

SH
439
ES

UC-NRLF

$B 271 882

Elliot

ELLIOT

YB 10660

EX
libris

Don Horter

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2007 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

No. 4.]

ONE PENNY.

THE YOUNG
FISHERMAN,

A COMPLETE
GUIDE TO ANGLING,
SHOWING
The TACKLE and BAITS required,
The Rivers, Ponds, &c.

WHERE FISH ARE TO BE FOUND,
The LAWS of ANGLING,
&c. &c.

LONDON:
H. ELLIOT, 475, NEW OXFORD STREET,
And all Booksellers in Town and Country.

Established August, 1856.

THE
WEST-END
NEWS.

The Circulation of

THE WEST-END NEWS

Extends throughout the following localities,
INCLUDING THE

CITY of WESTMINSTER and the BOROUGH of MARYLEBONE,

Embracing the following Parishes, &c.:—

St. Giles-in-the-Fields.
St. George, Bloomsbury.
St. Martin-in-the-Fields.
St. Anne, Soho.
St. Paul, Covent Garden.
The Precinct of the Savoy.
St. Mary-le-Strand.
St. Clement Danes.
The Liberty of the Rolls.
St. Andrew, Holborn.
St. George the Martyr.
St. Sepulchre, &c.
St. James, Westminster.

St. George, Hanover Square.
St. Margaret and St. John.
Chelsea and Pimlico.
Brompton and Knightsbridge.
Fulham and Hammersmith.
Kensington and Bayswater.
Paddington.
St. John's Wood.
St. Marylebone.
St. Pancras.
Hampstead.
CamdenTown&KentishTown.
Pentonville, &c. &c.

It has likewise a Special Office at 49, RUE TAITBOUT, PARIS, and Agents throughout Vienna, Berlin, Hamburg, Frankfort, Leipzig, Switzerland, Spain, Naples, Turin, &c.

IT will thus be seen that the above Newspaper commands an extensive circulation, not only among the leading Inhabitants of Bloomsbury, Westminster, Chelsea, Brompton, Kensington, Marylebone, &c., but it is also supplied to the principal Reading Rooms, Hotels and Coffee Houses throughout the above and the adjacent districts to a considerable distance, thus comprehending in one sphere a large and highly important range, including a population of 900,000.

** THE WEST-END NEWS, when first started was the largest Paper at the price ever issued from the Press; it is the oldest and has the largest circulation of all the local Papers, and being liberally supported throughout several of the most important Parishes in the Metropolis, forms an unexceptionable medium for advertisers.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING.

Price One Penny. Stamped Twopence.

Printed and Published by WILLIAM HENRY ELLIOT, at the Chief Office, 475, Oxford Street, W. C., and of all Newsagents.

5770
E5

THE
YOUNG FISHERMAN.

TACKLE FOR ANGLING.

---

RODS.

The rod should, when put together, taper gradually from the butt end to the top, and be perfectly straight and even.

For general purposes, a rod of about twelve feet in length is the most convenient; but in wide rivers, fifteen and eighteen feet rods are sometimes required. A bamboo rod with several tops of different degrees of strength, is exceedingly well adapted for general purposes, and a cane rod surpasses every other for fine fishing.

A whalebone top is an extremely good, although not an indispensable article; it should have a strong loop to horse-hair whipt on it.

It is a good plan to have a rod for each kind of fishing, as by such an arrangement they can be kept in complete order, and ready for immediate service. The rods should be ringed to guide the line from the reel.

---

LINES.

The best and most serviceable lines are those made of horse-hair, for such as are composed of hair and silk from retaining the water, soon become rotten. Good lines should be perfectly twisted, round, and even, and in point of colour a light grey, or brown, or white, are perhaps the most useful.

The bottom, or casting line for fly fishing, which is affixed to the line on the reel, must be of gut at the top, and very fine at the dropper, or bottom, and before any flies are made upon it, it should be picked and tried to see that it is of an uniform thickness throughout.

When fastening the line on the rod, the loop of the line should be passed through the ring at the end of the top joint, carried over the ferrule, and then drawn up to the top again, by which plan the loop will be secured.

It is never worth a lad's while to attempt manufacturing fishing lines, as they may always be purchased more neatly fabricated, and even at a much cheaper rate than he could possibly contrive to make them.

---

FLOATS.

Floats can always be procured ready-made, of all sizes and every variety of shape.

For small fish and slow streams, porcupine, swan, goose, or Muscovy duck quill floats, will be found the best; and in strong and rapid rivers, or for the larger kinds of fish, cork floats must be used.

---

WINCHES.

A winch is one of the most useful additions to your angling apparatus which you can procure. With its assistance you may reach parts of a river you could not otherwise attempt.

---

HOOKS.

Of hooks there are four kinds, the Limerick, the Kendal, the Kirby, and the Sneckbend; which fashion or shape is the best, is a question very difficult to settle, as almost every angler has a predilection in favour of one sort, to the prejudice of all the others.

---

BAITS.

The ash-grub is found in the rotten bark of a tree which has been felled some time; it is an excellent bait for grayling, chub, dace, or roach, and may be used all the year round. It should be kept in wheat bran.

The brandling, or gilt-tail, is found in old dunghills, tanner's bark, rotten earth, and cows' dung. It is an admirable bait for perch, tench, bream, gudgeon, and indeed for almost any kind of fish.

The cabbage worm, or the caterpillar, is a good bait for chub, dace, roach, or trout.

The locality of the crab-tree worm is indicated by its name. It is a good bait for roach, dace, trout, and chub.

Flag or dock worms inhabit the fibres of flag roots in old pits or ponds. They are excellent baits for tench, bream, bleak, grayling, carp, perch, dace, and roach.

Gentles, or maggots, are bred by hanging up a piece of meat until it putrefies; they should be kept on flesh, and when they have arrived at their full size, a little bran and damp sand may be put in the vessel in which they are immured, for the purpose of scouring them; they will be fit for use in a day or two, and are tempting bait for all kinds of fish. When putting a gentle on the hook, you must insert the hook at one end of it, and bring it out at the other, and then draw the gentle back until it completely covers the point of the hook.

In order to scour and preserve worms, you must procure some very fresh moss, wash away all particles of earth from it, and squeeze it, but not too dry; then put it into a jar and press it closely down, and place worms upon it.

Miller's thumbs, bleaks, minnows, dace, gudgeons, loaches, sticklebacks, smelts, and roach, are used as baits for some of the larger fish.

Grasshoppers are good baits during June, July, and August, for roach, grayling, chub, and trout; their legs and wings must be taken off before they are put on the hook.

Salmon spawn is an excellent bait for trout and chub; you may purchase it at the shops ready for use.

GROUND BAIT.

Ground baiting is a most essential part of angling and ought never to be omitted, as success in bottom or float fishing cannot be expected, unless the proper means for drawing the fish together are resorted to.

For barbel, it is necessary to make the lumps of ground bait large in proportion to the strength of the current in which you fish.

For carp, tench, eels, perch, and bream, fresh grains will be found very serviceable. They must be very fresh, for if they have the slightest taint of sourness, the fish will not touch them.

PASTE BAITS.

When working up paste baits, be particularly careful to have clean hands, and knead your pastes thoroughly, so that all the materials may be well incorporated.

Sheeps' blood and saffron make a good paste for roach, bleak, &c.

Paste baits are not at all adapted for swift, running streams, but for quiet brooks, ponds, or very still rivers.

ARTIFICIAL FLIES.

There are upwards of a hundred different kinds of flies suitable to this species of angling, a full description of the method of making each, would far exceed our limits; we shall, therefore, describe some of the most usual only. The cow-dung fly may be used from the 1st of April, and will kill till September. Its wing should be made of a feather of the land-rail, its body of yellow camlet mingled with a little fur, and its legs of ginger blue.

The violet fly is used in April; it is made of light dun-coloured bear's hair mixed with violet stuff, and winged with the grey feather of a mallard.

The green drake, or May fly, is, perhaps, the best that can be procured for trout fishing. Its wings should be made of the light feather of the grey drake, dyed lemon-colour, its body of yellow-coloured mohair, neatly ribbed with green silk, head of a peacock's harl, and its tail of three long hairs from a sable muff.

The yellow sally is an approved fly from the early part of May to the end of June. Its body must be made of yellow unravelled worsted, mixed with some fur from a hare's ear, and its wings of a hackle dyed yellow.

The purple fly is made of purple wool mixed with light brown bear's hair, and dubbed with purple silk, is useful during June and July.

The red ant's wings must be made of light feather from a starling, its body of a peacock's harl, and its legs of a ginger coloured hackle, and be careful to make its body thick at the end. This fly first appears in June, and continues to August; it is a capital killer from eleven in the morning till six in the evening.

The late badger-fly is also serviceable in August; it is made of black badger's hair whipped with red silk, and winged with a darkish grey mallard's feather.

The willow fly appears in September, and is the best bait during that month and the remainder of the season.

RIVERS, PONDS, and CANALS, in the VICINITY OF LONDON.

The Thames contains all kinds of fish; being under the jurisdiction of the Government as far as Staines, up to that place no one is allowed to fish (under a penalty of twenty pounds), during the months of March, April, and May, as most fresh-water fish cast their spawn during those months.

From Staines to Battersea, various parts of the river are staked out, and bailiffs appointed to see that the fish are not taken by improper means. The angler may, therefore, be certain of meeting with plenty of sport in those places.

At Isleworth, there is tolerably good fishing, especially for dace, with the fly.

Twickenham preserve, one mile above Richmond, is opposite Pope's Villa, where there is tolerably good barbel and dace fishing. One mile and a half beyond Twickenham is Teddington, where you meet with the first lock and weir, and is considered the place for a day's barbel fishing. Great quantities are taken if you are careful in getting the pitch—if you do not you might as well leave barbel fishing alone at Teddington. There is very good roach, dace, and gudgeon fishing. A mile and a half beyond, is

Kingston, and celebrated for the large barbel caught near the old bridge, but its removal has somewhat injured the fishing, though good sport may still be had for barbel, roach, perch, and dace. A short distance only, and we come to

Thames Ditton, a deservedly favourite resort of the London Anglers, abounding with barbel, perch, chub, roach, dace, and gudgeon. We next come to

Hampton Court, a delightful station, with the additional attraction of Hampton Court Palace. The preserve extends 270 yards from Weir Moulsey Lock to Lower Head Pole; the Angler will here find barbel, fine perch, roach, and dace, either from the shore or in a punt; or, should the weather be unfavourable for angling visit the Palace. About a mile up the river is

Hampton, where the preserve is 950 yards long, being from the westward of Garrick-Lawn to the Tumbling Bay. One of the best pitches is opposite Garrick's Summer-House. The Angler will find plenty of pike, perch, barbel, roach, and dace, and many perch are taken while gudgeon fishing in the Scowers.

In the New River, which is free for any person to try his fortune in, from its source near Ware in Hertfordshire, to Islington, very many fine fish may be found.

The Lea River, which runs into the Thames at Poplar, abounds with fish. Some parts of the river are preserved, and for permission to angle there, you must pay a certain sum annually.

The Lea.—At Homerton, the river is rented and preserved by the proprietor of the White House, and is three miles from London; the yearly subscription is 10s. 6d. or a day ticket may be had for a shilling; jack, barbel, chub, perch, roach, dace, and gudgeon are numerous.

The Roding, which runs into the Thames at Barking, produces an abundance of eels, chub, perch, &c. There are many deep holes and favourable spots for angling in this river at Abridge, Woodford, Loughton, Ilford, Wanstead, and Barking.

In the Mole, which empties itself into the Thames at East Moulsey, in Surrey, many good fish may be found. The angler will find the best sport near Esher, Leatherhead, Cobham, Dorking, or Ryegate.

In the Wandle, at Mitcham, Merton, Carshalton, and Wandsworth, fine trout, &c. may be taken.

On Chiselhurst common, in Kent, about twelve miles from London, are some ponds stored with carp and tench, &c. &c. The large pond near the King's Head Inn, is the best.

A mile to the east of Shooter's hill, in Kent, there are some ponds on a common near the road side, containing carp, tench, &c. These ponds are free to all anglers.

The Camberwell Canal contains pike, roach, carp, perch, and eels.

At Stanmore, in Middlesex, ten miles from London, there are two or three ponds on the common, in which perch, tench, &c. may be found. Between these ponds and Stanmore Priory, about a mile distant, is a very fine piece of water called the Long Pond, which contains pike, &c.

At Sunbury, on the Middlesex side of the Thames, some large trout are taken, and there is good gudgeon fishing on the Scowers. The preserve extends nearly 700 yards.

The Paddington Canal has chub, eels, gudgeons, perch, roach, and pike.

The river Wey, in Surrey, which joins the Thames near Oatlands park, contains barbel, ruffe, dace, gudgeons, carp, pike, and roach.

At Stoke Newington, the water is well stored with fish; and permission to angle is only to be obtained through the Directors of the New River Company.

Dagenham Breach, in Essex, is preserved for angling. The subscription is one guinea and a half per annum. It is well stored with carp, pike, bream, eels, &c.

Cheshunt abounds with fine pike, perch, &c. Permission to fish can only be obtained through a director of the New River Company, who is privileged to give an order (not transferable) for the season.

The Lake in the gardens of Hornsey-wood house contains perch, tench, roach, &c. and in which persons taking refreshment at the tavern are allowed to fish.

The Ravensbourne, in Kent, contains good roach, chub, gudgeons, perch, trout, and dace.

In the Colne, near Uxbridge and Denham, fine trout abound; but as the river is rented, you must obtain leave to fish, and pay so much per pound for what you catch.

At Kingsbury, five miles from Hyde Park, there is fine jack, perch, and roach fishing, both in the river Brent and the Reservoir. The yearly subscription for the latter is one guinea, but day-tickets are granted. All particulars can be obtained of Mr. Warner, at the Welsh Harp, Kingsbury.

The Croydon and Regent's Canal afford very good fishing.

The Ornamental Water in the Regent's Park is now open to the public, where great quantities of small perch, gudgeon, &c., are taken, also a few very fine carp.

The Serpentine, in Hyde Park, is also free, where there is sometimes very good sport. The water abounds in large carp and fine eels.

On Hampstead heath and Clapham common, are some free ponds, containing perch, carp, and a few other fish.

The Surrey Canal Dock at Rotherhithe, contains plenty of good jack, roach, bream, perch, and eels. It is a subscription water, and the terms are a guinea annually, or a shilling for each day's sport.

In the Commercial Docks at Rotherhithe, bream, eels, &c. abound. You must procure an admission ticket from a director, before you can fish in this water.

---

HINTS TO ANGLERS.

It is generally understood that when two or three persons are angling in the same stream, there shall be a distance of thirty yards between them.

If the learner wishes to become a complete angler, he must use fine tackle, as the skill and care which such tackle requires will soon make him master of the art.

When the tackle breaks, the angler must not mourn over the accident, but do his best to remedy it, by speedily repairing the damage, and resuming his sport.

The angler should wear strong boots or shoes, and keep his feet dry; and if he values his health, he will abstain from drinking water out of rivers or ponds when he is in a perspiration, or feels parched with thirst.

If the weather is very cold, or winds sets very strongly from the east or north, the angler will meet with but little sport.

On no account have metal buttons.

Never be in too great haste in preparing your tackle previously to angling.

Take time in plumbing your depth, and do it accurately, and with as little disturbance to the water as possible.

When you have hooked a heavy fish, use your landing net.

Keep as far from the water as you can.

Take care your shadow is not thrown on the water.

When you lose a fish after playing him, throw in ground-bait directly.

Avoid sitting on the grass.

Prefer angling at mill tails, in deep water, under overhanging banks, and by the entrance of small streams.

Mark the situation where you have good sport.

Varnish floats and all whippings after use.

Dry your lines after use to prevent rotting.

Play your fish well before landing.

Heavy showers of rain or hail, and thunder storms, are likewise extremely prejudicial to his amusement, and as in the winter months, few opportunities are afforded for the exercise of his talents out of doors, he should, while snugly screened from the pinching blasts, attend to all the little repairs which may be necessary to his various appurtenances.

His hooks, his lines, peruse with careful eye,
Increase his tackle, and his rod re-tie.

GAY.

---

SALT WATER ANGLING.

Many kinds of fish may be caught at the mouths of rivers when the tide is running up.

Plaice, whiting, small cod, turbot, and haddock, will readily seize a bait, and may be angled for from piers and projecting rocks; indeed, even mackerel may be taken from similar places, during the time they are in season.

For this kind of angling, a good strong rod, stout, well leaded line, large cork float, and good sized hook, are requisite.

When fishing at the mouths of rivers with gentles, well-scoured red worms, or shrimps, as baits, you may take whittings, eels, flat fish, small cod fish, and haddock. When fishing from a pier, or rock, or a boat, at a short distance from land, two or three red worms, a small raw crab, or a muscle, or a little bit of whiting will prove very serviceable baits.

Angling in salt water is not half so agreeable as in fresh water, nor does it require near so much tact and management of the tackle and baits as fresh water fishing.

LAWS RELATING TO ANGLING.

By an Act of Parliament for consolidating and amending the Laws relative to Larceny, &c., passed in the 7th and 8th George IV., it is provided "That if any person shall unlawfully and wilfully take or destroy any fish in any water which shall run through or be in any land adjoining or belonging to the dwelling house of any person being the owner of such water, or having a right of fishery therein, every such offender shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, and being convicted thereof, shall be punished accordingly; and if any person shall unlawfully and wilfully take or destroy, or attempt to take or destroy, any fish in any water not being such as aforesaid, but which shall be private property, or in which there shall be any private right of fishery, every such offender being convicted thereof before a Justice of the Peace, shall forfeit and pay, over and above the value of the fish taken or destroyed, (if any) such sum of money not exceeding five pounds, as to the Justice shall seem meet; provided always that nothing herein before contained shall extend to any person angling in the day-time; but if any shall by angling in the day-time, unlawfully and wilfully take or destroy, or attempt to take or destroy, any fish in any such water as first mentioned, he shall on conviction before a Justice of the Peace, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; and if in any such water as last mentioned, he shall, on the like conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding two pounds, as to the Justices shall seem meet; and if the boundary of any parish, township, or village, shall happen to be in, or by the side of any such water as is herein before mentioned, it shall be sufficient to prove that the offence was committed, either in the parish, township, or village named in the indictment or information, or in any parish, township, or village adjoining thereto.

"And be it enacted, that if any person shall at any time be found fishing against the provisions of this Act, it shall be lawful for the owner of the ground, water, or fishery, where such offender shall be so found, his servants, or any persons authorised by him, to demand from such offender any rods, lines, hooks, nets, or other implements for taking or destroying fish, which shall then be in his possession; and in case such offender shall not immediately deliver up the same, to seize and take them from him for the use of such owner; provided always, that any person angling in the day time against the provisions of this Act, from whom any implements used by anglers shall be taken, or by whom the same shall be delivered up as aforesaid, shall by the taking or delivery thereof, be exempted from the payment of any damages or penalty for such angling."

And by another Act passed in the 7th and 8th George IV., it is provided, that "if any person shall maliciously in any way destroy the dam of a fish pond or other water, being private property, with intent to take or destroy any of the fish in the same; or shall maliciously put any noxious material in any such pond or water with intent to destroy the fish therein, such offender shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, and be punished accordingly."

The provisions of these Acts do not extend to Scotland and Ireland.

☞ For a more detailed Guide to Angling, and a full description of the different kinds of Fresh and Salt Water Fish, Guide to Bottom Fishing, &c. &c., the reader is referred to ELLIOT'S COMPLETE ANGLER, price Twopence, containing 17 Illustrations, and every requisite information to enable any person to become an expert Angler.

THE END.

Where this Book was purchased may be obtained, uniform in size,

PRICE ONE PENNY EACH,

1. THE NEW A, B, C BOOK.
2. THE CHILD'S OWN BOOK OF ALPHABETS, being a collection of Bold, Plain, and Picture Alphabets, suited for Infants, &c.
3. LITTLE LESSONS AND PICTURES FOR LITTLE LEARNERS. A series of Early Lessons, Stories and Pictures for Young Children.
4. THE YOUNG FISHERMAN, a COMPLETE GUIDE TO ANGLING, showing the Tackle and Baits required, the Rivers, Ponds, &c. where Fish are to be found, the Laws of Angling, &c., with several Engravings, &c.
5. SWIMMING MADE EASY, with Plain Instructions for the various styles of Swimming, Advice to Bathers, Caution and Treatment recommended to restore persons apparently Drowned, &c.
6. THE EMPEROR NAPOLEON'S BOOK OF FATE. Translated from the French.
7. THE GIPSY FORTUNE TELLER, containing the Art of Telling Fortunes by Lines in the Hand, also by Cards, the Grounds of Tea or Coffee; to discover Truth from Falsehood, &c.
8. THE DREAMER'S GUIDE, consisting of the Interpretation of a great variety of Dreams, explaining their meaning, and disclosing the Secrets of Futurity, to which is added, instances of ill and good fortune on particular days.
9. THE WHEEL OF FORTUNE. Re-printed from a scarce and valuable Egyptian Work.
10. A NEW GUIDE TO THE ENVIRONS OF LONDON, including a description of Kew Gardens, and an Excursion by Steamboat to Kew and Richmond, and upwards of Thirty other Excursions by Railway, Omnibus and Steamboat.

---

 See list on cover of ELLIOT'S TWOPENNY BOOKS, each Work complete, containing 36 closely-printed pages, with Engravings, stitched in a neat wrapper; universally admitted to be the neatest, cheapest, and most popular Works published at the price.

ELLIOT'S
SIXPENNY BOOKS,

Sold by all Booksellers, or post free for 7 stamps each.

—o—

ELLIOT'S LONDON GUIDE,

With Reference Maps of London and Environs, 2000 Cab Fares,
List of Free Sights, &c. The best and cheapest Guide published.

ELLIOT'S GUIDE TO BRIGHTON

And its Environs, by Rail or Road, with Map, Street Directory, &c.

HOW TO OBTAIN A SITUATION;

Or, Hints to the Unemployed.

HOW TO GET MONEY;

Or, Six Ways of Making a Fortune; advice for Speculating, &c. &c.

THE DISEASES OF LIVE STOCK,

And their Remedies; containing upwards of 100 Recipes for their Prevention, Treatment, and Cure.

TOILET RECIPES, &c., being upwards of 150

English and Foreign Recipes for making all kinds of Perfumery, &c.

THE BOOK OF FORTUNE of Dr. Faustus,

The German Physician and Astrologer.

THE CARDS OF DESTINY,

By Mde. de Stael, the celebrated Necromancer and Fortune Teller of Paris

THE COUNTESS OF BLESSINGTON'S

True Interpreter of Dreams, Visions, Omens, &c.

THE FORTUNE BOOK of Mde. AUBREY,

The Sybil of Notre Dame.

NAPOLEON'S BOOK OF FATE,

Translated from a Manuscript in the German language.

MOTHER SHIPTON'S DREAMER;

Or, Prophetic Oracle of the Past, Present, and Future.

ELLIOT'S BIRD FANCIER, and Rabbit

And Poultry Keeper's Guide; containing every information necessary for the management of Singing Birds, Rabbits, Poultry, &c.

ELLIOT'S COMPLETE ANGLER;

Showing how to take the best kinds of Fish, Laws of Angling, Hints, &c.

THE YOUTH'S OWN DRAWING BOOK,

With Rules and Plain Directions for Drawing from Life, Landscapes,
&c. Illustrated with numerous Drawing Copies.

London: ELLIOT, "The West-End News" office, 475, Oxford-street.

The following recently Published Works, Prices Two pence each, complete) are always in print: Sold by all Booksellers.

1. The Egyptian Dream Book of the Year 1231. Translated from a recent German publication. By a Lady.
2. Napoleon's Book of Fate. Translated from the German.
3. Raphael's Chart of Destiny, or True-telling Book of Fortune
4. The Egyptian Circle; or, Ancient Wheel of Fortune. Reprinted from a scarce Egyptian Work.
5. The Bird-Keeper's Companion. With numerous Engravings
6. The Pigeon and Poultry-Keeper's Companion. Ditto.
7. The Complete Angler. With full Instructions how, when, and where to take Fish. With numerous Engravings.
8. The Boy's Own Book of Games for Out-door Sports, containing Cricketing, Gymnastics, Archery, &c.
9. The Boy's Own Book of Games for In-door Amusement.
10. True Politeness for Ladies and Gentlemen.
11. The Letter Writer's Assistant, containing specimens of upwards of 80 Letters, on Love, Friendship, Courtship, and Matrimony. Forms of Invitations, Complimentary Notes, Petitions, &c.
12. The Lady's Letter Writer, ditto, ditto.
13. The Gentleman's Letter Writer, ditto, ditto.
14. The Modern Reciter. A Choice Collection of Readings, &c.
15. The Child's First Book and Royal Pictorial Primer. A new Illustrated Edition, carefully arranged for the Young.
16. Pretty Tales for Girls and Boys, Part I. Containing Eight Amusing Complete Tales.
17. Pretty Tales for Girls and Boys, Part II.
18. How to Obtain a Situation; or, Hints to the Unemployed
19. Elliot's Singer's Companion and Concert Room Guide, containing many Copyright Songs, &c.
20. Elliot's Complete Toast Master.
21. Elliot's Domestic Receipt Book. No family should be without this useful Work.
22. The Card Player's Hand Book. With all the Rules and Instructions for Playing each Game.
23. The Guide to Chess, Draughts, and Backgammon, ditto.
24. The Swimmer's Hand Book. With Rules and Instructions for Learners. By Dr. Franklin. With Engravings.
25. The Hair, the Skin, and the Teeth. Being Recipes and Remedies for Preserving and Beautifying. By D. Napier, M.D.
26. The Ball Room Instructor, and Complete Guide to Dancing, containing all the New and Fashionable Dances of the day. Hints on Ball Room Dress, &c.
27. Ladies Guide to Etiquette, and Rules of True Politeness. With Hints on Dress, Conversation, Letter Writing, Visiting, &c.
28. Gentlemen's Guide to Etiquette, with Rules, &c. &c.
29. The Language of Flowers.
30. The Poetry of Flowers.
31. Wishing Cards, for Solving every Event of Human Life.
32. The Gipsy's Oracle; or Cards of Magic.
33. Elliot's Landlord, Tenant, and Lodger. Latest Edition.
34. Elliot's New County Courts Amendment Act. Latest Edition.
35. New and Practical Guide through London and its Environs.
36. Guide to Health and Happiness, or Golden Rules to Prolong Life, &c.
37. Life of Villiers Pearce, convicted of Forgery. His Trials, &c.
38. Life of P. T. Barnum, the Yankee Showman. Written by Himself.
39. Confessions of a Detective Policeman; showing the numerous dangers strangers are exposed to on visiting London.
40. Secrets of a Freemason, being an authentic History from the earliest period to the present time, showing their Secret Signs, Mysteries, &c.
41. Priests and their Victims; or, Scenes in a Convent.
42. Mormon Revelations; their History from the time of Joseph Smith.

Country Booksellers and the Trade may be supplied with the above Works. Also Letter and Note Lines, Landlord, Tenant, and County Court Notices, Agreements, Raffle Papers, &c., from their London Agents, or direct from the Publisher, on the most liberal terms. Trade Lists free.
London:—H. ELLIOT, 475, New Oxford Street, W.C.

