has been referred, or any one acting in his stead; (22) "conceal" shall include secrete, falsify, and mutilate; (23) "secured creditor" shall include a creditor who has security for his debt upon the property of the bankrupt of a nature to be assignable under this Act, or who owns such a debt for which some indorser, surety, or other persons secondarily liable for the bankrupt has such security upon the bankrupt's assets; (24) "states" shall include the territories, the Indian Territory, Alaska, and the District of Columbia; (25) "transfer" shall include the sale and every other and different mode of disposing or parting with property, or the possession of property, absolutely or conditionally, as a payment, pledge, mortgage, gift, or security; (26) "trustee" shall include all of the trustees of an estate; (27) "wage-earner" shall mean an individual who works for wages, salary, or hire, at a rate of compensation not exceeding one thousand five hundred dollars per year; (28) words importing the masculine gender may be applied to and include corporations, partnerships, and

B. History. Writers agree in finding the germ of modern bankruptcy statutes in the Roman cessio bonorum, under which the debtor, by surrender of his goods to his creditors, obtained exemption from imprisonment, and the harsh corporal punishment imposed by the Roman law upon insolvent debtors.[9] In England,[10] in the United States,[11] and in fact in nearly all civilized countries bankruptcy laws similar in essential characteristics have from time to time been enacted.[12]

C. Power to Enact — 1. Congress. The power vested in congress to enact national bankruptcy legislation arises from the provision of the constitution to the effect that "Congress shall have power . . . to establish . . . uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States."[13] women; (29) words importing the plural number may be applied to and mean only a single person or thing; (30) words importing the singular number may be applied to and mean several persons or things.

9. 2 Bl. Comm. 473 [citing Justinian Code 7, 71; Justinian Inst. lib. 4, tit. 6, § 60; Novellæ, 135, c. 1]. See also Mackeldey Rom. Law, § 767, et seq.; Sohm Inst. 211.

10. English statutes.— The earliest English statute was that of 34 & 35 Hen. VIII, c. 4, which was a criminal statute directed against fraudulent traders. But the first real bankruptcy laws were those of 4 Anne, c. 17, and 10 Anne, c. 15, under which bankruptcy proceedings became civil in their nature, administered by courts of equity, and granting to the bankrupt, who conformed to the provisions of the law, a discharge from his debts upon consent of a majority of his creditors. A large number of subsequent statutes have been passed, the most noteworthy of which was 24 & 25 Vict. c. 134, codifying former statutes and making the law applicable to non-traders, and which, with subsequent acts, was finally codified into the general bankruptcy acts of 1869 [32 & 33 Vict. c. 71] and of 1883 [46 & 47 Vict. c. 52], which, as amended from year to year, contain the present elaborate and complete system of bankruptcy legislation in England.

11. United States statutes.—In the United States there have been four bankruptcy laws, including the one now in force.

The first act was passed April 4, 1800, and repealed December 19, 1803. 2 U. S. Stat. at L. pp. 19, 248. It made no provision for voluntary bankruptcy and was only applicable to merchants, traders, bankers, etc.

The second of these laws was enacted August 19, 1841, and repealed March 3, 1843. 5 U. S. Stat. at L. pp. 440, 614. This act provided for both voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy and was broader in its provisions than the Act of 1800.

The third act was passed March 2, 1867, was subsequently amended June 22, 1874, and finally repealed to take effect September 1, 1878. 14 U. S. Stat. at L. p. 517; 20 U. S. Stat. at L. p. 99; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), §§ 4972–5132.

The law now in force in the United States was enacted July 1, 1898. 30 U. S. Stat. at L. p. 544. This act is in many respects similar to the Act of 1867, so that decisions under the earlier act have been constantly used in construing the Act of 1898. The act is supplemented by rules established by the United States supreme court, as to matters of practice, called General Orders, and also by official forms for use in such practice. See 89 Fed. iv; Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 481 et seq.

12. See report of judiciary committee of the house of representatives, Dec. 16, 1897 [55th congress], for an enumeration of the countries having bankruptcy laws.

13. U. S. Const. art. i, § 8, cl. 4.

This grant of power to the federal government is a plenary grant, subject only to the provision that the bankruptcy legislation shall be uniform as to all the states. Mitchell v. Great Works Milling, etc., Co., 2 Story (U. S.) 648, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,662. In Silverman's Case, 2 Abb. (U. S.) 243, 245, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 410, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,855, 13 Int. Rev. Rec. 52, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 522, the court, in considering U. S. Const. art. 1, § 8, says: "If the language of this section means anything, it is something more than the power to re-enact the particular bankrupt act then in force in Great Britain. It is a grant of plenary power over the 'subject of bankruptcies.' Now the subject of bankruptcies includes the distribution of the property of the fraudulent or insolvent debtor among his creditors, and the discharge of the debtor from his contracts and legal liabilities, as well as all the intermediate and incidental matters tending to the accomplishment or promotion of these two principal ends. Congress is given full power over this subject, with the one qualification, that its laws thereon shall be uniform throughout the United States."

The uniformity required is geographical and not personal; and no limitation is imposed on congress as to the classification of persons who are to be affected by such laws, provided only the laws shall have uniform operation throughout the United States. Leidigh Carriage Co. v. Stengel, 95 Fed. 637, 37 C. C. A. 210, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383.

Constitutionality of former bankruptcy acts.— See the following cases:

Arkansas.— State Bank v. Wilborn, 6 Ark. 35.

Illinois.— Lalor v. Wattles, 8 Ill. 225.

Kentucky.— Columbia Bank v. Overstreet, 10 Bush (Ky.) 148.

Massachusetts.— Thompson v. Alger, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 428.

2. States. Except so far as congress shall exercise the power vested by the constitution, and subject to the restriction that no state may pass a law impairing the obligation of contracts, each state may pass laws in the nature of bankruptcy acts, operative within its own territorial limits.[14] The state laws have generally been called insolvency laws, while the federal acts, passed in accordance with the constitutional provision, have been known as bankruptcy laws.[15]

D. Effect of Federal Bankruptcy Laws Upon State Insolvency Laws. When the paramount jurisdiction of congress has once been exercised in the enactment of a bankruptcy law all state insolvency laws are suspended in so far as they relate to the same subject-matter and affect the same persons as the bankruptcy law.[16] But the state law is merely suspended during the life of the bank-

New Hampshire.— Cutter v. Folsom, 17 N. H. 139.

New York.— McCormick v. Pickering, 4 N. Y. 276.

United States.— Matter of Klein, 1 How. (U. S.) 277 note, 11 L. ed. 130; In re Reiman, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 455, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,673, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 21; In re California Pac. R. Co., 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 240, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,315, 2 Centr. L. J. 79, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 193; U. S. v. Pusey, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,098, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 284; In re Jordan, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,514, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 296, 5 Leg. Op. (Pa.) 169, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 180.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 1.

14. Sturges v. Crowninshield, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 122, 4 L. ed. 529. See also Pettit v. Seaman, 2 Root (Conn.) 178; Pugh v. Bussel, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 394; Fisk v. Montgomery, 21 La. Ann. 446; Adams v. Storey, 1 Paine (U. S.) 79, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 66, 6 Am. L. J. (Hall's) 474.

Extent of state's authority.— The power of separate states to pass bankruptcy laws is undoubted, but they cannot, in the exercise of that power, act upon the rights of citizens of other states or countries. Ogden v. Saunders, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 213, 6 L. ed. 606; 2 Kent Comm. 391.

15. Distinction between bankruptcy and insolvency.— A distinction has been made by judges and authors between bankruptcy and insolvency, which, however, has little importance at the present time. Black L. Dict. [citing Martin v. Berry, 37 Cal. 208; Sackett v. Andross, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 327; In re Black, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 196, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,457, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 39, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 353]. It has been said that laws which merely liberate the person are insolvent laws, and those which discharge the contract are bankrupt laws; and that insolvency laws operate at the instance of an imprisoned debtor, and bankruptcy laws at the instance of a creditor. Per Marshall, C. J., in Sturges v. Crowninshield, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 122, 4 L. ed. 529.

The modern insolvency laws — obtaining in states like Massachusetts and others — however, practically cover the same scope within their own territorial limits as the bankruptcy laws. See, generally, Insolvency.

Under the early English law insolvency was a term confined to non-traders who were unable to pay their debts. All, however, who were traders, such as bankers, merchants, etc., were said under the same circumstances to be not insolvent but bankrupt. The traders were forced into the bankruptcy court upon petition of their creditors, while the non-traders, a broad and rather undefined class, made use of the insolvency court upon their own voluntary petition. It seems, however, that this purely technical distinction is unknown in the United States, where these two words have been used interchangeably by the courts and in common speech. See, generally, Insolvency; Bacon Abr. tit. Bankrupt; Bl. Comm. 473 et seq.; Comyns Dig. tit. Bankrupt; and infra, IV.

16. Rule explained.— So far as the state law administers upon the estate of an insolvent as a proceeding in the courts, the proceeding deriving its potency and force from the law itself and not from the voluntary act of the debtor, and where the estate is wound up judicially and the debtor discharged, the state law is undoubtedly suspended by a national bankruptcy law ex proprio vigore, as to all persons affected by the terms of the latter. Sturges v. Crowninshield, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 122, 4 L. ed. 529. See also the following cases decided under former acts:

Louisiana.— Fisk v. Montgomery, 21 La. Ann. 446.

Maryland.—Van Nostrand v. Carr, 30 Md. 128.

New Hampshire.— Rowe v. Page, 54 N. H. 190.

New York.— Boese v. Locke, 53 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 148.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. O'Hara, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 402, 24 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 284, 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 70.

Rhode Island.— Matter of Reynolds, 8 R. I. 485, 5 Am. Rep. 615.

United States.— Ex p. Eames, 2 Story (U. S.) 322, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,237, 5 Law Rep. 117, 1 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 212; In re Reynolds, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,723, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 50.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," §§ 7, 8.

The leading authorities under the present Act which hold a similar view and which cite with approval the leading cases under the former statute are: Barber v. Mexico International Co., 73 Conn. 587, 48 Atl. 758; Parmenter Mfg. Co. v. Hamilton, 172 Mass. 178, ruptcy law, not repealed.[17] And the Act of 1898 expressly provides that "proceedings commenced under state insolvent laws before the passage of this Act shall not be affected by it."[18] On the other hand, a general assignment for the benefit of creditors by the debtor's voluntary common-law deed of assignment, conveying all his property subject to the payment of his debts for the equal benefit of all his creditors, but not providing for the release of the debtor, is valid except as against proceedings seasonably taken under the Bankruptcy Act to set it aside as an act of bankruptcy, even though such an assignment may be regulated and supplemented by legislative safeguards of the state where it is made or operates.[19]

51 N. E. 529, 70 Am. St. Rep. 258, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 39; Armour Packing Co. v. Brown, 76 Minn. 465, 79 N. W. 522; Foley-Bean Lumber Co. v. Sawyer, 76 Minn. 118, 78 N. W. 1038; In re John A. Etheridge Furniture Co., 92 Fed. 329, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 112; Davis v. Bohle, 92 Fed. 325, 34 C. C. A. 372, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412; In re Smith, 92 Fed. 135, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 9; In re Curtis, 91 Fed. 737, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 440; In re Bruss-Ritter Co., 90 Fed. 651, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 58; In re Gutwillig, 90 Fed. 475, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 78; In re McKee, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 311; In re Adams, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94.

17. The authorities were in some conflict at one time as to the extent of the suspension of the operation of the state insolvency laws, but the great weight of the decisions now is that after the passage of the Bankruptcy Act the insolvency laws are in complete abeyance. Laws passed while the Bankruptcy Act is on the statute books are not invalid, but rather they have no operative effect during that time. On the repeal, however, of the national law, the state bankruptcy statutes are again brought into full force and effect.

California.— Martin v. Berry, 37 Cal. 208.

Connecticut.— Ketcham v. McNamara, 72 Conn. 709, 46 Atl. 146, 50 L. R. A. 641, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 160.

Georgia.— Dodd v. Middleton, 63 Ga. 635.

Illinois.— Harbaugh v. Costello, 184 Ill. 110, 56 N. E. 363, 75 Am. St. Rep. 147 [affirming 83 Ill. App. 29]; Wilson v. Aaron, 132 Ill. 238, 23 N. E. 1037.

Louisiana.— Orr v. Lisso, 33 La. Ann. 476.

Maine.— Palmer v. Hixon, 74 Me. 447.

Maryland.—Van Nostrand v. Carr, 30 Md. 128; Larrabee v. Talbott, 5 Gill (Md.) 426, 46 Am. Dec. 637; Clarke v. Ray, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 318.

Massachusetts.— Parmenter Mfg. Co. v. Hamilton, 172 Mass. 178, 51 N. E. 529, 70 Am. St. Rep. 258, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 39; Lyman v. Bond, 130 Mass. 291; Griswold v. Pratt, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 16.

New Hampshire.— Simpson v. City Sav. Bank, 56 N. H. 466, 22 Am. Rep. 491; Hawkins v. Learned, 54 N. H. 333; Rowe v. Page, 54 N. H. 190. Compare E. C. Wescott Co. v. Berry, 69 N. H. 505, 45 Atl. 352, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 264.

New York.—Boese v. Locke, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 270; Shears v. Solhinger, 10 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 287.

Washington.—State v. Kings County Super. Ct., 20 Wash. 545, 56 Pac. 35, 45 L. R. A. 177, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 92.

Wisconsin.— Segnitz v. Garden City Banking, etc., Co., 107 Wis. 171, 83 N. W. 327, 81 Am. St. Rep. 830.

United States.—Butler v. Goreley, 146 U. S. 303, 13 S. Ct. 84, 36 L. ed. 981; Tua v. Carriere, 117 U. S. 201, 6 S. Ct. 565, 29 L. ed. 855; Sturges v. Crowninshield, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 122, 4 L. ed. 529; In re Storck Lumber Co., 114 Fed. 360, 8 Am. Bankr. Rep. 86; In re Macon Sash, etc., Co., 112 Fed. 323, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 66 [reversed, on other grounds, in 8 Am. Bankr. Rep. 29]; In re Lengert Wagon Co., 110 Fed. 927, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 535; In re Curtis, 91 Fed. 737, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 440; In re Sievers, 91 Fed. 366, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 117; In re Bruss-Ritter Co., 90 Fed. 651, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 58.

18. Bankr. Act (1898), last clause.

19. Patty-Joiner, etc., Co. v. Cummins, 93 Tex. 598, 57 S. W. 566, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 269; Boese v. King, 108 U. S. 379, 2 S. Ct. 765, 27 L. ed. 760; Mayer v. Hellman, 91 U. S. 496, 23 L. ed. 377; In re Scholtz, 106 Fed. 834, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 782; In re Worcester County, 102 Fed. 808, 42 C. C. A. 637, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 496; In re Romanow, 92 Fed. 510, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 461; In re Sievers, 91 Fed. 366, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 117; In re Gutwillig, 90 Fed. 475, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 78. See also Armour Packing Co. v. Brown, 76 Minn. 465, 79 N. W. 522; Binder v. McDonald, 106 Wis. 332, 82 N. W. 156.

A general assignment for benefit of creditors is an act of bankruptcy, whether tainted with fraud or not. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3; Matter of Gray, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 554, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 618, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 647. See also infra, V. But where such assignment has been made and proceedings are not instituted in bankruptcy within the statutory four months thereafter, the state court may proceed to administer the estate under local statutes, and a trustee appointed in bankruptcy subsequent to the four months cannot attack such proceedings. Matter of Gray, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 554, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 618, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 647; George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463; and cases cited supra, this note. The United States district court in Illinois, In re Curtis, 91 Fed. 737, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 440, held that where a state court has declared an act concerning assignments to be an insolvency law the federal

E. Interpretation. The Act of 1898 is a remedial statute and should be interpreted reasonably and according to the fair import of its terms with a view to effect its object and promote justice.[20]

II. COURTS AND THEIR JURISDICTION.

A. Original Bankruptcy Jurisdiction — 1. COURTS CREATED. The United States district courts in the several states, the supreme court of the District of Columbia, the district courts of the several territories and the federal courts in the Indian Territory and the District of Alaska are made courts of bankruptcy and are vested, within their territorial districts, with such jurisdiction at law and in equity, as will enable them to exercise original jurisdiction in bankruptcy proceedings.[21]

2. TERRITORIAL EXTENT OF JURISDICTION — a. To Adjudge Certain Persons Bankrupt. The power to adjudge persons bankrupt extends to all persons who have their principal place of business, residence, and domicile within the respective territorial jurisdictions of the district courts for the greater portion of the six months preceding.[22] Bankruptcy courts also have jurisdiction over those who courts will adopt this distinction and so hold it superseded by the Bankruptcy Act.

In Illinois the supreme court has held that since the Illinois Voluntary Assignment Act and the Bankruptcy Act of 1898 both operate upon the same subject-matter, to wit, the assets of the bankrupt, and upon the same persons, to wit, the bankrupt and his creditors, and in the same way and upon the same rights, to wit, the pro rata distribution of the assets among said creditors, they cannot be enforced together without direct and positive collision. It necessarily follows that the federal law suspends and supersedes the state law. Harbaugh v. Costello, 184 Ill. 110, 56 N. E. 363, 75 Am. St. Rep. 147.

In Massachusetts it has also been held that the Bankruptcy Act of 1898 supersedes all state laws in regard to insolvency from the date of the passage of the statute, and that therefore insolvency proceedings commenced in the state court after the passage of that law are unauthorized. Parmenter Mfg. Co. v. Hamilton, 172 Mass. 178, 51 N. E. 529, 70 Am. St. Rep. 258, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 39.

20. Norcross v. Nathan, 99 Fed. 414, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 613; In re New York, etc., Water Co., 98 Fed. 711, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 508; In re Rhoads, 98 Fed. 399, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 380; Southern L. & T. Co. v. Benbow, 96 Fed. 514, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 9 [citing Houston v. New Orleans City Bank, 6 How. (U. S.) 486, 12 L. ed. 526; In re Kirtland, 10 Blatchf. (U. S.) 515, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,851]; Blake v. Francis-Valentine Co., 89 Fed. 691, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372. See also Costello v. Harbaugh, 83 Ill. App. 29 [affirmed in 184 Ill. 110, 56 N. E. 363, 75 Am. St. Rep. 147]; Ripon Knitting Works v. Schreiber, 101 Fed. 810, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299; In re Terrill, 100 Fed. 778, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 3.

Time of taking effect.— The Bankruptcy Act of 1898 operated at and from the time of its passage. Bankr. Act (1898), last clause; In re Adams, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94. See also Parmenter Mfg. Co. v. Hamilton, 172 Mass. 178, 51 N. E. 529, 70 Am. St. Rep. 258, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 39. For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 2.

21. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2.

These courts are always open for that purpose. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2.

Bankruptcy courts are purely statutory in their origin and their powers and jurisdiction are conferred by statute alone. Clark v. Binninger, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 421, 38 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 341, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 518; Norris' Case, 1 Abb. (U. S.) 514, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,304, 3 Am. L. T. 216, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 227, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 35. See also the following cases:

Alabama.— Steele v. Moody, 53 Ala. 418.

Indiana.— Sherwood v. Burns, 58 Ind. 502.

Iowa.—Wright v. Watkins, 2 Greene (Iowa) 547.

Maryland.— Newman v. Fisher, 37 Md. 259.

Pennsylvania.—Zeigler v. Shomo, 78 Pa. St. 357.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 11.

They are not inferior courts, however, in the sense that it is necessary that their jurisdiction should appear upon the face of the papers. Bryant v. Kinyon, (Mich. 1901) 86 N. W. 531, 53 L. R. A. 801, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 237; Chemung Canal Nat. Bank v. Judson, 8 N. Y. 254, Seld. Notes (N. Y.) 49; In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484; In re Columbia Real-Estate Co., 101 Fed. 965, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 411.

22. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (1).

Residence and domicile.—The word "domicile" means in its general significance the place of permanent abode; the place to which one claiming it when absent intends to return, in contradistinction to a residence which may be merely a temporary abode. In re Dinglehoef, 109 Fed. 866, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 242; In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 160; In re Berner, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 325; In re Clisdell, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 424. Under the Act of 1867 it was provided that have no principal place of business, residence, or domicile within the United States, but have property within the territorial jurisdiction of such courts, or who have been adjudged bankrupts by courts of competent jurisdiction without the United States and have property within the territorial jurisdiction of such courts.[23]

b. To Transfer Cases. If petitions are filed against the same person or against different members of a partnership in different courts of bankruptcy, each of which has jurisdiction, the cases shall be transferred by order of the court relinquishing jurisdiction, to be consolidated by the court which can proceed for the greatest convenience of the parties in interest.[24]

3. Trials by Jury. The bankruptcy court is a court of equity, and a jury trial is not granted as a matter of right in civil matters arising under the Act except that a person against whom an involuntary petition has been filed is entitled to have a trial by a jury in respect to the question of his insolvency. He must, however, file a written application therefor at or before the expiration of the time within which an answer may be filed.[25] The right to submit matters in contro-the courts might adjudge as bankrupts persons who had "resided or carried on business for the six months next immediately preceding the time of filing such petition, or for the longest period during such six months." Questions frequently arose under this provision as to what constituted a residence. The framers of the present Act evidently intended to settle these questions by inserting the word "domicile." In the recent case of In re Dinglehoef, 109 Fed. 866, 868, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 242, it is said that "residence indicates permanency of occupation, as distinct from lodging or boarding or temporary occupation, but does not include as much as domicile, which requires an intention continued with residence." A domicile once acquired is presumed to continue until it is shown to have been changed. Where a change of domicile is alleged, the burden of proving it rests upon the person making the allegation. To constitute new domicile, two things are indispensable: First, residence in the new locality; and second, the intention to remain there. The change cannot be made except facto et animo. Both are alike necessary. Either without the other is insufficient. Mitchell v. U. S., 21 Wall. (U. S.) 350, 22 L. ed. 584. So a person who flees from his previous domicile to escape prosecution for a criminal offense does not thereby lose his domicile within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Act. In re Filer, 108 Fed. 209, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 332. See also De Meli v. De Meli, 120 N. Y. 485, 24 N. E. 996, 31 N. Y. St. 704, 17 Am. St. Rep. 652; Anderson v. Watt, 138 U. S. 694, 11 S. Ct. 449, 34 L. ed. 1078; Morris v. Gilmer, 129 U. S. 315, 9 S. Ct. 289, 32 L. ed. 690; Desmare v. U. S., 93 U. S. 605, 23 L. ed. 959; Chambers v. Prince, 75 Fed. 176; and, generally, Domicile.

The expression "greater portion of six months" means any residence of at least three months' duration during the six months prior to the beginning of a proceeding. In re Berner, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 325 [disapproving In re Stokes, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 35]; In re Ray, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 158.

23. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (1).

The power to declare aliens bankrupt who have property within the jurisdiction of the court is very clearly conferred by the Act. See infra, IV, A, 2. Under the Act of 1867 the benefits of a discharge in bankruptcy were extended to resident aliens only. As to the effect of a discharge in a foreign court of bankruptcy see infra, XIX, H.

24. Bankr. Act (1898), § 32. See also Bankr. Act (1898), § 22, giving a judge authority, where he has made a reference of a case to a referee, to transfer such case from one referee to another, at any time, for the convenience of parties or for cause. See also infra, VIII, B.

In case two or more petitions are filed against the same individual in different districts, the first hearing is to be had in the domicile of the debtor. And in case two or more petitions against the same partnership are filed in different courts the petition first filed shall be first heard. In either event the petition may be amended by inserting an allegation of an act of bankruptcy committed at an earlier date; and the court which makes the first adjudication in bankruptcy may retain jurisdiction to the end, unless it deems it for the better convenience of the parties that the cases be transferred to another court having jurisdiction. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6; In re Waxelbaum, 98 Fed. 589, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 392.

25. Bankr. Act (1898), § 19*a*; In re Christensen, 101 Fed. 802, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 202; Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 100 Fed. 426, 40 C. C. A. 474, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 824; Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153. See also infra, VI, B, 6, a, (III).

Framing issues.— There is, however, no doubt that the bankruptcy court, as any other court of equity, may frame issues for submission to a jury to aid the court in arriving at a correct conclusion, although it is not bound by the finding of such jury. Barton v. Barbour, 104 U. S. 126, 26 L. ed. 672.

If a jury is not in attendance upon the court one may be specially summoned for the trial, or the case may be postponed, or if the case is pending in one of the district courts within the jurisdiction of a circuit court of the United States it may be certified for trial

versy, or an alleged offense under the Act, to a jury is to be determined and enjoyed, except as otherwise provided in that Act,[26] according to the laws of the United States.[27]

B. General Powers of Bankruptcy Courts — 1. To Adjudge Certain Persons Bankrupt. The territorial extent of the jurisdiction of bankruptcy courts to adjudge persons bankrupt has been considered.[28] Questions concerning acts of bankruptcy, who may become bankrupts, and proceedings prior to and after adjudication will be hereinafter discussed.[29]

2. To Allow or Disallow Claims. Courts of bankruptcy are authorized to allow or disallow claims, reconsider allowed or disallowed claims, and allow or disallow them against bankrupt estates.[30]

3. To Appoint and Remove Trustees. Pursuant to the recommendations of creditors, or when they neglect to recommend the appointment of trustees,[31] courts of bankruptcy may appoint trustees, and, upon complaints of creditors, remove such trustees for cause upon hearings and after notice to them.[32] It must be necessarily inferred from the above provisions of the Act that the creditors are in all cases to be given an opportunity to appoint trustees, and that the court is only authorized to appoint where they neglect or fail to do so.[33] to the circuit court sitting at the same place, or by consent of parties when sitting at any other place in the same district, if such circuit court has or is to have a jury first in attendance. Bankr. Act (1898), § 19*b*.

Form of order for jury trial is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 7, 89 Fed. xxx.

26. Where the matters in controversy are of legal, as distinguished from equitable, cognizance, the right of parties to trial by jury is expressly preserved. In re Baudouine, 101 Fed. 574, 41 C. C. A. 318, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 651; In re Russell, 101 Fed. 248, 41 C. C. A. 323, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 658.

27. Bankr. Act (1898), § 19*c*.

28. See supra, II, A, 2, a.

29. See infra, IV, V, VI, et seq.; and Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (1).

30. Bankr. Act. (1898), § 2 (2).

As to proof and allowance of claims see Bankr. Act (1898), § 57; and infra, XI.

As to provable claims see Bankr. Act (1898), § 63; and infra, XI, A.

31. Creditors may appoint one or three trustees. They are to appoint at their first meeting after the adjudication, or after a vacancy has occurred in the office of trustee, after an estate has been reopened, after a composition has been set aside, or a discharge revoked. If the creditors do not appoint trustees the courts are required to do so. Bankr. Act (1898), § 44. See also infra, XII, A, 1.

Approval of appointment.— The appointment of a trustee by creditors is subject to the approval or disapproval of the referee or judge. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 13. See also infra, XII, A, 1, a, (II).

32. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (17).

As to the qualifications, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees see infra, XII, B, et seq.

33. In re Lewensohn, 98 Fed. 576, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299. See also infra, XII, A, 1, a, b.

Appointment by court.— Under the Act of 1867, Blatchford, J., in In re Smith, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 113, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,971, 1 Nat. Bankr. Rep. 243, said: "The policy of the bankrupt act, as clearly shown in its provisions, is, to give to the creditors of the bankrupt the free, deliberate, unbiased choice, in the first instance, of the person who is to take the assets and manage them. . . . The importance of this policy has been uniformly recognized by this court. . . . It is especially incumbent upon registers (referees under act of 1867) in no manner to interfere with, or influence, either directly or indirectly, the choice of an assignee by creditors." Judge Brown, in In re Lewensohn, 98 Fed. 576, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299, supra, remarked that this general intent is still more strongly manifested by the Act of 1898, since the latter Act has largely curtailed the former power of the court to appoint, and correspondingly extended the right of creditors.

Where the creditors fail to use their power of appointment for any cause, the court may appoint a trustee; and the word "court" is construed to include the referee. In re Brooke, 100 Fed. 432, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 50.

Where it appeared that the creditors, after two meetings, one of six hours' duration, had failed to agree upon a trustee, and there was apparent need of a trustee at once, it was held that the referee might properly appoint a trustee. In re Kuffler, 97 Fed. 187, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 162.

Where creditors are less than a majority.— Where, at a meeting of creditors for the purpose of electing a trustee, proxies were presented for such election, and enough of the proxies were disallowed, because of defective execution, to reduce the number of creditors to less than a majority in number and amount of the claims presented and allowed, the creditors cannot elect a trustee, but he must be appointed by the referee. In re Henschel, 109 Fed. 861, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305. See also X, C, 3.

4. To Bring in and Substitute Additional Parties. Courts of bankruptcy may bring in and substitute additional persons or parties in proceedings in bankruptcy when necessary for the complete determination of a matter in controversy.[34]

5. To Close and Reopen Estates. Courts of bankruptcy may close[35] estates whenever it appears that they have been fully administered, by proving the final accounts and discharging the trustees, and reopen[36] them whenever it appears that they were closed before being fully administered.[37]

6. To Collect Claims and Determine Controversies. The court may cause the estates of bankrupts to be collected, reduced to money and distributed, and determine controversies in relation thereto,[38] except as herein otherwise provided.[39] It is also provided that such courts may make such orders and issue such process and enter such judgments in addition to those specifically provided for as may be necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of the Act;[40] and may enforce

Where majority in number of the creditors vote for one person and majority in amount for another, it is proper for the referee to appoint as trustee the person who received the majority in number of the creditors' votes. In re Richards, 103 Fed. 849, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 631.

34. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (6).

For other provisions relating to parties in bankruptcy proceedings see infra, VI, A, 1, a, (I); VI, B, 1, c; VI, B, 5, c, (II).

As a bankruptcy proceeding is a proceeding in rem all persons interested in the res are regarded as parties to the proceeding. These parties may be not only the bankrupt and trustee, but also all the creditors of the bankrupt, both secured and unsecured. Southern L. & T. Co. v. Benbow, 96 Fed. 514, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 9; Carter v. Hobbs, 92 Fed. 594, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 215. As to the right of creditors to file answers to a voluntary petition in bankruptcy see In re Jehu, 94 Fed. 638, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 498; and VI, A, 1, d.

The power to bring in additional parties should not be construed to extend the jurisdiction of the court of bankruptcy to those controversies not brought within the court's jurisdiction. In re Ward, 104 Fed. 985, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 215; In re Hammond, 98 Fed. 845, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 466; In re Brodbine, 93 Fed. 643, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 53.

Trustees under a will, having no adverse interest, may properly be made parties to a bankruptcy proceeding so as to be bound by the decree. In re Baudouine, 96 Fed. 536, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 55 [overruled by the circuit court of appeals in 101 Fed. 574, 41 C. C. A. 318, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 651, upon the question as to the original jurisdiction of district courts to determine controversies in cases involving adverse claims of third parties to the bankrupt's property, where it was said, however, that the jurisdiction of the district courts as courts of bankruptcy to adjudge the rights and titles of persons not parties to the bankruptcy proceeding who claim property adversely to the bankrupt, or in hostility to the trustee, if given at all is conferred by Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (6), (7)].

35. Trustees must close up the estates of bankrupts as expeditiously as is compatible with the best interests of parties in interest. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (2). See also infra, XII, D, 3.

36. It is the duty of the court to reopen the estate whenever it satisfactorily appears that there are assets of the bankrupt which have not been administered. When such facts are produced as will justify the court in making an order reopening the estate, such order should be made by the court as the first step toward the further administration of the bankrupt's estate. In re Newton, 107 Fed. 429, 46 C. C. A. 399, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 52, where it was held that the petition to reopen an estate need not be of a formal or technical character, but it must be, either in itself or in connection with supporting affidavits, of such persuasive character as to reasonably satisfy the court of the requisite jurisdictional fact, namely, that there are some assets belonging to the bankrupt which have not been administered.

37. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (8).

38. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (7). See also infra, XVIII, A.

39. The exercise of the power of bankruptcy courts to collect the estates of bankrupts and reduce them to money should be subjected to the requirement that suits by trustees must be brought in the courts where the bankrupt might have brought them if proceedings in bankruptcy had not been instituted, unless power is conferred by the consent of the proposed defendant. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*b*. See also infra, XVIII, A. The exception contained in Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (7), refers to provisions of section 23, by virtue of which the district court can, by the proposed defendant's consent, but not otherwise, entertain jurisdiction over suits brought by trustees in bankruptcy against third persons to recover property fraudulently conveyed by the bankrupt to them before the institution of proceedings in bankruptcy. Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 21 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623; Hicks v. Knost, 178 U. S. 541, 20 S. Ct. 1006, 44 L. ed. 1183, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178; Mitchell v. McClure, 178 U. S. 539, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1182, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 177; Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163.

40. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (15).

obedience by bankrupts, officers, and other persons to all lawful orders, by fine or imprisonment, or fine and imprisonment.[41]

7. To Confirm or Reject Compositions. The bankruptcy court may confirm or reject compositions between bankrupts and their creditors, and set aside compositions and reinstate cases.[42]

8. To Confirm, Overrule, etc., Findings of Referees. Courts of bankruptcy may consider and confirm, modify and overrule, or return with instructions for further proceedings, records, and findings certified to them by referees.[43]

9. To Determine Claims of Bankrupts to Exemptions. Bankruptcy courts may determine all claims of bankrupts to their exemptions.[44] The Bankruptcy Act does not affect the allowances to bankrupts of the exemptions which are prescribed by the state laws in force at the time of the filing of the petition in the state wherein they have had their domicile for the six months, or the greater portion thereof, immediately preceding the filing of the petition.[45]

10. To Discharge or Refuse to Discharge. Courts of bankruptcy may discharge or refuse to discharge bankrupts, and set aside discharges and reinstate the cases.[46]

11. To Extradite Bankrupts. Courts of bankruptcy may extradite bankrupts as provided by section 2[47] and section 10 of the Act.[48]

12. To Preserve the Estate — a. Appointment of Receivers or Marshals. The Act of 1898 expressly authorizes bankruptcy courts to appoint receivers or the marshals, in certain cases, to take charge of and preserve the estate.[49] And independent of such express delegation of authority, courts of bankruptcy may, by virtue of their general equity powers, appoint receivers and preserve the estate of bankrupts by taking it into their legal custody.[50]

41. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (13). See also infra, III, D, 7.

42. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (9).

As to when compositions will be confirmed and when set aside see Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 12, 13; and infra, XIV.

The authority conferred upon the court by Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (9), is limited by sections 12, 13, and the court has no power to confirm or reject a composition except as provided in section 12, nor has it power to set it aside except as provided in section 13.

43. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (10).

For appointment, qualifications, powers, and duties of referees see infra, III, D.

Referees being quasi-judicial officers and under bonds for the faithful performance of their duties, their decisions should not be lightly treated, but be given the consideration due to conclusions reached by conscientious officers seeking to discharge their duties to the best of their ability; and they should not be reversed except upon clear and convincing proof of error, and especially as to the findings of fact, and when they have seen the witnesses and have heard them testify. In re Covington, 110 Fed. 143, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 373.

44. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (11). See also infra, XV, B.

This power is to be exercised without enlargement or diminution of such exemptions as allowed by the laws of the state where the bankrupt has his domicile. In re Woodard, 95 Fed. 260, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 339.

It is the duty of the bankrupt to include in his schedules a claim for such exemptions as he may be entitled to. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7 (8). See also U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, schedule B (5).

45. Bankr. Act (1898), § 6. See also infra, XV, A.

46. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (12). See infra, XIX.

For forms of petitions for discharges, specification of grounds in opposition thereto, and the discharge itself see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, Nos. 57–59.

47. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (14); In re Ketchum, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 532 [distinguishing In re Lipke, 98 Fed. 970, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 569]. See also infra, XVII, D.

48. Bankr. Act (1898), § 10; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 1014.

49. Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 2 (3); 69. See also infra, III, C; VI, B, 9.

This power is for the purpose of enabling courts of bankruptcy to take possession of the property of a bankrupt before adjudication. The title of trustee in the bankrupt's estate only vests from the time of the adjudication. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70. See also infra, XII, F. But from the time of filing the petition, in a case of voluntary bankruptcy the estate is in custodia legis, and therefore under the protection and control of the court. In re Abrahamson, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 44. See also infra, XII, F, 2.

50. Independent of statutory provision.— Cox v. Wall, 99 Fed. 546, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 664; In re Fixen, 96 Fed. 748, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 822; In re John A. Etheridge Furniture Co., 92 Fed. 329, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 112; Davis v. Bohle, 92 Fed. 325, 34 C. C. A.

b. Continuance of Business. Such courts may authorize the business of bankrupts to be continued for limited periods by receivers, marshals, or trustees, if necessary for the best interests of the estates.[51]

13. To Punish For Contempt. Such courts may punish persons for contempts committed before referees.[52] This power of the court to punish for contempt and disobedience of its lawful orders is inherent in every court of general jurisdiction. Without such power the orders of the court would be non-enforceable, and would command neither respect nor obedience. It rests upon the fundamental principles of judicial establishments, and is inseparable from the existence as well as the usefulness of a court of general jurisdiction.[53]

14. To Punish For Violations of Act. Courts of bankruptcy may arraign, try, and punish bankrupts, officers, and other persons, and the agents, officers, members of the board of directors, or trustees, or other similar controlling bodies of corporations, for violations of the Act, in accordance with the laws of procedure of the United States in force at the time of its enactment or thereafter enacted, regulating trials for the alleged violation of laws of the United States.[54]

372, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412. See also infra, III, C.

Receivers of property transferred by general assignment.— A receiver may be appointed by a court of bankruptcy to take charge of property transferred by a general assignment to an assignee under a state law. The fact that such property is being administered by a state court is not sufficient reason why such court should not assume jurisdiction by the appointment of a receiver. To allow the bankrupt to select the trustee to administer upon his estate, instead of the creditors, as provided in the Bankruptcy Act, or to allow the state court to take jurisdiction of the estate of the bankrupt and administer and distribute it, would effectually destroy the efficiency of any bankruptcy act that might be enacted by congress, and thus destroy the power vested in congress to pass such an act. In re John A. Etheridge Furniture Co., 92 Fed. 329, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 112. A person holding property by virtue of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors does not hold such property under any claim of right in himself, but simply as an agent for the debtor for the distribution of the proceeds of such property. An order may be issued where property has been so assigned for the appointment of a marshal to take charge of such property after the adjudication and before the qualification of a trustee. Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 12 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623.

51. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (5). See also infra, III, B, C; VI, B, 9; XII, D.

52. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (16). See also infra, III, D, 7.

Bankr. Act (1898), § 41a, prescribes what constitutes a contempt, and subdivision b of the same section provides the practice for the punishment thereof. See also infra, III, D, 7.

53. Watson v. Williams, 36 Miss. 331; In re Knaup, 144 Mo. 653, 46 S. W. 151, 66 Am. St. Rep. 435; Ex p. Crenshaw, 80 Mo. 447; U. S. v. Hudson, 7 Cranch (U. S.) 32, 3 L. ed. 259; 4 Bl. Comm. 286.

See also, generally, Contempt.

Commitment of bankrupt for refusal to deliver over property to trustee.— If it appears to the satisfaction of the referee or the court that property of the bankrupt estate is in possession of the bankrupt, a lawful order for its delivery to the trustee may be made, and a refusal to obey this order may be punished as contempt of court, both under the general law relating to contempts and under the special provisions of the Bankruptcy Act. The contention that the commitment of a bankrupt for failure to comply with such an order constitutes imprisonment for debt and therefore is violative of a constitutional provision is untenable. In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153. See also Ripon Knitting Works v. Schreiber, 101 Fed. 810, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299; In re Purvine, 96 Fed. 192, 37 C. C. A. 446, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 787. An order for the delivery by the bankrupt of the assets of the estate to his trustee in bankruptcy is in no proper sense a judgment or decree for the payment of a debt. If the enforcement of an order for the delivery to the trustee in bankruptcy of the assets of an estate which had been converted into money could not be had except by an execution the power of the bankruptcy court would be minimized, and the assets of estates in bankruptcy would be subject to great reduction. In re Schlesinger, 102 Fed. 117, 42 C. C. A. 207, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 361.

Notice to bankrupt.— In In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153, which upholds the power of bankruptcy courts to imprison bankrupts for failure to obey orders directing them to turn over to the trustee property belonging to the bankrupt estate, it was held that before such a bankrupt can be punished for such failure to obey the order of the court he must be given notice and an opportunity to contest the questions of fact presented, and a chance to be heard upon the questions of law involved.

54. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (4). Compare Bankr. Act (1898), § 29.

The United States circuit courts have concurrent jurisdiction with courts of bankruptcy, within their respective territorial limits, of the offenses enumerated in the Act.[55] All the offenses arising under the Act which are punishable by imprisonment for more than one year are to be presented by indictment.[56] It is also provided that a person shall not be prosecuted for any offense arising under the Act unless the indictment is found or the information is filed in court within one year after the commission of the offense.[57]

15. To Tax Costs. Bankruptcy courts may tax costs whenever they are allowed by law, and render judgments therefor, against the unsuccessful party, or the successful party for cause, or in part against each of the parties, and against the estates in proceedings in bankruptcy.[58]

C. Jurisdiction of Other Courts in Matters of Bankruptcy — 1. United States Circuit Courts — a. In Civil Matters — (i) Statutory Provision. United States circuit courts have jurisdiction of all controversies at law and in equity, as distinguished from proceedings in bankruptcy, between trustees, as such,[59] and adverse claimants, concerning the property acquired or claimed by

As to offenses by bankrupts see infra, XXI, A.

As to offenses by referees see infra, XXI, B.

As to offenses by trustee see infra, XXI, B.

55. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*c*; and see infra, II, C, 1, b.

56. Mackin v. U. S., 117 U. S. 348, 6 S. Ct. 777, 29 L. ed. 909; Ex p. Wilson, 114 U. S. 417, 5 S. Ct. 935, 29 L. ed. 89.

It was held under Bankr. Act (1867), § 44, making the wilful and fraudulent omission of assets from the schedules a misdemeanor, that a proceeding against the offending bankrupt might be by information and not by indictment. U. S. v. Block, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 211, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,609, 9 Chic. Leg. N. 234, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 325.

Sufficiency of indictment.— An indictment under Bankr. Act (1867), § 44, was held insufficient where it omitted the name of the court, and failed to state the time or place where the proceedings in bankruptcy were instituted. U. S. v. Latorre, 8 Blatchf. (U. S.) 134, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,567. See also U. S. v. Prescott, 2 Abb. (U. S.) 169, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 325, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,084, 9 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 481, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 112, 18 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 21. It is not necessary that an indictment for perjury by a petitioner in bankruptcy should set out the petition at length. U. S. v. Deming, 4 McLean (U. S.) 3, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,945. But such an indictment must include direct and specific allegations negativing the truth of the alleged false testimony, together with affirmative averments setting up the truth by way of antithesis. An indictment which charges the accused of having committed perjury by falsely omitting from his schedules in bankruptcy certain of his property must not only allege that his deposition was false in that regard, but it must go further and allege that he had other property and describe the property so omitted; otherwise it does not inform him of the offense with which he is charged, and does not contain proper averments to falsify the matter wherein the perjury is assigned. Bartlett v. U. S., 106 Fed. 884, 46 C. C. A. 19, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 678 [citing U. S. v. Morgan, Morr. (Iowa) 341, 41 Am. Dec. 234].

57. Bankr. Act (1898), § 29*d*. See also infra, XXI, C.

58. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (18); U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 37.

For fees: Of clerks and marshals see Bankr. Act (1898), § 52; U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35. Of referees see Bankr. Act (1898), § 40; U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 2. Of trustees see Bankr. Act (1898), § 48; U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 3.

For proof of claims for costs see infra, XI, A, 4.

Priority of costs and fees see Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b*. See also infra, XVIII, H, 1, b.

Although the Bankruptcy Act itself is silent on the question of awarding costs against a creditor who has filed specifications of objection in opposition to a bankrupt's discharge, the district court may, however, award costs against him in case he fails to prevent the discharge. In re Wolpert, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 436. See also infra, XIX, C, 5.

Costs in contested adjudications.— In cases of involuntary bankruptcy, when the debtor resists adjudication, and the court, after a hearing, adjudges the debtor a bankrupt, the petitioning creditor shall recover and be paid out of the estate the same costs that are allowed to a party recovering in a suit in equity. And if the petition is dismissed the debtor shall recover like costs against the petitioner. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 34. See also infra, VI, B, 11.

Under the Bankruptcy Act of 1867 it was held that the power to award costs was inherent in the district court in bankruptcy as a court of equity, and that such court could, in its discretion, like other courts of equitable jurisdiction, give or withhold costs. Ex p. Tremont Nat. Bank, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 409, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,169, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 397, 25 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 84.

59. See infra, II, C, 1, a, (II).

the trustee,[60] in the same manner and to the same extent only as though bankruptcy proceedings had not been instituted and such controversies had been between the bankrupts and such adverse claimants.[61] It is also provided in the same section of the Act that suits by the trustee shall only be brought or prosecuted in the court where the bankrupt, whose estate is being administered by such trustee, might have brought or prosecuted them if proceedings in bankruptcy had not been instituted, unless by consent of the proposed defendant.[62]

(II) Controversies at Law and in Equity. The jurisdiction conferred by this section [63] includes controversies at law and in equity as distinguished from bankruptcy proceedings. Such jurisdiction must be construed in connection with other provisions of the federal statutes conferring jurisdiction upon such courts. It was not intended to either limit or extend such jurisdiction.[64]

(III) Adverse Claimants. The controversies of which the United States circuit courts are given jurisdiction are those arising between trustees, as such, and adverse claimants concerning the property acquired or claimed by the trustees.[65] The term "adverse claimants" has been the subject of more or less discussion. It has been held that all holdings must be construed as adverse when the circumstances are such that the property cannot be recovered without resort to legal remedies.[66] The adverse claims are those arising generally by reason of

60. See infra, II, C, 1, a, (III).

61. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*a*, relating exclusively to circuit courts of the United States.

The only original jurisdiction conferred upon circuit courts in bankruptcy matters is in a case where no jury is in attendance upon a district court situated within the jurisdiction of a circuit court of the United States. Bankr. Act (1898), § 19*b*. See also supra, II, A, 3. And under U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 601, if a district judge is disqualified a bankruptcy proceeding may be certified to the next circuit court for the district. This section provides that if there be no circuit court in such district, then the case shall be certified to the next circuit court in the state, and if there be no circuit court in the state, to the next convenient circuit court in an adjoining state.

62. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*b*. And this provision applies not only to circuit courts of the United States but also to state courts. Perkins v. McCauley, 98 Fed. 286, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 445.

Diverse citizenship is necessary to confer jurisdiction under Bankr. Act (1898), § 23. Goodier v. Barnes, 94 Fed. 798, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 328.

63. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23.

64. The controversies which are subject to the jurisdiction of such courts are those which might have been disposed of therein if they had arisen between the bankrupt and his adverse claimants prior to instituting bankruptcy proceedings. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 433. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23, has been construed to mean that so much of the act of March 3, 1887, as amended by the act of August 13, 1888 [U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 433], as confers jurisdiction upon circuit courts of the United States of a suit in favor of an officer holding title under a law of the United States is inoperative with respect to the officer known as a trustee. Section 23*b* is in the nature of a prohibition, addressed to the circuit courts, from exercising jurisdiction in any case between the trustee in bankruptcy and an adverse claimant, unless the bankrupt himself could have resorted to the circuit court for the assertion of such claim against the adverse claimant. In re Sievers, 91 Fed. 366, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 117.

65. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*a*.

66. In the case of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, the assignment being void, the assignee's possession is without right, and the title as well as the right to possession is in the trustee, but if the latter cannot recover the property otherwise than by legal proceedings, he must resort to the ordinary legal remedies. We perceive no valid distinction between such a case and one where there is an adverse holding in fact by one not a party to the proceedings, no matter what the character of such possession may be in point of law. In re Nugent, 105 Fed. 581, 44 C. C. A. 620, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 176. But in Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 21 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623, it was in effect held that a general assignment for the benefit of creditors did not constitute the assignee an assignee for value, but simply made him an agent of the debtor for the distribution of the proceeds of the property among his creditors. In the note to this case [as reported in 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623], the editor concludes that the opinion therein decides that an assignee for the benefit of creditors is not an adverse claimant in any sense of the term. See also Sinsheimer v. Simonson, 107 Fed. 898, 47 C. C. A. 51, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 537; Smith v. Belford, 106 Fed. 658, 45 C. C. A. 526, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 291.

Fraudulent title in third person.— Where it is shown that a third person is in possession claiming title before the bankruptcy, even if it appears that such possession is conveyances or assignments made before bankruptcy proceedings were instituted.[67] As a result of the requirement that controversies of which circuit courts assume jurisdiction must be between trustees, as such, and adverse claimants, it would seem to follow that if such claims are not adverse they are to be summarily adjudicated in the bankruptcy courts; but if such claims are adverse, that is, where there is a color of title asserted against the trustee, the claimants are entitled to be heard in a plenary suit.[68]

b. In Criminal Matters. United States circuit courts have concurrent jurisdiction with courts of bankruptcy, within their respective territorial limits, of the offenses enumerated in the Act.[69]

2. State Courts — a. Statutory Provision. The Act provides that suits by the trustee shall only be brought or prosecuted in the courts where the bankrupt, whose estate is being administered by such trustee, might have brought or prosecuted them if proceedings in bankruptcy had not been instituted, unless by consent of the proposed defendant.[70]

b. Effect of Statute. It has been finally determined that this statutory provision controls and limits the jurisdiction of all courts, including the district courts, over suits brought by trustees in bankruptcy to recover and collect debts due from third parties or to set aside transfers of property to third parties, alleged to be fraudulent as against creditors, including payments in money or property to preferred creditors.[71] And it is further decided that the district courts of the fraudulent, summary proceedings will not lie against him, and there is no jurisdiction in the district court except by consent of the proposed defendant. In re Sheinbaum, 107 Fed. 247, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 187.

67. In re Bender, 106 Fed. 873, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 632.

A testamentary trustee of a trust created pursuant to a state statute has an interest adverse to the trustee in bankruptcy and cannot be proceeded against summarily, but is entitled to be heard in a plenary suit. In re Baudouine, 101 Fed. 574, 41 C. C. A. 318, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 651. The trust in this case was one to receive the rents and profits of land and apply them to the use of the beneficiary during his lifetime, without any direction for an accumulation. The state statute provided that the surplus of such rents and profits beyond the sum that may be necessary for the support and education of the beneficiary shall be liable in equity to the claims of his creditors, in the same manner as other personal property which cannot be reached by an execution at law. The courts of New York have uniformly declared nugatory every attempt by the act of the beneficiary to alienate or encumber the income arising under such a trust, or to anticipate it in any manner, and have denied the power of the courts to sanction any disposition of it by the concurrence of the beneficiary and the trustee. Douglas v. Cruger, 80 N. Y. 15. See Cuthbert v. Chauvet, 136 N. Y. 326, 32 N. E. 1088, 49 N. Y. St. 671, 18 L. R. A. 745.

Business of bankrupt carried on in name of another.—Where bankrupt's daughter carried on a business which creditors claim to have been the business of the bankrupt, and the only bank-account used in the business was her own genuine bank-account, in which receipts of the business were deposited and upon which the checks in payment of its obligations were drawn, she is in the position of a third person, not only claiming title, but in possession of the business, and the alleged fraud between her and the bankrupt can only be inquired into and adjudged in a plenary suit brought against her by the trustee. Her rights cannot be adjudicated in a summary manner by the referee in the bankruptcy proceedings. In re Cohn, 98 Fed. 75, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 421.

68. Under the Bankruptcy Act of 1867 it was repeatedly held that the right of an assignee in bankruptcy to assert a title in property transferred by the bankrupt before the bankruptcy to a third person, who now claimed it adversely to the assignee, could only be enforced by a plenary suit, at law or in equity, under the second section of that act, and not by summary proceedings under the first section thereof, notwithstanding the declaration in that section that the jurisdiction in bankruptcy should extend "to the collection of all the assets of the bankrupt," and "to all acts, matters, and things to be done under and in virtue of the bankruptcy," until the close of proceedings in bankruptcy. Eyster v. Gaff, 91 U. S. 521, 23 L. ed. 403; Marshall v. Knox, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 551, 21 L. ed. 481; Smith v. Mason, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 419, 20 L. ed. 748.

69. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*c*. See also supra, II, B, 14; infra, XXI.

For offenses against the Bankruptcy Act see Bankr. Act (1898), § 29. See also infra, XXI.

The words "offenses enumerated" as used in this section mean only the crimes described in Bankr. Act (1898), § 29. Goodier v. Barnes, 94 Fed. 798, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 328.

70. Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*b*.

71. Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank,

United States can only entertain jurisdiction of such suits when it appears that the proposed defendant has consented thereto.[72] It follows therefore that where the trustee and the proposed defendant are residents of the same state, all such collateral actions must be brought in the state courts unless there is consent to the jurisdiction of the United States circuit or district courts.[73]

178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163.

A majority of the cases decided in the district courts prior to Bardes case, supra, held that such courts could entertain jurisdiction of suits brought by trustees against third parties pursuant to Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*b*. Norcross v. Nathan, 99 Fed. 414, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 613; Pepperdine v. Headley, 98 Fed. 863, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 455; In re Hammond, 98 Fed. 845, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 466; Louisville Trust Co. v. Marx, 98 Fed. 456, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 450; Robinson v. White, 97 Fed. 33, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 88; In re Booth, 96 Fed. 943, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 770; In re Fixen, 96 Fed. 748, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 822; In re Baudouine, 96 Fed. 536, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 55; In re Pittelkow, 92 Fed. 901, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472; Carter v. Hobbs, 92 Fed. 594, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 224; In re Smith, 92 Fed. 135, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 9; In re Brooks, 91 Fed. 508, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 531. Among the cases involving this question which were carried to the circuit court of appeals and which are now considered as overruled are In re Baudouine, 101 Fed. 574, 41 C. C. A. 318, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 651; In re Francis-Valentine Co., 94 Fed. 793, 36 C. C. A. 499, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 522; Davis v. Bohle, 92 Fed. 325, 34 C. C. A. 372, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412. But in a number of cases in the district courts and circuit courts of appeals handed down prior to Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163, supra, the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy courts in suits brought by trustees against third persons to collect debts, set aside transfers of property made by the bankrupt, etc., was denied. In Perkins v. McCauley, 98 Fed. 286, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 445, suit was brought by a trustee in bankruptcy in a district court to set aside a transfer of property made by the bankrupt alleged to have been a preference and without consideration and in violation of the Bankruptcy Act. The complainant and the defendant were citizens of the same state. The court was of the opinion that it was the apparent purpose of congress to make the boundaries between federal and state judiciaries as to "all controversies at law and in equity, as distinguished from proceedings in bankruptcy," coincident with the lines of demarcation then existing, thus giving an adverse claimant, against whom a trustee in bankruptcy asserted a cause of action, the privilege of being sued in local courts, and thereby saving to such claimant the burdensome expense and costs necessarily incident to litigation in a distant tribunal. In Burnett v. Morris Mercantile Co., 91 Fed. 365, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 229, it was argued that, because the bankrupt cannot maintain a suit to set aside a conveyance made by himself as fraudulent, therefore the provision [Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*b*] did not apply. But the court held that the question of jurisdiction alone was involved, a question of the right to determine, not of the principles to obtain in reaching a determination. If the bankrupt himself brought the suit he could not be turned out of court on the question of jurisdiction. The authority of the court to decide as to his right would be unquestioned, although he might be precluded in his right to relief by his own act. See also to the same effect Hicks v. Knost, 94 Fed. 625, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153 [affirmed in 178 U. S. 541, 20 S. Ct. 1006, 44 L. ed. 1183, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178]; In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266 [affirmed in 181 U. S. 188, 21 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623]; Mitchell v. McClure, 91 Fed. 621, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 53 [affirmed in 178 U. S. 539, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1182, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 177]. In In re Franks, 95 Fed. 635, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 634, property was sold by a sheriff under an execution rendered null and void by a subsequent adjudication in bankruptcy against the execution debtor. The district court held that it had no power to make an order in a summary proceeding directing the sheriff to pay over such money to the trustee; that the remedy of the trustee is to petition the state court out of which the execution issued for such an order directing the sheriff to pay over to him the money in his hands belonging to the trustee of the bankrupt's estate; and if such an order is refused the proper course would then be for the trustee to sue the sheriff for money had and received.

72. Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163.

73. Reason for rule.— It was the intention of congress to permit such suits, when they could not be settled by compromise or arbitration, to be litigated in the courts which, under the general law, would have jurisdiction of them, just as assignees under state insolvency laws bring suits in courts of general jurisdiction to collect assets which are afterward distributed by the court of insolvency. The bankruptcy court controls the trustee, supervises the administration of his trust, settles his accounts, and orders the distribution of the moneys in his hands, but it is not required to assume the burden of the litigations necessary for the collection of assets, nor are adverse claimants of property acquired or claimed by the trustee to

c. Suits Affected by Statute. Subdivision b of section 23 of the Act has reference to suits which might have been brought by the bankrupt, "if proceedings in bankruptcy had not been instituted." Such suits include all actions by the trustee to collect debts due to the bankrupt, as well as actions brought by him to set aside illegal transfers, invalid assignments, and other transactions of the bankrupt, made for the purpose of hindering, delaying, and defrauding his creditors.[74] A careful analysis of the section above referred to will show that subdivision b relates to suits brought and prosecuted by trustees against third persons for transfers and conveyances made before the bankruptcy proceedings were instituted,[75] be put to unnecessary inconvenience and expense in litigating their rights. Hicks v. Knost, 94 Fed. 625, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153 [affirmed in 178 U. S. 541, 20 S. Ct. 1006, 44 L. ed. 1183, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178]. The course which gives to the state courts the amplest, and to the bankruptcy courts the narrowest, control over proceedings for the collection of debts by trustees will be the one which the case of Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163, and the course of judicature which will be founded upon it will sanction. In re Porter, 109 Fed. 111, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 259.

Jurisdiction of state courts under former acts.— Under Bankr. Act (1867), § 2 [U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 4986] the United States district and circuit courts were given concurrent jurisdiction of all suits, at law or in equity, brought "by the assignee in bankruptcy against any person claiming an adverse interest, or by such person against such assignee, touching any property or rights of property, of said bankrupt transferable to or vested in such assignee." The jurisdiction of the courts of the United States over all matters and proceedings in bankruptcy, as distinguished from independent suits at law or in equity, was of course exclusive. But it was well settled that jurisdiction of such suits, conferred by section 2 of the Act of 1867 upon the United States circuit and district courts for the benefit of an assignee in bankruptcy, was concurrent with that of the state courts. Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163. See also Eyster v. Gaff, 91 U. S. 521, 23 L. ed. 403; Lathrop v. Drake, 91 U. S. 516, 23 L. ed. 414. From the cases above cited it would seem that the jurisdiction of state courts of suits between trustees and third parties claiming title to the bankrupt's property was under the Act of 1867 concurrent with that of the United States circuit and district courts. The general rule was stated to be that where jurisdiction may be conferred on United States courts it may be made exclusive, where not so by the constitution itself, but if exclusive jurisdiction be neither express or implied, the state courts have concurrent jurisdiction whenever, by their own constitution, they are competent to take it. Claflin v. Houseman, 93 U. S. 130, 23 L. ed. 833; In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266.

Effect of omission of concurrent jurisdiction in Act of 1898.— In Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163, in determining whether the jurisdiction of the circuit and district courts of the United States was concurrent with the state courts in certain suits at law and in equity between the trustee and the adverse claimant of property of the bankrupt, the statutes of 1841 and 1867 were compared with that of 1898, and from the omission from the latter of certain provisions of the former statutes it was decided that such jurisdiction did not exist. Mr. Justice Gray said: "We find it impossible to infer that when Congress, in framing the act of 1898, entirely omitted any similar provision, and substituted the restricted provisions of § 23, it intended that either of those courts should retain the jurisdiction which it had under the absolute provision of the earlier acts." See also Pirie v. Chicago Title, etc., Co., 182 U. S. 438, 21 S. Ct. 906, 45 L. ed. 1171, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 814.

74. Fraudulent conveyances by bankrupt. — In Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163, it was contended that Bankr. Act (1898), § 23*b*, could not apply to a suit brought by a trustee to set aside a conveyance made by the bankrupt in fraud of creditors, because the bankrupt himself could not have brought such an action. The court said: "But the clause concerns the jurisdiction only, and not the merits, of the case; the forum in which a case may be tried, and not the way in which it must be decided; the right to decide the case, and not the principles which must govern the decision. The bankrupt himself could have brought a suit to recover property which he claimed as his own, against one asserting an adverse title in it; and the incapacity of the bankrupt to set aside his own fraudulent conveyance is a matter affecting the merits of such an action, and not the jurisdiction of the court to entertain and determine it." The fact that the bankrupt might be estopped and fail of a recovery in no manner changes the aspect of the question as to the court in which a suit for such recovery could be brought by him. In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266 [affirmed in 181 U. S. 188, 21 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623].

75. In re Bender, 106 Fed. 873, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 632.

and has no reference to suits brought respecting the property of a bankrupt which has come legally into the custody of a court of bankruptcy.[76]

d. Consent of Proposed Defendant. To deprive state courts of their jurisdiction and to authorize district courts to entertain suits to recover property in the possession of adverse claimants the consent of such claimants must be entirely voluntary.[77] The conduct of the adverse claimant may, however, be such as to necessarily imply consent.[78]

e. Priority of Jurisdiction. Where a state court acquires possession of the property of a bankrupt prior to the institution of bankruptcy proceedings such court would be authorized, it seems, to entertain all actions and proceedings involving the rights of parties to such property.[79]

76. Summary process by district courts.— At the date of the adjudication in bankruptcy goods were at the store of the bankrupts and in their actual possession, and were claimed by them as their property, and on such date the court referred the case to a referee in bankruptcy, and by his direction the entrance to the store was locked. The goods were then in the lawful possession of the referee in bankruptcy, and of the bankruptcy court, whose representative and substitute he was. Being thus in the custody of a court of the United States they could not be taken out of that custody upon any process from a state court. An action of replevin in a state court cannot therefore be maintained against the bankrupt to recover property in the possession of and claimed by the bankrupt at the time of the adjudication, and in the possession of a referee in bankruptcy at the time when the action of replevin was begun. And where goods legally in the custody of a district court have been seized upon a writ of replevin from a state court, the district court sitting in bankruptcy has jurisdiction by summary process to compel the return of the property so seized. White v. Schloerb, 178 U. S. 542, 20 S. Ct. 1007, 44 L. ed. 1183, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178. Where property, the ownership of which is in dispute, was in the possession of a trustee in bankruptcy as a part of the bankrupt's estate to be duly administered, the district court has jurisdiction to restrain proceedings under a sequestration issued from a state court; and if such property has been taken from the possession of such trustee, an order may be issued compelling its return. Since the property is in the custody of the district court sitting in bankruptcy that court may entertain a petition of intervention on the part of the adverse claimant and determine the issues presented thereby. In re Whitener, 105 Fed. 180, 44 C. C. A. 434, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 198.

77. J. B. McFarlan Carriage Co. v. Solanas, 106 Fed. 145, 45 C. C. A. 253, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 442.

78. In re Connolly, 100 Fed. 620, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 842.

Implied consent.—Where assignee for benefit of creditors sells property after the filing of a petition in bankruptcy, but before the appointment of a trustee, and the creditors petition the district court for an order directing that the property be taken into the custody of the marshal of such court for the benefit of the bankrupt's estate, and the vendee does not protest against the jurisdiction of the court but submits his claim to that court and asks for such orders as may be necessary for his protection, such vendee will be deemed to have consented to the jurisdiction of the district court. Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 21 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623. Where adverse parties permitted a cause to proceed upon the merits without raising the question of the referee's jurisdiction, and the referee rendered a decree against them, and where, upon a review of the decision of the referee, objection to his jurisdiction was first raised, it will be held that the respondents have consented to the jurisdiction of the district court. In re Steuer, 104 Fed. 976, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 209.

When jurisdiction not consented to.— The general appearance of defendants to a rule to show cause, and their failure to set up their right to be sued in the state court until after the filing of a second amended petition, when for the first time a case was made upon which relief could be had against them, did not constitute such consent of the defendants as is contemplated by the Bankruptcy Act. In re Hemby-Hutchinson Pub. Co., 105 Fed. 909, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 569.

79. It is a general rule that when property is in the possession of a court this draws to it the right to decide upon conflicting claims to its ultimate possession and control; and as between two courts exercising concurrent jurisdiction the court which first acquires possession will retain such possession intact. Rouse v. Letcher, 156 U. S. 47, 15 S. Ct. 266, 39 L. ed. 341; Byers v. McAuley, 149 U. S. 608, 13 S. Ct. 906, 37 L. ed. 867; In re Russell, 101 Fed. 248, 41 C. C. A. 323, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 658; Louisville Trust Co. v. Cincinnati, 76 Fed. 296, 47 U. S. App. 36, 22 C. C. A. 334; Summers v. White, 71 Fed. 106, 36 U. S. App. 395, 17 C. C. A. 631.

This is undoubtedly the rule without regard to the decision of the supreme court, holding that United States courts have no jurisdiction in controversies between trustees and adverse claimants as to the title to property conveyed or assigned prior to the filing

3. Stay of Suits in Other Courts — a. Statutory Provision. A suit which is founded upon a claim from which a discharge would be a release, and which is pending against a person at the time of the filing of the petition against him, must be stayed until after an adjudication or the dismissal of the petition; and if such person is adjudged a bankrupt such action may be further stayed until twelve months after the date of such adjudication, or if within that time such person applies for a discharge then until the question of such discharge is determined.[80]

b. Suits to Be Stayed[81] — (i) In General. A suit to be stayed must be founded upon a claim from which a discharge in bankruptcy would be a release.[82] of the petition, unless by consent of the proposed defendant. See Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163.

Powers of state courts over proceedings pending before bankruptcy.— There is no provision in the Act which authorizes or permits courts of bankruptcy by the use of either summary or plenary process to stop proceedings of a state court in a suit in which it had already, before the institution of the bankruptcy proceedings, obtained possession of the subject-matter and jurisdiction of the parties. This was held in a case where a suit was begun and proceeded to judgment in the state court, and there was a seizure thereunder of the property subject to the privilege and right of pledge, and the same was advertised for sale, all before the beginning of the bankruptcy proceedings. In re Seebold, 105 Fed. 910, 45 C. C. A. 117, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 358. But see In re Kenney, 105 Fed. 897, 45 C. C. A. 113, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 355, where it was held that the bankruptcy court is authorized to order the right of the judgment creditor under a levy to be transferred and conveyed to the trustee, which is properly accomplished by ordering the sheriff to pay over the proceeds.

80. Bankr. Act (1898), § 11*a*. Construing this section of the Act see In re Whitener, 105 Fed. 180, 44 C. C. A. 434, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 198; Wagner v. U. S., 104 Fed. 133, 43 C. C. A. 445, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 596; Heath v. Shaffer, 93 Fed. 647, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 98; In re Ogles, 93 Fed. 426, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671; In re Gutwillig, 92 Fed. 337, 63 U. S. App. 191, 34 C. C. A. 377, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 388 [affirming 90 Fed. 475, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 78]; Davis v. Bohle, 92 Fed. 325, 34 C. C. A. 372, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412 [affirming 91 Fed. 366]; Blake v. Francis-Valentine Co., 89 Fed. 691, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372; and infra, note 81 et seq.

Bankr. Act (1867), § 21, provides in effect that a creditor who proves his debt or claim in the bankruptcy proceeding shall not be allowed to maintain a suit at law or in equity therefor against the bankrupt; and further provides that no creditor whose "debt is provable under this Act shall be allowed to prosecute to final judgment any suit at law or in equity therefor against the bankrupt, until the question of the debtor's discharge shall have been determined. And any such suit or proceeding shall, upon the application of the bankrupt, be stayed to await the determination of the court in bankruptcy on the question of the discharge." But it was provided that there should be no unreasonable delay on the part of the bankrupt in endeavoring to obtain his discharge, and that if the amount due the creditor was in dispute the suit, by leave of the court in bankruptcy, might proceed to judgment for the purpose of ascertaining the amount due.

Bankr. Act (1841), § 5, is a similar provision as to the waiver of the right of the creditor to maintain an action against the bankrupt, but contained no provision as to a stay of suit against the debtor.

A comparison of the Act of 1867 with the present Act will show that under the former Act provable debts could not be prosecuted to final judgment in any suit until the question of the discharge was determined. But the present Act would not seem to authorize a stay of a suit based upon such a debt unless it was pending against the bankrupt at the time of the filing of the petition against him.

81. The fact that a trustee in bankruptcy may be interested in the result of a litigation which is pending between third parties in a state court does not entitle him to have the proceedings in such action stayed, or to have the controversy transferred for adjudication to the bankruptcy court. In re Horton, 102 Fed. 986, 43 C. C. A. 87, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 486.

82. Bankr. Act (1898), § 11*a*. The debts of a bankrupt which may be proved and allowed against his estate are those specified and described in Bankr. Act (1898), § 63. See infra, XI, A. But see Bankr. Act (1898), § 17, which provides that a discharge in bankruptcy shall release a bankrupt from all his provable debts except such as are mentioned in that section.

Non-dischargeable claims.— The discretion to grant stays after adjudication conferred by Bankr. Act (1898), § 11, should not be exercised unless the claim on which the suit is pending is clearly dischargeable. For the purpose of determining whether a debt is dischargeable, under a motion for a stay, a claim grounded in tort on which a verdict assessing the damages has been rendered, but which is not yet in judgment, will be considered so far liquidated as to come within the meaning of Bankr. Act (1898), § 17 (2). In re Sullivan, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 30.

Actions for fraud.— If the action in the state court is founded on a claim arising

Under the Act of 1867 it was held that the word "suit" included all cases where the personal liability of the debtor was sought to be fixed or determined by a final judgment pending the determination of the question of the discharge.[83] Such suits include those pending in both state and federal courts. Federal courts, under the Act of 1898, have restrained proceedings in state courts founded on debts dischargeable in bankruptcy, which would result in the arrest of the bankrupt, as for contempt of court for failure to pay alimony, although under a recent decision alimony in arrears at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy or alimony accruing since that adjudication is not a provable or dischargeable debt.[84] Proceedings in state courts have been restrained where the cause of action was a claim for labor which, under a local statute, might result in a body execution;[85] and where the cause of action was a claim for loss of services to a father by reason of seduction of his daughter.[86] They have also restrained pro-from the fraud of the bankrupt, and the judgment therein, if obtained, would not be dischargeable, no stay should be granted by a bankruptcy court. In re Cole, 106 Fed. 837, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 780. See also In re Lewensohn, 99 Fed. 73, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 594; In re Rhutassel, 96 Fed. 597, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 697.

Actions for conversion.— The judgments for fraud which are excepted by Bankr. Act (1898), § 17, from the effect of discharge are such as are essentially fraudulent in fact, involving moral turpitude or intentional wrong, and as an action for conversion is not essentially an action for fraud, it is generally dischargeable. Burnham v. Pidcock, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 273, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 1007, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 590. Where an action is begun against a bankrupt in a state court to recover for a technical conversion of goods consigned to him for sale, a motion to stay such an action should be granted since the claim would be barred by the bankrupt's discharge. In re Basch, 97 Fed. 761, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235.

83. In re Rossenberg, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 14, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,054, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 103, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 236.

For meaning of term "suit" see ACTIONS, II, F, 2, b [1 Cyc. 714].

Stay of proceedings under Act of 1867.— It was frequently held that creditors could be restrained from entry of judgment on provable debts and that sheriffs could be enjoined from making sales under execution thereon. In re Schnepf, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 72, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,471, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 204, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 46, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 41, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 214, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 190; In re Mallory, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 88, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,991, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 22; Jones v. Leach, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,475, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 595; Irving v. Hughes, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,076, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 209, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 451, 24 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 380, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 121, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 61; In re Hufnagel, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,837, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 554; In re Bloss, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,562, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 147. An order of arrest made by a state court in a suit against a bankrupt upon an affidavit showing that the suit was founded on a debt created by the fraud of the bankrupt could not be vacated by the bankruptcy court, but the suit was stayed until the final determination of the bankruptcy proceedings. In re Migel, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,538, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 481. Among other cases arising under the former law in which actions in other courts were stayed until the discharge of the bankrupt see Scott v. Ellery, 142 U. S. 381, 12 S. Ct. 233, 35 L. ed. 1050; Hill v. Harding, 107 U. S. 631, 2 S. Ct. 404, 27 L. ed. 493; In re Belden, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 476, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,239, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 443; In re Myers, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 424, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,518, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 581; In re Schwartz, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 196, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,502, 15 Alb. L. J. 350, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 513, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 330; In re Rundle, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,138, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 30, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 113.

84. Proceedings which would result in bankrupt's arrest.—Audubon v. Shufeldt, 181 U. S. 575, 21 S. Ct. 735, 45 L. ed. 1009, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 829 [overruling In re Houston, 94 Fed. 119, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 107]; In re Challoner, 98 Fed. 82, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 442; In re Van Orden, 96 Fed. 86, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 801.

As to whether alimony is a provable debt see In re Nowell, 99 Fed. 931, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 837. In In re Smith, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 67, the referee has carefully collected and ably discussed the cases bearing upon the question of whether alimony due under a New York decree of divorce is a provable debt, and vacated an order restraining further proceedings in the supreme court of New York to punish a husband who failed to pay alimony and counsel fees. Judge Brown of the southern district of New York in a memorandum accompanying decisions in Andrews v. Andrews, and Shepard v. Shepard [reported in New York Law Journal, June 28, 1899] said: "In my judgment, the liability to pay alimony would not be released by a discharge in bankruptcy, and no stay should therefore be granted on its enforcement, except where a preference is sought upon the assets." See also infra, XI, A, 7.

85. In re Grist, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 89.

86. In re Sullivan, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 30.

ceedings supplementary to an execution following a judgment in a suit for a debt[87] and execution sales by sheriffs.[88] And in a case of involuntary bankruptcy the distribution of the proceeds of an execution sale under a levy made within four months prior to the filing of a petition in bankruptcy was restrained.[89]

(II) Attachment Proceedings. Attachment proceedings pending at the time the petition was filed, and the distribution of funds secured thereunder should be restrained.[90]

(III) Foreclosure Proceedings. Actions to foreclose real-estate mortgages have been restrained where the mortgage exceeds the value of the realty, and there is likelihood of a deficiency judgment against the bankrupt.[91] It is a gen-

87. Supplementary proceedings.— Zimmer v. Schleehauf, 115 Mass. 52; In re Kletchka, 92 Fed. 901, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 479; In re Adams, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94. Where it appears that the only effect of staying proceedings supplementary to execution would be to prevent the examination of the bankrupt and to secure information for the purpose of initiating a creditor's bill, the district court may nevertheless stay such proceedings. In re Lesser, 99 Fed. 913, 40 C. C. A. 177, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 758.

88. In re Kimball, 97 Fed. 29, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 161; Blake v. Francis-Valentine Co., 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372 [affirmed in 94 Fed. 793]; In re Northrop, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 427.

89. In re Kenney, 95 Fed. 427, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 494, upon the ground that the levy was void under Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*, and the execution creditor therefore had no special lien upon the proceeds.

But in cases of voluntary bankruptcy such an order has been refused, on the ground that Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*, does not apply. In re Easley, 93 Fed. 419, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715; In re De Lue. 91 Fed. 510, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 387. This latter case was decided by Judge Lowell. This judge in In re Blair, 108 Fed. 529, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 206, states that the remark found in his opinion in the De Lue case to the effect that Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*, was limited to involuntary bankruptcy was hastily made, both counsel having agreed in argument upon that construction of the section. It is clearly erroneous, and has long been treated as overruled.

As to construction and application of Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*, see infra, XVI, B, 2.

90. In Bear v. Chase, 99 Fed. 920, 923, 40 C. C. A. 182, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 746, certain creditors levied by attachment upon the bankrupt's goods and sold them under an order of the state court, and the proceeds thereof were paid to the clerk of such court. Within a few days thereafter proceedings in involuntary bankruptcy were begun against the bankrupt. The court said: "Upon the adjudication of the bankrupt, all creditors became parties to the bankruptcy proceedings by operation of law, and particularly those creditors by whose acts the bankruptcy was caused. No good reason would seem to exist why a court, as to any creditor before it in a bankruptcy proceeding, should not, after the service of a rule, enjoin such creditor from taking any step or doing any act affecting the bankrupt's estate, or interrupting the court in the due administration thereof." But compare In re Ogles, 93 Fed. 426, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671, where it was questioned whether a stay should be granted.

Under the Bankruptcy Act of 1867 it was held that a suit previously begun in a state court by attachment was only suspended by proceedings in bankruptcy, and that after the determination of the question of whether a discharge should be granted the creditor could continue his action. If the discharge is refused the plaintiff, upon establishing his claim, may obtain a general judgment. If the discharge is granted the court in which the suit is pending may then determine whether the plaintiff is entitled to a special judgment for the purpose of enforcing an attachment made more than four months before the commencement of the proceedings in bankruptcy, or for the purpose of charging sureties on a bond given to dissolve such an attachment. Hill v. Harding, 107 U. S. 631, 2 S. Ct. 404, 27 L. ed. 493.

91. In re Sabine, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 315. In In re Pittelkow, 92 Fed. 901, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472, it was held that the district court had jurisdiction to restrain mortgagees for a reasonable time from foreclosure proceedings, and stated that it is the duty of the court to consider the interest of the mortgagees and other secured creditors as well as those of the general creditors; and unless it is apparent (1) that the mortgaged premises in the given case will probably realize upon a sale an amount substantially in excess of the mortgage, and (2) that there are no complications by dower rights, conveyances, or other conditions, which require foreclosure under the mortgage, the power to proceed summarily by sale, including the interest of the mortgagees, should not be exercised.

Under the Acts of 1841 and 1867 cases frequently arose where the district courts intervened by injunction to restrain the foreclosure of mortgages in state courts. Factors', etc., Ins. Co. v. Murphy, 111 U. S. 738, 4 S. Ct. 679, 28 L. ed. 582; Ray v. Norseworthy, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 128, 23 L. ed. 116; Houston v. New Orleans City Bank, 6 How. (U. S.) 486, 12 L. ed. 526; Nugent v. Boyd, 3 How. (U. S.) 426, 11 L. ed. 664; Ex p. New Orleans City Bank, 3 How. (U. S.) 292, eral principle that the trustee takes the property of the bankrupt subject to all valid liens.[92] The Act recognizes the claims of secured creditors "for such sums only as to the courts seem to be owing over and above the value of their securities or priorities,"[93] unless such creditors surrender their securities or preferences.[94] The Act also provides for the payment of a dividend to secured creditors only upon the balance remaining unpaid after converting the securities into money and the payment thereof upon the secured debt.[95] The Act, carefully analyzed, recognizes the right of a creditor to have the property upon which he has a valid lien pay the debt for which it is bound to the exclusion of other creditors; and that the excess above the debt secured is all that a court of bankruptcy will administer where there is no surrender of the lien.[96] Lienholders, unless they surrender their securities and prove their claims, are strangers to the bankruptcy proceedings and are entitled to have their property rights adjudicated by the courts of the state in which the realty is situated.[97]

11 L. ed. 603; In re Sacchi, 10 Blatchf. (U. S.) 29, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,200, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 289, 43 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 252, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 497; In re Iron Mountain Co., 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 320, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,065, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 645; Sutherland v. Lake Superior Ship Canal, etc., Co., 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 29, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,643, 1 Centr. L. J. 127, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 298.

Where, after an adjudication, a proceeding is instituted to foreclose a mortgage upon the bankrupt's property the court will not restrain the foreclosure proceeding upon the petition of the trustee, but will permit the whole matter of the mortgage debt and the controversies arising therefrom to be disposed of in the state court, for the reason that all matters pertaining to the mortgage may be more comprehensively and conveniently treated in proceedings in that court. In re Porter, 109 Fed. 111, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 259.

92. Taylor v. Taylor, 59 N. J. Eq. 86, 45 Atl. 440, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 211; Esterbrook Steel Pen Mfg. Co. v. Ahern, 30 N. J. Eq. 341; Amsterdam First Nat. Bank v. Shuler, 153 N. Y. 163, 47 N. E. 262, 60 Am. St. Rep. 601. See also infra, XVI, B.

93. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*e*. See also infra, XI, B, 5.

94. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*g*. See also infra, XI, B, 4, 5.

95. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*h*; U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 28. See also infra, XVIII, H, 2, b.

96. By U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 28, the trustee is authorized, whenever it is deemed by the court to be for the best interest of the estate, to redeem and discharge any mortgage or other pledge, or deposit or lien, upon any property, real or personal. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms Nos. 43, 44, provide for petitions and orders for the redemption of property from a lien, and for the sale thereof subject to a lien. The rule and forms cited would seem to substantiate in a sense the statement in the text. See also Carter v. Peoples Nat. Bank, 109 Ga. 573, 35 S. E. 61, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 211 note.

Where, then, the property exceeds in value the lien thereon, there would seem to be no reason for the exercise of the discretion of a court of bankruptcy in staying proceedings brought in a state court for the foreclosure of such a lien. Carter v. Peoples Nat. Bank, 109 Ga. 573, 35 S. E. 61, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 211 note.

97. In re Gerdes, 102 Fed. 318, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 346; Hicks v. Knost, 94 Fed. 625, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153 [affirmed in 178 U. S. 541, 20 S. Ct. 1006, 44 L. ed. 1183, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178]. See also infra, XI, B, 4; XVI, B.

And when the state court acquires jurisdiction of the property and the parties, it may proceed to sell under a foreclosure and to distribute the proceeds of the sale, notwithstanding the commencement, pending the sale, of proceedings in bankruptcy against the mortgagor. Moran v. Sturges, 154 U. S. 256, 14 S. Ct. 1019, 38 L. ed. 981; Rio Grande R. Co. v. Vinet, 132 U. S. 478, 10 S. Ct. 155, 33 L. ed. 400; In re Gerdes, 102 Fed. 318, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 346.

Where the holder of a chattel mortgage had taken possession of the mortgaged property before the institution of proceedings in bankruptcy against the mortgagor, and thereafter brought suit in a state court for foreclosure of the mortgage against the bankrupt and his trustee in bankruptcy, it was held that the court of bankruptcy would not, on a bill by such trustee alleging the mortgage to be voidable as an unlawful preference, enjoin the further prosecution of such suit, but the trustee must appear and assert his rights and title in the state court. Heath v. Shaffer, 93 Fed. 647, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 98.

The following cases arose under the former acts respecting the jurisdiction of state courts in proceedings in bankruptcy for the foreclosure of mortgages: Markson v. Haney, 47 Ind. 31, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 484; McKay v. Funk, 37 Iowa 661, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 334; Jerome v. McCarter, 94 U. S. 734, 24 L. ed. 136, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 546; In re Irving, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 463, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,073, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 289, 2 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 500 (holding that the filing of a petition in involuntary bankruptcy did not divest the jurisdiction of the state court over an action to foreclose); In re Davis, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 260, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,620, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 715, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 167. The general rule under former acts was to permit secured

c. Application For Stay. The Bankruptcy Act, like all laws of the United States made in pursuance to the constitution, binds state as well as federal courts.[98] Hence it is the duty of a state court to entertain a motion properly brought before it to stay proceedings pending at the time of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy.[99] The proper procedure to secure a stay may be stated as follows: The bankrupt who is the defendant in the state court should file therein a proper pleading setting forth the pendency of the proceedings in bankruptcy, and based thereon should ask a stay as provided;[1] and, being thus informed of the pendency of proceedings in bankruptcy, it will become the duty of the state court to grant the stay prayed for.[2] Although the application should be made to a state court in the first instance, if the state court does not grant the stay an application may be made to the court of bankruptcy.[3] The application of the bankrupt may be made in the form of an affidavit, and when presented to the court in which the action is pending should entitle him to an injunction staying such action until his application for a discharge is determined, unless there are good reasons for the continuance of the suit.[4] creditors to enforce their liens in state courts unless it appeared that the bankrupt estate would be injured or inconvenienced thereby. If such proceedings were established at the time of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy a stay was never granted unless, by a continuance of the suit, the mortgagee would secure by a judgment or otherwise an amount greater than that to which he would be entitled by virtue of his security. In re McGilton, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 144, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,798, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 1, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 332, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 294, 20 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 29; In re Iron Mountain Co., 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 320, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,065, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 645; Davis v. Anderson, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,623, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 145; In re Davis, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,618, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 52, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 171, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 391; In re Brinkman, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,883, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 541.

98. Hill v. Harding, 107 U. S. 631, 2 S. Ct. 404, 27 L. ed. 493; In re Rosenberg, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 14, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,054, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 103, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 236; In re Metcalf, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 78, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,494, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 46, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 43, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 223, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 201.

99. Judicial notice of pendency of bankruptcy proceeding.— Boynton v. Ball, 121 U. S. 457, 7 S. Ct. 981, 30 L. ed. 985, where the court said: "The state court could not know or take judicial notice of proceedings in bankruptcy unless they were brought before it in some appropriate manner, and the provisions of this section [Bankr. Act (1867), § 21] show plainly that it does not thereupon lose jurisdiction of the case, but the proceedings may, upon the application of the bankrupt, be stayed to await the determination of the court in bankruptcy on the question of his discharge" in the bankruptcy court. In Eyster v. Gaff, 91 U. S. 521, 23 L. ed. 403, in speaking of the effect of the adjudication in bankruptcy on the jurisdiction of the state court over a case commenced therein prior to the institution of bankruptcy proceedings, the court said: "The court in the case before us had acquired jurisdiction of the parties and of the subject-matter of the suit. It was competent to administer full justice, and was proceeding, according to the law which governed such a suit, to do so. It could not take judicial notice of the proceedings in bankruptcy in another court, however seriously they might have affected the rights of parties to the suit already pending. It was the duty of that court to proceed to a decree as between the parties before it, until by some proper pleadings in the case it was informed of the changed relations of any of those parties to the subject-matter of the suit."

After an adjudication in bankruptcy the state court is not bound to stay further proceedings therein. Hence if after verdict and before judgment the defendants are adjudicated bankrupts, and they thereafter file a suggestion of the fact and move that the proceedings be stayed, the court may deny such motion and direct the entry of a special judgment to enable the plaintiff to proceed against the sureties upon the bond to dissolve an attachment given more than four months before the bankruptcy. Rosenthal v. Nove, 175 Mass. 559, 56 N. E. 884, 78 Am. St. Rep. 512.

1. Bankr. Act (1898), § 11.

2. In re Geister, 97 Fed. 322, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 228.

3. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 130; Loveland Bankr. 76.

4. Frostman v. Hicks, 3 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 202, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 41.

Under the Act of 1867 it was stated that the application for a stay should be by a petition containing the title of the action, the court in which it is pending, the cause of action, and facts sufficient to show that it was founded upon a provable debt, and that the action was one that might properly be stayed. In re Rosenberg, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 14, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,054, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 103, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 236; In re Meyers, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 424, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,518, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 581; In re Reed, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,637, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 1, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 21, 24 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 196, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 1.

d. Power to Stay Discretionary. The power conferred by the Act[5] to stay a suit founded upon a provable debt is discretionary with the district court, and when exercised should not be interfered with unless it has been abused.[6]

e. Duration of Stay. It is provided that the pending suit may be stayed until after an adjudication[7] or the dismissal of the petition.[8] The stay is merely temporary for the purpose of enabling the bankrupt to plead his discharge in bankruptcy.[9]

f. Effect of Stay. The stay does not affect the state court nor does it operate as a bar to an action.[10]

D. Appellate Jurisdiction — 1. Of Circuit Courts of Appeals — a. To Review Both Law and Facts — (I) In General. The circuit courts of appeals of the United States, in conjunction with the supreme court of the United States and the supreme courts of the territories, in vacation in chambers and during their respective terms, as now or as they may be hereafter held, are invested with appellate jurisdiction of controversies arising in bankruptcy proceedings from the courts of bankruptcy from which they have appellate jurisdiction in other cases.[11]

(II) In What Cases Appeal May Be Taken. Appeals as in equity cases[12]

5. Bankr. Act (1898), § 11*a*.

6. In re Lesser, 99 Fed. 913, 40 C. C. A. 177, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 758, where it appeared that the only effect of the order staying proceedings in the state court would be to prevent the obtaining of information by an examination of an execution debtor in supplementary proceedings which was desired for the purpose of bringing a creditor's suit in equity. It was held that this was not sufficient reason for interference on the part of the circuit court of appeals with the exercise of the discretionary power by the district court. See also In re Holloway, 93 Fed. 638, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 659.

7. The term "adjudication" is defined in the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (2).

8. Bankr. Act (1898), § 11*a*.

If the person is adjudicated a bankrupt the action may be further stayed for a period of twelve months after the adjudication, "or, if within that time such person applies for a discharge, then until the question of such discharge is determined." Bankr. Act (1898), § 11*a*.

If the bankrupt is discharged there can be no further continuance of the suit, but if the bankruptcy court refuses a discharge the stay is terminated and the action may be continued without a formal order vacating the injunction. In re Belden, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 476, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,239, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 443; In re Thomas, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,890, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 38; Dingee v. Becker, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,919, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 508. See also Cox v. Dorwin, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 293, decided under the Act of 1867.

9. When discharge has been granted a stay should ordinarily be vacated as a matter of course upon the application of a creditor, in order that the validity of the discharge as against the creditor's debt may be duly tested in case the creditor should wish to litigate its application to his debt, and both parties should be remitted alike to their rights, remedies, and defenses under the law. In re Rosenthal, 108 Fed. 368, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 799.

10. The stay operates merely as a suspension of proceedings against a bankrupt until the question of bankruptcy or of the discharge is determined. If the petition in bankruptcy is dismissed, or if after an adjudication a discharge is refused, the court in which the suit is pending may proceed to such judgment as the circumstances of the case may require. Hill v. Harding, 107 U. S. 631, 2 S. Ct. 404, 27 L. ed. 493.

11. Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*a*.

This provision confers the same general appellate jurisdiction in respect to controversies arising in bankruptcy proceedings as is possessed by the circuit courts of appeals in respect to other proceedings arising in district and circuit courts. 26 U. S. Stat. at L. p. 826; Duncan v. Landis, 106 Fed. 839, 843, 45 C. C. A. 666, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 649, where the court held that there was nothing in the provisions of Bankr. Act (1898), § 24, inconsistent with, or superseding the provisions of section 6 of the act of March 3, 1891, establishing the circuit courts of appeals, and said: "There can be no doubt now, in view of this provision [Bankr. Act (1898), § 24] that inasmuch as the circuit courts of appeal have appellate jurisdiction over district courts in other cases, so, also, they have the same jurisdiction over those courts when acting as courts of bankruptcy. That a jury trial has been ordered under the provisions of section 19 of the bankrupt act does not remove the controversy from this appellate jurisdiction." See also In re Seebold, 105 Fed. 910, 45 C. C. A. 117, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 358; Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145 [dismissing petition for review of judgment in 95 Fed. 258, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 518.

12. Appeals as in equity.—The appeal is an may be taken in bankruptcy proceedings from the courts of bankruptcy to the circuit court of appeals of the United States, and to the supreme court of the territories, in the following cases: (1) from a judgment adjudging or refusing to adjudge the defendant a bankrupt;[13] (2) from a judgment granting or denying a discharge;[14] and (3) from a judgment allowing or rejecting a debt or claim[15] of five hundred dollars or over.[16] Such appeal must be taken within ten days appeal in equity which brings up for consideration both questions of fact and of law. Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145. An appeal as in equity necessarily involves the idea of the reëxamination by the appellate court of both the facts and the law of the case. Egan v. Hart, 165 U. S. 188, 17 S. Ct. 300, 41 L. ed. 680; Dower v. Richards, 151 U. S. 658, 14 S. Ct. 452, 38 L. ed. 305; Cunningham v. Neagle, 135 U. S. 1, 10 S. Ct. 658, 34 L. ed. 55; Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 100 Fed. 426, 40 C. C. A. 474, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 824.

Appeals in jury cases.— The question of the insolvency of the bankrupt is the only question involved in bankruptcy proceedings which is triable by a jury (Bankr. Act (1898), § 19*a*; and supra, II, A, 3), and if the bankrupt invokes the right to trial by jury a review of the rulings of the trial court must be by a writ of error to the circuit court of appeals. Knickerbocker Ins. Co. v. Comstock, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 258, 21 L. ed. 493; Duncan v. Landis, 106 Fed. 839, 45 C. C. A. 666, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 649. In such a case neither the appellate court nor the court below can review the facts. U. S. Const. art. 7, § 1; Parsons v. Bedford, 3 Pet. (U. S.) 433, 7 L. ed. 732. Compare Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 100 Fed. 426, 40 C. C. A. 474, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 824, where it was held that when there is an appeal under Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*a*, from an adjudication in involuntary bankruptcy by the district court, decided upon the issue as to whether an assignment for the benefit of creditors is an act of bankruptcy, that the method of procedure in the court of appeals is not in accordance with the rules which obtain in respect to the hearing of a writ of error to a judgment of law in cases where a jury is waived, but the appeal is in equity, involving a reëxamination of the facts as well as the law.

Decision or order must be a final one to warrant an appeal therefrom under Bankr. Act (1898), § 25. In re Russell, 101 Fed. 248, 41 C. C. A. 323, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 658. See also Goodman v. Brenner, 109 Fed. 481, 48 C. C. A. 516, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 470.

Where no prejudice has resulted to the appellant his appeal is without merit. In re McDuff, 101 Fed. 241, 41 C. C. A. 316, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 110; In re Lesser, 99 Fed. 913, 40 C. C. A. 177, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 758. See also Fisher v. Cushman, 103 Fed. 860, 43 C. C. A. 381, 51 L. R. A. 292, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 646; In re T. L. Kelly Dry-Goods Co., 102 Fed. 747, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528.

Reasonable exercise of judicial discretion will not be reviewed on appeal. In re Horgan, 98 Fed. 414, 39 C. C. A. 118, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 253 [affirming 97 Fed. 319].

Decisions not reviewable.— For illustrations of decisions held not to be reviewable under the appeal allowed by Bankr. Act (1898), § 25, see Goodman v. Brenner, 109 Fed. 481, 48 C. C. A. 516, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 470; Fisher v. Cushman, 103 Fed. 860, 43 C. C. A. 381, 51 L. R. A. 292, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 646; In re T. L. Kelly Dry-Goods Co., 102 Fed. 747, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528; In re Russell, 101 Fed. 248, 41 C. C. A. 323, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 658; In re McDuff, 101 Fed. 241, 41 C. C. A. 316, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 110; In re Lesser, 99 Fed. 913, 40 C. C. A. 177, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 758; In re Horgan, 98 Fed. 414, 39 C. C. A. 118, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 253.

13. In re Good, 99 Fed. 389, 39 C. C. A. 581, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605.

14. An order refusing confirmation of a composition tendered by the bankrupt and accepted by the requisite number of creditors has been held to be a proper subject of an appeal. U. S. v. Hammond, 104 Fed. 862, 44 C. C. A. 229, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 736 [distinguished in Ross v. Saunders, 105 Fed. 915, 45 C. C. A. 123, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 350, where, upon an application to confirm a composition, no creditors appeared formally in opposition, but the trustee, as such, appeared and opposed such confirmation, and where such confirmation was refused and an appeal was taken by the bankrupt against the trustee and citation issued to such trustee and to no other person, it was held that there were no proper parties before the circuit court of appeals and that the appeal must therefore be dismissed]. See also infra, XIV, C, 4.

15. The word "claim" means a money demand, the same as "debt," and was used in this subdivision in connection with that word, not to enlarge, but to render certain. In re Whitener, 105 Fed. 180, 44 C. C. A. 434, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 198.

16. Allowance of an attorney's fee exceeding the amount of five hundred dollars may be reviewed. In re Roche, 101 Fed. 956, 42 C. C. A. 115, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369; In re Curtis, 100 Fed. 784, 41 C. C. A. 59, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17.

An appeal from a territorial district court in a matter in bankruptcy will not lie to the territorial supreme court from a judgment allowing or rejecting a debt or claim of less than five hundred dollars. Ex p. Stumpff, 9 Okla. 639, 60 Pac. 96, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 267.

Exercise of its summary jurisdiction by a bankruptcy court, adjudging the amount due on a secured claim, may be reviewed on ap-after the judgment appealed from has been rendered, and may be heard and determined by the appellate court in term or vacation, as the case may be.[17]

(III) Manner of Taking Appeal. Appeals from a court of bankruptcy to a circuit court of appeals must be allowed by a judge of the court appealed from[18] or of the court appealed to, and shall be regulated, except as otherwise provided by the Act, by the rules governing appeals in the courts of the United States.[19]

(IV) Time For Taking Appeal. It is prescribed that an appeal shall be taken within ten days after the judgment appealed from has been rendered.[20]

peal. In re Roche, 101 Fed. 956, 42 C. C. A. 115, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369.

Question as to priority of claim.—Congress having specifically provided, in Bankr. Act (1898), § 25, for an appeal with reference to proofs of debts exceeding five hundred dollars, on which appeal all questions are open to the appellate tribunal, and having also provided [§ 24*b*] that, for all matters of administration which concern the relations to each other of the different interests in the estate, the action of the bankruptcy court shall be revised only in matters of law, the courts are not at liberty to disregard the distinction so created; and, where an order allowing the proving of a claim also determines its priority, the former part of the order is appealable, but the latter part can only be reviewed on a petition for revision. In re Worcester County, 102 Fed. 808, 42 C. C. A. 637, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 496.

Question as to rank of lien.—Under Bankr. Act (1898), § 25 (3), which gives a right of appeal "from a judgment allowing or rejecting a debt or claim of five hundred dollars or over," such an appeal includes as an incident any question as to the rank or lien of such debt or claim in the distribution of the bankrupt's estate; at least, where such question is one of controverted fact and law. Cunningham v. German Ins. Bank, 103 Fed. 932, 43 C. C. A. 377, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 192. Under the provision of the Bankruptcy Act that an appeal may be taken from a judgment of the court of bankruptcy allowing or rejecting a debt or claim of five hundred dollars or over, when a creditor proving his debt in bankruptcy claims a lien on property of the bankrupt the question of the lien asserted is an incident to the allowance or rejection of the debt, and may therefore be reviewed on an appeal from an order allowing or rejecting the debt; and such an appeal brings up both questions of law and fact. See also Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183.

17. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*a*.

18. Writ of mandamus will be allowed compelling a judge of a court of bankruptcy to allow an appeal; the fact that an application for an appeal may also be made to a judge of the court of appeals is not a sufficient objection to the allowance of such a writ. U. S. v. Gomez, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 752, 18 L. ed. 212; U. S. v. Hammond, 104 Fed. 862, 44 C. C. A. 229, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 736. And see Sage v. Iowa Cent. R. Co., 93 U. S. 412, 23 L. ed. 933.

19. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 36, par. 1. See also, generally, Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 474.

Petition and bond.— An appeal is properly taken by presenting a petition therefor, either to the judge of the court of bankruptcy or one of the judges of the circuit court of appeals. Such petition must be accompanied with an assignment of errors and an appeal-bond. Cir. Ct. App. Rules, No. 11 [90 Fed. cxlvi]. An appeal-bond is an essential for the prosecution of an appeal, although an appeal may be taken without such bond. Dodge v. Knowles, 114 U. S. 436, 5 S. Ct. 1108, 1197, 29 L. ed. 296; The Dos Hermanos, 10 Wheat. (U. S.) 306, 6 L. ed. 328. But trustees need not give bonds. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*c*.

Assignment of errors.— While an appellant may not demand as a matter of right that the circuit court of appeals should entertain a question which is not properly raised by a specific assignment of error, the court may, in its discretion, notice a plain error, although it is not assigned. Boonville Nat. Bank v. Blakey, 107 Fed. 891, 47 C. C. A. 431, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 13.

Record.— Where a referee in bankruptcy on petition of a party desiring a review by the judge of an order made by him, in accordance with the requirements of Bankr. Act (1898), § 39 (5) and U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 27 [32 C. C. A. xxvii, 89 Fed. xi], has certified to the judge the question presented, "a summary of the evidence relating thereto, and the finding and order of the referee thereon," and the matter has been heard and determined by the judge on the record so made, the original evidence before the referee is no part of the record in the court, and cannot be required to be included in the transcript on an appeal from its decision. Cunningham v. German Ins. Bank, 103 Fed. 932, 43 C. C. A. 377, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 192.

20. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*a*.

The limitation of time prescribed refers only to decrees or orders in bankruptcy proceedings, and to the appeals mentioned therein, and has no application to collateral suits for the recovery of the bankrupt's assets (Boonville Nat. Bank v. Blakey, 107 Fed. 891, 47 C. C. A. 43, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 13; Steele v. Buel, 104 Fed. 968, 44 C. C. A. 287, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165), and has no

The general rule is that where the time for taking an appeal is prescribed by statute there can be no extension.[21] The number of days within which an appeal is to be taken is to be computed by excluding the first and including the last, unless the last fall on a Sunday or a holiday,[22] in which event the day last included shall be the next day thereafter which is not a Sunday or a legal holiday.[23] The time begins to run from the date of the entry or filing of the judgment, decree, or order appealed from.[24] While it has been determined that an appeal is not taken within the meaning of this section[25] until the petition and allowance of appeal (where there is such a petition and allowance) and the appeal-bond and citation are presented to and filed in the court which made the decree appealed from,[26] there are, however, cases holding that the failure to issue a citation,[27] or to give an appeal-bond[28] within ten days is not necessarily a fatal defect.

(v) Who May Take an Appeal. The general rule is that where an appeal lies from any judgment or decree, the same may be taken by any party or person injured or affected by the decree or judgment. It has accordingly been held that since the Bankruptcy Act is silent as to the party who may take an appeal on the allowance or disallowance of a claim against a bankrupt's estate, any creditor who is directly interested in the judgment complained of may appeal therefrom.[29] It has also been held that an appeal from the allowance of a claim by reference to a petition for a review (In re New York Economical Printing Co., 106 Fed. 989, 45 C. C. A. 691, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 697). Compare In re Wright, 96 Fed. 820, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 184, where it is held that when the district court, in a controversy between a trustee in bankruptcy and a creditor of the estate, has rendered a decree on the merits adverse to the trustee, and the latter, without culpable neglect, has lost his right of appealing therefrom by the expiration of the time limited by Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*a*, the district court may grant a rehearing, on his petition filed thereafter, for the purpose of reviving his right of appeal.

21. Credit Co. v. Arkansas Cent. R. Co., 128 U. S. 258, 9 S. Ct. 107, 32 L. ed. 448; Wood v. Bailey, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 640, 22 L. ed. 689.

But where, because of a mistake in the choice of remedies, a party omitted to take an appeal within the statutory time, the United States supreme court held that the district court might grant a review of the decree so as to enable the party to take an appeal in time. Stickney v. Wilt, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 150, 23 L. ed. 50, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 97.

22. A holiday is either Christmas, the fourth of July, the twenty-second of February, or any day appointed by the president of the United States or the congress of the United States as a holiday or as a day of public fasting or thanksgiving. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (14).

23. Bankr. Act (1898), § 31.

24. In re Worcester County, 102 Fed. 808, 42 C. C. A. 637, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 496. See also Aspen Min., etc., Co. v. Billings, 150 U. S. 31, 14 S. Ct. 4, 37 L. ed. 986; Radford v. Folsom, 123 U. S. 725, 8 S. Ct. 334, 31 L. ed. 292; Del Valle v. Harrison, 93 U. S. 233, 23 L. ed. 892; Providence Rubber Co. v. Goodyear, 6 Wall. (U. S.) 153, 18 L. ed. 762; Andrews v. Thum, 64 Fed. 149, 21 U. S. App. 459, 12 C. C. A. 77.

25. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*a*.

26. Norcross v. Nave, etc., Mercantile Co., 101 Fed. 796, 42 C. C. A. 29, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 317, where it appeared that none of the papers mentioned in the text were filed within the ten days except the appeal-bond. The court held that the presumption that might arise from the filing and approval of the bond does not obtain when the record affirmatively discloses that there was a prayer for the appeal, and its allowance, and a citation, none of which were filed in the court until after the expiration of the ten days allowed to perfect the appeal. See also Fowler v. Hamill, 139 U. S. 549, 11 S. Ct. 663, 35 L. ed. 266; Farrar v. Churchill, 135 U. S. 609, 10 S. Ct. 771, 34 L. ed. 246; Credit Co. v. Arkansas Cent. R. Co., 128 U. S. 258, 9 S. Ct. 107, 32 L. ed. 448.

27. Green v. Elbert, 137 U. S. 615, 11 S. Ct. 188, 34 L. ed. 792; Richardson v. Green, 130 U. S. 104, 9 S. Ct. 443, 32 L. ed. 872; Hewitt v. Filbert, 116 U. S. 142, 6 S. Ct. 319, 29 L. ed. 581.

28. Dodge v. Knowles, 114 U. S. 436, 5 S. Ct. 1108, 1197, 29 L. ed. 296; The Dos Hermanos, 10 Wheat. (U. S.) 306, 6 L. ed. 328.

29. In re Roche, 101 Fed. 956, 42 C. C. A. 115, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369. This case seems to have been followed in McDaniel v. Stroud, 106 Fed. 486, 45 C. C. A. 446, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 685, where it appeared that the trustee, for no other reason than that the matter did not concern him, so conducted himself as not only to deprive the dissatisfied creditors of the use of his name, but to prevent them from appealing to the court for an order compelling this use; an appeal was brought in this case in the name of the creditors, which was subsequently supplemented by an order providing that the case the district court can only be taken by the trustee as the representative of all the creditors, and that where the trustee upon the request of a creditor refuses to take an appeal the district court may direct an appeal by the trustee or permit a creditor to appeal in the name of such trustee.[30]

(VI) Disposition of Appeal. As in ordinary appeals in equity cases the circuit court of appeals may review the facts as well as the law of the case,[31] and affirm or reverse the judgment,[32] or grant such other relief as may be proper in such cases.[33] be conducted in the name of the trustee in connection with such creditors, and that the record be amended to that extent. It was held that the matter was thus properly brought within the consideration of the appellate court. See also In re Meyer, 98 Fed. 976, 39 C. C. A. 368, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559 [affirming 92 Fed. 896], discussing the right of creditors, who appear in opposition to a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against their debtor and contest the adjudication, to appeal from the decree making the adjudication; also the right of an assignee for the benefit of creditors to appeal from the decree of a district court adjudging his assignor a bankrupt, where the act of bankruptcy charged is a general assignment for the benefit of creditors.

But see under Bankr. Act (1867), § 6, the following cases: In re Troy Woolen Co., 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 191, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,202; In re Place, 8 Blatchf. (U. S.) 302, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,200, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 218, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 451; In re Joseph, 2 Woods (U. S.) 390, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,532.

30. Chatfield v. O'Dwyer, 101 Fed. 797, 799, 42 C. C. A. 30, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 313. The court in this case stated as one of the reasons for its decision: "If one creditor of a bankrupt may prosecute an appeal, under section 25 of the bankrupt law, from the allowance of a claim, then any other creditor may take a like appeal upon the same or different grounds, and this court may be required to entertain a number of appeals, all of which are brought to test the validity of the same demand. In a case which arose under the old bankrupt law [In re Randall, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 56, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,552] Judge Deady pointed out very clearly the evil results which would follow if every factious creditor was allowed to litigate individually and in his own name the claims of other creditors, without the sanction or approval of the assignee or the bankrupt court." See also Foreman v. Burleigh, 109 Fed. 313, 48 C. C. A. 376, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 230, where the court states that in the case of In re Roche, 101 Fed. 956, 42 C. C. A. 115, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369, the question here involved was given but slight consideration, because it was complicated with another proposition upon which the decision might clearly have turned, as it appears in the decision of that case that the creditor bringing the appeal had a special lien on the sum in the hands of the trustee, and further declares that the case turned on such fact, and what appears in that decision beyond that is dictum.

31. Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 100 Fed. 426, 40 C. C. A. 474, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 824. See also supra, note 12; and compare Duncan v. Landis, 106 Fed. 839, 45 C. C. A. 666, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 649.

32. Thus where, on appeal from a final order of the district court granting a discharge to a bankrupt, no assignment of errors is filed in such court, as required by rule 11 of the circuit courts of appeal [31 C. C. A. cxlvi, 90 Fed. cxlvi], the judgment of the district court will be affirmed. In re Dunning, 94 Fed. 709, 36 C. C. A. 437; Lloyd v. Chapman, 93 Fed. 599, 35 C. C. A. 474.

Compare also In re Rome Planing-Mill Co., 99 Fed. 937, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 766, holding that where a petition in involuntary bankruptcy is referred to a referee in bankruptcy to find and report on the question whether the respondent was solvent or insolvent at the date of the alleged act of bankruptcy, his conclusion, based on the examination of witnesses as to the extent of the respondent's liabilities and the value of his property, will not be set aside by the court on review, unless plainly contrary to the evidence.

33. Dismissal.— An appeal from an order of a court of bankruptcy allowing a claim, although taken in the name of other creditors, will not be dismissed where the trustee refused to allow the use of his name when the time for taking the appeal had so nearly expired that it was impossible to obtain an order requiring him to consent in time, and where the district court subsequently made an order that the appeal taken should be continued in the name of the trustee in connection with the appealing creditors. McDaniel v. Stroud, 106 Fed. 486, 45 C. C. A. 446, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 685.

Petition for revision in lieu of appeal.— Where an appeal from an order of the district court in bankruptcy was allowed by the judge thereof, and all parties concerned had due and actual notice, and the record brought up presents all the facts in issue and the action of the court thereon, but the order in question was not appealable, the circuit court of appeals may permit the appellant, in lieu of his appeal, to file a petition for revision of the proceedings in the district court, and on due notice thereof to parties entitled proceed in the exercise of its revisory jurisdiction, or may under special circumstances consider the case on its merits in like manner as if a formal petition had been presented

b. To Superintend and Revise in Matter of Law — (i) Statutory Provision.[34] The several circuit courts of appeals[35] have jurisdiction in equity, either interlocutory or final, to superintend and revise[36] in matter of law[37] the proceed-and due notice thereof given. In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266.

34. Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*b*.

35. Provision does not apply to supreme courts of the territories. Ex p. Stumpff, 9 Okla. 639, 60 Pac. 96, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 267. But compare In re Blair, 106 Fed. 662, 45 C. C. A. 530, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 793. See also infra, note 38.

36. This supervisory jurisdiction only extends over bankruptcy proceedings strictly so-called, that is, those which are initiated by the petition and end in the distribution of assets among creditors, and the discharge or refusal of discharge of the bankrupt. Lowell Bankr. 419; In re Jacobs, 99 Fed. 539, 39 C. C. A. 647, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671. The corresponding section in the Bankruptcy Act of 1867 [U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 4986] is construed and explained in Lathrop v. Drake, 91 U. S. 516, 23 L. ed. 414; Sandusky v. Indianapolis First Nat. Bank, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 289, 23 L. ed. 155; Coit v. Robinson, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 274, 22 L. ed. 152; Marshall v. Knox, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 551, 21 L. ed. 481; Morgan v. Thornhill, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 65, 20 L. ed. 60. It does not extend to suits brought in the district court by the trustee in bankruptcy against third persons (In re Jacobs, 99 Fed. 539, 39 C. C. A. 647, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671), or to a case where there is a trial of a question of insolvency by a jury (Duncan v. Landis, 106 Fed. 839, 45 C. C. A. 666, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 649 [citing Parsons v. Bedford, 3 Pet. (U. S.) 433, 7 L. ed. 732], or to a judgment adjudicating a person bankrupt (In re Good, 99 Fed. 389, 39 C. C. A. 581, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605). And see also Knickerbocker Ins. Co. v. Comstock, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 258, 21 L. ed. 493).

Review of orders of circuit court.— In In re Seebold, 105 Fed. 910, 45 C. C. A. 117, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 358, the circuit court of appeals entertained a petition to review an order of the circuit court denying an application on the part of the bankrupt's trustee to compel the sheriff of the state court to turn over to such trustee the proceeds obtained under an execution sale. The editor of the American Bankruptcy Reports in his note to this case calls attention to the fact that the statute contains no provision conferring authority or jurisdiction upon circuit courts in original proceedings in bankruptcy, and states that "apparently the only jurisdiction which the circuit court obtains in any proceeding relating to bankruptcy is in suits brought by the trustee, or by reason of diversity of citizenship, such court has general jurisdiction over such kind of litigation." In the case cited it would appear that, the parties not objecting, it was assumed by the court that the action sought to be reviewed was the action of a court of bankruptcy. It may be therefore that the case cited will not be controlling on this point.

37. Matters of law.— This section is intended to provide a summary way of reviewing the orders of bankruptcy courts upon questions of law but does not contemplate any review of the facts. Fisher v. Cushman, 103 Fed. 860, 43 C. C. A. 381, 51 L. R. A. 292, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 646; In re Eggert, 102 Fed. 735, 43 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 449; Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183; In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145; In re Rouse, 91 Fed. 96, 63 U. S. App. 570, 33 C. C. A. 356, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 234. See also In re Seebold, 105 Fed. 910, 45 C. C. A. 117, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 358; In re Purvine, 96 Fed. 192, 37 C. C. A. 446, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 787; In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266.

A distinction is thus made between the review prescribed by Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*b*, and that by the following section. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25, provides for the review of both questions of law and fact. In re Worcester County, 102 Fed. 808, 42 C. C. A. 637, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 496. If a party, doubtful whether his remedy is under section 24 or section 25, undertakes to avail himself of both, one does not necessarily neutralize the other, because in contemplation of law no substantial injury is thereby done to the party appealed against. In re Worcester County, 102 Fed. 808, 42 C. C. A. 637, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 496.

A decision, though not final, may be reviewed on a petition under Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*b*. In re Russell, 101 Fed. 248, 41 C. C. A. 323, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 658.

An order allowing or rejecting a lien claimed may be reviewed on a petition for review, but only as to matter of law. Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183.

Exercise of reasonable discretion by the district court is not reviewable on petition for review under Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*b*. In re Lesser, 99 Fed. 913, 40 C. C. A. 177, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 758.

The fact that an appeal is taken in bankruptcy proceedings, and a petition for revision also filed, both relating to the same subject-matter, does not defeat the right to have the matter determined on the merits in whichever proceeding is held to be appropriate. Fisher v. Cushman, 103 Fed. 860, 43 C. C. A. 381, 51 L. R. A. 292, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 646.

ings of the several inferior courts of bankruptcy within their jurisdiction.[38] Such power shall be exercised upon due notice and petition[39] by any party aggrieved.[40]

(II) PETITION—(A) Requisites. The petition for revision should, with reasonable clearness, show the action of the court which it seeks to have revised in matter of law.[41] Such petition should be accompanied by a certified copy of so much of the record as will exhibit the manner in which the question of law arose and its determination.[42] It has been held that an appeal may, in proper cases, be treated as a petition for revision.[43]

(B) Time of Presentation. The Act does not fix the time for presenting a petition for a review, but it has been held that such time is limited by analogy to the six months allowed by statute for taking appeals generally in the circuit court of appeals.[44] In another case it has been held that since neither the stat-

38. The words "within their jurisdiction" relate to territorial limits and confine the circuit court of appeals in the exercise of its supervisory jurisdiction to the revision of proceedings of a court of bankruptcy within its circuit. In re Seebold, 105 Fed. 910, 45 C. C. A. 117, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 358. Such words refer to existing appellate jurisdiction and should be construed as if the phrase read "within their appellate jurisdiction." While the United States courts having original jurisdiction in the Indian Territory are inferior courts of bankruptcy within the meaning of such section, they are not within the jurisdiction, either territorial or appellate, of the United States circuit court of appeals for the eighth judicial circuit, and appeals from the territorial bankruptcy courts can only be had to a court of appeals for the territory, and the only appellate jurisdiction vested in the circuit court of appeals for the eighth circuit is on writ of error and appeal from such court of appeals. In re Stumpff, 9 Okla. 639, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 267; In re Blair, 106 Fed. 662, 45 C. C. A. 530, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 793.

39. See infra, II, D, 1, b, (II).

40. Parties.— Upon a petition for revision the persons whose names appear in the petition of the trustee as creditors of the bankrupt, and whose names do not otherwise appear upon the record, are not necessary parties. Since they are represented by the trustee in the proceedings in the court below, they must be deemed to be sufficiently represented by him in the proceeding for a revision in the court of appeals. In re Utt, 105 Fed. 754, 45 C. C. A. 32, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383; Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183.

41. In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266 [reversed, on other grounds, in Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 21 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623]. See also In re Steuer, 104 Fed. 976, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 209; Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145.

The value of the matter or thing concerning which an appeal is sought need not be alleged in the petition. In re Rouse, 91 Fed. 96, 63 U. S. App. 570, 33 C. C. A. 356, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 234. See also In re Clark, 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 379, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,802, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 410.

42. Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145, where it was held that the question of law so presented is the only question that can properly be ruled upon by the court upon an original petition; and that where a petition states no such question but simply charges that the decision of the court below was erroneous upon the facts as well as upon the law it is defective.

U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 36 provides that "appeals from a court of bankruptcy to a circuit court of appeals, or to the supreme court of a territory, shall be allowed by a judge of the court appealed from or of the court appealed to, and shall be regulated, except as otherwise provided in the act, by the rules governing appeals in equity in the courts of the United States." An application of this General Order requires petitions for review to be expressed as provided in U. S. Equity Rules, No. 26, which rule states that "every bill shall be expressed in as brief and succinct terms as it reasonably can be, and shall contain no unnecessary recital of deeds, contracts, or other instruments in hæc verba, or any impertinent matter, or any scandalous matter not pertinent to the suit." The application of this Equity Rule, however, does not affect the requirement that a petition to review should present in some way enough of the tenor of the record in the district court to enable the circuit court of appeals to perceive the issue of law which is sought to be raised. In re Baker, 104 Fed. 287, 43 C. C. A. 536, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 778.

43. In re Whitener, 105 Fed. 180, 44 C. C. A. 434, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 198 (where it is held, however, that an appeal taken to the circuit court of appeals from a judgment of a court of bankruptcy, which was not appealable, cannot be treated as a petition in equity for revision in matter of law, under Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*b*, where the questions presented for review all involve matters of fact); In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266. Compare In re Steuer, 104 Fed. 976, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 209.

44. In re Worcester County, 102 Fed. 808, ute nor the rules limit the time within which such petition should be filed a motion to dismiss will not be entertained unless there has been unreasonable delay.[45]

(c) To What Court Made. In analogy to the rule prescribed for allowing appeals and the practice of allowing writs of error in cases at law, the petition for revision may be presented to and allowed by a judge of a court of bankruptcy, or any one of the judges of the circuit court of appeals.[46]

2. Of the United States Supreme Court — a. Appeals From Courts of Bankruptcy. The supreme court of the United States is invested with appellate jurisdiction of controversies arising in bankruptcy proceedings from the courts of bankruptcy from which they have appellate jurisdiction in other cases.[47]

b. Appeals From Circuit Courts of Appeals. From any final decision of a court of appeals allowing or rejecting a claim under the Bankruptcy Act, an appeal may be had under such rules and within such time as may be prescribed by the supreme court of the United States, in the following cases and no other: (1) where the amount in controversy exceeds the sum of two thousand dollars,[48]

42 C. C. A. 637, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 496. But see In re Good, 99 Fed. 389, 39 C. C. A. 581, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605, where the court seems to infer that the supervisory jurisdiction of the circuit court of appeals is limited and governed by Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*a*, to the effect that an appeal may be taken to such court within ten days after the judgment appealed from is rendered. In another case in the same circuit it was held that the limitation of ten days prescribed in section 25 within which an appeal must be taken applies only to appeals in the three classes of cases mentioned therein. Steele v. Buel, 104 Fed. 968, 44 C. C. A. 287, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165. See also Boonville Nat. Bank v. Blakey, 107 Fed. 891, 47 C. C. A. 43, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 13.

45. In re New York Economical Printing Co., 106 Fed. 989, 45 C. C. A. 691, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 697.

In construing a similar provision of the Act of 1867, in Troy First Nat. Bank v. Cooper, 20 Wall. (U. S.) 171, 22 L. ed. 273, Mr. Justice Strong said: "It is true their bill was not filed in the circuit court until about four months and a half after the order complained of was made. But the Act of Congress prescribes no time within which the application for a review must be presented. An appeal is required to be taken within ten days. Not so with a petition or bill for a review. Undoubtedly the application should be made within a reasonable time, in order that the proceedings to settle the bankrupt's estate may not be delayed, but neither the Act of Congress nor any rule of this court determines what that time is. At present therefore, it must be left to depend upon the circumstances of each case. Perhaps, generally, it should be fixed in analogy to the period designated within which appeals must be taken." Littlefield v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 3 Cliff. (U. S.) 371, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,400, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 257. See also Sweatt v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 3 Cliff. (U. S.) 339, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,684, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 234; Baldwin v. Raplee, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 802, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 19.

46. In re Abraham, 93 Fed. 767, 35 C. C. A. 592, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266. But in Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 702, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183, the court says: "Under section 24 the jurisdiction is not exercised under an appeal, but upon an original petition filed in this court by any person aggrieved by the decision or order complained of." And in In re Williams, 105 Fed. 906, 907, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 198 note, Hammond, J., says: "Neither the Supreme Court nor the Court of Appeals has seen fit to regulate the practice by rules prescribed for the purpose, and it seems plain to me that it would be an impertinent usurpation for the district court or judge to assume any function or authority in that behalf; and this notwithstanding the analogy suggested in Re Abraham."

47. Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*a*.

The jurisdiction thus conferred permits the supreme court to entertain appeals from any of the courts of bankruptcy where, under the general law, an appeal would lie in cases other than controversies in bankruptcy proceedings. 26 U. S. Stat. at L. 826, which authorizes appeals or writs of error to be taken from the district courts or from the existing circuit courts directly to the supreme court in certain cases. The cases mentioned in such section which may be applicable to controversies in bankruptcy are those (1) in which the jurisdiction of the court is in issue; (2) in which the construction or application of the United States constitution is involved; (3) in which the constitutionality of any law of the United States is drawn into question; and (4) in which the constitution or law of a state is claimed to be in contravention of the constitution of the United States. Such court is expressly authorized to exercise an appellate jurisdiction in respect to controversies arising in bankruptcy proceedings from courts of bankruptcy not within any organized circuit of the United States, and from the supreme court of the District of Columbia. Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*a*. See also, generally, Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 474.

48. Amount in controversy.— An appeal from the final decision of the circuit court of and the question involved is one which might have been taken on appeal or writ of error from the highest court of a state to the supreme court of the United States;[49] or (2) where some justice of the supreme court of the United States shall certify that in his opinion the determination of the question or questions involved in the allowance or rejection of such claim is essential to a uniform construction of the Act throughout the United States.[50]

c. Review of Cases From Other Courts of the United States. Controversies may be certified[51] to the supreme court of the United States from other courts of the United States, and the former court may exercise jurisdiction thereof and issue writs of certiorari[52] in pursuance of the provisions of the United States laws now in force or which may hereafter be enacted.

d. Appeals From State Courts. By the Bankruptcy Act the supreme court of the United States has appellate jurisdiction of controversies in bankruptcy proceedings.[53] The jurisdiction here conferred is frequently exercised in the consideration of cases removed to such court by a writ of error to the highest courts of the states. The cases in which the supreme court may review judgments of such state courts are prescribed by statute.[54] appeals under Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*b* (1), cannot be had unless the amount in controversy exceeds the sum of two thousand dollars. The supreme court in considering language somewhat similar to this has stated that the matter in controversy must be either money or some right, the value of which in money can be calculated and ascertained. Barry v. Mercein, 5 How. (U. S.) 103, 12 L. ed. 70. See also APPEAL AND ERROR, III, C [2 Cyc. 542].

49. Questions considered on appeal.— Not only must the amount involved in the controversy exceed two thousand dollars, but the question involved must be one which might have been taken on appeal or writ of error from the highest court of a state to the supreme court of the United States. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*b* (1). The use of the words "on appeal" in this clause is probably an inadvertence, since it is only possible to remove cases from the highest court of a state to the supreme court upon a writ of error. Brandenburg Bankr. 383; Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 251. See U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 709.

50. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*b* (2).

Certification of questions.— This provision of the present Act [Bankr. Act (1898), § 26*b* (2)] is supplementary to the certification of questions to the supreme court from the circuit court of appeals authorized by the Circuit Court of Appeals Act of 1891 [26 U. S. Stat. at L. 826]. See also, generally, APPEAL AND ERROR, V, B, 4, t [2 Cyc. 751]; McHenry v. Alford, 168 U. S. 651, 18 S. Ct. 242, 42 L. ed. 614; Warner v. New Orleans, 167 U. S. 467, 17 S. Ct. 892, 42 L. ed. 239.

51. Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*d*. This provision applies the rules and statutes regulating the certification of controversies involved in ordinary proceedings to controversies arising in bankruptcy cases. In addition to the certificate from the circuit court of appeals, which has already been referred to [see supra, II, D, 2, b], the Circuit Court of Appeals Act of 1891 authorizes a certificate from a circuit or district court with reference to the jurisdiction of either of them. 26 U. S. Stat. at L. 826. See also Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163, for application of this principle.

52. Writs of certiorari.—Bankr. Act (1898), § 25*d*. The power thus conferred with respect to controversies in bankruptcy proceedings is similar to that possessed in respect to other cases. The general power of granting such writs for the purpose of removing cases from the circuit courts of appeals to be reviewed by the supreme court is conferred by the Circuit Court of Appeals Act of 1891. 26 U. S. Stat. at L. 826. By this statute it is made competent in all cases where judgments or decrees of the circuit court of appeals are final for the supreme court to require by certiorari or otherwise any such case to be certified to the supreme court for its review and determination, with the same power and authority in the case as if it had been carried by writ of error or appeal to such court. The granting of this writ is discretionary with the supreme court, and it will not be used unless the matter involved is one of great importance and of general interest. Forsyth v. Hammond, 166 U. S. 506, 17 S. Ct. 665, 41 L. ed. 1095; American Constr. Co. v. Jacksonville, etc., R. Co., 148 U. S. 372, 13 S. Ct. 758, 37 L. ed. 486; Ex p. Woods, 143 U. S. 202, 12 S. Ct. 417, 36 L. ed. 125.

53. Bankr. Act (1898), § 24*a*.

54. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 709.

Among the cases specified in which a judgment of a state court respecting bankruptcy may be reviewed are: (1) where it affects the validity of the Bankruptcy Act; (2) where it sustains a statute which is claimed to be repugnant to the United States constitution, or some provision of the Bankruptcy Act, or (3) where it is against the right, title, privilege, or immunity claimed by a person under some provision of the Bankruptcy Act. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 242. Among the cases in bankruptcy where judgments of state courts have been reviewed by the supreme court are: Forsyth v. Vehmeyer,

e. Time and Manner of Taking Appeal. Both the time[55] and manner of taking an appeal to the supreme court of the United States under the Bankruptcy Act have been regulated by rules of court.[56]

III. CLERKS, MARSHALS, RECEIVERS, AND REFEREES.

A. Clerks — 1. Definition. The term "clerk" as used in the Act means the clerk of the court of bankruptcy.[57]

2. Duties — a. As to Accounts. The clerk is required to account for, as for other fees received by him, the clerk's fee paid in each case, and such other fees as may be received for certified copies of records which may be prepared for persons other than officers.[58]

b. As to Attesting Process. All process, summons, and subpœnas must issue out of the court, under the seal thereof, and be tested by the clerk.[59]

c. As to Checks and Warrants. No moneys deposited as required by the Act can be drawn from the depositary unless by check or warrant signed by the clerk or by a trustee and countersigned by the judge of the court or by a referee designated for that purpose, or by the clerk or his assistant under an order made by the judge stating the date, the sum, and the account for which it is drawn.[60]

d. As to Collection of Fees. The clerk must collect the fees of the clerk,[61] referee,[62] and trustee[63] in each case instituted, before the filing of the petition, except the petition of a proposed voluntary bankrupt which is accompanied by an affidavit[64] stating that the petitioner is without and cannot obtain the money with which to pay such fees.[65]

e. As to Delivery of Papers to Referee. The clerks must deliver to the referees upon application all papers which may be referred to them, or if the offices of such referees are not in the same cities or towns as the offices of such 177 U. S. 177, 20 S. Ct. 623, 44 L. ed. 723, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 807; Williams v. Heard, 140 U. S. 529, 11 S. Ct. 885, 35 L. ed. 550; Palmer v. Hussey, 119 U. S. 96, 7 S. Ct. 158, 30 L. ed. 362; Strang v. Bradner, 114 U. S. 555, 5 S. Ct. 1038, 29 L. ed. 248; Hennequin v. Clews, 111 U. S. 676, 4 S. Ct. 576, 28 L. ed. 565; Hill v. Harding, 107 U. S. 631, 2 S. Ct. 404, 27 L. ed. 493; O'Brien v. Weld, 92 U. S. 81, 23 L. ed. 675.

55. Time of taking.— Appeals under the Act to the supreme court of the United States from a circuit court of appeals, or from the supreme court of a territory, or from the supreme court of the District of Columbia, or from any court of bankruptcy whatever, shall be taken within thirty days after the judgment or decree and shall be allowed by a judge of the court appealed from, or by a justice of the supreme court. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 36, par. 2.

56. Manner of taking.— In every case in which either party is entitled by the Act to take an appeal to the supreme court of the United States, the court from which the appeal lies shall, at or before the time of entering its judgment or decree, make and file a finding of facts, and its conclusions of law thereon, stated separately; and the record transmitted to the supreme court of the United States on such an appeal shall consist only of the pleadings, the judgment or decree, the finding of facts, and the conclusions of law. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 36, par. 3.

57. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (5), supra, note 8, p. 238.

The term "officer," when so used, includes the clerk. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (18), supra, note 8, p. 238.

58. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (1).

Under the Act of 1867 it was made the duty of the clerk to account for moneys received. See rule 28 of General Orders in Bankruptcy, adopted under that Act.

59. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 3.

Blanks with the signature of the clerk and seal of the court may upon application be furnished to the referees. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 3.

60. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 29.

An entry of the substance of such check or warrant, with the date thereof, the sum drawn for, and the account for which it is drawn shall be forthwith made in a book kept for that purpose by the trustee or his clerk; and all checks and drafts shall be entered in the order of time in which they are drawn, and shall be numbered in the case of each estate. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 29.

61. Fee of clerk is fixed by Bankr. Act (1898), § 52*a*. See also infra, III, A, 3.

62. Fee of referee is fixed by Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*a*. See also infra, III, D, 6.

63. Fee of trustee is fixed by Bankr. Act (1898), § 48*a*. See also infra, XII, G.

64. As to affidavit stating that the petitioner is without and cannot obtain money with which to pay fees see infra, III, D, 6, a.

65. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (2).

clerks, transmit such papers by mail, and in like manner return papers which were received from such referees after they have been used.[66]

f. As to Docket. The clerk must keep a docket in which the cases shall be entered and numbered in the order in which they are commenced. It should contain a memorandum of the filing of the petition and of the action of the court thereon, of the reference of the case to the referee, and of the transmission by him to the clerk of his certified record of the proceedings, with the dates thereof, and a memorandum of all proceedings in the case except those duly entered on the referee's certified record aforesaid.[67]

g. As to Filing Papers. The clerk or the referee must indorse on each paper filed[68] with him the day and the hour of filing and a brief statement of its character.[69]

h. As to Payment of Fees. Clerks must, within ten days after each case has been closed,[70] pay to the referee, if the case has been referred, the fee collected for him, and to the trustee the fee collected for him at the time of the filing of the petition.[71]

3. Compensation. Clerks respectively receive as full compensation for their services to each estate[72] a filing fee of ten dollars,[73] except when a fee is not required from a voluntary bankrupt.[74]

B. Marshals[75] — 1. Duties. Marshals are required to serve such writs and processes as are directed to them.[76] When necessary for the preservation of estates the court may require the marshal to take charge of the property of bankrupts after the filing of the petition and until it is dismissed or the trustee has

66. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (3).

Clerk must deliver personally or send by mail to the referee a copy of the order of reference. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, par. 1.

For duties of referee as to papers see infra, III, D, 4, d.

67. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 1. See also In re Dupree, 97 Fed. 28; In re Van Borcke, 94 Fed. 352, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 322; In re Stevenson, 94 Fed. 110, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 66.

Arrangement and inspection of docket.— The docket must be arranged in a manner convenient for reference, and shall at all times be open to public inspection. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 1.

68. All petitions in bankruptcy proceedings should be filed with the clerk. In re Sykes, 106 Fed. 669, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 264.

Proofs of claims and other papers filed subsequently to the reference, except such as call for action by the judge, may be filed either with the referee or with the clerk. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 20.

69. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 2.

70. The case is probably deemed closed when the referee has transmitted to the clerk the records required to be kept by him. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (7).

71. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (4).

72. "Full compensation" explained.—The fees allowed by the Act to clerks are in full compensation for all services performed by them in regard to filing petitions or other papers required by the Act to be filed with them, or in certifying or delivering papers or copies of records to referees or other officers, or in receiving or paying out money; but shall not include copies of records furnished to other persons, or expenses necessarily incurred in publishing or mailing notices or other papers. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 1.

The clerk may require an indemnity before incurring any expense in publishing or mailing notices. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 10.

73. Bankr. Act (1898), § 52*a*.

A bankrupt's estate is liable for clerk's fees, as in the case of referee's fees. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 4. See also infra, XVIII, H, 1, b.

74. A voluntary bankrupt is not required to pay such filing fee if he accompanies his petition with an affidavit stating that he is without, and cannot obtain, the money with which to pay such fee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (2).

As to poverty affidavit and effect thereof see infra, III, D, 6, a.

75. The term "officer" when used in the Act includes a marshal. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (18), supra, note 8, p. 238.

76. Service of all process, mesne and final, shall be by the marshal of the district or his deputy, or by some other person specially appointed by the court for that purpose and not otherwise. In the latter case the person serving the process shall make affidavit thereof. U. S. Equity Rules, No. 15.

For the powers and duties of United States marshals, generally, see United States Marshals.

The petition and writ of subpœna in involuntary bankruptcy proceedings must be served by the marshal upon the bankrupt. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*a*. See also infra, VI, B, 4.

qualified.[77] The marshal may also be authorized by a court of bankruptcy to conduct the business of bankrupts for a limited period.[78]

2. COMPENSATION. Marshals shall respectively receive from the estate where the adjudication in bankruptcy is made, except as otherwise provided in the Act, for the performance of their services in the proceedings in bankruptcy the same fees, and account for them in the same manner, as they are entitled to receive for the performance of the same or similar services in other cases in accordance with the laws of the United States fixing the compensation of marshals.[79]

C. Receivers[80] — 1. APPOINTMENT. Courts of bankruptcy may appoint receivers upon the application of parties in interest[81] to take charge of the property of bankrupts after the filing of the petition and until it is dismissed or the trustee is qualified, if they find it absolutely necessary for the preservation of estates.[82] The jurisdiction thus conferred is independent of the power conferred upon the judge to issue warrants of seizure against a bankrupt's property.[83] The appointment of a receiver by a referee is authorized by the power vested in him to perform the duties conferred on courts of bankruptcy.[84]

77. Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 2 (3), 69. See also infra, VI, B, 9, b.

As to bond of applicant see Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*e*; and infra, VI, B, 9, e.

78. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (5). See also infra, VI, B, 9.

79. Bankr. Act (1898), § 52*b*.

The fees and salaries of marshals are prescribed by the U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 829; 29 U. S. Stat. at L. 140. The marshal receives personal compensation for all services rendered by him in the way of a salary, and fees which were allowed him as compensation before the act fixing his salary are still collected in suits of all kinds as a fund out of which all salaries shall be paid. So the fact that there is a salary is a matter of no weight; the marshal is entitled when he takes possession of the goods of a bankrupt by order of the court to a reasonable compensation for his services in addition to his disbursements. In re Adams Sartorial Art Co., 101 Fed. 215, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 107.

Where, by a rule of a federal court, service of the petition and affidavits upon which an order to show cause is based is required to be made together with such order, and the marshal makes such service in a bankruptcy proceeding, he is entitled to charge and receive a reasonable fee therefor in addition to his fee for the service of the order, under Bankr. Act (1898), § 52*b*, although the petition cannot be considered a writ within the meaning of U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 829; and the same fee fixed by such section for the service of a writ, where it has customarily been charged and allowed by the court, must be regarded as reasonable. In re Damon, 104 Fed. 775, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 133.

Compensation of deputy marshal.— There is no fixed rule as to the allowance to be made to a deputy marshal for services performed in protecting the property of the bankrupt, but the sum must be fixed by the court in the exercise of its sound discretion. In re Scott, 99 Fed. 404, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 625. Three dollars a day, with actual and necessary expenses, is a reasonable and proper fee to be allowed to a deputy marshal for his services in taking an inventory, and otherwise assisting in the settlement of an estate in bankruptcy. In re Woodard, 95 Fed. 955, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 692.

Marshal may require indemnity for expenses; in like manner the clerk may do so. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 10. See also supra, III, A, 3.

Return of expenses.— The marshal must make return under oath of his actual and necessary expenses in the service of every warrant addressed to him, and for custody of property, and other services and other actual and necessary expenses paid by him, with vouchers therefor, whenever practicable, and also a statement that the amounts charged by him are just and reasonable. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 19. Compare In re Comstock, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,075, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 88, construing similar rule under the Act of 1867.

80. The term "officer" shall include receiver. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1, supra, note 8, p. 238.

81. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (3). See also supra, II, B, 12; In re Fixen, 96 Fed. 748, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 822; Blake v. Francis-Valentine Co., 89 Fed. 691, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372.

82. A receiver should not be appointed unless the exigencies of the case demand it, as where the subject-matter of the action is easily concealed or removed and the interference of the court is necessary to protect it pending the controversy. In re Florcken, 107 Fed. 241, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 802; Cox v. Wall, 99 Fed. 546, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 664 [reversed on a question of jurisdiction in 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 727].

83. In re Florcken, 107 Fed. 241, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 802. See also infra, VI, B, 9, a, b.

84. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (4). But in no case can this authority be exercised before the order of reference has been delivered to him. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12; In re Florcken, 107 Fed. 241, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 802.

2. Powers. The object of the appointment of a receiver is generally to preserve the property of the bankrupt so as to prevent its deterioration or waste.[85] His powers are statutory and can only be exercised as prescribed in the Act. He cannot bring suit to recover a preferential payment to a creditor, although he may be authorized, by suit or otherwise, to assert or defend his possession of the visible property which the law has placed in his custody.[86] Where a receiver has possession of property and it becomes necessary for preserving it, or its value, which is the essential matter, the court may order or confirm a sale thereof.[87]

3. Compensation. The Act does not limit or prescribe the compensation of receivers. It is within the discretion of the court to determine such compensation according to the services performed.[88] Such compensation should be reasonable and fair.[89]

D. Referees — 1. Appointment and Removal. The office of referee is created by the Bankruptcy Act.[90] Courts of bankruptcy are required, within the territorial limits[91] of which they respectively have jurisdiction, to appoint referees, each for a term of two years[92] and may, in their discretion, remove them because their services are not needed, or for other cause.[93] The power of removal is in the discretion of the court, although the general rule is that where a statute

85. Boonville Nat. Bank v. Blakey, 107 Fed. 891, 47 C. C. A. 43, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 13. See also infra, VI, B, 9, b.

Conduct of business of bankrupt.— Courts of bankruptcy may authorize receivers to conduct the business of bankrupts for a limited period, if necessary for the best interest of the estate. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (5).

86. Suits to recover property.— The trustee, as representative and in the interest of all the creditors, is to determine in the first instance whether a payment was made with a view to give a preference, and whether the creditor receiving payment had reasonable cause to believe that it was preferential. He is to ascertain the facts and determine the probability of successful litigation, and whether the creditor sought to be pursued is responsible, so that the estate should not be mulcted in unnecessary litigation and costs. The receiver or marshal is, in the contemplation of the Act, merely the temporary custodian selected to take possession of visible property liable to waste, and to conserve it until the trustee is appointed; but he is vested with no right to avoid a transaction which by the Act is specifically given to the trustee, and which but for the Act would not exist. Boonville Nat. Bank v. Blakey, 107 Fed. 891, 47 C. C. A. 43, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 13. But see In re Schrom, 97 Fed. 760, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 352; In re Fixen, 96 Fed. 748, 754, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 822, 830, where it is said: "To say that he [the receiver] cannot resort to legal proceedings when necessary to take charge of the property of the bankrupt, while conceding that he may employ all other suitable agencies and instrumentalities for the purpose, is wholly illogical. Legal proceedings are sometimes the only means whereby the property of bankrupts can be preserved. Suppose that an estate consists of personal property, which has come into the hands of wrong-doers, who are about to secrete it or carry it beyond the jurisdiction of the court. Can it be seriously claimed in such a case that the receiver must sit quietly by and suffer the property to be irretrievably lost, on the ground that his functions are limited to the receipt of such property as may be voluntarily surrendered to him? The statement of the claim is its refutation. I hold that it is clearly within the jurisdiction of the court appointing a receiver in bankruptcy to authorize him to institute necessary actions for the recovery of the bankrupt's property."

87. In re Becker, 98 Fed. 407, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412.

Permission to sell perishable property may be obtained by the receiver upon petition made to the court. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 18, par. 3.

88. In re Scott, 99 Fed. 404, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 625 [citing The Conqueror, 166 U. S. 110, 17 S. Ct. 510, 41 L. ed. 937].

89. Cake v. Mohun, 164 U. S. 311, 17 S. Ct. 100, 41 L. ed. 447; Stuart v. Boulware, 133 U. S. 78, 10 S. Ct. 242, 33 L. ed. 568.

90. Bankr. Act (1898), § 33.

91. Districts.— Courts of bankruptcy are authorized to designate and from time to time change the limits of the districts of referees so that each county where the services of a referee are needed may constitute at least one district. Bankr. Act (1898), § 34. This section would seem to require the appointment of at least one referee for each county in a district. To avoid confusion it would be necessary that the limits of a district be clearly defined. By Bankr. Act (1898), § 35 (4), referees are required to be residents of or have their offices in the territorial districts for which they are to be appointed.

92. It is probable that under the general rule a referee may hold his office and exercise the duties thereof until the appointment and qualification of his successor. See State v. Harrison, 113 Ind. 434, 16 N. E. 384, 3 Am. St. Rep. 663; and, generally, Officers.

93. Bankr. Act (1898), § 34.

authorizes a removal for cause, it must be after due notice to the officer and an opportunity for a hearing.[94]

2. Qualifications — a. In General. Individuals are not to be deemed eligible to appointment as referees unless they are respectively (1) competent to perform the duties of that office;[95] (2) not holding any office of profit or emolument under the laws of the United States or of any state other than commissioners of deeds, justices of the peace, masters in chancery, or notaries public;[96] (3) not related by consanguinity or affinity, within the third degree as determined by the common law, to any of the judges of the courts of bankruptcy or circuit courts of the United States, or of the justices or judges of the appellate courts of the districts wherein they may be appointed;[97] and (4) residents of, or have their offices in, the territorial districts for which they are to be appointed.[98]

b. Bond. Referees are required, before assuming the duties of their offices, and within such time after their appointment as the district court having jurisdiction shall prescribe,[99] to enter into a bond to the United States.[1] Such bond is to Such number of referees are to be appointed as may be necessary to assist in expeditiously transacting the bankruptcy business in the various courts of bankruptcy. Bankr. Act (1898), § 37.

The term "courts" may include the referee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (7), supra, note 8, p. 238.

The term "judge" shall not include the referee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (16), supra, note 8, p. 238.

The term "officer" includes the referee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (18), supra, note 8, p. 238.

The term "referee" shall mean the referee who has jurisdiction of the case or to whom the case has been referred or any one acting in his stead. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (21), supra, note 8, p. 238.

The office of referee corresponds to that of the register under the Act of 1867. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 4993 et seq.

94. Michigan.— Hallgren v. Campbell, 82 Mich. 255, 46 N. W. 381, 21 Am. St. Rep. 557, 9 L. R. A. 408.

Missouri.— State v. Walbridge, 119 Mo. 383, 24 S. W. 457, 41 Am. St. Rep. 663.

New Jersey.— State v. Love, 39 N. J. L. 14.

Ohio.— State v. Sullivan, 58 Ohio St. 504, 51 N. E. 48, 65 Am. St. Rep. 781.

Pennsylvania.— Field v. Com., 32 Pa. St. 478.

See also, generally, Officers.

Absence or disability.— Whenever the office of a referee is vacant or its occupant is absent or disqualified to act, the judge may act or appoint another referee, or another referee holding an appointment under the same court may by order of the judge temporarily fill the vacancy. Bankr. Act (1898), § 43; Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

95. Not to be interested.— Referees shall not act in cases in which they are directly or indirectly interested. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*b* (1). A referee who is indebted to the alleged bankrupt is not thereby disqualified to act as referee in bankruptcy proceedings against his creditor. If he were a creditor he would be interested; but he is a debtor and there is no denial of the debt. He can have no interest in either the estate or the proceedings; the proceedings do not change his status. Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

96. Attorneys as referees.— Under the Act of 1867 no person was eligible to the appointment as register unless he was a counselor of the district or one of the courts of record of the state in which he resided. Bankr. Act (1867), § 3 [U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 4993]. The present Act contains no such restriction, but in many of the districts appointment has been refused to persons unless they were attorneys at law, for the reason that one having no legal training cannot be considered as competent. Black Bankr. 142; Loveland Bankr. 88.

97. Relationship by affinity is a connection by marriage. Relationship by consanguinity is the connection of persons to a common ancestor, that is, blood-relationship. In computing the degree of relationship the rule of the common law is to begin at the common ancestor and reckon downward: the degree of relationship between two persons is the degree of the most remote of them from a common ancestor. 2 Bl. Comm. 206. Chancellor Kent says [4 Kent Comm. 413]; "In the canon law, which is also the rule of the common law, in tracing title by descent, the common ancestor is the terminus a quo. The several degrees of kindred are deduced from him. By this method of computation the brother of A is related to him in the first degree instead of being in the second, according to the civil law; for he is but one degree removed from the common ancestor. The uncle is related to A in the second degree; for though the uncle be but one degree from the common ancestor, yet A is removed two degrees from the grandfather, who is the common ancestor."

98. Bankr. Act (1898), § 35.

99. If a referee fails to give a bond within the time limited he shall be deemed to have declined his appointment. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*k*.

1. The requirement of a bond from a quasi-be in the sum fixed by the district court making the appointment, not exceeding the sum of five thousand dollars,[2] conditioned for the faithful performance of official duties.[3]

c. Oath. Referees are required to take the same oath of office as that prescribed for judges of the courts of the United States.[4]

3. Jurisdiction and Powers — a. Adjudications. Referees in bankruptcy are invested with jurisdiction to consider all petitions referred to them by the clerks and to make the adjudications or dismiss the petitions.[5]

b. Reference After Adjudication. After an adjudication in bankruptcy the judge may either cause the trustee to proceed with the administration of the bankrupt's estate, or refer it generally to the referee or specially with only limited authority to act in the premises, or to consider and report upon specified issues, or to any referee within the territorial limits of the court if the convenience of parties in interest will be served thereby, or for cause, or if the bankrupt does not do business, reside or have his domicile in the district.[6]

c. Performance of Duties Conferred upon Courts of Bankruptcy — (i) In General. Referees are authorized to perform such part of the duties, except as to questions arising out of the applications of bankrupts for composition or judicial officer, such as a referee in bankruptcy, is unusual. Referees are not only judicial officers charged with the performance of the duties prescribed in the Act, for the faithful performance of which they take and subscribe an official oath, but are also required to give bond to insure the observance of the oath. This is an unusual requirement of a quasi-judicial officer. Being thus bound their decisions should not be lightly treated, but given the consideration due to conclusions reached by conscientious officers, seeking to discharge their duties to the best of their ability. In re Covington, 110 Fed. 143, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 373.

There must be at least two sureties on each bond, to be approved by the district court. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*a*, e.

Surety companies may be accepted as sureties upon the bond of a referee, when authorized by law to act as such, and when the court is satisfied that the rights of all parties in interest will be thereby amply protected. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*g*. The execution of a bond with a single surety company as surety is sufficient. In re Kalter, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 590; 28 U. S. Stat. at L. 279.

Such bonds must be filed of record in the office of the clerk of the court. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*h*.

2. The actual value of the property of the sureties, over and above their liabilities and exemptions, must equal at least the amount of the bond. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*f*.

3. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*a*.

The form of bond is prescribed by U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 17; 89 Fed. xxxvi.

Suits may be brought for alleged breach of conditions thereof within two years after such breach is alleged to have occurred (Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*l*) in the name of the United States for the use of any person injured by such breach (Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*h*).

4. Bankr. Act (1898), § 36.

The form of oath is given in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 16; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 712; 89 Fed. xxxv.

A person conscientiously opposed to taking an oath may affirm; the punishment for a false affirmation is the same as for a false oath. Bankr. Act (1898), § 20*b*.

The oath may be administered by an officer authorized to administer oaths in proceedings before the courts of the United States, or under the laws of a state where the oath is to be taken. Bankr. Act (1898), § 20*a*.

5. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38*a* (1). See also infra, VI, A, 2; VI, B, 10.

Such petitions may be either in involuntary or voluntary bankruptcy.— The adjudication in bankruptcy is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the court (Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*d*, e); but if the judge is absent from the district on the next day after the last day on which pleadings may be filed in involuntary bankruptcy and none had been filed by the bankrupt or any of his creditors, or at the time of the filing of a voluntary petition, the clerk must refer the case to a referee. The referee cannot adjudicate a person a bankrupt if the question of bankruptcy is contested. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*g*, h.

The petitions here referred to are those defined as a "paper filed in a court of bankruptcy or with a clerk or deputy clerk by a debtor praying for the benefits of this Act, or by creditors alleging the commission of an act of bankruptcy by a debtor therein named." Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (20).

For form of debtor's and creditor's petition see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, Nos. 1, 3; 89 Fed. xv.

6. Bankr. Act (1898), § 22*a*. See infra, VIII.

It is required by the General Orders that all proceedings after the order of reference, except such as are required to be had before the judge, shall be had before the referee. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, pars. 1, 2.

discharge, as are by the Act conferred upon courts of bankruptcy, and as shall be prescribed by rules or orders of the courts of bankruptcy of their respective districts, except as herein otherwise provided.[7] A case may be referred to a referee with only limited authority to act or to consider and report upon specified issues,[8] and the referee has no authority except that specified in the order of reference.[9]

(II) Discharge and Confirmation of Composition. Questions arising out of applications of bankrupts for compositions or discharges are expressly excepted from the jurisdiction of the referee.[10]

(III) Power to Grant Injunctions. It is provided by the General Orders that the application for an injunction to stay proceedings of a court or officer of the United States or of a state shall be heard and decided by the judge, but he may refer such application or any specified issue arising thereon to a referee to ascertain and report the facts.[11]

d. Stenographers. Upon the application of a trustee during the examination of a bankrupt, or in the courts of other proceedings, the referee may authorize the employment of stenographers at the expense of the estates at a compensation not to exceed ten cents per folio for reporting and transcribing the proceedings.[12] But a referee is not authorized to hire a clerk at a fixed sum.[13]

e. Taking Possession of Property. In case of the absence of the judge from the judicial district, or the division of the district, or his sickness or inability to act, a referee may take possession and release the property of the bankrupt.[14]

7. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (4). See also U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12.

This evidently confers upon referees the power possessed by courts of bankruptcy, unless by the terms of the Act jurisdiction is exclusively conferred upon such courts. The powers of referees are not to be exercised until a service, either personally or by mail, of the order of reference upon such referees. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12; In re Florcken, 107 Fed. 241, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 802.

Proceedings to punish for contempt are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the district judge. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41*b*. See also infra, III, D, 7.

8. Bankr. Act (1898), § 22*a*.

9. Clark v. American Mfg., etc., Co., 101 Fed. 962, 42 C. C. A. 120, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 351.

10. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (4). See also infra, XIV, C, D.

Such applications must be heard and decided by the district judge, or he may refer them or any specific issue arising thereon to a referee to ascertain and report the facts. U. S. Supreme Ct. G. O. No. 12, par. 3; In re McDuff, 101 Fed. 241, 41 C. C. A. 316, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 110, where it was held that the judge is required to hear and determine the application for a discharge, and such briefs and pleas as may be made in opposition thereto; and that the decision of the question as to whether or not a discharge shall be granted cannot be turned over to a referee. All that a referee can do is to ascertain and report the facts.

Where contested applications for discharge are referred to referees they may not only take, rule upon, and report the evidence, but they may also make findings and recommendations thereon. In re Kaiser, 99 Fed. 689, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 767, where it was held that (1) the authority of the referee extends beyond taking, ruling upon, and reporting evidence, and includes making findings and recommendations thereon; (2) specifications of opposition to discharge intended to show that the bankrupt has been guilty of criminal concealment must aver scienter and all necessary facts necessary to establish the commission of the offense; (3) such specification is a prerequisite to the introduction of any evidence, and defines the issues to which the inquiry should be confined, and (4) cannot be amended by the referee but may be amended by the court.

11. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, par. 3.

Notwithstanding the apparently exclusive jurisdiction thus conferred upon the district judge, a number of referees have assumed that under Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (4) they have the power to restrain by injunction proceedings in a state court. See In re Globe Cycle Works, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 447; In re Kerski, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 79; In re Rogers, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 541; In re Northrop, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 427; In re Sabine, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 315; In re Adams, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 720.

12. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (5).

13. In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 950, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 154.

14. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (3). See also infra, VI, B, 9.

The power thus conferred is exercised in cases of involuntary bankruptcy where it appears that the bankrupt has so neglected his property as to lessen its value. Bankr. Act (1898), § 69.

A referee has no power under this provision until an order of reference has been mailed or delivered to him. U. S. Supreme

The referee is also authorized to appoint receivers or marshals upon the application of parties in interest when it is found absolutely necessary for the preservation of the bankrupt's estate.[15]

f. Witnesses. Referees may exercise the powers vested in courts of bankruptcy for the administering of oaths[16] to and the examination of persons as witnesses,[17] and for requiring the production of documents in proceedings before them, except the power of commitment.[18]

g. The Referee's Orders, Decisions, and Findings. In all orders made by a referee it must be recited, according as the fact may be, that notice was given, and the manner thereof; or that the order was made by consent; or that no adverse interest was represented at the hearing; or that the order was made after hearing adverse interests.[19] The decisions of referees are subject always to review by the district judge.[20] Findings of fact by a referee will not be reversed

Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12; In re Florcken, 107 Fed. 241, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 802.

15. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (3). See also infra, VI, B, 9.

While ordinarily an order of sale should not be made until after adjudication, if the property is perishable a sale may be ordered by the referee before adjudication. It has also been held that a sale made by a referee in the absence of the judge, even if the property is not perishable, will not be set aside where a fair sum is realized, and it does not appear that the interests of parties have been injuriously affected. In re T. L. Kelly Dry-Goods Co., 102 Fed. 747, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528.

16. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (2).

Another provision of the Bankruptcy Act is to the effect that oaths required by the Act, except upon hearings in court, may be administered by referees. Bankr. Act (1898), § 20*a* (1).

A person who is conscientiously opposed to taking an oath may, in lieu thereof, affirm; but a false affirmation is punishable in the same manner as a false oath. Bankr. Act (1898), § 20*b*.

17. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (2).

A court of bankruptcy must order the attendance of any person who is a competent witness upon the application of the referee, or the bankrupt, or creditors, to appear before the referee and be examined concerning the acts, conduct, or property of the bankrupt whose estate is in process of administration. Bankr. Act (1898), § 21*a*. It has been held that this provision does not authorize any examination into the acts, conduct, or property of any person other than the bankrupt, unless the acts of such person are so connected and interwoven with those of the bankrupt as to make them virtually the same by reason of community of interest. In re Carley, 106 Fed. 862, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 554. See also In re Horgan, 98 Fed. 414, 39 C. C. A. 118, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 253; In re Cliffe, 97 Fed. 540, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 257; In re Fixen, 96 Fed. 748, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 822; In re Howard, 95 Fed. 415, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 582.

No person is required to attend as a witness before a referee at a place outside of the state of his residence, and more than one hundred miles from such place of residence, and only in case his lawful mileage and a fee for one day's attendance is first paid or tendered to him. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41*a* (4).

Subpœnas issue out of the court under the seal thereof, attested by the clerk. Blank forms of subpœnas with the signature of the clerk and the seal of the court are furnished to referees to be used by them. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 3. See also supra, III, A, 2, b; and infra, VI, B, 3.

The examination of witnesses before the referee may be conducted in person by the party, or by his counsel or attorney, and the witnesses shall be subject to examination and cross-examination, which shall be had in conformity with the mode now adopted in courts of law. A deposition taken upon an examination before a referee shall be taken down in writing by him or under his direction in the form of narrative, unless he determines that the examination shall be by question and answer. When completed it shall be read over to the witness and signed by him in the presence of the referee. The referee shall note upon the deposition any question objected to and his decision thereon, and the court shall have power to deal with the costs of incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant depositions, or parts of them, as may be just. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 22.

18. A referee has no power to commit a person for disobedience of a subpœna, refusal to take the oath, or to be examined as a witness; but such conduct is a contempt punishable by the district judge upon certification of the facts to him by the referee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41. See also infra, III, D, 7.

Form of summons to witness is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 30; 89 Fed. xlii.

Form of return of summons to witness is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 30; 89 Fed. xlii.

Form of examination of witness is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 29; 89 Fed. xli.

19. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 23.

20. Review of referee's decisions.—Bankr. Act (1898), § 38*a*. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (10), provides that courts of bankruptcy may consider, confirm, modify, or overrule or return with instructions for further proceedings, records and findings certified to them by referees. When a bankrupt, creditor, trustee, or other person shall desire a review by the unless it is clearly shown that there is error in such findings such as would, under the equity rules which govern in bankruptcy proceedings by express provision of the Act, justify the reversal of a master in an equity cause.[21]

4. Duties — a. As to Accounts. Referees are required to keep an accurate account of their traveling and incidental expenses, and of those of any officer or any clerk attending them in the performance of their duties in any case which may be referred to them; and must make return of the same under oath to the judge with proper vouchers, if vouchers can be procured, on the first Tuesday of every month.[22]

b. As to Declaration of Dividends. Referees are required to declare dividends[23] and to prepare and deliver to trustees dividend sheets[24] showing the dividends declared, and to whom payable.[25] The referee is also required to countersign all checks for dividends and all payments made by the trustee.[26]

c. As to Information and Notice. A referee is required to furnish such information concerning the estates in process of administration before him as may be requested by the parties in interest.[27] The referee is required to give such notices as are provided in the Act, unless otherwise ordered by the judge.[28] The referee is entitled, in sending notices to creditors, to use what is known as an official penalty envelope.[29]

d. As to Papers. Referees must transmit to the clerks such papers as are on file before them whenever they are needed in any proceeding in court, and in like manner secure the return of such papers after they have been used, or if it be impracticable to transmit the original papers, to transmit certified copies of them, by mail.[30] judge of an order made by a referee, he shall file with the referee his petition therefor, setting out the error complained of; and the referee shall forthwith certify to the judge the question presented, and a summary of the evidence relating thereto, and the finding and order of such referee thereon. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 27.

For form of certificate see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 56; 89 Fed. lvi.

21. In re Covington, 110 Fed. 143, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 373; In re Waxelbaum, 101 Fed. 228, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 120.

22. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 26.

The referee may require indemnity before incurring any expense in the publication or mailing of notices, or in traveling; in procuring the attendance of witnesses, or in perpetuating testimony from the bankrupt or other person in whose behalf the duty is to be performed. Money advanced for this purpose by the bankrupt or other person shall be repaid out of the estate as part of the cost of administering the same. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 10.

23. A dividend in bankruptcy is a parcel of the fund arising from the assets of the estate rightfully allotted to a creditor entitled to share in the fund, whether in the same proportion with other creditors or in a different proportion. In re Barber, 97 Fed. 547, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306. See also infra, XVIII, H, 2, a.

24. The dividend sheets delivered to the trustee constitute his only warrant for paying money to any creditor. In re Barber, 97 Fed. 547, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306.

25. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (1). The declaration and payment of dividends are regulated by another provision of the Bankruptcy Act and will be discussed hereafter. Bankr. Act (1898), § 65. See also infra, XVIII, H, 2.

The list of dividends is to be in the form prescribed by U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 40; 89 Fed. xlviii.

The duties here imposed involve a computation of the per centum to which a creditor shall be entitled, and a further computation of the amount due to each creditor according to such per centum. In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 94 Fed. 109, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 706.

26. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 29. Compare supra, III, A, 2, c.

27. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (3).

A refusal by the referee to permit the inspection of accounts pertaining to estates in his charge is an offense punishable by fine and forfeiture of office. Bankr. Act (1898), § 29*c* (3).

As to offenses of referee see infra, XXI, B.

28. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (4). Bankr. Act (1898), § 58, specifies the notices which are required to be given by the court to creditors and the manner of serving them. See also infra, X, A, 2; and U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, pars. 2, 3; 22.

29. U. S. Stat. at L. c. 335, §§ 5, 6; 23 Stat. at L. c. 156, § 3.

30. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (8). See also Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (3); and supra, III, A, 2, e.

Referees are also required to transmit to the clerk a list of claims proved against the estate of a bankrupt with the names and addresses of the proving creditors. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 24.

e. As to Preservation of Evidence. Referees are required upon the application of any party in interest to preserve the evidence taken or the substance thereof as agreed upon by the parties before them when a stenographer is not in attendance.[31]

f. As to Records. Referees must make up records embodying the evidence or the substance thereof as agreed upon by the parties in all contested matters arising before them whenever requested to do so by either of the parties thereto, together with their findings thereon and transmit them to the judges.[32] Referees are required to safely keep, perfect, and transmit to the clerks the records required by the Bankruptcy Act to be kept by them, when the cases are concluded.[33] The referee must indorse on each paper filed with him the day and hour of filing, and a brief statement of its character.[34]

g. As to Schedules of Property and Lists of Creditors. The referee must examine all schedules of property[35] and lists of creditors[36] filed by the bankrupt and cause such as are incomplete or defective to be amended.[37] A referee may prepare and file schedules of property or lists of creditors required to be filed by bankrupts, or cause the same to be done, when the bankrupt fails or neglects to do so.[38]

5. Restrictions. Referees cannot act in cases in which they are directly or indirectly interested,[39] practice as attorneys and counselors at law in any bank-

Whenever the offices of referees are in the same cities or towns where courts of bankruptcy convene, such referees must call upon and receive from the clerks all papers filed in courts of bankruptcy which have been referred to them. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (10).

31. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (9). See also supra, III, D, 3, f; and infra, III, D, 4, f.

32. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (5). See also supra, III, D, 3, f; III, D, 4, e.

A record of proceedings in each case shall be kept in a separate book or books and shall, together with the papers on file, constitute the records of the case. Bankr. Act (1898), § 42*b*.

The records of all proceedings in each case before the referee are to be kept as nearly as may be in the same manner as records are now kept in equity cases in circuit courts of the United States. Bankr. Act (1898), § 42*a*.

The book or books containing the record of proceedings shall, when the case is concluded before the referee, be certified to by him and, together with such papers as are on file before him, be transmitted to the court of bankruptcy, and shall there remain as a part of the records of the court. Bankr. Act (1898), § 42*c*.

33. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (7).

34. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 2. Compare supra, III, A, 2, g.

35. The schedules must be printed or plainly written without abbreviation or interlineation except for reference. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 5.

36. If the lists of creditors are defective because not containing the addresses of creditors by street and number it is proper for the referee to order an amendment and to refuse to fix the date for the first meeting of creditors. In re Brumelkamp, 95 Fed. 814, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 318. The referee should require the addresses of creditors to be furnished or satisfactory proof to be made that they cannot be ascertained after due search has been made. In the absence of the exercise of such diligence the court does not gain jurisdiction of the proceedings to discharge upon the publication of a notice in a newspaper simply. In re Dvorak, 107 Fed. 76, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 66.

37. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (2). Bankr. Act (1898), § 7 (8), requires the bankrupt to prepare and file the schedule of his property and a list of his creditors, and specifies the contents thereof. See also infra, VI, A, 1; IX, A, B, C.

The provision as to the amendment of schedules to cure defects or omissions is mandatory, and it is the duty of the referee to make such amendment even though none of the parties in interest make a motion therefor. In re Orne, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 420, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,582, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 18, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 116, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 79; In re Mackey, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 593.

Application for the amendment of schedules may be made by the bankrupt, which application shall state the cause of error in the schedules originally filed. If amendments are made to separate schedules the same must be made separately with proper reference. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 11.

38. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (6).

In cases of involuntary bankruptcy in which the bankrupt is absent or cannot be found, it is the duty of the petitioning creditor to file within five days after the date of the adjudication a schedule giving the names and places of residence of all creditors of the bankrupt according to the best information of the petitioning creditor. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 9.

39. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*b* (1); Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

ruptcy proceedings, or purchase directly or indirectly any property of an estate in bankruptcy.[40]

6. COMPENSATION — a. In General. Referees shall receive as full compensation for their services, payable after they are rendered, a fee of ten dollars, to be deposited with the clerk at the time of the filing of the petition in each case,[41] except when a fee is not required of a voluntary bankrupt.[42] The fee is to be paid in both voluntary and involuntary proceedings. Where there are no assets there is no authority for any other compensation to the referee than the original fee deposited with the clerk.[43] It is the duty of the clerk to collect the fee before filing the petition, unless the petition of a proposed voluntary bankrupt is accompanied by an affidavit stating that the petitioner is without and cannot obtain the money with which to pay such fee.[44] Referees shall receive from estates which have been administered before them one per centum commission on sums to be paid as dividends[45] and commissions, or one half of

As to interest of referees in bankruptcy cases see supra, III, D, 2.

40. Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 39*b* (2), 29*c*.

As to offenses by referees see infra, XXI, B.

41. Where a firm and individual partners are petitioners the proceeding is deemed single, and but one petition and one filing fee is necessary. In re Gay, 98 Fed. 870, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529; In re Langslow, 98 Fed. 869, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529 note. But see, as to involuntary bankruptcy proceedings as against a partnership, In re Meyer, 98 Fed. 976, 39 C. C. A. 368, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559. In Mahoney v. Ward, 100 Fed. 278, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 770, a petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against one partner individually and another member of the firm attempted to come into court and be adjudged a bankrupt in the same proceeding. It was held that this was not permissible even by a consent order. If the several partners desire to avail themselves of the benefits of the bankruptcy law they must file individual petitions, make the deposit required, and proceed stricti juris. This seems to be the prevailing rule, although it has been held that where a petition is filed by a partnership, and also separate petitions by the separate members of the firm, each petition is a separate case, and the referee is entitled to a separate fee in each case. In re Barden, 101 Fed. 553, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 31.

42. Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*a*.

Payment of fees out of the estate or by the bankrupt.— If the fees of the referee are not required by the Act to be paid by a debtor before the filing of his petition to be adjudged a bankrupt, the judge, at any time during the pendency of the proceedings in bankruptcy, may order those fees to be paid out of the estate; or may, after notice to the bankrupt, and satisfactory proof that he then has, or can obtain, the money with which to pay those fees, order him to pay them within a time specified, and if he fails to do so may order his petition to be dismissed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 4.

43. In re Langslow, 98 Fed. 869, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529 note.

44. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (2). See also U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 4. See also supra, III, A, 2, d.

A voluntary bankrupt who has filed an affidavit with his petition that he has not and cannot obtain the money with which to pay the filing fees cannot be compelled to pay such fees out of his exempt property, nor out of the amount which he may earn for the support of himself and family. Nor is he required to borrow the money of his friends, even if it is shown that they would have loaned it to him, and he does not thereby make a false oath when he says that he cannot obtain the money. Sellers v. Bell, 94 Fed. 801, 36 C. C. A. 502, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529. But in another case it was held that as the case progresses the petitioner must pay the necessary expenses before a final discharge will be granted, and he must also pay the amount of compensation allowed to the clerk, referee, and trustee, or else make a showing to the satisfaction of the court that by reason of ill health or circumstances of peculiar misfortune he is a worthy object of charity. Anonymous, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 527.

Poverty affidavit.— There is no law or rule authorizing the referee to require the bankrupt to pay the statutory fee before he is given his discharge where such bankrupt has filed an affidavit of inability. In re Plimpton, 103 Fed. 775, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 614. Where a bankrupt files his voluntary petition and the statutory affidavit therewith that he has not and cannot obtain the money with which to pay the advance fees, the affidavit establishes a prima facie right to such exemption. In re Levy, 101 Fed. 247, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 108. The filing of the affidavit does not preclude an inquiry by the court into the actual facts. It is not the intention of the statute that the bankrupt's affidavit should be considered as conclusive of the fact of his inability to obtain the money. The court has the right to demand some evidence which shows that it is reasonable to conclude that the petitioner cannot really obtain the money. In re Collier, 93 Fed. 191, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 182.

45. Dividends.— The sums to be paid upon secured claims or other claims entitled to priority of payment are not dividends upon which the referee may receive a commission. In re Utt, 105 Fed. 754, 45 C. C. A. 32, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383; In re Fielding, 96 Fed. 800, one per centum on the amount to be paid to creditors on the confirmation of a composition.[46]

b. Additional Compensation. Notwithstanding the fact that under the General Orders the compensation of referees prescribed by the Act is in full compensation for all services performed by them under the Act or under the general rules,[47] it has been held that when issues arising upon an application for a discharge are sent to a referee, a reasonable allowance may be made for the referee's services outside and apart from the compensation authorized by the Act,[48] upon the theory that the reference of such issues are made to him as a special master in chancery and not as a referee in bankruptcy.[49]

c. When to Be Paid. The fees and commissions are to be paid to the referees after their services have been rendered.[50]

7. Contempts Before Referees — a. In General. A person who, in proceedings before a referee, (1) disobeys or resists any lawful order, process, or writ;[51]

3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 135; In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 706. In In re Barber, 97 Fed. 547, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306, a distinction was made against secured creditors who invoke the action of the bankrupt court, and through the action of that court alone have their security converted into a fund in the hands of the trustee, and it was held that there is nothing in the law which excludes a referee from commissions upon dividends to any class of creditors from a fund obtained through the action of the court alone, and the services of its officers, when such action and services have been invoked by such creditors. See also In re Gerson, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 352; In re Coffin, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 344; In re Sabine, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 322. In In re Utt, 105 Fed. 754, 45 C. C. A. 32, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383, supra, this distinction was disapproved.

46. Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*a*.

The commissions are to be reckoned on the sums paid as dividends and commissions only, and not on costs or other payments. In re Smith, 108 Fed. 39, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559.

In the event of the reference of a case being revoked before it is concluded, and when a case is specially referred the judge shall determine what part of the fee and commissions shall be paid to the referee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*c*.

Whenever a case is transferred from one referee to another the judge shall determine the proportion in which the fee and commissions therefor should be divided between the referees. Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*b*.

47. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 2; Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*a*.

Expenses necessarily incurred by referees in publishing or mailing notices, in traveling or in perpetuating testimony, or other expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties under the Act and allowed by special order of the judge are not included. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 2.

48. Fellows v. Freudenthal, 102 Fed. 731, 42 C. C. A. 607, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 490. Contra, In re Troth, 104 Fed. 291, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 780, construing U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. Nos. 13, par. 3, 35, par. 2.

49. The rules of some of the district courts have recognized the theory of this decision and permit an allowance of additional compensation to referees when sitting as special masters in cases requiring services not devolving upon them by virtue of their offices. In re Gaylord, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 805; U. S. Dist. Ct. (N. D. N. Y.) Rules, No. 30.

Where application is made outside the ordinary scope of the referee's duties a reasonable compensation should be allowed him. In re Todd, 109 Fed. 265, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 88.

50. Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*a*.

The fee deposited with the clerk must be paid to the referee within ten days after each case has been closed. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (4).

51. Disobedience of orders.— The orders of referees are in effect the orders of the court, and a violation thereof will subject the offender to punishment in the same manner and to the same extent as for the violation of an order of a court of bankruptcy. In re Allen, 13 Blatchf. (U. S.) 271, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 208; In re Speyer, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,239, 42 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 397, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 255. For disobedience of order constituting contempt under the Act of 1867 see In re Kempner, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,689, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 521; In re Carpenter, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,427, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 299. It was held that a register might order the bankrupt to hand over estate funds in his hands, and that a failure to obey was a contempt for which an attachment might issue. In re Speyer, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,239, 42 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 397, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 255, where the court referred the matter back to the register to take such testimony as the bankrupt might offer in order to purge himself of the contempt.

Notice to show cause.— Before a bankrupt or other person can be punished for contempt for failure to obey an order to turn over property he must have notice and an opportunity to show cause why he should not comply with the order. In re Miller, 105 Fed. 57, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 184; In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

(2) misbehaves during a hearing or so near the place thereof as to obstruct the same; (3) neglects to produce, after having been ordered to do so, any pertinent document; or (4) refuses to appear after having been subpœnaed, or upon appearing refuses to take the oath as a witness, or after having taken the oath refuses to be examined according to law,[52] may be punished for contempt.[53]

b. Certification of Facts to the Judge. If a person is in contempt the referee shall certify the facts to the judge, who shall thereupon, in a summary manner,[54] hear the evidence as to the acts complained of, and if it is such as to warrant him in so doing, punish such person in the same manner and to the same extent as for a contempt committed before a court of bankruptcy, or commit such person upon the same condition as if the doing of the forbidden act had occurred with reference to the process of or in the presence of the court.[55]

Power to obey must exist.— To warrant punishment for contempt it must appear not only that the party complained of refuses to obey, but also that it is within his power to obey (Texas v. White, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 157, 22 L. ed. 819); for the court will not order an impossibility (Sinsheimer v. Simonson, 107 Fed. 898, 47 C. C. A. 51, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 537). See also In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153; Hendryx v. Fitzpatrick, 19 Fed. 810. Where property of the bankrupt, unlawfully concealed and withheld from the trustee, is beyond the control of the bankrupt and in the hands of third parties claiming title thereto, there can be no punishment for contempt, although the transaction is manifestly fraudulent. In re Greenberg, 106 Fed. 496, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 840; In re Mayer, 98 Fed. 839, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 533.

The fact that the bankrupt has squandered the money sought to be recovered in gambling and indulgence in other vices is not a satisfactory defense in a proceeding for contempt. Ripon Knitting Works v. Schreiber, 101 Fed. 810, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299. But compare In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153, 157, where it is held that if the money was a part of the estate of the bankrupt but "before the order for its delivery is made" he has squandered, disposed of, or lost it, so that it is not in his control or possession and he cannot obtain and deliver it at the time the order of delivery is made or within a reasonable time thereafter, the punishment of the bankrupt for such acts must be sought under Bankr. Act (1898), § 29, relating to the fraudulent concealment of the property of the estate, and the making of false oaths in relation thereto.

This power should be cautiously exercised and only in cases where the alleged acts of contempt have been proved beyond a reasonable doubt to have been committed in wilful disobedience of the orders of the court. In re Anderson, 103 Fed. 854, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 640; In re Schlesinger, 97 Fed. 930, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 342; In re McCormick, 97 Fed. 566, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 340.

52. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41*a*.

Under the Act of 1867 [U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5006] it was held that a register [referee] to whom a case was referred had all the powers of the court of bankruptcy which appointed him for the purpose of summoning and examining witnesses, except the power of commitment. In re Woodward, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 112, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,000, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 387, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 297, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 33.

For failure to make answers on examination constituting contempt under the Act of 1867 see In re Glaser, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,476, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 398; In re Dole, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,965, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 538, 7 West. Jur. 629.

Proviso as to witnesses.— But it is provided that no person shall be required to attend as a witness before a referee at a place outside of the state of his residence and more than one hundred miles from such residence, and only in case his lawful mileage and fee for one day's attendance shall be first paid or tendered him. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41*a*. And fees of witnesses are provided for in U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), §§ 848, 849.

53. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41*a*.

Not imprisonment for debt.— An order for the payment of money or the delivery of property, which is a part of the estate in bankruptcy and which is in the control and possession of the party directed to pay or deliver it at the time of the making of the order, is not an order for the payment of a debt, and a commitment to jail for the disobedience of such an order is not an imprisonment for debt within the constitutional provision prohibiting such an imprisonment. In re Anderson, 103 Fed. 854, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 640; Ripon Knitting Works v. Schreiber, 101 Fed. 810, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299; In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153; In re Purvine, 96 Fed. 192, 37 C. C. A. 446, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 787.

54. Right to jury trial.— The person alleged to be in contempt is not entitled to a jury trial on the questions involved. Interstate Commerce Commission v. Brimson, 154 U. S. 447, 14 S. Ct. 1125, 38 L. ed. 1047; Eilenbecker v. Plymouth County Dist. Ct., 134 U. S. 31, 10 S. Ct. 424, 33 L. ed. 801; Ripon Knitting Works v. Schreiber, 101 Fed. 810, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299. See also In re Debs, 158 U. S. 564, 15 S. Ct. 900, 39 L. ed. 1092.

55. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41*b*; In re Miller, 105 Fed. 57, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 184; In re

IV. WHO MAY BECOME BANKRUPTS.

A. Voluntary Bankrupts — 1. In General. Any person who owes debts, except a corporation,[56] is entitled to the benefits of the Bankruptcy Act as a voluntary bankrupt.[57]

2. Aliens. An alien may become a voluntary bankrupt or may be adjudged a bankrupt in involuntary proceedings, if he has had his principal place of business, resided, or had his domicile within the territorial jurisdiction of the court for the preceding six months, or the greater portion thereof, or has property within such jurisdiction.[58]

3. Corporations.[59] A corporation[60] is not entitled to the benefits of the Act as a voluntary bankrupt.[61] It has been questioned, when a corporation has signified its inability to pay its debts and its willingness to be adjudged bankrupt, and has induced its creditors to file an involuntary petition, whether such a petition is not in effect a voluntary one and an evasion of the Act.[62] It would seem, however, that the weight of authority is in favor of permitting the filing of a petition in bankruptcy in such cases.[63]

McCormick, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 340 [approving In re Salkey, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 280, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,254, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 195, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 516].

As to contempt proceedings, generally, see Contempt.

If the record does not show that it is or was possible for the person against whom the contempt proceedings are instituted to perform the decree the court has no authority to punish for the failure to perform it. In re Purvine, 96 Fed. 192, 37 C. C. A. 446, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 787.

56. See infra, IV, A, 3.

57. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*a*.

Under the Act of 1867, it was provided that a person residing within the jurisdiction of the United States, owing debts provable under that Act exceeding the amount of three hundred dollars might apply by petition addressed to the judge of the judicial district in which such person resided or had carried on his business for the six months next immediately preceding the time of filing such petition, setting forth his inability to pay all his debts in full, his willingness to surrender all his estate and effects for the benefit of his creditors, for the purpose of obtaining the benefits of that Act. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5014.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 13 et seq.

The term "person" as used in the Act includes partnerships and women. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (19).

Indians.— Proceedings in bankruptcy cannot be instituted either in behalf of or against Indians unless they are citizens, or unless under the United States statutes or treaties with the tribes of which they are members the debts contracted by them are binding in the same manner as debts of other persons. In re Rennie, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 182. See also In re Russie, 96 Fed. 609, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 6; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 110.

The pendency of proceedings in insolvency under a state law, on the debtor's voluntary petition, begun before the passage of the Bankruptcy Act, will not be ground for dismissing the debtor's subsequent voluntary petition in bankruptcy, although he has contracted no new debts, when it appears that one or more of the creditors scheduled by the bankrupt are citizens of states other than that in which the insolvency proceedings were instituted. In re Mussey, 99 Fed. 71, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 592.

58. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (1). See also Aliens, IV, D, 1 [2 Cyc. 104].

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 13.

59. Corporations as involuntary bankrupts see infra, IV, B, 2.

60. The term "corporations" is defined in the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (6), supra, note 8, p. 238.

61. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*a*.

Under Bankr. Act (1867), § 37, it was provided that all moneyed business or commercial corporations and joint-stock companies might become bankrupts either voluntarily or involuntarily.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 17.

62. In re Bates Mach. Co., 91 Fed. 625, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 129.

63. In re Marine Mach., etc., Co., 91 Fed. 630, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 421.

Admission of bankruptcy.— Where a petition has been filed against a corporation asking that it be adjudged a bankrupt and there has been filed in the name of the corporation a written admission of the act of bankruptcy charged in the petition, and a stipulation waiving service of subpœna and time for appearance, and entering such appearance, the proceeding is still involuntary, and the requirement of the Act relating to proceedings for involuntary bankruptcy must be complied with. In re L. Humbert Co., 100 Fed. 439, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76. The directors of a corporation have the power to make the statutory admission of its inability

4. Infants, Lunatics, and Married Women.[64] While a minor is a person within the meaning of the above provision he is not entitled to the benefits of the Act, since the debts which he owes are for the most part voidable, and there would be no certainty as to what course an infant would adopt with reference to his debts provable in bankruptcy. If he chose to avoid them the proceeding in bankruptcy would be futile.[65] It has been held that a person of unsound mind and incapable of managing his own affairs, or who has been judicially declared insane, cannot commit an act of bankruptcy, nor will a bankruptcy court entertain a petition against him.[66] It is probable that a person who has been adjudged a lunatic may, through his guardian or committee, file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.[67] The question as to whether a married woman may be adjudged a bankrupt in either voluntary or involuntary proceedings is dependent upon the statutes of the state wherein she resides pertaining to her liability for debts contracted by her.[68] to pay its debts and its willingness to be adjudged bankrupt required by Bankr. Act (1898), § 3. In re Rollins Gold, etc., Min. Co., 102 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 327.

64. Infants, lunatics, and married women as involuntary bankrupts see infra, IV, B, 4.

65. In re Duguid, 100 Fed. 274, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 794.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 14.

In discussing this question under the Act of 1867 in In re Derby, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 232, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 106, 6 Alb. L. J. 422, Blatchford, J., said: "The general contracts of an infant having no force, if disaffirmed by him after attaining his majority, it is idle for him to set forth, in a voluntary case, commenced during his infancy, a schedule of his creditors, and idle for them to prove their debts during his infancy, for, the whole proceedings must be in vain, if the debts are disaffirmed by him after he attains his majority. . . . It is not intended to express any opinion as to whether an infant may or may not voluntarily petition in respect of contracts for which he is liable, such as debts for the value of necessaries."

It seems that under the Act of 1841 infants were held entitled to the benefits of the Act. In re Book, 3 McLean (U. S.) 317, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,637.

Minor engaging in business as adult.— Where a state statute provides that if a minor engages in business as an adult and a party giving him credit has reason to believe him of full age, the minor cannot upon becoming of full age disaffirm his contract made while an infant, it was held that a minor becomes liable for goods sold to him on credit while conducting a general store, and that notwithstanding his infancy he may be adjudged a bankrupt upon his own petition. In re Brice, 93 Fed. 942, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197.

66. In re Funk, 101 Fed. 244, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 96; In re Marvin, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 178, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,178, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 394.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 19.

Becoming insane after having committed an act of bankruptcy does not prevent one from being adjudged a bankrupt in voluntary bankruptcy proceedings. So held under the former act. In re Weitzel, 7 Biss. (U. S.) 289, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,365, 3 Centr. L. J. 557, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 466; In re Pratt, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 96, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,371, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 276.

It is apparently an open question in England under the bankruptcy statute there as to whether a lunatic can be adjudged either a voluntary or involuntary bankrupt. In re Farnham, [1895] 2 Ch. 799, 64 L. J. Ch. 717.

The insanity of a bankrupt after proceedings begun does not abate such proceedings, but they must be conducted and concluded in the same manner, so far as possible, as though he had not become insane. Bankr. Act (1898), § 8.

67. In re Burka, 107 Fed. 674, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 843. A person who is so unsound of mind as to be incapable of managing his affairs cannot in that condition commit an act by which he can be forced into bankruptcy by his creditors against the objection of his guardian. In re Marvin, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 178, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,178, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 394.

68. In re Goodman, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 401, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,540, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 380; In re Howland, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,791, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 53, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 163, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 357.

If she may lawfully engage in business and incur liabilities, such a woman is entitled on her own petition to receive the benefits of the Bankruptcy Act. In re Collins, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 415, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,006, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 335.

If she may interpose the defense of coverture and defeat the debt which is the basis of the bankruptcy proceedings she cannot avail herself of the Act. In re Slichter, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,943, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 336.

Under the former act it was held that where the law had not removed her common-law disabilities a petition in bankruptcy would not lie against a married woman, unless it appeared that she had a separate estate (In re Goodman, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 401, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,540, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 380), and that the debts had been contracted by her for the benefit of her separate estate

B. Involuntary Bankrupts — 1. In General. Any natural person, except a wage-earner[69] or a person engaged chiefly in farming or the tillage of the soil, any unincorporated company, and any corporation engaged principally in manufacturing, trading, printing, publishing, or mercantile pursuits,[70] owing debts to the amount of one thousand dollars or over, may be adjudged an involuntary bankrupt upon default or an impartial trial, and are subject to the provisions and entitled to the benefits of the Act.[71]

2. Corporations[72] — a. In General. A corporation cannot be adjudged a bankrupt by involuntary proceedings, unless it is engaged either in manufacturing, trading, printing, publishing, or mercantile pursuits.[73]

b. Manufacturing Corporations. Within the meaning of the terms "manufacturer" and "manufacturing,"[74] a corporation engaged principally in smelting ores is a manufacturing[75] corporation, and may be adjudged a bankrupt.[76]

c. Mining Corporations. A mining corporation is neither a manufacturing nor a trading corporation, and cannot be proceeded against as an involuntary bankrupt.[77] If the principal business of a mining corporation is to buy and sell or with intent to bind such estate (In re Howland, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,791, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 53, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 163, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 357). Compare In re Kinkead, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 405, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,824, 1 Am. L. Rec. 533, 6 Am. L. T. Rep. 45, 2 Bench & Bar N. S. 41, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 217, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 439, 7 West. Jur. 110. See also In re Brice, 93 Fed. 942, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197.

69. The term "wage-earner" means an individual who works for wages, salary, or hire at a rate of compensation not exceeding one thousand five hundred dollars per year. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (17).

70. Private bankers, but not national banks or banks incorporated under state or territorial laws, may be adjudged involuntary bankrupts. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*. The liquidation and settlement of all state and national banks is provided for by federal or state statutes. See, generally, Banks and Banking.

71. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*.

An involuntary bankruptcy proceeding is a proceeding by the creditors adverse to the bankrupt. In re Taylor, 102 Fed. 728, 42 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515.

72. Corporations as voluntary bankrupts see supra, IV, A, 4.

The fact that a corporation cannot become a voluntary bankrupt does not preclude its directors and stock-holders who are creditors from commencing involuntary proceedings against it. In re Rollins Gold, etc., Min. Co., 102 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 327.

73. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*.

Intent of the Act.— Presumably with the knowledge of the "broad grant of jurisdiction over corporations under the former law, congress passed the present law in which there is not alone no broad grant of jurisdiction over corporations, but in which . . . congress does enumerate, by name and description, the various kinds of such corporations subjected to the jurisdiction of the court. There being a manifest purpose to abridge the prior broad jurisdiction over corporations, we are not now warranted in enlarging by judicial construction where congress has evidenced its purpose to restrict." In re Keystone Coal Co., 109 Fed. 872, 873, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 377, 378.

The Act of 1867 applied to all moneyed, business, or commercial corporations, and joint-stock companies. It was held that the language used was for the purpose of including all corporations of a private nature organized for pecuniary profit. Walter v. Iowa, etc., R. Co., 2 Dill. (U. S.) 487, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,890, 6 Alb. L. J. 358, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 74, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 289, 6 West. Jur. 562. See also New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Delamore, 114 U. S. 501, 5 S. Ct. 1009, 29 L. ed. 244.

74. For definition of these terms see People v. Roberts, 145 N. Y. 377, 40 N. E. 7, 64 N. Y. St. 827; and, generally, Corporations; Manufactures.

75. The term "manufacturing" has been held to include the cutting up trees into timber. In re Chandler, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 478, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,591, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 213; In re Cowles, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,297, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 280, 1 West. Jur. 367.

76. In re Tecopa Min., etc., Co., 110 Fed. 120, 121, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 250 [criticizing In re Rollins Gold, etc., Min. Co., 102 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 327], where the referee in his opinion, which was approved by the court, said: "In a strict sense, man can create nothing. He can only alter the form of existing things. The ore, when taken from the mine by the process of mining, is changed neither in form nor in substance, unless breaking may be termed a change of form. It is ore still. But when smelted it is ore no longer in form, and the substance is altered by taking away some of its component parts. There has been alteration, and that by human hands and machinery. To my mind, it comes clearly within the popular definition of 'manufacturing.'"

77. In re Elk Park Min., etc., Co., 101 Fed. 422, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 131.

ores it may be deemed a trading corporation, notwithstanding the fact that incidentally it has been engaged in mining; but if the principal business is mining and selling the ores mined it is not a trading corporation.[78]

d. Trading and Mercantile Corporations. The term "mercantile pursuit" necessarily carries with it the idea of traffic, the buying of something from another, or the selling of something to another, and is allied to trade.[79] A "trader" has been defined as one who makes it his business to buy merchandise or goods and chattels, and to sell the same for the purpose of making a profit.[80] Under the present Act, the principal business which characterizes a corporation

Mining companies were not named in the Act and a fair import of the terms used cannot be stretched to include them. In re Keystone Coal Co., 109 Fed. 872, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 377 [reversing 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 389]. See also Byers v. Franklin Coal Co., 106 Mass. 131 (where it was held that a mining company is not a manufacturing company within the meaning of a statute imposing a liability for debts upon officers and stock-holders for a manufacturing corporation); In re Rollins Gold, etc., Min. Co., 102 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 327. In In re Woodside Coal Co., 105 Fed. 56, 57, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 186, McPherson, J., says: "It may, perhaps, be worth suggesting that, although mining companies are in some sense engaged in trade, nevertheless they belong so plainly to a distinct class of trading corporations that they are almost always specifically named in any statute that is intended to embrace them. Failure to name them, therefore, raises a presumption of some force that they were not in the legislative view."

78. In re Chicago-Joplin Lead, etc., Co., 104 Fed. 67, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 712. But compare McNamara v. Helena Coal Co., 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 48, where it is held that if a mining corporation, as an incident to and in connection with its coal-mining business, conducts a small supply store for the convenience of its employees, in which only a small part of its assets are invested, it cannot be considered as principally engaged in trading and therefore subject to be adjudged an involuntary bankrupt.

79. In re Cameron Town Mut. F., etc., Ins. Co., 96 Fed. 756, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372.

Broader signification than "trading."— "Mercantile pursuit" signifies for the most part the same thing as trading; and by mercantile pursuits we mean the buying or selling of goods and merchandise, or dealing in the purchase or sale of commodities, and that, too, not incidentally or occasionally, but habitually as a business. In re New York, etc., Water Co., 98 Fed. 711, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 508.

80. Bouvier L. Dict. Also defined as "one whose business is to buy and sell merchandise, or any class of goods, deriving a profit from his dealings." Black L. Dict. See also In re Smith, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 69, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,981; In re Chandler, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 478, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,591, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 213; Wakeman v. Hoyt, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,051, 5 Law Rep. 309, 1 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132; Love v. Love, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,549, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 101.

Under the Bankruptcy Act in England as it existed prior to 24 & 25 Vict. c. 134, a person could not be adjudged a bankrupt unless he was a trader. Lord Ellenborough, in Sutton v. Weeley, 7 East 442, 3 Smith K. B. 445, states that the proper description of the business of a trader includes both buying and selling either goods or merchandise, or other goods ordinarily the subject of traffic. 12 & 13 Vict. § 65 enumerated the persons to be deemed as traders. See In re Cleland, L. R. 2 Ch. 466, 36 L. J. Bankr. 33, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 403, 15 Wkly. Rep. 681; 3 Parsons Contr. (7th ed.) c. 12.

Among the persons held to be traders under former acts are: Bakers. In re Cocks, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 260, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,933. Butchers. Daniels v. Palmer, 35 Minn. 347, 29 N. W. 162; In re Bassett, 8 Fed. 266. Furniture dealers. In re Newman, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 20, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,175, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 123, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 302. Innkeepers. In re Ryan, 2 Sawy. (U. S.) 411, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,183, 5 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 263. Livery-stable keepers. In re Odell, 9 Ben. (U. S.) 209, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,426, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 73. Persons engaged in manufacturing lumber. In re Cowles, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,297, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 280, 1 West. Jur. 367. Stair builders. In re Garrison, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 430, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,254, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 287.

A railroad contractor or a speculator in stocks is not deemed a trader or a merchant. In re Woodward, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 563, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,001; In re Marston, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 313, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,142; In re Smith, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 69, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,981; In re Moss, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,877, 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 132.

Incidental purchases or sales by a person who is not otherwise a trader will not constitute him one. In re Kimball, 7 Fed. 461; In re Duff, 4 Fed. 519; In re Rogers, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 423, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,001, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 564.

The selling of the natural products of one's own land does not constitute trading or a mercantile pursuit, even though some yearly purchases may be made by the seller in order to keep up his regular supply. In re Woods, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,990, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 236, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 128, 20 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 21. And see In re Cleland, as being engaged in trading or mercantile pursuits is not what it might have done within the provisions of its charter, but rather what it is actually engaged in doing.[81]

e. Effect of Dissolution. In spite of a corporation's application to a state court for a dissolution and the appointment of a temporary receiver, the local law necessarily yields to the general law, and an adjudication in bankruptcy will be granted if it is determined that the corporation has committed an act of bankruptcy.[82]

3. Farmers. Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings cannot be brought against a person engaged chiefly in farming or the tillage of the soil.[83] It is difficult, if

L. R. 2 Ch. 466, 36 L. J. Bankr. 33, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 403, 15 Wkly. Rep. 681; Ex p. Gallimore, 2 Rose 424.

81. In re Chicago-Joplin Lead, etc., Co., 104 Fed. 67, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 712. The question is not how extensive the company's powers may be, but in what pursuits the corporation is in fact principally engaged, and whether those pursuits are principally trading or mercantile. In re New York, etc., Water Co., 98 Fed. 711, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 508. See also In re Minnesota, etc., Constr. Co., (Ariz. 1900) 60 Pac. 881; In re Cameron Town Mut. F., etc., Ins. Co., 96 Fed. 756, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372.

A company incorporated to buy and sell water for power, manufacturing, and hydraulic purposes, but which has confined itself to supplying water to the residents of municipalities and the municipal corporations themselves, is not engaged principally in either trading or mercantile pursuits. In re New York, etc., Water Co., 98 Fed. 711, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 508, where the court says: "But in each case as it arises the limitations imposed by the act must be carefully observed. No such corporation can be subjected to the operation of a bankrupt law nor can the court acquire jurisdiction over it, unless it is found to be 'engaged principally in trading or mercantile pursuits.' These words must be interpreted in the sense in which they are commonly used and received, and not in any strained or unnatural sense for the purpose of including or of excluding particular corporations."

A corporation engaged in giving theatrical performances is not a trading corporation and cannot be declared a bankrupt. In re Oriental Soc., 104 Fed. 915, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 219.

A corporation organized for the purpose of insuring the property of its members against loss by fire, lightning, or wind-storms is not engaged principally in mercantile pursuits. In re Cameron Town Mut F., etc., Ins. Co., 96 Fed. 756, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372.

A corporation principally engaged in boarding horses for its customers, including the complete care of them, and also care of wagons, harness, coaches, etc., is engaged in trading or mercantile pursuits. In re Morton Boarding Stables, 108 Fed. 791, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 763 [following In re Odell, 9 Ben. (U. S.) 209, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,426, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 73, where Blatchford, J., construed the words "merchant or tradesman" in the Act of 1867, as including livery-stable keepers, considering that the purchase and supply of hay, oats, feed, etc., which are the principal duties in this business, and receiving pay therefor in the compensation paid for the board of horses was equivalent to a sale of the feed, and constituted trading].

A private hospital for the cure of consumptives conducted for a financial profit has been held to be a trading or mercantile corporation. In re San Gabriel Sanatorium Co., 95 Fed. 271, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 408. But this doctrine has been disapproved. In re Elk Park Min., etc., Co., 101 Fed. 422, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 131.

82. In re Empire Metallic Bedstead Co., 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 136.

Under the Act of 1867 it was held that notwithstanding the dissolution of a corporation by action of the state court, if there were undisputed assets and unpaid debts the corporation might be put into bankruptcy. In re Washington Mar. Ins. Co., 2 Ben. (U. S.) 292, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,246, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 648; In re Merchants' Ins. Co., 3 Biss. (U. S.) 162, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,441, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 73, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 43, 20 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 32; In re Independent Ins. Co., 2 Lowell (U. S.) 97, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,018, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 169.

83. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*.

Two classes of persons are within this exception: those engaged in farming and those engaged in the tillage of the soil. A person engaged in raising live stock may be deemed a farmer, although not chiefly engaged in the tillage of the soil. It may be objected to this construction of the Act, that one who is engaged chiefly in farming will be engaged in the tillage of the soil, and therefore both descriptions are applicable to only one class of persons; but this is not true in all cases, and while it is true that both descriptions will, in the majority of instances, be applicable to those engaged in farming, yet this is not universally true, and the two descriptions are not strictly synonymous. Thus market-gardeners, nurserymen, and the like are engaged in tilling the soil, but they are not engaged in "farming," as that term is now used, and hence the need of including in the Act words descriptive of a class who are engaged in tilling the soil, but who are not farmers, as that word is now used and understood by the community at large. In re Thompson, 102 Fed. 287, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 340.

not impossible, to state facts which will, in all cases, determine whether a person is engaged chiefly in farming. It may be stated generally that if a person's principal business, in which he is permanently engaged, and upon which he mainly relies for his livelihood and financial welfare, is that of farming he is entitled to the exemption.[84] If, after an act of bankruptcy has been committed, a person changes his occupation to that of farming he is not thereby relieved from the operation of the Act.[85]

4. INFANTS, LUNATICS, AND MARRIED WOMEN.[86] An infant cannot be adjudged a bankrupt in involuntary proceedings where the debt is one that can be avoided by him.[87] The application of the present Act to lunatics and married women has already been considered.[88]

5. PARTNERS. A partnership during the continuation of the partnership business or after its dissolution or before the final settlement thereof may be adjudged bankrupt.[89]

V. ACTS OF BANKRUPTCY.

A. Who May Commit. Any person[90] who can be adjudged an involuntary bankrupt[91] may commit an act of bankruptcy.[92]

84. In re Mackey, 110 Fed. 355, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 577, where it is said: "A person engaged chiefly in farming is one whose chief occupation or business is farming. The chief occupation or business of one, so far as worldly pursuits are concerned, is that which is of principal concern to him, of some permanency in its nature, and on which he chiefly relies for his livelihood or as the means of acquiring wealth, great or small."

85. Change of occupation.— A petition in involuntary proceedings must be filed within four months of the commission of the act of bankruptcy relied on, and if an insolvent is engaged in an occupation which is within the purview of the law, has committed an act amenable to its provisions, and desires within such period to adopt one of the callings favored by the law and exempted from its operation in respect to involuntary proceedings, he should not be permitted to carry with him the property previously accumulated, to the defrauding of preëxisting creditors. In re Luckhardt, 101 Fed. 807, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 307. And see In re Mackey, 110 Fed. 355, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 577.

86. Infants, lunatics, and married women as voluntary bankrupts see supra, IV, A, 4.

87. In re Eidemiller, 105 Fed. 595, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 570.

Acts of bankruptcy by infants.— If a transfer is made by an infant which would be an act of bankruptcy if committed by an adult, and the transfer is affirmed upon his becoming of age, then a liability exists and proceedings in bankruptcy, voluntary or involuntary, may be instituted. But if the transfer is not affirmed, then it seems that it is no act of bankruptcy, and no proceedings can be instituted by or against the person who did it, even after he attains his majority. If the proceedings are instituted during the infancy of the alleged bankrupt, no affirmance of the act after he becomes of age will give the court jurisdiction of the proceedings; but the proceeding must be instituted de novo. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 47 [citing In re Derby, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 232, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,815, 6 Alb. L. J. 422, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 106; Belton v. Hodges, 9 Bing. 365, 2 Moore & S. 496, 23 E. C. L. 618; Rex v. Cole, 1 Ld. Raym. 443; Ex p. Watson, 16 Ves. Jr. 265; Ex p. Moule, 14 Ves. Jr. 602; Ex p. Barwis, 6 Ves. Jr. 601; Ex p. Henderson, 4 Ves. Jr. 163; Ex p. Barrow, 3 Ves. Jr. 554; Ex p. Adam, 1 Ves. & B. 493, 12 Rev. Rep. 280].

88. See supra, IV, A, 4.

In England it has been held that a married woman, carrying on trade in the name of a firm separately from her husband, cannot be made bankrupt for non-compliance with a bankruptcy notice founded on a judgment obtained against her in the name of the firm. In re Handford, [1899] 1 Q. B. 566, 68 L. J. Q. B. 386, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 125, 6 Manson 131, 47 Wkly. Rep. 391.

89. Bankr. Act (1898), § 5*a*. See also Davis v. Stevens, 104 Fed. 235, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 763; In re Levy, 95 Fed. 812, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 21; In re Dunnigan, 95 Fed. 428, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 628.

As to bankruptcy proceedings in partnership cases see infra, XX.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 21.

The partnership here referred to is one between the parties where there may be joint and individual assets, and not a partnership as to creditors only, without any possible joint estate. In re Kenney, 97 Fed. 554, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 353. See also In re Downing, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 33, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,044, 3 Am. L. T. 165, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 207, 2 Chic. Leg. N. 265, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 748, 17 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 169.

90. The term "person" includes corporations, partnerships, and women. Bankr. Act (1898), 1 (19), supra, note 8, p. 238.

91. As to persons who may be adjudged bankrupts see supra, IV, B.

92. An agent acting without the scope of

B. What Constitutes — 1. Construction of Statute. While a bankruptcy act itself may be deemed remedial,[93] it would seem that the section thereof prescribing what constitutes an act of bankruptcy should be considered penal in its operation and effect,[94] and should therefore not be construed to include within its provisions any act not therein specified as an act of bankruptcy.[95]

2. Admission of Willingness to Be Declared Bankrupt — a. In General. A person commits an act of bankruptcy by admitting in writing[96] his inability to pay his debts and his willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt on that ground.[97]

b. Of Corporations. The question arose at the outset as to whether a corporation could make a written admission of inability to pay debts and declare its willingness to be adjudged bankrupt.[98] But there seems to be no question at the present time as to the power of a corporation, through its properly authorized officers,[99] his agency and without the consent of his principal cannot render his principal liable for an act of bankruptcy. Ex p. Blain, 12 Ch. D. 522, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 46, 28 Wkly. Rep. 334. But if one member of a partnership commits an act of bankruptcy, within the scope of his authority and in respect to the partnership property, an involuntary bankruptcy proceeding may be instituted against the partnership itself. Strang v. Bradner, 114 U. S. 555, 5 S. Ct. 1038, 29 L. ed. 248; In re Dibblee, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 283, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,884, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 355, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 617; In re Black, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 196, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,457, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 39, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 353.

93. The Act is not to be construed strictly as if it were an obscure and penal enactment. It does not attempt to punish the bankrupt, but to distribute his property fairly and impartially between his creditors to whom, in justice, it belongs. It is intended to relieve the honest but unfortunate debtor from the burden of liabilities which he cannot discharge, and allow him to commence the business of life anew. Such an act must be construed according to the fair import of its terms with a view to effect its objects and to promote justice. Silverman's Case, 2 Abb. (U. S.) 243, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 410, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,855, 13 Int. Rev. Rec. 52, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 522; In re Muller, Deady (U. S.) 513, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,912, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 33, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 329; In re Locke, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 293, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,439, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 382. See supra, I, E.

94. Jones v. Sleeper, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 131, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,496.

To the same effect see Wilson v. St. Paul City Bank, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 473, 21 L. ed. 723, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 270.

95. When acts of bankruptcy are classified as they are in the Act it is not the province of the court to enlarge the classification because the admitted class seems to partake of the sin of the named class. In re Empire Metallic Bedstead Co., 98 Fed. 981, 39 C. C. A. 372, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 575.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 61 et seq.

96. The admission must be written and signed by the alleged bankrupt. There must also be expressed therein a willingness to be declared a bankrupt. A written admission of insolvency alone is not an act of bankruptcy. In re Lange, 97 Fed. 197, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 231.

One member of a partnership may, by a written statement signed by him in behalf of himself and his partners, admit insolvency and express willingness that the firm be adjudged bankrupt within the requirements of the Act. In re Kersten, 110 Fed. 929, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 516.

97. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (5).

Specifying cause of inability to pay.— "The force of the admission of their [a firm's] inability to pay the debts of the firm is not impaired by the specification of the cause thereof, as the conditions thus stated are proven to exist in fact, and unquestionably prevent any payment of debts by the co-partners; and the test for the purposes of this admission as an act of bankruptcy is not that of ultimate sufficiency or insufficiency of the assets to meet the indebtedness, but of present inability to pay." In re Kersten, 110 Fed. 929, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 516.

98. In re Bates Mach. Co., 91 Fed. 625, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 129. In this case the directors signified in writing the company's inability to pay its debts and its willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt, and procured creditors to file an involuntary petition to have the corporation adjudged a bankrupt. One of the creditors was the president of the company, and the other two were his creatures. The court said: "It is very clear that, if an adjudication of bankruptcy were made in this case, the plain intent of section 4 of the bankrupt act would be evaded. Whether the law shall be construed so as to permit such evasion, and the provision denying the benefits of voluntary bankruptcy to a corporation shall be nullified by a petition involuntary only in form, is a serious question."

99. Sufficiency of admission.— Where a resolution was adopted at a meeting of the stock-holders authorizing one of its officers, in behalf of the company, to appear in the United States courts "in the event of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy being filed to make such an admission.[1] The fact that the petitioning creditors are persons to whom claims of officers of the corporation have been assigned is not material.[2]

3. Disposal of Property in Fraud of Creditors — a. Statutory Provision. Having conveyed, transferred, concealed, or removed or permitted to be concealed or removed any part of his property with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, or any of them,[3] constitutes an act of bankruptcy on the part of the person so doing.[4]

b. Concealment[5] and Removal. A concealment[6] may with correctness be stated to be a separation of some tangible thing, money, or chose in action from the body of the insolvent debtor's estate, and its secretion from those who have a right to seize upon it for payment of their debts.[7] The removal of property within the meaning of the Act is a removal from the jurisdiction of the court with intent to deprive creditors of their legal rights in respect thereto.[8]

c. Conveyances and Transfers — (1) In General. The conveyances and transfers[9] which are declared by the Act to be acts of bankruptcy are those which against the company," and admit in writing the inability of the company to pay its debts, and its willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt on that ground, it was held that such resolution was not such an unqualified admission as is required. In re Baker-Ricketson Co., 97 Fed. 489, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605.

Application under a state law for a receiver in dissolution proceedings, although a written admission of its inability to pay its debts, does not also express a willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt, and is not for that reason an act of bankruptcy. In re Empire Metallic Bedstead Co., 95 Fed. 957, 39 C. C. A. 372, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 136.

1. In re T. L. Kelly Dry-Goods Co., 102 Fed. 747, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528; In re L. Humbert Co., 100 Fed. 439, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76; In re Marine Mach., etc., Co., 91 Fed. 630, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 421.

2. In re Rollins Gold, etc., Min. Co., 102 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 327.

3. The term "creditor" is defined in the Act. Bankr. Act, § 1 (9), supra, note 8, p. 238. In Beers v. Hanlin, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 745, it is said: "Unless the petitioner was a 'creditor' at the time of the transfer to Aylsworth, such transfer did not constitute an act of bankruptcy. A creditor, under the bankrupt act, is one who owns a demand or claim provable in bankruptcy, and this was not such a demand or claim. An unliquidated claim is not provable in bankruptcy. A claim like this, arising out of a tort, must be reduced to judgment, or, pursuant to application to the court, be liquidated in such manner as the court shall direct, in order to be proved against a bankrupt's estate."

4. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (1).

5. As to what concealment of the property of a bankrupt will prevent his discharge see infra, XIX, D, 3.

The concealment of property by a bankrupt after adjudication or after his discharge is an offense against the Bankruptcy Act and is punishable by imprisonment. Bankr. Act (1898), § 29*b* (1). See infra, XXI, A.

6. The term "conceal" includes to secrete, falsify, and mutilate. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (22) supra, note 8, p. 238.

7. Salem Citizens' Bank v. W. C. De Pauw Co., 105 Fed. 926, 45 C. C. A. 130, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 345, holding that where an officer of an insolvent corporation buys up at a discount, under the guise of another person, outstanding judgments against such corporation, under which its property, under the same guise, is purchased at judicial sale, and where the quantum of the property is not kept under cover or concealed but remains visible, and the only concealment is that of the actual consideration paid, such transaction is not a continuing concealment within the meaning of Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (1), although it may be fraudulent. See also Fox v. Eckstein, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,009, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 373.

An attachment secured upon a fictitious debt for the purpose of preventing an attachment by a bona fide creditor has been considered a concealment, because the words imply not only a physical removal or concealment of the property, but also a concealment of title and the position of the property. In re Williams, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 406, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,703, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 286; In re Hussman, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,951, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 53, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 177, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 437.

Presumption of concealment.— If money belonging to an insolvent debtor has been lost or not accounted for there is no presumption that it has been secreted or concealed. Davis v. Stevens, 104 Fed. 235, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 763.

8. In re Hammond, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 381, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,999, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 273.

Where an insolvent debtor flees from his domicile to escape prosecution for crime and takes with him property which, had he remained, must have been transferred to his trustee in bankruptcy, it constitutes both concealment and removal of property with intent to defraud his creditors, and is an act of bankruptcy within the meaning of the Act. In re Filer, 108 Fed. 209, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 332.

9. The term "transfer" is defined in the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (25), supra, note 8, p. 238.

by the common law and by statute are deemed fraudulent.[10] Thus a conveyance by a debtor of property to a trustee of his own selection, for the equal benefit of his creditors, although not a general assignment,[11] because containing certain conditions of defeasance, is nevertheless an act of bankruptcy, since it tends to defeat or delay the operation of the Act, by providing a different method of administration than that contemplated thereby.[12] But where a debtor borrows money prior to bankruptcy and at the same time makes a transfer of property as a security therefor, such transfer is not an act of bankruptcy.[13]

(II) Voluntary Transfers. A voluntary transfer of property founded upon the consideration of blood or marriage is presumptively valid;[14] such a transfer, where the only consideration is good will or friendship, is, however, prima facie fraudulent.[15] But in any event, if the grantor is indebted at the time the transfer is made the burden is upon the grantee to show that the grantor had abundant means, in addition to the property transferred, to pay all his debts.[16] If at the time the transfer is made the grantor is indebted to such an extent that the transfer will embarrass him in the payment of his debts, such transfer will be deemed fraudulent, although the debts due may be subsequently paid in the course of business.[17] A voluntary transfer made while the grantor was free from

10. See In re Shapiro, 106 Fed. 495, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 839; In re Baker-Ricketson Co., 97 Fed. 489, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605; and, generally, FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES. All such conveyances and transfers are null and void as to creditors, if made within four months prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy (Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*e*; and, generally, infra, XVI, C), and may be set aside in an action brought by the trustee, even if made earlier than four months prior to the filing of such petition (Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*e*; and, generally, infra, XVI, C, 2).

11. See, generally, infra, V, B, 4.

12. Davis v. Bohle, 92 Fed. 325, 34 C. C. A. 372, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412; Globe Ins. Co. v. Cleveland Ins. Co., 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,486, 4 Am. L. Rec. 652, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 258, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 311. In Rumsey, etc., Co. v. Novelty, etc., Mfg. Co., 99 Fed. 699, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 704, the court says: "Among . . . the rights conferred upon creditors by the Bankruptcy Act are: (1) to choose their own trustees; (2) to examine the bankrupt; (3) to have notice of all the important steps in the administration of the estate; and (4) to have the assets converted into money and distributed under the supervision and control of a court of bankruptcy. Any course of procedure by an insolvent . . . whereby he conveys all his property to some trustee of his own selection, with power to dispose of it according to his own judgment, and with none of the safeguards provided by the bankruptcy act, clearly deprives the creditors of the valuable rights accorded to them by that act."

13. In re Wolf, 98 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555. See also In re Davidson, 109 Fed. 882, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528, where it was held that a mortgage executed to secure a money loan made at the same time was valid; if such mortgage was given to secure an antecedent debt it would be deemed a preferential transfer, and therefore an act of bankruptcy. Under the former act it was held that "an insolvent person may properly make efforts to extricate himself from his embarrassments, and therefore he may borrow money, and give at the time security therefor, provided always that the transaction be free from fraud in fact and upon the bankrupt act. And hence it is a settled principle of bankrupt law, both in England and in this country, that advances made in good faith to a debtor to carry on business, upon security taken at the time, do not violate either the terms or policy of the bankrupt act." Darby v. Boatman's Sav. Inst., 1 Dill. (U. S.) 141, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,571, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 251, 4 Am. L. T. 117, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 249, 1 Leg. Op. (Pa.) 146, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 600. See also Gatman v. Honea, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,271, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 395, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 493; In re Sanford, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,310, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 351; In re Rosenfeld, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,057, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 100, 8 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 44, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 116; In re Cowles, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,297, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 280, 1 West. Jur. 367.

14. Sedgwick v. Place, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 184, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,620, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 168.

15. Babcock v. Eckler, 24 N. Y. 623; Van Wyck v. Seward, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 375; and, generally, FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

16. Pratt v. Curtis, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 87, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,375, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 139.

17. Antrim v. Kelly, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 494, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 587. See also Smith v. Kehr, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 50, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,071, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 97, 6 West. Jur. 451; In re Antisdel, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 490, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 289; Fisher v. Henderson, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,820, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 175.

Conveyance by a father to his sons, in consideration of his support, is fraudulent as to his creditors, and would be an act of bankruptcy at the instance of his creditors. In re Johann, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 139.

debt cannot be impeached by subsequent creditors, unless it be shown to have been fraudulent, or made with a view to future debts.[18]

d. Intent. Intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors is an essential element of the act of bankruptcy; and the question of intent is one of fact which must be proved or inferred from other facts in evidence.[19]

4. General Assignment For Benefit of Creditors — a. In General. Having made a general assignment for the benefit of creditors constitutes an act of bankruptcy on the part of the person so doing.[20] There is a distinction to be made

One engaged in business made a settlement upon his wife to protect his family in case he became insolvent, and at the time, though not actually insolvent, he was weak and unsteady in his pecuniary matters. The conveyance was fraudulent. Sedgwick v. Place, 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 163, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,621, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 28.

18. In re Jones, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 68, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,444, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 271, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 556; Barker v. Barker, 2 Woods (U. S.) 87, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 986, 2 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 386, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 474. But where grantor is engaged, or is about to engage, in a business involving great risks, or which is in a failing condition, such transfers are then looked upon with suspicion. Beecher v. Clark, 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 256, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,223, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 385; Case v. Phelps, 39 N. Y. 164, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 452.

Settlement of property of moderate value upon his wife, by a bankrupt when in prosperous circumstances, all his debts existing at the time being afterward paid, was held to be valid as against his creditors. Smith v. Vodges, 92 U. S. 183, 23 L. ed. 481, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 433.

Where a voluntary transfer is made to a child, and at the time the grantor is in prosperous circumstances, although in debt to a small amount, the transfer is not fraudulent if it be shown that the gift is reasonable and sufficient property remain to pay debts. Sedgwick v. Place, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 184, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,620, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 168.

19. In re Goldschmidt, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 379, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,520, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 164; Langley v. Perry, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,067, 8 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 427, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 84, 2 Balt. L. Transcr. 521, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 596, 16 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 117; In re Cowles, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,297, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 280, 1 West. Jur. 367. The intent need exist only on the part of the person making the transfer; if that exists the debtor clearly commits an act of bankruptcy, however innocent the intent of the preferred creditor or the person receiving it may be. In re Drummond, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,093, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 7, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 231. If the natural consequence of a fraudulent transfer is to defraud creditors the intent will be presumed. Wager v. Hall, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 584, 21 L. ed. 504; Toof v. Martin, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 40, 20 L. ed. 481, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 49; In re Bloch, 109 Fed. 790, 48 C. C. A. 650, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300; Johnson v. Wald, 93 Fed. 640, 35 C. C. A. 522, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 84; In re Smith, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 1, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,974, 3 Am. L. T. 7, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 147, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 377; Sawyer v. Turpin, 1 Holmes (U. S.) 251, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,409, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 339 [affirmed in 91 U. S. 114, 23 L. ed. 235]; Miller v. Keys, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,578, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 224.

Every one is presumed to intend the legal consequences of his acts, and where an insolvent debtor transfers a large portion of his property to one creditor to the exclusion of others, such transaction must be taken as conclusive of an intent to give a preference. In re McGee, 105 Fed. 895, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 262.

20. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (4).

The Bankruptcy Act of 1867 contained no express provision making a general assignment for the benefit of creditors an act of bankruptcy; but the prevailing authority was in favor of the position that such assignments were acts of bankruptcy, for the reason that they avoided the provisions of the bankruptcy laws and enabled the debtor to escape examination and to control and regulate, through an assignee appointed by him, the distribution of his estate. Boese v. King, 108 U. S. 379, 2 S. Ct. 765, 27 L. ed. 760; In re Lawrence, 10 Ben. (U. S.) 4, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,133, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 516, 26 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 143; Macdonald v. Moore, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 579, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,763, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 53, 23 Int. Rev. Rec. 25, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 26, 3 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 461, 24 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 83; In re Smith, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 1, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,974, 3 Am. L. T. 7, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 147, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 377; In re Croft, 8 Biss. (U. S.) 188, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,404, 6 Am. L. Rec. 597, 10 Chic. Leg. N. 204, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 324, 6 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 218; In re Frisbee, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 185, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,129, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 522; In re Beisenthal, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 146, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,236, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 228; In re Randall, Deady (U. S.) 557, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,551, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 69, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 209, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 18; In re Burt, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 439, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,210; McLean v. Johnson, 3 McLean (U. S.) 202, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,883, 1 West. Jur. 189; McLean v. Meline, 3 McLean (U. S.) 199, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,890, 1 West. L. J. 51; Jackson v. McCulloch, 1 Woods (U. S.) 433, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,140, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 283, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 534; In re Mendelsohn, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 342, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,420, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 533; Spicer v. Ward, 22 Fed. Cas.

between general assignments for the benefit of creditors and proceedings under state insolvency laws providing for the discharge of an insolvent debtor.[21] A general assignment is valid unless invalidated by subsequent bankruptcy proceedings;[22] but all proceedings under state insolvency laws are void.[23]

b. What Is an Assignment Within the Meaning of the Act. Under the present Act any voluntary general[24] assignment for the benefit of creditors, whether with or without preferences,[25] if made within four months of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy against the assignor, is an act of bankruptcy by express enactment.[26] Thus, a general assignment for the benefit of creditors made by the vote of a majority of the board of directors and of the stock-holders of a corporation is an act of bankruptcy.[27] And it has been held that a confession of

No. 13,241, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 512; Platt v. Preston, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,219, 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 241; In re Kasson, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,617, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 379; Hardy v. Bininger, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,057, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 262; Globe Ins. Co. v. Cleveland Ins. Co., 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,486, 13 Alb. L. J. 305, 4 Am. L. Rec. 652, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 258, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 311; In re Chamberlain, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,574, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 710. Contra, see Sedgwick v. Place, 34 Conn. 552, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,622, 1 Am. L. Bankr. Rep. 97, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 673; Hewitt v. Northrup, 75 N. Y. 506; Haas v. O'Brien, 66 N. Y. 597; In re Wells, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,387, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 163, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 20, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 37, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 181, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 171; Langley v. Perry, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,067, 8 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 427, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 84, 2 Balt. L. Transcr. 521, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 596, 16 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 117.

The present English statute has declared a general assignment to be an act of bankruptcy, in conformity with the decisions of the courts previously rendered. Bankr. Act (1883), § 4*a*. See also In re Wood, L. R. 7 Ch. 302; Tappenden v. Burgess, 4 East 230, 1 Smith K. B. 33; Thompson v. Jackson, 11 L. J. C. P. 44, 3 M. & G. 621, 4 Scott N. R. 234, 42 E. C. L. 325; Simpson v. Sikes, 6 M. & S. 295.

In the absence of statutory enactments.— Since the time of George II, and even prior, the current of English adjudications, followed by our own, has been that a voluntary assignment of all his property by an insolvent debtor to an assignee of his own choosing, though without preferences, is itself an act of bankruptcy, a fraud upon the Act and hence a fraud upon the creditors, as respects their rights in bankruptcy, and voidable at the trustee's option, even without an express provision to that effect in the statute. In re Gutwillig, 90 Fed. 475, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 78 [affirmed in 92 Fed. 337, 63 U. S. App. 191, 34 C. C. A. 377, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 388]. A voluntary assignment is in effect an act of bankruptcy, and is fraudulent, not at common law, or under 13 Eliz., but because it defeats the rights of creditors secured by the bankrupt law to the choice of a trustee, to the summary jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court, and to the ample control which the law intended to give them over the estate of their insolvent debtor, and is therefore a fraud upon the Act and upon the creditors' rights, which prevent the assignee from holding the assigned estate as against a trustee in bankruptcy. Barnes v. Rettew, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 133, 28 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 124, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,019; In re Beisenthal, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 146, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,236, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 228; Globe Ins. Co. v. Cleveland Ins. Co., 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,486, 13 Alb. L. J. 305, 4 Am. L. Rec. 652, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 258, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 311.

21. In re Sievers, 91 Fed. 366, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 117. See also, generally, Assignments For Benefit of Creditors, 4 Cyc. 113.

22. Patty-Joiner, etc., Co. v. Cummins, 93 Tex. 598, 57 S. W. 566, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 269; In re Romanow, 92 Fed. 510, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 461. See also Assignments For Benefit of Creditors, 4 Cyc. 113; and supra, I, D.

23. In re John A. Etheridge Furniture Co., 92 Fed. 329, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 112. See also Patty-Joiner, etc., Co. v. Cummins, 93 Tex. 598, 57 S. W. 566, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 269. See also supra, I, D.

24. Partial assignment.— An assignment which purports to transfer all the property of a partnership is a general assignment by the partnership, and if it does not purport to assign the individual property of each member of the firm, it is but a partial assignment by such members. In re Meyer, 98 Fed. 976, 39 C. C. A. 368, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559.

25. The validity or invalidity of the assignment is immaterial.—Congress, in denominating the making of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors an act of bankruptcy, did not make any distinction between valid and invalid instruments, but used terms which would reach the execution of any instrument which is, or purports to be, a general assignment. In re Meyer, 98 Fed. 976, 39 C. C. A. 368, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559.

26. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (4). See also Costello v. Harbaugh, 83 Ill. App. 29 [affirmed in 184 Ill. 110, 56 N. E. 363, 75 Am. St. Rep. 147]; In re Meyer, 98 Fed. 976, 39 C. C. A. 368, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559 [affirming 92 Fed. 896]; Leidigh Carriage Co. v. Stengel, 95 Fed. 637, 37 C. C. A. 210; Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

27. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a*, b; Clark v. American Mfg., etc., Co., 101 Fed. 962, 42 judgment to a trustee for the benefit of all creditors is a general assignment and therefore an act of bankruptcy.[28] But a petition for the appointment of a receiver by a corporation under a state statute regulating the voluntary dissolution of corporations is not an assignment for the benefit of creditors and consequently not an act of bankruptcy.[29] So the appointment of a receiver in a suit brought in equity by an administrator of a deceased partner for the purpose of liquidating the affairs of the partnership thus dissolved by the death of the partner is not the making of a general assignment.[30] Nor is a deed of trust in the nature of a mortgage, containing a power of sale and providing for the distribution of the proceeds thereof among creditors of the mortgagor, a general assignment for the benefit of creditors.[31]

5. Permitting Preferences Through Legal Proceedings — a. In General. Having suffered or permitted, while insolvent,[32] any creditor to obtain a preference[33] through legal proceedings, and not having at least five days before a sale or final disposition of any property affected by such preference vacated or discharged, such preference constitutes an act of bankruptcy on the part of the person so doing.[34]

b. Intent Not Material. Under the present Act the intent of the insolvent debtor in permitting or suffering a preference by legal proceedings is not material. It is enough that a creditor has obtained a preference, and that the debtor has permitted it to remain undischarged.[35]

C. C. A. 120, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 351. See also George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463; In re Gutwillig, 92 Fed. 337, 63 U. S. App. 191, 34 C. C. A. 377, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 388.

28. In re Green, 106 Fed. 313, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 848.

29. In re Empire Metallic Bedstead Co., 98 Fed. 981, 39 C. C. A. 372, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 575. See also In re Harper, 100 Fed. 266, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 804; In re Baker-Ricketson, 97 Fed. 489, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605.

30. Vaccaro v. Memphis Security Bank, 103 Fed. 436, 43 C. C. A. 279, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 474.

The mere fact that similar consequences attach to the appointment of a receiver for the purpose of winding up the affairs of a partnership or a corporation, as result to creditors from a general assignment, is not enough. Vaccaro v. Memphis Security Bank, 103 Fed. 436, 43 C. C. A. 279, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 474; In re Empire Metallic Bedstead Co., 98 Fed. 981, 39 C. C. A. 372, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 575.

Under the Act of 1867 it was held to be an act of bankruptcy to permit the creation of a receivership. In re Bininger, 7 Blatchf. (U. S.) 262, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,420. But as Judge Lowell observed in In re Baker-Ricketson Co., 97 Fed. 489, 491, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605, 606, this ruling was based upon Bankr. Act (1867), § 39, which made it an act of bankruptcy to "procure or suffer his property to be taken on legal process with intent to defeat or delay the operation of this act." Under that provision it was held that the appointment of a receiver was upon legal process. But this provision is not found in the present Act. Vaccaro v. Memphis Security Bank, 103 Fed. 436, 43 C. C. A. 279, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 474.

31. Rumsey, etc., Co. v. Novelty, etc., Mfg. Co., 99 Fed. 699, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 704. See Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 42.

32. That debtor was insolvent at the time the preference was obtained must be shown. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123. See also infra, V, B, 7.

33. That preference was actually secured through such proceedings must be shown. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

34. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (3); In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484; Duncan v. Landis, 106 Fed. 839, 45 C. C. A. 666, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 649; In re Harper, 105 Fed. 900, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 567; In re Miller, 104 Fed. 764, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 140; Davis v. Stevens, 104 Fed. 235, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 763; In re Storm, 103 Fed. 618, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 601; Vaccaro v. Memphis Security Bank, 103 Fed. 436, 43 C. C. A. 279, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 474; In re Thomas, 103 Fed. 272, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 571; In re Gormully, etc., Co., 95 Fed. 429, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 586; In re Chapman, 99 Fed. 395, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 607; In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63; In re Baker-Ricketson Co., 97 Fed. 489, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605; Parmenter Mfg. Co. v. Stoever, 97 Fed. 330, 38 C. C. A. 200, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 220; In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123; In re Ferguson, 95 Fed. 429, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 586; In re Cliffe, 94 Fed. 354, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 317; In re Moyer, 93 Fed. 188, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 577; In re Reichman, 91 Fed. 624, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17.

35. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

Under Bankr. Act (1867), § 39, specifying what are deemed acts of bankruptcy, provided, that one being bankrupt or insolvent, or in contemplation of bankruptcy or insol-

e. "Legal Proceedings." The words "legal proceedings" as used in the Act have reference to any proceedings in a court of justice, interlocutory or final, by which the property of the debtor is seized and diverted from his creditors.[36]

d. "Suffered or Permitted." The authorities are not harmonious as to the use of the words "suffered or permitted" in respect to preferences by legal proceedings. The prevailing doctrine in nearly all the circuits and districts is that if the insolvent debtor remains passive and supine and permits his property to be taken by judicial proceedings by one creditor at the expense of the others, he has vency who shall give any warrant to confess judgment or procure or suffer his property to be taken on legal proceedings "with intent" to give a preference to one or more of his creditors or with intent to defeat or delay the operation of the Act was guilty of an act of bankruptcy. This provision was first construed upon the theory that where a debtor could prevent the taking of his property by legal proceedings, as by going into voluntary bankruptcy, that if he did not do so he suffered or permitted the taking of his property. In re Craft, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 214, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,316, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 378; In re Black, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 196, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,457, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 39, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 353; In re Schick, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 5, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,455, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 28, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 38, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 183, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 177; In re Sutherland, Deady (U. S.) 344, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,638, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 531; In re Gallingher, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 224, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,202, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 729. These cases considered an intent as necessarily implied by the suffering or permitting of the creation of a preference, or else overlooked the fact that an intent to prefer was an essential element to make the sufferance of a preference by legal proceedings an act of bankruptcy. But Wilson v. St. Paul City Bank, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 473, 21 L. ed. 723, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 97, overruled in effect the cases above cited and held that no intent whatever could be inferred from the neglect of the debtor, properly sued upon a just claim, to interpose a defense when there was no valid defense; that while, when a person does a positive act, the consequences of which he knows beforehand, he must be deemed to intend those consequences, it cannot be inferred that a man intends the consequences of other persons' acts when he contributes nothing to their success. The effect of this decision was to hold that under the Act of 1867, a failure to interpose a defense in an action brought against an insolvent debtor, when no good defense existed, was not an act of bankruptcy.

Effect of omission of provision as to intent. — Intent was necessary under the Act of 1867 in order that a preference by permitting or suffering of legal proceedings might constitute an act of bankruptcy. Clark v. Iselin, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 360, 22 L. ed. 568; Wilson v. St. Paul City Bank, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 473, 21 L. ed. 723. In In re Thomas, 103 Fed. 272, 275, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 571 [citing Parmenter Mfg. Co. v. Stoever, 97 Fed. 330, 38 C. C. A. 200, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 220; In re Moyer, 93 Fed. 188, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 577; In re Reichman, 91 Fed. 624, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17], Buffington, J., says: "Presumably with knowledge of these decisions, congress enacted the present law. Not only does the particular subdivision [Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (3)] now under consideration omit the element of the intent of either creditor or debtor, but that such omission was purposeful and significant is evidenced by the fact that in the acts of bankruptcy defined by the two preceding subdivisions an intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors in the one, and to prefer a creditor in the other, is expressly required. It is clear that, by the purposeful omission of the element of intent in this class, congress has made facts, and not intent, the test of this particular act of bankruptcy. Such facts are insolvency of the debtor, preference through legal proceedings, nonvacation or discharge of such preference five days before a sale, etc."

36. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

"Legal process" as used in the Act of 1867 was not confined to any particular form of writ, execution, or attachment. The writ, mandate, or order of a court taking hold of the property and withdrawing it from the possession and control of the debtor and from the ordinary reach of creditors for the payment of what is due to them, are, each and either of them, within the intent and true meaning of the term "legal process" as implied in that Act. In re Bininger, 7 Blatchf. (U. S.) 262, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,420, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 262.

Proceedings for the foreclosure of liens. — The provision of the Act making the suffering or permitting of a preference by legal proceedings an act of bankruptcy does not apply to proceedings to enforce a lien of a mortgage acquired more than four months before the filing of the petition, notwithstanding the fact that in such proceedings a general judgment was obtained against the alleged bankrupt. In re Chapman, 99 Fed. 395, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 607. The act of bankruptcy referred to in Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (3), must be limited to such acts as, by construction of law, and in view of the Bankruptcy Act, work an injury to creditors, by securing to them a preference which the bankruptcy law is designed to prevent. The language of this subdivision shows this intent. This cannot apply therefore to such levies and liens as are acquired long prior to the passage of the Act, and more than four months prior to the petition, which the Bankruptcy Act does not vacate or disallow. Such a lien the

"suffered or permitted" a preference to be obtained, and is therefore guilty of an act of bankruptcy.[37] It has been held that the suffering or permitting of a receiver to be appointed for the general benefit of creditors of a dissolved and insolvent partnership is not an act of bankruptcy.[38]

6. Preferential Transfers — a. In General. Having transferred[39] while insolvent[40] any portion of his property to one or more of his creditors with intent[41] to prefer[42] such creditors over his other creditors constitutes an act of bankruptcy on the part of the person so doing.[43]

b. What Constitutes a Preferential Transfer Within Meaning of the Act. The term "preference" includes not only a transfer of property[44] but also a debtor cannot be required to satisfy or vacate. In re Ferguson, 95 Fed. 429, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 586.

37. In re Kersten, 110 Fed. 929, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 516; In re Miller, 105 Fed. 57, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 184; In re Thomas, 103 Fed. 272, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 571; In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123; In re Moyer, 93 Fed. 188, 1 Am. Bankr. 577; In re Reichman, 91 Fed. 624, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17; In re Gallagher, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 255. Contra, Duncan v. Landis, 106 Fed. 839, 849, 45 C. C. A. 666, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 649, where the judge said: "Suffering or permitting a creditor to obtain a preference within the meaning of clause 3 of section 3 may consist of connivance between the debtor and creditor, but in any event there must be some act of the will on the part of the debtor, whether by way of procurance or voluntary acquiescence." See also In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63 [following New York City Tenth Nat. Bank v. Warren, 96 U. S. 539, 24 L. ed. 640; Wilson v. St. Paul City Bank, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 473, 21 L. ed. 723], holding that in order to constitute such a preference an act of bankruptcy there must be some act on the part of the debtor, either by way of active procurance or voluntary acquiescence arising from connivance, coöperation, or participation. This case was certified to the United States supreme court, in which the questions of law considered by that court were whether the bankrupt, by his failure to file his voluntary petition in bankruptcy before the sale under a levy, and to procure thereon an adjudication of bankruptcy, or by his failure to pay and discharge the judgment before the sale under such levy was an act of bankruptcy; and also whether the judgment entered and the levy on the execution thereon was a preference "suffered or permitted" by the bankrupt within the meaning of section 3*a* of the Act. The supreme court answered these questions in the affirmative, and held that the cases of Wilson v. St. Paul City Bank, and New York City Tenth Nat. Bank v. Warren, supra, relied upon in the district court, have no application under the present Act. Wilson v. Nelson, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 142.

38. Davis v. Stevens, 104 Fed. 235, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 763; Vaccaro v. Memphis Security Bank, 103 Fed. 436, 43 C. C. A. 279, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 474. Where a bill in equity had been filed against a corporation asking for the appointment of a receiver, the fact that the corporation makes no opposition to the appointment of such receiver is not an act of bankruptcy. In re Empire Metallic Bedstead Co., 98 Fed. 981, 39 C. C. A. 372, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 575; In re Baker-Ricketson Co., 97 Fed. 489, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 605.

39. A transfer of the debtor's property to his creditor is essential. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

40. Debtor must have been insolvent at the time of making the transfer. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123. See also infra, V, B, 7.

41. Intent to prefer the creditor to whom the transfer is made is an essential element. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123. See also infra, V, B, 6, c.

42. What constitutes a preference is stated in Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*a*. See also infra, V, B, 6, b.

As to setting aside preferential transfers and to the rights of transferees thereunder see, generally, infra, XVI, C.

43. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (2). See also Rumsey, etc., Co. v. Novelty, etc., Mfg. Co., 99 Fed. 699, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 704; Beers v. Hanlin, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 745; In re Pearson, 95 Fed. 425, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 482.

Under the Bankr. Act (1867), § 39, it was provided that a person should be adjudged a bankrupt upon the petition of his creditors "who, being bankrupt or insolvent, or in contemplation of bankruptcy or insolvency shall make any payment, gift, grant, sale, conveyance, (or transfer of money, or other property, estate, rights, or credits, or give any warrant to confess judgment, or procure or suffer his property to be taken on legal process), with intent to give a preference to one or more of his creditors, or to any person or persons who are or may be liable for him as indorsers, bail, sureties, or otherwise." See In re Dibblee, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 283, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,884, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 355, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 617, construing that statute.

Under the common law a debtor, although insolvent, may pay one creditor in full to the exclusion of all others. Gassett v. Morse, 21 Vt. 627, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,264, 3 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 350. See also, generally, Assignments For Benefit of Creditors, 4 Cyc. 113.

44. The term "property" includes money. Landry v. Andrews, 22 R. I. 597, 48 Atl. 1036, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 281; In re Fixen, payment of money.[45] Hence a payment of money on account within the four months' limitation and with intent to prefer must be deemed an act of bankruptcy.[46] To constitute a preferential transfer it is immaterial to whom the transfer is made if it be made for the purpose of paying the claims of one creditor in preference to those of others.[47] An unlawful preference can only arise where the transfer is made for an antecedent debt.[48] And a conveyance of personal property greater in value than the amount of the debt by an insolvent debtor to his creditor, the difference being paid in cash to the debtor, is an act of bankruptcy.[49]

c. Intent. The intent which it is necessary to establish in order to show an act of bankruptcy is that of the debtor.[50] As in the case of fraudulent transfers the intent to prefer must be proved, although an intent may be presumed from proven facts;[51] and where the necessary consequence of a transfer or payment made by an insolvent debtor is to liquidate the debt of one creditor to the entire or partial exclusion of the others an intent to prefer will be presumed.[52] A pref-

102 Fed. 295, 42 C. C. A. 354, 50 L. R. A. 605, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 10.

45. Includes payment of money.— In re Sloan, 102 Fed. 116, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 356; In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 99 Fed. 400, 39 C. C. A. 582, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 634; In re Piper, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 144 note.

46. Pirie v. Chicago Title, etc., Co., 182 U. S. 438, 443, 21 S. Ct. 906, 45 L. ed. 1171, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 814, where the court said: "We are not unaware that a distinction between money and other property is sometimes made, but it would be anomalous in the extreme that in a statute which is concerned with the obligation of debtors and the prevention of preferences to creditors, the readiest and most potent instrumentality to give a preference should have been omitted. Money is certainly property, whether we regard any of its forms or any of its theories."

47. Goldman v. Smith, 93 Fed. 182, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266.

48. Must be for antecedent debt.—Tiffany v. Boatman's Sav. Inst., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 375, 21 L. ed. 868; In re Flick, 105 Fed. 503, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 465.

Security for advances not preferential.— Where a person, knowing a debtor to be financially embarrassed, loans him money with which to pay his debts, and at the same time as security therefor takes a mortgage on the debtor's property, such mortgage is not a preferential transfer. In re Davidson, 109 Fed. 882, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528; In re Wolf, 98 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555.

Where, in pursuance of a contract, valid and equitable, the creditor exercised his rights in possessing himself of the bankrupt's property and making a sale thereof under such contract he is not thereby given a preference. Sabin v. Camp, 98 Fed. 974, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 578.

49. Exchange of property.— Johnson v. Wald, 93 Fed. 640, 35 C. C. A. 522, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 84. This decision seems to be based upon the definition of the word "transfer" contained in Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (25), supra, note 8, p. 238.

50. It is not important that the intent of the creditor to whom the preference was given should be shown; whether or not he had reasonable cause to believe that a preference was intended is immaterial. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

51. See, generally, supra, V, B, 3, d.

52. Silverman's Case, 2 Abb. (U. S.) 243, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 410, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,855, 13 Int. Rev. Rec. 52, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 522; Driggs v. Moore, 1 Abb. (U. S.) 440, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,083, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 602; In re Batchelder, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 373, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,098, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 150; In re Oregon Bulletin Printing, etc., Co., 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,559, 1 Cinc. L. Bul. 87, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 503; Farrin v. Crawford, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,686, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 342, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 602; Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 30. See also In re McGee, 105 Fed. 895, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 262; Johnson v. Wald, 93 Fed. 640, 35 C. C. A. 522, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 84. The debtor's intent to give a preference may be presumed from a transfer while insolvent of a large portion of his property to a single creditor. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

Proof of intent.— Since a preference may be inferred from the conduct of a debtor and from circumstances connected with the transaction, all facts may be proven which tend to justify the inference. Beattie v. Gardner, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 479, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,195, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 323; Linkman v. Wilcox, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 161, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,374; Giddings v. Dodd, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 116, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,405, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 657. The testimony of the debtor himself to the effect that no preference was intended is of little weight as against the inferences arising from the nature of the transaction. Chicago Traders' Nat. Bank v. Campbell, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 87, 20 L. ed. 832, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 353; Oxford Iron Co. v. Slafter, 13 Blatchf. (U. S.) 455, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,637, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 380. The fact that the debtor had no knowledge of the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act in respect to preferential transfers has no bearing upon the question of intent. In re Craft, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 214, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,316, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 378.

erential transfer is none the less an act of bankruptcy because the motive of the debtor was honest if the intent to prefer existed.[53] And the fact that a preference is secured through means of coercion or threats of the preferred creditor does not affect its character as an act of bankruptcy.[54]

7. When Insolvency Material. Preferential transfers and suffering or permitting creditors to obtain preferences through legal proceedings are not acts of bankruptcy unless the person is insolvent.[55] So if the alleged act of bankruptcy is the fraudulent conveyance, transfer, concealment, or removal of property, it is a complete defense to bankruptcy proceedings brought therefor to allege and prove that the party proceeded against was not insolvent at the time of the filing of the petition against him.[56] But the question of insolvency is immaterial where the act of bankruptcy consists of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors or an admission of inability to pay debts and willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt.[57]

53. Honest motive immaterial.— Silverman's Case, 2 Abb. (U. S.) 243, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 410, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,855, 13 Int. Rev. Rec. 52, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 522; Warren v. Tenth Nat. Bank, 10 Blatchf. (U. S.) 493, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,202, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 481; In re Bininger, 7 Blatchf. (U. S.) 262, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,420, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 262; Webb v. Sachs, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 158, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,325, 9 Chic. Leg. N. 156, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 168.

54. Secured by coercion or threats.— Sawyer v. Turpin, 91 U. S. 114, 23 L. ed. 235, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 271; Clarion First Nat. Bank v. Jones, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 325, 22 L. ed. 542, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 381; Atkinson v. Farmers' Bank, Crabbe (U. S.) 529, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 609; Arnold v. Maynard, 2 Story (U. S.) 349, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 561, 5 Law Rep. 296.

Transfer to avoid criminal prosecution under advice that the debtor would be liable for such prosecution if he did not make the transfer is none the less an act of bankruptcy if preferential in its nature. Strain v. Gourdin, 2 Woods (U. S.) 380, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,521, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 156.

55. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*c; In re* Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

Presumption and burden of proof.— When it is proved that a debtor while insolvent has transferred a large portion of his property to a single creditor, intent to prefer being presumed, the burden is upon the debtor to show that he was ignorant of his insolvency and had reason to believe that he could pay his debts in full. In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123. In Toof v. Martin, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 40, 20 L. ed. 481, it was held that such preferential transfer must be taken as conclusive of intentional preference, unless the debtor can show his ignorance of the insolvency, and that the burden of proof is thrown upon the defendant. But if the debtor denies the allegation of insolvency and appears in court on the hearing with his books, papers, and accounts and submits to an examination and gives testimony as to all matters tending to establish solvency or insolvency, it would seem that the burden of proving insolvency is transferred from the alleged bankrupt to the petitioning creditor. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*d; In re* Bloch, 109 Fed. 790, 48 C. C. A. 650, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300; In re West, 108 Fed. 940, 48 C. C. A. 155, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 734.

Value of the property at the time of the alleged fraudulent transfer may be shown by evidence of what it sold for at private sale by the receiver of the alleged bankrupt appointed in the state court, and the exclusion of such evidence is reversible error. In re Bloch, 109 Fed. 790, 48 C. C. A. 650, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300.

56. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*c.*

As to insolvency as a defense to involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy see infra, VI, B, 5, c, (III), (B).

When insolvency must be alleged.—"The acts of bankruptcy embraced in subdivisions numbered 2 and 3 [of section 3*a*] clearly contemplate, not only the commission of the acts provided against, but also cause the insolvency of the debtor to be an essential concomitant. On the contrary as to the acts embraced in the enumerations 1, 4, and 5 [of section 3*a*] there is no express requirement that the acts should have been committed while insolvent. Considering alone the text of paragraph a [of section 3] it results that the non-existence of insolvency at the time of the filing of a petition for adjudication in involuntary bankruptcy, because of the acts enumerated in 1, 4, and 5 (which embrace the making of a deed of general assignment) does not constitute a defense to the petition, unless provision to that effect be found elsewhere in the statute." Paragraph c of section 3 does not refer to all the provisions of paragraph a. The context of paragraph c makes it plain that that paragraph only refers to the first subdivision of paragraph a. George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463, 465 [affirming Lea v. West, 91 Fed. 237, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 261].

57. George M. West v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463 [affirming Lea v. West, 91 Fed. 237, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 261]; Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*a* (4). See also Bryan v.

VI. ADJUDICATION AND PROCEEDINGS PRIOR THERETO.

A. Voluntary Bankruptcy Proceedings — 1. Petition and Schedules — a. Petition — (I) Who May File. Any qualified person[58] may file a petition to be adjudged a voluntary bankrupt.[59] A person cannot be enjoined by a state court from applying to a court of bankruptcy to be adjudged a bankrupt.[60] Under the present Act the pendency of an involuntary petition before adjudication will not necessarily invalidate a subsequent voluntary petition filed in the same or another district.[61]

(II) Where Filed. Voluntary petitions should be filed in the court of bankruptcy for the district in which the bankrupt has had his principal place of business, resided, or had his domicile for the preceding six months or the greater portion thereof.[62] A delivery of a petition to the clerk of the court and its acceptance by him amounts to a filing, although at the time he was not at his office.[63]

Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 21 S. Ct. 557, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623; Green River Deposit Bank v. Craig, 110 Fed. 137, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 381; Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

58. A "qualified person" is one, who under the Bankr. Act (1898), § 4, may become a bankrupt. See supra, IV, A.

59. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*a*. Where the law of the state [Iowa Code (1897), § 3190] provides that a minor may not disaffirm his contracts on reaching full age when, "from his having engaged in business as an adult, the other party had good reason to believe him capable of contracting," if a minor engages in business as a merchant, and parties consequently assume that he is of full age, and deal with him in that belief, no inquiry or representation being made as to his minority, he becomes absolutely liable for the debts contracted in such business, and may be adjudged bankrupt on his own petition, though still an infant. In re Brice, 93 Fed. 942, 947, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197. Where the allegation of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy as to the residence of the proposed bankrupt within the district is contested, and it is shown that, until a few years before, he resided and did business in another state, that he is still in the employ of a business firm in that state, and that he spends part of his time in the one state and part in the other, the burden is on the petitioner to prove his alleged change of residence by satisfactory evidence. In re Waxelbaum, 97 Fed. 562, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 267.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 38 et seq.

A corporation cannot become a voluntary bankrupt, and where a corporation through its board of directors makes a written admission of inability to pay its debts and its willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt, and procures some of its creditors to file an involuntary petition against it, it must be adjudged a bankrupt in involuntary proceedings. In re T. L. Kelly Dry-Goods Co., 102 Fed. 747, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528; In re Maine Mach., etc., Co., 91 Fed. 630, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 421. And where a petition has been filed against a corporation asking that it be adjudged a bankrupt, and there has been filed in the name of the corporation a written admission of the act of bankruptcy charged in the petition, and a stipulation waiving the service of subpœna and time for appearance and entering such appearance, the proceeding is still an involuntary one. In re L. Humbert Co., 100 Fed. 439, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76. See also supra, IV, A, 3; IV, B, 2.

60. Fillingin v. Thornton, 49 Ga. 384, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 92.

61. The first petition may be invalid for lack of jurisdiction when the facts appear; and other considerations also may sometimes justify, or even make desirable, a subsequent voluntary petition. The question of jurisdiction will arise on each petition, and neither is necessarily exclusive of the other. In re Waxelbaum, 97 Fed. 562, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 267.

Under former bankruptcy acts there was some conflict of authority as to whether a person could file a voluntary petition after an involuntary petition had been filed against him. In In re Stewart, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 13,419, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 108, it was held that he could not. But in other cases it was held that the pendency of involuntary proceedings did not bar the right of a debtor to file a voluntary petition, if no decree of bankruptcy had been granted. In re Davidson, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 10, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,599, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 418; In re Flanagan, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 312, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,850, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 439; In re Canfield, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,380, 5 Law Rep. 415, 1 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 234.

62. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (1).

Residence and place of business in different districts.— If a debtor has his principal place of business in one district and resides in another he may file his petition in either district. The petition should be filed with the clerk of the court and not sent directly to the judge. In re Sykes, 106 Fed. 669, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 264.

63. In re Wolf, 98 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555.

Fees to be deposited.— Upon the filing of

(III) Form and Contents. The form of the debtor's petition in voluntary bankruptcy is prescribed,[64] and is to be observed and used with such alterations as may be necessary to suit the circumstances of any particular case.[65] A petition must allege that the residence, domicile, or place of business of the petitioner was within the territorial jurisdiction of the court for a period of at least six months preceding the filing of the petition, and that such petitioner has not absented himself from such jurisdiction during such period, except for a period of less than three months.[66]

(IV) Verification. All voluntary petitions should be verified.[67] The verification of the petition is, however, a formal matter and does not affect the jurisdiction and a defect therein may be waived.[68]

the petition with the clerk a voluntary bankrupt must deposit as a filing fee the sum of ten dollars, and also the sum of ten dollars as compensation for the referee, together with the sum of five dollars as compensation for the trustee, unless the petition is accompanied by an affidavit stating that the petitioner is without and cannot obtain the money with which to pay such fees. For filing fee of clerk see Bankr. Act (1898), § 52*a*; and supra, III, A, 3. For compensation of referee see Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*a*; and supra, III, D, 6. For compensation of trustee see Bankr. Act (1898), § 48*a*; and infra, XII, G. A deposit of the statutory filing fee by a proposed voluntary bankrupt, not within the exception in favor of paupers, is a condition precedent to the filing of the petition; but if the petition is placed on file, and an adjudication made without payment of such fee, the objection may be raised on the bankrupt's application for discharge, and action on such application will be stayed until the filing fee is paid. In re Barden, 101 Fed. 553, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 31. A person employed by a railroad company at a salary of thirty dollars per month, such salary being exempt from execution by the law of the state, is not entitled to take the benefit of the bankruptcy law without depositing the fees required by the Act, on an affidavit that he cannot obtain the money with which to pay such fees; and his petition will be dismissed unless the fees are deposited within a reasonable time. In re Collier, 93 Fed. 191, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 182.

Such fees are in full compensation for all services rendered by such officers except as therein specified. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35.

The clerk is required to indorse upon each petition filed with him the day and hour of the filing. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 2.

64. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1; 89 Fed. xv.

65. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 38.

Petition must be printed or written out plainly, without abbreviation or interlineation, except where such abbreviation or interlineation may be for the purpose of reference. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 5. Under the rules in force in the eastern district of North Carolina petitions in bankruptcy are not filed or considered unless they are on the prescribed printed forms. Written or typewritten petitions or schedules are returned to parties without action. Mahoney v. Ward, 100 Fed. 278, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 770.

66. In re Plotke, 104 Fed. 964, 44 C. C. A. 282, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 171; In re Stokes, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 35. But see In re Ray, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 158, where referee Worden states that a petition in bankruptcy may be filed in the district in which the bankrupt has resided for the longest period during the six months prior to the filing of his petition.

67. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*c*.

Oaths may be administered by the referee, by officers authorized to administer oaths in proceedings before courts of the United States, or under the laws of the state where the same are to be taken, and by diplomats or consular officers of the United States in any foreign country. Any person conscientiously opposed to taking an oath may in lieu thereof affirm. See Bankr. Act (1898), § 20.

Sufficiency.— A petition, the verification of which is made before a notary public, which does not show in the statement of the venue that the verification was taken within the jurisdiction of the notary is defective and should be amended. If the notary public is one of the attorneys for the party making the verification such verification is defective. In re Brumelkamp, 95 Fed. 814, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 318. But it has been held that an attorney for a creditor may take the oath of his client to the proof of the claim of such client. In re Kimball, 100 Fed. 777, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 144. Where the verification of the petition was taken before a notary who afterward became an attorney for the bankrupt, it was held that the verification was not defective. In re Kindt, 98 Fed. 403, 101 Fed. 107, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 443.

68. Leidigh Carriage Co. v. Stengel, 95 Fed. 637, 37 C. C. A. 210, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383. See also In re McNaughton, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,912, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 44; Ex p. Jewett, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 393, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,303, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 443, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 170; In re Simmons, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,864, 1 Centr. L. J. 440, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 253; In re Sargent, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,361, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 144, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 435.

(v) Withdrawal. Where there is no estate, no claim proved, and no trustee appointed, a bankrupt may withdraw his voluntary petition,[69] provided the costs and expenses be paid.[70] But a voluntary petition cannot be dismissed upon the application of the petitioner, or for want of prosecution or by consent of parties, until after notice to creditors.[71]

b. Schedules. A petition in voluntary bankruptcy must be accompanied by a schedule of the proposed bankrupt's property, showing its amount and kind, the location thereof, its money value in detail, and a list of his creditors, showing their residences, if known;[72] if unknown, that fact should be stated;[73] the amounts due to each of them, the consideration thereof, the security held by them, if any;[74] and a claim for such exemptions as he may be entitled to,[75] all in triplicate, one copy of each for the clerk, one for the referee, and one for the trustee.[76] The form of the schedules is prescribed.[77]

69. In re Hebbart, 104 Fed. 322, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 8.

Where a petition was withdrawn and subsequently amended and refiled, the date of the last filing controls as a basis for adjudication. In re Washburn, 99 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 585.

70. In re Salaberry, 107 Fed. 95, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 847.

71. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*g*. See also Neustadter v. Chicago Dry-Goods Co., 96 Fed. 830, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 96.

72. Schedules are defective if they do not contain the addresses of the creditors, stating street and number in case the creditors reside in large cities, or unless the schedules show that after diligent effort no better addresses can be obtained. Unless such facts are shown the proper practice is for the referee to order an amendment and to refuse to fix a date for the first meeting of creditors. In re Brumelkamp, 95 Fed. 814, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 318; In re Mackey, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 593.

73. If the list of creditors states that their addresses are unknown, the referee should require such addresses to be furnished, or sufficient proof to be made that they cannot be ascertained after due search. In re Dvorak, 107 Fed. 76, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 66.

74. What debts to be scheduled.— Where a judgment appears as being in the name of a certain creditor, it is proper to schedule such judgment in the name of such creditor even if such judgment has been assigned and the debtor has knowledge of such assignment; and where a debtor has no assets and is compelled to borrow money in order to pay the costs and fees of proceedings in bankruptcy, he is not required to schedule the amount so borrowed. Sellers v. Bell, 94 Fed. 801, 36 C. C. A. 502, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529. It has been held that debts which are barred by the statute of limitations should be inserted in the schedule. In re Kingsley, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 216, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,819, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 423, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 52, 329.

75. Exempt property.— Where, by the laws of the state where the debtor resides, he is entitled to an exemption to the amount of one thousand dollars and all necessary wearing apparel, it is not necessary for the bankrupt to specifically mention in his schedule of assets property which is thus exempt. Sellers v. Bell, 94 Fed. 801, 36 C. C. A. 502, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529.

Pension money, although exempt, should be inserted in the debtor's schedule as money on hand, with a statement of the exemption. If it has been omitted from the schedule with fraud the referee may allow an amendment inserting it. In re Bean, 100 Fed. 262, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 53.

The duty of setting apart the bankrupt's exemptions rests upon the trustee. In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730. While a voluntary bankrupt must file with his petition a claim for his exemptions, the severance in fact of exempted property from the general estate is to be made by the trustee, not by the debtor, and the value of the property so severed is to be determined in the first instance by the trustee. In re Friedrich, 100 Fed. 284, 40 C. C. A. 378, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 801. See also infra, XV, C.

76. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7 (8).

A petition in voluntary bankruptcy which schedules no property except such as is exempt under the laws of the state, and but a single debt, which is a judgment from which the petitioner would not be released by a discharge, fails to disclose any subject-matter upon which the court can act, and an adjudication of bankruptcy made thereon will be set aside on motion, and the proceedings dismissed for want of jurisdiction. In re Maples, 105 Fed. 919, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 426. Under a devise to S during life, with remainder to her husband, provided that upon the death of either of such devisees the shares so devised to him shall be equally divided between his children if living, the husband has an interest in the property devised, during the life of S and while having children living, that should be included in his schedule of assets in proceedings in bankruptcy. In re Shenberger, 102 Fed. 978, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 487.

77. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedules A, B; 89 Fed. xvi et seq.

Form of partnership petition is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 2; 89 Fed. xxvii.

Forms of statements of: Accommodation paper (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule A (5); 89 Fed. xx); all creditors

c. Amendments. The court may allow amendments to a petition and schedules on application of the petitioner.[78] It is peculiarly within the province of the referee to order the amendment of a defective petition and schedule, and the district court will not interfere in such matters.[79] Amendments may be made before the bankrupt's discharge, even after objections to his discharge have been filed by creditors.[80]

d. Answers by Creditors. The Act contains no provision authorizing creditors to file answers to voluntary petitions in bankruptcy.[81]

2. The Adjudication. Upon the filing of a voluntary petition the judge[82] shall hear the petition and make the adjudication or dismiss the petition.[83] The who are to be paid in full or to whom priority is secured by law (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule A (1); 89 Fed. xvi); choses in action of bankrupt (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule B (3); 89 Fed. xxiii); creditors holding securities (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1 Schedule A (2); 89 Fed. xvii); creditors whose claims are unsecured (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule A (3); 89 Fed. xviii); liabilities on notes or bills discounted which ought to be paid by the drawers, makers, accepters, or indorsers (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule A (4); 89 Fed. xix); personal property of bankrupt (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule B (2); 89 Fed. xxii); property claimed as exempt (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule B (5); 89 Fed. xxv); property in reversion, remainder, or expectancy, including property held in trust for the debtor or subject to any power or right to dispose of or to charge (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule B (4); 89 Fed. xxiv); real estate of bankrupt (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule B (1); 89 Fed. xxi); books, papers, deeds, and writings relating to bankrupt's estate and business (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1, Schedule B (6); 89 Fed. xxvi) are prescribed.

They must be printed or written out plainly without abbreviation or interlineation, except for the purpose of reference. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 5.

Abbreviations.— In stating the addresses of creditors, petitioners may use the ordinary and common abbreviations of the names of the states, but abbreviations of the names of cities and villages, not being in common use, will be deemed as forming a defective address and must be amended. In re Mackey, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 593. Under the former Act in construing a rule similar to the one now in force it was held that dots or ditto marks could not consistently be used for the purpose of indicating anything necessary to be stated. In re Orne, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 420, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,582, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 79.

78. The amendments are to be printed or written, signed, and verified, in the same manner as the original petition and schedules. If amendments are made to separate schedules the same must be made separately with proper reference. In the application for leave to amend the petition must state the cause of the error in the paper originally filed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 11.

79. In re Brumelkamp, 95 Fed. 814, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 318.

By Bankr. Act (1898), § 39a (2), it is made the duty of all referees to examine all schedules of property and lists of creditors filed by the bankrupt, and cause such as are incomplete and defective to be amended. See also supra, III, D, 4, g.

When amendments permitted.— While the courts are liberal in permitting amendments in cases of mistake or accident, such forbearance should not be extended in favor of the bankrupt whose business career is tainted and whose conduct toward his creditors has not been on the lines of fair and honest dealing. In re Gross, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 271. The provision of the Virginia constitution giving to a householder or the head of a family an exemption in the nature of a homestead right is intended for the benefit of the debtor's family, and the court will not exercise its power to allow an amendment to the schedules in order to include such homestead exemption, where it clearly appears that the intent of the bankrupt is to benefit creditors who hold under the code of Virginia waivers of such exemption. In re Moran, 105 Fed. 901, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472.

80. In re Preston, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,392, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 103; In re Heller, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,339, 41 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 213, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 46; In re Connell, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,110, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 443.

81. In re Taylor, 102 Fed. 728, 42 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515; In re Jehu, 94 Fed. 638, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 498.

82. If the judge is absent from the district, or the division of the district in which the petition is filed, at the time of the filing, the clerk shall forthwith refer the case to the referee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*g*. Form of order of reference in judge's absence is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 15; 89 Fed. xxxv.

83. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*g*. An adjudication of bankruptcy duly entered upon the voluntary petition of a debtor personally within the jurisdiction of the court, the petition and schedules being signed and verified by the bankrupt himself in proper form, will not be set aside, on motion of a creditor, because the attorney who appeared on the petition as the bankrupt's attorney, and who represented him before the referee, had not been admitted to practice in the federal courts of order[84] adjudicating a person a voluntary bankrupt is made ex parte without notice to creditors.[85]

B. Involuntary Bankruptcy Proceedings[86]— 1. Petition — a. Time and Place of Filing. A petition may be filed against a person who is insolvent and who has committed an act of bankruptcy within four months after the commission of such act.[87] Such time does not expire until four months after the date of the recording or registering of the transfer or assignment when the act consists in having made a transfer of any of his property with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, or for the purpose of giving a preference as hereinbefore discussed,[88] or a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, if by law such recording or registering is required or permitted, or if it is not, from the district; such an objection not affecting the jurisdiction of the court. In re Kindt, 98 Fed. 867, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 546.

The alternative of adjudication or dismissal given by the Act implies that the court should make such inquiry into the facts as may be necessary to determine whether to adjudicate or to dismiss. In re Waxelbaum, 98 Fed. 589, 591, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 392, where the court says: "No express provision is made in the act or in the rules as to when or how an inquiry into the truth of the jurisdictional facts alleged in a voluntary petition is to be made; but considering the complication which would often arise, it seems evident that the jurisdiction when challenged, should be inquired into as early as possible, so that the proceedings, if invalid, may be arrested in limine."

After the adjudication, the proceedings are the same as in cases of involuntary bankruptcy, which will be hereafter discussed. See infra, VI, B.

84. Form of the order of adjudication is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 12; 89 Fed. xxiii.

85. If creditors object to the jurisdiction of the court they must seasonably move to vacate the adjudication. Allen v. Thompson, 10 Fed. 116; In re Thomas, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,891, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 187, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 330; In re Polakoff, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 358. Unless the person petitioning to set aside the adjudication in bankruptcy is a creditor owning a provable claim against the bankrupt he is a stranger to the proceedings, and cannot sustain a petition to set it aside. In re Columbia Real-Estate Co., 101 Fed. 965, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 411.

86. Nature of proceeding.— The default of defendant to a petition in involuntary bankruptcy, through failure to appear, does not convert the proceeding into one of voluntary bankruptcy. In re Taylor, 102 Fed. 728, 42 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515.

87. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*b*. See also Salem Citizens' Bank v. W. C. De Pauw Co., 105 Fed. 926, 45 C. C. A. 130, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 345; In re Stein, 105 Fed. 749, 45 C. C. A. 29, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 288; In re Mingo Valley Creamery Assoc., 100 Fed. 282, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 67; In re Romanow, 92 Fed. 510, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 461.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 50 et seq.

Computation of time.— Whenever time is enumerated by days, the number of days shall be computed by excluding the first and including the last, unless the last fall on a Sunday or holiday, in which event the day last included shall be the next day thereafter which is not a Sunday or a legal holiday. Bankr. Act (1898), § 31*a*.

Fractions of days are not to be counted. If an act of bankruptcy is committed upon a certain day the filing of a petition in involuntary bankruptcy during the last day of the four months after the date of the commission of such act of bankruptcy is sufficient. Jones v. Stevens, 94 Me. 582, 48 Atl. 170, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 571; In re Tonawanda St. Planing Mill Co., 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 38.

The four months after the commission of an act of bankruptcy within which an involuntary petition must be filed are to be so computed as to exclude the day on which such act of bankruptcy was committed. In re Stevenson, 94 Fed. 110, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 66; In re Dupree, 97 Fed. 28. In Leidigh Carriage Co. v. Stengel, 95 Fed. 637, 640, 37 C. C. A. 210, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383, in construing Bankr. Act (1898), § [71*a*], to the effect that "no petition for involuntary bankruptcy shall be filed within four months of the passage thereof," it was held that a petition filed on Nov. 1, 1898, the Act taking effect July 1 of that year, was not premature. The court in reaching its conclusion concluded the four months as beginning on July 1 and ending October 31. Compare Dutcher v. Wright, 94 U. S. 553, 24 L. ed. 130, construing Bankr. Act (1867), § 48.

88. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*b*.

Where the act of bankruptcy consists of suffering or permitting a creditor to obtain a preference through proceedings by attachment, time begins to run from the date of the sale under the attachment, or from the five days anterior thereto, and not from the date of the attachment. Parmenter Mfg. Co. v. Stoever, 97 Fed. 330, 38 C. C. A. 200, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 220. In such cases the act of bankruptcy is consummated by the failure of the debtor to vacate or discharge the lien secured by virtue of the legal proceedings five days before the day upon which the property is to be disposed of. In re Rome Planing-Mill Co., 99 Fed. 937, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 766. See also In re Fellerath, 95 Fed. 121, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 40.

the date when the beneficiary takes notorious, exclusive, or continuous possession of the property, unless the petitioning creditors have received actual notice of such transfer or assignment.[89] A proceeding in bankruptcy is deemed commenced at the date of the filing of the original petition.[90] The petition must be filed in the office of the clerk of the court and not with the referee or judge.[91]

b. Against Whom Filed. A petition in involuntary bankruptcy may be filed against any person who may be adjudged a bankrupt, who is insolvent[92] and who has committed an act of bankruptcy;[93] but no person can be adjudged an involuntary bankrupt unless he owes debts to the amount of one thousand dollars or over.[94]

c. Who May File — (1) Statutory Provision. Three or more creditors who have provable claims[95] against any person which amount in the aggregate in excess of the value of the securities held by them, if any, to five hundred dollars or over;[96] or if all of the creditors of such person are less than twelve in number,

89. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*b*.

The notorious, exclusive, or continuous possession here mentioned depends upon the character of the property transferred and the usual and customary mode of dealing therewith. In re Woodward, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 233.

90. In re Appel, 103 Fed. 931, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 722; In re Lewis, 91 Fed. 632, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 458. See also Neustadter v. Chicago Dry-Goods Co., 96 Fed. 830, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 96, where, after an original petition in bankruptcy had been dismissed, it was held that other creditors might file a new petition, but could not reopen the original petition, although four months had elapsed since the act of bankruptcy was committed upon which the new petition was founded.

91. In re Sykes, 106 Fed. 669, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 264.

What has been said in regard to the place of filing voluntary petitions and the fees therefor applies also to involuntary petitions. See supra, VI, A, 1.

92. The Bankruptcy Act of 1898 does not make insolvency an essential prerequisite in every case to an adjudication in involuntary bankruptcy. George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463.

As to who is considered insolvent within the meaning of the Act see National Bank, etc., Co. v. Spencer, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 547, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 1001; George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463; Duncan v. Landis, 106 Fed. 839, 45 C. C. A. 666, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 649; In re Miller, 104 Fed. 764, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 140; Davis v. Stevens, 104 Fed. 235, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 763; In re Rome Planing Mill Co., 99 Fed. 937, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 766; In re Baumann, 96 Fed. 946, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 196.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 84.

93. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*.

As to what constitutes acts of bankruptcy see supra, V.

As to who may become bankrupts see supra, IV.

Joining third persons.— The Act contains no specific provision authorizing any third person to be joined as a party to a petition in involuntary bankruptcy, and, conceding that a general assignee of the alleged bankrupt is a proper party, it can only be for the purpose of enabling him to contest the adjudication, the result of which might be to prejudice his rights as assignee. He cannot, by being so joined, be thus brought into the case for the purposes of all future inquiries and determinations made during the administration of the estate. Sinsheimer v. Simonson, 107 Fed. 898, 47 C. C. A. 51.

94. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*.

In determining the amount of the debts owed by the insolvent debtor to see if they aggregate the sum of one thousand dollars, and thus give jurisdiction to the court of bankruptcy to make an involuntary adjudication, not only those debts which exist unpaid at the time of the filing of the petition, but also those which the debtor may have preferentially paid within four months, in violation of the provisions of the Act, are to be counted. In re Scrafford, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 376, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,556, 3 Month. Jur. 614, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 104; In re Cain, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 378.

95. Under Bankr. Act (1898), § 59, providing that, where the whole number of creditors of any person is less than twelve, one of such creditors, whose claims equal the sum of five hundred dollars, may file a petition to have him adjudged a bankrupt, but limiting such right of petition to creditors only having "provable claims," a creditor is not entitled to maintain such petition who within four months next preceding the filing of the petition has received payment of a claim which is separate and distinct from that upon which the petition is based. In re Rogers' Milling Co., 102 Fed. 687, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 540.

96. Claims to be computed.— Bankr. Act (1898), § 63, specifies the debts which may be proved in bankruptcy. In determining the amount of provable claims for the purpose of petitioning in involuntary cases only those claims which have been reduced to judgment at the time of the commission of the alleged then one of such creditors whose claims equal such amount may file a petition to have a person adjudged a bankrupt.[97]

(II) Creditors Holding Secured Claims. Creditors holding claims which are secured or which have priority must not be counted, nor can their claims be computed in determining the number of creditors and the amount of claims necessary for instituting involuntary proceedings, except for the amount of the excess of such claims over the value of the securities.[98]

(III) Creditors Participating in General Assignment. The prevailing rule seems to be that a creditor is not estopped from instituting a bankruptcy proceeding against a person who has made a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, unless it appears that such creditor has induced and abetted the making of the assignment, or that after he learned of such assignment he acquiesced in it and did not at once file a petition in bankruptcy.[99]

(IV) Preferred and Attaching Creditors. Under the present Act a creditor cannot prove any claim against a bankrupt's estate until he has sur-act of bankruptcy will be considered. In re Brinckmann, 103 Fed. 65, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 551; Beers v. Hanlin, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 745. See also In re Morales, 105 Fed. 761, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 425.

Claims may be purchased by a person to enable him to join in a petition and to make up the necessary amount of claims. In re Woodford, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,972, 1 Cinc. L. Bul. 37, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 575.

If a petition is filed against a member of a partnership, both the claims of a creditor against the individual members and those against the partnership may be computed. In re Lloyd, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,429, 15 Alb. L. J. 293, 5 Am. L. Rec. 679, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 257, 24 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 113.

Creditor of a partnership is also a creditor of each member of the firm, and is entitled as such to join in a petition in involuntary bankruptcy brought against one of the partners individually. In re Mercur, 95 Fed. 634, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 626.

Creditors of a corporation who happen also to be stock-holders and directors in the company are not precluded by reason of such relation from commencing proceedings in involuntary bankruptcy against the corporation. In re Rollins Gold, etc., Min. Co., 102 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 327.

Creditors of an infant, in Illinois, whose debts the infant is entitled to repudiate at majority, cannot have him adjudged an involuntary bankrupt, since they are not creditors in the sense of the Bankruptcy Act of 1898. In re Eidemiller, 105 Fed. 595, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 570.

Married woman.— Where the law of the state permits the creation of enforceable debts as between husband and wife, a married woman who is an actual creditor of her husband in good faith, having a claim against him which would be provable in bankruptcy, may join in a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against him, or, if such claim amounts to five hundred dollars or over, and all his creditors are less than twelve in number, she may maintain such petition alone; but her alleged debt will be carefully scrutinized, to prevent fraud upon other creditors. In re Novak, 101 Fed. 800, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 311.

Persons who have sold and assigned their claims against a debtor have no standing to petition that such debtor be adjudged a bankrupt. In re Burlington Malting Co., 109 Fed. 777, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369.

97. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*b*. See also In re Miller, 104 Fed. 764, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 140; Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 100 Fed. 426, 40 C. C. A. 474, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 824 [affirming 95 Fed. 948, 37 C. C. A. 337 (reversing 92 Fed. 904)].

The term "creditor" is defined in the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (9), supra, note 8, p. 238.

98. Bankr. Act (1898), § 56*b*.

Creditors secured by a mortgage have the right to institute proceedings in the United States courts in bankruptcy to enforce their rights and reach other assets. Owen v. Potter, 115 Mich. 556, 73 N. W. 977.

99. In re Miner, 104 Fed. 520, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 710; Leidigh Carriage Co. v. Stengel, 95 Fed. 637, 37 C. C. A. 210, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383. See also Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 100 Fed. 426, 40 C. C. A. 474, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 824 [affirming 95 Fed. 948, 37 C. C. A. 337 (reversing 92 Fed. 904)]. But compare In re Romanow, 92 Fed. 510, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 461 [following Perry v. Langley, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,006, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 429, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 34, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 559], where it was held that where creditors voluntarily become parties to proceedings under a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, and assert their claims against the assignor in such proceedings they are estopped from instituting involuntary bankruptcy proceedings against such assignor based upon the assignment as an act of bankruptcy.

Where the assignment is under a state insolvency law which is nullified by the Bankruptcy Act, and is therefore absolutely void, the creditors who proved their claims under such assignment are not estopped from instituting bankruptcy proceedings. In re Curtis, 91 Fed. 737, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 440 [affirmed in 94 Fed. 630, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 226], where it appeared that the creditors had taken no other action in the proceedings than to file their claims.

rendered all preferences obtained by him.[1] So a claim which is secured by a preferential transfer is not provable and the creditor cannot file a petition to have the debtor adjudged bankrupt.[2] Under the present Act it has been asserted that an attaching creditor is in the position of a preferred creditor and that he cannot follow up his attachment with a petition for an adjudication of bankruptcy unless formally surrendering his levy.[3]

d. Computing Number of Creditors. In computing the number of creditors of the bankrupt for the purpose of determining how many creditors must join in the petition, such creditors as were employed by him at the time of the filing of the petition, or are related to him by consanguinity or affinity within the third degree, as determined by the common law, and have not joined in the petition, should not be counted.[4]

e. Form and Contents — (i) In General. The form of the petition in involuntary bankruptcy proceedings is prescribed[5] and should be observed and used with such alterations as may be necessary to suit the circumstances of any particular case.[6]

1. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*g*; In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 99 Fed. 400, 39 C. C. A. 582, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 634; In re Conhaim, 97 Fed. 923, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 249; In re Knost, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 471 [affirmed in 99 Fed. 409, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 631]. Where a creditor has voluntarily and expressly surrendered his preference he may file a petition on the original debt. In re Marcer, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,060, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 76, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 351; In re Hunt, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,882, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 433.

2. In re Gillette, 104 Fed. 769, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 119; In re Rogers' Milling Co., 102 Fed. 687, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 540.

Under the Act of 1867 creditors who had been fraudulently preferred were not counted in determining whether a sufficient number had joined in the petition. In re Rado, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 230, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,522; In re Israel, 3 Dill. (U. S.) 511, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,111, 2 Centr. L. J. 219, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 204; In re Currier, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 436, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,492, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 68; In re Rosenfields, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,061, 3 Am. L. Rec. 724, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 86; In re Hunt, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,883, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 5, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 493, 2 Pac. L. Rep. 146; Clinton v. Mayo, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,899, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 39.

3. In re Burlington Malting Co., 109 Fed. 777, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369, holding also that the filing of the petition cannot be considered as an unconditional release of the attachment. But see In re Cain, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 378, where it was held that an attaching creditor might be counted in ascertaining the number of creditors which the bankrupt was owing at the time of the filing of the petition.

Under the Act of 1867 the general proposition was maintained that an attaching creditor could not institute bankruptcy proceedings upon his claim while retaining his levy. In re Jewett, 7 Biss. (U. S.) 242, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,305; In re Hazens, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 549, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,285; In re Scrafford, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 376, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,556, 3 Month. Jur. 614, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 104, 3 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 552.

4. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*e*.

As to consanguinity or affinity within the third degree see supra, III, D, 2.

Creditors who have expressly assented to a general assignment for the benefit of creditors are not to be computed. In re Miner, 104 Fed. 520, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 710. See also supra, VI, B, 1, c, (III).

Intervening petitioning creditors whose claims are in fact owned by the original petitioner are not existing creditors who have "provable claims" and cannot be considered. In re Burlington Malting Co., 109 Fed. 777, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369.

5. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 3; 89 Fed. xxviii.

6. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 38. But see In re Ogles, 93 Fed. 426, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671, where it was said that a petition filed before the promulgation of the official forms by the supreme court should not be dismissed for want of conformity thereto; but the court will order a new petition in the form prescribed, to be filed nunc pro tunc, the original petition, however, not to be withdrawn from the files. And compare Mather v. Coe, 92 Fed. 333, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 504, where it was held that no official form having been prescribed for a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against a partnership, the general form of a creditors' petition [U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 3; 89 Fed. xxviii] is to be used for that purpose, with such adaptations as will meet the exigencies of the particular case.

The official form thus prescribed was not intended to add to or modify the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act in regard to what constitute sufficient facts for adjudications of bankruptcy. George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463, where it was held that the fact that the official form for involuntary petitions contains an allegation of insolvency does not make such an allegation material where the statute provides that other facts alone constitute a sufficient cause for adjudication.

Petitions must be plainly written or printed, without abbreviation or interlinea-

(II) Allegations of Jurisdictional Facts. The petition should state the names and residences of the petitioning creditors and the bankrupt. It should show that the bankrupt has had his principal place of business, or resided or had his domicile within the jurisdiction of the court for the greater portion of the six months next preceding the date of the filing of the petition.[7] It should also allege the insolvency of the proposed bankrupt,[8] although it has been held that where such bankrupt is guilty of an act of bankruptcy, although solvent, as in the case of a general assignment, the insolvency of the bankrupt need not be alleged.[9] It is probable that the petition should show what the business of the proposed bankrupt was,[10] or that he did not come within one of the excepted classes, although a failure to so plead would probably not be deemed a jurisdictional defect.[11] The act of bankruptcy must be alleged to have been committed [12]

tion, except as may be necessary for the purpose of reference. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 5. As to abbreviations see supra, note 77. By rule of court in the district court of North Carolina, petitions in bankruptcy will not be placed on file nor considered unless made out on the prescribed printed forms. Written or typewritten petitions and schedules will be returned to the parties without action. Mahoney v. Ward, 100 Fed. 278, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 770.

Petitions must be filed in duplicate, one copy for the clerk and one to be served on the bankrupt. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*c*.

7. See Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (1); and supra, II, A, 2.

Limitation as to residence or place of business is made with reference alone to the duration of business in the district, and regardless of the fact that its location may be changed short of the period, and thus be carried on in different districts without exceeding the three months in either, or that it may be discontinued entirely without reaching the time limited in any one; and the provisions in reference to domicile and residence are equally restricted, except for the distinction as to residence, that it may be retained in one district after domicile is changed to another. In re Plotke, 104 Fed. 964, 44 C. C. A. 282, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 171. See also In re Ray, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 158; In re Laskaris, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 480; In re Stokes, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 35.

Place of business of corporation.— Where the petition alleges that a corporation was organized and is existing under the laws of a state, it is equivalent to an allegation of domicile and residence within such state; and where it is alleged that its principal place of business has been within the district since its organization, and the proof shows such organization to have been more than six months prior to the filing of the petition, the petition will be deemed amended accordingly, although it fails to allege the length of domicile, residence, or principal place of business. In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484.

8. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*b*. See also supra, V, B, 7.

9. George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463.

10. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*; In re Taylor, 102 Fed. 728, 42 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515.

An involuntary petition against a corporation which does not allege the corporation to be principally engaged in manufacture, trading, printing, publishing, or mercantile pursuits is insufficient to confer jurisdiction, and an adjudication made upon it is void. In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484.

11. Green River Deposit Bank v. Craig, 110 Fed. 137, 138, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 381, where the court says: "With this section [4*b*] before it, the supreme court in making the general orders in bankruptcy, prescribed form No. 3 for petitions by creditors against a debtor, which, no doubt, has been generally followed in involuntary bankruptcy cases from that time until now. It might, I suppose, be quite fairly inferred that the judges of that court, in framing the rules and forms, considered the question whether the allegation that the debtor was not a wage earner and was not chiefly engaged in farming or the tillage of the soil, was essential, and concluded that it was not. Otherwise, doubtless, the form prescribed would have included it. They probably thought that the exceptions named in section 4 could more properly be specially and affirmatively pleaded if the facts justified it, and that they need not be anticipated or negatived in the petition."

Under the Act of 1867 it was held that a petition was demurrable which did not allege that the bankrupt was not within the excepted classes. In re California Pac. R. Co., 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 240, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,315, 2 Centr. L. J. 79, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 193.

12. Several acts of bankruptcy may be pleaded in the same petition, but they should be stated conjunctively. In re Drummond, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,093, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 7, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 231.

The circumstances and facts upon which the act of bankruptcy is based should be specifically alleged; it is insufficient to allege the act in the terms of the statute without detail. In re Cliffe, 94 Fed. 354, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 317: In re Raynor, 11 Blatchf. (U. S.) 43, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,597, 1 Am. L. Rec. 736, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 527; In re within four months of the filing of the petition.[13] The petition must affirmatively show that the aggregate of the claims of the petitioning creditors equals or exceeds the sum of five hundred dollars,[14] and that the debtor owes debts to the amount of one thousand dollars.[15] If only one creditor petitions, it must be alleged that the whole number of creditors is less than twelve.[16]

(III) Prayer. The prayer of the petition should be to the effect that service of the petition and a subpœna be made upon the alleged bankrupt, and that he be adjudged a bankrupt.[17]

f. Signature and Verification. The petition should be signed by the petitioners, although the statute does not seem to prevent a signature by an agent or attorney in behalf of a petitioner.[18] Such petition must be verified under the oath of three petitioners if there be more than one.[19] The form of the verification is given in the form of the creditors' petition,[20] and contemplates that the verification is to be made by the petitioners and not by their attorney.[21]

g. Amendments. The court may allow amendments to the petition on appli-

Randall, 1 Deady (U. S.) 557, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,551, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 18; Hallack v. Tritch, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,956, 10 Chic. Leg. N. 219, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 293.

Allegations as to preferences.— Allegations that one has within the four months last past transferred large amounts and values of his property to one or more persons, with intent to prefer them, are wholly insufficient. The specific facts must be alleged, with the time, place, persons, and circumstances. Issuable facts and not conclusions should be alleged. In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63.

13. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*b*.

14. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*b*. If it appear after the filing of the petition that the petitioning creditors had not provable claims amounting to five hundred dollars, the dismissal of the petition is necessary, unless the fault can be corrected. There is nothing in the Act which prevents the correction of such fault. In re Mackey, 110 Fed. 355, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 577.

15. Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*.

16. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*d*.

17. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 3; 89 Fed. xxviii.

It is improper to include in the petition a prayer for the seizure of the assets of the alleged bankrupt, or for an injunction against further proceedings by a receiver appointed by a state court. Mather v. Coe, 92 Fed. 333, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 504.

Multifariousness.— A petition in involuntary bankruptcy which unites with a prayer for an adjudication in bankruptcy a prayer for the seizure of assets of the debtor, and for an injunction restraining attaching creditors, should be dismissed for multifariousness. In re Ogles, 93 Fed. 426, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671. See also In re Kelly, 91 Fed. 504, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306.

18. Wald v. Wehl, 6 Fed. 163. See In re Raynor, 11 Blatchf. (U. S.) 43, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,597, 1 Am. L. Rec. 736, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 527.

19. Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 18*c*, 59*b*. See Green River Deposit Bank v. Craig, 110 Fed. 137, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 381.

As to defective verification see supra, note 67.

As to who may administer oath see Bankr. Act (1898), § 20; and supra, note 67.

A lack of verification or a defect therein is not jurisdictional and may be cured by amendment. Green River Deposit Bank v. Craig, 110 Fed. 137, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 381; In re Simonson, 92 Fed. 904, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197; In re Soper, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 193.

20. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 3; 89 Fed. xxix.

21. Verification by agent or attorney.— The court says in In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 77, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63: "I am not prepared to hold that there could not be a case where the verification might be made by the attorney where the facts are within his knowledge, and not within the knowledge of the petitioners, and the attorney is authorized by the petitioners to make it. But it is not necessary to decide that question here." The petitioners, speaking generally, should certainly swear to the petition in person, though it may be that a duly authorized agent might, under some circumstances, properly verify it, at the same time showing by his affidavit his authority. A non-compliance with the form prescribed by the supreme court does not render the verification void and unavailing. In re Simonson, 92 Fed. 904, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197 [reversed in 95 Fed. 948].

The fact that the term "creditor" as defined in the Bankruptcy Act includes his duly authorized agent, attorney, or proxy, does not authorize a verification by an attorney. In re Simonson, 92 Fed. 904, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197 [reversed in 95 Fed. 948].

Under the former Act there were some cases to the effect that unless the statute expressly authorized an agent to verify, as where the principal did not live in the district, a verification could not be by an agent. Hunt v. Pooke, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,896, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 161; In re Butterfield, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 257. Contra, In re Raynor, 11 Blatchf. (U. S.) 43, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,597, 1 Am. L. Rec. 736, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 527.

cation of the petitioners. In the application for leave to amend the petitioner should state the cause of the error in the petition originally filed.[22] The courts are disinclined to allow amendments where the object is to introduce new facts or to change essentially the grounds of the petition, unless they are clearly required in the furtherance of justice.[23]

h. Two or More Petitions—(I) In Same District—(A) Where Acts of Bankruptcy Were Committed on Different Days. Where two or more petitions are filed in the same district against a debtor by different creditors, and different acts of bankruptcy committed on different days are alleged in each petition, and the debtor appears and shows cause against an adjudication of bankruptcy against him on the petitions, the petition which alleges the commission of the first act of bankruptcy should be first heard and tried.[24]

(B) Where Acts of Bankruptcy Were Committed on Same Day. If the acts of bankruptcy are alleged in the petitions to have been committed on the same day the court before whom they are pending may order them to be consolidated

22. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 11. See also supra, VI, A, 1, c. See In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63 (where it is said that where a petition in involuntary bankruptcy attempts to set forth acts of bankruptcy by the respondent which would justify an adjudication if properly alleged and proved, but its averments are so vague and general as not to be sufficient in law, and the petition is verified by the attorney of the petitioning creditors, instead of by the creditors themselves, the court of bankruptcy, instead of dismissing the petition, may allow it to be amended and verified anew by the petitioners); In re Mercur, 95 Fed. 634, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 626 (holding that where, at the hearing on a petition in involuntary bankruptcy, it is proved that the debtor within the statutory time has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, this act of bankruptcy, although not originally alleged in the petition as ground for an adjudication, may be added to the petition by amendment).

Amended petition not convertible into original petition.—An amended petition in bankruptcy, executed as such by a creditor to be filed in proceedings previously instituted, cannot, after such execution, and after the proceedings have been dismissed by the court, be converted into an original petition by striking out the word "amended," and be made the basis of a new and independent proceeding; and where it has been so filed it will be dismissed on the facts being made to appear to the court. In re Hyde, etc., Mfg. Co., 103 Fed. 617, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 602.

When amendment deemed to have been made.—Where, on a hearing before a referee on the issues joined on a petition in involuntary bankruptcy, the testimony of the alleged bankrupts discloses an additional act of bankruptcy not specified in the petition an amendment will be deemed to have been made to include such act. In re Miller, 104 Fed. 764, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 140. See also In re Lange, 97 Fed. 197, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 231, holding that where a petition in bankruptcy alleges the payment of a certain debt by the respondent as a preference and an act of bankruptcy, it may be amended, on application duly made, by inserting allegations of other preferential payments made by the respondent before the filing of the petition, and in discharge of debts of like general character with that first mentioned; or such an amendment may be deemed to have been made, and to warrant an adjudication against the respondent, when his own testimony upon the trial of the petition discloses the essential facts as to such other payments of debts.

23. In re Craft, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 214, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,316, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 378 [affirmed in 6 Blatchf. (U. S.) 177, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,317, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 111]; In re Waite v. Crocker, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 207, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,044, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 373; In re Gallinger, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 224, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,202, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 729; In re Leonard, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,255, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 562.

An amendment to add a new party will not be allowed after all the testimony is taken. In re Pitt, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 389, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,188, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 59, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 196.

When permitted under the present Act.—An amendment may be made to a petition for the purpose of joining additional creditors where it appears that the provable claims of the original petitioning creditors did not equal the sum of five hundred dollars. The power of amendment is substantial and conferred for effecting the broad purposes of the Act, and is not confined to niceties of diction or other immaterial or merely formal matters. To hold that it does not embrace the insertion of material and essential averments at any stage of the proceedings before judgment would reduce it to a shadow. In re Mackey, 110 Fed. 355, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 577. Any petition in bankruptcy which is not specific in its allegations, as where no details of the alleged act of bankruptcy are stated, may be amended. In re Cliffe, 94 Fed. 354, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 317. Acts of bankruptcy not included in the original petition may be inserted by amendment where it appears that they were omitted for some sufficient reason, even if they were committed more than four months prior to the filing of the original petition. In re Strait, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 308.

24. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 7.

and proceed to a hearing as upon one petition; and if an adjudication of bankruptcy be made upon either petition, or for the commission of a single act of bankruptcy, it is not necessary to proceed to a hearing upon the remaining petitions, unless proceedings be taken by the debtor for the purpose of causing such adjudication to be annulled or vacated.[25]

(c) Where Several Partners File Separate Petitions Against Firm. If two or more petitions are filed by different members of a partnership for the adjudication of the bankruptcy of such partnership, action should be had upon the one first filed.[26]

(II) In Different Districts—(A) Against Individuals. If two or more petitions are filed against the same individual in different districts, the first hearing should be had in the district in which the debtor has his domicile, and the petition may be amended by inserting an allegation of an act of bankruptcy committed at an earlier date than that first alleged, if such act is charged in either of the other petitions.[27]

(B) Against Partnerships—(1) In General. In case two or more petitions are filed against the same partnership in different courts, each having jurisdiction over the case, the petition first filed must be first heard, and may be amended by the insertion of an allegation of an earlier act of bankruptcy than that first alleged, if such earlier act is charged in either of the other petitions.[28]

(2) By Different Members of the Partnership. In case two or more petitions are filed in different districts by different members of the same partnership for the adjudication of the bankruptcy of said partnership, the court in which the petition is first filed, having jurisdiction, must take and retain jurisdiction over all proceedings in such bankruptcy until the same are closed.[29]

(c) Transfer of Cases. The court retaining jurisdiction must, if satisfied that it is for the best interest and convenience of parties in interest that another court should proceed with the cases, order them to be transferred to that court.[30]

2. Order to Show Cause. Upon the filing of a petition an order is granted under the seal of the court, and tested by the clerk, requiring a copy of the petition with the writ of subpœna to be served upon the bankrupt and directing that he appear and show cause upon the return-day why the prayer of the petition should not be granted.[31]

25. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 7. The order is practically the same as the rule adopted under the Act of 1867.

26. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6. Proceeding becomes involuntary, when.—If some of the members of a partnership file a petition in bankruptcy against the partnership, and the non-joining members make defense to the petition the proceeding as to them becomes an involuntary one. In re Murray, 96 Fed. 600, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 601.

27. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6. The proceedings upon the other petitions may be stayed until an adjudication is made upon the petition first heard, and the court which makes the first adjudication retains jurisdiction over all proceedings therein until the same are closed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6. The "first adjudication" referred to, which gives the court making it prior jurisdiction, must have been made in accordance with the other provision of the rule as to the place of first hearing, and that creditors, by filing a second petition against an individual in another district, and obtaining a first hearing and adjudication thereon, cannot thereby oust the jurisdiction of the court in the district of the bankrupt's domicile, in which a petition had been first filed by other creditors. In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484.

28. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6. The other proceedings are stayed and the court making the first adjudication retains jurisdiction until the close of the proceeding. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6.

29. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6.

30. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 6. Bankr. Act (1898), § 32, provides that in the event petitions are filed against the same person, or against different members of a partnership in different courts of bankruptcy, each of which has jurisdiction, the cases shall be transferred by order of the court relinquishing jurisdiction to, and be consolidated by, the one of such courts which can proceed with the same for the greatest convenience of the parties.

31. See U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 3; Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*a*. Form of order to show cause is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 4; 89 Fed. xxix.

3. WRIT OF SUBPŒNA. Upon the filing of a petition a writ of subpœna is issued under the seal of the court, addressed to the alleged bankrupt, commanding him to appear before the court at the place and on the day mentioned therein to answer to the petition.[32]

4. SERVICE OF PETITION AND PROCESS — a. In General. The Act provides that upon the filing of a petition for involuntary bankruptcy, service thereof, with the writ of subpœna, shall be made upon the person therein named as defendant in the same manner that service of such process is now had upon the commencement of a suit in equity in the courts of the United States,[33] except that it shall be returnable within fifteen days, unless the judge shall for cause fix a longer time.[34] If personal service of process cannot be made, then notice must be given by publication in the same manner and for the same time as provided by law for notice by publication in suits in equity in the courts of the United States.[35]

b. Waiver. There is nothing in the present Act which precludes a waiver of process upon the voluntary appearance of the bankrupt and the filing of an answer admitting the bankruptcy on the day the petition is filed.[36] Under the present Act formal service of the subpœna may be waived by the proper and authorized acceptance of service being entered thereon by the alleged bankrupt.[37]

5. APPEARANCES, PLEADINGS, AND DEFENSES — a. Appearance in Person or by Attorney. Appearance in bankruptcy proceedings by a bankrupt or his creditors may be made in person or by attorney; but a creditor will only be allowed to manage before the court his own individual interests.[38]

32. See U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 3; Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*a*.

Form of subpœna is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 5; 89 Fed. xxx.

33. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*a*; U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 37.

For manner of service see U. S. Equity Rules, No. 13 et seq.

Personal service of the writ of subpœna must be made at least five days before the return-day. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 4; U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 37.

Service upon a lunatic confined in an asylum may be made by reading a copy to such lunatic in the presence of the superintendent or other official of the asylum. In re Burka, 107 Fed. 674, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 843.

34. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*a*.

A judge is authorized by a special order in any case to vary the time allowed for the return of process, for appearance and pleading in order to facilitate a speedy hearing. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 37.

35. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*a*.

Manner of service by publication is prescribed. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 738, amended by 18 U. S. Stat. at L. 472. See Foster Fed. Pr. (3d ed.) § 97.

Designation of newspapers.— Courts of bankruptcy must by order designate a newspaper published within their respective territorial districts, and in the county in which the bankrupt resides or the major part of his property is situated, in which notices required to be published by the Act and orders which the court may direct to be published shall be inserted. Any court may in a particular case, for the convenience of parties in interest, designate some additional newspaper in which notices and orders in such case shall be published. Bankr. Act (1898), § 28.

Service upon non-joining member of partnership.— If a petition is filed on behalf of some of the members of a partnership it must be deemed an involuntary petition as to the members who do not join, and service must be made upon such non-joining members personally or by publication as in other cases. In re Murray, 96 Fed. 600, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 601.

36. In re Mason, 99 Fed. 256, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 599.

For analogous decisions under former acts see In re Leighton, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 457, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,221, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 95; In re Little, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 25, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,391, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 123, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 294.

Under the former Bankruptcy Act it was generally held that a voluntary appearance upon the part of the alleged bankrupt was a waiver of service and vested the court with jurisdiction. In re Ulrich, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 355, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,327, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 133; In re Kirtland, 10 Blatchf. (U. S.) 515, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,851; In re McNaughton, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,912, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 44.

37. In re L. Humbert Co., 100 Fed. 439, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76.

Waiver of defects in verification.— If the respondent in a case of involuntary bankruptcy pleads to the merits, without objecting to the form of the petition, he thereby waives any defect in the verification of the petition; such verification being a matter of form and not affecting the jurisdiction of the court. Leidigh Carriage Co. v. Stengel, 95 Fed. 637, 37 C. C. A. 210, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383.

38. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 4. See also Leiter v. Payson, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 157, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 205, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,226 mem.

b. Time of Appearance. The bankrupt or any creditor may appear and plead to the petition within ten days from the return-day, or within such further time as the court may allow.[39]

c. Answer — (I) Right of Bankrupt to File. The bankrupt may file an answer to a petition for involuntary insolvency.[40]

(II) Right of Creditor to File. Creditors other than the original petitioners may, at any time, enter their appearance and join in the petition,[41] or file an answer and be heard in opposition to the prayer of the petitioner.[42] When a creditor intervenes for the purpose of opposing the adjudication in bankruptcy he may file his answer in the same manner, and he is entitled to the same rights as parties respondent in other proceedings.[43] And the court cannot deny him an opportunity to answer an involuntary petition.[44]

(III) Form, Contents, and Sufficiency — (A) In General. While the form of a denial of bankruptcy on the part of a bankrupt is prescribed,[45] the rules of Attorney entering appearance must be an attorney and counselor authorized to practice in the circuit or district court. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 4. But the jurisdiction of the court, acquired by the due filing of a petition, and all the necessary jurisdictional facts stated in such petition, is not affected by the fact that the attorney who appeared for the bankrupt was not at that time admitted to practice in the court. The proper remedy in such cases is for the objecting creditor to make a motion to expunge the unauthorized appearance, or for a stay of such proceedings until the bankrupt has procured an attorney admitted to practice in the court. It is not proper to dismiss such petition for want of jurisdiction. In re Kindt, 98 Fed. 867, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 546.

39. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*b*.

Consent to extension of time. — The petitioning creditors and the bankrupt cannot stipulate for an extension of time for the bankrupt to plead, unless all the creditors of the defendant consent, or due notice is given to them and they fail to object. In re Simonson, 92 Fed. 904, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197.

40. See infra, VI, B, 5, c, (II) et seq. as to what a bankrupt may set up in his answer.

41. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*f*. Construing this section, Judge Lowell, in In re Romanow, 92 Fed. 510, 511, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 461, said: "Those who are permitted to 'join in' a petition, by so doing commonly become parties to it; and the words 'join in the petition' as used in paragraph e and paragraph b of the same section, plainly carry that implication. It is urged by the respondents that, if this construction be given to paragraph f, an insufficient number of creditors, or creditors having an insufficient amount of claims, may file a petition against a debtor, and obtain an adjudication by subsequently procuring other creditors to join with them, such joinder being possible at any time before the petition is dismissed. This practice, it is said, would permit a petition, at the time of its filing insufficient in substance as well as in form, to be made good by subsequent acts. It must be admitted that there is weight in this argument, but the language of the act is clear; and the inconvenience, if inconvenience there be, was not deemed by congress a controlling consideration in the act of 1867, nor in some cases, at least, under the act of 1898. I think, therefore, that creditors, otherwise competent to appear and join in a petition subsequent to its filing, may be reckoned in making up the number of creditors and amount of claims required by section 59." See also In re Mammouth Pine Lumber Co., 109 Fed. 308, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 84; In re John A. Etheridge Furniture Co., 92 Fed. 329, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 112.

The subsequent joinder of creditors as petitioners will not be allowed where the original petition manifestly upon its face showed that an insufficient number of creditors or an insufficient amount of claims had united in the petition. In re Bedingfield, 96 Fed. 190, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 355.

Unless a creditor avails himself of the opportunity on intervention afforded by the Act he will be deemed, in contemplation of law, as represented by his debtor, and will be concluded as to all matters directly in issue and determined by the decree. In re Henry Ulfelder Clothing Co., 98 Fed. 409, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 425 [citing Candee v. Lord, 2 N. Y. 269, 51 Am. Dec. 294]. But see Brooks v. Wilson, 125 N. Y. 256, 26 N. E. 258, 34 N. Y. St. 739.

42. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*f*.

43. Knickerbocker Ins. Co. v. Comstock, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,879, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 142, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 484.

44. In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484.

45. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 6; 89 Fed. xxx. But see In re Paige, 99 Fed. 538, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 679; infra, VI, B, 5, (III), (B); and U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 38.

Amended answer. — Where the answer of the bankrupt is not in the simple form of denial of bankruptcy as prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 6, 89 Fed. xxx, it may be sufficient in substance as a compliance with this form to present the issue of a contested adjudication, although it is misleading and unnecessarily defensive in equity practice established by the supreme court of the United States apply in involuntary bankruptcy proceedings,[46] and therefore regulate the form and contents of answers by bankrupts and intervening creditors.[47] The sufficiency of an answer to an involuntary petition in bankruptcy cannot be raised by a demurrer.[48] It can only be raised by setting the case for hearing upon the bill and answer.[49]

(B) What Defenses May Be Pleaded. All facts may be pleaded which constitute defenses to the alleged act of bankruptcy upon which the petition is based.[50] Not only the bankrupt, but also any creditor may avail himself of any such defenses.[51] Any material fact of the petition may be controverted, as for example, the allegations in respect to the provable claims of the petitioning creditors;[52] that the court had no jurisdiction because of the non-residence of the bankrupt;[53] and that the act of bankruptcy was not committed.[54] its statements. It must, however, be refiled as of the original date amended to conform to the simple form prescribed, though it must remain on file as it is in the original answer. Mather v. Coe, 92 Fed. 333, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 504.

46. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 37; Goldman v. Smith, 93 Fed. 182, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266.

47. U. S. Equity Rules, Nos. 39–46.

48. Demurrer to an answer is unknown to the federal equity practice as it was unknown to the high court of chancery in England. Banks v. Manchester, 128 U. S. 244, 9 S. Ct. 36, 32 L. ed. 425; Crouch v. Kerr, 38 Fed. 549.

49. Goldman v. Smith, 93 Fed. 182, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 266.

50. The bankrupt may answer denying his bankruptcy. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 6; 89 Fed. xxx. And it has been held that the bankrupt in answering a petition for involuntary bankruptcy may not only deny insolvency but may also set up a defense or counterclaim which may show him to have been solvent at the time when it is adjudged that the act of bankruptcy was committed. In re Paige, 99 Fed. 538, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 679, where it is said that the law does not contemplate that the bankrupt shall be confined to the form prescribed by the supreme court and that he can answer only such facts as are suggested therein.

Sufficiency of denial.— A deed of general assignment for the benefit of creditors is made by the Act alone sufficient to justify an adjudication in involuntary bankruptcy against the debtor making such deed, without reference to his solvency at the time of the filing of the petition; hence the denial of insolvency by way of defense to a petition based upon the making of a deed of general assignment is not a good plea. George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463.

Superfluous allegation of insolvency in the petition need not be traversed. George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463 [affirming 91 Fed. 237].

Effect of denial.— Where, to a petition in proceedings in involuntary bankruptcy, a creditor answers, alleging that the alleged bankrupt is not insolvent, and the case is submitted on the pleadings, the allegations of the answer must be taken as true, and an adjudication of bankruptcy upon the pleadings is error. In re Taylor, 102 Fed. 728, 42 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515.

51. In re Cornwall, 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 114, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,250, 6 Am. L. Rev. 365, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 305; In re Quimette, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 47, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,622, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 566; In re Scrafford, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,557, 3 Centr. L. J. 252, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 184.

That bankrupt is within the exceptions of Bankr. Act (1898), § 4, may be raised by any creditor; the defense is not personal to the bankrupt, as it goes to the jurisdiction of the court. In re Taylor, 102 Fed. 728, 42 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515.

52. In re Williams, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,706, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 132; In re Osage Valley, etc., R. Co., 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,592, 1 Centr. L. J. 33, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 281.

It is not a defense to a petition in involuntary bankruptcy that the petitioning creditors had previously agreed to compromise with the debtor on receiving half the amount of their claims, when it appears that the composition has not been paid, and that half of the debts alleged to be due the petitioning creditors would be a sufficient sum to enable them to maintain the petition. Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 95 Fed. 948 [reversing 92 Fed. 904]. In proceedings in involuntary bankruptcy, the allegation of the petition that the petitioning creditors have provable claims which amount in the aggregate, in excess of the value of securities held by them, to five hundred dollars is not met by an answer that they had not provable claims to the required amount at the time of the commission of the act of bankruptcy charged. In re John A. Etheridge Furniture Co., 92 Fed. 329, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 112.

53. In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730; In re Berner, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 325.

54. In re Skelley, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 260, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,921, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 214.

If the act of bankruptcy consists of a transfer or conveyance by the debtor with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, the solvency of such debtor at the time of the filing of the petition is a complete defense. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*c*; George M.

(IV) List of Creditors to Be Filed With Answer. If it be averred in the petition that the creditors of the bankrupt are less than twelve in number, and less than three creditors have joined as petitioners therein, and the answer avers the existence of a large number of creditors, there must be filed with the answer a list under oath of all the creditors with their addresses.[55]

(V) Prior Defects Waived by Answer. Where the answers of all the parties in interest contain no objection to the form and substance of the petition, the parties will be deemed to have waived all formal defects in the petition which are not jurisdictional.[56]

d. Replication. If the petitioning creditors wish to contest the questions raised by the answer a replication should be put in denying the allegations and a trial should be had thereon before an adjudication.[57]

6. Conduct of Proceedings — a. Determination of Issues — (I) By Judge. If the bankrupt or any of his creditors shall appear within the time limited,[58] and controvert the facts alleged in the petition,[59] the judge must determine as soon as may be the issues presented by the pleadings, without the intervention of a jury, except in cases where a jury trial is given by the Act,[60] and make the adjudication or dismiss the petition.[61]

(II) By Referee. If the judge is absent from the district or the division of the district in which the petition is pending on the next day after the last day on which pleadings may be filed, and none have been filed by the bankrupt or any of his creditors the clerk shall forthwith refer the case to the referee.[62]

West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463.

As to effect of Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*c* see supra, V.

As to what constitutes insolvency see supra, I, A.

55. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*d*.

Notice to creditors upon filing list.—Upon the filing of such list the court shall cause all the creditors named therein to be notified of the pendency of the petition, and shall delay the hearing thereon for a reasonable time, to the end that parties in interest shall have an opportunity to be heard; if upon such hearing it shall appear that a sufficient number have joined in such petition, or if prior to or during such hearing a sufficient number shall join therein, the case may be proceeded with, but otherwise it shall be dismissed. Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 59*d*, 59*f*.

As to manner of service of notice see Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (4); and supra, VI, B, 4, a.

Where but one creditor has filed a petition against his debtor, alleging that the creditors are less than twelve in number, but there are in fact more than twelve, other creditors may be permitted to join in the petition, and the original petition may be amended. In re Mercur, 95 Fed. 634, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 626.

56. Leidigh Carriage Co. v. Stengel, 95 Fed. 637, 37 C. C. A. 210, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383.

57. In re Taylor, 102 Fed. 728, 42 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515.

58. As to time within which to appear and file pleadings see Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*b*; and supra, VI, B, 5, b.

As to effect of appearance see supra, VI, B, 5.

59. Default by bankrupt or creditors.— If on the last day within which pleadings may be filed none are filed by the bankrupt or any of his creditors the judge shall, on the next day, if present, or as soon as practicable thereafter, make the adjudication or dismiss the petition. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*e*.

If bankrupt answers after the time required, the case should be adjudicated as if he had failed to plead. Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

60. Bankr. Act (1898), § 19; and infra, VI, B, 6, a, (III).

For form of order directing jury trial see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 7; 89 Fed. xxx.

61. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*d*. Compare Bankr. Act (1867), § 41.

62. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*f*. Under this section the clerk cannot refer a petition in involuntary bankruptcy to the referee for adjudication, except in cases where no issue is made by the bankrupt or any creditor upon the facts averred in the petition, and where the judge is absent from the district, or from the division of the district where the petition is filed, on the next day after the last day on which pleadings may be filed. In re L. Humbert Co., 100 Fed. 439, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76. But compare Clark v. American Mfg., etc., Co., 101 Fed. 962, 42 C. C. A. 120, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 351, holding that where answers are filed to a petition in involuntary bankruptcy, it is proper for the court to refer the case to a referee in bankruptcy to take and return the evidence and report upon the questions presented; and it is no ground of objection to such a course that the only questions arising in the case are questions of law, the action of the referee being always subject to the control of the court. See also, generally, supra, III, D, 3; infra, VIII.

The order referring a case to a referee

(III) By Jury. A person against whom an involuntary petition has been filed is entitled to a jury trial in respect to the question of his insolvency and as to any act of bankruptcy alleged in such petition.[63]

b. Evidence — (I) In General. Evidence may be introduced in proceedings to determine the question of bankruptcy in the same manner as in other civil proceedings.[64]

(II) Burden of Proof — (A) In General. As a general rule the burden of proof is upon the petitioning creditor to show that an act of bankruptcy has been committed;[65] and the same is true as to any other fact requisite to confer jurisdiction upon the court.[66]

(B) As to Insolvency. When the act of bankruptcy consists of a transfer or conveyance of his property to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors;[67] or when the allegation of insolvency is denied by the bankrupt, and he fails to appear in court on the hearing with his books, papers, and accounts and submit to an examination as to matters tending to establish his solvency, the burden of proving his solvency rests upon the bankrupt.[68] In all other cases the burden of shall name a day upon which the bankrupt shall attend before the referee; and from that day the bankrupt shall be subject to the orders of the court in all matters relating to his bankruptcy, and may receive from the referee a protection from arrest, to continue until the final adjudication on his application for a discharge, unless suspended or vacated by order of the court. A copy of the order shall be forthwith sent to the referee by mail, or be delivered to him personally by the clerk or other officer of the court. And thereafter all the proceedings except such as are required by the Act or by these General Orders to be had before the judge shall be had before the referee. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12.

63. Bankr. Act. (1898), § 19*a*; also supra, II, A, 3.

It would seem, since a bankruptcy proceeding is a proceeding in equity, that the only issues to be submitted as of right to a jury are those mentioned in this section. In re Christensen, 101 Fed. 802, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 99; Simonson v. Sinsheimer, 100 Fed. 426, 40 C. C. A. 474, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 824; Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 225.

Application for such trial must be filed at or before the time within which an answer may be filed. If such application is not filed within such time a trial by jury shall be deemed to have been waived. Bankr. Act (1898), § 19*a*; Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

64. Bankr. Act (1898), § 21*a*; In re Bloch, 109 Fed. 790, 48 C. C. A. 650, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300; In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484.

As to the sufficiency of such evidence see Lott v. Young, 109 Fed. 798, 48 C. C. A. 654, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 436; In re Rogers' Milling Co., 102 Fed. 687, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 540; In re Lange, 97 Fed. 197, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 231.

Court may compel the attendance of witnesses in person, who are competent witnesses under the laws of the state in which the proceedings are pending, to appear in court or before the referee to be examined concerning the matters in issue. Bankr. Act (1898), § 21*a*. See also supra, III, D, 3, f.

Examination of wife of bankrupt.— Where a state statute provides that a wife is not a competent witness as to confidential communications between her and her husband, she cannot be compelled in a bankruptcy proceeding to reveal such confidential matters. In re Cohn, 104 Fed. 328, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 16; In re Mayer, 97 Fed. 328, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 222; In re Jefferson, 96 Fed. 826, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 174; In re Fowler, 93 Fed. 417, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555.

65. In re Parker, 11 Fed. 397, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,721 mem., 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 340; In re Price, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,411, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 514; In re Oregon Bulletin Printing, etc., Co., 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,559, 1 Cinc. L. Bul. 87, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 503; In re King, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,783, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 104. See also In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

66. In re Hymes, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 427, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,986, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 433. Compare Hill v. Levy, 98 Fed. 94, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 374, holding that where the respondent in a petition in involuntary bankruptcy resists an adjudication on the ground that the debt of the petitioning creditor (evidenced by a promissory note of which he is the indorsee) is invalid under the state statute against gaming, because the note was given to respondent's brokers to cover his losses arising out of certain purchases and sales of wheat negotiated for him by said brokers on the board of trade, he must assume the burden of proving, by clear and conclusive evidence, that the dealings in question were mere speculations in the rise and fall of prices, and that neither party contemplated any actual sale and delivery of the wheat; failing this the debt will be provable in bankruptcy, and if sufficient in amount will warrant an adjudication.

67. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*c*; In re West, 108 Fed. 940, 48 C. C. A. 155, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 734.

68. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*d*; In re Rome proving the insolvency of the bankrupt, when material, is upon the petitioning creditors.[69]

(III) Depositions. The right to take depositions in proceedings in bankruptcy is determined and enjoyed according to the laws of the United States relating to the taking of depositions.[70]

7. Abatement of Proceedings. The Act provides that the death or insanity of the bankrupt shall not abate the proceedings, but the same shall be conducted and concluded in the same manner, so far as possible, as though he had not died or become insane.[71]

8. Dismissal or Withdrawal of Petition. An involuntary petition may be dismissed if the issues presented by the pleadings are decided adversely to the petitioning creditors, or in case no pleadings have been filed by the alleged bankrupt or any of his creditors, if the facts alleged in the petition are not sufficient to warrant the adjudication of bankruptcy.[72] Where a creditor joins in a proceeding in involuntary bankruptcy and allows a petition to be filed and afterwards obtains a settlement of his claim, he cannot withdraw from the proceeding if any of the creditors object.[73] Where an original petition has been dismissed other creditors may file a new petition against the debtor, but cannot intervene and reopen the original petition.[74]

9. Preservation of Property Prior to Adjudication — a. Seizure of Property. Upon specific proof by affidavit that a bankrupt against whom an involuntary petition has been filed and is pending has committed an act of bankruptcy or has neglected, or is neglecting, or is about to neglect, his property, that it has thereby deteriorated, or is deteriorating, or is about to deteriorate, in value, the judge may issue a warrant to the marshal to seize and hold such property subject to further orders.[75]

Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123. Under this section a simple denial of the fact of insolvency in the answer by an alleged bankrupt (who had previously assigned all his property for the benefit of creditors), unaccompanied by any affidavits, schedules, or other evidence, does not raise such an issue of solvency as is contemplated by the Act, nor sustain the burden of proof. Bray v. Cobb, 91 Fed. 102, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153.

69. See In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

70. Bankr. Act (1898), § 21*b*; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), §§ 861–870.

See also, generally, Depositions.

Notice of the taking of depositions must be filed with the referee if the hearing is before him. Bankr. Act (1898), § 21*c*.

71. Bankr. Act (1898), § 8. And in In re Hicks, 107 Fed. 910, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 182, it was held that after an involuntary petition has been filed the proceedings in bankruptcy are commenced and that such proceedings are not abated, though the bankrupt die prior to an adjudication.

See also, generally, Abatement and Revival, 1 Cyc. 10.

72. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18*d*, e.

Form of dismissal is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 11; 89 Fed. xxxiii.

Until after notice to all the creditors neither a voluntary nor an involuntary petition may be dismissed by the petitioner or petitioners, or for want of prosecution or by consent of parties. Bankr. Act (1898), § 59*g*. Compare In re Gillette, 104 Fed. 769, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 119, holding that no power is vested in a court of bankruptcy by the Act of 1898 to compel a creditor to become a petitioner in an involuntary proceeding, nor is it the province of the court to serve notice on creditors who have not appeared of the proposed dismissal of a petition because of the insufficient number of eligible creditors joining therein.

73. In re Bedingfield, 96 Fed. 190, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 355. Compare, under the former Act, In re Heffron, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 156, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,321, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 358, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 213; In re Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 5 Biss. (U. S.) 287, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,023, 18 Int. Rev. Rec. 79, 5 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 275, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 302, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 4; In re Sargent, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,361, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 144, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 435.

Where a majority of the petitioning creditors have consented to a dismissal of the petition the minority, however small, can insist upon an adjudication if an act of bankruptcy has been committed. In re Cronin, 98 Fed. 584, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 552.

74. Neustadter v. Chicago Dry-Goods Co., 96 Fed. 830, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 96, holding that the fact that more than four months have elapsed since the act of bankruptcy on which the petition is founded is no reason for the allowance of a petition by creditors to reopen and join in the original petition.

75. Bankr. Act (1898), § 69. Compare proceedings under Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (3). See also supra, II, B, 12; III, B, 1; III, C, 2.

b. Appointment of Marshal or Receiver. It is also provided that courts of bankruptcy may appoint receivers or marshals upon application of parties in interest in case the court shall find it absolutely necessary for the preservation of estates to take charge of the property of bankrupts after the filing of the petition and until it is dismissed or the trustee is qualified.[76] The bankruptcy courts may also authorize the receivers and marshals so appointed to conduct the business of bankrupts for limited periods, if necessary for the best interests of estates.[77]

c. Marshal's Liability. The responsibility of determining the ownership of property seized by the marshal rests upon him.[78]

Construing Bankr. Act (1867), § 40, the court of appeals of the state of New York held that it related only to property belonging to and in the possession of the debtor and over which he had control. Doyle v. Sharpe, 74 N. Y. 154 [citing In re Harthill, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 448, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,161, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 392; In re Holland, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,605, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 403, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 126]; but this case was overruled by the United States supreme court. Sharpe v. Doyle, 102 U. S. 686, 26 L. ed. 277. See also Feibelman v. Packard, 109 U. S. 421, 3 S. Ct. 289, 27 L. ed. 984.

Form of warrant of seizure is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 8; 89 Fed. xxxi.

Nature of remedy.— In In re Kelly, 91 Fed. 504, 506, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306, Hammond, J., said: "It is desired to . . . call attention to the fact that this section 69 was not designed as a general grab-all attachment proceeding, nor a statutory remedy for the seizure of property fraudulently conveyed by an alleged insolvent debtor, nor is it in any sense to be made a summary proceeding against anybody but the alleged bankrupt, nor against any property except that which is in his own hands, or those of his acknowledged agents, and certainly not against any one claiming adversely to him."

Property in hands of adverse claimant.— In Bardes v. Hawarden First Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163, it was said: "The powers conferred on the courts of bankruptcy by clause 3 of § 2, and by § 69, after the filing of a petition in bankruptcy, and in case it is necessary for the preservation of property of the bankrupt, to authorize receivers or the marshals to take charge of it until a trustee is appointed, can hardly be considered as authorizing a forcible seizure of such property in the possession of an adverse claimant." But see Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 438, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623, where the court said in effect that this statement was upon a question not arising in the case then before the court, which related exclusively to jurisdiction of a suit by the trustee after his appointment, and might therefore be deemed a dictum and not controlling. Section 69 is intended to authorize the court to prevent the wasting, deterioration, or loss of the bankrupt's property in his possession pending the hearing on the petition for adjudication, but it is not intended to authorize a taking away from third parties property to which they were entitled. It does not authorize the seizure of property which has passed from the possession of the bankrupt before the institution of proceedings under the Act. In re Rockwood, 91 Fed. 363, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 272.

Property subsequently claimed by third person.— Where the marshal, acting under his warrant, seizes the estate of the bankrupt peaceably and quietly and without protest, and thereby becomes possessed of property which is subsequently claimed by a third person, the court will not direct the marshal to turn over the property so seized to the claimant, and thereby compel the trustee to institute suit in a court of proper jurisdiction for the recovery thereof. In re Bender, 106 Fed. 873, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 632.

76. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (3). See also supra, II, B, 12.

Jurisdiction over bankrupt's property sold by assignee.— Where an assignee for the benefit of creditors sells property assigned after and with notice of the petition in bankruptcy, but before the appointment of a trustee and the creditors petition in the district court for an order requiring that the property be taken into the custody of the marshal of such court for the benefit of the bankrupt's estate, and the vendee does not protest against the jurisdiction of the court of bankruptcy, but submits his claim to that court and asks for such orders as may be necessary for his protection, the district court may try the title to the goods involved in the controversy by summary proceedings, and may decree that the vendee has no title superior to the title of the bankrupt's estate. Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623.

Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (3), distinguished from Bankr. Act (1898), § 69.— It will be noticed that the authority here conferred by Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (3), may be exercised at any time prior to the qualification of the trustee, without reference to the adjudication of bankruptcy; it differs in this respect from a warrant of seizure issued under Bankr. Act (1898), § 69, which can only be granted while the petition is pending. Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, 45 L. ed. 814, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623.

77. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (5). See also II, B, 12; III, B, 1; III, C, 2.

78. If he should seize the property of another, although in good faith, he may be held for any damages which the party injured may sustain; the warrant is no protection to him

d. Marshal's Return. The marshal is required to return under oath a statement of his actual and necessary expenses in the service of the warrant, and for the custody of the property, and other services, and the actual and necessary expenses paid by him, with vouchers therefor, whenever procurable, together with a statement that the amounts charged by him are just and reasonable.[79]

e. Petitioners' Bond. Before a warrant of seizure may issue the petitioners or applicants therefor are required to file the bond required by the provisions of the Act.[80]

f. Release of Property Seized. Property seized must be released if the bankrupt gives a bond in the sum which shall be fixed by the judge with such sureties as he shall approve, conditioned to turn over such property or to pay the value thereof in money to the trustee in the event he is adjudged a bankrupt pursuant to the petition.[81]

10. The Adjudication. If upon the pleadings and the proof it appears that the debtor has been guilty of an act of bankruptcy the court must adjudge him to be a bankrupt.[82]

11. Costs. In cases of involuntary bankruptcy when the debtor resists the adjudication, and the court, after a hearing, adjudges the debtor a bankrupt, the petitioning creditor shall recover and be paid out of the estate the same costs that are allowed to a party recovering in a suit in equity; and if the petition is dismissed the debtor shall recover like costs against the petitioner.[83] in such cases. Marsh v. Armstrong, 20 Minn. 81, 18 Am. Rep. 355; In re Vogel, 7 Blatchf. (U. S.) 18, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,982, 2 Am. L. T. 154, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 170, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 198; In re Muller, Deady (U. S.) 513, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,912, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 329.

79. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 19.

Form of the return by the marshal is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 8; 89 Fed. xxxi.

80. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3e, provides that before the warrant is issued the petitioners or applicants are required to file, where an involuntary petition has been filed, a bond, with at least two good and sufficient sureties, who shall reside within the jurisdiction of the court, to be approved by the judge thereof, in such sum as the court shall direct, conditioned for the payment to the bankrupt, or his or her personal representatives, of all costs and expenses and damages occasioned by the seizure and detention of the property in case such petition is dismissed.

Bankr. Act (1898), § 69, provides that before such warrant is issued the petitioners applying therefor shall enter into a bond in such an amount as the judge shall fix, with such sureties as he shall approve, conditioned to indemnify such bankrupt for such damages as he shall sustain in the event such seizure shall prove to have been wrongfully obtained.

Forms of bonds for release are prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, Nos. 9, 10; 89 Fed. xxxii.

81. Bankr. Act (1898), § 69*a*.

82. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18. See also In re Columbia Real-Estate Co., 101 Fed. 965, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 411; In re L. Humbert Co., 100 Fed. 439, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76; Mahoney v. Ward, 100 Fed. 278, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 770; In re Harper, 100 Fed. 266, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 804.

Form of order of adjudication is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 12; 89 Fed. xxxiii. This form should be substantially complied with, with such alterations as may be necessary to suit the circumstances of any particular case. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 38; In re Hill, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 378, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,484, 1 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 421, 20 Int. Rev. Rec. 81, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 133. See also In re Boston, etc., R. Co., 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 409, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,678, 6 Am. L. Rev. 582, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 222.

The term "adjudication" is defined in the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (2), supra, note 8, p. 238.

Necessity of notice to creditors.— On a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against a corporation, there can be no adjudication or reference of the case by the clerk to the referee, on a written admission by the respondent of the acts of bankruptcy charged, and a waiver of service and of the time for appearance. Since creditors, as well as the alleged bankrupt, have the right to appear and plead to the petition within ten days after the return-day, that day must be fixed by the issuance of a subpœna, and the case must remain in the clerk's office until the ten days have expired. In re L. Humbert Co., 100 Fed. 439, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76.

83. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 34. See also, generally, supra, II, B, 15.

For priority of payment out of estate see infra, XVIII, H, 1, b.

The provision applies only to cases where an application to seize and hold the property of the alleged bankrupt pending the hearing was granted, and bond given. In re Ghiglione, 93 Fed. 186, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 580.

Attorney's fees.— The attorneys for the petitioning creditors in involuntary proceedings, for the bankrupt in involuntary pro-

VII. SETTING ASIDE ADJUDICATION.

An adjudication of bankruptcy is conclusive as to the matters decreed by the order, if made by a court of competent jurisdiction,[84] and such adjudication cannot be attacked collaterally.[85] It can only be set aside upon an application made therefor by motion,[86] notice of which should be served on the bankrupt.[87] Such ceedings while performing the duties prescribed by the Bankruptcy Act, and for the bankrupt in voluntary cases are entitled to a reasonable fee. Bankr. Act (1898), 64*b* (3); In re Smith, 108 Fed. 39, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559; In re Anderson, 103 Fed. 854, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 640; In re Lewin, 103 Fed. 850, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 632; In re Terrill, 103 Fed. 781, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 625; In re Rude, 101 Fed. 805, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 319; In re Little River Lumber Co., 101 Fed. 558, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 682; In re Tebo, 101 Fed. 419, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235; In re Dreeben, 101 Fed. 110, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 146; In re Curtis, 100 Fed. 784, 41 C. C. A. 59, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17; In re O'Connell, 98 Fed. 83, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 422; In re Burrus, 97 Fed. 926, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296; In re Matthews, 97 Fed. 772, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 265; In re Silverman, 97 Fed. 325, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 227; In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 950, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 154; In re Kross, 96 Fed. 816, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 187; In re Woodard, 95 Fed. 955, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 692; In re Michel, 95 Fed. 803; In re J. W. Harrison Mercantile Co., 95 Fed. 123, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 419; In re Stotts, 93 Fed. 438, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 641; In re Beck, 92 Fed. 889, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 535. The contempt of the bankrupt for disobedience of the orders of the court does not affect the right of his attorney to an allowance, where the misconduct of the bankrupt was without fault on the part of such attorney. In re Mayer, 101 Fed. 695, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 238.

Extra compensation to expert witnesses above the statutory witness fee of one dollar and fifty cents per day and mileage cannot be taxed as costs, or allowed against a losing party, in a court of bankruptcy; and the court will not be bound to make such an allowance because counsel have so agreed, especially where the agreement is not in writing. In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 604.

84. In the case of a voluntary proceeding it is conclusive as to the insolvency of the petitioner, his willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt, and his desire to avail himself of the benefits of the Act. In re Fowler, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 161, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,998, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 680. But it is not conclusive as to any fact which tends to defeat the jurisdiction of the court. In re Goodfellow, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 510, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,536, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 179, 3 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 69, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 452.

85. Chapman v. Brewer, 114 U. S. 158, 5 S. Ct. 799, 29 L. ed. 83; In re Getchell, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 256, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,371.

Impeachment of adjudication.— An adjudication in bankruptcy against a corporation, made on the day of the filing of an involuntary petition against it, although the corporation appears and makes no objection, but admits the alleged acts of bankruptcy, is not conclusive upon creditors who do not appear. Bankr. Act (1898), § 18, which requires the issuance and service of a subpœna on the filing of an involuntary petition, and provides that "the bankrupt or any creditor may appear and plead to the petition within ten days after the return day," gives to creditors a substantial right to the limitation of a time within which they may be heard, which is not derived through the bankrupt, and of which they cannot be deprived by any act of such bankrupt, nor by the court; and they may attack the validity of such adjudication collaterally in proceedings previously instituted by them in another district. In re Elmira Steel Co., 109 Fed. 456, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 484. But a decree of the district court, sitting in bankruptcy, reciting that "upon due consideration had" the respondent corporation "is adjudged a bankrupt, within the true intent and meaning of the acts of congress relating to bankruptcy," cannot be impeached collaterally, as for a want of jurisdiction, merely because the petition omitted to allege that the corporation belonged to one of the classes made subject to be adjudicated bankrupt in involuntary proceedings. In re Columbia Real-Estate Co., 101 Fed. 965, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 411. So where the respondent in a petition in involuntary bankruptcy denies his alleged indebtedness to the petitioning creditor, and takes issue on the validity and the consideration of the note set forth in the petition and on which such creditor claims, and upon evidence offered on both sides the court finds the allegations of the petition to be true and makes an adjudication of bankruptcy, such adjudication is conclusive evidence of the validity of the petitioner's claim when the note is presented for allowance as a claim against the bankrupt's estate, and it cannot be disputed either by the bankrupt or by any creditor who joined in the proceedings and opposed the adjudication. In re Henry Ulfelder Clothing Co., 93 Fed. 409, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 425.

86. In re Great Western Tel. Co., 5 Biss. (U. S.) 359, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,739, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 493; In re Dunn, 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 42, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,173, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 487.

87. In re Bush, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,222, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 179, 6 West. Jur. 274, holding that the bankrupt has an interest.

motion should be made within a reasonable time after the entry of the order.[88] It may be granted for sufficient cause in the discretion of the court, when made by a person who has an interest in the proceedings.[89]

VIII. ORDER OF REFERENCE.

A. In General. After a person has been adjudged a bankrupt the judge may cause the trustee to proceed with the administration of the estate, or refer it (1) generally to the referee, or specially with only limited authority to act in the premises, or to consider and report upon specified issues; or (2) to any referee within the territorial jurisdiction of the court, if the convenience of the parties in interest will be served thereby, or for cause, or if the bankrupt does not do business, reside, or have his domicile in the district.[90] A copy of the order of reference must be sent by mail or delivered personally to the referee or other officer of the court; and thereafter all the proceedings, except such as are required by the Act or the General Orders to be had before the judge,[91] shall be had before the referee.[92]

B. Transfer of Case From One Referee to Another. The judge may at any time for the convenience of parties or for cause transfer a case from one referee to another.[93]

IX. SCHEDULES IN INVOLUNTARY CASES.[94]

A. Furnished by Bankrupt. It is made the duty of the bankrupt within 88. In re Neilson, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 10,090, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 505; Leiter v. Payson, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 157, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 205, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,226 mem.

89. In re Great Western Tel. Co., 5 Biss. (U. S.) 359, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,739, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 493; In re Dunn, 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 42, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,173, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 487; In re De Forest, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,745, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 278.

An adjudication will not be set aside on the ground that a due proportion of creditors did not join in the petition, unless fraud is shown. In re Duncan, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 365, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,131, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 18; In re McKinley, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 562, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,864; In re Funkenstein, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 605, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,158, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 213. Nor is the pendency of a prior petition in another district sufficient ground for setting aside an adjudication. In re Harris, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 375, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,111. And where an admission of bankruptcy is falsely made by a debtor the adjudication will not be set aside. In re Thomas, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,891, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 187, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 330.

Who may make application.— Application cannot be made by a mere creditor. Karr v. Whittaker, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,613, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 123; In re Bush, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,222, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 179, 6 West. Jur. 274. But may be made by an attaching creditor. Fogarty v. Gerrity, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 233, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,895, 5 Am. L. Rev. 163, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 450. And by a creditor who is alleged to have secured a preference. In re Derby, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 232, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,815, 6 Alb. L. J. 422, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 106.

90. Bankr. Act (1898), § 22*a*. See also supra, III, D.

The form of the order of reference after an adjudication is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 14; 89 Fed. xxxv.

The order of reference must state a day upon which the bankrupt shall attend before the referee; and from that day the bankrupt is subject to the orders of the court in all matters relating to his bankruptcy, and may receive from the referee a protection from arrest to continue until the final adjudication on his application for a discharge, unless suspended or vacated by order of the court. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12. The protection from arrest here referred to is that accorded bankrupts in the cases mentioned in Bankr. Act (1898), § 9*a*. See infra, XVII, C.

91. Applications for compositions or discharge are not within the jurisdiction of referees. See Bankr. Act (1898), § 38 (4); and supra, III, D, 3, c, (II); infra, XIV, C. But by U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, par. 3, it is provided that "applications for a discharge, or for the approval of a composition, or for an injunction to stay proceedings of a court or officer of the United States, or of a State, shall be heard and decided by the judge. But he may refer such an application, or any specified issue arising thereon, to the referee to ascertain and report the facts."

Applications for discharge are heard by the judge. Bankr. Act (1898), § 14*b*. See infra, XIX, B.

Confirmations of compositions are made by the judge. Bankr. Act (1898), § 12*d*. See infra, XIV, C.

92. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, par. 1.

93. Bankr. Act (1898), § 22*b*. See also supra, II, A, 2, b.

94. As to schedules in voluntary cases see supra, VI, A, 1.

ten days after the adjudication in involuntary bankruptcy to prepare, make oath to, and file in court a schedule of his property, showing the amount and kind of such property, the location thereof, and its money value in detail; and also in connection therewith a list of his creditors, showing their residences, if known, if unknown that fact to be stated, the amount due each of them, the consideration thereof, the security held by them, if any, and a claim for such exemptions as he may be entitled to.[95]

B. Furnished by Petitioning Creditor. In all cases in involuntary bankruptcy in which the bankrupt is absent or cannot be found, the petitioning creditor must file within five days after the date of the adjudication a schedule giving the names and places of residence of all the creditors of the bankrupt according to the best information of the petitioning creditor. If the debtor is found, and is served with notice to furnish a schedule of his creditors and fails to do so, the petitioning creditor may apply for an attachment against the debtor, or may himself furnish the schedule as aforesaid.[96]

C. Prepared by Referee. It is made the duty of the referee to prepare and file schedules of property and lists of creditors required to be filed by the bankrupt, or cause the same to be done, whenever bankrupts fail, refuse, or neglect to do so.[97]

X. MEETINGS OF CREDITORS.

A. First Meeting — 1. When and Where Held. The referee is required to cause the first meeting of the creditors of the bankrupt to be held not less than ten nor more than thirty days after the adjudication of bankruptcy,[98] at the county seat of the county at which the bankrupt has had his principal place of business, resided, or had his domicile; or if that place would be manifestly inconvenient for a place of meeting of the parties in interest, or if the bankrupt is one who does not do business, reside, or have his domicile within the United States, the court or referee shall fix a place for the meeting which is the most convenient for the parties in interest.[99]

2. Notice of. Creditors are entitled to at least ten days' notice, by mail, to their respective addresses, as they appear in the list of creditors of the bankrupt,[1] of the first meeting.[2] Such notices must be published at least once, and may be published such additional number of times as the court or referee may direct;

95. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7 (8).

Such schedules and lists are to be in triplicate, one copy for the clerk, one for the referee, and one for the trustee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7 (8).

Such schedules are to be in the same form as in the case of schedules accompanying voluntary petitions. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 1; 89 Fed. xv et seq.; and supra, VI, A, 1.

96. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 9.

97. Bankr. Act (1898), § 39 (6). See also supra, III, D, 4, g.

This duty is to be performed only after an order has been issued compelling the bankrupt to file such schedules, and he has neglected or refused to do so. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7 (8).

98. If such meeting should by any mischance not be held within such time the court shall fix the date, as soon as may be thereafter, when it shall be held. Bankr. Act (1898), § 55*a*.

99. Bankr. Act (1898), § 55*a*.

1. A creditor may file with the referee a request that notices be addressed to him at any place designated by him. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21.

2. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*a* (3).

An objection by an involuntary bankrupt to the regularity of a first meeting of his creditors, and to the validity of proceedings had thereat, on the ground that the notices of such meeting were prepared by the referee before the bankrupt's own list of creditors was filed, whereby it resulted that some of the creditors were not notified, will not be sustained when it appears that the bankrupt's list of creditors was not filed within the time limited by the law, and was incomplete and imperfect. In re Schiller, 96 Fed. 400, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 704.

It is within the jurisdiction and the discretion of a referee in bankruptcy to order amendments to be made in the petition and schedule of a voluntary bankrupt referred to him, in particulars as to which he finds them defective or insufficient, and to refuse to call a first meeting of creditors until such amendments be made. In re Brumelkamp, 95 Fed. 814, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 814.

The form of the notice here required is such publication must be at least one week prior to the date fixed for the first meeting.[3]

3. ADJOURNMENTS. Adjournments of the first meeting may be had if the business requires it, but all adjourned meetings must in contemplation of law be deemed the same meeting.[4]

4. PROCEEDINGS. The judge or referee is required to be present and to preside at the first meeting.[5] The bankrupt is also required to attend such meeting if directed by the court,[6] unless it is held at a place more than one hundred and fifty miles distant from his home or principal place of business.[7] The referee should keep a record of the proceedings.[8] At the outset it would not be inappropriate for referees to follow the familiar practice of explaining the object of the meeting to creditors and attorneys not familiar with the practice in courts of bankruptcy.[9] Before proceeding with the other business the referee may allow or disallow the claims of creditors presented at the creditors' meeting, and may publicly examine the bankrupt, or cause him to be examined at the instance of any creditor.[10] At the first meeting the creditors are authorized to elect a trustee.[11]

B. Subsequent Meetings — 1. By Consent of Creditors. A meeting of creditors, subsequent to the first one, may be held at any time and place when all the creditors who have secured the allowance of their claims sign a written consent to hold a meeting at such time and place.[12]

2. By Call of Court — a. At Request of Creditors. The court must call a meeting of creditors whenever one fourth or more in number of those who have proven their claims file a written request to that effect.[13]

b. For Special Purposes. Whenever, by reason of a vacancy in the office of trustee, or for any other cause, it becomes necessary to call a special meeting of the creditors in order to carry out the purposes of the Act, the court may call such a meeting, specifying in the notice the purpose for which it is called.[14] prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 18; 89 Fed. xxxvi.

3. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*b*.

The newspaper in which notices are to be published is to be designated by the court. Bankr. Act (1898), § 28.

4. In re Eagles, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 733.

5. Bankr. Act (1898), § 55*b*.

6. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (1). The order of reference requires the attendance of the bankrupt at the time and place designated therein. See U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 14.

7. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7.

8. Bankr. Act (1898), § 42. See also supra, III, D, 4, f.

He should make a list of the debts proved at the first meeting, containing the names and residences of creditors and the amount of the debts (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 19; 89 Fed. xxxvii), which should be transmitted to the clerk (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 24).

9. Conduct of meeting.—The meeting must be held in strict accordance with the notice, at the time and place specified, not at some other time sooner or later, or another place, though near by. If no creditors appear the meeting is as effectual as if they were present and represented. The referee should be punctually present at the time and place specified in the notice. He or the judge presides, and his duties are judicial. He does not otherwise participate. The bankrupt is required and should be actually present at the first meeting. It is a creditors' meeting and they (the referee and the bankrupt) are there to assist the creditors, the first as an officer of the law and the other to aid him in so doing. Thus aided, the referee should in most cases be able to pass upon all claims which have been or may be presented at the meeting. In re Eagles, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 733.

10. Bankr. Act (1891), § 55*b*.

As to the allowance or disallowance of claims, generally, see infra, XI.

As to the examination of the bankrupt, generally, see infra, XVII, A, 2.

11. Bankr. Act (1898), § 44. See also infra, XII, A, 1, a.

12. Bankr. Act (1898), § 55*d*.

13. Bankr. Act (1898), § 55*e*.

If such request is signed by a majority of such creditors, which number represents a majority in amount of such claims, and contains a request for such meeting to be held at a designated place, the court shall call such meeting at such place within thirty days after the date of the filing of the request. Bankr. Act (1898), § 55*e*.

14. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 25.

Notice, by whom sent.— Notice of a special meeting should be sent out by the referee and not by the petitioner. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*c*. In re Stoever, 105 Fed. 355, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 250.

3. Final Meeting. Whenever the affairs of an estate are ready to be closed a final meeting of creditors must be ordered.[15]

C. Vote of Creditors — 1. Who Entitled to Vote — a. In General. Only a creditor as defined in the Act, that is any one who owns a demand or claim provable in bankruptcy, is entitled to vote at creditors' meetings.[16] Other creditors, through the mere filing of objections to a claim, cannot prevent a bona fide claimant from voting.[17] When a partnership is in bankruptcy, a creditor of one of the members cannot vote,[18] and where a member of a partnership is a bankrupt the creditors of the partnership are to be excluded.[19]

b. Secured Creditors. But creditors holding claims which are secured or that have priority, are not in respect to such claims entitled to vote, nor are such claims to be counted in computing either the number of creditors or the amount of their claims, unless the amounts of such claims exceed the values of such securities or priorities, and then only for such excess.[20] To entitle secured and preferred creditors to vote at the first meeting upon the whole of their claims they must surrender their securities or priorities.[21] If a portion of a creditor's debt is secured and a portion unsecured he may vote on the unsecured portion.[22] Where the security is upon the exempt property of the bankrupt the creditor is entitled to vote.[23]

2. Vote by Proxy or Attorney. An attorney, agent, or proxy [24] may represent and vote for creditors at creditors' meetings, but before doing so he must produce and file written authority from the creditor,[25] which should be filed by the

15. Bankr. Act (1898), § 55*f*.

The reference to the referee in bankruptcy to hold the final meeting of creditors under U. S. Dist. Ct. (N. C.) Dist Ct. Rules, No. 8, and the allowance of a fee therefor, constitute him a special master for this purpose, and such procedure is authorized. In re Steed, 107 Fed. 682, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 73.

16. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (9), supra, note 8, p. 233.

17. In re T. L. Kelly Dry-Goods Co., 102 Fed. 747, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528.

18. In re Phelps, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 11,071, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 25, 1 Nat. Bankr. Rep. 525.

19. In re Purvis, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,476, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 19, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 35, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 173, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 163.

20. Bankr. Act (1898), § 56*b*.

For definition of secured creditor see Bankr. Act (1898), § 1, (23), supra, note 8, p. 238.

A judgment secured by adverse proceedings commenced many years before the Act was passed, upon which execution was levied after the bankrupt became insolvent and nothing collected thereon, does not bar the right of the judgment creditor to vote at creditors' meetings, since by Bankr. Act (1898), § 67, the levy is made null and void and the security is therefore destroyed. In re Scully, 108 Fed. 372, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 716.

Claims of secured creditors and of those having priorities may be allowed by the court or referee to enable such creditors to participate in the proceedings of meetings held prior to the determination of the value of their securities or priorities; but such claims shall only be allowed for such sums as may seem to be owing over and above the value of the securities or priorities. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*e*.

In partnership cases, creditors of the partnership are entitled to vote at the first meeting to the full amount of their claims, if otherwise proper, except as for such securities as are held upon partnership assets. The value of any securities upon property of individual members of the partnership are not securities which need to be deducted in order to ascertain the value of claims against the partnership. In re Coe, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 275. In a proceeding in bankruptcy, a creditor of the firm, holding security upon the separate property of one of the members of such firm, may prove his entire claim against the joint estate without releasing his security, though the member whose individual estate constitutes the security owes no individual debts. In re Thomas, 8 Biss. (U. S.) 139, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,886, 6 Centr. L. J. 151, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 54.

21. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*g*. See In re Eagles, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 733; In re Saunders, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 444, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,371, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 164.

22. In re Hanna, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 5, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,027, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 502; In re Parkes, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,754, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 82.

23. In re Tertelling, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 339, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,842; In re Stillwell, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,448, 11 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 706, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 226.

24. The term "creditor" as defined in the Act includes not only the owner of the claim but his "duly authorized agent, attorney, or proxy." Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (9), supra, note 8, p. 238.

25. A letter of attorney to represent a creditor at a creditors' meeting may be proved or acknowledged before a referee, a United States commissioner, or a notary public. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 5.

referee as a part of his record.[26] The referee presiding at the first meeting must determine who is to make up its constituent members, and he may refuse to allow a person to qualify who acts under a power of attorney nominally executed by the creditors, but in fact procured by the bankrupt.[27] An attorney at law voting for the creditor at a creditors' meeting acts purely as his attorney in fact and must present the same papers duly qualifying him to represent the creditor in that capacity as if he were his agent.[28]

3. MAJORITY VOTE REQUIRED. Creditors must pass upon matters submitted to them at their meetings by a majority vote in number and amount of claims of

When executed in behalf of a partnership or of a corporation the person executing the instrument shall make oath that he is a member of the partnership or a duly authorized officer of the corporation on whose behalf he acts. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 5. A letter of attorney executed on behalf of a partnership must contain the oath of the partner executing it that he is a member of the partnership, even though on the same day he has made such oath in a deposition to prove the partnership claim against the bankrupt estate. In re Finlay, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 738.

When the person executing the letter is not personally known to the officer taking the proof or acknowledgment his identity shall be established by satisfactory proof. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 5.

The forms of letters of attorney are prescribed (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, Nos. 20, 21; 89 Fed. xxxvii), and should be observed and used with such alterations as may be necessary to suit the circumstances of any particular case (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 38).

26. In re Eagles, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 733; In re Sugenheimer, 91 Fed. 744, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 425.

27. In re Scully, 108 Fed. 372, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 716.

Interference by the bankrupt, or the voting of claims in his interest or at his direction has always been discountenanced by the courts and held to invalidate a choice of trustee thus secured. In re Scully, 108 Fed. 372, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 716; In re McGill, 106 Fed. 57, 45 C. C. A. 218, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 155; Falter v. Reinhard, 104 Fed. 292, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 782; In re Lewensohn, 98 Fed. 576, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299; In re Bliss, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 407, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,543, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 17, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 116, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 78; In re Wetmore, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,466, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 514. Proxies presented under circumstances of evident collusion with the bankrupt should be disallowed. It would be intolerable if the bankrupt by such means should be enabled to prevent or embarrass necessary investigation into his conduct or estate. In re Rekersdres, 108 Fed. 206, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 811. Where a proxy who had been an attorney for the bankrupt refuses to answer questions put to him by the referee to determine the charges made against him of complicity with the bankrupt he is in contempt of court and should be excluded from participating in the proceedings of the creditors' meetings, even though he procures a new letter of attorney to represent creditors. In re Henschel, 109 Fed. 861, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305.

Power of referee to pass on letters of attorney.— Under the provision of the General Order which requires the register to hold and preside at meetings and to report to the court the proceedings thereof, with his opinion thereon, he must be held to possess the power to regulate the form and order of proceedings at the meeting, and to decide questions that may arise, subject to review by the judge. He must necessarily decide who are entitled to vote, and in respect to what amount of debts, and to pass upon the regularity and propriety of form of proof of debts and of letters of attorney. In re Holmes, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 74, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,632, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 86.

28. In re Blankfein, 97 Fed. 191, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165.

Vote by attorney.— Voting at a creditors' meeting in a bankruptcy proceeding is an act so essentially different in its nature and character from an attorney's ordinary duties in the conduct of litigation, and the business considerations that enter into the choice of a trustee are so foreign to a lawyer's ordinary functions, that the right to vote cannot be deemed to be a part of his implied authority, nor be presumed to be conferred upon a lawyer from his mere retainer in a bankruptcy proceeding. To authorize an attorney to vote he must prove his authority by letter of attorney, or by the oath of some one showing him to be a duly constituted attorney, i. e., an attorney in fact for that purpose. In re Blankfein, 97 Fed. 191, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165, following the settled practice under the Act of 1867 that an attorney could not vote for an assignee merely by virtue of his general authority as an attorney-at-law. In re Knoepfel, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 398, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,892, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 16, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 70; In re Knoepfel, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 330, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,891, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 23; In re Purvis, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,476, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 19, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 35, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 173, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 163. See also, under the Act of 1898, In re Richards, 103 Fed. 849, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 631.

The letter of attorney should conform to the requirements of the Act and the General Orders; if materially defective the referee should refuse to permit its use. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 20; 89 Fed. xxxvii; In re Blankfein, 97 Fed. 191, 3 all creditors whose claims have been allowed and are present, except as otherwise provided in the Act.[29]

XI. PROOF AND ALLOWANCE OF CLAIMS.

A. Debts Which May Be Proved — 1. In General. There is no general provision in the Act as to the time when debts founded upon a contract must have come into existence to be provable.[30] But it has been held that only such debts are provable as were in existence at the time of the filing of the petition.[31] The debts which may be proved and allowed against the estate of a bankrupt are specified.[32] Every debt which may be recovered either at law or in equity may, generally speaking, be proved in bankruptcy.[33]

2. Claims Barred by Statute of Limitations. A claim barred by the statute of limitations of the state where action thereon could have been brought is not provable.[34]

Am. Bankr. Rep. 165. When the notary's certificate of acknowledgment attached to the proxy and forming no part of the preceding affidavit is without venue it is defective and the proxy should not be allowed. In re Henschel, 109 Fed. 861, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305.

29. Bankr. Act (1898), § 56*a*. Under this provision the matter submitted at a creditors' meeting can only be determined by the vote of the creditors whose claims have been allowed; and although the proxies presented by attorneys representing certain creditors have been disallowed, it has been held that such creditors are nevertheless present and their claims are to be counted in ascertaining what constitutes a majority vote. In re Henschel, 109 Fed. 861, 862, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305. In this case the court says: "That section [Section 56*a*] is very explicit in requiring matters submitted to the creditors to be passed upon 'by a majority vote in number and amount of claims of all creditors whose claims have been allowed and are present.' According to the language of this section, therefore, the vote should turn, not upon the number and amount of creditors, but on the number and amount of allowed claims 'present' before the referee, at the time the vote is taken; and unless there is a majority vote in number and amount of such claims for some one candidate, the referee is required by section 44 to appoint the trustee, as he did in this case. As Section 56*a* stands, the word 'present' cannot, by any possible grammatical construction, be made to refer to the word 'creditors.' Nor can that legal construction be put upon it, except by an alteration and reconstruction of the sentence." This section limits the voters at the meeting to those whose claims are proved and who are actually in attendance. In re Richards, 103 Fed. 849, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 631.

30. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a*.

Under the Act of 1867, however, it was provided that all debts due and payable by the bankrupt, at the time of the commencement of the proceedings in bankruptcy, and all debts which then exist but are not payable until a future day, were provable. Bankr. Act (1898), § 19; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5067.

The term "debt" as used in the Bankruptcy Act includes any debt, demand, or claim provable in bankruptcy. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (11), supra, note 8, p. 238.

31. In re Burka, 104 Fed. 326, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 12. See also In re Bingham, 94 Fed. 796, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 223.

32. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a*.

33. In re Kelly, 18 Fed. 528; In re Secor, 18 Fed. 319; In re Jordan, 2 Fed. 319; In re Fortune, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 306, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,955, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 662. See also, generally, DEBT, ACTION OF.

34. In re Resler, 95 Fed. 804, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 602; In re Lipman, 94 Fed. 353, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 46. But see In re Levy, 95 Fed. 812, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 21.

Under the Act of 1867 there was confusion among the cases. Some held that a debt, to be barred by limitation so as not to be provable under the Bankruptcy Act, as not being due and payable, must be shown to be so barred throughout the United States. In re Ray, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 53, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,589, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 46, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 283, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 223, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 203; In re Shepard, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,753, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 484, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 439. The weight of authority, however, was against this doctrine, and in favor of the rule that where a debt is barred by the statute of limitations of the state where the bankrupt resides it cannot be proved against his estate in bankruptcy. In re Reed, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 250, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,635, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 76, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 94; In re Cornwall, 9 Blatchf. (U. S.) 114, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,250, 6 Am. L. Rev. 365, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 305; In re Harden, 1 Hask. (U. S.) 163, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,048, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 48, 119, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 395; In re Kingsley, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 216, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,819, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 329.

Where the debt is not barred at the time of the commencement of bankruptcy proceedings it may be proved, although the limitation has expired prior to the time when the claim is finally acted upon. In re Wright, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 317, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,068; In re Eldridge, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 256, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,331, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 540, 1

3. CONTINGENT LIABILITIES. There is no provision in the present Act making a contingent liability provable in bankruptcy.[35]

4. COSTS. An amount due as costs taxed against an involuntary bankrupt who was, at the time of the filing of the petition against him, plaintiff in a cause of action which would pass to the trustee, and which the trustee declines to prosecute after notice, may be proved and allowed against the bankrupt estate.[36] And a debt founded upon a claim for taxable costs incurred in good faith by a creditor before the filing of the petition, in an action to recover a provable debt, is provable.[37]

5. DEBTS DUE UNITED STATES, STATE, OR MUNICIPALITY. Debts owing to the United States, a state, a county, a district, or a municipality as a penalty or forfeiture shall not be allowed, except for the amount of the pecuniary loss sustained by the act, transaction, or proceeding out of which the penalty or forfeiture

N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 243. But see contra, Nicholas v. Murray, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 320, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,223, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 469.

Where the bankrupt has included in his schedules of claims against his estate claims which are barred by the statute of limitations, such scheduling of the claims does not revive them and make them payable against the bankrupt's estate. In re Lipman, 94 Fed. 353, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 46; In re Resler, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 166 [affirmed in 95 Fed. 804, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 602].

35. Under the Act of 1867 it was provided that when the "bankrupt shall be bound as drawer, indorser, surety, bail, or guarantor upon any bill, bond, note, or any other specialty or contract, or for any debt of another person, and his liability shall not have become absolute until after the adjudication of bankruptcy, the creditor may prove the same after such liability shall have become fixed, and before the final dividend shall have been declared." Bankr. Act (1867), § 19; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5069.

Where a person is contingently liable to pay the debt of a bankrupt his claim may be proved in the name of the creditor to whom he is liable, or if unknown, in his own name. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 4.

Where the claim is founded upon a contingency contained in a contract which may never arise, and there is no means of ascertaining the amount of the claim at the time of the filing of the petition, the claim is not provable. Riggin v. Magwire, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 549, 21 L. ed. 232. See also Ellis v. Ham, 28 Me. 385; Woodard v. Herbert, 24 Me. 358; Deane v. Caldwell, 127 Mass. 242.

36. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (2).

Costs which are part of a judgment entered prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy are provable, although the judgment was not founded upon a provable debt, since the debt in such a case is a fixed liability evidenced by a judgment. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (1); Graham v. Pierson, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 247; Ex p. O'Neil, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 163, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,527, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 677. But a judgment for costs incurred after the filing of a petition in bankruptcy was not provable under the former Act, and cannot be proved under any provision of the present Act. Sanford v. Sanford, 58 N. Y. 67, 17 Am. Rep. 565, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 565. See also In re Marcus, 104 Fed. 331, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 19 [affirmed in 105 Fed. 907, 45 C. C. A. 115, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 365]. Costs incurred prior to the filing of the petition are to be treated as debts, and costs following a judgment after the filing of the petition are allowed only to such an extent as they are earned prior to such filing. Aiken, etc., Co. v. Haskins, 34 Misc. (N. Y.) 505, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 293, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 46.

37. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (3). See also Coe v. Waters, (Colo. App. 1901) 64 Pac. 1054.

The costs and disbursements in an attachment suit pending against a bankrupt at the time of the filing of the petition are a mere incident of the lien of attachment, and since the adjudication in bankruptcy dissolves the lien, such costs and disbursements fall with it and are not provable as a claim against the estate. In re Young, 96 Fed. 606, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 673. But see In re Allen, 96 Fed. 512, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 38, holding that the costs of attachment incurred in good faith prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy are a provable claim against the estate, although the claim for such costs is not entitled to priority and is not a lien upon the proceeds of the trustee's sale of the attached property. Under the Act of 1867 it was generally held that costs and disbursements in an attachment suit could not be proven as a debt against the bankrupt. In re Hatje, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 436, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,215, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 548; In re Fortune, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 306, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,955, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 662; In re Ward, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,145, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 349; In re Preston, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,394, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 545; Gardner v. Cook, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,226, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 346. But see In re Housberger, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 504, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,734, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 92; Zeiber v. Hill, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 268, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,206, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 239; In re Foster, 2 Story (U. S.) 131, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,960, 5 Law Rep. 55; In re Jenks, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,276, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 301; Ex p. Holmes, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,631, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 493.

arose, with reasonable and actual costs occasioned thereby, and such interest as may have accrued thereon according to law.[38]

6. Debts Founded Upon Contract. A debt founded upon a contract express or implied[39] may be proved in bankruptcy.[40] Thus damages arising from a breach of a contract prior to an adjudication in bankruptcy constitute a provable claim.[41] But contracts which are void because of an illegal consideration or because against public policy cannot be the basis of a provable debt.[42] If there

38. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*j*. See also U. S. v. Herron, 20 Wall. (U. S.) 251, 22 L. ed. 275; In re Baker, 96 Fed. 954, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 101.

As to provability of judgments for fines and penalties see infra, note 46.

39. The implied contract intended includes the fictitious contract implied in law — which is only treated as a contract for the sake of the remedy — and the true contract implied in fact. In re Hirschman, 104 Fed. 69, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715.

A debt founded upon a so-called quasi-contract — a contract not created by the consent of the parties but by the law itself, which imposes upon one of the parties an obligation to perform a certain act in the same manner as if the contract was express — is provable, and when liquidated should be allowed. People v. Speir, 77 N. Y. 144.

A stock-holder's liability for the debts of a corporation under a state statute is not only a liability created by statute but is also founded upon an implied contract and provable as such in bankruptcy proceedings against the bankrupt. In re Rouse, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 393. See also Hager v. Cleveland, 36 Md. 476; Norris v. Wrenschall, 34 Md. 492; Brown v. Hitchcock, 36 Ohio St. 667.

As to release of stock-holder's liability by discharge see infra, note 36, p. 397.

Where a claim arises ex delicto it is not provable unless a recovery could be had at the option of the claimant in a suit brought ex contractu. In re Hirschman, 104 Fed. 69, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715. See also In re Filer, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 582, holding that where the bankrupt while in the employment of the claimants was guilty of various fraudulent acts, consisting of obtaining money by false indorsements and also in taking money from the cash drawer of the claimants and concealing the same by means of false entries, the claimants may waive the tort and treat the claim as one for money had and received by the bankrupt to the use of the claimants.

40. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (4); In re Wright, 95 Fed. 807, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 592.

"There is no method of proving a mere contract liability unless there is something owing, either because of a breach of the contract before the petition was filed, or because of performance." Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 396.

A claim for breach of warranty, though based on a contract, is not one founded on a contract so as to permit it to be the basis of an adjudication in bankruptcy, but is such an unliquidated claim as, after such an adjudication, may be liquidated. In re Morales, 105 Fed. 761, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 425. See also Schuchardt v. Allen, 1 Wall. (U. S.) 359, 17 L. ed. 642.

41. In re Silverman, 101 Fed. 219, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 83.

A claim for damages because of a breach of contract to marry is based upon a contract, and is provable if the breach occurred and the cause of action accrued before the petition was filed. In re Fife, 109 Fed. 880, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 258; In re McCauley, 101 Fed. 223, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 122; In re Sidle, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,844, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 220; In re Sheehan, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,737, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 345.

Contract by bankrupt with wife.— Under the statutes of New York it has been held that a debt founded upon a contract made by the bankrupt with his wife for services performed by her is not a provable debt. In re Kaufman, 104 Fed. 768, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 104.

Contract to pay annuity.—A bond executed by a person who is thereafter adjudged a bankrupt to secure the payment to the obligee of an annuity during life is an instrument creating a fixed liability absolutely owing at the time of the filing of the petition, payable in the future, and is provable as a debt against the bankrupt's estate for the amount of the penalty stated therein. Cobb v. Overman, 109 Fed. 65, 48 C. C. A. 223, 54 L. R. A. 369, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 324 [reversing 100 Fed. 270, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 788].

Where a broker has contracted to purchase stock for a customer and he advances money therefor, and it is agreed that the stock shall be delivered to the customer when he tenders the price current at the time the contract was made and demands delivery of the stock, the customer may treat the contract as breached by the bankruptcy of the broker, and may prove his claim for damages, the measure of which is to be fixed as of the date of the adjudication in bankruptcy. In re Swift, 105 Fed. 493, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 335.

42. In re Hatje, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 436, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,215, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 548; In re Young, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 53, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,145; In re Chandler, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,590, 13 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 310, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 229, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 514.

Futures.— Under the laws of some states a contract for the future delivery of grain at a certain price, if the parties do not intend to deliver the grain, is void as a gambling contract, and a claim for the amount due thereunder is not provable. In re Green, 7 Biss. (U. S.) 338, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,751. 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 198; In re Chandler, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,590, 13 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 310, 6 are covenants in a contract which are of a continuing character the bankrupt remains liable to fulfil those covenants, notwithstanding his discharge in bankruptcy.[43] There is no provable debt on account of a covenant contained in a continuing contract, however, until such covenant has been broken.[44] If the amount of a claim is unliquidated the Act provides for a method of liquidation.[45]

7. Debts Founded Upon Fixed Liability. Debts of the bankrupt which are a fixed liability, as evidenced by a judgment[46] or an instrument in writing, abso-

Chic. Leg. N. 229, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 514. If there is an apparent intent of the parties that the goods shall be delivered by the seller and the price is to be paid by the buyer the contract is valid. The contract is presumed to be legal until clear and conclusive proof has been given to show its invalidity, and the burden of proof rests upon the party who contests the claim. Hill v. Levy, 98 Fed. 94, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 374.

If the statute of frauds is a defense to an action to recover for a debt it may be set up against the allowance of the claim. Capell v. Trinity M. E. Church, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,392, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 536.

Ultra vires acts of corporation.— If a corporation enters into a contract with the bankrupt, which is ultra vires and upon which it could not maintain an action, a debt founded thereon is not provable. In re Jaycox, 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 209, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,237, 7,244 mem., 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 122. So a contract made by a foreign corporation before it was legally authorized to transact business within a state is void and a claim based thereon cannot be proved. In re Comstock, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 320, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,079, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 110.

43. Robinson v. Pesant, 53 N. Y. 419, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 426. See also infra, XIX, E, 3, b.

44. Parker v. Bradford, 45 Iowa 311; Fowler v. Kendall, 44 Me. 448; Murray v. De Rottenham, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 52.

45. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*b*. See also infra, XI, A, 11.

46. If a judgment is secured within four months prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy it is still an evidence of debt, although it may be void as a preference (Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*), and a judgment creditor may prove his claim as an unsecured claim in the same manner as a general creditor (In re Richard, 94 Fed. 633, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 506).

Judgment for alimony.— Alimony payable under a decree of a court of appropriate jurisdiction is not a fixed liability absolutely owing and is not a provable debt, either as to the amount in arrears at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy, or as to the amount accruing after that time. Barclay v. Barclay, 184 Ill. 375, 56 N. E. 636, 51 L. R. A. 351; Maisner v. Maisner, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 286, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 1107, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 295; Young v. Young, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 335, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 944, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 171; Audubon v. Shufeldt, 181 U. S. 575, 21 S. Ct. 735, 45 L. ed. 1009, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 829; Turner v. Turner, 108 Fed. 785, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 289; In re Nowell, 99 Fed. 931, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 837; In re Anderson, 97 Fed. 321, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 858; In re Shepard, 97 Fed. 187, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 857; In re Smith, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 67. See also In re Lachemeyer, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,966, 18 Alb. L. J. 242, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 270; Kerr v. Kerr, [1897] 2 Q. B. 439, 66 L. J. Q. B. 838, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 29, 46 Wkly. Rep. 46; Linton v. Linton, 15 Q. B. D. 239, 54 L. J. Q. B. 529, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 782, 2 Morrell 179. But see contra, Fite v. Fite, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1638, 61 S. W. 26, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 461; In re Challoner, 98 Fed. 82, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 442; In re Van Orden, 96 Fed. 86, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 801; In re Houston, 94 Fed. 119, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 107.

As to release of alimony by discharge see infra, XIX, E, 2.

Judgments for fines or penalties.— Judgments rendered by state or federal courts imposing fines in the enforcement of criminal laws, as such, are not provable debts. In re Moore, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 590 [disapproving In re Alderson, 98 Fed. 588, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 544]. See also Spalding v. People, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 301 [affirmed in 4 How. (U. S.) 21, 11 L. ed. 858]; In re Sutherland, Deady (U. S.) 416, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,639, 8 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 39, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 314. And a judgment secured in bastardy proceedings against a putative father is not a civil debt within the meaning of the Act. In re Baker, 96 Fed. 954, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 101. But a penalty imposed for a failure to comply with the internal revenue laws of the United States has been held to be a provable debt. In re Rosey, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 507, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,066, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 509. A claim of the United States for the value of goods unlawfully imported without the payment of custom duties has also been held to be provable. In re Vetterlein, 13 Blatchf. (U. S.) 44, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,929, 21 Int. Rev. Rec. 212, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 526, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 177, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,023 mem. [cited in In re Van Buren, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,833, 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 149].

As to release of fines by discharge see infra, XIX, E, 5.

Judgment for seduction.— A judgment recovered by a woman against her seducer is a debt provable against his estate in bankruptcy. In re McCauley, 101 Fed. 223, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 122.

Where an appeal has been taken from a judgment the judgment debt may, nevertheless, be proven, but no dividends will be paid thereon until the appeal is heard and determined by the appellate court. In re Sheehan, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,737, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 345.

lutely owing at the time of the filing of the petition against him,[47] whether then payable or not, with any interest thereon which would have been recoverable at that date,[48] or with a rebate of interest upon such as were not then payable and did not bear interest,[49] may be proved and allowed against the bankrupt's estate.[50]

8. DEBTS FOUNDED UPON OPEN ACCOUNT. A debt founded upon an open account is provable in bankruptcy.[51]

9. JUDGMENTS OBTAINED AFTER FILING PETITION. A claim which is founded upon Debts reduced to judgment pending proceedings in bankruptcy see infra, XI, A, 9.

47. Liability as surety or indorser.— The liability imposed by the indorsement of commercial paper which is not yet due is not a fixed liability as evidenced by a written instrument, but is a debt founded upon an express contract. Moch v. Market St. Nat. Bank, 107 Fed. 897, 47 C. C. A. 49, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 11 [affirming 105 Fed. 891, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 89]; In re Schaefer, 104 Fed. 973, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 92 note; Matter of Marks, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 641. If the liability of a bankrupt as an indorser has become absolute and fixed prior to the filing of the petition the debt is provable as a fixed liability evidenced by a written instrument. In re Bruce, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 515, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,044; In re Loder, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 305, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,457, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 190; In re Nickodemus, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,254, 2 Am. L. T. 168, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 140, 2 Chic. Leg. N. 49, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 230, 16 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 233. Where the bankrupt is the principal debtor and there is a fixed liability imposed upon him by a written instrument his surety thereon may prove the debt, although the liability of such surety to the creditor is not yet fixed. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*i*. The claim may be proved by the surety although he has not paid the debt for which he is liable. Morse v. Hovey, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 187; Fulwood v. Bushfield, 14 Pa. St. 90; Mace v. Wells, 7 How. (U. S.) 272, 12 L. ed. 698. If the surety pays the debt he is subrogated to the rights of the creditor and may prove his claim if the creditor has not already done so. In re Ellerhorst, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,381, 6 Am. L. Rev. 162, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 144. The surety may prove his debt although the debt does not fall due until after the proceedings in bankruptcy have been commenced. Crafts v. Mott, 4 N. Y. 604; Hardy v. Carter, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 152.

As to release of surety or indorser by discharge see infra, XIX, E, 6.

48. If the contract is silent as to interest after maturity the creditor is entitled to interest after that time by operation of law. In re Bartenbach, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,068, 2 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 33, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 61. And where property is held by a creditor as security for his debt which, under the contract, he is authorized to appropriate in case of the default of the debtor, and the value of such property exceeds the debt secured thereby, the creditor is entitled to receive from the proceeds of the sale of the property the principal of his debt with interest thereon to the time of payment. In re Newland, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 63, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,171, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 62; In re Haake, 2 Sawy. (U. S.) 231, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,883, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 61. So where creditors are legally preferred they may prove interest on their claims to the date of payment. In re Strachan, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 181, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,519, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 145. But interest on a provable debt cannot be computed as against the bankrupt estate after the filing of the petition. In re Orne, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 361, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,581, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 13, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 84, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 57, 14 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 613; In re Haake, 2 Sawy. (U. S.) 231, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,883, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 61; In re Bugbee, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,115, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 258.

No interest can be allowed on the bills of a bankrupt until payment has been demanded thereon and refused. In re North Carolina Bank, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 369, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 894, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 289.

Under the Act of 1867, § 19, it was generally held that all interest-bearing debts due at the time of the commencement of bankruptcy proceedings were to be allowed with accrued interest to that time. Sloan v. Lewis, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 150, 22 L. ed. 832, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 173; In re Orne, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 361, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,581, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 13, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 84, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 57, 14 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 613; In re Broich, 7 Biss. (U. S.) 303, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,921, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 11; In re Port Huron Dry Dock Co., 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,293, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 253; In re Crawford, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,363, 3 Am. L. T. 169, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Reg. 210, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 698.

49. The time of the filing of the petition is taken by the statute as the decisive time. The debt must exist at that time or it cannot be proved. If it exists then but is not payable until afterward, and is not a debt running with interest, there must be a rebate from its amount of the interest on that amount from the time of the adjudication of bankruptcy to the time when it would be payable. In re Orne, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 361, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,581, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 13, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 84, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 57, 14 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 613. See also Sloan v. Lewis, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 150, 22 L. ed. 832, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 173.

50. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (1).

51. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (4).

Set-off.— In all cases of mutual debts or mutual credits between the estate of the bankrupt and the creditor the account shall be stated, and one debt shall be set off against a provable debt, reduced to judgment after the filing of the petition and before the consideration of the bankrupt's application for a discharge, less the costs incurred and interest accrued after the filing of such petition, and up to the time of the entry of such judgment may be proved and allowed against the bankrupt's estate.[52]

10. RENT. Claims for rent due at the time of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy are provable.[53] But where, at the time of the adjudication, the bankrupt is the lessee of certain property for a term of years, the rent being payable in monthly instalments, the landlord cannot prove a claim against the bankrupt for rent which would accrue subsequent to the date of the adjudication.[54]

11. UNLIQUIDATED CLAIMS. Unliquidated claims against the bankrupt may, pursuant to an application to the court, be liquidated in such a manner as it shall direct, and may thereafter be proved and allowed against his estate.[55] the other and the balance only shall be allowed and paid. Bankr. Act (1898), § 68*a*. See also infra, XVIII, F.

52. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (5).

The entry of the judgment in a suit brought against the bankrupt on a provable debt which is pending at the time of the filing of the petition does not affect the character of the debt; it is not merged in the judgment, but is merely liquidated. In re McBryde, 99 Fed. 686, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 729; In re Pinkel, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 333. See also Boynton v. Ball, 121 U. S. 457, 7 S. Ct. 981, 30 L. ed. 985; In re Brown, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 1, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,975, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 584; In re Vetterlein, 13 Blatchf. (U. S.) 44, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,929, 21 Int. Rev. Rec. 212, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 526, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 177, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,023 mem.; In re Vickery, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,930, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 696; In re Crawford, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,363, 3 Am. L. T. 169, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 210, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 698.

53. In re Arnstein, 101 Fed. 706, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 246; In re Gerson, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 170.

54. Atkins v. Wilcox, 105 Fed. 595, 44 C. C. A. 626, 53 L. R. A. 118, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 313; In re Mahler, 105 Fed. 428, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 453; In re Arnstein, 101 Fed. 706, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 246; In re Jefferson, 93 Fed. 948, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 206; In re Collignon, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 250; In re Goldstein, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 603. See also Bowditch v. Raymond, 146 Mass. 109, 15 N. E. 285; Deane v. Caldwell, 127 Mass. 242; Savory v. Stocking, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 607; Bordman v. Osborn, 23 Pick. (Mass.) 295.

The Act of 1867 contained the following provision: "Where the bankrupt is liable to pay rent or other debt falling due at fixed and stated periods, the creditor may prove for a proportionate part thereof up to the time of the bankruptcy, as if the same grew due from day to day, and not at such fixed and stated periods." U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5071. Under this provision it was held that rent for the time after the commencement of bankruptcy proceedings was not a provable debt. In re Breck, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 93, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,822, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 215; In re May, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 238, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,325, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 419; Bailey v. Loeb, 2 Woods (U. S.) 578, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 739, 2 Centr. L. J. 42, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 271; In re Webb, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,315, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 302.

The relation of landlord and tenant must, of necessity, cease when the tenant is adjudged a bankrupt. Bray v. Cobb, 100 Fed. 270, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 788; In re Jefferson, 93 Fed. 948, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 206. But see In re Ells, 98 Fed. 967, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 564; Ex p. Houghton, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 554, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,725, which cases hold that the trustees of a bankrupt have a reasonable time to elect whether they will assume a lease which they find in his possession; and if they do not take it the bankrupt retains the term on precisely the same footing as before with the right to occupy and the obligation to pay rent.

Occupancy by trustee.— The trustee of the bankrupt estate may, after adjudication, occupy or use the rented or leased premises for the estate, but under such circumstances the rent would be chargeable to the estate, not as rent under the bankrupt's contract but as costs and expenses of administering the estate. Bray v. Cobb, 100 Fed. 270, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 788; In re Ells, 98 Fed. 967, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 564; In re Jefferson, 93 Fed. 948, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 206; In re Gerson, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 170.

55. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*b*; In re Silverman, 101 Fed. 219, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 83; In re Heinsfurter, 97 Fed. 198, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 113.

The intent of this provision is to provide for the liquidation of all debts which are provable under Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a*, which are yet unliquidated. In re Hirschman, 104 Fed. 69, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715. If a claim does not fall within any of the classes specified in such section it cannot be proved as an unliquidated claim. It follows that claims for damages arising from tort are not provable unless a judgment has been obtained therefor prior to the filing of the petition or unless the tort is of such a character that it may be waived and an action be brought as upon an implied contract. In re Hirschman, 104 Fed. 69, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715. See also Beers v. Hanlin, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am.

B. Manner of Proving Claims — 1. In General. Proof of a claim must consist of a statement under oath[56] in writing signed by a creditor setting forth the claim, the consideration therefor,[57] and whether any, and if so, what securities are held therefor, and whether any, and if so, what payments have been made thereon, and that the sum claimed is justly owing from the bankrupt to the creditor.[58]

2. Assigned Claims. Claims which have been assigned before proof must be supported by the deposition of the owner at the time of the commencement of bankruptcy proceedings, setting forth the true consideration of the debt, and that Bankr. Rep. 745; In re Filer, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 582 [affirmed in 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 835].

Stock-holder's statutory liability for the debts of an insolvent corporation is an unliquidated claim founded upon an implied contract, and the court will direct the manner of its liquidation upon application. In re Rouse, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 393.

As to release of stock-holder's liability by discharge see infra, note 36, p. 397.

The Act of 1867 provided that when the bankrupt is liable for unliquidated damages arising out of any contract or promise, or on account of any goods or chattels wrongfully taken, converted, or withheld, the court may cause such damages to be assessed in such mode as it may deem best, and the sum so assessed may be proved against the estate. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5067. Under such provision a claim for damages for a purely personal injury was held not to be provable unless liquidated and transmitted into a legal debt by a judgment obtained before the adjudication in bankruptcy. In re Schuchardt, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 585, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,483, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 161; In re Hennocksburgh, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 150, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,367, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 37. And a judgment entered after the commencement of the proceedings in bankruptcy upon a verdict rendered before that time in an action for a personal tort is not a provable debt. Black v. McClelland, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,462, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 481.

56. The statement under oath, if it contain the matter required by the provision of the Act, is at once the claimant's pleading and his evidence, and makes for him a prima facie case. In re Sumner, 101 Fed. 224, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

57. The statement of consideration should be sufficiently specific and full to enable creditors to pursue proper and legitimate inquiry as to the fairness and legality of the claim, and if it is so meager and general in character as not to do this it is insufficient. In re Stevens, 107 Fed. 243, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 806; In re Scott, 93 Fed. 418, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 553.

The account, where possible, should be itemized and should contain a statement of the date of sale, quantity of merchandise, and the price thereof. In re Scott, 93 Fed. 418, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 553; In re Elder, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 73, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,326, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 670. Where the claims are for balances due on various collateral notes upon which the bankrupt is either the maker or indorser, and which were in part to become due after discount, the proof of claim must state the date of discount, amount advanced, and to whom. When the liability of the bankrupt is that of indorser notice of dishonor and any other facts necessary to fix such liability must be stated. In re Stevens, 104 Fed. 325, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 11.

Effect of misstatements.—Where the claim had been originally for a number of notes given by the bankrupt, for which had been substituted a new note, payable on demand, which was not intended to be in extinguishment of the old notes, a misstatement as to the date of the new note and to the effect that the old notes were all overdue is not sufficient to vitiate the claim. In re Stevens, 107 Fed. 243, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 806.

58. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*a*.

Depositions to prove claims against a bankrupt's estate "shall be correctly entitled in the court and in the cause. When made to prove a debt due to a partnership it must appear on oath that the deponent is a member of the partnership; when made by an agent the reason that it is not made by the claimant in person must be stated; and when made to prove a debt due to a corporation the deposition shall be made by the treasurer or, if the corporation has no treasurer, by the officer whose duties most nearly correspond to those of treasurer. Depositions to prove debts existing in open account shall state when the debt became or will become due; and if it consists of items maturing at different dates the average due date shall be stated, in default of which it shall not be necessary to compute interest upon it. All such depositions shall contain an averment that no note has been received for such account, nor any judgment rendered thereon. Proofs of debt received by any trustee shall be delivered to the referee to whom the cause is referred." U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 1.

Forms have been prescribed for the proof of unsecured debts (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 31; 89 Fed. xlii), of secured debts (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 32; 89 Fed. xliii), of a debt due a corporation (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 33; 89 Fed. xliii), of a debt by a partnership (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 34; 89 Fed. xliv), of a debt by an agent or attorney (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 35; 89 Fed. xlv), and of a secured debt by an agent (U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 36; 89 Fed. xlv). Such forms should be observed and used with such alterations as may be necessary to suit the circumstances of any particular case. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 38.

it is entirely unsecured, or if it is secured, the security, as is required in proving secured claims.[59] Where a claim has been proved and entered on the referee's docket and is afterwards assigned, satisfactory proof of such assignment must be filed, and the referee must give immediate notice by mail to the original claimant of the filing of such proof of assignment. If no objection is entered within ten days, or within any further time allowed by the referee, he must make an order subrogating the rights of the assignee to the original claimant. If objection is made he must proceed to hear and determine the matter.[60]

3. CLAIMS FOUNDED UPON WRITTEN INSTRUMENTS. Whenever a claim is founded upon a written instrument such instrument, unless lost or destroyed, must be filed with the proof of claim. If such instrument is lost or destroyed a statement of such fact and the circumstances of such loss shall be filed under oath with the claim. After the claim is allowed or disallowed such instrument may be withdrawn by permission of the court, upon leaving a copy thereof on file with the claim.[61]

4. CLAIMS OF PREFERRED CREDITORS — a. Necessity of Surrender of Preference. The claims of creditors who have received preferences shall not be allowed unless such creditors shall surrender their preferences.[62] In determining the right of a preferred creditor to share in the estate of the bankrupt, the intent of the parties or the time of giving the preference is immaterial. If a preference has in fact been given there must be a surrender of the property received.[63] Thus money paid on account by an insolvent debtor must be surrendered before a claim for the

59. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 3.

As to proof of secured claims see infra, XI, B, 5.

60. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 3.

The execution of an assignment of claim after proof may be proved or acknowledged before a referee, or a United States commissioner, or a notary public. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 5.

61. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*b*.

The court will not permit the withdrawal of such instrument except upon the application of some person having an interest therein. In re McNair, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,907, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 219.

Form of affidavit of lost bill or note is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 37; 89 Fed. xlvi.

62. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*g*. See also In re Owings, 109 Fed. 623, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 454.

The Act of 1867 provided that: "Any person who, . . . has accepted any preference, having reasonable cause to believe that the same was made or given by the debtor, contrary to any provisions of the [Bankruptcy Act] . . . shall not prove the debt or claim on account of which the preference was made or given, nor shall he receive any dividend therefrom until he shall first surrender to the assignee all property, money, benefit, or advantage received by him under such preference." U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5084.

A person is deemed to have given a preference if, being insolvent, he has procured or suffered a judgment to be entered against himself in favor of any person, or made a transfer of any of his property, and the effect of the enforcement of such judgment or transfer will be to enable any one of his creditors to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than any other of such creditors of the same class. Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*a*. See also infra, XVI, C, 1.

If a bankrupt has given a preference within four months of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, and the person preferred has reasonable cause to believe that a preference was intended, it shall be avoided by the trustee and the property or its value may be recovered from such person. Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*b*. See also infra, XVI, C. 2.

63. Pirie v. Chicago Title, etc., Co., 182 U. S. 438, 21 S. Ct. 906, 45 L. ed. 1171, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 814; In re Abraham Steers Lumber Co., 110 Fed. 738, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 315; In re Jones, 110 Fed. 736, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 563; In re Flick, 105 Fed. 503, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 465; In re Arndt, 104 Fed. 234, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 773; In re Teslow, 104 Fed. 229, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 757; In re Rogers' Milling Co., 102 Fed. 687, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 540; In re Fixen, 102 Fed. 295, 42 C. C. A. 354, 50 L. R. A. 605, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 10; In re Sloan, 102 Fed. 116, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 356; In re Klingaman, 101 Fed. 691, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 254; Strobel, etc., Co. v. Knost, 99 Fed. 409, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 631; In re Conhaim, 97 Fed. 923, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 249; In re Gallagher, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 255. But see In re Ratliff, 107 Fed. 80, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 713; In re Smoke, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 434; In re Eggert, 98 Fed. 843, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 541; In re Hall, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671, which cases are to the effect that where the bankrupt makes payments to creditors prior to his bankruptcy with no intention to prefer such creditors such payments cannot be deemed preferential.

If a creditor has innocently received a balance due on such account can be proved in bankruptcy proceedings.[64] So where an attachment has been secured by a creditor with the sufferance of his debtor it may be treated as a preference, and the claim upon which such attachment was based cannot be proved unless the preference is surrendered.[65] An unlawful preference can arise, however, only in the case of an antecedent debt.[66] If a preferential transfer is made at the time the debt is incurred as a security therefor, a creditor will not be required to surrender the preference so received, and will be entitled to prove his claim as a secured creditor.[67]

b. Time of Surrender of Preference. If proceedings are commenced by the trustee to set aside a preferential transfer and a preferred creditor puts in a defense it will be too late thereafter for him to exercise his option of surrendering his preference and proving his claim.[68] It has been held, however, in a number of cases arising under the former act that a preferred creditor may surrender his preference at any time before the actual entry of judgment in a suit brought against him by the trustee for the recovery of such preference.[69] preference and the transaction is otherwise valid, he cannot be compelled to return that which he has received, but before sharing with the other creditors in the proceeds of the bankrupt's estate he must surrender such preference. Strobel, etc., Co. v. Knost, 99 Fed. 409, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 631; In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 99 Fed. 400, 39 C. C. A. 582, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 634. See also In re Wertheimer, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 187.

64. Pirie v. Chicago Title, etc., Co., 182 U. S. 438, 21 S. Ct. 906, 45 L. ed. 1171, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 814; In re Bashline, 109 Fed. 965, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 194; In re Keller, 109 Fed. 306, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 487; In re Seckler, 106 Fed. 484, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 579; In re Conhaim, 97 Fed. 923, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 249; In re Schafer, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 146. But see In re Ratliff, 107 Fed. 80, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 713; In re Smoke, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 434; In re Alexander, 102 Fed. 464, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 376; Blakey v. Boonville Nat. Bank, 95 Fed. 267, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 459; In re Piper, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 144 note; In re Hall, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671, which cases hold that payments on account by a bankrupt debtor prior to bankruptcy, in the ordinary course of his business transactions, are not preferential and need not be surrendered.

The transfer of any of the property of a debtor to constitute a preference includes the sale, and every other and different mode of disposing of or parting with property, as a payment, pledge, mortgage, gift, or security. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1*a* (25). A payment of money is a transfer. Landry v. Andrews, 22 R. I. 597, 48 Atl. 1036, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 281; In re Sloan, 102 Fed. 116, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 356; In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 99 Fed. 400, 39 C. C. A. 582, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 634.

Surrender of payment by firm creditor.— Where, while a firm is insolvent, one partner purchases his copartner's interest in the partnership property, assuming the firm debts, and shortly thereafter goes into bankruptcy, a firm creditor, upon filing against the estate of the bankrupt a claim in part for goods sold to the firm, must, as a condition of being allowed to prove such claim, surrender such payments on account as were made by the firm in the usual course of business within four months preceding the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, even though when he received such payments he did not know or have reason to believe that the firm was insolvent. In re Keller, 109 Fed. 118, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 334.

65. In re Burlington Malting Co., 109 Fed. 777, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369.

66. Tiffany v. Boatman's Sav. Inst., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 375, 21 L. ed. 868. See also infra, XVI, C, 1.

67. In re Davidson, 109 Fed. 882, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528; In re Wolf, 98 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555.

68. In re Lee, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,179, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 89. See also In re Riorden, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,852, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 332.

69. In re Leland, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 156, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,230, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 209; In re Davidson, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 10, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,599, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 418; In re Montgomery, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 567, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,727, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 429; Burr v. Hopkins, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 345, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,192, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 266, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 211; In re Richter, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 544, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,803, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 221; In re Tonkin, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,094, 3 Am. L. T. 221, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 232, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 52; In re Scott, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,518, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 414; In re Cramer, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,345, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 106, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 225.

If the transaction is not tainted with actual fraud the creditor, in equity, should have a reasonable opportunity of considering whether he will surrender his preference and pay all the costs and charges, but his decision must precede the final decree. Zahm v. Fry, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,198, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 546; Hood v. Karper, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,664, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 358, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 160, 8 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 340. But see In re Stephens, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 187, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,365, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 533, holding that it was a matter of discretion with the court

5. CLAIMS OF SECURED CREDITORS.[70] Claims of secured creditors and those who have priority may be allowed to enable such creditors to participate in the proceedings at creditors' meetings held prior to the determination of the value[71] of their securities or priorities, but shall be allowed for such sums only as to the courts seem to be owing over and above the value of such securities or priorities.[72] If the creditor in proving his debt fails to mention his security, as a general rule he will be deemed to have elected to prove his claim as unsecured.[73]

6. CLAIMS OF TRUSTEE OF OTHER ESTATE. The claim of any estate which is being administered in bankruptcy against any like estate may be proved by the trustee and allowed by the court in the same manner and upon the same terms as the claims of other creditors.[74]

7. AMENDMENT OF PROOF. The district court possesses the power in its discretion and in a proper case to allow proofs of debts to be amended.[75] If the omission or defect was fraudulently effected and has operated to the advantage of the whether a party should be allowed to surrender his preference after a suit is brought against him, and particularly after the testimony is taken and the party becomes satisfied that it is enough to defeat him.

70. For definition of "secured creditor" see supra, note 8, p. 238.

71. The value of securities held by secured creditors shall be determined by converting the same into money according to the terms of the agreement, pursuant to which such securities were delivered to such creditors, or by such creditors and the trustee, or by agreement, arbitration, compromise, or litigation, as the court may direct, and the amount of such value shall be credited upon such claims, and a dividend shall be paid only on the unpaid balance. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*h*.

As to meetings of creditors see supra, X.

72. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*e*.

The evident purpose of this provision is to secure to secured creditors the right of participating in the election of a trustee and in other business transacted at creditors' meetings to the extent only of the sum which is due to such creditors over and above the value of the property held by them as security. If the security consists of property belonging to a person other than the bankrupt, the creditor may prove his entire claim against the bankrupt's estate and receive dividends thereon, and thereafter institute proceedings to enforce his claim upon the security for the balance. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 314 [cited in In re Headley, 97 Fed. 765, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 272]. This principle is also applied in the case of a security on the individual property of a member of a partnership for a debt of a bankrupt partnership, and the firm creditors holding such security are not deemed secured creditors within the meaning of this provision. In re Coe, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 275. In bankruptcy the joint and several estates of a partnership and the members thereof are considered as distinct estates. A joint creditor having security on a separate estate may prove against the joint estate without relinquishing his security, or he may prove his claim against both estates and receive a dividend from each, but so as not to receive more than the amount of his debt. In re Howard, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,750, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 571. See also In re Thomas, 8 Biss. (U. S.) 139, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,886, 6 Centr. L. J. 151, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 54.

Form for the proof of a secured debt is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 32; 89 Fed. xliii.

73. Stewart v. Isidor, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 68, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 435; In re Brand, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 334, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,809, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 66, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 324; In re Granger, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,684, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 30; In re Bloss, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,562, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 147.

As to amendment of proof of debt see infra, XI, B, 7.

74. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*m*.

75. In re Stevens, 107 Fed. 243, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 806; In re Myers, 99 Fed. 691, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 760; In re Falls City Shirt Mfg. Co., 98 Fed. 592, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 437; In re Montgomery, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 566, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,729, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 423; In re Hubbard, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 190, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,813, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 697; In re Elder, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 73, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,326, 3 Am. L. T. 140, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 198, 2 Chic. Leg. N. 241, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 670, 17 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 178; In re Wiener, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,620, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 218, 3 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 95.

A secured creditor who inadvertently proves his debt as an unsecured claim will not be required to surrender his lien and participate in the general distribution of assets, but will be allowed, if he elects to do so, to withdraw or amend the proof and rely upon his security. In re Wilder, 101 Fed. 104, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 761; In re Falls City Shirt Mfg. Co., 98 Fed. 592, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 437; In re Harwood, Crabbe (U. S.) 496, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,185; In re Brand, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 334, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,809, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 66, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 324; In re Hope Min. Co., 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 710, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,681; In re Clark, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,806, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 255.

creditor so that the estate of the bankrupt would be injured by an amendment it should not be allowed.[76]

C. Time of Proof. Claims shall not be proved against a bankrupt estate subsequent to one year after the adjudication; or if they are liquidated by litigation and the final judgment therein is rendered within thirty days before or after the expiration of such time, then within sixty days after the rendition of such judgment.[77]

D. Filing Claims. Claims after being proved may for the purpose of allowance be filed by the claimants in the court where the proceedings are pending or before the referee if the case has been referred.[78]

E. Objections to Allowance of Claims — 1. In General. Claims which have been duly proved must be allowed upon receipt by, or upon presentment to, the court, unless objection to their allowance is made by parties in interest,[79] or their consideration is continued for cause by the court upon its own motion.[80]

2. Hearing and Determination of Objections. Objections to claims must be heard and determined as soon as the convenience of the court and the best interests of the estate and the claimants will permit.[81]

F. Reconsideration of Claims. Claims which have been allowed may be reconsidered for cause and reallowed or rejected in whole or in part, according to the equities of the case before but not after the estate has been closed.[82] The 76. Stewart v. Isidor, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 68; In re Elder, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 73, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,326, 3 Am. L. T. 140, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 198, 2 Chic. Leg. N. 241, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 670, 17 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 178; In re Parkes, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,754, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 82; In re Jaycox, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,242, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 241.

An amendment was denied where it was sought to add to a proof of a claim a statement of the security in the nature of a claim to an equitable lien upon certain real estate under a notice of lis pendens in a suit pending against the bankrupt and his wife prior to the adjudication in bankruptcy, no mention of which was made in the proof of claim filed. In re Wilder, 101 Fed. 104, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 761.

An amendment will not be permitted to include new claims after the time for filing has expired. In re Stevens, 107 Fed. 243, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 806.

77. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*n*.

The limitation of time prescribed is imperative and prohibits the proof and allowance of a claim presented after the expiration of one year from the date of adjudication. In re Leibowitz, 108 Fed. 617, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 268; In re Rhodes, 105 Fed. 231, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 197; In re Shaffer, 104 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 728; Bray v. Cobb, 100 Fed. 270, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 788.

The right of infants and insane persons without guardians and without notice of bankruptcy proceedings to prove their claims continues six months longer than in other cases. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*n*.

78. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*c*.

The clerk or referee with whom a paper is filed must indorse thereon the day and hour of filing and a brief statement of its character. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 2.

79. The bankrupt is required to examine the correctness of all proofs of claims filed against the estate. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (3); In re Ankeny, 100 Fed. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 72. See also infra, XVII. The trustee or any other person interested in the bankrupt's estate may interpose objections to the allowance of claims. Atkins v. Wilcox, 105 Fed. 595, 44 C. C. A. 626, 53 L. R. A. 118, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 313; In re Sumner, 101 Fed. 224, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

80. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*d*.

The meaning is that if objection be interposed or if the court be not satisfied with the prima facie case thus made, the claim shall not be accepted as proven until disposition shall have been made of such objection, or, if the court continue the consideration, until the court shall be convinced of its validity. In re Sumner, 101 Fed. 224, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123.

81. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*f*; In re Eagles, 99 Fed. 695, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 733.

Burden of proof.— If the statement of proof presented by the creditor presents a prima facie case the creditor may rest and await the introduction of evidence opposed to the sufficient evidence presented by him. The bankrupt or any creditor may oppose the allowance of the claim, and if evidence is introduced by him sufficient to overcome the presumptive case made by the claimant it is incumbent upon the claimant to produce further evidence to establish the provability of his claim. In re Sumner, 101 Fed. 224, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123. See also In re Shaw, 109 Fed. 780, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 499.

Form of order expunging claim is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 39; 89 Fed. xlvii.

Form of order reducing claim is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 38; 89 Fed. xlvii.

82. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*k*.

Recovery of dividend upon rejection.—

reëxamination of a claim may be had upon the application of the trustee[83] or any creditor by petition[84] to the referee to whom the case is referred for an order for such reëxamination, and thereupon the referee must make an order fixing the time for hearing the petition, of which due notice[85] shall be given by mail addressed to the creditor.[86] At the time appointed the referee must take the examination of the creditor and of any witnesses that may be called by either party, and if it shall appear from such examination that the claim ought to be expunged or diminished the referee may order accordingly.[87]

G. Transmission of Proved Claims to Clerk. The referee must forthwith transmit to the clerk a list of the claims which have been proved against the bankrupt estate, with the names and addresses of the proving creditors.[88]

XII. TRUSTEES.[89]

A. Appointment — 1. How Made — a. By Creditors — (1) In General. The creditors of the bankrupt estate[90] must, at their first meeting after the adju-

Whenever a claim shall have been reconsidered and rejected in whole or in part upon which a dividend has been paid, the trustee may recover from the creditor the amount of the dividend received upon the claim if rejected in whole, or the proportional part thereof if rejected only in part. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*l*. See also XVIII, H, 2, b, (VIII).

83. Where no trustee has been appointed for the estate of a bankrupt, a motion for the reëxamination of a claim proved and allowed against the estate may be made by the bankrupt himself. In re Ankeny, 100 Fed. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 72.

84. Sufficiency of petition.— Where a petition for the reconsideration of a claim does not aver the essential facts with sufficient particularity, the proper method of objecting to it is by a motion for a more specific statement, and not by motion to strike out parts of the petition. In re Ankeny, 100 Fed. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 72.

85. Notice of a special meeting called upon the petition of a creditor to have a reëxamination of claims should be sent out by the referee and not by the petitioner. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*c*; In re Stoever, 105 Fed. 355, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 250.

86. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 6.

This provision refers to claims against the bankrupt that were in existence when the petition in bankruptcy was filed and not to claims against the estate for expenses of administration. In re Reliance Storage, etc., Co., 100 Fed. 619, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 49.

87. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 21, par. 6.

Burden of proof.— In a proceeding to reconsider claims which have been allowed the burden of proof is upon the petitioner. In re Howard, 100 Fed. 630, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 69; In re Doty, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 58.

A wide discretion is vested in the referee, and the judge upon review will not interfere with his decision upon questions of fact, unless convinced that the decision is manifestly against the weight of evidence. In re Rider, 96 Fed. 811, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178.

In an application to increase or diminish the sum at which a claim has previously been allowed the better practice is to vacate the former order of allowance and allow the claim at the new amount as if then moved for the first time. In re Smith, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 648.

Form of order expunging claim is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 39; 89 Fed. xlvii.

Form of order reducing claim is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 38; 89 Fed. xlvii.

88. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 24. See also supra, III, D, 4.

89. The office of trustee in bankruptcy is created by the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 33. The officer performing the duties of a trustee was known, under the Act of 1867, as an assignee. Bankr. Act (1867), § 3.

90. Right of creditors absolute.—The creditors of the bankrupt are entitled in the first instance to a free, deliberate, and unbiased choice of the trustee. In re Lewensohn, 98 Fed. 576, 578, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299, where the court says: "From what the act provides, as well as from what it omits, therefore, the necessary inference is that it designs to give creditors in all cases an opportunity to choose the trustee, and to authorize the court to appoint only where they neglect or fail to do so." Under the Act of 1867 it was held, in In re Smith, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 113, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,971, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 243, that the policy of the Bankrupt Act, as clearly shown in its provisions, is to give to the creditors of the bankrupt the free, deliberate, and unbiased choice in the first instance of the person who is to take the assets and manage them. The importance of this policy has been uniformly recognized by this court. It is especially incumbent upon registers in no manner to interfere with or influence, either directly or indirectly, the choice of the assignee by the creditors.

Bankrupt not to interfere.— The trustee must be free from all entangling alliances and associations which might in any way control his actions, and therefore he cannot be named by the bankrupt or the bankrupt's attorney.

dication, or after a vacancy has occurred in the office of trustee, or after an estate has been reopened, or after a composition has been set aside or a discharge revoked, or if there is a vacancy in the office of trustee, appoint one or three trustees of such estate.[91]

(II) Approval or Disapproval. The appointment of the trustee by the creditors is subject to the approval or disapproval of the referee or the judge.[92]

b. By Court. If the creditors do not appoint a trustee or trustees as provided in the Act the court[93] must do so.[94] Thus the court or referee may appoint the trustee where it appears that the creditors at the first meeting have failed to elect.[95]

In re Rekersdres, 108 Fed. 206, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 811; Falter v. Reinhard, 104 Fed. 292, 4 Am. Bankr Rep. 782 [affirmed in 106 Fed. 57, 62, 45 C. C. A. 218, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 155, where it is said: "It may be taken, then, as an established proposition, upon reason and authority, that interference by the bankrupt, certainly when such as to control the election, will avoid the choice thereby attained, as it is the policy of the law to secure a trustee who is the selection of the creditors, and not the bankrupt"]. Under the Act of 1867 interference by the bankrupt, the voting of claims in his interest or at his direction was discountenanced by the court and held to invalidate a choice of trustee thus secured. In re Bliss, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 407, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 5,143, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 17, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 116, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 78; In re Wetmore, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,466, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 514.

91. Bankr. Act (1898), § 44.

As to conduct of proceedings at the first meeting of creditors and the qualifications of voters thereat see supra, X, A.

Manner of voting.— No particular mode or manner of voting is prescribed by the Act. It may be assumed therefore that any mode or manner of voting by which the choice of each creditor entitled to vote is clearly expressed is sufficient. It may no doubt be taken by ballot, or viva voce; it may be taken by calling the name of each creditor, or by calling upon the person or persons representing creditors by power of attorney to name the choice of the creditor or creditors represented by him. In re Lake Superior Ship Canal, etc., Co., 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,997, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 376.

No official trustee may be appointed by the court. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 14.

The form of appointment of trustee by creditors is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 22; 89 Fed. xxxviii.

92. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 13.

When appointment should be approved.— The General Order as to the approval of the appointment of a trustee means that a supervisory power is vested in the court to meet contingencies which could not be definitely provided for in the Act, and which must fall to the good judgment and conscience of the court, and whereby the court would be armed with the power to prevent the selection of a person who, in his judgment, and notwithstanding the express desire of the majority in number and amount of the creditors, or even of all the creditors, would not be a proper selection, and whose appointment might result in a defeat of a proper, just, and equitable administration of the bankrupt law in that particular case; but the emergency should not be a trivial one; it should be one of grave character and due weight, and unless such an emergency appears it would become the duty of the referee to approve the selection, always subject of course to a review by the district judge. In re Henschel, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 25. See also In re Henschel, 109 Fed. 861, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305.

93. The word "court" as here used includes the referee as well as the district judge. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (7), supra, note 8, p. 238; In re Brooke, 100 Fed. 432, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 50.

The form of order of appointment of trustee by the referee is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 23; 89 Fed. xxxix.

94. Bankr. Act (1898), § 44.

95. When creditors fail to elect at first meeting.— Where a majority in number of the creditors present at the first meeting voted for one person, and a majority in amount for another, the referee may appoint the person voted for by the majority in number. The creditors, by disagreeing, cannot block the administration of the estate. In re Richards, 103 Fed. 849, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 631. The first session of the first meeting of the creditors was held at the referee's office from ten-thirty A. M. until four-thirty P. M., without an adjudication. On the adjourned day, when called upon to proceed with the election, the creditors were still unable to agree. There was an apparent need of a trustee at once. The judge had directed several days before that the referee should appoint a trustee unless a suitable person were elected by the creditors. It was held that ample opportunity had been given the creditors to proceed with the election and that it was proper for the referee to appoint. The court said: "The creditors have no right to use the office of the referee or his time in protracted maneuvers in behalf of their special favorites. Such work should be done elsewhere. Nor can the court regard with any complacency the efforts of creditors to secure a particular trustee for merely personal objects." In re Kuffler, 97 Fed. 187, 188, 3 Am.

2. Notice of Appointment. The referee must, immediately upon the appointment and approval of the trustee, notify him in person or by mail of his appointment.[96]

3. Vacancy Caused by Failure to Qualify. If a trustee fails to give a bond he must be deemed to have declined his appointment, and such failure creates a vacancy in his office.[97] The Act requires that where there is a vacancy in the office of trustee an opportunity should be offered the creditors to fill the same, and the court cannot make an appointment in such cases until such opportunity has been given.[98] Whenever, by reason of a vacancy in the office of trustee, it becomes necessary to call a special meeting of the creditors in order to fill such vacancy, the court may call such meeting, specifying in the notice thereof its purpose.[99]

4. When Appointment Unnecessary. If the schedules of a voluntary bankrupt disclose no assets,[1] and if no creditor appears at the first meeting, the court may, by order setting out the facts, direct that no trustee be appointed; but at any time thereafter a trustee may be appointed by the court if it shall deem it desirable. If no trustee is appointed as aforesaid the court may order that no meeting of the creditors other than the first meeting shall be called.[2]

B. Qualification — 1. In General. Trustees may be (1) individuals who are Bankr. Rep. 162. See also In re Newton, 107 Fed. 429, 46 C. C. A. 399, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 52; In re Brooke, 100 Fed. 432, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 50.

Effect of excluding proxies.— Where, at an adjourned meeting for the election of a trustee, twenty-four claims presented by attorneys and proxies of the creditors are allowed and filed, and upon presentment of proxies for the purpose of voting at the meeting for trustee the votes offered by ten of the proxies were properly excluded because of defective execution — ten of the remaining creditors being less than a majority in number and amount of claims allowed cannot elect — and the referee must appoint a trustee. In re Henschel, 109 Fed. 861, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305.

96. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 16.

The form of the notice to the trustee of his appointment is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 24; 89 Fed. xxxix.

The notice shall require the trustee forthwith to notify the referee of his acceptance or rejection of the trust, and shall contain a statement of the penal sum of the trustee's bond. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 16.

97. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*k*.

Whenever the trustee chosen refuses to accept or fails to qualify or is disapproved by the court there is a vacancy in the office of such trustee. In re Lewensohn, 98 Fed. 576, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299. See also infra, XII, C.

98. Bankr. Act (1898), § 44. Commenting upon this section the court, in In re Lewensohn, 98 Fed. 576, 579, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299, says: "The first clause 'after a vacancy has occurred' imports that the office was previously filled; but the revisers apparently not being satisfied with this limitation, the second clause was added in order to secure an opportunity of choice to creditors in every case 'where there is a vacancy,' i. e. where the office, from whatever cause, is unfilled. . . . So long as the office is unfilled, therefore, 'there is a vacancy,' whether previously filled or not, and this second clause as respects vacancies, therefore, applies. If this clause were not broader than the first, it would be mere surplusage."

99. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 25.

Such notices are to be sent to the creditors by mail to their respective addresses, as they appear in the list of creditors furnished by the bankrupt, or as afterward filed with the papers in the case by the creditors, ten days prior to such meeting. Notices are to be given by the referee unless otherwise ordered by the judge. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*a* (3), c.

When a trustee elect dies before he qualifies it is proper, at a continuation of the meeting at which he was chosen, to allow the creditor who named him to name his successor. In such a case no new notice to creditors is necessary. In re Wright, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 497.

1. In the absence of substantial assets, either appearing from the schedules or discoverable, the appointment of a trustee is not indispensable, and clearly no power exists to require acceptance and qualification by one who may be chosen but refuses to accept without compensation. If creditors insist upon an appointment under such circumstances they must furnish the advance fee or otherwise arrange with the proposed trustee. In re Levy, 101 Fed. 247, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 108.

2. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 15. But if the referee afterward learns that property of the bankrupt has been found, which creditors claim as assets of the estate, a trustee should then be appointed, according to U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 15. In re Smith, 93 Fed. 791, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 190.

Form of order that no trustee be appointed is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 27; 89 Fed. xli.

respectively competent to perform the duties of that office and reside or have an office in the judicial district within which they are appointed,[3] or (2) corporations authorized by their charters or by law to act in such capacity and having an office in the judicial district within which they are appointed.[4]

2. BOND — a. In General. Trustees,[5] before entering upon their official duties and within ten days after their appointment, or within such further time, not to exceed five days, as the court may permit, must respectively qualify by entering into a bond with the United States, with such sureties as may be approved by the court, conditioned for the faithful performance of their official duties.[6]

b. Amount of Bond. The creditors of the bankrupt estate, at their first meeting, after the adjudication, or after a vacancy has occurred in the office of trustee, or after an estate has been reopened, or after a composition has been set aside or a discharge revoked, or if there be a vacancy in the office of trustee, must fix the amount of the bond of the trustee.[7]

c. Sureties — (I) NUMBER OF. There must be at least two sureties upon each bond.[8] But the execution of a bond with a single surety company[9] as surety is sufficient.[10]

(II) JUSTIFICATION. The sufficiency of the sureties on the bond given by the trustee is to be approved by the court or by the referee,[11] and evidence must

3. Bankr. Act (1898), § 45.

Under the Act of 1867 the only provision relative to the eligibility of an assignee was to the effect that "no person who has received any preference contrary to the provisions of this Title shall vote for or be eligible as assignee." U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5035. There was no other provision in that Act rendering a person ineligible for the position of assignee. In re Barrett, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 444, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,043, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 144, 2 Am. L. T. Rep. 182, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 202, 11 Int. Rev. Rec. 21, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 533.

Any bias, either for or against the bankrupt and his dealings, will not disqualify a person as trustee. In re Clairmont, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 230, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,781, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 6, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 276; In re Grant, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,692, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 106. The trustee's duties are administrative, not judicial. It is not his special duty "to hold an even hand or an unbiased mind" toward the bankrupt, but to make the most possible out of the assets, and in the performance of this duty mere bias or unfriendliness toward the bankrupt must be rarely, if ever, material. Considering the number and frequency of fraudulent bankruptcies in the past a zealous watch and scrutiny of an insolvent's transactions cannot be looked upon as demerit, or as indicative of a lack of "competency" in a trustee. And unfounded suspicions and prejudices even may be met by the honest merchant without fear. In re Lewensohn, 98 Fed. 576, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299, 305.

An attorney for the bankrupt may be a trustee but he must withdraw from his relation as attorney. In re Barrett, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 444, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,043, 2 Am. L. T. Rep. 182, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 144, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 202, 11 Int. Rev. Rec. 21, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 533; In re Clairmont, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 230, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,781, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 276.

Person who was himself a bankrupt, not yet discharged, was deemed disqualified. Matter of Smith, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 37.

Relative of bankrupt.— The Act does not specifically prescribe the personal qualifications of trustees, except as to the matter of residence, but under the former Act, which contained even less reference as to a trustee's qualifications, it was held that the election of a near relative of the bankrupt as trustee was improper. In re Zinn, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,216, 40 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 461, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 370; In re Powell, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,354, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 45.

4. Bankr. Act (1898), § 45 (2).

5. Joint trustees may give joint and several bonds. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*j*.

6. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*b*.

The form of the bond of trustees is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 25; 89 Fed. xl.

Form of order approving trustee's bond is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 26; 89 Fed. xl.

7. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*c*.

Amount of bond may be increased at any time by the creditors. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*c*.

If the creditors do not fix the amount of the bond of the trustee as thus provided the court shall do so. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*c*.

8. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*e*.

9. Corporations organized for the purpose of becoming sureties upon bonds, authorized by law to do so, may be accepted as sureties whenever the courts are satisfied that the rights and interests of all parties will be thereby amply protected. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*g*.

10. In re Kalter, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 590; 28 U. S. Stat. at L. 279.

11. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*b*.

be required as to the actual value[12] of the property of the sureties executing such bond.[13]

d. Where Filed. Bonds of trustees are required to be filed of record in the office of the clerk of the court.[14]

e. Actions on Bond. A bond of a trustee may be sued upon in the name of the United States for the use of any person injured by a breach of its conditions,[15] but such suits cannot be brought subsequent to two years after the estate has been closed.[16]

C. Death, Removal, or Resignation — 1. Power to Remove. The court may, upon the application of creditors, remove a trustee for cause,[17] upon a hearing, after notice to him;[18] but such removal can be made by the judge only.[19]

2. Right to Resign. The Act of 1898 contains no provision authorizing the resignation of a trustee. It is probable, however, that he may be permitted to resign by the court.[20]

3. Effect of Death or Removal. The death or removal of a trustee will not abate any suit or proceeding which he is prosecuting or defending at the time of his death or removal.[21]

The form of the order approving bond of trustee is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 26; 89 Fed. xl.

12. The actual value of the property of sureties over and above their liabilities and exemptions on each bond shall equal the amount of such bond. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*f*.

13. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*d*.

14. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*h*.

15. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*h*.

See, generally, Bonds.

Liability of trustees for acts of bankrupt. — Trustees shall not be liable personally or on their bonds to the United States for any penalties or forfeitures incurred by the bankrupts, under the present Act, of whose estates they are respectively trustees. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*i*.

16. Bankr. Act (1898), § 50*m*.

17. In case the trustee shall neglect to make and file any report or statement which it is made his duty to file or make by the Act, or by any General Order, within five days after the same shall be due, it shall be the duty of the referee to make an order requiring the trustee to show cause before the judge at a time specified in the order why he should not be removed from office. The referee shall cause a copy of the order to be served upon the trustee at least seven days before the time fixed for the hearing, and proof of the service thereof to be delivered to the clerk. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 17.

Removal for gross neglect.—An assignee is not appointed simply for his own profit, but as trustee for the creditors, and he is bound to use due diligence in collecting and disposing of property of the bankrupt, and in distributing its proceeds among the creditors. If he is guilty of gross and culpable neglect of duty in this respect he may be removed. In re Morse, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,852, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 56.

18. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (17).

For form of petition for removal of trustee, of the notice thereof, and of the order of removal see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 52; 89 Fed. lv.

Form of notice of petition for removal of trustee is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 53; 89 Fed. lv.

Form of order for removal of trustee is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 54; 89 Fed. lv.

Form of order for choice of new trustee is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 55; 89 Fed. lvi.

19. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 13.

The power of removal as thus conferred is discretionary and should not be reviewed or reversed on appeal. In re Perkins, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 254, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,982, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 56; In re Adler, 2 Woods (U. S.) 571, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 82. But such discretion should only be exercised when cause is shown rendering such removal expedient or necessary. In re Mallory, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,990, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 153; In re Blodget, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,552, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 472.

20. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 286.

21. The litigation may be proceeded with or defended by his joint trustee or successor in the same manner as though the same had been commenced or was being defended by such joint trustee alone, or by such successor. Bankr. Act (1898), § 46. Where a cause of action has been brought by a creditor against a trustee in bankruptcy for a wrongful payment of assets of the estate to other creditors in disregard of the plaintiff's rights in the property it does not abate by the death of such trustee. U. S. v. Dewey, 39 Fed. 251. See also, generally, supra, VI, B, 7; and Abatement and Revival, 1 Cyc. 10 et seq.

The settlement of a bankrupt estate by the trustee does not divest the jurisdiction of the federal district court which adjudicated the bankruptcy, and where the trustee dies such court has power to take such steps as the circumstances require, so that a mistake as to the proper step to be taken cannot

D. Duties — 1. In General. The trustee represents the bankrupt debtor as the custodian of all of his property not exempt; and he represents the creditors of such bankrupt, in that he is to gather from every source the property of the debtor, protect and dispose of the same to the effect that their interests may be preserved and their claims paid.[22] He succeeds to all the interests of the bankrupt, becomes in effect the owner of his property, and subject to his accountability to the court holds absolutely the title to such property.[23] The trustee is an officer of the court and is subject to its orders and directions. The referee may compel him to perform his duties.[24]

2. To Account For Interest. Trustees are required to account for and pay over to the estates under their control all interest received by them upon the property of such estates.[25]

3. To Collect and Close up Estates. Trustees are required to collect and reduce to money the property of the estates under their control, under the direction of the court, and close up such estates as expeditiously as compatible with the best interests of the parties in interest.[26]

4. To Deposit and Disburse Money. Trustees must deposit all moneys received by them in one of the designated depositories.[27] Trustees can dis-be collaterally attacked. Lloyd v. Davis, 123 Cal. 348, 55 Pac. 1003.

22. In re Wynn, Chase (U. S.) 227, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,117, 9 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 627, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 116, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 23; Lowell Bankr. § 296.

As representative of creditors.— The trustee, while in some respects the representative of the bankrupt is, as to the property of such bankrupt and its administration, primarily a representative of the creditors. In re Campbell, 3 Hughes (U. S.) 276, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,348, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 4; Edmondson v. Hyde, 2 Sawy. (U. S.) 205, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,285, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 1. The adjudication of bankruptcy is in the nature of a statutory execution for all creditors, and the assignee, as their representative, may enforce against the debtor every right a judgment creditor could enforce. Bamewall v. Jones, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,027, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 278. Contra, Cook v. Whipple, 55 N. Y. 150, 14 Am. Rep. 202, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 155.

As representative of unsecured creditors. — Where, at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy of an insolvent debtor upon an involuntary petition, there are claims against the bankrupt that are unperfected liens, the trustee in bankruptcy only represents unsecured creditors, and therefore he can do nothing toward perfecting the imperfect lien. Goldman v. Smith, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 104. See also Morgan v. Campbell, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 381, 22 L. ed. 796.

23. Leighton v. Harwood, 111 Mass. 67, 15 Am. Rep. 4. He is remitted to all the rights and duties of the bankrupt. Randolph v. Canby, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,559, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 296. He must be considered in the light of a purchaser of the bankrupt's property. Bromley v. Smith, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 511, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,922, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 297, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 152. See also Dudley v. Easton, 104 U. S. 99, 26 L. ed. 668; Starkweather v. Cleveland Ins. Co., 2 Abb. (U. S.) 67, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,308, 1 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 333, 5 Am. L. Rev. 568, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 77, 28 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 36, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 341; Smith v. Buchanan, 8 Blatchf. (U. S.) 153, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,016, 3 Alb. L. J. 97, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 397; Purviance v. Union Nat. Bank, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,475, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 352, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 447, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 33.

24. In re Blaisdell, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 420, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,488, 42 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 274, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 78; In re Bushey, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,227, 27 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 111, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 685.

A trustee is an officer of the court and is strictly limited to the powers conferred by the Act and the orders of the court. Any agreement made by him in violation thereof is void. In re Ryan, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,182, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 235.

25. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (1).

The present Act does not expressly authorize temporary investment of the funds of the estate, but the trustee would be held liable for interest on any considerable amount of money collected by him and not deposited within a reasonable time without sufficient cause. In re Newcomb, 32 Fed. 826; In re Burt, 27 Fed. 549; In re Thorp, 2 Ware (U. S.) 294, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 14,002, 4 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 377.

26. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (2).

As to dividends see infra, XVIII, H, 2.

As to sales see infra, XVIII, G.

As to suits by and against trustees see infra, XVIII, B.

Trustees must use diligence in collecting and disposing of the property of the bankrupt, and in distributing the proceeds thereof among the creditors; they are personally liable for any loss to the estate occasioned by their negligence. In re Morse, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,852, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 56.

27. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (3).

Designation of depositories.— Courts of bankruptcy shall designate by order banking institutions as depositories for the money of burse money only by check or draft on the depositories in which it has been deposited.[28]

5. To Furnish Information. Trustees are required to furnish such information concerning the estates of which they are trustees, and of their administration, as may be requested by parties in interest.[29]

6. To Keep Accounts. Trustees must keep regular accounts showing all amounts received and from what sources, and all amounts expended and on what accounts.[30]

7. To Make Inventory. The trustee must, immediately upon entering upon the duties of his office, prepare a complete inventory of all the property of the bankrupt that comes into his possession.[31]

8. To Make Statements and Reports[32] — a. Detailed Statements. Trustees must lay before the final meeting of the creditors detailed statements of the administration of the estates.[33]

b. Bi-Monthly Reports. Trustees must report to the court in writing the condition of the estates, the amounts of money on hand, and such other details as may be required by the courts within the first month after their appointment and every two months thereafter, unless otherwise ordered by the court.[34] bankrupt estates, as convenient as may be to the residences of trustees, and shall require bonds to the United States, subject to their approval, to be given by such banking institutions, and may, from time to time, as occasion may require, by like order, increase the number of depositories or the amount of any bond and change such depositories. Bankr. Act (1898), § 61.

28. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (4).

Checks to be signed and countersigned.— No money deposited as required by the Act can be drawn from the depository unless by check or warrant, signed by the clerk of the court, or by a trustee, and countersigned by the judge of the court, or by a referee designated for that purpose, or by the clerk or his assistant under an order made by the judge, stating the date, the sum, and the account for which it is drawn. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 29. A copy of this General Order and the name of any referee or clerk authorized to countersign checks is to be furnished to the depository. See also supra, III, A, 2, c.

An entry of the substance of each check and warrant, with the date thereof, the sum for which it is drawn, and the account for which it is drawn, shall be forthwith made in a book kept for that purpose by the trustee or his clerk; and all checks and drafts shall be entered in the order of time in which they are drawn, and shall be numbered in the case of each estate. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 29.

29. Duty to disclose.— It is the duty of a trustee to disclose to the creditors, upon inquiry, and where it appears that they are ignorant thereof, the main facts known to him relating to the condition and assets of the bankrupt estate. Where he knows there is a large sum of money belonging to the estate deposited in a bank against which the bank claimed and were purchasing set-offs, it is his imperative duty to state these facts to creditors inquiring concerning the value of their claims. The trustee should also make in due season the reports prescribed by the rules in bankruptcy. Where an assignee has failed in properly informing creditors in regard to their rights and the value of the assets and the information has been suppressed in the interest of one class of creditors it is the duty of the court to remove him. In re Perkins, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 254, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,982, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 56.

30. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (6).

Audit of accounts.— All accounts of trustees shall be referred as of course to the referee for audit, unless otherwise specially ordered by the court. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 17.

Inspection.— The accounts and papers of trustees shall be open to the inspection of officers and all parties in interest. Bankr. Act (1898), § 49.

Punishment for refusal to permit inspection.— A trustee who refuses to permit a reasonable opportunity for the inspection of the accounts relating to the affairs, and the papers and records of estates in his charge by parties in interest, when directed by the court so to do, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars and forfeit his office, and upon conviction the same shall thereupon become vacant. Bankr. Act (1898), § 29*c* (3).

31. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 17.

32. As to removal for failure to make statement or report see supra, XII, C, 1.

33. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (7).

34. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (10).

Form of trustee's report of exempted property is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 47; 89 Fed. lii.

Form of trustee's return of no assets is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 48; 89 Fed. lii.

c. Final Report. Trustees must make final reports and file final accounts with the court fifteen days before the final meeting of the creditors.[35]

9. To Pay Dividends. Trustees must pay dividends within ten days after they are declared by the referee.[36]

10. To Set Apart Exemptions. Trustees must set apart the bankrupt's exemptions and report the items and estimated value thereof to the court as soon as practicable after their appointment.[37]

E. Concurrence of Two Trustees. Whenever three trustees have been appointed for the estate the concurrence of at least two of them is necessary to the validity of their every act concerning the administration of the estate.[38]

F. Title of Trustee to Bankrupt's Property — 1. General Nature and Character of Trustee's Title. The trustee becomes possessed of the title to the bankrupt's property for the purpose of equally distributing the proceeds thereof among the creditors of such bankrupt. He stands in the place of the bankrupt, with power to do what the bankrupt ought to have done, that is, pay the debts out of the assets.[39] He becomes vested with the same kind of a title as though he were a purchaser, but such title is subject to all the rights and equities existing in favor of third persons against the bankrupt,[40] except as to fraudulent conveyances and transfers, preferences, and other transactions in fraud of the Bankruptcy Act.[41]

35. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (8).

36. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (9).

As to declaration and payment of dividends see infra, XVIII, H.

Where a claim has been reconsidered and rejected after proof and payment of dividends thereon the trustee may recover the amount of the dividends received upon the claim if rejected in whole, or the proportional part thereof if rejected only in part. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*l*; and supra, XI, F.

37. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (11).

As to exemptions see infra, XV.

Report of exemptions to court.— The trustee must make report to the court within twenty days after receiving notice of his appointment of the article set off to the bankrupt by him according to the provisions of the forty-seventh section of the Act, with the estimated value of each article, and any creditor may take exception to the determination of the trustee within twenty days after the filing of the report. The referee may require the exceptions to be argued before him, and shall certify them to the court for final determination at the request of either party. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 17; U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 47; 89 Fed. lii.

38. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*b*.

39. Starkweather v. Cleveland Ins. Co., 2 Abb. (U. S.) 67, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,308, 10 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 333, 5 Am. L. Rev. 568, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 77, 28 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 36, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 341. See also In re Lesser, 100 Fed. 433, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 815.

40. Subject to equities of third persons.— In re Swift, 108 Fed. 212; In re Hanna, 105 Fed. 587, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 127; In re Shaeffer, 105 Fed. 352; In re Mullen, 101 Fed. 413, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 224.

As to fraudulent transfers, liens, and preferences see infra, XVI.

Property in custodia legis.—Where a judgment creditor brought suit in a state court, before the passage of the Bankruptcy Act, to set aside a fraudulent conveyance by his debtor and to have a mortgage given by the latter declared to operate as a general assignment for creditors, and obtained a decree to that effect, and the state court appointed a receiver, who took possession of the property of the debtor, and thereafter the debtor was adjudged bankrupt on his voluntary petition, the adjudication not being based upon the transfers impeached in the creditors' suit, it was held that, as to all property covered by the decree, the court of bankruptcy would not require its surrender by the receiver, or otherwise interfere with its administration by the state court. In re Kavanaugh, 99 Fed. 928, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 832. But see Southern L. & T. Co. v. Benbow, 96 Fed. 514, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 9, where it is held that a receiver appointed by a state court in proceedings supplementary to execution, and empowered to sue for and collect the property of the debtor previously passed to a third person by a fraudulent assignment, but who has not reduced the same to his possession nor taken any steps to do so, is not vested with such a title or right of possession of the property as will prevent a court of bankruptcy, on the adjudication of the debtor, from taking possession of it through the trustee.

41. Dudley v. Easton, 104 U. S. 99, 26 L. ed. 668; Bromley v. Smith, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 511, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,922, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 297, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 152; Purviance v. Union Nat. Bank, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,475, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 352, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 447, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 33.

Title of conditional vendee who becomes bankrupt.— Where the possession of property is in a bankrupt, but by the terms of a contract of conditional sale he is not to have title until such goods are paid for, and during that time the title is to remain in the vendor, it was held that such property is not

2. When Title Passes — a. After Appointment of Trustee — (i) In General. The trustee of the estate of the bankrupt, upon his appointment and qualification, and his successor or successors, if he shall have one or more, upon his or their appointment and qualification, is in turn vested by operation of law with the title of the bankrupt to his property as of the date he was adjudged a bankrupt, unless such property is exempt.[42] an asset of the bankrupt, and title to it does not pass to his trustee upon his appointment. The trustee in bankruptcy acquires no greater title than the conditional vendee had, even though there is a state statute in effect which provides that as to creditors without notice the conditional sale shall be deemed absolute, unless the contract of sale is filed in the recorder's office. In re McKay, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 292. See also Stewart v. Platt, 101 U. S. 731, 25 L. ed. 816; In re Bozeman, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 809; In re Ohio Co-Operative Shear Co., 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 775; In re Klingaman, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 44. In re McKay, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 292, supra, however, was disapproved in In re Yukon Woolen Co., 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 805, where the court held that under the laws of Connecticut a conditional bill of sale is not valid as against execution creditors unless recorded, and that the trustee of the bankrupt conditional vendee acquires an absolute title to the property sold for the benefit of the bankrupt's creditors. In New York, under a conditional sale of merchandise to be retailed by the vendee in the ordinary course of business, the title to remain in the vendor until paid for, the title, so far as the creditors of, and purchasers from, the vendee are concerned is deemed absolute in the vendee. In re Howland, 109 Fed. 869, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 495. And in North Carolina where each of several promissory notes given for the purchase-price of personal property provide that the ownership and title to the property shall remain in the vendor "until this note is paid" and neither the notes nor the contract of sale have been duly registered as required by the statutes of that state, and the purchaser is thereafter adjudged a bankrupt, the lien of the vendor for unpaid purchase-money is not effective against other creditors of the bankrupt, and the vendor cannot prove such claim as a secured claim. In re Tatem, 110 Fed. 519, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 426.

Trustee takes subject to all equities, etc. — The trustee takes the property of the estate subject to all equities, liens, and encumbrances existing against it in the hands of the bankrupt, and takes no greater interest than the bankrupt himself had, except in the instance specified in the Act, that is, where liens are void for want of record or otherwise, liens ipso facto dissolved by the adjudication and fraudulent and voidable transfers. In re Bozeman, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 809. See also Kelley v. Scott, 49 N. Y. 595; Cook v. Tullis, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 332, 21 L. ed. 933; Ex p. Dalby, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 431, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,540, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 731. In In re Booth, 96 Fed. 943, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 574, the court says that trustees of bankrupts stand in the position of purchasers for value without notice. The United States circuit court for the northern district of Georgia, in considering the title of a trustee to property remaining in the hands of the bankrupt pledged as security for a debt, says that if the principle stated in the case of In re Booth, 96 Fed. 943, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 574, was to be applied, that the trustee having no notice of the pledge would obtain a good title to the property as against the secured creditor. The court differs from the statement made in the Booth case and holds that a trustee does not take as an innocent purchaser, but that the property comes to him subject to all valid claims, liens, and encumbrances. Chattanooga Nat. Bank v. Rome Iron Co., 102 Fed. 755, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 441. An assignment in bankruptcy, like any other assignment, by operation of law passes the rights of the bankrupt precisely in the same plight and condition as he possessed them, subject to all equities. Casey v. La Societe De Credit Mobilier, 2 Woods (U. S.) 77, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,496, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 313, 21 Int. Rev. Rec. 219, 1 Thomps. Nat. Bank Cas. 285. See also Donaldson v. Farwell, 93 U. S. 631, 23 L. ed. 993; Winsor v. McLellan, 2 Story (U. S.) 492, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,887, 6 Law Rep. 440; Potter v. Coggeshall, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,322, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 73.

42. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a*. Compare Potter v. Martin, 122 Mich. 542, 81 N. W. 424; King v. Hutton, [1899] 2 Q. B. 555, 68 L. J. Q. B. 975, 48 Wkly. Rep. 95. See also infra, XII, F, 2, (II) et seq.

Exception as to exempt property. — In re Mayer, 108 Fed. 599, 47 C. C. A. 512, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 117; In re Moran, 105 Fed. 901, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472; In re Wells, 105 Fed. 762, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 308; In re Black, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 776; In re Daubner, 96 Fed. 805, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 368; In re Russie, 96 Fed. 609, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 6; In re Woodard, 95 Fed. 260, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 339. See also In re Roberts, [1900] 1 Q. B. 122, 69 L. J. Q. B. 19, 81 L. T. Rep. N. S. 467, 48 Wkly. Rep. 132 [explaining and distinguishing Chippendale v. Tomlinson, 4 Dougl. 318, 7 East 57 note].

As to exemptions, generally, see infra, XV.

As to specific property passing see infra, XII, F, 4.

Under Bankr. Act (1867), § 14, it was provided "As soon as said assignee is appointed and qualified, the judge, or, where there is no opposing interest, the register, shall, by an instrument under his hand, assign and convey to the assignee all the estate, real

(II) Upon Confirmation of Composition. Upon the confirmation of a composition offered by a bankrupt the title to his property will thereupon revest in him.[43]

(III) Upon Setting Aside of Composition or Discharge. Whenever a composition is set aside or a discharge revoked the trustee is, upon his appointment and qualification, vested as herein provided with the title to all of the property of the bankrupt as of the date of the final decree setting aside such composition or revoking such discharge.[44]

b. Before Appointment of Trustee — (I) After Adjudication. After an adjudication in bankruptcy has been made the title to all of the property of the bankrupt as of that date passes to the person who is subsequently chosen trustee.[45] The title to the estate in the interval between the date of the adjudication and the appointment of the trustee remains in the bankrupt, but is defeasible, and is divested as of the date of the adjudication when the trustee is appointed.[46] All titles claimed under or through him subsequent to adjudication are by force of law, and without regard to the knowledge or motives of the one so claiming, overreached, and defeated.[47] and personal, of the bankrupt, with all his deeds, books, and papers relating thereto; and such assignment shall relate back to the commencement of said proceedings in bankruptcy, and thereupon, by operation of law, the title to all such property and estate, both real and personal, shall vest in said assignee, although the same is then attached on mesne process as the property of the debtor, and shall dissolve any such attachment made within four months next preceding the commencement of said proceedings."

Where once the trustee is appointed his title to the bankrupt's estate relates back to the date of the adjudication. Bankr. Act (1898). § 70*a*.

43. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*f*. See also infra, XIV, C.

44. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*d*. See also infra, XIV, D; XIX, J.

45. Keegan v. King, 96 Fed. 758, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 79. See also In re Burka, 107 Fed. 674, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 843; In re Engle, 105 Fed. 893, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372; In re Yukon Woolen Co., 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 805.

46. Connor v. Long, 104 U. S. 228, 26 L. ed. 723; International Bank v. Sherman, 101 U. S. 403, 25 L. ed. 866. In Hampton v. Rouse, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 263, 22 L. ed. 755, it was held that after the adjudication, but before assignment of property to the assignee, the bankrupt retained such a title that he had authority to redeem real estate belonging to him from a sale for taxes.

The adjudication is notice to all the world of the bankruptcy of the debtor, and after such time persons dealing with him do so at their peril. Mays v. Manufacturers' Nat. Bank, 64 Pa. St. 74, 3 Am. Rep. 573, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 660; In re Lake, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 204, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,992, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 281, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 542, 6 West. Jur. 360; In re Gregg, 1 Hask. (U. S.) 173, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,796, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 298, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 529.

47. Payments made to bankrupt.— Since the title to the bankrupt's property relates back to the date of the adjudication, payments made to the bankrupt by his debtors after such adjudication and prior to the appointment of the trustee have been held to be mere nullities, and the trustee may sue and compel the bankrupt's debtors to make payments again to him. Stevens v. Mechanics Sav. Bank, 101 Mass. 109, 3 Am. Rep. 325; Mays v. Manufacturers' Nat. Bank, 64 Pa. St. 74, 3 Am. Rep. 573, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 660; Ex p. Foster, 2 Story (U. S.) 131, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,960, 5 Law Rep. 55. In Babbitt v. Burgess, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 169, 173, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 693, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 326, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 561, the court said: "It is not necessary for this court to take the extreme position held by the supreme court of Pennsylvania [Mays v. Manufacturers' Nat. Bank], and rule that all payments made to a debtor, after a petition filed against him in bankruptcy, are to be adjudged void, if the debtor is subsequently declared bankrupt. This court, however, holds that payments thus made mala fide, or with a view of defeating the bankrupt act in any of its essential requirements, are void, and the person by whom such payment was made can be held to answer for the original demand to the assignee, whose title relates to the day of commencing proceedings in bankruptcy."

Where property is acquired by the bankrupt subsequent to his adjudication in bankruptcy it is not an asset of the estate which passes to his trustee to be administered by him, but belongs absolutely to the bankrupt. In re Rennie, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 182. See also In re Pease, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 578, where the referee held that creditors who become such before the filing of the petition cannot compel a bankrupt to account for profits in business after the petition and before the adjudication, or for goods sold in the interval, which were purchased of other dealers and not taken from the bankrupt stock, but can, for moneys collected in that interval, or even after, for goods sold either before or after the petition, out of the stock with which the trustee becomes vested on the adjudication.

(II) Before Adjudication. After the filing of the petition and prior to the adjudication the bankrupt has full control over his property, and during such interval he may transfer the title thereof, provided he does not contravene the provisions of the Bankrupt Act relative to fraudulent and illegal preferences.[48]

Under the Act of 1867 the earnings and acquisitions of a bankrupt subsequent to the commencement of a proceeding were held to belong to him subject to his eventual discharge. If he does not succeed in procuring a discharge, they remain liable to execution or attachment by his former creditors. Mays v. Manufacturers' Nat. Bank, 64 Pa. St. 74, 3 Am. Rep. 573, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 660. See also Rugely v. Robinson, 19 Ala. 404; Bond v. Baldwin, 9 Ga. 9; Bennett v. Bailey, 150 Mass. 257, 22 N. E. 916; In re Patterson, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 508, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,815, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 27, 33, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 125, 150; In re Levy, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 496, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,296, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 30, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 163, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 136; In re Grant, 2 Story (U. S.) 312, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,693, 5 Law Rep. 11.

48. In re Pease, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 578, 582, where it is said: "I am satisfied, therefore, that, though the words are confusing, Congress has accomplished what it intended, namely, that for the protection of those who deal with the bankrupt in the interval between the filing of the petition and the adjudication, he shall have a title capable of transfer, but that the day of cleavage, both as to provable and dischargable debts and as to property with which to pay those debts, is the day when the petition is filed."

Custody of the court.— From the time of filing the petition in a case of voluntary bankruptcy, the bankrupt's estate is in custodia legis; and upon the general powers and jurisdiction conferred upon a court of bankruptcy, which powers are to be exercised by the referee to whom the matter in bankruptcy is referred, it is the duty of the court upon its own motion in a proper case to take actual possession and custody of the bankrupt's estate through a receiver or by a direction to a marshal. In re Abrahamson, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 44.

By Bankr. Act (1898), § 70a (5), the trustee is vested with the title to all the property which, prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, the bankrupt could by any means have transferred, or which might have been levied upon and sold under judicial process against him. There is an apparent conflict between this provision and the one already quoted to the effect that the title of the trustee vests as of the date of the bankrupt's adjudication. It has been held that the words "prior to the filing of the petition," as contained in subdivision 5, refer to what passes; and the words "as of the date he was adjudged a bankrupt" in paragraph a refer to the time when it passes. In re Barrow, 98 Fed. 582, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 414; In re Pease, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 578, in which the referee says that the words "prior to the filing of the edition" refer to what passes, and the seemingly antagonistic words earlier in the section refer only to when such title passes. Adams, J., in In re Burka, 104 Fed. 326, 327, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 12, says: "After a careful consideration of the provisions of this section, I am persuaded that there are two separate subjects treated of: First, the time at which the title to something vests in the trustee; second, the 'something' or property the title of which is to vest in the trustee. Inasmuch as the trustee, by the provisions of the act, cannot be chosen or qualified until some time after the date of the filing of the petition, and in fact until some time after the date of adjudication, it is appropriate and fit that some time should be fixed, to which his title to whatever he gets should relate; and such, in my opinion, is the subject-matter of the first part of the section in question. Properly interpreted, the trustee is by operation of law vested with the title as of the date the bankrupt was adjudged to be a bankrupt. The further provisions of the section, already quoted [Sec. 70*a* (5)] undertake to point out the property of which by operation of law he is to become the owner, namely, all property which prior to the filing of the petition the bankrupt could have transferred."

The Act of 1867, as will be observed by the above extract from section 14, vested the title in the assignee as of the date the proceedings were commenced. As a result a merchant against whom a petition in bankruptcy was pending could not do business, the title to his estate being in the air until the adjudication or the dismissal of the petition. There seems little doubt that the insertion of the words "as of the date of the adjudication" in section 70 of the present Act was intended to meet this difficulty.

The judiciary committee of the 54th congress, in its report on House Bill No. 8110 [House Report No. 1228] said in reference to section 70: "Under Section 70 an important change has been made from the former laws, as well as from proposed legislation. Under the Act of 1867, as interpreted by the courts, it was held that the title to the bankrupt's property vested by operation of law as of the date of the filing of the petition. By the proposed bill it is provided that the trustee shall be vested with the title of the bankrupt as of the date he was adjudged a bankrupt. By this change the alleged bankrupt can sell and convey and protect title up to the date of the adjudication and the purchaser does not buy at his own risk and in danger of having secured an imperfect title by reason of an adjudication which may be made subsequent to the purchase. It does not follow that because

3. Execution of Necessary Transfers by Bankrupt. The bankrupt is required to execute and deliver such papers relating to his estate as shall be ordered by the court.[49] It is the duty of the bankrupt to deliver to his trustee all his assets which are subject to his debts. Upon his failure to make such delivery he may be ordered by the court to do so, and obedience thereto may be enforced by commitment as for contempt.[50] But no valid order directing the delivery of the property can be made before the issue is squarely raised between the trustee and the bankrupt as to whether or not he has such property in his possession.[51] And no such order should be made unless it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that the property is in the possession or under the control of the bankrupt.[52]

4. Specific Kinds of Property Passing — a. Assets of Corporation. The unpaid stock subscriptions of a corporation are a primary fund for the payment of the corporate debts, but such subscriptions are only payable upon a call therefor;

a petition is filed against a person in the bankruptcy court that he will be adjudged a bankrupt, and it seems but proper that the public in dealing with him, until he is adjudged a bankrupt, should deal without fear of loss or danger as to title. It may be suggested that this is too liberal a provision, and that the bankrupt may neglect his business or estate as soon as bankruptcy proceedings are commenced against him, and that he may allow it to deteriorate in value. But this is provided against by section 69, which permits the issuing of a warrant to the marshal for the seizure of the property of the bankrupt, in case of a person against whom bankruptcy proceedings have been commenced, for neglecting his property."

49. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (4).

Bankrupt must execute to his trustee transfers of all of his property in foreign countries. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (5).

Bankrupt must furnish trustee with information as to any attempt coming to his knowledge by his creditors or other persons to evade the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (6). See also infra, XVII, A, 1.

50. Delivery of assets.— In re Purvine, 96 Fed. 192, 37 C. C. A. 446, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 787.

Power to make order.—Under general rules of law and under the specific provisions of the Act, a court of bankruptcy has power and jurisdiction to make an order requiring the bankrupt to pay or deliver to his trustee in bankruptcy money or other property in his possession or control constituting a part of his estate in bankruptcy, and which he has not surrendered or accounted for, and to enforce his obedience to such order by commitment as for contempt. In re Rosser, 101 Fed. 562, 41 C. C. A. 497, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 153. The order directing delivery of the bankrupt's property may be made by the referee. In re Miller, 105 Fed. 57, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 184; In re Oliver, 96 Fed. 85, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 783.

Contempt for disobedience.— While it is clear that the court has power to punish for contempt a disobedience by a bankrupt of an order to deliver property over to a trustee (see Bankr. Act (1898), § 41, and the following cases under the Act of 1867: In re Salkey, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 269, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,253, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 178, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 423; In re Peltasohn, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 107, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,912, 6 Centr. L. J. 311, 10 Chic. Leg. N. 10, 4 L. & Eq. Rep. 441, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 265; In re Speyer, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,239, 42 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 397, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 255; In re Kempner, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,689, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 521; In re Dresser, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,077, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 557) the power to punish for contempt should be carefully exercised (In re McCormick, 97 Fed. 566, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 340; In re Purvine, 96 Fed. 192, 37 C. C. A. 446, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 787, supra, where it was held that where the disobedience charged is disobedience to the orders of a referee directing the bankrupt to pay money to the trustee, the better practice is to direct the bankrupt to be brought before the judge for a further examination upon petition as to whether or not he has made a full disclosure of the facts). See also In re Miller, 105 Fed. 57, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 184. The district court as a court of bankruptcy has power to punish a bankrupt for contempt of court, as manifested by his refusal to obey an order of the court, made after due hearing of the parties, directing him to deliver his assets to his trustee, and the exercise of such power is in no sense a violation of the prohibition against imprisonment for debt. In re Schlesinger, 102 Fed. 117, 42 C. C. A. 207, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 361; Ripon Knitting Works v. Schreiber, 101 Fed. 810, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299.

51. In re Pearson, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 819.

52. Ripon Knitting Works v. Schreiber, 101 Fed. 810, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299; In re Schlesinger, 97 Fed. 930, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 342; In re McCormick, 97 Fed. 566, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 340. In In re Mayer, 98 Fed. 839, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 533, it was held that where the evidence showed that the property had passed from the control of the bankrupt and into the possession of third persons claiming title derived prior to the proceedings in bankruptcy, although the transaction is manifestly fraudulent, there is no power to punish for contempt the disobedience of an order directing the bankrupt to deliver such property to his trustee.

where a corporation has gone into bankruptcy the right to collect such unpaid subscriptions vests in the trustee.[53]

b. Beneficial Powers. Powers which the bankrupt might have exercised for his own benefit, but not those which he might have exercised for some other person, are vested in his trustee.[54]

c. Documents. The title to all documents relating to the property of the bankrupt vests in the trustee.[55]

d. Patents, Copyrights, and Trade-Marks. The interest which the bankrupt may have in patents, patent rights, copyrights, and trade-marks passes to his trustee in bankruptcy.[56]

e. Property Transferred in Fraud of Creditors — (i) In General. All the property of a bankrupt debtor transferred by him in fraud of his creditors passes to his trustee in bankruptcy.[57] The fraudulent transfers here specified are not only those made within the four months' period prior to the filing of the petition but those made at any other time.[58] This provision was intended to provide sim-

53. In re Crystal Springs Bottling Co., 96 Fed. 945, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 194. See also Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 26 L. ed. 968.

54. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (3).

The Act of 1867 contained no provision similar to the one in the present Act, and under that Act it was held that the power of appointment vested in the bankrupt debtor did not pass to his assignee. Brandies v. Cochrane, 112 U. S. 344, 5 S. Ct. 194, 28 L. ed. 760; Jones v. Clifton, 101 U. S. 225, 25 L. ed. 908.

The intent of this provision is to require the passing of a power which is vested in the bankrupt to the trustee, if such power could have been exercised for the benefit of such bankrupt himself. The interest of a husband in the real estate of his wife during her life and after issue is born is not a power in the sense in which the word is used in section 70*a* (3) of the Act. Hesseltine v. Prince, 95 Fed. 802, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 600.

55. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (1).

56. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (2).

But the trustee does not succeed to the rights of a bankrupt under an application for letters patent, where the patent is issued to such bankrupt after the adjudication. Section 70 does not declare that the bankrupt's interest in patentable inventions or in pending applications for patents shall be vested in the trustee, but only his interest in patents and patent rights; the words "patent rights" being intended to include rights secured under a patent to a third party, such as a license or manufacturing ight, and the word "patents" to include cases where any title to letters patent, in whole or in part, is vested in the bankrupt, either by the issuance of letters in his name or by a proper assignment in writing from the patentee. In re McDonnell, 101 Fed. 239, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 92.

57. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (4). See also In re Tollett, 105 Fed. 425, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305; Marden v. Phillips, 103 Fed. 196, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 566; In re Brown, 91 Fed. 358, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 107.

As to fraudulent transfers see infra, XVI, A.

It is also provided that the trustee may avoid any transfer of the bankrupt of his property which any of the creditors of such bankrupt might have avoided, and may recover the property so transferred, or its value, from the person to whom it was transferred, unless he was a bona fide holder for value prior to the date of the adjudication. Such property may be recovered or its value collected from any person who may have received it, except a bona fide holder for value. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*e*.

Fraudulent transfers within four months. — Under Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*e*, conveyances, transfers, assignments, or encumbrances of the bankrupt's property made by the bankrupt within four months prior to the filing of the petition with the intent of defrauding his creditors are null and void, and all the property so conveyed, transferred, assigned, or encumbered passes to his trustee, whose duty it is to recover and claim the same by legal proceedings or otherwise for the benefit of the creditors. See infra, XVI, A.

58. Title vests regardless of the time of fraudulent transfer.— In construing the provisions of sections 67*e* and 70*e*, the court in Matter of Gray, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 554, 556, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 618, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 647, said: "It will be observed that there is here no four months' limitation, and it is plain that the limitation which runs through the act in connection with frauds upon the system was at this point advisedly omitted. The purpose of the two sections is quite apparent. One covers frauds upon the act, whether actual or constructive, committed within four months; the other actual or common-law frauds exclusively, committed at any time. . . . When, however, the trustee seeks to avoid a fraudulent or any avoidable transfer by the bankrupt antedating the four months, he does so, not in the right conferred as a concomitant to the due operation of the system, but exclusively in the creditors' common-law right. He is, with relation to these anterior transfers, so to speak, subrogated to that right. Such of these anterior transfers as any creditor might have avoided, he may avoid. Such as no creditor could have ply that the trustee in bankruptcy should have the same right to avoid conveyances as was possessed by creditors, with special reference to the statutes of frauds of the several states.[59]

(II) Unfiled Transfers of Personalty. The trustee, representing the creditors and succeeding to the title and interest of the bankrupt, can set aside unfiled chattel mortgages or other transfers of personalty for the benefit of those creditors who have valid liens against the mortgaged property acquired more than four months prior to the commencement of the bankruptcy proceedings.[60] avoided, he cannot avoid." As to the setting aside of unlawful liens and preferences, and the recovery of property fraudulently transferred see, generally, infra, XVI. The trustee is vested with the title of all property which at any time has been fraudulently conveyed by the bankrupt. This relates to any past fraud whereby property which should rightfully be applied to the payment of the debts owing by the bankrupt has been conveyed, if the property can be followed and seized for that purpose. Such property or its value may be recovered from whoever may have received it except a bona fide holder. In re McNamara, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 566.

59. In re Mullen, 101 Fed. 413, 416, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 224, where it is said: "13 Eliz. makes void, as against creditors, conveyances in fraud of creditors, but provides that the operation of the statute shall not extend to any estate conveyed upon good consideration and bona fide. In inserting a like exception in section 70*e*, I think congress meant substantially to re-enact the exception placed in the statute of Elizabeth, and not to give to bona fide purchasers for value greater or less rights than those which that statute gives them. The reference to bona fide purchasers in section 70*e* should therefore receive the same construction that a like reference has received in the statute of 13 Eliz. and its American substitutes." In this case it was attempted to defeat a prior attachment made by the creditor of the fraudulent grantee, who had no notice of the fraud or of the bankruptcy proceedings. The court held that where property conveyed in fraud of creditors is first attached by creditors of the transferee who have no knowledge of the fraud, such attachment will prevail as against the rights of defrauded creditors of the transferrer, and that therefore the attachment could not be defeated, unless notice of the bankruptcy proceedings had been given to the attaching creditor.

Where property conveyed is in possession of bankrupt.— Where the court finds that a transfer of property by a bankrupt is in fraud of creditors and the property still remains in the hands of the bankrupt, such court will direct the trustee of the bankrupt's estate to take charge of it and proceed with its administration until the fraudulent transferee shall conclusively demonstrate his title to the property. In re Smith, 100 Fed. 795, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 95.

Action to be brought before trustee takes possession.— Where property is in the hands of one to whom, it is alleged, it was transferred by the bankrupt in fraud of his creditors more than four months prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, the trustee has no right to take possession of the same before he has brought suit to have the transfer set aside, in which action all parties in interest should be made defendants. In re Grahs, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 465. See also In re Buntrock Clothing Co., 92 Fed. 886, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 454. In Yeatman v. New Orleans Sav. Inst., 95 U. S. 764, 24 L. ed. 589, in which was involved the right to the possession of certain certificates of indebtedness issued by the state of Louisiana, which formed part of a bankrupt estate, and which were pledged as security for a debt, it was held that suit could not be maintained by the trustee for the wrongful conversion of such certificates, and that if the pledge was in fraud of the Bankruptcy Act and consequently void, the assignee might disregard the contract of pledge and recover the property for the benefit of the creditors; but if the contract of pledge was valid, then the assignee would not be entitled to take possession of the property until he had redeemed the same by payment of the debt due to the pledgee.

60. Effect of failure to file chattel mortgage.— Under the Bankruptcy Act of 1867 a failure to file a mortgage of goods and chattels in the manner prescribed by the law of the state, while rendering the mortgage void as against creditors of the mortgagor, if it was not accompanied by an immediate delivery and followed by an actual change of possession of the chattels, did not affect its validity as against the assignee of the mortgagor in bankruptcy. The assignee succeeded merely to the title of the mortgagor, and as between the mortgagor and the mortgagee the validity of the mortgage was unaffected by the failure to file. Stewart v. Platt, 101 U. S. 731, 25 L. ed. 816. But Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*, provides that claims which for want of record or for other reasons would not have been valid liens as against creditors of the bankrupt are not liens against his estate [subd. a], and that whenever a creditor is prevented from enforcing his rights against a lien created by his debtor, who afterward becomes a bankrupt [subd. b] the trustee is subrogated to and may enforce the rights of such creditor for the benefit of the estate. See infra, XVI, B. And furthermore Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*e*, provides that the trustee may avoid any transfer by the bankrupt of his property which any creditor of such bank-

f. Property Transferable or Leviable — (i) In General. Property which prior to the filing of the petition the bankrupt could by any means have transferred, or which might have been levied upon and sold under judicial process against him, vests in the trustee as of the date he was adjudged a bankrupt.[61]

(ii) Growing Crops. The interest of a bankrupt in growing crops on lands kept by him as lessee passes to the trustee in bankruptcy as personal property.[62]

(iii) Income of Life and Trust Estates. The income given to a legatee for life under a will providing that it shall be inalienable and not subject to the claims of creditors does not pass to the trustee in bankruptcy.[63] A vested equirupt might have avoided. In view of these distinct and unequivocal provisions of the Bankruptcy Act it may well be doubted whether the case of Stewart v. Platt, 101 U. S. 731, 25 L. ed. 816, is now applicable. These provisions, however, do not confer upon trustees any greater rights than those possessed by the bankrupt and his creditors at the time their title accrues. If none but judgment creditors can avail themselves, under state statutes requiring the filing of chattel mortgages, of the effect of failure to file them, it follows that trustees cannot avoid the lien of an unfiled chattel mortgage in favor of general creditors; as to them the lien of the mortgagor is paramount. In re New York Economical Printing Co., 110 Fed. 514, 49 C. C. A. 133, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 615. See also as to conditional sales In re Howland, 109 Fed. 869, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 495.

See also, generally, Chattel Mortgages.

Rule in New York.— According to the settled construction of the chattel mortgage statute the provisions in respect to filing must be strictly followed. Compliance stands as a substitute for immediate delivery and an actual and continued change of possession of the mortgaged property, and repels the conclusive presumption of fraud which would otherwise infect the transfer. In re New York Economical Printing Co., 110 Fed. 514, 49 C. C. A. 133, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 615.

61. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (5).

The words "prior to the filing of the petition" do not apply to the time when the title vests in the trustee. In re Yukon Woolen Co., 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 805. See also In re Pease, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 578; Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 456.

This subdivision is intended to cover in general terms all the property of the bankrupt which is to pass to the trustee; it prescribes the test to determine what property vests in the trustee. The value or character of the property is immaterial if it is transferable or subject to levy under a judicial process. Bankr. Act (1867), § 14, required that the register "by an instrument under his hand, assign and convey to the assignee all the estate, real and personal, of the bankrupt, with all his deeds, books, and papers relating thereto." It was held that the words "all the estate, real and personal" were broad enough to cover every description of vested right and interest attached to and growing out of property. Comegys v. Vasse, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 193, 7 L. ed. 108. And see French v. Carr, 7 Ill. 664. Every definition of property ignores the idea of value in the thing owned. If there is an exclusive right to a thing, the law immediately presumes it to have at least a nominal value to the owner. Kinzie v. Winston, 56 Ill. 56, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 21.

62. In re Schumpert, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,491, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 415.

Products of wife's land.— In Vermont the products of the wife's lands conveyed to her by deed without limitation, to her separate use, and occupied by her husband according to his marital right, are assets belonging to his estate in bankruptcy. In re Rooney, 109 Fed. 601, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 478.

Undivided interest in growing crops.— Where a tenant farmer has by his contract with his landlord a three-fourths interest in a crop of any kind, whether growing or matured, severed or unsevered, his interest therein being such as could have been transferred before filing his petition vests in his trustee as of the date of the adjudication. The trustee is entitled to immediate possession of the property, and the bankrupt must account for such part as he has disposed of. In re Barrow, 98 Fed. 582, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 414.

Where the crop is planted by the bankrupt after the petition in bankruptcy has been filed it does not pass to the trustee. In re Barnett, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,024, 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 559, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 73.

63. Billings v. Marsh, 153 Mass. 311, 26 N. E. 1000, 25 Am. St. Rep. 635, 10 L. R. A. 764; Munroe v. Dewey, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 264.

It is provided by statute in some states that the surplus income of a trust created to receive the rents and profits of real property, beyond the sum necessary for the education and support of the beneficiary, shall be liable to the claims of his creditors in the same manner as other personal property. N. Y. Laws (1896), § 78, cl. 547.

It was the rule at common law that a trust could not be created with a proviso that the equitable estate or interest of the cestui que trust shall not be alienable or charged with his debts. Cushing v. Spalding, 164 Mass. 287, 41 N. E. 297; Winsor v. Mills, 157 Mass. 362, 32 N. E. 352; Todd v. Sawyer, 147 Mass. 570, 17 N. E. 527.

Contrary to this doctrine many federal and state courts have maintained that the power of alienation is not a necessary incident to an equitable estate for life, and that the owner table interest in a trust estate is alienable and will pass to the trustee in bankruptcy of the cestui que trust.[64] It must be observed, however, that a trust may be so created that no absolute interest vests in the cestui que trust, as where property is given to a trustee for the support and education of the cestui que trust and his family; in which case neither the trustee, the cestui que trust, nor his creditors, nor trustees in bankruptcy, can divest the property from the appointed purposes.[65] In a trust of such a character it is obviously the right and duty of a trustee to protect the income for the use and enjoyment of the beneficiary and to resist any attempt to divert it from the object of the testator's solicitude. The surplus income of such a trust may be reached by means of a plenary suit in equity.[66] The alienability of an interest in a trust estate, and therefore the question whether such interest passes to the trustee in bankruptcy of the cestui que trust is to be determined by the laws of the state in which the property is situated.[67]

(IV) Life Insurance Policies—(A) In General. It is provided that when any bankrupt shall have any insurance policy which has a cash surrender value payable to himself, his estate, or personal representatives, he may, within thirty days after the cash surrender value has been ascertained and stated to the trustee by the company issuing the same, pay or secure to the trustee the sum so ascertained and stated, and continue to hold, own, and carry such policy free from the claims of creditors participating in the distribution of his estate under the bankruptcy proceedings, otherwise the policy shall pass to the trustee as assets.[68]

(B) Considered as Property. A life insurance policy which entitles the bankrupt or his assignee to have an agreed sum paid to him in the event of his surviving until a certain date is property which passes to his trustee.[69]

(C) Having No Surrender Value. It has been contended that the proviso as to insurance policies contained in section 70*a* (5) is an exclusive definition of what class of policies vest in the trustee, regardless of their assignability, and that it means that no policies of insurance pass to the trustee except those which have a surrender value, and which the bankrupt has failed to redeem by paying or securing to the trustee such ascertained surrender value.[70] But this contention of the property may, in the exercise of his bounty, so dispose of it as to secure its enjoyment to the objects of his bounty without making it alienable by them or liable for their debts, and this intention, clearly expressed by the founder of the trust, must be carried out by the courts. Campbell v. Foster, 35 N. Y. 361; Shankland's Appeal, 47 Pa. St. 113; Still v. Spear, 45 Pa. St. 168; Brown v. Williamson, 36 Pa. St. 338; White v. White, 30 Vt. 338; Hyde v. Woods, 94 U. S. 523, 24 L. ed. 264; Nichols v. Eaton, 91 U. S. 716, 23 L. ed. 254. See also Perry Trusts (5th ed.), § 386*a*; and, generally, TRUSTS.

64. Perry Trusts (5th ed.) § 386.

65. Young v. Snow, 167 Mass. 287, 45 N. E. 686; Loring v. Loring, 100 Mass. 340; Chase v. Chase, 2 Allen (Mass.) 101; Cuthbert v. Chauvet, 136 N. Y. 326, 32 N. E. 1088, 49 N. Y. St. 671, 18 L. R. A. 745; Douglas v. Cruger, 80 N. Y. 15; Graff v. Bonnett, 31 N. Y. 9, 88 Am. Dec. 236.

66. In re Baudouine, 101 Fed. 574, 41 C. C. A. 318, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 651.

Discretion of testamentary trustee.— If a will confers an absolute discretion on a trustee which he is under no obligation to exercise in favor of the beneficiary, it does not grant such an interest as will pass to the trustee in bankruptcy of such beneficiary. Nichols v. Eaton, 91 U. S. 716, 23 L. ed. 254, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 421.

67. Spindle v. Shreve, 111 U. S. 542, 4 S. Ct. 522, 28 L. ed. 512.

68. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (5).

69. New York L. Ins. Co. v. Flack, 3 Md. 341, 56 Am. Dec. 742; Bassett v. Parsons, 140 Mass. 169, 3 N. E. 547; Brigham v. Home L. Ins. Co., 131 Mass. 319; New York Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Armstrong, 117 U. S. 591, 6 S. Ct. 877, 29 L. ed. 997.

If a bankrupt's interest in an insurance policy is property which prior to the filing of the petition he could have transferred, it vests by operation of law in the trustee, unless prevented by the proviso of Bankr. Act (1898), § 70, or by its peculiar nature as a contract of life insurance. In re Slingluff, 106 Fed. 154, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76.

70. In re McDonnell, 101 Fed. 239, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 92; In re Buelow, 98 Fed. 86, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 389.

Intent of proviso.— The latter part of clause 5 of section 70 clearly declares that all insurance policies having a cash surrender value payable to the bankrupt, his estate, or his personal representatives, form part of the assets falling to the trustee, subject to the right of the bankrupt to secure to himself the future benefits thereof by paying to the trusdoes not seem to be based upon a proper construction of the provision If a policy has by its express terms no surrender value prior to the expiration of the period named therein, but has a large actual value, it passes to the trustee, subject to his determination whether he shall continue such policy in force for the benefit of the bankrupt estate.[71]

(D) Payable to Wife or Children. A policy of insurance payable to the wife, children, or other kin of the bankrupt is not a part of the assets of the bankrupt's estate.[72]

(E) Exemption Under State Statute. Where a state statute exempts a policy of life insurance from the payment of the debts of the person insured,[73] such policy does not pass to the trustee in bankruptcy of such person.[74]

tee a sum equal to the surrender value of the policy, which represents the amount which the trustee would ordinarily realize, if the policy should pass to him. It was not the intent of congress in the enactment of this clause to deprive the family of a debtor of the protection which he may have secured to them in taking out the policies for their benefit payable at his death; but it was intended to prevent debtors from availing themselves of the opportunity of making investments for their own benefit in the form of endowment policies, or policies payable to themselves, and holding the same while seeking a discharge in bankruptcy. In re Lange, 91 Fed. 361, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 189. See also Morris v. Dodd, 110 Ga. 606, 36 S. E. 83, 78 Am. St. Rep. 129, 50 L. R. A. 33, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76 note.

71. Policy having an actual value.—Where the bankrupt had at the time of his adjudication a twenty-year tontine insurance policy which had been running for eighteen years, the premiums having been paid up to such date, the policy being payable upon the expiration of the tontine period to the bankrupt or his legal representatives, or in case of his death within that period to his wife or her legal representatives, the policy also providing that previous to the completion of its tontine period it should have no surrender value in cash or in a paid-up policy, it was held that the policy in question passed to the trustee, subject to a possible future consideration as to whether or not it will be a benefit to the estate to keep the policy alive. In re Slingluff, 106 Fed. 154, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 76.

"Cash surrender value."— The term "cash surrender value" means the sum the company will pay upon the surrender and discharge of the policy; and it makes no difference whether the amount is an arbitrary one fixed by the statute, or one settled by the terms of the policy, or merely a voluntary matter on the company's part. So held in a case of a "free tontine" policy of insurance held by the bankrupt payable to himself, his executors, administrators, or assigns on the date named, or, if he should die before that time, to his mother, or otherwise to his heirs, personal representatives, or assigns, on which policy the company admitted a cash surrender value. In re Boardman, 103 Fed. 783, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 620.

72. In re Steele, 98 Fed. 78, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 549 [overruled on another point in 104 Fed. 968, 44 C. C. A. 287, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165].

Effect of assignment.— In In re Steele, 98 Fed. 78, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 549, a bankrupt, before the adoption of the Bankruptcy Act, assigned a policy of insurance payable to his executors, administrators, or assigns, to the woman to whom he was engaged and who afterward became his wife. The effect of this assignment was to make the policy payable to the wife of the assured and to take it out of the assets of the estate of such bankrupt.

Effect of payment of premiums by wife.— Where an endowment policy was issued upon the application of the bankrupt and his wife, payable fifteen years after such issue to the bankrupt, should he then be living, and in case of his death to his wife if surviving, and if not, to the bankrupt's personal representatives or assigns; and where the premiums were at first paid by the bankrupt, and afterward by his wife because of his inability, it was held that upon an adjudication of bankruptcy the wife became entitled to a contingent interest in the surrender value of the policy, and that the payments of premiums made by her created in her favor an equitable lien upon the surrender value of the policy in an amount equal to the proportion which the payments made by her bore to all the payments made upon the policy. In re Diack, 100 Fed. 770, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 723.

73. The Bankruptcy Act does not affect the allowance to bankrupts of the exemptions which are prescribed by the statutes of the state within which they reside. Bankr. Act (1898), § 6. As to Exemptions see infra, XV.

74. Steele v. Buel, 104 Fed. 968, 44 C. C. A. 287, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165 [reversing 98 Fed. 78, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 549].

Reason for rule.— The case of Steele v. Buel, 104 Fed. 968, 972, 44 C. C. A. 287, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165, arose under an Iowa statute which expressly exempts policies of life insurance from payment of the debts of the insured. The court said: "It has always been the policy of congress to exempt to debtors and bankrupts the property exempt to them by the state law. From the organization of the federal courts under the judiciary act of 1789 the law has been that creditors suing in those courts could not subject to execution property of their debtor exempt to

(v) Personal Privileges—(a) In General. There are many property rights which are, by the terms of their creation, expressly or impliedly restricted to the person originally acquiring them, or which are by an express provision made non-assignable without the consent of the other party to their creation.[75] The question of whether such rights are assignable must depend upon their nature and upon the terms of the contract upon which they are founded. If the contract calls for the exercise of personal skill or discretion it is inalienable, and would therefore not pass to the trustee in bankruptcy.[76]

(b) Liquor License. A liquor license that has a marketable value, and upon the surrender of which a sum of money can be secured, is an asset which passes to the trustee in bankruptcy, although such license is transferable only by the consent of the officer or board by whom it was issued.[77]

(c) Market License. A license to keep a city market stall is property passing him by the law of the state. . . . Confessedly the creditors, who through the trustee are now seeking to subject these policies to the payment of their debts, could not have subjected them to the payment of their debts by execution or other legal process issuing either from the state or the federal courts. The same rule has obtained under the bankrupt acts, which have sometimes increased the exemptions, notably so under the act of 1867 (U. S. Rev. Stat. § 5045) but have never lessened or diminished them. An intention on the part of congress to violate or abolish this wise and uniform rule observed from the creation of our federal system should be made to appear by clear and unmistakable language. It will not be presumed from a doubtful or ambiguous provision fairly susceptible of any other construction. If congress was going to attack the state exemptions and lessen or diminish them in any degree, the exemption of life insurance policies would be the very last exemption to be attacked. They are very generally esteemed the best and safest means by which a man of limited means, or one dependent on his daily earnings for his support, can make provision to preserve his family from suffering and want after his death. . . . The proviso [Bankr. Act (1898) § 70*a* (5)] is operative in those states only whose laws do not exempt policies of insurance, and has no application in states whose laws do exempt them. This construction removes all seeming conflict or inconsistency between section 6 and the proviso of section 70, and gives that effect to each which congress plainly intended they should have." See contra, In re Lange, 91 Fed. 361, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 189; In re Grahs, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 405. The case of In re Scheld, 104 Fed. 870, 44 C. C. A. 233, 52 L. R. A. 188, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 102, approves the opinion of Shiras, J., in In re Lange, 91 Fed. 361, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 189, and holds that a policy of life insurance payable to the bankrupt, his estate, or personal representatives, and having a cash surrender value passes to the trustee although exempt under the state law.

75. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 467.

76. Parsons Contr. pt. II, c. 12, § 9.

A franchise consisting of the right to take tolls for crossing at a bridge is property which passes to the assignee. Stewart v. Hargrove, 23 Ala. 429. Contra, People v. Duncan, 41 Cal. 507.

Property partaking of the qualities of personal privilege.— Without undertaking to make nice discriminations between what might properly be classified as property and what clearly appears to be a mere personal privilege, it is held that whatever has a money value in the hands of a trustee, so that some person may be willing to buy from him at a price, even though it partake of the qualities of a personal privilege, in the sense of not being legally assignable, passes to the trustee, except such property as is expressly exempted by law. In re May, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1.

77. In re Fisher, 98 Fed. 89, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 406, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 557 [affirmed in 103 Fed. 860, 43 C. C. A. 381, 51 L. R. A. 292, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 646].

The right to apply for renewal of a license held by a bankrupt passes to his trustee in bankruptcy, and such trustee may dispose of the same for the benefit of the bankrupt's estate. In re Brodbine, 93 Fed. 643, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 53.

The laws of Minnesota make no provision for an assignment of a liquor license, but it is the practice in that state to sell and transfer such licenses without assignment. It was held that a liquor license in the possession of a bankrupt is in some sense property; it represents the investment of a large amount of money and will be deemed to have a money value; the trustee in bankruptcy is entitled to such license and is bound to realize upon it whatever he may be able to sell it for. The question as to what title he may be able to give is for the consideration of an intending purchaser. In re May, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1.

Under the statutes of Pennsylvania a liquor license may be transferred subject to the approval of the court of quarter sessions. It was held that a license, notwithstanding such provision, is property which passes to the trustee in bankruptcy, and the bankrupt may be compelled to execute instruments necessary to confer upon the trustee the right to sell. In re Becker, 98 Fed. 407, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412.

from the bankrupt lessee to his trustee in bankruptcy, and the court will order an assignment of such license to the trustee.[78]

(D) Membership in Stock Exchange. A seat or membership in a stock exchange is property which, prior to the filing of the petition, the bankrupt might have transferred, and which therefore passes to his trustee as assets of the bankrupt estate.[79]

(VI) Property Held in Trust by Bankrupt. Under the Act of 1867 it was provided that no property held by the bankrupt in trust should pass to his assignee.[80] No such provision is contained in the present Act, but the principle stated is still applicable under the general rule that only such property passes to the trustee of the bankrupt as can be transferred by him or which might have been levied upon and sold under judicial process against him.[81]

(VII) Vested and Contingent Remainders. For the purpose of determining what constitutes a vested or a contingent remainder reference must be had to the statutes of the several states. A remainder which is transferable would, under the provisions of clause 5 of section 70 of the Bankruptcy Act, pass to the trustee. At common law a contingent remainder is inalienable, but in many of the states it is provided by statute that contingent remainders are assignable, devisable, and descendible, in the same manner as estates in possession. Under the statutes of New York where a remainder is contingent as to the person who will take, and not as to the event merely, such remainder not

78. In re Emrich, 101 Fed. 231, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 89; In re Gallagher, 16 Blatchf. (U. S.) 410, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,192, 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 224.

79. In re Page, 107 Fed. 89, 46 C. C. A. 160, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 707 [affirming 102 Fed. 746, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 467], where it appeared that a member of a stock exchange might sell his membership, provided he had no unsettled contract or claim against him by any other member of the exchange, for transactions arising in or relating to the business of banker, or stock-exchange broker. On appeal the court said: "It appears that the bankrupt had at the time of the adjudication no such unsettled contracts or claims against him, and that the value of his seat or membership amounted to a substantial sum of money. It is true that the approval of the proper authorities in the exchange was necessary to a valid transfer of the membership, and that, as such approval might or might not be withheld, this requirement might prevent a transfer to a given person. This contingency possibly affected the value of the seat for the purposes of sale, but, while restricting, did not destroy its transferability. The membership was more than a mere privilege. It was property vested in Page [the bankrupt] and transferable to any person meeting the approval of the exchange. On principle we perceive no reason why the seat of the bankrupt was not embraced in 'property which prior to the filing of the petition he could by any means have transferred.'"

Membership in a stock-exchange board is property.— In Hyde v. Woods, 94 U. S. 523, 24 L. ed. 264, it was ruled that the ownership of a seat in a stock-exchange board is property, not absolute and unqualified, but limited and restricted by the rules of the association; that such rules, in imposing the condition upon the disposition of memberships that the proceeds should be first applied to the benefit of creditor members, are not open to objection on the ground of public policy or because in violation of the Bankrupt Act; and that in the case of the bankruptcy of a member his right to a seat would pass to his assignee, and the balance of the proceeds upon sale could be recovered for the benefit of the estate. While the property is peculiar, and in its nature a personal privilege, yet such value as it may possess, notwithstanding the restrictions to which it is subject, is susceptible of being realized by creditors. Sparhawk v. Yerkes, 142 U. S. 11, 12 S. Ct. 104, 35 L. ed. 915. See also In re Werder, 15 Fed. 789; In re Warder, 10 Fed. 275; In re Ketchum, 1 Fed. 840. And contra, Weaver v. Fisher, 110 Ill. 146; Barclay v. Smith, 107 Ill. 349, 47 Am. Rep. 437; Pancoast v. Gowen, 93 Pa. St. 66; Thompson v. Adams, 93 Pa. St. 55; In re Sutherland, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 526, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,637.

80. Bankr. Act (1867), § 14.

81. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (5).

Money paid to bankrupt by mistake.— Where a bankrupt has in his possession money paid to him by mutual mistake, and demand for repayment was made promptly after the discovery of such mistake, the trustee will be ordered to pay such money to the person making such demand if it can be traced to the bank deposit standing in the bankrupt's name In re Collisi, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 625.

Where the bankrupt mingles trust funds with his own so that their identity is lost they pass to the trustee in bankruptcy, and the cestui que trust must share pari passu with the other creditors. In re Richard, 104 Fed. 792, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 700.

being vested in right or interest in the person, is inalienable while the precedent life-estate is outstanding, and will not therefore pass to the trustee as a property right.[82]

g. Rights of Action. Rights of action belonging to the bankrupt at the date of the adjudication, arising upon contracts or from the unlawful taking or deten-

82. In re Hoadley, 101 Fed. 233, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 780, where it appeared that the bankrupts were not personally named as devisees in either of the wills creating the estates which were the subjects of the claim and they could only take as members of a special and limited class of children living at the death of the life-tenants; and as the life-tenants were still living at the time of the filing of the petition it was wholly uncertain whether the bankrupts would ever be in the class of persons among whom the estates were to be divided upon the death of the beneficiaries for life.

It is a well-recognized doctrine in New York that where the testator directs a division of his estate into shares upon the termination of a life-tenancy, as a gift to his children then living, or in the case of the death of either of them then to the lawful issue of any deceased child, the intent of the testator, if nothing else indicates the contrary, will be construed to be to convey to the future beneficiaries no estate or interest of any kind until the termination of the life-estate. Clark v. Cammann, 160 N. Y. 315, 54 N. E. 709; Paget v. Melcher, 156 N. Y. 399, 51 N. E. 24; Matter of Brown, 154 N. Y. 313, 48 N. E. 537; Townshend v. Frommer, 125 N. Y. 446, 26 N. E. 805, 36 N. Y. St. 153; Delafield v. Shipman, 103 N. Y. 463, 9 N. E. 184. In such cases there is no alienable or descendible interest while the precedent life-estate is outstanding. See cases cited supra, this note, and also In re Gardner, 106 Fed. 670, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 432.

Contingent executory limitation.— Where the bankrupt's father had died bequeathing a fund in trust for the benefit of the bankrupt's mother during her lifetime, and giving to her a power of appointment by will of the corpus of the fund, and provided that upon the non-exercise of such power of appointment the corpus of said fund should go to the testator's next of kin then surviving, but not named, and where subsequent to the adjudication in bankruptcy of the bankrupt the donee of the power died, having exercised her power of appointment by bequeathing the corpus to the bankrupt, it was held that since at the time of his adjudication he had no interest in his father's estate, the property descending to him because of the subsequent death of the donee did not pass to his trustee. In re Wetmore, 102 Fed. 290, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 335 [affirmed in 108 Fed. 520, 47 C. C. A. 477, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 210]. See also In re Ehle, 109 Fed. 625, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 476.

Vested remainders.—It was held under the statutes of New York that a bequest of a specific sum to the use of one person during her lifetime and upon her death to her children, and in the event of such person dying childless to the bankrupt, constitutes during the lifetime of the life-tenant, at that time childless, an estate which is transferable and may be levied upon under judicial process, and which therefore passes to the trustee. In re St. John, 105 Fed. 234, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 190. Where the father of the bankrupt left a will giving to his wife all his real and personal estate for life, and providing that on her death the property in controversy should pass to the bankrupt, subject to the condition contained in the will, "that should any of my said children die, then, and in that case, the share so devised to such child shall be equally divided between their children then living," it was held that the bankrupt had a vested remainder which passed to his trustee. In re Shenberger, 102 Fed. 978, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 487. And where the bankrupt's father devised his estate to the bankrupt's mother for life only, vesting in her a power of sale, not for her own benefit, but for reinvestment of the principal fund, and devised the remainder to the bankrupt, such bankrupt has an absolute vested remainder in his father's estate which passes to his trustee. In re Wood, 98 Fed. 972, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 572.

Devise to surviving children.— A testator devised certain real estate situated in Pennsylvania to the mother of the bankrupt "for and during the term of her natural life and at the time of her decease to her surviving children equally share and share alike, . . . to hold to them, their heirs and assigns forever." After the death of the testator and during the lifetime of the life beneficiary, one of her children was adjudged a bankrupt. It was held that he had a vested interest in the subject of the devise, which passed to his trustee in bankruptcy. In re Twaddell, 110 Fed. 145, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 539. The determination of the question of whether the interest of the bankrupt was vested, in this case, depended upon the interpretation of the words "to her surviving children." The court said: "That the word 'surviving' in the testamentary provision in question has relation to the death of the testator; that on the happening of that event the then living children of Mrs. Twaddell acquired a vested remainder in fee as tenants in common, though liable to open and let in afterborn children; and that consequently the bankrupt had, by virtue of that provision, at and prior to the date of the adjudication, an interest and estate in the houses constituting property which prior to the filing of the petition he could have transferred and which might have been levied upon and sold under judicial process against him." The tion of or injury to his property vest in the trustee.[83] A cause of action for damages arising out of a personal wrong suffered by the bankrupt is not embraced in those rights of action which, by operation of the above provision, vest in the trustee of the bankrupt. The right to sue for a personal tort, such as slander, malicious prosecution, assault, etc., is strictly personal; it cannot be assigned, is not subject to levy and sale by judicial process, and the Act does not contemplate that the bankrupt's right to maintain an action to recover damages for such wrongs shall constitute any part of his estate in bankruptcy.[84]

G. Compensation — 1. Fees and Commissions. Trustees shall receive as full compensation for their services, payable after they are rendered, a fee of five dollars deposited with the clerk at the time of the filing of the petition in each case, except when a fee is not required from a voluntary bankrupt, and from estates which they have administered, such commissions on sums to be paid as dividends and commissions as may be allowed by the courts not to exceed three per centum on the first five thousand dollars or less, two per centum on the second five thousand dollars or part thereof, and one per centum on such sums in excess of ten thousand dollars.[85] A fee upon the filing of a petition is not required of property in question being located in the state of Pennsylvania the court based its decision upon the following Pennsylvania authorities: Ross v. Drake, 37 Pa. St. 373; Chew's Appeal, 37 Pa. St. 23; Letchworth's Appeal, 30 Pa. St. 175.

83. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (6).

84. Actions for personal injuries.— In re Haensell, 91 Fed. 355, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 286, where the question arose whether a cause of action for malicious prosecution and imprisonment of the bankrupt constitutes a part of his estate in bankruptcy. It was held that the court had no jurisdiction over such a cause of action, and that it was not necessary for the bankrupt to obtain the consent of the court to continue the prosecution thereof, although the action was pending at the time he was adjudged a bankrupt.

Actions for deceit and fraud.— A right of action for damages arising from a fraudulent and deceitful recommendation of a person as worthy of trust and confidence does not pass to an assignee. Crockett v. Jewett, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 514, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,402, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 21, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 208. But in Hyde v. Tufts, 45 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 56, where one who afterward became a bankrupt was induced by false representations to engage in a business venture in which, by reason of the false representations, he incurred great loss, it was held that the cause of action for the fraud vested in his assignee in bankruptcy.

Actions to recover usurious interest.— Under the former Act the right of a trustee to sue for the recovery of usurious interest was controverted. The weight of authority was in favor of considering the exacting of usury as an injury to a property right, and that therefore a right of action based thereon would pass as an asset of the bankrupt's estate to the trustee. Tiffany v. Boatman's Sav. Inst., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 375, 21 L. ed. 868; Wright v. Greensburg First Nat. Bank, 8 Biss. (U. S.) 243, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,078, 18 Alb. L. J. 115, 10 Chic. Leg. N. 348, 2 Nat. Bank Cas. 138, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 87, 6 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 543, 26 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 11, 6 Reporter 229; Crocker v. Chetopa First Nat. Bank, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 358, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,397, 11 Am. L. Rev. 169, 3 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 350, 3 Centr. L. J. 527, 1 Cinc. L. Bul. 350, 3 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 105, 24 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 73, 1 Thomps. Nat. Bank Cas. 317. See also Wheelock v. Lee, 64 N. Y. 242, where the court held that a trustee in bankruptcy could recover usurious interest, basing its decision upon the fact that money sought to be recovered belonged to the borrower as well after as before payment and that the right to maintain the action is allowed by law, not as a penalty against the usurer, but because the usurer never acquired any title to the money. But see contra, Bromley v. Smith, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 511, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,922, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 297, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 152, where the right of a trustee in bankruptcy to recover usurious interest was denied upon the ground that a right given by the statute was in the nature of a right to redress a personal injury done to the borrower himself, and that like rights of action for personal torts it did not pass to the trustee.

The Act of 1867 provided that all the bankrupt's rights of action for property or estate, real or personal, and for any cause which he had against any person arising from contract, or from the unlawful taking or detention of, or injury to, property of the bankrupt, shall, in view of the adjudication in bankruptcy and the appointment of his assignee but subject to the exception stated in the preceding clause, be at once vested in such assignee. The rights of action which pass to the assignee are those that are founded upon beneficial contracts made with the bankrupt where the pecuniary loss is the substantial and primary cause of action for injuries affecting his property, so far as they do not involve a claim for personal damages. Dillard v. Collins, 25 Gratt. (Va.) 343.

85. Bankr. Act (1898), § 48*a*. See also Bankr. Act (1898), § 40; In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 950, 3 Am. Bankr.

a voluntary bankrupt who makes an affidavit stating that he is without and cannot obtain the money with which to pay such fee.[86]

2. EXTRA COMPENSATION. Notwithstanding the fact that the Act fixes the fees and commissions of trustees as full compensation for their services, it has been held that where a trustee performs other services than those required by law for the benefit of the estate he may be allowed a reasonable additional fee as compensation therefor.[87]

Rep. 154, holding that Bankr. Act (1898), § 48*a*, providing that trustees in bankruptcy shall be compensated for their services by commissions not exceeding a certain percentage on the sums paid as dividends and commissions by the estates administered, is mandatory, and must be followed; and a court of bankruptcy has no authority to allow to a trustee a lumping sum in lieu of commissions calculated as the Act directs.

Payments on secured claims are not dividends upon which a trustee of a referee is entitled to a commission. In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 94 Fed. 109, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 706. But see contra, In re Gerson, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 352; In re Sabine, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 322, where the referee says: "Now, as secured creditors and creditors entitled to priority of payment are nevertheless creditors, the amounts awarded to them out 'of the net proceeds of the estate' must be dividends" upon which the trustee is entitled to a commission. And in the case of In re Coffin, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 344, the referee held that trustees are entitled to commissions not only upon the general dividends but also upon the proceeds of the property affected by lien if such property is administered in the bankruptcy court and comes into the hands of the trustee. Where a secured creditor does not invoke the aid of the court to enable him to turn his security into cash, but the court, in the exercise of its equitable power for the benefit of unsecured creditors, orders the sale of such property free of encumbrance, and assumes the protection of the equitable rights of the secured creditor in the disposition of the proceeds of the sale, it seems that the moneys coming to the secured creditor under such circumstances come into the case incidentally and are not to be regarded as any dividend and should not be charged with commissions. But where the secured creditors, in their own interest, invoke the aid of the court for the purpose of realizing upon their securities, without the expenses and delay of a foreclosure suit, the amount paid to them by virtue of such sale must be properly considered as a dividend and is therefore chargeable with commissions. In re Barber, 97 Fed. 547, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306. Compare In re Fielding, 96 Fed. 800, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 800, holding that under Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 40, 48, providing that referees and trustees in bankruptcy shall be entitled to receive commissions on "sums to be paid as dividends" by the estates administered by them, these officers are not entitled to commissions on disbursements made in payment of those creditors who are entitled, under the Act, to priority of payment, and to full satisfaction, before distribution to general creditors begins, the sums paid to these preferred creditors not being "dividends," within the meaning of the law. See also In re Utt, 105 Fed. 754, 45 C. C. A. 32, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383, holding that trustees are not entitled to commissions on sums paid to mortgagees from the proceeds of the mortgaged property on its sale by order of the court of bankruptcy, such sums not being dividends, within the meaning of the statute.

In the event of an estate being administered by three trustees instead of one trustee, or by successive trustees, the court shall apportion the fees and commissions between them according to the services actually rendered, so that there shall not be paid to trustees for the administration of any estate a greater amount than one trustee would be entitled to. Bankr. Act (1898), § 48*b*.

Where marshal was appointed an agent to make a sale of property in the hands of a sheriff under an execution levied at the time of the bankrupt's adjudication and was afterward elected trustee of the bankrupt's estate, it was held that he was not entitled to compensation for services rendered as agent of the court in addition to commissions to be allowed him as trustee. In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 950, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 154.

86. Bankr. Act (1898), § 51 (2). See also as to poverty affidavit of a voluntary bankrupt supra, III, A, 2, d.

Payment of fee by a voluntary bankrupt. — Where the fee of a trustee is not required to be paid by the debtor before the filing of the petition to be adjudged a bankrupt, the judge at any time during the pendency of the proceedings in bankruptcy may order those fees to be paid out of the estate; or may, after notice to the bankrupt and satisfactory proof that he then has or can obtain the money with which to pay the fees, order him to pay them within a time specified, and if he fails to do so may order his petition to be dismissed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 4.

Compensation to be in full. — It is provided in the General Orders that the compensation allowed to trustees by the Bankruptcy Act shall be in full compensation for the services performed by them, but shall not include expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties, and allowed upon the settlement of their accounts. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 35, par. 3.

87. In re Plummer, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 320, where the trustee continued, at the request of the creditors, to run a manufactur-

3. In Case of Removal. The court may, in its discretion, withhold all compensation from any trustee who has been removed for cause.[88]

XIII. Appraisal of Bankrupt's Estate.

All real and personal property belonging to the bankrupt's estate must be appraised by three disinterested appraisers; they must be appointed by and report to the court.[89]

XIV. Compositions.

A. Definition. A composition in bankruptcy is a contract by which creditors agree to accept a part of their demand, and to discharge the debtor from liability for the rest.[90]

B. Offer of Terms. A bankrupt may offer[91] terms of composition to his creditors[92] after, but not before,[93] he has been examined in open court or at a meeting of his creditors,[94] and filed in court the schedule of his property[95] and ing plant, to buy new material, to make necessary repairs to machinery, and to give his personal attention to the business with a profit to the creditors, he thus performs extra services for the beneficiaries of the trust for which he should be allowed a reasonable compensation.

Compensation of trustee who acts as counsel.— If professional services necessary to the proper administration of the estate have been rendered by a trustee in person he is entitled to such reasonable fees as he would have been obliged to pay had he employed other competent counsel. Perkins' Appeal, 108 Pa. St. 314, 56 Am. Rep. 208; In re Mitchell, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 687.

88. Bankr. Act (1898), § 48*c*.

89. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*b*.

Form of appointment of appraisers is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 13; 89 Fed. xxxiv.

Form of oath of appraisers is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 13; 89 Fed. xxxiv.

Form of report of appraisers is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 13; 89 Fed. xxxiv.

90. Anderson L. Dict.

Another definition is "an arrangement between a bankrupt and his creditors whereby the amount he can be expected to pay is liquidated, and he is allowed to retain his assets, upon condition of his making the payments agreed upon." Black L. Dict.

Such agreements are enforceable independent of any statutory provision. The beneficial consideration to each creditor in such an agreement is the engagement on the part of all the other creditors to forbear in the enforcement of the full amount of their several claims. Blair v. Wait, 69 N. Y. 113; Williams v. Carrington, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 515; Way v. Langley, 15 Ohio St. 392; Good v. Cheesman, 2 B. & Ad. 328, 22 E. C. L. 142. See, generally, Compositions With Creditors.

91. In England the statute of 6 Geo. IV, c. 16, first introduced the principle of deeds of arrangement, whereby the property of an insolvent trader was made applicable for the common benefit of his creditors, without his going through proceedings in bankruptcy. In re Reiman, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 455, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,673, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 21.

In the United States the Bankruptcy Acts of 1800 and 1841 contained no such provisions. The Act of June 22, 1874, c. 390, § 17; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5103, amended the Act of 1867 and permitted a composition by a debtor with his creditors after the commencement of bankruptcy proceedings against him. In re Adler, 103 Fed. 444, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 583; In re Reiman, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 455, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,673, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 21; In re Scott, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,519, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 73, 4 Centr. L. J. 29.

The constitutionality of the provision as to compositions in the Act of 1874 was questioned upon the theory that the subject of bankruptcy does not properly include a composition agreement; but the validity of the provision was sustained. In re Chamberlin, 9 Ben. (U. S.) 149, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,580, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 49; In re Reiman, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 455, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,673, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 21 [affirmed in 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 562, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,675, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 128].

92. The composition must be offered to all the creditors of the bankrupt whether they have proved their claims or not; but in order to qualify themselves to vote upon the question as to the acceptance of the composition they are required to prove their claims. In re Rider, 96 Fed. 808, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178.

Form of petition for a meeting to consider an offer of composition is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 60; 89 Fed. lviii.

93. Under the Act of 1874 (U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5103), a composition could be offered by a bankrupt after proceedings had been commenced and either before or after adjudication.

94. A submission of the bankrupt's offer of composition to the creditors at their first meeting, after an examination of the bankrupt, is competent and sufficient. In re Hilborn, 104 Fed. 866, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 741.

95. See supra, VI, A, 1, b.

list of his creditors,[96] required by the Bankruptcy Act of 1898 to be filed by bankrupts.[97]

C. Confirmation — 1. In General. Courts of bankruptcy have power to confirm or reject compositions between debtors and their creditors.[98]

2. Consent of Creditors. An application for the confirmation of a composition may be filed in a court of bankruptcy after, but not before, it has been accepted in writing by a majority in number of all creditors whose claims have been allowed,[99] which number must represent a majority in amount of such claims, and the consideration to be paid by the bankrupt to his creditors, and the money necessary to pay all debts which have priority and the cost of the proceedings[1] have been deposited in such place as shall be designated by and subject to the order of the judge.[2]

3. When Ordered. The judge must confirm a composition, if satisfied that it is for the best interests of the creditors;[3] that the bankrupt has not been guilty

96. See supra, VI, A, 1, b.

97. Bankr. Act (1898), § 12*a*.

Construction.— The provision enabling a debtor to compromise his claims with the creditors by a composition agreement is in derogation of a common right and should therefore be strictly construed. In re Rider, 96 Fed. 808, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178. See also In re Shields, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 588, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,784, 4 Centr. L. J. 557, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 532, 24 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 190.

98. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (9). See also supra, II, B, 7; III, D, 3, c, (II).

After the consent of the creditors has been obtained and a deposit has been made by the bankrupt, the bankrupt makes a petition to a court of bankruptcy, praying for the confirmation of the composition. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 61; 89 Fed. lix. Such petition is filed with the clerk, and the creditors are entitled to at least ten days' notice by mail of the hearing upon such application. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*a* (2). The court may in its discretion direct that such notice be published. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*b*.

Applications for the approval of a composition must be heard and decided by the district judge, although such judge may refer the application or any issue arising thereon to a referee to ascertain and report the facts. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, par. 3.

Form of application for confirmation of composition is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 61; 89 Fed. lix.

Form of order confirming composition is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 62; 89 Fed. lix.

99. A composition is only permitted when sanctioned by a majority in number and amount of the creditors whose claims have been allowed, after due notice to them of the bankrupt's proposition. In re Rider, 96 Fed. 808, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178.

Opposition to confirmation of a composition shall be made by the creditors on the day required in the order to show cause, and such opposing creditors shall file specifications in writing of the grounds of their opposition within ten days thereafter, unless the same shall be enlarged by special order of the judge. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 32. Specifications in opposition must be similar to specifications in opposition to a discharge (see infra, XIX, C, 3) which should show fraud on his part. Dallas City Nat. Bank v. Doolittle, 107 Fed. 236, 46 C. C. A. 258, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 736.

Withdrawal of consent.— When creditors have once accepted a composition they will not be allowed to withdraw their consent thereto in the absence of fraud or misrepresentation. In re Levy, 110 Fed. 744, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 299.

1. The deposits required of bankrupts in composition cases must be sufficient to cover, in addition to costs, prior claims and expenses, the named percentage not only on all claims filed before composition, but also on all other claims listed by the bankrupts in their original schedules. Matter of Fox, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 525. See also In re Rider, 96 Fed. 808, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 178.

2. Bankr. Act (1898), § 12*b*.

Manner of obtaining consent.— The Act makes no special provision in regard to the method in which the consent of creditors may be obtained. Under the Act of 1874 (U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5103), a meeting of the creditors was first required to be held. The consent need not have been obtained at a meeting. The debtor might procure it within any reasonable time thereafter. In re Spillman, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,242, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 140, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 214, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 87; In re Scott, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,519, 4 Centr. L. J. 29, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 73. It has been held under the present Act that the calling of a special meeting of creditors to receive an offer of composition is not required. In re Hilborn, 104 Fed. 866, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 741.

3. Bankr. Act (1898), § 12*d* (1).

It should be made to appear that the amount offered will at least equal the amount that the creditors would receive, if the proceedings were allowed to continue. Adler v. Jones, 109 Fed. 967, 48 C. C. A. 761, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 245. A gross discrepancy between the amount offered and the probable value of the assets would make it the duty of the court to refuse to confirm the composition. In re Reiman, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 455, of any of the acts or failed to perform any of the duties which would be a bar to his discharge;[4] and the offer and its acceptance are in good faith and have not been made or procured except as provided in the Act, or by any means, promises, or acts forbidden therein.[5]

4. Appeal. An appeal lies to the circuit court of appeals from an order of the district court refusing a confirmation of a composition.[6]

D. Setting Aside. The judge may upon the application of parties in interest filed at any time within six months after a composition has been confirmed set the same aside and reinstate the case, if it shall be made to appear upon a trial that fraud[7] was practised in the procuring of such composition, and that the 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,673, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 21; In re Whipple, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 404, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,513, 11 Nat. Bankr. 524. But the mere fact that there is a discrepancy between the estimated value of the assets as appearing in the schedules and the terms of composition offered, even if the discrepancy is so great as to make the composition appear unreasonable, does not justify the court in refusing absolutely to confirm. In re Weber Furniture Co., 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,331, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 559 [reversing 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,330, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 529].

Whether it be to the interests of creditors to confirm a composition is a question of fact to be determined by the court after ascertaining, from all material circumstances, the reasonableness and good faith of the offer. In re Adler, 103 Fed. 444, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 583. See also Ross v. Saunders, 105 Fed. 915, 45 C. C. A. 123, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 350. If the offer is adequate in view of the aggregate value of the assets it should be confirmed. In re Whipple, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 404, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,513, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 524. See also Ex p. Jewett, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 393, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,303, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 443, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 170; In re Haskell, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,192, 1 Am. L. T. N. S. 182, 1 Centr. L. J. 531, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 164.

Burden of proof.— When the only opposition to the confirmation of a composition is that it was not for the best interests of the creditors, the burden of proof rests upon those attacking such composition in showing it to be erroneous. Adler v. Jones, 109 Fed. 967, 48 C. C. A. 761, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 245; Dallas City Nat. Bank v. Doolittle, 107 Fed. 236, 46 C. C. A. 258, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 736.

4. Bankr. Act (1898), § 12*d* (2).

As to acts barring discharge see infra, XIX, D.

Where the bankrupts' failure to keep proper books of account was not shown to have been with a fraudulent intent to conceal their true financial condition, or in contemplation of bankruptcy, such failure and proof that their business methods had been loose were insufficient to prevent the confirmation of a composition between the bankrupts and their creditors which was for their best interests. In re Wilson, 107 Fed. 83, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 849.

5. Bankr. Act (1898), § 12*d* (3).

Any act on the part of the debtor or any of his creditors amounting to fraud will vitiate the composition. Fairbanks v. Amoskeag Nat. Bank, 38 Fed. 630; In re Sawyer, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 475, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,395, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 241; In re Whitney, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 455, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,580, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 195, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 1. Any secret advantage given to one creditor for the purpose of inducing him to consent will also be sufficient. In re Bennett, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 561, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,312; Bullene v. Blain, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 22, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,124; Bean v. Brookmire, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 108, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,170, 2 Am. L. Rec. 222, 6 Am. L. T. Rep. 418, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 314, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 568, 7 West. Jur. 324. See also Dexter v. Snow, 12 Cush. (Mass.) 594, 59 Am. Dec. 206; Bean v. Amsinck, 10 Blatchf. (U. S.) 361, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,167, 12 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 379, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 228; In re Shine, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,788; In re Jacobs, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,159, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 48; Hall v. Dyson, 17 Q. B. 785, 21 L. J. Q. B. 224, 79 E. C. L. 785; Knight v. Hunt, 5 Bing. 432, 7 L. J. C. P. O. S. 165, 3 M. & P. 18, 30 Rev. Rep. 692, 15 E. C. L. 656; Atkinson v. Denby, 6 H. & N. 778.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 587.

The mere omission of assets without fraudulent intention does not imply bad faith and will not affect its validity. In re Reiman, 7 Ben. (U. S.) 455, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,673, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 21 [affirmed in 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 562, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,675, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 128]; In re Scott, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,519, 4 Centr. L. J. 29, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 73.

Form of order confirming composition is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 62; 89 Fed. lix.

6. U. S. v. Hammond, 104 Fed. 862, 44 C. C. A. 229, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 736 [reversing In re Adler, 103 Fed. 444, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 583]. See also Adler v. Jones, 109 Fed. 967, 48 C. C. A. 761, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 245; and supra, II, D, 1.

Where no objecting creditors have appeared opposing the confirmation, but the trustee appeared in opposition and confirmation was refused, the appeal of the bankrupt will be dismissed. Ross v. Saunders, 105 Fed. 915, 45 C. C. A. 123, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 350.

7. Fraud is the only ground upon which a composition can be set aside. In re Rudknowledge thereof has come to the petitioners since the confirmation of such composition.[8]

E. Operation and Effect. The confirmation of a composition shall discharge the bankrupt from his debts, other than those agreed to be paid by the terms of the composition and those not affected by a discharge.[9]

XV. EXEMPTIONS.

A. Right to Exemptions[10] — 1. In General. The Bankruptcy Act does not affect the allowance to bankrupts of the exemptions which are prescribed by the state laws[11] in force at the time of the filing of the petition in the state wherein they have had their domicile for the six months, or the greater portion thereof, immediately preceding the filing of the petition.[12] wick, 93 Fed. 787, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 114, holding that where there has been a composition in a bankruptcy proceeding it will not be set aside on the ground that a creditor has failed to get notice of the proceedings because his address was by mistake incorrectly given in the bankrupt's schedules.

8. Bankr. Act (1898), § 13*a*.

9. Bankr. Act (1898), § 14*c*.

As to debts not affected by discharge see infra, XIX, E.

Distribution.— Upon the confirmation of a composition the consideration shall be distributed as the judge shall direct and the case dismissed. Whenever a composition is not confirmed the estate shall be administered in bankruptcy as provided in the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 12*e*.

Form of order of distribution is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 63; 89 Fed. lx.

Revestment of title.— Upon the confirmation of a composition offered by a bankrupt the title to his property shall thereupon revest in him. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*f*.

10. As to what is exempt see EXEMPTIONS.

11. In determining the application of state laws, courts of bankruptcy are to be guided by the decisions of the courts of the states as to the meaning and construction of their exemption laws. In re White, 109 Fed. 635, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 451; Richardson v. Woodward, 104 Fed. 873, 44 C. C. A. 235, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94; In re Woodard, 95 Fed. 955, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 692; Goodall v. Tuttle, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 219, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,533, 5 Am. L. T. Rep. U. S. Cts. 240, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 193, 7 West. Jur. 32. Where there is no construction of a state law, or there is a conflict of authority in respect thereto, courts of bankruptcy will give such law a construction to carry out the purport and intention of the act of congress. Richardson v. Woodward, 104 Fed. 873, 44 C. C. A. 235, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94; In re Beauchamp, 101 Fed. 106, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 151; In re Camp, 91 Fed. 745, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165; In re Ogilvie, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 374. Reference should also be had to the decisions of the courts of the state in which the bankrupt resides to determine the question as to whether a bankrupt who has fraudulently conveyed his property prior to filing his petition can claim his exemption from the property after the transfer has been set aside in an action brought by the trustee. In re White, 109 Fed. 635, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 451; In re Tollett, 106 Fed. 866, 46 C. C. A. 11, 54 L. R. A. 222, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 404 [reversing 105 Fed. 425, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 305]. Under the former Bankruptcy Acts it was held that a bankrupt could not claim any exemption in property conveyed by him prior to the commencement of proceedings in bankruptcy in fraud of his creditors and afterward recovered to the estate. In re Graham, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 449, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,660, 4 Alb. L. J. 49; In re Dillard, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 190, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,912, 6 Am. L. T. Rep. 490, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 8, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 82; Keating v. Keefer, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,635, 4 Am. L. T. 162, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 266, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 133; In re Everitt, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,579, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 90. But see contra, McFarland v. Goodman, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 111, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,789, 3 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 697, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 134; Bartholomew v. West, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 290, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,071, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 12, 7 West. Jur. 441; Cox v. Wilder, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 45, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,308, 5 Am. L. T. Rep. U. S. Cts. 500, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 241; Penny v. Taylor, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,957, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 200; In re Detert, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,829, 14 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 166, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 130, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 293.

Exemption laws are to be liberally construed to accomplish the purpose of the exemption. In re Tilden, 91 Fed. 500, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300. See also Steele v. Buel, 104 Fed. 968, 44 C. C. A. 287, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165.

12. Bankr. Act (1898), § 6*a*.

Bankr. Act (1867), § 14, specified in detail certain articles to be exempt, and provided that such other property "as now is, or hereafter shall be, exempted from attachment, or seizure, or levy on execution by the laws of the United States, and such other property not included in the foregoing exceptions as is exempted from levy and sale upon execution or other process or order of any court by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt has his domicile at the time of the commencement of the proceedings in bankruptcy, to an amount allowed by the consti-

2. NATURE OF RIGHT. The right of exemption is a personal privilege granted to the bankrupt which he can exercise or waive,[13] and unless otherwise provided by statute[14] it cannot be exercised by any other person.[15] The bankrupt must include in the schedule of his property a claim for such exemptions as he may be entitled to.[16] He must also be able to show a clear title to it under the requirements of the state statutes.[17] The fact that he has failed to account for all his assets and is in possession of portions thereof which were not turned over to the trustee is no reason, however, why he should be deprived of his exemptions.[18]

3. PARTNERSHIP CASES. The authorities are in conflict as to the right of a partner to be allowed exemptions out of the partnership assets. According to some decisions an individual member of a firm is not entitled to a separate exemption out of the undivided partnership estate.[19] Other decisions are to the effect that tution and laws of each State" should be excepted from the operation of the conveyance to the assignee.

Constitutionality.— It was contended under the Act of 1867 that the clause allowing exemptions to be regulated by the laws of the several states occasioned a lack of uniformity in the bankruptcy law, and that therefore it did not comply with the constitutional provision requiring uniformity of bankruptcy legislation (U. S. Const. art. I, § 8). It was settled, however, that the Act was not unconstitutional for lack of uniformity because of such provision. Darling v. Berry, 13 Fed. 659; In re Beckerford, 1 Dill. (U. S.) 45, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,209, 10 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 57, 4 Am. L. T. 14, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 241, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 203; In re Kean, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 322, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,630, 2 Am. L. Rec. 230, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 367, 2 South. L. Rev. 725; In re Jordan, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,514, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 296, 5 Leg. Op. (Pa.) 169, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 180. But see contra, Bush v. Lester, 55 Ga. 579, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 36; In re Deckert, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 183, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,728, 3 Am. L. Rec. 96, 13 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 624, 8 Am. L. Rev. 786, 1 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 336, 1 Centr. L. J. 316, 320, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 310, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 1; In re Duerson, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,117, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 183.

13. As to waiver of exemption see infra, XV, D.

14. Under the laws of some states the wife or children may claim the benefit of the exemption in the absence or disability of the bankrupt. Smith v. Kehr, 2 Dill. (U. S.) 56, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,071, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 97, 6 West. Jur. 451 [affirmed in 20 Wall. (U. S.) 31, 22 L. ed. 313]; In re Pratt, 1 Flipp. (U. S.) 353, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,370, 1 Centr. L. J. 290.

15. In re Schuller, 108 Fed. 591, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 278; In re Bolinger, 108 Fed. 374, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 171; In re Black, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 776.

A mortgagee of exempt property cannot assert it unless the exemption is waived in the mortgage. Edmondson v. Hyde, 2 Sawy. (U. S.) 205, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,285, 5 Am. L. T. Rep. U. S. Cts. 380, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 1.

16. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (8).

An intentional failure to include such claim may be deemed a waiver. In re Munn, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 664, in which the referee refused to permit a bankrupt to amend his schedules by inserting therein a claim for exemptions, which it appeared he had omitted for the purpose of deceiving his creditors.

The right of a bankrupt to amend his schedules, where he shows an honest intention to claim the benefit of the homestead exemption for himself or his family, cannot be questioned. But there must be a real, a substantial, claim to property that can be set apart under the provisions of the homestead law, and which the bankrupt as a householder or head of a family is entitled to hold exempt from levy, seizure, or sale under any execution, order, or other process. In re Moran, 105 Fed. 901, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472. See also In re Kean, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 322, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,630, 2 Am. L. Rec. 230, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 367, 2 South. L. Rev. 725.

Pension money in the hands of the bankrupt at the time of filing his petition should be included in the schedules as money on hand, with a statement of the exemption. In re Bean, 100 Fed. 262, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 53.

17. In re Tobias, 103 Fed. 68, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555.

The burden of showing that an article alleged to be exempt is within the provisions of the statute rests upon the bankrupt. Gay v. Southworth, 113 Mass. 333; In re Wilson, 108 Fed. 197, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 287; In re Turnbull, 106 Fed. 667, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 549.

18. In re Park, 102 Fed. 602, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 432; In re Rothschild, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 43. But see In re Waxelbaum, 101 Fed. 228, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 120, holding under a statute of Georgia that a bankrupt claiming exemptions must make a full and fair disclosure of all his property, and he forfeits his claim where he has been guilty of fraud in withholding assets.

19. In re Beauchamp, 101 Fed. 106, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 151; In re Lentz, 97 Fed. 486; In re Hughes, 8 Biss. (U. S.) 107, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,842, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 464; In re Handlin, 3 Dill. (U. S.) 290, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,018, 2 Centr. L. J. 264, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 49; In re Tonne, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,095, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 170, 1 N. Y.

the exemption rights of the individual members are superior to the rights of general creditors of the partnership and should be recognized before the payment of partnership debts.[20]

B. Jurisdiction to Determine. Bankruptcy courts may determine the rights of the bankrupt to the exemptions claimed, the kinds of property and the value and amount to be exempted, and whether the trustee properly set apart such exemption.[21] They cannot direct a sale of the exempted property or enforce a mortgage or other lien against it.[22]

C. Duty of Trustee to Set Apart. It is the duty of the trustee[23] to set Wkly. Dig. 437; In re Stewart, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,420, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 295, 2 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 3; In re Hafer, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,896, 25 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 148, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 547, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 389; In re Boothroyd, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,652, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 223. But a bankrupt is entitled to exemptions out of merchandise in a store conducted in the name of a partnership, but which is shown to have been in fact owned by him exclusively for some years prior to his bankruptcy. In re Meriwether, 107 Fed. 102, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 434.

Partnership assets are a trust fund for the payment of the creditors of the firm, and an exemption cannot be set apart from them to the individual partners until the partnership debts are paid. In re Demarest, 110 Fed. 638, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 232; In re Croft, 8 Biss. (U. S.) 188, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,404, 6 Am. L. Rec. 597, 10 Chic. Leg. N. 204, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 324, 6 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 218; In re Price, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,410, 1 Md. L. Rec. 236, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 400.

20. In re Camp, 91 Fed. 745, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165 [citing Hahn v. Allen, 93 Ga. 612, 20 S. E. 74; Blanchard v. Paschal, 68 Ga. 32, 45 Am. Rep. 474; Harris v. Visscher, 57 Ga. 229]; In re Young, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,148, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 440; In re Richardson, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,776, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 62, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 114.

The North Carolina rule is in favor of permitting exemptions from partnership assets. In re Wilson, 101 Fed. 571, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 260; In re Duguid, 100 Fed. 274, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 794; In re Grimes, 94 Fed. 800, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 160; In re Stevenson, 93 Fed. 789, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 230. It must appear, however, that the members of the firm have no individual personal property exemption exclusive of firm assets; if they have such exemption it cannot be allowed from the firm assets. In re Steed, 107 Fed. 682, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 73.

The Wisconsin rule is to permit individual members of a partnership, with the consent of each other, to claim and receive from the partnership property the exemptions allowed them by law if they have no individual property from which the exemptions may be secured. In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 556 [citing O'Gorman v. Fink, 57 Wis. 649, 15 N. W. 771, 46 Am. Rep. 58]. Copartners in trade may sever their joint interest in the partnership property by common consent so as to permit each of them to claim therefrom the amount allowed by law as an exemption to a trader. In re Friedrich, 100 Fed. 284, 40 C. C. A. 378, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 801.

21. In re Black, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 776; In re White, 103 Fed. 774, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 613; In re Ogilvie, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 374. See also In re Mayer, 108 Fed. 599, 47 C. C. A. 512, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 117. See also supra, II, B, 9.

Review of determination as to exemptions. — Upon the question of whether or not a certain chattel is exempt property, before the court can review a determination on the question it is necessary that a trustee be appointed and that he set aside the bankrupt's exemptions. Then if creditors except to the determination the referee must certify the controversy to the judge for determination upon a hearing before him upon the exceptions to the trustee's action. The court will not review a finding or order of the referee that property is not exempt unless a trustee has been appointed and has set apart the bankrupt's exemptions. In re Smith, 93 Fed. 791, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 190.

22. In re Hatch, 102 Fed. 280, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 349.

Enforcement of vendor's lien. — Prior to bankruptcy creditors sold to the bankrupt goods which at the time of bankruptcy were not paid for and which, still in unbroken packages, were set aside by the trustee at the request of the bankrupt as exempt. It was held upon exception by vendors that the title to such property had vested in the bankrupt; that the trustee had no discretion save to set aside such goods as exempt; and that the vendor's lien, if it existed, must be asserted in the state court. In re Wells, 105 Fed. 762, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 308.

Waiver of exemptions. — A court of bankruptcy has no jurisdiction to determine the rights of creditors in whose favor a waiver of the right of exemption has been made by the bankrupt. Woodruff v. Cheeves, 105 Fed. 601, 44 C. C. A. 631, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296 [reversing 96 Fed. 317, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 678]; In re Black, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 776; In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730; In re Hill, 96 Fed. 185, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 798; In re Camp, 91 Fed. 745, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165; In re Ogilvie, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 374. Contra, In re Sisler, 96 Fed. 402, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 760. Compare In re Garden, 93 Fed. 423, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 582.

23. The duty cannot be performed by any other person. — It is wholly and entirely the apart the bankrupt's exemptions and report the items and estimated value[24] thereof to the court as soon as practicable[25] after his appointment.[26]

D. Waiver — 1. In General. It is a generally recognized doctrine that an exemption may be waived by the debtor, by contract,[27] surrender, or neglect to claim it.[28] A debtor may also waive his exemption in favor of one creditor and insist upon it as against another.[29]

2. Effect of Waiver. If there be a waiver the property which might have been covered by the exemption becomes a part of the bankrupt estate.[30] duty of the trustee. Any agreement on the part of the bankrupt or his creditors that the exemptions shall be allotted in any other manner than that prescribed by the bankruptcy law, or through any other channel than as prescribed by the Act, is a nullity. In re Friedrich, 100 Fed. 284, 40 C. C. A. 378, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 801; In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730.

24. The trustee is required upon entering upon his duties to prepare a complete inventory of all the property of the bankrupt that comes into his possession. He must make report to the court within twenty days after receiving notice of his appointment of the articles set off to the bankrupt by him, with the estimated value of each article, and any creditor may take exceptions to the determinations of the trustee within twenty days after the filing of the report. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 17. The trustee's action in setting apart exemptions is not final, and the twenty days allowed for exceptions to such action applies to creditors and not to the bankrupt. In re White, 103 Fed. 774, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 613. See also supra, XII, D, 10.

Appraisers need not be appointed to value exemptions to be set apart to the bankrupt, where the exemptions exceed the amount of assets; but where the assets are in excess of exemptions all the property of the bankrupt should be appraised. In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730. See also supra, XIII.

In valuing and setting apart a homestead exemption a trustee in bankruptcy should conform as nearly as may be to the method provided by the state law for that purpose. In re McCutchen, 100 Fed. 779, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 81.

25. Exemptions must be set aside by the trustee as soon as possible after his appointment, without awaiting a determination by the state courts as to such exemptions. In re Camp, 91 Fed. 745, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165.

26. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (11); In re Hopkins, 103 Fed. 781, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 619.

The trustee has no title to exempt property.— The title remains in the bankrupt, and the trustee can exercise no right and owes no duty concerning exempt property other than to set it apart to the bankrupt. In re Black, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 776; In re Hatch, 102 Fed. 280, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 349; In re Hill, 96 Fed. 185, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 798; In re Camp, 91 Fed. 745, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165; In re Bass, 3 Woods (U. S.) 382, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,091, 9 Chic. Leg. N. 303, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 453; In re Hester, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,437, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 285. But as to property which might be exempt but of which the exemption has been waived the trustee has a modified title as great as that of creditors in favor of whom the exemptions have been waived. In re Sisler, 96 Fed. 402, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 760. But see Woodruff v. Cheeves, 105 Fed. 601, 44 C. C. A. 631, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296.

27. The statutes of some states provide for the waiver of exemptions by bonds, notes, or other instruments. Ala. Code (1896), § 2104; Va. Code (1887), § 3647; In re Sisler, 96 Fed. 402, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 760; In re Garden, 93 Fed. 423, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 582. A mere waiver does not in itself create any lien on the exempt property. In re Hopkins, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 209. It does not constitute a waiver of the right to have the exempted property set apart in bankruptcy proceedings. In re Hill, 96 Fed. 185, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 798. And a waiver contained in a note is ineffectual unless reduced to judgment. In re Brown, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 256.

If the contract right of exemption waiver has never been enforced the bankrupt's right to the statutory exemption is not affected. In re Black, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 776.

28. In re Black, 104 Fed. 289, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 776; In re Solomon, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 164, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,166, 3 Am. L. Rec. 226, 1 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 351, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 9. See also Exemptions.

Agreement for sale by trustee.—The bankrupt does not surrender his right to an exemption by agreeing to a sale of the exempt property by the trustee. In re Browne, 104 Fed. 762, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 46; In re Park, 102 Fed. 602, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 432; In re Lynch, 101 Fed. 579, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 262; In re Richard, 94 Fed. 633, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 506. And the fact that the bankrupt prior to bankruptcy made no protest or claim of exemption against the sale on execution of exempt property does not prevent him, when the judgment, sale, and execution are set aside and the property surrendered to the trustee, from claiming such exemption. In re Osborn, 104 Fed. 780, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 111.

29. In re Osborn, 104 Fed. 780, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 111; In re Camp, 91 Fed. 745, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165.

30. In re Bolinger, 108 Fed. 374, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 171.

E. Liability of Exempt Property For Fees. Money in the hands of the bankrupt which is exempt may be subjected to an order for the payment of the statutory fees which are primarily for services for the benefit of the bankrupt, and do not depend upon property not exempt, but upon absolute inability.[31]

F. Sale of Exempt Property. The bankrupt may consent to the sale of exempt property, in which case the proceeds thereof shall be paid to him.[32]

XVI. FRAUDULENT TRANSFERS, LIENS, AND PREFERENCES.

A. Fraudulent Transfers. All conveyances, transfers, assignments, or encumbrances of the property of a bankrupt, or any part thereof, made or given by such person adjudged a bankrupt under the provisions of the Act subsequent to the passage thereof and within four months prior to the filing of the petition, with the intent and purpose on his part to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, or any of them, are null and void as against the creditors of such debtor, except as to purchasers in good faith and for a present fair consideration; and all property of the debtor conveyed, transferred, assigned, or encumbered as aforesaid, if he be adjudged a bankrupt, and the same is not exempt from execution and liability for debts by the law of his domicile are, and must remain, a part of the assets of the bankrupt estate, and pass to his trustee, whose duty it is to recover and reclaim the same by legal proceedings or otherwise for the benefit of creditors. And all conveyances, transfers, or encumbrances of his property made by a debtor at any time within four months prior to the filing of the petition against him, and while insolvent, which are held null and void as against the creditors of such debtor by the laws of the state, territory, or district in which such property is situate, are to be deemed null and void against such creditors of the debtor if he be adjudged a bankrupt, and such property will pass to the assignee and be by him reclaimed and recovered for the benefit of the creditors of the bankrupt.[33]

31. In re Bean, 100 Fed. 262, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 53. See also In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730, holding that if the trustee has no cash in hand with which to pay storage charges to a landlord whose property he has occupied for the storage of the bankrupt's goods, he may be ordered to sell sufficient personal property for that purpose; and this will take precedence of the bankrupt's claim to have his exemptions set apart out of such personalty.

A claim for unpaid taxes is a debt which is to be paid in full out of the assets of the bankrupt estate, and although such taxes are upon exempt property they may be paid out of the proceeds of other property in the hands of the trustee. In re Tilden, 91 Fed. 500, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300; In re Baker, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 526.

32. In re Richard, 94 Fed. 633, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 506.

Sale of homestead.— Where there is a dispute between the trustee and the bankrupt as to the value of the property claimed by the bankrupt as a homestead exemption, the practical method for the determination of the dispute is to order the property sold and the trustee to set apart to the bankrupt the amount of the statutory exemption. In re Lynch, 101 Fed. 579, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 262. See also In re Hopkins, 103 Fed. 781, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 619; In re Oderkirk, 103 Fed. 779, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 617.

Where exempt property is sold by the bankrupt between the time of filing his petition in bankruptcy and the appointment of the trustee the bankrupt is entitled to his exemption in the proceeds of the sale. In re Wilson, 108 Fed. 197, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 287.

When property is incapable of division without injury, and it appears that all parties, including the bankrupt, would be benefited by a sale of the property as a whole, the referee may direct the trustee to sell the whole property and pay to the bankrupt the cash value of his exemption. In re Woodard, 95 Fed. 955, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 692. But see In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730.

33. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*e*.

As to fraudulent transfer as act of bankruptcy see supra, V, B, 3.

History of provision.— "Neither the Torrey Bill nor the Henderson Bill, commonly known as the House Bill in the Fifty-fifth Congress, contained any clause like section 67*e* of the present act. Each of these bills, however, contained a clause which is now found in section 70*e* of the law. It seems, therefore, to have been the opinion of the framers of those bills that the latter clause was sufficient, especially as in every state in the Union there is a statute making transfers and conveyances which are made in fraud of creditors absolutely void. The Senate Bill, commonly known as the Nelson Bill, in the Fifty-fifth Congress, section 7, contains a clause which is similar to the present section 67*e*. It is well known that the two bills were fused in the Conference Committee, and it would seem, from an examination of section 7, supra, and section 67*e* of the present law, that, in the fusing process, the former was inserted as a harmless addition. It probably gives no rights not already given by State statutes." Per Hotchkiss, Referee, in In re Phelps, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 396, 401.

B. Liens — 1. Liens Enforceable — a. In General. Liens given or accepted in good faith — and not in contemplation of or in fraud upon the Bankruptcy Act and for a present consideration — which have been recorded according to law, if record thereof was necessary in order to impart notice, are not affected by the Act.[34] Claims which, for want of record or for other reasons, would not have been valid liens as against the claims of the creditors of the bankrupt, are not liens against his estate.[35]

The provision refers to fraudulent transfers made with the intent on the part of the bankrupt to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors. Under it the trustee can only set aside such fraudulent transfers as were made within the four months' period. In re Gray, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 554, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 618, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 647; In re Steininger Mercantile Co., 107 Fed. 669, 46 C. C. A. 548, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 68; In re Teague, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 168; In re Adams, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 94. The facts and circumstances must be such as to show an intent on the part of the insolvent debtor to hinder or defraud his creditors. In re McLam, 97 Fed. 922, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 245; In re Jacobs, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 518. If such intent does not exist the transfer is valid. It is not intended by the Act to prevent legitimate sales and transfers of property. Tiffany v. Lucas, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 410, 21 L. ed. 198. For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 247.

A voluntary assignment, though untainted with any fraudulent purpose, is nevertheless, when made within four months of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, as a matter of law a constructive fraud upon the Act and is voidable by the trustee. Matter of Gray, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 554, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 618, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 647. See also George M. West Co. v. Lea, 174 U. S. 590, 19 S. Ct. 836, 43 L. ed. 1098, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 463; In re Romanow, 92 Fed. 510, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 461; Davis v. Bohle, 92 Fed. 325, 34 C. C. A. 372, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 412; In re Curtis, 91 Fed. 737, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 440; In re Gutwillig, 90 Fed. 475, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 78 [affirmed in 92 Fed. 337, 63 U. S. App. 191, 34 C. C. A. 377, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 388]. For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 283.

As to voluntary assignment as act of bankruptcy see supra, V, B, 4.

The words "conveyance, transfer, assignment or encumbrance" apply to a transfer of property real or personal rather than to a payment of money upon a preëxisting debt. Blakey v. Boonville Nat. Bank, 95 Fed. 267, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 459.

34. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*d*; In re Georgia Handle Co., 109 Fed. 632, 48 C. C. A. 571, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472; In re Gormully, etc., Co., 102 Fed. 1002, 43 C. C. A. 89.

As to liens dissolved or annulled by adjudication see infra, XVI, B, 2.

As to effect on lien of discharge see infra, XIX, E, 8.

The trustee takes title to the property of the bankrupt subject to all subsisting and valid liens, encumbrances, or equities, whether created by operation of law or by the act of the bankrupt. Yeatman v. New Orleans Sav. Inst., 95 U. S. 764, 24 L. ed. 589; Jerome v. McCarter, 94 U. S. 734, 24 L. ed. 136; Donaldson v. Farwell, 93 U. S. 631, 23 L. ed. 993; Cook v. Tullis, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 332, 21 L. ed. 933; Gibson v. Warder, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 244, 20 L. ed. 797; Chattanooga Nat. Bank v. Rome Iron Co., 102 Fed. 755, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 441; Courier-Journal Job-Printing Co. v. Schaefer-Meyer Brewing Co., 101 Fed. 699, 41 C. C. A. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 183; In re Dunavant, 96 Fed. 542, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 41; In re Kerby-Dennis Co., 95 Fed. 116, 36 C. C. A. 677, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 402; In re Blumberg, 94 Fed. 476, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 627; Ex p. Dalby, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 431, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,540, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 731; In re Rockford, etc., R. Co., 1 Lowell (U. S.) 345, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,978, 2 Am. L. T. 105, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 133, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 337, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 50; Mitchell v. Winslow, 2 Story (U. S.) 630, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,673, 6 Law Rep. 347; Winsor v. McLellan, 2 Story (U. S.) 492, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,887, 6 Law Rep. 440; Goddard v. Weaver, 1 Woods (U. S.) 257, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,495, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 440; Potter v. Coggeshall, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,322, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 73. See also supra, XII, F.

35. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*a*.

In determining the validity of unrecorded liens it is necessary to consult the statutes of the state wherein the lien was created. See In re Tatem, 110 Fed. 519, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 426; In re Wright, 96 Fed. 187, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 364.

If under the laws of a state an unrecorded chattel mortgage is enforceable against the general creditors of the mortgagor it will be recognized and enforced as a valid lien in a court of bankruptcy. In re Schmitt, 109 Fed. 267, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 150. See also In re Wright, 96 Fed. 187, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 364; In re Bozeman, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 809; In re Ohio Co-Operative Shear Co., 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 775; In re McKay, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 292. Compare In re Booth, 98 Fed. 975, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 574; In re Yukon Woolen Co., 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 805.

b. Attachments. Under the statutes of some states the lien of an attachment is only provisional, and will not avail the attaching creditor unless a judgment is finally obtained.[36] It has accordingly been held that where judgment is recovered within four months prior to the bankruptcy the conditional or provisional lien created by the attachment is destroyed.[37]

c. Equitable Liens. An equitable lien will be recognized and preserved in bankruptcy unless there is some prohibition in the state laws which renders it invalid.[38]

d. Judgments and Executions. Liens obtained by judgment or execution prior to four months before filing a petition in bankruptcy by or against the judgment debtor are valid and in full force.[39] It is only when such liens are

36. An attachment of property upon mesne process is a specific charge upon the property for the security of the debt sued for, and the property is set apart and placed in the custody of the court for that purpose, subject only to the condition that the attaching creditor shall obtain judgment in the suit and take out execution and levy upon the property within a limited time. See ATTACHMENT, XII, A [4 Cyc. 622].

37. In re Beaver Coal Co., 110 Fed. 630, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 404; In re Johnson, 108 Fed. 373, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 202; In re Lesser, 108 Fed. 201, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 326. But see contra, In re Blair, 108 Fed. 529, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 206. See also Stickney, etc., Coal Co. v. Goodwin, 95 Me. 246, 49 Atl. 1039.

As to attachments dissolved or annulled by adjudication see infra, XVI, B, 2.

Under the Act of 1867 an attachment levy was not displaced by proceedings in bankruptcy, unless such proceedings were commenced within four months after the levy of the attachment.

Alabama.— Crowe v. Reid, 57 Ala. 281; May v. Courtnay, 47 Ala. 185.

California.— Howe v. Union Ins. Co., 42 Cal. 528.

Connecticut.— Daggett v. Cook, 37 Conn. 341.

Florida.— Carr v. Thomas, 18 Fla. 736.

Georgia.— Louden v. King, 50 Ga. 302; Randell v. McLain, 40 Ga. 162.

Kansas.— Gillett v. McCarthy, 23 Kan. 668.

Kentucky.— Columbia Bank v. Overstreet, 10 Bush (Ky.) 148.

Maine.— Bowman v. Harding, 56 Me. 559.

Maryland.— Lewis v. Higgins, 52 Md. 614.

Massachusetts.— Blaine v. Gilbert, 124 Mass. 215.

Nebraska.— Tootle v. Sheldon, 10 Nebr. 44, 4 N. W. 358.

Nevada.— Barker v. McLeod, 14 Nev. 148.

New Hampshire.— Taylor v. Whitefield Lumber Co., 58 N. H. 369.

New York.— Miller v. Bowles, 58 N. Y. 253.

Tennessee.— Epperson v. Robertson, 91 Tenn. 407, 19 S. W. 230.

West Virginia.— Weisenfeld v. Mispelhorn, 5 W. Va. 46.

United States.— Doe v. Childress, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 642, 22 L. ed. 549; Hatfield v. Moller, 4 Fed. 717; In re Peck, 9 Ben. (U. S.) 169, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,886, 16 Nat. Bankr Reg. 43; In re Housberger, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 504, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,734, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 92; Bracken v. Johnston, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 518, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,761, 5 Am. L. Rec. 461, 11 Am. L. Rev. 609, 3 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 537, 4 Centr. L. J. 9, 1 Cinc. L. Bul. 358, 3 Month. Jur. 629, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 106, 3 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 573; McCord v. McNeil, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 173, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,714, 17 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 52; Robinson v. Tuttle, 2 Hask. (U. S.) 76, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,968; In re Davis, 1 Hask. (U. S.) 232, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,616; Zeiber v. Hill, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 268, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,206, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 239.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 297.

38. Fletcher v. Morey, 2 Story (U. S.) 555, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,864; Parker v. Muggridge, 2 Story (U. S.) 334, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,743, 5 Law Rep. 351.

An equitable lien is acquired upon the assets of the judgment debtor by the filing of a creditors' bill in a state court. Where such a bill is filed more than four months prior to the bankruptcy of the debtor the trustee takes the property subject to the lien, and the proceedings of the state court are not abated. Taylor v. Taylor, 59 N. J. Eq. 86, 45 Atl. 440, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 211. See also Doyle v. Heath, 22 R. I. 213, 47 Atl. 213, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 705; Miller v. Sherry, 2 Wall. (U. S.) 237, 17 L. ed. 827.

39. Clark v. Iselin, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 360, 22 L. ed. 568; Wilson v. St. Paul City Bank, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 473, 21 L. ed. 723; Marshall v. Knox, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 551, 21 L. ed. 481; In re Dunavant, 96 Fed. 542, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 41. See also Doyle v. Hall, 86 Ill. App. 163; and 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 306.

As to effect of discharge on lien of judgment see infra, XIX, E, 7.

Where the judgment is not a lien by state laws it will not be treated as a lien by a court of bankruptcy. In re McIntosh, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,826, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 506; In re Cozart, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,313, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 508.

Actual levy is not necessary in order to create a lien, unless made so by the laws of the state. In re Smith, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 432, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,973, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 112, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 599; In re Weeks, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 259, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,350, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 364.

procured within such period of four months that they are void and may be dissolved.[40]

e. Mechanics' Liens. If mechanics' liens are valid under the state laws creating them and are perfected at the time of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy they are to be recognized as valid and binding in a court of bankruptcy.[41]

f. Mortgages. Mortgages which are valid under the laws of the state wherein they are created and are not within the prohibitions and limitations of the Bankruptcy Act are valid and must be recognized in a court of bankruptcy.[42] It is only the mortgage executed within four months prior to the bankruptcy to secure an antecedent debt, with intent to prefer,[43] or such a mortgage executed with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors, which can be affected by the bankruptcy of the mortgagor.[44]

2. Liens Dissolved or Annulled by Adjudication. One section of the Act pro-

40. See infra, XVI, B, 2.

Levy of execution within four months.— Filing a petition in bankruptcy does not affect the lien of an execution issued and levied within the four months but founded on a judgment recovered two years before. In re Easley, 93 Fed. 419, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715.

41. In re Laird, 109 Fed. 550, 48 C. C. A. 538, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1; In re Lowensohn, 100 Fed. 776, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 79; In re Kerby-Dennis Co., 95 Fed. 116, 36 C. C. A. 677, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 402; In re Dey, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 450, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,870, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 305; In re Brunquest, 7 Biss. (U. S.) 208, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,055, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 529; In re Cook, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 122, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,150, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 1, 20 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 32; In re Coulter, 2 Sawy. (U. S.) 42, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,276, 4 Am. L. T. 131, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 257, 3 Chic. Leg. N. 377, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 64. See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 294; and, generally, Mechanics' Liens.

A mechanic's lien is not a lien obtained through legal proceedings against an insolvent debtor, nor is it an encumbrance created by the act of the debtor. Such a lien is created by statute, or by the act of the lienor in filing the statutory notice. In re Emslie, 102 Fed. 291, 42 C. C. A. 350, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 126 [reversing 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 282].

42. In re Dunavant, 96 Fed. 542, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 41; In re Wright, 96 Fed. 187, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 364; In re Buntrock Clothing Co., 92 Fed. 886, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 454.

A mortgage made in good faith to secure future advances is valid to the extent of the advances actually made. Marvin v. Chambers, 12 Blatchf. (U. S.) 495, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,179, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 77, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 365; Ex p. Ames, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 561, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 323, 7 Nat. Bankr. Rep. 230; In re York, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,138, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 661; and 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 27.

A mortgage of personal property to be subsequently acquired is valid and enforceable against a trustee in bankruptcy if it is free from fraud and otherwise valid. Barnard v. Norwich, etc., R. Co., 4 Cliff. (U. S.) 351, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,007, 3 Centr. L. J. 608, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 469; Mitchell v. Winslow, 2 Story (U. S.) 630, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,673, 6 Law Rep. 347. Such a mortgage constitutes an equitable lien which attaches as soon as the mortgagor acquires title to the property which is the subject of the mortgage. Mitchell v. Winslow, 2 Story (U. S.) 630, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,673, 6 Law Rep. 347; Brett v. Carter, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 458, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,844, 13 Alb. L. J. 361, 10 Am. L. Rev. 600, 3 Centr. L. J. 286, 22 Int. Rev. Rec. 152, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 301, 2 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 331.

Mortgages to secure loans given at the time they are executed are valid. Tiffany v. Boatman's Sav. Inst., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 375, 21 L. ed. 868; In re Davidson, 109 Fed. 882, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528; Greenville City Nat. Bank v. Bruce, 109 Fed. 69, 48 C. C. A. 236, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 311; In re Wolf, 98 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555; In re Cobb, 96 Fed. 821, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 129; In re Little River Lumber Co., 92 Fed. 585, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 483; In re Woodward, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 233.

43. Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*b*.

Mortgage filled in after execution.— A mortgage which is executed in blank, and in which subsequently the blanks are filled in, does not take effect until the latter date, and if such date falls within the four months prior to the bankruptcy the mortgage is invalid. In re Barrett, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 48.

44. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*e*.

Usurious mortgages.— Where an insolvent debtor, within four months prior to the filing of a petition in bankruptcy, makes a transfer of mortgaged property for the purpose of hindering and delaying creditors, and upon an action brought by the trustee of the bankrupt to set such transfer aside as fraudulent and void the grantee conveys the property to the trustee, the trustee stands in the same relation to the mortgage as the bankrupt, and may in bankruptcy proceedings attack it for usury, regardless of the fact that after the mortgagor's adjudication as a bankrupt the assignee of the mortgage brought suit to foreclose it. In re Kellogg, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 389.

vides[45] that "A lien created by or obtained in or pursuant to any suit or proceeding at law or in equity, including an attachment upon mesne process or a judgment by confession, which was begun against a person within four months before the filing of a petition in bankruptcy by or against such person shall be dissolved[46] by the adjudication of such person to be a bankrupt if (1) it appears that said lien was obtained and permitted[47] while the defendant was insolvent and that its existence and enforcement will work a preference, or (2) the party or parties to be benefited thereby had reasonable cause to believe the defendant was insolvent and in contemplation of bankruptcy, or (3) that such lien was sought and permitted in fraud of the provisions of the Act;[48] or if the dissolution of such lien would militate against the best interests of the estate of such person the same shall not be dissolved, but the trustee of the estate of such person, for the benefit of the estate, shall be subrogated to the rights of the holder of such lien and empowered to perfect and enforce the same in his name as trustee with like force and effect as such holder might have done had not bankruptcy proceedings intervened."[49] A subsequent section provides[50] that "All levies, judgments, attachments, or other liens, obtained through legal proceedings against a person who is insolvent, at any time within four months prior to the filing of a petition in bankruptcy against him, shall be deemed null and void[51] in case he is adjudged a bankrupt, and the property affected by the levy, judgment, attachment, or other lien shall be deemed wholly discharged and released from the same, and shall pass to the trustee as a part of the estate of the bankrupt, unless the court shall, on due notice, order that the right under such levy, judgment, attachment, or

45. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*c*.

46. The effect of dissolution by the adjudication of bankruptcy is to destroy the lien of the judgment, but not the judgment itself. The judgment continues as conclusive upon all parties as to the validity of the creditor's claim, and the amount of the indebtedness. In re Beaver Coal Co., 110 Fed. 630, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 404; In re Lesser, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 320.

47. A lien is permitted by the bankrupt by not paying the debt upon which it is founded, or when, by failing to take other necessary action, he suffers the conditions to exist by virtue of which the lien is created. In re Arnold, 94 Fed. 1001, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 180. See also In re Burlington Malting Co., 109 Fed. 777, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369; In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63; In re Reichman, 91 Fed. 624, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17; and supra, V, B, 5.

Knowledge of the lienor that at the time the lien was obtained the debtor was insolvent, or of the debtor's intent to permit a lien to be obtained, is not material. In re Burrus, 97 Fed. 926, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296.

48. Any act on the part of the lienor or the debtor which will defeat an equitable and pro rata distribution of the debtor's property among the creditors will constitute such fraud as is contemplated by the Act. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 455.

The question as to whether there is fraud or not will be determined by the facts and circumstances existing in each case. Wager v. Hall, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 584, 21 L. ed. 504; Buchanan v. Smith, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 277, 21 L. ed. 280; Toof v. Martin, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 40, 20 L. ed. 481.

49. The spirit of the Act does not lead to the destruction of lawful liens, and its provisions should not be used to displace one lien by another, for the purpose of defeating the former without good cause, and where a trustee seeks to preserve a voidable attachment for the purpose of defeating a prior chattel mortgage the petition will be dismissed, and the liens left to stand upon their own merits. In re Moore, 111 Fed. 145, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 590.

50. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*.

51. The lien of the judgment is annulled but the judgment is not avoided. Such a judgment when offered for proof can be attacked only on the grounds of fraud, collusion, or want of jurisdiction. In re Pease, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 547. See also Doyle v. Heath, 22 R. I. 213, 47 Atl. 213, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 705.

The provision is intended to apply only to such judgments as of themselves create liens. In re Kavanaugh, 99 Fed. 928, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 832. It does not apply to judgments obtained subsequent to an adjudication in bankruptcy. In re Engle, 105 Fed. 893, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 372 [disapproving St. Cyr v. Daignault, 103 Fed. 854, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 638]. See also Kinmouth v. Braeutigam, 65 N. J. L. 165, 46 Atl. 769, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 344.

Courts of bankruptcy have no jurisdiction to summarily annul the lien. An action must be brought therefor in a state court, unless the parties consent to such jurisdiction on the part of a court of bankruptcy or there is a diversity of citizenship. Bardes v. Hawarden Nat. Bank, 178 U. S. 524, 20 S. Ct. 1000, 44 L. ed. 1175, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163.

other lien shall be preserved for the benefit of the estate; and thereupon the same may pass to and shall be preserved by the trustee for the benefit of the estate as aforesaid. And the court may order such conveyance as shall be necessary to carry the purposes of this section into effect: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall have the effect to destroy or impair the title obtained by such levy, judgment, attachment, or other lien, of a bona fide purchaser for value who shall have acquired the same without notice or reasonable cause for inquiry." [52] These sections are antagonistic and irreconcilable.[53] In conformity with the rule that where two provisions in the same statute are clearly repugnant it has been held that, where the liens are such as may be included within the terms of either, the latter will control.[54] In any event the insolvency of the 52. In re D. H. Dougherty Co., 109 Fed. 480, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 457; In re Kaupisch Creamery Co., 107 Fed. 93, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 790; In re Kemp, 101 Fed. 689, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 242; Bear v. Chase, 99 Fed. 920, 40 C. C. A. 182, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 746; In re Fellerath, 95 Fed. 121, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 40. See also Jones v. Stevens, 94 Me. 582, 48 Atl. 170; National Bank, etc., Co. v. Spencer, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 547, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 1001; Schmilovitz v. Bernstein, 22 R. I. 330, 47 Atl. 884, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 265; Kosches v. Libowitz, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 613.

53. Inconsistency of sections.—The former section saves a lien obtained through legal proceedings begun within four months, unless it was obtained and permitted while the debtor was insolvent or the creditor had reasonable cause to believe such insolvency, or the lien was sought and permitted in fraud of the provisions of the Act. The question of the pecuniary condition of the debtor and knowledge upon the part of the creditor are influential in determining the validity of the lien so obtained. But the latter is broader in its scope and avoids all liens obtained through legal proceedings within the time stated against a person who is insolvent, within the meaning of the section, irrespective of knowledge on the part of the creditor of the fact of insolvency, and irrespective of the question whether the obtaining of the lien was in any way suffered and permitted by the debtor. It avoids all liens obtained through legal proceedings against a person who is insolvent within four months before the filing of the petition. In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145.

History.—"Two bills in bankruptcy were presented to congress; one to the senate and one to the house of representatives. They were broadly divergent in spirit. One was supposed to be largely in the interest of the creditor; the other largely in the interest of the debtor. Subdivision c of section 67 was contained in the house bill; subdivision f was contained in the senate bill. The two houses were at disagreement respecting these bills, and the matter was referred to a conference committee of the two houses near the end of the session, resulting in the incorporation into the house bill of subdivision f which was in the senate bill. Mr. Henderson, in presenting the conference report to the house, stated that subdivision f was incorporated into the bill to strengthen the bill. 31 Congressional Record, pt. 7, p. 6428, June 28, 1898. The confusion results from the omission of the conference committee to modify the language of subdivision c, or to strike it out altogether." Per Jenkins, J., in In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 939, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145.

54. In re Kemp, 101 Fed. 689, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 242; In re Rhoads, 98 Fed. 399, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 380; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145.

Some courts have endeavored to distinguish by holding that the former section refers to voluntary cases and that the latter refers to involuntary cases alone. In re O'Connor, 95 Fed. 943; In re Easley, 93 Fed. 419, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715; In re De Lue, 91 Fed. 510, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 387. The weight of authority, however, is against this contention. In re McCartney, 109 Fed. 621, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 367; In re Blair, 108 Fed. 529, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 206; In re Lesser, 100 Fed. 433, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 815; In re Dobson, 98 Fed. 86, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 420; In re Higgins, 97 Fed. 775, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 364; In re Vaughan, 97 Fed. 560, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 362; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145; In re Fellerath, 95 Fed. 121, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 40; In re Brown, 91 Fed. 358, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 107; Peck Lumber Co. v. Mitchell, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 701; In re Friedman, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 510.

If the judgment was consummated within four months prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy it is annulled by the adjudication without regard to the circumstances or conditions under which it was obtained. In re Burrus, 97 Fed. 926, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296; In re Higgins, 97 Fed. 775, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 364; In re Vaughan, 97 Fed. 560, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 362; In re Booth, 96 Fed. 943, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 770; In re Richards, 96 Fed. 935, 37 C. C. A. 634, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 145; In re Rome Planing Mill, 96 Fed. 812, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 123; In re Fellerath, 95 Fed. 121, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 40; In re Moyer, 93 Fed. 188, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 577; In re Reichman, 91 Fed. 624, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17; In re debtor is a material element in determining whether a lien created by legal proceedings is to be dissolved or annulled.[55]

3. SUBROGATION OF TRUSTEE TO RIGHTS OF CREDITORS. Whenever a creditor is prevented from enforcing his rights as against a lien created or attempted to be created by his debtor, who afterward becomes a bankrupt, the trustee of the estate of such bankrupt shall be subrogated to and may enforce such rights of such creditor for the benefit of the estate.[56]

C. Preferences — 1. WHEN DEEMED TO HAVE BEEN GIVEN. A person shall be deemed to have given a preference if, being insolvent,[57] he has procured or suffered a judgment to be entered against himself in favor of any person, or made any transfer of his property, and the effect of the enforcement of such judgment or transfer will be to enable any one of his creditors to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than any other of such creditors of the same class.[58] A preference is created regardless of the debtor's intent, or the time when the judgment was suffered or the transfer made, provided that at that time the debtor was insolvent.[59]

2. RECOVERY BY TRUSTEE. It is provided by the Bankruptcy Act of 1898 that if a bankrupt shall have given a preference within four months [60] before the filing

Huffman, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 587. But compare In re Nelson, 98 Fed. 76, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63.

55. Simpson v. Van Etten, 108 Fed. 199, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 204; In re Friedman, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 510. See also Levor v. Seiter, 34 Misc. (N. Y.) 382, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 987, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 576; In re Alexander, 102 Fed. 464, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 376.

As to what constitutes "insolvency" see supra, I, A.

56. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*b*. See also In re Howland, 109 Fed. 869, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 495; Bear v. Chase, 99 Fed. 920, 40 C. C. A. 182, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 746; In re Hammond, 98 Fed. 845, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 466.

57. As to when person is deemed insolvent see supra, I, A. For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 249.

58. Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*a*. See also Chicago Title, etc., Co. v. John A. Roebling's Sons Co., 107 Fed. 71, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 368; In re Grant, 106 Fed. 496, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 837; Shutts v. Aurora First Nat. Bank, 98 Fed. 705, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 492; In re Wolf, 98 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555; In re Lange, 97 Fed. 197, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 231; In re Cobb, 96 Fed. 821, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 129. For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 247.

As to giving preference as act of bankruptcy see supra, V, B, 5, 6.

As to permitting judgment to be entered as act of bankruptcy see supra, V, B, 5.

As to surrender of preference as condition to proving claim see supra, XI, B, 4, a.

Assignment of insurance policy while solvent.— Where the holder of a policy of fire insurance, while not insolvent within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Act, assigns such policy as collateral security for an antecedent debt, and thereafter and within four months preceding the filing of the petition in bankruptcy of the debtor he becomes insolvent by reason of the destruction of the insured property by fire, the assignment of the policy is not a preference within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Act. In re Wittenberg Veneer, etc., Co., 108 Fed. 593, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 271.

Collateral to renewal notes.— Where certain promissory notes made by a bankrupt had a contract of pledge indorsed thereon as collateral security for the payment thereof, and such notes were dated within four months prior to the petition in bankruptcy, it is a sufficient answer to a claim of an illegal preference that the notes were in renewal of notes made prior to the four months' period and renewed from time to time until the notes in question were given. Chattanooga Nat. Bank v. Rome Iron Co., 102 Fed. 755, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 441.

Return of goods sold.— Where goods were sold to the bankrupt and afterward, in view of his insolvency, the vendors induced him to return an unsold portion of such goods within four months prior to his bankruptcy, they releasing him from all claim for any balance due them, such an act constitutes a preference even though the amount received was less than that due. Silberstein v. Stahl, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 353, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 646, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 626.

59. See cases cited note 63, p. 330.

To determine what constitutes a preference it is only necessary to ascertain the effect of permitting a judgment to be entered, or of making a transfer. If by such judgment or transfer one creditor has been enabled to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than other creditors of the same class a preference has been given. In re Kellar, 110 Fed. 348, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 621.

60. The four months within which a preferential transfer is voidable dates from the recording or registering of the transfer, when that is done, or if not, from the time the transferee takes notorious, exclusive, and continuing possession of the property. In re of a petition, or after the filing of the petition and before the adjudication, and the person receiving it or to be benefited thereby, or his agent[61] acting therein, shall have reasonable cause to believe that it was intended thereby to give a preference,[62] it shall be voidable by the trustee, and he may recover[63] the property or its Klingaman, 101 Fed. 691, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 254. See also supra, V, B, 5, 6.

In computing the time the date of the transfer should be excluded and the date of the filing of the petition should be included. Bankr. Act (1898), § 31*a*. The four months is to be determined by computing four calendar months from the date the petition in bankruptcy is filed, and not by computing the time by days. Kelly v. Skaggs, 90 Ill. App. 543.

Agreements to pledge.— Where an agreement to pledge was made more than four months prior to the filing of the petition, but there was no consummation of this agreement by the making of the pledge until a few days before the petition was filed, the pledgee's title did not attach until the goods were actually in his possession and therefore the transfer was preferential and voidable. In re Sheridan, 98 Fed. 406, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 554.

Taking possession of personal property under contract.— Where a person loaned money to the bankrupt under an agreement that in case such bankrupt failed to pay the sums of money loaned upon demand after six months from the date of the first loan, the lender might take possession of the property purchased with the money borrowed, and the lender, when the first payment became due, made demand therefor, and upon default took possession of the property, and less than four months thereafter the debtor was adjudged a bankrupt, it was held that the lender in taking possession of the property under the agreement did not thereby secure a voidable preference. Sabin v. Camp, 98 Fed. 974, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 578.

61. Attorneys for collection agencies.— Under the Act of 1867 it was held that, where a claim was given to a collection agency for collection, and the latter employed attorneys to collect the claim, and the attorneys, with full knowledge of the debtor's insolvency, induced him to make a preferential transfer by confessing judgment in favor of the creditors, the creditors were not chargeable with the knowledge of the debtor's insolvency which the attorneys had, when it appeared that such creditors never received the proceeds of the confessed judgment. Hoover v. Wise, 91 U. S. 308, 23 L. ed. 392.

Knowledge acquired by attorney while acting as attorney of debtor.— A preferred transferee is not chargeable with the knowledge of his attorney, if such knowledge was acquired by him while acting as the attorney for the transferrer, since for the attorney to divulge such knowledge would be a gross breach of professional duty. In re Ebert, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 340.

A bank is chargeable with notice of the insolvency of a debtor from whom it receives a payment, and that such payment constitutes an unlawful preference, where its president had knowledge of such insolvency, gained while acting for the bank in the matter of such indebtedness. In re Gillette, 104 Fed. 769, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 119.

62. Reasonable cause to believe that it was intended by the debtor to prefer does not imply an actual belief or knowledge on the part of the creditor that the transfer was intended as a preference, provided there are facts and circumstances to put the creditor upon inquiry. Crittenden v. Barton, 59 N. Y. App. Div. 555, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 559, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 775; In re Eggert, 102 Fed. 735, 43 C. C. A. 1, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 449 [affirming 98 Fed. 843, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 541]; In re Jacobs, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 518. See also Sebring v. Wellington, 63 N. Y. App. Div. 498, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671; Cincinnati Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Cook, 95 U. S. 342, 24 L. ed. 412; Dutcher v. Wright, 94 U. S. 553, 24 L. ed. 130; Wager v. Hall, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 584, 21 L. ed. 504. It is not, however, enough that the creditor has some cause to suspect the insolvency of his debtor, but he must have such a knowledge of facts as to induce a reasonable belief of his debtor's insolvency in order to invalidate a security taken for his debt. Grant v. Monmouth First Nat. Bank, 97 U. S. 80, 24 L. ed. 971. See also Stucky v. Masonic Sav. Bank, 108 U. S. 74, 2 S. Ct. 219, 27 L. ed. 640; Barbour v. Priest, 103 U. S. 293, 26 L. ed. 478; Buchanan v. Smith, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 277, 21 L. ed. 280; and 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 256.

63. The right to set aside a preferential transfer is incident to the trustee's title and duties, and it is not necessary for him to obtain an order to sue from the bankruptcy court. Chism v. Citizens' Bank, 77 Miss. 599, 27 So. 637, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 56.

Demand.— Since a preferential transfer is not absolutely void, but voidable only, the trustee can only recover where he has demanded the return of the property transferred or its value and has been refused, unless there has been an actual conversion of the property by the transferee. Shuman v. Fleckenstein, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 174, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,826, 9 Chic. Leg. N. 174, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 224; In re Phelps, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 396.

In a motion by the trustee to compel a creditor to repay the amount of a preference, it must be alleged that the creditor had reasonable cause to believe that the preference was intended. In re Blair, 102 Fed. 987, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 220. See also Crooks v. People's Nat. Bank, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 335, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 604, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 238, holding that a complaint in an action brought by a trustee to set aside a preferential transfer is sufficient which alleges that defendant value[64] from such person.[65] The payment of money by an insolvent debtor is a transfer within the meaning of this provision.[66] A preference is not voidable, however, unless it is given in satisfaction of an antecedent debt — that is a debt which existed prior to the time the judgment was suffered or the transfer made.[67]

3. Payments or Transfers to Attorneys. If a debtor shall, directly or indirectly, in contemplation of the filing of a petition by or against him, pay money or transfer property to an attorney or counselor at law, solicitor in equity, or prochad knowledge of the transfers of the property to the creditors and of the purpose of such transfers, and that such defendant had reasonable cause to believe that it was intended thereby to give a preference. It is not necessary to allege why defendant had reasonable cause to so believe, or the evidence thereof.

Measure of damages.— Where the property transferred has been disposed of by the transferee, the measure of damages is the value of the property and not the amount received by its sale. Clarion First Nat. Bank v. Jones, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 325, 22 L. ed. 542; Marshall v. Knox, 16 Wall. (U. S.) 551, 21 L. ed. 481. But the evidence of value derived from an actual sale is admissible. In re Bloch, 109 Fed. 790, 48 C. C. A. 650, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300. But see Sebring v. Wellington, 63 N. Y. App. Div. 498, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 788, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 671.

64. The trustee may accept the sale and treat the proceeds as money had and received for his use. Chicago Traders' Nat. Bank v. Campbell, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 87, 20 L. ed. 832; Cookingham v. Morgan, 7 Blatchf. (U. S.) 480, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,183, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 16; Shuman v. Fleckenstein, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 174, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,826, 9 Chic. Leg. N. 174, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 224.

65. Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*b*.

Under the Act of 1867 a preferential transfer was void if the transferee or the person to be benefited by the transfer had reasonable cause to believe that his debtor was insolvent. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5128.

The question of fraud does not enter in determining whether a preferential transfer is voidable and recoverable by the trustee. It is the resulting effect of the act done which is declared against, not the manner or method by which it is done. If the effect of a transfer of property within the four months prior to the filing of the petition is to enable any of the creditors to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than others of the same class, such transfer is voidable if the person receiving it or to be benefited thereby had reasonable cause to believe that it was intended thereby to give a preference. Crooks v. People's Nat. Bank, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 335, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 604, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 238.

66. Chism v. Citizens' Bank, 77 Miss. 599, 27 So. 637, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 56; Landry v. Andrews, 22 R. I. 597, 48 Atl. 1036, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 281; Pirie v. Chicago Title, etc., Co., 182 U. S. 438, 21 S. Ct. 906, 45 L. ed. 1171; In re Fixen, 102 Fed. 295, 42 C. C. A. 354, 50 L. R. A. 605, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 10; In re Sloan, 102 Fed. 116, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 356; In re Christensen, 101 Fed. 802, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 202; Blakey v. Boonville Bank, 95 Fed. 267, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 459; In re Knost, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 471. For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 267.

A payment of accrued rent by a tenant within four months prior to his bankruptcy is not a preference. In re Barrett, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 199. See also In re Pearson, 95 Fed. 425, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 482, holding that where a portion of the proceeds of a leasehold which could not be sold without the consent of the landlord was applied to paying off back rent upon the ground that unless this was paid no sale of the leasehold whatever could have been made, and the value of it could not otherwise be secured for creditors, such payment of rent did not constitute a preference.

67. In re Davidson, 109 Fed. 882, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528; Greenville City Nat. Bank v. Bruce, 109 Fed. 69, 48 C. C. A. 236, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 311; In re Wolf, 98 Fed. 84, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555; In re Cobb, 96 Fed. 821, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 129; In re Little River Lumber Co., 92 Fed. 585, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 483; In re Woodward, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 233. See also Tiffany v. Boatman's Sav. Inst., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 375, 21 L. ed. 868; Wadsworth v. Tyler, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,032, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 28, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 139, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 316.

The performance of labor by a debtor for his creditor is not a transfer of property. In re Abraham Steers Lumber Co., 110 Fed. 738, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 315.

Sums collected on collateral security.— Where notes were given, and as collateral security therefor the book accounts of the bankrupt were assigned to the payee, and subsequently such notes were transferred for value, and the transferee upon default in payment of the notes collected the accounts and applied the amount received in payment of the notes, within four months prior to the adjudication of bankruptcy, it was held that the preference was created when the collaterals were assigned by the bankrupt, and not when the collections were made thereon. And since the collaterals were assigned as security for a debt created at the time of the assignment, and not as security for a preëxisting indebtedness, there was no ground tor in admiralty for services to be rendered, the transaction shall be reëxamined by the court on petition of the trustee or any creditor and shall only be held valid to the extent of a reasonable amount to be determined by the court, and the excess may be recovered by the trustee for the benefit of the estate.[68]

4. Set Off Where New Credit Is Given. If a creditor has been preferred and afterwards in good faith gives the debtor further credit, without security of any kind for property which becomes a part of the debtor's estate, the amount of such new credit remaining unpaid at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy may be set off against the amount which would otherwise be recoverable from him.[69]

XVII. Statutory Duties, Liabilities, and Privileges of Bankrupt.

A. Duties — 1. In General. The bankrupt must attend the first meeting of his creditors, if directed by the court or any judge thereof to do so, and the hearing upon his application for a discharge, if filed;[70] comply with all lawful orders of the court;[71] examine the correctness of all proofs of claims filed against his estate;[72] execute and deliver such papers as shall be ordered by the court;[73] execute to his trustee transfers of all his property in foreign countries;[74] immediately inform his trustee of any attempt, by his creditors or other persons, to avoid the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act coming to his knowledge;[75] in case of any person having to his knowledge proved a false claim against his estate, disclose that fact at once to his trustee;[76] and prepare, make oath to, and file in for holding that the collections made could be recovered by the trustee. In re Little, 110 Fed. 621, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 681.

68. Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*d*.

69. Bankr. Act (1898), § 60*c*. See also In re Oliver, 109 Fed. 784, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 626; In re Ryan, 105 Fed. 760, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 396.

As to set-offs, generally, see infra, XVIII, F.

This provision applies exclusively to cases where the trustee has brought an action against a creditor who has been preferred and recovered therein the property transferred, or its value. In re Abraham Steers Lumber Co., 110 Fed. 738, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 315; In re Kellar, 110 Fed. 348, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 621; In re Christensen, 101 Fed. 802, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 202. But see contra, McKey v. Lee, 105 Fed. 923, 45 C. C. A. 127, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 267.

In proceedings by a creditor of a bankrupt to obtain a set-off of a credit given after receipt of a preferential payment, he must plead the essential facts entitling him thereto in the same manner as if he sought to maintain a separate action on such claim. In re Oliver, 109 Fed. 784, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 626.

70. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (1).

As to application for discharge see infra, XIX, B.

As to meetings of creditors see supra, X.

The bankrupt is not required to attend a meeting of his creditors at a place more than one hundred and fifty miles distant from his home or principal place of business, unless ordered by the court or a judge thereof for cause shown, and the bankrupt shall be paid his actual expenses from the estate when required to attend at any place other than the city, town, or village of his residence. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a*.

71. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (2).

As to contempts before referees see supra, III, D, 7.

Any disobedience of an order issued by the court is deemed a contempt and is punishable as such. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41*a*.

72. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (3).

As to proof and allowance of claims against estate see supra, XI.

The bankrupt is not required to examine claims except when presented to him. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a*.

73. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (4).

The bankrupt may be compelled by the court to execute the papers necessary to enable the trustee to prosecute or defend suit brought by or against the bankrupt in state courts. Samson v. Burton, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 325, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,285, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 1; In re Clark, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 88, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,798, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 189, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 491, 524.

The holder of a license to sell liquor may be compelled by an order of the court to indorse the license in the manner required by law so that the trustee may realize its value for the benefit of the creditors. In re Fisher, 98 Fed. 89, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 406.

74. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (5).

As to transfer of title of bankrupt's estate to trustee and the execution of the necessary papers therefor see supra, XII, F, 1, 2, 3.

75. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (6).

76. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (7).

The fact that no trustee has been appointed will not relieve the bankrupt from the duty or deprive him of the right of objecting to the allowance of any false or unjust claim against his estate. In re Ankeny, 100 Fed. 614, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 72.

court within ten days, unless further time is granted, after the adjudication, if an involuntary bankrupt, and with the petition if a voluntary bankrupt, a schedule of his property, showing the amount and kind of property, the location thereof, its money value in detail, and a list of his creditors, showing their residences, if known, if unknown, that fact to be stated, the amounts due each of them, the consideration thereof, the security held by them, if any, and a claim for such exemptions as he may be entitled to, all in triplicate, one copy of each for the clerk, one for the referee, and one for the trustee.[77]

2. EXAMINATION. The bankrupt when present at the first meeting of his creditors,[78] and at such other times as the court shall order,[79] may submit to an examination[80] concerning the conducting of his business, the cause of his bankruptcy,

77. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (8).

As to exemptions of bankrupt see supra, XV.

As to schedules: In voluntary cases see supra, VI, A, 1, b. In involuntary cases see supra, IX.

78. An examination may be allowed prior to the first meeting for the purpose of preparing schedules. In re Franklin Syndicate, 101 Fed. 402, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 244. An examination may also be ordered prior to such meeting for the purpose of enabling creditors to establish their objections to the bankrupt's discharge. In re Mellen, 97 Fed. 326, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 226; In re Price, 91 Fed. 635, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 419. See also In re Seckendorf, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 462, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,600, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 122, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 626, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 450; In re Baum, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 274, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,116, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 2, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 28, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 5; In re Vogel, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,984, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 393; In re Mawson, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,320, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 46, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 271; In re Brandt, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,813, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 345; and 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 393.

The bankrupt is not required to attend at or for an examination at a place more than one hundred and fifty miles distant from his home or principal place of business, unless ordered by the court or a judge thereof for cause shown, and he shall be paid his actual expenses from the estate when examined at any place other than the city, town, or village of his residence. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a*.

79. A court of bankruptcy may, upon the application of any officer, bankrupt, or creditor, by order, require any designated person, including the bankrupt, who is a competent witness under the laws of the state in which the proceedings are pending, to appear in court or before a referee or the judge of any state court to be examined concerning the acts, conduct, or property of a bankrupt whose estate is in process of administration under the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 21*a*.

Under the Act of 1867, § 26, it was provided "that the court may, on the application of the assignee in bankruptcy, or of any creditor, or without any application, at all times require the bankrupt, upon reasonable notice, to attend and submit to an examination, on oath, upon all matters relating to the disposal or condition of his property; to his trade and dealings with others, his accounts concerning the same; to all debts due to or claimed from him; and to all other matters concerning his property and estate, and the due settlement thereof according to law; which examination shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the bankrupt, and be filed with the other proceedings." See also In re Salkey, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 486, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,252, 2 Am. L. Rec. 502, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 69, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 107, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 56; In re Mendenhall, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,423, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 285; In re Bromley, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 686.

80. Every creditor has a right to examine the bankrupt. Such examination inures to the benefit of all the creditors, but the fact that one creditor has examined the bankrupt is no reason for withholding the privilege from another creditor. Yet the time, manner, and course of the examination should be so regulated as to protect the bankrupt from annoyance, oppression, and mere delay. In re Walker, 96 Fed. 550, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 35; In re Jehu, 94 Fed. 638, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 498; In re Adams, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 7, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 40, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 107, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 270, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 272; In re Gilbert, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 340, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,410, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 152; and 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 390.

If a full examination has already been had a subsequent application may be denied, unless it is made to appear that the first examination was either collusive or deficient in some material and specific particulars. In re Isidor, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 123, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,105, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 264; In re Van Tuyl, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,881, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 70; In re Frizelle, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,133, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 122; In re Frisbee, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,131, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 349. And only one examination as respects a discharge should ordinarily be had, since the Act, in requiring that all creditors shall have notice of it, presumably intends that all should be equally allowed to participate in it and not further harass the bankrupt. In re Price, 91 Fed. 635, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 419. See also In re Vogel, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,984, 5 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 393.

A refusal to take the oath and be examined according to law is a contempt and is punish-his dealings with his creditors and other persons, the amount, kind, and whereabouts of his property,[81] and in addition all matters which may affect the administration and settlement of his estate; but no testimony given by him[82] shall be offered in evidence against him in any criminal proceeding.[83] The application able as such. Bankr. Act (1898), § 41. Where a bankrupt refuses upon his examination to take an oath unless there is added the following proviso, "reserving, however, the right to claim any lawful privilege as against or in relation to any question which may arise upon any examination," it was held that he must take the oath as given by the referee and prescribed by the Bankruptcy Act, since his taking an oath does not deprive him of any constitutional or legal privilege he may have. In re Scott, 95 Fed. 815, 816, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 49. If the bankrupt interposes unsatisfactory answers to the questions put to him, and it is apparent he is evading such questions for the purpose of concealing property in his possession, he may be punished for contempt or compelled to deliver such property to his trustee. In re Schlesinger, 97 Fed. 930, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 342; In re McCormick, 97 Fed. 566, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 340. See also In re Salkey, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 269, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,253, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 178, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 423.

Form of examination of bankrupt is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 29; 89 Fed. xli.

81. It is competent to inquire as to the disposal of the bankrupt's property in order to ascertain whether there exists any property right in which the bankrupt has an interest, and the inquiry is not necessarily as to transactions which have occurred within the four months prior to the filing of the petition. In re Brundage, 100 Fed. 613, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 47. But see In re Hayden, 96 Fed. 199, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 670. The bankrupt should discover to the court what property he has, what disposal of any property he has made which the court is entitled to administer, to what persons he has paid money or delivered property, where such persons are, and questions of like nature. In re Franklin Syndicate, 101 Fed. 402, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 244, 511. See also In re Horgan, 98 Fed. 414, 39 C. C. A. 118, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 253. Interrogatories in regard to money in the possession of the bankrupt soon after the commencement of proceedings in bankruptcy are relevant and must be answered. In re McBrien, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 481, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,666, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 344. But questions as to property acquired or business transacted by the bankrupt subsequent to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy are improper, unless it can be shown that they relate to his property rights and business transactions prior to that time. In re Patterson, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 508, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,815, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 27, 33, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 157, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 125, 150; In re Levy, 1 Ben. (U. S.) 496, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,296, Bankr. Reg. Suppl. 30, 6 Int. Rev. Rec. 163, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 136; In re Rosenfield, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,059, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 47, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 319, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 245; and 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," §§ 399–401.

Examination of wife of bankrupt.—Where, by the law of the state in which the proceedings are had, a wife cannot be a witness for or against her husband, she cannot be required, in proceedings in bankruptcy against the husband, to testify concerning sums of money alleged to have been placed in her hands by the husband shortly before the institution of the bankruptcy proceedings, with a view to their recovery by the trustee. In re Mayer, 97 Fed. 328, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 222; In re Fowler, 93 Fed. 417, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 555. But see In re Foerst, 93 Fed. 190, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 259, holding that the wife of a bankrupt, under examination as a witness at the instance of the trustee or creditors, may be questioned as to money or other property in her possession, and as to how and when the same was received or acquired, provided only that the testimony shows such questions to be reasonably pertinent to the subject of inquiry, the nature and location of the assets of the bankrupt. See also supra, note 64, p. 313.

82. The immunity afforded is not sufficient to authorize a referee to compel a bankrupt to disclose facts which will tend to criminate him. In re Feldstein, 103 Fed. 269, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 321; In re Rosser, 96 Fed. 305, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 755; In re Scott, 95 Fed. 815, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 49; In re Hathorn, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 298. But see contra, Mackel v. Rochester, 102 Fed. 314, 42 C. C. A. 427, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1.

Books of voluntary bankrupt containing criminating evidence.—Where a bankrupt has in his possession or under his control books of account that were kept by him in conducting the business in which he was engaged at the time of filing his voluntary petition in bankruptcy, and refuses to produce them before the referee for examination by his creditors, upon the ground that they would tend to criminate him, it was held that a voluntary petition in bankruptcy operates as a waiver of the constitutional privilege to refuse to give criminating evidence, and also as a transfer of the right of custody of the books to his trustee; and that the books cannot be withheld upon the assertion that they might or do contain criminating evidence or matter. In re Sapiro, 92 Fed. 340, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296.

83. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (9).

Examination by attorney.— The examination of witnesses before a referee may be conducted by a party in person or by his counsel or attorney, and the witnesses shall be subject to examination and cross-examination, which shall be had in conformity with should be made by petition.[84] Service of the order for examination[85] should be made upon the bankrupt, and it is his duty to comply therewith.[86]

B. Detention. The judge may, at any time after the filing of a petition by or against a person, and before the expiration of one month after the qualification of the trustee, upon satisfactory proof by the affidavits of at least two persons that such bankrupt is about to leave the district in which he resides or has his principal place of business to avoid examination, and that his departure will defeat the proceedings in bankruptcy, issue a warrant to the marshal directing him to bring such bankrupt forthwith before the court for examination. If upon hearing the evidence of the parties it shall appear to the court or a judge thereof that the allegations are true and that it is necessary, he shall order such marshal to keep such bankrupt in custody not exceeding ten days, but not imprison him, until he shall be examined and released or give bail, conditioned for his appearance and for examination, from time to time, not exceeding ten days, as required by the court, and for his obedience to all lawful orders made in reference thereto.[87]

C. Exemption From Arrest. A bankrupt is exempt from arrest[88] upon the mode now adopted in courts of law. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 22.

Referees have the same power with respect to examination of persons as witnesses as courts of bankruptcy. Bankr. Act (1898), § 38*a* (2). See also supra, III, D, 3, f.

84. In re Adams, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 503, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 39, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 51, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 95; In re Brandt, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,813, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 34.

Requisites of petition.— The petition on the part of the creditor should show good cause for the examination. In re Adams, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 503, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 39, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 51, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 95. When made on the part of the trustee the grounds need not be specified, since the trustee being an officer of the court, it is only necessary that the court should be satisfied of his good faith in making the application. In re McBrien, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 513, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,635, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 197; In re Lanier, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,070, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 154.

Notice of examination.— All creditors are entitled to at least ten days' notice by mail to their respective addresses as they appear in the list of creditors furnished by the bankrupt, or as afterward filed with the papers in the case by the creditors, unless they waive notice in writing of all examinations of the bankrupt. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*a* (1); In re Price, 91 Fed. 635, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 419. The bankrupt if present at the first meeting of creditors may be required to submit to an examination without having had previous notice thereof. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (9). See also In re Brandt, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,812, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 215; In re Bromley, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 686. But if the order directs an examination at any other time the bankrupt should be given reasonable notice so that he may prepare himself for such examination. In re Bromley, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 686.

85. Form of order for examination is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 28: 89 Fed. xli.

86. Bankr. Act (1898), § 7*a* (2).

Costs of examination.— Where the assets of an estate are no more than sufficient to pay certain labor claims, proved and allowed as preferred debts, and an examination of the bankrupt is undertaken in the hope of discovering concealed assets, at the suggestion of the attorney for the trustee (who previously represented the creditors by whom the trustee was chosen), but against the objection of the labor claimants, and without resulting benefit to the estate, the expenses of such examination should not be paid out of the funds of the estate, but must be borne by the creditors who procured it. In re Rozinsky, 101 Fed. 229, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 830. See also In re Silverman, 97 Fed. 325, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 227.

87. Bankr. Act (1898), § 9*b*.

In presenting its report on the bankruptcy bill the judiciary committee of the house of representatives said: "In the section where provisions are made for taking into custody the bankrupt when he is about to leave the district and where his departure would tend to delay the proceedings in bankruptcy an amendment has been made limiting the departure to cases in which the bankrupt was leaving for the sole purpose of avoiding the examination. If he left for other purposes, such as to better his condition, the provisions of the law will not apply to him." Report of Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, Dec. 16, 1897 [55th Congress].

A warrant of arrest cannot be issued as a basis for extradition proceedings to bring a bankrupt before the court for examination after he has departed from the district and settled in another district. In re Ketchum, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 532. See also In re Hassenbusch, 108 Fed. 35, 47 C. C. A. 177.

Writ of ne exeat.— The provision made for the detention of a bankrupt does not limit the power of the court to grant a writ of ne exeat. In re Lipke, 98 Fed. 970, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 569.

88. See, generally, ARREST, 3 Cyc. 923, note 35; 927, note 52; 928, note 58.

Release of imprisoned debtor on habeas corpus.— If at the time of preferring his civil process except in the following cases: (1) When issued from a court of bankruptcy for contempt or disobedience of its lawful orders; (2) when issued from a state court[89] having jurisdiction, and served within such state, upon a debt or claim from which his discharge in bankruptcy would not be a release,[90] petition the debtor shall be imprisoned the court upon application may order him to be produced upon habeas corpus by the jailer or any officer in whose custody he may be, before the referee, for the purpose of testifying in any matter relating to his bankruptcy; and if committed after the filing of his petition, upon process in any civil action founded upon a claim provable in bankruptcy, the court may upon like application discharge him from such imprisonment. If the petitioner during the pendency of the proceedings in bankruptcy be arrested or imprisoned upon process in any civil action the district court, upon his application, may issue a writ of habeas corpus to bring him before the court to ascertain whether such process has been issued for the collection of any claim provable in bankruptcy, and if so provable he shall be discharged; if not, he shall be remanded to the custody in which he may lawfully be. Before granting the order for discharge the court shall cause notice to be served upon the creditor or his attorney, so as to give him an opportunity of appearing and being heard before the granting of the order. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 30. See also In re Claiborne, 109 Fed. 74.

Conflict between statute and general order. — The language of the order is more comprehensive than the terms of the statute. The order provides for the bankrupt's release upon habeas corpus if the arrest or imprisonment complained of is upon a claim provable in bankruptcy, while the statute permits his arrest if it is based upon a debt or claim from which his discharge in bankruptcy would not be a release. The order must, however, yield to the terms of the statute. In re Baker, 96 Fed. 954, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 101 [citing In re Patterson, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 155, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,817, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 307, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 241; In re Robinson, 6 Blatchf. (U. S.) 253, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,939, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 18, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 176, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 341; In re Whitehouse, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 429, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,564, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 63].

89. Arrest upon debt not dischargeable.— If the debt upon which the process of arrest is issued from a state court is upon a non-dischargeable debt or claim, the bankrupt will not be released therefrom, except while in attendance upon a court of bankruptcy or engaged in the performance of a duty imposed by the Act. In re Lewensohn, 99 Fed. 73, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 594 [affirmed in 104 Fed. 1006, 44 C. C. A. 309].

Arrest on a judgment for costs obtained after adjudication.— Where the bankrupt was adjudicated such on his own petition filed before a judgment for costs was rendered, the costs are not provable against his estate, are not dischargeable, and are within the letter of the express exception so far as they relate to arrests on civil process when issued upon a debt or claim from which a discharge in bankruptcy is not a release. Consequently an arrest under these circumstances cannot be regarded as illegal and the bankrupt is not entitled to a discharge therefrom in a court of bankruptcy. In re Marcus, 105 Fed. 907, 45 C. C. A. 115, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 365.

A bankrupt arrested under a judgment entered upon an action for a breach of promise is entitled to a discharge from such arrest. In re Fife, 109 Fed. 880, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 258.

A debt for the proceeds of cotton purchased and resold by a bankrupt as a broker on orders from a customer is one from which he is released by a discharge, and his right to exemption from arrest and imprisonment upon an execution issued from a state court upon such debt will be protected by injunction pending a determination of his application for discharge. Knott v. Putnam, 107 Fed. 907, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 80.

90. As to debts not released by discharge see infra, XIX, E.

The question of what constitutes a dischargeable debt should be determined by the court of bankruptcy upon the face of the papers used in the proceedings in the state court. In re Robinson, 6 Blatchf. (U. S.) 253, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,939, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 18, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 176, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 341. See also In re Valk, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 431, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,814, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 278. When it appears from the face of the proceedings that the debt is one from which a discharge will not release the debtor, he cannot be relieved. It is not necessary that this should appear from the declaration or complaint. It is sufficient if it appears from the affidavits and the order of arrest. In re Kimball, 6 Blatchf. (U. S.) 292, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,769, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 52, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 163, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 354. See also In re Devoe, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 251, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,843, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 690, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 90, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 27; In re Migel, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,538, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 481. But see contra, In re Williams, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 233, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,700, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 49, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 145; In re Alsberg, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 261, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 116.

Arrest in actions based on fraud.— A judgment rendered upon a complaint setting forth all the facts that make up the fraud is conclusive evidence of the fraud, and a bankrupt arrested under such judgment should not be released. In re Patterson, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 155, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,817, 1 and in such case he shall be exempt from arrest when in attendance upon a court of bankruptcy or engaged in the performance of a duty imposed by the Act.[91]

D. Extradition. Whenever a warrant for the apprehension of a bankrupt shall have been issued and he shall have been found within the jurisdiction of a court other than the one issuing the warrant, he may be extradited in the same manner in which persons under indictment are extradited from one district within which a district court has jurisdiction to another.[92]

XVIII. MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE.

A. Collection of Assets and Reduction Thereof to Money. Courts of bankruptcy are authorized to cause the estates of bankrupts to be collected, reduced to money, and distributed, and to determine controversies in relation thereto, except as otherwise provided in the Act.[93]

B. Duty of Trustee as to Pending Suits — 1. To Continue. A trustee may with the approval of the court be permitted to prosecute as trustee any suit commenced by the bankrupt prior to the adjudication with like force and effect as though it had been commenced by him.[94]

Nat. Bankr. Reg. 307, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 241; In re Pettis, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,046, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 695, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 44. And a judgment rendered in an action for deceit does not so merge the original cause of action as to make the demand dischargeable. The record of the action in which the execution issues may be looked at, and if it shows a material and traversable allegation of fraud as its sole foundation, the debt or demand may fairly be said to be one founded in fraud, and the action to be one founded upon a debt or claim from which the bankrupt's discharge would not release him. In re Whitehouse, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 429, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,564, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 63.

91. Bankr. Act (1898), § 9*a*.

The Act of 1867 provided that "no bankrupt shall be liable during the pendency of the proceedings in bankruptcy to arrest in any civil action, unless the same is founded on some debt or claim from which his discharge in bankruptcy would not release him." U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5107.

The referee shall protect the bankrupt from arrest from the day he is required to attend before him, until the final adjudication on his application for a discharge, unless suspended or vacated by order of the court. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, par. 1.

Security required from bankrupt.— Upon granting to the bankrupt protection from arrest a court of bankruptcy may require security that during the continuance of such protection he will not depart from the jurisdiction of the court and will obey its lawful orders. In re Lewensohn, 99 Fed. 73, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 594 [affirmed in 104 Fed. 1006, 44 C. C. A. 309].

When exemption begins.— The authority of a court of bankruptcy to release a bankrupt from imprisonment applies only to cases where the arrest is made after the commencement of proceedings in bankruptcy. In re Rank, Crabbe (U. S.) 493, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,566; In re Hoskins, Crabbe (U. S.) 466, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,712, 1 Pa. L. J. 287; Minon v. Van Nostrand, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 458, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,642, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 108 [affirmed in Holmes (U. S.) 251, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,641]; Hazleton v. Valentine, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 270, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,287, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 105, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 31; In re Walker, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 222, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,060, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 318; In re Cheney, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,636, 5 Law Rep. 19.

92. Bankr. Act (1898), § 10*a*.

This section states more specifically the power conferred upon courts of bankruptcy "to extradite bankrupts from their respective districts to other districts." Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (14); In re Ketchum, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 532. See also supra, II, B, 11.

93. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (7). See also supra, II, B; XII, D, 3.

As to the authority of trustee, receiver, or marshal to conduct the business of the bankrupt see Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (5); and supra, III, B, 1; III, C, 2; VI, B, 9; XII, D, 3.

As to duty of trustee to collect and reduce to money the property of a bankrupt's estate see Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (2); and supra, XII, D, 3.

94. Bankr. Act (1898), § 11*c*.

Abatement of actions by or against trustees in bankruptcy see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL, 1 Cyc. 69, note 47; 99, note 82; 124, note 93.

Actions for personal injury.— As has already been stated a right of action for damages in tort on account of personal injuries does not pass to the trustee. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*a* (6). See also supra, XII, F, 4, g. If such action has been commenced by the bankrupt prior to his adjudication, the trustee cannot continue such action even with the consent of a court of bankruptcy. In re Haensell, 91 Fed. 355, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 286.

As to the bankrupt estate.— If the pending suit affects property constituting any part of the bankrupt estate, the trustee may inter-

2. To Defend. The court may order the trustee to enter his appearance and defend any pending suit against the bankrupt.[95] In determining an application made by a trustee to intervene in a suit pending in a state court such court will be governed by the laws and judicial policy of the state.[96] The trustee is not absolutely bound to enter an appearance and defend a pending suit against the bankrupt; unless ordered by the court he may exercise his discretion.[97]

C. Limitations of Actions. Suits cannot be brought by or against a trustee of the bankrupt estate subsequent to two years after the estate has been closed.[98]

D. Arbitration[99] — 1. Submission. The trustee may, pursuant to the direcvene therein. If the fund is in the hands of a receiver appointed by a state court he may, as the representative of the bankrupt and his creditors, make himself a party to the proceedings and contest any claim against such fund. Loudon v. Blandford, 56 Ga. 150.

Substitution of trustee as plaintiff.— Where a receiver of partnership property has been appointed by a state court in a suit brought by one partner to procure a dissolution of the partnership, and such receiver has taken possession of the property of the firm and collected its debts, a court of bankruptcy will not compel a delivery of the assets in the hands of the receiver to the trustee. In such a case the proper proceeding is for the trustee to procure authority from the court of bankruptcy to move in the state court for an order substituting him as plaintiff in the case, and then to move for an entry of a decree settling the partnership accounts, and for an order directing a transfer of the assets to him by the receiver. In re Price, 92 Fed. 987, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 606. See also Appeal and Error, 2 Cyc. 630, 782, note 97; Attachment, 4 Cyc. 848.

95. Bankr. Act (1898), § 11*b*.

96. Bank of Commerce v. Elliott, 109 Wis. 648, 655, 85 N. W. 417, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 409, where it was contended that when the federal court issues an order directing the trustee to defend a pending suit in a state court, it was the duty of the state court to give effect to such order by granting the motion to make him a party to such action. The court said: "If an order be made under it [section 11*b* of the Bankruptcy Act] commanding a trustee to intervene in the state court in an action to which the bankrupt is a party, the former performs his full duty when he makes the proper application to such court to be let in to such action. In disposing of such application the statutes of the state, and the rules and practice of its court, must necessarily govern, the same as when any other party invokes the court's jurisdiction." The federal statute, however mandatory its terms, does not control the practice in state courts, and was not intended to do so. National Distilling Co. v. Seidel, 103 Wis. 489, 79 N. W. 744.

An action to foreclose a mortgage upon the bankrupt's property, brought in a state court after the adjudication, will not be enjoined by the bankruptcy court upon petition of the trustee, but the court, in the exercise of its discretion, will leave the matter to the jurisdiction of the state court which is perfectly competent to settle all the matters involved, and will direct the trustee to intervene in the action for the purpose of protecting the creditors of the bankrupt. In re Porter, 109 Fed 111, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 259. Compare Neiman v. Shoolbraid, 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. (Pa.) 301; In re Riker, 107 Fed. 96, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 720.

Objection to a petition of intervention by a trustee in bankruptcy that it failed to allege that the bankrupt had been adjudged a bankrupt is obviated by an answer containing such allegation, though a demurrer to the paragraph of answer containing the allegation is sustained. Jones v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 61 S. W. 553.

97. Chicago Traders' Bank v. Campbell, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 87, 20 L. ed. 832, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 353, decided under the Act of 1867, which differed in language from the provisions of the present law. But it would seem that the words are still permissive rather than mandatory, and that the trustee is not required to defend a pending suit unless ordered by the court. See also Reade v. Waterhouse, 52 N. Y. 587, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 277.

Objection that a trustee could not intervene in an action without leave of court cannot be first made after verdict. Jones v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 61 S. W. 553.

98. Bankr. Act (189°), § 11*d*.

The limitation here prescribed is independent of any state statute of limitation and expressly bars the commencing of a suit against a trustee, even if the limitation prescribed by the state law has not yet expired. Freelander v. Holloman, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,081, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 331. See, generally, Limitations of Actions.

There is no express provision in the Act stating when an estate is deemed closed; impliedly an estate would be closed whenever the final accounts of the trustee or trustees have been approved and the bankrupt has been discharged. Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (8).

99. See, generally, Arbitration and Award, 3 Cyc. 568.

The validity of an award is not necessarily affected by the bankruptcy of a party after the submission and before the execution of the award. Russell Arb. & Award (8th ed.) [citing Ex p. Edwards, 3 Mor. Bankr. Cas. 179]. Compare Russell Arb. & Award (8th ed.) [citing Rex v. Bingham, 1 L. J. Exch. 62, 2 Tyrw. 46]. Bankruptcy of a party does tion of the court, submit to arbitration any controversies arising in the settlement of the estate.[1]

2. FINDING OF ARBITRATORS. The written finding of the arbitrators, or a majority of them, as to the issues presented may be filed in court, and shall have like force and effect as the verdict of a jury.[2]

E. Compromise.[3] The trustee may, with the approval of the court, compromise any controversy arising in the administration of the estate upon such terms as he may deem for the best interests of the estate.[4]

F. Set-Off and Counter-Claim[5] — 1. WHEN ALLOWED — a. In General. In all cases of mutual debts and mutual credits between the estate of the bankrupt and the creditor, the account shall be stated, and one debt shall be set off against the other and the balance shall be allowed or paid.[6] not, of itself, operate as a revocation, nor give the trustee power to revoke the submission. Andrews v. Palmer, 4 B. & Ald. 250, 23 Rev. Rep. 267, 6 E. C. L. 471; Hemsworth v. Brian, 1 C. B. 131, 2 Dowl. & L. 844, 14 L. J. C. P. 134, 50 E. C. L. 131; Snook v. Hellyer, 2 Chit. 43, 23 Rev. Rep. 741, 18 E. C. L. 493. And where the arbitrator is also the stakeholder, or money is placed in his hands to abide the award, the authority is coupled with an interest, and is not revoked by bankruptcy. Taylor v. Marling, 2 M. & G. 55, 2 Scott N. R. 374, 40 E. C. L. 488; Taylor v. Shuttleworth, 6 Bing. N. Cas. 277, 8 Dowl. P. C. 280, 9 L. J. C. P. 138, 8 Scott 565, 37 E. C. L. 621. But it has been held that the bankruptcy of one party will justify the other in revoking the submission. Marsh v. Wood, 9 B. & C. 659, 8 L. J. K. B. O. S. 327, 4 M. & R. 504, 17 E. C. L. 296. Proof of amount awarded to plaintiff was allowed as a provable debt, where after the award and before judgment the defendant committed an act of bankruptcy. Ex p. Harding, 5 De G. M. & G. 367, 54 Eng. Ch. 293.

1. Bankr. Act (1898), § 26*a*.

Application.— Whenever the trustee shall make application to the court for authority to submit a controversy arising in the settlement of a demand against the bankrupt's estate, or for a debt due to it, to the determination of arbitrators, the application shall clearly and distinctly set forth the subject-matter of the controversy and the reasons why the trustee thinks it proper and most for the interest of the estate that the controversy should be settled by arbitration or otherwise. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 33.

Appointment of arbitrators.— Three arbitrators shall be chosen by mutual consent, or one by the trustee, one by the other party to the controversy, and the third by the two so chosen, or if they fail to agree in five days after their appointment the third arbitrator shall be appointed by the court. Bankr. Act (1898), § 26*b*. The arbitrators must be chosen in strict conformity with this provision. In re McLam, 97 Fed. 922, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 245.

2. Bankr. Act (1898), § 26*c*.

Such finding is subject to be set aside or adjudged upon by the court in the same manner as a jury verdict. In re McLam, 97 Fed. 922, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 245.

3. See also, generally, COMPROMISE AND SETTLEMENT.

4. Bankr. Act (1898), § 27.

Effect of compromise.— Bankr. Act (1898), § 27, provides that the trustee "may, with the approval of the court," compromise any controversy arising in the proceedings. Section 56*a* provides that creditors shall pass on all matters submitted to them at their meetings by a majority vote. Section 58*a* (7) provides for notice to creditors of proposed compromise of any controversy. It was held that the action of the creditors on any compromise offered on claims due the estate of the bankrupt is not conclusive, but may, for good cause, be disallowed by the court under section 27, as the compromise when determined must be carried out and executed by the trustee under the "approval of the court." In re Heyman, 108 Fed. 207, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 808.

For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 348.

The application made by the trustee therefor must clearly and distinctly set forth the subject-matter of the controversy, and the reasons why he thinks it most for the interest of the estate that the controversy should be compromised. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 33.

Under the Act of 1867, which contained an analogous provision, it was held that the court was not authorized to make an order permitting the assignee, with the approval of a committee of the creditors, to compromise any and all debts that to him seemed best. Each case should be brought before the court by the assignee and the special facts which make it proper to compromise should be set forth. In re Dibblee, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 354, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,885, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 72.

5. See, generally, RECOUPMENT, SET-OFF, AND COUNTER-CLAIM.

6. Bankr. Act (1898), § 68*a*.

Bankr. Act (1867), § 20, provided "that in all cases of mutual debts or mutual credits between the parties, the account between them shall be stated, and one debt set off against the other, and the balance only shall be allowed or paid." In considering this section

b. Meaning of "Debt." The word "debt" as here used includes any debt, demand, or claim provable in bankruptcy.[7] A set-off or counter-claim which is not provable against the estate shall not be allowed in favor of any debtor or of the bankrupt.[8]

c. Meaning of "Mutual Credits" — (i) Definition. The term "mutual credit" as used in equity means a credit agreed upon by the parties, or arising out of connected transactions.[9] But in bankruptcy statutes "mutual credits" are extended to mean that the parties are, or in the natural course of events will be, creditors of each other.[10] the court, in Sawyer v. Hoag, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 610, 21 L. ed. 731, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 145, said: "This section was not intended to enlarge the doctrine of set-off, or to enable the party to make a set-off in cases where the principles of legal or equitable set-off did not previously authorize it. The debts must be mutual; must be in the same right."

Setting off preference against new credit.— Though payment made to creditors by a bankrupt in good faith and without knowledge of his insolvency induced a new credit, it did not amount to a preference, within section 60*c*, providing for a set-off of a preference against a new credit. In re Ratliff, 107 Fed. 80, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 713. See also supra, XVI, C.

7. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (11), supra, note 8, p. 238.

A debt payable in futuro may be set off against a debt in præsenti. Drake v. Rollo, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 273, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,066, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 284, 18 Int. Rev. Rec. 159, 2 Ins. L. J. 935, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 689; In re City Sav., etc., Bank, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,742, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 81, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 71, 6 West. Jur. 65.

8. Bankr. Act (1898), § 68*b*.

The intent of this provision is to permit a set-off or counter-claim of only such debts as are provable under the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a*. A debt, the liability upon which had not accrued to the bankrupt but subsequently accrued to a trustee, may be set off when the claim and liability are mutual. In re Crystal Spring Bottling Co., 100 Fed. 265, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 55.

A creditor of a bankrupt, who is also his debtor in a larger amount, will not be permitted to prove his claim against the estate so long as his own debt remains unpaid. In re Gerson, 105 Fed. 893, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 850.

A surety it seems, who pays the debt of his bankrupt principal, after the adjudication in bankruptcy, may set off the amount so paid against his own debt to the bankrupt. In re Dillon, 100 Fed. 627, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63.

Under the Act of 1867 it was provided that no set-off should be allowed in favor of any debtor of the bankrupt of a claim in its nature not provable in bankruptcy. Bankr. Act (1867), § 20. Under this provision it was held that a creditor might retain money due to the bankrupt and apply it to his claim, although he had attempted to obtain a preference thereon, since the debt is a valid debt against the bankrupt, although it could not be provable. Clark v. Iselin, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 360, 22 L. ed. 568, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 19.

9. Story Eq. Jur. § 1435.

10. Lowell Bankr. § 255. The term "mutual credits" in the Bankruptcy Act is more comprehensive than the term "mutual debts" in the statutes relating to set-off. The term "credit" is synonymous with the term "trust," and the trust or credit need not be of money on both sides. Where a creditor has goods or choses in action of the bankrupt put in his hands before bankruptcy by a valid contract, by the terms of which the deposit will result in a debt, as if they were deposited for sale or collection, the case of mutual credit has arisen within the meaning of the Bankrupt Act. Murray v. Riggs, 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 571; Ex p. Caylus, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 550, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,534; Catlin v. Foster, 1 Sawy. (U. S.) 37, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,519, 3 Am. L. T. 134, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 192, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 540.

Mutual debts and mutual credits.— Rose v. Hart, 2 Moore C. P. 547, 8 Taunt. 499, 506, 20 Rev. Rep. 533, 4 E. C. L. 248, 2 Smith Lead. Cas. 172, is a leading case on this question. The court there said: "Something more is certainly meant here by mutual credits than the words mutual debts import; and yet, upon the final settlement, it is enacted merely that one debt shall be set against another. We think this shews that the legislature meant such credits only as must in their nature terminate in debts, as where a debt is due from one party, and credit given by him on the other for a sum of money payable at a future day, and which will then become a debt, or where there is a debt on one side, and a delivery of property with directions to turn it into money on the other; in such case the credit given by the delivery of the property must in its nature terminate in a debt, the balance will be taken on the two debts, and the words of the statute will in all respects be complied with; but where there is a mere deposit of property, without any authority to turn it into money, no debt can ever arise out of it, and, therefore, it is not a credit within the meaning of the statute."

The terms "credits" and "debts" are used as correlative.— What is a debt on one side is a credit on the other, so that the term "credits" can have no broader meaning than the term "debts." There is no warrant in the language of this section or its contents for extending the term so as to include trusts. Libby v. Hopkins, 104 U. S. 303, 26 L. ed. 769.

(II) Mutuality. The debts and credits must be mutual.[11] The debts to be mutual must be owing and be due between the parties in the same rights and capacities.[12] The credit is not mutual unless there is a knowledge on both sides of an existing debt due the one party and the credit by the other party founded on and trusting to that debt as a means of payment.[13] The term "mutual credit" includes only such debts as might have been within the contemplation of the parties.[14] Payments in money intended to be applied upon an existing open account constituting a preference do not create a case of mutual debits and credits between the bankrupt and the creditor.[15] Since the relation between a bank and a depositor is that of debtor and creditor, a debt due to the bank on a loan may be set off against deposits.[16]

11. A separate debt cannot be set off against a joint debt in equity or in bankruptcy, unless they have grown out of a transaction under circumstances establishing that a joint credit had been given on account of the separate debt. Gray v. Rollo, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 629, 21 L. ed. 927; Forsyth v. Woods, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 484, 20 L. ed. 207; In re Crystal Spring Bottling Co., 100 Fed. 265, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 55.

12. Thus, a debt due to a person as a guardian or trustee cannot be set off against a debt owing by him individually. Bishop v. Church, 3 Atk. 691.

Debts due a corporation.— Upon the principle that the capital of a corporation is a trust for the payment of the debts due to creditors, it has been held that one could not set off an indebtedness due to him personally against a claim for an unpaid subscription to the corporate stock. And where, to evade this liability, he had made a nominal payment of his subscription, but had at the same time withdrawn an equivalent amount from the treasury of the corporation as a loan and given his note therefor, the purpose being to turn the firm liability into a contract liability, the whole transaction was held to be fraudulent. Sawyer v. Hoag, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 610, 21 L. ed. 731, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 145. See also Jenkins v. Armour, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 312, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,260, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 267, 22 Int. Rev. Rec. 169, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 276; Scammon v. Kimball, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 431, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,435, 6 Am. L. T. Rep. 424, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 284, 2 Ins. L. J. 775, 18 Int. Rev. Rec. 118, 5 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 321, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 337; Drake v. Rollo, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 273, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,066, 4 Chic. Leg. N. 284, 2 Ins. L. J. 935, 18 Int. Rev. Rec. 159, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 689.

Where one owes an unpaid subscription to the capital stock of a corporation and has a claim against the same corporation, he cannot prove his claim in bankruptcy until he has fully paid his subscription to the capital stock. After the insolvency of the corporation he cannot set off his claim against his indebtedness. In re Wiener, etc., Shoe Co., 96 Fed. 949, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 200.

13. Munger v. Albany City Nat. Bank, 85 N. Y. 580.

Transactions with same persons constituting separate firms.— It has been held that where the same persons constitute separate firms doing business under different names, if a party has credit with one firm and an indebtedness with the other, the indebtedness due to the latter cannot be set off against the credit with the former, unless the party knew that both firms were composed of the same persons and the course of business between them showed that his transactions with each firm were considered as having a connection. Sparhawk v. Drexel, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,204, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 450, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 560.

14. If property is intrusted with another to be applied for a specific purpose, with no intention of creating a debt, no credit is thereby given which can be set off. Libby v. Hopkins, 104 U. S. 303, 26 L. ed. 769.

Where securities have been deposited with one as collateral to a debt owing to him with the power of sale existing at the time of the bankruptcy, notwithstanding that there was a promise implied by law, if not express, to return the surplus, he is not prevented from holding the surplus and using it as a set-off, unless the property was intrusted to him for a particular purpose, inconsistent with such application of the surplus, so that to retain it would be a fraud or breach of trust. Ex p. Whiting, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 472, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,573, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 307.

15. Payments in money on account.—In re Christensen, 101 Fed. 802, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 202.

Cash payments on account within four months prior to the filing of the petition against a bankrupt are not mutual debits and credits as contemplated by section 68*a* of the Bankruptcy Act, and the creditors cannot be permitted to have an accounting of all transactions between them and the bankrupt, both prior to and during such four months, and to have their claims allowed for the balance shown by such accounting. In re Ryan, 105 Fed. 760, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 396. See also McKey v. Lee, 105 Fed. 923, 45 C. C. A. 127, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 267.

16. Set-off of loans against deposits in bank.— In re Little, 110 Fed. 621, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 681 (where it was held that the amount of the bankrupt's credit in the bank at the time of filing his petition in bankruptcy may be set off against a debt due from him to the bank); In re Myers, 99 Fed. 691, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 760; In re Petrie, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 110, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,040, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 332; In re Madison Bank, 5 Biss.

2. Purchase or Transfer of Claims Within Four Months Prior to Filing of Petition. A set-off or counter-claim cannot be allowed in favor of a debtor of the bankrupt which was purchased by, or transferred to, him after the filing of the petition, or within four months before such filing, with a view to such use and with knowledge or notice that such bankrupt was insolvent or had committed an act of bankruptcy.[17]

G. Sale of Property[18] — 1. Duty of Trustee. It is made the duty of the trustee to reduce to money the property of the estate under the direction of the court.[19]

2. Approval of Court. Real and personal property must, when practicable, be sold, subject to the approval of the court; it must not be sold otherwise than subject to such approval for less than seventy-five per centum of its appraised value.[20]

3. How Conducted. All sales shall be by public auction, unless otherwise ordered by the court.[21]

(U. S.) 515, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 890, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 184.

17. Bankr. Act (1898), § 68*b* (2). Under the former Act it was provided that no set-off should be allowed in favor of a debtor of the bankrupt of a claim purchased by, or transferred to, him after the filing of the petition. Bankr. Act (1867), § 20.

This provision was evidently inserted for the purpose of preventing the purchase of outstanding claims against the bankrupt at a discount and offsetting them against the amount due by the purchaser to the bankrupt. There must be an intent to so use the claims purchased in order to prevent their use as offsets. Collier Bankr. (3d ed.) 448.

18. See, generally, Judicial Sales.

Order in nature of writ of assistance.— Where the homestead of the bankrupt has been sold, pursuant to an order of the bankruptcy court, to satisfy a debt secured upon it by a deed of trust or mortgage, such court has jurisdiction to order the bankrupt to deliver up possession of the property to the purchaser. In re Betts, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 93, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,371, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 536, 7 Reporter 522, 4 Cent. L. J. 558, 24 Pittsb. L. J. (Pa.) 195. See, generally, Assistance, Writ of, 4 Cyc. 289.

19. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (2). See also supra, XII, D, 3; XVIII, A.

20. Bankr. Act (1898), § 70*b*.

As to the appraisal of property see supra, XIII.

Discretion as to approval.— Where a creditor of the bankrupt was secured both by a mortgage of personalty and a mortgage of realty, and there was some doubt as to the property covered by the chattel mortgage, and the referee ordered the trustee to sell the personal property free of encumbrances, which was done, for a price found to be its fair cash value, though this was less than the amount of the mortgage debt, it was held that the referee's approval of the sale thus made was within the fair exercise of his discretion. In re Sanborn, 96 Fed. 551, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 54.

Effect of want of approval.— Where a court of bankruptcy ordered an assignee to sell real estate at public sale, without a direction that the sale be reported to the court, a purchaser at such sale acquired a good title though the sale was not reported for approval. James v. Koy, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 295.

When court will not approve of sale.— Although a court of bankruptcy may sell a bankrupt's real estate discharged of all liens the sale should not be ordered unless the court is satisfied that the interests of general creditors would thus be advanced, and that the interests of the lien creditors would not be injuriously affected. In re Shaeffer, 105 Fed. 352, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 248; In re Styer, 98 Fed. 290, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 424.

When sale will not be set aside for inadequacy of price.— A sale which has been regularly and fairly made by the trustee in bankruptcy will not be set aside, nor will the court refuse to confirm it upon objections or exceptions that the price received was inadequate and when the objecting or excepting party is a creditor who was present and who was a bidder at the sale, even though at the time of objecting he offers to bid slightly more. In re Thompson, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 216.

21. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 18, par. 1.

Upon application to the court, and for good cause shown, the trustee may be authorized to sell any specific portion of the bankrupt estate at private sale; in such case he shall keep an account of each article sold, the price sold for, and to whom sold; which account he shall file at once with the referee. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 18, par. 2.

For form of petition for sale by auction of real estate see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 42; 89 Fed. xlix.

Form of order for sale by auction of real estate is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 42; 89 Fed. xlix.

Form of petition for private sale is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 45; 89 Fed. li.

Form of order for private sale is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 45; 89 Fed. li.

Considered a judicial sale.— A sale and conveyance by a district court in bankruptcy

4. When Property Is Encumbered. The trustee is not required to take charge of or sell any portion of the estate that is so heavily encumbered with valid liens that nothing can be realized therefrom for the unsecured creditors.[22] The power to order the sale of encumbered property is discretionary and should not be exercised where it appears that the liens are valid and exceed in amount the value of the property encumbered by them.[23] The court, including the referee, may authorize, under proper circumstances, the sale of property free and clear from mortgages or other liens, and preserve such liens by transferring them to the funds which are the proceeds of the sale.[24] proceedings is a judicial sale, and therefore valid, though the land is held adversely. Carlisle v. Cassady, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 562, 46 S. W. 490.

Place of sale.— A statute providing that lands taken in execution shall be sold in the county where the land is situated has no application to a proceeding in bankruptcy in a federal court, and an assignee in bankruptcy may conduct a sale of land in a county other than that in which the land is situated. James v. Koy, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 295.

Time of sale.— Where an assignee in bankruptcy was authorized to sell the property acquired under such proceedings, the fact that he did not sell the same until six years from the filing of the petition in bankruptcy had expired did not invalidate the conveyance. Potter v. Martin, 122 Mich. 542, 81 N. W. 424.

Validity presumed, when.— After the lapse of many years, during which all the parties in interest have acquiesced in a sale of land made in a bankruptcy proceeding, the sale will not be treated as void in a collateral proceeding in the state court; the presumption being that the assignee did his duty, and paid out the proceeds of sale in the bankruptcy case. Buckler v. Rogers, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1265, 54 S. W. 848, 53 S. W. 529.

22. Sessions v. Romadka, 145 U. S. 29, 12 S. Ct. 799, 36 L. ed. 609; Sparhawk v. Yerkes, 142 U. S. 1, 12 S. Ct. 104, 35 L. ed. 915; Glenny v. Langdon, 98 U. S. 20, 25 L. ed. 43. See also supra, XVI, B.

Redemption of property.—Whenever it may be deemed for the benefit of the estate of a bankrupt to redeem and discharge any mortgage or other pledge, or deposit or lien, upon any property, real or personal, or to relieve said property from any conditional contract, and to tender performance of the conditions thereof, or to compound and settle any debts or other claims due or belonging to the estate of the bankrupt, the trustee, or the bankrupt, or any creditor who has proved his debt, may file his petition therefor; and thereupon the court shall appoint a suitable time and place for the hearing thereof, notice of which shall be given as the court shall direct, so that all creditors and other persons interested may appear and show cause, if any they have, why an order should not be passed by the court upon the petition authorizing such act on the part of the trustee. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. xxviii.

For forms of petition and order for redemption of property from lien see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 43; 89 Fed. xlix.

23. Power to order sale discretionary.— In re Cogley, 107 Fed. 73, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 731. It is not a question of jurisdiction or of right, but of discretion. The fact which determines the exercise of this discretion is whether or not the general creditors of the bankrupt have any interest to be promoted by it. If it appears to the court that the liens are valid and that they exceed in value the real estate encumbered by them, there can be no reason for the exercise of the powers of the bankruptcy court. In re Dillard, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 190, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,912, 6 Am. L. T. Rep. 490, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 8, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 82.

Form of petition for sale subject to lien is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 44; 89 Fed. li.

Form of order for sale subject to lien is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 44; 89 Fed. li.

24. Sale free from liens.—In re Matthews, 109 Fed. 603, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 96; In re Barber, 97 Fed. 547, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306; Southern L. & T. Co. v. Benbow, 96 Fed. 514, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 9; In re Pittelkow, 92 Fed. 901, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472; In re Worland, 92 Fed. 893, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 450. Under the Act of 1867 the cases were uniformly in favor of the proposition stated in the text. Factors', etc., Ins. Co. v. Murphy, 111 U. S. 738, 4 S. Ct. 679, 28 L. ed. 582; Ray v. Norseworthy, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 128, 23 L. ed. 116; In re Kahley, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 383, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,593, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 378; In re Kirtland, 10 Blatchf. (U. S.) 515, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,851; Foster v. Ames, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 313, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,965, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 455; Sutherland v. Lake Superior Ship Canal, etc., Co., 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,643, 1 Centr. L. J. 127, 9 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 298.

But the court will not order a trustee to sell the bankrupt's real property free of liens, unless satisfied that the interests of the general creditors will be advanced thereby, and that the interests of creditors holding liens on such property will not be injuriously affected. In re Styer, 98 Fed. 290, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 424.

Interests of mortgagees and creditors to be considered.— Upon a hearing of an application for an order of sale of mortgaged property free from encumbrances, it is the duty of the court to consider the interests of

5. When Property Is Perishable. Upon petition by a bankrupt, creditor, receiver, or trustee setting forth that a part or the whole of the bankrupt's estate is perishable, the nature and location of such perishable estate, and that there will be loss if the same is not sold immediately, the court, if satisfied of the facts stated, and that the sale is required in the interests of the estate, may order the same to be sold with or without notice to the creditors, and the proceeds to be deposited in court.[25]

6. Wife's Dower, How Affected. A sale by the trustee of real property does not bar the wife's right of claim of dower.[26]

H. Distribution of Assets — 1. Priority of Payment of Debts — a. Taxes. The court must order the trustee to pay all taxes legally due and owing before the bankruptcy to the United States, state, county, district, or municipality, in advance of the payment of dividends to creditors, and upon filing the receipts of the proper public officers for such payment he shall be credited with the amount thereof, and in case any question arises as to the amount or legality of any such tax the same shall be heard and determined by the court.[27] mortgagees and other secured creditors as well as those of general creditors; and unless it is apparent (1) that the mortgaged premises in the given case will probably realize upon a sale an amount substantially in excess of the mortgage; and (2) that there are no complications by dower rights, conveyances, or other conditions which require foreclosure upon the mortgage, the power to proceed summarily by sale including the interest of the mortgagee, should not be exercised. In re Pittelkow, 92 Fed. 901, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 472. See also In re Barber, 97 Fed. 547, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306.

Payment of expenses.— Where the mortgaged property has been sold by the trustee in bankruptcy under an order of the district court the expenses of the sale, including advertisement, appraisement, if appraisement was required by law, revenue stamps, and the compensation of the referee, not exceeding that of a master in chancery if the sale had been made by him under a decree of the state court, should be paid out of the proceeds of the sale; but the attorneys, the clerk, and the marshal should not be paid for services not directly connected with the sale. In re Utt, 105 Fed. 754, 45 C. C. A. 32, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383.

That the referee, sitting as a court of bankruptcy, has power to order and approve a sale free of encumbrances of property in the possession of the trustee on notice to the encumbrancer seems to be clear. So held under similar provisions in this respect in the Act of 1841. Ray v. Norseworthy, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 128, 23 L. ed. 116; Houston v. New Orleans City Bank, 6 How. (U. S.) 486, 12 L. ed. 526; Ex p. New Orleans City Bank, 3 How. (U. S.) 292, 11 L. ed. 603. The same conclusion was reached on the corresponding provision of the Act of 1867. Ray v. Norseworthy, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 128, 23 L. ed. 116. Such a sale will not be set aside where it would be necessary to gather back numerous articles and animals of small and changeable value and to return the prices paid to purchasers, and would give to the mortgagee the right only to have them sold again in the same way. In re Sanborn, 96 Fed. 551, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 54.

25. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 18, par. 3.

Form of petition for sale of perishable property is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 46; 89 Fed. li.

Form of order for sale of perishable property is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 46; 89 Fed. lii.

When order of sale will be made.— In In re T. L. Kelly Dry-Goods Co., 102 Fed. 747, 749, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528, the court said: "It has been the uniform practice of this court, under the act, to make no order of sale until after adjudication of bankruptcy; and, unless the property is of such nature that immediate sale is necessary to preserve its value, such rule will be maintained. Whether the facts stated justified a departure in this instance — consent appearing on the part of the bankrupt and other creditors — is not deemed material for present purposes, as a fair sum was realized, and no showing is presented of injurious effect upon any interests."

26. Porter v. Lazear, 109 U. S. 84, 3 S. Ct. 58, 27 L. ed. 865. In In re Shaeffer, 105 Fed. 352, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 248, the court said: "Even if the reasoning of the decision in Porter v. Lazear, which was made under the act of 1867, should be regarded as inapplicable now,— a position to which I do not assent,— section 8 of the act of 1898 expressly saves the wife's inchoate right of dower, and such a provision was not found in the preceding act."

27. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*a*. Construing the section see In re Anson, 101 Fed. 698, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 231; In re Ott, 95 Fed. 274, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 637.

Discharge does not release bankrupt from the payment of taxes. Bankr. Act (1898), § 17*a* (1). See also infra, XIX, E, 5.

Payment of taxes on property sold.— The manifest intent of the Bankruptcy Act is that while the estate is in the hands of the trustee his custody shall not constitute a barrier to prevent the collection of taxes which would

b. Other Debts Which Have Priority. The debts to have priority, except as otherwise provided by the Act, and to be paid in full out of the bankrupt estates, and the order of payment shall be (1) the actual and necessary cost of preserving the estate subsequent to the filing of the petition;[28] (2) the filing fees paid by creditors in involuntary cases;[29] (3) the cost of administration,[30] including the fees and mileage payable to witnesses as now or hereafter provided by the laws of the United States,[31] and one reasonable attorney's fee for the professional services actually rendered, irrespective of the number of attorneys employed, to the petitioning creditors in involuntary cases, to the bankrupt in involuntary cases while performing the duties prescribed by the Act, and to the bankrupt in voluntary cases, as the court may allow;[32] (4) wages due to workmen, clerks, or servants be collectable under the law, if the property had remained in the possession and control of the bankrupt himself. But where the goods have been sold by the trustee and the vendees have resisted payment of the taxes because they accrued before the sale to them, it is the duty of the trustee to have the goods assessed at a fair valuation in his name and to pay the amount which can be legally assessed thereon. In re Conhaim, 100 Fed. 268, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 58.

Priority over secured creditors.—Taxes due and owing by the bankrupt at the time of the adjudication are a prior claim and must be paid before the secured creditors. Matter of Hilberg, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 714.

Taxes on exempt property.—The trustee in bankruptcy must pay taxes levied upon exempt property out of the general assets of the estate, although such taxes are a lien upon such exempt property. In re Tilden, 91 Fed. 500, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 300; In re Baker, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 526.

Taxes on mortgaged property.—Where real property is mortgaged for an amount which, including the taxes, would exceed the value of the property, and under a state statute the taxes are a prior secured lien upon such property, the trustee will not be ordered to pay such taxes, since the effect would be to give the mortgagee an additional advantage over the general creditors. In re Veitch, 101 Fed. 251, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 112. See also In re Hollenfeltz, 94 Fed. 629, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 499.

Taxes paid by remainderman.— Where taxes, chargeable upon the life-estate of the bankrupt and payable by his trustee, have been charged upon the remaindermen, and in effect paid by them, such remaindermen have an equitable claim upon the funds in the trustee's hands for reimbursement which should be recognized in bankruptcy. In re Force, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 114.

Priority of debts due the United States.— U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 3466. See also supra, XI, A, 5.

28. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b*.

Cost of preserving estate.— The necessary costs of preserving the estate prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy are not entitled to priority (In re Allen, 96 Fed. 512, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 38); but after filing the petition the actual and necessary costs of preserving such estate are a prior claim (Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b* (1)). So where an attaching creditor continues in possession of the property, after the dissolution of the attachment by an adjudication in bankruptcy, he may be given priority for the cost actually and necessarily incurred of preserving the estate after the adjudication and until the qualification of the trustee. In re Allen, 96 Fed. 512, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 38.

29. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b* (2).

These fees include the fee of ten dollars deposited with the clerk for the referee, the clerk's fee of ten dollars, and the fee of five dollars for the trustee. Bankr. Act (1898), §§ 40*a*, 48*a*, 52*a*. See supra, III, A, 2, d.

30. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b* (3). See also In re Neely, 108 Fed. 371, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 836; In re Beaver Coal Co., 107 Fed. 98, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 787; In re Utt, 105 Fed. 754, 45 C. C. A. 32, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383; Stearns v. Flick, 103 Fed. 919, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 723; In re Tebo, 101 Fed. 419, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235; In re Lewis, 99 Fed. 935, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 51; In re Statts, 93 Fed. 438, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 641; In re Beck, 92 Fed. 889, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 535. Compare In re Sanderlin, 109 Fed. 857, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 384, holding that where a firm gives a mortgage on its property, and afterward is dissolved, one of the partners taking its assets and assuming its debts, and bankruptcy proceedings are then had against such partner, costs of sale should first be paid from the proceeds of the property, and the mortgage then be paid, instead of the mortgagee being charged a proportionate part thereof.

The costs of administration are a prior lien upon the assets of the bankrupt estate before there is any distribution thereof to creditors. In re Tebo, 101 Fed. 419, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235.

The expenses of a referee, including a reasonable allowance for clerk hire, are entitled to priority. In re Tebo, 101 Fed. 419, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235.

A stenographer may be employed at the expense of the estate which is being administered, but it has been held that a claim for his services should not be allowed for the benefit of general creditors at the expense of a claim for wages by laborers. In re Razinsky, 101 Fed. 229, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 830.

31. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b* (3). See also supra, III, D, 3, f.

32. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b* (3).

Attorney's fees.— In re Curtis, 100 Fed.

which have been earned within three months before the date of the commencement of proceedings, not to exceed three hundred dollars to each claimant;[33] and (5) debts owing to any person who, by the laws of the states or the United States, is entitled to priority.[34]

784, 41 C. C. A. 59, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17. See also In re Tebo, 101 Fed. 419, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235; In re Dreeben, 101 Fed. 110, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 146; In re O'Connell, 98 Fed. 83, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 422; In re Burrus, 97 Fed. 926, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296; In re Silverman, 97 Fed. 325, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 227; In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 950, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 154; In re Woodard, 95 Fed. 955, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 692; In re Knight, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 560 note. The fact that a claim for an attorney's fee was not presented until after the first dividend had been declared does not destroy its priority of payment out of any funds on hand when the claim is properly proved and allowed. In re Scott, 96 Fed. 607, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 324.

33. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b* (4). Construing this section see In re Tebo, 101 Fed. 419, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235; In re Dreeben, 101 Fed. 110, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 146; In re Rouse, 91 Fed. 514, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 231.

Nature and extent of the priority.— It was not intended that the priority given to claims for wages should affect or impair the lien of a mortgage on real property. In re Frick, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 719. The priority given to such claims by subdivision 4 of section 64*b* of the Act is not enlarged by the subsequent subdivision of that section which recognizes the priority given to debts by state statutes. In re Rouse, 91 Fed. 96, 63 U. S. App. 570, 33 C. C. A. 356, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 234.

Priority of claims for wages provided for in the Act is independent of the provisions of state statutes making such claims specific liens upon property. In re Kerby-Dennis Co., 95 Fed. 116, 36 C. C. A. 677, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 402 [affirming 94 Fed. 818, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 218]. See also In re Shaw, 109 Fed. 782, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 501.

State liens of laborers on real property.— Under a state statute providing for a lien to laborers upon all the real property of the employer superior to certain other liens specified in such statute, it has been held that where a laborer's lien attached prior to the vesting of the bankrupt's estate in his trustee, its priority should be recognized in accordance with the state statute, notwithstanding the contrary provision contained in the Act. In re Laird, 109 Fed. 550, 48 C. C. A. 538, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1. But see In re Rouse, 91 Fed. 96, 63 U. S. App. 570, 33 C. C. A. 356, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 234, which apparently holds that the priority of claims for laborers for wages is to be determined by Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b* (4), regardless of the fact that under state statutes a general lien is created in favor of laborers for wages earned at any time prior to the cessation of business by the employer.

Who is a wage-earner or workman.— A wage-earner is defined as meaning an individual who works for wages, salary, or hire, at a rate of compensation not exceeding one thousand and five hundred dollars per year. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (27), supra, note 8, p. 238. But it would seem that the definition of wage-earner as contained in the Bankruptcy Act is not controlling in determining what claims are entitled to priority under the provisions of the statute giving priority to a certain extent to wages due to workmen, clerks, or servants. If it was intended that such definition should control congress would doubtless have used the word "wage-earner" in section 64 instead of the language actually employed. In re Scanlan, 97 Fed. 26, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 202. A person working for a commission on sales made by him is not a wage-earner. In re Mayer, 101 Fed. 227, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 119. A traveling salesman is not a workman, clerk, or servant and is not entitled to priority of payment (In re Greenewald, 99 Fed. 705, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 696; In re Scanlan, 97 Fed. 26, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 202 [but see contra, In re Lawler, 110 Fed. 135, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 184]); but a salesman or clerk who sells at retail at a store is entitled to such priority (In re Flick, 105 Fed. 503, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 465; In re Greenewald, 99 Fed. 705, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 696). The term "workman" does not include a person who performs labor and furnishes material under an express contract, where the claim is based upon the use of the machinery, factory, and employees of the alleged workman. In re Rose, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 68. The president and officers of a corporation are not servants who are entitled to priority. In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 950, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 154; In re Grubbs-Wiley Grocery Co., 96 Fed. 183, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 442.

Wages to have priority must be due to the wage-earner at the time the proceedings in bankruptcy are instituted, and if an assignment of such wages is made prior to the filing of the petition the assignees are not entitled to such priority. In re Westlund, 99 Fed. 399, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 646.

When assignment made after filing of petition.— Where an assignment of a claim for wages due is made after the filing of the petition it is entitled to priority to the same extent as though no assignment had been made. In re Campbell, 102 Fed. 686, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 535. See also In re Brown, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 142, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,974, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 720.

34. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b*. See also In re Oconee Milling Co., 109 Fed. 866, 48 C. C. A. 703, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 475; In re Wood, 95 Fed. 946, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 695; In re Wright, 95 Fed. 807, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 592.

c. Upon Confirmation of Composition or Revocation of Discharge. In the event of the confirmation of a composition being set aside or a discharge revoked, the property acquired by the bankrupt in addition to his estate at the time the composition was confirmed or the adjudication was made shall be applied to the payment in full of the claims of creditors for property sold to him on credit, in good faith, while such composition or discharge was in force, and the residue, if any, shall be applied to the payment of the debts which were owing at the time of the adjudication.[35]

2. Dividends — a. Definition. The word "dividend" is a business term applied to the division among stock-holders of a fund arising from profits, or to the division among creditors of an insolvent of the fund arising from the assets of the insolvent's estate.[36]

b. Declaration and Payment — (I) In General. Referees must declare dividends and prepare and deliver to trustees dividend sheets showing the dividends declared and to whom payable.[37] It is the duty of the trustee, within ten days after they are declared by the referees, to pay dividends to the persons entitled thereto.[38]

(II) On What Claims Declared. Dividends of an equal per centum must be declared and paid on all allowed claims, except such as have priority and are secured.[39]

(III) When and How Declared. The first dividend must be declared within thirty days after the adjudication, if the money of the estate in excess of the amount necessary to pay the debts which have priority and such claims as have

It was the intention of congress to recognize by this provision all liens created under the laws of the state, and to leave them precisely as it found them. In re Falls City Shirt Mfg. Co., 98 Fed. 592, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 437; In re Byrne, 97 Fed. 762, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 268.

Claims of counties which are provable against the bankrupt and are entitled to priority under a state statute are also entitled to priority in bankruptcy. In re Worcester County, 102 Fed. 808, 42 C. C. A. 637, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 496.

Priority for rents due.— Under the laws of many of the states a landlord is entitled to priority for rent due out of the funds arising from the sale of the tenant's property. The lien thus created is entitled to recognition. In re Byrne, 97 Fed. 762, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 268; In re Goldstein, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 603; In re Gerson, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 170. In In re Jefferson, 93 Fed. 948, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 206, it was held that a state statute which provides that in cases where the tenant's property on the premises is levied upon under an execution or attachment a year's rent to accrue shall be paid out of the proceeds as a prior claim is not applicable to cases in bankruptcy.

As to provability of claims for rent to accrue see supra, XI, A, 10.

Priority of sheriff's fees under a Massachusetts statute provided for in insolvency proceedings will be recognized and enforced in courts of bankruptcy by virtue of Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*b*. In re Lewis, 99 Fed. 935. 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 51. But see as to sheriff's fees on attachment, where the lien of the judgment is subsequently destroyed by bankruptcy, In re Daniels, 110 Fed. 745, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 699; In re Beaver Coal Co., 110 Fed. 630, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 404.

35. Bankr. Act (1898), § 64*c*.

36. Apportionment of dividends.— Dividends upon profits may be apportioned at one rate to the holders of preferred stock, and at another rate to the holders of common stock. So, in insolvency, a creditor having priority may be paid in full, yet such payment is just as certainly his dividend or share of the fund as is the small percentage on his claim which the general creditor may receive from the same fund. A dividend in bankruptcy is a parcel of the fund arising from the assets of the estate rightfully allotted to a creditor entitled to share in the fund, whether in the same proportion with the other creditors or in different proportion. In re Barber, 97 Fed. 547, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 306. But see In re Fielding, 96 Fed. 800, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 135; In re Ft. Wayne Electric Corp., 94 Fed. 103, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 706; In re Sabine, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 322. Compare, generally, as to dividends, Corporations.

37. Referee must declare.— Bankr. Act (1898), § 39*a* (1). See also supra, III, D, 4, b.

For form of dividend sheets see U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 40; 89 Fed. xlviii.

The referee is entitled to commissions on dividends paid. Bankr. Act (1898), § 40*a*; and supra, III, D, 6.

38. Bankr. Act (1898), § 47*a* (9). See also supra, XII, D, 9.

Trustees are entitled to commission on dividends paid. Bankr. Act (1898), § 48; and supra, XII, G.

39. Bankr. Act (1898), § 65*a*.

not been, but probably will be allowed, equals five per centum or more of such allowed claims. Dividends subsequent to the first must be declared upon like terms as the first and as often as the amount shall equal ten per centum or more and upon closing the estate. Dividends may be declared oftener and in smaller proportions if the judge shall so order.[40]

(IV) Notice to Creditors. Creditors must have at least ten days' notice by mail, to their respective addresses as they appear in the list of creditors of the bankrupt, or as afterwards filed with the papers in the case by the creditors, unless they waive notice in writing, of the declaration and time of payment of dividends.[41]

(V) Effect of Adjudication Without the United States. Whenever a person has been adjudged a bankrupt by a court without the United States and also by a court of bankruptcy, creditors residing within the United States are first paid a dividend equal to that received in the court without the United States by other creditors, before creditors who have received a dividend in such court can be paid any amounts.[42]

(VI) Effect of Allowance of Claims Subsequent to Declaration. The rights of creditors who have received dividends, or in whose favor final dividends have been declared, are not affected by the proof and allowance of claims subsequent to the date of such payment or declaration of dividends; but the creditors proving and securing the allowance of such claims must be paid dividends equal in amount to those already received by the other creditors, if the estate equals so much before such other creditors are paid any further dividends.[43]

(VII) No Greater Amount to Be Collected. A claimant is not entitled to collect from a bankrupt estate any greater amount than shall accrue pursuant to the provisions of the Act.[44]

40. Bankr. Act (1898), § 65*b*.

41. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*a* (5).

Form of notice of dividend is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 41; 89 Fed. xlviii.

Form of creditor's letter to trustee for delivery of dividend is prescribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 41; 89 Fed. xlix.

42. Bankr. Act (1898), § 65*d*.

43. Bankr. Act (1898), § 65*c*. Under this section it has been held that where the holder of a note made by a partnership, and indorsed by one of the partners, both maker and indorser having been adjudicated bankrupts, proves his claim against the partnership estate after a dividend has been declared and paid to other creditors, his right to a preference in future dividends cannot be considered equivalent to a dividend actually declared in his favor, or to an actual part payment of his note by the maker, and he is entitled to prove his claim against the estate of the indorser for the full amount of the note. In re Swift, 106 Fed. 65, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 415.

Holding back dividends.— Claims enjoying the first dividend are not allowed to share in the second distribution until those that were credited with no part of the first dividend shall be paid a sum equal in amount to that received by other creditors. The holding back of any amount by the referee from distribution gives claimants whose debts are not properly proven no lien of any kind upon such amount. In declaring the first dividend the referee should withhold from distribution sufficient funds to cover all expenses of administration and priorities. He is required to hold back only sufficient funds to cover claims that will probably be allowed. This includes only those claims as to which he has information such as justifies him in the conclusion that they will be allowed when presented. In re Scott, 96 Fed. 607, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 324. Creditors who have proved their claims promptly should not be delayed nor prejudiced by the negligence of other creditors. The final settlement or closing of an estate in bankruptcy cannot be delayed when it is ready for the final settlement or closing thereof, and other creditors cannot be kept out of the money which is due them upon their claims, in order to furnish a negligent creditor a further opportunity for the proof and allowance of his claim after all the debts of the estate have been converted into money and are ready for distribution. In re Stein, 94 Fed. 124, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 662.

44. Bankr. Act (1898), § 65*e*.

Distribution not in accordance with the Act.— An order entered by consent of all known creditors in proceedings against an insolvent corporation for the settlement of the estate and distribution of the proceeds as therein provided, but not in accordance with any express provision of the Bankrupt Act, must be held subject to the rights of any unknown creditors who may appear within the time given by law and present their claims. In re Lockwood, 104 Fed. 794, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 731. Again, where a trustee in bank-

(VIII) Upon Reconsideration and Rejection of Claim. Whenever a claim has been reconsidered and rejected, in whole or in part, upon which a dividend has been paid, the trustee may recover from the creditor the amount of the dividend received upon the claim if rejected in whole, or the proportionate part thereof if rejected only in part.[45]

(IX) Unclaimed Dividends. Dividends which remain unclaimed for six months after the final dividend has been declared must be paid by the trustee into court.[46] Dividends remaining unclaimed for one year must, under the direction of the court, be distributed to the creditors whose claims have been allowed but not paid in full, and after such claims have been paid in full the balance must be paid to the bankrupt: Provided, That in case unclaimed dividends belong to minors such minors may have one year after arriving at majority to claim such dividends.[47]

I. Expenses of Administration. The actual and necessary expenses incurred by officers in the administration of estates must, except where otherwise provided for their payment, be reported in detail, under oath, and examined and approved or disapproved by the court. If approved they must be paid or allowed out of the estates in which they were incurred.[48] ruptcy has paid to a lien creditor of the bankrupt his distributive share of the estate, but without any warrant or order of the referee or the court so to do, and the court afterward determines that such creditor's attorney is entitled to a lien on the fund for his services in securing its allowance, the money must be regarded as still in the hands of the trustee, and he will be required to satisfy the claim of the attorney. In re Rude, 101 Fed. 805, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 319.

45. Bankr. Act (1898), § 57*l*.

As to reconsideration of allowance of claims and the reallowance or rejection thereof see supra, XI, F.

46. Bankr. Act (1898), § 66*a*.

47. Bankr. Act (1898), § 66*b*.

48. Bankr. Act (1898), § 62. And see In re Tebo, 101 Fed. 419, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235; In re J. W. Harrison Mercantile Co., 95 Fed. 123, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 419.

As to priority of payment of costs, expenses, and fees see supra, XVIII, H, 1, b.

General rule as to charge for services impracticable.— In In re Noyes, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,371, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 277, it was said: "It would be difficult, and I think impracticable, to prescribe any general rule defining the circumstances under which, and extent to which, an assignee is at liberty to charge the assets of the estate in his hands for professional and clerical services in the execution of his trust. This must be left to be decided in each individual case according to its peculiar exigencies."

Employment of counsel.— The trustee is entitled to counsel when necessary for the proper discharge of his duties as such trustee, and the reasonable expenses incurred by him for such a purpose may be allowed as a charge against the estate. He must exercise a reasonable judgment as to the necessity for securing such advice and assistance. In re Smith, 108 Fed. 39, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 559; In re Salaberry, 107 Fed. 95, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 847; In re Abram, 103 Fed. 272, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 575; In re Little River Lumber Co., 101 Fed. 558, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 682; In re Curtis, 100 Fed. 784, 41 C. C. A. 59, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 17; In re Carolina Cooperage Co., 96 Fed. 950, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 154; In re Stotts, 93 Fed. 438, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 641. See also Ex p. Whitecomb, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 523, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,529, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 92; In re Davenport, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,587, 2 Am. L. T. 136, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 77. For analogous decisions under former acts see 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 872 et seq.

Compare In re Roche, 101 Fed. 956, 42 C. C. A. 115, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 369, holding that where a mortgage contains an agreement for the payment of an attorney's fee of ten per cent of the amount of the debt, if the mortgagee should elect or it should become necessary to foreclose the mortgage by suit or proceedings in court, and the mortgagor becomes bankrupt, and the creditor proves his claim in the bankruptcy proceedings as a secured debt, and the property covered is sold by the trustee in bankruptcy at private sale under order of the court, such attorney's fee cannot be allowed and paid to the creditor out of the proceeds of sale, in addition to the principal and interest of the debt; the same not having become due and payable according to the contract made by the parties.

Expenditures for rent.— A trustee in bankruptcy may continue to occupy and use, for the benefit of the estate, premises which the bankrupt held under a lease at the time of his adjudication in bankruptcy, and the landlord will be entitled to compensation for such use of the premises by the trustee; the amount thereof being chargeable as part of the expenses of administering the estate. Bray v. Cobb, 100 Fed. 270, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 788; In re Grimes, 96 Fed. 529, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 730. See also supra, XI, A, 10.

Preservation of estate.— The necessary expenses incurred by the trustee in the preservation of the property belonging to the bankrupt estate may be legally charged to such estate. In re Scott, 99 Fed. 404, 3 Am.

XIX. DISCHARGE.

A. Right to Discharge. A bankrupt is entitled to a discharge as a matter of right,[1] provided he has not committed any of the acts presently considered.[2]

B. Application For Discharge — 1. Time of Application. Any person may, after the expiration of one month and within the next twelve months subsequent to being adjudged a bankrupt, file an application for a discharge in a court of bankruptcy in which the proceedings are pending; if it shall be made to appear to the judge that the bankrupt was unavoidably prevented from filing it within such time, it may be filed within, but not after, the expiration of the next six months.[3]

2. Requisites of Petition. The petition of a bankrupt for a discharge must state concisely, in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the orders of the court, the proceedings in the case and the acts of the bankrupt.[4]

3. Notice to Creditors. Creditors must have at least ten days' notice by mail, to their respective addresses as they appear in the list of creditors of the bankrupt, or as afterwards filed with the papers in the case by creditors, unless they waive notice in writing, of all hearings upon applications for discharge.[5]

4. Hearing and Determination of Application. The judge must hear the application for a discharge, and such proofs and pleas as may be made in opposition thereto by parties in interest, at such time as will give such parties a reasonable opportunity to be fully heard, and investigate the merits of the application.[6] In Bankr. Rep. 625; In re Gregg, 1 Hask. (U. S.) 173, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,796, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 298, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 529.

Under Bankr. Act (1898), § 64b, the actual and necessary cost of preserving the estate subsequent to the filing of the petition must be paid in full out of the bankrupt estate.

1. In re Marshall Paper Co., 102 Fed. 872, 43 C. C. A. 38, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 468. See also Woodruff v. Cheeves, 105 Fed. 601, 44 C. C. A. 631, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 296.

The fact that a bankrupt is a non-resident of the district does not affect his right to a discharge. In re Goodale, 109 Fed. 783, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 493; In re Clisdell, 101 Fed. 246, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 95; In re Mason, 99 Fed. 256, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 599.

Right of corporation to discharge.— A corporation engaged principally in manufacturing, trading, printing, publishing, or mercantile pursuits may be adjudged an involuntary bankrupt (Bankr. Act (1898), § 4*b*; and supra, IV, B, 2) and is therefore entitled to a discharge (In re Marshall Paper Co., 102 Fed. 872, 43 C. C. A. 38, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 468).

As to release of stock-holder's liability by discharge see infra, note 36, p. 397.

2. See infra, XIX, D.

3. Bankr. Act (1898), § 14*a*.

The Act of 1867, § 29 (U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5108), provided that "At any time after the expiration of six months from the adjudication of bankruptcy, or if no debts have been proved against the bankrupt, or if no assets have come to the hands of the assignee, at any time after the expiration of sixty days, and before the final disposition of the cause, the bankrupt may apply to the court for a discharge from his debts."

Where the petition is filed later than twelve months after the adjudication it is necessary that sufficient cause for the delay be shown; otherwise the petition will be dismissed. In re Wolff, 100 Fed. 430, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 74.

4. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 31.

Filing petition.— The petition for a discharge should be filed with the clerk and not sent to the judge of the district court. In re Sykes, 106 Fed. 669, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 264. See also U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 20, providing that proofs of claims and other papers filed subsequently to the reference, except such as call for action by the judge, may be filed either with the referee or with the clerk.

Form of the bankrupt's petition for a discharge is prescribed by U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 57; 89 Fed. lvii.

5. Bankr. Act (1898), § 58*a* (2); In re Sykes, 106 Fed. 669, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 264.

Notice by publication to judgment creditors is insufficient to entitle a bankrupt to discharge, unless he shows that the addresses of such creditors cannot be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry. In re Dvorak, 107 Fed. 76, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 66.

A form has been prescribed for an order of notice in the nature of an order to show cause, attested by the clerk, with the seal of the court, and to be served by the clerk by mail upon all the known creditors of the bankrupt, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated in the schedules. Such order states the time and place of the hearing of the application, and requires a publication of a notice in a newspaper designated in such order. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 57. Such form should be observed and used, with such alterations as may be necessary to suit the circumstances of the particular case. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 38.

6. Bankr. Act (1898), § 14*b*.

Form of discharge of bankrupt is pre-determining the application the court will consider the right of the bankrupt to his discharge and not the effect thereof.[7] Unless some creditor objects and specifies his grounds of objection[8] the prayer of the petition will be granted as of course.[9]

C. Opposition to Discharge — 1. WHO MAY OPPOSE DISCHARGE. Any party or parties in interest may appear and oppose the bankrupt's discharge.[10]

2. APPEARANCE OF CREDITOR. A creditor opposing the application of a bankrupt for his discharge must enter his appearance in opposition thereto on the day when the creditors are required to show cause why the discharge should not be granted.[11]

3. SPECIFICATION OF OBJECTIONS. A creditor opposing the application of a bankrupt for his discharge must also file a specification in writing of the ground of his opposition within ten days after the day when creditors are required to show cause, unless the time is enlarged by special order of the judge.[12] Such specifications must be clear, positive, and direct, and must distinctly allege one or more of the statutory grounds[13] for refusing a discharge.[14] No plead-scribed. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 59; 89 Fed. lviii.

Reference.— Though applications for a discharge are to be heard and determined by the judge, such judge may refer the application, or any specific issue arising thereon, to a referee to ascertain and report the facts. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 12, par. 3; In re Logan, 102 Fed. 876, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 525; Fellows v. Freudenthal, 102 Fed. 731, 42 C. C. A. 607, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 490; In re McDuff, 101 Fed. 241, 41 C. C. A. 316, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 110. The authority of the referee is not limited to the taking and reporting of the evidence and ruling as to its admissibility. In addition to that, it is competent and desirable that he shall report findings and recommendations. In re Kaiser, 99 Fed. 689, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 767. Where the objections to a discharge are on the ground of concealment of assets the report of the referee as to the facts will not be set aside unless clearly erroneous. In re Lafleche, 109 Fed. 307, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 483. After two hearings before a referee and a third before the judge upon all the testimony offered, the request of the objecting creditor that the matter be sent back to the referee for new testimony will not be granted. In re Eaton, 110 Fed. 731, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 531.

7. In re Steed, 107 Fed. 682, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 73; In re Tinker, 99 Fed. 79, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 580; In re Mussey, 99 Fed. 71, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 592; In re Rhutassel, 96 Fed. 597, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 697; In re Blumberg, 94 Fed. 476, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 627; In re Thomas, 92 Fed. 912, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515; In re Lieber, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 217.

The right to a discharge and the effect of a discharge are wholly distinct propositions. The time and place for the determination of the effect of a discharge is when the same is pleaded or relied upon by the debtor as a defense to the enforcement of a particular claim. In re Marshall Paper Co., 102 Fed. 872, 43 C. C. A. 38, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 468; In re Tinker, 99 Fed. 79, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 580; In re Mussey, 99 Fed. 71, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 592; In re Black, 97 Fed. 493, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 471 note; In re Rhutassel, 96 Fed. 597, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 697; In re Thomas, 92 Fed. 912, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515; In re McCarty, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 40.

8. See infra, XIX, C, 3.

9. In re Logan, 102 Fed. 876, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 525; In re Holman, 92 Fed. 512, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 600. See also supra, XIX, A.

10. Bankr. Act (1898), § 14*b*.

The right to object to a discharge is not limited to creditors who have proved their claims. In re Frice, 96 Fed. 611, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 674.

11. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 32.

12. U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. G. O. No. 32.

The time within which the specifications are to be filed must be strictly complied with, and a failure to do so will only be excused when excellent reasons therefor are shown to the court. In re Clothier, 108 Fed. 199, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 203; In re Albrecht, 104 Fed. 974, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 223.

Filing nunc pro tunc.— The judge may, in his discretion, allow specifications to be filed nunc pro tunc. In re Frice, 96 Fed. 611, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 674.

13. See infra, XIX, D.

14. In re Steed, 107 Fed. 682, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 73; In re Mudd, 105 Fed. 348, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 242; In re Adams, 104 Fed. 72, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 696; In re McGurn, 102 Fed. 743, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 459; In re Quackenbush, 102 Fed. 282, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 274; In re Peacock, 101 Fed. 560, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 136; In re Kaiser, 99 Fed. 689, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 767; In re Cornell, 97 Fed. 29, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 172; In re Frice, 96 Fed. 611, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 674; In re Hirsch, 96 Fed. 468, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715; In re Hixon, 93 Fed. 440, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 610; In re Thomas, 92 Fed. 912, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515; In re Holman, 92 Fed. 512, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 600; In re Wolfensohn, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 60; In re McNamara, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 566.

Amendments of specifications.— The court has power, even after the time in which specifications may be filed has expired, to allow an amendment of the specification. In re Pierce, 103 Fed. 64, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 554;

ing upon the part of the bankrupt in response to the specifications is necessary.[15]

4. Evidence — a. Burden of Proof. The burden of proving the necessary facts to constitute a ground for the refusal of the bankrupt's application for a discharge rests upon the creditors alleging such facts.[16]

b. Admissibility. Evidence will not be admitted in opposition to a discharge which does not tend to support the allegations contained in the specifications.[17]

c. Sufficiency. Proof beyond a reasonable doubt is not required to sustain specifications of opposition to a bankrupt's discharge; but the proof should be clear and satisfying where the commission of an offense punishable by imprisonment is charged.[18]

5. Costs. The district court has an inherent power to award costs against a creditor who files specifications against the discharge of a bankrupt and fails to substantiate them.[19]

In re Morgan, 101 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 402; In re Price, 96 Fed. 611, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 674; In re Holman, 92 Fed. 512, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 600. When the creditors have long delayed the hearing of the application for a discharge by reason of their insufficient objections, it rests largely in the sound discretion of the court as to whether or not amended specifications shall be permitted. In re Mudd, 105 Fed. 348, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 242. Applications to amend should be made to the judge and not to the referee. In re Kaiser, 99 Fed. 689, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 769.

Examination of bankrupt.— The creditors may be allowed to examine the bankrupt concerning the mode of conducting his business, for the purpose of ascertaining whether there has been any such offense committed, or failure to keep books as would furnish a just ground for refusing a discharge. An application for such an examination should be granted before specifications are filed, if applied for on the return-day of the notice of the debtor's application for a discharge and no prior examination of that kind has been held. In re Price, 91 Fed. 635, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 419. See also In re Mellen, 97 Fed. 326, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 226.

The form of a specification in opposition to discharge is prescribed in U. S. Supreme Ct. Bankr. Forms, No. 58; 89 Fed. lviii.

15. In re Logan, 102 Fed. 876, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 525 [criticizing Loveland Bankr. § 281].

The fact that the bankrupt makes no response to the specifications in opposition to his discharge is not an admission on his part that the averments contained in such specifications are true. In re Logan, 102 Fed. 876, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 525.

16. Bauman v. Feist, 107 Fed. 83, 46 C. C. A. 157, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 703; In re Gaylord, 106 Fed. 833, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 410; In re Corn, 106 Fed. 143, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 478; In re Ferris, 105 Fed. 356, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 246; In re Bryant, 104 Fed. 789, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 114; In re Fitchard, 103 Fed. 742, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 609; In re Logan, 102 Fed. 876, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 525; In re McGurn, 102 Fed. 743, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 459; In re Shertzer, 99 Fed. 706, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 699; In re Wetmore, 99 Fed. 703, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 700; In re Wood, 98 Fed. 972, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 572; In re Phillips, 98 Fed. 844, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 542; In re Hirsch, 97 Fed. 571, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 344; In re Idzall, 96 Fed. 314, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 741; In re Hixon, 93 Fed. 440, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 610; In re Thomas, 92 Fed. 912, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515; In re Holman, 92 Fed. 512, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 600; In re Boasberg, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 353.

17. A specification of objections is a necessary prerequisite to the introduction of any evidence by the objecting party. The referee should not disregard the specifications but should confine the evidence to the material facts alleged therein. In re Kaiser, 99 Fed. 689, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 767. See also In re Wolfensohn, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 60.

Evidence taken at creditors' meeting.— The testimony of witnesses other than the bankrupt taken at the first meeting of the creditors is inadmissible in support of the specifications of objection to the bankrupt's discharge. In re Wilcox, 109 Fed. 628, 48 C. C. A. 567, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 362. But testimony of third persons, taken in the course of bankruptcy proceedings, when the bankrupt is present in person or by counsel, and taking part in the examination, is admissible in support of specifications in opposition to his discharge, so far as the same is relevant. In re Cooke, 109 Fed. 631.

18. In re Steed, 107 Fed. 682, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 73; In re Gaylord, 106 Fed. 833, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 410; In re Bryant, 104 Fed. 789, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 114; In re Hirsch, 97 Fed. 571, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 344; In re Berner, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 383.

Where the charge is that the bankrupt has sworn falsely the strict rules applicable to the trial of the bankrupt under an indictment for perjury should not be applied in case of discharge proceedings; if the conscience of the court is satisfied by proper and sufficient evidence that the bankrupt is not entitled to receive a discharge it is sufficient ground for a refusal. In re Gross, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 271.

19. In re Wolpert, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 436. See the following cases arising under the Act of 1867: In re Holgate, 8 Ben. (U. S.) 355,

D. Grounds of Opposition — 1. In General. The only grounds upon which the court can refuse to discharge a bankrupt upon his application therefor are those prescribed in the Bankruptcy Act.[20] A discharge may, however, be withheld until it has been shown what has become of the bankrupt's property.[21]

2. Offenses Punishable by Imprisonment. The judge shall discharge the applicant unless he has committed an offense punishable by imprisonment.[22] A person is punishable by imprisonment upon conviction of the offense of having knowingly[23]

12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,601; In re George, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 494, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,326; In re Eidom, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,315, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 160.

Power to tax costs.— Courts of bankruptcy have power to "tax costs, whenever they are allowed by law, and render judgments therefor against the unsuccessful party, or the successful party for cause, or in part against each of the parties, and against estates, in proceedings in bankruptcy." Bankr. Act (1898), § 2 (18). The Act is silent as to costs so far as contested applications for discharge are concerned; costs only being allowed in case the respondent (the bankrupt) succeeds in dismissing a petition for his bankruptcy filed against him. Bankr. Act (1898), § 3*e*.

Costs of reference.— Where references were provoked by the bankrupt and costs were legitimately incurred for referee's compensation in conducting hearings before him of specifications of objections to the bankrupt's discharge these costs should be taxed to the losing party. Bragassa v. St. Louis Cycle, 107 Fed. 77, 46 C. C. A. 154, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 700. A docket-fee is not taxable. In re Gaylord, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 805.

Fees of referee.— The duty of the referee to ascertain the facts and report thereon is performed by him in the capacity of special master in chancery, and is independent of his duties as a referee in bankruptcy; a reasonable allowance may therefore be taxed for the referee's compensation outside of the compensation allowed him by the Bankruptcy Act. Fellows v. Freudenthal, 102 Fed. 731, 42 C. C. A. 607, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 490. But see contra, In re Troth, 104 Fed. 291, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 780.

As to compensation of referees, generally, see supra, III, D, 6.

20. Smith v. Keegan, 111 Fed. 157, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 4; In re McCarty, 111 Fed. 151, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 40; In re Frank, 107 Fed. 272, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 156; Strause v. Hooper, 105 Fed. 590, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 225; In re Marshall Paper Co., 102 Fed. 872, 43 C. C. A. 38, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 468; Fellows v. Freudenthal, 102 Fed. 731, 42 C. C. A. 607, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 490; In re Thomas, 92 Fed. 912, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515. See also supra, XIX, A.

Only such grounds as are specified by the objecting creditors will be considered in opposition to the discharge of a bankrupt. In re Adams, 104 Fed. 72, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 696. See also In re Hixon, 93 Fed. 440, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 610; In re Thomas, 92 Fed. 912, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 515.

Reports to commercial agencies or creditors, though false and fraudulent, are not grounds for refusing a discharge. In re Steed, 107 Fed. 682, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 73.

The pendency of an application for the discharge of a bankrupt under the Bankruptcy Act of 1867 cannot be pleaded in bar of an application by the debtor for a discharge under the Act of 1898. In re Herrman, 102 Fed. 753, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 139 [affirmed in 106 Fed. 987, 46 C. C. A. 77].

Where a bankrupt has induced an opposing creditor to withdraw his opposition by a purchase of his claim, the bankrupt's discharge will be refused upon the presumption that one of the statutory grounds existed. In re Dietz, 97 Fed. 563, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 316; In re Steindler, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63. See also Blasdel v. Fowle, 120 Mass. 447, 21 Am. Rep. 533; Bell v. Leggett, 7 N. Y. 176; Tuxbury v. Miller, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 311; In re Douglass, 11 Fed. 403; In re Palmer, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 177, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,678, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 437; Ex p. Briggs, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 389, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,868.

21. In re Walther, 95 Fed. 941, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 702. See also In re Steed, 107 Fed. 682, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 73.

Allotment of homestead.— Action upon a bankrupt's application for a discharge will be suspended until the reallotment of a homestead, it appearing that the property has increased in value beyond the amount allowed as exempt by the state law. In re McBryde, 99 Fed. 686, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 729. See also In re Woodruff, 96 Fed. 317.

22. Bankr. Act (1898), § 14*b* (1).

23. Intent is a necessary element of the offense. In re Conn, 108 Fed. 525, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 217; In re Quackenbush, 102 Fed. 282, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 274; In re Dews, 101 Fed. 549, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 483, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 691; In re Hirsch, 96 Fed. 468, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715; In re Cohn, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 655.

Concealment unavailing.— The fact that the fraudulent concealment has proved unavailing will not benefit the bankrupt; the trustee may recover the entire amount and still the discharge must be withheld. In re Quackenbush, 102 Fed. 282, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 274.

Conducting business in name of another.— Where, a long time prior to his bankruptcy, the bankrupt has failed in business and there are judgments outstanding against him, and he thereafter conducts his business in his own name as agent for another, or in the name of another, for the purpose of preventing his creditors from reaching the product and fraudulently[24] concealed[25] while a bankrupt, or after his discharge, from his trustee, any of the property belonging to his estate in bankruptcy;[26] or made a false oath or account in, or in relation to, any proceeding in bankruptcy;[27] of his industry and skill, there is no such concealment as will bar a discharge in bankruptcy. In re Adams, 104 Fed. 72, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 696; In re Fitchard, 103 Fed. 742, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 609; In re McGurn, 102 Fed. 743, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 459. See also In re Locks, 104 Fed. 783, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 136.

24. A concealment of property by the bankrupt will not bar his discharge unless it was knowingly and fraudulently made. In re Slingluff, 105 Fed. 502; In re Bryant, 104 Fed. 789, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 114; In re Pierce, 103 Fed. 64, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 554; In re Morrow, 97 Fed. 574, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 263. See also In re Wetmore, 99 Fed. 703, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 700.

25. The term "conceal" is defined in the Act. Bankr. Act (1898), § 1 (22), supra, note 8, p. 238.

Where the bankrupt mingles his own money with that of his wife in certain banks in such a way as to make it impossible to determine which of the deposits are his and which belong to his wife, it is a concealment if the facts are sufficient to show that it was done with intent to defraud his creditors and in contemplation of bankruptcy. Bragassa v. St. Louis Cycle, 107 Fed. 77, 46 C. C. A. 154, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 700. See also In re Walther, 95 Fed. 941, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 702.

Where the concealment is by an agent of the bankrupt who had entire charge and management of the business of such bankrupt, and it appears that the bankrupt endeavored to discover to the court the assets alleged to have been concealed, the fraud of the agent will not be imputed to the bankrupt, and he should receive his discharge. In re Meyers, 105 Fed. 353, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 4; In re Hyman, 97 Fed. 195, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 169.

26. A failure to schedule property or surrender it to the trustee is not ipso facto knowingly and fraudulently concealing the same. In re Goodale, 109 Fed. 783, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 493; In re Marsh, 109 Fed. 602, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 537; In re Howell, 105 Fed. 594, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 414 note; In re Adams, 104 Fed. 72, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 696; In re House, 103 Fed. 616, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 603; In re Dews, 101 Fed. 549, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 483, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 691; In re De Leeuw, 98 Fed. 408, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 418; In re Freund, 98 Fed. 81, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 418; In re Hirsch, 96 Fed. 468, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715. See also In re Morrow, 97 Fed. 574, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 263. But if the evidence shows that the property omitted from the schedules was fraudulently transferred by the bankrupt it constitutes a concealment. In re Bemis, 104 Fed. 672, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 36; In re Bragasa, 103 Fed. 936, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 519; In re Hoffmann, 102 Fed. 979, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 331; In re Quackenbush, 102 Fed. 282, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 274; In re Mendelsohn, 102 Fed. 119, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 103; In re Welch, 100 Fed. 65, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 93; In re O'Gara, 97 Fed. 932, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 349; In re Skinner, 97 Fed. 190, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163; In re Gross, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 271; In re Steindler, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 63; In re McNamara, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 566; In re Lowenstein, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 193. Assets in the hands of a receiver appointed and not discharged by a state court should be included in the bankrupt's schedule; if not included it constitutes a concealment. In re Lesser, 108 Fed. 205, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 330. But shares of stock pledged for the purchase-price thereof and not included in the schedules do not constitute a concealment in the absence of evidence of fraudulent intent. In re Conn, 108 Fed. 525, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 217. See also Fellows v. Freudenthal, 102 Fed. 731, 42 C. C. A. 607, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 490.

If the bankrupt fails to account for a large sum of money shown to have been in his possession immediately prior to his bankruptcy, and is unable to satisfactorily explain the discrepancy, the offense of concealment is established and his discharge should be refused. In re Grossman, 111 Fed. 507, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 510; In re Cashman, 103 Fed. 67, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 326; In re Morgan, 101 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 402; In re Finkelstein, 101 Fed. 418, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 800; In re Deuell, 100 Fed. 633, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 60; In re O'Gara, 97 Fed. 932, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 349; In re Meyers, 96 Fed. 408, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 707.

27. In re Wilcox, 109 Fed. 628, 48 C. C. A. 567, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 362; In re Lesser, 108 Fed. 205, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 330; In re Becker, 106 Fed. 54, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 438; In re Lewin, 103 Fed. 852, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 636; In re Dews, 101 Fed. 549, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 483, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 691; In re Wood, 98 Fed. 972, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 572; In re Kamsler, 97 Fed. 194; In re Roy, 96 Fed. 400, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 37; In re Crenshaw, 95 Fed. 632, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623.

A discharge cannot be withheld on account of the falsity of an oath unless it was made with a fraudulent intent. In re Eaton, 110 Fed. 731, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 531; In re Freund, 98 Fed. 81, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 418; In re Crenshaw, 95 Fed. 632, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 623. So where property is omitted from a schedule, the oath of the bankrupt thereto is not a false oath within the meaning of the Act unless made with a fraudulent motive. In re Bryant, 104 Fed. 789, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 114; In re De Leeuw, 98 Fed. 408, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 418; In re Roy, 96 Fed. 400, 3 presented under oath any false claim for proof against the estate of a bankrupt, or used any such claim in composition personally or by agent, proxy, or attorney, or as agent, proxy, or attorney; or received any material amount of property from a bankrupt after the filing of the petition, with intent to defeat the act; or extorted or attempted to extort any money or property from any person as a consideration for acting or forbearing to act in bankruptcy proceedings.[28]

3. Concealment, Destruction, or Failure to Keep Books of Account. Where the bankrupt has, with fraudulent intent [29] to conceal his true financial condition and in contemplation of bankruptcy,[30] destroyed, concealed, or failed to keep

Am. Bankr. Rep. 37; In re Lowenstein, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 193. And where property fraudulently transferred is omitted from the schedule an oath is not false, because the title of the property at the time of the filing of the petition was not in the bankrupt. In re De Leeuw, 98 Fed. 408, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 418; In re Schreck, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 366. See also In re Fitchard, 103 Fed. 742, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 609. But where property was purchased by a bankrupt in his wife's name and conveyances of personal property were made to his wife for the purpose of defrauding his creditors, and it appeared that at the time of filing his petition and schedule he was actually the owner of such property, his failure to include it in his schedules is a concealment, and in swearing to such schedules he made a false oath. In re Welch, 100 Fed. 65, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 93. So where property in which the bankrupt has an equitable interest is conveyed by the bankrupt to his wife, and he fails to include such interest in his schedule, and makes oath verifying such schedule, his discharge should be refused. In re Grossman, 111 Fed. 507, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 510; In re Gammon, 109 Fed. 312, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 482.

Amendment of schedules to include property omitted and offering to deliver such property is not a conclusive answer to an objection to a discharge that the bankrupt knowingly and fraudulently made a false oath by verifying the original schedules; but a prompt acknowledgment of the mistake, accompanied by a return of the property, are circumstances tending to show good faith. In re Eaton, 110 Fed. 731, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 531.

Upon examination.— The falsity of testimony given by a bankrupt upon an examination before the referee at the first meeting of his creditors has been held not to preclude his discharge. In re Logan, 102 Fed. 876, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 525; In re Marx, 102 Fed. 676, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 521. But see contra, In re Gaylord, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1. See also In re Goodale, 109 Fed. 783, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 493.

28. Bankr. Act (1898), § 29*b*.

As to offenses, generally, see infra, XXI.

29. The failure to keep books of account, or their destruction or concealment, must be with a fraudulent intent to conceal the true financial condition of the bankrupt's estate. In re Lafleche, 109 Fed. 307, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 483; In re Shertzer, 99 Fed. 706, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 699; In re Carmichael, 96 Fed. 594, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 815; In re Boasberg, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 353. The mere failure of a bankrupt merchant or trader to keep such books will not, in every case, be of itself a sufficient ground to preclude his discharge. In re Spear, 103 Fed. 779, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 617; In re Idzall, 96 Fed. 314, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 741. See also In re Corn, 106 Fed. 143, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 478; In re Brice, 102 Fed. 114, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 355; In re Phillips, 98 Fed. 844, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 542. But the circumstances under which such a bankrupt failed to keep proper books of account, or incorrectly kept such books, may be such as to warrant the inference of a fraudulent intent. In re Feldstein, 108 Fed. 794, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 458.

The intentional and fraudulent failure on the part of an agent to keep books of account from which the true financial condition of the principal can be ascertained will not preclude the discharge of the principal, unless it appear that such failure was with the knowledge of the principal. In re Hyman, 97 Fed. 195, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 169. See also In re Schultz, 109 Fed. 264, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 91; In re Meyers, 105 Fed. 353, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 4.

30. It is not sufficient that a failure to keep books or a destruction or concealment be with a fraudulent intent to conceal the bankrupt's true financial condition; but it must also be in contemplation of bankruptcy. In re Marx, 102 Fed. 676, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 521. The bankruptcy in the debtor's contemplation must be not merely insolvency but bankruptcy under the Bankruptcy Act. The debtor must contemplate the commission of an act which, under the bankruptcy statute, constitutes an act of bankruptcy, or he must have in mind the filing of a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. In re Morgan, 101 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 402; In re Shertzer, 99 Fed. 706, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 699; In re Carmichael, 96 Fed. 594, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 815; In re Hirsch, 96 Fed. 468, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715; In re Dews, 96 Fed. 181, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 691; In re Stark, 96 Fed. 88, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 785; In re Holman, 92 Fed. 512, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 600.

Under the Act of 1867 it was provided that books of account or records from which his true condition might be ascertained[31] his discharge may be refused.[32]

a transfer made by a person "in contemplation of becoming bankrupt" would bar his discharge in bankruptcy. The courts frequently construed the expression and universally held that it meant in contemplation of committing an act of bankruptcy; that the act, the commission of which must be contemplated, is such an act as the statute declares to be an act of bankruptcy. Swan v. Littlefield, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 574; Caryl v. Russell, 13 N. Y. 194; North American F. Ins. Co. v. Graham, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 197; Matter of Rowell, 21 Vt. 620; In re Freeman, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 245, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,082, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 64; In re Goldschmidt, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 379, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,520, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 164; In re Black, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 196, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,457, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 39, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 353; In re Wolfskill, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 385, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,930; In re Pierson, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,153, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 107; In re Lawson, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,150, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 113. And see Buckingham v. McLean, 13 How. (U. S.) 151, 14 L. ed. 90, decided under the Act of 1841.

The failure to keep books must have been subsequent to the passage of the Bankruptcy Act, because otherwise it could not have been in contemplation of bankruptcy. In re Phillips, 98 Fed. 844, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 542; In re Carmichael, 96 Fed. 594, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 815; In re Hirsch, 96 Fed. 468, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715; In re Dews, 96 Fed. 181, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 691; In re Shorer, 96 Fed. 90, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 165; Sellers v. Bell, 94 Fed. 801, 36 C. C. A. 502, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529; In re Holman, 92 Fed. 512, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 600; In re Lieber, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 217; In re McNamara, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 566; In re Cohn, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 655; In re Stark, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 180 [affirmed in 96 Fed. 88, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 785]. But where, after the passage of the Act, the bankrupt continued in his failure to keep proper books of account his discharge may be rightfully refused. In re Bragasa, 103 Fed. 936, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 519; In re Ablowich, 99 Fed. 81, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 586 [affirmed in 105 Fed. 751, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 403]; In re Polakoff, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 358. See also In re Hirsch, 96 Fed. 468, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715.

31. Bragassa v. St. Louis Cycle, 107 Fed. 77, 46 C. C. A. 154, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 700; Ablowich v. Stursberg, 105 Fed. 751, 45 C. C. A. 31, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 403 [affirming 99 Fed. 81, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 586]; In re Cashman, 103 Fed. 67, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 326; In re Mendelsohn, 102 Fed. 119, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 103. See also In re Bemis, 104 Fed. 672, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 36; In re Morgan, 101 Fed. 982, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 402; In re Hirsch, 96 Fed. 468, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 715; In re Gross, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 271.

Where the bankrupt has not, for a long time prior to his bankruptcy, been engaged in business requiring the keeping of books of account the law does not apply. In re Shertzer, 99 Fed. 706, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 699; Sellers v. Bell, 94 Fed. 801, 36 C. C. A. 502, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 529. But where a trader is engaged in business, although small and insignificant, it is within the intent and spirit of the Bankruptcy Act that he should keep honest books of account, which, in case of business misfortune, should be accessible to the inspection and scrutiny of his creditors. In re Berkowitz, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 37. The determination of the question of the sufficiency of the books of account is to be based upon the facts and circumstances of each case and the character and condition of the bankrupt's business. In re Feldstein, 108 Fed. 794, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 458; In re Ganison, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 430, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,254, 7 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 287; In re Reed, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,639, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 390, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 100; In re Antisdel, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 490, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 289; In re Anketell, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 394, 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 268.

32. Bankr. Act (1898), § 14*b* (2).

The Act of 1867, § 29 (U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5110), provided that "if the bankrupt, being a merchant or tradesman, has not, at all times after the second day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, kept proper books of account" no discharge should be granted. Among the cases decided under this provision of the former law are: In re Bellis, 4 Ben. (U. S.) 53, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,275, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 496; In re Gay, 1 Hask. (U. S.) 108, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,279, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 73, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 52, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 358; In re Hammond, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 381, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,999, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 273; In re Littlefield, 1 Lowell (U. S.) 331, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,398, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 57, 2 Am. L. T. 122, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 164; In re Winsor, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,885, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 152, 9 Chic. Leg. N. 402, 2 Cinc. L. Bul. 212; In re White, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,532, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 136, 2 Am. L. T. 105, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 326, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 590, 16 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 110; In re Solomon, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,167, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 77, 107, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 285, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 481, 25 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 364; In re Reed, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,639, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 390, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 100; In re Pierson, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,153, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 107; In re Noonan, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,291, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 267; In re Mackay, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,837, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 66, 2 Chic. Leg. N. 393; In re Friedberg, 9 Fed.

E. Debts and Obligations Discharged — 1. In General. Except as otherwise provided in the Bankruptcy Act a discharge in bankruptcy releases a bankrupt from all his provable debts.[33]

2. Alimony. Alimony, either in arrears at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy or accruing thereafter, is not barred by the discharge of the bankrupt husband.[34]

3. Contingent Liabilities — a. In General. Contingent liabilities, if not provable, are not affected by a discharge.[35] If provable against the estate of the bankrupt the rule is otherwise.[36]

Cas. No. 5,116, 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 302; In re Blumenthal, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,576, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 575; In re Antisdel, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 490, 18 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 289; In re Anketell, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 394, 19 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 268.

33. Bankr. Act (1898), c. 3, § 17*a*; Coe v. Waters, (Colo. App. 1901) 64 Pac. 1054; Dean v. Justices Municipal Ct., 173 Mass. 453, 53 N. E. 893, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 163.

As to what constitutes a provable debt see supra, XI, A.

As to the effect of a discharge in bankruptcy see also Appeal and Error, 3 Cyc. 496, note 53; Apprentices, 3 Cyc. 559; Bail, ante, II, I, 1, h.

Debts due to aliens.—A discharge in bankruptcy releases a provable debt due to an alien. Murray v. De Rottenham, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 52; Pattison v. Wilbur, 10 R. I. 448, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 193; Ruiz v. Eickerman, 2 McCrary (U. S.) 259, 5 Fed. 790, 12 Centr. L. J. 60; Zarega's Case, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,204, 4 Law Rep. 480, 1 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 40 note.

A debt which comes into existence after the filing of a petition in bankruptcy and before discharge is not affected by the bankruptcy proceedings. In re Burka, 104 Fed. 326, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 12.

A demand for double rent incurred by a tenant for unlawfully withholding from a landlord rented premises is not provable in bankruptcy, and therefore the right of a landlord to proceed with a dispossessory warrant, and as an incident thereto to obtain a judgment for double rent, is not affected by the tenant's discharge in bankruptcy, obtained during the pendency of the dispossessory proceeding. Hamilton v. McCroskey, 112 Ga. 651, 37 S. E. 859.

Mere bankruptcy without a discharge does not bar an action upon a debt which was proved and upon which a creditor received a dividend. Lummus v. Fairfield, 5 Mass. 248.

34. Deen v. Bloomer, 191 Ill. 416, 61 N. E. 131; Barclay v. Barclay, 184 Ill. 375, 56 N. E. 636, 51 L. R. A. 351; Maisner v. Maisner, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 286, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 1107, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 295; Young v. Young, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 335, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 944, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 171; People v. Grell, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 522; Noyes v. Hubbard, 64 Vt. 302, 23 Atl. 727, 33 Am. St. Rep. 928, 15 L. R. A. 394; Audubon v. Shufeldt, 181 U. S. 575, 21 S. Ct. 735, 45 L. ed. 1009, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 829; Turner v. Turner, 108 Fed. 785, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 289; In re Nowell, 99 Fed. 931, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 837; In re Anderson, 97 Fed. 321, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 858; In re Shepard, 97 Fed. 187, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 857; In re Smith, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 67. See also In re Garrett, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 235, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,252, 11 Nat. Bankr. Rep. 493; In re Lachemeyer, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,966, 18 Nat. Bankr. Rep. 270, 18 Alb. L. J. 242. But see In re Houston, 94 Fed. 119, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 107, holding that a judgment in divorce proceedings requiring defendant to pay alimony to plaintiff in fixed weekly instalments is a provable debt as to any instalment due at the date of adjudication and will be released by the discharge of the bankrupt. To same effect see Fite v. Fite, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1638, 61 S. W. 26; In re Challoner, 98 Fed. 82, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 442; In re Van Orden, 96 Fed. 86.

As to proof of claims for alimony see supra, XI, A, 7.

Support of children.—A discharge in bankruptcy will not release the bankrupt from the obligation to obey an order made by a state court requiring him to pay a certain sum per week for the support of his minor children; and therefore proceedings for the enforcement of such order, so far as relates to the collection of weekly instalments due after the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, will not be stayed by the court of bankruptcy. In re Hubbard, 98 Fed. 710, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 528.

35. White v. Blake, 79 Me. 114, 8 Atl. 457; Robinson v. Soule, 56 Miss. 549; Jacobson v. Horne, 52 Miss. 185; Dyer v. Cleaveland, 18 Vt. 241; Carey v. Mayer, 79 Fed. 926, 51 U. S. App. 184, 25 C. C. A. 239.

36. Massachusetts.— Fisher v. Tifft, 127 Mass. 313.

Missouri.— Shelton v. Pease, 10 Mo. 473.

Pennsylvania.— Clarke v. Porter, 25 Pa. St. 141.

Rhode Island.— Fisher v. Tifft, 12 R. I. 56.

Vermont.— Spalding v. Dixon, 21 Vt. 45.

United States.— Carey v. Mayer, 79 Fed. 926, 51 U. S. App. 184, 25 C. C. A. 239.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 779.

Stock-holders' liability.— A discharge releases a shareholder of a national bank from his statutory liability to creditors of the bank, where, at the time of his discharge, the claims of such creditors were provable.

b. Breach of Covenants. A discharge does not release the obligation of a bankrupt upon a covenant of warranty made prior to his bankruptcy, where the breach is subsequent to his discharge.[37] The rule is otherwise as to a breach prior to the discharge.[38]

c. Claims Against Bankrupt as Indorser or Surety. Claims against a bankrupt as indorser or surety are released by a discharge.[39]

4. Debts Created by Fraud, etc., in Official or Fiduciary Capacity. Debts which are created by the bankrupt's fraud, embezzlement, misappropriation, or defalcation, while acting as an officer or in any fiduciary capacity, are not released by his discharge.[40] The fraud of the bankrupt must be a positive fraud, or fraud in fact involving moral turpitude or intentional wrong, and not implied fraud, or fraud in law,[41] and must have existed at the time of the creation of the Irons v. Manufacturers' Nat. Bank, 27 Fed. 591. See also Marr v. West Tennessee Bank, 4 Lea (Tenn.) 578; Carey v. Mayer, 79 Fed. 926, 51 U. S. App. 184, 25 C. C. A. 239. Compare Barre First Nat. Bank v. Hingham Mfg. Co., 127 Mass. 563. But a discharge of a corporation will not bar its creditors from recovering against it a judgment which will afford a basis for the enforcement of the individual liability of its directors and stock-holders. In re Marshall Paper Co., 95 Fed. 419, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 653 [affirmed in 102 Fed. 872, 43 C. C. A. 38, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 468]. See also Glenn v. Howard, 65 Md. 40, 3 Atl. 895.

37. Alabama.— Abercrombie v. Conner, 10 Ala. 293.

Illinois.— Contra, Bates v. West, 19 Ill. 134.

Kentucky.— Cardwell v. Kemple, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 320.

Massachusetts.— French v. Morse, 2 Gray (Mass.) 111.

Mississippi.—Burrus v. Wilkinson, 31 Miss. 537; Bush v. Cooper, 26 Miss. 599, 59 Am. Dec. 270.

Missouri.— Magwire v. Riggin, 44 Mo. 512. Compare Shelton v. Pease, 10 Mo. 473.

New York.— Murray v. De Rottenham, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 52. Compare Jemison v. Blowers, 5 Barb. (N. Y.) 686.

Tennessee.— Wight v. Gottschalk, (Tenn. Ch. 1897) 48 S. W. 140.

United States.— Bush v. Person, 18 How. (U. S.) 82, 15 L. ed. 273.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 781.

38. Williams v. Harkins, 55 Ga. 172; Bailey v. Moore, 21 Ill. 165; Parker v. Bradford, 45 Iowa 311; Dow v. Davis, 73 Me. 288; Merrill v. Schwartz, 68 Me. 514; Reed v. Pierce, 36 Me. 455, 58 Am. Dec. 761.

39. Alabama.— Jones v. Knox, 46 Ala. 53, 7 Am. Rep. 583. Compare Turner v. Esselman, 15 Ala. 690.

Arkansas.— Jones v. State, 28 Ark. 119.

Illinois.— Reitz v. People, 72 Ill. 435.

Indiana.— Begein v. Brehm, 123 Ind. 160, 23 N. E. 496; McDonald v. State, 77 Ind. 26.

Maine.— Fowler v. Kendall, 44 Me. 448.

New Hampshire.— Compare Eastman v. Hibbard, 54 N. H. 504, 20 Am. Rep. 157.

New York.— Roosevelt v. Mark, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 266; Rathbone v. Blackford, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 588. See also Smith v. Wheeler, 55 N. Y. App. Div. 170, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 780, 8 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 281, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 46.

North Carolina.— Simpson v. Simpson, 80 N. C. 245; McMinn v. Allen, 67 N. C. 131.

Ohio.— Compare Greiwe v. Gibbons, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 605, 9 Cinc. L. Bul. 56.

Pennsylvania.— Stone v. Miller, 16 Pa. St. 450; Watmough v. Gilliams, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 572, 12 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 263.

Tennessee.—Choate v. Quinichett, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 427; Bouie v. Pucket, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 169.

Virginia.— Saunders v. Com., 10 Gratt. (Va.) 494.

Wisconsin.— Davis v. McCurdy, 50 Wis. 569, 7 N. W. 665.

United States.— U. S. v. Throckmorton. 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,516, 18 Int. Rev. Rec. 54, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 309.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 785.

40. Bankr. Act (1898), c. 3, § 17*a* (4); Gerner v. Yates, 61 Nebr. 100, 84 N. W. 596; Warren v. Robinson, 21 Utah 429, 61 Pac. 28; In re Cole, 106 Fed. 837, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 780.

The determination by a state court in an action against a bankrupt that the debt sued on was created by the fraud of defendant while acting in a fiduciary capacity, and the awarding of an execution against his body under the state statute, are not conclusive upon the court of bankruptcy on a petition for an injunction to restrain the enforcement of such execution that the debt is one from which the bankrupt will not be released by a discharge, but that question is to be determined by the court of bankruptcy for itself under the federal laws and decisions. Knott v. Putnam, 107 Fed. 907, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 80.

For defalcation of public officer see:

Kentucky.—Johnson v. Auditor, 78 Ky. 282.

Maine.— Richmond v. Brown, 66 Me. 373.

Massachusetts.— Morse v. Loweli, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 152.

New Hampshire.— Grantham v. Clark, 62 N. H. 426.

North Carolina.— Council v. Horton, 88 N. C. 222.

Virginia.— Compare Courtney v. Beale, 84 Va. 692, 5 S. E. 708.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 803.

41. Bryant v. Kinyon, (Mich. 1901) 86 N. W. 531, 53 L. R. A. 801, 6 Am. Bankr.

debt.[42] The phrase "fiduciary capacity" implies a fiduciary relation existing previously to, or independently of, the particular transaction out of which the debt arose.[43] It does not embrace debts arising in commercial dealings between principal and agent or factor for selling goods on commission.[44]

Rep. 237; Ely v. Curtis, 60 N. H. 513; Upshur v. Briscoe, 138 U. S. 365, 11 S. Ct. 313, 34 L. ed. 931; Ames v. Moir, 138 U. S. 306, 11 S. Ct. 311, 34 L. ed. 951; Noble v. Hammond, 129 U. S. 65, 9 S. Ct. 235, 32 L. ed. 621; Strang v. Bradner, 114 U. S. 555, 5 S. Ct. 1038, 29 L. ed. 248; Wolf v. Stix, 99 U. S. 1, 25 L. ed. 309; Neal v. Scruggs, 95 U. S. 704, 24 L. ed. 586.

A debt created by the fraud of a member of a partnership is not released by the discharge in bankruptcy of the firm and the individual members thereof, if the firm has derived benefit from the fraudulent act. Bradner v. Strang, 89 N. Y. 299 [affirmed in 114 U. S. 555, 29 L. ed. 248]. See also Schroeder v. Frey, 114 N. Y. 266, 21 N. E. 410, 23 N. Y. St. 254 [affirming 60 Hun (N. Y.) 58, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 71, 37 N. Y. St. 945].

A representation as to a fact knowingly and fraudulently made for the purpose of obtaining money from another, and by which money is obtained, creates a debt by means of fraud involving moral turpitude and intentional wrong. Forsyth v. Vehmeyer, 177 U. S. 177, 20 S. Ct. 623, 44 L. ed. 723, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 807.

42. Brown v. Broach, 52 Miss. 536; Bank of North America v. Crandall, 87 Mo. 208; U. S. v. Rob Roy, 1 Woods (U. S.) 42, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,179, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 235.

43. Bryant v. Kinyon, (Mich. 1901) 86 N. W. 531, 53 L. R. A. 801, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 237. And see State v. Howell, 101 N. C. 443, 8 S. E. 167; Upshur v. Briscoe, 138 U. S. 365, 11 S. C. 313, 34 L. ed. 931.

Agents who are employed for a particular transaction do not occupy a fiduciary capacity. Goddin v. Neal, 99 Ind. 334; Woodward v. Towne, 127 Mass. 41, 34 Am. Rep. 337; Cronan v. Cotting, 104 Mass. 245, 6 Am. Rep. 232; Bryant v. Kinyon, (Mich. 1901) 86 N. W. 531, 53 L. R. A. 801, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 237; Gibson v. Gorman, 44 N. J. L. 325; Mulock v. Byrnes, 129 N. Y. 23, 29 N. E. 244, 41 N. Y. St. 413; Lawrence v. Harrington, 122 N. Y. 408, 25 N. E. 406, 33 N. Y. St. 717; Palmer v. Hussey, 87 N. Y. 303; Grover, etc., Sewing Mach. Co. v. Clinton, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 324, 6 Chic. Leg. N. 33, 18 Int. Rev. Rec. 166, 8 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 312, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 34, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,845. But see Matteson v. Kellogg, 15 Ill. 547; Fulton v. Hammond, 11 Fed. 291.

An attorney at law who, in the performance of his professional duties, collects money for his client acts in a fiduciary relation. Heffren v. Jayne, 39 Ind. 463, 13 Am. Rep. 281; White v. Platt, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 269; Flanagan v. Pearson, 42 Tex. 1, 19 Am. Rep. 40, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 37. But see contra, Wolcott v. Hodge, 15 Gray (Mass.) 547, 77 Am. Dec. 381; Williamson v. Dickens, 27 N. C. 259. See also McAdoo v. Lummis, 43 Tex. 227, holding that if an attorney received a note not in a professional character but as a gratuitous bailee, and it was attempted to impress a liability upon him for his neglect in failing to return the note, he will not be deemed to have acted in a fiduciary capacity, and the debt arising from such liability will be released by his discharge.

A banker does not occupy a fiduciary capacity. Maxwell v. Evans, 90 Ind. 596, 47 Am. Rep. 234; Shaw v. Vaughan, 52 Mich. 405, 18 N. W. 126; Green v. Chilton, 57 Miss. 598, 34 Am. Rep. 483.

A debt due from an executor to a legatee or from a guardian to his ward is a fiduciary debt and is not released by the discharge of the executor or guardian. Crisfield v. State, 55 Md. 192; Halliburton v. Carter, 55 Mo. 435, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 359; Simpson v. Simpson, 80 N. C. 245; In re Maybin, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,337, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 468. But if a person acting in a representative capacity guarantees the settlement of a claim against the estate which he represents, or gives his personal note in payment of a claim against such estate, which is accepted by the creditor, the debt thereby created is a personal one and is not created by him while acting in a fiduciary capacity. Coleman v. Davies, 45 Ga. 489; Amoskeag Mfg. Co. v. Barnes, 49 N. H. 312; Elliott v. Higgins, 83 N. C. 459. Compare Madison Tp. v. Dunkle, 114 Ind. 262, 16 N. E. 593.

44. Alabama.—Woolsey v. Cade, 54 Ala. 378, 25 Am. Rep. 711; Anstill v. Crawford, 7 Ala. 335.

Florida.— Chipley v. Frierson, 18 Fla. 639.

Georgia.— Contra, Gilreath v. Holston Salt, etc., Co., 67 Ga. 702; Meador v. Sharpe, 54 Ga. 125.

Indiana.— Du Pont v. Beck, 81 Ind. 271.

Louisiana.— Contra, Brown v. Garrard, 28 La. Ann. 870; Banning v. Bleakley, 27 La. Ann. 257, 21 Am. Rep. 554.

Massachusetts.— Hayman v. Pond, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 328.

Missouri.— Contra, Lemcke v. Booth, 47 Mo. 385, 4 Am. Rep. 326; Brooks v. Yocum, 42 Mo. App. 516; Brunswig v. Taylor, 2 Mo. App. 351.

New York.— Stratford v. Jones, 97 N. Y. 586.

Pennsylvania.— Scott v. Porter, 93 Pa. St. 38, 39 Am. Rep. 719.

Tennessee.— Pankey v. Nolan, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 154.

Texas.— Kaufman v. Alexander, 53 Tex. 562.

United States.— Upshur v. Briscoe, 138

5. Debts Due the United States, State, or Municipality. A discharge in bankruptcy does not release a bankrupt from debts due as taxes levied by the United States, or the state, county, district, or municipality in which he resides.[45] Whether debts due the United States or a state upon other grounds than for taxes were dischargeable was a question frequently considered under the Bankruptcy Act of 1867. It was finally settled that such debts were not provable in bankruptcy and were therefore not released by the discharge of the bankrupt.[46] Notwithstanding the fact that the language of the present Act differs somewhat from that of the Act of 1867, the differences are insufficient to indicate an express intention on the part of congress, in the passage of the present Act, to establish a different rule as to the divesting of the government, national or state, of its rights or remedies from that which obtained under the Act of 1867.[47]

6. Joint Debts. A discharge obtained by a joint debtor is a bar to an action by his codebtor for contribution.[48] It has also been held that an indorser for, or a surety of, a bankrupt can assert no claim against the bankrupt after his discharge, if the debt paid by such indorser or surety was provable against the estate

U. S. 365, 11 S. Ct. 313, 34 L. ed. 931; Ames v. Moir, 138 U. S. 306, 11 S. Ct. 311, 34 L. ed. 951; Palmer v. Hussey, 119 U. S. 96, 7 S. Ct. 158, 30 L. ed. 362; Hennequin v. Clews, 111 U. S. 676, 4 S. Ct. 576, 28 L. ed. 565; Neal v. Scruggs, 95 U. S. 704, 24 L. ed. 586; Chapman v. Forsyth, 2 How. (U. S.) 202, 11 L. ed. 236; Knott v. Putnam, 107 Fed. 907, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 80; Bracken v. Milner, 104 Fed. 522, 5 Am. Rep. 23; In re Basch, 97 Fed. 761, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235; Owsley v. Cobin, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 433, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,636, 9 Chic. Leg. N. 323, 23 Int. Rev. Rec. 210, 4 L. & Eq. Rep. 49, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 489, 4 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 431; Zeperink v. Card, 3 McCrary (U. S.) 549, 11 Fed. 295.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 799.

The conversion of property held by pledgees or others in similar capacities does not create a debt by the fraud of one acting in a fiduciary relation. Burnham v. Pidcock, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 65, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 806, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 42. See also Grannis v. Cubbedge, 71 Ga. 582; Sumner v. Richie, 54 Iowa 554, 6 N. W. 752; Phillips v. Russell, 42 Me. 360; Campbell v. Perkins, 8 N. Y. 430, Seld. Notes (N. Y.) 105; Cole v. Roach, 37 Tex. 413; Hennequin v. Clews, 111 U. S. 676, 4 S. Ct. 576, 28 L. ed. 565; In re Basch, 97 Fed. 761, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 235. Compare Herman v. Lynch, 26 Kan. 435, 40 Am. Rep. 320, 39 Am. Rep. 723 note.

45. Bankr. Act (1898), § 17*a* (1); In re Cleanfast Hosiery Co., 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 702.

46. U. S. v. Herron, 20 Wall. (U. S.) 251, 22 L. ed. 275. See also State v. Shelton, 47 Conn. 400; Hamilton v. Reynolds, 88 Ind. 191; Johnson v. Auditor, 78 Ky. 282; Com. v. McMillen, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 270; State v. Camden County, 51 N. J. L. 424, 18 Atl. 118; Com. v. Hutchinson, 10 Pa. St. 466; Saunders v. Com., 10 Gratt. (Va.) 494; Smith v. Hodson, 50 Wis. 279, 6 N. W. 812; Spalding v. People, 4 How. (U. S.) 21, 11 L. ed. 858 [affirming 7 Hill (N. Y.) 301]; In re Sutherland, Deady (U. S.) 416, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,639, 8 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 39, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 314; U. S. v. Rob Roy, 1 Woods (U. S.) 42, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,179, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 235; In re Cotton, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,269, 6 Law. Rep. 546, 2 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 370.

47. In re Baker, 96 Fed. 954, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 101, holding that a judgment against a putative father for the support of a bastard, obtained by a local municipal officer under a state statute, was not a debt which would be released by the discharge in bankruptcy of the putative father. See also In re Moore, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 590. But see In re Alderson, 98 Fed. 588, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 544, holding that a judgment for a fine upon an indictment for a violation of a state law, obtained against a bankrupt before he filed his petition, was a provable debt and therefore released by a discharge in bankruptcy.

48. Dean v. Speakman, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 317; Frentress v. Markle, 2 Greene (Iowa) 553; Clarke v. Porter, 25 Pa. St. 141. But see Brown v. J. E. Stevens Co., 52 Conn. 110, holding that where, after suit is brought against several persons, one of them is adjudged a bankrupt, and is discharged, and, not pleading his bankruptcy, judgment is rendered against all of them and is paid by one of the other defendants, such defendant is entitled to contribution from the bankrupt.

A discharge is not a bar to a recovery by one cosurety against another for contribution when the right to such contribution arose subsequent to the discharge.

Illinois.— Byers v. Alcorn, 6 Ill. App. 39.

Indiana.— Dunn v. Sparks, 1 Ind. 397, 50 Am. Dec. 473. Compare Hays v. Ford, 55 Ind. 52.

Maine.— Dole v. Warren, 32 Me. 94, 52 Am. Dec. 640.

Missouri.— Compare Miller v. Gillespie, 59 Mo. 220.

New Jersey.— Wyckoff v. Gardner, (N. J. 1886) 5 Atl. 801.

New York.— Contra, Tobias v. Rogers, 2 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 168 [affirmed in 13 N. Y. 59].

Tennessee.— Goss v. Gibson, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 197. Compare Eberhardt v. Wood, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 467.

of the bankrupt.[49] But the liability of a person who is a codebtor with, or a guarantor, or in any manner a surety for, a bankrupt is not altered by the discharge of such bankrupt.[50]

7. Judgments — a. In General. A debt evidenced by a judgment is provable in bankruptcy.[51] A judgment founded upon a provable debt, which is entered after the filing of the petition and before the consideration of the bankrupt's application for a discharge, is also provable.[52] It follows, therefore, that judg-

Vermont.— Liddell v. Wiswell, 59 Vt. 365, 8 Atl. 680; Swain v. Barber, 29 Vt. 292.

Wisconsin.— Smith v. Hodson, 50 Wis. 279, 6 N. W. 812.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 784.

49. Alabama.— Jones v. Knox, 46 Ala. 53, 7 Am. Rep. 583.

Arkansas.— Lipscomb v. Grace, 26 Ark. 231, 7 Am. Rep. 607.

Indiana.— Post v. Losey, 111 Ind. 74, 12 N. E. 121, 60 Am. Rep. 677; Hamilton v. Reynolds, 88 Ind. 191.

Kentucky.—Buford v. Crigler, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 662.

Louisiana.— Noland v. Wayne, 31 La. Ann. 401.

Massachusetts.— Fairbanks v. Lambert, 137 Mass. 373.

New York.— Crafts v. Mott, 4 N. Y. 604; Morse v. Hovey, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 187.

Pennsylvania.— Fulwood v. Bushfield, 14 Pa. St. 90; Reed v. Emory, 1 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 339.

Tennessee.— Hardy v. Carter, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 152.

Vermont.— Liddell v. Wiswell, 59 Vt. 365, 8 Atl. 680.

United States.— Mace v. Wells, 7 How. (U. S.) 272, 12 L. ed. 698.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 783.

The rule is otherwise if the claim was not provable. Pogue v. Joyner, 6 Ark. 241, 42 Am. Dec. 693; Dunn v. Sparks, 7 Ind. 490; Manion v. Campbell, 79 Mo. 105. See also Ellis v. Ham, 28 Me. 385.

50. Bankr. Act (1898), § 16*a*. See also the following cases:

Alabama.— Garnett v. Roper, 10 Ala. 842.

Georgia.— Phillips v. Solomon, 42 Ga. 192; King v. Central Bank, 6 Ga. 257.

Illinois.— Sandusky v. Exchange Bank, 81 Ill. 353.

Indiana.— Post v. Losey, 111 Ind. 74, 12 N. E. 121, 60 Am. Rep. 677; Cosgrove v. Cosby, 86 Ind. 511; Gregg v. Wilson, 50 Ind. 490.

Kentucky.— Edwards v. Coleman, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 249; Com. v. Anderson, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 275. Compare Payne v. Able, 7 Bush (Ky.) 344, 3 Am. Rep. 316.

Louisiana.— Serra é Hijs v. Hoffman, 30 La. Ann. 67.

Maine.— Farnham v. Gilman, 24 Me. 250; Craggin v. Bailey, 23 Me. 104; Horn v. Nason, 23 Me. 101.

Massachusetts.— Compare Johnson v. Collins, 117 Mass. 343, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 70; Braley v. Boomer, 116 Mass. 527, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 303; Hamilton v. Bryant, 114 Mass. 543, 14 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 479; Carpenter v. Turrell, 100 Mass. 450.

Mississippi.— Robinson v. Soule, 56 Miss. 549.

Missouri.— Fisse v. Einstein, 5 Mo. App. 78.

Nevada.— Tinkum v. O'Neale, 5 Nev. 93. See also Dorn v. O'Neale, 6 Nev. 155.

New Hampshire.— Claflin v. Cogan, 48 N. H. 411; Goodwin v. Stark, 15 N. H. 218.

New Jersey.— Linn v. Hamilton, 34 N. J. L. 305. Compare Kirby v. Garrison, 21 N. J. L. 179.

New York.— Knapp v. Anderson, 71 N. Y. 466; Wilson v. Field, 27 Hun (N. Y.) 46; McCombs v. Allen, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 190 [affirmed in 82 N. Y. 114]; Holyoke v. Adams, 1 Hun (N. Y.) 223 [affirmed in 59 N. Y. 233]; Bowery Sav. Bank v. Clinton, 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 113; Hall v. Fowler, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 630.

North Carolina.— Commercial Nat. Bank v. Simpson, 90 N. C. 467; Jones v. Hagler, 51 N. C. 542.

Ohio.— Childs v. Childs, 10 Ohio St. 339, 75 Am. Dec. 512.

Tennessee.— Compare Martin v. Kilbourn, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 331.

Texas.— Pinkard v. Willis, 24 Tex. Civ. App. 69, 57 S. W. 891.

Vermont.— Dyer v. Cleaveland, 18 Vt. 241.

Wisconsin.— Hill v. Trainer, 49 Wis. 537, 5 N. W. 926.

United States.— Abendroth v. Van Dolsen, 131 U. S. 66, 9 S. Ct. 619, 33 L. ed. 57; Wolf v. Stix, 99 U. S. 1, 25 L. ed. 309; In re Marshall Paper Co., 95 Fed. 419, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 653; In re Levy, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 169, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,297, 1 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 122, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 327; In re Albrecht, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 145, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 287.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," §§ 782, 786.

As to release of surety by discharge of principal in bail-bond see Bail, II, I, 1, h [5 Cyc. 32].

Under the Act of 1867 (U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5118), it was provided that no discharge shall release, discharge, or affect any person liable for the same debt for or with the bankrupt, either as partner, joint contractor, indorser, surety, or otherwise.

51. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (1); Aiken v. Haskins, 34 Misc. (N. Y.) 505, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 293, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 46.

Debts existing under the Bankruptcy Act of 1867, and kept alive by subsequent judgments, are not excepted from the operation of the Act of 1898. In re Herrman, 102 Fed. 753, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 139 [affirmed in 106 Fed. 987, 46 C. C. A. 77].

52. Bankr. Act (1898), § 63*a* (5). See also the following cases:

ments are released by the discharge of the judgment debtor in bankruptcy,[53] unless they are within the exceptions considered in the next section.[54] The lien of a judgment which has attached more than four months prior to the filing of the petition [55] is not, however, affected by the discharge.[56]

b. Judgments in Actions For Frauds, etc. Judgments in actions for frauds,[57] or obtaining property by false pretenses or false representations, or for wilful and malicious injuries to the person or property [58] are not released by the dis-

Alabama.— McDougald v. Reid, 5 Ala. 810.
Georgia.—Anderson v. Anderson, 65 Ga. 518, 38 Am. St. Rep. 797.
Kansas.— Tefft v. Knox, 37 Kan. 37, 14 Pac. 441; Widner v. Yeast, 32 Kan. 400, 4 Pac. 838.
Kentucky.— Pine Hill Coal Co. v. Harris, 86 Ky. 421, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 633, 6 S. W. 24.
Maine.— Compare Pike v. McDonald, 32 Me. 418, 54 Am. Dec. 597; Fisher v. Foss, 30 Me. 459.
Massachusetts.— Huntington v. Saunders, 166 Mass. 92, 43 N. E. 1035. Compare Woodbury v. Perkins, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 86, 51 Am. Dec. 51.
Mississippi.— McDonald v. Ingraham, 30 Miss. 389, 64 Am. Dec. 166.
New Jersey.—Whyte v. McGovern, 51 N. J. L. 356, 17 Atl. 957; Williams v. Humphreys, 50 N. J. L. 500, 14 Atl. 583.
New York.— Clark v. Rowling, 3 N. Y. 216, 53 Am. Dec. 290; Arnold v. Oliver, 64 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 452.
North Carolina.— Sanderson v. Daily, 83 N. C. 67.
Pennsylvania.— Curtis v. Slosson, 6 Pa. St. 265.
Tennessee.— Lachemier v. Stewart, 91 Tenn. 385, 19 S. W. 21, 30 Am. St. Rep. 887; Dick v. Powell, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 632.
Texas.— Kaufman v. Alexander, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 532.
Vermont.— Downer v. Rowell, 26 Vt. 397; Harrington v. McNaughton, 20 Vt. 293.
Virginia.— Blair v. Carter, 78 Va. 621.
West Virginia.— Zumbro v. Stump, 38 W. Va. 325, 18 S. E. 443.
Wisconsin.— Leonard v. Yohnk, 68 Wis. 587, 32 N. W. 702, 60 Am. Rep. 884.
United States.— Boynton v. Ball, 121 U. S. 457, 7 S. Ct. 981, 30 L. ed. 985; Braman v. Snider, 21 Fed. 871; In re Stansfield, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 334, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,294, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 268.
See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 815.

53. Illinois.— Pease v. Ritchie, 132 Ill. 638, 24 N. E. 433, 8 L. R. A. 566.
Kentucky.— Botts v. Patton, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 452.
Mississippi.— McDonald v. Ingraham, 30 Miss. 389, 64 Am. Dec. 166.
Nebraska.— Smith v. Kinney, 6 Nebr. 447.
New York.— McDonald v. Davis, 105 N. Y. 508, 12 N. E. 40; Graham v. Pierson, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 247; Roosevelt v. Mark, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 266.
North Carolina.— Wall v. Fairley, 77 N. C. 105.
See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 814.

54. See infra, XIX, E, 7, b.

55. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67*f*.

56. Lien of judgment.—Alabama.—Rugely v. Robinson, 10 Ala. 702; Freeny v. Warl, 9 Ala. 370.
Arkansas.— Oliphant v. Hartley, 32 Ark. 465.
Georgia.— Darsey v. Mumpford, 58 Ga. 119; Barber v. Terrell, 54 Ga. 146; Jones v. Lellyett, 39 Ga. 64. See also Dozier v. McWhorter, 113 Ga. 584, 39 S. E. 106.
Illinois.— Wales v. Bogue, 31 Ill. 464.
Indiana.— Pauley v. Cauthorn, 101 Ind. 91.
Pennsylvania.— Alexander v. Stuart, 2 Kulp (Pa.) 385.
Virginia.— McCance v. Taylor, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 580.
See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 820.
As to effect of discharge on liens, generally, see infra, XIX, E, 8.

57. The fraud intended involves moral turpitude or intentional wrong, and not implied fraud or fraud in law. Burnham v. Pidcock, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 273, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 1007; In re Blumberg, 94 Fed. 476, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 627. See also Hennequin v. Clews, 111 U. S. 676, 4 S. Ct. 576, 28 L. ed. 565.

58. It was not intended by the exception as to judgments in actions for wilful or malicious injury to person or property to prevent the bar of all judgments in actions for tort. An action grounded in tort is necessarily wilful. Lavery v. Crooke, 52 Wis. 612, 9 N. W. 599, 38 Am. Rep. 768. The term "wilful" means that the act was intentionally and designedly done. Anderson v. How, 116 N. Y. 336, 22 N. E. 695, 27 N. Y. St. 724; In re Maples, 105 Fed. 919, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 426. But the injury for which the judgment was obtained must be more than wilful; it must be with malice — with an evil intent and design to injure the person or property of plaintiff. In re Sullivan, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 30.
A judgment for seduction is a judgment in an action for a wilful and malicious injury to the person of another within the language of the exception. In re Freche, 109 Fed. 620, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 479; In re Maples, 105 Fed. 919, 5 Am. Bankr. Rep. 426. See also U. S. v. Coffin, 1 Sumn. (U. S.) 394, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,824. Contra, In re Sullivan, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 30.
A judgment for criminal conversation is within the exception and is not released. Colwell v. Tinker, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 330, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 952, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 434. Compare In re Tinker, 99 Fed. 79, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 580.
A judgment for breach of promise to marry is provable, and therefore released by the discharge of the bankrupt.[59] In determining whether a judgment is excepted from the effect of a discharge the form and original nature of the debt upon which the judgment is based must be considered.[60] The exception does not include a judgment in which the right of recovery is based upon an act which is not essentially fraudulent, although fraud may be incidentally shown.[61]

8. Liens. A discharge of a debtor in bankruptcy does not impair valid liens[62] acquired more than four months before the filing of the petition.[63] Accordingly a mechanic's lien,[64] a vendor's lien,[65] or the lien acquired by an attachment,[66] a charge of defendant in bankruptcy. Finnegan v. Hall, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 773, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 347, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 648; In re Fife, 109 Fed. 880, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 258; In re McCauley, 101 Fed. 223, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 122. And this is so although the complaint in the action contains an allegation of seduction and the fact of seduction is proved upon the trial. Disler v. McCauley, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 42, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 270, 7 Am. Bankr. Rep. 138 [reversing 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 491].

59. Bankr. Act (1898), c. 3, § 17*a* (2); In re Lewensohn, 99 Fed. 73, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 594 [affirmed in 104 Fed. 1006, 44 C. C. A. 309].

60. In re Rhutassel, 96 Fed. 597, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 697. And see In re Patterson, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 155, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,817, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 307, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 241; Warner v. Cronkhite, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 453, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,180, 8 Chic. Leg. N. 17, 7 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 329, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 52, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 291.

A debt created by fraud is not so far merged in a judgment entered upon it that the nature and origin of the debt cannot be shown. Bennett v. Justices Municipal Ct., 166 Mass. 126, 44 N. E. 121; Huntington v. Saunders, 166 Mass. 92, 43 N. E. 1035; Freeland v. Williams, 131 U. S. 405, 9 S. Ct. 763, 33 L. ed. 193; Wisconsin v. Pelican Ins. Co., 127 U. S. 265, 8 S. Ct. 1370, 32 L. ed. 239; Boynton v. Ball, 121 U. S. 457, 7 S. Ct. 981, 30 L. ed. 985; Packer v. Whittier, 91 Fed. 511, 63 U. S. App. 37, 33 C. C. A. 658, 1 Am Bankr. Rep. 621.

61. Burnham v. Pidcock, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 273, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 1007; In re Blumberg, 94 Fed. 476, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 627 (holding that the mere fact that incidentally to the collection of a debt a sale of property is set aside as fraudulent does not make the debt one created by fraud, or prevent it being released by a discharge in bankruptcy). See also Collins v. McWalters, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 648, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 203, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 593, holding that where a grantee of land, upon the assurance of her grantor that it was unnecessary, fails to record her deed and the grantor conveys the land to a third person, a judgment for plaintiff in an action by the first grantee to recover back the purchase-price is not a judgment in an action for fraud, which by the exception is exempted from the operation of a discharge in bankruptcy.

62. The release by a discharge is a personal privilege and does not operate in rem.

Georgia.— Clanton v. Estes, 77 Ga. 352, 1 S. E. 163.

Indiana.— Haggerty v. Byrne, 75 Ind. 499.

Kentucky.— Barnett v. Sayers, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 465, 12 S. W. 303; Fetter v. Cirode, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 482.

Mississippi.— Reed v. Bullington, 49 Miss. 223; Roach v. Bennett, 24 Miss. 98.

Pennsylvania.— Tintsman v. Flenniken, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 29.

Texas.— Boone v. Revis, 44 Tex. 384; Pinkard v. Willis, 24 Tex. Civ. App. 69, 57 S. W. 891.

Wisconsin.— Bank of Commerce v. Elliott, 109 Wis. 648, 85 N. W. 417.

United States.— In re Blumberg, 94 Fed. 476, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 627; Dixon v. Barnum, 3 Hughes (U. S.) 207, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,928, 2 Va. L. J. 312. See also Yeatman v. New Orleans Sav. Inst., 95 U. S. 764, 24 L. ed. 589.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 808.

As to lien of judgment see supra, XIX, E, 7, a.

63. Bankr. Act (1898), § 67.

64. Mechanic's lien.— McCullough v. Caldwell, 5 Ark. 237; In re Emslie, 102 Fed. 291, 42 C. C. A. 350, 4 Am. Bankr. Rep. 126; In re Kerby-Denis Co., 94 Fed. 818, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 218 [affirmed in 95 Fed. 116].

65. Vendor's lien.— Barnett v. Salyers, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 465, 12 S. W. 303; Jackson v. Elliott, 49 Tex. 62; Elliott v. Booth, 44 Tex. 180, 23 Am. Rep. 593; Lewis v. Hawkins, 23 Wall. (U. S.) 119, 23 L. ed. 113.

66. Attachment.— Alabama.— Sims v. Jacobson, 51 Ala. 186; May v. Courtnay, 47 Ala. 185.

Illinois.— Hill v. Harding, 116 Ill. 92, 4 N. E. 361.

Kansas.—Gillett v. McCarthy, 23 Kan. 668.

Massachusetts.— Ives v. Sturgis, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 462; Davenport v. Tilton, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 320. Compare Hamilton v. Bryant, 114 Mass. 543; Carpenter v. Turrell, 100 Mass. 450.

New Hampshire.— Colby v. Ledden, 17 N. H. 273; Kittredge v. Warren, 14 N. H. 509.

New Jersey.—Vreeland v. Bruen, 21 N. J. L. 214.

Tennessee.— Wilson v. Eifler, 11 Heisk. (Tenn.) 179.

Texas.— Hancock v. Henderson, 45 Tex. 479.

Vermont.— Stoddard v. Locke, 43 Vt. 574, 5 Am. Rep. 308.

United States.— In re Blumberg, 94 Fed. 476, 1 Am. Bankr. Rep. 627. Compare Ex p.

creditor's suit,[67] or a mortgage may be enforced to the fullest extent, although no deficiency judgment can be rendered against the bankrupt.[68]

9. Omitted Claims. A discharge in bankruptcy does not release the bankrupt from a provable debt which was not duly scheduled in time for proof and allowance, with the name of the creditor, if known to the bankrupt, unless such creditor had notice or actual knowledge of the proceedings in bankruptcy.[69]

10. Partnership and Individual Debts. One partner may institute proceedings looking to a discharge from the partnership as well as his individual debts, and, the proper foundation being laid,[70] may obtain a discharge effectual against Foster, 2 Story (U. S.) 131, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,960, 5 Law. Rep. 55.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 809.

67. Creditor's suit.— Phelps v. Curts, 80 Ill. 109; Macy v. Jordan, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 570; Lowry v. Morrison, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 327; Storm v. Waddell, 2 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 494; McLean v. Lafayette Bank, 3 McLean (U. S.) 587, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,888.

68. Mortgage.—Alabama.— Carlisle v. Wilkins, 51 Ala. 371; Stewart v. Anderson, 10 Ala. 504.

Arkansas.— Oliphint v. Eckerley, 36 Ark. 69.

Georgia.— Price v. Amis, 58 Ga. 604.

Indiana.— Pierce v. Wilcox, 40 Ind. 70; Truitt v. Truitt, 38 Ind. 16.

Kentucky.— Louisville Second Nat. Bank v. New Jersey Nat. State Bank, 10 Bush (Ky.) 367, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 49; Wolfe v. Bate, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 208.

Louisiana.— Labauve v. Slack, 28 La. Ann. 296.

Michigan.— Prentis v. Richardson, 118 Mich. 259, 76 N. W. 381.

New Hampshire.— Chamberlain v. Meeder, 16 N. H. 381.

Pennsylvania.— Insurance Co. v. Ketterlinus, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 130.

South Carolina.—Savage v. Kinloch, Speers Eq. (S. C.) 464.

Texas.— French v. Pyron, 2 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 720.

United States.— Scott v. Ellery, 142 U. S. 381, 12 S. Ct. 233, 35 L. ed. 1050.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 812.

69. Bankr. Act (1898), c. 3, § 17*a* (3); Fider v. Mannheim, 78 Minn. 309, 81 N. W. 2; Tyrrel v. Hammerstein, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 505, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 717, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 430.

Actual knowledge of the proceedings in bankruptcy by the creditor whose claim was omitted from the schedules must be shown by a fair preponderance of evidence. Collins v. McWalters, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 648, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 203, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 593.

Where the schedules described a judgment creditor named George Liesum as George Liesman the bankrupt's discharge does not release the debt as against George Liesum. Liesum v. Kraus, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 376, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 1022.

Under the former acts an omission from the schedules did not affect the bankrupt's right to a release. The provisions of the present Act in this respect are new. See the following cases decided under the former acts to the effect that if the notice required by the statute had been published, a debt will be released although not included in the schedules, and no notice was given to the creditor.

Alabama.— Jones v. Knox, 51 Ala. 367.

District of Columbia.— Hoffman v. Haight, 3 Mackey (D. C.) 21.

Georgia.— Heard v. Arnold, 56 Ga. 570, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 543.

Indiana.— Hurd v. Indiana Mut. F. Ins. Co., 1 Ind. 162.

Iowa.—Magoon v. Warfield, 3 Greene (Iowa) 293.

Kentucky.— Payne v. Able, 7 Bush (Ky.) 344, 3 Am. Rep. 316, 4 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 220.

Louisiana.— Rogers v. Western M. & F. Ins. Co., 1 La. Ann. 161.

Maine.— Symonds v. Barnes, 59 Me. 191, 8 Am. Rep. 418, 6 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 377.

Massachusetts.— Black v. Blazo, 117 Mass. 17, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 195; Burnside v. Brigham, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 75.

Michigan.—Graves v. Wright, 53 Mich. 425, 19 N. W. 129; Benedict v. Smith, 48 Mich. 593, 12 N. W. 866; Hill v. Robbins, 22 Mich. 475.

Missouri.—Thornton v. Hogan, 63 Mo. 143; Shelton v. Pease, 10 Mo. 473.

New York.— Campbell v. Perkins, 8 N. Y. 430, Seld. Notes (N. Y.) 105; Platt v. Parker, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 135; Briggs v. Angus, 1 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 347, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 313, 24 N. Y. St. 605.

Ohio.— Rayl v. Lapham, 27 Ohio St. 452; Mitchell v. Singletary, 19 Ohio 291.

Tennessee.— Eberhardt v. Wood, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 467.

Texas.— Blum v. Ricks, 39 Tex. 112.

Vermont.— Steele v. Towne, 28 Vt. 771; Downer v. Dana, 22 Vt. 337.

Wisconsin.— Thomas v. Jones, 39 Wis. 124.

United States.— Lamb v. Brown, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,011, 7 Chic. Leg. N. 363, 12 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 522, 1 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 176.

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 775.

70. Bankr. Act (1898), § 5; and infra, XX.

If one, but not all, of the members of a partnership has been adjudged a bankrupt, and the other members consent to the administration in bankruptcy of the partnership property (Bankr. Act (1898), c. 3, § 5*h*), the bankrupt partner will be entitled to a discharge effectual not only against his individual creditors but also against partnership creditors (In re Laughlin, 96 Fed. 589, both classes of claims.[71] Whether an individual discharge operates upon firm debts when the firm has not been brought into bankruptcy is a question, however, as to which the authorities are in conflict. A number sustain the negative of the proposition.[72] Other decisions declare that the discharge is effective unless there were partnership assets at the time of the adjudication.[73] Still other authorities maintain that the discharge operates upon partnership as well as individual debts.[74]

F. Pleading Discharge — 1. Who May Plead. The plea of a discharge in bankruptcy is personal to the bankrupt and his representatives.[75]

2. Necessity of Pleading. The discharge of the bankrupt will not be effectual as a bar in an action upon a provable debt unless pleaded.[76]

3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1). But a discharge of a bankrupt partner from firm debts cannot be secured unless the partnership estate has been placed in the custody of the court and administered in accordance with the Act (In re Meyers, 97 Fed. 757, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 260).

71. In re Laughlin, 96 Fed. 589, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1. See also In re Meyers, 97 Fed. 757, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 260; In re Russell, 97 Fed. 32, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 91.

Where the proceeding is against the partnership as an entity the individual partners are not entitled to a discharge. In re Hale, 107 Fed. 432, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 35.

72. Payne v. Able, 7 Bush (Ky.) 344, 3 Am. Rep. 316; Perkins v. Fisher, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 514; Corry v. Perry, 67 Me. 140, 24 Am. Rep. 15; Trimble v. More, 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 340; Honegger v. Wettstein, 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 125; In re Plumb, 9 Ben. (U. S.) 279, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,231, 17 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 76, 6 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 70; In re Little, 2 Ben. (U. S.) 186, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,390, 1 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 341, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 268; In re Noonan, 3 Biss. (U. S.) 491, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,292, 5 Chic. Leg. N. 557, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 425, 10 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 330, 21 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 73; Hudgins v. Lane, 2 Hughes (U. S.) 361, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,827, 11 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 462; In re Grady, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,654, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 227. See also In re Shepard, 3 Ben. (U. S.) 347, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,754, 3 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 172; In re Winkens, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,875, 2 Am. L. T. Bankr. Rep. 53, 1 Chic. Leg. N. 163, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 349.

A discharge of a member of one firm on the petition of the firm does not release him from liability on debts due by him as a member of another firm. Perkins v. Fisher, 80 Ky. 11.

Where the proceedings are instituted against a single member of a firm, and the petition makes no mention of firm debts, and no notice is given to firm creditors, a discharge will only be effectual as against his individual debts. In re Hartman, 96 Fed. 593, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 65; In re McFaun, 96 Fed. 592, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 66; In re Laughlin, 96 Fed. 589, 3 Am. Bankr. Rep. 1.

73. In re Johnston, 17 Fed. 71; Crompton v. Conkling, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,408, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 417; In re Abbe, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 4, 7 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 824, 2 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 15, 15 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 589. See also West Philadelphia Bank v. Gerry, 106 N. Y. 467, 13 N. E. 453; Curtis v. Woodward, 58 Wis. 499, 17 N. W. 328, 46 Am. Rep. 647.

74. Mattix v. Leach, 16 Ind. App. 112, 43 N. E. 969; Hamilton v. Cutler, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 187, 11 Cinc. L. Bul. 176; Jarecki Mfg. Co. v. McElwaine, 107 Fed. 249; In re Jewett, 7 Biss. (U. S.) 328, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,306, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 126; Wilkins v. Davis, 2 Lowell (U. S.) 511, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,664, 15 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 60.

75. Palmer v. Merrill, 57 Me. 26; Moyer v. Dewey, 103 U. S. 301, 26 L. ed. 394; In re Burton, 29 Fed. 637.

A widow of a bankrupt to whom his property has been transferred may avail herself of his discharge and plead it in her own defense. Upshur v. Briscoe, 138 U. S. 365, 11 S. Ct. 313, 34 L. ed. 931.

76. Alabama.— Collins v. Hammock, 59 Ala. 448; Ivey v. Gamble, 7 Port. (Ala.) 545.

Connecticut.— Brown v. J. & E. Stevens Co., 52 Conn. 110.

Georgia.— Smith v. Cook, 71 Ga. 705.

Illinois.— Horner v. Spelman, 78 Ill. 206.

Indiana.— Jenks v. Opp, 43 Ind. 108.

Kentucky.— If plaintiff alleges defendant's discharge and relies upon a new promise made after the discharge it is not necessary for defendant to plead his discharge. Green v. McGowan, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 661.

Louisiana.—Ludeling v. Felton, 29 La. Ann. 719; Palmer v. Moore, 3 La. Ann. 208.

Maine.— Palmer v. Merrill, 57 Me. 26.

Mississippi.— Jones v. Coker, 53 Miss. 195.

Missouri.— State Bank v. Franciscus, 15 Mo. 303.

New York.— McDonald v. Davis, 105 N. Y. 508, 12 N. E. 40; Revere Copper Co. v. Dimock, 90 N. Y. 33 [affirmed in 117 U. S. 559, 6 S. Ct. 855, 29 L. ed. 994]; Monroe v. Upton, 50 N. Y. 593; Cornell v. Dakin, 38 N. Y. 253.

Ohio.— Gardner v. Hengehold, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 997, 9 Am. L. Rec. 414.

Texas.— Miller v. Clements, 54 Tex. 351; Coffee v. Ball, 49 Tex. 16; Park v. Casey, 35 Tex. 536; Manwarring v. Kouns, 35 Tex. 171.

Wisconsin.— Bank of Commerce v. Elliott, 109 Wis. 648, 85 N. W. 417.

United States.— Fowle v. Park, 48 Fed. 789; In re Burton, 29 Fed. 637; In re Wesson, 4 Hughes (U. S.) 522, 88 Fed. 855; Fellows v. Hall, 3 McLean (U. S.) 281, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,722.

3. Requisites of Plea. A pleading which sets up a discharge as a defense should allege facts sufficient to show that the proceedings were regular and that the discharge was actually granted.[77]

4. Time of Pleading. A plea of a discharge in bankruptcy should be filed in due order of pleading,[78] and within the time prescribed by rule of court.[79] Laches in pleading it,[80] unless explained,[81] is fatal. If the discharge is obtained

See 6 Cent. Dig. tit. "Bankruptcy," § 825.

As to showing bankruptcy under the general issue in assumpsit see Assumpsit, Action of, IX, H, 1, a [4 Cyc. 355].

The discharge must be pleaded in a suit in equity as well as in an action at law. Fellows v. Hall, 3 McLean (U. S.) 281, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,722.

Where a judgment has been rendered against a bankrupt after his discharge and an action is brought on such judgment in another state, he cannot set up his discharge in the action brought on such judgment; his failure to plead his discharge in the first instance is a waiver of the defense. Dimock v. Revere Copper Co., 117 U. S. 559, 7 S. Ct. 855, 29 L. ed. 994. See also Dewey v. Moyer, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 473, 16 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 1.

77. Bankr. Act (1867), § 34, provided that a discharge "may be pleaded, by a simple averment that on the day of its date such discharge was granted to him, setting the same forth in hæc verba." See also the following cases:

Alabama.— Penn v. Edwards, 50 Ala. 63.

Georgia.— McNeil v. Knott, 11 Ga. 142.

Illinois.— Boone v. Stone, 8 Ill. 537.

Indiana.— Donald v. Kell, 111 Ind. 1, 11 N. E. 782.

Kansas.— Widner v. Yeast, 32 Kan. 400, 4 Pac. 838.

Kentucky.— Laidley v. Cummings, 83 Ky. 606.

Michigan.—Bryant v. Kinyon, (Mich. 1901) 86 N. W. 531, 53 L. R. A. 801, 6 Am. Bankr. Rep. 237.

